3 contracts up for approval

Canton, unions near accord

If all goes as planned, after Tuesday night, three groups of township employees will have their first union contracts.

Township board members will be asked to ratify contracts with the township's DPW workers, firefighters, and building inspectors.

Both the DPW and building inspectors, members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) have approved contract offers made them by the township. Firefighters were expected to ratify the contract offer from the township Sunday in a special meeting.

The possible contract accord comes after almost two years of bargaining between the employee groups, and the township administration and finally a professional negotiator hired by the township board.

At press time Friday, Dave Hamilton, spokesmen for the firefighters, said some work remained to be done on the contract.

He said a final meeting to work out differences had been set for Saturday. "There's still some language that remains to be ironed out," the union spokesman said. "Some of the differences involve economics, but we're real close to settlement. We hope to wrap it up Saturday."

Hamilton said since the arrival of the negotiator Edward Ott, talks had progressed smoothly, although "slowly and tediously." But he said the negotiators had encountered no serious roadblocks.

"SOME OF the things we have to work out are major and some are minor, but we hope to be able to call a special meeting Sunday to vote on the contract.

"This is our first union contract and we don't want to make any mistakes. We don't want to agree on something we end up fighting as we go along. We don't want to be sorry later, so we're looking for the best language in the contract we can get."

Hamilton said if the problems were worked out Saturday he foresaw no problem with the ratification by his bargaining unit.

Two-thirds of the 21 firemen are needed to approve the contract.

The building inspectors approved the contract offered them earlier this month by a 7-0 vote. Meeting with the aid of a state mediator July 2, the inspectors voted afterwards to accept the offer.

"It wasn't what we had anticipated," said union spokesman Don Tillman, "but we thought it was fair. It's not what we originally hoped for, but after we listened to the mediator we decided to go ahead with the vote."

Tillman said the entire problem with the contract revolved around economics.

"We're pretty happy just to get it settled," explained Tillman. "We had a lot of catching up to do and the mediator explained to us that we couldn't really expect to do it in one contract. He said we couldn't do it all at one time, that we'll just have to keep trying with each new contract."

THE INSPECTORS had been bargaining for one year, while the firefighters and the DPW workers have been negotiating for about two years.

DPW employees ratified a contract offer almost a month ago. That contract has the same language as the building inspectors and differs only the wage proposals.

In the future, both the DPW and the building inspectors wil bargain in the same unit.

"We settled the money situation pretty well," said Bob Farrell, spokesman for the DPW employees. "We got the benefits straightened out and we got the retroactive stuff taken care of—that was a big stumbling block."

According to Farrell and Tillman both groups will get "bonuses" instead of hourly retroactive pay.

"We got what we figured we get," said Farrell. "We asked for more, but we got what we expected—we just hope they don't prolong this any longer by putting off the ratification," Farrell said.

Township Clerk John Flodin said the reason for the prolonged negotiating was that it was a first contract for all three groups. "We were told it was very important that we be careful on the first contract. Each side guards against things that are difficult to live with in the future.

"Basically this contract will set the ground rules for the future and we hope contract talks in the future will be much easier."

Flodin added that Ott had been instrumental in the bargaining process. "The work of a professional was extremely helpful," he said.

Greenstein blasts Akhtar, Stein over police services

By RICHARD GOLD

Supervisor Robert Greenstein came out firing Friday, calling Jim Akhtar, president of the Wayne County Sheriff's Local 502, an "old fashioned, outdated union boss" and charging Democratic challenger Harold Stein with selling out the township to win the Aug. 3 primary election.

The attack against Akhtar and Stein came in the wake of an article that appeared in the July 5 edition of the Canton Observer & Eccentric in which Akhtar blasted the township's reserve police program.

The union chief called the reserves "a bunch of unsupervised vigilantes."

Akhtar also said he was endorsing Stein and his two running mates, Gene Daley, candidate for trustee, and Anne Bradley, candidate for treasurer.

Daley, a lieutenant in the Sheriff's department, is a charter member of the local Akhtar heads.

Although Akhtar held firm on his statements about the reserves, he admitted part of the decision to endorse Stein's slate of candidates was based on the candidate's promise to contract with the sheriff in the event the State Supreme Court finds that the sheriff is not obligated to patrol Canton.

CANTON AND six other out-county townships are currently involved in an appeal of a suit that asks that the county be forced to provide, at its own cost, police protection to the townships—a suit the townships lost at both the circuit and appeals court levels.

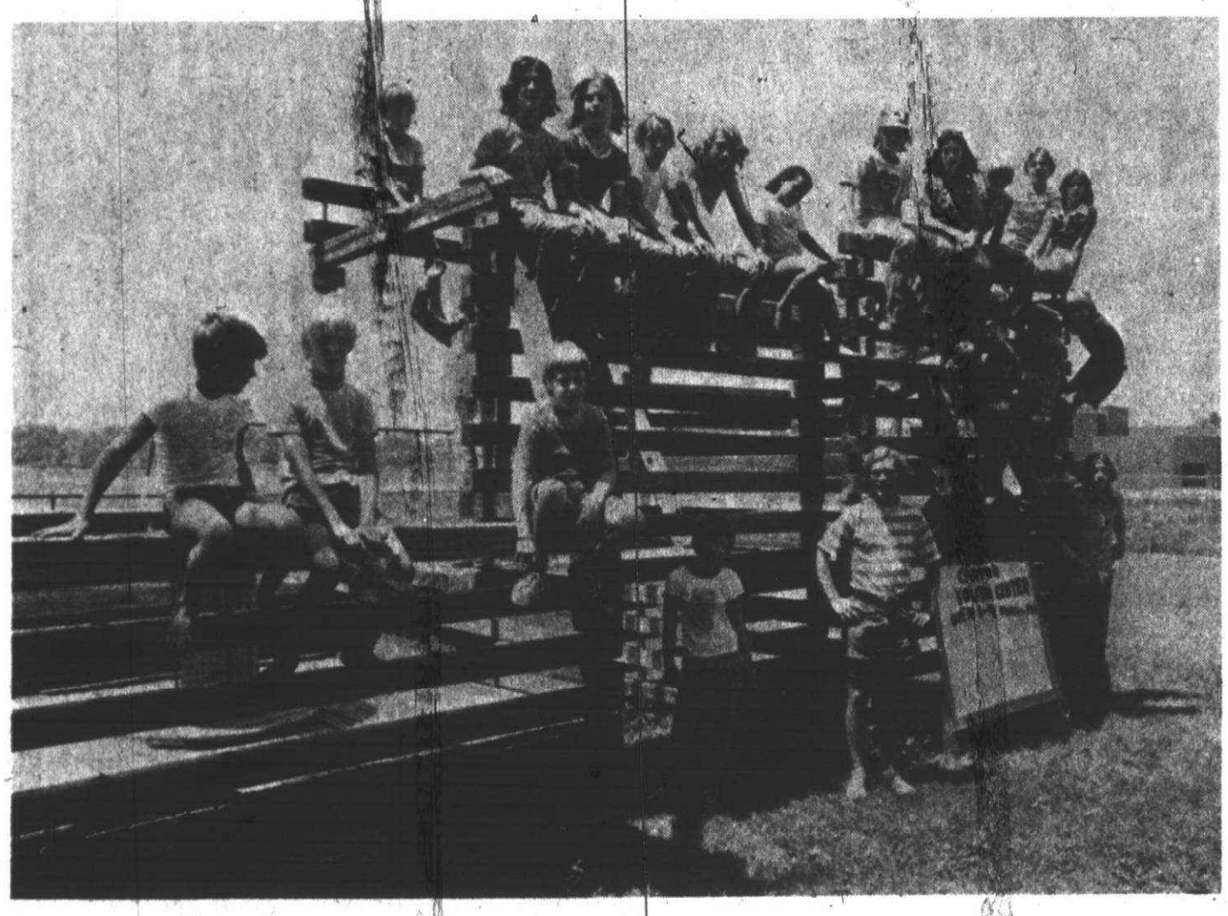

Akhtar said he had a meeting with Stein, Bradley and Daley, at Daley's request, and it was at that time that Stein told him he would definitely contract with the sheriff if the appeal was lost.

Greenstein has remained noncomittal about contracting with the sheriff.

Akhtar said many other factors entered into the endorsement including the fact that Bradley's husband George was a former union official in an affiliated local, and that Daley was a charter member of his local.

He added, "It was as much an anti-Greenstein statement as a pro-Stein endorsement. There isn't a cop in this depart-

Since Growth Works opened June 28, Truesdell School has been the site of a lot of activity for township youngsters. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Kids find Truesdell fills bill

The battering noise of balls on a felt-covered pool table blended with the beat of rock 'n roll and the high-pitched sound of ping pong balls.

Out back in the play area, kids clamored over swings and monkey bars, while two girls inside pounded out a duet on an old piano's keys. Others pulled the levers of a pinball machine or playfully chattered in the hot noonday sun.

"We come here every day," 11-year-old Jaci McKenzie said of Growth Works' new recreational program in Canton's Truesdell School. "Sometimes we play the piano, sometimes we make posters or do handstands and cartwheels.

"We come here, because it's a lot of fun. And besides," she added somewhat gingerly, "there's really nothing else to do."

Growth Works' pilot Truesdell program, now beginning it's third week, was implemented to give Canton youngsters "something to do."

