Some new car owners burn lead to cut costs

As many as 10 per cent of motorists operating cars designed to use unleaded fuel are reportedly filling their tanks with regular, leaded gaso-

A survey by the Federal Environmental Protection Agency disclosed the high rate of flagrancy, despite the potential danger to engine perform-

Service stations can be fined up to $10,000 for pumping regular fuel into unleaded cars or tampering with auto emission systems.

Most violations occur at self-service gas stations and are prompted by the less expensive price of leaded fuel, which represents a savings of four to eight cents per gallon compared to the cost of unleaded gas.

In Canton Township, self-service stations are banned for safety consid-

Beginning with the so model year, automobiles came equipped with catalytic converters, which were designed to reduce the amount of pollutants emitted into the air. These cars require the use of unleaded fuel.

THE CIRCUMFERENCE of the gas tank funnels of unleaded cars were diametrically reduced to prohibit motorists from using cheaper regular fuel. Unless adjustments are made, gas pump nozzles for regular fuel cannot be fed into the tanks of cars

Rick Evenson, of Evenson Shell in Plymouth, says he has noticed several customers "using funnels or other contraptions" to pump regular gas into

"We tell them it is illegal and to shut off the pump. We're not required to police violators, but sometimes it's rather obvious. In some cases, people file down their tanks so a regular nozzle will fit."

It is questionable, however, if the savings realized by using regular gasoline exceeds the potential damage leaded fuel can cause to an unleaded

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman for engineering public relations said the use of regular fuel in an unleaded car will void the five-year warranty on the emission system, shorten the life of sparkplugs and cause the engine to pollute the air. Said Evenson: "With leaded gasoline, I don't think the customer is saving that much. At Shell, the unleaded fuel is higher in octane than the regular. This means the prolonged use of regular gas in an unleaded car will result in poorer engine performance. "In the end, the customer will be paying more in repairs.'

ALL NEW CAR models, however, do not require unleaded fuel. Any vehicle exceeding 6,050 pounds in weight will run on any type gasoline. The same is true of cars with four-wheel drive.

"People sort of shrug their shoulders when they see a new car needs unleaded fuel," said L. John Miller, car salesman at Lou LaRiche Chevrolet in Plymouth Township.

"I think that's one reason for the sales spurt in the area of pick-ups and four-wheel drives-the customer can still use regular gas."

Prices on this pump show that leaded regular gas is four cents cheaper than no lead gas which must be used in new cars with catálytic converters. To save costs, at the expense of that anti-pollution device, many drivers have devised ways of putting leaded gas in their new car tanks. (Staff photo)

After 16 years of staring at classroom walls, college students who graduated in December shouldn't have to return to school for a lack of anything

That's because the job market is booming with prospective openings. Spokesmen for university placement services say employment opportunities haven't been better since the

"We've found that the economy has picked up tremendously in our area," said Richard Nesbit, director of career planning at Eastern Michigan University. "There are a lot of organizations, which in past years have been light in recruiting students, that are getting back in the employment market.

"The students we're working with now are doing very well. We are booking a good number of on-campus interviews and our weekly job lists are fairly hefty."

Graduates in engineering, business and technical related fields are not surprisingly highest in demand, with many having several offers to choose

BUT LIBERAL ARTS students, who traditionally have trouble finding jobs, are having a little more luck.

"Government organizations usually hire the most liberal arts students," Nesbit said. "Things are still a little weak, but projections for government positions look good.'

For those job-seekers not as fortunate as Leitch, the fact that they are mid-year graduates doesn't really help them. Although competition is less fierce, most jobs open up in June when the bulk of college seniors graduate,

'One bad apple' blamed in anti-rape solicitation

By CRAIG PIECHURA

A spokesman for a telephone solicitation sales firm said Tuesday his company will locate "the one bad apple" who angered area women with a "hard sell" approach to selling antirape equipment and literature.

All phone solicitation was stopped Tuesday while the executive board investigates the complaints, said Cynthia Kleiner, president of Citizens Against Rape, Inc. (CAR)

Women in Oakland and Wayne counties complained to the Observer & Eccentric about calls they received at home from phone solicitors representing CAR. The non-profit corporation is trying to raise money for "rape prevention education" by selling alarms, lights and literature, according to Ms.

The group hired the Dale Corp. of Warren to publish a 56-page booklet "What You Had Better Know About Rape," and to direct CAR's "public relations." Presently, CAR has no office and its address and phone number are the same as the Dale Corp. of 30100 Van Dyke, Warren.

A woman who lives on Guy street in Southfield said Tuesday that when she refused to buy the $10 booklet and "associate membership" the phone solicitor told her "maybe when one of your daughters gets raped, you'll wish they had the equipment."

RICHARD COLE, spokesman for the telephone sales firm, D&D Advertising, 17421 Telegraph, Detroit, said he should know before the end of the week "which employee" made the objectionable calls.

"If we do have a problem, we can track down who the person is," Cole said. "We use Bresser's (cross-index directory) and knowing the relative area the complaints are coming from and the time of the call, we can always track it down. We will be dismissing the person.

Cole said most of the calls were made by "high school girls" who work nights and weekends for D&D as phone solicitors.

But the complaints being lodged are not just about the phone manner of the solicitors. Barbara Wolf, official of the Southeastern Michigan Anti-Rape Network, said her organization refused to endorse CAR because information contained in the $10 booklet is free at any rape counseling center. Equipment like the shriek alarm, doorstop alarm and car-top flasher, are of questionable value, and overpriced, she said.

FOR $35, CAR "associate members" received, battery-powered shriek alarm, a battery-powered blinking light to attach to the car roof in an emergency; a pressure-sensitive doorstop alarm to warn of intruders; and the pamphlet, "What You Had Better Know About Rape." For $20, women will receive the blinking light and the door wedge alarm. For $15, new members get the shriek alarm and the booklet. Ten dollars buys an associate membership in CAR and the booklet.

Ms. Kleiner said the funds CAR receives will help set up a "tele-educational" phone line and possibly finance a rape prevention film, as well as schedule speakers.

Dale Jablonski, president of Dale Corp., was "out-of-town" early this week. An employee of the publishing firm, Katie Redford, said she was shocked at the statements attributed to the phone solicitors.

In addition to printing the anti-rape booklet for CAR, the Dale Corp. also prints a crime prevention publication for the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police and publications for other non-profit police associations.

Women are reportedly being pressured over the phone to buy this booklet and an "associate membership" in Citizens Against Rape, Inc. for $10. A package that includes two types of alarms, a blinking light and the booklet costs

So what if the Cassady family's car has no heater? It spends most of the winter in the garage anyway.

And besides, shrugs Dennis Cassady of Canton's Brookside Village Subdivision, who gives a hoot about a heater when you can recline in a rumble seat, snuggle in tan mohair upholstery, and roll out the rear and front windows with a crank?

The gleaming 1936 Ford coupe is Cassady's pride and joy, and he thinks there's good reason for that. He's spent the last six years sweating over paint and body parts, rebuilding the fuel pump, distributor and starter, and restoring the interior to its original condition.

And it's all been worth it, Cassady

"It's just a great hobby," said the 27-year-old design engineer for Ford Motor Co. "I've had this thing about cars since I was 13, and I really had a bug to get an old car.

"Now that the car's restored, it's a very family-oriented hobby. You put the whole family in and go for a ride."

THE VENTURE has been a profitable one from an economic point of with dents and rust, Cassady purchased the coupe for $475. Six years of work and a $3,000 investment later, the car is now worth about $10,000, according to Cassady's estimates.

The coupe is now in such good shape that Cassady decided to show off the antique at Cobo Hall's Autorama show earlier this month. He plans a trip to Toledo in February to enter that city's custom and antique car show.

But Cassady does not expect to win any prizes in the Ohio city. Judges failed to award the Canton resident a trophy at Cobo Hall this month, Cassady, however, does not plan on losing competition points forever just because his car does not contain an original '36 engine.

Days after the Detroit Autorama ended, Cassady began scouring newspaper ads and antique car flea markets for a 1936 Ford V-8 engine. He found one and expects to rebuid and install the engine next summer.

Mrs. Moehle heads EMU co-op program

Mrs. Jane Moehle of Plymouth is directing the budding cooperative education program at Eastern Michigan University.

The program is aimed at integrating EMU students' classroom studies with work experience in industry, business and government. It is based on the principle that all learning isn't limited to the classroom-that the world of experience has much to offer students.

Cooperative education offers practical experience at a time when students are at the peak of their learning capacity, says Mrs. Moehle. This practical experience adds relevance to the student's education and strongly fortifies the individual in the total learning process.

Mrs. Moehle notes that students in the program usually alternate between semesters of classroom study and work. During the student's "work semester" at a business or other organization, he or she might tour a facility, meet key personnel, become familiar with processes, products and

Students typically might operate equipment and work with teams or project crews to obtain practical experience as part of the program, Mrs. Moehle says. Depending on individual. empoyers, students might work with supervisors and associates to obtain on-the-job experience in manufacturing, business, scientific, professional or administrative areas.

Besides providing numerous benefits to students, she points out, cooperative education offers a number of advantages to employers. Among these are helping to assure the company a regular flow of qualified candidates, providing them with the opportunity to observe students in action before investing in training, and reducing turnover rates.

Mrs. Moehle calls the cooperative educaton program a new venture for Eastern, adding that she is now in the process of identifying new companies and organizations interested in participating. For further information write to Mrs. Moehle at Room 322 Goodison Hall, EMU, Ypsilanti 48197 or by phoning 487-0407.

Hundreds of wrestlers gathered at the Plymouth Salem gymnasium last Saturday for the Rocks' third- annual wrestling tourney. Here, the matmen conclude pre-match exercises before the crowd arrives.

Matmen, fans enjoy first-class tourney at Plymouth-Salem

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

It was 8:47 p.m. Saturday night and everything was dark in the Plymouth Salem gymnasium.

Suddenly, a big spotlight appeared in the center of the gym—and the crowd began to applaud the 26 finalists of the Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational.

These grapplers were on the mat preparing to give the community some of the best athletic entertainment around-for they were considered among the top competitors in the state.

All 26 matmen eventually received first-place or second-place medals which were so big, one could honestly mistake the award for a wall plaque. In fact, the top six wrestlers in each of the 13 weight classes received medals for their personal accomplishments in the tournament.

Why all the fuss? Simple-because the 15-team invitational proved to be quite a prestigious event.

Six of the top 12 wrestling teams in the state visited Plymouth on this memorable Saturday and attempted to shake-up the state rankings.

And sure enough, Westland John Glenn forced this inevitable shake-up when it took its thirdstraight Plymouth title with an upset victory over rival Wayne Memorial. One week earlier, it was this same Wayne squad which defeated John Glenn in the 32-team Schoolcraft College event.

Wrestling fans at the championship round of the Plymouth tourney could feel the excitement and share in the importance of the event-largely because the tournament was run in a first-class

Salem coach Ron Krueger, the tourney host, was the true showman of the evening as he added several special elements to help make the event a memorable one for all.

Along with the potent teams; the spotlight and numerous awards, the tournament ran smoothly with the help of many volunteer workers. Krueger gave away four trophies to the three top teams and the best wrestler. He even had the Rockettes dancers put on a show before the finals.

It was truely a wrestling spectacle which no one will ever forget.

For more on the tournament and the complete results, turn to the front of today's sports section.

Relaxing after officiating a tough match is Jim Copp, a native of Northville who has been active in wrestling for 20 years.

Salem's Ron Krueger, the Rocks' coach, served as tournament host and was the true showman of the event.

She's the secretary of his national fan club and both she and her husband are responsible for his professional photography, out of their Livonia photo shop. The fan club has members from throughout the area, including Redford Township.

They say Wade has a magnetism that only the best entertainers project. They say his style is unique, all his own; although they admit his national popularity originated from his impressions of the late legendary Presley.

Plymouthite subdued in backyard

A six-foot, 225 pound, 64-year-old Plymouth man decided to take on two of the city's finest when they ran through his backyard late Monday

Police say James E. McKenna, of 233 W. Ann Arbor Trail, punched and knocked to the ground patrol officers Edward Ochal and Anne Herndon when they came onto his property while chasing a fleeing suspect.

Ochal was taken to St. Mary Hospital for chest X-rays and released, according to Plymouth Police Sgt. Daniel Carpenter. Ms. Herndon was shaken up" but not hospitalized.

