Board answers critics on bids for construction

Confusion over Canton's bidding procedures and expenditure of funds should no longer muddle and interrupt discussion at the township board table.

That's the hope of the township's administration and board members, who last week unanimously approved a procedure for the acceptance and advertising of bids.

The procedure, recommended by Supervisor Robert Greenstein, was prompted by a resident's criticism of renovation projects at township hall and the recreation center and confusion over remodeling at the township firehall.

Under the bidding procedure adopted by board members, the bidding process will not govern expenditures of less than $500. Township officials may award contracts for $500 to $1,000, after reviewing the prices of three companies or persons through an "open" bidding procedure.

Township officials will award contracts for $1,000 to $2,000 through advertised, sealed bids, unless the bidding process is waived by unanimous consent of the township board. Contracts for more than $2,000 will be awarded through advertised, sealed bids.

PETER BUNDARIN, a township resident and attorney, prompted board members to outline their bidding procedure when he questioned renovation expenditures at township hall and the recreation center at a recent board meeting.

Bundarin questioned the method used by township officials in awarding bids for the renovation projects. Township board members, he maintained, never awarded the contracts at a public meeting.

Funds used for the renovation, he said, were earmarked in the township's 1975 capital improvement account for the construction of a new township hall.

Bundarin's questions and criticisms prompted the administration to present a lengthy renovation report at last week's meeting.

THE TOWNSHIP, according to Greenstein, spent $26,000 to renovate the rented facility at Michigan and Sheldon, now used as a township recreation center. An expected $32,000 in federal funds, obtained through the U.S. Community Development Act program, will cover those costs.

The recreation center enabled township officials to expand the office space at township hall, Greenstein explained, where recreational activities had previously been held.

"We found that the main office (at township hall) was an extremely small room," the administration's report says. "Adjoining that room was an extremely large room used once a week in the daytime for senior citizens and several times a week in the evening for dancing lessons, dog training and other recreational activities."

"It was apparent to every member of the township board that it was patently ridiculous for the entire staff of the township to be located in one small room, when the vastly larger area was available."

"It was decided," the report continues, "that renovations should be undertaken at the old township hall for the purpose of buying time for township residents prior to the necessity of expenditures in the millions of dollars for the new facility."

"The feeling of the administration was that Canton Township would be better able to afford such an expenditure for a new facility based upon populations of 50,000 or 60,000 rather than placing the burden upon the present 27,000 people, with most of the benefit being enjoyed by people not yet in residence here."

TOTAL COST of the township hall renovation project is set at $24,000, according to Treasurer Carl Parsell.

Township officials spent about $11,000 of that amount to bring township hall up to code and repair the roof, furnace and insulation problems.

The township paid the low dollar for the renovation projects, according to Parsell and Greenstein.

A carpenter was hired at a non-union, hourly rate to perform the renovation work, they said. The township's administration and building inspector Charlie Thompson "shopped around" for the most economical materials, as previously arranged by the township board.

"This process enabled the township administration to effect the renovations without the necessity of hiring architects, prime contractors, consultants or any of the other usual expensive accoutrements for public con-

Pioneer school teacher, Edna Allen, dies at home

Edna M. Allen, 91, died Oct. 30 in Presbyterian Village. She had retired in 1950 after 38 years in the Plymouth Community School District as a principal and teacher. Edna M. Allen School on Haggerty Road was named in her honor when it opened in 1953.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, Miss Allen was principal of Plymouth High School from 1918 to 1923. She spent the rest of her teaching career as head of the English department at the high school, teaching 11th and 12th grades.

OVER THE YEARS, Miss Allen's students have remembered her words, and her quotes have become a part of their heritage.

Margaret Dunning recalls Miss Allen telling her class, "This class is socially, but not academically, inclined."

Juanita and Don Sutherland say, "She was a marvelous teacher—a disciplinarian, when you got to college you appreciated it."

Students recall Miss Allen's, "Drive on!" when she expected them to carry their work or their thoughts to further limits. They recall her drilling in grammar and insistence on memory work which they remember to this day.

She kept in touch with her students, especially her favorites.

Russell Kirk, author, columnist and conservative, was one of these and she continued her correspondence with him.

Born Sept. 27, 1884 near Ithaca, Mich., the oldest of eight children. She received her bachelor and masters degrees from the University of Michigan and began her teaching career in Bad Axe.

Her mother, Anna Mitchell Allen, lived until she was 100. She and Miss Allen lived for many years on Arthur Street in Plymouth.

FUNERAL SERVICES were conducted yesterday (Sunday) in Schrader Funeral Home by the Rev. Phillip R. Magee and Dr. Henry J. Walch. Burial was this morning (Monday) in Pine Grove Cemetery, Ithaca.

She is survived by: sisters, Mrs. Edward (Florence) Sluyter of Royal Oak, Mrs. Alger H. (Margaret) Wood of Detroit, and Miss Dorothy Allen of Birmingham; brothers, Lester J. Allen of Ithaca and Robert M. Allen of California; and several nieces and nephews.

Canton trustees debate how to lure industry

Canton's 1976 industrial development account has swollen above the $12,000 mark with immediate use of the funds still an uncertainty.

Township board members last week unanimously agreed to earmark refunded monies of the Plymouth County Development Commission (PCDC) for the industrial development account but failed to outline use of the funds during the 1976 year.

Board members turned down a recommendation of Trustee Brian Schwall, who served on the now defunct PCDC, to earmark an expected $2,500 in refunded PCDC funds for the Canton Chamber of Commerce to attract industry to the township on a contractual basis.

Officials delayed other action to hire an industrial development coordinator, an apparent goal of all township board members, until more funds accumulate in the industrial development account.

UNTIL RECENTLY, the PCDC performed the task of attracting industry to Canton and other municipalities within the Plymouth Community School District.

Members of the PCDC's board of directors voted in September to dissolve the group and refund residual monies to participating units of government.

The expected $2,500 in PCDC funds will hike Canton's 1976 industrial development account to $12,700. The township's administration originally proposed an industrial account of $6,200 in Canton's 1976 budget but hiked the account to $10,200 at the urging of residents.

Although all township board members apparently agree on the desirability of an industrial development coordinator, officials disagree on the action immediately needed to attract industry to the township.

UNDER SCHWALL'S recommendation, turned down by fellow board members, the township would contract for industrial promotion services with the Canton chamber for the price of the PCDC refund.

"I feel the Chamber is the most capable at this time to perform these services," said Schwall. "This would be a short-term attempt to solve an obvious problem."

Bart Berg, president of the chamber and a member of the Canton Planning Commission, said Chamber officials "lightly discussed" the contractual proposal, first broached by Schwall about a month ago.

"The general feeling was that we would be capable of doing it," Berg said. "We would want to spend the money for an inventory, so you could give an interested party a number of industrial sites to look at."

"That's one thing we need very badly—an industrial inventory of the facilities available and an inventory of the types of businesses not here and needed by 27,000 people. It's simply a matter of compiling this information and having it available."

Supervisor Robert Greenstein asked Berg if Chamber officials could conduct the inventory without the estimated $2,500 in PCDC funds. Township attorney Bert Burgoyne, Greenstein said, advised against donating the money to the Chamber for legal reasons.

Other board members disagreed with Schwall's suggestion of a contractual arrangement with the Chamber.

"I will actively work against contracting with the Chamber," said township Treasurer Carl Parsell. "The Chamber has openly opposed many of the things I've fought for. It actively supported the Mocerri project as it was. The township has to act as a protective agency for all 27,000 people."

Trustee Robert Myers agreed. "I'd oppose giving any private body money for development," he said. "People seem to think industry and commerce bring people in, but the people move here first. We have to protect the people."

ADDRESSING BERG, Greenstein added, "This is not a slap on the Chamber. We need someone who's a Well-known minister dies while making parish calls

The Rev. Paul M. Cargo, who served as senior minister at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth from 1968 until June of this year, died suddenly Oct. 30.

