Medical center site rezoned

Plans for a $30 million medical complex on Canton Center Road, south of Ford, have been revived with Monday night's unanimous ruling by the Canton Planning Commission which rezoned a 10-acre parcel from residential to restricted office use.

Mel Stein of the Great American Building Corp. last year announced plans for a three-stage medical complex on the site but failed in an attempt to rezone the property from residential to commercial. At the time. Stein said the first stage of the project would be construction of three professional office buildings, the second stage would be a 200-bed nursing home and finally, if given state certification, a 200-bed general surgical hos-

OTHER PERMITTED uses in the RO-1 zone are business schools, private schools, banks, and professional

Now that Stein and the Great American Building Corp. have received a favorable vote from the Canton planning body, the corporation must have the rezoning approved by the Wayne County Planning Commission and then the Canton Township Board of Canton's planning consultant. George Peek, argued that while the property which abuts the Meijer's Thrifty Acres parking lot is not suited for residential use, he feared a "domino effect" along Canton Center. south of Ford, if the piece was to be zoned commercial.

Right now no land on Canton Center. south of Ford, is zoned commercial. But Peak wholeheartedly recommended the expanded office zoning Monday and it was approved unanimously by planning commissioners.

Suspect in jail on pigeon drop; police seek con 'mastermind'

"I thought I was only trying to help two stranded people. You see, I'm from the old school there you help people who are in need.

The 77-year-old Canton Township woman who uttered these words lost $12.613 in a "pigeon drop" con game that ended last Thursday. Angela Livingston, a woman whom she considered a new-found friend and seemed "very nice, saccharine sweet," has been charged with two counts of felony fraud for allegedly defrauding the widow with one of the world's oldest cons.

The defendant, and another woman police are still seeking, reportedly lived with the widow for almost a

This incident and at least four similar pigeon drops reported in the Detroit drea the past two months cause Wayne County Sheriff's detectives to suspect that women are being schooled by a mastermind who participates in the con by posing as an attorney on the phone and ends up taking in a good portion of the life savings that his accomplices collect from unwitting victims.

The same scheme was used in an attempt to defraud an elderly woman in Redford the same day,

Usually, another person in on the con arrives on the scene and the package is eventually opened to reveal a note which leads the victim to believe that the loot inside is illegal gambling

GAINING THE CONFIDENCE of the victim is a process which can take as long as a week. The con artists persuade the people to "invest" up to $20,000 of their own money with the phony attorney as a sign of "good faith" while they are given sealed bags of what they believe to be their share of the "found" money.

When those bags are eventually opened, only play money is found inside and, in most cases, the victim's friends" are long gone.

In both cases, and in most recently reported pigeon drop schemes, the mark for the con has been an elderly widow, advice was sought from a phony attorney and the drop was supposed to contain about $60,000 in gambling money.

In the Redford case, police were alerted to the con by a bank manager who alerted police when he became suspicious about the widow's uncharacteristic withdrawal of $8,000 from

In the con of the Canton woman, Det. Ray Allen of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department said the crooks were tripped up by hiring a security guard to accompany them when they tried unsuccessfully to cash a $40,000 cashier's check. The security guard. according to police, was suggested by the con artists to add an air of respectability to the transaction!

But the security guard they hired was actually the chief investigator of his company. Pat Hudgins, from the Merchant Detective Agency of Lincoln Park, immediately called police because a similiar ploy was used recently in the Dearborn Heights pigeon drop scheme.

Hudgins says he played "the classic dumb security guard" while he drove the old woman and the accused to two suburban banks, the 1st Precinct of the Detroit Police Department, the Goldfarb Bonding Agency and the Westland Mall, where the con artists allegedly met their mark

The trio went to the bonding agency because one of the con artists claimed she was going to bail her boyfriend out of jail. Police believe this was another line used to gain the widow's sympa-

Hudgins thinks the accused knew she was being followed because "she kept looking through the back window in her makeup mirror." Hudgins said the defendant got out of the car twice, during the trip-once saying she had to go the bathroom and next saying she had to make a phone call

When the three travelers returned to the widow's Canton home, sheriff's detectives arrested Ms. Livingston. She was released on a writ of habeas corpus Friday because she had been held 24 hours without a warrant. But on Monday the warrant was signed by the prosecutor and Ms. Livigston was arraigned on two counts. Her attorney is Lester Hudson

The owners of a used car lot on Michigan Avenue hadn't planned it that way. They even express a distaste for the "loud and vulgar" variety of rock 'n roll music.

But when the Youngs' son, Rick, dropped out of Eastern Michigan University two years ago and began an unsuccessful year-long campaign to build his rock band into a money-making proposition. Young decided it was time to apply his musical and business knowledge to the rock 'n roll scene.

The result was the founding of Muzacan Associates, Inc., a managementtype firm that has pumped new-life and direction into Rick's band and make it a success on the bar and night spot circuit.

THE CORPORATION now has about 25 stockholders and offers advisory services to two bands other than Rick's "Teezer." The Youngs deal with booking agents to set up gigs for the bands and handle the promotions.

A sister corporation, Muzacan Publishing Co., headed by Canton attorney Noel Culbert, who made an unseccessful bid for Canton trustee last election, publishes the material of the group's

But Young, who once aspired toward a song-writing career when he was a music major at Texas A&M University, says the best thing about Muzacan is the way it pumps a businessman's knowledge of the rock industry into young, aspiring rock bands.

Young asks the musicians to set a goal for themselves. Then he devises a vrogram through which the goal can be achieved.

about busing, said Supt. John M.

residents of the Sunflower subdivision in Canton and of the Field and Eriks-

"We want to avoid the 'burnout route," Young explained. "If you stay booked regularly, there's no energy left for anything else. There's no time to prepare for the future and to prepare new material."

YOUNG, HOWEVER, does not like to be called "manager" of Teezer and other bands. That term would just build a feeling of distrust, he says, and create a psychological barrier between himself and the rock groups.

Young prefers to call Muzacan a "family group," even though the corporation has now outgrown his family circle. All decisions for the corporation and member bands are made democratically, and members bands share ideas on how to achieve success.

The corporation owns a PA system, 'a light system and a school bus. Bands who are members of Muzacan share and share alike.

Although Young says he has not derived any income from Muzacan, the Canton resident insists that the corporation's one-year history is a rock 'n roll success story.

He points to Teezer as evidence of that success. The band is composed of his son, Rick, 23, lead guitarist; drummer Keith Johnstone, former member of Ted Nugent and the Amboy Dukes; lead singer Mark Torok; and bass guitarist Dave Hilton.

ACCORDING TO MRS. YOUNG, Teezer never "evolved to anything but practice sessions and a hall gig here and there" before Muzacan was formed

Young says the band is now considered the most popular group on Windsor's night spot circuit.

PITUARIFS advertising director

Appointment of George J. Hagan as director of advertising and promotion for the 12 Observer & Eccentric Newspapers was announced this week by General Manager John Reddy, who said Hagan will assume his O&E responsibilities Jan. 23.

The 35-year-old Hagan currently is advertising director of the Macomb Daily in Mount Clemens and succeeds Arthur Langer, who recently resigned as head of O&E advertising sales operations.

Acting director of the department in the interim is Wayne County Advertising Manager Robert Delany.

Hagan joined the Macomb Daily advertising staff as a salesman in 1972

Royal Holiday tenants say upkeep going down

In most ways Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park is a great place to live, said about 60 irate tenants of the park who turned out for an "action meeting" last week.

But, lately, they say, just getting around Royal Holiday Park is a royal

The main boulevard and the street around the park's clubhouse have been clogged with glacier-like ice flows most of the winter, making driving and walking a treacherous proposition, according to many residents.

The park has an age restriction limiting new rentals to people 40 years and older and the clubhouse in the middle of the park is used as a social center and meeting place for senior

Last Thursday about 60 people living in the park showed up for an informal rally at the clubhouse, where all who spoke said they expect more maintenance on roads, shrubbery and the clubhouse than they're presently receiving for the $100 a month average rent they pay to their lot landlord, Sheldon Futernick of Nationwide Mobile Home Parks, Inc. of Westland

THE MAIN COMPLAINT from residents concerns the condition of the

"Underneath all that ice is mud and broken up blacktop," Ray Gerlach of

Lot 167 maintains. But other people had other concerns. One woman was concerned that people might not be able to sell their trailers on the lot to a new buyer if the trailer is judged to be below the standard price. Futernick acknowledges that he suggested setting a minimum price range for trailers to stay in the parkand mentioned a possible $8,000 limitbut says that nothing definite has been

Other people, such as Irene Murphy, wanted to know why carpeting in the clubhouse foyer hadn't been replaced even though bids were taken on new carpeting by the park's resident manager, Doris Ramage. Mrs. Ramage agreed that she sought bids for new carpeting but said she doubts whether new carpeting would hold up because the clubhouse is used as an election precinct and the voting machines that are brought in would damage the rug. A badly buckled sidewalk which allegedly caused Mrs. Fay Leese, Lot 110, to fall and break her wrist and blacken her eve was the subject of much consternation at the meeting. Mrs. Leese, 88, belteves she wouldn't have fallen if the management had acted this summer when the problem was brought to their attention. Mrs. Mary Woods, president of the Royal Holiday In-Park Association, said the resident manager was told to fix the sidewalk last August.

Futernick, one of the partners who owns the park, said this is the first he's heard of the buckled sidewalk. But, he continued, something like that would probably be handled by the park manager, Mrs. Ramage

Mrs. Ramage explains that a cement contractor, Jim Dingeldey, came out this fall to see about replacing the piece of buckled concrete.

"But the man couldn't lift it," Mrs. Ramage said. "It was too cold and too late in the year to pour new cement. Of course, it's a worse problem in the winter when the ground heaves."

Residents of Royal Holiday Mobile Home Park say they're proud of their park but worried that its high standards of maintenance are declining. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

THE SIDEWALK around the mobile homes are to be maintained by the residents, according to the lease, but the sidewalk around the clubhouse is supposed to be maintained by the management.

Futernick called the action committee's complaints the work of "a couple of elderly people who have a lot of time on their hands. They spread rumors which have no basis in fact to stir people up and then enjoy the limelight they get from the news

Futernick singled out resident Ray Gerlach as an instigator "with time on his hands." Gerlach replies that the park owner is refusing to deal with the issues raised by criticizing the more vocal tenants.

"Royal Holiday is probably the finest mobile home park in the state," Futernick said. "You can't have a good park without good management. Have they compared the park to others in the area? We must be doing something right if all 436 lots are rented.'

Mrs. Woods admits that in the past some of the tenants have made complaints about things that the managment has no control over.

"But we're not raising complaints this time about things like someone keeping three cats on their porch," Mrs. Woods said. "We're trying to make the management stick to the terms of the lease.

Producing the lease agreement she signed with Royal Holiday's owners, Mrs. Woods reads that it's the lessor's responsibility "to maintain roads, sidewalks, the clubhouse and the pool; to maintain landscaping and lawns around the clubhouse, islands and park entrance; and to check out complaints on diseased lawns with residents. Mrs. Woods emphasizes that residents of Royal Holiday aren't blaming Mrs. Ramage for what they believe to be declining upkeep. "We just think there should be a maintenance person assigned to the park like there was

The previous maintenance person was Mrs. Ramage's husband, Herb, who said Monday that he quit because of "constant complaints" from the residents

"Mrs. Ramage is a responsible person but she can't do everything," Mrs. Woods continued. "He (Futernick) gives her the responsibility of keeping the park maintained but delegates no authority for her to act to correct the things that need to be done.

The management underestimates the ire of its residents and the seriousness of their complaints, Mrs. Woods said. For that reason, she said, she would like Futernick to attend a meeting of the tenants association.

A meeting was held, Futernick notes, in his office last month with Mrs. Woods. Mrs. Woods said the park manager refused to allow anyone else to attend the meeting and asked her to turn the tape recorder off. The park owner suggested that the Royal Holiday In-Park Association compile a list of complaints and send him a copy and Mrs. Ramage one. Valid sidewalk and street complaints. he said, will be acted upon, "weather permitting.

Pearl Thornton of Royal Holiday finds that crossing the street to the clubhouse can be a dangerous proposition. One of the partners who owns the mobile home park, Sheldon Futernick, blames the ice on bad weather coupled with a broken sewer line.

Les Cobb inspects a piece of buckled sidewalk at the clubhouse which residents say they asked to have replaced last August.

That same piece of buckled concrete allegedly caused Fay Leese (above) to trip-blackening her eye and breaking her wrist. Mrs. Leese blames her fall on unresponsive management.

A circuit court injunction prohibiting Canton's Zoning Baord of Appeals from meeting was lifted Jan. 1, and township officials have scheduled a meeting of the board on Jan. 19.

The township clerk's secretary, Doris Kelley, said only 14 people are requesting a hearing on zoning variances at the meeting.

Former members of the ZBA appointed by the township's previous supervisor, Robert Greenstein, are appealing a circuit court ruling by Judge Neal Fitzgerald that said those appointments were illegal because a local statute pertaining to the number of members that should be appointed to the ZBA had not been changed to comply with state law. The ousted board's attorney, Daniel Burress, is attempting to get the Michigan Appeals Court to reinstate an injunction prohibiting the present ZBA from meeting until the appeal is decided.

The regulation makes it illegal to record albums, photocopy magazine articles or for nightclub entertainers to sing musical hits, unless royalties are exchanged.

Spokesmen for recording companies say the copyright revision will be nearly impossible to enforce. It will, however, be effective in curbing gross abuses by commercial pirates.

Jim Griffith, Centennial Educational Park music director, said the new copyright law is more practical than its predecessor. "If we're short one or two pieces of music, the revised law allows us to copy those parts. There are other lenient areas like these that make copyright laws more realistic."

THE LENIENCY extends into the classroom, where an instructor can make copies of poems up to 250 words for distribution, Griffith said.

