School millage may be scheduled tonight

The Plymouth Board of Education may decide tonight (Monday) to reserve April 5 as a date for a millage election. Although the present thinking is to seek millage for equipment replacement and maintenance, the only official action which would be taken tonight would be setting the date for the election.

A recommendation from the administration is expected to be on the agenda for tonight's meeting which begins at 7:30 p.m. in the cafetorium of Plymouth Canton High School

THE ADMINISTRATION and school board have been studying the idea of seeking a building and site sinking millage.

If this approach is taken, the fund would be used for building renovation, fixing of roofs, replacement of equipment such as boilers, some capital outlay equipment, and possible for maintenance.

Repair and equipment of roofs and boilers now is coming from the general operating fund. The theory is that a special building and site sinking fund would give relief to the operational fund and possibly prevent programs from being cut in the future if state aid continues to decline as anticipated.

The other supporting argument for a building and site levy lies with proposed legislation which has a penalty clause for districts with operational levies at the level of the Plymouth Community School District. If passed, Plymouth would lose state aid in proportion to any additional operating millage local residents approve. The result is the district would have to levy more millage than normally needed to obtain the necessary revenue.

Building and site millage, however, is expected to be exempt from the penalty clause if the legislation is adopted. The district could thus levy a nominal millage for building and site and free up funds in its operating budget without being penalized by loss of state aid.

THE BOARD doesn't have to specify, however, what type of millage will be asked for when it reserves the date for an election-and it isn't expected to do so.

If the state aid funding legislation is amended, the board and administration might shift gears and seek an operational levy. Thus, the type of millage and number of years to be levied won't be decided for about a month.

By state law, the school district must make a decision by Feb. 9 if it wishes to hold an election on April 5. Other choices for elections are April 12 or the annual June school election.

To reserve a date with the Wayne County Election Scheduling Committee, the school board must adopt a resolution making the request 50 days before the election date desired.

Administration is concerned because the cuts already made in the 1975-76 operational budget has eliminated funds for replacement of equipment such as boilers, and cut to a bare minimum funds for equipment repair and maintenance. With these cuts, equipment breakdowns could be a big problem next year if not in 1976.

Residents of the Sherwood Mobile Home park at Michigan and Haggerty Roads got a reprieve last week when the parks' new owner Spencer Partrich agreed to cooperate with township officials to fix health and building code violations.

"The place is just in a generally run down condition," explained township ordinance officer Bruce Phillips. "Some things have been done since the first time we inspected the park last winter, but not enough has been fixed.

"There are still lighting, water and electrical hazards. If the new owner had not been willing to comply, I'm afraid we would have had no choice but to notify the people that they had to leave.

"NO ONE wants to put them out, but it's a question of their safety. We'd hate to see someone get hurt."

"We were kind of bombarded by the township. There pretty much all small things, but there's lots of them and it adds up to quite a bit of money

"We came here to fix it up and not to perpetuate the problems and we will continue on a steady upgrade program. Already we've removed 30 old trailers."

Township officials said they had given Partrich one month, until the middle of February, to complete repairs on the park

Under the proposal, if the new commercial-industrial tax base in the Plymouth-Canton community increased by a hypothetical $6 million in 1977, the local municipalities could apply a tax levy against only $3 million of the new tax base. Homeowners win again

By RICHARD GOLD

Residents of three subdivisions in Canton apparently have another victory over builders under their belts following a meeting Wednesday that included several builders, representatives from Camelot West, Westbrooke and Parkwood, and Supervisor Robert Greenstein. Milton Eisler, owner of York Building Company apparently agreed to sell 19 lots on Manton Road to Norman Long, another builder in the township.

borhood composed of houses priced primarily between $45,000-$50,000.

Residents feared the 19 houses, priced at $35,000 would lower their property values.

Earlier, at a regular meeting of the township board, those same residents had flocked to the township meeting hall to complain of the problem and ask the board for assistance.

