For taxes and trustees

There's just a few hours to vote today

How to get vote results

Interested in the results on the school millage or school board election?

There's no need to wait for the late news on radio or television, or for the next day's newspaper. To get vote results quickly, all you have to do is call the Observer at 459-2700.

Our election hotline will again be open as a service to residents of Plymouth and Canton. Vote results will be given out through the election hotline, as soon as information is available, from 9-11:30 p.m.

Because a large number of our readers are interested in today's election results, the line may be busy when you phone. Keep trying. Because of the number of calls expected, only millage and trustees balloting results—rather than vote totals—will be given.

For specific details of the election, see Thursday's edition of the Plymouth and Canton Observers.

Within a few hours, the outcome of the school millage and trustees election will be known.

Polls will close at 8 p.m. today (Monday), so there's still time for those who haven't voted yet to do so. Voters in line at 8 p.m. will be allowed to cast a ballot.

Voters residing in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools have been voting all day on three millage requests and two positions on the school board.

The tax requests are a three-mill renewal, 1½ additional mills for operation, and ½-mill earmarked for building maintenance and improvements.

Carol Davis, William Johnson and Elaine Kirchgatter are the three candidates for two four-year positions on the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

WHEN THE POLLS opened early this morning, millage backers were still uncertain about the outcome of the tax proposals.

The three requests are identical to those voted down in April, the only difference being that each request is a separate ballot proposal compared to April when the three requests were combined into two proposals.

School officials are hopeful that separation of the millage requests will at least result in approval of the three mills already being levied. Campaigners, however, have worked with equal emphasis on each request.

In campaigning for passage, emphasis again has been placed on obtaining a large voter turnout. From past experience, school officials know there is a built-in "no" vote which will be in the majority if the turnout is low. Last April, for instance, the "no" vote prevailed when only 20 per cent of the electorate showed up at the polls.

The hopes of millage backers are that at least 30 per cent will be at the polls today. With a repeat of the 20 per cent turnout, even the renewal is seen to be in danger.

LAST APRIL one of the factors against schools was that the millage election was held at about the same time that many residents were receiving municipal tax bills.

That unfortunate timing won't be a factor this time. However, millage backers are concerned about the national and state publicity given the tax limitation package approved by California voters and being petitioned for in Michigan.

The success of the tax limit in California, and the mounting campaign in Michigan, is likely to have a negative impact—if any—on local tax propositions.

In the last campaign, a "soft sell" approach was tried, with millage backers merely explaining the need for the additional revenue.

Is there life in the suburbs?

Observer & Eccentric Newspapers believes there is. That's why we're sponsoring a color photo contest for our readers with the theme, "Life in the Suburbs."

All amateur photographers are invited to enter. Winning color photographs will appear in editions of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

In addition to duplication, winners will receive gift certificates from World Camera and Sound. The certificates will be for $100, first prize; $75, second prize; and $40, third prize. Three gift certificates of $10 each will be presented for honorable mention. The certificates will be redeemable at World Camera stores in Birmingham, Avon Township and Livonia.

If you'd like to enter, read on. The rules follow.

- The theme is "Life in the Suburbs." All color photographs should be in slide form and should have been taken within the last year (from July, 1977 though July, 1978) in one of the 12 O & E communities. Call us at 591-2300 if you need to know the 12.
- The contest is open to all amateur photographers, i.e. those who are not employed in photography work or make a living through photography. There is no age limit.
- Each contestant may submit two slides. Each slide should be clearly marked with the contestant's name and community.
- The deadline for receipt of entries is July 31.
- Observer & Eccentric Newspapers are not resposible for the return of or damage to slides. After the contest, entries may be picked up at the Livonia office, 36251 Schoolcraft.
- Photos will be judged by a panel of editors and photographers. Criteria for judging will include composition, originality, how well the subject typifies suburban lifestyle, and how well the slide will reproduce as a color newspaper picture. One hint—bright colors tend to look better in a color print for newspapers.
- Attach the entry blank to your entries.

Fireworks limit proposed here

It may not be so easy to buy fireworks in Canton Township in a couple of weeks.

Supervisor Harold Stein will ask township board members Tuesday to approve an emergency ordinance to regulate the sale and public display of most fireworks. If approved, the ordinance will take immediate effect upon publication.

THE ORDINANCE is needed, township officials say, because a federal court has prohibited the Michigan State Police from enforcing the state's fireworks law. Conflicting state and federal laws, discovered in a lawsuit against the state, has effectively lifted the ban on the sale of fireworks in Michigan.

As a result, Stein says fireworks are being sold in Canton like hotcakes. "They're shooting these things off all over the place. Something's got to be done before some kid gets hurt."

The township's proposed ordinance does not ban the sale or display of fireworks, but does regulate them.

Distributors and sponsors of fireworks displays must obtain a permit from the township public safety commission.

Distributors are prohibited from selling fireworks to anyone under 18. They must keep a written record of all customers who purchase fireworks.

TOWNSHIP ATTORNEY David Berry said the federal court decision declaring the state's firework law invalid forced him to write the proposed ordinance with care.

Cop's report incomplete

Driver's whereabouts unknown

A Windemere Subdivision resident wants to sue a truck driver for injuring his son but is running in circles because the Canton Police Department took an incomplete report on the accident.

Richard Kontour's 17-year-old son, John, was struck by a moving van June 2 while working on his car parked in front of the Kontour's house at 45336 Patrick.

John was taken to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, for an injury to his leg and released the same day. Kontour said his son was forced to miss work because of the accident. John's car was also damaged in the incident.

Although two Canton patrol officers took an accident report at the scene, they failed to get any information about the 21-year-old out-of-state truck driver except his name, Willy Freeman, and his Mississippi post office box.

KONTOUR charges the police department with "incompetence."

"I want to sue the truck driver for bodily harm, but how can I?" he asked. "They don't have any information on him except his name. They don't have his insurance company or even the name of the company he works for."

Police Chief Walter MacGregor said he realized the accident report was incomplete when he first saw it June 3. He assigned officer Kenneth Winkler to investigate the accident and find the truck driver. Winkler is canvassing the subdivision to find the family that moved in June 2.

MacGregor said the two officers who took the original accident report each thought the other had asked the truck driver his address and insurance.

"If I was in Mr. Kontour's place, I'd probably be disturbed too," MacGregor admitted. "But there's no question in my mind that when you start a brand new department with brand new officers, there's going to be some inexperience."

Schoolcraft budget prepared

By TIM RICHARD

Midnight oil burned at Schoolcraft College last weekend as an administrative budget committee put together a 1978-9 spending plan to place before the board of trustees this week.

Trustees will work on the budget in a meeting beginning at 8 p.m. Wednesday. If necessary, they will schedule a special meeting June 21. A public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. June 28.

"We're short right now about $700,000," said Kenneth Lindner, vice-president for administrative affairs and budget committee chairman, last Friday.

Although he was unable to fill in details, he hinted broadly that "some things are going to fall by the wayside" without additional revenue.

OPERATING REVENUE is expected to total $11.1 million, said Lindner. Debt retirement will cost another $668,000.

Here are the prospects for the community college's three main sources of revenue:

•Property taxes—The tax base (state equalized value of all homes and businesses) is nearly $2.1 billion, up about eight per cent. It will bring in about $3.7 million in operating revenues. The voted tax rate will remain at 1.77 mills because two millage increases were rejected by voters in 1976 and '77.

•State aid—The Michigan Legislature hasn't completed work on aid bills, and the house and senate have different versions. Averaging them, however, Lindner looks for an increase of 14 per cent. That would put total state aid at about $4.8 million.

•Student tuition and fees—This is the only area over which the college has any control. Lindner indicated little increase could be expected from natural growth. He wouldn't say whether the administration would recommend an increase. Current tuition and fee rates per credit hour are $15.50 for district residents, $26.50 for other residents of Michigan and $39.50 for out-of-state residents. Last year this item raised $2.4 million, or nearly a quarter of the budget.

"FOUR YEARS ago," said Lindner, "we told the board there would be a shortfall of revenue of about $1 million in five to six years.

"We're short right now about $700,000.

"Budget requests are up nine per cent, and we can't fund it. We've got to take some strong stands. We've got to make some strong decisions."

A complicating factor this year is that the college is negotiating new contracts with two employee groups—the Faculty Forum and the Association of Office Personnel. The groups have announced they will bargain cooperatively; that is, one union will not initial a settlement until the other group is ready to settle.

Other members of the budget committee include: E.F. Peterson, manager of business services; Clara Rousseau, administrative assistant to the president; Fred Stefanski, dean of arts and sciences; Norman Wheeler, assistant dean; Edward McNally, vice-president for student affairs, and John Tomey, director of financial aids.

County decides against seeking tax increase

Wayne County won't be asking for a tax increase this year.

The county board of commissioners last week—as expected—voted to seek a one-mill property tax renewal in the Aug. 8 election.

If the funding proposal passes, taxes will not be raised. But if voters turn down renewal, average county tax bills will drop by $12. According to the county's bureau of taxation, the average state equalized valuation (SEV) in Wayne County is $12,000.

The one-mill renewal will, however, do nothing to cut the county's deficit, which could be as much as $12 million at the end of the current fiscal year.

Another proposal, favored by Commissioner Richard Manning (D-Redford), would have allowed the one-mill levy to expire and would have replaced it with a new two-mill tax.

The two mills, according to Manning, could have been used to offset the anticipated deficit and fund the county's criminal justice system. That system includes the operations of the courts, the sheriff's departemnt and the prosecutor's office.

While Manning had boosted his own plan last week, he became a staunch supporter of the one-mill renewal last week.

The commissioners' decision came after a landslide vote in California slashed property taxes by 57 per cent.

Prior to the passage of California's Proposition 13, however, several commissioners, including Mary Dumas (R-Livonia), said they would have a hard time winning the approval of the millage renewal but stood little chance getting an increase.

