These honored dead

They rest in graveyards here as well as in national cemeteries—those young men who fought and died in wars fought by this country.

And those who fought and lived remember.

Especially in the time near Memorial Day, veterans organizations pay their respects to the fallen through laying of wreaths and setting of flags in the cemeteries in this area.

They also honor the war dead through participation in the Memorial Day parades sponsored in the Livonia and Westland and special services in Garden City and Plymouth.

Veterans in Livonia paid homage to their fallen comrades as various organizations joined in placing wreaths at Veterans Park before the city's Memorial Day parade began Sunday.

In addition, members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3941 have joined several Boy Scout troops in placing flags at the graves of servicemen in several cemeteries in the area.

Flags were placed in Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth, by members of VFW Post 6695 and its auxiliary, with members from Plymouth and Canton.

The Wayne-Westland parade Monday ended with a ceremony at the Westland City Hall to honor the war dead of those communities.

Westland members of the Cpl. Edward Bova VFW Post 6986 also participated in a special memorial for Cpl. Bova, an area youth who was one of the first to be killed in the fighting in Vietnam.

Garden City honored its war dead with a Memorial Day service Monday at the city hall.

Redford Township will defer its honoring of war dead until Sunday, June 4, when its annual parade will be held.

Candidates speak out

Rent classrooms from neighbors?

One of the major issues to be addressed by the two persons to be elected to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education on June 12 is growth.

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is one of the few districts in the state experiencing dramatic increases in student enrollment year after year.

And as the population boom in Canton continues, and is aggravated by an expected boom in Plymouth Township, finding additional classroom space will become a critical problem.

In interviews with the three candidates for the school board the Observer asked each:

"If population growth requires additional classroom space would you favor leasing space in nearby school districts, such as Livonia or Wayne-Westland, instead of new construction?"

ANSWERING THAT question on growth were incumbents Carol Davis of Plymouth Township and Elaine Kirchgatter of Canton, and challenger William Johnson of Plymouth Township.

"At this point I think we still need to build," answered Mrs. Davis. "I'm not in favor of leasing because the available schools aren't located where we need them. I'd be happy to lease Lowell Junior High on Hix Road but I don't think Livonia will offer it to us.

"Also, I do strongly favor the neighborhood school concept. Because of that, I'd rather build than lease in the middle of another district.

"We aren't over-built yet. And even when or if the entire district goes on the Extended School Year we will need more buildings."

Johnson answered: "If the bus ride was not prolonged I would favor trying to lease available space in another district.

"But any available space in Livonia probably will be on the east side and too far away. The same would be true for Wayne-Westland. If you look at residential growth in the suburbs it has been from east to west. The east sides of Livonia and Westland were developed 10 to 15 years ago, and it's these areas which now are experiencing declining enrollment.

"It is not the western sides of these Mobs assemble for last freebie

Not many people are pleased to see the end of Detroit Edison's free light bulb program.

On Thursday, the next-to-last day of the bulb giveaway, the Edison office in downtown Plymouth was packed. Long lines of bulb-bearing consumers waited patiently for what was possibly their last freebie.

And there weren't very many smiling faces.

"It's just another thing they are taking away from the consumer," lamented a disgruntled Lillian Batterton of Plymouth, as she hefted a brown shopping bag full of new bulbs.

"I can't say I blame Edison for stopping, because they have to. But the electrical consumer doesn't have too much choice either. How many other things are going to be taken away?"

Although there was some possibility that Edison would continue the exchange program, no one in line was taking the optimistic view about the outcome of a squabble between the Public Service Commission and Edison.

Wednesday, the PSC ordered Edison to continue its exchange program despite a U. S. district court order to terminate it Friday.

IT'S TOO BAD, but I don't think I'm going to be able to do this anymore," said Janet McKelvey of Plymouth. "Edison is not really in a position to go against the court."

She added that the expense of buying light bulbs would probably not be that great. It was just the idea of "getting something for free."

Steven Klepack of Plymouth, however, felt that if the exchange ended, the price of bulbs "will skyrocket." "What's to stop the stores from jacking up the prices now that there's nowhere else to get bulbs?" he asked. "I've been exchanging my bulbs for 45 years, and I'm definitely against the whole idea of cutting off the program."

The likelihood of the bulb giveaway coming to an end has been hanging fire since 1973, when a Southfield druggist brought a lawsuit against Edison, charging that the light bulb exchange lowered his chances of selling them in his store.

And judging from some of the comments as people idled away time in line, Lawrence Cantor, the druggist, was not the most popular person in the world.

"I don't know who he thinks he is," said Neva St. Louis. "I can't see how that one man can ruin everything for everybody else."

A number of other people in line nodded their heads.

Long lines form at the local Detroit Edison branch office as residents turn in light bulbs in the free exchange before the deadline. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey).

What if school tax fails ?

Three proposed budgets are floating around the central administrative offices of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

One budget plans expenditures for the coming school year should voters approve both the renewal and new millage requests.

Another budget forecasts expenditures in case the renewal is approved June 12 and the new millage defeated.

The third alternative budget anticipates expenses in case voters turn down the renewal and new millage.

The labels for the three budgets are "present quality program," "reduced program" and "drastic reduction."

ON MONDAY, June 12, residents of Plymouth and Canton will elect two school board members and vote on three tax issues.

The first issue is a request to renew three mills ($3 per $1,000 state equalized valuation) which presently is being collected.

A second request seeks voter approval of 1½ new mills ($1.50 per $1,000 SEV) for general operation, to be levied for five years.

The third request is for an additional ½-mill (50 cents per $1,000 SEV) for 10 years to be earmarked for only building maintenance and improvements.

If all three proposals are approved June 12, the owner of a house valued at $50,000 would pay an additional $50 a year in school taxes. If all three proposals fail, the same owner would pay $75 a year less than he is now paying.

The three millage proposals failed in the special election held last month. In that election, the three-mill renewal and 1½ new mills were lumped together in one proposal.

THE "PRESENT QUALITY" budget's major provision is the hiring of 36 additional teachers to maintain present class size and handle student growth—projected to be an additional 850 students this fall.

The budget drawn up if all three proposals are approved also includes complete interscholastic athletics, adequate school supplies, staff for full services, curriculum improvement and teacher training, student testing and pre-school assessment.

The budget also provides for bringing up to standard school drives and parking lot, year-round driver education, continuation of School Farm and radio station as now operated, sixth grade camp, a full school day at all levels, complete extra-curricular activities, adequate cleaning and maintenance.

The projections also include funds for a complete upgrading of transportation scheduling and routing, including route standardization for schools on extended school year (ESY) schedules and elimination of most double-tripping.

THE REDUCED PROGRAM budget, to be implemented in case only the millage renewal is approved, would result in only 14 new teachers being hired to partially handle student growth.

The per pupil support for school supplies would be cut by about $6.50. The athletic program would be cut by $49,000, resulting in elimination of seventh and ninth grade sports and reductions in all other sports programs.

There would be reductions in the number of aides, administrators, custodians, health and special education staff members, and a drastic cut in all areas of curriculum improvement and teacher training. Student testing programs would be nearly eliminated.

One-half of the newspaper, debate, drama and club funds would be cut and there would be reduced custodial staff and cuts in maintenance and cleaning supplies.

School Farm and radio station funds would be reduced and only minor asphalt repairs would be made on school drives and parking lots.

If only the renewal passed there would be some upgrading of transportation scheduling but double-tripping still would continue. The fees paid by parents for sixth grade camp would be raised if the additional millage fails.

And a major expense-cutting move would be to shorten the beginning of the elementary school day by one hour. By starting school one hour later each day, the district would save the cost of six specialist teachers (art, music, physical education, reading specialists). Programs would be reduced in grades K-12.

THE DRASTIC REDUCTIONS budget projects major cuts which would be made should the renewal and additional millage requests fail.

The inability to hire any additional teachers would result in the shortening of the school day in grades K-8. With the shortened school day the elementaries would operate with a projected 25 fewer teacher positions than in 1977-78. Art, music and physical education teachers would take over regular classes.

Under the present system, classroom teachers have a planning period while children receive special instruction. With the shortened day, teachers would plan at the start of the day while the children are at home.

With the shortened school day the four middle schools will operate with a projected 20 fewer teachers, which means students will take only five classes a day instead of six.

The high school student's day cannot be shortened because of growing high school enrollment and lack of space. However, the ninth graders will take only five credits unless both millages pass. If the renewal fails, only the 12th graders will be permitted to take six credits. This would mean a projected 20 fewer teachers than in 1977-78.

Shortening the school day saves money by reducing the number of teachers on the payroll.

OTHER CUTS budgeted in case the renewal and additional millage fails includes a reduction in funds for school supplies of $8.50 per pupil.

The interscholastic athletic program would be reduced by $100,000, which would result in elimination of seventh, eighth and ninth grade sports with many high school sports also eliminated.

There would be layoffs and reassignments in all staff areas, and elimination of the student newspaper, debate, drama, musical performances and clubs.

Driver education would be offered only during the summer and the School Farm and radio station funds would be drastically reduced.

Sixth grade camp would be eliminated and there would be no improvement in transportation scheduling and routing procedures.

Canned food drive slated

The first annual canned food drive will be conducted June 1, 2 by the Plymouth Salem Student Council.

Lt. William Harfoot of the Plymouth Salvation Army, which is helping with the organization of the drive, says there are three major purposes for the effort.

The first is to have canned food available in case of a natural emergency, such as a tornado, for those in need. Second is to help people in need of food in case their home is destroyed by fire. The third is so the student council can benefit the community in some way beyond normal school activities.

Students will be going door to door June 1, 2 in various neighborhoods collecting canned food. Volunteers who wish to donate may call the Salvation Army business phone at 453-5464 and make a pledge by leaving their name and address.

Students will make frequent calls to the Salvation Army and will collect the food at the given addresses.

After the collections have been made, the food will be stored in two different garages—one on Creekwood in Trailwood Subdivision and the other on Brewster Court.

Anyone interested in helping in the drive may call Paul LeRoue at 453-1967.

ESY option going?

A program that allows parents in Plymouth and Canton to send their children to schools on nine-month calendars if they do not wish to participate in extended school year schedules may be eliminated this fall.

A recent ruling by the state attorney general's office requires the school district to provide transportation to those students who have opted out of their normal school boundaries.

At the beginning of this school year, the board of education gave parents the opportunity to switch schools if they did not want to become involved in the ESY calendar (45 days of school and 15 days of vacation).

The stipulation was made, however, that the parents must provide their own transportation.

The attorney general's office overruled the school board's mandate that parents provide their own transportation when it said that it is the school district's responsibility and not that of the parents.

Unless some kind of compromise is made between now and next fall, school officials expect to no longer offer parents the option of pulling their children from ESY schools.

"WE ARE GOING to accommodate the 42 students involved by transporting them for the remainder of the year," said Raymond Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business. "We're trying to make the necessary adjustments in bus schedules and hope to provide transportation as soon as possible."

Hoedel said the school board thought it was covered when Dr. Phil O'Leary, a representative from the state board of education, approved the opt-out program with parents providing their own transportation.