He was out making calls in his Clarkston parish and had stopped at a service station to ask directions when he suffered a heart attack. He died at 8:20 p.m. in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. Cargo had undergone open heart surgery in 1972, but had been in excellent spirits and health.

He was born in Clarkston, Mich., Dec. 7, 1921 while his father was a Methodist minister there. He graduated from Depauw University in 1943 and received his SPB from the Boston University School of Theology in 1945. He was ordained in the United Methodist Church in 1946 and in August of that year married Martha Thatcher.

He came to the Plymouth church from Garo and had served in Northville from 1957 to 1963.

A memorial service was scheduled for 2 p.m. today (Monday) in Clarkston United Methodist Church conducted by the Rev. Dale Miller and Sanford Burr of First United Methodist Church of Plymouth and the Rev. Robert P. Ward.

Rev. Cargo is survived by his wife, Martha; father, the Rev. Ira Cargo of Florida; sons, the Rev. William Cargo who is working on his doctorate at Vanderbilt University, and Paul, a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan; daughters, Mrs. Joseph (Rachel) O'Brien of Grosse Pointe, Libby of Boston, and Sally a student at Michigan State University; and brothers, David of Florida, and William, who is U.S. ambassador to Nepal.

Arrangements were made by the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home of Clarkston. The family has requested memorial tributes be made to the Michigan Heart Association or the United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Boy kidnapped from library

Thursday morning story hour for preschoolers at Dunning Hough Library took a strange twist when a child was grabbed as he entered the building and hustled into a waiting car.

Following cries of "Stop him. He's a kidnapper," two mothers ran into the parking lot attempting to get the license number of the car which headed toward Penniman Avenue.

Mrs. Elizabeth Vernon of Adams Street was taking her great-grandson, Wayne Hart, to the special Halloween story hour.

"The minute Wayne stepped in, he grabbed the child and ran," said Mrs. Vernon.

She said she recognized the man as the four-year-old's father, James Hart, who lives at 40 Brookside Drive, Northville.

LATE FRIDAY afternoon Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford said he was expecting a warrant for kidnapping to be issued by noon today (Monday).

Ford said he had contacted the FBI which had responded that because a natural parent was involved, the case did not come under its jurisdiction.

"But he should surrender immediately," said Ford. "He has committed a felony." Ford said he had received a call from Hart's attorney saying his client had asked for legal custody of his son and he expected a decision Monday from Wayne Circuit Judge Joseph Rashid.

The child lives with his mother, Gloria Green and Mrs. Vernon. Mrs. Green and Hart were divorced several years ago and the mother was given custody of the child.

PERSONS IN the library reported Hart had entered by the back door and bumped into several people as he headed for the front door where he paced up and down for a while before returning to the rear of the building.

"He was wearing a white shirt and dark trousers," said Mrs. Vernon. "At first I thought it was someone on the library staff picking up Wayne. He didn't have a costume and I thought they were going to take him in. Then I saw his face and it was Jim Hart."

At press-time the whereabouts of the child and his father were unknown.

Guns charge arrest

Responding to a call to the Plymouth State Police post recently, troopers arrested three men carrying guns in their car. Troopers Wayne Waldron (left) and James Besonen stopped the car on Joy Road, east of Lilley, arresting Donald W. Nowry, Jr., 29, of 40530 East Ann Arbor Trail; Robert G. McCollum, Jr., 41, same address; and John B. Davis, 55, of 407 Mill, Plymouth. Nowry and McCollum, free on $1,000 bond each and charged with carrying a concealed pistol in a motor vehicle, face pretrial examination today (Oct. 27). Davis, free on $100 bond, was charged with possession of an uncased gun. State police confiscated a fully-loaded shotgun and a .357 magnum which was found under the front seat. Canton may gain revenue

By DENNY COFFMAN

Growing communities like Westland and Canton Township stand to gain as a result of a new revenue sharing law.

Under provisions of the new law (formerly House Bill 4641), Westland can conduct its own census once during the 10-year period when no U.S. census is conducted.

Because revenue sharing funds are tied to population, Westland would benefit if it chose to conduct the census.

According to Kent Herbert, Westland budget director-controller, revenue sharing is the city's "second largest source of revenue."

Revenue-sharing funds are used in the same manner as funds from property taxes—for fire and police protection, building, and recreational improvements.

State Rep. Thomas Brown (whose district includes Canton and Westland) said Westland's revenue sharing portion of the state budget probably would not be affected by budget cuts contemplated by Gov. William Milliken.

"Revenue sharing is not in dire jeopardy," said Brown. "Communities such as Westland and Canton Township can still expect to see increases in their portion of revenue sharing funds."

Brown said Canton Township has grown from a population of about 11,000 in 1970, to its present 25,000. The township has already used its option, and taken an off-year census of its own.

Westland, on the other hand, has not conducted a census, but estimates from such agencies as the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority place the present Westland population at about 104,000.

Until the city chooses to take another census, at its own expense, revenue sharing funds will be based upon the 1970 census figures of 86,000.

"That increase would be more than the required 15 per cent growth a community needs to conduct a new census," said Brown "and thus qualify for additional funds."

Revenue sharing funds are reimbursements from the state to cities that perform functions for the state, such as running the district courts.

"It's only fair that the state bear some of the financial burden for the programs and regulations which it has mandated."

Westland, according to Brown, will receive $2.4 million in revenue sharing; Canton Township, $270,000; the City of Wayne, $640,000; and Plymouth Township, $170,000.

But the governor would be permitted to reduce those amounts by about 3.5 per cent, according to Brown's office.

Though Brown voted for HB 4641, he did not vote for House Bill 4640, referred to as the "single business tax bill." HB 4640 was passed, and it, too, is now law. Its success will help determine state spending.

"We'll never know until after Jan. 1 if it'll work or not," said Brown in reference to the tax. "It represents an increase in revenues of $180 million over the previous year, and these funds will be used to balance the state budget."

"I've had some doubt about the amount it will raise," said Brown, "and I'm skeptical about the effect upon small business."

Canton seeks derailment damages

Canton and Plymouth Township officials hope to regain some of the municipal funds expended during the train derailment crisis near Canton's Stonybrook Apartments last September.

The Canton Board of Trustees has authorized township Treasurer Carl Parsell to submit the township's bill of $7,000 as well as Plymouth Township's expense of about $1,500 to the C & O Railroad.

THE TOWNSHIPS spent the funds last September in an all-day vigilance at a ruptured gasoline pipeline owned by the Buckeye Pipeline Co. An estimated 71,000 gallons of gasoline gushed from the pipeline when a derailed train car struck and ruptured the underground pipe. Residents of Stonybrook Apartments were forced to evacuate their homes when fumes threatened the nearby apartment complex.

The bulk of funds expended by Canton and Plymouth townships was the cost of a chemical foam used to prevent explosions, according to Parsell and Plymouth Township Fire Chief James Gignac.

Canton Township spent more than $4,000 for the foam; almost $2,000 for overtime charges of fire department personnel; and almost $1,000 for overtime charges of building department, DPW and office personnel.

Plymouth Township, which assisted Canton through the townships' mutual aid pact, spent $1,574 for firefighters' overtime, food and foam, Gignac said.

ALTHOUGH RAILROAD officials are not accepting blame for the event, the C & O Railroad will reimburse residents forced to evacuate their homes for food and lodging costs, ac-ording to Alvin R. Carpenter, the railroad's superintendent of operations. Carpenter said railroad officials will meet with representatives of Buckeye Pipeline Co. to determine liability.

struction," the administrative report explains.

Township board members last week agreed by a 6-1 vote to use the same procedure at the township firehall. Estimated cost of that project is set at $7,000.

Chamber sets meeting series

The Canton Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a series of three breakfast meetings for members and interested residents.

The meetings are scheduled for Wednesdays, Nov. 5, 12 and 19 from 7:30 to 9 a.m. at the Harvard Restaurant, located in the Harvard Square Shopping Center at Ford and Sheldon roads.