Politicians stay close to home

Most local would-be politicians aren't interested in travelling to Lansing or Washington, D.C.

While there was a lot of interest in some local political offices in last Tuesday's filings, there was sparse interest in filing for state and national offices.

No one from Plymouth or Canton, for instance, is interested in going to Washington, D.C. U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) is unopposed in the Republican primary and his Democratic challenger, Earl Green of Ann Arbor, is also unapposed in August. U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor), whose 15th District includes Canton, is unopposed in August, as is his Republican challenger, Edgar Nieten of Romulus.

Edward Pierce of Ann Arbor, who twice has tried for election in the 2d District, has decided against running for Pursell's spot this year but instead is seeking Gilbert Bursley's State Senate seat.

IN THE 14TH SENATE District, which includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Livonia, there will be a contest on the GOP side of the primary ballot.

State Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville) is being challenged by Addison Bacon, longtime city clerk in Livonia. The winner of that race will advance to the general election in November to face Paul Kadish, Livonia Democrat who is chairman of the board of Schoolcraft College.

In the 13th District, which includes Canton, state Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) is running unopposed, as is his November Republican candidate, Coleman Flaskant II of Canton.

THERE ALSO IS little activity in campaigns for the state House in Canton or Plymouth.

State Rep. Thomas H. Brown (D-Westland) is unopposed in the August primary, as is Republican Thomas Sullivan of Westland. The 37th District includes all of Canton and a portion of Plymouth Township.

In the 52d District, state Rep. Roy Smith (R-Saline) is unopposed and will face lone Democratic challenger Thomas Kaas of Ypsilanti in November. The 52d district includes all of the City of Plymouth and most of Plymouth Township.

Limits on fireworks

the state police from enforcing the fireworks ban, Berry said any police department that attempted enforcement of the state law or any ban on fireworks could be taken to court.

"All a seller has to do is get an attorney and slap these cases (involving the state police) down," Berry said. "We had to come up with enforcement short of totally banning fireworks. I think this is the only possible way to prevent possible injury or even death to kids who don't know what they're doing."

The proposed ordinance regulates the sale and public display of most fireworks excluding sparklers, toy snakes without mercury, flat paper caps with less than a quarter grain of explosive materials and other devices approved by the state police.

Persons wishing to obtain a permit to sell or display fireworks must pass an investigation by the public safety commission under the proposed ordinance.

Sponsors of a display must prove that the location will not endanger buildings or public utilities. The sponsor must file a maximum $1 million insurance bond to cover possible injury to spectators.

The ordinance empowers the township fire chief to stop any fireworks display that seems unreasonably hazardous to persons or property.

Violation of the proposed ordinance is a misdemeanor, punishable by a maximum $500 fne and 90 days in jail.

Judge candidate is 'people-oriented'

Aloysius J. Suchy explains he filed for the district court race because he is a people-oriented person interested in serving a court close to the people.

Suchy of Northville is a candidate for Vthe newly-created judgeship in the 35th District Court, which includes Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships, Northville and Northville Township.

The candidate presently serves as the corporation counsel (chief legal advisor) for Wayne County—a position he has held since it was created in 1971.

From 1961 to 1971 he served as chief of the civil division for the County of Wayne. Directing a staff of 20 attorneys, Suchy is responsible for all civil litigation involving the county.

IN COMMENTING on his candidacy, Suchy said:

"In my 30 years as an attorney, I have sensed that the processes for the administration of justice are very impersonal and, at times, frightening to the litigants.

"I am a very people-oriented person; and if I ever have the privilege of serving as a judge, I would want to serve in a court that was close to the people."

A graduate of Wayne State University in 1944, Suchy attended the University of Michigan and WSU law schools, earning his law degree in 1948.

Suchy served as president of the WSU Law School Alumni Association, and also served as a member of the faculties at Wayne State and University of Detroit.

Canton's shortstop Scott Collins was the main offensive threat for the Chiefs in the regional semifinal contest as he smacked two singles and stole two bases against Taylor Truman. Chiefs cop regional crown

Canton nips Truman, blanks Glenn for title

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Plymouth Canton held the grim reaper in abeyance for another game—John Glenn did not—as the Chiefs nipped the Rockets 3-0 for the regional baseball crown.

Canton edged Taylor Truman, 5-2, in nine breath-taking innings in the regional semifinal contest while Glenn whipped Dearborn Heights Annapolis, 6-2, to set the stage for the final battle.

The Chiefs, 25-4 overall and ranked first in the state, now return to Wyandotte Saturday as one of only four teams left in the single-elimination state tourney.

CANTON scored all three run in the fifth inning and it proved to be enough as Scott Dawson scattered three Rocket hits to register his second straight shutout in tournament play.

Craig Lee ruined Jim Blalocks no-hitter in the fifth when he started the game's only scoring rally with a double.

Ray Smock and Tom Norton both followed with sacrifice bunts to score Lee. The two bunters were safe on fielder's choice plays when Glenn tried to cut down the lead runner. Smock eventually scored on a throwing error, and Norton came home on a passed ball to finish the scoring.

It was a tough loss for Blalock, who threw a tight two-hitter. Blalock is a sophomore and was pitching only his second varsity game of the season after being called up from the junior varsity two weeks ago.

"I thought both clubs played super ball in the second game," said an elated Canton coach Fred Crissey. "It was just a helluva game."

"We've played very well in the last five or six tournament games," said Glenn mentor Norm Hoenes. "We got good pitching and timely hitting. One bad inning hurt us but that's tournament play."

Glenn finished the season with a 12-14 overall record.

THE CHIEFS scored four runs in the ninth inning, three without the benefit of a hit, to squeak by Taylor Truman, 5-2. Both teams scored single runs in the first innings, but the game remained 1-1 until the ninth. Truman scored once in the bottom of the ninth to pull to within three runs.

Brian James hurled the first eight innings and recorded his 10th victory of the season. Smith and Dawson appeared in the ninth inning. Dawson, in relief of Smith, picked up the save.

Scott Collins led the Chiefs' attack with two singles and three walks.

JIM IRWIN and John Mervyn each smacked two singles to pace the Rockets to their four-run victory over Annapolis. Mervyn registered four RBIs with two two-run singles in the third and fifth innings.

Junior Ralph McKenzie hurled a five-hitter while going the distance for the victory.

Chief gals edge Wyandotte, lose to Waterford in finale

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Waterford High proved too much for the two remaining Class A softball teams from the Observer area, as the Skippers whipped Plymouth Canton and Westland John Glenn enroute to a regional title Saturday in Trenton.

Waterford, 23-3 overall and champions of the Inter-Lakes League, edged Plymouth Canton in the regional championship, 7-4, after eliminating John Glenn in the semifinals, 10-8.

Canton, the Cinderella team of the tourney with its 8-7 overall record, slipped by Wyandotte High, 14-13, in its semifinal battle.

Waterford is now one of only four teams left in the state tournament. The Skippers will continue their chase for the state crown Saturday in East Detroit.

KATHIE PECK, Canton's junior shortstop, staked the Chiefs to a quick 1-0 lead in the first inning of the finale when she tripled home Val Harben from first base. But Canton's advantage was short-lived as the Skippers scored three runs in the second stanza to take the lead for good.

The Chiefs pulled within one run, 3-2, with one tally in the third inning.

Waterford scored single runs in the fourth and fifth innings, and added two more in the sixth to put the game away.

Waterford's Anne Verwey posted the victory over the Chiefs, hurling an eight-hitter while going the distance. Canton's Lucy Howe suffered the defeat. She, too, allowed eight hits.

Both teams were strong defensively as Canton committed two errors and Waterford only one.

"They (Waterford) were a good team," said Canton coach Joan Ryan. "They played good defense, but we should have beaten them.

"I thought we started playing up to our potential (in the tourney), but I'm diappointed we didn't win the regional."

MARY CRECHIOLO, John Glenn's smooth fielding shortstop, smacked three hits to lead the Rockets' offensive attack in the semifinals. But Waterford held 5-0 and 9-1 leads in the fourth and fifth innings before coach Bruce Calhoun's squad rallied to make the score close.

The Rockets scored five times in the fifth and added two more runs in the seventh to pull within two runs of the champions. Crechiolo scored two runs and knocked home three more in defeat. Kim Cook was the losing pitcher.

CANTON TOOK full advantage of 13 Wyandotte errors to register its one-run semifinal triumph. Wyandotte outhit the Cheifs 15-6, but solid defense by Canton spelled the margin of victory.

3 Plymouth grads drafted by pros

The Plymouth-Canton community continues to produce top major league baseball talent.

Three area diamondmen, Scott Collins, Brian Stemberger, and Tom Willette, were recently selected in the annual professional baseball draft held last week.

Collins, 18, a graduating senior at Plymouth Canton High School, was chosen in the eighth round by the Baltimore Orioles. Stemberger, 21, a junior at Eastern Michigan University and 1975 graduate of Plymouth Canton High, was picked in the 10th round by the Chicago White Sox. Willette, 21, a junior pitcher at North Carolina State University and 1975 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, was chosen 20th by the Kansas City Royals.

Collins, an All-State shortstop for the Chiefs, finishes his three-year varsity career at Canton this spring. He hit .478 his junior season to gain All-State honors and holds a .474 average this year.

He recently signed a letter of intent to the University of Missouri, receiving a four-year baseball scholarship. He still has the option to play rofessional baseball, however.

Stedmberger is another shortstop who recently completed his third year of college competition. He played his first collegiate season at Mott Junior college before transferrng to Eatern Michigan.

A prep All-Stater for the Chiefs in 1975, Stemberger has started for the Hurons at shortstop these past two seasons.

Willette completed his third year of a four-year scholarship in North Carolina this spring. He is best known for leading the Rocks to a state championship in 1975.

