Tonquish Creek plain threatened

By PATRICK TOUHEY

Continued development on the flood plains along the Tonquish Creek will cause serious flooding problems, according to a recently released government report.

The report, prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service, studied water drainage patterns along the Tonquish in Westland, Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Flood plains are undeveloped stretches of land that absorb water run-off before it can damage life and property in populated areas.

The study found that much of the Tonquish's flood plain was adequate to absorb run-off from major storms. However, it noted some danger areas, primarily in Plymouth, and concluded that more commercial or residential development would destroy existing protection.

"It's clear that all the municipalities will have to carefully review all new development proposals and ask the question, 'What will this do to our water drainage?' " said Joe Luellen, of the Wayne County Soil Conservation extension office.

ONE OF THE FIRST steps the municipalities could take, he said, is to pass specific ordinances which would prohibit development from eating away the flood plains.

He acknowledged, though, that the enactment of such ordinances was not easy because of the political and economic pressures to develop unused land.

"One of the main problems is that cities and townships are basically looking at increasing their taxbase. If they pass flood plain ordinances, there won't be any development," Luellen observed.

He cited Plymouth and Canton townships as particularly susceptible to the pressure to build at the expense of the flood plains which protect the people who live and work there.

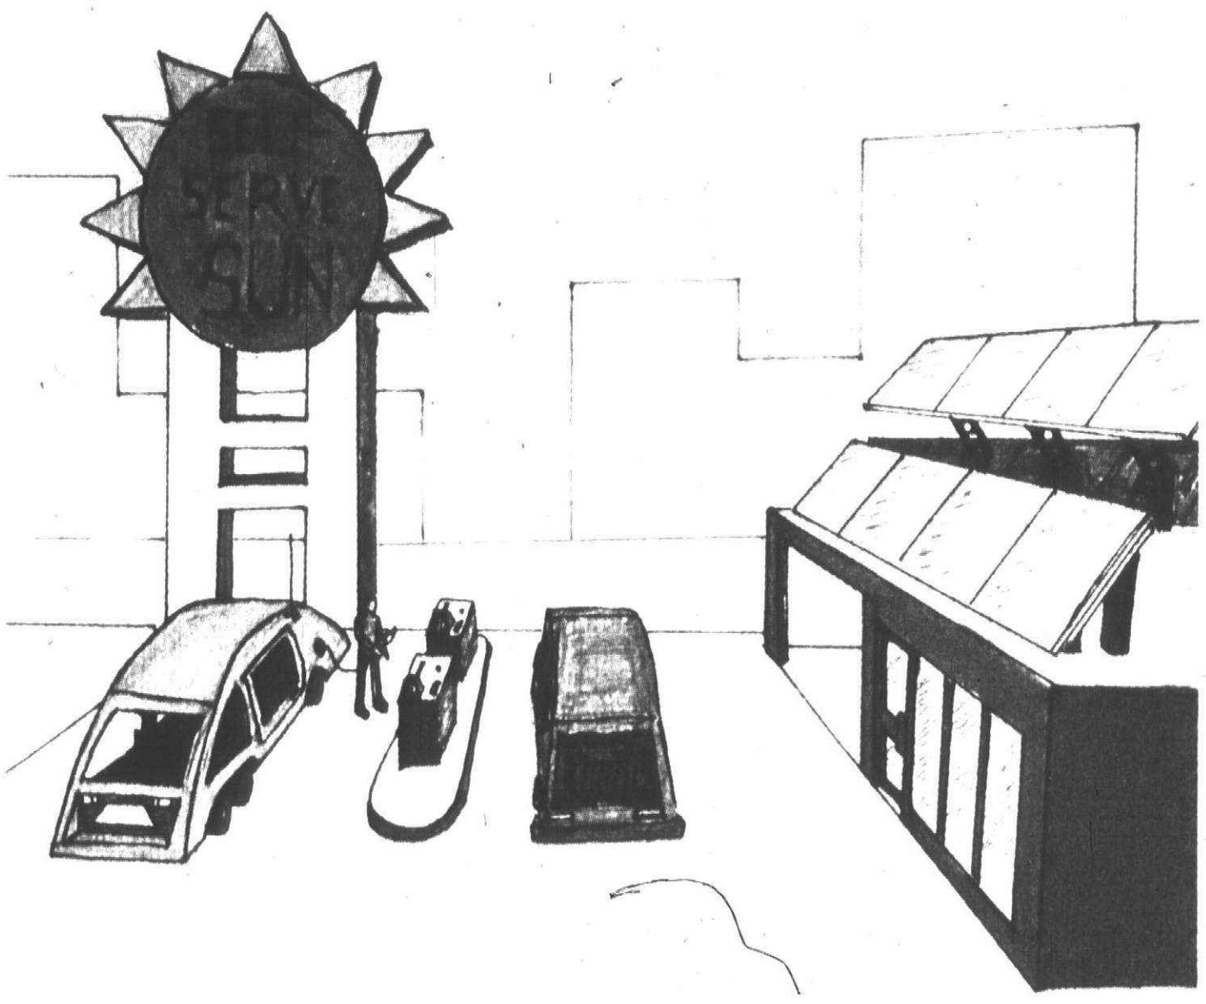

"Another drawback to good flood plain management is the lack of a central authority. Each local unit of government from Westland to Plymouth decides how its land will be used.

But all of them are dependent on Tonquish Creek to drain water safely and quickly."

If Canton allows its farmland to be used for more subdivision development, he said, the reduction in flood plain will cause problems for the other municipalities along the creek.

Nursing home patient burns

By CRAIG PIECHURA

A 77-year-old resident of Dion Nursing Home died early Thursday morning after suffering burns over 60 per cent of her body.

The head of the nursing staff at the home, Callie Long, said the accident occurred at 10:26 p.m. Wednesday night when the patient, Bertha Staffins was smoking a cigarette behind a curtain in her room. The cigarette ignited her nightgown, according to the state police fire marshall's report.

When her clothing caught fire, Mrs. Staffins reportedly ran across the room, fanning the flames. A nurses' aide, Karen Kantrow heard a scream, came into the room and doused the woman with a pitcher of water, according to the head nurse.

Canton Rescue transported the woman to Wayne County General Hospital where she was immediately transferred to the burn center in St. Joseph Hospital of Superior Township.

She died at approximately 4 a.m Thursday morning.

Nursing home patients are prohibited from smoking anywhere but the day room and dinning room, Mrs. Loing said. She said lighters and tobacco are kept locked in the nurses' station.

"But, like anyone else, they're not always going to do what they're told to do," Mrs. Long said. "If they find a butt on the floor, a lot of them will try to smoke it. We have to watch them close. Smoking is one of the few enjoyments, I guess, that they have left."

The Dion Nursing Home houses 90 patients and has 12 licensed nurses on three shifts, said Mrs. Long.

The home already stands the chance of losing its license due to structural defects and overbedding. Dion Nursing Home is on the state's "intent to deny license" list.

Neither the state police fire marshall nor the Wayne County Medical Examiner have criticized the nursing home staff in the fatal accident.

"They were right there," said State Police Fire Marshall Sgt. Hugh Mosher of the staff.

The fire did not touch another patient in the room, according to the state report, nor did it damage the patient's room.

"My girls were on their toes," said Mrs. Long.

Carlton Rote, son-in-law of Mrs. Staffins, said he was convinced the nursing home was kept clean and gave the residents good care.

The death is being investigated by the Citizens for Better Care (CBC), a consumer protection group that monitors care for the elderly. Susan Bourke, CBC executive director, said Friday that dousing a burning patient with water is a questionable practice.

Mrs. Staffins was a former resident of Flat Rock and had been employed as a hospital dietician years ago in New York.

Pinball law could corral kids

It's been a long time since anyone on the Canton board has taken a ride on a mechanical pony.

Perhaps that explains the oversight of attorneys, police and township board members responsible for the first draft of a proposed ordinance.

Canton board members were all set to enact an ordinance that would require proprietors of businesses with mechanical amusement devices to be licensed and fingerprinted.

It would also prohibit youths under 12 from operating games without the supervision of a parent or guardian.

Trustee Eugene Daley had already moved to enact the ordinance and Trustee Brian Schwall had seconded his motion when John Schwartz of the Canton Chamber of Commerce stepped up to the podium and put a screeching halt to approval of the law.

Schwartz noted that the ordinance's definition of "mechanical amusement device" would include juke boxes and the mechanical ponies that gives kids a rocky ride for their money.

"I KNOW IT isn't your intention to regulate juke boxes and mechanical horses," Schwartz told township board members, "but I'm afraid some ordinance officer two years down the road could take this ordinance to regulate the use of the mechanical horses at Meijer Thrifty Acres."

The ordinance was proposed to prevent the formation of teen hang-out spots at any business establishment that features pinball machines or similar mechanical amusement devices.

The ordinance defines mechanical amusement devices as "any machine or contrivance which upon the insertion of a coin may be operated by the public for use as a game, entertainment or amusement."

The ordinance also requires business establishments with the devices to have windows on the front of the building.

Canton board members had tentatively approved the ordinance at their April 11 meeting. A formality in township law requires ordinances to be introduced, tabled and published in a local newspaper before they can take effect.

But no one on the board had thought of juke boxes and mechanical ponies when they tentatively approved the mechanical amusement device law.

With a look of surprise on their faces, board members agreed to take the ordinance back to the drawing board.

Repeated attempts to pass an ordinance regulating pinball playing has been hung up by an oversight in the law which could also make it illegal for youngsters to ride coin-operated hobby horses. Kimberly Clancy of Canton takes her chances anyway. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

9 in running for Jaycee scholarships

Nine finalists are in the running for two $1,000 scholarships to be awarded to Canton seniors this spring by the Canton Jaycees.

A total of 32 graduating seniors submitted applications for the awards, and the club's scholarship committee has narrowed the pack down to nine. Personal interviews with the finalists will be conducted this month to determine the two scholarship recipients.

The finalists are: Mary Ann Stevenson, 8212 Orhan Avenue; Susan White, 42142 Ford Road; Dee Bolser, 8266 Honeytree Boulevard; Sue Dunn, 44136 Duchess Drive; Georgia Kirasic, 8211 Honey Lane; Stephanie Coffman, 6103 Wedgewood; Jennifer DeVenney, 44274 Craftsbury Court; William Lawton, 48101 Joy Road; and Susan Rekuc, 42242 Hanford.

The eight-member scholarship selection committee will award the scholarships on the basis of grades, financial need, participation in school activities and community service.

Applications are sought from public, private and parochial school students.

The schools the students attended will receive a plaque from the Jaycees engraved with the students' name and year of graduation.

Chamber's golf outing is May 25

The third annual Canton Chamber of Commerce golf outing will be May 25 at Fellows Creek municipal golf course.

Cost of the outing is $13 per person, which includes an 18-hole green fee, food and refreshments. Persons who wish to play only nine holes pay $11.

The number of reservations is limited, so Mary Dingeldey, chamber office secretary, urges business people to contact the chamber as soon as possible.

The chamber's phone number is 543-4040 and the address of the chamber office is 5834 N. Sheldon, in the Harvard Square parking lot.

Proceeds from the outing will be used to promote business in Canton Township.

Bike day on Hines rolling

Bike day is . . . on.

After holding up the annual turning over of Hines Parkway to bicyclists and hikers over grave budget questions, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners last week voted approval.

The vote was just short of unanimous, with only Commissioner Conrad Mallett (D-Detroit) voting against it. There was no discussion once the matter reached the full board.

Bike day is next Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Hines Parkway from Ford Road in Dearborn Heights to Haggerty Road in Plymouth Township will be closed to motorized traffic.

It will be the first of four such bike days. Others will be June 10, Sept. 9 and Oct. 14—the second Saturday of those months.

The Wayne County Road Commission, which runs the county's parks and recreation program, is in charge but receives the cooperation of local governments and many civic groups.

A long list of groups will hold "bike'n'hike-a-thons" for favorite charities, a road commission spokesman said.

Still unresolved is the question of overtime for the sheriff's department, which had requested $5,000 for the year's bike days. Commissioner R. William Joyner (D-Plymouth), sponsor of the bike day resolution, said the money would probably come from the sheriff's regular overtime budget.

He is survived by his wife, Eleanor; son, Gary of Minnesota; five sisters, a brother and three grandchildren.

Canton graduation's set

In 12 more days, graduation activities will begin for seniors at Plymouth Canton High School.

The senior prom will be from 8 p.m. to midnight Saturday, May 20, in the Campus Inn at E. Huron and State in Ann Arbor. Tickets are now on sale at the general office of Canton High at $12 per couple. The prom is open to seniors of both Canton and Salem high schools. Hors d'oeuvres and punch are included in the ticket price.

THE SENIORS HONOR assembly will be 7:50 p.m. Tuesday, May 30, in the auditorium of Canton High.

The awards and recognition ceremony is arranged by the senior class honors committee, the guidance department and faculty. Parents of students to receive recognition should receive notifications next week.

Individual churches in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District are being asked to hold a recognition day for seniors on Sunday, June 4, for Canton and Salem grads.

The senior banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 6, in the Mayflower Meeting House. Tickets go on sale May 22 at $8 per person. This is a reserved dinner; no tickets will be sold at the door.

GRADUATION CEREMONIES will be held beginning 8 p.m. Thursday, June 8, at the Centennial Educational Park football stadium.

