Industrial park buy a mistake – Goldsmith

Canton Trustee Lynne Goldsmith was accused of criticizing a land purchase last week for the simple reason that Supervisor Harold Stein was in favor of it. Stein levelled the accusation at last Tuesday's board meeting.

Late last week, Mrs. Goldsmith explained her objections to the township board's decision to purchase 132 acres of land at Haggerty and Warren for an industrial park.

Mrs. Goldsmith said she, like Stein, would like to see more industry settle in Canton to reduce the residential tax burden but does not think the township should be "in the land purchasing and developing business."

Stein explained last week that in order for Canton Township to be competitive with its neighbors in courting large businesses and industry, it must purchase industrial park land and provide the services needed by potential industrial clients.

"There's no such thing as a free lunch," is Stein's repeated cry.

The majority of the township board agreed with Stein's sentiments in approving an $800,000 purchase of the land owned by Metropolitan Savings and Loan Co. The vote was 6-1 last Tuesday to buy the land. Trustee Brian Schwall called the money an "investment" not an "expense."

The narrow parcel in question is located west of Haggerty and runs from Koppernick south to 500 feet north of Ford Road.

But Mrs. Goldsmith isn't convinced that the township needed to buy up the land to make it attractive to business. Part of Stein's argument to purchase was that the industrial section the land is in lacks business tenants because Haggerty is unpaved. And, Stein reasoned, a municipality owning property on Haggerty would have more clout than a private investor would at the county level in efforts to get the road paved.

Stein also said he will search for federal funds to help pay for paving the street to permit industrial traffic on Haggerty.

"WE COULD JUST pave Haggerty," Mrs. Goldsmith said, we didn't have to buy it all up. I don't believe buying the land is a priority. Buying the land puts stress on Canton's financial picture. By committing those funds, we're limited in what we can do."

The cost of last week's land purchase, Mrs. Goldsmith emphasizes, is estimated to be $100,000 per year for seven years plus 8½ per cent inte rest. An initial $10,000 deposit on the parcel is required and she is concerned that because Canton now owns the lot, the tax rolls will be reduced by $28,620 a year. This will continue until a developer buys it from the township.

"Who will pay for utilities and other land improvements?" Mrs. Goldsmith wonders.

Alternatives suggested by Mrs. Goldsmith include rezoning the 132.26 acres to industrial, as the township board recommends, but stop short of buying it outright.

She also recommends entering into an agreement with the county to pave Haggerty at township expense, providing access to the property. The floodplain that runs through the middle of the parcel could be bought by the township to use as a park during dry periods of the year and a floodway in wet seasons, she said.

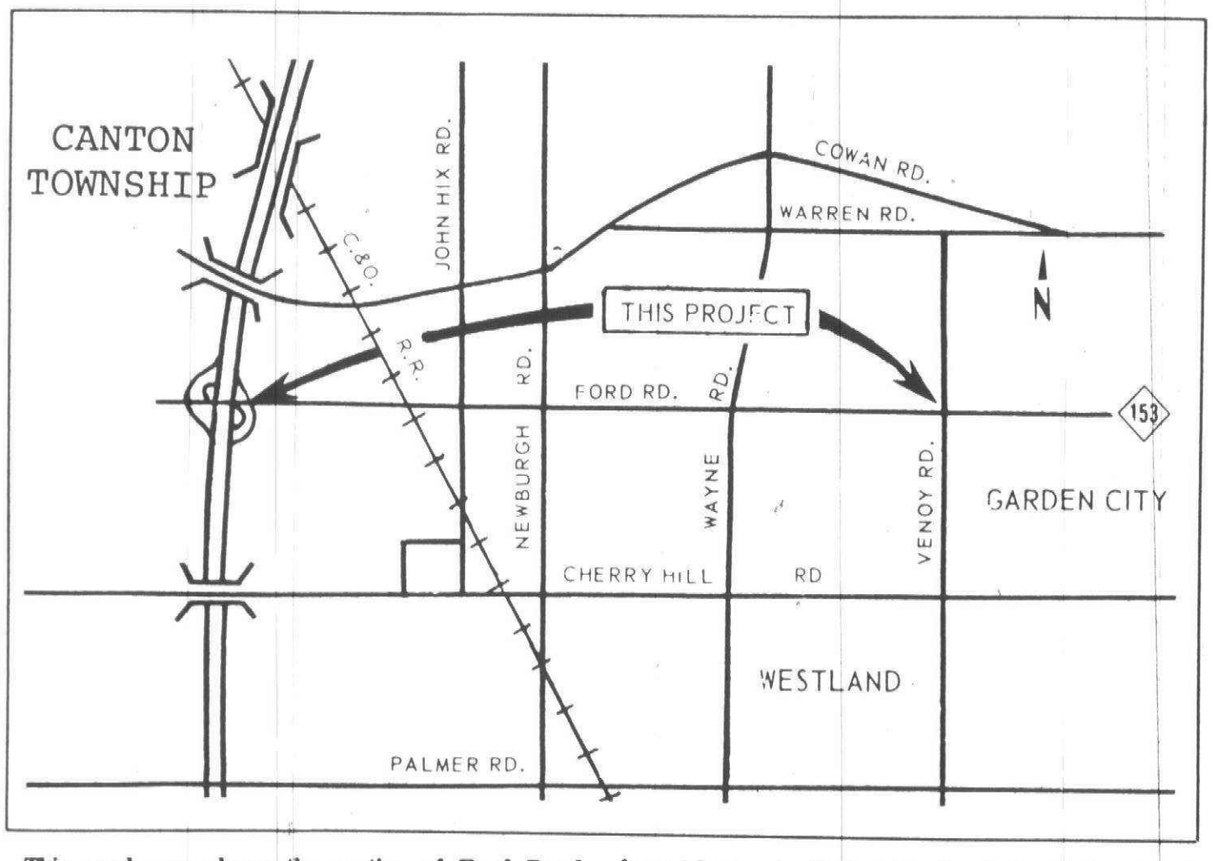

Stein, on the other hand, believes Canton stands to gain more sooner if it takes a bold initiative. The land has quick access to the I-275 expressway, is close to a drawing card like the Kmart warehouse on Joy and is less than a mile away from Mettetal Airport. Utilities such as water, sewers and natural gas are available in the area, Stein contends. Canton Township will not lose money in the end on the parcel, Stein says emphatically. In fact, he believes it will prove to be a wise investment for the future.

Trustee Goldsmith shakes her head and says, "I didn't just vote against this for the heck of it. Eventually it'll probably pay off. But when? How long will Canton Township taxpayers be left holding the bag?"

Springtime flowers

A sure sign that warm weather is at hand can be found in the way the greenhouses fill with flowers and people. Nancy Scott of Plymouth and her son, David John, were among the many early spring visitors to Clyde Smith & Son Farm Market in Westland. While admiring the cactus, begonias and gloxinia, they're looking ahead to green lawns and home gardens. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

This road map shows the section of Ford Road from I-275 to Venoy, which is scheduled for improvements. Residents from Garden City, Westland and Canton can view the road improvement proposal from 4-8 p.m. April 20 at Westland City Hall on Ford Road and voice their opinions at 8 p.m., April 27, at John Glenn High School, Marquette west of Wayne Road.

Ford Road widening options could incorporate boulevard

Ford Road probably will be widened from Venoy Road in Garden City west through Westland to I-275 in Canton Township by 1982.

But what it will look like once it is widened is still open to debate.

That debate will continue during the next two weeks as the Michigan informational pre-hearing and a hearing in Westland on the road widening proposals.

The pre-hearing will be from 4-8 p.m. Thursday in Westland City Hall on Ford Road between Wayne and Newburgh roads. The hearing will be at 8 p.m. April 27 in John Glenn High School auditorium on Marquette, south of Ford and west of Wayne roads. Both are open to the public.

Officials from the three governmental units involved in the 3.8 mill project are expected to present their conflicting views at the hearing on how Ford should be improved.

Dana Miller, city manager of Garden City, believes that Ford Road should be widened to five lanes. Miller opposes a seven-lane plan favored by Westland's Mayor Thomas Taylor because he believes business would be disrupted too much under that proposal.

"What they are doing is precisely what we want done—a five lane road. I met with the engineers who are designing this, and told them what I wanted. They wanted the same thing," said Miller. "If they are going to do something different, I'll be there, or somebody from the city will to protest."

Taylor contends that in terms of long-range traffic volume and growth, seven lanes is a better widening proposal. He recognizes that more businesses will be disrupted with a seven-lane widening project, and for that reason, he favors a roadway underpass where the C&O railroad crosses Ford.

Canton Township officials, however, are pushing for a boulevard concept, which state engineers seem to have rejected.

"As I understand the proposal, the five-lane option is a sure thing," said Canton Township Clerk John Flodin. "We had asked for a boulevard because it looks nicer and eliminates the left-hand turn traffic hazard."

"I had heard hopes for a boulevard were slim and none. At a public hearing they (highway department) didn't approve of this concept," he continued.

A highway department report said that a boulevard would require a greater right-of-way width, meaning that more business and commercial property would be disrupted and lost to government tax coffers. Purchasing the additional right-of-way also would be "considerably more costly" than a five or seven-lane plan.

The five-lane proposal would include a center lane for left-hand turns and right-turn lanes at major intersections of Venoy, Wayne, Newburgh and Hix

Strict law sought for flippers

Pinball isn't something Canton Township officials take flippantly.

They have been bouncing a pinball ordinance back and forth for months now, asking attorney's opinions and requesting direction from the police chief. So far no bells have rung and no games have lit up.

Presenly, no business in Canton Township features pinball machines. Many parents greet that news with a sigh of relief while their offspring consider the present state of affairs a cultural and recreational travesty.

Unlike New York City's late mayor, Fiorello LaGuardia, who made headlines by wielding an axe against pinball machines, Police Chief Walter MacGregor thinks the machines have a place in Canton Township—provided, that is, strict regulations governing their placement and use are established.

MacGregor wants to make it mandatory that anyone applying for a pinball permit from the township be fingerprinted. He suggests a check be made to determine if the individual has ever been convicted of a felony. Felons won't be issued a license if MacGregor has his way.

Township officials said last week that they felt MacGregor's was a reasonable request.

The Canton Sweet Shop featured pinball machines in their establishment. But owners reportedly removed the machines when cigarette-smoking youths began congregating inside the store. Break-ins and slow business caused owners to reconsider.

In order to prevent places with pinball machines from becoming undesi-

Police suit heard today

A lawsuit charging Canton Township with unfair police hiring procedures is scheduled to be heard today at 9 a.m. in Wayne Circuit Judge Horace Gilmore's courtroom.

The suit was filed by Commander Carl Silvers who claims township administrators eliminated his rank because of political considerations.

The Canton Police Officers Association (CPOA) is intervening in the lawsuit on grounds that the hiring procedure proposed for full-time police officers is unfair to Canton's existing part-time force. Three of six tests being demanded of full-time applicants are called "redundant" by the CPOA leadership.

Canton board members have asked all part-time officers who want to apply for full-time jobs to take a civil service-type exam for test ranking purposes and undergo a physical examination and an agility test.

CPOA members call these three tests an insult to the certified members of the department, arguing that more stringent tests were taken by current officers who attended the police academy within the past 18 months.

Last week township administrators reportedly floated "feelers" by the CPOA in an effort to settle the hiring

CAPITALISM THRIVES

Capitalism is alive and well at the Centennial Educational Park as students working and learning in the Rock Shop and in the Cannery are operating stores and meeting their expenses—plus. One shop, alone, brought in earnings $8,000 higher than expenses last year. Pictures and story on Page 3A.

Kiwanis series ends

Hong Kong is next travelogue

WILLIS BUTLER

The final series in this year's travelogue, sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in Plymouth Salem High School.

Willis Butler will present "Hong Kong" in the school auditorium, Joy Road just west of Canton Center Road.

Tickets for the performance are $2 each and may be obtained at the door or by contacting Harold Fischer (455-5100), Joe Crowther (455-6350), Tim Yoe (453-6280) or Jim Case (455-7938).

BUTLER, a former network broadcaster and lecturer at Northwestern University's school of speech, is touted as one of the country's most popular speakers.

He has been making professional motion pictures since 1953—many for prominent organizations such as Northwest Orient Airlines and NBC. He appears regularly for the National Geographic Society, the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh, and other leading lecture groups.

Born in Racine, Wis., Butler received his bachelor's and master's degrees in speech from Northwestern. Besides his film, Butler authored the book "Practice Copy for Radio Announcers."

He started to lecture with film in 1954 and to date has produced six travelogues and presented them to more than 400 audiences.

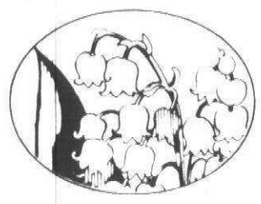

During May and June, 1960, he was TV host for 30 consecutive shows on WWJ-TV and WXYZ-TV in Detroit.

ORIGINALLY A Chinese settlement annexed as a British Crown Colony during the 19th century, Hong Kong now is a meeting place of Eastern and Western traditions where Buddhism, Christianity, and ancient superstition thrive side by side.

The travelogue explores Hong Kong Island, Kowloon, the capital of Victoria, and then ride up 1,800 feet on a train to the top of Victoria Peak. The film shows Hong Kong's people of all ages—how they live, work, and play on land and on water, their joys, accomplishments, and their future challenges.

