Inflation cited as No. 1 issue

Some 10,000 responses to a questionnaire sent in March to about 170,000 area households by U.S. Rep. William Ford's office show inflation to be the ranking concern among those who replied.

In order, other concerns of those who replied were energy, crime and drugs, inflation and unemployment.

The same concerns in a different order were registered in last year's questionnaire. Ford's office does the survey annually.

A candidate for re-election, Ford, whose district includes Garden City, Westland and Canton Township, said in a written statement "this questionnaire poll is neither as scientific nor as fancy as the highly publicized national opinion surveys."

Pollsters question the statistical validity of surveys that require action, like mailing back the questionnaire, from those being interviewed.

Ford (D-Taylor), however, said in the statement that results were "of even greater value than the national polls in helping me gauge the opinions of my constituents."

Two-thirds of the replies came from those between 30 and 60, with 45-60 the largest responding age group. By occupation, the largest responding group was housewives.

In reply to a question on farm parity pricing, 72 per cent of those responding agreed that prices should be set by supply and demand.

Respondents split closely, 53 per cent in favor and 47 per cent opposed, to proposed federal legislation requiring companies to give advance notice when they plan to move to another state.

Respondents also split closely on how to control foreign imports, with 24 per cent favoring higher tariffs, 34 per cent favoring limits to how much can be imported from any nation, and 33 per cent favoring negotiations with other nations.

Most of those that responded named foreign aid as the federal budget item which should be cut first, while welfare was in the second spot.

Energy research and "fighting crime and drugs" were most often named as federal budget items that should be increased.

Nearly half the respondents favored a cut in the Social Security tax, while 24 per cent said they would prefer to see a cut in that tax to other forms of federal tax reduction. Fourteen per cent opposed a Social Security tax cut.

Some 39 per cent favored a national health insurance plan, while 23 per cent would limit it to catastrophic illness and 31 per cent favor continued private health insurance.

On energy, 48 per cent favored development of alternate sources of power, "nuclear, solar etc.," as a solution to the energy crisis, while respondents split fairly evenly on conservation, exploration for new sources of oil and increased use of coal.

Recreation hall will be purchased

Why rent when you can buy?

That was the attitude of township board members when they voted 5-1 to purchase the recreation building at Sheldon and Michigan for $105,000 Tuesday night.

The township has been renting the building for $245 a month from Charlotte Fischer. The building is used as the headquarters of the township recreation department and a senior citizens meeting hall.

The township will replace the rent receipts with payments on a 10-year land contract with eight per cent interest. The building was recently appraised for $152,000.

Township Trustee Robert Myers was the only board member who voted against the purchase. Trustee Lynne Goldsmith was absent.

"I think it was a good value," Clerk John Flodin said of the purchase. "The demands on that building are tremendous. I think the township will continue to need that building for years to come."

The township spent about $32,000 to renovate the rented facility three years ago. Flodin said roof repairs are now needed but the township did not want to spend more money on a rented building.

Flodin said use of the building will probably be expanded.

"It's practically the only place that can be used to accommodate the public," he said.

Guess who's coming to play golf?

Former President Gerald R. Ford and nine of the Professional Golfers' Association's top 20 money winners for 1977 will be on hand for the Police Athletic League fund-raising tournament at Wabek Country Club of Bloomfield Hills. They'll be joined by more than 100 business and government leaders who pay $500 to help fund a year-round recreation program for disadvantaged youngsters. Those interested in joining the gallery—expected to number at least 15,000, may purchase $10 tickets by calling P.A.L., 224-4080. This picture of the former president was taken by Paul Stano last month at the Preston Trails Country Club in Houston.

11th-hour effort to save historic house fails

Hope for a new historical museum was felled last Friday when a subcontractor prematurely ripped apart the Canton Township house that the Wayne-Westland Arts Association wanted to have relocated behind Westland City Hall.

The historic house was located on a wooded area north of Ford Road between Lotz and Sandhurst, just outside the Westland boundary.

Scheduled for demolition last Tuesday, the 129-year-old "local landmark" received only a brief reprieve when members of the arts association approached four developers who are planning to erect an entertainment center for the site before the end of the year.

Canton Township officials recently granted approval for the center, which is expected to feature nationally-known entertainers.

One of the four developers, Don Soenen of Plymouth, blamed Friday's unscheduled demolition on a "communications problem" with the subcontractor.

"We've been working with these people (arts association members) all along," said Soenen. "I feel like we've let them down when we told them we would cooperate with them. It's a local landmark, and three out of the four of us (developers) are local residents from Plymouth."

"Everyone loses out all around," he continued, adding that he could have saved $3,000 in demolition costs and the arts group could have gained a new museum.

"It's too bad they waited until the last minute to get the house," he said.

Actually the City of Westland was interested in the Greek Revival style house two years ago. Andy Spisak, administrative assistant to Westland Mayor Thomas Taylor, said the city had checked with previous owners about the house. At that time city officials concluded that the house would be too costly to move and renovate.

Spisak had estimated the cost to move and renovate the house to be about $25,000. The project was dropped.

Arts association member Dianna Brooks, who was spearheading the relocation project, disagreed. She projected the costs, based on moving estimates they had received, at between $7,500 and $14,000.

The house was structurally sound, according to Mrs. Brooks. The two-story home was built in sections, with symmetrical wings. Other features of the house included tongue and groove flooring and notched beam joints (no nails used).

Mrs. Brooks said she had passed the house on Ford Road many times and had once considered buying it for her own family. Then the arts association pursued relocating the house when it learned the house was scheduled for demolition.

Association members were frustrated in their attempts to get a commitment for municipal financial support last week because the Westland mayor and city council were attending a conference in Washington D.C. sponsored by U.S. Rep. William Ford (D-Taylor), whose district includes Westland and Canton Township.

Soenen had agreed to delay demolition until tomorrow. The arts group had hoped to get a commitment for financial aid at tonight's Westland City Council meeting.

Before Friday's unscheduled demolition, Spisak said he couldn't place their request on the council agenda, but would prepare a summary of what they wanted. He said he would present that request at a study session preceding the meeting.

Soenen said the subcontractor, who was to have demolished the house this Wednesday if the arts group was unsuccessful in their funding attempts, was told to "get a permit and we'll let you know when to do it."

In the meantime, however, the unnamed subcontractor had a "free" day on Friday and decided to go ahead and demolish the structure as a "favor" to Joseph Hoffman, a Birmingham co-investor in the project.

Hoffman discovered the error Friday as he drove to the house to see if the electricity had been disconnected. By then the siding and roof had been removed, and the arts commission discovered the house couldn't be saved.

Before the house was destroyed, Spisak expressed doubt that the arts group could save the house. He said finance director Robert Matzo told him money could be transferred for that use, but unless the city was reimbursed, money wasn't available for the project.

Spisak added that the council would probably want an engineering study on

Fireworks order has cops fuming

Fireworks are illegal in Michigan, right? Not exactly.

It's not a clear cut issue, say Michigan State Police fire marshal officials, despite an emergency six-month ban on most fireworks that passed Tuesday in the state legislature.

Meanwhile, police agencies throughout the state are swamped with complaints about fireworks vendors and fireworks abusers.

The state's emergency order would ban the manufacture, sale and use of all fireworks containing more than .772 grains of explosive, virtually prohibiting the sale of any type of firecracker.

When originally enacted Tuesday, aerial fireworks were permitted to contain up to two grains of explosives. But Friday, all fireworks, whether ground or aerial, were restricted to .772 grains of explosives.

Long known for its strict fireworks regulation, Michigan recently has seen a dramatic surge in the sale of long-banned firecrackers, rockets and ground displays such as roman candles because of conflicts between the state law and federal law.

A man in a truck was selling fireworks at the corner of Haggerty and Joy Road Wednesday, said Canton Police, who did not issue the man a ticket because they, like most others, weren't sure what he was doing was illegal.

Canton Police officers said they were powerless to act because the state has not released guidelines to accompany the new emergency law.

"THE PROPOSED emergency rules pertaining to the enforcement of fireworks laws have not been placed into effect as of this time," said Lt. Col. William Hassinger of the Michigan State Police Thursday.

"Consequently, there is no change in the status of Michigan's fireworks laws."

Federal law allows the sale of Class C fireworks, containing .772 grains of explosive or less. But the emergency rules permit only sparklers, caps, snakes and other small fireworks.

Permitted in the state's emergency law are visuals such as ground blooms or fountains and smoke-emitting devices, if they contain less than .772 grains of explosives.

Possession, sale or use, though, is limited to persons 18 or older.

Violators of the emergency law could be sentenced to 90 days in jail and a $100 fine when the law goes into effect July 1.

On Friday, workmen prematurely tore apart a historic house on Ford Road, between Lotz and Sandhurst, that reportedly stood there for 129 years. The unscheduled demolition to clear the site for an entertainment center dashed the hopes of a Westland group that was exploring the possibility of moving the house for use as a museum. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

ROCKS HONORED

Several Plymouth-Salem athletes were honored last week by being named to all league teams. See today's sports section for details.