In case of bad weather, graduation exercises will be moved to the Salem High gymnasium.

Each senior will be issued 10 tickets to distribute among parents, friends and relatives. In case of bad weather, only six tickets per senior will be honored. If more tickets are required, they may be obtained from Office 237 of Canton High.

Rehearsal will begin at 3 p.m. June 8 on the football field.

THE SENIOR PARTY will immediately follow graduation exercises and last until about 2 a.m. in the Canton physical education facility.

Senior parents are planning the party and chairpersons are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce King. Cost of tickets is $5 in advance and $6 per student at the door.

The party is for Canton graduates only, and seniors are encouraged to remain for the entire party. Those leaving before the party's end will not be permitted to re-enter. Disco entertainment, games, prizes, snacks and soft drinks are included in the plans for the party.

Money donations are needed and persons may donate by making checks payable to and mailing to Mrs. Barbara King, 14308 Northville Road, Plymouth 48170. Parents of seniors wishing to volunteer their services may contact Mrs. King at 453-8356.

Water rates are lowered

By TIM RICHARD

Suburban customers won one battle with the Detroit Water and Sewer Department, but two western Wayne County officials say the suburbs have yet to win the war.

"The key," said Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara, "is to provide guaranteed suburban representation on the Detroit water board." On that he got agreement from Redford Township Supervisor Patrick McDonald.

A three-member panel of University of Michigan experts, appointed by Federal Judge John Feikens, found May 3 that Detroit overcharges suburban customers for sewage treatment. They recommended rates be lowered and that the suburban governments be reimbursed.

The decision was an outgrowth of a federal lawsuit by the Environmental Protection Agency and the state to get improvements in Detroit's sewage treatment plant.

THE PANEL rejected a change in the way the central city's water and sewer department operates.

It is governed by a seven-member board, all appointed by Mayor Coleman A. Young and all removable at the mayor's pleasure, with no guaranteed term. The new Detroit city charter provides that four of the seven must be Detroiters, but there's nothing to prevent the mayor from appointing all seven from Detroit.

Young once fired McNamara from the water board for being too critical of the department's operations.

McNamara said the reason suburban representation is essential is that "65 per cent of the financial support comes from the suburbs." Without adequate suburban representation, he said, the water board has "no safeguards to see it doesn't happen again."

McDonald added that "water rates, too, in comparison, are substantially higher to suburban users—higher than justified by the distance the water has to be pumped."

THE AMOUNT of the refunds has not been determined.

Local suburban governments, not individuals, are customers of the Detroit system and pay wholesale rates. The refunds could be absorbed by the suburban governments and reflected in lower future rates rather than in cash refunds—to home and business owners.

A key legal victory for the suburbs was the panel's decision that Detroit was unjustified in running the water and sewer department like a business utility—acting as if the city were the stockholder with the right to earn a seven per cent return on its investment.

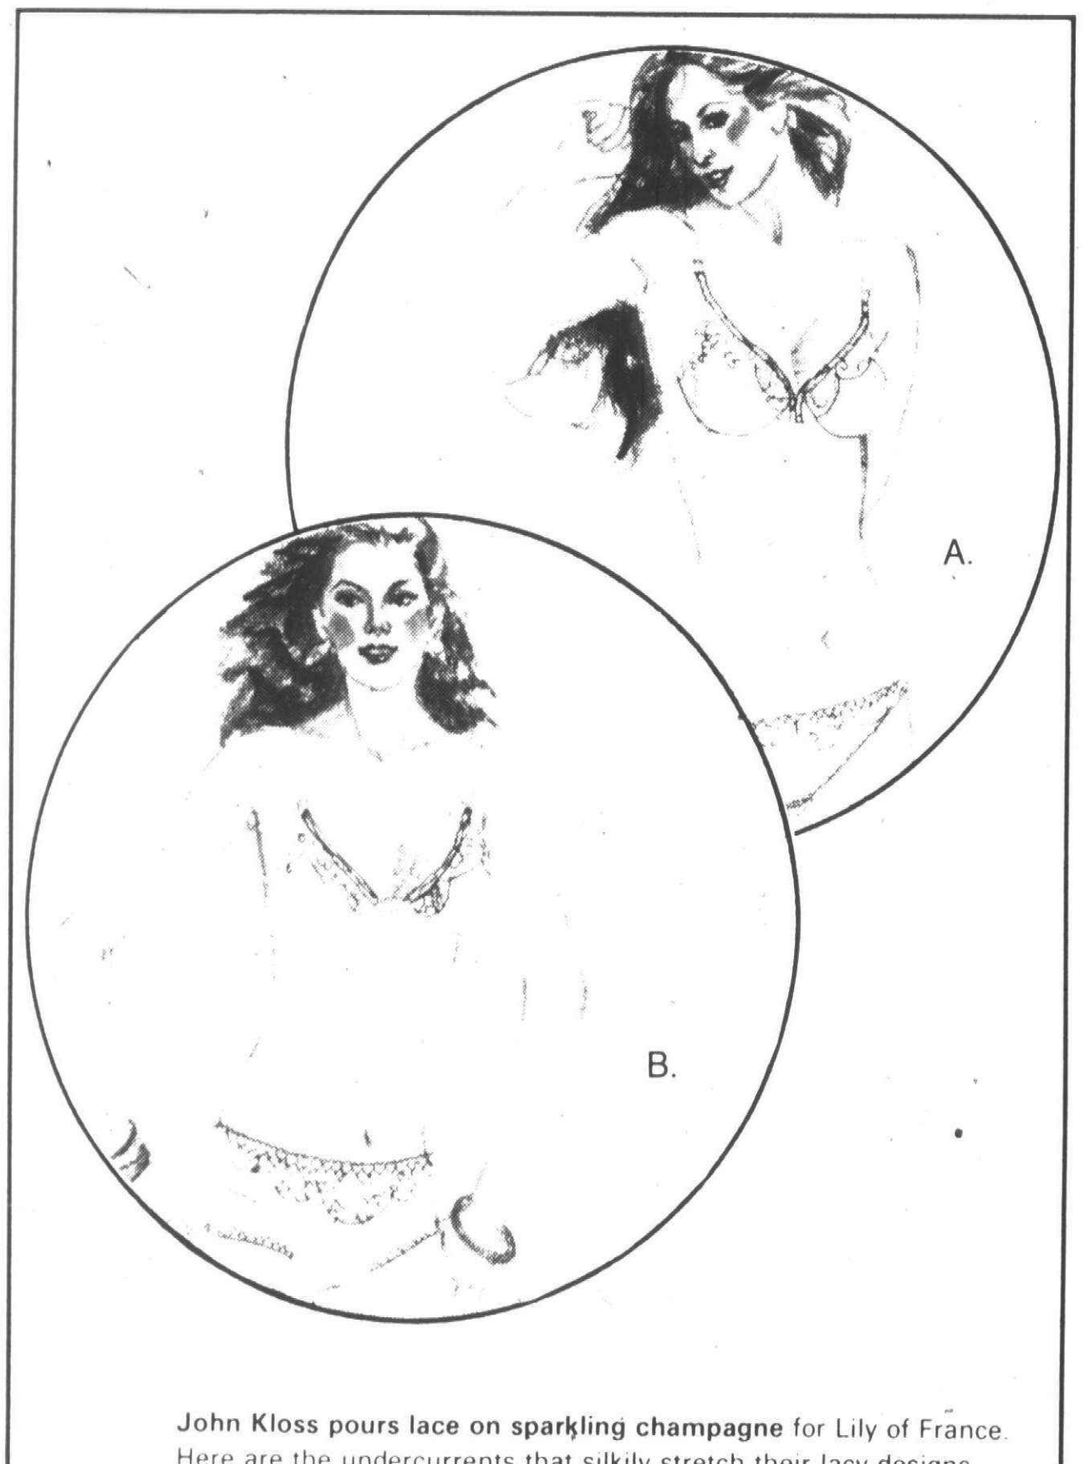

Instead, the panel ruled Detroit's treatment plant has been funded by a combination of federal, state and city taxes and thus isn't the exclusive property of Detroiters.

On the panel were law Prof. Edward H. Cooper; Prof. Johnathan W. Bulkley, of the college of engineering and school of natural resources; and David V. Ragone, dean of the college of engineering.

BEFORE THEIR report becomes a court order, Judge Feikens will review it. All parties to the suit will have 10 days to file objections. Then the judge will decide whether to accept or reject the findings.

McNamara noted the suburbs are seeking a review of water rates as well as sewage treatment rates.

He said Detroiters and suburbanites can generally expect higher sewage rates, despite the panel's decision, "because of demands of the federal government to purify streams."

Disney's rodent friend pays a visit to schools

The old rodent doesn't look too bad for 50.

Sure, he's greying a bit around his round black ears, and white gloves cover the varicose veins in his fat little hands. But he can still twirl his tail in a rousing dance with the best of them.

And dance he did Friday at a birthday party thrown in his honor at Canton's Miller Elementary School. Who was this special guest of honor? Why, it was none other than Mr. Mickey (don't call me Mike) Mouse, 50, of Disney World, Fla.

Mickey, as his friends call him, was in town last week to promote a line of children's shoes at a department store. But he still found time in his busy schedule to ride his unicycle over to Miller and Gallimore elementary schools to dance to a few songs and gobble a bit of birthday cake.

The first song the class sang in his honor was "Happy Birthday."

The next was his favorite. Need you ask?—"M-I-C-K-E-Y M-O-U-S-E."

But the kids at Miller added a new twist to the old standard. Instead of the familiar Mousketeer dirge, their new version was called "Mickey Mouse Disco," a take-off on the immensely popular and profound "Disco Duck." The kids sang and danced to a record.

"BEFORE, YOU'D just sit there—solemn as can be—singing "M-I-C. . . ," explained Rosemary Harrigan, a department store promotional director who brought Mouse to her daughter Kim's school. "Now the kids sing it disco-style and they really move around."

Mrs. Harrigan explained that Mickey had a cold and couldn't speak to students in his inimitable high-pitched voice.

The children reflected on Mickey's advancing years, some commenting that their parents and grandparents grew up watching and reading the exploits of Mickey Mouse and his girlfriend, Minnie. (His live-in girlfriend stayed in Florida and did not accompany Mickey on the promotional tour.)

The aging cartoon star indicated afterward that he has been so busy being a corporate symbol that he has no time for full-length cartoon features or new television roles.

But to even a casual observer it was obvious that he still relished the limelight.

Random draw appeals heard

Appeals from eight parents on random selection assignments to the high schools this fall will be heard tonight by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The board also will be asked to delay the process of picking a site for the alternative high school, and to approve a loan in excess of $7½ million.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the little theater of Plymouth Canton High School, 8445 Canton Center Road just south of Joy.

EARLIER THIS YEAR, the school board granted a number of appeals to parents of students assigned to high school on the random selection choice.

The appeals were granted, in part, because a clear procedure with criteria for granting appeals had not been established.

After approving an appeals process and defining the criteria, the board then approved appeals of some 70 parents.

Parents coming before the board tonight are basically arguing they weren't notified the district would change its criteria or alter the deadline for appeals. Because they felt all students would be assigned according to the computer draw, they did not appeal.

But now that friends of their students have been assigned to a different school, the eight parents are asking for a reassignment.

Random selection is a process whereby computers are used to assign seventh grade students to high school in an attempt to balance student population between Plymouth Salem High and Plymouth Canton High. Computers are used to prevent human bias in the selection process.

THE SCHOOL BOARD had asked for a report at tonight's meeting on a recommended site for an alternative education high school.

Earlier the board has been asked to approve use of Central Middle School for the alternative program which is proposed to meet special education needs of students who are having problems coping at the Centennial Educational Park.

After objections from faculty members and parents of Central students, however, the board voted against use of a portion of Central Middle for the alternative school. At that time, trustees directed the administration to consider alternative sites for the program and report back on May 8.

The administration is recommending to the board that a decision on site be delayed until after the June 12 millage election as the district didn't have the funds now to finance the alternative school.

THE BOARD ALSO will be asked to approve sale of a $7.6 million tax anticipation note to allow the district to meet its operating expenses until taxes are collected next December.

Last year the district also borrowed $7.6 million to meet expenses until school taxes were collected.

The board also will be asked to approve bids to install new boilers at Bird and Smith elementaries.

Traffic stalls day care center

Traffic congestion on Sheldon between Joy and Warren is stalling the construction of a children's day care center.

Children's World, a nursery chain, wants to build a 5,000 square-foot day care center on a one-acre site owned by Township Treasurer Anne Bradley and her husband George.

Although the project won easy approval by the planning commission, township board members think the day care center would generate too much traffic for the already-congested Sheldon Road.

The board has decided to put off its decision on the project until Clerk John Flodin confers with William LaGosh of the Wayne County Road Commission. The board may make a favorable vote on the project conditional on county-financed construction of a right-turn lane leading to the day care center from Sheldon.

Mrs. Bradley has abstained from voting because of her personal interest in the matter.

The proposed day care center would accommodate 105 children and 11 employees. There are 13 Children's World centers in Detroit in its surrounding suburbs.

"The atmosphere would be ideal for small children away from their homes," planning commission member Robert Shefferly said of the proposed day care center in a letter to the township board. "Canton with its many working couples has a real need for such an establishment.

