Communities balk at block grants

gram, under which broadcasts are aired each Wednesday and Friday afternoon. (Staff photo by Bob Woodring)

PLYMOUTH—Several Wayne County municipalities vying for federal block grant funds fear that use of the money may obligate them to build low income housing in their communities.

Canton Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein summarized the concern of several officials who felt the costs of the first two years of the program would exceed the income from the federal government.

He said, "I have nothing against social experimentation or integration. But it might be that we will have to spend more money for Title II (second year) projects than all the money they give us. We might have to track down builders and pay them ourselves to get the housing. In that case we would have a net loss."

"You just don't jump into the pool until you find out how deep it is."

ASIDE FROM Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township are among those interested in the funds.

The grant money is divided into two categories, Title I and Title II. Money distributed this year is Title I, and the regulations that govern its usage are not as strict as rules that govern the use of Title II funds, available next year.

The program is administered by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and is intended to promote the growth of low income housing and the elimination of slums. It is also designed to advance better land usage, preserve historical sites, and develop neighborhoods composed of diverse income groups.

Local government officials, concerned about the block grant program, fear that accepting money this year will force them to accept money next year to build low income housing.

Originally, county officials thought $750,000 would be available, but recent developments suggest that if any money is available at all, it will not exceed $600,000.

Meeting in Plymouth City Hall to determine where the money goes, county officials dropped two bombshells on local governmental officials in attendance.

GORDON RUTIAN, speaking for the county, said three communities, the cities of Plymouth, Flat Rock, and Southgate had filed improper application forms and might be excluded from the program.

He said the county had also made procedural errors in its application to HUD. "We had to fill out a four-part housing survey and include that with the application. We were not aware of that and we will need an extension on the application deadline to gather and extrapolate the necessary information."

If the county does not get the extension, the whole program will be scrapped he explained. The complete applications were due in Washington on March 1.

According to Greenstein, Canton stands to receive anywhere from $30,000 to $50,000. Mayor Beverly McAninch of Plymouth expects the city will receive from $10,000 to more than $25,000, although she adds, "The whole thing is so 'iffy' right now. I don't know what will happen."

Greenstein says Canton may use the money, if it is indeed forthcoming, for either the McIntyre Sewer project or to improve the recreational park next to the township firehall at Cherry Hill and Canton Center.

MAYOR McANINCH said the money for Plymouth might go toward rehabilitation of decayed houses in the city.

She added, "We would have to have some public input on this first."

Supervisor J.D. McLaren of Plymouth Township indicated that if any money is available, it will probably be used for a recreation project, a golf course or a housing survey.

The block grant program, created by the Community Development Act of 1974, distributes funds originally earmarked for federal revenue sharing programs and for HUD.

Money available under the program goes to two types of communities labeled non-vested and vested interests.

Vested interests are those municipalities with populations exceeding 50,000. They can apply for funds on their own, as several have in Wayne County, such as Detroit, Highland Park, Garden City, and Westland.

COMMUNITIES with populations less than 50,000 cannot apply on their own and must join with other small communities to be eligible for the federal aid.

In Wayne County, 20 non-vested municipalities have joined forces in an attempt to get the funds. Their total population is 240,000, which exceeds the minimum population figure established by HUD by 40,000.

If Allen Park alone, or several of the smaller communities should withdraw from the county effort, the whole attempt would fail and the money would be forfeited.

The committee to allocate the funds among the 20 communities was formed two weeks ago when representatives from the county and the 20 communities met for the first time. An advisory council to allocate the money was formed with 10 representatives from the non-vested interests and five men including the county

Pioneer broadcasters keep students in the know

By DARLENE STINSON

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—Students at Pioneer Middle School are on top of the news each Wednesday and Friday afternoon—at least the little tidbits that mark life within school walls.

That's when eighth graders in Sally Hindert's radio elective course air a 10-minute broadcast over the school's PA system, encompassing news items that many students would otherwise miss.

"The kids are really into it," said Mrs. Hindert, who directs the writing and airing of broadcasts. "It not only gives these kids an opportunity to use their language skills but gives other kids the opportunity to listen."

Sprinkled among rock and roll and occasional tidbits of humor are national news items, sports and a generous portion of school gossip, regularly gathered from the school's "hot box," an offspring of CKLW radio's hot line.

A REGULAR mystery contest, in which a button is hidden somewhere in the school, adds an extra feature to the program and awards two candy bars to the student who figures out the clues.

"The whole thing's a good idea," Mrs. Hindert said. "We have really good cooperation from the staff, and our hot box gives us a chance to draw in the whole school."

In last week's broadcast, for example, WPMS radio announced the crash diet on which two middle school teachers are venturing and one student's broken foot, allegedly injured while chasing a girl.

The shah of Iran plans to continue the oil flow to the United States, the broadcast announced, and long hair styles are bringing lice problems to Detroit area schools.

An on-the-spot "interview" with Mr. George Washington revealed "what it was really like in Valley Forge" and helped celebrate the former president's birthday.

Mrs. Hindert and teacher Mary Luick, who started a smaller version of the program last year, admit that some censoring of Pioneer broadcasts takes place.

But Broadcasts in general are written for and by students in the radio class, where they receive grades and credits for their creativity.

EIGHTH GRADER Greg McNutt's job revolves around national news. The news gathering process, he said, takes him to newspaper stories and headlines.

"You take the same subject, but you change the words," Greg explained. "If you do national news, the best thing to do is to get something that makes sense to the kids."

"I want to make a career out of it," Greg said. "I was scared the first couple of times I broadcast, but now I really enjoy it."

Eighth grader Colleen Moore added, "Usually we look at the newspaper in the library and put the news in our own words. It's sort of fun to announce all the things that are going around the school too."

"You have to get all the news," Colleen emphasized. "You hear about it from other kids."

Ken Vowles prefers sports. "I got into the program, because I thought it would be fun," Ken explained. "You do national sports and sports going on in the high schools. I read about it in the paper."

SIXTEEN students, who auditioned for the class last fall, are divided into four broadcast teams. Mrs. Hindert explained. Each team writes and airs one broadcast every two weeks.

"They're smart, interested kids," she said. "We hadn't intended to pick that many, but 16 people who auditioned were really good. At this age level, it's a lot of work to think up two 10-minute broadcasts each week."

Mrs. Luick, who directs the school's drama club with Mrs. Hindert, spearheaded the radio program last year.

"My background is in public address," Mrs. Luick explained. "I thought it would be a really tremendous experience for the kids. The kids get recognition they normally don't get."

This year's more expanded program has generated more student interest, according to Mrs. Hindert.

"Last year it started out with students doing broadcasts in the morning," she said. "We had trouble getting kids to do it, so we thought we'd have to make it super-duper this year."

Land use 'retreat' scheduled for township board, planners

By RICHARD GOLD

CANTON—The township board, planning commission, planning consultant Mike Manore, and other representatives from the planning firm of Wade, Trim and Associates will meet for three days to determine the direction of the new master land use plan.

The township board voted 6-1 in favor funding the "retreat," scheduled for April 4-6 at Waldenwoods conference center, an overnight complex near Hartland, Michigan.

The idea had been approved unanimously by the planning commission on Feb. 18.

In presenting the idea to the board, Manore indicated the retreat will not be fun and games. He said, "This is no vacation. We're not exactly going to Miami Beach north."

Trustee James Poole, who voted against the idea asked, "What can we accomplish up there that we can't do over a weekend at the township hall?"

The planner responded that there were "significant benefits in meeting at a conference center away from home."

"WE CAN GET everyone away and do some intensive study. We have held this type of conference before and we have found that we can accomplish a lot more than at a series of two and three-hour meetings."

The planner added the study effort would be "more concentrated" and the personal contact of a full weekend of study would help "generate the direction of the plan."

Trustee Brian Schwall wanted to know if the public was excluded from the meeting. Manore said that the intent of the study session was to develop "goals and direction for the land use plan."

He commented, "This is not an official meeting. No definitive action will be taken. We just want to find out what direction to move in. We have been working on this plan for almost two years now."

THE PLANNER added, "We also want the officials to get a feeling for the planning process and how it works."

Cost of the weekend retreat to the township will be $60 per person, but Supervisor Robert Greenstein says that since no salaries will be paid to the board members, planners, or planning commission members, the weekend study session will represent a net savings.

Although Poole voted against the idea, he said he would "make every effort to go." Clerk John Flodin was unsure if he could go and Schwall said due to a previous commitment he would be unable to attend the retreat.

Sewer front foot fee to stay at $9

CANTON—Despite angry comments of irate residents, the township board refused to reconsider a sewer front foot charge increase.

The board acted a month ago to increase the fee from $3 to $9 without advance public notice.

Temper ran high at the board meeting following the action and the matter was put on the agenda of the Feb. 25 meeting. But following the discussion, no board member moved to reverse the decision.

The original vote had been 4-3, with Trustees James Poole and Brian Schwall and Clerk John Flodin dissenting. They had favored the increase, but advocated a grace period, or some form of public notice beforehand.

Those who voted in favor of the increase said all who were affected could not be contacted and only some would benefit from the grace period. They added the grace period would probably benefit the commercial, industrial and speculative property owners and the taxpayers would find themselves subsidizing those interests.

Supervisor Robert Greenstein, who cast the deciding vote a month ago said, "Eighty per cent of the properties affected are nonresidential. Only 80 homes are affected by this move."

He added the previous administration had failed to make incremental changes in the rate and that rising costs had necessitated "the horrendous increase."

Canton names O&E official newspaper

The Canton Observer & Eccentric newspaper is the official newspaper of Canton Township.

That designation was given Tuesday when the Board of Trustees voted unanimously to award all legal advertising of the township to the Observer & Eccentric.

"On the basis of greater penetration of the township and the fact that the Observer & Eccentric now blankets practically all of the township, we decided it was the newspaper we wanted to carry our legal advertising," said Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein after the trustees voted 7-0 to award the contract to the Observer & Eccentric.

The presentation for the O&E was made by Advertising Director Arthur Shafer and Circulation Director Fred Wright, who told of the tremendous expansion since the Canton Township edition, an outgrowth of the Plymouth Observer and Eccentric, was started last fall.

The trustees listened to the presentation and then made the unanimous decision.

Other bids had been made by the Community Crier and the Canton Eagle.

Board size unchanged

2 Schoolcraft seats up for grabs

Two, six-year terms to the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees will be up for grabs in the June 9 election.

Terms of John M. LaRue and Ronald Cowden expire this year. LaRue recently announced he will not seek re-election, and Cowden, although not formally announcing his candidacy, has indicated he will seek a second term to the board.

LaRue's decision not to seek re-election brought up the question of reducing or increasing the board size.

At a Feb. 12 study session, the majority of trustees favored reducing the board to seven. Trustees Rosina Raymond and Nancie Blatt favored increasing the number to nine.

However, Dr. Nelson Grote, Schoolcraft president, informed the trustees last week that any change in the number of trustees would have to take place through legislation.

"I was told by one of the area legislators a bill could be passed in 60 to 90 days, in time for our election, if it was 'non-controversial,' had the endorsed support of the eight local state legislators and met with full board approval."

SCHOOLCRAFT retained a seven-member board until 1983 when the Northville School District joined the college district. The original board contained a representative from each K-12 school district and three at-large members.

A circuit court order in May 1971 said the Schoolcraft system of electing trustees per district violated the one-man, one-vote rule. The court ordered at-large elections and staggered terms, and the Schoolcraft board was left with eight members.

Since no legislation has superseded the court order, the board is still bound by the ruling.

A person interested in running for Schoolcraft trustee should be at least 18 and a registered voter, be a resident of the district for at least six months, and submit a nominating petition with at least 50 but no more than 250 valid signatures.

UNDER PRESENT state law a student from a community college may be a candidate for the governing board of his or her school, but if elected must choose between school or a board seat.

David Heizman, director of college relations at Schoolcraft, said this law applies only to students of community colleges.

"Students of senior college or universities are already allowed to sit on the governing boards of their school and still maintain student status."

Heizman said Schoolcraft received a letter from the Michigan Community College Association informing it of a bill amending the original House Bill 6194, which will afford community college students the same option.

Heizman said the letter indicated the amended bill would be ready before the June election.