The southpaw hurler was also a member of the 1975 All-State baseball team.

Rock netters eye net crown

The Plymouth Salem tennis season comes to an end Monday afternoon when the Rocks battle Dearborn in dual-match action.

Salem, coached by Jim Stevens, already has at least a share of the Suburban Eight League title with its 7-2 record, but can win the crown outright with a victory over the Pioneers.

This dual match is the last of many rescheduled contests which have been made up over the past two weeks.

At the Rocks' recent awards banquet, held at Napoleon's, senior co-captains Curt Schultz and Jeff Bearup were named the team's Most Valuable Players. Schultz and Bearup played first position singles and doubles, respectively, for the Rocks this season. Both netters are four-year varsity players.

Scott Crespo, a fourth-singles player for the 12-3 Rocks, was named the Outstanding Freshman Netter this season. Crespo had a fine season as a ninth grader, advancing to the state quarterfinals before losing, He was a Suburban Eight League champion and finished second in the regionals at his position.

Schultz was the Rocks' top player this season, also advancing to the quarterfinals of the state meet and winning regional and league crowns.

Next year's captains were also selected at this banquet.

Three juniors, Bob Braun, Craig Stevens, and Ed Thomas, will serve their senior season as tri-captains of the Rocks.

Braun was a second singles netter this season. Ed Thomas played first doubles with Bearup, and Stevens was positioned at second doubles.

Title victors again

The Plymouth Salem softball team has now officially won the Suburban Eight League title.

The Rock girls thought they had captured the title last week when they defeated Dearborn, 8-7, in 14 innings.

Due to a mix-up in league communications, however, Salem learned it only earned a tie for the crown after the Dearborn victory.

The Rocks won the title Thursday afternoon when they made up a rain-postponed contest with Allen Park. They defeated the Jaguars 9-3.

"It was a good feeling to wrap up the title by ourselves," said Salem coach Livi Way, whose Rocks finish with a 12-2 Sub-8 mark and an impressive overall record of 16-3.

The Rocks lost in the district finals of the state tournament to neighborhood rival Plymouth Canton five days before winning the league crown.

Senior Debbie Pitera closed out her varsity career at Salem with a great performance against the Jaguars, going the distance for the victory. Pitera finished the season with a 14-3 record.

She struck out 14 batters for a season total of 154 strike outs. This breaks her own school record of 141 whiffs set last season.

Way started most of her underclassmen and reserves in this battle against Allen Park to give them varsity experience. They responded with single runs in the first three innings plus the fifth stanza to stake the Rocks to a 4-3 lead.

The Salem coach played her first-teamers in the sixth inning and they scored five runs in that stanza to put the game away.

Pitera, Donna Goodrich, Kathy Gardner, and Wendy Webb registered two hits each to pace the Salem offensive attack. Gardner added three stolen bases.

An unfortunate accident occurred in the third inning when Allen Park's freshman catcher Kelly Siador suffered a broken leg when Salem's Goodrich slid home with the Rocks' third run of the game.

Goodrich was on second base when Webb hit a bloop single to centerfield. The Jaguars' threw home in an attempt to nail down the sliding Goodrich. But the throw was high, causing Siador to jump in the air to catch the ball. She landed on Goodrich but got her legs tangled in the process, causing the fracture.

Best golfers

Bruce Watt and Bill Lindley shot their best rounds of the year last week to sweep five points from Frank McGee and Hank Johnson and increase their lead in the Canton Men's Golf League.

Watt and Lindley totalled 19 points for their first-place standing.

Watt shot a 47 and Lindley added a 49 to win their match decisively.

Three golfers tied for their best rounds of the year as Jim Gabriel, Paul Oberhelman, and Tony Valenti all turned in 38's.

SILVA Dickinson and Lou Skotzke shot their best golf of the year to remain tied for the lead in the Canton Women's Golf League. Dickinson shot a 53 and Skotzke added a 64.

Both women are tied for first place with 15 points each.

Bev Green and Pauline Pryor are both tied for third place with 14 points. Estelle Heidt and Mary Kay Frey are tied for fifth with 13 points apiece.

Pryor continued her steady improvement as she shot her best round of the year with a 61. Frey posted the best round of the day with a 50.

Club dedicated to family fishing

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

"This is the only club in the state dedicated to family fishing. We promote things the whole family can do—together," said Chuck Dittmar, spokesman for the Four Seasons Fishing Club in western Wayne County.

"The Steelheaders—that's a man's club. They have only one thing a year for the wives. I know. I'm a member," Dittmar went on.

The setting was the Livonia Senior Citizens Center at Five Mile and Farmington roads. There, on the first Wednesday of each month, members of the 86 families attend meetings of this unusual new chapter of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC).

"OUR PANFISH tournament is basically a kids' competition. In the bass tournament, there's a special kids division," said Dittmar, a Westland resident and seventh grade teacher.

"When we had an ice fishing tournament, we gave ice fishing poles as prizes—11 or 12 rods. No man went home with one. We gave all the prizes to kids."

MUCC is largely a man's world. A conservation group with wide environmental interests organizationally, it tends to become a hunting and fishing club at the local level. The Four Seasons Club, however, illustrates a new kind of organization growing up. Another example is the Wolverine Four-Wheelers, a family camping MUCC affiliate in the western suburbs.

Four Seasons president is Chuck's brother, Art Dittmar, a Farmington Hills resident who teaches biology at Garden City West High School. Vice-president is Edward Degg of Livonia. The other two officers are women—secretary Estelle Maurer of Dearborn Heights and treasurer Joyce Gray of northwest Detroit.

Other members come from Redford Township, Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Canton, Novi and scattered points around the metropolitan area. Membership has built up entirely by word of mouth communication since the first meeting early in 1977.

RAOUL CONE of Livonia was chairman of last Saturday's bass tournament at Loon Lake northwest of Pontiac. Besides picking a site that had both a livery for renters and a public launch for those who own their own boats, Cone told the group:

"We have lake maps for you. It'll show you the stump area at the east end of the lake. At the west end are your deep holes and gravel bottomed areas."

Chairman of the June 25 panfishing tournament at Wamplers Lake in the Irish Hills is Charlie Grieve of Garden City. His scouting report noted there were camping facilities for those who wanted to go out the night before.

"We'll have games for the kids—egg toss and potato sack race," Grieve said. "If we get enough fish, we'll have a fish dinner—and we should 'cause we're a fishing club. Bring Coleman stoves.

"The lake is stocked with muskies—heavily stocked—and you can also catch crappies right off the bank."

WALLEYE TOURNAMENT chairman Ed Degg had scouted Decker's Landing on Lake St. Clair for the July 9 contest. Ralph Brusseau of Dearborn Heights was taking a list of available large boats for the Aug. 12-13 "deep water" contest at Manistee for those Lake Michigan treasures—lake trout, chinook salmon, coho, brown trout and steelhead.

President Art Dittmar, who knows Lake Michigan well, had notes of caution on the big lake: "We're going to be fishing four or five miles from shore. If a storm blows up—well, you have no idea how fast it can blow up. A 70 horsepower motor is the minimum you need for power to get in."

"FISHING REPORT"—a time for bragging and complaining—is on each agenda. Random samples:

•Mullet Lake in the northern lower peninsula produced "200 just sub-legal walleyes" the prior weekend for one angler.

•Kent Lake yielded three largemouth bass on a crawler harness.

•The Detroit River off Bob-Lo Island is great for walleye, "but not until the third week of June." Reason: The river is currently full of smelt on which the walleyes are feeding, and they rarely take an angler's bait.

•"There are an awful lot of fish (in the Detroit River) right in front of Cobo Hall at night. There's a reef—a sandbar—in front of Cobo Hall. You troll the edge of that sandbar."

•Chinook, lake trout, steelhead and browns are hitting off Manistee, about 25-30 feet donw in 60-80 feet of water. But they're scattered rather than schooling. Best lures: green and yellow spoons.

Lucas honored

Plymouth Salem hurdler Erin Lucas, a junior, was recently named the Rocks' Most Valuable Player. She was the team's top point-getter this season. Lucas consistently improved her time in the hurdle races, and her heights in the high jump all season long. She was among the Rocks' most dependable performers. (Staff photo)

Himes gives birth to girl

Plymouth Salem varsity volleyball and Plymouth Canton junior varsity softball coach Cathy Himes gave birth to a seven-pound, five-ounce girl last Thursday at St. Joseph Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The new addition to the Himes family has been named Tiair Kelly and was 19 inches at birth. Mother and daughter are doing just fine and are back home.

Father Tom is a student at Eastern Michigan University, majoring in Physical Education. He was Canton's junior varsity swimming coach this past season. Cathy is a physical education teacher at the Centennial Park and coached both her teams to successful seasons this past year.

Daniel White (left) was one of thousands of elementary students who recently participated in field day activities. Here, Daniel competes in the tire rolling contest as two classmates cheer him on. Sonia McTaggart (bottom right) whips a Frisbee at Starkweather's day. Greg Park (top right) gives it his best shot in the running long jump. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

In an effort to involve all elementary students in an important district annual event, the elementary physical education staff in Plymouth-Canton has initiated a new format for the Field Day activities.

Each Field Day will be held separately at each neighborhood school, rather than all the schools meeting at the Centennial Park for head-to-head competition, as in the past.

This new format will help increase the opportunity for parents to come and watch their child perform.