"But some provision must be made for the 24-foot width of Sheldon at the point where Children's World is proposed to be built. The location, I feel, could cause a complete automobile tie-up in the area."

Unfinished office occupied

A local building developer has been saved from financial ruin by sympathetic township trustees.

Don Summers has been given the go-ahead to rent completed offices in the unfinished office complex his firm is building at the northeast corner of Warren and Sheldon.

Summers told the board he would face bankruptcy if the board failed to reverse an earlier decision to bar tenants from moving in until the last of five buildings in the complex was finished.

The change of heart came last Tuesday, a week after the board turned Summers down. Summers has already signed lease agreements with dentists, lawyers and a number of other tenants, he told the board at the time.

When Summers first approached the board, trustees admitted that they intended to keep him from collecting rent to insure that he followed through on landscaping described in his plans. Trustees cited bad experiences with other builders.

SUMMERS SAID he was unaware that the township required total completion of a development before granting occupancy permits.

The developer said he had already leased 80 per cent of the space in four of the buildings and many tenants wanted to move in immediately. Two lawyers—Peter Bundarin and Dick Mryden—have already moved their belongings into one of the buildings.

Summers said the lease agreements would be voided unless he received temporary occupancy permits.

"Economically, you'll ruin me," he told the board April 30. "You'll have a bankrupt project on your hands, and I'll be out on the streets."

The board unanimously voted to accept Chief Building Inspector Chuck Thompson's recommendation to grant the temporary permits. The permits are only good for 120 days. If the project is not completed by the end of that time, regular occupancy permits will not be granted and tenants could be asked to leave.

A job of grave concern?

By W.W. EDGAR

When Cheryl Rappette, 19-year-old daughter of Keith and Mary Lou Rappette of Plymouth, went looking for a summer job, she never dreamed she would become a grave digger.

But that is exactly what happened. Now, in spite of the cold blasts, she is working in Riverside Cemetery chuckling over the odd twists that got her there.

While she has yet to dig a grave, she has mowed the grass, carried the heavy hose all over the grounds to water newly-laid grass on the graves, and all other tasks usually done by men.

With a big, broad smile, she doesn't hesitate to show you her hands that are covered with blisters.

"This isn't from digging. I got these blisters from pushing the big mower and what a job that is. I like it though, and it gets me out in the open air."

NOW A STUDENT AT the University of Michigan where she is studying natural resources, she is looking forward to the day when she can become a city and suburban planner.

She graduated from Plymouth Salem High in 1976 and, like other girls, set out to earn some money during the vacation periods.

For a short time she worked in the 7-11 store and spent some time working in a dentist's office.

This summer, when jobs were more at a premium than ever, she went to Plymouth City Hall in search of employment.

Told there was nothing available there, she was advised to contact the management at the Cultural Center. No sooner said than she found herself at the arena. But, just as at City Hall, she was told there was nothing available—not even in the recreation department. It was suggested that she contact the Department of Public Works.

When she walked into the office of Ken Vogras, director of the DPW, she didn't know what to expect.

"What can you do?" Vogras asked.

She recalls now that she said, "I'll do anything. I want to make some money for the summer."

She tells you now that Vogras sat surprised for a moment and then explained that he never had women on the DPW staff outside of the office.

"I'll have to call Fred Yockey, the city manager, and ask him what he thinks about it."

Cheryl Rappette, 19, has an unusual job for a woman. She's a grave digger at Riverside Cemetery. Although Ms. Rappette hasn't dug her first grave yet, she has gotten a nice set of blisters from handling heavy lawn mower equipment. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

THE CALL WAS made. Yockey gave the OK.

"I can give you a job with the DPW working in Riverside Cemetery," Vogras told her, "and you might have to dig graves."

She reported for duty, not knowing just what to expect. Thus far she has helped to lay sod, operated the giant lawn mower, cleaned headstones and now is awaiting the opportunity to dig a grave.

She doesn't know when that will be because there is no telling when the need will come. But she does know her next job.

"I have been given the task of cleaning the interior of the mausoleum and I understand it is all white marble. I expect it will be really cold in there."

She admits that her big moment will come when she is asked to place a shovel in the ground to start a grave.

Milk tester is mooo-ving on

By PATRICK TOUHEY

Paul Solomon is on a first-name basis with cows from Westland to South Lyon.

At least he knows them by name.

The Plymouth resident has been a certified milk tester for the last 42 years.

In times like these, when consumers are worried about everything from PBB to paraquat, one might assume a milk tester tests milk for purity.

But Solomon's testing procedure is a bit more closely related to the first tenet of private enterprise—profit.

If a particular cow isn't putting out enough milk and butterfat on a daily basis, his tests find it out.

And then what?

"Well, the dairy farmer doesn't have much choice," explained the 78-year-old Solomon. "If a cow isn't profitable, it usually gets sold off to the stockyards for beef."

So much for baleful cow eyes and gentle lowing.

BUT AS SOLOMON points out, dairy farming is much like any other business people depend on to pay the bills. And "carrying" a non-producer in the herd doesn't make sense.

And as it is, the amount of dairy herds in this part of the state has declined substantially since Solomon first started plying his trade in the 1920s.

"I've had to travel a lot in the last couple years. The herds have just about all but left Plymouth and Canton. People keep selling out to subdivisions. I was covering six or seven counties when I retired," he said.

Although the herds got thinner, the people Solomon served depended on him just as much as ever—whether their farms were in Lapeer or Jackson County.

And to show him he would definitely be missed, they organized a retirement party for him last week. Close to 80 dairy farmers met in South Lyon to honor the man for his four decades of service.

"He was just like one of the family," commented Nancy Geiger of South Lyon. "He'd come out to the farm, test the herd, eat supper and stay the night.

"In fact, a lot of the wives said they'll miss Paul coming because they won't get told how good their cooking is."

To determine the milk and butterfat content of a cow's milk, Solomon said, he had to take a sample from each cow in the morning and another one at night.

So, unless the farms were close together, he'd stay at one for a whole day and then move on to the next.

"WHEN I first started, I used to be able to test the milk right on the spot. But then the computers came in and we send the samples to Lansing now."

The organization responsible for milk testing in Michigan is the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, based in Lansing. The public association has 83 milk testers assigned throughout the state.

Soloman himself "just sort of fell into" the occupation after a boyhood on a farm in Hillsdale County.

Housing hurting creek

lose if the existing flood plain were reduced, according to Luellen.

As it stands now, the report lists four specific areas in the city which would be adversely affected in the event of any serious rainfall or flooding conditions.

The report said that Ford Road at Tonquish Creek "would be inundated by large floods, isolating residents and damaging apartments," if a storm of 10-year frequency occured.

Other trouble spots identified in the study—which took into its scope the Tonquish Creek from Wayne Road in Westland to Beck Road in Plymouth Township—are as follows:

Newburgh Road at Tonquish Creek; Joy Road at Tonquish; Harding Street; Evergreen; Sheldon Road north of Ann Arbor Road; Main at Byron; Byron Street; and Beacon Hill Drive.

The City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township have argued for years over who was responsible for maintaining adequate drainage for Tonquish Creek.

The Stroller

Homesickness strikes for good reason

By W.W. EDGAR

More than half a century ago, The Stroller stepped aboard the Black Diamond, pride of the Lehigh Valley railroad, and headed west to pick up the journalistic trail.

As the years slipped by, he has enjoyed every minute. He has had the opportunity to walk and talk with the kings and queens of the sports world. He has been in company with civic and political leaders of the country. He even has appeared in one scene on the Broadway stage and played poker with a president of the United States.

More than that he has travelled with his little typewriter to most every state in the Union and has been more than halfway around the world in line of duty.

AFTER ALL THIS you wouldn't expect that a fellow would get homesick. You'd think that, after all these years, his childhood haunts and those of the old hometown would be nothing more than fading memories.

Strangely, such is not the case with The Stroller. There are times when he has a deep longing to go back to the Dutch Country especially on these sunny Sundays in the spring.

Never does the sun beam down on a weekend that he doesn't have a deep yearning to go back and dine again at one of the old-time country hotels.

Unless you have had the pleasure of dining at one of these old-time hostelries you wouldn't appreciate the longing one can get for just one more visit.

In what can be called the "old days," after an absence of more than 50 years, these country hotels were about eight to 10 miles from town. There were no ribbons of concrete roads and only the more affluent possessed automobiles.

So it was the custom for the young men in town to rent a horse and buggy on a Sunday afternoon and head for the country. There were such places as Mechanicsville, Kreidersville, Schoenersville, Kutztown. Each of these farm villages boasted a hotel where the chief dish was chicken and waffles. The very thought of them makes The Stroller a bit hungry. These chicken and waffle dinners were not just ordinary meals.

No sooner would you get seated at a table than the owner's wife would appear. She'd lay a golden waffle on a plate in front of you. She'd also place a pitcher of rich, yellow chicken gravy on the table—even before you placed an order.

It was the custom in those days to cover your waffle with the chicken gravy to start your meal.

If you ordered chicken, you would get a platter of stewed chicken.

While you could eat as much as you wanted, the owner's wife would caution you to "Leave a little space. I baked a chocolate cake and you will have to have some."

Just thinking about it brings on a siege of homesickness—even after half a century.

Richardson to retire as clerk

Helen Richardson, Plymouth Township clerk for 17 years, will not seek re-election to another term.

In announcing her intentions to step down, Richardson said she had some qualms about the future course of the township but felt she left capable people behind.

"Of course it is a relatively new board of trustees. But there are a few who have had some experience with how the township operates," she said.

She did, however, note that "politics may have come to Plymouth Township. I can't say that I like it, but that is in no way the reason I'm retiring."

When asked if she had any idea who might step into her position, Mrs. Richardson said she had no idea, and that nobody had expressed any interest.

The main reason for retiring this year, she said, was her husband's retirement next year. She said she did not want to take office only to step down when her husband left Burroughs Corp. in July 1979.

"I knew I wouldn't want to work after Richie retired, so there's no sense in running. We might as well open up the slate and let the voters put someone in office."

MRS. RICHARDSON, 57, first started working for the township in 1960. Her first duty was in the treasurer's office where she "kept the books, did the accounting and just about anything else that needed doing."

Mrs. Richardson's academic training was in accounting and in 1965 she was hired as the deputy clerk. In May of the following year, C. Veach Sparks resigned from the clerk's office, and Mrs. Richardson was appointed to the vacant job.

Since then, she has been unbeatable at the polls. In fact, in five elections, she was only opposed twice. Her political party preference has been Republican, which represents the majority of township voters.

Although as her retirement approaches, Mrs. Richardson admitted that more and more Democrats were finding their way on to the registration list.

Mrs. Richardson said she plans to spend her retirement "relaxing traveling and going up north."

Deposits add up

More mortgage money and reasonable mortgage rates, now adding timber to the current housing boom, is the reason $35 billion was deposited into savings accounts in the first eight months of 1977 at savings and loan associations, according to the United States League of Savings Associations.

Strong pitching sparks 11th Chief victory, 1-0

"It's nicer to win when you come up dry (at the plate)," said Plymouth Canton head baseball coach Fred Crissey after his squad eeked out a 1-0 victory over Livonia Churchill Wednesday afternoon.

It marked the 11th straight triumph this season for the undefeated Chiefs, and the fifth win in the Western Six League race.

Canton now faces its toughest loop test of the season Monday afternoon when it hosts Farmington Harrison to begin 'the second round of league action.

The Chiefs defeated Harrison 3-1 the first time the two clubs met. The game was discontinued after five stanzas because of rain.

Once again, the Chiefs had trouble hitting the ball and producing runs against Churchill, but yet another great pitching effort and solid defense pulled out the victory.

"It was a real good ball game," Crissey said. "There was excellent defense from both teams."

Senior Doug Smith started and hurled 6⅓ innings in registering his fifth victory of the season.

The Chiefs held their 1-0 lead in the top ofthe seventh inning when Churchill placed runners on first and third with only one out.

Crissey then turned to Brian James to relieve Smith. James, who started the game in rightfield, faced only one Churchill batter who lined the ball right back to the junior right-hander. James caught the ball and promptly threw to first base to complete the game-ending double play.

It was a frustrating day for Churchill coach Roger Frayer and his players who have now lost to Canton five times in a row. Last year, the Chargers fell to the Chiefs by 3-2 and 2-1 scores.

Charger pitcher Jeff Morris hurled an excellent ball game, keeping the Chiefs off stride with a good curve ball. Morris allowed only six hits and struck out six Chiefs—the most whiffs by the Plymouth squad this season.

If fact, All-State shortstop Scott Collins struck out for the first time this season after 42 at bats.

The Chiefs managed to put two hits together in the fourth inning to account for the game's lone run. Second-baseman Tom Norton continued his clutch play with a single to rightfield. He moved to second on a walk to Craig Lee and scored on an RBI single by James.

Smith's victory saw him pitch no-hit ball for five innings. He left the game with a two-hitter, striking out four and walking one.

The Canton junior varsity raised its record to 5-1 with a 9-3 triumph over the Churchill reserves.

Salem thinclads nip Dearborn

By ANDY MELIN

Led by balanced individual performances in the pole vault, the Plymouth Salem boys' track team edged Suburban Eight League rival Dearborn, 80-78, last Thursday afternoon at the Salem track.

The victory raised the Rocks' record to 3-2 overall and 3-1 in Sub-8 competition.

