Third vote certification try tonight

Canton's four-member board of canvassers are scheduled to meet for the third time tonight at 7 p.m. at the fire hall in another attempt to certify the Nov. 2 election results.

Two previous public meetings of the canvassers failed to certify election totals due to protests of impropriety raised by close to 100 supporters of the unofficially defeated write-in team who filled the room.

On Monday, members of the board of canvassers asked people who had personally observed improper election procedure to write their complaints on a piece of paper and sign it.

The canvasser's chairman, Floyd Fulford, said the complaints will be investigated as fully as possible by Clerk John Flodin who will interview the people involved in alleged misconduct.

The board of canvassers has until Nov. 16 to certify the election. After that, if the election is not certified, the county will conduct the canvas at the township's expense.

"We are required by the state board of elections to either certify or not," said Jack Blumenshine, board member. "We look at figures. If the figures in the tally books match the machines, then by law that's all we can do. We may make notations that there are problems and questions in certain precincts. But we are not an investigative board. That's handled in a recount."

IT WAS REPORTED earlier this week by Harold Stein that out-going supervisor Robert Greenstein could not request a recount because he and other write-in candidates' names did not appear on the ballot.

County and state election officials dispute Stein's statement. If Greenstein requests a recount, he is entitled to one, said spokesmen for Wayne County Clerk James Killeen and Bernard Apol, director of the state election commission.

Greenstein said on Tuesday that he is "leaning toward" asking for a recount because he feels he "owes it" to his supporters.

Jim Donahue, co-chairman of the Committee to Re-elect the Greenstein Team, demanded that the board of canvassers refuse to certify the election because of "serious questions" raised about election procedure in precincts 9 and 10.

In Precinct 10 (the absentee ballot precinct), Donahue said, many people marked straight Democratic designation at the top of the ballot and then attached write-in stickers on the bottom of the form. He claims that harried pollworkers overlooked these stickers in many instances and just pulled the straight lever without giving votes to the write-in candidates.

Delores Bashor, who worked as a pollworker in the absentee ballot precinct, said the write-in voters were cheated in this manner a number of times.

Mrs. Bashor is one of Greenstein's most fervent supporters. At one point in Monday's public hearing she told former supervisor Philip Dingledey to "sit down and shut up" when he said he observed no impropriety in Precinct 9.

JIM DONAHUE

Mrs. M.E. Miller, a challenger for the write-in at the absentee precinct, told the board of canvassers that George Bradley and Dale Orth, Stein challengers, "bullied the women" in the absentee precinct by timing them and attempting to disallow a group of absentee ballots that were delivered at 9:45 p.m.

Donahue said he believes that counting mistakes were made both intentionally and honestly.

IN PRECINCT 9, supporters of the write-in effort claim that they were deprived of votes due to the precinct chairman's policy on write-in stickers. They say she disallowed any write-in votes that had been mangled in the machine to the point where less than 50 per cent of the sticker was readable without smoothing it out.

"The challengers we had in Precinct 9 did not know what the law was and let them do that," said Donahue. "Actually, when the sticker was down there, no matter how crinkled, it shows intent and the vote should be counted."

Gloria Hammonds, chairman of Precinct 9, was contacted Tuesday for clarification of the sticker policy in Precinct 9. Mrs. Hammond refused to talk to the Observer, saying that she would not answer that question and that all questions should be directed at Clerk John Flodin, who instructed her and the other pollworkers on election procedure.

STEIN'S SUPPORTERS kept pretty quiet during Monday's meeting of the board of canvassers, but George Bradley did submit a list of seven instances where he felt the Stein slate was wronged.

Bradley listed allegations such as "a person named Bruce Summers talking to people waiting in line to vote telling them to vote write-in and handing them three sets of stickers.

"He had to be doing this at Precinct 1 for about five hours before I happened to notice him. I was standing in line trying to vote when he came up."

Bradley's list claims that people who arrived at precincts after 8 p.m. were allowed to vote in at least two precincts. Bradley also alleges that pollworkers didn't stop people from staying inside the voting booth for longer than 15 minutes. "People were trying to tie up the line and the machine," said Bradley after the meeting.

Bradley said the fact that some people placed write-in stickers on the sliding doors for write-ins was "a planned thing, not someone's stupid mistake." This constituted political advertising in a voting booth, Bradley said.

The fact that Robert Greenstein's brother, Gary, a Livonia resident, worked as a challenger in Precinct 8 is also mentioned by Bradley.

The husband of treasurer-elect Anne Bradley, Bradley said he did not want to bring up these incidents but was "forced to" to counteract the complaints of the write-in camp.

Judge raps sheriffs, Stein, Greenstein

Wayne County Circuit Court Judge James Canham said on Tuesday that it was he, and not Canton Supervisor-elect Harold Stein, who requested that the Wayne County Sheriff's Department be struck from the injunction papers which sought to impound Canton's uncertified ballots late Friday evening.

The Wayne County Sheriff's union was Harold Stein's largest contributor in the primary and Eugene Daley, a lieutenant in the sheriff's airport patrol, is trustee-elect for Canton.

Stein claimed on Friday that the sheriffs were included on the ballot impounding order "inadvertently" and said they were struck from the order at his own request.

Judge Canham says he takes a "different interpretation" of what happened. Canham said he made it very explicit that he did not want the Wayne County Sheriffs involved in the impounding process.

"THE STATE police were there as I directed," Canham said. "The Wayne County Sheriffs may have been there, but not at my request."

Stein theorizes the sheriffs heard the state police call on the radio and responded as a back-up force.

Judge Canham explained Tuesday he withdrew his order calling for the impounding of the ballots at state police headquarters after he discovered the ballots were being kept in a locked room in sealed canisters over the weekend.

The court order was needed, Stein said, when he discovered scores of people were wandering in and out of the room where the ballots were being stored.

"I wonder if you realize how many people are walking around the township offices that aren't even employed there," Stein said last Friday.

The safety of the ballots was reasonably assured, according to Canham, when he learned that the door was locked and the cannisters were sealed.

"I was told they were being kept in cardboard boxes and that the clerk had left town," explained Canham. "When I found they were locked in a room and no one had the key except the clerk, then I felt they were secure enough."

Clerk John Flodin left Thursday night for a dog show in Buffalo. After hearing of the incident, Flodin said, "I should have never gone to Buffalo."

Canham appeared a little disturbed over the injunction request from Stein and the volatile situation in Canton.

"We've got problems down here you wouldn't believe and they come in here with this little dispute," Canham said. "What's the problem out there?"

THE JUDGE criticized both Robert Greenstein and Stein in his remarks on Tuesday.

The sheriff had no reason to be at the township offices, according to Canham.

"My interpretation is that the court isn't going to look toward anybody as one who impounds ballots when there is the slightest possibility that that party has an interest or involvement in the election," Canham said.

"Taking the sheriffs out of the order came from my advice," said Canham. "If there's someone robbing a candy store, you don't get a kid with chocolate dripping from his mouth to guard it.

"I couldn't let the sheriffs impound the ballots. One sheriff in particular (Lt. Daley) has a personal interest in this election."

The judge also said he rejected Greenstein's offer to break down the door to let the state police take the ballots.

"Greenstein came on the phone saying how we were old friends and that he was willing to break down the door if it was necessary to solve the matter. He was looking for publicity and I wasn't about to help him. My concern was the safety of those ballots."

Canham said he thought the order was helpful in letting everyone know that "the court takes the protection of ballots very seriously."

Stein was asked Tuesday why he stated previously that the sheriffs were removed from the court order at his own request. He was informed that Judge Canham said the sheriffs were struck from the order at the court's request.

"O.K., I'll buy that," Stein said. "It was a mutual agreement. He did say he didn't want the sheriff involved and I agreed. That's correct."

Last Friday Stein said his attorney had "inadvertently" included the sheriffs in the request for ballot impounding. "I instructed him to strike that," Stein said at the time, "so that any impounding would be done by the state police because I know Greenstein has attacked (Jamil) Ahktar unjustly in the past."

Candidate kin's conduct disputed

Two pollworkers at Precinct 8 totally disagree with Supervisor-elect Harold Stein's allegation that Gary Greenstein (brother of Supervisor Robert Greenstein) had to be removed from the precinct by state election officials after helping someone inside a voting booth.

Gary Greenstein admits that as a Livonia resident he is not registered to vote in Canton Township and that for a while on election day he served as a challenger in Precinct 8. He said he left the precinct when his legal ability to be a challenger was challenged.

Linda Johnson, chairman of Precinct 8 and Hilda Matzo, pollworker in Precinct 8, both say they're certain Gary Greenstein never went inside a voting booth to help a voter.

STEIN STICKS to his original statement claiming that the two state election officials had to remove Gary Greenstein from the precinct. In addition, Stein claims one of his election workers, Duane Bordine, has pictures of Gary Greenstein inside a voting booth. According to Bordine's mother, the film is not back from the developer.

"He walked with Hilda Matzo, a pollworker, over to the voting booth," said Mrs. Johnson, chairman of Precinct 8. "The girl asked her how to vote a write-in. As a chairperson I was quite upset with Mr. Stein's unfounded allegation. We would not let something like that happen. Besides, the state election officials arrived at the precinct at least an hour and a half after Mr. (Gary) Greenstein left."

Hilda Matzo gave a similiar explanation.

"Gary Greenstein did not instruct anyone," Mrs. Matzo said. "He asked me a question as I was speaking to the voter. As a challenger he merely observed the election process.

"I think the confusion started because he stopped me and asked me a question," Mrs. Matzo said. "But never did he attempt to instruct a voter."

JIM GIBBONS, one of the state election workers assigned to Canton Township was unavailable for comment on the incident.

Greenstein's brother seemed surprised that he had become an issue in the election aftermath.

"Myself personally, I never got involved in Canton's politics," he said. "I've been out there maybe two or three times in the past couple years. I asked, volunteered to do anything when asked.

"But I was not pulled out of the precinct by a state election official or anyone who opposes my brother. A team member said we might have a problem with the definition of who can and can't be a challenger. Rather than getting involved in a big controversy, I just left. It was no big deal."

After leaving the precinct where he worked as challenger, Gary Greenstein said he passed out write-in literature.

Certified police will earn $3.82

Sitting as supervisor for the last meeting of his term, Supervisor-Police Chief Robert Greenstein introduced a motion Tuesday to raise the pay of Canton's certified police officers to $3.82 an hour and raise the pay of "command officers" to $5.01 an hour.

Greenstein said that uncertified police reserve officers will continue to be paid the present minimum wage salary of $2.25 an hour. Under the new pay situation, Greenstein said only the police chief and commander will be designated as "command officers." However, if needed, more command officers could be named in the future, Greenstein said.

Fourteen people—including Greenstein—are scheduled to receive diplomas from Detroit's Criminal Justice Institute (CJI) Nov. 19. If they pass, they will have obtained 240 hours of regular police certification and will be called "regular part-time police officers" in Canton Township.

The pay figures, Greenstein said, are based on similiar scales in neighboring Van Buren Township which employs part-time officers.

Supervisor-elect Harold Stein was present in the audience but would not say whether he would make any changes in the reserve police department or dump the police chief when he takes office Nov. 22.

Stein has been critical of expenditures and procedures of the police reserve unit in the past.

"I don't want to say what changes I'll make because I really haven't formed my opinion yet," Stein said. "It would not be appropriate at this time, anyway. I'd like some time to study the situation."

The motion to raise the police officer's pay was approved by a 3 to 2 vote. Trustee Robert Myers was absent from the meeting, and Greenstein was allowed to abstain from voting since he is also police chief.

Treasurer Carl Parsell, Clerk John Flodin and Trustee Jerry Cheske voted to increase the officers' pay. Trustees James Poole and Brian Schwall voted against the pay hike.

Schwall said he was voting against the motion because "the timing of this is poor."

"The men and woman don't graduate until Nov. 19," said Schwall. "This should be taken up at the next meeting."

Greenstein disagreed saying that the next meeting will not be until Nov. 23 "and I think we owe these men the courtesy to tell them what they'll be paid.

"They furthered their education and I don't feel we should shirk our responsibility. It's not right to ask people to work without setting up a firm basis beforehand."

Greenstein said that even with the new raises "this set-up provides for extreme savings in law enforcement."

Plymouth JCs donate $500 to Burn Institute

Did you know that more than two million Americans are burned each year, that each year more than 75,000 people are hospitalized with burns, and that 90 per cent of those hopitalized receive less than the best of care?

According to the National Institute of Burn Medicine (NIBM), these are just a few of the "cold hard facts about burns." The NIBM, located in Ann Arbor, is a new organization dedicated to saving the lives of burn victims and reducing the disability and disfigurement they suffer.

Recently the Plymouth Jaycees, as a part of its national Burn Awareness program, donated $500 to the Institute.

The Jaycees raised the money in October during Fire Prevention Week. As part of their collection effort, the Jaycees placed cannisters in local stores and solicited money on the street.

This presentation to the Institute is the third one for the Jaycees. Last year they donated $210 and the year before, $164.

THE INSTITUTE WAS founded in 1965 by Dr. Irving Feller who is the current director. It has developed into a 10-bed unit in University Hospital, 10 beds in St. Joseph Hospital, and a six-bed rehabilitation ward in Chelsea.

The rehabilitation unit in Chelsea is used to prepare people who are severely burned for re-entry into society.

EVENTUALLY THE Institute would like to get a burn program started in Plymouth to make peoble aware of places to take burn victims.

The Institute operates a burn unit in Children's Hospital in Detroit and also uses Chelsea as a center for minor burns and as a transfer center for major burns. The Ann Arbor center would only be used for critical burns of 20 per cent or more.

Most of the staff at the Institute, including the doctors, are volunteers or work for minimal wages; they depend on donations and grants for their operating money.

Last year the Institute received about $55,000 from the Michigan Jaycees and the Michigan firefighters, which was raised through solicitation. Another $150,000 dollars was made available to the Institute from federal and corporate grants.

To continue their present work and expand their programs they still need more funding.

To realize its goals of better treatment and facilities for burn victims, the Institute sponsors six "action" programs:

- A Professional Development Program to give doctors, nusrses, and technicians specialized burn treatment training;
- A consulting service to help communities determine burn facilitiy needs and initial funding to communities that are establishing burn facilities;
- A program to make information available to the public to hopefully prevent burn accidents;
- The NIBM supports research designed to improve infection control, develop better equipment and to improve surgical operations;
- A library which houses all articles on burns published in the last 20 years. The articles are available to doctors throughout the world;
- The National Burn Information Exchange (NBIE) which is designed to let hospitals share information about burn patients and treatment.

According to Institute personnel, the major times for burns are in the morning, after school in the afternoon and right before dinner. They emphasize that people should be extra cautious during these periods of time.

Bear (right), of the Plymouth Jaycees, presents a check for $500 to Dr. Irving Feller, founder and director of the National Institute for Burn Medicine in Ann Arbor. The money was raised by the Jaycees last month during Fire Prevention Week.

Hogan leaving to become supt.

By PATRICK TOUHEY

Dr. Earl Hogan, deputy superintendent of Plymouth Community School District, has announced his intention to leave Plymouth. He has accepted the position of Superintendent of Buchanan Community Schools in the western section of the state, effective Jan. 3, 1977.

In his letter of resignation to superintendent John M. Hoben, Hogan wrote: "I am proud of my four and one-half years association with the Plymouth Community Schools and the many outstanding individuals who comprise the school staff and the community."

DR. EARL HOGAN

Hogan came to Plymouth in 1972 from Mount Vernon, Ohio, where he was superintendent of schools. During his 26 years in the field of education, Hogan has been both a teacher and an administrator. He has been on the faculty of Michigan State University and Albion College.

"OF COURSE I have mixed feelings about the move," Hogan said. "Plymouth is an excellent school district. In fact, I sometimes feel that the people in the community and on the staff don't realize just how good it is.

"I appreciate the opportunity that Plymouth has given me and I want the community to know how much I've enjoyed it—not only in terms of the people but also for what I've been able to learn. I hope I've given value received."

Despite his mixed feelings, Hogan said the position in Buchanan would offer him new challenges that he was looking forward to.

"I have been a superintendent before," he said, "and it is a position that lets you be more effective. Besides, Buchanan is a much smaller district, and I'll have the opportunity to be much closer to the students and staff."

WHEN THE Board of Education approved his resignation, George Lawton, trustee, said: "Earl is an extremely nice person. He has done an extremely good job in the area of carrying out very difficult assignments.

"I for one would like to point out that he has done a good job. And while I am happy he has found a new district, I feel that Plymouth is losing a valuable administrator."

Hogan said he will use the rest of the time available to make the transition as easy as possible for everyone concerned.

"Now that the decision has been made," Hogan commented, "I guess my biggest regret is that I can't be in both places at once."

Hogan received his BA from Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio in 1950, his MA from Ohio State University in 1957, and his PhD from Michigan State University in 1963.

In addition to his teaching and administrative activities, Hogan has co-authored two books, one on economics and one on administrative accountability. He has also published articles and monographs on education.

School district renaming draws little support

By PATRICK TOUHEY

A public hearing to get citizen input on the proposed name change for the Plymouth Community School District did not net the expected response at Monday's board of education meeting.

The board tabled the proposal during its regular meeting with hope of receiving more feedback before the final decision is made.

In other action, the board denied a request for a crossing guard at Sheldon Road and Ann Arbor Trail and, after some confusion, voted to gather more data before voting on the issue of a principal for Tanger School.

DESPITE THE amount of publicity preceding the public hearing about whether to include Canton in the school district name, the turnout was so low and the discussion so inconclusive that the board voted to withhold action on the proposal.