Behaved at bus stop

Cliff Thomas spent most of his mornings this year as a volunteer supervising the conduct of children who wait for a bus at Honeytree Apartments to Tanger Elementary. Thomas' job was not an easy one with some of the students shagging cars and others fighting with others to pass the time. Well, he kept a list of the children who behaved and awarded them with plaques of appreciation last week. The captain of the safety squad, Scott Barrieau, won the grand prize—the award of excellence—while other students received awards of merit. From left (back row) are Tracy Teems, Lori Allan, Christopher Thomas, Cheri Croteau, Scott Barrieau, Nicole Belcher, Carolyn Gors, Shauna Rattenni, Colette Woods; (front row) Lisa Francis, Kamille Woods, Tracy Niecum, Holly Scott, Jenny Howard and Rory Bacon. ### Faust seeks to eliminate Jobs are rigged insurance rates offered

A measure that would eliminate discrimination in automobile and motorcycle insurance rates by Sept. 30 has been introduced by State Sen. William Faust (D-Westland).

Faust, who is serving his second year as senate majority leader, said the proposed legislation would benefit thousands of Michigan residents who have been forced to pay exorbitant insurance rates because of arbitrary factors.

The proposal would prohibit insurance companies from charging different rates for the same coverage because of sex, marital status, age, residence, location of risk, handicap or lawful occupation.

An insurance company could charge different rates for a classification group if the rate differential is directly related to actual losses experienced by all persons insured in that group. Companies also could allow for anticipated losses in case of new coverage.

Insurance coverage included under the proposal would be personal protection insurance, property protection and residual liability insurance.

While not affect Michigan businesses that insure motorists, Faust said his proposal will "prevent insurance companies from lining their coffers through higher rates than the statistics call for."

Faust added that he expects the bill to be received favorably by his colleagues in the Senate.

Housing starts continue climb

After hitting a 15-year low in 1975, residential construction in southeast Michigan continued an upswing through 1977, according to a report released recently by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Oakland County showed nearly twice as many housing starts as second place Wayne County last year.

The 27,252 residential building permits recorded last year for the SEMCOG seven-county area was an increase of 38.7 per cent over the 19,642 recorded for 1976.

Housing starts reached a peak in 1971 when 43,865 permits were recorded. The low was 15,799 permits in 1975.

All seven counties recorded increases in residential construction activity, according to SEMCOG.

The top 10 communities in Southeast Michigan for residential units authorized, were Sterling Heights in Macomb County (2,070 permits); Canton Township in Wayne County (1,625); Southfield in Oakland County (1,602); Troy in Oakland County (1,327); Farmington Hills in Oakland County (1,317); Livonia in Wayne County (1,133); Clinton Township in Macomb County (1,024); West Bloomfield Township in Oakland County (842); Avon Township in Oakland County (826); and Westland in Wayne County (653 permits).

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of counties, cities and villages, townships, intermediate school districts and community colleges in the seven-county southeast Michigan region.

The housing report is available by calling 961-4266.

Would you loan money to a young man who wanted to buy a motor home and drive 125 mph?

We did, and it turned out to be a good investment. For him and us.

We're Manufacturers Bank. He's Tom D'Eath, winner of the 1976 Gold Cup for unlimited hydroplanes.

Tom leads the kind of life a lot of young men only dream about. He's service manager of the family marina on Harsen's Island. A professional race car driver. A champion boat racer in everything from outboard to Grand Prix categories. And, as we mentioned, winner of the Gold Cup for unlimited hydroplanes.

The only problem with that kind of very active life is that it was separating Tom from his wife, son and daughter for long periods of time. That's when Tom came to us. And we loaned him the money for a motor home. Since then, when Tom pulls out of Detroit for the race circuit (cars or boats) he takes his home and family along.

Why are we glad to loan money for such things as boats or motor homes to young people like Tom D'Eath? It's all part of our theory: If we stick by people like Tom while they're just getting started, we figure they'll stick by us once they make it.

So far, our theory seems to be working. Try it for yourself.

Canton tripped in state title bid

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Flint Southwestern's Bob Cardenas bounced a fifth-inning single through the middle to score the only run of the game, as the fighting Colts put an abrupt end to Plymouth Canton's state title hopes, 1-0, at the state semifinals in Wyandotte Saturday morning.

It was a classic pitching duel all the way as Southwestern's All-Stater Ruben Luna and Canton's junior Scott Dawson went the distance, matching goose eggs for five innings to see which team would advance to the state finals.

Although both hurlers threw three-hitters, it was the Colts' lone run in the fifth that decided the game and sent the Chiefs back to Plymouth empty handed.

Southwestern, ranked first in the state, took advantage of Dawson's first base-on-balls of the game when designated hitter Allen Weatherford led off the fifth with a free pass.

He quickly advanced to third base on two stolen bases, and scored on Cardenas' two-out single.

Meanwhile, the Chiefs, ranked second in the state, continued to swing at air against Luna. The southpaw struck out 13 Canton batters.

But the real story was on the base paths. The Colts snuffed three potential Chief rallies, gunning down base runners in the first, third and seventh innings.

