Patrols cut back in austerity move

By CRAIG PIECHURA

One patrol car has been taken off the street in an austerity program directed by Canton Supervisor Harold Stein who "announced Monday that if the police department continues to operate at its present rate, it will be $11,670 over budget at the

Two patrol cars and the police chief's car will continue to patrol Canton from 6 p.m. to 11 p.m. on weekdays and 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. on weekends.

From Aug. 4 to Nov. 12, $14,619.75 was spent on the reserves, according to Stein. This was before officer certification.

With the certification of 15 reserves and an increase in rate of pay from $2.30 per hour to $3.83 per hour and $5.01 (an hour) for command certified officers, the dollar amount spent on reserves now increases." Stein states in a letter to Basing his figures on 35 reserves, Stein said if the current rate of man (and woman) hours continues, the reserves will have worked 22,256 hours by the end of 1977, or an average of approximately 52 hours per month. Stein said that would mean that the township would be forced to pay out $59,670 in a department that was budgeted at $48,000.

In his letter Stein did not use the term "regular police." He refers to the officers as "certified" and "non-certified" reserves. Stein said his new directive "adds up to putting the police department back on a part-time basis." The supervisor said he is concerned about the fact that any employee who works more than 20 hours per week for five months is considered fulltime under the terms of the township emplovee pension contract.

"The township cannot afford any additional fringes that would have to be paid to these police reserves," Stein said. "We are now carrying life insurance on the reserves at $13.80 per month per man and liability insurance which costs $2,478. If employees were fulltime they would also be eligible for hospitalization, social security, pension, holidays and a differential pay rate for Sundays and holidays, all of which

which we are supposed to have." Through Nov. 30, Stein claims the township has spent $23,561.37 on police uniforms and equipment and $21,956.38 on salaries, with "only $16,200 currently budg-

His letter to the trustees claims that there were as many as 10 certified officers on duty one weekday immediately after 14 Canton officers graduated from the police academy, in addition to four non-certified reserves and a certified command officer.

"We are suggesting as a normal practice that there be two patrol cars a night with one command officer, two certified officers, two non-certified officers and a noncertified reserve acting as dispatcher." Stein stated. "The command officer could ride in one of the patrol cars, thus eliminating one of the certified officers. This one command officer will always be in radio contact

Stein said the township is receiving proper police protection, since he secured "extra help from the sheriffs and state police; both are working very close with us."

will be considered again Tuesday night. Stein said anyone in the township may apply for membership in any of five committees (which also includes studies of the Citizens Advisory Committee (CAC), sign and berm ordinances and industrial and commercial development). In the areas of police and land use, Stein said he is looking for people with related work expe-

'We are accepting resumes for all of the committees and if you are unable to type your qualifications, you may call my secretary who will take down the information over the telephone," Stein said.

Tom Quinn, head of the Citizen's Advisory Committee (CAC), which will be the subject of one of the five study groups, asked Stein what qualifications he was looking for in people to sit on the land use

Stein said he'd like to see people with experience in civil engineering, urban planning and "maybe a larger representation is in fact necessary for the farmers who live on the west side of Canton Center

"We need their input," Stein said, "and we never had it all the time we were discussing plans about keeping agricultural land in the western half. I've spoken to some of these people and they said they were afraid to come forth before and are now willing." Republican candidate for supervisor, Peter Bundarin, repeated his contention that the committees need informed experts and not just random citizen opinion. He added that people who wished to contribute information to the committees could do so without being an official member.

The spot behind the D.P.W. yard has been converted into a parking lot, and the recreation field has not been flooded because of thawing problems last year, according to Brenda Pollock, head of the recreation department.

"We do provide a $55 service to flood an area for a skating rink," said Ms. Pollock. "People are starting to call, but so far there's nothing open to the general public that I know of."

Judy Kohle of the Willow Creek Home Owners Association said she inquired about setting up an ice rink at the subdivision park but decided against it after learning that liability insurance would run $600 for the season.

In past years there have been ice rinks along the Rouge flats, but nothing has materialized yet in Canton. Many Canton people could be found indoors at the Plymouth Ice Arena last week. Many of them lamented the fact that nothing existed in Canton.

There has been some movement in the Pickwick Subdivision towards building an ice rink in their park, but as of Dec. 7, nothing had transpired. Even if built, subdivision park rinks would only be open to the residents of each subdivision, according to spokespersons for various home

Building grants offered to low-income

By DARLENE STINSON

If you're a Canton resident in a low-income bracket and need extra money to remedy a building violation in your home, township officials want to know who and where you are. Canton's Deputy Treasurer Mike Gorman is preparing Canton's application for a 1977 federal housing rehabilitation grant, and he has to know where the need for the federal money lies. Under federal guidelines governing the grant program, local officials must designate certain sections of their municipalities as target areas of the grant program in their application forms. Gorman says he must submit Canton's application by Dec. 15. The deputy treasurer urges all low-income residents who could use maximum $4,000 housing rehabilitation grant to contact him at township hall

Township officials will use the 1977 federal grant money to help residents bring their home up to code and remedy such building violations as plumbing, electrical wiring and heating deficiences.

Large families with inadequate space in their homes may obtain grants to con-

Under guidelines of the township program, the grants are outright gifts to lowincome Canton residents, if they live in their homes for three or more years after the money is spent. Residents must repay the township the amount of the grant if they fail to meet the residency require-

ACCORDING TO Gorman, a representative of the U.S. Department of Housing "and Urban Development (HUD), administrator of the program, has already promised Canton a mimimum $25,000 housing grant during the 1977 fiscal year because of the township's participation in the 1976

Canton officials received $22,000 this year in federal housing monies. Funds have already been granted to fiue low-income residents of this year's target areas-McIntyre Manor and Dye Brothers Subdivision—to remedy building violations in their homes or construct a needed addi-

But Canton officials hope to receive far more money this year. According to Gorman, $150,000 in federal rehabilitation funds are up for grabs in Wayne County this year, with Canton and 11 other communities competing for a large chunk of the pie. Canton was the only nearby municipality which established an outright grant program with its funds this year. Other communities established low-interest loan pro-

Gorman says the amount of funds communities receive in 1977 depend on the success of their 1976 program. The deputy treasurer called Canton's 1976 program "a whopping success."

"But we did have some problems," he admitted. "Some people were a little leery of anyone giving them anything for nothing. The granddaughter of one woman who received a grant said her grandmother was afraid to apply, because she thought we'd take her home away from her."

In sharp contrast to Canton's successful grant program is the City of Plymouth's low-interest loan plan. So far, no one has applied for the city's housing rehabilitation

CANTON OFFICIALS, on the other hand, have granted $4,000 to one family to construct a needed addition: $1,400 to another family for a new furnace; $2,000 to a third family for a furnace; $2,000 to another resident for electrical work; $2,000 for a new roof and construction of a basement bedroom; $4,000 for a new septic field; and $600 for new windows.

The remaining portion of the $22,000 grant, Gorman said, was used to finance the first-year administrative costs of establishing the program.

Under guidelines of the township's grant program, a three-person committee screens residents' application forms and verifies the applicants' incomes to determine eligibility under federal low-income requirements.

A family is determined low-income under those requirements if its liquid assets are assessed at $10,000 or less and its gross income equals:

· A maximum $7,650 for one person.

• $8.775 for two persons. • $9,825 for three persons

• $10,950 for four persons. $11,625 for five persons.

$12,300 for six persons.

$12,975 for seven persons.

• $13,725 for eight persons. After the committee members determine financial eligibility, Canton building inspector Charlie Thompson inspects the family's home and estimaes cost of the work needed to bring the home up to code.

Township officials recommend two or three contractors to grant recipients, after officials advertise for bids to identify contractors with the lowest fees. Checks for the grants are made to the homeowner.

Gorman said several residents who live outside the target areas of this year's grant program inquired about the 1976 grant money. The deputy treasurer said he will try to include those residents' neighborhoods on the township's 1977 appli-

the teachers union has cautioned the Plymouth Board of Education against unncessarily creating negative attitudes in the community

In a letter to the school board the steering committee stated, in part: "We know it is fashionable to scoff and deride and minimize extra time and effort put forth without recompense

Please consider how absurd it is, for example, to continue to expect certain people who historically have been paid for working on Saturdays and evenings and on an extended school day to continue to do this without pay. Yet this is what you are maintaining in your current stance.

THE BOARD was asked not to regard as inconsequential what is now occuring in the school district:

"The gradual erosion of a positive teaching atmosphere, the comprehensive lessening of a willingness to participate in activities such as the Curriculum Coordinating Committee, millage campaigns, etc., the pervasive and debilitating apathy, and the growing feelings that doing a good job is not only unappreciated but unnecessary

DESIGNED TO SERVE handicapped preschoolers and their parents who live in the Plymouth, Livonia, Redford Union, South Redford, Garden City, Northville and Cherry Hill school districts, the program marks a sharp contrast to treatment given to handicapped preschoolers just a few

Before the Michigan Mandatory Special Education Act became effective in 1973, handicapped preschoolers were offered no special education opportunities.

As a result, says Mary Nutter, supervisor of the preschool program housed in Farrand, parents of many handicapped children were unable to give the special attention required for their child's devel-

A parent of a child who cannot walk, for example, should continually bring the toys and materials peeded for mental stimulation to the child, Mrs. Nutter explained. If the parent doesn't, secondary learning disabilities, caused as a side effect of the original handicap, could set in and damage the child's future learning potential.

But because of the Michigan Mandatory Special Education Act, dangers of harmful side effects are considerably eased. The law requires local school districts to offer special education opportunities to all handicapped youngsters from the day they are born to their 25th birthday

"THE PURPOSE of this program is to provide instruction to parents to enable them to work better with the child," Mrs. Nutter explained. "We work through the parent to the child. By getting the child early, we hopefully can prepare him for school and change his future outlook." Children enrolled in the Farrand program range in age from 10 months to five years old. Most suffer from physical handicaps or speech impediments, and a few

Land to the state of the state are mentally impaired. The 36 children currently enrolled in the program are divided into two groups. Fourteen preschoolers and their parents come to Farrand's special education wing one or two mornings each week to receive individualized instruction and evaluation.

The remaining 22 children are enrolled in the center's home study program. A teacher travels to the child's home one day each week and shows the parent how to best deal with the child's handicap and offer him the stimulation he needs.

