Schools cancel April 5 millage vote

6-0 Monday night to cancel the April 5 election to leave open the option of seeking additional operational millage in June.

The cancellation was made after the board heard a report from Supt. John M. Hoben that proposed changes in state aid funding makes it probable the district could place an operational millage request on the ballot in June.

Under present state aid formulas, if Plymouth were to increase its local millage rate, the district would lose state aid because of its relatively high property tax valuation base. This "penalty" clause meant the district would have had to ask for 2.3 mills additional just to break even. With this type of formula, Hoben explained, the district would have had to ask for far too much operational millage just to get the money it needs to balance funds in

BECAUSE OF the penalty, the district had asked for an April 5 election for a building and site sinking-fund millage, which wouldn't have affected state aid pay-

The idea was that the fund could be used for such items as roof repairs, painting and other maintenance which usually comes from the operation budget.

Gov. Milliken recently has made proposals which would greatly soften the penalty effect of the formula, Hoben reported, which now makes it possible to seek operational millage which is seen as a more direct route of obtaining financial relief. Once the state aid proposal for 1976-77 goes to the legislature. Hoben added, and house and senate versions are introduced. there is likely to be a compromise with the governor's plan which should be of more financial benefit to local school districts. He said he hopes the state aid formula will be known in June, a prediction also made by a state legislator this week who said state representatives, up for election this fall, are under pressure to act soon on state aid funding.

"With this latest information," said Hoben, "it now appears it would be better to seek operational millage. The building and site sinking-fund would defray only a small portion of our projected deficit of $1 million for 1976-77 school year."

MARCIA BOROWSKI expressed reservations about the ability of the legislature to pass a state aid bill by June. "Since I've been on the board the legislature has never passed a state aid bill before Au-

"And, regardless of when the bill is passed, for the past couple years no matter what state aid funding is, the governor has cut funds willy-nilly through executive

Trustee E.J. McClendon agreed the state aid bill may not be passed by June but added that the district doesn't have assurance now that the penalty clause will be diluted enough to make an operational levy

ANOTHER POSITIVE adjustment being made is proposed changes in the Single Business Tax.

When the state eliminated the inventory tax, provisions were discussed to return to local governments revenue lost from the inventory tax by increasing state rebates of sales tax and income tax revenues. Although municipalities were promised a dollar-for-dollar rabate, the return to school districts was based on a formula that provided the state rebate would be less if local millage rates were increased. That provision may be revised to give school districts a more favorable break. Hoben reported.

The district is now projecting an $18.7 million operating budget for 1976-77 to keep programs at their current levels. The district's current tax base is $478 million which was dropped to $420 million by the elimination of business inventories for tax

CASTLES collapsing from lack of interest

If the CASTLES in-service training center for teachers is discontinued in the Plymouth Community School District, the cause is most likely to be the refusal of teachers to use the facility. That was the prediction given the Plymouth Board of Education Monday night by Gordon Hill, co-director of CAS-TLES which stands for "Center for Advanced Study of Teaching and Learning for Exciting Schools." Hill is co-director of CASTLES along with Mac McDonald.

Hill noted there was a possibility of the district's receiving state funding which could prevent the elimination of CASTLES for financial reasons.

"But even with state money the apathy and negativism amongst teachers would almost force the bord to reconsider. If apathy among teachers continues, CAS-TLES will die ultimately because McDonald and I will die of boredom."

THE DISTRICT established CASTLES at the beginning of the school year under a contract arrangement with the Wayne County Intermediate School District and Novi-School District

Plymouth district later purchased the former MESC building on Mill Street to house CASTLES personnel and to provide room for teachers to attend in-service programs.

The expense this year to the district for CASTLES is $45,000. During discussions of how to reduce expenditures, the board had considered reducing its commitment to CASTLES by $15,000 but found this couldn't be done in 1975-76 because of contract obligations.

"My concern is that during a year of finegativism from the teaching force in Plymouth has worsened, and we have fallen further behind in our efforts to have teachers work effectively with us."

He added that a survey was taken of 64 teachers and principals on what they desire for inservice training and there is not one requirement which CASTLES isn't attempting to meet.

When trustee Tom Yack asked the source and reasons for the negativism, Hill responded: "In my 27 years of teaching, I have never faced such low morale among the teaching force as that in the western world, and when teacher morale is so low, in-service training tends to suf-

Asked to elaborate later. Hill told this newspaper: "The community is demanding more and more of educators and yet, in relation to inflation, are paying them less and less. There is a lot of talk now that instructors should teach students how to read. Yet at the same time, we are spending less money to buy books. This has to be demoralizing."

MARCIA BOROWOSKI, board vice-president, said she was convinced in-service training was vital and asked what the board could do to help.

"That's a very difficult question, and there may be very little the board can do. Remember that the original concept of CASTLES was that it would be run by the teachers, so any involvement of the board and administration would bring that concept into criticism.

Hill expressed disturbance about a discovery of a work group of the Citizens Advisory Committee which reported high school teachers feel CASTLES does nothing for the high schools. "We scheduled three workshops for high school teachers only and they were 100 per cent non-at-

As an example, he pointed to an evening workshop which scheduled State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) to discuss the problems social; studies instructors faced in seeking to maintain objectivity during an election year. The program was attended by one teacher and one parent, Hill said. even though letters of invitations were sent to all social studies teachers at the high school and middle school levels.

HILL REPORTED that a survey is be ng prepared now to be sent to all teachers asking very directly if teachers want inservice training in CASTLES to continue

"The survey includes a listing of 54 different presentations made during the past year which were all equally ignored by

"I would like to meet again with teachers to discuss in-service training because I think it is too important to be ignored."

Township officers are expecting almost $68,000 in funds this year, and suggestions for spending the money include purchasing four vans capable of holding 12-15 people to be used for senior citizens and the recreation department; air conditioning for the recreation hall on Michigan Avenue; lighting of the recreation hall parking lot; and various improvements for the recreation site at Cherry Hill and Canton Center

Last year, 20 Wayne County communities joined to apply for the grant, which although federally funded, is administered by the county.

Considerable debate over how to spend the money ensued, and an advisory committee of 10 members from the out-county communities and three representatives from the county was formed to decide the

Unlike other grants, block grant funds can be parlayed as the community's own money to match with other federal and state grants, thereby doubling their value.

'March Madness' getting closer, Rocks close out at home Friday with Dearborn

Although an aura of pre-tournament suspense will hang over the Plymouth Salem gym Friday night when the Rocks close out their home basketball schedule. Salem's immediate task will be to wrap up an unprecedented third straight undisputed Suburban Eight title with a victory over

Dearborn. Six seniors, headed by tri-captains Jim Ellinghausen, Brian Wolcott and Mike Primeau, will be making their last local appearance as they try to boost the team's overall record for the winter to 19-1 at the

In the Sub 8, Salem is 12-1 and leads second place Belleville by one game. The Tigers (11-2) are the only team to hang a loss on the Rocks and are expected to have little trouble winning at home over Allen Park in their bid to stay in the chase for at least a piece of the crown.

In an odd twist of the drawings for next week's district tournament at Southfield High School, located at Ten Mile and Lahser, the two Plymouth teams-Salem and Canton-will meet for the only time this season in a first round battle at 7 p.m.

Other rivals there will be champions from the Southfield-Lathrup, Farmington and Livonia Stevenson districts-the potential including such possibilities as Lathrup itself, Garden City West, Detroit Denby, Detroit Northwestern and others.

Plymouth Salem won these same district and regional championships last year and wasn't eliminated from the state tournament until reaching the semifinals agains Flint Northwestern at East Lansing.

NO OTHER basketball team in Plymouth history ever accounted for as many records as the present unit, many of them the personal handiwork of all-state prospect Jim Ellinghausen.

Board to meet twice monthly

The Plymouth Board of Education has voted to hold two public meetings a month, instead of three, beginning in the very near future.

The board presently has public meetings on the first, second and fourth Mondays of each month with a workshop session on the third Monday.

Under the new schedule, the school board will meet on the second and fourth Mondays with workshop sessions on the first and third. Most workshop meetings are also open to the public, although no official action is taken. In explaining the shift, trustee Tom Yack said the board is faced with a limited amount of time and has increasing items which require study in workshop sessions. "With budget discussions, arbitration and negotiation items coming up, we will need the two Monday workshops to study these items.

passed by a vote of 4-2 with Tom Yack and Marcia Borowski dissenting. Trustee George Lawton was absent.

THE REASSIGNMENT of librarians was averted when principals at the elementary, middle and high school levels came up with cuts in their building budgets totalling almost $11,000, which is th amount that would have been saved by reassigning librarians as substitute teachers.

At the instruction of the ad hoc budget committee of the board, almost all budget accounts were ordered cut by one per cent to save about $35,000.

The district has also gained about $9,200 in revenue by discovering an error the county made in not transferring to the property tax roll the Napier Road properties transferred between the Northville and Plymouth school districts in 1974.

Although the transfer was made in 1974, the property wasn't placed on Salem Township's tax rolls and the district hasn't received tax money for the past two years. The property is valued at $160,000 and the district is due to receive $9,200 income from the past two years.

The district also has received its funding for the PLUS preschool program from the federal government and the receipts were $4,100 higher than anticipated.