Although about 10 per cent of the kids who use Growth Works' Youth Center and Our House facilities in the City of Plymouth live in Canton Township, Growth Works' staff members felt a recreational facility in Canton was needed to serve Canton youth.

A study, conducted last fall by members of Growth Works' Community Intervention Project, reinforced staffers' feelings and pointed to the need for a recreational facility in Canton.

"WE KNEW there were people out here who couldn't get to our facilities in Plymouth," explained Dale Yagiela, associate director of the Community Intervention Project. "This (the program at Truesdell School) is something that's really needed in this area.

"The need, I think, is demonstrated by the number of kids who've showed up."

According to estimates of Michael Spitz, director of the Canton youth center at Truesdell, about 40 to 70 youngsters in the 6- to 17-age bracket have attended the Truesdell program each day since it first began on June 28.

Most of them, Spitz said, live in the Canton Commons apartment complex across the street from Truesdell. Others come from surrounding subdivisions in the Haggerty-Cherry Hill area.

Open Monday through Friday from 1-9 p.m. and financed chiefly with United Community Service funds, the Canton facility offers youths an opportunity to play pool, ping pong and pinball. The kids play volleyball in the play area out back and watch the occasional movies that are shown. They participate in field trips to roller skating rinks, beaches and Camp Dearborn.

Spitz and Yagiela hope to convert one of Truesdell's two rooms into a lounge, where kids can quietly sit and talk. Furniture donations are needed for the conversion.

Friday, a bustle of activity and crowds of chattering kids filled the Canton youth center.

"I COME HERE every day I can," said 10-year-old Sean Hanchett, as he waited his turn for a game of pool. "Before, all I could do was goof around, but here they have all kinds of fun stuff."

Dawn Croteau, 13, and her friend, Lori Rosbury, 12, said they've come to the facility three or four times and have met a lot of people.

"It gives you something to do," Dawn said of the center. "If we didn't come here, we'd probably just get in trouble."

Although the pilot program is scheduled to last just eight weeks, Yagiela hopes to continue the program on an evening basis next fall and some day add more recreational programs to the Canton map.

Third election try tonight

As soon as election of officers is conducted, and a status report given on the current state aid package, the Plymouth Board of Education will take up the matter of budget cuts for the 1976-77 school year.

At least, that is the order of business anticipated on the printed agenda for tonight's meeting which begins at 7:30 in the cafetorium of Plymouth Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road just south of Joy.

AFTER THE MEETING is called to order the first order of business expected is a vote on whether to suspend the bylaws to allow for election of officers by a secret ballot.

Because the suspension of bylaws is included in the agenda as advance written notice, a secret ballot may be taken by majority vote of the trustees.

Superintendent John M. Hoben placed that item on the agenda to avoid the problem which surfaced in the July 1 organization meeting when advance written notice wasn't given and the board voted 5-2 to suspend bylaws for a secret ballot. Because the board's bylaws require a unanimous vote, the election was declared improper and is scheduled to be held again tonight.

E.J. McClendon, who made the July 1 motion for secret balloting, explained last week that he did so because that had been the practice in the past for the Plymouth Board of Education. The bylaw requiring written advance notice, or a unanimous vote, had been added since last June, McClendon noted.

Those elected to office July 1 were: Joe Gray, president; McClendon, vice-president; Mrs. Flossie Tonda, secretary; and, Dick Arlen, treasurer.

AFTER THE election is completed, the board will handle some routine items such as adoption of the agenda and approval of minutes of previous meetings—such as the July 6 special meeting, which lasted about two minutes before being adjourned because the board was unable to elect officers.

Supt. Hoben then will give a report on the latest state aid bill which has passed both houses and has been sent to the governor for signature. Gov. Milliken is expected to hold onto that bill until the first week in August before signing so he can have a look at all the budget bills.

Hoben expects the current version to remain unchanged except for some line cuts the governor might make for districts with declining enrollment, and some cuts affecting reading support services.

AFTER THAT report, the board then will turn its attention to discussion of budget cuts.

With defeat of the millage in June, the proposed budget for 1976-77 school year must be trimmed by some $2.2 million to be balanced.

If cuts are made now, the board is expected to make those cuts defined in "Budget E"—the list of cuts which would be made in case of defeat of the request for 4.75 mills.

The one area in Budget E where the language was indefinite was for athletics, extra-curricular activities including band, media center and reading support specialists. For this area, the language was that these items "could" be eliminated if the millage was defeated.

The understanding of the board, when the language was adopted, was that some cuts could be made in athletics and extra-curricular activities to come up with funds to avoid cuts in media center and reading support services. Which option will be exercised remains unresolved.

George Lawton has been arguing that no cuts should be made until after the second millage election is held in September, to avoid singling out for cuts football and Miller Elementary. Other trustees have argued against the "delay cuts" position and

Board to determine fire levy Tuesday

On Tuesday evening, following a public hearing from 7-9 p.m., members of the township board are expected to set a 1.5-mill levy for construction and staffing of a second township fire station, to be located at Warren and Haggerty roads.

Following the provisions of PA 33 of 1951, the board established a township-wide special assessment district after an earlier public hearing last month.

Voters approved the special assessment district process for the station May 18—a method that allows the township to set the millage amount annually after a public hearing.

Prior to the election, the township board voted unanimously not to levy more than 1.5 mills, even though recent financial estimates indicate 1.5 mills will not cover anticipated start-up costs this year.

Board members last month said they expected to levy 1.5 mills this year and next, before reducing the amount of the millage.

Early estimates for construction of the station are about $215,000, while staffing and equipping of the station are expected to cost about an equal amount.

Each mill the township levies will raise slightly more than $200,000. If necessary board members said they may borrow from the general fund this year against next year's levy.

Treasurer Carl Parsell said it is possible to do that because many of the costs incurred by the station this year won't be repeated in the future.

At 1.5 mills, this year's expected shortfall would be covered by next year's anticipated surplus, he said.

On Tuesday, the board is also expected to act on a request to hire a consultant to help the township in its applications for federal grants.

Other agenda items include appointments to the citizens advisory council, and approval of a preliminary plat for Windemere Subdivision, proposed for the southeast corner of Warren and Canton Center.

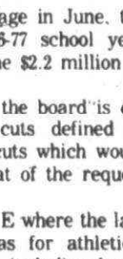

That item was tabled at the board's last meeting following a charge of fraudulent advertising against the Republic Development Co. by Trustee Robert Myers.

Car meets wall

No one was injured last week when the car, driven by Mrs. Carol Sherman of Canton Township, just kept going straight ahead when she pulled away from the drive-in window of First National Bank of Plymouth. Mrs. Sherman said she has no idea how it happened. "I was going about two miles an hour and thought the wall would stop us-but down it came." The wall was at the rear of the Mayflower Meeting House. The Stroller . . .

On The Bird

By W. W. EDGAR

One of the most interesting things you find as you travel along life's highway is the sudden rise of some individual—or some unexpected thrill—to take your mind off the troubles of the day.

The latest example is the Tigers' rookie pitcher, Mark Fidrych, who has made people, not only in the metropolitan area, but in the entire sports world forget the troubles of the day.

You need look no further than his last turn on the mound when he attracted an almost sell-out crowd to watch him conquer the Yankees. And the sight of the entire assemblage, near the hour of midnight, refusing to leave Tiger Stadium until the young pitcher made a return trip to the dugout steps to receive an ovation from the fans was one to be long remembered.

It was something almost unheard of—and the fact that he was not considered for a place on the team during the late days of spring training, makes his performance, and the hold on the fans, all the more stunning.

It so happens that The Stroller spent considerable time during his journalistic career as a denizen of the nation's press boxes and he never has seen the like of it—not even in the days of Denny McClain and the 1968 Tigers.

THE OTHER EVENING when Fidrych was taming the Yankees, no one in the great crowd was giving a thought to the high price of food at the market, the cost of automobile repairs, and the general ascension of living costs.

They had a new hero and they were making the most of it.

It is uncanny when a fellow looks back that even in the darkest days of the depressions some hero or heroes came along to take the peoples minds off their troubles.

Well, The Stroller remembers the time, years ago, when Gertrude Ederle, daughter of a Brooklyn butcher, was attempting to become the first women ever to swim the English Channel.

Folks at up all hours of the night—just twaiting for word of her progress. And when she finally reached the white cliffs of Dover and wrote her name in the pages of history, the nation forgot all about the depression.

On her return, she was given a ticker tape parade up Fifth Avenue in New York that rivaled that given to Gen. "Black Jack" Pershing when he returned from World War 1.

IT WASN'T ALWAYS sports that provided the hero who took the people's minds off their troubles.

In the early days of radio—if you can remember that far back—two fellows who billed themselves as Amos n' Andy captured the fancy of the populace.

They came on the air at 6 p.m., and the world virtually stopped.

Very few telephone calls were made during their half hour. No one was seated in the restaurants. Few people spoke to each other. They were "all ears" until the program ended.

One of the major restaurants in the downtown area went so far as to have radios set up in the main dining rooms. No food was served, but the diners were given the benefit of the program while waiting for their meal.

And it was in the dark days of the depression in the early 30's that Joe Louis, a product of Paradise Valley, started across the pugilistic horizon to capture the nation's fancy.

