THE I-275 FREEWAY will be opened Monday for traffic from Ford Road north to Schoolcraft with motorists entering the Plymouth area off Ann Arbor Road. (Staff photo).

Monday opening set for I-275

Short-distance travelers may whiz along at a freeway tempo starting Monday when a segment of I-275 from Ford to Schoolcraft is expected to open.

Minor cleanup tasks are the only work left on the approximate four-mile stretch of pavement, according to Bruce LaFrance, district engineer for the Michigan State Highway Department.

If work proceeds as scheduled, entrance and exit ramps at Schoolcraft, Ford and Ann Arbor roads will be removed Monday morning, and the motorists may take advantage of the road.

Opening of the freeway segment, originally scheduled for the end of June, was delayed two weeks because of heavy rains, according to LaFrance.

The remainder of the freeway, planned to connect I-75 north of Monroe and I-696 at Novi, is scheduled to open sometime in 1977, LaFrance said.

In the meantime, state highway department officials do not expect major traffic tie-ups on the four-mile stretch.

"It really doesn't go much of any place," LaFrance admits.

The first leg of the freeway, though, will be used by motorists from Westland, southern Canton Township and Garden City traveling to Plymouth and Livonia areas.

Canton changes method to collect local tickets

CANTON—The elimination of some red tape may soon quicken the township's law enforcement process.

The board of trustees Tuesday approved 5-1 a ticketing ordinance as an emergency measure with immediate effect. Trustee Brian Schwall dissented, and Trustee James Poole abstained because neither had time to read the ordinance.

THE ORDINANCE, drafted by township attorney Walter Guth Jr., eliminates the necessity of obtaining a complaint and warrant from the township attorney in each misdemeanor complaint.

That procedure, said township Supervisor Robert Greenstein, is time-consuming and expensive. The township must pay the attorney for each complaint and warrant. If the attorney is busy with other matters, the ticket cannot be issued.

Under the procedure outline by the new law, a person designated by the court as a deputy district court clerk may serve an appearance ticket to a person accused of a misdemeanor.

DISTRICT COURT Judge Dunbar Davis has already appointed building inspector Charles Thompson to that post.

Greenstein called the new procedure a more "modern" approach to law enforcement.

"This is going to save us money and cut out the necessity of a township attorney getting involved in law enforcement until a man pleads innocent in court," he said.

"We've had real problems in the past with certain people in the township because the law enforcement process has been expensive and cumbersome. Consequently, law enforcement gets tied up.

"In the past, the township really hasn't done much about law enforcement because of the cost."

Township ordinance officer Bruce Phillips said five outstanding tickets have not been issued to ordinance violators because of the unavailability of township attorneys.

Under the new ordinance, Phillips may have the power to arrest a person for a misdemeanor and bring him before Thompson for a ticket and appearance date in court. According to Greenstein, Guth is investigating the powers of township ordinance officers under state law.

ALTHOUGH SCHWALL and Poole did not object to the new ordinance, they refused to cast votes in favor of it because of the manner in which it was presented.

The matter, they noted, was not an agenda item. Greenstein introduced the ordinance as new business about 10:45 p.m. and asked for immediate approval. Neither Schwall nor Poole had time to carefully read it.

"I like to read ordinances before I pass them," said Poole. "It's just a funny hang-up I have. I don't think it's funny to get an ordinance that isn't on the agenda."

Greenstein said the ordinance does not adversely affect anyone in the township except possible ordinance violators.

"Normally, ordinances are not brought up and voted upon without 40 days of study," the supervisor said. "This ordinance is an emergency measure drawn up by the township attorney."

Schwall said the ordinance was not in the packet of information sent to board members a week before the meeting.

"I want things like this a week ahead of time," he stressed.

RECENT NEGOTIATIONS proved successful between restaurant owners and Canton Township officials to remove the large sign with the golden arches at the new McDonald's on Ford Road just east of Canton Center Road. With the sign removed and trucked away, the entrance is now an open area with sod, shrubbery and landscaping. (Staff photos).

Compromise deal on Mocerri project may reach court

CANTON—An agreement concerning a proposed shopping center at Sheldon and Joy is almost at hand between the township administration and developer Dominic Mocerri.

That's the word from Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein, who says the agreement will reap substantial benefits for the township.

GREENSTEIN DECLINED to disclose details of the settlement pending a final OK from the Wayne County Road Commission.

"This solution depends on whether the road commission will take a certain position," the supervisor explained. "Once they take it, we're prepared to go. I'm expecting some kind of position from Wayne County any minute now."

"We've gotten so much out of this deal, I'm convinced the solution will bring such substantial benefits to the township that criticism will be very sparse."

Mocerri and the township administration have met since last February, seeking a solution to the Mocerri project controversy. The settlement, once OK'd by the road commission, will be taken to Wayne County Circuit Court for a consent judgment—an alternative to a long court battle between the township and Mocerri.

Mocerri filed suit last summer after the township board refused to rezone a 65-acre parcel at Joy and Sheldon from single family residential to planned shopping. Mocerri proposed construction of a regional shopping center on the site.

Under a consent judgment, Mocerri and any future owners of the land must comply with the use outlined in the judgment, unless the township agrees to change the use of the land.

"The agreement ordered by the court will run with the land forever," Greenstein said. "The point is the township is in control. That's the important part."

BEFORE THE AGREEMENT is sent to court, the township administration will present the proposed settlement to homeowner associations most affected by the Mocerri project, according to Greenstein.

Because Mocerri and the township must agree to the terms of the consent judgment, a townshipwide public hearing will be held to obtain residents' feelings on the matter. Greenstein says the public hearing is not required by law.

"But we all feel very strongly that the public expressed as much or more interest in the Mocerri project as it did in Mettetal Airport," Greenstein said.

Mocerri and members of the township board of trustees met last week and agreed to the proposed settlement, the supervisor said.

CANTON—Efforts are continuing to be successful to beautify business areas along main roads in Canton Township.

The effort consists of negotiations between merchants and Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein, backed up by Bruce Phillips, the township's ordinance enforcement officer.

THE MOST RECENT success was removal of the large golden arches sign at the new McDonald's restaurant on Ford Road just east of Canton Center Road.

The sign had been included when the site plan was approved and when the building permit was issued. But the restaurant failed to get the sign up before the township's new sign ordinance took effect.

After talks with Canton officials, the restaurant decided voluntarily to join the beautification effort and remove the sign. It was done July 8.

The golden arches, a traditional signal to motorists that a McDonald's is located at that spot, are now missing in Canton. In their place is a green berm with shrubbery and landscaping.

The only arches are small ones attached to the building and small signs at the entrance and exit to the restaurant.

Restaurant officials are sorry to see the landmark go. It is a trademark for their business, but Greenstein feels the site looks much better and customers will still be attracted because the entrance area is more beautiful.

IN THE PAST few weeks, the administration has also been successful in talks with other merchants to get signs removed.

The new Kroger-Super X complex at Sheldon and Ford Roads once had a large free-standing boxed sign. It has since been removed, and now only signs on the buildings remain.

That was negotiated when Kroger officials asked special permission to place banners throughout the parking lot for the grand opening. Greenstein said permission would be granted if the large sign were removed. The sign was torn down.

Berms have been another concern for Greenstein. Meijer's Thrifty Acres found itself in a position where it might be unable to build a planned gasoline station at Canton Center Road and Cherry Hill.

Greenstein used that position as a bargaining tool to get Meijer's to agree to build a berm along the front parking lot on Ford Road. Previous site plans required a berm only along Cherry Hill. Meijer's agreed to the berm, which is now being built, and the township gave its approval to the gasoline station.

The Kmart at Sheldon and Ford Roads is also raising its berm at the parking lot fronting Ford and will plant more trees on the hill.

The new Palace restaurant in Canton also has agreed to build a berm, although it might have been able to avoid the requirement because of the timing of its site plan approval.

"It might be called arm-twisting," comments Greenstein, "but we have taken a number of steps to make Canton a more beautiful community. I hope the future will prove that we are right."

Madonna names vice president

Sister Mary Lauriana, academic dean at Madonna College since 1965, has been named vice president for planning and development at Madonna.

Succeeding Sr. Lauriana as academic dean is Sister Mary Francilene, administrative assistant for academic affairs.

The appointments became effective July 1.

SR. LAURIANA has been prominent in Catholic education as a teacher, school supervisor, college professor and author. She was reading coordinator for schools in the Archdiocese of Detroit for 10 years and wrote reading and listening skills books, workbooks, and teachers' guides.

She also published many articles for parents and educators on methods of improving reading performance. She has given considerable attention to the importance of the relationship between the school and home.

Sr. Lauriana earned her baccalaureate at Madonna and a master of science in education and PhD degrees from Fordham University, New York City. She has done post-doctoral work,

SISTER MARY LAURIANA

much of it on scholarships and grants, at Columbia University Teachers College, Michigan State University, University of Iowa and Claremont Institute. She also has been a professor during summer sessions at Fordham University and University of Scranton.

SISTER MARY FRANCILENE

SR. FRANCILENE was a teacher and director of music before coming to Madonna in fall 1974. She was administrator and instructor of college and high school students for two summers in Europe.

She earned a bachelor's degree in education at Madonna with a major in music. Her master's degree in education was awarded by Wayne State University, where she is studying for a doctorate in higher education administration.

Sr. Francilene has written a book of musical settings for chants used in liturgical services and has arranged a number of choral and orchestral selections. She has shared her interest and ability in music as a volunteer with handicapped students at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and in the downriver area.

Common Cause selects Johnson as new chief

Eric Johnson has been selected new coordinator of the 2nd Congressional District Chapter of Common Cause. He succeeds Kris Moore, who resigned the post she has held since December to move to Washington, D.C.

Bruce Wallace, an Ann Arbor attorney, will continue in the position of assistant coordinator.

Johnson, an assistant professor in the University of Michigan's Department of Far Eastern Languages and Literature, has been active in Common Cause for two years. He has been involved in the operations of the group's telephone network which informs members of the need to contact officials on issues Common Cause considers important.

THE CHAPTER has much to be proud of, Johnson said. "We are the largest chapter in the nation. We have one of the highest membership renewal rates of any chapter. With only volunteer effort, our group has established a powerful voice in Lansing, as well as with our national representatives."

Johnson said he is confident a strong political reform bill can be approved if the public keeps pressure on legislators.

Chapter members have collected signatures in the district, which includes Plymouth and most of Livonia. Rep. Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti), whose district includes most of Plymouth, received the most signatures collected in the district: 738.

The petitions urge state representatives to support a comprehensive political reform package which Common Cause helped draft.

SEMTA to host bus tour

New air-conditioned buses will be displayed by the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) at 1 p.m., Friday, July 11, at K-mart, Ford between Middle Belt and Brandt, Garden City.

The inspection display marks the introduction of 48 new coaches into suburban service.

As part of a customer relations program, the first day's ride on new buses only is free. The first day each coach goes into service, riders boarding that particular coach will ride without charge.

The buses represent 22 per cent of SEMTA's suburban operating fleet of 222 buses. The new coaches will replace vehicles due for retirement and are designed to upgrade the quality of service by reducing the number of breakdowns.

In addition to being air-conditioned, the buses are equipped with reclining seats, two-way radio and pollution control equipment.

An $8 million equipment improvement program funded the new buses.

Congressman blasts Ford's measures for employment

By DENNY COFFMAN

WASHINGTON—According to Rep. William Ford (D-Taylor), whose district includes Westland, Garden City, Canton Township and part of Livonia, measures recently proposed by President Gerald Ford's administration to alleviate the energy shortage would only aggravate unemployment in such communities as Westland, Garden City and Wayne.

During an interview with the Observer & Eccentric Tuesday, he said that western Wayne County has been hit harder than any area in the state by the recession, with the exception of Detroit and Flint.

"Unemployment has increased faster than in any other area because of the large number of persons employed by the auto companies," said Ford. "There has been a big jump, especially in Garden City and Westland in unemployment."

He is displeased with the prospects of an economic upturn for the area and describes the situation in Wayne, Westland and Garden City as "an on-again, off-again proposition."

According to Ford, unemployment in Garden City in May stood at 10.7 per cent, a slight drop from the previous month. The rate was 9.2 per cent in Westland; 11.1 per cent in Wayne; 7.5 per cent in Livonia; 13.8 per cent in Romulus; 13.5 per cent in Taylor; 14.4 per cent in Inkster; and 9.4 per cent in Dearborn Heights in May, the most recent figures available.

Ford said that these areas, with the possible exception of Livonia, are especially hard hit because of the large number of blue-collar workers in the area.

ANY INCREASE in the gasoline tax would do two-fold harm to residents of the area: first, it would hurt sales of cars and keep unemployment high; second, it would place a burden of increased transportation costs on persons least capable of meeting them, he said.

"Our residents need the automobile," said Ford. "In our area, the car is not a luxury, it is a necessity. Why should our people have to pay a sales tax that only will go toward research into solar energy or some other source? Such funds ought to come out of the (federal) government's general operating budget," said Ford.

Ford said that sales taxes, whether they are levied on cars or food and drugs, are discriminatory against the economically poorer segments of the population, while graduated income taxes took more of a bite out of upper class incomes.

"We're not talking about the guy with a twin-screw yacht who doesn't have to worry about coming up with the money to pay for gas for his boat," said Ford.

"What we're talking about is the family that needs a big station wagon to transport the family for shopping, or to get to work," he said.

Ford voted against the administration's proposal of a 20-cent gasoline tax and an additional four cents for energy research. He described the proposal as "a screwball energy bill."

"The sales tax is just a poor way to raise money," he said. "The unemployed, the employed, senior citizens and retirees all would have to pay equally. The guy on the unemployment line needs at least a gallon of gas just to get to the unemployment office."

"You're saddling him with something he can't handle. We have very few professionals living in our communities. Doctors and lawyers, politicians and newspapermen can deduct mileage from their taxes. These people can't."

Ford claims the administration hasn't any idea what it wants to do in terms of either turning the recession around or of conserving energy.

He describes the economic prospects for the western Wayne County area as "not very encouraging."

"They're talking about six or seven per cent unemployed in a couple of years," he said. "But it will be some time before the situation gets better in our area."

"Our workers depend on the sale of big ticket items for their livelihood. They go in the tank faster and stay there longer. They're not convinced things will get better," said Ford.

He said it doesn't make any difference whether auto companies attempt to market large cars, or small cars; the results are still the same.

"YOU CAN'T TELL people what to buy. Auto companies have stuck by the compact and subcompact cars, but unfortunately the public doesn't take to the compact and subcompact. Economists think the auto companies can tell people what to buy. But they can't do it."

He claims that preferences among persons living in Westland, Garden City and Livonia differ sharply from those of persons living in warmer climates.

"Some of my colleagues look upon the automobile as a toy," said Ford. "But in my area it's a principle form of transportation. People need big cars to travel on ice and snow and carry kids to Little League and Cub Scouts. It's been found that 28 per cent of the car-owning families have five or more persons in them."

"It's hard for congressmen from Arizona, California and even Washington to understand about our roads covered with snow. Our people aren't too happy about trying to get over these roads in small cars."

Ford charged the administration and the oil companies with issuing conflicting statements about the actual amount of fuel available. He said that with the de-control of domestic petroleum, the price of a gallon of gasoline will reach 75 cents by the fall of 1975.

"That's why people are just sitting and they're not buying anything," he concluded.

Ford said the types of vehicles produced in the western Wayne County area contributed to the heavy unemployment in the area; Ford, Thunderbirds, big Chevrolets, and certain kinds of trucks have been the victims of an erratic market.

"Model-mix"—the combination of car models to meet varying needs—holds the answer to increased production, Ford said.

He indicated that employment in the area will lag even after production increases, because auto companies will add shifts before rehiring. Cadillac and Detroit Diesel have already done this, Ford said.