The trip to Hong Kong will include a visit to its famous clothing industry and then to a restaurant for a 17-course Chinese dinner.

This is the first year the travelogue series has been sponsored by the Kiwanis Foundation, a local joint venture by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth.

Students profit through capitalism at work

By PATRICK TOUHEY

The American spirit of capitalism is alive and well at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

In fact, it is positively thriving at the Rock Shop and the Canton Cannery, the respective names of Plymouth Salem's and Plymouth Canton's high school student stores.

Although each store has a separate faculty advisor, the buying, selling, ordering, accounting, bookkeeping and cleaning is all handled by students.

"We're not in business to make money," explained Byron Richardson, faculty adviser for the Rock Shop and the co-op teacher for CEP. "This is strictly a training situation."

But both the Rock Shop and the Cannery are running in the black.

According to Dan Chrenko, Richardson's counterpart at Canton High, the Cannery made $8,000 last year. And he said he expects to do even better this year.

While Richardson would not divulge specific figures, he acknowledged that the Rock Shop "took in slightly more than the Cannery.

"I hate to throw figures around," said Richardson. "People just look at them without understanding what's behind them."

In explanation, he said that all of the money taken in was put directly back into the stores. No one got paid, and there wasn't any extra.

"The students decide what the money they take in will be used for. They can buy new displays or add more items to sell," he said. "All the money is strictly accounted for."

THE SCHOOL stores of a decade ago, which may have sold only notebooks and No. 2 yellow pencils, bear little resemblance to today's stores at CEP.

Notebooks and pencils are still available, but they are by no means "the bottom line," as they say in marketing circles.

They have taken their humble place in an impressive array of items which include silk-screened T-shirts, record albums, athletic equipment, and "health" snacks, such as organic potato chips and brownies.

Both Richardson and Chrenko said they have no desire to compete with local merchants with the items they sell, and they are prohibited from selling candy or cigarettes.

"Some of the students want to sell cigarettes and roach clips," commented Chrenko. "They claim they'd make a fortune. And we probably would, but I just can't let them do it."

ASIDE FROM OCCASIONALLY exercising their "veto power" on a student suggestion, the faculty advisors leave the daily operation of the stores up to the students.

And that includes everything from sweeping the floors and cleaning the display cases to deciding what kind of merchandise to stock.

"The kids do it all. Salesmen from different companies come in and make their pitches. And if the kids don't like it, they say they are not going to buy. They're tougher on the salesman than I'd be," Chrenko said.

The responsibility of running the store is divided between two separate classes. The students in the salesmanship class get to do just that—they work behind the counter selling the goods.

The buying, advertising, promotional, and managerial end of the stores is handled by the store management class.

PLYMOUTH SALEM has 33 students involved in the Rock Shop, 16 are juniors in the salesmanship class, and 17 are seniors in the management class. The Cannery is run by 50 students, 30 in salesmanship and 20 in management.

To arrive at the position of a store staffer, a student must start his or her "core courses" in the freshman year. After two years of retail theory, the student is ready for the everyday practicallity of the school store.

But not all of those who apply for the vocational program are accepted. A few are turned away each year.

"I'd like to be able to let every student who wants to work in the Rock Shop," said Richardson. "But it's just not possible. Right now I have a stack of applications in my office."

By and large, according to the teachers, the students who do work in the stores are serious about it and have a knack for the retail business.

"Once in a while, the kids will make a bad buying decision and get stuck with an item that doesn't sell. But it doesn't take too many times like that before they start to realize that if they tie up their cash in bad stock, they can't buy anything else," said Chrenko.

"They learn the value of a dollar quickly once they start working in the store. Really it's the best thing we teach the kids."

BESIDES THE on-the-job training, the students who work in the store receive credit toward graduation. And they also are a jump ahead in applying for jobs.

"I've placed kids in stores in town and from Briarwood to Fairlane Center. Some of them are assistant managers, and a few are already managers of their own stores," said Richardson.

The entire course sequence leading to working in the stores comes under the heading of vocational education. But both instructors said they geared the content both to those who wanted to go on to college as well as those who planned on entering the work-force after graduation.

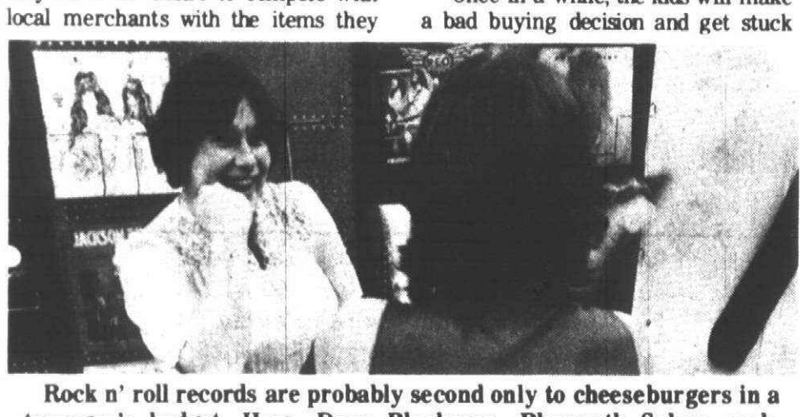

"I try to blend theory and practice," commented Chrenko. "If a student wants to go on to school and major in a business field, I think this kind of experience will give him an advantage. If he decides to work for a few years, he'll know what's required of him."

Wanted to be a dancer but violins led her astray

By W. W. EDGAR

Seated in her living room of her spacious home on McClumpha from where she is helping her son, Steven, manage the development of a nearby plot of ground, Joann Hulce joyfully turned the calendar back a few decades to the days when she was the soprano soloist with Phil Spitalny All-Girl Orchestra.

She was prompted to release a flood of memories while discussing the 50th anniversary of the Columbia Broadcasting System that recently dominated the networks for an entire week The orchestra wasn't mentioned all week.

To the younger generation the name of Spitalny and the all-girl orchestra may not mean anything. But in the 1940s it was one of the featured weekend programs. And Evelyn and her magic violin were one of the raves of the airways.

"It was through CBS that I got my chance with Spitalny," she said with a broad smile and a pleasant gleam in her eye. And I thought some one was playing a joke on me.

"I received a phone call at home one afternoon and the voice on the other end of the line had a rich dialect. Thinking it was a joke, I tried to answer in kind. But I learned that the voice was that of Mr. Spitalny and he was inviting me for an audition.

"He had heard my voice on a record I did while taking lessons in New York. At that time, CBS was trying out talent all the time and he naturally turned to CBS for help. They sent him my record and the rest is an interesting tale."

IT SO HAPPENED that when Spitalny heard the record CBS did not know where she was, other than knowing she was from the little town of White Water in Wisconsin.

She finally was tracked down to a point where Spitalny's call came through. In order that neither would have to travel too far it was agreed to meet in Cleveland.

"We met over there. I had the audition and was invited to join the orchestra immediately. I did as soon as I could and remained with the group for two years during the seasons of 1946 and 1947.

"I left the orchestra to get married and have my first child, but I often think back with pleasant memories the twists of fate that got me there."

With that broad smile she confided that she never dreamed she would one day be a soloist with a famous orchestra playing the leading cities in the country. She once appeared with the group at Masonic Temple in Detroit.

"Really, I wanted to be a dancer. I studied dancing and appeared in several plays in our high school classes. But singing finally won over and I was singing with the symphony when I was only 16 years old."

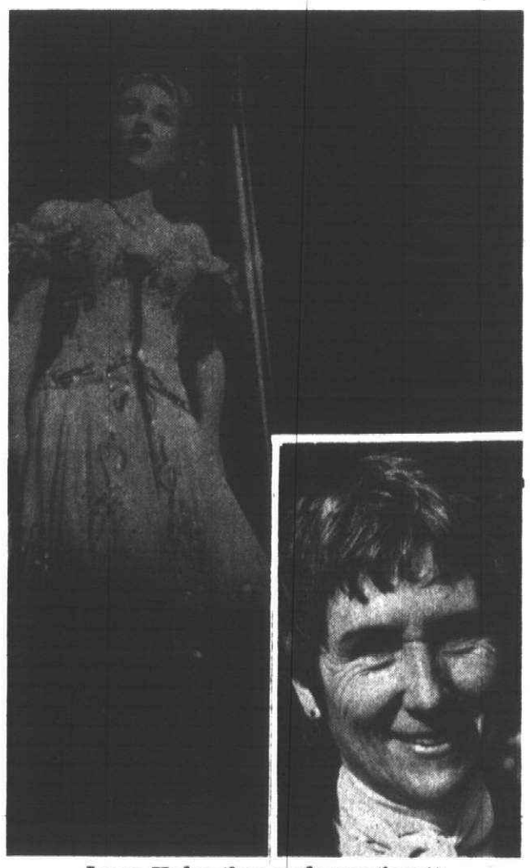

MOST OF HER EARLY success came in Chicago where she sang with the symphony and finally got the break when she cut a record for CBS that Phil Spitalny later heard.

She still has vivid memories of those days when the orchestra had countless thousands of listeners for its weekend programs on the air. And she is forced to chuckle every time she recalls the kind of life she was leading as the soloist.

"Spitalny became a very rich man. But there was a good reason. Our procrams were on Sundays and we'd rehearse on Saturday. But he paid us only for those two days. The rest of the week we had to ourselves. So, many of us taught young singers during the "off" days, and those who played instruments also gave lessons to budding young stars.

"But it was a great life. We travelled only 10 weeks each year. That was all Spitalny would book, despite the popularity of the orchestra across the country.

"He eventually married Evelyn, with her magic violin, and I haven't heard much about them in recent years."

roads. Open space between the roadway and sidewalk would range from 10 to 20 feet for safety purposes.

The sidewalk would be six feet wide.

Both the seven and five-lane plans call for a total of 120 feet, requiring the purchase of 27 feet of right-of-way.

The seven-lane proposal, however, would reduce open space between the curb and sidewalk to eight feet.

Estimated cost of the projects with a roadway overpass proposed by the highway department range from $9.9 million to $11.4 million.

Township supervisor Harold Stein noted that Canton as yet hasn't been informed about the hearing.

Information about the Ford Road widening proposals is available at Westland City Hall. The Westland Chamber of Commerce, also on Ford Road just west of Westland City Hall, is distributing pamphlets on the project and advising its members of the coming pre-hearing and hearing.

According to the report from the state highway department, Ford Road's traffic volume was expected to increase to 69,000 vehicles daily—an increase of 20,000 or nearly 30 per cent since 1974.

"The present facility (road) is predominantly two lanes. It does not provide efficient traffic operations because it's too narrow for the traffic load it carries and does not have adequate facilities for turns. The level of service for Fors Road has already fallen below the acceptable norm for a state trunkline," reads the report.

Comments on the proposal can be mailed to Jack E. Morgan, manager, Public Involvement Section, Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation Palmnin Division, Post Office Box 30050, Lansing 48909.

Beautification contest on

The Canton Beautiful Committee is sponsoring a series of events this week aimed at cleaning up the township.

The Pitch-In For Positive Litter Reduction program was started last year to familiarize Canton citizens with various methods of litter control.

The committee has organized a poster contest for all elementary students in Canton this week. Students are asked to work around the "Litter Monster" theme, which is the title of a 20-minute movie starring comedian Jonathan Winters that will be shown at Isbister School on Monday at 9:30 a.m.

"Litter Monster" will also be shown on Wednesday night at the Canton Township Meeting Hall on Cherry Hill and Canton Center roads at 7 p.m.

The Canton Beautiful Committee will award a trophy with the name of the grand winner to each of the eight elementary schools. The best poster in each grade level will also receive an individual trophy and the committee hopes to give every student who entered the poster contest a small certificate of appreciation for participating in the program.

The Pitch-In program is being sponsored by the U.S. Brewers Association, which is making available several items to assist the Canton Beautiful Committee. One is car litter bags, which will be given to service clubs in Canton willing to distribute them to the public.

The committee also will be selling garbage bags at wholesale cost to Canton residents. The bags will have the words "Canton Beautiful" imprinted on them and will be available by May at the two fire stations and the township hall, Supervisor Harold Stein said.

Canton Township is the first community in this area to utilize the litter program through the Brewers Association.

Politicos put pressure on pinball participants

rable hang-outs for young people, the township's proposed pinball ordinance would set hours for various ages.

Youths under 12 would have to accompanied by a parent or guardian before they could try their hand at the game of skill.

Teens under the age of 16 would not be able to play pinball after 10 p.m. And teens under 17 years of age could not operate the machines after midnight.

And, in a move designed to curb loitering and foil pinball wizards, the maximum amount of free games allowed in Canton would be 15 freebies.

Any establishment that features pinball machines must have windows on the front of the building to prevent dark dens of iniquity from sprouting. No neighborhood-zoned establishment could feature the machines. Their placement would be restricted to the districts zoned general shopping.

Restrictions cover adults pinball play too. Gambling for money or prizes on the games, of course, is illegal. The player and the proprieter can be prosecuted under gambling statutes.

But even in bars, places known for encouraging vice, pinball cannot be played on Sundays until noon. And in stores or ice cream shops, no pinball can be played after midnight or before 10 a.m. by adults.

Violation of the ordinance would be punishable by a $100 fine or 90 days in jail.

dispute outside of court. But nothing concrete emerged from the impromptu talks.

