Highway billboards called aid to tourist

By TIM RICHARD

Federal and state efforts to clear roadsides of billboards may be cheered by environmentalists, but they're a grave worry to small busi-

The Holiday Inns won't be hurt, but the mom-and-pop motels and independent restaurants will, they told the Michigan Tourist Commission last week. The tourism group held a public hearing in Southfield.

Rick Collamer, manager of the Win Schuler restaurant on W. Maple Road, summed it up: "Our West Bloomfield place isn't on a major artery. It's on rolling countryside. Definitely, signs are a major plus for us."

BOB HACKER, general manager of Weber's Inn, Ann Arbor, said his firm had lost eight billboards because of highway beautification laws.

Meanwhile, it added three others, but found land prices have tripled. "Many independents (restaurants) can't afford national advertising. This is making larger billboard companies richer and the small guy poorer."

Bruce Firestone, general manager of Mt. Holly Ski Area, said, "I don't believe in large signs to block the trees. But we do believe we need some sign to say we are there, we are avail-

Firestone noted one proposal would allow some signs for businesses that operate for six months. The ski industry's season is only three months long and would be ineligible. "But our numbers justify signing. We draw 150,000 visitors in three months . . . and we hope to go to 250,000 or 300,000."

Fred Bahlau, who owns Stagecoach Stop and heads the Irish Hills Tourist Association in Jackson County, said, "We seek recognition for our area as a whole, not for individual businesses. We have a lot of visitors from Ohio and Indiana.'

LEN BARNES, editor of AAA Motor News and chairman of the tourist commission, summed up the dilemma:

"The billboard industry thinks they are great, and there are 67 companies in Michigan which own 10 or more billboards, and 13,620 owners of 10 or fewer sign facilities.

"Environmentalists think there should not be a single billboard in the state along any highway

"In the middle are millions of Michiganians and visitors to Michigan who come here to enjoy the tourist attractions of our great state.

"They need information to tell them where to turn off a freeway when they are about to run out of gasoline, where to find their favorite restaurant or motel chain, where they turn off to see Tahquamenon Falls or Paw Paw's wine-growing region or Greenfield Vil-"But they don't appreciate seeing the scenery along the highway being marred by product ads-'Buy X brand bread.' 'Smoke Y brand cigarettes.'

THE MICHIGAN Department of State Highways and Transportation is working to set up 56 "informational plazas" by the end of 1979. These are to be at freeway rest stops.

Individual businesses can be listed in these plazas if they meet certain standards-remain open at least six months' of the year for tourist attractions, have eight units and telephones for motels, have 50 sites and modern facilities for campgrounds.

They would be listed on one-by-six inch nameplates with the business name, address, telephone number and AAA's Barnes pointed, however, to systems of bare-bones informational signs on highways. Vermont, for example, has 1,000 signs on state highways. They are 16 feet high, five to six feet wide, and give the business names and directions. To be eligible, businesses would have to be approved by the Tourist Information Council.

New home woes, like leaky roof can be fixed

By GLENN BUNTING

Darlene Wasczenski of Canton Township almost wishes she and her husband never bought their $60,000 home in Parkwood Estates

Unfinished bathroom tile, cracked formica, broken bricks, no electricity-you name a housing failure and Mrs. Wasczenski says her family has probably experienced it since moving in six months ago.

The Wasczenski's latest headache is a ceiling leak in the family room. For the past few weeks, water has dripped through her family room ceiling like a leaky faucet.

A telephone call to the builder, Huntley Homes, hasn't stopped bubbles from forming on her ceiling or the cracked wood beams.

"The builder told me to contact my insurance company because the leaking is caused by ice piling in the eavesdrop. I don't feel it's the insurance company's responsibility

"They've come out and fixed the leaks twice before and now the builder says it's not his fault. I think they're giving me a line.

THE WATER IS still leaking into the Wasczenski family room, however, and several other items have yet to be fized.

A spokesperson for Huntley Homes said that contractors have been out. twice to work on the Wasczenski house but both adults are employed and no one was there to let them in.

Mrs. Wasczenski said the builder's claim is misleading. "I called the contractors and told them we both work and they said they would call us before they come out. There have been times when they showed up without calling us or they make an appointment and then fail to show.

Norm Graff, superintendent of Huntley Homes, is on vacation. With a roof leak, Charles Thompson, Canton building superintendent, said the township would send a man out on a complaint to see if it's a defect in construction or a home maintenance problem caused by of an ice build-up.

Mrs. Wasczenski admits that she has not taken advantage of a building complaint procedure offered by the Canton building department.

Canton instituted the plan last fall to assist homeowners in resolving building complaints on their one year

Mrs. Wasczenski said she did not fill out the necessary forms with the township because the builder assured her

Nursing home owner responds

People count, not buildings

Critics of nursing home care might demonstrate more tolerance if they better understood the economics of the business, says Carl Lampton, owner of West Trail Convalescent Center on Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Lampton responded this week to criticisms of nursing home care made recently by Citizens for Better Care—a metropolitan Detroit group formed to investigate nursing home practices.

The CBC had reported that West Trail and Dion of Canton were among 38 nursing homes listed on the "intent to deny license" list compiled by the Michigan Department of Public Health. Lampton stressed his difficulties with the state are related to structural problems with the building and not quality of patient care.

"I am for giving these patients the best care possible, but it all goes back to money and this is what the 'do-gooders' are short on and the nursing home even shorter." Lampton added that if the critics worked in a nursing

Cherry Hill speed limit may be cut

You won't be able to whisk your way home on Cherry Hill at 55 miles per hour if Canton Towship police have their way. But any change will have to come from the Wayne County Road

Currently, there is no posted speed limit on Cherry Hill between Canton Center and the Westland-Canton border of Hannan Road. Police officers are out to change that

Ptl. Dan Antieau started the ball rolling after observing cars driving 55 m.p.h. on the road where school buses make eight stops.

"It's an unposted strip so we can't write tickets if people drive 55 or under," Antieau said. "School buses make eight stops on that section of road and are letting kids off. People doing 55 can't stop.