A group of parents protested having to drive their children to the new schools and asked for an opinion from the attorney general's office.

The opinion means that the schools will likely eliminate the program, Hoedel said.

Supt. John M. Hoben met with state school officials in Lansing last week in an attempt to find out if the program can still be offered without the schools being responsible for transportation.

Meijer's union vote is set

Of the 28 Meijer's Thrifty Acres stores in Michigan, only four are not represented by trade unions.

Employees at the Meijer's store in Canton Township will be given the opportunity to trim the number of non-union stores to three on June 9—the tentative date set by the National Labor Relations Board for a representation election.

Two weeks ago, workers at the 24 Meijer's union stores voted to switch its local affiliation from an independent status to Retail Clerks, one of the few growth unions in the AFL-CIO.

The decision means an additional 9,000 members to the Retail Clerks membership, and an anticipated increase in economic power come negotiation time this summer, according to Robert Potter, administrator for Union Local 951 of Grand Rapids.

Potter said that if the June 9 vote is successful, Meijer's Canton store employees will become part of the Retail Clerks union and enter negotiations on July 1, when the Local 951's current master contract with Meijer's expires.

WHEN THE CANTON store opened in 1975, employees were under contract by the Consolidated Independent Union Local 951. Objections were filed by local 876 of the Retail Clerks because of the manner in which the contract was applied, Potter said.

The NLRB found that the application of the first contract for the Canton employees was illegal and voided the contract. After the ruling was upheld by 8th District Court in Cincinnati, the contract was removed from the Local 951 unit.

For the last 10 months, employees at the Canton store have been working without union representation.

Potter said the stockboys and cashiers at the Canton store did not lose any wage increases or benefits during the 10-month period because no new contracts have been negotiated in that time.

Potter said he is confident Canton store employees will vote to become a part of the Retail Clerks.

"Nothing good comes easy," he said, "but we're confident of victory."

Bathey hit by wildcat

By GLENN BUNTING

About 300 employees have staged a wildcat strike at Bathey Manufacturing Co. in Plymouth to protest unsafe working conditions.

The walkout began at noon Monday when 35 welders hit the streets carrying signs and blocking truck deliveries.

At 3:30 p.m. Monday, Bathey officials closed company doors to the 8-12 workers who showed up for the afternoon shift. By Tuesday morning, the Bathey plant was shut down for the day.

"Our whole objective was to get the company to shut the plant when we walked out and it took us less than a day," one worker said.

WILDCAT STRIKES are nothing new to Bathey Manufacturing, a division of Armco Steel. Company officials said that workers have walked out 18-20 times in the past. The last walkout took place in September 1976.

The present strike stems from a list of complaints criticizing plant working conditions that employees claim have been ignored for the past two years.

"The assembly lines are extremely unsafe," one worker said. "We get welding flashes in our eyes and burns all over our arms. You can't breathe in the plant because there's no air. The smoke is so thick you can cut it with a knife."

Other complaints include Bathey's inability to repair leaky roofs, worker harassment by foremen and the recent company practice of suspending employees for "impeding production."

Another worker said the problem is the company's attitude.

"Management has been promising us a new ventilation system for years. They do what they want and get away with it. The root of the problem is that our union has no real power."

The welders belong to Teamsters Local 614 in Pontiac. They say they are unhappy with their union and would like to get a new one elected.

A meeting was set up between Local 614 officials and the irate workers Monday at 6 a.m. to discuss employee complaints. The welders claim the union representatives said they would get back to the workers with a progress report by 11:30 Monday morning. When the union failed to make contact, the workers went on strike.

"WE TOLD THEM they should go back into work and settle this thing through proper channels," said Hobart Lyons, Local 614 union representative. "But when they've made up their minds to walk, there's not much you can do about it."

"We're not sanctioning this strike. I thought the workers were pretty satisfied. It's a weld shop and there's gonna be a lot of smell and smoke. I thought the place was improving."

Lyons denied that Local 614 was unresponsive to the workers' needs at Bathey.

"They expect the union rep to be their Johnny-on-the-spot. We're not located in their building," he said.

Dale Davis, plant supervisor at Bathey, said he was unsure how the company would react to the striking workers, but said it was considering several alternatives.

"Individually, I don't think anyone will tell you that Bathey is not a good place to work," Davis said. "What I'm trying to say is that this is a pretty easy place to work."

Lyons said he didn't think the employees' jobs were in jeopardy, but added the issue was the company's business and not the union's.

Bathey officials refused comment but Lyons said the company's position was that it "didn't care how long the workers stayed out".

Leasing

MRS. KIRCHGATTER was opposed to leaving in nearby districts, but for a different reason.

"I'm very concerned about going to a neighboring school district because of the cross-district busing lawsuit. The courts are just waiting for some school district to try cross-district busing."

"Without some pretty good assurances from our legal advisers that we would be on safe ground I'd feel very uncomfortable renting space in a neighboring district."

"I'm not opposed to new school construction now, but I'd want more information before deciding on that. We still can gain additional classroom space by expanding Extended School Year to other school buildings—especially at the elementary level, but also at the middle schools. At the high schools, though, it just wouldn't work."

Garage sale for the ERA

A garage sale will be held June 15, 16 as a fundraiser for the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA).

The sale will be at the home of Barbara Toor at the corner of Roberta and Bradner Road in Plymouth Township from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday, June 15, 16.

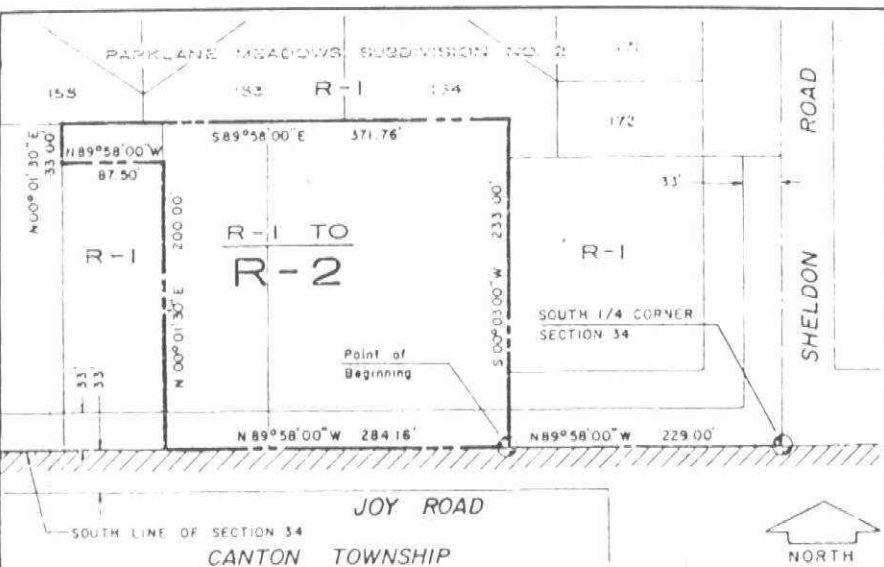

The sale is a series of fundraising events scheduled by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi to help raise more than $1 million committed by the national LWV for ERA campaigns in key unratified states.

Kari Miller, president of the local league, said: "We are determined to ensure passage of this amendment before time runs out in 1979."

"If citizens are interested in helping us achieve this important goal, they can make a contribution to the effort by sending their dollars to Johanne Fechter, 397 N. Evergreen, Plymouth 48170."

WILBUR MILLS

Mills speaking in Brighton

Former U.S. Rep. and recovering alcoholic Wilbur Mills will be keynote speaker for the 25th anniversary of Brighton Hospital on Aug. 5.

The hospital is one of the country's first and leading facilities for the exclusive treatment of alcoholism.

Alcoholism contributed to Mills' downfall from one of the most powerful positions in Congress. In January 1975, Washington D.C. police found Mills, then chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, in the Potomac River Tidal Basin, after he apparently had too much to drink.

That incident and Mills' relationship with a Boston burlesque dancer, Fanne Fox, led the Arkansas Democrat to admit he was an alcoholic. A year later, he resigned from the House.

Now an attorney for a New York law firm, Mills devotes much of his time to speaking about the treatment of alcoholism.

Nearly 8,000 former patients, benefactors and friends of Brighton Hospital will be invited to the anniversary, with "Sharing the Joy of Sobriety" as the theme.

Brighton hospital accepted its first patients in a converted farmhouse in the fall of 1953. The hospital, which completed a $2 million renovation and expansion in March, 1975, is located on Grand River at Kensington, near the present I-96 freeway.

James hurls Chiefs to Southfield District, 3-1

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Plymouth Canton junior Brian James wasn't even scheduled to pitch Saturday afternoon, and as it turned out, Farmington Harrison wished he never appeared on the mound.

James, who was a surprise starter in place of Scott Dawson, outdueled Hawk ace Mark Recker, handcuffing Harrison with a two-hitter enroute to a 3-1 pre-district victory at Farmington.

The triumph advances the top-ranked Chiefs to the Southfield Districts next Saturday when state tournament action continues.

Dawson was scheduled to hurl for the Chiefs but was forced to play first base in a last minute move when sophomore first-sacker Dave Meador developed stiffness in his shoulder.

The unexpected starting assignment didn't bother James, however, as he went the distance for his seventh victory against only one defeat. He struck out eight and walked three.

The pre-district battle was similar to the previous two games between these Western Six League rivals, as lowing scoring and defense dominated the action. Canton won the two league games by scores of 4-1 and 3-1.

The Chiefs struck first, scoring three runs in the initial stanza—thanks to two costly Hawk errors.

Scott Collins led off the game with a walk. The All-state shortstop moved to second base when Jeff Campbell's bunt resulted in Recker throwing wild to second base.

Dawson and Russ Mandle both struck out. Recker looked like he was out of the inning when Doug Smith hit a fly ball to rightfield. But Harrison's Fred Blackmer misjudged the ball and it bounced off the heel of his mitt, allowing both Collins and Campbell to score.

Smith went to second base on the error, and sophomore Al Lipinski singled him home for the third run of the inning.

As it turned out, that's all the Chiefs needed, as James was nearly perfect in mowing down the Hawk batters.

Harrison scored its lone run in the second inning when Kevin Collar was safe on Collins' error. He stole second base and scored on a single by designated hitter Craig Edwards.

That was the only damage off James, as the junior righthander never allowed a runner past second base the rest of the game.

Recker pitched a good game, as well, limiting the Chiefs to four hits. He struck out eight but walked six batters in going the distance.

Harrison finishes its season with a 14-7 record, while the Western-6 champion Chiefs keep rolling with a 19-3 mark.

Rocks trip Edsel Ford; earn share of crown

The Plymouth Salem girls softball team earned at least a tie for the Suburban Eight League title with an overpowering 11-2 victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford Thursday afternoon at the Rocks' diamond.

Salem travels to Dearborn Thursday afternoon to face the Pioneers. If the Rocks win this game, they will be assured of their first outright league crown in the school's short softball history.

The victory over Edsel Ford was sweet revenge for the Rocks, which fell to the Thunderbirds earlier this season. Salem had been chasing Edsel Ford for the past two weeks in the league race, but finally overtook their rivals with this nine-run victory.