SC, WSU committed to consortium project

Schoolcraft College and Wayne State University officials will go ahead with plans for an academic consortium proposal regardless of whether a lease agreement is reached for use of the Wayne County Child Development Center on Five Mile and Sheldon roads.

The academic consortium agreement, for cooperative educational programs between the two schools, is separate from the consortium proposal for use of the child development center.

"Regardless of whether we reach a lease agreement for the facilities, we have committed ourselves to pursuing an academic consortium," said Dr. Nelson Grote, Schoolcraft president at the Feb. 26 board meeting.

"In the case of the development center, we haven't agreed to anything yet. However, we should be gearing up to give our legal counsel some idea of what kind of lease agreement we would like to see."

ADVANTAGES to the SC-WSU consortium, expressed in the board's initial proposal, include:

- Enabling students who take courses through the consortium to obtain laboratory and clinical experience available at WSU;

- Improve counseling and interdepartmental planning facilities, and assure students of a smoother, more continuous progression;

- Accelerate the 2-plus-2 degree program (two years at Schoolcraft and two years at WSU) in certain career areas;

- Avoid unnecessary duplication of course and facilities, and increase efficient use of resources such as computer time-sharing, education television.

- Permit cross utilization of faculty resources.

Grote pointed out that the SC-WSU proposal for use of the Child Development Center has been cited as the "most favored proposal" by the Wayne County blue ribbon committee selected to examine each proposal. The next step is to negotiate a lease agreement among the three principal parties (SC, WSU and the Wayne County Board of Commissioners).

"It's going to be challenging and complicated to reach an agreement that satisfies all three members," added Grote.

In other action:

- The trustees voted 5-0 to review the tuition and fee structure, along with a comparison study of other community and senior colleges in the area.

Tuition rates at Schoolcraft are $11 for residents, $22 for non-residents and $33 for out-of-state students. The basic fee structure of the college has remained the same for the past four years.

Grote pointed out that while the college has supported a minimal tuition and fee rates, the Governor's office, and the State Legislature have suggested that prorated portion of the increasing cost of post secondary education be passed along to the consumer through tuition and fee increases. The executive budget proposes a $1 tuition increase in the funding formula for community colleges.

- The board voted 5-0 not to ask voters for additional millage before July 1, 1975 to meet the operating fund budget, but agreed to levy the necessary millage outside the voted millage to meet its debt fund requirement for the 1975-76 budget.

Trustees Arch Vallier and Mrs. Rosina Raymond were absent from Wednesday's meeting.

Livonia bank opens branch

Manufacturers Bank of Livonia has opened its first branch office at 31200 Five Mile Road in Livonia.

Charles G. Ball, president, announced that the new banking operation opened on March 1, and a grand opening celebration is planned for the two-week period beginning March 8.

James A. Birney, vice-president, will be the officer in charge of the new branch.

The office will open daily at 9:30 a.m. and will remain open until 1 p.m. Saturday; 7 p.m. Monday and Friday and until 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Refreshments will be served in the lobby during the opening celebration, and anyone who visits the bank will receive a gift.

Unemployment lines cut by adding office

By DARLENE STINSON

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— Swinging open the door at Plymouth's subsidiary office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC), one claimant stopped in mid-tracks last week and stared with disbelief at the short lines in front of him.

"You're kidding," he gasped with a pleasant look of shock. "I don't believe this."

Shorter lines and briefer waits for unemployment checks at the temporary office in the VFW post on Mill and MESC's regular office down the street do not indicate a drop in the area's unemployment rate.

ON THE CONTRARY, claims at the Plymouth office continue to stand at record levels for recent years. Claims filed at the office nearly doubled for the period from November 1973 to February 1974, when residents from Plymouth, Canton, Westland and Livonia filed 34,364 claims, compared to 19,696 in the same period last year.

Because of the jump in claims and lines that wound outdoors in sub-freezing temperature, Plymouth MESC office manager Louis Belanger said his office decided to do something about it.

A temporary rent agreement was signed with the VFW Post down the street from the regular MESC office, Belanger said, and some claimants, whose unemployment checks were not complicated by eligibility or other questions, were transferred to the new office.

So far, about 2,000 of the office's weekly claimant load of 5,000 persons have been transferred to the new office, he said. More persons will undoubtedly receive transfer notices in the weeks to come.

"OUR 2,000 in the temporary office is like 1,000 in the regular (in terms of processing time)," Belanger explained. "We're trying to work it out in the temporary payment office that enough people will be over there, so the other office won't be backed up."

"When there's nothing to do but give people checks, it's the fastest operation there is," he added. "There's nothing involved but writing up forms and issuing checks."

Belanger said the temporary office will remain open for an indefinite period, perhaps even after the new office on Joy opens sometime this spring and the office at 987 S. Mill shuts down operations.

"As long as we have our present claim load, we'll undoubtedly keep both buildings open," Belanger said. "We'll probably be renting two offices for awhile."

THE SUBSIDIARY office move follows the example of the Redford Township MESC office an office across the country, which have found the claimant too much to handle from one building.

Shorter lines and less congested parking problems alrea Plymouth's regular MESC office, even though doors at the temporary office have been open only two weeks.

"It will be at least a full week more before we see real results," Belanger said, "but it's beginning to show a little bit now. There's ample parking by the payment office, and, at the same time, people don't have to park on the street by the other building. With the snow and everything, that was a problem."

Claimants at the regular and temporary offices happily noted the difference last week.

"I compliment you on changing this situation," one Livonia man told Belanger, as he left the temporary office with check in hand. "It was a pleasant surprise to walk in here."

Phyllis Kennedy, who lost her job in January, said she used to wait three hours to collect her check at Plymouth's regular MESC office. Waiting time at the temporary post totaled 20 minutes.

"IT'S CERTAINLY an improvement," she said with a smile. "The parking's beautiful and everything."

Although waiting space at the regular office still appeared congested last week, claimants there reported a cut in waiting periods from one-half to a third.

Axel Carlson of Plymouth said his wait was cut in half, while one Livonia woman, who usually waits three hours for her check, said her waiting period was reduced to one hour.

Belanger warns claimants to report to the office at which they're assigned. Unassigned persons reporting to the temporary office will be turned away, he said, since their records are filed at the regular post.

Statewide conference draws 700 to Pioneer

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— Long months of preparation came to an end in the Plymouth Community School District last week, as 700 teachers, administrators and parents from around the state jammed Pioneer Middle School for the fifth annual Michigan Association of Middle School Educators (MAMSE) conference.

The turnout exceeded Pioneer principal Gerald Elston's expectations of 400 to 600 persons, and Carl Taylor, principal of East Middle School, called the turnout "very good."

At least 120 school districts sent representatives to the conference, Taylor said. Some representatives traveled from the Upper Peninsula, while a few came from northern Ohio.

Persons attending represented a cross-section of middle school personnel and some parent groups.

"THAT'S THE beauty of this thing," Taylor said. "It's everybody. This is education. There are no political boundaries."

All was hustle and bustle within the school Thursday and Friday, as conference goers meandered from classrooms to classroom, attending seminars on unusual programs within the state's middle schools.

The seminars, ranging from topics on creative writing to "betweenager" elective needs to East Lansing's extended school year program, provided ideas for teachers to use in their own classrooms.

Teachers and administrators replaced volleyballs and students in the school's gymnasium during the two-day conference, when they browsed through such educational materials as books and audio-visual equipment and ordered materials from vendors.

IDEA-SHARING sessions, lectures by Dr. Nicholas P. Georgiady, professor of education at Miami University of Ohio, and Dr. Jack Riegle, associate professor of education at Ball State University, and a Thursday evening banquet at the Mayflower Hotel, attended by 375 conference goers, were added features to the MAMSE event.

Plymouth's faculty and administrators were kept busy during the two-day event, as they manned registration tables and information booths and worked to insure the smoothness of the event.

Nearly 100 Pioneer students directed parking area traffic in sub-freezing temperatures and served coffee from hallway pots.

A NEW Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) office, located on Joy near General Drive, will serve residents of the Plymouth-Canton area, when it opens its doors next spring. In the meantime, area unemployed will pick up their checks at the office at 982 S. Mill and a new subsidiary office in the VFW post down the street. The subsidiary office is scheduled to remain open until the local unemployment rate declines. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel.)

MESC plans spring opening

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP— Area residents filing for unemployment benefits and employees of the Plymouth office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) will soon have a new roof over their heads.

A new MESC office building, under construction on Joy near General Drive, is tentatively scheduled to open April 1 and will replace MESC's present facility at 987 S. Mill, according to Plymouth office manager Louis Belanger.

MESC will rent the new facility, owned by David Kahan and Julian Wagner, contractor for the building under construction for MESC purposes. Belanger said MESC leases all its facilities.

The new building, totaling 4,000 square feet, will offer slightly more space than the current facility's 3,500 square feet, Belanger said. Parking at both facilities is comparable.

Belanger said the new facility's interior will be arranged differently than the old.

"Primarily there will be a little more room to get claimants inside the building," he explained. "The commission is going toward better interiors."

MESC decided to relocate its Plymouth facility "some time ago," Belanger said, when requests for drainage and paving improvements were turned down. The family who owned the facility have subsequently sold the building to Thompson & Brown Real Estate Co.

We wanted to give it a special feeling."

THAT'S WHERE rock and roll and the hot box came in.

"We were always missing things before," Mrs. Hindert said. "Now we get a lot of cute things. They're just items of interest that probably wouldn't interest anyone, unless they were part of the building."

Mrs. Luick hails the program as a success.

"The kids really kill themselves," she said. "It's almost become a status symbol. Kids think it's really cool to be on the radio program."

Northwest court case abandoned

Supervisor Robert Greenstein announced Tuesday that a lawsuit by the Republic Land Development company had been withdrawn following out of court negotiations.

Republic had been seeking a rezoning for the land, located in the northwest portion of the township, from one acre lots to 80-foot lots.

Commented Greenstein, "It would have destroyed the entire northwest section of the township and opened it to developers. This is a real personal victory for me because of all the lawsuits I saw 'this was the one that we had the greatest possibility of losing."

According to the supervisor, who has conducted the negotiations for the township, both parties will seek a consent judgment.

One hundred acres of land were involved in the court case and Greenstein says, "Republic has guaranteed they will never try to rezone again in northwest Canton."

Following that announcement the board unanimously passed a resolution instructing that attorney Walter Guth to draft the final documents.

would have received additional money for individual projects.

Thursday night, however, the advisory council reversed its field. Realizing that the optional money would go to only half of the applicants, members of the council agreed to divide all the money left to them on a population basis (assuming it is available and they decide to use it).

Greenstein termed the amount "peanuts" and added, "There's no need to create ill will over such a small sum of money. I think this move demonstrates that fairness is alive and well in the out county regions."

The money will be distributed on the basis of the 1970 census.

Youth centers host dinner

Business, political and professional leaders of the Plymouth community received an insight into the workings of Plymouth's Youth Inc. and Our House in the first annual support dinner.

The affair was sponsored by the Sheldon Road plant of the Ford Motor Co. with Plant Manager John McRae in charge.

McRae explained the purpose and indicated 70 per cent of those receiving invitations had responded with most on hand.

"We feel this is a community service that needs support," said McRae. "The mission of Our House, the youth center and the Learning Center is to provide personal growth and community development programs that are responsive to the ever changing needs and value of the Plymouth community."

McRAE CALLED upon directors of the various groups to explain the programs and community acceptance.

G.D. Bologna, member of Plymouth Youth Inc., board of directors, introduced members of his board present and told how the money supporting the center is used.

A series of slides told the story of the activities in the youth center.

The directors of Plymouth Youth Inc. are: B.J. Bologna, Police Chief Tim Ford, Marilyl Jeffries, Fr. Robert Keller, Mrs. Bonnie Schweitzer and David Smith. Youth Board members are: Steven Drews, David Karpicke, Brian Elliott, and Bonnie Lindsey.

The board of the Council for Community Concerns includes: William McAninch, Dr. Karl Van Newkirk, Thomas Chandler, Mrs. Karen DeMott, and Michelle Dean.