Ford described Westland and Garden City in the following terms. "According to the 1970 census, we have the youngest mean (average) age the smallest number of persons over 65; highest percentage of homeowners; the smallest number of government employees; and a relatively small professional class when compared to the other 19 Congressional districts."

Faust fights busing order

WESTLAND—Sen. William Faust (D-Westland), whose district includes Garden City and Canton Township, says that a resolution he sponsored defying a court order that the state pay for most of the cost of buses for Detroit public schools was "not intended to be anti-busing, which it is not."

Faust says that "Detroit people have interpreted it as anti-busing."

Faust last week attempted to obtain an immediate vote on the resolution but fell short by two votes. The resolution was relegated to the Senate Business Committee and as of Tuesday (July 8) it hadn't been reported to the floor of the Senate.

According to Faust, the Senate's refusal to vote immediately on the matter (the vote would have broken legislative rules) means that the state probably will be required to pay 75 per cent of the cost of 150 buses—$1.8 million.

"The position taken by the Sixth U.S. District Court of Appeals is a flagrant violation of the doctrine of separation of powers written into our state and federal constitution," Faust says, "and cannot be tolerated."

"Nowhere in those two documents can the appropriation of state funds by a federal court be justified. The judicial branch of government has well established the unconstitutionality of such an action."

He said that the ruling contravenes the majority opinion written by Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall, that "courts are the mere instruments of the law and can will nothing."

"What is more," says Faust, "there is ample case law in Michigan to confirm that the federal court has over-extended its power. In no other cases of court-ordered desegregation in the states have the courts seen fit to order huge purchases of buses by state and local units of government, and I can find no explanation for it now," says Faust.

Canton apartment units hit by flooding again

CANTON—Flooding has hit some units of Deer Creek Apartments for the second time in two weeks, according to township officials.

At least two first-floor units of the large apartment complex at Joy and I-275 were flooded by Monday's rain, according to township ordinance officer Bruce Phillips.

The township inspected the two units, Phillips said, and numerous residents of Deer Creek called township hall with complaints.

Owners of Deer Creek Apartments were unavailable for comment. Apartment manager Jim Gierczak declined to comment or confirm Monday's flooding.

THE SOGGY UNITS hit by Monday's rain water were vacated two weeks ago, when 6-18 inches of water ruined carpeting and furniture in the sunken living rooms of 34 units.

Ten of the 34 apartments flooded two weeks ago were unoccupied at the time of the flood, and residents of some of the units were moved to other apartments.

Martin Kopitz, co-owner of Deer Creek, blames the construction of I-275, located west of the apartment complex, for the flooding.

Said township Supervisor Robert Greenstein: "We have directed our engineer to check into the plans to see if he could spot the reason. I think perhaps it's a combination of a number of things."

S. American lizard invades residence

A three-foot South American lizard recently decided to take a stroll across the backyard of Mr. and Mrs. Russ Powell, 41250 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth Township.

Actually, the lizard (a "Teguexin") was 35 inches long but that inch less didn't make it any more inviting to Mrs. Powell who spotted it while relaxing at a table on the patio.

"Holy cow, was I scared!" she said.

THE POWELLS didn't know if the lizard was poisonous, or what it was, so they shot it and put it in the freezer until they could get information.

"I called the Nankin Mills Nature Center, and a lady there told me it was a Teguexin. She said somebody probably purchased it from a pet store and got rid of it when it got too large, just like people dump unwanted cats or dogs."

"She seemed a little upset that we killed it, but how am I going to catch a 35-inch lizard? What a sight!"

She plans to keep it in the freezer for a while longer. She has called friends of hers who are students at Schoolcraft to see if they want to take it to the college for dissection.

"If they don't want to dissect it, I guess we'll have to have a funeral and bury him in the woods."

THE LIZARD is black with white spots on the top, has white rings around its tail, and underneath is white with black spots.

"It was shedding its skin on top and looked like it might be pregnant. But I didn't want to cut it open to find out. Maybe the students will if they do dissect."

The experience last week with the lizard, about eight to 10 inches in circumference, was similar to one Mrs. Powell had a couple years ago when a huge hogsnake came out of the 5½-acre woods behind the house and headed toward the patio. "It reared up and expanded its head, just like a cobra. We've had a lot of interesting things come out of our woods. I think the swamp was disturbed by the construction going on around us."

The Powells live on Ann Arbor Road between the Elks Lodge and Bill Knapp's restaurant at Haggerty Road. She said there are many animals and birds in the woods, including 10 new baby raccoons, a skunk, opossum, rabbits, and a wide variety of birds.

"People have been letting domestic rabbits loose in our woods too," she adds, "and so our wild rabbits have been changing in appearance over the past few years."

TO CLEAR UP a "communications" problem, which Greenstein says blocked the inspection order, the apartment owners and the township administration Monday agreed to the following conditions:

- The vacated units will not be reoccupied until the reason for the flooding is pinpointed.

- Phillips and a representative from the Wayne County Health Department will inspect vacated units before they are reoccupied. The pair will inspect all units before new carpeting is laid.

- The apartment management will transfer flood victims to comparable apartments, if available, or allow residents to move to larger units, if they are willing to pay the difference in rent.

- The apartment management will give rent credit to those flood victims who remain living in flood-damaged apartments.

Top administrators appointed by Dyer

By STEVE BARNABY

WESTLAND — The Wayne-Westland Board of Education has voted to approve 10 administrative appointments recommended by Supt. Timothy Dyer.

The appointments come as part of a major reorganization Dyer has been conducting in the administrative ranks since last spring. The approvals were made at this week's school board meeting.

Most notable of the appointments was that of Frank Higgins as assistant superintendent for curriculum. Higgins, 43, is filling a vacancy left by Warren Spurlin, who left the district to take a position in the Taylor School District.

HIGGINS has been an employee of the district for 19 years. He has been the first and only principal at John Glenn High School for the past 11 years.

Dyer lauded Higgins for his past efforts.

"The curriculum at the high school level which has received much acclaim can be directly credited to the guidance, leadership and inspiration of Frank Higgins. Mr. Higgins brings a wealth of information to this department. His ability to work with people is well-established reality and he is a highly respected and recognized educator in our community," said Dyer.

Marsha Hilton will possess the highest position ever held by a woman in the Wayne-Westland District. She has been appointed as the administrative assistant for student relations under Asst. Supt. of Student Relations Ray Rafford.

Before Miss Hilton's appointment, the highest ranking woman was Helen Avery, who was the director of elementary education, a sub-cabinet post.

Miss Hilton, 32, has been a psychologist within the district. She has specialized in the area of learning disabilities.

"Miss Hilton is highly respected by her peers and has thorough understanding of all aspects of the various handicaps of education," said Dyer. "She has excelled these last few years with the developing of in-service training for regular staff when receiving special education students in their classrooms."

Appointed as director of athletics and student activities is Dan Slee.

Summer meetings dropped by board

CANTON—Township board members and residents who regularly attend board meetings may take a mini vacation this summer.

Board members Tuesday unanimously agreed to follow the lead of Plymouth Township and drop the board's second regular meeting in July and August, originally scheduled for July 22 and Aug. 26.

Board members agreed to hold a short special meeting on July 22 to discuss site plan approval for Harvard Square Shopping Center's second phase. That issue was tabled Tuesday night.

"I don't know if there's anything of that great a rush," said Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein. "It is the summer, and it's about time the board gets a little vacation."

Because board meetings often last until 11:30 p.m., Greenstein recom-delivery to locations within the auto firm's complex.

Positions also filled were four elementary and one secondary principals.

Phillip Buerk, 38, has been appointed Cady Elementary School principal. Former principal of Franklin Junior High School, he is a trained elementary administrator.

The principal's positions at Elliot will be filled by Albert Ward, 45. A former superintendent in the Inkster School District, he has been a teacher and administrator in Detroit public schools.

Clarice Stafford, 47, has been appointed principal of Madison Elementary School. Before taking this position, she was director of student teaching for Marygrove College. She was an administrator in the Livonia School District and is president-elect of the Michigan Reading Association.

Patchin Elementary School principal will be Georgina Cseresznye. Mrs. Cseresznye, 30, presently is the assistant principal at Graham School.

Doug Pretty, 26, will be assistant principal at Franklin Junior High School. An employee of the Taylor School District, he is a member of the Allen Park Board of Education.

mended the limiting of agendas to 10 or 12 items at board meetings scheduled for the summer.

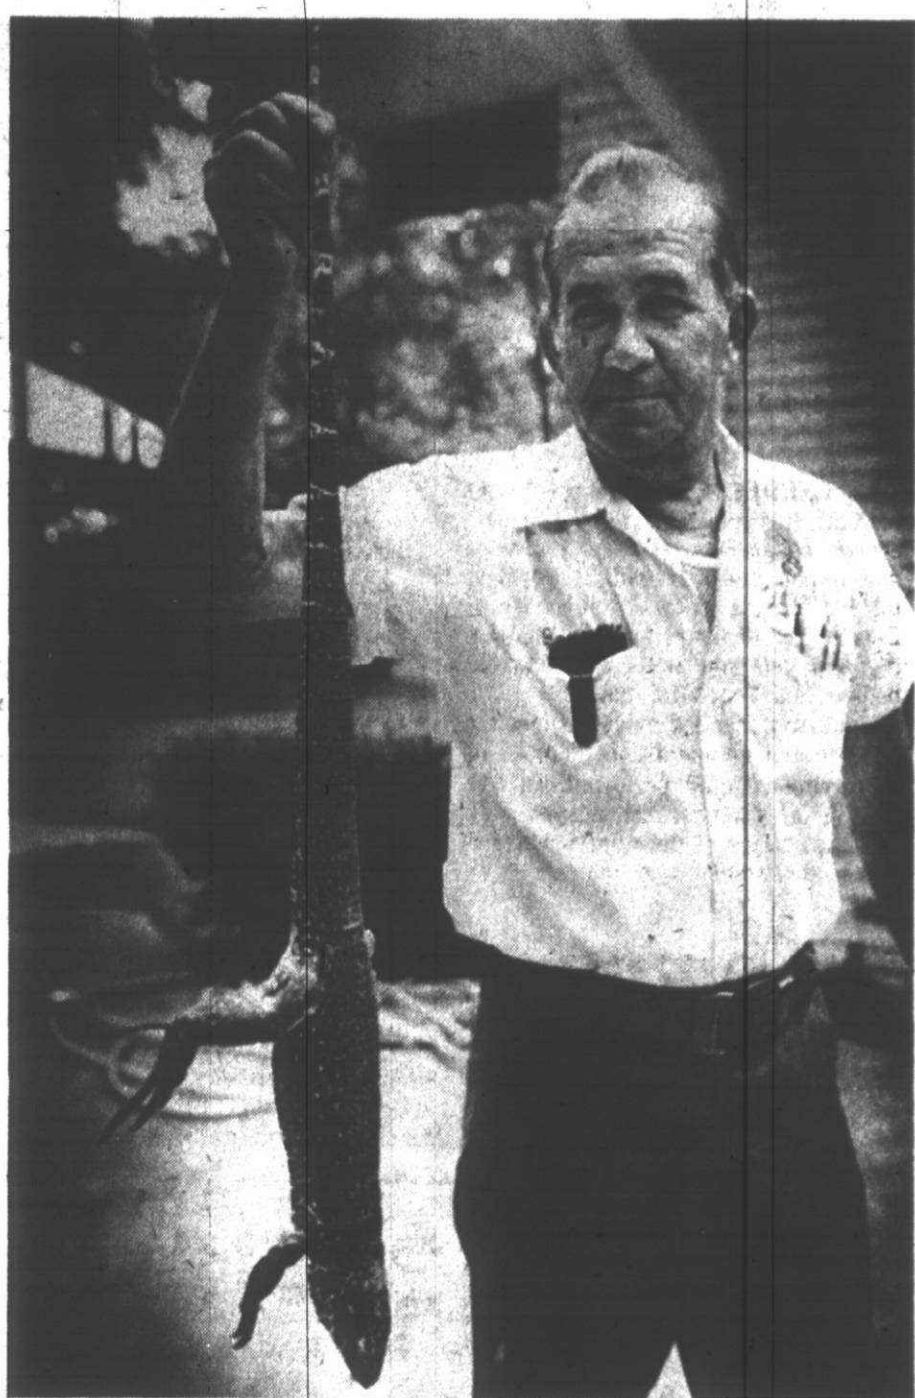

"In certain cities, it takes months to get an item on the agenda," he said. "I don't think we do a service to anyone when we sit up here and get so tired."

Trustee Gerald Cheske moved to cancel the second regular meetings in July and August and to limit the agenda to 11 items. Cheske withdrew the latter part of his motion, however, when other board members objected.

One resident, who attends board meetings regularly, applauded the board's decision to drop some summer meetings.

"I think this is good. I need a rest, too."

Regular board meetings are scheduled for Aug. 12, Sept. 9 and Sept. 23.

Hunting safety hearing July 23

A second public hearing on hunting safety problems in the area will be held July 23 in Plymouth Township Hall.

The hearing, sponsored by the State Department of Natural Resources (DNR), will begin at 7 p.m. in the meeting room of township hall, 42350 Ann Arbor Road at Mill Street.

At the meeting, the hunting control committee of the DNR will present proposed rules for local area hunting controls within areas of Plymouth Township.

These rules will become effective within 15 days after being filed with the Secretary of State.

The public may offer comments either orally or in writing. Invitations have also been sent to State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and Rep. Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti) whose 52nd District includes Plymouth.

3 appointed to advisory county posts

WAYNE COUNTY—Three area men have been appointed to the Wayne County Substance Abuse Services Advisory Council.

Dr. Donald Roach of Livonia, a county health department pharmacist and board chairman of the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, has been reappointed by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners to a two-year term on the 24-member council.

Kenneth Jacobs, special education teacher in the Plymouth public schools, has been selected by the board of commissioners to a two-year term.

Allan Breakie of Northville, executive director of Garden City Osteopathic Hospital and member of the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council planning council, has been appointed to a one-year term by the board of commissioners.

Formed by the board of commissioners last year to develop a comprehensive substance abuse service plan for the county, including the City of Detroit, appointments are made by the board and Detroit's mayor.

Council members are experienced persons in the substance abuse field.

Club offers MSU—U-M game tickets

Tickets for the Oct. 11 MSU—U-M football classic are available through the Western Wayne Alumni Club of Michigan State University.

The club, an affiliate of the MSU Alumni Association, is offering its 14th annual excursion to the battle between the MSU Spartans and the University of Michigan Wolverines in East Lansing.

A ticket for the game and bus transportation from Livonia is tagged at $17.50. A ticket only sells for $12.50. Proceeds are donated to the Ralph H. Young Scholarship Fund which provides financial assistance for qualifying student-athletes at Michigan State under Big Ten regulations.

The reservation deadline is Aug. 1.

Ten chartered buses with a total capacity of 390 persons will leave Livonia City Hall, 33001 Five Mile, at 10:30 a.m. and return immediately after the game at about 6 p.m.

Tickets are available on a first come, cash basis because of demand. Checks should be forwarded with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: H. Dow Tunis, 16811 Pollyanna Drive, Livonia 48154.

New teen adventure club forms

An Outdoor Adventure Club organized to give youths a chance to do things they otherwise might not be able to do, plans a week-long canoe trip as its first venture.

The club, sponsored by the Wayne County 4-H Youth program, will paddle the AuSable River from Grayling to Oscoda July 29 through Aug. 6. Cost is about $45.

Jack Smiley, 4-H program assistant and an expert canoeist, says both participants and volunteer adult leaders are invited for the trip and other club activities.

Also planned during the year are canoeing, camping, hiking, backpacking, bike touring, and cross-country skiing.