MARDA BENSON, board president, commented that the board had to end the cutting process in this year's budget and get on to next year's budget so it doesn't keep people's jobs hanging in question. Yack also stressed the importance of concentrating now on getting public input on the upcoming budget and what can be cut during fiscal year 1976-77.

cern about the athletic budget being adjusted by $2,000, Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, explained most of that change was due to higher gate receipts than · anticipated, which adds more to the revenue side.

AFTER APPROVING the cuts, the board was then presented with a motion by Yack directing the administration to meet with custodial-maintenance staff personnel to research cost-savings in that department and report back to the board as soon as possible.

That motion was amended by E.J. McClendon who moved that the reduction of personnel may also be considered by the administration.

Ms. Borowski then raised objections. "We approached all employee groups and asked them to voluntarily give one day's pay to help the district get out of its financial bind. Certain groups turned us down, and I think it is unfair to penalize only one group and ask it to suffer layoffs.

"Other groups in this district may come

Gray countered: "At some point, this board must get down to some real cuts. Our $30,000 cuts of a month ago, when they finally are made, end up to be $11,000

The passage of the millage would mean the district would continue to operate on an "even keel" barring surprise reductions which have occurred twice already this year. Dyer said.

Still, the district explained that while a successful millage bid would not change the rate of taxes being paid, property value increases would affect actual taxes being paid.

THE MANY performances are made possible, in part, by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts. Schools or other organizations are requested to pay $60 to help the group meet expenses.

Because of demand, the Little Theatre of the Young recently decided to extend its touring season into April, but many requests still will have to be denied, adds Ms. Koste.

Ms. Koste, who joined the speech and dramatic arts faculty about 14 years ago. earned a bachelor's degree from Vasser College in drama and child study and a master's degree in theatre from Wayne State Uniersity.

Water in Tarot symbolizes life

Dear Gundella.

I enjoyed your article, "Mind Power Can Fix Stopped Watches" (Observer-Eccentric, Feb. 12, 1976).

Could you direct me to more reading material on this subject?

Sophia G. Detroit

Dear Sophia

Sheila Ostrander and Lynn Schroeder, the authors of "Psychic Discoveries Behind the Iron Curtain." have written a new book. It is now available in paperback. published by Berkley Publishers. New York, under the title: "Handbook of Psychic Discoveries."

This book gives you hundreds of experiments you can try at home to discover your own psychic powers.

Dear Gundella,

Why does water appear so often in the Tarot cards? It seems that there is a river in the background of every other picture. Is there a special reason for this?

Leonard W. Birmingham

Dear Leonard.

In the Major Arcana, card II depicts the High Priestess. This card is rich in symbolism. She holds the Tora (the Hebrew Di vine Law. from which comes the Old Testament), representing wisdom.

A veil behind her symbolizes mystery and the unrevealed future. Other symbols on this card, representing male and female, negative and positive, night and day, all point out the duality of life.

Her loose flowing robe, usually colored blue, trails out of the picture. The blue ripples of this robe represent the river of life which flows through the other Tarot cards.

All action in the cards takes place as the river of life flows on.

Many of the Tarot cards also show water in pitchers, cups and other vessels or being spilled or poured. In this case, water represents abundance, life, and all manner of good things.

Ancient peoples recognized four elements: earth, air, fire, and water, all of which are prominent in the Tarot.

Dear Gundella,

My sister and I disagree. Please settle our argument. Is the human hand a masculine or feminine symbol?

Ralph G.

Dear Ralph.

Both. Closed and held erect it is a masculine symbol. Open, palm up, ready to receive, it is female.

On March 21-22nd. Gundella will be conducting a weekend workshop completely devoted to the study of Tarot. For information call 427-1072, or write Gundella at: Box 434, Garden City. Michigan 48135.

Mobile home bill gets nod

Western Wayne County representatives gave strong support as the Michigan house passed 72-20 and sent to the senate a bill to establish a Mobile Home Commission to regulate the industry.

Backing HB 4181 were Reps. Thomas Brown (D-Westland), R. Robert Geake (R-Northville). William Keith (D-Garden City). John Markes (D-Livonia) and Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti).

Absent was Rep. John Bennett (D-Red-

Government can help community colleges become more closely involved with both business and labor, Schoolcraft College President C. Nelson Grote told a U.S. Commerce Department public hearing.

Grote testified Tuesday in East Lansing at the request of Commerce Secretary Elliett Richardson. The hearing was conducted by George L. B. Pratt. Richardson's special assistant for work education.

Grote said Schoolcraft has already made great efforts to find out what employers need and to train students accordingly, but he pinpointed areas of concern for more

Can you afford a 28.4 per cent cut in pay? Probably not. Neither can the Wayne-Westland School

And since it can't, the district is asking its residents Monday to vote in favor of a 21-mill renewal of operating funds for five years.

The key word in the millage campaign is renewal. The district is not seeking any new money, but is asking the voters to approve the same 21 mills they have been paying.

Just as the average resident couldn't absorb a 28.4 per cent pay cut without drastically changing his or her life style, the district cannot help but reduce its educational offerings if the millage doesn't pass.

The district has issued a list of cuts to be implemented in case of a millage rejection. They can hardly be termed merely threats in light of the fact that the loss of $10.3 million is in question.

Schools have come a long way from the days when the three Rs were taught to the tune of the hickory stick. Today's student is geared to looking at schools as more than a place where they learn to read, write and figure. A millage defeat would reduce the average school day to only the basics. The athlete, the drama student, the choral member, the debater-all would have the rug pulled out from under him or her. The street is hardly a conducive atmosphere to improve skills in such REDUCED SCHOOL days would also have an effect on a considerable segment of the labor force. The district estimates close to 900 persons would have to be laid of if the millage is not renewed.

Not only would the district be without the seryices of these employees, it would still be forced to pay out funds for unemployment compensation which would add up to a $4 million debt, for the 1977-78 school year.

As we see it, the concept of neighborhood schools is only valid with neighborhood school support in terms of backing reasonable millage requests.

The renewal of 21 mills is not only reasonable. but vital to maintaining the quality of education offered in Wayne-Westland.

We wholeheartedly support the renewal of 21 mills on March 1.

'Neighborhood watch' cuts thefts

We are all concerned about the so-called crime explosion. In fact, it is not an explosion but a steady annual increase that affects more and more of our lives and businesses. .

With all the financial problems government has, it is unrealistic to think that huge amounts of money can be spent on more law enforcement.

If you look at the suburbs, the types of crimes that are increasing are not the types that a couple more policemen on the force can eradicate."

In the suburbs, only occasionally are there rapes and murders. The day-to-day increases come from breakings and enterings in homes and shoplifting in stores, neither of which can be easily observed by additional police cars patrolling

THE ONLY REAL answer is to get the citizens themselves involved. Yet we seem to be going through an era of non-involvement. Citizens observe crimes and turn their backs for fear that they might have to take time to testify or that the criminal might seek revenge against them or their families.

As Ben Franklin said, "To do nothing is to give way to evil."

by HENRY M. HOGAN, JR.

Apathy on the part of the citizens seems to be our greatest block to solving the problem.

Some communities in the United States are really doing something about crime prevention. One of the most effective programs is called a neighborhood watch. Under this program, everybody in a community is asked to observe everyone else, particularly his neighbors' homes when the neighbors are away, and suspicious looking people who are roaming the neighborhood.

The purpose is not to snitch on one's neighbors but to protect oneself.

In Seattle, burglaries increased 24 per cent last year in areas where there was no neighborhood watch, only eight per cent in neighborhood watch areas. The statistics are the same in Los Angeles, Philadelphia and Chicago, where the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration is in the process of developing a national neighborhood watch program. There are more than 50,000 citizens involved in the Los Angeles program.

LOCALLY, the Birmingham Exchange Club is instituting the program for its community. The idea is quite simple. If everyone watches his neighborhood, strangers can easily be spotted and watched so that if anything suspicious happens, the criminals can be apprehended easily.

It takes a commitment on the part of citizens because it means they have to become involved. On the other hand, they will certainly benefit from the commitment of others in case they are victims of a crime.

Col. George Halverson, the director of the Michigan State Police, in kicking off the program in Birminghm, said, "Reluctance to be involved is to put the citizen on the side of the criminal."

Because the neighborhood watch program has been so successful in other parts of the country. other communities and other service clubs should seriously consider implementation of such a program throughout the suburban Detroit area.

More simply, it is up to the marketplace, not the planning commission, to decide which businessmen grow and prosper in Canton and which fail and go under.

What was more surprising was that Manore, in the name of "good planning," endorsed this kind of thinking. Yet is was he who told me only two weeks ago that the development of commercial tax base in the township was a market function.

He said businesses would relocate to Canton because of the strong residential growth in the township. Yet a week ago, he said there was already enough commercial in the area-and in essence that the market wasn't performing properly, This is not to say there is no place for land use planning in the township. But to protect existing businesses is a ridiculous argument—not to mention that it might be cause for a lawsuit.

OTHER COMMISSIONERS had more legitimate gripes about Brookeville's request. They felt it might cause traffic problems and result in safety hazards. Others mentioned it would be next to Gallimore Elementary School.

