The Canton Connection

OLYMPIC TRAINING: Plymouth-Canton Special Olympics soon will begin training for the spring olympics. The Special Olympics program is for the mentally impaired, ages 8 through adult. Swimming, bowling, track and field events will be offered. The program is in need of volunteers. Anyone interested in participating or volunteering may call 348-9300 or 420-0509.

ILLUMINATING: The Canton Beautification Committee again this year is selling illuminaries for the holiday season — still for the low price of 25 cents each. An average Canton lot would require 10 candles.

All Canton residents are encouraged to light illuminaries on their front lawns on Christmas Eve and help Canton glow on Dec. 24. Instructions are included with each purchase. Illuminaries can be ordered by calling 455-5915 or 397-0502. Illuminaries also are available in units of 10 for $2.50 at Canton Township Hall. All proceeds will be used to further beautification projects in Canton. Last year's sales made it possible to landscape the Welcome to Canton sign at Joy and Sheldon. With this year's proceeds the committee hopes to erect another Welcome to Canton sign in the I-275 and Ford Road area.

TURKEY TIME: A Children's Thanksgiving Party will be from 10-11 a.m. Saturday at Canton Recreation Center, Michigan Avenue at Sheldon, for ages 3-12. The party will include games, movies, prizes and refreshments. Reservations in advance are needed and may be made by calling 397-1000.

ABUSE WORKSHOPS: The Canton Public Library has planned a series of workshops on substance abuse especially for young adults and parents of young adults. Nic Cooper and Rick McCoy will lead the workshops, 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesdays, Nov. 19, Dec. 3, Dec. 10 and Dec. 17. Anyone may attend. Registration is not required.

USED SALE: Canton Parks and Recreation will have its Used Sports Equipment Sale from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6, at the first floor meeting room of Canton Township Administration Building, 1150 Canton Center south of Proctor. The public is invited to sell used sports or recreational equipment at this sale.

Sellers can bring their equipment between 5-9 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 4, to be priced and tagged for sale. The seller sets the prices and gets the money, minus 15 percent commission to the recreation department. Volunteers will be on hand to do the selling Dec. 6. Sellers may collect their money or unsold items from 2-3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 6. For information, call 397-1000.

EVENING WITH SAM: Tobin Hissong of Canton is a cast member in "An Evening With Sam Shepard," to be presented by the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford at 8 p.m. Nov. 21-22, 29-29 and Dec. 5-6 at the guild's playhouse, 15138 Beech Daly, one block south of 5 Mile.

HOME TOUR: Six homes in Plymouth and one in Farmington Hills will be showcased for the holidays to benefit the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. The homes may be

Trustees raise noses to landfill

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A proposed landfill for Michigan Avenue was derailed by the Canton Township Board of Trustees last week.

But that doesn't mean a landfill won't be located at the site.

One of two means is used before an operator may start a landfill — with approval from a Wayne County committee, or by a "fast track," which requires consent from the host community.

Because the Canton board denied the request from Wayne Disposal-Canton, the company must receive approval from the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan Implementation Committee. Members include representatives from the solid waste industry, communities, consumer groups, environmentalists and labor.

Wayne Disposal-Canton representatives predict solid waste landfills that service Wayne County will be filled in about five years. Canton Recycling picks up rubbish in Canton and Plymouth townships and uses Canton landfills to dump.

HOWEVER, AN attractive Wayne Disposal-Canton package contingent on Canton's approval looks grim.

The company said it would give Canton free disposal, royalty on sales of energy from recovery, grant money for educational purposes concerning recycling and a commitment to establish a citizens advisory committee to field resident concerns, according to Mike Miller, Wayne Disposal Inc. manager of planning and development.

"We did acknowledge that Canton didn't want to do this," he said, explaining why the extras were included.

"We received no response from Canton to what we were offering them. We will continue to walk along the mandated path . . . but with the board's approval we could have gotten to our objective sooner."

The Wayne County Health Department, state Department of Natural Resources and Canton may appeal to the implementation committee before a decision is made.

"My problem has always been with the lack of what I consider to be a concern by the county for people who have to live adjacent to the landfill," said Canton Trustee Stephen Larson.

THE PROPOSED landfill would be on a 106-acre parcel bounded by Lilley to the east, Michigan Avenue to the north and a Conrail railroad track to the south.

Residents in the area — especially those from Canton Hills subdivision and two nearby mobile home parks — have adamantly opposed the landfill.

The project would lie west of an existing sanitary landfill operated by Wayne Disposal, Canton Recycling Landfill and the completed K&J Landfill. Two completed landfills — Munn Landfill and a Canton Township landfill — also are in the area.

Concerns about mounds of garbage abutting Michigan Avenue are unfounded, Miller said.

"Waste disposal activity would not take place within 500 feet of Michigan Avenue and the final contours will not be rising above the levels of the surrounding area until we start the contouring of a proposed golf course, which would be more than 2,000 feet south of Michigan Avenue."

The board voted against the project at its meeting Wednesday Nov. 12, for the following reasons: The land plays a significant role in the "success of the development" of the Michigan Avenue corridor; it's inconsistent with the overall development of several investment property uses and the landfill could have a "detrimental effect on the health, safety and welfare of Canton Township residents," according to a proposal by Canton trustee Loren Bennett.

Landfills filling up

Landfills are filling up throughout the U.S. and those in the Plymouth-Canton area are no exception. Shown above is one of the cells operated by Wayne Disposal-Canton at its Lilley Road site, one used by Canton and Plymouth townships. This particular cell will be full in less than six weeks. The landfill used by the city of Plymouth in Salem Township is expected to be full within a year. For a feature story on the operation of a landfill, with additional photos, see Page 3A.

Second film's banned; more complaints eyed

By Susan Buck
staff writer

The review committee set up by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools to study the appropriateness of the film, "The Sword and the Sorcerer," determined last week that the movie be excluded from use in the schools "at this time."

The movie is the first in a series of nine complaints against school resources which were brought under fire in one month by complainant Diane Daskalakis, a local dissenter and born-again Christian. Daskalakis filed a complaint against "The Sword and the Sorcerer" on Oct. 17.

IN AN INTERVIEW Thursday, Daskalakis said that she plans to file another formal complaint next week against "The Thing," a movie she said is used at the high school and deals with the demonic possession of a dog.

She also is checking out "The Lottery," a movie about human sacrifice Daskalakis said is used at the high school and "The Worst Witch," about learning witchcraft.

The report noted that the movie "The Sword and the Sorcerer," originally shown at East Middle School, was not the Walt Disney production by the same name.

"We're in the victory seat," said Daskalakis about the committee's decision. "I'm very pleased about it. 'The Sword and the Sorcerer' has a scene where the witch calls a devil from the crypt, and sensually licks him on the hand and calls 'My God and My Master.'

"All I wanted to do is report it. Let them clean their own house."

THE REVIEW consisted of teacher Aheila Alles, parents Louise Townley and Carol Levitte, librarian Marguerite Vollrath, and the district's community relations director and committee chairman, Dick Egli.

According to the review committee report, "The Sword and the Sorcerer" is not factual or "suitable to the age and intellectual capacity of the potential users."

"This belief is based upon recognition that the film is neither a realistic nor factual portrayal of castles, dress, weapons and way of life during the Middle Ages, the purpose for which the film was shown. It is further based upon repeated, exaggerated, intense, visually explicit and overwhelming violence in the film."

The committee also said that "we are specifically and emphatically opposed to a wholesale censorship of materials, recognizing that students grow by being exposed to a variety of resources . . ."

The review committee met four times from Monday, Oct. 27, to Wednesday, Nov. 5, to discuss the film. At the second meeting, on Oct. 30, the group met with Daskalakis and her associate, Laurie Donati, at which time Daskalakis agreed to an extension of the normal 10- day deadline imposed with a formal complaint.

Daskalakis said that she has begun bringing Donati, her business associate, along to serve as a witness and to take notes.

Under board policy Procedure 3706.3, a review committee of five different individuals — an adminstrator, a librarian, a teacher and two parents — must be set up on a case-by-case basis to study each formal written complaint.

The school individuals who serve on the review committees cannot be

Childhood scars arise in therapy

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Eight women formed a circle in a small white room to talk, laugh and cry about things that happened in their lives.

One woman asked another why she bothered to call her mother on a daily basis when it upset her.

"Because she's my mom . . . She's still my mom," she repeated.

"I don't think when I was a kid that she made a conscious decision to do things. Although I'm unhappy about some of the things that happened in my childhood, I still don't think she's a bad person. She let things get out of hand."

The women are participants in a two-hour Adult Children of Alcoholics group session of Turning Point, a counseling and crisis intervention component of Growth Works — a non-profit service agency in Plymouth serving residents of Canton, Plymouth, Northville and other western Wayne County communities.

THE GROUP addresses problems caused by being raised in difficult family atmospheres, according to Linda Dwyer-Kozminski, director of counseling at Growth Works.

Children of alcoholic parents face the same anxieties as those raised with rigid religion, mental illness, absent parents or other dependent situations, she said.

One woman talked about a roller coaster relationship with her husband, others identified the stress they felt when talking to their parents.

They shared a common trait by recognizing they had problems and seeking help.

One woman was torn by a lot of emotions. She felt "angry," "guilty," "responsible" and most of all "scared, scared, scared" about confronting her father with his alcoholism. She planned to force him to face his problem in front of his family and friends.

"I love my dad. I won't pretend he doesn't have a problem. Then it helps him believe he doesn't have a problem, and we won't help him believe that anymore.

"If we're out in the open and talking about it that's all I can do," she said between sobs.

Her father's mother also is an alcoholic, and she's afraid the cycle will continue.

"I don't want my kids to get it. It has to stop, and we have to get it out in the open."

THE GROUP session began with one woman saying: "I just want to tell everyone, thank you for the feedback last week."

The women constantly supported each other's actions.

"You need feedback to make you stop and think of ideas. I give you credit for listening," one woman said.

After talking to her mother, one participant said, she started screaming at her kids and snapping at her husband. Her husband pointed out that it was the conversation that triggered her mood shift.

"When we talk to our parents they'll try to put us back into our old roles, and it's easy to jump back into it," said Dwyer-Kozminski, adding that feeling a need to give is a common characteristic among the group members.

"When we're real young we learn to take care of the big people in our lives."

They talked about having to remove themselves from that role.

"I think I have to detach but I don't want to close that door forever," one woman said. "We have to separate to a certain degree or otherwise we'll be back to where we were as a kid."

NEAR THE END of the meeting one woman asked another how she felt. The woman, who had been physically abused by an alcoholic, began crying. She said she was afraid for the group member who planned to confront her alcoholic father.

"A bottle is a hell of a hook. It's more of a hook than anything else in this life. It just brings back a lot of ----."

They'll meet in group sessions weekly for six months. They were instructed initially for eight weeks to understand the terminology of their common symptoms.

The first eight weeks was $40 and the therapy group sessions are $10 each.

Dwyer-Kozminski said she plans to begin a similar group for couples. For information, call 455-4902.

Engraving valuables deters burglars

By Doug Funke
staff writer

It's one of those things that everyone agrees is a good idea but, for one reason or another, never seems to get done until it's too late.

It doesn't take much time and it doesn't cost anything.

It's Operation Identification — the practice of engraving valuables around the home with a driver's license number.

THAT SIMPLE act, police say, would help deter burglaries and greatly improve the odds of reuniting stolen property with owners.

Engraving tools and instructions are available at the Plymouth Township Police Department (453-3869), the Canton Township Police Department (397-3000 Ext. 329) and the city of Plymouth Police Department (453-8600).

"Let's face it — most people don't record serial numbers," said officer Robert Smith of the Plymouth Township Police Department. "It's a great program. I have yet to take a breakin and entering report personally where someone's property has been engraved."

Dave Boljesic and Mel Meck, crime prevention officers in Canton and the city of Plymouth, also speak highly of Operation Identification.

"IT'S VERY easy to use. It's a good program. I wish more people would take advantage of it," Meck said.