Although the board offered no concrete aid, the public pressure of the residents en masse forced another builder, Sandy Pearlman of Huntley Homes, to promise he would not build 16 cheaper homes called "Mt. Vernon" on the other side of Manton.

Those houses, too, were priced in the $35,000 bracket, although they were larger at 1,400 square feet.

RESIDENTS COMPLAINED of aluminum siding on the model, along with the fact that it had no garage or family room.

Most houses in the neighborhood are brick, and residents said the Mt. Vernon would not fit in, as well as depreciating the worth of houses already occupied.

Residents also complained the houses would be ugly because they were to be

According to Greenstein, the meeting went smoothly, although Eisler balked at not erecting the smaller homes.

Although Greenstein seemed assured that a deal had been worked out between Long and Eisler, Eisler was not.

He commented, "Nothing definite has happened. We have just got together. There are some restrictions there and I think it's resolved, but I won't know until next week. A lot of things were said.'

Long was unavailable for comment, and Torn Quinn, one of the residents who spearheaded the drive to keep the smaller homes off Manton refused comment. saying, "Nothing has transpired, and I have nothing to say until next week when I have more of the facts.

LAND USE PLAN MAP

A map and explanation of Canton's newly proposed master land use plan is on page 3A of this edition. Substantial changes that affect many township residents have been proposed in the new plan, and residents living west of Canton Center Road will be directly affected.

Two to tango

The Canton Fire Department recently received delivery of a new piece of equipment, a Tele-squirt, a twin to the one the department got last spring. The two units cost $74,000 each when purchased. Today, the cost would be from $120,000 to $130,000. Ladders on these trucks extend 55 feet, have a 1,000 gallon per minute capacity on each ladder hose. With this new unit, the Canton fire department now has two ladder trucks, two engines, and three rescue units, one of which is in the process of being finished by the firemen. Land use plan to save farms, reduce density

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is a quick overview of the proposed master land use plan that will come before the public for comment March 1. Most of the article is gleaned from a summary of the plan issued by the township planners and those summaries are available at three locations in the township, in the township business offices, 44508 Geddes Road, in the township firehall, at the corner of Canton Center and Cherry Hill, and in the chamber of commerce office in the Harvard Square Shopping Center, at Ford and Sheldon. The Observer & Eccentric will begin an indepth look at the plan, the reasoning behind it, and the people involved in it in a series beginning next Thursday.

RURAL LAND USE AGRICULTURAL - INDUSTRIAL

Canton's new master land use plan has been labelled "revolutionary" by a number of people associated with it, including township planner Mike Manore, township Supervisor Robert Greenstein, and Professor Robert Hotaling, a noted land use expert teaching at Michigan State.

Three years in the making, it will, if found legal and acceptable by the people, save almost 40 per cent of the township's land for agricultural use.

That land, most of which is west of Canton Center, will be taxed at a special rate. and urbanization in the eastern portion of the township, already fully under way, will continue but at reduced residential den-

Overall growth of the township, if the plan is passed, will stop sometime near 1995, with a final population of about 100,000, some 105,000 less than originally estimated in an earlier plan. At that time, when the township is fully developed, about 31,000 dwelling units of differing sizes and classifications will have been constructed in Canton.

OF THE TOWNSHIP'S 23,215 acres: •8.900 or 38.3 per cent will be devoted to both agricultural-industrial and agricultural small farm.

•9,300 or 40.1 per cent will be allocated for various types residential uses.

•1.225 or 5.3 per cent will go towards commercial uses.

•2,470 or 10.6 per cent will be allocated to both heavy and light industrial usage.

• And 1,320 or 5.7 per cent wil go to open

Perhaps most innovative about the plan, is the effort to save agricultural land-a problem the planners term "national as well as state and local."

The planners say farmers have been forced to abandon their land and sell it because of the state's tax structure, a system that does not allow for profitable farming in areas that are growing or are near urban centers.

Land is taxed on future use and value rather than actual use, and farmland has been taxed at its potential value as development property, forcing farmers to sell prematurely.