"The pole vault won it for us," said Salem coach Gary Balconi. "Dearborn always has a good track team," he added. "I was really pleased with our total team effort."

Senior tri-captains Scott Kappler and Mark Choma, along with junior Dennis Ogden, finished second, third and fourth, respectively, in the pole vault with identical vaults of 12-8. All three vaulters will participate in the boys' track and field state championships next month.

Mike Christie was the only individual double-winner for the Rocks. He tied his own school record in the 330-yard low hurdles with a time of :40.1, and also ran the 120-yard high hurdles in a winning time of :15.9. Christie also placed third in the long jump with a leap of 18-2.

Bob Dasher, senior tri-captain, finished first in the discus with a toss of 143-1, but, for the first time this season, he didn't win the shot-put, placing second with a put of 46-0.

Rich Hanschu won the high jump with a leap of 5-10. Mike Skone, jumping for the first time since being injured earlier this season, took second with an identical 5-10 jump.

Curt Lewis was victorious in the long jump with a leap of 19-8½. Hanschu finished second with a 18-9½ effort and also took second in the 120-yard high hurdles in :16.8.

Salem swept the 100-yard dash. Chris Ritchey, Greg Davis and Greg Stevens placed first, second and third, respectively, with times of :10.4, :10.5 and :10.6. Ritchey also took third in the discus.

Davis finished first in the 220-yard dash in :23.1. Tom Carl followed Davis in second with a time of :23.2.

Scott Kleam was a victor in the two-mile run in 10:00.9. Freshman Chris Whittaker placed fourth in 10:49.8.

Tom Rubadue won the 880-yard run in 2:05.0. Frank Gabbert finished fourth in the 440-yard dash in :55.8.

The Rocks' 440-yard relay foursome of Stevens, Hanschu, Christie and Ritchey won in a time of :45.5.

Rocks' rally nips Ypsi for 7th straight win, 6-5

Plymouth Salem batsmen finally found something that could stop them from winning—the rain.

The Rocks, currently working on a seven-game win streak after a 6-5 non-league victory over Ypsilanti Thursday afternoon, fell victim to the wet weather Friday as their Suburban Eight League game against Dearborn was postponed. The game is rescheduled for 4 p.m. Monday in Dearborn.

The Rocks still are on top in the Sub-8 standings, tied with Redford Union with identical 5-1 records. Salem holds a 10-3 overall mark (not including Saturday's double-header with Ann Arbor Pioneer and Detroit Northwestern).

Salem completes the first round of league play today against Dearborn. It is an important week for the Rocks in conference action. They travel to Bentley on Tuesday and host Allen Park Friday.

Bentley is only one game behind Salem and Redford Union. Allen Park stands in fourth place, two games behind the leaders.

The Rocks' seventh straight victory against Ypsilanti was a come-from-behind effort. Salem scored twice in the first inning but spotted the Braves three runs in the third inning and two more in the fourth, to trail 5-2.

Salem struck back, however, scoring one in the fifth, two in the sixth to tie the score, and one in the seventh to win the game, 6-5.

"The kids were really happy to come back after being down," Salem coach Brian Gilles said. "It's good to get one like that."

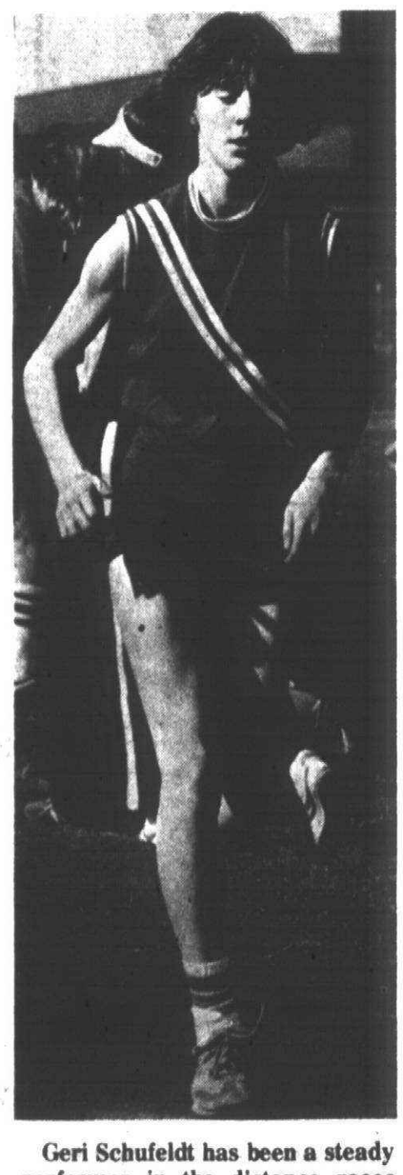

Joe Goodsir continued his hot hitting in this contest, singling home Matt Etienne with the winning run in the final stanza. Goodsir paced the Rocks' eight-hit attack with two singles. The Rock senior centerfielder got off to a horrible start at the plate last month but has carried the hitting load for the last two weeks.

Barry Owens started for Salem and hurled five innings, giving up all five Ypsilanti runs. Doug Holloway relieved Owens in the sixth and faced the minimum six batters in the last two innings. He threw only 22 pitches

Canton broiled by WLW

The Plymouth Canton girls' track team won the field events but lost the running events against Walled Lake Western Thursday afternoon.

The problem—there are 10 running events and only four field events in a dual meet. That's why the Chiefs lost the overall competition, 89-47, to the perennial Western Six League champions.

"We felt we would break even in the field events and we did better than that," said Canton coach Ken Zornes, whose squad led 27-17 after the initial field activities.

"We didn't take a first in the running events and lost all three relays," Zornes said. "We were hobbled, but they (Western) wiped up pretty badly."

The Chiefs still suffered from influensa which struck some key runners earlier in the week. Canton's best runner, Veronica Gray, was also hurting with shin splints which have bothered her recently.

Kelly Heaton led the Chiefs' field event performance, finishing as a double winner in both the shot put and discus throws. Heaton threw the discus 80-4 and the shot 31-10 to grab the top honors.

Brenda Bigelow and Veronica Gray took first- and second-place finishes, respectively, in the high jump. Bigelow won the event with a 4-6 leap, while Gray jumped 4-4.

Kathy Sochacki and Katie Heaton took third and fourth places in the long jump.

Lynne Rudolph and Geri Schufeldt were the only Chiefs to take second-place finishes in the running events. Rudolph placed second in the mile run, while Schufeldt was runner-up in the two-mile race.

The outstanding performer of the day was All-State thinclad Ruth Hubbard of Walled Lake Western. Hubbard, who was injured for the first part of the season, competed in her first meet of the season against Canton. She took three first-place finishes.

She won the long jump and registered strong first-place times in the 440-yard and 880-yard runs against a cold, strong wind.

Plymouth gymnasts shine

Laura Michalik grabbed first place in the all-around competition at the Michigan Amateur Gymnastics (MAG) state championships held recently at Plymouth Canton High School.

Michalik, a member of coach John Cunningham's Plymouth Gymnastics Club, took four in the vaulting competition, fifth on the bars, eighth on beams, and eighth in the floor exercise en route to her top all-around score. She participated in the 12-14-year-old competition.

Cheryl Naupert also highlighted the efforts of the Plymouth team, taking sixth place in the all-around event. She won the balance beam competition, took seventh in the vault, and ninth in the floor exercise.

Diane Zang competed in the 15-and-older division and finished ninth all-around. She grabbed eighth on the uneven bars, ninth on the beam, and 10th in the floor exercise.

In competition last weekend at the Little 10 Gymnastics Meet in Chicago, Naupert took 11th on the vault and the beam, while Michalik was 11th on the bar and 12th in vaulting.

Churchill—again!

Livonia Churchill, for an unprecedented third year in a row, finished first outright last weekend at the Observer Track and Field Relays for boys. The Chargers totalled 31 points. Plymouth Salem and Redford Bishop Borgess tied for second place with 28 points. Complete results and a pictorial summary will appear in Thursday's edition. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Salem beats 3, falls to Ford

6-1 Rocks battle opponents

The Plymouth Salem girls team was scheduled to host Dearborn High School Friday afternoon but the game was postponed because of bad weather.

Nonetheless; the Rocks, coached by Livy Way, find themselves in a first-place tie with Dearborn Edsel Ford after last week's action. Salem holds a 5-1 record in the Suburban Eight League and a 6-1 overall mark (not including Saturday's double-header with Ann Arbor Pioneer).

The Rocks played four games during their heavy schedule last week, winning three.

On Wednesday, Salem took an 8-3 decision over Allen Park in a make-up game. Pitera went all the way on the mound and was extremely sharp, striking out 14 and walking only four. Salem committed only one error.

Sue McDowell led the Rocks' potent 13-hit attack with three safeties. Beckey Crespo, Donna Goodrich, Kathy Gardner and Cindy Cindrich each added two hits as the Rocks were in control the whole way.

But it wasn't this easy the day before, as Salem lost its first game of the season to defending Sub-8 champions Dearborn Edsel Ford, 14-8. The Thunderbirds suffered a loop defeat prior to beating Salem, however, so both clubs are tied for the league lead.

It was just a horrible day for the Rocks. First, starting catcher Kathy Dillon missed the bus to Dearborn so outfielder Sue McDowell was forced to play behind the plate. McDowell hadn't caught since the opening game of the season, and she was suffering from a broken nose which hurt her defensive ability.

On top of that, the Rocks committed seven fielding errors and registered only four hits—the lowest offensive production of the year—to waste an 11-strike out effort by Pitera.

The Thunderbirds scored once in the first inning and six times in the second to take a 7-0 lead. The Rocks never caught up after that.

"It wasn't a good game," said Way. "We were hurting all the way around.

"But I still have a positive attitude. It was good to get the first loss under our belts and out of the way."

In a non-league battle on Monday, Salem had little problem against a winless Redford Thurston squad. The Rocks defeated the Eagles 8-4 as Pitera and Jan Boyd shared the mound duties for the victory.

The Rocks were ahead by a comfortable 8-0 margin before Thurston scored its four runs in the seventh off Boyd.

Pitera led the Rocks' eight-hit attack with three safeties. Crespo added two hits.

The Rocks did not have any trouble with Trenton last Friday, winning 10-4 at the Trojans' diamond.

The score was tied 2-2 after three innings, but the Rocks scored twice in the fourth, one in the fifth, twice in the sixth, and three more times in the seventh to salt away the victory. Pitera went all the way on the mound, striking out nine and walking nine.

Third-baseman Goodrich led the Rocks' nine-hit attack with two hits—a single and home run. Dillon added a single and triple, while McDowell chipped in with two singles.

Churchill hitters sink Canton, 9-4

Plymouth Canton's softball team lost its second straight game last week when it fell to the Livonia Churchill Chargers, 9-4, Wednesday afternoon.

The setback dropped the Chiefs record to 2-4 overall and 1-4 in Western Six League play.

Canton was scheduled to play a non-league contest against Wayne Memorial Friday afternoon but rainy weather postponed the action. The Chiefs travel to Farmington Harrison this afternoon (Monday) to face the Hawks. Harrison is the only team Canton has beaten in the conference.

"Our league is pretty even this year, but I don't think we can win it with our four losses," said Canton coach Joan Ryan. "We just want to make a good showing (in the second round)."

The Chiefs had problems offensively against Churchill as they registered only seven hits. Actually, only four Canton batters recorded safeties as Judy Freiman, Lucy Howe and Sue Lindsay all had two hits each. Cathy Campbell was the other Chief to hit safely.

"When we hit, they were all spread out," explained Ryan. The Chiefs scored singles runs in the second, fifth, sixth and seventh innings to account for their four runs.

Meanwhile, Churchill put its offensive show into one big inning as the Chargers registered five hits, two walks and two stolen bases for six runs in the fourth inning. Churchill scored its first two runs in the second stanza and one more in the third before the fourth-inning explosion.

After the fourth, Canton held the Chargers scoreless the rest of the game but couldn't make up the early deficit.

Churchill catcher Mary Van Ness put the tag on sliding Vickie Cavallaro of Canton. The Chargers beat the Chiefs 9-4 Wednesday afternoon. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Softballers separated

Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton girls softball teams find themselves in the extreme opposite brackets of the Redford Union district pairings.

If both Plymouth squads were to meet in state tournament action, it would be in the finals at Redford Union on Saturday, June 3.

Both squads drew opening round byes and avoid playing in a pre-qualifying round. Salem is a host team in the pre-districts. The Rocks will play the winner of the Detroit Cody—Livonia Churchill contest on Saturday, May 27.

Other teams in the Salem bracket include Detroit Chadsey, Livonia Stevenson and Bishop Borgess.

Canton will be on the road for its pre-district battle also scheduled for Saturday, May 27. The Chiefs will play the victor of the Detroit Redford—Livonia Bentley game. Other members of the Canton bracket include Detroit Mackenzie, Livonia Franklin, Redford Union and Redford Thurston.

Phyllis honored at Alma

Phyllis J. Cunningham of Plymouth has been selected by her classmates as the Outstanding Senior Woman at Alma College for 1978.

The Outstanding Senior Award was presented by the college's alumni association at recent commencement ceremonies. The honor goes to members of the graduating class who have made the greatest contributions to the college, according to a ballot of their classmates.

Former Plymouth Salem student Phyllis Cunningham was recently selected by her classmates as the Outstanding Senior Woman at Alma College.

