WHAT'S INSIDE

Modular's scrapped

Modular scheduling, a long-standing controversy, has been scrapped due to the rising student population at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. As expected, its demise also evoked some controversy. See story on Page 8A.

Joe Aceto, "The Mayor of Lower Town," died last week. If you never had the chance to meet Joe, then you'll certainly want to learn something about him by reading the story on Page 3A.

Workers picket

Workers at the Plymouth Center for Human Development in Northville Township formed picket lines this week to tell their side of the story of child abuse at the institution. Their story is told on Page 10A.

It may already be too late to preserve the farmland left in Canton, say two professors at Eastern Michigan University. However, they are examining Canton's farm preservation plan carefully and express hope that it will curb "suburban sprawl." (Staff photo)

EMU educators interested in local effort to save farmland

All the recent talk about saving Canton's farmland by paying farmers development rights has perked the ears of two land use educators operating out of Eastern Michigan University (EMU).

Gene Jaworski and Robert Ward, professors in the geography and geology department at EMU are interested enough in the idea to invite township planner George Peek to speak to their students on the still-tentative program.

If the development rights purchase plan is adopted by voters, the township would reimburse farmers for money they would have received if their land had been sold to a home developer.

Payment would be about $2,500 an acre. About 6,000 acres are slated to be saved by proponents of the plan. Farmers would still own a deed on the land but would place it in "escrow" for 10 years so it couldn't be developed or cause further suburban sprawl.

One of the professors' students, Sue Wacksmuth of Ypsilanti, has chosen Canton Township as a model for her master's thesis on land use, farm preservation and growth.

After interviewing local farmers and plodding through plat books and zoning maps, Ms. Wacksmuth has come to the conclusion that most of the talk of saving farmland is just talk.

Asked if she thought Canton could implement a program similar to that being carried out in Suffolk County, New York (where development rights are being paid to farmers living next to already-developed land), Ms. Wacksmuth replied:

"I CAN ANSWER that question in two letters. N-O. Why not? Because the farmers I've talked to don't support the plan. They're looking for financial return on an investment in the near future and I don't see that happening with this system of development rights."

"How can they do it? The township can't buy up all the land at once. Besides, there's not many real farmers left in Canton. Some of the farmland is owned by speculators and much of it is farmed by someone other than the owner of the land."

Professors Jaworski and Ward laud Canton's timely concern about the trend toward development farther and farther away from the urban core.

Jaworski explained that this "suburban sprawl" gobbles up precious farmland, which can't be converted back to tillable soil, and leaves a deteriorating core city behind.

But both men are skeptical about a Canton-only plan, no matter how ambitious.

First, Ward worries that some of the people who say the want to save the farms may be saying that purely out of aesthetic reasons and may refuse to back up the belief with cash. But, even if it's secure and receives financial support from the total community, Ward said Canton could be creating a lonely island of farms in the midst of surrounding development.

"It could become an island, an enclave," Ward said. "I sympathize with the people of Canton and certainly the poor farmers, but it might, just might, actually be too late to save the little farmland we have left in this area."

THE MAN who introduced the idea of paying farmers to save farmland

Farm rights could cost $15 million

It will cost Canton taxpayers $15 million to save 4,700 acres of agricultural land from urban sprawl.

George Peek, planning consultant for the township, disclosed the eight-digit price tag at Tuesday night's township board meeting. The complete plan for retaining open space in the township's western portion should be ready during the week of March 20.

Peek and other employees of Wade, Trim & Associates have been studying the cost and benefits of purchasing development rights from farmers since last summer.

Board members approved the $40,000 study last June after a citizens land use committee recommended farmland be preserved as long as residents were willing to reimburse farmers for their lost development rights.

The committee earmarked almost all of the land bounded by Ford Road, Van Born, Canton Center and the township's western line, Ridge Road, as land that should be preserved for agricultural purposes.

Peek said planning report will compare the costs and benefits of retaining the farmland and suggest methods for purchase of development rights.

The planner declined to disclose any information Tuesday other than the estimated cost of purchasing the development rights until the report is in its final form.

'Small' school option offered

An alternative high school will be started, as a three-year pilot program, beginning with the opening of the school year in September.

That commitment was made Monday night by a 4-3 vote of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The major unanswered question, however, is where the alternative school will be located. The resolution authorizing the program also authorized administration to investigate sites and come back with a recommendation by the first regular board meeting in May.

The alternative school basically is designed to meet the needs of students who, for whatever reason, cannot cope with the large-scale environment of the two high school campuses of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park.

At the last meeting, the board failed to approve an alternative school program because of opposition from teachers and parents to the proposed location at Central Middle School. The resolution approved Monday night states the alternative school should be remote from the CEP and cannot be located in a building also housing a middle or elementary school.

TRUSTEE STEPHEN HARPER drafted the resolution approved Monday in an effort to get the alternative high school program started this fall. (Harper was the board's representative on the alternative school committee which spent eight months coming up with the recommended program.)

Harper explained he tried to address the concerns of other trustees when he drafted the resolution, but the 4-3 vote indicated he failed in that effort.

The major parts of the Harper resolution are:

- The program is initially established as a three-year pilot project beginning in September, 1978. It directed administration to immediately begin selecting staff and implementing a program.

- The board intends that the program shall be housed at a site remote from the CEP location. However, the board does not sanction the housing of the program in a middle school or elementary school in this district simultaneously with children of those age groups.

- The administration (and any interested staff, citizens, and students who wish to assist) is directed to pursue all possible location alternatives and make a recommendation to the board no later than the first regular board meeting in May.

- The board places no formal cost constraints upon the site search committee; discussions of funding for housing shall be reserved until after alternatives with accurate cost estimates are available for review.

- Students enrolled in the program must meet all of the district's requirements for graduation.

- Students may transfer between the traditional and the alternative programs at the end of each semester.

- Participation will be entirely voluntary. Each student and his parents must be willing to make an active commitment to the program and be responsible participants. Where parents are unable or unwilling to participate, another adult close to the child may assume this role.

- Students shall receive progress reports at least as frequently as students at the CEP. The reports may be of any form, but there must be a translation into the forms used at the CEP so alternative school graduates can get transcripts identical to CEP graduates.

- The alternative school staff must develop goals and objectives to be presented to the board by the end of May.

- On-going funding for the program

$70 paid by township to owner of slain sheep

Bart Berg received $70 from the Canton Township Board Tuesday night to reimburse him for the loss of a pregnant sheep.

The ewe, which was due to lamb in March, was killed by five dogs on the morning of Jan. 25. An examination of the carcass, Berg said, showed the ewe was carrying twin lambs.

An old state law governing townships—called the Dog Law—makes townships that collect for dog licenses liable for any animals killed by stray or loose dogs.

Berg said he didn't believe the five dogs that jumped into the pen were wild or strays.

"I think people are leaving their dogs untended at night," he said. "Just like people, they congregate and start partying and looking for something to eat."

OTHER SHEEP in the pen lost some wool and received minor bites, but only one was killed, Berg said.

Berg placed a $65-$75 value on the sheep, a registered Shropshire ewe, by consulting the state farm marketing service. But Berg said that price only reflects the meat value and does not take into consideration the potential value of the unborn lambs or the value of the slain ewe's wool.

The owner of Bart's Nursery, 48636 Michigan, Berg said his son and German shepherd followed the dogs' tracks north to Beck Road right after they broke into the pen. Some of the paw prints continued north on Beck and others seemed to head west on Geddes, he told township officials.

Berg said he got a pretty good look at two of the four-legged suspects.

"One was black-and-white colored and short-legged. He was small enough, and low enough to leave a track with his belly on the snow. The others looked like long-legged dogs. One of them had a reddish coat."

Last spring four sheep were killed about a mile away from Berg's home and business at the Real Life Camp and Farm, at 48700 Geddes. Two weeks after that incident, dogs were blamed for the death of some ducks at the children's farm. Canton animal control officer John Swalley said he has no suspects in either case.

Persons in the area who are experiencing problems with stray or loose dogs should contact Swalley at 397-1000.

Random appeal deadline is set

A new random selection plan will be devised to assign students to Plymouth Salem or Plymouth Canton high schools for 1978-79.

Monday night the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education voted to reaffirm the selection plan used this year, but instructed administration to revise the plan for the following year.

The board also established March 13 as the cut-off date to hear any appeals on assignments made for this year. Prior to that time, the board will approve the criteria which will be used to grant or deny appeals.

The cut-off date was set after a meeting with the school board attorney who advised that the board's previous plan would have been arbitrary and unwise.

The new plan will be modeled after a random selection procedure now used in West Bend, Wis. Under that plan, all students are assigned to high school by a random selection computer process.

Once the assignments are made, appeals may be made if a student has an older sibling attending another school or for extreme cases where educational reasons would favor a change.

"Under the West Bend approach, students are randomly assigned to a particular school and can be transferred only if he wants to follow an older sibling or for extreme educational reasons."

"By dealing with the sibling question second," Tom Yack commented, "we will be dealing with geography first and hopefully will get a better balance."

Under the present system, students with an older sibling in high school can opt to attend that school before the random draw. The proposal is to allow the option, by appeal, after the draw is completed.

Joe Gray said he was opposed to the new plan because it also disrupted sub-communities. "We can have boundary lines for elementary and middle schools. I just don't understand why we can't have boundary lines for high school."

As of Feb. 27, 58 parents appealed the assignment of their children to high school for next fall. Of those 58 appeals, only two have been granted thus far.

Random selection is used to assign students to Canton or Salem without human bias being introduced into the process, particularly to avoid any charges of athletic recruitment or de facto segregation. Another major aim of random selection is to balance the population at both high schools without having to adjust boundaries each year.

Breakfast crowd will miss Joe Aceto

The 'mayor of lower town' is dead at 52

By CRAIG PIECHURA

Joe was "slow" his family and friends admitted. And God knows he had a lot of friends.

Most people in town knew Joe as the man who smoked a cigar and rode up and down Main Street in an old Schwinn bike with chrome fenders and a grocery basket.

He used the bike to run errands for friends, buying cigarettes at the Speedway station and lottery tickets at Bill's Market.

He was affectionately dubbed the "Mayor of Lower Town" and he called the Old Village Restaurant on Starkweather his office.

It's just too bad that people like Joe Aceto have to die at the age of 52 before they get "a nice write-up in the local newspaper. Because that's just what all his friends at the restaurant wanted him to have.

The last thing Joe did was walk outside beyond the back porch to let his best dog Suzy run. Joe's nephew Tony found him felled by a massive heart attack about 9:30 p.m. Sunday when Tony went down the back steps to see why the mutt kept barking.

THE REGULARS, at the restaurant, like Nellie Parrish, heard unconfirmed rumors about Joe's death Monday morning when he didn't show up for breakfast. Mrs. Parrish tells how that afternoon the Observer paperboy came in with the Monday paper looking for Joe. He always gave Joe a free paper.

"Yesterday that boy came in, looked all around for Joe and then kept looking at a big jar of money we had on the counter," Mrs. Parrish said. "I told him Joe died the night before, and he asked 'Is that what that's for?' I told him we were taking up a collection and this little boy took a handful of change out of his pocket and dropped it in the jar. We let him sign the card. He was a special friend of Joe's."

Nellie Parrish also was a special friend of Joe's. It was she who taught him how to sign his name on get-well cards that the restaurant sent to the owner's mother-in-law.

Joe told people Nellie was his "girlfriend" because she often would fix a picnic lunch on the lawn and share coffee and peanut butter sandwiches with him.

JOE WAS BORN with a slightly crippled right leg and a speech defect. He was "slow," so his immigrant parents kept him home from school. His brother Rudy, who lives in Canton, wonders what would have happened if Joe had gotten the early training, teaching and therapy that is available today.

"When he was young—you know how it was back then—my folks didn't know what to do with him."

So, Joe moved into Plymouth with his folks in 1943 and lived at the home on Spring St. from then on.

His mother died in 1976 and his father was buried at Riverside Cemetery.

tery one year ago "to the day Joe died."

Dates take on an added significance when there's a death in the family.

Joe's sister, Yolanda Knutson, and her two nephews shared the house with Joe after his folks died. Rudy Aceto figures his brother never would've been happy living with him in his Canton subdivision duplex. The nearest store is a half-mile away, down a busy street, and doesn't even have a place to sit down and order breakfast.

No, his brother said, Joe needed a Main Street small town. Plymouth had corners where he could hold court and conduct friendly business. Places where the cops knew him and looked after him if anyone mean started to taunt him or throw stones.

THERE WERE people who considered Joe a public nuisance, a blemish on the town. Many people grew uncomfortable when Joe approached them and asked them how they were feeling.

"You feel good?" Joe might ask. "That's good."

For that reason, people in the Old Village area watched out for Joe, and he looked out for them.

He'd watch people's dogs and water their lawn when they went on vacation. He'd remind Roger Kline, owner of the Old Village Restaurant, to order some more tape for the cash register after Kline told Joe to remind him.

Friends said Joe picked up a lot of knowledge about trucks, especially dump trucks which he loved, by talking and riding with Jim Williams, a neighbor.

No one who was close to Joe called him "retarded."

"If you spent time with him, he made sense," his brother Rudy said. "There were things he wanted to, understand and things he understood."

John Vokes drops a dollar into the jar held by Nellie Parrish. A total of $140 was collected. Twenty dollars will buy a funeral floral arrangement from the folks at Old Village Restaurant and the other $120 will go to the Salvation Army in memory of Joe Aceto. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Joe posed for a snapshot recently with his dog Suzy, who misses Joe as much as his friends at the Old Village restaurant.

Car repair

Rising auto costs spark work by do-it-yourselfers

Nobody likes dishing out $45 for a tune-up or $15 for an oil change. But that's what service stations and auto dealers are charging for the most basic auto repairs.

These costs are forcing people who normally do not consider themselves mechanically inclined to think twice about crawling under the hood to do their own repairs.

A sampling of auto parts shops in Plymouth and Canton uncovered a consistent increase in over-the-counter sales of auto parts for the last couple of years.

"More people are tuning their own cars now than ever," said Lee Caudill, manager of Greenfield Auto Parts in Plymouth. "They'll try to tackle a problem even if they don't know how to do it."

With the advent of electronic ignitions on newer model cars, tuning up an auto engine is a relatively simple chore, according to Jim Cote, manager of Linwood Auto Parts in Plymouth.

"THERE'S NOT MUCH to tuning up a car nowadays," Cote said. "The only thing that really has to be done is changing sparkplugs, and occasionally sparkplug wires. There are no points or condenser to replace on newer models due to electronic ignitions."

A tune-up for an eight-cylinder engine at Leo Calhoun Ford costs about $47; Kmart in Canton charges $50 and Lou LaRiche Chevrolet wants between $45 and $50.

The cost to a do-it-yourself mechanic runs about $1 per sparkplug and from $5 to $15 for ignition parts depending on how many parts have to be replaced. Savings for the do-it-yourself person should run $20 to $30. Similarly, consumers can save up to $10 by changing the oil themselves.

By taking advantage of occasional specials on oil changes, however, car owners can save money. For instance, Kmart offers a special on oil changes for $5.69 once in a while. That price is less expensive than the cost of a moderately priced oil filter and five quarts of oil.

The one factor that keeps auto repair shops in business is the weather. The biggest deterrent to tuning your own car is Michigan winters, Cote said.

"But when summer comes, all hell breaks loose. A lot of people, especially men, enjoy working on their cars on hot, sunny days. Sometimes, they go a little too far."

BUSINESS IS NOT any slower during the summer months because of vacations, according to one Kmart auto repair spokesman. People do not like to work on their cars before going on a long trip and feel safer knowing a certified mechanic did the repairs, the spokesman said.

One way to become more familiar with automobiles is by enrolling in a mechanics course.

Larry Masteller, director of continuing education in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, said every night class featuring training in auto repair is filled in advance.

"We started a new class this year in auto body work and had to add another class because of the high demand. We're using the automobile facilities at the high school to the fullest on Tuesday and Thursday nights."

Linwood Auto Parts will sponsor a series of talks by the first certified woman mechanic in Michigan later this month, Cote said. The talks will concentrate on what repairs do-it-yourself people can and cannot tackle.

Chamber officers are announced

Two of the top five officers of the Canton Chamber of Commerce are returning for a second term. Mary Perna, manager of Security Bank, has been re-elected president of the chamber and Al Daly has been given a new lease on the secretary job.

Newly-elected officers in the chamber are Frank McMurray, State Farm Insurance agent, who was elected first vice-president; Bill Tesen, manager of Wayne Bank, second vice-president; and Richard Potter, Farmers Insurance agent, who was elected treasurer.

The board of directors of the chamber will also be comprised of three newcomers and two incumbents. Donald Korte of Don Korte Farms returns for another term on the board along with Robert Purdy, manager at National Bank of Detroit. Newly-elected directors are Bill Tesen, Richard Potter and Brian Michenerhuizer, manager of the Canton-Meijer Thrifty Acres.

The officers and directors of the chamber were installed last night at the organization's sixth annual dinner. Members of the chamber heard a speech on energy research from Irving Sattinger, an engineering instructor at Schoolcraft College.

Cops to get crime computer

Police Chief Walter MacGregor believes the Canton board's consent to purchase a terminal of the Law Enforcement Information Network (LEIN) for the police department will improve the police's ability to nab car thieves and other criminals.

The computerized LEIN terminal enables police to almost instantaneously check information any police department has on autos, individuals or stolen property. For state operations, there is a LEIN computer in Lansing.

MacGregor said the LEIN machine will cost between $3,000 to $3,500 a year plus a "nominal" installation fee.

Canton police are currently telephoning the Wayne County Sheriff's Department for information, but MacGregor says that practice wastes time.

