Following the tragic accident last week that took the life of a young township resident, Cantonites living in the area of Hanford and Sheldon posted this mammoth sign south of the intersection where the accident took place. The Hanford-Sheldon intersection is used daily by about 200 Miller students and residents have been asking for a traffic light for some time. Two studies, one by the state police and one by the Wayne County Road Commission are presently underway. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Fatal intersection to get close look

By RICHARD GOLD

The wheels to get a full phase traffic signal at the intersection of Hanford and Sheldon are turning in the wake of a tragic two-car collision that claimed the life of Munna Mohla, 4, of Canton.

Representatives from the Michigan State Police, Wayne County Sheriff, and Wayne County Road Commission were put on the hot seat Tuesday night by a group of concerned residents and school officials. Supervisor Robert Greenstein had asked representatives from both state agencies and the sheriff's office to appear at Tuesday's township board meeting to answer the questions of residents, many of whom remain angered by the county's unwillingness to place a light at the hazardous intersection.

While no promises were made by the state police or the road commission, spokesmen for both agencies said traffic studies are presently being undertaken to see if a full-phase light and speed reduction zone are warranted at the site of last Wednesday's fatal collision.

The intersection is crossed daily by about 200 Miller Elementary students, according to principal Shirley Spaniel.

In the past, representatives from the Plymouth schools safety committee had asked the county for a light—to no avail.

"We are re-studying the area to see if traffic conditions have changed," explained Lyle Nustad, a traffic operation engineer for the county.

"WE'VE ORDERED new volume counts, but we aren't going to make any snap decisions. We're making a rational study, and when we have the information, we'll make a determination."

Presently there are flashing lights on roadside poles on both sides of the intersection and road signs indicating a pedestrian crossing.

At the time of the accident last week, about 40-50 Miller students were waiting to cross Sheldon, and were it not for the quick thinking of the crossing guards, they, too, could have been seriously injured by the flying debris.

In the meantime, Plymouth Schools Supt. John M. Hoben has fired off several letters, both to the staff and members of the road commission, to Wayne County Commissioner Royce Smith, and to State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), State Rep. Tom Brown (D-Westland) and State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

"WE NEED immediate action. We need some type of light and speed reduction zone, but really it's out of our jurisdiction—we're at the mercy of the Wayne County Road Commission," Hoben said.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein has also contacted Freddie G. Burton, chairman of the road commission, and the state police.

"We're trying to get the state police to do studies, and we'd like to see the area more heavily patrolled when the children are crossing the intersection," Greenstein said.

"The road commission is re-studying the situation now, but really it's not the same sort of situation as Lilley and Ford and Sheldon and Ford."

"There, we were able to go above the road commission by going to the state legislature with a stack of accident reports."

"We don't know the history of this intersection. We could follow the same routine, but I don't think there's the same backlog of accidents."

NUSTAD SAID if the traffic counts warrant a light, the road commission will install one. "We want a rational basis for this," he said.

"But as far as we're concerned, even if there were a light there, it wouldn't have prevented this from happening. It's a rear-end collision, and lights don't prevent them. If it's related to the crossing, that's another thing."

According to Nustad, the road commission cannot install a light unless certain conditions are met.

"We're required by the courts to show, either by accident data, traffic volumes or certain other situations, that a light is warranted."

"We have to write up a warrant for the light showing that these conditions are present. Before, we didn't arrive at a warrant—but I do understand that traffic has increased on Warren, and there is substantial building in the area."

"I think our last study is probably a little outdated."

Results of the new study by the road commission and the state police probably won't be available for at least 30 days, and according to Nustad, even if a light is warranted, it will take longer because of the red tape involved in installing a light.

"We'd have to synchronize it with the Gallimore light, and that would involve laying about a half mile of cable underground," Nustad said.

While Lt. William Tomczyk, commander of the Plymouth State Police subpost, was unable to make any commitments about a light, he did promise residents that he would patrol the area more heavily between 3-4 p.m., the peak crossing time, if manpower permitted.

The accident is still under investigation by the sheriff's department, and spokesmen say if charges are made they can be expected before the week ends.

CAC undertakes market study

By DARLENE STINSON

If the dream of Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein and other township officials becomes reality, Canton one day could become the farmers' market capital of the Detroit metropolitan area.

Members of the Canton Board of Trustees recently directed the township's Citizens Advisory Commission (CAC) to study the possible establishment of a huge, township-owned farmers' market somewhere in Canton and report its findings back to the board.

The action revives hopes of Canton Planning Commission member Bart Berg, who conceived the concept of a township-owned farmers' market four years ago and spurred a Chamber of Commerce study of the issue. A previous township board never acted on the chamber's recommendation to establish the township-owned facility.

THE FARMERS market, as envisioned by Greenstein and Berg, would help fill township coffers, attract business and industry to the township and serve as a huge wholesale marketplace for residents and farmers throughout the metropolitan area. "I envision it to be as large or larger than Eastern Market in Detroit," said Greenstein, referring to that city's 10-acre sprawl of produce stands at 2834 Russell. The Detroit-owned market is surrounded by privately-owned food warehouses and wholesale and retail facilities, where many grocers buy their goods.

"But ours would be much cleaner and more modern," the supervisor said. "I don't think Detroit's market would be competition for this one at all."

If established according to Greenstein's hopes, the huge market complex would include acres of township-owned stalls, where farmers would sell goods to the public year-round as well as privately-owned restaurant and warehouse facilities.

If reelected, Greenstein promises to make the market a major goal of his administration in the coming term. The supervisor expects CAC members to study the market concept until election time next November.

Then, he says, if CAC members like the concept, township officials will sponsor public hearings on the issue and begin to make the idea a reality. The administration will find a location for the market—probably on Michigan Ave., Greenstein says—and establish a workable framework for the market's operation.

ACCORDING TO Greenstein, the Economic Development Corporation Act of 1974 permits municipalities to incorporate such businesses as farmers' markets for public profit without a vote of the people.

The corporation is able to issue revenue bonds and sell or lease land, in this case, for privately-owned warehouses and restaurants. The township board, Greenstein says, would appoint a nine-member board of directors to run the corporation.

"I think the market could be a vastly profitable enterprise and bolster the agricultural concept," said Greenstein, referring to the township's recently adopted master land use plan which reserves thousands of acres west of Canton Center for agricultural use.

"Once the township acquired the land, we'd have a pretty substantial tax base."

Greenstein believes the market would net profits for the township and generate other businesses in Canton as well.

Restaurants, gasoline stations and shops would arise to meet the needs of market customers, the supervisor thinks.

The township, Greenstein feels, offers an ideal location for a farmers' market. Canton, he points out, is closer to agricultural areas than Detroit's Eastern Market as well as Metropolitan Airport, where produce arrives in the area during winter months.

"I did enough research on this to convince me it was a good idea," Greenstein said. "I contacted people and visited farmers' markets throughout the state. Every one of them seemed to be doing a great business and benefitting the community."

Many municipalities, including Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and Mt. Pleasant, own farmers' markets.

BERG, WHO prompted the Chamber of Commerce to study the farmers' market concept four years ago, says the market would attract industry to the township and help build a needed tax base.

The chamber, Berg said, conducted a survey among farmers in western Wayne County and found interest in the farmers' market concept. After studying other markets in Michigan, chamber members concluded that municipally-owned facilities are the easiest to control and most profitable for their communities.

According to the chamber's recommendation submitted to a previous township board three years ago, the township should float bonds or levy millage to construct the municipal market.

Chamber members, Berg said, proposed a farmers' market with aisle space and 100 stalls, measuring 15 by 30 feet, with room for expansion later on. Estimated cost of construction was $11 a square foot for the building and 55 cents a square foot for the parking lot, a minimum of half a million dollars.

"The farmers' market itself wouldn't generate that much of a profit," Berg maintains. "Your profit would actually be in attracting industry and establishing a tax base."

Although chamber members submitted their study and recommendations to township board members in the summer of 1973, no action was taken.

"We went as far as we could," Berg said. "The farmers have pounded me about this ever since."

Premier peonies! Lienau's beauties go on display

Canton Township's hard clay is ideal soil for peonies according to Clarence Lienau who has 250 varieties in peak bloom on 2½ acres on Ford Road.

"They like this clay," he said as he tied small paper bags over selected buds. He was slowing their opening process so they would be at their best for the peony show Sunday, June 13 in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth.

"Normally," said Lienau, "the blooming season lasts three weeks. But hot, dry weather can cut it to two weeks."

How long will a peony live and should they be moved?

"A PEONY will live longer than you will," was the response. "I know of some that are at least 85 years old. They'll live longer than that. And they shouldn't be moved."

"A 10- to 20-year-old peony is a new one."

He explained that when the seeds from a peony are planted, it takes three years for them to bloom. "And each one will be slightly different—no two will be the same."

He said it takes another three years to see whether or not they will stand separation.

"It takes at least 10 years to build up stock."

Peony roots are planted in the fall, but now is the time to choose varieties.

Customers make their selections from single blooms in the showroom adjoining the field of flowers. Prices range from $3 to $15 per root.

THE WALLS OF the showroom are covered with hundreds of ribbons from peony shows in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin.

"We have more at home," said Mrs.

Lienau. "There wasn't room for all of them here."

Mrs. Lienau said she had never had a peony named after her, but pointed out a silvery white bloom named in honor of her son, Sylvester, and a deep rose bloom with frothy center petals, named after her daughter, Sharon.

Almost lost in the dazzle of color of the large peony blooms is a row of poppies and another long row of spiked leaves.

Lienau pointed out buds forming in the long leaves. "These are spuria iris," he said. "We picked a 100 dozen from this row last year and another 700 dozen from our place on Beech Daley. We are the only growers around here."

He will have thousands of blooms at the Meeting House this weekend. A special brunch, open to the public, is planned for the show Sunday between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Park to split on constitution

A proposed student constitution will split student government at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) in two next fall, if the document is approved by Plymouth school board members.

The constitution, already ratified by students and approved by CEP administrators, scraps the concept of joint student government at Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

The plan provides for three separate branches of government at each high school. Four class councils at each school will direct respective class activities, while an executive forum at each school will coordinate activities and oversee student government at large. An open forum will provide for input of students not elected or appointed to other governmental agencies.

UNDER THE CEP'S original constitution, a joint student senate, composed of students from both high schools, was established to discuss mutual problems. In addition, separate student councils composed of class officers were intended to coordinate activities at each school.

But, according to Jerry Barker, area coordinator in charge of student activities, and graduating senior Mike Skinner, the major architect of the new constitution and chairman of the constitutional revision committee, the CEP's original plan of government did not work the way it was intended.

"For one thing, the old constitution didn't specify duties," Skinner explained. "It didn't say what you were supposed to do. The function of the senate wasn't spelled out. It was just a structure."

Barker added, "The purpose of the senate was to consider mutual concerns at both schools. It was presumed to be the prime executive group of student government. But the students never felt a need to discuss concerns of both schools, and it never really functioned that way."

Another problem with the original constitution, according to Barker and Skinner, is the provision for student councils, composed of class officers and representatives, at each high school.

According to Skinner, individual class interests fractionalized those councils.

"In the past, the senior class presidents have run the student councils," he said. "That's all right, but he often tended to favor his own class."

Under the new constitution, class activities are directed by individual class councils. Members of the executive forums organize activities involving more than one class and direct student government.

"In the past, maybe a student was elected to student council, because he was more interested in class activities than stu-

Many cultures lined up for 'International Night'

Countries and cultures from throughout the world will be represented when ethnic groups from the Detroit metropolitan area come to Plymouth to perform for Bicentennial-in-the-Park International Night June 17.

This third program in the park series is scheduled from 7-10 p.m. Thursday. All Plymouth-Canton residents are invited to Kellogg Park to view the international entertainment. In case of bad weather, the program will be moved to the gymnasium of Central Middle School.

ONE OF THE best known of the ethnic groups to appear is the Clan MacRae Scottish Pipe Band of Detroit.

The 15-member group directed by pipe major Dennis Barr has participated in parades, balls and other programs throughout the area. The group also has competed in pipe band competitions at the Alma Highland Festival and other contests in the U.S. and Canada—winning prizes at Dutton, Ont., and Ligonier, Pa.

Joining the pipe band will be the Highland Dancers, a six-girl troupe lead by Jeanne McLeod Roberts. These girls have been dancing together for several years and also have competed at the Alma Highland Festival and other American and Canadian festivals. They will dance the highland fling, the sword dance, the English sailors hornpipe and an Irish jig.

ATHENIAN DANCERS will add the spirit of Greek culture to the international program.

This professional group from St. George Greek Orthodox Church in Lincoln Park will perform authentic Greek folk dances. The troupe, which consists of 14 girls and three men, is led by John Karimalis. They have performed at Greek festivals throughout the area, appearing most recently at the Downriver Greek-American Festival in Wyandotte and just last week at the Greek Festival in St. Nicholas Greek Orthodox, Ann Arbor.

Finnish musicians playing mandolins and guitars will bring the music of Scandinavia to the park stage. This six-man group, called the Finlandia Strings, led by Al Lehtikoinen, has performed often in the metropolitan area and has previously appeared in Plymouth.

Songs and dances with accordion accompaniment will be presented by a newly formed Polish-American Folk Theatre junior ensemble. The 25-member group directed by Michael Krolewski of Detroit is sponsored by Lodge 2984 of the Polish National Alliance of Belleville.

Two sisters from Dearborn, Janet and Gloria DelGrosso, will perform authentic Italian dances. Featured in their program is the tarantella, a folk dance from southern Italy.

LIVELY MEXICAN folk dances will be performed by a group of Mexican-American young people. This 20-member troupe directed by Carmen Cortina comes from the Most Holy Trinity Church in Detroit's Latino community.

All of the International Night performers will appear in authentic costumes, typical of the countries they represent. Their colorful dress and ethnic music should shape a mini-ethnic festival for the Bicentennial-in-the-Park program.

Representing our modern American culture will be members of the Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi League of Women Voters who will again be set up in the park for voter registration. Residents of Canton and Plymouth townships, and the City of Plymouth may register with the League from 7-9 p.m. Thursday.

The International Night emcee will be Peter Humphrey, a British-born Plymouth resident. He is known in the community for his narration of the Plymouth Community Chorus programs.

Ethnic groups appearing in the International Night program were contacted and scheduled by Chet and Caye Hill, members of the Community Bicentennial Commission festivals committee.

rangements handled by the bicentennial commission.

Future programs are Plymouth Community Arts Council Heritage Crafts Night June 24 and Nostalgia Night July 1.

Student tax workers

Twelve students at the Centennial Educational Park have volunteered to help Byron Richardson, who's head of the CEP millage committee, in the millage campaign. Students are mailing millage information and stickers urging support of the tax to the 472 graduating seniors who are 18. On Wednesday the students started telephoning all 472, urging them to vote in the school election June 14. Money for stamps and other materials was donated by the student government. From left are: Cherie Canafax, Debbie Miller, Vickie Orr, Dave MacKenzie and Paul Dillon. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

6 school board hopefuls are seeking 2 positions

Monday's school balloting will result in election of two board trustees and will decide the fate of the added 4.75 mills for operation requested by the Plymouth Community School District.

Both incumbents—Marda Benson and Flossie Tonda—are on the ballot, as are four challengers. The challengers include Richard Arlen, Betty Hamann, Steve Harper and William Brown.

MS. BENSON, board president during the past year, has served four years on the Plymouth Board of Education. During that time, she also has served as chairman of the Intergovernmental Committee. She is employed as a faculty member by Wayne State University.

Mrs. Tonda, a former chairman of the school district's safety committee, was appointed to the school board this year to fill the vacancy left when Gary Mirto resigned for health reasons. Mrs. Tonda, secretary of the Canton Planning Commission, is the organizer of the clothing bank started this year in the district.

Arlen, born and raised in Plymouth, is an accounting instructor at Schoolcraft Community College in Livonia. Before joining the Schoolcraft faculty, he had held various executive positions in business and industry.

Ms. Hamann has been a leader in homeowner associations in Canton and served as chairman of the township's Citizens Advisory Council. She was a member of the school district's Citizens Advisory Committee and a member of the current millage committee. She has served as a voluntary teachers' aide at the elementary level and was a member of the district's attendance and boundary committee.

Brown of Plymouth Township is a sergeant for the Michigan State Police in Ypsilanti where he is a shift commander. He earned a BS in criminal justice in 1972 from Michigan State University and has been a member of the state police for 20 years. He was a member of the district's Citizens Advisory Committee work group on scheduling for grades eight to 12.