Boljesic recalled his experiences with the Detroit Police Department.

"A lot of times, drug houses will be raided and they'll have tons and tons of property in them," he said. "It (engraving) makes it harder to fence. It's just a deterrent."

Plastic, wood and metal can be marked. Police recommend engraving such big-ticket items as televisions, stereos, video cassette recorders, microwave ovens, bicycles and radar detectors.

Plymouth Township police supply a property inventory booklet and a sticker for a door or window letting people know they are Operation Identification participants.

SMITH RECOMMENDS that participants engrave driver's license numbers rather than Social Security numbers or secret codes because driver's licenses are more readily accessed through police computers.

"People think it's a good idea, but they keep putting it off," Smith said. "All it takes is a couple of hours on Saturday or Sunday."

All three local police departments also provide free home security inspections by appointment.

Consumer fraud advice hails holiday season

By Susan Buck
staff writer

The holiday season will be brighter this year, if Canton residents are vigilant when making purchases or donations.

Canton Police crime prevention officer Dave Boljesic and Timothy Ford, Canton Chamber of Commerce president, recently offered tips to prevent consumer fraud.

"The reputable people in the business community don't want their good names brought down by fraudulent or shaky type businesses," said Ford. "There have been some that have occurred in the community. We police them as best we can through our own version of the Better Business Bureau. Every complaint filed is investigated," said Ford.

CONSUMERS WHO feel they have been taken advantage of by a Canton business can report that business to the Chamber or Commerce.

Legally, the chamber has no power but it can revoke membership. And whether or not the business owner is a chamber member, the committee will contact the business owner and consumer to try to reach an equitable solution.

"Very seldom will we not come up with a solution," said Ford. "We've been averaging three or four complaints a week." In 99 percent of the time, Ford said, the consumer is not aware of what constitutes a sound business practice and has bigger expectations.

If a consumer believes he has been the victim of fraud, Boljesic suggests several options. The first step is to immediately call police at 397-3000 (the non-emergency number) and file a report, said Boljesic. If troubled by questionable door-to-door solicitors, call the police and give a description of what was offered for sale and tell the police which direction the solicitors left.

"Nobody cares about you like you do," said Boljesic. "One out of five people won't go through the trouble of filing a report. That attitude lets people get away with it."

Another consumer recourse is small claims court for cases involving less than $1,500. There are no lawyers and no appeals. It costs $12.95 to file a case involving less than $600 in small claims court; $22.95 to file a case $600-$1,500. If the case is ruled in your favor, you can get the filing fee back — if you ask for it, said Ford.

Every solicitor who goes door to door has to have a license signed by the township clerk. If they don't, call the police, as it's a misdemeanor, said Boljesic.

Ford also advised consumers to be cautious before giving their credit card numbers and expiration date over the phone. "If something seems too good to be true, it probably is," he said.

Boljesic recommended that consumers carefully watch sales clerks when presenting them with a credit card to make sure that they are not running off a duplicate slip.

"Check your slip for accuracy to make sure what you purchased is listed on it for the right price. Tear up your carbons yourself because, believe me, thieves are not above going through garbage cans to see what has been discarded.

"Always make sure your credit card is returned to you. If a credit card is lost, notify the credit card company immediately," he said.

Ford said that phone solicitors can be screened for legitimacy by asking them the following questions:

- Are you a member of a professional organization like the Chamber of Commerce, either local, state or national?
- Are you licensed by this community to do solicitations? If so, I'd like your number.
- What other people in the community have purchased your product or your services? Ask for references.

Consumers have the right to cancel their sale 72 hours after the sale. "You have till midnight of the third day," said Ford.

Charities often do phone solicitations. "Donate only to organizations that you know,' said Ford

The program is funded by Senior Alliance and provides assistance with household maintenance tasks which may include leaf raking, snow removal, and grass cutting. Persons must be age 60 or older and live in Canton, Plymouth or Plymouth Township. For more information call the chore program at 525-8690.

● JOB HELP
The Community Employment Service offered through Growth Works Inc. provides job search assistance to western Wayne County residents. Using a computer data base, job seekers are matched with local employment opportunities.

Those who wish to register with the Community Employment Service, and those employers with job openings, should call 455-0299. Growth Works is a non-profit, community-based organization.

● FREE JOB TRAINING
Free job training is available for Plymouth and Canton residents at the Employment and Training Center, Wayne-Westland Community Schools, 36105 Marquette, just east of Newburgh in Westland.

There are openings in clerical/office practices, accounting/computing, electronics, restaurant occupations, auto repair, health occupations, printing occupations and building maintenance. People are eligible if they live in Wayne County (but not Detroit or downriver), are low income (including long-term unemployment) and are committed to seeking a full-time training-related job.

The educational funding for the program is provided by Wayne County Private Industry Council. For information, call 595-2314.

● TURNING POINT
If you need help solving a problem, need someone to listen, a referral or information about drugs and alcohol, counselors at Turning Point can help.

Counselors are available 6:30-10:30 p.m. Monday through Friday by calling 455-4900. Turning Point also provides short-term, low-cost counseling by appointment. Turning Point is a component program of Growth Works Inc. of Plymouth.

● TOUGH LOVE
Tough Love, a self-help group for parents troubled by teenage behavior, meets at 7 p.m. Mondays in the Faith Community Church on Warren at Canton Center Road, Canton.

● NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH
The Plymouth Police Department is organizing a Neighborhood Watch program for city residents. Anyone interested in becoming involved in the program may call 453-8600 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday. The program is a protection against residential break-ins and burglaries.

● SENIOR CITIZENS
The Senior Network will answer questions and help solve problems for people 60 and older. The program, provided by the Out-Wayne County Area Council on Aging, has information about programs and services for older people. Call 422-1052 between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Monday-Friday.

A bulldozer carves a new cell out of the clay.

Landfill: last stop for county's trash

A washing machine is flattened.

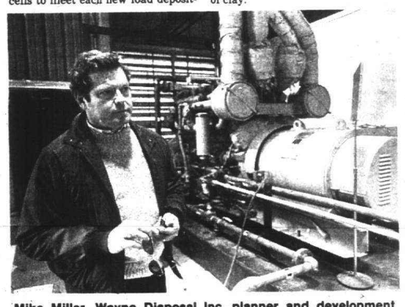
A load of garbage is crushed beyond recognition.

The 50-acre Wayne Disposal-Canton Landfill, east of Lilley Road in Canton Township, is the last stop for solid waste dumped there by about 100 trucks daily, and two mobile compactors waste no time in dispensing of it.

The huge vehicles with toothed steel tires roar up the slopes of the cells to meet each new load deposited at the cell borders. The vehicle's weight compacts the garbage, and their massive blades then begin the process of spreading the stuff down the slopes, crunching it down further along the way.

"Those beasts will go anywhere," observed Mike Miller, manager at Wayne Disposal Inc., of the compactors.

At the end of the day, the garbage will be covered by at least six inches of clay.



Mike Miller, Wayne Disposal Inc. planner and development manager, is in a generator room at the Rawsonville landfill. Methane is tapped from the cell and used to run four generators. The power is sold to Detroit Edison.

A drainage system at the cell bottom collects runoff, which is called leachate. The leachate is pumped out and treated as toxic waste.

THE SWIFT compressing and covering of the garbage keeps birds and other animals away, said Miller.

"They have slim pickings."

Covering garbage with clean fill also helps reduce landfill odors. So does keeping the sites dry.

Dryness also helps protect the environment.

Beneath cells are a layer of natural clay 20 to 30 feet deep, which is found in much of the area. Because the clay is impervious to moisture, it makes a natural liner — one of the reasons it is ideal for landfills, said Miller.

At the bottom of cells are a leachate collection system, in which drains remove water that has been in contact with refuse. The water is later treated.

When the cells are filled, they are covered with a synthetic liner, and 2-4 feet of clay, so that water will run off.

"This is a properly controlled sanitary landfill," said Miller.

Litter fences collect blowing litter, and sweepers clear the area daily. Dusty roads are watered down, and cleanup crews also help keep the area clean.

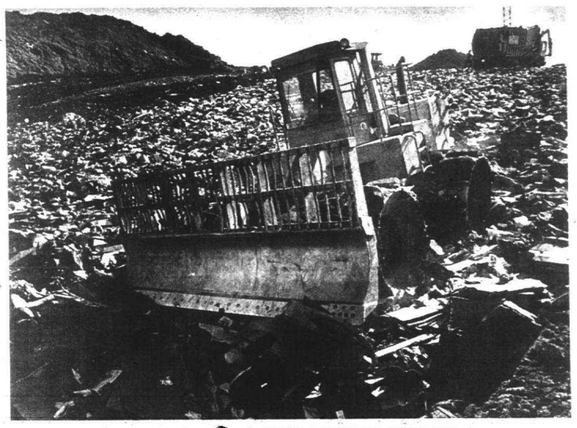
No hazardous wastes are dumped at the site. Plans are being made to recover methane gas from the fill for heating or conversion to electricity.

THE LANDFILL, which serves Canton Township and western Wayne County, is expected to be filled by 1987, at which time the area will be revegetated. The company, which operates several landfills, hopes to transform it into recreational uses.

It also plans on expanding to an adjacent 106-acre site.

"We provide what we think is a fairly essential public service," said Miller. "The problem is that nothing but landfilling today can take care of the sheer volume of waste that we produce in our society.

"A landfill is the last logical depository for the refuse that we've got."



A compactor machine grinds away at the rubbish.

Rape, robbery suspect wanted in 6 area cases

A man pretending to buy roses at Sparr's Florist robbed and raped an employee last week minutes before closing time.

The man is a suspect in six cases — two in Canton, two in Westland and two in Livonia. All of the incidents involved 18- and 19-year-old women at floral shops, gas stations and an ice-cream shop, according to Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart.

Two of the six women were not sexually abused because the man fled when they resisted.

At 5:50 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11, a man entered Sparr's on Canton Center Road and ordered a dozen red roses. He told the employee he had to go out to his car for money. He returned with a semi-automatic gun.

The man took money from the cash register and forced the woman in the back room. He ordered her to undress telling her that he wanted time to escape. After she undressed he forced her to perform sexual acts.

The man is described as about 24 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tall, short dark hair, brown eyes and a good dresser. In one of the incidents he was wearing a hat.

"Chances are that he may become more agressive and possibly more frequent," Stewart said.

Anyone with information about the assailant is asked to call the Canton Township Police Department at 397-3000.

viewed from 3-8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 7.

Each home will feature a distinctive holiday decor with special touches provided by local florists and merchants. Musicians will perform classical and holiday music on violins, flutes, horns, harps, piano and keyboard, clarinets, cellos, violas and even a classical guitar.

In some homes, visitors will be tempted with distinctive aromas and tastes of the holidays. A limited number of tickets at $15 per person are now on sale at Beitner Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail west of Main in Plymouth.

The Showcase Homes this year belong to Jo Hulce, Barbara and David McBride, Pamela Richards, Millie and Dick Goan, Sherri and Robert Lewis, Mary Pat and John Speck. Showcase performing artists include John Mohler, Lynne Bartholomew, Mary Crum, Charlotte Moore-Viculin, Susan Moore, Debbie Ash, Janet Holt, Janita Hauk, Barbara Weiss, Glennis Stout, Ruth Meyers, Nelson Amos, Louis Stout, Jethrow Woodson, Dave Brown, Mark Rakozy, Dan Stacey, Nina Yarmaluk, Arnold Freedman, John Madison, Christopher Claypoole, Nancy Steinberger, Laurie Jarski, Karen Jones, Cora Kuyvenhoven and Kevin McMahon.

SHOWS CRAFTS: Five Canton residents participated in an arts and handicraft show recently at Bonnie Brook Golf Club at Telegraph and Eight Mile. Nola Hykal and Fran West demonstrated quilted pillows and pictures, Marie Farkas had covered and lined baskets, Rita Miller showed porcelain dolls, and Rae Thomas displayed underglaze painting.

from the schools where the item in question is used, Superintendent Dr. John M. Hoben said.

