MTA says supervisor can't 'move'

Lynne Goldsmith, Canton Township trustee, received support from a Michigan Township Association official Friday for her contention that Canton's supervisor is abusing parliamentary procedure by making motions as chairman of the board.

Mrs. Goldsmith cites Robert's Rules of Order, the definitive source on administrative etiquette, which states that a chairman must step down from his role as moderator of a meeting if he (or she) wishes to introduce, or second a motion.

The Canton board does not follow Robert's Rules of Order implicitly, but relies on the text if a question of procedure is not covered by local ordinance.

In Canton, the supervisor is permitted an equal voice in debate and voting but nothing in local law says that the supervisor may introduce motions or second a motion.

Ms. Goldsmith believes that the supervisor could abuse his power by making a motion, limiting discussion, and then calling for a vote.

"Stein hasn't controlled the meetings but the point is, are we going to follow Robert's Rules so that our meeting is conducted as equitably and efficiently as possible or say the heck with the rules?"

Stein has maintained that "equal voice" means an equal opportunity to introduce and second motions.

But Herb Norton, director of administration with the Michigan Township Association (MTA) said Ms. Goldsmith's question has come up before and he tends to agree with her.

"I don't want to be put in the middle of their controversy," Norton said. "But, according to Robert's Rules, if the chairman wants to make a motion he relinquishes the chair to someone else on the board.

"He asks someone else to take over chairmanship; he makes the motion; someone seconds it and for that vote he's acting as a member of the board, not the moderator."

Norton said he didn't think the question of seconding a motion would be crucial because if no one else would second a motion the supervisor favored, it would have little chance of passing.

The supervisor could ceremonially step down, he said, to second a motion to register his political stance on an unpopular issue.

"But he'd have to have a pretty persuasive argument," Norton said. "He'd have to be a power house."

More often, Norton said, a supervisor can express his views from the chair without stepping down by saying "I'll entertain a motion for such and such."

Madame Butterfly will be played by Kyu Do Park, a native of Korea, in the Michigan Opera Theater version of the Puccini classic coming Friday to Churchill High School in Livonia. Joanne Bolda is posing as her child, Sorrow. (Photo by Dirk Bakker)

'Madame Butterfly' opens

An English-language version of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" will be performed at 8 p.m. Friday in Churchill High School, 8900 Newburgh, Livonia.

The Michigan Opera Theater production, part of a week-long program bringing a taste of grand opera to Livonia and Westland schools, will feature Kyu Do Park of Korea and Edward Kingins in the roles of Butterfly and Pinkerton.

The supporting chorus will be directed by Shirley Hardin, head of the choral programs at Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church.

"We'll be rehearsing almost constantly this week," Mrs. Hardin said of the 24-member singing group, "because we have a great deal of work ahead learning music, words and movements.

"But we're really excited to be working with the Michigan Opera Theater people and this is going to be an entirely new musical experience."

Tickets for the performance are $3, $4 and $5 and available from the Livonia Office of Volunteer Energies (LOVE) 261-3675 or 421-2000.

"Madame Butterly," set in turn-of-the-century Nagasaki, tells the story of the ill-fated love afair between a Japanese geisha and a U.S. naval officer.

Robert Heuer, managing director of MOT, said the presentations are aimed at making grand opera "not only accessible to people throughout the state but also understandable to everyone."

Busing lawsuit haunts schools

By EMORY DANIELS

The ghost of the cross-district busing lawsuit continues to haunt suburban school administrators.

This is particularly the case in this area where Plymouth-Canton Community Schools with its fast growing enrollment borders Livonia School District with its declining enrollment.

Plymouth-Canton is struggling to find available classroom growth for the steady influx of new students each year, especially from Canton Township. Livonia, on the other hand, is closing down school buildings and converting them to other uses.

An obvious solution for both districts would be for Plymouth-Canton to rent or buy classroom space from Livonia—particularly schools being vacated near the borders of the two districts.

But school administrators are concerned that any busing of students between districts would weaken the suburban argument that local taxpayers have a right to neighborhood schools and should not have their children bused outside the district for purposes of achieving racial integration.

If busing across district lines were done to avoid building new schools in Plymouth-Canton, the federal courts likely would be more inclined to assume similar cross-district busing could be accomplished to achieve racial integration between Detroit Public Schools and suburban school districts. At least that is the fear of area school administrators.

JOHN M. HOBEN, superintendent of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, has considered buying or leasing vacated schools from Livonia.

In fact, in late February a meeting was held between administrators of the two districts. Present were Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent of business for Plymouth-Canton; George Garver, superintendent of schools for Livonia, and William Bedell, assistant superintendent of business for Livonia schools.

The three toured two schools—Jackson Elementary and Whitman Junior High—which could be used by Plymouth-Canton. Whether they will be depends, in part, on the feelings of both superintendents on how such an exchange might affect the desegregation lawsuit still pending in federal district court.

LAST YEAR a multi-million dollar bond issue for new construction was defeated by Plymouth-Canton voters.

In April another bond issue, seeking voter approval of a half-mill tax, for construction and expansion of existing buildings. But the central administration is very cautious about going the new construction route so they won't be stuck with vacated buildings when enrollment begins to decline during the next decade.

A few months ago, Supt. Hoben discussed with school trustees the possibilities of buying or renting space from Livonia or Wayne-Westland school districts.

At that time, Hoben cautioned that it would not be a good political move. Parents would be unhappy, he said, about having their children bused five to 10 miles.

Hoben then added that another concern was the legal implications such arrangements would have on the desegregation lawsuit.

Two years ago when Livonia vacated buildings close to the Plymouth border, discussions also were held on the possibility of a purchase or rental arrangement. At that time, the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education opted to go for a bond issue and construction of new elementary and middle schools.

With defeat of that bond issue, and families still pouring into Canton, the idea of using one or two Livonia schools has again surfaced. And even after Hoben cautioned his board about the legal implications related to cross-district busing, the meeting was still held between Hoedel, Garver and Bedell.

Jackson Elementary School is located about seven miles from the center of the City of Plymouth. The building was constructed in 1955, has 24 classrooms, a multi-purpose room, library and kitchen facilities.

Whitman Junior High, built in 1956, is located next to Grant Elementary on West Chicago Road—a further distance—and will house about 1,000 students.

Preliminary discussions between the trio suggests that rental would not be charged. Plymouth-Canton only would be asked to take care of the cost of maintenance, including utilities.

Hoben said different opinions are given by attorneys as to the legal implications on desegregation lawsuit of using between suburban districts

Blue Cross, Medicaid care cut off

By GLENN BUNTING

A 67-year-old Dearborn man, completely paralyzed and near death, lies in Hendry Convalescent Center, the victim of a Medicaid program, the payments of which do not cover cost of providing care.

Carroll Brown, who retired from Ford Motor Co. after 42 years, has been billed on a private basis by Hendry Convalescent Center in Plymouth ever since his Blue Cross benefits expired Feb. 3.

Brown and his wife, Bertha, have applied for Medicaid benefits but Hendry refuses to accept them, despite having Medicaid certification.

A spokesperson for John Hendry declined to reveal the dollar amount the Browns will be charged. According to administrators of other nursing homes, however, the cost is about $35 per day, which amounts to a running tab of more than $1,000.

Brown must be fed through a tube and according to medical reports, he often lapses into a coma.

Hendry announced at the beginning of the year that he was evicting 40 patients on Medicaid because the payments ($24.55 per day) were not enough to cover the $32 cost.

THE STATE HEALTH department served Hendry with a restraining order to stop evicting Medicaid patients two weeks ago because it was a violation of a federal patients' bill of rights.

Because Brown is a pending Medicaid patient, Hendry does not have to place him on Medicaid.

Mrs. Brown is attempting to relocate her husband into a nursing home that accepts Medicaid patients but

Computers find the composite Cantonite

By DARLENE STINSON

So, you've been peeping out your window at the people who just bought the house next door.

Curiosity has conquered your less nosy half, and you're dying to find out where they come from and if they're going to be neat, friendly neighbors with kids to keep your own offspring company.

If you live in Canton Township, chances are good your new neigbors are in their early 30s with one or two small mouths to feed.

Planning studies show the husband is probably a middle-management type with some college education and his wife may or may not work. They're probably selling another house in western Wayne County to move to Canton. They come because they like the schools and the rural-suburban atmosphere.

If you're really nosy and would like a peek into your new neighbors' pocketbook, you might be interested to know that they're probably making mortgage payments of at least $400 a month on that new or used home next door.

THAT'S THE PROFILE that local real estate agents and planners have painted of the typical family which is just buying a home in Canton Township.

Evely Adams, salesperson at Hitchcock Gallery of Homes in Plymouth, says many of the prospective homebuyers who come into her office with about $60,000 to spend are originally interested in buying a home with a prestigious Plymouth address.

But because of the limited number of homes for sale in the City of Plymouth and the high price range of many homes in Plymouth Township, Ms. Adams says, many buyers settle on Canton "as the next best thing."

"The main criteria is that people want a certain type home in a certain price range," she explained. "In Canton, you can get a lot of home for the money. It's easier to find that 'right' home in Canton than anywhere else."

According to Ms. Adams, the average price of a house in Canton Township now is $60,000 with few homes priced below the $50,000 mark. Although similarly-priced homes of comparable size and quality are available in some Livonia neighborhoods, Ms. Adams says buyers often concentrate on Canton because of the wider selection of homes.

ACCORDING TO A 1976 housing study conducted by Canton's planning consultants, Wade, Trim & Associates, 62 per cent of Canton residents moved to the township from some other Wayne County location including Detroit and the downriver area. However, the newcomers were predominantly from Westland, Garden City and Dearborn Heights.

The study showed that 29 per cent of all Canton families had gross incomes of at least $22,500 with 17 per cent of the families making $18,000 to $22,499.

The same study concluded that only one Canton subdivision developer offered homes within the price range of a family making less than $14,000 a year.

Because most homes in Canton are in a relatively high price range, Brad Mercer of the Century 21 office on Ford Road, says few of his clients are first-time homeowners. Many of them are buying their second or third home.

Many customers who walk into the real estate office already live in Canton, Mercer said. They're interested in selling their home in one of the township's older subdivisions and moving into Sunflower Village or some other new development.

Other customers are employees of Ford Motor Co. or some other large corporation who have been transferred to the Detroit area from another state, he said.

The 1976 Wade, Trim planning study supports Mercer's observations. According to the study, almost 10 per cent of the families who buy a used or new home in Canton Township already live in the Canton area. But almost 15 per cent of the buyers in Canton come from out state or out of state.

ERNIE AND LUCE SCHMITTER, who bought a model home in Canton's Forest Trails Subdivision this week after Schmitter was transferred from a Chicago suburb to Detroit, fit the profile of "typical" new Cantonites.

Chances are the new family that moved in next door is a white family of four; the wife probably works, and they're paying off a $400-a-month mortgage. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Schmitter is 35; his wife is 32. They have two daughters, ages 10 and 3, and they have already owned one home in Bolingbrook, Ill. Schmitter is a service representative with Detroit Diesel in Detroit, and he has two years of college.

Mrs. Schmitter, who stayed with friends in Westland while her family hunted for a house, said she and her husband decided on Canton because of its suburban atmosphere, relatively low tax rate, proximity to expressways and the reputation of the Plymouth-Canton Schools.

Natives of western Wayne County, the Schmitters originally considered

Parents back injunction against Plymouth Center

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Will the abuse stop?

"It's a good first step," said Alice Saules, president of the Plymouth Association of Retarded Citizens, following U.S. District Court Judge William Joiner's preliminary injunction last week.

According to attorneys for the Plymouth Association and the parents themselves, the steps that will be taken in the next six months will help to put an end to the alleged abuse and upgrade the care of the 875 residents of the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

The district court order means:

- Hiring of at least 60 new attendants during the next six months.
- Establishment of an independant "monitering committee" in the next several weeks.
- Establishment of a new system at the Plymouth Center under which each attendant will be held accountable for the care and well being of between four and eight residents.
- Separation of aggressive residents from the more passive and defensless residents.
- Better training for new employes.

"THESE ARE some measures immediately protecting the resident from harm," said William Campbell, chief attorney for the Michigan Associatied for Retarded Citizens (MARC) and the Plymouth Association.

"Later we'll concentrate on getting more staff, more doctors, more psychiatrists," he said.

Judge Joiner's order is the first significant movement in a case originally filed nearly two years ago. Since the originally filing there have been a number of state-sponsored committees and studies, but no concrete action has been taken.

"There was a lot of bickering between the Michigan Department of Mental Health and the Department of Social Services," said Ken Ostrowski, one of several MARC representatives who sat in on the hearing.

"There was a lot of finger-pointing, a lot of confusion, as to certain guidelines.

"Judge Joiner's order also addressed this problem. He called for more formalized cooperation between the two state-level agencies."

According to the MARC representatives, this action would go a long way in expediting investigations of complaints of abuse at the Plymouth Center.

MANY OF the parents of children housed at the Plymouth Center nodded their heads in approval as each of the points of the judicial order was ticked off and explained.

"For them," said another MARC representative, "it's been a long battle. This is the first sign of progress they've had."

Mrs. Saules said Judge Joiner's order does not mean an end to their battle.

"We're going to keep watch and we're going to expect action kind of quick," she said.

"I'd like to see improvement right tomorrow morning," she added half-jokingly.

The order is a far-ranging one. It goes as far as giving the parents' groups and the rest of the community a voice in planning the effort to upgrade the center's services.

Judge Joiner's order also includes the entire plan of action outlined by Gov. William Milliken last week.

Conceiveably any slippage or tardiness in implementing Gov. Milliken's plan could now be brought before Judge Joiner.

The ordered increase in staff size and the establishment of a special independent monitering committee go the farthest in affecting the day-to-day operation of the Plymouth Center.

Judge Joiner's action will force the center to assign one attendant to every four residents during day shifts at Binet, Molloy, Kennedy and Sullivan halls.

Most the unexplained cases of abuse have occurred in these halls.

During the night shift, every attendant will be in charge of no more than eight residents.

Moreover, the order requires that the attendants be on duty in the wards. Previously, the hospital had complied with HEW requirement which said the hospital must have one staff member for every eight residents.

IN ACTUALITY, attorneys explained, the Plymouth Center was operating with a "paper staff." On paper, they said, the center met the regulations. In reality, it was severely understaffed. It was very rare, they said, for the center to have a full staff of attendants on duty.

The other major provision, the monitering committee, is expected to begin working within two weeks.

The committee will be made up of four people, selected by MARC, the Plymouth Association, and the department of Mental Health. It will have free reign to make unannounced spot checks of any of the Plymouth Center's facilities at any time.

It will report its findings to Judge Joiner every 30 days.

This army never retreats

WILLIAM HARFOOT

By W.W. EDGAR

Like the harbor lights that guide storm-tossed ships into port, the Salvation Army, without an fanfare or bluster, has been the guiding light to many Plymouth area residents during one of the worst winters in years.