The Rocks currently hold a 12-2 overall record and a 10-2 mark in the Sub-8. Edsel Ford's league record dropped to 9-3.

Nan Horwood led off the game with a home run, and it was easy sailing from there, as Debbie Pitera breezed to one of her easiest victories of the season. Cindy Cindrich also hit a homer and Donna Goodrich helped the Rocks attack with a triple. Horwood and Pitera recorded two hits each.

Salem faces Livonia Churchill Tuesday afternoon at Salem in a pre-district contest beginning at 4 p.m. If the Rocks win this game, they advance to the districts at Redford Union on Saturday.

Earlier in the week, Salem easily beat Trenton, 15-7, on Tuesday.

The Rocks' eight-run victory over

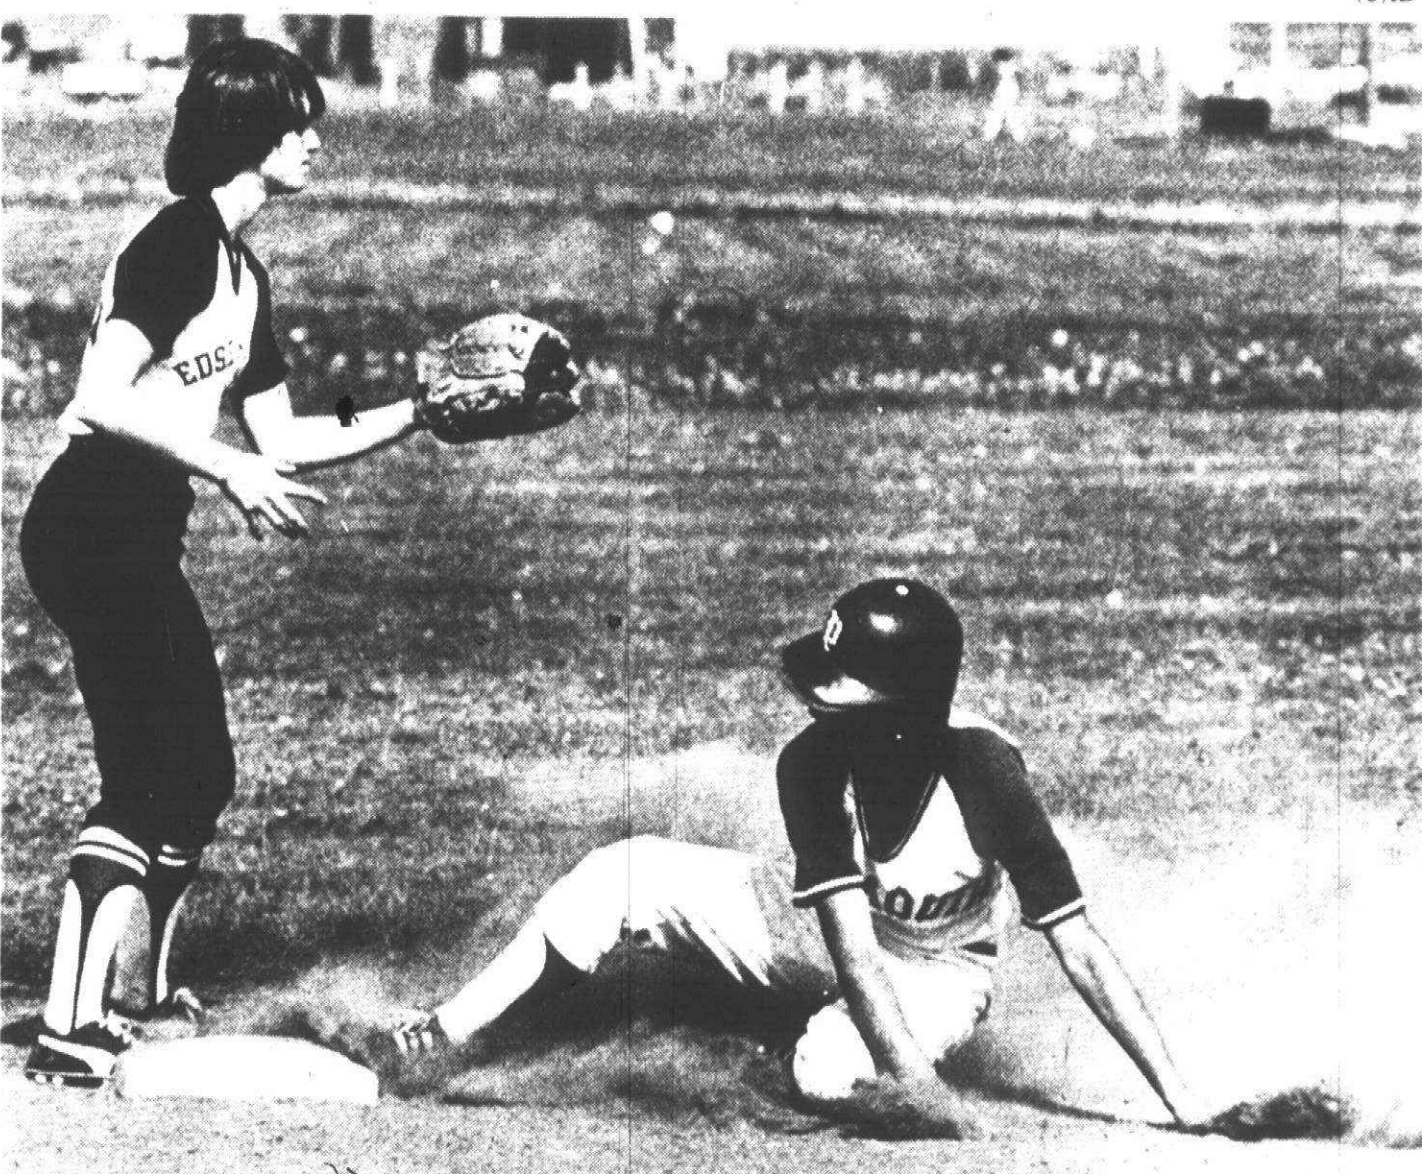

Trenton started with a first-inning rally which saw the first four Plymouth girls reach base and eventually score.

Salem added to the onslaught with one run in the second inning, two in the third, three in the fourth, and five more in the sixth stanza.

Pitera went all the way on the mound for the easy victory.

Salem registered only eight hits but was aided by 13 base-on-balls allowed by the Trenton pitchers.

Nan Horwood continued her hot hitting with a two-for-two afternoon which included two walks, two runs scored, and two RBIs. Sue McDowell added a single and a double in three trips, while Goodrich blasted a home run to help pace the offensive attack.

Becky Crespo slides safely into second base during Thursday afternoon action against Dearborn Edsel Ford. The Rocks won the Sub-8 game, 11-2, to gain at

Dawson, Smith one-hit Shamrocks

Canton squeaks by CC

Plymouth Canton warmed up for its pre-district showdown with Farmington Harrison by defeating non-league baseball rival Detroit Catholic Central, 2-1, Wednesday afternoon.

The narrow one-run triumph was the Chiefs' 18th victory in 21 starts. The Western six League champions completed their loop schedule with a 9-1 mark.

Scott Dawson and Doug Smith split the mound duties for the Chiefs, allowing just one hit between them. Dawson pitched no-hit ball through the initial four innings and registered his sixth victory against two losses.

Doug Smith pitched the last three innings, giving up the lone hit and only CC run. The Chiefs held a 2-0 lead after six innings, but the Shamrocks rallied for one tally in the seventh to tighten the score. Smith pitched out of the jam, however, striking out the last two batters to preserve the victory.

Canton scored its first run in the bottom of the first inning when All-State shortstop Scott Collins led off with a single. He stole second base and moved to third on a fly out. Scott Dawson walked to force a first-and-third situation, and Collins scored on a double steal.

Collins scored the Chiefs' second run as well, leading off the third inning with a base-on-balls. He raced to third base on Jeff Campbell's double to the leftfield fence.

Russ Mandle walked to load the bases, and Collins came home on Ray Smock's suicide squeeze bunt.

Canton girl thinclads stopped by Churchill

The Plymouth Canton girls track team saw its modest two-meet win streak come to an end when Western Six League foe Livonia Churchill downed the Chiefs, 81-55, Thursday afternoon.

"We made a pretty good showing, but Churchill's a tough team," said Canton coach Ken Zornes. "Many of our times improved."

The Chiefs won two of the relay races and three other individual events.

Diane Durocher, Jan Petersen, Kathy Sochacki, and Jennifer Tregembo combined for a winning time of :53.1 in the 440-yard relay. The mile relay foursome of Cathy Brophy, Jill Petersen, Sochacki, and Judy Purpura won this event in 4:39.2.

Brenda Bigelow won the high jump competition with a leap of 4-10. Junior Dawn Malek was fourth at 4-4.

Kelly Heaton, Canton's only point-scorer in the regionals, won the shot-put competition with a heave of 33-9½. Geri Schufeldt won the two-mile race in 12:52.3.

Freshman Cathy Brophy continued to impress people with a second-place clocking in the 880-yard run in 2:37.0. Veronica Gray took two second-place finishes in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes with times of :12.3 and :28.1, respectively.

Jan Petersen raced to a :16.4 clocking in the hurdles for a runners-up spot. Lynne Rudolph also took a second-place finish in the mile run at 6:03.6.

The Chiefs compete in the Western Six League meet Wednesday at Farmington Harrison.

Salem splits pair; must beat Dearborn for tie

Plymouth Salem split a pair of Suburban Eight League games late last week and fell into a tie for first place in the loop race.

The Rocks, coached by Brian Gilles, defeated Dearborn Edsel Ford, 5-1, Thursday afternoon after losing to Allen Park, 10-7, on Wednesday.

The split dropped Salem's Sub-8 record to 9-4. The Rocks' overall mark is 16-7.

If the Rocks win Tuesday's season and league finale against Dearborn (starting at 4 p.m. at Salem), they will be assured at least a share of the title and possibly the outright crown.

"I just hope we play well against Dearborn," Gilles said. "I'd like to get at least a piece of it (the title)."

Gilles was suffering from a bout with the flu Thursday, but it didn't seem to bother the way his Rocks performed.

Salem jumped to a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning and added single tallies in the third and fifth stanzas.

Edsel Ford scored its only run off winner pitcher Bruce Piper in the third inning. Piper went the distance for his ninth win in 10 starts. He allowed six hits, struck out seven and didn't walk a batter.

Salem's Bill Kral led off the game with a single. He went to third base on a single by Sam Merrill, and scored on a single by Bubba Wilcox. Matt Etienne followed with yet another one-base hit which brought home both Merrill and Wilcox.

Etienne singled again in the third inning, went to second on a passed ball, and scored Salem's fourth run on a single by Mike Michalek. Joe Good-sir scored the final Rock run in the fifth inning on an error.

Salem's 10-hit attack saw Etienne, Piper, Kral and Merrill get two hits each.

The Allen Park contest found the Jaguars jump into a 9-1 lead after three-and-one-half innings. The Rocks never recovered.

