Teachers can't talk union in class

By EMORY DANIELS

The Plymouth Board of Education Monday night adopted a policy to prevent union propagandizing in the classroom—and teachers quickly voiced concern that their first amendment rights to free speech were being violated.

The disagreement apparently flared up because the policy statement was too broadly worded and open to interpretations far different from the school board's intent.

The misunderstandings weren't clarified that much when the school board voted 5-1 to approve the policy without a clear discussion of the resolution's intent. And so the teachers who came to the meeting with suspicions of First Amendment infringement left with the same doubts.

Realizing a possible hornet's nest had been opened, the administration released a statement of intent Tuesday morning to make it clear the purpose of the policy is to prevent teachers from promoting union activities or positions in the classroom.

IN INTRODUCING the policy for adoption, Trustee Tom Yack said the purpose was to make it clear that the board "expects all teachers to discuss in a manner appropriate to curriculum and that they may not discuss union activities in work areas or in work hours."

Trustee Marcia Borowski said she had received a number of phone calls from teachers and hoped that the wording of the resolution was clear. "This in no way restricts First Amendment guarantees of free speech. What the board wants to make sure is that what's discussed in the classroom is appropriate to curriculum."

That statement, though, failed to relieve concerns of teachers who, after the meeting, said that they feared the board was trying to gag them and violate free speech rights.

Richard Arlen, trustee, objected to the policy because he felt it was unnecessary. "Are the majority of our faculty members using the classroom for union activity? Is that known? Unless there is a real cause, I don't see the need to take people for task for something they are not doing. Why antagonize qualified instructors for the acts of a few?" Arlen voted against the policy. Trustee George Lawton was absent.

AFTER THE MEETING, PEA President Derald McKinley objected that the policy matter wasn't placed on the printed agenda but was handled as an add-on at the beginning of the meeting.

"The board mishandled this one. We weren't given the opportunity to look at the wording of the policy and comment, if we wished to, before its introduction. The board wasn't brave enough to allow us the chance to speak. Instead it was rushed through."

"The wording of that policy was written by the board's special legal consultant on labor matters—the same attorney used by a number of school boards in the area. The only justification the school board gave for adopting the policy was that it was recommended by the attorney. Nobody said anything about teachers actually promoting unions in the classroom—just that the policy was needed because the attorney advised it be adopted."

If there had been a problem of teachers propagandizing in the classroom, added McKinley, the PEA could have been a stop to it. "We don't condone that behavior. If a teacher had been promoting the union to students in the classroom, the administration should have let us know. We could have stopped it."

"But the wording of the resolution suggests that teachers cannot discuss union matters with each other in a school building. If the intent was that teachers couldn't debate union positions in the classroom, that would be fine. But that's not what has been said."

TUESDAY MORNING, a clarification statement was issued by Florence Beier, administrative assistant for community relations.

"The intent of the policy is to remind teachers not to use the classroom as a forum for promoting union activities. We had received a large number of phone calls from parents indicating their children were listening to promotion of union activities in the classroom."

"The policy is not intended to restrict the rights of teachers to use the bulletin board, lounge or other areas of the school building to convey information or views amongst themselves."

The actual policy statement read: "The Plymouth Community School District Board of Education expects all teachers to discuss in a manner appropriate to curriculum. In work hours or in work areas no employee may promote union activities."

The "area" refers to the classroom, adds Mrs. Beier, and the "hours" refers to instructional time between teacher and child.

A statement of clarification was also delivered from Norm Kee, school board chief negotiator, to Ms. Reece about 2 p.m. Tuesday. The statement stressed the intent of the policy isn't to interfere with private or individual rights of teachers but to prevent the classroom from being used as a forum to promote the union.

Civil service invalidated

Canton's civil service procedures are apparently based on an invalid law.

That's the word from township attorney George Ward, who recently appeared before the township's Civil Service Commission to deliver an oral opinion on the ordinance residents thought they approved in 1972.

"It appears that the township board of trustees back in 1972 did not follow proper procedures," Ward said. "Instead of voters passing a specific civil service ordinance, they only voted on an advisory question as to whether or not the township should have a merit system."

While Ward's opinion raises questions about the legality of the township's civil service ordinance, township officials have promised to retain the merit system established by the 1972 vote, not "law," until a new ordinance is adopted.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein says all future employees hired under civil service procedures. Protections against arbitrary disciplinary actions outlined in the 1972 ordinance will still be applicable, he said.

Peter Bundarin, supervisor candidate on the Republican ticket, called Greenstein's statements on civil service a political ploy for employee support. A contract between two parties, such as civil service, Bundarin maintains, is still valid even if the contract is later found defective. Ward agrees with Bundarin's interpretation.

"Everyone hired under civil service still has the protection of civil service," Bundarin said, "regardless of which administration is in office."

Greenstein disagreed with Bundarin's legal opinion and says application of civil service procedures is up to the administration, if the township lacks a valid civil service ordinance.

"We have a good group of employees here," the supervisor said, "and we're going to give them the best treatment. As long as this administration is in office, we shall not change from the present merit system. That goes for present employees and employees hired in the future."

Although township officials have reportedly called Canton's civil service ordinance "a mess," questions on the law's legality were not raised until this month, when Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph B. Sullivan dismissed a lawsuit regarding the township's reserve police.

In dismissing a motion to place all members of the reserve department under civil service, Sullivan noted that the 1972 civil service ballot question referred to the wrong section of the Michigan Constitution.

Ward, charged with further studying the civil service issue, believes the 1972 ballot question was only advisory. Voters, he maintains, did not approve a specific ordinance at all.

The question read: "Shall the Charter Township of Canton establish a merit system for its employees as is authorized by Article XI, section 7 (section 6 is correct) of the Michigan Constitution of 1968?"

Said Greenstein, "The previous board intended this to be a civil ordinance. The ballot question was honestly, but improperly done. We've always operated as if it were legal. This administration is as stunned as the rest of you."

Trustee Robert Myers, a member of the three-person civil service commission, said the now-defunct civil service commissioners have already begun to investigate enactment of a new civil service ordinance and have passed the task along to Ward.

Township residents would have to approve adoption of a new civil service ordinance at the polls.

"Ordinance 40 was a disaster," Greenstein said. "It was an impossible ordinance to manage. Each paragraph contradicted the last, and it was very difficult to discipline or dismiss anyone."

Greenstein said the majority of township employees are unionized and do not need the protections of civil service.

"A decent administration wants a person who can perform, not a relative," he added, referring to civil service's safeguards against nepotism.

Police beef up for Halloween

Predicting a stampede of pranksters on Canton's streets this Saturday and Sunday evening, members of the Canton Reserve Police Department have promised to beef up their patrol of subdivision streets to protect residents and trick-or-treaters.

According to Supervisor Police Chief Robert Greenstein, seven police cars will patrol the township's subdivisions on Saturday evening—Devil's Night—to prevent destructive mischief and vandalism of residents' homes.

"A maximum police effort," including police cars and officers on foot patrol, will insure extra safety of trick-or-treaters this Halloween, Greenstein said.

The police department is requesting all homeowners to turn on their porch lights Halloween night.

Pyramid Homes files bankruptcy

By CRAIG PIECHURA

Pyramid Properties of Southfield, builder of a number of homes in Canton's Tanglewood Subdivision, has recently begun bankruptcy proceedings and has notified buyers of unfinished homes that Beachum and Roser will finish the work, according to Chuck Thompson, Canton's building superintendent.

Pyramid's formal declaration of bankruptcy is no surprise to many people in Tanglewood sub who have received letters from subcontractors during the past few months informing them that a lien had been placed against their home because Pyramid had not paid the subcontractors.

A lien means that a debt must be paid or legal action will follow. A homeowner cannot sell his home until the lien is settled.

Repeated attempts to contact the two owners of Pyramid Properties' owners, Don Alexander and Ron Mack, were unsuccessful. Phone messages were not returned. Bob Bolton, attorney for Pyramid, has also been unavailable for comment.

"They overextended their credit," explains Canton building superintendent Chuck Thompson. "Somebody must have lowered the boom."

Ron Wrobel, of 528 Queensway, Canton has lived in the Tanglewood subdivision for more than six months. He lives in a Pyramid home and says that it wasn't long after he moved in that he received a lien letter. He contacted the company and was told to ignore the letter—that everything would be straightened out.

Wrobel hasn't received any more "lien letters" but his neighbors who were wondering why construction stopped one month ago, received a similar letter.

Thompson says people who are moving into new homes should ask the builder if a lien could be placed on their home "before they move in."

"There's nothing we can do about that," said Thompson. "We have no control over that."

Wrobel did a little investigative work on his own in the neighborhood and asked a construction superintendent why the work had stopped. He says the site superintendent informed him that he was about to be laid off. Wrobel's attempts to contact Mack and Alexander were also fruitless. But about three weeks ago Pyramid confronted Thompson and told him they would be filing for bankruptcy.

Pyramid homeowners with service complaints should consider doing the work themselves, said Thompson, rather than waiting for the new builder to do it.

"One guy called who was having trouble with a leaky seal around his windows," Thompson said. "I told him to go to a hardware store and get some caulking or he'd be in for a wet wait."

Beachum and Roser, the builder who is scheduled to complete Pyramid's unfinished homes, "should give us no problems," said Thompson. "He's a pretty good builder. He's built in Edenbrook and Sunflower subdivisions."

Thompson said he believes the resident's lien problems will be settled when the bankruptcy procedure is finished. Thompson said people with serious repair complaints should continue to mail their complaints to Pyramid Properties at 18877 W. Ten Mile, Southfield. The bankruptcy agreement will reportedly guarantee customer protection.

BY W.W. EDGAR

There is something new in the auto industry that is apt to cause quite a stir before very long. It is a robot salesman.

This mechanical device, the product of a firm in Florida and now displayed on the floor of Lou La Riche's Chevrolet showroom on Plymouth Road, does everything but make deals on the sales of new cars and make out the bill after the purchase.

"We can place it along side any of the floor models," La Riche explained, "and the robot will describe the features of the car in every detail. In fact, it is set up so that it can answer questions. And it should be the best promotion gimmick we have had in a long time."

La Riche chuckles at the very thought of it and the job it might be able to do when he gets it into action.

"I had a call from Florida and was told about the robot that could do a great job for me. I listened closely and wondered until he told me that the robot's name was 'Loveable Louie.' When I heard that I just had to have it."

The working of the robot is very simple. It is hooked up, electrically, and its inner workings contain a recorder which plays cassettes.

"We have a cassette for every model on the floor," La Riche explained, "and it saves our salesmen the trouble of going over and over the sales pitch. Now the salesman can stand aside and let the robot do the work."

La Riche has the only robot in the area and holds a lease for a year. And, according to the early results, it will put an unusual twist on car sales.

"The kids just love it," he confided "and they are the ones who will sell the cars." He cited the example of a father bringing his son back to the show room and before they left the father bought the car.

La Riche was quick to explain that the robot in no way is meant to cut down the sales force. Rather, it is to help them. They can let the robot do the talking—all the salesman will have to do is sign the papers."

Lou didn't say so, but the robot won't fiddle around when no floor sales are in sight. Instead it will play the tapes of favorite music to keep the salesmen from suffering boredom. There'll be no fiddling around.

Absentee flap provokes flyers, counter-flyers

By DARLENE STINSON

Canton's Democratic Supervisor candidate Harold Stein and members of his slate are using a campaign tactic of their own to counter an absentee ballot strategy, admittedly being used by Supervisor Robert Greenstein and his write-in team.

In efforts to discourage pro-Greenstein voters from using the absentee ballot as a convenient write-in voting method, Stein and his teammates recently delivered flyers throughout the township, warning residents against "improper" use of the absentee ballot.

Between the lines of Stein's flyer is a threat of prosecution of residents who use the absentee ballot without a "legal reason."

"Did you know you must have a legal reason to apply for an absentee ballot?" Stein's flyer asks. "If you do not have a legal reason, you may commit a misdemeanor crime by filing an application for an absentee ballot."

"If someone tells you to apply for an absentee ballot just to avoid the lines at the polls on election day, they are encouraging you to violate state election laws," the campaign literature states. "The person who encourages you to violate the law will not be prosecuted, but you can be prosecuted if you sign an absentee ballot application for the wrong reasons."

"The people who are encouraging you to violate the election law are putting you in legal jeopardy! Don't let your vote and your reputation be placed in jeopardy for the benefit of any candidate for any public office!"

The warnings are aimed at the residents who submitted absentee ballot registration forms at the urging of the Committee to Reelect the Greenstein Team. The committee has distributed absentee voter information sheets, which offer the help of trained representatives to aid voters fill in the names of write-in candidates or answer questions about the Greenstein team.

On Tuesday, 800 Canton residents had submitted absentee voter registration forms, including candidates Greenstein, Gerald Cheske and Joyce Willis, according to township Clerk John Flodin, who traces a "couple hundred" requests to the write-in effort.

Stein believes many of those residents have "illegally" requested absentee ballots.

Voters may legally submit applications for absentee ballots if they expect to be absent from the community in which they are registered to vote on election day. They may apply if they are physically unable to attend the polls without assistance or because of their religion, imprisonment, or because of their position as a precinct worker at a poll other than where they must vote.

"The flyer is merely instructional," Stein said. "I'm certainly not trying to frighten anyone. I just don't want our electoral process abused."

"I think it will be interesting how many people will be prosecuted," Stein continued. "I think you'll find people who've done this illegally will be prosecuted by people other than myself."

Greenstein called Stein's flyer "an atrocious, abject threat" and cited the impossibility of convicting a voter for "illegally" submitting an absentee ballot because he "expected" to be out of town.

Joe Martina, Wayne County's director of elections, said it would be "difficult" to prosecute a voter for violating state absentee ballot laws.

"If today, I plan to be out of town on election day, I can ask for an absentee ballot," Martina said. "If on election day, I cancel that trip, I've probably already voted by absentee ballot. It's a very, very difficult thing to prosecute someone for."

Greenstein said that applying for an absentee ballot on the grounds that a voter expects to be out of town "is a mental sort of thing."

Most voters who obtained absentee ballots at the urging of Greenstein's committee said they "expect" to be out of town.

"I'm a pretty good lawyer," Greenstein said. "There's no possible way the court can convict someone who says, 'I expect to be out of town' even if it turns out he is in town on election day."

"All I have to say is that I expect to go to Aunt Tillie's in Ann Arbor election day. The State Legislature has allowed people to vote absentee, because they EXPECT to be out of town. Actually being out of town is no requirement at all."

"That's why he's threatening people."

Eugene Daley, trustee candidate on the Stein slate, has said his group will conduct "spot checks" throughout the township to prevent any potential abuse of the absentee ballot process.

To settle any possible disputes over election procedures, township Clerk John Flodin has requested Bernard Apol, director of elections for the State of Michigan, to assign a representative of the Michigan Secretary of State's Office to Canton on election day. Apol has agreed to that request.

"This is a heated election," Flodin explained, "and I want everything done properly. I just thought it was in the best interests of everyone to have someone here in authority to settle any possible disputes over election procedure."

Teachers revise slowdown tactics

The possibility of a showdown between teachers and school board was averted early this week when the Plymouth Education Association (PEA) decided to rescind its previous work rules and issue new job actions which are in keeping with contractual agreement.

The action followed an announcement by the central administration last Friday that teachers performing job actions in violation of contract would be subject to immediate discipline, ranging from docking of pay, suspension from extra duties, up to the scale to dismissal.

After that formal warning was distributed to all teachers Friday afternoon, the PEA sent a memorandum to all teachers withdrawing earlier directives and defining new, more limited, work rules. Union spokesmen said the action was taken to avoid having any teacher being singled out for dismissal. "If any of us is dismissed, we all will be, because of taking the ultimate step—a strike," said Trav Griffin, executive director of the PEA Tuesday morning.

Superintendent John M. Hoben commented Monday night that he was relieved teachers apparently aren't going to continue illegal job actions. "I am relieved disciplinary action hasn't had to be taken to date, and am hopeful it won't be necessary."

THE THREAT OF discipline was made by the administrative staff with the understanding that actual discipline imposed could force the union into a strike situation.

Although a vote on a strike hasn't been scheduled yet, the bargaining climate has reached a deadlock stage and the word "strike" is being used more in informal talk by participants. And the impression of an imminent strike has been strengthened by radio and television reports which have misquoted union representatives.

The confusion was increased by a Monday afternoon report in a daily Detroit newspaper that counselors had refused to administer tests on Saturday. That report was without basis as some 11 counselors had showed up Saturday to administer the tests, as scheduled.

The word strike was used more often, though, after Monday night night's board meeting when the school board adopted a policy that prohibits teachers from promoting union activities or positions in the classrooms. The resolution was broadly worded and many teachers became concerned that it was a "gag rule" to stop them from discussing union business among themselves on school property.

Although the climate has grown more tense since Oct. 22, both sides met again in bargaining session late Tuesday afternoon.

THE WORK RULES which remain in effect for teachers are:

- Attend school board meetings and picket in front of Plymouth Canton High prior to the beginning of the meeting.

- Picket the school board office.

- Postpone open house and other voluntary programs until after settlement.

- Postpone all inservice activities until after settlement.

- Pass out flyers at the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

- Continue to vacate the building during lunch hour.

The following work rules were revised as follows:

- Come and leave as per 1974-76 master agreement provisions or the new high school day as per tentative agreement.

- Attend all contractual meetings.

- Take attendance in the high school as per new administrative policy.

- You may, at your discretion, reassign schedules B and C (extra-duty activities) with the knowledge that if you refuse to do so, that job may be posted.

- Sixth grade camp—This program is strictly a voluntary program inasmuch as the 1974-76 master agreement requires that you work only 455 minutes per day with students. Any attempt, by management, to force you to participate in this program, or any disciplinary action resulting from your refusal to participate in this program, shall, in our eyes, be construed as an unfair labor practice. The PEA negotiating team at this time leaves the question of voluntary participation in this program to the individual teachers.

"In closing," the memorandum reads, "the teachers efforts in enforcing the PEA work rules has caused a reaction which assures us that the desired effect has been achieved. The publicity generated by these actions has focused attention on the problems of Plymouth teachers working without an agreement. We are hopeful that adherence to the above revised work rules will create enough pressure on the Plymouth Board of Education to gain a fair settlement in Plymouth without a strike."

DERALD MCKINLEY, PEA president, reports that teachers are now signing in and signing out to protect themselves from any unwarranted discipline.

"We feel the job actions imposed earlier have served the purpose for which they were intended. One thing we wanted to do was to demonstrate to teachers there is no job security in the extra-duty positions (B and C schedules) and the administration has helped us make that point."

Griffin commented Tuesday morning: "We didn't want any of our teachers to lose B and C schedule jobs unless they so desire. The teachers demonstrated that they supported the earlier work rules, or else the school board wouldn't have reacted the way it did."

"So we took the work rules and did what we could with them. But the PEA isn't going to propose anything to allow the board to fire our staff. If we lose some jobs, it will be because of a strike—because we took the ultimate step, not from work actions."

Griffin added that the hopes of a settlement in the near future are dim because the school board refuses to allow its negotiator to make any movement since the board's last offer. "If you take the board's last offer—the only one it has on the table now—teachers would get a salary improvement of 15.7 per cent compounded over three years, excluding increments and contribution to retirement fund. Counting increments and maximum COLA, the board offer is 21 per cent over three years. The school board is counting increments when it states teachers are being offered 30 per cent over three years."

The PEA's table offer at this point is for a minimum payout of 26.7 per cent over three years or a maximum payout increase of 34.2 per cent over three years. The maximum payout is based on COLA coming in at 10 per cent, which isn't going to happen. And so the PEA isn't out-of-line with its offer. "The PEA percentages don't include dollars gained by increment."