"If Canton is going to have the kind of police department you want and need, we have to make preparations to get our own LEIN machine," MacGregor told board members.

"On occasion, we have called the road patrol for LEIN checks, and they have been extremely busy. This causes a waste of our time both on the telephone and on the street while we await an answer for proper handling of the circumstances."

MacGregor does not know when the machine will be installed.

Board members unanimously approved the chief's request.

2-mill school vote is April 27

A special election will be held Thursday, April 27, to seek voter approval for five mills for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Of the five mills, three are an existing operating millage expiring this year. Another 1½ mills represents a request for new operating millage and the other ½ mill is to finance a bond issue for new construction, expansion and maintenance of existing buildings.

The additional tax being requested is two mills ($2 per $1,000 state equalized valuation). For a $60,000 home with an SEV of $30,000, the two mills represents an added tax burden of $60 the first year.

THE ELECTION date and ballot proposals were approved by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education by a 7-0 vote at Monday night's meeting.

The board also voted to establish a citizens election committee to gather information on the proposals and keep residents informed on the tax issues.

The 1½ additional operating mills is being requested because of an anticipated budget deficit in excess of $2 million for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1978.

The ½ mill bond issue request is designed to give the board flexibility to respond to the present trend of rising student enrollments.

Increasing enrollment has caused the school board to increase the number of schools on 45-15 year-round schedule to seven.

The population crunch expected this fall at the high schools is forcing the administration to cut down on class electives and use of modular scheduling as an option for upper-classmen. The high school principals anticipate 300 additional students, placing the student population 400 above capacity.

THE FIRST BALLOT proposal asks approval for 4½ mills—the three-mill renewal and the 1½ new mills. The 4½ mills, if approved, would be levied for five years through 1982.

The ½ mill bond issue levy in proposal two would be for 10 years. The ballot language states the bond issue revenue will be used for "acquiring, constructing, extending, altering, repairing and equipping the buildings and facilities" of the school district.

The deadline to register for the special election is 5 p.m. Tuesday, March 27. Residents should register with the clerks of the City of Plymouth, Canton or Plymouth Township depending on their place of residence.

Ray Hoedell, assistant supt. of business, estimates that next year one mill will generate $578,000 in revenue for the school district. That is based on a 12 per cent increase in SEV for a total new tax base of about $578 million.

Based on those projections, defeat of the renewal would result in a loss of income totalling almost $1.8 million. The request for 1½ additional mills would generate about $867,000. The ½ mill bond issue proposal would generate about $289,000 for debt retirement the first year.

Mac's 2 is coming

Another burger factory is in Canton Township's future.

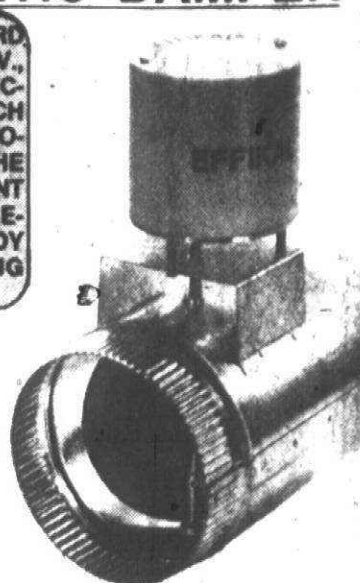

Township board members have unanimously approved site plans for another McDonald's restaurant, the second in the township. It will be on Michigan Avenue near Lotz.

A spokesman for McDonald's said construction is scheduled to begin April 1.

STOP LOSING HEAT

PLUG UP THE HOLE IN YOUR HOUSE AND SAVE AS MUCH AS 24% OF YOUR GAS BILL WITH AN EFFIKAL AUTOMATIC DAMPER

THIS IS THE DEVICE THAT YOU'VE HEARD AND READ SO MUCH ABOUT ON T.V., RADIO, AND NEWSPAPERS. IT IS AN ELECTRONIC AND MECHANICAL DEVICE WHICH WHEN INSTALLED IN YOUR FURNACE-TO-CHIMNEY FLUE WILL OPEN BEFORE THE BURN CYCLE AND CLOSE THE MOMENT THE BURN CYCLE ENDS. THIS PREVENTS "SUPER HEATED" AIR ALREADY IN YOUR FURNACE FROM ESCAPING WHILE YOUR FURNACE IS AT REST.

Actual Proof

In testimony given before the Michigan Public Service Commission, Case number U-272, March 18, 1977, it was revealed that through actual tests in 200 Michigan homes, the average savings with an automatic damper was 23.64%. More than that, of the 5 different devices and concepts tested, the automatic damper system gave the highest percentage of savings.

The device is an automatic damper that electronically closes the flue whenever the furnace flame is off. Researchers estimate 50 percent of furnace heat escapes up the chimney. . . preliminary results of a limited testing program conducted by the utility during the 1975-76 winter show that households may be able to save as much as 26 percent of normal gas consumption.

Can supervisor introduce motions?

Does Canton's supervisor have too much power on the township board? Although Trustee Lynne Goldsmith says she doesn't think Supervisor Harold Stein is grabbing too much power, she maintains Stein could control the board through making and seconding motions.

Goldsmith says the supervisor's practice of making motions violates the board's own adopted rules of order.

SHE QUESTIONED Stein two weeks ago after he made a motion and repeated her stance Tuesday that the supervisor is only empowered to moderate meetings.

Goldsmith's cites a section of Robert's Rules of Order, the parliamentary procedure adopted by the board when it first took office.

The rule states that the chairman of a governing body—in this case, the supervisor—should act as moderator of the meeting and rarely take part in debate.

"He is only allowed," the rule says, "to state matters of fact within his knowledge, inform the assembly on points of order and to address the assembly in debate."

Although Goldsmith admits that the Charter Township Act gives the supervisor "an equal voice and vote in the proceedings of the board," she does not believe the law empowers the supervisor to make and second motions.

BUT OTHER MEMBERS of the board disagree with Goldsmith's stance on the motion issue. Her effort to change Stein's practice of making motions is likely to die on the board table.

According to Clerk John Flodin and Trustee Brian Schwall, the provision that gives the supervisor an equal voice and vote on the board also means the supervisor may make motions.

"I feel I have the same right to make motions as anyone on this board," said Stein. "There are many times when meetings would last much longer than they do if I didn't make a motion."

Goldsmith noted that the chairman of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education does not make or second motions. According to the trustee, supervisors of Plymouth and Van Buren townships do not make or second motions either.

"I realize that the Charter Township Act liberalizes Robert's Rules of Order," Goldsmith said. "Under Robert's Rules, the chairman can't even participate in debate."

"But to give the supervisor the right to make and second motions makes him much more powerful than the other six board members. The supervisor's office makes most of the recommendations that come before the board anyway. He can control the meeting by jumping in with a motion."

SCHWALL MOVED to amend the township's rules of order by adding a provision that would empower the supervisor to make and second motions.

Year-round school schedule rotation voted down by board

Tracks will not be rotated next year for students enrolled in year-round school.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education voted 4-3 Monday night against track rotation after hearing arguments pro and con from parents of Extended School Year (ESY) students.

The basic issue was whether all students on ESY would have equal educational opportunities within a building without track rotation.

The assumption of the four trustees voting against rotation was that the new ESY calendar, also approved Monday night, removed the major inequities in one track and lessened the compelling reason to rotate tracks. The majority also felt rotation would cause too much disruption in the educational process, and was opposed by parents, faculty and administrators.

UNDER THE ESY plan, students attend classes for 45 days and then are off for 15.

Under the 45-15 approach, students are divided into four groups with each group having different times when they start school and take breaks. These groups are called tracks and are labeled alphabetically—A, B, C, D.

When 45-15 was expanded to six additional schools last year, and a block-start schedule adopted, a problem developed with the schedule for track D. Last year's D schedule resulted in a disruptive schedule because of the Christmas break, and in fewest days off during the July-August summer-break period.

For that reason some parents of students on Track D appeared before the board asking that tracks be rotated so the faults of D could be spread among all students and not foisted on one group.

When it appeared the board was ready to approve track rotation, however, parents of students on tracks

A, B, C mounted a campaign to keep students in their present tracks.

The issue came to a head Monday night with both sets of parents speaking out before the issue came up for a vote.

THE CENTRAL administration advised against track rotation because of these factors:

- The need for continuity.
- Results of a community survey which indicated a clear desire for stability.

- The proposed '78-79 ESY calendar (approved Monday night) allocated vacation time based on tracks.

- Because the teaching staff wouldn't change tracks, the students would in essence be "changing schools" each year.

- Rotation would disrupt family rapport with faculty and it would disrupt cross-age group teaming.

- The developers of the ESY program never envisioned or planned for wholesale track rotation.

- Miller school students have gone through one track change already and that disruption was harmful.

- Track rotation is comparable to a boundary change and the school board has promised no unnecessary boundary changes.

WHEN THE MATTER came up on the agenda, Elaine Kirchgatter, supported by Carol Davis, made a motion directing administration to rotate tracks.

When the debate ended, and the final vote was taken, Joe Gray joined Kirchgatter and Davis in voting for rotation. Against were Tom Yack, Richard Arlen, Stephen Harper and Flossie Tonda.

Harper noted that parents of students in three tracks were against rotation, and added he felt the survey results were inconclusive. Harper argued it would be better to give parents a chance to look at the new calendar and then consider rotation.

Mrs. Kirchgatter countered that the new calendar still has Track D starting its school year three weeks later than the other three. "It's like showing up to a party late when three-fourths of the kids have already been there an hour," she added that the board had only heard from elementary parents and not from any middle school parents.

Gray asked if the populations of the four tracks were evenly balanced. Supt. John M. Hoben said they weren't and that likely any new students to the district would be assigned to Track D to even out the tracks.

Arlen said he shared the concerns of parents with students on Track D but he could not support rotation based on current information.

SHIRLEY SPANIEL, principal of Miller Elementary and an in-district expert on 45-15, stated that the late start for Track D students only was a one-time thing and after that students would be on a continuous schedule.

"My main concern is that we are talking about moving a group of youngsters to an entirely new assignment each year, shuffling them from staff to staff which would really disrupt rapport among students, teachers and parents."

"A year ago," Mrs. Spaniel continued, "we did talk about the block start in terms that it would allow some rotation if necessary but never did I feel the administration was supporting any wholesale rotation."

"When you think of it, a track change is really a boundary change within a school. What we should be trying to do is to make the calendar as equal as possible. I certainly hope we don't have one desirable track. Next year's calendar does equalize vacation and break days."

GERALD ELLSTON, principal of Pioneer Middle School which is on ESY, said the Track D schedule doesn't cause any severe problems for students wanting to become involved in band or athletics.

Ellston said one problem was that eighth graders on Track D would have an abbreviated break before starting the ninth grade at the Centennial Educational Park.

Mrs. Kirchgatter argued that if all the tracks were equally desirable, there should be no objections to rotating. All students can share the same opportunities.

Gray suggested if parents are unhappy with any particular track in the new calendar they could petition for a change, and that might be a good test of whether serious inequities remain and whether rotation is necessary.

"I've felt from the beginning we should rotate tracks to be fair to everyone," he said.

Yack said this was "one of the toughest decisions this board has had to make. There is a principle involved which makes me want to support rotation, but sometimes principle must take the back seat to practicality. I have long been against unnecessary disruptions in the schools, particularly in the Canton community (where the majority of ESY schools are located)."

Harper argued trustees were supposed to represent the views of those who elected them, and it seemed clear most were against rotation.

"I feel sad if we are in a position where the majority rules over the minority—if something is wrong with track D," commented Mrs. Tonda.

Lord & Taylor is the home of American designers

They seem to gravitate toward our personal kind of ambience, our identification with lifestyle and fashion for men, for women, for the family and the home. After all, when the rest of the world was turning to Paris, it was Lord & Taylor who launched "The American Look" and the American designers who created it.

It is Lord & Taylor who continually seeks out and nurtures the fresh young talent America inspires. You'll find the best of the new American fashion right here.

Lord & Taylor is the home of American classics, and we have a new home here with you. Lord & Taylor, coming to Detroit on March 6th with three new stores — at Fairlane, Lakeside and Twelve Oaks.

See you on Monday at 10:00 A.M.

Modular scheduling scrapped

Less use of modular scheduling and greater reliance on structured classroom learning situations are in store for the high schools next fall.

The scuttling of modular scheduling has been forced by increased enrollment at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP), but that provided little solace to trustees supportive of modular scheduling as a means to provide quality education.

The commitment to maximizing class options at the CEP led to a 4-3 split vote Monday night when the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education approved a plan for the CEP for the 1978-79 school year.

Voting in favor were Tom Yack, Joe Gray, Flossie Tonda and Elaine Kirchgatter.

SUPT. JOHN M. HOBEN explained that the '78-79 approach is to adopt a more traditional type of class scheduling that includes many of the good elements of the modular approach.

School officials expect 300 more students next fall, forcing a tighter schedule and elimination of some offerings with a low student-teacher ratio.

The result will be that spaces used under the modular plan, such as sub-resource centers and seminar areas, will be converted to regular classroom to accommodate the increased enrollment.

Classroom capacity also will be increased by eliminating study hall periods for ninth and 10th graders.

Another change will be that students, particularly underclassmen, will be taking six academic classes per day instead of five.

TRUSTEE DAVIS EXPLAINED she couldn't support the proposal of the CEP principals because she was committed to offering options to students, and considered modular scheduling an excellent tool for learning.

Harper objected that the resolution didn't specify which positive aspects of modular scheduling would be retained but contained only an implication from CEP administrators that "we'll try."

He argued that laboratory science classes, home economics, and some industrial education classes required more than a 55-minute period of instruction, and these offerings were endangered by the six-class per day approach.

"As for the kids at the CEP, I'm afraid they are coming out losers all the way around. You just cannot place all kids in the same straight-jacket. This is a step backwards."

If modular scheduling were retained, Mrs. Tonda countered, "there would be 1,200 kids with unassigned time who could be left wandering around in the hallways. We have some excellent teachers at the CEP, but they are of no value to the 1,200 kids in the hallway. They are of value only if students are in the classrooms."

"The administration at the CEP have been strong supporters of modular scheduling and have worked hard to make it succeed. They are not saying it has failed, but that it can't work with the increased student enrollment. They need help and we should help them.

"Remember that learning takes place in the classroom," Mrs. Tonda added, "and learning isn't directly related to the type of class scheduling used. Right now, there are not more than 100 students at the CEP who are taking more than six academic courses, according to the counselors."

Harper answered that he had no problems with the change if the administration would make specific commitments on what would be preserved. "A six-credit day just does not lend itself to the preservation of the more desirable elements of the CEP program. Just how can a student tune a car in 50 minutes?"

Arlen and Mrs. Tonda noted that an evaluation by University of Michigan educators suggested a major education issue at the CEP was the large number of students who weren't in classrooms.

"When are we going to admit that we have a holding pond out there," asked Arlen, "and do something about it? The issue we need to face is that it is those students who need to be in the classroom who aren't there now, and there are too many of them."

"For 20 per cent of the student body, modular scheduling may be an excellent educational opportunity. But what about the 80 per cent?"

Harper commented that the board just approved an alternative high school with definite requirements for goals and criteria to be established. "Now we are approving a change in the CEP program without any definite goals and criteria from the administration."

Gray argued that even though scheduling may be changing the same goals remain for the CEP—to maximize individualized instruction. "Because we have a different program or schedule doesn't mean the goals will change."

"I can live with the program as it has been laid out," Gray added, "but I do wish there were more options for the 20 per cent who can function with modular scheduling. I have no problem with modular scheduling as such, even though I have long argued for a greater use of traditional scheduling at the CEP. What had bothered me is that the majority of students at the CEP cannot handle modular scheduling."

Yack said the board needed to trust the CEP administration. "Either we agree there will be limits to the number of classes offered or we somehow provide the money that will be needed to hire more staff."

You can have it well-done without getting burned.

T Bone Steak Dinner with Salad Bar and Choice of Soup or Juice $6.95

Two things happen when you get a steak at Perkins:
First, you get it cooked the way you want it.
Second, it doesn't cost you an arm and a leg.
You've been to the other kind of place, where no matter how you order your steak, it always comes to your table rare. Or burned.

We believe that if you want your steak medium rare, or medium well, or well done, then that's the way you should get it. Not rare. Not burned. And we won't get cranky if you send it back.

Le Deal of the Month on Le Car of the Year.

Buy Le Car GTL Deluxe now and drive out with $321 worth of options, free.

Free Custom Sports Console. Normally $24.00. Free Custom Color Keyed Wheel Covers. Normally $50.00.

Free Deluxe Side Striping. Normally $45.56. Free AM-FM Stereo/Radio with Deluxe Rear Antenna. Normally $201.66.

Compare features. You'll find Le Car is the best deal of any month.

Le Car offers front-wheel drive, rack and pinion steering, four-wheel independent suspension and Michelin steel-belted radials—all standard. (Civic, Rabbit, Fiesta and Chevette don't offer this combination of standard features.) The result is an exciting, highly responsive car that handles and corners with ease.

When it comes to ride and comfort, Le Car leaves other small cars behind.

Le Car's ride is so unbelievably smooth, even on rough roads, that Car & Driver called it "a new standard for small cars." And Le Car has what may be the most comfortable seats this side of a luxury sedan.

What's more, in proportion to its exterior length (which is the shortest of any small car), Le Car offers more interior space than Civic, Rabbit, Fiesta and Chevette. And, it has a longer wheelbase for added comfort.

To top it all off is the biggest sunroof (optional) on any small car. We call it a fun roof.

Millions of satisfied Le Car owners.

Nearly two million Europeans drive Le Car. (More than Rabbit and Fiesta combined.)