"I'm of the opinion that we are going to have to take a look at the policy and make some changes in it. It's approaching the point where harassment. We have other things to do that are of greater importance. We can't afford to have people tied up. But on the other hand, we have to be cognizant that there are complaints and deal with the process we have."

Old Ford estate to be restored

The University of Michigan-Dearborn has embarked on an extensive restoration for Fair Lane, the old Henry Ford estate. Ford Motor Co. recently gave the project a $50,000 boost.

The Ford gift will be used toward renewal of streamlines and plumbing. A check was presented to UM-D Chancellor William A. Jenkins by vice president of operations support services James Bakken and municipal affairs manager Jerry Brown in early September.

"Replacement and repair of these areas are critical if Fair Lane is to work with Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum to make southeastern Michigan a major attraction for tourists," Jenkins said.

TOTAL PROJECT cost will be $1.8 million.

Some $570,000 is needed for the infrastructure repair, the most critical component of the restoration program. Infrastructure repair includes replacement of piping for the heating system and heat control valves, repair of the plumbing system and replacement of the exterior drainage system over a three-year period.

U-M plant engineers have noted several problems of years of deterioration. In areas where water and steam leaked out — often unnoticed — wall paneling has been stained and warped, wall and ceiling plaster is water damaged and, in some sections, the electrical conduit system has corroded.

Bruno Gluski, UM-D heating and ventilation foreman, is not surprised at the problems at Fair Lane. "It's 70 years old, and time has taken its toll," he said.

FOR ALL THESE reasons, the Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane will get a thorough, efficient renovation of its basic plumbing and mechanical systems, Jenkins said. This will assure the preservation of the structure as a tourist and conference site.

The stabilization and restoration project was initiated in 1983 when Margaret Campbell was appointed chair of the Fair Lane Development Committee. To date, more than $500,000 of the total project cost has been received.

SC gourmet club plans dinner

Schoolcraft College Gourmet Club will present its second dinner dance for the 1986-87 season on Friday.

The theme for the dinner is "Caribbean Ports of Call — A Culinary Adventure" and will feature island specialties presented in a cruise ship atmosphere. The dinner begins at 6:30 p.m. in the Waterman Campus Center, 18600 Haggerty. Dancing and entertainment are scheduled to begin at 8:30 p.m. featuring a "20th century" Trinidad steel drum band.

An open beer and wine bar will be available and is included in the price of the meal. Tickets are $22.50 per person and must be purchased in advance at the Culinary Arts Department in Waterman Center Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. For information, call 591-6400, Ext. 595.

Special ed 'hotline' in service

The State Board of Education has installed a toll free telephone "hotline" to receive and answer questions about the revised rules for special education.

The 24-hour answering service is an effort to clarify rule changes that become effective next year, according to to state Superintendent of Public Instruction Phillip E. Runkel.

Runkel said the "hotline" telephone number is 1-800-722-6080. A Lansing-area telephone number is 374-9561.

The telephone answering service is designed to provide information and clarification of any of the 62 new changes in administrative rules governing special education services of the schools. The changes were unanimously adopted by the state Board of Education in September 1986, after approval by the Joint Administrative Rules Committee, the Attorney General and the Legislative Service Bureau.

The "hotline" is primarily designed to assist school district special education personnel in understanding the rule changes, which will go into effect on July 1, 1987.

Michigan Department of Education staff will provide answers to all inquiries within 48 hours of the time when the inquiry call came in, Runkel said.

Saving energy saves business

By Penny Wright
special writer

Michigan's economic future is linked to the amount of energy commercial and industrial enterprises consume, says Doug Ross, director of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

"Michigan is in a life and death struggle for economic survival in world markets," Ross told a gathering of energy professionals in Ann Arbor last week.

"Energy use in businesses of all sizes will determine whether the state can stay competitive."

ROSS, A Southfield resident and former state senator from Oakland County, cited the machine tool industry as a situation in which energy costs influence the state's competitive position.

"We have combined manufacturing and information processing systems to the point where we can produce customized products and meet quality standards. We could be wealthier than before.

"The trouble is the Japanese and western Europeans have also found this new technology."

ROSS NOTED that by using less energy for industrial and commercial operations, Michigan products can stay competitively priced with other countries.

"When we compare the energy costs of our Italian, German, and Japanese competitors, we find their cost per unit of energy is higher, but they use less units."

Ross said businesses must develop a new sense of urgency about energy costs.

"Too many people in the state think we are in good shape energy-wise. We are going to stay competitive worldwide by consuming less energy. In three to five years we could be out of the competition if we fail to find ways of using energy more efficiently," he said.

THE COMMERCE Department's focus in the coming months will be to alert businesses and manufacturers about the urgency of reducing energy usage, said Ross.

Plans for the coming year may include extending programs to help small manufacturers reduce operating costs.

PROGNOSIS IN ARTHRITIS
"Now that I have arthritis what have I got to look forward to?"
Physicians are often vague or evasive in their reply because arthritis is capricious in its duration and variable in its effect.
Forecasting what will happen in rheumatoid arthritis is almost impossible. At present, no joint examination findings, blood test values, or x-ray results can forecast whether your outcome will be one of recovery or crippling. Nor is any particular occupation associated with a good or poor outcome.
In osteoarthritis, the expectation is for worsening over time, as each day's use brings more wear on the arthritic knee or hip. But physicians, having seen many instances of individuals who have stabilized despite continued activity, are wary of making a blunt prognosis that a bad outcome is inevitable.
Your doctor, with reasonable confidence, can discuss the outlook for your arthritis for tomorrow and the coming months. What will happen in future years is best answered by events, not predictions.

WINNER'S CIRCLE

BY LAURIE KIPP

As of September 30, the end of the 1986 fiscal year, the Daily 3 again has proven to be the most popular of all Michigan Lottery games. And, even with wide player support of the bureau's newer games, the Daily 3 is still increasing in popularity statewide. The following answers some of the most frequently asked questions about this game.

Q: Isn't the Daily 3 a lot like the illegal street game?

A: Yes. In fact, the Daily 3 was introduced in 1977 to compete with the illegal games. And, players in the Daily 3 know that it is honest, that all prizes will be paid and can easily be collected at any Daily Game retailer, and that net revenues help finance education in Michigan.

Q: How much was won in the Daily 3 last year?

A: More than $170 million was won in prizes ranging from $41-$500. During several bonus promotions, the top prize was raised to $600.

Q: How do these bonus payouts work?

A: At various times throughout the year, the Lottery will announce that on one night—we won't say which—during the next week, players will be surprised with a bonus payout. The bonus night will take the form of either drawing two sets of numbers and paying on both, or increasing the prize amount awarded on all winning straight bets. For a $1 wager, the payout would be $600 rather than the usual $500, and for a winning 50¢ bet, the payout would be $300 instead of $250.

Q: When is the next bonus night?

A: Three bonus nights will be held November 10-29 featuring the larger prizes for straight bet winners.

Q: Did I hear about a record Daily 3 payout this year?

A: Yes. On June 10, 1986, the number 123 was drawn. More than 32,000 players won a total of $4,965,880. This was the equivalent of 4989 percent of the amount wagered in the game that day.

Q: How much did the Daily 3 contribute to school aid last year?

A: While the final figures are not tallied yet, the Daily 3 will provide about $142 million to the State School Aid Fund during fiscal 1986 to help support K-12 education in Michigan.

Q: How do I play the game?

A: Details of how to play the game, the odds and prize amounts are contained in a pamphlet, "The Daily 3 Made Simple," available free at Daily Game retailers.

Because her question led to this column, Debbie Hanley of Garden City will receive 50 free "Holiday Cash" instant game tickets.

WSU asks $137 million for capital

The Wayne State University Board of Governors wants $137.7 million from the state budget for construction and maintenance projects for the next five years.

The request includes funding for seven projects valued at $117.5 million and maintenance, renovation and fire protection projects priced at $20 million on the mid-town Detroit campus.

TOP PRIORITY is $11 million for construction of a new administration building, President David Adamany said. It would replace the 61-year-old Mackenzie Hall.

The present administration building was contructed as the Webster Hall Hotel in 1925 and purchased for use by the university in 1946.

A major renovation of Mackenzie Hall has been estimated at $6 million more than the cost of constructing a new building.

Second on the priority list is $27.6 million for construction of a new biological sciences building and renovation of Science Hall.

The biological sciences department is presently scattered throughout six different buildings. Science Hall was built in 1947, and many of its facilities are now obsolete.

OTHER MAJOR priorities:

- $31 million for construction of an undergraduate library. It would include a learning resources center for audio, video and computer-based learning. It would also provide greatly expanded facilities for housing a rapidly growing library collection.
- $29.5 million for renovation of the Old Main classroom building. Old Main is the oldest and largest classroom building at WSU. Built in 1896, it is a registered historical site. Money for its renovation is also being raised through a private fund drive.
- $12 million for renewal of the Criminal Justice and Administrative Services buildings (ASB I and II).
- $3.5 million for renovation of the Purdy/Kresge Libraries.
- $2.9 million for renewal of the mechanical system in the Cohn Building.

A LUMP SUM allocation of $20 million will be spent on maintenance and fire safety projects that are needed to maintain the value of university facilities.

WSU plans to begin construction in late November of a new $5 million, four-story parking structure providing 1,075 spaces for student cars.

Clifford M. Van Buskirk, assistant vice president of WSU business operations, said completion is set for September 1987.

The new structure, to be financed with a bond issue, will be located on the northwest corner of Anthony Wayne Drive and Kirby Avenue, currently a 400-car surface parking lot.

Kellogg grants U-M $10 million

The University of Michigan has announced the award of $10 million from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, half of which will support a major new building program in the chemical sciences.

"This exceptional gift from the Kellogg Foundation is one of the largest ever received by the university," U-M President Harold Shapiro said.

Ground was broken Oct. 17 for the first phase of the project, a $40 million chemistry classroom and laboratory structure on the university's central campus that will double teaching and research space for this basic science.

THE STRUCTURE is part of a $52 million project to upgrade the U-M's chemistry facilities, including renovation of the old building, erected in 1908 and expanded in 1948.

The state has committed $30 million for the facilities. The other $22 million will come from university resources and contributions from individuals, corporations and foundations.

The U-M's new chemistry building will open to students in the fall of 1989.

It will significantly extend U-M's capacity for research and teaching in the natural and health sciences. A future project will be construction of an $8 million chemistry-biology library.

THE SECOND $5 million of the Kellogg Foundation grant will establish a new "Presidential Initiatives Fund" under Shapiro's direction.

It will be used to encourage researchers from a mix of U-M schools and colleges to undertake a new set of joint research ventures.

"It is through such contributions that we have been able to launch important new initiatives to enhance our traditional responsibilities to education and scholarship," Shapiro said.

Dr. Robert D. Sparks, Kellogg Foundation president, said, "The University of Michigan's commitment to upgrade its chemistry programs demonstrates recognition of the intrinsic importance of this science to all realms of human activity. Further, the university's new Presidential Initiatives Fund promises to stimulate creativity and cooperation in new interdisciplinary activities."

UNDER THE Presidential Initiatives Fund, project proposals for up to $500,000 will be invited from U-M faculty members and groups of scholars.

U-M will support 10 to 20 such proposals during the five-year term of the Kellogg grant. After that, the university will allocate $1 million per year to maintain the program.

"If it is to develop truly new concepts and theories, the university should place a higher value on diversity than on conformity; on novelty and venturesomeness than on intellectual conservatism; on hybridization of ideas than on orthodoxy," Shapiro said.

A video trip to Russia

The country of Russia will be featured at this Wednesday's travelogue series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

Raphael Green will present his film on the U.S.S.R. beginning at 8 p.m. Wednesday, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. The Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation is the fund-raising arm of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and of the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

Green taught high school in Maine before embarking on a three-year stint in the military.

