How freeway is time-saver

By W. W. EDGAR

The latest link in the massive state freeway system (I-275) that opened to the public recently is serving a two-fold purpose for area residents.

It not only is providing a quicker way to reach Ford Road and such shopping areas as K-Mart and Meijers, but it is also giving the travelers a new look at the landscape.

Until now, the traveled thoroughfares of Lilley, Sheldon and Newburgh were heavily laden with traffic and the motorist had to be on the alert every second.

The new concrete ribbon now cuts through some of the surviving country and is a beautiful sight to behold these summer days. It is a view that few persons ever have seen until now.

THE HIGHWAY, which eventually will run from Monroe to I-96 north of Farmington, offers a shorter route to Lansing.

At present the traveler enroute to Lansing is asked to drive north on Sheldon Road, then join Novi Road to reach I-96. This is time consuming and means an early start.

With the opening of I-275 the freeway can be reached at Schoolcraft and Haggerty, and then offers a straight shot at I-96. It is time saving for those seeking a meeting with their legislators.

The short stretch which is now open has already been used by southern Canton Township and Westland residents as a quick route to Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Livonia or Northville by avoiding the stops and traffic pile-ups on Lilley, Sheldon and Newburgh Roads.

Those Plymouth residents living east of Starkweather or Mill Street, or residents of northwest Livonia, will find the new I-275 a godsend as it gives them the best time saving device they've had in years.

WHILE TRAFFIC thus far hasn't been heavy, the new freeway will be under the jurisdiction of the Michigan State police.

"We always have jurisdiction in the townships," the top traffic officer stated, "and in the city when we must pass through it to get to the township. Thus far, however, I-275 hasn't had enough traffic to warrant a patrol. But this may change when more residents are informed of the time saving."

For those interested in getting to such places as K-Mart and Meijers, it required only five minutes to travel from Ann Arbor Road to Ford Road and it is only two miles from the freeway to the shopping centers.

Coming north on Sheldon Road (the old way) required twice the time. While this is only a matter of minutes the trips to Lansing or Toledo will be reduced considerably, and be a real time saver.

The entire route of I-275 is expected to be completed in little more than a year.

Board to consider moving trailer club to high school site

The Plymouth Board of Education is expected to act on an administration proposal tonight (Monday) to locate the Michigan Travel Trailer Club at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) during the Plymouth Fall Festival.

The CEP location is being advised in lieu of using East Middle School because of objections raised the past couple months by parents and neighbors.

The school board meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in Plymouth Canton High Cafeteria, 8415 Canton Center Road.

THE BOARD is expected to take formal action to deny a proposed exchange of property with developer Loren Gould and to approve a revised offer to exchange parcels.

The exchange will be at the district's Amherst site, which is elementary school site number three.

The board will also open and award bids for a $5.6 million tax anticipation note to meet operating obligations until tax revenues are collected.

It will also award bids for flooring at East Middle School and for carpeting at Smith Elementary.

THE FIRST half hour of the meeting will be devoted to hearing comments from residents.

The business portion of the meeting will begin at 8 p.m. with administrative reports, followed by old and new business and policies.

The format was agreed upon following the board's recent organizational meeting. During the coming year, the board will hold regular meetings on the first, second and fourth Mondays beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Canton High Cafeteria.

The board may discuss tonight the proposals for music programs at the CEP, the current status of the CEP, and basic design concepts of the Canton High addition.

A status report on new construction will be given, plus an attendance report which projects a student enrollment loss of about 110 students for this coming school year.

James Isbister nominated for high HEW position

James D. Isbister is being nominated by President Ford to head the Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health Administration (ADAMHA).

Isbister, 39, is the son of the former superintendent of Plymouth Community School District—Russell Isbister. His mother still lives in Plymouth, where the younger Isbister was raised since about age 10.

Ford announced the nomination in July. Isbister's name will now be forwarded to Capitol Hill where Senate confirmation is required.

ISBISTER will become one of the youngest persons to head up a key agency in Washington.

The ADAMHA, the newest agency in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's (HEW) public health service, is the umbrella agency of three institutions—the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, the National Institute on Drug Abuse, and the National Institute of Mental Health.

Isbister, now married with two children and living in Potomac, graduated in 1958 with distinction and honors from University of Michigan with a BA degree. He did graduate work at Princeton University and earned his MA in 1966 from George Washington University.

He spent 1960-61 as a management intern with the National Institutes of Health, was in the Air Force a year, and spent the following year as a management analyst with the NIH.

From 1963-65 he was an assistant to the Assistant Secretary for Administration for HEW. The next two years Isbister was executive officer of the National Library of Medicine and from '67-70 was executive officer for the National Institute of Mental Health.

Isbister served as deputy director of the NIMH from 1970-73 and the next year was a visiting scholar at the London School of Economics.

He has spent the past year as acting administrator of ADAMHA.

WHILE IN WASHINGTON, Isbister has received a superior service and a distinguished service award from HEW.

Other honors include a meritorious award for exemplary achievement in public administration from the William A. Jump Foundation.

He was a national Woodrow Wilson Fellow, earned the Oregon Scott prize, received a leadership award from Kappa Sigma, and scholarships from University of Michigan, alumni honor award, Ethyl Kilham modern language, and from George Washington University.

WHILE ATTENDING Plymouth High, Isbister was quite active in speech and debate.

In those years, Carvel Bentley was principal of Plymouth High School.

Carl Kranish, one of his high school instructors, recalls: "He was president of his class and an excellent student—able and capable."

"He was an outstanding young man and I'm sure he is very deserving of the appointment."

The ADAMHA administers federal programs to prevent, control and treat alcohol abuse and alcoholism, drug abuse, mental and emotional illness.

Its missions are accomplished mainly through grants and contracts for research investigations, training projects, and delivery of treatment services to people through community-based centers and programs. ADAMHA also conducts clinical and biochemical research in its own laboratory.

Residents remembering Isbister may send congratulatory messages to him at the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Public Health Service, Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20852.

Cantonites to ask for fire millage

A petition drive is being organized in Canton Township for a millage election to raise revenue for fire protection.

Initial purpose of the tax is to finance construction of a second township fire station near Warren and Haggert Roads. The tax would also pay for personnel and equipment for the new station.

Another use of the tax, however, will be to purchase land now for additional fire stations that will be needed in the future.

THE PETITION drive is being organized by a newly-formed group of township residents led by Bruce Young and Betty Hamann.

The group is presently faced with two immediate decisions—whether to seek a special election and whether to organize a formal or informal petition effort.

If a special election is decided upon, the petition must be formal with only signatures of registered voters allowed. For a formal petition, a percentage of voters cast in the last gubernatorial election is required and Mrs. Hamann estimates this minimum will be 650-700 signatures.

The committee, also organized to function as a civic watchdog on township government, will seek voter approval of two mills for three years which would then be lowered to one mill for the seven years.

It would amount to a tax of $21.60 per mill per year on a $40,000 house, says Mrs. Hamann, or $43.20 for the two mills.

"WE ARE CONCERNED about fire protection in the township," she says. "Now the entire area is served by just the one."

"The advantage to a special election is that we could get the second station operating that much quicker. If the election were held today and the millage approved by voters, the township could begin building the station in anticipation of the tax revenue to come."

"Building and financing costs are going up by one per cent a month so the sooner we can begin construction, the less expensive the fire station will be and it will be that much quicker that we can get the service that is so badly needed."

"Besides fire protection, an important need now is the rescue run. This year about 60 per cent of the fire department's total calls were for rescue runs—many for the Royal Holiday Park mobile home park on Warren Road near the site for the second fire department."

The second station would also serve Holiday Park, Windsor Park, Pickwick Village, Carriage Hills and Nottingham Forest subdivisions and Plymouth Landing condominiums in what has developed into Canton's most densely populated area.

At the July 26 meeting, representatives were present from Holiday Park, Windsor Park, Pickwick Village and Plymouth Landing. Nottingham Forest was unable to attend but a representative has said the association will work for the millage petition drive, says Mrs. Hamann.

Getting to Holiday Park and the nearby subdivisions has been a problem for the fire department because railroad tracks at Joy Road often require a detour to Ann Arbor Road. Under ideal conditions, it takes nine minutes for a run from the fire station to Holiday Park.

THE AREA will also experience growth in the near future with the proposed Mocerri subdivision and commercial buildings at the Joy and Sheldon intersection.

"The fire station is not something you can vote 'no' on that's it," says Mrs. Hamann. "The need will still exist and the more you put it off the more expensive it will be. The fire station isn't a question of 'if' but 'when'."

The petitions are presently being drawn up and the group will reassemble in about a week to decide whether a special election and referendum drive will be the strategy, or if the millage will be petitioned for and placed on the ballot in the next regularly scheduled election.

The next regularly scheduled election in Canton is the May 1976 presidential preference primary. If a special election is called, says Clerk John Flodin, it would cost the township between $3-$5,000.

Flodin said he has asked for an opinion from the Wayne County Clerk's office but he is not aware of any statutory requirement for a fixed number of petition signatures based on a gubernatorial election.

The citizens committee is now working to prepare for an Aug. 13 meeting to be open to the public. It will be held in Plymouth Canton High.

Canton students find new faith in America

By W.W. EDGAR

"I only wish my vocabulary was large enough to describe my feelings."

This was the reaction of Fonda Markiewicz, 17-year-old Canton High student, upon her return from a visit to Caracas, Venezuela, where she spent the past year as an exchange student.

Sitting on the porch of her parents home at 1043 Lotz, Canton Township, she told of her pleasant experiences and vowed that the memory of her trip will live with her forever.

FONDA MARKIEWICZ

"I was impressed with the studies, but I am more of a peoples' person. And when I saw the way in which the people down there live, and the affection they have for each other, it made me develop more respect for my own country."