Write-in van moves location after reported store threats

The Committee to Re-elect the Greenstein Team has a mobile home that serves as their campaign headquarters. That mobile home left the Harvard Square Shopping Center last weekend after an anonymous caller threatened to burn down the businesses in the complex, according to Ed Boutrous, co-owner of the Harvard Co. of Southfield.

"We received the anonymous call on Friday," said Boutrous. "And of course when it's an anonymous call they don't leave their name. We said there's a possibility that there could be some trouble, so for the benefit of all concerned I thought it'd be a good idea to ask them to find another location. They were graciously agreeable and I understand they're doing well at their new location."

That new location is Ford Road and Lil-

ley. Boutrous explained that a woman who identified herself as a shopper also made a complaint to the furniture store about the electrical wire that was strung over the roof of the store to hook up to the trailer.

The woman complained that the wire was unsafe, although members of Canton Township's building department claim the write-in group received a proper permit for the electrical wire.

People at the write-in campaign headquarters said they firmly believe the harassment and threats were made or directed by political opponents running for election.

Greenstein has gone so far as to name names who he "is convinced" is behind the threats.

Boutrous said he does not believe the threat to burn down his center came from someone involved in the political campaign.

"I'm sure no responsible person would do something like this," said Boutrous. "I don't know much about Harold Stein or Peter Bundarin but I'm fairly certain they would not stoop to these kind of tactics to get themselves elected."

"The last thing I want to get involved in is Canton politics," Boutrous said. "We allowed them to bring their trailer in, and they were the only people who asked the favor. We will cooperate with whoever wins this election."

Smith, Arrowsmith answer to LWV

Among the countywide offices to be decided by voters Nov. 2 is the Wayne County Commission 27th District which includes Plymouth and Canton townships, City of Plymouth, Wayne and Belleville.

The candidates for the commission seat are incumbent Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville) and Republican challenger Owen G. Arrowsmith of the City of Wayne.

Both candidates have been asked two questions by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi. Answers were limited to 50 words each.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization dedicated to informing electors about candidates and issues and dedicated to encouraging citizen participation in government. The LWV does not endorse candidates but does take positions on ballot issues.

BOTH COMMISSION candidates were asked: "Give your reasons for favoring or not favoring a Wayne County executive."

Arrowsmith said he was "in favor of" with the continued growth of suburban areas there will arise more social and economic imbalances, creating a need for strong executive leadership. The voice of the people through elected officials would be combined with the administrative ability of a qualified, professional manager."

Smith said: "I cannot support a county executive proposal until the county charter

Offer puts teachers in 'fishbowl'

Teachers union leaders in Plymouth reacted this week to earlier disclosures by the school board of its latest offer and what raises it would provide to instructors.

Derald McKinley, PEA president, asked for a disclosure of raises gained by administrators and for a disclosure of how much money the school board has spent thus far on legal fees for labor attorneys.

Trav Griffin, PEA executive director, revealed the specifics of the union's latest table position and disputed claims made by the board about its offer.

Superintendent John M. Hoben answered McKinley's queries but made a qualifying statement that principal's salaries aren't relevant to teachers' salaries because the schedules are totally different.

McKINLEY COMMENTED Monday night: "Teachers have been placed in the public fishbowl with the board putting its salary offer in the newspaper. I'd like to see the administration salary increases of 7.8 per cent in the newspaper."

"I asked for that information at the bargaining table and was refused. I then asked as a citizen of the school district, arguing it was public knowledge, and was refused. I was given a copy of the principals' raises but it didn't include the central administrators."

"Let's put everybody in the fishbowl and then make comparisons. Then we can look at 5 1/2 per cent being offered teachers and 7.8 per cent for administrators."

"Another thing I'd like to know is how much money has been spent by the school board on legal fees for labor attorneys since 1969 to try and get away from negotiating. I think they should get rid of the legal middle-man and spend that money on bargaining."

The information the PEA has, compiled by Bill Bartlett, PEA vice-president, is that the average principal received a 7.8 per cent pay hike representing a dollar increase of $1,770 from 1975-76 to $24,270 in 1976-77.

HOBEN REPLIED Tuesday afternoon that the salary schedule for administrators is public domain and "I will be glad to release the information. I won't, however, pit one principal's salary against another just as I won't pit one teacher's salary against another's."

"The principals are on a two-year schedule. And I'm not proud to point out that my administrators are between the 25th and 50th percentile in comparative ranking with other school districts in Wayne County while the teachers are between the 90th to 94th percentile."

"The principals have the potential for a three per cent salary improvement. Of that three per cent, two per cent is merit and must be earned. Besides the three per cent salary improvement, they get retirement benefits of five per cent."

"Last year, principals settled for a five per cent total raise. And the principals agreed to count the five per cent retirement contribution as part of their raises this year."

"It is just not true that every administrator received $1,800 additional this year. And it's also true that there's just no valid comparison that can be made between teachers' salary and principals' salary. The principals' salary is based on the intensity of the job—that is, whether it's a high school, middle school or elementary assignment—on merit, and on the hours worked. Principals also work 40 weeks a year. There's no valid comparison."

"As far as the top four positions in central administration is concerned," Hoben added, "we have not yet received a raise this year and we received a five per cent raise last year."

Hoben added that to date the school district has been billed less than $1,000 for labor attorney services, most of which was for a tenure matter and not negotiations. He said the total expense, once billed, is expected to be about $3,000.

Another administrator pointed out that more money would be available for bargaining if teachers were careful to make correct use of sick days. On one day alone this week, some 48 teachers called in sick compared to the normal level of 20 call-ins per day. The additional 28 sick calls will cost the school district about $750 in payments to substitutes.

McKINLEY objected that the school board is giving inflated figures to the public on raises being offered teachers.

"The board offer, basically, is 13 per cent. If you add in the contribution to retirement, the improvement is 18 per cent over three years."

"The PEA looks at the pension contribution as a fringe benefit—a bargained fringe if you will. The board has told the public that pension contribution is part of a bargained money-pledge, but it's a fringe benefit. The board placed pension contribution on the table, and the PEA said it would bargain in good faith on the pension contribution which is required by state law in 1977."

"The board likes to throw in incremental raises also. But increments were instituted by school boards before the days of collective bargaining to keep teachers' salaries down. Now it's so expensive it cannot be done away with—it's institutionalized. An increment is nothing more than an earned experience credit. If there was no bargaining going on at all, the increment would still be paid."

"The actual dollar improvement teachers would get from the board's offer, once you take out increments and pension contribution, is $300 to $400 a year. That's what it comes down to, despite of the numbers game played by the board to lead people to believe the raise is $1,000 a year for teachers."

Griffin added that most districts with contracts thus far have settled for about a 21 per cent increase. He points out that Cherry Hill, one of the economically poorer districts in Wayne County, settled for 21 per cent at the beginning of the school year. "If Plymouth teachers accept the board's offer then at the end of the third year we would drop from the mid-point to the bottom third of the comparative standings of other districts in Wayne County. Our relative position would decrease tremendously."

Griffin said that the board's offer, when compounded over three years, is a maximum of 15.7 per cent at the maximum, not counting pension contribution or increments. (The board adds in increments of nine per cent over three years and pension contribution of five per cent.)

"The school board has ordered its chief negotiator not to move from its present offer. Based on our table offer, we are now four to six per cent apart. If the board continues to be rigid, we are faced with a long, bitter, drawn-out battle. They can play the numbers game if they wish, but that won't get a contract."

THE PEA'S OFFER, initially made Oct. 14, is for a three per cent salary improvement and full COLA for the three years. COLA would be capped at 10 per cent, according to the PEA offer, for the second and third years. Based on last year's Consumer Price Index for the Detroit area, COLA for this year will be 5.2 per cent. Griffin said he anticipates COLA will be six per cent for 1977-78 and seven per cent the third year.

Gary Hees, statistician for the PEA and math-science teacher at West Middle, has compiled a comparison of salary increases for UAW salary and hourly employees, Wayne-Westland teachers, and Plymouth teachers based on the board's current offer.

Over the next three years, UAW salary (grade five) employees will receive an additional $5,277 or a 31.3 per cent increase. UAW hourly employees will receive $4,606 more over three years or a 33.7 per cent increase. Wayne-Westland teachers will receive $3,567 or a 24 1/2 per cent increase, with Plymouth teachers getting an additional $3,129 or 21 per cent based on the board's offer.

is revised to consolidate or eliminate several unneeded bureaucracies, which under law cannot be abolished. To streamline county government, I'm advocating placing the planning commission, office of program development, civil defense, and labor board directly under the board of commissioners' director of administration."

EACH was asked: "What would be your priorities as a county commissioner?"

Smith responded: "To be available for constituent problems, to push for out-county drainage improvements and better secondary roads. Through positions of leadership (chairman of the manpower advisory council; vice-chairman of the labor board, and ways and means committee; and board of health member), I hope to improve health, employment and other services."

Arrowsmith answered: "The county is in deficit spending without maintaining public services at needed levels in the growing suburban areas. There needs to be a re-assessment of expenditures and priorities established. In order to do this effectively, we must re-open and maintain communication with the local communities."

Smith was a Belleville public official for 16 years: planning commission, two years; councilman, four years; and mayor, 10 years. He served five years on the former county board of supervisors and is a high school graduate. Smith, 60, lives in Belleville.

Arrowsmith, 36, is an Albion College graduate and has 30 hours of graduate psychology at University of Michigan. He has 10 years banking-finance experience, is a partner in Arrowsmith Brothers Painting (a journeyman painter), and is past member of the Plymouth-Wayne Jaycees, Optimists, and the American Institute of Banking. He lives in the City of Wayne.

Vote 'yes' on A

Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Plymouth and Canton urges a yes vote on Proposal A on Nov. 2. Michigan and local leagues have supported a ban on non-returnable bottles for several years. It is one step in the important concept of source reduction which reduces the total amount of solid waste.

It is also a step to reduce energy consumption, environmentally damaging extraction of minerals, the amount of land needed for waste disposal, and disposal methods which damage air, water and land.

We believe the experience in Oregon demonstrates that the switch to returnable beverage containers is an effective step toward these conservation measures.

The purpose of the League is to promote political responsibilities through informed and active participation in government and to act on selected government issues.

How Pierce-Pursell stand on issues

The Plymouth and Livonia communities will have a new congressman to represent them Jan. 3 when the new congress convenes. U.S. Rep. Marvin Eash (R-Ann Arbor) is finishing his 10th year in the house and his fourth representing the 2d District.

Campaigning hard to succeed Eash are Republican State Sen. Carl Pursell of Plymouth and Democrat Ed Pierce, a physician from Ann Arbor.

To help voters become better informed about the candidates, the Observer asked each one to reply to questions about issues ranging from national defense and social security to local control of federal funds and national health insurance.

Following are the questions and their answers:

On defense spending, everyone is opposed to waste and mismanagement, but how do you deal with Pentagon budget cuts? Do you feel our defenses are adequate, inadequate, or is there room for cutbacks?

Pierce: I believe that we spend far too much of our hard-earned tax dollars on the military. Of course our defense must be strong, but that doesn't mean that every important request from the Pentagon must be met without thought or question. The best way for us to cut our military budget will be to spread some of the defense burden among our allies. I don't think the American taxpayers should have to foot so much more than their fair share of the bill. None of our closest allies pays much more than half the amount per person than the U.S. does on the common defense. Canada, for example, pays less than 30 per cent per person of what we do. I believe that the west should maintain a strong defense against the Soviet bloc, but the lab should be spread around much more fairly than it is now.

Pursell: I believe a strong national defense is the essential foundation of our free society and all the programs that contribute to the quality of life in America. For this reason, I will not support massive cuts in defense spending. Our armed forces must be capable of defending this country against the threats which, to any objective observer, still exist in this world. There are many aspects of our defense system which I feel are adequate and should be maintained. However, I recognize that there are also some non-essential spending programs in the defense budget, possibly the B-1 bomber. As a legislative budget expert, I have the experience and ability to isolate and eliminate wasteful programs without undermining our defenses. I have served on the state senate appropriations committee all six years I've been in the legislature. I will review spending requests with a critical eye and certainly will not be a rubber stamp for the Pentagon budget.

There is a growing problem concerning the relationship of the federal government and local government. A good example of that was the recent conflict between Mayor Edward McNamara of Livonia and the Housing and Urban Development Department about whether federal dollars should be used as a carrot to integrate the suburbs. Do you feel cities should have the last word on how they use federal funds? Do you favor more generalized rules or more restrictive rules to make sure the funds are spent for the purposes Congress intended?

Pierce: "When federal funds are marked 'for the cities,' then that is exactly what it means. Within broad guidelines I believe that the local governments should have as much control as possible over these monies. With control in local hands, there is much more opportunity for citizen input, so that the wishes of the local residents will be taken into account. Accordingly, I favor more generalized rather than restrictive rules to enforce congressional intent. It is my understanding that the U.S. Community Block Grant program, the center of the conflict you mention, was intended to be a consolidation of anti-poverty programs and, as such, was not intended for the purposes of integration. In the absence of clear congressional intent that a program has integration as its purpose, it should not be used for such."

Pursell: "Individual cities should be able to determine how federal funds are spent in a 'no-strings-attached' program of federal revenue sharing. Local officials and citizens should determine how our money should be spent. At the same time, I believe it is necessary that all cities have a well-defined master plan which would allow them to phase in necessary funding rather than continually reacting to specific crisis situations. These plans must be approved by the community and must provide for us to live within our income and use our resources wisely. I will work in congress to correct the present unfair situation and return more of Michigan's tax money to our communities."

What is your position on using the federal tax system to encourage business expansion and creation of new jobs? Would you enlarge budget deficits or cut the interest rates? Please state your position on related issues of inflation, unemployment and jobs.

Pierce: "The federal tax system can and should be used to provide incentives to businesses to create new and permanent jobs. But we must never forget that the greatest waste in our society today is the waste of people—millions of Americans who want to work have no jobs. When private industry can't provide the necessary jobs, government must step in and become the employer of last resort, putting people to work in such needed areas as care of children and the elderly, housing construction and rehabilitation, mass transit and the rebuilding of the railroads."

Pursell: "I believe that the tax system can best be used by giving incentives to the private sector to provide more jobs. This would help control our most pressing problem of inflation by reducing the number of government-sponsored programs and the number of tax dollars being spent on them. I am opposed to the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill. This bill is not only inflationary, but it is designed to let government manage the economy. During high unemployment, I feel that short-range government programs are appropriate as a supplement to jobs provided in the private sector. However, these should be maintained as short-range programs so that we can live within our budget."

There is a national debate on whether the social security system is financially sound. Do you think the system is adequately financed or should there be an increase in payroll or other taxes or a reduction in the scope of services provided by the Social Security Administration?

Pierce: "Social security funding as it is at present is not sufficient to keep the fund adequate and healthy in the future. However, we must not lower the level of benefits social security provides to our senior citizens and others. Instead, we must move to a fairer social security tax system, which does not weigh so heavily on middle- and low-income taxpayers. The ceiling on the amount the tax is levied must be raised to reach the adequate funding level. The percentage of a workers' paycheck taken for social security should not be increased."

Pursell: "There are about 23 million Americans over the age of 65. The elderly constitute a fast-growing percentage of our nation's population. I pledge that I will try to preserve our social security program while also making every effort to make it solvent. We should protect the present cost of living benefits for those on social security. Workers should be guaranteed their benefits when they retire. Utilizing the treasury funds presently being appropriated while supplementing them with reappropriated contribution rates would have the payoff of giving the fund stability."

Most Americans, according to a reputable poll, favor national health insurance. Do you? If not, suggest an alternative.

Pierce: "Too often today serious illness can spell financial disaster for an average family. A sensible national health care program is an absolute must due to the unbelievable skyrocketing costs of medical care. My 16 years of experience as a family doctor will give me unique insight into helping congress put together a plan that is both workable and economical. I believe that this could be one of my most useful contributions to the congress—making sure that it has the medical input necessary so that the national health care plan that is inevitable is also practical and efficient."

Pursell: "Costs for health care are too high. However, I don't suggest a nationalized program. I support the idea of a group establishing a non-profit corporation (like health maintenance organizations) and writing a contract with doctors for service to area clinics. This contract includes caps on fees and would keep people out of hospitals and other high-cost-per-day institutions. The delivery system would be cheaper and would be run by local leaders rather than Washington bureaucrats. Help for those who have catastrophic illness and costs over $750 could be covered so that a family would not be destroyed financially by a serious medical problem."

Do you support a constitutional amendment prohibiting abortions on demand. Why or why not?

Pierce: "No, I do not. Although I have never personally performed an abortion and will never personally perform one, it is clear to me from my medical experience that the question in our country is not whether there will be abortions or not. It is whether there will be dirty, dangerous back-alley abortions, or safe, legal ones."

Pursell: "I personally oppose abortion. I don't support the use of federal funds for abortions and don't believe federally-funded clinics should perform or refer abortions. I don't think a constitutional amendment would be a practical solution. Placing limits on abortion should be the responsibility of congress and the state legislatures."

Udall, Bayh hit the campaign trail on campus for Pierce

Dr. Ed Pierce, Democratic candidate in the 2d congressional district, is getting high-caliber campaign help this week.

Two former presidential candidates, U.S. Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona, and U.S. Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana made campaign appearances for Pierce this week in Ann Arbor and Ypsilanti, respectively.

Bayh dropped out of the presidential primary races last spring while Udall was an active candidate until just before the convention in July. Udall finished a close second in the Michigan presidential primary, finishing just one percentage point behind first-place Jimmy Carter.

Pierce, an Ann Arbor doctor, has been active on the campaign front in Livonia and Plymouth.

AT A FUND-RAISING breakfast in Livonia's Idyl Wyld clubhouse Friday morning, an estimated 70 persons attended, including several businessmen and developers.

The breakfast was co-sponsored by Mayor Edward McNamara and City Councilman Jerry Raymond of Livonia. Master of ceremonies was Jerome P. Cavanagh, former mayor of Detroit.

At the breakfast and at a luncheon held for Plymouth business persons in Hillside Inn, Plymouth, Pierce said he was dedicating his campaign to Pam, a mother of three whose husband is in a California mental institution.

He cited Pam's problems in emphasizing his platform of economic justice, in which he wants participating persons to have adequate housing, education, medical care and nutrition.

"Pam is in her mid-30s, the mother of three sons and works in a lawyer's office and earns about $8,000 a year," he said.

He contrasted her financial status with that of Ford Motor Co. workers whose new UAW contract includes wages of $7 per hour and an additional $5 per hour in fringe benefits.

"I'm not a proponent of big government," Pierce said, "but the private sector isn't doing very well in some things," mentioning medical care as one example.

PIERCE, CITING the need for a national health insurance program, also pointed out the case of a 26-year-old patient in Ann Arbor who is paid $3.30 per hour with no fringe benefits as a taxi dispatcher.

The woman, said Pierce, has $1,000 in savings which she wants to use to enroll in the University of Michigan. But she has contracted a serious infection which requires hospitalization.

Her savings would be wiped out in four days of hospitalization, Pierce said.

He also said he favors the first two years of college being "virtually free" and that the long-range gains would outweigh the costs. If students wanted to continue their education beyond that, they should get government loans to be paid back through higher incomes.

Pierce said that a senate study showed that the GI bill, adopted after World War II, returned $6 in extra tax revenues for every $1 spent.

Arrowsmith says audit of county is necessary

Owen G. Arrowsmith is attempting to enter the field of politics, following the lead of two members of his family. Arrowsmith, 37, of 4502 S. Wayne Road, Wayne, is running as a Republican against incumbent Democrat Royce Smith for the post of 27th District county commissioner.