Those interested in the trip should make reservations by July 11.

Smiley invites inquiries at his office at the Wayne County Extension Service, 5455 Wayne Road, Wayne 48184.

Madonna sets open house

An open house for prospective students and their families will be sponsored by Madonna College Sunday, July 13. A general information session begins at 2 p.m., followed by a tour of classrooms and laboratories. Admissions counselors will be available.

Madonna programs will be discussed as well as financial assistance. Further information is available at the admission's office.

Three Locations, One Philosophy

Over the years, our firm has constantly grown... so that today we serve from three different locations.

At each, we still follow the same philosophy that's guided us from the beginning: the belief that every family deserves the most complete help we can possibly provide.

Water witches successful

The art of water-witching, or dowsing, as it is more popularly called, has played an important part in the history of our country. Most of the original wells dug across this land were located with the help of a divining rod.

When this country was new, it was a common sight to see a man with a forked stick in his hands striding across a field, waiting for some mysterious force to suddenly pull the end of the stick downward. No one doubted it would work, for they all knew neighbors who had successfully located the well sites in just this manner.

Dowsers used to argue about what kind of wood made the best rod. Some would use nothing but hazelwood; others preferred ash rowan, or even cherry wood.

DOWSING IS by no means a lost art. Water is still located in that manner today. But modern dowsers more often are called upon to search for oil, buried treasure, bodies or lost valuables, and they are often quite successful.

Just as the object of the search need not be water, the implement used need not be a forked stick of hazelwood. Any stick will do, and a bent metal rod or stiff wire will work just as well.

The "mysteriour power" that guides the stick seems to lie not in some outside force, but within the dowsing himself, much like the directional instinct of homing pigeons or lost pets who travel hundreds of miles over strange country to find their original homes.

Though the dowser himself may not be aware of it, it is really he who caused that stick to point out the location of the sought-after treasure.

It is my belief that we all possess some measure of this talent, and that, with practice, it is quite possible to develop and strengthen this clairvoyance and put it to good use finding items misplaced around the house.

HERE IS A little game you might

Hearing set on county school budget

WAYNE COUNTY—A public hearing on the 1975-76 general fund budget of the Wayne County Intermediate School District will be at 4:15 p.m., Wednesday, July 16, in Parn School, 2821 Bailey, Lincoln Park.

The general fund budget of approximately $3 million finances the countywide operations of the intermediate district which furnishes consultative services in all areas of education to 36 local school districts in the county.

It does not include the allocation of the one-half special education tax, which is passed on to local school districts, or a number of state and federal programs administered by the intermediate district.

Parent-child swim classes at Schoolcraft

Youngsters and their parents can learn to swim together at Schoolcraft College July 14-24.

"It (swimming)...helps enable the child to become comfortable in water and learn fundamentals which are preparatory to swimming," said Sharon Danforth, who has taught the course for two years.

Instruction is Mondays through Thursdays from 10-11 a.m. and 1:30-2:30 p.m. Children should be toilet trained and wear plastic pants. Registration is $12 and can be made through the registrar's office at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

like to try to test your ability:

Find any pliable forked stick (my own favorite is willow). Each arm of the fork should be about 10-12 inches long, and the stem about six inches in length.

If no such rod is available, you can make a most acceptable one by bending an ordinary wire coat hanger. Bend the crossbars of the hanger in toward the center so that it runs along beside the angled sides. This forms the two arms of the fork. The hook of the hanger becomes the stem or point.

Extend your arms forward from the elbow. With hands palm up, grasp the ends of the fork in each hand. Hold the rod firmly, but not tightly, and create a gentle tension by forcing the ends of the fork slightly together.

In the games below, you will use this device to locate a button or similar small item.

Get a group of your friends to form a circle, and when you leave the room, they will decide which person will conceal the object of the quest in his hand.

When you are called back, stand in the center of the circle, holding the divining rod in the manner described above, but raised almost directly above your head.

Move slowly around the circle, facing each member of the group in turn. If your ESP is working, the rod should suddenly dip (without your consciously causing it to do so), indicating the chosen person.

I'm sure you will be able to devise many variations of this game to test, strengthen and develop your own divining skills.

If you really become interested in this, you might even want to join the

Red Roof Inns operating economy motel in Plymouth

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP — With the first leg of I-275 freeway soon to be opened, Red Roof Inns has opened its doors for tourists and businessmen.

Red Roof Inns, an expanding budget motel chain, actually opened its 109-room structure a couple weeks ago and has been doing well in the interim before the freeway opens, says local manager Rick Johnson.

THE INN, located at I-275 and Ann Arbor Road, features economical lodging with single rooms beginning at $9.50 a night with the top price at $16.50 to sleep four.

The land and building represent an investment of about $1.5 million and the motel expects to employ between 10-15 persons when fully operative. Standard amenities include color television, carpeting, all extra long double beds, direct dial telephone, full bath, and individually controlled heating and air conditioning.

DESIGNED TO appeal to the budget-minded business traveler and families trying to economize while on vacation or visiting relatives, Red Roof Inns are built without restaurants, cocktail bars or other expensive services.

This can be done, explains Johnson, because the inn is located in an area where those services are available. In fact, for the ribbon-cutting ceremonies last week, the food was catered by the Hillside Inn.

The Hillside is looking forward to a cooperative venture with Red Roof Inns, knowing that it will attract a number of lodgers who will be looking for a place to dine.

The same anticipation is held by the Mayflower Hotel. Ralph Lorenz, owner of the Mayflower, was at the Red Roof July 2 to welcome them to the Plymouth area. The Mayflower has already referred lodgers to the Red Roof when its motor inn behind the Mayflower Meeting Room is filled. Red Roof guests will also be referred to the Mayflower as a fine place to dine.

RED ROOF Inns are not franchise operations, explains Johnson. The 18 inns in five states are owned and operated by the parent corporation in Columbus, Ohio.

There are inns operating in Roseville and Flint and another under construction in Troy. Others are located in Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Construction of the Plymouth Red Roof was completed by J. R. Trueman and Associates of Columbus with the aid of local contractors.

DPW yard to be cleaned

PLYMOUTH—The long awaited cleanup of the DPW yard, a source of complaints from many residents, will soon get under way.

The Plymouth City Commission Monday night approved a bid by Elton's Inc. of Livonia of $14,000, the lowest of three bids received by the city.

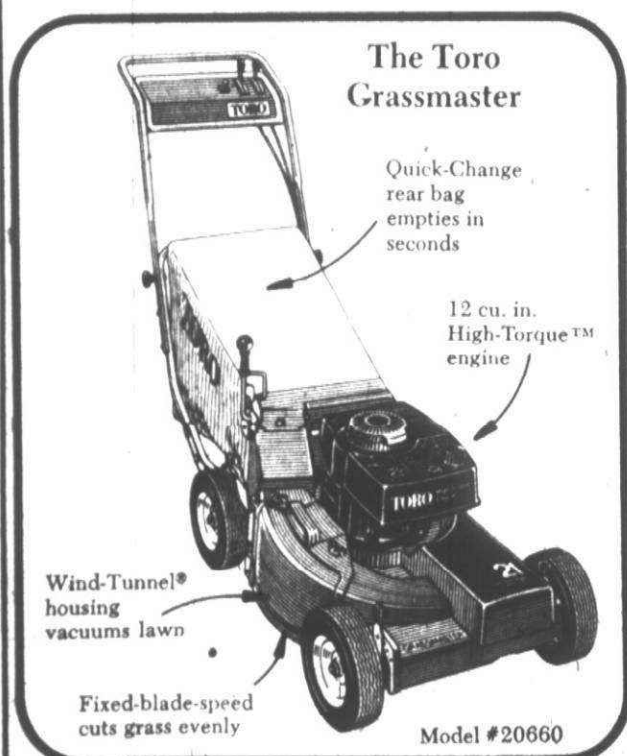

Kenneth Vorgan, DPW superintendent, said it was necessary to hire a firm to do the cleanup because the city lacks heavy trucks and equipment to remove concrete and other heavy objects cluttering the yard.

Only $10,000 had been budgeted for the project. At suggestion of Vorgan, the commission authorized the city administration to use $1,000 each from the major highway fund, local highway fund, water fund and the sewer fund, all of which have excess budgets.

First, a maneuverable rear bagger. Second, a mulching mower that slices and reslices clippings into fine mulch. Third, when you need it, a regular mower that disperses to the side. Every Grassmaster is also equipped with a High-Torque engine which helps cut tall, lush grass evenly—without stalling. Plus a Quick-Change rear bag that empties in seconds and holds more than 2 1/4 bushels of leaves or clippings. Power-drive models feature fixed-blade-speed mowing. The blade and drive speeds operate separately. So you can slow the drive without slowing blade speed or mowing power.

Annual 'Pabst' smear?

Yellow janders, flea-bitis and a toncetomy are not rare tropical diseases or new surgical procedures, but common ailments with uncommon spellings which occasionally show up on health insurance forms in the Prudential Insurance Co.'s North Central home office.

While no one wants to poke fun at poor health, misspellings of illnesses and operations can be interesting and frequently challenge the deductive skills of the insurance company's claims and underwriting employees.

For example, how many medical texts have recorded a case of "defective nasil septom?" Or, how about a damaged "knose?" Or, just a plain old case of "very coarse veins?"

SURGERY HAS been performed to remove "plops, hemrooks, molds, a sis" and one poor soul even went under the surgeon's knife to have a "noodle removed from his arm."

On the thousands of health insurance claims and applications which the insurance company receives each year, pneumonia has produced the most varied spellings—"kneumonia, pneumonie, amimonja, phemonoia, prmonia and phnewmonia."

Determining the nature of many female problems can be a challenge. For instance, women have been reported as "pregnate, pragnent, pregnet and pregnit."

ONE WOMAN had a "misconception" and another "an infection in virginia."

Hysterectomy, by far, has been the most frequently misspelled—"hystreectomy, histareot-

Eccentricities

omy, hysterictomy, hystromectomy and histareck-tomey."

A claim was even filed for a "hystarectomy on Frank" which was later determined to be a hemorrhoidectomy on Frank.

"PLATTERS" AND "blutters" appear to cause quite a few difficulties, as do "goalstones" and "arthuritas." One individual must have really felt like the devil when he had "duodemon" trouble. Another person had a problem with getting rid of "Bruce on his arm." Claims which might come from businessmen include "fiscal checkup," "high pretension" and "influence" (flu).

There have been claims for "limp glands, schull fractor, soar throat, boyles, a broken color bone and a sprained spleen."

People have had "titus" shots and problems with "tonicals and addnoise" as well as "falls teeth."

But, the blue ribbon winner for misspelled claims came from a woman who had her annual "Pabst" smear.

State and feds competitors

Let's say you've crossed the Mackinac Straits Bridge and turned left on US-2 next to the stunning sand beaches and blue waters of Lake Michigan.

Fifteen miles along, you see signs for a campground. A campground? You check the state highway map, but it doesn't show a campground. Yet a couple of miles inland is Breevort Lake and one of the most cheerful and popular camping spots in Michigan's upper peninsula.

What's the catch? The catch is that the Breevort Lake campground is operated by the National Forest Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It's a federal installation, in short, and isn't shown on maps put out by the State of Michigan.

FROM A FOREST ranger you can get a map of the Hiawatha National Forest which shows you not only the Breevort Lake campground but a host of others that aren't on the Michigan highway map.

Let your eye roam northwest on the Forest Service map until you reach the Tahquamenon River. A single word tells you a "falls" is there, but nothing indicates a park or campgrounds. And yet at Tahquamenon Falls there is...

You can guess, but it's better to go back to the Michigan highway map. Not one park but two appear—one at the boiling rapids of the lower falls, another at "Little Niagara," the nickname of the upper falls. They're state parks, they don't appear on the federal map, but they do show up on the state map.

Fictional book seems fact

INEVITABLE, by Saul Parker, Vantage Press, New York, 1975, $6.95.

The reviewer is director of personnel for Suburban Communications Corp., the parent company of Observer & Eccentric newspapers. She was formerly appointments secretary to Gov. G. Mennen Williams and personal secretary to Gov. John B. Swainson.

By MARGARET C. HALAVA

My problem in reviewing this book is that, particularly in the first part (at least the first five or six chapters), I kept putting real names to Parker's fictional characters.

Putting that aside, Parker has a good knowledge of gut politics in Michigan and, I rather suspect, in most heavily industrialized states. He also has a good grasp of how the behind-the-scenes power structure works, from the idealistic grass roots party worker, to the philosophical/pragmatic reform group which gathered the forces to elect the socialistic/realistic non-partisan professor of law to the gubernatorial chair.

I have personally experienced the fact that nobody knows what he is going to face when elected governor until he sits in that chair. He must face the realization that through the sometimes phony and restrictive legislative process and the tremendous forces of self-serving power sources, he cannot please ALL of the people of the state; nor all of the people who elected him; and, in fact, makes enemies of MOST of the people who elected him.

In addition, he ultimately loses those who were closest to him in his pre-political days and left the government after his demise. They left because he had been forced to abandon his and their high principles, when his predecessor, who had been building his own opposite philosophy, took over the gubernatorial chair.

Unfortunately, Parker's preface, in which he expresses the hope that "this is a work of fiction—prepared with the hope that its concept remains fiction," in just the year-and-a-half since he wrote "Inevitable" has, in reality, become an analogy of Alvin Toffler's "Future Shock."

It's here, it's happening, and it is indeed "Inevitable!"

An interesting, well written, well presented, well researched, knowledgeable, frighteningly factual book. Well worth reading, but of particular interest to quasi-informed politicians.

Sense And Nonsense

Local FISH volunteers are always eager to help people in emergency situations.

But one volunteer found out that people's definitions of an emergency vary.

She received a panicked call from a 10-year-old who said he couldn't go home with his report card, so she arranged to pick up the boy and took him home, where parents, son and the volunteer talked out the situation.

A new chance to revel

Fred DeJano writes

"Nice Guys Finish Last" is what baseball's famed Leo (The Lip) Durocher calls his book-form memoirs, to which I would like to append: So do those who drive only 55 on Michigan's holiday highways.

As you know, 55 miles per hour is the maximum allowed by law. You also know it is ignored by literally thousands upon thousands of motorists in the realization they can hedge an extra five miles per hour without being ticketed.

But then comes a holiday weekend, when traffic is just too massive to contain, and even 60 becomes an imaginative limit, abused far more often than it is observed.

The lead car in each lane sets the pace, and if it's somewhere in the mid-60s everyone following behind follows suit. Sure, slowdowns and jamups often occur, but as long as there is smooth sailing the heavy foot is the order of the day. Under those conditions it would take the entire state militia to enforce a 55- or even 60-mph speed limit uniformly.

What our 55-mph limit has done, however, is reduce the speed of the overall flow. Only rarely any more do we find a driver zinging along between 70 and 80, and he who does is writing his own invitation for trouble.

If you want an opinion, I think we all get where we're going almost as quickly as before—and undoubtedly with more of us still in one piece.

With typical derring-do, I sallied out on an east-west cross-state journey from Plymouth during the July Fourth weekend and, with Mother Goose handling the stopwatch, covered 282 miles in 310 minutes of actual driving time. That's five hours and 10 minutes.

Without a slide rule or calculator, I figure that to be moving forward 54.6 miles every 60 minutes against all sorts of traffic conditions. In an eight-hour day, plus time out for the necessities, it's a pace that would have carried me more than 430 miles, and that's quite far enough.

I'm also opting for the speed limit slowdown from the dizzying 80-and-better pace not only for proven safety reasons but for the fact that at this more leisurely jog one has a chance to revel in the verandcy of the glorious Michigan countryside.