McKenna was arraigned Tuesday in 35th District Court on charges of obstructing, resisting and hindering justice, and assault and battery. He stood mute and a not guilty plea was entered for him by the court. He was released on $1,000 personal bond. His trial date was set for Feb. 15.

The police version of the incident differs from McKenna's on several

Police give the following account of the events

OCHAL AND Herndon were sent to the vicinity of the railroad crossing and Ann Arbor Trail at 11 p.m. to investigate reports of a gun being

When they got there, they found two vehicles parked in the middle of the Trail. As they approached the cars, one of the passengers jumped out and ran in back of the houses on the south side of the street.

Ochal took off after the man on foot.

As the officer ran through McKenna's yard, McKenna came out and asked him what he was doing there.

Ochal identified himself as a police officer and said he was chasing a suspect. McKenna said, "Not in my yard you're not," and grabbed Ochal by the lapels, according to police.

Ochal twisted free and told McKenna that if he didn't get out of the way he would be arrested. McKenna reportedly grabbed Ochal again, and the officer told him he was Ochal then spun McKenna around to frisk him. While he was frisking him, the police report that McKenna slammed Ochal in the chest with his elbow, knocking the officer to the

At that time officer Herndon came running around the corner of the house. Police said McKenna punched her in the stomach and she fell to the ground.

By that time, one more squad car arrived at the house, and the two other officers arrested McKenna and took MCKENNA, HOWEVER, tells a somewhat different story about what went on in his backyard.

He said he was at his neighbor's house about 11 p.m. His neighbor looked out the window and told McKenna there was somebody prowling around his backyard and cars.

McKenna said when he went out to see what was going on, somebody came up to him, shined a flashlight in his eyes and told him he was under arrest

"I didn't know what to think," McKenna said. "I'm in my own backyard and some guy's telling me I'm arrested. With the light in my face I couldn't even see the guy

City develops capital plans

Within the next two weeks the Plymouth City Commission hopes to come closer to deciding how to spend an expected $100,000 in federal funds for capital improvements.

At a Feb. 6 public hearing the commission will announce proposed projects for 1978 and the next two years. The city administration has submitted its recommendations but the commission has yet to prioritize the suggested

The commission discussed the matter at a Monday night study session. After the session Mayor Tom Turner asked commissioners to submit personal priorities to the administration so a decision could be reached before the public hearing. THE CITY IS expecting $100,000 in 1978 for Community Development Act

City administration recommendations for the first year are: Continuation of Old Village redevelopment, $15,000; Mill and Main intersection widening, $40,000; a fair housing seminar, $1,000; a study on establishing a comprehensive neighborhood redevelopment area, $1,000; a sire iommunication system, $10,000; and an installment towards purchase of an aerial

The truck, needed to replace a truck built in the 1940s, would cost about $240. The administration proposes that money be allocated in each of the three CDA program years until enough is collected to purchase the truck.

Old Village redevelopment includes: Installation of overhead lighting, a ose arbor connecting the new gazebo and Cannon Park, and two identification signs at the entrances to Old Village.

The fair housing seminar would be conducted by the Fair Housing Center of Detroit for members of the Chamber of Commerce and real estate agents. Mark Wollenweber, assistant city manager, said the seminar would be an affirmative action credit for the

IN THE SECOND YEAR, the administration recommends: A study of the sanitary sewer to identify infiltration from the storm sewers. $33,000 a $10,000 fund to subsidize interest on loans for renovation of the rear of Old Village stores; free exterior paint to low and moderate income residents. $5,000; an elevator at city hall to improve handicapped access, $40,000; and replacement of the band shell, purchased in 1963, $20,000.

The administration's recommendations for the third year are: An area for senior citizens in the Cultural Center, $155,000; construction of three magic squares at city playgrounds, $23,000 each; and an addition of a second floor to the fire station to relieve space shortage, $90,000.

Commissioners made the following suggestions: Required code inspections of residences being sold, Commissioner Beverly McAninch; a smoke detector program, Commissioner David Pugh; assistance to the YMCA for its home support services, particularly snow removal from driveways, Commissioner Mark Wehmeyer. A day care center in Old Village was suggested by resident Marda Benson.

City Mgr. Fred Yockey said he believes the smoke detector program could receive supplemental funding this year under the innopative program section of the CDA. Pugh suggested the city purchase smoke detectors for low and moderate income persons and sell them at $30 per unit. An estimated $5,000 could buy two detectors for more than 80 homes.

The administration is investigating the feasibility of the suggestions on code enforcement, snow removal for the elderly, and a day care center sore to the Plymouth community. Come spring, it will be converted into a thing of beauty and will have the name of West Point Park, with suitable identification to make it the gateway into Plymouth.

For years, community officials have talked about beautifying the triangle, but nothing official was ever done.

The plot of ground once was the property of attorney Perry Richwine, and he, feeling that it should become a park of some sort, deeded it to the City of Plymouth on Dec. 21 1959. It was to be a sort of Christmas gift to the residents. The gift was well-intentioned, but the ground lay idle and the dream of a park vanished until just a few. weeks ago.

Unearthing the deed to the property. the city turned it over to Plymouth Township and things started to hap-

With Frank Millington, township trustee, as the spearhead, he enlisted the services of Harold Guenther and James McKeon, both former mayors, and plans are now bring completed for a spring dedication of the park.

The transformation of the eyesore into a community park is being done by leaders of both the city and the township and the actual work of planting trees, bushes and other bits of landscaping will be done by the members of Growth Works, the youth organization that has its headquarters in the old Plymouth Mail building. The planning is being done by Norm Dietrich, the township planner. To add a touch of a rural community, a log fence will surround the park

In establishing the park as an official entrance to the Plymouth community, the group working on the project feels that it will serve as an example so that suitable markers can be placed at the other entrances from "the east north and south.

It has been figured that close to $5,000 will be needed to complete the task, and service clubs will provide the necessary funds. The Growth Works members are donating their Service stations can be fined up to $10,000 for pumping regular fuel into unleaded cars or tampering with auto emission systems.

Most violations occur at self-service gas stations and are prompted by the less expensive price of leaded fuel, which represents a savings of four to eight cents per gallon compared to the cost of unleaded gas.

In Canton Township, self-service stations are banned for safety consid-

THE CIRCUMFERENCE of the gas tank funnels of unleaded cars were diametrically reduced to prohibit motorists from using cheaper regular fuel. Unless adjustments are made. gas pump nozzles for regular fuel cannot be fed into the tanks of cars paying more in repairs

designed for unleaded use

But car owners are finding ways to break the law and save a few extra

Rick Evenson, of Evenson Shell in Plymouth, says he has noticed several customers "using funnels or other contraptions?" to pump regular gas into unleaded cars.

"We tell them it is illegal and to shut off the pump. We're not required to police violators, but sometimes it's rather obvious. In some cases, people file down their tanks so a regular nozzle will fit.

It is questionable, however, if the savings realized by using regular gasoline exceeds the potential damage leaded fuel can cause to an unleaded

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman for engineering public relations said the use of regular fuel in an unleaded car will void the five-year warranty on the emission system, shorten the life of sparkplugs and cause the engine to pollute the air.

Said Evenson: "With leaded gasoline, I don't think the customer is saving that much. At Shell, the unleaded fuel is higher in octane than the regular. This means the prolonged use of regular gas in an unleaded car will result in poorer engine performance.

"In the end, the customer will be

Negotiations progress at college

"Definite progress" was reported by the Schoolcraft College board in one set of negotiatons at the same time it prepared for another round.

The progress was reported in talks with the Association of Office Personnel, which represents secretaries and clerical staff members at the twoyear college. That group has been working without a contract since sum-

Salaries, length of contract and fringe benefits remain to be resolved.

The college's position has been that employees should pick up some of the increase in rising helath insurance premiums. Lower-paid groups have resisted, contending that the dollar costs would take a bigger proportion of their incomes.

THE BOARD named two persons to the negotiations council which will bargain with the 160-plus member Faculty Forum, largest union on campus.

Chairman Paul Kadish and Treasurer Harry Greenleaf were named to serve on a group which will prepare the college's initial offer to the faculty.

The actual negotiating team will be appointed at the Jan. 25 board meet-

The current contract is due to expire before classes resume in late August for the fall semester.

TRUSTEE Mark McQuesten had two suggestions to make about dealing with the faculty:

"Let's review the contract piece by piece (during negotiations). If you (the bargaining team) bring it in one large package, we're overwhelmed. It's too much to swallow

And: "I would like to discuss education issues with faculty members as faculty members, not as a faculty union, and board members as trustees, not as a (governing) board. I would like to discuss things in a non-confrontational setting.

Replied trustee Rosina Raymond, who in past years had served on the negotiations council: "A worthy ideal, but 'tisn't real. . . It is not the position of the trustees to negotiate. Our negotiators and the Faculty Forum negotiators are very sophisticated. Let's leave that to them. I don't want to stick my nose into it."

The matter was left at that.

Ski-a-thons latest way to aid charity

Aiding a favorite charity while working out long-unused muscles has become one of this area's most popu-

And in this season skiing gets the focus, so two ski-a-thons are coming

Skiers may pick their charity, line up their pledges and head for the slopes knowing they're aiding good causes as well as having fun.

A ski-a-thon is set for Jan. 28 and 29 at Pine Knob, Clarkston. The money raised from the event will be donated to the Easter Seal Soceity Alpine Valley and Mt. Holly, two other local resorts, will also be the sites of ski-a-thons on Sunday, Feb. 5. Proceeds are earmarked for the U.S. Amputee's Ski Association and the Ann Arbor Burn Center.

The ski-a-thons will award prizes to skiers who have the highest number of

AT PINE KNOB, skiing will begin 9 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 29 and will continue to 11 p.m. The next day skiing will begin at 9 a.m. and last until 5

Pine Knob's ski patrol will be on hand to record skiers' runs asd validate punch cards. Those punch cards will record an individual skier's runs.

The grand prize skier's will be competing for is a week's trip for two to Big Sky, Mont.

Sponsor forms and more information are available by calling the tri-county Easter Seal Society at 338-9626. Sponsor forms are also available at most area ski shops.

THE SKI-A-THON to be held at Mt. Holly and Alpine Valley on Feb. 5, is sponsored by the Skiwi Ski Club, a member of the Metropolitan Detroit Ski Council (MDSC) Persons who participate in the event will receive free lift tickets for the day and will ski on designated runs at each Participants will ski 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and will have their runs checked by volunteers on the slopes. Registration will be on the day of the ski-a-thon at each location A weekend package for two is the first prize and a pair of new skis will go to the skier that comes in second. Other prizes will be awarded to the MDSC club and to the high school group that collects the most pledges. Sponsor forms are available at local ski shops. Deadline for pledges is Feb. 19, two weeks after the event.

For more information call Harry or Cheryl Nann, chairpersons of the skia-thon, at 885-8537.

Despite a power failure for half a day, the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) office in Plymouth Township still managed to issue unemployment checks. Ed Dowling, manager of the MESC branch at Joy Road and General Drive, said he arrived in the morning to find his office without heat, lights or telephone service. A portable generator supplied enough electricity to operate the check writing machines, but office workers had to keep hats and coats on and use flashlights for light. Compounding the problem was the fact that the branch has laid off six clerical workers, due to budget cutbacks. But all the checks were issued Tuesday, according to Dowling. Among those getting the checks out was Sandy Tuttle of Canton, who stayed warm with hat and sweater. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Is SC faculty being evaluated?

By TIM RICHARD

Schoolcraft College's contract with the faculty calls for full-time instructors to have students fill out a form evaluating the instructor at the end of the semester.

The instructor is free to withhold replies from anyone else, such as his department head.

The instructor is also free to pitch all the forms in the circular file and ignore them.

'The students I've talked to,' says Trustee Mark McQuesten, "say that as many as 50 per cent of the faculty fail to make this instrument available.

An administrator at the Jan. 11 meeting disputed the 50 per cent figure

"WE COULD ask the administration to find out who did and who didn't (distribute evaluation forms to students)." McQuesten went on.

"We could ask the students. But I want an explanation. What went

Fred Stefanski, dean of arts and sciences, replied: "The faculty have indicated to me they're using it. I can't say 100 per cent are using it, but it's greater than the 50 per cent you indicate."