Rose Rogers, one of the few citizens who spoke, opened the hearing by asking the board why the name had to be changed.

Trustee E.J. McClendon said that the name did not have to be changed, but that it was being considered because the board felt that such a change would be more reflective of the composition of the student body.

Mrs. Rogers questioned the expense in changing the name on the school buses. She asked if it would not be an unnecessary expense.

Trustee Tom Yack said the name would be changed as new buses were purchased as replacements.

Mrs. Rogers then asked about any other expenses involved, such as changes in letterheads, stationery, and school forms.

Supt. John M. Hoben said that the changes would not create any out of the ordinary expenses but called on Ray Hoedel, administrative assistant for business, for more information.

Hoedel said that, as with the busses, the small changes would be made as necessary and would not involve extra expense.

Mrs. Rogers then questioned the wisdom of the proposed change based on the division of students. She pointed out that some Canton children attend school in Belleville and in Wayne-Westland.

McClendon answered that while it was true that some students did go to different areas, it was still the case that Plymouth and Plymouth Township would provide less than half the students, while Canton students made up the rest.

Trustee Marcia Borowski said that she for one would like to know whether Canton wanted to keep its identification with Plymouth. She said that in her opinon many people thought they were moving to Plymouth when they actually moved to Canton.

Yack responded by saying that what Ms. Borowski said may have been true at one time, but he did not think it was true any longer. He added that Canton's identity was emerging on its own.

Trustee George Lawton asked the board if the name change was a "grass roots" movement or whether it was being proposed by the administration to create a separate unit. "Speaking for myself," he said, "I would like to maintain the Plymouth identity." "The proposal was definitely not a grass roots movement," Yack said. "I feel that the name change would be proper and in keeping with Canton's growth. "If we can contribute to Canton's identity, then I am all for it."

DURING THE regular meeting, the board discussed the request for a crossing guard at Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail.

Lawton lead off by saying the board had already spent $80,000 on the construction of an overpass at that intersection, and it was his understanding that should have solved the problem.

Trustee Flossie Tonda said she agreed with Lawton. She added she was unsure that the safety concerns were sufficient to grant the request. She said the problems might be of a disciplinary nature and pointed out if the board provided a guard for this intersection, it might have to provide guards at other intersections as well.

Ms. Borowski said she realized the intersection was dangerous but felt it was a question of individual responsibility. She said instead of trying to protect children from all harm, they should be forced to "grow up and take responsibility for their own safety."

Board President Joe Gray questioned whether it would be possible to replace the elementary-age safety patrols with middle school safeties.

A representative from the safety committee said it felt adult supervision was needed.

After more discussion, the board turned in a unanimous "no" to the request.

PARLIMENTARY PROCEDURE may have been a hinderance rather than a help during the board's discussion of selecting a principal for Tanger School.

At one point there were two proposals and an ammendment to a proposal on the table. A vote was called for and received before the members were sure what they were voting on.

After the vote, Lawton requested the board to dispense with procedure so that what had happened could be explained.

Tanger is currently without a fulltime principal. As a budgetary measure the board decided to use one principal for two schools. (Starkwhether is the other school with a halftime principal.

The questions before the board were: whether to hire a fulltime principal for Tanger; use an intern to help the halftime principal; or continue the policy of using one principal for both schools.

The proposal before the board stipulated if a new principal was hired it wouldn't be until the second semester of the 1976-77 school year.

Ms. Borowski opened the discussion by stating there had not been enough study of the alternatives. She said if there was going to be no study, then there was no point in waiting until the second semester to fill the position.

Lawton agreed with Ms. Borowski, saying that the split principal arrangement had been made during a period of austerity, and that now they could have two. He moved to eliminate the semester restriction and fill the position as soon as a qualified individual could be found.

Ms. Borowski supported Lawton's motion, but before a vote could be taken, Trustee Richard Arlen asked if the board knew if one principal for two schools was administratively sound.

Yack said he did not remember a proposal for study but that it was not too late to include one.

At this point Lawton told the board it was acting on two separate proposals and asked for clarification.

Before clarification was given, however, Gray called for a vote. It was after the vote that Lawton asked to dispense with procedure in order to arrive at an explanation.

The changing of the seasons is reflected in people's lifestyles. Sportsmen in Canton put their motorcycle in mothballs in November and uncover their snowmobile. Santa Claus is coming to town in a helicopter

Santa Claus is coming to town Nov. 26 through a special arrangement with the Canton Chamber of Commerce.

Santa will arrive by helicopter at the Canton recreation site at Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads at 1 p.m.

The old, bearded man in the red suit will be greeting visitors at a house, located in the Harvard Square Shopping Center, at Ford and Sheldon roads, every weekend until Christmas.

The Chamber of Commerce is seeking donations of time and money to help pay for Santa's stay.

"We have an opportunity to be involved in a community service which can only strengthen our position in Canton," states Al Daly, chamber president.

Dentists give free tooth care

A cooperative effort between 12 local dentists and the Plymouth Community Fund has provided free dental care to more than 100 children of low income families during the past school year.

The Dental Fund is an idea unique to Plymouth and is solely supported by the annual Community Fund campaign.

"All referral are made and investigated by school nurses," said Virginia Gibson, nurse at Plymouth Salem High School and chairwoman of the Plymouth Dental Fund. "The dentists provide fluoride treatments, fillings and braces at reduced costs and bill the Dental Fund. Every cent allocated to the agency is spent on dental work."

Contributions may be sent to the PCF, Box 356, Plymouth. Persons who are employed outside the city are reminded to specify that their payroll deductions be returned to Plymouth.

Teen alcohol abuse staggering

By DARLENE STINSON

A group of high school students throw a party and become intoxicated on cheap wine and beer. A junior high student sneaks shots of gin and whiskey from his parent's liquor cabinet, while a group of teenage girls convince an older brother to purchase booze for them at a local party store.

Such scenes are becoming more and more prevalent among students in all cities and school districts, according to Marge Yokom, co-director of student services at Plymouth Canton High, with alcohol abuse among high school students rivaling abuse of other drugs and substances.

TO COMBAT THE rising alcohol abuse problem, 20 Centennial Educational Park (CEP) students recently attended two all-day seminars on alcohol abuse, sponsored by the Wayne County Intermediate School District in the City of Wayne.

Patterned after the county's DARTE (Drug Abuse Rehabilitation Through Education) program for other substance abuse problems, the alcohol seminars stressed values persons hold toward alcohol use, the physical side effects of the drug and peer group pressure.

CEP students who voluntarily participated in the workshops hope to begin presenting alcohol education programs to students in grades four through 12 by the end of this month.

The program stresses education of students by their peer group members and value clarification.

"This is an awareness program. It's informational, and it's not intended to put down alcohol," Ms. Yokom stressed. "The whole gist is not to say alcohol is bad. It's value clarification on the substance of alcohol.

"We've found telling a person to stop doing something doesn't work," Ms. Yokom continued. "Information does. We'll give them the information, and they'll have to make the decision for themselves."

When making their presentations on alcohol abuse, CEP students will encourage listeners to clarify their own values on the use of alcohol through questions and materials provided by the county school district. Students will make brief presentations on the harmful, physical side effects of alcohol use, when faced with a high school audience.

ONE CEP STUDENT involved with the alcohol education program explained:

"Hopefully, kids will realize what their values are toward alcohol. What we want them to decide is what's best for them, not for the whole group."

Backers of the program hope the presentations will induce thought on all ramifications of drinking—like the problem of driving home when intoxicated.

For younger students in elementary school, Ms. Yokom hopes the program will provide a large dose of preventative medicine, especially to students who have parents with drinking problems.

"I don't think, overall, there are kids with alcohol problems in fourth and fifth grade," she said. "But I do think there are some who must deal with parents who have drinking problems.

"In the high school, we've had some contact with alcoholic students who've wanted help."

In general, however, Ms. Yokom says few students come to their classrooms intoxiated with liquor. Most simply stay away.

"There is an alcohol abuse problem in all the schools," she said. "Alcohol abuse is definitely on the rise.

"For one thing, alcohol is more readily available. If a student can't buy a bag of marijuana, he can always have someone pick up a six-pack of beer for him at a Quik-Pik.

"For another thing," Ms. Yokom adds, "I think parents are much more accepting of alcohol. Parents are terrified of marijuana and the other drugs.

"Then there are always the parents who sip on a martini, while they yell at their kids for having a beer."

Fred Rivera acts out the trauma of alcoholism.

Sgt. Jones is journalist

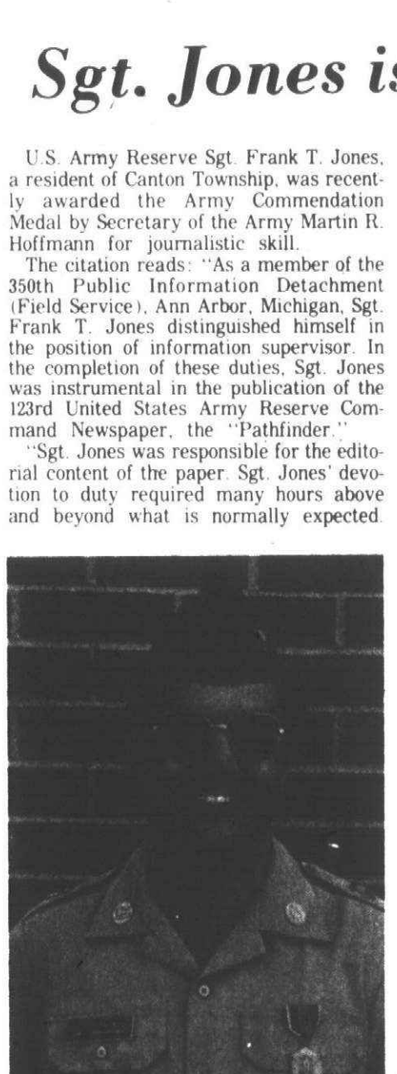

U.S. Army Reserve Sgt. Frank T. Jones, a resident of Canton Township, was recently awarded the Army Commendation Medal by Secretary of the Army Martin R. Hoffmann for journalistic skill.

The citation reads: "As a member of the 350th Public Information Detachment (Field Service), Ann Arbor, Michigan, Sgt. Frank T. Jones distinguished himself in the position of information supervisor. In the completion of these duties, Sgt. Jones was instrumental in the publication of the 123rd United States Army Reserve Command Newspaper, the "Pathfinder."

"Sgt. Jones was responsible for the editorial content of the paper. Sgt. Jones' devotion to duty required many hours above and beyond what is normally expected. This dedication resulted in the "Pathfinder" becoming the recipient of the Fifth Armies Minaret Award for excellence in journalism. Through his efforts, Sgt. Jones has brought honor to his detachment and the command."

Jones is currently assigned to the 206th Public Information Detachment in Ann Arbor where he is a broadcast supervisor.

In civilian life, Jones is a data analyst with the Ford Motor Company.

Pursell is confident, Pierce files lawsuit

State Sen. Carl Pursell, Plymouth Republican, is getting more confident he will be the next 2d District congressman.

Although his narrow 337 vote lead over Ed Pierce, Ann Arbor Democrat, hasn't been formally certified by county clerks, Pursell said he is "maintaining his cautiously jubilant" attitude.

The semantic difference may be slight but the previous week Pursell said the election "isn't over yet" and that "it's still anyone's ballgame."

A Wayne County elections division spokesman said the county canvassing board has tallied the congressional figures and confirmed that there were no changes from the original tally. But the spokesman added that it will be a few days, or later this week, before the results are officially certified by the canvassing board.

The balance of the district is made up of portions of Monroe and Washtenaw Counties.

PURSELL SAID he feels the 337-vote margin of victory will remain "fairly firm" through the official canvass.

But he didn't discount the possibility of "honest, human errors" in the tallies.

He said the close margin of the election makes a recount a distinct possibility.

The official canvasses by the three county clerks should be completed later this week although the deadline is next Tuesday, Nov. 16.

Pursell, whose senate district includes Livonia, city and township of Plymouth and Northville and Redford Township, said that "regardless of the outcome (of the election and possible recount) I am deeply grateful for the support of the many active people in the campaign."

If seated as the congressman to succeed outgoing Marvin Esch, (R.—Ann Arbor), Pursell said he would "seek to represent the three-county district in an evenhanded manner, with sensitivity for the divergent problems and interests of area citizens."

Pursell stressed that he would concentrate on local service to the district and availability to constituents.

He reiterated that, if confirmed as congressman, his family would remain living in the district, instead of moving to Washington.

Mrs. Pursell is a Livonia elementary school teacher.

IN OTHER developments in the post-election campaign, Pierce has filed a civil suit against the Wayne County Board of Canvassers to get the right to inspect the election tallies for possible errors.

He was told that no official figures would be released until after Nov. 22.

His attorney, Tim Downs of Detroit, claimed the law doesn't allow for recounts in a general congressional election.

Downs said the Wayne County figures are needed to compare with the tallies compiled by Pierce.

Judge Theodore Bohn will hear the case. No hearing date has been set.

Community Fund extends deadline

The Plymouth Community Fund has extended its annual donation drive for one more week, moving the final date to Nov. 19, Gene Kornegay, this year's campaign chairman, announced.

Originally the last day of the campaign was scheduled to be Nov. 12. However, according to Kornegay, so many divisions are still at a low per cent of total goal that he feels an extra week is justified.

Although the Fund will accept donations after Nov. 19, that date is the limit for active solicitation. And Kornegay said that contributions usually arrive for some time after the formal cut-off point.

Industry, both automotive and non-automotive, leads the field with contributions amounting to 95 per cent of its projected individual goal. Next in line is the residential division, having achieved 68 per cent of its goal. Following that is local government, reporting 52 per cent of goal.

The low divisions are: special gifts (17per cent); area business (26 per cent); professional (37 per cent), and education (42 per cent).

Said Kornegay, "Industry looks like it will meet its goal or come very close, but it appears that the rest of the divisions will fall short of expectations."

The total amount of money collected so far is about $200,000, representing 83 per cent of the total goal for this year of $244,000.

"We are still hoping," Kornegay said. "There is still time left, and it's hard to predict what the final outcome will be."

Agencies receiving support from the Community Fund include: The Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, Plymouth Dental Fund, Michigan Cancer Foundation, Visiting Nurse Association, Salvation Army, Family Service and the YMCA.

Parent-teacher talks switched to Friday

Parent-teacher conferences at Centennial Educational Park have been rescheduled to Nov. 19 from 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Parents may make appointments to see teachers by calling 453-3100 during school hours.

Students will not be in school at both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools on Friday because of the conferences. No conference will be held on the evening of Nov. 17, as earlier announced.

Family Service broadens counseling

A husband loses his job; a wife begins taking a drink in the afternoon; a teenaged daughter starts skipping school; an 8-year-old son is caught shoplifting.

Plymouth Family Service finds, in many cases, the troubles of all family members are interconnected. One person's problems affect many persons. They cannot be treated in isolation.

Although the agency at 880 Wing in the City of Plymouth continues to offer individual counseling, lodging 1,096 interviews during the first half of this year, Plymouth Family Service is adding more and more group sessions to its list of counselling services.

Staff members Joyce Cunningham and Marc Sholder have already formed a group for couples, aimed at improving mutual growth and communications in marriage, reports Ruth Abell, the agency's supervisor.

The agency is planning to add a men's discussion group, another married couple's group and a group for children whose parents are divorced or separated to its list of services this fall and winter, Mrs. Abell said.

"We also anticipate adding a homemaker service early in 1977, with trained persons who can help keep the household functioning during times when an adult is temporarily ill or incapacitated," she added.

"Sholder has been meeting regularly with a group of adolescents who have been experiencing difficulties at school or at home, and Mrs. Cunningham has organized a group of pre-teen girls who meet weekly to practice improved social skills."

An intern from the Wayne State Graduate School of Social Work has joined Plymouth Family Service, Mrs. Abell added, to help make the expanded program a success.

Counseling services offered by Plymouth Family Service are available to Plymouth residents on a sliding fee scale. The agency is supported by the Plymouth Community Fund.

Mrs. Abell says Family Service's caseload has steadily increased, because the stigma associated with family difficulties is decreasing.

"It's not that Plymouth has more problems than it did 10 or five years ago," she said, "but that people are no longer embarassed to ask for professional help. As long as our clients increase, so will our services."

Metalizing is key process for Sparling Plastics

By W.W. EDGAR

When the unusual industries in the Plymouth community are listed a place must be reerved for the Sparling Plastics Industries Inc which occupies one of the major buildings in the Rould Industrial Park.

The company, headed by jovial Bob Sparling, is engaged in what is called "metalizing" products—both for useful and decorative purposes.

Ask what he means by "metalizing," Sparling describes it as a process of boiling aluminum under vacuum so it condenses on parts to give them a metal coating.

"And the nice thing about it," he says, "is that the process can be used on any material that will withstand vacuum.

"Among these matrerials are glass, plastic, metal and wood."

With broad grin that breaks into laughter he likes to tell of the time, years ago on Michigan Avenue in Detroit, he once metalized a fellow's hat to be used in a political campaign.

While Sparling admits many of items being processed are mainly decorative, there aree some that are helpful in every day life.

Among these are the reflectors in the headlights of automobiles. These reflectors are usually made of plastic that would be of little value in their natural state. But once metalized, they are valuable in night driving.

In another connection with the automotive world, Sparling and this team of young employees are engaged in metalizing the trunk box medallion on all Oldsmobile cars.

"It's an attractive thing just becauser it is metalized.