In the U.S., Le Car has more than doubled its sales in just one year.

And, in an independent survey, Le Car owner satisfaction was an amazing 95%.

Le Car prices start at only $3495.* And if you buy a Le Car GTL Deluxe before March 31, 1978, you'll get the options shown above, free. Supplies limited. And no small car offers a better deal than that.

*P.O.E. East Coast. Price excludes transportation, dealer preparation and taxes. Stripe, Sun roof and Rear wiper washer optional at extra cost. Prices higher in the West. Renault USA, Inc. ©1978.

Plymouth Center workers picket to tell story

By SHERRY KAHAN

Attendants at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, stung by attacks on them in the media for abusing center residents, have launched a counteroffensive.

A picket line was set up at the main entrance to the center on Sheldon Road Monday.

"All the apples are not bad," proclaimed one picket sign, another "Attendants unfairly labeled."

"More staff," read another. "Two staff to 40 patients is too much." Read a third, "Dr. Smith is where it's at. Fire him."

The message referred to Dr. Donald Smith, director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, whose termination was asked for on Monday by State Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique).

"We are protesting the articles in the (Detroit) Free Press which lumped all the attendants at Plymouth center in one bag, saying that everybody is abusing kids," said Yvonne Newby, president of local 1837 of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), which represents the attendants.

"I'm not saying abuse didn't happen, and we don't condone it at all, but the Free Press should have aired both sides. Dr. William Womack was a good administrator and made a lot of changes for the good."

A STATEMENT RELEASED by the union charged that irresponsible journalism "by inference slanders all attendant staff for the indiscretions of a few."

"The blame for undesirable care for the residents should not be placed on the lower-level employees, but on Department of Mental Health administrators who have failed to meet the basic needs of the residents," said the statement.

"For years it has been the lower-level employees, through the AFSCME union, who have appealed to DMH for more training, adequate staffing and decent living conditions for the residents.

"The DMH director, Dr. Smith, has virtually ignored this sought-after relief by both employees and recipient rights groups."

AFSCME representative Michael Cain said that for the last three years the DMH has asked for $20 million less as an operating appropriation than the legislature granted.

"This means the legislature is more sensitive to the needs of mental health residents and employees than the mental health administration," he said.

PICKETERS COMPLAINED about the high ratio of Plymouth center residents to attendants, the lack of good medical care for residents, lack of training for attendants and injuries to attendants caused by residents.

"A tally should be made about the number of employees who have been abused by patients," said Ms. Newby. "I know of 25 attendants who have been totally disabled. If someone who weighs 270 pound goes on a rampage, you are at his mercy."

According to union representative Van Slyke, work in mental hospitals is high risk employment.

"Because of their injuries on the job, mental health workers receive more than 50 per cent of the money drawn from Worker's Compensation by state employees," he said.

Latina Fakier noted the difficulties in preventing one resident from abusing another.

"How can you restrain him?" she asked, adding that residents sometimes throw tables and chairs.

"We've been given no training in dealing with aggressive residents. All we can do is give them tender loving care, keep them clean, dress them and try to train them," she said.

"But if you have an aggressive resident in a group of nine others, you have to try to restrain him while the other eight are neglected."

Ms. Fakier said the center needs more doctors and nurses. "Nurses who care," said another picket.

Ms. Fakier suggested assigning a psychologist to each building at the complex. She said incoming residents are interviewed for about an hour by a psychologist "and in that time they don't learn anything about that kid."

She added: "They need to spend more time with them."

VICTORIA BROWN, an attendant in Binet Hall where many cases of abuse were alleged, said her patients pull her hair every day.

"I am frequently slapped," she said. "I have been poked in the eyes and I'm a nervous wreck. When I go to my program director for help, the answer I get is that it's all part of my job. They don't bother to help you."

Alice Tatum, another Binet attendant, said "we have never been given orientation on holds we can use to restrain a patient."

She noted: "I get beaten up by kids every day, but I've never been shown how to restrain someone who is hurting me. How do you hold back a big kid. You have to run."

Milly Tyson is a supervisor at Binet. She said attendants should be taught how to protect themselves. She said she believes that some experience with behavior modification might help attendants deal with aggressive residents.

"The staff should be increased and they should be given better orientation on taking care of the mentally retarded," she said. "But communication here is terrible. You can go to your immediate supervisor with a usable program and get no reply. You put a child's name on the log to see a doctor and the licensed practical nurse takes the name off."

"I feel good about what I do. I try. But you need supervision behind you and an administration to back you up on things I'm programming and discipline."

Ms. Tyson said she thinks that the kind of people employed at the center has changed in recent years. "Some are younger people who want to earn money for their education. But they don't have dedication because they are not planning to stay with mental health."

Jail costs cut for low-risk females

A plan to reduce the cost of housing of up to 50 per cent of female jail prisoners by half or two-thirds has been approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The plan, based on a report from the Detroit-Wayne County Criminal Justice Coordinating Council, was adopted by commissioners Feb. 23.

They authorized $40,000 for the placement of female misdemeanants in private facilities as an alternative to incarceration at the jail annex in Westland.

According to the Criminal Justice Council, up to half the women misdemeanants in jail are lower-risk offenders (bad checks, shoplifting, prostitution and non-violent crimes), who would be acceptable to half-way houses and other community organizations which handle wayward persons.

The report estimates the typical cost of residential half-way houses at about $25 per day, less than half the housing cost at the main jail in downtown Detroit and less than a third of the cost at the Westland annex.

At any given time, reads the report, about 25 to 40 women would be involved in the program, with some of them eligible at state expense.

Picket signs refer to the call by a state representative for the ouster of the head of the state department of mental health.

New home buyers: Beware of price adjustment clause

By TIM RICHARD

Buyers of new houses can expect to find "price adjustment" clauses in their purchase contracts.

The culprit is a 15 per cent inflation in the cost of building materials during 1977, with further hikes expected in 1978.

Materials are about one-third the cost of a house. Thus, a typical price adjustment clause will say the price may be raised (or lowered) as much as five per cent between the time you sign the contract and closing date.

THE CLAUSES are being recommended this week by the board of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

BASM General Counsel Irving Yackness said the industrial group has about 1,000 members who put up 85 to 90 per cent of the new houses in the region.

"How can we trust builders to pass on only the actual increases in materials costs, and not use the clause as an excuse to tack five per cent onto the price?" Yackness was asked.

"There's a cap of five per cent in the clauses we're suggesting," said Yackness, pointing to one sample which said "in no event shall the price be increased for any reason whatsoever by more than five per cent."

A second buyer protection, Yackness said, is that the U.S. Labor Department each month publishes an industrial production commodities index. It would be the guide.

Finally, he said, the clause works two ways. Price drops would have to be reflected in the price of the house.

BUT THE BUILDERS left no doubt they don't expect prices to drop.

Lumber prices rose 16.5 per cent from January 1977 to January 1978. Plywood rose 13.1 per cent. Millwork rose 13.9 per cent.

In the month of January alone, he said, lumber rose 3.2 per cent, plywood 2.7 per cent, concrete 3.6 per cent and gypsum (for drywall) 2.3 per cent.

While local labor costs are also rising, the builders association said these can be estimated. So it is not recommending acceleration clauses to cover local labor costs.

"We've had reports from many builders who say they can't keep pace with price escalation," said Yackness, explaining why BASM drafted the clauses.

"We are apprehensive other builders face bankruptcy because they cannot anticipate today what their costs will be at the time of closing."

Isn't it the builders' tough luck if they go broke? No, said Yackness, because fewer builders means less choice for the buyer and a smaller housing supply.

A COMPLICATING factor for builders is the length of time it takes to build a house.

"It used to take 90 days. Some builders could finish a house in 60 days," said Yackness.

"Now it takes seven to nine months. There are various reasons for that.

"The inspection process is very lengthy. One community, Canton Township, requires 22 inspections.

"We've had extreme weather this year that has held up building.

"And then there's the availability of mechanics. There's intense competition for bricklayers here."

Some builders said that during the building slump that occurred in the region for the past few years, many workers quit the building trades. Others headed south. It leaves southeast Michigan with a shortage in some trades.

WHAT CAUSED the inflation in building materials market?

Builders cited two main causes. Many lumber producers quit the business, and oligopolies are better able to hike prices; and the nationwide recovery of the housing industry—from 1.2 million units to more than two million—is allowing subcontractors to hike prices.

Buyers can prepare for inflation in two ways, Yackness said. Either be prepared to put five per cent more down, or get the mortgage lender to increase its commitment.

Lanscaping for freeways, highways

Western Wayne County highways and freeways will be greener this spring and summer. The State Highway Commission has let contracts for landscaping worth nearly $400,000.

Projects and low bidders for trees and shrub plantings are:

•5.2 miles of Eight Mile from Grand River to the Lodge Freeway; Wayne-Oakland Landscaping, Livonia, $79,393.

•0.2 miles on Eight Mile between Kipling and Coolidge and Schaefer in Oak Park; Wayne-Oakland Landscaping, $27,320.

•2.8 miles of I-96 (Jeffries) Freeway between Evergreen and Schaefer in Detroit; J.D. Armstrong Landscape Co. of Fraser, $81,845.

•3.8 miles of I-275 between I-94 and a point south of Michigan Avenue in Romulus, Canton and Van Buren townships; DeAngelis Landscape Contracting Co. of Woodhaven, $69,000.

•9.8 miles of I-275 between I-94 and the Monroe County line, Huron Sod Farms of Romulus, $150,232.

In other action, the highway commission awarded a contract for erection of signs on a 12-mile section of the forthcoming M-14 freeway between Vorhies Road and I-275 to Spartan Asphalt Paving Co. of Holt for nearly $249,000. Signs are to be completed by November, an indication the Livonia-to-Ann Arbor link will be completed by then.

Chiropractor's Corner

By William Reinhold D.C.

ATTENTION: SINUS SUFFERERS

This is a sixth in a series of articles explaining the chiropractic approach in helping people with health problems.

This week we are going to talk about "sinus" problems.

Chiropractic has been very helpful in cases of sinus disorders.

Many times we hear the commercials that tell us about the products that can be bought at the local drug store, that can relieve the misery of the sinus problems. The headaches, the watery eyes, the achyness over the forehead and below the eyes as well as behind the eyes, the itchy nose as well as the running nose and the down right misery that accompanies "sinusitis." But what you never hear on the commercials is how much good chiropractic adjustments can do for sinus sufferers. Yet people all over this state of Michigan, who suffer from sinus trouble, have found great help from the distress of sinus problems with chiropractic adjustments. And the reason you don't hear about the benefits of chiropractic is because the ad is aimed at promoting their product and not at providing ways for you, the sinus sufferer, to overcome your sinus problem.

So now we have taken this opportunity to tell you that there is help for you with sinus troubles besides drugs. For we have found that many people suffer from sinusitis, not because of the weather, but because of a problem in their neck, which seems to set the stage for a sensitive or easily irritated sinus, and certain weather conditions will bring the problem to the surface. So that by correcting the neck problem, the patient experiences either less severe sinus symptoms, or complete elimination of the sinus problem.

So I'd encourage those of you who have sinus trouble to consult us, for there may be a problem in your spine that is responsible for your sinus trouble.

Nay-sayers stall schools

There seems to be a common denominator to the major issues which have come before the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education during the past few years.

Change.

Whatever the burning crisis happens to be at the moment, the underlying issue is resistance to change.

Change disrupts the status quo. Change charts new paths to unknown destinations. Change raises questions which experience cannot easily answer. Change often disturbs comfort and security. Change, for many persons, is an unpleasant experience.

ONE OF THE burning issues in recent years has been modular scheduling at the high schools.

Those disturbed by modular scheduling attributed to that change many, or all, of the "evils" at both high schools. And when the fight against Sin City was being waged the solution asked for was an alternative high school with a traditional schedule.

Now, two years later, a proposal for an alternative high school remains up in the air because of resistance from another section of the community.

A COUPLE YEARS ago another issue was the disruption and annual changes in attendance boundaries and neighborhoods caused by use of the feeder system for student assignment.

Random selection was chosen by the board as a better method to the feeder system. But the random plan has met with almost as much community opposition as the former system.

When year-round school first was introduced in the district at Miller Elementary there also was some opposition from parents, who fortunately were given the option of enrolling their children in another elementary with a "traditional" nine-month calendar. When year-round school was expanded last year, there was more opposition.

Yet, as last year, more parents experience the year-round school calendar more and more favorable comments are heard about the educational advantages of the schedule. But it is predictable that when more schools are placed on a year-round schedule next year, there will be opposition from the new group of parents.

The reason, of course, is that the positive effects of change must be experienced separately by individuals before they can accept those results. Without that experience, individuals anticipate change will automatically causes negative results. The fear of the unknown is one of the most powerful forces in human nature.

And that explains, in part, why resistance to change probably is the common denominator to most issues facing the school board—and other decision-making bodies, for that matter.

If that assumption has merit, decision-makers should anticipate that results of any new program likely will be more positive than the predictions by opponents. That doesn't make today's issues any easier to resolve but does suggest that, over the long haul, opponents of change may become proponents in the future.

With that hope in mind, trustees should continue their attempts to represent the best interests of all residents of the school district and not become overwhelmed by arguments made by very vocal persons who show up at meetings. In maintaining a necessary perspective, a realization that resistance to change may be the common denominator at work in most issues could be helpful.

Winter loosens its grip

The signs have been unmistakable in the last week or two.

The temperature crept, however briefly, about 32 degrees for a few hours. The camper and recreational vehicle show in the west side armory was mobbed as people began planning for spring and summer vacations.

Seed catalogs are out, and zealous green-thumbers are poring over them. Looking at new model homes in the suburbs is becoming a Sunday afternoon pastime.

On all the highways, mile roads and many of the side streets, you can see bare pavement. The two biggest auto companies are reporting better sales.

The signs are unmistakable. Winter is loosening its grip.

It's too early to say spring is on the way. Sidewalks are still snow-covered, and lakes are ice-coated.

The male red-winged blackbird still hasn't staked out his territory on the marshes, although he may arrive any day now. And while rabbit hunting season is wrapped up, we're still weeks away from the opening of trout season.

All we can say is that the bad part of winter is over. There will be some more cold, but it's not likely we'll get any spell of sub-zero blasts. There will be more snow, but not enough to cripple society for two days at a crack.

Winter nevertheless is coming to an end. Let us be thankful for small favors.

One side pays the piper, the other calls the tune

Government finance is a two-sided coin. You would think two chaps as sophisticated as James M. Roche and Lynn Townsend would understand that.

You recognize these two distinguished retirees as former board chairmen of General Motors and Chrysler Corp., respectively. They were gracious enough to serve on the Economic Growth Council of Detroit, Inc.

In that capacity, they came up with some excellent "heads" but some exceedingly poor "tails."

HEADS FIRST.

"Detroit has generously, but perhaps beyond its means, provided some services for people who live largely outside the city," Roche recently told the Economic Club of Detroit.

He cited the Detroit Institute of Arts (75 per cent of its visitors being non-residents), the beloved zoo (75-85 per cent non-residents), the Main Library and the two historical museums.

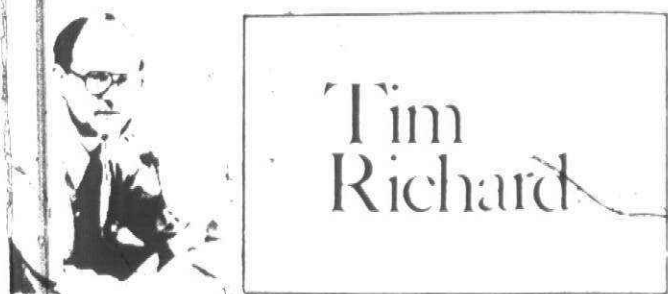

Gov. Milliken has been listening to these worthies and has put his monetary recommendations where his ears are. He recommends $7.1 million for the art institute (up $2.75 million from the current year), $6.5 million for the Detroit library, $742,000 for the Detroit Historical Museum and so on.

TAILS NEXT.

Nowhere do Roche, Townsend and the other high-powered minds on the growth council address the other side of the coin—who runs the show?

Gloating about Milliken's budget recommendation, the Detroit Institute of Arts sent out a press release which, near the bottom, includes this fascinating bit of intelligence: "The 101-gallery, 11-acre Detroit Institute of Arts is owned and operated by the City of Detroit. It is also substantially funded, particularly in the acquisition of works of art, by a private philanthropy, Founders Society."

In other words, it's entirely fair that the state and region help fund institutions that serve far more than the City of Detroit, but the other side of the coin is that there needs to be a modification of the political arrangements whereby they are operated.

The idea that everybody else pays and Detroit's provincial government controls the pursestrings is a lot of (hrrumph!) fertilizer, Mr. Roche and Mr. Townsend.

THERE ARE SOME rather important reasons why it's dead wrong for the state to pour money into Detroit institutions without changing the operation of those facilities.

As Roche put it, "The results of our surveys showed that city (of Detroit) workers were generally paid more in the performance of their duties than are their counterparts in the private sector, other major U.S. cities and other levels of government within the state."

Thus, Detroit's problem is only partly due to that euphemism, "the urban crisis." It's also due to the fact that Detroit chooses to pay too high.

If Detroit is going to tax its own residents to pay high wages, it's none of our business. If Detroit is going to draw $32 million and more from the state exchequer each year, then the rest of us are justified in demanding a piece of the action as to how that money is spent.

Government finance is a two-sided coin. You would think two chaps as sophisticated as James M. Roche and Lynn Townsend would understand that. Unfortunately, they never even talked about the political control side of the coin. Perhaps our friendly local state legislators will repair their lemon.