Local business persons will discuss their operations and expectations from the chamber and township government at the first two meetings. Public officials may express their views and outlook for Canton Township at the third meeting.

Persons should call the Canton chamber to make reservations. A $10 donation is requested for the series.

3 more work on bicentennial

Three Canton residents have joined the Canton Township Bicentennial Commission with approval of their appointments by the township board.

Newly appointed members are Dominic Cirino, 6601 Carriage Hills; Charles Zazula, 1350 Willard; and Mary Ann Miller, 42969 Versailles.

Joseph N. DeLauro, chairman of the Canton Bicentennial Commission, recommended the three appointments. The appointees, he said, have already worked on township bicentennial projects.

Other members of the Canton Bicentennial Commission include John Cojei, Lauren Buehrle, Bud Magaldi and Clarence Partin.

township board's meeting room for an hourly rate. Workers will hook new microphones and a tape recorder to the room's existing public address system.

Township board members last week authorized the administration to appoint Thompson, who will accept bids for materials, as contractor of the renovation project. According to Parsell's motion, officials will not spend more than $7,500 for the renovation work.

TRUSTEE BRAIN Schwall cast the one dissenting vote against Parsell's resolution. "I think you're confusing the difference in paying bills and advance approval of expenditures," he said.

Trustee Jim Poole agreed. "I've never discussed expenditures for the recreation center or the township hall in public," he said. "We've approved bills for certain expenditures, but I've never discussed them in public in advance."

Greenstein maintains all board members approved the procedure under which renovation work was conducted.

"There's nothing that says we have to pay union wages," the supervisor stressed. "There's nothing that says we have to cheat the taxpayer, when we have a guy working at one-third of the cost of anyone else."

Trustee Gerald Cheske conducted a survey of bidding procedures in local communities and found an element there that, he said, Canton lacks.

"When I talked to people today, it was apparent they have trust in their fellow officials," Cheske said. "It's very apparent some members of this board don't have that trust. I've heard this constant carping for more than a year over minute subjects."

Board members agreed to schedule an open house at the renovated township hall from Nov. 17-21. Board members proclaimed that period "Canton Township Week."

professional and will go out and get the industry. I suggest instead of going for first base, we try for a home run."

Berg reiterated his support of an industrial development coordinator.

"I highly agree with you," he told Greenstein. "I would be the happiest person in Canton Township if you agreed to hire an industrial coordinator tonight."

Trustee Gerald Cheske moved to place the refunded PCDC money in the township's industrial development fund and directed Schwall to bring a final PCDC report to the township board table. That motion was unanimously approved.

"I just don't think the money ought to be given to the Chamber," Cheske said. "I would rather see the money put in the industrial budget so we could build up a fund and eventually establish an economic development committee with a director."

Junior Baseball elects directors

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League has elected officers and directors for the coming year and invites any resident interested in the program to begin attending monthly meetings.

Officers for 1976 are: president, Dan Goodrich; internal vice-president, Jerry Stevens; external vice-president, Paul Denski; executive secretary, Jack Bologna; and executive treasurer, Jeanne Goodrich.

Discussing Sunday's memorial concert to former flutist Nelson Hauenstein are Cleon Chapen (left), first flutist of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, and guest conductor Emil Raab.

Army of flutes to fill auditorium

The sprightly, twinkling tones of an army of flutes will fill the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium this Sunday for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's memorial concert to former flutist Nelson Hauenstein.

The concert, scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 9 at 4 p.m. in the Plymouth Salem auditorium, is dedicated to Hauenstein, who filled the Plymouth Symphony's flutist chair for 25 years and served as assistant dean of the University of Michigan's School of Music until his death from cancer last year at the age of 54.

Tickets, purchased at the door for Sunday's concert, are priced at $3.50 for adults and $1.75 for senior citizens. Admission to students in grades kindergarten through 12 is free. In addition, family memberships will be sold at the door, according to membership chairperson Annette Heindryck.

CLEAN CHAPEN, who now serves as the orchestra's first flutist, and other Hauenstein students will join guest conductor Emil Raab for the memorial concert.

The program features Faure's suite from "Peleas and Melisande," Griffes' "Poeme for Flute and Orchestra" with Chapen as soloist; Telemann's "Suite in A Minor for Flute and Strings;" and Brahms' "Symphony No. 1 in C Minor, Opus 68."

"I don't want a memorial concert to Nelson Hauenstein to be deadly or a dirge. He liked fun," said Wayne Dunlap, musical director of the Plymouth Symphony, who is recuperating from a mid-August heart attack.

"Nelson and his wife, Louise, were the backbone of the orchestra. There was a wholesome quality about the man. I liked his flute tone very much; it was a big tone. In this concert, I want to recall the efforts he made on behalf of the Plymouth Symphony."

HAUSTEIN, who held bachelors and masters of music degrees from the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, New York, and U-M, joined the Plymouth Symphony in 1949. His widow, Louise, played flute with the Plymouth Symphony until the advent of his illness.

One of the organizers of the U-M Woodwind Quintet and Baroque Trio, Hauenstein performed with the chamber groups on radio, television and the concert stage for years and made numerous solo appearances with Michigan orchestras and bands.

Chapen, whom Dunlap describes as "one of Nelson's last really good students" will perform Griffes' "Poeme for Flute and Orchestra" at Sunday's concert. A flock of other Hauenstein students will appear as mass soloists in Telemann's "Suite in A Minor for Flute and Strings."

"It's a piece that can accommodate two or 102 flutists," Dunlap said of the Telemann suite. "Baroque is like that."

THE PROGRAM will open with one of Hauenstein's favorite works—"Peleas and Melisande." It will close with Brahms' first symphony, a giant work sometimes dubbed "the Tenth."

It's cider time

Two fifth grade classes from Plymouth's Starkweather Elementary School went into the apple and cider business as a means of raising funds for their annual spring trip. Busy washing apples are Michelle Bancroft and Laura Montoyo. (Staff photos by Maurie Walker)

Students from Helen Moyer's class hard at work peeling apples which will eventually become cider. The children obtained the apples from the Woods farm on Warren where they spent a month picking apples with the help of their parents.

After the apples are cut, the students dumped them into a grinder, the next step in making cider. Each year the fifth grade Starkweather students enter a project for a out-of-state trip in the spring.

Lori Eddlemon, right, takes on the chore of grinding the apples while members of her class look on. Parents are credited with helping to make the project a success.

Plastic bottles, which were collected and washed by the students, are used for the cider which the students are selling. They also sold some of the better apples for eating and cooking.

Husk will complete his six weeks of basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas, before receiving advanced technical training.

JUDY WEST, daughter of Wallace and Patricia West of Lakeland Court, Plymouth, has really become active at Adrian College and attributes some of her success to help received by a Plymouth Salem instructor.

Ms. West, a 1973 graduate of Plymouth Salem, has received an Adrian College scholarship for the third consecutive school year. She is a junior majoring in Spanish and is interested in a bilingual education. She has been consistently named to the college's semester dean's list and will soon be initiated into Alpha Chi national college honor scholarship society. She is also a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma social sorority and past member of Circle K service club.

While at Salem, she was an honor society student, active in volleyball, track and the Spanish Club, and accompanied a tour to Spain plus serving as a teacher's aide at Pioneer Middle School.

Ms. West says her high school Spanish teachers, particularly Carmelo Crespo and former Salem instructor Judy Bleau, were instrumental in her education. "They were all very helpful and influenced my decision to study Spanish at college.

Of her parents, she says: "One of my parents' biggest contributions to me has been sending me to college. They are very encouraging and stress to me the importance of good grades and high academic performance." Ms. West has set a June, 1976, date for her marriage to DANIEL HEES of Plymouth who is an Adrian senior majoring in business administration.

PLYMOUTH MIDDLE SCHOOL West has elected student council officers for this year. They are: president, BETH SZILAGYI; vice-president, BLAKE LUNDBERG; recording Before it's stamped Wrigley, it's got to be stamped Choice.