"Contrassting our work with auto parts, we even go as far as metalizing some items in the world of cosmetics. We can metalize anthing that will withstand the vacuum process."

Sparling's company is a job shop, contracting work with anytone. He has been operating in the Plymouth area for the past 17 years.

Before moving toPlymouth, he was located in Old Corktown, surrounding Tiger Stadium.

"They rezoned the property of urban renewal and we had to move."

Sparling started in the work world under his dad in Detroit when the C.D. Sparling Co. was engaged in chrome plating.

"I finally broke away from Dad," Sparling recalled, "because, like many young fellows, I thought he was making too many mistakes.

"After returning from the military I formed my own company and have a very enjoyable time organizing young fellows into a team to help small business on a high level."

His son has just joined the company after spending time in New York City. He tired of "The Big Apple" and now he's back home. Sparling said he tries to make work enjoyable because he enjoys it himself. In his leisure time he has a liking for music, canoeing, football and "just following my kids around."

He is a most unusual fellow— engaged in a most unusual industry.

Robert Sparling, president, takes an order.

Trustees ponder conflict issue

By TIM RICHARD

Few elected officials in Michigan are full-time policymakers. State legislators, Wayne County commissioners and Detroit councilmen can live on their salaries, but the overwhelming majority of local officials meet once or twice a month and get token pay, at best.

And so, with the citizen-politician so widely distributed, it is a fact of life that some officials will run into occasional conflicts of interest; that is, they will be called on to make official decisions which could benefit their private interests.

In some cases the conflict is so substantial that it becomes impossible for the person to hold office any more. In most, it's sufficient for the official to abstain from voting on an issue where his interests conflict.

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE trustees recently ran into two such questions of conflict. They involved trustees Mark McQuesten, a sometime student there, and Gerald Cox, whose wife is on the payroll.

Attorney Wolfgang Hoppe of the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone gave the trustees different answers in each case.

McQuesten's case was the most minor problem—and thus the trickiest to deal with.

McQuesten earned an associate degree from Schoolcraft several years ago and is now in the working world. He is taking one course currently.

In 1969 Attorney General Frank J. Kelley ruled it would be a violation of the state constitution for a doctoral student to serve on the governing board of a state university.

The reasoning is subtle. Using a 19th century State Supreme Court decision in the case of two black students who were denied readmission to a private Grand Rapids college, Kelley ruled that such a student is in a contractual relationship with the college.

Because of this substantial contract, Kelley ruled, a doctoral student could not serve on the board of a university he was attending.

KELLEY LEFT unanswered two other questions. What about undergraduate students? And what about part-time students?

Hoppe's opinion last week answered both:

"It would be a conflict of interest for a member of the board of trustees of Schoolcraft College to be a student at the college."

At that point in the letter, it looked as if McQuesten was in trouble, either as a student or trustee, but Hoppe had more to say:

The legislature distinguished between substantial conflicts and "de minimum" conflicts. In McQuesten's case, he said the conflict was the latter. "The election of an individual class . . . seems unlikely to represent a conflict of interest. The elec tion of one class would most likely be in the de minimus category rather than in the category of contracts sufficiently substantial to represent an illegal conflict of interest."

McQuesten was safe at the plate.

BUT DR. COX had to abstain from voting on ratification of the collective bargaining contract between the college and the Faculty Forum, which this year for the first time represents part-time instructors.

Said Hoppe: "Financial interests of business associates or family members could represent prohibited conflicts of interest on the part of public officials.

"In the instant case (Cox), the spouse's part-time teaching position represents more than a token pecuniary interest; and could well be viewed as a substantial interest. Participation in the approval of the collective bargaining agreement by the interested board member has the appearance of impropriety, and could subject the action of the board of trustees to legal challenge.

"Although the results of such a challenge are not certain, it is possible that it would be successful.

"Although there is no clearly correct legal conclusion, in our opinion, a member of the Schoolcraft College board of trustees should not vote on a resolution relating to a collective bargaining agreement covering the trustee's spouse."

COX WAS flustered over the matter.

He noted that it had been no secret when he ran for the board that his wife was a part-time instructor.

Moreover, he noted that only in the last year did part-time faculty vote to unionize, and this was the first time for him that the problem had arisen. He refrained from voting.

THERE IS A FOOTNOTE of irony to the McQuesten case involving the student-trustee.

While it's apparently wrong for a college student to serve on the board of a college from which he's taking courses toward a degree, the attorney general has found no such problem for a student in a K-12 school district.

Thus, a college student cannot serve on the college board, but a high school student may serve on a K-12 district board. That's what the attorney general says, and his opinions have the force of law until the legislature legislates or the courts rule otherwise.

Boutique boosters

Individual classrooms at Allen Elementary are making an item to be sold at the schools holiday boutique, "An Old Fashioned Christmas," to be held from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Allen gym on Dec. 4. Dee Chilers and Carole McLean are co-chairwomen and Joni Sherman and Wand Hall are coordinating the workshops. Some of the items pupils are making include Allen felt pennants, Christmas tree ornaments, scratch pads, decorated soap, refrigerator magnets, book markers, and shrink art. The PTO also is sponsoring adult workshops in felt and burlap (yardstick and scissor holders), yarn (knitted and crocheted items) and macrame (owls, snowflakes, oranments and plant hangers). The Salvation Army pursues local needs

For 111 years the Salvation Army has looked after people's most basic needs—food, clothing and shelter. Last year in Plymouth alone, the agency filled 188 food orders, distributed clothing and furniture, and provided hundreds of hours of counseling, referral and emergency transportation.

These services and many more would not have been possible without charitable donations.

THE SALVATION Army's diversified social and welfare services are numerous. Here are just a few:

•Child care—A free cooperative drop-in nursery school is held in the building from 9 to 11 a.m. every Tuesday and Thursday. It began as a babysitting service for mothers, and later evolved into a broad educational and social program for their children.

•Bus transportation for the elderly—Twice a month the Salvation Army takes senior citizens at Tonquish Creek Manor shopping, on errands and outings.

•Christmas and seasonal services—Dozens of Plymouth families receive food, toys and clothing from the Salvation Army at Christmas. A total of 2,181 people in institutions received gifts last year.

Plymouthite warns of automated libraries

By FRANK BENSON

Despite what Patrick Butler of Plymouth says, he is a talented writer. The 52-year-old stooped, balding and even slightly timid gentleman looks more like a college librarian—and that's exactly what he is.

Butler is also author of a humorous essay that recently appeared in the New York Times Sunday Magazine. "The Dewey-Casanova Syndrome" dealt with the 100-year anniversary of the American Library Association, but was more than just an informative essay.

Butler wrote that "the whole trend of tossing out books and librarians and replacing them with computers and boa constrictors is one that should not be rushed into."

It's a topic that Butler knows well because he has served as director of the Library and Learning Resource Center at Schoolcraft College since the college opened in 1962.

The essay marked a return to the professional writing market for Butler, who had written more than 25 humorous essays over a five-year span in the late 1960s, mostly for Saturday Review and the National Observer.

His humor is best described as parody and satire. He often imitates or parodies the plot, characters or the style of another author. His spoofs run the gamut of style from Time magazine to Nero Wolfe mysteries.

BUTLER DENIES he is a cynic, yet most of his essays deal with changes in society and his questioning of those changes. An example is his essay from the Saturday Review, "Mall Adjusted." Butler is steadfastly against enclosed shopping malls, landmarks in suburbia.

"I want to get out and walk on some real sidewalks. . . You can't even buy a drink in the Mall. If you see a bar you are not in the mall. You are downtown. Make the most of it."

Butler may be anti-shopping mall, but he is fervently pro-library. "It seems miraculous to me that librarians are the only people in the world who get paid for taking other people's money and buying books with it."

Butler has been buying books with other people's money for quite a while. Prior to becoming librarian at Schoolcraft, he was a librarian in the Plymouth school system after graduating from Western Michigan University and receiving his master's degree at the University of Michigan.

He has been married to his wife, June, for 28 years and is the father of eight children.

BUTLER IS actually a writer in spite of himself, and he admits he was surprised when he sold his first article. When asked his favorite writers, he just shruged and deadpanned, "They're all dead!" When pressed, he admited he admires James Thurber.

Although he is surprised by his success, he considers himself a librarian, not a writer or historian. When asked if he would ever consider becoming a writer full-time, he leaned back in his chair and dreamily reponded that if he were 25 years old again. . .

"I'm a quitter," he confided. "I only write when the spirit moves me, maybe three or four times a year." When things catch his interest, then he writes his essays.

Why his library was recently renamed "Learning Resource Center?"

His eyes lit up and a huge grin started on his mouth. He leaned forward in his chair and began talking hurriedly.

He said he was going to write an essay on that subject, and he couldn't really give an answer except to say that Yale University has a library and Paducah U. has a learning resource center. He caught himself impishly when he realized Schoolcraft College has a learning resource center. "I hope the school officials don't object to the article."

It would be hard for the officals at Schoolcraft college to object to Patrick Butler. He constantly downplayed his accomplishments and repeatedly extolled the virtues of the college.

It seems clear that when the identity is sought of the local writer who is the master of the humorous essay, there's no mystery. The Butler did it.

Outgoing township officials honored by fellow trustees

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees honored three of its departing members at Tuesday's meeting, citing them for loyal and valuable service in the interest of the township.

The board also joined the Livonia City Council in protesting Senate Bill 1491, which would require municipalities to establish broader unemployment compensation and benefit plans for their employees.

Retiring Supervisor J.D. McLaren, Trustee Russell Ash, and Trustee Gerald Burke, in their board seats for the last time, were presented with resolutions honoring them for their services during their tenure on the board.

McLAREN WAS FIRST elected to supervisor in 1972 and re-elected in 1974. The resolution, passed and given to him by his fellow board members, said in part:

"J.D. has seen many accomplishments during his tenure, such as the township's purchase of the Hilltop Golf Course, the beginning development of the township recreation park, the widening of Ann Arbor Road complete with underground lighting, sidewalks, sod and all the amenities, plus many other accomplishments."

ASH COMPLETED almost 21 years as a township official last night. His first office, in 1956, was as secretary to the Plymouth Township Heating Board. In addition to serveral terms as a trustee, Ash also has served on the planning commission.

His commendation read in part: "We can think of no other person in government service, past or present, who has dedicated himself so extensively to the development of township services to meet our fast growing area, his experience and varied capabilities assisted immeasurably in the orderly development of the Township."

BURKE, the youngest board member, was appointed trustee in 1970 to serve the uncompleted term of Maurice Breen, who had won the position of supervisor.

His citation read in part: "In the course of his governmental career, Gerald served on many committees, especially being active on the recreation commission and the sidewalk committee. Gerald was the board's delegate to SEMCOG. His attributes of frugality and devotion to duty were evident during his tenure of office as trustee."

The new supervisior, Thomas Notebart, and the two trustees, Maurice Breen and Mrs. Lee Fidge, will officially take office Nov. 20 at noon.

THE BOARD VOTED unanimously to send a letter to the state representatives urging them to oppose SB 1191, written to eliminate exclusions in the current statute governing unemployment compensation and benefits for public employees.

Under the current law, elected and appointed officials, contract employees, seasonal and temporary workers, and part-time and student employees are all excluded.

The proposed bill, if passed, would require local governments and municipalities to provide compensation and benefits for them also.

Fund agencies slight mental health

By MARIA KOSANOVICH

Community mental health has gained increasing public awareness but little recognition from state and federal legislators in the way of funds, a recent public hearing of the Fieldbrook Mental Health Association disclosed.

The Fieldbrook Mental Health Association, a clearinghouse of community mental health services, plans to begin work providing area residents with information about existing social service agencies and counseling centers. The association serves Redford, Livonia, Canton, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Northville.

A mental health ombudsman, who would have access to a multitude of inpatient and outpatient resources and provide information to the mental health consumer about which agency he can consult, will be appointed by the association. The mental health ombudsman would also represent the association in Lansing to monitor community mental health legislation and lobby for increased funding.

WITH MANY mental health problems falling in fringe areas, people are confused about which service agency to consult," explained Jim Spitos, executive board member of the Fieldbrook association.

He indicated that a few of the services an ombudsman would coordinate included crisis intervention, psychiatric and counseling services, alcohol and drug abuse centers, legal aid, court services, financial assistance and employment placement.

Residents facing a crisis situation can contact a resource person who "doesn't have any interest in perpetuating his own agency but only concerned that the individual receive the services which he needs", said board member Solomon Goldfarb, a psychiatric social worker.

There has already been a marked response in the community about the association's mental health ombudsman proposal, according top Goldfarb.

A LIVONIA WOMAN testified before the Fieldbrook Association that she and her husband were shuffled from social service agencies and community counseling centers to seek continued psychiatric treatment for their schizophrenic daughter.

Private agencies were too costly for the family, she commented, and they placed newspaper ads to find an inexpensive residential treatment facility.

They finally placed their daughter in a Detroit halfway home through the Wayne County Department of Social Services, but stressed the lack of information available to local residents about social service agencies. "When there is no place to call someone for help, something has to be done" said the woman.

Although still in the discussion stage, the mental health ombudsman plan has received support from community counseling agencies.

James Anthony, executive director of Community Commission on Drug Abuse (CCODA), which serves Livonia and Westland, said an mental health ombudsman would "increase the use of services in suburban areas.

"We have a fragmentation of services in our community," said Anthony. "An ombudsman could interface with existing agencies along the continuum of care necessary for the client."

According to Phyllis Santos, administrator of the Northwest Guidance Clinic which provides western Wayne County suburbs with outpatient counseling services, the mental health ombudsman would be an "excellent source" of information about public and private community mental health facilities.

A lot of counseling agencies appear complex to people," said Mrs. Santos. "If people don't know what is available to them, they won't know where to go for help."

The ombudsman won't substitute the gaps in mental health services currently facing the suburban areas, but would be a "step toward reaching the appropriate place to receive treatment" for area residents, she said.

THE DEVELOPMENT of the mental health ombudsman plan will continue despite the lack of federal funds, according to Spitos and Goldfarb.

The lack of federal funds have hampered the Fieldbrook association's efforts to improve the quality of mental health services since they started in January. The association was denied a planning grant by the Wayne County Mental Health Board, which approves all mental health funds appropriated by the state. It now operates through small contributions by individuals and in-kind services donated by the City of Livonia.

Northville State Hospital, which is the primary psychiatric facility available to residents in the association's represented area, cannot continue to meet the outpatient and inpatient psychiatric needs of residents, according to association members. Northville has already cut back on outpatient services.

The group favored setting up satellite facilities which would provide comprehensive mental health services in the suburbs and operate through Northville.

Approved three years ago by the Wayne County Mental Health Board, the satellite centers plan still has not received federal funding, but remains a major long-term goal of the Fieldbrook association and Northville State Hospital.

SPITOS BLAMED government cutbacks in community mental health for the lack of money to finance association projects.

An ombudsman would "convince" state legislators that the suburban area needs extended mental health services and funds to supply those services, said Spitos.

Attending the public hearing, Rep. Robert Geake (R-Northville) agreed that mental health funding for state institutions and community mental health services is "totally inadequate."

Geake, who is a member of the state house mental health committee and national advisory council on mental health, indicated that small mental health appropriations were due to the "low priority" legislators placed on community mental health projects.

"Most legislators don't recognize that mental health needs aren't being met because they don't hear from their communities," noted Geake.

Fieldbrook association board members said the association will spend the next few months studying the feasibility of the ombudsman plan and looking for ways to fund the program.

The Stroller

Armistice Day in 1918

By W.W. EDGAR

Slumping down into his easy chair The Stroller closed his eyes, and suddenly he heard the rumble of distant drums and wild cheering.

Sure enough it was Armistice Day, Nov. 11, 1918, and it turned out to be one of the most memorable days in the long history of the old home town buried in the foothills of the Blue Mountains in Pennsylvania.

All through the war our little town of Catasauqua had done its part in the war that was to end wars. Month aftwr month the "Iron Borough" had headed thw list of communities in thw purchasw of Liberty Bonds. Our town had more boys in the conflict than many of our neighboring communities. And, being close by the big Bethlehem Steel Works, the men who had not been admitted into the armed forces were giving of their ability in the manufacture of war materials.

For weeks there had been rumors that the end of the war was near, and the folks in our town were eager for the finale. It had been a long time, and the war effort was beginning to be a drag. So, when the rumors came, they were welcome. There was hope that our boys soon would be back home and the world could return to normal.

At the time The Stroller, who had been exempt from the draft, was toiling on the long night shift in the steel works and spent every moment he could spare getting the rest he needed to withstand the rigors of working through the night.

Then, one afternoon, his mother who had been out visiting, came home and started calling: "Get up. Get up. The armistice is signed. The war is over. Come on, get up, and join in the celebration."

The Stroller heeded the call. But at the height of the band playing and the cheering and the parades came word that the announcement was premature.

What a let down. But it was the signal that the end was near, and there was a strange calm over the old home town just waiting for the word.

For several days we waited. Then, on Sunday evening, in the little white church on the hill, the minister announced very solemnly that the armistice was expected to be signed most any time and he wanted the bell in our church steeple to be the first to sound the word.

As we left the church that evening there was a feeling that we should sit and wait. But midnight came, and heads started to nod. Then, off to bed. But not for very long.

Suddenly, through the night air, came the peeling of the old church bell.

"Get up and help Mr. Lindeman (the custodian) ring the school bell," Mother shouted. And with a leap we all were out of bed and ready for anything the day might bring.