BEFORE SHE made the trip Fonda confided that she had lost a lot of faith in America—with the system, the government and even some of the people.

"But when I saw the respect the people down there have for America I made up my mind that I had been wrong. And even in the few days I have been home I already see a great difference."

Her trip to Caracas came about in a most unusual manner. Several years ago she took a student trip to Spain during Easter vacation and took a liking to the Spanish people.

"When I returned I was told that there was a foreign exchange program for students, and I applied for a trip to Caracas, where I would be visiting with Spanish people."

Her application was accepted and she left Canton last August 1.

"It was the most eventful trip I ever have made."

Not only did I meet grand people, but I learned another language."

DURING HER year in school her classes were the equivalent of the ninth grade in Canton.

She found them much more difficult because students have no choice. Classes are set for them. During her stay, her studies included biology, physics, chemistry, algebra, literature, English and geography.

"I found the teachers and the people most pleasant and it seemed strange, at first, that at each meeting you were kissed by your friend. We don't have anything like that up here but the custom shows the friendliness of the people."

It wouldn't require much coaxing to have Fonda return to Caracas, but her plans now call for a trip, when possible, to Russia.

"I'd like to learn more about the Russian people and more about that country over there and a chance to learn another language. That would help me get a better knowledge of what those people think of America."

"When Fonda makes up her mind to do something," her father said, "she usually succeeds. But she sure did enjoy her year in Caracas."

Suburban coalition splits to pass Senate school bill

By TIM RICHARD

A coalition of suburban senators broke apart. That, in a nutshell, is why the so-called "Plawecki amendments" to the school teacher strike bill were defeated in the State Senate last week.

Members of the coalition included Republican Carl Pursell of Plymouth and Democrats Daniel Cooper of Oak Park, William Faust of Westland, Patrick McCullough of Dearborn and David Plawecki of Dearborn Heights.

Instead, the Senate passed 20-14 a compromise measure put together by Senate Democratic Leader William B. Fitzgerald of Detroit. Gov. Milliken has threatened to veto it, arguing the public wants strict curbs on teacher strikes.

While the Fitzgerald version has been called a "labor bill," Pursell, the only Republican to support it, insists the views of concerned parents and school board members were heard and weighed by senators. The bill will allow teacher strikes of up to four weeks, with loss of salaries in the final two weeks.

Plawecki had proposed allowable strikes of up to three weeks, with the school calendar decreased for each day of the strike and both school board and teachers losing one day's income for each day of delay.

PURSELL SAID Sen. Cooper, whose district includes Southfield and Farmington, was first to drop out of the coalition backing the more stringent Plawecki amendments.

"Then labor went after McCullough," said Pursell, "because they felt he was the weak link."

"The Republican caucus thought we could produce 10 votes for the amendments, and Plawecki thought he had 10 Democratic votes. That would have given us 20—enough for passage."

"But while Republicans produced 11 votes for the amendments, Plawecki lost four. So we had only 17 votes; we were short by three."

At this point in the legislative process, Fitzgerald offered his version, which Pursell felt was a compromise between the pro-labor House version and the Plawecki amendments. "But Fitzgerald achieved only 17 votes, and we had a second deadlock," said Pursell, whose district includes Redford, Livonia and Plymouth.

"Fitzgerald, naturally, was attempting to break apart our coalition, and we were stubborn at keeping it intact," Pursell went on. "Over the weekend (July 19-20), McCullough notified our coalition he was in a position to negotiate a compromise (with Fitzgerald and labor)."

FITZGERALD'S version passed last Tuesday with support from Pursell, Cooper and Faust. Plawecki opposed it.

Pursell, one of a tiny handful of Michigan Republicans who got labor support in the 1974 election, expressed frank admiration for Democrats Faust and Plawecki, who held out for a tougher bill despite their long histories of support by and pressure from organized labor.

As for his own decision to support the Fitzgerald bill despite Milliken's threatened veto, Pursell said, "The question was whether we should go with the (Fitzgerald) compromise or no new bill at all. Last year we had some severe strikes in western Wayne County (Crestwood, Garden City) under the current law."

Some Crestwood parents had insisted there be no change in the law, especially since the courts have upheld the school board's right to fire striking teachers under legal procedures.

"These were the same parents who were upset with Judge Roth's cross-district busing decision and said, 'My God, what have we got with federal judges making law,'" said Pursell. "So now we in the Legislature exercised our prerogative. We had a decision to make, and we made it."

But Pursell insisted that "whatever the law, the responsibility for writing a school board-teacher contract lies with those around the negotiating table. If we have bad negotiations, we'll have strikes."

SC offers sport camps to youths

Schoolcraft College is offering recreational sports camps for area youth this summer. A competitive swim camp begins today (July 28) and runs through Aug. 1 for youth nine to 12, and from Aug. 4-8 for youths 13 to 17.

Keith Wrights, head coach of the Bulldog Aquatic Club, is camp director.

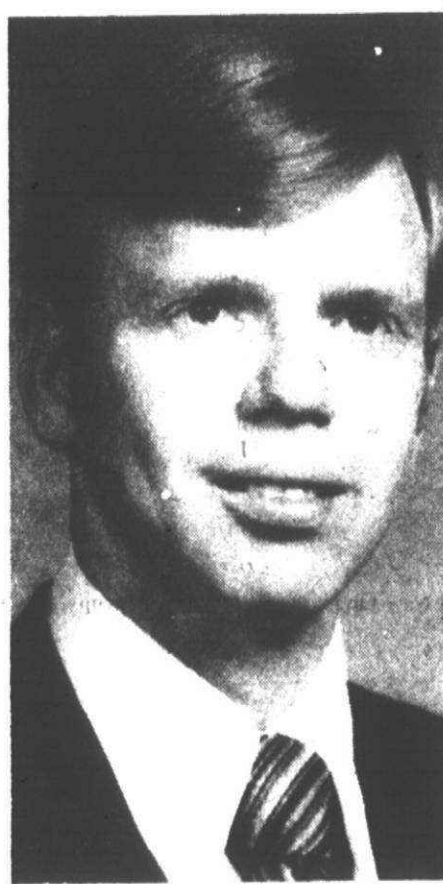

"We plan to cover a different stroke each day, with dry land and pool drills from 9 to 11 a.m. and video tape, observation and critiques from 1 to 3:30 p.m.," explains Wright.

College swimmers from the aquatic club will demonstrate and assist Wright.

A soccer camp is scheduled Aug. 18-22 which is designed to teach youth the basics of soccer. Larry Christoff, SC soccer coach, will be assisted by Andy Richeter from Oakland University, and Van Dimitriou from the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The daily schedule includes exercise from 9:30 to 10 a.m., and game skills from 10 a.m. to noon. Afternoons will be spent in team competition. A soccer game between coaches and camp allstars.

Registration is $40 for the swim camp and $30 for the soccer camp. To register contact Schoolcraft athletic director Dr. Marvin Gans. Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

CHARLES A. GAUER of 9465 Bassett, Livonia, has been promoted to second vice president and account officer in the Michigan division at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. Gauer holds a BS from Southern Illinois University and joined Manufacturers Bank in 1970 in the credit department. He was promoted to loan officer and reassigned to the Michigan division in 1972. Gauer is a member of Robert Morris Associates and the American Institute of Banking.

O & E reports stock change

A stock transaction involving Observer & Eccentric Newspapers was announced this week.

Henry M. Hogan Jr., president and chief executive officer of the parent company, Suburban Communications Corp., said he has asked that his shares of stock be redeemed for long-term interest-bearing securities of the corporation.

Hogan, co-publisher of Observer & Eccentric newspapers, said he is exchanging his equity interest for an 18-year debenture program.

The transaction is for personal reasons, Hogan said, and will not affect corporate management, operations or business philosophy.

"Length of the interest-bearing debenture program assures my continued interest in the growth and development of our company," Hogan said.

He added that he will continue to serve as co-publisher of The Observer & Eccentric and as president and chief executive officer of Suburban Communications Corp.

"My colleague, Philip H. Power, will also have unchanged responsibilities as co-publisher and as chairman of the board of Suburban Communications Corp."

No hunting proposal gets mixed reviews

Hunters and residents of the sparsely populated western portion of Plymouth Township should coexist without a hunting ban.

That is the unanimous opinion of a three-person panel, charged with investigating a proposed hunting ban in the western portion of the township and submitting a recommendation on the ban to the board of trustees. The panel was composed of township Treasurer Joe West, Michigan

State Police Lt. William Tomczyk and Bruce Andrews, conservation law executive of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

AFTER HEARING the reactions of residents and hunters at a public hearing held Wednesday night, members of the panel agreed to submit this recommendation:

- Discharge of any firearm except a shotgun loaded with shot not larger than number two is unlawful in Plymouth Township except on target ranges recognized and approved by the township board.

- Hunting or discharge of a firearm is unlawful east of Beck, except in the area north of North Territorial, south of Five Mile, east of Beck and west of the city limits and Sheldon.

A group of residents living west of Beck asked the township board several months ago to extend the township's present no-hunting ban from Beck to Napier because of safety reasons. Hunters, residents said, ignored posted "no-trespassing" signs and trampled on crops.

But, according to Andrews, trespassing problems are no reason to ban hunting throughout the township. Trespassing on another's land is already illegal.

Number two shot is used only to shoot small animals, he said, and composes no safety threat.

"The density is just not there to close hunting," Andrews said. "Hunting can be pursued safely in that area."

UNDER THE township's present no-hunting ordinance, which applies to land east of Beck, hunting and target practicing are prohibited under punishment of a maximum $500 fine, 90 days in jail or both. Residents may engage in archery practice on their own premises.