Suburbs question water rate hike

By DENNY COFFMAN

LIVONIA—Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara has urged 42 representatives of Wayne County communities to put off action on a rate increase proposed by the Detroit Water Board until the Detroit City Council reviews the board's 1975-76 budget and finds adequate reasons for the increase.

At a meeting Friday in Livonia's Senior Citizens Center, McNamara told the group a rate increase would be used for improvements to the Detroit water and sewer system at the expense of the suburbs.

"THE SUBURBS have paid for two-thirds of the cost of the Detroit plant, but Detroit residents pay less for their water. So, with the proposed 35 per cent increase, the suburbs will end up paying still more than Detroit residents," said McNamara.

What led McNamara, a member of the seven-person Detroit Water Board, to call the meeting, was a proposed 1975-76 board budget that contained what he called "glaring problems" and inconsistencies.

McNamara claimed suburbs are under-represented on the board, which has four Detroit and three suburban members—one from each county.

He charged the board with attempting to raise rates to cover Detroit's possible liability in the Port Huron tunnel explosion and with mis-use of accumulated reserve funds.

"It's your dough," he told suburban officials. "You have a right to know where it's going."

McNamara said the board was hoping to use revenue generated by the rate increase for capital building projects that would provide 142 jobs for Detroiters.

"MAYBE DETROIT is attempting to build a 'kitty' to handle its lawsuits," McNamara said. "What if the guy downtown decides to turn off the spigot. Nothing is more necessary than water. I think all Young is concerned about is putting people to work," contended McNamara.

McNamara pointed out alleged inefficiency of the board which, he said, makes no use of computers but relies on an "addresso-graph" for billing customers.

McNamara suggested placing the board under the regulation of the state Public Service Commission, which controls rates of other utilities, but the thought of giving the PSC more power had an unfavorable effect on several persons present.

A MEETING with Ernest Cedroni, general manager of the water department, was favored by most of the group, and McNamara was asked to draft a resolution to be passed by each of 78 communities in the three-county area.

THE RESOLUTION will require a better explanation of the proposed rate increase.

LOWER PRICE ON THE NEW NOVA "S" COUPE*

Now Nova is even more affordable. What we did was switch tires on this new "S" model, putting on a set of tough bias belted in place of the standard radials and passing the sizeable savings along to you. Of course if you want radials, you can order them. If you don't, enjoy your savings—and your Nova. It's a solid car, with a well-established reputation. Why pay $599 more for a fancy newcomer that's about the same size, when Nova (even without radials) offers so much—for so much less?

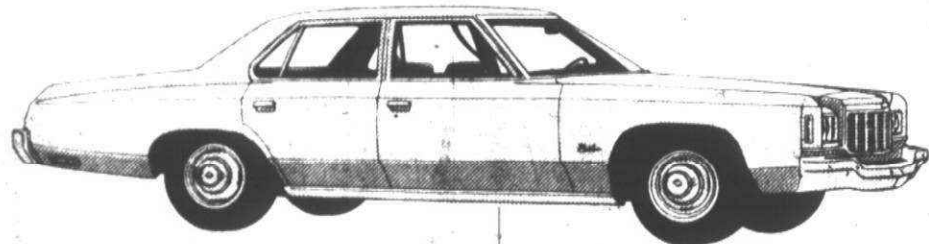

*Based on comparison of Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices between Nova Coupe and the new Nova "S" Coupe. Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Price of the new Nova "S" is $3098.60.

Island food, drink create pure bliss

By ETHEL SIMMONS

On the way to a cocktail party in Abaco, one of the out islands in the Bahamas, our tour guide stopped along the way to climb a tree for a coconut.

He managed to knock it down, almost on the head of the traveler in our group, who was waiting to catch it.

As our leader pointed out, "It's like bringing a bottle to a BYOB party, except in the Bahamas we can do it with coconuts."

Actually when we arrived, we found our hosts had already mixed us some nice Goombay Smashes, so we didn't have to crack a coconut.

YOU CAN BRING a little bit of the islands into your life right now, even though you stay at home. Pick up a coconut in the supermarket and make the most of it.

Save the coconut milk to make Pina Coladas or another favorite tropical drink.

Use the coconut meat itself for Never Enough Cocktail Coconut, an hors d'oeuvres from "The Abaco Cook Book," with recipes and illustrations by Fran Wooley.

Here's how to make it:

REMOVE COCONUT from shell, and cut into thin strips with a sharp knife, or a salad maker. Spread out on a cookie sheet, salt generously, and place in a hot oven.

Toast to a golden brown. Watch and stir during process to prevent burning. Try it once and you will make it again, and again.

There are lots of other yummy things with coconut from her cookbook including these desserts: Coconut Fingers, Coconut Cones, Viola's Coconut Cakes, Toasted Coconut Cheese Pops, Toasted Coconut Shell, Marsh Harbour's Best Coconut Pudding, Meringue for Coconut Pudding and Molly's Coconut Ice Cream.

One of the most delicious desserts I tasted in Abaco, at Guana Harbour Club on Great Guana Cay, was coconut pie, made with fresh-grated coconut.

I DIDN'T come away with the recipe, but it was pure bliss, as was the rest of the native food we lunched on after a morning of swimming and shelling at the beach.

Russell, the Bahamian skipper from Treasure Cay, who brought us to Guana Cay, ordered a hamburger and french fries. He put ketchup on his french fries, too.

So, while our tour group was exclaiming over platters of conch, turtle and grouper fish fritters with sauce, he was dining American-style.

I guess we all enjoy eating whatever's out of the ordinary.

Incidentally, Russell ate his hamburger with a knife and fork, an interesting touch.

DON'T THINK you can come up with conch (pronounced conk) in suburban Detroit, but some of the most delicious dishes in the islands are made with this delicate sea creature.

Besides conch fritters, I tried conch chowder, equally delightful, and in Nassau at the Prince George Hotel Arcade featuring native food, cracked conch with peas 'n' rice.

These peas were pigeon peas, different from what we normally think of as peas, so a portion of regular peas and carrots was also served.

Grouper is a favorite fresh-caught fish that turns up on island menus. Turtles abound, and you'll find turtle soup, stew or steak.

BOAR HUNTING, with guide and dog, is a tourist attraction on Treasure Cay. Fran Wooley's cookbook gives a recipe for Abaco Wild Pig Spare Ribs that may adapt to domestic pig. You'll need:

- 4 to 5 lbs. fresh Abaco spare ribs (or whatever)
- 1 cup tomato catsup
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1/4 cup Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. black pepper
- 2 tsp. chili powder
- 1/2 tsp. cayenne
- 1 large finely chopped onion

Wipe the spareribs and lay in roasting pan. Blend all remaining ingredients and pour over the meat. Cover and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about one and one-half hours, uncovering during last 30 minutes of baking. Serve with parsley potatoes.

LOBSTER, OR crawfish, twice as big as what we might see here, depending on the day's catch, is served nightly in the dining room of the Treasure Cay Beach Hotel.

"The Abaco Cook Book" gives this recipe for Broiled Crawfish: Crawfish (1 per serving) Salt and pepper Butter Butter sauce

Split boiled crawfish in half. Remove vein. Put in baking dish. Season with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Bake 10 minutes. Serve with black butter (recipe follows).

- 6 tbsp. butter
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1/8 tsp. black pepper, coarse-freshly ground
- 1 tbsp. lemon juice

HAIG MARDIROSIAN

Pro-Musica of St. John Armenian Church of Southfield will present organist Haig Mardirosian in concert Sunday, March 16, at 3 p.m. in the church, 22001 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

Mardirosian's performances have included solo and concert appearance throughout the United States. He has made many recordings and has composed and conducted musical scores for radio, television, theater and films.

Tickets at $4 for adults and $2 for children are available in the St. John Church office. This is the third in a series of concerts presented by the St. John Pro-Musica Committee.

Brown the butter well; add salt and pepper and lastly the lemon juice. Serve piping hot over crawfish.

ABOARD AIR Jamaica, which flies you direct to Nassau from Detroit, first-class passengers are served a meal that starts with a cocktail before the plane has left the ground and finishes many courses later just about landing time.

A Rum Bamboozle is the drink. Hors d'oeuvres include banana chips (scrumptious), and seafood-fresh shrimp, sardine and salmon.

There's a salad with king crabmeat and white wine, then steak or duck for the entree and more wine, red or white, followed by chocolate torte or a banana or pear for dessert.

Blue Mountain coffee beans go into the Jamaican coffee, and your choice of after-dinner drinks includes Tia Maria, a coffee liquor.

A wrapped candy adds the final twist.

Oh, yes, somewhere along the way there was champagne.

Tangier, North Africa fascinating port city

There has always been a mystique about the way of life of the North Africans, as glimpsed on the midnight movies.

On our Mediterranean tour, the initial port of entry is the fascinating city of Tangier, which invitingly conveys the mood of the familiar phrase, "Come to the Casbah."

Legend says the town of Tangier was founded by Antea, son of Neptune and earth. Hercules divided the two continents to create the Mediterranean so the Atlantic waters would mingle their waves to form a grand gateway to a bouquet of countries encompassing the tranquil, luminous and intensely blue Mediterranean sea.

THE PRINCIPAL dish is couscous, well loved by all North Africans.

I was first introduced to this kicky dish when I was in Paris studying at the Ecole Hoteliere. And like most of the students I would budget my spending as thriftily as possible, thus at 8 o'clock could often be found at the self-service on Avenue Wagram consuming my inexpensive chicken and chips with chocolate yogurt for 4f.50.

Usually, on a Saturday night, friends and I would head for the sinful side of the city, to fill the gap of a short and welcomed weekend.

I'm not sure of the exact location but the foreign Eastern scent of spices and lamb, and chicken too, steaming in a couscoussier, are still quite pleasant memories.

OUR NEXT PORT of entry will be Malla. We will continue on a tour of the Mediterranean Sea countries, offering ethnic recipes.

If you are from any part of the tour and would like your family's favorite dish photographed and the recipe published in my column, please send the information to The Observer & Eccentric, 1225 Bowers, Birmingham 48012, to my attention.

COUSCOUS

From "A Quintet of Cuisines," by Michael and Frances Field

- 2 pounds couscous (grain pellets with semolina)
- 2-1/2 teaspoons salt dissolved in 2-1/2 cups cold water
- 1 teaspoon olive oil
- 4 tablespoons sweet unsalted butter, cut in pieces
- Beef, lamb or chicken may be used in the following:
- 1 cup vegetable oil
- 2 pounds boneless chuck, cut into two-inch cubes and patted dry with paper towels
- 3 cups finely chopped onions
- 4 teaspoons hrisa: 1/2 cup cayenne, 1/4 cup ground cummin, 2 tablespoons salt
- 1/8 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Mill-ground black pepper
- 4 medium carrots, peeled and cut crosswise into two-inch pieces
- 4 medium turnips peeled, cut the same as the carrots
- 1/2 cabbage cut into two-inch pieces
- 2 cups canned garbanzo beans drained
- 3 medium tomatoes, quartered
- 3 cups cold water
- 6 medium boiling potatoes, peeled
- 4 small zucchini unpeeled, cut into two-inch pieces
- 1 pound available squash, cut into two-inch pieces

Method

Add the water and oil, the couscous, toss, cover and set aside for 15 minutes. In a four-quart couscoussier or stew pot heat up 1 cup oil; oil must be hot. Add the meat, onions, hrisa, all-spice, salt and some pepper.

Fry uncovered for about 10 minutes, turning frequently until nicely colored. Then add all the other ingredients (vegetables).

Pour in 3 cups water or until covered, with the exception of the zucchini, potatoes and fresh squash.

By DUGLASS
DUGLASS

If you are using a couscoussier, set the top part over the steaming meat and vegetables. If you are using a pot or casserole, place a colander inside so it will rest on the edges of the pot.

WHEN YOU set the colander in place over the casserole, place a piece of cheesecloth between the two. This will prevent the pellets from falling into the broth and will distribute the heat more evenly.

Divide the couscous into two portions. The first part will be dropped into the colander by rubbing the pellets in the palm of your hands, then letting them fall into the steam. Cook for about 20 minutes.

Remove first batch. Set aside. Remove all the meat and vegetables, leaving just the broth. Add the remainder of the vegetables, more water if necessary, bring to a boil.