The headquarters at Fairgrounds and Maple does not have a "bread line" where the hungry come to eat each day. It doesn't have the shelters that other cities have for the downtrodden.

But it has been doing an outstanding job of helping those who need advice in coping with the vagaries of the economy and in the care of young folks, who otherwise may not have the opportunity to play and enjoy the fun of being a youngster.

"We are more or less an information center these days," Lieut. William Harfoot explained as the phone seemed to ring constantly in his small office at the headquarters.

"Most of the calls are coming from people who need advice more than they need food and clothing. Many calls are from people a bit down on their luck who need advice in coping with the utility companies. Some of them are as high as $160 behind in their bills and they don't want the gas or electricity turned off.

"Fortunately, we have been able to help them."

A BIG PART of the army's function is its youth programs.

Without the fanfare and publicity that is attached to the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, the Plymouth army now has a group of 75 youngsters between the ages of six and 18 divided into groups like the Sunbeam Girls, Girl Guards, nursery school, and a Kids Club. The highlight of these groups comes with the annual Boys Day.

"We are going to try something new this year," Harfoot said. "We have a list of the 160 children we had at our Christmas party. We are now going to try to reach them again on their birthdays."

Despite the bitterness of the current winter, the Christmas season was no busier than those of other years. Sixty families were aided with clothing and the like and this number was just about the same as in years past.

Harfoot explained that there is a definite procedure that is followed in granting aid to families. Dorothy Moyer, who served as the office secetary for almost two decades, does most of the interviewing to determine what help can be given in the way of food and clothing. In most cases all the requests are granted.

Now in his second year in Plymouth, Harfoot has spent his entire life in the Salvation Army. His parents were officers. So are his in-laws, so he is used to bringing aid to those less fortunate.

THOUGH just a young man, he already has had experiences that he will long remember.

One of these came not too long ago when a Canton Township man who had come here from New Jersey, ran out of money and sought the army's help.

'Gimme a little drum roll, Ed'

By CRAIG PIECHURA

You've all heard the "Tonight Show" drummer punctuate an obvious punch line with a rim shot or a rap on the cow bell, right?

Or, a dizzy starlet with only two visible attributes might stroll across the stage to a "boom-chukka-boom, chukka-boom-boom-boom" assessment of her talents.

The man responsible for that rude rhythm is Ed Shaughnessy, staff drummer on Johnny Carson's late-night talk show for the past 14 years.

And what does he get for it? Insults from Don Rickles and a comfortable home in Woodland Hills, Calif.

Shaughnessy brought his drumsticks to Canton Township Friday afternoon for a free drum clinic at Arnoldt Williams' Music.

Although he's proudest of his work with the likes of Count Basie, Tony Bennett, Peggy Lee and Duke Ellington, Shaughnessy is more familiar to viewers for adding a "cha-chink-boom" to Johnny's one-liners.

"The funniest incidents usually happen when Don Rickles is on the show," Shaughnessy explains.

"He'll make a comment about the Irish and do a little jig and we'll join in. Of course, that brings a barrage of insults to the band.

"RICKLES MIGHT turn to me and say 'That's Abe Lincoln's son over there—Abe let him out of the log cabin tonight'—referring to my sideburns.

"Or the other night I added a little 'cha-chink-boom' during Johnny's monologue and he turned to me and said, 'Where does it say in the script, 'Drummer makes funny noise?'

"So I hold up a blank piece of paper and say, 'Right here.'"

But Ed Shaughnessy isn't in the music business for laughs or the occasional on-air appearances.

He's there because he knows how to play any type of music and is considered one of the best big-band drummers in the business.

He made a Michigan tour last week as representative for a drum company. John Williams, vice-president of the music store, contacted the musician's union and the local studios to let drummers know Shaughnessy was coming.

And there was a good turnout Friday afternoon among members of the percussion fraternity. Shaughnessy didn't dazzle the crowd with a 20-minute drum solo, he taught the drummers technique and style.

"I try to answer specific questions from drummers," he said. "Let's say a person is having a problem with a weak left hand; that's a common problem because your right hand is stronger and quicker. I'd tell them to practice one right and three lefts (raps once, then three times) a thousand times each day. It works wonders."

SHAUGHNESSY DIDN'T audition for the Tonight Show, he was asked to join. First he declined, figuring studio work was a good living and all he could handle. He gave it a try, though, 14 years ago, and has been at it since—undoubtedly appearing on the Tonight Show more than its often-absent host.

He still manages to do some recordings—with artists such as jazz singer Tony Bennett and soft-rocker Steven Bishop. This May, Shaughnessy will release a record of his own under the moniker, "Ed Shaughnessy's Energy Force."

The big band record will be cut live in the studio using a process called "direct-to-disc."

In this process, records are cut as they're being recorded. Sound quality is improved because the records are "original" recordings, not a duplication from a master disc. There is no dubbing over or "layering" of tracks.

"Some of the guys in the band are a little intimidated by the process," Shaughnessy said. "They asked, 'What if I make a clam (sour note)?'

"It all goes down on the disc, just like a concert. I told 'em. It's your ass."

THIS METHOD of recording, Shaughnessy feels, captures the impact and spark of a full band because everyone is playing off each other and with each other.

"For a musician, it is no fun to do a layered recording where I go in first and lay down the rhythm section. They get that finished and the next day they bring in a bass part and the guys have to listen to our tracks on headphones. Maybe the third day they bring in the saxaphone and strings. It never has the impact of a band playing together. It doesn't have the same spark. But it's a producer's dream."

More musicians are getting away from this sterile technological type of production, Shaughnessy says.

Asked what kind of music he plays at home, Shaughnessy said that for professional reasons he tries to keep up with Top 40 because, undoubtedly, artists will do current numbers when they appear on the show. A case in point is the innumerable versions of "I'm a Rhinestone Cowboy" performed on the Tonight Show.

But, aside from the time-tested pros like Peggy Lee, Duke Ellington, Tony Bennett and Count Basie, Shaughnessy said he listens to progressive jazz artists such as Chick Corea and Herbie Hancock at home.

"But I don't like to narrow down my taste. I listen to everything. Indian music (tabla and sitar) is a personal favorite of mine."

With that comment, Shaughnessy took a brown Sherman's cigarette out of his brown leather jacket and went back to the drums to play some blues.

Compromise agreement close

Cops could get first crack at jobs

Both sides are reluctant to discuss the status of negotiations between the Canton Police Officers Association (CPOA) and the township board in the four-month squabble about whether current part-time officers will get first crack at 10 new full-time positions.

Bert Burgoyne, attorney for Canton Township in the discussions, said he doesn't see a full-time force on the street for at least a couple months. But, he said, he didn't think the speed of negotiations is as important as establishing a hiring procedure that "we've got to live with forever."

"We're starting a police department in Canton by scratch," Burgoyne added. "We have the opportunity to start a police department without any inherent mistakes."

Burgoyne refused to reveal what issues remain to be settled, citing a vow of confidentiality.

But one member of the township board said only fine points of the agreement remain to be hammered out.

"Preference will be given to these people (part-time officers on the force)," said the board member. "But the question still remaining is how much preference; to what degree?"

Although pledged to confidentiality, sources report the township has tentatively agreed to give existing officers first priority but will require them to take physical, psychological and written tests conducted by the Michigan Municipal League.

WHEN NEGOTIATIONS began last November, both parties were miles apart.

It was the recommendation of the township board and police commission that the 10 full-time patrol officer jobs be offered to anyone living in the township who holds Michigan police certification status.

The CPOA took the position that since its members were already working in a part-time capacity, they should get first consideration for any job openings.

The CPOA stated further, at the beginning of negotiations, that they had received sufficient testing at the Criminal Justice Institute or comparable certification school, and did not need to be tested by the MML for full-time jobs.

James Garber, attorney for the CPOA, was out of town last week and unavailable for comment on the progress of the talks with Burgoyne. CPOA President John Longride, who graduated from certification school Friday with eight other Canton reserve officers, said the association is close to reaching an agreement.

Any further questions, Longridge added, would have to be answered by the association's attorney.

Ex-police chief/township supervisor Robert Greenstein claimed last week that disgruntled officers were considering a public protest against a "deliberate stall" by the administration. Greenstein works part-time as a Canton police officer and practices law during the day. He claims the current Canton supervisor, Harold Stein, owes a campaign debt to the Wayne County Sheriff's union and is purposely delaying 24-hour policing.

Stein could not be reached for comment on the charge but Longridge denied that the association is considering a public protest.

"It sounds like Greenstein's trying to stir you up," Longridge said.

MSGR. CLEMENT KERN

Msgr. Kern misses Corktown oldtimers

By W.W. EDGAR

Far from the maddening roar of the traffic along the expressways and mixture of races and tongues in Detroit's Corktown, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Clement Kern sat in his new quarters at St. John's Seminary on Five Mile Road in Plymouth Township and jovially confided that he was enjoying the new turn in his life.

"It is so peaceful and quiet out here in comparison to what it was like down at Old Trinity. And I sure am enjoying it, but miss the old place now that St. Patrick's Day is only a short time away."

With Msgr. Kern at the head of it, Old Trinity became the Irish capital of Detroit each St. Patrick's Day when the fabled haven of the Irish of another era came "home" for the day.

"We had some great times down there, and I still go down there quite often, not only for old times sake but to say mass for some of the old folks who ask me do it as a favor. The old spirit never dies, I guess."

IT IS A FAR CRY from the Corktown area of today and the wide open spaces around the seminary, but Kern finds it most invigorating and pleasant.

"I get more of a chance to move around as resident pastor of the seminary," and then with a sort of sigh he admitted that he was going to miss St. Patrick's Day at Old Trinity for the first time in 34 years.

"I'll be up in Clare, taking part in a new St. Patrick's Day activity. Several folks from Clare and neighboring Coleman spent some time in Clare, Ireland, and invited a group of the natives here for the big day. They're coming and I have been invited to help get the event started. We should have a great time. But I'll be thinking about Old Trinity."

Peering out of the window and allowing his memories to come rolling down through the years, Msgr. Kern recalled that it was a few newspaper people in the inner city who started what is now the legend of Old Trinity.

The monsignor recalled that the celebration was the brainchild of the late Harry LeDuc, one-time assistant sports editor of the Detroit News. He sold Msgr. Kern on the idea of having the St. Partick's celebration centered at the church—no parades, no big dinners, no wild parties—just a quiet mass and the gathering of all the old Irish who had moved away from the old haunts. It was to be a homecoming day.

WHEN KERN accepted the idea, Edgar Hayes, sports editor of the Detroit Times, wrote the first letter to the papers and former residents.

And Bill Coughlin of the Detroit Free Press conceived the idea of raising funds through a campaign he called "The Sharing of the Green."

The idea caught the fancy of not only of the Irish, but all nationalities and all faiths with the result that Holy Trinity was the mecca that attracted hundreds of people—all wearing green carnations or green shirts and ties, while the ladies, many who married sons of immigrants from other countries, were decked in green. Lunch time among the businessmen was passed up to attend the Irish Mass at Old Trinity and it soon grew into a legend.

Would you believe it that Sharin' of the Green already has brought in more than $1,200 so far this year.

LIFE HAS CHANGED in Corktown since Father Kern came there 34 years ago. Where once it was the royal place of the Irish, it now has become to a large degree what Kern calls, "The haven of last resort."

It now caters to the downtrodden, men without homes and people of all faiths who need help. While Old Trinity never had what could be called a "soup line," it helped hundreds to food and clothing and in later years established what is called "Manna Meals" at St. Peter Church across from the Michigan Central Station. More than 150 persons are fed there every day.

Msgr. Kern couldn't help smiling when he recalled some of his experiences.

One of his fondest memories is the time he was called to the bedside of one of his aged parishiners. As he sat with her she uncovered a box in which she has neatly folded a stack of $20 bills.

"Take them," she said, "and take care of them." Kern recalled that the stack amounted to $11,000 which he took to the bank and opened an account for her daughter.

Another was the letter-writing skirmish he carried on with the diocese before he was permitted to say a mass at 2:30 a.m. for the truck drivers who were members of the Teamsters. But Father Kern won.

JUST LAST WEEK he was called back to the old haunts to get a medical prescription filled for one of the group who was a steady attendant at Old Trinity.

"I don't like to go down there too often because the new pastor, Father Jay Samonie, has a program of his own and I don't want to butt in."

Weise faces murder trial

Scot E. Wiese, the accused slayer of David Cischke, was bound over to Washtenaw Circuit Court on an open murder charge Friday.

Judge Kenneth Bronson of 14th District Court in Washtenaw County ordered him held without bond until his scheduled appearance date of March 30.

Wiese's preliminary examination in the 14th District Court lasted from Tuesday morning until late Friday afternoon.

"I don't know if this was the longest preliminary examination we've ever had," commented one court clerk, "but it's the longest I can remember."

The purpose of the preliminary examination is to determine if there is reasonable cause to bind the individual over to the circuit court level for the crime of which he has been accused.

Wiese, 20, of Westland, was arrested Feb. 17 as he was being released from the Detroit House of Corrections (DeHoCo), and charged with the Dec. 8 shooting death of David Lee Ciscke, 26, a part-time caretaker at the Plymouth Seventh Day Adventist Church 4295 Napier.

Wiese's father, Robert, is the minister of the church.

CISCHKE WAS AN employee of Garden City Auto Parts and lived next door to the church.

His body was found in a snowbank behind the church Dec. 15, five days after he had been reported missing. Washtenaw County police said he had been shot a number of times with a small caliber weapon the night of Dec. 8 or early in the morning of Dec. 9.

Police said a very heavy snowfall on the evening of Dec. 8 hindered the search for Cischke's body.

Wiese was arrested by Washtenaw County sheriffs immediately after his release from DeHoCo, where he had been serving a 90-day sentence for attempting to possess a gun silencer.

Prior to serving his sentence in DeHoCo, Wiese was employed by the Canton Recycling Disposal Company on Ford Road.

Wiese will have another preliminary examination at the circuit court level. At that time the open murder charge will be changed to a more specific charge based on the evidence presented.

Busing furor backfires

But both the Michigan Association of School Boards and the Michigan Association of School Administrators advise against such a move.

"We aren't even close to a decision on whether to use Livonia buildings," Hoben stressed. "Livonia is interested in unloading its vacated buildings and invited us to have a look. It's all in the exploratory stage; in fact, we went more as a courtesy.

"There's no legal implications involved in just taking a look. We'll consider that issue if we get to the decision stage, and we may never."

THE LEGAL IMPLICATIONS of the segregation lawsuit also has had its impact on how Plymouth-Canton assigns students to its two high schools.

Because there are black families living in the school district, administrators have been very careful about using any student assignment process which could appear to promote segregation.

Blue Cross, hope cut off

says she is running into a brick wall.

"I haven't been able to find a place that will take my husband," Mrs. Brown said. "Nursing homes don't want to take him because of his condition—it would cost more than the $24 Medicaid pays to care for him.

"The administrator at Nightingale West in Westland told me that he could not afford to take a person who needs the level of care my husband requires with Medicaid payments."

Mrs. Brown feels the Hendry Center has not been as honest with her.