Arguments also exist in other cases to deny rezoning requests. It would be poor planning to plop a shopping center in the middle of a subdivision. or out in the middle of a cornfield with no access.

These are valid arguments and are sufficient to deny a rezoning request.

But to deny because it might cause some discomfort ot businessmen elsewhere in the community is 18th century folly. Let the marketplace determine that, not Canton.

A school is not just a building. The educational facility includes that land around the building. If this territory is effectively used, it can be an important part of the learning resources. The Plymouth Community School District has a unique opportunity to develop outdoor learning laboratories. And the surprising thing about it is that we can have the expert assistance we need at no cost to

THROUGH THE initiative of Sally DeRoo, Plymouth Cantón High School counselor, the University of Michigan has offered to provide many kinds of resources for the development of school sites:

Leadership for the project will come from the U-M School of Education program in educational administration and supervision, College of Architecture and Urban Planning department of landscape design, and School of Natural Resourcesprogram of environmental education and recreation.

Staff of the PCSD and representatives of local government agencies will work with university personnel in a joint school community site development program.

· Plans are for the U-M graduate students to start next September to develop specific projects in site development as part of their degree work. These will be advanced doctoral students in architecture, natural resources, and education.

THIS SPRING, however, advance planning and study must take place here in Plymouth to take advantage of the work of the specialists next fall.

A graduate level course in school site development is scheduled for Plymouth during the U-M spring semester in April. May, and June 1976. It is part of the program in educational administration and supervision, and is entitled "Practicum in school site selection and planning for environmental education." (B-759). The graduate course can be elected either for two hours credit or audited by anyone not wishing official university credit. Taught by interdisciplinary professors class will be open to anyone interested. In addition to PCSD staff, the class would benefit local community leaders and persons from adjoining school districts. An inservice program also is being planned for PCSD staff and residents. The two-hour presentation will introduce school

site planning through slides, site devel-

from three university departments, the opment maps, and discussion of goals. This program is planned for March. ALTHOUGH UNIVERSITY assistance and participation by staff and citizens involves no expense to the PCSD, funding for actual construction of the outdoor laboratories is being sought. The first step now, however, is to encourage as many persons as possible to enroll in the class in school site planning. Community members interested in taking the course should contact Sally DeRoo at Plymouth Canton High.

This project is designed to join the school district and community into a cooperative school-community site development program, which will plan recreational areas, school sites, pocket parks, and nature areas based upon the school-

Suburbs speak on water rates

By TIM RICHARD

The suburbs may have an unsuspected ally in their fight against a 39 per cent water rate hike sought by the Detroit water board.

The ally could be the Detroit Common Council, two of whose members indicated great unhappiness with the water department's procedures and behavior.

Councilman Jack Kelley told the water board at a public hearing Tuesday "I'm honestly ashamed" of Charles Scales Jr., director of the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department.

Kelley repeated the complaint of many suburban speakers when he attacked the water board for voting to recommend the rate increase before an outside audit had been completed.

"WHAT GOOD is paying for these audits if your commission has already approved the increase?" Kelley roared.

The Detroit council has final authority to raise the wholesale price of water. The water board recommended the rate hike take effect May 1. Common Council will hold a hearing before acting:

Councilwoman Erma Henderson indicated through a spokesman that she is upset with the size of the proposed rate

Kelley apologized for the "arrogance" of Scales, who told a suburban councilman seeking the director's presence at a meet-

If looking forward to your own group's demise, and growing tired of one, two and even three meetings per week is power then I guess some of us are "suffering."

You say we started with a survey. This is not true. We started, basically, at a meeting of 40 or 50 people in the Plymouth Cultural Center. We had no idea if we were 40 or 50 parents who wanted to air CEP "war stories." or if there were many more CEP parents who were concerned. Enter the survey. You question the value of our survey. You know very well that a survey is merely a sampling of attitudes and not the "election."

Our survey included households representing slightly over 1,900 students at the CEP out of approximately 3,700 CEP students in total. We believe the size of our sample was adequate to substantiate considerable community concerns.

You also say we "may believe we represent a majority." Frankly, we hope we do. but even then it is of little consequence, because in fact we have no power. We would. however, like to see the school board represent a majority because they do have the power to correct the problem areas at the

We have always contended that the program in effect at the CEP works very well for some students. If the "some" is too small, we believe it needs re-evaluating. 'Cadillacs and Lincolns are among the finest cars built, so let's only make those brands and let 95 per cent of the people walk because they are just average.

They call our high schools the "Park." When I was a "kid" we went to the "park" to play. Regretfully, I feel that too many of our Plymouth youth are still going to their "Park" to play.

We would welcome the school board to put a referendum on the upcoming ballot and get the entire community's attitude about the CEP and its programs.

I will sign this personally, and I wish your editors or writers would also identify themselves in the future.

May I also extend this opportunity for all citizens to express their opinions by writing to Concerned Parents at P.O. Box

Beauty of flooding?

Editor:

With interest, I heard about the effort of the River Rouge Basin Committee to have the river and its branches run their natural course of flooding.

I am all for the preservation of beauty and ecology-but not at the expense of hardships caused to residents. There is a wide gap between a sight-seer enjoying the splendor of the Rouge River in summer and the dweller living along the onrushing turbulent river during spring thaw when ice lumps clog up the steady flow.

The idea of having the river run its natural course is fine, if provisions are made to either stop selling land along the flooding areas, or else control the water to prevent destruction of property. The priority must be placed on the health, safety and property of citizens rather than beauty of nature. I agree with the committee that the shores of the river and its creeks should have been proclaimed natural park area long before the developers came

Whenever new houses have been erected, the Fellows Creek shore has been widened and beautified, but there is a section from Sheldon east to the Edison Power Station that is untouched. There is the problem of falling trees, debris, irregular flow, and even washout next to property. The irony of it is that the old-time taxpayers have been pushed to the end of the list in services.

It was exciting to build next to a picturesque winding creek. However, the seller never warned me about spring floods. It was too late when flood came like a violent rushing river. It carried away anything in its path and flooded the furnace motor. After that first flood, I purchased high boots, but that became useless. It so happened that I was away at work when the second flood came. I couldn't get inside the house to get the boots.

Proud of their school

We are not concerned with boundarieswe may or may not be included in the new school. We are not concerned with a new building, new teachers or new principal. We are not concerned with different architecture and furniture arrangements.

We are concerned with the overall atmosphere and policies inside the building. We are concerned that the individualized education, as it is practiced in Gallimore Elementary, be available in the new schools. We are concerned that community input be actively sought in creating the basic philosophy and educational structure as it is to be practiced in the new buildings.

We know that no one method of instruction is right for all children and-or teachers-that a blending of all philosophies is needed to meet all needs. Our experiences at Gallimore Elementary have proven th Plymouth value of this blending of methods

Gallimore Elementary is almost 20 years old but can by no means be considered a traditional school, for within each classroom there is, by each teacher's individualized method, individualized education. This is a tried-and-true method, but it also is innovative and creative.

Our children are learning the basics of reading, writing and arithmetic and also of self-discipline and respect for themselves and others. Our staff is able to accomplish this because it has a commitment to the education of each individual child rather than to a particular method or philosophy.

The newest equipment and latest philosophy don't necessarily create the best

Let us learn from previous mistakes. Gallimore Elementary is not alone in having a successful program. Let us learn. from success!

ANNE MARIE HUGHES

They could break 'academy barrier'

BY SHERRY KAHAN

They look awfully young to be pioneers, but four area women may soon find themselves just that. They could be among the first women admitted to the heretofore allmale U.S. military academies.

Already nominated, but not yet officially appointed, are Barbara Lynn Trehame, daughter of Richard and Elizabeth Trehame of Livonia, and Deborah Nuckolls, daughter of Stanley and Caroline Darke, also of Livonia.

Anne Marie Hughes, daughter of Al and Eleanor Hughes of Garden City is another nominee: as is Sheila Grieve, daughter of Lloyd and Barbara Grieve of Redford Township.

Their nomination came hard on the heels of a law signed last October by Pres. Gerald Ford directing that women be admitted to America's service academies.

The army academy at West Point, for example, is planning to admit 100 women next summer, the number being related to the number of women regular army lieutenants need by the army in 1980.

ALL FOUR WOMEN have been nominated by their congressmen to attend West Point, with Miss Nuckolls also winning nomination to the Air Force Academy, and Miss Grieve nominated to the Merchant Marine Academy.

"They are sure going to get one heck of a good education if they go to West Point," maintained Livonian Harry Flower, active army reservist who teaches government at Churchill High School.

'In academic ratings, West Point ranks fourth after Harvard, Yale and Princeton.

There is a chance that these women also could go on to graduate school. About 70 per cent of West Point students complete a graduate program and 16 per cent obtain

"I AM INTERESTED in military law." said Miss Treharne, who received her nomination from Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor), whose district includes Plymouth and Livonia. Her family veered toward an interest in military life when her brother, Murry, won an appointment to West Point

"I'm nervous and excited about the possibility of being a part of the first class of women at the academy." She continued. "The men may not want the girls there and could make it really tough."

Does she think she'll burst into tears the first time she is loudly chewed out, armystyle? "No. I won't." she declared, "but maybe I will back in my room."