Joe came in the days before television was at its peak and folks crowded around their radios, eager to catch every word of the announcers. The daily papers rushed 'extras' on the streets and the town went wild.

At that time, Mickey Cochrane, or "Black Mike" as they called him, took charge of the Tigers. With his fighting spirit he rallied the Tigers to their first pennant in 25 years.

Baseball was on everyone's mind. Heroes such as Schoolboy Rowe, and Tommy Bridges became household words. And the depression was forgotten.

NOW, when we are still fighting to come out of a spiraling inflation and many people are upon what they call "hard times" along comes a 21-year-old pitcher, whom very few people knew a year ago, to capture the fancy of the multitudes.

The people now have a new hero, and such things as recessions are forgotten as they pay tribute to him. They'll be talking about him for quite a while.

Amateur green thumbs display gardening skills

You don't have to be a landowner to farm some land in Canton.

Apartment dwellers, businessmen, subdivision residents and housewives are tilling the soil of township garden plots for the third year in a row this summer and eagerly waiting for the tomatos to ripen, the lettuce to sprout and the corn to ripen for pickin'.

"Just look at those green peppers," said one proud subdivison resident, as she irrigated her plot near Lilley and Warren. "They'll sure make our salads taste good."

Her neighbor pulled a two-year-old toddler from the lettuce plant she was "weeding" and pointed to a stately row of beans.

"I never thought I had it in me," she said with a proud smile. "The most gardening I ever did before was transplat a philodendron. I must really be a farmer at heart."

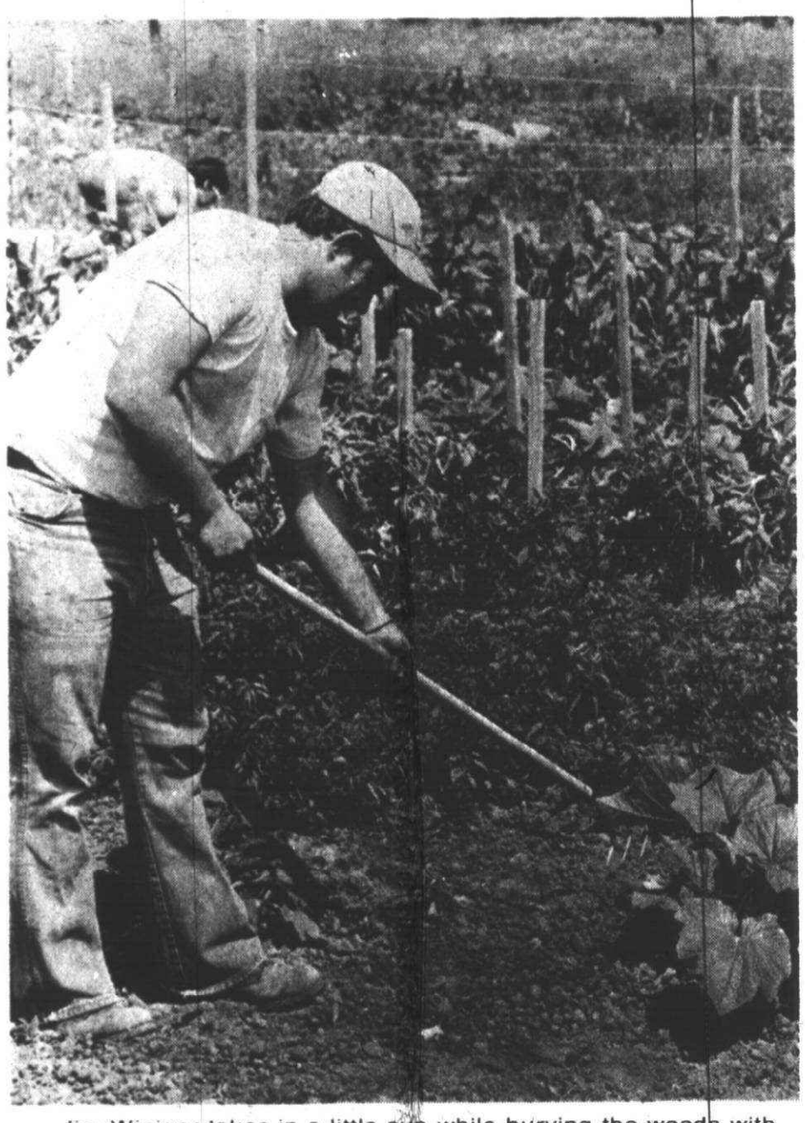

According to estimates of Canton Clerk John Flodin, about 500 Canton families have turned to the farmer's hoe and the approximate 14 acres of township gardening space near the intersection of Lilley and Warren this year.

They've planted everything imaginable from tomatos, carrots and lettuce to squash, broccoli and cantaloupe. Some plots are as neat as the most carefully manicured lawn, while others support weeds between the rows of corn.

But, no matter how much care the amateur farmers have given them, the plots, offered free by the township, will undoubtedly replenish tables with fresh fruits and vegetables this year.

Residents who missed out on this year's gardening program should take heart. The township will undoubtedly offer the program for the fourth year in a row next spring.

Greenstein blasts union boss

ment who doesn't know Greenstein after he tried to make fools of us in front of the township board trying to get us to take away those tape recorders."

Greenstein, however, labeled Stein's willingness to commit the township to a contract with the sheriff without thorough investigation of the matter an "under-the-table private backroom political deal."

Stein said he made the promise to Akhtar, commenting, "It's been my position all along. Starting our own department right now if we lost the lawsuit would be too expensive."

"I CAME OUT with this position when I announced my candidacy and I still believe in it. I checked with Romulus where they attempted to start their own department and found out they couldn't afford it."

Romulus presently is contracting with the sheriff.

"The sheriff has an awful lot to offer," Stein said. "If we contracted with them, we would get all the backup services including 15 detectives at our disposal. These are all facilities we would have to provide."

Stein said a full-time force in Canton was a possibility in the future, but for the present, it was financially unwise.

"I'm looking at the money end of it, and trying to keep costs down for the township."

While Stein declined to say precisely what contracting would cost the township, commenting that he would have those figures at a later date, he did add, "It's substantially lower than what the present administration thinks."

Figures of $400,000 a year have been bandied about by Greenstein.

"I don't think the present administration has gotten into this completely and I think we have some answers that would save a lot of money that they just haven't considered," Stein said.

GREENSTEIN SAID he refused to make a commitment to Akhtar when he and Treasurer Carl Parsell met with the union chief in May.

"He wanted us to promise we'd contract if we lost the suit, and we said we wouldn't."

Akhtar said he did make the request, but added that Greenstein had asked him at that time to help fund the lawsuit.

Akhtar said he declined. He said the union did file as a friend of the court to support the township's cause.

Greenstein said the township has three alternatives if the lawsuit fails at the supreme court level. It can form its own police force, it can contract with the sheriff, or it can form a force with Plymouth Township and possibly Westland.

"I think Akhtar is an old-fashioned, outdated type of union official with tunnel vision. He only sees his desire to make the union bigger and make his job more important.

"I don't give a damn about his empire building, I care about the best interests of Canton."

Greenstein cited Akhtar's earlier remark about the reserves talking to garbage trucks on the DPW radio frequency as an "indication of his prejudice."

Greenstein said contracting with the sheriff would cost at least $420,000 annually.

"The last offer we got was $210,000 per car. That means with two cars and the backup services that go with them we would be paying almost half a million dollars.

"I DON'T understand how Stein can make a commitment that totals almost 50 per cent of the township budget to the sheriff without a study on the issue.

"Our budget is $1.4 million and $400,000 of that will go to the fire department. If you pledge $500,000 to the sheriff, how are you going to run the rest of the township?"

"I just wouldn't make that commitment without an exhaustive study."

Greenstein said he believed the whole issue was moot because he expected the supreme court to rule in favor of the townships.

"I really don't think it's necessary to go any farther at this point in time. But should the misfortune occur that we should loose the lawsuit, we'd have to make a studied decision as to what kind of police department we want. I don't know which of the three options is better until we get more information.

"But I condemn in the strongest possible terms any group of candidates that makes private backroom deals that obligate the township for $500,000."

Greenstein added that if the township should lose the lawsuit, a study performed in Plymouth Township several years ago could be adopted and expanded to cover Canton.

That study, conducted by a committee that included a former state police chief and a former Plymouth police chief, indicated forming a township police in Plymouth Township would be better than contracting with the sheriff if the township could afford it.

Further study by the Plymouth Township board recently confirmed those findings.

Boron offers $1,000 reward

A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered by the Boron Oil Company for anyone offerring information which leads to a conviction of persons who have held up two service stations in the area during the past month.

"A reward of up to $1,000 will be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for burglaries of two Boron service stations on June 3 and July 8," announces Jack Burdette of Boron.

Residents with any information that might be of assistance to police are urged by Burdette to contact the City of Northville or Northville Township police departments. The reward is being offered to local police departments as well as to citizens.

Northville police believe the same persons were involved in both breakin and enterings as the same method of operation was used. In both cases, entry was gained by breaking a window, opening a door, and then taking the stolen goods out the door. The thieves removed premium radial tires, batteries, oil and tools.

"The items taken represent a substantial loss," says Burdette, "especially in the case of the mechanic's tools which are the personal property of the station operators."