"Actually, they've opened up more renues for copying than ever before. I think all they're after is flagrant violations. Composers will probably get should be-it's how they make their

The charges include the allegation that Mr. and Mrs. Pierce allowed a neighbor boy to stay in their home when he was truant from school.

The Pierce family was evicted Monday from their Emerson Street home, where they have lived since early October. They had been living in a tent after their rented Canton Township home burned.

Gregor should sit on the commission to give the police department more say in policy-making matters. Fire Chief Mel Paulun should also sit on the commission, Stein said, because the fire and police departments must work together on public safety problems.

Other members of the reorganized public safety commission are Clerk John Flodin, Trustee Brian Schwall and Trustee Eugene Daley.

Tom Pierce, 19, surveys broken windows to his family's Westland duplex, as a result of a neighborhood dispute. The Pierce-family has since left Westland.

It's time to apply for'77 tax rebate

Senior citizens, veterans and disabled persons who are eligible for a rebate on their 1977 property taxes may pick up the tax credit forms at Canton Township hall and receive assistance in filling out the forms.

By filing the homestead property tax credit form with their Michigan income tax forms, senior citizens over age 65, veterans, the blind, paraplegic. quadriplegic and totally and per-, manently disabled persons may receive a rebate on their property taxes or home rental payments.

The amount of the rebate is based on total household income and the amount of property taxes or rental bills paid.

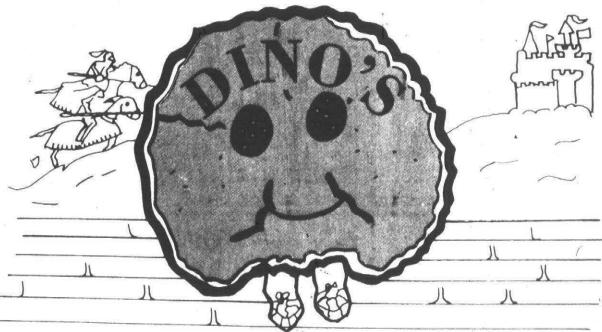

Persons may pick up the tax credit forms from 8 30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays and from 8 30 a.m. to 5 p on Tuesdays through Fridays at the township hall, 44508 Geddes near Mich-

Surveyors to meet here

More than 700 land surveyors, exhibitors and guests are expected to converge on the Plymouth Hilton next month for the 37th annual Conference of the Michigan Society of Registered Land Surveyors.

The conference will begin Wednesday morning. Feb. 1, and run through Feb. 3. The theme will be the "2nd Ten Years of the Subdivision Control Act of 1967" on Wednesday, "Title Searching" on Thursday, and "Remonumentation and General Topics" on Friday.

Among the speakers for the confe

ence will be Michigan Atty. General Frank Kelly.

Panel discussions on topics pertinent to the surveying profession will be held during the three-day meeting. About 25 firms which furnish equipment, supplies and services to surveyors will exhibit their wares.

Social activities will include an evening at the races, the annual president's banquet, a wine and cheese hour, and for the ladies a flower arrangement session, tour of Greenfield Village, a make-up demonstration, and a program featuring a hypnotist.

4 projects reluctantly OK'd

Plymouth-Canton Board of Education voted down, and then voted up, four construction projects designed to close out the 1974 bond issue approved by voters.

The four projects were storage buildings for Smith and Starkweather elementaries, storage building and toilet facilities for the athletic field at the Centennial Educational Park, four metered lighted tennis courts and a lighted parking lot at the courts at Plymouth Canton High.

All four were included in the 1974 school construction bond issue, among some 93 other projects including three elementary schools and Phase III of Plymouth Canton High.

The projects had not been started and the balance of the '74 bond issue has grown from interest earned. There are other projects the board would like to spend the balance on but by law cannot until completing projects approved by voters in 1974.

Among the major new projects the board wants to undertake with the '74 bond issue balance are rouf replacement at East Middle school and air conditioning for two schools on year-round schedules.

BIDS HAD BEEN received for the above four projects, and the school board Monday night was asked to approve the low bids.

Voting on all four projects in a package, the bids were denied 3-2-1. Four votes were needed for a majority but Joe Gray and Richard Arlen voted no and Stephen Harper abstained. After the problems of rebidding the projects were explained, a roll call vote was taken and the vote was Carol Davis, Gray and Arlen no, Harper, Tom Yack and Flossie Tonda voting yes.

Harper then divided the projects and made individual motions to accept each set of bids. Each motion passed 5-1 with Arlen dissenting. Gray made the motion to reconsider the bid on the lighted tennis courts-parking lot, and that passed 4-2 with Arlen and Harper dissenting.

THE FOUR PROJECTS total about $227,900. Once completed, a balance of almost $250,000 will be left in the 1974 bond issue account to be used for the East roof and the air conditioning equipment.

The original plans called for metered lights on 14 courts and three storage buildings for the CEP athletic field. The project bids approved Monday night were scaled down to four lighted courts, and one larger athletic storage building.

Gray commented he felt the board's instructions at a workshop were to delete the parking lot by the tennis courts. "Right now tennis players are parking illegally on Canton Center Road to get to the courts. If they play tennis for exercise, they should park in the Canton High lot and walk to the courts—it's not that far. I can't see spending money for a parking lot by the tennis courts when there's space available in the Canton lot. It would also help if the Canton police would start enforcing no parking on Canton Center Road."

The storage buildings at Smith and Starkweather are to be used for law-nmowers, plowing equipment, gasoline, duplicator fluid and other flammable fluids. State fire codes now, demand that flammable liquids cannot be stored inside school buildings.

Arlen asked how much the equipment being stored was worth and was told by Gerald Vollrath, supervisor of new construction that the equipment is worth about $4,000 to $5,000.

"Why are we spending $32,000 on a storage building to protect equipment worth only $4,000. That seems to me like a very poor investment and not very cost effective." argued Arlen.

John Culotta, architect, commented equipment will last longer if stored properly and the replacement cost will be cheaper over time.

Supt. John M. Hoben said the district has been cited for violations a number of times by the state fire marshall. At Pioneer Middle School, he added, tractors are being stored in a private barn a distance from the school and similar steps have been taken at other schools where violations have been found.

Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent of business, commented a lot of wasted labor hours result when employees have to drive to an offschool site to pick up equipment, and that it wasn't good procedure to follow.

IN RESPONSE to a question on the tennis court parking lot. Culotta commented that the 60-car lot also would be used as an overflow lot for football games.

Arlen jumped in again to argue against the storage buildings. For the amount of money were spending on storage buildings we could buy a new tractor every year and still be ahead.

"These are the kinds of state regulations which waste taxpayers' money on facilities which aren't cost effective. We've had no great incidence of school fires in recent years, or for the last 50 years. I say we should run our schools the way we see fit because I don't think the fire marshall is going to shut us down."

Moedel commented the district is trying to satisfy all of the projects listed in the 1974 bond issue so the balance can be spent on other projects.

Yack explained that if the board didn't authorize spending the money on the remaining four projects of the '74 bond issue the balance would remain in the account forever. The options were to return the money to the voters—about three cents per tax-payer—or ask voters to proclaim the four projects are no longer desired and then get permission from the state to spend the money on other projects.

"The people voted for these projects in 1974 and we should do what the people want," proclaimed Mrs. Tonda

AFTER THE LONG DEBATE on approving the bids, the board did so and then approved priorities for spending the balance of the '74 issue on new projects.

After the four projects are finished, the administration expects the balance will be about $241,000.

The board voted 6-0 to spend the balance as follows: $200,000 for a new roof for East Middle: $130,000 to air condition Gallimore and Isbister elementary schools and Pioneer Middle

The other parking and bus maintenance garage equipment—were approved but there won't be sufficient funds in the '74 bond account to fund these projects.

The path of life takes some rather peculiar turns at times

The latest example of odd things that happen is the case of the Jallads-Ahmad and Shirley-who recently opened the Cheese and Wine Barn on Forest Avenue in Plymouth

Ahmad, a Palestinian who came to this country in 1958, is a 1962 graduate of Hillsdale College with a degree in history and political science. His wife, a Canadian, graduated from Hillsdale two years later with a degree in sociology and education.

THIS IS A RARE combination and a far cry from a shop that specializes in cheese and wine, but the Jallads are making a success of it.

"Ahmad always liked cooking," said Mrs. Jallad, "and made all the salads for his mother when he was home. With that start he was able to get interested in special foods.

"At school I had living quarters where I could prepare food and did a lot of preparing meals. This way I also got the experience of special foods.

THE UNLIKELY transition from garages to cheese was explained by

"Before we could get together my husband, who is an account manager for General Mills, and I decided we'd try it. And here we are.'

The Jallads put their idea to work in the Northville Square where they held forth for three years. And even though the Square was not too much of a success they built up a clientele.

"We need more room and a better location," Mrs. Jallad said. "So, when this store became available we took

PACTS list biggest issues facing schools

Growth planning, student transportation, and school calendar are among the greatest concerns listed by PACTS groups throughout the Plymouth-Canton school district.

Other long range issues identifed by PACTS (parents, administrators, citizens, teachers and students) included grading, class size, district finances, and what and how students are taught

The complete list of issues will be turned over to the PACTS assemble Feb. 1 for condensing and polishing. The result will be submitted in a written report to the school board this

"We think these PACTS groups offer people complete involvement in longrange planning," said Florence Beier, community relations director for the district. "It lets them decide what to do with issues in regards to education in this community

FORMED EARLY last fall, the PACTS groups were charged with identifying issues the school district has to face in the future.

Each school building in the district has its own PACTS The PACTS assembly will be comprised o a representative from each group. According to Beier, the groups provide a channel for exchange of information and opinions among everyone involved in education. "These are not just 'front' groups aimed at getting a millage passed.

she said. "They were formed to take a hard look at problems in the school PACTS membership is on a voluntary basis, and all residents of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are eligible to participate.

call on those businesses that we've had no contact with before. Face it, we're 'new business' oriented. Our objective is to add new business. That ties in with why we're here," Oppat said.

Lasy year, working from Detroit, the group built up a $30 million loan portfolio in western Wayne County. This year, after relocating, hopes are high for more business.

"I'd be very disappointed," Oppat said, "if we only do $30 million (worth of business) this year.

He said he expected that the group would do at least 15 per cent more business this year—$34.5 million. He estimated that in addition to regular DB&T commercial borrowers, the group would have to attract 15 to 20 new loans to reach that objective.

That number may seem small in

RONALD OPPAT New business oriented

We Repeat:

comparison to the 900 western Wayne commercial establishments with annual sales of more than $1 million.

Most, however, are already served by other banks. Detroit. Bank and Trust, according to Oppat, serves no more than 180 of those businesses.

It means that the Wayne County operation is in-direct competion with every other bank in the area. "Every bank you can think of does the same thing we're doing," Oppat said.

"We feel we're more imaginative and able to look at a company's borrowing needs and provide a loan package to help it meet those needs.

Oppat may feel that DB&T is "more imaginative" but he also adds there really is little which separates his bank's services from those of any

"Eight of every 10 businesses have very fine relationships with their banks. Most banks are doing a pretty good job," Oppat said.

It is in the case of the remaining 20 per cent that the loan group hopes to make its gains.

"I might be able to see something which could be done better. Instead of short-term loans, maybe it would be better if they went to long-term loans. Or maybe the relationship has been going along smoothly for years, but the bank is taking the customer for granted.

Oppat acknowledged that DB&T's only competitive edge is an intangible one, one that any other bank in the area can claim-attitude.

"Our dollars are as green as any bank's," Oppat said. "And there are few variances in interest rates from one bank to another," he added.

"We make a real effort to assist the people. We become part of their corporate plan. We're included in discussions with management.

Plymouth Township OKs

The Plymouth Township Board of Trustees is planning to return some $12,000 to residents who trustees believe were improperly billed by the Wayne County Drain Commission.

By a vote of 5-2 Tuesday, the board agreed to refund 8112 per cent of $15,000 billed to individual township residents early last fall. Deputy Clerk Mary Ellen Kenyon and Treasurer Joseph West voted against the refund.

When the bills were first sent out to Plymouth and Plymouth Township residents, officials of the two municipalities were not sure what they were

The best guess was that they were to pay for preliminary design expenses for engineering improvements to the Tonquish Creek drain. The township board had petitioned the county to correct flooding along that drain in 1971.

For the first month after the billings, attempts by township officials to get definite answers from Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood were unsuccessful

"I'M STILL NOT sure what these bills are all about," said Supervisor Thomas Notebaert late in November. "You know how vague the county can be on some of these issues. Since then, however, several meetings between county and township have yielded some more concrete information. In discussion at Tuesday's board meeting, it came out that the county had done no engineer ing plans but was billing taxpayers for phone calls and meetings.

Trustee Richard Gornick argued that it was unfair to expect the residents to absorb the cost of the county bureaucracy, maintaining that because the board requested the drain improvements, the money to pay the cots should come from township funds

West, however, felt that the mechanics of making individual payments to an unknown number of people would be to cumbersome for his office to

"We can't stop everything and issue checks," he told the board members. "There might be as many as 11,000 of

Mrs. Kenyon wanted to know where the money for the refunds would come from because the residents were sending their payments directly to the

"It's a legitimate expense of the township," answered Gornick The money can come from the general

Board sentiment favored Gornick position, and after more discussion the vote went in favor of making the refunds. No date for sending out the checks was set.

Several road improvements for the Plymouth-Canton area are among those included in a proposed $27.6 milhon road construction and resurfacing program recently approved for 1978-79 by the Wayne County Road Commis-

Approved were improvements of Edward Hines Drive, widening of Haggerty Road, and widening of the intersection of Main and Mill.

JOSEPH M. HERRON, acting chairman of the road commission, said a proposed $6 million bond issue coupled with federal funds and limited local participation will permit completion of an estimated 55 road projects on a countywide basis

All but 16 of the projects are proposed for the out-county areas, particularly in the rapidly developing western portions of Wayne County.