In addition, program staffers discuss the children's handicaps. Staff members tell parents of the special equipment, such as wheelchairs or crutches that their children need as well as the toys that will stimulate the preschoolers' imaginations.

Information on specific handicaps and the possible physical side efects the handicap could produce are available in the center's library. Parents may check out toys, arranged in the center's library according to the physical, visual or mental skills they are designed to evoke.

"The program gives parents a chance totalk about and share their common problems," Mrs. Nutter explained. "What's it like to have a physically impaired baby? A doctor often diagnoses the the problem, tells the parents and leaves. We show the parent how to deal with the problem."

Mrs. Nutter calls the program "crosscategorical" because it offers educational opportunities to children with a variety of physical, mental and emotional handicaps.

The program's 14-member staff includes a psychologist, a nurse, a speech pathologist, a media specialist and an occupational therapist as well as certified special education teachers.

'We believe you shouldn't stereotype kids by their condition," Mrs. Nutter explained. "The kids who are physically impaired can learn from the kids who are mentally impaired and vice versa." The seven western Wayne County school districts involved in the program decided to pool their preschool special education efforts this year, Mrs. Nutter said, after receiving state, county and federal funds to establish the program

Plymouth School District officials volunteered to house the program in Farrand Elementary School. Livonia offers a multidistrict program for visually-impaired preschoolers, while the Redford Union School District offers a program for the hearing

So far, the majority of children enrolled in Plymouth's cross-categorical program live in the Plymouth School District, Mrs. Nutter said. Few children come from Garden City because that district offers its own program for handicappd preschoolers.

Parents of handicapped preschoolers are urged to call the special education director in their own school district, Mrs. Nutter

Parents may be referred to staff members of the Plymouth program, who will evaluate their child and submit a recommendation on an educational program. Parents are free to accept or reject the recom-

After offering the comprehensive package offer, the PEA called for a general membership meeting today (Monday) in the Penn Theatre to update teachers on bargaining status and to explain terms of the package offer.

CANDI REECE, PEA president, explained Friday afternoon why the package approach was used.

By putting all the unresolved issues together on the table, it's easier to look at so we aren't dealing with salary alone. There may be some areas the PEA would be willing to change its position in hopes of settling differences in other areas. 'So far, we've spent a lot of time talking about salary-an area where agreement doesn't exist. Hopefully, some meaningful negotiations can be held in other areas such as the calendar, contract riders, and

Both sides met from 1 p.m. to about 3:30 p.m. Friday. After examining the PEA package, the school board negotiators have agreed to generate a comprehensive package of their own to bring back to the table this Friday

NORMAN KEE, chief negotiator for the school board, said the package included items which the PEA sees as being unresolved, but didn't include some items the board is asking for which are unresolved.

"We will counter with a similar comprehensive package," Kee said, "and will address what the PEA sees as unresolved issues and include some of our unresolved

Kee described the PEA's package as "more like a reiteration" of previous offers. "There was a slight movement downwards in their salary offer, but there was new proposals in other areas of the contract that will cost more money if accepted. Based on our early analysis, it appears like the downward movement of the PEA on salary is overcome by economic increases in other sections of the unresolved issues, primarily those dealing with Mrs. Reece agreed the latest difficulty. beyond salary, is on contract riders. "The PEA didn't really make a new offer on contract riders. This is an area where we haven't been able to reach agreement, and so we suggested a couple opitions which might be solutions. Now the board can come back with any options they might have which could provide a solution.

"The PEA didn't make any higher, counter offers but just suggested a couple options to be explored. Maybe there was a misinterpretation.

Kee said he was pleased to see some movement at the table, but realistically didn't see anything revealing in the package offer that would suggest a settlement being reached soon.

MEANWHILE, the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) is proceeding with hearings on an unfair labor practice charge filed against the school board by the PEA.

Last Wednesday the first hearing was held and the PEA presented its arguments on why the board negotiators committed an unfair labor practice. The second hearing has been scheduled for Dec. 15 to allow the board and its attorney to respond to the PEA allegations.

The PEA has charged Kee committed an unfair labor practice in October when he made a new offer, got the PEA to counter and then withdrew it. Kee says there was a misunderstanding about the new offer and he had simply issued a clarification to make certain the PEA understood the offer. After the clarification was given, the PEA withdrew its counter-offer and didn't offer a counter until last Friday.

Under MERC guidelines, the PEA has the burden to prove that the board team committed an unfair labor practice.

State investigating Knollwood cemetery

Representatives of a cemetery in Canton have been ordered by the state to appear at a formal hearing in Lansing today to respond to alleged shortages in trust funds.

Appearing before the Michigan Cemetery Commission will be representatives of the Knollwood Memorial Park Association which is located at 1299 Ridge Road, south of Ford Road on the west side of Ridge in Canton Township.

The commission, part of the Michigan Department of Commerce, has ordered Knollwood and Dawn Memorial Estates Cemetery of Lapeer to appear at its of-

The cemeteries could be shut down if no satisfactory repayment program is offered. Cemeteries are required by law to maintain trust funds which are used in the sale of crypts, mausoleums and gravesites. The owner this week says changes will be made to satisfy the desires of the

The cemetery commission conducted an audit of Knollwood's trust fund earlier this year. Deposits must be made to the trust funds upon sales of burial rights, burial vaults, grave memorials, or other cemetery merchandise.

The state audit showed the total deficit at Knollwood was $70,030 and $20,415 at Dawn Memorial.

GARY EPPOLITO, owner of Knollwood. told the Observer that he sent a letter to the cemetery commission Tuesday which he hopes will clear up the matter.

'The questions of the state dealt primarily with the equipment trust. Under state law, if we sell a vault, for instance, 70 per cent of the price must be placed in a trust to insure future delivery, so half of our profits are tied up in that trust.

"What happened is that last year, in lieu of cash, we invested $150,000 in property and placed it in the trust. Thus, we had a 2-1 equity in the trust fund but the state wanted cash equity and not real estate.

"I have promised to George Bruce of the cemetery commission that within 30 days we will liquidate our real estate equity and put cash back into the trusts.

He added that laws have been changing on cemetery requirements, the most recent being in April 1975. "The commission. of course, only regulates commercial cemeteries and Knollwood has been the only one started since 1969.

Knollwood was incorporated in 1968 and started developing the next year. Eppolito added that he has recently acquired an additional 20 acres to have frontage on Ford Road so the cemetery now totals 100 acres.

"I'm sure the questions of the state will be cleared up promptly. It's a matter of interpretation and we will make whatever changes the state desires.'

JCs discuss apartheid and world convention

The World Congress of Jaycees has decided to hold its 1977 meeting in South Africa, a country which has come under much censure for its racial policy of apartheid. A sampling of local members of the civic group indicated there is not much concern over the decision to hold its convention in a country which practices segregation and economic discrimination. "It doesn't bother me," stated Scott Dodge, a Plymouth attorney. "People could go there and try to influence the way they think."

Phil Soper, current president of the Plymouth Jaycees, feels the same way. "I see no problem with it," he remarked. "These kinds of meetings are open for anyone to bid on. Countries all over the world can make their offer. "The Jaycees is a young man's group, and there is nothing better for a young man than to view how other people live. But I would say that the Jaycees should not get politically involved." Community Programming Vice-President Wendell Sikes said that he wasn't informed about how the location was chosen and didn't want to speak for the organiza-

"I haven't really given it much thought," commented Sikes. "At our level, there is hardly anyone going, and I haven't paid too much attention. I wish I was there at the meeting to understand what the thinking was.

"Maybe they wanted to put some of our influence into the country so that we could promote some of our views. But I'm not sure and can't say too much.' Drew Rentz, the 1975-76 president of the Canton chapter, expressed the same general feelings as the Plymouth Jaycees. "Boy!" he exclaimed, "I never really thought about it. I wasn't aware of it, and cop-out, but it's very easy to make assumptions.' The selection of South Africa was made at this year's congress in St. Louis. It was protested by representatives from India, black Africa, the West Indies, and Colom-

Interim Police Chief Carl Silvers walked up to the lecturn Monday night to answer

Gerald Neizgoda, a Canton police reserve, wanted to know who ordered the patrol car removed and asked who ordered Canton certified officers to take a low profile during a recent fight inside the Red Door bar on Michigan Ave.

Silvers explained that he ordered his officers to wait outside until "more expe-

Their comments were echoed by a group of people who supported Robert Greenstein in the recent election. Carman said he felt the police chief's "low profile" directive at the recent bar fight hurt "the p.r. image" of Canton's police.

How does one go about choosing a good chiropractor, osteopath, or medical

Any good physician should care for his patients and show them empathy. The doctor should spend an adequate amount of time with each patient. Spending three minutes with each patient borders on being unethical and incompetent, in most

What services does your physician offer? If he is a good doctor he should provide the services of a good laboratory for urine and blood tests. He should be allied with radiological services for consultation and for specialized X rays. Your doctor should be willing to refer you to a qualified specialist or other type of physician when the situation warrants it. Most important your doctor must be able to perform a complete physical, orthopedic, and neurological examination. This should include all systems of the body: heart, lung, eye, ear, nose, throat, spine, etc. If there is no diagnosis, how can there be effective treatment? If your doctor listens to your complaint but does not examine you, then his diagnosis is sheer conjecture and your health may lie in the balance.

It goes without saying that the physician must be able to render the proper treatment in an effective manner. Treatments should be conduded in a minimum number of visits. However, beware of the doctor who keeps the patient coming back and back. Also, remember that you get what you pay for. Cut rate prices and family plans probably will give you cut rate service and care.

If your doctor fits the positive points above, chances are you have a good physician

The voice at the other end of the long distance call was the Rev. Elmer Stoffel, pastor of St. Catherine Catholic mission on Keweenaw Bay near L'Anse.

The givers were persons and clubs in northwestern Wayne County; the collection point was the Indian affairs committee of the Western Wayne County Conservation Association, and the gifts were transported by members of the Wolverine Four-Wheelers Club, camping enthusiasts. Fr. Stoffel said. "They brought us 30 cartons of toys and clothes. One lady made 35 That lady was Mrs. Carl Hartwick of

There are plant jobs in the area-a settlement called Zeba that's not even on the state map-but Fr. Stoffel added, "But wages are not comparable to yours, and the prices are higher." There are about 40 children in the mission.

"I HELP THE poor pretty much, too, financially," the pastor said. Cash gifts can be sent to him at: St. Catherine's Mission; Star Route 1, Box 32A, L'Anse, Mi. 49946.