The present ordinance allows hunting on township land west of Beck but fails to place a limit on the size of shot that may be used.

The committee, Andrews said, will recommend opening one parcel east of Beck to hunters because of one resident's comments at the first of two no-hunting public hearings.

The resident, township Trustee Frank Millington, cited difficulty in controlling crop-eating rabbits because of the hunting ban.

The committee's recommendation will appear before the board of trustees as a regular agenda item. Board members, Andrews noted, may approve or disapprove the recommendation or ask the committee to amend the suggested hunting law.

Persons opposed to the committee's recommendation, Andrews said, may voice their complaints before township board members or the joint administrative rules committee of the Michigan Legislature.

REACTION TO the recommendation at Wednesday's public hearing was mixed.

About 50 persons jammed the small township board chambers. Most residents of the township's western portion spoke in favor of the hunting ban, while hunters and residents of more populated areas spoke in favor of the recommendation.

"I have to keep my children in the house during hunting season," said one resident, "because I don't want them dead."

Added another resident: "Every fall we're bothered with people. It's just a nuisance. 'No-trespassing' signs are torn down and ignored."

Residents of large tracts of land cannot enforce no-trespassing laws, they said. Hunters and other persons who trespass are usually gone, before law enforcement officers arrive.

But, according to Andrews, a hunting ban would not completely solve that problem.

"In areas here we have eliminated hunting, it has cut down on the trespassing, but not on the hunting completely. As a landowner, you have a right to control all activity on your land."

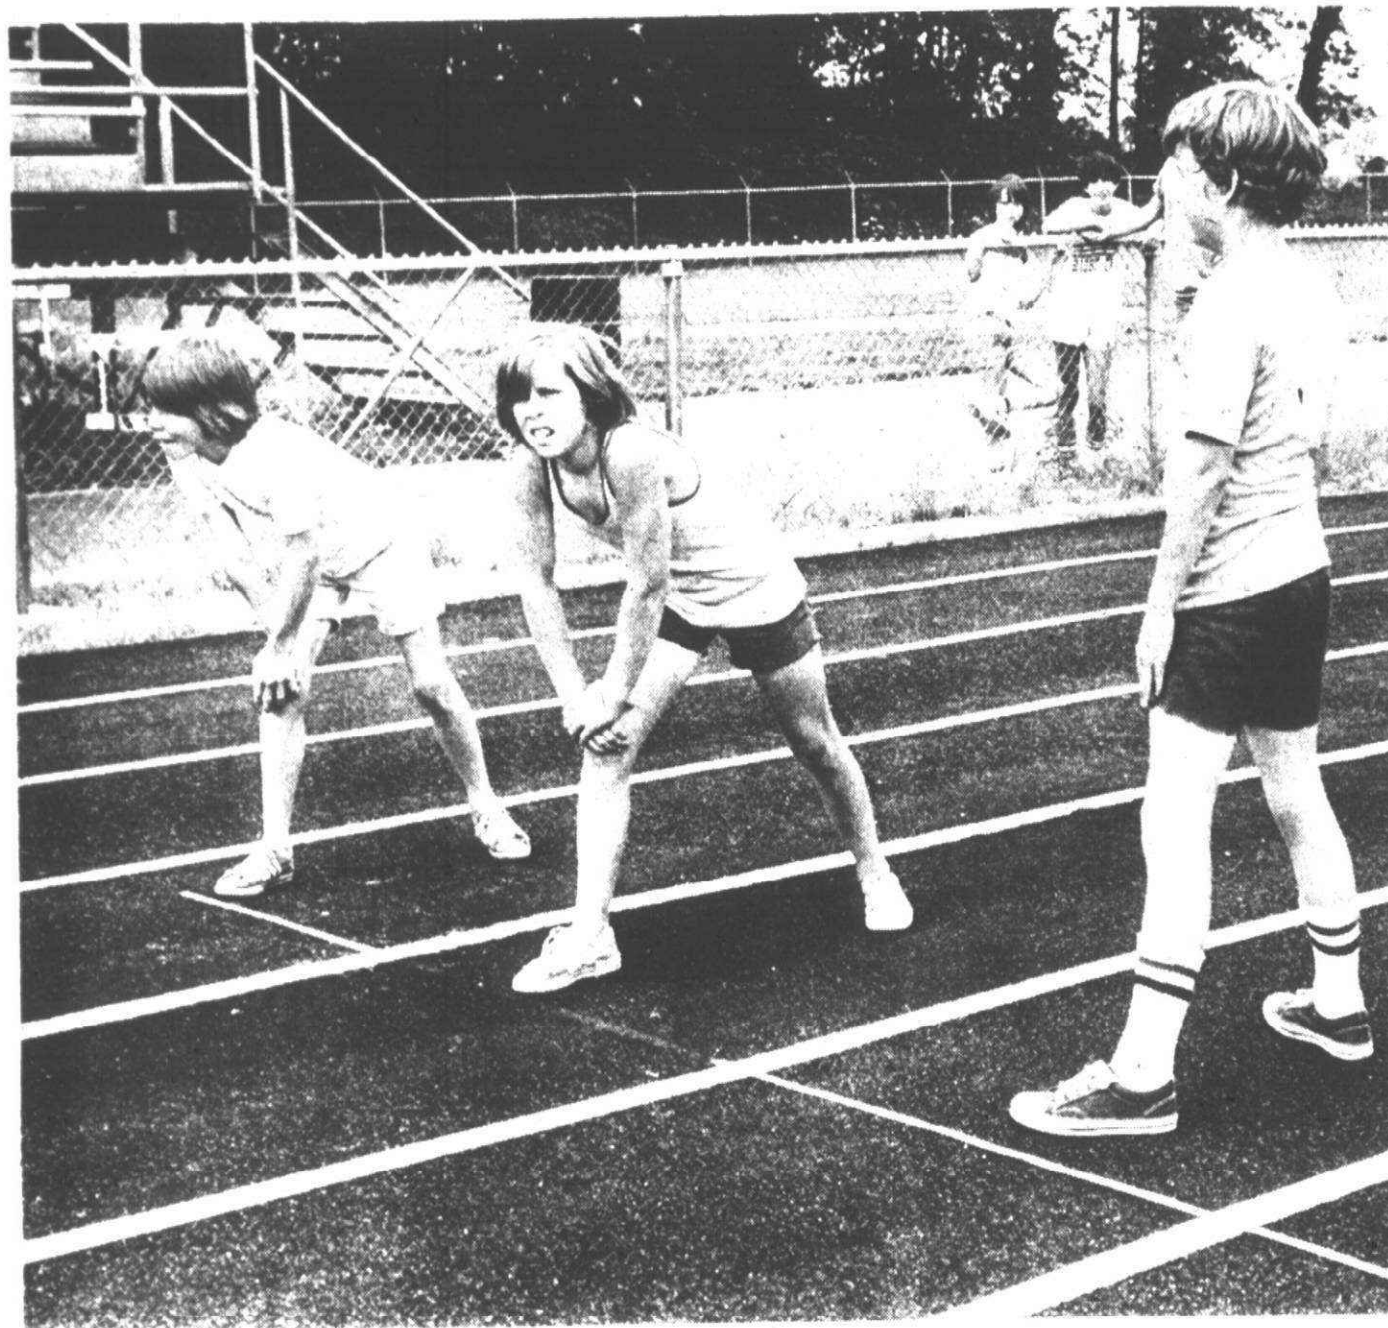

ANOTHER RESIDENT objected to the committee's recommendation concerning a limitation on the size of shot.

"I would like to know how we're supposed to recognize a number two shot," she said. "Are we supposed to go up to them and ask?"

One member of a rifle association defended the hunter's position.

"I think a lot of people don't understand the range of a shotgun. We've had no problems around our place."

One hunter said golf balls and swimming pools are often more lethal than shotguns. A resident responded, "Swimming or playing golf is your choice. When you're in your backyard and may be hit by a bullet, it's not."

All is ready for Canton Fair

The second annual Canton Jaycee Fair opens tomorrow (July 29) on the southeast corner of Ford and Lilley roads.

The five-day fair will feature games, booths, 16 major and kiddie rides, food and beverages.

There will be 24 local booths inside the big top tent set up for the occasion. Eight local merchants will have stands outside the tent.

Booths have been reserved for games, displays, wall fashions, spin art, antiques, spoon jewelry and crafts. The Jaycee Auxiliary will sell sloppy joes, fresh corn on the cob and soft drinks. There will be a taco wagon, beer and popcorn.

A DUNK TANK will be in operation to give fair-goers an opportunity to attempt to dunk Canton Township officials.

Hours will be 4 p.m. to midnight except Thursday, which is Kiddie Day. The fair will open at noon and close at 6 p.m. and there will be 10 cents off on all the rides for children that day.

Bruce Roth, chairman of the event, says proceeds will go toward the purchase of recreation equipment to serve all age groups in the township.

Canton Township Jaycees were organized in 1968. They have 28 members and the auxiliary has 19. In spite of the small membership, they have contributed tot lots, a nature trail, recreational equipment and $100 annual scholarships to local high school students. They have worked at the Plymouth State Home and have sponsored little league teams.

Drew Rentz is president of the organization and Phil Meloche is internal vice president.

Complaints may drop

Deer Creek reorganizes

Residents of Canton's Holiday Park Subdivision may soon have no ground for complaints against neighboring Deer Creek Park Apartments.

That's the hopes of township Supervisor Robert Greenstein and Charles E. Fox, vice president of Deer Creek's new management firm, Schostak Brothers & Co., Inc.

"We've had a long history of real and imagined problems at Deer Creek, according to the neighbors around it," said Greenstein. "They've been mainly 'people' problems."

RESIDENTS OF the subdivision have complained about the see-through cyclone fence which divides their property from the apartments' and the few automobiles which have crashed through the fence into their backyards.