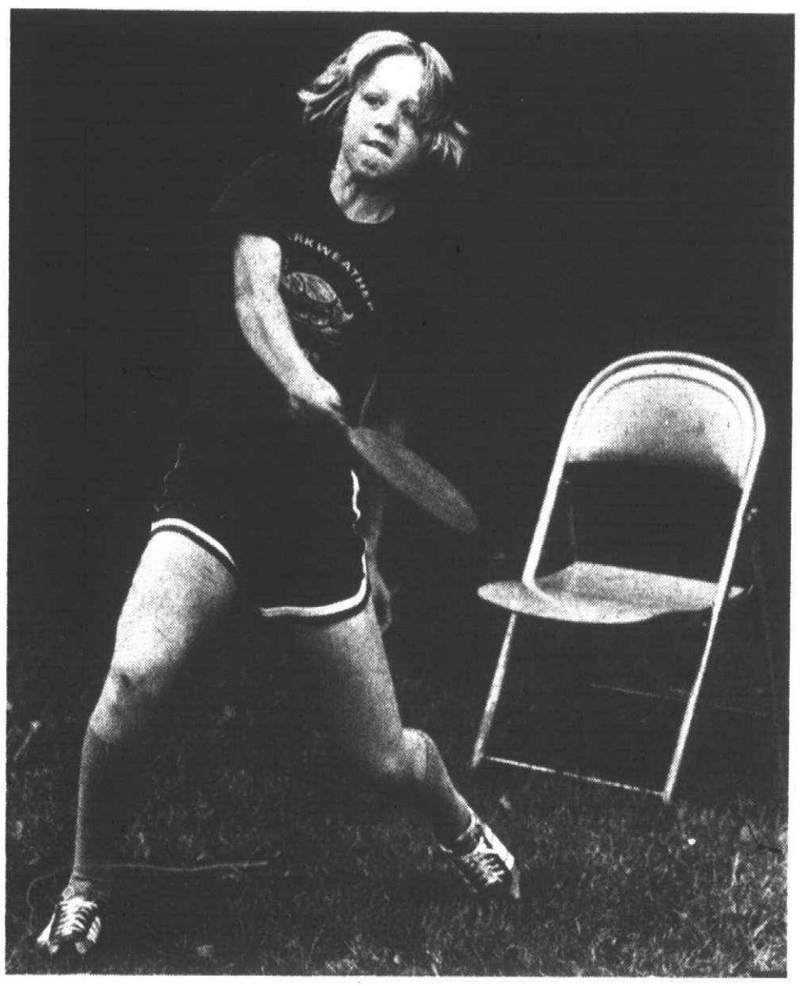
All children, grades one-five, participated this year. In the past, the field days were limited to only fourth and fifth grade competition.

All tracks are included in this activity because Extended School Year (ESY) schools will run two field days.

A mixture of fun and skill-oriented events will be offered at all the schools. Events will include running long jump, 100-yard dash, hop-step-jump, shoe kick, tire roll and frisbee toss.

Most schools completed their field days last week. Awards were given out at individual assemblies after the competiton.

The following elementary schools were active in this annual event: Starkweather—June 8; Fiegel—June 9; Field—June 7 and July; Eriksson—June 8 and July 15; Gallimore—June 6; Isbister—first week in August; Farrand—June 8; Hulsing—June 7; Miller—June 27, July 27, and Aug. 3; Tanger—May 18-19; Bird—not participating; Smith—June 1; Allen—June 14.



IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

A new use has been found for the bowling establishments in the area—and a surprising one at that.

They are now being used as a gathering place for the graduating classes of several high schools for their commencement night parties.

It isn't that the graduates and their partners want to spend the evening bowling, but the other attractions make the bowling sites ideal.

There is bowling to provide the fun and competition. There is dancing on the approaches. The lunch rooms and restaurants provide the food during the night.

This idea was started by the late Tim Halligan in Flint several years ago when the graduates couldn't find—or couldn't afford—a place. He offered Dort Bowl, and it provided just what was needed. Since then, several establishments in Wayne County have followed suit.

Cherry Hill Lanes, for instance, has hosted a high school graduation party for several years. If the trend continues, bowling will be playing another important part in the life of a community.

ONE OF THE most unusual leagues for the summer season is a group of 170 ladies who call themselves The Ladies of the Evening. They bowl on Tuesday nights at Westland Bowl.

Because the league is so large, it bowls in two divisions. And the competition between the two reaches a high peak before the last pin falls.

Last week Lori Dukodich outrolled her rivals in Class A with a 573 series. High game honors went to Georgia Cheek with a 208 in 527.

In Class B, Jerry Kilgore took both high single and high series with a 218 in 534.

THEY'RE TRYING something different at Woodland Lanes for the summer season. It is four-game competition instead of the usual three and the results have been some great scoring.

Ron Kobeski turned in the top performance. With a 163 average he fired games of 213, 213, 218 and 207 for 851. Next to him came Lloyd Richards, a 166 average bowler, who posted an 817 on games of 190, 179, 225 and 223.

In the men's 400 doubles, Bob McDonald, with an average of 176, found the range for a 257. And Ruth Richards, who carries a 152 average, paced the ladies with a 230.

TOM NOVOTNY, one of the top juniors at Merri-Bowl, placed third in the recent qualifying rounds for the state championship.

He will be one of the honored bowlers at the state championship banquet schedule at Midland in August.

All told, Merri-Bowl had 11 bowlers in the top area competition. They were Krista Verdis, Janet Barksdale, Julie Williams, Tom Novotny, Tommy Grandood, Terry Sacka, Pat Martin, Rick Peters, Jeff Cathiau, Pat Novotny and Jim Buckner.

RUSTPROOFING.
EITHER YOU HAVE IT OR YOU DON'T

Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process.

Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-corrision methods" used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart methods. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. Your Ziebart Dealer can deliver a rustproofed 1978 car because that's his business—and he knows it. Call him.

IT'S US. OR RUST.

West citizen awards granted

Marita Healy and John Dennison are the first recipients of the Robert Jones Memorial citizenship awards at West Middle School.

The citizen awards are a memorial tribute to Robert Jones, of Plymouth, who died unexpectedly of a heart attack last January.

The memorial award was arranged by the Plymouth-Canton Junior Basketball Association, an organization in which Mr. Jones was very active.

As a memorial honor, the association has worked with West Middle Principal Robert Smith to establish a West Citizen of the Year Award to be given to an eighth grade boy and girl annually.

The two eighth graders to be so honored are selected by the staff of West Middle. Each eighth grade homeroom nominated students to be considered for the award.

John Dennison achieved an excellent academic record and almost perfect attendance, said Smith, and was extremely popular among staff members and students.

Marita Healy, an "A" student, has an excellent attendance record. She was on the West girls' softball team and a winner of a math award at the school.

THE MEMORIAL PLAQUE presented to the student citizens each year will be placed in the front hall of the school.

The plaque will have engraved on it the names of the outstanding girl and boy citizen of West Middle for the next 10 years.

A brief ceremony was held last Thursday to announce the award and present it to this year's winners. Attending were friends of the Jonses, Mrs. Jones and her children—Bob, Carol, Janet, Gary, Mary and Tom.

While making brief remarks on citizenship, Jack Carpenter of the Junior Basketball Association that the type of citizenship the plaque is intended to honor is "helping others, improving the community that you live in.

"Bob Jones was an extraordinary and outstanding citizen. He was a doer who felt a responsibility to his community, to help others, to improve his community, to make it a better place for all of us. He did things for his neighborhood, his community, the schools and his church. . . .

"Each young person added to this honor roll will have shown that they understand that citizens have duties as well as rights to their community. In addition, these young people will have shown examples of being outstanding citizens, similar to the way that Bob Jones did."

Judge's race down to 7

The race for the newly-created judge's slot in the 35th judicial district has been narrowed to seven candidates.

James N. McCarthy, a Plymouth lawyer, has decided to withdraw his candidacy and run instead for Wayne County circuit judge.

McCarthy was one of eight lawyers who filed Tuesday for a second district judge's position created by the legislature two weeks ago.

The 35th District includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville Northville Township and Canton Township.

"I really like the district," McCarthy said in an interview Friday. "But I think I have an excellent chance of winning the circuit court job."

Judge Dunbar Davis will run unopposed for a six-year term of office. The seven other lawyers from the district who filed will battle for a four-year term on the bench.

Love of the open road wins out

Flourishing sales mark '78 RV resurgence

business=

By MARIE CHESTNEY
Special writer

Since 1974, it has been an uphill struggle for the recreation vehicle (RV) industry. But America's love affair with the open road and the great outdoors seems to have triumphed.

Despite uncertainties in the future of the auto and energy industries, and despite changes afoot in the RV industry itself, 575,000 Americans with a yen to get away from it all will drive off this year in some type of new RV, according to the Recreation Vehicle Industry Association (RVIA).

By the end of 1978, the RV industry—an industry that plunged 70 per cent in shipments after the energy crisis of '73 and '74—will have finally surpassed its banner year of 1972, according to RVIA.

In the words of Dave Pickering, RV director of the Michigan Mobile Home and Recreation Vehicle Institute (MMHRVI), headquartered in Livonia, "1978 started with a bang."

"It's the biggest year since the oil embargo," Marge Woods, owner of the Westland Camping Center, said. And these words were echoed by all the local dealers surveyed.

The year 1978 would appear to be a rerun of 1972. But is it?

ACCORDING TO Ernie Hickman, Livonia-based RV magazine columnist and consultant to the industry, the RV world has changed over the past four years, and it is still in the process of change.

Once a fragmented industry with numerous mom-and-pop-type operations, the gasoline shortages of 1974 brutally eliminated the weakest. Those that survived suffered dismal sales through the lean years. Many eventually merged and consolidated as the industry matured.

As sales rise once again, according to Hickman, the 150 or so surviving U.S. manufacturers face a changed, uncertain market and a changed customer.

The manufacturers face the challenge of selling an oftentimes lavish, costly and gas-eating product in a downsized, fuel-and-emission-conscious market that is plagued by federal regulations.

"Emission requirements and fuel economy work in the opposite direction from trailer hauling," Hickman said.

The manufacturers also face a customer with new buying habits, one who is adapting to fuel efficiency in his own personal way.