Inspected... and re-inspected

When you pick up a Wrigley steak or roast, you'll find a little label on it that says "USDA Choice." It has a nice ring to it. But just exactly what does it mean?

The United States Department of Agriculture inspects all beef sold in supermarkets. If the Federal Inspector stamps a side of beef "USDA Choice", you know it's one of the best grades of beef you can buy.

But in addition, Wrigley's meat buyer personally examines every side of beef; and only when he is satisfied that the meat is among the very best of USDA Choice will he accept it and stamp it "Wrigley", too.

That's why every steak and roast in a Wrigley meat case looks so downright tempting... why the meat is bright red and "marbled" with little streaks of fat for juicy tenderness. That's Wrigley Choice.

Veal and lamb, too

Wrigley's meat buyer uses the same standards when he buys veal and lamb.

Only the very best of USDA Choice veal and lamb get the Wrigley stamp.

Some of Wrigley's most popular cuts of beef, veal, and lamb are on the next two pages. All tender, juicy meats. All at prices that make buying them a pleasure. Because they're all Wrigley's USDA Choice. And because they've all been trimmed according to a very strict set of rules every Wrigley butcher is trained to follow.

It's a set of rules that gives you less waste, more good eating for your dollar. We call it Added Valu-Trim.

Wrigley quality USDA Choice and Added Valu-Trim. They add up to the best meat value in town. Try them!

Plymouth-Canton OBITUARIES

EDNA M. ALLEN
Funeral services for Miss Allen, 91, of 17383 Garfield, Detroit, were conducted in the Schrader Funeral Home by the Rev. Phillip R. Magee and the Rev. Henry J. Walch. Burial was at Pine Grove Cemetery, Ithaca, Mich.
She died Oct. 30 in Presbyterian Village. Miss Allen worked as a teacher in the Plymouth Community School from 1918 to 1950. Allen Elementary School is named in her honor.
Survivors include: sisters Mrs. Florence Sluyter of Royal Oak, Mrs. Margaret Wood of Detroit and Miss Dorothy Allen of Birmingham; brothers Lester Allen of Ithaca and Robert Allen of Tustin, Calif.

LYDIA ARONEN
Funeral services for Mrs. Aronen of Warren Road, Plymouth Township, were held recently in Harry J. Will Funeral Home with cremation at Evergreen Cemetery.
Mrs. Aronen, 93, died Oct. 4 in the Hanlon Convalescent Home in Plymouth Township of respiratory failure after being ill six months. She was a housewife.

Survivors include: sons, George of Wixom and Veikko of Farmington Hills; brother, Arthur Lindfors of Florida; one grandchild and two great-grandchildren.
ANNETTE MASS
Funeral services for Mrs. Mass, 52, of River Oaks, Plymouth, were held in Schrader Funeral Home and Nielsens Funeral Home, Lakewood, Ohio, by Pastor David Hodgson. Burial was at Brooklyn Heights Cemetery in Ohio.
She died Oct. 8 in Hutzel Hospital. She came to the community in 1972 from Indianapolis and Cleveland, and was a member of Faith Lutheran Church.
Survivors are: husband, Roy W. Mass; mother, Mrs. Nettie Grieger of Lakewood; and brother, Arthur Grieger of Lakewood.

Intragovernmental cooperation urged by commission hopefuls

More cooperation between governmental units was one of the issues discussed recently by candidates for the Plymouth City Commission during a candidates night sponsored by the Plymouth-Northville-Canton League of Women Voters.
City commission candidates were asked to discuss participation between the city, Plymouth and Canton townships; and the Plymouth Community School District.

Reverly McAninch, incumbent, said the city has an obligation to participate in any mutually agreeable program if all the units pay their own way.
"I have some reservations about the city providing police protection and recreation. Plymouth Township is deficient in these areas and this is the primary motivation left for them to join us in a consolidation movement, which I still hope is the ultimate goal."
She said it was possible, though, for the city to contract with Plymouth Township for police protection and refuse pick up.

DAVID PUGH, urged cooperation among the municipal units within the school district. "Plymouth must get involved if it is to have any governmental influence in the greater community which is experiencing faster growth than the city."
TEX THOMAN, member of the city planning commission said he felt the city's offer to Plymouth Township to contract police services for a combined police force was a very equitable one and he regretted the township turned it down.
Thoman added that Plymouth Township's ladder truck in the fire department is presently used more often in the city than in the township.
Thomas Turner, former school board member now serving on the Plymouth-Canton Development Commission (PCDC), said it was important that there be cooperation in certain areas in the total community—including Canton as well as Plymouth Township.
"We need cooperation in the area of development. I feel the PCDC has been productive and helpful and I'm sorry to see it being disbanded."
"Unification between Plymouth and Plymouth Township is the ultimate in terms of efficiency. Short of that, we shouldn't offer services on an incremental basis. It's important that the township be left with some incentives for consolidation."

New books in library

ALAN JENKINS, "The Twenties." No decade of this century had such a distinctive flavor and legendary atmosphere as the twenties. In Alan Jenkins' book, vividly illustrated chapters describe the great musical comedies and revues, the sensational murder trials, Art Deco, the Cubists, and the fast-changing fashions—the bob and the Eton crop, the cloche hat and the short skirt.
Here, recorded and illustrated from original sources, is the real world of "No. No. Nanette," the Charleston, "Vanity Fair," Prohibition, the British General Strike, and "Lady Chatterley's Lover." Nostalgia galore!

LAWRENCE LESHAN, "How to Meditate." A practical guide to meditation, drawing upon the meditational practices of such disciplines as Zen, Sati, Yoga, and Christian and Jewish mysticism. LeShan explains why we meditate, how to meditate, and what meditation does psychologically and physiologically. He shows how it is possible to achieve a focusing of energies, an increased concentration and confidence that lead to great efficiency in everyday life, and eventually to a higher, inner peace.

Dr. Marilyn B. Rosanes-Berrett, "Do You Really Need Eyeglasses?" The usual eyeglass syndrome seems to commence with the first prescription for glasses and escalate through increasingly stronger prescriptions. As vision accommodates to a new prescription, the eyes seem to become gradually weaker. Dr. Rosanes-Berrett says there is a way to stop this escalation — through sight-training techniques, which relax the eyes and the mind, and thus improve vision. The author also offers easy-to-do techniques to correct such common defects as myopia, astigmatism, night blindness, and crossed eyes.

Clarenceville hails first grid title in 20 years

Clarenceville has a championship football team for the first time in 20 years.

The Trojans walloped Woodhaven, 35-6, Friday night while Oak Park was socking Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 19-6, to give Clarenceville and the other two teams 4-2 marks.

Because the league has only four schools, they played a home and home series and Clarenceville, Oak Park and Annapolis each beat the other to finish as tri-champs of the Metro West League.

"This is our best finish since 1971 when we went 6-3 and 1970 when we had a 7-2 mark," Clarenceville coach Ralph Weddle said.

Weddle, who had a 37-game unbeaten streak in high school when he coached in South Dakota, has fallen on hard times the past three years.

But his Trojans, led by sophomore split end Tim McCammitt, who grabbed five passes for 205 yards and two touchdowns, have a share of a title this year.

Weddle has unending praise for his sophomore star. "If Tim doesn't make all-area, I'll really be surprised," said Weddle.

McCammitt caught five passes for gains of 95 yards, 45 yards, 30, 20 and 15 yards, with the first two going for touchdowns. Then, when halfback Rick Canady, who scored on a 10-yard run, got hurt, McCammitt, a 5-10, 160

'Spanky' a winner

Keith Anleitner, former Garden City East grid star, has been nicknamed "Spanky" because of his tackling leadership of the "Our Gang Defense" at Wayne State University. He was co-winner of defensive player of the week for the game against NE Missouri. This is his second selection of the season and fifth in his WSU career.