Set the colander or couscoussier top back on the base and add the remainder of pellets or couscous by the same process as before and cook for 20 minutes.

To serve the couscous, pile the cooked pellets on a large platter, re-heat the meat and vegetables momentarily, then arrange them around the platter. Bring the sauce to a boil, whip in the butter and serve alongside.

Hot lime flavored tea will do nicely, please.

Highway Dept. doesn't listen

By R.T. THOMPSON

For some time, we have been writing about the dangerous driving conditions along the Schoolcraft Road highway, stressing that it is dangerous at all places where the depressed highway is being dug out and particularly so at points where the edge of the "big ditch" is only a few feet from the edge of the road.

Apparently this plea has fallen on deaf ears in the State Highway Department, and it's high time that top officials get into the act and actually get the feel of the complaints.

Can you imagine a Highway official in a high position making a remark that most of the accidents along the corridors were by teenagers. He implied: So why should there be any hurry?

TO US those are fighting words. What difference does it make what type of driver is getting injured? They are all human beings.

Since the Observer & Eccentric started its campaign for more safety on Schoolcraft, there have been some efforts by the contractors to erect safety barriers at various dangerous intersections.

But the fact remains there are long open spaces along the east and west-bound lanes where a car could skid and go over the deep embankment very easily. There are sections in Livonia and Redford Township where the highway and the edge of the "big ditch" are so close that one shudders when driving along.

WE HAVE IN HAND petitions carrying the names of almost 1,000 Redford Township residents asking for safety barriers.

The reason? At least seven students have been involved in accidents during the past four months, one only

THE LACK OF protective barriers along Schoolcraft road between Norborne and Centralia allowed another vehicle to land in the deep ditch being dug for the freeway. This accident, involving a car driven by Ray Sherwood of 15519 Fenton, occurred at 4:45 p.m. Feb. 20. Police say Sherwood was driving east on Schoolcraft when he lost control and went over the embankment. No serious injury was reported. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker) three weeks ago that almost permanently crippled a member of the varsity swim squad.

Then to add to the anxiety of the students, there was another accident at the intersection of Centralia where an adult rolled into the ditch. There is some question about his driving ability at the time, but the fact remains that if there had been a barrier, the car would have hit it instead of the muddy bottom.

There was another accident on west-bound Schoolcraft just beyond the Newburgh intersection where a driver reportedly crashed a red light, struck a car and then caromed off the embankment. Inasmuch as there is a cyclone fence safety barrier just west of the accident site, it again points out the value of such protection.

IN ADDITION to the dangers along the highway, we also have noted the Schoolcraft highway doesn't have any street lights in Livonia.

How in the world can the State Highway Department put service drives in use along such a busy road and not have a single street light in one of the state's largest cities?

It just doesn't make sense that Livonia city officials have allowed this to go on without calling it to the attention of the proper authorities.

No. 1, it's time for the State Highway Department fathers to get off their collective duffs and do something about the safety of Schoolcraft Road. No. 2, whoever is responsible for having lights placed along the road should get on the ball immediately.

We can't place the blame on the Livonia city council since we understand the road doesn't become their responsibility until dedicated to them. But we can blame the mayor and council for not taking action to have lights installed. If they are thinking of the safety of their voters, then they should act at once.

A city council needs its own aid

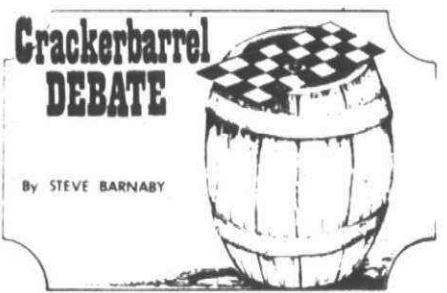

Bob Wagner and his gang need help.

In case you hadn't noticed, communicating with government officials can be frustrating.

Westland Chamber of Commerce board members quickly found out how frustrating last week when parleying with Wagner and his city council colleagues over the proposed parking lot ordinance. It was a lesson in futility.

Most residents became perturbed hassling with bureaucratic red tape over the phone. They dream of having official doors opened to get their problems solved. If this meeting was any example, open doors don't make any difference.

Paul Roberts, chamber president, and his crowd are concerned with the proposed parking lot ordinance, which would compel businessmen to keep their lots up to certain standards. The chamber gang agrees the lots should be kept up to par. Its problem is attempting to decipher what Wagner and his crew mean by "par."

CHAMBER OFFICIALS went to a lot of trouble to sit down and cull through the legal jargon in the ordinance. They came up with some pretty good questions and speculations on what could happen if the ordinance was passed in its present form. It was obvious none of the council members had done the same. One wonders if any had read the document.

Instead of getting answers, chamber officials were given the run-around about how council would have to confer with its legal consultant, John Nellis. After an hour chamber member Gary Cook inquired whether the council was always so knowledgeable about ordinances which it passed. Glad you asked that, Gary.

Admittedly, the city council may be unsure of the legal language in an ordinance. But members at least should know the intent of various articles in an ordinance. Council members are the elected officials, who are responsible to the electorate, not the city attorney.

To be fair you shouldn't lay all the blame at the council members' feet. They work on a part-time basis and have reams of documents to read, through in a short period.

Theoretically, a city council is supposed to be a co-equal branch of government. But the system is stacked against it.

While the mayor has department heads and aids to do his research, the city council is left to its own devices. More than likely, the council does pass on ordinances with which it is unfamiliar.

NOW THIS PROBLEM can be solved in one of two ways. Either the charter can be changed to make the city council a full-time position, or the city council should have a full-time administrative aid to do its research. With the economic situation as it is, it would seem advisable, and much more acceptable to the taxpayers, to opt for an aid. It's less expensive.

Admittedly there are drawbacks to having an aid, but something has to be done to keep the council sufficiently informed. Westland is a good sized city as compared to incorporation almost 10 years ago. The budget along with the population is growing by leaps and bounds.

With this growth comes problems which must be solved. A council meeting isn't a place where the folks come for an evening out any longer. It's serious business.

The benefits of an aid would far outweigh the expense of the salary. An aid could sit down and examine documents coming before the council for consideration and point out various aspects.

At the least an aid might be able to answer questions when the public asked.

Tax rebates shouldn't be deducted now

Taxpayers eager for extra cash have been advised not to deduct the proposed federal rebate on their 1974 income tax returns by R. L. Plate, IRS district director for Michigan.

Returns should be prepared and filed according to the instructions with the tax forms and without regard to any rebate or similar plans now being proposed, he said.

Plate explained the tax rebate proposed by the President on Jan. 13 has not been enacted by Congress. The President's plan calls for an automatic rebate based on a percentage of the taxpayer's tax liability for 1974.

Behind the scenes look

One advantage of covering thousands of public meetings of public agencies, such as school boards and city councils, is that you can see high-ranking officials act and react under stress.

Sometimes the actions are obvious. Other times, you have to look hard and listen closely for the real nuances of how government works.

Livonia's city attorney, Harry Tatigian, provided a few samples in recent days in different circumstances.

AT AN ARBITRATION hearing held to decide whether a police department rule on hair styles was reasonable, Tatigian commented with modesty during a legal argument:

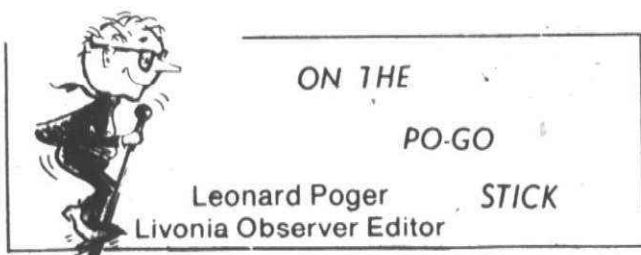

"I'm just a country lawyer."

It sounded like Jimmy Stewart's line of almost the same words in a famous lawyer picture, "Anatomy of a Murder," in which Stewart portrayed an Upper Peninsula attorney during a murder case.

It should be noted for the record that, in addition to the policeman fighting the hair style rule, only Tatigian and Police Chief Robert Turner came close to observing the styling rule. Even the arbitrator had a modern hair style with wide sideburns.

At a federal civil rights commission hearing in Livonia, Tatigian became testy in the witness chair in defending the city's efforts in complying with past and present civil rights laws.

At one point, Tatigian was trying to answer questions about minority workers among city government's employees. He answered he didn't know about the work force but said he was familiar with the law department.

What is the makeup of that office, he was asked.

There is a Jew, Pole and Armenian on the legal staff, but no WASPS, he said.

At another point in the hearing, the attorney said, tongue in cheek, that even his friends feel he is obnoxious.

His remarks were greeted by applause from several friends in the audience.

THE CITY COUNCIL broke into a sweat recently when it learned that Police Chief Robert Turner was out of the state for a few days.

It learned about the business trip by accident when Police Capt. James Mogan attended the council session to answer questions about an agenda issue.

The reason for the council's uneasiness is that during two previous out-of-state trips by Turner, there were a graduation night riot involving parents, students and officers and eruption of a major controversy over alleged beatings of Livonia jail prisoners by local policemen.

The council breathed easier when Turner returned to Livonia without local incident.

Dissent doesn't deserve censure

In a post-Watergate era, when citizens mistrust more than their national leaders, a local governing body should be more than willing to be challenged and legally vindicated.

Dissent and challenge somehow manage to prove the system works, despite rulings that may not sit well with all people at all times.

Canton Township Trustee Brian Schwall has raised a question of ethics and legality in the recent hiring of an assistant ordinance officer with federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act funds.

His charges have been repeatedly denounced by five other members of the township board, and with his decision to appeal a ruling that favors the township, Schwall has earned a censure from those members.

If Schwall feels he was right in making the charges in the first place, it would be unthinkable for him to do any less than to explore all avenues, to make sure the action of the board was indeed legal.

THE AMERICAN political system provides for such appeals. That is why each state and the federal government have appellate courts.

In much the same manner, we would have been disappointed if the majority of the board had not considered the possibility of an appeal if the decision had not gone in their favor.

Supervisor Robert Greenstein and friends have censured Schwall for his actions, claiming the investigation into the charges ground township business to a halt for three weeks.

We would hope that the administration of the township is more efficient than what they would lead the public to believe, and that this relatively minor issue did not take up the total of the administration's daily routine for 21 days.

If it did, we might suggest that those members who spent that much time on the issue should step down so that those who are more efficient might take their place.

IN THE RESOLUTION to censure Schwall, the five members hoped that such actions will not be repeated in the future.

Are we to infer that any dissent of a board decision will prompt similar censure and wrist slappings if the criticisms do not coincide with the program of the power vested in the throne?

As far as we are concerned, Bruce Phillips' hiring as assistant ordinance officer is legal. The county has confirmed the position of the board majority. We will only wait with interest on the appeal ruling of the matter.

But we can see no purpose or gain to the township to censure a member for his perfectly legal right to dissent. By censuring Schwall, five members of the board have only added to the mistrust which surrounded Phillips' hiring in the first place.

No matter how petty those five board members may have felt the action of Schwall to be, they have gone Schwall one better, making a cause celebre out of a relatively minor, though important issue: petty politics at its worst.

NOW asks defining of SC hiring criteria

The battle goes on between the local chapter of the National Organization for Women and Schoolcraft College over women's programs on campus. The latest broadsides were fired by Sylvia Vukmirovich, chairperson of NOW's education task force, during the most recent meeting of the Schoolcraft board of trustees.

NOW's dissatisfaction, she said, is with the criteria used by the board in the hiring of Jean Christensen as director of programs for women. Although emphasizing in comments after the meeting that she was not criticizing the new director personally, she reiterated to the board her organization's contention that Mrs. Christensen is not the most qualified person to apply for the post.

MRS. VUKMIROVICH, a counselor at Schoolcraft, told the board NOW is continuing research to learn if there has been "a definite attitude of discrimination and a down-grading of women's programs on the part of the director of community services, the vice president for instruction and the president of the college."

The board took no action. Members said they would study the report and respond at their next meeting, March 19.

MRS. VUKMIROVICH, a counselor at Schoolcraft, said in her report NOW is continuing research to learn if there has been "A definite attitude of discrimination and a down-grading of women's programs on the part of the director of community services, the vice president for instruction and the president of the college."