According to the planners, if Canton's plan is sound enough, Wayne County and the state will agree to assess agricultural acreage in Canton as farmland, thereby alleviating the tax burden on farmers.

ALTHOUGH THE net result will be less tax revenue for the township and the school systems, the tax burden will not be transferred to other residents of the township, the planners explain.

MEAVY INDUSTRY

Much of the deficit will be made up by state aid to the schools, and reduced need for services on agricultural land will greatly diminish the loss of tax dollars to the

In already developed areas, mostly the eastern section of the township, densities will be reduced, and a minimum lot size of 70 feet will be instituted. Eighty-, 90- and 100-foot lots will become more prevalent. and high urban densities will compose 6-12 per cent of the township.

Planned Unit Developments (PUDs), which incorporate many kinds of land uses in a single development parcel, will be discontinued.

Heavy and light industry, for the most part, will be located in the southeastern section of the township along the Michigan Avenue corridor, although some land in the northeastern quadrant will be available for light industrial usage.

The purpose of the plan, according to the planners, is to "promote the public health, safety and general welfare and to encourage the use of resources in accordance with their character and adaptability."

The township planning commission is responsible by law for adopting the plan, although the Zoning Ordinance that will implement it is the responsibility of the township board of trustees.

Municipalities that abuse zoning power can lose it

You are to be congratulated for your perceptive Jan. 19 editorial on zoning problems in Canton Township. As you point out, the problems are complex, and not capable of simplistic analysis, and should be carefully weighed by municipalities.

Your suggestion that those who owe their livelihoods and very existence to the urban region which has nurtured them have neither the legal nor the moral right to avoid doing their fair share to solve the problems of their region, should be seriously considered by suburban municipal-who derive the substantial benefits of urban life should pay their dues as member of the urban community.

Your editorial also rightly points out that there is an element of incongruity involved when someone who has used the mobility which is one of the great benefits of our free society to move to a new neighborhood then seeks to invoke the power of government to deprive others of that same

Finally, your editorial offers serious food for thought to municipalities. Zoning power was given to municipalities so that

It seems a fair proposition that those they could rationally plan for development, not so they could permit the early affluent settlers of a suburb to monopolize the opportunity for decent housing in a decent environment.

Should municipalities use their zoning powers in an inappropriate manner, they will run the risk of having those powers taken from them.

Your thoughtful editorial fulfills the highest purpose of responsible journalism; namely, to act as the conscience of the community.

Hardworking people have a right to whatever they wish'

After reading your editorial in the Jan. 19 issue of the Canton Observer & Eccentric. I felt I had to write you and offer a counter-opinion to your highly over-emotional editorial

My husband and I are presently building a house in Camelot West, and totally disagree with your "barbed wire" theory. I also believe good journalism should be somewhat objective-even an editorial.

I believe it is not only unwise and over emotional to refer to Canton as a "snob appeal" neighborhood, it is truly unfair from an economic viewpoint

True, what you refer to as "snob appeal" might exist in the dreams of hardworking people who have a right to think whatever way they wish, but why do you only mention Canton?

GENERAL

Why not also mention the whole greater Detroit area, which includes Grosse Pointe, Birmingham, Lathrup Village, Southfield, West Bloomfield, and all the others? Fair is fair!

What your editorial conveniently "neglected" to mention was that Mr. Pearlman represents Huntley Homes, with offices in West Bloomfield. Now even if the land could be acquired for the right price in West Bloomfield, you and I both know damn well Huntley would never in a million years build their $35,000 bargains in

It would seriously upset the financially secure atmosphere there. You really cannot expect people in Canton, who have invested hundreds of thousands of dollars there, to stand idly by and watch their investments lose value

This is merely good business sense, not an attempt to prohibit the "creeping crud of society," as you put it, from "polluting"

As a prospective homeowner in Camelot West. I of course took your editorial se-

I am not a snob, I did not "wait" just till I had the money to afford housing in Canton (there were many other reasons) and I do not approve of barbed wire fences, even those at Deer Creek Park! I only want to protect my investment.