Still tops

WSU sophomore Dean Morrison, former Livonia Franklin gridster, was blanked in receptions in Wayne's tussle with NE Missouri after catching at least one pass in the first five games, but he is still the team's top receiver on 13-245 for one TD. Career-wise, he's tied for 13th in catches with 25 and is ninth in receiving yardage with 495 yards.

Two-time winner

Randy Epley, former Livonia Franklin football player and now a sophomore linebacker with Wayne State University, has been two-time player of the week winner for his outstanding performance in Wayne's Valpo win.

95-yard scoring bomb to end the scoring.

Clarenceville is now 4-2 in the league and 4-4 overall. Weddle's crew collected 427 yards to Woodhaven's 175. On defense, the coach singled out end Ken Dejarrels and linebacker Clyde Simpson for fine work and said halfback Rick Canady played another fine offensive game.

The Trojans wind up the season with a journey to Ortonville Brandon for an 8 p.m. Friday night tilt.

Dolmetsch aerials pace Spartan win

By JIM BAWOL

Cold winds and costly mistakes high-lighted an afternoon of hard hitting football between Stevenson and Thurston Friday as the Spartans of John Reardon emerged victorious, 20-16.

Quarterback Jim Dolmetsch fired three touchdown passes as his team ran its season mark to 6-2 while Don Riehl's Eagles fell to 2-6.

Dolmetsch hit on four consecutive passes and then with less than four minutes remaining in the first quarter, he located tailback John Lokar in the endzone with a six-yard pass. Kicker Bill Rowley added the first of his two extra points as Stevenson led, 7-0.

Thurston responded with nine points to take a 9-7 edge at halftime.

It took a series of playing mistakes, including a fumble by Stevenson deep in its own end and then a safety, to give the Eagles its two-point intermission edge.

First, Thurston linebacker Keith Schauder recovered a Spartan fumble deep in Stevenson territory and halfback Gary Abundis raced 12 yards for the score and then kicked the tying point.

Thurston moved deep into Spartan turf in the second quarter where Bill Rowley apparently ended the drive with a pass interception, but the fine play back-fired when Rowley ran out of the endzone, then retreated indecisively to the endzone where he was tackled for Thurston's two-point safety.

Chuck DeMarco, who gained 39 yards in 12 carries, was injured in the third quarter and was carried from the field. That's when Dolmetsch went to the air and found wide-receiver Ron Colone with a 19-yard scoring toss. Rowley's extra point kick was blocked as Stevenson's lead held at 13-9.

Dolmetsch gave Reardon's squad a little breathing room when he zeroed in on John Lokar with a five-yard touchdown pass and Rowley made it 20-9 with his PAT.

Thurston came right back and QB Roy Piliagian connected with split end Dennis Kuschel on a 34-yard scoring play, Kuschel's fourth long scoring catch in his last five games.

Stevenson outgained Thurston, 223-159, and had seven first downs to the Eagles' five. Abundis gained 67 yards in 16 attempts for Thurston and Piliagian hit on five of 12 passes for 57 yards and one touchdown.

Dolmetsch completed 10 of 17 aeri-als for 113 yards and three Tds. "Jim's progressed a great deal since his first game this season," Reardon said of Dolmetsch. "He played a little last year, but in the last five or six games this year, he's come on very strong."

Edsel Ford routs RU

Redford Union, struggling through one of its worst football seasons ever, not only is being defeated by big scores but is having trouble putting points on the board.

Friday night Bob Atkins' squad suffered its sixth shutout in eight games as Dearborn Edsel Ford rolled to a 42-0 win after holding a slim 7-0 lead at halftime.

The Thunderbirds, on the three touchdown passes of quarterback Steve Betz, upped its Suburban League record to 5-2 and tied Dearborn for second place while RU and Allen Park shared the basement with 0-7 marks.

After Thunderbird tailback Erik Flowers scored on a six-yard pass from Betz in the first half, he romped 18 yards to up Edsel Ford's lead to 14-0. Tight end Mike Golles scored on a 50-yard pass play and repeated on a 15-yard TD reception.

Fullback Dave Piacentini rounded out the home team's scoring with a pair of touchdown dashes of three and 30 yards to wrap up the scoring as Bob Dahmen kicked all six extra points.

This Saturday Redford Union will travel to Thurston for a 2 p.m. battle as the Panthers look for their first win in a 0-8 season.

editorial opinion

Daniels Den

By EMORY DANIELS

How would you feel if your car broke down and there wasn't any gasoline station you could call for road service, or the nearest facility was five miles away?

It's not a very comforting thought, but it is a situation which could face Plymouth and Canton residents if some gasoline retailers have their way.

WITH THE energy crunch and rising prices for gasoline, corporations such as Boron and Total are converting their stations to gasoline-only facilities and shutting down the repair services.

In a community northeast of here, some station owners who have served their customers for 10-25 years have been ordered by their parent companies to sell gasoline and oil only. The station operators are very unhappy about the orders, but are caught in a bind where they are having to turn away customers who want repairs.

If this conversion is continued, the lack of competition in the auto repair field will mean motorists will be charged higher and higher prices for mechanical service. Besides costing more, the service will be less readily available.

CANTON TOWNSHIP ran into a problem with Boron, which received site plan approval for a full-service gasoline station, and then switched to a gasoline-only operation when it began construction.

Because of this experience, Canton is considering writing into its new master plan separate zoning classifications for gas stations. One classification would require repair service facilities, and the other would allow stations which only pump gasoline.

This is a good approach because the township can control the locations of the two types of stations and spread the service facilities geographically to better serve stranded motorists—even those stranded in the driveway with a dead battery.

A similar approach should be considered by the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, which are faced with the same problem. A lawsuit against Canton by Boron established the necessity of specifying in local ordinance that a station must offer repair service. Without such a measure, local motorists' needs will be left at the whim of corporate decision-makers.

The Intragovernmental Committee might well want to get involved on this one because it will become a community-wide problem if not attacked properly.

Plymouth-Canton hasn't been hit yet with the gasoline-only stations as have nearby communities, but the writing's on the pump.

The Stroller

Death recalls famous fight

W.W. EDGAR

The present generation of boxing fans or sports followers may not know of him, but the death in Paris, France, this week, of Georges Carpentier, stirred memories of the most bizarre build-up for a prize fight and the first million dollar gate, when he fought Jack Dempsey, in 1921.

The present day antics of Mohammed Ali pale into insignificance when compared to the maneuvering that went on -- including the building of a new arena--before the bell rang for the first round, and Dempsey's manager talking himself out of $200,000.

In those days Tex Rickard had come out of the West to promote Jack Dempsey's battles. He had received his baptism as a promoter when he offered $100,000 for the ill-fated Jack Johnson-Jim Jeffries fight in Reno, Nevada-- and made money on it.

No one ever had heard of so large a purse. Now Tex was in New York and hankering to get going.

Who could he get to fight Dempsey who had man-handled Jess Willard down in Toledo to win the heavyweight title?

There didn't seem to be anyone around. Finally, Carpentier's name was mentioned. For a time it was discounted because he was smaller than Dempsey even though he was light heavyweight champion.

DETERMINED TO GET started in the East, Rickard finally sent "Diamond Jim" Brady to Paris to sign Carpentier at any cost.

He did-- with a price tag of $200,000. This was a sum that folks in those days only dreamed about.

When news of the guarantee leaked out Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager and a fast man with a dollar, who originally had a deal to split all gates with Rickard, said to him:

"Now all you have to do is sign Dempsey."

Startled, Tex asked, "what about our deal?"

"That's out," Kearns answered. "If you can pay the Frenchman that kind of money, you can pay us, too."

Rickard had no alternative. He had to agree. Then began the build-up. A new stadium-- a big pine saucer-- was built in Jersey City and named "Boyle's Thirty Acres"

As the stadium neared completion Carpentier, now known as "The Orchid Man" was brought over here and kept in hiding at a training camp in Manhasset, N.Y. Tex, looked at him upon arrival and decided he had to hide his frailty from the public to protect the gate.

THESE ACTIONS stirred the country as it never had been stirred for a prize fight. The fans flocked to the wooden saucer, only to see a one-sided fight in which Dempsey won in four rounds.