"Yes, they put out some feelers," said Andrew Muth, Silvers' attorney. "They were akin to someone slapping a million dollar lawsuit on somebody and having that person offer you $500 as a settlement. They weren't serious about a settlement."

All of the township trustees were scheduled to be subpoenaed by Silvers for today's court hearing.

With a Will—
There's a way

If you own anything — a car, house, savings account, anything with monetary value — you should have a will. With a will, you save your loved ones considerable time and money in the handling of your estate. Further, you are assured that your estate will not be executed by strangers, but by people you know and trust.

How do you make a will? First, see your lawyer. It's not all that expensive for most estate planning. He has the forms, knows the requirements of the state, and probably enough of your personal affairs to help in preparing for future management of your estate.

You may change your will whenever and however you wish. The important thing is to get started and to do it right away.

You may also include provision for funeral arrangements as part of the will. We can provide counselling, without obligation, on this aspect of your will, but only this particular aspect.

We welcome your questions and comments — privately or publicly, through this column.

Is there change at Center for Human Development?

By SHERRY KAHAN

More than a month has passed since charges of widespread abuse of its mentally retarded residents were leveled at the state-run Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Since that time the media has been holding up a magnifying glass to the facility, the director has been banished, staff members have been suspended and a big name task force has begun a probe.

But has anything changed inside the facility? And will the task force without power to require individuals to give testimony be able to carry out a successful investigation?

Approached with these questions were members of the Plymouth Association for Retarded Citizens, the group which has struggled for two years to end abuse. Through its successful court cases the organization has begun to make inroads.

Their answers were a mixed bag with some seeing signs of improvement and others noting that problems still exist. One member, Sandy McGuire indicated a lack of faith in some of the persons chosen by the governor for the task force.

Plymouth assocation members will present their findings and their feelings at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 11 in Harrison Elementary School, 28811 Jamison, Livonia.

The event is sponsored by the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens.

"NEW CASES OF ABUSE are still coming before the center's fact-finding committee," reported Mary Brimhall of Redford Township vice-president of the association, which is made up of interested citizens and parents of residents of the Plymouth

The association has been given the opportunity to have its members serve on this committee. She added that committee members had to sign a paper before investigating a case so that facts remained confidential before a final determination is made.

Will this tie the hands of the association in its effort to end abuse? "I feel we will have to look into this question," Mrs. Brimhall replied. "We will have to see what recourse we have."

"My son has received no injuries lately," said Mrs. Jimmy Nelson of Southfield. "He had been scratched on the face and neck before, and we were unhappy with the care he got when he had pneumonia.

"But I have noticed the attendants are out of the office and back in the play rooms, playing with the kids. I could see they were making an effort."

"WHEN I VISITED last Christmas, the attendants were cold and abrupt," observed a Garden City resident, who preferred not to give his name because he feared retaliation against his relative. "On Good Friday, they were very friendly.

"However, they still hadn't cut his hair, and he wasn't wearing the clothes I brought in for him."

"Evelyn Provitt is doing an excellent job as acting director," said Barbara Moore of Redford Township. "But we are concerned about who is coming in as director."

(Former director William Womack was removed from office by Governor Milliken.)

"Things are a little bad right now because so many have been suspended," continued Mrs. Moore. "They are hiring new employees because they are supposed to raise the ratio of attendants to residents."

WHILE MANY MEMBERS of the Plymouth association had a mixed reaction to what was taking place within the controversial complex, one of them was very singleminded about the investigating task force.

"It was the impression of association members that we would be members of task force," stated Mrs. McGuire, of Detroit. "The governor told us we would be observing and monitoring it. But last week we found our members referred to in the minutes as guests. So I wrote a letter to the governor and asked him to clarify our role.

"His response was to deny us membership on the task force. I feel we should be members. We could accomplish more that way. We could vote on crucial questions.

"And who has a greater interest in the Plymouth center than our members, many of whom have a child living there?

"Instead the task force consists of John Dempsey, the director of the department of social services; Dr. Vernon Stehman, director of the mental health department; the commander of the Michigan State Police; Detroit Councilwoman Erma Henderson and Wilbur Cohen of the school of education of the University of Michigan, and a representative of the Civil Service Commission.

"THE FOUR DEPARTMENTS represented on the task force are the same departments that haven't been able to work out this abuse situation for two years."

"In January 1977 we won, through a law suit, major concessions from the department of social services involving investigating and following up abuse cases," she continued.

"The department wasn't doing its job, in our opinion. After finding abuses in the Plymouth center, it didn't take any action. It said that was the responsibility of the mental health department. Mental health said it was up to social services and the state police said that one of the two should handle it.

Mrs. McGuire urged those who have information on abuse at the center to testify at a public hearing 10 a.m. to 5 pm. April 20 in the 21st floor auditorium of the Executive Plaza B uilding at 1200 Sixth, Detroit. Similar hearings on abuse will be held in xansing and Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Moore applauded the concept the a monitor committee, which has been won through a suit brought by the association against the center and the mental health department.

"The monitors can drop in any time during the day or night," she said, "and no one will know when they will be coming."

She also favored a more careful check of each resident's medical records, especially drug overuse. "Some kids don't sleep at night," she noted. "I don't know why they're so hyper, but it might be because of the combination of drugs."

SHE ALSO HOPES that staff members will start to stick around when parents and volunteers come to visit the residents.

"Parents come in and the staff just disappears," she observed. "I've heard from many volunteers that they are not too helpful to them. The staff leaves them with a lot of residents and no help. I've had the same experience as a parent. I never felt I was welcome.

Some of the foster grandparents have the feeling that the staff feel the grandparents are spying on them, she added.

Mrs. Nelson, who favors the presence of both monitors and parents in the building, hopes that the staff members won't think that they are constantly being checked on.

Let's call it making sure everything is all right," she said.

She added that parents could be monitored, too, because there are many who never visit their children, "and you can't expect someone else to pick up your obligation and work on it."

Geake plans area survey

Livonia, Redford and Plymouth area residents in the 14th state senatorial district will be receiving a new type of legislative survey in the mail this month from State Sen. Robert Geake.

Geake's questionnaire represents an attempt to obtain responses which are based upon knowledge of the reasons for and against proposed changes in state law, rather than automatic reactions to short and simple questions.

"While survey questionnaires from legislators are relatively common, they usually consist of elementary questions which evoke quick and easy answers," Geake explained.

"The issues are often so oversimplified that the voters find 'easy answers.' Sometimes, the questions are even worded in so biased a manner that they practically demand one answer."

The questionnaire which Geake will be sending to his constituents, entitled "Viewpoint '78", contains 16 questions on property tax reform, Single Business Tax modification, public school funding, criminal sentencing procedures, workers' and unemployment compensation revision, energy conservation, and double-bottom tanker trucks.

"Each question relating to the state issues is followed by a brief explanation of their pros and cons," he pointed out.

"By providing this information, I hope to not only help the voter consider the issue from both sides, but to reveal the complexity of the issues that legislators are called upon to resolve."

Faunce, Thomann picked top coaches

A team without a conscientious coach can be likened to a ship without a captain, an army without a general or an orchestra without a conductor.

It could be said that a coach's main function should be to blend the talents of individuals so that together they perform better as a group than they could on their own.

This means that a coach must first work to develop the individual skills of his players and try to bring about improvement whether a person is a regular or reserve.

Five area coaches led their squads through excellent campaigns during the recently-completed winter sports seasons and have been tapped with Observer Coach of the Year honors.

They include Gordon Davis and Fred Thomann, from Westland John Glenn and Plymouth Salem, respectively, for boys' basketball.

Tom Teeters, from Clarenceville, for volleyball, Bob Lusk, from Glenn, for wrestling, and Bill Faunce, from Plymouth Canton for boys' swimming, also merit recognition.

Thomann and Lusk were recipients of Observer Coach of the Year accolades last season (1976-77).

DAVIS, who has coached the Rocket cagers during the past decade, guided Glenn to the regional finals of the Class A state tournament. That is the best showing ever for the Westland school in the tourney.

Glenn won the Northwest Suburban League championship with a 6-0 conference record and compiled an overall record of 19-5. Two Rockets were selected by area coaches for the all-Observer teams.

THOMANN carved an overall 20-3 slate this season while prodding the Rocks to their fifth outright or co-Suburban Eight championship in succession.

Thomann has a career record of 115-22 in six seasons at Salem.

The Rocks defeated Glenn during the regular season, but the Rockets rebounded to edge Salem during the tournament.

TEETERS, in his fifth season at Clarenceville, won all the marbles this winter.

The Trojans, Class B state champs, went 18-0 in dual matches and have not lost a Metro West Conference dual during the three-year existence of the circuit.

Clarenceville this winter won the Clarkston Invitational and finished second in the Plymouth Invitational.

LUSK continued his dominance over Northwest Suburban League wrestling foes this year, winning all four conference duals and the league meet.

Glenn has had a hammerlock on the title as long as most people in the area can remember.

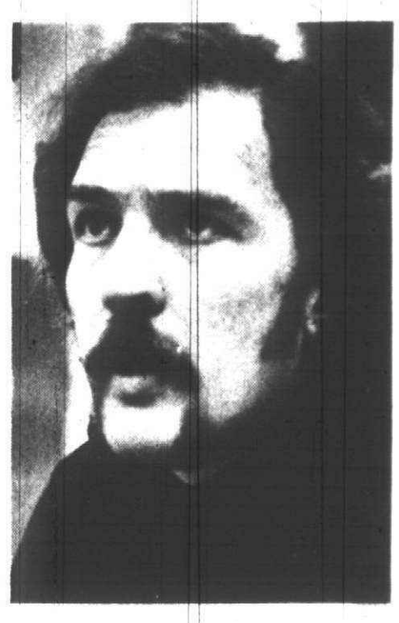

Every year, the rest of the teams in the conference get better, but Lusk always seems to recruit and mold the talent to stay one step ahead of the pack.

The Rockets finished ninth in the Class A finals, their best placing ever.

FAUNCE, in what was expected to be a rebuilding year at Canton, led the Chiefs to an 11-1 overall record and second place in the Western Six League swimming race.

Salem gals eye improvement

When the Plymouth Salem girls track season ended last June, the Rocks were not in the best of shape. Many of the girls were hurt and the number of competitors dwindled with each dual meet.

It was a frustrating season for first-year coach Scott Kurtz but he now hopes that's all behind him as his Rocks try to improve on last season's sixth-place standing in the Suburban Eight League.

And just from the looks of the first few weeks in practice, the always-enthusiastic Kurtz sees his program getting stronger each day.

To begin with, Kurtz had 30-35 girls working during the winter program and initially saw 50 girls come out for the sport this spring.

Add to that some experienced upperclassmen and a solid core of sophomores, who enter their second varsity season under Kurtz, and the Rocks look like sure bets to finish in the upper division of the conference.

"We've got some depth this season," the Salem mentor said. "And we also have more natural ability. We'll be going for the firsts and seconds instead of the thirds and fourths this year.

"I really think we are strong in every event—and we have a lot of people," Kurtz said. "We need some quarter-milers and two-milers but after that we are pretty strong."

The biggest loss to graduation for the Rocks is JoAnn Langkabel, who was by far the leading point-producer for Salem last season.

Three seniors lead the group of experienced runners for the Rocks. Kathy Sample will be a mainstay in the mile and half-mile, while Jennifer DeVenny continues to improve in the two mile. The third senior is Sue Stanwood, a standout swimmer who missed most of last year's track season with mononucleosis. She runs the quarter and half-mile races.

Among a group of eight juniors who are expected to perform well this season are Erin Lucas, Lisa Morrison, Sharon Radinoff, Anna Gotts and Livonia Stevenson transfer Cindy Nagy. Lucas is a strong hurdler and high jumper, Morrison's a long jumper, Radinoff should break both school records in the shot-put and discus, and Gotts runs the mile behind Sample.

The core of the Rocks is the 10 sophomores who return with high expectations. Among the standouts are Kathy Zielke who ran a strong quarter-mile last season, Diane Perpich, a high jumper and long jumper; Ann Meixmer, who will sprint and jump the hurdles; and Beth Hoerner, a runner who can sprint or run in many events.

More than 20 talented freshmen have Kurtz visualizing many great things in the near future. Two of the most noted ninth graders are Darlyn Simms and Lynne Henry, who are the fastest sprinters on the team. Another quick freshman is Renee Slavin, who will perform on the hurdles.

Rock defense must shape up

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Last season was supposed to have been the year Plymouth Salem's girls softball team won the Suburban Eight League championship.

Unfortunately for coach Livy Way's squad, things didn't work out that way as inconsistent pitching and sloppy defense dropped the Rocks to a second-place finish behind Dearborn Edsel Ford.

While three-quarters of the infield from last year's team graduated, Way remains confident that strong pitching, catching and flexible talent will lead the Rocks to that long-awaited goal of a league championship.

Way has always felt her two pitchers, senior Debbie Pitera and junior Jan Boyd, were the strength of past Salem teams. The only problem with these returners is their lack of consistency. Way hopes both pitchers have matured to make the Rocks stronger this season.

"We undoubtedly have the best pitching staff around—if they are consistent," Way said. "And we have a lot more experience on this team. Having a junior varsity program last year really helped."