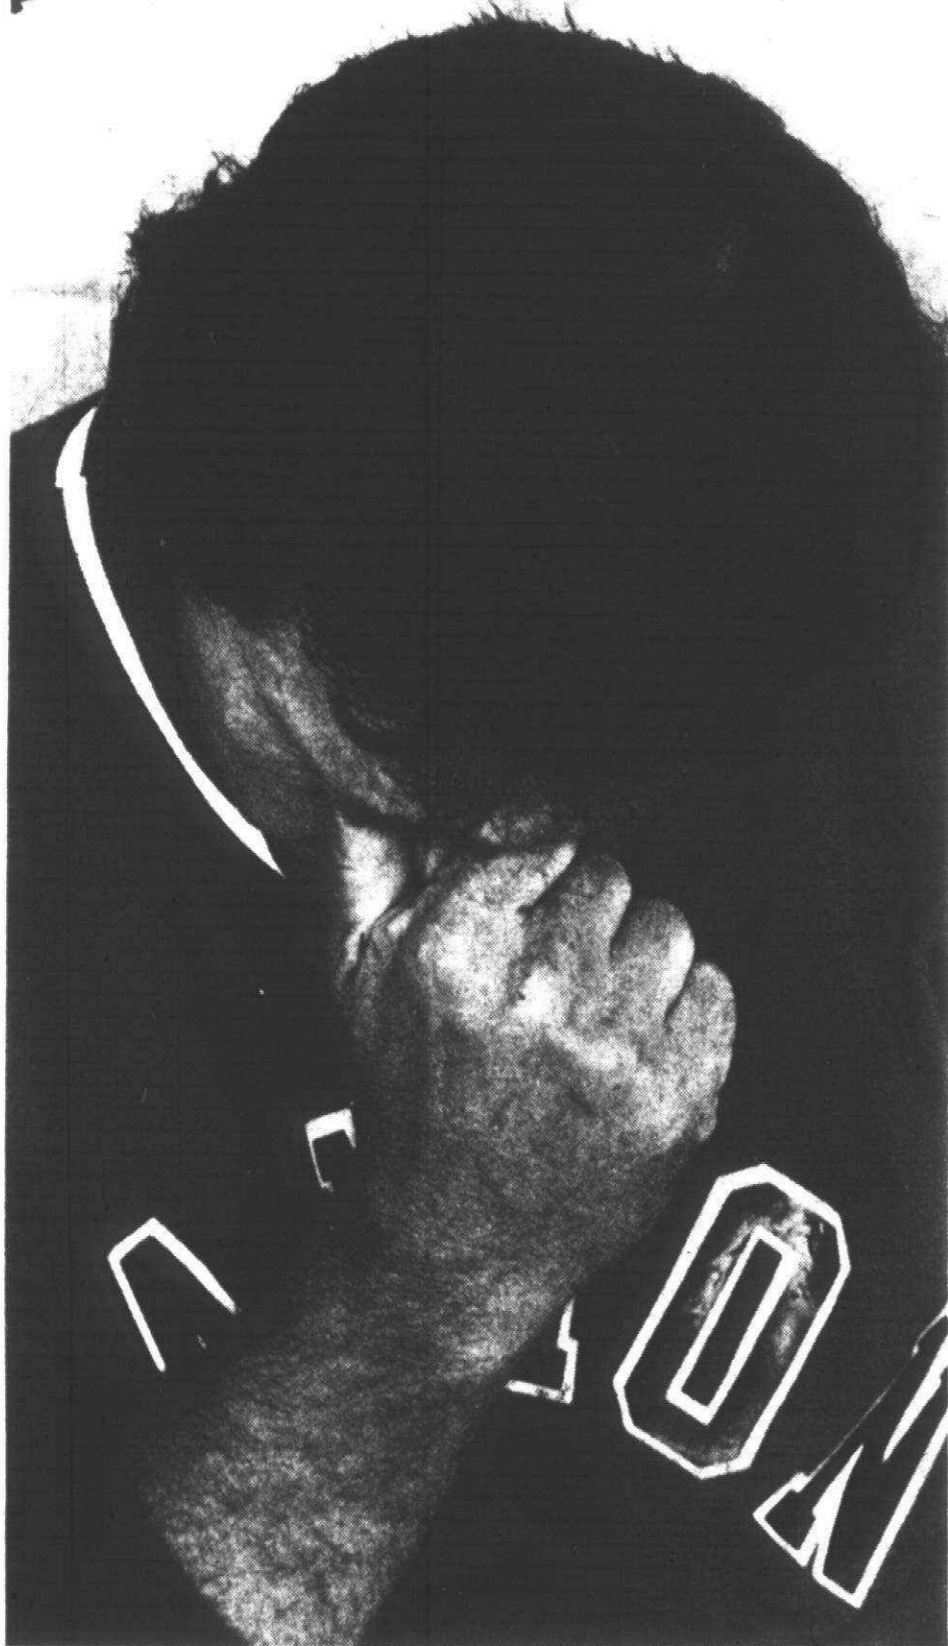

Canton coach Fred Crissey took the blame for the third running mishap when centerfielder Russ Mandie led off the bottom of the seventh with a double—but was cut down at third base trying to stretch the hit into a triple.

Mandie belted a one-strike pitch up the left-centerfield alley. He rounded second base and planned to stop when he saw Crissey waving him to third. Mandie hesitated between the bags and then raced for third but was out on a close play—much to the displeasure of the Canton mentor.

"Number 19 lost it, make sure you write that down," Crissey said, making reference to himself. "I'm absolutely, positively sure I lost it. I shouldn't have sent him.

Canton infielder Ray Smock (on ground) is called out after attempting to reach third base on a sacrifice bunt. Smock led off the third inning with a base-on-balls but failed to reach third on Dave Meador's bunt. The Chiefs' second baseman was one of three Plymouth runners thrown out on the basepaths during the 1-0 setback to Flint Southwestern. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

A dejected Canton coach Fred Crissey hides his tears of defeat after his Chiefs lost the state semifinal game to Flint Southwestern, 1-0, Saturday afternoon in Wyandotte. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

"Rusty played it the right way. I had him running because I thought he had the legs. But a runner at second with no outs is just as good as a runner at third. We could have bunted him to third with one out and then tried to get him home.

"I should have kept him on second if I had to do it again. I hate to take my own kids out of it."

DESPITE THE MISHAP, it was Canton's 13-team strike outs which paved the way for defeat. Dawson didn't receive any support from his teammates at the plate.

"What hurt us was not putting the ball in play," Crissey said referring to the numerous strike outs. "Dawson just pitched a super game.

"It's the first time we've been shut-out all year. I thought Luna pitched an intelligent game. He hit the corners and struck out Scott (Collins—Canton's

All-State shortstop) two times in crucial situations.

"My kids executed and we played well—and I think that team (Southwestern) will win the state. And we lost 1-0 on coaching."

Canton, which finished the season with a 26-5 overall record and its fourth consecutive Western Six League title, actually had more scoring chances than Southwestern.

Collins was stranded on second base after a two-out double in the first inning. Two plays earlier, lead off hitter Dave Weise was out at second base trying to advance after the catcher overthrew first base on a dropped strike three pitch.

Ray Smock was out at third base in the third inning, trying to advance two bases on Dave Meador's sacrifice bunt.

Canton also had runners on first and third with one out in the fourth inning, but the next two batters struck out to end the rally.

Rocks reap Sub-8 All-sports honors

In one of the most lopsided races of all time, Plymouth Salem's boys and girls teams easily won the Suburban Eight League All-sports trophy for the 1977-78 athletic school season.

Although the official totals have not yet been compiled, the Rocks clearly outdistanced their seven other opponents for honor.

After the winter season, the Salem boys had a wide seven-point margin over Edsel Ford and Trenton and a nine-point lead over Dearborn. (Points are awarded as follows: the league champion of each sport gets eight points, the second-place finishers gets seven, and so on).

The Rocks totaled 38 points after the winter season but add 7½ points for their tie with Bentley for the baseball crown, eight more for the tennis title, and six for their third-place finish in track.

The girls, likewise, were clear-cut victors, sitting in first place after the winter season thanks to Sub-8 victories in swimming and tennis, and second-place finished in both basketball and volleyball. The Rocks girls finished a poor sixth place in track but won the outright softball title for eight more points.

The Salem boys paced the field all year long with its outright victories in football and wrestling, and its first place tie in basketball with Bentley.

Eli heads to Superior State

Tom Ellinghausen, Plymouth Salem's second all-time leading basketball scorer and rebounder, has signed a letter of intent to play for Lake Superior State College in Sault Ste. Marie.

The 6-4 cager, who graduated last week, will receive a four-year athletic scholarship.

Ellinghausen recently completed his third year as a varsity cager in the Plymouth Salem program. The Rocks won or shared a Suburban Eight League title all three years that he competed in a Plymouth uniform.

An All-Observerland and All-Suburban Eight League first-team player for the past two seasons, Ellinghausen was the Rocks' leading scorer and rebounder in the 1976-77 and 1977-78 seasons. He gained All-State honors his senior year, placing on Detroit Free Press' fifth-team.

"I got a lot of interest from major colleges early in the season, but with my size (6-4) at forward, my choice became centered around smaller colleges," Ellinghausen said. "They (Superior) have a new facility up there and have a winning program.

"It's cold all over Michigan, so it'll be just a little colder up there."

Ellinghausen, who plans to study business, will play in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) which includes many schools around the state such as Ferris State, Wayne State, Oakland University, and Grand Valley State.

"This will give Tommy a chance to play around here and gain good experience around the state," said Salem coach Fred Thomann.

Ellinghausen is second only to his older brother Jim, as the Rocks' all-time leader scorer and rebounder. Jim is currently in his third year of a four-year scholarship at Ohio State University.

Both Ellinghausens played together in the 1975-76 season when Jim was a senior and Tom a sophomore.

The Ellinghausens reside at 43118 Avon in Canton.

Tom Ellinghausen will take his soft shooting touch to the Upper Peninsula where he will play for Lake Superior State University next winter. Ellinghausen is a three-year letter winner at Salem, and was an all-Observerland first-team selection the past two seasons. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Area stars face downriver foes

The third-annual Western Wayne All-Star baseball game will be played Wednesday at Ford Field in Livonia beginning at 7 p.m.

The Western Wayne All-Stars, comprised of 22 prep players who were recently selected at the All-Observer-area baseball meeting, will battle the Greater Downriver All-Stars in a nine-inning exhibition game.

The contest, sponsored by the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department, will include a Most Valuable Player trophy and medals for all the participants.

Bob Atkins, Redford Union's baseball coach who retires this spring after guiding the Panthers for 17 seasons, will coach the Observer All-Stars. Plymouth Canton's coach Fred Crissey and Livonia Franklin's mentor

Ron Hellier will assist Atkins.

This is the third time these two all-star teams have met and the second time the game has been played in this area.

Wednesday's battle will be the rubber game of the short series. Last season, the Observer stars blanked their downriver opponents, 5-0, in Wyandotte. The Downriver stars prevailed in 1976's contest 4-2.

The MVP trophy was donated by the Livonia recreation department. A panel of three recreation workers will select the MVP at game time.

The medals were donated by the Wonderland Shopping Center.

Ford Field is on Farmington Road, between Schoolcraft and Five Mile roads.

Canton's Freiman named to All-Western-6 squad

Plymouth Canton senior Judy Freiman, the Chiefs only four-year letter winner in softball, was recently selected to the first-team All-Western Six League squad.

The centerfielder was one of the top hitters for the Chiefs this season, batting in the clean-up position.

Freiman was the only Canton first-teamer on the all-league squad.

Despite the Chiefs advancement to the regional finals of the state tournament, they finished with a mere 3-7 record in Western-6 competition.

Canton creams Cabrini

Plymouth Canton's state-ranked baseball team warmed-up for its Class A state title drive with a 7-3 victory over St. Francis Cabrini Wednesday afternoon.

Cabrini, a Class C power, was scheduled to play for its state title this Saturday.

"We just hit the crap out of the ball," said Canton coach Fred Crissey, who added that his players were extremely loose for the game.

The Chiefs played nine innings with Cabrini, as their three star pitchers, Brian James, Scott Dawson, and Doug Smith, split the mound duties, hurling three innings each.

Canton, ranked second in the state, was scheduled to battle Flint Southwestern in the semifinals of the Class A single-elimination state tournament in Wyandotte last Saturday.

Rienas walks on Bronco grid camp

Randy Rienas will try for a spot on the Western Michigan University varsity football team this fall, as a walk-on.