The old church bell kept tolling. Then the school bell. It wasn't very long until the sound of music was in the air. The Catasauqua Band, that had been alerted, started parading the main street, and the townspeople joined in the line of march. There little town literally "went crazy."

It was a great time for The Stroller. He had helped ring the school bell and then headed for the volunteer fire company where the men got out the hose carriages. They, too, had bells. And it wasn't long before the firemen were in the parade that engulfed most all of the residents.

Up and down the streets we went in one of the wildest scenes our little town ever knew. You could find the town's ministers, school teachers, and even the most prim of the residents casting their cares aside.

The war was over. Soon the boys would be coming home—those that survived the firing. But the tought of their coming home was only part of the greatest day our little town ever knew. And the memory of Nov. 11, 1918 will live forever.

Tame the wild west

It's an understatement of the century to say that there's bad blood between Canton Township Supervisor-elect Harold Stein and outgoing Supervisor Robert Greenstein. Two examples came in the past seven days. One involved the supporters of the Greenstein's write-in team and the other incident was created by the Stein slate.

We're speaking of the write-in group's harassment of the local board of canvassers in demanding that election certification be withheld due to unsubstantiated widespread impropriety.

And we're also speaking of the Stein slate's heavy-handed attempt to storm township hall to impound the ballots shortly before 6 p.m. last Friday accompanied by the Wayne County Sheriff's deputies and state police.

Both were paranoid actions that maintain Canton Township's image as the laughing stock of Wayne County in the untamed wild west.

GREENSTEIN has many dedicated and talented campaign workers who would not accept the the defeat in the primary and mounted an exceptional write-in drive. But Greenstein, the most popular member of the four-man write-in team, still lost by 454 votes.

His supporters stacked the audience at both public meetings where the board of canvassers was scheduled to certify election totals.

Jack Blumenshine, one of the four canvassers, patiently explained to the crowd that the job of the canvassers is not to investigate alleged questions of impropriety but to check the numbers on machines against the numbers in the tally books. That has been done to the satisfaction of the board. But responding to extreme audience pressure, they have decided to investigate the complaints—a job which should be done by the county if a recount is requested.

The board of canvassers is not whitewashing the results. It reported to the crowd that a 100 vote addition error was discovered which helped Greenstein. So, it turns out he lost by an uncertified 454 votes, not 554. We feel the election was handled properly, without negligence.

Jim Donahue, one of the leaders of the write-in campaign, argued that people who marked an X in the straight Democratic box on absentee ballots were shortchanged if they also placed write-in stickers on the ballot.

His argument is rebutted by Linda Hays, a conscientious woman who worked in the absentee ballot precinct. Ms. Hays said the allegation of impropriety probably can be traced to the one time she was calling off votes and another worker made a mistake entering them on the machine.

Mrs. Hays explains that she called out a straight Democratic mark, then noticed there were write-in stickers on the ballot. She called them out, but her co-worker had already pulled open the curtain to record the vote with her other free hand.

The inaccurate ballot was remedied easily, explains Mrs. Hays. When they came upon a straight Democratic ballot that had no write-in stickers on it, they entered four write-in votes.

Clerk John Flodin says he has faith in his poll workers and feels that if any test is conducted, their competence will be upheld.

Why go through the expense of calling in county officials for the second recount in a row? Write-in candidates and even their most fervent supporters say they can't imagine that many votes will change, certainly not enough to elect Greenstein.

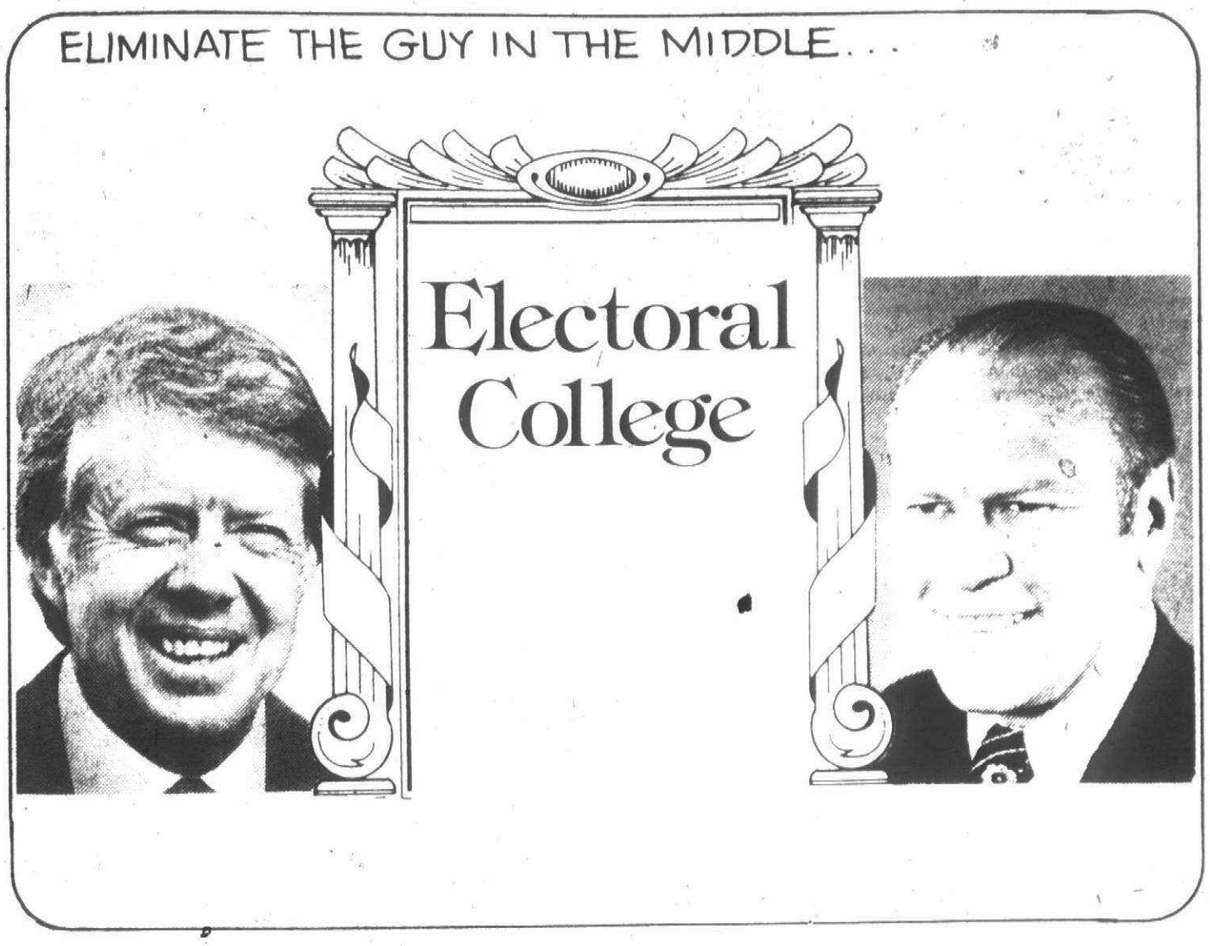

BUT STEIN failed to demonstrate tact or restraint last Friday when he waited until office hours were over and attempted to have state police impound Canton's uncertified ballots to prevent vote tampering.

Why were two patrolmen from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department present at the impounding attempt? Judge James Canham, who signed and later withdrew the order, said he asked that state police be there, and told Stein the sheriff's department could not impound the ballots.

Is it a coincidence that Stein's attorney, Stephen Hitchcock, also represents the sheriff's union—Local 502? Stein claims the deputies must have heard about the impounding over their police radio. Who's kidding whom?

Just as the Observer criticized Greenstein for allowing himself to become too close to the reserve police deparment, we criticize Stein for allowing himself to get too close to the Wayne County sheriff patrolmen's union.

In the same breath, we sincerely welcome Stein and the other new members of the Canton board to office. Let's work to sew up the chasm.

The voters don't need a middle man

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

You may think the presidential election is over.

You may think Jimmy Carter has been elected the next president of the United States.

Even though Jimmy Carter has received 51 per cent of the popular vote in this country and pulled two million more votes than Gerald Ford, he has not yet been elected president of the United States.

The president of the United States is not elected by the people but by the presidential electors in the Electoral College.

WHEN THE AMERICAN people go to the polls to pull a lever for the next president of the United States, they are not in fact voting for a man but for a slate of electors which had previously been chosen by political conventions in each state.

The slate of the candidate who polls the highest number of votes in each state becomes the presidential electors and is able to vote for the president of the United States.

Under the Constitution, the members of these slates are not restricted or limited in voting for the person whose name appears on the ballot. They are free to vote for whomever they please, and in the history of the country, some presidential electors have not voted for the person to whom they were committed on the ballot.

The exact procedure now that the slate of electors in each state has been chosen is that they "shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves."

THE VOTE WILL then be sent to the seat of government of the United States and opened and counted by the president of the senate in the presence of the two houses of Congress.

If no person receives a majority of the votes, the House of Representatives shall elect the president from the three candidates receiving the highest votes. The house shall vote by state, and each state shall receive one vote.

It looks like Jimmy Carter will receive 297 electoral votes, or a little more than 55 per cent of the electoral votes even though he received only 51 per cent of the popular vote.

If Ohio had not gone to Carter by fewer than 10,000 votes and one other small state as well, even though Carter won by more than two million votes, the next president of the United States would have been Gerald Ford.

THE PRESENT SYSTEM of electing the president of the United States allows the people's will to be thwarted.

In 1876 Samuel J. Tilden beat Rutherford B. Hayes by more than 250,000 votes, yet Hayes became the 19th president of the United States because he received more electoral votes.

In 1888 Grover Cleveland received more than 100,000 more votes than Benjamin Harrison. But Harrison became the president of the United States because he polled more electoral votes.

We talk of ourselves as a democracy, but the people do not elect our chief executive.

It is about time that the people of the United States make the decision that they want to elect their own president. There is no excuse for the Electoral College to exist.

Besides being an unneeded middle man, the Electoral College takes away the opportunity of "one person, one vote" in electing the president, because it allows all the votes for a losing candidate in each state to be washed out.

The system worked this year, but it came close to not working. Our Constitution must be amended to allow for the direct popular election of the president of the United States.

An end to stalemates and other views

Tim Richard

Random reflections on the 1976 election campaign:

STALEMATED GOVERNMENT may come to an end at two levels.

A Democratic president, Jimmy Carter, will have a Democratic Congress. The Oakland County executive, Republican Dan Murphy, will have a Republican majority on the board of commissioners.

No more will we have one branch of those governments pointing the finger at the other. No more will a legislative body pass a politically motivated proposal and dare the executive to veto it.

Instead, the voters will have a single majority party at which to point the finger. That has to be an improvement.

WAS THAT ESCH? I've known and covered Marv Esch, the GOP candidate for U.S. Senate this year, since 1968, and I've long thought he was Michigan's brightest and most creative mind in the congressional delegation.

But frankly I didn't recognize the Marv Esch I saw in the '76 Senate campaign. Half his campaign seemed based on the busing issue, and he sounded more like a Bob Huber than Marv Esch.

Ironically, the Marv Esch who was ranting against busing this year was the same man who was so very slow to sign the discharge petition to force out of committee HR 620, the constitutional amendment to ban cross-district busing.

The senatorial candidate used his family in this campaign in a way he never used them when he was 2nd District congressman.

The new Marv Esch seemed to gloat when Don Riegle got smeared by the Detroit News over his 1969 love life. The old Marv Esch would have held his nose at that kind of tactic.

I really missed the old Marv Esch.

IT WAS A PAGE from a George Orwell novel, where folks were taught that "love is hate" and "war is peace."

The horrors of the futureworld came to mind when I read what the public relations counsel for the litter lobby said after voters passed Proposal A to ban throwaways.

The PR man for the litter lobby accused those who wished to ban throwaways of running a "negative" campaign!

What did Orwell call it? "Double-think?"

THE SUPPORTERS of Proposal A spent $125,000.

The opponents, organized as the Committee Against Forced Deposits, admitted after the election to spending $1.1 million to $1.3 million—about 10 times as much as the supporters. To that you have to add whatever Chatham Supermarkets and National Can Co. spent for the same purpose.

Any way you cut it, the "antis" outspent the supporters 10-1. Yet Proposal A won.

During the campaign, time after time, folks would say, "Every time I turn on the radio, there's a commercial against Proposal A." They would express fear that the throwaway ban would be defeated because of the sheer bombardment of litter lobby propaganda.

But when I'd ask the people if the commercials were influencing them, the answer invariably was: "No, they got me angry."

It appears, then, that the public can be trusted to think its way through an issue, and a well-financed special interest has a tough time buying an election.

FOR THE THIRD time, Michigan voters have rejected amending the state constitution to allow a graduated income tax.

The first two times, the question was posed straight. This year, the Michigan Citizens Lobby tried to sell it by rigging the rates so that 85 per cent of the population would get a tax cut and the other 15 per cent would have to pick up the tab. Still the public wouldn't buy it.

So let me now say publicly what I've been saying privately for 10 years: Voters will never buy a graduated state income tax until the rate gets higher—maybe seven or eight per cent. Right now it's only 3.9 per cent, and it doesn't really hurt. When the tax rate starts to hurt, a graduated income tax will be as easy to sell as apple pie.

Voluntary change seen from Kenya

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Nairobi, Kenya: Wednesday, Nov. 3—the day after the American election.

Here in Nairobi, it is 8:30 a.m. The winter rains came late in Kenya, but last night they finally arrived, driven on a brisk wind and accompanied by thunder and lightening. The jacaranda tree flowers, improbably deep purple, are scattered all over the red mud. In the glare of the warm morning sun, the election returns from America are just beginning to come in at the United States Information Agency library on Government Road.

My mind goes back to Michigan, where it is 1:30 a.m., Michigan time, probably cold, surely dark, and where those same election returns are beginning to come in.

I have never been able to suppress the sense of awe I feel on election nights. The myriads of people—rich and poor, white and black, suburban and urban and rural—of the greatest democracy on earth have finished voting. It's a simple act for an individual, just pulling a lever, but collectively the sum of those acts constitutes the most remarkable voluntary transference of power in the world.

It happens so quietly in those early morning hours, while the tide of returns starts in the east and runs quickly now through the midwest and out into the late states of California and Washington. Sitting there, tied by the tube or the radio to the network election reporting services, I can hear the soft swish of power: created, shifted, bestowed. So soft, so still, so delicately final.

IN NAIROBI, the crowd in front of the USIA office is big and growing, attracted by the sound of loudspeakers hooked up to the radio returns on the Voice of America.

There are some Americans there, intensely concerned about what's happening back home. But there are more Kenyans in the building, some interested in what's going on in America, others drawn by the blare of noise and simple curiosity.

Certain kinds of events—World Series games, assassinations and election night returns—draw Americans together in a shared tribalism as subtle and as firm as any African tribe. For an American far away from home, such events pull you together with the tribe, sparking a fierce sense of pride, bringing an urge to explain and bring to life the deep and uplifting experience of our system of democracy.

I STAND IN the middle of a crowd. Fifty, sixty Kenyans stand shiftingly around me, eyes interested, full of questions.

Who will win? Why don't you know right now who's won? Is there much vote fraud? What's the difference between Ford and Carter? Between Democrats and Republicans?

Can black people vote, too? Will Kissinger continue to be secretary of state if Carter wins? What will happen to American policy to defuse racial conflict in southern Africa?

Do you have to pay to vote? Are you paid to vote? How did you vote, when you were here in Kenya on election day? Why is the south different from the north? The east from the west?

What's an electoral vote? Can someone be elected president who failed to get a majority of the popular vote? Can anybody vote? What's a voting machine? Why do you vote in secret?

I try to answer the questions as they come, telling these curious, friendly people about America, of my love for my country, and of the deep, inner logic which makes our system work.

FINALLY: WHY is voting so important to you?

The answer comes clear. It is important because in the act of voting in America, our society has come closer to working out a system by which the sovereignty of government is bestowed by the will of the people than any society that has ever existed.

Forget about the Russians and their claim that the Communist Party represents as a minority the real wishes of the people. Forget about the Chinese and their notion that the government and the Communist Party and the people are merged as one. Forget about the "guided democracies" which find it expedient to claim democracy but cannot abide reliance on each individual, unguided.

Remember only that we Americans are today on the cutting edge of what democracy and freedom are about, and that in those election returns blaring out from the loudspeakers is the communion of our political faith.

I stop, apologize for having gone on at such length and excuse myself as I have a meeting to attend.

Walking down the street, the thought comes clear: It might be useful to take some of those who are always carping at our system and plunk them down, far away from home, on election night. For you never know just how much an American you are until you are far, far from home.

Program cuts raise questions

Editor:

I have some questions I would like publicly answered. First, why are our children being cheated in the areas of music, band and gym? The millage did pass, didn't it?

Why are band members not allowed individual sheet music to practice with at home? Two and three students are being forced to share one sheet. The millage did pass, didn't it?

Why are students and parents being forced to pay for music sheets to be copied outside of school? The millage did pass, didn't it?

Was the public lied to concerning what the millage funds were really going to be used for? The public was told the millage was for music, gym and other special classes.

It seems the millage is going to lazy, thoughtless, uncaring and irresponsible teachers. These teachers don't want our children to have these special classes.

My child tells me that middle school gym classes are being held outside until Dec. 1 and will then resume again in February outside the building. Don't we have a gym for them to use? Wasn't our tax money supposed to be used to build gyms, or is that supposed to go into teachers' wallets?

This is not a slowdown tactic going on by the teachers, but by the administrators too. Where is the mony for music, gym, band and special classes?