While a program totaling more than $27 million is certainly a major effort," said Road Commission Chairman Michael Berry, of Plymouth, "the Wayne County Road Commission, as are all other county road commissions. is vitally concerned that additional revenues are found and forthcomingthe sooner the better if we are to continue doing our job

The $6 million bond issue, once approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, will generate almost $22 million in federal aid and includes limited cost participation by some local communities. City of Plymouth, for instance, is participating in the cost for widening Main-Mill intersection.

Mideast crisis is class topic

The Arab-Israeli conflict, why it is so intractable, and why so difficult to resolve, forms the focus of "Problems in International Politics," a University of Michigan graduate credit course beginning Jan. 19 in Detroit. The two-credit course is the first political science course to be scheduled in over five years at the U-M Detroit Center, located at Woodward and Warren Federal aid generally is on a 70-30 basis, with the road commission's and local shares derived from gas and weight taxes, bonds or local funds.

AMONG THE PROJECTS proposed for Plymouth, Plymouth Township,

Canton and nearby communities are: · A major improvement of Hines Drive which winds nearly 19 miles through eight communities from Dearborn to Northville. The road commission plans to widen the existing pavement by four feet and pave eight-foot asphalt shoulders along the drive. The project will cost slightly more than $1 million.

•In Canton, plans include the construction of five lanes of pavement on Haggerty between Ford and Cherry Hill, costing $1 million. That stretch of road is now gravel. The county also plans to replace the Ridge Road bridge at Fellows Creek at a cost of about $75,400.

Other Canton projects include widening the bridge on Lotz at Fellows Creek for $86,000; replacement of larger culvert and widening of shoulders on Lotz at the Barker drain. $23,000; paving of Haggerty Road at Ford Road, enclose drainage, $676,000; and widening of Ridge Road at Lower Rouge bridge, cost of $92,500

•In Plymouth, Lilley Road at two primary intersections-Ann Arbor Trail and Main-will be reconstructed and widened with both projects costing about $807,600.

Sheldon Road from Joy to Ann Arbor Trail, a project shared with Plymouth Township, will have five lanes reconstructed at an estimated cost of $1.9 million.

Also in Plymouth Township, Beck Road (now gravel) would be paved and widened, including a five-lane turning intersection and reconstruction of a railroad crossing between Five Mile and North Territorial Road at estimated cost of $1.1 million

Nearby proposed projects in Livonia include reconstruction and widening of Six Mile, I-96 to Levan, $1.6 million: paving and widening of Haggerty from Five to Six Mile, $1.3 million; paving and widening Haggerty, from Seven Mile to one-half mile north, project shared by Northville Township.

Wire jocks for science, says auto crash expert Athletes may provide a handy

means of testing some effects of automobile crashes, says a University of Michigan scientist

According to John W. Melvin of the U-M Highway Safety Research Institute (HSRI), it may soon be feasible to rig football players, boxers, and other athletes with instruments to measure the head impacts and injuries that they sustain in their sports.

"Since head injuries are the leading cause of death in auto accidents, we want to know as much as we can about how they occur-what type of impact causes what type of injury-and how to prevent them," Melvin says.

'Ideally, we'd like to test injuries in a laboratory situation. But right now, there is no totally adequate surrogate for the real thing—the human in serious and severe crashes.

He adds that, although HSRI has developed a dummy that is more lifelike than the present standard model, dummies are still not good enough substitutes for humans in many injury studies. And as for using human volunteers, the limitations are obvious.

Drink juice hot

A warming idea for a chilly day is a mug of hot vegetable juice topped with dairy fresh sour cream.

"You could get information on the performance of restraint systems and the dynamic response of the living human body at mild levels of crash severity," Melvin notes. "Human volunteer tests are very useful for studying the effects of muscles on how the body moves in a crash. "But of course, it is not possible to study human volunteer responses at crash severities that produce significant injuries-and we need to match up impact types and levels with injuries they produce.

So one answer may be sports activities that provide a ready-made supply of human subjects in injury-producting

"Particularly in boxing and contact sports such as football, it's fairly common for someone to go out and get injured," Melvin observes.

Jaycees can be progressive force

Next week (Jan. 15-21) marks the first annual official commemoration of Jaycee Week in the State of Michigan. As proclamations go, it takes its place along with Michigan Potato Week.

But beyond the administrative hoopla, locally we have a lot to be proud of in the Canton Jaycees chapter. Outside of the local Lions chapter, the Canton Jaycees are probably the longest established service group operating in the township.

But more significantly, its leadership has demonstrated a progressive direction by supporting and initiating programs such as the library fund and the nature center that benefit all the people of the community. This club is not just a meeting place for an elite coterie.

Although we find fault with the Jaycees international policy of subjecting women to an auxiliary role and wince at its choice of Johannesburg, South Africa as the site for its annual international convention, the local Jaycees chapter has done much to recognize all the community's residents. That means the men on the assembly line, women, and blacks, as well as successful young businessmen on the move.

Everyone will be able to use the library and the nature center. And a young woman was the first recipient of the Jaycees scholarship program which started last year.

Most recently the Jaycees have come to the forefront of the township's drive to drum up donations for a local library. They responded to a request from former Jaycee Canton Supervisor Harold

And, next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., Jaycees will show off their hairy legs on the basketball court in a benefit game against radio station WDRQ to raise money for the library fund.

The benefit game will be at Plymouth's Central Middle School. Tickets are $1 each and may be obtained at the offices of the four Plymouth-Canton middle schools, Rick's TV or Canton Sports.

Past achievements of the Jaycees are the club's annual fair which brings a sense of community to a township that many people feel lacks an identity. The Jaycees have won deserving praise for the nature trail they built at Gallimore Elementary which is maintained with the cooperation of the school district. Another nature trail at Hulsing Elementary will be designed this spring; planned after the Jaycees noted the excellent response and use of the first nature spot Coming up on Feb. 17, the Jaycettes (a distasteful name) will sponsor an art fair at the Canton Recreation Center. Half of the proceeds of the event are earmarked for the scholarship fund. Jaycee Fred Berger says the club plans to offer two college scholarships, instead of one, this year.

So, if you get an invitation from the Jaycees this week inviting you to a cocktail party tomorrow at 6.30 p.m. in the recreation center, don't chuck it into the can with a laugh. Give it a bit of reflection and then decide. If you're interested and involved, (and a man), you could make the club a positive force in the community.

Milestone for Edison

A modest announcement from Detroit Edison Co. informs us that on Jan. 17 the electric utility will observe its 75th anniversary of corporate life by serving light refreshments to customers in its 35 local offices in southeast Michigan.

Commercial electric service in these parts began in 1878 by a tiny firm that used the steam boilers in the Detroit Free Press basement. For decades there was stiff competition between coal oil, gas, are lights and Edison-style 110-volt illumination. Competition was nasty, there were political games with the public lighting contract, there were lawsuits over rights-of-way and towers.

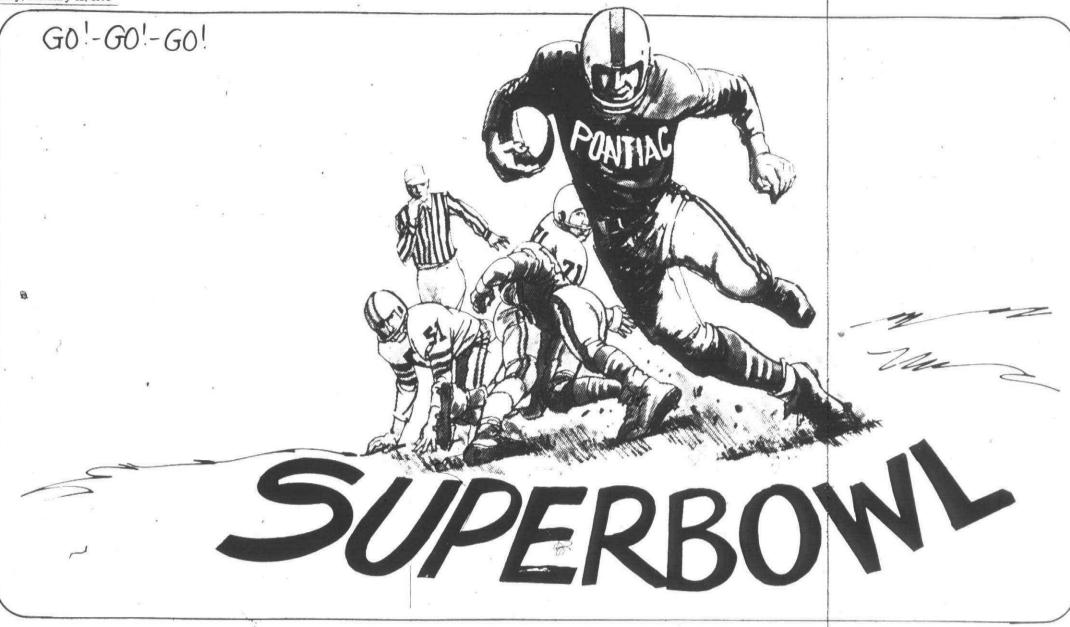

Gradually, Alex Dow and the Edison Illuminating Co.—founded in 1886 by a dry goods merchant, a brewer, a lumberman and the Evening News publisher—absorbed the others, and in 1903 Detroit Edison Co. was born

Detroit Edison became a multi-city, multicounty, regional utility long before politicians ever dreamed of delivering public services on a regional basis. One wonders what kind of industrial development southeast Michigan might have had without the visionary planning of the chaps who provide electric power.

That Detroit Edison brought integrity to its industry was due in large part to Alex Dow, a man who found "creative satisfaction" in business. His philosophy: "The company was not a soulless business corporation, dedicated to efficient operation of which might also become a thing of beauty. Detroit Edison's history has not been without controversy, but one reading the history gets the impression that the firm was run by a high-class

So the company is 75, eh? Well, congratulations!

Play Super Bowl where the fans are

Many millions of persons will gather around their television sets next Sunday to see Super Bowl XII. the world series of professional football.

Only a small percentage of fans who have supported the National Football League this year by buying season tickets to their favorite, team's games will be in attendance in New Orleans, yet they will probably boost the economy of that city by $80-$100 million.

Last year, when it was held in Pasadena, it boosted Los Angeles' economy by more than $125 million in the five days of Super Bowl activities.

Most of this money is brought in from other areas because the home teams usually gets only 20,000 of the 75,000 tickets sold.

Each participating team gets 15,000 tickets, and each team in the league gets about 1.000 tickets.

There were extra tickets last year because the Rose Bowl holds more than 100,000 persons

It has been played mostly in Miami, but has also visited Houston as well as New Orleans and southern California.

The Super Bowl is a plum to the economy of any city it visits, particularly because it comes in January, traditionally a lackluster month

WHY, IF IT is such a plum, should it be held continually in areas that are not the strongest supporters of the NFL?

The thing that makes pro football profitable is television revenue. Most of this comes from our Detroit-based automobile companies.

Eighty million people live within 600 miles of the Pontiac Silverdome, and nine NFL football franchises are within this radius Football flans don't say. "We will only support you if you play your games in total sunshine.

Isn't it time we bring this great activity back to the fans at least once every 10 years?

Why the builder must hike his prices

They don't gripe as much as farmers-no one moans as much as farmers—but the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan can paint a pretty bleak picture of why the price you pay for a new house must go up, up, up in perpetuity.

No matter what factor in the thousands of things that make up the single-family detached dwelling units is under discussion, the price is going up, and the cost will be passed onto the buyer.

Yet there is an air of almost boyish optimism among the builders. Looking at metropolitan Detroit's building history since World War II, they find folks continue to shop for new housing even when the average price drifts from $7,000 to $10,000 to $20,000 to $50,000.

The topic came up when the builders association leaders popped for lunch the other day.

"LABOR CONTRACTS come up in June." said Donald Van Every, of Val Allen Builders of Southfield, current association president. "That will add $3.500 to a $50,000 house.

There was some disagreement among the group whether a seven per cent pay hike would mean a seven per cent hike in the price of a house for the simple reason that direct labor costs are only 20 per cent of the total cost.

But other costs will rise the same amount. Van Every said, citing insulation, which rose three times in a recent month.

Last year the weather was a factor. Despite the severe cold, people put in purchase orders in January through March, but the builders couldn't get a shovel into the frozen ground until April.

"The communities' bureaucracy retards construction 45 days," said Frank Winton, vice-president of the association. He cited requirements that new streets "cure" for a month before models can be shown. The consensus was that, whereas you used to be able to put up a house in 90 days, today it takes closer to six or seven months because of all the local building codes.

Norman Long, who has his own Southfield-based firm, put a zinger into "slow-moving building inspectors" afraid for their jobs.

"One of the stinkin'est as far as politics is concerned is Canton Township," he said. Others nodded agreement, but wouldn't say it aloud. I thought the people in Canton will be happy to hear that. For decades I have heard complaints that suburban townships were builder-oriented, and here's Canton with a consumer orientation. Maybe there is such a thing as progress.

Otto Binggeser of Bing Construction Co. cited

Bloomfield Township as having tough inspections and an unnamed "western Oakland County community" where it takes six to eight weeks to get a

"MASONS ARE in short supply." President Van Every went on. Michigan has a short building season, and it's impossible for several months to lay cement. Thus, workers prefer indoor, 12-month factory jobs over bricklaving outdoors for eight months a year

Manny Dembs, of Dembs Building Co., said homebuvers are oversold on brick because of its insulating qualities. A buyer willing to forego brick could knock down the price of his house and reduce construction time from six or seven months

Frank Wihton got onto lot sizes and costs, saying the 60-foot lot has practically disappeared in places like Troy Suburbs are zoning for big lots which raises land costs, which means you have to put up a higger, costlier house to preserve the land-building cost ratio of one to four

One could have walked away depressed at the thought that last year's $46,000 house is this year's $50,000 and next year's $53,500 job But the builders were treating for a fine roast beef lunch at Stouffer's, so things couldn't be all that bad

The Stroller Speaking of careers

BY W. W. EDGAR

The other evening for instance. The Stroller was standing in the vestibule of the church where he was attending the wedding of Johnny Hitter, the young fellow from across the street who used to cut the grass.