St. Catherine's does a little better during summer's tourist neason, he said, and also during deer hunting season, which lasts about two weeks in November.

He hadn't heard what befell the Four-Wheelers members who made the recent toys and clothing delivery. On their way home. Wayne and Diane Macey of Redford Township had their Blazer and camp trailer slide off the road and tip over. The Blazer was badly damaged: the trailer a total commissioners Jack Moehle and Beverly McAninch who both challenged the verification process used.

mander of the later to be to be a proportion of the property o

City Clerk Paul Brumfield and Police Chief Tim Ford had inspected the applications made to Forest Dillon, counted the number of applicants from the city, those from other communities, and those from other communities who had relatives in

The two administrators reported that 157 applicants were from the city, 111 from Plymouth Township, 34 from Canton, and 40 whose next-of-kin lived in the City of

MOEHLE COMMENTED that the report was not what the city commission had asked for by resolution at the previous

That motion asked the mayor to appoint the city clerk and another city administrator "to review the applications of Forest City-Dillon to verify the number and validity of applicants from the City of Plymouth and report their findings at the next meeting on Dec. 6.'

The disagreement Monday night was on the meaning of the phrase "to verify the number and validity of applicants. Moehle and McAninch argued that the audit only counted numerically those who applied and claimed to be residents, but didn't confirm that the applicants actually resided at the addresses claimed.

"I'm sure Paul and Tim did exactly what they were told to do," said Moehle. "but the instructions they were given is not the same as what we asked for in the resolution. The validation of applicants hasn't been accomplished. But there's no point in pursuing this any further.'

Mayor Joe Bida and Commissioner Norbert Battermann then asked exactly what had been desired in the way of validation. "I though the validation you wanted was whether the applicants were residents of the city and their addresses." Battermann Moehle asked whether any phone calls were made to verify that people who claimed to live at a particular address actually did.

Ford said no personal contacts were made. "Some of the applicants were personally known by Paul and myself, but no phone contacts were made. Our job, as I understood it, was to verify if applicants did or did not list the city as their place of residence.

Jack Wilcox, who owns the property Forest Dillon had selected for a site, said he was present when many residents had applied. "They were very desiruous of living in the building and would have given the correct address because they expected to be contacted later on whether they were to be accepted as occupants.

MRS. McANINCH then referred to a proposed project by Forest Dillon in Ypsi-

"When a spot check verification was made in Ypsilanti a sizeable percentage of the applicants weren't residents at the addresses given. The Ypsilanti councilman who talked to me said the names were given only to be added to a list to make it look good

"This report doesn't mean that all 157 are verified as city residents. We took it on faith at the last meeting that verified meant verified. There wasn't an attempt to even spot check 10 or so. This report counted names on the list but still isn't verified data." Mrs. McAninch added.

Responding to a question from City Manager Fred Yockey, Chief Ford commented: "From my knowledge this was a bona fide list of applicants. There are a number of addresses I'm personally unfamiliar with. In a number of instancesmore than a dozen-we checked a crossindex to confirm city residence.

A motion made by Battermann, supported by McAninch, to receive the report and thank Ford and Brumfield for their efforts was approved 6-0 with Tom Turner the new wave in the future of communications was cable television (CATV). Companies were formed, cities granted franchise requests, and we-waited, and waited, and waited. And the day never ar-

Instead, cable TV is used in remote areas-such as Michigan's Upper Peninsula-in motels to draw in channels because reception is too bad for on-the-roof antennas to do the job

Now the communication prophets talk in terms of 1990 or the year 2000 before CATV comes into its own. The main advantage of cable TV is you can pipe in a number of channels into one home and thus increase the variety of programming. In part, the demand has been lessened by the excellent job public television is doing in putting something on the tube other than soap operas, game shows, adventure series, situation comedies and Monday Night Football.

But that is not to say there is no need for cable television. The potential and possibilities are still great enough that there would be many subscribers if there were any corporation willing to take the risk. Cable television has been introduced in Chicago and its suburbs, and other metropolitan areas, with moderate success. But nothing, yet, in the greater Detroit area.

MY OWN GUESS is that CATV will be introduced in this area for the same reason it has in the Upper Peninsula-to get adequate reception.

This may sound strange because most of us now can get channels 2, 4, 7, 9 and acceptable images on Toledo stations 11 and 13, plus public television 20, 50, 56, and 62. But that reception ability is being chal-

What I'm referring to is the citizen's band (CB) popularity boom which has reached the point where there are some five million sets in operation nationwide. The first thing the CBer does is get equipment for the autmobile, and then he buys equipment for a home base (inside the

When the home base is installed, the CBer, to get good reception over a longer distance, will then install an antenna on the top of his roof. Now the equipment is such that a CB home base should not interfere with your home television set. The antennas are different, the signals are on a different frequency, and the two should never meet. But, somehow, they do. Even though it's not supposed to happen, I still get CBers chatting with each other on my set-interrupting the dialogue of "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman.

As the CB antennas sprout up in my neighborhood, there also is an increase in picture interference on my screen. I will again admit that there should be no correlation and that the interference must be caused by something else-like airplanes, high power electrical lines, or my neighbor's egg beater. But if sounds which aren't supposed to come over my set do, I'm inclined to believe that the interference is coming from CB signals, even though it shouldn't SOME OPERATORS have illegal equipment which they use to increase the range illegal doesn't mean that much. As more and more people purchase CB equipment, the problem of enforcing regulations becomes almost impossible. The next problem is that some CB fans may decide to advance a step and become ham operators. And have you ever seen the antennas used by ham operators. I've got one on my block that's large enough that it could be used to hang the laundry for every household within a square-mile

And, once again, I have been told, and have every reason to accept as truth, the fact that the operation of ham radio sets won't cause any interference for reception of television images and sound. But as the CB and ham radio antennas pop up on 4 roofs in my neighborhood, all of a sudden I'm getting interference and strange voices on my TV set.

I'm not writing this to get angry calls from CB fans or ham operators. Before calling, I will go on record as being ignorant of CB and ham equipment and all the protection devices they include. All I know is what I see and hear on my own TV.

The point is, though, that the best way to get rid of CB and ham radio interference (which we all know doesn't really exist, right?) is to eliminate roof antennas for televisions and pipe in the signals into the set by underground cable

Thus cable television will come into existence here not by the primary demand for variety in programming but to gain proper reception. That seems like a much more sensible approach than to attempt to police five million CB users to make sure they aren't using amplifiers.

The Stroller: Nostalgia in the snow

Driving along the snow-covered highways is one of the last places you would expect a fellow to suffer pangs of nostalgia. But that is exactly what happened to The

As he drove through a light flurry of snow he got to thinking of the days back home in the foothills in Pennsylvania when the snow covered ground meant only one thing-get out the sleighs and sleds and head for the Pine Street Hill.

With these thoughts, he also got to wondering if the young folks of today had the same urge to go "belly-bumper" down any of the hills or to be a passenger on the homemade bobsleds that were the envy of every young lad and lassie.

Strangely, as he looked about, there were no signs of bobsledding, not even on the big mound in Hines Park, and there were no signs of any youngsters getting out their flexible flyers and heading for

The first thought that struck The Stroller was that this is mainly flat country. There are few, if any, hills for the young folks to try to master.

BUT EVEN in Northville, where the rolling country is much like the hills back home, there wasn't a single youngster with a sled to be found. As he drove, mile after mile, The Stroller again envisioned the hills back home and the great times that were had when the snow on the ground warranted bobsledding.

Now our town was a small place-so small that the only hill cut right through the main intersection of the business area and ended at the entrance to a bridge over to the railroad station.

Dangerous as it was, though, the hill was a great attraction and even the elders took time to enjoy on one or two trips down the hill in the course of an evening. The hill was even more dangerous because the intersection on Main Street also was the main right-of-way for the old-time trolley cars. But this meant little to the young folks who defied the danger and went scooting over the trolley tracks and

It was quite a treat for those who owned their own flexible flyers. They'd take a few steps on the run then let the flyer go to the ground and fall on it for the ride down the hill. Those were aptly called "belly-bumper" rides.

If a fellow chanced to possess his own flyer, he guarded it with his life. Once he got accustomed to it he would even challenge others to beat him down the hill.

CAME ONE summer, though, when The Stroller was invited over to a neighbor's woodshed. It was a rather large place at the end of the yard and it held a surprise, the hopes of a young builder.

He was constructing a bobsled that would carry at least 12 passengers. This wasn't an ordinary bobsled, this one had a steering wheel much like the automobiles of the day.

In confidence, he asked The Stroller to help; after much to-do, we finally got it finished before the first good snow fall.

All eyes were centered on our work when we finally brought the big sled to the hill and invited the lads and lassies to hop aboard. There was only one thing wrongthe sled was slung so low that you had to hold up the legs of the passenger sitting be-

That was of little consequence, however. and soon we were off on the maiden tripand disaster.

About half way down the hill something went wrong. What it was no one knows to this day. But the bobsled sort of jackknifed, veered to the side of the hill and dumped all of its passengers into the snow

It was a great ride up to that moment. It is only a memory now, but somehow. The Stroller, feels the youngsters of today are missing a lot of fun by not taking advantage of the snow and finding a place to go

Food and auto industries depend on local workers

By GLENN BUNTING

Big business in this country has been steadily losing popularity in the public eve. Revelations of illegal contributions to political candidates, and skyrocketing prices, have accounted for consumer discontent with major enterprises.

The International Telephone and Telegraph (ITT) Corporation is one such company that is concerned with its reputation. Locally, the ITT Industrial and Automation Systems plant in Plymouth is increasing its efforts to familiarize residents with its products Located at Plymouth Road and Haggerty. ITT produces gage, assemble and test systems for the automotive industry in addition to large-scale metal detector

Through these two programs, ITT Industrial and Automation Systems is working indirectly for the benefit of the consumer. What's more encouraging is that all design and construction work of the highly technicalized systems is done in the Plymouth

ITT EMPLOYS 65 highly-skilled workers, most of whom reside in the Plymouth-Canton area. Together, they build machinery that inspects 70 per cent of all disc brake rotors manufactured in this country.