Way took her annual southern preseason trip to West Virginia three weeks ago but came home early because of bad weather. Nevertheless, Way stressed a lot of team defense on the trip hoping to eliminate the problem which cost the league title last season.

"We have a great amount of talent and individual skills—but we still must apply this talent team-wise. We have to build confidence in ourseleves as a team."

Three outstanding catchers is one reason Way will have a lot of felxibility in determining her line-up. Back for her fourth varsity season is hard-hitting Kathy Dillon, who has been the regular catcher but also saw a little action in centerfield toward the end of last seavon.

Canton relies on quick infield

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

It was supposed to be Plymouth Canton's year in girls softball, what with a solid nucleus of veterans.

But even though four starters from last year aren't returning as expected, coach Joan Ryan remains optimistic about her squad's chances in the Western Six League this spring.

The Chiefs start the season without two graduated seniors in addition to five letter winners from last year's second-place team.

Kathy Sochacki and Laura Butler are competing in track while Evie Pasek, Sue Rekuc, and Kim Clarke will work this spring. Cathy Verduce and Kim Zoladz have graduated.

And yet, Ryan is very optimistic because of a group of young players who had softball experience on the varsity or junior varsity level last season.

The only senior on Canton's 14-member varsity squad is outfielder Judy Freiman, who is the first Chief to play four years on the Canton varsity. She is a powerful hitter and will probably move from left to centerfield this season becausae of her experience.

Freiman is one of three tri-captains who will lead the Chiefs this season.

Back for a third varsity year is junior captain Kathie Peck who will start at shortstop.

Playing alongside Peck is sophomore captain Vickie Cavallaro at second base.

These two players form the middle of the Chiefs' infield and could very well be the best keystone combination in the area.

"We are strong up the middle," Ryan said. "The girls are not very big but we have a quick and agile infield. And we've worked hard on defense with a lot of new people in there."

Two more juniors who will battle for the third-base position are Sue Lindsay and Valarie Harben. Lindsey played third base for the junior varsity last season while Harben, a transfer student from Lakewood, Colorado, has a strong arm.

Junior Lucy Howe will once again be the Chiefs' starting pitcher this season. She is expected to have a strong season after two years of varsity experience. Robin Radoye, the starting pitcher as a sophomore for the junior varsity last season, will back up Howe.

Six more sophomores will join Cavallaro on the Canton squad. Pam Schipani ruturns for her second varsity season after a strong freshman year behind the plate. Chris Housden will back up Schapani at catcher. She played junior varsity last season.

Jeanne Krasovetz is also a second-year varsity player as a sophomore and should be a good utility infielder at second, third, or shortstop.

One of the more promising sophomores from the junior varsity is Cindy Stevens who should fit into the starting line up at first base. She has good hitting skills and should adequately replace Zoladz.

Three other sophomores who are vying for spots in the outfield with Freiman are Cathy Campbell, Maureen Morahan, and Cherlyn Pijanowski.

Ryan doesn't feel her squad will have any trouble hitting the ball this season, but she stresses the importance of strong defense and consistent pitching as the keys to success.

While the outfield is very young, Ryan said all the kids are working hard at pre-season practice.

Ryan once again sites Waterford Mott as the favorite to win the league title. The Corsairs have won or shared the title for the past three seasons.

Canton opens its season this Wednesday in a non-league game at Livonia Bentley. Game time is 3:30 p.m.

Summer puck school here

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation, in cooperation with the Canadian-American hockey group, will sponsor a fall hockey school the week of Sept. 5 through Sept. 10.

The school will be staffed by qualified CAN-AM personnel. The one-week session will offer a novice program, a boys program, and an adult coaching development program.

The boys program will have two age groups from 8-15 years. A maximum of 45 participants including 4 goalies, will receive 15 hours of instruction for a $55 fee.

The novice program will teach hockey fundamentals for 5- to 7-year-old icers. There will be a maximum of 45 participants, and eight hours of instruction will cost $30.

A coaching development program for as many as 40 participants and 12 hours of instruction will cost $20.

Pre-registration, which assures participation in the program, will be held from March 31 to April 21. Open registration will be conducted until all vacancies are filled. Dates for the open registration are April 24 to July 31. All registration will take place at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Kathy Dillon hopes her fourth varsity season behind the plate will be her best ever for the Rocks' softball squad. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Veronica Gray, the versatile Canton thinclad, will have her eye set on returning to the state meet this season. Gray's flexibility in both the track and field events will help the Chiefs this season. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

New Canton track coach is optimistic about season

The Plymouth Canton girls track team will compete this season without a familiar face on the sidelines—coach Brab Winn.

Winn, the only girls track coach in Canton's short five-year history, has taken a leave of abscene to have her first child.

Winn's replacement this year is Ken Zornes, who comes to the community with strong credentials as the former girls track coach at Livonia Clarenceville.

And based on what Zornes has seen from the 35-member Chief squad so far this season, he thinks Canton could be strong contenders in the Western Six League meet.

"The kids are real good workers and they are busting their butts. I think we will have a respectable team in the league."

Zornes sees most of the Chiefs' strength in the middle distances. In fact, he thinks Canton will be strong from the 220-yard dash and up. He does, howver, see some weaknesses in the 100-yard dash and field events.

The top Canton prospect this season is senior Veronica Gray who hopes to rebound from a disappointing season last year when she failed to qualify for the state meet.

As a sophomore, Gray qualified with the top sprinters in the state in the 220-yard dash.

The versatile thinclad will be one of the top performers in almost any event she enters, adding to Zornes' flexibility to the starting line up. Gray, who led the Chiefs with 95 team-points last season, is very strong on relays and at many of the field events.

Two standouts in the distance events are junior Lynne Rudolph and sophomore Geri Shufeidt. Rudolph recently broke the six-minute mark in the mile, while Shufeidt broke the 12-minute mark in the two-mile last season as a freshman.

A top freshman who recently transfered from Philadelphia is Cathy Brophy who looks strong in the half mile. Sophomore Kathy Kidston returns this season with a strong 880-yard time. She is also a high jumper.

Junior Dawn Malek is another half-miler and also looks tough in the high jump.

Senior Jenny Tregembo, a four-year varsity thinclad, hopes for another strong season as a sprinter. She also runs the quarter mile and long jumps.

Senior Kathy Sochacki enters her first season of track this spring. The all-around athlete, who played both basketball and volleyball earlier this season, should be a top sprinter and one of the mainstays in the realys. Sochacki played softball the past three springs but decided to switch to track this year.

Other sprinters and hurdlers include Jan Petersen and Diane Durocher.

Junior Melinda Breen will throw the shot put, while Kelly Heaton, a junior who played basketball and volleyball this year, will compete in the high jump.

Walled Lake Western was the runaway winner in the Western Six League last season, enroute to a second-place team finish in the state championships.

Western is once again favored to take the league crown this season, but Zornes expects a scramble after the Warriors.

DuBois quits in hot dispute

By DOUG FUNKE

Only two weeks before the start of the season, Dave DuBois, varsity baseball coach at Livonia Stevenson, resigned after reinstating, at the demand of school and athletic administrators, two players he had cut from the team.

Jerry Goode, who coached the Stevenson varsity baseball team in 1973 and the JV squad in 1970, has been appointed interim coach.

Two players had gone to Florida for the Easter break and missed practice Thursday before the vacation period began, the day the final cut list was posted.

Both players had earned positions on the team but when they didn't show for practice that day, they were terminated. DuBois said they were cut because they missed practice.

DuBois said he had made clear to everyone, and especially the two who went to Florida, the possible consequences of missing practice during a team meeting before tryouts began.

The coach also said that he made it clear that the team would be practicing during Easter vacation.

In response to rumors circulating through the school about the apparent vacation-dismissal situation, Carl Fetz, athletic director at Stevenson, told DuBois prior to the final cuts that he could not throw anyone off the team merely because he would go on vacation out of town during the break.

DuBois said he cut the two anyway because "I felt it was going against my principles as a coach. There were five or six kids who had the opportunity to go down to Florida who stayed and worked.

"The coach works with the people. I think he should make the decisions," said DuBois. "I'm a strong believer in character. That's the number one thing with me before winning.

"The part that bothers me is that I love coaching, but you have to decide what your priorities are."

Dorothy Bentley, principal at Stevenson, and Fetz then met with DuBois and told him to reinstate the two. DuBois did, then resigned.

"It's sad because he's a hell of a good man," said Fetz. "We hated to lose him. There's a policy that you can't eliminate someone when they go on vacation. A coach cannot use vacation time as a criteria to eliminate kids."

Dr. George Garver, superintendent of the Livonia school system, said there is no written "policy" but that it has been a "practice" that no student be dismissed from a team for discliplinary reasons without the consent of the school principal and athletic director.

Rocks bow to AA Huron

Salem runners lose opener

The official start of the spring track season may have come one day later because of rainy weather, but the Salem boys wished it never had come at all.

The Rocks, full of hope and anticipation for a great season, were bothered by sickness and injuries at their opener, falling to a strong Ann Arbor Huron squad, 96⅔-61⅓, Friday afternoon at the Salem track.

The initial non-league dual meet was originally scheduled for Thursday afternoon but rainy weather delayed the action 24 hours.

Salem coach Gary Balconi obviously saw room for improvement after the opener but wasn't totally discouraged with the effort.

"Teamwise, we did better than the score indicated," the Salem coach said. "We had some good individual performances and had two good times in the relays.

"I was a little disappointed in the field events. We have to work on the high jump and the hurdles."

Part of the problem with these two events was the absence of Mike Skone (ankle injury) and Mike Christie (illness).

Bob Dasher was a bright spot in the shot-put and the discus, taking two first place awards with distances of 47-8½ and 142-9 respectively. Chris Ritchey took second in the shot-put and John Froozan was second in the discus.

Rich Hanschu was fourth in the high jump and long jump, but Scott Kappler and Jack Wellman gave the fans something to cheer about in the pole vault with a one-two finish. Kappler's winning height was 13 feet.

Tom Rubadue and Paul Hess finished one-two in the two mile with times of 10:40.8 and 10:57.2 respectively. Tom Covington was second in the half mile with a 2:11.9 clocking. Scott Kleam was third in the mile at five minutes flat.

Greg Stevens, Chris Ritchey and Greg Davis all placed second in the 100-yard, 220-yard and 442-yard dashes. Stevens sprinted in :10.5, Ritchey in :23.7, and Davis in :54.2.

The Rocks won the 880-yard relay with Dave Booker, Chris Ritchey, Tom Carl and Greg Davis in 1:36.5. The Rocks also won the 440-yard relay but was disqualified for an illegal exchange. Salem's mile relay placed second.

Rock softballers hope this is the year

Another outfielder-catcher is sophomore Sue McDowell who returns behind the plate this season after playing sparingly as a freshman last year. She is a power hitter who should find a place in the line up.

Another Salem catcher is junior Becky Crespo, who not only hits consistently but also may be the best infielder, according to Way.

While Way is still undecided about her infield and outfield positions, Crespo could be a second baseman or shortstop who will help plug up the middle defensively.

Lynne Stone, Kathy Leehman and Peggy Moore are the three infielders lost to graduation. Donna Goodrich is the lone returning senior on the basepaths. Goodrich played shortstop and third base last season but also could see some action at second base.

Nan Horwood is another varsity letter winner who is only a sophomore. She saw some action at shortstop last season.

Kathy Gardner and Stacy Nicolin are other infield possibilities, while Boyd and Sue Evans will battle for first base action.

Six outfielders, five of whom return from last season, will also battle for starting honors.

Cindy Cindrich suffered a knee injury last year as a junior and saw limited action. She ruturns healthy this season with hopes of contributing to the Salem efforts.

Senior Webb is a dependable outfielder along with senior Lisa Lukens. Lukens returns to the Rocks' program after playing varsity as a fresman three years ago.

Juniors Doris Hoelsher and Diane Goodrich, along with sophomore Peggy Somers, also carry strong bats which may get them in the starting line up.

Despite the flexible talent, Way said she is very anxious to choose a set line up after rotating players in the preseason. She feels this stablization will be beneficial to the team's chances for the Sub-8 title.

Trotters ready for DRC opening

Racing enthusiasts will once again hear the pitter-patter of equine feet tonight when Wolverine Harness Raceway kicks off its 29th season at 8 p.m.

The meet promises to be one of the best in the nation as an abundance of top quality horses and horsemen have been attracted from all over the country.

The powerful 40-horse Frank O'Mara stable is coming up from Florida along with the stock of former Wolverine driving champions Chris Boring and Ted Taylor.

Doug Ackerman is bringing 20 head from California and world-champion woman driver Bea Farber is shipping 15 horses from her winter headquarters in Georgia.

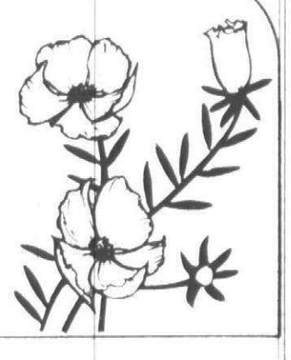

Northville Downs' driving champs Tom Harmer and Leroy Copeland will be present as will Windsor Raceway's top driver, Bill Gale, and leading trainer, Jerry Moffatt.

Three other successful Canadian drivers—Bill Hicks, Robert Lackey and Lyle Grinnage will be racing at Wolverine for the first time.