Piper started but was lifted after three innings, losing 5-1. John Holdsworth pitched the fourth inning but was ineffective, allowing four more Jaguar runs. Barry Owens hurled the final three innings and was impressive, permitting only one final Allen Park tally in the seventh.

Salem fought back within three runs, 9-6, in the fourth inning when it scored five runs—two of which came on a home run by Michalek. But the eight-run deficit was too much for the Rocks to overcome.

Kral and Etienne got two hits each to pace Salem's nine-hit attack.

Rock netters edge closer to league title

The Plymouth Salem tennis team raised its overall record to 11-2 with two victories over Trenton and Allen Park last Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

The Rocks remain in strong contention with Dearborn Edsel Ford for the Suburban Eight League title.

The Allen Park victory was a narrow 4-3 decision completed Thursday after the match was interrupted by rain last month.

Regional winner and senior co-captain Curt Schultz continued to play excellent tennis in leading Salem to this narrow triumph. Schultz defeated Allen Park's top player Gary Thill with a split set decision, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Rock second-singles Bob Braun and third-singles Blake Lundberg both lost their matches to Mason Toungett and Rod Sezis, respectively.

Freshman fourth-singles Scott Crespo squeaked by Jaguar Bob Salabee, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

The Rocks won two of the three doubles matches to help pull out the important victory.

Ed Thomas and Jeff Bearup also won a split set decision over Allen Park's first duo of Kelly Obarit and Tom Schelengler, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1.

Dick Cook and Craig Stevens easily defeated their Allen Park second-doubles counterparts, 6-1, 6-3. Larry Kummer and Mark Thomas lost a heartbreaker at third doubles, 6-7, 7-6, 3-6.

The Rocks face Dearborn Tuesday afternoon at Salem beginning at 4 p.m.

Scott Dawson hurled four innings of no-hit ball against Catholic Central Wednesday afternoon. The top-ranked Chiefs won the non-league battle, 2-1, for their 18th victory against only three setbacks. Canton clinched its fourth consecutive Western Six League title two games earlier, finishing the league schedule with a 9-1 record. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Doc's Corner

By DENNIS O'CONNOR
Sports Editor

Talk about bad luck

My first instinct is to comment on Plymouth Salem's unfortunate 1-0 setback to Farmington Harrison.

After all, here is the 10th best baseball team in the state (according to the recent UPI poll) entering the game with a potent .340 team batting average.

They run into a hot pitcher, Mark Recker, who stifles those big bats with a two hitter. Suddenly, the Rocks' state tournament is over—and they didn't even get a chance to battle Plymouth Canton.

In fact, it seemed to me that the Rocks were more upset about missing that coveted shot at the Chiefs than participating in state tournament play.

It is indeed a shame that a potent baseball team such as Salem should be dismissed from the tourney so early. But that's what makes the one-game knock-out event so interesting. You truly have to be more lucky than good.

BUT SALEM baseball teams have experienced success in the past few years, so their demoralizing loss to Harrison didn't bother me as much as the phone conversation I had with Rocks' boys track coach Gary Balconi last Monday night.

The whole conversation was one of disappointment after another concerning his disastrous day at the Farmington regionals.

Here is a track team which hasn't had much success in a program that hasn't produced a winning team in the past 10 years.

But Balconi's 1978 squad finally looked like it was putting the pieces together. After a second-place finish in the recent Observerland Relays, they looked like strong contenders for the regional title.

It just wasn't to be.

The pole vaulters failed. Balconi called this the "biggest tragedy" ever in his sports career, since he had three of the best vaulters in the area. I wouldn't go as far as saying it was a tragedy, but you had to feel sorry for the trio—Scott Kappler, Dennis Ogden, and Mark Choma.

The top-seeded 880-yard relay team failed. And Chris Ritchey failed in the 220-yard dash.

Bad luck? Yes. The pole vaulters unexpectedly vaulted against the wind. Ritchey stepped on the lane marker and was disqualified. The relay team dropped the baton on the first exchange.

The result—a disappointing eighth-place finish.

WHILE THESE two events were disappointing for the "blue" school, chances for Suburban Eight League titles still remain.

The baseball team has to defeat Dearborn at Dearborn on Tuesday for at least a share of the crown.

The track team hosts the Sub-8 meet on Wednesday. It's the first time in many years that the Rocks have hosted a league track meet.

It's important that many fans come and support the Rocks in their quest for a league championship—especially after the disastrous regional showing.

At least the fans will see the pole vaulters competing with the wind—Balconi will make sure of that.

Area track coaches are encouraged to contact Livonia Churchill coach Fred Price, who is compiling the best track performances of the season. He may be reached at 261-7300 ext. 257.

Churchill bombs Canton, 128-30

By ANDY MELIN

The Plymouth Canton boys' track team ended its dual-meet season Wednesday afternoon with a 128-30 loss to Western Six League counterpart Livonia Churchill.

The loss dropped the Chiefs' dual-meet overall record to 0-8 and 0-5 in Western-6 competition.

Canton standout, Rich Fleischer, who has never lost a 220-yard dash or 440-yard dash in a dual-meet this season, continued his winning ways by taking first in both events against Churchill.

The state meet qualifier set a new school record in the 440-yard dash in a time of :51.9, and won the 220-yard dash in :24.0.

Brent Eckles finished first in both the 100-yard dash with a time of :10.8 and in the long jump with a leap of 20.7.

Martin Hinckley took third place in both the 330-yard low hurdles and in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Dan McGlinn placed fourth in the high jump. Dave Talaga finished fourth in the 220-yard dash. Dave Spitz took second in the mile run and fourth in the two-mile race.

The Chiefs will participate in the Western-6 league meet Wednesday at Farmington Harrison High School.

No coach Brett takes 2d in meet

The Plymouth Canton girls' softball game against Taylor Center was cancelled last Wednesday afternoon.

The Taylor Center softball program is coached on a volunteer basis by the school's boys track coach. The Taylor track squad re-scheduled a make-up meet on this date, which left the girls' softball team without a coach—the reason for the cancellation.

The Chiefs, 5-7 overall and 2-7 in the Western Six League, will face Farmington Harrison on Wednesday. Canton has already advanced to district competition at Redford Union on Saturday.

Brett White, 12, of 41636 River Oaks, Plymouth, placed second in a recent Pitch, Hit, and Run contest, held in cooperation with National Parks and Recreation Association in Westland.

Brett's runner-up finish in his age bracket qualifies him for regional competition in Southfield. He plays for the Royals, in the A League of the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League.

Why farmland dwindles: Pressure to develop

By GLENN BUNTING

For most parts of Wayne County, farmers are a dying breed.

With their backs to the wall because of rising taxes and lower returns, farmers maintain that the only way to turn a buck in the fields is to move outstate where the cost of land is cheaper.

And since farmland in western Wayne County is under tremendous pressure to develop, an added incentive exists for farmers to sell their property at high rates and migrate to more attractive rural settings.

Annual statistics compiled by the Wayne County extension service show a rapid decline in the amount of farmland in use since the mid-1950s.

In 1964, there were 65,412 acres of farmland in Wayne County, compared to 49,527 acres in 1969 and 37,449 acres in 1974.

Of the 335 regular members who belong to the Wayne County Farm Bureau, only a handful reside in Livonia, Garden City, Westland and Redford Township. The same can be said of Farmington, where the number of farmers can be counted on one hand.

MOST FARMERS in Wayne County own property in Flat Rock and Belleville, with approximately 150 living in Canton and Plymouth Township, according to farm bureau statistics.

In Plymouth Township, the amount of land zoned for agricultural use is on the downswing. In 1966, 1,953 acres were zoned agricultural compared to 1,700 today. And land zoned for farm use will continue to diminish, according to Plymouth Township planning consultants.

"There is no agricultural land designated in Plymouth Township as part of its future land use plan," said Jim Anulewicz. "Ultimately, there will be very few acres of farmland in Plymouth Township."

In Canton Township, officials are making strides to preserve farmland from residential development. There are nearly 5,000 acres that the township has labelled suitable for agricultural preservation.

There is presently seven to eight square miles of land zoned for agricultural use in Canton. Twenty years ago, all of Canton consisted of farmland, according to George Peek, township planning consultant.

Last summer, Canton officials made a commitment to pursue the restoration of land for farm use in the township.

A $40,000 STUDY, approved last June after a citizens' land use committee recommended that farmland be preserved as long as residents were willing to reimburse farmers for their lost development rights, is near completion. It will determine the costs and benefits of purchasing development rights from Canton farmers.