Apartment children sometime throw rocks at children playing in backyards, subdivision residents allege. Women, they say, have been insulted by apartment residents' taunts.

But those types of complaints should cease, according to Fox, who says the apartments' new management will do all it can to solve the alleged problems of the complex.

Schostak Brothers assured management responsibilities at Deer Creek about one month ago.

"It's our basic position that it's essential to have a good community and township relationship," said Fox. "We're going to do whatever we have to do. Every effort will be made to maintain whatever we put in."

SCHOSTAK Brothers has increased Deer Creek's security staff, Fox said.

The new management plans to hire its own security guards instead of "rent-a-cops" to exercise control over the security forces.

To insure safety within the complex, township officials and Schostak Brothers are attempting to obtain routine Wayne County Sheriff Department patrols through the apartment complex. Sheriff Department deputies will not patrol private apartment complexes without official authorization from the management and local unit of government.

Fox and township officials recently toured Deer Creek to pinpoint the sources of neighborhood complaints. The apartment's management agreed to take the following action:

- Install sheets of opaque plastic in the cyclone fence between Deer Creek and the Holiday Park Subdivision. Work on the fence is expected to start this week.
- Install additional speed bumps on the apartment road next to the Holiday Park Subdivision and paint existing speed bumps yellow to slow apartment traffic.
- Paint yellow stripes on curbs to prevent apartment motorists from crashing through the fence and into subdivision backyards, when they exit from parking lots onto the apartment's main roadway next to Holiday Park.

Signs, warning motorists they must turn, will be hung on the fence, and guard rails will be placed in key areas.

- Replace rock gardens with landscaping to eliminate the temptation to throw rocks. The management may soon authorize a complete landscaping survey.
- Hire a new rental agent to personally interview all new residents and maintain "a high standard of occupancy."

"WE WANT a visible program that shows people we do care," said Fox.

"We're going to continue to look at the entire situation. Hopefully, we'll have a joint effort with the township to promote auto safety. We want a nice roadway, and we certainly don't want any accidents."

Greenstein praised the cooperation of the new management.

"Deer Creek has had a bad relationship with the township, but now it's going to be a whole new day for Deer Creek."

Seeks injunction

Fulkerson sues Canton Township

Canton Township officials and the owner of a trailer storage facility will soon face one another in court.

James E. Fulkerson, owner of Fulkerson Landscaping, 6729 Canton Center, has filed suit against the township in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Fulkerson is seeking an injunction to prevent the township from interfering with his business and demanding the construction of an opaque fence on his property. A show cause hearing has been scheduled for Aug. 1 before Circuit Judge Roman Gribbs.

TOWNSHIP officials have told Fulkerson to slide opaque panels into his existing cyclone fence, located between his trailer storage facility and adjacent residentially-zoned property.

The fence would settle a lawsuit between the township and the development firm of Richter & Rosen, owner of the residentially-zoned property adjacent to the trailer storage site.

Township officials, who say Fulkerson's trailer storage business is operating illegally, had threatened to bring court action against Fulkerson if he refused to build the fence.

"We offered him a fair, square deal at first," said township Supervisor Robert Greenstein. "Since he's taking this action, he better win this case, or he'll be out of business."

"If Fulkerson gets away with this, the only reason will be that people in the government have believed him, when he said he got permission for his business. Since nothing has been done for four years, the court may decide to leave him there."

Fulkerson, Greenstein says, never appeared before the zoning board of appeals to obtain a vehicle storage license, needed to operate the trailer storage facility on his landscape business site.

FULKERSON said he obtained permission to operate his business from former township Supervisor Philip Dingeldey.

But, according to Greenstein, discussion with the township supervisor does not give the official approval that Fulkerson's business needs.

If Fulkerson refuses to build the opaque fence on his property, the township cannot fulfill a proposed out-of-court agreement with Richter & Rosen.

The developers had filed suit when a previous township board refused to rezone the land immediately adjacent to Fulkerson's property from single to multiple residential. According to Greenstein, the developers have agreed to construct single family houses next to Fulkerson's property, if Fulkerson agrees to construct the fence.

Said Greenstein: "If Fulkerson is really the good citizen he intends to be, it seems to me that his best action would be to build the opaque fence and not force the township to spend thousands of dollars chasing him through court to get him to do what he should have done in the first place—especially if the results will mean apartments in northwest Canton."

Fulkerson declined to comment on the court action.

Greenstein said township attorney Bert Burgoyne will represent Canton in the case.

Smith's tax bill advances

LANSING—A bill to require the state to pay money to local governmental units in lieu of taxes on state land has advanced in the House of Representatives.

Representative Roy Smith (R-Ann Arbor), whose 52nd District includes part of Plymouth, introduced HB 4105 last January. The bill was then referred to the House Taxation Committee.

The bill was recently moved out of the taxation committee and moved to the House Appropriations Committee. Smith expects action on the bill on the floor this fall.

The bill provides that the state will pay an amount equal to 25 per cent of the money that would be due in taxes if the land weren't owned by the state. Recreational lands and facilities would be exempt from this requirement.

The bill also provides that the county treasurer shall apportion this payment to the various cities and townships within the county in proportion to the funds received for the state property located within a city or township.

County will continue funding road patrol until November

Wayne County Sheriff deputies will continue patrolling the streets of Canton and Plymouth townships—at least until the end of November.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners last week approved financing of the road patrol program until the end of November, when the county's fiscal year ends, at a cost of $130,000.

A decision from the Michigan Court of Appeals, relieving the county of its obligation to provide road patrol services to the townships and upholding a Wayne County Circuit Court decision, would halt county financing of the program, according to a stipulation of the appeal.

Local and county officials do not expect a decision from the Court of Appeals, until after the county's current fiscal year has ended.

WESTERN WAYNE County commissioners who voted in favor of the appropriation extension include: Royce Smith (D—Belleville); Mary Dumas (R—Livonia); and Tom Taylor (D—Westland), whose district includes Garden City. Richard Manning (D—Redford) abstained, and John Barr (D—Dearborn Heights) was not present for the roll call.

The suit against the Sheriff's Department to continue funding was filed by seven townships—Plymouth, Canton, Northville, Huron, Brownstown, Van Buren, and Sumpter. Redford Township has its own police force and was not a party to the lawsuit.

Canton Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein, who is heading the Seven-township battle to ensure continued county financing of the road patrol, criticized the board of commissioners action.

"We have repeatedly requested the commission to extend the appropriation until such time as the lawsuit is settled. We continue to be disappointed by their insistence of bringing up this matter every three months."

"The commission's insistence of dredging up this threat of the removal of police protection from the seven townships every three months is not in the best interests of the townships or this community."

Said Helen Richardson, clerk of Plymouth Township: "We're very happy they've chosen to extend it, but we only hope they continue to do so."

SMITH, Wayne County commissioner representing Canton and Plymouth townships, was pleased the extended appropriation was approved.

A minimum 14 votes was needed to approve the appropriation. The issue was passed by a 15-5 vote with one abstention.

The county first threatened to halt funding of the road patrol for the townships in August, 1974. The townships filed suit and sought a declaratory judgment, ordering the board of commissioners to maintain the road patrol at its present or greater strength.

A March 27 decision from Circuit Judge Thomas J. Foley said the county is not obligated to fund the road patrol.

The county originally ordered an April 30 cut-off for road patrol funding. One county vote extended the funding until the end of July, while last week's vote extends the financing until the end of November.

It's time to dig out old costumes

Turn-of-the-century fashions add to the color of the annual Plymouth Fall Festival and it's time to start planning a costume for the Sept. 4 to 7 event.

Vintage costumes are worn throughout the four-day festival and the American Association of University Women will sponsor a costume competition. Contest rules require costumes which focus on the 1890 to 1920 time period.

The ensemble must be authentic or a good reproduction and complete in detail, except for footwear.

Categories will include: Family—two or more related persons; children—persons up to age 14; and adult—14 years and older.

Judging will take place from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 7, behind the bandshell in Kellogg Park.

First, second and third place cash prizes will be awarded on stage at 3 p.m.

SUNBONNETS and toothless smiles from pretty little girls are in abundance at the Plymouth Fall Festival costume competition sponsored by the AAUW.

Live theater comes to mall

By ETHEL SIMMONS

In February 1974, "Rumplestiltskin" ran for six days.

Many area shopping malls provide entertainment for children. At Oakland Mall the project is most ambitious—live theater.

Henry K. Martin, a Birmingham producer, and Jack Yoder, promotion director of the mall in Troy, put their heads together to come up with the presentation of the Actor's Trunk Company.

The summer theater series by Martin's company opened with "Rumplestiltskin," continued with "Beauty and the Beast" and will conclude with "The Emperor's New Clothes." Aug. 18-23. Performances are at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the mall's center court.

"At first, a lot of people thought it was going to be puppets," Martin said. "The beauty is with live actors, after the show they can come down and touch a child, something television can't do."

CHILDREN MAY be invited on stage to participate during a performance. In "Cinderella," three maidens try on her lost slipper. (The play was presented at the mall at Easter.)

"We ask for three maidens and always get about 13," Martin said. "We'll introduce them as, say, 'Lady Gwen from Birmingham.'"

Before a performance, the children appear on stage in stunts that use their imagination. Yoder has invited school systems to attend and sometimes a teacher will be amazed by the shy child who volunteers to go up.

Martin and Yoder began kicking around the idea of live theater at the mall in the fall of 1973.

Yoder said, "We experimented with children's theater in a controlled atmosphere, the community room, with 'Hansel and Gretel.' We test-marketed the concept by busing school kids from Clawson."

YODER RECALLS, "The project started slow—like most things."

One of the biggest problems to be overcome was the sound system.