As guests began arriving, one of them spotted The Stroller and said, "I want to talk with you after a bit Little did he know what the guest had on his mind. But after the wedding when we gathered for the reception, he spotted The Stroller, and nothing would do but that he sit at our table to talk about sports, present day and past.

That was nothing unusual for most folks who know The Stroller spent almost a half-century following the athletes. So we talked about Ty Cobb, Harry Heilmann, Denny McLain, Al Kaline and many other stars.

Then out of a clear sky he asked: "If you had your life to live over again, what kind of career would you plan for yourself?

THAT WAS A MOST unusual question when he knew that The Stroller had spent more than 50 years pecking and punching a typewriter, to bring some enjoyment to the readers of the daily and semi-weekly prints. Surely if he didn't like it; he would have left the river of printer's ink long ago.

My friend had a sparkle in his eye as he awaited an answer. He was even more surprised when The Stroller replied: "If you had asked that question years ago, I would have told you that I would have liked to become an attorney But once I got a bit of 3. Timidly. The Stroller answered printer's ink in my veins. I wouldn't have chosen any other career. The desire to become an attorney came about under the oddest of circumstances. The Stroller's dad, who died before his son advanced very far in school, always dreamed that some day The Stroller would attend Penn State and become a restaurateur and serve only the finest of seafoods. But the untimely death ruled that out, and The Stroller went to work in the factories.

LATE ONE afternoon when leaving the Mack Motor Co. in Allentown, Paat the close of the shift. The Stroller climbed aboard an open trolley car. It was much like the cable cars in San Francisco or the ones that Detroit now runs on Washington Blvd.

As he was about ready to take a seat, the conductor, mistaking him for someone else, pushed The Stroller who fell backward onto the brick paved street. Blood squirted from his elbow and his clothes were a bit torn, but he got aboard again and finished the ride home.

In the evening his arm stiffened, and his Uncle George urged him to see a lawyer and sue the company. The Stroller was reluctant until Uncle George said. "If you don't sue, you ought to have a stiff arm.

That did it. Downtown we went, and there was a light in lawyer Bill Schneller's office.

When we entered and told him our mission, he sort of smacked his lips and said. There is nothing I would enjoy more than suing that company.

He asked The Stroller to give him all the details and then: "How much dam ages should we sue for?"

'Little people' are real, make literary comeback

"To my amazement, I have heard that there are people who have never seen a gnome. I can't help pitying these people. I am certain there must be something wrong with their eyesight." -Axel Munthe

One of my earliest childhood memories is being wrapped in a blanket and carried to a "special place" on Midsummer's Eve to watch the fairies dance at midnight.

One of my most treasured possessions was a book called "The Water Babies," and was filled with the most delightful illustrations of the "wee folk" you can imagine.

Early in my life, my mother and my Scotch-English grandmother instilled in me a love of fantasy. For this I'll be eternally grateful.

My lifelong romance with Shakespeare is due, in part, to the way he revered fairies, elves and the like.

Anthropologists declare that our myths and legends about such little people are most likely based on the fact that a race of extremely small people, as well as one of virtual giants, did exist in early times.

This certainly could account for all the folk tales handed down to us in which mortals married fairy folk

I used to think about this when I looked at my grandmother-a petite woman who never stood more than four feet 11 inches high, and wore a size three shoe-standing beside my grandfather, who measured six feet three inches in his stocking feet.

As I grew up. I never lost my love for these stories, and for a long time I toured schools and libraries as a teller of such tales.

In recent years, I have discovered whole schools full of children who have heard only the familiar fairy tales and have, instead, been raised on science fiction. I am not opposed to science fiction, but there is room for both.

Speak the word "fairy" in an adult gathering, and you will be met with snickers, snide remarks, and cheap jokes about homosexuals.

Imagine, then, my great joy in the discovery of the three following recent publications.

Trustee Joe Gray argued the school district doesn't belong in the business of supplying free instruments. "A few years ago when the courts ruled we had to provide free supplies and texts. we jumped the gun and decided we had to provide free band instruments also. So we purchased instruments for sixth grade, and then found out we weren't required to. The sixth grade program has continued since then.

"I'd like to see us get out of the business entirely of providing free band instruments. The cost of renting instruments isn't that great for parents. There are very few school districts providing free instruments.

SUPT. JOHN M HOBEN said his main concern was the $42,000 initial outlay required if worn-out instruments are replaced. "I don't know where we'd come up with that kind of money

Trustee Stephen Harper argued that the purpose of charging fees was to generate income to subsidize the program, so the school district wouldn't have to support it from operating

Mrs. Tonda asked: "How much does it cost the district to provide uniforms and equipment for all our athletic teams? And they don't even pay a user fee. I don't think we are doing too much by providing sixth graders band instruments by charging a $20 fee.

"I'm not going to argue' one program against another," answered Gray, "I just think we have no business providing free instruments. We got into it by mistake and should get

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes held Dec. 15, the last day of the first session of the 95th congress.

HOUSE

SOCIAL SECURITY: Adopted, 189 for and 163 against, the conference report on HR 9346, the bill to shore up the financially-sagging Social Security trust fund by means of greatly increased payroll taxes on employees and employers. The measure, approved the same day by the Senate (see vote below), was sent to President Carter for his signature.

Beginning in 1979, the legislation hikes both the payroll tax rate and the wage base subject to Social Security taxation, with middle- and highincome wage earners hardest hit. By 1986, the tax rate on both employees and employers will have risen to 7.15 per cent of the first $40,200 in wages. Now the rate is 5.85 per cent on the SOCIAL SECURITY: Agreed, 178 for and 175 against, to the rule that permitted final consideration of the Social Security bill. Had this move failed, the measure to bolster the Social Security trust fund by increasing payroll taxes probably would have been shelved until the 1978 session of

Rep. John Seiberling (D-Ohio), a supporter, reflected the lukewarm popularity of the measure by saying he would vote for the rule reluctantly.

"... It is a poor way to make tax policy. . . for the Congress to increase this regressive tax before having any clear idea what kinds of cuts it is going to make in the personal income tax to offset the economic drag of the Social Security tax increase.

Rep. John Anderson (R-III.), an opponenet, called it a "fraud" that taxpayers "are being asked to take the bitter now and wait for the vague promises of tax relief to be realized

SOCIAL SECURITY: Adopted, 56 for and 21 against, the conference report on HR 9346, the Social Security Financing Amendments of 1977 (see above votes) Among its many providsions, the legislation eased the "earhings test" that limits the outside income a pensioner can receive without having his Social Security check penalized. Currently the cutoff is $3,000; under this legislation it will rise gradually to $6,000 in 1982 and be eliminated after that year. Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-S.C.), a supporter, said. "If the Senate rejects this reform proposal in order to retain the status quo, it will indicate to all Americans that, while we recognize the urgency of the Social Security problem, we are not willing to take the necessary steps" to solve it.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), an opponent, said "Social Security has failed, and we would be better off in this country if we pledged to every person who has ever paid a dime into the Social Security fund that that money would be returned, and then forget about the whole thing

RACQUETBALL is on the upswing in the Plymouth-Canton area. The response earlier this week to registration for the winter program was almost overwhelming.

Larry Masteller and his crew from the Continuing Education Department of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools were there for sign-ups at 8:30 a.m. The line began to form at 6:50

There are four racquetball courts in the athletic facility for Plymouth Canton High School. The building also has been called Phase III of Plymouth Centennial Educational Park.

The courts are available four hours each week night, nine hours on Saturday and four hours on Sunday. Each slot was filled the morning of registration with 115 persons anxiously awaiting their turn.

There were businessmen who stopped in their way to the office, housewives, and mothers who had to take along their preschoolers.

Assisting Masteller werer Marjorie Britton, Phyllis Coosaia and Mary Lou Nalepka who were surprised at the

'There were only about 35 in line for fall session," said Ms. Britton. "We could use more racquetball courts."

FOR KAREN AND MIKE McCauley, 1977 was a year to be remembered.

Mike teaches social studies at Plymouth Canton High School and coaches the girls basketball team. His team ended the seasn with a 19-0 record in league play and 20-1 after tournament play. McCauley was named Observer coach of the year. The big event occurred on Christmas day when Karen gave birth to twin sons. Patrick Michael weighed six pounds, 10 ounces; Steven Matthew weighed six pounds 15 ounces.

They all are home now, but they had to spend two weeks in the hospital. Karen had a slipped disc.

Karen admitted the timing was perfect. They had Christmas Eve and Christmas morning with their son Marcus, 21/2. They even had Christmas dinner before leaving for the hospital

It would be difficult to top a record like that in 1978.

DOROTHY SHAFFER and Fran Peters had high scores at last week's party bridge game in the Plymouth Cultural Center

DAVID REGAL, a senior at Plymouth Canton High School, received a special commendation at Monday night's school board meeting. The commendation read:

"The Board of Education of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools would like to express its appreciation to David Regal for his excellent services in handling the sound system for board meetings for the last 11/2 years.

"While a student at Centennial Educational Park, David has completed 31/2 years of electronic classes with a grade of A. He has operated the sound and lighting of the auditoriums in both Salem and Canton high schools.

"Students trained and supervised by James Kaiser, Canton High School electronics teacher, demonstrate the high quality of their instruction by their technical skill and responsible attitudes.

"On this occasion of his last meeting with the board of education before graduation, the board wished David Regal success in his chosen career in

The card parties will be Jan. 25 and reservations are $2 per person. Call Elise Murphy, 455-1462, or Marianne Garber, 455-7119, for assignment of place and time.

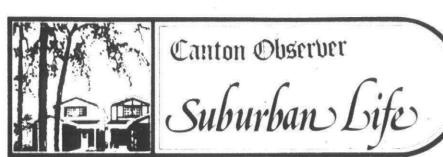

SINGLES 25 and UP Club will meet for dining and dancing from 9 p.m. to midnight Jan. 17.

The Tuesday Night Singles will meet in the American Legion Hall, Main Street, Ann Arbor to dance to the music of Frank Venice.

THERE WILL BE an old home week atmosphere about the Jan. 29 Family Concert of the Plymouth Symphony

Beth and Gerry Fischer will be in town for the concert. When the Fischers lived in Plymouth, they were strong supporters of the symphony orchestra and their sons were members of the orchestra. When their daughter-in-law, Kathy Fischer, called to reserve tickets for the concert, she said, "They particularly want to hear Skip Larson." Art Larson's trumpet solo will be the first movement of Hummel's concerto.

Larry Janes of the Gourmet Gallerie was the inspiration for the bacteriachasing foray. Janes was a last-minute replacement as guest speaker at the club's annual luncheon in the Round Table Club. The women expected to hear about table arrangements made with fruits and vegetables. When the scheduled speaker had to be excused because of a problem furnace in his home, Janes took over.

Janes was alone in his shop and rather than just lock the door, club members Diane Mallow and Marge Grybas held the fort until a regular salesperson arrived. When they returned to the meeting, they admitted they had been their own best custom-

Stainless steel keeps its shining finish but doesn't stay sharp as long as the carbon, said Janes. It also takes longer to sharpen.

When buying a knife, make sure the metal part extends the full length of the handle, he advised.

"A good paring knife should do just about everything," he said. He displayed French knives, bread knives and cleavers, and described the proper use of each. He recommended slicing and chopping vegetables from the inside (meat side) toward the skin. The old wood chopping block is illegal in most restaurants, said Janes. Those who have blocks or boards in their kitchens should clean them regularly.

HE SUGGESTED a good rubbing with household bleach followed by a scraping. The board should be rubbed with baking soda or lemon juice to sweeten the odor. When dry, it should be rubbed with a cooking oil to seal the

A brisk rubbing with kosher salt will clean the surface and can be substituted for the bleach treatment.

Janes said the newest thing in chopping blocks is the white plexiglass or marble-like polyethylene square. These materials have a resilience which does not dill knives or cleavers. "Do not use the clear lucite." he said. 'It has no give and will take the edge off your knife.

Behavior seminar coming to Madonna

A human behavior and leadership seminar will be offered by Madonna College in Livonia for seven Tuesdays, beginning Jan. 10 under the leadership of Paul Rakow, president of Options Unlimited, Inc.

The course is designed for persons returning to the job market or changing careers. It is aimed at helping participants identify their predominant leadership style, learn how to coach and counsel, improve performance and resolve conflict situations, establish personal development plans and make effective use of time.

Its hours are 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and it carries two semester hour credits, costing $20 in addition to tuition for credit and $25 if taken non-credit.

Another seminar to be led by Rakow is Adventures in Attitudes, which will involves three weekends, Jan. 21-22, Feb. 4-5 and Feb. 18-19. Sessions running 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. will offer exercises designed to strengthen and update skills of goal setting, leadership, self-management, communications, human relations, achievement and understanding.

This course is for three semester hours and costs $35 plus tuition for credit and $65 on non-credit.

Registration information for the seminars is available from the business administration department or admissions office of Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Friday could be Knock on wood! Rape defense is topic your lucky day

By BETH SAVAGE

Do you have a lucky charm, read your horoscope daily, wish on falling stars, avoid black cats? Even non-believers have their doubts about Friday the 13th. If you have no protection from evil spirits already, find a lucky charm or make a quick wish on a star. Friday happens to be Jan. 13. Many people have superstitions about Friday the 13th and don't really know why. According to Collier's Encyclopedia, this day was marked taboo when Christ was crucified on a Friday, the 13th of the month. Since then, people have believed that nothing good could happen on this day. Superstitions have been around since the beginning of man. Two hundred years ago, belief in spooks, demons, witches and supernatural monsters was not PEOPLE today entrust their wealth to stargazers and their health to witch doctors, much like their ancestors. Even in modern civilization with its express elevators, telephones, and video games for the color TVs, the 13th floor and room number is omitted from hotels for the guests' sake.