Sweet corn knee-high by the Fourth of July? Why, man, in some of Michigan's lush acreage the corn already is thigh-high; and the waters of the Kalamazoo and the St. Joseph and our other rivers are sweet to glimpse; too, there is a remembered serenity to the villages when one leaves the highways in favor of the by-ways that take one through town as of yore.

One detail I can't explain: In all that exposure to highway roulette, we saw only six police cars. Four bore the fine, familiar markings of the Michigan State Police, out on patrol and just by their presence contributing to driver caution.

But the other two were brown, unmarked cars of no readily apparent jurisdiction whose officers had caught their victims on the sly a la the old speed trap caper. That stinks.

One band good for Plymouth

Editor:

In response to those persons who seem unhappy with the marching band at Plymouth Centennial Education Park, I would like to shed a different light to them.

Originally the school complex at Joy and Canton Center roads in Plymouth was meant to be one school with many buildings. Somehow things haven't turned out that way, and certain persons think two schools and maybe, someday, more than two, are better. Students use both buildings for classes so why not just one school with several buildings with different facilities?

Since two administrations run the schools, Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem have been made fierce rivals. The marching band is one of the few things that is keeping the two from each other's throats.

Look at what we've strived for and a few people want to throw it all down the drain. They don't know the reason that people aren't accepted into the band is because their musical ability couldn't keep up with the rest of us or, perhaps, they don't work at all and just want to ride along for the glory. A few years ago they couldn't get enough people to fill the uniforms!

You would think the Plymouth community would be proud of its musical program instead of trying to tear it apart. Be glad we have a teacher who is not only talented but interested in kids and helping them hours a week.

Suppose we did have two bands.

Coed sports a travesty

Editor:

Now the pagan intellects of HEW have committed another travesty against the people of these United States. By news reports their edict reads: "Under new federal anti-sex discrimination regulations, schools will have to integrate boys and girls in physical education classes except for rough contact sports." Such is HEW's sequel to Hitler's Youth Camps. The big difference, of course, is girls of today may take advantage of the technically developed pill. They will not have to bear cannon fodder for the next war or revolution.

I echo Patrick Buchanan's words on this matter: "That a Republican administration would be responsible for visiting such havoc upon the schools and colleges of this nation, is indefensible."

The sick pagan intellect of the news media and leadership of the Republican party are out of step with the

The students of the middle schools would have nothing to look up to and strive for. The standards would be lowered and the percentage of kids quitting would be so great the music program couldn't be continued. Can you imagine a 75-piece marching band? So many people already complain the pep bands are too small and that is about the size each of our marching bands would be if there were two!

Stop knocking down the good things and try to improve on the bad.

Care urged for pets

Editor:

There are still far too many unwanted animals being cruelly abandoned. If your pet has offspring you cannot find a home for, take them to the Michigan Humane Society. There is a branch in Westland. Or better yet, be kind, be responsible, have your cat spayed or neutered so that it will not have unwanted litters and small creatures, who if not wanted, will have to be put to sleep.

Kadish heads SC board

Paul Kadish, serving his second term on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees, was elected board chairman Monday at the trustees' organizational meeting.

Trustee-elect Mark McQuesten was seated as the eighth member of the board. McQuesten, an insurance office manager, defeated four other candidates in the June 9 election. Trustee Ronald Cowden, re-elected to a second term on the board, was absent.

Trustee Rosina Raymond was selected as vice chairman and Trustee Nancie Blatt was approved as treasurer. Dr. C. Nelson Grote, Schoolcraft president, was appointed board parliamentarian, and Clara Rousseau, an administrative assistant to Dr. Grote, was elected board secretary. Officers will serve a two-year term.

KADISH SUCCEEDS outgoing chairman John LaRue who recently moved to Seattle, Wash. Kadish was first elected to a two-year term in September 1971. He was re-elected to a six-year term in June 1973. Kadish was vice chairman of the board from June 1973 until his selection as chairman.

He holds a bachelor's degree in business administration from Wayne State University and is self-employed as a general insurance agent. He is president of the Associated Group Underwriters, Inc. Kadish and his wife, Estelle, and their three children live at 18687 Purlingbrook, Livonia.

MCQUESTEN, 25, of 15377 Garden, Livonia, is a graduate of Bentley High School and received an associate degree from Schoolcraft College in 1972. He is a member of the Livonia Youth Commission, director of the Optimist Club of Livonia, and served in advisory capacity to Schoolcraft presidents Dr. Eric J. Bradner and Dr. Grote.

Cowden, elected to a two-year term in June 1973, holds a bachelor's degree in business and education from Western Michigan University and a master's degree in education administration from Eastern Michigan University. He is assistant principal at Churchill High School in Livonia. He, his wife, Phyllis, and their three children live at 15577 Westbrook, Livonia.

MRS. RAYMOND, who was elected to a six-year term in September 1971, is presently a PhD candidate. She has bachelor's and master's degrees from Wayne State University and is a part-time speech instructor at WSU. She has served on the Livonia Library Commission since 1970 and was recently ly elected president of the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research.

She and her husband, Jerry, have lived in Livonia for 24 years.

Mrs. Blatt begins her second term as treasurer of the board. Elected to a six-year term on the board in June 1973, she also served an appointed term from January to June 1973.

She has bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Michigan and is employed as a manufacturer's representative at Stewart Oxygen Service in Detroit. The Blatts have three daughters and live in Livonia.

Dr. Grote replaces Cowden as board parliamentarian. Grote, Schoolcraft president since May 1971, previously was an academic dean at Morehead State University, Morehead, Ky.

Mrs. Rousseau has been secretary to the board of trustees since 1962.

IN OTHER ACTION trustees named Trustee Dr. Gerald Cox of Garden City as trustee director to the Michigan Community College Association. Mrs. Blatt was selected as alternate.

Dr. Cox, elected to a six-year term in June 1973 holds a PhD in education from the University of Michigan. He teaches at Kettering High School in Detroit. Dr. Cox is a governor of the Schoolcraft College Foundation. He and his wife, Madeline, have four children.

The Schoolcraft board will hold its next regular board meeting, Wednesday, July 23, at 8 p.m. in the board room.

Woman on the GO!

By MARGARET

"Women are their own worst enemies when it comes to looking for work."

"They want their dream job, five minutes from home and with time off to coincide with their husband's—everything on their side of the street."

"And when they go for a job interview, all they want to talk about is the fringe benefits they can get."

Sounds like the complaint of a male employer with lots of built-in prejudice, doesn't it?

But look again. The speaker is Charlotte Adams, a Westland resident who sees today's job market and its applicants from her desk at Career Personnel Services, a Redford Township employment agency.

MRS. ADAMS KNOWS a lot about getting job—she's had several in assorted fields. She knows the problems in today's employment picture—but sees opportunities there too. And, as an active member of Schoolcraft College's women's advisory committee, she has a strong interest in seeing her sex succeed in the working world.

But she feels there are a lot of misconceptions about how it can be done. Employers, she says, know the law prevents discrimination against women.

"They are more receptive to women," she went on. "They are going to equalize pay, and they are ready to hire women. In some cases they MUST hire a woman from an affirmative action standpoint, so they are actively looking for one who can fill the job."

"But I've been working with one employer in this position and I've sent him six women. Only one stayed. I can't help feeling some are testing to see if they can get a certain job and not really interested in keeping it up."

A REALISTIC APPROACH to the job market, an informed preparation for the job interview and some creative thinking about kinds of jobs are three of the things Charlotte Adams would recommend to those who want to see more women in the working world.

The matter of approach is partly the fault of high school and college counselors, she feels.

"They're coming out with degrees in English and psychology and ecology," she said. "Then then they go for a job and don't get it because they lack specific skills they say it's discrimination because they are women."

She also mentioned recent graduates, both men and women, who have degrees in "marketing" but turn down sales jobs, or the job-hunters who think it would be nice to work for Proctor & Gamble but don't want to visit grocery stores to sell.

"What do they think marketing means, and where do they think Proctor & Gamble sells its products?" she asked.

INTERVIEW PREPARATION is another matter in which job-hunting women could do a lot better, Mrs. Adams believes.

"When we send them on an interview, we try to get them to do some research on the company—a visit to the library would tell them a lot," she said.

"But many seem to feel it isn't important. And it doesn't impress a prospective employer when the applicant asks only about benefits."

And she said that married women with children should realize that the possibility of problems at home is a genuine liability to a prospective employer. "The economy today is such that he can pick and choose," she said, "and he may well pick an applicant likely to be called home because someone fell off a bike."

CREATIVITY in looking at the business world is the thing that could bring more women to a place in it, Mrs. Adams believes.

"Jobs for teachers are hard to find;

we all know that," she said. "But if I were a former teacher looking for a job I'd try to think how my skills could be used. Maybe by going to a lot of businesses and seeing if one would be interested in setting aside a room for a child care center for employees."

"For that matter, I think some of our colleges might be able to push establishment of such centers by offering to staff them with students. That might open the way for women with small children to work."

She also said women are "too much afraid of the typing pool" and less willing than men to take the job available with the hope that another within the firm will open.

"Sometimes if the front door isn't open, you can get in the back door," she said.

CHARLOTTE ADAMS trained originally in nursing but moved into the health services field.

Later she earned a master's in vocational education and worked for a time in the U.S. Office of Education, division of vocational education.

In 1964 she was married to Jon Adams, former dean of Schoolcraft College, who also was working with the federal office. When they came to this area, she was ready to return to the health field and work for Washtenaw Community College, but that changed when her husband was named to the Wayne County Community College administrative staff.

Handicap no problem for this athlete

By JIM BRADLEY

When a five-year-old boy suffers a massive stroke and is paralyzed on his entire right side, he can never expect to become a standout athlete—right?

Wrong!

At least in the case of Fred Bennett, a 17-year-old Garden City lad who has overcome just such adversity to become an accomplished tennis player.

The tall, blond Bennett, who graduated from Garden City West High School this month, fell and struck his head when he was just five years old. He was rushed to the hospital where a group of doctors couldn't agree what caused him to lose his balance and fall.

One doctor held that the child had a tumor on the brain while another disagreed, saying the boy had suffered a massive stroke, a rarity for a child so young.

SURGERY was performed and x-rays revealed it was indeed a massive stroke which caused the fall. Compounding the difficulty was the fact that medical books recorded only five cases of young children suffering massive strokes and little was known about the infliction. But despite this knowledge and the feeling of the doctor that there was no hope of Fred ever being normal, his mother never gave up hope.

"It irritated me when I was told he'd be little more than a vegetable," Mrs. Bennett recalled. "I was sure that things would work out although I knew there would be rough days ahead."

Fred's mother was right as IQ jumped 2. points while he was recovering that summer and he improved so much he was allowed to go into the first grade and did satisfactory work.

After about six months, he began to use his right arm and hand more and more. He was a little slow until the fifth grade and wasn't able to participate in sports.

Then in 1969, Fred's older brother, Jim, took a real interest in tennis at the University of Michigan and the entire Bennett family was introduced to the game.

That was a turning point in Fred's life.

HE PRACTICED by the hour, learning to throw the ball up and serve with the same hand. When he reached the 10th grade, he went out for the West High tennis team, but wasn't good enough to play in a varsity match.

He was sure he would start in his junior year, but several more good players turned out and he again rode the bench during every match. Time and again he approached tennis coach George Hanosh and asked if he'd ever get to play.

"I remember Fred coming home in tears, asking if he'd ever be good enough to start. I told him to keep on with his dedication and courage. He has been an inspiration to me and to the entire team with his perseverance and desire," Hanosh related.

Finally in his senior year Fred combined with Dave Majestic to form West's number two doubles team and the pair finished with a 13-5 overall record. And Bennett was already known around the Tri-River League when the season started.

"I DON'T KNOW how they knew about me, but they didn't let up in any of our matches," young Bennett said. He recalled how one incident showed the respect other teams and coaches had for him and his partner.

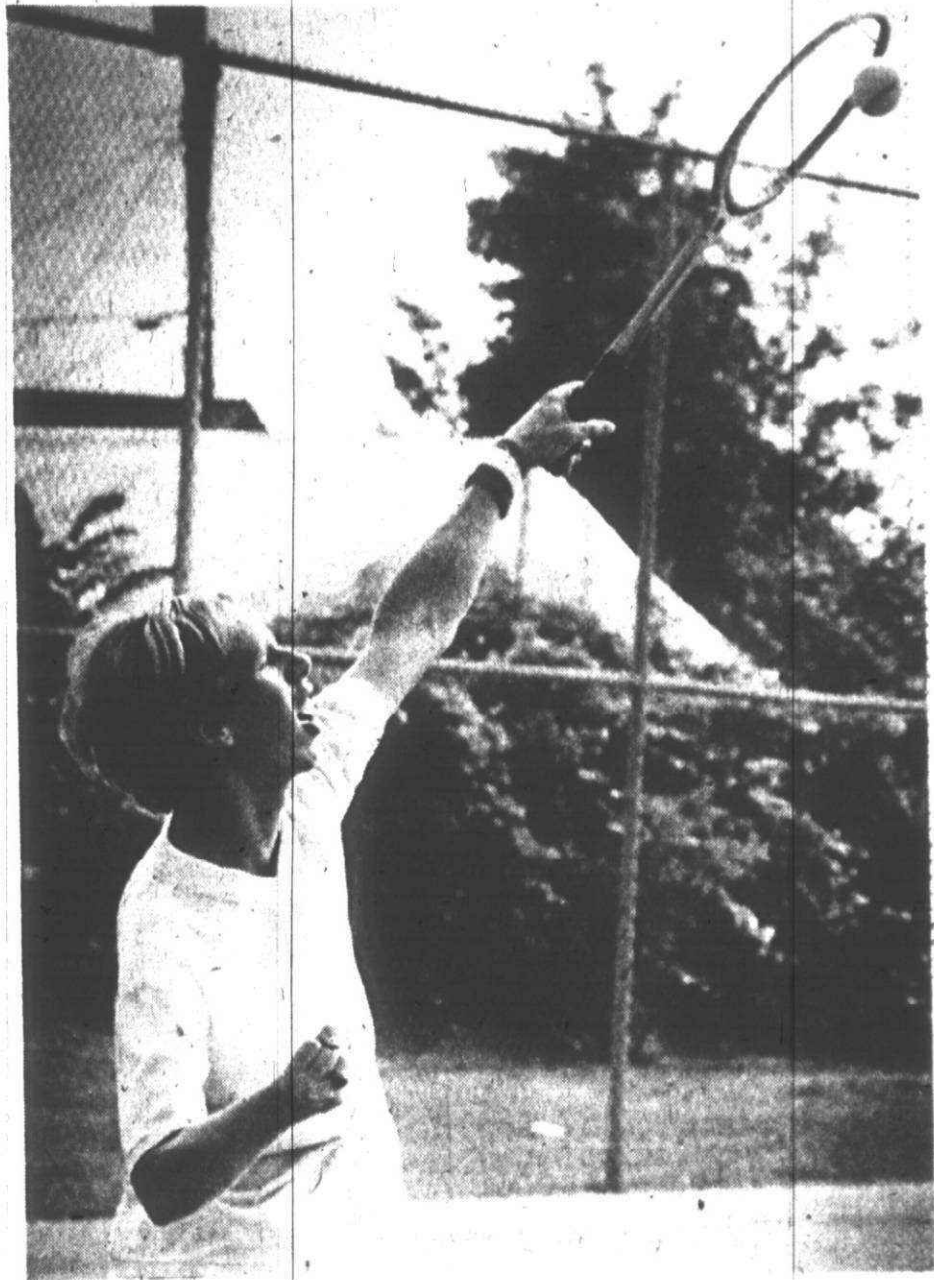

"We beat this one school's number two doubles team, 6-3, 6-3, the first time we played them. The second time against them, they paired their number one and three singles players as a team against us and my buddy Dave and I carried them to three sets before finally losing, 7-6," he recalled.