The July 8 B&E occurred between 3:45 to 7 a.m. at the Boron station at Six Mile and Haggerty. The tools taken are Snap-On brand and bear the initials "SRH" and "SRHJ." The June 3 B&E was at the Boron station at 8 Mile and Taft in the City of Northville.

Whitman & Barnes move seems assured

By W.W. EDGAR

The long rumored departure of the Whitman & Barnes facilities on Plymouth Road to a new location in Augusta, Ga., was reaffirmed during the past week. But the majority of the employees—members of the UAW, District 1-E—are planning a serious effort to keep the plant here and protect the many long-time employees now on the payroll.

The serious negotiations with the union came to light when the Local charged its members were being treated unfairly. In fact the charge was made that the company was turning its back on those who served it over many years.

In re-affirmming the shift to Georgia, Danfield D. O'Brien, general manager of Whitman & Barnes, confided that some of the employees may be taken south. "But it must be understood that our move is a merger and there may not be many jobs open."

"The decision to close down operations in Plymouth," he said in an official statement, "was made to consolidate similar operations into a more efficient production, distribution and marketing network.

"Despite the economic justification, this was a most difficult decision to make and to announce in view of the long service of many of our employees," he explained.

The consolidation study overwhelmingly concluded the desirability to combine similar manufacturing facilities within the United—Greenfield divisions.

"Why should we have three inventories when one would suffice?" he asked. "The problem is just that simple."

O'BRIEN ADMITTED that negotiations have been going on with the union for some time, but that the company could not come to any decision until the time of the transfer arrives and it is known just what the employees determined.

He also stated that the company was ready to set up plans for employment of those who will be effected—even to the point of setting up an employment office and other employee assistance programs.

On the other side of the negotiations, union officials claim the employees are being treated unfairly and that the company is offering no plan, other than the minimum required by law, for the affected employees.

"There are about 200 employees in the plant," Frank Ruddy, vice-president of Local 157 exlained, "and another 100 among the office workers and supervisory roles.

"We have 85 employees with 30 or more years of service," Lou Winters, chairman of the bargaining unit, added, " and we also have a fellow like Al Gaurych, our oldest member, who has been on the job for 47 years.

"What will be done about them?" he asked.

Thus far, he said the company has done nothing and has overlooked the years of suffering along with the plant when they had to sit around and wait for jobs to come in.

The union contract runs to Nov. 13, 1977. According to the union, the company refuses to pay supplemental insurance.

"Aside from that we have 30 employees who have been laid off for the past nine months and yet the company is still purchasing from our competitors.

To the union officials, as they phrased it, the transfer of activities to Georgia is just a move to get tax-free facilities and cheap labor.

TO THE VARIOUS charges Whitman & Barnes manager O'brien countered:

"We don't intend to fight our labor battles in the newspapers. We will work it out at the bargaining table. We have been meeting for some time and there will be a plan worked out, I am sure, before the final move is made."

Departure of the Whitman & Barnes firm marks the second industry to leave Plymputh Township in the past several months.

The first of these was the closing of Evans Products on Eckles Road. Now Whitman & Barnes will leave a gap on Plymouth Road that may be hard to fill.

Asked what would happen to the building, and if there are any plans, O'Brien stated that the building would be offered for sale and that he feels certain it will catch the fancy of some firm. It was built in 1948 and still is in good condition.

Schools try elections once more

it is doubtful whether Lawton's approach will gain a majority of votes.

One of the pressing budget decisions to be made will be what cuts to implement at Miller as that school is scheduled to begin its next term in the year-round schedule on July 19.

Another controversial decision expected is whether to close Geer Elementary. Parents of children now attending Geer have pledged to pay for the cost of operating Geer until the September election to avoid having students placed in another elementary building and then moved back in case the millage passes the second time around.

AFTER COMPLETING budget discussions, and any action to be taken, the board then is expected to set a date for a millage election in September.

The board presently is considering Sept. 7 and Sept. 13 as dates for the second millage attempt. If Sept. 7 is the choice, the decision must be made before July 23 to meet election deadlines.

The board feels another attempt should be made for the 4.75 mills because the outcome of the first attempt was so close—one vote. If Sept. 7 is selected, the election would on the Tuesday between Labor Day and the beginning of the Plymouth Fall Festival. September 13 would follow the festival and offer an opportunity to take advantage of crowds attending the festival to distribute millage information.

Shoes switch feet on school board

Editor:

This letter is addressed to George Lawton, Tom Yack and Marcia Borowski. My feelings, and I'm sure the majority of the people at the July 6 board meeting, are if you do not intend to support the elected officials and serve on the various committees then resign from the board. The people of Plymouty Community School District do not need childish, immature game playing by our elected board.

I had no idea we had a slate running in the last election, but yet we have had to contend with your block for the last few years. Now that the shoe is on the other foot is it so hard for you to expect what we have had to contend with from you.

Face it, Marda Benson is no longer on the board and the millage went down because of your actions—not Joe Gray's, Flossie Tonda's, Dick Arlen's and E.J. McClendon's. Let's look to the future, not the past, and work together with the new board members.

This is America. Remember "innocent until proven guilty." You three wanted a fair chance to prove yourselves when elected—Gray, Arlen and Mrs. Tonda are entitled to the same rights. Don't forget you will be up for re-election. The results of June 14 should tell the three of you something. You do not ignore and rudely treat the people who elected you and get away with it.

Yack, I wonder how many of the people who voted you in last year would vote for you again after your actions since re-election. Think about it.

Your childish pranks are just delaying serious matters that need to be attended to, especially Miller School. Instead, Ms. Borowski votes for Mickey Mouse. How do you expect the people to vote the millage and entrust you to make serious decisions when the three of you can't even handle a simple election of officers.

If you are lucky Ms. Borowski, maybe Mickey Mouse will be appointed chairman of the board—although the people had no idea they elected him.

MRS. SHARON ZIMMERMAN

An ugly display of 'sour grapes'

Editor:

It is unfortunate that some members of the Plymouth Board of Education lack the confidence in their colleagues that the citizenry seems to possess.

Joe Gray, Dick Arlen and Flossie Tonda all were top vote getters when they were elected to their positions on the board, and E.J. McClendon already has proven his abilities when he served as president a year ago. However, under the pretense of a procedural error, a new election for officers of the board must be held.

The opportunity to correct the "procedural error" and elect the officers came at the July 6 board meeting. Yet, because of one "no" vote, the election could not be held and the meeting was adjourned after only five minutes.

Miller Elementary School starts classes July 19 and the Miller children stand to loose the most with the delays in decision making. Could personal priorities possibly be getting in the way for some board members?

Many parents and teachers concerned about the millage failure and possible cuts were at that meeting to learn of the fate of their schools and jobs, but instead witnessed an ugly display of "sour grapes." What's the matter, George Lawton, do you need more time to dig up that fourth vote?

The people of this community have shown by their votes their dissatisfaction with the way things have been run in the past. We have another millage election coming in September and nothing can be more detrimental than the "shenanigans" we are watching at board meetings.

It is interesting to see how some board members react when the control they held for so long swings a bit the other way. We try to teach our children good sportsmanship and then watch our elected officials who make decisions for educating our children vote for Mickey Mouse and . . . pout.

STATE OF MICHIGAN
MUNICIPAL FINANCE COMMISSION

ADDENDUM TO NOTICE OF SALE

Certain statutory notice of intent procedures with which, in the opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, the issuer has fully complied are required with respect to the above bonds. The constitutionality of a notice of intent law was questioned by the plaintiff in Harter, et al. v. City of Swartz Creek, et al., Michigan Supreme Court No. 58400, on the grounds that the law did not provide an adequate method of giving the notice to known persons. The Trial Court held the law constitutional and the Michigan Appeals Court, after reversing a previous contrary opinion, has held the law to be constitutional. On May 19, 1976, the Michigan Supreme Court denied plaintiff leave to appeal the final Appeals Court Decision. The plaintiff, on June 8, 1976, filed pleadings for rehearing by the Michigan Supreme Court of its May 19, 1976 order and if rehearing is denied, plaintiff could appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court. It, however, is the opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, that if such a rehearing is granted or such an appeal is attempted, the present holding of constitutionality by the Michigan Courts will be sustained. Upon request by the successful purchaser of the above bonds, Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, will furnish an opinion stating the foregoing. The non-litigation certificate for the bonds will except this case.

Yankees rally to keep win streak alive

For the greater part of their Connie Mack League baseball duel with Clarenceville last week, it looked like the Yankees five-game winning streak would come to an end.

Trailing 5-0 with only two innings to play, the Yanks rallied for the tying runs, then scored the winning tally in the ninth inning when Dave Katz slid across the plate on a single by Mickey Grech.

"That was the worst we played all year," said Yankees' manager Jerry DePriest. "All our mistakes came in the first three innings."

Clarenceville counted the first run of the contest in the opening inning. Singles by George Van Dike, Joe Laird and Tim McCammant loaded the bases. Van Dike scored on a squeeze bunt by George Stafford.

Clarenceville erupted for four more runs in the third stanza.

Van Dike and Laird both singled, and the former came home on an error. Stafford drew a walk to again load the bases and Mark Anusbigian responded with a single which knocked in two more runs. Jim McPhail then followed with a single to score Stafford. Clarenceville's fifth run.

The Yankees finally got out of the starting gate in the sixth inning.