Antieau took the matter to the police chief. He concurred with Antieau's suggestion that the speed limit be lowered to 45 m.p.h. on the three-mile strip. The request is being evaluated by the road commission; but no date has been set to act on the matter.

home for a few weeks they might gain insight into what patients want and need.

"To start with, they want to be treated like an adult human being. They want to mix with people of their choice and to live a life as close to normal as possible "So when they come into a nursing home they expect and deserve to be helped with their problems—yet left to live in a home-like atmosphere having as many of their personal belongings with them as possible. As a person becomes older and more feeble, the world around him becomes smaller until finally his world consists of his room and the people who help him, so why make it more complicated by forcing a hospital setting on him.

"I believe a person is entitled to have their personal belongings, but the fire marshall and sanitation people call this 'junk' and say it must go or be stored in a fire-resistant room. Well, why have it if they can't keep it in their room.

LAMPTON ADMITS West Trail has had violations for the past three years but stresses they are physical plant violations, not nursing violatons.

"For all the inspectors and plant violations, I have yet to see one inspector look at a patient-to see if they are clean, well-nourished and content.

The West Trail building "is something less than a mansion," adds Lampton, and the floors aren't carpeted. "But we have no bedsores and no odor of urine-just good nursing care. The state, however, prefers extensive and time-consuming documentation."

So many different forms are required now, Lampton said, that it almost appears to him that making out reports is more important than caring for the patient. "We used to admit a patient and got all the necessary information on a single page. Now we need at least seven forms, including social history, activities and a discharge

"The latest wrinkle is that when a person dies and has been pronounced dead by his doctor, we still cannot send the body to the morgue without an order from the doctor

WEST TRAIL IS supposed to earn a daily profit of $1.25 per per patient. Lampton noted when turning to economics of the business.

"This looks good on paper, but when we get down to facts it's a different story. About two weeks ago, the state audited my 1976 costs and found I was underpaid 11 cents per patient per day (Medicaid patients only). Yet to arrive at this cost, the state included the higher rate of income from private patients, who pay more than the Medicaid patients

"This is wrong. One person should not pay more than another. At my home, patients get the same care regardless of their financial status, so why penalize a person because he has

On Dec. 1, Medicaid gave Lampton a $1 a day increase, which amounted to $900 per month. But on Jan. 1, Lampton pointed out, the minimum wage went up to $2.65 per hour, increasing his payroll by $1,500 a month.

"I think it's a crime to pay $2.65 per hour for this kind of work. No one can (Continued on page 4A)

The latest controversy in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools centers on alternative school plans. The excitement, in part, has been flamed by misinformation given out that troublemaking students from the high schools will be sent to Central Middle School. What's an alternative school?

(The Our Schools Today column is written by Florence Beier, administrative assistant for community relations for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools).

An alternative school—who needs it? Here are four students who would be likely candidates for an alternative school (ficitious names used)

LINDA is uncertain about her plans for after high school, but wants to explore. She is weak in writing, but enjoys and is interested in working with people. Linda's parents say she is naive about the real world.

STEVE bases his values and activities on what his friends like. He has no idea of what he wants out of life except a job, "to be on my own," an apartment, and a car. Steve enjoys rock music and drinking beer. He gets along well with his peers but has problems with adults.

BOB hates school. He just wants to get out and get a good job. He has poor reading and math skills, but he can fix anything. Bob is rigid and unfriendly. "I don't like to mix with people who aren't my kind," he says.

JANET is college bound and gets good grades. She is shy but the other students think, she seems arrogant. Her parents have handled most of the decisions in her life. Janet feels panicky about growing up.

AT THE PLYMOUTH Centennial Educational Park (CEP), with more than 4,000 other students, Linda, Steve. Bob and Janet may be headed for academic failure, dropping out, unemployability or emotional problems.

In the student-centered environment of a small alternative school, however, their chances for school success may be greatly improved. In fact, the likeli-

Our Schools Today hood of thier becoming contributing members of society is much greater. Plans presented to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education last Monday by the alternative education committee gave sample programs for Linda, Janet, Bob and Steve which could get each of them back on the Transfer to the alternative school would be voluntary. Every student there would work with the teaching staff to develop a carefully structured instructional program.

Linda's basic skills work might focus on writing, with assignments based frequently on her supervised community service with a local agency. Her responsibility to the alternative school would be to organize cleaning tasks. She then could study psychology, sociology and child development at the CEP. Steve's time would be fully occupied. Reading, writing and mathematics classes and tutoring would be scheduled daily with help from students as well as teachers. Fellow students also would support Steve in learning to be on time and follow rules. A music workshop would appeal to Steve's leisure interest, while a vocational exploration program and placement in a youth conservation project job would prepare him to Bob would concentrate on basic math with theoring in reading. Experiences in group dynamics would aim to help him get along with other people. Bob would have a co-op job and also assist in a middle school shop

For Janet, basic skills would involve a special math group and advanced study at Schoolcraft College. She would have record-keeping responsibilities for the alternative school. She could take a film class at college and organize a film festival for the CEP and creative arts workshop for the alternative school. Janet's classes at the CEP might be philosophy and advanced placement in foreign language.

ALTERNATIVE SCHOOLS aren't new or unique.

By 1975 there were about 1,000 alternative schools in the U.S.

Plans for the alternative school in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools meet every requirement of the state of Michigan and have the same standards for attendance, credits and graduation as Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools.

The alternative education committee, composed of 14 residents and staff, has held more than 30 weekly meetings. It has recommended an alternative education program for identified CEP students in grades 9-12 to begin in the 1978-79 school year. Student-centered education, the goal of the alternative school here, focuses on the inherent worth of each individual. Learning must be a meaningful experience which provides the opportunity for personal growth and mastery of basic competencies. Although this goal is no different from that of the school district for all of its students, individualization can be more intensive in an alternative school

COSTS FOR THE alternative school as proposed will be similar to the exense of educating the same number of students—about 100—at the CEP.