OWEN ARROWSMITH

RE-ELECT CIRCUIT JUDGE
JOHN M. WISE

WISE

CIRCUIT JUDGE

He is the son of Wallace Arrowsmith, city manager in Wayne for a number of years. His younger brother, Brian, preceded Smith as 27th District county commissioner. Brian is now village manager in Oxford, Mich.

Arrowsmith is on leave from Wayne County's labor forestry division while he stumps for office. He says if elected, he would work to bring about an audit of every county department to be done by an outside firm.

"We haven't solved anything with the county's own audits except spend more money. I worked in banking for 10 years. Banking audits are unreal. There are federal, state audits and audits conducted by the larger bank that owns your bank. Checkers check the checkers. I think an audit twice a year of the county agencies would not be out of line."

Arrowsmith perceives the job of county commissioner as "a problem-solving job."

"Somebody's got a county tree down across their driveway and can't get anything done about it, they should call their commissioner. Maybe there's a hole in the road, or someone is experiencing a medical problem and can be referred to the county hospital facilities. My job could be to try to find out where they should go."

Arrowsmith says he is a Republican "because the difference between the two parties is that the Republicans don't believe in handouts to everyone. If I am on the county board of commissioners I want to go down there and try to stop some of this spending. I'll tell people who's voting this spending money. It's a watchdog-type thing. Besides, I think it'd be healthy to get another Republican in down there. Right now 25 of 27 commissioners are Democrat."

Arrowsmith takes a hard line against appropriations to help Detroit solve some of its problems.

"My main argument is that I wouldn't think of appropriating money to help the citizens of Detroit until they help themselves. My people are out here in the out-county district. People in this district put in probably as much in property tax as Detroit does."

"But outcounty districts are getting 40 per cent back of the 60 per cent we're putting in."

Unlike his opponent, Smith, Arrowsmith believes the county should have remodeled the Hudson's warehouse to house prisoners. Smith calls the warehouse a "white elephant" that Hudson's is "trying to unload" on the county.

"The Hudson's warehouse is air-conditioned and was remodeled 10 years ago," Arrowsmith said. "But with the new jail—even if we had the Hudson's warehouse—it will be inadequate to meet our needs. It bothers me that we're paying so much for the jail when 80 per cent of the tenants of the jail come from the city of Detroit."

Arrowsmith is opposed to two aspects of the proposed new jail. First, he claims that the cell space in the new jail does not meet existing city code. Second, he says the commissioners should have required a performance bond from the contractors who will build the jail.

"The county commissioners should have set a three year deadline on a performance bond," Arrowsmith said. "But now, if it's not done, we still keep on paying. They have already given the contractors a blank check. The jail will cost $30 million to $35 million by the time they're done."

Arrowsmith, who is a member of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) union is not endorsed by that union.

These Boots will keep your feet dry and warm to 20° Below.

No matter whether you are a hunter or a hiker, there is nothing worse than tramping through the brush with wet, cold feet. The fully-insulated, Timberland 8" waterproof boot I've pictured here, eliminates the problem entirely. It is the first American made boot with this kind of construction. Uniroyal Ensolite® insulating material protects down to 20° Below. Repeated silicone treatments of the leather upper, and a unique, one-piece legged sole and heel make it 100% waterproof. The boot is practically indestructible. A specially tanned, prime-grain leather upper and glove soft full leather lining give long-wearing, breathable comfort. A plentiful supply of silicone comes with each pair to help you keep them in good condition. The boot comes in natural tan, sizes 7 1/2 to 13. At $60, it will be one of the best outdoor investments you've ever made.

Smith concerned about loss of fiscal controls

Royce Smith came to Belleville from Kentucky at the age of 16 to drill for oil. Belleville turned out to be dry as far as oil is concerned, but he struck a responsive well among the townspeople.

Smith, 61, of 240 W. Columbia, Belleville met and married his wife Arlene there. He was mayor of Belleville for more than 10 years—from 1958 through 1968. As Belleville mayor he was a member of the old county board of supervisors for a period of five years.

Smith, a Democrat, was elected to the county board of commissioners in 1974 for the first term and is seeking reelection. His challenger is Republican Owen Arrow-smith.

Smith is presently working long hours downtown as the county board of commissioners draws up a budget for 1977. Smith says he is working to make sure every county department submits a line item budget, rather than a lump sum budget, the procedure of the circuit courts and the county hospital.

"I maintain that if you give a department head a lump sum budget you've lost control," said Smith.

Smith refers to himself as "the biggest supporter of law enforcement" on the board of county commissioners and gives Sheriff William Lucas very high points for achievement.

Smith said recently that the Wayne County Sheriff's Department has the obligation to continue patrols at no extra cost to the out-county townships.

"That's about the one thing that I disagree with the sheriff's department over," Smith said. "I think cutting back the out-county road patrol is lessening law enforcement."

"Under the state constitution it says the sheriff shall be the law enforcement officer of the county. It doesn't say 'may.'"

"Take Canton, Plymouth and Van Buren townships," Smith said. "Three patrol cars cover those areas, and some days there are only two."

Smith differed from some of his western Wayne colleagues when he voted for the new jail and came out against using the Hudson warehouse.

"The new jail will start April 1, 1977," Smith said. "We had no choice. I firmly believe the Hudson's warehouse was a white elephant that they were trying to unload on the county taxpayers. That warehouse was built 50 years ago and would have a life expectancy that is one-third that of the new structure."

"On the day we voted, I found a letter in my mailbox from Sheriff Lucas who estimated that it would cost $12 million more per year in personnel if we used the warehouse instead of a new jail. How can you keep your eye on a prisoner inside a place designed as a warehouse?"

Smith has reported to his constituents on a number of major county issues. He has pushed for a complete investigation into possible fraud in the Wayne County Drain Commission. He unsuccessfully attempted to require Dr. Werner Spitz to submit an audit of his pituitary gland foundation every 90 days. He has gone on record as opposed to the expansion of WNow Run airport.

Smith prides himself on keeping a close contact with township, city and congressional officials. This, he says, keeps the other officials informed of county business and tells him of legislation in other government levels that effect his constituents.

"You know I'm kind of ancient," said a smiling Smith. "I have no real political aspirations beyond this job. I got a few ditches and culverts cleaned out during the last two years. I feel I've made my biggest contribution in helping people who give me a call, and I help them communicate successfully with someone in county government who solves their problem."

Drive set to diagnose diabetes

The American Diabetes Association, Michigan Affiliate, Inc. (ADA-M) will launch a diabetes detection week program Nov. 7-13 to locate the estimated 200,000 Michigan residents with the undiagnosed disease.

Hospitals and laboratories throughout the state have volunteered their services to make the detection program a success. The ADA-M will publicize the free testing sites at the end of October.

The ADA-M urges all persons to take advantage of the free diabetes testing programs and warns residents that not all diabetics have symptoms. Last year nearly 600 diabetics were located during detection week.

The disease's symptoms include excessive thirst, frequent urination, constant hunger, weight loss, slow healing of cuts and scratches, blurring of vision and itching. Persons over 40, overweight or related to someone with diabetes are more likely to get the disease.

The ADA-M urges all persons with symptoms of diabetes to contact their doctors.

The ADA is a charitable, non-profit organization, devoted to educating the public about diabetes, searching for a cure and locating the undiagnosed diabetic.

For a free list of informational pamphlets about diabetes, write to the ADA-M at 6131 W. Outer Drive, Detroit, Mich. 48235.

Schoolcraft contract approved on split vote

By split votes, both Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees and the colleges teachers' union late Wednesday approved a new two-year contract covering the 162 full-time and 191 part-time instructors.

Schoolcraft instructors, members of the Faculty Forum, were 69 per cent in favor with 114.3 yes votes and 50.9 votes opposed. Among full timers, the vote was 98-45. Among part-timers, who have one-fifth of a vote per credit hour taught, the vote was 163-59.

The dissent apparently came from English instructors objecting to having class sizes increase. (See related story on this page). They took their complaints to the Michigan College English Association, which sent the board of trustees a letter citing "negative results of increasing class size to more than 25 students per composition class."

TRUSTEES FAVORING the contract were Chairman Paul Y. Kadish, Vice-chairwoman Rosina Raymond, Treasurer Nancie Blatt, Ron Cowden and Mark McQuesten.

Opposed were Leroy Bennett and Arch Vallier.

Bennett charged the board "obligated too much" of future funds. Vallier charged the board with "giving away all our money to the faculty."

He said the board had learned that someone leaked the board's supposedly secret bargaining position to the faculty negotiating team. "The public didn't get a fair shake," Vallier said.

Vallier said he would have voted in favor of the contract if his vote had been crucial to final approval but dissented in order to vent his dissatisfaction.

Vallier said he opposed raising student fees (which the board has under consideration because of a revenue shortfall this year) and deplored "crocodile tears I've heard from the faculty in this room."

FORCED TO ABSTAIN was Trustee Gerald Cox, whose wife is a part-time faculty member. In a legal opinion dated Wednesday, college attorney Wolfgang Hoppe said Dr. Cox had what "could well be viewed as a substantial conflict of interest." Cox's voting would give "the appearance of impropriety," Hoppe wrote.

McQuesten's status as a trustee was also

Schoolcraft contract covers productivity, retirement

This week, two months after their old contract expired, negotiators for Schoolcraft College and the Faculty Forum completed work on a new two-year agreement that seems to please both sides.

College officials place the cost at about five per cent the first year and 6.2 the second. Base take-home pay rates, which the Forum emphasizes, are three per cent and 4.5 per cent respectively.

Other major gains are a beginning on productivity standards (from the college's point of view) and a no-cost system for early retirement (from both sides' point of view). The pact expires Aug. 25, 1978.

Here is a point-by-point analysis provided by college President C. Nelson Grote; Gerald Munro, head of the college's bargaining team; and Richard Arlen, president of the Faculty Forum:

questioned because this fall he enrolled in one class at Schoolcraft. Hoppe wrote that while it would be a conflict of interest for a student to be a trustee, in McQuesten's case, it was so slight that a true conflict was "unlikely."

Defending the contract, Mrs. Raymond said "All things considered, it is a reasonably good contract. Teachers are terribly important to a school system. You can do without a lot of people, but you can't do without teachers."

Kadish said that some dissatisfaction on both sides "is an indication we have a reasonable contract." Answering Vallier's objections, he said, "No organization knows exactly where every penny is coming from a year from now."

SALARIES—In the first year, the 162 full-time instructors get a three per cent general increase. Those who have yet to reach the top of the pay scale (about one-fourth of the faculty) also get five per cent "step" (seniority) hikes.

Until now, the 191 part-timers paid five per cent of their own salaries into a retirement fund. The new contract shifts this burden to the college, in effect giving part-timers a six per cent increase (because of an income tax break).

In the past, part-timers were paid $200 a semester hour for a lecture course and $176 per clock contact hour for a lab course. The lab rate is now equalized with the lecture rate.

In the second year, there is a 4.5 per cent general increase with persons at less than full seniority getting an additional five per cent step increase.

Part-timers will get $209 per contact semester hour.

One interesting feature is that the first year hike is paid entirely in the second semester. Thus, instead of getting a three per cent increase for the entire year, instructors will get six per cent in the second semester. The obvious advantage is that this increases the base salary on which the second year increase is figured.

With three-fourths of the faculty at the top of the pay scale due to seniority, here are the maximum salaries in each classification based on a 36-week work year:

- Bachelor's degree—$17,608 the first year and $18,400 the second.
- Master's degree—$20,648 the first and $21,577 the second.
- Master's degree plus 30 credit hours—$21,283 the first and $22,241 the second.
- Doctorate—$21,916 the first and $22,902 the second.

Librarians and counselors all earn 25 per cent more because they work a 48-week year.

PRODUCTIVITY—This was an emotional issue. The Forum believes it gained protection for younger instructors by eliminating "bumping." In this procedure, an administrator who decided to go back to classroom teaching was able to bump a young instructor with low seniority. This practice is now eliminated.

GOALS—Across the country, colleges and instructors have been hit by former students' lawsuits alleging the students didn't learn what they expected in a course.

The new contract requires instructors to read a statement of course goals early in the semester. The purpose is to have the college, avoid raising false hopes and to have students avoid getting false hopes about what they can learn and how they can benefit.

EVALUATIONS—Probationary, full-time and full-status faculty members are to be evaluated by students in every course every semester. It's part of the "consumerism" movement and a gain for students.

The faculty member may keep these surveys confidential and isn't even required

More than 750,000 pounds of paper, 13,000 pounds of ink and 3 1/2 million staples went into the 80-page Christmas catalog that is the biggest yet for Meijer, Inc.

Fred Meijer, chairman of the board, said the full-color catalog was inserted this month into many Michigan newspapers, including the Observer & Eccentric.

Copies of the catalog, he said, also will be available in the firm's stores through Dec. 11, the date that special prices expire.

READERS' FORUM

Governor reacts to critics of SBT

Editor:

I noted with great interest the editorial appearing recently in your newspapers regarding the relatively low percentage of response among businessmen to the state questionnaire on the single business tax.

It is true the task force evaluating difficulties reported to us in connection with the tax was disappointed when replies came in from only 12 per cent of the 4,000 business and professional firms to whom the questionnaire was sent.

I must acknowledge that I, too, am disappointed, because the task force had to turn to other ways of getting the additional information it needs, and that will delay completion of the study.

I would counsel those, who, for one reason or another, find the new tax objectionable not to conclude that state government is deaf to their protests. From the mail reaching my office, I am convinced we must re-examine the impact of the tax on small business and try to assure greater equity among all segments of the business community.

That is the goal I have in mind. It is also the goal which guides the members and staff of the task force I appointed earlier this year to conduct the review and offer recommendations for any changes which may be found advisable.

GOV. WILLIAM G. MILLIKEN

Saddened by propaganda

Editor:

It is with a sad and heavy heart that I hear, and read, the propaganda that is being put out by CORP about the senior citizens apartment building that is being offered to the City of Plymouth.

They say that a survey has been made, and that all that Plymouth needs is 49 apartments.

I am one of the more than 200 citizens of Plymouth that has already applied to live in the building.

They say we want to stay in our homes. If I wanted to stay in my home, and could afford to, I would not have applied to live there.

They say there are other solution. We have all heard this before.

Many of us won't be here in four, five or 10 years for their solution.

What does CORP want to do, kill us with kindness?

Your Republican State Senator wants a promotion.

Your present Republican State Senator wants to be your next Congressman.

But in September and October of this year, that same man failed to vote on 65 out of 65 roll call votes, as recorded in the Journal of the Senate of the State of Michigan.

It's hard to believe, but it's true — he missed every single vote.

During that time you — the citizens of Livonia, Plymouth, and Northville — had no representation in the votes that went on in Lansing. But your state senator was drawing full pay and expenses — paid by you, the taxpayers.

Dr. Ed Pierce, the Democratic candidate for Congress, was also out campaigning during September and October. But the taxpayers weren't paying him to do it. Nobody was.

Ed took an unpaid leave of absence from his medical center — back on June 1, in fact — because Ed doesn't think that someone should get paid for a job if he's not doing it.

And, unlike the voters of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville, Ed's patients aren't being neglected; other doctors are keeping the medical center he founded going strong.

So, on November 2nd, you decide who gets a promotion. The senator, who takes his pay but doesn't vote, or the family doctor, with a proven record of hard work and service.

Authorized and paid for by Pierce for Congress '76.

Housing not in violation of city code

Editor:

There has been much attention given to the proposed senior citizen apartment project in the newspapers and via group meetings. This is the way it should be.

What concerns me is that some are allowing their position of public trust to add credence to their biased personal views. One member of the planning commission, who is opposed to the project, has repeatedly made the claim that the city is in some way violating its ordinances by supporting the project.

This is a direct distortion of the facts. This project has the approval of the planning commission (7-1), the city administration and the city commission (5-2).

THIS PROJECT was presented to the planning commission with the request that it be acted on as a Planned Unit Development (PUD). The planning commission approved and submitted it to the city commission with the recommendation for affirmative action, which they gave.

The Planned Unit Development, under which this project was approved, is a city ordinance. City ordinance 5.223 was enacted on Oct. 16, 1972 to provide for the recognized need within our ordinance for those desirable projects which couldn't otherwise be accommodated.

I cannot understand the claim made that this project is not in compliance with the city ordinances. Five of seven elected and seven of eight appointed commissioners plus the city administration and planning consultants to the city, have, after reviewing the project, given their approval.

MR. & MRS. PLYMOUTH VOTER

GIVE OUR SENIOR CITIZENS INDEPENDENCE

The most fitting gift the community could give to our senior citizens in the bicentennial year is their independence. Independence from sons and daughters. Independence from the crushing bite of inflation. Independence from the automobile, taxi cab or bus for transportation.

We can grant our senior citizens that independence by voting YES on the referendum Nov. 2 to allow senior citizen apartments at Union and Peniman Avenue.

Some people talk about how the apartments will ruin the downtown environment.

Well, the Mayflower Hotel has been at the corner of Main and Ann Arbor Trail for more than 49 years.

For those 49 years we have looked across Kellogg Park, watched people move in and out of town, come and go.

We don't see any "ruination" that'll be caused by building a place for our senior citizens to spend their few remaining years. We welcome them to downtown Plymouth Square, and look forward to having them as neighbors.

The Mayflower Hotel and Meeting House will continue to look across Kellogg Park with pride and will enjoy the park landscape still beautiful with tall, stately trees. The apartments will "peek" out of the tops of the trees and only be a few feet above the skyline. The beauty of the park and the peacefulness of our downtown won't be disturbed.

We are proud of our past but also have faith in our future. The apartments can also be an important shot in the arm to keep our downtown healthy. The 300 or more residents will walk to small stores in Plymouth, to drug stores, barber shops, beauty parlors, jewelry stores, shoe repair shops, the dime store, clothing shops, etc. The additional consumers will give an economic boost to these service-oriented stores and that will help them stay in Plymouth and continue to be here to serve you.

The Mayflower has overheard the talk in town, as it has for 49 years, and has listened to the arguments for and against this housing. And we believe that the only important thing to think about is do we want our senior citizens to have adequate housing?

We feel they should have their independence and we think you share that thought and will offer them that gift on Nov. 2 by voting YES at the polls.

As a substantial taxpayer in the City of Plymouth I fully concur that $20,000-$25,000 is a reasonable tax figure for the Wilcox property considering the benefits derived.

May I welcome the senior citizens project to the downtown four corners.

There's lots of land to bury our dead

By W.W. EDGAR

Several times within the past few months national magazines have carried stories saying the population explosion of the last decade will cause a shortage of cemetery lots.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Edwin "Win" Schrader, manager of the Plymouth funeral home of the same name, "And I am not alone in my thinking."

He passed along a recent letter from Jack Jorgensen, executive secretary of the Michigan Funeral Directors Association, which stated that the space now available would take care of all the deaths in the United States for 160 years.

"If all the people in the United States died today space requirements needed to bury 1,000 persons per acre would take up space less than one quarter of the size of the state of Rhode Island," he said.

"Take our own case in Plymouth," Schrader said. "There is enough space available in Riverside Cemetery for at least 30 years."

"True, it may require the use of the land now taken up by the Don Massey baseball diamond, but there is about 30 acres from the present edge of the cemetery to Plymouth Road."

"According to the latest death rate of about nine persons per 1,000 population, there is sufficient space to last for more than three decades."

He wasn't predicting what would happen in 30 years. He contended the city acted unwisely some years ago when it cut off 35 acres to establish an industrial park. The day may come when that could be used as the burial ground for which it was intended.