Katz walked, stole second and scored on a single by Tom DePriest. After Grech was safe on an error, Jack Land produced a single which enabled DePriest to score.

The Yanks notched the equalizing runs in the pressure-packed bottom of the seventh inning.

John Girgosian started the rally with a single, but was forced at second on a ground ball hit by Jim Kolis. Katz was hit by a pitch and DePriest followed with a long triple into right center field, scoring Kolis and Katz.

Brett Nagy, sent in to run for DePriest, crossed the plate on a perfect suicide squeeze bunt by Grech.

A single and stolen base by Katz and a single by Grech in the ninth inning accounted for the winning run.

Both pitchers went all the way. Lang picked up the victory and McCammant was saddled with the defeat.

YANKEES—OASIS GOLF COURSE

The Yankees, behind the strong arm of pitcher Mike Greis, last week tripped Oasis Golf Course, 2-0, to extend their Connie Mack League baseball winning streak to five games.

Greis allowed only one scratch hit during the contest, a lead-off infield single by Joe Dales in the opening inning Greis, however, undaunted by giving up a hit to the first batter he faced, proceeded to take complete control of the game.

He struck out 11 and permitted not a single walk. He has given up only one earned run during his last 30 innings of work and has hurled two shutouts in succession.

The Yankees scored single runs in the first and sixth innings for their victory margin. Dave Katz doubled and Mickey Grech singled him home in the first frame.

In the sixth, Tom DePriest singled, Brett Nagy, inserted as a pinch runner, stole second, and scored on another RBI-single by Grech.

Oasis pitcher Jim Wizgard also performed well in a losing cause. He gave up only five hits, fanned five and walked none.

MNB—PLYMOUTH ELKS

Even though a single run would have been enough, Michigan National Bank scrounged a few more last week to blank the Plymouth Elks in a Connie Mack baseball encounter, 4-0.

MNB's pitcher Brent Erickson held the Elks without a hit during the confrontation. His control was both good and spotty. Erickson fanned 11 hitters but gave up five walks.

Jim Snyder singled for MNB in the first inning, stole second, went to third on an infield single by Randy Besh and scored on a single by Ron Colone.

MNB notched another run in the third inning when Rob Rose singled, stole second, went to third on a throwing error and came home on a groundout by Besh.

Besh also figured in MNB's two-run outburst in the fifth stanza. Following a walk to Besh, Colone smacked a triple to right center field and scored himself on a single by Jeff Bond.

Bruce Gearish went the distance on the hill for the Elks, giving up eight hits and fanning 10.

PLY. MERCHANTS—SOUTHFIELD

Plymouth Merchants, playing much of the season without three regulars who have been sidelined with injuries, last week won its sixth game in eight Connie Mack League baseball outings by thrashing Southfield, 12-3.

Plymouth pushed across six runs in the second inning and was never threatened the rest of the way.

Ray Smock and Dave Pink, each with bases-loaded singles, accounted for four of those six runs.

Plymouth notched another run in the third inning on a single and stolen base by Doug Bricker and an RBI-single by Pink.

In the fourth frame, after Parson was safe on an error and Smock had walked, Steve Morman sent both home with a double.

Plymouth loaded tha bases in the sixth inning on a single by Pink and walks to Parson and Smock. Jeff Campbell then cleared the sacks with a three-run double.

Morman, who hurled the first six innings, picked up the victory. Mark Perkins pitched the final stanza for Plymouth. Morman's win was his third of the season.

Redford circuit paced by Breen

Weather was kind to area golf leagues last week, allowing daily tee offs to go as scheduled.

At Glenhurst Golf Club, the boys in blue finally got a break from the rain to tee off in Redford Township's Thursday Police and Fire League.

In a close race for the lead, high pointers are Bob Breen with 72.5 points, Harry Teschke, 68 points, and Dennis Cox, 65.5 points.

Jim Barclay stole the scene last week with a 33 to register the low round of the year and qualify for low with handicap, 28.36 net.

In the Women's Idyl Wyld Swingers League, Jan Pulleyblank continues to hold the lead in Flight A with 106 points. In Flight B, Mary LaLoade, of Westland, took the lead with 106 points. Hazel Mudie still leads in Flight C with 108 points.

Low scores were turned in last week by Jan Christner of Livonia in Flight A with a 41, Connie Bollinger, 54, and Joan DiLisi of Livonia, with 70.

Jan Christner had an outstanding round in Flight A, parring four holes.

Low average in the flights are held by Jan Christner in Flight A with a 44, Laura Ridout, of Livonia, in Flight B, 56, and Connie Tatale, also of Livonia, in Flight C with 69.

Shatterproof Glass Corporation Golf League leaders, as of last week, are Steve Emirch Jr. with 136 points, Bill Matterson of Redford, 123 points, and Art Cazabon with 118.5 points.

Phil Myers shot the low of the week on the back nine, registering a 41.

Low handicaps are held by Miron and Myers, both with five.

A grudge match between Cazabon and Emirch will spark play this Thursday, as the two battle for the first place spot. This will be their first match of the season. Cazabon was the leader a few rounds back.

The Ford Motor Assembly League at Idyl Wyld finished its first half this past week. The winning team was Dana Friend and Dan Driscoll with 171 points, 40 points ahead of the pack.

In the last round of the first half, Friend shot a 43 and Driscoll recorded a 44. Both are tied for low average at 44.

On Mondays at Idyl Wyld, the Ford Parts and Service League's 24 men compete on teams and individually for the championship.

Wally Weber and Fred Collins are the leaders, as of last week, with 145.5 points. Close behind are Bob Yax and John Clish with 143 points and Ron Robbins and Dom Paesani with 140 points.

Leaders in the flights are Dave Provine in Flight A with 165 points, Fred Collins in Flight B with 161 points, Frank Kupras in Flight C with 161 points and Joe Michalek in Flight D with 156 points.

Provine turned in the best round last week in Flight A, recording a 33. This is also the best in the league.

Best rounds in the other flights were scored by Collins and Ray Bajer in Flight B with 40's, Kupras in Flight C, 42, and Al Moore in Flight D, 44.

The shot of the day was registered on the 17th hole by John Clish, who eagled the par four.

Bisons take Little League championship

The Bisons, Central-West titlists in the Westland Youth Athletic Association, pounded the Twins, American League winners, 14-0, to capture the city's Major Little League baseball championship.

Steve Radley and Mike Williamson combined on the mound to limit the Twins to two hits. Curt Osterhouts paced the Bisons' offensive attack with a home run.

The Bisons tripped the Colts, Central-East chambions, 9-4 in a championship series semifinal game, while the Twins downed the Braves, National League titlists in the other semifinal contest, 8-4.

MARIE AND NORBERT Battermann will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary tomorrow, July 13. A lucky 13 for the city commissioner and his wife.

Best wishes and congratulations are offered by their family, Tom, Dean and Lynne, and the staff at O&E.

VIRGINIA BAKE of S. Evergreen had two flags stolen from her flagpole after July 4. Both the bicentennial and American flags were high atop the pole when they were taken.

Mrs. Bake got them a year ago and was one of the first persons in town to have a bicentennial flag.

WEEKLY BULLETINS from Michigan State University cooperative extension service usually contain some new menu suggestions.

One of the latest dealt with nectarines and taking advantage of present low prices of these fuzzless relatives of the peach.

Eileen Arnold says, "You don't have to confine your nectarine eating to the summer months if you freeze some now. Slice firm, ripe nectarines and add sugar and lemon juice to taste. Mix, then spoon into freezer bags or jars. Seal and freeze immediately."

She adds, "Tucked inside the skin of every nectarine is two-thirds the adult daily requirement of vitamin A."

According to Mrs. Arnold, picnics may be as simple as hotdogs and hamburgers or as sophistocated as you'd like to make it. If you would like something more elaborate, write for the 24-page booklet containing recipes for cooking fish and shellfish on the grill. Write to Mrs. Arleen Arnold, Marketing Information for Consumers, 2832 E. Grand Boulevard, Room 302, Detroit, 48211, and ask for your free copy of the fish and shellfish booklet.

MEMBERS OF the Canton Township Jaycee Auxiliary would appreciate help in their effort to acquire a dialysis (kidney) machine.

They are collecting Gerber baby food labels for this project and will have a booth at the Canton Jaycee Fair where the labels can be turned in.

Jaycee fair begins the evening of Aug. 4 and runs through Sunday, Aug. 8 at Ford and Lilley roads.

A QUESTION:

Has anyone ever had blooms on their dieffenbachia"

For the uninitiated, dieffenbachia is a houseplant. Presumably, its one attraction is its broad green leaves with creamy stripes. Jackie Troutman of Colony Farms reports that hers is blooming—a tall white spike made up of little seed-like knobs.

Plant store owners voiced their surprise and added "If you find out what it is, let us know, too."

PLYMOUTH JAYCETTES have their new officers for the 1976-77 season.

They are: Tonie Jarmol, president; Sharon Myers, vice-president; Mary Decker, secretary; Jo Ellen Hincker, Judy Bode, Jeanine Ronayne, and Vickie Soper, directors; and Lynette Campbell, chairwoman of the board.

Sue Wozniak, state vice-president will be a guest at their July 13 meeting at 8 p.m. in the Colony Office Plaza.