Start-up costs for inservice, supplies and support staff are projected to be about $10,000 for the first year only. The only significant on-going added cost would be a shuttle bus between the CEP and the alternative school for students to take some classes at the regular high schools.

The timetable for implementation is a key to being able to serve students in an alternative school next fall. With presentation and discussion at three school board workshops completed, the committee hopes for approval by the end of February. Staff selection is scheduled for March, with April and May taken up by student selection, staff planning and program design.

Four-year-olds at Willow Creek Co-op Nursery learned how the postal system works Friday-something that many grown-ups never quite seem to comprehend. They learned that putting green stamps or a hand-painted stamp on an envelope may be cute but the post office won't deliver it. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

They learn love moves by mail

By CRAIG PIECHURA

What four-year-old kids have never drawn a reasonable facsimile of a postage stamp on a valentine envelope, addressed it with an unreadable scrawl and dropped that heartfelt message into the hands of the United States Postal Service?

A group of four-year-olds at Willow Creek Co-op Nursery, that's who.

Instead of the dead letter office, the valentines are arriving at their intended destination; warming hearts and avoiding tears from the sender.

Their hand-made valentine pictures are legally winging their way to grandma or another intended recipient of puppy love thanks to the advice of local mailman Floyd Minier.

Minier was invited to the nursery at Geneva Presbyterian Church in Canton by teachers Susan Knapp and Marie Mack. The two neatly combined a lesson on people in the community who can help youngsters with a timely valentine project.

Minier told the pre-schoolers how 13cent stamps had to be on the envelopes, where they should be placed and that only the stamps sold by the post office are allowable. That rules out Easter Seals and green stamps.

THE PRE-SCHOOLERS all got a chance to heft the mailbag or try on the mailman's cap. He drove up in the truck and showed youngsters the eagle symbol that is on all mail trucks and boxes, to prevent them from dropping the envelope off in the Goodwill drop

And the mailman even delivered the class a cancelled valentine that he addressed to them.

One of the youngsters asked Minier

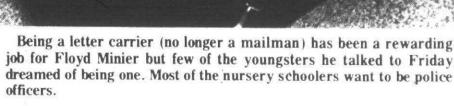

if he had to go down to Florida to pick up letters mailed on the youngster's vacation. Minier explained that the Florida postal workers put the mail in an airplane to deliver it up here by a local carrier.

Recognizing the inherent sexism of the old term "mailman," Minier and the class used the more acceptable terms "mail carrier" or "postal Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association.

According to police reports, the 45year-old Pleasant Ridge man, the father of one of the Royal Oak players, punched the Plymouth youth in the face, splitting his lip and bruising his cheek and jaw

The fight began, police said, when the Plymouth boy pushed the man's son while he was on his way into the locker room.

The father told police he thought it was an older man "manhandling his son," so he punched him.

According to Thomas Norton, assistant coach of the Plymouth team, the two boys were involved in a fight on the ice earlier, and both of them were sent to the penalty box. Norton said the Plymouth player injured his knee during the altercation on the ice and was sent to the dressing room early

Police said the boy had changed into street clothes and was on his way out of the dressing room when the game ended and the Royal Oak team was en route to its locker room.

As the two boys who were involved in the scuffle on the ice passed each other, police said, the Plymouth youth gave the Royal Oak player a shove.

It was then, according to police, that the Royal Oak player's father punched the Plymouth youth "full in the face

Water is being served in most area eateries

If you don't get a glass of water with you feel cheated? Although conservationists are pushing restaurateurs to quit serving water automatically, a survey of restaurants in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton indicates that very few have abandoned the practice.

Of 10 restaurants polled, only two do not automatically place water glasses on the table. Two serve water but have plans to quit soon, and six have no plans to eliminate the glass of ice water.

Several restaurant owners or managers said they would like to abandon the practice to save water and energy but were afraid of what their customers would say.

"I don't want to get put on the spot," explained Richard Meacham, manager of Bode's Coffee House in Plymouth. "I wouldn't mind not serving water, but I'm going to wait and see what happens with the rest of the industry.

ACCORDING TO FIG-URES supplied by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), America's 70 million restaruants use an estimated 2.5 billion gallons of water each year. But the thought of saving water resources is not a persuasive argument compared to the profit and loss motive under which most eateries operate.

"Personally, I would like to see more restaurants stop serving ice water," said Bill Knapp's manager James Roe. "But I also know what an angry customer

The matter of whether to serve water has been under discussion at Knapp's for several weeks, he said, and the policy will probably become "water on

"You have to understand that people have a few standard ideas on how to judge a restaurant," said Creon Smith, manager of the Mayflower Hotel's restaurants. "And water is one of them. If they don't have a glass of it in front of them as soon as they sit down, they think they're getting bad Despite the bad experience, Smith said the hotel was going to stop serving water again in about two weeks. "I know some of our customers won't like it. But you have to put your foot down and run your own business.

TO MAKE THE transition a little smoother, the hotel is planning to put little cards on each table explaining how much energy is used in serving one glass of water.

The Plymouth Hilton is one of the two eating establishments which have discontinued serving ice water as a matter

Richard Cook, food and beverage manager, said he started the water-onrequest policy just two weeks ago and is fairly satisfied with customer response

"So far, it hasn't been a major issue. Sure, some people have complained, but that's always bound to happen when you try something (Continued on page 4A)

Rocks put heat on Bentley, 74-62

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

The Rocks are back in the Suburban Eight League race.

Rich Hewlett scored 10 of his teamhigh 21 points in the final quarter to spark Plymouth Salem to an important 74-62 road victory over Livonia Bentley Friday night

The Salem triumph not only avenges an earlier loss to the Bulldogs at Plymouth last month but also tightens the conference race.

The Rocks, in a quest for an unprecedented fifth straight league title, moved to within a half-game of the Bulldogs, raising their record to 9-2 in the Sub-8 and 14-2 overall. Bentley was undefeated in league competition prior to Friday's game and now stands on top with a 9-1 record and 11-4 overall are on the road against Edsel Ford, Belleville and Redford Union, while Salem hosts both Edsel Ford and Belleville in its two final contests.