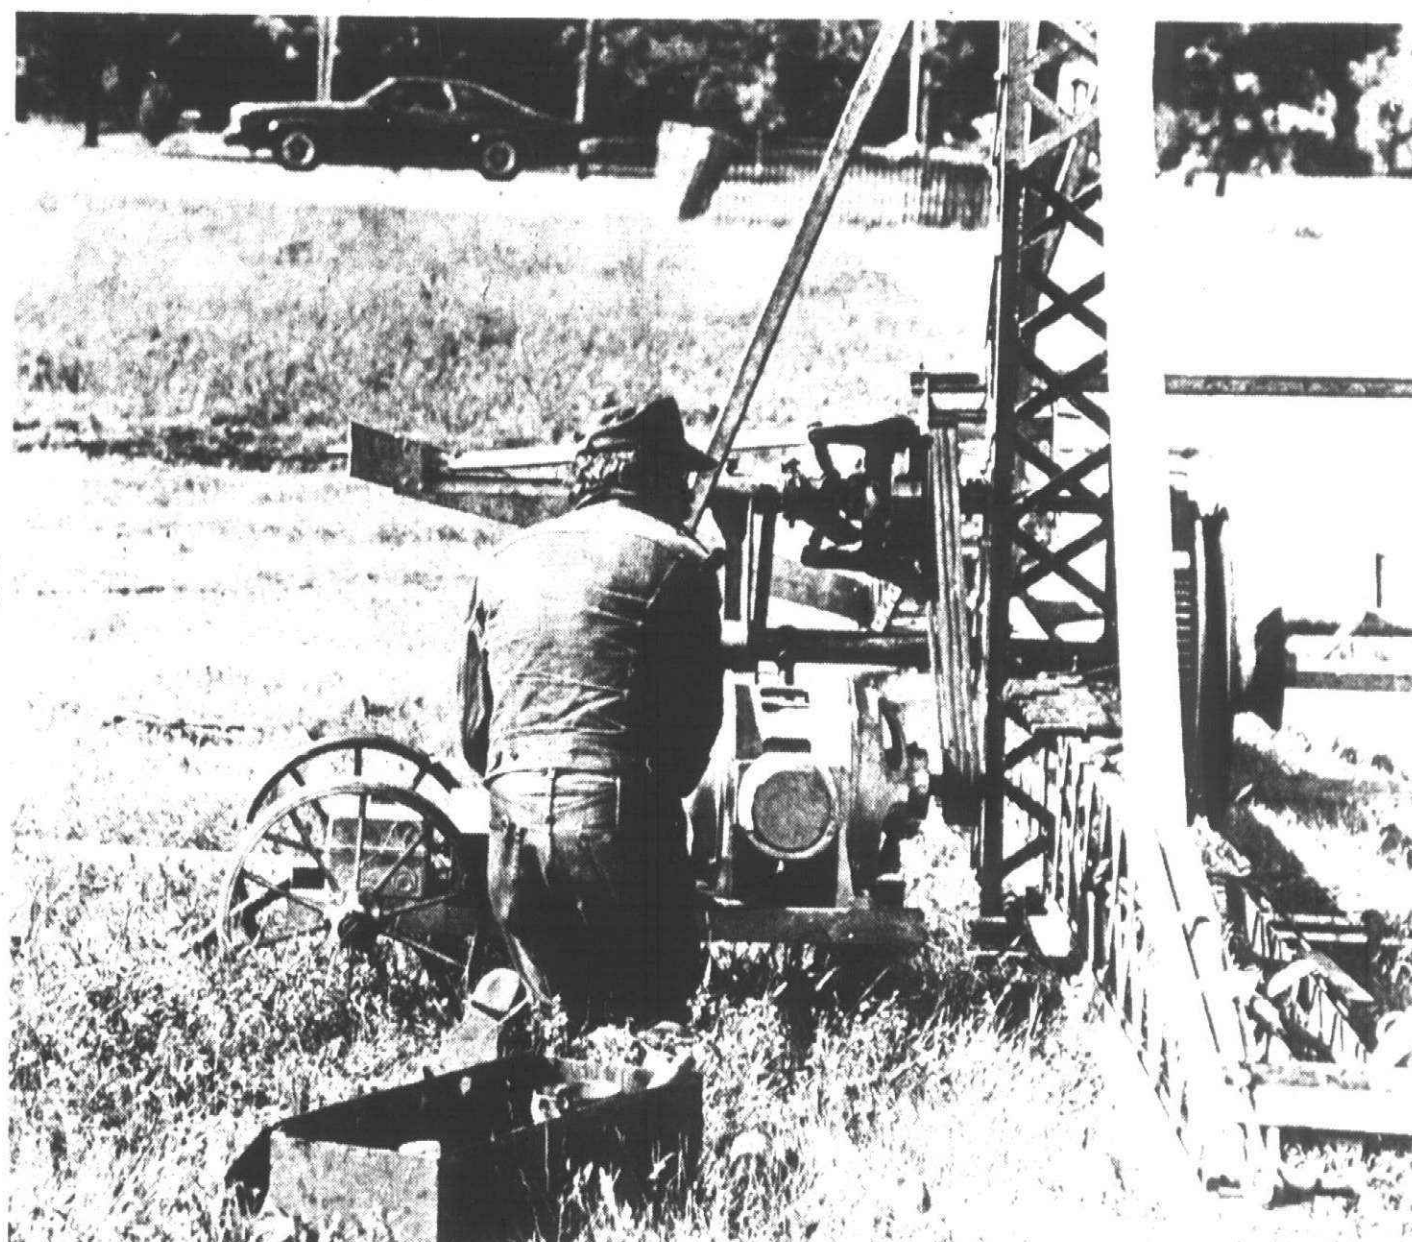

Peek recently estimated that it will cost Canton taxpayers $15 million to save 4,700 acres of agricultural land from urban sprawl.

The $15 million pricetag would stabilize the strength of the farm industry in Canton, which is second overall only to the state's auto industry in terms of dollar returns, according to Dr. Emmanuel Van Nierop, environmental advisor for the Michigan Agriculture Department.

Western Wayne County is considered to be one of Michigan's prime agricultural areas. Van Nierop said the best farming land in the state is in the southern portion of the Lower Peninsula.

The farming areas near metropolitan Detroit are also under the most pressure to develop, since already-developed areas continue to expand.

What makes agricultural sites attractive to developers is that they make the best spots for construction, Van Nierop said. Prime farming areas are level, well-drained, and relatively free of trees, which delights developers.

Costly land means western Wayne County will see fewer and fewer farmers. (Staff photo)

PRESSURE TO DEVELOP farmland began in the mid-1950s when migration from Detroit spread westward. Until that time, farming was a prosperous industry because of good roads, convenient rail services and the availability of a farmer's market in Detroit and Ypsilanti.

Farmers began to experience financial problems in 1962 when the Michigan Legislature mandated that tax assessments be based on potential developed use rather than actual farming use.

When tax rates soared and many farmers could no longer afford to pay them, the development of agricultural land became more rapid.

The farmers who are still operating in western Wayne County continue to blame the high rate of taxes for their economic plight.

Taxes in Canton, one farmer noted, range from $40 to $100 an acre on agricultural land, compared to rates as low as $8 an acre in rural Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

The nature of the farming industry in Wayne County also has undergone considerable change. In the 1950s, agriculture in this area consisted mostly of dairy farms and cattle.

TODAY, THE EMPHASIS is on field crops—corn, soy beans, and tomatoes, in addition to wheat, hay and straw.

Although they are scarce, hog, turkey and bee farms can be found in western Wayne County.

One new trend that is beginning to catch on in Wayne County is the pick-your-own concept of farming. There is a swelling demand among consumers for places to pick berries and vegetables, according to Roy Schultz, Canton farmer and past president of the farm bureau.

"It's a good way to do business," Schultz said. "Pick-your-own farms are cheaper for the farmer because of reduced labor costs and represent a savings for the consumer because the prices are less expensive."

Butler Paper finds growth room in suburbs

By MARIE CHESTNEY
Special Writer

Five years ago, the people who ran Butler Paper Co. on Detroit's lower east side knew they had outgrown their cramped, aging warehouse.

"The ceilings were too low for us and when our only elevator broke down, well, work stopped," said Ronald L. Knoll, vice president and general manager.

"There was talk of moving even before I came, but we were waiting for the right set of circumstances."

The right set of circumstances occurred last year when the Jeffries Freeway opened.

THE NEW FREEWAY, only minutes from downtown Detroit and close to the Chessie railroad system which cuts through the heart of Livonia's industrial corridor, sent Knoll crisscrossing the corridor, hunting the right spot for the move.

In a matter of months, land was bought at 39100 Plymouth Road, a warehouse built, the move made, and last week the company hosted an open house for its 1,000 customers scattered throughout southeastern Michigan.

The city has added to its tax rolls a $1.5 million, energy-conserving paper distribution center.

The center employs 48 persons, some newly hired since the company's move to the western edge of Livonia.

Speaking from his newly-panelled office adjoining the warehouse, Knoll said some neighboring communities had tried to lure the company with tax breaks.

"But Livonia is the future hub of business," said Knoll. "We were willing to pay Livonia's tax to get a good transportation system. Timewise, we are now just as close to Detroit as we were when we were on East Jefferson."

BUTLER PAPER is a 134-year-old Chicago-born company now headquartered in Port Edwards, Wis. It is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Great Northern Nekeosa, a Connecticut corporation with 1977 sales of $923 million.

The new Livonia warehouse is its only Michigan distribution center in a string of centers from Ohio to California.

Knoll, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and now a resident of Farmington Hills, has worked for Butler for more than 11 years, starting in San Francisco as a salesman. He learned the lumber business in Wisconsin, where he worked four years in a mill.

As general manager, Knoll directs a local sales force of 19, two of whom are women.

When asked if the male printers and buyers Butler deals with were suspicious of the technical know-how of the two women, Knoll said, "Yes, sometimes it is hard for a printer to admit that a female might know more about the paper than he does."

But, Knoll added, the two saleswomen fight the prejudice by making more calls and working harder for a sale.

KNOLL ALSO manages the overall operations in the new 74,000-square-foot warehouse. Here, 2,000 products, ranging from photocopy paper to towels, are aligned in tidy order.

Here, either in boxes, rolls, cellophane, bundles or on pallets, the backbone of modern business awaits shipping destinations.

All are stacked in tiers under a 24-foot-high ceiling, a far cry from the cramped 13-foot ceilings which plagued the company on East Jefferson.

The warehouse and offices are warmed and cooled by a new energy-saving system that relies on a combination of extra-heavy insulation, natural gas, and ceiling exhaust fans to maintain normal temperatures.

Knoll has hired several new people since the company's move to Livonia. Thomas Ebersole, 27, of Livonia, is one.

Ebersole "watched it go up" each day on his way to work in Plymouth. One day he finally stopped, applied and was hired as a sales trainee. When interviewed, it was his fourth day on the job.

Stanley J. Reiter (left) of Rochester was appointed manager of Consumers Power Co.'s Livonia district, which encompasses western Wayne County and southwestern Oakland County. Reiter replaces James P. Thomas (right) of Plymouth, who was named general superintendent of customer service for the metro region. Reiter will have field management responsibility over the operations of the entire Livonia district.

Lawrence G. Smith of Redford was recently elected group vice-president for the northwest Detroit offices of Real Estate One. Smith was formerly manager of the company's office in west Livonia. He is a Michigan State University graduate and began his career with the Farmington-based company in 1967.

Phillips gets DB&T promotion

Donald S. Phillips of Livonia was promoted to assistant cashier at Detroit Bank-Troy. Detroit Bank-Troy is a wholly-owned subsidiary of DetroitBank Corp., parent company of Detroit Bank & Trust. Prior to the promotion, Phillips had been a commercial loan officer at the Troy bank.

Johnson in Amana, Ga.

Al Johnson, manager of Tarrers Appliance Mart in Livonia, traveled to Amana, Ga. recently attending a two-day merchandising seminar sponsored by Amana Refrigeration, Inc. More than 100 dealers and distributor salesmen were invited to the company's headquarters and one million-square-foot plant for the seminar.

Foreign dollars in U.S. market

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

The question most frequently asked of a stock broker these days is, "Who is doing all the buying?"

While the average investor has increased his activity in the market, it is quite evident that enormous amounts of capital have moved into American stocks over recent weeks. And informed sources indicate that much of this demand has originated from overseas.

Why this sudden foreign demand for shares of American industry? A review of stock market history over the past few years might give a clue.

AN EVENT of great economic significance to the United States occurred in the fall of 1973: the oil embargo. Until then, most of us never gave a thought to the possibility of a scarcity of oil, nor did we fully appreciate our dependency on it.

Hard lessons have been learned since. They have forced us to reconsider our total energy situation, and it has reached into every American's pocketbook. The cost of electricity, heat and gasoline has become an ever-increasing load on our budget.

The stock market reacted violently to the 1973 embargo. The Dow Jones Industrial Averages lost 17.5 per cent (1,000 to 825) in a short seven weeks.

The market was already laboring under the strain of Watergate when the embargo was announced, and when the presidential resignation occurred in August 1974, the market collapsed to a level just below 600 in December 1974.

Now, four years alter, Watergate has receded to an unpleasant memory. Its market effect was recognized, reflected and forgotten.

BUT THE ENERGY problem looms larger and larger. It would be wonderful if it would disappear as easily as Watergate. Quite obviously, it won't.

The increased cost of foreign oil has wreaked havoc with our position as a world trader. We have become a net import nation, which means that more dollars are leaving our shores than are returning. The result is a huge balance of payments deficit that continues to increase alarmingly each day.

The United States dollar has been the standard currency of the world for many years. All foreign currencies are related to what they are worth in American dollars. This is because our economy, as compared to world economies, has remained the strongest.