Christianity provides the roots for many superstitions, like Friday the 13th, as well as the so-called bad luck of spilling salt. This started as a superstition when Judas spilled the salt at the last supper. Later, it was said that throwing the spilled salt over your left shoulder will counteract the spell.

Superstitions change with time, and are actually reinterpreted after a while. Throwing rice at a newlywed couple once was supposed to promote fertility but now it just adds to the excitement of the wedding

Christianity is not the only stem of superstitions.

Many deal with birth, marriage and death. Generalizations are made by people and are later taken as truth. Is Monday's child fair of face, Tuesday's child full of grace, Wednesday's merry and glad, Thursday's sorry and sad, Friday's loving and giving or does Saturday's work hard for a living?

Most children fit all of these categories, so the saying can be taken as truth, with a grain or two of salt, naturally.

DO YOU REALIZE how rich you would be if every time your palm itched, money came in, how many ship wrecks there would be if women were really bad luck, how many old maids would be about if eating the last cookie in the jar really meant spinsterhood, how many times you died for each time a bird flew by your window or a dog howled?

Children may knock on wood, cross their fingers, avoid stepping on sidewalk cracks, wish on wish bones and never be without their rabbit's foot and not even realize what superstition is. These beliefs most likely began on your first birthday when a crowd coaxed you to make a wish and blow out the candle.

Have you wondered why people kiss under the mistletoe at Christmas? Have you had any unlucky accidents from walking under a ladder, or were you too afraid to take the risk? How would you know if the seven years after breaking a mirror were bad or how much better they would have been? Lists go on and

If you believe, keep those favorite numbers, precious stones, amulets and charms. Superstitions aren't necessarily false. They can be used as social reinforcement and give one self confidence.

Cross your fingers. Who knows? It all might be

Every four years the theme is picked up and re-orchestrated. The New Deal, Fair Deal, New Frontier, Great Society were variations on the theme as was "a chicken in every pot—a car in every garage." And in the federal system it's always a question of fitting 12 pounds of government programming into eight pounds of delivery com-

If local units of government had a better record of responsiveness, I would support a return to local programming. But alas their record is as bad as the federal bureaucracy. I can understand the complexity of communicating with an organization of 60,000 employees. But why should it be just as difficult to deal with one that has only six, eight or 60?

THE ANSWER to that lies in the organizational dynamics of bureaucracies are not all governmental. There are many in the private sector as well. Have you ever tried to square away the difference between the monthly bill from your favorite department store and your own records? Then you know what I mean.

The fundamental problem with bureaucracies is that they thrive on complexity. Every new situation or deviation from established procedure becomes one of major magnitude and thus requires "input" from a host of people. Input means consultation, advice, counsel, data collection, analysis, evaluation, re-evaluation, meet-kind of an environment. The primary objective in a bureaucracy is never to resolve any issue, make any decision or complete any gets done. A bureaucracy is a virtual paradise for a flyspecker or bean-counter. They self-actualize in that project until there is absolute certainty about the "facts." But since life is filled with few absolutes other than death and taxation, nothing is likely to change or improve in a bureaucracy, certainly not its is always more work to do than workers to do it.

The ideal bureaucracy starts out with a backlog and works hard to build it up from there on because there is employment security in a backlog. "Never Catch Up" would be a reasonable slogan for a bureaucracy. Catching up could destroy the illusion of

In fact the interesting thing about building a backlog is that over time the people who face it daily become fatigued at its mere sight and are then in no condition to do anything about it except complain about all the work they have yet to do. It's as though they are saying, "Since we can't do it all, we won't do any.

So you see the true bureaucrat becomes a victim of his own system of management. His last utterance before retirement is, "If only they had given me enough manpower, money and machinery, I could have done the

The legacy of Lawton

There are a number reasons why George Lawton will be missed on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

One of the most obvious is experience. With 712 years experience on the board, Lawton had become the senior trustee. And that experience is a factor behind most of the other rea-

As an example, Lawton had a good grasp of parliamentary procedure and knew how to use it-to his advantage. at times, and at other times to the advantage of the board. This kind of knowledge comes only with expe-

Another reason, also cited by board president Tom Yack, is Lawton's almost uncanny ability to effect a compromise. Many times I've watched trustees become embroiled in a hot debate over a specific issue. George, unless he was personally concerned about the issue at hand, would quietly sit back in his chair and absorb the arguments. When all seemed hopelessly lost, George would lean toward the microphone and offer a substitute motion or amendment which would be satisfactory to the majority

This ability to generate a compromise also came from experience.

ANY ATTEMPT TO assess Lawton as a trustee must be done carefully, though, because you cannot easily affix a label on him.

It would especially be hard to label George if you only attended school board meetings occasionally. If you were at a budget meeting, for instance, you'd leave with the conclusion Lawton was a conservative. If you were at another board meeting.

and heard Lawton debate curriculum, you'd leave convinced he was a lib-

And that's basically what Lawton was-conservative on financial matters and liberal on curriculum. Add to that another label-moderate on labor

This description doesn't mean that Lawton balked at spending money on programs which educationally benefited students. A couple of decades ago America had a president who was fiscally conservative but "liberal" on "people programs"—which meant he'd approve a program but not the money to implement it. George wasn't that way at all. If a program was sound, Lawton would insist it be properly funded and would fight to find the

WHEN YOU GET AWAY from the temptation of trying to label Lawton. there is one trait which stands out.

George Lawton is a man who is very sensitive toward people and a great believer in human rights. To George, people have value because they are human, not because they possess material wealth or are endowed with social power.

Lawton philosophically believes humanity is the greatest resource our nation has. He believes that every person has a worth which cannot be measured by dollars, or any other constant standard of measure. And the most important challenge in life for Lawton is to make sure each individual reaches his maximum self-worth. That's why education is so important to Lawton-because it's the best method we have to help young people discover their self worth as individ-

This philosophy is best visualized by Lawton himself. At school board meetings: he often would show up with demin slacks and a flannel shirt. And he dresses the same way at work in his office as manager of the Plymouth Federal Community Credit Union., George dresses to be comfortable—not to make an impression

To Lawton, a person does not possess value because of fine clothes or snappy appearance, but because of what that person is-value is measured by what a person says, feels. stands for, and by the basic goodness of the individual. George has close friends who are wealthy, but he also has close friends who spend 40 hours a week on an assembly line. In choosing friends, wealth or material possessions just don't matter to George.

Those who know George Lawton well describe him as the Abe Lincoln. of Plymouth. That may be a bit much-certainly George would laugh at such a suggestion. But the Lincoln label may come closest to answering why Lawton will be missed on the school board, because the best descriptions of him as a person are quiet, modest, unpretenious, astute, sensitive to people, aware of human value, and; dedicated to human rights.

And that's not the usual description which would be given for an individual who manages an institution which circulates millions of dollars annually That's because George knows the real value and purpose of money - to meet * human needs. That's why he could be fiscally conservative, and in reality." also be liberal on people programs.

Yes, Lawton will be missed on the school board. But he'll still be in town, ** so we needn't say goodbye. Good luck.

By E.J. McCLENDON

(Guest columnist Dr. E.J. McClendon of Plymouth Township heads the department of public health education at the University of Michigan. McClendon is a former member of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.)

A recent article datelined Atlanta and distributed nationally by United Press International cited statistics and opinions of federal health experts that would lead the reader to believe a turning point has been reached in the struggle to overcome the problem of venereal disease.

I must take issue with these claims, for several reasons.

Eirst, the federal war against venereal disease is actually a war against only two of the more than 15 serious infections which are sexually transmissible. These two infections are syphylis and gonorrhea

But what of the others, such as genital herpes, nongonococcal urethritis. group B streptococcal disease and tricriomoniasis?

In fact, no hard data exists to support a contention that the incidence of these diseases is subsiding. On the contrary, indications are that these infections still prevail at epidemic

SECOND, THE STATISTICS cited on syphilis and gonorrhea represent orty the reported incidence of these

The statistics only include cases that are reported to public health departments. A decrease in reported incidence could result from increased resistance on the part of private medical care providers to notify public health authorities of the cases they see, Reported cases may indicate nothing about the number of infected persons who escape detection.

Third, and most importantly, data is influenced by the extent of the casefinding and screening efforts. If gonorrhea screening is reduced due to cutbacks in funding, fewer diagnoses will be made and the number of reported cases will decrease.

( The national gonorrhea screening program during the period cited in the UPI news story was cut back by more than 550,000 tests in non-VD clinics. Historically, these sites found 2.7 per cent of their screening tests to be positive for gonorrhea. Had this program been maintained, it is possible an additional 15,000 cases would be detected.

FINALLY, the gonorrhea statistics cited refer mainly to early and generally uncomplicated stages of the

The greatest cause for concern is the serious, complicated and sometimes fatal pathology which results from gonorrhea infection.

Disregarding the complications factor, the claim that the war against gonorrhea is being won fosters a false sense of security. The venereal disease epidemic is a problem too far-reaching and dangerous to be toyed with in a

New tax act helps elderly

Home owners 65 and older who sold their principal residence in 1977 stand to gain added relief at income tax time, according to the Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors (WWOCBR)

Until this year, home sellers in this age group paid a capital gains tax on any adjusted sales price over $20,000. The tax bill enacted by congress last year raised this tax-free amount to

The adjusted sales price is arrived at by deducting any costs involved in fixing the home up for sale and the actual selling expenses, such as the agent's commission.

The move is especially important, says WWOCBR, because inflation over the past few years has created substantial appreciation of values for even modest dwellings. Older owners, who had their homes for several years, found that the difference between their initial cost and the inflated selling price often meant a large share of the profit going for taxes, unless the money was reinvested in another home.

To avoid misuse of the exemption, certain requirements must be met by sellers. First, the taxpayer must have attained the age of 65 before the date of the sale. The property also must have been owned and used by the taxpayer at lest five of the last eight years prior to the sale.

A joint return must be filed if the property is owned jointly by husband and wife for the full amount to qualify. However, in the case of a joint return only one spouse must meet the age 65 requirement.

If the requirements are met and the adjusted sales price is over $35,000, the taxpayer obtains a proportionate tax advantage. For example, if the adjusted sales price was $40,000, the taxpayer is entitled to a 35,000/40,000, or 871/2 per cent reduction in capital gains realized from the residence sale.

WWOCBR cautions that the rule is available only once in a lifetime. If one of the partners was not 65 but filed on the joint tax return, he or she cannot claim another exemption at a future date.

It is almost unbelievable the types of questions a fellow in the journalism profession is asked-and in the most unusual places. The other evening, for instance. The

Stroller was standing in the vestibule of the church where he was attending the wedding of Johnny Hitter, the young fellow from across the street who used to cut the grass

As guests began arriving, one of them spotted The Stroller and said, "I want to talk with you after a bit." Little did he know what the guest had on his mind. But after the wedding when we gathered for the reception, he spotted The Stroller, and nothing would do but that he sit at our table to talk about sports, present day and

That was nothing unusual for most folks who know The Stroller spent almost a half-century following the athletes. So we talked about Ty Cobb. Harry Heilmann, Denny McLain, Al Kaline and many other stars.

Then out of a clear sky he asked: "If you had your life to live over again, what kind of career would you plan for yourself?"

THAT WAS A MOST unusual question when he knew that The Stroller had spent more than 50 years pecking and punching a typewriter, to bring some enjoyment to the readers of the daily and semi-weekly prints. Surely if he didn't like it, he would have left the river of printer's ink long ago.

My friend had a sparkle in his eye as he awaited an answer. He was even more surprised when The Stroller replied: "If you had asked that question years ago, I would have told you that I would have liked to become an attorney. But once I got a bit of printer's ink in my veins. I wouldn't have, chosen any other career." The desire to become an attorney came about under the oddest of circumstances. Speaking of careers

LATE ONE afternoon when leaving the Mack Motor Co. in Allentown, Pa. at the close of the shift. The Stroller climbed aboard an open trolley car. It was much like the cable cars in San Francisco or the ones that Detroit now runs on Washington Blvd.

As he was about ready to take a seat, the conductor, mistaking him for someone else, pushed The Stroller, who fell backward onto the brick paved street. Blood squirted from his elbow and his clothes were a bit torn, but he got aboard again and finished the ride home.

In the evening his arm stiffened, and company wanted to settle. his Uncle George urged him to see a lawyer and sue the company. The Stroller was reluctant until Uncle George said, "If you don't sue, you ought to have a stiff arm.

That did it. Downtown we went, and there was a light in Lawyer Bill Schneller's office.

When we entered and told him our mission, he sort of smacked his lips and said, "There is nothing I would enjoy more than suing that company. He asked The Stroller to give him all the details and then: "How much dam-

But that was before he took his first' > steps along the river of printer's ink.

Paper Bag plays for the kids

The Paper Bag Players, described as "the barometer of excellence in children's theater" by the New York Daily News, has entertained children all over the world for 19 years

In its first Detroit engagement, it will give four performances at the Music Hall Center at 2 and 4 p.m. Jan. 14-15. It comes to Detroit after a twoweek engagement at New York's Lincoln Center.

Directed by Judith Martin, the Paper Bag Players is a small company of artists who have created 11 original plays with music that are funny, innovative and intelligent. Some stories are told in brief, cartoonlike sketches; some through movement, dance or song.

For example, a bar of soap tries to persuade a little boy to take a bath, a farm girl milks a cardboard cow and out comes a milk carton, a family gets involved in a frantic search for a highly advertisted dream hamburger.

WRAPPING PAPER, packing boxes, newspapers, bed sheets and, of course, paper bags are used to create anything from a furnished apartment to a super highway

"Everybody, Everybody" is the play the Bags have selected to stage at the Music Hall Center, and each performance will last one hour. Tickets can be bought at the Music Hall box office. 350 Madison Ave., Monday-Saturday from noon to 6 p.m.