The 6-3, 197-pound griddier, who recently graduated from Plymouth Canton High School, will join fellow Chief teammate, Mike Nyhus, who also plans to accept the university's offer of a tryout. Walk-on candidates who make the team usually get partial scholarships. Both players will room together.

Rienas, 18, was one of the bright spots in the Chiefs' 0-9 season this past fall. He played defensive safety and offensive split end at Canton.

He will attend tryouts on Aug. 15 with hopes of making the 47-member squad. He will try out at defensive back but hopes to join the split-end crew if he increases his speed.

"It's going to be tough, but I have super mental attitude now," Rienas said. "I'd like to show everybody I can make it."

"I've been working out everyday for the past three months."

Rienas was a basketball player and track participant at Canton, but said he would concentrate his efforts on the gridiron.

He said Bowling Green, Eastern Michigan University, and Albion College also showed interest before he decided on the Bronco school.

A 3.0 student at Canton, Rienas plans to study accounting and industrial relations.

Watt-Lindley reign; 4 women tied in golf

Bill Lindley and Bruce Watt swept all five points from second-place challengers Paul Oberhelman and Mike Mattingly to remain on top in the Canton Men's Golf League standings last week. Watt and Lindley once again both shot their best rounds of the season with scores of 45 and 46, respectively.

Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets also took five points from Glen Ponte and Don Ponte to move into second place. Tony Valenti shot the best round in league play this year as he came in with a 37. Oberhelman posted a 38 and Gordon Lapierre had a 40.

Silvia Dickinson, Lou Skotzke, Bev Green, and Pauline Pryor are all tied for first-place in a wild race for the top spot in the Canton Women's Golf League. Each woman currently has 19 points after four weeks of action.

Green shot the league's best round last week, when she posted a 49. Helen scored a personal best round of 59, and Betty McDougall showed the best improvement, slicing 33 strokes off her score since the start of the season.

Car Radios

If you're an average motorist, when your car radio begins acting up you probably either live with it or take it to be repaired. But sometimes one easy test can determine whether your radio or your antenna is at fault, and knowing this could save you money.

For example, if you cannot receive any station on the radio, but the radio makes a thumping in the loudspeaker as you turn it on, or a slight scratchy noise as you turn the volume control, there is probably a defective connection between the radio and the antenna. To make sure, pull the antenna cable plug from its jack, and insert a makeshift antenna, like a coat hanger. If your radio then picks up stations, even poorly, it's likely that your radio is okay and your antenna is at fault.

And for quick cash for those unexpected repair jobs, sell your usable unused items with

Redford firm uses sun's rays to heat water

Solar panels on roof are key to system

By SHERRY KAHAN

On a day when the temperature was in the upper 30s and the sky was heavily overcast, the heat of the water at Bergstrom Plumbing and Heating in Redford Township was warmer than warm, yet not quite up to the temperature comfortable for a shower.

Not exactly hot news, you say, unless you know that the water was entirely heated by the sun.

On the roof of the store are two eight-by-four-foot panels soaking up whatever heat the sun is willing to bestow on them. In Bergstrom's display room is a Solarcraft water heating tank which holds 120 gallons.

In energy circles these two are the hottest news item around.

They are there because of the philosophy of Dan Bergstrom, owner of the store, expressed in a sign on display. The words are those of educator James Bryant Conant, "Behold the turtle! He makes progress only when he sticks his neck out."

"Some people thought I might be a little premature, a bit eccentric, when I put in this solar system," smiled Bergstrom. "But the same people seem to be interested in how it's doing, whether it was easy to install, and if I've noticed any savings."

He feels solar energy holds great promise for the future, "but a few people will have to be willing to stick their necks out to get it off the ground."

THE WATER HEATER is built in the same familiar utilitarian way as an ordinary heater. But this one is smarter.

It can heat water through the cooperation of sun or it can tap into the electric current when the clouds interfere. At the present time the Bergstrom heater is operating solely solar.

Like the music in the old song, water goes round and round in this system to warm up the H<sub>2</sub>O that comes out the faucets.

Inside the tank are two areas that hold distilled water which never gets to see the light of day, circulating constantly, with time off only when night comes or the temperature drops.

This distilled water is pumped up to the solar panels on the roof and heated. Once hot, it returns to the tank to pass on the heat to the water used in the store.

Special thermostats and temperature sensors automatically control the movement of the solar heating fluid. The system is so sensitive that it calls its traveling distilled water back to rest in the water tank when the sun goes to bed or dropping winter temperatures present a chance of freezing.

ACCORDING TO GARY SMITH, a licensed master plumber who is service manager at Bergstrom's, the winter sun will push the water temperature up to 140 degrees, more than is needed for a hot shower.

"But then if the sun is covered by clouds, it will take three or four days for the water in the tank to drop 20 degrees," he said. "The tank is very well insulated."

He added that energy needed to circulate the water in the system is about equal to that used by a 50-watt bulb.

"The system is doing about what I expected it to do when I decided to install it," observed Bergstrom. "We put it in to find out what we could do about solar heating, and to encourage people to come in and take a look at it."

However, he is thinking of moving the system to his home so he can test it under residential conditions. He believes home use might require one more panel on the roof.

The system costs from $1,000-$2,000, depending on the size of the water tank. Bergstrom anticipates that the price will drop once systems are mass produced. He estimated the savings from the use of the system would pay back its cost in about nine years.

However, this estimate doesn't include installation costs, which he figures at from $500-$1,000, depending on the structure.

"I EXPECT THAT between 1980-85 you will see many solar heaters in residential use," Bergstrom said. "The key is to get government support in the form of research money and tax credits."

He, of course, supports legislation both pending and passed that would help move the country toward wider use of the sun's rays.

For example, Michigan residents can write to the Department of the Treasury, State Tax Commission, Lansing, to ask for an application for property tax exemption based on the installation of solar, wind or water energy devices.

If a homeowner spent $2,000 on solar devices, that amount would not be added to the value of the property as long as it is there.

If one of the devices is included in a new home, it would also not be included in the value of the property as far as taxes are concerned. But only the additional cost of the devices over and above the cost of usual heating devices would be exempt.

According to James Massa of the State Tax Commission, only about 25 applications have been requested statewide for this tax exemption.

The state legislature is also considering legislation that would provide state income tax credits of 40 per cent against the cost of installing alternative energy devices.