ACCORDING TO Schrader and his dad, things have changed greatly when it comes to establishing cemetery plots. There was a time when each little community was responsible for its own "grave yard."

Ground was set aside. But no more, even though, in some cases, the various planning commissions have been accused of lacking foresight in not establishing burial grounds.

"In those days," Schrader said, "things started to change when the churches in the smaller towns had their grave yards adjoining the church. You still can see them along the roads as you travel the countryside now."

Tracing the trend of cemeteries, he pointed out that in many cases religious groups and fraternal orders have their own burial or memorial grounds. The Masonic Order has Acacia Park and White Chapel. The Roman Catholics have Holy Sepulchre. And along with these, many present day plots are privately owned and run for a profit such as Parkview Memorial in Livonia and Knollwood in Canton Township.

"THE AUTOMOBILE also has has a great deal to do with the changing trend."

"In the old days," he said, "you wouldn't drive a horse-drawn hearse out into the country for eight or 10 miles. Today we have services here in the funeral parlor with burials in Flint, Lansing, and many parts of the state. And each time one of these funerals occurs with an out-of-city burial it relieves the concern about the lack of space at Riverside."

According to some cremation will save land for burials, but Schrader pointed out that in only about three per cent of deaths are bodies cremated.

"Even then, many times the ashes are brought back and speared over the family plot in the cemetery."

The Stroller... A tribute to Sen. Hart

From the moment Sen. Philip Hart announced his withdrawal from the political scene, the public prints and the air waves have been filled with all sorts of tributes, hailing his work in the U.S. Senate far and wide.

But in all these accolades, one of his great contributions as a public servant has been overlooked. It is work, without bombast or bluster, that helped make possible the great upsurge of bowling in recent years.

FEW PEOPLE realize it, but Sen. Hart, always a keen follower of the sport, came to bowling's rescue on more than one occasion. And it was his work that had the ancient game of toppling tenpins recognized in the highest places in the land.

He helped boost the game—and possibly save it—back in the early '40s. At the time, The Stroller had just taken on the role of the state's first bowling coordinator and found himself with a problem on the first day.

At the time, the government had just approved a price freeze and there was a question whether the recent raise in the price of bowling was legal.

WHILE THE STROLLER was making his debut in a new job, Phil Hart was doing likewise in the office of price administration. It was a meeting of two "rookies" when The Stroller and the young politician started to discuss the problem. With his typical frankness the OPA director smiled and said, "You know my job is a political appointment and I don't know much about it yet. But I will take you to a fellow who does."

No more was said. But in a few days the word came that the raise in the price of bowling was approved. Phil had done his job.

SEVERAL YEARS later, the bowling proprietors again were in trouble. There were fewer and fewer pinboys available. The only hope was to get the pinsetters' age requirements reduced from 16 years to 15. It was a monumental task.

While the officials debated the question and the state labor commissioner frowned, The Stroller called on his old friend Phil, who was now the state's lieutenant governor.

As usual, Phil smiled a bit and opined that he did not know just what he could do, but that he would do what he could.

It wasn't too surprising when, a few weeks later, the labor commissioner took a different view of the problem and asked that a combined school and work program be set up. It was a plan, he said, that would help the youngsters and the proprietors.

IN ALL the conferences that followed, Phil Hart's name was never mentioned. But The Stroller knew who had put the ball in motion for the first plan of its kind in the country—a plan that saved the game. It was his friend Phil Hart.

Some years later, when pinboys gave way to the automatic machines, and bowling was moving from the side streets to the main thoroughfares, it was suggested the government take notice of the great transition.

What to do? Someone suggested that maybe we could arrange a bowling match between the two houses of Congress and follow with a dinner for the legislators.

BY THIS time our old friend Phil had become a United States senator and it was only natural that his help be sought. When The Stroller asked if he thought such a tournament was possible, Sen. Hart answered, "Why not?"

Martha Griffiths, then a member of the house of representatives, volunteered to enlist her colleagues.

When the legislators were lined up, Sen. Hart made one suggestion.

"Don't have the dinner in a hotel," he said, "we tire of those things. Can't we set it up in the bowling alley so we all will get the 'feel' of the game?"

IT IS history now that the event brought added prestige to the game. The trophies were presented at ceremonies held right under the dome of the United States Capitol.

Bowling had now reached the top—through the efforts of Phil Hart—and every bowler in the land should offer thanks for the retiring senator's work in his behalf.

Bird breeders to host show

PURSELL - RUNNING for CONGRESS

For You

Carl with Mark, Kathy, Philip and Elliott the wonderdog

"What our Congressman does here at home is just as important as what he does in Washington. I'm committed to be your local Congressman."

PURSELL'S PRIORITIES

- Carl supports strong national defense. Calls his opponent's plan for a 20 to 50% defense cut "National suicide".
- Carl supports absolute local control of schools, which he believes would be undermined by his opponent's proposal for regional financing.
- Carl believes government should BALANCE ITS BUDGET. His opponent publicly proposes deficit budgets in "hard times" and tax increases when the economy recovers.
- Carl believes in "NO STRINGS" REVENUE SHARING for local governments and local schools, to bring a fair share of our tax dollars back into our communities and hold down local taxes.
- Carl believes we should work to improve the QUALITY OF LIFE for all, by improving our present society, not creating a radical new one. His opponent proposes "redistribution of income" while Carl seeks ways to allow people to keep more of their income.

FOR 6 YEARS CARL PURSELL HAS SERVED AS OUR WIDELY RESPECTED STATE SENATOR. HERE ARE A FEW OF HIS ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

- New State Police Post and Crime Lab at Northville to protect our communities.
- Program to REVIVE Newburgh, Wilcox and Phoenix LAKES—including new docks and fish stocking.
- New VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL CENTER at Schoolcraft Community College.
- Outdoor recreation program, including S.E. Michigan's finest bicycle path.
- VOLUNTARY YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL operations, to promote efficiency and hold down taxes.
- RESOURCE RECOVERY LAW — to solve critical environmental problems and create jobs in a new recycling industry.
- 1976 "ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AWARD" in Michigan from Federal E.P.A. for Resource Recovery Law.

Friendly construction

The Friendly Ice Cream Company, of Troy, Ohio, began construction last week on a new restaurant at Ann Arbor Road and Mill Street in Plymouth Township. Tom Baldwin, a spokesman for the company, said the restaurant will specialize in family dining. He also said the building should be completed in March 1977, but added that the schedule was tentative. According to Jim Briggs, chief building inspector for the township, the restaurant will have 4,065 square feet of floor space and the total property of 64,944 square feet has a valuation of $150,000.

Apartment doesn't meet seniors' needs

Editor: We are residents of Plymouth who will very soon be considered senior citizens, so we want good housing for Plymouth's elderly. We believe that any responsible, well-planned housing and service facility for senior citizens must be based upon an in-depth study of those citizens who will be occupying the facility.

According to Dr. Leon Pastalan, director of the Institute of Gerontology, University of Michigan, in an article called "How the Elderly Negotiate their Environment" he claims that imperative within the cost of construction of any senior citizen facility must be research and evaluation of design. Below is a list of some of the social needs of senior citizens that must be carefully considered when planning any facility for the elderly. Many of these needs may not be critical, but must be studied.

1. Local financing, versus federal and state, provide the community with options as to type or types of facility provided and makes possible the tailoring to needs of local citizens.

2. Planning should consider needs of young people who will be senior citizens in another 20 years.

3. Housing provided should be familiar to the senior citizen. According to Dr. Pastalan, they have a problem moving into space that they can't define.

4. Senior citizens can't master large numbers of people. Housing should be broken up into small complexes or living arrangements, so as to lessen confusion for residents.

5. Traffic conditions should be studied. The present Plymouth plan to put a loop road right in front of the proposed senior citizen development would increase traffic density and may prove disastrous. Senior citizens are very prone to pedestrian accidents.

6. Physical and operational characteristics of the housing should encourage and make possible the most independence compatible with residents' level of health and social needs.

a. Independent housing.
b. Semi-independent housing.
c. Dependent housing: nursing home care.

7. Housing is only one of the needs of senior citizens, so service programs and physical designs should maximize the options open to residents in daily life.

8. Management policies, programs and physical spaces should permit and encourage continuation of previous roles and life styles.

9. Each resident should be provided the opportunity to maintain the degree of privacy desired by his life style.

10. The housing project should provide on-site meals which are voluntary. They should be available even to those who already have facilities to prepare their own meals.

The Forrest City-Dillon project has not considered many of these factors in the development of the senior citizen facility for Plymouth.

We really want a senior citizen facility in Plymouth, but we want one that will truly benefit all the senior citizens of this city. We want a project that will help these citizens regardless of their present physical condition.

We want housing that will help the aged regardless of their financial situation. We want to help the seniors regardless of their present or future social or psychological condition. It may take a little while longer, but we want a senior citizen facility for Plymouth that will be a showcase—an establishment we can be proud of.

Supports massive government job creation program. Has publicly advocated wage, price and profit controls. Demands government action to reduce wealth and power of large corporations, but in the same statement suggests "incentives" for the auto industry. Proposes redistribution of income in America, and wrote in '74: "We are a rich country, and if it takes drastic steps to redistribute income, then that is the way it will have to be."

Carl Pursell:

Believes permanent, private jobs and diversified industry are the answers to unemployment. Supports only limited, emergency government job programs, such as CETA. (P.C.)19A

Editor:

A good motor for progress is "keep the old, as long as it is good, and take the new as soon as it is better." The Patrons of the Plymouth Grange have witnessed more change, and accepted more new in our community than any average group of citizens within its bounds. They have been quick to envision something better for the community in the contemplated senior citizens residence, as proposed for downtown Plymouth.

For newcomers to the community, Plymouth Grange 389 was founded in 1874 when Plymouth was the shopping center for a struggling farm community. At present we have about 125 members in Plymouth Grange, many of whom have been members for 50 years or more. Also the majority of these members live within the City of Plymouth and have paid taxes to the city for many years. As taxpayers we endorse the proposed tax abatement for the Forest City Dillon senior citizen project.

As members of the Grange no one will expect any special consideration as applicants for residence in this building. True, many members, as well as non-members, will be eligible by reason of age and economic status, and will be interested primarially because of location and the convenience it offers.

As master of Plymouth Grange I have spoken in favor of this project at most of the hearings, thus representing Patrons and friends who attended these hearings but felt they were not articulate enough to express their feelings. Although personally a resident of the township, I own property on Union Street within a block of this proposed project—thus I pay taxes to the City of Plymouth.

Community service is one of the outstanding purposes of the Grange, and we the members of Plymouth Grange, feel we will be doing an outstanding service to this community in sacrificing our hall to this most worthy cause. Those of you who would limit facilities and services such as proposed in the senior citizen housing project to residents of the city overlook the boundary limits of the city. Would you exclude a good friend or neighbor who might need these facilities more than most others just because he or she happens to live on the township side of the boundary?

As to the project itself, we feel everyone should review carefully the plans, facts and details of this proposed housing facility made available by the developer. We invite all voters to stop at the Grange Hall, 273 Union, and obtain the true facts on this proposition. I believe you will see this project in a more favorable light and can conscientiously vote for tax abatement, and thus help make it a reality for the community's elderly.

Get back to basics: What are we doing?

Editor:

It's pretty significant that the cry to return to basics is being raised. It's only when things are going wrong that someone says: "Wait a minute, what are we doing anyway?"

Certainly things are not going well. We live in a world where someone (usually a child) starves to death every six seconds. We live in a world where every 12 seconds someone is killed in war; and after we subtract all these deaths, we find that 8,500 people every hour are added to the population.

Closer to home, right down the street in fact, one person is killed every 12 hours (there were more murders in Detroit last year than in five years of civil war in Ireland). The biggest cause of infant mortality in the U.S. is parental beating; the second biggest cause of adolescent deaths is suicide. The horrible list goes on.

CERTAINLY there is a reason to ask: What are we supposed to be doing? We are scared, confused and overwhelmed by the failure, inadequacy and destruction. The admonition, however, to return to the basics is not the answer.

To say pledge of allegiance each morning, to march in straight lines to classrooms, to ban the wearing of blue jeans and to memorize readin', ritin' and rithmatic will not give people the means necessary to solve the problems we face.

We must go back beyond the basics and identify why we needed them in the first place. We must ask ourselves: Have things changed enough that we have to re-identify our purpose?

The answer of course, is yes. Now more than ever we have to identify what it is we're working towards. What kinds of things should educated people be able to do? What kinds of qualities do they need to have in view of the human condition today?

WE MUST in education, begin to build a stage from which all people whom we could call "educated" can evaluate human activity. This means that one should have the basic skills necessary to describe, explain, and justify human activities and then be able to make successful prescriptions to improve the quality of the world.

The cry to return to basics is understandable, but let's not stop there. Let's better our chances of success and return to the most fundamental questions: What are we doing? Why are we doing it? Where do we want to go? And how do we get there?

Agrees with press views

Editor:

I am writing to express appreciation for comments set forth in Phil Power's Observation Point on Oct. 14, "Press feeding on gossip."

I am convinced that the great majority of our society fully supports the arguments advanced in support of that position. Unfortunately, however, the press very frequently does play the so-called number games, and, as Power suggests, "without taste or real public service."

I enjoy reading Observation Point and, needless to say, this one in particular.

editorial opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE: Endorsements are arrived at in editorial department committees, which are headed by a community editor and include other editors who are familiar with the race, reporters, senior editors and the co-publishers.

Here's endorsements for Canton board seats

Voters in Canton Township have the rare opportunity to express their opinions on very distinct philosophies that will affect the growth and direction of their community.

For supervisor, the top post in the township, voters may pick either Democrat Harold Stein, Republican Peter Bundarin or write-in candidate Robert Greenstein (the incumbent who was defeated in the Democratic primary).

Peter Bundarin, who has run a low-key campaign for the office of supervisor, is our choice. We believe Bundarin is responding to the homeowners' cry for sensible, equitable growth control in an area that is already a boom town.

Greenstein uses growth control as his rallying point, too, but Bundarin would not isolate himself into a corner where only supporters are welcome as Greenstein has done.

Bundarin is an ambitious young man who needs to further define his program. But we believe he will foster a more open administration than Harold Stein or Robert Greenstein.

Bundarin's "Petuluma Plan" for growth control is not the whole answer for Canton. But it is a framework for building a growth control ordinance that is legal and equitable to business, farmers and subdivision homeowners.

Bundarin's suggestion that we work toward setting up a multi-community police and fire department has merit and must be explored. We must transcend city and township boundaries to bring about efficient government that avoids duplication of services.

Harold Stein, the Democratic candidate for supervisor, has based his campaign on one primary issue. He promises to attract new businesses and industry to Canton Township to eliminate the present "bedroom community" tax base.

Sounds good on the surface. But the Canton Observer is apprehensive about the extent of concessions Stein might extend to business and industry. He says the admittedly strict sign and berm ordinances brought in by the Greenstein administration must go.

While it may be true that Greenstein often placed bothersome restrictions on business places with a berm phobia and severe sign limitations, we are not ready to throw the baby out with the bathwater.

It must also be noted that Harold Stein's background is that of president of S. & S. Excavating Co.

A person with an extensive background in municipal, state and federal construction projects runs the risk of putting himself in a position of conflicting interests in behalf of himself or his clients as township supervisor. Or, more innocently, an ex-contractor could have friendly alliances with fellow contractors that withstand time and ignore good judgment.

In a recent interview, Stein explained that people should realize that businesses and industry arrive first in a community and they in turn attract people to the area to settle. Canton doesn't need to do anything more to attract homeowners and we worry that Stein may have made an understatement when he said that businesses come first.

Clearly, enough people in Canton Township have voted to indicate they oppose over-development of unsightly business strips and oppose a proliferation of unchecked residential growth.

In the candidates' questionnaire Stein said: "The test of true ownership is the right to dispose of property as one sees fit."

Does that mean a landowner can automatically build a fast food eyesore or a bank with inadequate parking on his land? Of course not. People in Canton should make sure they reserve a say in determining the direction of development in their township.

THIS NEWSPAPER'S opposition to the write-in effort has been consistent. We believe the write-in is a divisive factor that is counter-productive to good government. To the people who lost in the primary, we say lick your wounds and come out fighting next election. Or turn your talents toward the citizen advisory groups.

But anyone who firmly supports the track record of Greenstein, Treasurer Carl Parsell, Trustee Jerry Cheske, or Joyce Willis should not hesitate to write-in "the team." Write-in votes are a seldom-used, but legitimate avenue for voter expression.

For clerk, we recommend that Canton voters give Democratic Clerk John Flodin another two-year term in the full-time administration. We disagree with some of his voting, but Flodin has proven invaluable in solving the day-to-day problems that come up. In Flodin's 20 years as Canton clerk, he has shown a consistent record of public service. People of diverse political viewpoints can work successfully with Flodin and that is quite a talent in Canton Township.

The treasurer's race finds us endorsing Republican Hagbard "Bart" Berg. Berg is a man with years of civic service as former president of the chamber of commerce and a dedicated fighter for mental health advancement.

The trustee race is harder. Of six candidates, two will be elected to four-year terms. It would be easier to narrow it down to three people—Lynne Goldsmith, James Poole and Eugene Daley. But pressed to narrow it to two, we endorse Lynne Goldsmith and James Poole.

Ms. Goldsmith is an independent Democrat, which in itself is a plus factor after the plethora of slates. Her involvement in community affairs and organizations such as the League of Women Voters makes her a standout.

Incumbent Republican James Poole is our second choice. Poole has a valuable talent of asking seemingly obvious questions which illuminate unclear areas of township procedure.

His demands for taped meetings and his call for spreading administrative power throughout the entire township board are major assets.

Eugene Daley, trustee candidate on the Stein slate, earns high marks for researching his position before he speaks out. He does this without arrogance and without copping out. Daley's background with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department has been criticized, but we feel it could be an asset to a community that is contemplating increased police protection.

However, Daley must not let his affiliation with the sheriff's department blur his vision when Canton looks at alternatives other than a township contract with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

The old shell game — 1976 style

Ford speaks for workers, seniors, farmers in 15th

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) should be re-elected to Congress for his seventh two-year term on Nov. 2. His 15th District includes Garden City, Westland, Canton Township and a small section of Livonia.

Ford, who has represented the district for the past 12 years, will win a new term on Nov. 2 almost by default because his Republican opponent has failed to mount a viable campaign.

Despite Ford's proven record, we believe that competition is a healthy and important aspect of the political arena. Competition helps prevent candidates from taking their constituency for granted; it inspires initiative and debate and increases a candidate awareness of the voters he serves.

Ford was unopposed in the August primary and presently has no active opposition. That's unfortunate; Ford is a better congressman when challenged.

Although we endorse Ford, we feel the Republican Party owes it to voters in the 15th District to make the congressional seat a challenge.

Ford has been a hard working representative. He has been an effective voice of the working person, senior citizen and farmer. He has supported legislation in such areas as education and consumer protection which would benefit his constituency.

Ford's voting record reflects the needs and wants of the voter he serves. He voted to override President Ford's veto of the public works jobs bill last July. Recently he voted to override the president's veto of an appropriation for the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare.

Ford is responsive. He maintains an office in his home district. He is accessible and effective.

Because of Ford's performance he should be re-elected Nov. 2.

Kidston would do well as a new face in the House

Merely being an incumbent does not earn the right to be re-elected to public office. A good example is Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-Westland), state representative in the 37th House District.

Brown, 58, was elected to the House initially because he had a well-known name, having gained exposure as former mayor of Westland and supervisor of Nankin Township, and by virtue of wearing a Democratic label in a heavily Democratic district (part of Westland, all of Canton, and a portion of Plymouth Township).