How did Bennett feel during those long two years of sitting on the bench and not playing?

"I knew I was going to play sooner or later. I had worked as hard as I could for years and I knew it would pay off — and it did."

Bennett's hard work and courage were recognized by many, many others at Garden City West's recent all-sports banquet. As the valiant youngster walked to the podium to receive the "most improved" player trophy on the championship tennis team, the assembled throng gave him the largest ovation of the evening.

A truly inspiring sight.

Mistakes hurt Livonia Adray stars;

Detroit takes annual contest, 9-4

The Livonia Adray League all-stars committed three errors in the first three innings and dropped a 9-4 decision in their annual clash with Detroit Adray League all-stars before an estimated 1,500 fans at Livonia's Ford Field Friday.

The loss put the Detroit stars ahead in the series 3-2.

Five Detroit hits coupled with the three Livonia errors and two walks in the first three frames sent Detroit to its second consecutive victory in the series.

After a scoreless first inning, Mike Parker singled to start action for Detroit in the second. Steve Morrison reached base on an error and Livonia starter and loser Bill Stennett of Royal Oak then walked two forcing in the first run of the game.

A fielder's choice then put the Detroit team up 2-0.

Redford's Kevin Bara came on for the Livonia League in the third but met with little defensive support.

Shortstop Gary D'Ascenzo started things by booting a grounder off the bat of Ted Mahan. Designated hitter Don Simenec then singled solidly to center.

Another Livonia error loaded the bases and Mike Parker of Detroit Adray Appliahee then delivered the big hit of the night, clearing the bases with a long triple to left-centerfield.

Parker scored his second run of the game moments later when Steve Morrison singled to right.

The Livonia all-stars got one run back in the bottom of the third when Keith Randazzo walked, Mike Cullen and D'Ascenzo singled to load the bases and Gary Simpson hit a sacrifice fly.

Bara and Kevin Smith held the Detroit stars in the fourth and fifth but Plymouth Bidwell's Mark Falvo was tagged for three runs by Detroit in the sixth.

A walk, a triple, two singles and a Livonia error accounted for the three runs which, for all practical purposes, wrapped up the contest for Detroit which took a 9-1 lead into the bottom of the inning.

The error marked the fourth time in the game that a Livonia miscue led to a Detroit run.

Livonia came back with three runs in the seventh.

Mark Yourchock started things with a homerun just inside the rightfield foul pole. After two walks, Chris Martucci hit a long single to center which scored two and closed out the scoring.

Warren Wallis, Tom Willette and Jamie Knapp shared the mound duties for Livonia in the final three innings.

Bob Welch of Detroit Adray Photo was the starter and winner for the Detroit team.

Area's top baseball fans

watch 5 games per week

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor

In the gray, indefinable world lying between the fan and the fanatic, there exists a group of people who enjoy sport for its intrinsic worth.

Two such people are Livonia residents Clyde and Nellie Wood.

On any given night they can be found along the outskirts of any of a number of area baseball parks, seated in their lawn chairs, rooting, as always, for their favorite team.

They are, without a doubt, the area's top amateur baseball fans.

"We manage to make it out five or six nights a week," said Clyde, who is an analyst at the Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn.

"I guess we're here because it's relaxing," he said.

THE WOODS' addiction to the sand-lots stems from their childhood days. Clyde Wood played sandlot ball before such formalized leagues as Adray and Berry came into existence. Nellie Wood admits to being a tomboy in her youth.

Their love for the summer game was passed on to their two sons. Gary Wood played 10 years ago at Cody High School in Detroit before moving on to Western Michigan University and Class D ball. Ken Wood was a 1973 graduate of Livonia Churchill, where he came under the tutelage of Charger coach Roger Frayer.

Still, the allegiances remain for the Woods'.

"Mostly, we watch Roger Frayer's Berry League team and the Livonia Griffin Adray team," said Mrs. Wood, who works as a cashier for United Wholesale Co.

The two are well aware that their particular affection for the game sets them apart from most of society.

"A lot of people wonder just what's the matter with us. But we do what we enjoy," said Clyde.

And while both will sit for hours, enjoying the company and the baseball of their favorite sandlot teams, neither gives great allegiance to professional baseball.

"I guess we'd just rather watch the kids. We've come to know a lot of fine people sitting out here," said Nellie.

Both approaching retirement age, the Woods will not suffer through the agony of boredom which so commonly afflicts the senior citizens of our society.

"Now, we wait for the summertime. It will be even better when we start to collect our rocking chair money," said Clyde.

Sandlot baseball, an American tradition, could have no better friends than Clyde and Nellie Wood.

Westland Legionnaires peak with 5-5 tie

By JIM BRADLEY

Westland All-Star Sport Shop played its best game of the season last week against league-leading Taylor but had to settle for a 5-5 tie when darkness halted the game after eight innings.

"Our bats finally came alive," explained Manager Don Wright "and we had a good chance to win it before the darkness set in."

On the other hand, Taylor almost won the game in the bottom of the sixth but had the winning run cut down at the plate.

The Taylor game was the only contest played by All-Star Sport Shop in the 16th District Legion league during the holiday week.

One game had to be forfeited due to a misunderstanding of the schedule and not enough players showed up. "It's a shame," fretted Wright, "to lose the game due to a schedule misunderstanding."

Also, Westland tangled with Melvindale in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader and "tangled" is just the appropriate word to use. With the visiting team leading, 3-0, in the second inning, a Melvindale runner went barging into second on a steal attempt. The rough play ignited an at-cation which emptied both benches and the game was called by the umpires who rescheduled it for a later date.

"I think the boys did a great job at Taylor," repeated Wright. "We took it to them and even had a 5-1 lead in the fourth before they rallied to tie it."

Taylor wasted no time in scoring, as lead-off batter Jeff Kenaga walked, stole second and scored on Phil Beyer's single.

Then came the highlight of Westland's legion season — a five-run inning sparked by five consecutive hits. Ron Reid opened the fourth with a single and Bob Zarb singled him to third. Reid continued home on an over-throw. Zarb took second on that errant throw and rode home on Gary Clark's one-baser. Jack McCaffrey continued the string with a safety and Clark and McCaffrey both tallied on Don Canfield's double.

Two outs interrupted the streak, but John Vincil got in the swing of things and drove home Canfield with a single.

Taylor tallied three in the bottom of the fourth and added one in the sixth to tie the score, 5-5. With speedy lead-off hitter Kenaga on third and one out, Taylor's Phil Beyer sent a medium-deep fly to right field. Kenaga took off for the plate after the catch and right fielder Greg Pitt gunned down the flying speedster with a perfect throw to catcher Ron Reid.

Good defense saved Westland again in the eighth. Lincoln opened the inning with a walk. Jay Freitag attempted to sacrifice him to second but a daring play by Westland pitcher Bob Vojtkofsky cut down the lead runner at second.

Catcher Mike Melcher, who usually plays outfield, threw out Freitag attempting to steal second and Vojtkofsky then struck out Taylor's leading hitter, Kenaga, to end the game.

Westland now sports a record of 4-9-2.

Redford, Westland split Adray pair

Redford Adray and Westland Burger King, both competing for post season playoff spots in the Livonia Adray League, split a double header Sunday with Redford taking the opener 4-2 and Westland winning the nightcap 4-3.

Kevin Bara struck out 10 and held the Westland club to three hits in the opening game.

Westland tallied first in that game when Bara walked the first two batters. Jojo Scarpace and Ken Robinson.

Following a sacrifice by Bob Ganzak, Jeff Hodgkins singled to left driving in one. Bara then struck out the next two batters to end the threat.

Bara did not allow a runner to reach second base until the seventh inning following the first inning outburst.

Redford took the lead for good in the fourth when John Broder singled and Mike Kalil's base hit to left was bobbled by Robinson and then thrown away by the Westland leftfielder as both Broder and Kalil tallied.

In the Redford sixth, two runs scored when Mark Yourchok tripled. Dan Burke doubled and Kalil singled.

Westland got one back in the seventh when Mark Walsh singled. Larry Clark reached base on an error and Scarpace hit an RBI single.

Bara bore down and struck out Robinson and Ganzak to end things, however.

In the second game it was Westland ace Rolland Morenci who stood out in the 4-3 Burger King victory.

Morenci advanced his record to 4-1 by three-hitting Redford.

Redford struck first with a pair of runs in the second inning.

Gary D'Ascenzo started the rally with a single and Morenci then walked Yourchok, Burke and Kalil to force in one. Bob Cross hit a sacrifice fly scoring the other Redford run.

Westland tied the game in the second.

With Steve Hodgkins aboard and two out, Robinson hit a towering home run on a 3-2 pitch to deep center-field to knot things.

Redford again took a lead in the third when Yourchok singled in Bara who had reached base on an error and moved up on Bob Wasilewski's sacrifice, but Westland again tied it in their half of the inning.

Jojo Scarpace connected for Westland's second home run of game, leading off that inning with a shot to left.

Westland won the game in the sixth. With Ray Ivy on the mound in relief of Bob Lewandowski, Ron Vanderlinden singled to start things.

He was erased on a fielder's choice off the bat of Steve Hodgkins. Consecutive singles by Larry Clark and Mark Walsh then scored the winning run.

Cross walked to start the seventh for Adray and was sacrificed to second. Bara and Wasilewski were then retired routinely to end the game.

Three take Mexico honors

Three members of the Wayne-Westland Spartan Wrestling Club took honors in the 1975 Wilfrido Massieu Invitational Wrestling Championships held last weekend at Mexico City.

Seven-year-old Victor Golden of Canton placed first in the 20 kilogram (44 pound) competition; David West of Wayne took second-place in the 23 kilogram (50 pound) class, and Tom Gibson of Westland finished fifth at 26 kilograms (57 pounds).

The three collected all 11 of Michigan's points in the state's ninth place finish in the international event limited to wrestlers under 16 years of age. Colorado won the competition with 66 points, and Mexico was second with 43.

Golden collected four points for finishing first in his category in which there were three other competitors. Golden pinned all three opponents.

West notched five points for his second in the 50 pound competition in which there were 14 competitors.

West had three pins to his credit and decided two other opponents before losing to Chance Deupree of Oklahoma in the final match.

Gibson picked up two points for placing fifth among 19 wrestlers at 57 pounds. Gibson had two pins and two decisions before losing to winner Mike Flores of Texas and runner-up Brent Fanrote of Indiana.

The Spartan Wrestling Club, which operates out of the Wayne-Westland YMCA, is open to wrestlers six years of age and older.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

This is a big week for the junior bowlers in the entire state. For the first time in history, Michigan will host the east central regional tournament sponsored by the National Bowling Council at Satellite Bowl.

This is the preliminary to the national championships due to be bowled later in the summer and is the outgrowth of the big junior affair bowled in other years in the nation's capital.

Eight states will be represented in the field of 32 juniors—divided into four classes for both boys and girls—when bowling starts next Friday afternoon.

Aside from Michigan, the states represented will be Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Ohio, Virginia, and West Virginia.

The championship round is set for Saturday afternoon and will be followed by the awards dinner and junior bowling ball at the Holiday Inn in Dearborn on Saturday night.

This is the most important of all junior events held in Michigan and marks another milestone in the history of the Michigan Youth Bowling Association.

HELEN CLARK'S long wait finally has paid dividends.

Several weeks ago she rolled a 1093 in the Fred Wolf Singles at Eastland Bowl—and it still was at the top of the list when the event closed Sunday night.

This is the major ladies singles in the state and drew 1,601 entries this year.

PROOF that the western Wayne County area is developing some of the better junior bowlers in the state was furnished during the past few weeks when Brian Gerovac, of Merri-Bowl, in Livonia, and Robert Labe, of Ark Lanes West in Southfield—finished 1-2 in the major boys division of the Michigan YBA championships.

Brian rolled games of 174, 194 and 208 to go with an 81 spot for a 657 series.

This gave him a lead of six pins over Labe who faltered in the final frames of the statewide competition.

RAY WILLIAMS—an auto salesman for Coons Bros. in Redford, still is collecting dividends for the perfect game he rolled in the team event of the ABC a year ago.

During the past week he was named captain of the All-City team by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

He collected 64 points in the grading system and had a big edge on all of his rivals. Points are awarded for high averages and showings in the major events during the season.

Behind him, in order, came Fred McClain with 40½ points; Dick Beattie with 36½; Dick Pokriefka and Mike Totsky each with 30½ points.

The second team included Chuck Sunseri, who will represent the United States in the international tournament in England next fall; Bob Chamberlain, Ted Bakatselos, Bob Hart, Mike Samardzija and Don Wray.

Those on the honorable mention list included Tom Vallone, Rocky Graziani, Tom McKay, secretary of the association, and Dennis Muller.

Many of these honorees are well known in the western suburbs as they bowl in the Westland Bowl Classic.

Three-mile feature highlights DRC finish

A three mile marathon race, which will put Detroit Race Course in the American record book no matter the time, and the $50,000 Michigan Futurity for 2-year-old Michigan-breds will highlight the close of DRC's thoroughbred racing season this Saturday and Sunday.

The big mile track in Livonia moves into an 83-night harness meeting, under the banner of Wolverine Raceway, the following Tuesday, July 15.

The unique three miler, to be raced Saturday for a purse of $5,000, culminates the season-long Detroit Distance Series. The American Racing Manual shows that there has never been a race at that precise distance over an American track; the world mark for three miles was set by Farragut at Agua Caliente, Mexico in 1941. The time of the race was 5:15 (five minutes, 15 seconds).

Popularity of DRC's marathon series was further shown last Saturday afternoon when the crowd of 12,433 wagered over $100,000 on a 2 1/2 mile event won by the 5-year-old gelding Wapping Street in 4:31.1.

The series began on March 15 at one mile with horses building up points according to their finish in the various stamina tests down through the DRC season. Trainers totaling the most points upon completion of the series will receive additional prize money.

GOING INTO the 3-mile finale Gus Lonski's 10-year-old gelding Bucket O'Suds and Virgil Waters' 4-year-old gelding Celestial Bay are only two points apart at the top of the pack.

The colorful Michigan Futurity, split into two divisions last year and won by Fickle Fate and Director B, annually brings together the outstanding 2-year-old thoroughbreds produced by Michigan nurseries. To be raced again at six furlongs, the Futurity will be the feature event on DRC's closing 10-race card Sunday.

The large list of home-bred eligibles indicates that the 19th running of Michigan's richest race for freshman thoroughbreds could very likely be another "split" field. The two divisions of 10 horses each were raced last year for $25,000 apiece.

Meanwhile, the jockey and trainer races at DRC have been all but officially settled. Cuban rider Ramon Perez, in a tight battle with Sam Maple three weeks back, continued to break that duel wide open Saturday with four victories. Through Sunday racing Perez had 93 wins, Maple 74.

The same was true in the trainer race with Detroit Jack Lester Foran in a three week hot streak that has pulled him ahead of the veteran Arkansan Robert L. Irwin, 41-28. Color television sets are awarded to the winners of the jockey and the trainer competition.

CUBAN-BORN Ramon Perez, 28, is almost certain to be crowned the new track jockey champion when Detroit Race Course closes its thoroughbred meeting Sunday. His four victories last Saturday virtually broke up what had been a tight battle with Sam Maple up until three weeks ago. Through Sunday racing, Perez had 93 victories, Maple 74.

On The Links

By Tom Schram

The results are in from Gary Widen-er's annual junior clinic tournament and driving and putting contests held at Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia, and they show age is no bar-rier in the sport.

Bob Rathbun of Livonia took top honors in the nine-hole tournament. The 14-year-old Livonia resident shot a fine 45 after completing the clinic to defeat runner-up Dave Spuller, a 12 year old Livonian, by six strokes.