"When I brought my husband to Hendry's, a worker informed me he had some 250 days of Blue Cross benefits. I asked what happened after 250 days, and she told me 'then you apply for Medicaid.'

Mrs. Brown has no idea how she will pay the bill that is running up at Hendry's. She is living off the $502 per month her husband receives from pension funds.

"Charles Herbert told me last week that I would be billed for everything. I told him that I couldn't afford it and he said 'I'm sorry'. He wasn't too nice about it."

Hendry, executive director of the Hendry' Convalescent Center, has stopped talking to this newspaper and is directing all phone calls to Marilyn Shifferd of Health Savings Services, a management organization he is affiliated with.

Guide to complete Cantonite

Canton, Livonia, Northville and Plymouth as possible sites for their new home.

"There was something about Canton that really struck us," confided Mrs. Schmitter. "We wanted a suburban-type lifestyle like we had in Bolingbrook, and we wanted a new community where all the decisions (on development) hadn't been made yet."

Mrs. Schmitter said she and her husband were active in politics in Bolingbrook. They wanted to move to a community where their political involvment would have an impact.

"We knew Canton was new, and we knew the politics wouldn't be cut-and-dry," she said.

Mrs. Schmitter said she received many favorable reports about Canton before deciding to buy the Forest Trails home.

"Canton just seemed the place to go."

SC secretaries still lack contract

Schoolcraft College trustees still have no contract with the secretarial union, have picked a bargaining team to meet with the faculty union, and have extended contracts with four faculty members.

After a closed meeting last week, the board said it was closer to an agreement with the SCAOP (association of office personnel) "than at any time since negotiations began."

SCAOP's 60 members, mostly office and clerical workers, have been without a contract since last June 30.

The board statement said unresolved matters include two fringe benefit items, salaries and length of contract.

An underlying issue appears to be the board's insistence that employees pick up at least part of the increase in health insurance costs, an item that has been rising far faster than the consumer price index.

SCAOP has resisted this proposal, charging the dollar cost would be far greater as a percentage of income for its members than for such classes as faculty and administrators.

THE BOARD recently designated its four-member bargaining team for negotiations with the Faculty Forum, agent for 160 full-time and other part-time instructors.

The team consists of John Graves, new labor relations director; Barbara Geil, director of admissions; Norman Wheeler, assistant dean for research; and E.F. Petersen, manager of business services.

Graves will head the team. In addition, there will be one other "floating" member.

The Forum is in the second year of a two-year contract that expires in August. Negotiations are expected to start in April or May. The college's negotiations council plans its strategy in February and March.

TWO FACULTY members were granted full status contracts after completing probationary periods.

They are Robert Grubb, in the automotive department; and John Nathan, who has completed his third year as a temporary full-time instructor in English.

Ellen Lee was granted a second year probationary contract after completing her first year in the medical records department.

Fred Wrenbeck recieved a one-year extension of his contract as director of security—from July 1, 1978 to June 30, 1979. Wrenbeck turned age 65 last Dec. 21. Board approval is required for such an extension.

"Actually," said President C. Nelson Grote, "this question will probably be moot between now and July 1 due to the fact that legislation is being considered at both the federal and state levels that will more than likely eliminate mandatory retirement based on age."

Wrenbeck requested the extension because he needs 10 years of service to qualify for the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement System. He will have nine years and 41 days as of June 30.

Uncle Charlie has a big job

Editor:

Being new on the CB scene, I've learned there is an attitude of tolerance to cultivate in oneself to survive. Frequently on the 21 channel, I find most of the people fair and trying very hard to keep it clean and legal.

The FCC (Uncle Charlie) has a big job trying to track down the offenders of the rules. Some are placed on probation and others have lost their licenses or had stiff fines imposed on them.

Lately it's been disgusting for many to have themselves and small children riding in the cars of the mobiles or in the homes of the base stations exposed to filthy four-letter words and grossly obscene expressions by a man who certainly sounds old enough to know better.

He needs an "Encounter of the Medical Kind" and I've composed a little ditty for this fella. Ha! If he can read!

A guy like you is definitely a molester of ears having no respect for life or years.
You and the porno freaks have a lot in common
existing on filth and speaking rotted jargon.
Most of the civilized people out on the set realize you're sick and help you should get.
You've got nerve to talk filth in front of women and men.
I hate to think what you say and do in front of little children.
Your day is coming with Uncle Charlie, don't ya see and the judge might not agree with your thoughts of being free.
Matter of fact, creeps like you get caught in the act.
But your twisted, uneducated mind won't believe that's a fact.
Keep in mind the set has rules that apply to everyone.
Your modulation is sick and vicious, our's is in fun.
We have a huge advantage over your, Mr. Slime.
We were forced into hearing your garbage, but that's no crime.
Better hope it's Uncle Charlie who finds you first, don't ya know.
He'd be a lot kinder than the people for whom you've put on your show.

Cindy Kolke...marketing manager...head of a department of nine salesmen...college graduate (the hard way, through 9 years of night school)...a very decisive young lady who knows how to watch for the right opportunity and take advantage of it.

So when Cindy decided to buy a new car she started by shopping carefully. Not just for the car...but also for the money to buy it. That was the beginning of another smart move . . . for Cindy and us. Because, just about the time Cindy was starting her shopping, we were starting our New Car Money Sale.

We're Cindy's bank. Manufacturers Bank. And (like the other banks of Manufacturers National Corporation listed below) we just made a substantial reduction in the interest rates on our auto loans. For example, with the required 20% down payment the interest on a 36 month loan has been reduced from 11.96% ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE to 9.76% ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE. For Cindy, this meant a savings of over $100. An opportunity that was too good to pass up.

So she borrowed her new car money from us. And that's the whole idea. We figure if we make life better for young people like Cindy now...they'll make life better for us later on. Maybe our New Car Money Sale can do the same thing for you. Check the chart on the left to see how much you can save. Then ask us, or your dealer for the money to buy your new car. But hurry. A new way to be a fool

There is honor among dogwatchers, as among thieves.

The golden rule for dogwatchers, similar to the rule for babysitters, is: "Thou shalt not beat another person's dog!"

The corollary is "Thou art well advised not to watch a dog who pleads to be beaten."

Having ignored the corollary and agreed to watch a dog who pleads to be beaten, I decided to follow the golden rule and not beat him.

JINGLES IS A beautiful dog—about 3 years old, mostly a collie, and very playful.

The problem is that Jingles does not come when called. I learned that the first day when opening the back door to let him outside. He took off.

I'm spoiled because my dog, Toby, comes when I call. If fact, he comes when I don't call, which also is aggravating. All the dogs in my life have come when called. I never knew there was such a thing as a dog who didn't come when called. But Jingles is such an animal.

Such a habit does nothing to endear Jingles to my heart, and he had a handicap to begin with—I hate dogs. I have dogs in my life only because I have children in my life—children who happen to love dogs. So Toby was one of those compromises which family life requires.

Jingles was one of those compromises which friendship requires. Our former neighbors and friends are moving next door to continue our friendship and renew our neighborhoodship. So I agreed to watch Jingles for a couple of weeks while they were living in temporary quarters between moves.

THE FIRST TIME Jingles took off, I took Toby with me to lure Jingles in a neighbor's backyard which is fenced.

After that episode things worked fine until the morning I got up and took Jingles outside to chain him up without my first cup of coffee. With eyes half open, I missed getting the chain hook attached to the collar ring. I just got into the kitchen and was pouring a cup of coffee when my wife announced Jingles was loose in the streets.

For brevity's sake, I'll skip over the time I spent driving through three subdivisions and two communities trying to locate him. After using a quarter tank of gas, though, I finally did spot him in the subdivision behind our neighborhood.

I got out of the car, with Toby accompanying me, and began a fruitless effort to get Jingles close enough to grab. He wanted to run and play, darting from sidewalk to street, from front yard to back yard. I only wanted to get him in the car and return home to my first cup of coffee.

While I was walking up and down the sidewalk, a lady in a Vega drove up into her driveway a couple houses down from me. As she got out of her car, both dogs ran up to her. I alertly yelled "Ma'am, would you mind grabbing that collie for me" and she just as alertly grabbed Toby (part Springer-Cocker) instead, while Jingles sprang off on another journey.

I was unjustifiably angry with this nice lady, who tried to be helpful but failed miserably. But just the same I smiled and meekly said "thank you" while running past her in pursuit of a dog who didn't deserve to be pursued.

MY NEXT STRATEGY was to fake a fight with Toby to see if Jingles would come to the defense.

It almost worked. Jingles began running circles around me barking, but they weren't concentric circles. He never got close enough for a catch.

After making a complete fool of myself fighting Toby with one hand and reaching for Jingles with the other, a vision entered my mind. I recalled Jingles running up to the lady in the Vega just as she got out.

What would Jingles do if I opened my car door? Would he run towards the door? I tried, but he ran past the door. So I walked to the passenger side of the car, leaving open the door on the driver's side. With me now standing on the opposite side of the car, Jingles quickly ran towards the driver's door, hopped inside, and nestled down in the back seat. Simple—once you discover the formula.

I won't share with you what I wanted to do to Jingles when I got him home. Some people do think kindly toward dogs, so my thoughts aren't suited for a mature audience of dog lovers.

But I want you to know I sinned in thought only.

After remembering the golden rule and corollary, I chained up Jingles, patted him gently on the head, and downed a cold cup of coffee.

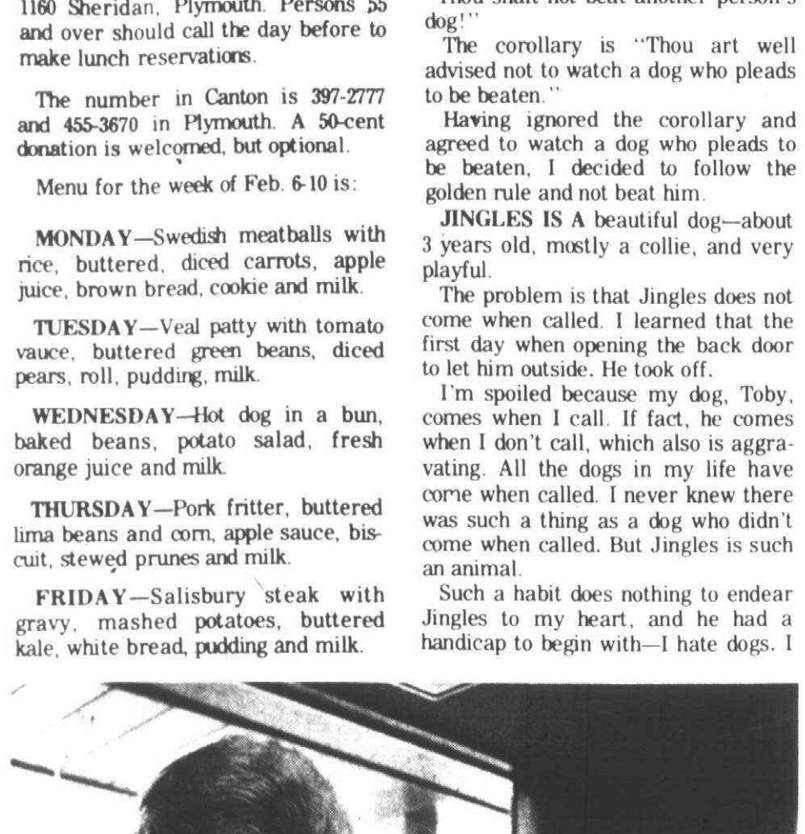

Snowsnake tourney set

A snowsnake tournament is being sponsored March 12 by the Indian Heritage Center of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

In a traditional Indian sport, wooden spears called snowsnakes are hurled along snow and travel a great distance with contests held to see who can throw the greatest distance.

The snowsnake tourney, held in Drayton Plains, will be a demonstration of how to make snowsnakes and throw them. Corn soup, a piece of fry bread, dessert, and a beverage will be provided. After the tournament there will be drumming and movies.

Those attending will depart at 11 a.m. from the parking lot of Central Middle School, 650 Church, Plymouth, and return about 4:45 p.m.

Learning about saving

Michael Cermack, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cermack of Canton, learns about saving money with the aid of an antique circus clown bank on display at Manufacturers Bank, Ann Arbor Road at Sheldon, Plymouth Township. Assistant Manager Katherine Eidt shows Michael how the bank works. The clown bank was one of many antique and mechanical banks on display at the Plymouth branch last month.

Southfield center loses finger

Rocks stave off rally to win district trophy, 53-48

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Plymouth Salem built an 18-point lead after three quarters but had to hang on to beat a stubborn Southfield squad 53-48, and win the Southfield District championship Friday night.

The victory avenged last year's title setback to Southfield, giving the Rocks their first district crown in two seasons. Salem now advances to regional play Wednesday night against Westland John Glenn at the Livonia Franklin gym at 7:30 p.m.

It wasn't meant to be Southfield's night from the start when the Blue Jays lost their starting center and leading rebounder Scott Russell during the pre-game warm-ups. Russell severed the entire ring finger on his right hand after jumping for a rebound of a teammate's shot.

The 6-7 senior, an All-Southeastern Michigan Association selection, got his ring caught in the net as he grabbed for the rebound, cutting off the finger at the lower knuckle.

So just 17 minutes before this important clash was scheduled to start, the Blue Jays were without their second-leading scorer—the player who scored 29 points and grabbed 15 rebounds two nights earlier in the Blue Jays' 74-58 victory over Detroit Chadsey.

Salem wasted no time taking advantage of the Southfield injury, jumping into a 9-4 lead after the first three minutes of action. The Rocks easily scored four baskets on the inside penetration of the Blue Jays zone.

Southfield wasn't about to play dead, however, as the inspired Jays stayed within striking range during the first half, trailing Salem by only two points at intermission, 23-21.

The Rocks put on a repeat performance of last Tuesday's action against Plymouth Canton when they came out in the third quarter and completely controlled the tempo of the game in romping to an 18-2 third period advantage. John Broderick and Tom Ellinghausen continued to penetrate inside as Southfield was held scoreless until the 51-second mark of the stanza.

Salem's 18-point advantage didn't last for long, however, as the Blue Jays demonstrated great character in trying to overcome the deficit.

Scott Kopack, who sat out the entire third quarter after commiting four fouls in the first half, brought the Jays to life in the fourth stanza by scoring 12 unanswered points. Guard Eric Griffin complemented Kopack's efforts with nine more points and all of a sudden Southfield was back in the game.

Salem tried to control the tempo with a four-corner spread offense in the final quarter but its shots wouldn't drop.

Southfield had a chance to pull within three points in the last minute of play, but the deficit was too much to overcome.

"I thought we controlled things (in the fourth quarter)," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "We had good shots, and great board position but missed a lot of easy shots.

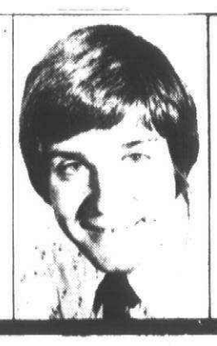

"The ball just didn't go down and

Salem's Tom Ellinghausen (42) pulls down a rebound, but Southfield's Dave Coombs has a hand in the play.