Observer staffers had personal touch

Editor:

Before I was interviewed last week about my daughter (Courtney Dawn), I had never come in contact with the news media.

Your reporter (Darlene Stinson) came on one day and your photographer (Gary Caskey) another. They both were very efficient in their jobs, but they were really super to my family.

They acted very personally involved and they certainly impressed my children and myself.

They are definitely a very big asset to the Observer.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

THE MYSTERIOUS disappearance of the Salvation Army collection center from the Kroger parking lot has been explained.

Consternation over the missing dumpster was widespread. First general supspicions were that it had been moved to another supermarket parking lot. After numerous searches this was proven to be untrue.

"I found it in Novi," reported one caller.

According to Dorothy Moyer, secretary of the local Salvation Army unit, they simply removed it. "It was so hard to keep it up."

She said the Kroger people had neither complained nor requested the ousting.

A fire in the large container a couple of weeks ago could have finalized the decision to move it.

The pilfering of articles donated to the Salvation Army from the center had aroused the ire of many residents.

Dee Morgan, Old Village antique dealer, was one of the more vociferous on the subject. She was ready to do battle every time she observed persons sorting through the donations and taking items for their own use—or sale.

Another staunch defender of the discards was Plymouth attorney Scott Dodge. He had a front seat for goings-on at the center while working on the house on the corner of Union and Main which he purchased a few months ago.

The soft-spoken Scott even surprised his wife Sue by his reactions to the unauthorized pick-ups.

Lt. William Harfoot of the Salvation Army said the truck will gather articles from residents at their homes—even small bundles.

The number to call is 453-5464. The truck will be there in a day or two.

THREE OF the six railroad cars which were going to be incorporated into the Golden Spike restaurant on Starkweather have been sold by the Bank of the Commonwealth.

At least one of the cars will become part of the Toledo-Lake Erie and Western Railroad, a private 10-mile excursion line. It is owned by several Toledo area businessmen and is open to the public.

The interiors of the cars had been stripped in anticipation of being converted to dining use.

Acting for the group in the purchase was Art Reginold.

Symphony Ball Dec. 4

The annual Christmas Ball, sponsored this year by the Nightingale group of the Plymouth Symphony League, will be Dec. 4 in the Plymouth Hilton Inn on Northville Road. Tickets for the dinner dance ($25 per couple) now are available. Reservations may be made by calling Joyce Kelly (left) at 453-9461, or Barb King at 453-8356. The gala event begins at 7 p.m. with cocktails from the cash bar followed by dinner at 8 p.m. with dancing until 1 a.m. Jean Sigmon, Doris Zerby and Linda Leavitt are co-chairing the party. Betsy Delaney, Martha Koehler and Janet Crook are on the decorating committee and Arlene Campbell is in charge of posters.

Reservations must be made on or before Nov. 29. Tickets will be on sale at the Nov. 21 concert of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra in Plymouth Salem High School. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

They're all jolly Goodfellows

By ELINOR GRAHAM

What do you call a lady Goodfellow?

The same as her male counterpart—a pretty special person.

The women have worked behind the scenes in the Goodfellows' effort to make sure "no child is without a Christmas." But finally, it is official—Mabel Buckley and Judy Burns are members of the organization. Mrs. Buckley is head of the toy committee and Mrs. Burnsis treasurer.

Mrs. Martin Schomberger and Mrs. Clarence Holman have worked together on the clothing committee for, in Mrs. Holman's words, "It seems like forever."

Sharon Burow has been involved in Goodfellows for as long as she can remember. Her father, Paul Sanders, is a longtime member, and her husband Bruce is president of the group this year.

EACH YEAR when the old newsboys sell special Goodfellows editions, Sharon prepares a large kettle of chili. When they return to their headquarters at the fire station after a long, cold session of hawking papers, the chili is there. It warms their bodies and their spirits.

The ladies also keep doughnuts and a pot of coffee on the go. Mrs. Buckley helps with the coffee and doughnuts and Judy Burns takes her turn peddling papers on a street corner.

There are more than 100 Goodfellows representing the city and Plymouth Township. Their main fund-raiser, the sale of the Goodfellows newspapers, will be Dec. 11.

"And we need more help," said Mabel Buckley. "We need more people to sell papers and we need help purchasing the toys."

She said they would welcome all interested persons at the Nov. 17 meeting in the fire station at City hall on Main Street.

The busiest time comes after the newspaper sale.

NAMES OF SUGGESTED recipients are recommended. After investigation, the list is prepared. Ages of family members, sex and clothing sizes are noted.

Mrs. Schomberger and Mrs. Holman, statistics in hand, set out on their Christmas shopping spree.

"We buy everything from socks to overcoats," said Mrs. Holman. "We don't buy shoes. They are given gift slips for shoe stores for them."

All the clothing is brand new. Any handmade clothing is a welcome addition to their hoard. One of their benefactors donates as many as 50 pairs of handknit mittens each year. Scarves, socks, sweaters—handmade or store-bought—can be dropped off at the fire station for inclusion in the Christmas baskets.

When they have completed their shopping, the gift wrapping begins. Each item is wrapped separately, tied and tagged with the name of the recipient.

"GIFT WRAPS ARE costly, too," said Mrs. Buckley.

"Donations of wrapping paper would be a big help."

She will have about four days to shop for toys. Again, they give only brand new toys.

She would appreciate help in buying the toys, and would be glad of any donations.

The toys are chosen with each particular child in mind. And they have to be wrapped and tagged.

Lt. Henry Berghoff of the Plymouth police was president of the Goodfellows last year. This year he is in charge of the canisters in the stores and the food.

"Every family gets a turkey," Berghoff said. "The size depends on the family. A 14-pounder is the smallest with bigger ones for the large families.

"There is a complete dinner in the box. A 10-pound bag of potatoes, sweet potatoes, canned vegetables, cranberry sauce, butter, milk, lettuce, cookies, nuts and hard candy. Then we put in some crackers and peanut butter, things for after Christmas."

THE FOOD BOXES are taken to the fire station the morning of Dec. 24. The orders are assembled—toys and clothing packages added to the food cartons.

"We start delivering about 7 a.m." said Berghoff. "Last year we had them all delivered by shortly after 9:00.

"We added some young fellows last year. It didn't take them long. Some years we've had two people working on it and it seemed to take all day."

They provided Christmas for 45 Plymouth city and township families—complete with all the trimmings.

Plymouth Goodfellows was organized in 1938. Over the years the wealthy and the not-so-wealthy residents have joined forces to keep the spirit of Christmas alive in every household.

Definition of a Goldfellow—male or female?

A good neighbor and a very special person.

Altho area women have worked with the Plymouth Goodfellows for many years, Mabel Buckley (left) and Judy Burns were the first to officially become members of the organization. (Staff photo)

Canton chatter

You may think Halloween was over Oct. 31 but Robert and Cynthia Betley of Lancaster Court extended the holiday to Nov. 6 when they held their annual Halloween party for muscular dystrophy.

It was mandatory to come in a costume representing America and the bicentennial year. Bob dressed as Ben Franklin while Cindy was Emmett Kelly.

There were Indians and lots of former presidents and even the jolly green giant was represented.

Prizes for the most interesting costumes were awarded. First place went to Russ and Sue Messina as the Big Boy and a bald eagle. Second place was taken by Paul Bulger as Superman and Rosemary Henn who came as Amelia Earhart, wearing a cleverly designed cardboard airplane that had to be removed before she could enter the house since she couldn't fit through the door. Third place went to Gene and Claudia Bryant as Superman and the Statue of Liberty.

The Betleys' garage was done over as a spook house. A guided tour was conducted by two vampires who turned out to be Tom Kacher and Pat Tutas. Gary Rogowski was the man in the casket.

People arrived from Troy, Pontiac and Detroit. Tim Clos came all the way from South Bend, Ind. to attend this special event.

A total of $150 was raised and will be donated to the muscular dystrophy fund.

Next year the Betleys hope to be able to raise more money from their fund-raiser for this worthy organization.

JACK AND CONNIE CAVANAUGH of Ridge Road were proud of their daughter DeAnna when she took second place in her equitation class at the Junior Livestock Show at the Michigan State Fair grounds Oct. 30.

There were 664 particiapating horses from all over the state for the last show of the year.

DeAnna rides an Arabian horse named Frisky's Wildfire. She won for her riding ablilities in her age group.

This summer she took first place in equitation at the Wayne County 4-H Fair. In August she went on to represent Wayne County in the Michigan State Finals in Lansing.

There she took first place in the pleasure class, which is how well the horse rides. She slso took second for fitting and showing.

DeAnna is 13 and a student at Pioneer Middle School. Next year she plans to go on to bigger and better things.

THE BROWNIE and junior girl scouts from Gallimore Elementary are having their investiture and rededication ceremonies this evening at the school from 6:45-8:30 p.m.

New girls will receive their pins and the girls entering the Girl Scouts from the brownies will receive their wings. Any badges that have been earned also will be presented.

The leaders of Brownie Troop 241 are Diane Fenich, Vickey Demers and Mrs Lankas. Brownie Troop 466 is lead by Arlene Skaggs and Linda Popp. Junior Girl Scout Troop 482 belongs to Esther MacAllister, Linda Wilkin and Rosemarie Harrigan. Leaders of Troop 642 are Donna Aquino and Judy Orlandi.

Pictures will be taken this evening and refreshments will be served.

The ceremonies will be repeated next Thursday evening for the troops at Hulsing Elementary.

GAIL AND GEORGE MCDOWELL flew to Connecticut last weekend to attend a friend's wedding. They visited with their family while they were there.

Connecticut used to be the McDowell's home.

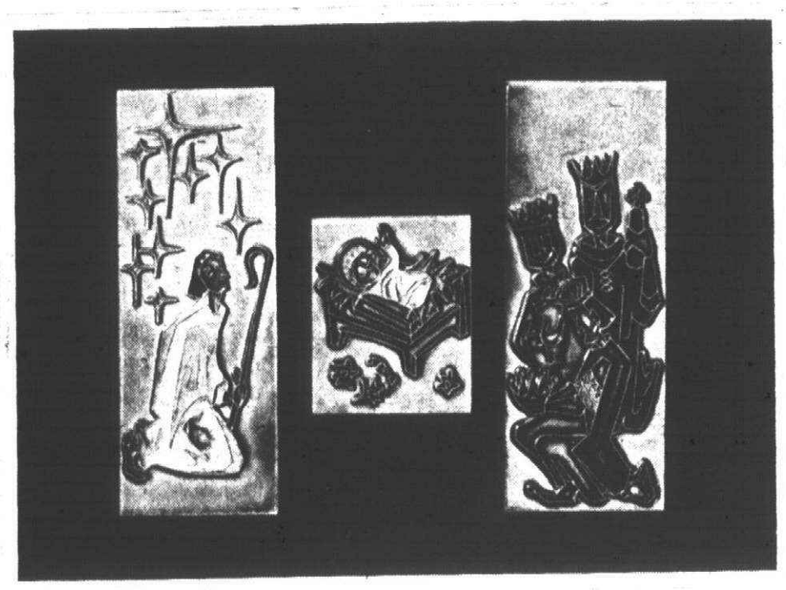

THE HOT LUNCH program for senior citizens over at the Canton Recreation Hall is running smoothly.

The program is run by Marie Napier with Bernice Commings as her assistant.

Hot lunch is served Monday through Thursday at noon and Friday at 11:30. There is a 50-cent donation. The program is sponsored by the Wayne County Office of Aging.

Every Wednesday, right after lunch, Ann Featherstone teaches arts and crafts. This program is free.

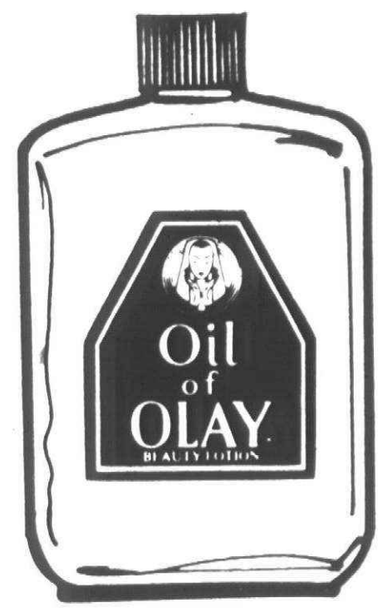

WHAT HAVE your family and friends been doing lately? Remember if it's important to you it's important to us. Let me know.

The proceeds benefit the hospital and may be ordered from Mrs. J. Allen, 422-1625, at $4.50 for a box of 25 cards. The picture is a reproduction of a cloisonne plaque in All Faiths Chapel in the hospital.

Eastern religion class set

A course in Eastern non-Christian religions will be offered at Madonna College, beginning Jan. 13 with the Rev. Joseph P. Lee, Chinese missionary priest presently associated with the St. Mel Catholic Church in Dearborn Heights. Registration begins Nov. 15.

Fr. Lee, who received his basic education in China, will introduce students to the great Eastern religions—Buddhism, Hinduism, Confucianism, Taoism, and Shinto—and invite comparison of these religious concepts to Christianity.

He will emphasize positive elements of other religions, such as the Golden Rule of love of Confucius and the Hindu rite of yoga, which help students recognize values of universal brotherhood.

Fr. Lee was ordained at the Regional Major Seminary, Hong Kong and earned a doctorate in religious studies from University of the Propagation of the Faith, Rome. Fr. Lee also has a master's degree from St. John University, New York.

Registration for this course, which will meet from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays, may be completed at Madonna College during registration for the winter term the week of Nov. 15. Registration will be conducted in the student services center from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Other courses specially scheduled for the winter term at Madonna include several basic courses for deaf and hearing impaired students such as vocabulary and grammar and introductory mathematics. Deaf students also are incorporated into other major areas of the curriculum through the assistance of sign language interpreters and note-takers.

Seminary has rare books

A collection of rare old books, including a Koberger Bible that dates back to 1492 and came from the library of Bishop Borgess, now is available for public view at St. John Provincial Seminary on Five Mile in Plymouth Township.

Sister Claudia Carlen, IHM, presides with enthusiasm over the Gabriel Richard Rare Book Room in the Catholic institution, dedicated last month with the surprise help of Cardinal John Dearden along with a St. John alumnus, the Most Rev. Thomas J. Gumbleton, auxiliary bishop of Detroit.

The pleasantly-furnished room has glass display cases for some of its most valuable volumes, like the Koberger Bible and some 250 volumes from the library of Father Gabriel Richard, famed French missionary who was active in both church and political affairs in Michigan early in the 19th century.

Prominent in that part of the collection is a 39-volume set of Diderot's "Encyclopedie," dating from 1778, and there is a note book believed to be in the hand of Fr. Richard but still to be authenticated.

ON OPEN DISPLAY is a pair of Fr. Richard's spectables, borrowed from the Marygrove College library, and a three-volume facsimile of the Book of Kells, contributed by Detroit attorney John R. Starrs. That handsome volume is a replica of the ninth century gospel book considered to be one of the greatest achievements of European decorative art.

The room also contains a Torah scroll with accompanying breastplate, donated by Irving I. Katz, administrator of Temple Beth El in Southfield and a longtime friend of the seminary, volumes from the collections of the late Bishop Alexander Zaleski of Lansing and Cardinal Dearden, as well as a letter written by St. Charles Borromeo to a brother bishop in the year 1569.

The Koberger Bible, in two volumes, was printed by Anton Koberger in Nurmberg in the late 15th century.

"It is called incunablilum, of the cradle period," said Sr. Claudia, who is faculty librarian at St. John and played a major role in the collecting of the rare books.

THE PROJECT was begun in 1974 under the sponsorship of the St. John Alumni Association with the support of the rector, Fr. Robert J. Ross, and Sr. Claudia.

The Rev. James Bjorum, a St. John Alumus now associate pastor of St. Anne Church in Warren, supervised the collection.

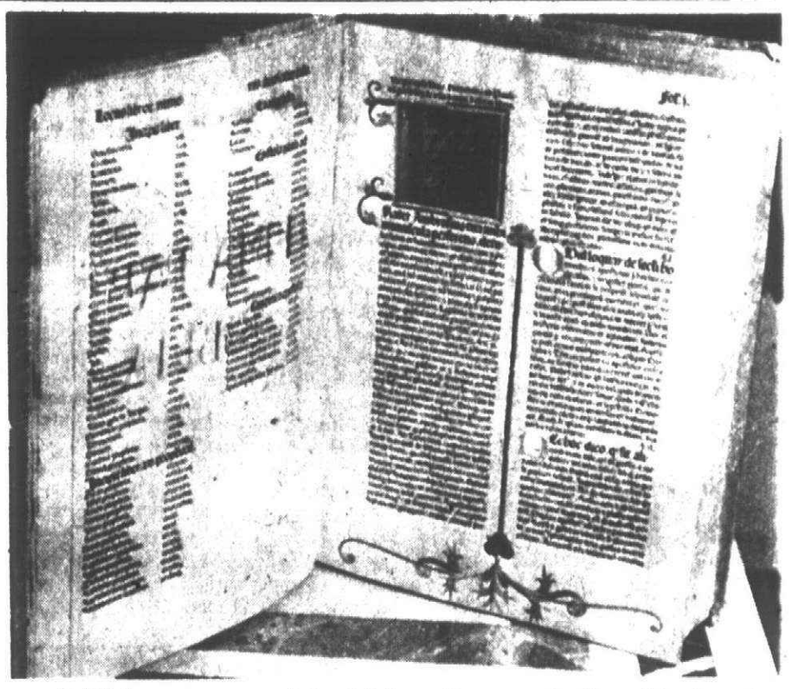

"He's a long way off now," said Sr. Claudia, but he keeps coming back on his days off; he became so interested in the collection."