"The first-time travel trailer buyer is a dwindling breed," Hickman said. "The younger, first-time buyer is more likely to opt for a customized van."

At the same time, according to Hickman, today's smaller, less money-strapped family will trade up to a fully equipped motor home, bypassing many in-between segments of the RV industry.

In fact, during the current spring and summer surge in sales, it is the largest RVs, those in the motor home line, which are the hottest selling, according to MMHRVI director Pickering.

WHILE MARKETS and tastes are shifting and each segment of the RV industry tries to grasp its share of the recreational dollar, the industry today also has to cope with intense airline competition and reduced air fares, Hickman said.

The RV industry, in short, is welcoming back a buying public which hasn't fully accepted the possibility of dwindling energy supplies.

At the same time, it nervously watches the progress of the downsized cars.

Hickman said the industry has the technology to make a 17-foot travel trailer that weighs only 1,400 pounds, easily hauled by the smaller cars.

"But there are companies, like Dean of Travel in Grand Rapids, making these low-weight trailers, struggling to keep afloat, waiting for John Q. Public to accept the inevitable," Hickman said.

But John Q. doesn't have to accept the inevitable yet. RVIA is predicting the present upward surge in sales will extend on into the early '80s.

BARRING ANOTHER gasoline shortage, RV's will continue to pepper the nation's highways and back country roads, basically for two main reasons: Americans love their great outdoors and there is enough diversity and choice within the industry itself to please the meagerest of pocketbooks.

A newcomer can plunge into RVing with as little as $2,000 for a fold-down camping trailer or he go for a top-of-the-line motor home costing $20,000 and up.

Perhaps, in view of the taxpayer revolts currently cropping up nationwide, a third reason for the industry's sales surge could be added.

As described by Scotty Addison, sales manager for Tamaroff Motor Home Center in Southfield, Americans "are going to do what they want to do, not what the bureaucrats tell them to do. The market will always be there as long as the government doesn't rock the boat."

A VAGUE feeling of change persists, though, throughout the industry and everybody has a pet prediction on what the change will be. The list is endless: Pick-up trucks will be the new second car. RVs will get lighter. Mini-motor homes are the future wave. Vans will replace station wagons. Diesels are coming. Diesels are not coming.

Regardless of which, if any, RV segment garners a lion's share of the market or regardless of which way energy supplies go, local dealers see only a flourishing, expanding industry, adaptable to the dictates of customer, government and the auto industry alike.

Eugene Schneider, co-owner of Camper's Paradise in Livonia, predicts that RVs will still be a good buy for the vacation dollar because of the sleeping accomodations built into the vehicle. He said that, regardless of the cost of gasoline, "economically speaking, RVing is still the best way to get around. The cost of gas won't be a problem. If gas should go to $1 a gallon, then hotels and lodging will increase also."

Charlotte LeBlanc, parts manager of Leonard's Travel Center in Farmington, said that "no matter what the cost of gas, people are still going to go on vacation."

Addison of Tamaroff tells would-be customers to "just give up your six-pack of beer and you can afford the gas."

This is not to say, however, that the dealers see no problems coming down the pike. They did, but predictions here were as varied and numerous as predictions for the future of the the industry.

FOR YEARS, RV writer Hickman said, the industry harped on the economical advantages of RVing and neglected to sell the "fine art of motor camping." With today's smaller families, Hickman asked, is economy all that important?

Ms. Woods stressed customer patience with the industry over weight reduction. "We are cutting down, but we have a long way to go. It takes time. It (weight reduction) will be done gradually, and it will enter the market gradually."

The RV market anticipates downsized cars and is prepared for them, Schneider said. "The only uncertainty is the trucking industry. Will restrictions be placed on them also?"

Addison pounced on the added manufacturing costs that inflation has brought.

"The $20,000-$50,000 market is very limited," Addison said. "We have to work to keep the cost of a motor home under $20,000." He added that the "under $15,000 market" is the only market that has not been adequately tapped.

Georgina Leslie, owner of Vacation Camper Sales and Service in Canton, also echoed skyrocketing costs, especially the cost of the chassis.

Inflation, government regulations, and energy confusion—all of these now nip at the heels of an industry that recharged itself once to bounce back from the brink of near castastrophe.

Buyers have come back, despite a hazy future.

A final answer to "why" was suggested by Pickering: It's a matter of personal confidence, he said. "The people who buy feel they can handle any future problems that may come along."

Hottest selling items in the 1978 resurgence of the recreation vehicle industry are self-contained motor homes such as this. (Drawing is courtesy of the Recreation Vehicle Industry Association.)

'77 output already beaten, says Chevy

Chevrolet has sold more recreational vehicles so far in the 1978 model year than were delivered in the entire 1977 model year, it was revealed this week by Donald A. Bouchard, Chevrolet truck sales manager.

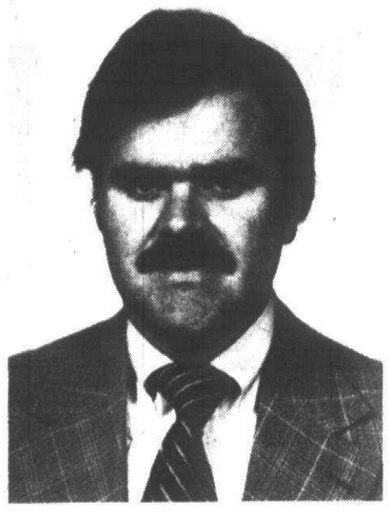
Bouchard said indications are that 1979 also will be an outstanding year with a continuing growth rate in the RV industry.

Bouchard revealed these statistics as he spoke to more than 275 representatives of recreational vehicle manufacturers from the United States and Canada who were participating in a Chevrolet symposium at Scottsdale, Ariz.

Recreational vehicle chassis components, warranty and service of recreational vehicles were among the subjects discussed at the symposium.

John F. Sillick, Chevrolet's recreational vehicles manager, also announced the printing of a new service directory for RV owners of past and present vehicles that will list approximately 1,500 Chevrolet dealers capable of performing service work on RVs with Chevrolet chassis.

White House role won by Plymouth man



JAMES J. PADILLA

A Ford Motor Co. executive from Plymouth has been appointed to a one-year White House fellowship beginning Sept. 1.

He is James J. Padilla, fuel economy planning manager in Ford's Automotive Emissions and Fuel Economy Office. He was one of 15 White House Fellows selected for 1978-79 from a field of more than 2,000 applicants.

Padilla is the first Ford employee and first auto industry representative to be chosen for the White House program. He will take a year's leave of absence from Ford to participate.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF Padilla's appointment said that the White House program "provides gifted and highly motivated young Americans with first-hand experience in handling problems faced by the federal government. Participants are drawn from many disciplines including business, the professions, government, labor, the arts and education."

During their year in Washington, participants are full-time employees of the federal government, working in cabinet-level agencies, in the executive office or with the vice-president.

Padilla, 32, received a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering from the University of Detroit in 1969, graduating magna cum laude. He also has master's degrees in polymer engineering and economics from the U. of D.

PADILLA'S CAREER with Ford has included a broad range of assignments in manufacturing, engineering, product planning and regulatory compliance, with particular emphasis on air pollution control and energy conservation.

While serving as Ford's primary representative with federal and California agencies for vehicle emissions certification, Padilla coordinated corporate projects aimed at compliance with mandated clean-air standards and optimized fuel economy. He also helped develop long-range product strategies.

At the University of Detroit, Padilla was elected to the Tau Beta Pi and Omega Chi Epsilon engineering honor societies. In 1969, he received the American Chemical Society's award as the "oustanding chemical engineering graduate." The same year he earned a Dow Research Grant in polymer research.

He and his wife have three children.

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

There are many different kinds of investments that a person may choose from. Whether it be stocks and bonds, real estate, art, precious stones, or whatever, the investor must assume one of two relationships: That of a lender, or that of an owner.

Each has its own characteristics, and each offers its own peculiar risks and rewards.

The vast majority of individuals are lenders, not owners.

Almost everyone has a savings account of one kind or another. Whether it is at the bank, savings and loan association, or credit union makes no difference.

The fact is that the depositor is lending his savings to that institution with the understanding that he will be entitled to earn interest, and that he may withdraw his funds upon his demand or under certain specified conditions.

THE SAVINGS ACCOUNT is the most prevalent form of investment in America.

While many may never have considered a savings account as a loan to a bank, it is clearly understood that the purchase of a Series E bond is a direct loan to the U. S. Government. This ranks second in popularity as an investment vehicle.

The lender relationship is generally favored because of the safety that it offers. The borrower is obligated to return the same amount of dollars that he borrowed. There is no risk of capital.

The most common form of the ownership relationship is the ownership of a home. The homeowner takes the position of a borrower when he assumes his mortgage from the lending institution, and it is his full responsibility to bear the risk of ownership.

His equity might increase, or decrease—depending on the future course of realty values.

In investment parlance, the lender relationship is described as a "fixed-value" investment. This is because return of the invested dollars is guaranteed.

The ownership relationship is identified as an "equity" investment.

COMMON STOCK represents the ownership of the corporation. Each share is evidence of a small piece of the total capital invested in the firm. It carries with it the risk of ownership. There are no guarantees.

When a corporation finds it necessary to raise additional capital it will often choose to borrow the money as opposed to issuing additional shares of common stock.

The most common vehicle used to accomplish this purpose is the corporate bond. These bonds are usually issued in $1,000 denominations, have maturities ranging from 10 to 20 years into the future, and bear a fixed annual rate of interest.

The securities industry maintains trading markets for bonds just as it does for stocks. It is as easy to buy or sell most corporate bonds as it is most stocks.

While the principal is guaranteed to be paid at maturity, the price of a bond may fluctuate in the interim. The present value of any fixed-value security will be related to the current level of interest rates being offered for bonds of comparable quality.