Tom Katofiasc and George Jan-kowski each had 52 to tie for third.

Another Katofiasc, eight-year-old Mary, has a bright future ahead of her as she demonstrated by winning the girls putting competition and fin-ishing second in the driving contest.

Deon Roberts, 14, won the driving and finished second in the putting competition.

The boys' driving title went to Don Wohlverg in 12-and-over category while Rick Laburn, 11, took top honors at 11 and under and Mark Hay-osh, 10, finished second.

Ken Korzma took the boys' putting crown while eight-year-old Denny Archer finished second.

Thirty-five area youngsters took part in Whiteners annual program.

HOLES-IN-ONE have been up at several area courses and way down at others this year.

John Jawor, the professional at Brae-Burn Golf Course in Plymouth, reports that the 145-yard third hole has been taking a beating from local sharpshooters.

The latest to hit the mark on the hole was Harvey Brown of Ann Arbor who used a seven-iron to record his first ace ever. Brown shot 39 for nine holes.

Others to ace the hole this year in-clude Betty Dryden of Plymouth who used a five iron three weeks ago in the Wednesday Ladies League while shooting 47, Robert Burke of Ro-mulus, who used a nine-iron, and John Bies of Taylor who hit a six-iron.

In addition, Steve Ohotnicki of Yps-i-lanti and Ed Dybas of Garden City have recorded aces at the Plymouth course.

Ohotnicki aced the 205-yard 14th hole. He used a four-wood on the par-three hole to take the first ace of his career.

Dybas made the perfect connection on the 235-yard 11th hole at the Plymouth course. For the 52-year-old Dybas, it was his first hole-in-one in 35 years of golfing. Dybas used a three-wood.

Jawor reports that holes-in-one are up from anytime previously and cred-its the sad state of the economy for the increase.

"Anytime the economy is down, golf picks up," he said. "We have shown a marked increase in play, and our con-ditions are very good this year."

SUCH IS NOT the case at every area course, however.

Both Don Patterson at Idyl Wyld and Jack Nelson at Dun Rovin report that aces have been at a premium at their courses.

Nelson said that the lengths of the par-threes at the Plymouth course were part of the reason for the pauc-ity of holes-in-one. The four "short" holes at the course measure 190, 185, 185 and 180 yards.

"And the greens on the par threes are really small," said Nelson. Both Idyl Wyld and Dun Rovin have record-ed only two aces this year.

LIVONIAN ELAINE OSBORN, in her fourth year at the sport accom-plished what others who golf for a life-time fail to do. She picked up a hole-in-one at Whis pering Willows Golf Course Friday, aching the par three 18th hole with a three-wood in a round of 119.

CALIFORNIAN Kenneth Freeman came a long way to get his first hole-in-one ever. The 54-year-old aced the 162-yard second hole at Fox Hills Country Club in Salem Township Sun-day with a five-wood. The ace was the third of the year at Fox Hills.

BROOKLANE GOLF COURSE in Northville Township is seeking regis-trants for its fall women's league starting Sept. 10.

Area residents interested in the 9:30 a.m. weekday league should contact Ben Northrup at the course.

THERE'S SOME BIG tournament action coming up at Salem Hills Golf Course. The course will host the Womens' Metro Golf Association Medal Play Tournament on July 14 — 16 with all the top area women's golf-ers competing in the fairer sex's ver-sion of the publinx tournament.

Also on tap next month at Salem Hills is the qualifying round of the Michigan Open on Aug. 4. Salem Hills will be one of only two state courses qualifying golfers for the tournament, with Bedford Valley in Kalamazoo also doing honors.

WHEN IT COMES to knocking the ol' pill around Glenhurst Golf Course in Redford Township, few surpass township resident, Walter L. May. On Friday, June 30, May shot a 32-34—66 for the best round in memory on the par 70 course.

May, 46, who has been playing the game since he was 23, shot the round in the Glenhurst League. The course is no stranger to May who aced the par-three, 146-yard 17th hole in Oc-tober 1968. Completing the foursome who witnessed the round of were Tom Morrell of Farmington, and Jim Hatch and Tom Lehey of Redford Township.

"May qualified for the state publinx and he oad a previous best of 67 on this course. He's a fine golfer and this round was no fluke," said Glenhurst manager Larry Fortner.

Redford offers hockey school

Redford Arena will be the site of the annual Tom Swearingen hockey school beginning Aug. 14.

Further information may be obtain-ed from Redford Arena.

The two-week school, which is avail-able to area youngsters of all ages, has a tuition of $100.

Bill McKenzie of the Detroit Red Wings is the featured instructor at the school which teaches hockey funda-mentals and team play in six-hour daily sessions.

Account—the highest allowed by law on insured savings. And your savings at First Federal are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U.S. Government. So take a look at the chart here and think about your present savings account. If it doesn't measure up, bring it to us and let's talk about a year of greater interest for you.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts.

We can do more for you if you'll think First.

Plymouth diamondmen win three

Monday's 8-2 rout of Garden City's legion team was the highlight of Plymouth Merchants' three wins in five games this past week and gave Coach Fred Crissey great satisfaction and an 11-8-1 record.

"Whenever you beat a talented team like Garden City, you've done a good job," related the veteran baseball mentor after crafty Don Nalepka stifled the visitors on just two hits. "Don was superb in poise and when Martucci's three-run shot over the fence gave us a 7-2 margin in the fourth inning, things looked very bright."

Garden City, which defeated Crissey's crew the first time around, 6-5, jumped into a first-inning lead when shortstop Wally Krol singled. He took second on an errant throw, advanced to third on a bobbled bounce and tallied on Dan Haggard's long fly. After that, it was all Plymouth and Nalepka.

Plymouth retaliated in a hurry, dening the plate three times in the bottom of the first. Bob Ayotte walked when lefty Bob Hudson had trouble finding the plate with his fast ball. Kieth Randazzo doubled Ayotte home and subsequently tallied on Tom Close's line drive to the center fielder.

Mike Verduce singled through the box, stole second and sped home on Dave Pink's safety.

Gene Mastroeni, the fine hurler from Dearborn Heights Annapolis, started the second inning for Garden City and was also touched by wildness. He walked Ed Pariseau, wild-pitched him to second and threw out Nalepka while Pariseau gained third base. Ayotte's infield hopper scored Pariseau for a 4-1 lead.

Krol's double and Jeff Switzer's RBI single narrowed it to 4-2 in the third. But Garden City dug its own grave in the fourth. Pariseau took four wide ones and trotted to first. Mastroeni handled Nalepka's sacrifice bunt but his hurried throw pulled Krol off the bag at second. Then Chris Martucci measured the first pitch and sent it soaring over the left field fence for three instant runs and a 7-2 lead.

Heady baseball helped Plymouth score its final run. With two out, two strikes on the batter, Pink on third and Pariseau on first, the latter deliberately was picked off first. Pariseau danced back and forth in the run-down until Pink scored and then was tagged out.

PLYMOUTH — GROSSE ILE

The Merchants bombed the downriver team, 17-7, powered by Martucci, Close and Pink. Martucci clubbed a triple, double, single and drove in five runs. Pink had a double and triple, scored four runs and drove in two while Close's two singles scored two mates.

PLYMOUTH — SOUTHGATE

After Lincoln Park beat Plymouth, 6-3, in Sunday's first game, brilliant Bill DenHouter came back in the nightcap against Southgate and scattered four hits to claim a 4-1 decision. He was in control all the way, fanning eight and passing only two.

Plymouth's main artillery in the contest came in the three-run second inning when Ayotte drilled a two-run single and Pink singled Ayotte across.

Presbyterians to mark 140th year on Sunday

PLYMOUTH—On July 14, 1835, the Rev. Alexander M. McJunkin was assigned to the "mission field" in the Village of Plymouth and surrounding area, and for the first time, area Presbyterians had their own minister.

The 140th anniversary of that event will be observed by the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth Sunday, July 13 at a special 10 a.m. worship service followed by a lawn social.

The Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee, senior minister, and the Rev. Theodore Taylor II will be assisted in the service of communion and thanksgiving by Dr. Henry J. Walch and Mrs.

Elizabeth Mather. Dr. Walch was senior minister of the church from 1943 until his retirement in 1971. Mrs. Mather is the daughter of the Rev. Walter Nichol, minister from 1926 until his death in 1943.

THE FIRST gathering of Presbyterians in the Plymouth area was a group of 10 persons. They met at the home of Ira Bronson on the corner of what is now Penniman Avenue and Sheldon Road.

On Feb. 23, 1833, assisted by representatives of the Detroit Presbytery, they elected Bronson and James Prudy as elders.

For the next two years worshipers met in a log school house with no resident minister.

WITH THE ARRIVAL of Mr. McJunkin, at a salary of $200 a year, a constitution was drawn up and a board of trustees formed.

The "Meeting House" was a modest, white frame building on the corner of Adams and Church Street. Construction costs for the building were $386.62. When a new brick church was built in 1849, the old church was sold to the Baptists.

Over the years the new building was remodeled and added to, but in January 1936 it was completely destroyed by fire. The lectern and Bible were the only articles to escape the blaze and this fact was publicized in Ripley's "Believe it or Not" column.

The cornerstone for the present English Village Gothic structure was laid May 9, 1937, with the congregation and Rev. Nichol in attendance. A chapel and Christian education wing were added in 1955.

The church now has a membership of 1,200.

Over the 140 years of its existence the Presbyterian Church has been a vital force in the growth of the community. After Sunday's service, lawn social and historical exhibit, the congregation will participate in a canned goods collection. These will be contributed to an emergency food bank at St. Peter Claver Community House in Detroit.

Plymouth Township fire code requires smoke detectors

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP—All buildings except single-family structures in Plymouth Township are now required to have sufficient fire detecting devices to provide safety to persons and property.

The township's fire prevention code was amended by the board of trustees at its last meeting.

The code will require fire extinguishers and fire detecting devices in all educational, industrial, business, institutional and multifamily buildings, including residential buildings with two or more dwelling units.

Each dwelling unit within multifamily buildings must be provided a minimum of one smoke detector sensing device in a manner and location approved by the fire marshal.

Buildings constructed or issued permits for construction before Aug. 15, 1975 will be allowed one year from the effective date of the code change to comply.

The code change also requires an automatic sprinkler system for educational, industrial, business and storage occupancy as well as buildings with high hazard occupancy or basements having combustible storage.

The chief of the fire prevention bureau has been given authority to waive the sprinkler requirement if a sufficient heat and smoke detector system is installed.

The ordinance, because it's needed to preserve public health, will take effect beginning Aug. 15.

Most communities are now requiring smoke detectors in multifamily buildings and some, such as the City of Westland, now require smoke detectors for all new single-family houses.

Fife, Drum Corps sets busy schedule

Members of the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps and the Drum Band will march to a busy schedule the first half of July.

Corps members will stage a performance on July 17 in Kellogg Park for residents of the Plymouth-Canton area.

After today's (Thursday) march before President Gerald Ford at the Cherry Festival in Traverse City, band members will travel to Reed City for drill and competition events on Friday, July 11. Parades and competitions at Bridgeport and Chesaning will round out the weekend of July 12 and 13.

On July 16, corps members will play for the board of directors of the Detroit Music Hall for the Performing Arts and announce its bicentennial program for the coming year.

The Fife and Drum Corps and the Drum Band marched in parades in Plymouth, Northville and Belleville on the Fourth of July and captured a second-place trophy at the Northville parade.

"It proved the feeling that I'd always had. That I was saving money by going to Chatham."

Mrs. Sandra Kanerva, Beautician, Grosse Ile. Four in household. Average weekly food bill: $50-60.

Mrs. Kanerva took the Chatham Challenge. She did her weekly shopping at Chatham, then bought the same or comparable brands and items at a competitive market of her choice.

"I wasn't sure until I checked one item against the other and saw the actual outcome...I definitely noticed that Chatham was (lower) on quite a few of the name-brand items..."

By shopping at Chatham, Mrs. Kanerva saved on her weekly food bill. And confirmed the results of a recent 8-week price survey* sponsored by Chatham: Week in, week out, your total food bill should be less at Chatham.

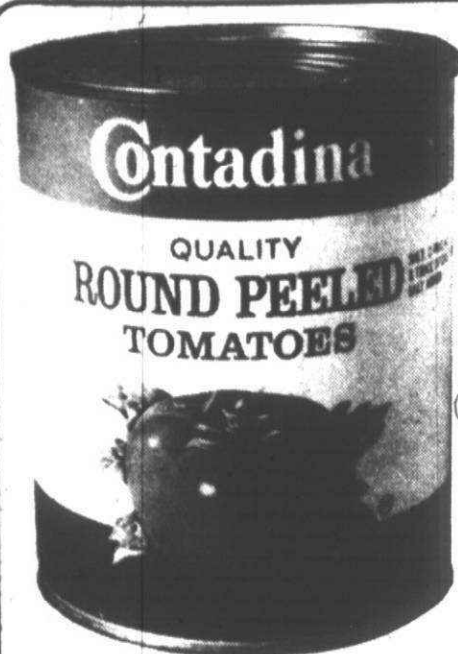

The experts* proved it. Housewives like Mrs. Kanerva proved it. Now it's your turn.

Women taking part in the Chatham Challenge were selected at random by National Marketing Surveys. These women provided their own shopping lists. Shopping done June 11 to 15, 1975. Testing supervised by National Marketing Surveys, 127 Townsend St., Midland, Michigan 48640.

Monkeyshines are a way of life

By SUE ROSIEK

Organ grinder Alberto Lanzoil has engaged in monkey business for more than 50 years and says every moment has been a labor of love.

One of the few remaining hurdy-gurdy men in the United States Lanzoil and his monkeys amused crowds of young and old alike with wonder and monkeyshines recently at Wonderland Center, in Livonia.

Lanzoil's appearance marked his return to the Detroit area after a 15-year absence. A veteran entertainer, he has performed at fairs, amusement parks and shopping malls, and also appeared on the Johnny Carson, Mike Douglas, Captain Kangaroo and Ed Sullivan TV shows.

He got started in the hurdy-gurdy business in his home town, East Youngstown, Ohio.

"AN ORGAN GRINDER came into my father's store and then suddenly had to return to Italy. He left his organ and monkey behind. Several months later, my father got a letter asking us to take good care of the monkey and make sure he was able to perform around people, or else he'd die of a broken heart.

"The fellow said the monkey is a natural clown, and he was right," said Lanzoil, glancing at a four-year-old Luigi, a South American ringtail, who was perched on his shoulder and playfully puffing a corn-cob pipe.

"My father wanted me to become a doctor, but I fell in love with the monkey."

LANZOIL, originally Al Seigle, changed his name because "everyone thinks organ grinders are Italian." I'm part Jewish and part Italian," adds Lanzoil.

He traced the hurdy-gurdy player back to George Washington's time.

"The organ grinder was a popular form of entertainment before television, radio and movies. In those days people depended on street singers, barbershop quartets and the hurdy-gurdy man accompanied by his monkey.

"The monkey could climb shutters and do tricks for shut-ins. He was rewarded for his antics with coins."

Lanzoil stopped using a tin cup to gather his pay years ago. Often times youngsters would steal the monkey's tin cup and Lanzoil's day's pay. He taught his monkeys to put their coins in their pockets.

"That way I was able to stay in the monkey business," laughs Lanzoil.

Lanzoil has six monkeys, two South American ringtails and three capuchins, and they do more than collect coins.

GEORGIE GIRL, a capuchin and Lanzoil's most talented performer can do more than 50 tricks, including brushing her teeth, (she once was in a toothpaste commercial), sweeps the floor, makes ice cream and churns butter.

"She's also very musical, but has to watch her sharps and flats," laughs her jolly mustachioed trainer.