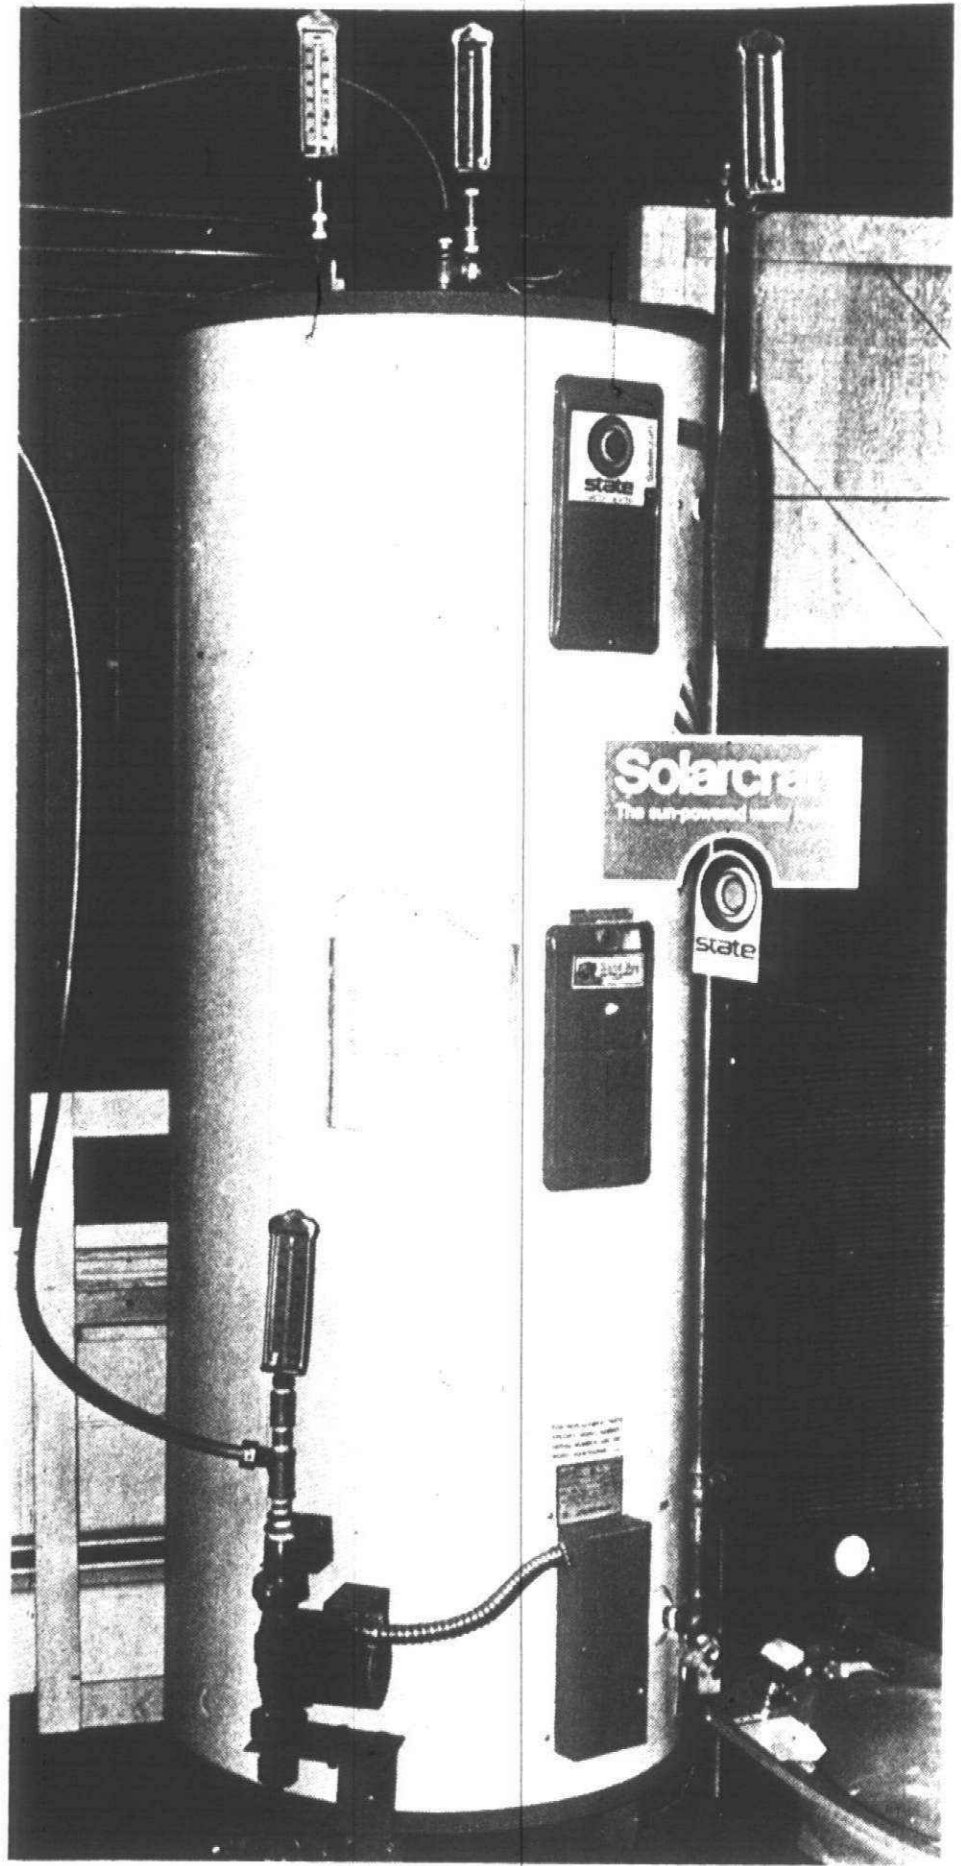

The percentage would be less in subsequent years, with the credit expiring in 1983.

STATISTICS INDICATE that today solar energy is a $150-million business which is growing hotter all the time, with solar water heaters leading the way as the most popular item. Some have estimated that it could be a $10 billion business within 10 years.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development states that there are more than 600 new firms dealing in some aspect of solar energy. It adds that about 30,000 homes in this country are fitted with solar hot water systems, compared to more than two million in Japan.

Those interested in adding to their knowledge of solar energy might find informative a booklet published by the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration. It describes different types of solar heating and tells how to find someone to design and install a solar heating or hot water system.

For a free copy of the booklet, "Solar Energy and Your Home," write to the center, Dept. 604F, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

This may look like an ordinary water heater, but it's not. This one can heat water by solar energy, or switch to electricity when the sun disappears behind the clouds. (Staff photo)

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

Investor interest has returned to the airline stocks with gusto. They have all enjoyed increasing prices, on expanded volume of trading for the past several weeks.

Strenuous competition between the carriers for the public's business has had a positive effect on the entire industry. Scheduled airline traffic increased by 14 per cent for the first four months of 1978 compared to the same period a year ago.

Packaged tours also continue to attract increasing interest.

While the cost of almost everything continues to rise, air fares are an exception. They have been reduced considerably over the recent past.

THE DEVELOPMENT of the jet engine made it possible to build larger and larger airplanes capable of carrying more and more people and cargo. However, the industry was having trouble filling the planes to profitable levels because customers balked at the high cost of flying, compared to other modes of travel.

This condition was not entirely the fault of the airlines.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, the agency that governs the route and fare structure of the nation's airlines, maintained a rigid attitude toward competition.

The board wanted to prevent the route structure from becoming a maze of confusion and duplication as the railroads became without any central planning in their early stage of development.

While the CAB has maintained a stern attitude toward the route structure, allowing duplication only where it is practical, it has relaxed its control over fares by encouraging competition.

For example, in March 1978 the CAB approved the extension of Super Saver fares to all domestic routes. The fare offers 30-to-40-per cent discounts, depending on the day of travel, with several restrictions.

THE AIRLINE INDUSTRY suffered a serious depression in the years 1973 through 1975. Most of the carriers either lost money or made very little during those years.

The stocks dropped severely from their earlier highs, made in the late 1960s. The lows were reached in the fourth quarter of 1974. These figures show the severity of the declines:

American Airlines dropped from 50 to 5, Delta from 68 to 26, Eastern from 60 to 4, Northwest from 65 to 11, TWA from 100 to 5, and United from 85 to 13.

Currently, American has recovered to 13, Delta to 49, Eastern to 12, Northwest to 32, TWA to 22, and United to 31.

AIRLINE STOCKS are extremely volatile and involve a high degree of risk because the companies are highly leveraged.

This means that they have a high debt to equity ratio, and that they must generate a considerable amount of income just to cover their fixed costs.

Modern jet planes are very expensive pieces of machinery. They represent huge investments. Most of them have been acquired by the airlines through borrowed money. The interest expense on this debt represents the larger portion of airlines' fixed costs.

Once fixed costs are covered, however, the additional revenues translate to a high profit margin.

It doesn't cost much more to fly a fully loaded plane than it does to fly one that is only half full. Operating expenses increase only slightly with an added load.

While many investors are speculating that the improved atmosphere enveloping the airline industry will jet their stocks to higher levels, the consumer is already a winner. Airline travel is now within the reach of most budgets.

'Second Injury Certification' explained

Clarifying information pertaining to Michigan's "second injury certification" legislation has been issued by the Department of Education's Bureau of Rehabilitation.

The department's statement read in full:

"If you are a person who has disabilities, epilepsy, a cardiac or back problem, you may qualify for a Second Injury Certification. This certification can reduce an employer's liability in the case of injury to an employee who has one of the disabilities listed above.

"Second Injury Certification benefits both employers and employees.

Employers are often reluctant to hire persons with diabetes, epilepsy, a cardiac or a back problem because of the possibility of an on-the-job injury.

"With a Second Injury Certification, an employee can be hired and if the person remains off work for over two years, the State of Michigan picks up the workers' compensation costs.

"Of the more than 7,000 Second Injury Certifications issued to employers since the law went into effect July 1, 1972, through Dec. 31, 1977 only 33 claims have resulted.

"THE LIVONIA DISTRICT office of the Bureau of Rehabilitation, which covers the cities and townships of Livonia, Redford, Plymouth, Canton, Northville, and parts of Westland, has

Perry expands to 54 units as earnings soar

Perry Drug Stores, Inc., a Pontiac-based chain which owns and operates 54 stores in 39 Michigan communities, has opened its second Livonia outlet with ceremonies involving corporate and municipal officials. The store is at 3345 Seven Mile.

Also, in a recent financial announcement, Perry chairman and president Jack A. Robinson revealed record operating results for the 12th consecutive quarter.

Earnings for the second quarter were a record $395,484, or 33 cents per share, up 19 per cent from $331,372, or 28 cents per share earned in the same period a year ago.

Frank J. Wright has been appointed director of national account sales for the Wolverine Moving & Storage Co., which has its headquarters in Livonia. A Farmington resident, Wright has been in transportation sales with railroad, air line and motor carriers in the Detroit market for 18 years. Wolverine is one of the top 20 agents worldwide for Allied Van Lines.

David Marsee, a Plymouth Township resident formerly of Livonia, has been appointed general manager of engineering and production manufacturing of the MRL Engineering Division of Galaxy Boring Co., Plymouth. Marsee holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Michigan University. He previously was involved in car engineering, planning and control with the Ford Motor Co.