The fact that a security is identified as a bond does not automatically classify it as a safe investment. The quality of any investment is directly related to the financial condition of the corporation that created it.

While the degree of risk will vary in each individual situation, the conservative investor is drawn toward the fixed-value type of investment, whereas the venturesome investor is interested in the equity approach.

A well-balanced portfolio would include some of both.

Meet a new columnist with an eye on money

MONEY GO ROUND

By BRENDA L. SCHNEIDER

Money Go Round is a new column you will want to follow whether you see your consumer spending from a whirling dervish perspective or just have a hard time making your money go 'round to all your needs.

Aimed at giving hints in consumer money problems, it is written by Brenda L. Schneider and will be published on a monthly basis on this page.

Ms. Schneider recently was appointed by Manufacturers National of Detroit as director of consumer and urban affairs. She also has a background in family financial counseling and journalism.

In her columns, she plans to get into financial matters like uses of credit, comparison shopping, household money management and just plain economic survival in today's complicated money world.

A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Ms. Schneider joined the bank staff after two years as a consumer education specialist with Credit Counseling Centers in Southfield.

In that capacity, she developed and implemented an economic survival program for low income adults involved in City of Detroit manpower programs.

Her work there included creating materials on money management for families and teaching these materials to adults in learning job situations.

She also made community wide presentations on various areas of money management.

Currently she teaches a financial counseling class at Wayne State University and has served as a resource person for governmental agencies. She appears regularly on a daily talk show on Detroit television.

In her column in this newspaper, Ms. Schneider is prepared to answer questions from readers on questions of general interest in the areas of finance and money management.

Ms. Schneider is in her second term as secretary of Consumer Educators of Michigan and serves as money management training director for Family Focus on Birmingham and serves as an advisory member to the Bloomfield Hills school district.

She and her husband Thomas F. and their 6-year-old daughter Jennifer make their home in Clarkston.

Talking about money can be an exhilarating experience—provided you have some.

If, on the other hand, your pocketbook is empty, just thinking about money can be depressing. Then the only exhilarating part is keeping one step ahead of the overdue notices.

Being in debt because of a lack of money management is not a crime. The rising consumer debt in this country backs up that fact.

The only real "crime" is that many times the cycle of constantly being short never ends and often leads to financial disaster.

FINANCIAL CHAOS is not always the result of a limited income; more than likely it is the result of not managing your money.

The concept of budgeting stirs up negative feelings for most people, seeing it as a cumbersome procedure which takes too much time in their busy, active lives. But when done correctly, a financial plan eases the strain of handling your money.

A financial plan will put a system into operation that will ease your current "peak and valley" way of living. Without a financial plan, you are probably living well around pay day, only to find your funds diminished before your next pay day with bills still to take care of.

If this describes you, or you feel you handle your money well but would like to do even better, the Money Planner is for you.

WHY IS IT important to set goals? Simply because keeping track of what you make and where it goes is not enough. You want your money to provide the greatest degree of satisfaction. But that won't happen unless you put some priorities on your spending.

Some of your financial goals will be short and others will be long term, but they can all be obtained with the assistance of a financial plan.

The financial plan we can help you establish will be flexible. What is a good plan for you today may not be realistic three years from now.

As your needs change and your income changes, so must your financial plan. Your dollars will go further when you control your money.

The Money Planner is designed to help you organize your financial future. It is available at no cost or obligation at any Manufacturers Bank or by writing Consumer Affairs, 151 West Fort St., Detroit 48226.

LOUISE SNIDER

'Capricorn' plot, it's from Mars!

"Capricorn One" (PG) is one of those typical Sir Lew Grade presentations (like "The Cassandra Crossing") which uses a script that requires the minimal intelligence of viewers and the maximum number of stars.

It is a pseudo-suspenseful (pseudo because the hero's survival is never really in doubt) adventure flick. The cast includes James Brolin, O.J. Simpson and Sam Waterston as astronauts; Elliot Gould and Karen Black as reporters; Hal Holbrook as the scheming director of the space agency; and Telly Savalas as a seat-of-the-pants, crop-dusting pilot.

The story concerns a manned space shot to Mars that gets unmanned. At literally the last minute, the space agency director pulls the astronauts from their capsule and has them whisked off to a deserted military base.

The director explains to the puzzled threesome that they would have died on the space mission because of a flaw in their life support systems. There was not time to correct the flaw and rather tha scrub the mission and give Congress an excuse to cut off funds, the director worked out a deception.

WITH THE COOPERATION of the astronauts, he plans to simulate the Mars landing on a specially constructed sound stage and televise the event to Houston's Mission Control where technicians will believe the transmissions are emanating from Mars. The astronauts temporarily acquiesce because of threats to their families' safety.

The plan can work, the director promises them, only a few people know about it (the director, his assistant, the agents who brought the astronauts to the base, the film crew and the men who will ferry the astronauts out to the splashdown area so they can re-enter the spacecraft before it's picked up).

When a malfunctioning heat shield causes the spacecraft to burn up on re-entry, the three realize they are "dead" men and escape. Their pursuit across the desert occupies the rest of the picture.

Elliott Gould is a nosy reporter who senses someting amiss. He leads a charmed life as he miraculously escapes one murder attempt after another. If this were a James Bond movie, it would be played tongue-in-cheek, with a wink at the audience, but here it's played straight, lunatic though it is.

The funniest bit of nonsense occurs when Gould drives his jimmied-up car off a bridge and into the drink at over 90 mph. Is that the end of this brave reporter? No way. He paddles to shore without so much as swimmer's itch.

OF COURSE, it's not a picnic for astronaut James Brolin either. He survives an attacking rattlesnake, a creeping scorpion, desert heat and draught. In the final pursuit, he clings to the wing struts of an old biplane as it attempts to elude two attacking jet helicopters.

The plentiful, if absurd, action attempts to mask deficiencies of character and plot. "Capricorn One" is strictly for the junk-movie junkies.

Investigative reporter Elliott Gould intrigues TV commentator Karen Black with his suspicions that a space mission is a hoax.

Kenton kicks off P'Jazz this week

Lionel Hampton and Fats Domino, whose 1977 P'Jazz appearances broke all previous attendance records for the outdoor concert series, are among the many big name groups scheduled for Chuck Muer's P'Jazz this summer.

The seventh season of concerts on the terrace of the Hotel Pontchartrain begins Wednesday with Stan Kenton and his band. Performances will take place each Monday and Wednesday (with the exception of July 3) until Aug. 30, starting at 6 or 6:30 p.m. through 10 p.m.

Following Kenton, the Wednesday night series continues with Lionel Hampton, Brookside Jazz Esemble with Ursula Walker, Jimmy Wilkens, Austin/Moro Band, Thad Jones/Mel Lewis, Chico Hamilton, Stanley Turrentine, Woody Herman, Herbie Mann, the Interlochen Jazz Band and closes Aug. 30 with the Duke Ellington Orchestra.

Dizzy Gillespie leads off the Monday series on June 19 followed on successive Mondays by Les McCann, Brookside Jazz Ensemble with Ursula Walker, the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, Lonnie Liston Smith, the Kingston Trio, Maynard Ferguson, Chubby Checker, Fats Domino and the Austin/Moro Band with Jack Brokensha.

TICKETS FOR reserved seats and tables can be purchased through the P'Jazz ticket office at Hotel Pontchartrain (965-0200, ext. 1755). Ticket office hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Friday. As before, general admission tickets will be available at the door beginning at 5 p.m. the day of the concert.

Reserved seat tickets and general admission is priced for local groups and big-name artists.

Last year's P'Jazz performances attracted the largest crowds in its history, with attendance averaging 2,000-2,500 per concert.

"We will retain our casual format, with plenty of room for standing and mingling before performances and during breaks," said Ole Christensen, general manager of Chuck Muer restaurants at the Pontch.

"Refreshments, including hot sandwiches, soft drinks, cocktails, beer and wine will be available at more locations than in the past to improve service," added Christensen.

Valet parking is available at the Larned Street entrance to the Pontch. Several large parking lots in the vicinity, including the garage at Cobo Hall across the street, remain open evenings.

New travel guide assists handicapped

Gov. William G. Milliken has announced the release of a new travel publication, "Handicapper's Mini-Guide."

"This mini-guide was prepared to assist you in selecting accommodations appropriate to your needs," Milliken wrote, introducing the guide. "Please be assured that whenever you travel in Michigan, our hospitality will always be warm and genuine."

The guide was prepared by the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, to assist handicapped travelers. It lists Michigan places of accommodations which have included barrier-free design for handicapped travelers in its facilities and which meet national specifications for barrier-free design. Items especially noted are parking, entrances and exits, flooring types, elevators and room accessibility.

Included in the guide is a listing of highway rest areas which provide handicapped facilities, public transportation availability and a bibliography of related handicapped travelers' publications.

Copies of the guide are available without charge from the Travel Bureau, Michigan Department of Commerce, Post Office Box 30226, Lansing 48909, or by phoning toll free in Michigan 1-800-292-2520.

The Stroller

Who are the teachers to remember?

By W.W. EDGAR

Thousands of young folks from coast to coast have taken their diplomas in hand, tossed aside their caps and gowns and in songs and cheers have said good-bye to the public schools.

They have paraded up and down the streets of their home communities, seemingly without a care in the world. It is a great time for them—they're leaving one phase of life to enter another.

SOME OF THE cheering groups will go off to college and make a name for themselves. In the groups will be future doctors, lawyers, scientists and other outstanding professionals.

Others who can't afford to go to college will have to face what could be a cruel, cold world. They'll be entering the work force at a time when the country's unemployment rate is high and the country is in the midst of a spiraling inflation. For this group, life won't be easy.

But as they enter the new paths of life The Stroller wonders, as the years go on, whether they will remember the teachers who helped them so faithfully to get that cherished diploma.