The monkeys are dapperly attired in outfits made by Lanzoil's wife, Deana, who also helps train the group. Costumes are accented with hats, gloves, and other colorful accessories.

Besides entertaining with the monkeys, Lanzoil used his troupe to illustrate a lecture on animal psychology, which he gave recently at New York University. "Monkeys are very smart and have been the forerunner of humans in many experiments. For example space research.

"They are very clever and often make you show them how to do a trick more than 20 times before they will imitate it. It's not that they can't do it sooner, but they are laughing at you and saying, 'He's trying to make a monkey out of me'."

Lanzoil's monkey troupe has increased since he started entertaining, and so has his organ collection. He now owns three hurdy-gurdy antiques worth about $2,500 each. "At one time they sold for $60."

Lanzoil adds that life with monkeys has been nothing short of hilarious. It isn't constantly watched, they are into everything.

"ONE DAY I left the monkeys near several cans of beer. I returned home to find them popping the tops off the cans. Now they enjoy an occasional dinner of beer and spaghetti."

Their regular diet, he adds, consists of fruits, nuts and scrambled eggs."

Lanzoil and his friends will be at Wonderland through Friday, July 11 from 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 8. Wonderland is at Plymouth and Middle Belt roads.

Rug hooking exhibition July 12, 13

A traditional social gathering of the past is recreated as Greenfield Village presents its seventh annual open international rug hooking bee exhibition Saturday and Sunday, July 12 and 13. More than 60 skilled artisans from throughout the United States and Canada are expected to participate each day.

Just as their ancestors before them, costumed rug hookers will gather near the Village Green to work on their intricate designs and display their finished products. They'll be busy from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday demonstrating the techniques of this early art, answering questions, exchanging tips and comparing accomplishments.

Nearby, more than 80 finished pieces will be displayed. Before the exhibition, these pieces are judged on the basis of composition, and workmanship in nine categories: pictorial, geometric, floral and fruits, birds and animals, oriental, miscellaneous rugs, primitive (hand cut), miscellaneous small pictures and miscellaneous small pieces. Winners of the first, second and third place ribbons in each category plus the the winner for the best-in-show award will be announced Saturday.

To be eligible for competition, all articles must be made from materials cut into strips and hand-hooked in a manner similar to that commonly used in the 19th century. No items made by the more modern methods of latchet hook or punch needle are accepted.

Village admission is $2.75 for adults and $1.25 for children six through 12. Children under six are admitted free. In case of rain, the bee and exhibition will be held along the Street of Early American Shops in the adjacent Henry Ford Museum.

SC features French composers

The third program of Schoolcraft College's 1975 Summer Music Festival will be presented 8:30 p.m. Monday, July 14 in the liberal arts theater.

Violinist Meyer Shapiro, one of the new member of the summer music faculty, will open the program with "Five Dances" by Marin Marais, a baroque composer who wrote for the viola da gamba. His accompanist will be Allen Shaffer, assistant director for the summer music school.

Two of Claude Debussy's last compositions will be performed. Sonata No. 2 for flute, viola and harp, composed in 1915, will be played by faculty members Clement Barone, flute; David Ireland, viola; and guest harpist Elyze Yockey. Debra Fayrdian, also new to the faculty, will play sonata No. 1 for cello and piano. Her accompanist will be Tamara Najari.

Pianist Allen Shaffer and reciter Robert W. Jones, who is composer-in-residence at Schoolcraft, will perform Francis Poulenc's setting of Jean de Brunhoff's international children's favorite, "Story of Babar, the Elephant." This work, composed in 1940 and dedicated to the composer's cousins and friends, is a setting of the text that is to France what Winnie the Pooh is to England and Br'er Rabbit is to America.

Tickets, at $2 for adults and $1 for children, will be available at the door. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty Road, in Livonia.

YWCA hosted tour

Sponsor of the American Freedom Train tour reported in the Thursday, July 3, edition of the Observer & Eccentric was the Northwest Branch of the YWCA, 25940 Grand River, in Redford Township, not the YMCA.

Area musicians play Duns Scotus concert

Musicians from Livonia and Redford Township will perform in the Workshop in the Woods mid-season concert at 8:30 p.m. Friday at Duns Scotus College, Nine Mile and Evergreen roads, Southfield.

Violinists from Livonia are Susan Charney and Roseanne Kobylarz. Violist Gary Byrold lives in Redford Township.

Works by Bach, Beethoven, Haydn, Handel, Reicha, Barber and others will be presented in the Italian gothic chapel of the college. Sponsoring the seven-week workshop are Southfield Arts Council, City of Southfield Parks and Recreation Department and Michigan Council for the Arts.

Duns Scotus is the sponsoring host. Faculty includes Ray Benner, workshop director; Mal Kaufman, Joseph Striplin, Don Baker and Clement Barone.

Admission is a $1 donation to the scholarship fund.

Workshop in the Woods is the affiliate of the "Bach for a Buck" concerts presented during the Christmas holidays at Duns Scotus.

Market space is free to non-profit groups

Isabel Spigarelli, owner of Tri-City Flea Market in Canton Township, is offering free space to any non-profit organization that would like to sell its merchandise.

The market is on the corner of US 12 (Michigan Avenue) and Beck Road, one mile west of Canton Center-Belleville roads, and six miles west of Wayne Road.

"This is a good way for organizations to earn some extra money," says Mrs. Spigarelli, of Plymouth.

"Oddities, white elephants, and farm produce sell very well. I have reserved a portion for any non-profit group that wishes to use it."

"It is in the open so groups should be umbrellas or a canopy tent. They also should bring their own tables."

They don't have to let me know when they plan to come, there is lots of room and I can find space," she adds.

For advance reservations call Mrs. James Spigarelli, 1300 N. Beck Road, Plymouth, evenings.

Art exhibit

"Misty Watercolor Memories," a special exhibit of nostalgia in watercolors, will be on display July 11 through Aug. 9 in Old Village Gallery, 383 Starkweather, Plymouth.

Among the area watercolorist whose work will be featured are: Victoria Cox, of Troy, and Carol Dunphy, Johnnie Crosby, Carol Hutchins and Erick Caren, all of Plymouth.

Ethnic festivals via DOT shuttle

Enjoy Detroit's ethnic festival by riding the Detroit Department of Transportation shuttle to the new riverfront site.

The festival shuttle will run between Cadillac Square and the festival site now through Sept. 21. Air conditioned buses in bi-centennial red, white and blue run every 20 minutes. The fare is 15 cents and transfers are accepted. Riders can take a dot bus downtown and transfer to a shuttle.

The schedule from Cadillac Square is 6 to 11 p.m. Fridays, noon to 11 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. From the festival site, buses run from 6:10 to 11:10 p.m. on Fridays and from 12:10 to 11:00 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays.

Ethnic festival flyer service is for groups of 40 or more who meet at a pickup point within the Detroit city limits. Round trip fares are 60 cents, 75 cents or $1 per person, depending on the distance. Call the DOT between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday for complete schedule information.

DOT charter service is for groups outside the Detroit city limits. For information call DOT.

Dog show in Livonia

The Livonia Kennel Club, Inc. will host an all-breed dog show Sunday, Sept. 7, in the Detroit Race Course, Middle Belt and Schoolcraft roads, Livonia.

The show and obedience trial is open to all purebred dogs, six months and older, registered with the American Kennel Club or Canadian Kennel Club.

Dogs must be entered no later than Aug. 20. Entry blanks are available by writing or calling Moss Bow Dog Show Organization, 9999 Broadstreet, Detroit, 48204.

Potter helps others practice craft

By MARILYN FITCHETT

Potential potters unable to incur the cost or the mess of a potter's studio can turn to Bob Cox, who has given up a career as an insurance adjuster to open The Potter's Workshop in the Village Fashion Mall at Seven Mile and Merriman Roads in Livonia.

Cox was bitten by the potter's bug five years ago when he took a class.

"I was sort of intrigued with throwing pots," said Cox, a jolly, balding man. "But then I asked myself where do I go from here?"

"I saw a real need for a place where people could rent wheels. Aside from the cost of $400 for a wheel, a person needs a spot to put his studio, some place where they can make a mess."

But it wasn't until the passage of no fault auto insurance that Cox put his idea to work.

"The insurance business has changed since no fault went into effect," Cox said. "It used to be interesting to go out and investigate an accident. Now it's just filling out forms."

Before Cox opened his shop he did a bit of investigative work.

"I went to all the high schools in the area and talked to art teachers," Cox said. "They seemed concerned that after a student got out of the potter class, there was no place for him to go."

Cox is convinced that the upsurge in interest in pottery will continue.

"Pottery has yet to reach its peak," he said. "It is very popular in California which seems to be ahead of the rest of the country as far as popularity is concerned."

"And I think it ties in with people using their extra time for such leisure activities as sports."

Cox's instructor, David Semplici, added another reason for pottery's popularity.

"When you sit down at a potter's wheel, it's like getting back to nature," Semplici said. "It calms you down."

Cox believes that pottery is the craft for just about everyone.

"Anybody can throw a pot," he said. "It's just a matter of practice—that's all it is."

Cox presently has one class in session. He will start new classes as soon as he "can get 10 people together at the same time."

Adult class rates are $70 for a 30 hour course. At each three-hour session, students are promised two hours of wheel time. Students must pay for their own clay which can be purchased from Cox at $5 per 25 pounds. Cox estimated students would use 25 to 50 pounds of clay during the 10 weeks. Tools can be purchased for about $3.

Items made during class time are fired and glazed at no added cost.

Rental of potter's wheels for persons not interested in taking classes is $3 for the first hour, $2 for the second and $1 for each consecutive hour. Firing will cost 1/2 cent per cubic inch.

Cox is also interested in offering a class for children. Students would be charged $2 per session including one hour of wheel time and clay.

In addition to clay pieces made at the wheel, classes will learn hand-built slab work.

While Cox said he does not intend to turn his studio into a retail store, he is willing to let students show their work for sale at the studio.

Instructor Semplici is a ceramics major at Wayne State University who hopes to graduate in the fall.

Ramsden gets music award

George Ramsden, Ferris State College junior from Livonia, was voted musician of the year by members of the college band. This is the second consecutive year Ramsden has received the award.

The musician of the year award goes to a band member whose fellow members feel has demonstrated superior playing capabilities and overall general musicianship.

Ramsden, who is first chair trumpet for the college's concert band, also has been active in the stage and marching bands.

SC receives music grant

Schoolcraft College has received a $500 grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA).

The funds, which are being matched locally, will be used to help defray expenses of the school's summer music festival. The summer music program will provide high school students with a series of chamber music recitals in conjunction with the summer music school. The objective is to offer young musicians an opportunity to hear professional artists performing chamber music, thereby encouraging students to set new performance goals for themselves.

Funds for this project are part of a continuing community arts program sponsored by MCA, a state agency supported by the State Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts, and private contributions.

'He took my son's life—and I was there'

But out of one woman's prison experience may come new help for women at DeHoCo

By MARGARET MILLER

Parents Anonymous (PA), a nationwide organization that deals with the problem of child abuse, soon may have its second functioning prison program, in the Detroit House of Correction at Plymouth.

And if this help for parenting is established with a group there, a large measure of the credit will have to go to a woman who was able to turn her own tortured life around with the aid of the first PA prison group—in the California Institution for Women.

She is Betty Lansdown, who served a sentence on a child abuse conviction and then, coming out of prison, invested her energies in the PA movement to help others.

Ms. Lansdown went to DeHoCo, she said, "because I've offered to go into the prisons; there are women there who can be helped by this kind of group."

"WALKING IN HERE wasn't easy for me," she told about a score of inmates who gathered for her visit. "But I know you can relate to me; I've been there."

Also present were Jill Mauch, Plymouth resident and PA coordinator who offered her services in helping lead such a group, and Lucile Cantoni, director of family life education for Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County.

Mrs. Cantoni is co-chairperson of the board of Parents Anonymous in Michigan and in recent months conducted a demonstration project at the institution in cooperation with PA. With the inmates, all three discussed the need for such a group, how it could function and what kind of acceptance it could expect.

BUT IT WAS MS. LANSDOWN who gave to the gathering a unifying intensity.

She told her story carefully, movingly, pausing a couple of times to get hold of herself emotionally in the quiet prison hall. She served her sentence, she told the women, because the man she was living with "took the life of my son—and I was there."

But preceding that was a story of being sexually abused by her father, of feeling isolated from her family because she felt she had caused the trouble between her parents, of "finding an identity for the first time at the age of nine when another child called her a 'stupid, blundering idiot.'"

She said she fulfilled this identity by failing in school—"I even flunked seventh grade summer school." When she was 17, she said, she married—"he wasn't much of a man but I thought I didn't deserve anyone good"—and moved from her New York State home to California.

"I had three babies," she said, "and we were living in terrible conditions. I felt they did not deserve this, for they had not asked to be born, and certainly not to us."

She then managed a return to New York during a fourth pregnancy. She tried in vain to reestablish relations with her mother, brothers and sister, and finally went to live with a man who promised to adopt her children and finance a divorce.

"I was happy for two weeks," she said. But then abuses began, of her and of her children.

"I was a prisoner in that house, and so were my children," she said.

HER FIVE-YEAR-OLD son's death occurred, she said, after they had traveled to the Los Angeles area. "He knocked him to the floor and then stepped on him," she said.

"Why didn't I kill him? I've asked myself that many times. But I didn't know how to use a gun, and I knew he could use it on me and the other children, and I knew the Bible says 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

Later, she said, her common-law husband abandoned her small daughter on a highway between Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"I went along to see that she got out of the car alive, and I prayed someone would find her," this mother said. "And someone did." There was a long pause. "She was no stupid, blundering idiot."

SHE AND HER HUSBAND were arrested then, she said, and she told the police of his actions, although warned her involvement would put her in prison.

"I didn't care," she said. "I just wanted him where he could not harm my children or other children." He is now serving a life sentence.

The time in prison finally brought her help through the Parents Anonymous group, she said. Beginning to find some worth in herself, she completed high school in a single year and took some other courses, too.

By the time she was released, she said, "I knew I could look at myself as a whole person, able to give love, able to deal with guilt." And she took on a coordinator job with PA to try to bring this awareness to others.

SHE TOLD the prisoners she now devotes nearly all her time to her PA work.

"My children are not with me, although I have learned the older ones are interested in reestablishing contact with me."

"My relationships with my own family now are much better—by understanding myself I can understand them better, and I'm going from here to my brother's wedding."

"My mother asked once if I could forgive her. I told her there was nothing to forgive—that she was only repeating a pattern that had begun in her childhood."

IT IS THAT repetitive pattern, said Ms. Lansdown and Mrs. Mauch, that turns up so often in Parents Anonymous sessions.

"There are a lot of people who do not know how to be the kind of parents they want to be," Ms. Lansdown continued.

"A parent who has been hurt may then hurt his child, perhaps not with physical or sexual abuse, but in one of the other ways PA has recognized—physical neglect, emotional abuse, emotional deprivation or verbal assault."

"It comes out in other ways, and it just goes on and on until someone is able to stop it."

LUCILE CANTONI said efforts are being made to augment the PA organization in the Detroit metropolitan area, where there are more than 20 chapters.

Each has a professional sponsor, she said, but the main therapy is the assistance the parents give each other in regular meetings and being available for emergency calls.

"We do well in getting professional people to volunteer aid," she said, "but we still have a great need for drivers and people who will take care of the children during meetings."

Also needed, she emphasized, is someone who can take over the total organization of the growing movement.

A hoped-for DeHoCo chapter, as well as other groups in the area, would be helped by an appropriation from the Michigan Department of Social Services, now pending before the state legislature.

Teenagers learn about hair care at YW class

By SHERRY KAHAN

As everyone knows, hair is what makes the present era distinctive.