Miss Cunningham received a bachelor of arts degree with majors in physical education and recreation. During her study at Alma, she participated in two practical experience programs, first as a camp counselor at Camp Kimball YMCA for the Springport School District, and then as Alma High School's junior varsity girls basketball coach.

The 1974 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School was very active in athletics for the Rocks. She continued that interest at Alma, earning varsity letters in volleyball, basketball and softball.

Cunningham was also active in the intramural sports programs, and she officiated in basketball, volleyball and softball for the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

During her senior year, Cunningham was president of Alpha Zeta Tau sorority and was part of the 1977 homecoming court. Other campus activites included being co-chairperson of the college's Orientation Committee in 1976 and 1977. Part of her free time was spent as a Big Sister in the Gratiot County Big Brothers—Big Sisters organization.

Cunningham is the daughter of Mrs. Shirley Cunningham, 1437 W. Ann Arbor Trail. She is the younger sister of Pat Cunningham, who coaches freshman and junior varsity basketball and baseball at the Centennial Park.

RU runners rip Bentley

Redford Union grabbed 43 of a possible 55 points during the field events, then held-off Livonia Bentley during the running portion of their Suburban Eight League boys' track dual last week to record an 82-76 victory.

For the second meet in a row, RU's Mike Petsch won four field events. The tall senior high jumped five feet 10 inches, long jumped 19 feet 5½ inches, hurled the shot 58 feet 6¾ inches and threw the discus 153 feet one inch.

Tony Raines made it a clean sweep for the Panthers in the field events, by soaring 13 feet in the pole vault.

Doug Smith, with a time of 2:09.5 in the 880-yard run, was RU's only other individual winner.

The Panthers, however, earned valuable points by winning the 880-yard relay with Rob Everett, Pat Hyland, Tom Henry and Chuck Wilson. Their time was 1:38.5.

RU also won the 440-yard relay, in 46.5 seconds, with Don Garon, Everett, Hyland and Wilson.

Lenny Werner and Dave Hosey each won two individual events for the Bulldogs.

and struck out three batters, to register his second victory of the season.

Sam Merrill scored the first run of the game on a wild pitch.Bob Waite scored the second Salem run of the inning after Bruce Piper grounded out.

Four base-on-balls to Merrill, Waite, Wilcox, and Etienne brought home the third Salem run in the fifth inning. Waite doubled home two more runs in the sixth inning before Goodsir's heroics.

Plymouth clubs could meet in pre-districts

That long-awaited baseball battle between the unbeaten Plymouth Canton Chiefs and the surging Plymouth Salem Rocks may become a reality quicker than people might have expected.

Both squads happen to be in the same bracket of the Southfield District pairings and could meet as early as the pre-districts during state tournament action.

For the Rocks and the Chiefs to face one another, Salem must travel to Farmington Harrison and beat the Hawks in a pre-qualifying contest. Salem would then host the Chiefs in pre-district action. Canton drew a bye in the pre-qualifying round.

The date and time for the Salem-Harrison contest has not been set, but it is known that the Chiefs will be the visiting team in the pre-districts, which will be played on Saturday, May 27.

Other teams in the Southfield pairings include Milford Lakeland, North Farmington and West Bloomfield on the "Plymouth" side of the bracket.

The opposite bracket includes Northville, Southfield, Farmington, Milford, Walled Lake Western and Walled Lake Central.

The final four teams will compete in Southfield on Saturday, June 3.

Salem striders fall to Dearborn

The Plymouth Salem girls track team ran only 24 girls against a tough Dearborn squad and lost 86-50 in Suburban Eight League dual meet action Thursday afternoon.

The Rocks dominated the high jump and two-mile events but were no match against the larger and stronger Pioneer team.

"We lost, but we did better than I expected," said Salem coach Scott Kurtz. "Last year we lost to Dearborn 87-51, and we had a bigger team—so I'm satisfied."

Since the Rocks' squad is so small, they couldn't compete with Dearborn in any of the relay races. Salem also had trouble in field events—except for the high jump.

Diane Perpich and Erin Lucas dominated the high jump with identical leaps of 4-8 to share first-place honors.

Karen Ford placed third in the discus and fourth in the shot-put, while Cindy Nagy was fourth in the discus. Despite these low finishes, Ford and Nagy threw their best distances of the season.

Lisa Morris and Ann Meixner placed third and fourth respectively in the long jump.

Jenny DeVenney continued to shine in the two-mile run with her first-place time of 13:21.

Lucas was the only other Rock to win a running event with her :16.5 clocking in the 110-yard low hurdles. Kurtz said that Lucas, the Rocks' only double winner against Dearborn, has been a pleasant surprise with her hard work and improving times.

Kathy Zielke and Kathy Sample placed third and fourth respectively in the 880-yard run. Darlyn Sims and Ann Meixner took second and third-place finishes in the 100-yard dash.

Zielke and Beth Hoerner tied for third place in the 440-yard run with identical times of 1:11.5. Sample and DeVenney placed second and third respectively in the mile run.

Sims and Meixner took second and fourth in the 220-yard dash with times of :29.1 and :29.2, respectively.

McGee's 44 breaks another Salem mark

Plymouth Salem sophomore Meg McGee set a new nine hole school record of 44 Thursday when the Rocks beat Brighton 210-260. McGee broke the old record of 46 that she set against Brighton earlier this season.

The Rocks now sport a 4-1 season record with one loss to Saline. Saline stands undefeated in the Central Five Conference.

Besides McGee's 44, other Rock scores included a 51 from junior Beth Maggio, a 55 from senior Betty DeLano and a 60 from junior Nancy DeBear.

Brighton scores included a 54 from Beth Williams and a 67 from Sandi Golden. The other two scores which went to the 260 total were a 68 and a 71.

"I am very pleased with the way the team is playing so far this season, especially with McGee's 44," said Salem coach Bob Waters. "If we could be a little more consistent against Saline, we'd have no trouble winning the league title this year."

Salem took Brighton with a match score of 215-260 earlier this season when Salem played at Brighton. Thursday's match was played at Hilltop in Plymouth—the site for Tuesday's match when Salem plays Canton. The match will start at 3 p.m.

Both Salem and Canton play in the Saline Best Ball Invitational Monday at Brookside Golf Course. The match was rescheduled today after being rained out on Friday. Salem will try to revenge their only loss of the season Thursday against Saline at Saline in dual-match play.

Salem JV tops Canton

The Plymouth Canton junior varsity softball team suffered its first loss of the season Thursday when the Chiefs fell to Plymouth Salem, 12-5.

Sporting a 5-1 season record, the Chiefs' weak points outnumbered the Rocks' errors and they found themselves behind by the seven-run margin going into the bottom of the seventh inning. Salem's record stands at 2-2.

The main problem for the Chiefs stemmed from Salem getting good hits off freshman pitcher Mariann Pink. The Canton squad, however, wasn't able to hit off Salem pitcher Cheryl Sobkow.

"The fact that Salem was able to get into the position of having runners on first and third making it easy to steal put us at a distinct disadvantage," said Canton mentor Cathy Himes.

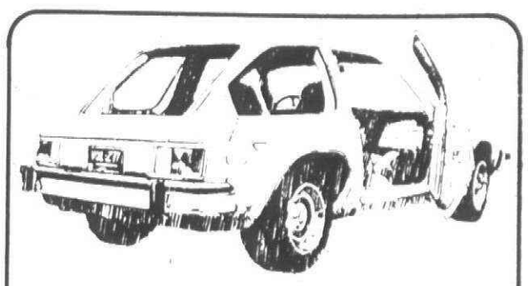

"We couldn't get any insurance by having runners in that position. Salem made it hard for us to do anything in keeping us out of that situation. Whenever we had our good hitters up to bat, there were two outs, and we didn't last long enough to get any runs."

Canton plays Redford Union today (Monday) on Canton's home field. The Chiefs were victorious over RU earlier this season, 11-0, after a mercy ruling in the fifth inning. The game starts at 4 p.m.

RUSTPROOFING. EITHER YOU HAVE IT OR YOU DON'T

Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process.

Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-corrision methods" used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart methods. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. Your Ziebart Dealer can deliver a rustproofed 1978 car because that's his business—and he knows it. Call him.

To the Supervisor and Clerk of the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan

Sirs:

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on April 6, 1978, decide and determine that the certain section of County road described in the minutes of said meeting of said Board should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a public highway, reserving therein the easement set forth in said determination.

The portion of the minutes of said meeting fully describing said section of County road is attached hereto and made a part of this notice, which is given under and by virtue of Act 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan, this 19th day of April, A.D. 1978.

BOARD OF COUNTY ROAD COMMISSIONERS
OF THE COUNTY OF WAYNE, MICHIGAN
Michael Berry, Chairman
Joseph M. Herron, Vice-Chairman
Freddie G. Burton, commissioner
By Henry J. Galecki, Secretary

RESOLUTION

"Commissioner Burton moved the adoption of the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, pursuant to petition and in accordance with the provisions of Section 18, Chapter IV, Act No. 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended, this Board, by Resolution dated December 1, 1977, set a date of hearing on said petition and directed a Hearing Examiner to hold said hearing; and

WHEREAS, said hearing was held at the time and place appointed, and the Board has considered the Findings of Fact as reported by its Hearing Examiner concerning the advisability of absolutely abandoning and discontinuing:

The alley, 20 feet wide, - as dedicated to the use of the public in GREEN MEADOWS SUBDIVISION, part of the Southeast ¼ of Section 34, T.1 S., R. 8 E., Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 61 of Plats on Page 94, Wayne County Records—lying in the rear of Lots 64 to 75 both inclusive and adjacent to lots 76 and 171.

and

WHEREAS, the premises were viewed in accordance with said statute.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that it is in the best interest of the public that the above-described county road or portion thereof be absolutely abandoned and discontinued and that said road or portion thereof is hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued, reserving therein an easement for public utilities and sewer purposes.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Herron and carried by the following vote:

AYES: Commissioners Burton, Herron and Berry.

NAYS: None."

Spaghetti for YMCA

A family night spaghetti dinner was held last week in West Middle School as a fundraiser for the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA, and about 580 persons were served. The money will benefit Indian Guide programs and YMCA community programs such as services to senior citizens. Sam Durante, federation chief, of Sajo's Pizzeria was coordinator and cook for the affair. (From left) Sandy, Julie and Tim Aigner serve diners. (Jerry Smith photo)

Geake opposes insurance bill

Proposed legislation which would force good drivers in Michigan to foot the cost of insurance for bad drivers is being opposed by State Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville), whose district includes Plymouth.

"Automobile insurance rates already place a severe financial strain on the budgets of many Michigan residents who are good drivers," says Geake.

"It's outrageous to think anyone could even suggest a move which would increase the cost of insurance for good drivers just to ease the financial strain on high-risk drivers."

The bill, called the Essential Insurance Reform Act, would require insurance companies to provide coverage, at their regular rates, for anyone who requested it, regardless of their driving records.

High-risk policies then would be assigned to a state-operated association, and the underwriting losses of the association would be shared by all insurance policyholders in Michigan.

"In essence, what this bill would do would be to force good drivers to bear the burden of insuring bad drivers," said Geake. "Thus, the great majority of Michigan residents, who have earned good driving records, would see their insurance rates raised even higher than they are today.

"Why should safe drivers be required to subsidize the insurance bills of less careful drivers? Drivers who receive ticket after ticket and who are involved in accident after accident should be required to be held responsible for their own reckless actions," Geake said.

Special ed workshop set

A workshop study session on special education will be held by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education May 15 in the cafetorium of Plymouth Canton High.

Starting at 7:30 p.m., the school board will review school district educational programs for exceptional children at all age levels.

Invitations have been sent to the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD) and the Infant and Preschool Special Education Program (IPSEP) advisory committee to attend the workshop. Also invited are members of the Association for the Academically Talented.

Like all board meetings, the special education workshop is open to the public.

Calvin Heard congratulated

(The following letter was received recently by Calvin W. Heard, supervisor of the bus garage for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Because of the content and the sender, the message is being shared with our readers):

Dear Mr. Heard:

A number of people in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District brought to my attention the article in the Plymouth Observer tht identified the outstanding work you have done in maintaining the school bus fleet.

Not too many people take time to think about the immense number of people required to keep our public schools operating. Each one of these workers, whether he or she is a classroom teacher or in the garage assuring that our children get to and from school safely, performs important tasks. The success you have had in maintaining a defect-free fleet of buses certainly reflects the pride you take in your work.

I want to take this opportunity to thank you for the job you have done in working for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Kind personal regards.

WILLIAM F. MILLIKEN,

LOUISE SNIDER

'Madame Rosa' has the schmaltz of chopped liver

When the violins play while the titles appear (albeit an excellent score by an excellent group), you can bet there are some sentimental scenes in your future. "Madame Rosa" (PG), which won the Oscar for Best Foreign Language Film, amply fulfills that promise. It's as schmaltzy as my grandmother's chopped liver and just as irresistible.

Simone Signoret is Madame Rosa, a retired Jewish prostitute who now earns a meagre living by boarding the children of other prostitutes.

We first see her wheezing her way up six flights of stairs to her apartment. Her body is bloated; her legs are wrapped in elastic bandages; her face is heavy with bags of flesh.

When she finally reaches the top (and we all breathe a sigh of relief right along with her), she is greeted by a motley crew of children who might have stepped out of a U.N. poster.