More often than not the teachers are forgotten or at least shunted aside because of some incident that incited the wrath of the students.

If the teachers are remembered chances are that they will not be remembered as a group, but now and then an individual will be singled out as the favorite of the entire class.

One such case came to The Stroller's attention several weeks ago when he attended the 54th reunion of the 1924 class of the Marine City School.

There, seated as a guest of honor, was Florence Duddy, now 86-years-old, who was one of their teachers.

No one was treated with more respect than this elderly lady after all these years. One at a time her former pupils made it a point to wish her will and tell her of the joy it was to have her for a teacher even though she was a strict disciplinarian.

AS THE STROLLER sat there, memories of his own days came rolling back. While he never graduated, he had some fond memeries of several of the teachers he had during his exposure to book learning.

First, he never can forget Mavel Weisley, his first teacher who welcomed him into the first grade. She was young and kindly and seemed to handle us as though we were her very own.

Next came Mayme Torrence, who had more tenure. She was a strict teacher. But she left her mark. She was the teacher who stressed the value of education and the fact that it wasn't anything that could be picked up casually. She pounded home the lesson that one had to work for what he got but the hard work would be worth it.

The favorite of all, though, was a short, stout, middle-aged lady who had her own ideas—even to wearing apparel. She drew the wrath of the board of education by wearing a skirt and what was called a "dressing sack." At one point the educators passed a resolution to censure her.

But no one had the courage to tell her. She was a stickler for names. Her own name was Sally McIntyre, but no student was permitted to address her exept by "teacher." She found teaching a lot of fun. She set up a baseball team, purchased the equipment and then challenged the high school team—the same fellows that were on her team just a year or two before. What's more, she'd sit on the players' bench and manage the team.

She would declare a half holiday on her own to take her class to the county fair, and pay the cost for the afternoon of fun.

But she made one thing clear. You had to study and you had to make the grades. It was too bad if you didn't.

Strangely, she was remembered by her students long after they left school. She had taught students who later became doctors and lawyers and outstanding women. And they all gave her credit for their high stations in life.

So much of a mark did she leave on her pupils that when they became parents they bombarded the board of education to make certain that their offspring were assigned to Sally McIntyre's school.

You don't hear much about teachers of that caliber any more. That's why The Stroller keeps wondering if any of the current graduates will, in the years to come, have one teacher they will single out above all the rest and enjoy fond memories of.

Fall festival board won't be seeking funds

The Plymouth Fall Festival board has agreed that solicitations from the business community won't be necessary this year.

That conclusion was reached at the board's monthly meeting. The meetings are being held in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools' pupil-personnel office on S. Mill Street.

Dick Raison, board president, said: "The business community was most generous in providing the needed operating funds to get the 1977 Fall Festival under way. Without their support we could not have carried off the successful year we had.

"And because it was so successful in 1977, we'll be able to operate on our own budget and it will be unnecessary to solicit funds from our business friends."

Raison hopes 1978 will be just as successful, and the fall festival will continue to pay its way and provide the Plymouth community with a weekend of fun and community spirit, he added.

Sandra Davis was re-appointed chairwoman of the entertainment committee at the meeting. Individuals or groups wishing to provide entertainment during the festival should call the fall festival number, 453-9292, to arrange a time and day.

Carl Glass, festival manager, reported that the applications for participation in the fall festival have been mailed. The registration fees once again will be $100 per group, and all applicants must be returned to the fall festival board no later than July 26 for consideration.

Anyone wishing an application by mail may obtain one by calling 453-9292 during normal business hours.

How can I help the newly widowed?

It doesn't matter whether one's husband or wife died after a prolonged illness or whether it was a sudden death. The resulting widowhood is a deep-seated impact which may last for days, weeks, even months.

During this period of initial shock, you must help the widow or widower to be ACTIVE. By occuping his or her time with the important details of "getting things together" for everyday living, he (or she) is forced, thankfully, into activity.

With our professional responsibilities and experience, we as funeral directors can be of immediate help. We assist in processing the various legal papers such as Social Security and VA. We handle literally hundreds of details for the family throughout the total service. And we try to help as best we can with the widow or widower in their emotional adjustments. One of our chief goals is to bring peace and comfort to the living in their hours of need. If we can help you in this, please let us know.

The VIEW from 461 SOUTH MAIN

By ELLIE GRAHAM

YOU NEVER KNOW what turns a conversation with Marian West will take. Or by what circuitous route she will find the answer to a seemingly simple question.

The question—this was a couple of weeks ago—was "Who said, 'When the going gets tough, the tough get going'?"

Pat Touhey had tossed out the query as he was writing a story. Each member of the staff had an answer, and each was different.

The quote was attributed to Vince Lombardi, Knute Rockne, Teddy Roosevelt, Omar Bradley and George Patton. When Marian was in the office several days later, we asked her. As librarian at Plymouth Salem High School, she has stacks of reference books not available in the Observer office.

She said she'd look it up and let us know.

It wasn't all that simple. The quote was not in any of the reference books at the high school. Marian had posed the question in the teachers' lounge. Still no answer, and the "Help, who said this?" posters did not help.

We more or less let it drop. My grandson was sure it was either a Chevy truck or a Goodyear tire commercial. Others made the same old suggestions with Lombardi coming in as the favorite.

Marian called one morning last week with the answer. She had attended a Detroit school librarians meeting and had asked the question. One librarian promised the answer before she went to bed. And she found it.

"When the going gets tough, the tough get going" is an anonymous quote used often by the late Joseph Kennedy when speaking to his children.

Another lady, who could not find the quote, called the J.P. McCarthy talk show. J.P. asked the question on the air and the calls flowed in—everything from Vince Lombardi to Atilla the Hun.

One gentleman had the correct attribution and his source was the same as Marian's friend the librarian.

"We don't have the book but we'll get it," said Mrs. West.

It took three weeks, but Marian got the answer.

She tossed out one for us: "What were the four estates in pre-revolutionary France?"

OUR OWN high schools' radio station, WSDP, deserves kudos for its question and answer program on school millage.

It was the staff's first attempt at a presentation of that type and it came off exceptionally well.

"We were very pleased," said Jeff Cardinal, WSDP coordinator. "We had an excellent crew and we feel very good about it. There were some technical mistakes that the average listener wouldn't catch.

"But now we have our feet wet. We know we can do it and the response was very good."

Technically, it was a lot of work. It involved about 3½ hours of set-up time and an hour to take it down.

"Extra students helped and we had several production meetings."

One of the worries was lack of response. They had two questions called in before the program which gave the panel something to work on until the calls started coming in. All in all, they fielded 20 questions.

I thought the members of the panel performed very well. John Seidelmann and the representatives of the school board and administration came through like professionals.

PERHAPS, with the new 15-cent stamps, the U.S. Postal Service can afford to get its lady mail carriers out of mini-skirts and into a more fashionable length WITH pantyhose.

ANTJE WOLFE and Diane Bodell represented Pilgrim Garden Club at last week's 49th annual convention of the National Council of State Garden Clubs. The week-long meeting was hosted by Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan in the Renaissance Center with tours and side trips.

Members of the Pilgrim club provided 20 handwoven flower pots for an evening banquet. They also contributed materials for the 700 RenCen centerpieces for another banquet.

Mrs. Wolfe said the 1,500 delegates came from all the states, the islands, Hawaii and Canada. Pilgrim belongs to District I, which won an award for gaining the most new clubs in a section.

"The oldest delegate was an 82-year-old from Washington," said Antje, "and the average age was about 60. Our members are a little younger and most have small children so couldn't get away for the whole convention."

They attended a luncheon in the Columbus Room with the whole group. They were voting members of the Michigan Federation which met in the Marquette Room.

Members of the Pilgrim Garden Club live in Plymouth, Livonia and Ypsilanti, with the majority being residents of Canton Township.

The club originally was formed in Plymouth.

Best year yet for Canton Newcomers

Canton Newcomers Club members met their new board of directors and looked back on their most successful season at last week's luncheon meeting.

Membership reached an all-time high of 320.

"It's getting bigger and bigger," said retiring president Karen Cifrodella. "It's becoming difficult to find restaurants large enough for our monthly luncheon meetings. We have a turnout of at least 170."

New residents of Canton Township who joined the club found themselves cught up in a whirl of social and educational activities.

For the couples, there were a wine and cheese party in the recreation hall, a German Night at Old Heidelberg Restaurant in Ann Arbor, a millionaires party in the rec hall, a Christmas walk at Meadowbrook Hall, a road rally and dinner dance.

INTEREST GROUPS included crafts, sewing, macrame, and ladies day out.

Bridge and bowling groups were formed for either women or couples.

The cookbook was a major project and fundraiser. So far, the net profits have totaled more than $1,000. Sue Lawrence says there are about 400 left. These can be purchased from her or at the Country Deli in King's Row Shopping Center, Lilley Road at Warren.

The new board takes over in July. Nancy Nichols takes over as president.

Serving with her will be Helen Wesner, vice president; Diane Cuper, secretary; Norma Huetteman, treasurer; Carol Dugan, membership chairman; Mary Moore, publicity; Judi Thomas, reservations; and Sharlene Totten, hospitality.

Linda Lupo and Christy Skorka will be in charge of couples programs. Kathy Freece will handle nursery and welcoming, Mary Hodge will write the newsletter, and Mrs. Cifrodella will serve on the board as advisor.

THE CLUB'S gift of appreciation to Karen Cifrodella was a matching necklace and bracelet engraved with her initials and the date of her term of office.

Others who served on the 1977-78 board of directors were Chris Pilz, vice president; Donna Glover, treasurer; Marge Mogelnicki, secretary; Sam Nichols, newsletter; Judi Thomas and Jodey Williams, couples; Diane Cuper, membership; Helen Wesner, reservations; Sue Miller, publicity; Kathy McKenna, hospitality; and Virginia Koon, advisor.