There are problems enforcing usage of the evaluation form, even though it's in the faculty contract, Stefanski

"We could find out who isn't using it and write a reprimand. But that's not the way to go.

"The way is to discuss with the individual why it should be used. You can force them to do it, but when they get the forms back, they will say, 'Shove it in your ear.' I'd rather get 90 per cent usage than 100 per cent participation and 60 per cent ignoring it.

ANN VINNES, president of the Student Senate, agreed with McQuesten that "the faculty's attitude toward it is bad. Not all use it. At national conferences, we've found there is a movement toward using a standard. national form

Trustee Gerald Cox, himself a teacher, said too free criticism by students would hurt faculty morale. Trustee Rosina Raymond, a teacher at the college level, added there is "a lot of inductive teaching going on" where students learn without realizing it at the end of the semester

"Everybody's an authority here on what goes on in the classroom." she said with undisguised irony

Treasurer Harry Greenleaf said faculty should be encouraged to use it. "If you don't use it, what motivation is there to improve?

Faculty Forum President Richard Arlen, in an interview following the board meeting, said he personally uses and reads the forms, with the understanding that a few students who had a bad semester will be vindictive in their criticisms

THE EVALUATION form was written into the current master contract and used for the first time in April .. 1977, Stefanski told the board. The design was made by the Faculty Forum, the administration with input from the student government.

"I cannot guarantee that all faculty use it to the same extent. Further, I cannot guarantee that all students avail themselves of the opportunity to evaluate their instructors," the dean

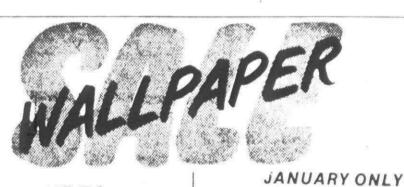

The form allows students to evaluate the instructor's manner of classroom presentation, classroom management preparation, professional skills and relationship with students.

It also asks:

"What do you especially like about this instructor as a teacher?

"How could this instructor improve" "What weaknesses do you find in the course? What suggestions do you have for improving the course?

"Would you take another class from this instructor? Why?

Area hospitals struggle with governmental codes

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Area hospitals, like 2,900 other across the country, are having trouble meeting national quality and safety

Spokesmen for the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH), the nationwide accrediting body, acknowledge that their standards are tough and that few hospitals make it through the inspection with an unblemished record.

St Mary Hospital in Livonia and Wayne County General Hospital in Westland received two-year accerditiations. But JCAH spokesmen w:rned that even though a hospital received the full two-year accreditation, it did not mean the hospital had met all of the board's standards

Redford Community Hospital, meanwhile received a limited, one-year accreditation.

Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, which is reviewed by the American Ostheopathic Hospital Association, was granted a full, one-year accreditation a year ago. It has recently been inspected by the association and is awaiting the results

According to Bob Laible, a spokesman for Redford Community Hospital, the only area institution to receive the limited accreditation, the JCAH's tough building and safety codes prevented the hospital from being fully accredited.

"What meets the state (building) code doesn't necessarily meet the joint commission's codes," Laible said. "Sometimes I think they just raise their standards so they'll have something to say," he added.

SINCE RECEIVING the limited accreditation, the Redford hospital began an extensive $1.5 million construction and remodeling program to try to meet the tough JCAH standards.

Since Redford Community was last inspected, it has built two new operating rooms, a new intensive care ward, a new emergency room and a new holding area.

The hospital is currently remodeling the existing building to bring it into line with the joint commission's structure and safety codes

Redford Community is awaiting another inspection by the JCAH, but Laible said he is not certain when the assciation will conduct the review. BOTH ST. MARY Hospital and Wayne County General, even though they received full, two-year accreditations, were cited for procedural and record keeping deficiencies.

Rita Radzialowski, administrator at St. Mary, prefered to use the word "recommendations" instead of "deficiencies." At first she refused to specify what changes the JCAH had recommended, but later said that better record keeping was involved.

Mary Landstrom, speaking for Wayne County General Hospital, said the joint commission had cited the hospital for "minor deficiencies.

She said the JCAH had recom mended modifications in certain olicies and procedures.

In earlier inspections, Mrs. Land strom said, the hospital's psychiatric care facilities had been cited for not meeting updated fire, sanitation and safety codes. "Now, that's the state's problem," she said. The state recently took over control of the psychiatric care facility

PLYMOUTH CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, will sponsor an apprearance by the Rev. and Mrs. Warren Rogers at the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services on Sunday, Jan. 22. They will present a musical program with duets, solos, and will play such instruments as the electrii guitar, banjo, ukulele, trombone, handsaw, piano, multi-kord and cordovax.

In addition to his gospel messages, Rev. Rogers will speak on the work for blacks of the Church of the Nazarene. He is a representative for the black people on the committee for interracial affairs under the department of home missions.

He pioneered in Nazarene Negro work 30 years ago, and served as field representative for the Nazarene Bible College of Institute W. Va., as well as district superintendent for the Gulf Central District

The Rogers are the first U.S. black missionaries to represent the Church of the Nazarene in foreign areas. They have been instrumental in organizing 40 new churches.

Their new assignment is with the department of home missions to plan new churches in the inner city. They will serve as good will ambassadors for the department of world missions.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH OF LIVONIA, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia, will present a performance of the Woodward Avenue Baptist Church of Detroit Choir, directed by James Profitt, in a musical program 7 p.m. Sun-

At the 10:45 a.m. worship, Pastor Wilbert Gough will speak on "How to Know You Are Saped," and the Chancel Choir will sing.

WARD UNITEE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Six Mile and Farmington, Livonia, will feature a family film called "Ride the Wind" at the 7 p.m. service Sunday. The 60-minutes film is the story of two boys who, through peer influence and parental ambition. are trapped into a dangerous airplane race that brings the values and p inciples of many into focus.

A small group enrichmen seminar will be held at the church at 7:30 p.m. tonight. The two-hour seminar will teach basics for small neighborhood Bible study groups. Another seminar will be held from 9-11 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 21.

CANTON CALVARY ASSEMBLY OF GOD, temporarily meeting in the Gallimore School on Sheldon south of Joy, Canton, will offer the film, "Prior Claim" at 10 a.m. Sunday, Jan 22. The film shows that many of man's inventions were anticipated by the Creator and how nature developed them first in many instances.

Morning service will be at 11 a.m.

Holy Land trip slated

A 10-day Easter season pilgrimage to the Holy Land is being planned by the Friends of the Orchard Lake Schools.

According to tour guide Fr. Zdzislaus Peszkowski, a member of the schools' faculty, the trip will leave from New York's Kennedy International Airport on March 20.

Among the historic sites on the agenda are visits to Samaria, the Sea of Galilee, Capernaum, Nazareth, the Garden of Gethsemane, the Mount of Olives, Bethlehem, Jericho, the Dead Sea and Jerusalem.

It is expected that the pilgrimage will be in Jerusalem for Easter weekend, March 25-26. Information is available by writing to Holy Land Pilgrimage, St. Mary College, P.O. Box 2, Orchard Lake,

Cross to build

This artist's sketch shows the present sanctuary of Holy Cross Lutheran Church at the right and the proposed new multi-purpose room and offices at the left.

Holy Cross Lutheran Church of Livonia is planning to add a wing with four classrooms, a multi-purpose room and pastoral and administrative office space to its facilities on Six Mile between Merriman and Middle Belt. A drive for funds to finance the addition will be kicked off with a "Program of Progress" banquet scheduled Monday, Feb. 13, at School-

The Rev. William C. Lindholm, pastor of Holy Cross, pointed out that the congregation's growth in recent years and the need for additional fellowship and Sunday School space made expansion desirable at this time.

Plans drawn up by G. E. Associates of Flint also include enlargement of the entrance area to the main sanctuary, a lounge and expanded kitchen facilities.

DNR reveals budget plans to improve area recreation

By LEM MESEE

Several popular spots in Oakland, Wayne and Livingston counties will be improved if the state Department of Natural Resources' capital improvement program for southern Michigan is approved by the governor and legis-

The State Fairgrounds and Detroit River access sites will get the most attention, but there are several other noteworthy items in the $10.1 million

*Teeple Lake in the Highland Recreation Area-$475:000 for a new beach on the west side of the lake, along with roads and support facilities. (Teeple already has a popular beach on the east side of the lake.)

· Maybury Urban State Park, Northville Township-$316,000 for a day camp, horse stables (for a concession), picnic area additions and field sports. (Maybury is one of the best horse trail and bieveling spots on public land that you can find within many hours of here.)

 Proud Lake Recreation Area— $21,000 for an improved entrance road to the canoe concession. (Jack Butterfield in DNR's parks division tells us he's aware of the poor shape of the road to the public access boat landing. but that's the province of the waterways division, which already has many demands on its limited funds.) •Island Lake—$146,000 for a new entrance road, picnic area and frontier cabins. The entrance from Grand River Avenue will be closed. The new road will come westward from Kensington Road and along Sutherland Road to the south end of the lake. The practice, said Butterfield, is to gravel it for the first year, then pave it when it has been packed down.

•Holly Recreation Area-$240,000 to complete campground and day use development and construct a storage building.

PTE. MOUILLEE, the wildfowl marsh at the mouth of the Huron River on Lake Erie, would get a wetlands interpretive center for $500,000 under the same program.

Some are billing it as the "first in the state." but that's not quite so. There is an excellent wetlands nature center and trail operated by the federal government in the upper peninsula-the Seney Wildlife Refuge. But that's 400 miles away. Pte. Mouillee is much closer.

The interpretive center will include ecological and wetlands exhibits as well as laboratories for student groups and an auditorium.

Tours-guided and unguided-will be

FUNDING for all of this will come from many sources. Purchasers of duck stamps will contribute $300,000.

The friendly federal government is expected to be good for $4.5 million.

State revenue bond funds could contribute $400,000. Other state funds. including the general fund, will add about $3 million

When my husband finally arrives home for dinner, he slumps in the doorway, exhausted after a hard day at the office. I'm so thrilled to see another adult that I start dancing around the lable, saying, "What's new? How was your day? What'd you do? Start from the beginning and tell me every little detail of everything you did and every single little thing that everybody at the office said.

He says, "Food," and stumbles to his chair like a man who hasn't eaten for the better part of a week. After a few bites of nourishment he has the strength to turn to me and say, "So what's new?" He's been out in the real world with actual people who have semi-intelligent things to say. I'm back at him with "So, did your boss say anything interesting? How's the fiscal year shaping up?" "What did your secretary wear today?" "Speak to me!!"

He tells me that it was all too boring to repeat, and heads for his newspaper and coffee, never to be heard from

Meanwhile, my I.Q. is slowly dwindling away to subnormal due to lack of use. I've forgotten all those big words I leared at college. All those years of geometry and Latin don't help a heck of a lot in figuring out the budget or trying to communicate with a preschooler.

I have a definite feeling that MENSA isn't going to break down my door to enroll me in their select society. I don't really want to be a MENSA-ite anyway. I just want to find out I'm not as dumb as I feel.

AND, AS HE LOOKS back The Stroller recalls that it wasn't only the afterhours places that served free food. They did it in the legitimate hotels.

Well, he recalls when he started dating down in the Dutch Country it was the policy to take the girl friend to Orpheum Theater, the best vaudeville house in the area. Following the show it was a leisurely walk up the main street in Allentown, Pa. to do a bit of window shopping on the way to the

There, in the Rathskeller, the chef appeared every Saturday night at 10 p.m. with a roast pig on a steam table. He carved it as you wished and it was free. It mattered not that we were not old enough to drink liquor. So we had Coke and pig.

At another place, not far away, on Saturday nights, they served roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy and charged only a nickel.

The Stroller never thought he would see the like of that again. But when he arrived in Detroit, during the blind pig

There were places like Allen's on Michigan Avenue where you were handed the knife and told to cut your own slice of roast beef right off the big round.

At Arthur Clamage's place in the alley behind the old Avenue Theater on Woodward Avenue, you were served a bowl of the best soup in town.

The Stroller's mouth waters now for some of the meals at Monty's on Linwood, and Al Werbe's in the Wolverine Hotel. And the old Chesterfield Club at Gratiot and Eight-Mile Road.