Bentley's final three league games

The Bulldogs had a chance to tie for the league title with a victory over Salem, but it just wasn't to be.

Salem jumped into a quick 19-10 first quarter lead but the Bulldogs cut the margin to one, 32-31, at halftime on the strength of Eric Thorderson's 10-point period.

Thorderson added eight more of his game-high 24 points in the third quarter as Salem increased its margin to three points, 48-45.

The Rocks gained control of the game for good in the first minute of the final period, scoring the first four points to increase their lead to seven points. Bentley never got within six points after this early spurt as the Rocks' stiff man-to-man defense resulted in many Bulldog turnovers.

Hewlett played an excellent transition game in the final period, accounting for many fast-break baskets.

Broderick finished with 17 points and Tom Ellinghausen added 14. Dave Stone followed Thorderson in scoring for Bentley, clicking for 16 points. Chris Bollin chipped in with 11 points.

"We played extremely hard and with great intensity when we had to," said a pleased Salem coach Fred Tho-

"Now it's just a question of whether someone else can knock off Bentley. Our job tonight was to set the tone that they (Bentley) could be beat. Now it's someone else's turn to do it.'

Bentley's first-year mentor Jim Komula felt Hewlett made the difference in the final quarter, setting the running tempo with his fast-break tal-

Matmen place 3d in league

The Plymouth Canton wrestling team established itself as a contending member of the Western Six League last Tuesday by placing third at the conference meet held at its own gym.

It marked the first time in the fivevear history of the school that the Chiefs finished higher than last place.

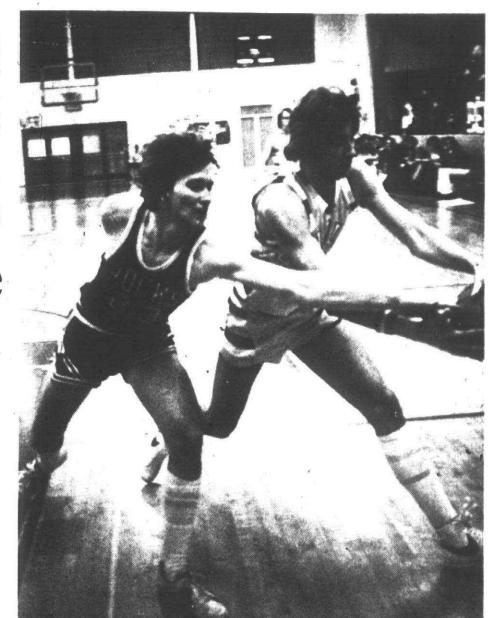

Farmington Harrison lived up to its pre-season standing with its second straight league title. The Hawks edged Walled Lake Western 177-1601/2 for the crown. Canton finished with 1351/2

Livonia Churchill was the surprise second-division team finishing fourth with 80 points. Northville was fifth at 77 while Waterford Mott, competing without three starters, ended in the cellar with 39 points.

Canton coach Dan Chrenko felt his squad finally established itself in the league after four consecutive lastplace finishes. He had a bitter-sweet reaction to the results, however, since two potential league champions did not compete because of injuries.

Tommy Herrald, 101-pounds, missed the league meet with a separated shoulder which occurred three days earlier at the district meet. Scott Collins, 148-pounds, was a hands-down favorite to retain his league champion-(Continued on page 2B)

This setback-the Chiefs' second in a row-dropped Canton's record to 9-7 overall and 5-2 in the conference. Coupled with Waterford Mott's 73-60 win over Livonia Churchill, there's now a tie for the league race between

"If we win our last three games in the league we'll win the title.

The Chiefs got off to a slow start against the Mustangs, trailing 23-10 after the first quarter. Canton continued to chip away at the lead throughout the game and pulled to within four points in the final three minutes.

Butch King led the Chiefs' scoring with 30 points. Captain Randy Rienas pumped in 12 and Kurt Herbert added

"The first quarter lost the game for us," Cavell said. "It was too bad because we got a lot of good inside shots but the ball just wouldn't go in. It was hard on the momentum.

"We had to struggle the rest of the way and kept pecking away at the Cavell said he was upset with the officiating at Northville, citing 26 Canton team fouls and only 13 for Northville. The Mustangs converted on 19 of 34 from the charity line while Canton made only five of 11.

Jim Ellinghausen returned home for the second time in his collegiate basketball career Thursday night-but it wasn't the same as a year ago.

The former Plymouth Salem star, who started last season in the pivot for the Ohio State Buckeyes, found himself in the unfamiliar position of sitting on the bench during most of OSU's 85-74 loss to the University of Michigan at

Crisler Arena

The reason for the switch? A group of highly-talented freshmen who could make the Buckeyes one of the Big Ten powers in years to come. Ellinghausen, a 6-7 forward, is a 1976 graduate of Salem who broke all the scoring and rebounding records, both for a season and career, in his three-year high school varsity career. Ellinghausen received All-State honors in his senior season with the Rocks and was heavily recruited by dozens of major colleges around the

He guarded such stars as Indiana's Kent Benson and Michigan's Phil Hubbard last year.

This year's Ann Arbor appearance was a different story, however. The game opened with Ellinghausen occupying the last seat on the bench as a different starting five was

He hasn't been in the starting five for the last five games, however, and was the first reserve forward to enter Thursday night's game for the Buckeyes-with 6:23 left in the first half. Ellinghausen promptly blocked a shot and retained the rebound but didn't get his hands on the ball offensively as he played until intermission.

In the second half, Ellinghausen played nine more minutes and hit two jumpers from the left baseline, quieting an enthusiastic Wolverine crowd for a while.

He finished the game with five points and two rebounds but was once again on the bench as the final buzzer sounded

With these two matmen in the lineup, Chrenko felt his team could have finished second and possibly given Harrison a good fight for the league championship. Despite this disappointment, the Canton mentor was still pleased with the outcome.