The Plymouth ITT plant makes test evaluations for nearly every moving part of an automobile. By building machines that transport and inspect parts of all complex shapes and sizes with precision and accuracy. ITT systems provide for safe trans-

Included in its inspection system process are engine, transmission, wheel and steering assemblies. When these parts are properly gaged by ITT systems, they are virtually guaranteed from defect.

purpose of doing business with ITT is to avoid recalls, which are expensive and provide for poor exposure. Heavy warranty costs also contribute to the popularity of

THE LATEST recall concerns defective gas caps on Chevrolet Chevettes-a part that could have been gauged by ITT. Since a part that meets ITT standards has never night or the following day. been subject to a recall, General Motors might be interested in adding gas caps to its long list of parts already inspected.

Metal detectors offer another service beneficial to the consumer; not in the way of striking gold in one's backyard, but by combing foods, lumber, rubber, surgical tools and most anything imagineable for bits of steel or metal

Banks use metal detectors to locate credit cards (that's what the dark strip on the back is for), bakers for inspection of goods, pharmacists for drugs and tobacco companies for cigarettes.

ITT's detector systems consist of conveyor belts transporting goods through detectors, which range in width from eight to 200 inches. The systems range in price from $1,600 to $5,000.

PLYMOUTH POLICE use metal detection equipment provided by ITT each Halloween to locate metal objects in candy collected by youngsters.

More than 800 youngsters take advantage of the service annually, by dropping in the police department on Halloween

ITT first volunteered the use of its equipment several years ago when parents reported their children were given candy containing razor blades and other hazardous metal objects. The program is now in its

'We haven't detected any metal in the candies since the program started, but we intend to continue with this community service." said Morton Wylie, director of sales and services for ITT. "Kids like to wrap pennies up and see the detector sound off and sometimes the device will pick up tin foil.'

The Plymouth operation is one of 24 ITT corporation units in Michigan. ITT employs 3,300 persons in the state, will gross an estimated $135 million and pay a total of $4 million in state and local taxes. It is evident that ITT is making a concerned effort to protect consumers on the local level. Through the nature of its work and contributions to the community, one can scratch ITT Industrial and Automation Systems off the list of big businesses dissatisfying their customers

No 'economic calamity' for '77

By TIM RICHARD

The six per cent growth in the real gross national product predicted by Presidentelect Jimmy Carter and Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns will be difficult to attain, but a growth of five to 5.5 per cent is likely in 1977, according to a top Detroit *area economist.

Dr Thomas D Thomson, vice-president and chief economist for Detroit Bank and Trust Co., told the Detroit Economic Club: The year 1977 is not going to be among our best, but those seeing calamity are not going to have their prophecies fulfilled.

Thomson predicted some reduction in unemployment from the current 8.1 per cent to 6.5 or 6.75 by the end of the new

And his assessment of the overall economy was that most indicators will continue to show recovery

THE REASON he doubted the Carter-*Burns prediction of six per cent growth in GNP is that the sum total of goods and services is growth at a rate of 3.5 to 4.0 per cent in the current quarter.

If the overall 1977 growth rate were to be six per cent. Thomson said, "We would have to accelerate from the present growth pattern to an average of a little over seven per cent during the next four quarters Although I am fairly optimistic about 1977. I don't expect this much accelreration in growth

He called the unemployment uncomfortably high, but pointed out it was due to the slow growth of the economy and the rapid rise in the labor force. Many families are attempting to have more than one member employed. It is hard for our economy-or any economy-to absorb the type of structural shift we have had.

MOST INTERNAL signs looked good to Thomson, but he pointed to several "ill"

But he predicted no repetition of the 1974-75 recession-and even noted that some things were turning out better than predicted a year ago:

Prices, in particular, are behaving better than most people thought possible: wholesale prices are up only 4.0 per cent over a year ago. Unit labor costs and consumer prices have risen a little over 5.0

He predicted consumer prices would rise 5-6 per cent in 1977, stimulated in part by an expected Arab oil price hike and the long-needed deregulation of natural gas."

New Year's party designed for youngsters

Most people think of New Year's Eve as a night set aside for adult, bacchanalian revelry. But the people at Michigan Young World of Westland child care center have designed an all-night New Year's Eve party for children 2-12 years of age.

The party begins at 7 p.m. Dec. 31 and ends at 11 a.m. Jan. 1.

Games, snacks and a morning breakfast will be provided. Interested parents can contact Connie Pelton at 522-7150.

Michigan Young World of Westland is a non-profit child care center located at 32503 Ann Arbor Trail.

Other holiday programs planned at the center include a holiday package evening program from Dec. 13-17 and a winter wonderland program Dec. 27-31

'77 to be best auto sales year since '73

What "economic pause"? The auto industry is going to have the best unit sales year in 1977 since the high-water mark set

That was the assessment of Brent T. Upson, General Motors Corp.'s director of economic relations. Upson told the Detroit Economic Club sales would hit 14.5 million cars and trucks. "only slightly behind the 14.6 million unit record of 1973. The GM economist insisted on lumping car and truck sales "because many trucks are now purchased as personal transportation vehicles-as second 'cars'-and thus they are direct substitutes for car pur-

WHAT MAY HAVE been the reasons for an apparent pause late in 1976, said Upson. were the month-long strike against Ford. the shortage of some models and the long model changeover time at some GM

In fact, he said there will be a spurt of "make-up" sales as the result of the Ford

Most importantly, he said, "the consumer mood is clearly positive." He cited a University of Michigan survey showing about 40 per cent of those surveyed thought the next 12 months would be a good time to buy a car-"the most positive response since early 1972

Overall, 1977 sales will run about five per cent ahead of 1976, he said. This is about the same as the overall rate of economic growth predicted by other econo-

IN THE LONG RUN, his optimism was tempered by this warning

Both existing and future legislative provisions crippling the industry" may go into effect. He cited: · Emission control standards which specify that 1978 models must meet standards which we cannot achieve on a production basis. Thus, as the law now stands, it is technically possible that we and every other producer would be prohibited from making cars for sale to U.S. customers.

·Fuel economy regulations would have less severe effects. The law sets a goal of 18 miles per gallon in 1978 for combined city-highway driving, 20 mpg by 1980 and 27.5 mpg by 1985 Recent events should prove to everyone that we will have very little luck in selling our products if people don't really want to buy them.

Ignoring these "legislated risks." Upson projected total sales of 16 million vehicles by 1980 in the U.S. and 40 million for the free world.

Upson has been with GM since receiving his MA in economics from the University of Minnesota in 1948.

MSU Extension agricultural engineers James Boyd and Leshe Mack have designed a computer program which analyzes factors in your house which affect heating costs. The computer approximates costs and savings resulting from improvewments such as insulation or putting new caulking on windows

Here's how the program works. Obtain a weather-proofing houses computer data sheet from the local county extension of fice. The data sheet is a checklist to guide you in inpsecting your house. The checklist takes into account the condition of window caulk, number of windows and doors in the house, if storm windows will be used, condition of weatherstripping around doors. how much insulation is in the artic, etc. After you've compiled *15-3 information

Dissidents could work to force police millage

Monday night's special Canton Township board meeting reached a new low in audience etiquette hen at various points people in the audience ssed members of the board, booed, interrupted, and yelled out threats such as. "It's about time ter a recall.

It's one thing to offer vehement constructive criticism as a Canton board watchdog. It's quite another matter to be rude and disruptive.

The crowd, which could have used some manners. was comprised of people who worked on the "Write-in the Greenstein Team." Many of the people in the group have come up with good suggestions but their dissent was grating Monday

They came to the meeting upset that new Supervisor. Harold Stein decided to cut one patrol unit because the police department is running well over budget—a budget that was prepared by Robert Greenstein, defeated supervisor and deposed police chief.

If these people truly want to expand the police department they should spend their time drumming up citizen support for a police millage and not wasting energy with shrill wisecracks.

The main spokesmen for the "watchdogs" are Thom Carman and Jim Donahue, chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals. Carman and Donahue also led the write-in effort.

- They, along with Gerald Neizgoda, a Canton reserve officer, came to the special meeting to "expose" what they felt was a serious tactical error committed by the new "interim" police chief.

Someone had even tipped off Channel 7 News. which arrived at the meeting and left when it was evident there would be no "disbanding of the police department" as had been rumored. But according to the very vocal group, the Canton police had been called to a bar fight over the weekend and were told to "keep a low profile" until the Wayne County Sheriffs arrived.

What good are the recent certification diplomas, the group asked, if the Canton Police are not allowed to enforce the law?

Chief Silvers, who confessed that he was fighting stage fright, walked up to the hot seat and stood his ground admirably

Silvers tried to explain to the dissenters that while his men have certification, they lack experience and could use every bit of assistance before walking into a volatile situation in a bar.

"We don't send Christians into the lion's den these days," Silvers said. "It's best to get experienced police officers there." Silvers explained that his officers were "in a holding pattern" until they received proper backup protection.

What's so repulsive about that? That's sensible law enforcement—as opposed to storming the beachhead with a group of rookies. Any law enforcement officer will tell you that drunks, drivers and quarreling couples are the three most potentially dangerous situations an officer can face.

Many of the people who got up and talked at the meeting were the same people who pleaded with the board to keep Greenstein on as police chief. He's out. "Interim Chief Silvers" deserves a chance to prove himself in the department.

The Canton Police Department is, in theory, a full-scale, full-duty police department. But people in the township must realize that there are no detectives, no separate bureaus, no information network machines, and files. There's not even a lock-

There has never been a police millage. The Canton Police were set up to work in conjunction with the existing police agencies such as the state police and the sheriff. It is hoped that in the near future, voters will agree to expand that protection by supporting their police with increased taxes

But don't fault the police chief for asking for additional help and don't blame Supervisor Stein for keeping the police department budget at the level set by the previous administration. Thirdly, stop booing and hissing when someone says something you disapprove of, it only serves to weaken your

LINCOLN SAID, "I go for all sharing of the privileges of government who assist in bearing its burdens." # Detroit's capital

green field for autos

Here's a conversation starter for a lull in the holiday cocktail party: Why did the automobile industry become concentrated in southeastern Michigan around the time of World War I?

You'll get the schoolbook answers first: Access to water transportation. A mid-point between the coal of the east and the iron of the upper Great Lakes. The presence of Henry Ford. A lot of engi-

The truth is that southeast Michigan-specifically. Detroit-was far from unique in possessing those advantages. As of 1917, there were 184 auto companies scattered across the nation, and only 25 per cent of all cars were made in Michiganand many of those in outstate cities.

THE ANSWER to why auto production became concentrated here is in the late Willis F. Dunbar's "Michigan: A History of the Wolverine State"fine reading and a good Christmas gift still.