The dedication of the rare books room coincided with the official publication date of a book by St. John's faculty member, Fr. Ron Modras, assistant professor of systematic theology. The book, "Paul Tillich's Theology of the Church," is a study of the well-known German theologian's thinking and its implications for the church today. It was published by Wayne State University Press.

Persons wishing to visit the rare book room can make arrangements through the library office at the seminary.

The rector said, "It is the hope of the alumni and benefactors of the seminary that the rare book room will provide an appreciation of and a realistic perspective to the people who shaped the church in mid-America.

"Those who have worked to establish the room feel it is important to provide a place where these valuable and important books can be properly cared for, displayed and actually used in order to pass on the heritage of these hard-working pioneers."

A Bible once owned by Bishop Borgess is the oldest and probably the most valuable book in the collection at St. John.

Metro Beach Metropark on Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens is a good perch fishing site, with fishermen using the canals, boat basins, Black Creek and Lake St. Clair for ice fishing. Ice fishing facilities include general skating, located directly in front of the food bar and hockey rinks in the boat basins.

WEATHER PERMITTING, the general ice skating hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, while hockey rink hours are 10 a.m. to dusk, with a one-hour limit on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. No reservations are available. The rinks are lighted and music is provided.

Stony Creek Metropark near Utica/Rochester features a wide variety of facilities for winter sports, including ice fishing, ice skating, sledding, tobogganing, cross-country skiing and ski rental service.

Fishermen like to test their skill at catching panfish, bass or pike that inhabit Stony Creek Lake.

ICE FISHING is available on Stony Creek Lake at the boat launching site or Winter Cove picnic area, with each site providing heated restrooms. The building at the boat launching site serves as a warming shelter and has vending machines for snacks plus food service during weekends, holidays and the Christmas vacation period.

Several hills throughout the park provide natural slopes for sledding and tobogganning, with use at each site depending upon snow cover. (There are no specially developed tobaggan runs, but the hills are excellent with proper snew cover).

There are cross-country ski trails, suitable for the nvoice, slightly more advanced, and advanced skiers at Stony Creek Metropark.

Cross-country ski rental service will be offered at the Ski Touring Center (located at the Eastwood Beach site), with complete rental equipment offered by Raup Campfitters, Inc., in conjunction with the Huron-Clinton Metropark system.

The nature trails are open all year, and of special interest to many visitors are the winter bird feeding stations and animal tracks. Photography is popular throughout the park in all seasons.

PARK HOURS are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. For ice and snow conditions contact Stony Creek Metropark—phone 781-4242 (Washington exchange). (Vehicle entry permits are not required during the winter months.)

Kensington Metropark near Milford, one of the most popular winter playgrounds in southeastern Michigan, has facilities ofor ice skating, tobogganing, sledding, cross-country skiing and ski rentals, ice fishing, nature hikes and photography.

General skating and hockey rinks are located on Kent Lake in front of the boat rental building, with skating hours from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. (weather permitting). The building has a heated lounge, fireplace, restrooms, food service and vending machines.

Building hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, and 2 p.m.-9 p.m. Monday through Friday (and daily during the Christmas vacation period—Dec. 20 through Jan. 2).

Cross-country skiing is very popular in Kensington Metropark, with miles of trails radiating from the ski touring center, covering all types all types of terrain. Skiing is also permitted on the golf course, where the wide open space appeals to the novice skier of any age.

CROSS-COUNTRY ski rental service will be offered at the Ski Touring Center (located at the golf course starter building) with complete rental equipment offered by Raup Campfitters, Inc., in conjunction with the Huron-Clinton Metropark system, with additional details available later.

Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville offers cross-country skiing, sledding and tobogganing on moderate slopes and ice skating.

THREE NATURAL rink surfaces are provided at inter-connected ponds, located in a ravine where skating is permitted until 10 p.m. daily (weather permitting). Music, lights and wood for rink-side fires are provided, and there are heated restrooms nearby.

Love object

Michael Rothhaar (center) as a Russian gentleman, Wayne Ballantyne, as an office worker and Suzanne Leslie Stark, who plays a dual role as the object of both men's love, star in "The Journey of the Fifth Horse," at Wayne State University's Hilberry Theatre. Ronald Ribman's adaptation of the Turgeniev story officially opens the Hilberry Repertory Company's new season with the President's Preview for Sponsors on Friday and the public opening Wednesday. ticket information is available from the box office at 577-2971.

SF Mime Troupe at WSU

The San Francisco Mime Troupe, probably the country's best known political theatre, will appear at Wayne State University's Student Ballroom in a new full-length play with music, "False Promises/Nos Enganaron."

Performed by a cast of whites, blacks and chicanos, the play deals with race relations at the time of the Spanish-American war. The Mime Troupe is noted for its ability to create comedies about serious issues. Two of its plays about the Vietnam war, "L'Amant Militarie" and "The Dragon Lady's Revenge," won Obie awards. The troupe last appeared in Detroit in 1973 with Bertolt Brecht's "The Mother."

Performances are scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door. The ballroom is located on the second floor of the University Center Building. Sponsor of the occassion is the Urban Humanities Division of Weekend College. For information call 577-4576.

The three stories come together in a surprise ending when the protagonists understood too late that empire offers the good life only to a selected few.

MONTHS OF research and years of theatrical experience are put to work in this action-packed drama, which combines western with epic, and farce with tragedy. It boasts original songs, dancing and a thought-provoking message.

This is the Mime Troupe's first full-length original production since its award-winning "The Dragon Lady's Revenge." Now in its 16th year of producing original shows, the troupe still survives without government or foundations subsidy, supported entirely by its audience.

The First Thanksgiving Dinner
The Pilgrim heritage has long been a tradition not only in Plymouth, Michigan but especially at the Mayflower. To continue this practice, we have meticulously researched the service and preparation of the Pilgrim Fathers' First Thanksgiving Dinner. With certain liberties, the menu is a duplicate of that Thanksgiving Dinner menu used by the Pilgrims in 1621.

Resorts readying for skiing surge

The major ski resorts of southeast Michigan are ready for skiing enthusiasts.

Area lodges, hills and trails have been improved, expanded and groomed all summer long in anticipation of visitors and residents.

Typical of the kind of attention southeast resorts have received is Mt. Brighton, located one mile east of Brighton, Michigan, off I-96.

Featuring four double and one triple chair lifts, J-Bar, nine rope tows, and advanced, intermediate and beginner runs, Mt. Brighton has newly remodeled its lower lodge and added an additional 500 rentals, bringing to 1,700 the number of rentals available.

IT OFFERS 19 runs, largest with 220-foot vertical drop and 1,500 feet in length. There is extensive snow making equipment and night skiing is available, as is instruction.

Alpine Valley, too, has improved facilities. The area now has 19 slopes, longest 1,500 feet, nine chair lifts, eight rope tows, is lighted and completely equipped with snow machines, rental equipment and offers ski instruction. Cafeteria, snack bar and two cocktail lounges are available. Location is on M-59, 10 miles west of Pontiac.

Phoebe Snow in Concert

Phoebe Snow, who has two successful albums, "Poetry Man" and "Second Childhood," and a new release titled "It Looks Like Phoebe Snow," will appear with Richie Havens in concert at 8 p.m. Friday in Detroit's Masonic Auditorium. Singer Snow combines funk with a soft, mellow bluesiness in most of her songs. She has recently signed a new recording contract with MCA Records. Richie Havens, who has been a long time absent from the recording business, also has a new album out titled "The End of the Beginning," which is a departure from his folk sound of the '60s. For ticket information, call the Masonic box office at 832-6648.

SCRT Co. to tackle 'Veronica's Room'

With success under its belt, the Schoolcraft College Repertory Theater will take on the play "Veronica's Room," by Ira Levin, author of "Rosemary's Baby" and "The Stepford Wives."

The Company's first presentation of the season, "The Universe Replies," proved that the area known as Wayne County, is not totally devoid of talent. The musical revue which featured songs by Jacques Brel, Judy Collins and other notables, received favorable response.

"Veronica's Room," which will be presented Nov. 12, 13, 19 and 20 in the college's Liberal Arts Theater, is directed by Bob Gregory, a Clarenceville High School teacher. Gregory became involved in company productions when he worked as technical director for "Godspell," which was presented last year.

Schoolcraft to host Caroline Bird

"As long as women think money and power are unfeminine interests, they won't make it to the top."

That's what writer Caroline Bird, who will speak at Schoolcraft College, advocates in her books dealing with the economic problems and opportunities of women. Gloria Steinem called Ms. Bird "the Malcom X for women," after reading her book, "Born Female."

"Caroline Bird's very serious and heartfelt book," wrote Ms. Steinem, "is enough to convince anyone that restrictive prejudices are depriving the country of nearly half its talent."

Ms. Bird will be presented in Schoolcraft's Waterman Center at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 17, and discuss "The Two Paycheck Marriage," the topic of the book she's writing on the effects on love, marriage and children of the woman returning to work. Her appearance is being sponsored by the Schoolcraft's cultural and public affairs committee.

In a recent telephone conversation, Ms. Bird said: "Tell them Caroline is eager to talk to women about their problems with a dual career and its effect on family life."

She is most anxious to reach anyone teaching American history or sociology and hopes that local classes can be notified that the author of "The Invisible Scar" "Born Female" and "Enterprising Women," will be at Schoolcraft .

Tickets are priced at $2 each for the general public and are available at the College Bookstore, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Schoolcraft students will be admitted free, but must pick up a ticket before 3 p.m. on the day of the lecture. Tickets will be sold at the door if available.

GS training corps enlarged

Appointment of two local women as members of the newly-enlarged corps of volunteer trainers of Girl Scout leaders has been announced by Gail Slusser, program and training director of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Martha Bentley of Betty Hill and Marjorie Taylor of Five Mile Road are teaching management techniques, outdoor camping skills and girl development theory courses to troop leaders in the council.

Reappointed to the training staff are Jean Bosche of Canton Center Road, who teaches job of outdoor specialists, and Penny Shaw of Brookside, who is area training coordinator.

Fyfe-Davidson

Mr. and Mrs. James Fyfe of Westland announce the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Louise to William Taylor Davidson of Plymouth, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson.

The bride-elect is a 1975 graduate of John Glenn High School and her fiance graduated from Mumford High School in Detroit in 1967.

A January wedding is planned.

Girl scouts learning to camp minus trash

Can a troop of Girl Scouts and their adult leaders eat six meals at a camp site and come back with not more than a handful of trash?

That's what local Girl Scout troops will be trying to find out in a contest being sponsored from now until May 31 by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

The competition called "The Great Glorious Trash Contest" is open to all 300 Junior, Cadette and Senior troops in Washtenaw, Livingston, western Wayne and northern Monroe counties. It is designed to encourage campers to reduce the amount of non-burnable, non-biodegradeable trash accumulated by camping troops, according to Mrs. Jo Stevens, executive director of the council.

Prizes for the troop, in each age category with the least amount of trash per girl per meal, will be camping equipment of its choice, she said. All girls entering the contest will receive an award patch.

A pilot program conducted last year, was won by two Junior Girl Scout troops from Ypsilanti led by Mrs. Emily Holland. During a two-day camping trip, in which eight meals were consumed by 58 people, the girls and leaders accumulated only three-quarters of a standard garbage bag of trash.

Runner-up troops were Cadette Troop 40 of Ann Arbor led by Ms. Nancy Krohn and a Pinckney Junior Troop led by Ms. Ruth Branscomb. The trash contest was organized last year by Ms. Nan Crooks of Ann Arbor, long-time troop leader, trainer and board member of the Huron Valley Council.

CHATHAM

Our proven lowest prices don't need coupon-and-a-half gimmicks.

Independent research proved Chatham had the lowest overall food prices of all the major supermarket chains in town.

Chatham honors manufacturers' discount coupons. But adding "extra value" to these coupons would probably mean: • Higher prices on other items • Slow checkout lines • In-store confusion • Out-of-stock items.

Chatham doesn't want these things to happen. Chatham's job is to make shopping easier and save you money too. Remember, Chatham has proven lowest prices...without the problems of coupon-and-a-half gimmicks.

We don't believe in fooling around with your hard-earned money.

Cagers tame Tigers for Sub-8 crown

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

Winning league titles don't come very easily for many teams, but for the Plymouth Salem girls' basketball squad this conference crown couldn't have come any simpler than it did Tuesday night.

The Rocks breezed to their second consecutive Suburban Eight League title, two nights ago, defeating a hapless Belleville squad by the overwhelming score of 73-21.

It was the 16th victory against no defeats for Salem and 13th straight triumph in league play.

Regardless of the outcome of this contest, the Rocks would have won the title this night as second place Bentley was upset by Edsel Ford.

But the Rocks made no doubt about who the victor was in this one, maintaining that perfect regular season record.

Salem now only has league opponent Redford Union to contend with tonight to keep that flawless mark in tact before post-season tournament action.

"It would be very exciting to go into the districts with an unbeaten record," coach Debbie Hatcher said.

"Redford Union is our emotional rival and they're always up for the game. They will be playing for pride.

"There is mutual respect for both teams and coaches."

SALEM DOMINATED every aspect of the game against lowly Belleville, compiling that 52-point margin.

"Belleville's behind in its program," Hatcher explained. "They've had five coaches in five years and you must have continuity in a program to win."

Hatcher freely substituted all 10 of her players throughout the game, as all the girls reached the scoring column.

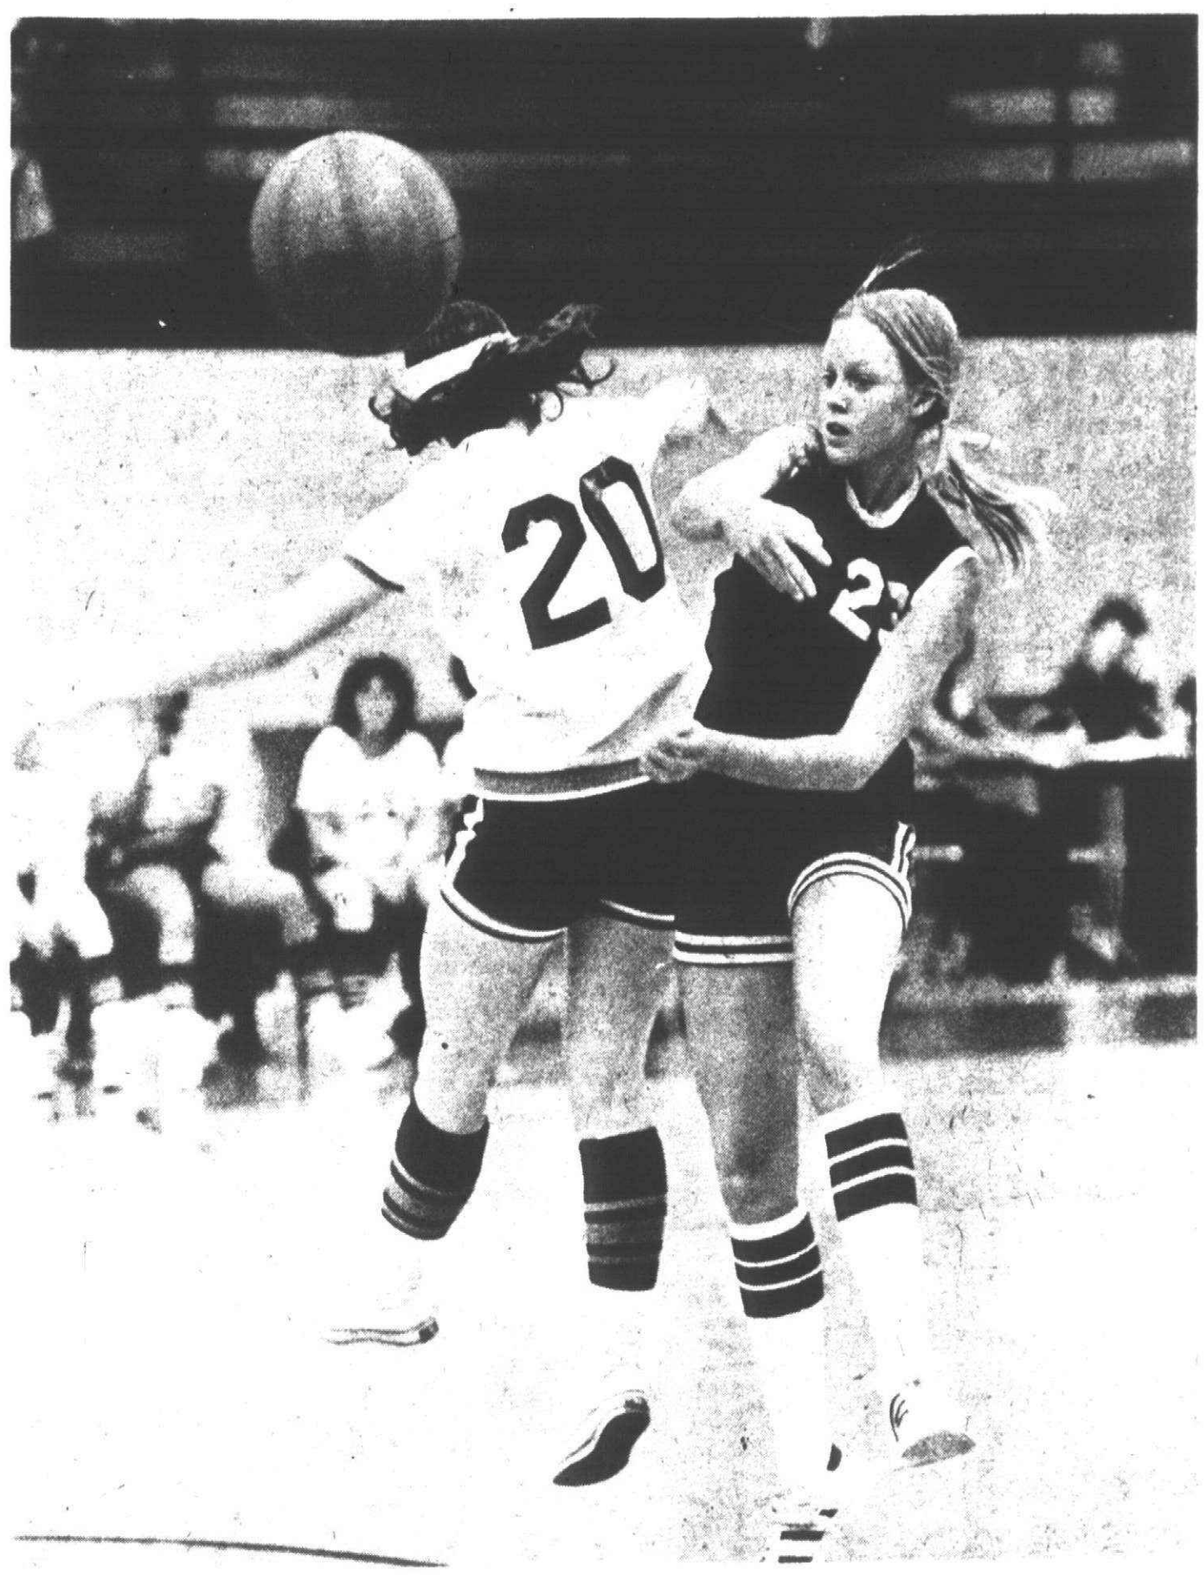

Diane Goodrich led all scorers with 16 points. Sister Donna Goodrich, co-captain Peggy Moore, and Trice Cunningham each followed with 10. Doris Hoelscher added eight, coming off the bench.