It had to be one of the craziest district basketball games I've ever seen.

If you were one of the fans seated in the Southfield gymnasium Friday night, then you would know exactly what I'm talking about.

There was a lot more to Plymouth Salem's 53-48 district championship victory over Southfield than one could image.

It was amazing to watch how the emotions of players on both teams changed throughout the course of the evening.

First, Salem came out for pre-game warm-up drills ready to attack the Blue Jays and get revenge for last year's district title setback to the same squad.

Then a shocking thing happened. At the other end of the court, Southfield's 6-7 center and top rebounder Scott Russell cut off his entire right ring finger in a freak accident. He got his finger caught in the net when grabbing a rebound of a teammate's shot during the warm up.

Salem took advantage of this misfortune and immediately got six points inside on offensive penetration in the first few minutes of the game.

But the momentum switched. Salem failed to penetrate the rest of the quarter and Southfield came back—trailing by only two at halftime.

At the start of the second half, it was Salem's turn to crank up its emotional level as it started to penetrate and play the same tough defense it demonstrated against Plymouth Canton two nights earlier.

The result—an 18-2 third quarter margin which gave the Rocks an 18-point lead after three quarters.

But the excitement wasn't over yet.

Now it was Southfield's turn to battle back, and Scott Kopack and Eric Griffin combined for 21 of Southfield's 25 points in the final eight minutes, which almost pulled out the victory.

Things got a little hairy for Salem in that final quarter, to put it mildly.

But Tom Ellinghausen's driving lay up with 22 seconds left not only gave the Rocks a comfortable seven-point lead they never relinquished but brought Salem coach Fred Thomann out of his chair with a raised clenched fist—signaling a district victory which he hasn't enjoyed since his 1974-75 squad won at Southfield.

NOW IT'S REGIONAL week and before the good Doctor makes any predictions about this next stepping stone in the state tournament, let's take care of a business matter.

The regional games will all be played at Livonia Franklin High School, on Joy Road, east of Merriman road.

The first contest is tomorrow night (Tuesday) when Redford Bishop Borgess plays Detroit Mackenzie, winners of the Ferndale and Detroit Henry Ford districts respectively.

Salem battles Westland John Glenn the following night (Wednesday). Glenn won the Livonia Churchill District.

All contests start at 7:30 p.m. with the winners of Tuesday's and Wednesday's games playing for the regional championship on Friday.

Tickets for Salem's Wednesday contest will be on sale to the public at the high school tomorrow (Tuesday) from noon to 2 p.m. and on Wednesday, noon to 3 p.m. All tickets are $1.50.

PREDICTION—Salem should defeat John Glenn on Wednesday but the happiness stops there. Detroit Mackenzie will beat the Rocks in the regional championship on Friday.

Central tankers grab swim crown

Central Middle School ran away from its three opponents to easily win the annual season-ending middle school swim meet by more than 100 points last Tuesday night at the Plymouth Canton High School pool.

Central grabbed the first seven events in the meet to take the title with a whalloping 363½ points. West Middle School was second with 246 points, East was third at 240, and Pioneer was fourth with 166½.

East won one individual event and the 400-yard freestyle relay, while Pioneer took the other individual race to complete the 10 first-place finishes.

Central's dominance was paced by the performances of Ron Hurley and Mark Roehrig who each won two individual events. Hurley won the 100-yard individual medley and 100-yard freestyle events, while Roehrig grabbed the 500-yard freestyle and 50-yard butterfly races.

Other Central winners included the 200-yard medley relay foursome, Lisa Forsythe (200-yard freestyle), and Todd Riedel (diving).

Pioneer's Ted Ludlow won the 100-yard backstroke, and East tanker Russ Shaffer paced all the breaststrokers.

Dearborn takes Sub-8 title

It was the same old story at the Suburban Eight League swim championship Friday night as the Dearborn Pioneers won their fourth straight conference trophy in competition at the Plymouth Salem pool.

But it wasn't as easy for Dearborn as in past years because of a strong second-place surge by Belleville. Dearborn finally ousted the Tigers 251-228.

Plymouth Salem swam "exceptionally well" according to coach Chuck Olson in posting a fourth-place finish in the tough conference with 142 points.

The Rocks edged rival Livonia Bentley by only four points despite the Bulldogs grabbing four individual first-place finishes and first in the medley relay event.

The Rocks' lone individual winner was sophomore Craig Finley who outdistanced the other 500-yard freestyle opponents by more than 15 yards for the victory. Finley's time was 4:58.83.

Salem's 400-yard freestyle relay of Tom Rubadue, Mike Etienne, Rob Kuebler and Finley also swam its best time of 3:23.11 but placed third because of two other record-breaking times.

The Plymouth Canton swim team competed in the Western Six League meet at Farmington Harrison last week. The results of that meet will be in Thursday's Observer sports section.

Canton JV best ever

The Plymouth Canton junior varsity basketball team finished its excellent season on a happy note by defeating Walled Lake Western for the second time in a week, 74-58, last Friday night at the Canton gymnasium.

The Chiefs are the Western Six League champions for the first time in the school's history with an impressive 9-1 record.

Canton's overall mark is also the best ever for a junior varsity squad at 16-3.

The Chiefs won their last six games of the season to achieve the fine record.

Canton started slowly against Western and led by only one point after the first quarter, 19-18. The Chiefs widened their margin to 39-33 at intermission.

The Chiefs scored the first 10 points of the second half to put the game out of reach. With Canton ahead by 20 points late in the third quarter, coach Wayne Weimer cleared his bench to let everyone play in the finale.

Scott Adler led the Chiefs' scoring attack with 18 points, 15 of which came in the first quarter. Dave Visser and Brad Westin followed Adler with 17 and 16 points respectively.

"The team achieved success this season due to excellent team effort and attitude by all the players," Weimer said. "I am very proud of their abilities on as well as off the court."

Weimer was also happy that all members of the Chiefs were part of the successful season.

Land slated for horse play

Ten acres of county land in the City of Wayne have been set aside for the future development of a horse and pony educational center and riding facility. The center will be used in the county's 4-H horse and pony educational program.

The land is located on Van Born Road at Venoy, next to a planned model farm and educational complex that the county is developing with a $4.7 million federal grant. That development will be used by the county's cooperative extension service and the intermediate school district, which already have facilities there.

A spokesman said that it will be at least a year before the horse and pony educational center can be developed because the county is concentrating on getting the farm and educational complex completed.

Rock matmen break many marks

The record books for the Plymouth Salem wrestling team were rewritten 12 times this season after the Rocks completed their most successful season in the seven-year history of the program.

Salem, coached by Ron Krueger, overcame a rash of pre-season injuries and finished an impressive 15th overall as a team at the recent state meet. The Rocks were ranked as the ninth-best team in the state in the final poll. They were rated among the best teams in the state all season.

Among the greatest team accomplishments for the Rocks this season was their first-ever Suburban Eight League championship. Salem finished as the co-champions with Belleville but won the season-ending conference meet. Salem finished with an overall dual-meet record of 15-2.

As a team, Salem finished second in the Ann Arbor Huron District, fifth at the Ypsilanti Regional, first at the Allen Park Invitational, second at the Redford Thurston, Monroe and Plymouth Canton Invitationals, third at its own invitational, and fifth at the 32-team Schoolcraft Invitational.

For Krueger, it was a very satisfying year which finally saw all his hard work pay off at the league meet. The Salem mentor called it "just a fantastic year" and felt he had a good core of junior wrestlers who will return next winter to head a rebuilding season.

Heavyweight Bob Dasher and 126-pound Jim Ross paced the Rocks' individual performers with third and fourth place finishes at the state meet. Jeff Brown, Wally Brown and Rene Leist were three other Rocks who qualified for state competition after succesful outings in the districts and regionals.

Wally Brown and Ross, both seniors, broke the record for most victories in a season with 40 each. Rene Leist broke Salem's career victory mark with 87. Both these records were previously held by Dave Champion.

Four Rocks surpassed the record for most team points in a season. Wally Brown led the pack with 231 points. Leist recorded 226, Dasher 225½, and Ross 216. Dasher registered the most pins in a season with 21. Leist followed with 20. Leist holds the new record for career pins with 38, and most consecutive pins with 10.

Salem total team pins this season was 182—compared to last year's old record of 100. Leist recorded the quickest pin in 15 seconds.

Dasher holds the best career winning percentage at Salem with a 74 per cent clip (88-30-1). Randy Vipperman recorded the mark for most wins by a junior with 30. This total ties Leist's mark last year. Jeff Brown owns the record for the most victories by a sophomore with 37.

Heaton picked Chiefs' top wrestler

Kyle Heaton was honored as the Chiefs' Most Valuable Wrestler of the 1977-1978 season at Plymouth Canton's season-ending banquet Thursday night at the Canton cafeteria.

Heaton, the Chiefs' lone state qualifier this year at 155-pounds, led his squad with a 33-11 record—the most victories ever for a Canton senior. Heaton finished eighth in the state competition after qualifing in district and regional action. He also was a Western Six League champion at his weight class.

Also honored at the banquet was junior Dennis Howell, who was voted the Chiefs' Most Improved Wrestler by head coach Dan Chrenko and assistant coach Dan Riggs. Heavyweight grappler Chuck Walker was given the "Eric Hunter Memorial Award" for extra dedication to the team. Craig Lee, 119 pounds, was presented with the Senior Award for his hard work during the year.

The Chiefs finished the regular season with a 6-5 overall dual meet record, despite being plagued all year by nagging injuries to key personal. The Chiefs also finished third in the Western-6 which was the highest finish ever in the five-year history of the program.

"We started the season very optimistically with good feelings from everyone," Chrenko said to the banquet audience. "But then bad things started happening with all our injuries.

"If it had not been for the special individuals on this team, I believe we might have folded—but we didn't.

"I was proud we kept it together. We didn't do anything spectacular this season, but we didn't fall into the depths we were in before."

Tommy Harreld broke the record for most wins by a sophomore in a season with 22. Heaton led the Chiefs in team points and near falls.

Scott Collins, who was injured or ill for most of this season, continued to hold most of the Canton career records after his spectacular junior season last year.

The junior varsity squad, coach by Riggs, also completed a successful season with a 6-2 record. Chrenko said the junior varsity contained the "best core of freshmen"his program has ever had.

Graduating seniors from the Chiefs' squad included Vince Novak, Craig Proctor, Craig Lee, Scott Collins, Jeff Rey, Kyle Heaton, Dave March, and Chuck Walker.

Canton loop champions this season were March, Lee and Heaton.

Jr. tankers rout Willow Run

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Swim Club won its second meet of the season last week when it overwhelmed Willow Run, 335-187.

The Plymouth-Canton crew will host Belleville's junior swimmers tonight (Monday) at the Plymouth Salem High School pool. The meet starts at 6:30 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

Against Willow Run, Plymouth-Canton excelled in this freestyle meet, winning all six freestyle relay events, five of the six medley relay races, and five of the six individual events.

Joe McCann, Cindy Elliott, Jeff Hancock, Tim Collins and Julie Reimenschneider won the individual races for Plymouth-Canton.

Medley relay winners included the following Plymouth-Canton foursomes: Jim Riemenschneider, Frank Wiswienski, Todd Melroy, and John Weed (8-years and under, boys); Cheryl Roessler, Debbie Kelly,Rhonda Young and Cindy Elliott (8-years and under, girls); Bob Laprise, Scott Rollins, Jeff Hancock, and Greg Wolf (9-10-year old, boys); Tom White, Tim Collins, Mike Munoz and steve Dillon (11-12-year old, boys); and Marge Sullivan, Kim Leesch, B.J. Bing, and Julie Riemenschnieder (11-12-year old girls).

Freestyle relay winners included the following local swimmers: Frank Wisniewski, Dean Robert, Jim Riemenschneider and Joe McCann (8-years and under, boys); Debbie Kelly, Cheryl Roessler, Rhonda Young and Cindy Elliott (8-years and under, girls); Kim Elliott, Kris Pakarinen, Laura Wochna, and Gail Weed (9-10-year old, girls); Greg Wolf, Bob Laprise, Scott Rollins, and Jeff Hancock (9-10-year old, boys); Mike Munoz, Jim Dillon, Tom White, and Tim Collins (11-12-year old, boys); B.J. Bing, Marg Sullivan, Kim Leesch, Julie Riemanschneider (11-12-year old, girls).

Register soon for Plymouth softball

The Plymouth Recreation Department is now accepting entry fees from returning softball teams.

On Wednesday, March 15, registration will be open to new teams which meet residency requirements. The final date for paying entrance fees is Friday, April 7 at 5 p.m.

The fees are as follows: Men's Slowpitch Softball, $245 per team; Women's Slowpitch Softball, $165 per team; and Men's Modified Softball, $250 per team. Entrance fees may be paid at the recreation department located in the Plymouth Cultural Center. For more information call 455-6620.

they got a run on it and kept going to the free throw line."

Southfield coach Don Kaump was pleased with his team's effort—especially after the pre-game mishap.

"This was one of the best team efforts we've ever had," Kaump said. "Dave Coombs did a good job filling in for Russell. He usually doesn't see that much time. Salem didn't dominate like everyone thought. Our kids played a good game."

Both squads went into this game with identical 19-2 records. The Jays finish the year at 19-3 with the Southeastern Michigan Association title. Salem's 20-2 record means the co-champions of the Suburban Eight League are one of only 32 Class A teams to advance to regional competition.

Rock Tom Ellinghausen led all scorers with 18 points. Rich Hewlett followed with 13 and Matt Etienne added eight in playing an excellent floor game.

Griffin finished with 15 and Kopack 14 to pace Southfield's attack. The Jays' leading scorer Darryl Clausell was held to only seven points by Salem's Doug Agnew before fouling out in the final quarter.

Salem's overall height and physical advantage resulted in the Rocks' outrebounding Southfield 44-35. Ellinghausen grabbed a game-high 23 carroms which is a new school record for rebounds in a single game. Tom's brother, Jim Ellinghausen, held the old mark of 21.

Behind a powerful defense and the fine play of starters Dave and Dan Decoster and Steve Michuta in a reserve role, Redford Bishop Borgess took the Class A Ferndale basketball district title Friday by knocking off host Ferndale, 63-57.

The Spartans will play Detroit Mackenzie at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Livonia Franklin Regional.

Dave Decoster scored 24 points to lead Borgess during the game, while brother Dan added 11. Michuta added 14 points to the Spartans' scoring column.

"What was most impressive was the fact that Dan got into foul trouble early in the game and Steve Michuta came in and played his best game ever," said Borgess coach Ron Gutkowski. "We played very good defense throughout the game.

"Dave time and time again came through in the clutch. He grabbed 15 rebounds besides the 24 points," continued Gutkowski.

The Spartans took a one point lead by the end of the first quarter, 18-17, and then went into the lockerroom at halftime ahead, 33-29.