Harper has been employed since 1967 in the car engineering group of Ford Motor Co. as a financial analyst and computer applications engineer. He served this year as chairman of the general curriculum work group of the district's Citizens Advisory Committee and on the millage campaign committee. As co-chairman of the publicity subcommittee, Harper prepared the information kit being used by millage campaign workers. He holds an AB in history and MBA in finance.

Correction

A position statement was incorrectly attributed to the wrong school board candidate in a news report in the June 3 edition of the Observer & Eccentric.

The story was on the candidates' night sponsored by the Plymouth, Northville, Canton, Novi League of Women Voters and the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women.

It was Steve Harper who stated: "We in Plymouth have one of the finest districts. We have dared to experiment and be bold in our approach to education. This year we're faced with a severe crisis in funding. We must carefully evaluate our priorities. I think the board needs a member who's an expert in financial analysis." The quote was incorrectly attributed to Richard Arlen. The error is regretted.

dent government," Barker said. "Now, a student interested in class activities runs for class council, while the student who runs for the executive forum is more interested in student government."

A provision of the proposed constitution outlines open forums at both high schools. The forums allow students not elected to other governmental agencies to offer their views on issues and recommend policy changes to elected student officers or school administrators.

"WE FEEL student government often tends to be run by an elite, closed group," Barker explained. "This is the reason we devised this third branch of government."

Added Skinner, "Students can go to any (student government) meeting, but they don't have a vote. In the open forum, you're a member, if you're a member of the school."

According to Barker, students realized the need for a new student constitution last year. Students Larry Pulkownik, Dan Goepp and Kevin Kales composed a constitution incorporating the open forum concept, but school administrators failed to approve the proposed document. Skinner assumed responsibility for the constitution's revision this year with the help of students Karen Lambert and Scott Wales.

Impact of millage on teacher contract

The school administration and teachers' union issued a joint statement this week in an attempt to clarify the relationship between the millage request June 14 and negotiations now in progress on teacher salaries.

Millage workers have received various questions about whether the tax increase, if approved, would go mostly for pay raises for teachers. The question was asked often enough that millage workers asked for a position from the administration and Plymouth Education Association (PEA), the teachers' union.

The joint statement reads: "The effect of the millage vote will basically determine the number of staff and quality of program, not the outcome of negotiations. Our goal for negotiations is to reach an agreementable agreement which is consistent with the economic climate and the salary standards of the community and school districts in this area."

In a status report on current negotiations, both sides stated: "Progress is ahead of schedule. Agreement on a large portion of the contract has been reached. Negotiations have been productive, open, and constructive."

A spokesman explained that the PEA intends to be reasonable in making requests for salary improvements, but that the request will be the same with or without passage of the millage. The impact of the millage will be on the number of teachers who would receive pay improvements, as there will be teacher layoffs if the millage fails, and not on the amount of salary increases negotiated.

Love is... making sure they learn the 3R's which are basic to education.

NAZI MEMORIAL

Members of the American Nazi Party arrived in Plymouth following regular ceremonies on Memorial Day by the local veteran groups. The uniformed Nazis placed a wreath of their own on the rock in Kellogg Park and departed without incident. A resident watching the proceeding removed the wreath after the party members left.

4th on 5th

Redford, which held its Memorial Day Parade June 6 rather than the traditional May 31, will celebrate the Fourth of July on July 5, when the Redford Jaycees put on a fireworks display in Bell Creek Park. GIVEAWAY?

Oakland County officials, including the City of Farmington council, are opposing a tax base sharing program which would force local governments to pool one-half of their business, property and gross taxes. Opponents object to the plan, saying it would stifle local incentives to attract new industry and be a giveaway to the City of Detroit.

SPLITTING HAIRS

The Livonia Police Department is embroiled in a new dispute concerning its hair-style policy. Two young woman police cadets were suspended last week for not cutting their hair above the collars. The women had been wearing their hair up in buns, but the police chief said that wasn't enough. The cadets are protesting the suspensions and are asking for a civil service commission review of the case.

SAVE THE WOODS

The "Save the Woods" committee, made up of homeowners who want to keep a developer from tearing down a 10-acre woods near their subdivision, received bad news from the Livonia school board. The board sold the vacant land to a residential developer in February, and the administration told the committee this week that it couldn't get the land back or work out a trade with the developer so that the woods would be saved. The committee will retain an attorney and continue its fight.

GC ADOPTS RESIDENCY

Those who want to work for the municipal government in Garden City will have to live there now. Garden City Council Monday approved a residency ordinance noting "it would best serve the community." One council member voting for the ordinance said, "People do a better job when they live in the city they work for, because they have a stake in the community."

PRESIDENTIAL MEMOIRS

Even though a group of Westland students weren't a part of President Gerald Ford's whistle-stop campaign through Michigan last month, their thoughts were. McKee first and second graders offered suggestions on what they would do as president. Ford acknowledged their ideas with a photo of himself and a book on the White House.

WATER FUND

Redford's township board Monday voted to contribute to a legal fund to oppose water rate hikes by the Detroit Metro Water Department. The amount: $3,500.

DISASTER AVERTED

A Canton girl was killed in an automobile accident, but a far worse tragedy was averted by the alert actions of school crossing guards at the intersection of Hanford and Sheldon near an elementary school of the Plymouth Community School District.

GC WORKERS PICKET

After 22 months without a contract, Garden City employees, members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, picketed city hall Monday before the council meeting. Workers were joined by union members from 18 other locals throughout the metropolitan area. While union employees picked up signs and marched, council was passing a resolution cancelling paid vacations and sick days for union employees.

GOOD CAUSE

Redford's Bodega Restaurant raised $200 for cystic fibrosis research and treatment June 5. Employees received sunburns for their efforts, as area CB operators helped pull in fellow CB operators by informing them that there was a topos car wash at the Bodega Restaurant in Redford.

Harrison will remain open

A June 1 story on Schoolcraft College's off-campus center plans incorrectly said the center at 6701 Harrison, Garden City, would be phased out. The Harrison center remains in the college's plans, but it is the Florence school center which will be phased out.

Seven named in graduations

Seven area students were recently honored in college and university commencement ceremonies.

Michael Farris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Farris of 17240 Nadora in Southfield graduated from Michigan State University with a degree in psychology.

Susan Gasparian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armen Gasparian of 23746 McCall in Southfield, graduated from Michigan State University with a major in humanities and preprofessional law.

Paul E. Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Goodwin of 27680 Rainbow Circle in Lathrup Village, is a graduate of Herringswell Manor High School, England. Goodwin received a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering in a commencement ceremony at Tri-State University.

Rev. Prent M. Camaj of St. Bede's Parish received the master of divinity degree from SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, Orchard Lake.

Cedell Murff of Southfield received a certificate in nursing home administration from the College of Lifelong Learning at Wayne State University.

Nicholas J. Keller of 17554 Cambridge in Lathrup Village received a bachelor's degree in government from Georgetown University.

Andrew D. Schiller of Southfield received a bachelor of science degree in macromolecular (polymer) science from Case Institute of Technology, Case Western Reserve University.

Farrand assembles playground

"We'll have $10,000 worth of playground equipment here for an outlay of $400," said Bob Smith, gym teacher at Farrand Elementary School.

He and a group of PTO fathers and sons worked all day Saturday installing the balance beams, bars and climbing poles.

"Lee Woolgast, one of our fathers who works for Michigan Bell, got 30 old telephone poles for us," said Smith. "The PTO gave us $400." Smith had looked through catalogues from commercial manufacturers of playground equipment for designs. The PTO money was used for poles, other hardware, and spikes (at 35 cents each).

A contingent of fathers, worked with a group of students willing to fetch and carry, and try out the new equipment as soon as it was erected around the perimeter of the playgrounds.

They expected to have the project completed in two more working weekends.

Farrand gym teacher Bob Smith showed Don Francour (with saw) how the sloped balance beam would be installed. Chris Anderson, Dan Taylor and Mickey Madsen were ready to try it out. (Staff photo)

The Swift of Ipswich, a 75-foot sailboat, was used in the search for the "Lost Loot of Lima."

Local world voyager tells adventure tales

By W.W. EDGAR

Fond memories of an exciting 2,500-mile voyage in a sailboat down to the Cocos Islands, just north of the equator, in search of what history refers to as "The Lost Loot Of Lima" came tumbling down through the years this week for Dr. Albert Mathews, a Plymouth ophthalmologist employed at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

The memories started tumbling when he received a letter from an old friend in Santa Barbara, Calif., telling him that a sealed bottle he had left in a cave eight years ago had been found as proof that his voyage in 1968 had not been in vain.

SEATED IN HIS office, Dr. Mathews told the story of one of the finest and most exciting ventures a man can have—sailing a 75-foot sailboat without the benefit of experienced crew.

"Years ago, in 1942, I became interested in celestial navigation, and with that knowledge, I took it on myself to lease a boat, organize a crew and set sail for the 'lost loot'."

Mathews, who wears a serious look in all of his activities, managed a bit of a smile, when he recalled that the entire venture came about because his wife was in search of a comfortable bed.

In our search we arrived in Santa Barbara and found the comfort we needed at the motel near the water's edge. While there, I visited on the dock and came across a notice on the bulletin board telling of the 'lost loot' lying somewhere around 500 miles west of Panama.

"Right there came the urge to battle the seas—like many men before us—and possibly come upon the treasure."

According to the legend, the countries were in revolution in 1821, Mathews said, with the hope of overthrowing the Spanish government.

At the time Lima was the capital of Peru. It was said the streets were lined with gold, and wealth abounded in all sections.

With the revolution, the gold, all the government wealth and even costly religious statues were taken from the church and moved to a place called Kallias, 10 miles away.

"After reading and re-reading the bulletin, we decided to try the trip. I leased a boat and inserted a small add in the paper inviting adventurers to join in the trip to the secret cave that, supposedly, held the treasure valued at $60 million. One third of the loot was promised to the crew, who would put up $2,500 each as payment for the voyage."

MATHEWS ALLOWED the faint trace of a smile to cross his face when he confided that he received 59 replies in two months. He then knew the adventure would take place.

"I wrote to a Capt. Dant in Costa Rica to get permission for the trip. It was granted and I set about reducing the list of applicants to 12 for the trip. This crew included my 77-year-old father and four doctors."

He explained that it was a real adventure since none of the crew had been to sea before. We had a 75-foot boat, named Swift of Ipswich; it was built in Ipswich, Mass. The boat once belonged to James Cagney, the film star, and still is carrying passengers from the Pacific Coast to Catalina Island.

The memorable trip began at 9 a.m. Jan. 1, 1968, with Mathews and Richard Headly, co-owner of the boat, in full command.

DAY AFTER DAY they battled the waters with Mathews reading the stars to be sure the boat was on the right course. It was a long and rather monotonous trip until the 24th day.

"We had sailed more than 2,400," Mathews recalled, and then on the morning of the 24th day, I sighted Cocos Islands. They were sticking up along the horizon and it was a great sight that brought new hope that our venture would be a success.

"But the biggest challenge lay ahead. When we reached the islands, we found them to be miserable and uninhabited. They were just a jungle and we couldn't stand it."

We remained there only a week, but we did come across a cave. While we didn't get to the bottom of it, we left a message in the form of a sealed jar that contained a contribution from each member of the crew and passengers on the ship."

It was finding this jar by another group, according to the letter from the old friend in Santa Barbara, that unleashed the memories for Mathews.

The other parks of Plymouth

(Part IV)
Kellogg Park is the oldest and best known, but there are many other interesting parks in Plymouth.

One of them, Plymouth Riverside Park now part of the Middle Rouge Parkway, had its genesis in the early 1920s. It was originally part of a 110-acre farm in Plymouth Township, east of the city. South of what is now Hillside Inn, it was bounded on the east by Riverside Cemetery, on the west by the city, on the north by Shattuck Farm (which fronted on Plymouth Road), and on the south by Ann Arbor Trail, where the farmhouse still stands on the north side of the street.

THE FARM was owned by William and Mary Henry, parents of four children, one of whom was Ernest Henry. Ernie, a prominent local citizen who served on the city commission for a total of 12 years, and on the school board for four more, worked in the local post office for 39 years. He was assistant postmaster when he retired in 1971. Born on his father's farm in 1906, Henry has fond recollections of the property before it became part of Riverside Park.

The Middle Rouge River ran through the farm and Ernie recalls that there were a variety of fish in the stream when he was a boy. Pike, bass, mullet and stone-rollers (so named for their habit of moving stones when constructing their nests) were plentiful. Ernie remembers that some people of French descent, who resided on Mill Street, lived primarily off the fish they caught in the Rouge.

"There were many deep holes in the Rouge in those days, when the water was as clear as crystal. That was before pollution came," says Ernie, nostalgically.

"When Wayne County built Hines Park in the '30s, it straightened out the Rouge in many places. Before that there was a swimming hole at every bend of the stream. We swam, spear-fished, ice-skated and trapped muskrat and mink. Those were some of the best days of my life."

In the early 1920s, Ernie's father sold 37 acres of his farm to the city. For a time, this section of the property was known as "Plymouth Tourist Camp." Later, it was called Plymouth Riverside Park. Ernie says it was a popular spot in the '30s for picnickers. It attracted many tourists from the Detroit area in days when the automobile was still a novelty.

About 1924, William Henry sold the balance of his 110 acres to Wayne County. The county used the property in 1935 when it combined various parcels along the Middle Rouge to form the Middle Rouge Parkway. The Parkway is now located in the cities of Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Inkster, Westland, Livonia, Plymouth, and the townships of Plymouth and Northville.

The county also acquired Riverside Park from the city and it became part of the Rouge (or Hines) Parkway.

A FEW YEARS after Riverside Park was established, Edward Hough, then vice-president of the Daisy Manufacturing Company, built the Hough Park Subdivision south of Ann Arbor Trail and east of Sheldon Road. Several Daisy executives, including Hough; his son, Cass; Robert Wesley; and Russell Daane (a former mayor of Plymouth) established residences in the subdivision, which Hough ran like a tight ship. He decided who could build there and, during the early years, he approved all of the architectural plans.

The subdivision had, as its nucleus, a large common, bounded on the north by Maple Avenue, on the south by Park Place, on the east by McKinley and on the west by Evergreen. On Aug. 26, 1926, the day when the subdivision was platted and recorded, this common was apparently dedicated as a public park.

Central Park, located on Main Street, in front of Central Middle School, and opposite Plymouth Historical Museum, was part of property acquired by Ebenezer J. Penniman on February 5, 1867. Penniman gave it to Plymouth School District No. 1 on Sept. 7, 1868. In 1936, after a fire razed the nearby Presbyterian Church, city officials negotiated with the Presbyterians to exchange property which made possible the re-routing of Church Street in front of the Presbyterian Church (where it now runs) diverting it from the front of what was then Plymouth High School. Central Park consists of the property which then became the school's "front yard."

City records give no indication that the land which now comprises the bulk of Central Park was ever deeded to the city, nor that the portion of Church Street which once ran directly in front of the school was ever vacated.

TWO SMALL PARCELS of property to be used for municipal purposes were given to the city in 1940. One of them, the park at the junction of Hardenberg, Holbrook and Wilcox Road, was acquired from Ford Motor Company on Jan. 11.

The other, the Louise Markham Park, on Holbrook near Caster Avenue, was given to the city on July 11 by the sister of Phil

Markham, the air rifle manufacturer. The deed specified that the property be used for a municipal park and stipulated that it was "never to be used as a gravel pit."

Three additional small parks were acquired by the city in the 1950s. On June 8, 1961, a small park at the point of North Mill Street and Starkweather Avenue was expanded by a gift of E. C. Hough. On May 25, 1966, a part of Elm Street near Sheldon Road was vacated by the city, and two lots adjacent to it were acquired from Hough Park Homesites, Inc. These parcels were made into a park and playground.

In 1969, and in subsequent years, Perry and Mary Richwine gave to the city, to be used for park purposes, some property west of the city in Plymouth Township, at the junction of Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road.

Impact of millage on teacher contract

The school administration and teachers' union issued a joint statement this week in an attempt to clarify the relationship between the millage request June 14 and negotiations now in progress on teacher salaries.