Frank Bruno, the track's new general manager, has reportedly implemented a number of improvements at the Livonia oval, located at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt.

In The Pocket.

By W.W. EDGAR

Maybe it's the atmosphere. Maybe it's because the lanes at Wonderland are the last of the old wooden type. But whatever it is, rolling 700 series is becoming common.

Last week, Kathy Bienkowski wrote her name indelibly on the records by rolling the first 700 series bowled by a woman in the popular place in more than six years. Kathy, bowling in the senior house league, laced counts of 222, 211 and 267 for an even 700.

Meanwhile on the men's side, another barrier-breaking score was posted by Harry Fill, who opened with a 235, followed by a 226 and a 257 for 718. His closest rival was Kerry Reetz, who fired a 664.

Team scoring honors went to Mort Freidman's team with a 3151.

BEV HAGGOBONE, who carries a 145 average at Westland Bowl, reached a new high for the ladies when she put together games of 170, 221, and 175 for a 566. This is more than 130 pins above her average.

In the ladies classic, June Martin led the parade with games of 220, 202 and 199 for 621. At that, she had only a six pin lead on Sandy Marsh, who had a 224 between games of 200 and 191. Jackie Richards handed third with games of 200 and 221 in 590.

SHARON BEHRENDT has been carving a name for herself in women's bowling circles in the metropolitan area in recent weeks.

Her team is not only leading the women's state tournament with a record count, but Sharon, herself, is on a scoring spree.

For the second straight week, she paced the ladies major league at Crown Lanes last Wednesday night, but added some real color when she closed with a "dutch" 200 after games of 265 and 191 for a 656.

SCORES WENT SOARING at Garden Lanes this week when May Lackey showed the way to the Ladies Classic with a 629.

On the men's side, William Knight rolled a 668 to pace the Homesteaders and nip Bob Kleinbrook by nine pins.

THERE WAS ANOTHER barrier breaking 700 series at Mayflower Lanes when Harold Davis, in the St. Valentine League, used a 288 high single for the house with a 290.

Among the women, Carol Gold is still high with a 266 and Dollie Wood has high series with a 617.

The Mayflower Split-Conversion Club added three new members during the week.

Betty Agnee made it by toppling the 6-7-10. Rene Young earned her membership by sweeping the 4-7-10 and Fran Trost got in by knocking down the 3-7-10.

ART KAHNISTO will long remember the big thrill he got last week in the Bel-Aire men's league.

Left with the "impossible" 7-10 split he calmly took his place on the approach, then fired. Even he couldn't believe what happened. He converted it and now joins the ranks of the elite who have accomplished the trick.

In the classic, Roger Luoma was top man with a 687, 20 pins more than his closest rival, Earl Denomme. While they were battling the Edgewood Distributors took high series with a 3413.

Cheers galore from Tiger fans

By W.W. EDGAR

The Bird is on the wing again.

Not only did he pitch the Detroit Tigers to a 6-2 victory over the Toronto Blue Jays to usher in the American League baseball season, but he was responsible for some strange sights in the old stadium that has known some very dramatic moments in its time.

When he fielded Dave McKey's grounder and tossed him out in the last inning, the capacity crowd of 52,528 arose and gave the entire team an ovation that in the past was reserved only for Mark Fidrych.

And, in the midst of it all, the victory caused General Manager Jim Campbell to state that the Bird made possible one of the most delightful afternoons he has ever spent at an opener.

As the crowd rose and cheered, Campbell stood in his private box and shouted, "I only hope you love us as much in September as you do in April."

Prior to the game, he told members of the press that this season was going to be one of his greatest gambles. He is pitting his theory of raising his own baseball products against that of purchasing stars to provide a winning team.

"If we can get by this first game, it will help a whole lot as these kids get filled with vim and vigor needed to get off on the right foot."

It didn't take Campbell and the crowd long to see that the "kids" would be an exciting ball club.

Before the afternoon was over, they had overcome a two-run deficit that came about in the second inning when the Bird had his toughest time.

Not only did the young Tigers fight back and clobber Dave Lemanczyk, a former teammate who was on the mound for the Blue Jays, but they connected for three home runs along the way.

One of those was a blast from Jason Thompson's bat that hit the roof in right field in the seventh inning for the final run.

Prior to that, Phil Mankowski hit for the circuit in the fourth inning and Milt May connected for the other on his first appearance at the plate in the second inning.

While the Tigers showed the power that Campbell has hoped for, they also played almost flawless ball in the field and were charged with a lone error. That came on a hard chance that Phil Mankowski juggled at third base in the eighth inning.

In the main, though, it was the Bird's day. He not only held the Blue Jays to six scattered hits but fielded his position better than any Tiger pitcher has done in years.

He handled all five balls hit back to him, but in his enthusiasm, he once crawled all over Lou Whittaker, the rookie second baseman. For awhile, it seemed one of them was injured.

Occasionally this spring, it was feared that Fidrych may not be able to come back after his disastrous injuries of a year ago. But he was his old self out in the field.

He knelt as if to pray before the first pitch to every batter. He scowled and talked to himself and even strode around the mound to protest one of the umpire's calls of what the Bird thought was a strike.

All the while, he allowed only five balls to be hit to the outfield and required 115 pitches to gain his victory while striking out five batters along the way.

With the Bird going like that, he may inspire the rest of the team. You could see it out there Friday when those "kids"—Alan Trammell at shortstop and Lou Whittaker at second base—withstood the pressu

Geake's party raises $4,000

More than 200 officials were on hand recently to greet U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin at Northville Downs.

Griffin was the guest of honor for State Sen. Robert Geake's third annual race track party. The party raised more than $4,000 to help fund Geake's campaign for re-election in the 14th Senate District which includes Livonia, Plymouth and Plymouth Township, Redford and Northville. Geake is a Northville Republican.

The idea of a race track party as a fundraiser was started by U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell when he was state senator. Geake won election to Pursell's senate seat about a year ago in a special election after Pursell got elected to Congress.

Geake now is running for a four-year term in the Michigan Senate, having filled out the expired portion of Pursell's term.

Clean Water: How do you manage that? Find Out at Public Hearings April 17-20

How we use our water is everybody's business. This is why, in 1972, Congress passed the federal Water Pollution Control Act — an act that provided a way for citizens and local elected officials to work together developing plans to prevent and correct the abuse of our water.

Such a plan has been completed recently by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. Last August, you saw and supported portions of the plan that will establish an areawide water quality board to monitor pollution control.

At one of eight regional public hearings, April 17 through 20, you can find out how abuse of our water can be stopped by treatment of municipal wastewater, disposal of treatment residuals (known as sludge), and control of urban and rural runoff (known as nonpoint pollution), through the Council's water quality management plan.

Prepare Yourself With Background Information

Come to the hearings prepared. You owe it to yourself, and to the future of clean water in Southeast Michigan. Background information on the Water Quality Management Plan can be picked up at any one of the following regional Clean Water Information Centers now and through the week of the hearings:

Macomb Intermediate School District

Ellis Branch Library
3700 S. Custer Rd., Monroe

Come and Tell Us What You Think

We want to know what you think about the Council's plan. About how to stop the abuse of our water, clean it up, and keep it that way. You will have the chance to comment on the plan at any one of the following regional public hearings:

'The thrill of victory' experienced at birth by dad

By SHERRY KAHAN

The thrill of victory enveloped Ed Ruehle of Redford Township at the moment his daughter, Melissa Ann, was born.

Having taken childbirth preparation classes along with his wife, Barbara, Ruehle was in the delivery room in St. Mary Hospital to help Melissa Ann make her way into the world.

After birth, the infant was laid briefly on her mother's stomach. But Ruehle, sitting less than two feet away in gown, mask, hat and shoe covers, was not permitted to lay his hands on the tiny marvel.

"I was allowed in the delivery room, yet I still couldn't be part of anything afterward," reported the father, who described his feelings as somewhere between "anguished animosity and just plain old angry."

"Once the delivery was over, I was literally locked out," he continued. "They wouldn't let me hold or touch her or even get near. I had to look at her through a window. I felt I was in a department store where signs said, 'Look, but don't touch.'

"They hold up taking the babies to the mothers at feeding time until all of us fathers are out of there. They even check the closets to see if any fathers are hiding. I'm surprised they don't look under the beds."

RUEHL'S POSTPARTUM bitterness highlights the fact that something new has been added recently to the birth experience. Recognition has been given to the father's role in what before was pretty much a medical relationship between the mother and her doctor.

Lamaze childbirth classes have brought Dad into the delivery room. At the same time pareni l ilasses have been stressing the necessity of putting the father back into fatherhood and getting him involved.

Ruehl was already involved and ready to experience along with his wife the soft skin of his baby and the ritualistic counting of fingers and toes.

In three of the five area hospitals with maternity departments, his experience would have been different. He would have had a chance to hold his child while it was still in the hospital.

Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Providence Hospital in Southfield and Garden City Osteopathic Hospital offer fathers the chance to administer a little tender loving care to their babies after delivery.

Botsford General Hospital in Farmington and St. Mary in Livonia keep fathers from their children until they leave for home.

FEAR OF INFECTION is at the bottom of the difference in procedure.

"If the father has an upper respitory infection, boils or diarrhea, and comes in to hold his baby, the baby would be exposed to his germs," said Anne Gusfa, director of nursing at St. Mary. "Babies' resistance is very low at that age. Not only might that one baby get ill, it might also expose the other babies in the nursery."

Hospital administrator Rita Radzialowski added: "To keep the nursery germ-free, we never permit a staff member assigned to a medical or surgical unit to return right away to the nursery. This is because of the possibility of carrying an infection.

"Nurses, nurses aides and all personnel wear special gowns in the nursery. If they go to lunch they must change gowns when they return. Once you get a case of something like diarrhea in the nursery, it is a real problem. We have to isolate the baby from the other babies. We also isolate the staff member working with that baby."

BUT AT PROVIDENCE they is another view.

"There is a realization in most hospitals on the part of pediatricians and obstetricians that it is important to start the family relationship as soon as possible," observed Jeanne Federstill, assistant director of copmmunity relations.

Family care instructor Jan Barger added: "We feel fathers are also members of the family and should be included in the whole birth process. After the child is both, the fathers should be able to get acquainted as the mothers do.

"Many fathers today want to get involved in infant care as opposed to several years ago when they were not as involved with the newborn."

A registered nurse, Mrs. Barger teachs Lamaze childbirth classes for the Plymouth Childbirth Assoication and for a group of doctors at Providence. She said that studies have shown that parents who have a time to bond with children at birth have a closer relationship with them in the older years.

As for the infection problem, Mrs. Barger said studies done in various hospitals where fathers were allowed contact with babies have shown no increased incidence of infection.

"In Providence we have not had a higher incidence of infection in babies since the program was started."

Providence takes its theories about tender loving care one step further than most hospitals. Before the mother goes home, Mom and Dad are served a champagne dinner with the option of ordering steak or lobster.

THE ACTING DIRECTOR of nurses at Annapolis Hospital reported that there has been no increase in infections in infants because of contact with fathers.

"Parents love it," said Mrs. Doris Spencer. "The isolation technique is out. The thinking now is that the sooner the baby is handled the sooner he feels he's loved."

Mary Palmarchuk of Garden City appreciated the fact that Garden City Osteopathic Hospital had a liberal policy toward fathers.

"My husband had a cold so he didn't come in," she said. "But he would have liked to. It's very good to allow the husband to hold the baby. Otherwise he feels left out."

She felt that not enough fathers were taking advantage of the opportunity to spend time with their babies.

David and Mary Ann McQuaid of Livonia were impressed by the rules at Providence Hospital. Because of working hours McQuaid was unable to take advantage of it. But he said, "I believe it's a better way of doing things.

"What I liked best was that our kids could go and see the baby through the nursery window before she was brought home."

"That was really great," agreed his wife. "The nurse unwrapped her and showed them her tiny feet. They thought she was pretty."

Mrs. James Kelly of Westland said that her husband wasn't troubled by the ban on father's holding babies at St. Mary.

"He liked watching her being born," she commented. "But the only time he was upset was when we were getting ready to leave. They wouldn't let them hold her until she was fully dressed and until he sat down. It made him feel incompetent, even though he has three children."

THE REV. DON NEAL of Detroit, after spending several days peering at his son, Drew, through the nursery window at St. Mary, described his feelings about the birth situation there.

"You've gone through everything together, including labor," he began. "So it's like dangling a baby in front of you whom you can't touch. If they would allow the father to hold it once after birth, it would be enough to keep him on cloud nine until the time the baby went home.

"If they laid him on his mother's stomach, and I'm 18 inches away on a stool, in sterile clothing, it would be an ideal time for me to be able to hold him."

Minister of Christian education at First Church of the Nazarene, Detroit, Rev. Neal feels that inconsistent standards about fathers may not be totally health-related "or acceptable hospitals wouldn't allow it."

Dr. Philip Adler, chairman of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at Botsford Hospital, differs with Neal. He said that it is important to monitor the newborn child and keep it warm.

"If its temperature drops it could have problems breathing," he pointed out. "It might get cold if not in a preheated crib."

Germs are what he worries about, when contemplating visits by fathers to their babies. "You have to be careful about germs, especially germs from people not in the family," he stated. "Babies are very susceptible."

He also indicated that the hospital is not set up for father's visits, logistically speaking.