THEY REFELCT their diverse parentage and the population mix of the Belleville quarter of Paris where Madame Rosa lives. It's an area teeming with Arabs, dark-skinned Africans and other immigrants from Frace's former colonies.

Among the children is a thin, wary Arab boy, Mohammed, known as Momo. Momo is played with dark-eyed, brooding intensity by Samy Ben Youb, a 14-year-old Algerian boy who is not a professional actor.

Momo is special among Madame Rosa's charges. The relationship between the aged and dying Jewish prostitute and the lonely, alienated Arab boy is very tender and yet vigorous.

The story lends itself to obvious political connotations and statements, but it is not a "political" movie. The basis of the story is the struggle for survival and the human need for love.

Madame Rosa is a survivor. She has survived Auschwitz. She has survived life on the streets. Now she struggles bravely with the indignities of illness and age. Momo, struggling through his adolescence and questions about his heritage, witnesses her last battle and desperately tries to hang onto the one person who loves him and links him with his cloudy past.

THE POTENTIAL for soap opera and melodrama is ever present. Among Rosa's and Momo's friends are a transexual hooker (Stella Anicette) with a heart of gold, a prosperous black pimp who writes to his parents with Madame Rosa's help, and several husky young men who gallantly carry her up and down the stairs and do the same for the frail doctor (Claude Dauphin) who attends her.

What keeps this emotional stew from turning to a bowl of mush are the firm characterizations and the directional skill of Egyptian-born, Israeli-reared Moshe Mizrachi, the writer and director. He emphasizes the supportive quality of relationships rather than the sordidness of the setting.

He is aided significantly by Signoret who brings tremendous assurance and dignity to the role of Madame Rosa. Remembering the sensual beauty of Signoret when she stirred audiences with her climactic performance in "Room at the Top" (1959), I could not imagine her as Madame Rosa. Having seen her in "Madame Rosa," I can not imagine anyone else in the role.

Madame Rosa and young friend stroll in Paris.

NEW RELEASES

COMING HOME (R). Powerful story of Vietnam era with Jane Fonda as officer's wife who falls in love with disabled vet (Jon Voight).

F I S T (PG). Sylvester Stallone as union organizer in film that spans decades from early struggle and idealism to national strength and corrupution.

FM (PG). Funny film about a rock 'n' roll radio station and the conflict between the disc jockeys and station management.

THE FURY (R). Director Brian DePalma unleashes the special effects in gory film about secret government agency and two teenagers with strange psychic powers.

HOUSE CALLS (PG). Walter Matthau and Glenda Jackson in entertaining comedy about amorous adventures of widowed doctor and complications in hospital politics.

I WANNA HOLD YOUR HAND (PG). Beatle hysteria of the '60s in story of six youngsters who go to New York to see the Beatles on the Ed Sullivan show. Sound track of Beatles' recordings.

THE LAST WALTZ (PG). The last concert given by The Band, Thanksgiving 1976, is documented in this film by Martin Scorsese.

1900 (R). The rise of Italian Fascism provides the background for Bernardo Bertolucci's epic that parallels the lives of two boys, one born to a family of landowners, one to a family of farm workers.

PRETTY BABY (R). Red-light district of New Orleans in 1917 as seen by a child prostitute in lush, unmoralizing film by Louis Malle.

RABBIT TEST (PG). Joan Rivers directed this wild comedy about the world's first pregnant man.

SATURDAY NIGHT FEVER (R). John Travolta (of Kotter's sweathogs) is the main man in film with plenty of disco action.

A SPECIAL DAY (R). Sophia Loren and Marcello Mastroiani are excellent as two lonely individuals caught up in bombast of Italian Fascism.

AN UNMARRIED WOMAN (R). Jill Clayburgh in top form as woman who picks up the pieces after her husband leaves her, then finds there's more to life that Scotch Tape. Written and directed by Paul Mazursky.

'Pub Crawl' planned to benefit the MOT

The Michigan Opera Theater Guild will sponsor its first 'Pub Crawl' to benefit the theater on May 18.

Buses will be chartered to take patrons to 13 of the best downtown Detroit taverns and restaurants. Roberta Starkweather, chairwoman of the MOT guild, said hundreds of people are expected to participate.

There will be a variety of great food, entertainment in the pubs, including opera singers, T-shirts emblazoned with a smiling bus and many other attractions, including that of meeting new people.

The taverns participating in the Pub Crawl are: Clementine's Kitchen, Cobb's Corner, LeCave Restaurant, Lindell AC, New Miami, Old Shillelagh, Piper's Alley, Salt Mines I and II, Song Shop Saloon, Traffic Jam and Snug, Union Street Two and the Woodbridge Tavern.

Pub crawlers can park their cars at any of the above taverns or at the Burroughs World Headquarters parking lot, and pick up the buses that will be making a constant circuit of all the pubs from 6 p.m. to midnight. Once a car is parked, the pub crawler can use the bus to get to all the other stops on the crawl.

Mrs. Starkweather said that one of the most difficult things to do for the event was to choose which taverns to invite to participate.

For information, call the Michigan Opera Theatre at 463-3717.

By ETHEL SIMMONS

The song and dance show "Cole," with its overwhelming array of hit songs by Cole Porter, fits the Meadow Brook Theatre stage like a glove.

The cast of eight wholesome young sophisticates performs the songs from Cole Porter's Broadway musical successes, the movies, his early career at Yale while in Paris.

There are four guys and four gals, and the women in particular excel, giving individual characterization to the numbers they do solo or in combination with other members of the troupe.

But all are assets to the show, which blends wit and nostalgia in its approach to the songs accompanied by artful choreography.

THE COSTUMING and staging back up the mood, and if Cole Porter's New York Smart Set seems a little quaint nowadays rather than truly jaded, well, who cares? It's still fun, even in the serious moments.

Where else can you see and hear musical numbers performed to "Night and Day," "I Get a Kick Out of You" and "Anything Goes" in succession? And that's just the close of the first act.

The show follows a format with Act I devoted to the young composer, who took his piano to college, and follows him through his first Broadway flop, then as an expatriate in Paris and the international high life, to back in New York and on top on Broadway.

Meadow Brook Theatre-goers arrive to see the curtain up, revealing a good-looking, nightclub-like art deco set designed by Peter Hicks, who also did the lighting.

The band is on a raised stand to the back of center stage. Railings reminiscent of a 1920s theater lobby sweep forward, to give the performers props for their numbers.

Across the back of the stage are three circular screens that fill with changing slides, photographic memories of Cole Porter throughout his life and different locales.

THE COSTUMES worn by the singer/dancers are all in black and white—always effective if well done, as it is here. In Act I, the men wear black tuxes, the women each in a different style of white dress with rhinestone trim.

Act II opens with a bartender, bar and barstools awaiting the nightclub owner. A pianist also plays cocktail piano in the foreround.

Here the costumes reverse, men in white dinner jackets and the women wearing drop-dead glamor black gowns. This is a setting for a dazzling segment of the show entitled "What Is This Thing Called Love? that spotlights 16 romantic Cole Porter ballads.

Marianne Challis, Connie Coit, Nancy Grahn, Henry J. Jordan, Michele Mullen, Frank Root, Richard Walker and Kevin Wilson all have their chance to shine throughout the show.

John Sharpe directed and choreographed "Cole" with a fine, light touch, making the show go down like another Old-Fashioned—zingy and smooth.

Nancy Grahn (left), Frank Root and Michele Mullen are among the eight singing, dancing stars of the musical "Cole" devised by Benny Green and Alan Strachan, now playing Meadow Brook Theatre.

Patsi Payne, left, along with Carl Dumas of Redford Township, Lola Bonandrini, and Chuck Lorenz of Livonia, practice a scene from the upcoming Ford Chorus presentation of "Anything Goes."

Cole Porter comedy on tap in Redford

The Ford Chorus will present "Anything Goes," a musical comedy featuring the words and mucic of Cole Porter at 8 p.m. May 11-13 at the Redford Theater, Lahser and Grand River, in northwest Detroit.

The musical comedy written by Guy Bolton and P.G. Wodehouse is this year's spring production of the Ford Chorus. Musical direction of the 140-member chorus is handled by Ray Kool, resident director, and stage direction is by Foank Jakes, assisted by Ned Jakes. Set design and graphics production is by Cliff Dixon.

"Anything Goes" was originally presented on Broadway in 1934, ran for 420 performances and was reviewed by critics as a "jubilant and expert affair."

It was revived again in 1962, starring Eileen Rodgers, Hal Linden, Mickey Deems, Barbara Lang, Margery Gray, Kenneth Mars and Mildred Chandler in the lead roles. It was then awarded the New York Outer Circle Critics Award.

THE STORY takes place aboard the S.S. American cruise ship, sailing from New York to England. The plot involved a potpourri of temporarily mismatched characters who, despite their screwball distinctiveness, eventually "come appropriately together."

The coming together is impeded at times by a series of crack-brained, disruptive but well-intentioned shenanigans.

Music and lyrics by Cole Porter include "You're th Top," "Bon Voyage," "It's Delovely," "Heaven Hop," "Friendship," "Let's Misbehave," "All Through the Tight," "Take Me Back to Manhattan," "Public Enemy Number One," "Be Like the Bluebird," "Blow, Gabriel Blow," "I Get a Kick Out of You" and, of course, "Anything Goes."

Prior to each performance, and during intermission, entertainment will be provided at the console of the Barton pipe organ by members of the Detroit Chapter of the American Theater Organ Society.

Admission is priced for adults and for senior citizens and students. On opening night, May 11, however, students (through high school, accompanied by an adult) will be admitted free.

Tickets are available from any chorus member or at the Redford Theater Box Office (open one hour before each performance). Additional ticket information may be obtained by calling either Marge Rawson, 323-2640, or Dolores Siedlik, 322-8700, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday.

HFCC summer jazz studies has new deadline

A five-week summer jazz studies program has been scheduled at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn from June 26 through July 28, according to music department chairman, Donald Lupp, with the application deadline extended to May 10.

Sixty full scholarships are available to high school and college musicians with up to 8 hours transferable college credit upon completion of the course.

The program will have both instrumental and vocal selections, with the instrumental groups covering jazz ensemble with new and traditional materials; history of Afro-American music through the '70s; jazz theory and improvisation; beginning and advanced arranging.

The vocal section will cover the history of jazz; contemporary arrangements for concert choir; voice techniques focusing on jazz interpretation and style; and jazz theory.

Both sections will have small group performances and the opportunity to perform for the public. Last summer's group performed in concert with Woody Herman's Thundering Herd and at clubs in the Detroit area.

Jack Pierson, chairman of the music department at Fordson High School in Dearborn will direct the summer program.

Application for the summer jazz studies program may be obtained by writing or calling Jack Pierson at Henry Ford Community College, 5101 Evergreen, Dearborn, Mich. 48128. Telephone 271-2750.

Motherhood an economic asset of import

By EMORY DANIELS

We should be tipping our hats to the new woman when we observe Mother's Day on Sunday, May 14.

Because mothers change, as do fathers, hair styles, automobile designs, and the value of the dollar.

It goes without saying that the role of mothers has changed drastically over the past 50 years. Even if society had remained static, that role would have changed because people change.

But because a mother is a woman, the change has been even more drastic, and that too is obvious. As women have insisted on being recognized as persons with the same basic rights as all other persons, regardless of sex, the role of motherhood has changed.

WE MAY NOT REALLY fully appreciate the impact of that change. What better time to reflect on this than on the eve of Mother's Day?

If we go back a couple of decades, a mother spent much of her time washing and ironing clothes, preparing meals, washing and drying dishes, mopping and waxing floors, caring for infants, supervising medical care, handling day-to-day discipline, and riding herd on the children's performance in school.

Fathers had it pretty easy. They usually handled the heavy discipline, did the heavy chores around the house, supervised maintenance of the grounds, and took responsibility for the family budget.

And then fathers lost out on this cozy relationship. The traditional roles of parents were knocked ajar by the technological revolution.

Step by step came the introduction of the automatic washer and dryer, dishwasher, frost-free refrigerator, TV dinners, wash-and-wear clothes, no-wax floor surfaces, and disposable diapers.

Step by step, the necessary tasks performed by women in the home began to consume less of their time. Their jobs were being replaced by machines—technological displacement had hit the home.

It was great for mom to escape the burden of having to spend so much time on menial chores such as washing clothes, waxing floors and ironing. But what would she escape to? What could be done with the time saved? No ready answers were available because the technocrats had not made any plans for the social changes their machines would bring forth.

SO MOM WENT out and got a part-time job to use up some of the extra time she now had on her hands.

In so doing, she also made a real contribution to the family budget and made it possible to purchase things which otherwise would not have been enjoyed.

And so we re-created the working woman, after retiring her after the Civil War, World War I, and World War II. And that re-creation has had tremendous impact on our economy.

First, there would be far fewer two-car families with two-car garages if women had not entered the job market. It has created a significant increased demand in the automobile and construction industry, which in turn has created more jobs.

Second, the presence of more women in the work force has very significantly generated higher business volume in such areas as furniture, fashions, appliances and gimmicks, magazines, portable televisions and stereos, shoes, cosmetics, restaurants and entertainment, home remodelling, etc., etc.