Millage workers have received various questions about whether the tax increase, if approved, would go mostly for pay raises for teachers. The question was asked often enough that millage workers asked for a position from the administration and Plymouth Education Association (PEA), the teachers' union.

The joint statement reads: "The effect of the millage vote will basically determine the number of staff and quality of program, not the outcome of negotiations. Our goal for negotiations is to reach an equitable agreement which is consistent with the economic climate and the salary standards of the community and school districts in this area."

In a status report on current negotiations, both sides stated: "Progress is ahead of schedule. Agreement on a large portion of the contract has been reached. Negotiations have been productive, open, and constructive."

A spokesman explained that the PEA intends to be reasonable in making requests for salary improvements, but that the request will be the same with or without passage of the millage. The impact of the millage will be on the number of teachers who would receive pay improvements, as there will be teacher layoffs if the millage fails, and not on the amount of salary increases negotiated.

Take a Shower and Save.

A TUB BATH USES ABOUT TWICE AS MUCH HOT WATER AS A SHOWER

A normal tub bath uses about twice as much hot water as a three to four-minute shower. So, save energy and money, switch to short showers instead of tub baths. Another needless waste of energy and money is letting the hot water run while shaving or when hand-washing dishes. Avoid this waste by using sink stoppers and dishpans. And in the laundry, save by using cold water at every opportunity. Remember, the energy you save is everyone's, the money you save is your own.

A dumb supper serves future bliss

Dear Gundella,
What can you tell me about a "dumb supper"? I am 27 and still unmarried. My aunt says I should have one, but neither she nor my mother can remember how it is done. Does it work?

Joyce K.

Dear Joyce,
A dumb supper is a ritual meal, prepared and served in silence, to call forth the spirit of a girl's future husband so that she may see who he will be.
The ritual varies greatly in different sections of the country. Sometimes several girls try this at once. They prepare the meal silently, each taking her turn at stirring the food. Each girl sets two plates on the table—her own and another beside it for her future mate.

Safety tips for bikers

Being a good bike rider involves more than staying upright without training wheels.

The Traffic Safety Association of Detroit has issued some guidelines to make summer bike excursions safer and more enjoyable.

Bikes should be equipped with rear view mirrors and plenty of reflectors. A working light is a must for night pedaling. A good horn is also an attention getter as well as a warning device.

Bike riders should practice hand signals when making turns. The left arm goes up for a right turn, straight out for a left and out and down for slowing or stopping.

According to the TSA, a safe way to make a left turn at a busy, signalized intersection is to cross the street and then turn and cross the other street with the light.

Don't forget to watch for cars turning right on a red light when crossing on a green signal, cautioned the association.

Above all, traffic laws apply to bikers as well as motorists. Always ride with traffic and not against it. The best way to ride is single file and as far to the right as possible.

Foster was prolific

Stephen Collins Foster, America's first great composer of music, was born on July 4, 1826. In his brief lifetime of 37 years, he composed 189 songs and a number of instrumental works. Several of his works, such as "Old Folks At Home" and "Oh! Susanna," were known internationally and sung in different languages. At Greenfield Village in Dearborn you can visit Stephen Foster's home and see many furnishings that belonged to the Foster family.

Millage is of great importance — principal

Editor:

I am not generally one prone to rushing to the news media pressing the pros and cons of current issues.

At this time, however, the current school millage proposal is of such great importance to the Plymouth community and our schools, failure to support it will mean cut-backs in many areas of the school programs that will definitely greatly lower the quality of education we will be able to offer our young people.

Sound financial support of our schools is still an investment which bears long-term benefits. In an era of skyrocketing costs and prices, Plymouth taxpayers have not been asked to pass additional millage increases in three years. Costs of textbooks, materials and services have doubled and tripled in this period of time.

As a school building administrator, I will feel greatly hampered to offer the broad and varied school program we have had in the past, if additional reductions and cut-backs are imposed.

The Plymouth community in the past has been most supportive of its schools. I am very hopeful that continued support in the forthcoming millage election will show a vote of confidence in the school district's leadership and staff. It will inspire the very best of our talents and efforts, educators and citizens in a coordinated effort in these very tight economic times.

Response given on modular complaint

Editor:

In regards to the letter written about modular scheduling on June 7, 1976, page 6A, Reader's Forum:

We are students of Plymouth Canton High and we have come to the conclusion that the person who wrote the letter doesn't understand what modular scheduling is about.

The comment was made that "Teachers apparently never take attendance, and if they do, the parents are rarely notified." Of us four ninth grade students (which is a bigger basis for a conclusion than one person's experience), all of our teachers take attendance every day. Modular scheduling has nothing to do with teacher's taking attendance.

The comment also was made that "She (the girl the letter was about) receives little or no counseling." In most cases, you can see your counselor by simply walking into the counseling office; sometimes you have to wait. The student could have gone in and received counseling on her unstructured time. Counseling is always available, whether on traditional or modular.

"Her teachers dropped her from her class (algebra)" and "apparently without any reason." Regardless of scheduling, a teacher does not drop a student from a class "without any reason," but for a valid one such as eight skips or failing grades.

We think the person who wrote the letter was obviously misinformed about modular scheduling. The same situation could have happened to someone on traditional scheduling. It is not the fault of the type of scheduling a person is on. It is up to each individual student to meet his requirements and attend class regularly.

If a student is willing to learn and grasp all the opportunities at CEP, he or she can receive his or her required credits and graduate on time. We hope that people will come to realize that modular scheduling doesn't cause student failings. In most cases, it is the students themselves.

The Plymouth Community School Board, which is running a $20 million a year business, needs a member who is a professional in financial analysis for management decision making and planning. There are many complex problems confronting the Board which we must examine and analyze objectively and with an open mind. The District's programs for kids are a vital interest to me. After working on the Citizens' Advisory Committee General Curriculum Workgroup and the Citizens' Millage Election Steering Committee, I want to continue to serve you and to solve our problems and further improve the schools' programs. I have no "axes to grind" and am ready to make the tough decisions now required.

More students mean more taxes, says SC's Kadish

By TIM RICHARD

Enrollments are declining at many K-12 school districts. But not at Schoolcraft College.

That's the biggest reason—though not the only one—the two-year college is seeking a 0.53 mill property tax increase on the June 14 ballot, according to board Chairman Paul Y. Kadish and President C. Nelson Grote.

The increase would cost property owners 53 cents per $1,000 of state equalized valuation.

The message is being told by privately-funded pamphlets and telephone rather than being debated in political and service club meetings. Kadish and Grote outlined the financial picture in a recent lengthy interview with editors of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

"HIGH SCHOOLS are declining as a source of students," Grote said, "but older adults are a source."

Schoolcraft's enrollment is 10,000 persons currently, and 16,000 are expected by 1980.

"The vocational-technical programs are more expensive to operate. Community service areas are growing, too," he added.

"The state can't cough up much more. It's strapped by welfare, mental health costs and the new effort into resource recovery," said Kadish.

The Schoolcraft budget, nearing the $10 million mark, was balanced with the aid of a tuition increase this spring. Basic price is $13 per credit hour for residents of the Schoolcraft District, which includes the K-12 school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth.

THE COLLEGE suffered another blow last week when Vice-president Kenneth Lindner learned that the new state single business tax (SBT) would not only cause local property tax revenues to level off; it actually cut revenues by $250,000.

Meanwhile, the college has instituted new programs in recent years. One is for senior adults. Another is for women, who today constitute 48 or 49 per cent of the enrollment instead of the 36 per cent of 1971, Grote said.

Some unmet needs, they went on, include a women's resource center for Garden City, a day care center there and a child care center for evening hours. Not all will cost money, however, because some can be staffed with volunteers.

SCHOOLCRAFT VOTERS had authorized 1.77 mills of the property tax as of 1966. In 1971 voters turned down a proposal to increase it.

If the June 14 proposal of 0.53 mills is approved, the total voted levy will be 2.3 mills. But this isn't the whole picture because a complicated, non-voted millage is involved.

In recent years, a legal interpretation has allowed school and college districts to levy millage for debt retirement beyond the amount authorized by voters, the reason being that bonds are a lien against property that must be honored regardless of a vote.

Of the 2.3 mills, about two mills would be used this fiscal year for operations. Debt service of 0.66 mills would in part be covered by the voted millage and in part by non-voted millage. The total amount levied, then, will be about 2.6 mills.

In future years, the portion of the voted 2.3 mills used for operations will increase until, by 1980, virtually all will go for that purpose. Debt retirement costs of 0.6 mills will be covered almost entirely by non-voted millage. The total levy then would be 2.9 mills.

It's not an unusual situation, said Kadish. Some 15 or so community colleges in Michigan are using non-voted millage for debt retirement.

ARE ADULT, credit-free courses to blame for the increasing need for millage?

No, Grote said, because they are self-supporting from tuitions and a revolving fund. Elsewhere in the state, however, adult courses aren't self-financing.

Can you limit enrollment if the millage doesn't pass?

Yes, they said, because there's no obligation in law to run an open door program in which anyone with a high school diploma is admitted. There are currently waiting lists to get into some programs. The college could conceivably go to a first-come, first-serve admissions policy.

SC bonds unrelated to 1/2-mill

What does Schoolcraft College's June 14 millage proposal have to do with all the talk about a $10 million bond issue and a fine arts facility?

"To some degree they are tied," said board Chairman Paul Y. Kadish, although voters won't be deciding directly on the bond issue.

The college board has authority to float the bond issue and levy the millage needed to pay it off, regardless of what voters decide.

On the other hand, it wouldn't be able to operate programs without the millage.

"NO CLASSROOM-TYPE buildings are in the bond issue," added President C. Nelson Grote. "These are becoming available in the K-12 districts."

All projects in the bond issue are specialized types of buildings that couldn't be obtained by leasing space from K-12 districts, they said.

Kadish and the board of trustees approved seven items in the capital construction program last February when they approved the bond issue.

Completing the culinary arts addition, constructing a new learning resources center, remodeling the Bradner Library, constructing a fine arts facility (auditoriums and instructional space), constructing an addition to the Applied Science Building, constructing an addition for student affairs for the Waterman Campus Center and an engineering study for future development.

KADISH SAID some existing facilities are far less than adequate.

The financial aids office is in a trailer. A "temporary" block building has been in use 11 years. Four houses with septic tanks are used as college offices of one kind or another, including payroll; water must be carried to them.

Vallier blasts SC tax

"They're just telling half the story," declared Schoolcraft College trustee Arch Vallier as he advised voting against the 0.53 mill property tax increase on the June 14 ballot.

"There's no question in my mind that Schoolcraft needs the millage, but they're not telling the people the whole story."

They're going to assess millage over and above this, and the people don't have anything to say about it.

"I guess it's my old-fashioned principles. What they're doing is not illegal, but it's unethical."

WHAT BOTHERS Vallier, the only one of eight trustees to oppose the ballot proposal, is the way school and college districts may now levy property taxes to pay for bond issues without a popular vote.

"It used to be that all millage had to go to a vote of the people," he recalled.

As of 1966, college district voters had approved 1.77 all purpose mills—for operations and debt retirement. As time passed, the college's needs grew, and a legal interpretation said debt retirement millages didn't have to be approved by voters.

To avoid drastic budget cuts, the board began levying debt retirement millage above the 1.77 voted mills. Vallier and others were appalled at the practice but went along with what he saw as an emergency measure.

Now the practice appears to be becoming permanent. In time, nearly all voted millage will go for operations alone, and debt retirement millage will be levied above that.

"THEY SHOULD PRESENT to a vote of the people three things," Vallier said:

"1. The amount they've been levying on an emergency basis for bonds the last two years.

"2. The millage they need for the $10 million in bonds they're issuing.

"3. The millage they need additional to operate the program.

"The people must decide whether the college should be operated at the same level, whether the size of the college should be reduced or whether it should be expanded.

"I personally have no feeling. The people should make the decision—not the college administration or the board of trustees.

"IF WE TOLD the people the full story, they'd support it, I think."

Vallier spoke during an interview in his Plymouth Township condominium. He is semi-retired now and spends much of his time at a Saginaw Bay home and a good portion of the winter months in Naples, Fla.

He raised his objections to the financing plans in a scathing letter to board Chairman Paul Y. Kadish mailed from Florida.

"I made a mistake," Vallier admitted. "I should have flown home instead of writing a letter."

He has organized no active campaign against the millage. There have been only a small handful of meetings at which the pro-millage group has spoken. No service clubs have placed a discussion of the Schoolcraft proposal on their meeting agendas.

VALLIER ALSO objects to the college's priorities as revealed in the recently approved $10 million bond issue.

"We don't need a fine arts building. The expansion should come on the voc-tech side," he said.

"The only one I'd go for is the culinary arts expansion. The rest of it, no."

"Begg-ers are choosers."

The people who drink John Begg choose to drink it. Because it's smooth, mellow and has its own unique Scotch taste. And it hasn't changed a bit since 1845.

Auto races banned

There will be no more auto races on Michigan's state highways.

The state highway commission voted unanimously to ban motor vehicle road racing on the state highway system "under any circumstances."

"Our state highways were not designed for racing," said commission Chairman Peter B. Fletcher of Ypsilanti. "They were designed for normal movement of traffic at speeds well below those traveled by race cars."

The action prohibits a re-staging of the race run the last two years on Wide Track Drive in Pontiac, a state highway. Both were sponsored by the City of Pontiac and the Waterford Hills Racing Club.

Six spectators and a race-car driver were injured in the first race, and a driver was killed last year.

"The existence of numerous appurtenances on public highways, such as utility poles, sign posts, fire hydrants, curbs and various residential and business structures make it difficult if not financially impossible to provide adequate safety measures to protect both drivers and spectators," said John P. Woodford, state highways and transportation director.

Woodford added that the department might be held liable for any injuries, deaths or property damage accidents that occurred on the state highway system during an approved road race.

editorial opinion

Decision is tough, but tax has payoff

Monday will be the voters' day of decision on the proposal to add 4.75 mills to the property tax to operate the Plymouth Community School District.

That request represents a lot of added money on your tax bills. But if the millage fails, it also represents $2 million which will have to be trimmed from next year's operating budget.

CONSIDER WHAT a $2 million slash in a proposed $20 million budget would do to quality education.

Everyone can come up with areas in the budget he considers "fat" or "frills." But can anyone come up with enough wasted expenditures to total $2 million?

Consider the growth in the Plymouth-Canton community—growth that will bring 600 new students to the school doors next fall. There is no way to open three new elementary schools, and the music-physical education wing of Plymouth Canton High, without more money.

Consider that last year the district lost almost a half-million dollars in state and county funding, and had to trim $316,000 and still came $166,000 short of balancing current expenses with current income. With state aid cuts still looming in the future, the district cannot be fiscally sound without more revenue.

Consider that this is a year of contract negotiations with the teachers union. Even if teachers ask for a pay raise only to keep pace with the cost of living, that will require more money.

And consider what will happen to your property values if $2 million worth of educational programs are slashed from the budget. Without good schools, home values in the community will begin to decline and future tax base will be lost. That, too, is a lot of money.

THE PRICE OF A NO vote is much greater than no athletics, no band, or no cheerleaders.

To cut $2 million and still find room for additional students will require reductions in programs with impact on basic education.

Defeat of the millage will mean: shortened school days; inadequate supplies and textbooks; possible loss of all extra-curricular activities; larger class sizes; loss of reading specialists; loss of art, music and humanities programs at the elementary level; and a reduction in class offerings at the secondary level.

One thing is certain: If the millage is defeated, cuts will be made next fall that you may find unacceptable. And Monday is the only chance you will have to decide if an acceptable education program will be offered when school opens in September.

That's why we think you cannot afford to vote no Monday.

The Observer & Eccentric urges a yes vote on the millage because the consequences of doing otherwise are too grave.

Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

Benson and Harper are best board choices

There are more than two candidates who, if elected, would serve residents well on the Plymouth Board of Education. But only two will be given that opportunity.

The Observer & Eccentric endorses as most qualified Marda Benson and Steve Harper.

In selecting a school trustee, residents are best served by those concerned about a number of issues from kindergarten through high school and beyond.

A candidate concerned with only one issue is of little use once that particular problem is solved. Likewise, a candidate interested only in problems at the high school level can effectively disenfranchise parents of middle school and elementary students.

MS. BENSON has demonstrated a commitment to all levels and areas of education during her four years on the board. Her zeal for curriculum improvement is matched by her zest for keeping the community informed about what the district is doing. She works as hard on making budget cuts, when necessary as on negotiations, tenure hearings, and establishment of district goals and priorities.