Martin pointed out, "For merchants and people who are buying, we don't want a lot of noise. We isolate the sound to the area we want."

"We devised a system of microphones and speeches so that everyone can hear. Just shuffling of feet on a terrazzo floor at the mall can be deafening."

"We knew theoretically it would work." No one had ever put on live theater at a mall, he claims.

Martin defines his productions as adaptations of old fairy tales for modern-day youngsters. The Actor's Trunk Company appears as a troupe of vagabonds who carry costumes and props in a trunk. They unpack their trunk and put up the set.

Rehearsal is in the community room prior to the show, where the actors read the fairy tale. Then they improvise, working without a script.

ONLY ALTERATION to the story is the audience participation, Martin said.

"We're probably motivating many of them to read the story. We take the crowd and turn them into the audience."

He estimates that on a peak Saturday a crowd of 1,500 adults and children can be accommodated.

"There's something about the laughter and excitement of children in the mall that seems to permeate and make everyone happy," Martin said.

Yoder said Oakland Mall emphasizes atmosphere as the backbone of its promotions.

"We like to create an atmosphere that puts everyone in a good mood."

Landowners have rights too

Unfortunately, the recommendations made to the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees on the no-hunting ban (see story today's paper) won't solve the problem.

Because it doesn't, the controversy will return to the township board at a later date for solution. It would be better for the board to think twice about the advice given and grab hold of the horns now.

THE THREE-MEMBER panel which has investigated the issue, and conducted public hearings in the township, has side-stepped the issue and chosen to avoid recommending action now which must eventually be taken.

A weak excuse given was that the solution lies with residents in the western portion of Plymouth Township enforcing the no trespassing laws.

If trespassing laws are enforced, then hunting doesn't have to be banned because hunters won't be tromping around where they don't belong. If one law cannot be enforced, then what good is another law, goes the argument.

This may be a chicken-egg dilemma, but obviously if hunters are banned then the need is lessened to enforce trespassing laws. Either way, the task rests with the Sheriff's Department because Plymouth Township doesn't have a police force to patrol the area.

If the Sheriff is unavailable to enforce trespassing laws, then deputies are also unavailable to enforce the no hunting ban. Given this choice, though, it would seem more appropriate to ban hunting and attack the problem head-on.

THE REQUIREMENT to use a number two shotgun shell is also an act of appeasement, one which recognizes that rifle shells might be too dangerous because persons live in the area.

Therefore, reasons the committee, it will be safer for residents to allow only shotguns because persons won't get killed — only peppered with lead.

What is at stake is a basic right of a person to enjoy the sanctity of his own property without having to survey the landscape in watch of hunters who might perform careless acts. A person should be able to enjoy his land without being peppered by lead.

Canton Township presently has a no hunting ban, and its rural areas are just as sparsely populated as western Plymouth Township. Canton, likewise, doesn't have a police force but depends on Sheriff's deputies to enforce the hunting ban.

It may be inconvenient for hunters to have to travel further but growth in Plymouth and Canton townships has also meant inconvenience for airplane pilots, farmers and others.

It's hard to argue that residents knew there would be hunters out here when they purchased their homes. The conclusion must some day be made that wherever you've people living there cannot be sportsmen hunting, nor hunters who are not sportsmen.

The Stroller... Ballplayer has say

By W. W. EDGAR

There was no mistaking the voice. It was loud and clear. And from the tone The Stroller knew the person on the other end of the line wasn't a close friend.

"You're the guy," he said, "who several weeks ago asked one of your editors how he would like to have his day's work held up for public view at the end of every shift."

"When The Stroller admitted it, there was a loud giggle over the wire, and the voice asked:

"How would you like to be a ball player? They keep a record of everything you do. What's more, that record is mentioned every time you come to bat and at the end of the season your record is published in a book as a reminder for all time."

"I know," the voice went on, "because I am an old-time ball player. And I know how a fellow feels when his record is flashed to the populace every afternoon during the season."

TRYING TO SHUT off the conversation, or at least turn it around a bit, The Stroller cut in, "There is a record kept of our work, too. You'll find the copies of the newspapers in the public libraries. And you'll find a permanent record on microfilm. Both are available any time you want to look at them — and from now on."

That didn't stop the voice on the other end as the rebuttal came real fast.

"Maybe so," it said, "but the records aren't complete—or not as complete as they are in baseball."

"Let me ask you this—do the newspaper records show every time you started a story, went for a line or two, and then decided to start over?"

Admitting this was true—that these minute records aren't kept, the voice came right back:

"If you were a pitcher in baseball you would be charged with a balk and the whole team would be penalized because the runners would automatically advance a base."

"How would you feel if your entire staff was penalized each time you made a false start? And how would you feel, knowing that it would be part of a permanent record."

THEN, WITH A SORT of a cynical chuckle, easily heard over the phone, he added: "And you fellows think it's tough when your work is held up for public view every day!"

Before The Stroller could interrupt again, the voice went on:

"Your records don't show how many times you fluffed on a story—maybe missed it altogether. Well, if you are a ball player most every move is recorded. And when you fluff you are charged with an error."

"The record books won't show that maybe it was a hard hit ball or that you made a valiant attempt to reach it or that it was just out of your reach. But you are charged with an error and you are rated on your ability as a fielder."

Without even attempting to slow up, the voice continued:

"Suppose you were the pitcher, how would you feel if an outfielder lost a fly ball in the sun and as a result the runner on third came home with the winning run. You would be charged with a defeat—even though you had nothing to do with it. So, don't tell me that having your work held up each day makes your job tough."

"You should be a ball player," Finally, The Stroller had a chance to speak.

"OKAY," HE SAID, "you ball players all strive to hit .300. You make idols of those fellows—and they draw the big salaries. Yet, hitting .300 means that you failed more than two thirds of the times you stepped to the plate."

Yet, you make heroes of .300 hitters. What do you think would happen if you were a newspaper fellow and failed more than two thirds of the time?"

There was no answer—just a loud click.

He had hung up.

Lake is now dumping grounds

From our readers

Editor:
We must live on the wrong side of the tracks, the side of Plymouth Township not worth the money we pay in taxes.

We fought against rezoning on two lots in our neighborhood near Bradner and Five Mile, and Bradner and Schoolcraft. We fought with public hearings, petitions, and voting. The people said no, but the township said yes.

In both instances the township attorney, Donald Morgan, recommended that the township not spend the money and fight it in court. The appeal date for one rezoning wasn't published until a week after it had expired.

WAYNE COUNTY PARKS and Recreation has turned off the lights in the park on Five Mile due to the decrease in use and a budgetary cut.

Actually the park has increased in its use, especially by young adults and teenagers after dark. It took three months of phone calls to Detroit Edison, Wayne County, and Plymouth Township to find out why the lights were turned off and when they would be replaced. Finally Township Supervisor J.D. McLaren told us there were no plans to turn on the lights and no lights would be installed even at the crossroads. Tough luck, people on the Five Mile curve.

Without lights, Phoenix Lake has become the new dumping grounds for stolen cars and garbage, and the new party spot of Hines Drive.

We don't mind the use of the park. We do mind the destruction of the swings and slides; the loud parties and drinking after the park has closed; and the midnight drag racing. Michigan State Police and Wayne County Sheriff's departments serve the area as much as possible, but the township has got to support the residents with some affirmative action such as Dearborn and Livonia took last summer.

THE GREAT Five Mile curve is now becoming infamous for its accidents.

The yearly occurrence has become monthly lately as the cars disregard the curve warning sign and the reduced speed indicator and lose control, going over the edge of the bank toward the lake or across the lanes and up our lawns toward our homes and children. The animals and pets we have lost due to speeding has been sad but replaceable; our children are not.

We have tried phone calls, letters and meetings to the county and township. We have been put off too often with the phrases "not our job" or "not any money." We have had it with no lights, drinking parties, garbage, trash, accidents, and drag racing.

The township had better look at this side of the tracks before election time. We cannot wait that long.

WHITE FACES surround Don Demowski and Jill Martin as Brownies learn about applying clown makeup. (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

RAGS THE CLOWN

Brownies turn into clowns

Clowns and little girls have a natural affinity, even under a few layers of heavy makeup on a steamy afternoon.

And that's a large reason why Brownie Clown Day in Livonia Girl Scout Neighborhood 51 was such a success.

There are a couple other good reasons like long and careful planning on the part of a corps of mothers led by Sharon Gregorian and Myrt Kelly and Rags, the Clown.

Rags, more formally Don Demowski of Hamtramck, came here as star attraction for a special day planned just for the youngest girls in the neighborhood's scouting program.

He received enthusiastic greetings and rapt attention from about 40 little clowns-in-the-making gathered in the back yard of the William Kelly home on Lyndon Street.

THE BROWNIES had arrived in the morning, each bearing a paper bag with a clown costume.

Gathering under tents in a yard filled with balloons and flags, the girls made sit-upons out of newspapers in true Girl Scout style and then fashioned monkey puppets from paper bags.

Each also made her own clown face from a Leggs holder, and some Junior Girl Scouts helped conduct a puppet show.

Then came Rags and the clown makeup.

First he showed them how to smear the cream-based clown white makeup all over their faces.

"I want to see shiny faces—smooth, nice and smooth," he said.

Then, as 40 white faces peered from behind blank coats of grease paint, he demonstrated the method for painting on a clown features with eyebrow pencil and colored makeup.

AN IMAGINATIVE variety of clown faces began to emerge as the Brownies wielded pencil and brush with the aid of little mirrors.

"Having trouble?" Rags asked one little girl. "How about a green nose?"

When the faces were completed, the Brownies donned a variety of clown suits and hats and then began the final event of the day, a parade around the neighborhood with Rags leading the way.