While on a special White House mission, Green went to the Far East as one of 11 men sent to North Korea and Manchuria on a reparations survey. As a result of these early diplomatic travels, Green recently had the honor of being the first American to film a travelogue on China since the founding of the People's Republic of China in 1949.

For many years Green was director-cameraman on the audio-visual staff at the University of Minnesota where he produced many educational and television films.

For a number of years Green also filmed open-heart operations for surgeon Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, inventor of the pacemaker and heart-lung machines.

He has produced films on Afghanistan, Switzerland, Singapore, Siberia, Germany, Outer Mongolia, Russia, Thailand, Hong Kong and China.

I'm part of their future

Being a Girl Scout leader gives me a great sense of personal satisfaction. Every time the girls accomplish something, so do I.

The activities are great — we've gone on camping trips, visited the local newspaper, and talked with area businesswomen about how they juggle their careers and a full family life.

See for yourself the difference being a Girl Scout leader can make — for you and for the girls. You'll want to be a Girl Scout leader, too!

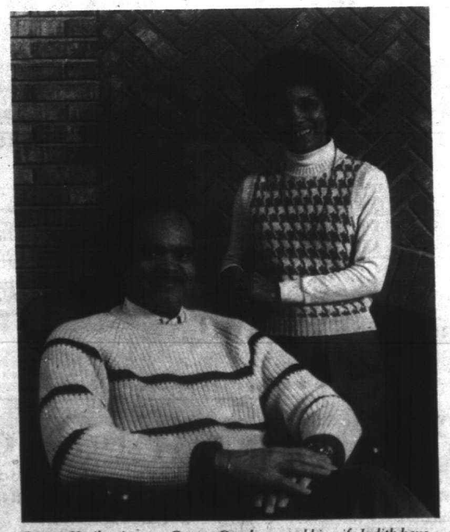
Sisters of Mercy serving our community since 1911

"The Health Center serves our entire community."

—George Goodman



Former Ypsilanti mayor George Goodman and his wife Judith have been active supporters of Catherine McAuley Health Center for a number of years.

George and Judith Goodman have first-hand knowledge of the work of Catherine McAuley Health Center as active participants in a number of its projects over the years. "I have been pleased to see the way in which the Health Center has responded to the health needs of the community and especially with the priority that has been placed on addressing the needs of the "high risk" population of the county," states George Goodman.

Judith Goodman adds, "The staff and volunteers are very conscientious about combining their professionalism with compassion. It has been personally gratifying to be part of the efforts of an institution that does so much for so many. We take special pleasure in being involved in the 75th Anniversary of the Sisters of Mercy in our community."

Since 1911, when the Sisters of Mercy were invited here, Catherine McAuley Health Center has evolved into a comprehensive health care center that touches the lives of tens of thousands of families each year. We invite you to join us as we celebrate 75 years of growth and service to the community.

For a free copy of a historical booklet on the Health Center or for information on services please call 572-4000. For a physician referral, please call 572-5500.

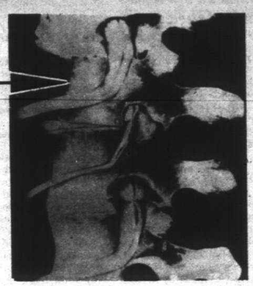
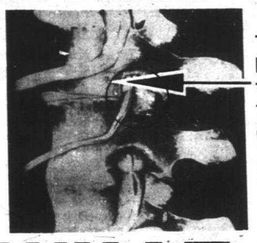
THE VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION

WHAT IS IT?

The human spine has 24 movable bones called vertebrae. They are stacked on top of one another and collectively are called the spinal column. A vertebral subluxation is one or more of those vertebrae out of their normal position. Bumps, falls, lifting, pushing, slipping and auto accidents are just a few of the ways they get out of their normal positions.



WHAT DOES IT DO?



Through the center of each vertebra runs the spinal cord. It is made of literally millions of nerve fibers running from the brain down to the spine and then exiting between the vertebrae. From there the nerves disperse into all tissues, organs and cells of the body. When a vertebra is subluxated it distorts the opening where the nerves leave the cord. That distortion causes pressure on the nerves. This blocks and alters brain impulses into the tissue, organs and cells.

WHAT DOES IT CAUSE?

When tissues, organs or cells are deprived of brain impulses, they slowly begin to function abnormally. This leads to disfunction and disfunction is always the forerunner of disease, sickness, weakness and hundreds of symptoms. Symptoms such as: Allergies, Bronchitis, Gall Bladder Disorders, High Blood Pressure, Kidney Disorders, Liver Disorders, Menstrual Disorders, Sinusitis, Stomach Disorders.

WHAT CAN BE DONE ABOUT IT?

Actually there are three choices, one - do nothing, letting the condition get worse until you succumb; two - take drugs which alleviate the pain, stimulate or depress the symptoms, but bring no real healing or three - remove the original cause in this process of disease & sickness, that being the vertebral subluxation. They are removed in many ways, sometimes by bed rest, sometimes by changing work habits but mostly by chiropractic spinal adjustment. If you're still sick and full of symptoms, you need a spinal examination to see if you're subluxated and if you are, maybe you should have it corrected. Spinal adjustments aren't traumatic. We give them to children. There are many ways to adjust spines. See the pictures below.

THERE IS NO ESCAPING THE EFFECT OF A VERTEBRAL SUBLUXATION. THERE IS HOWEVER, THE OPPORTUNITY TO HAVE THE SUBLUXATION REMOVED. THE OPPORTUNITY IS NOW YOURS. YOU MAY WANT TO CALL 459-0200.

Plymouth had a dozen paved streets in 1939

Across the hall from Dr. Paul W. Butz in the Penniman-Allen building in 1939 was a young optometrist, Dr. Elmore L. Carney.

The photo in his advertisement on the inside cover of the Red Book shows Carney as a handsome, somewhat serious young man in the early stages of his career. Dr. Carney's hours were from 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., with an hour off for dinner.

Elmore Carney was the husband of Winnie Draper whose father was an optometrist here during an earlier period. Carney was president of the PTA in the 1950s when Bird School was dedicated. He and Winnie were the parents of optometrist Dr. James M. Carney who has his practice at 1351 Main Street.

Other optometrists in Plymouth in 1939 were Dr. John A. Ross at 809 Penniman Avenue next to "the little bank," and Dr. John C. McIntyre, at 959 Penniman.

Dr. Ross, whose ad said he had spent seven years as professor at the world's largest school of optometry, said his modern equipment included Green's Refractor made by Mausch and Lomb.

IN THE SAME building with Dr. Ross was dentist Dr. John Olsaver.

Other dentists listed in the Red Book included Dr. B.E. Champe at 292 S. Main, Dr. J.M. Robison at 884 Penniman, Dr. S.N. Thams at 215 S. Main, and Dr. J.H. Todd, at 841 Penniman.

Dr. Brick Champe earned his degree at the University of Michigan where he was an outstanding member of the university wrestling team. In 1919, he donated his services in coaching the first boys' basketball team at Plymouth Rotary Club.

In 1956, when Rotarians held their first chicken barbecue, Brick Champe was one of the experts who showed club members how to manage the pits.

Plymouth attorneys in 1939 included Claude H. Buzzard, Dunbar Davis, John S. Dayton and Perry W. Richwine, all on Penniman Avenue. John Crandell was on Church Street, J. Rusling Cutler on South Main and Hal P. Wilson on Ann Arbor Trail.

Buzzard, an attorney for the C.& O. railroad, was a member of the school board in the 1930s. Dunbar Davis defeated Ruth Huston Whipple at the polls in 1946 for a seat on the City Commission. He was municipal judge in the 1960s and, in 1969, became the first judge of the 35th District Court, a position he held until comparatively recent times.

past and present

Sam Hudson

John Dayton was municipal judge in 1939 when the Red Book was published by his wife. Perry Richwine was municipal judge, a member of the City Charter Commission, a member of the City Commission and mayor of the City of Plymouth in 1949-50.

J. Rusling Cutler, who started his law practice here in 1932, was municipal judge in the 1940s, and a member of the City Commission in the 1950s.

Building supply dealers 45 years ago included Eckles Coal and Supply on N. Holbrook, Plymouth Elevator Corp. on Main Street adjacent to the railroad tracks, the Plymouth Lumber and Coal Co. on the opposite side of Main, and the Roe Lumber Co. on Amelia Street.

Plymouth Elevator was run for many years by the McLaren family, Plymouth Coal and Lumber by the Mather family, and Roe Lumber by Russell Roe. Roe was a member of the Plymouth Board of Education and a vice president of the First National Bank. In 1928, Roe organized and managed the Plymouth Hockey Club, which built an outdoor skating rink where the Plymouth Cultural Center now stands.

CHURCH STREET, which had been rerouted away from the front of the school and made into a boulevard in 1937, was paved in 1939.

A map in the Red Book, prepared by City Engineer Stan Besse, showed that only a dozen streets in Plymouth were paved at the time. The paved streets included Main Street, Ann Arbor Road, Ann Arbor Trail west of Hamilton Street, Penniman Avenue, Harvey Street from Ann Arbor Trail to Junction Avenue, Harvey from Ann Arbor Trail to Junction Avenue, Church Street, part of Adams Street, William Avenue, part of Arthur Avenue, part of Blunk Avenue, part of Ann Avenue, Starkweather Avenue, and part of Mill Street.

Although I have called it Ann Arbor Trail, the map was still calling it Ann Arbor Street in 1939.

Under the heading "World's Largest Air Rifle Factory is Located in Plymouth," the Red Book had a few things to say about the Daisy Manufacturing Company. The firm, which began production with 25 people in the preceding century, employed between 200 and 300 at various times in the 1930s.

"Daisy Air Rifles are made for boys and sold to boys on the premise that boy training makes self-reliant men," the article said. "The company believes that if a boy is trained to handle an air rifle properly, he learns self-control, and when he is old enough to use a firearm he will do so with safety to himself and to others."

Self control is a goal we all wish to reach but whether it can be achieved by air rifle training is debatable. It always has seemed to me that the acme of self-control was Charlotte. She is the one described in a little ditty written by William Makepeace Thackeray after he had read Goethe's "Sorrows of Werther:"

Charlotte, having seen his body
Borne before her on a shutter,
Like a well-conducted person,
Went on cutting bread and butter.

● IN WHO'S WHO

Donald G. Hoover of Canton, a student at William Tyndale College in Farmington Hills, has been nominated to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" for the 1986-87 academic year. Hoover was selected on the basis of scholarship, participation and leadership in extracurricular activities, Christian service, citizenship and service to the college. He is a graduate of Rift Valley Academy in Kijabe, Kenya.

● ALPHA CHI

Robert Reuter of Canton is among upperclass students at Adrian College in Adrian initiated into the Alpha Chi national college honor scholarship society. To be eligible for membership in Alpha Chi, a student must be a junior or senior. Juniors must have earned at least a 3.8 grade point average on a 4.0 scale. Seniors must have at least a 3.6 cumulative grade point average. Reuter, a senior majoring in chemistry, is a 1983 graduate of Ann Arbor Greenhills High School. He is the son of Edward and Ruth Reuter of Canton.

● MEDICAL STUDENT

Jonathan James Varjabedian of Plymouth is among 126 new medical students entering the Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine this fall. Varjabedian, son of Steve and Sara Varjabedian, studied biology at the University of Michigan. He graduated from Southfield High School in 1982. Upon completion of medical school, he and his fellow students will receive the doctor of osteopathy degree.

● PEER EDUCATOR

Brian Murray of Canton is a member of the Butler University student group, Peer Educators/BACCHUS (Boost Alcohol Consciousness Concerning the Health of University Students). The student group has been selected as one of three finalists in the private university/college category for the BACCHUS Chapter of the Year award.

Murray, a junior majoring in history-political science at the Indianapolis university, serves as treasurer of the group. At Butler, peer educators/BACCHUS student members sponsor a number of activities to increase awareness of the effects of alcohol. Those activities include providing non-alcoholic drinks at parties, conducting workshops and working to educate high school students.