A report she handed members of the board stated NOW's research indicated "education was not a criteria for selection."

Her report, which Mrs. Vukmirovich labeled Exhibit A, listed qualifications of four candidates for the post won by Mrs. Christensen.

"All four applicants met with the requirements for the position," the report said. "You will note in the case of three applicants that they have had extensive experience in working in areas of vital concern to women."

"Only one applicant did not have such experience; she was hired for the position."

Mrs. Vukmirovich said she would provide to board members names of the candidates described in her report. Two of them are members of NOW, she added.

IN AN INTERVIEW, the NOW spokesman said her organization hoped the college will not downgrade women's programs "by hiring people who are not the most qualified applicants for the job." "The whole idea when hiring people is not to have a double standard," she added.

"With my background, they would not hire me to be business manager of the college, and I hope that from now on they will hire people for the women's programs who are the most qualified."

The local chapter of NOW is backing her fight to have the college reveal the criteria used in the hiring of Mrs. Christensen, she said. She added that she plans to attend the March 19 meeting to hear the board's responses to the questions she raised.

"I think it is up to the board to make a decision on these criteria," she said.

"We've told them the problem. We've given the ball back to them."

Opportunity House nearing completion

By MARGARET MILLER

John is 46 and lives with his elderly, widowed mother. He's retarded, so he never went to school when he was young, but he's a well-mannered, personable guy and he's now working part-time as a janitor.

Ann is 19, and in the suburban neighborhood where she and her parents live she has been watching others her age go away to school or off to their own apartments.

But Ann can't learn to read or write. She's classified as trainable mentally-handicapped, and she's now handling a job in limited assembly work. She gets a paycheck every two weeks.

Mary, a shy woman in her late 30s, also has a job, although she too is retarded. She tried living in an apartment, but she didn't know how to budget her money. She's back with her parents now, but she misses the "independence" she thought she had gained.

Then there is Bill, 26, and living with his mother, and Vera, 45 and living in a nursing home. Bill spends his days in a sheltered workshop and his evenings mostly sitting. He's lonely.

Vera has for several years, since her parents died, lived in the home where nearly everyone else is senile. There has been nowhere else to go. Her sister, in her 60s, prays for the day she might see her better situated.

ALL OF THESE PEOPLE hope to be, among the fortunate 16 who will move within the next few months into Plymouth Opportunity House, a soon-to-be-completed residence for retarded adults located at 593 Deer Street.

Watching the home go up has meant the fulfillment of a long-held dream by many persons in this area who understand the need on the part of the retarded for a life of dignity.

Even as the timbers rise and the construction work heads toward final stages, leaders of the organization known as Community Opportunity Centers are looking toward the day when there will be enough such homes to serve all who need them.

More than 50 applications already have been received for the 16 places, said Jan Plas of Livonia, president of the board of directors Community Opportunity Center organization that has grown out of the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens.

THAT MEANS an almost-heart-breaking selection job for the COC board of directors and a recently-appointed Plymouth Opportunity House Review Board, a group of citizens who will make the final decision as to which retardates live in the center.

Members of the board include the Rev. Kenneth MacKinnon, pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth; Mrs. Mary Childs of the Plymouth Planning Commission, and Jack Salvadore, South Redford School District assistant superintendent.

Others are Livonia City Councilman Robert McCann, Robert Shute of Livonia, State Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville), Mrs. John P. Yori, president of the board of directors of the Child Guidance Clinic in Garden City, and Mrs. Jackie Pittman, special education teacher in the Livonia school district.

Because of the large number of applications for the apartments in the new center, Plas said, it is necessary to start thinking about similar homes in each of the communities COC serves.

These are Livonia, Garden City, Redford Township and Northville, as well as Plymouth.

CONSTRUCTION on the building at Wing and Deer near downtown Plymouth was begun last spring and is slated for completion about April 1.

Then the retarded adults selected to live there will begin moving in, just two or three at a time, Plas said, so that everyone can get used to the new surroundings with a minimum of confusion.

Each resident will be an employed person, working either in the local community or in a sheltered workshop. "Each will be spending six to eight hours a day away from home," Plas said.

The job of running the home will fall to an executive director and houseparents, and persons to fill these posts now are being sought by the COC board of directors.

RESIDENTS WILL PAY for room and board with the wages they make on their jobs or the state aid for which they may be eligible.

Their payments will go toward meeting expenses of the residence and paying off the $225,000 mortgage from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

Since the mortgage was approved and construction began, the COC began a drive for $35,000 to cover furnishings and the first three months of operation, when receipts will be low because of the gradual move-in.

About $22,000 of that amount has been raised, Plas said, with contributions from organizations and individuals. Among major donors he listed the Plymouth Rotary Club, Redford Suburban League, Northwest Exchange Club in Detroit and Barcelona Caravan of the Alhambra lodge.

NOW THAT COMPLETION and moving-in are close, Plas can look back to the problems and disappointments that plagued efforts to establish a center like Plymouth Opportunity House.

The dream began back in 1963, when a group was founded to establish a workshop in the old Newburgh school in Livonia. That workshop eventually merged with the League for the Handicapped and now is operating in Romulus.

It was later that Plas, whose oldest daughter is retarded, became affiliated with the organization and undertook to head a group that would provide living accommodations for the retarded.

Jan Plas: 'This is going to be a home, not an institution.'

"We regrouped with new officers in 1970 and embarked on this project," he said. "We found a couple of older homes, but could not get started either because we couldn't get funding approved or because we ran into objections in the neighborhood."

The present piece of property was located in 1973. Then began the work on getting approval for funding from the state and approval for building from the City of Plymouth.

The former really has caused more complications, Plas said.

"WE STILL HAVE some public relations work to do in our new neighborhood," Plas said. "but acceptance from the community has been good."

"We expect to deserve this confidence and will be good neighbors."

Father MacKinnon, one of the review board members, voiced the opinion of many in Plymouth when he said he was "deeply impressed with the facilities."

"I'm pleased to serve on the board," he said, "and I know the city will benefit as much as the residents of this center."

"It makes you proud to belong to a community that can recognize the needs of these citizens."

Working with the review board will be the officers of the COC. Plas is continuing as president, and the others are Al Priebe, vice president; Pamela Shultz, recording secretary; Loretta Plas, corresponding secretary, and William Kelly, treasurer.

Other members of the board of directors are Harold Rossow, Robert Moore, James Mies, Sandra McClenen, William Heaton, Harold Guenther, Esther Friedrichs, Pat Flynn, Reginald Flores, Donald Deremo, Greg Daniels and Charles Akey.

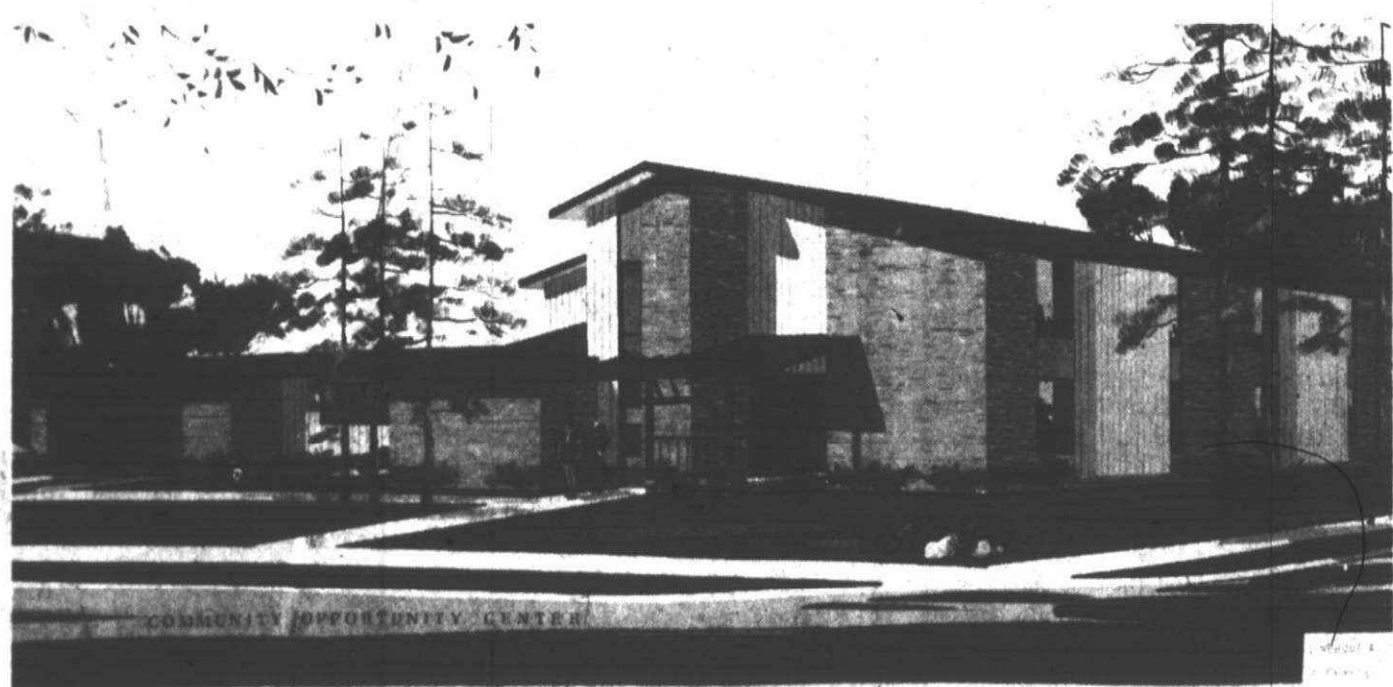

APPLICATIONS for residence in the new home still are being accepted, and requests should be addressed to P.O. Box 2041, Livonia.

The board of directors will screen applicants first, and the review board will make the final selection.

Decisions will be based on the needs of the individual applicants, their adaptability to a living situation such as the center will provide, and their ability to contribute to a total program.

"This will be a family-type home, not an institution," Plas said.

"It's an opportunity, the first ever possible for many of these people, to be part of a community."

THIS IS AN artist's drawing of the completed Plymouth Opportunity Center.

SC Women's Club presents style show

Styles for the whole family will be featured in the eighth-annual fashion show to be presented Wednesday, March 5 at 8 p.m. in the Waterman Center by the Schoolcraft College Women's Club.

The group, made up of Schoolcraft staff women, faculty women and wives of male employees, stages the show each year to raise money for the SC student loan fund. Last year's contribution was $450.

Styles to be modeled for men, women and children will be from Sears in the Livonia Mall. Tickets are $2.50 and may be reserved by contacting Marcy Hershoren, 23523 Gill Road, Farmington.

Charlotte Adams will be commentator.

Models include Susie Cook, Barb Feenstra, Joann Jamieson, Lee Keene and Vera Spooner, all modeling women's styles, and Bill Burke, Lowell Cook and Cecil Woodruff wearing men's fashions.

The teen models will be Kathy Monfette and Cathy Niergarth. Children's styles will be shown by Tracy Feenstra, Mark Ordowski, Ronald Randall, Wendy Wilson and Molly Woodruff.

Hair styling will be done by Ron Kurcheck, and the cosmetics will be by Fashion 220 and Mrs. Kathy Perou.

Donnelly-Burrows

Sussex-Kimpton

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Donnelly of Farmington Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Lee, to Donn R. Burrows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burrows of Redford Township. The bride-elect is a 1971 graduate of Clarenceville High School and has an associate degree from the Detroit College of Business. She is employed by the state of Michigan vocational rehabilitation department. Her fiancé, a 1972 of Redford Union High School, attended Eastern Michigan University and currently is studying broadcasting at Michigan State University. A September wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl T. Sussex of Brook Park Drive, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl, to John Charles Kimpton, son of Mrs. Shirley Kimpton of Alabama Avenue, Livonia, and the late John Charles Kimpton. The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Stevenson High School and attended Schoolcraft College. She is employed by Sobell, Eaton & Koulouras Realtors in Southfield. Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of Franklin High School, attended Lawrence Institute of Technology, where he is affiliated with Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, and has enlisted in the U.S. Navy. They plan to be married May 16.