"People will think it's Halloween," one Brownie predicted, and the small-fry of the nearby blocks surely did. Adults in the area enjoyed it too. One motorist drove around the block to get a second look.

Mrs. Kelly said the day was planned "because so many special events for older Girl Scouts are offered but we thought there should be something just for Brownies."

DEMOWSKI, a maintenance man employed by the city of Hamtramck, was enlisted to help. He makes an avocation of taking his clowning to children's groups.

"I don't have an act or magic tricks," he said. "I just enjoy the contact with the children. I go a lot to hospitals and homes for retarded children."

Trustee study asked

'How to be a wife' courses censured by SC committee

By MARGARET MILLER

A couple of short courses advertised as means for putting sizzle into a marriage have caused a different kind of sizzle in Schoolcraft College leadership.

As a result, it's probable that "Fascinating Womanhood" and "The Total Woman" will not be offered through the college's Women's Resource Center.

The Schoolcraft Board of Trustees agreed to discussion at an August study session on a claim by Trustee Rosina Raymond that including such courses, even on a list of possible offerings, was "downgrading" and should not be permitted. Trustees Ronald Cowden and Arch Vallier indicated, however, that they might view any official action against such courses as censorship.

But even as the trustees were meeting, the SC Women's Advisory Committee was approving a resolution opposing such classes in its program.

THE COMMITTEE which works with Jean Christiansen, assistant in women's programs and services, voted 16-1 in favor of a resolution offered by Laura Callow of Livonia.

The motion stated that the committee was "on record as opposed to offering the commercial, pre-packaged 'Total Woman' and 'Fascinating Womanhood' by Schoolcraft College, such classes being contrary to the intent and purpose of the Women's Resource Center and the antithesis of the human potential class."

MRS. CHRISTIANSEN explained to the committee that she had included Total Woman, a $15 two-session course based on a book by Marabel Morgan, on a list of possible offerings by the Resource Center because she had received several requests for it from women in the community.

"I believed it might have a place on the program in the light of one of our goals—to assure the homemaker of the validity and value of her role and to help her develop the freedom to choose her own destiny," she stated.

She added that her difficulty in obtaining a copy of the Morgan book because of long library waiting lists indicated to her there was indeed a great deal of interest in the topic in this area.

But after reading it, she told the committee, she had definite reservations, feeling the workshops offered "are commercial and trade on people who may be desperate and grasping at straws to save a marriage."

A similar course, "Fascinating Womanhood," is based on a book by Helen B. Andelin, "The Secrets of Fascinating Womanhood," and is packaged through a foundation based in California. It reportedly has enrolled some 300,000 women.

Both stress, according to an analysis published this June in a national magazine, that the way to happy marriage is for a woman to be "a kittenish, sexy, obedient, home-loving wife."

MRS. CALLOW read a statement to the advisory committee before the vote was taken.

Tracing the center's history, she pointed out that it was funded by the Schoolcraft board with the idea of drawing women to the college campus—both to enable them to expand their own lives and for their "economic value" in increasing enrollment.

"So it seems to me," she added, "that if we offer a class such as Total Woman, which tells women their place is in the home, we are negating

'If we offer a class...which tells women their place is in the home, we negate the purpose for which the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft was funded.'—Laura Callow the purpose for which the resource center was funded.

"This probably would not happen, but in the event a large number of women took this class and took it's teachings to heart, there would no longer be any need for a resource center. But even if a few take the class and take it to heart, these women will not seek career or educational opportunities at Schoolcraft. Either way, this class negates the intent and purpose of the resource center."

THIS MEMBER of the advisory committee said she feels "the class reaches women their real value is as sex objects."

"This is the antithesis of the Human Potential class offered her at Schoolcraft," she added.

Nancy Dunlop a Schoolcraft student on the Women's Advisory Committee, said she objected to offering such classes because she felt their philosophy is to "cover up a communication problem or other marital disorder with a cheap, gilded masquerade which is blatant self-deception and may lead to deeper and more serious problems."

"Youth in general has faced many serious problems like drug abuse and war," Miss Dunlop added, "but we never have seen a problem dissolved by choosing to ignore its base and attempting to sloppily cover symptoms. This seems to be the philosophy of Total Womanhood and it goes against what womanhood is all about."

AT THE BOARD meeting Trustees Cowden and Vallier took exception to Mrs. Raymond's move to forbid action against offering the courses.

"People have the right to read both sides," Cowden declared. "I'm not saying I endorse the book or the program—just that it's a question of the right to read."

"It's censorship—that's what it is," Vallier added.

Nancie Blatt, another trustee, said she agreed the resource center "should present both sides," but added:

"I object to it on the grounds that it is a commercial program a group of women is promoting as a money-making venture. I frankly don't see this program as upgrading the status of women."

Denise Radke was the only member of the Women's Advisory Committee to vote against the resolution opposing offering the courses.

She said she voted as she did "because I am against stopping the offering of varying points of view."

Here are a few additional goodies:

- People pick newspapers as "the best way to find out" for three out of five messages.
- Newspaper circulation is constant throughout the year with no seasonal slump.
- Ads in newspapers are flexible in size, timing and creative opportunity.

Thornbladh trains with Lions

By TOM SCHRAM
Sports Editor

Still, Thornbladh is happy with the change.

Six years ago, Bob Thornbladh was preparing for his final football season at Plymouth High School.

It was to be a memorable one for Thornbladh, one in which he was to attain All-Suburban Six status and recognition as one of the finest football products ever to come out of the school. Beyond that lay a standout career as an alternate at fullback at the University of Michigan on teams which would all be rated among the top teams in the country.

Today Thornbladh is still preparing for a football season. But this time there is more at stake for him than high school hero honors or a possible national championship. Now his livelihood and the financial future of himself.

A two-way athlete at fullback and linebacker in high school, Thornbladh was exclusively a fullback at U-M and was then converted back to the linebacker position by the Chiefs for professional ball.

But with the Chiefs, Thornbladh played behind perennial All-Pro middle linebacker Willie Lanier and thus saw limited action.

If he makes the Lions squad, he will almost certainly play behind Penn State product Jim Laslavic who started every game for the Lions at the middle linebacker position last year.

"THERE'S A great attitude here. The Lions won seven out of their last 10 games last year. They are a young team as opposed to Kansas City which was an older team," he said.

Part of Thornbladh's satisfaction with his present situation stems from his initial reaction to Lions head coach Rick Forzano.

"Coach Forzano has treated me very fairly since I've arrived. I have a lot of respect for him already," he said.

Although Thornbladh has no formal connection with Plymouth any longer, he frequently returns to the city primarily to visit old football friends.

"I have a lot of good memories of Plymouth. Nothing in particular really stands out about playing high school football except perhaps when we beat an undefeated Bentley team in my junior year. There are just a lot of good things," he said.

Among the pleasant memories for Thornbladh, playing for Tom Moshimer, who still coaches the Rocks, is among the top.

Thornbladh referred to Moshimer as "an excellent coach and a fine man."

Thornbladh has little time for reminiscing at this stage of the game, however, as he has a dogfight on his hands to avoid being cut as the Lions slowly trim the team from the 76-man initial roster to the final playing roster of 43.

And even Thornbladh admits the Lions have "a lot of good line-backers" he must beat out.

"I just have to keep coming out here every day and doing my best," he said. "I'll worry about playing once I make the team."

Veteran Chris Babler of Tri-River League champion Garden City West had a similar thought.

"It looks like they will definitely confine all sports to the school year," Babler said. "I think every coach would like to see some kind of restrictions—if they could find some way to make it equal. I could go along with a limited time of say 20 days or so during the summer."

Just about every high school runs a basketball clinic during the summer mornings and it gives interested boys the opportunity to develop their skills. The evening summer leagues are an extension of those clinics.

All the coaches expressed doubt about the ability of the state to adequately regulate or supervise all the state high schools' participation in summer basketball adequately.

"With so many teenagers playing summer recreation basketball, how is it possible to keep an eye on every high school player and which boys they're playing with?" one coach asked.

If the MHSAA goes through with its plans to limit basketball to the school year, one thing is sure.

Next summer we'll wind up at the ball park instead of the gymnasium.

school official, and he helped line up other officials to come and call the games."

Included in Franklin's summer basketball league were Garden City West, Inkster, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Detroit Southeastern and Livonia Churchill as well as Franklin.

Visser strongly believes some limitations will have to be handed down by the MHSAA.

"The state has to step in and give us some guidelines. Some high schools travel all over the state by bus and play every night in order to build a winning team. That forces other schools like ours to go during the summer also," Visser explained.

The veteran Franklin cage mentor, who has had several powerhouses the past few years, wants to see some limits set although he sees numerous advantages to a summer program.

Among the assets Visser enumerated were the chance for the coach to look at more players; experience in a game situation; keeps the boys' interest up; helps coach evaluate players better and also it is good for those who love the fun of playing basketball.