● RAISING MONEY

Jennifer Ashton of Plymouth was among Carleton College students who raised more than $900 for the Rice County Humane Society. Ashton is a sophomore at the college in Northfield, Minn. She is a graduate of Ann Arbor Greenhills High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Ashton of Plymouth.

Ashton and a fellow student coordinated the activities, which were part of the college's Acting in the Community Together program of student volunteerism. Most of the money came from a skip-a-meal program, with the cost of the meals not eaten given to the society. Volunteers also helped at adoption days sponsored by the society.

● HONORARY GROUP

Local students were among those inducted this fall term into Gamma Delta Alpha, a women's honorary society at Alma College in Alma. Senior Karin Barto and junior Tamara Budlong of Plymouth were among the 21 new members.

Gamma Delta Alpha recognizes upperclass women who are outstanding in leadership and scholarship. To qualify for membership, seniors must have a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.4 and juniors must have a 3.6. Both women are graduates of Plymouth Canton High School, Barto in 1983 and Budlong in 1984. Barto is the daughter of Glen and Constance Barto, Plymouth. She is majoring in international business. Budlong is the daughter of Robert and Judith Budlong, Plymouth. She is majoring in biology at Alma.

Teachers need encouragement

To the editor:

Perhaps there is something in the time of the year that brings out certain behaviors. Just over a year ago I served on a parent-teacher committee that reviewed a complaint concerning a talk on witchcraft to be given at the high school. We rejected the complaint, and the talk was given.

The large number of complaints (nine I believe) filed by Diane Daskalakis, because she apparently is concerned about the use of certain films and other materials, shows that we are dealing with an escalating challenge to quality education in our district.

My purpose in writing this letter is to make a point that Daskalakis and other's like her clearly do not understand.

I have two children who recently graduated from the Plymouth-Canton schools. The education they received was excellent. It was excellent because the school system has a long history of hiring highly qualified teachers and letting them teach. There is ample protection against poor educational practices built into the school system's procedures.

It angers and saddens me greatly that Daskalakis and others like her feel they have a mandate of some kind to censor the teaching in our schools. If these efforts were to succeed, the quality of education would plummet. Good teaching cannot be carried out when special interest groups constantly butt in.

I call on the Board of Education to resist concessions to Daskalakis and others like her. I invite other concerned parents and citizens of this community to join me in sending Daskalakis the message that we want quality education for our children from teachers who feel free to teach in innovative ways. We do not want censorship!

Our 1986 Carriers of the Year are...

PICTURE PERFECT

Throughout this year these 12 Observer & Eccentric carriers have delivered their hometown news twice each week, rain, snow, or shine. They also delivered some good, hard work behind the scenes. Our 1986 Carriers of the Year have won their laurels by settling their accounts promptly, organizing their route books neatly and keeping them up to date.

When considering candidates for this award each year, we check their length of service and the amount of their collections. We also make sure they've been Carrier of the Month. These young people represent diligence, character and the kind of commitment to their work that will make the difference in whatever they choose to do with their lives.

To say "Thanks" we've given each of them an engraved trophy, congratulated them with a dinner, and printed their pictures in the newspaper they deliver so well.

And we've enjoyed every minute of it.

Measles outbreak spreads to area schools

By Rebecca Haynes
staff writer

A measles outbreak that originated in Romulus has spread to other areas of Wayne County, including Westland, Garden City and Canton Township.

Dr. Donald Lawrenchuck, medical director for the Wayne County Health Department, said at least 50 cases of probable or confirmed measles have been reported to date. Fifteen schools in western Wayne County have cited cases of the disease since its outbreak at Romulus Junior High School in early November.

Area measles outbreaks have fluctuated in recent years, with only four cases reported last year, 183 in 1984, no cases in 1983 and 25 in 1982. Most are reported through the school districts.

"Measles are something we don't expect to see, but when we do, they're easily transmitted because they're highly communicable," Lawrenchuk said. "Our first priority is to prevent any more kids from getting them."

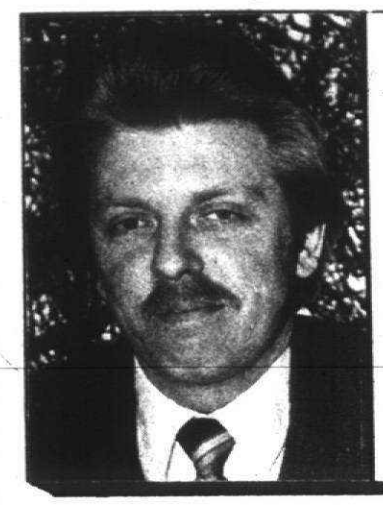
The health department was notified immediately of the problem in Romulus and sent a team to the school to gather information through interviews and record searching. This provides an assessment of the situation and helps the department determine the best way to prevent the disease from spreading. The same thing is being done in the other districts.

"We have to go through all of the school records to find out who has and who hasn't been immunized for measles," he said. "Then we begin to immunize those susceptible.

"We've also sent letters to all parents and teachers advising them of the problem and asking them to review their family's immunization records."

Lawrenchuk added that those who can't receive the vaccine because of allergies or religious objection have been advised to stay home during the outbreak.

State law does require that all children receive a measles immunization before starting school. However, because some students don't receive the vaccine, and because it's only 95 percent effective, outbreaks can occur.



'Measles are something we don't expect to see, but when we do, they're easily transmitted because they're highly communicable. Our first priority is to prevent any more kids from getting them.'
— Donald Lawrenchuk, medical director

The Michigan public health code requires all doctors, hospitals or health care professionals to report any suspected measles cases to the county health department.

"We work very closely with the schools and have developed a good communication network," Lawrenchuk said. "We require weekly reports listing any illnesses that have kept students at home, and usually when it's something like measles they'll call our office directly."

Seventy percent of those afflicted to date are 6-14 years of age, although the age spread ranges from 16 months to 30 years, he said. Of the 50 cases, 72 percent are in the Romulus area.

Symptoms include: a rash that lasts at least three days; a fever of at least 101°; a cough; red, watery eyes; a runny nose; swollen neck glands; a sore throat; eyes sensitive to light; headaches; and a general feeling of malaise.

Most people recover from the measles with no problems. However, ear infections and pneumonia top the list of possible complications. One person has died this year in Michigan from measles complications, Lawrenchuk said.

Measles have an incubation period of eight-13 days, but one of the problems is the disease can be contagious up to five days before any symptoms appear, he said.

"One of the main things we're worried about is the amount of social activity that occurred over the Halloween weekend that could have spread the disease," he said. "Our concern is that we may see another wave of measles because of this."

Lawrenchuk said there are two theories as to how this outbreak may have begun.

"Measles are a chronic problem in Windsor, where they have a very low immunization rate," he said. "With all of the people going back and forth over the border, Wayne County is very susceptible and is often the first to be hit."

Another theory is that the disease came to Romulus via the travelers who come through Detroit Metropolitan Airport, in the center of the city.

"We're really urging all households to review their immunization status, and suggest anyone under the age of 30 who has not been immunized to do so," Lawrenchuk said. "If cost is a problem, our centers offer the vaccine free of charge, Monday through Friday."

Jessica Handley scoops a shot over Plymouth Canton senior Penny Piggott during Salem's 50-25 victory Friday night. The victory was Salem's 18th in a row and earned the Rocks their second straight Western Lakes championship.

Rock cagers put the Chiefs to rout

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Thanks, Plymouth Salem. Thanks a lot.

Party pooper.

You lure a near-capacity crowd into your gym on a chilly Friday night with promises of a hot and heavy girls basketball game against your neighborhood rival, Plymouth Canton. A showdown, you call it. For all the marbles. Winner takes the Western Lakes crown and stuffs it into its bulging trophy case. Good, clean family entertainment.

Then what do you do? You annihilate those Canton Chiefs, 50-25. Not a neighborly thing to do at all. Heck, the party was over at halftime. You turned the lights out and sent the people home with a 12-0 run in the second quarter. It was 44-15 after three quarters, for crying out loud.

Some party, Salem.

"What can you say," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, rather sheepishly after the game. "Both teams were ready to play. They just missed a few shots, we made a few shots and it seemed to take off from there. We can get into a real nice offensive flow, and once we do, we are very hard to stop. If you would have told me at the beginning of the week this would happen, I wouldn't have believed it. I would have been happy with a one- or two-point victory."

ALL JOKING aside, you have to marvel at what Salem did Friday night. Plymouth Canton is an excellent basketball team, as its 13-6 record and seven-game win streak prior to Friday night would attest. Yet Salem completely dismantled the Chiefs.

The Salem defense, always effective, was devastating Friday night. It forced 27 turnovers. It held Canton scoreless for nearly 10 minutes. The Chiefs scored with 14 seconds left in the first quarter, didn't score at all in the second quarter, then finally broke the drought with a Karen Boluch bucket 1:32 into the third quarter. Canton got off eight shots in the first quarter, 11 in the second, six in the third and eight in the final quarter — in other words, not many. In one stretch, Canton scored just two field goals (plus three free throws) in 42 offensive possessions.

That's playing defense, folks.

"We've talked a lot in the papers about how good we are defensively," Thomann said. "Tonight, I think we demonstrated it. We make it awfully tough for people to score on us."

And there was a twist. Salem, a staunch practitioner of man-to-man defense, switched to a zone early in the second quarter. Uh, it worked.

"We've been fooling around with the zone for a while now," Thomann said. "We are looking for different ways to use our quickness. We want to see how other teams react to it. Plus, we like to make our opponents have to prepare for other things when they play us. As long as it's working, we'll use it."

OFFENSIVELY FOR the Rocks, it was the Dena Head show. After missing her first four shots, Head hit her next seven and finished with 26. No other Rock player scored in double figures.

Canton coach Rob Neu took his team's second straight league championship loss to the Rocks in good spirits.

"You never expect to get beaten badly. You prepare to win. But Salem was better tonight. They are a good team and they are getting better. They flat beat us soundly."

Later, Neu added: "All we can do is use this game as preparation for the state tournament (which starts Thursday at John Glenn). We have to learn from this and go on."

Boluch led the Chiefs with 11 points. She scored seven in the final quarter.

The victory Friday gained the Rocks a spot in the Western Lakes record book. Salem is the only team in Western Lakes history to go undefeated. The Rocks were 16-0 in the regular season. They are 19-1 overall and have won 18 straight games. It was also Salem's third Western Lakes title in five years.

Good basketball team, this Plymouth Salem group. It needs some work on its party manners, though.

Michelle Fortier (No. 10), Canton's sophomore point guard, tries to swing a pass around Salem's Jessica Handley Friday night.

Area kickers a striking force

By Brad Emons
staff writer

OBSERVERLAND SOCCER and excellence have become synonymous over the years and this boys season was no exception.

Some of the top teams in the state are represented on this year's All-Area squad.

State Class A champion Livonia Stevenson, which posted a 21-0-3 record, landed four players on the first team.

Livonia Churchill, the Western Lakes Soccer League champions (16-1-1), took three of the 13 spots.

Other state-ranked teams represented include Redford Catholic Central (two berths), Plymouth Salem (one) and North Farmington (two).

Area coaches gathered recently to vote on the first and second teams. All but one school was represented during the voting.

Presenting the 1986 All-Area boys soccer team:

FIRST TEAM

Lars Richters, forward, Livonia Stevenson: A unanimous pick, this three-year starter is considered the state's premier player. He is also a premier student, maintaining a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

As a striker this season for the state-champion Spartans, Richters scored 34 goals and added a school-record 26 assists. His three-year totals are 59 goals and 45 assists.

The Stevenson co-captain was an All-Western Lakes Soccer League pick and all-state honoree.

Ray Barnas, forward, Livonia Stevenson: The perfect complement to Richters, the senior co-captain tallied 20 goals and added 10 assists this season.

He made the all-Western Lakes squad and was voted second-team all-state by the Michigan Soccer Coaches Association.