Ms. Benson's sense of responsibility to the community is the major reason why she has been one of the moderating forces on the school board—a cool head with enough common sense to find a compromise when fellow trustees are torn apart by a tough issue. She has made mistakes, but these failings are far outweighed by positive attributes.

Finally, Ms. Benson has been on the board long enough to know the district will not rise nor fall on one issue.

HARPER OFFERS himself as a candidate who is concerned about all aspects of education, as one with enough perspective to avoid falling into the "sinking ship" syndrome just because some things don't seem to be working smoothly.

He is a straight thinker with an analytical mind.

Harper also seems equipped not just to solve problems but to establish systems to prevent problems or at least allow for earlier recognition—particularly in the area of finance.

His abilities were clearly demonstrated as member of the Citizens Advisory Committee and of the millage committee. Based on that demonstration alone, Harper has the potential to become an outstanding member on and leader of the school board. Harper gave many hours as a CAC member and appears willing to provide the hours needed to serve the community.

OUR ENDORSEMENT of Marda Benson and Steve Harper as best qualified does not discredit Flossie Tonda as a candidate.

She is a super-involved person in the Plymouth-Canton community, has time to offer, is a very sincere person also concerned with many areas of education, and has served the community well. Mrs. Tonda has sound thoughts on education; however, she hasn't asserted herself enough to bring those thoughts before the board. Therefore, on balance, we recommend Ms. Benson and Harper.

Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

Spurlin is best pick for W-W school board seat

Voters in the Wayne-Westland School District have the responsibility on Monday of electing the two persons they feel will best serve the community as board members endowed with the responsibility of shaping the district's educational future.

Of the four candidates running for two four-year seats, we heartily endorse Warren Spurlin for a return to the board.

His background in curriculum both at Wayne-Westland, where he served as assistant curriculum superintendent, and at his similar post in the Taylor system more than qualify him for the position.

Spurlin will add life to what has become a lethargic board. He is not afraid to speak out on issues, a characteristic not found on the present board, where unanimous votes almost always are recorded with little dissent vocalized.

For the remaining vacancy, it's a toss-up between Gerard McGrath and Vincent Petitpre. McGrath's forte is his interest in special education—an element that has been lacking in all school districts for too long. McGrath has expressed interest in beefing up the district's secondary special education program now that the district has formulated an elementary education program.

Petitpre, on the other hand, has been given credit for being the swing vote in getting teachers back to the classrooms after their month-long strike two years ago.

A slight nod to McGrath.

IN A SCHOOL YEAR in which virtually no controversial issues have been raised, board candidates are counting on a tally of only 2,000 votes to emerge a victor.

Voters should keep in mind that while the district was relatively calm this year, board members must have the mettle to deal with whatever difficult problems may emerge in the next four years.

Schoolcraft—a community asset warrants a 'yes'

Ask a person where he or she lives and the answer will be a city or township—Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth or maybe just "the suburbs."

Rarely will someone answer "the Schoolcraft College District." Yet few institutions reached by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers have so much contact with people and have done so much to enrich suburban life.

It's time to recognize that significant and growing contribution, not just with a mayoral proclamation, as local officials did last week, but with support at the polls June 14.

SCHOOLCRAFT ENROLLS some 10,000 students currently. That's more than any single high school in the district. It's even more than several entire K-12 districts in the area.

Schoolcraft has put these suburbs on the metropolitan area map with its famed culinary arts program which is taught by, and teaches, the finest chefs in these parts.

Schoolcraft has fulfilled its pledge to provide the first two years of basic college education toward a degree at a far cheaper cost to students than if they had to be residents at East Lansing or Ypsilanti.

Schoolcraft students are taught by senior faculty members, not graduate assistants working on advanced degrees.

Schoolcraft has moved forcefully into the vocational-technical area, providing practical post-high school job training.

Schoolcraft has provided persons who once considered suburbia an intellectual wasteland a mentally and artistically stimulating cultural and public affairs program.

Schoolcraft's faculty has taken part in other phases of our communities' public life and culture, writing dramas and music that we wouldn't enjoy if the college had never been founded.

Schoolcraft has gained national stature by hosting a conference on recreational opportunities for older citizens.

Schoolcraft has given attention to developing the talents of mature women who used to dismiss themselves as "just housewives."

SCHOOLCRAFT HAS BEEN more than a junior college, although it hasn't shirked that function.

It has been the communities' college. It has touched a lot of lives directly and indirectly, although most of us never think of it when asked, "Where do you live?"

Schoolcraft College District voters are being asked next Monday to raise the permitted property tax rate by 0.53 mills. Existing programs will be extremely difficult to finance—at least for the same numbers of students—if the millage is turned down. The kinds of expansion people have come to take for granted will be impossible if the millage is turned down.

Schoolcraft officials have forthrightly explained the public's demands on the college and the college's needs to anyone who would listen. We believe they have made their case for continuing what we have and improving Schoolcraft's contribution to suburbia. The proposal deserves a "yes" vote.

Life wouldn't be as good as it is without Schoolcraft College.

How regulations robbed consumers of cyclamates

Governmental Regulation II

The cost of regulation can be staggeringly high. Perhaps even more significant is the threat to freedom of choice from ill-considered or unscientific regulatory decrees, the kind that seem to have proliferated along with regulation itself in recent years.

According to Robert M. Bleiberg, editor of Baron's, in a speech at Hillsdale College, the following is the case of cyclamates, the artificial sweetener, which for the past six years, despite a vast weight of evidence in its favor, remains banned to most Americans.

CYCLAMATES WERE discovered in 1937 and licensed in 1950 to Abbott Laboratories, which proceeded to develop and exploit their unique properties (while non-caloric, they are 30 to 40 times sweeter than sugar and much cheaper to use).

By the late '60s, cyclamates had begun to revolutionize American eating and drinking habits. They were used in carbonated beverages, fruit drinks, weight control preparations, jams, jellies, all sorts of desserts and almost everything that was sweet.

By 1969, diet soft drinks were pushing 15 per cent of total production, while cyclamates in all formulations were displacing a ponderable quantity of sugar.

Alarmed at the competitive thrust, the sugar trade fought back. Abbott has publicly charged: "As the low calorie market was developing into a major industry, the sugar interests openly launched a research, advertising and publicity program designed to raise doubts about non-caloric sweeteners."

By 1967, anti-cyclamate publicity was strident, and the FDA felt a thorough scientific evaluation was necessary.

AFTER WEIGHING ALL available data, the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council issued a report which concluded that consumption of cyclamates in reasonable amounts posed no health hazard to human beings.

Further tests financed by Abbott turned up evidence of tumors in rats which had been fed huge doses of a cyclamate-saccharin mixture, which Abbott reported to the FDA.

Under the Delaney Amendment which provides that "no additive shall be deemed safe if it is found to induce cancer when ingested by man or animal," the FDA struck cyclamates off the list of substances "Generally Recognized as Safe."

Eccentricities

by HENRY M. HOGAN, JR.

Early the following year, the agency banned their use outright.

PROCESSORS, CANNERS and farm cooperatives, caught with heavy inventories of cyclamate food and beverages, suffered losses estimated at $100 million to $125 million.

Overnight, consumers by the millions were deprived of access to low-calorie products and a great growth industry was stopped in its tracks.

The blow to the pocketbook was bad enough. What is genuinely alarming is the FDA's stubborn refusal to admit and rectify a mistake.

As an overwhelming mass of evidence now suggests, a mistake it undoubtedly was.

Since 1969, more than a dozen new scientific studies conducted under such prestigious auspices as the British Industrial Biological Research Association, Curie Institute, German Cancer Research Association, Osaka University School of Medicine, U.S. Cancer Institute and the FDA itself, have been unanimous in finding that cyclamates—even when fed in large quantities or in combination with saccharin—are free of either carcinogenic or other adverse effects.

An excellent start

The Litter Lobby—our favorite term for the persons who are pushing throwaway bottles and cans—are fond of asking, with hurt tones in their voices, "Why pick on us? What about the other kinds of litter on the streets?"

Why, indeed! The fact is that 62 per cent of the litter on our highways is beer and soft drink bottles. If voters approve the referendum this fall to ban throwaway bottles and cans, it's entirely probable that our litter will be reduced by three-fifths or more.

The so-called "bottle bill" to ban throwaways won't stop slobos from littering, to be sure. But it will make littering costly by requiring a nickel or dime deposit on every beer or soft drink container sold, and it will make picking up that litter profitable for kids.

Tax 'bargain' is questionable

Editor:
I see that it is time to get something for practically nothing again! I see by the "Millage Facts" put out by the Plymouth Community School District Election Committee—whoever they are—that estimated net increase in tax dollars on a $30,000 market value home in the City of Plymouth will be about $12.
I would like to present the way I see it, last year's tax dollars total versus the proposed total. The assessed (city) evaluation on my home is $18,620. This means that last December I paid $702.64 in school taxes. This is arrived by multiplying $18,620 by 1.02 (SEV factor) by 35.60 (school tax rate). If the 4.75 mills passes I will pay $841.48 in school taxes this December. This is arrived at my multiplying $18,620 by 1.12 (SEV factor) by 40.35 (school tax rate). This is an increase of $138.84 or about 19 1/2 per cent. Even with possible credits on income taxes, this is a lot of money.

Yack challenges Millington claims

Editor:
An open letter to Frank Millington, trustee, Plymouth Township:

Your letter of Monday, June 7, 1976, was in my opinion totally irresponsible. As an elected official the community has every right to expect decisions to be made based upon a careful analysis of the facts. Based upon the statements you made in regards to the school millage, your abilities, in this regard, are suspect.

You state in your letter that if all millages pass, the total increase could be the equivalent of 10 1/2 mills. Although I would question the figure you have arrived at, I would not question the burden these increases place upon the taxpayer. It is painfully evident that all government units are feeling the effects of growth, inflation, and a reduction of tax dollars. It is the school district, more than any other unit of government, which has been affected by these factors. A rapidly growing school district is asking voters on June 14, in effect, to choose between two options—reduced program or additional operating funds.

Letters like your's (the timing was beautiful) which, in effect, accuse the school district of misrepresenting the facts, make the voters' decision more difficult.
Let me point out a few misrepresentations you made.

1. There are 607 instructional staff members, not 940.
2. The pupil-teacher ratio is 21 pupils per teacher. However, the actual pupil to classroom teacher average is 28. (The difference can be attributed to state mandated programs, vocational education programs, and the many specialized programs which separate Plymouth from the average. Additionally, there are many classrooms with more than 30 students.)
3. The school district, due to the Single Business Tax, has had an actual reduction of $49.7 million in SEV. Unlike townships and cities, the state is not reimbursing us for the loss in revenue. Statewide schools have lost $83 million in revenue from this tax. (This has been known for months.)
4. Estimating increases in SEV is like playing blackjack. A 10 per cent error is not uncommon. (It amounts to educating five more students.)
5. Unlike townships and cities, increases in the SEV do not result in significant increases in revenue. Schools receive funds based upon an equal yield formula which, in effect, penalizes districts which show significant SEV increases. (This concept has been explained to you at least two times. Once by a member of your own board. This makes three times.)
6. It is true our operating budget will increase not by 26 per cent as you state but by 20.7 per cent. This increase can be traced to: one mill—opening four new buildings; one mill—incremental increases; 1 1/2 to two mills—growth; remainder—inflation.
7. It has been the intent of the millage committee to provide the citizenry with reliable information. If you are going to continue to communicate on this issue, might I suggest you become better informed. (Mr. Millington was invited to be a member of the millage committee—he attended one meeting.)

It is my hope your actions have not jeopardized the passage of the much needed June 14 millage.

AXE TO GRIND

Dear Property Owner

In recent months the Michigan Legislature has proposed a 1000% increase in the TRANSFER TAX ON THE SALE OF REAL ESTATE. In YOUR interest the real estate industry reacted. However, as fellow REALTOR Berridge and Morrison pointed out in a recent public service ad, the legislators apparently ONLY HEARD HALF of what we said!

NOW THEY ARE PROPOSING A 500% increase of the REAL ESTATE TRANSFER TAX! To put this in perspective — the CURRENT tax on the sale of a $30,000 home is $33. The PROPOSED TAX would increase this to $183!

WOW! I urge you to protest this unprecedented jump in real estate taxation. Let your legislators hear from YOU, TODAY!

Most Sincerely,

Bud Chamberlain

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE MILLAGE DESERVES YOUR SUPPORT

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE HAS PLACED A MODEST MILLAGE PROPOSAL ON THE BALLOT FOR MONDAY, JUNE 14, 1976. IT IS FOR 53/100 OF A MILL INCREASE (53 CENTS PER $1,000 STATE EQUALIZED VALUATION). APPROVAL WILL GENERATE MONEY FOR BOTH GENERAL OPERATIONS AND FOR DEBT SERVICES.

FOR RESIDENTS OF CLARENCEVILLE, GARDEN CITY, LIVONIA, NORTHVILLE AND PLYMOUTH, WE CANNOT THINK OF A BETTER WAY TO INVEST $\frac{1}{2}$ MILL. THE COLLEGE HAS SERVED THESE SCHOOL DISTRICTS SINCE 1964. THAT MANY HAVE BEEN SERVED WELL IS BEST ILLUSTRATED BY SCHOOLCRAFT'S PHENOMENAL GROWTH:

THE COLLEGE HAS HAD NO VOTED MILLAGE INCREASE SINCE 1966. IT HAS OPERATED ON 1.77 MILLS PLUS A SMALL LEVY FOR DEBT SERVICE. SCHOOLCRAFT HAS CONSISTENTLY MAINTAINED HIGH QUALITY INSTRUCTION AT REASONABLE COSTS, BUT JUST RAISED TUITION 19% IN LIGHT OF CURRENT ECONOMIC CONDITIONS.

THE COLLEGE TODAY HAS REACHED A CRITICAL POINT IN ITS HISTORY. QUITE SIMPLY, IT NEEDS NEW MONEY IF IT IS TO CONTINUE TO PROVIDE THE PROGRAMS AND SERVICES SO MANY WISH TO HAVE. IT ALSO NEEDS NEW MONEY FOR EXPANSION SO IT MAY SERVE OTHERS AS WELL.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE HAS A DEMONSTRATED RECORD OF BALANCED BUDGETS AND SOUND FISCAL MANAGEMENT. IT IS AN INVESTMENT MADE COLLECTIVELY BY RESIDENTS OF THE COLLEGE DISTRICT, AND ONE WHICH DESERVES YOUR SUPPORT THROUGH A YES COTE ON MONDAY, JUNE 14, 1976.

P.S. INCIDENTALLY, YOUR TAX INCREASE WILL BE VERY SMALL — APPROXIMATELY $13 FOR A $50,000 HOME, LESS STATE AND FEDERAL TAX CREDITS.

Charles Spencer of Westland displays a small portion of his model circus that will be on display this weekend at Good Shepherd Reformed Church, 6500 N. Wayne. (Staff photos by Art Emanuel)

Westland man recreates a circus in miniature

By LYNN ORR

If you are old enough to remember the circus railroad show or too young to have seen one, you'll get your chance when Spencer Bros. Circus comes this week to Good Shepherd Reformed Church, 6500 Wayne in Westland.

During a garage sale and ice cream social, the circus will be on display from noon to 9 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. through 8:00 p.m. Saturday with a 25-cent charge for the youth fund.

Although it may not be the real thing in size, Charles Spencer's three-quarter inch scale model circus is patterned after Barnes Circus and includes replicas of wagons and other equipment representative of all the circuses.

"I wasn't old enough to take pictures of the railroad circus," Spencer explained. He has been patiently tracking down pictures and posters while working on his circus for 16 years.

With 14 flat cars, six stock cars and four passenger coaches, "everything loads into the wagons like the real circus," he said. The entire display fits on a 16-by-30 foot table that takes three days to set up.

ALTHOUGH SPENCER estimates it will take another two years to complete the circus—the big top is not finished—the display includes 56 wagons, a 25-car railroad show, 300 animals, nine tents, a 12-foot menagerie, and 12 side show exhibits including Headless Olga.

A gasoline engine generator and transformer illuminate the exhibit with tiny light bulbs like those used in model railroads. Three calliopes will be playing and steaming.