Salem held leads of 14-4, 33-11, and 56-13 after the first three quarters of action.

Salem also dominated the rebounding category with a massive 46-18 advantage.

Plymouth Canton did not see action Tuesday but resumes play tonight at the Churchill gym.

In Western Wayne relays

Salem tankers take 1st

Plymouth Salem, which shared the championship of the Western Wayne Invitation Girls' Swimming Meet last season with Westland John Glenn, left no doubts about its pool prowess this season.

The Rocks placed first in five events last weekend to run away from the 11-team field and claim undisputed possession of the Western Wayne trophy this season by an 82-point margin over runner-up Livonia Churchill.

New meet records were established in nine of the 11 events, as the proceedings boiled down to a two-team fight, at least for a while, between Salem and Churchill.

The meet also featured a battle of sisters between Salem's Marion and Sue Stanwood and Churchill's Rena and Kim Cox.

Marion Stanwood won both of her distance specialties—the 200- and the 500-yard freestyles. She set a new meet record in the latter with an effort of 5:34.4.

Sue Stanwood set a new record in winning the 100-yard butterfly (1:07.2).

Rena Cox established new records in placing first in the 100-yard backstroke and the 200-yard individual medley (1:03.6 for the former in a qualifying heat and 2:22.0 in the finals of the latter event).

Kim Cox garnered Churchill's other first in record fashion by besting the field in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Salem also recorded first-place finishes by Ilona Schmidt in the 100-yard freestyle and by its medley relay foursome, while Churchill also won the freestyle relay.

Other area teams which participated in the meet were host Westland John Glenn, 108 points, fifth place; Plymouth Canton, 83, tied for sixth; and Livonia Franklin, 55, ninth.

New records were set in every event except the 100- and the 200-yard freestyles.

Salem gridders gun to spoil Harrison's season

Shades of the 1974 football season looms for the Farmington Harrison Hawks, as another chance for an undefeated season is within their reach.

But for Plymouth Salem gridders, the element of pride is being played for and a chance to be the spoilers— once again.

Two years ago, these same two clubs met on the Harrison turf.

Most people will remember that Saturday afternoon as the day that Michigan State University upset Ohio State.

But for Salem and Harrison fans, it was a battle of the unbeatens, with the mythical state high school championship at stake.

Salem won that game two years ago, 28-7, completing a 9-0 season, while the Hawks slumbered to 8-1.

This year, the situation is the same for Harrison. Right now, the Hawks hold a perfect 8-0 record and have a chance to fight for the state title in the playoffs—only if it beats the Rocks.

Salem enters this 2 p.m. Saturday battle at Harrison with a lot less at stake. There is no undefeated record this year—only a 5-3 mark with a fourth place Suburban Eight League finish.

BUT WHAT THE ROCKS do have going for them is the hope of being the spoiler for another Hawk unblemished mark.

And the way the emotions of the Rock players have ignited at certain times during the season, it's no wonder that the squad has the confidence to knock off Harrison.

"Harrison is an excellent football team," said coach Tom Moshimer. "I'm not predicting that we will win, but I feel we can win."

The Hawks admittedly have the psychological edge over the Rocks, simply by looking at what happened two years ago and for what is at stake.

"They know that all they have to do is win the game and they go to the playoffs," said Moshimer. "We are playing strictly on pride."

Despite this edge, Harrison coach John Herrington is concerned about the Salem wishbone option offense and how it has destroyed many a Harrison hopes for victory in the past seasons.

Salem must worry about the likes of Harrison's big tailback Mike Bowden, who was a unanimous all-Western Six League selection and potential all-stater.

Bowden is the runner who has stomped over all the opponents through the first eight games, gaining over 100 yards in seven contests. He carries the ball 70 per cent of the time.

Bowden was stopped by the nine-man defensive line of North Farmington last week. He carried the ball 31 times for only 73 yards in Harrison's 21-0 victory over the city rivals.

Harrison has a well-balanced offensive attack and could go to the air more if Bowden is stopped by the Rocks.

Salem's secondary had its problems last week against Allen Park and will have to be on their toes if the Hawks are forced to go to the air.

"We had some breakdowns (last week) in coverage because of mistakes, but I'm not concerned about our secondary," Moshimer said.

"We're going to adjust to what they

Kleam claims 8th in state meet race

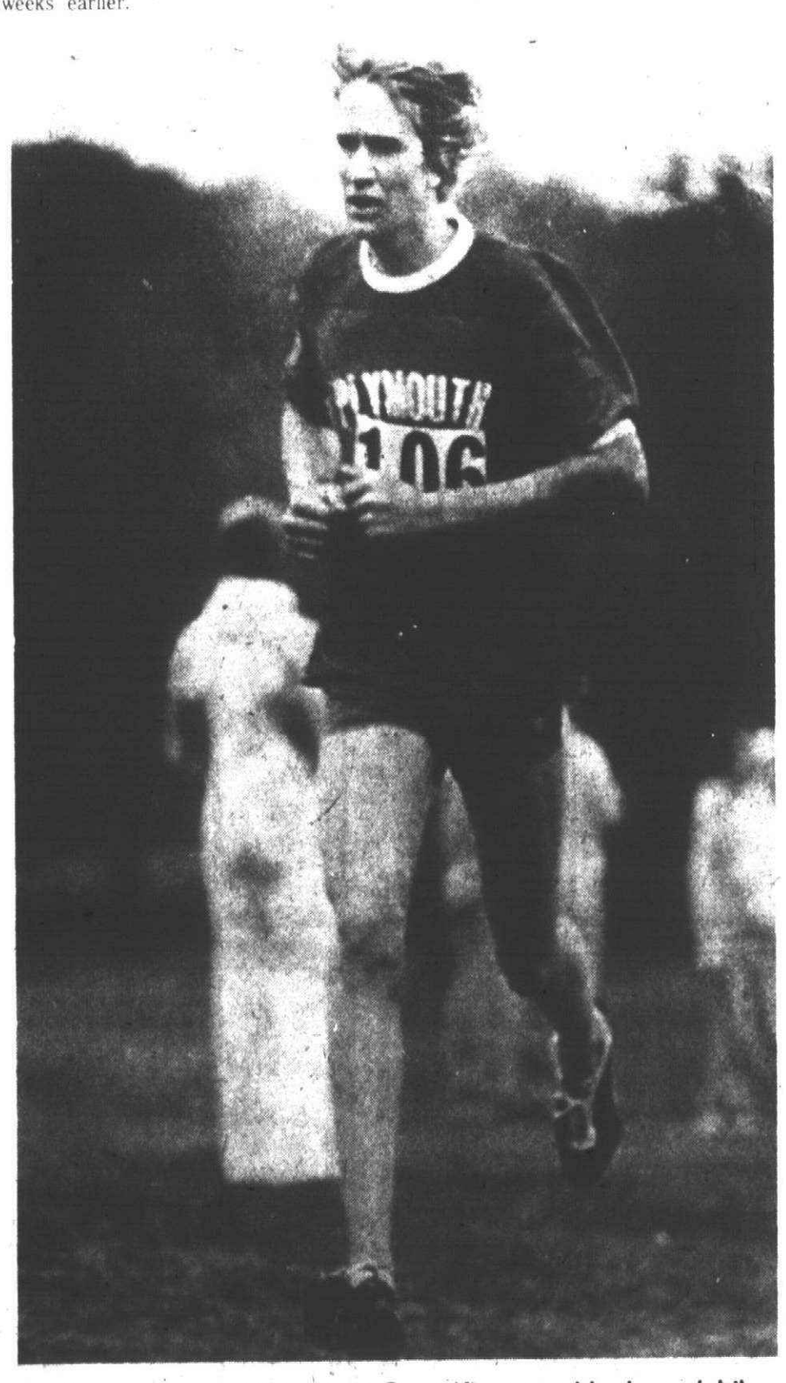

The outstanding individual season for Plymouth Salem harrier Scott Kleam ended Saturday with another sparkling result.

After a poor regional showing, which barely qualified him for the state meet, Kleam rebounded with a 15:31 state meet time, good enough for eighth place in the individual race and 24th in team competition.

Grosse Pointe North won its second Class A cross country title in as many years, beating the field at the Indian Trail Golf Course in Grand Rapids.

Kleam raced this three-mile course with a lower time and higher finish than last year's state meet. The junior finished fourth in competition with the runners from his region. That's an 11 place improvement from the regioal performance two weeks ago.

Kleam holds the Salem individual record for Cass Benton where he finished first in the Suburban Eight League meet three weeks earlier.

Rock JV roars on

By TOM ZIABECK

Junior varsity halfback Bill Bournias' 60-yard romp late in the second period set up Plymouth Salem's first score of the day, and highlighted the Rocks' 14-6 win over Allen Park last week.

Salem quarterback Paul Dillon bulled over the goal line from the three following Bournias' run, and then ran for the conversion to send the Rocks in front, 8-0.

Allen Park bounced back early in the the third quarter with a long drive that produced six points when the kick after failed. Smelling victory, the Rocks marched 60 yards to paydirt on the next series, putting the icing on the cake with Dave Wilcox's five-yeard TD run. The extra point attempt failed.

Salem coaches named Jeff Bruner, Greg Ruhlmann, Jim Daratony, Terry Ward, Bill Jacoby, Sam Morrill and Wilcox the game's outstanding defensive players, while Dillon, Morrill, Bournias and Kris Kappler excelled on offense.

Wilcox was named player of the game, by the coaching staff, for his fine two-way performance.

Doc's Corner

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

I've had this fearful feeling all week—a fear for the Plymouth Canton football team.

This Friday night is the season finale for the Chiefs, the fourth in the school's short history.

And once again that closing opponent is the powerful Dearborn Pioneers.

My fear for Canton is not because the squad will suffer an enevitable loss to Dearborn by a wide margin, but the Chiefs might get physically hurt in the process.

The bigger, strong and more powerful Dearborn Pioneers will manhandle the smaller Chiefs at will.

The Pioneers are monsterous and could physically hurt the inexperienced Chiefs.

EVERY TIME the season comes to an end, I also wonder why Canton has this mismatch on its schedule. And why does Canton open the season against Bentley?

It's time for a change in the Canton football schedule.

The Chiefs are playing these two potent squads, but aren't anywhere close to that caliber of play. The Chiefs don't even belong on the field with these two squads.

With this kind of schedule, Canton is assured of opening each season with a defeat and ending the season in a disaster. It's like beginning the season with a bruise and ending it with a bleeding wound.

NOW I KNOW four years ago, when Canton just opened its school, Dearborn was in the bottom of the Suburban Eight League that season. And it was hard to predict the Pioneers would turn into a powerhouse in the next two years.

But in looking at the previous season's scores, you could tell that the Pioneers played in a higher class of football.

The season that Dearborn was 0-8 going into the final game, it defeated Canton 54-13. Two years ago the score was 27-6, and last season it was 33-0.

This year, Canton is theoretically starting from scratch with a new coaching staff and a new philosophy. But Dearborn still remains on the schedule, and this year's final spells the same horrendous trouble.

It's hard enough to establish a winning attitude at Canton—but when the schedule is working against the school then it's hopeless.

I'M NOT USING this as an alibi to explain why Canton continues to finish 2-7 or 3-6 every season. I'm saying that the schedule is not an asset toward building a winning spirit at the school.

Now this doesn't excuse the poor attitude Canton players have demonstrated this season. The attitude of the players is still lacking desire, as shown in the Walled Lake Western game when the Chiefs quit playing and lost to one of the few teams they should have beaten.

Where the schedule works against the Canton football program is clear this week.

The Chiefs are coming off their finest performance of the season. For once, it looked like the squad worked as a team, rather than individuals in upseting Garden City East.

The Chiefs finally have some momentum going into the next game and—BOOM—that next opponent is Dearborn.

No matter how hard the Chief try—or how hard they exhibit team performance, they are going to lose badly and destroy any small bit of confidence it gained last week or during the season.

The same problem exists with the opening game of the year.

At the beginning of the season, there are hopes and anticipations for a winning season at Canton, but it's impossible to gain any momentum or confidence after getting beat up by a sounder Bentley team.

It's time for a schedule change. One that will benefit the Canton program to its fullest.

That doesn't mean changing the competition to the hapless squads from Woodhaven, Clarenceville and Oak Park. That would be damaging at the other end of the scale.

But what it does mean is getting rid of the Bentleys and Dearborns.

Let these teams play a school of their caliber and come back to play the Chiefs after the Canton football program has a chance to establish itself.

In the long run, a change would not only benefit the Canton program, but also bring more interest to fans in the community.

Football fans see Dearborn, Harrison and Bentley on both the Salem and Canton football schedules. It's time to get different teams for fans to view—teams that will make for more interesting battles against Canton.

Fans aren't going to come see Canton play when they know they don't have a chance to win especially when they see these same teams on Salem's schedule later in the season.

THIS WEEK'S GAMES:

I think I've said enough about the outcome of the Canton-Dearborn game Friday night. My only question is—When will the Pioneers begin to play their second and third strings? Dearborn by 35.

Chief grid schedule must show change

Experts on high school football all around the state are picking Harrison to whip Salem. Harrison has everything to gain—a perfect season, a state-playoff berth, and sweet revenge on the Rocks, who took away these things two year's ago.

Salem only has pride to play for—pride in the Suburban Eight League, pride in a 6-3 season instead of a 5-4 mark, and pride in being called the spoiler of the Hawks' playoff chances.

The question is—how much does that pride really mean to Salem?

Because of the superior teams Salem has faced all season, and the constant trouble it gives the Hawks in every season finale, I think the Rocks are capable of pulling off this upset—if they show any pride.

Don't be surprised to see this game go into overtime. Salem by 3.

Area ends grid season

A host of traditional rivalries, akin to that of Michigan and Ohio State, dots the area prep schedule this final weekend of the 1976 regular football season.

While all the league championships have already been decided, the excitement generated by the intensity of the longtime foes should put a fitting cap on the campaign.

Garden City East (2-6) travels crosstown to battle Garden City West (3-5) at 7:30 p.m. Friday, in what always develops into an exciting set-to. The game is rated a toss-up, as is the encounter between Redford Thurston (0-8) and Redford Union (0-8).

The latter contest will be played at 8 p.m. Friday at Hilbert Junior High.

There are also a couple of games on Friday's schedule in which one team appears to have a big advantage, but one never really knows how an emotional, season-ending contest will turn out.

Livonia Stevenson (8-0) plays at Livonia Churchill (2-6) and Livonia Franklin (5-3) will be hosted by Livonia Bentley. The Stevenson-Churchill contest begins at 3:30 p.m. and the Franklin-Bentley tussle starts at 7:30 p.m.

A couple of games involving area teams will decide the Region II Class A playoff semifinalist.

Wayne travels to unbeaten Westland John Glenn 8 p.m. Friday and Plymouth Salem (5-3) goes to Farmington Harrison (8-0) 2 p.m. Saturday.

A Harrison victory puts it in the playoffs regardless of what the Rockets do. A Harrison loss coupled with a Glenn victory puts the Rockets in the playoffs. If both lose, the picture becomes muddled and Livonia Stevenson may have a chance to sneak in.

Inkster Cherry Hill plays at Clarenceville 8 p.m. Friday in the other season-ending duel involving an area team.

Rocks try to spoil Harrison

(Harrison) do and play basic defense."

THE MISMATCH OF THE SEASON occurs at the Centennial Park finale Friday night as the Dearborn Pioneers invade Plymouth for the second time in three weeks.