A two-year starter and three-year letter winner, Barnas took most of Stevenson's corner kicks. His career totals are 35 goals and 20 assists.

Torin Gniewek, forward, Livonia Churchill: A starter 18 straight games at center-forward, the senior scored 15 goals and added 10 assists.

This season, the Chargers' co-captain was voted all-Western Lakes and first team all-state. He was an all-Western Division pick a year ago.

"Torin is the best set-up player I've ever had," said Churchill coach John Neff. "He had great touch and could feed the forwards extremely well and give them good shots."

Craig Thiel, forward, Catholic Central: Teaming up with his younger brother, Brian, this senior forward was a threat anywhere near the goal.

He scored 15 goals and added 10 assists for the district-champion Shamrocks. His career totals are 29 goals and 14 assists.

Tall for his position, the co-captain showed deft ball skills and field smarts, according to his coach, Paul Scicluna.

Brian O'Leary, midfielder, Livonia Churchill: A three-year team member and two-year starter, the senior halfback was a tough competitor who used his height and ball skills to his advantage.

This season, O'Leary scored three goals and added five assists en route to second team all-state and all-Western Lake honors.

"Brian is excellent at controlling the ball and moving it up to his forwards," said coach Neff. "He is a superb defensive halfback."

Mel Karfis, midfielder, Livonia Stevenson: A junior, Karfis took most of the Spartans' throw-ins, free kicks and corner kicks this season.

He scored five goals and added 10 assists in 1986, raising his career totals to 12 goals and 20 assists.

A two-year starter and three-year letter winner, Karfis was voted second team all-state and all-Western Lakes.

Zac Beim, midfielder, North Farmington: The Raiders' captain, Beim, a senior, recorded 15 assists this season to set a school record. He also scored five goals in 1986.

Coach Cathy Cole said of the three-year starter and two-time all-Western Lakes choice: "Zac reads the game extremely well and has the vision and skills to direct and finish the play. He is one of the finest passers and playmakers in our conference and will make a fine addition to any collegiate program."

Rich Hutchman, midfielder, Livonia Franklin: A senior, Hutchman controlled the midfield area against some of the state's best teams.

The all-Western Lakes pick scored seven goals and added 15 assists this year. In four years as a regular, Hutchman had 22 goals and 45 assists, both school records.

"Rich is just one of the finest people I've been associated with as a coach,"

Ocelots frustrated by Lewis & Clark

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

GLEN ELLYN, ILL. — What would it take for Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team to win an Inter-regional title?

Start with a few breaks, mix in a little more confidence, top it off with proper execution.

All of that would have benefitted the Ocelots Saturday in their Inter-regional opener against Lewis and Clark CC (Godfrey, Ill.). So would have a couple of goals.

In basic terms, L&C had two good scoring chances and connected on both. SC had several opportunities but could not finish any of them. Result: a 2-0 L&C win that put them into Sunday's Inter-regional final against Bethany Lutheran (Mankato, Minn.).

"Lewis and Clark makes it own breaks," summarized frustrated SC coach Van Dimitriou. "It comes natural to them. Our guys, we have to teach them right from the start. We just don't have the overall quality they do.

"It's a very helpless feeling when you know the other team has control of the game."

IF SC HAD been dominated by L&C — outplayed, outhustled, outmanned — the defeat might have been easier to swallow. But that just wasn't the case.

Listen to how L&C coach Tim Rooney described the game: "I don't think we played well. They (SC) forced the play. I thought they outworked us. We just never got into it."

And yet, it's L&C that won and advanced. Why?

L&C was more confident. The team that finished fourth in the NJCAA tournament last year knew it would win. They played like champions.

It's an arrogant attitude, but it can work if the other team allows it to. SC was crippled without John Gelmisi — who broke an ankle in an Eastern Conference playoff win over Macomb CC the previous week — to burst through opposing defenses, wreaking havoc.

All L&C needed to win this match was a break. It got that just 3:19 into the game on a seemingly harmless play as Brian Shields chased the ball with three SC defenders closing around him.

SHIELDS PUNCHED the ball. "It deflected off three guys," said SC keeper Jeff Vakratsis afterwards, "and I went the other way. It was a cheap, cheap goal. That's what's happened to us all year."

Cheap or not, it gave L&C the lead and forced Dimitriou to change strategy.

"It hurt us a heckuva lot," the SC coach said. "It means we have to score two goals to win instead of one, and we've had trouble scoring one."

And yet, SC dominated play throughout the remainder of the first half and the game. But it did the Ocelots little good. At 9:21 of the second half, the left side of the SC defense relaxed, allowing Steve Stocker to penetrate at right wing. Stocker crossed the ball to Charles Clark, who drilled it past Vakratsis for a 2-0 L&C lead.

ANY CONFIDENCE or momentum SC might have gained to that point was lost. So was the game.

By game's end, even Dimitriou seemingly was at wits end. "What a helpless feeling," he muttered.

"I feel very empty inside," he added later. "We went through a whole year of soccer and it doesn't seem like it culminated in anything.

"Johnny (Gelmisi) would have been perfect for this game. We really missed him."

said Franklin's Doug Marks.

The team MVP, who plans to attend Amherst (Mass.) College, sports a 4.1 GPA.

Phil Neumaier, defender, Livonia Churchill: Playing center-fullback, the senior was the Chargers' field general.

"Phil was excellent at using his other fullback and controlling the field," said his coach, John Neff. "Very seldom was he caught out of position. His ball skills were excellen' and he was very aggressive."

A three-year player and two-year starter, Neumaier was voted all-Western Lakes.

Derek Williford, defender, Livonia Stevenson: Only a sophomore, Williford led a defensive unit that allowed only 17 goals and recorded 12 shutouts.

According to coach Pete Scerri, Williford led the team in minutes, rarely coming off the field.

The rewarding season led to Williford being named to the all-Western Lakes Division team. He is also a member of the under-15 Michigan state select team.

Tom Goodwin, defender, Catholic Central: The 6-foot-4 senior made his presence known around area soccer fields.

As a center-fullback, Goodwin's job normally was to shadow the opposing team's top scorer.

An all-Catholic League pick, Goodwin finished a fine career with 11 goals and eight assists.

"Tom dominates in the air," said CC coach Paul Sciciuna. "He is a very smart passer with good skills."

Mike Zaretti, defender, Plymouth Salem: The senior co-captain was one of the Rocks' mainstays, scoring seven goals and 12 assists, bringing his career totals to 14 and 20, respectively.

Said coach Ken Johnson of the all-Western Lakes selection: "Mike has great physical strength and stamina to play soccer the old-fashioned way. He refuses to be beaten on the ground or in the air. I call him my 'ironman' because he's never been injured or missed a game.

"When Mike went from midfield to stopper this year we had seven shutouts in a row. He'll be hard to replace."

Zaretti is a 3.5 student.

Craig Nome, goalie, N. Farmington: Allowing less than one goal per game and recording seven shutouts, the North senior was a pleasant surprise this season after transferring in from Minnesota.

His career goals-against average is 1.32, including 12 shutouts.

Said coach Cathy Cole of the all-Western Lakes pick: "Craig possesses the skill and leadership that it takes to participate at the collegiate level. He is very quick, which makes him dangerous in one-on-one situations and has the ability to absorb the ball in a crowd."

Glenn Breuhan, Coach of the Year, Farmington Harrison: The first-year coach was responsible for a big turnaround this season as the Hawks went from 2-16 in 1985 to 7-7-5 in 1986, the school's best-ever record.

Harrison outscored its opponents this season, 49-38, compared with 19 for and 56 against last year.

Cassie Cummins won both the 200 and 500 freestyle events for Canton Thursday but the Chiefs still lost to Northville, 43-40.

Late N'ville rallytrips Canton

Plymouth Canton hasn't lost many swim meets this season, but the few it has lost have been hard to take. Like Thursday night, for example.

Northville, trailing the entire meet, pulled out a 43-40 win by taking 1-2 in the final event (the 400-yard freestyle relay). Ouch.

Northville's win means it will share the Western Lakes Western Division championship with Livonia Churchill. Canton will take an 8-2 record into the Western Lakes conference meet Wednesday through Friday at Plymouth Salem.

Cassie Cummins and Julie Cox won two events each for the Chiefs. Cummins won both the 200 freestyle (2:02.5) and the 500 free (5:24.1). Cox won the 200 individual medley (2:17.5) and 100 breaststroke (1:11.14).

Lisa DeJong won the diving for Canton (200.3 points). Kristy Brugar, Cox, Michelle Stackpoole and Danielle Dickinson won the 200 medley relay (2:01.7).

PLYMOUTH SALEM closed out its dual meet season with an 89-82 win against Westland John Glenn.

The Rocks got off on a strong note, taking 1-2 in the medley relay. Stacia Bannon, Erin Olson, Shannon Murphy and Sue Bonnett won it with a time of 2:04.3.

Other Salem firsts were won by Murphy in the 200 IM (2:27.8), Tracy Meszaros in the 100 free (58.9) and Olson in the 100 breaststroke (1:16.2).

"It was close all the way," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "We had more depth than they did and we needed all of it tonight."

Salem is 6-6 on the season. The Rocks host the league meet beginning with the preliminary races, 2 p.m. Wednesday. The finals are at 7 p.m. Friday.

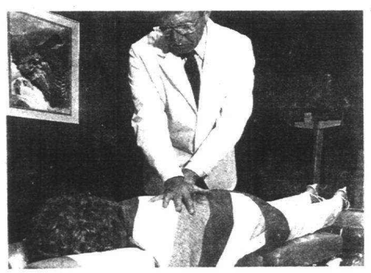
CHASE CHIROPRACTIC
CELEBRATES 17 YEARS OF SERVICE

As a community service, we are donating a free spinal examination and nerve test for all new patients to determine if their health problems may be helped by Chiropractic. We have found over the last 17 years of being a Chiropractor in this community, that the number 1 reason people fail to seek help is a lack of understanding of how their body works and how to obtain better health.

1. CONSULTATION
Your testing begins with a consultation consisting of questions concerning past and present health history.

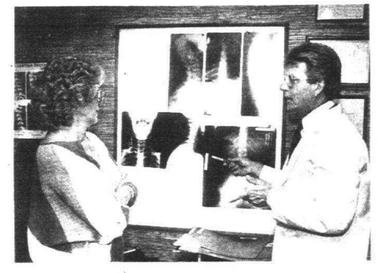
2. PHYSICAL EXAMINATION
Examination continues with a general overall system evaluation.

3. ORTHOPEDIC AND NEUROLOGIC EVALUATION
A full evaluation of the nervous and musculo skeletal systems will be conducted.



4. STATIC AND MOTION PALPATION
Static and motion palpation will be conducted to determine possible sights of neurolog interference.

5. REPORT OF FINDINGS
Based on the consultation and test results, the Doctor will make the appropriate recommendations regarding X-rays, additional examinations, chiropractic care or referral to another Doctor.



6. EXTENDED HEALTH CONSULTATION
The extended health consultations are held every Wednesday evening to further your knowledge of Chiropractic care and to answer your specific health questions.

Film doesn't match novel's scope

Lin Tse-Hsu (seated) is the Imperial High Commissioner, who bans opium trade in "Tai-Pan," based on James Clavell's international best-selling novel.

Although you may get your money's worth from the De Laurentis Entertainment Group's lavish epic, "Tai-Pan" (R), it is doubtful that the producer will ever recoup what must have been an enormous investment.

"Tai-Pan" is spectacular but disappointing as it fails to achieve its lofty goal of adapting James Clavell's novel for the screen. The novel's scope and richness provide a story far too complex for a two-hour film. The great success of Clavell's "Shogun" — his vast narrative of 16th-century Japan — was, in part, due to the considerable length of the TV miniseries.

Of course there is always a subjective issue when favorite or famous books are adapted for the screen. We bemoan the fact that Hollywood can't film the images the novel stimulated in our heads.