GARY R. SCHOETTLEY

H. GREGORY WOLD

Greg Wold is named Sheldon plant manager

The Ford Motor Co. has announced appointment of H. Gregory Wold as manager of its Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth. He succeeds Gary R. Schoettley who has taken over as manager of Ford's facility at Ypsilanti.

Wold previously was plant manager at Green Island, N.Y. and joined the Ford organization in 1964 as planning analyst and chief analyst for custom car planning in the Ford Division. Later he headed the custom car forward program analysis section.

After serving as Mustang and Torino planning manager for the Product Development Group from 1967 until late 1969, Wold held management positions in the former Industrial and Chemical Division.

In 1972, Wold was appointed executive assistant in the North American Automotive Operations Manufacturing Group, and a year later became product and forward model control manager in the former General Parts Division.

He was production manager and manufacturing engineering manager at the Sheldon Road plant from 1974 to 1976, when he was transferred to Green Island.

Wold is a graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point where he gained a degree in science and engineering. He is married and has four children and recently bought a home in Plymouth.

The Plymouth plant is a facility in Ford's Climate Control Division.

In transferring to Ypsilanti, Schoettley returns to the plant where he began his Ford career in 1962 as a production trainee foreman.

He advanced to the position of production manager in 1967 and in 1971 was named advanced manufacturing engineering and development manager of the former General Parts Division. Later he served in the Rawsonville and Sandusky plants before being appointed manager at Plymouth in 1975.

Schoettley studied architecture at the University of Michigan and holds a business administration degree from Wayne State University.

Board can't delay on filling vacancy

The seven remaining Schoolcraft College trustees will have to appoint a replacement when Ron Cowden resigns in August, even though the board shrink from eight persons to seven in 1979 under a new state law.

Legal opinions from the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone told the board it had a duty to appoint a replacement promptly. The board had considered not replacing Cowden in order to bring its size to seven members a year early.

Cowden, a second-term trustee from Livonia, will leave to become principal of Manistee High School on the west side of the state. His resignation will take effect "when I give up my home," he said last week.

Fee hike seen for S'craft students

By TIM RICHARD
There will be no property tax increase and no tuition increase for Schoolcraft College.
But students are likely to pay a set of "registration fee" increases when they enroll in August for the fall semester.
Trustee Mark McQuesten lodged a vigorous dissent when the administration Wednesday said it was considering registration fees of $5 per credit hour per credit courses and $3 per hour for community service courses for the fall and winter semesters.
The fees would be $2.50 and $1.50 respectively for the shorter spring and summer semesters.

EDWARD McNALLY, vice-president for student affairs, said the fees are justified because "an additional burden has been placed on the staff and registration costs have risen" with the increasingly popular mail-in registration system.

President C. Nelson Grote said neighboring colleges are levying even higher fees.

McQuesten, however, called it the equivalent of a tuition increase. "It's a cost, and what you're saying is, 'Let's throw it at the students.'"

No one else on the eight-member board objected.

The administration has authority to levy the fees without board approval and presented the proposal as a matter of courtesy.

The fee increase would double the amount of revenue Schoolcraft receives from that source—from $95,000 annually to about $195,000.

Other fees are for laboratory use, commencement, transcripts, applications, physical education and music and would be unchanged.

THE FEE HIKE was the only major percentage increase in the $11.2 million budget proposed to the board by Dr. Grote and Kenneth Lindner, vice-president for business.

Lindner said the new budget is up 7.8 per cent and projects a "modest" credit hour growth of one per cent.

Trustees will take up the budget in a June 21 meeting and conduct a public hearing, as required by the state constitution, at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 28.

Percentagewise, the budget would earmark 56 per cent for instruction ($6.3 million), up from the current year's 54.4 per cent.

Lindner said the budget will provide for salary increases being negotiated with the secretaries union and for three new fulltime instructors—in math, child care and apprenticeship. It will also provide for $175,000 in maintenance and $200,000 for equipment.

But the budget cannot "continue to support a 10-sport athletic program; hire five fulltime instructors requested in mathematics, music, business, technical and library; provide all of the technicians requested in instruction; and fund completely all our equipment replacement requests."

THE FACULTY Forum, bargaining agent for instructors, asked a reversal of what it saw as a trend starting in 1972 toward reducing the portion of the budget going toward instruction.

"Instructional money has continually declined to a low of 46.4 per cent of the general fund in 1976-7," said William Nickels, Forum president.

"That is a low of 10 per cent in four years. While enrollments and costs have increased, instructional supply budgets have barely held their own, and faculty salaries have lost nine per cent of the budget."

This brought a 17-point retort by President Grote, who said the Forum used a "very narrow definition of faculty and a very broad definition of administration" when calculating costs.

Grote said the Forum lumped counselors and librarians, which the Forum represents, with administration in concluding that the faculty's share of the budget has failed to keep pace.

Among reasons for changes in the non-instruction share of the budget, he said, are: Utility costs are up disproportionately; insurance has risen greatly; community services and continuing education part of Schoolcraft's program; and the college's program at the Detroit House of Correction, which is reimbursed by the state, has come into the budget.

Meanwhile, Grote said, the college has had to budget funds for new facilities such as the new Applied Sciences Building, the Liberal Arts addition, the outdoor physical education area, 30 more acres of vacant land which requires mowing, child care center costs, and a senior adult center.

Moreover, he added, there have been disproportionately increased costs for worker's compensation, unemployment compensation, and social security along with full funding of teachers' retirement.

In addition, as the college has aged, funds must be set aside for maintenance and equipment. Grote said the Forum also failed to consider that the computer center, which is charged entirely to the business office, but is used for instruction. Accounting procedures, Grote said, aren't sophisticated enough to charge a portion of the costs to instruction.

"Instruction is our first priority... whether that's understood or appreciated by the faculty," he said.

EMU courses offered here

Reading problems of the disadvantaged and the middle school curriculum are topics covered by two courses offered this summer by Eastern Michigan University (EMU) at Plymouth Canton High School.

The courses, "The Junior High-Middle School Curriculum" and "Reading Problems of the Disadvantaged" are part of an expanded program offered by the EMU Division of Continuing Education.

Eastern's summer term begins Monday, June 26. Both of the graduate level courses are offered by EMU's department of curriculum and instruction.

"Reading Problems of the Disadvantaged" will meet from 7-9:30 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays. The course can be taken for two semester hours of graduate credit and will focus on methods, techniques and materials which have proven effective in teaching reading to the disadvantaged.

The second course will study the philosophy of the junior high and middle school curriculum with special emphasis on provision for individual differences, modern classroom procedures and the use of instruction aids. The course also will feature activity programs and guidance.

Two semester hours of graduate credit may be earned. The course will meet at 9 a.m. from Aug. 7-18.

For further information on either class, or for a complete schedule of summer courses offered by the EMU Division of Continuing Education, call 487-0407. Registrations will be accepted at the first class session.

Coping with parents session begins July 5

A seminar on how to cope with older parents is being offered again, beginning July 5, by the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA.

Coping with Older Parents Effectively is one of the programs for senior citizens offered this summer by the YMCA under the direction of Jean Campau, senior citizens coordinator.

The four weekly sessions will be held from 1-3 p.m. Wednesdays, July 5-26, in the basement of the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, 500 S. Harvey.

Among the topics to be explored are: What physical and mental changes are normal in old age; how to deal effectively with role reversal; how to cope with your tension or guilt in dealing with this parent; and what community resources are available.

Films, speakers, trained counselors and peer counselors are used. The fee is $10 for YMCA members and $12 for non-members.

Persons should register for the seminar before July 5 by calling the Y at 453-2904.

AMONG THE ACTIVITIES available for senior citizens this summer through the YMCA are shuffle board club, folk dance, and swimming.

The senior citizen shuffle board club for persons 55 and older meets for 10 weeks, June 19 to Aug. 25, at the Plymouth Township Park.

Participants may bring their own discs and cues if they wish. Three courts will be used and four people will be assigned to each court. Winner must take two of three games.

The club will meet at the park from 10 a.m. to noon Mondays, Wednesdays and/or Fridays. The club is free for YMCA members and $2 for non-members.

The senior citizen folk dance activity meets the first Monday of the month in the credit union from 1-3 p.m. Ann Fowler is instructor and the fee is 25 cents each time. Call the Y to register prior to each class.

Senior citizen swimming is available for six weeks, beginning June 21, on Wednesdays in the Central Middle Pool. Bring a bathing suit, cap and towel. Fee is $10 for members and $15 for non-members.

Senior citizens may bring the YMCA at a reduced membership rate of $2 a year. Regular membership rates are $10 for an individual and $15 for a family membership.

Non-members living in Plymouth and Plymouth Township can deduct $1 from the non-member fee on all classes because the YMCA is funded in part by the Plymouth Community Fund.

We'll be open June 19

White. Because we're old fashioned enough to believe cleanliness is most important where food is served. Sure, white is hard to keep clean. But when it's clean, you know it's clean.