The food always was the best-and the price was right. So, is it any wonder when The Stroller looked at the menus for the New Year's Eve parties the other night that he longed for the good old days? They were something out of this world for a fellow with an appetite. We may never see the time days, free food was used as even more again when food will be given away in the hope that you will buy a drink or the hope that you will buy a drink or hours or three at a maximum. But trustees wandered all over the place discussing issues, got lost in parliamentary procedure, and devoted far too much time debating issues which should have been settled months ago.

TAKE THE DEBATE on sixth grade instruments as an example.

The school board has known about this issue for months, and has known it was nearing a decision stage for 90 days, if not longer. I think it was two months ago when James Griffith, director of music at the CEP, first presented trustees a written report and recommendation.

The item appeared on a subsequent agenda and was tabled because it was decided a legal, opinion should be obtained. But Monday night the legal opinion wasn't being debated. Trustees were debating whether to provide free instruments to sixth graders and, if they are provided, how to pay for replacing worn instruments. All the basic information on these two issues were contained in Griffith's report. There was plenty of time to discuss differences of opinion on both pointseither at the regular board meeting when the item was first introduced and tabled, or at board workshops.

Why 7 is better than 6

After all, one of the purposes of workshop meetings is to allow trustees to have a full airing of differences of opinion, and obtain all the facts, so they are prepared to make a decision at regular meetings.

THE REAL ZINGER, though, was a lengthy debate on whether to accept bids for four construction projects to be financed by the 1974 bond issue.

For some reason which only trustees know (and that's doubtful), board members decided to debate the merits of individual projects. There was some discussion on the actual bids, but most of the debate was devoted to the wisdom of proceeding with the four proj-

Five trustees have known for a year-some longer-that the projects must be completed or the district would have a balance in the 1974 bond issue account of almost $469,000 which could not be spent. Yet they wasted a great deal of time debating the merits of the projects, voted down the bids, and then had to untangle the motion and approve the bids project by project. Approval was finally given when it was hammered home that the board could not spend money on other projects (roof, air conditioning for year-round schools) until these four projects were completed. The fact is that before the very first vote was cast, at least five trustees knew this was the case. I suspect all six did.

What some trustees were doing was attempting to second-guess the mandate of voters given in 1974. Time has passed, but state law requires "completion" of projects approved in a bond issue. The board did have some leeway, which it exercised, as the law allows projects to be scaled down Thus, only four tennis courts will have metered lighting at Plymouth Canton High instead of 14 courts. But the projects must be done before any balance can be released for other work.

The board had held at least one workshop and I think two were held during the past year discussing legal requirements and how the projects could be scaled down to leave more money for new projects which are more necessary in 1978.

That requirement was fully aired at workshop sessions, and regular meetings also. Yet some trustees stumbled around debating the wisdom of the projects and suggesting they be dumped.

I was amazed the board got so hopelessly lost on the '74 bond issue construction project bids. Trustees should have been prepared to do what needed to be done, and were in leftfield trying to ando what '74 voters asked to be

I don't know if the seventh member will help much. But after Monday night anything is worth trying.

CNP-Y is hoping that someone in the maintenance business in the Canton-Plymouth area might help locate a person, perhaps retired or presently unemployed, who would be interested in serving the CNP-Y as its maintenance aide.

While the CNP-Y has its grant—enough to pay a fix-it man $166.73 weekly unil SQEPT. 3s?-it cannot find a person to do the fixing.

So the CNP-Y could use some help, first to locate a reliable maintenance man who would enjty working from now until next fall, and then to inform senior citizens who may need help with their chores that it's available at CNP-Y

The story is told of a young man who quit his job and ran away from home because he wasn't willing to do as much work as his employer felt he

He decided that he would go to a country far away where he had heard he could find great riches without having to work hard. So he tied his scanty possessions into a bundle, threw it over his shoulder and set out on his journey.

He had not gone far when he was overtaken by a fierce storm. He plodded along through the wind and the sleet and the snow until he was nearly exhausted. Then to his delight he saw a small cabin just a few hundred yards down the trail. As fast as he could he ran to the shack, forced the door open and went inside.

In one corner of the room stood an old pot-bellied stove. He shook his fist at the stove and commanded, "Stove, give me heat and I'll give you wood. He stood and waited but he could feel no heat. And again he demanded, "Stove, give me heat and I'll give you wood," but no heat could he feel. He shouted his command for the stove to give him heat until his voice became hoarse but to no avail.

He pulled his coat tightly around himself and sat down on the floor by the stove. He shivered as he waited for the stove to give him heat until he collapsed and froze because he didn't realize that he would have to give the wood before he could enjoy the heat.

ONE PERSON MAY say, "Why is it that I am always so unlucky? Why can't I have a better job so I could earn more money and be able to afford a better car and a finer, more beautiful home? Why is it that the breaks always come to someone

And so often that person will keep right on asking "why" instead of doing something to improve his circum-

Another person takes an entirely different approach. This one says, "I am not satisfied with my present status in life, I want something better. I want a better job, with a higher income, so I can enjoy more of the finer things in this world." Then he sits down to analyze his situation, to determine what he will have to do in order to get what he wants.

If it requires a better job he will determine what he must do, if anything, to qualify himself for it. When he realizes what has to be done, he doesn't put it off-he immediately gets busy and does it, but his secret is seldom luck, it is usually deliberate and consistent action.

When we finally resolve to face up to the price of a successful life, when we become willing to give the wood of constant and persistent effort, only then can we expect to enjoy the heat only then can we begin to look forward to a richer, fuller and more rewarding life. "Such is the way to win."

Readers' forum Brad had a propensity for fun, not for drinking

Bradley Wilson was 6 when I first saw him in the backyard playing. He had a propensity for fun.

In the ensuing years, Brad became a household fixture, as he and my son, Dave, became the best of friends. At 12, he was in my garage tinkering with and riding mini-bikes. He had a propensity for excitement.

At 15, Brad spent a week with us at our cottage in Gaylord. Days were spent fishing, skeet shooting, exploring the bomb range and firetrails. He had a propensity for adventure.

At 16, he delighted in parking in our driveway, in what was classified the of man's parking spot. On my driving in. I was always greeted with: "Hey, Mr. B, didn't think you'd be along so soon, I'll move my car." He had a propensity for joking

Now, it would appear there are those who would villify Brad by saying he had a propensity for drinking and reckless driving. I choose to think not; after all, Webster's Collegiate defines propensity as a "natural inclination." We agree, Jack (Wilson), Brad was a really nifty guy, our family misses him also.

Editor's Note: Bradley Wilson was killed July 23 while driving a car in which five other young men lost their lives. In one of two lawsuits filed against the parents of Brad Wilson, the driver, it is alleged that the 17-year-old had a "propensity for drinking."

Regulate business signs for a community balance

ville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi League of Women Voters (LWV), as a part of their continuing land use study. has examined the need for revisions to the ordinance in Canton relating to signs and has reached the following/ consensus:

A unit of government needs an sign ordinance. Attractive signs can be an asset to a community. With a well-planned and enforceable ordinance, signs can provide business identification; aid the growth and prosperity of the business community; enhance the quality of life for residents and visitors and provide aesthetically pleasing visual communication.

However, uncontrolled sign usage can have a detrimental effect on a community. The absence of restrictions on size, height, placement and construction of signs can create hazardous traffic conditions; endanger the health, safety and welfare of the people; decrease the effectiveness of the signs and contribute to the deterioration of the business community and adjacent areas.

In order to insure the highest quality visual environment for a community,

Puzzled by SC millage rejections

I read with interest the news article about the Schoolcraft College millage postponement. Frankly, I find it difficult to accept the voters' consistent turn-downs of Schoolcraft millage requests. We apparently haven't convinced enough people of the values and benefits Schoolcraft provides to its communities.

Salute letter on assault

On behalf of First Step. I wish to thank you for printing in your Readers Forum on Jan. 5 the supportive and articulate letter from a concerned reader in Plymouth. We could certainly use this person's talents on our task force

I also would like to encourage this reader and others to write to the govemor in support of Senate Bills 970-977. These bills would provide the legal, medical and social service so urgently needed by domestic assault victims and their children.

I also would suggest that Governor Milliken allocate the needed revenue from the $60 million surplus in the state budget.

MARY A. PINKERTON Co-chairperson, First Step Northwest Wayne County Task Force on Domestic Assault

In my campaign for Schoolcraft trustee last June, I attempted to communicate those values in hard dollar terms by contrasting tuition and book charges and living expenses at Schoolcraft, a private college and a state supported four-year college

The net savings to parents and-or students were considerable. Costs averaged $1,000 per year at Schoolcraft, $4,000 per year at Michigan or Michigan State and $7,000 at Harvard or Yale.

In addition, Schoolcraft offers a whole range of vocational-technical programs which aren't offered at the four-year colleges. Its faculty is as dedicated as any other two or fouryear school. In fact, its faculty may be better when you consider our finest four-year schools conduct a large number of their undergraduate courses with teaching fellows who have completed neither their masters nor doctorate degrees.

As you can see, I am seriously puzzled by the poor treatment of Schoolcraft at the polls. No educational institution in our midst has done more for us as citizens than has Schoolcraft College. When you compare the miniscule amount of tax it requires to maintain it, Schoolcraft's accomplishments are even more impressive. Let's all support Schoolcraft-at least just this once.

Tactics used by anti-rape group damage cause

Lately we've seen the subject of rape come into

Women are confronting the issue by demanding stricter laws governing convicted rapists and help for the physically and emotionally damaged victims. Women are learning rape prevention and self-defense instead of hearing the old, crude joke about lying back and enjoying it.

With this new-found rape awareness, however, come groups which appear to be out to make money by exploiting women's fears. This was done in a 56-page booklet, "What You Had Better Know about Rape," which is being sold for $10 by telephone solicitors, and by offering marked-up products such as "shriek alarms," doorstop alarms and flashing lights.

TELEPHONE SOLICITORS, employed by D&D Advertising, are calling women in Wayne and Oakland counties and reportedly hawking these products with a hard-sell approach.

If they refuse to buy, women are asked "why" they don't want the anti-rape equipment and, in at least one instance, warned of the alternative.

D&D solicitors are selling the products for a non-profit corporation called Citizens Against Rape, Inc. (CAR) and its non-profit affiliate, Dale Corp. of Warren. Along with the $10 pamphlet and expensive equipment, buyers also receive "associate membership" in CAR.

The booklet is worth $3, at most. The information contained in the booklet is fairly solid but overpriced.

DALE JABLONSKI, president of Dale Corp. said his firm and the telephone solicitor firm are being paid "a standard retainer fee" by CAR. He refused to say what that fee is.

Proceeds for the non-profit CAR, said Jablonski. who doubles as CAR'S public relations man, will be used by CAR to hire speakers, such as Oakland County psychologist Bruce Danto.

Dr. Danto said Monday he will give a CAR-sponsored speech without fee on Feb. 16 on "Psycho Prints

So where will the money go? Some to Dale Corp. some to D&D Advertising; and some to CAR, where the money will be used to promote rape awareness and rape education," according to CAR President Cynthia Kleiner.

MS. KLEINER IS listed on corporation papers filed with the state as resident agent of CAR.

But there is no office for CAR's staff, and its telephone number and address are the same as Dale Corp.

Dale Corp. also publishes booklets on crime prevention for various police non-profit organizations such as the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police and the Detroit Lieutenants and Sergeants Association. Phone solicitations also are done for these organizations, and any complaints about the conduct of solicitors or the promotion ring at the Dale Corp. headquarters, not at the non-profit agencyjust as is the case with Citizens Against Rape, Inc.

AND AFTER LAST week's phone blitz for antirape equipment and the $10 booklet, there were complaints from people contacted by the solicitors.

A Southfield woman on Guy Street said "I couldn't believe my ears" when the solicitor put the hard-sell approach on after she said she wasn't interested in buying an alarm, light or booklet.

"I had spoken to them about my three daughters, aged 14, 11 and 7," said the woman, who asked not to be identified.

"When I told them I wasn't interested, the girl (solicitor) said, 'Well, maybe when one of your daughters gets raped, you'll wish they had the equipment.

"I don't mind someone talking about rape, but don't wish it on my three daughters," she said.

The recent activities of Dale Corp. and D&D Advertising make one wonder about those who earn salaries and fees, if not profits, by exploiting fear

Super Bowl can outdraw Mardi Gras

Super Bowl is over for the year, and New Orleans is slowly recovering from the invasion of Dallas and Denver fans.