The Pawnee Bill Band Wagon from the Wild West Circus has four buffalo heads and gold carvings depicting Columbus' arrival in America and Pocahontas saving John Smith. To create the wagon the band rides on, Spencer had to measure the original at the Circus World Museum in Baraboo, Wis., and work from more than 100 pictures.

"The hippo wagon I made from memory," said Spencer. "After I made it, I received a picture of it and the only thing different was the placement of the brake wheel." That wagon was used last in 1938.

His four-mirrored band wagon was featured at the '64 New York World's Fair. His basement workshop is crammed with circus books and memorabilia Spencer "collects like mad." He also is working on a one-quarter inch scale parade Tiger Bill's Circus and one-half inch Mack Truck Show that he calls the Mighty Motorized Marvel of the Highways.

WHAT HE TERMS "strictly a hobby dates to 1940. "I built my first circus then and gave it all away when I went into the army," he said.

Besides working at Consumers Power for 25 years, he also is interested in photography and fishing.

Originally from Traverse City, he and his wife, Elaine, had lived in Chelsea for 27 years and recently moved to Westland.

"People thought we were nuts to move from a little town to a big city, but everything is handy here and we really love it." As a member of Circus Model Builders, Spencer said he never charges admission, and the charge at Good Shepherd will be strictly for the youth group. "The general aim of CMB is to preserve and display the circus so the public can know what a circus is."

Through the years Spencer has learned tricks to expedite his work. "When I first started making wheels, I carved them, but now I can make them fairly quickly by turning them on a lathe using wood dows and metal jigs," he explained.

He makes his own tents on a 1925 treadle sewing machine that he wouldn't part with and scavenges all kinds of materials—bottle caps, wood, plastic and "anything I can get my hands on."—to build his show.

"You get started and you don't know enough to quit," he laughed.

THE CIRCUS is so life-like the elephants are staked down and surrounded by hay, 14 picnic benches complete with tableware are set up for the circus workers, and some of the sideshows are animated—like one in which two women are washing clothes and throwing water at each other.

The Zacchini family, who made their living being shot out of a cannon, are represented by a model that works. "The smoke and noise was all phony since the cannon worked by compressed air," said Spencer, but "Zacchini had to light just right or he'd break his neck."

When the 17½-inch big top is complete, the entire display will need a 40-by-30 foot table to hold it. "It's going to be fully animated and even the trapeze artists will swing back and forth," the creator said.

Those attending the youth garage sale June 11 and 12 at the church will be able to watch the circus in action as others all over the state have done.

This year Spencer Bros. Circus will also be on display at the Mason Michigan Tractor and Antique Show, the Greenfield, Michigan Danish Festival (a repeat performance), and the Circus Model Builders' National Gathering during which 1,500 members of the group meet every other year.

A model of a calliope (left) and a tiger cage wagon are among the stars of the circus show. The calliope plays and steams and the cage houses plastic tigers.

Spencer is working on an addition to Headless Olga, a side-show exhibit.

Northwest YW open house to dedicate new field house

m.m.memos

The junior high gym was hot, like it's been on six or seven other June nights in the last few years.

The tables there were crowded, as in other years on pop concert night, the young waitresses a bit flustered and the decorations taped to the gym walls a bit unstable.

But this year there was hardly a complaint, not even about the heat.

This pop concert was different from those that had preceded it. It was the very last one in the junior high school that's located a block from our house and has been home-away-from-home for each of our four girls for three years of her life.

Many families will feel more keenly than we do the closing of the school. We were lucky and we made it through. Our youngest is ready for high school now, so it would have been her last concert there anyway.

BUT THAT DIDN'T slow down her tears, or, for that matter, change much the ones that were not too far from the surface for her mother.

Working on a newspaper that covers several communities, I've watched a number of other school closings. I've written and read of parent protests, and felt they had to be an exercise in futility.

Neighborhoods change, even in our suburbs, and populations shift so that the operation of an old school becomes uneconomical.

All this I accept because it's the practical view. But I've also learned this spring, you don't feel like being practical when it's the school down the street that is closing.

THE YOUNG MUSICIANS and their leaders outdid themselves to produce a memorable final program.

By MARGARET MILLER

The band, which for years has played like at least a high school aggregation, earned a standing ovation even before the end of the program, and the orchestra and choirs were the best I've heard at the school.

The conductor referred to a last hurrah for the lack of population explosion in our parts, and got a muted laugh when he suggested ruefully that the school wouldn't be closing "if you parents had kept up your job."

And when a couple hundred musicians joined in the school song to end the program, everyone agreed it was a fitting finish.

OUR DAUGHTER will be glad to get to high school. Her friends and the younger children in our neighborhood will have a much newer junior high to attend.

The staff will scatter, but many will still be around, and there will be other fine bands and pop concerts.

Somewhere along the line, we heard there was a possibility that the elementary school our girls attended also might close.

"My heritage—all going!" one of them wailed.

Not at all. The heritage remains, and we're lucky it's been such a good one.

What is 220 feet long, 110 feet wide, contains four indoor tennis courts and was built at a cost of about half a million dollars?

Give up? It's the new field house of the Northwest YWCA, which has been added to the existing building at 2540 Grand River, Redford Township.

Dedication ceremonies for the addition, which almost doubles the size of the Y, will be held Sunday from 2-5 p.m.

The dedication will start at 2 p.m. and will be followed by demonstrations in gymnastics, volleyball, physical fitness, tennis and Aikido. Also on the program will be displays of ceramics, drawing, guitar playing, quilting, knitting, sewing and fencing.

A dance show will include tap, ballet, ballroom and belly dance. Various age groups will display swimming techniques in the pool. There will be no charge for the open house.

ON HAND to see that the new structure is off to a good start will be Shirley Tolan, chairperson of the Northwest YWCA board of management; Ruth Duey, branch executive director, and Helen Graham, president of the Metropolitan Detroit YWCA.

Bessie Hunt, executive director, and Clara Schumann, chairwoman of the board of trustees of the same organization, also will be present.

The Rev. George Sweet of Westminster Presbyterian Church will give the prayer of dedication.

Chairperson of the dedication committee is Jodi Kughn. Those serving on the committee are Frances Hensley of Livonia, Lois Bierins and Pat Landsberg of Farmington and Shirley Tolan of Birmingham.

Other committee members are Elves Malfante of Southfield and Winnie Sawyer, Jessie Liddle, Marie Harding and Sue Scott of Detroit.

Rossetti Associates are architects of the field house which will be used for gymnastics, tennis, volleyball, fencing and other sports. Construction of the air conditioned building was done by Christopher Construction Co.

According to Ruth Fuxa of Redford Township, construction costs will be paid for mainly from receipts from current projects. No plans are under way for a building fund drive.

DURING THE HOURS not scheduled for class instruction, court time will be available for YWCA tennis club members. A membership in the club cost $30 for adults, $25 for those under 17 and $75 for a family. In addition players must be Y members and pay court fees. Y membership is $10 a year for an adult, $5 for a child and $25 for a family. Membership in the tennis club will be necessary starting in the fall.

The new fieldhouse at the Northwest YWCA in Redford Township is almost ready for opening. Ruth Ann Ballard (left) of Southfield and

SC schedules swim classes

Schoolcraft College community services is offering summer swimming programs for very young children and their parents, as well as for persons interested in senior life saving.

Parent and tot swim will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays from June 21 through July 14 and on Tuesdays and Thursdays from July 6-29. Both classes will meet 10-11 a.m.

This class is designed to teach the toddler or young child to swim with the assistance of a parent. Parents should be prepared to enter the water.

Pre-registration is possible by calling

591-6400, extension 218. To complete registration, individuals should send a $10 check payable to the cashier designated parent-tot swim, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia.

A senior life saving class will be offered for six weeks beginning June 21. Classes will meet Monday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to noon through July 29.

Pre-registration is available at 591-6400, extension 264. Participants can complete registration at the first class meeting by paying $13. Checks should be made payable to Schoolcraft College.

Bike group aims to fight thieves

"Bike thieves will have to be on guard if they try to sell a bike registered with the newly formed Worldwide Cycling Association," announced a spokesman of the group.

Roger Labus claimed that any WWCA bike can be easily traced by any law enforcement agency back to its rightful owner, no matter what city or state it was stolen from.

If thieves try to sell a WWCA bike, the customer can call the police and claim a reward. The organization offers a $200 cash reward plus a bonus for assistance in returning a WWCA bike.

He claimed that bikes from his organization would never be sold at local police auctions.

Further details about the group may be obtained by writing Labus, PO Box 387, Clarkston, Mich. 48016.

Women leaders to speak at WSU

Consumer affairs advocate Bess Myerson, U.S. Rep. Yvonne Brathwaite-Burke, conductor Sarah Caldwell and past president of the League of Women Voters Lucy Wilson Benson will address a three-day conference June 11, 12 and 13 at Wayne State University.

Called "We the Women," the event will take place in McGregor and Rackham auditoriums on the Wayne campus in Detroit.

Some of the other speakers are psychologist Phyllis Chesler, coloratura soprano Mattiwillda Dobbs, law professor Leo Kanowitz, labor leader Olga Madar and medical sociologist Nancy Milio.

"Women in the new world" is Ms. Myerson's topic which she will present at 4:45 p.m. June 13.

Sarah Caldwell, director of the Opera Company of Boston, will offer a concert at 8:30 p.m. June 12 which will include Mattiwillda Dobbs and the Michigan Chamber Orchestra.

"Women in Politics: Influence versus Power" will be the focus of the opening session at 6:45 p.m. Friday. Speaking will be Rep. Brathwaite-Burke, who chaired the Congressional Black Caucus in 1975 and was vice chairperson of the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

Joining her will be Ms. Benson, who is a board member of the Brookings Institute, the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation and the National Urban League.

Labor session on Saturday will include discussions by Ms. Madar, past vice-president of the United Auto Workers and at present president of the Coalition of Labor Union Women, and Carmen Maymi, director of the women's bureau in the U.S. Department of Labor.

Also speaking will be Caroline Bird, author of "Born Female," and Francine Gordon of Stanford University, an expert on barriers to working women.

Sessions on legal rights on Sunday will probe discrimination in credit, taxes, property rights, alimony and criminal laws. Participants include Karen Galloway, attorney for JoAnn Little, and Leo Kanowitz, law professor at the University of California.

Many other speakers will also be involved.

All sessions are free except for the concert and meals. Guest speakers will be seated with registrants at dining tables to encourage discussion of issues.

Advance registration is recommended to assure admittance. Costs for special events, availability of child care center and other information can be obtained by calling 577-3107.

Baton twirlers, here's your chance

All phases of baton twirling, cheer-leading, pom pom routines, half-time shows, rifle and flag work and color guard and drum majoring will be taught at a twirling, cheerleading and pom pom clinic July 6 to 9 at Alma College, Alma.

Students may enroll with their school group or individually. To celebrate the bi-centennial year, any attending school group of four or more will be eligible to receive a trophy for school show case display.

A division especially designed for elementary and junior high school students also will be offered.

The clinic is conducted by Mary Evelyn Thurman, teacher, judge and director. Those interested in attending may write to National Baton Twirling and Cheerleading Clinics, in care of Thurman, PO Box 21, New Albany, Ind. 47150.

Rev. Britt to leave St. Agatha

The Rev. Kevin Britt, co-pastor for two years at St. Agatha Catholic Church in Redford Township, will join the faculty of Sacred Heart Seminary in Detroit.

He was notified by Cardinal John Darden of the new assignment, effective June 13. As a preparation, he will spend the summer at Mt. Carmel Hospital participating in the Clinical Pastoral Education program, and in the fall will enter Harvard University for a year's study in theology.

Fr. Britt, a graduate of St. Agatha High School, Sacred Heart and St. John Provincial seminaries, was ordained by Cardinal Darden in 1970.

He was installed in May 1974 to serve his home parish as co-pastor with the Rev. Joseph L. Romano.

During his time at St. Agatha, he has been active in community affairs, serving as a member of the Redford Community Hospital board of directors and playing a major role in the formation of the Redford Clergy Association, an interdenominational group that has sponsored several ecumenical events in the area.

Smith to give breakfast talk

Dr. Jerry J. Smith, chairman of the music department of Bentley High School, will be guest speaker at a prayer breakfast Saturday in Ward United Presbyterian Church.

Director of music at the church, Smith has served as lecturer, adjudicator and clinician for the Michigan Vocal Music Association.

Under his direction, the Bentley choir won a first place trophy over 43 choirs at the Mid-America Choral Festival in St. Louis. The choir also has won nomination from the State Board of College Choral Directors as a finalist for the best high school choir in Michigan.

He has earned a bachelor and master of music degrees along with a doctorate in education.

Open to all men of the area, the prayer breakfast will be from 8:30-10 a.m. There is no admission charge.

Church Bulletin

NEWBURG UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, will present its three youth choirs, directed by David and Terry Gladstone, in a special concert at 7 p.m. Sunday, June 13.

Members of the junior and senior high choir will present selections from the musical "Godspell" with solos, duets and dances choreographed by Mary Ann Savitskie.

Also performing will be the junior choir, singing "Abraham, Martin and John" and "Dem Bones," and the church choir in two rabbit songs.

ST. TIMOTHY UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 16700 Newburgh, Livonia, will honor its graduates in a bi-centennial salute Sunday.

The youth choir will sing three numbers for the 9 a.m. family worship, with pianist Julie Bloxson, flutist Susan Bloxson and percussionists William and Walter Ickes and Thomas Petroff assisting.

The church choir will sing at the 11 a.m. worship, assisted by Julie Bloxson and Walter Ickes. John Roberts is St. Timothy music director.

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF PLYMOUTH, 701 Church, plans a "pre-need" seminar on death following the 10 a.m. worship that begins the church's summer schedule Sunday.

Participating in the 11:30 a.m. to 12:23 p.m. discussion will be a panel consisting of Edwin Schrader Jr. and William Lambert Jr., funeral directors, attorney Donald Morgan and the Rev. Philip R. Magee, senior church minister.

The purpose of the seminar is to stress the importance of making decisions and plans about death before it occurs, rather than putting that burden on survivors.

ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia, will honor its Sunday school teaching staff during its 9:30 and 11 a.m. services Sunday. Graduating seniors in the church also will be honored.

LIVONIA CHRISTIAN CHURCH (Disciples of Christ), Seven Mile west of Farmington Road, will have a commissioning service and an annual congregational meeting and fellowship dinner Sunday.

The commissioning will be for young people who will participate in the denomination's camp and conference program and adults who will be assisting during the summer months.

The congregational meeting will begin at 3 p.m., with all members asked to attend, and it will be followed by the dinner.

The weekend also will mark participation by men in the congregation in a denominational work retreat at Crystal Beach.

Participants include Howard and Tony Groce, Austin and Phil Keathley, John and Mike Rickard, Bruce and Donnie Bark, Paul Gridale and the Rev. William Hass.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Farmington Road and Six Mile, Livonia, will continue its series of bi-centennial observances with a film, "Story of a Patriot," at the 7 p.m. vesper service Sunday.

The service also will feature music by the Bentley High School select male chorus under the direction of Jerry Smith.

The Rev. Bartlett L. Hess, Ward senior minister, will return to the pulpit for the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services following a five-week trip to the Middle East and Europe.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, 43065 Joy, Canton Township, will present its 70-voice senior choir in a bi-centennial concert, "In God We Trust," at 7 p.m. Sunday.

Patriotic and Christian songs and hymns will be mixed with heritage pictures and narration by the Rev. G. Douglas Routledge, senior pastor.

Special guests for the evening will be the Plymouth Junior Fife and Drum Corps.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia, will honor children and graduates in a special service at 10:45 a.m. Sunday. Music will be provided by the church choir and soloist Alona Moon.

The church's 45-voice youth choir will present a Christian musical, "Come Together," at the Living Christ Hour at 7 p.m.

CHRISTIAN COMMUNITY CHURCH, 41355 Six Mile, Northville, will welcome a husband and wife team, the Rev. David P. Womersley and Dee Womersley, to its pulpit for services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday.

The pastor has a traveling ministry centered in Oregon, and his wife is president of the Greater Pasadena Women's Aglow Fellowship and hostess of a television show, "Woman—All That I Am."

The Rev. Gene Sorensen, pastor of Unity of Livonia Church, happily throws out a shovelful of earth at groundbreaking ceremonies for a new addition to the church. With him, from left, are

Unity breaks ground for addition

"We give thanks for the harmonious blending of workmen, contractors and architects for the perfect completion of this project," said members of Unity of Li-von Church at the ground breaking ceremonies for the new addition to the church. "We now declare wisdom and good judgment working through our building committee and board of advisors," said the Rev. Gene Sorensen, pastor of the church in the responsive service held on the site of the future 6,000 square-foot addition.