Carol Dugan, (from left) Mary Hodge, Linda Lupo, Judi Thomas, Christy Skorka, Eileen Dunn, Sharlene Totten, and Mary Moore will be members of the board for the new season.

Sweet Adelines and guests harmonize

The local Sweet Adelines chapter lived up to its promise of an evening of sweet music. Visitors who attended We Way Co's guest night were entertained, and before the evening was over, they were singing four-part harmony right along with the regulars.

Jeanne Lundberg, petite director of the chapter, briefly auditioned the guests. They were seated according to their voices—lead, baritone, tenor or bass. There was a short warm-up and guests were welcomed and introduced with the comment, "There are almost as many guests as members."

They had come from Redford Township, Detroit, Livonia, Novi, Canton Township, Farmington, Westland, Garden City and Northville. Some were former members of Sweet Adelines, some sang in church choirs. The common denominator was a love of singing. And they had the ability.

YES INDEED, the Western Wayne County chapter quartet which had placed second in regional competition, performed for the group.

They wore the burgundy velvet ribbons and silver medals earned at the regionals in Troy. Members of the quartet are Claudia Swisher, tenor, of Plymouth; Shirley Heatlie, lead, of Garden City; Barb Almli, baritone of Pinckney; and Sharon Sherwood, bass, who lives north of Lansing and has an 88-mile drive to rehearsals.

The medalists' opening number was "Yes Indeed." This was followed by their introductory song. The lyrics are their own, sung to the tune of "Chattanooga Choo-Choo." Each member introduced herself in song adding a few biographical details.

They sang "Rubber Ducky," "It Had to be You," "Where Oh Where," and "Please Don't Talk about Me When I'm Gone."

THE CHORUS sang several competition pieces which earned We Way Co Chapter the novice directors award. Ms. Lundberg began her duties as director last October.

Guests were invited to join the Sweet Adelines in learning "Mame," a new song. In about 45 minutes, they had it. Jeanne Lundberg is an exacting leader. There were many stops and emphasis on "remember your diphthong—it's Ma-eme, not Maim." But before they broke for refreshments, the timing, the harmony, the enunciation were all there—a perfect example of why every musical instrument tries to imitate the human voice.

Teri Furr, corresponding secretary, reminded members to get their recipes in for the We Way Co cookbook. They are having a contest to come up with a name for the publication.

The Wednesday evening rehearsals in Epiphany Lutheran Church, 41390 Five Mile, usually end up at Little Caesar's on Seven Mile. If there is a large enough turnout, there is more barbershop singing.

Ann Peters, club president, said the club was rechartered with 39 members and welcomes new members. Women wishing more information can call Pat Martin, vice-president, 453-4681, or Mrs. Furr, 397-0843.

Founders of family center awarded MSU scholarships

Diane Kimball and Kathy Nunez are the recipients of College Week scholarships at Michigan State University. They are the founders of the Childbirth and Family Resources Center Ltd. on Penniman Avenue.

The Plymouth branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association awarded the grants. Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Nunez will spend four days in a high-rise living unit on the MSU campus where they will participate in a choice of 50 classes, tours, films and a variety of evening options including a visit with state legislators.

More than 1,400 delegates of all ages and from all parts of the state will converge on the campus for this year's program, "Family Impact on the Future."

THE WOMEN opened their nonprofit resource center last September.

"We've been very pleased with the response," said Diane Kimball. "We've had lots of childbirth classes and lots of babies. The feedback has been very positive."

They are branching out and working closely with Plymouth family Services and Growthworks. In fact, it was through the people at Family Services that they heard about College Week and submitted an application to the Plymouth Garden Club.

Mrs. Nunez and Mrs. Kimball also are working on masters degrees in health education at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

COLLEGE WEEK emphasizes leadership development to strengthen families and communities. Many participants reteach class information to local groups in their home communities.

The event is sponsored by Family Living Education of MSU's Cooperative Extension Service in cooperation with the college of Human Ecology.

The Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association encourages continuing education for all ages. Scholarship donations this year have totaled more than $4,500.

PHS class of 1930 plans 50th reunion

Plymouth High School Class of 1930 will have a 50th class reunion if Louis Straub has his way. He sent a letter to classmates Doris (Jewell) and Charles Root to help get the organization under way.

Straub is coming to Plymouth this summer to stir up a little more interest and see about forming a reunion committee. The party will be planned for the summer of 1980.

The class has not had a get-together since its 25th reunion.

"Quite a few of our classmates are in the Plymouth, Northville and Ann Arbor area," said Doris Root. "Louie is going to look them up and get it started."

There were 66 graduates in the class of '30 but the guest list will include all the classmates, whether or not they left school before graduation.

Mrs. Root said their principal was John Emens who later became president of Ball University. Edna Allen was assistant principal and George Smith was superintendent of schools.

Anyone interested in the reunion can contact Straub at 2308 N. Winton Avenue, Speedway, Ind. 46224.

And the bands played on

There was music in the air Tuesday evening as bandsmen Central Middle School gave a concert in Kellogg Park. The band concert attracted a large audience complete with folding lawn chairs or blankets to spread on the grass.

The waterfountain, passersby, and strolling students seemed to pace their movements to the beat of selections from "Fiddler on the Roof" or stirring marches.

Central bands have been awarded honor ratings at district band festivals. They marched in the Memorial Day Parade. Concerts have been given at Central and Plymouth Salem High School. The annual concert at Nightingale Nursing Home in Westland has become a tradition. They performed with the Plymouth Canton High School Chiefettes in their variety show.

The three bands and the stage band are directed by Michael DiCuirci. The stage band did not take part in the band concert. This group of 35 young musicians meets for practice before school hours. They concentrate on pops, contempory and jazz. Their last concert of the season was with the high school band.

Janene Gray was one of the scholarship winners.

There are 110 sixth graders in the beginning band. The group has been playing together since September. Their band concert performance of the "Marching Grenadiers" proved to be a crowd pleaser.

The 98 seventh graders in the intermediate band shone in their interpretations of "Portrait for Band" and "March of the Irish Guard."

The advanced band, composed of 80 eighth graders, played selections from "Fiddler on the Roof," Offenbach's "Ballet Parisien" and Sousa's "Black Horse troop."

SENIORS WERE recognized and scholarships presented.

Students who received the $50 scholarships provided by Central's Band Boosters Club were: Doug Brown, trumpet; Debbie Moss, clarinet; Jackie Patak, clarinet; Michele Rozelle, flute; Michael Adzima, percussion; Roseanne DiPonio, French horn; Chris Stanley, trombone; and Janene Gray, saxophone.

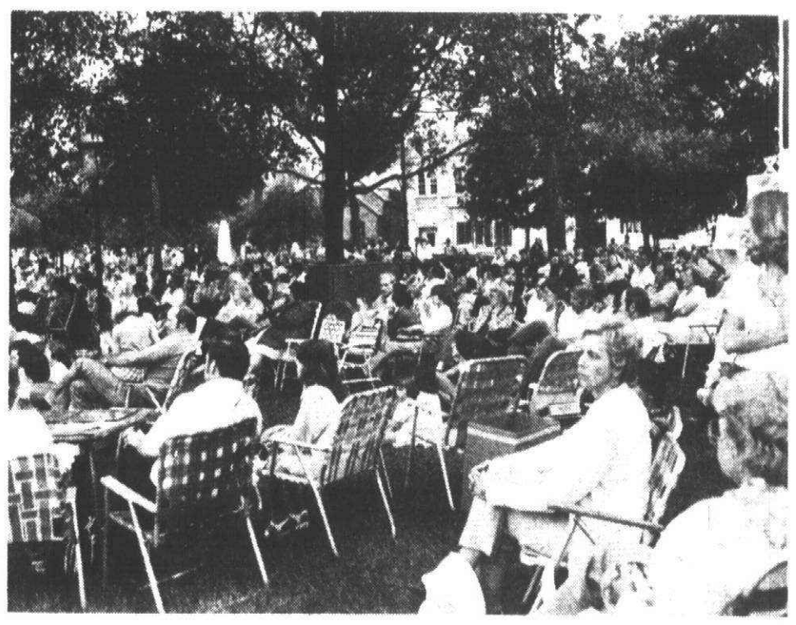
"The students can use the money for any musical pursuit," explained DiCuirci. "It can go for repair of instruments, music camp, private lessons, or down payment on an instrument.

"The Band Boosters is really just a small group of parents," he added. "But they do a lot."

Bev Stanley, president of the club, was on stage for the scholarship presentations. The Boosters were selling ice cream cones and baked goods during and after the concert.

"We cut a record this year with all the bands involved," said DiCuirci. "These were on sale at the concert too."

Central's band concert in the park was a prelude to the summer series in Kellogg Park presented each year by the Plymouth Community Band.



It was a lawn chair crowd in Kellogg Park.

Everyone was there—from babes in arms to grandparents. (Staff photos)

We think AUTOVEST makes so much sense for so many people, that it's the wave of the FUTURE. With LaRiche, and AUTOVEST. You can afford that new car or truck that seemed out of reach. The future is Here-Now!!

All AutoVest payments quoted are based on 25 equal payments at the completion of your agreement you'll have 3 options. 1) Trade the car in or sell it and keep all equity. 2) If you love the car keep it. AutoVest is obligated to let you buy it for the price they established today regardless of how high the value may have climbed. 3) If you don't want the car or don't want to trade or sell it, just bring it back and that's that. No obligation on your part. Just make your 25 payments and return it in reasonable condition. Plates & title included. AutoVest Lease/Purchase Plan.

DOWN PAYMENT FLEXIBLE TO FIT YOUR BUDGET OR USE YOUR PRESENT CAR AS TRADE.
Payments INCLUDE: Tax-Plates-Prep-Freight