A senior at Stevenson, she feels she may be a little self-conscious saluting the first time. "But I've been practicing because some of the students at Stevenson salute me now just for fun."

She laughed: "The hardest part will be to salute my own brother."

Miss Treharne believes that attending the military academy will be "a fantastic opportunity for a good education and a good experience."

SHEILA GRIEVE, appointed by William Brodhead (D-Detroit), whose district includes Redford Township, is interested in computers, having taken classes in this new science at Thurston High School.

"I am also interested in traveling," she said. "I studied German for five years. I also like the opportunity for leadership which going to West Point will give you. It is one of the best educational facilities in the country, especially in science and computers."

Miss Grieve also has noticed military life offers a chance to earn a good salary. "A student at West Point earns $3.600 a year." she said. "As a second lieutenant she would make $12.000 per year along

She also would get a new uniform as a plebe, or first year student.

West Point officials have recently been huddling with a subsidiary of Hart. Schaffner and Marx to "adapt the many dress and work uniforms to the female torso without compromising the basic characteristics of the male uniforms."

Their problem, they said, was to make a woman look like a woman and at the same time look like a West Point cadet.

The folks who managed D-Day, with the help of designers, proved equal to the challenge and now have a feminine long and short overcoat, skirt, pumps, beret, garrison cap, boots, grey slacks, marching shoes and the familar short West Point jacket with 24 buttons across the front.

ANNE MARIE HUGHES, who is enrolled at Garden City East High School, is interested in military life. "I've checked into it and think it's for me," she said. "The math and science it offers are fantastic and they are my two main interests at

One reason I chose West Point is its broad undergraduate program which will make it easier for me to decide on a spe-

Nominated by Rep. William Ford (D-Taylor), whose district includes Garden City, Westland and Canton Township, Miss Hughes is planning to make the service her career. She is not awed by the prospect of being one of a few women among all those military males.

"It doesn't bother me," she said. "I was brought up with three brothers."

She noted that she had heard it would not be easy for girls to break the masculine barrier at the academy. 'It is natural for men to be resentful,' she said. "It's not right, but that's their opinion. It is up to the girls who go this year to show we can do just as well as the men.

"I feel it will be a good life, challenging and exciting. I've seen pictures of West Point, and the atmosphere there has to be fantastic. I get excited just talking about

CHURCHILL HIGH SCHOOL'S Debbie Nuckolls believes there is a definite place for women in the service.

"They can do most of the things the guys can do," she asserted. "It's a good opportunity to start a career.

A diver at Churchill, Miss Nuckolls' greatest ambition at the moment is to participate someday in diving competition at the the Olympics. Other than sports, her strongest interest is math.

"I don't know much about military life." she said. "If I'm accepted I'll find out if I like it."

Flower, who was on active service in the U.S. Army for 12 years, reported that women wishing to enter military academies must be 17 years of age at the time they enter. They must be either a high school graduate or have passed the high school equivalency test (GED).

Academic qualification is determined by the academies by evaluating College Board Admissions Testing Program or American College Testing Assessment Program results. Secondary school records and recommendations of teachers also are considered, as is the result of a physical aptitude examination.

I couldn't believe it until I checked the date on the clipping, but it was six years ago that I filled this spot with some comments about the "cluttered and crumby and absolutely delicious" season when the Giri Scout cookies arrived at our house.

I looked up the past column, you see, because a fellow worker who has ordered cookies from us for lo, these many years, tried to put in his annual request for some of those good sandwich cookies.

And I had to turn him down. Not a

But I guess I had figured, somewhere back in the days when I was buying an over-supply of the confections from three or four saleswomen and then eating too many of them (the cookies, I mean, not the saleswomen), that it would be easier on the pocketbook and the waistline when the annual influx didn't hit us so squarely.

Now I'm not so sure. When the neighborhood Camp Fire Girls sold candy this year, I found myself figuring that since there wouldn't be cookies to buy I might as well give them a little extra support, and when one daughter's boss's daughter took orders I decided we couldn't miss havinga good supply of chocolate mints on hand

It's a Mardi Gras to usher in Lent for Redford area

BY MARGARET MILLER

The gajety of Mardi Gras will turn into the solemnity of Ash Wednesday in an ecumenical service ushering in Lent for eight Redford Township churches.

The service, planned by leaders of the eight congregations who have organized the Redford clergy, will be held 7-9 p.m. in St. Agatha Catholic Church, Beech-Daly just north of Grand River.

It will begin with a festive time in the church's fellowship room, complete with a kazoo band and folk singing, and will end with the burning of the palms in the sanctuary to mark the beginning of Lent.

Congregations participating, in addition to St. Agatha, are Trinity Church of the Brethren, Rice Memorial United Methodist, Village Presbyterian, St. Martin Episcopal. St. John Lutheran. Augsburg Lutheran and Lola Valley United Methodist.

THE ECUMENICAL GATHERING, said the Rev. Donna J. Lindberg of Rice, follows the aim of the relatively new clergy group, to add an extra dimension to worship in the community without interfering with established services by member charches

Our first ecumenical service, one emphasizing the expectancy of Advent, was extremely well received." she said, "so we wanted to try another.

"Most of our congregations plan special services on Ash Wednesday, so this gathering was planned for Shrove Tuesday, also known as Fat Tuesday."

She explained that the historical connotation of the day before Lent begins is that it is a day for using up all the rich foods that should not be eaten during the weeks of fasting, adding that the tradition Mardi Gras celebration is a time for a last fling before the solemn time of the year.

THE PROGRAM in St. Agatha will reflect this, she said.

The celebration portion will include music by a kazoo band from Augsburg and guitar music by Joe Daily, deacon at St. Agatha and a recorder of religious music. and folk singer and guitarist Larry Marshall. A quartet, known as Four of a Kind.

Members of the kazoo band are Esther Engel, Ruth Johnson, Ruth Morris, Ruth Meier, Virginia French, Mary Hill, Marge Melala, Sandra Buscemi, Lillian Blankenbicker, Jenny Storm, Anna Kowalski, Maria Hesse and Lois Sereno.

THE WORSHIP part of the evening willbegin at 8:30 p.m.

Its highlight will be burning of the palms for Ash Wednesday and distribution of the ashes to those churches in the ecumenical community which use them.

"That includes several besides the Catholic church," said Rev. Lindberg, "although many people think of the use of ashes as mainly a Catholic practice.

"In a bulletin that will be distributed in Rice church on Ash Wednesday, when people will come and go as they can for a meditation to begin Lent, there is an explanation of the custom.

"It shows that the ritual of ashes is a ceremony of purification, mentioned in the Old Testament, which later came into use in medieval times. Many churches now use it because it is part of the historical tradition of the catholic (meaning universal) church.'

THE REDFORD CLERGY will sponsor another ecumenical service before Lent is completed.

It will be a Good Friday Tenebrae service, with Rice Memorial, 20601 Beech-Daly, as host chu:ch. The hour will be 8

'St. Paul '76 choir talent show to open series

Five choirs of St. Paul Presbyterian Church of Livonia will combine their talents Friday and Saturday, Feb. 27 and 28, in a variety show that leads off an ambitious concert series.

The opening show, "St. Paul '76," will go on stage at 5:30 and 8 p.m. Friday and at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Directed by Pat Hutchison, it will feature musical numbers with the cherub, junior, junior high, senior high and chancel choirs as well as handbell and dance

It also will be the first in a series of concerts that this spring will bring to St. Paul, located on Five Mile west of Inkster, the Alpha-Omega players in a bicentennial comedy, the Matt Michaels trio with Ursula Walker as vocalist, and the Sharette family, Farmington Hills residents who are making a name in the gospel and popular music field.

MRS. HUTCHISON, St. Paul's youth choir director who currently is taking charge of the chancel, handbell and dance groups too, said the opening night's entertainment would have a patriotic theme.

There will be two parts." she said, "a musical tour of the United States and some excursions into American history, with acts on the Wild West, the days of minstrels, the Suffragettes, and early

Slide projections will illustrate the tour and give added dimension to the music, · 我们可以不可以可以在心脏上的心脏不能不断上的心脏,我们就一把人物,这一点一点一点一点,我们都没有一种的事情,他们就一种,他们就会不会

The combined choirs, about 150 persons, will join in the opening and final numbers, including "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." "This is a Great Country," and "Grand Old Flag."

THE THREE OTHER concerts in the series are scheduled Saturday, March 27, Sunday, April 11, and Sunday, May 2, all

The Alpha-Omega Players' presentation March 27 will be a comedy entitled

"Heroes and Hard Cases," and is described as a show for laughing with, rather than at, America. It is based on extensive research for material reflecting the tradition of American humor and includes episodes on heroes from George Washington to Martin Luther

The players are directed by Drexel H.

Ursula Walker, Detroit-area jazz singer starring in the April 11 concert, has appeared with such musical greats as Stan Kenton, Count Basie and Jack Brokensha. The Matt Michaels Trio is an offshoot of the Brookside Orchestra, a group that has entertained extensively in the metropolitan agers Rick, Denise and Dave and their parents, Bev and Rolland.

Their vocal entertainment is accompanied by guitar, bass, percussion, flute, trumpet and trombone, and their numbers will range from "God Spell" to "Make Your Own Kind of Music.'