"I was never so happy (to get out of cellar)," Chrenko said. "I had tears in my eyes. It was gratifying to finish the way we did, especially after all the injuries we've been through.

"I just couldn't be anymore pleased with our kids. We've always had to prove we were wrestlers and we wrestled tough at the league. People knew we were there

"We were in the middle of the thing for a change. It was kind of fun sitting there and coaching in the finals.

Prior to this meet, Collins was the lone league champion at Canton. Three more grapplers were added to the elite group on Tuesday, while three others were conference runners-up.

In one of the top matches of the evening, Canton's Craig Lee decisioned Harrison's Pat Palajec, 5-2, to win the 122-pound crown. Dave March headed the list of 143-pounders as the Chief grappler defeated Mark McCormick of Western, 9-6, for the title.

Canton's Kyle Heaton was an easy victor at 158-pounds, dominating his weight class with a 1:01 pin over Dwayne Hardy of Western in the championship.

Chuck Walker (heavyweight), Vince Novak (148-pounds) and Dennis Howell (168 pounds) were the other three Chiefs to reach the finals enroute to a second-place finish.

Jeff Rey (135 pounds) and George Hamblin (181 pounds) both placed third, while sophomore Dan March (108 pounds) finished fourth.

In the last three league meets, Canton finished last with 39, 22 and 7 poin in 1977, 1976 and 1975, respectively.

YOU'RE INVITED TO U. of D. HIGH

FEBRUARY TUESDAY

We'd like you to visit U. of D. High. We're having an Open House on Tuesday, February 14, Valentine's Day.

Most of our guests will be parents, and their young sons, looking at the school with the thought of enrolling in September. Some will be alumni; a few just people who want to see what's going on nowadays in a fine high school.

It's an attractive thing to watch. Youths in the process of becoming adults. You can almost see them learning and growing before your eyes.

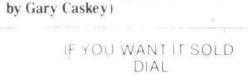

There'll be enthusiastic students showing off their school and what they've learned. They'll be demonstrating laboratory procedures and experiments; they'll be explaining their extracurricular activities and displaying student newspapers, athletic trophies, awards for debating, prizes for their achievements.

Teachers will be there. And administrators. Together with parents of students, we'll provide an easy U. of D. High. hospitality. Coffee, donuts, refreshments.

Stop by. You're welcome guests. The Open House begins at 7 p.m. and goes until 10 p.m. on Tuesday, February 14.

U. of D. High is just 1/2 block north of 7 Mile Road, between Livernois and Wyoming.

Two of metropolitan Detroit's top flight all-stars-Mike Totsky and Mary Mohacsii are among the five bowlers who will be inducted into the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame in April.

These two will head the group that includes Billy G, who owns some of the most fabulous records in bowling, Ed Shikany and Marion Gorman, who will receive posthumous awards and Lou Ode, who is to be recognized for years of devotion to the game both as a bowler and a sponsor.

In the posthumous category, Shikany was recognized for his years as a sponsor and as a top officials of the Classic for many seasons.

IN THE LADIES CLASSIC at Garden Lanes, top honors went to Mary Koss with a 6.4-a score that was better than most of the men in the junior house league.

Mike Mackiewcz showed the way to the men with 657 while George Bratek was far back with 620 and Chuck Spai was third with 604

How to find someone to use love spell on Tuesday will be St. Valentine's Day. Each year at this time, I usually fill this column with love spells to work on the one of your choice.

This is fine for the person who has made a choice. But there are many lonely people to whom a love spell is of no use whatsoever because they have found no one on whom they would like to work such a spell.

As one woman told me, "I know I am lovable, and I have much to offer the right man. I just haven't met the right man. Come to think of it. I haven't even met a wrong one for a good long while.

We all know of people who have all the qualities necessary to attract the opposite sex they want to atract.

IF THAT IS your problem, then today's column is for you.

First, let me suggest that the best way to find a mate is to stop looking for one. Let them begin to look for you, to seek you out, and attract you.

The best way to do this is to begin doing the things you enjoy. Don't ever make the mistake of going someplace simply because you will find a lot of men or women there.

The man you meet in a bar usually likes bars and will continue to like them. Unless you do, too, you may find yourself home alone again after you catch him.

The woman you meet at a ski lodge usually enjoys winter sports. You will either have to like them, too, or spend the rest of your weekends alone in front of the fire while she is out on the ski slopes or snowmobile trails.

So join clubs, go places and do things that you enjoy doing. Then the people you meet in those places will be more likely to have interests similar to your own. If you don't meet Mr. or Ms. Right your first time there, all is not wasted-you've had fun doing what you like to do. When you are enjoying yourself, you will be happier and giving off better vibrations that will be of a magnetic quality. A scowling face is not apt to attract anyone.

YOU MAY ALSO wish to carrry a lucky charm, such as an Adam or Eve root. These two roots both come from the same plant

The female part, or Eve root, is carried by a man who is seeking a compatible mate. Likewise, the male part of the plant, the Adam root, is carried by a woman who is looking for the right man for her.

Another charm used for this purpose is a whole orris root. Sometimes called a Queen Elizabeth root, this is traditionally carried by virgins who don't want to be.

Note: You may write Gundella at: Box 434, Garden City 48135. For a personal reply, please enclose a selfaddressed, stamped envelope.

Schools lose sight of its service goal

Editor:

We hear that the schools soon will be asking for more money. Superintendent John M. Hoben's preliminary budget calls for 1.9 additional mills. For the first time in 16 years of voting I may be forced to vote no on school millage.

It's not that I don't believe the schools need the additional millage. As a teacher, and president of the Washtenaw Community College Education Association, I'm fully aware of the pressing need for additional school monies. Further, we do live in an expanding school district. New students cost money. The taxes on new homes do not pay the increased cost of educating the children of these homes.