The Jaycettes will attend a children's game booth during Dearie Days in Old Village, this Friday and Saturday, June 16 and 17.

In exchange for their efforts, the promoters of Dearie Days will make a donation in the Jaycette's name to the Burn Center in Ann Arbor.

Kathy Salla is chairperson of the project.

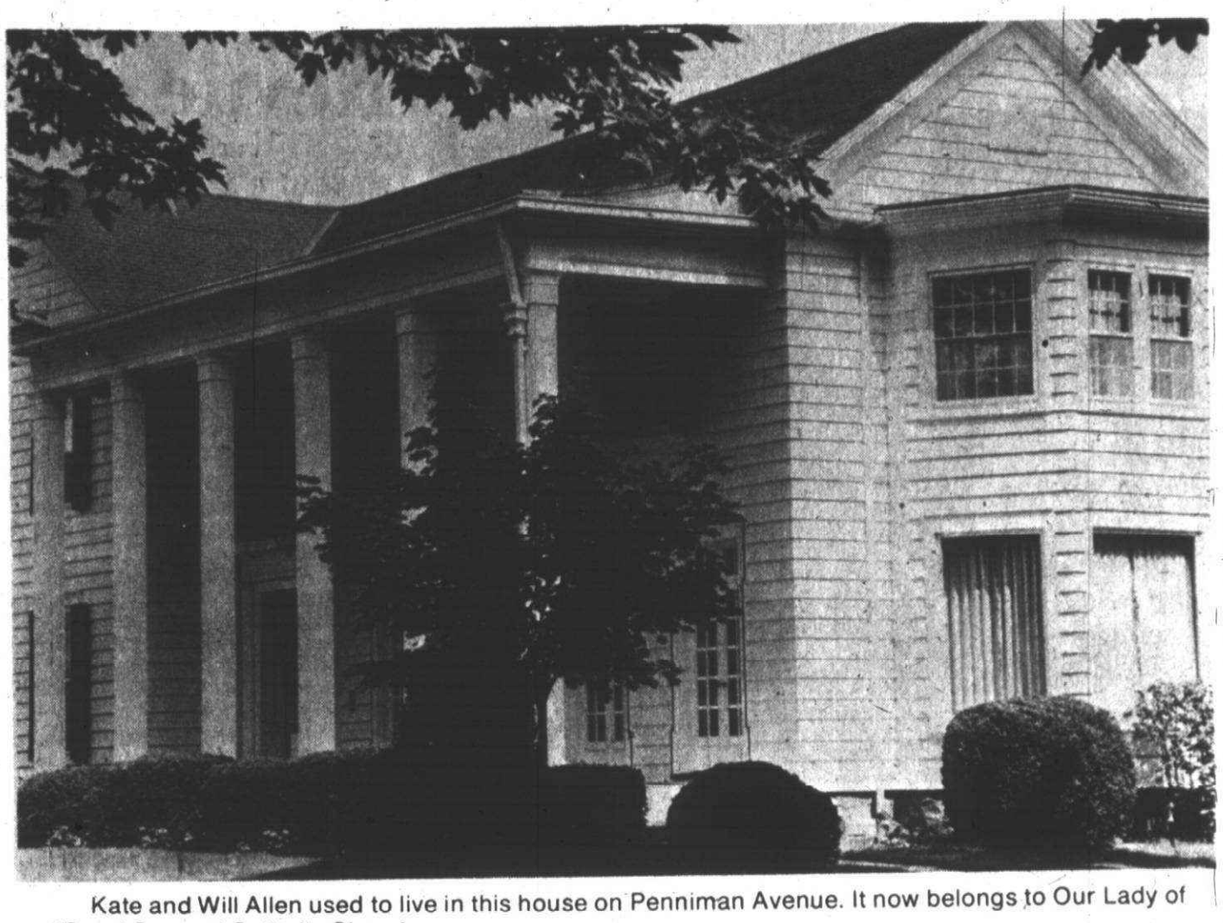

AND WHILE SPEAKING of Jaycees and Jaycettes, congratulations to Karen and Gene Robers on the birth of their first child, Andrew Zackary.

Plymouth LIFE

Monday, July 12, 1976 (P,C) 1B

Kate and Will Allen used to live in this house on Penniman Avenue. It now belongs to Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church.

The little red carriage house now on Maple Street used to be a small barn behind the Allen house.

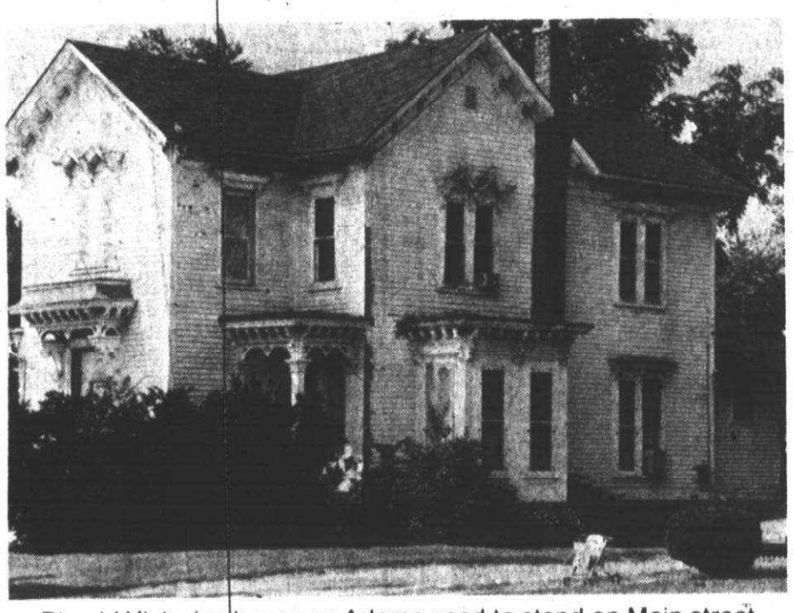

Bike ride becomes historical tour

An after-dinner bike ride on Plymouth Streets can become a historic tour for the family, and a study of architectural styles.

Although the City of Plymouth, Mich. is ignored in most encyclopedia,it is mentioned in a few as "a residential suburban community west of Detroit." The older ones said, "home of the Daisy Air Rifle"—seemingly its one claim to fame ghich no longer exists.

The old Hamilton House has 10 rooms and five bathrooms.

Big old Victorian house on Adams used to stand on Main street where the Dairy Queen is now.

But Plymouth is not a Johnny-come-lately suburb. A trip to Detroit was a two-day journey for its early settlers, the first-of whom arrived in 1824.

The community grew slowly, and with each generation came new houses, the most up-to-date and stylish the families could afford. Except for the original log cabins, examples of each era survive—Greek Revival, Michigan farm house, Victorian Gothic, Cape Cod, Georgian Revival, cottage, bungalow, Italian Villa, and Dutch Colonial. The result is a pleasant mixture with the added interest of prefabs from Sears Roebuck and Aladdin Homes.

THE BIG OLD house on Hamilton, between Ann Arbor Trail and Roe Street is 100 years old. It was built by Clarence Hamilton in the heyday of the Victorian gingerbread era. It had porches on every side and a confection of wooden curlicues.

About 1908, Hamilton's son, Coello, decided it was out-dated and so he had all the fancy woodwork removed from the exterior.

The house has 10 rooms, five bathrooms and two natural fireplaces. It stands across the street from what was the Hamilton Rifle Company. Clarence Hamilton invented the all-metal farm windmill and later, in 1882, the Daisy's all-metal air rifle.

ACROSS ANN ARBOR TRAIL on the corner of Hamilton and Maple, is a brick house, painted white. Built in the 1880s, this Italian villa style usually has a square tower, off center. The building gives the impression of a group of blocks. The eaves, which may project considerably, are supported by brackets. Bay windows and a veranda are features of the Italian Villa.

According to Graham Culotta Architects of Plymouth who prepared an architectural tour of the area for the American Association of University Women, the house at 619 Maple is a bungaloid. A bungaloid is similar in design to the bungalow although it usually has two stories. The one on Maple is a rubble bungaloid.

Rubble refers to the building material. Small boulders are used as surfacing. Another example of rubble may be seen at 219 N. Harvey.

PENNIMAN AVENUE was still Sutton Street when the Victorian gothic houses were built north of main street in the late 1800s. Many of them still stand with their airy porches and gables. Most impressive house on the street was the Allen home which now is owned by Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Kate Penniman Allen, wife of Will Allen, was mistress of the house. She was the daughter of Ebenezer Penniman, one of the founders of the Republican Party. It wasn't until 1910 that petitioners had their way and Sutton Street became Penniman Avenue.

The small barn that stood back of the Allen house was moved to Maple Street. The little red house with its batten board siding still has some of the original barn windows. It nestles close to the ground and adds an interesting splotch of color and styling to the neighborhood.

THERE IS A scattering of Sears Roebuck houses in the city. These prefabricated dwellings could be ordered from the catalogue. Most of them had fancy Spanish names and were built in the late 1920s.

Perfect example of a Sears' house may be seen on the southwest corner of Blunk and Farmer Streets. This was the Alhambra model which featured a roomy living room with natural fireplace, full dining room, kitchen, AND a front and back stairway to the second floor.

When the house was built, and well into the 30's, there was a clear view from Blunk to Sheldon Road.