But a film is a film and a novel is a novel and never the twain shall meet — at least not as exact translations of one another. A novel is "adapted" for the screen, not "translated," and adaptation involves many changes. Filmmakers face the difficult process of physically visualizing and recording on celluloid complex ideas and scenery that are easily described in writing.

CLAVELL'S "Tai-Pan" paints huge portraits of the Orient, the Opium Wars and the British gunboat diplomacy, which led to the establishment of Hong Kong as a British Crown Colony in the 1840s. The British flag followed its traders, and they are the centerpiece of novel and film.

Dirk Struan (Bryan Brown) takes the lead in establishing British trade with his arch-rival, Tyler Brock (John Stanton), close behind. Their personal and professional rivalries are at the core of "Tai-Pan."

Brock's perverted, sadistic son, Gorth (Bill Leadbitter), eventually wins the friendship of Straun's kindly, religious son, Cullum (Tim Guinee), who has come out to Hong Kong after the death of his mother and sisters from the plague in Glasgow.

Gorth falls in love with Brock's daughter, Tess (Kyra Sedgwick), which, quite obviously, complicates matters. What seemed quite reasonable in the book appears contrived on film. To further confuse the scene, Dirk Struan has a son, Gordon (Russell Wong), by a former Chinese mistress. As well, he has a current Chinese mistress, May-May (Joan Chen).

Then there's Dirk's friend, Aristotle Quance (Norman Rodway), who lives on a floating Chinese house of prostitution, except when his wife (Barbara Keogh) catches up with him. The huge cast also includes the entire European community in Hong Kong and large numbers of native Chinese who regularly enter and leave the narrative.

IT TAKES the first 20 or so minutes to get into the flow of this complex story but once you do, things flow fairly well and the richness of the story is worth the effort. What diminishes "Tai-Pan" more than plot complications are the ways in which the film trivializes and romanticizes a complicated story of human greed and passion.

The complex relationships among those who love and hate Dirk Struan are represented by banal dialogue — Brock claims he believes in God but is willing to go to the Devil to destroy his enemy.

Russell Wong's stoic face as half-Chinese son Gordon and Tim Guinee's wimpy portrayal of son Cullum fall completely to project the brotherly bond between these half-brothers fiercely loyal to their father. Joan Chen is attractive as May-May and demonstrates considerable acting range but generally comes across with saccharine cuteness.

The key scene (and fight) in which Struan successfully transports 1.2 million British pounds in silver down a pirate-infested river has none of the tension and all of the contrived nonsense of Hollywood fantasy. It just looks easy. There is no real conflict with that boatload of easily dispelled pirates.

Joan Chen is May-May, Chinese concubine of Dick Struan, an early British leader in China trade, played by Bryan Brown, in "Tai-Pan."

the movies

Dan Greenberg

The Hollywood fantasy of "Tai-Pan" is misplaced in this historic romance and leads to an ending at cross-purposes. The film's style demands a conventional, happy Hollywood conclusion. Such is not the case in Clavell's book. Forcing these two opposites together in the film leads to an inane conclusion with all appeal of a TV sit-com rerun.

BUT ALL IS not lost. The film is very attractive and quite pleasant to view. The spectacular, scenic vis.as and the excellent photography (Jack Cardiff) are worth the trip to your local theater. The expensive location production in China pays off visually as do the spectacular special effects.

Those who like flamboyant swashbucklers and don't mind a fair amount of graphic violence and nudity will probably enjoy "Tai-Pan."

A Traditional Thanksgiving... for Today

Thanksgiving is a celebration of the sheer perseverance and determination of the first colonists to survive the harsh conditions in their new home. The early homemakers learned to adapt familiar European recipes and cooking methods to fit new foods and lifestyles. The first Thanksgiving dinner was a "pitch in" meal with special dishes from each family.

Thanksgiving dinner for a house filled with relatives doesn't have to be a survival test for today's busy cooks if they follow the colonists' customs of adapting traditional recipes to incorporate new eating trends and asking each family to contribute a favorite dish to the gathering.

Today's convenient, time-saving ingredients such as sweetened condensed milk, bottled lemon juice, ready-to-use mincemeat and chicken-flavor bouillon allow the cook to create recipes that are not only delicious but quick and easy to prepare.

Add hearty, rich flavor to the turkey stuffing and gravy, with instant bouillon or bouillon cubes, which are easier and more economical to use than canned broth. Dissolve one teaspoon instant or one cube in one cup boiling water in any recipe calling for one cup broth or stock.

Keep bottled lemon juice on hand to give a zesty flavor to punches, salads, sauces and vegetable dishes. Ready-to-use mincemeat is the quick and convenient ingredient for the traditional holiday pie. For other luscious desserts, choose sweetened condensed milk, today's easy way to homemade taste and goodness.

Celebrate the joys and traditions of the American spirit with this memorable Thanksgiving dinner.

*Recipes provided

Before the feast, sip this warm, spiced cider.

HOT CRANBERRY CIDER

(Makes about 2 quarts)

1 quart apple cider or apple juice
1 (32-ounce) bottle cranberry juice cocktail
1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
1/3 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
8 whole cloves
2 cinnamon sticks

In large saucepan, combine ingredients; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Remove spices. Serve warm.

Unmold this refreshing ruby red salad onto lettuce leaves and serve with Lemon Fluff Dressing.

SHERRIED CHERRY SALAD

(Makes 10 to 12 servings)

2 (16-ounce) cans dark sweet cherries, drained, reserving syrup
1 cup water
1/3 cup bottled lemon juice
1 (8-serving size) package black cherry or cherry flavor gelatin
1/2 cup dry sherry or water
1/2 cup chopped pecans
Lettuce leaves
Lemon Fluff Dressing

In small saucepan, combine water and lemon juice; bring to a boil. In large bowl, pour boiling mixture over gelatin; stir until dissolved. Add reserved syrup and sherry; mix well. Chill until partially set. Fold in cherries and nuts. Pour into lightly oiled 7 cup mold. Chill 4 to 6 hours or overnight. Serve on lettuce with Lemon Fluff Dressing.

Lemon Fluff Dressing*

1 cup marshmallow creme
3 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping cream, unwhipped

In small mixer bowl, beat together marshmallow creme and lemon juice. Gradually add whipping cream; beat until smooth and soft peaks form. Refrigerate leftovers.

Tip: Dressing can be held in refrigerator 4 to 6 hours; stir before serving.

Serve the traditional turkey with this moist, flavorful corn bread mixture.

SAVORY CORN BREAD STUFFING

(Makes about 3 quarts)

1 pound fresh mushrooms, sliced (about 4 cups)
1 cup chopped celery
3/4 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup margarine or butter
4 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon or 4 chicken-flavor bouillon cubes
1-2/3 cups boiling water
1 pound bulk sausage, browned and drained
1 (16-ounce) package corn bread stuffing mix
1-1/2 teaspoons poultry seasoning

In large skillet, cook mushrooms, celery and onion in margarine until tender. In large bowl, dissolve bouillon in water. Add sausage, mushroom mixture and remaining ingredients; mix well. Lightly stuff turkey before roasting. Place remaining stuffing in greased baking dish; cover. Bake at 350° for 20 minutes or until hot. Refrigerate leftovers.

Bouillon guarantees that this quick-to-fix gravy will be extra flavorful and delicious.

RICH GOLDEN GRAVY

(Makes about 1-1/2 cups)

1/4 to 1/3 cup unsifted flour
1/4 cup pan drippings or margarine
2 cups boiling water
2 teaspoons chicken-flavor instant bouillon

In medium skillet, stir flour into pan drippings; cook and stir until dark brown. Stir in water and bouillon; cook and stir until thickened. Refrigerate leftovers.

This creamy, spirited drink is a delicious way to toast the holiday.

APPLE CINNAMON CREAM LIQUEUR

(Makes about 1 quart)

1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
1 cup apple schnapps
1 cup (1/2 pint) whipping or coffee cream
4 eggs*
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

In blender container, combine all ingredients; blend until smooth. Serve over ice. Garnish as desired. Store tightly covered in refrigerator up to 1 month. Stir before serving.

*Use only Grade A clean, uncracked eggs.

Update traditional mince pie by adding chocolate and pecans.

CHOCOLATE MINCE PECAN PIE

(Makes one 9-inch pie)

1 (9-inch) unbaked pastry shell
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 (28-ounce) jar ready-to-use mincemeat (regular or brandy and rum)
1 cup chopped pecans
3 (1-ounce) squares semi-sweet or unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
Whipped cream and pecan halves, optional

Preheat oven to 400°. In large bowl, combine sugar and flour. Add egg; mix well. Add mincemeat, pecans, chocolate and margarine; mix well. Turn into pastry shell. Bake 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 325°; bake 50 minutes longer or until filling is slightly puffed and firm. Cool slightly. Serve warm or cool. Garnish with whipped cream and nuts if desired.

A no fuss press-in-the-pan crust makes this new version of pumpkin pie a winner with beginning bakers.

DEEP DISH PUMPKIN PIE

(Makes 10 to 12 servings)

1-3/4 cups unsifted flour
1/3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/3 cup granulated sugar
1 cup cold margarine or butter, cut into small pieces
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1 (16-ounce) can pumpkin (2 cups)
1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (NOT evaporated milk)
2 eggs
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon salt

Preheat oven to 350°. In medium bowl, combine flour and sugars; cut in margarine until crumbly. Reserving 1 cup crumb mixture, press remainder firmly on bottom and halfway up sides of 12x7 inch baking dish. Stir nuts into reserved crumb mixture; set aside. In large mixer bowl, combine remaining ingredients except crumb mixture; mix well. Pour into prepared crust. Top with crumb mixture. Bake 55 minutes or until golden. Cool. Garnish as desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

Cheesecake showstoppers easy to prepare

A creative rendition of two of America's favorite desserts — cheesecake and apple pie — Autumn Apple Cheesecake is sure to please the most demanding of cheesecake lovers. National Cheesecake Month is celebrated through the end of November.

When you want someone to smile, say "cheesecake!" Other desserts may tempt and please the palate, but to unabashed dessert lovers, only cheesecake promises total bliss.

Cheesecake connoisseurs are forever on the lookout for new interpretations of their favorite dessert. Rather than remaining at the mercy of restaurant chefs, bakeries or supermarket freezer cases, they tend to seek creative new flavor variations in their own kitchens.

In honor of the nation's cheesecake lovers and National Cheesecake Month, this November, we offer two show-stopping new cheesecake recipes that are a piece of cake to prepare. Boasting dramatically impressive appearance, both dessert creations rely on cream cheese, which has half the calories of butter and margarine, for rich, soul-satisfying flavor and creamy smooth texture.

A showcase for fall's favorite fruit, Autumn Apple Cheesecake boasts a cinnamon flavored graham cracker crust, a creamy, rich cheesecake filling and a crowning glory of apple slices, cinnamon-sugar and pecans. As innovative as it is irresistible, it's sure to become a new-found favorite for year "round enjoyment.

A sure hit with kids of all ages, Choco-Butterscotch Marble Cheesecake begins with a crust of creme-filled vanilla cookies. The creamy filling is swirled with two all-time favorite flavors — butterscotch and chocolate.

AUTUMN APPLE CHEESECAKE

1 cup graham cracker crumbs
3 tbsp. sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
3 tbsp. margarine, melted
2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
⅓ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ tsp. vanilla
4 cups thin peeled apple slices
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ cup chopped pecans

Combine crumbs, sugar, cinnamon and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350-degrees, 10 minutes. Combine cream cheese and sugar, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in vanilla; pour over crust. Toss apples with combined sugar and cinnamon. Spoon apple mixture over cream cheese layer; sprinkled with pecans. Bake at 350° F for 1 hour and 10 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill. Makes 10-12 servings.