However, it is my opinion that the school board and administration has lost sight of the fact that they serve to provide an educational system, according to the desires of the community—certainly within state guidelines and affirmative action procedures, and without undo meddling from the

Two recent policy decisions demonstrate the board's and administration's arrogant attitude. They have committed themselves to the "random selection" of high school students against the overwhelming wishes of the community

Our neighborhood has a long history of involvement in Smith Elementary and East Middle School. My children both are in high school, so random selection will not affect our family. It will affect neighborhood involvement in the schools and my neighbors are

We raise our children together. As an educator I know the importance of friendships as students make the big adjustment from junior high to high

Another very questionable policy decision concerns the parking policy at Centennial Educational Park. It's my opinion that students do not have the 'right" to drive; rather, it is a privilege granted by the school district. However, student drivers do save educational funds. The parking lots are cheaper to operate than the cost of increased bus service necessary for all

Secondly, once the decision has been made to allow student drivers, the administration should be willing to amend and compromise procedures to accommodate parking problems. It makes little sense to me that one lot should remain half-empty while students are turned away from another. This type of attitude represents the arrogance which will cause me to consider voting "no" on subsequent millage proposals.

The administration has proposed an "alternative school" for students who cannot adjust to the regular regiment. They should be listening to alternatives offered by the community.

How can people be so rude?

Recently during the March of Dimes campaign in Plymouth Township, the snow storm was so bad most of the mothers couldn't collect because the snow was so deep, so the drive was extended another week.

Because I was just over three weeks of having the flu, my daughter in her teens offered to help me.

Even though she had her March of Dimes badge pinned on her coat and the envelopes in her, hand, she put up with having the door slammed in her face, being asked to sign her name to make sure where the money was going, and telling her they didn't believe she was collecting for the March of Dimes. To me this is rude. We were collecting for people that are

Would you people get out in 10 and 15-degree weather, climb snowbanks, freeze, and have dogs chase you to be treated like this?

Come on, give the teenagers credit when they are doing something nice to help others. You know, they have feelings too. I thought it was nice of her to offer to help and I give her a lot of credit for tramping through that ice and snow. We were both froze by the time we got back home

So the next time a young person comes to your door, at least give them a chance instead of putting them down.

They might be trying to help you some day.

A CALL from one of the downtown pubs

With that warm murmur of late afternoon conviviality in the background, the voice said, "We're discussing the formation of a spring committee-a group of local residents to hasten the end of winter and welcome the return of spring

"We have a Herb Spring and a Roger Snow. Do you have any suggestions? There must be more appropriate people.

"Do you have a telephone book handy'

A look around the community resulted in a plethora of likely candidates. What's in a name? Spring and the connotations of spring.

People like Roger Snow, the Grays and Terry and Patricia DeWinter should be ready to step down. They did put on a great show-the best on record. They probably could be persuaded to act in an advisory capacity.

WE'LL NEED the Floras-Jim, Scottie, and the whole Flora crew

Daniel and Albert Flowers should be willing to lend their name and their efforts to the endeavor.

The Byrds, Brooks, Bowers, Berrys, Greens, LaFleurs and Bloxsoms would be a welcome addition, Larry Grow and John Vernal would get things moving. Richard Greenleaf and Charles and Doris Root would set the mood with the help of the Roses, the Lambs, the Ripples, the Greenbriars and the Redferns.

Harry Fountain, Charles Hinote, John Swallow, Carl and Marg Birdsall, and Peter Woodchuck are naturals for the spring committee.

And because every successful party requires a hospitality committee just to keep things from becoming dull, perhaps Richard Bash, Phil and Ron Bender and Warren Singer could be persuaded to serve.

Wonder if there's a large enough building on Spring Street for the celebration?

"FAT BOB, the Singing Plumber," was still plumbing when he first appeared as guest soloist at a Plymouth Symphony Orchestra Pop

Chicks miss opening 'by popular request' This proved to be an understatement

The chickens seemed to take the gala world premiere of The Betsy all in stride.

One of them, either "Mayflower Chicken Ship" or "The Betsy," laid an egg on the trip downtown to the Renaissance Center. They ended up in the security office on the 36th floor of the Detroit Plaza Hotel and missed the cocktail party, movie and dinner-

Their incarceration relieved them of embarrassing interviews concerning their reaction to the movie. The question, "How did you like The Betsy?" brought immediate blushes and some hesitation from most members of the audience.

Kirk Lorenz, Creon Smith and the chickens are in the film as extras and received invitations to the Project HOPE benefit Feb. 9. They accepted.

Denise and Kirk Lorenz, Pam Powell, Smith, and the chickens rode in an English cab. They were escorted by Nick and Carl Schultz in Admiral Nelson uniforms and greeted by eight members of the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps in their bicentennial uniforms. It made for a Hollywood firstnighter entrance.

"THE CHICKENS were excluded by popular request," said Lorenz.

as he went on to describe the lady who spread her arms across the entry and barred their way to the Standard Club.

The evening began with a cocktailparty in the Standard Club. The hors d'oeuvres table was centered with a four-foot chocolate model of the Betsy (the automobile). There also was a tallow carving of a rooster.

When the cocktail party ended at 7:30 p.m., the crowds headed for the three RenCen Theaters. It was also opening night for the theaters. "They finished laying the carpet at 5 in the afternoon," said Lorenz.

The movie was shown simultaneously in all three theaters. Reaction to the R-rated film followed a pattern—"interesting, "entertaining," and "excitement every 20 minutes.' BILL AND CONNIE Bournias agreed it was beautiful party. "I like Harold Robbins and read all his books," said Mrs. Bournias. "I just don't see the need for all that sex in a movie. It is embarrassing.

"My husband is in the machine tool business and he thought they should have shown more of the mechanics of building an automobile." Bournais' company, F. Joseph Lamb, was leading benefactor of the Project HOPE charity. Among the guests at the two tables reserved by the company, were top General Motors officials.

"It was interesting to watch the actors watching themselves in the movie-just like we did," said Mrs Bournias. "The Manoogian Mansion was beautiful and it was fun to recognize people we knew in the film.