Big Renee makes tournament a circus

I was down at Cobo Hall last week watching the Virginia Slims Tennis Tournament. Professional women's tennis seems to be more enjoyable to watch than professional men's tennis because the points last longer. In men's tennis, the big serve seems to decide so many points.

Another reason is that the type of tennis the gal pros play is more identifiable with middle-aged men tennis players than the overwhelming power of the men pros' game.

One evening, there was a doubles match on Court I which featured Martina Navratilova, the eventual winner of the tournament, and Billie Jean King, always a favorite to watch.

In the middle of the match, a good percentage of the spectators got up and moved to Court II to watch a match involving some lesser lights of the Virginia Slims tour.

The reason was that Renee Richards was playing on Court II.

IT HAD TO BE curiosity that brought them to Court II because the better tennis was on Court I.

I had seen pictures of Richards but had never seen her in action.

On the court, she is big, apparently 6-foot-1. She is not as attractive in person as she appears in pictures.

She has a man's build, thick from shoulders to feet. She has short curly hair and wore large glasses.

She played with the power of a man, but the inconsistency of her game contributed to her losing the match.

She looked like a large duck as she moved around the court.

She brought to the tournament a circus atmosphere. Everyone wanted to see this "different" person.

IT WAS A Thursday night, and the tournament was sold out, so she must have helped the gate. But does she really help the reputation of professional women's tennis?

She plays on the Slims tour because a court in New York said the Slims couldn't exclude her.

The other players don't seem comfortable playing against her, but few are saying anything because they don't want to make waves.

Personally, I think it's a bad precedent to let her play. Because she is age 43, she is not taking the tour by storm. I suppose this is the real reason they are letting her play.

They say a good man tennis player is better than a great woman tennis player, so a "converted" male has an advantage that is unfair.

I'm not suggesting Renee shouldn't have had her transformation. That's her business—her personal business.

BUT HER DECISION to become a "woman" shouldn't give her the right to participate where

Eccentricities

by HANK HOGAN

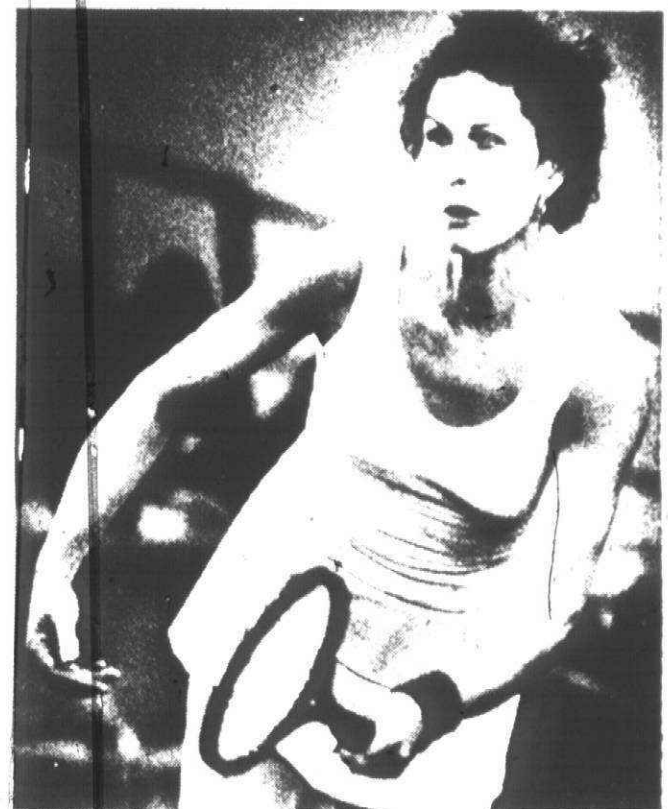

she might have such an advantage.

Suppose a young, great male player decided to do the same thing. The prizes in women's tennis are now to the point where it might be economically a boon "to have the operation."

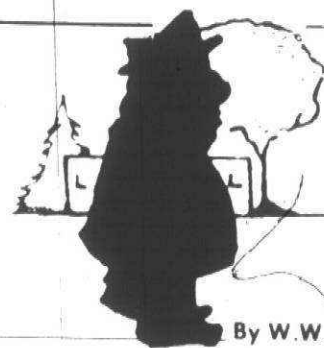

The precedent set by allowing Renee to play would make it hard to exclude any other transsexual.

If there is a reason to have men's tennis and women's tennis, then there is a reason to make sure men play men's tennis and women play women's tennis.

The Slims should phase out Renee because the circus atmosphere detracts from the quality reputation the players on the Slims tour have built up over the last several years.

The Stroller

Challenge to wrecking ball

The next victim of the wrecker's ball to make room for another parking lot in downtown Detroit, according to word from the inner city, is the old Detroit Times building that has stood for years on Cass Avenue, just across from the Bell Telephone offices.

Although no specific date has been set for the wreckers to move in, they may be able to send the concrete, bricks, mortar and steel to the ground, but they never will crush the memory of those who toiled there.

Never has any newspaper, at least within memory of The Stroller, housed a more colorful group of newspaper folk than the Times before the presses were still for all time back in 1960.

SURE, EVERY newspaper has a "character" or two on its staff, but the Times had 'em all beat. And the memory of their adventures will live as folks talk about the "old time" newspaper people. They set a high standard when it came to the unusual, and their ghosts are certain to be hovering about when the wrecking ball goes to work.

Where, for instance, could anybody beat the taxi ride taken by Bert Walker, the kindly old gent who covered sports a half-century ago?

Bert covered the Tigers in those days. In the off-season in the late 1920s, when suspicions were raised about some of Ty Cobb's antics that threatened to bar him from baseball, Bert set about to find Cobb.

This was in the days before air travel was popular, and Bert headed for Augusta, Ga. by train. When he arrived at Cobb's home, he was told that Ty had just left for the railroad station to head to Detroit.

Bert hastened his cabbie to race to the station and head off Ty before the train started. Alas, when they got there, the train had pulled out of the station, bound for Washington.

THAT DIDN'T faze old Bert. He ordered the cabbie to head for the nation's capital as fast as he could make it. Meanwhile, Bert sat back, content that he was on the trail of a good story.

Alas, again, the cabbie failed to win the race with the train. It had been gone for quite a while. Bert never hesitated. "On to Detroit," he ordered the cabbie.

Two days later, old Bert caught up with Cobb—in the rear of the late John Roesink's clothing store on Griswold Street—just around the corner from the Times' building that now is to be knocked down.

THEN THERE WAS a highly polished editor, a fellow named Jack Manning, to whom life was nothing but a big laugh. While he was a fine editor and a credit to the profession when he was on the job, he had a tendency to wander, often far afield.

On one occasion, he was gone four days before he was located in a Chicago hotel. When Manning was reached by phone, the caller said, "The office has been looking for you for four days."

To which Manning answered: "That's as it should be. The office should seek the man, and not the man the office."

ANOTHER OF the "characters" was the artist, Tom Schroeder, whose hobby was duck hunting on Lake St. Clair and carving wooden decoys.

One evening he ventured into Slim McClelland's Ringside Bar, which was sports headquarters and right across the park from the Times. After a few snorts of amber fluid, he got to playing the machines in which the player was asked to shoot the ducks which mechanically crossed the top of the machine.

Schroeder, who claimed he was the best marksman in the area, tried his hand—and missed. While the gathering roared with laughter, Tom insisted the ducks were out of line. "And I'll prove it," he said.

Out the front door he went. In a few minutes he returned with his shotgun. Standing in the doorway, he raised the gun to his shoulder, took aim and fired. Not only did he hit the ducks, he blew the entire machine apart. Nobody but Tom Schroeder would have done a thing like that.

ANOTHER OF the characters was Frank McDonnell, a sports writer who weighed all of about 90 pounds when soaked wet. A caustic writer at all times, he had heard that Max Baer, the former heavyweight champion who had appeared in an exhibition at the Olympia, was in the Ringside Bar and venting his spleen on McDonnell for a column he had written.

McDonnell—all 90 pounds of him—entered the bar and, without hesitation, walked over to the ex-champ's table and took a punch at him. And it wasn't just for laughs, though Baer got a chuckle out of it.

Another was Ray Girardin, who was once described as having a "lived-in" face. He was a great police reporter and was on top of the crime situation in the city as no other police reporter. He was always good for a laugh, but when Jerry Cavanagh became the "boy mayor," it was Girardin whom he picked to be police commissioner.

It was at the old Times where the reportorial staff in an effort to show Jim Trainor, then city editor, that they were on the job, took a live horse up on the freight elevator and marched it over to Trainor's desk for an interview.

No wrecking ball ever will crush the memories of that group of newspaper "characters."

Daniels Den

By EMORY DANIELS

Maybe I'd have $100,000 in my pocket today if I had made the right decision nine years ago.

But nine years ago I never would have guessed what was going to happen to the housing market in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Forget about these figures for the moment, but in 1969 I had the opportunity to purchase a home for $17,500 which today is on the market for $140,000.

What is more interesting is the reason I didn't purchase the home which I knew then would be a good investment—never dreaming, of course, it would be that good!

AFTER I SERVED two years in the Army, my wife and I moved back to this area and rented for a year or two.

We were in the market to buy a home when we got a rare offer. An acquaintance got a re-assignment and had to sell his home and move quickly. He only wanted enough for the house to recover his investment.

The two-story house is in the center of Farmington, with a large rear lot, three bedrooms, formal dining room, and a lot of nice features which come with older homes.

We looked the house over and it didn't take us long to decide to make him an offer. The owner said $17,500 was the selling price but we'd have to wrap up the deal promptly because he wanted out in 30 days.

Because we were short on cash and not knowledgeable in financing, we applied for a VA loan. The house needed some repairs, but we were convinced it was a solid deal. The only problem would be to get VA to move with haste. VA did move with haste but took a position we had not anticipated.

VA hired an appraiser to inspect the property and determine its value and condition. The appraiser decided the house was worth $24,500 which made it a pretty good investment for us at $17,500.

But the appraiser also noted that the side-porch was in disrepair, the exterior needed painting, and the bathroom plumbing needed modernizing.

That didn't bother us because we had planned to rip out the side-porch and enclose that door because it wasn't needed. There were a front and rear entrances and another entrance at the other side at the breezeway, attaching the house and garage. Paint was cheap then, and my labor even cheaper. And modernizing the bathroom plumbing wasn't any big problem for us either.

But VA saw it differently. It was their job, by law, to protect veterans. And VA regulations require the seller of a house to make all necessary repairs before the veteran can acquire title.

I explained to someone in the VA office that the house had been appraised at $5,000 more than we were buying it for, and that I could make the "necessary repairs" myself for $1,000, easily—probably $500.

The seller didn't have time to make the repairs, but held out as long as he could so I could convince VA to let the loan go through. I begged VA not to "look after my best interest" but the bureaucrats insisted regulations had to be followed.

While I was yelling at bureaucrats and beating my head against the VA wall, another buyer came up and offered $17,500 cash. Of course, the seller had to accept that offer.

IT TOOK AWHILE to forget that experience, but eventually I did—until recently.

That's when I heard the same house is one the market now for $140,000. Of course, the current owner had fixed up the house. He tore out the side-porch, closed off that entrance, put on aluminum siding, replaced the bathroom fixtures, added a family room, did a lot of modernization inside, and built an in-ground swimming pool.

My rough estimate is that the current owner has invested about $20,000 to $25,000 in the house and grounds during past nine years. And so he stands to clear $100,000 if he sells for the asking price, although that is doubtful.

I have watched inflation hit the housing market from year to year, but am still suprised at what has happened to this property. My guess is that the house would sell for about $70,000 today—still a good "profit" from the $17,500 investment in 1969. But if $140,000 is the asking price, chances are the sales price will be considerably more than $70,000.

If I had made that purchase in 1969, I probably wouldn't have gotten around to putting in the in-ground pool. Nevertheless, I could still sell for $120,000 and have $100,000 in my pocket. But I don't because nine years ago VA had the wisdom to look after my best interest.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

THERE'S A brand new garden club in town.

The 11 charter members of the Sunshine Garden Club received their charter Jan. 9 from the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan. Sponsoring clubs were the Dearborn Garden Club and the Pilgrim Garden Club of Plymouth.

Members are from Trailwood in Plymouth Township, Canton Township and the City of Plymouth. Laura Kairo is president, Carol Buckley is vice president, Mary Catherine Tortora is secretary and Judy Stewart is treasurer.

Charter members are Sandra Chesla, Cindy Dekun, Marsha Livermore, Susan Parker, Patricia Ashcroft, Patricia Kloth and Nancy Schade.

"At this point we plan to meet in each others' homes," said Laura. "We hope to increase our membership to 25 by September and reach a maximum of 40 in a year or two."

by
ELLIE GRAHAM

"We don't want it to be just a social group. We are seriously interested in landscaping, horticulture, civic beauty and conservation of our natural resources."

Those interested in getting in on the ground floor of a new and educational group can talk to Mrs. Kairo, 455-5499, or Mrs. Buckley, 459-4826.

BOBBIE WILLIAMS is looking ahead to May.

Mrs. Williams is the Canton mother who initiated the May "March for Breath" two years ago.

She was the only marcher. When she had some spare time, she'd go out and do some door-to-door canvassing. At the end of the month she had collected $300 for the National Asthma Center in Denver.

With 9 million Americans suffering from asthma, this was but a drop in the bucket. But it was a beginning. Last year, with some volunteer help, $1,762 was raised in the Plymouth-area.

Mrs. Williams is hoping for more volunteers this year. Things already are looking better. Judy DeCorte has offered to head the march in Plymouth Township.

"I'll have just Canton and the city," she said.

Would it help to have a chairman for the city?

"Would it help? It would be heavenly," was her response.

The asthma center has a very personal meaning to the Williamses. They saw their son, Eric, a chronic, intractable asthmatic, enter the Denver center when he was 10. He weighed 50 pounds.

"He was the one who always breathed wrong, the one who couldn't join his contemporaries on the playground in strenuous games."

In less than a year, he was released from the center. He had gained 20 pounds. For the first time in his life he was out playing football with the rest of the kids.

The center combines research and treatment. Some asthmatics are residents. Others are treated on an outpatient basis. It costs $20,000 to treat one child for one year. Thanks to the efforts of 15,000 persons in the United States and Canada who raise funds for the center, the treatment is free.

Patients "on campus" range in age from 6 to 16.

Members of Xi Delta Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority helped with the March for Breath last year. After seeing the film "Children of November," they chose the march as their major philanthropy.

"Many of the marchers who helped last year have moved away or gone back to work," said Mrs. Williams. "I'm starting over again."

Anyone who could spare a few hours for the march can call Mrs. Williams at home, 453-1806, or Mrs. DeCorte, 453-3026.

Last year at this time, the Williamses were concerned about their son's first springtime at home after being in the center. Spring had always been the worst season for him.

"How is Eric? He is fine," said Mrs. Williams. The doctors took him off the allergy shots and he now is on an inhaled drug that has no side effects."

Anyone who has known an asthmatic, who has seen them go through the trauma of "feeling he had died," will have an opportunity to work to end this terror when they help the May "March for Breath."

HOWARD GRIFFORE had high scores two weeks in a row at the Thursday afternoon party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center. He shared honors with Ann Prevost, Feb. 16, and Frances Peters, Feb. 26.

ROSEMARY CARMAN flew up from St. Petersburg, Fla. last Friday to spend the weekend with her sister and brother-in-law, Alice and John Forsakian of Willowbrook Drive in Lake Pointe Village.

It was all part of Miss Carman's 50th birthday celebration. Anyone who looks 30 and wears boys' size 14 jeans has no qualms about a 50th birthday. Happy birthday, Rosemary.

Semis roll in with GS cookies

The January blizzard did not "stay their appointed rounds" as Plymouth-Canton Girl Scouts topped last year's record-breaking sales.

They trudged through, over and around mountains of snow to take orders for 41,844 boxes of girl scout cookies. This was 3,487 cases (12 boxes to the case)—750 more than the 1977 total.

Doris Rorabacher had a first-hand look at the enormity of the undertaking when two large semis were unloaded Tuesday. Her two-car garage was filled and the stacks of cookie cartons extended well into her driveway. Mayflower Moving Co. people began unloading at 8:30 a.m. and completed the task at 2:30 p.m.

Troops started picking up their orders at 3:30.

MRS. RORABACHER has chaired

Canton Observer
Suburban Life

Thursday, March 2, 1978

the cookie sale for seven years.

"As the area has grown, we've gone from one moving van to two," she said.

Junior Troop 526 in Canton Township sold 341 cases.

"That's the highest I've ever seen in my seven years as chairman. I couldn't believe it. I rechecked the figures twice when they placed their order."

The cookie chairman discovered more records had been surpassed.

Scouts who sell 300 boxes or more receive the exclusive "super patch," reserved for an elite group of super salesgirls. This year, eight super patches were earned in the Plymouth-Canton area.

Another magic number for 1978 was 78. Those selling 78 or more boxes are awarded a bright yellow tote bag with green silk-screened lettering: "Girl Scouts are smart cookies." The tote bags were ordered for 269 girls. Patches bearing the number 50 go to those selling 50 boxes and the 100 patch goes to those selling 100.

EACH GIRL scout and volunteer participating in the sale will receive a certificate of thanks. It is part of Mrs. Rorabacher's job to order these certificates when she places the troop orders.

Cookies sold for $1.25 a box. The scouts earn 71½ cents on each box. Twenty cents of this goes directly to the troop. The remainder is added to and supplements funds provided by United Way and Community Funds, direct gifts from friends and other sources.

Profits from this year's sale will help pay for the new troop house under construction at Camp Crawford. Plymouth-Northville-Canton scouts are members of the Huron Valley Council.