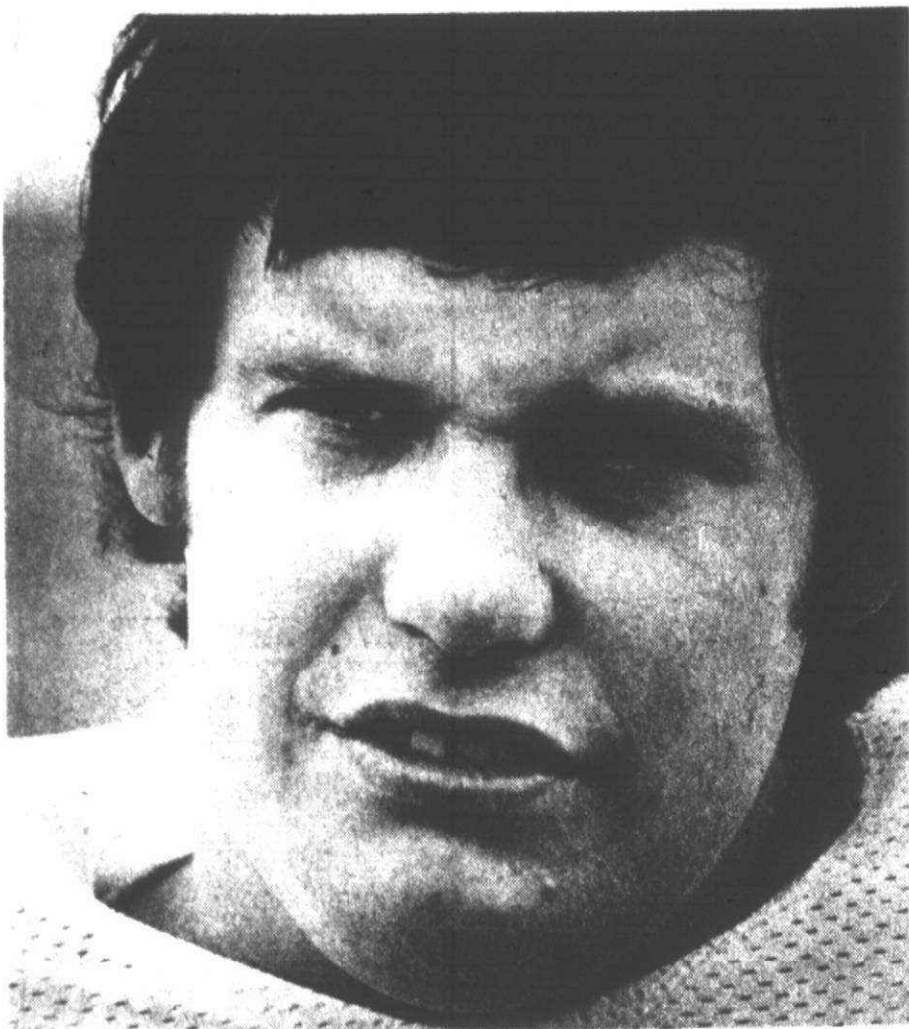

FELLOW COACH Pat Montagano of Churchill is in agreement with Visser. "There definitely needs to be some controls but there is a difference of opinion on how much the boys should be allowed to play," he said. Montagano took Churchill to the state district finals in 1973 before losing to Murray Wright of Detroit, finishing with a 19-5 record. In 1974 his team advanced to the district finals before bowing out with a 20-2 season.

"I'd like to see a period of 20 days or so that the boys could play during the summer months," Montagano added.

Montagano of Churchill discuss the cage game with officials Bob Williams (with ball) and Dick Edwards before last week's game in Franklin's Summer Basketball League.

BOB THORNBADH, a prep star at Plymouth High School, is currently working out with the Detroit Lions at their preseason camp at Oakland University in Rochester.

Summer basketball league season ends at Franklin

By JIM BRADLEY

A funny thing happened on the way to the ball park.

There's noise coming from the gymnasium, the thumping of the basketball against the floor, the echo of a few voices and the ticking of the big scoreboard clock.

Livonia Franklin leads crosstown rival Churchill, 76-74, with 25 seconds left to play as the players battle down to the final whistle.

The funny part is that the gym bleachers are empty and it's the middle of July.

Regular uniformed officials eye every move as the hot, sweaty bodies glide over the floor and collide under the basket in a mad leap for the ball.

It's the final night of the Franklin High School Summer Basketball League and it may just be the final night of summer basketball leagues ever if the Michigan High School Athletic Association has its way.

Up until now, there have been no regulations against how much basketball could be played. But wheels are in motion in MHSAA circles that would limit basketball to the school calendar year.

And every cage coach interviewed felt that there should be some limit set on the roundball sport.

COACH BOB VISSER of Livonia Franklin hosted a summer league for the first time this year. "We've played in Southfield the past four years or so and one night on the way home from a summer league game last year we got to discussing it," Visser recalled.

"My JV coach, Bob Formsma, suggested we start our own summer league at Franklin and this year we did. I contacted Dick Buckholz, a high

Ply. Legion splits

By JIM BRADLEY

Before the season started, Coach Fred Crissey set a goal of 20 wins in Plymouth Merchants' 30-game American Legion 16th District schedule.

Well, the fiery baseball veteran won't quite reach that plateau, he's 16-12 after last week's play, but he's not too dissatisfied, either.

In fact, he praised his squad for playing its finest game of the summer in handing Wyandotte its first loss in the second half of the season. Bill Parson had his rhythm flowing smoothly in fanning nine and walking only two in the five-hit 5-0, shutout.

In other games, Plymouth beat Allen Park, 5-0, lost to Melvindale, 3-2, and dropped a 4-2 decision to Dearborn Adray.

John DenHouter's second inning triple and Mike Verduce's third inning double gave Plymouth a 2-0 advantage against Wyandotte. Three walks and singles by Keith Randazzo and Brian Stemberger closed out the scoring in the sixth frame.

PLYMOUTH — ALLEN PARK

Probably the most exciting game of the recent week was the Merchants' come-from-behind 5-4 win over Allen Park when they scored three runs in the bottom of the last inning.

Bentley's Don Nalepka started for the hometowners but was lifted in the fifth inning after being charged with four runs. Lefty Doug Mohr, a Bentley high school teammate, came in and closed the door the rest of the way.

That four-run Allen Park fifth inning rally wiped out the Merchants' 2-0 lead and it went that way until the seventh. Parson, playing right field, singled and Mike Verduce walked. Rob Rose singled home Parson and Tom Close doubled home Verduce to tie the score and leave Rose perched on third.

Randy Besh then lofted a fly to right to bring home Rose with the winning run — and everything was coming up Roses.

PLYMOUTH — MELVINDALE

As Allen Park provided the best, Melvindale brought heartache. Plymouth, behind the three-hit, 10-strikeout pitching of Parson, took a 2-1 lead into the sixth inning. Then tragedy struck.

Two singles and a walk jammed the sacks with one out. Then two consecutive infield errors permitted the tying and winning runs to score. Chris Reed, who has logged a fine 7-0 Legion pitching record this summer, gained the win for Melvindale by holding Plymouth to four hits, walking only two and fanning three.