Probably the greatest impact, though, is one we are apt to overlook unless time is taken for reflection. I'm personally convinced that this changing role of motherhood is responsible, more than any other factor, for the existence of suburbia and for current residential development trends in the suburbs.

This is especially true since women have exerted their rights and insisted that their income must be considered by bankers and financiers reviewing a mortgage application.

Before that right was asserted, only a husband's income was computed, on the theory a woman could become pregnant and quit work, or drop out of the job market temporarily while her children were in school, or quit because her husband was transferred to another town.

Thus, if a man was earning $20,000 a year and his wife was earning $10,000, only the $20,000 would be counted by the lender to determine how high a mortgage the family could afford. Using the rule of thumb of the mortgage being 1½ times the annual income, the family could obtain a mortgage for $30,000.

But when the wife's income is counted, the family now has a $30,000 annual income, and can be loaned $45,000. In today's market, that's the difference between a two-bedroom and three-bedroom house (or maybe even four bedrooms).

So if you are one of those having trouble figuring out how so many people can afford to buy $50,000, $60,000 or $75,000 homes, then reflect on the role of today's mother.

It is feasible for a man to earn $20,000 a year and a woman $30,000 annually, or vice versa, and a $50,000 income qualifies for a $75,000 mortgage. So, the family that would have purchased a $45,000 house now is buying a $75,000 house because women have asserted their rightv in the area of credit.

And that's why acres and acres in the suburbs are being developed into colonials, split-levels, and large ranches in the $60-$80,000 price range. That's why so many families can afford homes in this price range—because moms are working.

Consider the tremenduous impact that has on the construction industry, on all the businesses who benefit from new construction, on the local tax base and on the economy in general in terms of inflation and gross national product. Reflect on these things and you can better realize how important the change in the role of mothers has been on the lives of us all.

Just for mom

Carrier of the week

1965

George Hastings, Jr., 12, was one of the top Plymouth Mail carriers in a recent circulation contest as he obtained 25 new customers on his route.

His route covers Evergreen, Auburn, Junction, Sunset and Farmer Streets.

Young George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hastings, 346 N. Evergreen. He has lived here all his life.

Attending the Our Lady of Good Counsel school (7th grade) and coin collecting occupy much of his time.

"I like sports, but I like basketball the best," says George. He plans to go to college, but is undecided on what he wants to be.

1967

1978

By the time you read this, George Hastings, Jr. of Plymouth will be in Washington, D.C. beginning a law career.

And we can say we knew him "when." We knew him when he was 12 and named carrier of the week. When he was 14 and still delivering his hometown newspaper. And when he was working his way through college by driving an Observer & Eccentric Newspaper truck.

It's been only thirteen years but that's half a lifetime for George who is 25 and a graduate of the University of Michigan Law School, cum laude with a juris doctor degree. The thirteen-year-old clipping tells us that he was an avid coin collector.

George's new job?

He's with the Tax Division of the United States Department of Justice.

We know George's is not the only success story in the vast number of boys and girls who have delivered their hometown newspapers. If you have one let us know.

And if your child is between the age of eleven and 14 and would like to join our carrier team, we'd like to hear from you. As George's mother said, "It really taught him the value of money--we really appreciated his being a carrier."

Speak on integration

Senate Dem hopefuls at S'craft

BY TIM RICHARD

Democratic hopefuls for the U.S. Senate nomination have different degrees of enthusiasm for racial integration of suburban neighborhoods.

Seven Democrats who would like to unseat two-term Republican veteran Robert Griffin fielded the question last week in a forum at Schoolcraft College set up by western Wayne County Democratic clubs.

"Would it be good to integrate the suburbs (through public housing)? How would you go about it?" they were asked. Here are their answers, in order of reply:

RICHARD VANDER VEEN, former 5th District congressman from western Michigan, said, "It would be good to integrate all suburbs. It would be good for East Grand Rapids, where I live. It would be good to integrate the whole country."

After mentioning several places where society can be integrated, Vander Veen concluded:

"The answer lies in the public schools. That's fundamental. It's the most essential thing. It should come about."

CARL LEVIN, former two-term Detroit councilman and president, said "it's desirable that all of society should be integrated, as is my own neighborhood.

"Our policies should be emphasizing rental property instead of ownership, and we should emphasize maintenance. Too often, people with inadequate means have been encouraged to own homes.

"We should provide incentives to private people to rehab homes. I would not link low-income housing to other programs," said Levin, singling out federal linkages of low-income and senior citizen housing for harsh criticism.

PAUL ROSENBAUM, state representative from Battle Creek Township, disagreed, saying "we can't separate the issues."

Rosenbaum emphasized "local control." He said the federal government has habitually "dictated" housing policies first, "then has come back to ask the people.

"I don't live in Livonia. That question (public housing and integration) should be up to the people of Livonia."

HARRY PAYNE, former Michigan director of the American Arbitration Association and a resident of Lafayette Park in Detroit, said, "The problem is called color. No one's concerned with how much money you make, how you dress, oow many kids you have . . . It's color."

Payne, one of two black candidates in the race, said, "I'm not so sure we should push integration. I'm more in favor of open housing. I want to have a choice.

"A lot of black people find camaraderie in the ghetto . . . Get rid of the ordinances and restrictive covenants. Let me choose."

ANTHONY DEREZINSKI, first-term state senator from Muskegon, corrected Payne on one point: Restrictive covenants have been outlawed in Michigan for a couple of decades, and state open housing laws take precedence over local ordinances.

"Think of the progress we have made. Yet we haven't gone far enough," said Derezinski, an attorney.

"Half of the problem is low income. The root problem is economic. Let's take a look at raising salaries."

Derezinski said the much-discussed flight from the cities is reversing itself in Washington, Chicago and New York: "Rich people are moving back in and pushing the poor into the suburbs."

JOHN OTTERBACHER, state senator from Grand Rapids, said "there are still some social and legal barriers on the basis of race." He called it "unconstitutional" for a community to keep people out.

Otterbacher said he agreed with "a piece of everyone's answer except Paul (Rosenbaum)."

Otterbacher urged "tax laws to encourage industry to move into those ares as with high unemployment. We need to encourage industry to move in where crime rates are higher and insurance costs are higher."

PHILIP POWER, owner of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, said the question is "what kind of society do we want to promote? . . . Freedom of choice is central.

"It won't come from the social engineering put together by HUD (U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development). Of all the people we don't want to do social engineering, it's HUD."

Power, of Ann Arbor, said "to link low-income to senior citizen housing is immoral. It would link HUD's only success (senior citizen housing) with its biggest failure (low-income housing)."

Power said some local governments have attacked housing problems through bring poor housing up to codes, but "those are the programs that are being attacked and prevented by HUD."

Missing from the forum were two other declared candidates: Dudley Buffa, a former aide to the late Sen. Philip Hart, and Warren Bracy, law professor at the University of Toledo.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

The world of women's bowling is mourning the loss of Lillian C. Jacob, long time president of the Detroit Woman's Bowling Association. Mrs. Jacob died in Bon Secours Hospital last Thursday following an attack of pneumonia.

She had been in ill health for several years following a freak accident in which she was blown against a tree during a violent wind storm. This misfortune finally caused her to give up the presidency to Agnes Ekstrom.

Mrs. Jacob served as president in the Detroit office for 26 years after succeeding Mrs. Emma Hill. She also was one of the charter members of the Detroit Bowling Council and a past member of the board of directors of the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Services were held this morning from the Ver Heyden Funeral Home.

THE WESTERN suburbs are well represented in the group of champions just decided in the Detroit Women's City Tournament which closed last Sunday at Strike and Spare Lanes.

Joyce Kingsbury and Charlene Roberts, who do a lot of bowling at Plaza Lanes, took the doubles title with a handicap count of 1308.

Next to them came Gloria and Cheryl Mertz, of Merri-Bowl, who tied with Eartha Greene and Nancy Shirley at 1292 for second place.

Mary Rose Altese, of Plymouth Bowl, took the handicap all-events with 1957 after helping the Beeliners to take second in the team event. The Beeliners held the lead until the final week of the tournament.

One of the unusual happenings of the tournament was the fact that Jeannette Robinson, of Flint, who bowls in the Bowlerettes league, won the actual singles with 670 and the actual all-events with 1928.

BOB JAWOR waited until the closing weeks of the season to break the 700 barrier. Bowling in the 725-825 league at Westland Bowl, he linked count, of 228, 279 and 238 for 745.

Jawor didn't have any trouble setting the pace as John Phosterson had a 267 in second place and Bill Wilson was third with 623.

In the junior house league, Mark Abele was high man with a 262 in 684. His nearest rival was Richard Planko who closed with games of 233 and 234 for 669. Bruce Mooradian landed third with 650.

How do I make a Condolence Call?

To express your sympathies and console the bereaved, here are some logical "do's and don'ts" which may help you and the bereaved.

1. If you're not really sure whether you should make the call or not, then do it. The family is bound to appreciate it.
2. Remember, the purpose of the call is to express sympathy and offer assistance. Don't make it a long 'social' event.
3. Make the visit short - unless the bereaved ask you to stay.
4. Dress neatly, tastefully; not necessarily in mourners' black.
5. If the bereaved wish to talk, fine. Be a good listener!
6. A simple "I'm sorry about (the deceased)" is appropiate, along with a firm handclasp or brief embrace.
7. Leave after offering to help or doing what you've been asked to do.
8. Call back in a few days; the family will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

We welcome your questions and comments - privately or publicly through this column.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

by ELLIE GRAHAM

PRESIDENTS of League of Women Voters branches admit hard work and responsibility go along with the title. The annual national convention is one of the more rewarding and interesting duties of the office.

Past president Jane Watts went to San Francisco, Anna Lee Mathes to New York, and Ginny Orban to Atlantic City.

Kari Miller, present president of the LWV for Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi, got to go all the way to Cincinnati, Ohio, for her annual convention earlier this month. We're not too sympathetic, because Kari and her family spent two months in Europe last summer.

She will give her convention report to LWV members at the May 10 salad luncheon meeting in the home of Elizabeth Morelli. For reservations and directions, members are asked to call 420-6529. Child care is available by calling Sandy Walts, 349-2018.

Lunch will be served at 12:30 p.m.

A NOTE and a copy of the Lake San Marcos Outlook brought news of former Plymouth residents Vern and Helen Schilawske who used to live on Woodland Place.

He was owner of University Lithoprinters Inc. before he retired and they moved to California.

Vern is a volunteer executive in the International Executive Service Corps, a non-profit organization which arranges for executives to share their managerial know-how with the developing nations of the world.

Schilawske's first assignment was in the city of Tehran, where a syndicate of seven men was trying to organize a modern lithographic plant. He spent several weeks working with an architect on plans to remodel old chicken coops into a printing plant.

From Tehran, the Schilawskes went to the city of Shiraz, where an established plant wanted suggestions on how to reduce costs and increase production.

After two weeks of observation, he drew up a schedule of what had to be done to improve production by 400 per cent.

They returned to Tehran where the retired (?) executive made recommendations to the first business about what equipment they should acquire.

Mrs. Schilawske said she found the trip extremely educational. They visited Iranian sites of historical interest—the old city of Persepolis, home of Darius the Great and raided by Alexander the Great; Estefan, "city of crafts," where they saw the bazaars in the old part of town; and the Iranian crown jewels, which are the backing for the country's currency.

Several things made them most appreciative of life in these United States. Only one Iranian city has a sewage system; in all others sewage is handled by open gutters and ditches. And they found it usually was faster to walk than take a cab or bus.

"Traffic is impossible," said Helen Schilawske. "It never stops."

CYNDI ANN JONES, the "lucky seven" baby whose birth statistics were all combinations of seven, now has seven teeth.

Cyndi was born on the 21st day of the seventh month of 1977. She weighed seven pounds, seven ounces and was 21 inches long.

Her parents, Julie and Rory Jones of Brookline Street, Plymouth, discovered the wire services had picked up the story from the Observer.

"I know it was in a Washington newspaper, also one in South Bend and several others," said Julie. "But no one sent up a clipping."

PILGRIM GARDEN Club members are waiting for warmer weather to start on beautification plans for Dunning Hough Library on Main Street.

Last spring they planted flowers in front of the library. This year they are going to work on the back entrance as well. They plan to do some brick work—with their husbands' help—along the south walk and install a bench.

They raised money for the project by selling tickets with plants as prizes.

Sue Byerly chaired the contest and winners were Virginia Rarog, Janet Olsen and Sue Shelly. Each received a plant from Schwartz's Greenhouse.

The library improvement committee is headed by Sharon Rucinski with the assistance of Dianne Bodell.

The club elected new officers at its last meeting in Hulsing Elementary School. Dianne Bodell is president; Nancy Chapman, vice-president; Nancy Zelek, secretary; and Donna Sarrack, treasurer.

FLOSSIE TONDA, a member of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools Board of Education, will be special guest at the next coffee with the principal at Fiegel Elementary School.

All parents of Fiegel students are invited to attend, 10-11 a.m. May 17.

Pie safe, apple head dolls, baskets and brooms are found in Ron and Phyllis Coosaia's country kitchen.

Symphony house walk is May 19

Five Plymouth homes will be opened for the spring house walk planned by the Allegro group of the Plymouth Symphony League. The tour will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 19. Tickets now are available at $4 per person from Beitners Jewelry on Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth Book World in Forest Place Mall, Just Ann's on Starkweather, and the Sewing Basket on Ann Arbor Road at Sheldon.