In the second half, the Spartans poured on the score, using a strong defense as a foundation for a quick powerful offense. In the third quarter, Borgess scored 16 points to Ferndale's 11 and ended on the long end of the 49-40 score.

WAYNE COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION

PUBLIC NOTICE
Opportunity for Hearing

All interested persons are hereby advised that the Wayne County Road Commission is proposing to improve Beck Road between North Territorial and Five Mile Road. The proposed work includes constructing a two lane, 24' wide pavement with widenings of up to a five lane, 62' wide pavement at the major intersections. The Road Commission, in cooperation with the City of Livonia, is also proposing the improvement of Haggerty Road from Five Mile Road to Six Mile Road and Haggerty Road from Seven Mile Road to 1%2 mile north. The proposed work includes constructing a two lane, 24' wide pavement on both sections of Haggerty Road with a flare to a five lane, 62' wide pavement at Seven Mile Road.

Information concerning these projects, including preliminary plans and an evaluation of the social, economic, and environmental effects of the projects is available for review at the Wayne County Road Commission office located at 415 Clifford Street, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

The projects are proposed to receive Federal-aid under the Urban System Program. Under provision of Federal law, any person who would be affected by these projects may request, in writing, that a Formal Public Hearing be held concerning the social, economic, and environmental effects of the projects. Such a request should be mailed to Mr. Robert A. Larson, Director of Transportation at the above Road Commission address. The request must be received by March 27, 1978.

Rockets face Rocks Wednesday

Glenn bounces Franklin

By DOUG FUNKE

Riding the crest of a 22-point second quarter, Westland John Glenn swept past Livonia Franklin, 68-56, Friday to win the Livonia Churchill Class A District basketball championship.

The Rockets, which last won a district title five years ago, advance to the Livonia Franklin Regional and will battle Plymouth Salem, the Southfield District champ, 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Glenn, Northwest Suburban League titlist this winter, dumped Franklin for the third consecutive time of the season to earn the district crown.

The Patriots, on the heels of a 22-point victory over Livonia Churchill two evenings earlier, jumped out to a 16-12 lead after the first quarter.

Chris Baker, who finished with 22 points for Franklin, scored eight of those during the first period.

Glenn warmed to the occasion at the start of the second quarter and blitzed the Patriots with 15 unanswered points. The first nine came in a minute and 24 seconds. Six followed during the next two minutes.

Franklin didn't score its first points of the second quarter until nearly four minutes had been contested. The Patriots never led after that.

Glenn's full-court zone trap confounded Franklin during much of the middle two quarters. Daran Armstrong and Ed Bates scored many easy baskets with layups following Patriot turnovers.

Franklin did not seem to get inside against the Rockets as well as it did against Churchill and when the Patriots did move in close, their shots would frequently bounce off the rim and stay out.

Glenn rallied for the first seven points of the second half to advance to what appeared to be an insurmountable 41-23 lead, but Franklin would not quit.

The Patriots pulled within six points early in the fourth quarter when Glenn was troubled by a full-court press and a man-to-man defense. Franklin, however, ran out of steam, as the Rockets reeled off another 10 points in a row.

Daran Armstrong netted 24 points for Glenn, Pat McBride 17 and Tom Jurewicz 10.

"In the first quarter, we were tight. We were real fired up, but a little anxious," said Glenn coach Gordon Davis. "That second quarter was really the turning point. We had steals and fast breaks.

"We hit our free throws well tonight. I think that was a key, too," Davis continued. The Rockets canned 18 of 22 from the charity stripe.

"I thought Daran (Armstrong) just played a tremendous game. (Pat) McBride played good defense, Mitch (Preston) only scored six points but really did a nice job on the boards and Ed Bates hustled all the time and made us go," said Davis.

"It's not quite as sweet tonight," said a disappointed Franklin coach Jim McIntyre. "We may have come in wanting victory too much.

"We were coming down and making baskets and then turning around and giving them foul shots," he added.

McIntyre also said that the Patriots' defense was not as effective after Jeff Reich picked up his fourth foul in the second quarter.

By W.W. EDGAR

The women bowlers of metropolitan Detroit now have something more of which to be proud.

When the Firebird team, of the all-star classics, fired its 3,174 series to take the lead in the women's state tournament at Kalamazoo, it was the highest actual count series rolled in the nation.

What's more, officials of the association feel that the score will stand up for the rest of the season and give the area the highest scoring team in the land.

Along with the team series, the Firebird girls also set a national high single game with an 1152 that also is expected to stand up the rest of the way.

To get the big count, Sharon Behrendt, the captain, rolled a 692 and Terry Grant followed with a 681. Behind them came Kelly Kraft with 674, Jeannette Robinson, 559, and Carol Gaddis, 551.

JERRY RITTER, who rolled a perfect game in the state tournament, didn't rest on her laurels. She came right back Wednesday night to post a 676 to tie Martha Copper for scoring honors in the ladies major league at Crown Lanes.

Geri Beattie had high single game with 266 and Cora Fiebig's Goebel team had a 1029 game.

One of the most pleased bowlers in the league was Marge Kropacek, the Plymouth homemaker, whose Livonia Bowling Sales team landed with the leaders by posting a 2892 series on games of 969, 932 and 991.

THE TRADITION of at least one 700 series each week continued Tuesday night in the Wonderland Classic.

This time it was Harry Fill who broke the barrier with a 748 on games of 258, 257 and 232.

While Harry was scattering the pins on his own, Mort Friedman paced his construction company team, to top scoring honors with a 3280 series on games of 1032, 1135 and 1113.

THE ONLY OTHER 700 series reported during the week came from Bob Jawor in the 725-825 league at Westland Bowl. He opened with a 232, followed with 231 and closed with 238 for 701. His closest rival was Mike Schwab, who had a 233 game in a 623 series.

On the women's side, Marilyn Bourgoin paced the classic with a 593, while Pam Campbell fired a 246 for high game and Sandy Marsh had a 224.

THE THRILL that comes once in a lifetime to most bowlers was enjoyed this week by Robert Cowick while bowling in the Tuesday Mixed League at Cloverlanes. He toppled the "impossible" 7-10 split.

He did it by slamming the No. 7 pin into the kickback and it bounded over and toppled the No. 10. It helped him to get a 169 game, that was followed by counts of 148 and 117 for 434.

Dearborn dumps spikers

A disappointing loss to Dearborn Wednesday night for the Plymouth Salem varsity volleyball team put the Rocks in a tie for second place in the Suburban Eight League. The Rocks are tied with Dearborn with a 10-3 league record behind first place Livonia Bentley.

Salem saw itself behind Dearborn in the first game, 14-8, due to the lack of concentration at the beginning of the game, according to Salem coach Cathy Himes. The Rocks started a comeback when senior captain Karen Prikosovits served for six points, tying the score at 14-14. But Dearborn took the game at 16-14.

"We couldn't afford to count on coming back at the end of the game. When we did, it just wasn't soon enough," said Himes. "Our serving was below its average which didn't help very much."

The second game saw the Rocks trailing by six points when they called their first time-out. Salem couldn't put it together after that as Dearborn came out with a 15-3 victory for the match.

Himes said the teams' spirits were up before the match. The Rocks wanted to win so much that they weren't thinking about placing the ball and moving for it when it came over the net, she said.

If Salem wins its match tonight against Belleville, the Rocks will end the season in a second-place tie with Dearborn. The match will start at 7 p.m. with the junior varsity match followed by the varsity. The match will be the last home game for Salem this season.

On Thursday night, the Rocks will play Farmington Harrison at Harrison starting at 8 p.m. in the pre-regional elimination round. If Salem is victorious over Harrison, it will play the winner of the Livonia Churchill—Northville match on Saturday, March 11 at Dearborn High School.

Canton crowns mustangs

The Northville varsity volleyball team fell once again to the Plymouth Canton spikers last Tuesday night, 15-13 and 15-8. The Chiefs are still tied for first place in the Western Six League with Livonia Churchill sporting an 8-1 loop record.

Canton will compete against Churchill Tuesday night at Churchill starting at 7 p.m. with the junior varsity contest. The winner of the match will be the Western Six league champion.

A sloppy Canton defense in the first game let the Northville Mustangs catch up after the Chiefs held a five-point lead. But serving by senior Judy Freiman and fine spikes by junior Kelly Heaton gave Canton the win.

During the second game, the Chiefs got together again, taking a six-point lead early in the game. Senior Kathy Sochacki later placed six serves in a row over the net to give Canton the game and the match.

"Northville wasn't playing up to the standards it normally does," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein. "They're usually a very strong defensive team but Tuesday night they let the ball fall to the ground."

Earlier in the season Canton was victorious over Northville in the best two-out-of-three match, 10-15, 15-13 and 15-7.

The Canton JV also won its match against Northville, taking the Mustangs 15-8 and 15-6. The Canton junior varsity will battle Churchill holding a 7-8 season record.

Canton's following match will be the pre-regional elimination round against Livonia Stevenson Wednesday night at Canton. The match starts at 8 p.m.

Diving regionals tomorrow

Plymouth Canton's pool will be one of four sites around the state for regional diving competition, Tuesday beginning at 5 p.m.

The diving regional includes representatives from 55 Class A schools.

Admission for the event is $1.

County corporation to hunt for industry

Wayne County, in the near future, will open a new front in the struggle to bring new industry and jobs to the county.

Little trouble is expected in setting up the first countywide economic development corporation. Patterned after existing entities in several Michigan cities, the proposed non-profit corporation would try to entice industry through tax incentives and guranteed contruction loans. Few alternatives are expected to be proposed at a public hearing slated for March 2, and the the full county board of commissioners is expected to give the corporation the formal green light later that day.

"The Economic Development Corporation will be doing industrial development work every single day," said Commissioner Ed Harris (D-Taylor) one of the corporation's original supporters. "They'll be doing the hard-core work to bring in industry, to bring in jobs and to increase the county's tax base," he said.

Even if the development corporation is approved early next month as is expected, it will be at least three months before it can get down to doing those things that will attract industry and jobs.

According to Harris and other county spokesmen, the development group will not become a corporation until 60 days after Gov. William Milliken has signed the act of incorporation.

The proposed corporation will receive no county funds, but will be dependent on state and federal grants. According to Harris, the corporation's board of directors will serve on a voluntary basis, but its professional staff will be paid.

A large portion of its operating funds are expected to come in the form of grants from the Michigan Economic Development Incentive Corporation.

No one, however, would estimate how much money would be needed to run a viable development corporation.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN
ORDINANCE NO. 52A

An ordinance to amend the 1977 Building Code of the Township of Plymouth by amending the text of Part VII (S) (hh.), Part VII (S) (rr.) and adding Part VII (T) thereto.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. The 1977 Building Code of the Township of Plymouth, Ordinance No. 52, is hereby amended by amending Part VII (S) (hh.) to read as follows:

210-26(a) Dwelling Type Occupancies. At least one wall switch controlled lighting outlet shall be installed in every habitable room; in hallways, stairways, and attached garages; and at outdoor entrances.

At least one lighting outlet shall be installed in an attic underfloor space, utility room and basement where used for storage or containing equipment requiring servicing.

Wall switches located for convenient and readily accessible use shall be required for all ceiling lighting outlets, except closets, storage spaces and unfinished basements. Lighting outlets over sink and dinette portions of kitchens, in halls, vestibule, and at outdoor entrances, shall not be combined in any manner and shall be switched separately. If more than one lighting outlet is installed in any one of these areas, such lighting outlets shall be permitted to be combined on a single switch.

Laundry lighting outlet in dwelling type occupancies shall be provided for use in the laundry area and shall be permitted to be connected to the same circuit which supplies the laundry equipment receptacle outlet.

Exception No. 1: In habitable rooms, other than kitchens, or bathrooms, one or more receptacles controlled by a wall switch shall be permitted in lieu of lighting outlets.

Exception No. 2: In hallways, stairways, and at outdoor entrances remote, central, or automatic control of lighting shall be permitted.

PART II. The 1977 Building Code of the Township of Plymouth, Ordinance No. 52, is hereby amended by deleting Part VII (S) (rr.) therefrom in its entirety.

PART III. The 1977 Building Code of the Township of Plymouth, Ordinance No. 52, is hereby supplemented and amended by adding to Part VII the following:

T. Section 522.0. Sound Transmission Control in Residential Buildings.

522.1 Scope: This section shall apply to all common interior walls, partitions and floor-ceiling constructions between adjacent tenant units or between a tenant unit and adjacent public areas such as halls, corridors, stairs or service areas in all residential occupancies.

522.2 Airborne noise: Walls, partitions and floor-ceiling constructions separating tenant units from each other or from public or service areas shall have a sound transmission class (STC) of not less than forty-five (45) for airborne noise. This requirement shall not apply to dwelling unit entrance doors. However, such doors shall be tight fitting to the frame and sill.

522.2.1 Tested assemblies: All walls, partitions and floor-ceiling constructions tested in accordance with the applicable standard ASTM E90 listed in Appendix C and which meet the requirements for a forty-five (45) STC rating shall be considered as meeting the requirements of this section.

522.3 Structure-borne sound: Floor-ceiling constructions between tenant units and between a tenant unit and public or service areas within the structure shall have an impact insulation class (IIC) rating of not less than forty-five.

522.3.1 Tested assemblies: All floor-ceiling constructions tested in accordance with the applicable standard ASTM E492 listed in Appendix C and which meet the requirements for a forty-five (45) IIC rating shall be considered as meeting the requirements of this section.

PART IV. CONFLICTING PROVISIONS REPEALED. Any ordinance or parts of ordinance in conflict herewith are repealed save that in all other respects Ordinance No. 52 is hereby ratified and reaffirmed.

PART V. EFFECTIVE DATE. The provisions of this ordinance shall be, and the same hereby are, declared to be immediately necessary for the preservation of the public health, safety and general welfare and this ordinance shall be and the same hereby is, declared effective immediately after the date of the publication thereof.

PART VI. ADOPTION. This ordinance is adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth pursuant to the authority of Act No. 230 of the Public Acts of 1972, as amended, at a meeting duly called and held on the 28th day of February A.D., 1978, and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Congressional racket

Some may think politics is nothing but a racket. Politicians come and go replacing each other like in a game of musical chairs. How appropriate then for this sign that hangs next to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell's office doorway in Livonia. Pursell was once a state senator representing Redford. Sen. Robert Geake now fills that spot.

The Stroller

On coal mines

By W.W. EDGAR

Now that coal has been pushed to the center of the stage as a possible saviour of the nation's energy problem, it would be wonderful if the powers that be could also bring back the old communities where the coal was mined. They were referred to as "the coal regions," with effection and Pennsylvania became famous as the core of the area.

Back in the days before electric ranges replaced wood stoves in the kitchens and gas heaters sent the big furnaces in the basement into the limbo of forgotten things, the Pennsylvania coal regions were one of the most colorful sections of the country. And they furnished the color and drama of living long before the West was won.

Sitting in his easy chair the other evening The Stroller got to thinking what a wonderful thing it would be if these regions could be recreated just to give the youth of today some idea of the struggles and hardships those people endured to make the country possible.