The William A. Blunk Addition was built up in the late '30s and after World War II. The subdivision was bounded on the north by Farmer Street William on the south, the alley between Harvey and Ann on the east andpart of Pacific, William, Arthur, Irvin and, of course, Blunk perpetuated the names of members of the Blunk family.

The AAUW TOUR prepared by Graham Culotta during the Artrain visit to the city listed other architectural examples which may interest family bikers as they pedal around the city's streets.

Greek Revival—1142 Holbrook, characterized by their simplicity.

Michigan Farmhouse—557 Mill and 627 Burroughs, many varieties, but a porch, often recessed, is usually featured.

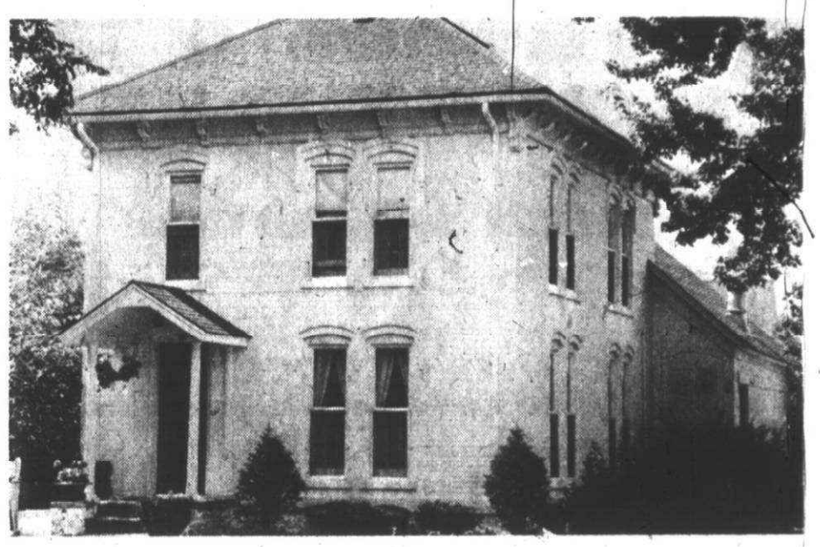

Dutch Colonial—1042 Williams, gambrel roof and usually a center door.

High Victorian Gothic— 128 Union, with gingerbread removed, and 233 Main (built in 1875).

Jacobethan—1299 Ann Arbor Trail.

There are two new England colonial salt boxes on Evergreen, both examples of old Massachusetts homes.

They're all here. A drive around the block can be a lesson in architecture.

Crediteer's quilt is bicentennial gift

The Plymouth Crediteers' bicentennial gift to the Plymouth Historical is a quilt, and there isn't another one just like it in the world.

It's 35 squares, embroidered in red and blue floss, depicts in chronological order, the history of the United States from the days of the Indians to John Glenn's flight into outer space.

The patches are white cloth set apart by red stipes and each block bears the name of the person who embroidered it.

They had seven left over and these were framed and are for sale in the museum gift shop.

MARY KARL said she started looking for ideas for blocks in February. In late March the project was under way. About 20 ladies worked on the quilt.

"We had people quilting who didn't know they could quilt," said one of the women.

"We learned a lot of history, too," Mrs. Karl said. "Did you know the stagecoach came before the covered wagon" That is one thing we discovered."

They wanted the Great Seal of United States included and could not find a picture of one. Finally, they asked Congressman Marvin Esch. He mailed one from Washington and they had it copied—sized to correspond with the other pictures.

Dimensions of the quilt are 95 by 70 inches and it tells the story of America—even the first radio broadcast from WWJ in Detroit and the flag raising at Iwo Jima.

The Great Seal of the United United States is the center square of the Crediteers' quilt.

Revue of '20s-'40s revives hit songs

"All Night Strut" is now playing at the Music Hall Center.

"The All Night Strut," a musical revue produced and performed for nearly a year in Cleveland, continues a four-week summer engagement at Music Hall Center.

The musical features four singers and dancers, Robert Chidsey, Dean Hill, Elaine Psihountas and Laura Robinson, performing hit songs of the '20s, '30s and '40s. Arrangements of songs such as "Brother Can You Spare A Dime," "Tuxedo Junction," "Ain't Misbehavin'" and "In the Mood" are by producer/director Fran Charnas.

The two actresses and two actors appear in the first act dressed casually, with the guys in pin-stripe suits. In the second act they dress up in "tails, long gowns, rhinestones and satin," she said.

The show is all black and white, like the old movies, with touches of red. Every song is choreographed and backed by a three-piece combo of piano, bass and drums.

"'The All Nigh Strut' is one of an increasing number of successful theatrical productions coming out of cities other than New York as the professional entertainment world decentralizes away from its Broadway and California capitals," said David DiChiera, Music Hall artistic director.

The musical will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings, and at 6:30 p.m. Sunday evenings.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Cook of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Vanderveen of Nantucket Road, Plymouth. The Rev. Toby Stadden officiated.

The bride wore an ivory chiffon gown with alencon lace trim and an illusion veil that fell from a matching lace cap.

Sue Dilworth was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Jo Anne Gordon, Ellen Warren and Dawn Stanton.

Assisting the bridegroom were his brother, Bruce, as best man, and Roger Wolcott, Bruce Abbey, Rick Brevik, Tim Bartel and Gary Tokar as ushers.

The couple greeted guests at the Adrian Eagles Club before leaving on a honeymoon trip to Grand Cayman Island.

They will live on the Michigan State University campus while the bridegroom completes his journalism studies at MSU. The new Mrs. Vanderveen is a 1974 Michigan State graduate and teaches elementary school in the Onsted district.

The bride arranged the satin roses, lilies of the valley and blue forget-me-nots in her bridal bouquet as well as the floral baskets and boutonnieres for the wedding party members.

Her dress was chantilly lace with layers of ruffles on the bouffant skirt and cathedral train, and a camelot cap held her fingertip veil.

Pamela Little was honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Marcia Wojtyna, Leona Smolinski, Judy Jims, Robin Yono and Donna Smiatacz.

All wore blue dotted swiss dresses. Maria and Katie Shourich, as junior bridesmaid and flower girl, wore white lace.

After a reception in the Knights of Columbus Daniel Lord Council building in Livonia, the couple left for a Quebec honeymoon.

The new Mrs. Buckley has been employed by the Suburban Medical Clinic in Livonia. Her husband recently earned a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan. He is employed by Chevrolet division of General Motors Corp.

She can help you get that high school diploma

JAN MARTIN

By LORAINE McCLISH

Jan Martin is winding down with last minute duties in Bond Center in Farmington this week and at the same time revving up for a spot in the Farmington Founders Festival.

Ms. Martin is coordinator for Bond Center, a 50-year-old school on Thirteen Mile and Orchard Lake Road, now used for adult education classes, geared for leisure, self-improvement or just for fun; remedial reading sessions and high school completion courses.

Her booth at the festival, however, will zero in on "locating those people who want a high school diploma. That will be our main thrust there," she said.

Students do not need to be residents to attend the high school completion courses. Courses are scheduled for both days and evenings.

THE COORDINATOR works with Don Howell, director of Farmington Adult Education, who both helped celebrate the graduation of 23 students this June, some of whom had 20- and 30-year interruptions of their high school careers.

Ms. Martin feels that a great many of the students at the school have a difficult time coping with the word "drop-out" when so many of them don't fit that stereotype.

"I've found that most of them had very reasonable purposes for not finishing high school. Yet, there is a segment of our society that doesn't want to realize that these people might be their neighbors. On the other hand, you have some who are very supportive of any one wanting to finish their education."

The stigma extends, Ms. Martin said, to where a wife with a very successful husband, for example, might travel "three communities away from where she lives" in order to avoid meeting someone in class she might know in her own community.

The classes range from 30 in number, down to eight, a small number that can be accommodated if necessary.

"The evening sessions of high school completion were expanded to day time classes four years ago when we had a handful doing independent study. Enrollment has risen 100 percent each year since," she said.

Ms. Martin and Howell will man their booths during festival days, July 25-31. Meanwhile, Howell can be reached through the school's central office number, 477-1300.

After that, both of them will be at their desks for registrations on all counts for National Adult Education Week, Aug. 29 to Sept. 4.

BOND SCHOOL took a slow turn into becoming Bond Center, steadily opening up more room for more students. Its latest big move came last September when day time leisure and just-for-fun classes began there.

A few sessions are confirmed now for next fall, and a few new classes will be added to the offerings. The gamut runs from short hand refresher courses to yoga; from drapery making to the care and feeding of house plants.

Feedback from students in the day classes during the 1975-76 seasons and a just-established advisory council will set the classes now being shaped up for the fall.

A large response to the bridge classes "that has turned in to almost a club," Ms. Martin said, will continue with a new format of supervised play.

Something new on the listings will be "Metrics for Moms."

Barbara Wolff will teach "Anyone for Art," a class for novices, or those who think they don't have any creative talent. And Lynn Hayes, active with many local art groups, joins the roster to teach painting with acrylics.

English for the foreign born continues with day sessions, in cooperation with Walled Lake Schools.

Brochures are scheduled to be mailed to all Farmington area homes only, Sept. 1, and all classes begin the week of Sept. 20.

Others who wish a brochure are invited to call Howell.