When the fight ended and the gate receipts counted the first million dollar gate was realized.

Sitting in the group around the money table Kearns, rubbed his hands and said, "Imagine that! A half-million bucks for four rounds."

"Oh, no," Rickard countered, "you wanted a guarantee of $300,000 and that's all you'll get."

Many a time, in later years, Kearns laughed at the thought of talking himself and Dempsey out of $200,000.

It was a bizarre ending to the greatest build-up in boxing history.

How does The Stroller remember the details so well?

It was the first major fight he covered to begin a long sports writing career.

From our readers— Canton views on post office

Editor:

We sympathize with George A. Hudson, the Plymouth taxpayer who would like Canton to have its own mailing address, zip code and hopefully a separate school system.

He is justified guarding the identity of such a beautiful city as Plymouth because, unfortunately, as population increases the quality of a community tends to decrease.

Thanks given to UNICEF workers

Editor:

On behalf of the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women, I would like to thank all the children, youth and adults who so willingly canvassed Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships for UNICEF.

It was tremendous working with such enthusiastic people to help make the 25th anniversary of Trick or Treat for UNICEF significant and meaningful for children all around the world.

I would also like to thank the Plymouth and Canton residents who opened their doors to the Trick or Treaters and contributed to the cause of fighting hunger, disease and ignorance for millions of children.

I applaud all who helped in any way for a tremendous job well done.

Editor:

I have read with a great deal of interest of the activities of "Concerned Parents."

I am one concerned parent who is an enthusiastic supporter of modular scheduling.

I have had three children of my own and three foreign exchange students graduate from Plymouth Salem High since the advent of the modular system and currently have two children enrolled in it.

All have enjoyed the benefits of a more individualized learning program and a wider choice of courses available. In addition, they learned to budget their time in high school instead of waiting until they were away at college.

I am also a volunteer in the Salem library and have seen, first hand, students using their unscheduled time in productive ways.

The problems that exist aren't inherent in the system and can be attacked without attacking the system itself.

A choice between modular and traditional scheduling is now given to ninth and tenth graders. If you eliminate modular scheduling, you eliminate that choice for the majority of students who are able to profit by it.

Bicentennial volunteers needed for parade

Former Detroit City Councilmember Mary Beck and Mrs. Peg Foley of the Polish Roman Catholic Union of America will coordinate statewide ethnic participation in the May 2 bicentennial parade sponsored by Wayne County, it was announced by Ervin A. Steiner Jr.

Steiner, a county commissioner chairing all Wayne County bicentennial activities, said he was delighted with the appointment of "these extremely active women who will head up one of the most important segments of the world's largest parade."

Following her appointment at an Oct. 14 meeting of the parade's steering committee, Ms. Beck said: "In addition to working directly with the many ethnic groups which have expressed interest in the parade, Peg Foley and I intend to contact foreign consulates in the Detroit area to encourage their participation which would lend an international flavor to the celebration."

STEINER TOLD the committee that it will take 20,000 volunteers to stage the mammoth parade which will wind its way for nine miles down Woodward Avenue from the Michigan State Fairgrounds to the Civic Center.

"We need 250 floats, representing every aspect of American life," Steiner said. "To meet that goal, we are actively seeking coordinators who will be responsible for setting up sub-committees that will contact business groups, schools, labor unions, churches, civic groups. In other words, any group that wants to be a part of this history-making celebration."

"As an example, I need someone who will chair a committee that will call every mayor in Michigan to line up floats from their communities."

"There are hundreds of other jobs, too. Anyone who wants to help should write to me," he announced.

Steiner confirmed out-state participation in the parade is growing, and that there would be a trophy, presented to the group that brings a float the longest distance from Detroit.

THE STEERING committee also voted to hold a non-denominational church service for parade participants at the Michigan State Fair band shell just prior to the parade starting time, now scheduled for 11 a.m.

Steiner named Gary Binder, a Detroit schoolteacher, to coordinate the service as well as serve as religious float coordinator for the parade.

One of Binder's jobs is to obtain fifteen or more clergymen from all faiths to participate in the special Thanksgiving service to commemorate the nation's founding and history.

OTHER COORDINATOR appointments include: Jim Powell of Detroit, military coordinator; Edith Furcsik of Livonia, Ms. Wayne County Bicentennial beauty pageant; Tom Turner and Mary Ruiz of the AFL-CIO, labor; Neil O'Connor, Dearborn Heights, marathon race; Bruce Fausone, Grosse Pointe Woods, plaques, trophies and awards; Dr. Sinclair Finch, East Detroit, medical services; Cliff Heldt, Grosse Pointe Woods, communications; and Boyce Tope, Detroit, auto show.

Also, James Cole, St. Clair Shores, parade starter; Roy Scharfenberg, Grosse Pointe, antique cars; Sgt. Joseph Schmidt, Detroit Police Department, safety; Leonard Sabuda, Detroit, State Fairgrounds; and Gloria Williams, Highland Park, community organizations. Peg Foley is from Dearborn Heights.

Anyone interested in joining this parade as a coordinator or worker should write Commissioner Ervin Steiner Jr., Chairman, Wayne County Bicentennial Committee, 726 City-County Building, Detroit, 48226.

SC robbed of $60

Three Detroit men charged with the Oct. 31 armed robbery of the Schoolcraft College cashier's office are scheduled for a pre-trial hearing at 1:30 p.m., Nov. 6, in Livonia District Court.

Charged are Gregory Hankerson, 19, Warren Thomas, 23, and Charles Clemons, 21.

The defendants pled innocent at their arraignment Friday before Judge James Mies and were jailed after failing to post $2,500 bonds each.

Police said Hankerson held up the cashier's office in the administration building at gunpoint.

An estimated $60 was stolen and recovered.

Fred Renbeck, the college's public safety director, said the robbers were apprehended through the cooperation of college employees and police officers. He cited security officers Ron Randall and Ken Stamper; business manager, E.F. Peterson; and custodians Grant Fisher, Dennis Stover, Russ Duncan and Gary Wright for their action.

Renbeck said that one of the robbers tried to run him down in the parking lot before driving away from the campus.

The trio was apprehended by Ptl. Carl Varner on Seven Mile, about two miles from the campus, after a chase.

Renbeck said it was the first holdup in the college's 13-year history.

The campus is on the east side of Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile.

Joanne Hennessy scaled this furniture to the size of "Little Women" doll series.

Nine rooms of doll house are furnished with Queen Anne style furniture. House, furniture and accessories were created by Joanne Hennessy.

18th century doll house charms kids of all ages

By ELINOR GRAHAM

It has to be one of the most outstanding doll houses in existence. A lady stood for two hours—just looking. Children stand transfixed, examining each detail of the nine fully-furnished rooms.

The 18th century federal and Greek revival style house and its furnishings were created by Joanne Luers Hennessy of 17451 Sunset, Livonia. It will be on display in Muriel's Doll House on Penniman Avenue in Plymouth until Nov. 13.

Mrs. Hennessy started to build the doll house in February of this year. The exterior walls and roof are made of tongue depressors and popsicle sticks.

The furniture is made of pine and finished with walnut stain. She uses two tools, a jigsaw and a grinding wheel.

THE QUEEN ANNE period pieces are perfect to the finest detail.

Desks, chairs, beds, tables, cradle and candle sconces are scaled down to fit naturally into the rooms.

Joanne Hennessy says she sometimes looks over her library of 18th century furniture books to get an idea. But, the bathtub is a copy of one she saw in "The Three Musketeers" movie. The bishop's chair is a miniature of one she spotted on a television program.

There is a floor globe with a round stand and spindles. The map of the world is complete, painted on a table tennis ball. (Collector's note: I believe one of these retails at $50.)

Caning on several pieces is authentic—done with a needle and thread. There is a chessboard set up with tiny men in place. A three-part hinged screen gives partial privacy to the fancy bathtub.