A new chapel with closed circuit TV, nursery, banquet and kitchen facilities serving 240 people will occupy the new structure. There also will be room for Unteen and Youth of Unity activities.

Architect of the $250,000 addition is William P. Lindhout; contractor is Gordon B. Hall and Sons.

Present for the ground breaking ceremonies were the contractor, architect, president of the board, Bob Collins and the minister. Also on hand were members of the board, Violet Falk, Harold Kees, Lydia Nordstrom, Bonita Steele, Jim Vanderbilt and Bob Williams.

The building is expected to be completed by December.

Church to host bloodmobile

First United Methodist Church of Garden City will host an American Red Cross Bloodmobile from 2-8 p.m. Thursday, June 17. Area residents are urged to participate. Relaxed restrictions now make it possible for many to donate who have not before been eligible. Nurses at the mobile unit will make evaluations. Persons on a daily medication of tranquilizers may now donate blood, as may persons on high blood pressure medication if blood pressure is held within the norm. Some people who have had heart attacks may be able to donate with their doctor's permission. Persons taking allergy shots may give blood if allergy is maintained inactive by medication. Women may donate six weeks after pregnancy.

The Red Cross collected 179,000 units of blood in 1975. It has projected the collection of 190,000 units in 1976, but needs help. The organization does not buy or sell blood. Commercial blood is $48 to $100 per unit. Major blood disorders may require 200 pints plus for treatment. First United Methodist is located at 6443 Merriman.

The building is expected to be completed by December.

KAREN ROSNER

Karen Rosner is honored

Karen Rosner of Plymouth Salem High School has been designated a member of the Grand Cross of Color because of her distinguished service in the International Order of Rainbow Girls of Plymouth Lodge, Assembly 33.

Her name will be enrolled in the Grand Cross of Color book of membership in the International Rainbow Temple.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosner of Canton Township.

Italian food misunderstood in America, cook says

By ETHEL SIMMONS

In print, she sounds bold: "I think I'm needed in America. I know so much about Italian food."

But in person, Italian-born Marcella Hazan is down-to-earth and not at all assuming. She is confident about Italian cooking, however.

Mrs. Hazan recently visited Kitchen Glamour, a Redford Township store for cooking bugs, to demonstrate some dishes from "The Classic Italian Cookbook." The book is subtitled "The Art of Italian Cooking and the Italian Art of Eating."

Mrs. Hazan has joined the select company of such world-renowned cooking authorities as Julia Child, Simone "Simca" Beck and James Beard. They all share the same publisher, Knopf, and editor, Judith Jones.

"THE CLASSIC Italian Cookbook" was previously published by another company, but Knopf bought the rights and now reissued the book in a lively new jacket and cover.

Mrs. Hazan is working on another cookbook. "Judith Jones has asked me to do the second book with her," Mrs. Hazan said. "I'm in the stage where I'm working alone."

Most Americans know about Italian cooking from eating in Italian restaurants but, according to Mrs. Hazan, "Italian restaurants don't do justice to Italian food."

"Americans eat Italian food the wrong way," she said. "In Italy, they don't have a main course. It's not the Italian way of eating. At home, Italians only have cakes where there is a special occasion."

"Pasta is one course, the first course. You're supposed to have a small amount, and a small amount of sauce. Americans are wrong about oversaucing and seasoning Italian food. In Italy, there is not so much garlic and tomato."

"My point of view is that Italian food is most misunderstood in this country."

MRS. HAZAN SAID, "The best Italian food is home cooking. In the family, the second course is what you find in a restaurant for an appetizer. The second course is meat, poultry or fish, plus one or two vegetables—side dishes, which translates as 'contour' meaning 'to go around.'"

"The salad always comes at the end of the meal."

To illustrate the right way to mix a good salad dressing, Mrs. Hazan stated an Italian proverb: "You need four persons: One for the salt, one for the olive oil, one stingy for the vinegar, and one patient to toss it."

"The salad has a simple fresh taste, to wash the mouth. We don't eat much cake. That belongs to the patisserie (bakery). In my book, my cakes are very simple."

"Dessert is fruit, treated many different ways—the fruit of the season."

At home in New York, Mrs. Hazan teaches cooking classes, six courses of six lessons that begin at terms in October and January.

She will spend this summer in Italy, realizing her dream to establish a cooking school in Bologna for Americans. Three courses will last one week each, and Mrs. Hazan said, "One person has signed up for three weeks!"

She plans to take people to taste Parmesan cheese and prosciutto, to buy fish in the street on the Adriatic Coast.

FOR HER DEMONSTRATION at Kitchen Glamour, Mrs. Hazan made Veal Rolls in Tomato Sauce (Rollatini di vitello al pomodoro) and Finocchio (fennel) braised with butter and Parmesan cheese.

In case you're unfamiliar with fennel, she explained that the vegetable has a licorice-anise smell. It has a more delicate taste cooked and is stronger raw.

Fennel was out of season and a produce man brought some in special from California for her demonstration. She had a grocery bagful to take back on the airplane to New York.

"We are three in the family, my husband and my son," she said. "We are still an Italian family. My husband still comes home to lunch."

Working on a cookbook, Mrs. Hazan is dedicated and thorough in her research. She travels with a tape recorder and goes "from restaurant to restaurant, to kitchen to kitchen, and to friends' kitchen to kitchen."

"I keep talking about the dish I'm eating and take notes on the tape recorder." Later, she tests the recipes in her classes.

When she writes, she writes in Italian. "My English is not that good." Her husband translates. He will translate her second book and also write a small chapter on wine.

In "The Classic Italian Cookbook," each recipe is followed by menu suggestions, telling what other dishes may accompany it or the right occasion to serve it.

In her second cookbook, she will give an Italian wine and a California wine that may be served with her dishes.

Home decorating help, program ideas offered

New help for homemakers and new program prospects for club leaders grow from a move announced this week by Wickes Furniture.

The distributor Wednesday opened home decorating centers in each of its stores in Livonia, Warren and Riverview.

The centers, said Robert Thele, vice-president of Wickes Furniture Division, will feature in one spot a host of decorating ideas in paint, wallpaper, paneling, floor coverings and lighting fixtures.

Trained advisors will be at the centers to answer questions about tricky decorating problems.

And in conjunction with this advisory service, the company is preparing to offer programs on decorating to local groups whose members are interested in learning more about custom decorating to individualize their homes.

"WE WILL HAVE an interior decorator on the staff," Thele said, "and it will be possible to schedule programs at the store or in homes or meeting halls."

"We already have some requests after sending letters out to some selected groups."

Area residents are invited to visit the stores, located at 29635 Seven Mile, Livonia; 6600 E. Twelve Mile, Warren; and 13725 Pennsylvania, Riverview.

As part of the grand opening program through June 19, Thele said, there will be regular demonstrations in papering, painting and paneling techniques.

Customers also will be able to use the clinic corners to get a room scaled effect of different papers, paneling and draperies.

THELE CALLED the clinic corners "absolutely unique."

"There is no other place," he said, "where a customer can get trained assistance in actually practicing with wallpaper and paneling and paint under real architectural conditions, or where a customer can look at a whole piece of wallpaper against a drapery fabric on a real wall and windows."

"We expect these clinic corners to save do-it-yourself customers quite a bit of money they might otherwise waste by improper measuring or installation techniques."

And we expect that many people who never thought they could hang wallpaper or apply paneling will see for themselves how easy it is to do a first-class job and save money by doing it themselves."

Magazine article called needless scare

A sensational article in the May issue of Good Housekeeping magazine has fallen like a hornet's nest among Michigan homemakers.

The article, which unfolds a horror story of botulism poisoning caused by home-canned tomato juice, blames certain strains of tomatoes for the 1974 incident and urges homemakers to avoid new yellow, orange or miniature tomatoes and to pressure-can all tomato products.

(According to USDA recommendations, tomatoes and other acid foods—including other fruits and pickles—can be canned by the boiling water bath method because Clostridium botulinum, the organism that causes botulism poisoning, cannot grow in an acid environment.)

(Low-acid foods—including all vegetables and meats—must be canned under pressure so the food gets hot enough—240 degrees F—to destroy the spores of the organism that may be present. If they are not destroyed, these spores may germinate and grow inside the food, producing a deadly poison.)

The magazine article, on the other hand, advises pressure-canning tomatoes if there is any doubt about the product's acidity. It does not give any recommendations on times, temperatures or other details of processing, however.

"If pressure canning were the only way to produce, safe, home-canned tomato products, we would certainly recommend it," Dr. Wishnitsky said. "This is not the case, however. Hot packing tomatoes that are not overripe and processing properly in a boiling water bath is still our recommendation."

Following sanitary preparation procedures and recommended processing times and temperatures is essential, he added, to eliminate spoilage organisms. Research has shown that improper processing of tomato products may permit the growth of molds and other spoilage agents. In some cases, the activities of these organisms may lower the acidity in the food to a level at which the botulism organism can grow and produce its deadly toxin.

IN THE INCIDENT related in the magazine article, improper processing or contamination of the tomato juice was probably the basic problem, Dr. Wishnitsky says.

"Contrary to what the article says, the botulism organism will not proliferate in the human body," he added. "Poisoning occurs when a person ingests preformed toxin in food. The botulism organism itself does no harm if it is ingested."

Retarded citizens officers

Two area women were among those recently elected officers of the Detroit Association for Retarded Citizens. At left Mrs. Debbie Smolenski of Canton Township is installed as third vice-president; Dr. Raymond Starr of Detroit as second vice-president; Mrs. Shirley Mooradian of Livonia as first vice-president; and John Ebo of Detroit, president. Lee McNally of Detroit administers the oath.

TELEPHONES at county Cooperative Extension Service offices around the state have been jangling as concerned home canners try to verify the facts and check the recommendations in the magazine article.

Food scientists at Michigan State University have stated the article is full of misconceptions and outright errors in fact.

First, the scientists said, there is no good evidence that low-acid tomatoes are to blame for this poisoning incident or any of the other rare cases of botulism poisoning from home-canned tomato products. Even if low-acid tomatoes are eventually to be a risk factor, the idea that yellow, orange and miniature tomatoes are particularly low in acid is false.

Tests of pH (acidity) in tomato varieties have shown that some varieties do regularly test out as more or less acid than others. But the average pH for the novelty varieties is no different from that of the standard red varieties.

Varieties described in seed catalogs as "low-acid" cannot be relied on to test low in acid. Variations in sugars and other components can mask acidic flavor. This can mislead those who try to judge acidity by taste rather than laboratory measurement.

ACIDITY IS NOT determined exclusively by variety, the scientists reported. Growing conditions—including temperature, number of sunny days, water and use of fertilizer—influence acidity so that the same variety often varies in acidity from one growing season to the next.

How ripe the tomato is when it is picked and processed is another important factor completely overlooked in the magazine article. As tomatoes get overly ripe, they tend to become significantly less acid.

The MSU scientists therefore urged home canners to use only mature ripe—or even slightly underripe—tomatoes for canning. They pointed out that overripe or rotting fruit is not only less acid but also more likely to be contaminated with bacteria, molds or yeasts that can cause spoilage.

"Though there is no conclusive evidence to suggest adding acid to tomato products is necessary for safety, it can do no harm," said Dr. Theodore Wishnitsky, Extension food specialist at MSU.

"Addition of acid provides homemakers with extra insurance against the very slight chance that normal variations in tomato acidity will sometimes result in acid levels low enough for growth of the botulism organism. Research now in progress is expected to more fully define the possible risk involved. Until this research is completed, homemakers may choose to add acid to provide an extra margin of safety."

THE MSU EXPERTS suggested 1½ teaspoons of lemon juice or ¼ teaspoon of citric acid per pint—twice as much per quart—should be sufficient to eliminate any low-acid condition in home-canned tomatoes, especially if the homemaker avoids using overripe or rotten fruit.

New voices

Getting Around

By ETHEL SIMMONS

It's always a pleasure to hear from readers—who sometimes write with requests for information or have critical comments to pass along. Here are a few recent letters:

"I read with interest your article on Michigan wines. Could you please drop me a list of the wineries (Michigan) which provide tours for the general public?"

There are several wineries in southwestern Michigan, with tours open to the public seven days a week. Three wine festivals take place annually in the fall during harvest week.

The wineries include St. Julian (I-94, Exit 60), Warner (I-94, Exit 60), Frontenac (I-94, Exit 56), Bronte (I-94, Exit 46), Lakeside (I-94, Exit 12) and Fenn Valley (I-96, Exit 34).

For more information, write directly to the Michigan Wine Institute, PO Box 05204, Detroit 48205.

Incidentally, world traveler George Pierrot has just published the 1976 edition of his Outdoor Vacation Brochure, free from offices of Standard Federal Savings in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Included among the articles on places to fish, camp, hike and travel in Michigan, plus Canada's Algoma land, is one entitled "Wine Tasters. Ahoy!" giving information about Michigan winery tours.

AND IN RESPONSE to a review of the April 15 Oakway Symphony Orchestra concert performance by Eric Peters, a reader sent a two-page letter, from which I quote in part:

... How can a critic possibly be so irresponsible in his comments, damning all

Readers query and complain and redeeming none? On one hand, Mr. Peters acknowledges that the Oakway Orchestra is made up of musicians of all ages and all walks of life, a typical community symphony orchestra, and then in the next breath he suggests that "... the group is in need of considerable polish if it is to give satisfactory performances and become an alternative to the Detroit Symphony."

"Our 'critic' fails to recognize that the community orchestras surrounding Detroit were formed with the express purpose of providing an opportunity in the performing arts to those people (making music their avocation—not vocation) who otherwise would be denied this chance, and NOT with the goal in mind to become an alternative or 'Suburbia's Answer' to the Detroit Symphony."

This is one of the most frequent criticisms of the critics—that they are too hard on amateur, semi-professional or even professional groups, setting an excessively high or perhaps equal standard for all performances regardless of the group involved.

Most critics try to allow more leeway for an amateur group than they would for the pros. At times, it can be difficult to write constructively about a performance that one has not enjoyed.

A review that is too nice can be labeled bland and worse, dishonest, if the performance doesn't measure up to the reviewer's positive comments.

Critics can go overboard, in one direction or another. Any review, in the final analysis, is just one person's opinion. It's good to hear other views from readers.

Ragtime sound goes on

Two of the top ragtime piano players in the country are celebrating their sixth month playing back-to-back at Chuck Muer's new Clamdiggers restaurant in Farmington Hills.

Bob Seeley and Bob Milne formerly played at other Chuck Muer restaurants, but this is the first time at the same location. Seeley played for three years at Muer's Charley's Crab at Pine Lake before it burned in February 1975. Milne played for two years at the Sundog before it was sold in spring 1975.

Both men specialize in ragtime, boogie and stride, with the emphasis on ragtime.

Crowd favorites are such Scott Joplin compositions as "Maple Leaf Rag" and "Easy Winners."

Seeley plays in the Clamdiggers' four-sided piano bar from 4 to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday. Milne plays from 7:30 p.m. to closing, Monday through Saturday.

Seeley's forte is the classic style and technique with which he delivers the standard compositions of ragtime, boogie and stride. His left hand is a blur on the faster numbers, and the pace is physically exhausting.

Milne's talent lies in composing as well as playing the three classic styles and in improvising on the themes.

Milne studied at Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N.Y., and Peabody Institute in Baltimore, Md. He has played French horn with the Rochester (N.Y.) Philharmonic orchestra and the Baltimore Symphony. He and his wife, Ann, have two daughters, and live in Rochester.

Seeley grew up in Detroit and studied with local teachers and at Detroit Institute of Musical Art at University of Detroit. He also is proud of having received some "pointers" from Meade "Lux" Lewis, one of the all-time greats of boogie.

Seeley lives in Novi.

Summer shows slated

The seventh summer theater festival at Wayne State University, with an accent on musicals, has been scheduled for June 30 through Aug. 14 at the Hilberry Theatre and the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry.

The summer repertory company will present Stephen Sondheim's "Company," the 1970 Broadway musical hit, and Neil Simon's "The Good Doctor," the 1973 comedy with music based on stories by Anton Chekhov. For children, the company will offer matinee performances of another comedy with music, "Sacramento Fifty Miles," written by Eleanor and Ray Harder and based on the old tale "The Bremen-town Musicians."