Knowing this, the Northwest YWCA in Redford Township recently offered its youthful female members a chance to learn how to care for this highly important item.

To a special class for teenagers sponsored by the Y this summer, staff member Barbara Radabaugh invited Angelo Evans of Angelo's Salon in Livonia. His topic was hair care. He was followed by a talk and demonstration by Sandy Kaeding of Mary Kay Cosmetics.

"It was very interesting," said Marlo Joy, a class member. "I learn how to take care of my hair without damaging it. Mr. Angelo told us not to use hair conditioner. It damages the hair in the long run. I didn't know that."

"He said a conditioner doesn't let the hair's real shine come through as the commercials say. It gives an oily shine that lasts only a couple of days."

WHEN IT CAME TIME to learn about cutting, Angelo did not present a mere lecture. He asked for a volunteer willing to have her hair cut and shaped, then and there.

His volunteer was Debbie Betham of Farmington.

"Debbie had her hair cut and shaped to make it short and wavy," observed Marlo. "Mr. Angelo blew it dry and it looked really nice."

Marlo noted the instructor took advantage of Debbie's naturally curly hair to bring out the waves, but said that style of cutting would not apply to her.

"I have long hair," she said. "But I think after the class, I could at least trim it."

THE CLASS taught Debbie what to do about greasy hair.

"He suggested using a mixture of water and the kind of reconstituted lemon juice that comes in a bottle," she recalled. "Put it on after the shampoo and it will remove grease."

Quite a few girlish giggles marked the hair cutting demonstration as Angelo told them stories of women who go to hairdressers asking for impossible hairdos. The hilarity increased as the girls laid their hands on the makeup brought by Mrs. Kaeding.

For the most part the girls had rarely tried makeup—they were mostly 12 and 13-year-olds plus a few elderly types like Debbie, 15.

"We were all looking at ourselves and each other and shouting, 'Oh, my God!' about how we looked," reported Marlo. "Everyone was cracking up."

Debbie was curious to see how she'd look in makeup. "Some was all right and some wasn't," she said philosophically. "But it was fun."

Other members of the class are Barb Gordon, Noreen Curran, Karen Brown, Laurie Timberlake, Glynis Glanville, Jean Dingeman, Maureen Marm, Sheila Turman, and Maureen and Mary Ann McClellan.

Rochelle Ryder wed in Angola

Rochelle Gayle Ryder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryder of Sheridan Street, Plymouth, became the bride of Kermit Edward Mann in a recent ceremony in the Church of Christ in Angola, Ind.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harley Mann of Angola and the late Mr. Mann. Ronald Walters officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white silk organza gown with venice lace trim. Matching lace trimmed her illusion veil, held by a camelot cap, and she carried white roses and daisies with peach carnations and baby's breath.

Susan Ryder of Plymouth was maid of honor for her sister and wore a peach voile gown with venice lace trim. The bridesmaids, Linda Robertson of Columbus, Ohio, and Sandi Ruberti of Mountaineer, N. J., wore print dresses with peach and turquoise flowers on a white background.

All wore white picture hats and carried peach and turquoise carnations with baby's breath.

James L. Fritz of Seymour, Ind., was best man and the ushers were Stephen E. McGrew of Seymour and David Mann of Angola, the bridegroom's brother.

The couple greeted 200 guests at a reception in Lake James Christian Assembly, Angola, before leaving on a Colorado honeymoon.

Both are employed by the school district of Seymour, Ind., the new Mrs. Mann as a music teacher and her husband as director of bands.

She is a graduate of the Indiana University school of music and his degree is from Butler University's Jordon college of music.

The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Garden City West High School and her fiancé graduated from Plymouth High School in 1969. Both are employed by the Ford Motor Co. at its Wayne assembly plant. They plan to be married Sept. 27.

New voices

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hall of Syracuse, N.Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Wendy Elizabeth, on July 2. Mrs. Hall is the former Julie Lent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Lent of Plymouth.

Powell makes dean's list

PLYMOUTH—Pamela Anne Powell has been named to the dean's list for the spring quarter at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Castiles wed 50 years

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Castile of Plymouth celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at an open house recently in the Farmington Community Center.

The party was given by their three children, Don Castile of California, Bill Castile of Birmingham and Mrs. Marilyn Brown of Farmington Hills.

The flowers worn by Mrs. Castile at the event were the same kinds that were in her wedding bouquet.

The Castiles have lived in Plymouth six years. They have five grandchildren.

TWO MEMBERS of a young dance line who helped bring home a first place award are Jackie Pestá (left) and Tracey Mirti. Jackie is an 11-year-old Livonia resident and Tracey, 10, lives in Westland.

Young dancers honored

A 19-member dance line of 8 to 11-year-olds who study in Redford has won the Dance Masters' first place award for precision dancing. The youngsters study under Sheryl Sulek, a Southfield resident who has had winning chorus lines come from her studio for the past six years.

"This was the first year we've had a competition for the pre-junior (8-11 year old) groups and as I saw them (the youngsters) progress, I was afraid we were all getting over confident and that was going to defeat us," she said.

"But I just knew they were going to walk away with it and they did. They outscored all of the senior, junior and pre-junior groups in the entire competition."

DANCE MASTERS of Michigan, Inc. works toward upgrading the profession of the dance teacher with certifications granted to those who adhere to standards set by the national association.

Competitions in various areas for students are held annually.

The youngsters who study at Sheryl's Dance Studio on Six Mile Road in Redford took their first place award with a dance called "Hootenanny," which "calls for high precision in tap but has a little acrobatics it to give it a little spice," Mrs. Sulek said.

ALONG WITH a trophy and the title, the young dancers won a chance to go into national competition but were defaulted because of their average age.

"Dance Masters provides workshops for the students along with the national competition," Mrs. Sulek explained, "and my students were just too young to cope with what would be asked of them."

"But they are already talking about next year. They are sure they'll win again next year some of them are suggesting money-making projects so we can hire a bus to Washington D.C. where the nationals will be held a year from now."

Almost simultaneously with the state award, the dance line members went into another competition and won an audition that will put them on the bill with headliner Donald O'Connor when he appears on the Chesaning Showboat this summer. The young dance line is scheduled to appear there on Friday, July 18.

Of that event, Mrs. Sulek said, "That name didn't mean much to the kids but the mothers are sure excited about it."

SC women's center has new summer hours

The women's resource center at Schoolcraft College of Livonia, will have new hours for the month of July. Located in the Bradner Library, the center will be open Mondays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

The center provides women on campus and in the community with information, referrals, counseling and programs on education, employment, volunteer work, family living, community services, personal growth and women's changing roles and alternatives.

WSU sets two workshops

Wayne State University's answer for the woman who wants to step off the treadmill and think about setting realistic goals is a pair of summer workshops to be held in July and August.

Sponsored by the College of Life-Long Learning, they will be held in the WSU Southfield Center, 25610 W. Eleven Mile.

Titled "What about Me: A Weekend for You," the workshop from July 25 - 27 will try to combat self-defeatist attitudes and clarify everyday values.

In "Problems of Daily Living," the participants will sharpen communication skills through classroom exercises, movies and group interaction. This workshop will take place Aug. 16-17.

New songbook ready for VBS at St. Matthew

A new book of songs, compiled with plenty of suggestions from children in the church school of St. Matthew Lutheran Church of Westland, will make its debut in the church's vacation Bible school July 14 to 18.

The book was put together by Mrs. Judy Hackerd, who is serving as superintendent for this year's VBS program.

It includes favorite action songs, folk tunes and gospel hymns.

"I fixed up the book because I want to keep everybody singing," Mrs. Hackerd said.

"Jesus Touch Me" is the theme of the Bible school program, which will be run from 9:30 a.m. to noon for children aged four through sixth grade.

The lessons, Mrs. Hackerd said, include stories of Zacchaeus, Matthew, Stephen and others whose lives were touched by Jesus. Activities will include Bible study, chapel, music, art, recreation and refreshments.

A program for parents is planned Thursday, July 17 at 7:30 p.m.

The offering collected at that time will be donated to the Lutheran Bible Translators organization, which numbers among its mission workers Mr. and Mrs. Mike Naruta, now serving in Africa.

Working with Mrs. Hackerd as Bible school teachers are Jan Babler, nursery; Joanne Heinert, kindergarten; Clarice Howard, primary department; Marilyn Barikmo, middle department and Marie Smith, junior department.

St. Matthew Church is at 5885 Venoy, north of Ford, and all children in the area are welcome to attend the Bible school week.

CHURCH BULLETIN

MEMORIAL CHURCH OF CHRIST, 35475 Five Mile, Livonia, will present Ron and Haven Howard of Kempton, Ind., in an evangelical concert Sunday, July 13, at 6:30 p.m.

The Howards are fulltime music evangelists who have appeared for conventions, churches, colleges and on radio and television. No admission will be charged for their concert here.

RON AND HAVEN HOWARD Singing at Memorial

HOSANNA TABOR LUTHERAN CHURCH, 9600 Laverne, Redford Township, plans its vacation Bible school Monday through Friday for the two weeks beginning July 14.

Classes for children from three years of age through sixth grade will be each day from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. The church is between Beech Daly and Inkster just north of West Chicago.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 17000 Farmington Road, Li-vonnia, will present Mrs. Georgalyn Wilkinson, missionary to Japan under the Far East Broadcasting Co., as guest speaker for its 7 p.m. vesper service Sunday, July 13.

Pianist Brian Jones will perform a mini-concert for the service.

GARDEN CITY CHURCH OF CHRIST, 1657 Middle Belt, plans a five-day vacation Bible school July 14 to 18 for all persons from the age of two to adult.

Classes will run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

The church's minister, Hobart Ashby, will lead the adult class, based on the book of James, and the children's classes will be based on the theme "Love is the Way." Free bus transportation can be arranged by calling the church office.

Home society elects officers

Four directors, three trustees and a board secretary were elected at a recent meeting of the Methodist Children's Home Society, Redford Township.

Chosen as directors were Mrs. Kathryn Briggs, a teacher consultant for the handicapped in the Farmington School district, and Mrs. Frances Tyler, a social worker in the Inkster school district.

Other directors are Dr. Thomas Clark, organist for the First United Methodist Church of Dearborn and Lawrence Dailey of Bloomfield Hills, who is in the construction business.

Mrs. Joan Guregian of Redford Township is the new secretary. She is currently serving as president of the League of Children's Friends, the volunteer women's group assisting the staffs of Children's Village and the Methodist Children's Home Society.

Re-elected to positions held last year are Richard McManus of Orchard Lake, president; and Dr. William Mercer, pastor of Nardin Park United Methodist Church, Farmington, first vice president.

Robert C. Juhnke of Farmington is second vice president and Arnold R. Elmy of Livonia is treasurer.

Newly elected to the society's board of trustees are Mrs. Freda M. Conkright of Detroit, Edgar C. Thorne of Birmingham and Byron D. Walter of Farmington.

Catholic alumni club meets

The Catholic Alumni Club of Detroit will hold its next meeting at 8 p.m., Wednesday, July 16 in the Mercy College Conference Center, Southfield Freeway and West Outer Drive. Refreshments will be served.

REV. WILLIAM STAHL

The Rev. William Stahl of Hatboro, Pa., is the new senior pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth, 45000 N. Territorial.

He assumed his duties July 6. In the senior ministry, he succeeds the Rev. Paul Thompson, whose pastorate included the church's move from Mill Street to its present site.

Rev. Stahl, who likes to be called Pastor Bill, served congregations in six churches in New York and Pennsylvania before being called to the Plymouth church.

He also has been a leader in the Philadelphia Baptist Association, the American Baptist Churches of Pennsylvania and Delaware and the American Baptist Church's national ministers' council.

Ordained by the American Baptist Churches in 1956, he holds degrees from Barrington College, the University of New York and Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Philadelphia.

REV. GEORGE H. KILBOURN

Rev. Kilbourn of Lola Valley is ordained

The Rev. George H. Kilbourn, minister of Lola Valley United Methodist Church, was ordained a deacon in services at the Detroit Conference of the UMC in Adrian recently.

He has been serving the local congregation for a year. The ordination services were conducted by Bishop Dwight E. Loder, resident bishop of the Michigan area of the UMC.

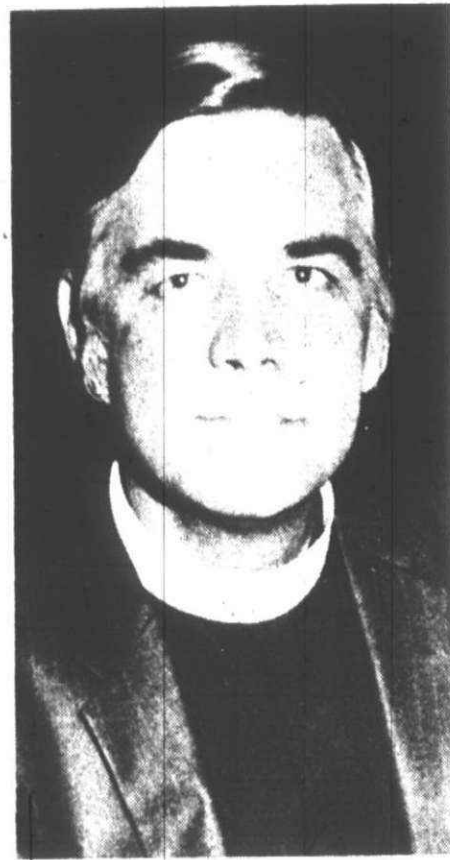

Rev. Kilbourn was employed for 25 years by the Buick division of General Motors Corp. in Flint.

He began serving a Methodist church in that area as a lay pastor while working for Buick, and after retirement began full-time service in the ministry.

In 1974, he received a BA degree from the University of Michigan-Flint and a certificate for completion of the UMC lay pastor's course of study.

He and his wife, Minnie, have six children, 12 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Rev. Wolfe elected to district office

REV. WILLIAM D. WOLFE

The Rev. William D. Wolfe, former pastor of Sword of the Spirit Lutheran Church in Livonia, now is vice president of the Michigan District of the American Lutheran Church.

Now pastor of Zion Lutheran Church in Waterville, was elected to the post during a recent annual convention on the campus of Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo.

Rev. Wolfe defeated the incumbent, who was eligible for reelection. Two other candidates had been eliminated on an earlier ballot.

In his new position, which carries no salary, he will serve where requested by Dr. Robert L. Wietelmann of Detroit, president and bishop of the district.

His constitutional duties include serving on the ALC's 25-member district council and its seven-member district executive committee.

Before his election, Rev. Wolfe served as a member of the district worship workshop task force, the district united mission appeal priorities committee and the 1975 district convention planning group.

win 2 free tiger baseball tickets

You can win 2 FREE RESERVED SEAT TICKETS to an upcoming DETROIT TIGER BASEBALL GAME through the Observer & Eccentric Classified Section. 10 pairs of tickets will be offered each week . . . 5 on Monday and 5 on Thursday. Here's all you have to do: send us a post card with your name and address, including your zip code, to "Tiger Baseball", The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, Michigan 48150. (Or you may hand deliver your post card to any of the Observer & Eccentric offices.)

Then, when your name appears in our Classified Section as a ticket winner, call the Promotion Dept. at 261-8600, ext. 209. Your free tickets will be sent through the mail well in advance of the game. (No substitutions of game dates unless rained out.) But you must call by 5 p.m. Tuesday if your name appears in Monday's newspaper, or by 5 p.m. Friday if your name appears in Thursday's newspaper, to claim your tickets.

Everyone is eligible. Just send in your name and address and start looking for them in the Classified Section of your Observer & Eccentric. (Copies will be available at our offices for the public to look through.) Enter as many times as you wish.