As he sat there musing, The Stroller again had visions of his first contact with the coal regions. It wasn't that he traveled to any of the towns. Instead, he spent many an hour riding on the canal boats that hauled the coal from the mines, down the Lehigh canal, past his home town to the Deleware River and the steel mills along the way.

The home town was just a mile long—the distance between the locks—and it was part of a summer afternoon to get on the boat and ride the mile to the other end of town. Or to guide the mules that pulled the boats, or walk with them along the tow-paths.

As he looks back now it seems like another world to the Stroller and it just doesn't seem possible that excursion trains ran each Sunday from New York City and Philadelphia to the little town of Coaldale where the football games were the talk of the sports world.

NEVER WILL HE forget the first such game he saw in the little wooden stadium what was jammed to its 25,000 capacity (the population of Coaldale was only 10,000) for the battle to decide the championship of the coal regions. This is where professional football really was born.

Both teams had lined up some of the top college players in the state who would be playing under assumed names. But the thing that was unforgettable was that it had snowed the night before and no attempt was made to clear the field of snow.

Instead officials had taken coal dust and marked the yard lines. Just imagine a white field with black lines. But that is the way it was. The coal miners and their sons were rugged individuals, and nothing could stop them even though the yardlines were lost in the snow after the first 10 minutes of play.

The Stroller didn't realize until years later just how rugged the coal regions were. Then one afternoon he happened into the dressing room of one of the college coaches. As the coach stripped for his shower he unveiled a body that was filled with welts and bruises.

When asked what happened he said he had been told that he could pick up $125 easily by playing quarterback for the Pottsville team on the previous day. "That's how easy it was," he grunted.

AS THE STROLLER sat musing of those days, another fond memory came into focus. It was the year I took my bride on her first trip to Pennsylvania in one of the first Model A Fords we decided to drive.

But by the time we got to Scranton, it was late and we were tired. We decided to remain there for the night. Next morning as we walked up the Main Street she mentioned purchasing small gifts of jewelry for her friends back home.

"Don't send them gold or silver," The Stroller cautioned. "Send them coal." She looked stunned. But sure enough at the next jewelry store there was one display window that had nothing but articles made from coal.

She didn't believe it. But you can imagine the thrill of her friends when they started wearing jewelry "that came right out of the coal mines of Pennsylvania."

Citizens election group sets meeting

A planning meeting of the Citizens Election Committee has been set for Thursday, March 9.

It will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the school board office at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

The leadership, activities and meeting times of the committee will be decided by its members. All committee meetings are open to the public and participation by anyone interested is invited.

The committee was established by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education to advise and assist in informing voters on the issues of the April 27 millage election.

TWO BALLOT propositions will be submitted to voters at the April 27 election.

The first proposal asks for a renewal of three mills plus 1½ additional mills for a period of five years to provide funds for the operating budget.

The second proposal seeks voter approval of a ½ mill to be an earmarked operational levy for building maintenance. The ½ mill is not a debt-retirement levy, as previously reported by this newspaper, to pay off a bond issue for new school construction. The ½ mill, instead, will generate income into the operating budget but that revenue would be earmarked for building maintenance and expansion.

Tanger plans science fair

(The following was written by the primary publicity team of Tanger Elementary School. The writers are Geoff Krause, Pat Sowers, Mike Sheehy, Greg Pratt and Heather Bolton.)

The kids at Tanger are making a Science Fair. It is going to be at Tanger School on Five Mile Road near Haggerty Road.

The Science Fair will be on Saturday, March 11, from 9 to 2. It will be in the library, office, class rooms, commons, and halls.

Some of the projects will be dinosaur models, shells, and pictures of the solar system and lots more.

You are invited, we hope you will come.

2 voc-tech courses are added by SC

Schoolcraft College's applied sciences program will be richer by two programs next fall. Meanwhile, the college will drop another vocational-technical program.

The board approved adding the electro-mechanical drafting program, which is expected to draw 27 students per year. "There are 100 job openings a year," said Thad Diebel, dean of applied arts and sciences. "It's a short program providing immediate employability. It will use current facilities and equipment."

Fred Stefanski, academic coordinator, said, "A local electronic drafting firm made the initial request for student graduates with salable skills than heretofore available."

The course consists of two drafting courses, four electricity-electronics courses and one math course. Those completing the 24 credit hours can accept a certificate and take a job or continue to the two-year associate degree.

AN AUTOMOTIVE apprenticeship program leading to an associate degree in applied science is expected to draw 20 students the first year and 80 by the third.

"The program was developed at the request of the Livonia Industry-Education Council and the Detroit Automobile Dealers Association," said Stefanski.

Fernon Feenstra, assistant dean, said, "Vehicles today are more complex. Dealers need to fill a void (in auto maintenance) because service stations are increasingly only pumping gas. The community is 100 per cent in support of this program."

The program will have 38 hours of specialized apprentice courses—auto electrical systems, engine diagnosis, brake and chassis repair, and the like—along with more general courses in shop math, academic math, welding, technical writing, American government, speech fundamentals and human relations.

DROPPED WAS a program in metallurgy engineering technology, which currently has only four students.

"In the future," said Stefanski, "the occasional student preparing to become a metallurgical engineer should pursue the first two years of the engineering curricula.

"These programs have prescribed courses in the curriculum guides supplied by the engineering colleges."

Household energy savings

A major concern of students enrolled in the household equipment course at Eastern Michigan is energy conservation. The course is aimed at teaching how to run homes more efficiently, such as using an electric blanket to lower heating costs. From left are Peggy Pedler of Ypsilanti, Marti Peterson of Plymouth, Prof. Anita Fielder and Barbara Swanson of Plymouth. Marti, daughter of Floyd and Barbara Peterson of Greenbrook, and Barbara, daughter of Richard and Betty Swanson of Charnwood, are both studying foods and business.

Install heat pump

If you're planning to replace your present heating system or are building a new home, consider installing a heat pump. They are practical in many areas of the nation, according to the National Association of Realtors.

A heat pump absorbs heat from outside air and distributes it inside the home. In the summer, the unit absorbs heat from inside air and discharges it outside.

Although individual installation of a heat pump may prove costly, manufacturers claim a fuel savings of about 50 per cent.

Presnell heads health board

Wayne County Commissioner Thomas Presnell (D-Westland) has been elected chairman of the Detroit-Wayne County Community Mental Health Board that annually oversees about $30 million worth of services for mental health and retardation.

Presnell, who was elected by the other 11 members of health board, has served as vice-chairman since March of last year.

The joint mental health board is the planning, evaluating, coordinating and funding agency for 40 mental health and retardation agencies in the county.

EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS ORDINANCE

ORDINANCE NO. LIV

AN ORDINANCE enacted pursuant to Act No. 390, Public Acts of 1976, as amended, to provide protection and recovery from natural and man-made disaster within the Township of Plymouth, to create the Plymouth Township Emergency Preparedness Department and prescribe its powers and duties, to provide for a coordinator of emergency services and prescribe the powers and duties of said position, to prescribe immunities and liabilities, to provide for the acceptance of gifts, to provide for the filing of ordinances and rules with the township clerk, and to repeal ordinances in conflict herewith.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. PURPOSE. The Township of Plymouth in order to implement on a local level the provisions of the Emergency Preparedness Act and pursuant to Act 360, Public Acts of 1976, as amended, being Sections 30.401, et seq., C.L. '48, and to provide for the public health, safety and welfare of persons and property within the Township of Plymouth and to provide protection and recovery from natural and man-made disaster within the Township of Plymouth, to create the Plymouth Township Emergency Preparedness Department and prescribe its powers and duties, to provide for a coordinator of emergency services and prescribe the powers and duties of said position, to prescribe immunities and liabilities, to provide for the acceptance of gifts, to provide for the filing of ordinances and rules with the township clerk, and to repeal ordinances in conflict herewith, and for all of the aforesaid reasons, the Township of Plymouth hereby ordains and adopts the Emergency Preparedness Ordinance the provisions of which are set forth in Part II. PART II. EMERGENCY PREPAREDNESS ORDINANCE, Plymouth Township Ordinance No.

1. This ordinance shall be known and may be cited as the "Emergency Preparedness Ordinance."

2. Each person within the Township of Plymouth shall conduct himself and manage his affairs and property in ways that will reasonable assist and will not unreasonably detract from the ability of the Township of Plymouth and the public to successfully meet a disaster. This obligation includes appropriate personal service and the use or restriction of the use of property in time of disaster. "Disaster" means an occurrence or imminent threat of widespread or severe damage, injury, or loss of life or property resulting from a natural or man-made cause, including fire, flood, snow, ice, windstorm, wave action, oil spill, water contamination requiring emergency action to avert danger or damage, utility failure, hazardous peacetime radiological incident, major transportation accident, epidemic, air contamination, blight, drought, infestation, explosion, or hostile military or para-military action. Riots and other civil disorders are not within the meaning of this term unless they directly result from and are an aggravating element of the disaster.

3. The Department of Emergency Preparedness is established and shall have powers and duties as provided in this ordinance and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees may from time to time enact by resolution.

4. The Department of Emergency Preparedness shall be supervised by the Coordinator of emergency preparedness. The Coordinator shall be appointed by the Supervisor with the approval of the Board of Trustees. The Coordinator may be the County of Wayne Coordinator of emergency preparedness.

5. Subject to the prior written approval of the Supervisor, or, in the absence or inability to serve of the Supervisor, of the Clerk, and subject to the ratification of all such action by the Board of Trustees at its next regular meeting or at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees called for such purpose, the Coordinator shall have the power and authority:

(a) To appropriate and expend funds, make funds, make obtain and distribute equipment, materials, and supplies for disaster purposes.

(b) To provide for the health and safety of persons and property, including emergency assistance to the victims of a disaster.

(c) To direct and coordinate the development of disaster plans and programs in accordance with the policies and plans established by the appropriate federal and state agencies.

(d) To appoint, employ, remove, or provide, with or without compensation, rescue teams, auxiliary fire and police personnel, and other disaster workers.

(e) If a state of disaster is declared by the governor, to assign and make available for duty, the employees, property, or equipment of the Township relating to fire fighting; engineering, rescue; health, medical, and related services; police; transportation; construction; and similar items or service for disaster relief purposes within or without the physical limits of the Township as ordered by the governor or the director of the department of state police.

(f) In the event of a foreign attack upon this state, to waive procedures and formalities otherwise required by law pertaining to the performance of public work, entering into contracts, the incurring of obligations, the employment of permanent and temporary workers, the utilization of volunteer workers, the rental of equipment, the purchase and distribution with or without compensation of supplies, materials, and facilities, and the appropriation and expenditure of public funds.

(g) The Coordinator may develop or cause to be developed mutual aid arrangements with other public and private agencies within this state for reciprocal aid and assistance in case of a disaster too great to be dealt with unassisted. The arrangement shall be consistent with the Michigan emergency preparedness plan and program. In time of emergency the Township Department of Emergency Preparedness shall render assistance in accordance with the mutual aid arrangement.

(h) The Coordinator may assist in negotiation of a reciprocal aid agreement or compact made pursuant to section 30.404(a), C.L. '48, and shall carry out the agreement of compact.

6. (a) If a disaster occurs in the Township and is beyond the control of local public or private agencies, the Supervisor may request the governor to declare that a state of disaster exists therein, utilizing the procedure set forth in section 30.414, C.L. '48.

(b) The Township Board of Trustees may make, amend, and rescind ordinances or rules necessary for emergency services purposes and supplementary to a rule, order, or directive issued by the governor or a state agency exercising a power delegated to it by him. The ordinance or rule shall be temporary and upon the governor's declaration that a state of disaster is terminated, shall no longer be in effect.

7. (a) In the event of a foreign attack upon this state, an ordinance or rule of the Township shall have the full force and effect of law when a copy thereof is filed in the office of the Township Clerk. All existing laws, ordinances, and rules in conflict with this ordinance, or with any order, rule, or directive issued under the authority of this act, shall be suspended during the period of time and to the extent that a conflict exists.

(b) All action taken under this ordinance and all orders, rules, and directives made pursuant thereto shall be taken or made with due consideration to the relevant orders, rules, regulations, actions, recommendations and requests of federal authorities and, to the extent permitted by law, shall be consistent with those orders, rules, regulations, actions, recommendations and requests.

PART III. This ordinance is declared to be in full force and effect on and after April 6, 1978.

PART IV. Ordinance No. XVIII, known as the Civil Defense Ordinance, of the Township of Plymouth is repealed on the effective date of the Emergency Preparedness Ordinance.

This ordinance was duly adopted at a regular meeting of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees held on February 28, 1978, and ordered to be published in the manner provided by law.

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

'Serpent's Egg' reveals horror without any hope

One generally doesn't go to an Ingmar Bergman film for a cheery evening! The psychiatric probings and themes of sickness and death leave one emotionally spent.

Still, it's usually worth the experience. There is some rewarding salvage, some confrontation with truth that leads the viewer to new insights about people and relationships. However, in "The Serpent's Egg" (R), there is no reward for the viewer. Bergman has broadened his range of concerns from the intensely personal to the social and political, but the change of scale has brought no new insights. Set in Berlin in 1923, this is his most oppressive and gloomy film.

There is a palpable feeling of evil captured by Sven Nykvist's camera work. Fear seems to rise up like a stench from the streets. Money is worthless; a package of cigarettes costs four billion marks. The government is falling apart, Hitler is preparing a putsch in Munich, and strange cries and rumblings are heard in the night.

A dead horse is butchered in the street where it fell, and bloody pieces of meat are sold to passersby. In the cabaret, midgets, female impersonators and whorish dancers undulate to strident, brassy music.

WITH ITS DECADENCE, poverty and brutality, life in Berlin resembles a chamber of horrors. One chanracter says, "I wake up from a nightmare and find out that real life is worse than the dream."

In the midst of this madness are David Carradine and Liv Ullmann. Carradine plays Abel Rosenberg, an American Jew, and Ullmann is his sister-in-law, Manuela. They are circus trapeze artists who were stranded in Berlin when the third member of their act, Abel's brother and Manuela's husband, hurt his wrist and, later committed suicide.

Never have two leading characters been so terribly miscast. Carradine, tall and gangly, bears no resemblance to a graceful aerial artist. Moreover, his monotonously flat delivery does nothing to enhance the character. Abel is a surly, self-pitying alcoholic with whom it is impossible to empathize, in spite of his dreadful tribulations.

Liv Ullmann, wearing garish makeup and a frizzy green wig, sings dirty cabaret songs and looks like Little Orphan Annie trying to pass as a second-rate Marlene Dietrich. She has a Spanish name, sings in German and and talks to officials in Scandinavian-accented English because, she explains, her German is so poor.

when Abel gets a job working in the cell-like archives of an ominous clinic, he and Manuela move into an apartment the clinic provides. At odd hours they hear the sounds of a motor running and a sinister terror seems to be closing in on them, just as politically a sinister terror is enveloping Germany.