Bresler-Johnson

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Bresler III of Kinloch Avenue, Redford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Sue, to Brian G. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson of Riverdale Street, Redford Township. Both are 1972 graduates of Thurston High School. The bride-elect graduated from Schoolcraft College in 1974 and her fiancé is a Schoolcraft student. They plan to marry in May.

Leith-Scott

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Leith of Negaunee Street, Redford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Joyce Charlene, to Thomas Gregory Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Scott of Adrian. The bride-elect graduated in 1970 from Redford Union High School and in 1974 from Central Michigan University. Her fiancé will receive his CMU degree in May. A September wedding is planned.

Social set

Separated and Divorced Catholics Club will have a meeting and social Friday, March 7 at 8 p.m. in St. Columban School, 1770 Melton, Birmingham.

Hedrick-Anderson

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hedrick of Doe Lane, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Juliann, to Scott Douglass Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Haggerty Road, Plymouth. The bride-elect is graduating in February from Plymouth Salem High School. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth Salem in 1973 and is employed by Security Services. They plan to be married April 5.

Metal collages to be discussed

Mrs. John Birmingham will demonstrate a new concept in metal collages at a meeting of the Michigan Graduate Judges Association of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, Inc., Thursday, March 6.

The event will take place in the Village Club, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Birmingham is a graduate of Cornell University. She has done wood sculpture and welding, and has exhibited her metal sculpture and wall hangings in area shows.

Deputies drill to stop killers

A man pretending to be president of the United States was shot with two blank bullets from a distance of three feet by Wayne County deputy-turned-bad-guy Frank Longhi.

A deputy was lying on top of the president to shield him from the bullet's impact.

The condition of the bogus president is not known at this time. The would-be assassin argued with the president over whether or not he had killed him.

THE SIMULATED assassination occurred during the Wayne County Sheriff's Department POP drill, conducted on the vacant grounds of the phased-out Child Development Center at Sheldon Road, just north of Five Mile, in Northville Township.

"POP" is a police acronym for "Protection of Principal." In Thursday's drill, the principal, the president of the United States, traveled in a motorcade protected by Wayne County Sheriff's deputies.

The officers laughed and ribbed each other when the exercise was over, but it had a serious side. The 20 men who participated will be prepared to guard dignitaries and candidates when they visit the Detroit area.

This is not a distant possibility. In fact, the drill was originally scheduled for the day before, Feb. 26, but had to be changed because 60 deputies were assigned to protect Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller who visited Detroit that day to address the Society of Automotive Engineers.

A CREW-CUT Deputy Inspector Richard Widner acted as the president during the drill, and managed to look the part with a distinguished black suit coat and wire-rimmed glasses.

The assassins were portrayed by a handful of deputies, armed to the teeth with smoke bombs, rifles and pistols.

You can forget about the "lone assassin theory" in Thursday's attempt. Four men tried to plug the president in what looked more like a coup than an assassination.

Deputies protecting the president knew an assassination attempt would be made but did not know where and how it would happen.

They first knew they were in trouble when they spotted a sniper with a rifle in a window of a building overlooking the route.

DEPUTIES BOUNDED into their predetermined strategy.

Men acting as secret service men stationed themselves alongside the presidential limousine to prevent a hail of bullets from hitting the chief.

Police jumped out of rear vehicles and entered the building successfully apprehending the sniper.

With the sniper in custody, the motorcade continued cautiously down the road. Suddenly, two more assassins, both sporting turtle-neck sweaters, popped their heads over a ridge. The pair heaved smoke bombs and fired shots at the approaching motorcade.

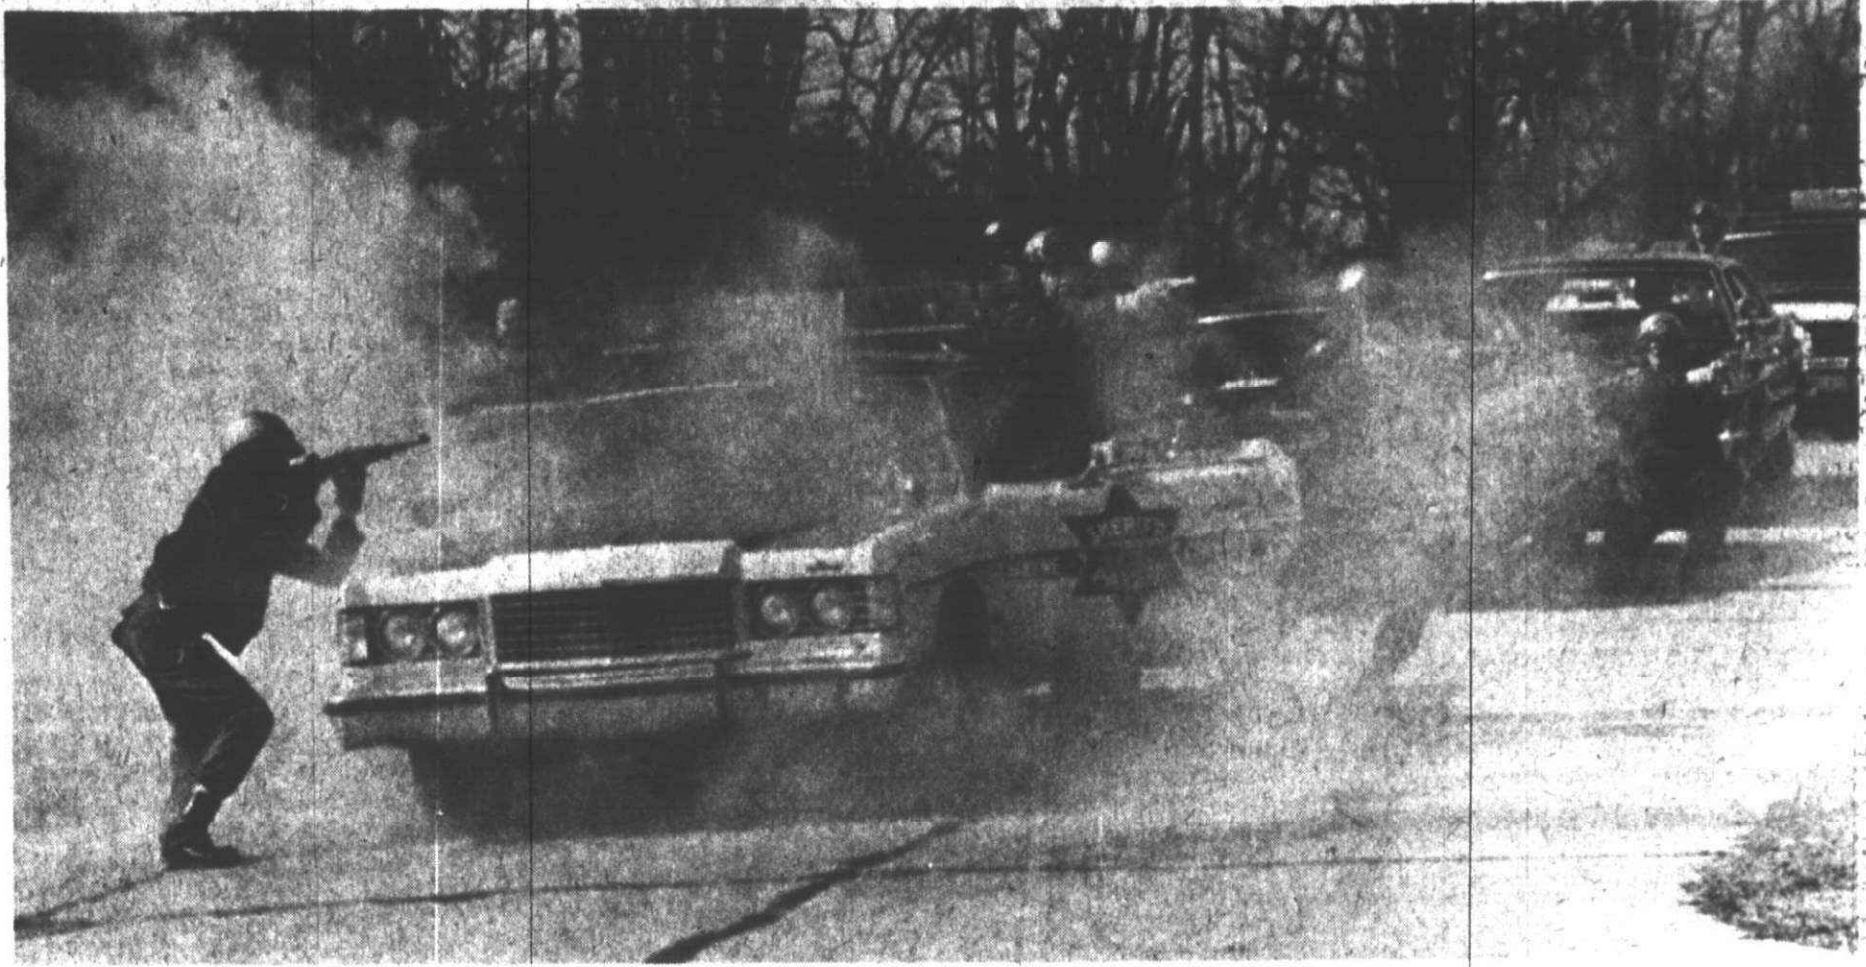

The assassins managed to "kill or seriously wound" one of the deputies, but the evil crew was captured before it could threaten the president's life.

WHILE DEPUTIES congratulated each other on their second capture, five minutes later they failed to notice a brown car pull up behind one of the buildings.

"Assassin" Frank Longhi calmly walked by three lines of police and took a pistol from his pocket and emptied two shots at point blank range into the president and the deputy shielding him.

Undersheriff Loren Pittman said he was quite pleased with the deputies' performance in the drill. But, in his critique, he noted that in one of the three drills someone would have been hurt "because you let down your guard."

"Everyone is inclined to let down at the end of a tense situation," Pittman said. "That's why the dirty bird was able to walk by at least two lines of patrolmen and shoot at the president."

SMOKE BOMBS (below) hurled into the path of the presidential entourage spark a shootout with the "assassins," while deputies make sure the president remains protected.

TWO "ASSASSINS," Al Wallace (left) and Floyd Broders (right) are frisked and handcuffed after an unsuccessful attempt to slay the president.

Schulte tries for Air Force

PLYMOUTH—Phillip D. Schulte, of 40562 Micol, Plymouth, was nominated for admission to the United States Air Force Academy. He is one of 30 Michigan men, nominated by U.S. Sen. Robert Griffin (R-Mich.), competing for three vacancies for admission to the academy.

Final selection will be determined by a selection board at the academy, located at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Rocks win cage final, 82-69

Plymouth Salem overpowers Bentley

By FRED DeLANO

Roaring to an 18-point lead in the first 10 minutes of play, Plymouth Salem was never headed Saturday night in thrashing Livonia Bentley, 82-69, for the Southfield district basketball championship.

It was the most points scored against Bentley all season and even then Plymouth Coach Fred Thomann substituted freely throughout the game and finally turned the mop-up over to his shock troops.

The feather-like shooting touch of Plymouth's 6-8 junior forward, Jim Ellinghausen, was never sharper as he popped in 12 baskets to go with five free throws for a career high of 29 points.

Seven goals by 6-10 Eric Agardy plus a free throw gave the big center backup production of 15 points, and with the aid of 6-7 Bill Den Houter they dominated the backboards as well.

For the second year in a row the Rocks have a district cage title to go with their undisputed Suburban Eight crown, but the big goal still lies ahead. Plymouth never has won a basketball regional tourney but hopes to erase that blot this week at Livonia Franklin where the Rocks will play their first round game Wednesday against Redford Thurston.

"There's nothing like good size," conceded Bentley Coach Larry Jackson after the district trophy was handed to Thomann. "We got going in the second half, but it was too late."

Dave Kegley with 13 points and a trio of scorers who hit for 10 points apiece—Dan Dinsmore, Jim Rhodes and John Miller—gave the Bulldogs the appearance of a balanced attack, but theirs was strictly catch-up basketball.