Tickets also can be bought by calling 963-7680 and using a Visa. Master Charge or Hudson's credit card number. Arrangements for groups can be made by calling Joan Heidt at 963-7622

Morris, the lightskinned brother, has returned to Korsten, South Africa, to live with his dark-skinned brother. Zach. Morrie has been teaching Zach to think things out, to practice personal hygiene, and to save for the future so they can buy a farm in the remote center of Africa.

But Zach hungers for old ways. He misses his Friday nights, with drink, music and women.

MORRIE SUGGESTS that Zach select a penpal as a substitute. Reluctantly Zach agrees. He brings home a paper and selects Ethel Lange from Oudtshoorn. Ethel

Mischa plays Sergei

By TIM RICHARD

"This one is brighter and has a better bass. If I were playing Tchaikovsky. I would use this one," said pianist Mischa Kottler as he examined Steinways in the back room of the Hammell Music store in Livonia.

But this one has the quality," said Kottler as he rang out the eight opening chords of Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto No. 2 on a second instrument, and then shifted to the theme in the first movement that used to be a radio program signature.

Kottler should know how the composer (1873-1943) would want it. As a youth. Kottler received some career inspiration and tips on playing the second concerto from Sergei Rachmaninoff himself

How well Kottler learned the lessons will become apparent to Oakway Symphony Orchestra fans at 8 p.m. Saturday in the auditorium of Harrison High School, Twelve Mile east of Middle Belt in Farmington Hills. With Francesco DiBlasi conducting, they will perform the Russian's most famous work as the feature of the fourth concert of the season.

"I MET Rachmaninoff when I was about 14," said Kottler, who had come to the United States from his native Kiev, Russia. "I was accompanist for Leopold Auer (the violinist who was later the mentor of Jascha Heifetz). Auer said I shouldn't be an accompanist, and he made an appointment for me to meet Rachmaninoff.

Oakway conductor Francesco DiBlasi discusses a concertmaster Peruz Zerounian and assistant Joan

"I said, 'Oh, my God! "Rachmaninoff said he wouldn't teach me, but he advised me to go back to Europe and study.

Kottler turned to the piano and ran through an ascending portion of the first movement. "You know this part? He said, 'Not so loud.' I said, 'But it's marked fortissimo.

He said, 'I know, but you're not going to be heard because the orchestra is too loud and too important at this point. Save your energy for when you really need it.

"From that," said Kottler, "I learned a great deal.

HE PICKED UP the score. "Rachmaninoff had been depressed at the failure of his second symphony. He went to a psychiatrist, and the psychiatrist cured him. He would repeat, You will write a great concerto.

"See here. Rachmaninoff dedicated it to the doctor-Nikolai Dahl. Dahlthat's not a Russian name. Well, he (Rachmaninoff) was at Leipzig for a Later Kottler would study in Vienna with Emil von Sauer, a major pupil of the legendary Franz Liszt.

Before one can become too impressed by those credentials, Kottler hastens to add, "Say what you want, the pianists of today are far superior. Liszt played his own works. He never had to play Bartok and Prokofiev.

Kottler had his own concert career and finally settled in Detroit, where he was the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's pianist and frequent soloist for more than 20 years.

He was director of music at WWJ for 33 years, although today that radio station's offering of the classics is nil. Kottler is still a professor and chairman of the piano department at Wayne State University.

Ensemble gets all jazzed up

Duane Jennings on baritone sax and Frank Delewsky (standing), a trumpet player, rehearse with the Schoolcraft Jazz Ensemble.

What do a a dentist, a school principal, a physical education instructor, an auto wprker, a college counselor, college and high school students have in common? If they rehearse Monday nights, they're likely members of the Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble.

Sponsored by Schoolcraft's continuing education program, the 21-member jazz ensemble rehearses in the fall semester and begins to concertize in

This season's first public effort will come at 7:20 p.m. Sunday when the ensemble plays a warmup for the 8 p.m. Stan Kenton concert in Clarenceville High School, Middle Belt between Seven and Eight Mile roads, Livonia.

Shoppers at Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn wil hear them in a mall performance the evening of Monday, Jan.

The jazz ensemble's season usually extends to May, often ending with the City of Livonia's concert-under-the-

Director Gary Laura holds auditions to pick players, some of whom have extensive professional backgrounds. It's possible for a player to earn college credit at Schoolcraft for ensemble

Says Richard Tomalty, a college counselor who has played in the ensemble for several years, "The band plays the exciting, driving arrangements of many of the contemporary name big bands-Woody Herman, Stan Kenton, Maynard Ferguson and Count

Director Laura is not only a professional drummer but also teaches at both Schoolcraft and the University of Windsor.

The ensemble credits Midge Ellis, of the community services staff, with helping it get bookings. Mrs. Ellis also handles the Clarenceville Jazz Series.

Organist Visits Oz

The Motor City Theatre Organ Society will present Lowell Ayars, the "Singing Organist," in concert and accompanying the 1925 silent film version of "The Wizard of Oz" at 8p.m., Saturday, at the Royal Oak Theatre, Fourth and Washington, in downtown Royal Oak.

Lowell Ayars' career as a theatre organist began as talkies just were coming into being. However, he spent a number of years playing for silent films, short subjects and newsreels. A trained vocalist, he was featured regularly as a "Singing Organist." With the end of organ music in theaters, Lowell turned to teaching music in the schools of his native New Jersey Recently retired, he now plays a number of concert dates around the country

"The Wizard of Oz" Was filmed for release in 1925 and was designed to feature the talents of Larry Semon as the "Scarecrow." The film also features Dorothy Dwan as "Dorothy" and Oliver Hardy as "The Tin Man.

The Motor City Theatre Organ Society is a non-profit organization devoted to restoring and playing theater organs in their original or comparable settings. The group is engaged currently in a fund-raising effort to purchase the Redford Theatre, and recently, as the result of a gift of a friend of the organization, purchased the Barton Theatre Pipe Organ in the Royal Oak Theatre.

Tickets for Saturday's Lowell Ayars show may be purchased in advance at the Royal Oak Theater and at the box office the night of the performance

Film showing looks at India

All the splendors of India from the Tai Mahal to the towering Himalayas will be shown in the World Adventure Series color movie, "Wondrous India," at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The movie covers modern Bombay, the "pink city" of Jaipur and its Amber Palace, pilgrims bathing in the Ganges at India's holiest city, Varanasi; Kashmir, often called India's Shangri-La- and closeups of India's wildlife-tigers, elephants, and onehorned rhinos. Kenneth Wolfgang, who narrates the movie in person, also includes an interview with a vogi and a hike into the world's highest mountains, the Himalayas.

For ticket information and a free illustrated brochure, phone the World Adventure Series at 832-7676 any day 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

16th century music Monday at UM-D

Crumhorns, sackbutts, recorders and lutes will be used in a free concert of popular music from the Italian renaissance, Monday at 8 p.m. in the Fair Lane Conference Center of the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Performing will be the Oakland University Renaissance Ensemble, considered one of the country's foremost groups of its kind.

The instruments will be used both alone and mixed with madrigal singing. Included will be light dance tunes and more serious choir compositions.

The campus is located on Evergreen south of Ford Road.

begin a regular church school program at 9:15 a.m. Sunday.

Classes will be offered by the new Moravian Church congregation for 3year-olds through sixth-graders, and will include activities and projects, games, singing and learning to apply concepts from the Bible.

The classes will use a curriculum titled "Discovering the Bible with Children," which has been approved and used by many major denominations. The church school is open to all children in the Plymouth-Canton area regardless of religious affiliation.

Children may be enrolled by calling the pastor, the Rev. Darryl Bell, or by attending the first session.

Worship services at 10:30 a.m. will follow church school on Sundays. Faith Community Church was organized this fall and began services Dec. 4

CLARENCEVILLE UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, Middlebelt south of Eight Mile, Livonia, will hold special services Sunday honoring the memory of the Rev. Elsie Johns, who pastored the church for 33 years prior to her death in 1974.

Morning worship will feature talks by two close friends of the Rev. Johns, Cliff Miracle at 9 a.m. and Les McCabe at 11:15 a.m., and the adult classes at 10:15 a.m. will be highlighted by an old-fashioned Sunday

The Rev. William D. Mercer, pastor of Nardin Park United Methodist Church since 1963, will address the congregation for the 7 p.m. service.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia, will present a scroll of appreciation to all its church officers as it installs new officers during 10:45 a.m. worship

The morning's sermon topic for the Rev. Wilbert D. Gough will be "Each Day with God.'

The church's 7 p.m. service will feature a showing of the new World Wide Pictures film, "Shiokari Pass.

ST. MICHAEL CATHOLIC CHRUCH, 11441 Hubbard, Livionia, will present Ben Warner of the National Council on Alcoholism in a talk on the life of the alcoholic and his family in an adult education program at 8 p.m. Friday.

Warner, who is on the faculty of Mercy College of Detroit and lectures at the University of Michigan, the University of Detroit and Wayne State University, also will show a film titled "Tough Love." dealing with what the alcoholic's family can do to help.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, 41550 E. Ann Arbor

Trail, Plymouth, will welcome the Rev. and Mrs. Boyd Skinner, missionaries to Chile, to services at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Now on furlough after 15 years in evangelistic work in Chile, they will tell of the denomination's work in that country and they will illustrate their report with a slide presentation.

The Rev. Skinner is a graduate of Taylor University in Indiana and Asbury Theological Seminary in Kentucky. Mrs. Skinner also attended Taylor and Asbury College.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF PLYMOUTH, 45000 N. Territorial, will show the film "Shiokari Pass" at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The public is invited to see the film which is based on a book by Ayako Miura and was filmed in Japan.

DETROIT FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, meeting in Stevenson High School of Livonia, will present Dr. Francis Schaeffer in a 10week film series titled "How Should We Then Live?" on Wednesdays, beginning Jan. 18, in the auditorium of the high school.

Registration for the series will take place at 6:30 p.m. before the first film, and the movies will begin at 7 p.m.

An ecumenical meal, an interfaith service and several pulpit exchanges will mark the Jan. 18-25 Week of Prayer for Christian Unity program scheduled by the Livonia Ministerial Association

The meal is scheduled at 6 p.m. Friday, Jan. 20, in St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30800 Six Mile, Livnorth. St. Genevieve Catholic Church, 29015 Jamison, will be the setting for the interfaith service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday Jan. 22.

Exchanges are planned the weekend of Jan. 22 by several of the ministers active in the association.

"Many clergy have indicated an interest and the various congregations have expressed their appreciation for past viosits," said the Rev. Jerome Fraser, associate pastor of St. Edith Catholic Church and association secre-

The Christian Unity emphasis, begun 70 years ago in the Graymoor Ecumenical Institute in New York state, has been promoted by the Livonia association for several years. New in this year's program is the ecumenical meal, which is designed to honor lay leaders in area churches.

A talk by the Rev. Robert Whittacker, dean of studies of the Episcopal Diocesan School of Theology in Detroit, will follow the meal to be served by the Methodist Men of St. Matthew. There will aslo be a statement of appreciation from the ministerial for recognized lay leadership.

The appreciation is being tendered, according to the Rev. William Hass. president of the association, because we owe so much to the lay people in our congregation.

"We hope that many churches will participate," added the pastor of the Livonia Christian Church

The evening at St. Matthew also will feature a social hour and a performance by the Madrigal Singers of Schoolcraft College

The interfaith service will be headed by the Rev. Joseph Dailey, associate pastor of St. Genevieve, and the Rev. James Spilos of Holy Trinity Lutheran

A social hour will follow the worship, and all in the area are invited to patrticipate

Lutherans buy land for new high school

The Huron Valley Lutheran Funding Association has announced the purchase of a 25-acre site, on Prospect Road, just in Superior Township, for the Huron Valley Lutheran High School which will serve students from throughout southeastern Mmchigan

"We can now begin serious consideration of the steps which must be taken to provide on-site facilities for our program." said the association's president Robert Zeinstra announcing acquisition of the site just south of Ann Arbor Road. "This is a giant step forward for our school

A long-range plan developed for the school has Huron Valley's own facility to be ready for the 1982-1983 school

"However," asserted Principal and Pastor Karl S. Peterson, "if our growth continues and the support of our constituency enlarges, that timetable could well be accelerated.

(R,W,G-7B) *9B

Huron Valley Lutheran currently leases classroom facilities from St. Mary's Catholic School of Wayne. Now in its third year, it has 76 students in grades nine through 12. There are six full-time faculty members who teach pre-college and general education Huron Valley Lutheran is affiliated with the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod which has congregations and grade schools throughout the area. Sister high schools are located in Saginaw and St. Joseph.

Classic battle of rivals

Bentley nips Rocks, 49-46

By FRED DeLANO

Livonia Bentley moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Suburban Eight boys' basketball chase Tuesday night with a pulsating 49-46 victory over Plymouth Salem on the Rocks' home court

Although partisan fans who thundered their cheers and chants throughout the tense contest may remember only the final score, the truth is that this was a textbook game of which films are made and on which clinics

It was Bentley's newly formed zoneminded floating, interchangeable defense anchored on a 6-6 baseline trio which finally prevailed over the panetrating quickness of the Plymouth team, previously unbeaten.

Bentley is now 7-1 overall and 4-0 in the Sub 8, while Plymouth's record is 8-1 overall and 4-l in the loop. The Rocks have won four straight league

Dave Stone and 6-5 Eric Thorderson, who bait the inner trap at the defensive basket for the Bulldogs, proved their point when they stopped Plymouth without a single basker in the final period. Salem went into that quarter with a

BIG GUYS like 6-6 Chris Bollin, 6-5

38-34 lead, but could add only eight free throws in one of the most intriguing prep matchups witnessed in a decade.

Tom Ellinghausen led Plymouth's attack with 17 points, but the fact that the full Rock team shot only 26 per cent from the field against the Bentley zone (11 of 42 shots) shows a shocking deficiency for a team that was rated co-holder on No. 10 spot in a state poll only last Friday.