Local people said that Super Bowl activities had more economic impact on the town than the Mardi Gras because so many out-of-staters came to town.

If you wanted a hotel room, you had to pay for five nights. Even then every hotel room in the city was taken. Local people even rented out their apartments to desperate fans who couldn't find a place to rest their weary heads. Many Denverites arrived in motor homes because they couldn't get hotel reservations

All the good restaurants that took reservations were committed all week long. Most reservations were made months ago.

Every rented car from the national agencies was

On Monday after the game, every flight out of New Orleans was booked solid.

SOMEWHERE BETWEEN 60,000 and 100,000 people from other areas spent time in New Orleans eating, sleeping, drinking and otherwise spending money.

New Orleans has a city tax, a state tax and an amusement tax amounting totally to eight per cent which is added to every drink served. Hotel rooms are taxed at six per cent. These taxes help pay for schools, welfare, police protection and so forth by people who will never use these services.

New Orleans has been selected for the game several times because it is considered part of the southern belt, yet the weather was freezing. In fact, it seemed colder than metropolitan Detroit

In the last four Super Bowls, only in Pasadena in 1977 was the weather sunny and warm. The other three years in New Orleans and Miami, it was either freezing or raining. Of course, New Orleans has now solved the problem of game conditions

There were around 74,500 fans at Super Bowl XII, which was a sellout. Silverdome holds 80,300

If you spend the five days before the game in the city where the game is to be played, the game itself is almost an anti-climax. At least this was true Sunday because the Denver fans really took over New Orleans and got the whole town rooting for them when the game started

Unfortunately, Denver blew the game in the first half, and the town was fairly quiet afterwards. Had the Orange Crush won, the fans would have added a couple of days of celebrating to Super

The biggest event is Pete Rozelle's party, which the National Football League held Friday night for about 2.500 persons.

There is nothing scheduled for the average fan, so he must find his own entertainment.

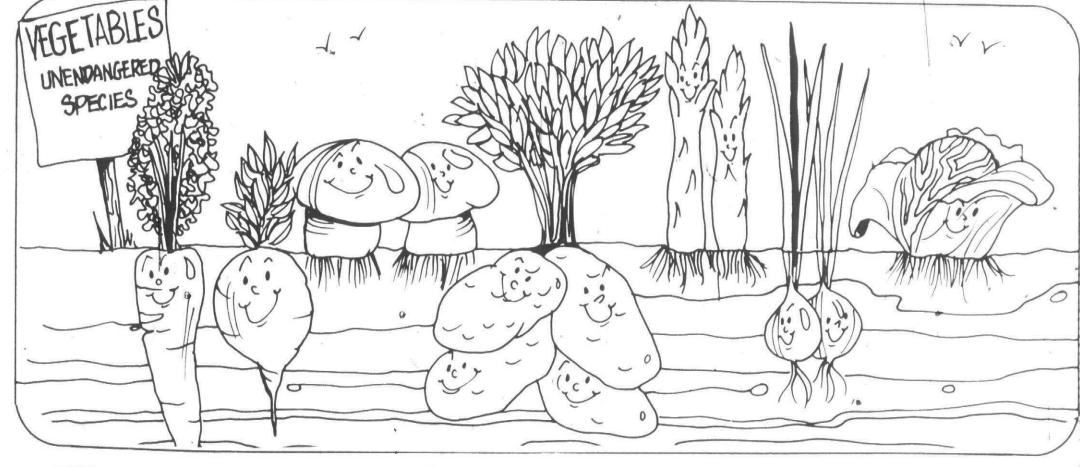

There is no problem in New Orleans because people can congregate in the French Quarter where there are many bars with Dixieland bands and topless go-go dancers. Also, most larger hotels are located in this area, which makes it conven-

eat those (yech!) vegetables

Item in the news: Restaurants, even classy ones. are gradually omitting the vegetable offerings on their menus. Patrons seem quite happy with meat, potatoes and salad, thank you.

Other items: Many school boards are content to let students make their noonday meals of "junk" foods-with all their sugar, salt and starchbecause the kids won't eat "basic" foods

These items lead the health food fans I chum around with to wonder aloud if America's low level of economic productivity and the kids' declining academic test scores might be due as much to malnutrition as to sociology.

YOU CAN LEARN a lot about nutrition in the books and magazine articles on today's market. but there's one lesson I haven't seen in print in years.

It's the lesson in how to eat vegetables which are good for you but which you don't like. I stumbled across the lesson in my youth, and the application of this knowledge at the dinner table preserved a good deal of domestic tranquility:

-Hold your breath as you chew.

If you hold your breath when you eat vegetables, you can't taste them. Your taste buds can detect only sweet, sour, salt and bitter. Everything else you "taste" is really by smell.

Hold your breath when eating broccoli or brussels sprouts or spinnidge and you won't suffer a Holding my breath caused the lady of the house to frown, but she couldn't complain because the rule was I had to eat those vegetables-not enjoy them, not taste them.

IT'S AMAZING to think about the food of those World War II days, when I was in swaddling clothes

Most folks had "victory gardens." Ours was on Fielding in Detroit, on lots that became GI housing after 1946.

It provided plenty of vegetables. You can't grow french fries, pretzels, tacos and pizza in a garden. Sugar was rationed, and consumption of candy was discouraged for reasons of patriotism.

Meat was rationed, too, but you could get tinned meats called Spam and Prem. Impossible as it may sound, they were worse than vegetables. Tastes change with age, and I now enjoy green beans, spinnidge, pears, scotch and all sorts of things I couldn't stand to smell as a kid, but I won't touch Spam, even if they buy an ad in this paper.

So between the patriotic war against the Axis and the invaluable lesson in breath-holding, I learned to get along with vegetables far better, it seems, than the majority of my countrypersons

IN AN ALPINE restaurant in Austria in 1976. I was served a salad with an array of cold and raw vegetables-beets, asparagus, spinach and such

It made me realize what I had been getting as "salad" in growing numbers of American restaurants Except for an occasional stray slice of tomato, many items billed as salad are really bowls of lettuce.

Now, lettuce is good roughage, but its food value is limited, as I understand it. I have a recollection of reading somewhere that you burn up more energy chomping down a bowl of lettuce than you get from the lettuce itself. A salad just can't be a substitute for vegetables.

If the Japanese and Arabs take over the world from a bloated but undernourished American nation, remember that the funny guy writing in your hometown paper tried to warn you.

The Stroller Wanted: Wooden Indians

the classified ad sections of every paper on which he could lay his hands. hoping against hope that some day. somewhere, he would come across a man or woman who would have an oldfashioned wooden Indian for sale.

This longing for a statue of an Indian has been with The Stroller for years. and especially after he moved to what was "the country" in 1938. As he walked about the garden, he could visualize what a fine garden decoration it

In fact, he often had given thought to having the statue at the entrance to the driveway of his home-just to let folks know he was proud of the Indian strain in his background. You see. The Stroller's great-great-grandmother was a full-fledged Indian sq aw named Kern

But every time he thought he had a lead on the statue, he found himself walking up a blind alley, and the desire became a dream.

THEN THE OTHER morning as he peered out between the long icicles hanging from the roof, he saw the mailman plodding through the snow with a package in his hands.

What could it be? The Stroller couldn't recall anything he had ordered. Nor could it be a belated Christmas gift.

When he mailman handed him a package, he said, "Here's something to take your mind off the ice and

Sure enough, it was a volume—sent gratis—of the latest in garden books and lawn ornaments. The Stroller took one look and smilingly thanked the mailman and said, "I hope it contains what I have been looking for for years-a wooden Indian."

Hurriedly, The Stroller scanned the pages. He was impressed with the garden arrangements of flowers, the floral trellises, the rose-covered fences, the little statues, the fountains.

the vases But nowhere in the neatly produced volume was the least sign of a wooden Indian There were Mexicans with their little donkeys and burros. There were small jockeys with an outstretched hand as in the old days when they were hitching posts for horses There were all sorts of animals in the garden booklet-swans, hens and chickens and even a life-sized horse for folks who raise horses on their

But nowhere was there a wooden Indian

SOME YEARS AGO, The Stroller was fold that a chap down in the suburbs of Terre Haute, Ind . had several wooden Indians and that, if contacted, he might sell them.

Eagerly. The Stroller contacted the gent. He was certain he was on the right track now. It took about a dozen phone calls to finally locate him. He admitted he had two fine statues that used to grace the entrances to the cigar stores of years ago.

How much would he want for one? The Stroler asked.

For a moment there was silence. Then came the answer: "I'll take $750 for each of them. I know the price sounds high, but these are prize items

There was another moment of silence as The Stroller pondered the nerve of a man who would ask $750 for a wooden Indian.

The the Hoosier on the other end of the line said, "I can't sell you one. You have to take both. You see, I've got a chief and a squaw. I think they are man and wife. I have never attempted to break up a family in my life. These two Indians have been with me a long time, and it would be a crime to separate them now

Needless to say. The Stroller didn't make the purchase, but that is as close as he ever has come to the statue he would like to have as a garden ornament.

THE URGE to obtain one of these copper-colored men was given impetus one afternoon when his wife Leona. Its tening to the plea, temarked that The Stroller was not the only one in the family with a trace of Indian blood

"My great-great grandparents lived." on Harsen's Island just off the shores' of Algonac, and I have been told that the great-great-grandmother was a Walpole Indian.

Now. The Stroller knows he must get the statug of his desire It is affunny thing. There used to be an Indian standing in front of almost every cigar store in the area-not only in metropolitan Detroit but across the country. Now there isn't a sight of one.

Hendry: Don't harm funding

John Hendry has a problem. He cannot offer the good care and fringe benefits he is now giving and turn a profit with the $24.55 per day paid to him under the Medicaid program. That's perfectly understandable.

What I don't understand is why he would condemn and possibly jeopardize any future funding received by the Walter P. Reuther Memorial longterm care facility by adverse pub-

His argument sounds good to the average citizen. What the average citizen does not realize is that the patients in the Walter P. Reuther facility are the same patients that nursing homes like his refuse to accept because they have no money

For those who want and can pay for lounges with antique furniture, grand pianos and posh offices, I say fine. But please do not try to take the pressure off yourself Mr. Hendry, by jeopardizing funding for the care of the very same patients you are putting out.

By the way, those of us who know something about the care given at the Reuther facility cannot be conned by Hendry's statement that he could match their care at $55 per day.

It is impossible to do this and turn a profit. And as we all know, profit is the name of Hendry's game.

3 traffic violations for picking up pizza

Are the residents of Plymouth aware of the fact that they can be ticketed not once but three times in the few minutes it takes to go into Colonial Pizza on Liberty Street and pick up a Police officer Carl Berry issued three tickets to me while parked in front of a building I once rented for eight years, during which time no one was ever ticketed or threatened with being towed away for illegal parking.

I now have three shops on Liberty Street and have observed various traffic violations such as speeding, use as a truck route, etc., but have yet to see anyone ticketed for same.

Perhaps officer Berry should be stationed at Liberty and Starkweather permanently to issue three tickets to each driver who parks there. What a windfall because this occurs many times a day

Do we really need to alienate the customers of Liberty Street, a street that I have worked eight years to help build up businesswise? Wouldn't a warning have sufficed and if not one ticket more ethical? Three tickets really is a bit much. Surely some discretion could have been used.

The business proprietors on Liberty Street don't need the police department and mostparticularly officers like Carl Berry to discourage customers from frequenting our businesses.

Canton Police a costly solution

Editor

If you are concerned about someone stealing money out of your pockets, then you should be concerned about

There is no way the Canton Township can create and maintain an efficient police agency with the money that the voters have allotted them. I repeat, There is no way that Canton Township can create and maintain an efficient police agency with the money that the voters have allotted.

I am not a politician, but I guarantee that the statement that I just made is accurate, and any politician that denies or disputes it, is a damn liar. I. as a taxpayer of Canton Township, will say it to his or her face.