Castle. Because nothing better represents strength and stability. Just what White Castle has demonstrated for over fifty years. We've been Hamburger specialists since 1921.

Our Hamburgers are special, too. Pure all-beef patties cooked, but not fried. Square, so there's no wasted griddle space (helps keep the cost low to you). Even our buns are unique. They match the meat.

WE WERE JUST getting around to organizing an office pool on the time of arrival of Pat and Pam Touhey's twins when Pat called from the hospital.

The identical twin sons, Sean and Justin, had been born at 8:57 and 9:02 a.m. Sean, the firstborn, weighed 6 pounds, 15 ounces, and Justin weighed 7 pounds, 15 ounces.

"That's 14 pounds, 14 ounces of babies," we marveled after everyone had offered congratulations and hung up the phones.

Awaiting the twins had been a way of life for months. There had been long discussions about whether or not they would be identical, boys, girls, or one of each.

Our back conference room has been smelling like babies for weeks. The closet contains two stacks of boxes of newborn disposable diapers and the sweet scent of baby powder permeates the air. These were part of the loot from a Press Club baby shower for Pat in (of all places for a baby shower) the Box Bar.

The five persons in the baby pool pocketed their dollar bills after Pat's call. We had allowed a six-hour time

Bridget Lucas picked 3-9 p.m. June 17, and I picked 3-9 a.m., June 14. They were born June 13. "Just in time for Father's Day," said Pat.

DR. JAMES HOUK has a new position. He is head of the physiology department in Northwestern University's School of Medicine.

Before assuming his duties at Northwestern, he was an associate professor at Johns Hopkins and before that, an assistant professor at Harvard Medical School.

Jim is a 1956 graduate of Plymouth High School. He is married and has three children. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Houk of Maple Street, Plymouth.

JUST TO KEEP the record straight, Detroit librarians were not responsible for tracking down the quote, "When the going gets tough, the tough get going."

It was Judy Gallo, librarian at West Middle School, who first found the correct attribution. Virginia Myrtle, librarian at Starkweather, was the one who called J.P. McCarthy the morning after an end-of-the-season meeting at Bee Green's house.

Detroit librarians had nothing to do with it.

KAREN RUCHONEN of 4442 Albert, Plymouth, will attend the 58th international convention of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Nashville, Tenn. June 22 to 26.

Karen is a member of the sorority's collegiate chapter at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Founded in 1874 at Syracuse University, Gamma Phi Beta today has more than 70,000 members from 109 collegiate chapters and more than 200 alumnae groups in the United States and Canada.

LAKE POINTE branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association members have good reason for their smiles.

The Michigan Division of the association named them award winners at the annual meeting and awards luncheon at the Michigan Education Conference Center at St. Mary's Lake, Battle Creek.

They received first place in Education, Conservation and Horticulture, and second place in the Rural Urban category.

One of their members, Gerry McCrumb, was elected state recording secretary.

Congratulations, ladies.

TEACHERS AT East Middle School insist their PTSO has got to be exceptional.

The staff was truly appreciative of the luncheon provided by the parents Wednesday, the last day of school for the students. In fact, the staff was quite ecstatic. Nothing like this had ever happened before.

They had special thanks for Camille VanKirk, Janet McMurray, Esther Nelson, Judith Dickinson, Carol Arvin and all the others who contributed.

"There were casseroles, ham, cheeses, breads and a dozen desserts which made it hard to choose and easy to over-eat," said one of the teachers. "They brought along everything, including the paper plates. It created a warmth between teachers and parents that has been missing for a long time."

Graduating eighth graders are leaving East with fond memories of their trip to Bob-Lo and their Saturday night party at the school with a live band and good food.

Lynn Johnson, activities director, arranged the party. Bill Heath was responsible for seeing that 158 eighth graders made the trip to and from Bob-Lo without a single casualty.

Picnic on manse lawn end of era

It may have been the last Women's Association picnic on the manse lawn. The need for more parking at First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth had dictated the end of an era.

The lawns and the manse itself will have to go. The Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee said, "We are going to preserve every tree, shrub and lilac bush we possibly can. And we'll still have the south lawn." The session decided that the manse will go to whoever wants to undertake the chore of moving it to a new site.

The house was moved once before. It used to be on Main Street. The Magees lived there for a month or so when they first came to Plymouth. Former residents were the Rev. and Mrs. Henry Walch who lived there for 28 years.

The ladies' picnic last week on the lawn was in the finest tradition. The food was a glorious medley of homemade masterpieces. The sun shone brightly and a boundary of high old shrubbery protected them from the brisk wind.

Nursery schools, day care centers listed

With fall less than three months away, parents had better get busy if they want their children to attend a pre-school as a September student.

Available to the post-diaper set are cooperative nursery schools, non-profit institutions maintained by churches, and schools run for profit designed to provide day care for the working mom.

The following list includes the other kinds:

GARDEN CITY

Good Hope Nursery, Good Hope Lutheran Church, 28680 Cherry Hill. There are four different sessions with children attending two mornings or afternoons a week. GA7-3660.

Children's World, 6585 Middlebelt. Hours are from 6:45 a.m. to 6 p.m.; 427-9450.

St. David Nursery in St. David Episcopal Church, 27500 Marquette; 425-0118.

LIVONIA

Livonia Child Care Center, 34500 Pine Tree; open from 6:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; GA1-0440.

Livonia Little Tots Nursery has two schools. One is in Grand River Baptist Church, 34500 Six Mile (421-0321). The other is at 15115 Farmington next to the Livonia Board of Education (GA7-0400). Toddlers 14 months to two years of age can attend school in the church, where there is also a pre-school and a kindergarten. The Farmington location has a nursery school and day care. Hours of both are 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Livonia Montessori School, 27475 Five Mile, half-day sessions morning or afternoons as well as full-day sessions; 427-8255.

Loveland Children's Nursery, run by Livonia Assembly of God Church, 33015 Seven Mile; 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.; 474-0001.

Maria Nursery, 36800 Schoolcraft, run by the Felician Sisters in their motherhouse; half-day classes every weekday morning and afternoon for those who are three or four by Dec. 1; 591-1599.

Montessori Center of Our Lady, also a Felician Sisters project, for children 2½ to six with morning and afternoon classes. 591-1599.

New School Children's Center of Livonia, 9300 Farmington; 6:15 a.m. to 6 p.m. 261-5031.

Riverside Children's Center, 36075 Seven Mile; 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. 476-2070.

Mother Hubbard Nursery, in St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard; 9:15-11:30 a.m. four-year-olds on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and three-year-olds on Tuesday and Thursday. 421-8451.

Theatre guild swings into 30th season

The Plymouth Theatre Guild, one of the oldest community theatre groups in the state, will swing into its 30th season with a musical, "Cheaper by the Dozen."

Applications are being accepted for director and producer for the fall production. Applications should be directed to: The Plymouth Theatre Guild, P.O. Box 451, Plymouth, 48170.

The 1978-79 season will include the drama, "The Lion in Winter," and comedy, "Play it Again, Sam."

The guild is rehearsing its second dinner-theatre performance, "The Owl and the Pussycat" will open July 30 in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Members of the board of directors are Patricia M. Gray, president; Dale Feldpausch, vice president; Richard E. Brown, treasurer; Thomas Hinks, corresponding secretary; Patricia Troth, recording secretary; Vi Roberts, publicity; Clemmie Cyburt, membership; Allan Eddy, script and Barbara Weber, house.

The guild is designing its float for Plymouth's July 4 parade. Members live in Plymouth, Canton, and the surrounding communities. Persons interested in joining the guild can call 349-4136. There is an opportunity for all facets of theater production.

Oak tree is gift of students

When the last piece of earth was stomped into place, they all applauded.

"That's the first time I've been given a cheer for planting a tree," smiled the gentleman from the nursery.

The audience was made up of the SHARE classes at West Middle School and their oak tree had just been planted. It was a gift to the school and they had sold a lot of pop corn and ice cream to pay their share of the cost.

Jack McCallum, who lives on Ann Arbor Trail, had made a deal with the SHARE students.

If they raised $100, he would match the amount. "It's six inches in diameter," said one of the teachers. "It must be a $400 or $500 tree."

After three years, SHARE was closing up shop. The school within a school had been an alternative for sixth, seventh and eighth graders.

It involved five classes of 150 students. There were integrated studies through the cooperation of five teachers: Dolly McMaster, Ruth Burr, Tom Williams, Linda Gratsch and Jim Szczechowski.

THEY LEARNED about campaigning and leadership when they had their own elections last fall.

Governor Julie Swain and Lt. Governor Lisa Pappas gained the poise of their offices as they were called on to explain the SHARE program to visiting educators. It was all part of their government classes.

"The kids have been special," said Ms. Gratsch. "The program has been successful but we just want to try something else next year."

Parents and alumnae of the SHARE program met at the school for a final get-together Friday night. There were games, volleyball, square dancing and the dedication of the oak tree.