By the time Bentley scored its second field goal, Plymouth already had 16 points on the board and the Rocks were on top at the end of the quarter, 24-10. Ellinghausen opened the second period with two quick hoops to make it 28-10 and it went to 37-17 before a personal seven-point spree by Dinsmore brought Bentley back into anything resembling contention.

At halftime, the Rocks' margin was 14 points at 40-26 and Bentley got as close as 12 at 50-38 midway in the third period. However, from then on Plymouth kept padding its lead, finally to 21 points at 74-53 before so-called "garbage time" when both benches were cleared after the verdict was clearly sealed.

It was the third game of the season between the two Sub-8 clubs and gave Plymouth a 2-1 edge. The Rocks now stand 19-2, while the Bulldogs ended their campaign with a 13-10 record.

Most important of the night's statistics were Plymouth's 32-25 edge in field goals and a 43-30 margin in rebounds, Ellinghausen getting 13 and Agardy 10.

STUART HOUSE (32) Detroit Denby's 6-10 scoring star, leaps high on defense in a vain attempt to block a shot by Livonia Stevenson's Dave Haberman. Denby won, 66-63.

Eagles win first district title

It was a deliriously happy Thurston High School basketball squad which left the floor at Southfield Lathrup Friday night, for the Eagles had just accomplished what no Thurston team had ever done before—capture a district championship in state tournament action.

A close-in shot by Gary Bireta, a 6-5 senior, proved the last-minute clincher in Thurston's 59-58 triumph over the host Lathrup Chargers and sent the Eagles into the state regionals for the first time in the 21 years since Thurston was founded in South Redford.

"It was a super effort by all," said Coach Bill Croteau, whose Eagles now have won seven of their last nine games in an overall 11-11 season which saw them tie for third place in the Northwest Suburban League.

IN THE DISTRICT tournament

they scored successive victories over two Dearborn Heights schools, Ann Arbor and Crestwood, to qualify for the final against Lathrup. Now they have a date Wednesday night in the regional at Livonia Franklin to play the winner from Saturday night's Plymouth Salem-Livonia Bentley game.

Thurston jumped to an 18-14 lead after one quarter, but the Chargers flipped that score around in the second period and the teams were tied 32-32 at halftime.

Dave Polidori, 6-3 senior, was the big gunner for Thurston in the first half, firing in 17 of his 20 points before halftime.

The score was still tied (44-44) at the three-quarter mark, but then the Eagles pulled it out, with an exciting finish. Lathrup went up by four midway through the final quarter, but the Chargers couldn't break it open.

With 1:25 left in the game, Lathrup junior Gary Hawthorne scored, was fouled by Polidori, and missed the free throw. But the rebound went to Lathrup. Ron Silberstein ended up with the ball and swished a long shot to put Lathrup ahead, 58-57.

THEN CAME Bireta's key bucket to make it 59-58 for Thurston, and even though 43 seconds were left, that ended the scoring. Again Bireta was the man of the hour with a vital steal seconds before the buzzer.

Cory Rodriguez and Jeff Krzywada joined Polidori in double figures, both scoring 14 points. An important cog for the Eagles on defense was sophomore Dave Beebe, who started his first game as a sub for the injured Jim Fazzini.

Tom O'Rourke was high man for Lathrup with 20 points, John Harding adding 14.

Thurston used a man-to-man press through much of the game, which helped force Lathrup into 25 turnovers.

"We've been saying all year that defense is the name of the game, and the kids are believing it," said Croteau. "We are two or three times as good as when we lost to Plymouth Salem in the finals of Churchill's Christmas tournament. We have momentum going for us now, too."

THURSTON (59): Krzywada 6, 2-4, 14; Rodriguez 7, 0-0, 14; Polidori 7, 6-8, 20; Bireta 3, 3-7, 9; Beebe 1, 0-0, 2. Totals 24, 11-19, 59.

Battling from behind all evening and confronted with a 35-point scoring spree by Denby ace Stuart House, Livonia Stevenson finally bowed to the flashy Detroit team, 66-63, in the final of the district basketball tournament Friday night at Stevenson.

Staying dead game despite the spectacular scoring antics of the 6-10 House, Stevenson led 61-60 after a three pointer by Rob Rose with just 1:20 left on the clock. However, Rudy Watley and House shook loose for lay-ups in the final minute to wrap up the bitterly fought title game.

The victory, 11th in 18 games for Denby, sends the winners into the Livonia Franklin gym Tuesday night for a regional tourney scrap with its Detroit public school rivals, Murray-Wright.

Denby will take one of the true prep stars into the regionals in House, who scored 39 points against Livonia Franklin last Monday, managed 14 more against Taylor Kennedy Wednesday despite a sprained right wrist, then almost single handedly put down the scrappy Spartans.

A junior who performed with Redford St. Mary's last year, House scored all 13 points for Denby in a hectic third quarter that found Stevenson tying the score at 49-49 after being as many as 10 points down in the second period.

Wisely "fed" at every opportunity by his Denby teammates, House again was almost perfect with his lay-ups and right hand hooks. He scored 10 of Denby's 16 points in the first quarter.

Earlier tourney winners over Taylor Center and Taylor Truman, Stevenson seemed to be sliding out of sight late in the first half when a jumper by House widened the Denby margin to 34-24. Two long fielders by Jim Gilliland in the final 40 seconds closed the margin to 36-30, however, and set the stage for a wild second half.

The game was tied six times and the lead changed hands on eight occasions in the second half as George Herman and John Bowly joined Gilliland and Rose in a spirited never-say-die attack.

Eight of Herman's 10 points came in the topsy-turvy third quarter and Bowly and Rose collaborated for 10 points in the fourth period. Meanwhile, Denby's Vince Rush was taking some of the last quarter pressure off House with six points.

The game was locked at 58-58 and 60-60 inside the final three minutes with Stevenson's last lead coming on a Rose foul shot after his dump-in basket. Watley and House quickly wiped out that 61-60 margin, but Ron Colone provided a last gasp Spartan hope on a fielder with just 10 seconds left.

Denby controlled the ball after that, however, and its young sophomore, Jim Newman, dumped in two cushion foul shots at the five second mark.

Stevenson, winding up the season with a fine 17-7 record, had three players in double figures. For the second straight tourney game Gilliland led the parade with 15, while Rose had 14 and Herman 10. Rush totaled 14 for Denby.

DENBY (66): House 15, 5-6, 35; Rush 5, 4-5, 14; Watley 1, 2-3, 4; Bradley 2, 3-5, 7; Newman 2, 2-2, 6. Totals: 25, 16-21, 66.

STEVENSON (63): Bowly 4, 1-4, 9; Haberman 2, 2-2, 6; Rose 6, 2-5, 14; Gilland 6, 3-4, 15; Colone 4, 0-0, 8; Herman 5, 0-1, 10; Mikula 0, 1-2, 1. Totals: 27, 9-18, 63.

Arizona gets Plymouth ace

Plymouth Salem senior Jeff Roth has accepted a full four year golf scholarship to the University of Arizona in Tucson.

Jeff led the Plymouth Rocks to the Class A State Golf championship in 1973 and was junior GAM champion the same year.

The Rock senior who will be enrolling at Arizona in September was the 1974 junior match play champion, reached the quarterfinals in the '74 amateur tourney and was a member of the '73 and '74 All-metro golf team selected by the Detroit News.

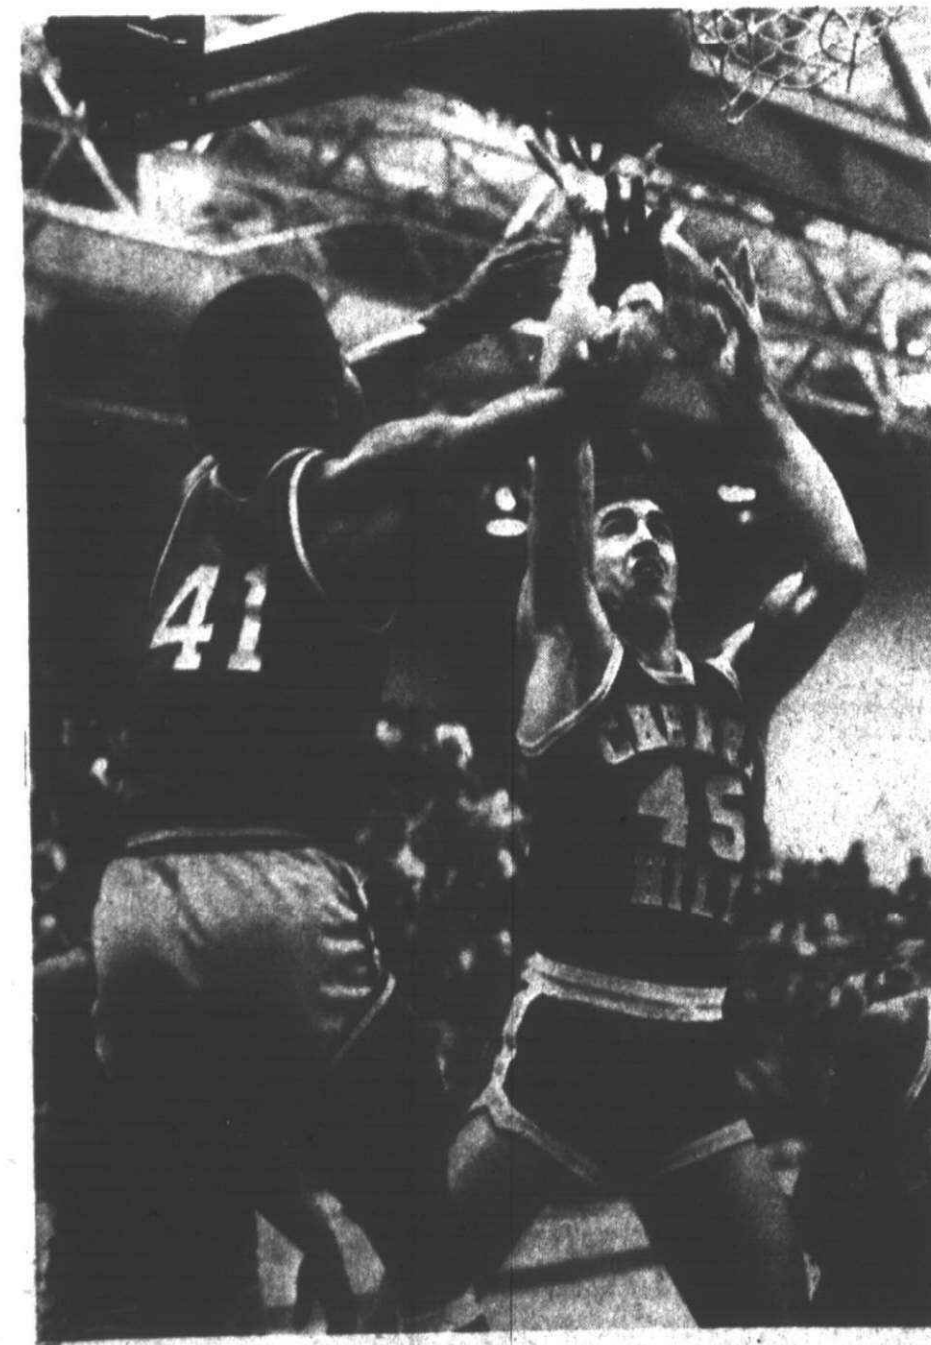

Roth also has four hole-in-ones to his credit and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Roth of 1321 Palmer in Plymouth.

Area fencers place in meet

The Westland Harms sisters did it again.

In a fencing tourney held at Wayne State University, Sherry Harms placed first in the women's foil with her sister, Terry, taking second.

Bentley High sophomore Tom Klekner captured second in both the foil and sabre in the age 20 and under bracket.

Franklin regional next stop for cage champs

The quest for the Class A state high school basketball championship is now down to 32 district tournament survivors and they include only two from this area—Plymouth Salem and Thurston of South Redford.

Interestingly, their first game in the regionals will be against each other Wednesday night at Livonia Franklin, located on Joy Road east of Merri-man.

The four-team regional will get under way Tuesday when Detroit Denby takes on Detroit Murray-Wright.

This is the full tournament schedule at Franklin:

TUESDAY, MARCH 4 at 8 p.m.—Stevenson District winner (Detroit Denby) vs. North Farmington District winner (Detroit Murray-Wright).