If Huntley Homes already had their Mt Vernon model scattered through Camelot West when we began looking for a house to build, we never would have picked Camelot West because we believe in protecting our investments sensibly

I also believe the front page picture in the Jan. 19 issue of the Canton Observer & Eccentric to be in really poor taste. The sight of that pathetic couple "left hanging" and staring at their cancelled contract just busted me up.

And you have the nerve to accuse people like me of "vulgar displays?" Come on now! Get back to reality!

I can only conclude by adding that if your newpaper had the integrity to stick to the sound, economic reasons behind planned subdivisions instead of high lighting the frustrations of people like the Brickmans, Canton area readers might get a less emotional and slanted view of the problems we have, just like any other growing city; problems, I might add, that can be solved without barbed wire!

Both my husband and I cannot believe Canton could be turned into a "guilded ghetto of snobbery.

Your choice of phrases sometimes amazes me. And your choice of direction, straight for the jugular, truly amazes my But then, my husband has never had any Tar/Taste Theory Exploded.

New 9 mg. tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor' proves taste no longer depends on amount of tar.

Until now, cigarette flavor pretty much depended on the amount of tar that went along with it.

Regardless of "low tar, good taste" claims, regardless of fancy filters and "space-age" filtering systems—you couldn't get high taste without high tar.

Nor low tar without low taste.

That was the theory.

Until now.

This is another report on MERIT from Philip Morris. If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Low Tar, Good Taste: Filters Fall Short

At first, we tried designing special filters, too.
Like others, our results were generally disappointing.

These results confirmed a belief that if there was any way to get flavor—real flavor—into a low tar cigarette, the answer had to lie somewhere in the tobacco itself.

So we focused on the business end of smoking. The tobacco end. And decided if we wanted to get more flavor through to you, we'd just have to start with more.

After a twelve year effort, our Richmond Research Center succeeded. They isolated the "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco as they exist in cigarette smoke.

By adding only those natural ingredients of extreme high quality as flavor contributors, yet low tar producing as well, they were able to pack MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor'—without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't drop out, can't do anything but come through for you.

Read the taste-test results for yourself.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, tested at home."

The results were conclusive.

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much — or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

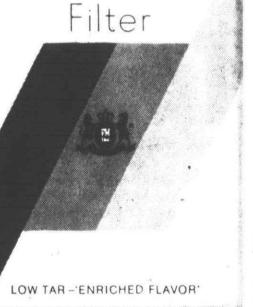

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today—only 9 mg. tar.

In what appears to be a concerted campaign, the readers have sent either clippings or photocopies of a Jan. 13 National Enquirer article headlined: " 'Humane Organization' Collected $904,466-But Not One Dime Was Spent on Animals."

As the readers requested, we checked up on the Animal Protection Instite (API), relying heavily on material from a protrapping group.

WE'RE CONVINCED the API is an entirely legitimate organization, and we will continue to accept their ads

Just as it would be unfair for us to accept the ads of one political party and reject the other party's ads, so it would be just as unfair to reject API's ads. API has a story to tell. It opposes trapping. It seeks changes in state and federal laws to stop trapping. It's working in the open.

That's fair politics. Whether API's story is convincing is for each reader and lawmaker to decide. The fact that we accept their ads doesn't mean we endorse one point of view over another, any more than we would ever endorse Hudson's over Crowley's.

NATIONAL ENQUIRER has done a noteworthy job exposing the sex life of the late President Kennedy, but in dealing with money and environmental matters, it is in over its head.

The Enquirer piece acts as if it were some sensational revelation that API spends its money on staff salaries and advertising. The revelation is common knowledge in politics. That's precisely what lobbying groups spend their money on. And there was no evidence to indicate any subterfuge-no bribes to lawmakers, Showing steady improvement, the Plymouth Canton swim team captured its third dual meet victory of the month with a 104-68 decision over the Redford Union Panthers Tuesday night at the Centennial Park Natatorium.