But during six years in Lansing, Brown's only major performance has been his work on the opening meeting law this past term. And then he was unable to ward off a series of amendments from lobbyists which weakened the bill's purpose. Brown voted against the transportation bill during the last session and has taken a strong position in favor of Proposal C which, if approved, would dilute his ability to legislate programs needed locally and would shift tax burden to the local levels.

FOR THESE REASONS, plus a general lack of leadership and effectiveness, it is time for a change in the 37th District.

Westland, Canton and Plymouth Township residents would much better be served by Brian Kidston, 39, the Republican candidate from Plymouth Township who is a school administrator in the Plymouth Community School District.

Kidston, who holds a PhD in school administration from the University of Michigan, has experience in working with others for change by assuming civic leadership positions and as a school administrator.

He takes progressive stands on issues and demonstrates a much greater potential to become an effective legislator in Lansing.

Kidston believes urban development must be coordinated and planned on a regional basis. Among possible state actions, he suggests state purchases of land development rights to insure open space and food sources within metropolitan areas, steps to insure a safe and efficient mass transportation system, and to construct adequate public housing.

Kidston properly suggests that financing of public schools by local property taxation should be replaced with state support. He argues for some residual taxing authority at local levels on an enrichment basis, and urges state constitution amendments to guarantee local control of educational programs.

Even if the incumbent were better equipped to fill the position, 37th District residents would still do well to choose Kidston to represent them in Lansing. The Observer recommends a change and offers Kidston as the best choice for voters.

Smith earns a return

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has a rare member who works hard, keeps a close eye on all county functions, and maintains close touch with local governmental units and constituents. That's why Royce Smith, (D-Belle Isle) should be re-elected in the 27th District, which includes Canton, Westland, the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Smith has worked hard to protect and lobby for local interests. He has made himself accessible to local governmental leaders who rely on help from Royce Smith when problems arise which can be dealt with by county government.

Smith worked with both Canton and Plymouth townships in applying pressure to maintain Wayne County Sheriff's patrol services, at least until alternatives are worked out. He was instrumental in pushing for a circuit court in the out-county area. In fact, Smith best functions as a promoter of interests of out-county communities — pushing for drainage improvements and better secondary roads.

He has risen to a position of leadership on the county board, having recently been named a member of the county Board of Health. Smith also serves as chairman of the Manpower Advisory Council and vice-chairman of the Labor Board, and of the all-important Ways and Means Committee.

The Observer commends the public service record of Royce Smith and recommends his candidacy to voters.

Our endorsements

On the four statewide ballot proposals Nov. 2, this newspaper recommends voting:

For proposal A, which would ban non-returnable beer and soft drink bottles and cans.

For proposal B, which would lower the age for state legislators from 21 to 18, matching the voting age.

Against proposal C, which would limit state taxing and spending to 8.3 per cent of total personal income.

Against proposal D, which would lower the state tax on incomes below $20,000 and require big raises for higher incomes, mandating a graduated income tax.

Absentee ballots rapped

Editor:

The names of persons applying for absentee ballots are available to anyone as a matter of public information. After studying this list of names, a number of irregularities were called to the attention of the Township Clerk.

1) Two absentee ballots are missing and unaccounted for. 2) Two absentee ballots were mailed to one voter. 3) Three township candidates seeking election on a write-in and over 50 of their key supporters have applied for absentee ballots.

And now I have noted another unusual situation. Three members of the Radmer family are registered as voters of Canton Township residing at 47500 Hanford Road.

This is also the address of our present Supervisor, Mr. Robert Greenstein.

1) Carol Radmer, registered in June, voted in the August primary and has requested an absentee ballot be mailed to her at an address on Parkland in Detroit. 2) Pamela Radmer registered in June, voted in the August primary and requested an absentee ballot be mailed to her at 47500 Hanford Rd. (Mr. Greenstein's address). 3) Patricia Radmer registered in June, voted in the August primary and presumably still resides at 47500 Hanford (Mr. Greenstein's address).

These facts raise a number of questions. Are two families living in Mr. Greenstein's home? Doesn't this violate Canton's single-family residence zoning ordinance? But the important question is: Are these three persons actually residing in Canton Township? Are they qualified to vote in our Township elections?

It is a recognized fact that absentee ballots can easily invite fraud to enter into an election. As civic minded citizens, let's be on guard that our rights as voters and the integrity of the electoral process are not being abused.

Aging seminar is tomorrow

The Rotary Club will present the next lecture in its year long seminar on aging on Friday at the Mayflower Meeting House.

The scheduled speaker is Dr. Woodrow Hunter, a program director at the University of Michigan-Wayne State University Institute of Gerontology. Dr. Hunter is recognized as one of the foremost authorities on the subject of pre-retirement.

The title of his address is "Preparation for Retirement."

This lecture, as are all lectures in the series, is open to the public. Those wishing to attend can arrive at noon and have lunch, or they can come at 12:30 p.m. and hear the presentation free of charge.

There is a $4 charge for the meal, and those wishing to eat should call the Mayflower Hotel today (Thursday) to make reservations.

In addition to his duties at the Institute, Dr. Hunter also conducts preparation for retirement programs and serves as a consultant to industrial and union groups in developing pre-retirement education programs.

He is a Fellow of the American Gerontological Society and the former president of the Michigan Society of Gerontology.

A Stein voter is now 'absent'

Editor:

I received in the mail today what I consider to be a threat!

I have applied for an absentee ballot in Canton Township. In the mail today I received a letter from the members of the Harold Stein clan. The letter implies that my reasons for an absentee ballot are suspect, dishonest and will be thoroughly challenged on Nov. 2. What do we have here in Canton—leftovers from the Gestapo? If it were not for the absentee ballot I would not be able to vote on Nov. 2. Now it seems we might have an inquisition! Well Mr. Stein, I was about to vote for your group, but following the accusations of this letter, you just lost yourself and your group my vote! I am a Democrat and in lieu of what I feel, I shall certainly look more seriously into the write-in for Greenstein campaign.

Club plans a 'Dickens of a Christmas'

By ELINOR GRAHAM

A "Dickens of a Christmas" is the theme of the Dec. 10 home tour planned by the Plymouth branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association.

The Christmas walk will open to the public this year with two tours planned—the first from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and an evening tour from 7-9 p.m. Five local homes will be on the tour which will include the Plymouth Historical Museum where the old-fashioned charm of a Dickens' Christmas will be evident in the Street of Shops and the Victorian dining room.

"BIRDS' CHRISTMAS Carol" will be the theme in the Gerald Musch home on Appletree.

Others will be: Mrs. Richard Kirckhoff, "Holly and Ivy;" Mrs. John Stathakis, "Wonderful Girl and Boy Land;" Mrs. Clark McKelvey, "Old-Fashioned Tree Trimming;" and Mrs. D.A. Hainbeck, "Calico Christmas." Garden Club member Mrs. Bruce Scott and her committee will be responsible for decorations in the museum.

Mrs. Robert Schultz is in charge of ticket sales which will be available from club members and in some stores.

Co-chairing the tour are Mrs. Quinby Wonn and Mrs. Neal Fenkell.

MRS. ROBERT BRANDENBERG and Mrs. Lawrence Waterhouse have planned a series of workshops, the first of which was last week in the home of Mrs. Bruce Richards.

Members were sewing and stuffing calico Christmas tree ornaments. There were angels, stockings, toy soldiers, Christmas trees, canes, chickens, gingerbread men, Santa Clauses, stars and wreaths.

These and other Christmas decorations, greens and baked goods will be for sale on the Christmas walk.

Tickets soon will be available at $4 per person. The club will give $1 from each ticket sale to the Historical museum.

There's more than one way to skin the fat

By ELINOR GRAHAM

The ladies prefer to remain anonymous.

To families and close friends, they are enthusiastic in their praises of the group and supportive of each other. But the "please don't mention my name" requests will be honored.

Members of Overeaters Anonymous will retain their privacy.

"IT'S MARVELOUS," said Dee. "I lost 90 pounds in 11 months. There are no fees or dues—no absolutes. My diet is nutritionally sound."

"I just came from my meeting and I feel refreshed and alive," Emma enthused. She looked very chipper in a new size 14 suit.

She dropped off some OA materials and was on her way, glowing with health.

The first step in Overeaters Anonymous is an admission.

"Your illness is a drastic illness, and it will take drastic measures to control it. You see, we compulsive eaters have a disease. It is an incurable disease.

"If we are willing to take certain steps, it can be controlled but it cannot be cured. It is every bit as devastating and dangerous, in its way, as diabetes or any other incurable disease. It can ruin health and cause untold unhappiness in its victims.

"We are foodaholics, compulsive eaters. One uncontrolled bite leads to gluttony as sure as one drink by an alcoholic leads to a drunk.

"OUR DISEASE" consists of a mental obsession and a physical allergy.

"The physical aspect can be controlled by total abstinence from the addictive foods—refined sugars and starches.

"The resemblance to alcoholism is striking. The resemblance is no accident. Our illness may well be a form of alcoholism."

A quote is given from "Encyclopedia of Natural Health" by Max Warmbaum MD: "How many are aware that under favorable circumstances, sugar and starches generate alcohol? There are many persons whose intestinal tract is a veritable still—a craving for sugars and starches in many cases is really a craving for alcohol."

Members are told, "Just as a diabetic can never again indulge in certain foods, just as the alcoholic can never again taste alcohol, we also must give up the refined sugars and starches if we are to control our disease and rid ourselves of its ugly symptom—fat."

OVEREATERS Anonymous has borrowed its methods from Alcoholics Anonymous. There is a spiritual part to the program designed to overcome the emotional obsession with food.

When persons are unhappy or nervous, life seems to be pressing in on them, and they feel the urge to eat, they are urged to reembrace themselves.

"Eating food that my body doesn't need is not going to solve this problem—it only will make it worse. I am not going to run away and hide from reality any more. Life is very often painful and frustrating but I must face it like a mature adult—with courage and dignity. If I do this, God will give me the strength to bear whatever I must bear, and I will be a stronger and better person for it."

Overeaters Anonymous members also receive a "Formula for peace of mind" which is similar to the philosophy of Alcoholics Anonymous.

"IT'S NOT A new organization," said Dee. "It has been in existence for about 16 years. It is like AA. We use some of their materials and the fellowship of common problems does help. We learn that power can replace lack of willpower."

"There is a starter kit which is free or members can pay $1.50 for it. There are no dues but offerings or donations are used to defray the expenses of our literature.

"There are two suggested food plans," she added.

There are three established groups in the area:

A Tuesday evening group meets at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church of Plymouth, 4500 N. Territorial Road. Contact is Dee, 464-1258. A Tuesday morning group meets at 9:30 a.m. in Holy Trinity Church on Five Mile, east of Haggerty Road. Contact is Donna, 459-1815. Another group meets each Friday at 12:30 p.m. in the Boy Scout Building, 215 Cady Street, Northville. The contact is Joyce, 348-1662.

Contact persons of each group say it is a good idea to give them a call before attending a meeting for the first time so they can give directions on how to get to there.

A telephone line maintains 24-hour service for members with problems. That number is 882-LIFE.

She reached her goal

Dorothy Crews of Northville Road in Plymouth reached her goal of shedding 164 pounds by faithfully following Weight-Watchers' tenets. She went from a size 52 to a 12 in 16 months. (Staff photo)

Mrs. Crews (right) has a snapshot taken a few years ago to prove it can be done.

A good loser

Two Plymouth women figured prominently in Saturday night ceremonies in Detroit's Ford Auditorium. Nancy Austin (left) was mistress of ceremonies and Dolores Wild was named best area loser. The 20th Annual Detroit Area KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly) graduation ceremony honored TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) members who had achieved their goals. The 120 graduates had lost a total of more than 3,245 pounds. Mrs. Wild received a trophy and bouquet of roses for losing 79 pounds.

Studs allowed with radials

Only motorists whose cars are equipped with radial-ply tires will be able to use studded snow tires legally on Michigan roads this winter, according to the Auto Club of Michigan.

The only studs permitted in radial-ply snow tires are known commercially as Perma-T Grippers, and they can be used only during those periods set by the state highway department.

North of a line from Mason to Arenac counties, the approved studs are legal from Oct. 1 to May 1. Below that line, they are permitted from Nov. 15 to April 1.

Canton chatter

By SHARON STARON 455-5322

THE COLD WEATHER Friday night didn't stop the Canton Camp Fire girls from enjoying their annual hayride.

Crystal Boyd's Cluster arrived at the Childrens Farm and Riding School, on Denton Road here in Canton, expecting to have loads of fun. No one was disappointed.

After the hour-hayride the girls ate roasted hot dogs, marshmallows and s'mores around a big bonfire.

The six group leaders attending were, Cheryl Brining, Marle Hirschauers, Darlene Goemer, Rita Heath, Pam Cortese, and Eileen Bankowski.

The girls are from Hulsing, Miller, Gallimore, and Eriksson schools.

Bev Barr's Camp Fire Girls from Miller School had a fun camping trip a few weeks ago. They went to Camp Wathena which is near Milford. They had their hayride through the camp that weekend.

IF YOUR DRIVING around town Friday and you see a witch or a monster driving a school bus, don't be surprised.

Some of our school bus drivers will be celebrating Halloween a little early as they dress up in costumes for the occasion.

A few of those gals you won't recognize will be, Ellen Maisel, Alice Horstead, Linda Vowles, Sue Hall, Judy Clemente, Nancy Houser and Georgette Doherty. If you don't play any tricks you may get a treat.

OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL and Blessed John Neman Catholic churches are preparing their second graders, as well as their parents, for first communion.

Several of the second grade catechists have been hosting meetings in their homes all week to give the parents new insight into the program.

Some of the ladies out here in Canton are, Nancy Kochevar, Sharon Smith, Rita Heath, Mary Marx, Anna Storbeck, Rita Pace, Diana Lucas, Lynn Harransky, Pat Pahl and Donna Haunher.

THE LADIES FROM THE Windsor Park subdivision are doing a lot of reading these days. For the last three years, some of the gals have belonged to a book club organized and run by Lynn Harden. The club began as an interest group through the Canton Newcomers but is now independent of the club.

This year Ellen Maisel has taken over the duties from Lynn as organizer.

For a starter fee of $3 the members get two different paperback books to read every three weeks. Most of the books are new and some are donated by the members.

The books are passed from neighbor to neighbor. All seems to be running smoothly again this year.

Members of the book club are, Gail Buczek, Lynn Ott, Chris Brooks, Gloria King, Jerri DeTata, Mary Naples, Mary Sandel, Linda Hart, Phyllis Redfern, Karen Griffith, Judy Koch, Donna Lewandowski, and Alice Horstead.

Lowell Thomas at Town Hall

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The arrival in Livonia and Plymouth of an international celebrity like Lowell Thomas is something of a happening.

An unprecedented 15 males turned up to join the women and to hear Thomas at his Livonia Town Hall lecture.

A TV interviewer appeared at the celebrity luncheon in Plymouth's Mayflower Meeting House to extract information from the famous octogenarian newscaster and writer.

Fans repeatedly approached Thomas to sign autographs and sigh sentences like, "I grew up listening to you on the radio."

There was even a poem about him read at the luncheon by his old friend, Lawson Paynter.

Thomas indicated that it was something of a happening for him as well. He pointed out he is often asked "Where have you been?" and "Where haven't you been?"

"I have been to virtually all the countries in the world, but until now I had never been to Livonia, Michigan," he said with a chuckle.

FOR YEARS THE FRIEND of presidents, rulers, religious leaders and media stars, Thomas has come a long way since his first jobs on newspapers in Cripple Creek, Col. more than 50 years ago.

As a reporter and editor in that gold-mining gun-toting town, he developed news skills upon which he would draw the rest of his life.

How did he feel about community journalism? This was a question that would naturally interest the Observer newspapers.

"It is extremely important," he said, adding that while home in Pauling, N.Y., he reads the Pawling Chronicle. "If you are interested in your community, everything in the paper will be of interest to you. You can read about your friends, local problems and other news the big city papers don't touch."

Reflecting their importance on his life, he concluded: "Community papers are the best place for young people to get their start. They can learn what is important as news."

FOR HIS FIRST visit to the area, Thomas wore a bright blue jacket, blue pants, white shirt and a dark blue tie bearing pictures of bobsleds. It was given him by the Federation International of Bobsledding and Tobogganing.

His hair is grey and thick, his frame slightly frail. But his mind can dredge up dates, incidents and even the first names of little known British officers of World War I. He also tossed off the name of a Stockholm newspaper published 100 years ago.

He talked awhile about his activities in the Holy Land during World War I, a time when he first met the legendary Lawrence of Arabia, who was to become the topic of his first book.

But in describing the movie on Lawrence starring Peter O'Toole, Thomas criticized, "the only authentic thing about it was the sand and camels."

"I was puzzled because it was one of the epics of all time. It seemed a shame they didn't stick to the real material."

Thomas noted that the young English desert fighter was a rare combination, "scholar, poet, artist and man of action all put together."

He said Lawrence and his four brothers were all illegitimate, "but it apparently had no great effect on him."

Responding to written reports that the Englishman was a homosexual, Thomas doubted it. "Those of us who were in the desert with him would have had to know about that," he said.

Lowell Thomas discussed newspapering last week and attended a celebrity luncheon in Plymouth. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel) STORIES ABOUT the fall of Jerusalem during World War I and the activities of a woman in that city also were in the bag of tales of the veteran radio and TV commentator.

The defeat of the Turks and subsequent surrender of the holy city, which had not been accomplished by the Crusades or anyone since, was a serious and joyous event. But it had its comic side, which Thomas discussed.

The first surrender was made by military officials to a cook and sergeant, who blundered into the city by mistake; the second to their superior officers. A third surrender was made to an even higher officer, and the fourth to the commander of the area, General Allenby.

"That was the fourth fall of Jerusalem," commented the commentator, who before his retirement completed 46 years of daily radio broadcasts.

THOMAS IS A widower. His son, Lowell Jr., is a government official in Alaska. Thomas, on several occasions, referred to the fact Lowell Jr. had once saved his life.

With him a trip across the Himalayan Mountains sounds more unusual than a trip to Dearborn. But on one occasion it became highly unusual. His horse went off the trail and he was tossed onto some boulders.

"I was carried on the shoulders of men across the Himalayas, across rivers and valleys," recalled the famed world traveler. "I could not have made it without my son who engineered a litter and provided leadership."

Hendry uses antiques for that 'homey' touch

By W.W. EDGAR

Because of his great desire to make the elderly residents of the Convalescent Center feel at home, John Hendry, owner of the facility has gathered a great collection of antique furniture that dates back to the early 1700s.

A collector of antiques since childhood he now has five autos of ancient vintage and eight music boxes, some of which date back to the days when the records were large round steel discs.

But the pieces that give him much of his pleasure are those that adorn the living room of the Convalescent Center on Haggerty Road, atop the hill at Hines Park.

AMONG THE ITEMS is a precious baby grand piano he obtained more than a half century ago. And he's quick to tell you that it is a Steinway and that he has at least 250 rolls containing the works of the great masters.

One here is the famous Paderewski, the greatest pianist the world ever has known," he explains, "and then proudly sits on the piano bench to watch the keys and the keyboard move about just as if the old master, who once was president of Poland, was playing.

When the music roll was finished he pointed out several other outstanding pieces, one of which was a table, small in size but rich in historical value.

"I have been told that only three tables of this model were made. One is in Thomas Jefferson's home at Monticello, another in the White House and this is the third."

SCATTERED ABOUT the spacious room were such items as a sofa done in rich red upholstery, and artistic carving that dates back to 1843.