There will be no admission charged for the variety show, but a free-will offering will be taken.

Tickets for the other three shows, available by calling the church, will be $6 for the series or $2.50 per performance for adults. For children, the price will be $3 for the series or $1.25 for each perform-

CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY CHURCH, 41355 Six Mile, west of Haggerty, will offer a showing of "Please Make Me Cry," a film about delinquent Cookie Rodriguez, at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 29, as part of an allchurch fellowship program.

The film story was written by David Wilkerson, author of "The Cross and the Switchblade.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Farmington Road and Six Mile, will present the Bentley High School concert choir in its vesper hour service at 7 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 29.

The choir is directed by Dr. Jerry J. Smith, who also directs the Ward chancel choir. There will be special selections by ensembles and soprano Kathy Jones. The Rev. L. Edward Davis will preach.

ST. ANDREW EPISCOPAL CHURCH, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia, will-be the scene of a pancake supper served by its senior and junior high youth groups Tuesday, March 2, from 5-7:30 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased at the door, and the price, $6 for a family, $1.50 for adults and $1 for youth, will include all the pancakes you can eat, as well as sausage, applesauce, beverage and ice cream.

NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, will ofter a spagnetti dinner served by its senior high youth group from 4:40-7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 28. The junior high youth group will conduct a bake sale. Tickets for all the spaghetti, salad, relishes, dessert and beverage you can eat are $7.50 per family, or $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children three to 12.

We Go By The Book

In matters of doctrine and faith, we take the Bible, especially the New Testament, to be our only rule of faith and practice. We hold it to be an authoritative, reliable guide in matters of belief and practice. It is our desire "to speak where the Bible speaks and be silent where the Bible is silent." And so it is, we have no book but the Bible, no creed but Christ and wear no name but Christian. By no means are we the only Christians. We are Christians only, seeking to serve God as He intended, and according to His Book.

Rev. McDonald leaving Plymouth

The Rev. B. Edwin McDonald has resigned as pastor of the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene to accept a call to the First Church of the Nazarene of Upland, Calif.

Making the move with him will be Jerry Stipp, youth pastor.

Rev. McDonald and his family moved to Plymouth four years ago, and during his ministry the local church has experienced unusual growth in many areas.

Among the moves instituted under his leadership have been a bus ministry, a nursing-home ministry and the broadcast of services over telephone lines.

Buses have carried as many as 200 children and adults to services at the church located at 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail, and its Sunday services have been "attended" on a regular basis by nursing-home residents who hear what goes on over special lines set up by the telephone company.

These special services brought Rev. McDonald the Plymouth Civitan service award in 1975, and his involvement in com munity affairs made him a popular speaker in the area.

In addition, his ministry has seen more than 200 new members received into the local church and a doubling of its finances.

REV. B. EDWIN McDONALD

County executive could solve jail problem

By TIM RICHARD

"A county executive could solve that jail problem," says Daniel T. Murphy pondering Wayne County's current crisis. Murphy is the first-and so far onlycounty executive in Michigan, and many county boards are inviting the Oakland County official to explain how the system works.

"An executive would be in the middle of the battle and be able to show some leadership." says Murphy, "The sheriff would have someone to grab hold of in the fight."

MURPHY IS expected to be star witness when a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners ponders whether to place the issue of creating a county executive on the ballot this year.

A public hearing by the general government committee is scheduled for 10 a.m. March 3 in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building in Detroit.

Heading that committee are the authors of the local proposal-Chairman Richard E. Manning (D-Redford) and Commissioner Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia).

Under Public Act 139 sponsored by State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), Michigan's 83 counties may place on the ballot proposals to create the position of elected county executive or appointed county man-

"WAYNE COUNTY government, with a budget of more than $300 million and myriad responsibilites for public services, is too big and complicated to function properly with its present antiquated structure," Manning contends. "There must be one chief executive."

Mrs. Dumas says that without either an executive or manager, the 27-membercounty board must function as both legislative and administrative body.

She is calling for the board to place the executive proposal on the August 1976 primary ballot. A partisan primary for the executive post would be held at the same election, but results would be nullified if OAKLAND COUNTY, with a history of performing functions at a county level because no single city dominates the area, created the executive post in 1974.

Murphy, then head of the three-man board of auditors and considered the most knowledgeable person in county government, was the logical Republican nominee and the eventual winner.

Democrats and Republicans in Oakland County agree the move was a wise one, even when they disagree with Murphy personally on policy matters.

The proposal doesn't eliminate the elected posts of clerk, treasurer, prosecutor, sheriff and drain commissioner.

WHAT IT DID do in Oakland was to allow consolidation of 37 separately appointed departments, boards and bureaus into six major departments, all accountable to a single executive.

"Much overlapping of functions was eliminated," said Murphy in his state of the county address this year. "Lines of authority were more clearly delineated. Responsibility for particular actions became certain and definite."

A major accomplishment of the Murphy administration has been to start in motion a master plan for solid waste recycling-a project that no one community could have tackled alone.

Murphy feels the new form of government permitted Oakland County to "get a firmer grasp on government spending than ever before."

THERE'S ANOTHER important dimension to the county executive system that will bother some persons in Wayne County, particularly Detroiters.

As executive of a county with 1,000,000 residents, Murphy has one of the most potent politcal bases in Michigan, second only to Mayor Coleman A. Young of Detroit. Murphy testifies before state and federal agencies with the kind of clout no single commissioner could possibly have. How the mayor of Detroit (pop. 1.4 million) will react to being possibly overshadowed by an executive of Wayne County (pop. 2.7 million) remains to be seen.

When Young and Gov. William Milliken came up with a plan to "reconstitute" the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), Murphy worked up some suburban opposition. Murphy's own plan went nowhere, but he feels he successfully killed the most objectionable feature of the Milliken-Young planthe part giving Detroit a disproportionate share of the SEMTA board.

All agree it will take court decisions and some amendments by the legislature to remove flaws from PA 139. A county manager, appointed by the board of commissioners, is preferred by some politicians-mostly Republicans who like the analogy between a county manager and a corporation president.

But Murphy contends a populous county should opt for the executive plan. And Wayne County politicians agree that if either system is tried, the elected executive

GOP goes to court for special election

Wayne County Republicans have taken their case for special elections for appointed county commissioners to circuit court.

Ernest C. Fackler, county Republican chairman, Monday filed suit to force election of three county commissioners whose posts have been filled by appointment.

One of those is Thomas Presnell (D-Westland) who was appointed last month to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Tom F. Taylor when he was elected Westland mayor. Presnell's district includes Garden City and part of Westland.

THE REPUBLICANS" argument, supported by Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia), contends that state law requires a special election to be called by the commissioners if a vacancy occurs more than 180 days before the term expires.

Fackler charged that Democratic commissioners, who account for 25 of the 27 voices on the board, have violated the law.

"The Democratic majority . . . has de-liberately violated state law appointing three persons to the board instead of conducting special elections as the law requires . . . (they) have knowingly denied the law, and in fact, ignored the opinion of their fellow Democrat Atttorney General Frank Kelley ... At last Thursday's board of commissioners meeting, the Democratic commissioners would not listen to the advice of their own attorney, Corporation Counsel Aloysius J. Suchy . . .

JA Finalist

Barry Grady, 17, was recently named a finalist in the Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan best sales contest. He is a member of the ESP '76 JA Company sponsored by Western Electric in the Plymouth JA Center at 585 W. Ann Arbor Trail. He has sold more than $300 worth of wall plaques manufactured by his company, which had total sales of $650. Grady will compete March 9 in the Raleigh House, Southfield, enroute to the state finals

John Barr, vice-chairman of the board and a Democrat whose district includes part of Westland, said that Suchy told the board that Kelly's opinion does not have the force of law and the board is under no obligation to abide by the opinion.

Barr also contends that the law allows appointed commissioners to serve for the unexpired term of office.

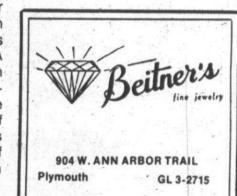

"At a time when the county has been driven at least $6 million into deficit spending by court orders regarding the jail, it would be the height of folly to spend $138,000 of the taxpayers' money on special elections when regular elections are coming up in August and November . . .

"Special elections are not necessary The people of the three districts are not without representation. Exercising our clear legal right and duty, the board of commissioners filled the vacancies by appointment to finish out the term which ends Dec. 31 . .

"This is just an attempt to create a partisan political issue at the expense of the taxpayers," Barr said.

"THE ACTION of the Democratic commissioners is clear-they don't want 300.000 people to have the right to Fackler said.

"The Republicans of Wayne County are committed to retaining the right to vote. We will fight as hard and as long as it takes to let every citizen elect their representatives at the polls," he added,

Old 'smithy' shop

The Stroller...

This done, he'd lift the horse's leg again, assume the smithy's bent position, then drive the nails into the hoof. He was a real artists among the "smithies."

It so happened that The Stroller's hometown of Catasauqua, Pa. also was the home of the Bryden Horse Shoe Company. In its day this the largest horse shoe factory in the world, more than three blocks long and a quarter of a mile wide.

As so often happened in the old days, the plant was on one side of the main street. So. on a leisurely walk in the evening, one could watch the progress of making horse shoes from the long iron strips of hot iron going through the rolls to the cutting machines and then later to the "benders" who shaped them.