Since the energy crisis developed, however, the strength of our currency has gradually diminished. Today's dollar is worth only half as much, compared to the German mark and the Japanese yen, as it was a decade ago. Until recently, our government had done little to support the dollar.

THE OIL-PRODUCING nations have put great pressure on our government to intervene in the weakness of the dollar. They have threatened to either increase the price of oil to offset the declining purchasing power of the dollars we are paying them for their oil, or abandon the dollar in favor of some other currency.

The OPEC oil ministers are scheduled to meet next in Geneva, Switzerland on June 17. The decisions made at that meeting may have significant impact on our economy.

Hines Park arrests are up 15 per cent

Traffic volume, people and arrests are all up in Hines Park so far this year, report Wayne County sheriffs.

"Large amounts of marijuana are being used by all ages out there, but so far we haven't seen much of the hard drugs or the chemicals," said Lt. Thomas Harrett, chief of the 29-deputy contingent assigned to patrol the 17.5 mile park.

Harrett said that while arrests in the park are up "about 15 per cent" over last year, firm figures won't be available on arrests made in the spring and early summer period until late in June.

"Serious crime is really not that big a problem," said Harrett, who added the overwhelming majority of arrests are for misdemeanor offenses. Harrett did label the sale of drugs as a continuing problem.

Activity in the park this year seems centered "in the east end. Dearborn Heights and Westland, between Outer Drive and Ann Arbor Trail," Harrett reported.

"The Nature Center (in Westland) seems to be the focal point" this year Harrett said. Cass-Benton Hill, a Northville area of the park that was noted in past years for heavy concentrations of youth and minor crime "is just another nice hill" in 1978.

Some visitors in the east section, said Harrett "are amazingly young. It's nothing to see the 12- or 13-year olds wandering around in the influence of one or the other (marijuana or alcohol)."

Such youngsters generally live in the immediate vicinity of the park and get there by bicycle or foot, said Harrett. "Hines Park is just where it seems to be happening, and I guess they want to be part of it. They grew up around there, they tend to think of it as their neighborhood park," said Harrett.

However, "quite a few are coming within a 50-mile radius of the park," said Harrett, "places like Birmingham or Bloomfield Hills, 30 or 40 miles away. It seems to be the focal point for young people from southeast Michigan."

"It's kind of like a safety valve for southeast Michigan. The kids can go out there and somewhat legally blow off steam. We only get involved when things get out of hand," said Harrett.

"It could be worse," he added. Harrett said heavy traffic complicated by the intoxication of motorists has created a problem of car accidents. Motorcyclists struck by automobiles have been fairly commonplace this year. Harrett said it's sometimes tough to determine whether it was the cyclists' or the motorists' intoxication that caused the accident.

Speaking of the cyclists, Harrett said "it smarts a bit when they bounce off the pavement the first couple of times."

Continuing efforts to beef up the number of sheriffs assigned to patrol the park have so far been unproductive, said Harrett, who's attended three meetings of the Hines Park Task Force since assuming control of Hines patrols in January.

Harrett, who said progress of the task force has been slow, admits to "a little impatience" with the group, although he's optimistic that in the long run, efforts will pay off.

Earns typing prize

Joan Healy accepts her prize of a tape recorder from Jeanne Kretschmer, president of the Detroit Business Institute, for placing third in a typing contest sponsored by the DBI. Miss Healy attends Plymouth Salem High School. The top typist had a net speed of 83 words a minute. Linda Hockenbury of Plymouth Canton High placed ninth in the shorthand competition. The first place winner in shorthand did 52.4 words per minute with 99.6 per cent accuracy.

State enacts auto lemon law

A state law that allows purchasers of malfunctioning cars to withhold payments will go into effect Jan. 1, 1979.

"At that time," says state Rep. Perry Bullard, "car buyers who finance directly with an auto dealer will be able to withhold payment pending a court hearing and will be able to raise the car's substandard quality as a defense for his or her court action." Bullard sponsored the measure recently passed by the legislature and signed by the governor.

Although the state altered the holder-in-due-course doctrine for installment retail sales and home improvement sales in 1972, the automobile consumer was left unprotected. "A financial institution is in a much better position to influence dealers than is an individual consumer," Bullard said. "This lemon law will provide significant leverage."

The Michigan Automobile Dealers Association fought the bill for nearly eight years. Auto dealers claimed the law would make installment contracts harder to sell to lending institutions.

Supporters of the measure (including the attorney general's office) said other states had successfully changed the holder-in-due-course doctrine without increasing interest rates or reducing sales.

How To Grow More In Less Space

Intensive gardening is a proven method of growing more in less space. It will save time and effort and let you landscape with food as well as flowers because it is easy to care for and attractive.

This intensive garden has 30 different vegetables planted in sufficient quantity to satisfy a small family in only 16 x 20 feet of space.

Intensive gardening uses every square inch for planting. This reduces weeding, conserves moisture and is the way to get maximum production from a minimum amount of space. According to 'Ecology Action of the Mid Peninsula' at Palo Alto, California, you can reduce the size of your garden by 75% and still get as much if not more production if you use this method.

The key to above ground intensive gardening is soil that is deeply dug, highly fertile, well aerated and moisture retaining. This can be built from any kind of clay, gumbo, or sandy soil by adding and thoroughly mixing in various kinds of organic material and fertilizers.

Approximately eighty percent of the trash people throw away is organic material. So are kitchen wastes and grass clippings. Practically everything except plastics, glass and metal can be used to improve garden soil and increase its productivity if it is ground up, composted and mixed into planting beds.

The Soil Blender, a multi-purpose garden tool in the picture, is a brand new electric powered machine designed to build soil for intensive gardening as well as to dig, mix, till, hill and cultivate flower beds and regular vegetable gardens.

Most garden centers can provide more information on intensive gardening and on the Soil Blender.

Gilmore, a 1971 graduate of Plymouth Salem High, majored in history and was active in community affairs. He spent a year studying abroad at the University of London, Goldsmith's College, London, England. Following graduation, he plans to travel to Micronesia and eventually continue his studies in English history.

Highways revitalized

It's that time of year again.

Not only does spring bring April showers, May flowers and hay fever attacks, it also brings highway construction and traffic tie ups.

"Our highways take a tremendous pounding and must be repaired," said Gerald J. McCarthy, deputy director of the Department of State Highways and Transportation. He said the department tries to make the roads safer as soon as after technology allows as possible.

Unfortunately, the price of progress is more than just dollars and cents, and must be paid partially by inconvenience, increased travel time and frustration for the motoring public," he said.

APPROXIMATELY 85 projects, he said, will have been started before July 4.

Those in the metropolitan area include:

- Construction of concrete medians, pavement patching and other improvements for the Southfield Freeway from I-94 north to the Lodge Freeway.

This project, McCarthy said, has been divided into two contracts. The first, from I-94 to Plymouth Road, was started last year and is scheduled for completion this fall. Approximately five miles of median barriers have been completed. The last three miles, from Ford Road to Plymouth Road, are expected to be completed before July, McCarthy said.

The pavement patching, however, will require this stretch of the freeway to be closed on 17 weekend days from 8 p.m. Friday to 6 a.m. Monday.

The contract for the second half of the project will be let in the near future, McCarthy said.

- Reconstruction of the shoulder of the Lodge Freeway from Wyoming Avenue south to Cobo Hall. Work will proceed through the summer months, but it will be confined to nighttime and off-peak hours to minimize traffic disruption, McCarthy said.

- Construction of a new median barrier on an eight-mile stretch of the I-75 from the Jeffries Freeway interchange to the Southfield expressway in Lincoln Park.

- Reconstruction of Telegraph Road in Oakland County. It will continue throughout the summer. Telegraph Road from 12 Mile Road north to Orchard Lake Road—8.4 miles—is being widened to six and eight lanes. The project is slated for completion in late 1979 or early 1980, McCarthy said.

- Resurfacing of M-102, the freeway that swings around Farmington. The project involves all six lanes of the six-mile segment that was known as I-96 before Jeffries opened.

Unexpected dangers

Todd Armstrong stars as Jason and Nancy Kovack as Medea in "Jason and the Argonauts," a Columbia Pictures re-release which opened Wednesday at theaters throughout the Detroit area. The film is based on the legend of that character's search for the Golden Fleece. With special effects by Ray Harryhausen, "Jason and the Argonauts" presents Jason with a number of dangers including the Hydra, sword-wielding skeletons, and monsters. The film is rated "G."

Glimpses

NEW RELEASES

- COMING HOME (R). Powerful story of Vietnam-era war with Jane Fonda as officer's wife who falls in love with disabled vet (Jon Voight).
- THE DUELLISTS (PG). Gorgeous but dry period drama of irrational feud between two officers in Napoleon's army.
- THE END (R). Black comedy about misadventures of an about-to-die guy. Burt Reynolds and Dom DeLuise star.
- F.I.S.T. (PG). Sylvester Stallone as union organizer in film that spans decades from early struggle and idealism to national strength and corruption.
- THE GREEK TYCOON (R). Jacqueline Bisset and Anthony Quinn in story of Jackie and Ari Onassis. Exploitive movie with banal dialogue.
- HARPER VALLEY P.T.A. (PG). You heard the song (in the '60s), now see the movie as Barbara Eden and Nanette Fabray thump the hypocrites.
- THE LAST WALTZ (PG). The last concert given by The Band. Thanksgiving 1976, is documented in this film by Martin Scorsese.
- THE MAN WHO LOVED WOMEN (R). Francois Truffaut's sadly amusing story of a womanizer.

Stratford trip reservations taken

The Community House in Birmingham is taking reservations for its July 8-9 overnight trip to the Stratford Festival in Ontario.

The group will leave from the Community House by chartered, air-conditioned bus, arriving in Stratford with time to enjoy the manicured gardens and quiet quaintness the small town has to offer. The centrally located Victorian Inn will play host to the group while in Stratford.

Following dinner at the Stratford Country Club, the Community House group will attend the evening performance of "The Winter's Tale" by William Shakespeare.

Performed on Stratford's famous thrust stage, "The Winter's Tale" draws from the world of fable, where benevolent forces in the universe work toward man's ultimate good.

AS THE MAGICAL pattern of this strange, moving tale unfolds, the mysterious range of human responses is subtly, acutely explored by Shakespeare.

On July 9, the group will have a specially planned brunch at the Church Restaurant. "It is a joy to dine in the Church," wrote New York Times Drama Critic Clive Barnes, "with its sophisticated wine list, delicious dishes, its fine ambience, stained glass windows and fresh flowers."

After the brunch, seats have been reserved for the matinee performance at the Avon Theatre, featuring the North American premiere of "Judgment" by Barry Collins.

This play recounts an experience almost beyond comprehension and asks the audience to judge whether it is also beyond compassion.

The Community House Stratford package includes round-trip transportation from Birmingham, hotel accommodations at the Victorian Inn in Stratford, dinner at the Stratford Country Club on Saturday evening, brunch at the Church Restaurant on Sunday, box lunch enroute home, theater seats for both performances, plus all tips and gratuities.

Reservations for this theater weekend in Stratford are being accepted by the Community House, Bates and Townsend, Birmingham. Reservations are limited, and interested persons are asked to call the Community House at 644-5832 as soon as possible.