"Most rooms have two or four beds," he said. "That creates problems when there are two families involved. We fear a cross infection between the two families and their babies."

MISS RADZIALOWSKI of St. Mary pointed to a statement by a panel of surgeons at a meeting of the American College of Surgeons. It claimed that both patients and visitors are at risk because of liberalized visiting rights.

Infections acquired from visitors or hospital personnel may require as many as 10 extra days of hospitalization, it said. The panel called for a reduction in hospital visits.

"We'd rather be overcautious about fathers visiting their babies," she said. "But we haven't given up the idea of having babies room with their mothers or have fathers hold their babies. We will wait for more scientific data on infections in hospitals with the more liberal policies."

Gift to Kindness Center

Members of the Apple Run branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association took a tour of the Kindness Center at the Wayne County Humane Society in Westland. Before they left, they presented a check for $100 to be used for medical instruments. From left: Bonnie Nowicki, Margo Whiting, veterinarian William Gregg, club president Sharon Palise, Cheryl Wachlarz and Ann King were on hand for the presentation. The ladies also took along stacks of newspapers for the center. (Staff photo)

Region's population growth to slow down

By TIM RICHARD

Local officials who are delegates to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments will have some big decisions to make later this year on growth policy for the seven-county region.

"It's not going to be unanimous," predicted SEMCOG Executive Director Michael Glusac as he unveiled six different population projections for communities in the region.

The best guess SEMCOG has is that the total population, currently about 4.8 million, will rise to 5.2 million by the year 2000. That's considerably below the forecast of 6.1 million in SEMCOG's 1990 plan, adopted several years ago.

The argument will be over how those 5.2 million will be spread across the region. Will older cities and suburbs be preserved? Or will they be drained of population and present farmlands bulldozed for subdivisions and shopping centers to serve a shifting, but not increasing, population?

"THERE'S A ROLE for local elected officials to play," said Larry Pernick, an Oakland County commissioner and vice-chairperson of SEMCOG.

Can SEMCOG or anyone else enforce whichever of the six growth patterns it adopts?

Pernick answered: "If a county or city wants to build a sewer system itself, it has no problem—until you ask someone else to pay for it." A local government seeking federal aid, however, would have its federal aid request reviewed by SEMCOG's review committee.

Other governmental tools for implementing a plan would be rapid transit (or lack of it), new highways (or lack of them), federally assisted housing and recreation facilities.

Two things that can't be controlled by the region, Glusac said, are the national economy and major corporate decisions.

THE SEMCOG document outlining the policy alternatives is called "Small Area Forecasts: Policies, Results and Evaluation." Copies have been sent to local governments.

Under consideration are these six policy options:

1. "Local plans modified by trends in local policy changes. . . . The trends reflect reductions in some of the proposed sewer extensions called for by local plans, since many communities find they do not grow as rapidly as initially expected. They also reflect moderate protection policies in regards to sensitive land."

2. "Local plans modified by strong resource conservation policies . . . to contain development within existing urbanized areas . . . New sewer extensions are limited to committed projects, no development is allowed on any sensitive lands, urban redevelopment is accelerated, highway construction is cut back, and transit construction is accelerated."

3. "Local plans, modified by county plans and policies . . . The development philosophy of out-Wayne and Macomb counties is to support the policies of their local communities, which are generally supportive of growth. The philosophies of other counties (including Oakland) call for moderate preservation policiies: revitalization of older urban areas and conservation of sensitive land types."

4. "Market forces, unrestrained . . . no restraints due to public policies . . . No sensitive land is protected; highway development is accelerated; and transit development de-emphasized."

5. "Local plans, unmodified . . . No sensitive land types are protected. Local plans are generally supportive of growth. As such they tend to continue or accelerate current patterns of urban sprawl."

6. "Local plans, modified by adopted SEMCOG policy recommendations . . . a moderate preservation philosophy . . . The preservation policies, however, are not as stringent as those assumed in alternative 2 . . . The intent of these policies is to decelerate urban sprawl, revitalize existing urban areas, and increase utilization of existing and proposed transit networks, thereby reducing public service and utility costs."

The Stroller

Surprising sights

By W.W. EDGAR

In his journey through this vale of tears, The Stroller has feasted his eyes on many beautiful sights. He has witnessed the rising of the sun while he was flying high over the Atlantic Ocean. And he has seen it set from beautiful vistas on the Hawaiian Islands.

It has been his good fortune to watch the changing of the guards at Buckingham Palace and Queen Elizabeth waving to the crowds gathered at the tall iron gates. He has marvelled at the beauty of the Alps from the bus window taking him to Luzerne, Switzerland. He has walked under the Arch of Triumph in Paris and has visited Westminster Abbey.

He has sat by the hour just staring at the stone faces of the four presidents at Mount Rushmore. And he was almost breathless at his first sight of the Grand Canyon and later Yosemite Valley.

THERE WERE GREAT sights to remember when he saw the banana boats come at dawn to the docks in New Orleans. And he never can forget the morning he stood on the dock at Bridgeport, Conn. and watched the fishing boats come in off the Atlantic and dump their haul to sell for a penny a pound.

But the other morning he saw one of the most surprising of them all when his eyes noticed that the tulips had forced their way out of the ground.

Only a week ago there still was a sheet of ice and some snow covering the tulips beds. And last January when the snows fell and left piles five and six feet high along the walk, The Stroller was certain that spelled the end of the tulips.

He was reconciled to the fact that he'd have to arrange a new garden because it would be too late to plant tulips when spring came. He spent many an hour during the winter wondering just what kind of a garden he would have.

He's relieved of that worry now. The tulips are up. Not just one or two, but dozens have stuck their pointed leaves out of the ground as much as to say, "well, here we are again."

And what a surprisingly pleasant sight it was because The Stroller has had some rare experiences with tulips over the years since he left the concrete jungle of the city to enjoy life in the suburbs.

For instance, there was the first year. He and his bride moved into their new home in October and one of the first things The Stroller did was plant tulips on the west side of the house. He had visions ofa beautiful edge for the white house with the green shutters.

He planted other varieties of flowers too, but it was the tulip border that garnered most of his interest. All through the winter months he looked at the snow. It wasn't too deep. And each time he looked, he had visions of color

Finally spring came. The daffodils broke through the ground. The roses started to bud. The zenias came out, along with the sheet of morning glories reaching to the roof of the old wishing well.

But there were no tulips.

Night after night he'd walk out to the border after dinner hoping to see just a glimmer of green coming up through the ground. But his hopes were in vain.

Then one Si ay afternoon when some of the relatives paid us a visit and heard the sad tale of the tulips, one of them asked:

"Are you sure you didn't plant them upside down?"

The Stroller thought he was joking. Then, in a serious vein, we got a garden spade and started to dig.

What we saw was a nightmare.

Sure enough, the bulbs had been planted upside down and the ground moles dragged the long shoots down through their tunnels in the yard.

We just stood there aghast. There were no tulips and the only comfort The Stroller had was the knowledge that somebody or something enjoyed the fruits of his labor.

That's why it was such a pleasant sight to see those green tips break through the ground the other morning.

Despite the fact that there was no one within hearing distance he couldn't help shouting "The tulips are up."

It was one of the most pleasant sights he ever had seen.

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

'Casey's Shadow' will win your heart

Easter, like Christmas and summer, is one of those times of year when a batch of movies are released within a few days of each other. Consequently, this is an attempt to play catch up by reviewing a few of these films briefly.

With the exception of some occasional loose language, "Caseys Shadow" (PG) is a family film in the best sense, a film that can hold the interest of adults as well as children. It deals with love and loyalty, with conscience and self respect.

Walter Matthau is Lloyd Bourdelle, an easy-going Cajun horse trainer trying to raise three motherless sons on his rundown Louisiana farm.

Through a quirk of fate he acquires part-ownership in a horse with outstanding potential as a quarter-miler. He recognizes his chance of a lifetime. If the horse can win the Futurity, Bourdelle will not only win amountain of money but recognition. It's his chance to "be somebody."

AN INJURY TO the horse, bids from wealthy stable owners and the opposition of hissons pose a series of crises which test his mettle and his conscience. The movie keeps one guessing about the outcome. It's an absorbing, heartwarming story, well told and well acted.

CHILDREN ALSO figure prominently in "The Fury" (R), but this is definitely not a family movie, although it's likely to appeal to a teenage and young adult crowd. Brian De Palma, who directed the thriller "Carrie," again fills the screen with his pyrotechnics and special effects.

"The Fury" is a frightfilm about two teenagers, Robin (Andrew Stevens) and Gillian (Amy Irving), who have psychic powers. Kirk Douglas enlists Gillian's help to locatehis son Robin who is in the clutches of a super-secret government agency.

John Cassavetes plays the ruthless head of the agency who wants to use the teenagers' powers in some dastardly way. The exact nature of their powers is difficult to define, since Robin and Gillian always seem capable of doing whatever has to be done.

The outstanding and most gruesome of these powers (until the shock ending) is Gillian's ability to make people bleed. They bleed through their eyes, their fingernails; they even get brain hemorrhages.

"THE FURY" IS absorbing in its own classy-trashy way, but if you feel faint when you apply a Band-aid, better skip this one. The movie's a real gusher, andI don't mean oil.

THE DIRECTOR of "Straight Time" (R) Ulu Grosbard, seta tough task for himself, and he may have succeeded too well. He decided to present the story of an ex-con without adornment, sentiment or socio-psychological explanation. This perception together with Dustin Hoffman's cool portrayal, simply walls off the character from the audience. We aren't given material to help us develop sympathy for—or at least understanding of—the character.

There is one hilarious scene when the ex-con puts down his obnoxious parole officer (M. Emmet Walsh). Otherwise, "Straight Time" is a bleak movie and pointless.

Michael Hershewe stars with Walter Matthau and Alexis Smith in "Casey's Shadow."

Glimpses

AMERICAN HOT WAX (PG). Story of rock 'n' roll era with guest shots by Chuck Berry and Jerry Lee Lewis. Tim McIntire plays deejay Alan Freed.

THE BIG SLEEP (R). Robert Mitchum and Sarah Miles in unnecessary and undistinguished remake of the 1946 Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall film about hard-boiled private eye.

THE BOYS IN COMPANY C (R). Lives of a cross section of young men from marine boot camp to Vietnam. Good individual performances.

CASEY'S SHADOW (PG). Sensitive movie about impoverished Cajun (Walter Matthau), his three sons and the horse that becomes pivotal to their future fortunes.

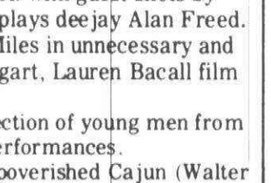

COMA (PG). Scary and unpleasant movie about some strange goings-on at a hospital. Genevieve Bujold is the plucky doctor who uncovers a fiendish arrangement.

THE FURY (R). Director Brian DePalma unleashes the special effects in gory film about secret government agency and two teenagers with strange psychic powers.

HIGH ANXIETY (PG). Mel Brooks tips his hat to Hitchcock in this lunatic romp at the Psycho-Neurotic Institute for the Very, Very Nervous. Liberal visual "quotations" from Hitchcock in this howler.

HOUSE CALLS (PG) Walter Matthau and Glenda Jackson in entertaining comedy about amorous adventures of widowed doctor and complications in hospital politics.

Katros is cleared in accident

Chris Katros, an 18-year-old driver charged with blocking an intersection and ignoring an emergency vehicle warning in an accident with the Canton police Dec. 18, saw charges against him dismissed Wednesday in 35th District Court.

The police officer who was involved in the accident, Ken Winkler, was speeding to an armed robbery call reported at the Hudson Bait Shop, 43271 Ford Road.

Because Katros suffered heavy losses with the totalling of his car, a Canton police spokesmen said officers have decided not to cause Katros further financial woes in trying to secure insurance.

Katros' mother said Wednesday that her son was unjustly ticketed.

"The policeman didn't have his siren on, the police witness didn't show and the fact is my son had a green light and the cop came came smashing through the red light," said Mrs. George Katros.

Construction, pot bills split senate

Five suburban state senators split along party lines recently as labor and marijuana bills sailed through.

Senators passed 24-12 a labor-backed bill which would require payment of prevailing wages and fringes on all school construction and repair contracts.

State senators from the Observer & Eccentric area split along party lines. Democrats Daniel Cooper of Oak Park, William Faust of Westland and Bill Huffman, representing a part of Troy, voted for the bill.

Republicans Donald Bishop of Rochester and Robert Geake of Northville cast no votes.

Opponents said the bill would inflate school construction and repair costs by as much as 20 per cent. Previously, school districts did not have to pay prevailing costs and benefits to contractors who were non-union.

AREA SENATORS once again split along party lines, 25-12, in voting to eliminate criminal penalties for possession of up to one ounce of marijuana.

Under the terms of the bill, persons convicted of possession of up to one ounce would be subject to maximum fines of $100 and would have no permanent criminal record.

Under current law, the maximum penalty for the same offense is up to one year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Democrats Cooper, Faust and Huffman voted for the reduction in pot penalties. Republicans Bishop and Geake opposed the bill.

The same issue, last year, led to emotional speeches and a shoving incident on the floor of the state house of representatives.