MASTER ORDER form in hand, Mrs. Rorabacher checked off the Tuesday deliveries and later, the troop pickups.

"The old standby, the thin mint, was the top seller again this year," she said.

The sales of individual varieties were: mints, 1,113 cases; peanut butter patties, 875 cases; peanut butter sandwich, 449 cases; shortbread, 391 cases; snowdrop, 337 cases; and sandwich cremes, 322 cases.

Residents who placed their cookie orders in late January or early February can expect delivery within the next two weeks.

Week's focus is on woman's perspective

Films, discussions and a concert by the Lenore Paxton Trio highlight activities planned by the Focus on Women Program at Henry Ford Community College marking Women's Recognition Week, beginning Sunday.

Speakers will appear on campus to provide information on careers, health and politics from the woman's perspective.

Free pap smears will also be available to the first 50 women who make appointments.

Registration for the free pap smears will be held 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 6-9 in Student Center Building room C-3. Additional registration forms will be available from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, March 8 and 9, in Liberal Arts Building room L-14, where all the other Women's Recognition Week events will take place.

A film and panel discussion entitled "Why Not a Woman?" will cover various aspects of career opportunities for women in technology. Emily Dimattia of the Ford Motor Co. personnel planning and management for women and Joe Skupin of the HFCC placement office will lead the discussion. It will begin at 10 a.m. Wednesday, March 8, in Liberal Arts Building room L-14.

Jean King, chairwoman of the Michigan delegation to the National Women's Convention held recently in Houston, will discuss the convention and its implications in a talk from 11:10 a.m. to noon on Wednesday in L-14.

DR. ERIK FITZPATRICK, a media instructor at HFCC, will discuss media exploitation in print advertising from 12:10-1 p.m.

A discussion of women in politics will follow at 1:10 p.m. and will include Detroit City Councilwoman Maryann Mahaffy, Dearborn City Council president Marge Powell, and Loretta Moore, a candidate for the Michigan Senate.

A woman television newscaster will talk about her experiences working in the Detroit media at 2:10 p.m. and the movie "T.R. Baskin," starring Candice Bergen, James Caan and Peter Boyle, will be shown at 4 p.m. and repeated at 7 p.m.

On Thursday, March 9, Dr. Paul Pearsall of the HFCC sociology faculty will speak on human sexuality and personal health, beginning at 10:10 a.m., followed by a discussion at 11:10 a.m. on nutrition, entitled "You Are What You Eat," by Linda Buck, a clinical dietitian from Henry Ford Hospital at Fairlane.

Ms. Buck will discuss nutrition and how it affects weight control and the maintenance of good health. She will also discuss prenatal nutritional considerations and how diet affects the child.

The Lenore Paxton Trio will offer a

50-minute jazz concert beginning at noon. A discussion on how state legislation or lack of legislation affects women's health, led by Dianne Rubin, assistant state attorney general, and Deborah Lipson of the Michigan Health Rights Council, will run 1:10-2 p.m. and will cover sex education, teenage pregnancies, workers' compensation and insurance availability.

DELL WARNER, chairwoman of the Michigan Council on Women in Substance Abuse, will discuss the personal, social, financial and governmental problems caused by substance abuse by women. It is scheduled from 2:10-3 p.m.

A student panel discussion on women's issues will be held on Friday, March 10, beginning at 10:10 a.m., followed by a lecture by Belita Cowan on diethylstilbestrol (DES) and other choices and controls which are available to women in health care, beginning at 11:10 a.m.

All of the Women's Recognition Week events are open to the public free of charge. For more information on the Focus on Women program at HFCC, call 271-2750, ext. 346.

U-M's Cavender joins Central bands festival

Professor George Cavender, conductor of the University of Michigan's marching band, will take part in Central Middle School's winter festival concert.

All four of Central's bands will perform in the concert which will begin at 7:30 p.m. March 7 in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road. Admission is free.

Michael P. DiCuirici, director of Central bands, has programmed numbers which the bands will perform at the district band festival March 11 in Saline.

Dennis McVittie, Plymouth High School graduate, will be master of ceremonies. Paul Bechler, Gospel pianist, also will perform.

CAVENDER is director of development and school relations for the school of music at U-M. In this capacity and formerly as assistant conductor of bands, he added to the fame and prestige of the internationally famous Michigan bands, both on the concert stage and the gridiron.

Cavender's reputation as conductor, showman, drillmaster and marching band technician have been recognized by his colleagues. He is called to travel from coast to coast each year as a conductor, clinician, adjudicator, teacher and drillmaster.

On 1972, he traveled throughout Japan at the invitation of the Japanese Marching Band Association, working with students, teachers and clinicians on marching band techniques.

THE FOLLOWING year, he was in Mexico City, Oaxtepec and Cuernavaca for adjudication and concert engagements.

A concert band tour of Europe included London, Paris, Innsbruck, Dinkelsbühl, Lucerne, Brussels, Amsterdam, Salzburg and Vienna.

The years 1974-76 saw him touring extensively in the United States as well as to Bermuda, Mexico and Hawaii.

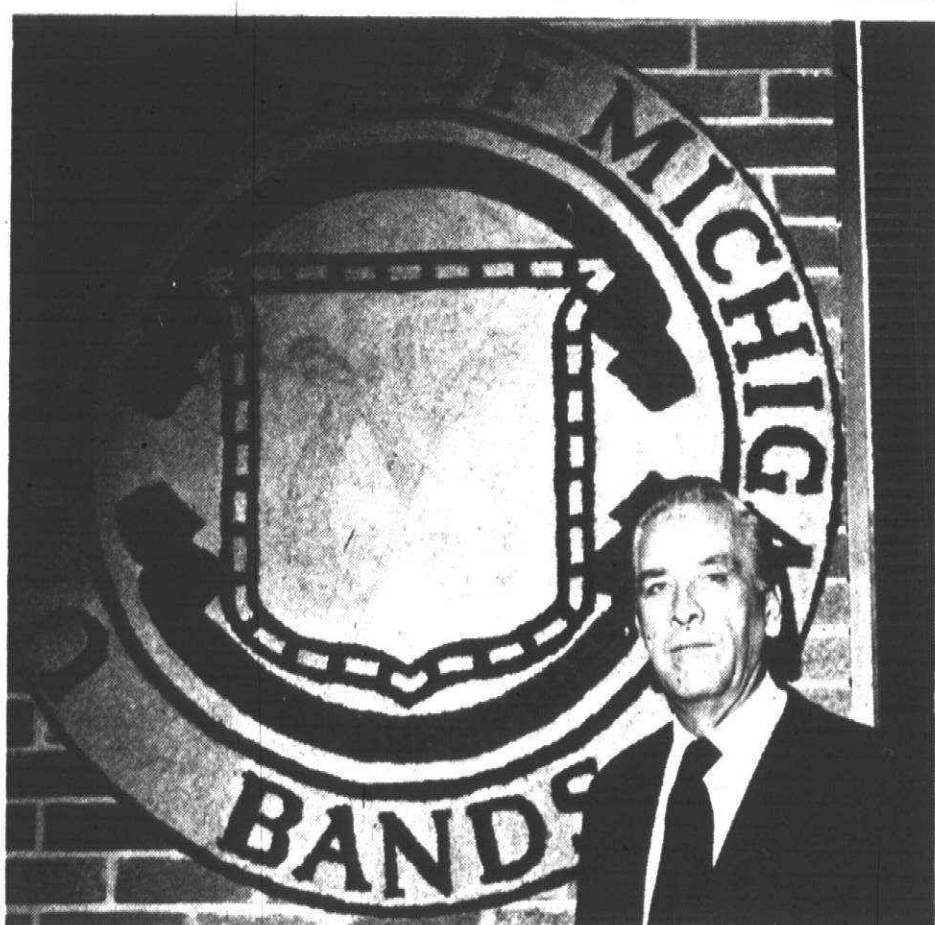

His marching shows have been viewed by millions of spectators in the Boston Gardens, the Virginia Beach Concert and Marching Festival, Houston Astrodome, the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, the Orange Bowl in Miami, and at Super Bowl VII in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

HE BEGAN his career in the public schools of Michigan and here his bands, orchestras and marching organizations attracted national attention.

Cavender was a member of the U.S. Marine Corps for four years. His service included 29 months overseas with major campaigns in Bougainville, Guam and Iwo Jima where he was decorated several times.

He rose from the rank of enlisted man to a major in the tank corps.

In 1969, he was commissioned a Kentucky Colonel for his services to the high school bands of northern Kentucky.

George Cavender, conductor of the University of Michigan Marching Band, will participate in Central Middle School's winter festival concert next Tuesday, March 7.

PCAC to list private teachers

The Plymouth Community Arts Council plans to do something about a problem that confronts parents—both newcomers and longtime residents. There comes a time when a fledgling dancer, musician, or artist warrants private instruction to further cultivate their talents.

"New residents, often call our office asking for names of private instructors," said Elaine Kirchgatter, PCAC president. "Since there seems to be a need for this kind of service, we'd like to try to provide it."

Plans are under way to compile a master list of "Teachers of the Arts" as a resource for residents of the Plymouth-Canton community.

"The PCAC will not be endorsing the teachers on the list," Mrs. Kirchgatter stressed. "We are merely saying that these people are available. Residents must make their own choice."

TEACHERS offering private instruction in music, art or dance who would like to be included on the list may call the PCAC office 455-5260, Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. until noon.

The list will be limited to Plymouth-Canton residents. In addition to name, address, telephone number, type of instruction and fee, the list will include a brief synopsis of each teacher's background and experience.

Nancy Sharp and Kathy Wood are in charge of compiling and updating the listing. They plan to offer the new service to the community within the next few weeks.

High school child care center plans open house

Canton Children's Corners, a center for preschoolers 2½ and 4 years old, will have an open house for parents.

Hours are 7:30-9 a.m.; 11 a.m.-noon; and 2-3:30 p.m. March 1 through March 10.

Sue Visser, teacher at the center in Plymouth Canton High School, says parents will have an opportunity to see the pre-school program in action and hear about the lab school.

High school students work with the preschoolers as part of their vocational child care training.

Parents can sign up now for the session which begins in September.

Ketcherside-Ping

Mr. and Mrs. Charles George Ketcherside III are making their home in California following their recent wedding in St. Matthew United Methodist Church of Livonia.

Mrs. Ketcherside is the former Jacqueline L. Ping, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Ping of Dorist Street, Livonia. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Ketcherside II of Wing Street, Plymouth.

The Rev. William Rickard performed the nuptials and the attendants were Jill Ping, sister of the bride, and Dan Willis. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony.

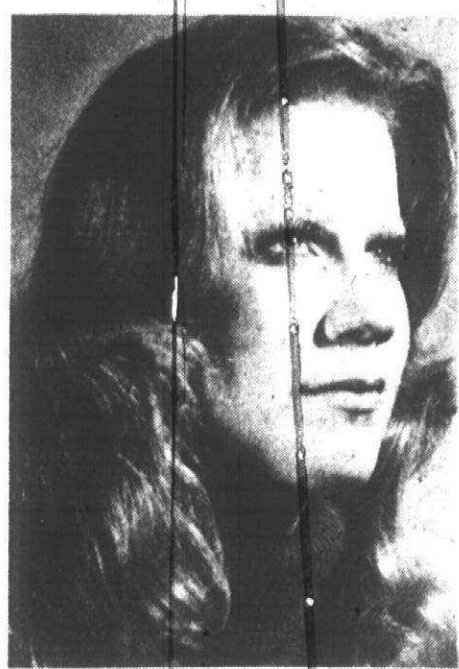

The couple's honeymoon was the trip to California, where the bridegroom is serving in the U.S. Navy.

Ramage-Kennedy

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ramage of Joy Road, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Laura Ann, to Michael James Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Star of Carriage Hills Drive.

The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. She attends Schoolcraft College and is employed as a saleswoman at Harvi's of Plymouth. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth Salem in 1976 and attends Schoolcraft College. He is employed in the Copper Rivet Shop in Canton.

Belcher-Dennis

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Belcher of Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to Conrad V. Dennis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Colbourn V. Dennis Jr. of Canton Center Road, Canton Township.

The bride-elect is employed by the Plymouth Township Fire Department and JVB Advertising. Her fiancé attends Eastern Michigan University and is employed by Dennis Market in Canton.

Resource Center will 'branch out'

The Plymouth Childbirth and Family Resource Center, Ltd. wants to do more for you.

Since it opened six months ago, the CFRC has concentrated on providing information and classes for expectant couples and has done it well.

But Kathy Nunez and Diane Kimbal, founders of the center, feel the need to move in new directions.

Although the plans are tentative so far, the women have explored holding a number of workshops, including a women's discussion group parenting techniques, and a natural homemaking course.

"The childbirth classes have been growing and we're satisfied with them," commented Mrs. Kimbal. "But we want to branch out into different areas and services."

WHILE BOTH women say that childbirth preparation is still their primary interest, they would like to offer more classes and discussion groups aimed at the whole family unit.

"It's really rewarding to see the husbands take part in the whole birth experience," said Mrs. Nunez. "However, Diane and I feel that there isn't much offered for husbands and wives after the child is born."

"The problems of being parents and raising a family are on-going, and there just seems to be a lack of services for the family as a unit."

Other courses the women have explored are a self-help class for women on how to give themselves cervical examinations and a babysitting workshop for children 13 years of age and over.

AS WITH THE childbirth classes, the two women see CFRC working as a buffer between the various professionals and the individual.

"We're not professionals, but we can get people thinking about taking responsibility for their health and their lives," Mrs. Nunez said.

Anyone interested in making reservations for classes can contact Mrs. Kimbal or Mrs. Nunez at 459-2360. The CFRC is a non-profit organization at 865 Penniman Avenue.

New Voices

Museum keeps it authentic

Mary Todd baked a cake for Abraham Lincoln which he declared "the best in Kentucky." This was before their marriage and Lincoln may have been in a gallant frame of mind.

Whatever his mood, the recipe has endured and the Mary Todd Lincoln cake was served at a luncheon at the Plymouth Historical Museum marking the 169th anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

Marge Mitchell, who heads the educational committee at the museum, shared her recipe.

"I'm sure few of the cakes from the 'good old days' would have been very acceptable by our standards," said Mrs. Mitchell.

MARY TODD LINCOLN CAKE

1 cup butter
1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
1/4 tsp. almond extract
2 cups sugar
3 cups sifted all purpose flour
1 tbs. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 1/2 cups toasted, blanched almonds, finely chopped.
6 egg whites

Cream butter and extracts. Add one cup sugar gradually, creaming until light after each addition. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately in thirds with milk to creamed mixture. Mix in nuts. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add one cup sugar gradually beating well after each addition. Continue beating until stiff peaks form. Fold into batter.

Grease the bottom only of a 10-inch tube pan. Line with greased waxed paper. Pour in batter and bake for one hour in a 350-degree oven. Cool for 15 minutes in pan before removing to a wire rack.

Margaret Kidston, registrar for the museum.

Centerpieces for the buffet and luncheon tables were arranged by committee members who used antiques on hand at the museum.

Ice with boiled icing to which 1/2 cup candied pineapple and 1/2 cup candied cherries have been added.

THE SPECIAL Abraham Lincoln and Civil War exhibits will be at the museum until mid-March.

They have attracted a steady flow of visitors to the museum on Main Street. Many of the Civil War items are on loan. The Lincoln artifacts are from the private collection of Weldon Petz, nationally recognized authority on Lincoln.

Museum hours are from 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

Richard Gornick, (from left) president of the Plymouth Historical Society, shared a table with Weldon Petz, Lincoln expert, and Pat Scott, exhibits director. (Staff photos)

Fifth graders at Isbister Elementary School and their teachers were delighted when Michael Stolper, assistant professor of near Eastern studies at the University of Michigan visited their school. His explanation of ancient writings and how archeologists reconstruct the history of more than 3,000 years ago added new interest to their social studies program. # Soloist finds great unknowns

By TIM RICHARD
Violinist Kathleen Winkler has been performing with school orchestras and professionally for a decade. But at 4 p.m. Sunday she will give her first public performance of a rarely heard work—the second violin concerto of Henryk Wieniawski.

Miss Winkler will be soloist with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, Joy west of Canton Center Road.

"It's not played that often," she said of the masterwork of Wieniawski (pronounced "veen-yof-ski").

"I heard Josef Gingold perform it last year on the east side . . . and it dawned on me that this is a beautiful concerto." Gingold was concertmaster of the Cleveland Orchestra and her instructor at Indiana University.

"UNTIL A COUPLE of years ago, the fad was to play the 'biggies'—the Brahms, Tchaikovsky, Beethoven and Sibelius concertos," Miss Winkler said. Lately, she said, performers are re-discovering other works.

Re-discovering is the word for Wieniawski. A generation ago, the passionate Pole's second concerto was ranked with the "biggies." Then, like MacDowell and Liszt, Wieniawski went into a decline.

But a Wieniawski revival is underway. Itzhak Perlman, from whom Miss Winkler took a master class in 1970, has recorded both Wieniawski concertos. The composer's short works pop up more frequently in recitals, too—especially the Polonaise in D and the Scherzo-Tarentelle.

Wieniawski was a great melodist. His catalog has only about two dozen opuses, yet each is memorable. The second concerto has hummable tunes in every movement, along with the heroic bravura and technical challenges that were so popular in the 19th century. The final movement contains the annotation "a la Zingara"—in the style of the Gypsy.

Like other romantics, Wieniawski frequently begins a movement with a first subject in a brooding, minor key. But for the second subject, he can't resist bursting into a sunny melody.

Wieniawski, like Mozart before him, was addicted to gambling, and to overwork to pay off his gambling losses. During a performance of his second concerto 100 years ago, Wieniawski halted with a nervous spasm.