"There was a great deal of capital in Detroit. gained largely from lumbering and mining, which its owners were willing to invest in automobilemanufacturing facilities. It was difficult to persuade Eastern bankers to invest in what was regarded as a risky enterprise in the early years These appear to be some of the reasons that Detroit and Michigan early became the focal point for automotive development and production."

A sick industry finds itself sicker

"Depression" is not too strong a word to describe the state of the construction in metropolritan Detroit. In the depression of the 1930s, unemployment hit 25 per cent, which is the current level of joblessness among construction workers in this tri-county area.

Yet a construction executive, speaking to the Detroit Economic Club, tells us that residential construction costs rose one per cent a month in the last year. That's 12 per cent for the year. That's double-digit inflation:

Is it any wonder, then, that the construction industry is depressed? Isn't the plain truth that the industry has simply priced itself out of the mar-

Here is an industry where labor led the way in gouging out big wage increases in the 1960s, and where management joined in by showing a pronounced preference for building a few units at high prices rather than many units at low prices.

No one-not even Jimmy Carter and a friendly Congress-can veto the law of supply and demand. It is hard to find tears to shed for the construction industry.

Richard

"A great deal of capital," the man said. couldn't remember being taught that in school. I wondered if Prof. Dunbar wasn't engaging in one of the wild generalizations historians often make.

THEN A FRIEND stumbled onto a rare volume you can't buy any more-the 1914 edition of "The Book of Detroiters," edited by Albert Nelson Mar-

It's kind of a "Who's Who" of that era but devoted mainly to the rich and the publicity seekers, since Henry Ford isn't mentioned.

Consider the listing of Russell A. Alger Jr. (b. 1873): First a wholesale manufacturer of lumber. then a vice-president of Packard Motor Car Co. His brother, Fred M. Alger (b. 1876), the father of the Republican politician of the 1940s and '50s Fred Sr. was a director of Alger, Smith & Co., lumber manufacturers, and a director of Manistique Lumbering Co. before becoming a director of Packard and of Anderson Forge and Machine

Henry B. Joy (b. 1864) was an office boy, then a clerk, then went into the mining business in Utah from 1887-89, and later became president of Pack-

Samuel L. Smith made a fortune in lumbering and furnished funds to organize Olds Motor Works John Kelsey (b. 1866) worked for paper and lumber companies and finally became president of Kelsey Wheel Co., a familiar name. Allen H. Zacharias (b. 1875) retired in 1908 from the coal business; later he organized Detroit Pressed Steel Co., makers of auto frames and heavy stampings.

Dunbar was right, it seems. Auto companies required capital, and Detroiters had capital.

IT'S NOT FASHIONABLE to say nice things about capital... big money... the interests. Not in Reuthertown. But on a newspaper you can get away with being unfashionable.

If America became the world's most muscular economic power, it had less to do with the egalitarianism of Jefferson and Jackson than with the policies of Treasury Secretary Hamilton, who got the Revolutionary War debts paid off and gave the fledgling nation a credit rating in Europe that attracted vast amounts of capital.

So when Bob Crachit offers a Christmas toast to his employer, read your history before you join Mrs. Crachit in sneering, "Mr. Scrooge, indeed!"

ting frantic calls from parents whose son or daughter had run off. They would ask us for advice about how to get in touch, which papers they could put a want ad in, how other parents had handled the same situation. When the phone rang, you'd die inside a little more, because you knew you couldn't do much of anything.

We were covering anti-war demonstrations at Schoolcraft College, terrorist-mischievous bombings at Oakland Community College, disputes over dress and hair regulations in local high schools. We worried about whether our reporters and editors were too old to get in touch with the kids they were covering.

It was a strange and peculiar time, when 14year-olds were suddenly major news sources, making the breaking stories. And when their parents or their teachers or coaches-whom you might have expected to be news makers-were instead only confused and frightened onlookers.

TODAY, OF COURSE, times are different. Kids are still running away from home or taking drugs or participating in demonstrations, but the frequency and intensity have gone down remarkably It would be nice to report that Mary Vecchio went straight after her brush with the real world that no 14-year-old newsmaker can ever imagine. But I can't do that.

Evidently there were hard times. Traveling aimlessly back and forth across the country. A nocontest plea to a charge of prostitution and massaging without a license in Miami.

But it's not all bad. She's living with a family in a suburb. She's lost around 100 pounds; she doesn't have so many nightmares; and she is thinking about enrolling in a local community col-

REALITY IS HARD, for everybody involved.

For kids, caught in an absurd situation, where freedom's goal conflicted directly with a bad home life and an unresponsive society, the process of growing up from 14 to 22 took only one or two years. And cost 30.

For parents, puzzled and horrified at what tensions existed between their hard-won world and the rages of their children, the wrench came as they became onlookers while their children became news events.

For the suburbs, it was a time of terrific strain. The kids who were running away or dropping out or taking dope were voting with their feet against a way of life which the times asked them to judge when they were only still in their early teens.

They judged it, in some ways accurately and in other ways inaccurately. But with their judgment and the shock waves that process set off in their parents' hearts and their community's head, they ended the age of innocence of the suburbs.

Now all parties are growing up. The kids, evidently, are gradually going back to school, in-creasingly suspicious of dope (though still drinking). The parents are a little more sensitive to the absurdities of their society. And the society is a little more understanding that you simply cannot place a population under the kinds of stresses as occurred in the late 1960s without hearing some-

'Catch 22' will deter CORP from its aim

Led by city commissioners Jack Moehle and Beverly McAninch, and by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wright of CORP, Plymouth voters fell into a trap when they vetoed the almost completed plans for a senior citizens apartment building here in Plymouth so desperately needed by our lder residents. Most of them will be gone by the time the "taskforce" and other "study" groups finish their work

The "Catch 22" which will prevent any meaningful fullfillment of our recently demonstrated housing needs is the requirement for federal subsidy payments. These are administered by MSHDA. MSHDA has its own set of specifications as to site location, design, management organization and the like based on many years of successful operation of such projects

All the well-meaning "taskforce" and "citizen involvement" groups aren't going to have much effect on its decisions. Too many other communities are ready to accept MSHDA conditions and to enjoy the facilities that result

When Plymouth voters rejected one of these conditions (tax abatement) they gave up their place at the head of the line and to start a new project we will have to start over and face newer and more restrictive requirements. This usually takes about six years. Forest City-Dillon, meanwhile, will building a high-rise building which will comply with MSHDA requirements. It will cost $6 million. The people of Plymouth will pay their share of its construction and subsidy costs. Unfortunately, the older people of Plymouth who need it will not live in it. It will be built in some other city because the voters of Plymouth were led astray by an "alternative plan" which didn't exist.

Oh, we may get a "Bandaid" addition to Tonquish Creek Manor in the form of a few more very low income units, but the demonstrated need for middle income housing for the present and for the future is a

The political dust is beginning to settle in Canton and things are getting back to normal

The election is over, the new administration has been sworn in. Robert Greenstein has been regulated to the position of a part-time patrolman and I am back to writing letters to the editor on the issues facing Canton

On the horizon of the political scene, the rumbles of new charges and countercharges between Stein and Greenstein can be heard developing. However, regardless of the potential threats facing the new administration, they must step up and assume the authority on the issues and problems facing our "booming" township. many of which cannot wait too long for answers because the advancing development of our township is taking away the luxury of alternative decisions.

The new administration is proposing citizens' advisory commissions to study many of the issues facing our township. While in theory such commissions are appealing, if these commissions are not given proper direction and time schedules in which to work, they become, in reality, vehichles

The rural residents of our township, who for the most part supported Mr. Stein, were aggrieved by the land use planning programs of Robert Greenstein. In response to this grievance, at the first township meeting after being sworn in, the new administration proposed a commission to study land use planning.

I make no quarrel with this proposal. however I do not believe that this action satisfies the grievances of the subdivision residents on our growth rate. Without such a policy, the services that will be demanded by the increasing number of new residents moving into our community will not be provided in an orderly and economically efficient manner.

TONIGHT'S meeting of the Plymouth Historical Society will open with the traditional reading of the Christmas story by Frank Henderson Members also will be entertained by the Madrigal Singers from Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. The group, directed by Fred Nelson, will sing 17th century Christmas carols.

The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the lower level of the Plymouth Historical Museum, Main Street at Church

LES HOWES, investment counselor, who moved from Plymouth to Phoenix recently, will shed a few sentimental tears when he receives the payoff for a $10 bet made

Frank P. Tuczak the loser packed up the money and sent it off to Phoenix by UPS. There were 2,000 pennies-plus a few more in case he lost count— in the corrugated shipping container.

And Les may get a bigger bundle. He was one of a group of five (his friend Frank included) who formed a little combo to buy lottery tickets.

They had a ticket which earned them $50-the five-way split accounts for the extra 1,000 cents in the UPS package-and 'are alive" for the $1 million draw.

Craft show reveals talented neighbors

The Plymouth Cultural Center was buzzing with activity last weekend as crowds thronged to the Farmer Street complex. The more talented played hockey, figure skated, or manned their booths in the annual Christmas arts and crafts show and

Traffic was brisk as the not-so-talented watched from the bleachers in the arena or shopped for handmade Christmas gifts and decorations at the crafts show.

As shoppers filed past the displays in the main rooms and overflowed into the hallways and lobby, they marveled at the skills of the craftsmen-many of them friends and neighbors.

JENNIFER FLORA who lives on Amelia Street in Plymouth is a leather worker. Her stall, just inside the front doors of the building, was loaded with belts, handbags and wallets.

Jennifer and her partner, Fran Ciamba hand-tooled the designs on the leather. Some had an added touch of color in the flowers or other artwork. These were then waxed and rubbed to a soft patina to preserve and soften the colors.

Customers could choose from a wide variety of buckles to go with the belts. "It takes about three hours to finish one belt," said Ms. Flora who started working with leather four years ago.

GAYLE WHITE and her daughters Doris and Karen all had a hand in creating the crafts for their booth.

On the other end were wooden toys made by her husband, Bill, who is a construction teacher at Plymouth Canton High

The trucks, cars and trains were sanded and polished to bring out the natural grain and beauty of the wood. "Bill had a heart attack a while ago, so he can't be here today," said Mrs. Doughty as she admired the smooth classic lines of the toys.