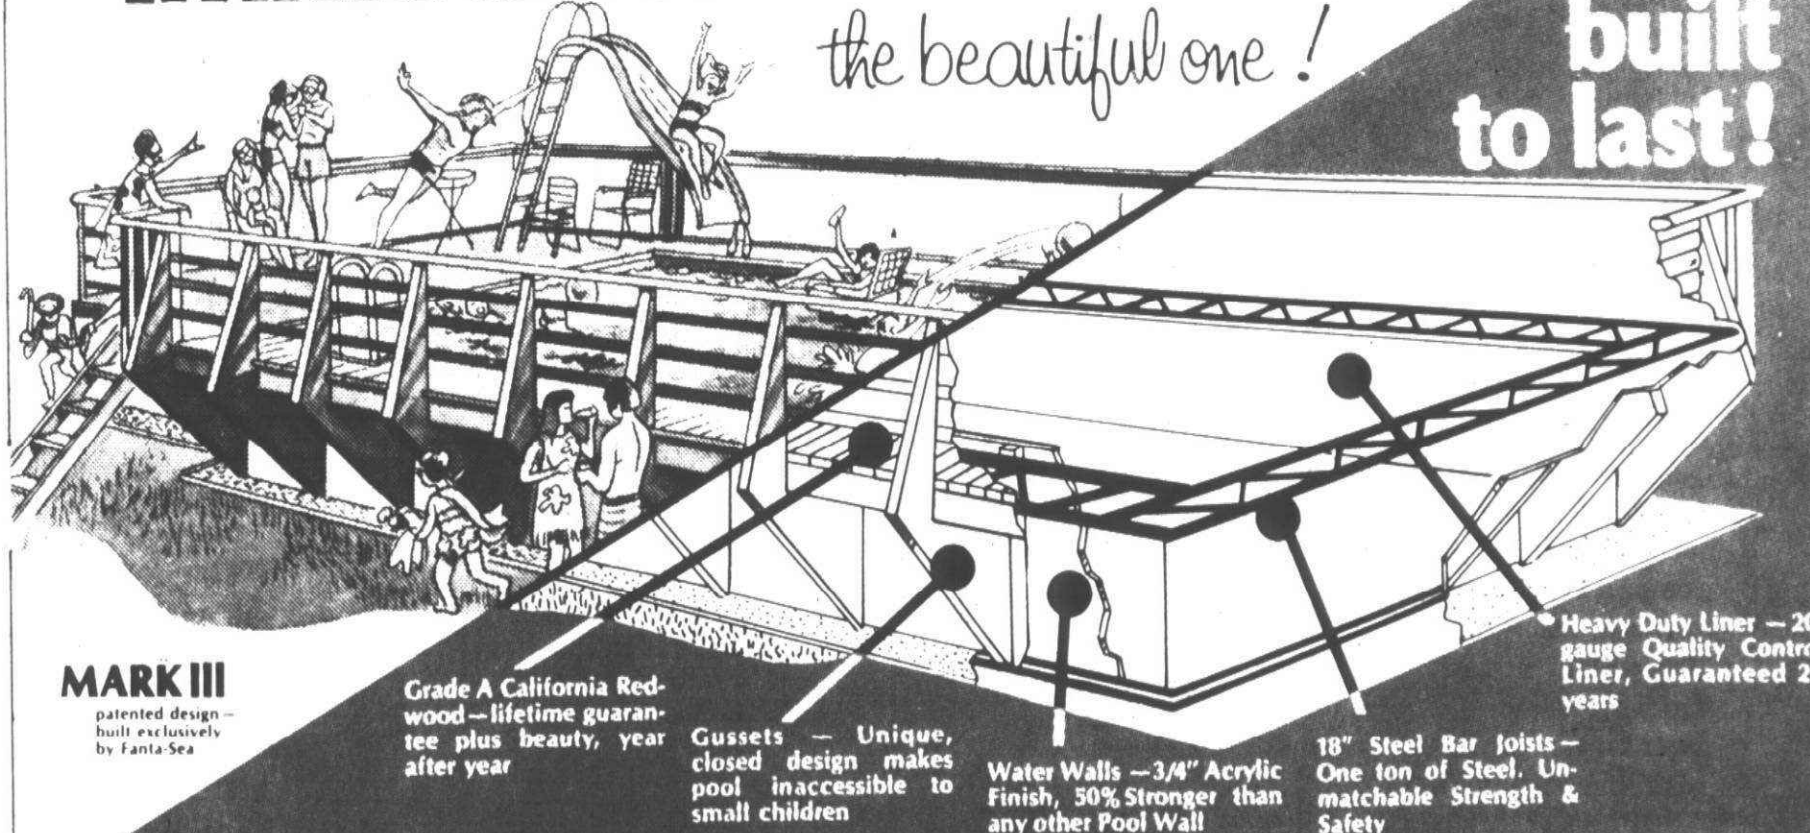

Bill DenHouter suffered a dislocated left knee in the 4-2 loss to Dearborn Adray and is probably sidelined the rest of the year. The effective hurler has had a very good season but the fourth inning injury ended that when he caught his spikes as he tried to swing at the ball.

In Berry League race

Yankees cop American Division title

The American Division Berry League race, which had waxed hot and heavy, came to a dramatic end Thursday evening when the Yankees, who had held a shaky lead all season, defeated fast-closing DMIC 4-1 at Livonia's Ford Field to claim the title.

Four teams remained in the race as recently as two weeks ago.

Then Lucky Lindy's went on a tails-pin, dropping out.

Just nine days ago, DMIC defeated the Panthers, giving the Redford team only a mathematical chance of winning the title and forcing DMIC to win all of its remaining games and have the Yankees lose both of theirs for DMIC to get the title.

On Tuesday, it began to look as if DMIC might make it. DMIC swept a doubleheader from Northville Reef on a pair of shutouts, 5-0 and 6-0. Meanwhile, Lucky Lindy's was giving DMIC the needed break as it upset the Yankees, 4-3. At that point, DMIC was 9-3 and the Yankees stood 10-2-1.

Thursday's showdown was a pitcher's battle as both winner Brent Ericson and DMIC loser Kevin Schultz allowed only four hits.

In the fourth Jim Kolis started things with a walk. Kolis took second on a passed ball, and was sacrificed to third by Dave Katz.

Tom DePriest's long triple off the rightfield fence put the first run on the board for the Yankees. The next batter, Steve Thomas, hit a sacrifice fly, scoring DePriest.

In the top of the sixth, DMIC missed a golden opportunity to get at least one run back.

Schultz started the inning by hitting a shot to deep center.

The hit was a sure stand-up triple, but Schultz removed his helmet rounding second and was called out for the violation.

The next batter, Pat O'Connor, was safe on an error but died after stealing second.

In the bottom of the sixth the Yankees tallied twice again.

Dave Katz walked and moved all the way to third on DePriest's sacrifice. Thomas was hit by a pitch and Ericson walked to load the bases.

After Tom Pacion forced Katz at the plate, Frank Lane, who went into the week with an anemic .180 batting average, then slapped a single bringing in two insurance runs.

DMIC tallied in the seventh when Bob Thibault singled, moved to second on a passed ball and scored on Steve McDermott's single, but it was too little and too late.

Yankee manager Jerry DePriest singled out three players who led the team to the title.

"Dave Katz, Brent Ericson and Tom DePriest were the players who did the job all year for us," he said.

Second baseman Katz hit .441 for the year and also picked up 10 walks. Ericson pitched in almost every game against contending teams and finished the year with a 6-1-1 record and also batted .333. DePriest hit .375 including three doubles and three triples. He had 11 RBIs and scored 12 times.

The Yankees will begin tournament play at Lincoln Park Wednesday.

More information about their games there can be obtained from the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation.

Lion rookies arrive at OU

By RICHARD GOLD

It was hot—well into the 90s as the Detroit Lions began their first official workout of the 1975 season Tuesday at Oakland University, site of their new training camp.

Grunts, groans, and the sound of bodies hitting one another and blocking dummies filled the air, while spectators, also the first of the season, watched the Lion coaching staff run the younger players through various exercises and drills.

Approximately 50 men, mostly first-year draft choices and free agents (and some second-year men) attended the work out. The veterans, 33 of them, were scheduled to arrive Wednesday.

The full squad workouts will begin on Friday after a luncheon and picture taking session with the press on Thursday (today).

THE OFFICIAL roster lists 84 men, 43 of whom will remain with the team when play begins in the fall. But already, the war of attrition has started for the rookies and walk-ons. Some men have left of their own volition, while others had to when they failed the physical.

"I'd say 50 is pretty close to the number we have here now," said Lion spokesman Elliot Trumbull of the early arrivals. "They come and go," he said.

Trumbull added that additions to the squad would be made through trades or waivers. "Walk-ons at this time of year are very unusual," he commented. "We have scouts here for guys who want to come out, but very few make it."

Last year the Lions carried 47 men. Forty were regulars and seven were assigned to the reserve unit known as the taxi squad. This year 43 will suit up, although negotiations currently under way between the player representatives and league officials may affect that figure.

MSU to host medical meeting

An update on medical aspects of high school sports and how to help high school athletes maintain top physical condition for participation in inter-scholastic competition will be covered August 2 at a Michigan State University symposium for high school coaches, physical educators and faculty.

Conference topics, 12 in all, range from nutritional impact on physical conditioning, heat problems, and high energy expenditure to selection of proper equipment to help prevent injury. Other subjects include roles of coach, trainer and team physician in maintaining health of the high school athlete, prevention and treatment of head and neck injuries, pre-season conditioning emphasizing water retention and neck strengthening, heart research implications for the high school athlete, and rehabilitation and reconditioning for return to competition.

The symposium is sponsored by the biomechanics department of MSU's College of Osteopathic Medicine.

How to have a great family vacation without going too far.

Stay right in your own backyard. Chances are, there are plenty of exciting things to do as a family that aren't that far away. Like visiting a national park. Go fishing. Or camping. Or taking a short trip to the nearest big city or point of interest. And remember, if you're a little short of money for your vacation, see HFC about a Traveloan. You may borrow up to $1500 from Household Finance to pay for your next family vacation. And that'll go a long way. Even if you don't.

Auto tips

Short trips
are expensive

By PATRICK KELLY

Family business trips—such as shopping, taking children to school, dental and medical appointments—consume 225 million gallons of gasoline per week.

The average car-owning family makes five such trips weekly, each 11 miles long.

The American Automobile Association offers the following tips on cutting back on these little family business trips:

- Make careful lists before starting out on shopping trips and combine other errands—such as trips to the beauty parlor, cleaners and drug store.

- If possible, handle all these errands at one shopping center to eliminate driving from one location to another. Comparison shopping can be done by phone or through newspaper ads.

- Try to arrange dental and medical appointments so more than one member of the family can go at the same time.

- Strive to schedule shopping and other family business trips during nonrush hours. This will help to reduce traffic congestion and alleviate stop-and-go driving which uses additional gasoline.

- Carpooling is an excellent idea for family business as well as for commuting. Share shopping trips with neighbors. Enlist other parents to form carpools for transporting children to and from school or the neighborhood pool this summer and other group activities if public transportation is not available.

- Cut down on trips to see friends in other parts of the community. Call instead. It uses less energy.

- If you're planning a night out at the theater or for dinner, invite another couple, similarly inclined, to join you. Encourage your teenagers to do more double-dating, too.

It's a safe bet that you will get more fun out of driving this summer if you just follow these few simple but effective tips:

SEAT BELTS—They not only help save lives, but they spare you the jolts of short stops and bumpy roads. They also protect driver and passenger by reducing fatigue on long trips because they minimize the strain of staying in place on normal stops and turns.

TIRES—Determine your needs—the kind of roads you will be traveling on, the load conditions. Then check with your local tire dealer to make sure your car is equipped with the kind of tires that best suit your needs. Proper air pressure and sufficient tread depth are musts when checking the condition of your tires.

Farewell

Pontiac built its last convertible before it shut down its Grand Ville Brougham assembly line. F. James McDonald (left), General Motors executive vice president, and Martin J. Caserio of Bloomfield Hills, GM vice president and Pontiac Motors general manager, stand in the "Last of the Ragtops." Since 1929, Pontiac has built 800,000 convertibles, but production has been declining since the 1956 model year. The decline of the convertible has been traced to increased highway driving speeds and the development and improvement of air conditioning for automobiles.

DRIVING TIPS—Avoid the annoyance of stop-and-go city traffic. Check a road map and go slightly out of your way, especially if you're planning to hit a major metropolitan area around rush hour. The distance will probably be slightly farther, but chances are you'll save time.

Maintain comfortable car lengths between you and the fellow ahead of you to avoid sudden rear-end collisions.

Always give right of way to a faulty driver because the best place for a faulty driver is out of your way.

Drive defensively—always on the look-out for distant problems that may become imminent. Keep your eyes moving—ahead, to the side, in the rear-view mirror.

BRAKES—Use them properly—slow down gradually from high speeds, don't hold them down for long periods of time, don't brake while going around a corner (brake prior to entering the corner), don't drive with faulty or grabbing brakes.