The little frame house in which The Stroller was raised was only two blocks from the horseshoe factory so he actually spent much of his early life between the factory and the blacksmith shop.

IT SOUNDS just a bit odd these days to speak of a horseshoe factory when the horses long since have gone from our streets. There was a time, though, before the advent of the automobile, that the clop, clop, clop of the horses hoofs was a familiar sound.

And it may sound even stranger today to recall that there many sizes and shapes of the horseshoes. Of course, the big dray horses took the heaviest. But there were medium sized for the high stepping carriage horses and an entire section of the plant was given over to the manufacture of racing plates-the special shoes made for the trotters and pacers which furnished the top entertainment at the county fairs.

There was another specialty-a shoe made for the horses engaged in fox hunting over hill and dale. And still another for the horses used by the mounted police.

Along with these-at the Christmas season-the Bryden Co. made silver horseshoes with the nails protruding about a half inch. These were to hold the old-fashioned pens and were given to the top clients as a desk piece. It was a mark of status to own one of these desk sets.

All these memories came rolling through the years as The Stroller stood there, in the Plymouth Museum, reliving some of the days of his youth while looking at the old blacksmith shop. He came close to walking over and pumping the old bellows, for he was sure he saw the Fahlers, as of yore, fitting horses to new shoes, It was a pleasant visit.

U.S. Grant was president of the United States: Alexander Graham Bell demonstrated his telephone. and Mark Twain's-'Tom Sawyer" was a best seller.

It was 1876, the year the nation celebrated the centennial of its birth. To help commemorate the event. Chicago publisher H. Belden and Company issued an "Illustrated Historical Atlas of Wayne County. Michigan.

THE ATLAS contains information about the village and township of Plymouth, including sketches of Plymouth farms and a map of the area as it was 100 years ago."

Plymouth Township in 1876 included what is now Northville Township. The entire township had no more than 4,000 inhabitants, about a third of whom lived in the villages of Plymouth and Northville. The population of Plymouth in 1880 was 1.025). As might be expected, farming was the principal occupation.

"The soil of Plymouth." declared a writer in the Atlas, "varies from a light loam in the east to a heavy clay in the west, with here and there long gravelly ridges. Being well watered by the Rouge River and tributaries, the land has always been remarkable in its fecundity, and has brought the township agriculturally to the front rank. In early days, a yield of from 30 to 40 bushels of wheat to the acre was nothing unusual. Fruit culture is now receiving considerable attention."

THE ATLAS contains a list of "patrons"-residents who agreed to subscribe for the book before it was printed.

Among the patrons listed in what later became the Plymouth part of the township were 25 farmers, four blacksmiths, three coopers, two hotel keepers, a wagonmaker, a carriage-maker, a teacher, a barber. a justice of the peace, a general merchandise and real estate operator (George Starkweather), a livery, stable and omnibus line, and a well-digger ("wells sunk with a patent borer". Almost all of these. except the farmers, lived on section 26, which encompasses a large part of the present City of Plymouth.

The list gives the place of birth of each patron and when he settled in Wayne County. Eighteen were born in the county, 17 in New York State, four in New England, four in Washtenaw County. Two were from England-O. H. Polley and James Powell. One was from Glasgow, Scotland-E. Gark.

The oldest living settler in Plymouth in 1876 was Mrs. L. Blackmar, who lived on Section 27, west of the center of the village. Mrs. Blackmar was born in Wayne County in 1824

IN ADDITION to Plymouth and Northville, the 1876 map shows a community called Waterford, or Mead's Mills, located on Northville Road at Six Mile, about two miles north of Plymouth.

Nettie Dibble, in her 1931 history, reported that Dryer Ramsdell built a mill there in 1837, and Jabish Mead built another in 1834. In 1837, wrote Mrs. Dibble, the Ramsdell brothers laid out and recorded the village under the name Waterford, but for many years the post office name was Mead's Mills.

There was a school, a general store, a chair factory, and a foundry at Waterford. A large flour mill, run by the three Mead brothers, turned out 200 barrels of flour a Waterford also had three cooper shops, and a waterpowered saw-mill. The population in 1880 was 100.

'Industry grew to large proportions and Waterford promised to be one of the largest towns in Michigan." wrote Mrs. Dibble. "but calamity struck it. The mill caught fire and burned with all its contents including several thousand bushels of wheat and considerable flour.

"After this a much larger mill was built, the largest in the state at that time, propelled by an immense wheel 18 feet in diameter....After about six years, this second mill of five or six stories burned to the ground. This sealed the doom of Waterford. Plymouth and Northville drew a lot of the workmen away and one by one the shops were closed, and now Waterford is just a four corners.

THE ATLAS contains sketches of three Plymouth residences and farms.

The property of A. E. Pardee, farmer and justice of the peace, is shown on the east bank of Phoenix Lake. Also illustrated are the farms of D. D. Allen, on Ann Arbor Trail near the present Hilltop Golf Course, and of Charles C. Allen, on Northville Road between Phoenix Lake and what is now Wilcox Pond. A train on the Flint and Pere Marquette Railroad. which cut through Allen's property, can be seen at the top of the sketch.

A map in the Atlas shows the locations of farms owned by long-gone residents whose names have appeared in this history

A. B. Markham's 243-acre farm was on Six Mile, between Sheldon and Beck. Markham is the pioneer whose recollections appeared in earlier columns.

W. D. Van Sickle's 112 acres were on Five Mile, west of the railroad crossing Van Sickle Cut, which figured in the 1907 Salem train wreck, was on this property.

The F. S. Shattuck farm was on both sides of Plymouth Road on the Rouge River. Part of it was where Riverside Cemetery is now located. The first school in Plymouth was located on Shattuck property opposite what later became the entrance to the cemetery.

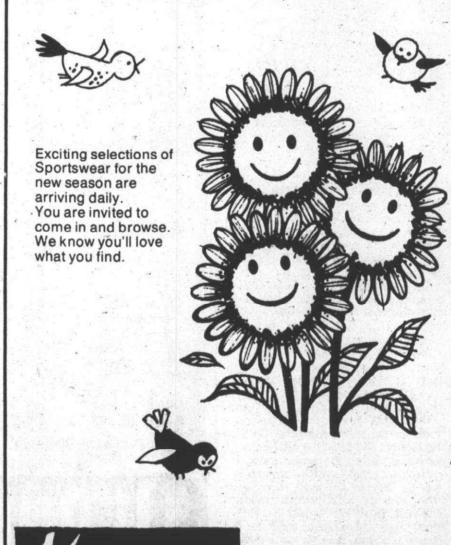

John Tibbits' farm, where the first township meeting was held in 1827, had been broken up when the 1876 Atlas was prepared. In that year, 180 acres of it was owned by R. S. Durfee on North Territorial Road, between Beck and Ridge, Part of the Durfee farm was later owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garber, who sold the house a few years ago to the Dennis Golbesky's. The changes which took place in Plymouth during the past 100 years were numerous, but it is safe to say they will be dwarfed in comparison with changes which will occur between the years 1976 and 2076.

My thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strebbing of Plymouth Township for their kindness in making available to me their copy of the 1876 Atlas.

Barbershoppers to sing about America

The Wayne Chapter for the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America (SPEBSQSA) will present its 1976 Bicentennial Pitchpipe Parade, "What a Country!"

at 8:15 p.m. March 5-6. The program will be held at Our Lady of Mercy High School, 29300 11 Mile at Middle Belt in Farmington. Tickets for "What a Country!" can be obtained by calling Tom Pollard at 427-5527.

Featured will be The OK4, a quartet from Oklahoma City and three-time international finalists, and The Sounds of Music, 1974 Sweet Adeline Champions.

Singing hosts will be The Wonderland Chorus directed by Dave Caldwell and Steve Sutherland. The group was 1974-75 Regional Chorus Champions. Included on the program are The Final Edition, The Memory Laners. The Keepers of the Key and The Aire-Males.

MEMBERS OF The OK-4 are Jim Massey, lead; Ken Witten, tenor; Gaylon Stacy, bass; and Bill Thompson, baritone. They made their first public appearance in "Music Man" in 1966.

They have traveled hundreds of air miles to entertain audiences throughout the U.S. and Canada. In addition, the foursome has twice toured the South Pacific area to entertain military personnel at the invitation of the USO and the U.S. Department of Defense.

The group's repertoire includes both old songs and new. Each member of the quartet has developed characterizations through which their comedy emanates. They do not sing funny songs; to the contrary they do funny things while singing straight songs.

The Sweet Adelines, known as The Sounds of Music, were crowned 1974 International Queens of Harmony in Milwaukee, Wisc. They are all members of the Gem City Chapter from Dayton, Ohio. It was a double thrill for them when Gem City took the 1974 International Chorus Championship.

SINCE ORGANIZING in 1969, the group has become regional champions and has competed in five international contests. three of which they placed in the top 10, holding the honor of being fifth place medalists twice.

Their performances have taken them to Hawaii, Salt Lake City, Denver, Kansas City, Seattle, Washington D.C., many Ohio cities and surrounding states, as well as TV appearances.

Their repertoire includes a variety of selections in the barber-shop style.