GEORGE STEFUREAC, a Canton Town-

Ollie and Jan Foster, Eric and Mary Childs, Nancy and George Johnson, and Betty and Wayne Wiemer were all hailing old friends as they helped themselves to salad and cocktail nibbles. The Al Millers, the Ed Clarks, and the Curt Drouillards chatted as they moved down the dinner line, as did Jim and Ellen Person, Frank and Marian West, and Claire and Dave McCubbrey.

Jesse tree to shower gifts

The Jesse tree that sprung forth in Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth is bare now, but its fruit will be coming to the church this weekend to make Christmas a little better for a lot of people in the Plymouth community.

The tree sitting at a side altar in the sanctuary held, at the start of the Advent season, some 300 tags with church symbols on one side and a request for a special gift for someone in need on the other.

"The tags are all gone now." said the Rev. Bob Keller, the priest who has helped the Jesse tree come into fruition for two Christmases now

And that means that members of the parish are preparing 300 special Christmas gifts for persons who might otherwise have a holiday as bare as the branches of the

The tree starts with biblical symbolism, Fr. Keller explained.

"Jesse was the father of David, so the Jesse Tree is the family tree of Jesus," he said. "In the symbolism of the church, it is adorned with many religious figures, from the star of David and Noah's Ark to the cross and the rainbow."

For the OLGC tree, these symbols were placed on the front of little tags. Then the church asked several Plymouth organizations, Opportunity House, the Detroit House of Correction, Our Lady of Providence school and several convalescent

Each recipient placed on a card, some by name and some anonymously, was asked what he or she would like to receive, and that suggestion was written on

"There were all kinds of requests," Fr. Keller said. "One guy asked for a six-pack of beer. He'll get it, too; why give him something he won't use?

Other more conventional requests were for underclothing, gloves, toys, cosmetics,

Livonia Lutherans start Missouri Synod mission

A mission church for Livonians who wish affiliation with the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod will begin regular weekly services in the Harry J. Will Funeral Home, Six Mile east of Newburgh, at 9 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 12.

Its leaders are Lutherans who have been affiliated with Livonia churches that in recent months took action to dissolve ties with the Missouri Synod in a doctrinary dis-

A formal request to the synod to organize as a mission church will be made in the near future, according to Alan Drake, Livonian who has been a member of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Drake, a science teacher at Edsel Ford High School, said the organizational moves began after Holy Trinity members voted about two to one on Nov. 21 to leave the Missouri Synod and join the recently-organized English Synod

Earlier two other Missouri Synod churches in Livonia, Faith and All Saints, had taken similar action.

Their moves grew out of a dispute that has wracked the denomination for several years, since the election of Dr. J.A.O. Preus, a theological conservative, as synod president

"THERE ARE PEOPLE in Livonia who don't want to leave the Missouri Synod and brought the naming of Jerry French, a want to have a church in their home community," said Drake, explaining that the separation now had been effected by all three Lutheran Missouri Synod churches in

"Those of us leading this move want to remain in the Missouri Synod, and forming a mission church seems the only right way

"I guess most of us had hoped an agreement could be reached, but apparently that is not to be. We don't want to cause friction, but we do think this new group is going to go.

The first meeting for organization was held in Holy Trinity church the week after the vote to move to the English Synod. Drake said about 150 persons attended. A second session the following week in

Ford Motor Co. employe, as president of

The regular meeting place then was offered by the Will Funeral Home

DRAKE SAID the group has had assistance from the Rev. Ralph Schmidt of St. Paul in Northville and the Rev Roy Pranschke of Hosanna-Tabor in Redford

We also will be working with students at Concordia College in Ann Arbor." he

The dispute that led the three Livonia churches to separate from the Missouri Synod has involved the dismissal of the president of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis the establishment of a seminary in exile (Seminex) and a split within the deno-St. Paul Lutheran Church of Northville mination's mission program

Star of the East has astrological verification

Johannes Kepler has been described as "a mixture of scholar and quack," who mixed liberal doses of astrology with his astronomy. As imperial mathematician and astronomer royal, he was observing the stars in Prague shortly before Christmas on Dec. 17, 1603.

That night, Saturn and Jupiter had a rendezvous in space within the constellation of Pisces. They moved so close together that they appeared to be one large brilliant star.

This started Kepler thinking. He suddenly remembered something he had read by the rabbinistic writer Abarbanel referring to the prophecy of Jewish astrologers that a Messiah would appear when there was a conjunction of Saturn and Jupiter in the constellation of Pisces.

Could he be observing the same "Star of Bethlehem" that the wise men had followed to find the Christ child?

He checked his calculations again and again. Astronomical and astrological tables seemed to agree that there was a threefold conjunction within the space of a year in 6 or 7 B.C.

HIS DISCOVERY was widely published at the time. But because of his "unscientific" leanings toward the occult and the realm of mysticism, serious scholars showed little interest in his theory, and reected it without investigation

Not until relatively recent years have scientists shown an interest. Now, in our own day, modern scientists agree that, as... stated by the Encyclopedia Britannica: ___

"In the year 7 B.C. Jupiter and Saturn did, in fact, meet in Pisces and, as Keplerhad already discovered, they met three times. Mathematical calculations further established that this three-fold conjunction was particularly visible in the Mediterra-

On May 29 it was visible for two hours in the morning sky. The second conjunction. took place on Oct. 3.

On Dec. 4, for the third time that year. the two planets moved together, this time, * in the 16th degree of Pisces. At the end of-January in the year 6 B.C. the planet Jupiter moved out of Pisces into Aries

"We have seen the star in the east. said the wise men (Matt 2:2) Modernscholars interpret the original Greek text. "En te anatole" not as "the east." but as "the first rays of dawn." That would correspond exactly with the astronomical facts.

JUPITER WAS thought of by all nations' as a lucky star and a royal star. According to ancient Jewish tradition. Saturn was suposed to protect Israel.

The Bible tells us, "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea, in the days of Herod the king ... " (Matt. 2.1) We know from numerous contemporary sources that Herod was designated king of. 1. Judea by the Romans in 40 B.C. and his reign ended with his death in 4 BC

Therefore, Jesus must have been born- before 4 B.C. The brilliant star in St. Matthew's gospel points to the year 7 B C

Johannes Kepler seems not to have been so wrong after all, in his combination of astrological and astronomical studies

Chiefs nip Tigers at buzzer

Sports Editor

Sophomore guard Butch King swished a 14-foot jump shot with only six seconds left to give Plymouth Canton a 74-73 victory over the Belleville Tigers in non-league action Tuesday night in the Plymouth gym.

For Canton, it was the first victory in three games, giving the squad momentum going into its Western Six League opener against Walled Lake Western Friday

But more importantly, this victory gave the young Chiefs some badly needed confidence in winning the close ones.

The Chiefs' two previous losses were both by four-point margins where they folded under pressure in the closing minutes. But this time, it was Canton's turn to meet the test and not let another game

'We squeaked this one out," said a happy coach Casey Cavell. "As badly as we played, we had to have some luck this

"I was pleased with our offense and our good shot selection but we had sloppy midcourt play. We would break Belleville's

Although Canton still had its plague of unneccessary turnovers the Chiefs forced Belleville into sloppy play as well.

The Chiefs didn't have the running ability for a fast break or the jumping ability on the boards that the Tigers had, but Canton continued to scrap the whole game until things went its way.

AND WHAT MADE it even more sweet was that Canton finally beat a Suburban Eight League team for the first time in its

With the score tied at 55-55 entering the final period, the Chiefs maintained the upperhand most of the the final eight minutes-only to see the Tigers keep coming back. Canton opened up an eight-point margin, 69-61, with 2:17 left but that lead quickly dwindled when captain Rob Mandle fouled out of the game.

The key to the Chiefs' advantage in the final stanza was their staying out of foul trouble most of the time. When Mandle fouled out, it marked the first time Belle-

Canton's Mandle followed with one free throw, but Belleville's Ron Johnson tipped in an offense rebound to give the Tigers a 73-72 lead with 13 seconds remaining.

Belleville held a narrow 16-15 lead after the first quarter and extended that margin to 28-19 midway in the second.

Reserve guard Doug Smith came in for Canton for the final three minutes of action and sparked the team with four points, cutting the margin to 36-33 at half-

The Chiefs' motion offense was exceptional against the Tigers as shown by forward Mike Albright's game-high 20 points. Albright moved well without the ball and found himself open on many occasions under the basket. It was the senior's finest all-around performance so far this season. The Chiefs shot an amazing 63 per cent from the floor.

King added 16 to Canton's total and Keith Fuelling continued his steady play with 13. Rob Mandle had 10.

Belleville's super sophomore Kelvin Patterson was high for the Tigers with 16 and Barnes added 13. Harold Dennis and Johnson each chipped in 10.

Chiefs take 8th at Glenn

By DOUG FUNKE

Westland John Glenn exacted a longawaited measure of revenge over intra-district rival Wayne last weekend with a 12point victory over the Zebras-giving the Rockets the Western Wayne Invitational Wrestling Meet title.

The host Rockets, with four individual champions, one second-place finisher and three thirds, accumulated 213 points. Wayne, 201, and Farmington, 120, for a distant third-place team standing.

Wayne last year won the team title by 27 points over runnerup Glenn.

The Rockets received their best performances in the middle and heavier weight classes. Nick Paciocco, a state finalist last year, spearheaded Glenn past the other 11 teams competing for the invitational championship.

Paciocco, a senior, decisioned Wayne's Randy Pittman, 8-5, in a close duel for the 126-pound title. Mark Grabowski bested all comers in the 191-pound class for Glenn. as did Mike Collin and Jim Meyer in the 138- and 178-pound class, respectively.

Glenn's Jeff Doyle, a 165-pound competitor, dropped a tough 4-3 decision in the finals, but his second-place finish enabled the Rockets to collect some valuable

Dwight Barclay, Jerry Hensley and Rick Eisiminger all placed third in their weight classifications for Glenn. Wayne showed three individual champions-Bo Wanshon, 119 pounds, Tim Clark, 132 pounds, and Chris Bachus, 145

Farmington improved by 10 points and one place over its performance at last year's invitational. Bruce McIntosh won the heavyweight crown for the Falcons on one of the rare pins of the finals. Ron Stern, at 98 pounds, Marty Bona, 145 pounds, and Dean Schultz, 178 pounds, all placed second for Farmington.

"We won because we wrestled very well compared to our first meet against Plymouth Salem," said Glenn coach Bob Lusk. "The boys are getting excited about the season.