This time, Dearborn plays Plymouth Canton in an 8 p.m. battle, which should resemble a make believe contest between the University of Michigan and Pioneer Middle School.

But even the Wolverines got beat last Saurday, and the always optimistic coach Dave Schuele is not giving up hope—yet.

"Maybe I'm the eternal optimist, but Purdue had a shot.

"It's going to have to be that kind of ballgame. We are going to have to be flying out there.

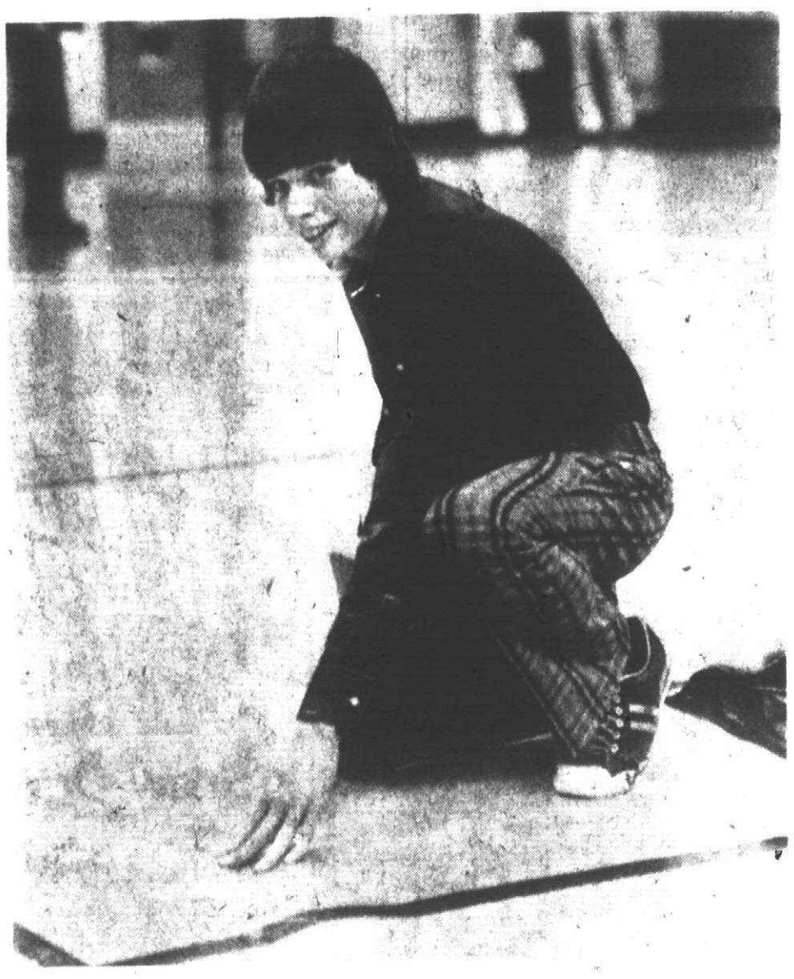

"Dearborn comes right at you with power, and we're going to have to play a fabulous game.

"I won't concede until after the gun goes off. Dearborn is going to have to bite and scratch all the way."

The Chiefs surprised a lot of people last week with the 13-0 shut out of Garden City East. It was the Chief's second victory and by far their best performance this season.

"We went out and played football," Schuele said. "The kids are maturing into a football team. They are coming together and playing like a team.

"That's what we've been talking about all year long.

Chiefs shut out in West-6 picks

Western Six League champions, Farmington Harrison, dominated the all-league squad selected by the conference coaches last week.

The Hawks, winners of the Western Six in the last two out of three years, placed nine players on the 22 member squad. Five Harrison players were selected on offense and four on defense.

Northville and Waterford Mott placed four players each on the conference squad, while Churchill and Walled Lake Western had three and two members respectively.

Last place finishers Plymouth Canton did not have a player on the select squad, but placed seven gridders on the extensive honorable mention list.

The unanimous selection by all the coaches was Harrison's 6-0, 190 pound tailback Mike Bowden, who rushed for over 100 yards against every loop opponent.

Joining Bowden in the backfield was Walled Lake Western's Rance Hafner, flanker Greg Harper of Northville and quarterback Jeff Thorne of Harrison.

John Hileman from Harrison was an all-league selection at center. Guards Dan Casey of Waterford Mott and Steve Zimmerman of Harrison were chosen along with tackles Cliff Smith of Livonia Churchill and Matt McCarthy of Harrison.

Tight end Rob Murphy of Walled Lake Western received honors at that position.

On defense, Northville's nose guard Mark Morland, along with tackles Pat Fabian of Churchill and Bill Blackmier of Harrison headed the interior line.

Defensive ends selected were Harrison's Tom Turner and Waterford Mott's Dave Lawson.

The linebacking crew of Pete Lambert from Harrison, Kevin Corcoran of Northville and Tim Curran of Churchill received honors.

The three defensive halfbacks selected were Harrison's Chuck Roberts, Northville's Greg Armstrong and Mott's Mike Wallace.

PLYMOUTH CANTON'S HONORABLE mention selections were headed by junior linebacker Jerry Simons.

Seniors John Young and Tom Powell received mention at center and nose guard respectively.

Offensive guard Matt Norris and defensive tackle Scott Caudwell, along with juniors Mike Nyhus and Randy Rienas, were also mentioned.

In The Pocket.

By W.W. EDGAR

Dick Weber, the first bowler ever to win a half million dollars on the pro bowlers' circuit, spent a few hours in the metropolitan area during the week and took time out to answer questions regarding the rise of the left handers in the last few years.

"There are many reasons, " he said, "but I guess one of the best is that there are more left hand bowlers now than there ever was, and it stands to reason that more of them would find their way to the pro circuit."

He was quick to explain that Earl Anthony who just passed the $100,000 mark for the second year in winnings was one of the best bowlers he ever has seen and that he would hold his own in any kind of company.

"And don't forget, " he explained, "when these left handers started they had lanes that had little use on the port side. In other words they also had conditions of the best, and there were no fluctuations in alley maintenance."

Dick was in the area as part of the advance guard for the Grand Prix tournament at Thunderbowl, starting Nov. 30 in which Anthony is expected to play the star role.

THERE JUST SEEMS no way to hold Mary Mohacsi down when it comes to total pin competition.

The Livonia school teacher proved this again last Sunday when she paced the Women's Mid-City Open at Pampa Lanes with a 1078 count for the five qualifying games.

When it came to the head-to-head matches, she was knocked out in the first round. Lois Cox, a newcomer from Flint, walked off with the top prize. She upset Jan PAvella, 394 to 351 in the final two-game match.

ONE OF THE MOST unusual happenings of the week occured at MerrBowl where two women converted the "big four" on different days.

Delores Erwin, bowling in the classic, turned the trick by toppling the 4-6-7-10, only to have Ellie Pepper duplicate the feat in the Newburgh Ladies League.

A NEW NAME popped up in the senior house league at Westland Bowl when Ken Elendi showed the way with a 653 that included games of 225 and 236. Others in the high double-century figures included Ed Marzka with 633, and Bob Johnson who tied with Fred McClain at 628.

Competition was keen in the Westland Bowlettes where Joan Porter olled a 551 to beat Alice Wolfe by a single pin. Aside from this pair, Darlene Valley had a 537, and Ilene Winnie posted a 507.

Pat Mayle was the big gun among the Early Risers with a 586 that included games of 200, 203 and 183.

THERE WAS an unusual deadlock in the Friday Ladies Classic at Farmington Lanes when Jean Bembeck had a 220 in 598 only to have Mary Lou Schneider match it with a 216 in 598. Third place went to Dottie Price with a 226 in 567.

In the Thursday Mixed Classic Kenny Hibbs was high with a 585 that gave him a one pin edge over John Dees who had a 210 in 584, while Jan Canderwill turned in a 205 in 578.

In the Teen Classic Gordy Grimes, who carries a 121 average, was top dog with a 237 in 546.

KEN COSSMAN wrote a new page in the history of the Livonia Elks League at Plymouth Bowl when he posted the first 700 series in the loop. He linked games of 265, 244 and 205 for 714.

In the Plymouth Ladies League Geraldine Truax was high with a 579 that included games of 201 and 203.

WITH A GARRISON finish, Marion Heath took top honors in the Livonia Ladies Classic. She won the third game of the three-game set with 227-36--263 and the series 546-108--654. In the other games Madeline Donehue took the opener with 183-38--221 and Dorothy Goryca paced the second with 177-28--205.

WHEN IT COMES to close finishes, Garden Lanes provides more than its share.

This week in the Moose League Earl Kent lead the parade with a 645 that gave him a three-point lead over Jesse Melendy who had a 642, with John Scott in third place with 601.

In the classic it was even closer when Rick Macie and Gordy Cantwell finished in a deadlock at 633. Danny Garnett anded third with a 625.

In the ladies action May Lackey lead the classic parade with a 644. Linda Marcero was right behind with 628 and Ann Setlock placed third with a 615.

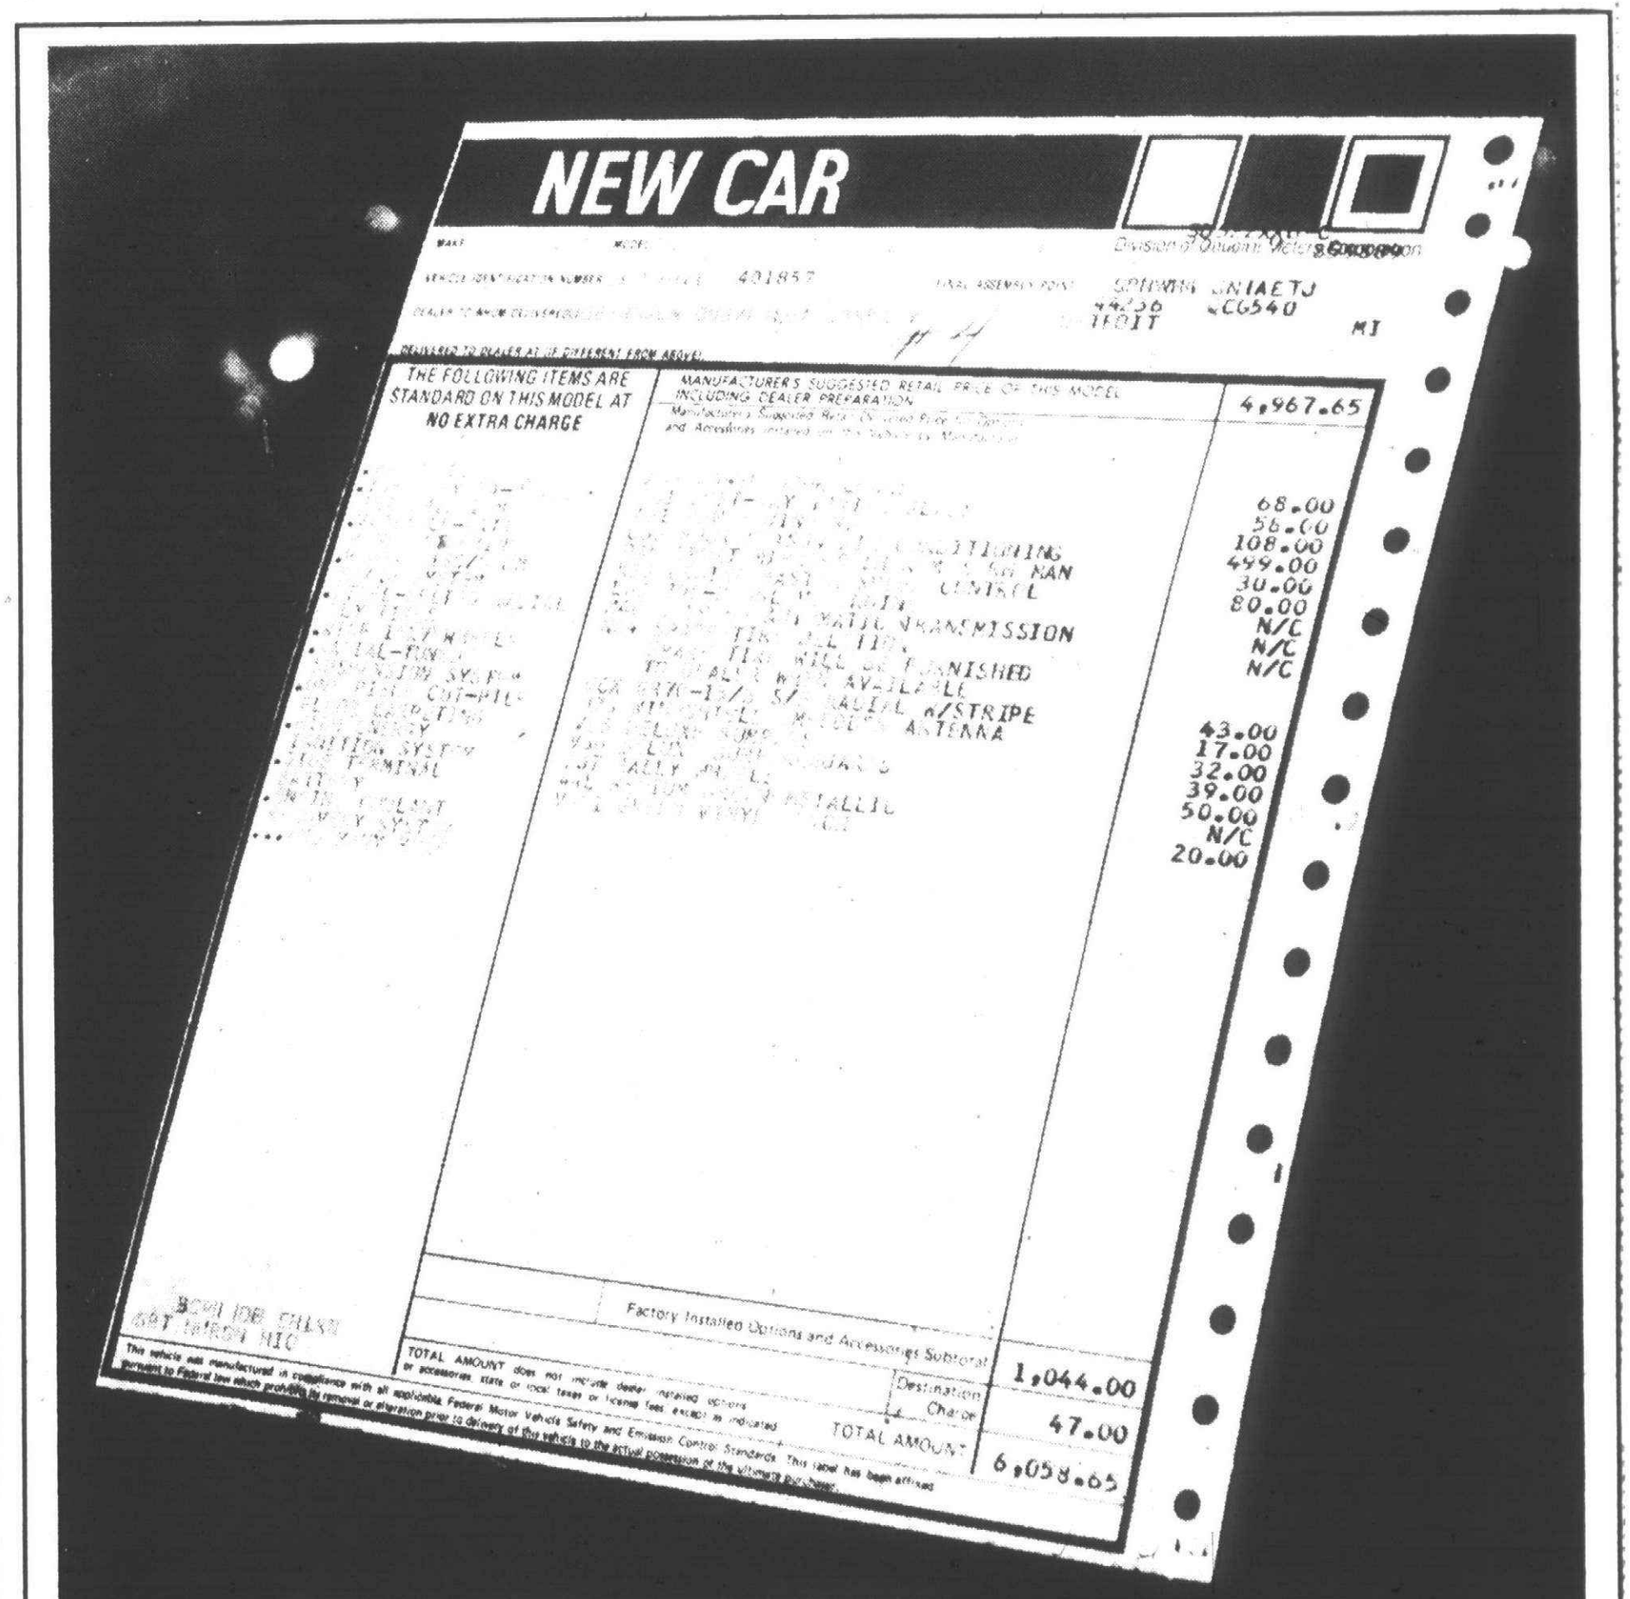

Battle for the ball

Rock leading scorer Diane Goodrich (right) did a lot more than put points in the basket in Tuesday night's victory. Here, the sophomore center is tangled in a battle for possession with another Tiger player. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)