Junior tanker Kevin Harris was in the spotlight of attention as he swam to victory in the 100-yard butterfly in a new record time of 59.7 seconds. That time eclipsed the old mark held by Glenn Peterson by two-tenths of a second.

Harris came back to capture winning honors in the 50-yard freestyle in a personal best time of 23.6.

The crew of Tom Simrac. Mike Gaab, Bob Klein, and Dave Tanner comprise one of the most promising relay units in the state. Their best time of the season to date is 3:53.6, a mark capable of winning many dual meet events.

Relay triumphs posted by the Chiefs were in the 200-yard medley relay with Mark Retting, Tim Greenleaf, Steve Wood. and Jamie Greenwood submarining to victory in 1:53.2.

The 400-freestyle relay team contributed by winning its event with a time of 3:53.9. Kevin Harris, Richard Ostrowski, Greg Stratton, and Steve Greenwood each took a leg in that effort.

Diver Scott Wales, who had a few victories to his credit during the year, has come up injured with a misaligned vertebrae. Wales did dive in Tuesday night's meet, but was unable to do anything more than the basic dives.

COACH FAUNCE said he was responding favorably to treatment and hopefully he would be back to normal by the time the Western Six league meet is held.

The Rocks raced to a 14-2 advantage early in the first period and held onto an 18-8 advantage at the end of that period.

John Glenn then put on a tenacious display of defense, slowly diminishing Plymouth's lead to 32-29 at the half. Mitch Haas's outside jumpers kept the Rocks ahead.

Plymouth pulled ahead slightly in the third stanza with young Rich Hewlett and Mitch Haas providing the scoring punch.

The Rocks went into a stall midway in the fourth period protecting a three-point lead. They made only one field goal in this period, but took advantage of Glenn's fouls to add 10 more points.

Salem's height and strength prevailed once again against an excellent John Glenn team.

The junior Rocks have now won nine in a row and their record stands at 11-1.

This week's tribute goes to Mitch Haas, who has improved with each game. In his last five games, he has averaged 14 points per game. Mitch

Stevenson tankers set new marks

A pair of new school and pool records highlighted an Inter- Lakes swimming meet last week in which host Livonia Stevenson knocked-off Farmington for the second time this winter 101-71.

Coach Lois McDonald's troops grabbed first place finishes in nine of the 11 events. but the big story of the competition was the new standard set by Jerry Sieh in the

Sieh stroked through the waters over the distance with a time of 1:55.4 and Johnson accumulated 236.45 points after his series of dives, both performances good enough for new school and pool marks. In addition to his individual recordbreaking effort. Sieh also swam a leg of the Spartans' victorious 400-yard freestyle relay team which also consisted of Doug Hickman, Bill Hoeft and Dave Mueller.

Hickman and Mueller, along with Greg Santo and Chip Golonka, bested the Farmington quartet in the 200-yard medley Mueller also scored a first place finish in the 50-yard freestyle. Golonka bested the field in the 100-yard breaststroke and Santo topped the pack in two individual races, the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke.

"I attribute the win mostly to the strong serves of Barb Brown, Becky Aho, Lindsay Oberson and Jean Funke," said RU coach Jan Kavulich. "It was practically a serving game all the way. There was not a whole lot of play," she added.

Earlier, the Panthers blasted Plymouth Canton 15-4, 15-5 in what Kavulich termed her charges' best effort of the young season. Unlike the Belleville match, the Canton contest featured quite a bit of play after serves.

Again, strong spiking efforts from Oberson. Brown and Linda Kosovac provided the Panthers with many points. Praised for setting up the point-winning spikes

The Chargers split a pair of volleyball matches last week, downing Plymouth Canton 7-15, 12-8 and 15-2 in a Western Six League affair, previously losing a nonleague battle to crosstown rival Bentley.

The Bulldogs rallied from a 4-11 deficit in the final game of the match to edge Plymouth Salem 15-13 in volleyball action last week to win the best of three series over the Rocks 15-9, 12-14, 15-13.