Ray Stanley, a 155-pounder from Taylor Center, was named the meet's outstanding wrestler for pinning four of his opponents in a total time of 12 minutes. During the 13 finals matches there were

"I was really happy with our performance," said coach Dan Chrenko. "Even though eight doesn't sound like much, it was better than last year's 12th place finish. This is a tough meet.

We got off to kind of a slow start in the first round but we were competitive all day. We kept scrapping and were in sixth place most of the time.

We got four kids into the finals. When that happens you're with the best of Kyle Heaton surprised a lot of people in the 155 competition, also finishing with a second place medal. Heaton was pinned in the championship round by the Taylor Center grappler who was named the outstanding wrestler of the Invitational.

Chuck Walker was third in the heavyweight division. One of Walker's three victories came against the Bentley grappler who beat him earlier this season.

"Chuck's going to hold his own his year." Chrenko said. "He's starting to gain confidence.

Improving Chiefs show swim promise

By BILL COLLINS

Improvement has been the steady nature of the Plymouth Canton swimming program, and that pattern is anticipated to continue throught the coming season.

Coach William Faunce points to several all-around swimmers and a pairof seniors who are definite threats on the state level to carry the load in what could be a very

Senior Kevin Harris' strong suit is in the 100 and 200-yard freestyle events. He finished 14th in the 100 during the state finals last year. "He's our MVP swimmer. He can dominate the middle distance freestyle races, but could be respectable in any event he enters," said Faunce.

The second best overall swimmer for the Chiefs is sophomore Dave Tanner, who is expected to make many contributions once he recovers from an injury that gave him 17 stitches in his foot. The 200-yard individual medley is Tanner's bread 'n butter, and he can push Harris in the freestyle

The Chiefs will have to do without their number-one backstrokers for the first couple meets because of another unfortunate accident. Mark Re tting was the victim of a bus accident which required several stitches in his chin, sidelining him enough to throw his training schedule offf.

"It takes awhile for these kids to get back into condition after being out of the water for so long. It's almost like they have to start all over again because you can't swim with stitches."said Faunce. Scott Wales and Scott Gray give the Chiefs a one-two combo in the diving event that is unmatched in Observerland.

Wales was on his way to a tremendous season last year, when he was plagued by a back injury. This season he's in good health and figuresto contend for a berth in the state final, according to Fsunce.

"Wales is the best diver in Observerland and will really be making a run for a state berth. Gray started diving competitively last winter and has really progressed, Jamie Greenwood will be the team's sprint specialist. Greenwood, a senior, will go all out in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events. Junior Steve Wood leads the butterfly contingent by holding the current school record in that event. Wood posted a 57.7 clocking to in the butterfly which makes him a top prospect for league honors this year.

Terry Sullivan will pick up the slack in what Faunce terms as "our weakest event," the breaststroke

The supporting cast on a swim team can be just as vital to achieving success as the forerunners on the team. And the Chiefs will rely upon their depth to round off a balanced team performance.

Senior Mike McCourt provides the "inspiration" to his team with his fierce dtermination in the 500-yard freestyle. Sophomores Mike Gaab, Bob Klein and Tom Simrak compliment the talents of the team

Canton has 13 lettermen competing from last year, with a total of 34 swimmers on the squad this year. "This year is the biggest turnout we've had since I've been coach, and we also have the largest frosh turnout with 14 ninth graders on the team," said Faunce.

Faunce said that this years team will make a run for second place in Western Six League, trying to improve on a third place finish last year. "Northville looks strong once again and is a good bet to repeat as league champs. But Farmington Harrison has lost many key swimmers and that's where we come into the picture,' said Faunce

The basketball season for all high school teams around the state is entering its first full month of play in December, but squads already have been placed at respective district sites.

And while it's definitely too early for any serious predicting, I think its safe to say that the possibility for an all-Plymouth district championship showdown is very good-if the draw dictates it.

The Rocks and the Chiefs have been placed in the Southfield district for the third consecutive season. But along with the Plymouth teams are Northville, Milford, Milford Lakeland and the host squad from Southfield.

THIS ISN'T WHAT you would call the toughest competition for either Plymouth school. Milford schools have been a joke over the past years in state tournament play And Northville and Southfield are projected as mediocre squads, this season.

So if the February draw finds Canton and Salem in opposite brackets, don't be surprised to see both crews in the championship contest for the district trophy.

LAST WEEK, I gave a plug for fans to come to the Centennial Park to see the wrestling teams. But fans shouldn't forget to stroll over to the swimming pool where some top notch performers also will show off their skills

This community can boast two of the finest swimmers in the state in Salem's Ron Finley and Canton's Kevin Harris. Both tankers are versatile swimmers who can enter any event against an opponents' toughest racer, and still come out on top.

Teamwise, Salem can once again support its claim as the top team in Observerland and should prove it at Saturday's Redford Union Relays.

Rock JV triumphs again

The Plymouth Salem junior varsity basketball team held off a fourth period Dearborn rally to win its opening Suburban Eight League game 53-46 Friday night at the Plymouth gym. It was the Rocks third straight victory without a defeat.

Plymouth took a 14-13 first-quarter lead on the sharp shooting of Kevin Kelliher. who scored eight of the points. Center Greg Tallmen took over the scoring chores in the second stanza, pumping in eight points to give the Rocks a 30-25 halftime

Plymouth's tight defense allowed the Pioneers only seven third quarter points, as its lead mounted.

Dearborn closed the gap to four points with three minutes left in the game, but the Rocks went to Kelliher's short jump shots to pull ahead for good.

Kelliher played a great game, scoring a season-high 21 points. Tallman added 10 and guard Paul Dillon chipped in with eight. Guard Rob Neu and forward Bill Thimm helped with six each

The Rocks will host Redford Union Friday, Dec. 10 and will try to avenge their only two losses occurred last year at the hands of the Panthers.

AN HONOR that has been long overdue was paid to Helen Shablis the former Detroit Bowling Queen when she was named to the Women's International Bowling Congress Hall of Fame

Now a resident of Brooklyn, Mich., she not only was a star of the ladies top leagues in the area, but was the first woman to sweep all four events in the international bowling tournament in Mexico more than a decade ago.

The first tax shelter for the little guy.

If you're not now in an employer-sponsored pension or profit sharing plan where you work, act fast and you can save yourself a lot of tax dollars this year.

You can postpone paying Federal income taxes on 15% of what you earn this year, up to a maximum of $1500*

By opening an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at National Bank of Detroit by Dec. 31.

How it works.

An IRA is your own personal pension fund.

The money you put into the IRA, and the interest that money earns, are exempt from federal income taxes until the money is withdrawn.

At retirement age, when you begin to withdraw money, you're likely to be in a lower tax bracket, which means an additional tax reduction.

We'll help you set it up.

You can open an IRA at any NBD office. We'll answer your questions and help you select the NBD savings plan that's best for you. And you can walk away secure in knowing your money is protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and by the substantial capital of Michigan's biggest bank.

Open your account now.

Interest rates on savings at NBD have never been higher—a full 7-1/2% annual interest over 6 years on Investment Savings Certificates in amounts of $1,000 or more. (Substantial interest penalty required for early withdrawal.)

Come in and open your IRA today. It's about time you got a tax break. But you have to act now.

*Has your company terminated its pension plan? Have you changed jobs so that you will receive money from your previous employer's pension plan? You can tax shelter that money in an IRA if you open the account within 60 days after you receive the funds.

Making banking better for you.

East Lansing grabs crown

Stevenson swimmers edged

By DOUG FUNKE

Giving their best effort but still coming up a bit short, Livonia Stevenson girls finished second for the second consecutive year at the Class A state swimming and diving championships last weekend.

Eight Spartan qualifiers combined to shatter five state records in winning five of the 11 events. Stevenson totalled 141 points, 29 behind defending champion East

Birmingham Groves was a close third with 138 points and Ann Arbor Pioneer finished fourth with 134 points.

The Spartans, who have been an area and state powerhouse the past two seasons under the guidance of coach Lois McDonald, led all the way until the last event of the finals—the freestyle relay.

However, because the Stevenson quartet of Pixie Smith. Lori Tobis, Jackie Sieh and Nancy Walker qualified only for the consolation finals and East Lansing had turned in the best time of all in the preliminaries, it became obvious that the Spartans could be only second best.

McDonald, however, had nothing but praise for the effort turned in by the freestyle foursome. "We weren't as fast as the others, but we did the best we could," the coach said. "The kids didn't give up. They had their best splits. We have stroke strength rather than freestyle strength."

Indeed, the performance of Stevenson's individual competitors was nothing short of amazing

Carol Eggers, a senior and three-year letter-winner, successfully defended both her 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke titles for the second year in a row.

She did it in fine fashion, too, setting new state records in both events. Her clocking of 24.79 seconds in the freestyle sprint broke her previous state record by 23 of a second.

Eggers cruised through the backstroke in 59.81 seconds to become the first high school girl swimmer ever to break the one minute barrier. She also owned the previous state record of one minute flat.

"Eggers had a fantastic career," bubbled McDonald. "She's the first girl ever to be a double state champ three years in a row. Her time in the backstroke was fantastic and automatically qualified for all-

Linda Hein, only a junior, also showed her mettle by claiming a pair of individual titles. Like Eggers, both of her wins established new state prep records.

Hein defended her 100-yard butterfly championship with a time of 58.72 seconds. almost two full seconds under her previous record set in last year's meet. The junior also bested the pack in the 200-yard individual medley

Her effort in that event of 2:14.50 clipped 46 of a second off the previous best girls' mark in Michigan.

"I don't think anyone will touch Eggers' backstroke time and Hein's fly time for a long time to come." McDonald said. As if their individual exploits were not enough, Eggers and Hein also had a hand in the Spartans' fifth record-breaking performance of the meet-the medley relay With Eggers swimming the backstroke,

Hein the butterfly. Becky Stanley the breaststroke and Tobis the freestyle, the Stevenson crew qualified for all-America honors by knifing through the waters in

Other Spartan tankers did their best to complement Eggers and Hein and all showed outstanding efforts. McDonald

Pixie Smith placed sixth in the 100-yard backstroke (1:03.13) and 10th in the 200yard individual medley (2:19.55). "She did a real nice job," McDonald stated, noting that Smith's time in the medley was her best ever.

Laurie Loomis finished ninth in the 100yard backstroke with a clocking of 1:04.44. the third Spartan to place in the top 10 in that event. "That really helped us," said McDonald.