Dolls which inhabit the house were the contribution of Mrs. Hennessy's sister.

MATS AND CARPETS were custom designed for each room. There are finely crocheted throw rugs and some of needlepoint. Mrs. Hennessy said she spent three days embroidering the wedding ring design for an area rug. She did the whole thing in chain stitch.

Some walls are paneled and some papered. She uses fine printed fabric to simulate wallpaper and says the trick is to put the paste on the walls, not the fabric.

The stairway is a work of art in itself. White spindles, which look as if they were carefully turned on a lathe, hold the varnished banister.

Mrs. Hennessy grew up in a home filled with antiques and said she always liked miniatures.

Four years ago she decided to try her hand at manufacturing some scaled down items. She started with primitives.

Her skill has reached a point where it seems nothing is beyond her talents. The lovely Queen Anne desk, (shown in the photo with the Little Women dolls) was the result of a sketch she made after midnight when the design seemed to materialize.

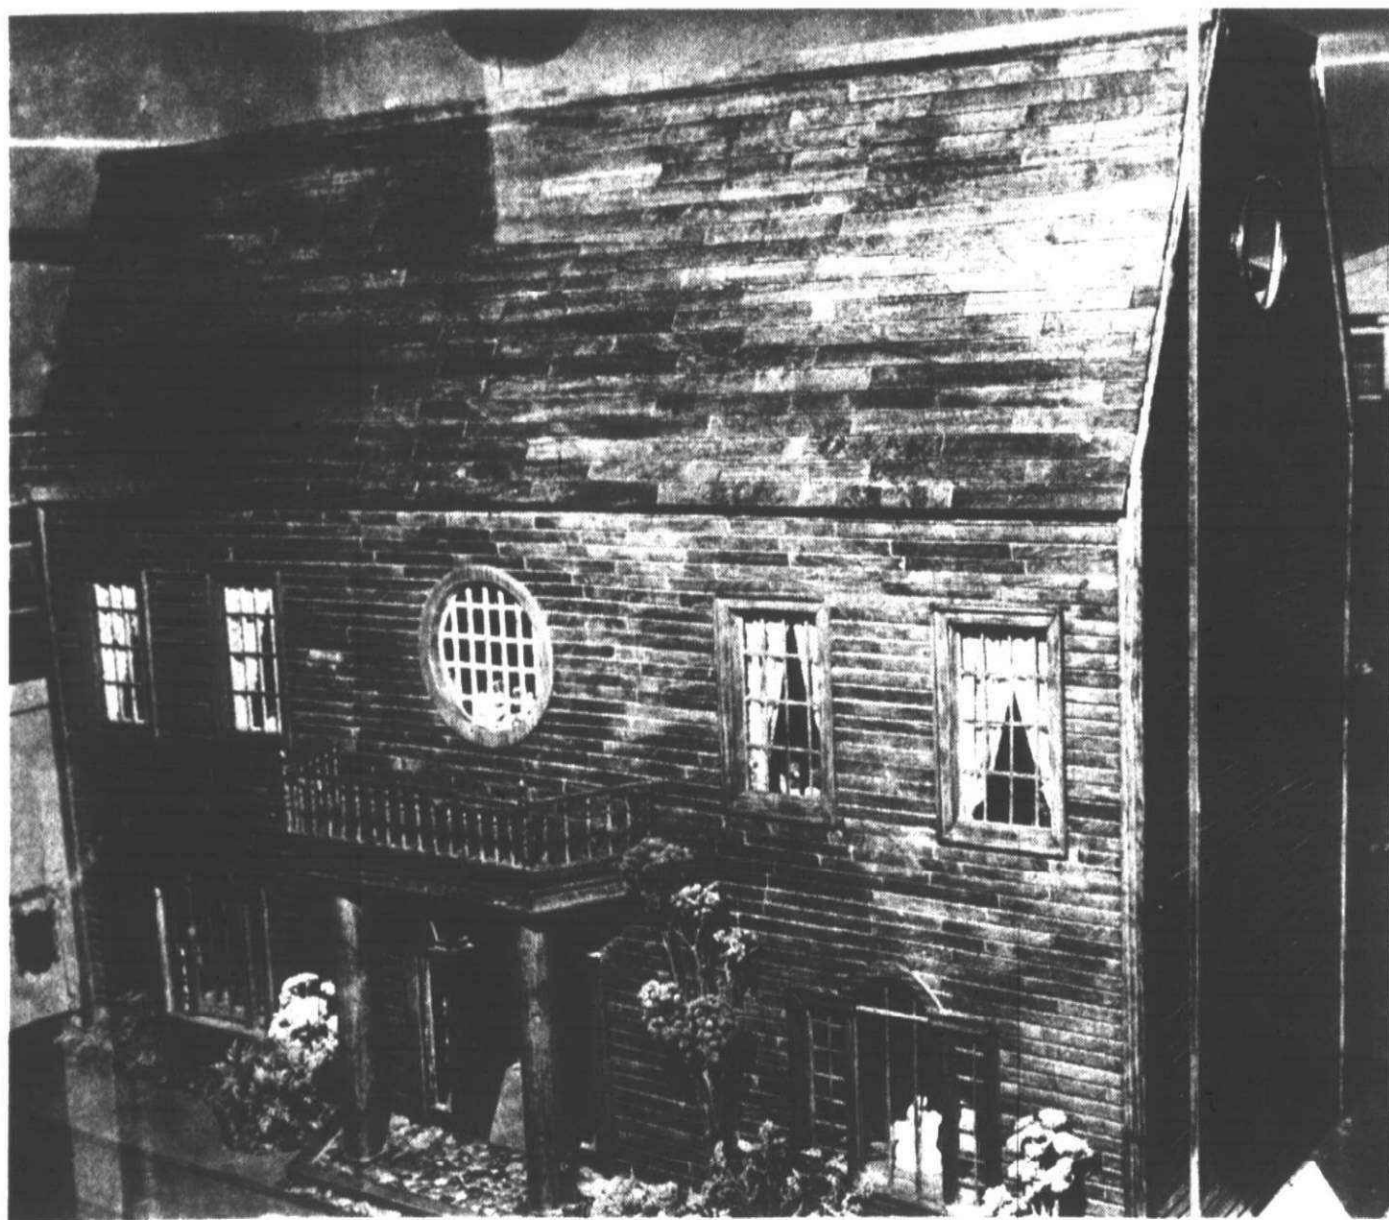

"When I cut it out and put it together the next day," she said, "everything fell into place—they fitted perfectly."

The little touches, like a pair of wire-rimmed spectacles on a closed book, add to the fascination of Joanne's doll house—for girls (and boys) of all ages.

Michele Rouse of Dearborn Heights (left) and Puppy Woody of Plymouth gaze through Plexiglass case at the miniature furniture and dolls.

Seniors need materials to make gifts

Residents of Plymouth, Canton Township and Livonia, willing to contribute materials to be used by senior citizens in making toys and clothing for children, may leave contributions at the home of Carole Bruechner, 6608 Sturbridge, Canton Township.

Residents at the Allan-Dee Wayne Residential Center in Wayne manufacture dresses, dolls, stuffed toys and wooden cars in their workshop.

They also rebuild and repaint toys. All items are given away to needy children at Christmas.

To do their work the senior citizens need yard goods, zippers, buttons, little girls' dress patterns, old dolls, scraps of wood, old nylons, shredded foam, toys that can be repaired and odds and ends of paint.

When the Christmas workshop ends, the residents will work on their biennial crafts display. They will have quilts, patchwork pillows, candles and other items on sale at their country store.

A homemade pine cone wreath can look like this. Peeking through, are Joanne Gorman (left) and Carol Kleinsmith, members of the Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club, who will teach how to make such wreaths Nov. 4, 5 and 6 in First Presbyterian Church, 701 Church, Plymouth.

Black feminist to lecture

Black civil rights lawyer and feminist Florynce Kennedy will speak on "Out of the Streets and into the Suites" Wednesday, Nov. 5 at 2:30 p.m. at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Sponsored by the office of student life, the lecture will take place on the first floor of the addition to the student activities building on Monteith Drive.