I will agree that a small police agency can be created, but that is all. The police agency that is created with this money will not be able to grow and keep up with the growing community or crime. Therefore it will be ineffective

The politicians are trying to make us believe that we will have everything that we need in a police agency with the money that has been allotted. They all know however, that in a couple of years they will be asking for another millage for even more money. They can argue that we all voted to create the department, how it is up to us to support it, and give them more money to keep it going. There goes our taxes

The package that Sheriff William

Lucas has recently offered the township is expensive, but take into consideration what goes with the package:

Police officers with several years of road experience. Police officers already receiving top union scale wages. Police officers receiving full benefits of paid vacations, sick days, B/C & B/C-Dental Ins. Life Ins. etc. New patrol vehicles every year. Complete County-Wide Communication system. Full time auto and radio mechanics. A headquarters building equipped with a large garage, for vehicle maintanence, and adequate iail facilities for the detention of prisoners. Full services of the Detective bureau, Youth bureau, Metro Squad, Identification and Crime Lab. Women's division, Traffic division, and Helicopter division.

Canton Township will have none of these, and even though the cost of these sérvices will no doubt increase in future years, they will never cost as much as it would to create and maintain them from scratch. Any police agency must eventually have these services to be effective.

I would like to make one final point. The sheriff is presently faced with the unpleasant task of laying off more than 70 officers who are presently full time employees of the department, forcing even more people into the ranks of the unemployed. Canton Township, on the other hand, is considering giving jobs, that could be filled by these qualified officers, to other part-time officers who, for the most part, are holding some other full-time job. Even if they are not selected to a full-time position with Canton Township Police Department, these menwill not have to worry about supporting their families. Is this fair' I have nothing against the present , Canton Township police officers, and I * feel that they are no less qualified than anyone else, but in my opinion, plain common sense and good busifiess tactics would tell me that the smartest move for us taxpayers in Canton Township is to contract with the

SHARON AND DAVE Pugh's invitation to Sue and Rod Cannon to "come over for dinner Sunday night and watch the Super Bowl with us" had an ulterior motive.

When the Cannons arrived, there were shouts of "Surprise!" It was a party for Rod on his promotion to inspector in in the Plymouth Police Department.

Guests were Sally and Dennis Bila, Dee and Bud Martin, Lee and A dy Hosey and Joan and Lou Gerigk. And tf course they had presents for he guest of honor. Knowing the done's, Rod did not need the warning that the gifts were on the "silly side.

There was a wool plaid inspector's hat and a spy glass-things they considered essential to his new job.

Betty was referring to her brother and his wife, the George Moshers of Birmingham & The couple embarked on a 60-day tramp steamer cruise early last fall. They planned to be home for Thanksgivinl, but instead spent it in Odessa, Russia.

They didn't get home for Christmas either, and word finally came word came they would dock in Miami Jan.

They didn't quite make it. On Saturday, they were still in the Mediterranean. Their message had been sent from Oran, Algeria.

The interesting part about a tramp steamer cruise-or this tramp steamer cruise-is that passenges pay for a 60-day trip. If the voyage is less than 60 days, the passengers are reimbursed. Any time over 60 days is on the steamship company. The Moshers have been guests of the company since Thanksgiving.

Each has amassed a list of performing credits that promises a polished and almost professional production. These are no rank amateurs.

Brad Russell, 13, who attends West Middle School in Plymouth is Tom Sawyer. When he was 7, he began appearing professionally in clubs as an instrumentalist and featured song and dance performer with the Russell Brothers.

He has done television commercials and has had a screen test with Universal Studios in California. His last appearance with the Plymouth Theatre Guild was in "We've Always Lived in the Castle." He has stage credits with other groups.

He finds time to paint and write original short stories and plays. As a photographer, Brad plans to enter some of his work in the Young People's Original Documentary Film Club competition.

Jeff Lee will be Huck Finn. He lives in Northville and attends Meads Mill Junior High School where he is drummer in the school band.

His record, "Barney, the CB Reindeer," was released last December. He did the role of Patrick in "Mame" for a New York dinner theatre.

He has done TV commercials and appeared in a special. No newcomer to local audiences, he has been in two PTG productions.

The Ptymouth Theatre Guild has assembled a large cast for the production. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. Jan. 20, 21, 27 and 28. There will 2 p.m. matinees Jan. 21 and 28. Tickets may be purchased at the door, $3 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and students.

The ambitious undertaking involves 13 sets and a group of students from elementary and middle schools. Auditions brought a large response from surrounding areas and the cast includes seasoned actors from neighboring theatre associations.

Small figures from history and fiction represent hours of work

Adult modelers create works of art

Model kits aren't just for kids.

A visit to the Blue Max hobby shop in Canton proves the point. There coowners Bob Mills and Max Bell cringe everytime a customer refers to their "toy soldiers" and "toy airplanes."

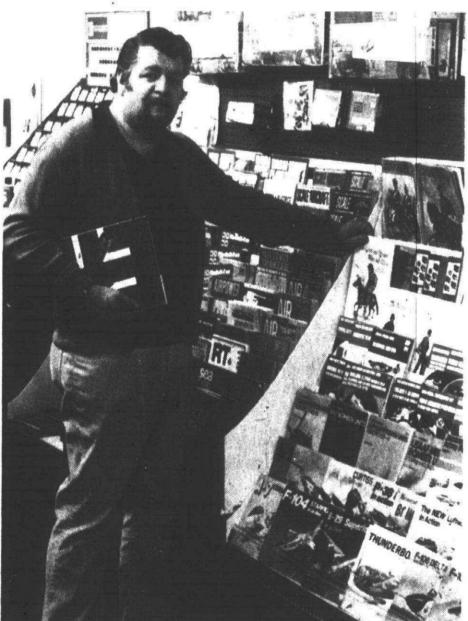

After all, the men have spent 100 or more hours on a single model, and the result is not a toy.

Mills' specialty is models of human figures. Bell's expertise is centered on model aircraft.

And it was their hobby that brought them together in business.

The Blue Max opened 31/2 months

ITS CABINETS are filled with the handiwork of Mills and other modelers, both youths and adults.

Bob Mills stresses research and there are many publications which aid the modeler. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

The aircraft suspended from the ceiling were constructed by Bell.

"I guess you'd call us the walking wounded. Both of us had been injured on our jobs and had to find a new way to earn a living. We enjoyed modeling very much and agreed we like to help others enjoy the hobby," said Mills.

He favors vac-u-form starter kitsmade of plastic which is vacuumdrawn over a mold. All major components are in a sheet of white plastic which is cut with a hot knife or an

The aircraft models are of hard-tofind planes "passed over by most companies," said Mills. "These cover the historical end of aviation. They give the modeler an opportunity to build what they want-the more unusual aircraft."

The results are picture-perfect miniatures. "There's a Fieseler Storch." said Mills. "Rommel used one of those for observation in North Africa. Most of our adult modelers are historians.

"People who are into it have extensive reference libraries and add to them continually. We stress research. They should find out everything about it before they build." He has about $10,000 invested in his own reference library.

The shop stocks a variety of magazines containing historical backgrounds and color plates of the models.

"THERE IS no time limit on the figures. They go from Neanderthal man to the future.

"There also are characters from fiction and fantasy. Your imagination is the only limit," said Mills.

The showcase also holds a historical pageant, including Chesty Puller, Lt. General in U.S. Marine Corps. The model depicts Puller as a colonel in 1943. Wearing a simple drab uniform, Chesty was a prize winner.

"There were many brilliant, flamboyant uniforms in the contest," said Mills. "I was surprised when he won."

Also included are models of Stoneall Jackson a 7th cavalry officer. Erroll Flynn as Geoffrey Hawk; Loki, evil god of Norse mythology; a Mideast slave auction; a Viking killing a monk; Anne Boleyn; a Saxon and a Norman from the 1066s; Seneca warrior; Wyatt Earp; Doc Holliday; a French Foreign Legionnaire, another -prize-winner: Robin Hood: Henry V in full uniform; Civil War and Revolutionary War generals; a Greek archer; and an Italian pilot with his

Pointing to a helicopter, he said, "the builder spent a year on this one and it has taken first place everywhere it was shown."

It started out as a $1.75 kit but cost $100 before it was finished.

Mills and Bell are members of the International Plastic Modeling Society. The local branch, which has more than 50 members, meets every two weeks in Livonia. The society has its own publications and annual conventions.

"We swap information and show each other what we are doing at the meetings," said Mills. "Our wives really enjoy the conventions. When they meet all the people involved in the hobby, they are more understanding about our involvement."

"YOU WILL FIND almost every occupation (interested in modeling). There are doctors—especially surgeons-lawyers, airline pilots and cargo people, just about everyone," said Mills. "My partner was formerly a truck driver."

Most of the models are made in England, France, Italy, Germany and Japan. "The Historex series from France has about 200 figures from the Napoleonic era-French troops and those from the armies which opposed him."

Mills has great admiration for the sculptors who create the original figures for the molds.

"Some of the artists free lance and the manufacturers have their own artists. I'd like to take a course in sculpture and try my hand at it some day.

"The British are way ahead of us. They have been using oils for years. I just started to use oils four years ago-the texture, the colors, the details are so much better with oils."

Bell talked as he opened a new shipment. "Here they are," he said, "just what we've been waiting for-R2-D2 and C-3PO.

He continued, 'Techniques change. So many of the processes I went through can now be eliminated. We have Cub Scout troops come in and we display the kids' models in the shop. Everyone learns from one model to the next.

Mill's paintings are part of the historic research that is the preparation for his models.

rience includes the King in "King of the Castle," Harrison Howell III in "Kiss Me, Kate," and a soloist ftr Spectacular '73 in Sao Paulo, Brazil. His first appearance with PTG was the expectant father in "6 Rms; Riv Vu."

Central Middle School's contributions to the cast are Nina Narraco (Lydia Hollis) who is a ballet dancer, a member of the school chorus and a performer in school plays; Glenn Forgie (Joe Harper) who has had roles in "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Pumpkin?" "Skeleton," and "Starkweather;" also Ellen Brass, Julie Lindamood and Lynn Behler.

From West Middle are Christine Townsend as Becky Thatcher, Michelle Brault as Amy Lawrence, Patrick Gallagher as Jim Hollis, and Shannon Fitzgerald. Christine has acted in school plays but her love is dancing.

She has won 18 medals for Scottish dancing. Michelle also has performed in school plays. She dances and sings jazz. Patrick has done some modeling for Sears and is a member of his school chorus. This will be his first acting role.

JOEY BLAYLOCK of Pipneer Middle School is Ben Rogers in the play. He is a member of the drama club at Pioneer and the Inkster Young People's Century Performing Arts Organization.

Lashell and Darwin Daniels are making their first appearances in a guild production. They live in Canton Township and attend Tanger Elementary School. Both enjoy acting. Lashell will be Hope Austin and Darwin will be Ted Austin.

The role of Sally Rogers will be played by Nancy Hill, a member of the Salem High School drama club and ski club. Faith Harper will be played by Kim Murray, a member of Plymouth Centon High School drama club who lists dancing and skating as her favorite hobbies. Kim Murray of Canton high also is in the musicale.

Other students in the show are Maggie Tyler as Susie Harper, Kim McCrae of Northville, Lynn Packard of Allen Elementary, Scott Fitzgerald of Bird Elemenetary, Courtney and Dana Carson of Cherry Hill.

ROD MOREY, 13, has the role of Jeff Thatcher. His first appearance with the guild was as Red Chief in "The Ransom of Red Chief." He has assumed many responsibilities with PTG—even making the cotton candy sold annually at the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Kathleen O'Mara plays Aunt Polly and also is chairwoman of the set construction committee.

Ed Nuemaier makes his first stage appearance as Sid. Janet Brass will be Widder Dgas. Colleen Dever of Ypsilanti will be Cousin Mary. Her credits include "South Pacific" as Liat, "Jesus Christ Superstar" and "Fiddler on the Roof" for Bucks County Playhouse in Pennsylvania.

The Preacher is played by Michael Nelson, an English teacher at Crestwood High School. He was Basil Pronker in "A Gentleman and a Scoundrel" for PTG. He was assistant director of "Hair" at Oakland University, and did the role of Lee Calhoun in the musical "Babes in Arms" for the Dearborn Repertory Theatre.

Buzz Buzzell, a drama major at Schoolcraft College will be Doc Robinson. He also is chairing the makeup committee. This is his first appearance on the PTG stage. He was Count Dracula in "Dracula," the vicar in "Murder at the Vicarage," and the Writing this column is usually a lot of fun.

Just getting information about what's happenig around Canton gives me a chance to talk to and meet people I would not normally come in contact with. Once in a while this column shows my readers a few of my shortcomings. I am sure most everyone would agree that we all are prone to make mistakes every so often. Fortunately, most of our errors do not appear in print for everyone to read and comment on.