The Wayne Chapter of the SPEBSQSA has members from Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City, Westland, Birmingham, Southfield, West Bloomfield, Farmington and many other Michigan communities, plus two from Pennsylvania and Florida. The show's general chairman, John Robert Miquelon of the Wayne Chapter, said, "There are 35,000 members internationally, in the United States and Canada. We have 25 districts and 700-plus chapters. The Wayne Chapter, Oakland County Chapter, Grosse Pointe Chapter and Detroit Chapter are the four largest chapters in Michigan.

ACCORDING TO Miquelon, "We are always encouraging men who can sing to join our organization. Our objective is twofold: one, our sheer love of singing; two, we do support logopedics.'

He said the barber shop society has raised $1.5 million for logopedics since 1964. The SPEBSQSA adopted the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kansas, as its national service project in 1964. The institute is dedicated to the cure and/or rehabilitation of children with speech defects, some of whom are also victims of cerebral

The Wayne Chapter, in cooperation with the Westland Merchants Association, will hold an "Auditions for Admission" program in Westland Shopping Center mall on March 23 beginning at 7:45 p.m.

Wayne Chapter's 60-man chorus and quartets will entertain shoppers in the mall with songs sung in barbershop style. After the concert, men in the mall will be invited to join the barber shoppers in the auditorium on the first level for an informal auditions program.

The Wayne Chapter Chorus has won the Pioneer (Michigan) District Championship three times and was the district's representative chorus at the 1975 international contest in Indianapolis last summer.

Taut drama in 'Rope Dancers'

& By RITA C. VANO

"The Rope Dancers," current offering by the Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford, is Morton Wishengrad's taut drama of a strong-willed, independent young woman at the turn of the century.

With strained actions and dialogue, Wishengrad precisely unravels the story of Margaret Hyland and her daughter Lizzy, who are precariously groping through life. much as a man walks a tightwire.

Pamela Nelson efficiently portrays' the prematurely stern Margaret Hyland, a woman struggling alone against poverty. society and the forces of evil that she sees about her. During the evening's performance, Miss Nelson carries the role systematically. As the careful Mrs. Hyland, she opens three different purses to pay a mov-

She provides an apt portrayal of young womanhood unable to escape the responsibilities planted on her by a deserting husband and her personal religious taboos.

NO MATTER how strong, though, neither her love for her child, nor her feelings toward her husband, are able to steer her from the righteous, unbending course that she has chosen for herself.

Intellectual and easily discouraged, Howard V. Egan slips into the role of James Hyland, vagabond husband and unpublished author. Hyland's overwhelming love for his daughter and the amazement and frustration he feels at his wife's actions are experienced by all, both on and off the stage. Despite his love for Lizzy, he is unable to cope with his wife's unnatural possessive feelings toward the child.

At the mercy of their emotional problems is their daughter Lizzy, played by Jean Lyle. Lizzy is the victim of a minor birth defect, which causes her mother's constant guilt feelings.

As a result, Mrs. Hyland religiously dresses her daughter in white, regarding her as a living symbol of their past sins. Thus, Lizzy is forced to carry both her mother's guilt and the burden of her father's shame on her young shoulders.

Providing a welcome contrast to the groping family, the downstairs neighbor, Mrs. Farro, exudes plenty of genuine warmth and motherly affection into the otherwise dismal setting. Played by Verna Paul. Mrs. Farro even manages for a moment to briefly rekindle the social needs that have lain dormant for so long within Margaret Hyland.

MRS. FARROW'S daughter, Clementine. is played by Sherry Unrau. Mischievous and unexpectedly eloquent, the child often voices truths that are politely unspoken by her elders. Both actresses and character are strikingly direct and full of the childish innocence that such a role demands.

Instrumental in forcing the Hylands to face reality, Dr. Isaac Jacobson encourages them to throw off the guilt that they have been hiding behind. Played by Keith Lepard, himself a surgeon, Dr. Jacobson's kindly manner speaks naturally of his belief in the ultimate goodness and joy to be found in life.

Two characters who emphasize Margaret Hyland's withdrawal from society are Lameshnik, the truant officer, and Officer Kelleher. In the role of the truant officer, Fred Bush skillfully portrays a man torn between his sense of public duty and his concern for the child and her family.

He and Officer Kelleher, played by Ron Wheeler, are astounded by Lizzy's knowledge of literature and sciences, knowledge that has been acquired completely outside the public school system.

Appearing in the first act, Robert E. Brown plays the moving man, effectively introducing the independent Mrs. Hyland and her delicate daughter to the audience. Brown is also building director for the guild and serves as stage manager for the current production.

"THE ROPE DANCERS" is directed by Raye Bush, who has diverse experience, both as an actress and as a director. Originally from England, Miss Bush has appeared on radio, television, in summer stock and in night clubs. Her assistant director is Pat Dorrian, who has also worked with the Dearborn Theater Guild and the American Drama Festival.

The three-act play runs each Friday and Saturday until March 6 at the guild's playhouse located at 15138 Beech Daly Road; curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Gospel musical

Julie Rotary of Livonia (standing, left), Philip Shangraw of Plymouth (standing, center) and Rhonda Boccarossa of Livonia appear in a scene from "Godspell" at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. Final performances of the musical will be Friday and Saturday in the Waterman Campus Center. The Friday program will be the show only, beginning at 8 p.m. On Saturday, the performance will be preceded by a French cuisine of gourmet snacks beginning at 6:30 p.m. Call 591-6400, ext. 280, for ticket information.

DINNER includes

American works to be featured

Works of two American composers will be featured by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra in its fifth concert of the season at 4 p.m. March 7 in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. Joy west of Canton Center

William Doppmann will be heard with the orchestra in Edward MacDowell's Piano Concerto No. 2 in D Minor.

Ron Nelson-"a conservative modern in the Howard Hanson style." in the words of conductor Wayne Dunlap-will be represented by his "Savannah River Holiday." composed in 1953.

Other works include Haydn's Symphony No. 103 ("Drumroll") and Resphigi's Pines of Rome.

This program was originally scheduled for April but was moved up to allow further polishing and rehearsal of a musical based on work of the Shakers, an early American religious sect. The Shaker work will be performed April 25.

TICKETS FOR the March 7 concert will be at regular prices for adults and for senior citizens, and free to K-12 students. MacDowell was lionized by audiences as both composer and performer during his lifetime, and his works are being revived during the American bicentennial. Although he admired Grieg. MacDowell wrote more in the Germanic spirit of Schumann and Mendelssohn, both of whom wrote minor key piano concertos.

MacDowell's second concerto, composed in 1888, "has an American freshness about it that makes it very attractive," conductor Dunlap said.

Doppmann, 41, earned two degrees at the University of Michigan and is now artist-in-residence at Grand Valley State Colleges. Allendale. He has taught at Iowa State University the State University of Iowa and the University of Texas. A Levintritt prizewinner, he has recorded for Columbia Records, performed as soloist with more than 50 orchestras in America and made four tours of Europe.

Doppmann is well known for his interpretations of Mozart but is equally at home with the 19th century romantics.

THE HAYDN sympohony was programmed not only because the classical giant is a favorite of Dunlap's but because Plymouth Symphony concertgoers ranked Haydn high in a survey. Resphigi's "Pines" will bring the program to a cli-

During intermission, items made by the Shakers will be sold to raise funds for the specially commissioned April 25 program. Babysitting by qualified girl scouts will be provided. The Salvation Army will offer free bus rides to senior citizens from the Tonquish Creek Manor in Plymouth.

Chiefs lose touch; fall to Annapolis

By BILL COLLINS

The familiar nemesis that has plagued Plymouth Canton all season long was with them from the opening tip to the final buzzer Tuesday evening, as the Chiefs couldn't shake off an epidemic of bad shooting and fell 56-45 to Dearborn-Heights

Converting 15 buckets in 54 attempts averaged out to a thin 28 per cent for the Chiefs, in contrast to Annapolis' team shooting total of 48 per cent.

The Cougars graduated 10 seniors off last year's club and this year's edition features an all-junior squad of 12 players. Although the team is composed of underclassmen, the club finished their season Tuesday with an 11-9 mark.

Annapolis' jumped into the lead at the five-minute mark of the opening quarter and held down a 13-8 margin at the end of the first period.

Canton went to work in the second session with Tom Close sinking eight points, and putting the Chiefs on top, 22-21, with 3:05 left in the half.

The Chiefs had an impressive night at the foul line, canning 15 of 17 shots for 88 per cent, while Annapolis sank four of eight attempts for 50 per cent.

ONCE CANTON had taken the lead, the Cougars caught fire while the Chiefs' shooting went awry.

Led by guard Glenn Valentine, Annapolis scored the last 10 points of the half to take a 31-22 lead at the intermission.

Valentine took game-scoring honors with 22 points.

Tim Trevathan entered the game during the last moments of the first half to add some rebounding muscle under the boards for Annapolis. The portly Trevathan finished the night with 10 points and was never absent under the Cougar boards when the ball was on its way to the hoop.