He managed to get this from a dealer down on Fenkell Ave. in Detroit, who specialized in furniture repair work," he said. "Several of our residents here claim they had sofas like this at home when they were young girls."

Another prize item is a clock, he was told, was 50 years old when President Lincoln delivered the Gettysburg Address. This has a companion that once belonged to Charles Histaher.

In the center of the big living room is another great conversation piece. It is a tilting dining room table, the type of which was popular during Civil War days. "I got this in a shop near Niagara Falls," he tells you, "and it sure brings back a lot of memories to our residents and others who come to visit. The simple little drawer fascinates most of them."

ONE OF THE most charming pieces is an old-time butler's desk that is said to be more than 125 years old.

It is charming in that it not only has drawers and letter slots, but the drawers down either side are marked to tell the amount of liquor and wine that is stored.

"There isn't anything like it around here," Mr. Hendry stated, "so far as I know. And the graduated stock markings are unique in today's homes."

All of these pieces are placed in the first floor living room or parlor, which is to provide entertainment for the residents. It is this setting that is a reminder of the old fashioned parlors many of them knew in their younger days.

There is another outstanding player piano on the second floor parlor, which has been set aside as a conversation room for the residents and their guests.

All told, it is one of the finest collections of antique furniture in the entire western Wayne County area.

Hendry is equally proud of his antique automobiles, one of which is a 1905 Franklin that took top prize in the annual antique car show at Greenfield Village in 1967. In the same year the old Franklin won the Critter Cup as the best restored car in the national show.

The other cars in the collection are a 1904 Oldsmobile, 1908 and 1911 Fords and a 1911 Maxwell—the same style car that the late Jack Benny used in many of his comedy acts.

Hendry just smiles when asked about the collection and the enjoyment of the hobby of collecting furniture, music boxes and antique cars.

What he is interested in mostly is attempting to provide comfort and enjoyment for the elderly folks in the twilight of their lives.

"I just want to make them feel at home in a setting that enables many of them to re-live the days of their youth."

In the old days the parlor was one of the most important rooms in the home, and many of them had the old time music boxes and player pianos that were much like those in the Hendry collection.

Church Bulletin

ST. TIMOTHY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 16700 Newburgh, Livonia, has appointed Terry Cherry, former staff member of the voice of Christian Youth, as their part-time youth director.

Cherry is a recent graduate of the University of Michigan and will be responsible for developing and leading the junior and senior youth groups of the church. He also will develop new ministries for junior age young people and post high school young people.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Six Mile and Farmington Road, Livonia, will honor Dr. Donald G. Lester, executive presbyter for the Presbytery of Detroit, as guest speaker at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. worship services on Sunday, Oct. 31.

Dr. Lester is responsible for the administrative work carried out on behalf of the churches in this area. He has served as pastor of churches in Grand Rapids, West Virginia, Ohio, and Pennsylvania. He has written more than 30 pamphlets and books. Ward United Presbyterian Church will also present the Everyday People, a group of 14 Anderson College students from Anderson, Ind., in a concert at 7 p.m. on Sunday.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, will hold revival services beginning on Wednesday, Nov. 3 through Sunday, Nov. 7.

The guest speaker will be Rev. William Fitzwater from Grand Rapids.

UNITED ASSEMBLY OF GOD, 42021 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, will present a trio of nationally-known gospel artists, the Goodtime Singers, in a musical concert of praise and worship at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 29, and Saturday, Oct. 30, and at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 31.

The group was formed by Jim Loving, a former staff member for Ball State University's Department of Journalism, Muncie, Ind., and has spent thousands of hours in rehearsal, in recording studios, and in prayer, to perfect a flawless music performance which has touched the lives of many people.

The popular team, has recorded 14 albums.

ST. EDITH CATHOLIC CHURCH, 15089 Newburgh, Livonia, will continue its HELP (Help Everyone Love People) series with a talk on "Prayer in our Life" by Sister Mary Ellen Sheehan, professor of theology at St. John Seminary in Plymouth, at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 27.

ST. EDITH CATHOLIC CHURCH, 15089 Newburgh, Livonia, will present a program on drug awareness at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Sgt. Alfred Emrick of the Livonia Police Department will tell to parents about drug awareness and will use a drug demonstration kit.

This special interest program is open to all parents.

REDFORD BAPTIST CHURCH, located at Grand River and Seven Mile Road, Redford Township, will offer three classes for people who made decisions at the Billy Graham Crusade and for those desiring information on the teachings of the Bible regarding Christian life at 10:45 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. beginning Sunday, Oct. 31.

The classes will meet on hour a week for six weeks and will be instructed by Dr. Gordon Schroeder and Mrs. Jean Stiles. The program will include classes for children 14 years and older, young people and adults.

LAKE POINTE BIBLE CHAPEL, 42150 Schoolcraft, Plymouth, will present Detroit police officer Bob Collinash in a special two-hour meeting for young people in the fourth to 12th grades, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Collinash, who has been on the force for five years and is stationed in the downtown area first precinct, will bring his squad car to the church and tell the gathering of his experiences as a Christian cop.

PLYMOUTH WESLEYAN CHURCH, Five Mile and Bradner, will present the Gospel Troubadours of Pan-American Ministries, East Lansing, in a musical performance at 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 31.

The troubadours are a group of young people who express their faith with standard as well as contemporary gospel music using piano, harp, cordovox, flugelhorn, flute and tambourine.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, 34500 Six Mile Road, Livonia, will present the 19-voice youth choir of Covenant Baptist Church of Detroit at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 31.

The choir will sing, "Celebrate Life," which is a musical story of Jesus in simple, dramatic form which communicates to young and old alike.

'Anything Goes' at Rosedale

"Anything Goes," the fast-moving comedy Cole Porter wrote 40 years ago, will go on stage in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church next weekend.

Helen Thomas will be in the role of evangelist-turned-night club owner made famous by Ethel Merman, and Richard Weed and Dorothy Day are playing the parts of gangster and moll.

They will join a bevy of local singers in the action that takes place aboard a luxury steamship and includes such famed musical numbers as "Friendship," "Blow, Gabriel, Blow," "I Get a Kick Out of You," and the title song.

Four performances are planned, at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 4-6, and at 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 7. Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for children. They may be reserved by calling the church office, 422-0494, or Vera Bascom, 422-8640.

Martha Kuykendall is directing the musical, and the cast also includes Hank Fuchs, Marilyn Hirtzel, Steve Peterson, Sue Trisch, Bettie Runyan, Jo Caskey, Caroline Dunphy and Jeanne Stanley.

Others are Bill Dunphy, Mahlon Kiscaden, Dick Burgess, Dave Culler, Merrill

Thomas, Dorothy Hopp, Linda Weed, Janet Riemenschneider, George and Joyce Jewell, Barbara Hillier, Diane Folsom, Mark and Lori Murray, Millie Everson.

Sets are designed by Caroline Dunphy and Lori Murray has choreographed the show. Barbara Burgess is rehearsal accompanist and Shirley Harden will conduct the

Why he's leaving the ministry

By MARGARET MILLER

A Livonia clergyman, forsaking the ministry for the furniture business, thinks it likely that factors that led to his decision may spell continued problems for churches in the liberal strain.

These are the churches, according to the Rev. R. Paul Koons, who will leave Nativty United Church of Christ at the end of this month, which seek through their programs a wider ministry, and dealing with problems of the world.

"I begin to think," he said, "that such a church is not what a large number of people are looking for, and maybe it's not what they can handle right now."

"People have so many problems—family, school, the increase of crime—and all these things are pressing in on them, so maybe they don't want a church that tells them they have to minister to other people's problems."

"Maybe they want a church that just ministers to them and their problems. I know it has to do that, but that can take a lot of energy, both on the part of the clergy and the laymen, and for many it's hard to see that one way to handle our own problems is to get involved in those of others."

KOONS SAID his decision to leave the ministry, based on long deliberation, carried in it these theological considerations along with a desire to move his family to a small town and a wish for more regular working hours.

"In part, my decision was based on the inability to accomplish the things I thought

I ought to be accomplishing as a pastor," he wrote to his congregation in the church publication "Our Father's Business."

There was the added feeling, he went on in the letter, that "my own theological understanding is different from that of many people," and thus "it has become increasingly difficult to minister individually and corporately under those circumstances."

THE DEPARTING pastor, elaborating on that point in an interview, said he sees today "a church that seeks to exist for itself."

"That's important," he conceded, "to be effective, people must get themselves together."

"But it leaves little time and energy for dealing with other things—things like hunger, school systems in deep trouble in the suburbs as well as the city, and other so-called mission problems."

He said that for him this led to a theological problem because "it seems to me that the churches that have time and money to do these things—and there are some—tend to be the conservative ones from a theological viewpoint."

"My problem is not with their ability to do things but in the fact that their theology is not the kind of theology that would be helpful to me. It's not where I am."

KOONS EMPHASIZED that it was not specifically Nativty Church that led to his feelings and added that "a lot of what happened is me."

"I have tried three kinds of ministries," he explained, "in a very small town, as part of the staff of a large congregation and in the suburban setting here, and I realized I did not want to pursue my career in any of them."

"But I've talked to colleagues about this, and while many seem to feel the same problems, not many make the decision I have."

"One told me: 'I have the same kinds of frustrations and feelings, but it's part of me; that's what I thrive on.'"

Koons added that when he started urging people at the end of the summer to get back into the habit of church attendance and bringing pledges up to date he realized that "I don't like pleading; I really don't."

Lutenist to play

Nelson Amos, Ph.D., of the Eastern Michigan University music department, will present a recital at 8 p.m. Oct. 29 in the Liberal Arts Theater at Schoolcraft College.

The performance, presented on lute and classical guitar, will encompass a broad spectrum including 20th century music. It is sponsored by the college's Cultural and Public Affairs Series and offered free of charge.

Amos studied guitar with Oscar Ghiglia at the Aspen School of Music and attended master classes of Michael Lorimer; he completed his Ph.D. in music in 1975 at the University of Iowa and is currently serving his second year on the EMU music faculty.

A recognized authority of lute performance practice, Amos recently presented a paper on Renaissance lute technique at the national meeting of the American Musicological Society in Los Angeles. He is on the board of directors of the Lute Society of America and is presently music editor for the organization.

Nelson Amos will perform on the lute and classical guitar at a recital in the Schoolcraft College liberal arts theater.

Judy Collins pays tribute

Judy Collins will be one of several folk artists paying tribute to folk poet and balladeer Woody Guthrie on "Soundstage" on Channel 56. Entitled "Woody Guthrie's America," the show, which will be presented at 10 p.m., Nov. 1, will also feature Arlo Guthrie, Pete Seeger and Fred Hellerman.

New disco is opened

Napoleon's, a new restaurant which promises attractions for all age groups, opened last week in downtown Plymouth.

There is a bar, dining room and gazebo room with a dancing area. The dining room has space for 400 diners at one sitting. There are tables for larger groups and "all you can eat" family-style dinners. Tables for four also are available and entrees featuring steaks, seafoods and house specials.

The gazebo room has lighter menus with sandwiches and items served in a basket with cole slaw and baked garlic bread. There is music and disco dancing with a large 8 X 10-foot video screen which will show favorite artists, dancers, and television sports specials.

Owner Joe Nahra emphasizes that guests must wear proper attire at all times and that persons under 18 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Shatner to beam onto SC campus

Capt. James T. Kirk of the Starship Enterprise will be beaming onto the Schoolcraft College campus at 8 p.m. Oct. 29 for "Star Trek: An evening with William Shatner."

Shatner, who portrayed the commander of the starship, will be doing a presentation on the phenomenal series, Star Trek.

The program will include film highlights of the program as well as the presentation by one of the series main characters.

Shatner has a long background in the performing field that began at an early age. A native of Montreal, Shatner began his acting career at age 8 and later enrolled in the Children's Professional School in Montreal.

A major turning point in Shatner's career occurred when he appeared in Stratford Festival's 1955 production of the Christopher Marlowe classic "Tamburlaine." Under the direction of Tyrone Guthrie, he portrayed the second male lead with Anthony Quayle. The play then proceeded to Broadway where Shatner was brought critical and popular attention.

Shatner's versatility as an actor is illustrated most by his film roles. He has appeared in such films as "Judgement at Nuremberg," "The Explosive Generation," and "The Intruder," for which he received the Best Actor Award at the International Peace Festival in 1956. He has also guest starred on "Columbo," and starred in the television special, "The Eleventh Hour."

Shatner's hobbies include playing the guitar, singing, riding horseback, motorcycling, archery, water skiing as well as skin diving and photography. He also raises Doberman Pinschers.

His performance at Schoolcraft will begin at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium. Tickets for students in advance are $1.50. All door sales will be $3. For more information, call 591-6400, ext. 355.

Ani and Ida Kavafian appear with Oakway

Oakway Symphony Orchestra will present its second concert of the 1976-77 season on Sunday, Oct. 31 at 4 p.m. It will be held at Seaholm High School, West Lincoln and Cranbrook Roads in Birmingham.

Ani and Ida Kavafian, violinists, will appear as guest artists. They will perform the Mozart "Sinfonia Concertante" for violin and viola, and Sarasate's "Navarra" for two violins, arranged by Francesco Di Blasi, conductor of the Oakway Symphony.

THE SISTERS were born in Istanbul, Turkey of Armenian parentage. The family moved to the Detroit area when the girls were quite young. They began their musical studies in the Royal Oak Public Schools. Later they studied with Ara Zerounian and Mischa Mischakoff. They both have degrees from Juilliard School of Music.

Ani will again be appearing in the Young Concert Artist series during the 1977-78 season, when she will be on "mini-residencies" in colleges and universities throughout Michigan. She has been soloist with the Detroit Symphony, the Boston "Pops," the Dallas Symphony, the Greenwich Symphony, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and the Oakway Symphony Orchestra.

Ida has been a participant in the Casals Festival in Puerto Rico. She is currently a member of "Tashi," an exciting and innovative string quartet with Peter Serkin, pianist. Recently, Tashi has received acclaim for performances from New York's premier jazz club, "Bottom Line," to the Mozart Festival at Lincoln Center, where they appeared in chamber programs and as soloists with the Mostly Mozart Festival Orchestra.

"TASHI" HAS toured extensively in Europe, the Far East, and North and South America.

Tickets for all concerts of the Oakway Symphony are available at Hudson's, Royal Music of Royal Oak, Hammell Music of Livonia and Madonna College of Livonia. General admission is $2.00.

Rivalry caps football season

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

The final week of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Football League pitted the annual rivalry between the Plymouth Lions and the Plymouth Panthers at Central Middle School Sunday afternoon.

All three contests were extremely close, as all six teams gave good performances and displayed fine sportsmanship.

The freshman and junior varsity games followed the same mold, as the Lion squads won both games by identical 6-0 scores.

The varsity contest was the most thrilling of the afternoon, as the Panthers came from behind in the final minute of play to edge the Lions 14-13.

After a scoreless first half of action in the varsity battle, a 36-yard fake punt run by Lion Tim Crowder reached the end zone for a 6-0 lead.

With only 4:39 left in the contest, the Panthers got on the scoreboard for the first time with a 51-yard pass play from Cris Susock to Mark Peng down the left sidelines.

The Panthers went ahead on the extra point, 8-6, when Susock hit Ted Ludlow on a three-yard pass.

The Lions came right back on the next drive to score with only 48 seconds left on the clock. Crowder ran the yardage for the touchdown and a 13-8 lead.

THE NEVER-DIE Panthers took the ensuing kickoff down the field, and Susock hit Peng on exactly the same pass play that worked four minutes earlier.

The last second score gave the Panthers the one point victory, 14-13.

In the two 6-0 games that preceded the varsity contest, both squads played scoreless first halves before the Lions scored third quarter touchdowns.

In the freshman game, quarterback Bill Piper snuck over from the one-yard line for the Lion victory.

The junior varsity score saw Duane March hit Todd Beauchamp on a 65-yard pass. The Panthers have a 2-5 mark. The Lion junior varsity finished at 4-3, while the Panther contingent was 0-6-1. The Lions varsity went 2-5 for the year, and the Panther gridders were 1-6.

The annual post season banquet will be held Tuesday night, Nov. 9 at the Roma Hall in Livonia. For more information, parents should contact their respective unit directors.

THE MOTHERS AND FATHERS of all the players filled the stands Sunday afternoon, continuing to give support to the organization on this final day of the season. Paul Meador, president of the league said, "We continue to be very proud of the program we offer the youngsters. It is the finest junior football program in the state of Michigan."

Meador added that the purpose of the program is not only to teach the skill of the game, but to include the ideals of sportsmanship.

The league also concerns itself with maintaining character based on involvement, dedication, integrity and love. Meador said.

Bob Moore was forced to take an idle seat on the bench during the Lion-Panther game due to a broken left arm he suffered in an earlier contest.

Two Panther coaches bark out instructions during halftime of the freshman game as the squad listens intently. The Panthers dropped the game to the Lions, 6-0, but not before putting up a battle. Ten-year-old Delton Ramseur uses his forearm to maximum efficiency on this run as Lion defender Brad Bloomhuff will testify. Ramseur was one of the game's top rushers Sunday afternoon.

Salem cagers perfect

By GLENN BUNTING

Both Plymouth Canton and Salem girls' basketball teams were successful Tuesday night, to further their impressive records.

Salem upped its overall mark to a perfect 12-0 with a 49-40 pasting of Trenton. Canton handed Dearborn Fordson a 37-31 defeat in a nonleague encounter that pushed the Chiefs' record to a respectable 8-4.

SALEM-TRENTON

The Rocks converted 13 first-half steals into a 28-22 lead at intermission and then outscored Trenton 15-9 in the final period to lift its Suburban Eight record to a league leading 13-0.

Coach Debbie Hatcher said she was pleased with Salem's ball hawking defense that collected a total of 19 steals, nine by Donna Goodrich. "We played a little shaky in some areas, but I thought our defense was aggressive and committed itself at the proper times," Hatcher said.

Paced by Peggy Moore's 16 points, the Rocks failed to duplicate an earlier 76-45 thrashing of Trenton. "We took enough shots (74) and I felt they were high percentage ones, but we had an off night," Hatcher added.

DIANE GOODRICH's 13 rebounds led the Rocks on the boards, followed by Peggy Moore's six. But the big rebounding forward was Trenton's Carol Lynn, who picked up 15 points on easy garbage shots and gathered several rebounds.

She put on practically a solo effort for Trenton, pulling the losers within three after the third quarter. But Trenton ran out of gas, and Salem reeled off a string of unanswered points to seal up the victory. Salem entertains Allen Park starting at 8 p.m. tonight.

CANTON-FORDSON

The Chiefs surprised Fordson, dealing the Dearborn squad only its second defeat of the season. Canton led all the way, taking a 24-18 advantage into halftime and stretching it to 30-22 at the end of three quarters.

The final stanza was a high scoring one as the locals tallied 14 points to Fordson's 15. Kathy Sochacki and Ellen Doran were the only two Chiefs to break double figures with 13 and 10 points.

Canton travels to Northville tonight in search of its ninth win.

Doc's Corner

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

Salem football coach Tom Moshimer maintained one of his winning streaks last week, beating rival Livonia Bentley for the seventh time in a row.

This Friday night-a streak is on the line—homecoming for the Rocks at the Centennial Park.

Moshimer has not lost a homecoming game at Plymouth in quite a few years, but the odds on keeping this streak alive are extremely slim as the Dearborn Pioneers visit for an 8 p.m. battle.

The Pioneers should easily win this game, but the big question is by how many points.

Before we determine that figure, let me remind you of some previous games played this season.

Last week, Dearborn beat its rivals from Edsel Ford 20-14 in overtime. That's the same Edsel Ford team that crunched the Rocks 42-0 two weeks ago.