MISS WINKLER, 27, will probably use her Peresson instrument—a modern Italian who is "a wonderful violin maker whose works are in tremendous demand." It's the first fine instrument she has ever owned, although friends have made her loans from time-to-time.

"I started violin in grade school in Philadelphia," she recalled. "The school provided the violin for the first year. After that we had to get our own."

"My parents were very poor. So when they bought me a violin, bow and case with a cake of resin thrown in for $30, it was the purchase of the year."

The case later went to an older sister who also studied violin, so Miss Winkler carried her instrument to school in a brown paper bag.

CLARK SUTTLE will again be guest conductor while Wayne Dun-

KATHLEEN WINKLER
Revival for Wieniawski

lap is on sabbatical.

Tickets at $3.50 for adults and $1.75 for senior citizens are available in several downtown Plymouth stores and at the door.

Also on the program will be two nocturnes by Claude Debussy—"Nuages" (Clouds) and "Fetes" (Festival)—and Mendelssohn's Symphony No. 5 ("Reformation").

Manchester stage hosts folk singers

Mary Travers will appear in concert with special guest Rick Neeley, Sunday and Monday at 7 and 9:30 p.m. at the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre in Manchester.

Mary Travers of Peter, Paul and Mary, has been entertaining with a new perspective and has bloomed in a new light as a soloist. In the seven years since the break up of PPM, she has been trying out her public personality, developing a personal image.

Ms. Travers has found expression in varied capacities. She has performed as a soloist, written and starred in TV specials for BBC, hosted and co-hosted talk shows. She hosts her own syndicated radio show and she does club and concert tours.

SHE HAS BROKEN away from folk roots. Her new LP includes songs by such contemporary songwriters as Melissa Manchester, Peter Allen, David Pomerantz and Robbin Batteaux.

Rick Neeley, like so many other folk-singers, began his career in coffeehouses back in the '60s.

A versatile performer, Neeley has covered the bases of clubs, coffeehouses, mini-concerts, and opening act for large concert productions. He has appeared as opening act for such groups as Rings & Things of Canada and McKendree Spring.

All seats are reserved. Tickets are available for purchase in Ann Arbor at Schoolkids Records, Recordland in Briarwood Mall, Tix-info at Jacobson's "J's" Shop, at the APA office 104 E. Main St., Manchester.

For information about the show, interested parties should phone 428-9280. Office hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Manchester is approximately 20 miles southwest of Ann Arbor and 15-20 miles southeast of Jackson. Take I-94 to 52 south.

Drummer teaching percussion clinics

Butch Miles, drummer for the Count Basi Band, will visit the campus of Eastern Michigan University on Monday.

Miles will conduct clinics for beginning and advanced percussionists during the day. On Monday evening, he will perform with the EMU Jazz Ensemble in Pease Auditorium. The concert begins at 8.

Miles' visit is sponsored by the EMU Student Chapter of the Percussive Arts Society, the Office of Campus Life, the EMU/Ypsilanti Arts Council and Pearl Drums. Both the clinics and the concert are open to the public without charge.

For further information, call Michael Jameson, assistant director of bands at Eastern, at 487-0330 in Ypsilanti.

Laudenslager moves concert to Birmingham

The Laudenslager Series, which has for five years used Detroit as a setting for concerts, will alter tradition March 5.

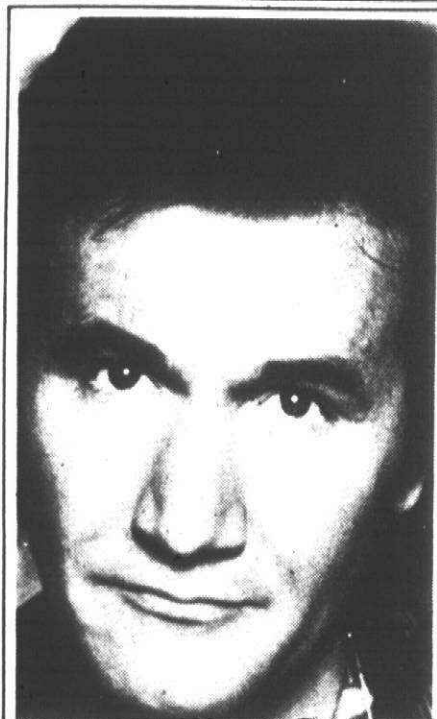

The Birmingham Unitarian Church, Lone Pine and Woodward, will be the location for the 8 p.m. Laudenslager concert featuring the Detroit String Quartet and the flute and piano duo of Albert Tipton and Mary Norris.

The quartet is composed of James Waring and Inez Redman, violins; David Ireland, viola, and Mario DiFiore, cello.

Tipton is a former member of the Detroit Symphony who plays on one of the six platinum flutes in the world.

The program will include works by Mozart, Laudenslager, Ginastera and Debora.

All guests are invited to an informal reception following the concert. Tickets, $6 general admission, $3.50 students and seniors, will be available at the door on the evening of the program.

He's got Grammys

Roger Miller, winner of 11 Grammy Awards, will appear at DB's Club in the Hyatt Regency Dearborn March 6-11. Showtimes are 8 and 10:30 p.m. Monday-Thursday and 9 and 11:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday. Miller launched his recording career with his first album, "The Far Out Roger Miller." When "Dang Me" and "King of the Road" were recorded, they soon became smash hits, making Miller a superstar with many more hits to follow.

Cranbrook series ends

The Cranbrook Music Guild will conclude its season with a concert Tuesday, March 7 at Cranbrook House, 380 Lone Pine.

This annual Young Artists concert will feature

Kuem Ja Kim, soprano and John Whitney Price, percussionist.

Miss Kim is a graduate of Interlochen, a student at the University of Michigan and a 1973 Grinnell award winner.

Prince won the 1977 Betty Brewster scholarship award sponsored by the Cranbrook Music Guild.

The concert is at 8 p.m. and tickets will be available at the door.

DSO: Dorati joins Hungarian cellist

Music Director Antal Dorati will be joined by two other native Hungarians, cellist Janos Starker and cimbalom player Marta Fabian, Thursday and Saturday evening at 8:30 in two performances with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at Ford Auditorium.

The program will include the American premiere of Zsolt Durko's "Hungarian Rhapsody," the orchestra's first performance of Prokofiev's Sinfonia concertante for cello and orchestra, and Stravinsky's "Scherzo a la Russe," and Kodaly's "Hary Janos Suite."

The two clarinet soloists in the Durko work will be principal Paul Schaller and second clarinetist Douglas Cornelien. Miss Fabian will perform in both the Durko piece and the Kodaly.

Budapest-born Starker has appeared with the symphony twice before, most recently in November 1971. He is one of the most recorded contemporary cellists.

A seasoned batter makes our shrimp very special.

At Holly's By Golly, we deep fry our shrimp in seasoned batter, then serve it with two dipping sauces. During baseball season, we turn on the giant TV every Monday nite, so you can watch weekly baseball games. Meet your friends for a fish dinner and nine innings. Order a pitcher of beer.

Or, take your son out to eat Monday nite. We've got half-sized platters for junior batters.

Happy birthday, Antoine!

Museum party for Cadillac's 322nd...

The 322d birthday of Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac, founder of Detroit nearly 277 years ago, will be commemorated on Friday, March 3, by a party at the Detroit Historical Museum.

The festivities, sponsored by the Detroit Historical Society, the French Festival of Detroit, and the North American Indian Association, will feature entertainment and refreshments.

Guests will be treated to wine and cheese, French bread, and Indian venison soup while being entertained by French-Canadian square dancers, can-can dancers, and "Recorders Court" playing 18th-century French folk and court music.

A diorama and mural depicting Detroit in the early 18th century will be unveiled, a gift to the museum by French groups from throughout the metropolitan area. These include the French Festival of Detroit, the "Alliance Francaise de Detroit," "Alliance Francaise de Grosse Pointe," French Women's Benevolent Club, Le Club LaSalle of Warren, "Paroisse St. Joachim de Detroit," and "Societe St. Jean Baptiste de Detroit."

Tickets for the evening's festivities are $5 per person and may be bought through the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward, Detroit 48202 (833-7934) or at the door the night of March 3.

...amid some newly-donated artifacts

Out of the thousands of artifacts donated to the Detroit Historical Museum over the past year, some recent acquisitions are especially interesting.

One is a collection of $20 gold pieces minted between 1850 and 1925 as well as English and Canadian gold sovereigns. Another is a beautiful Gorham sterling silver tea set.

Not elegant but historically significant was the museum's salvaging of cast iron porch railings and French doors from the facade of the Tunnel Bar building on Jefferson across from the Renaissance Center.

The building, built in the 1850s and one of the oldest commercial buildings in Detroit, was being razed to make room for the Jefferson-Randolph parking structure.

The museum staff was able to contact the demolition contractor and save these architectural features.

A 1935 four-door Rolls-Royce was donated to the museum by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kuschell. Although not a Detroit-related automobile, the Rolls-Royce represents an important facet of automobile history.

'A Doll's House' extended

Tess Schafer, who portrays Mrs. Kristine Linde, and Jack Grulke, who plays Nils Krogstad, appear in a scene from "A Doll's House" by Henrik Ibsen. The Farmington Players' production has been extended through Sunday. Performances will be presented at 8:30 p.m. tonight through Saturday and at 7:30 p.m. Sunday. Ticket information is available at the box office, 477-1066.

Travel movie to Hawaii

"Hawaii in 1977," a color movie covering the major Hawaiian islands, will be shown at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Stan Midgley, the bicycling humorist, has rephotographed the tourist sights of Oahu, Maui, Kauai, Molokai and the big island of Hawaii. He shows downtown Honolulu, surfing at Waikiki Beach, Pearl Harbor, Polynesian Center, the leaping killer whales of Sea Life Park, the King Kamehameha Day parade and graceful hula dancers.

On the "out" islands, he covers spectacular Waimea Canyon, the Spouting Horn, Kona Coast resorts, black sand beaches, Hilo, the Parker Ranch horse show and white-hot lava in an erupting volcano.

For ticket information, call the World Adventure Series at 832-7676 any day 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Humorous ballet downtown

Hairy-chested ballerina Olga Tchikaboumskaya leads her Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo back to Detroit's Music Hall for a single performance on Wednesday.

Since they left their Detroit audience last year, this troupe that puts men in the roles and costumes of women has toured a great part of the world, been reviewed and lauded by such publications as Time, Newsweek, the National Observer and Dance Magazine and been financed by the National Endowment for the Arts.

The Trocks have also appeared on network television on the Shirley MacLaine special. Ms. MacLaine was so impressed with them that she paid for an entire new wardrobe for these dauntless dancers, who have also been photographed for Vogue Magazine by Richard Avedon.

This wealth of acclaim is not merely because the Trocks are funny. The Trock's gained new standing is because dance fans and critics now realize why they are funny. Dancing the choice roles that have traditionally gone to women, this all-male company (replete with tutus and toe-shoes) really know their ballets and choreographers.

Chaotic curtain calls are climaxed by a free-for-all as the ballerinas fight for bouquets of plastic roses.

Tickets for the Trockadero performance may be ordered by calling the Music Hall box office at 963-7680 between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m., Monday-Saturday. The box office window (350 Madison at Brush) is open from noon to 6 p.m.

Talk series eyes plays

Introductory lectures and theater-going are combined in a new five-part series "Shakespeare and Bolt at the Hilberry '78" to be offered by University Courses in Adult Education (College of Life-long Learning, Wayne State University and University of Michigan Extension Service).

Participants will hear lectures on Robert Bolt's "Vivat! Vivat Regina!" and William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," attend both plays performed by Wayne's Hilberry Repertory Company, and then conclude with a discussion session with the actors, actresses and directors.

All sessions will take place in the Hilberry Theatre, Cass at Hancock, Detroit, as follows: 2:30 p.m. Sunday, March 5, 12, 19 and 8:30 p.m. Friday, March 10, 17.

For registration information, telephone 577-4664.

Attic Theatre seeks helpers

The Attic Auxiliary, recently organized supporting group of the Attic Theatre in Greektown, is enlarging its ranks.

Persons who are interested in theater, in contributing time and energy to aid the growth of this professional group, are being invited to attend the next meeting of the auxiliary on Sunday at 4 p.m., at The Attic Theatre in Trapper's Alley, 558 Monroe, Detroit.

Taylor troupe arrives

The Paul Taylor Dance Company will give two concerts at Music Hall, 8:30 p.m. Friday, March 3 and 2 p.m. Saturday, March 4. Choreographer of more than 70 dances, Taylor studied painting before going into dance. He was a soloist with the Martha Graham Company for seven years and has led his own company for 20 years. The company has completed 22 foreign tours, nine of which were sponsored by the State Department. Tickets are available at Music Hall box office, noon-6 p.m. and telephone orders are accepted, 936-7680.

Stars indoors at Cranbrook

Stars over the North Pole, the equator and Egypt are featured in "Traveling under the Stars" planetarium demonstrations at Cranbrook Institute of Science during March.

In addition to regular demonstrations—at 4 p.m. Wednesdays; 2, 3, 4 and 7:30 p.m. Saturdays; and 2, 3 and 4 p.m. Sundays—extra holiday demonstrations are scheduled for 2 and 3 p.m. March 27-31.

Demonstrations are free with museum admission of $4.25 for adults and $1.25 for students and senior citizens.

Cranbrook Institute of Science, 500 Lone Pine, is a natural history museum that conducts research and offers classes and programs for adults and children.

Legrand at Music Hall

Michel Legrand, world renowned singer and pianist, brings his trio and songstress Laury Shelley to Detroit's Music Hall for a concert at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

Legrand's career, all current, include pop music composer, concert pianist, symphony conductor, movie and television orchestrator, French film actor, jazz pianist, composer of operas and ballets, and both instrumental and vocal recording artist.

His popular compositions include Oscar winners "The Windmills of your Mind" and "Theme from Summer of '42," plus other hits such as "I Will Wait for You," "What are You Doing the Rest of Your Life" and "Watch What Happens."

Legrand's first album, "I Love Paris," was recorded more than 15 years ago and is still listed in Columbia's catalogue. His most recent album, "Images," brought his total near 100 and won a Grammy award for best jazz performance.

Interlochen performance

The traditional Russian fairy tale "Peter and the Wolf" highlights a performance by dancers from the Interlochen Arts Academy on Tuesday at Stout Junior High School in Dearborn. Academy students dance the roles of Peter, his grandfather, the hunters and the forest creatures, while Prokofiev's orchestral score provides the voices. The dance company also will present ballet and modern dance works. The 8 p.m. performance is a benefit for Gibson School for the Gifted in Dearborn. Tickets are $2. For more information, call 336-2150.

New Lutheran sanctuary to be built in Livonia

Christ Our Savior Lutheran Church, a Missouri Synod congregation beginning its second year of organization, is ready to build a sanctuary on Farmington Road next to the Ford Athletic Field.

Construction is scheduled to begin in April.

Plans call for a structure both contemporary and gothic in feeling and designed to house the altar and other church furnishings presented by Gethsemane Lutheran Church, an inner-city congregation that closed its doors a few months ago.

The architectural firm of Merritt, Cole and McCallum has designed the new sanctuary.

The Christ Our Savior congregation, numbering 202 communicants and 91 families, has been meeting in the Harry Will Funeral Home, Six Mile and Newburgh. Sunday services are held at 9:30 a.m. There is a full schedule of church activity, including Sunday School, weekday religious education, pre-school classes, junior and senior choirs and youth groups, a Ladies' Guild, Lutheran Layman's League and three adult Bible study groups.

Recently the congregation celebrated its Charter Sunday and completed an evangelism canvas of new members near the five-acre building site.

OCC will host meet for women

Detroit Councilwoman Maryann Mahaffey will be the keynote speaker Wednesday, March 8 on the Orchard Ridge Campus, Oakland Community College for International Women's Day.

Ms. Mahaffey will speak on the conference theme, "Women's Rights: Our Ongoing Struggle."

The conference will run from 1-9 p.m. and will feature a variety of workshops, speakers and films, all related to women's rights. The entire afternoon and evening program, including child care, is free.

Guests may attend the entire program, or any part of it. Registration runs from 12:30-1 p.m.

Each hour will offer guests a choice of two programs.

From 1-2 p.m. "Women and Divorce" and "International Child-care" are the choices. Attorney Jody Russo of Troy will lead the divorce workshop, and Arlene Altman, director of Childcare Centers, Wayne County Community College, will discuss her work with a slide presentation.

FROM 2-3 p.m. the programs are "The ERA—What It Is and What It Isn't" with Laura Callow, co-chairwoman of Michigan ERAmerica, and "Women's Right to Quality Health Care." The speakers for the health care program are Kathleen Greco, Debra Coker, and Dawn Cockrun, all from Feminist Women's Health Center in Detroit.

Ms. Mahaffey will address a 3-4 p.m. general assembly.

"Rape and Women's Rights" and "Self Defense for Women" are the subjects for 4-5 p.m.

The film, "Domestic Violence" will be shown from 5-6 p.m. Dinner will also be served at that time.

The workshops continue from 6-7 p.m. with Yolanda Flores, a national consultant on affirmative action and desegregation who talks on "Bilingual Education: A Key to Equality."

At the same time, Diane Clark, a student at OCC, and Mary White, from the college's Womencenter, will team up for a session called "Returning To School."

From 7-8 p.m. the options are "Hear It From the Farm Women" and "Single Parents."

The "Hear It From the Farm Women" speakers are Laura Heuses, from Women for Survival of Agriculture in Michigan and Connie Peabody, a delegate to the recent women's conference in Texas.

The workshop for single parents will be led by Yvonne Robinson, a single parent student at the school, and Sadie Davis, a member of the sociology faculty.