I do try to maintain a standard of accuracy. I would like to think that what you read in the Canton Chatter is correct, precise and without a doubt true. Names are always spelled right, dates are always correct and times and places of events accurate. If you read about it in Chatter, rest assured you have reliable information. Of course, that is only what I would like

Knowing I am not infallible does not make it any easier to admit it. Many people who read Chatter last week were wondering where my mind was when I wrote it. The parents of the boys on the Plymouth-Canton mite hockey travel team could not remember being in Sterling Heights over the holidays. In fact they were not near that city. The boys actually took second place in the invitational Christmas tournament in Southgate.

To correct the error of my ways, I humbly admit my mistake. My special apologies go to Dale Darkowski and Sharon Smith who were more than happy to point out my inaccuracy several times.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mike and Linda Becker of Cranford Avenue who became parents on Dec. 26. Their new son Kevin Douglas arrived at University Hospital just a little late for Christmas but in plenty of time to welcome in the new year.

MEMBERS OF the Canton TOPS chapter celebrated their first anniversary Thursday evening. To honor the occasion each member brought a low calorie diet dish and its recipe to the meeting. Instructions were to bring a serving just large enough for each member to sample.

Chris Lapinski was crowned as Canton's first TOPS member to reach her goal and given the new title of a KOPS member. (Keep Pounds Off Sensibly.) Chris has done a tremendous job of losing weight. Her fellow TOPS friends are proud of her and glad she is a member of their chapter.

Canton's TOPS meets every Thursday evening at Miller School on Hanford Road. Weigh-ins begin at 7 p.m. They invite and weicome new members to their chapter. It is a fun night as well as a rewarding one. Nothing like losing those excess pounds to boost one's morale. It's a great way to start the new year.

GIRL SCOUT cookie time is coming. To kick off the cookie sale girls from Plymouth and Canton were entertained Saturday at Plymouth Salem High School with a magic show. This year's theme for the sale is "There is Magic in Girl Scout Cookies" making the show very appropriate.

Girl scouts will be taking orders for cookies from Jan. 30 until Feb. 12. I can hardly wait for those thin mints, my favorite cookie of all time.

"VIVAT! VIVAT Regina!," originally produced at England's Chichester Festival in 1970, is Bolt's 20th century vision of the epic 16th century contest between Mary Stuart and Elizabeth I for the English throne.

True to history, Bolt never allows Elizabeth and Mary to meet on stage, as they never met in real life. Instead he follows the career of each queen from the time of Mary's marriage to the king of France to her imprisonment and ultimate beheading.

Jazz tomorrow in Dearborn

Jazz leader Phil Woods and his quintet will kick off the Winter Concert Series at the University of Michigan-Dearborn at 8 and 10:30 p.m., Jan. 20 in the campus' Recreation Organization Center.

U of M-D's Office of Student Life Program Board and Just Jazz are sponsoring the performance.

"This concert opens up a new dimension for the Just Jazz series," explains U of M-D student coordinator Fred Sattler. "In the past we have primarily focused on providing a forum for Detroit talent like Tribe. Ron English, and Mixed Bag. In the future we also hope to expose local audiences to artists who reflect musical development on the pational

Woods has been a major figure in jazz for 25 years. He has rarely performed in this area and has played in every style from swing, bop and cool to free, electric and funk.

WOODS HAS WORKED and recorded with a wide variety of performers ranging from Billy Joel, Steely Dan and Paul Simon to Quincy Jones, Thelonious Monk, Dizzy Gillespie, Donald Byrd and Benny Goodman.

The 1977 Downbeat Readers' Poll listed him as the top alto sax player and as one of the top five soprano sax players. His quintet was listed as one of the 10 best jazz groups, and their recent album "Live from the Showboat" was praised as one of the 10 best albums of the year. He has also won previous Downbeat Critics' and Read-

Woods' performance on the Michael Legrand album "Images" earned two Grammy awards, while his own albums have won excellent reviews in Variety, Time, Billboard, Stereo Review, Record World and Cashbox.

The quintet also includes pianist Mike Mellilo, drummer Bill Goodwin. guitarist Harry Leahey, and bass player Steve Gilmore.

Goodwin has recorded with Keith Jarrett, Jefferson Airplane, Mose Allsion and Gary Burton, while Gilmore has recorded with the Thad Jones-Mel Lewis Orchestra Leahev has worked with Gerry Mulhgan. while Mellilo, a classically trained composer and arranger, has played with Art Farmer. Kottler awesome, Oakway mixed

By GRETCHEN MCHUGH

Francesco Di Blasi led the Oakway Symphony in a program Saturday night that featured pianist Mischa Kottler in a performance of the Rachmaninoff second piano concerto, and opened with a selection of varied orchestral pieces

Of the openers-Frescobalid, Handel Water Music, Sibelius and Berhez-the Sibelius "Swan of Tuonela" was the most beautiful, and three dances from Berlioz' "The Damnation of Faust" were the most challenging to the orchestra.

'The Swan of Tunela" is a tone poem. It describes the swan who swims in the Finns equivalent of Hades, as described in the epic poem

The excellent, tonally rich playing captured the feeling of swanhood. The tempo, however, was just a little hurried, robbing the performance of more real beauty that might have been there. The spooky string accompaniment was properly kept down, and one passage, where cello, violin and English horn all play in succession a long phrase without a "breath," was particularly lovely.

THE BERLIOZ DANCES were more of a challenge for the orchestra. The sprites sounded more like housewives on the way to the supermarket than sprites, and the sylphs were tenuous and uncertain. because string players' attention to getting all the notes precluded much freedom for interpretation.

However, the Rakoczy March really moved and had tonal color and spirit, and it gave a rousing end to the first half of the concert.

Di Blasi's conducting asks more from the players than he gets. He is not a dramatic, flayboyant conductor but really knows what he wants. For instance, contrasts between loud and soft passages, full rich string sounds, broadness, playfulness-and it is rather disconcerting to see him ask for these interpretations, wait for the delivery, and have only intermittent success.

MISCHA KOTTLER, Russian-born Detroit pianist, who solos fairly regularly with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, used his scientific, incredible technique to intrepret the warm, human Rachmaninoff C Minor Piano Concerto without any noticeable effort.

Watching Kottler, whose manner is a curious mixture of humility and a subtle mischievousness, is a little like watching Horowitz-it's awesome. There's so much poet because the hands can do so much. Neither pianist makes any extraneous motions—no swaying, leaning or artful gestures to distract the audience.

There is a difference, however. Where Horowitz, intent on communicating, wins his audience through a supreme involvement in the music, there is a detachment about Kottler's playing.

THE PERFORMANCE WAS UNIFIED, balanced, full of rich beautiful sounds, even though several times Kottler's holding back for economy's sake caused a muddy, indistinct sound that couldn't be blamed on accoustics. Difficulties were minimal. One of them was the string pizzicato in the last movement which almost drowned out the piano with its awkward clucking. But overall, the performance satisfied the audience, which gave Kottler and Di Blasi a standing ovation.

The Oakway Symphony's next concert is March 19 at Seaholm High School in Birmingham.

Rampal with DSO this weekend

Werner Torkanowsky, guest conductor and associate to the music director of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, DSO, will conduct as world-famous flutist Jean-Pierre Rampal appears in three concerts at Ford Auditorium Jan. 19, 20 and 21.

Thursday and Saturday concerts are at 8:30 p.m. and Friday's NBD coffee concert is at 10:45 a.m., preceded by a complimentary coffee hour at 9:30 a.m. There will be an on-stage pre-concert interview with Maestro Torkanowsky at 10:15.

The program will include Beethoven's overture to "Egmont," Khachaturian's Flute Concerto-in its first DSO performance, and Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4.

Jean-Pierre Rampal has been called "one of the greatest flutists of history" by the New York Times. His world-wide popularity stems both from his global tours and a huge output of recordings of virtually the entire repertoire for the flute.

Tickets may be purchased at the Ford Auditorium Box Office, Hudson's and Wards ticket outlets, and the "Detroit Tonight" desk at the Plaza Hotel in the Renaissance Center. Master Charge and VISA charge card customers may order tickets by telephone at 962-5524.

Werner Torkanowsky was born in Geramny and emigrated with his parents to Israel when he was six years old. He received his earliest training from his mother, a concert pianist. He became the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's guest conductor and associate to the music director in September

Jean-Pierre Rampal was born in Marseilles. France, the son of a flutist who played with the Marseilles opera and taught at the local conservatory. Young Rampal received flute lessons from an early age, but his father intended Jean-Pierre for the medical profession

In the third year of medical school he was called up for military service under the German occupation. He hid from the military authorities in Paris. where he attended flute classes at the Conservatoire, graduating in five months with the first prize in flute. After the liberation of Paris. Rampal became first flute with the Paris Opera. gave solo recitals on the radio, and joined forces with harpsichordist Robert Veyron-Lacroix, tour ing the musical capitals of Europe

Grapplers take 3d tourney title

Glenn relishes Plymouth visit

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Revenge is always sweet but for Westland John Glenn it was even more, special as the Rockets turned the table on long-time rival Wayne Memorial by winning the third-annual Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational last Sat-

Just one week earlier, Wayne defeated John Glenn in the 32-team Schoolcraft Invitational. When the Rockets visit the Salem gymnasium, however, it's always a different story.

The Westland grapplers have always been very successful in Plymouth and Saturday's tourney victory marked the third-straight time John Glenn has taken home Plymouth's first-place

The host team from Salem suffered from the absence of three starters in its lineup and finished a distant third. Redford Thurston, resting most of its top grapplers because of a heavy dualmeet schedule this week, placed fifth.

Livonia Stevenson placed eighth and Plymouth Canton finished 10th to round out the top 10 Observer & Eccentric squads participating in the 15-team event.

Highland Park, which replaced Novi as the 46th squad, failed to show for John Glenn went into the finals with a 21-point lead over Wayne, 184-163, and gained 10 more points on their rivals with four tournament champions. Glenn placed seven matmen in the finals while Wayne posted six representatives.

"I think overall we wrestled better this week," said a delighted Glenn coach Bob Lusk. "I felt, coming here, Wayne should be favored but I was pleased that we wrestled so well. "Having more teams in the Schoolcraft Invitational spread the points and proved more of a factor in the Plymouth Salem and Mount Clemens (the fourth-place finishers) each placed four grapplers in the final round. The Rocks held a 10-point lead on Mount Clemens going into the finals and maintained that margin at the

"Without having three kids, I was pleased with the way we finished," said Salem coach and tournament host Ron Krueger. "I felt we had a shot at 65 more points if we had our full lineup.

Mount Clemens' 147-pound grappler Fred Worthem, a state champion last year, increased his undefeated record to 30-0 with a 13-0 superior decision over Jim Fairchild of Wayne. Because of his dominance in this weight class, Worthern was chosen the tournament's Most Valuable Wrestler on a vote of the coaches. Worthern received eight of the 15 first-place votes.

All but one of the championship matches were won by decisions. Most of these matches featured many close, last-second victories-and a few upsets which saw two Schoolcraft champions fail to win.

The four Glenn victors included Paul Demers, Bill Meyer, Jeff Doyle, and Jeff Null. Randy Vipperman and Rene Leist each won matches for Plymouth

Ypsilanti was the only disappointing team in the tourney, placing a surprisingly low sixth among their opponents. The Braves wrestled without a number of their top grapplers.

Larry Jackson is up to his old tricks again. The former Livonia Bentley basketball coach, who was always known for his run-and-gun offensive philosophy, gave Plymouth Canton a little dose of the fastbreak-but this time it was from the bench of the Dearborn Heights Annapolis Cou-

Annapolis, not one of the well-known basketball schools in the state, is quickly getting on the map under Jackson-just ask the Chiefs.

Suffering from a letdown of a three-game winning streak and an important Western Six League victory over Waterford Mott last Friday night, the Chiefs succumbed to the Cougars' fastbreak, losing a close 54-53 decision Tuesday night at the Canton gym.

Actually, the game wasn't as close as the score indicates until a late Chief rally in the final quarter almost pulled it out for the Plymouth squad.

Annapolis raced to a quick 18-11 lead and increased it to 37-25 at halftime enroute to the nonleague victory-its eighth in 11 starts.