Homes on the tour reveal the varied tastes and hobbies of their owners.

Antiques and the clean classic lines of contemporary furnishings are combined in Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sharp's home on South Evergreen. Dark wood floors and off-white walls are the perfect background for the art work, Victorian lanterns, and antique pieces. These are complemented by luxurious foliage plants that flourish throughout the house.

Persons on the tour will note the old ribbon holder in the living room which holds pots of trailing grape ivy and asparagus fern. These are Nancy Sharpe's solution to greenery in a corner away from natural light.

RON AND PHYLLIS Coosaia's home has the warmth of cherished family heirlooms.

The paneled study with its raised hearth, collection of Quimper pottery and other unusual pieces has a charm of its own. The country kitchen has a pegged plank floor with braided rugs.

One eye-catching wall has a collection of very old baskets. There also is a pie safe with pierced tin door and end panels.

Phyllis Coosaia has that special knack of putting the right thing in the right place. The end result is pleasing and comfortable.

The mood is oriental in the W.C. Tracey's home on Jo Ann Lane. The marble tiled entry combines an unusual collection of Plymouth prints with Chinese silk bell pulls. Chinese and Japanese accessories are used throughout the house.

The all-American kitchen has a citrus design wallpaper and a profusion of healthy lemon trees. Between the working and eating sections is a custom-designed screen of stained glass and acrylic by Dick Seegar of Arizona.

THE DONALD KUMMER'S house on Lighthouse Court in Plymouth Township was designed by Ron Meyers on 1974. It is a brick and cedar Cape Cod with an elegantly furnished interior.

The gabled master bedroom has pink grass cloth walls, soft green accents, and shades to match the bedspread. The two watercolors above the bed were painted by Barbara Kummer to pick up the restful colors in the room.

Home tour guests will note the distinctive window treatments used throughout the Kummer house.

The interior and the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. James Spooner's home on Lighthouse Court mark them as true lovers of nature.

The property has been landscaped and planted with more than 45 pine tress, several rhododenron hedges, and attractive niche plantings. There is a a large brick patio at the back of the house with a nearby stone waterfall complete with footbridge and goldfish pond.

The massive California driftwood stone fireplace in the family room and a continuing collection of china, porcelain and glass flora and fauna add a touch of nature to the interior.

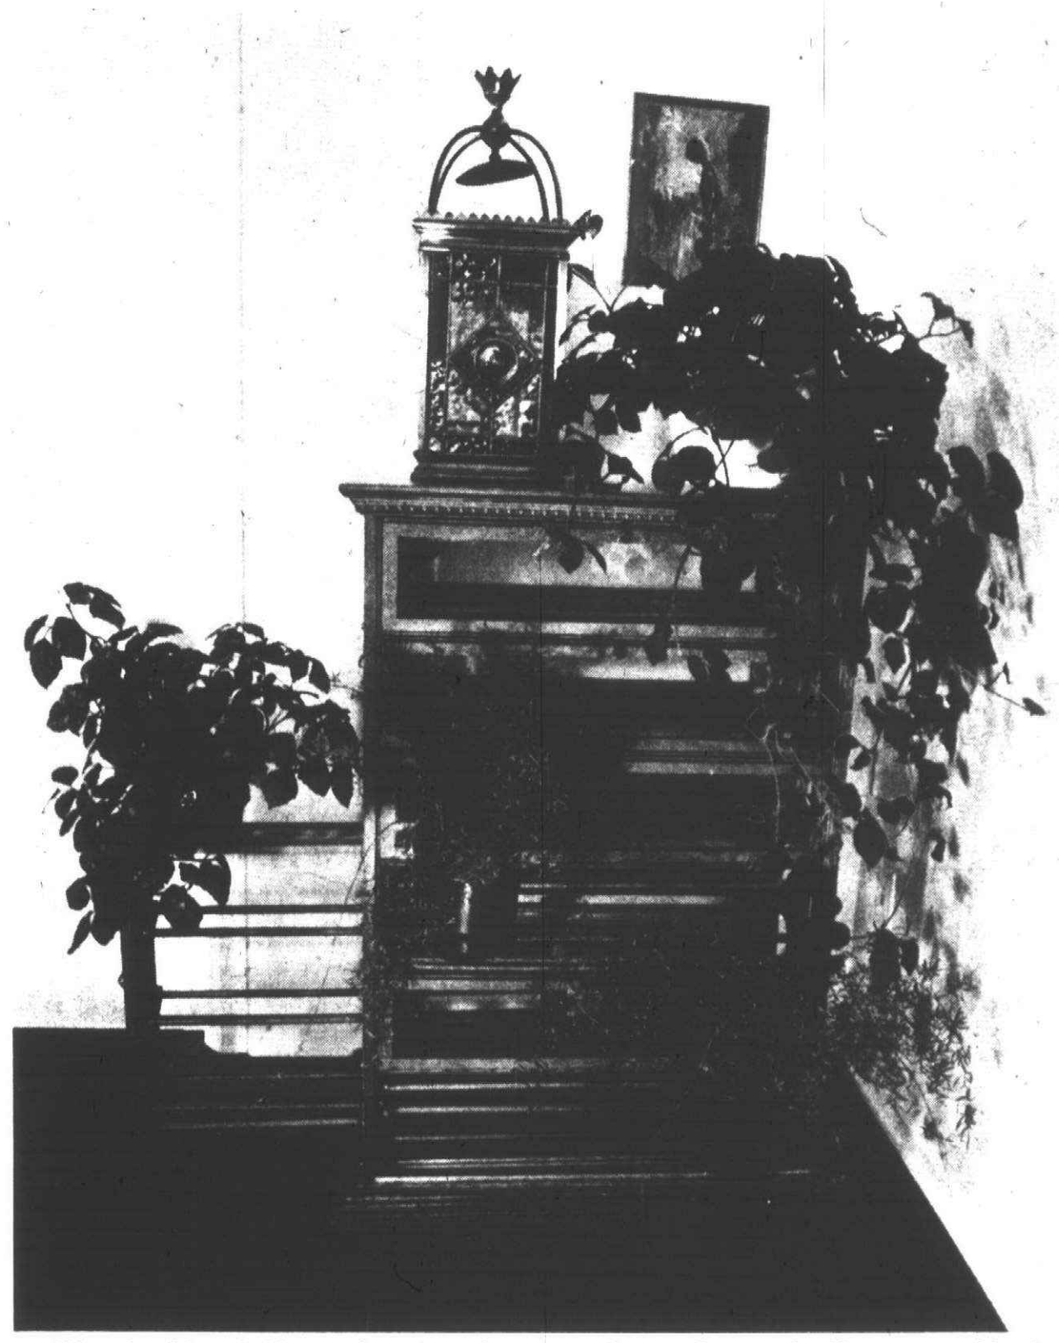

MAPS AND descriptions of the homes are included with admission tickets.

Chairing the walk are Mrs. Robert Gerlach, Mrs. Currie Weed, Mrs. Margè O'Day and Mrs. Howard Oldford. Hostess chairwomen are Mrs. Arthur Gerish and Mrs. Daniel Chatterly. Mrs. George Smith is in charge of ticket sales.

Proceeds from the tour will be used to support the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

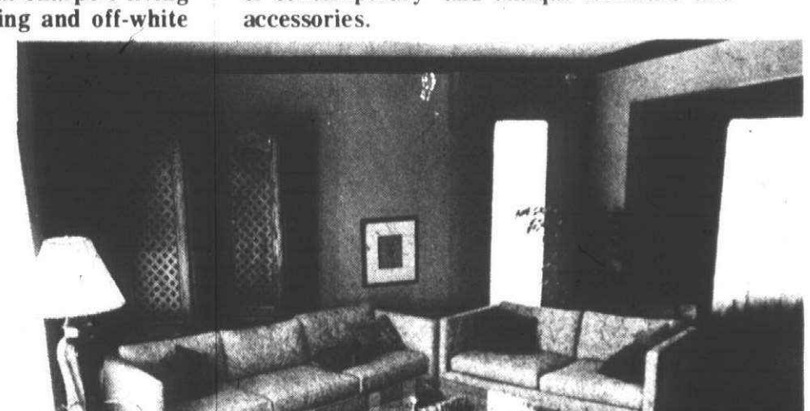

Darlene Spooner, Isabel Gerlach and Mary Weed enjoy the view in the Spooner's backyard.

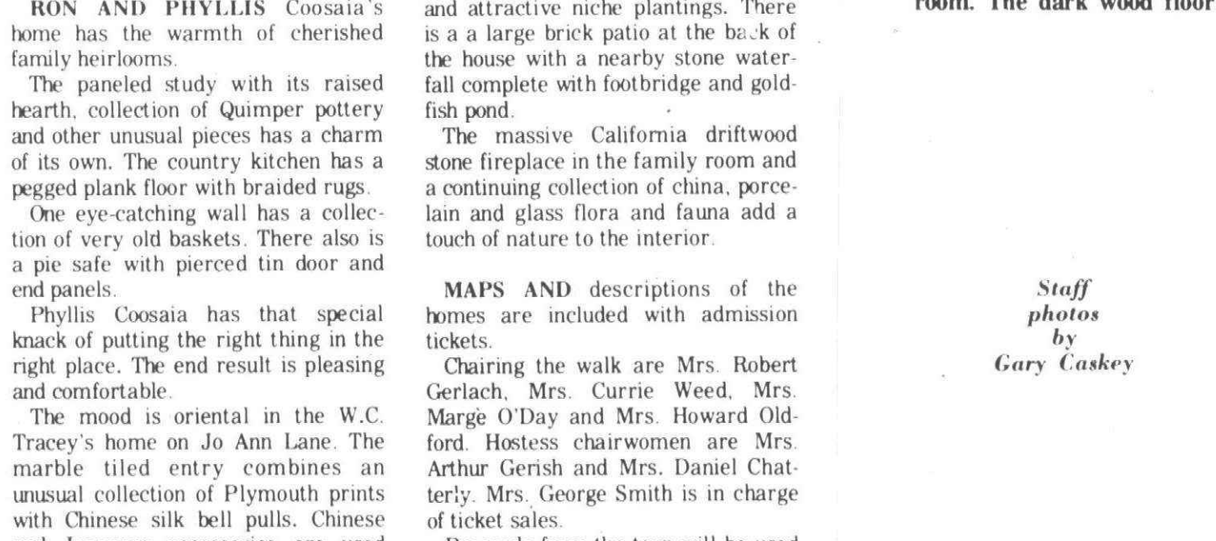

Old oak ribbon holder makes a perfect plant stand in Nancy and Pat Sharpe's living room. The dark wood flooring and off-white walls complement the Sharpe's combination of contemporary and antique furniture and accessories.

Finalists for the two JWH awards offered by the Plymouth Community Arts Council are (from left) Kent Culotta, Barbara Ohno, Cynthia Jo Pasky, Cheri Neal and Arthur Larson Jr.

5 finalists named for Hulce award

Five graduating seniors from the Plymouth-Canton area have been selected as finalists for two Joanne Hulce Winkleman Awards offered by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Named in honor of the PCAC founder, the JWH awards are presented to seniors who have displayed exceptional ability in the visual, performing or literary arts and who desire to continue their education in that field.

Finalists for this year's $500 scholarship awards are Barbara Ohno and Kent Culotta in the visual arts, Arthur Larson Jr. and Cheri Lynn Neal in the performing arts, and Cynthia Jo Pasky in the literary arts and forensics.

Larson, Culotta and Mis Pasky attend Plymouth Salem High School. Miss Ohno attends Our Lady of Mercy High School and Miss Neal attends Plymouth Canton High School.

DURING A final interview Thursday evening, each finalist demonstrated his or her special talent for the award committee.

Larson, who plays the trumpet, and Cheri Neal, who plays piano, viola and cello, performed musical numbers. Cynthia Jo Pasky gave a forensic demonstration and Culotta and Barbara Ohno exhibited and discussed samples of their original works of art.

"We have a fine group of exceptionally talented young people," said Joanne Hulce. "Our decision is a difficult one."

Members of the awards committee, in addition to Mrs. Hulce, are Erick Carne, Charles Heidt, Elaine Kirchgatter and Margaret Moon.

Announcement of the winners will be made at the annual PCAC spring luncheon May 22. Winners will be on hand to accept their checks and demonstrate their talents.

ALL TEACHERS of qualifying arts received official announcements of the JWH award early in March.

The qualifying arts include drama, dance, vocal and instrumental music, painting, sculpture, ceramics, textiles, graphics, photography, design and literary arts.

MARV TAMAROFF PRESIDENT

NO RUN-AROUND

That's the Tamaroff Sales Policy.

Tamaroff Buick-Opel-Honda will make it possible for you to stop getting the run-around when you buy a car. We will not bounce, bump or hassle you. That means we will sell you the car you want, as the prices we quoted. And we are known for giving very good prices on very good cars.
Sound good?
That's our sales policy in less than 60 words. And we mean to stick to it.
Tamaroff Buick-Opel-Honda is the Buick sales leader in this area. That comes from sticking to our sales policy. Another reason is our large inventory of great new cars right here available to our customers. So you might not have to wait for the free-spirited Buick, Opel or Honda you want.
Come on in to Tamaroff Buick-Opel-Honda.
No song-and-dance. No double talk. No run-around.