Mindy Noble and Sheryl Seltzer, from the Women's Survival Center in Pontiac lead "Battered Women and Society" from 8-9 p.m.

They share the last time slot on the schedule with "Women's Right to Quality Health Care," a repeat of the afternoon workshop.

All events for International Women's Day will take place in J Building.

Class Reunions

GIRLS CATHOLIC CENTRAL 1958

The class that graduated in 1958 from Girls Catholic Central, a now-closed school that was located in the New Center area of Detroit, will hold a dinner dance reunion at Mercy College Center Sept. 30.

Graduates of other years are invited to participate as well. Those interested may call Mary Ann Riley, 642-6278, or Nancy Morro, 427-2795.

SOUTHFIELD 1968

The Southfield High School class of 1968 plans a 10-year reunion party Saturday, May 13, in the Fairlane Manor of Dearborn.

The class of more than 1,000 was the largest in the school's history, and reunion planners are seeking information on members not yet reached. Those who can tell the whereabouts of any member or would like information on the reunion plans may write to 1968 Reunion, P.O. Box 664, Southfield, 48076.

OAK PARK HIGH SCHOOL

A 25th anniversary party for Oak Park High School is being planned Sunday, May 21, at the school located at 13701 Oak Park Blvd.

Alumni are invited to come to the school with their families to join in the festivities. Evelyn Rosen, head of the school's media center, is collecting memorabilia including pictures, school newspapers and yearbooks for a special display that also will include current issues of the school publications.

Those interested in loaning or donating such items may call her at the school.

Canton Chatter

By SHARON STARON 455-5322

What is that old saying about March? If it comes in like a lion it will go out like a lamb, or something along those lines. Meaning, I guess, that by the end of this month things should be looking up.

March has a few special days in it. On the 17th, it will be St. Patrick's Day and the 26th is Easter.

Looking over the calendar, another day in March seems to glare at me. On the 20th, just 18 days from today, it says spring begins! Should we believe it? Could it be possible that in a mere 18 days the ice-covered streets in the subdivisions will be but a memory? We'll just have to wait and see.

THERE'S ANOTHER day in this month that means something special to many people. March 3 is the day when Stan Owens turns 30.

All his friends have had to suffer his harassment as they approached the 30 mark. Now that it is Stan's turn, he is nowhere to be found. He's alive and well and living in Australia.

Out of sight does not necessarily mean out of mind. Everyone has been thinking of ways to send their special salutations to him by mail.

One idea was to send him an invitation to his surprise birthday party. Just to let him know that this special day is not going by unnoticed.

From all your friends in Canton and Plymouth: "Happy Birthday Stan, it couldn't have happened to a nicer guy."

LAST WEDNESDAY evening the Cub Scouts from Pack 1738 from Hulsing held their first pinewood derby.

All 23 boys from the pack participated in the grand event. Three trophies were awarded to three lucky boys.

Winner for speed was David Ditter. Taking the trophy for the best paint job was Sean Campbell, and winner for design was David Groat.

Judges for the contest were Ed Edwards from Ford Motor Co., body engineering, Mrs. Katherine Otto, principal of Hulsing, and James Ream.

All participants in the race received either a gold, silver or bronze medal.

Everyone went home happy with something to show for their efforts. Thoughts and plans for next year's race are already under way.

THE CANTON Newcomers recently donated $350 to the Canton Fire Department to purchase a film about cardio-pulmonary resuscitation. The film will be donated in the club's name and will be used by many organizations to teach this lifesaving technique.

March 9 will be the day for an afternoon of art at the Detroit Institute of Arts for Canton Newcomers Ladies Day.

There will be a salad luncheon and a hour-long guided tour of the institute. The newcomers also will visit the Detroit Historical Museum across the street. Cost for the luncheon and tour is $4.25 and is open to all Canton Newcomers.

No contest

Rocks' pressure defense freezes Chief guns, 62-47

It was no contest.

It wasn't even close, this game that had advance billing as perhaps the biggest basketball contest in the history of Centennial Park. But after two quarters of action it became no more than a laugher.

Utilizing a tenacious pressure defense and balanced offensive scoring, Plymouth Salem continued to serve notice it is ready for the March Madness with a 62-47 pounding of neighboring Plymouth Canton Tuesday night.

Only 14 straight points by the Chiefs in the final five minutes of play—well after Salem had stashed the game under its belt—kept the contest on the realm of respectability for Canton.

In truth, the Rock's awesome display made the Chiefs wish they had never made the long trip to the Southfield gymnasium for the district semifinal showdown.

Canton finished the season 11-9 overall and in second place in the Western Six League.

The Rocks advance to the district championship tomorrow night (Friday) against last night's Southfield-Detroit Chadsey winner.

Salem has now won 11 straight and 19 of 21 games overall and continues to gain momentum with each contest.

BUTCH KING, Canton's sharp-shooting junior guard, single-handedly kept the Chiefs in the ball game in the first quarter, hitting five of seven shots for 10 points.

But Rich Hewlett, Salem's prize junior guard, was equal to the test, also connecting on five of seven from the field in those first eight minutes of play.

Baskets by Hewlett and Mike Christie gave the Suburban Eight League co-champions a slim first-quarter lead, 20-16. But any thoughts of a close game or similarities between the two Plymouth squads ended there.

Three buckets each from the perimeter, courtesy of Christie and Doug Agnew, plus another basket from Hewlett, sparked a 14-3 second-quarter spurt that gave Salem control for good.

Canton shot only two of 10 from the floor in that quarter as Salem raced to a comfortable 40-25 halftime lead.

The pressing Salem defense, and the ice-cold Canton shooting continued in the third quarter. The Chiefs failed to score on their first 13 shots from the floor while Rock forward John Broderick was having a field day, scoring the initial 10 points of the second half.

Brent Eckles finally hit a basket for Canton with 52 seconds left in the period. By then it was too late. The Rocks had outscored Canton 15-2 in the quarter and entertained a 55-27 advantage going into the final eight minutes of action.

And if it hadn't been for Salem's 10 turnovers in the quarter, the gap might have been even wider.

Hewlett named to 2d team

With all due respect to Plymouth Salem head football coach Tom Moshimer, that All-State quarterback for the Rocks proved to me and the over-flowing Plymouth crowd at the Southfield gymnasium that he was more than just your great high school football player.

Yes, folks, Rich Hewlett definitely proved that he was indeed just as good a basketball player Tuesday night in the Rocks' surprisingly easy 62-47 embarrassment of Plymouth Canton in the district semifinals.

But you don't have to convince Salem coach Fred Thomann of this statement—he's been saying it all along.

"Rich Hewlett is the best guard I've seen play all season," the huge coach said without hesitation.

Hewlett was by far the main reason Salem won so decisively over the Chiefs. And if the Suburban Eight League coaches had seen him in action, I'm sure they would have thought twice about the junior's second-team standing in the all-league selections.

Hewlett not only matched his Canton counterpart Butch King in shooting for the first quarter, each hitting five of seven for 10 points, but was the main reason for stopping King in the second quarter—the stanza which Salem gained control for the rest of the game.

After King's stout first-period display, Hewlett took over for Doug Agnew to defend the free-shooting guard. And in that second quarter it wasn't a question of how many shots King missed but how many times he got to see the ball.

King took only two shots the entire second quarter and missed them both—largely because of Hewlett's persistent defense.

On the other end of the court, Hewlett canned two more baskets enroute to a team-high 15 points and a seven-of-11 shooting night from the field. He added seven assists and three steals. King finished with 19 points, but only hit seven of 19 attempts.

ALTHOUGH HEWLETT'S performance until the pressure of the noisy crowd was phenomenal, don't think he was the only Salem player on the floor.

The Rocks' victory was truly a total team effort all the way.

Despite a cold shooting night, Tom Ellinghausen stayed hot at the free throw line and turned in his usual steady performance with 15 points. John Broderick's 10-point spurt in the third quarter was nothing to overlook either.

Ellinghausen and Broderick both combined to muscle their way under the boards at both ends of the court, dominating that facet of the game.

Matt Etienne registered eight assists and Mike Christie came off the bench to boost the tempo of the game with 12 points.

And when did you ever see "defensive" Doug Agnew hit on four straight jumpers from 20 feet away for eight points?

The Rocks are surely putting everything together with each game they play.

Now, it's only a question of how far this momentum will carry them the rest of the tournament.

THE SETBACK to the Chiefs was a devastating one to say the least. I'm sure no one expected the game to be so lopsided.

Actually, I was quite disappointed it wasn't a close game. I expected to see something of a repeat of last year's three-point Salem victory thriller.

The overall physical, stingy Rock defense prevented this, however, as the Chiefs were forced out of their game plan and never came close to controlling the boards—let alone the game.

Although the shooting of Butch King greatly determined any Canton contest this season, the presence, or lack of it, of Russ Mandle sorely showed.

The junior center picked up three fouls in the first quarter and four by halftime, ending any hopes for Canton to get the rebounds or penetrate on offense. When Mandle was out, the Chiefs rarely moved offensively or defensively.

BY THE way, Who said it would be a six-point game? Ugh!

Hewlett made the difference Eli named All-Sub-8

Livonia Bentley, co-champions of the Suburban Eight League, placed two of its players on the first team all-league selections. Plymouth Salem, the other co-champion and winner of five straight Sub-8 titles, honored one player on the first team.

Bulldogs Eric Thorderson and Dave Stone, both powerful scoring forwards, landed spots on the first team. Thorderson is a 6-5 junior, Stone a 6-4 senior.

The Rocks lone first team representative was Tom Ellinghausen, a 6-4 1/2 senior forward who repeats as a first-team selection. He led Salem to a 18-2 overall record this season—the best in the Observeland area.

Rounding out the first team is Redford Union's Mr. Everything, Mike Petsch, and Belleville's streak-shooting guard Calvin Patterson. Petsch is a 6-6 senior who led the Panthers to a third-place league finish. Patterson is a 6-1 junior of the fourth-place Tigers.

Heading the list of second-teamers was Salem's All-State quarterback and durable basketball player Rich Hewlett. Other second-team selections were Herbert Burrus of Belleville, Paul Kenrick of Dearborn, Chris Bolin of Bentley and Jim Grimwade of Redford Union.

Members of the honorable mention team include Mike Christie (Salem), Matt Rose (Trenton), Pat Rombach (Dearborn), Tom Hutchinson and Jamie Bedenis (Edsel Ford) and Gary Wilkie (Allen Park).

Salem and Bentley tied for the crown with identical 11-2 records. Redford Union was third at 9-4.

The Sub-8 played a 13-game schedule this season because of games canceled by snowstorms.

King, Mandle cop Western-6 honors

Five players from five different squads represent the first-team All-Western Six League crew, as selected by the conference basketball coaches last weekend.

The top vote-getter on first team was Kevin Hetherington of the champion Waterford Mott Corsairs. Hetherington paced Mott scoring this season as the power forward.

The second player selected was Plymouth Canton's sharp-shooting junior guard Butch King who averaged 21.5 points for the second-place Chiefs this season.

Other first-team members included Northville center Doug Harding, Walled Lake Western's free-shooting Jim Seefeld and Farmington Harrison's big man Paul Butkunas.

Second-team selections included Plymouth Canton forward Russ Mandle, Waterford Mott guard John Coperrider, Northville guard Jon Horwath, Livonia Churchill forward Ray Progar, and Walled Lake Western forward Mike Bryant.

Canton's senior captain Randy Rienas was the lone Chief on the honorable mention list.

Jays trim Northville

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Southfield cagers rallied for 20 points in the fourth quarter enroute to a 70-62 victory over the upset-minded Northville Mustangs in opening round action at the Southfield District Monday night.

The Blue Jays, coached by Don Kaump, found themselves in a 50-50 deadlock after three quarters but held the Mustangs to only two field goals and 12 points in the final eight minutes to register their 18th triumph in 20 starts.

The Southeastern Michigan Association champions faced lowly Detroit Chadsey (2-13) last night (Wednesday) in semifinal action. The winner of that game will face Plymouth Salem in the district finale on Friday.

It was anything but easy for Southfield through the first three-and-one-half quarters of play, as the Blue Jays tried desperately to get on track against the hustling Mustangs.

With the Mustangs ahead 57-56 and 5:21 left in the game, the Blue Jays finally gained control of the contest with 12 unanswered points to take a 68-57 advantage with only 1:20 left.

Six free throws, three each by Scott Kapach and Howard Sher, the result of two Northville personal and technical fouls, helped Southfield during the streak.

Aside from the rally, however, it was all Northville as the inside shooting and rebounding of Jeff Norton, 13 points, Joe Schimpf, 12 points, and Doug Harding, 11 points, kept the Mustangs in front most of the way.

Southfield broke an early 4-4 tie with eight straight points on its fast break to take a 12-4 lead.

But Northville came back to cut the margin to 16-12 after the first period and continued to dominate action in the second period—reeling off 13 points to only four for the Blue Jays to grab a 25-20 lead with 4:53 left in the half.

Southfield cut the margin to one, 33-32, at halftime, but the Mustangs built the lead back to six early in the third period before the Blue Jays tied the score.

"It was a typical first game of the tournament," Kaump said. "The kids were tight and jittery. We just didn't have our timing. I hope we improve later in the district."

Salem spikers beat Panthers

By BETTY DeLANO

The Redford Union Panthers fell victim to the Plymouth Salem varsity volleyball team Monday night after a two-game battle, 15-6 and 15-11.

The Rocks, tied for first place in the Suburban Eight League with Livonia Bentley and Dearborn, hold a 12-4 season record.

Fine serves by the Salem defense put the Rocks up by five points early in the first game. Spikes by senior captain Karen Prikosovits and senior Clarisse Hartnett kept the Rocks on top. But later they found the Panthers come back to tie the score at 6-6.

Cindi Leveille, a Salem junior, gave the Salem squad another fast five points that held the Panthers at six for the rest of the game.

During second-game action, the Rocks found themselves out in front 12-6 but the Panthers rallied within one point, 12-11. Salem then put the game away with serves by sophomore Krisann Minoff.

The serves in the first game were much better than the second game," said Salem coach Cathy Himes. "The team simmered down in the second game as far as its momentum is concerned which gave RU the chance to catch up. Fortunately we got back into it at the right time."

The Salem junior varsity was also victorious over Redford Union's JV. Going three games, the Rocks lost the first game, 15-4 but came back to take the second and third, 15-11 and 15-10.

"The team is finally playing together like it should. They have shown a considerable amount of improvement since the beginning of the season," said Salem JV coach Allie Suffety.

Salem varsity defeated Redford Union earlier in the season at RU in the best two-out-of-three match, 15-11, 9-15 and 16-14.

Salem battles Belleville in the last regular game of the season Monday night on the Salem court. The JV match starts at 7 p.m., the varsity contest at 7:30 p.m.

Swimmers eye conference meets

Plymouth Salem and Farmington Harrison will be the sites for the annual Suburban Eight League and Western Six League swim meets which will be held today (Thursday) and tomorrow.

The Rocks will host the Sub-8 event which begins with the swimming preliminaries at 3 p.m. Thursday. The swimming semifinals and the diving preliminaries will be held later that evening, with the finals slated for Friday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Dearborn and Dearborn Edsel Ford will be the two favored teams to battle for the league championship.

The Western-6 championships will be held at Harrison with the swimming preliminaries set for 4 p.m. The diving competition will be held later that night, and the championships will start on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Plymouth Canton, sporting an impressive 11-1 record, is expected to battle perennial favorite Northville for the league crown. Canton defeated Northville in a dual meet three weeks ago. It marked the first time the Chiefs beat the Mustangs in swimming competition.

Sign up now

The Canton Township Slow-Pitch Softball League will hold its first organizational meeting at 8:15 p.m. March 13 at the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Center, 44237 Michigan.

All new and old men's and women's teams with 75 per cent residency wishing to sign up, or any individual person wishing to play on one of the teams should call the recreation department at 397-2777.

Swimmers' laps to aid heart fund

The Western Wayne County unit of the Michigan Heart Association will hold a "Swim for Heart" marathon noon to 6 p.m. Saturday, March 11.

The Schoolcraft College swimming pool will be the setting for the event, part of a state-wide program designed to promote physical fitness and raise funds to support Heart Association programs of research, education and community service.

Chairwoman Mary Longsdorn said young people recruited will have sponsors to back them at a set rate for every length they can swim during a one-hour period. At the completion, the swimmers will collect their pledges.

Prizes will be awarded to the swimmers who have collected the most money. Prizes will include a Polaroid camera, a cassette tape recorder and a radio. The grand prize will be a portable TV.

The public may attend. For further information about the "Swim for Heart," call the Western Wayne County Heart Unit, 425-2333, between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Schoolcraft College is located on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile roads, and the pool is in the physical education building.

Jr. hoopsters begin tourney

While high school basketball teams are busy with their post-season tournament action, the Plymouth Canton Junior Basketball League (PCJBL) is also set for tourney play with the conclusion of the regular season last weekend.

All teams from the seven boys and girls leagues in the A and B divisions are eligible for the post-season action.

All the finals will be played at Pioneer or Central Middle schools on Saturday, March 11.

Competition for boys and girls will be from the B, A, AA and AAA leagues. The C league, girls and boys in the third and fourth grades, will not have a post-season event.

Winter fun here

An abundance of events and activities make this winter in Southeast Michigan more exciting than ever.

Sporting events, cultural happenings, shows and special exhibits are all described in Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association's Winter Calendar of Events, available free from the regional tourism agency.

Salem JV finishes 15-5

By THOMAS ZAIBEK

The Plymouth Salem junior varsity basketball team finished a successful season by defeating Belleville, 60-56, Friday at the Rocks' gym. The victory raised Salem's final overall record to 15-5 for the year.