A founder of the National Organization for Women and the Feminist Party, Ms. Kennedy has been actively involved with both the civil rights and the women's movements since the 1950s.

She is a graduate of Columbia University Law School and author of "Abortion Rap" (with Diane Schuller) and "The Pathology of Oppression."

Her speech is free and open to the public.

Garden club to meet Nov. 4

The Garden City Garden Club will meet Tuesday, Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Log Cabin in Garden City Park, Merriman and Cherry Hill.

Weeds and dry flower arrangements will be discussed.

Montessori open house set

An open house and orientation meeting will be held in Hines Park Montessori School, Livonia, Wednesday Nov. 5 from 7:30-9 p.m.

The event will take place in room 11 of Garfield Elementary School, 10218 Arthur. The Montessori philosophy and classroom materials will be discussed.

For further information contact Plymouth Montessori School, 45201 N. Territorial, Plymouth.

Club plans directory

A directory of women's clubs in Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties is being compiled by the Detroit Business Woman's Club.

The project is part of work being undertaken by the Detroit Bicentennial Woman's Task Force. Mrs. Rita Burke of Redford Township, directory chairperson, hopes that the directory can be published by the first of the year.

To have your club listed, send information to Mrs. Burke, 12891 Sioux, Detroit 48239.

Send the name of your club, its category (such as accountant, nurses, lawyers etc.), mailing address and phone number. If the organization has no permanent address, send the name of the president, her address and phone number.

Still Growing

After all our years of service to this community, we still haven't grown settled in our ways.

We still believe in making progress. The opening of our new funeral home on Six Mile Road last year is just one more example of this.

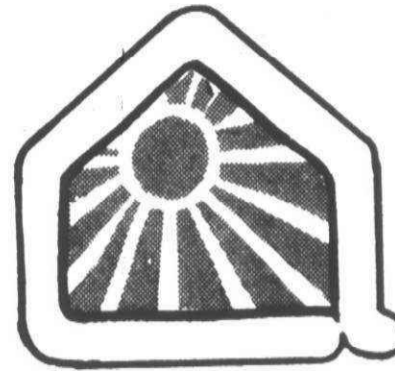

And we still believe in updating our service to be in keeping with the changing needs of those who turn to us.

It pays to know a DETROIT BANK-er better.

"Maybe you can't afford to get the highest interest for your savings."

Everybody wants to get the best return from their savings. But having your money readily available is important, too. To make sure you get the best of both, it pays to talk to a DETROIT BANK-er. Someone like Fred Davis, Officer-in-Charge at the Detroit Bank & Trust main office.

What's the highest annual rate I can get for my savings?

"Our highest annual return is 7-1/2%, but there are these important things to consider. To get this rate, you must leave at least $1,000 on deposit for six full years, and secondly, there are rather stiff penalties imposed by Federal regulations for early withdrawals. This is true for all banks."

So if I came to you with $1,000, what kind of savings account would you recommend?

"We offer six different savings plans at Detroit Bank & Trust. The one best for you would depend on many things. Whether or not you were married, how long you could afford to leave the money in the bank, and what savings goals you had in mind. You may come in looking for 7-1/2% interest, but may find out that it's the availability of money that you need more than a higher interest rate. You might end up choosing a 5% annual rate on our regular passbook account, but you'll be able to get your hands on your money any time you need it."

What's the best way to start saving?

"You just have to make up your mind that you're going to set aside a certain amount each week or every payday for savings. The amount really isn't as important as regular deposits are."

How can I get that regular savings habit?

"The easiest way I know of is to use Check and Save at Detroit Bank & Trust. That's where you authorize us to take a certain amount from your checking account each month, or bi-monthly, and put it into your savings account. It's very painless."

Why should I get to know you better?

"The better I know you, the more help I can be to you, not only in directing you into the type of savings plan that will best suit your needs, but also helping you with your other banking requirements. As DETROIT BANK-ers, we always try to look out for the best interests of our customers."

We're here to serve you.

"The amount you save really isn't as important as regular deposits are."

"Many people who come in looking for the highest possible interest rate often choose a regular passbook savings account because it's more convenient."

"We try to direct people into the type of plan that's going to fit their needs. We always try to look out for the best interests of our customers."

EMU stages 6 plays

The Eastern Michigan University Players will present six mainstage productions for the 1975-76 theater season, including Eugene O'Neill's six-hour long trilogy, "Mourning Becomes Electra."

Included in the season playbill is the Theater of the Young's production of "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," by Washington Irving.

In November, the Theater of the Young will present "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," a richly folk-flavored tale with, as one critic writes, "mystery, suspense, humanity and people who are in love, in danger, in motion, extraordinary people, spooks and goblins under every board and ominous creatures in every shadow."

The play, adapted for the stage by Fred Gaines, will be directed by Virginia Koste, director of Theater of the Young, which is celebrating its 13th season. The drama will be performed Nov. 21, 22 and 23 at 8 p.m., with matinee shows at 2 p.m. Nov. 22 and 23. Students through high school age will be admitted for $1.25.

George Haimsohn and Robin Miller's "Dames at Sea," a long-run off-Broadway musical which takes place in New York, will be the players' December offering.

The drama is based on the campy nostalgia of the Hollywood musicals of that era. "Dames at Sea," directed by Ken Stevens, instructor in speech and dramatic arts, will be presented Dec. 5, 6 and 7 at 8 p.m.

O'Neill's "Mourning Becomes Electra," an epic trilogy which traces the rise and fall of a New England Family, is on the February fare.

The trilogy, directed by P. George Bird, technical director of EMU theater, will be presented Feb. 6, 7, 8, 13, 14 and 15 between 5 p.m. and midnight, with a one-hour dinner break.

In March, the EMU players will present "Diamond Studs: A Jesse James Saloon Musical." Based on life and times of James in the 1800s, the original musical will feature a blue grass band complete with washboards and saws.

Charge It!

Now it is even easier to advertise in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Section. Just dial our classified department, tell us what you would like to advertise and charge it, to your Bank Americard or Master Charge account.

Whenever you call, be sure to have your Bank Americard or Master Charge ready and give us the account number and expiration date directly from the card. Then the total cost of your ad will be billed directly to your monthly statement, simplifying your record keeping while earning money for you and your family.

You can benefit twice from this bonus by placing a Double Action Family Want Ad. Double Action ads run two consecutive issues for one low price of $6.00, with no changes or cancellations in the second ad. These 15 word ads save you $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues and are so easy to place now that you can charge them.

So arm yourself with a list of unwanted items and your favorite bank card and strike a blow against inflation by calling us today.

January date set Auto show planned

Automobile dealers Jerry Bielfield and Hugh McVeigh have been named co-chairmen of the 1976 Detroit Auto Show.

The co-chairmen have announced the dates of the nine-day event as Jan. 10 through Jan. 18, marking the second consecutive year the auto show will be during January.

McVeigh, a director and secretary of the Detroit Automobile Dealers Association (DADA), is president of Reford Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc.

The show will again be in Detroit's Cobo Hall and will feature 1976 model domestic and imported cars in exhibit areas prepared by the automobile manufacturers and manned by DADA members.

While other special events and attractions have not been formalized yet, both Bielfield and McVeigh indicated that the Michigan State Lottery will participate in the '76 Detroit Auto Show and that the show's overall theme will have bicentennial overtones.

This will be the 60th auto show for Detroit and the DADA. The association, which sponsors the event, is an organization of 259 new car dealers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Detroit's first auto show was in 1908, the year DADA was formed. The shows have been a regular attraction every year since, except when they were suspended during and after the war years.

Bielfield served as chairman and McVeigh as a member of the show's committee last year when a record-breaking 325,025 people, plus approximately 64,000 Ford Motor Co. employees and their families, who attended the show on family tickets paid for by the company, visited Cobo Hall during the nine days of the show and the charity preview.