Each of the guests received a copy of the book, "The Betsy." specially inscribed commemorating the world premiere

ALL THE PLYMOUTH guests were impressed with the decor, the food and the service at the banquet.

They served about 930 people said Lorenz. "Service was fast and smooth. They coordinate the whole thing with walkie-talkies. I'd like to go down again and see exactly how they Guest speaker Graham Steenhoven conferred privately with Chinese Premier Chou En-lai months before Henry Kissinger's secret mission to China.

And it was Steenhoven who was summoned to the White House to brief Richard Nixon before his first trip to Steenhoven's oriental adventure began in 1971. He was an employment manager at one of Chrysler's stamping plants. He also played "not very good" Ping-Pong. And he was president of the U.S. Table Tennis Associ-

He was in Nagoya, Japan with the U.S. table tennis team that was playing in the world championships.

The Chinese called and asked Steenhoven to cancel a match and come to China the next day. He told them, "We keep our commitments."

A few days later the U.S. team and Steenhoven were in China, ready for play. The U.S. team was ranked 28th; the Red China team was ranked No. 1. The American Table Tennis Association president found himself sipping tea with the Chinese president.

THIS WAS the first break in Chino-American relations.

The Chinese Ping-Pong team came to the United States. Kissinger went to Russia. This was followed by the Nixons' China visit.

Steenhoven did not take a camera to China to record his visit. The Chinese made up for it by giving him a goingaway present-a 22-minute film of his visit. He will show the film to the the Plymouth Lions and their ladies Thursday night.

Steenhoven's father was once the recipient of a Leader Dog for the blind. His only fee for speaking engagements to Lions Clubs is a donation to the Leader Dog School in

THE PLYMOUTH Lions support the club's state projects-the leader dog program, the Michigan Eye Bank, and the Penrickton Home for the Blind.

The club started out with 30 members. The charter party was in the old Crystal Room of the Mayflower Hotel under the sponsorship of the Northwest Club of Detroit.

The present membership of 55 persons includes five charter members. They are William Fehlig, Ward Jones, first charter president and an honorary life member of the club; Rolland Widmayer, Ken Faling and Bruce Richard.

The club size dwindled to eight or 10 members at one time. It now is the most active club in its district. Its yearly funding of $11,000 is more than the total amount raised by all other clubs in the district.

At one time, back in 1965, the club members built a house with volunteer

"We hired some things to be done but the club members did most of it. We did all the carpentry and trim." The house on Ball Street was sold and has been resold several times.

The Lions have three major fundraisers-the Fall Festival fish dinner, a charity auction, and a white cane sale The cane sale is scheduled for April 28 this year.

The club gave a new van to the Plymouth-Canton-Northville YMCA Members recently completed building two bridges for the Plymouth Township Recreation Park. They donated a substantial amount of money toward the cost of the Plymouth Salvation Army bus.

They fund the eye-care program for local school children. This is done with the cooperation of the school nurses.

Lions club members, wives and guests will celebrate a successful year and a club milestone Thursday evening. They also will hear the inside story of Ping-Pong diplomacy.

Alas and aghast, it is evident from these few lines of verse that Shelley and Keats need not be fearful of poetic competition (Burma Shave isn't even quivering). But they serve to focus attention on a day millions celebrate, although few know its origin.

Historians disagree as to the exact date and reason for establishing St. Valentine's Day. Some believe it was a Christian replacement for the Roman's pagan festival of Lupercus, a god who watched over shepherds and My favorite interpretation concerns a priest of the same era named Valentine who was jailed for assisting Christians. While there, he further enraged Emperor Claudius by curing the jailer's daughter of blindness and sending her letters signed, "From your Valen-

The priest was beheaded Feb. 14, 269 AD. Pope Gelasius set aside that day to honor him and Valentine eventually was canonized.

Gradually this Christian holiday became a time for exchanging love messages, and St. Valentine emerged as the patron saint of lovers.

Commercial cards appeared on the European market about 1800, many of which were elaborately designed. Esther Howland became one of America's first career women when she introduced the Valentine card in 1830. Ways of observing this day range from a simple exchange of cards, flowers or candy to more elaborate and costly expressions of love. For his wife, comedian Garry Moore once hired four planes to sky write a heart three miles wide, pierced by an arrow, six miles long. Inside the heart were the names, "Garry and Nell."

However you intend to remember the day, don't miss the opportunity to tell someone special, "I love you.

EXPRESSIONS of love and pride were seen in abundance at the Welcome Wagon Club's Feb. 2 meeting. Students of the Jack Barnes Dance Center performed, many for the first time, and their parents were invited to

The first number, "The Sheik of Arab," featured the tapping toes of Kimberly Berrie, Marie Fontana and Lisa Hall. They were followed by a gypsy ballet in which Denah Drange, Jennifer Hirschauer, Amy Gruilkowski, Kimberly Mehl, Shannon Soenen, Melissa Uhl and Michelle Merritt performed.

Next on the entertainment agenda was a jazz selection, "High School Dance," with Kim Brenner, Kelly Ponte and Leisa Gruilkowski. A chacha tap dance to "Quando Quando" was presented by Doreen Hanson, Becky Thumm, Kathy Waiter and Kelly Wakeham.

The graceful movements of Michele Cygan, Michelle Hirschauer, Michele Hodsdon, Lori Mount and Heidi Riggs were seen in the waltz ballet, "From the South."

Where would a dance recital be without Hawaiian music? Maria Blendea, Kim Ponte and Kelly Wakeham let their hands tell the story of "To You Sweetheart, Aloha."

All of the youn! ladies performed in the whirlwind disco finale, "Star Wars." With smiling faces of accomplishment, they took their bows and were acknowledged by appreciative

Welcome Wagon members then got a taste of performing when the dance instructor, Sandra Schultz, taught them the Saturday Nmght Fever "Now ladies, quit laughing and kick kick, slide, bump and hustle, hustle "

Those interested in learning to "trip the light fantastic" cancontact studio manager Dorothy During at the dance center in King's Row on Lilley Road (459-6066). They offer a wide range of classes for children and adults.