It pays to know a DETROIT BANK-er better.

"If you make $10,000 or more a year, I can show you how to get a $1,500 income tax deduction and use it to start your own retirement plan."

Recent legislation has made it possible for individuals and selfemployed persons to establish their own retirement plan through a special savings account called an Individual Retirement Account. We asked DETROIT BANK-er Robert K. Smith to explain this new service.

Who is eligible for an I.R.A.? "An Individual Retirement Account, or I.R.A., may be opened by any employed or selfemployed person not currently covered by any other retirement plan. Even if you are already enrolled in a retirement plan, but have a working spouse who is not, he or she is eligible."

How does an I.R.A. differ from a regular savings account?

"There are important differences. First, all contributions to your I.R.A. are fully tax deductible. What's more, even the interest earned on this account is exempt from income tax until it is withdrawn. And when you finally begin making withdrawals, you pay taxes only on the amount you withdraw each year. Like savings accounts, however, I.R.A.'s offer a range of plans paying annual interest rates from 5-1/2 to 7-1/2 percent and are insured to $40,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. Incidentally, these are the highest interest rates that any bank can pay."

Are there special regulations for I.R.A.'s? "Yes. Regulations only permit you to save a maximum of $1,500 a year, or 15% of your annual wages, whichever is less. You can add to your account each payday and when your savings reach $1,000 or more, you can convert them to 6-year 7-1/2% Investment Certificates; or if you make your annual deposit in one lump sum, you can put it into 6-year 7-1/2% Investment Certificates at that time. The money must remain on deposit at least until you reach age 59-1/2, unless you become permanently disabled.

Security tips for babysitters

The murders of two young women, one in Redford Township and the other in Birmingham, has triggered an increased uneasiness in babysitters and parents. Plymouth Police Chief Tim Ford said that if enough babysitters evinced an interest, an "in home" security course could be set up by his department.

"If there is a community need," Ford said, "we could put on a course which would include general knowledge, defensive measures, and some basic first aid, including mouth-to-mouth resuscitation." As a first step in alleviating fears of the

ON A FIRST visit, the babysitter should house. She should know if there is a fence, how the house sits in relation to other houses in the neighborhood, and the natural approaches to the building. This also will make her aware of an escape route, if it should be necessary

The parents should give the babysitter a complete tour of the house, upstairs and down. She should know if there is any part of the house, or a room, which could be closed off and barricaded. Escape routes, other than doors, should be extablished.

The baby sitter should be shown the position of every telephone in the house. Each telephone should have a list of telephone numbers-police, fire department, doctor and parents.

Ford also suggested adding the address of the house to the telephone number list.

"The first thing to say when you call the police is where you're at," said Ford. "If you have time, tell them who you are and "If they hear or see anything that doesn't look right, the simple answer is to call the police. We'd rather run 100 times than miss a real one.

He added that if a friend is coming to stay with the babysitter, it first must be cleared with the parents.

Ford says babysitters should stay awake. Visual checks of the children are an absolute must "Radios, televisions and record players should be turned low," said Ford. "And if they hear anything outside they should never go out to investigate-stay in.' Ford discussed the "gray age" when youngsters think they're too old for a babysitter and the parents believe they are too young to be left alone. Best solution is to have have them invite a friend over to spend the night, and have them follow the same security measures a competent babysitter would maintain.

Neighbor cooperation can ease a case of babysitter jitters. Parents can make arrangements with a neighbor who is going to be at home that if something comes up the babysitter could call them to check it board member and longtime supporter of the orchestra.

Those interested in a police-sponsored workshop in eccurity tips for babysitters should call Chief Ford. If there is enough response, the one-night course will be arranged.

The symphony's 30th anniversary season, which is also Dunlap's 25th year as conductor, was anticipated as a season of celebration. Dunlap had programmed the six concerts with the bicentennial year in mind, featuring American composers in each performance.

A grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts set wheels in motion for a specially commissioned folk ballet about the

The news that Dunlap suffered a heart attack in August seemed to put all plans in jeopardy, but Emil Raab filled in as guest conductor for the first three concerts. The Shaker program, hoped to be a companian piece to "Appalachian Spring." will be presented in April, and Dunlap returned for the annual family concert.

Among the guests who braved the icy roads to the Balogh's Plymouth Township home were Emily and Norman Ruehr Claire and Dave McCubbrey, Emily and Bob Sparling, Quinby and Hilda Wonn, Lee and John Wiltse, and Peggy and Andy Haines.

Several have served on the symphony society's board of directors.

Present board members included Ralph Atchley and Annette Heindryckx, Atchley is board secretary and Mrs. Heindryckx is family membership chairman.

Woman's Club meeting includes Cook's tour

Members of the Plymouth Woman's Club The southern tour includes the Jamesand guests will take a Cook's tour at their Feb. 6 meeting in St. John Episcopal Church, Sheldon Road at Ann Arbor Trail.

They will follow "In the Steps of the Continental Army" with John Gesner, tour planning specialist from New York. The Thomas Cook Travel Agency arranges bus tours which follow the path of the Continental Army on its march north and south. The actual tours have been booked for months, but Gesner will describe the trips with the aid of slides or movies.

The tour agency is the oldest in the country. It was founded in 1841 in New York.

The club is opening this meeting to the public so more persons can enjoy the tour It will begin at 12:30 p.m.

It will be a case of "On your mark, Get set, Go!" for 654 area girl scouts at 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 6. That is the magic hour set for the start of the 1976 Girl Scout cookie

The scouts will take orders from that time until the close of the drive Feb. 15. Cookies will be delivered in March.

The scouts sold $22,882 worth of girl scout cookies, crackers and tea last year under the chairmanship of mrs. James Rorabacher. The price has gone up this year to $1.25 a box, but, the monetary return to the troop is up to 20 cents a box.

AS AN ADDED incentive, troops which average the sale of 95 boxes per girl will receive 100 per cent fee for a troop camp weekend. Troops averaging 75 to 94 boxes per member will earn 75 per cent of the fee for a camp weekend.

The girls also can acquire a cookie patch and each scout will receive a cookie post-

Choice of cookies includes lemon cremes, Oxford cremes, savannahs, scotteas and thin mints. There also are sesame crisps and a package of 16 tea bags. Mary Lou Johnson, publicity chairman for the area, says each tea bag brews two or three good cups of tea.

When the cookies are delivered, purchasers will receive six recipes with the girl scout products as ingredients. The recipes are for frozen strawberry tarts, nutty cheese ball, fruit fluff squares, minty peach parfaits, crunchy peanut butter balls and chocolate banana dessert.

Bobcat and Monarch, two of Lincoln-Mercury's popular small cars, now have the sporty "S" option group previously announced on Capri II, the division's European import.

Featuring a special paint-tape treatment, styled steel wheels and beefed-up suspension components, the "S" option group was introduced several months ago in Europe and now is available to U.S. Capri II buyers.

"The 'S' option group adds a sporty ar ! youthful look to Capri II, Monarch and Bobcat," said Walter S. Walla. Ford Motor Company vice-president and division general manager.

"Monarch is our best-selling car line and this new option should give it an even broader appeal. The 'S' option on the Bobcat and Capri II ought to make them especially attractive to younger

Bumpers save on fuel

One way Chevrolet's new small car, the Chevette, is designed to save on weight, and subsequently save gasoline and materials, is through its unusual bumpers.

Since car bumpers required by federal standards are one of the main sources of weight added to cars in recent years, the lighter weight steel bumpers designed for the Chevette play a significant part in fuel economy.

Chevette bumpers, weighing about 20 pounds each, meet these standards because of their modular design and, in addition, save because they are identical in front and rear and are made of economical steel

A special, flanged design gives the bumpers a stronger modular shape. This eliminates extra pounds of reinforcing metal used in conventional bumper designs to meet federal impact standards since this backing often weighs as much as the bumper itself.