THE MAD DOCTOR who uses the clinic as a center for cruel experiments on human beings describes Germany's course to a stunned Abel., "It's like a serpent's egg," he explains, "through the thin membrane you can clearly discern the already perfect reptile."

This nnightmare world of Berlin in the '20s has been explored many times before. Bergman's venture gives us no new focus or interpretation. Indeed, it is one of the most despairing.

Taken as a whole, it seems to argue the futility of being rational in an irrational world. Yet, what else is there? If man abdicates his rational role, what is left but the serpent?

Redford film series to feature musicals

The presentation of the film "The Sound of Music" on March 10 and 11 at 8 p.m. will mark the beginning of a series of movie musicals to be presented bi-weekly at the Redford Theatre, 17360 Lahser, Detroit.

The series is sponsored by the Motor City Theatre Organ Society, Inc., which recently bought the theater.

The films and dates of the series are as follows: "The Sound of Music," March 10 and 11; "Easter Parade," March 24 and 25; "The King and I," April 7 and 8; "Show Boat," April 21 and 22; "Hello Dolly!" May 5 and 6; "Carousel," May 19 and 20; "Singin' in the Rain," June 2 and 3; and "Brigadoon," June 16 and 17. All performances begin at 8 p.m.

As a special feature before each performance, an organ overture will be played by an area organist on the Redford Theatre's 1928 Barton Theatre Pipe Organ. Organ overtures begin at 7:30 p.m.

TICKETS FOR the films are available at the Redford Theatre box office, Master Candies, 17340 Lahser, and by mail. A ticket order form may be obtained by writing to the Redford Theatre, 17360 Lahser, Detroit 48219.

Some of the films in the series, including "The Sound of Music," will be presented in 70mm and 6-channel stereo—methods known for picture clarity and realistic sound. The Redford Theatre recently finished the installation of 70mm projectors and 6-channel sound equipment, which was rescued by members of the Motor City Theatre Organ Society when Detroit's last Cinerama movie house—The Summit—fell under the wrecker's ball earlier this year.

Jazz band to appear

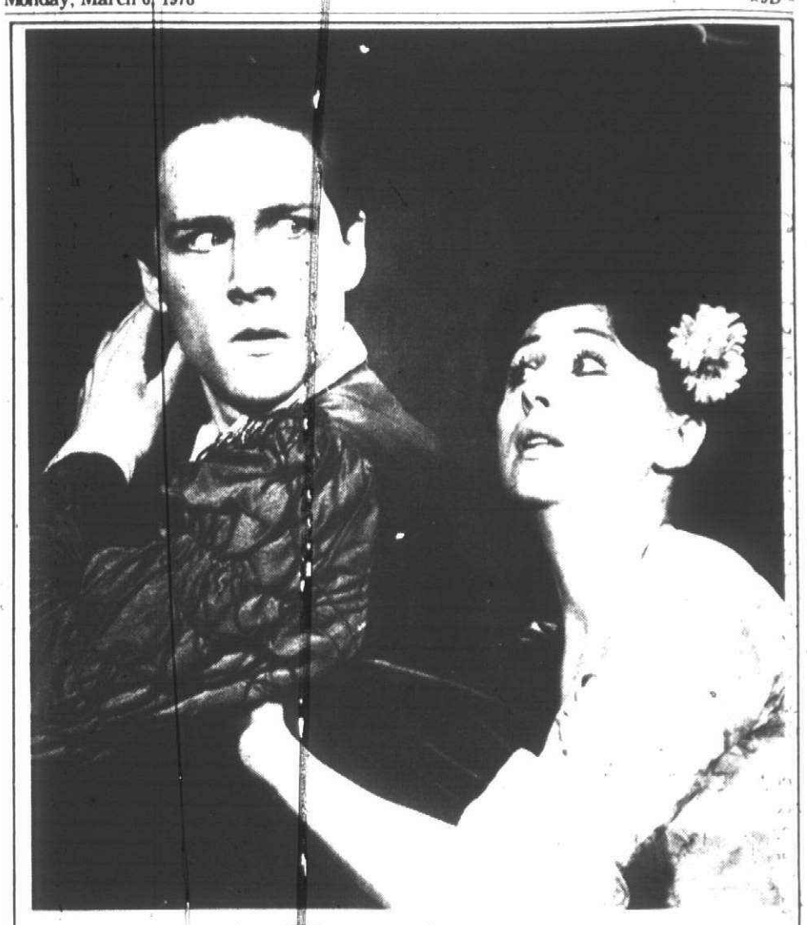

The legendary Preservation Hall Jazz Band from New Orleans will return to Music Hall Center in Detroit at 8:30 p.m.

Long one of Music Hall's most popular attractions, and among the jazz greats, the Preservation Hall Jazz Band perpetuates the music its members developed in the early part of the century.

Their sound originated in saloons and riverboats, the docks and street parades. The result is a happy and sad mix of rhythms, tempo and spirit allowing each musician his freedom of expression, yet remaining distinctly "New Orleans."

The original Preservation Hall, located in the French Quarter of New Orleans, is a popular attraction for tourists and a shrine to musicians from around the world. It is still home to the Jazz Band when not on tour.

Tickets for the concert may be ordered by calling the Music Hall box office at 963-7680, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

True love

The course of true love never did run smooth. So the characters Lysander and Hermia, played by Richard Gustin and Rhonda Smith, discover in the Shakespeare comedy "A Midsummer Night's Dream" which opens Wednesday at the Hilberry Theatre at Wayne State University in Detroit. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. For more information or reservations, call the box office at 577-2972.

Chimps are film topic

"Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees" is the March 11 film at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

The National Geographic Society film, at 2, 3 and 4 p.m., is free with museum admission of $2.25 for adults and $1.25 for students and senior citizens.

Admission also includes planetarium demonstrations at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. and entrance to the annual Maple Sugar Festival from 1 to 5 p.m.

The 30-minute documentary illustrates Jane Goodall's chimpanzee and animal behavior research in East Africa.

Film precedes an April lecture by Miss Goodall sponsored by the Institute of Science. Miss Goodall will speak at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 23, in the Seaholm auditorium at Cranbrook and Lincoln in Birmingham. Tickets—$5.50 for adults and $4.50 for students—may be purchased at the museum, 500 Lone Pine.

Cranbrook Institute of Science is a natural history museum that conducts research and offers programs and classes for adults and children.

On the increase

Part-timers upset SC union

By TIM RICHARD

Faculty Forum leaders are pressing the Schoolcraft College board for open discussion of an issue that has been bothering them at least four years.

The number of administrators and part-time instructors has been increasing throughout the 1970s, but the number of full-time faculty has stayed the same.

"Our part-time instructors are good teachers," said Forum Vice-President William G. Nickels, adding:

"But many are forced to divide their time and energy among more than one institution or share their time with Schoolcraft and full-time employment."

NICKELS SPOKE during the audience participation segment of the Feb. 22 college board meeting. But while his Forum position paper generated some discussion of the actual number of administrative positions on campus, it failed to get board members to discuss the full-time versus part-time issue.

Nickels said he would bring up the question again.

The full- and part-time question has been discussed in collective bargaining strategy sessions, but the board has never addressed it publicly.

"The problem is national in scope," said Nickels. "A recent higher education journal stated that administration is the only growth industry in education. Two new administrative positions have been created at Schoolcraft College this year."

THE FIGURES compiled by the Forum and President C. Nelson Grote show:

- From 1971-77, the number of full-time faculty—including librarians and counselors—has risen by only a handful—from 157 to 162.
- In the same period, the number of part-time faculty has more than doubled—from 112 to 231.
- Again in the same period, the number of credit hours taken by students has risen 12 per cent—from 55,600 to 65,200.
- There was disagreement about how many administrators have been added. The beginning figure was 30; the current figure is either 36 (Nickels') or 38 (Grote's). Grote said the big change came when seven persons in "unclassified" positions were transferred into the administrators' bargaining unit.

THE ADMINISTRATION did respond to the Forum's charge of "bureaucratic proliferation of administrative personnel" with these arguments:

1) While credit hours have risen 12 per cent, the actual number of students increased far more, and there was a pronounced trend toward students' taking lighter credit loads. Thus, the work of admissions and business personnel increased far more than the number of credit hours might indicate.

2) As the part-time faculty more than doubled, administrative workload increased, justifiably.

3) The Forum's figures failed to consider community service courses—the non-credit music appreciation and exercise kinds of courses that have soared in popularity during the Grote administration. These require administrative time, but don't contribute to the number of credit hours.

IN AN INTERVIEW with this newspaper, Nickels said he could only guess at the reasons the college doubled part-time faculty while holding full-time faculty level.

One reason might be that a part-timer isn't entitled to fringe benefits—insurance, pension and vacation—which can amount to one-third the value of the salary.

Another reason, he guessed, might be that community sources could be tapped for specialized courses where the college couldn't afford to hire a full-timer.

Nickels, a chemistry instructor, said the faculty union had attempted to negotiate some ratio between full-time and part-time faculty, but without success.

The Forum has an ally in Trustee Mark McQuesten, who has long opposed the trend to hiring part-timers at the expense of full-timers.

"A decision has to be made on part-time instructors," said Nickels. "To have more part-timers than full-timers is bad for Schoolcraft College."

Bill sets guidelines for plastic money

By MIKE SCANLON

How does the idea of computerized money grab you?

Nobody thinks twice anymore about playing games with computers, and some people have used them for years to line up dates.

But how about letting them balance the checkbook? How about letting them replace the checkbook?

The day of computerized money in Michigan may dawn sooner than you think, if a bill State Rep. William Keith (D-Garden City) has spent the last several months shepherding past wary bankers and consumer groups becomes law.

Now awaiting action on the house floor, the bill sets guidelines for the use of Electronic Fund Transfer Systems (EFTS).

EFTS is basically plastic money—but plastic money like you've never seen it before.

EFTS have the potential to virtually eliminate cash from your life.

"If people are afraid of it, they won't use it," said Keith. "They won't have to. But it's convenient for the consumer and it's money-saving to the financial institutions."

EFTS involve the use of computer terminals to transfer money from one account to another. That could be, say, from your account to a department store's.

The primary difference between EFTS and existing forms of "plastic money," like credit cards or Automated Teller cards is that the transaction involves two accounts and it is immediate.

By pushing a few buttons, a store clerk can determine if there really is the $90 in your account you'll need to that vacuum cleaner.

But, the clerk can't find out if there's any more than that.

If you get the vacuum cleaner home only to find out it doesn't work, you've got up to four days to stop payment on the fund transfer.

Within four days of buying the vacuum cleaner, you'll get a paper statement about the purchase, in addition to monthly paper statements on all activity within your account.

If your card for performing EFTS transactions is lost or stolen, or if you're forced to use it against your will to withdraw funds, you won't be liable for any loss. By contrast, existing plastic money laws leave the account holder liable for the first $50 charged to lost or stolen credit cards.

Financial institutions favor the bill for a number of reasons. Keith estimates it will reduce costly paperwork for cashing checks by 85 to 90 per cent.

It may also offer large banks an "out" to Michigan's often complicated banking laws. Broadly stated, the laws now prevent large banks from expanding as much as some of them would like.

However, a large bank could establish an EFTS computerized terminal anywhere in the state. You'd think that would upset small bankers—and at least one small bankers' group, the Michigan Association of Community Bankers, does oppose the bill.

But EFTS terminals anywhere except at an already-chartered bank would have to be available to anyone, even customers of competing banks.

The same "extras" now offered for checking accounts would probably be options for EFTS accounts. At least, services like guaranteed check writing—actually an open-end loan account—would not be prohibited under Keith's EFTS bill.

You'll also be free to establish any restrictions on use of the account that you like. You can set a limit for the number of allowable transactions in any one day, for instance, or set a maximum amount that can be charged using an EFTS card.

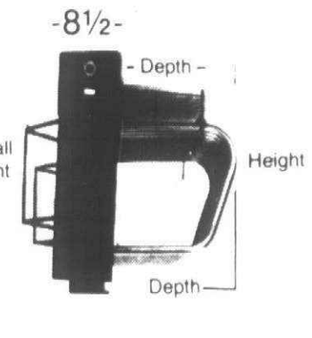

And EFTS lays open, at least technologically speaking, the possibility that some day you can sit at home in your easy chair and pay all your bills and do your shopping simply by watching television display the wares. Your telephone could be used to transfer funds.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

WHAT DO YOU do when you sight an unidentified flying object?

Judy Hinote and her son were driving south on Napier when they spotted one at North Territorial.

It was hovering about 30 feet over the ground, according to Judy's estimate. A very bright spotlight flicked over the ground. There were four lights, one on each side, but they could not determine the shape of the craft. It made no sound and "the lights were not in the right place for a helicopter."

Mrs. Hinote wanted to stop and observe the UFO, but her son persuaded her to head for home before they were "zapped."

She called the state police, the sheriff department, Selfridge field, and two television stations. She was told her first move should have been to report it to someone. She thought she had done a pretty thorough job of reporting it.

by ELLIE GRAHAM

TIM FORD, Plymouth police chief, gave the same advice when asked, "What do you do when you see a UFO?"

"The first thing to do is observe it carefully, then call us. We have a direct line to the UFO sighting center in Chicago.

"The sighter should give his name, address and telephone number—they have to be accountable. They have to tell where they saw it, when they saw it and the direction it was traveling.

"They should give their estimate of size, shape and color. Was there any sound? What was its estimated speed of travel. The more details, the better."

Ford added, "About every two years we get a new sticker with the directive to call this number to report UFO sightings. The national center is operational and they want the information."

When asked if the center was a United Staes government organization, he said he did not know who funded it, "but it's there and we will make immediate contact when sightings are reported to us."

The chief said he believed in the probability of extraterrestrial observers and residents should not hesitate to report their observations of UFOs. "But they should have very definite information," he said.

The number for the Plymouth Police Department is 453-1234.

BALLOONS, large callico bows and greenery decorated the ballroom of the Plymouth Hilton for the Plymouth Newcomers Club 20th anniversary dinner dance.

About 180 persons enjoyed the filet mignon dinner and dancing to the music of the "Blue Menagerie."

Jim Groat, husband of club president Jan Groat, was master of ceremonies. Local merchants were generous in their contributions of prizes which added to the evening activities. Charyl and John Weber won the weekend at the Hilton.

Not many former newcomers attended the party. Vivian Champion, founder of the club, was unable to be there. Rita and Bill Pence recalled that they taught ballroom dancing to a group when they were members 13 years ago.

Next big one will be the 25th anniversary in 1983.

BACK IN HIS early teens, Jim Pritchett had one dream. He wanted to make music and someday cut a record.

In those days, he and three other Plymouth boys—Bob Carley, Larry Livingston and Leonard Cole—had a band which played for parties and dances.

His next band was "Jim Pritchett and the Nashville Coalition" which was booked at Club Canton for seven years.

The band moved on to other night spots and now is touring the midwestern states. A new agent changed the name of the group to "Time Piece." And to top it off, they cut their first album last September.

Jim's parents are Doy and Esta Pritchett of Harding in Plymouth.