Former Garden City teacher is top-rated new novelist

By MARYANN DUNITZ GREENSTONE

"Ordinary People" is the first unsolicited novel that Viking Press has published in 27 years. It is a rare occurrence, but rarer still is its vibrant and joyful author, Judith Guest.

A native of Detroit who now lives in Edina, Minn., Ms. Guest graduated from Royal Oak Dondero and the University of Michigan, and taught first grade in Birmingham, Royal Oak and Garden City.

In 1974, as a fledging writer who had always written, but had never taken herself seriously, she participated in a writing course at The Community House in Birmingham and decided to devote herself to her craft.

"I wanted more than teaching. I had to try and take myself serously as a writer. That's the whole thing!" she said.

SHE HAD ALWAYS thought of her writing as a "bad habit" and wouldn't let anyone read her manuscripts. However, once she began to believe in her talents she gained a certain pride in her work and openess to criticism, she explained.

She did not begin to work seriously until four years ago, when her youngest child went to school. She has three boys ranging in ages from 17 to 11 years old, and when they are off to school, she tries to write everyday, utilizing some research (such as the statistics in this novel), but mainly, drawing upon the information she has "automatically absorbed."

John Knowles, Louis Untermeyer, Madeline L'Engle and Mark Vonnegut have all lauded "Ordinary People" as a novel of remarkable power and honesty.

The story of a failed suicide's re-entry into society could be a depressing voyage for the reader, but Ms. Guest's point of view lends compassion, freshness, and most important, hope, to tragic circumstances.

"I am interested in relationships with people. I like to examine experiences and see how they seem different to different people . . . how perspectives vary. You can have 10 people in the same room and they all hear and see different things. I am also interested in families and how they interact," she said.

WHILE "Ordinary People" is not based on an actual event Ms. Guest has discovered that many people identify with the characters, placing their own crises in the drama instead.

"There is drama in ordinary life: death, divorce, conflict; and most people survive. Essentially my vision is a positive one," she said, "I need to feel connected with the people in my book, they must be human characters whom I care about, and while their lives aren't perfect, usually things work out for the best."

Ms. Guest confesses that "Ordinary People" was somewhat of a catharsis through which she learned a great deal about herself.

"The novel is about depression and how you learn to control it," she said, "and everyone has to cope with this at one time or another."

She also said she is currently working on two other novels and is attempting not to have them revolve around a specific crisis.

MUCH IN the vein of her idol, Saul Bellow, she explained "What I'm really interested in is the understuff. A friend and mentor told me that I have all the 'yummy filling' but I need more 'crust.' That's what I'm aiming for. I want to be a great writer, see my flaws and correct them."

Asked her response when she first saw herself in print, Ms. Guest replied 'Wow — I'm a writer!" With "Ordinary People" as an example of her talents, one can certainly see that Judith Guest is a writer we will all come to know.

Judith Guest is the author of "Ordinary People."

Tire safety tips for summer driving

In the hustle and bustle of planning a summer trip in a recreational vehicle, trailer or family car, don't forget to check your tires. Failure to do so could result in a costly accident or delay which may be avoided.

Excessive road heat is a tire's greatest enemy. This is particularly true for small diameter trailer tires which normally rotate up to 80 percent faster than regular tires.

You don't need to be a tire expert to tell what shape your tires are in. First, look for potential trouble spots — cuts, fabric cracks, uneven or excessive wear. Remove nails, small stones or glass embedded in the tread. Have damaged spots repaired if they are deeper than the tread.

Treads worn below 1/16th inch or to the wear bars molded across the tread, should be replaced. Wear depth can be measured with a penny—if the top of Lincoln's head shows when inserted into the tread, the tire needs replacing.

Abnormal Tread Wear

When tires wear rapidly or abnormally, the problem is often faulty or worn shock absorbers, wheel imbalance, improper wheel alignment, faulty or grabbing brakes, or incorrect tire inflation. The most common problems are:

—Underinflation, when most tire contact is on the outer treads, causing the edges to wear faster than the middle.

—Feathering, when the tread ribs actually scrape down the road — common when the tire needs toe-in or toe-out alignment.

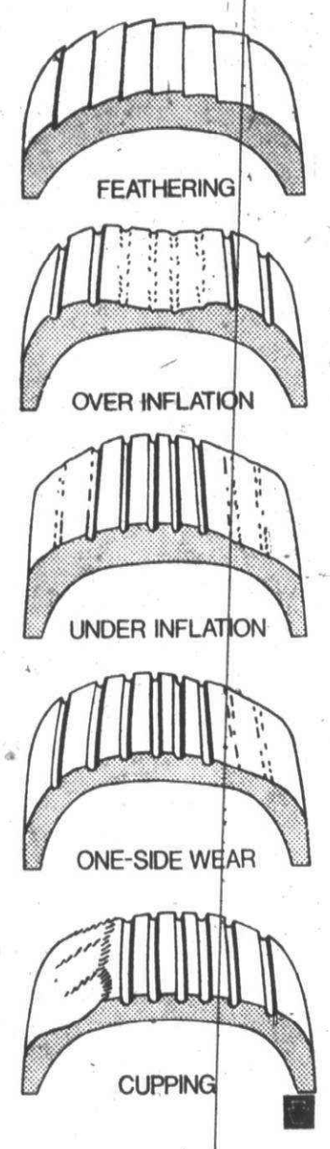

—Cupping, when wheels are out of balance or the shock absorbers and ball joints are worn, causing dips or cups to appear in the tread.

—One sided wear, when either the outer or inner shoulder of the tire wears faster than the rest. This is commonly caused by improper wheel alignment camber, often aggravated by underinflation.

If the tire hasn't worn out completely, chances are that proper mechanical adjustment will stop abnormal wear. But if the tire has been severely damaged, it should be replaced.

Consider a Retread

When replacing a tire, consider a retread. Many quality retreads on the market today offer wear time equal to that of new tires—and at a fraction of the cost.

With improved, automated processes for retreading, flaws that gave early retreads a bad name have been eliminated. In fact, new tire manufacturers are taking note of retreaders successes and in many cases are using identical processes. For example, AMF's Orbitread process, in which new tread rubber is automatically wound splice free onto a retread casing, has been adopted by 10 major new tire manufacturers for the building of new radial tires.

A booklet titled "What you don't know about retreads" is available free from AMF Tire Equipment Division, 3715 Sunflower Avenue, Santa Ana, California.

Few people realize that any tire—new or retread—needs a breaking in period to adjust to the road. As a rule of thumb, hold your speed to less than 45 mph for the first 100 miles or so, until the tire's elements adjust and work as an integral unit.

The Ups and Downs of Proper Inflation

Correct inflation is the most important rule for tire safety and life. Pressure should be checked before a long trip, and periodically along the way. But be sure the tires are cool when checked — the reading will normally increase six pounds or more if the tires are hot from driving. Don't bleed hot tires to bring the pressure down to a normal level.

Inflate tires only to limits recommended in the auto manual. Never inflate beyond those limits in an attempt to compensate for heavy loads, and never underinflate a tire. Underinflation causes excessive heat build-up, uneven tread wear, and if you're towing a trailer, severe trailer sway, fishtailing and loss of control.

Also important are such factors as load weight and distribution. When packing for a trip, don't exceed the vehicle's rated load capacity. Overloading risks premature tire failure through excessive heat build-up.

Equally critical is load distribution. For maximum efficiency and stability, equalize loads side-to-side, fore-to-aft, following the manufacturer's recommendations. Loose items that might shift during transit should be secured.

While surveys show that less than one percent of all highway accidents are directly attributable to tire failure, in more than half these cases the tires were bald and worn to the cords. The Tire Industry Safety Council cautions that bald tires are 50 times more likely to suffer disablement than new or retread tires—a warning prospective vacationers should take to heart.

DOOR TO DOOR SALES

PEDDLERS WERE ONE of the characteristic features of American life during the first half of the 19th century. As adventurous and spirited as the pioneers of that day, the peddlers helped to tame the frontier. On foot or by wagon, they provided the frontier's people with a selection of luxurious, as well as practical articles.

DOOR-TO-DOOR-salespersons are today's counterpart to the early American peddler. However, not all visits turn out happily. We feel you should be aware of your rights as a consumer, in door-to-door sales, as well as in the marketplace. By knowing your rights, you, the consumer, and the salesperson can better work out the sale to your mutual satisfaction.

JUST AS YOU can return a product to us at our stores, did you also know that you have a right to cancel a contract made during a door-to-door sale within three days after signing? If you change your mind about a purchase made in your home, a letter sent to the company within three business days voids the contract. However; if you do cancel--don't use the product--and--it's a good idea to send a certified letter with a return receipt requested.

AS CONSUMERS, keep the following things in mind when considering an in-home purchase.

AM I REALLY interested in the product or service being offered? If not, you are wasting your time, as well as the salesperson's time.

DO I KNOW the salesperson's name and the name and address of the company represented, in case I need to contact them later?

DO I KNOW the comparative price of the product or service in the marketplace?

DO I KNOW the total cost of what I'm buying?--taxes, installation or delivery charges could increase the cost.

DO I HAVE a copy of everything I've signed to keep as records?

ARE ALL THE blank spaces filled in? It is a good idea to check this before signing something.

HAVE I READ over the entire contract--Yes, even the small print--with a clear understanding of what it says?

From the Tender, lovin' meat people