It was 9-8 for Plymouth after one quarter amd 26-26 at the half. Salem's control game brought the Rocks to the fore, 38-34, at the end of three periods-but after that the Rocks never again put a ball through the hoop except from the free throw lin.

Canton captain Randy Rienas forces a shot against Farmington defenders during Tuesday night action. The Chiefs beat the Falcons 78-61. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

EVEN FRED THOMANN, Salem coach, in praising his personnel conceded that a bounce here or there might have changed the outcome. Coach Jim Komula of Bentley agreed. But in this case Bentley got the last bounce, the last basket, and a co-role with Thomann's club of having put on the finest system demonstration of basketball high school followers of the sport have seen in years.

Canton cagers crunch Falcons

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Plymouth Canton exploded for 28 points in the final quarter and coasted to a 78-61 non-league basketball victory over Farmington Tuesday, night at Canton

The victory was the second straight for the Chiefs, evening their overall record to 4-4 this season. The Falcons from Farmington dropped to 3-7.

The difference in Tuesday's contest was Canton's ability to penetrate on offense and dominate the boards at both ends of the floor against the smaller and weaker Farmington squad.

The Falcons, coached by first-year mentor Rich Roy, were hurt on the front line with the loss of two starters because of illness. Only the outstanding play of Rick McKibben, who led all scofers with 27 points, kept Farmington within striking range late in the third quarter. The Falcons grabbed a narrow 13-12 first-quarter lead which featured solo performances by McKibben and Canton's Russ Mandle. McKibben accounted for nine points in that initial quarter, while Mandle's fancy inside moves produced 10 of the Chiefs' 12

Junior guard Butch King netted 10 points in the second quarter to spark Canton to a 25-11 advantage, giving the Plymouth squad a 37-24 halftime lead.

Roy admitted his squad lost the game after that second quarter.

Farmington came back strong, however, pulling within four points late in the third quarter thanks to a full-court zone press which bothered the Chiefs.

Canton's inside muscle prevailed in the final quarter with a strong fourminute spurt early in the period.

With Canton safely ahead late in the game, coach Casey Cavell enjoyed emptying his 14-member bench for the first time this season as all but three Chiefs reached the scoring column.

King led Canton with 21 points. Mandle added 16 while Randy Rienas and Curt Herbert chipped in with 11. Greg Kuhnlein of Farmington also netted 11 points.

The Falcon JV defeated Canton's reserves, 52-47.

Top wrestling teams invade Salem tourney

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Area wrestlers won't have a chance to relax after last weekend's Schoolcraft Invitational as they prepare for the third-annual Plymouth Salem Invitational.

For the first time in the tourney's short history, the field has been expanded from eight to 16 teams.

And the competition is something to Six of the top seven finishers in the 29-team Schoolcraft event visit the Rock's gym this Saturday, Jan. 14. along with 10 other area squads.

"I think the tournament will be tougher than Schoolcraft's." said Ron Krueger, Plymouth Salen head coach. "It will be a dogfight." The Plymouth contest will be completed in one day which, believes Krueger, is more difficult than the two-day Schoolcraft Heading the field is Schoolcraft champion Wayne Memorial. Also included is two-time Plymouth winner Westland John Glenn. Glenn was runner-up at Schoolcraft.

Wayne cops S'craft crown

Wayne, nipped by Westland John Glenn for the Schoolcraft Wrestling Invitational championship in 1977, evened the score last weekend by placing ahead of the Rockets and 27 other contenders at the eighth annual grappling festival.

The Zebras, with three individual champions and two runners-up, totalled 1951/2 points to open a 46-point spread over second-place Glenn.

Leading the way for Wayne were its three individual titlists-Bo Wanshon, 114 pounds, and the Bachus brothers, Corry at 134 pounds and Chris at 140.

Dave Lusk placed second for the Zebras at 157 pounds and Chris Leverenz was second best in the 180-pound

In addition to claiming the team championship, the Zebras earned a trophy, for the second year in a row, for most pins recorded by a team throughout the invitational. Wayne reaped 17 falls in a total elapsed time of 51:52.

Other Observer & Eccentric-area teams met with a variety of success. Plymouth Salem finished fifth, Redford Thurston sixth, Farmington Harrison seventh, North Farmington eighth and Farmington tied for 10th.

Southfield-Lathrup placed 13th, Clar enceville 17th, Birmingham Groves 19th, Livonia Franklin 20th, Redford Union 21st, Livonia Stevenson 23d, Plymouth Canton 24th, West Bloomfield 25th, Southfield 26th, Livonia Churchill 27th and Livonia Bentley 28th.

Several area matmen turned in creditable individual performances.

Buddy Ault, from Thurston, took the individual title at 121 pounds and Mitch Becker, from Livonia Franklin, won the championship in the 157-pound class.

Paul Demers, 100 bounds, Jeff Doyle, 167, and Jerome Robinson, h avyweight, and all from Glenn, finished second in their respective weight Dasher, a senior, had the most pins of any individual wrestler during the competition, four.

Eric Black, 121 pounds from Clarenceville. Dave Reed, 128 pounds, and Stu Hixon, heavyweight, both from Groves, Kyle Heaton, 147 pounds from Canton and Dave Groh, 193 pounds from Stevenson had the best showings among their respective teams. All of them finished fourth.

Chief spikers win; Rocks lose opener

The Plymouth Canton girls' volleyball team won its second straight match of the new season Monday night when the Chiefs beat Livonia Franklin, 15-7, 15-13

Improving on the first match of the season against Farmington Harrison, they made only four net serves, two in each game, as opposed to seven bad serves in the first game at Harrison and three in the next one against the Serving has been the weakest point in the Chiefs' attack, but it seems to be getting better with each game.

.Taking eight points on serves in the first game was junior Kelly Heaton, who also had several good spikes, according to coach Cyndi Burnstein. Senior Laurie Beck helped with her sets and good plays at the net, also serving for five points in the second

"Our setters are placing the ball more carefully and making more plays. Monday, Kelly was having a super night on her spikes. We played great in the first game but then fell back in the second, like we had a 10point lead when we didn't," said Burnstein.

THE SALEM GIRLS' volleyball team fell to Livonia Churchill, last year's Western Six champion, in a three-game match Tuesday night, with the Chargers taking 15-13 and 15-2 decisions against the Rocks' victory in the second game, 15-8.

The Rocks found themselves behind, 11-4, in the opener before rallying too late and then losing, 15-13, and in the second they again sagged in the early going. However, a quick four points from senior Clarisse Hartnett and anothr five from junior Monette Recto led to that 15-8 victory before Churchill put it away in the third meeting.

"It takes a team a while to get used to playing with each other out on the court," said Salem coach Cathy Himes. "After making a lot of mistakes at hitting the ball, the team got lazy and started making hits that were even worse instead of brushing it off and getting ready to return the ball."

Next Tuesday, Salem will be at home against Ypsilanti, with the jayvee match starting at 7 p.m., while Canton will host Walled Lake Western on Wednesday night at the same time. This season's Canton home games will be played in the Chiefs' new gymnasium instead of the Salem gym where they played last year.

THE METROPOLITAN DETROIT B'Nai B'rith will host one of the most unusual tournaments scheduled this season when more than 1,200 bowlers from all sections of the country gather to compete in the International B'nai B'rith tournament. Because the tournament is scheduled for only two weekends, starting March 11 and 12, the event will be held in four different establishments-Drakeshire Lanes in Farmington, Thunderbird Lanes in Troy, Hartfield Lanes in Berkley and Fairlanes in Madison Heights. It is the first tournament ever held in this area that covered four cities.

The bad weather finally caught up with the girls in the Bowlerettes League at Motor Lanes. Usually they fight their way through snow and sleet, but Monday night was too bad and the entire league session was cancelled.

One of the girls in the league who is making her presence felt is Jeanette Robinson, of Flint, who posted a 651 her last time out. She had games of 201, 224 and 226

COMPETITION CONTINUES at a high pitch in the St. John Bosco league at Garden Lanes This week, Frank Hassell showed the way with a

AT WESTLAND, Joyce Chapman contined her scoring pace with a 238 in 595. Several weeks ago she had her best 600 series.

IN THE KINGS AND QUEENS league at Woodland Lanes, Lou Farkas went on a scoring spree with a 671 earned on games of 246, 222 and 203. Dick Shanahan, with a 167 average, came through with a 255 game.

In the Keglerettes, Charlene Schurman, who carries a 133 average, found the range for games of 173; 225 and 182 for a 580 series. And another Darlene-Darlene Fabinski, with a 143 average, contributed a 517 series.

HANK DUDA had one of his best series of the season last week at Country Lanes. Bowling in the Monday men's league, he posted games of 235, 222 and 187 for a 644 series. He carries a 137 average.

A wrestling fan's delight

The good doctor is willing to admit that it is sometimes difficult to predict the winner of an event or contest.

When you talk about this Saturday's Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational, for example, it's anyone's guess which squad might win the title.

Rock coach Ron Krue ger has prepared a dandy for wrestling fans all over the state as some of the best wrestlers enter the Rocks' gym on Saturday.

It is the third-annual grappling tourney at Salem. The previous tourneys were eightteam events co-hosted by Salem and Canton.

This season, with Canton holding its own tourney, Salem expanded to a 16-team event to include schools from Wayne Memorial, John Glenn, Ypsilanti, Mount Clemens and Redford Thurston-to name a

Along with Salem. these six schools just finished in the top seven places of last weekend's prestigious 29-team Schoolcraft Invitational.

Many feel the Salem tourney could be a greater challenge for these clubs since the competition is squeezed into one day rather than the two days spent at Schoolcraft.

Here's how the good doctor sees the final outcome on Saturday

ALTHOUGH the outcome looks like a toss-up between the six top finishers at Schoolcraft, the Plymouth winner should feature a fight between Wavne Memorial and Westland John Glenn Wayne defeated Glenn last week to capture the Schoolcraft crown and is favored to take everything at Salem.

I see a mild upset occurring, however, since I feel John' Glenn will avenge its Schoolcraft loss and win the Plymouth event.

The Rockets won the two previous Plymouth trophies, and I don't see any reason why they can't capture an unprecidented third title.

I've always been impressed with the program at John Glenn. which is one of top wrestling schools in the state Last week's loss to Wayne at Schoolcraft probably left a bitter feeling with the Rockets

It should be a good Wayne-Westland rivalry but watch John Glean pull off the upset Wayne should finish

second and to Redford

Thurston, third Thurston has won the Canton and Wayne Invitationals Powerful Ypsilanti * should grab fourth place.

Salem fifth, and Mount Clemens sixth final standing read Sat urday night, wrestling fans can be assured of a great day and night of competition

The Plymouth Salem Invitational will produce some of the best wrestling in the state.

Rock JV stops rally

By THOMAS ZAIBEK

Craig Stack and Craig Flower contributed great defensive efforts to help hold off a furious Trenton rally which gave the Plymouth Salem junior varsity basketball team a 59-50 victory over the Trojans last Friday night

The victory was the Rocks' seventh in eight starts.

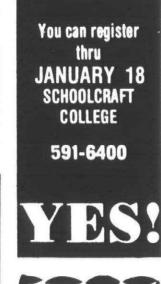

Plymouth took a four-point lead at the end of the first quarter and increased its advantage to eight at halftime, thanks to the sharp shooting of forward Jim Anderson.

Trenton cut the Salem lead to three points after three quarters, but soph omore guard Rob Neu pumped in seven crucial final-period points to give his squad the victory.

Anderson topped all Salem scorers with 17 points. Neu and Howard Monk helped with 11 each. Flower assisted on nine baskets.

The Chiefs started slowly in the first quarter, grabbing only a 10-8 lead. Northville outplayed Canton in the second quarter and took an 18-16 advantage at halftime.

Canton opened the second half with six straight points to take the lead for good. The Chiefs raised their margin to seven points, 32-25, after three quarters of action.

Canton put the game out of reach in the final period, leading by as many as 15 points midway in the fourth quarter. Brad Westin led all Canton scorers with 18 points. Guard Scott Adler followed with 12. Northville's top player, who usually averages 27 points per game, was held to only six points by the stingy Chief defense.

Canton coach Wayne Weimer was pleased with the excellent play his squad produced.

girls representing the Plymouth Salem tennis teams competed at the first-annual Chippewa Racket Club Invitational in Ypsilanti last weekend.

High school teams from Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ann Arbor Huron and Ypsilanti joined Plymouth Salem at the indoor event which included boys and girls singles action and mixed doubles competition.

Heading the list of Plymouth finishers was senior Kurt Schultz who placed second in the singles competition, losing a close match in the finale. 7-6. 6-4.

Teammates Craig Stevens and Bob Braun both advanced to the quarterfinals of the singles action before bowing out. Salem freshman Scott Crespo lost in the consolation finals, 7-5, 6-3.

In girls singles' action, Kathy Horton lost in the semifinal round, and teammate Betsy Moon fell in the quarterfinals. Both girls lost to netters from Pioneer.

Five different mixed doubles combinations competed for Plymouth.

Schultz and Renee Braun battled to the semifinals before losing, 6-3, Horton and Stevens lasted through the quar3. 6-2.

Bob Braun and Beckey Crespo, and Clarise Hartnett and Scott Crespo, both advanced to the second round before losing Braun and Crespo bowed in split sets.

Ed Thomas and Betsy Moon lost in the opening round.

"I was extremely pleased with the play of our team," said Salem boys coach Jim Stevens. who accompanied the teams. "Everyone was very representative of their school

Shoes important to joggers

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Its called "sneaker chic"-only the sneakers are no longer sneakers and they are no longer seen just on the feet of frolicking 10- and 12-year-olds or backlot basketball players.

Runner's World, the specialized Bible of the serious runner, each year analyzes and rates the top running shoes. Ten years ago, the magazine critiqued 16 models; this year their specialsts analyzed more than 160 models.

In the past five years, more than 24 million American feet have taken to the streets, tracks and trails. It is the phenomenon known as the "jogging.