'Night Music' plays outdoors

St. Dunstan Guild of Cranbrook will present Stephen Sondheim's "A Little Night Music" at the open air Greek Theatre of Cranbrook on June 24 and 25. Curtain time will be 9 p.m.

This highly successful musical first produced and directed on Broadway by Harold Prince will be directed by Isabel Himelhoch, with music under the direction of Joan Schmidt. Producers are Roxie Weston and Clare Keller.

Tickets are priced for adults and for students and children. Reservations can be made by calling 644-0527.

The Greek Theatre is located behind St. Dunstan Theatre on Lone Pine Road, west of Woodward Avenue, in Bloomfield Hills.

Sculptor DeGiusti questions existence

Story: CORINNE ABATT

The show of sculpture by Sergio DeGiusti at Sheldon Ross Gallery practically leaps off the wall demanding viewer involvement. Overheard comments from gallery visitors range from "a sculptural Rorschach test," to "A contemporary Dante's Inferno," to "a series of entrapments" and "a spiritual odyssey."

While DeGiusti doesn't really care what impressions viewers come away with, although he is sometimes surprised, one of his intents was to generate thought and commentary about contemporary life. The religious significance of his works escapes him.

Still, it is easy to see how someone could pull religious implications from this show of works in terra cotta and bronze.

The human figure is the central theme in all of these works which are concerned with the "Story of Man."

DeGiusti, born in Italy, now a member of the Wayne State University and Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association faculties, works within the classical idiom in this show.

FIGURES ARE easily recognizable and beautifully sculpted, but it is their placement, the position of the body, and the fact that each figure is wrapped as a mummy would be wrapped in yards and yards of cloth that commands attention.

The wrapping is symbolic of what happens to the spirit during life rather than that of the body after death.

"I didn't want to be obvious with the human figure," DeGiusti said. "People have to bring their own meaning to it. This kind of wrapping is within yourself. And if you have to explain what's under the wrapping, it's like having to explain a joke. It's what you bring to this show. The wrapping is a vehicle for placing the body within confinements."

BUT, verbalizing about the confinements which we see ourselves in, the narrowness of our lives, the limitations thrust upon us, is a lot less frightening than seeing DeGiusti's sculptural statements.

The inhibiting wrappings make you want to run outside and fling your arms in the air and run wildly through Shain Park.

But, after this moment of abandon, there will be the realization that this was a token exuberance—the mind is still trapped. The paradox being that a person bound by a small physical world can actually be freer than one to whom all the physical roads are open, but the mental ones closed.

DeGiusti lives on Detroit's west side. He said he draws his inspiration from the people around him—the fears he sees acted out every day. He played the "Requiem" by Berlioz while he worked and wonders if these works are "A West side dirge, a chant or a scream."

He walked over to a terra cotta

Sergio DeGiusti ponders whether the figure at left is himself and he, too, is one of the wrapped figures he creates in both terra cotta and bronze.

sculpture near the gallery entrance, the first one in the series that starts the viewer moving around the gallery. The figure is to one side, wrapped as are the others, but more circumspect. This, said the sculptor, could be himself.

"I SEE myself apart, but looking within. I don't know whether I am one of the ones that's wrapped."

Whether or not DeGiusti intended it to be so, there are religious overtones to this show—even though these figures are sometimes shown with parts of a cross rather than a complete crucifix. There is a Christlike presence here. But this is more philosophical symbolism than doctrinal.

The show will continue at the Sheldon Ross Gallery, 250 Martin, through June 3.

7 at 8 at Hill

The Ron Carter Quartet and Betty Carter and her Trio will appear at Hill Auditorium on the University of Michigan Campus in Ann Arbor at 8 p.m. July 21.

Ron Carter is widely recognized as the virtuoso of the bass.

He played with Miles Davis from 1963-1968 and also with Eric Dolphy, Herbie Hancock, James Brown, Mechel Legrand, Freddie Hubbard and McCoy Tyner.

BETTY CARTER is one of the premiere bebop vocalists and holds unrelentingly to the bebop tradition. Also from Detroit, Ms. Carter is known for her strong voice and personality which mold each song so distinctively that they practically become Betty Carter originals as soon as she sings them.

Russian film depicts artist

"Pirosmeni," a film focusing on the work of Soviet artist Niko Pirosmeni, will be shown by the Detroit Institute of Arts Theatre on Friday, June 2. There will be two showings, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the museum auditorium. Tickets at $2 are available in advance at the museum ticket office, 832-2730, and at the door.

Directed by Georgy Shengelaia and released in 1973, the film was photographed in the style and native color employed by the subject artist.

Born in 1863, Pirosmeni showed an early aptitude for the arts but was forced by his low social station to work for the then-emerging Russian railroad system.

With no formal training, Pirosmeni painted primitive portraits of daily life, animals and folk legend on wax coated canvasses measuring as large as 20 by 40 feet. Although Pirosmeni's works are little known outside the Soviet Union, a 1969 exhibition in the Museum de Paris drew thousands of visitors.

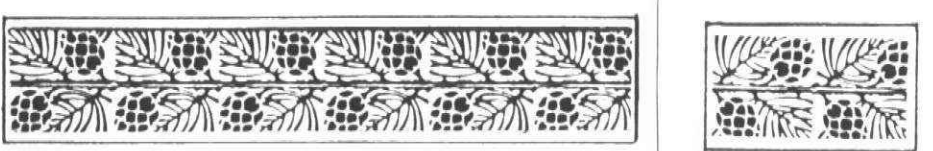

For information, call the Detroit Institute of Arts ticket office at 832-2730.

County playing it safe on millage request

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners is trying to hold the line on new county taxes—at least for now—even though they could lose control of the county's financial affairs.

The 27-member Ways and Means Committee last week rejected the proposal of vice-chairman Richard Manning (D-Redford) to seek voter approval for a two-mill property tax hike to fund the county's criminal justice system. One mill equals $1 per every $1,000 state equalized valuation.

Instead, the board has unanimously agreed to seek a one-mill renewal in the Aug. 8 election. The board is expected to authorize placing the renewal on the ballot at its June 1 meeting.

"We felt we could safely get the renewal," said Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia). "We didn't want to endanger the one mill and wind up empty-handed."

ONLY A DAY EARLIER, the commissioners' Financial Crisis Committee had debated the merits of each proposal in vain. It forwarded them to Ways and Means without a recommendation.

Some commissioners said it was too early to go to voters. They feared that they might not be able to prove that they had done all they could to erase a $13 million deficit from the previous fiscal year. The county, which cannot legally operate at a deficit, was allowed to borrow against the 1978 fiscal year's anticipated revenues.

To date, however, commissioners have been able to trim approximately $1 million from that deficit. They anticipate another deficit—$8 million to $12 million—at the end of the current fiscal year.

AS A RESULT the county must convince the state Municipal Finance Commission (MFC) that it has done all it can to balance the county's books. If it cannot convince the commission that it has exercised fiscal responsibility, the MFC could appoint a special overseer to monitor and control the flow of county funds.

Many commissioners, however, are not satisfied that they have done all they can to balance the books.

"We haven't exercised fiscal responsibility," Commissioner George Killeen (D-Detroit) said. He said the county's handling of the labor relations board, the public works board, the civil service commission and Wayne County General Hospital did not demonstrate a commitment to cutting costs.

"By the evidence of the political patronage that's been handed out, I think we're in serious trouble," Killeen said.

WHILE SOME COMMISSIONERS were afraid of the reaction of the MFC, others were more concerned with voters and the tax revolt.

Manning's proposal would have let one mill expire and would have replaced it with two mills to be earmarked for the criminal justice system.

The two-mill proposal would add $12 to the "average" Wayne County homeowner's property tax bill, according to Wayne County Bureau of Taxation information. The average homeowner pays $95 annually in county taxes.

IN A TIME WHEN traditionally-acceptable school millage increases are regularly defeated and talk has turned to tax limitation, many commissioners were unwilling to go to the voters to get out of the red.

"We've reached a point of tax revolt," Mrs. Dumas said. "We have to remember that the tax limitation proposal will probably be on the same ballot."

Commissioner Edward Michalski (D-Detroit) added: "The renewal of one mill is already going to be a problem. I just got back from a senior citizens meeting. Seven hundred people were there. They're not going to vote for a renewal, much less an addition. Remember, they go out and vote."

EVEN IF THE one-mill renewal is approved, commissioners concede that it will not overcome the deficit. They say the county will have to cut county services even further and find new area which to slice.

Manning's proposal was designed to cut the deficit and spare the criminal justice system any cutbacks.

"There is no way—now or at any future time—that Wayne County can both protect its citizens against crime and balance its budget unless more revenue are provided," Manning said.

Hey, Mom, here we are!

They opened their eyes for the first time May 25. It had been a time of spring miracles—and worry—for Peggy LeClair, Jane Harris and Lois Thompson at Lord Baltimore Cleaners on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth. The robin couple had built their nest in a low shrub right in front of the shop and in time, four blue eggs appeared.

Customers cooperated with the "Quiet, maternity ward" sign and watched with wonder. The robins were protective and constant. Their biggest threat was a window washer whom they attacked in unison.

All the eggs hatched—four scrawny beings with voracious appetites. They tumbled out of the nest and had to be rescued by their parents and by humans. As they grew, their added weight tilted the nest as the branch bent. Joe Perlongo built a prop to keep it on an even keel.

These are busy days for mom and dad robin. Feeding their hungry crew is a fulltime job. They seem unaware of the steady flow of visitors who get a close view of the nursery through the shop window.

Women go to bat for equality in sports

By SHERRY KAHAN

For Marcia Federbush of Ann Arbor, the idealized wide world of sports would include an opportunity for both sexes to appear in all school athletic meets, and to play as equally valued players on school teams.

Connie Tarran of Rochester worries about the possibility of serious injury to the bones or inner organs of girls who tangle in contact sports.

Mrs. Federbush, a member of the state task force on athletics, and Mrs. Tarran, state membership chairman of Happiness of Womanhood, presented their views at the forum on women's issues held recently at Schoolcraft College.

"Playing as members of the school team, girls could share the spotlight and allow their fellow students to cheer both male and female athletics," Mrs. Federbush said.

The Ann Arbor housewife and mother of two, also on the Ann Arbor task force on athletics, sees girls and boys on different squads initially. But she believes their playing together is becoming a fact.

"The University of Michigan already has co-recreation softball, basketball and volleyball teams, whose members are half one sex, half the other," she observed. "It's been very successful."

MRS. FEDERBUSH goes to bat for students on the subject of equality, not only for the sexes, but for all those interested in the sporting life.

"Interscholastic sport should be available to all, the gifted and the not gifted, not just the biggest and the best," she asserted. "Athletics are supported by school funds, and I believe all children have the right to play. How can we exclude the great mass of students when sports are financed by taxes?"

Supporting her view against a shut-out of the majority of students from athletic opportunity, she pointed to studies that affirmed that there are numerous advantages to stretching a muscle or two.

"A three year-study revealed that knowing how to compete can be helpful to people in their life," she said.