The Rocks raced to a 13-0 lead in the opening minutes against the Tigers using their fast break for easy layups. Belleville finally scored with three minutes left in the first quarter, but Salem maintained a commanding 17-4 advantage after the first eight minutes of play.

In what might have been a rout for the Rocks turned into a close game in the second quarter, as the Tigers began to find the range and closed the gap to 30-25 at halftime.

Rob Neu, Jim Anderson, Howard Monk, Craig Stack and Craig Flower all contributed to a balanced scoring attack to kept the Tigers at bay in the second half to notch the victory.

Neu and Anderson led the attack with 13 and 12 points respectively. Stack added 10, Monk eight and Flower seven.

Other members of the Salem JV who contributed to the successful season were Bob Jarvis, Steve Ling, Brian Kelliher, Eric Heidt, Bill Buyers and Chris McEvoy.

teammates in both the second and third quarter, missing each of his seven shots from the field, and hitting three of four free throws.

The Rocks surged ahead by as many as 29 points early in the fourth quarter as the romp continued. Mercifully, with more than five minutes remaining, both benches started to clear.

The only thing joyful Salem coach Fred Thomann could talk about after the game was his team's defense.

"We played tough defense—that's what we've been living on all year," the Salem mentor said. "Canton's got good shooters who can stroke it—if you let them. But we kept the pressure on all night."

"We did an excellent job. We had to play with a lot of emotion around us and we did a number on them."

"I didn't feel they had played a defensive team like us this season. I thought we would spread it, but I certainly didn't expect it that early."

A solemn Canton coach Casey Cavell

summed his feelings by saying his squad's game plan fell apart completely.

"We had problems," Cavell said. "We got away from our game plan when they got the big lead."

"The first quarter was okay but we stopped moving the ball and stood around the perimeter in the second quarter. We didn't penetrate at all."

"It was even worse in the third quarter," the Canton coach said. "Salem came out strong and we didn't penetrate at all—no penetration killed us."

"Then they shot well in the third quarter. Everyone who touched the ball scored. That put the nails down deep—we had to play catch up anyway."

Cavell said the loss of center Russ Mandle to foul trouble hurt Canton's inside game. Mandle had three first-quarter fouls and four by halftime.

Hewlett finished with 15 points. Tom Ellinghausen followed with 14, Broderick and Mike Christie added 12 each, and Agnew canned eight for Salem.

King took scoring honors with 19 points, but was only seven of 19 from the field. He was the only Chief to reach double figures.

Salem shot 24 of 64 from the floor for 38 per cent, while Canton hit only 16 of 58 for 28 per cent.

The Rocks outrebounded the Chiefs by a healthy 54-26 margin. Canton didn't score any baskets on offensive rebounds.

Salem's Matt Etienne recorded eight assists, while Hewlett added seven assists and three steals.

In the Pocket

With Gerry Ritter, the Southfield all-star, leading the way, the metropolitan Detroit contingent made a shamble of the standings in the Women's State Tournament at Sunset Lanes in Kalamazoo.

Gerry wrote her name indelibly into the record book when she rolled a perfect game—the first ever in the tournament—on the way to a 714 series.

The perfect game was all the more remarkable in that it came in the first session in the team event. In running up the 12 strikes, she was in the pocket in most every frame. While the emotion was at its peak, Gerry came back with games of 190 and 224.

While the Southfield star garnered most of the spotlight, the Firebird team of the Bonanza all-star classic also created havoc in the standings with a 1204 game and an actual count of 3145 to take the lead in the team event.

Mandatory special ed— a big plus for the retarded

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

"They're being treated like animals."

That was the reaction of some people in the wake of published reports of abuse at the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

The Special Education Act of 1971, however, was designed to stop that and treat the retarded like human beings.

Clifford Page, principal of the Northwest Wayne Skills Center, said the law means that every mentally retarded or handicapped person must receive some kind of education or training.

For the severely mentally retarded, it may mean that they will be trained to do no more than tie their shoes. But the mildly retarded may be integrated into normal classes.

Most were transported to the special education learning centers around the county. This is one thing that led to the allegations of abuse at the Plymouth Center, as many of the special education teachers reported that children were being sent to classes with bruises, cuts and untreated injuries.

The Plymouth Center is served by the Northville school district. It transports the retarded to seven schools in western Wayne County: Taft in Livonia, Burger in Garden City, Brainerd and Parkway in Dearborn Heights and the Annex, Cooke and Moraine in Northville. It also sends some teachers into the Plymouth Center.

Throughout the rest of the county, the educational responsibility lies with the Wayne County Intermediate School District. The county school district has contracted with local school districts including Livonia, Plymouth, South Redford, Redford Union and Garden City, to operate areawide centers.

Other school districts having contracts with the county intermediate district are Cherry Hill, Belleville, Romulus, Wayne-Westland, Westwood, Crestwood and Dearborn Heights.

SERVICES ARE provided, Page said, for both the severely mentally retarded and the less retarded.

The services are more diverse for the less retarded—the trainable. Staff members begin working with the parents of the mentally retarded even before any normal child would be ready for kindergarten. Page said that last year his staff was working with the parents of a mentally retarded infant only six months old.

"They work directly with the parents in the home. They try to give them tips on handling their children and what to expect," Page said.

At the age of three the children can come into training at Livonia's Harrison school.

At the age of 18, many of them go on for job-related training at either the Pridecraft program in the Wayne-Westland Schools or the Skills Center at Stark School.

SPOTLIGHT

"They must receive training for job entry skills," Page said. "They've got to have a job entry skill to graduate."

"We're trying to prepare for either shelter employment or competitive employment. We even try to do some job placement," he said.

Page said the trainable retarded students are training in jobs ranging from food service to small motor repair. And arrangements, he said, are made with local employers to aid in the training.

Services for the severely retarded are provided in the local schools and at the Plymouth Center by teachers sent in by the Northville Schools.

The Wayne County Intermediate School District runs similar programs for the severely retarded and has established a special program for autistic children at Ashcroft School.

Plymouth Center workers picket to tell story

By SHERRY KAHAN

Attendants at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, stung by attacks on them in the media for abusing center residents, have launched a counteroffensive.

A picket line was set up at the main entrance to the center on Sheldon Road Monday.

"All the apples are not bad," proclaimed one picket sign, another "Attendants unfairly labeled."

"More staff," read another. "Two staff to 40 patients is too much." Read a third, "Dr. Smith is where it's at. Fire him."

The message referred to Dr. Donald Smith, director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health, whose termination was asked for on Monday by State Rep. Charles Varnum (R-Manistique).

"We are protesting the articles in the (Detroit) Free Press which lumped all the attendants at Plymouth center in one bag, saying that everybody is abusing kids," said Yvonne Newby, president of local 1837 of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), which represents the attendants.

"I'm not saying abuse didn't happen, and we don't condone it at all, but the Free Press should have aired both sides. Dr. William Womack was a good administrator and made a lot of changes for the good."

A STATEMENT RELEASED by the union charged that irresponsible journalism "by inference slanders all attendant staff for the indiscretions of a few."

"The blame for undesirable care for the residents should not be placed on the lower-level employees, but on Department of Mental Health administrators who have failed to meet the basic needs of the residents," said the statement.

"For years it has been the lower-level employees, through the AFSCME union, who have appealed to DMH for more training, adequate staffing and decent living conditions for the residents.

"The DMH director, Dr. Smith, has virtually ignored this sought-after relief by both employees and recipient rights groups."

AFSCME representative Michael Cain said that for the last three years the DMH has asked for $20 million less as an operating appropriation than the legislature granted.

"This means the legislature is more sensitive to the needs of mental health residents and employees than the mental health administration," he said.

PICKETERS COMPLAINED about the high ratio of Plymouth center residents to attendants, the lack of good medical care for residents, lack of training for attendants and injuries to attendants caused by residents.

"A tally should be made about the number of employees who have been abused by patients," said Ms. Newby. "I know of 25 attendants who have been totally disabled. If someone who weighs 270 pound goes on a rampage, you are at his mercy."

According to union representative Van Slyke, work in mental hospitals is high risk employment.

"Because of their injuries on the job, mental health workers receive more than 50 per cent of the money drawn from Worker's Compensation by state employees," he said.

Latina Fakier noted the difficulties in preventing one resident from abusing another.

"How can you restrain him?" she asked, adding that residents sometimes throw tables and chairs.

"We've been given no training in dealing with aggressive residents. All we can do is give them tender loving care, keep them clean, dress them and try to train them," she said.

"But if you have an aggressive resident in a group of nine others, you have to try to restrain him while the other eight are neglected."

Ms. Fakir said the center needs more doctors and nurses. "Nurses who care," said another picket.

Ms. Fakir suggested assigning a psychologist to each building at the complex. She said incoming residents are interviewed for about an hour by a psychologist "and in that time they don't learn anything about that kid."

She added: "They need to spend more time with them."

VICTORIA BROWN, an attendant in Binet Hall where many cases of abuse were alleged, said her patients pull her hair every day.

"I am frequently slapped," she said. "I have been poked in the eyes and I'm a nervous wreck. When I go to my program director for help, the answer I get is that it's all part of my job. They don't bother to help you."

Alice Tatum, another Binet attendant, said "we have never been given orientation on holds we can use to restrain a patient."

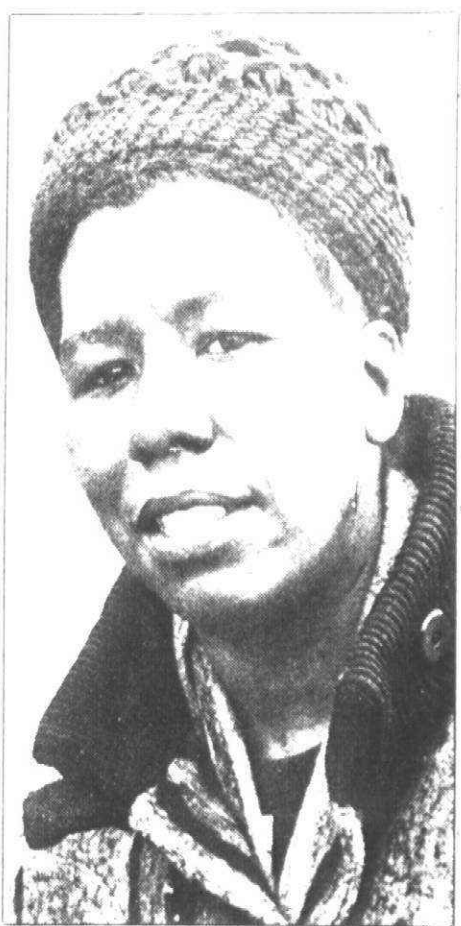

She noted: "I get beaten up by kids every day, but I've never been shown how to restrain someone who is hurting me. How do you hold back a big kid. You have to run."

Milly Tyson is a supervisor at Binet. She said attendants should be taught how to protect themselves. She said she believes that some experience with behavior modification might help attendants deal with aggressive residents.

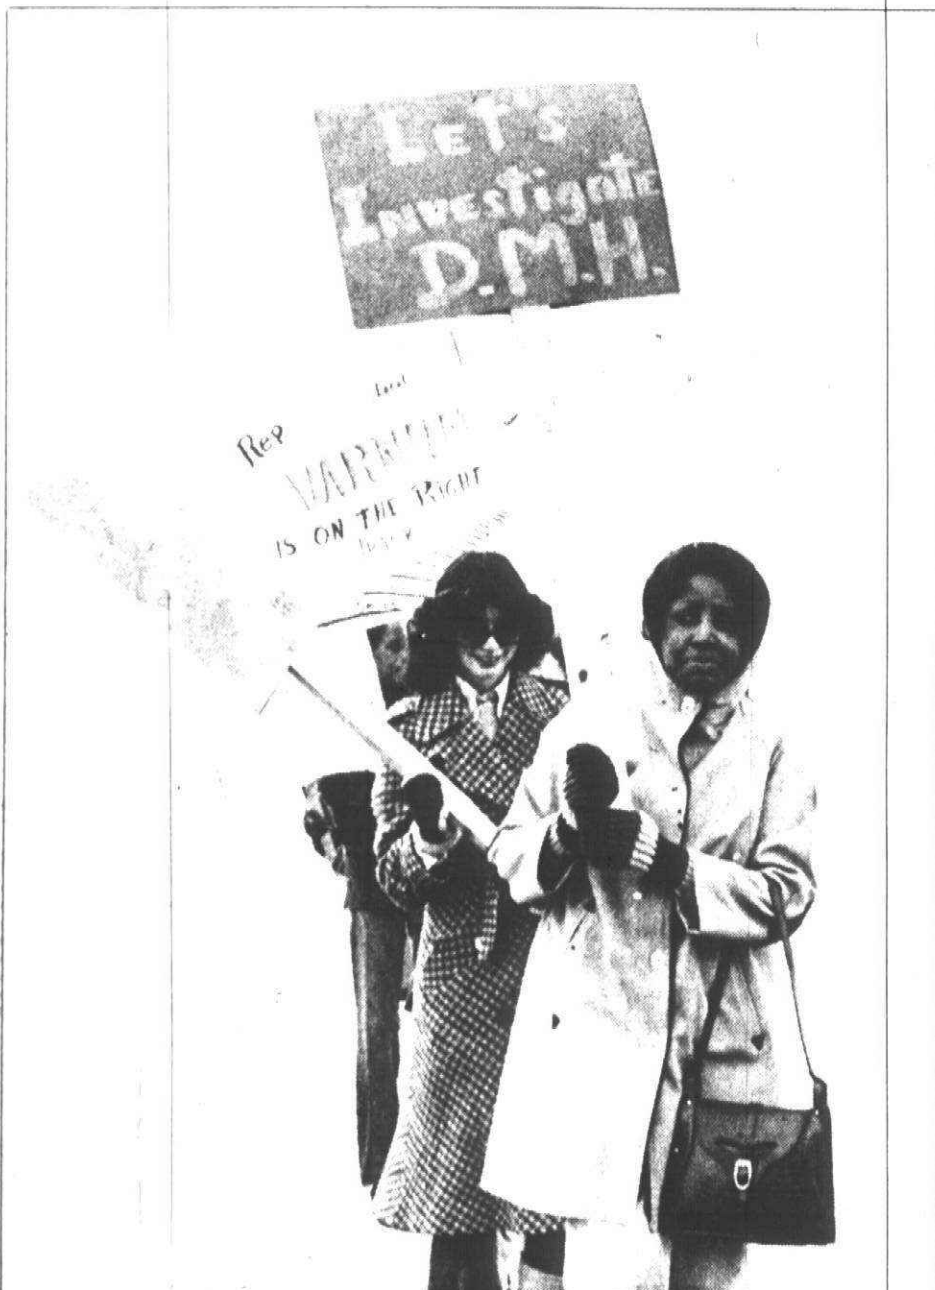

"The staff should be increased and they should be given better orientation on taking care of the mentally retarded," she said. "But communication here is terrible. You can go to your immediate supervisor with a usable program and get no reply. You put a child's name on the log to see a doctor and the licensed practical nurse takes the name off."

"I feel good about what I do. I try. But you need supervision behind you and an administration to back you up on things like programming and discipline."

Ms. Tyson said she thinks that the kind of people employed at the center has changed in recent years. "Some are younger people who want to earn money for their education. But they don't have dedication because they are not planning to stay with mental health."

"We have been given no classes in physical management to help us deal with difficult residents," said Yvonne Newby, president of local 1837, AFSCME, as she marched in a picket line at the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Picket signs refer to the call by a state representative for the ouster of the head of the state department of mental health.

HERE'S A CUSTOM BUILT FARM COLONIAL that relates so well to its picturesque ONE ACRE SETTING. Just two years old and placed among other fine country homes. You'll love its large country kitchen that promises to be a favorite gathering spot. 5 bedrooms (a large one on the main floor), 3 full baths, family room with fireplace, 1st floor laundry, a handsome hard surfaced foyer, and side entrance 2 1/2 car attached garage. A HOME THAT COUPLES EARLY AMERICAN CHARM WITH CONTEMPORARY SPACE AND CONVENIENCE. $98,500. 453-8200

A CELEBRATED FARMINGTON HILLS neighborhood of exceptional homes on estate-sized settings. And this Architect designed homes has endless features that have made it as beautiful to look at as it is comfortable to live in. All the rooms are large and the owners selection of materials are without compromise in quality and good taste. There are 4 large bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths, formal dining room, a library, family room with fireplace, main floor laundry, a wonderful kitchen, an open oak stairway, walk-out basement, and oversized 2 1/2 car garage. So many extras are part of this one-of-a-kind brick home. $145,000. Call 453-8200

PLYMOUTH! IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR THE PERFECT COUNTRY HOME and enjoy the outdoors, this is it. An original owner brick center entrance Colonial on nearly an ACRE. Its location is excellent and the embracing views from every window are the prettiest possible. There are 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, formal dining room, a rear summer porch (reached from the family room or dining room), family room with fireplace, 1st floor laundry, full basement, and side entrance 2 1/2 car garage. Among its many benefits is ease of maintenance. A HOME YOU'LL BE DELIGHTED TO SEE! $97,000. 453-8200

WEST OF NORTHVILLE is to be found a generously re-modeled one story home that is, indeed, a complement to the owner's good taste and "SPARE NO EXPENSE" attitude. Deceptive in size, it's so thoroughly livable and well decorated. There are 3 bedrooms, a complete new kitchen with island counter, formal dining room, and full basement. The setting is large and treed. You'll enjoy the space in the 40 x 25 Barn that provides room for cars and a large work shop. The furnace, electrical, plumbing, etc. are all recent. BE SURE NOT TO MISS THIS FINE OFFERING. $45,500. 453-8200