Ice cream time

Sandra McDonald of Plymouth, and daughter Mary, age 3½, react to the 70-degree spring weather last week by visiting a Dairy Queen and then strolling down Main Street. For little Mary there were plenty of new sights to see. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

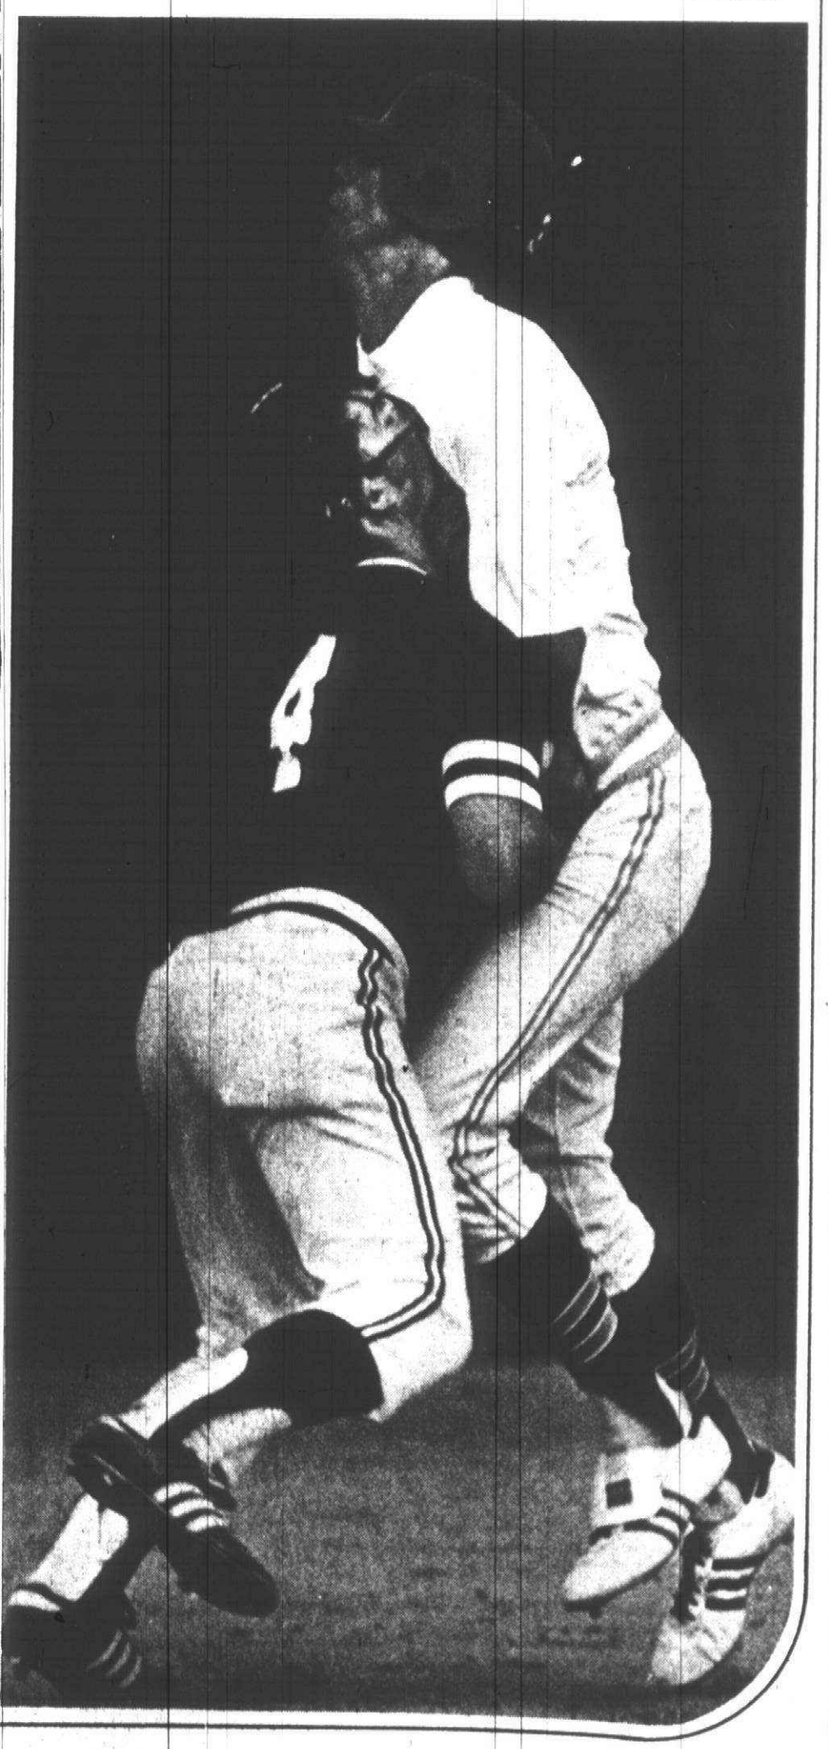

He lost the game-winning point

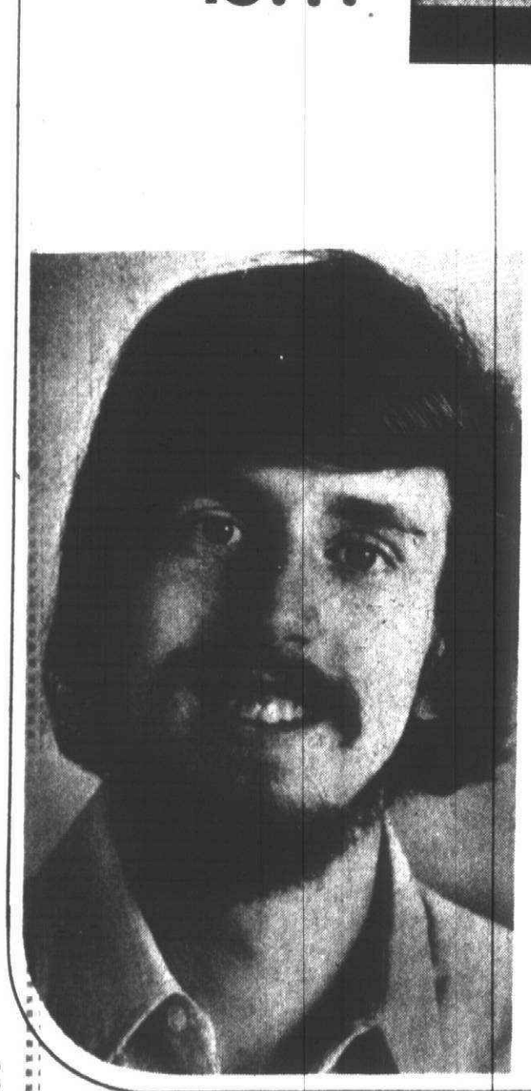

Love me tender

Pardon me

—and the winner is...

Anyone who has peered through the eye of a camera knows that the prints or slides that they pick up at the drug store can include a fuzzy print here or a decapitated relative there.

In other words, we all know that taking good pictures involves a fair amount of luck and that taking award-winning pictures transcends luck and becomes an art.

All this is to introduce you to one of our youngest Observer & Eccentric staff members, Gary Friedman, Southfield Eccentric photographer and winner of the "Photographer of the Year" award.

Gary is no stranger to this award bestowed by the National Press Photographers Association. His work was honored in '74, '75 and again this year for pictures taken in '77.

We asked him the traditional newspaper question, "why photography?" figuring he's still young enough at 23 to remember why he chose the field.

"My older brother is a commercial portrait photographer and he gave me a camera. I used to help him at weddings. Then I went to work for my school newspaper when I was 16 and I shot high school baskeball games. I was asked to free lance for the Southfield Eccentric and was promoted to part-time staff photographer a short time later and eventually to full-time staff photographer."

This makes Gary the guy with the most seniority around the Southfield office, even though he is the youngest there.

We threw another question at him:

"What was your most exciting assignment?"

"In 1976 I took a leave of absence for three months because I was chosen to be an intern photographer for the National Geographic. I drew assignments in Washington DC, Toronto, Vermont, and Cincinnati."

The highlight of his three month Geographic stint was recording a desert archaelogical dig on film. Subject: Shoshone Indian artifacts.

You're looking at some of Gary's work here. "He missed the game-winning point" and "Pardon me" speak for themselves, but "Love me tender" may need a little explanation:

"The school was enjoying the first winning season in quite awhile and they were killing the other team. The kids were excited. I had my camera trained on the bench and in a split second that picture showed up in my lens. I think it's the best picture I've ever shot."

When you're 23, and have been thrice chosen photographer of the year from four states; Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky, it would seem there is a lifetime of photographs ahead of you. We don't know what Gary's best shot will be a year from now, or in ten years, or twenty, but we do know that we're glad he's here with us now doing what he calls "communicating" with exceptional skill.

Roll Call Report

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes Mar. 9 through 16.

HOUSE

HUMPHREY-HAWKINS—Rejected, 205 for and 215 against, an amendment requiring the federal budget to be balanced by 1983. It was proposed to the Humphrey-Hawkins bill (HR 50) which would establish a national goal of "full employment" and set up several government policies and programs to achieve that objective. A final vote on HR 50 was imminent.

This amendment sought to add to HR 50 another national economic goal—a balanced federal budget within five years. It was backed by the Republican leadership, the business community and other voices who thought Humphrey-Hawkins put too much emphasis on federal pump-priming to create jobs.

Rep. John M. Ashbrook (R-Ohio), sponsor of the amendment, said that what its opponents "want to do, and let us be honest about it, is to take the important issue of deficit spending and. . .in effect, pigeonhole it."

Rep. Robert Giamo (D-Conn.), an opponent, called the amendment too "rigid" and said HR 50 must "be directed toward unemployment, inflation, and productivity, a healthy rate of growth in the economy—in short, all of the things that make a balanced budget possible."

Members voting "yea" favored including a balanced budget as a mandatory goal of Humphrey-Hawkins.

Reps. David Bonior (D-Mt. Clemens), William Ford (D-Taylor), William Brodhead (D-Detroit) and James Blanchard (D-Pleasant Ridge) voted "nay."

'FLEXITIME'—Failed, 242 for and 141 against, to achieve the two-thirds majority needed to pass a bill (HR 7814) to broaden the use of "flexitime" by federal employees. A two-thirds rather than simple majority approval was required because the bill was brought to the floor under a short-cut parliamentary procedure that prevented the offering of amendments.

Flexitime allows workers to vary the traditional schedule of five eight-hour days. It provides for combinations such as four 10-hour days, so as to give workers more flexibility in their personal lives. HR 7814 sought to enable the Civil Service Commission to begin a far-reaching three-year flexitime experiment at some agencies and departments.

Rep. Herbert Harris (D-Va.), a supporter, said: "In the working world, we assume an eight-hour, five-day week is somehow fixed in concrete. . .We must face the fact that the 40-hour week just does not suit everybody; nor is it always necessary. Most of all, it is not sacrosanct."

Rep. Abraham Kazen (D-Tex.), an opponent, said that eventually under flexitime "every federal employee is going to work three or four days a week and the balance of the time will go out in that labor market, which is already highly saturated with unemployment, and get an additional job. . ."

Members voting "nay" opposed flexitime on its merits or because they objected to the short-cut parliamentary procedure under which the bill was considered.

Bonior, Ford, Brodhead, Blanchard and Pursell voted "yea."

Broomfield did not vote.

ASSASSINATIONS PANEL—Failed, 182 for and 198 against, to cut the budget of the House select committee on assassinations and require the panel's continued existence to be justified at hearings conducted by the House administration committee. After failure of the motion, the House adopted H Res 956, which approved a 1978 budget of $2.5 million for the committee created to investigate the assassinations of Dr. Martin Luther King and President John F. Kennedy. The committee plans extensive public hearings in the fall and a final report soon thereafter.

Rep. Robert Bauman (R-Md.), sponsor of the motion to curtail the committee, said: "This committee is getting twice the. . .money that the House just authorized the judiciary committee, which has far more current and important activities in which to engage."

Rep. Stewart McKinney (R-Conn.), a committee member and opponent of the motion, said: "I think we will come back to this House and make the House proud to show that for the first time this body has carried forth an investigation in a professional, quiet manner and an investigation that is second to none in either house of Congress."

Members voting "yea" favored requiring the assassinations committee to justify itself.

Retires from work but Rix still singing

Edward T. Rix has ended a 27-year career with Dunn Steel Products in Plymouth but he's still singing tenor in the church choir.

Rix retired last month, ending 27 years employment with Dunn, as a machine repairman in the firm's maintenance department. But for the past 27 years Rix also has been singing in the choir of the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, and he isn't ready yet to step down from the choir.

ONLY TWO YEARS ago Rix received a diamond-studded lapel pin for completing 25 years with Dunn Steel.

He continued working for two years after receiving that honor, but life has been too busy for Rix and he finally decided to retire and devote full-time to his many other pursuits.

In his leisure years, Ed and his wife Grace will continue to travel as members of the Nomad Club, with which they have journeyed more than 100,000 miles through the world.

Rix also is an excellent photographer and is a skilled watchmaker as well.

He is a member and past president of the Plymouth Optimist Club, plays the piano, and is learning to play on his new electric organ. He also likes to fish.

EDWARD T. RIX

Rix's interest in travel started with his service with the U.S. Navy during World War II when he manned guns on merchant ships. At that time he took many trips—three to England, one through the Panama Canal to New Caledonia, and others. As Nomad members, the Rixs have travelled to Switzerland, Australia, Germany and many other lands.