The teachers were amused and pleased the day after the tree was planted. Sitting in the shade of their tree was a group of SHARE students reading their books.

Delta Gamma plans convention

More than 700 women from the United States and Canada will attend the national convention of the Delta Gamma sorority to be held June 26-29 at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn.

Dorothy Wood Felton, a representative to the Georgia General Assembly and Delta Gamma, will be the keynote speaker for the 1978 gathering. The third woman to sit in the Georgia legislature, she was voted one of the outstanding women in 1976.

Ted Lennox will address members at the Delta Gamma banquet Wednesday, June 28. Although blind from birth, Lennox was able to graduate from Michigan State University with the aid of Delta Gamma students who read class assignments to him. A teacher of blind students for 20 years in Lincoln Park schools, he will speak about the education and training of visually impaired children and adults.

Delta Gamma sorority was founded at Oxford, Miss. in 1873. With 100 collegiate chapters in North America, it has more than 90,000 members.

At the 1936 Delta Gamma convention, sight conservation and aid to the blind were officially designated as the organization's national philanthropic projects. Delta Gamma has raised and donated more than $8,000,000 and 100,000 hours of service annually.

The Blind Children's Center in Los Angeles was started by Delta Gamma on October 3, 1938. The center is the largest and oldest locally sponsored institution for the blind.

Pre-school vision testing is the major local foundation project. Each year, during May and June, Birmingham sorority members screen pre-school children at the Oakland County health department, on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. The organization estimates that 2,500 children are screened annually for amblyopia (lazy eye blindness) and other vision problems.

Since 1966, the national organization has raised money solely through the sale of Delta Gamma cookbooks.

Local organizations also sponsor fund raising projects, such as selling pecans in December.

They're tops in symphony bridge group

The Plymouth Symphony League's bridge group completed another season and cash prizes were awarded the winners.

Top scorers were announced at the league's annual spring luncheon.

Florence Von Glahn was first and Myrtle Rogers was second in the singles. Daytime doubles winners were: Group I, Betty Laird and Corita Rick; Group II, Dorothy Becker and Dodie Kennedy; Group III, Martha Bentley and Barbara King.

Betty McCully and Frankie LaMirand had high scores in the evening doubles. There were three groups of evening mixed doubles. Winners were Don and Cora Davies, Ken and Esther Hulsing, and Charles and Fran Lang.

Register now for league bowling

Women interested in joining the Plymouth Symphony League's bowling league can register now for the fall season.

Mima Rothermel, league president, says the league bowls at 12:45 p.m. each Thursday in Plaza Lanes, Plymouth Township. Call 349-6313 for registration or more information.

Winners of the 1977-78 season have been announced and cash prizes awarded. First place team was Rose Furioso, Dolores Canever, Pat McLarty and Karen Kivisto.

High game of 219 was bowled by Mima Rothermel. Karen Kivisto was high series winner with 521.

New Voices

WCCC offers courses on TV

An opportunity to earn transferable undergraduate college credits at home is being offered by Wayne County Community College in conjunction with WTVS-TV (Channel 56).

"Ethnic Minorities," a three-credit hour course, is available to anyone with access to a television set. The sociology course consists of three discussion sessions that will be tied to the content of the 55-program television series, "Ethnic America."

The television programs will begin Saturday, June 24 and will run through Sept. 1. The programs will be telecast Monday through Friday mornings from 7-7:30 a.m. and on Saturday afternoons from 3-4 p.m. In addition, five one-hour specials will be aired on dates to be announced.

Summer in Finland for June graduate

Linda Vincent, a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School will spend the summer in Ristiina, Finland as a Youth for Understanding exchange student.

The family with whom she will be living in Finland has two daughters.

Ristiina is a community of 6,000 persons near the largest lake in Finland. Weekends are spent at the family's nearby summer cottage.

Linda knows her Finnish family's pets include a dog, a horse and two parrots.

She will travel to Leningrad, Russia, in July with other American students living in Finland. They will spend four days in Russia.

While in high school, Linda was a member of the National Honor Society, the marching band and the forensics team. She was manager of the girls track team. She plans to attend Schoolcraft College in the fall.

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Vincent of Crabtree Court, Plymouth.

Artist's picnic

Three Cities Art Club members had their annual picnic last week at the home of Lorene Vives in Canton Township. After a buffet supper on the patio, there was a brief business meeting. Betty Manthey organized the games and awarded the slightly jaded prizes. (Above) Audrey Paul and Mrs. Vives set out the iced tea. Cuyler McCutcheon (above left) and Ellen McKenny (left) were involved in the relay races. (Staff photos)

THE SPINAL COLUMN

Questions & Answers

What conditions to people go to Chiropractors for?
Since the brain and spinal cord and the nerves of your body control all normal functions of the body people see Chiropractors for conditions of the back and spine, headaches, Diabetes, allergies, Arthritis and many others.

Do older persons benefit from Chiropractic?
No doubt about it! Senior citizens respond exceptionally well to chiropractic care. They are especially grateful now that chiropractic is covered by Medicare.

Do children respond to Chiropractic?
Children usually respond to chiropractic adjustments more readily than adults. Their little bodies are growing, the tissues are rapidly developing and can be changed from a state of sickness to a state of health quite easily.

Can Chiropractic help my condition?
Yes, the power that created the body can heal the body. If the body is free from nerve impingement and there is an uninterrupted flow of nerve energy from the brain cell to the tissue cell, a state of normal health can exist. Sickness begins when there are spinal displacements, impinging nerves and interfering with the normal nerve energy flow from brain cell to tissue cell. Chiropractors locate and correct the spinal cause of nerve interference. The body has a tremendous capacity for healing and remaining healthy once nerve channels are free.

Are Chiropractic adjustments painful?
NO. Gentle spinal adjustments are painless. Chiropractors are specially trained to locate and correct displacement in the vertebrae with little or no discomfort. After spinal displacements are corrected the body will feel more active, giving you that healthy, happy feeling.

What to do When a Death Occurs Out-of-town?

If you're ever involved in arranging for a funeral for someone who dies out of town, you should contact us or another local funeral director who will then make arrangements with a highly qualified mortician wherever the death occurred. (We have hundreds of personal contacts all over the country through our membership in National Selected Morticians.)

We'll take the necessary steps to prepare the body for immediate transportation back home. We will confer at long distance with you or other family members locally to plan for local funeral services. It is important, though, for you to remember to call us or another local funeral home FIRST. Especially under these circumstances, you need to avoid duplication of effort and fees.

If you wish further details on out-of-town arrangements, please contact us.

140 enter SC tennis tournament

More than 140 people competed in the fourth annual Schoolcraft College Tennis Tournament last weekend, which saw two of last year's winners repeat as champions.

There were four areas of competition—men's singles, men's doubles, women's singles, women's doubles. Eighty-four men competed in the singles round, while 58 competed in the doubles.

Women's singles tallied 13 competitors, while the doubles had 13 teams or 26 netters.

Larry Stark, from Southfield, won the men's singles repeating from last year. Stark blasted Mark Walker, from Port Huron, in the finals, 6-2 and 6-2.

In the semifinals, Stark knocked off Steve Storey, also from Port Huron, 6-1 and 6-4. Walker reached the championship round by beating Dave Mossian from Trenton, 6-3 and 6-1.

Jim Domke and Ed Wright, both Dearborn residents, teamed to win the doubles round, defeating Storey and Walker, 6-4, 6-7, and 7-6. Domke was on the two-some that won the doubles title last year.

Domke and Wright advanced to the finals by beating Pat Page, from Livonia, and Mossian in straight sets, 6-3 and 6-4. Storey and Walker defeated John and Ron Pinak, from Redford, in their semifinal match, 6-3 and 6-4.

Peggy Morgan, from Livonia, won the women's singles competition by defeating Gen Baydarian, from Westland, in the championship match, 2-6, 6-4 and 7-6.

Morgan slipped by Alecia Gabrys, also a Westland resident, in the semifinals, 6-4 and 7-6, while Baydarian defeated Sunny Buttes, from Detroit, in straight sets, 6-4 and 7-6.

Diane Selke and Judy Kesler, also Detroit residents, reaped the women's doubles title by beating Kathy Miescel, from Farmington, and Donny Boshoven, from Northville, 6-2, 4-6, and 7-6.

Selke and Kesler beat the two-some of Terry Keros, from Northville and Ellie Neidick, from Novi, in the semifinals, 6-1 and 6-2, while Miescel and Boshoven advanced to the finals by knocking off Laura Hastings and Beth Redmond, both from Plymouth.

Hastings and Redmond were forced to forfeit the contest due to an injury to Hastings. One set had been completed, which Hastings and Redmond won 5-2.

Resident honored

William F. Hogg Jr. of Dobbin Lane, Plymouth, has been selected for inclusion in the 1978 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

The edition is published to honor young men working to make their cities and country better places in which to live.