"Company," directed by Russel Smith, will run from July 8 through 24, and "The Good Doctor," directed by Richard Spear, from July 30 through Aug. 14. Performances are Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m. The children's play, directed by Gary M. Witt, plays from June 30 through July 29. Performances are Tuesdays at 1 p.m. and Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10:30 a.m.

The Studio Theatre will present a double bill by the festival's Black Theatre Company under the direction of Martin Molson and Edward Albee's "Seascape," performed by another cast under the direction of Robert T. Hazzard.

"The Owl Killer" by Phillip Hayes Dean, author of "The Sty of the Blind Pig," will be the curtain-raiser for "Black Girl," J.E. Franklin's long-run off-Broadway success, from July 7 through 24. "Seascape," Albee's Pulitzer Prize and Tony Award-winning play of the 1975 season, will play July 28 through Aug. 14. Performances are Wednesdays through Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Brochures with information about the plays, the schedule and ticket prices will soon be available and may be requested by calling the box office at 577-2972.

The Summer Theatre Festival is supported in part by a gift from The Dayton Hudson Foundation.

Top groups head show

Labelle will be one of four headline acts for "The Show," a Fourth of July musical extravaganza to be held at Pontiac Stadium.

The attractions who will star at "The Show" — Labelle, The Ohio Players, Rufus featuring Chaka Khan and War — have never before appeared together and are each accustomed to filling stadia all over the world by themselves.

A traditional fireworks display will light up the sky over Pontiac Stadium immediately following "The Show."

This aerial spectacular will be produced by the American Fireworks Co., the same firm that produces the annual J. L. Hudson show.

Tickets for "The Show" range from general admission to reserved sections. They are available at Masonic Temple Box Office, Olympia Stadium Box Office and at all J. L. Hudson ticket centers.

'Summer Snow' co-stars named

Two stars of the award-winning children's television series, "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," will perform in Music Hall's original stage musical for children, "SummerSnow," according to David DiChiera, Music Hall artistic director.

Don Large Singers raise funds to sing

Having been invited to sing for the U.S. Congress, the Don Large Singers, a group of University of Detroit Alumni are trying to raise funds to pay their way to Washington, D.C.

On the schedule of fund raising events is a dinner dance, June 18 at the UAW Hall, local 735, 48055 Michigan Ave. in Canton Township.

Featured will be Glenn Miller and his orchestra and the Don Large Singers. Donation is $15 per person. Cocktails start at 7 p.m.

Presently doing a colorful bicentennial tour of Michigan, Don Large and Jerry Harris were called upon by State Rep. Thomas Brown to write another verse to their already recorded "Water Wonderland," hoping it to be the official state song.

The Don Large Singers will present "Water Wonderland" as part of their show at the June 18 fund raiser.

Betty Aberlin and Francois Clemmons; both well-known to four million children in the United States and Canada who watch the daily television series each month. In the Detroit area, Betty and Francois are seen on "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" on Channel 56.

Betty Aberlin, who plays the regular role of "Lady Aberlin" on television, will recreate her TV role for Music Hall's stage adaptation. She is "an adult friend to children who helps others grow while growing through learning herself," says Fred Rogers, creator of both the TV and stage plays.

A professional singer-actress who first appeared off-Broadway as a child actress, Betty Aberlin also toured with the national company of "Stop the World, I want to Get Off" and appeared in three productions at New York's famed "Upstairs at the Downstairs."

She has also performed opposite Alan Alda in a stage production of "The Odd Couple."

Francois Clemmons, in addition to his television role on the Rogers series, is a versatile young artist. He has won the Metropolitan Opera Regional auditions and performed many starring roles in opera, from Los Angeles to New York. He is a Columbia recording artist.

Clemmons also is a recognized poet. His works are published in such anthologies as "Black World" and "A Galaxy of Black Writers."

Born in Birmingham, Ala., he attended Oberlin College and Carnegie-Mellon University where he earned a master's degree in music. Joining "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" television series in 1968, he plays the regular roles of Officer and Professor Clemmons. Both roles allow him to provide respected role models for young children.

In "SummerSnow," both Betty and Francois will adapt their television characters for the live musical stage.

TV's Mister Rogers (center) is flanked by Betty Aberlin (left) and Francois Clemmons, both of whom will star in 'Summersnow.'

Travelers wishing to discover one of the most unique areas for Bicentennial celebrations this summer don't have to travel beyond their backyard.

"Southeast Michigan has it all," said Sidney L. Baker, president, Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association, in commenting on the availability of a new Calendar of Events for the nine-county Southeast Michigan area.

Free for the asking, the new Calendar lists nearly 300 separate events taking place in the area, one-third of them being special Bicentennial observances, during June, July and August.

"All the excitement of our dynamic area is to be found in these events," Baker said. "Many depict or re-enact our history. For example Detroit as a city is 75 years older than our country. Cadillac's landing will be re-enacted, nearly at the spot where he landed."

"Other events will show the area's cultural heritage. 'Festivals and fairs abound. Countless parades, shows, exhibits, art fairs, lectures, sporting events, races, tournaments, a whole gamut of things for the family, will take place."

Bernstein to debut

Leonard Bernstein will make his Pine Knob Music Theatre debut on June 25 when he will conduct the New York Philharmonic.

The booking of Maestro Bernstein and the Philharmonic has been announced by General Manager Joseph Z. Nederlander.

The Bernstein-Philharmonic concert will kick-off the new Classic Series Subscription. This subscription will also include the Igor Moiseyev Russian Festival, featuring 150 dancers and musicians, scheduled for Aug. 2, 3, 4, and Frank Sinatra, Aug. 27 and 28. Three concert series tickets are priced for pavilion and for lawn.

The Pop-Series will feature Bacharach-Newley, Rich Little, Harry Belafonte, John ny Mathis and Neil Diamond (negotiating). Five-concert series tickets are priced for pavilion and for lawn.

The Pop-Series will feature Chicago, America, Beach Boys, Jefferson Starship, Linda Ronstadt, Neil Young. Six-concert series tickets are priced for pavilion and for lawn.

For subscription information, call 873-8831.

The fifth year of the 10,000-capacity outdoor Pine Knob Music Theatre is scheduled to open June 11. Some of the headliners will be Janis Ian, Neil Sedaka, Barry Manilow, Laura Nyro, Crosby-Nash, Harry Chapin, Sha Na Na, James Taylor, Jessie Colin Young and the Spinners.

'Scorpio' just adds to Phil Esser's woes

By CRAIG REYNOLDS

Okay, Phil. So you've had a bad time of it recently.

"Personals" didn't become the boffo hit you'd hoped for, despite months of preparation and weeks of rework. Then private and political and artistic hassles reduced the Phil Marcus Esser Professional Music Theatre Company to the singular Phil Marcus Esser.

This name is listed on the program for "Scorpio/Scorpio" 18 times, a repetition which bespeaks either laughable absurdity or lamentable megalomania.

With the second half of "Scorpio/Scorpio" a performance of Samuel Beckett's "Krapp's Last Tape," I had hoped for absurdity. However, by intermission, it was obvious that the only thing missing was a teary rendition of "I Get Along With-out You Very Well."

"SCORPIO/SCORPIO" has premiered as "A Summer Revel" at the Dinner Theatre of Detroit in Mercy College. It is more a pathetic rolling in two acts, 10 costume changes and five songs, plus encore.

Phil Marcus Esser plays eight characters and eight instruments, as well as Krapp, and does the background voices too. He also directed, in his typical style of unconnected vignettes, and picked up the costumes from the Hollywood Shop in Dearborn.

That's what's known as stretching oneself thin, about as thin as the audience's patience when the sole performer launches into an amplified caterwaul of "I Only Want to Say" from "Jesus Christ Superstar."

Esser makes very apparent which way his show is headed when, as singer Johnny Divine, he ceremoniously shoots an uncontrollably giggling patron. Later, he shoots up to launch into Leonard Cohen's bleak "Dress Rehearsal Rag," gives a dimensionless and fragmentary interpretation of Shylock from "Merchant of Venice," and finishes the first act with the above-mentioned overlord song.

Intermission came as a real break, a time to enjoy the dinner theater's decent coffee and very bad, aluminum-encapsulated dessert tarts.

SPEAKING OF dinner theater, this time around very little is provided to talk about. The braised beef and veal parma-giana rank with notable efforts of any Big Boy kitchen trainee, putting an impossible burden on the nondescript wine.

Act Two of "Scorpio/Scorpio" is comprised of an excellent Samuel Beckett play performed with no grasp of the author's very special verbal and visual chemistry. "Krapp's Last Tape" is simply the story of a writer who can recall his past, his youth, the frail line of his years, only with the aid of tapes and recorder.

Those tapes and that machine, the storage boxes, the work table, cords and wall outlet, are as much a part of the man as the comforting tick of his pocketwatch and his red nose.

Esser misses all of the ritual, the pathetic rehearsing of youthful exploits, the absurd reliance on the dully cheap mechanical apparatus which all help sustain the humanity of Krapp.

Phil Marcus Esser is a performer with a great range of talent and energy evidently compromised by a lack of trust.

HE TRUSTS no one to direct him or his shows, and in "Scorpio/Scorpio" he seemingly trusts no one to perform with him.

The first act was bad because it read as one singer complaining about the rotten deal he's gotten from nightclub managers, audiences and reviewers.

The second act was bad because the actor could not supply the objective viewpoint of the director.

Phil, I guess you're speaking very personally to us sitting out there at the tables. But I'd rather hear it later, backstage after curtain call.

20 area stars selected for O&E baseball squad

By DOUG FUNKE and BILL COLLINS

With three area prep baseball teams—Plymouth Salem, Livonia Franklin and Livonia Stevenson—loaded with enough talent to win conference titles this spring and with several other squads placing high in their leagues, it was quite challenging for coaches to select only 20 players for all-O&E and Eccentric honors.

However, two dream teams were formulated after a meeting which lasted nearly two hours.

We congratulate everyone who participated in the baseball campaign, especially the following young men who have been named to the all-O&E teams or earned honorable mention accolades.

First Team

BRIAN WOLCOTT, Plymouth Salem, pitcher. Wolcott had a spotless 15-0 mark on the hill for the Rocks. The senior fanned 121 batters during 87 innings of work and showed an earned run average of 1.33.

Wolcott also knew what to do with the bat, slapping out 27 hits for a .355 average. In addition to his selection to the O&E team, he was named all-state, all-region and all-league.

TOM POOLE, Garden City West, pitcher. Captain of the Tigers and headed to Eastern Michigan University on a baseball scholarship, Poole pitched his way to an 8-3 record. He struck out 150 in 82 innings of work.

Poole, who also played football and basketball for West, shared the most valuable player award in baseball and won West's athlete of the year award.

TOM CLOSE, Plymouth Canton, catcher. An all-league and all-O&E choice for the second year, Close hit for both average and power. Eleven of the senior's 26 hits went for extra bases. He had five home runs and three triples while hitting at a .330 clip.

"He's an excellent receiver who has a great arm," said Chiefs' coach Fred Crissey. "He'll be one of the high draft picks in Michigan in the coming pro draft."

JIM SNYDER, Livonia Stevenson, first baseman. Snyder starred for the Spartans at the plate and in the field. He compiled a .342 batting average and carved out 21 RBIs. The senior also blasted three home runs and four triples and showed his speed by stealing seven bases.

"He made only one error all year," said Stevenson coach George Van Wagoner. "He's an excellent fielder and thrower."

DENNIS KUSCHEL, Redford Thurston, outfielder. Kuschel, who tied the school record for most hits in a season with 38 this spring, compiled a .414 batting average. He successfully stole 10 bases in 10 attempts and committed only one error all year long.

He was selected all-Northwest Suburban League the last two years and won all-state honors this spring. Kuschel, named to the all-O&E football team last fall, won Thurston's best senior athlete award.

TIM MURPHY, Livonia Stevenson, outfielder. This is the third year on the O&E baseball team for Murphy, who banged out a .383 batting average. He connected for eight extra-base hits and scored 17 runs.

Murphy, a senior, also won all four games he pitched for Stevenson. He was named to the all-Inter-Lakes League team all three years he played for the Spartans.

GREG EMERY, Garden City East, outfielder. Emery cracked 30 hits and tallied 28 RBIs while hitting a hefty .395 for the Panthers. He was also perfect in the stolen base department, pilfering five of five and had a 20-game hitting streak during the season. Emery won six games as a pitcher.

The senior was also named all-league in both football and basketball.

RON GRIFFIN, Livonia Churchill, infielder. A switch-hitter, Griffin hit an outstanding .462 for the Chargers this season. He pounded 12 extra-base hits including a pair of homers.

He has, in addition to all-American and all-state accolades, been named all-region and all-league for two years.

Griffin was Churchill's leading hitter and most valuable player and plans to attend the University of Wisconsin on a hockey scholarship.

TIM HOLLANDSWORTH, Livonia Franklin, infielder. An all-state selection in baseball as well as football, Hollandsworth co-captained the Patriot diamonds this campaign.

The senior knocked in 22 runs and popped three homers, two triples and eight doubles, hitting for a .458 average.

An all-Northwest Suburban League choice, Hollandsworth will attend Central Michigan University on a football scholarship.

WALLY KROL, Garden City East, infielder. A right-handed batter who hit at a .319 clip with 24 RBIs, Krol stole six bases in six attempts this season. A steady defensive influence, East mentor Billy Joe Young called Krol "a superb fielder with an exceptional arm."

Second Team

BILL PARSON, Plymouth Canton, pitcher. An all-league and all O&E selection the past three and two years respectively, Parson struck out 84 in working for an 8-2 mound record. The senior right-hander won 27 games during his tenure at Canton.

"He has fine control and a good breaking ball," said Crissey. "He's an excellent college prospect."

BOB HUDSON, Garden City East, pitcher. The tall, hard-throwing lefthander whiffed 80 during his 52 innings of work on the hill for the Panthers. He compiled an 8-2 record with a 1.34 ERA.

East's team leader, according to Young, Hudson hit .303 with two homers, five triples, four doubles and 22 RBIs.

JERRY POLLARD, Livonia Franklin, catcher. Pollard, one of the Patriots' anchors, cracked out a .392 average and pilfered 15 bases.

A co-captain, he was named to the all-Northwest Suburban League baseball squad this year for the second time. Pollard also received all-league football honors and shows a 3.25 grade point average.

MIKE ROBBINS, Livonia Bentley, first baseman. Moved from the outfield in pre-season practice, Robbins adjusted to the change in fine fashion.

Captain and most valuable player of the Bulldogs, Robbins hit .351 with 18 RBIs. A three-year varsity performer named to the all-Sub Eight team, Robbins was described by his coach, Marty Klozik, as "an all-around ball player."

CHARLIE JOHNSON, Plymouth Salem, outfielder. A home run, seven triples and seven doubles were among Johnson's 24 hits this season. The senior clean-up hitter for the Rocks had a .762 slugging percentage.

Named to the all-Suburban Eight squad, Johnson's "excellent speed and arm" were cited by Salem coach Brian Gilles in making the nomination.

DAVE NOONAN, Garden City West, outfielder. He slapped 36 hits to compile an average of .468. Noonan, a senior, knocked in 14 runs, scored 27 and stole 14 bases.

He was an all-Tri-River League pick and co-winner of West's most valuable award in baseball. "He has a strong arm and good speed," said coach Bob Dropp.

DENNIS SLATER, Livonia Churchill, outfielder. A two-year starter and two-year all-league choice, Slater's trademark was versatility.

He caught the last eight games of the season due to injuries to the Chargers' regular backstop. The senior hit for a .354 mark and counted 11 RBIs.

DAVE PIERCE, Plymouth Salem, infielder. He paced the Rocks in four offensive categories. Pierce scored 21 of the 39 times he was on base via hits and walks.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

It was bound to happen. With the coming of the summer season, many of the area's bowlers turned to golf. Some of the manufacturing plants even sponsored golf leagues. Now they are getting together a combined bowling and golf tournament.

The unusual affair is slated next month at North Lanes and it will mark another first for the Detroit area. No other city ever has matched the area for unusual events in the ancient ten pin sport.

Under the plan now taking shape, the field will play a round of golf in a pro-am event in the morning with the winners being decided on a point basis. They will follow this by bowling three games in tournament fashion—again for points. It is novel to say the least.