The word the Stevenson coach most used to describe her charges' efforts at the state finals and the season as a whole was

"We only had eight girls up there," said McDonald. "They were really a spirited group. We had a good time and I really think the kids did fantastic.

A couple of girls from other area teams also placed high in the state finals. Marion Stanwood, from Plymouth Salem, finished third in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:58.2. She set a new school record with the effort. "That was about two seconds faster than she usually swims," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. Cindy Brown and Vicki Brown, sisters from Livonia Bentley, finished third and seventh, respectively, in the 200-yard individual medley. Vicki also placed second in the 100-yard breaststroke and Cindy third in the 100-vard butterfly.

Rena Cox, a Livonia Churchill standout, finihed seventh in the 100-yard backstroke. Marsha Hartley, who placed 12th in the breaststroke, was Clarenceville's best finisher in the Class B finals at Western Michigan University.

Rose Bowl runners highlight big game

By W.W. EDGAR

Many things can happen between now and New Years Day, but from this far away outpost, when the University of Michigan football team lines up against Southern California in the Rose Bowl, the eyes of the multitude will be on two players-Bob Lytle, of the Wolverines and Ricky Bell of the Trojans.

Seldom in this most prestigious of all bowl games have two players-one from each side-attracted the attention that this pair has during the regular season.

Until the game with Ohio State, few fans around the country had the opportunity to see Lytle in action. But when he tore the Buckeye line apart to gain 165 yards and break all Michigan records, the millions who watched him on television were certain they were looking at a great back.

Ironically, shortly after the Maize and Blue had conquered the Scarlet and Gray of Ohio State, the USC-UCLA game was shown on the screen. The same audience that watched the Wolverines then saw Bell, another powerful runner, pile up yardage to get his team into the Rose Bowl.

What a battle that will be when those two meet" was the reaction of the fans. Even the most ardent followers of the Maize and Blue visualize a great duel be tween the two ground gaining giants.

What kind of a game will Coach "Bo" Schembechler design for the Wolverines in This question is being bandied about and, while "Bo" called only four passes against Ohio State, there is the feeling that he will have to open up to give Lytle the chance to break away and show his speed.

Much of the success of the team in the Rose encounter will depend on Rick Leach's ability to pass. He'll have to come through to give the attack the diversification it needs to keep the Trojans off balance. He attempted only four against Ohio and they were nothing to write home about. So, much will depend on him.

The Michigan defense can be relied upon to give battle to the Trojans. But, in the main, from this distance, it looks like a duel between Lytle and Bell. And what a battle it should be

Plymouth Symphony stages Christmas opera

A one-act opera that ranks with "The Night Before Christmas" as America's most important contribution to the holiday season will return to the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra stage at 4 p.m. Sunday. Dec. 12.

This time, however, "Amahl and the Night Visitors" will be performed on the stage of Plymouth Salem High School, Joy west of Canton Center roads.

Its first Plymouth performance was in 1959 in the gym of the old high school on Main Street.

Gian Carlo Menotti, who emigrated to the United States from Italy, composed the opera for television. The story of a crippled shepherd boy who gives the newborn Jesus his most precious possession-his hand-made crutch-may have been inspired by Menotti's own experience in a wheelchair as a child.

Two members of the original NBC cast will appear in the Plymouth production-David Aiken as Melchior and Rosemary Kuhlmann as Amahl's impoverished

The first half of the program will be the Seventh Century Singers, a madrigal group from Grand Valley State College, the teaching station of Plymouth Conductor Wayne Dunlap. They will perform music from the Romanesque to the modern in costume

Tickets will be $3.50 for adults who do not have family memberships and halfprice for K-12 students and senior citizens.

Because of costs of this production, there is a charge for students, who are usually admitted free to most Plymouth Symphony concerts.

Because tickets are going fast, persons who want to buy them should get them in advance at any of these three stores handling pre-concert sales: Heide's Flowers. Ann Arbor Trail at Harvey; Plymouth Book World Forest Place Mall; and Audette's Office Supply, Ann Arbor at Sheldon roads; and Beitner's Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail, all in Plymouth.

The program is underwritten by the Michigan Council for the Arts, Burroughs Corp. and the Plymouth Symphony

'Santa's pants' fun for children

Ann Krsul is an eighth grader at Covington Junior High School in Birmingham. By ANN KRSUL

Santa thought he had his work all cut out for him until one year he found that he had his pants cut out for him instead. It seems the culprit was a moth called Tiny Pin who managed to eat a large hole in Santa's pants.

This is the plot of the play "The Patch in Santa's Pants' by Charley Manos. which was presented at Northland Center's auditorium in Southfield on Saturday and Sunday

It is an entertaining Christmas story of Jimmy Courage and Petie Penguin who must find a red patch for Santa's pants in time for the big parade Jimmy Courage is a little lacking in his acting ability, but Petie Penguin, along with his clever costume, is very good.

Jimmy and Petie set out, after a visit by the Fairy Snow Queen, to Peter Van Twinkle's house to get Santa's pants mended Before arriving there, though, they have to pass by the terrible Thrunch moster who can freeze anybody by touching his

THE THRUNCH'S costume is probably the best and wildest in the whole play. Jimmy and Petie do meet up with the Thrunch. They have a wild chase until every child in the auditorium is either screaming or crying for Petie.

Then Jimmy comes up with a way to fool the Thrunch with a simple game of

The set used for the play was very good. It included a fireplace, a Christmas tree and a lot of stuffed animals which the kids enjoyed; however, the auditorium in which it was shown was a little cramped and

The play "The Patch in Santa's Pants" is a Pierre Turgeon production. It lasted half an hour and will be playing this Saturday and Sunday at Westland Shopping Center. There will be two performances daily. one at 11 a.m. and one at 2 p.m.

One of the many attractions at the Christmas Carnival at Cobo Hall is this clown who was also seen going around in circles in Hudson's Thanksgiving Day parade. The Carnival is scheduled through Dec. 22. Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily and 9 a.m. to 6

Christmas at the Raven

Folks gather for Focus: HOPE

again return to the Raven Gallery in Southfield this Sunday at 2 p.m. to help usher in the spirit of the Christmas season.

The Focus HOPE Christmas Folk Festival-Opus 8, in its eighth consecutive year. will feature the music of song writer and singer Mike Smith and his wife, singer Barbara Barrow. Dean Rutledge. Sharon Archambeau, Mary Foley, Phil Marcus Esser, Josh White Jr., David Reske, Buffo the clown, Ron Coden, and Lori Jacobs, Also appearing will be Opus 4.

Assisting with introductions will be allaround emcee, media personality Bob Hynes All proceeds from the program will go to Focus HOPE, a Metropolitan Detroit organization working to build brotherhood and to eradicate racism. Entertainers are donating their time and energies.

MIKE SMITH and Barbara Barrow have been called the "musical quintessence of the folk scene." Smith's original compositions are a testimony to his talent as many performers incorporate his music into their own shows. Barrow's singing caresses and delights the ears. Recently, the couple has been playing Chicago-area clubs, and will return to the Raven the first two weeks of January.

Dean Rutledge is a familiar name to Observerland residents. Rutledge has appeared many times at Mr. Mikes in West-

A veteran of many years in the entertaiment business, his music includes contemporary topical songs, comedy and traditional ballads and his own original work. Rutledge has played some fine clubs, and has appeared with Bud and Travis, Odetta, Peter Nero, Peter, Paul and Mary, and was a member of the New Christy Minstrels and the New Kingston Trio.

JOSH WHITE JR. is one of the best known folk performers around. He has played the Raven many times, including a few sell-out performances there. White has played many colleges and his third album is scheduled for release early in 1977.

Lori Jacobs is a songwriter and singer in the tradition of Carole King, Joni Mitchell and Kris Kristofferson. Two of the more prominent clubs in which she has performed are New York's Bitter End and Pasadena's Ice House. Mary Foley, who is relatively knew to

SHARON ARCHAMBEAU will make her first appearance at a Focus: HOPE Christmas Concert "Shar" combines the voices of Janis Joplin, Gracie Slick, Tina Turner, and other throaty modern-day torchers, to create her own very dominant stage presence. She has played the Inn Between, the Olde World, and the Railroad Crossing. Her music is a combination of folk, country, a little blues, a few ballads, and an amazing version of "Amazing Grace."

Buffo is a clown, sometimes happy, sometimes sad, and is a favorite among many. He has appeared on Merv Griffin's show, in numerous Detroit clubs and various college campuses.

Phil Marcus Esser, who is currently appearing weekends in the Colonial Lounge in Livonia, and can be heard at various times on WDET, is another established presence in the folk singing world. He was the director, and a performer, for Detroit Dinner Theatre productions of "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris." "Personals" and his own one-man show, "Scorpio/Scorpio." He also will be appearing in a new dinner theater production of "I do, I do," scheduled for Janu-

David Reske, who is perhaps better known among performers than metro-area audiences, will be on hand to deliver some of his own material.

Mickey and Babs, alias Mike Smith and Barbara Barrow songwriter and singers extrordinaire, will appear with several other prominent folk names in the Focus: HOPE Christmas Concert at the Raven Gallery Sunday.

The return of Great Motorcar! The Phaeton by Replicars

Whether you're a collector, a nostalgia buff, or just admire the classic simplicity of years gone by, you'll get a kick out of touring the town in this new edition of a 1931 Phaeton Touring Motorcar. Custom-crafted to our exacting specifications, REPLICARS has fashioned this contemporary reproduction of a Model A Ford from high-stress fiberglas, and dressed it with stainless steel. chrome-plated brass fittings and a mirror-brite, high-gloss finish. Under that beautiful exterior you'll discover a spirited Ford 302-V8 engine, automatic transmission and a custom welded chassis perfectly balanced to assure a smooth, comfortable, secure ride on city streets, country roads or on high speed interstates and turnpikes.

Other modern features include power steering, tilt steering wheel, power brakes, air conditioning, an AM/FM stereo radio with tape deck and safety seat belts front and back. The engine and power train carry a Ford Motor Company warranty making service available anywhere. The rigid requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency have been met and the EPA rating is 18 MPG city and 22 MPG highway.

Choose from Red and Black; Burgundy and Black; Yellow and Black or Tahitian Tan and Sand Pebble. As with all custom-crafted classics, production is limited. We suggest early inquiry for early delivery