Both Salem and Dearborn have lost to league leading Belleville. Dearborn's loss to the Tigers, its only setback of the season, came in overtime. The Rocks were completely dominated by Belleville in the first conference game of the year, 12-6.

The Rocks shut out a respected Trenton team in their best performance of the season, 13-0.

The Pioneers beat this same Trenton squad one week later, 31-0.

Enough said. Dearborn by 21.

PLYMOUTH CANTON has one last shot at winning a Western Six League game this season when it travels to Livonia Churchill for an afternoon game beginning at 3:30 p.m.

And if there ever was a chance for the Chiefs to win in the conference this season, this is the week.

Even Churchill was a loser to Walled Lake Western, 3-0, last week.

The Chargers have an identical 1-5 record with the Chiefs but the one team they beat was Waterford Mott.

Mott beat Canton 27-0 in the first conference contest of the year. Churchill by 8.

Homecoming foe is trouble

Homecoming spirits fill the air for the second time this season at the Centennial Park, as Plymouth Salem High School is in the midst of this celebrated week.

But Rock fans may have to do all their celebrating before Friday night, as this year's highlighted game brings the Dearborn Pioneers into town.

"Dearborn has to be good," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "They beat Edsel Ford."

Last week, the Pioneers staged a 20-14 overtime victory over state-rated rival, Dearborn Edsel Ford.

Yes, that's the same Edsel Ford that beat the Rocks earlier this year, 42-0.

The aspect of Dearborn that has everyone talking is the enormous size of its interior, lineman. To put it simply—they are huge.

To go along with that line is quick offensive halfbacks and linebackers.

This could spell trouble for the Rocks' offensive wishbone style of play, which has had problems against the quicker teams. The Rocks may have to go to the air sooner than they want.

On offense, the Pioneers run power football with a variety of quick openers. They also have a decent passing attack. With O&E this kind of power offense, the Rock defense may be able to handle the quickness of the Pioneer backfield. It's been the quick backs in the option-type offenses that have given Salem fits this season.

Moshimer doesn't anticipate any problems with his pass defense, despite last week's shot gun performance from Bentley's Keith Schneider that gained 165 yards.

Moshimer felt his secondary had the receivers covered well, and it was a credit to Schneider's ability to hit the seams that made the difference.

The Rocks come into this Friday night battle with a 4-2 overall mark and 3-2 in the Suburban Eight League conference. Dearborn is 6-1 overall, losing only to conference leading Belleville.

Game time is 8 p.m.

THE PLYMOUTH CANTON CHIEFS are on the road for an afternoon game against the Livonia Churchill Chargers beginning at 3:30 p.m. This contest, a battle between two 1-5 squads, is the last chance for the Chiefs to win a Western Six league game this season.

"They (Churchill) are young and they are coming," said Canton coach Dave Schuele. "We are going to have to stop their backside running."

Schuele also has respect for the Charger nine-man defensive line which it uses against the run. This defense limited state-ranked Farmington Harrison to only 21 points in Churchill's opening conference loss. Harrison has been averaging over 35 points a game this season.

Despite the 38-0 loss to Northville on Saturday, Schuele said he saw progress. "If you look at the statistics, it doesn't look like the same game," Schuele said.

The Chiefs controlled the ball for 59 plays to Northville's 43. Canton outtrashed the Mustangs 221 to 205 on the ground. Both teams recorded 14 first downs each.

The statistics that hurt the Chiefs were the 115 yards in penalties and the two fumbles lost. Northville played error-free ball and had only 60 yards in penalties.

"Take away a couple of big plays Northville made and it was a ballgame. We hurt ourselves."

"I definitely thought we had a chance to beat Northville before the game," the Canton mentor said. "Maybe I'm the eternal optimist, but if we hadn't made dumb mistakes we could have hurt them."

"I think our kids played a whale of a ballgame."

Freshman Kathy Horton made quite a showing of herself on the high school tennis circuit this fall, culminating with a berth in the tennis regional finals last week. She was the Suburban Eight winner in number four singles for Plymouth Salem, which placed second behind Trenton in the league meet. Horton can be considered one of the Rocks' top prospects for future years.

Northville nips Canton Salem tankers dunk Belleville

By GLENN BUNTING

Plymouth Salem vaulted over the 100 point mark in whipping Suburban Eight foe Belleville Tuesday night, 115-57. Meanwhile, Canton nearly pulled off an upset over a strong Northville squad before succumbing 47-36.

Salem coach Chuck Olson switched several girls to new events, experimenting for Thursday night's crucial meet with Dearborn. Olson's maneuvers made the Rocks' times go up and stopped Salem from running the score up on Belleville.

Canton coach Ann Massy was pleased with the Chiefs' performance, despite the defeat. Two girls broke their own school records and nearly everyone recorded an improvement in their times.

SALEM-BELLEVILLE

It was all Rocks as the Belleville tankers would have been better off at home. Salem took firsts in every event except the 200-yard individual medley, diving and the 100-yard freestyle.

The Rocks swept the 500-yard freestyle with Marian Stanwood placing first, followed by Laura Perpich and Kim Coates. Marian Stanwood was a triple winner, adding the 200-yard freestyle and 400-yard freestyle relay to her bag of victories.

Sister Sue Stanwood won the 100-yard butterfly and also swam a leg in the 400-yard freestyle relay.

Other first place winners for Salem were Jill McCann (50-yard freestyle), Diane Perpich (100-yard backstroke) and Colette Cabados (100-yard breast stroke). The Rocks' 200-yard medley relay team opened the meet with a victory behind the combined performance of Jill McCann, Collette Cabados, Ilona Schmidt and Sue Stanwood.

THE FOURSOME of Renee LaKatos, Pat Stocker, Madeline LaKatos and Sue Sparling finished second to their Salem teammates in the opening event.

Other top performers for the Rocks were Amy McClumpha, who placed second in diving, and Sharon Ross, who was runner-up in the 100-yard freestyle.

Coach Olson sees Thursday's meet with Dearborn as one of Salem's toughest to date. A win would clinch the Suburban Eight championship with a perfect 5-0 mark. Normally, swimming in a six lane pool, the Rocks would run Dearborn right out of the gym.

But the locals will be on the road competing in Dearborn's five-lane pool, which strips Salem of its depth. Instead of entering three contestants in each event, teams are only allowed to submit two.

Since Dearborn possesses three outstanding tankers, the smaller field helps the home team considerably. Still, barring any major upsets, Olson expects to win, but the race should be interesting.

CANTON-NORTHVILLE

Coach Ann Massy was very proud of her Chief tankers after their narrow 47-36 loss to Northville, which is all a coach can ask of her players. The girls sliced their times, and two even went as far as breaking their own school records.

Cindy Schelanskey and Wendy Gray each broke their own previous best, thus setting new Canton marks. Schelanskey swam a 2:32.5 in the 200-yard individual medley while Gray's 1:66.5 points in diving surpassed her all-time high.

Only a sophomore, Gray is one of the more promising performers on this year's Chief team. She is continuing to improve her diving output, which is looking more respectable with each outing.

Other first place winners for Canton were its 200-yard medley relay team of Cindy Schelanskey, Sue Knight, Annette Piethe and Tina Dewalt, its 400-yard freestyle relay team of Dewalt, Peithe, Peggy McEmmel and Jean Anderson.

RUNNER-UP finishes were recorded by Anderson (50-yard freestyle and 100-yard freestyle), Schelanskey (100-yard backstroke) and Sue Knight (100-yard breast stroke).

The Chiefs were hampered by the same problem that confronts Salem tonight—a four-lane pool. While the more powerful Northville squad may have scored more points, Canton would have been able to use more girls, which is helpful in a rebuilding year.

But coach Massy looked at last year's 50-33 defeat at the hands of Northville, and sees an improvement in this year's performance. The loss evened the Chiefs overall record to 4-4, while lowering its Western Six mark to 1-4.

Canton travels to Walled Lake Western for a 4 p.m. meet today.

Salem's Myrtle paces WMU

Sue Myrtle, 1975 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, is the leading scorer on Western Michigan University's junior varsity women's field hockey team this season.

Myrtle, a sophomore forward, has collected 12 goals through the first six games. The Broncos' junior varsity holds a 5-1 record going into this week's action.

In one game, Myrtle scored an astonishing seven goals in a 9-0 smearing of Teledo. Western's varsity field hockey squad is also doing well this season, compiling an 8-0-2 record as of Friday.

Myrtle is a former girls basketball player for the Chiefs, gaining all-league and all-area honors in her senior year. She also is an excellent softball player, having competed on the championship Vettesse Builders women's team over the past four summers.

She is the daughter of Robert and Virginia Myrtle of 40963 Greenbriar Lane in Lake Pointe Village, Plymouth Township. Myrtle is a physical education major.

Churchill raps Patriots

CHURCHILL-FRANKLIN

Livonia Churchill, utilizing a crushing full-court zone press defense and a hot-shooting offense, jumped out to a 24-2 first quarter advantage then coasted the rest of the way Tuesday night to earn a 61-29 non-league girls' basketball victory over Livonia Franklin.

"Franklin just had a bad night shooting," observed Churchill coach Jim Newman. "We started real hot and once we got moving, they (Franklin) could never get control of the game."

Linda Lindstrom, Linda Mix and Sue Anderson scored 16, 11 and eight points, respectively for the Chargers, while Carolyn Mulkiten paced the Patriots with seven points.

THURSTON-NORTHVILLE

Everyone played at least one quarter for Redford Thurston at Parents' Night Tuesday evening, and the girls pleased their folks by downing Northville in a non-league basketball contest, 46-27.

Thurston coach Jane Robey was not at all thrilled with her charges' performance, though, in spite of the victory.

"The game was very sloppily played," Robey said. "It was really kind of messy all the way around. We're the kind of team that usually plays only as good as we have to." The Eagle coach said in reference to the not-too-strong Northville squad.

Cathy Rousseau tallied 11 points for Thurston. Lorna Padyjesak pumped in 10 and Donna Meyer chipped in eight.

Realty World enters playoffs

Realty World of the Plymouth men's touch football league, finished the regular season action with a 10-2 dumping of the Stoners last weekend.

Realty goes into the playoffs with a perfect 7-0, first place standing.

The only scoring in the first half of this game was a 21-yard field goal by Realty. Early in the fourth quarter, Chuck Anzalone intercepted a pass at the Stoners' two-yard line. On the very next play, Realty's quarterback Gary Knapp hit Dennis Finrock for the lone touchdown of the game.

With minutes left in the contest, Stoners recorded a safety when Knapp dropped back to pass but rolled to his right out of the end zone for the two points.

Game two featured the battle for the fourth and final playoff spot, between Mean Machine and Vettese Builders.

Vettese struck early as Rick Neu and Clark Fullerton combined on a pass for a 7-0 lead. In the second period, Mean Machine quarterback Dan DeVito found Mike McCoy in the corner of the end zone for a 7-7 tie.

Vettese came right back with a sustained drive as Neu hit Joe Vettese for a touchdown. Late in the final period, Machine's DeVito hit McCoy for a score that sent the game into overtime.

Each team scored a touchdown during the overtime stanza which forced a final sudden death period.

During sudden death, Vettese outgained Mean Machine in total yardage in a four down series to win the game and gain the playoff berth.

Ex Post Facto rounded out the regular season schedule by thumping winless Wagenschutz, 26-0.

Facto scored twice in the second quarter. Mike Yockey tossed a 16-yard pass to Eric Harrington for the first score, and Kurt Yockey snuck over from two yards out for the second six-pointer.

With play in the fourth period, Kurt Yockey intercepted a Wagenschutz pass and lateraled to Keith Yeager for a combined 41-yard touchdown. Late in the contest, Kurt Yockey hit Jeff Horton for the final score.

Final standings read: Realty World 7-0, Stoners 5-2, Facto 3-2, Vettese 3-4, Mean Machine 1-6, and Wagenschutz 0-7.

Salem defense shines in JV match; stops Bentley on goal

The best teams come through in the clutch. Plymouth Salem's junior varsity football team kept to that motto Thursday afternoon with a swarming defense that paced the Rocks to an exciting 7-6 victory over Livonia Bentley.

Although the contest was a low scoring affair, there was plenty of action. Both teams exhibited a physical brand of football and were presented with numerous scoring opportunities.

Trailing by one point with less than two minutes remaining in the game, Bentley had the ball on the Salem one-foot line, second down and goal. All the Bulldogs had to do was punch the ball over the goal line in three tries and run out the clock for the win.

But it wasn't that easy. On the next play, Salem's Greg Ruhlman broke through the Bentley interior line and stripped the ball from the arms of the opposing quarterback. Mike Campbell then recovered the loose pigskin for the Rocks.

WITH THE BALL deep in their own territory, Salem's offense played conservatively for the last minute and a half to run out the clock and preserve the narrow win.

The game began just as it ended when Bentley fumbled the opening kickoff. The Salem offense, however, failed to take advantage of the miscue and the Rocks were forced to punt.

But on its second possession, Salem speedster Bill Bournias swept around right end for 32 yards for the locals' only score. Dave Wilcox's conversion made it 7-0.

Bentley rebounded early in the final period with a quick score to pull within one point, 7-6. Thinking along the line that a tie is like kissing you're sister, Bentley decided to attempt a two point conversion.

BUT THE STINGY Salem defensive unit rose to the occasion when it had to and stopped the Bulldogs' conversion attempt.

Actually, the Rocks should have scored more than one TD on offense. Four players rushed for a total of 276 yards, but penalties hurt the Salem cause. Sam Morrill led Rock rushers with 74 yards, followed by Bournias (72), Paul Dillon (71) and Campbell (59).

Defensive stalwarts included Craig Price, Jeff Bruner, Dave Wilcox, Kris Kappeler, Jim Daratony, Terry Ward and Ken Wilson. Two-way starter Mike Campbell was given "Player of the game" honors from the coaching staff.

Rock linksmen sputter

By BETTY DeLANO

The Plymouth Salem boys' golf team just didn't seem to get it together at the Class A high school State Golf Tournament held at Binder Park in Battle Creek last Saturday.

Ted Kuhns, a junior at Salem, led the Rocks to an 18th place finish in the tourney with an impressive score of 79 for the 18 holes played. Senior-captain Mike Mullen came in behind Kuhns with an 80 on the course.

Of the 20 teams that participated, the Grandville squad took first place with a 322 for its four man team score just ahead of Birmingham Seaholm's 323.

Other Salem scores, besides the 79 from Kuhns and the 80 from Mullen, were senior Mike Wickham and junior Jim Ross each putting in with 93s, giving the team a final score of 345.

Dave Koch of Seaholm was awarded medalist honors after shooting par-72. Ann Arbor Huron's Willard Richart was second low with a 74. Huron placed third in the standings with a 327.

Softball stats in for Class B

Almost two months after the men's state class B softball tournament was played, the final statistics have finally been tabulated.

The tourney was held Labor Day weekend in Mt. Pleasant where Canton's McMurray Insurance finished third and Plymouth's contingent, Massey, placed eighth.

But despite Massey's eighth spot in the 24-team double elimination event, this Plymouth squad was one of the top teams in the statistical race.

Massey finished with the best team batting average with a .565 clip. Plymouth placed eight people over the .500 batting mark, while Canton's McMurray had five.

Dan McGrath led Massey with an .800 average, good for second place. Jim Hauncher's .700 was ninth, while A.J. Vaughn and McMurray's Carlos Vasquez tied for 13th with a .567 average.

McGrath was fifth on the individual list in base hits.

In team home runs, Massey finished second with 26. McMurray's Rick LaHouse was the individual second place finisher in round trippers with seven.

Massey showed depth in hitting the long ball, as McGrath, Mike Griffin and Cal Glofinski each tied for third in homers with six each.

Massey also finished second in doubles (24) and fifth in triples. Vaughn and Griffin placed first and third respectively in the individual list for doubles while Griffin placed second in triples with two.

In The Pocket.

By W.W. EDGAR

Fred Vitali, the right-handed sharp-shooter who has done a lot of bowling at Westland Bowl, is now furnishing one of the most dramatic chapters of the new season.

Dropped from the Stroh team at the close of the last campaign, Fred set about to get even and show his former sponsor that it was a mistake to let him go. And up to now, he is a great job of it.

Now a member of the Goebel team in the All-Star Classic, he has piled up a 215 average and the team is setting the pace while Stroh is back in eighth.

From all appearances, it seems that Vitali will have the last laugh.

ANOTHER bowler who is enjoying the season is Cora Fiebig, the former Bowling Queen who had an off-season last year.

Now back on her game, she is leading the Ladies Major League in averages with 189, and her Luxury Lanes team is in first place.

GEORGE BASHARA is also enjoying a laugh these days. He is sponsoring a team in the Westland Ladies Classic, and it came up with the high score of the season in the loop this week when it rolled a 2,705. The Wonderland owner likes nothing better than to sponsor a winner in a rival house. Joan Arney showed the way for her teammates with a 216 in 610, while Jane Masta fashioned a 225 in 599. Jean Essa added a 203 in 539. Gloria Tabone contributed a 516 and Sandy Lewis had a 441 to complete the big count.

THE SPLIT CONVERSION CLUB at Mayflower Lanes added three new members this week.

Don Ladd qualified by toppling the 7-10. Barb Weber gained her entry with a successful shot at the 6-7 and Whanetah Veech made it by up-ending the 3-6-7-10.

Dot Haggard rolled the high single for the week in the women's section when she posted a 268 and Kathy Wilson had high series with a 602.

Free "Let's Horse Around" T-shirts with the DRC emblem will be given away Saturday to the first 1,000 paid grandstand patrons at the Livonia mile track. Gates open at 11 a.m. with the first race at 2 p.m.

The long thoroughbred racing season swings into the cold winter months but leading rider Wayne Catalano remains the hottest jockey in the country. Last week, the 20-year-old rode 16 winners at the DRC which was the largest win production of that period for any jockey in the United States.

Going into last week's race card, Catalano needed 49 more victories in 35 remaining days to break Larry Snyder's DRC and North American record of 162, set in 1973.

Ladywood nips Borgess by 2

LADYWOOD-BORGESS

In a Tuesday night girls' basketball game that mirrored the first battle between the two protagonists, Ladywood, trailing all the way, scored the winning points in the final seconds to edge Redford Bishop Borgess, 71-69.

The win clinched a place for Ladywood in the Catholic League playoffs. Borgess was in command most of the way, owning advantages of 16-8 after the first quarter, 38-32 at the half and 56-50 after three periods.

Carol Crissey canned two crucial free throws to tie the game with 30 seconds left and Liz O'Brien, a substitute center, scored the winning basket with only two seconds remaining.

"We had good fast breaks and good defense at the end," stated Ladywood coach Ed Kavanaugh.

Kathy Stacey, a substitute guard, spearheaded the balanced Ladywood offensive attack with 13 points. Jan Pawlak, O'Brien and Crissey all scored 12. Diane White contributed 11 and Mary Clare Swabon added nine.

Sue Janus, a hot-shooting guard, sparked Borgess with 27 points, while Karen Bohland and Mary Gibbons counted 16 and 14, respectively.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY FUND

HAVE YOU GIVEN?

In 1944, a group of interested Plymouth residents began the process of helping meet local needs through the Plymouth Community Fund. This year's effort to continue that tradition of self help projects a budget of $244,000. Of this amount, about 90% is allocated directly for service in Plymouth. The other 10% returns as benefits through research and specialized help provided by groups such as the Red Cross, Cancer Society, and United Way. The help you give today returns as help some other day. We ask your interest and your support for the Plymouth Community Fund. Give today!

The van is now one of the new status symbols of young adult consumers. (Staff photos).