FIFTH GRADERS, 115 of them from Farrand Elementary School, recently spent a couple days at Greenfield Village.

To teachers James Grinenko, Harold Adas and Ronald Beier, and to the 20 parents who went along as chaperones, you will recover—in time.

It was a brisk schedule. They left the school at noon Thursday and left the village at 2 p.m. Friday. During that time, they walked half a mile to the Clinton Inn to eat, swam, played volleyball, walked all over the village, went on a sleighride, walked half a mile to the Clinton Inn, and looked after their charges.

THE AAUW is collecting books for its annual used book sale later this spring.

Hats were back. Mary Stanczyk, (from left) wore a natural straw with her generously cut khaki suit. Ruth Davis wore a navy straw with a pale blue jacket dress piped with navy and sporting a navy and white polka dot scarf, while Darlene Hilfinger's off-white suit was topped by a white straw.

Straw hats and ruffles return to fashion scene

Billy Anderson modeled a khaki safari suit while Susan Postell wore a white eyelet embroidered dress with a pink carnation tucked in the bow of her pink satin sash. The dress comes with a white sash for a first communion.

Hats were back with the new windswept forward look in hairstyles revealing soft curls.

Fabrics ranged from crisp khakis to floaty sheers. There were earth tones, soft pastel paisleys, off whites and lush peach shades.

The clothes were from Jacobson's, Ann Arbor, and the models were members of the Plymouth Newcomers Club, their husbands and children. The luncheon and fashion show attracted more than 250 newcomers and guests.

Konnie Stark of Jacobson's was commentator assisted by Pat Hann who described the women's hairstyles created at the House of Glamour and Mayflower salons and the men's new shorter look styled at Mel's Golden Razor.

Models were Ruth Davis, Janet English, Lura Hanschu, Darlene Hilfinger, Penny Roehl, Mary Stanczyk, Carolyn Stevens and Phyllis Way. Bill Roehl and Chuck Vanerian modeled the men's clothing and Billy Anderson and Susan Postell wore the children's fashions.

Guests at the luncheon-fashion show filled the upper dining room at Nicky's of Idyl Wyld.

Penny Roehle wore a soft dusty pink paisley shawl over a blue dress with very soft lines and a keyhole neckline. Her husband Bill's jacket was 100 per cent pure silk.

She saw an idea become a tradition

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Lillian Roe is looking forward to the 28th annual white breakfast at First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. She hasn't missed one. In fact, Mrs. Roe is the founder of the Maundy Thursday event sponsored by the Women's Association of the church.

There was a good deal of reminiscing as committee members planned the white breakfast which will be March 23.

Lillian Roe (seated left) initiated the first White Breakfast in 1950, starting a tradition in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. Planning this year's breakfast on March 23 are Bobbi Wolf (seated) and (standing, from left) Carol Dodge, Doris Richard and Billie McLaren. (Staff photo)

"It all started out of loneliness," said Mrs. Roe. "I needed a project."

After her husband, Russell, died in 1947, Lillian Roe found her days long and lonely. In the spring of 1949 she was visiting in Muskegon and attended a white breakfast at First Methodist Church. She was very touched by the solemnity and beauty of the pre-Easter gathering.

"It was a beautiful thing—the white lilies, the very purity of it. My friends suggested, 'Why don't you get involved?'

"I BROUGHT BACK two ideas from that trip, the white breakfast and the church plates," said Mrs. Roe.

"The church plates were plates with pictures of the church on them which we ordered and sold," explained Billie McLaren, who is chairing the actual food part of the white breakfast.

"My circle, Circle I, took it the first two years. Then Circle 4 took it. After that it became an association thing, the whole Women's Association worked on it.

"James Gallimore made the large and small white crosses for the first breakfast. Ed Cutler made the door. It should be around here some place. It was beautiful."

Cutler was a local artist. He worked with Henry Ford in establishing Greenfield Village. "When Mr. Ford found an old building for the village, Ed Cutler went along and sketched the whole thing in its present state. They travelled all over the state, New England and Canada. After the building was taken down and moved to the village, Ed was there with his sketches to see it was reassembled in its original form," said Mrs. Roe.

Dunning's and Goldstein's, the two department stores on Main Street, loaned them mannikins for the day. They dressed them and arranged them outside Cutler's door—a family going to church.

"IN THE DAYS of hats, it was a pre-Easter fashion show," recalled Mrs. McLaren.

"Everyone was so dressed up," agreed Mrs. Roe. "We used to have 225 women. Last year we had 154." The committee said the drop in attendance was due to two factors—a fire marshal ruling that they limit attendance to 168 and some loss of interest.

Then there was the smoking situation.

"When we started, we never dreamed of anyone smoking at a white breakfast," said Mrs. Roe. "The time came when everyone seemed to be smoking. We suggested that perhaps we could ask for no smoking. They said, 'Good! We'll cut it out right now.' That was the end of it."

Speaker at the first breakfast was "a Mrs. McDonald from Ann Arbor. She was a house mother over there. Her son was a pilot who lived in Plymouth."

First Presbyterian in Plymouth was the first church in the area to have a white breakfast. The idea spread to Northville and to Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

The format for the breakfast has remained the same. First there is organ music to set the solemn mood. This is followed by a guest speaker, vocal music and the brunch.

"I REMEMBER the time the guest speaker didn't show up," said Mrs. McLaren. "I was working in the kitchen. The organ music went on and on and on. I thought it would never stop."

"We called the speaker, a minister from Detroit, and he was just getting out of bed, he'd forgotten all about it. Henry Walch (their own minister) filled in at the last minute," Mrs. Roe smiled.

The conversation turned to other church activities.

There was the Sunday afternoon youth group meeting: "I made enough cocoa to float the Queen Mary for those," said Mrs. Roe.

Carol Dodge recalled the penny suppers during the Depression:

"It was a social event, everyone came. Every family brought a dish to pass. They were priced so many pennies a serving. You could get a good meal for a quarter."

"We used to make doughnuts all day Saturday. We took orders for them to be picked up after church," Mrs. Roe added.

BUT TRADITION goes on.

Tickets for the March 23 white breakfast are now available in the church office on Church Street. Admission is $2.25.

It is ecumenical in concept, with women of all churches attending the devotions and breakfast.

Dorothy Crawford will play the organ. Karen Chapin and Judy Slade will sing a duet.

Guest speaker will be Serena Vassady, wife of a University of Michigan professor of theology. Mrs. Vassady and her three children survived the occupation of Hungary during World War II. They came to America in 1946.

She is an author, poet, lecturer and representative for the Hungarian Reform Presbyterian Women's Federation. She also is a member of the Advisory Board for the United Presbyterian Center for Mission Studies and the Committee on Ecumenical Missions.

Doris Richard is chairing the breakfast with the help of Bobbi Wolf, president of the Women's Association, and the four circles in the association.

Doris Rorabacher planned the menu which will begin with fruit juice followed by chicken ala king on patty shells, a molded cranberry and orange salad, and assorted muffins.

Crickets can sign for April session

from your house

By Lori Brickman

981-0237

Here I go again, discussing ways to rid yourself of the winter blues. This time the advice is directed at our little ones suffering from "cabin fever".

The Canton Parks and Recreation Dept. is offering Tot Time to children, ages 3 and 4, living in the township.

The Cricket program, as it is called, is in the Recreation Center on Michigan Avenue, Tuesday and Thursday from 9-11 a.m. Cost for each child is $10 per week for a 10-week session.

The first two classes are filled and began the week of Feb. 13 and continue until the week of April 17. Two other sessions will begin April 25 and 27 and continue to July 11 (no meeting July 4) and July 6.

Connie Flynn is director and teacher of the Crickets. Their activities include crafts, low organized games, story hour, special events and snack time.

Boys and girls attending the Tuesday session are Michael Witten, Tracey Kranez, Jeffrie Goodman, Robie Morgan, Donna Kurdupski, Brian Cronan, Tamara Burns and Melanie Nicole.

Equally excited about attending school are J.J. Hisey, Jason Cunningham, Terah Jene Pernak, Sarah Little, Julie Zmyslo, Kristina Strickland and Mark Armstrong.

Thursday classes are filled with the smiling, eager faces of Sean Flynn, Jennifer Eaton, Keri Lynn Barczewski, Dawn Jedrusik, Tamara Burns, Rochelle Marie Gotts, Kristen Hauncher and Eric Wachlarz.

Last but never least are preschoolers Michael Franks, Shawn McNamara, Tarah Jene Pernak, Jeffrey Kley, Erik Bronk, Michael Van Hoose and Jessica Okon.

A special thank you to Sheri Slavin at the recreation department for supplying the list of names and their proper spellings. Such patience deserves a medal.

THE CANTON Seniors and Royal Senior Citizens have had a very busy month. But, they still found time to honor their members celebrating February birthdays.

Canton Seniors Dan Cummings, Frank Webber, Angela Hyrb, Alfrieda Jarrett and Adam Barou were in a festive mood. Margaret Dowd, Ann Rajda, Winnifred Mitchell, Hilda Hayden and Woodrow Sturtevant are all one year older and a little wiser.

Royal Seniors Mike Gootee, Irene Whitney, Shelly Brintnell, Helen Krumm, Louise Wheeker, Mary Woods and Harry Martell are all one year wiser and a little older.

Canton Township's senior of the month is Marie Napier. She is past 72 and proud to tell her age to friends.

Marie has worked almost all her life, except four years at home with her children. She has two daughters, Clara Lacroix of Lapeer, and Jean Williams who lives in Florida.

Her grandchildren number five, and a sixth soon will debut. She tries to keep in touch with all her family members no matter how far away they move.

Marie worked nearly 30 years in the banking business and also worked at the Ford Motor Co. during the war as a mechanic.

Presently, Marie is working at the Canton Recreation Center during the daily senior luncheons. She hopes to continue her rewarding work unless she gets the urge to return to Florida and its sunny climate.

Township senior citizen, Bettee Potts has agreed to instruct a class in ballroom dancing for seniors. The first lesson was Monday, Feb. 6 at 10 a.m. in the Recreation Hall.

Bettee also is sharing her talents by helping seniors organize their upcoming Spring Revue. She will be in charge of dance choreography and costumes.

CONGRATULATIONS to the cast and behind the scenes people responsible for this year's AAUW children's play, "Hansel and Gretel." Your efforts were appreciated by more than a thousand happy children and their parents.

The Plymouth branch membership also enjoyed a special treat at their February meeting courtesy of the associations hostesses.

Nutritious breads were the highlight of the social hour. They were baked by Bonnie Graham, Deanna Huff, Geraldine Barloge, Gail Conte and Ann Wisniewski.

THIS MONTH'S prize winners at a local pinochle club meeting were Chris Dawes, Sally Barnard and Betty Johnson. The February hostess was Camille Zornow.

A SPECIAL get well wish is extended to Canton resident Marty Chandler. A musician with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and active community volunteer, Marty is recuperating from surgery at University of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor.

ROBERT BAKE ~ Realtor

1005 W. Ann Arbor Trail
Plymouth 453-8200

OVER THE YEARS ITS CHARM WILL HARDLY DIMINISH. It will be as impressive as ever. A 6 ACRE SETTING of unequalled beauty on a positively outstanding country road. There are 4 bedrooms, 3 full baths, formal dining room, a well equipped kitchen, family room, fireplace, 1st floor laundry, and 2½ car attached garage. A beautifully designed barn is ideal for your horses and a picturesque spring fed pond is stocked with bass and blue gill. There are very few country homes that will favorably compare to this all-encompassing new offering. $125,000. 453-8200.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH! LOCATION IS IMPORTANT and this popular neighborhood has demonstrated lasting appeal and within it you will find an extensively remodeled home. Its appealing exterior is maintenance free and its enlarged exterior provides bouyant space to the master bedroom and a wood-burning fireplace in the attractively done recreation room. There are 4 bedrooms (two on the main floor), a cheerfully up-dated kitchen, newer furnace, and 2½ car garage. ITS INTERIOR IS PERFECT and the stove and refrigerator remain. YOU WILL WANT TO SEE THIS HOME AT $49,900. 453-8200.

A GREAT HOME FOR ANY SEASON. There are many important qualities to this handsome Colonial — a covered front porch, an open foyer with a curving stairway, and a rear yard leading to a commons area that will provide the children with endless hours of enjoyment. 4 bedrooms, 1½ baths, formal dining room, family room with fireplace, an activities area in the basement, and 2½ car attached garage. YOU'LL DISCOVER THIS HOME TO BE IN EXCELLENT CONDITION. $66,500. 453-8200.

IT IS AS PRETTY AS IT'S PICTURE. 2 bedroom and den ranch in Redford on a double lot, carpeting, natural fireplace, marble sills, fenced yard, patio, attached garage. $36,900.

A LITTLE BIT OF COUNTRY right in Redford, spacious 4 bedroom, 2½ bath home set on a 1¾ acre lot, family room, 2 fireplaces, large barn, greenhouse, 3 car garage. $74,900.

SUPER SHARP AND SPOTLESS 3 bedroom Livonia ranch home, carpeting, fine Clarenceville Schools, dishwasher, extra half bath, fenced yard, full basement, 2½ car garage. $43,900.

NEWLY updated kitchen in this charmer on a large lot in Westland. 2 story 4 bedroom older home with carpeting, 1½ baths, aluminum siding, just great for a large family. $25,500.

50/50 SPLIT
—AND MORE!

As far as we know—Knoll & Associates offers the best commission schedule anywhere

WHY?!

We want producers! The more loyalty, consideration and money we give our sales staff, the more loyalty and performance we will get in return. It works both ways. We know that unfortunately most employers tend to lose sight of that fact. We are only as good as our sales staff.

HELPING US GROW—
DEFINITELY WILL HELP
YOU GROW!
OUR SUCCESS IS YOUR BUSINESS!

• Our West Bloomfield office can handle only 10 top notch salespeople at this time. • Our Birmingham office will be able to handle 15 salespeople. • Our new construction office in Bloomfield Hills will be able to handle 4 well informed construction salespeople. Call Amos Knoll for a confidential interview. It costs nothing to talk with me, but not talking may cost you an excellent opportunity.

Horace—
It's time you learned the facts of life!

Oh, we're sure you learned about the birds and bees long ago, but Horace, have you heard about "736"? That's a Want Ad classification in your home-town newspaper. It works this way Horace:

Remember when you almost went crazy trying to find a solid oak hat stand? How you embarassed your wife in the antique store because they didn't have one and tried to interest you in a chamber pot instead and you told that sweet little old lady what she could do with it? Remember?

Well, if you had used the "Wanted to Buy" classification that we have just for this kind of situation, one of our thousands of readers would have called you and your troubles would have been over.

Now, that little bird on top of your head (what's he doing there, anyway?) just told us that you're in the market for a 1938 Chevrolet hood ornament. So here are the facts of life, Horace: "Wanted to Buy" ads get results—that's a fact. 736—that's a figure. Use them and get results—that's a suggestion.

Looking for something unusual or run-of-the-mill?
Try a "Wanted to Buy" ad.