CHOCO-BUTTERSCOTCH MARBLE CHEESECAKE

1 cup (12) crushed creme-filled vanilla cookies
2 tbsp. margarine, melted
3 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
3 eggs
½ cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted
½ cup butterscotch pieces, melted

Combine crumbs and margarine; press onto bottom of 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 325° for 10 minutes. Combine cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Divide batter in half. Stir chocolate into half of batter. Add butterscotch to remaining batter; mix well. Alternately layer chocolate and butterscotch batters over crust. Cut through batters with knife several times for marble effect. Bake at 325° for 50 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan; cool before removing rim of pan. Chill. Makes 10-12 servings.

All-occasion pecan pie

This favorite pecan pie recipe is as easy to remember as it is to make, and a favorite Thanksgiving dessert. Three eggs, one of everything else; it's a recipe you'll never be without.

PECAN PIE

3 eggs
1 cup light or dark corn syrup
1 cup sugar
1 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup pecans
1 unbaked (9-inch) pastry shell

With fork, slightly beat eggs. Stir in corn syrup, sugar, butter or margarine, and vanilla until well blended. Stir in pecans. Pour into pastry shell. Bake in 350 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes or until knife inserted halfway between center and edge comes out clean. Cool. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

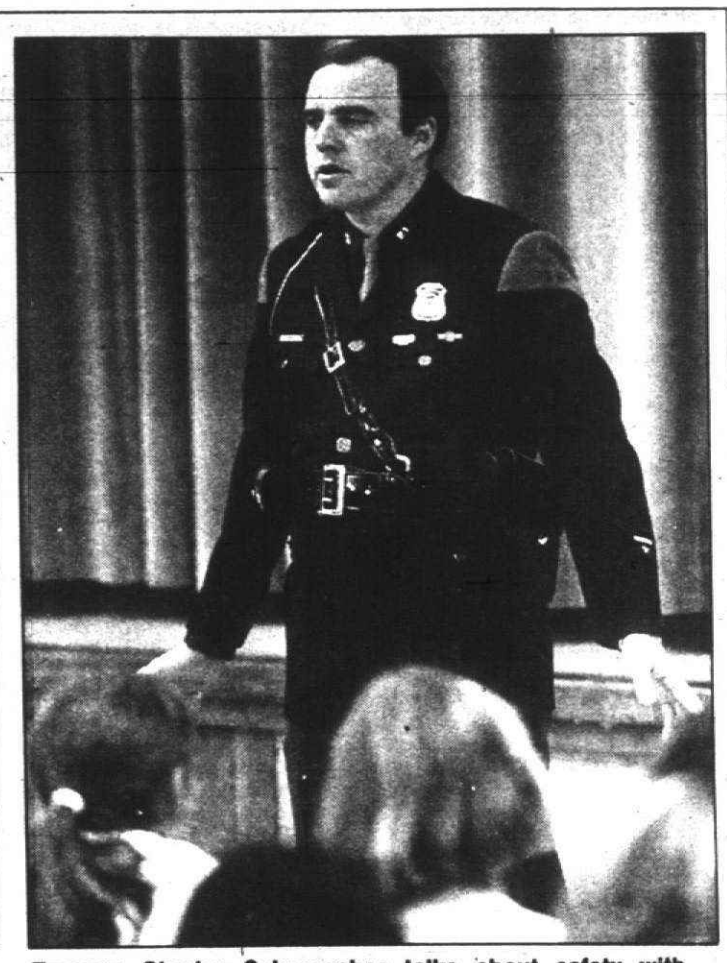
Listening carefully to the program's message means these future baby sitters will arrive at their baby-sitting jobs well-prepared.



Trooper Charles Schumacher talks about safety with those at the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council program. The program was held at West Middle School in Plymouth.

Baby-sitting's more than child's play

By Julie Brown
staff writer

FOR BABY SITTERS, a little knowledge can go a long way.

Knowing what to do in emergencies — as well as being able to handle the more common ups and downs — can make baby-sitting a profitable, rewarding experience.

The basics of child care were covered for local girls last Tuesday night during a program offered by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. The program for girls in the fifth grade and older was held at West Middle School in Plymouth.

Approximately 75 girls registered for the program, which was open to Girl Scouts and to non-Scouts.

"I think it sometimes reassures the parents," said registered nurse Rose Lebbon, Annapolis Hospital in-service instructor and coordinator of the event. Being prepared for baby-sitting jobs also makes baby sitters more confident.

The joint effort of the Girl Scout council and Annapolis Hospital was based on child care instruction offered through the Red Cross. The 12 hours of that program were condensed for the Tuesday night program, said Lebbon, who is a Girl Scout leader and Canton resident.

ALTHOUGH LAST week's program was for girls, Lebbon does see some boys in similar classes for baby sitters offered through the hospital. She has found increased interest in baby-sitting jobs among boys in recent years.

The Tuesday night program began with a film on baby-sitting. Other areas covered during the three-hour program were fire safety with Captain Art Winkle of the Canton Fire Department, first aid/poison control with Alyce Foley and child care with Nicki Cary, a registered nurse at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne.

Cary talked about appropriate play activities for youngsters, the stages children go through developmentally and safety measures related to those stages.

Good baby sitters need a sense of responsibility, "a lot of common sense and, I think, a real understanding of where the children are at their different age levels," Cary said. "That's quite an awesome responsibility for a young person."

Several areas present problems for baby sitters, Cary said.

"I think discipline can really be a problem. They need to understand the difference between discipline and punishment." Although it's not a baby sitter's place to punish children, sitters do need to discipline youngsters, she said.

SAFETY IS a baby sitter's biggest challenge, Cary said.

"There are so many things the kids can get into."

Safety was covered during the Tuesday night program by Trooper Charles Schumacher of the Michigan State Police post in Northville.

It's best to survey the scene when arriving at a baby-sitting job, Schumacher told the youngsters. That's what police officers do when going into unfamiliar surroundings.

"Survey the scene, know what you've got there." Baby sitters should tour the home, checking to see where the doors are and should also know where the fuse box is.

"Ask the parents these things," Schumacher said. "Don't be shy about it."

In addition to covering safety topics for baby sitters, Schumacher also talked about child abuse. If baby sitters finds a child is covered with bruises or cigarette burns, they should avoid confronting the child's parents. It's best for sitters to tell their own parents or a teacher, nurse or counselor at school.

"If you see that, and hopefully you never will, let somebody know. They can contact the proper authorities."

SCHUMACHER ALSO talked about personal safety for youngsters. He has found that parents are concerned about that topic and tries to address it in his presentations.

"I think I'd sooner have them aware," he said. The luxury of a small-town atmosphere with its friendliness just doesn't exist anymore.

"It happens an awful lot." Even incidents that don't end in the death of a youngster can nevertheless be traumatic ones.

Baby sitters also may find themselves in a situation where the child's parents return home drunk.

"That's a tough one to call for the sitter," Schumacher said. A baby sitter may need to call home for a ride — no matter what the time of night.

"It's really up to the parents, though." At least one of the parents must remain sober to be able to drive the baby sitter home safely, he said.

The Detroit Symphony will present a concert 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 22, at Livonia Churchill High School. The concert is part of the eighth annual Hudson's Detroit Symphony Metro Tour. The concert, sponsored by Hudson's, will be conducted by Stephen Stein, Exxon/Arts Endowment Conductor for the Detroit Symphony. It will feature familiar classics and pops selections. Tickets cost $5. They are available at the school's business office, 523-9209 between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday-Friday. Tickets are also available at Livonia City Hall, 421-2000 Ext. 351 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday-Friday.

● FARMS TOUR
The Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women will tour Domino's Farms in Ann Arbor at 11 a.m. Sunday, Nov. 23. The tour will be the AAUW's monthly meeting.

● WREATH SALE
Members of the Plymouth Branch-Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will sell wreaths of fresh mixed evergreens with bows in Plymouth's Kellogg Park Sunday, Nov. 23 and Nov. 30. Hours will be noon to 4 p.m. Baked goods will be sold on Sunday, Nov. 23. In case of inclement weather, the sale will be held in The Gathering, next to Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth.

● PLAY AUDITIONS
The Plymouth Theatre Guild will hold auditions for the next production, "Murder Takes the Stage" by James Reach, 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 24-25. Auditions will be held at Central Middle School in Plymouth. Director Bob Wiebel will be casting six men and seven women in roles ranging in age from 20 to 70. Behind-the-scenes help is also needed, with no prior experience necessary. The story involves a summer theater company in which the leading lady is murdered during a rehearsal. Everyone has a motive, but the question is "whodunit?" Show dates for "Murder Takes the Stage" will be Jan. 30-31 and Feb. 6-7. For additional information, call 451-0037.

● BRUNCH EVENT
The Plymouth Community Arts Council will hold a brunch 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth. Nancy Passfield will present the program on holiday arrangements. Passfield has lectured and taught for 15 years in Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin. She has held offices in the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, edited the state publication, "Through the Garden Gate," and served as a member and vice president of the Greater Detroit Flower Arrangers Guild. She holds a bachelor's degree in home economics from Eastern Michigan University. Ticket price for the brunch is $7.50. Tickets may be purchased at the PCAC office, 455-5260, or from board members. Early purchase of tickets is advised. The brunch menu will include cheese blintzes, ham, fruit kabobs, muffins, juice, coffee and tea.

Early deadline for club items

Class aids baby sitters

Although most baby-sitting jobs go fairly smoothly, it's still important to be aware of potential dangers, Schumacher said.

"You want them to think about it. Some of them are pretty naive."

The future baby sitters also learned about the rights and responsibilities of sitters and parents from Heather Greifenberg, a Senior Girl Scout and 10th grader at Plymouth Salem High School.

Greifenberg's presentation was part of her work for the Gold Award, the highest ranking pin in Girl Scouting. The award involves 25 hours of volunteer work.

Greifenberg baby-sits "maybe twice a week at the most." She takes care of youngsters who range in age from infancy up to the seventh grade and enjoys baby-sitting jobs.

"As long as you enjoy kids, in other words, playing with them," Greifenberg said.

Generally, Greifenberg is paid $1.75 to $2 an hour for baby-sitting jobs.

"If it's a busy holiday, they'll probably give me more."

Parents, sitters both have rights

The following rights and responsibilities apply to baby sitters and to those who hire baby sitters.

Parents have the right to expect the care provider to:

- be self-confident and enthusiastic;
- like children and enjoy playing with them;
- not misuse the telephone;
- check the children regularly after bedtime;
- clean up after play activities and snacks;
- report any problems or concerns to parents after their return;
- be aware of emergency and safety procedures;
- know basic first aid procedures;
- respect parents' property and privacy;
- be alert at all times;
- not have friends visit unless prior arrangements have been made.

Baby sitters have a right to expect parents to:

- allow the sitter time to get to know the children;
- leave a phone number where they can be reached;
- give an approximate time for their return;
- pay a fair amount for the job done;
- pay when they return unless other arrangements have been made;
- be escorted home safely;
- familiarize them with bedtime, food habits, rules for TV, child fears or problems;
- leave names and phone numbers to call in an emergency;
- show them the location of first aid supplies, flash light, fire extinguishers.

A Special Place

Concerned sons and daughters know there comes a time when an elderly parent is getting a little slower in step and needs a little more support and supervision. A nursing home is out of the question. Too expensive. Too much care and confinement. Now there is a gracious alternative - the luxurious Plymouth Inn, an assisted-living facility.

Opening in December of 1986, this magnificent 50 room facility will be the first of its kind in the community. Designed for those elderly who are basically independent who can bathe, dress and feed themselves yet need some encouragement and motivation. The Plymouth Inn meets their needs, budget and lifestyle. It's a special place.

The Plymouth Inn provides 3 delicious meals, graciously served in a beautifully appointed dining room. Spacious mini-suites or deluxe semi-private accommodations overlook tranquil landscaped grounds. Extensive social programs and varied recreational opportunities keep minds involved and stimulated. A game room. Chapel. Beauty parlour. Many quiet cozy corners. The latest in fire and safety protection. All this and more await those who select the Plymouth Inn.

Call today. Arrange to visit our special place. Make it yours. It's here in Plymouth - just 30 minutes from everywhere.