Losing its ranking as a top status symbol is the Corvette.

Vans: The new status symbol

By W.W. EDGAR

Through the years the automobile industry has been subjected to many trends. They ran the gamut from the first "open" car, to sports models with rumble seats, the convertibles, and later the lengthy multi-colored long bodies.

Each, in turn, was a status symbol. When you owned a sports car, with the big belt across the top of the hood, you were considered part of the "in" crowd.

Now a new trend is upon us and it is a strange one—even to the auto dealers themselves.

THE NEW TREND is away from such sports models as the Corvette and the Thunderbird and the van has become the status symbol.

"Many of the young folks now look upon the van as the 'in' thing," says Clarence DeCharme of the American Motors dealership.

"They equip them almost like living rooms, pile the youngsters in the back along with sleeping bags and they are off for a good time. This is the way they go camping or call on others for visits. Their thoughts are far from the status symbols of the last few years."

De Charmé confided that AMC was ahead of time with its compact cars.

"Few people are interested in the small cars like our Pacer," he said, "and possibly they won't be until gasoline (God forbid) goes to $1.25 per gallon. Then they'll come back for the smaller car."

Lou La Riche, the Chevrolet dealer in Plymouth, was just as positive that the van has become the status symbol.

"The way the young people are dressing up the vans these days is most surprising. They can use the van as a living room and some of them even have sinks and refrigeration. When you have a van furnished in this manner these days you really are somebody."

While he agreed that the van was becoming popular Jack Selle, the Buick dealer, pointed out that his company had not gone too far into the small car field and, therefore, he didn't find much of a change.

"I find that people still want the big car," he said, "and my big trouble is not being able to get as many big models as I want."

IT WAS THE same at the Calhoun Ford agency where the small cars, such as the Pinto, are not moving as fast as desired. The emphasis is the larger cars, but the Ford van now is becoming among the most popular.

"Camping has had a lot to do with the preference for the van over the old station wagon," De Charmé explained.

SEMTA likes transit funding bill

By TIM RICHARD

Joseph P. Bianco Jr., board chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA), said he and other board members are "very pleased" with the new transit funding and reorganization bill passed by the Michigan Legislature and signed by Gov. Milliken.

SEMTA leaders some weeks ago had expressed displeasure at earlier versions of the transit bill that would, in effect, put Detroiters on both sides of the bargaining table in SEMTA's efforts to acquire and merge Detroit's Department of Transportation (D-DOT).

The new law expands the SEMTA board from nine members to 15, giving greater appointive powers to local officials and reducing the roles of both the governor and the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG). The law will provide an estimated $12.5 million in new operating and capital funding for SEMTA from the tri-county metropolitan area.

SUBURBAN LAWMAKERS from the Observer & Eccentric area gave majority support to the bill, which passed the house 65-37 and the senate 29-4.

Among Oakland representatives, the bill was supported by James Defebaugh (R-Birmingham), Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park) and Ruth McNamee (R-Birmingham). Opposed were Mel Larsen (R-Oxford) and Sal Rocca (D-Sterling Heights).

Absent with leave was W.V. Brotherton (R-Farmington).

Among Wayne representatives, supporters were R. Robert Geake (R-Northville), William Keith (D-Garden City), John Markes (D-Livonia) and Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti). Opposed were John Bennett (D-Redford) and Thomas Brown (D-Westland).

In the upper chamber, Sens. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park), William Faust (D-Westland) and Bill S. Huffman (D-Madison Heights) supported it. Absent were Donald Bishop (R-Rochester) and Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth).

HERE IS HOW SEMTA board members will be selected when the new law takes effect next April 15:

•The mayor of Detroit will pick five members directly.

•Suburban Wayne County will have three members, all selected by suburban members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

•Oakland County will have three members, one picked by the county board and two by SEMCOG with the advice and nominations from cities, villages and townships in Oakland.

•Macomb County will have two members, both selected by the county board.

•The other four counties in the SEMTA region (Washtenaw, St. Clair, Monroe and Livingston) will have two members between them, one appointed by the governor and one by SEMCOG.

The present board consists of six SEMCOG appointments and three by the governor.

The new board will consist of five by the mayor of Detroit, three by SEMCOG, seven by county boards of commissioners and one by the governor.

BIANCO SAID SEMTA's objection to the lack of legislative pressure on Detroit to sell D-DOT to SEMTA had been alleviated "to some extent."

"The tax package will expire in three years unless the merger is complete," the board chairman from Bloomfield Hills said. "The statute mandates that within a year, an evaluation of D-DOT's assets be completed and a complete management study of D-DOT be made to lay out specific plans for the merger."

SEMTA board members had been concerned that the legislature would force the regional agency to assume D-DOT's hefty pension liabilities. That fear was eliminated, however, when an appropriations bill several weeks ago committed the state to assuming D-DOT's pension liabilities as part of the "equity" package to aid Detroit.

"THE BILL mandates that all operating and capital budgets must be passed by a two-thirds vote of the SEMTA board," Bianco added.

"That is intended to counter-balance the fear of undue Detroit influence on the board."

Transit chief resigns

By TIM RICHARD

Clarence Generette's resignation as general manager of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) was quickly accepted by the governing board for two sets of reasons:

- SEMTA has internal administrative problems which the board felt weren't being solved.
- The staff Generette headed has been too soft in selling regional transportation plans.

THOSE PACKAGES of reasons emerged from conversations with board members following Generette's announcement Tuesday that he would leave the seven-county agency Nov. 1.

His letter acknowledged that "the SEMTA board and I have had some differences, more in method than material; more in process than in product."

He also cited "a combination of personal and family reasons."

Under his contract, Generette, 53, will collect a lump sum payment of 90 days of salary about Feb. 1. It amounts to severance pay.

BOARD CHAIRMAN Joseph Bianco Jr. denied a published report that the board was unhappy with Generette because of SEMTA's inability to negotiate acquisition of Detroit's Department of Transportation (D-DOT).

Bianco, of Bloomfield Hills, had no comment otherwise. He said the board would give Generette a "positive recommendation" for another job if asked.

Julie Evans, the newest board member, said in answer to a question that the board knew before Tuesday's meeting that Generette would submit his resignation.

THE BOARD'S feeling, said Mrs. Evans, was that SEMTA had internal management problems. She pointed to a "shake-up" in the second echelon of management.

She said the board "expected him to save the world in two minutes" and may have had "a lot of expectations he couldn't fulfill."

Generette had been on the job about two years. He had previously been with the Cleveland transit system and had been vice-president of a consulting engineering firm.

Mrs. Evans acknowledged she had some disagreement with SEMTA board policy but added: "If the adopted regional policy of the board were mine and the staff were sitting on their duffs, I'd be screaming bloody murder."

"It's like when you've got a bad baseball team—you fire the manager," she said.

She noted the current nine-member board is to be replaced next April 1 with a restructured board of 15. The board feeling was that it wanted to turn over to the new board an agency that was in good operating shape.

ACTING GENERAL manager will be Larry Salci, 30, a lawyer who had previously been board secretary and was gradually being given more administrative responsibilities.

Bianco said the appointment was made promptly "so that we wouldn't miss a beat."

Two days later, Salci and the SEMTA technical staff were in Washington conferring with federal Urban Mass Transit Administration officials on the so-called alternatives analysis—an elaborate study of the many kinds of rolling stock that could be employed in a rapid transit program in metropolitan Detroit.

WHETHER SALCI would be a candidate for a permanent appointment as general manager was uncertain. So far, SEMTA's two general managers have been men with experience in actually building or running a rapid transit system.

First general manager was retired Army Gen. Thomas Lipscomb, who had built and operated the Lindenwood line in Philadelphia. Lipscomb had problems selling rapid transit politically to legislators and local officials, and was forced in 1974 to retire, though his departure came with great fanfare.

Acting general manager for 10 months until Generette's arrival was K. Ross Childs, then 37. Childs had previously been Washtenaw County administrator. He left SEMTA early this year to become county manager in Grand Traverse.

SEMTA HAS what politicians call visibility problems with the public and lawmakers.

Public debate over rapid transit funding has been dominated by Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, who has no official position with SEMTA.

THE TRUTH ON SENIOR CITIZEN HOUSING

DOES TAX ABATEMENT MEAN TAXES WILL BE PAID?

Yes. Payment in lieu of taxes totaling an estimated $25,000 will be made each year. Today, taxes of $7,080.00 are paid on this property.

DO WE NEED 197 LIVING UNITS?

Yes, and more. Over 260 applicants for the project are either present or former Plymouth residents, or they are parents of present Plymouth residents. These senior citizens need housing now.

WILL PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS OR RELATIVES OF PLYMOUTH RESIDENTS BE GIVEN PRIORITY?

Yes. From a practical standpoint, it is likely that the residents will be provided with apartments on a "first come, first served" basis. Presently there are 347 applications of which 260 are Plymouth affiliated. It is not legally possible to purposefully exclude other Michigan citizens; however, preference is an accepted practice in the rental of these projects.

DOES THE PROJECT COMPLY WITH ALL CITY CODES?

The Planned Unit Development under which this project was approved is City Ordinance #385, P. 5.223, which was enacted on 10/16/72 to provide for the recognized need within the city for projects such as our proposed senior citizens housing. This project was approved by your City Planning Commission (7 to 1) and your City Commission (5 to 2).

IS A MID-RISE BUILDING NECESSARY?

Yes. The requirements that elderly housing be built in close proximity to grocery stores, churches, library, post office, theatre, and transportation necessitates sites in highly developed areas. Land at these locations is not readily available for expensive low-rise projects. Therefore, mid-rise is the only choice and has proven to be highly acceptable to our elderly.

SHOULD THE WILCOX HOME BE PRESERVED?

No, not at the cost of over 200 elderly Plymouth residents. A large expenditure of your tax dollars will be required to purchase the property. Further tax dollars would have to be spent to bring the property up to standards, and additional tax dollars would have to be used each year for continuing maintenance of the property. We believe our senior citizens are a more important community asset to be protected by adequate housing.

IS THIS AN ADDITION TO TONQUISH MANOR?

No. Tonquish Manor is a fine project, but it can't handle our community needs for the following reasons:

- Funds are not now available for additional units.
- Income limits at Tonquish Manor preclude many of our elderly from eligibility.
- 48 added units do not come close to fulfilling our needs (over 260 applicants from Plymouth or former Plymouth residents).

ARE THERE OTHER ALTERNATIVES TO THE PROPOSED APARTMENT DEVELOPMENT?

No. If this project is rejected, there is not a viable alternative in sight for the next 3 to 5 years. This present site was picked, in fact, by the Michigan State Housing Development Authority (MSHDA).

HAS YOUR CITY THOROUGHLY EVALUATED THIS PROJECT AND ALTERNATIVE SITES?

Yes. During the past 5 years, a dedicated group of highly motivated and capable people representing your city have explored, with MSHDA, and various other agencies, innumerable sites both in the city and the township. The opportunity for senior citizens housing has been determined to be this SITE ALONE.

WILL THE CITY HAVE TO PROVIDE SUBSTANTIAL ADDED SERVICES?

No. The city administration has evaluated the specific needs of the proposed project and has concluded that there will be only a minimal effect on the cost of city services. Existing water and sewers are adequate, the building will have the latest in fire detection devices, the proofing material and sprinkling, the development will provide or reimburse the city for waste disposal, and police and ambulance services can be provided easily for the elderly when they are concentrated in a single convenient location. WILL OUR PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY AND OUR SENIOR CITIZENS BENEFIT FROM THIS PROJECT? Yes, a) the seniors will have better housing at a lower price, and b) the seniors will have more spendable dollars for their other needs in our community.

DO WE GIVE AWAY OUR TAX DOLLARS IF WE REJECT THIS PROJECT?

Yes. If the government subsidies earmarked for our Plymouth project are rejected by our citizens, these funds, which are our tax dollars, will subsidize some other communities' project for the next 40 years. Do you want to reject your tax dollars for your senior citizens?

Feeding the hungry in Plymouth

On a typical Sunday, people can be seen entering Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church on Penniman Avenue with an armload of fresh zucchini, or a loaf of bread, cartons of eggs, canned goods, or pantry staples.

The food is put on a table marked "Feed the Hungry."

By the end of the day, as many as 20 grocery bags full may have been collected. They are then loaded into the trunk of a car and distributed to needy people in the Plymouth community.

Joan Englehart, chairwoman of the Feed the Hungry Program, learns of people and their needs from many different sources—from social service agencies, public health nurses or from concerned neighbors and friends.

In turn, she gets the word out to program volunteers. "We need soft, bland foods," she may say if the recipient is an elderly person, or "baby foods and diapers" if an infant is involved.

THE FEED THE HUNGRY Program, supported by the Plymouth Community Fund, is a simple, direct network of people helping people.

Recently the program added another important resource—the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA). "This will put us in touch with many more people," Mrs. Englehart said, "especially the elderly."

The VNA, an agency of the Plymouth Community Fund, provides medical assistance to persons who need regular medication or therapy but do not require full-time hospital care.

The nurses, who serve Plymouth out of the Western Wayne County office, offer a wide range of services. On a given day, the nurse might visit an injured high school football player, helping his mother administer limb massages. She may visit a young mother who's baby has been sick, and later, an elderly heart attack victim.

Her clients are the physically handicapped, the chronically ill—anyone who needs part-time care or rehabilitation.

Because of the VNA, many of Plymouth's elderly citizens can live independently, instead of retiring to a nursing home; and hospital patients can be released earlier to continue recovering at home.

AS WITH MANY Community Fund agencies, the charges for the service vary according to the patient's ability to pay. But PCF support insures that no person is ever denied services due to insufficient finances.

The VNA receives referrals from other Community Fund groups and social service agencies, as well as area physicians, hospitals and the patients' family and friends.

They are in a unique position to link the Feed the Hungry Program with needy families and individuals in all parts of the city.

"This is a perfect example of the Community Fund concept," says the Rev. Robert Keller. "People working together in service of others."

People who are interested in learning more about the Feed the Hungry program may call Fr. Keller at 453-0326 or Mrs. Englehart at 455-1580.

The Community Fund campaign is now in progress, and contributions are welcomed in care of Box 356, Plymouth. Donations are also being solicited through places of work.

The Fund reminds residents who are employed in another city to designate their gift be returned to Plymouth.

Joan Englehart (standing) of 12850 Drury Lane and Pat O'Loughlin, 43959 Brandywine, take stock of some of the surplus canned goods stored by Our Lady of Good Counsel's feed the hungry program.

Dear Voters of Plymouth,

I am delighted to support Dr. Ed Pierce as our next Congressman. As Mayor of Michigan's sixth largest city, I know the importance of first class representation in Washington, D. C. We need Ed Pierce in Congress to give us that representation at a critical time.

Beyond this, Dr. Pierce's proven record of commitment to meeting the needs of people assures me that he will support the programs which we in Southeastern Michigan and the suburbs urgently need.

Ed Pierce is committed to getting America's 7 million unemployed back to work.

Ed Pierce is committed to keeping our kids in our schools. In the days remaining before the November 2 election, I intend to devote significant effort to seeing to it that Dr. Pierce becomes as well known here in Wayne County as he has already become elsewhere in the Second Congressional District. I know that as our people learn about Ed Pierce, his record and his program, they will want to support his candidacy as enthusiastically as I do.

Sincerely,

Edward H. McNamara

State MACLD sets conference

Parents, educators, physicians, psychologists and others professionally involved with children who have learning disabilities will participate in a state conference of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities Oct. 29 and 30.

The event will begin at 9 a.m. Friday in the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Dearborn. Keynote speakers will be Dr. Janet Lerner of Northeastern Illinois University and Ambrose Brazelton of the Ohio Department of Education.

Dr. Lerner, a professor of special education, will speak at the Friday luncheon on "Learning Disabilities: Current and Future Directions." Her book, "Children with Learning Disabilities: Theories, Diagnosis and Teaching Strategies" was selected as one of the 24 outstanding books in education for 1971-72.

Brazelton, who will address the Friday evening banquet, is chief of planning and coordination of urban programs for the Ohio education department.

Cost of the full conference (two days and two lunches) is $35, with lesser fees charged for less attendance and fewer meals. For registration information contact Bea Bury, 2876 Masefield, Bloomfield Hills. An additional $5 will be charged for registering after Oct. 15.

Regionalism topic for area AAUW's

Regionalism and how it affects urban-suburban living in expanded metropolitan areas will be considered at the AAUW Interbranch Council's ninth annual meeting 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 6, in the First Presbyterian Church of Royal Oak.

Co-sponsored by Regional Citizens, Inc., the workshop will present as its featured speaker Robert Farley, executive director of the Denver Council of Governments. Farley, who formerly was with SEMCOG in the Detroit area, will speak at the morning session on the future of regionalism.

During the afternoon, small groups will discuss specific regional services such as transportation, health services, recreation programs and government costs. Julie Evans of Birmingham, a member of the SEMTA board of directors, will lead the transportation sessions.

Interbranch council is made up of 20 branches of the American Association of University Women in southeastern Michigan. Mrs. Jane Lamy, of the Rochester Branch, is chairman for the day.

Other members working on the one-day workshop include Charlotte Wilder of Birmingham, in charge of hospitality; Sarah Haas, Plymouth, finance; Penny deStigter, Livonia, registration; Ann Weston, Dearborn, secretary; Matilda Rubin, Huntington Woods, program; Charlotte Gehlar, Detroit, books; and Kay Kirby, Grosse Pointe, publicity.

"PROPOSAL 'C' IS BAD PUBLIC POLICY"

Supporters of Proposal C promise "tax relief" and "lower taxes"...

THEY DON'T TELL YOU IT MAY:

- ★ RAISE YOUR PROPERTY TAXES.
- ★ END TAX RELIEF FOR SENIOR CITIZENS, VETERANS, AND THE HANDICAPPED.
- ★ LAY OFF STATE POLICE.
- ★ LIMIT NUMBER OF PRISONERS IN STATE PRISONS — LEAVING YOUR LOCAL GOVERNMENT TO HANDLE THE OVERFLOW.

GOVERNOR MILLIKEN VOTES NO ON C

"This proposal would turn back the clock. It increases the likelihood that the state will have to rescind the $225 million dollars it now grants in property tax relief each year. That means higher local taxes."

It halts tax reform, since any further improvement in the state tax structure would take yet another constitutional amendment.

It would force budget cuts, and during recessions this is the very time when state services are needed most.

Proposal C is bad public policy, and has no place in our state constitution."

William G. Milliken, Governor

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

C—Poor constitutional law

At first glance, Proposal C, supported by taxpayers United and spawned by Reagan-style conservatism, has a certain superficial charm. The heart of Proposal C is to limit state taxes and spending to 8.3 per cent of total personal income.

Beneath the surface charm, however, lies a horde of bugs. Proposal C is just plain poor constitutional law. Taxing and spending are matters for the legislature and governor, and for voter initiatives and referendums. The constitution is simply no place for the kind of taxing and spending limits that Proposal C promises, however alluring the promises may be.

Most folks are happy to pay taxes as long as they feel they're getting something for those taxes. It's illogical, then, to set an 8.3 per cent lid (why 8.3 anyway?) on future generations. A better solution would be for citizens to ride herd on their friendly state legislators, turning them out of office when they spend too freely.

Passage of Proposal C would have two bad after-effects. Local officials, particularly in schools, would put immense pressures on voters to raise property taxes to make up for frozen state spending, and lobbyists for more spending would look to Washington, with its gravy train in the form of the graduated income tax.

Finally, Proposal C is immensely complicated—just defining its terms would consume many pages—and the complications would only result in a multiplicity of lawsuits. We urge defeat for Proposal C.