Get scared with 'Coma'

If you like being scared out of your socks, "Coma" (PG) can do it. However, the cost of the scary thrills is a great deal of unpleasantness.

'Coma" is not a movie for the squeamish. Grisly and macabre scenes in operating rooms, pathology labs and hospital morgues assure the viewer of seeing all the things he never wanted to see, and then some.

Based on Dr. Robin Cook's gripping novel, the film, scripted and directed by Michael Crichton, captures some of the horror, but fizzles out at explanations and rationales. At movie's end, we're still left puzzled about how certain things were accomplished and who was involved.

Worse yet, one of the most interesting aspects of the movie in terms of social and economic implications is never pursued. A quick introduction to a computer link-up for worldwide bidding on body organs is all we ever get.

GENEVIEVE BUJOLD, as Dr. Susan Wheeler, is the heroine of the story. When she investigates the circumstances of an irreversible coma in her closest friend, she discovers a mysteriously large number of unexplained comas at the hospital.

Her investigation leads her to a forbidding concrete structure-the Jefferson Institute. There she discovers a frightening and profitable enterprise

GENEVIEVE BUJOLD The suspense, with heavyhanded music to announce it, then hinges on whether Dr. Wheeler will survive to reveal the fiendish goings-on. The suspense is heightened by the ambiguous allegiance of her lover, Dr. Mark Bellows (Michael Douglas). He's an opportunist playing the game of hospital politics; thus, we are never certain where his loyalty lies. Throughout the movie, there's not a shred of humor. And there are hardly any ordinary bits of normal business to relieve the grisly spell. From the very beginning, the characters seem edgy and uptight.

The press releases for "Coma" quote Bujold as saying she is pleased that an important screen role (Dr. Wheeler) is written for a woman, not a man. The role of Dr. Wheeler, however, is not a compliment to either sex. The character's professional competence as a doctor is offset by foolhardy courage, illogical actions and a babbling emotional floodtide.

If this were a Gothic horror story, Bujold would be the plucky heroine. In "Coma," she's theplucky, but ridiculously rash, doctor. That's equality, I guess. No sex has a monopoly on stupidity.

NEW RELEASES

THE BETSY (R). Vivid portrait of intrigue and power within the auto industry, based on Harold Robbins' best-selling novel. Many scenes filmed in metropolitan Detroit.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND (PG). Steven Spielberg's megabuck epic about contact with extraterrestrial beings. Special effects make this another treat EQUUS (R). Intense, realistic film of prize-winning play with Richard Burton as the self-doubting psychiatrist treating a boy (Peter Firth) who has blinded six horses.

THE GOODBYE GIRL (PG). Neil Simon comedy of set-up situation and laughs when an actor (Richard Dreyfuss) moves in with a twice-dumped, actor-hating hoofer (Marsha HIGH ANXIETY (PG). Mel Brooks tips his hat to Hitchcock in this lunatic romp at the Psycho-Teurotic Institute for the Very, Very Nervous. Liberal visual "quotations" from Hitchcock in this howler.

THE LACEMAKER (R). Sensitive love story of beauty shop assistant and university student. Fine acting by Isabelle Huppert. In French with English subtitles.

THE MOUSE AND HIS CHILD (G). Award-winning full-length cartoon feature with voices of Peter Ustinov and Cloris

THE ONE AND ONLY (PG). Zany romantic comedy with Henry Winkler pursuing Kim Darby and getting gussied up as a wrestler called "The Lover.

SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER (R). John Travolta (of Kottler's sweathogs) is the main man in film with plenty of disco

SEMI-TOUGH (R). Self-improvement schemes and football take equal lumps in comic but raunchy film with Burt Reynolds and Kris Kristofferson.

Big band dance

Tickets are now available for Schoolcraft College's annual Valentine's Dance from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday at the Plymouth Hilton Inn ballroom. It's the fourth such dance sponsored by the college. The first, in 1975, was so successful that it outgrew the campus facilities; last year's dance, in Plymouth, attracted nearly 900 dancers. Additional dance space will be provided this year for the jitterbug, rhumba or whatever version of the Saturday night fever happens to strike. Trombonist Jimmy Wilkins and his 16-piece orchestra will provide music. Table reservations are made with ticket purchase at $4 per person. They are available at the Schoolcraft College bookstore, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Call 591-6400, ext. 265, for more information.

'Edison' at Youtheatre

There will be two performances daily, Feb. 15-18. Weekday shows at 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. are designed for students, grades 2-6. Teachers may make in-school time reservations for students-teachers free-for this Youtheatre "Field Trip to Broadway" attraction by contacting the You-

In times like these, we still give our customers what they want. The one place where a lot of trucks doesn't mean good food.

The trucks parked outside our dealership don't mean we have the best home fries around. They mean that we have the best equipment and personnel to give you the finest service possible.

And, if you're interested in purchasing a new or used truck, we have a good selection in stock, ready for immediate delivery

Why not stop in and talk to one of our truck specialists today? They'll be glad to show you a truck that will work best for you

And, if you want to park it out front just to show off a little bit, we'll understand. We want you to be proud of your truck. And your dealership. Because in times like these, good customers are important.

Auto tips

Saving on insurance

By PATRICK KELLY

Here are a few suggestions on how to save money on your auto insurance policy:

Consider buying collision coverage with higher deductibles. Collision coverage can be reduced about 17 per cent when the deductible is changed from $100 to $200, and going from $50 to $100 deductible for comprehensive could work out to a 20 per cent savings.

Drop collision insurance entirely on an older car, because regardless of how much coverage you carry, the insurance company will pay only up to the car's "book value.

Investigate special discounts offered by some companies in some states. They are available for young drivers who have completed driver education courses and for those who do well in school. If you have a good driving record or attend college more than 100 miles from home or are a woman over 30 or a family with two or more cars, check the special discounts.

The lowest premium should not be your only goal. You should consider that you want to get the satisfaction you're entitled to when you make a claim and that your claim will neither increase your premium on the future nor be grounds for