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5 at 8 p.m.—Southfield Lathrup District winner (Thurston) vs. Southfield District winner (Plymouth Salem).

FRIDAY, MARCH 7 at 8 p.m., championship game between winners from Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

There will be an advance sale of tickets at each of the schools involved, with prices being $1 for students and $1.50 for adults for each game. At the gate all tickets will be $1.50.

Murray-Wright was runnerup to Cass Tech for the Detroit Public School League title and Coach George Duncan's fast moving, run and shoot club is one of the top favorites for the state championship.

Murray-Wright advanced to the regional plateau by virtue of a last minute 64-62 victory over Bloomfield Hills Andover in their district final. Denby, with an 11-7 record for the season, topped Livonia Stevenson, 66-63, to move into the regionals.

The team which emerges Friday night as the Franklin champion will meet the winner from Birmingham Seaholm's regional in a state quarterfinal in the Ferndale High School gym, Thursday, March 13.

First team to qualify for the Seaholm regional was Birmingham Brother Rice, defending state Class A champion. Other teams at Seaholm will be the winners of the Walled Lake Western, Sterling Heights Stevenson and Pontiac Central district tourneys.

Meanwhile, the winner from the district meet conducted at Livonia Churchill—Detroit Chadsey—advances to the regional at Ypsilanti. Other teams there will be the titlists from the districts at Romulus, Ypsilanti and Fordson.

It will be Livonia Bentley vs. Ann Arbor Huron on Livonia's Ford Arena ice Tuesday night when Michigan high schools swing into their first official statewide hockey tournament. As the site of one of the regional elimination tournaments, Ford Arena will offer a battle between Ann Arbor Pioneer and Lumen Christi High School of Jackson as the first attraction at 6 p.m. The Bentley-Huron clash will follow at 9.

Another doubleheader will be on tap Friday, with face-off times the same. In the first game Detroit Country Day will meet the Bentley-Huron winner, while the nightcap will send Livonia Stevenson against the Pioneer-Lumen Christi winner. The championship game will be at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Coach Mike Dudley of the 11-6 Bentley club disclosed over the weekend that his Bulldogs probably will face Huron without the services of their leading scorer, Glen Stevens.

After scoring 21 goals and being credited with 25 assists prior to the playoffs, Stevens now is suffering from a pulled knee tendon.

Ann Arbor Pioneer has been rated as the pre-tournament favorite because of an overall 12-8 record and an 11-4 mark within the tough Metro League. Pioneer's first round opponent, Lume Christi, is 10-11.

Tickets will be sold separately for each game, even on the nights of doubleheaders, and will be $1.50 per contest. The tourney champion will advance into next week's round leading toward crowning of a state champion. Meanwhile, Livonia's two other high school clubs will be playing in a similar regional at Wyandotte.

Franklin's sextet will take to the ice in Wyandotte's Yack Arena at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the opener against Trenton, and in the second game Churchill will meet Allen Park. Churchill was unbeaten in 14 Suburban Hockey League games, and is 19-1-1 overall.

The Franklin-Trenton winner will face Wyandotte in the first game Thursday, with Ecoise taking on the Churchill-Allen Park victor in the second game. At Wyandotte, the championship will be determined at 8 p.m. Friday in contrast to the Saturday afternoon playoff scheduled at Ford Arena.

PETE BECK, a 1973 Livonia Bentley grad, is wrestling on the Eastern Michigan University squad. The 125-pound Beck was a three-year letterwinner at Bentley and last year, as an EMU frosh, won eight and lost 10 in the 126 pound weight division.

Chiefs show mettle in losing squeaker

There are times in sports competition when the loser earns as much esteem as the winner, and that was Plymouth Canton's case when the underdog Chiefs fought right to the wire before dropping their district basketball tourney semifinal to Livonia Bentley, 63-60.

Bentley's victory created Saturday night's Plymouth Salem-Bentley title playoff in the Southfield district, but until the last 14 seconds it appeared this had been destined to be an all-Plymouth final.

Canton had led 11-7 at the quarter and 27-22 at the half, then stretching its lead to nine points early in the third period before the Bulldogs from the Suburban Eight caught their Western Six rivals at 37-all. Again the Chiefs came back, however, and led at the end of three quarters, 43-39.

There was only 4:35 left in the game, with Canton on top 54-47, when Bentley's Don Kegley, a 6-1 senior, caught fire. Within two minutes and 20 seconds he proved his all-league status with five baskets in a row against a lone Canton free throw by Ray Mandle to put the Bulldogs in front, 57-55.

A free throw by Dave Edwards and a driving layup by Keith Osborne saw Canton forge ahead again, 58-57, but a Bulldog free throw from Dan Dinsmore knotted it at 58-all with 17 seconds left.

A foul against Canton in the battle for the rebound after Dinsmore missed his second charity toss, plus a technical on the Chiefs for a player's remark, sent Kegley to the line for three shots with 14 seconds on the clock.

He made them all, pushing it to 61-58, the final 63-60 count coming through two more free throws by Dinsmore and a bucket by Osborne at the buzzer.

In all, Kegley scored 15 of his game-high 19 points in the final period, 6-8 center Greg Smith having been the mainstay in keeping Bentley in the running earlier with eight baskets and a pair of free throws for 18 points in the first three quarters.

The ever-battling Cantonites were led by Edwards with 17 points, Tom Close with 12 and Mandle's 11. The Chiefs ended their season, only the second in varsity competition, 10-11.

BENTLEY (63): McChesney 1, -3, 2; Smith 8, 2-2, 18; Dinsmore 2, 5-10, 9; Kegley 6, 7-10, 19; Carlson 1, 0-0, 2; Weiss 0, 2-2, 2; Rhodes 3, 2-4, 8; Miller 1, 1-2, 3. Totals 22, 19-33, 63.

PLYMOUTH CANTON (60): Stemberger 1, 0-0, 2; Osborne 3, 1-2, 7; Mandle 3, 5-6, 11; Close 6, 0-0, 12; Lack 1, 5-5, 7; Waid 2, 0-0, 4; Edwards 8, 1-4, 17. Totals 24, 12-17, 60.

Evans scholarship awards given to 3 of area's seniors

Three area high school seniors from Garden City, Livonia and Redford Township are among 27 outstanding Michigan youths awarded Chick Evans college scholarships by the Golf Association of Michigan.

The trio includes: Hugh Chisholm, senior at Garden City West; Jim Fazzini, senior at Thurston High in Redford Township; and Matt Richardson, senior at Bishop Borgess High.

Each scholarship is worth $4,500 with those from Michigan attending University of Michigan or Michigan State. More than 100 Evans scholars will be enrolled at the two Michigan universities next fall. These are two of 13 major universities at which the foundation owns chapter houses which are managed and maintained by the Evans scholars themselves.

Financial support for the program comes from more than 85,000 golfers, including 13,000 in Michigan who contribute each year to the James D. Standish Jr. Fund.

To qualify a boy must caddie at least two years, rank in the upper 25 per cent of his class and require financial aid.

Hugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan J. Chisholm, 31204 Rosslyn, Garden City, caddied at Dearborn Country Club and plans to attend Michigan State.

Fazzini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fazzini, 9924 Brady, Redford Township, caddied at the Dearborn Country Club and plans to enroll at Michigan State.

Matt, son of Mrs. Barbara Richardson, 35885 Orangelawn, Livonia, caddied at Meadowbrook Country Club and will go to the University of Michigan.

David Rust, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rust, 26062 Ivanhoe, Detroit, a senior at Catholic Central, caddied at Western Golf Club in Redford Township and received a scholarship to Michigan State.

HOW TO SAVE ON PRESCRIPTION PRICES

THIS IS THE FIRST of a series of News & Views columns to help give you the information you need to save money on prescriptions.

KNOW THE PRICE before you buy. The cost of the prescriptions your doctor writes can vary substantially from one pharmacy to another. The Meijer Price Board in the Pharmacy Department displays the prices of about 100 frequently prescribed medications. If the medication you need isn't posted, ask the pharmacist for the price.

IN FACT, don't hesitate to ask the pharmacist in any store for the price of a prescription before you get it filled.

TO KEEP YOU INFORMED on prescription prices, Meijer advertises our everyday low prescription prices in the Meijer One Stop Shopping Guide. Turn to page 4 this week to find out the prices of several commonly prescribed medications.

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO KNOW the prices of prescriptions before you buy. Meijer will help you exercise that right.

THE GREEN 'N' GOLD LOTTERY

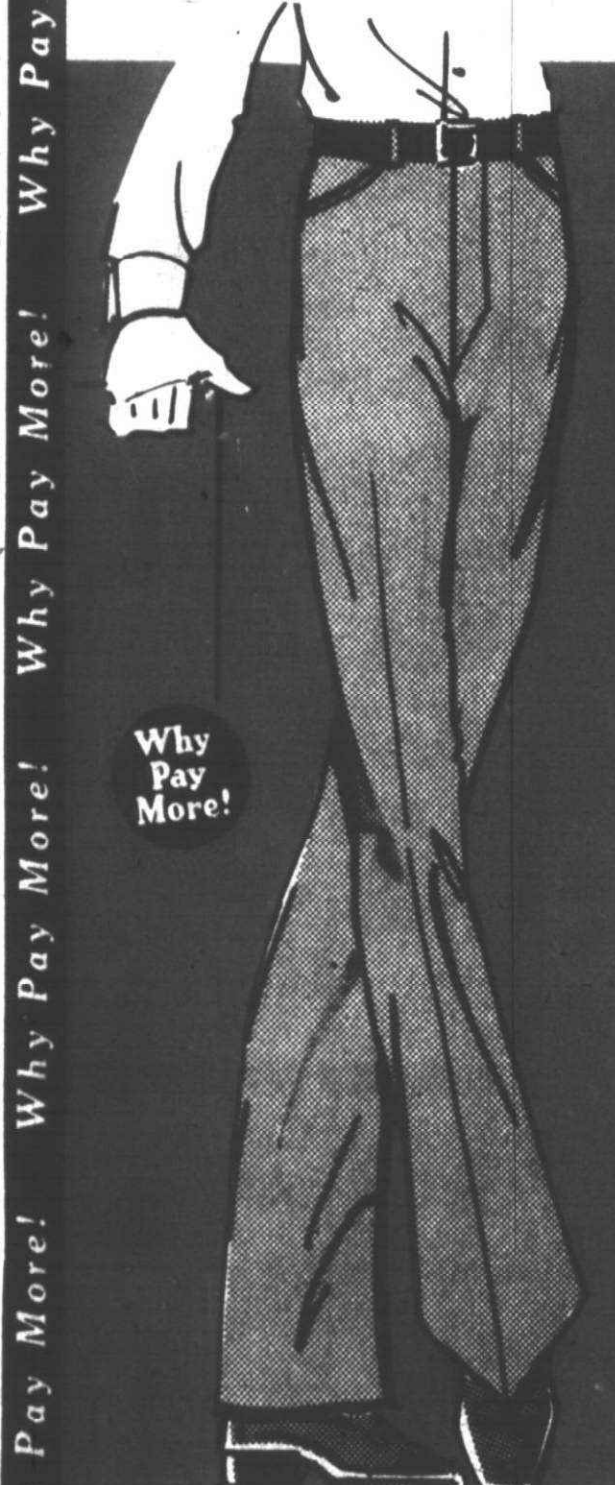

THE GREEN 'N' GOLD tickets, Michigan's two popular Lottery games, are sold at all Meijer Thrifty Acres and Supermarkets.

ANOTHER ONE-STOP SHOPPING convenience, cashiers have supplies of tickets on sale just for the asking. Choose either the 50¢ 'Green' game or choose the $1 'Gold' game with eleven possible winning numbers.

STRIKE IT RICH at Meijer! Combine your usual weekly shopping with the excitement of a chance at the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

STAKE YOUR CLAIM at Meijer! A winner? To help serve you, lottery ticket claim forms may be filled out at the Courtesy Desk in Thrifty Acres or the Cash Office in Supermarkets.

BUY TICKETS from cashiers at all Thrifty Acres and Supermarket locations. Who knows? Today may be your lucky day!