Involved in athletic games, they become more goal-oriented, more self-disciplined and also begin to understand the value of cooperation, she believes.

"One reason women are not in top jobs today may be that they didn't have athletic experiences, she indicated.

Nonetheless, she cautioned against an over-emphasis on competition.

"When I taught sixth grade, the kids in Little League who had a game that day, couldn't eat or work well," she recalled. "They were in a panic all day."

WHILE EXPRESSING agreement with most of Mrs. Federbush's comments, Mrs. Tarran drew the line at contact sports.

"Regardless of what anyone says, women are different, their insides are different," she said. "Our bodies are not put together for contact sports.

This kind of punishment is not good for women."

She added that a gynecologist had told her that if a woman breaks a hip bone she is asking for trouble with inside organs.

The doctor also told her of three teenage girls, who in the process of playing contact sports had ovaries twisted upside down. All three needed operations to have the damaged ovaries removed.

Mrs. Federbush contended that with proper training and padding, many injuries could be prevented for both girls and boys. But for the most part, sports are healthful and fun.

"I submit that if something is good for one sex, it is good for all," she said. "If both are competing at the same meet, they can learn to appreciate each other. But they should get equal kinds of transportation, the same uniforms of the same quality and equal training."

But her main thrust remained that "if athletics are so good, the benefits should be available to all taxpayers' children."

To implement this, she suggests programs which group all children by weight, height and fitness and places them on teams where they compete with children of comparable ability.

ONE OF THE MANY advantages of this, in the opinion of Mrs. Federbush, is the opportunity to be coached together by a common staff with the same quality, quantity intensity and goals of training, and the same level of expectation for competency.

Some of the differences she has noticed between coaching females and males are coaches for females are often without substantial training or experience, while coaches for males are often highly trained.

"Coaches for females are paid minimally, often all at the same low rate," she contended. "Female head athletic directors are almost non-existent. Women who are ADs or assistant ADs get low pay and don't get free periods or secretarial help."

"Male ADs are highly paid and have secretarial service. Funding for uniforms for boys and their transportation is amply provided by the school. Girls run bake sales, sell apples and babysit to raise money for uniforms, transportation and to meet expenses."

"They generally have to pay for their own medical exams. Trainer service and insurance are frequently not provided. Physician's and trainer's services and insurance are standard for boys' athletic programs."

She also claimed that generally girls compete only with schools close to home and are limited in number and length of games and practices.

BOYS TRAVEL hundreds of miles to play, and they have more competition and practice sessions, she said.

Mrs. Federbush labeled the prevailing philosophy for girls is that priority is put on teamwork and enjoyment while boys must "win at any cost."

She added, "We shouldn't be teaching dirty tricks. Boys sports are full of that."

If Mrs. Federbush could have her druthers, she would have schools "formulate an overall athletic framework healthful for boys and girls alike from the best of each sex's philosophies and practices."

JWH award winners named

Cheri Lynn Neal and Barbara Ohno have been selected as recipients of Joanne Winkelman Hulce Awards sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Cheri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neal of 11524 Aspen Drive, and Barbara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ohno of 11650 McClumpha Road, were presented checks for $500 during the annual PCAC spring luncheon.

Named in honor of arts council founder Joanne Hulce, JWH awards are presented to graduating seniors who have displayed exceptional ability in the visual, performing or literary arts. Recipients also must desire to continue their education in their field.

Miss Ohno, a senior at Our Lady of Mercy High School, plans to major in visual arts at the School of Visual Arts in New York City. She is experienced in drawing, calligraphy, painting, sculpture, ceramics, basketry, macrame, weaving, stitchery, wood cuts and prints, interior decorating, jewelry making and flower arranging.

DURING HER four years in high school, Miss Ohno has received 21 awards for her works. These included a Hallmark Award, for one of five best in show in the Detroit area Scholastic Art Competition.

She has earned a number of awards and citations in local, state, and national AAA poster contests and has had a portfolio accepted in the National Scholastic Art Competition. Her portfolio was awarded two blue ribbons, two gold keys and two certificates.

CHERI NEAL, a senior at Plymouth Canton High School, has been playing piano for 11 years and plans to continue her studies at a music conservatory.

She also plays violin and viola. The University of Michigan has offered her a scholarship in viola.

While finishing high school, Miss Neal has been attending Schoolcraft College part-time on a full scholarship. She also has received $250 in scholarships from the Plymouth Symphony Society and a $100 Interlochen scholarship.

Miss Neal is concertmistress of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Orchestra and plays viola in the Plymouth Symphony. She also is a member of the "Suite Strings," a string quartet.

THE JWH award was established in 1975 to help fulfill one of the PCAC goals—"To encourage and help individuals interested in pursuing a career in the arts." Half the money—$500—comes from the PCAC budget and matching funds are raised through solicitation in the community.

Todd Barker, a 1977 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School was the first recipient of the JWH award. He is (now) a drama student at Eastern Michigan University.

The 1978 winners attended the annual luncheon in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth hall. Miss Neal played Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" on the piano for the PCAC members and guests. Miss Ohno had examples of her works on display.

Sharon Huber, first Soroptimist merit winner, was guest speaker.

Christine Voytas was congratulated by club president, Roberta Orr.

Soroptimists honor students

Plymouth Soroptimists presented youth citizenship awards to four graduating high school seniors at their annual dinner meeting in the loft of the Roundtable Club.

Recipients were: Joseph Michael Bologna, first; Krystn Marie Nanterghen of Northville, second; Christine Louise Voytas, VanRenterghen was the lone Northville winner. The other three are seniors at Plymouth Salem High School.

All of the award winners plan to attend the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, in the fall. Their parents also were dinner guests of the Soroptimists.

Sharon Huber, winner of the club's first merit award in 1965 was guest speaker. The graduate of Plymouth High School gave an update of her activities since she won the $75 savings bond.

"I HAVE TO ADMIT, I burned the bond," said Ms. Huber. The bond burning was the result of a cleaning spree in which the wrong pile was tossed out.

She said the club members probably wanted to see for themselves how one of those teenagers of the '60s turned out. "We were the generation that burned draft cards and didn't trust anyone over 30."

"Now we're over 30 and we don't trust anyone over 40," she added with a grin.

After she graduated from college she worked for National Bank of Detroit. She married an Air Force man and moved to Texas where she was a teacher. She now works for a large advertising agency. Her accounts are Hudson's and Whirlpool and these take her to filming locations all over the country.

"Or, it can mean days in a studio where you don't see daylight for three days at a time," Ms. Huber obviously loves her work and the Soroptimists obviously enjoyed hearing about it.

Garnet Trower introduced the speaker and presented the awards.

President Roberta Orr presided at the meeting and congratulated the 1978 winners.

Scouts thank volunteers

Girl scouts and volunteers in the Plymouth, Northville, Canton area were honored at last week's association meeting in West Middle School.

Special recognition was given to Barb Radabaugh, field director. She received a tote bag, a book and three yellow roses signifying the three communities—Plymouth, Canton, and Northville.

Prestigious, council-approved awards were presented to Judy Parker, an appreciation pin, and Romaine Kling, a certificate of appreciation.

Other recipients and their awards were:

- Penny Shaw, friendship pin and girl scout scarf.

- Mary Lou Johnson, press representative, a silver platter for being the "person who improved the Girl Scout image," a training patch, and a copper girl scout charm designed by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

- Jean Bosche, a going-away thank you pin.

- Donna Drossart and Judy Parker, training patches.

- Out-going service directors Pam VanHeyningen, Marge Taylor, Romaine Kling, Karen Dunnabeck, Donna Gesler and Linda Bronk, copper Girl Scout charms.

- Kennon Griffing, 20-year pin;

- Donna Puckett, Marge Taylor and Lorraine Hunt, 15-year pins.

YELLOW roses and first class scout awards were presented to girl scouts Nancy Bently, Katie Brink, Linda Scruggs, LeAnna Wheeler, Laura Bobcean, Cindy Paul and Maureen Sullivan.

Twenty-two 10-year pins, 49 5-year pins, and 113 one-year pins were presented.

Graduating senior scouts had been recognized at a troop meeting. Linda Bently, Myra Dostie, Beth Martinek, Linda Nurmi, Lisa Raycraft, Barb Stevens and Janis Wheeler received Girl Scout friendship pins and scrolls.

Jo Morse, area association chairman, was presented a bouquet of daisies.

GARAGE SALE

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Turbocharging and the diesel engine are two methods automakers are using to meet the emissions and power demands of the 1980s. These two techniques have been combined in the Mercedes-Benz 300SD, the world's first turbocharged diesel sedan. The four-door sedan has a design speed of more than 100 m.p.h. and an EPA highway fuel rating of 29 miles per gallon of gas.

Fiesta offers guide to easier maintenance

A well-illustrated and easy-to-read manual has been published to help Ford Fiesta owners perform routine maintenance procedures and light repairs. It is available for $3.95 from Helm, Inc., Box 07150, Detroit 48207.

Tasks in the Fiesta Do-It-Yourself Service Guide are graduated in difficulty to make them suitable either for the beginner or for the layman with a better-than-average knowledge of automobile systems, tools and equipment.

"Each operation in the guide is listed in order of difficulty so the owner can find his own level of expertise and decide which operations he is capable of handling," said C.V. Barion, division general manager.

The guide is divided into four sections. The first is an introduction providing detailed vehicle specifications, data charts, parts numbers and a list of scheduled maintenance services.

The second section describes routine service such as tire-pressure checks, windshield-wiper-blade maintenance, jump-starting instructions and towing procedures. The third section covers maintenance procedures such as engine-oil change, spark-plug checks, and hinge and lock lubrication. In addition, it includes a trouble-shooting chart.

The last section is on light repairs and covers a long list of operations, from replacing burned-out bulbs to removal and installation of the front bumper to bleeding the brake system.

Most procedures are illustrated with photographs or line drawings, and the text has numbered step-by-step instructions. Basic tools and equipment are required to complete most operations in the guide, but if special tools are necessary, they are listed for each operation.

The manual is footnoted with information on safety procedures or tips on ways to make the jobs easy.

"Doing your own automotive work calls for both common sense and know-how," Barion said. "You must know the safety rules, maintenance schedules, vehicle and engine specifications, fluid capacities and how to perform basic operations."

"This service guide gives the owner the knowledge he needs for routine service operations and help him get the job done right the first time."

A more detailed Fiesta shop manual available from the same source as the service guide.

Hickey honored

William S. Hickey, president of Stark Hickey West Ford dealership, recently was named a charter member of the Ford Vice-President's Club for the nation's top performing Ford dealers.

Hickey was one of 120 Ford dealers honored at a management conference in Innisbrook, Fla. Ford President Lee Iacocca led the recognition ceremonies and briefed the dealer group on automotive marketing for 1978 and beyond.

"The club was established to providewell-deserved recognition for the very top achievers among our 6,000 Ford dealers nationally," said Walter Walla, Ford Division general manager.

"Hickey was selected for his outstanding car and truck sales performance during 1977." Hickey also received an award for being the largest small car Ford dealer in the Great Lakes Region.

The dealership, at 24760 W. Seven Mile at Grand River, sold 2,775 new cars and 1,255 new trucks last year.