Canton fell behind, 39-22, when Annapolis scored the first eight points of the second

Once Annapolis, a second place finisher in the Metro West Conference, had established a 17-point margin, the barrier between the two crews was never closer than

Canton trailed Annapolis' 47-32, at the end of the third period and prepped itself for a final-frame surge

HOWEVER, it wasn't to be, as the Chiefs could find the range on only five of 17 shots in the fourth quarter, thwarting their own comeback. The defeat dropped Canton's record to 5-

14 for the season. Tomorrow evening they will close out their regular season schedule at Walled Lake Western in a Western Six clash against a team that lies in last place in the league. Canton is in fifth, with a 3-6 record.

Tom Close led Canton in scoring with 10 points, showing the fans a few new moves. Mike Albright contributed nine as Rob Mandle and Bill Parson scored four

Plymouth Canton will open state district play at Southfield High School with a battle against Plymouth Salem Tuesday evening at 7 p.m., with the winner meeting Bloomfield Hills Lahser (19-1), Thursday

Rocks pick up 17, 18 over Jaguars, Ford

It was anything but easy for three quarters, but when Plymouth Salem's Rocks finally turned on the heat Tuesday night at Allen Park they raced to a decisive 60-37 basketball victory that pushed their season's record to 18-1.

For the second time in four days, victory was accomplished with a late-game scoring surge, this time a 25-6 bulge over Allen Park after the Jaguars had crept within four points at 35-31 with less than a minute left in the third period.

The previous Saturday the Rocks had turned a tight battle with Edsel Ford into an 86-67 rout by storming to a 30-11 edge in the final six minutes.

Now hanging in the balance is the question of the Suburban Eight League title, and Salem can wrap it up for the third straight year by beating Dearborn at home Friday night.

Eleven points from Jim Ellinghausen and four from his sophomore brother, Tom, were keys to a 17-10 first quarter lead for Plymouth at Allen Park, but the slowdown tactics of the Jaguars destroyed Salem's rhythm and the Rocks slumped to a 12-point second period, to lead at the half, 29-17.

It was even worse in the third period when Allen Park posted a 14-10 edge, but when the Rocks finally blew the lid off the game there was no catching them.

With Salem's lead reading only 35-31 Brian Wolcott picked up a pair of free throws and Jim Ellinghausen followed with four straight baskets to push it to 45-31. From that point on, it was no contest.

The Ellinghausen brothers were Plymouth's high scorers, Jim finally going to the bench with 23 points to his credit and Tom collecting 12. In all, 10 different men scored for the Rocks, with the reserves playing the final three minutes.

EDSEL FORD-PLYMOUTH SALEM

Plymouth Salem's 86-67 home court victory over Edsel Ford last Saturday as the Rocks boosted their record momentarily to 17-1 hinged on a scoring explosion which saw Plymouth notch 30 points in the last six minutes to break a 5-56 fourth quarter

The hot-handed Thunderbirds from Dearborn canned 70 per cent of their shots from the floor during the first three periods. In those 24 minutes, the leade changed hands 15 times and the score was deadlocked on 19 other occasions.

After the final 56-all tie early in the final stanza, Plymouth found the range to coma 52-point half. In the process, the Rocks, who had trailed 18-16 after the first quarter and 36-34 at halftime, came alive defensively to limit Edsel Ford to three field goals in the run for the wire.

Salem hit 10 of 15 field goal attempts in the last six minutes. Brian Wolcott started it with a jumper from the line that put the Rocks ahead for keeps at 58-56 and six other Rocks also scored before the final linghausen held his usual role as the game's top scorer with 32 points. Wolcott added 18 and Tom Ellinghausen 12 to pace the Rocks. In double figures for Edsel Ford were Andy Sitarski with 23, Steve Betz. 12, and Kevin Byrne, 10.

When the smoke finally cleared, Jim El-

A shining note for Salem was the overall play and poise of Rich Hewlett, a freshman guard who was seeing his first varsity action after being advanced from Salem's 16-2 JV squad.

Hewlett came off the bench in the second quarter and, after more than holding his own, was back in to play a sparkplug role in the big fourth quarter surge.

JV Chiefs win

Despite poor shooting the Plymouth Canton JV team was able to overcome their field goal troubles and post victory number 10, 53-45, over Dearborn-Heights Anna-

Forward Randy Rienas gathered 19 caroms in leading the Chiefs in rebounds. Freshman guard Butch King spearheaded the scoring for Canton with-27, while Rienas hit for 17. They were the only two players to break into double figures for Canton.

The Chiefs held 13-8, 23-20, 35-30 leads at the conclusion of the first three quarters. although they shot 35 per cent from the

With Rienas clearing the boards, Canton was able to break away from Annapolis in the final stanza utilizing its running game. Many of Butch Kings' fourth quarter points were a result of the fast break, as he took passes from guard Brent Eckles and converted them into Chief baskets. With a couple of minutes remaining Canton had all but sewn up the win with a 51-the tougher the competition becomes. Area grapplers generally found that maxim to be true last weekend in the regional portion of the state wrestling tournament.

Westland John Glenn, advancing four grapplers to the finals at East Lansing tomorrow and Saturday, led area Class A schools, while four others advanced one wrestler each.

Rockets who qualified last Saturday at Walled Lake Western for the state finals were Agron Vasha, 112 pounds; Nick Paciocco, 119 pounds; Scott Davis, 132 pounds; and Mark Coulston, 155 pounds.

Also advancing from the Walled Lake Western regional were Mike Kucsera, Livonia Franklin, 98 pounds; Scott McKay, Livonia Bentley, 105 pounds; Dan Lindberg, Redford Union, 112 pounds; and Carl Schultz, Plymouth Salem, 119 pounds.

Defending Class A champion Wayne Memorial advanced four wrestlers to the finals, while Temperance Bedford and Mt. Clemens each placed seven grapplers. Glenn coach Bob Lusk said that Bedford and Mt. Clemens rate the favorites' roles for the team title this weekend based on the numbers of men available to accumu-

With only four in the finals, the Rockets' chances for finishing in the top position are slim. "We still have a chance to place though," Lusk said. "We had hoped to get six wrestlers through even though all the boys wrestled well."

Glenn, with 521/2 team points, finished third of 28 squads at their regional. In Class B regional action last weekend at Hartland, Livonia Clarenceville advanced one of its three district winners to the state finals.

Jeff Heidelberg, a junior who wrestles at 122 pounds, finished among the top four in his weight class and will grapple at East Kentwood High near Grand Rapids this weekend in the championship bracket.

The Trojans accumulated 141/2 team points at Hartland to place 14th in a field of 34.

Each area team could enter one man in each weight classification at the district level. Twenty-two locals made it to the regionals and now nine have advanced to the finals. Things will get only more competitive this weekend.

In The Pocket

If there is any truth to the rumors now making the rounds, there will be a new women's all-star league in the western suburbs next season.

Many of the girls now bowling in the Ladies Major are supposed to be dissatisfied with the move from Pine Tree Bowl on the west side to Luxury Lanes on the east side and have threatened to quit the circuit.

Meanwhile, the rumors abound that the dissatisfied may be the nucleus for a new

Along with the rumors of a new circuit. it also is being whispered that the owners of Pine Tree Bowl are planning a real "battle of the sexes" next season with six teams of men and six of women in an entirely new league.

THE SHIREY TRAILER team of Plymouth has little chance of winning the title in the Bowlerettes All-Star league, but it created one of the big upsets of the season Monday night.

Spearheaded by Marge Kropacek, the team won two games from the strong Jac-Ro team and toppled it out of first place.

This was a double thrill for Marge who last week topped the entire league with her best series of the year.

AGE DOESN'T seem to be a barrier when the senior citizens take their turn on the lanes.

Laurie Moilanen proved this at Merri-Bowl during the week. With a 118 average she came through with a 253 game and took over the star role.

Scoring was generally good as Tony Smith took high game honors in the doubles with a closing 266 in a 607 series. and Bertha Simonsen turned in a 236 in

The best count, however, was the work of Bob Anderson in the junior house league. He linked games of 220, 231 and 241 for a 692.

JAN VANDERWILL is back in stride again at Farmington Lanes. Leader of the women's classic last week, she came right back this week with a 222 in 611 to set the pace.

People who buy and people who sell get together in the Observer&Eccentric Newspapers

Buyers and sellers are "strange" people. Strange to each other, that is. People with lots of different needs and wants, people who need to get together. They need to get together in the quickest, least expensive and most effective way possible-the Observer & Eccentric Want Ads. Say you need a buyer for a bunch of baby basset hounds, or a really good home for a litter of antiques...How do you meet those unknown admirers with an eye for your special goods? How do you keep track of sellers with garage sales, and owners of autos and pets to trade? It's easy -- when you know where buyers and sellers get together bestthe Observer & Eccentric Classifieds.

It's easy to get double buying and selling results, too. Double-Action Ads bring people together from all over Wayne and Oakland Counties. These suburban communities include: Birmingham. Bloomfield, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Rochester, Avon Twp., Southfield and Troy in Oakland County; Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth, Plymouth Twp., Canton Twp., Redford Twp., and Westland in Wayne County. Smart buyers and sellers place a Double Action Family Want Ad (non business) of 15 words or less in two consecutive issues, with no changes in copy and no cancellations -- and they pay only $6. That's a savings of $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues.

When you have something to sell...when you have something to buy...you've got a lot in common in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Want Ads.