With 15 million Americans running most of whom disdain the term "jogging"-the established athletic shoe manufacturers and a host of new specialists have saturated a market once reserved for track and cross country teams and a small band of conscientious marathoners.

With an explosion of colors, stripes and new materials, the athletic shoe industry has boomed into a $500 million-a-vear business. And they have spawned an even larger shoe market for those people who don't run but want to look as if they do. "Sneaker

In 1977, according to the New York Times, 15 million shoes that looked like running shoes were sold in comparison to the six million high-quality, top-of-the-line running shoes sold.

First there were those shoes made by the specialists-Brooks, Nike and New Balance as well as the Japanese imports, Tiger and Pony.

The respected, established athletic shoe manufacturers-Adidas, Puma and Converse-though they have watched the specialists infringe on their once-privately-held market, still do a booming business.

According to figures released earlier this year, Adidas, U.S.A., the American subsidiary of the German company, with annual sales of $100 million. still commands 30 per cent of the athletic shoe market.

The large chain department stores round out the production picture with their shoes which look like running shoes, but which are not designed for the sport.

Design, according to running purists, is the key, not cosmetics. Walk into any athletic supply store and it is relatively easy to get lost in a burst of bright stripes, stars, flares, collor nylon mesh and white leather.

· Ideally, the running shoe's sole. according to Runners' World specialists, should combine "traction, protection, cushioning and flexibilty.

 The shoe's heel should be elevated to ease the strain on the leg. The heel "should be reasonably wide so that it gives the foot stability, but not so wide that it inhibits natural running move-

·An arch subport, which throws body weight over the outside edge of the foot, should be built in.

· A sole should be cushioned to reduce road shock by as much as 50 per cent. Dr. George Sheehan, a medical columnist for Runner's World, said that the worst thing ever to happen to feet was concrete and that the next worst was shoes to protect against it and other hard surfaces.

•There should be enough room at the front of the shoe, the toe box, to allow toes to move freely.

•There should also be a "heel counter," a tab at the back of the shoe to reduce pull and strain on the Achilles tendon.

Rock matmen belt Bulldogs

Plymouth Salem's wrestling match against Livonia Bentley was absolutely no contest last Thursday night as the Rocks humiliated the Bulldogs

The overwhelming Salem victory raised its record to 12-1 overall and 3-0 in Suburban Eight League competition. The Rocks face a tough Trenton team tonight (Thusday) in conference action.

Salem pinned 11 of the 13 Bulldogs enroute to the easy triumph

Rock cagers ranked among state powers

Plymouth Salem's boys basketball team found itself in a familiar position Tuesday morning-ranked among the top 10 cage powers in the state, according to one major

The Rocks, perennial champions of the Suburban Eight League (winning the last four is a row). received a 10th-place rating in the recent Detroit News poll, tied with Detroit Mackenzie for the final spot among the state's elite teams.

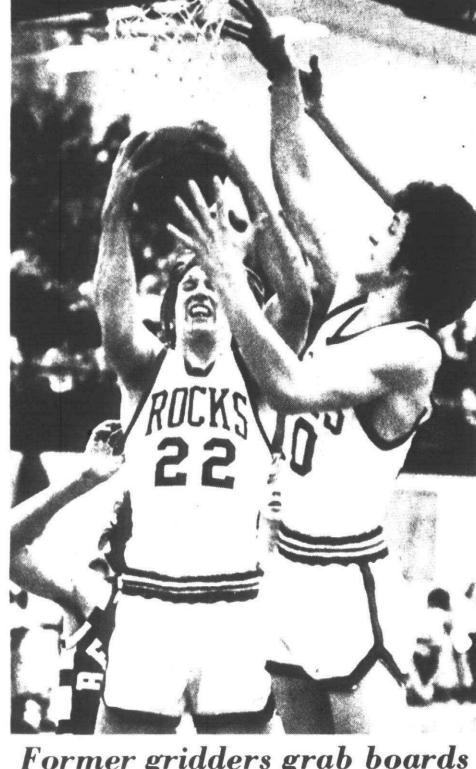

Salem held a perfect 8-0 overall record going into Tuesday night's action against once-beaten Livonia Bentley. The Rocks were Observerland's only undefeated team as of last weekend's action.

Love Mobile newest thing whee/s

GM will display its new Love Mobile and demonstrate the use of Love Seats to aid in-car safety of children as part of the Chevrolet exhibit at the Jan. 14-22 Detroit Auto Show.

In keeping with the something-for-everyone theme, a representative of AC-Delco Division, which directs marketing of the GM child safety seats, will discuss the importance of proper child restraints with show visitors.

He also will demonstrate the newest thing on wheels from GM—the no-engine Love Mobile, powered by the pressure of a mother's

The Love Mobile is a specially designed folding stroller that makes it easy to transport babies outside of automobiles in the same GM Infant Love Seat that helps to secure them while riding in or father's finger tips.

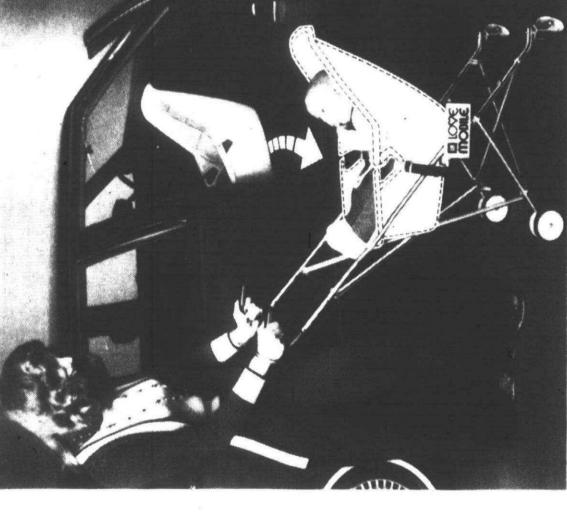

Developed in response to requests from mothers for a way to push a sometimes-sleeping baby through shopping centers, the stroller uses safety straps to secure the Love Seat.

It also comes with a snap-in seat of vinyl-coated polyester cloth so cars it can be used as a conventional stroller for a larger child. Show visitors will get tips on what to look for in safety seats. Displayed will be the rear-facing Love Seat for babies up to 20 pounds and the child-sized version for young persons 20-40 pounds in weight and 40 inches in height who can sit upright.

Both seats are equipped with harnesses and are secured by the car's safety belt system. They were designed and tested by GM safety engineers. To date, more than 1.3 million have been

Something for Everyone

"Automobile manufacturers are constantly introducing new vehicles and we believe that this year's theme accurately describes the wide selection available to the consumer. Riehl said. "There are more new cars and trucks to be seen this year than ever before."

For the 13th consecutive year the "Something for Everyone" will be the theme for the 1978 Detroit Auto Show, according to James E. Riehl, president of Roseville Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. and chairman of the auto show committee.

For the 13th consecutive year, the Detroit Auto Show will be held at Cobo

Charity preview

"Whether the consumer is looking for something luxurious, sporty, rugged, or for recreational purposes. I'm sure he will be able to find it in the 1978 new car line-up," Riehl said. "This year's auto show will feature more than 250 new domestic and import cars and trucks, and will be one of the largest displays in the show's history." Following the "Something for Everyone" theme, the auto show committee said "the 78 show will have more entertainment and excitement than ever before. ### star Show Auto

The Ford Megastar is a design concept for possible family cars of the future. Built by the Ford Motor Company's Ghia Operations in Turin, Italy, it will be shown by Ford Division at the Detroit auto show. Megastar features five-passenger seating, an aluminum body and extensive use of glass for improved driver and passenger visibility. Equipped with foam-filled energy-absorbing front and rear bumpers, power steering and air conditioning, Megastar is powered by a three-liter V-6 engine. In addition to assisting these local charities, those attending the charity preview have an opportunity to view the Detroit, auto show and meet distinguished automotive industry leaders. This benefit has been called the social event of the year in Detroit. The auto show charity preview night is the traditional $12.50 per person, black-tie benefit held the night before the grand opening of the show. All proceeds go to the three charities, and it is considered to be a very successful program for all involved, Riehl said.

Here's where all the auto show action will take place: in Cobo Hall in halls A, B and C. The above layout should help you get around to all the exhibits. Tickets are $2.75 for adults; children under 12, 50 cents; and senior citizens are admitted at no charge.

The Detroit Auto Show has been a popular Motor City attraction since 1908. This year's show marks the 62d time that the Detroit Auto Dealers Association has sponsored the event.

Omni debuts

Visitors at the Detroit Auto Show will have their first opportunity to see the new efficiency-sized Dodge Omni. One of the versatile, four-door hatchbacks will be auctioned off to the highest bidder in the Dodge car exhibit at the show, Friday night, Jan. 20.

Cutlass redesigned

Cutlass, Oldsmobile's completely redesigned intermediate, highlights the division's 1978 lineup. The goal in redesigning the Cutlass interior was improved space utilization while maintaining or improving passenger comfort. New features include a larger and more efficent trunk space that comes with a new compact spare tire. This model – along with Oldsmobile's six other lines — will be on display at the Detroit Auto Show.

For 1978, Dodge would like to introduce you to a line of cars that perform with a special brace of talents. First, a talent for the kind of mechanical wizardry that responds to the needs of this day and age. But also, a talent for design craftsmanship that responds to your desire for comfort and convenience. In short, a line of Dodge cars that put it all together.

cam engine. There's also full coil suspension for all four wheels. And rack-and-pinion steering. Omni also features the convenience of four doors, plus a liftgate and fold-down rear seat that will accommodate 35.8 cubic feet of cargo. Bucket seats are standard as Consider the new Omni. It's the first American-built car in its class to offer the advantages of front-wheel drive. It's powered by a rugged 104.7-cubic-inch (1.7 litre) overhead well. So are such pleasant touches as an AM radio, vinyl body-side molding, and white sidewall tires. The long and the short of it is this: Omni does it all. And at a very reasonable price.

SPEN

And then there's Aspen. It's the greatest sales success story in Dodge history. And for several good reasons. Like a very efficient size and price. And models that include a coupe, sedan, and a wagon. Optional packages, too, that can appeal to your taste for extra comfort or your yearning for a real road machine.

DIPLOMAT

Diplomat is a luxury car for the times. One that offers ample proof that elegance need not be measured in terms of exterior dimensions. Or price. And that goes for luxury wagons as well. Because this year, Diplomat offers all the comfort of a four-door sedan in a brand-new wagon that accommodates a big 72.7 cubic feet of cargo.

MAGNUM XE

A new breed of personal luxury hardtop is making its debut this year. Magnum XE. It possesses a bold horizontal Cord-like grille. But there's a lot more here than handsomely sculptured sheet metal. Performance is backed up by the power of a standard 318 V8 equipped with the Electronic Lean Burn System. And the interior offers an abundance of standard and optional features. In other words, Magnum XE is equipped to handle both the road and your desire for creature comforts with equal aplomb.

You can see how Dodge has put it all together at the Auto Show, where Dodge has put it all together for you.

keep her running. I was nickeled and dimed to death by minor repairs, but I had come this far and had no intentions of giving up now. I had my nose under the bood every day seeing what had gone wrong or if there could possibly be anything left. By that time, every part had Side window defogger White side wall tires Full wheel covers was nothing to worry about, and in a panic pulled into the nearest gas station.

The car sputtered, clunked and hissed. As the engine cranked and cranked and finally died, I calmly got out and lifted the hood. Billows of smoke poured out and practically choked us all. As soon as it cleared, I. having taken a course in powder-puff mechanics, loosened the radiator cap. Unfortunately, I had loosened it too much and antifreeze was spewn all over me, the fresh wax job on the car and the gas station attendant.

My first instinct was to reach in my pocket for a dime. "Hello, Dad? Can you concerned to the statement of the car and the says the care of the says the care and the says the says the care and the says the come and get us?...

The incident was quickly forgotten, and I made up my mind that these things happen only once. After all, lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, does it? I quickly realized it did. While vacationing in Brighton over the summer, my muffler, or lack of one, got me another bill for an ungodly sum of money and a generator, the radiator hoses, points, plugs, and even the mysterious master cylinder. I must have gone through 10 yards of metal stripping to keep the gas tank from falling off.

But I was bound and determined to under the hood.

I turned down the radio, told the girls it was nothing to worry about, and in a threat from the state police to revoke my license for not paying the ticket.

Much to my dismay, this was only the beginning. My battery had to be replaced as soon as the cold weather hit, as did the Whatever you're looking for; whether it's the luxury of a full size Lincoln Towne Coupe, the exquisite styling of the Mark IV, the comfort of a family sized Mercury, or the economy of a smaller car. Then look at Lincoln. Mercury for -78. We've put it all together! Vicki Henderson has worked in the circulation department of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers while attending the University of Michigan-Dearborn. This tale was originally written as a class paper.

I can still remember Dad telling me of the headaches of owning a car. "It's either car payments or repairs, he'd always say. "It'll cost you a mint either way.

Of course, I never believed him. I was 16, had my first driver's license, and a terrible urge to be independent. The keys to a car would be like the keys to freedom.

I went from car lot to car lot, bought rissues upon issues of trading journals and kept my eyes peeled for For-Sale signs as I watched cars pass while I walked to work. After weeks of intense searching and immmerable phone calls. I found the perfect vehicle.

My first set of wheels! She was a beaute! A gold Cutlass, half-rusted. I upholstery that looked as though it had fought World War II single-handed, a sloose back windshield, and bald tires—but she was one grand piece of machinery.

Proudly I pulled into the dackyard. In got out the soap, scrub brush, steelwool soap pads and a bucket and scrubbed her until my fingers looked like prunes. My pride and joy beamed in the afternoon sun. I ran to the store and bought new seat covers, floor mats and several aduarts of oil.

By that evening, we were ready to do pt the town in style. First, I phoned the girls and warned them I was on my way. I yagninned all the way down Plymouth Road. This was the life! I had the radio Right place. STYLING AND ECONOMY Right price. Ride on. COMFORT