The Chiefs, currently 5-5 overall, played a poor transition game in that first half, failing on numerous occasions to get back on defense to prevent the

Only the sharp-eye shooting of junior guard sensation Butch King kept the Chiefs in the gameand kept the Plymouth fans from going to sleep.

18 the second half to lead the Canton rally which fell short. King's 34 points included 15 of 25 shots from the floor and four of six from the charity

Canton closed the Cougars' lead to 47-37 after three quarter, but made the final rush in the fourth period, holding Annapolis to only two field goals during the eight-minute span.

The Chiefs finally tied the score at 51-51 with 39 seconds left, but Annapolis' leading scorer Tom Marijanovich countered with a three-point play to Canton had one last chance in the waning seconds. King hit a 22-footer to cut the Cougar lead to 54-53 and the inbounds pass resulted in an Annapolis turnover with only five seconds left.

Canton set up for the final shot which would have won the game, but Kurt Herbert's 12-footer missed the mark and Randy Rienas' follow-up shot failed as the clock ran out.

King scored 16 points in the first half and added Rock cagers polish off frisky Edsel Ford, 64-59

The two-game losing streak of the Plymouth Salem basketball team came to an abrupt halt Tuesday night when the Rocks defeated Dearborn Edsel Ford, 64-59, in Suburban Eight League action at the T-Birds' gym.

The victory gave the Rocks a 9-2 overall record and a 5-2 mark in the conference. Bentley's 58-51 victory over Belleville the same night kept the Bulldogs in first place with a 6-0 record. Salem moved into second place one-a-half game behind the leaders. Belleville stands at 3-2 and Edsel Ford is 4-3.

Salem jumped out to a quick 19-14 lead after the first quarter of play and held a slim 31-29 advantage at halftime.

After an up-an-down third quarter, which saw the Rocks increase their margin to four points, 49-45, the Plymouth squad gained control of the action in the final period to put the game away.

Tom Ellinghausen, Salem's senior forward, led all scorers with 21 points. His two baskets with the scored tied 55-55 in the final period gave the Rocks a four-point margin they never relinquished.

Rock teammate Rich Hewlett gave solid support to Ellinhousen, scoring 19 points. Steve Horton added 10 and played excellent defense against OEdsel Ford's 6-10 center Redmond Walsh.

"We started strong and had a chance to spread it in the second quarter, but Edsel Ford closed it in the last two minutes," explained Salem coach

"It was a nice balf game and we played pretty well-it was a must game for us."

Ellinghausen led the Rocks in rebounding with 11. Hewlett added eight. Salem outrebounded its opponents 37-33. Doug Agnew and Hewlett recorded three assists each.

Salem hit on 26 of 65 shots from the floor for 41 per cent. Edsel Ford hit on 25 of 53 from the floor for 47 per cent.

Cage seasons offer interesting switch

High School basketball teams reached the halfway mark of the season last week and in the Plymouth-Canton area the midway point brought a few surprises to cage fans.

When one examines the Plymouth

Canton and Plymouth Salem roundballers, it/seems there is an interesting reversal of positions compared to last season.

After a slow start, Canton has won its last three games (going into

By DENNIS O'CONNOR Sports Editor

Tuesday night's action) and propelled its way to the top of the Western Six League race with a 3-1 record. The Chiefs are 5-4 overall.

This is an interesting contrast to one year ago when Canton's horrendous start found the squad scrambling for a respectable finish in the conference

At Salem, the Rocks won their first eight games of the season and were considered among the top 10 teams in the state-until last week.

Salem suffered a disastrous week, dropping two straiht games to its biggest Suburban Eight League adversaries, Livonia Bentley and Belleville. These two setbacks put Salem, the four-time winners of the conference, in an unfamiliar third-place position

Last season, the Rocks went undefeated through the first round of league play and breezed to their fourth-straght title.

Because of these interesting contrasts from one year ago, it should be a very enlightening second half of the season where many questions will be answered.

Can Canton, for example, handle the pressures of holding its first-place position in the league?

The schedule is in the Chiefs' favor since four of their last six loop contests are on their home floor. The Chiefs have never won a league title in basketball, however, and it should be interesting to see how they react to the challenge

Every team will be out to get the Chiefs-especially since the competition is so balanced this year.

Canton has a veteran squad with experience. This should work to the Chiefs' advantage.

It's quite an unusual situation for the Rocks as well, since they are forced to play catch-up for the first time in five

How can Salem react to the pressure of playing the rest of its league games under "must" conditions?

Salem coach Fred Thomann said for the first time in five years his squad faces "must" league games every time it steps out on the court. He added that he believed his team could still win the conference if they win the remaining eight games for a 12-2

But one loss in the conference could result in the end of the Rocks' dynasty. For basketball fans, it definitely will be an interesting second half of the season where Salem and Canton are concerned. And many questions should be answered by the end of February.

Chief spikers take 4th straight

The Plymouth Canton girls volleyball team won its fourth straight contest Monday night when it beat a weak Waterford Mott squad in straight sets, 15-4 and 15-7.

The Western Six League victory helped the Chiefs maintain first place in the conference standings. They haven't lost a game.

Canto coach Cyndi Burnstein said her team scored almost every time on spikes since Mott played poor defense. Jill Petersen led the spiking attack with three smacks over the net.

The Chiefs served well in both games, as Judy Frieman scored on five of six serves in the first game. and Kelly Heaton scored on six of seven serves in the finale

The Canton junior varsity spikers eiened their record to 2-2 overall with a three-game victory over the Mott reserves. After losing the first game 15-6, the Chiefs rebounded with two strailht triumphs, 15-13 and 15-10, to take the match. Canton competes in the Schoolcraft Invitational this Saturday and hosts conference rival Northville Monday

The Plymouth Salem junior varsity basketball team overcame an eight point third quarter deficit enroute to a 49-46 overtime win over Livonia Bentley last week.

The Rocks, one time losers thus far this season, switched to a pressing dense in the final quarter which hampered the Bulldogs offensively and defensively

Salem had scored only 10 points in the second and third quarters but outscored Bentley 18-10 in the fourth period. Rob Neu's 15-foot basket with 11 seconds left in regulation play sent the game into overtime.

Neu added six more points in the extra period. He led all Rock scorers with 18 points.

Teammates Jim Anderson and How ard Monk scored 12 points each.

Waterford Mott squad in Western Six League action last Friday night, 64-39. The Chiefs got off to a slow start, leading by only three points, 14-11, after the first quarter. Canton coach Wayne Weimer then substituted freely in the second period as the Chiefs opened a 10-point margin, 29-19, at

In the third stanza, the Chiefs' defense held Mott to only one basket which enabled Canton to build a commanding 46-21 lead.

The victory leaves Canton with a 3-1 mark in the league and 7-2 overall.

Dave Visser broke out of a personal scoring slump to lead the Chiefs' offensive charges with 16 points. Brad Westin added 11.

The difference between the highest and lowest interest rate on the bonds shall not exceed 2 percent per annum. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than 100% of their par value will be considered.

PAYING AGENT: Both principal and interest shall be payable at a bank or trust company located in Michigan qualified to act as paying agent under State or United States law, to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, who may also designate a co-paying agent, which may be located outside of Michigan, qualified to act as paying agent under the law of the State in which located or of the United States, both of which shall be subject to approval of the undersigned.

PURPOSE AND SECURITY: The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, as amended, for the purpose of defraying part of the cost of constructing street improvements in the City of Plymouth, and are issued in anticipation of Motor Vehicle Highway Fund payments from the State of Michigan to be received by the City. The bonds will pledge the full faith and credit of the City of Plymouth as additional security for payment of the principal and interest thereon. The rights or remedies of bondholders may be affected by bankruptcy laws or other creditors' rights legislation now existing or hereafter

GOOD FAITH: A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $5,500, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

AWARD OF BONDS: The bonds will be awarded to the biddder whose bid produces the lowest interest cost computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified in the bid, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from March 1, 1978 to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium.

LEGAL OPINION: Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified approving opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, a copy of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond, and the original of which will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds at the delivery thereof. The fees of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone for services rendered in connection with such approving opinion are expected to be paid from bond proceeds. Except to the extent necessary to issue their unqualified opinion as to the validity of the above bonds, Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone has not been requested to examine or review and has not examined or reviewed any financial documents, statements or materials that have been or may be furnished in connection with the authorization, issuance or marketing of the bonds, and accordingly will not express any opinion with respect to the accuracy or completeness of any

DELIVERY OF BONDS: The City will furnish bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at Detroit, Michigan. The usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of the bonds, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the bonds. If the bonds are not tendered for delivery by twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 45th day following the date of sale, or the first business day thereafter if said 45th day is not a business day, the successful bidder may on that day, or any time thereafter until delivery of the bonds, withdraw his proposal by serving notice of cancellation, in writing, on the undersigned in which event the City shall promptly return the good faith deposit. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of the bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery. CUSIP NUMBERS will be printed on the bonds, but failure to print the numbers or error therein shall not be grounds for refusal to accept delivery of the bonds. The expense of printing CUSIP numbers will be paid for by the issuer except that the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of numbers shall be paid for by

Chief grapplers end losing streak, 41-21

The Plymouth Canton wrestling team broke its four-meet losing streak with a 41-21 Western Six League victory over Northville last Thursday night at the Canton gym.

The victory, only the second conference triumph in the Chiefs' five-year history, raised Canton's overall record to 44 for the season.

An elated Chief coach Dan Chrenko was pleased that his squad ended its dual meet slump.

"We wrestled six seniors and they all won," Chrenko said. "We must have them in the line up to win.

"This was a big win for us. I was really excited. For the first time since the start of the season we were really aggressive and went after people. I'm hoping we can keep it up.

The tempo for the match was set in the first two battles when Canton sophomores Tommy Harreld and Danny March took the 98-pound and 105-pound matches by decisions. March's victory saw him come from behind to defeat Northville's Brian McVay

The Chiefs lost the next two matches but six straight victories, five from seniors, turned the match into a rout.

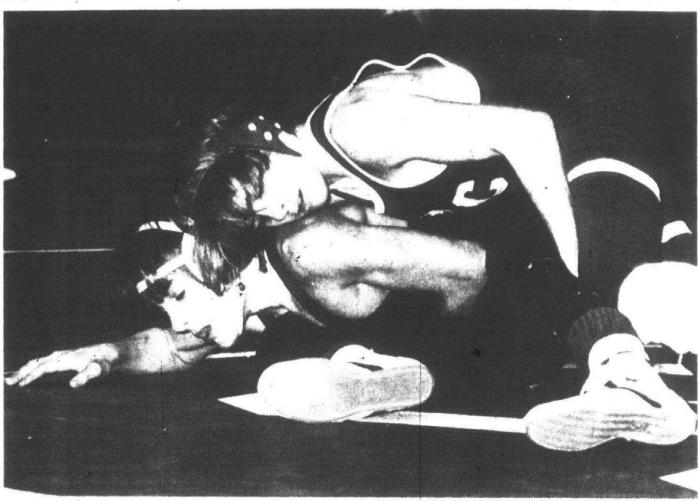

Craig Lee, Jeff Rey and Wavne Memorial transfer Vince Novak pinned their opponents while Dave March and Kyle Heaton won by close 5-2 and 6-4 decisions respectively Junior Dennis Howell topped off six consecutive wins with an 8-3 decision over his 165-pound foe.

Senior heavyweight Chuck Walker put the icing on the cake with a 4:13 pin in the final match of the night.

The Chiefs' triangular meet at Dearborn Hts. Robichaud was cancelled Tuesday night. Canton will try to win its second-straight loop match tonight (Thursday) when it travels to Livonia Churchill.

The Chiefs' junior varsity, coached by Dan Riggs, demolished Northville 61-10 prior to the varsity competition.

Rocks crush 2 foes

Despite wrestling with a lineup of Invitational, was the fourth squad at nents in the second period. matmen came away with two easy victories over Garden City West, 62-9, and Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 57-12, in double dual meet action Tuesday

The two triumphs raised the stateranked Rocks' overall record to 15-1 this season.

Salem, coming off a third-place finish in its own tournament last weekend, rested three of its varsity grapplers and was up one weight against the two weaker squads.

John Glenn, the winner of the Salem heavy grapplers, the Plymouth Salem the double dual held in Annapolis. The Rockets also defeated West and Annapolis by substantial margins.