'My Three Angels' will open April 21

In a joint production effort, the comedy "My Three Angels" will open April 21 at the Theater Guild of Livonia-Redford Playhouse.

Plymouth Theater Guild, Livonia-Redford Guild and Wayne-Westland Community Theater have combined memberships to form the Initial Productions company for producing the three-act comedy.

The collaboration was conceived nearly two years ago as a means of experimentng with each of the groups artistic talents and production techniques, a spokeman said.

"We've noticed an ever-widening trend of community theater members to work with two or more groups in order to use their talents to the fullest," said Mary O'Connell, one of the shows producers.

"It was decided to make the trend 'official' and put all our talents and time together in a three-way production."

Mrs O'Connell is working with Patti Troth and Bobbie Jo Blank to produce the comedy.

Mark McCullough directs the show.

The play is an adaption by Sam and Bella Spewak of the French play, "Les Cusin des Angels." The romance of a young woman and her wayward beau is set on a tropical island in the early 1900s.

The comical antics of three well-meaning convicts and a poisonous pet snake add to the confusion. Chaos sets in when a villanous uncle, owner of the shop in which the story takes place, arrives.

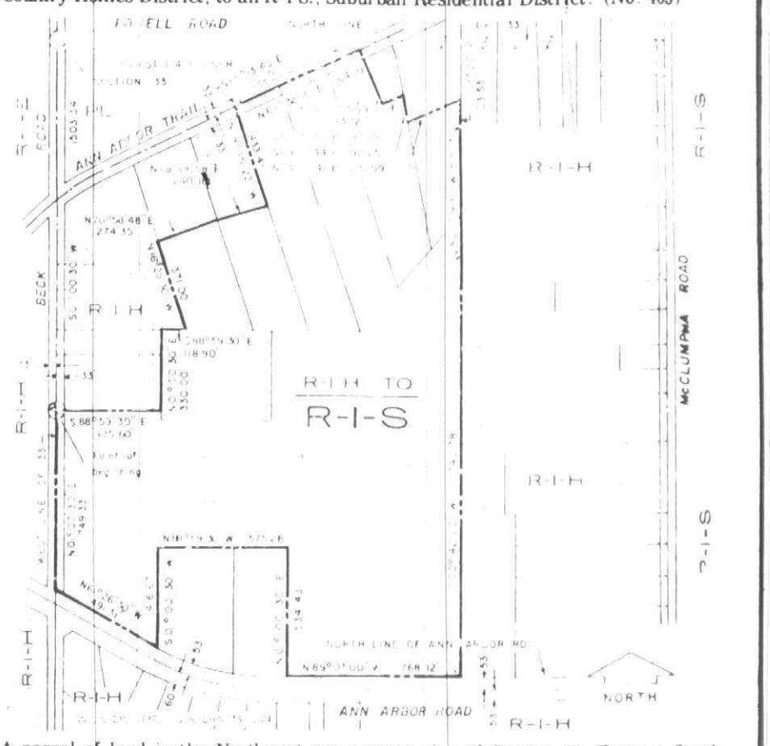

Tickets are $3 with reservations available by calling 421-3124.

Performances will be April 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, and May 5-7. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 7:30 p.m. Sundays. The playhouse is at 15138 Beech Daly, near Five Mile, Redford.

He 'weaves his way' to a happy retirement

For many, retirement looms in the future—an era of boredom, an end to productivity. For Kenneth Lunn, a loom was the beginning of a new hobby and some of the most creative years of his lifetime.

And at 78, his weaving skills continue to improve. In 15 years, he has progressed from his first efforts—rag rugs—to intricate designs for towels, cushion tops, table runners and bedspreads.

His next project is a Navajo rug for a niece. He has decided on the pattern. The only holdup has been the yarn. But he and his wife, Hilda, went to Eaton Rapids last week for the wool and he'll soon start the tedious job of setting up the warp.

"I had three lessons. My teacher, a lady in Hartland, warned me. She said, 'How badly do you want to learn to weave? It takes a lot of patience.'

"I lacked patience. But sometime—I don't know where or when—I had watched someone weaving and I knew it was something I could do."

THE LUNN'S comfortable home is a showcase for his work.

Colorful Navajo-style rugs are used as hangings on the mellow wood paneled walls. He explained a colorful crimson and gray rug that hangs behind his Macomber loom in the living room.

"Those are Ohio State University colors," he grinned. "Both Hilda and I were born in Columbus." As most natives of the Buckeye State, when he says it, Ohio ends with an "a" rather than an "o."

Kenneth Lunn doesn't spend all his time weaving. He helps spread the word that retirement can be interesting. He has been guest speaker for senior citizen groups and seminars at Schoolcraft College, Tonquish Creek Manor in Plymouth, and the log cabin in Garden City. When workshops on meaningful retirement are planned, he is one of the prime examples that it is possible.

He is a member of the Northville Handweavers Guild and has demonstrated his work at Mill Race Historic Village in Northville.

When Artrain came to Plymouth, he was invited to set up a loom in the freight shed and gave one of his towels to Helen Milliken, wife of the governor of Michigan.

WITH THE ADVENT of spring, his thoughts are turning to his other hobby, gardening.

The Lunns live in that part of Northville Township—just north of Five Mile Road— which is in the Plymouth School District, has a Plymouth mailing address and, until recently, the old GL3 Plymouth telephone number. They have been members of the Plymouth Grange for 27 years.

Once surrounded by farmland, they don't enjoy the encroachment of subdivisions from almost every side. But their acre and a half of land retains its rural atmosphere with its apple trees, rail fence, lawns and large vegetable and flower gardens.

The birds congregate at the feeder outside their dining room window and the pheasants wander a few yards from the house. A retired carpenter, Lunn build their home 22 years ago.

He announced that his peas were up already. "I tried something new. I planted them last fall. They're up and we should have peas by late June."

THE FALL planting was something of an experiment. He said he should have covered the soil with straw, but he didn't have any.

"I planted them in light loam. We have light loam and blue clay before they hit water. If they could find a way to bake that clay someone could make a fortune in the pottery business. There's plenty of it."

Lunn said he is learning all the time in his weaving. "I still make mistakes. Look at the uneven edge on that rug. That was one of the first ones I made.

"I had to go to the Ozarks to learn how to hemstitch the fringed ends. We were in Silver Dollar City, Mo.," he said. "Students at the School of the Ozarks learn and work on the old crafts; they sell them to pay their tuition. I asked one of the girls to show me how to hemstitch and she did.

"I suppose I could have learned around here," he added with a smile, "but I like to say I had to go to a school in the Ozarks to learn to hemstitch."

Contest winners to star on TV

Winners of the solar energy poster contest will not only be awarded some handsome prizes, but will become television stars as well.

The top three winners will be invited to appear on Vic Caputo's "Good Morning Detroit" show on Channel 2 on May 3. The winners will also get a 10 speed bicycle, skateboard donated by Don Thomas Sporthaus or a backpack donated by Benchmark.

The contest is designed to draw attention to solar energy—how it can be used to improve our quality of life. It also will spotlight Sun Day which will be a national celebration of the solar age on May 3.

Students in grades four through eight are invited to draw a picture depicting a current or future use of solar energy. Keep in mind that sunlight has the advantages of being free, available to different nations, its technology is understood and it is a clean energy source.

Drawings should measure 9 by 12 inches or 12 by 18. Each should have the contestant's name, address, phone number, school, grade and teacher written on the back.

The entries will be judged by a panel of artists and scientists and will be rated in terms of their artistic technique and ideas. The contest is sponsored by Concern Inc., East Michigan Environmental Action Council and the Observer and Eccentric Newspapers.

Drop off entries to one of the following offices:

- Plymouth Observer, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48170.

Stanleys to teach PET class in Canton

from your house

By Lori Brickman

981-0237

Parent Effectiveness Training (PET) is becoming a popular course of study for young families today. According to instructor Pegge Stanley, PET is not the permissive philosophy of child rearing many assume it to be.

"Our classes offer skills and methods to help parents resolve conflicts and raise responsible happy children," Mrs. Stanley said.

She and husband, Roger, will begin an eight-week PET program for parents on April 25 in St. John Newman Parish Center, Hanford Road, Canton Township. Classes will be on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 10.

The cost is $40 per person or $60 per couple and includes the PET book and workbook. Scholarships are available and registrations can be made by calling 455-2798.

Roger Stanley has a PhD in behavioral sciences from the University of Michigan and Pegge is currently involved in graduate studies at Eastern Michigan University, majoring in family life and child development. They recently returned from a comprehensive PET training program in Chicago.

A DELIGHTED group of children from the Willow Creek Cooperative Nursery spent last Wednesday visiting the Canton Fire Station on Warren Road. Sirens whirred, lights flashed and truck operations were demonstrated creating a three-ring atmosphere of excitement.

Shelly Satterley's father, Bill, came along taking pictures of the children while they explored the station and its equipment. He also volunteered to be the victim in a demonstration of rescue procedures.

Shelly and three other youngsters, Chris Knecht, Laura Whiteley and Jan Edwards made the event part of a birthday celebration. They have all grown one year older in April along with fellow nursery member Daryl Lohrer.

John Melone and John Roushkolb invited their moms to participate in the tour. Jan Knecht and Marc Edwards also helped to supervise the group.

The children's teacher, Susan Knapp, helped Chris Cook, Angela Szott, Bob Bloomfield and Karin Gasiewicz try on fire helmets.

Eric Renberg, Michael Ling, Eric Niezgoda, Saloni Janveja and Darlene Beard had an opportunity to see the firemen up close and realized, "they looked just like a regular dad."

ONE OF THE most popular aspects of involvement with the Canton Newcomers Club is its variety of special interest groups. Everything from crafts to cultural studies is offered in addition to monthly general meetings, social events, fundraisers and community service projects.

A new study group, which began in January, offers Newcomers an opportunity to learn more about wines and their orgin. Chairpersons are Chico and Cathy Rodriguez of Princess Drive in Canton.

Cathy organized the group after several friends expressed an interest in the subject. Chico, a businessman who sells wine on a large scale, lends his experience and expertise.

They introduced the aspiring connoisseurs first to German wines to the February gathering.

In March, Italy became the focus of attention and learning. Host and hostess for the Italian wines were Kathy and Don McKenna.

Don flew home from his new jop with ITT in New Jersey and brought Kathy's sister for a visit and a little wine tasting. Kathy soon will be looking for a home in their new location and possibly another newcomers club.

Jan and Bob Knecht, Helen and Mike Wesner, Elaine and Tom Lavender and Jan and John Wiktor also are participating in this interest group. All are looking forward to the April meeting and the challenge of French wines.

THE PLYMOUTH Lions Club is holding its annual charity auction on May 7 at the Plymouth Cultural Center. They are accepting donations of salable items with the exception of clothing and large appliances.

"This can be an outstanding career for women. We're here to prove it."

Come to our seminar. Meet the Detroit-area women who have their own professional records and increased incomes as proof of the opportunites at IDS.
Learn about my own twenty years' experience with IDS–how I became an IDS representative and moved up steadily through sales management–while raising a family of five.
Compare your own career ambitions, and experience in sales or working with people, to the qualities current IDS representatives brought to their new career.
We'll discuss how proven training programs help IDS representatives develop the skills to help people and companies manage money.
Find out how you, too, might be able to earn a five-figure income–with no limit on how far and how fast you can go.
IDS is seriously committed to increasing the number of women in our 3200-member sales force. Discover what an opportune time this is to find out more about IDS.
Women and men are invited to join us. Call today for your seminar reservation.

They have our number, do you?

No, we're not talking about our telephone number, although that's an important number too, we're talking about "736", the classification number for "Wanted to Buy" want ads.

Lots of people think the only way to use ads is to tell people what they have to sell. Not so. One little 736 ad will tell people what you want to buy. Looking for a cradle, scuba gear, a 1937 "Superman" comic book? Stick it in 736 and wait for people to call, it's that simple.

And if you've read this far and are thinking, "I really don't have any one special thing I want to buy....we have plenty of numbers for you, too...626...700...708...722. We invite you to try any of these because all of our numbers add up to a lot of satisfaction for you, whether you're in a buying or selling mood.

Retailers
Let's Talk
About Co-op

In 1977 an estimated $1.5 billion of cooperative advertising funds available to retailers were unclaimed. December 31, the majority of those funds reverted back to the manufacturer.
This is your money ... you've earned it by stocking the products. Why give it back?
We can help you discover hidden co-op funds and effectively incorporate those dollars into your regular advertising program.
Call Ron Tabaczka for the complete co-op story and how we can help you at no charge to you. Call

We think Autovest makes so much sense for so many people, that it's the wave of the future. With LaRiche, and Autovest you can afford that new car or truck that seemed out of reach.
HERE'S THE autovest STORY
All Auto Vest payments quoted are based on 25 equal payments. At the completion of your agreement you'll have 3 options. 1) Trade the car in or sell it and keep all equity. 2) If you love the car keep it. Auto Vest is obligated to let you buy it for the price they established today regardless of how high the value may have climbed. 3) If you don't want the car or don't want to trade or sell it, just bring it back and that's that. No obligation on your part. Just make your 25 payments and return it in reasonable condition. Plates & title included. Auto Vest Lease/Purchase Plan.