WHEN BETTY MORRIS, the pro bowler who is wellknown throughout the metropolitan district, rolled two perfect games in a single day last week in the open championship conducted by the Bowling Proprietors Association, she stirred up debates over perfect games and if ever anyone else had bowled a pair in a day.

Eddie Lubanski, once the top star in the Detroit top leagues, not only bowled two 300's in a single day, but bowled them back to back on television.

It happened more than a decade ago during a special exhibition staged in Florida.

ALL RECORDS FOR MEMBERSHIP were broken by the Michigan Youth Bowling Association this season when the rolls passed the 37,000 mark.

Ethel Heenan, who has been the director since the inception of the group, announced that the number is 37,160 and still growing as the new year doesn't start until Aug. 1.

at Bel-Aire Lanes, Debbie Pott turned in one of the most unusual series of the year.

She started with a 200, then dropped to 127 and came right back with a 227 for a 563.

In the Kings and Queens circuit, Allen Manning was the big gun with a 635 series on games of 209, 216 and 210. In the Guys and Dolls circuit, Terry Dietz turned in a consistent performance when he posted games of 193, 211 and 210.

BOBBIE KNOX isn't wasting any time making her presence felt in the Singlettes League at Westland Bowl.

As a starter for the summer season, she rolled a 243 and it is apt to withstand all challenges.

IF YOU CHANCED to drop in at Westland Bowl on a Wednesday afternoon and notice a fellow bowling all by himself, you might be surprised to learn that he is Dr. Ernest Reinsh. For years he has been an ardent follower of the game and had his own team in several leagues.

He claims that bowling is one of the best means of relaxing he has come across, especially while waiting to get returns from the sale of his book on best ways to lose weight.

THE BOWLERS at Garden Lanes have a treat in store for them for the coming season.

An entire set of new pinsetting machines is being installed and they'll be ready for the 'shake down' run in a few weeks.

BOWLING IN THE WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Borgess girls capture crown

Bishop Borgess, led by Mary Kay Itynre, defeated Livonia Franklin in the final game of the districts last week in the girls' softball state tournament, 11-1.

Borgess had an easy time in the opener, as it routed Redford Thurston by an identical 11-1 score.

In the other game played, Franklin reached the finals by nipping Livonia Stevenson in a 10 inning game, 9-5.

Franklin was led in the first game by Karen Dzikowski, who collected a home run, triple, double for three RBIs.

Franklin, which ended up with a 13-7 record, had three girls who batted over .400 this season. The three were Patty Brzys, .462; Cheryl Eyerman, .455; and Kim Rochon, .415.

For Bishop Borgess, the two wins send the girls' softball team into the regionals next Saturday.

Be part of the Pride.

In the wild, there's nothing more dangerous than a pride of hungry lions.

And now—prowling the turf at Pontiac Stadium—there's a different breed of lion pride.

In spite of an unprecedented rash of injuries, the '75 Detroit Lions were a force to be feared throughout the N.F.L. In '76, with their wounds healed and the added strength of a superb crop of rookies, the Lion "pride" is looking forward to its best season in years.

You can be a part of it all.

DETROIT LIONS, INC. P.O. BOX 4200, PONTIAC, MI 48057

There are still plenty of season tickets left in beautiful Pontiac Stadium. To get yours, just call the Lions' ticket office at 335-4151, or go to the Lions' office at the Opdyke end of Pontiac Stadium weekdays 9-5.

The Lions are out to prove something this year. But to do it, they'll have to stop such teams as the Vikings, Bills, Rams, Packers and Bears. Your support can help make it happen. Get your season tickets today. It's your chance to be part of the Pride.

"COUNTRY COOKER" OUTDOOR SMOKER DEMONSTRATION
Come in and talk to our "Country Cooker" expert. Sample some of the mouth-watering smoked food prepared by the factory representative.

1. As a Pit Smoker. Place high-quality hardwood charcoal briquets in lower pan, light. Put chunks of aromatic hardwood (mesquite, apple, pecan, cherry, etc.) on coals. Add water or desired liquids to water pan directly beneath grill. Place seasoned meat on grill and cover. Do not open during the cooking process. Consult cooking chart for proper timing amounts of water, briquets and wood chunks.

2. As a Charcoal Grill. Remove water pan. Adjust charcoal pan to notch on legs immediately beneath water pan level. To broil steak, hamburgers, chicken, etc., place briquets in charcoal pan and grill meat after coals are well started. For tangy smoked flavor, add wood chunks and cover with lid.

GOOD YEAR GOOD YEAR GOOD YEAR GOOD YEAR GOOD YEAR GOOD YEAR

At Wolverine Harness Raceway

Grand Circuit Week to open

Grand Circuit Week starts Saturday night as Wolverine Harness Raceway, but not before Detroit area harness fans are welcomed to Good Old Times Night Friday. Post time is 8 p.m., with gates open at 6 p.m.

Prices will be rolled back to those days of old, with hot dogs selling for a dime and pop, ice cream, and popcorn all going for a nickel. Grandstand admission tomorrow night is only 50 cents, and children under 12 accompanied by an adult will be admitted free.

Every year, the sport of harness racing puts its most talented horses on display for fans across the country in an extravaganza called Grand Circuit. Wolverine Raceway is the initial stop for the top racehorses this year. After Wolverine, the star performers will race at 20 different racetracks from coast to coast.

Starting off the big week is the $49,171 Matron Stake for three-year-old pacers. Ambro Ranger, 1975 two-year-old champion, will be a strong favorite to win, but he apparently hasn't scared off any competition, as race secretary Bill Connors is expecting a full field for the race.

Ambro Ranger, a Canadian-bred animal, was elected the 1975 Canadian Horse of the Year, a rarity for a two-year-old. He won 14 of 21 starts and more than $100,000 in purse money. Off his record, he has been rated the number one pacer for this year in the United States Trotting Association experimental ratings.

Stanley Dancer, one of harness racing's premier trainer-drivers, has sent a stable of 10 horses to Wolverine for the Grand Circuit. Dancer, 47, is in his 30th year of driving and boasts more than 3,100 career wins and more than $18 million in purse money.

Dancer's "big horse" is Nevele Thunder, a three-year-old trotting colt, who is the winter book favorite to win the 1976 Hambletonian classic at DuQuoin.

Nevele Thunder, a son of Nevele Pride, who was Dancer's greatest horse, will race Thursday night in the $44,000 race for his division.

The Livonia track has never been faster, and the Grand Circuit stars should expect to better lifetime marks. Through last Monday night, a total of 70 two-minute miles have been clocked as Wolverine moves toward the all-time record of 102 for a race meeting set by Hollywood Park in 1974.

Although he never came close to being a Grand Circuit horse, Sickles First, a seven-year-old gelding who is owned in part by six different people, is appreciated for what he is... an honest racehorse who keeps winning and earning checks.

Two of Sickles First's owners, Bob Rybka and Darryl Meitz, are Livonia residents. The gelding is trained by 23-year-old horseman Rocky Bertera of Southgate.

When Sickles First won for the third time this meet June 3, a total of 32 people (owners and friends) were in the winners' circle picture with the horse.

Tomorrow night's $11,000 Old Times Invitational Trot unveils Savor, the 1975 Harness Horse of the Year. Savor is an eight-year-old trotter who is the richest U.S.-owned trotter of all time, with career earnings of $1,064,566 through 1975.

Facing Savor will be Meadow Bright, 1975 three-year-old filly trotter of the year and winner of last Friday night's Valley Forge Invitational. Noble Rogue and Hobo Colby are also entered.

Spartans rally to claim district

The Bishop Borgess baseball team last weekend claimed its district title with 7-6 victories over both Detroit Mumford and Detroit Catholic Central.

In the opening game, Borgess came from a 6-5 deficit in the last inning to defeat Mumford.

Mumford opened the scoring with a run in the top on the first, one in the second and three in the third to take a five-run lead.

The Borgess team exploded for four runs in the bottom of the third when Vince Dieroff, Tom Quay, Gary Glandon and Garry Mulka singled for one run. Then John Wedesky doubled home three more, to cut the deficit to one run at 5-4.

Mumford scored its final run of the game in the fifth inning to grab a two-run lead, but Borgess battled back in the bottom of the sixth with one run on a triple by Chris Priebe and a single by Craig Miller.

The Borgess team came within one out of bowing out of the state tournament when they had two men out and a man on first. Mulka and Wedesky singled and Priebe hit his second triple of the game to knock in two runs and give Borgess the victory.

Winning pitcher for Borgess was Dale Paige who worked the entire game, giving up eight hits and striking out 10 Mumford batters.

In the finale, the Spartans held off a seventh-inning rally to defeat Catholic Central.

Again it was Dale Paige who was the pitching hero as he picked up the save in relief of winning pitcher Dave Priebe.

CC opened the scoring in the first inning when they touched Priebe for two runs. But Borgess scored three times in the third when Mark Monteiro was safe on an error, Tim Hickey was hit by a pitch, and Dieroff sacrificed and was safe on an error, allowing a run to score. Quay hit a sacrifice fly for another run, with the final run scoring on a CC error.

CC rallied for three runs in the final inning before Paige came in to put out the fire.

Canton softball results, standings

In the Canton Township Slow Pitch Softball League, Clark Block and Little Caesars remained the only undefeated teams in the B Division this week as both teams won convincingly over their opponents.

Clark Block took care of Good's Nursery 26-10 as Doug Reynolds pounded out four hits, including three doubles and a triple to pace the 27 hit attack.

The game was put away early as Clark scored 14 runs in the first two innings and let the substitutes take over from there.

Little Caesars defeated Dearborn Fabricating 10-2, winning eight runs in the first inning to leave no doubt they are one of the teams to beat this year.

In the first inning Rhondo Williams, in his first at bat in two weeks because of a leg injury, pounded a three-run homer into the trees to give Little Caesar's all they needed for the night. Jim Raimier also contributed three safeties, including a triple.

In other "B" action, shortened because of Memorial Day and the Plymouth-Canton tournament, Star Furniture defeated Kmart, 14-7, and Good's Nursery, 22-9; Strock beat Deer Creek, 13-8, and Deer Creek came back to shut out Kmart, 11-0, for its first win of the year behind the four-hit pitching of Dave Stironck.

In the A Division, McMurray remained the only undefeated team as it beat Plymouth Construction, 14-6, with a 17-hit attack.

Marty Blivens, Bill Harrigan and Mike Dudley all contributed three hits apiece and Bernie Jackson belted another long home run, which has been a common occurrence this year.

Massey stayed on McMurray's heels as it defeated Latin Quarter, 16-5, scoring 11 runs in the first inning.

Mike Handlon led the 22-hit attack with two singles, and two doubles and four RBIs.

Smith Realty blasted winless Perlongo, 18-1, as Jim Barnes connected for three hits including two home runs. Pete Styles also had three hits with one home run.

In the Women's League, the week ended with three teams tied in first place as Moeller lost to Mobil Lounge, 8-7, and Meijers whipped winless College Park, 26-9.

Mobil Lounge scored the winning run in the seventh inning as Dianne Merritt and Kathy Hibler singled, and Rita Spaulding hit a sacrifice fly to score Dianne.

Meijers had no trouble with College Park in the second game, knowing they could get a share of first place with a win.

Meijers used everyone on their bench and still belted out 21 hits against the hapless College Park team, which has yet to get untracked this year.

This week sees five full nights of action in the Canton Slow Pitch Softball League at the Canton Center and Cherry Hill fields.

Netmen wrap up campaign

Plymouth Canton's tennis squad, 2-11 in dual meets and fifth-place finishers in the Western-6 standings, wrapped up its disappointing season on a sour note in the league meet on Wednesday, failing to produce any league winners.

Seeded number one in the singles category, Canton's talented Steve Prueter cruised through his first round match and eliminated Northville's Gary McFadden, 6-3, 7-5, before encountering semi-final defeat at the hands of Livonia Churchill's Fred Bayoff, 6-1, 2-6, 3-6.

Steve Pasley was Canton's only other racketman to relish league tournament victory.

Pasley demolished Curt Vogler of Walled Lake Western, 6-0, 6-0 and promptly lost in the second round to Farmington Harrison's Dan Green, 2-6, 3-6.

The Chiefs' John Herron managed victory in only three games while failing to Rudy Horst of Northville, 1-6, 2-6.

Stuart Sobczynski was shutout in the initial round by Churchill's Dan Clark, 0-6, 0-6.

The doubles team of Doug Hetu and Dan

Schmidt faltered in first round action against the tournament's first-seeded duo from Northville, 0-6, 0-6.

Canton's Paul Ardnowski and Tim Wise enjoyed only minimal success in losing to another Northville combination, 3-6, 1-6.

The third Canton team of Don Perchard and Matt Norris also faced immediate elimination, 2-6, 3-6.

An early favorite for next Tuesday's $31,000 Grand Circuit 2-year-old pace at Wolverine is the smartly bred colt Spiked Time, shown with his trainer-driver Archie McNeil. Owned by Ohioan Lou Gergis, who bought him for $16,500 as a yearling, Spiked Time is called "the best horse I've ever had anything to do with" by McNeil.

3 named all league

The Western Six Conference has announced its all-conference baseball team as selected by the league coaches. There is a first team and an honorable mention squad made up of two pitchers, two catchers, three infielders, four outfielders, a first baseman and two designated hitters.

First team pitchers are Bill Parson of Plymouth Canton and Bill Bardwell of Livonia Churchill. Catchers are Tom Close of Canton and Paul Rogind of Farmington Harrison, with Steve Morman of Canton getting the nod at first base.

Infielders are second baseman Ron Griffin of Churchill, Tim McKay of Waterford Mott and shortstop Chris Kallgren of Harrison. Outfielders are Jim Niemi and Nick Hemp of Northville, Bill Slater of Churchill and Lou Soma of Walled Lake Western.

Designated hitters are Bill Piccolo of Northville and Craig Fuller of Mott.

Honorable mention picks were given to Canton's Dave Pink at third base, Steve Dugan in rightfield, Scott Collins at shortstop and Mark Perkins as a pitcher.

Churchill placed Jeff LaJoie as a catcher and B.J. La Joie at shortstop.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT
COUNTIES OF WAYNE AND WASHTENAW
STATE OF MICHIGAN

TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES (GENERAL OBLIGATION)

SEALED BIDS for the purchase of the above Tax Anticipation Notes will be received by the undersigned at Plymouth Canton High School Building, 8415 Canton Center Road, Plymouth, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Daylight Time on the 28th day of June, 1976, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

NOTE DETAILS: INTEREST RATE: PAYING AGENT: AND DENOMINATION: The notes will be dated July 1, 1976, will mature April 1, 1977, and will bear interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent (6%) per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes, which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of the School District. Denominations of the notes to be at the option of the purchaser.

PRIOR REDEMPTION: The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

AWARD OF NOTES: For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed on a 360-day year basis by determining, at the rate specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the notes from July 1, 1976, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest dollar interest cost to the School District. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

SECURITY: The loan is in anticipation of the operating portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1976 to June 30, 1977, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1976.

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2% of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Thrun, Maatsch and Nordberg, attorneys of Lansing, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the notes.

DELIVERY OF NOTES: The School District shall furnish notes ready for execution at its expense. Notes will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be designated by the purchaser. The usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the notes, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the notes. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the notes shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

THE RIGHT IS RESERVED TO REJECT ANY OR ALL BIDS.
ENVELOPES containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for School District Notes."

NOTICE TO ELECTORS OF SCHOOLCRAFT COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT

TAKE NOTICE that the Board of Trustees has called a special election to be held at the time of the Annual School Elections in said District on Monday, June 14, 1976, in order to submit the following proposition:

Proposal to Increase Schoolcraft College Tax Levy

Shall the ad valorem property tax which the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft Community College District, Michigan, is authorized to levy for College District purposes be increased from $1.77 per $1,000.00 (1.77 mills per dollar) to an amount not exceeding $2.30 per $1,000.00 (2.30 mills per dollar) of State Equalized Valuation of all taxable property of the College District, commencing with the tax levy in the year 1976 and continuing indefinitely being an increase of $.53 per $1,000.00 (.53 mills per dollar)?

The foregoing authorization shall not apply to taxes imposed for payment of indebtedness, which taxes are not subject to limitation as to rate or amount and may be levied in addition to the foregoing authorization.

Shall the tax authorization proposal be approved:
