Was JC Fair fair to all candidates?

By CRAIG PIECHURA

Politics often is called a carnival. But last week a carnival was accused of taking on political overtones.

The Fifth Annual Canton Jaycee Fair came under fire last week from three township trustee candidates who claimed they were snubbed by the Canton Jaycees July 8 at an informal "Meet the Candidates" forum held at the fair.

Canton trustee candidates Carol Bodenmiller, Larry Bowerman and Gary Roberts all criticized the club for not notifying them by letter that an hour had been set aside at the fair for citizens to meet and hear candidates for township offices, as well as candidates for county commission and district court.

Other township candidates were sent written invitations.

I think the Jaycees have taken a political position by snubbing some of us candidates," said Bowerman, who, like Bodenmiller and Roberts, is making his first bid for public office.

"The only way I heard about it (the candidates' hour) was that I saw a schedule of events for the fair. Nobody ever said a thing to me about it."

Mrs. Bodenmiller and Roberts made similiar statements about what they perceive to be a "snub."Roberts said he was asked to join the Jaycees but will refuse to do so unless he gets a public apology from the organization.

Jaycee President Fred Berger said that candidates who filed for office just before the June 6 filing deadline were not sent a written invitation to the meet-the-candidates hour.

While this is true of Bowerman and Bodenmiller, Roberts announced his candidacy in early May.

"If it only happened to me I might have believed it was a mistake," said Bodenmiller. "But it happened to three of us who are not on the Stein Slate. I know (supervisor Harold) Stein is an ex-Jaycee and (Frank) McMurray is active in the Jaycees. They were all there."

Bodenmiller did attend the political function at the fair but she claims it was no thanks to the Canton Jaycees.

Jaycee spokesmen said they were "red-faced" about the foul-up in notifying all township candidates but added that anyone who showed up without being notified was welcome to speak or rent a booth in the political tent.

"We went with what we had," said JC President Berger. "We had to get the letter out before the deadline for registering for office. Around the first part of June some of the new candidates called us and asked the same question you're asking. 'Why wasn't I invited?' We said, 'We're sorry we missed you and you are welcome to attend.'

"We flatly screwed up and we apologize for it," Berger added. We were doing this strictly as a community service. It's unfortunate that Canton is a political maze, as it were. And no matter what we do it seems we step on somebody's toes because they're not in someone's favor or vice versa."

Two of the candidates who appeared at the candidates' hour forum—treasurer candidate Maria Falkiewicz and trustee candidate Robert Greenstein—spoke highly of the treatment they received from the Jaycees at the fair.

"There was absolutely no political favoritism," Greenstein said. "My only complaint was it was too damn hot and that sure as hell wasn't the Jaycees' fault. They were just being straight and fair with everyone involved. The forum was no big thing.

"I think it was kind of the Jaycees to introduce us and the emcee made every effort to announce the names of every candidate who wasn't there. The only name he didn't have was one person who was running for constable and he tried to get that."

All of the candidates in attendance at the fairgrounds said the meet-the-candidate speeches held on a portable stage turned out to be a bomb in terms of attendance.

According to candidates they were only given less than 15 minutes notice before being called upon to deliver a two-minute "low-key" speech to constituents. This upset some of the stage-struck candidates but it turned out theirs fears about facing the public were groundless.

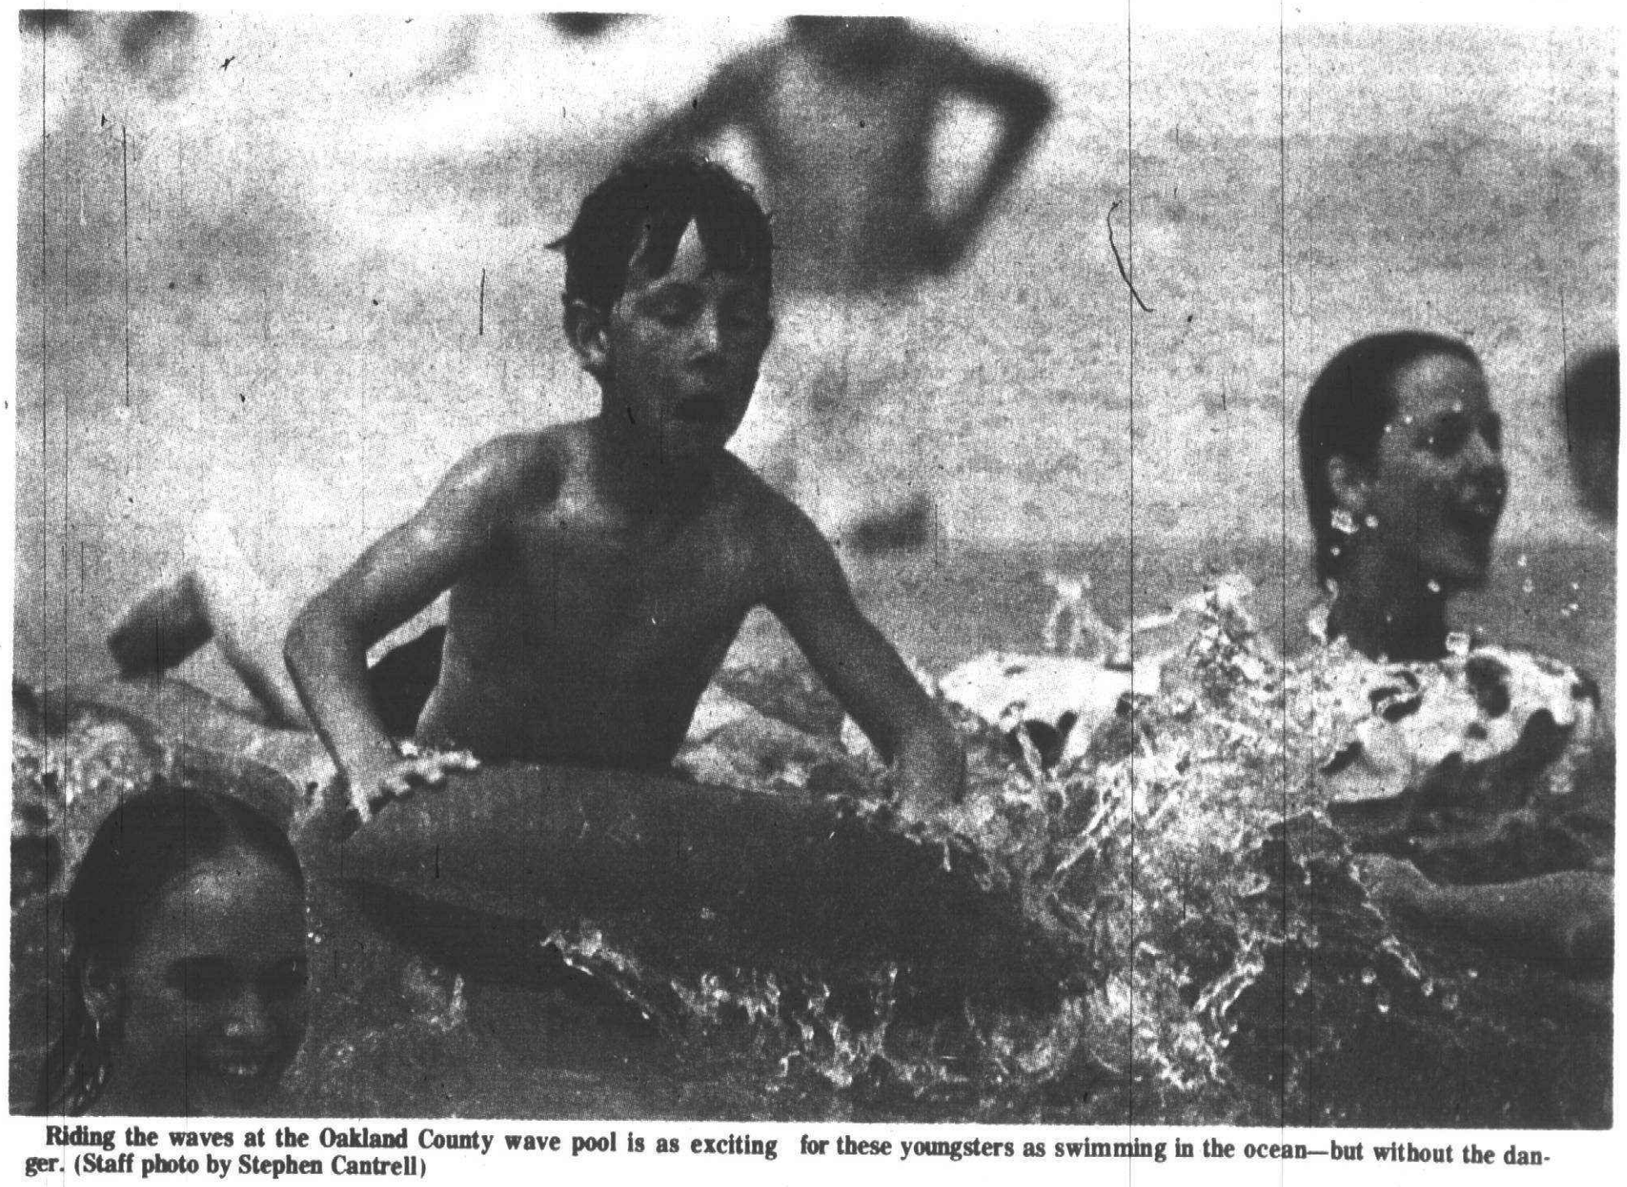

"It was kind of a surprise because when we got up there to speak we were only talking to each other," said Mrs. Falkiewicz. "I looked out into the crowd and there was only the campaign workers and the other people who are running for township office. It's kind of a shame there was no crowd. They could've seen most of us all together in one spot."

Greenstein says he doesn't remember if he received a written invitation to appear at the fair. Mrs. Falkiewicz, who filed about the same time Roberts did, received a written invitation.

That letter, sent out by Ed Rasmussen, Canton Jaycee vice-president in charge of external activities, states:

"From 3 to 4 p.m. Sunday July (9)

Riding the waves at the Oakland County wave pool is as exciting for these youngsters as swimming in the ocean—but without the danger. (Staff photo by Stephen Cantrell)

Pool's throwing swimmers a curve

By LISA GERBER

Even if you're unable to visit the ocean front this summer you don't have to waive waves.

Minus sand, seagulls and sharks, Oakland County has brought coastal waves to the midwest. In fact, the county has brought the waves to inland Waterford Township.

Children of all ages can body surf, dodge and just plain enjoy waves of up to four feet in the Waterford wave action pool located on Scott Lake Road between Watkins Lake Road and Dixie Highway.

The waves are set into motion by principles of air pressure and hydraulics. A series of fans blows air under the water and into air chambers in a synchronized method so that air is released from one chamber while being taken into another.

The process creates five wave heads of about 3½-4 feet at about 10-15 miles per hour.

"You would have to be running alongside the pool to keep up with them," said one lifeguard. The surf diminishes in size and force as it travels the length of the 180-foot pool until it becomes tiny ripples, like those on a lake shore. The waves run at intervals of nine minutes on, 12 minutes off so that "the swimmers the the fans have a rest," the lifeguard said.

The wave pool, which is owned and operated by the Oakland County Parks and Recreation Department, was the third pool of its kind in the country. "The parks and recreation department wanted to build something that people would enjoy and couldn't have in their own backyards," said Chris Austin, pool manager.

Until this summer, it was the largest in the country but several pools in Pittsburgh have since surpassed it in size. The Waterford pool is 82 feet wide at the deep end and fans out to a width of 140 feet at the shallow end.

Michiganders have traveled from all corners of the state to enjoy the pool's breath-taking waves. According to Austin, the pool has hosted a near-capacity crowd almost every day—about 1,000-1,200 swimmers.

Now in its third year, the pool has been getting more popular each summer, Austin said. "We even have to occasionally close the doors because the pool is full."

Even though the pool is sometimes wall-to-wall bodies, there has never been a drowning. "There is less chance of an accident in this pool than in a regular backyard pool," Austin said.

There are no diving boards, eliminating the most treacherous swimming pool hazard, Austin said.

In addition, the force of the wave action keeps small children from venturing into water over their heads. The force of the waves is not enough to cause injuries in itself. "We don't even hand out very many Band-aids," Austin added.

The only serious accidents are the "result of stupidity—people diving into shallow water," he said. If an accident does occur, each life guard has an emergency stop button on his chair that halts all wave action immediately.

Children are well supervised. There are always 10-15 life guards working, or one for every 25 persons.

CEP updates alarm systems

Changes have been made in the fire security system at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Key-locked fire alarm stations have been installed and fire extinguishers have been located in classrooms at both Plymouth Salem High and Plymouth Canton High.

The measures taken follow news reports in the Observer last spring about fire alarms being shut off and extinguishers locked in offices to halt pranks and vandalism by students.

The Observer reported that extinguishers had been taken out of the hallways and locked in offices because students had been removing them from cases to spray other students.

The news stories also reported the fire alarm system had been shut off because students kept disrupting the school day by setting off the alarms.

As a result of these stories, Salem High was inspected by the fire marshall division of the State Police post in Northville. The changes made in June were a follow-up of that inspection.

THE LOCKED FIRE alarm systems are installed and keys have been issued to all staff members.

The keys also have been issued to maintenance and administrative personnel of both buildings.

Appropriate sign designations appear in the fire extinguisher boxes indicating the location of the extinguishers.

The principals at both schools at the CEP have sent to the fire marshall a master list of extinguisher locations at Salem and a floor plan of Canton showing locations of pull alarms, key alarms and extinguishers. A copy of fire drill instructions for 1978-79 also was forwarded.

Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun was informed of the alarm installation, and he told school administrators the change meets all Underwriter's Laboratories requirements.

The procedures for the alarm operations were written after Salem area coordinator Ken Jacobs, Canton area coordinator Hank Rupert, head of maintenance, and Salem principal Bill Brown.

In the absence of the baby duck's real mama, Laddie is doing a fine job standing in. Janet English's children brought the orphaned duck home and it immediately took a shine to the family collie. "It's the funniest thing I've seen in a while," said Mrs. English. "The duck really thinks the dog is its mother. It follows her everywhere." (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Here's the chance to hear pols at LWV candidate night forum

Voters will have the chance to meet with and ask questions of candidates running in the Aug. 8 primary at two Meet the Candidates nights sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton and Novi.

One for voters in Canton Township will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 26, in Miller Elementary School at 43721 Hanford.

The other, for voters in Plymouth Township, will begin at 7:30 p.m. July 27.

Both meetings will introduce those running for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and for the new judicial seat in the 35th District Court.

The 27th District of the board of commissioners includes Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships. The 35th District includes Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships, Northville and Northville Township.

IN CANTON TOWNSHIP those in attendance will meet three candidates for supervisor, three for treasurer and six for the two seats on the board of trustees.

Three candidates for clerk will top the bill in Plymouth Township and eight candidates for the two trustee spots will be presented.

Although the LWV is non-partisan and does not support candidates, the membership believes the public should have an opportunity to meet with and ask questions of candidates they will vote on in an election.

In Canton, Democratic candidates for supervisor are Harold Stein and Noel Culbert with John Longridge running on the Republican. Clerk John Flodin, a Democrat, is unopposed.

For treasurer, the Democratic candidates are Ann Bradley and Maria Falkiewicz with Jim Donahue running as a Republican.

For trustee, Gary Roberts is the lone Republican while the Democratic candidates are Robert Greenstein, Larry Bowerman, Carol Bodenmiller, Bob

CLIMBING MAPLES

A former Big 10 football star is now climbing towering maples in the Plymouth-Canton area. See story on Page 8B.

UP FOR BOARD

Two residents—Jack Bologna and Jim McKeon—have been nominated to fill a vacancy on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. See report on Page 2A.

Plymouth-Canton— OBITUARIES

ERIC V. TILLOTSON

Funeral services for Eric, 13 of Canton Township, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home, Plymouth, with the Rev. Henry J. Walch, DD, officiating.

Eric, who died July 10 in Wayne County Hospital, was a member of Boy Scouts of America Troop 898 of Canton of which he was a senior patrol leader and a Star Scout. He was a member of the National Junior Honor Society and a member of the Stevenson Junior High baseball team.

Survivors include: parents, Lawrence and Paula Tillotson; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Tillotson of South Lyon; brother, Mark; and several aunts and uncles. Memorial contributions may be made to the equipment fund of B.S. of A. Troop 898 of Canton.

MABEL M. MINEHART

Funeral services for Mrs. Minehart, 78 of Plymouth, were held recently in St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran Church of Plymouth, with burial at Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was Pastor Leonard J. Koeninger with arrangements made by Schrader Funeral Home.

Mrs. Minehart, who died July 12 in Tonquish Manor, was born in Clarenceville and moved to Plymouth from Saline in 1928. She was a member of St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Survivors include: daughters, Mrs. Dolores Finney of Canton; Mrs. Lois Finney of Garden City; Mrs. Geraldine Kelly of Belleville; brother, Norman Brassow of Dexter; sisters, Mrs. Amanda Hartwick of Detroit and Mrs. Minnie Brassow of Saline; eight grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

MILTON F. DIEDRICK

Funeral services for Mr. Diedrick, 73 of Plymouth, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery, Birmingham. Officiating was the Rev. Frederick C. Vosburg. Memorial contributions may be made to the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Mr. Diedrick, who died July 11 in Hendry Convalescent Center, was a Plymouth resident for many years and a retired foreman for Ford Motor Co. He was a member of Masonic Lodge 172 F&AM, Dearborn, and of the Order of Eastern Star Chapter 115, Plymouth.

Survivors include: sons, Ralph of Plymouth and Kenneth of Phoenix; brothers, George of Highland, and Alvin of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.; and eight grandchildren.

FRANK REVELL

Funeral services for Mr. Revell, 74 of Plymouth, were held recently in Schrader Funeral Home with burial in Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. C.T. Gray.

Mr. Revell, who died July 13 in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, had moved to Plymouth from Tennessee in 1947 and was a member of the Plymouth Church of Christ. Survivors include: wife, Joel; daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Jean Gorney of Plymouth; sister, Edna Revell of Union City, Tenn.; three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Bologna, McKeon are SC hopefuls

At least three men are interested in the vacancy Ron Cowden will leave on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees Aug. 1.

They are: G. J. (Jack) Bologna, Plymouth, president of a management consultant firm; James B. McKeon, real estate salesman and former Plymouth mayor; and Richard J. Hayward, Livonia, executive vice-president of a structural steel firm.

For the first time, the board will use a detailed information gathering process before making an appointment.

The appointee will serve until June of 1979. The appointee would then have to run for re-election for the two years remaining in Cowden's term run for one of the full six-year terms which will expire at that time.

IN A NEW development, the college's legal counsel ruled that only four votes are needed to make the appointment instead of five.

The board's full complement is eight persons, and five votes are required for majority action. But once Cowden leaves, the board will be at seven, and a majority will be four votes.

"Consequently, a vacancy on the board having eight authorized positions may be filled by a majority of four of the seven remaining members," said Wolfgang Hoppe of the firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone.

That helps Bologna, whose candidacy is openly favored by four board members. Bologna ran fourth in the 1977 election and has declared his interest in the vacancy.

Bologna is also helped by the fact that the board currently contains six Livonia residents, one from Garden City and one from Plymouth (a transplanted Livonian).

Plymouth-Canton Community School District has one-fifth or more of the Schoolcraft College District population. Several trustees have publicly said Plymouth—along with Northville and even Clarenceville—needs more representation.

HAYWARD ran sixth in 1977 and was in the 1975 race. He has approached the board informally about his interest.

McKeon, who declared his interest in a lettter, has a history of involvement in Plymouth politics but is little known in Schoolcraft circles.

Cowden's letter of resignation, delivered at the July 12 board meeting, brought a chuckle with the closing line: "Please give me a call if you ever conclude a meeting by 10 o'clock." Cowden has worked for a year to get meetings completed at an earlier hour, with fewer lengthy speeches.

Principal for the last year of Lowell Junior High in the Livonia district, Cowden in fall will become principal of Manistee High School in western Michigan.

APPLICANTS for the board vacancy will be asked to fill out a 12-point questionnaire by Aug. 1.

Besides their names, addresses and telephone numbers, they will be asked for:

"4. Educational background.

"5. Current position or occupation. If employed, employer's name and address.

"6. Honors or awards.

"7. Community activities and involvement (last five years).

"8. Professional activities and memberships.

"9. Current social issues of personal interest and involvement.

"10. Experience on a board of directors or in trusteeship.

"11. Current and past associations with Schoolcraft College.

"12. Specific areas of interest and expertise that would be of value to the college as a trustee."

Rocky Mountain marmot hitches a ride east

This spunky critter left the wide-open spaces of Wyoming for a ride to the Motor City. Was it for a taste of Stroh's beer or a glimpse of the new Detroit skyline? Nobody knows for sure, but the adventuresome marmot made a new home for himself here. (Staff photo by Harry Mauthe)

For an entire 1,500 mile trip from Wyoming to Michigan, the little Rocky Mountain marmot settled into a corner atop the battery, except for an occasional foray along the front wheels or down the drive shaft.

By DENNIS ROSENBLUM

A woodchuck who wanted to see the world is going to be the latest addition to Detroit's much-heralded renaissance.

After a 1,500-mile trip from Wyoming to Farmington, the furry brown rodent with the overpowering wanderlust found himself a bunch of friendly people and—after a few days—a new home in the inner city.

His name is P.D. and he's scheduled to move to Detroit on Tuesday.

P.D. MADE IT here by hitching a ride from Greg Murtland of Farmington, who was on vacation until last Tuesday with a friend in Yellowstone National Park.

The Rocky Mountain marmot—a type of woodchuck native to the western states—crawled into the engine compartment of Murtland's van and just wouldn't leave. A frustrated park ranger decided it wasn't worth the trouble and told Murtland to keep him.

So, for the entire trip back, the marmot settled into a corner atop the battery, except for an occasional foray along the front wheels or down the drive shaft.

"We stopped at a gas station in Jackson, Wyo. and had the attendant check the oil," Murtland said. "He opened the front end and jumped back 10 feet.

"Every time we stopped at a gas station, people were trying to get him out. After awhile, we just decided he wanted to go to Michigan."

And the trusty marmot, in a modern twist on the early American pioneering spirit, stuck with it and ended the three-day trip in fine shape.

One of Murtland's neighbors came up with the nickname P.D. After more futile attempts to coax the animal out of the van, trying both friendly persuasion and a water hose, Murtland went to veterinarian John Richardson.

Dr. Richardson supplied a tranquilizer for P.D. and Murtland was able to grab him with a pair of hockey gloves.

Even when I was grabbing him, he never tried to bite me," Murtland said. "He is kinda cute."

Richardson kept the marmot until last Friday at his office on Mooney, and then turned him over to Hartley Thornton, a former state conservation officer.

The problem facing all these people was just what they would do with P.D., who was by this time half-tamed, eating apples ane sunflower seeds, and grabbing attention with an occasional piercing squeak.

Nobody wanted to just let him out in the woods since he might not be able to survive here. The Detroit Zoo didn't want him. And Murtland, a student at Michigan Technological University in Houghton who is home for the summer, didn't think P.D. would get along too well with the family dog.

BUT A TALE about an orphan marmot was just bound to have a happy ending.

Wolfgang Mattes, senior naturalist at the new Belle Isle Nature Center was glad to add a marmot to animals that he uses to teach groups of children about wildlife.

"He'll help bring a little bit of the environment to the people. We'll take good care of him," Mattes said. P.D. will be kept indoors at first but will eventually get out with a group of other creatures.

All of the animals at the nature center are orphans, many of them brought in by truckdrivers who, like Murtland, discovered that they've picked up a wide-eyed little hobo along the way.

Mattes said he just got a raccoon from a produce trucker at Eastern Market after a run from Florida for instance.

The big question remaining, of course, is whether a little Rocky Mountain woodchuck can find love and happiness in the big city.

From a life amid Old Faithful and hot sulphur springs, he's going to end up with a commanding view of Ren-Cen and Great Lakes freighters. He does, however, obviously like cars.

And Murtland, P.D.'s temporary foster father, was delighted to hear the outcome.

"Oh, great," he said. "I'll go see him."

Now, who ever said there's no good news?

50 years monkeying is no grind

"Training must be an act of kindness," says Alberto Lanzoil as he nuzzles a frightened Tarzanna. Just 3 years old, Tarzanna has been in training for three months. She is a blonde ringtail monkey, which Lanzoil claims are the easiest and best monkeys to train.

By SUSAN ROGERS

Their eyes bright with excitement, the children watch the little monkey in his brightly colored clothing with outstretched hands, waiting for him to snatch their quarter and deposit it in his pocket.

Hurdy-gurdy man Alberto Lanzoil and his five furry friends charmed and delighted the crowds at Wonderland Shopping Center last week. A member of the vanishing breed of organ grinders in the country today, Lanzoil combines the age-old art along with his trained monkeys in a show that knows no age limit.

Lanzoil, whose real name is Al Seigle, began in the organ grinding business more than 50 years ago in Youngstown, Ohio.

While working in his father's store, he became the owner of an organ and a monkey when their owner failed to return from Italy.

"He told me if he didn't come back they were mine," he said, "and I've been in the monkey business ever since.

"The monkeys keep me young," said the veteran, who has worked in fairs all across the country and appreared on such television shows as Johnny Carson and Ed Sullivan. Luigi, one of the monkeys, was featured several yaers ago in a commercial for the toy "Barrel of Monkeys."

Lanzoil and his wife Dina adore the monkeys, whom they consider "just like children." He explained it takes about one year to train a monkey to perform. We aslo have to train them to waer clothes," he said.

"We keep them around for about six months before we start training them. We let them loose in the house and keep them close to us.

"Soon I have their confidence—they think I'm a big monkey and they're the little monkeys."

Lanzoils's two organs (one of which is 75 years old) provide the background music to his shows. At 81 years of age, he finds it difficult to carry the organ as he used to, and wheels both the organs on stage.

"My new electronic organ doesn't have a crank—things have to keep up with the times," he said.

Dressed in brightly colored clothing and sporting a moustache, Lanzoil holds the frightened baby monkey and gently whispers in her ear.

"You have to be close to them," he said. "You must train them with rewards and have a great deal of patience at all times. Training must be an act of kindness."

Lanzoil enjoys his life, although most of his performing days are over. He and his wife drove from their home in Florida just for the Wonderland show.

"I love show business," he said. "There's nothing like it.

"I love kids and I love monkeys—they call me the monkey man and I don't mind one bit."

Medical center expands

By W.W. EDGAR

Christmas is going to come early to the residents of Canton Township and the surrounding communities.

If present plans materialize, the large new medical center on Canton Center Road, south of Joy, will be completed with accommodations for 50 doctors.

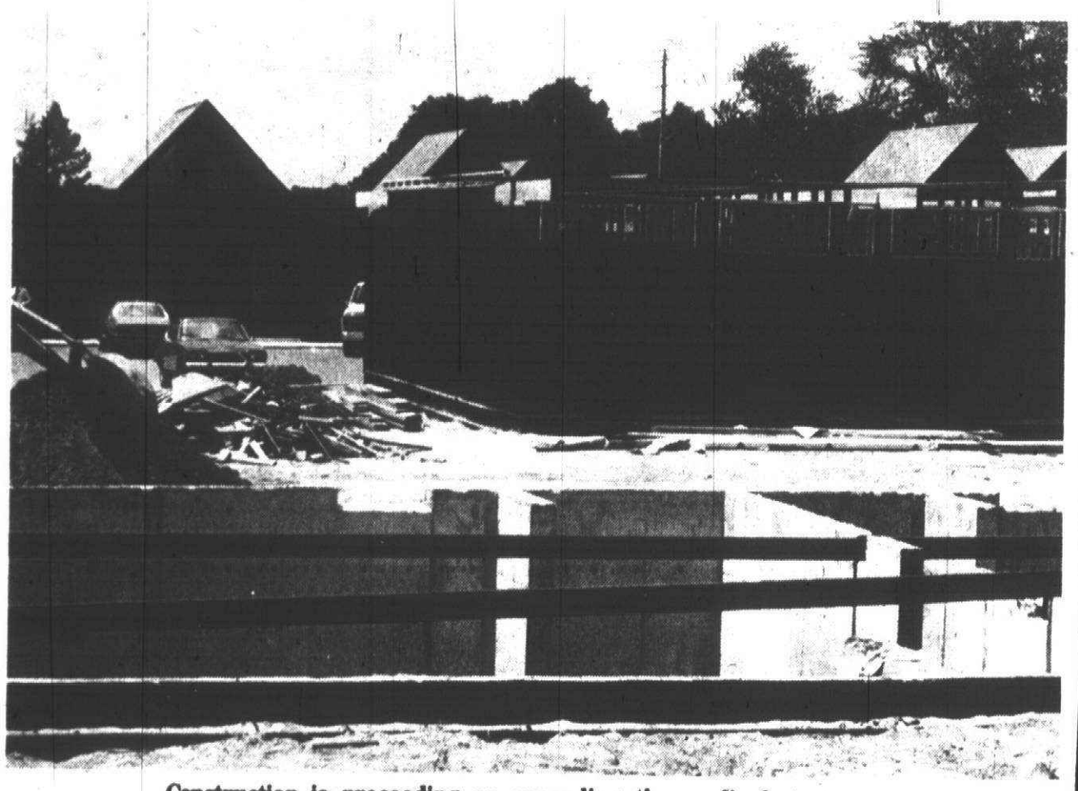

Along with the doctors there will be a pharamcy, a laboratory and all other facilities to complete what is being called the most prestigious center outside of Detroit's medical center.

WHEN IT IS finished, according to Bud Gould, the developer and builder, it will be housed in 17 buildings that will cover the five-acre plot.

The medical center was started several years ago with four physicians and gained immediate support because it provided service at night.

With the following it attracted, Gould, and the members of the medical profession, decided on the additions that will make it out of the ordinary.

While he is greatly enthused over the project, Gould, who has been

Construction is proceeding on expanding the medical center on Canton Center Road just south of Joy, across the road from the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park. (Staff photo)

JCs call it oversight, not snub

we are offering the leaders of our area the opportunity to meet the citizenry. The afternoon is not planned as a platform for a poltical campaign or for citizen groups but for an informal, public event at which you can shake a few hands, kiss a few babies and accept a few pats on the back while you and your family enjoy the fair."

Rasmussen said that the three uninvited candidates should not expect an apology because onone will be offered.

"If we missed them they should have come to us before now," Rasmussen said. "If they're involved in Canton politics they had to know about this function. They're making a big thing out of nothing."

Rasmussen said that in Mrs. Bodenmiller's case he left an invitation for her with a neighbor, Noel Culbert, a township supervisor candidate.

The fact that they were not invited was an oversight, not a snub, Rasmussen said. He added that the controversy has convinced him to lobby against any future Jaycee functions of a political nature..

Berger and other Jaycee officials said they are worried that the flak the club received on its first foray into the world of politics might sour members on a proposal to sponsor a full-fledged meet-the-candidates debate.

"I think it's important that the Jaycees continue to do these things and continue to perfect them," said Doug Ritter, who emceed the candidate's forum at the fair.

'R. Smith' is not Royce Smith

Former Wayne County Commissioner Royce Smith is calling it a case of mistaken identity.

It's just a coincidence, he said, that Robert Smith has the same first initial and last name. But not so coincidentally, Robert Smith is running for county commissioner in the 27th District—Royce Smith's old district.

'I'm getting the word that a lot of people think that Robert Smith is me. And I'm here to tell you that it just ain't so," said Royce.

It seems that Robert Smith of Wayne has put his name on the ballot as R. Smith.

"I believe it's a deliberate attempt to capitalize on my name," said an indignant Royce Smith. "It's downright confusing."

Confusing or not, it's a perfectly legal thing for a candidate to do, according to Orville Tungate, deputy Wayne County Clerk.

"THERE'S NOT A thing that can be done about it. The law permits a person to run under his first name or initial as long as he uses his full surname," said Tungate.

Incumbent 27th District Commissioner R. William Joyner (D-Plymouth Township) also feels Robert Smith's name gives him a certain advantage over the other candidates.

"I'm worried about it. It could cause problems. If people go in the booth and see 'R. Smith,' they could mistake it for Royce and vote for him.

"I think Robert Smith just wanted to run for county commissioner and knew his name wouldn't hurt him. He'll probably pull votes from all the candidates."

Royce Smith was the 27th District's commissioner on the county board until last March when he resigned to take the top administrative post in the county public works department. Joyner was appointed by the board to serve the unexpired portion of Smith's term.

The 27th District is comprised of nine western Wayne County communities, including Plymouth, Plymouth and Canton townships and part of Westland.

Smith was unable to be reached for comment.

Chessie steam special will be back four times

The Chessie Steam Special will be back in Plymouth four more times during the summer at the Plymouth C&O station, located between Mill Street and Starkweather.

In its second season,the steam engine will leave Plymouth Sat. July 22 at 9 a.m. and return at 5 p.m. after a trip to Clio, Mich.

On Sunday, July 23, the train will leave at 9 a.m. for Grand Ledge and return at 5:45. Passengers may detrain at Lansing on this trip for lunch and a visit to the state capitol building.

On Saturday, July 29 and Sunday, July 30 the train is reserved primarily for members of the National Model Railroad Association. However, the general public can inquire about remaining seats.

The train will stop in Holly where interested passengers may view the Detroit Model Club's train layout and attend a street fair Or, passengers may stay on the train and ride to Hoyt where the train will be turned around for the return trip and stop at Holly to pick up club members.

Finally on Monday, July 31, there is a one-way trip to Columbus, Ohio. If you wish, you can travel only to Toledo and return by chartered bus to Detroit's Oak Yard, 12594 Westwood, near Schoolcraft and the Southfield expressway.

Tickets for the one-way train ride to Toledo, including bus far back home is $12 for adults, $11 for children under 12.

On the round-trip excursions July 22, 23, 25 and 26 the adult fare is $23 and the child fare is $20. If you're into elegance, a ride in the observation lounge is $50 and a seat in the parlor car is $35. For further information on fares and reservations, call 853-1963. Tickets are available locally at Beitner Jewelry, 904 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. Beitner's phone number is

Railroad price tag would be heavy

By W.W. EDGAR

Scarcely a day goes by that someone sitting at the wheel of an automobile wasting gasoline at the Main Street railroad crossing doesn't cuss the railroad officials, the Plymouth city fathers and all others concerned, and murmur to himself "when the hell are they ever going to get an overpass and become up to date?"

This is nothing new. It has been going on for years. Some have dreamed of an overpass. Others have visioned an underpass, but nothing has been done to eliminate the "nuisance."

And now, if any of you are still dreaming of elimination of the long waits—with your motor running—you may just as well forget it. The dream of the overpass becomes a nightmare when spoken of with the city fathers.

THE REASON? Dollars and cents. It would cost each homeowner $55.98 for 30 years. Planners and engineers who have looked into the problem have figured that the cost of either an overpass or an underpass would cost almost $6 million.

It long has been known that the railroad is obligated to pay 15 per cent of the cost. And in recent years, when Buford Nash was C&O general manager, he promised even more.

At a public meeting several years ago, Nash promised the Plymouth people that the railroad would be willing to pay 20 per cent of the cost.

At the time, overpasses and underpasses were being built in Livonia and pressure was heavy on both the Plymouth city officials and the railroads. It didn't dawn on the protesters that homeowners in Livonia had approved bond issues at the ballot box.

The howl for an overpass or underpass on Main Street has raised eyebrows again.

To get the answers, the city officials were appealed to and came up with the average cost of 3½ mills to each residential property owner for the next 30 years.

Using a project bond of $5 million at five per cent and conceding that the railroad would pay 20 per cent, this would leave a balance of $4 million to be paid by the homeowners. This was based on the fact that no federal funds are available for such a project.

The 3½ mills was arrived at by using the entire residential assessment of the city which now exceeds $53 million.

With 3,099 residential parcels in the city this would give each parcel a state equalized value of $17,494.

At the huge 3½-mill increase needed it would mean that residential taxes would be increased $55.98 for the 30 years.

THE LONG WAITS at the crossings have been a bone of contention for years. The downtown businessmen have complained that the long delays have stopped potential customers from outside areas from coming to Plymouth to shop.

Other folks—away from business—have complained on the theory a long delay at the crossing could become a matter of life and death if an ambulance en route to a hospital was involved.

Funny money in Plymouth

Twice in the last week, Hollys By Golly on Ann Arbor Road has been given counterfiet $20 bills in payment for meals.

"It's a good way for counterfeit operations to wash the money," commented Police Chief Tim Ford. "They get people to pass it off in small denominations to make it difficult to trace."

Ford said there was enough bogus money being passed for merchants to be on the look-out. He added that in this particular series there was a telltale bluring of the green ink.

Dearborn cuts sports; Salem's league schedule jolted

What once was the Suburban Eight League has now turned into the Suburban Six League, and in some sports may turn into the Suburban Three League.

Millage failures in many of the Sub-8 communities has caused this depletion of interscholastic athletic competition.

The most recent schools to pull out of the league are Dearborn High School and Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The Dearborn Public Schools Athletic Director Jack Johnson announced last week that all athletic programs for these two Sub-8 schools, and activities at Dearborn Fordson, members of the Great Lakes Eight League, have been discontinued because of recent millage failures.

Redford Union will stay with the Sub-8 for this fall's football season, to maintain the Suburban Six League, but will leave the conference and participate in the Northwest Suburban League in all other sports.

Livonia Bentley was part of recent varsity athletic cuts in the Livonia school system which eliminates the Bulldogs' competition in all but the major participation sports, such as football, boys' and girls' basketball, and boys' and girls' track.

Allen Park also is under financial problems at this time and is doubtful about its participation in the league next fall.

Plymouth Salem, Belleville and Trenton are the only schools in the Sub-8 which presently have full varsity programs. Salem and Belleville recently cut freshman programs.

PLYMOUTH ATHLETIC Director John Sandmann told the Observer the Sub-8 officials will wait until next week to look for outside competition to fill the athletic schedules vacated by the Dearborn schools.

Sandmann said Johnson was "optimistic" about getting enough petitions signed to put the Dearborn millage to another vote on Sept. 8, the first week of the prep football season.

"I would certainly think as a Sub-8 school, we have an obiligation to the Dearborn schools," Sandmann said. "If the millage is on the ballot, we'll wait on our schedules. If it's not on the ballot, we'll start looking for outside competition."

Sandmann said if the Dearborn schools do not participate, the Sub-8 athletic directors decided to fill schedules with both Dearborn high schools' opponents playing each other, if no outside competition was found.

For example, if Salem was scheduled to play Edsel Ford, and Bentley was to play Dearborn on the same week, then Bentley and Salem would compete against each other in addition to their regular league games. Sandmann said it wasn't decided if this "extra" contest would count toward the league standings.

Sandmann also said that gaining outside competition in the Great Lakes Eight League, with schools originally scheduled to play Fordson, was a possibility.

"This (getting outside competition) presents a little problem at this time because so many people are on vacation," Sandmann said.

Swim class helps kids appreciate the water

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

One of the most important skills all people should have is the ability to handle themselves in the water, whether in a pool, near a lake or even in the bathtub.

There is a special kind of program offered by the Plymouth-Canton Continuing Education offices which gives children as young as four or five years old an opportunity to learn how to swim.

This program also has quite a tradition to it, as well.

Paul Cummings, athletic liaison and swim fanatic, coordinates this program which he has been a part of for 17 years.

The instructional swimming program is offered for a three week stint during the summer months. Children of all ages are welcomed and encouraged to participate. In fact, there is a separate session late in the afternoon for those young swimmers who attend school on the ESY schedule and can't make it to the pool until 3 p.m.

CUMMINGS served as a locker room attendant in 1952 when he first joined the program as a student of Plymouth High School.

"Back in those day, there was no doubt we served all the kids, and I still feel we serve the whole community," the coordinator said. "Since that day, the program has more than doubled."

Currently, there are 583 children involved in this instructional program. These children range from pre-school age to six-year old beginners classes, to advanced beginners,intermediates, swimming skills, and junior life saving, as the children become more experienced.

"My basic objective is to teach children how to swim and enjoy it the rest of their lives. Parents want their kids to learn how to swim and we give them the opportunity to learn."

Cummings now has 23 instructors working in his program. Lessons start at 7:30 a.m. every morning and last through 5 p.m. every day at the Plymouth Salem High School pool.

The Plymouth Canton pool is used for summer physical education classes and open swimming for adults. The Central Middle School pool is also used regularly for open swimming.

DESPITE THE hectic schedule of this program, Cummings predicts additional growth in the future where two separate programs could take form.

And, although the numbers are great, Cummings keeps the teacher—student ratio at 4-1, or 5-1 to give the pre-school beginner the most individualized attention possible.

"This is a good, old-fashioned swimming recreation program." Cummings said with pride. "We give individual attention because I don't care what you say, you want that comforting hand and securityfor a pre-schooler who fears the water. That's where it all begins.

"We're like a playground," Cummings said. "We make sure all the

G Sr. Americans triumph

The G Sr. American League All-Stars (girls, ages 13-15) broke a 9-9 tie with two runs in the sixth inning and added one more in the ninth to defeat the National League All-Stars, 12-9, in modified softball action last weekend.

With the American League ahead 11-9 in the bottom of the sixth inning, the Nationals rallied with the bases loaded and only one out. But winning pitcher Jull Goodrich of the Angels got off of the jam thanks to an inning-ending double play to preserve the victory.

The Nationals struck for three runs off starting American pitcher Cheryl Sobkow of the Tigers in the bottom of the first inning. The Americans came back to tie the score at 3-3 in the top of the second, scoring three runs off National starter Carolyn Roberts of the Phillies.

The Americans rallied for five runs in the third inning to take an 8-3 lead, but the Nationals came roaring back with six runs in their half of the stanza to take a narrow 9-8 advantage.

The Americans scored once in the top of the fourth inning to tie the score at 9-9 before the big sixth-inning rally.

The All-Star game was a Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League contest held at thge Centennial Park.

The following girls were members of the respective All-Star teams:

AMERICAN ALL-STARS

Tigers—Chris Brennan, Pam Byers, Cheryl Sobkow, Jeanine Sobkow and Bonnie Southerland.

Orioles—Becky Bell, Jill Hayden, Sarah Evans, Ann O'Connell, Judy Wheble.

Parents respond to plea

There's nothing like a good old-fashioned rap session to help clear the air with problems, questions, and concerns one might encounter.

That was one positive aspect of Wednesday night's Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League (PCJBL) meeting.

But more importantly, close to 70 parents—a standing-room-only crowd — showed up for the meeting and expressed an interest in continuing the program—an interest which had dwindled to only eight persons over the past four years.

This meeting was supposed to be the last hurrah for the present executive board of the PCJBL. As reported in this column last week, it was now-or-never for parents to volunteer their services to continue a program that had become a major frustration with all present board members.

PCJBL President Jerry Stevens expressed his frustrations to the Observer last week and asked for the help of others to continue this program or all would be lost.

THE RESPONSE was tremendous. I've never seen so many parents jam into a tiny classroom for any kind of meeting.

It's funny how people will come out of the woodwork when the threat of losing something is put before them.

"I apologize, in one way, for such a small room, but I haven't seen this many people at a junior baseball meeting in four years," an overwhelmed Stevens said to the large crowd at the beginning of the meeting.

Stevens went on to explain the program to the parents and pulled no punches as to the amount of time which must be volunteered to keep the program running at the administrative level.

"We need people up front who will be available but won't get a trophy at the end of the year," Stevens voiced. "We need people who will take all the guff, answer all the phone calls, and get the job done."

After making his pitch, Stevens opened the floor for any concerns the people might have.

And before you knew it, the parents were talking about such things as getting assistants to the assistants for the executive board members, having each team responsible for maintainence, and a host of other ideas which were once only a fantasy for the present board members.

THE KEY right now is to start implementing some of these fantasies into realities with the new board members.

It was quite reassuring, to say the least, that a great number of parents responded to the board's call for help—even if it was a little late coming.

Now there are lists and lists of persons whoo have signed up and expressed interest in helping run the program. These lists will be organized and steps will now be taken to educate these people on what the PCJBL is all about. Much of this process will occur at the next board meeting on Aug. 9.

The election for new officers will be at the September meeting and the new executive board, with all its helpers, will take over duties on Oct. 1.

SO EVERYTHING'S back to normal, right? The kids will still have their program and enough people at present to help things run smoothly, right?

Well, the main problem of getting the bodies out to help is finally solved. But there are two things which still bother me.

First, there is a severe lack of communication between the present board and its parents. This problem must cease immediately or troubles will reoccur in faster than before.

Many of the parents said they never received the initial letter asking for help. As a result, they resented the tone of my column which asked for their help.

Actually, I hope I never have to write an article of this nature ever again. I resented the fact that I had to be so dramatic to get people to come to the meeting and offer their services to the league.

If parents hadn't have come to the meeting, their kids might not have had the opportunity to run around the basepaths next year.

Secondly, E & F League coordinator John Anderson made a good point at the meeting when he said this same kind of situation occurred four years ago when that board threatened the end of the program.

At that time, many people signed up to help just as parents did Wednesday night.

But Anderson pointed out that the list of people who volunteered their sevices continued to diminish as the years progressed until it reached its present point—with a mere eight persons running a program that includes 1,600 children.

People in this community cannot let this situation become a continuous cycle where people commit themselves to help and then disappear one by one.

Hopefully, the parents who came to Wednesday's board meeting were serious about helping the league continue and will stick to any commitments they made.

It would truly be nice to continue to see the large turnouts at future board meetings.

Who knows? The board might even might think about reserving a bigger classroom next time.

Jr. grid board also needs help

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Football League is in need of volunteer help from parents, according to officer Paul Meador.

The annual Parent's Night for all junior football parents will be held at the Plymouth Canton High School cafeteria beginning at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Parents are encouraged to come to this meeting to offer their support to keep this program functioning normally.

This is the second junior athletic program in the Plymouth-Canton community which has had trouble finding volunteer help. The junior baseball league recently held a meeting to stimulate new interest.

Any questions parents have about the junior football program will be answered at Thursday's meeting. Upcoming game and practice schedules, and other activities will be discussed.

The registration fees also will be payable at this meeting.

Meador stressed the importance of parental help, administratively, and through qualified coaching skills, to help the program continue. He said the program presently has six coaches and a minimum of 24 instructors are needed.

Since the middle schools will not offer seventh grade football this fall because of millage problems, the number of players in the junior football league is expected to increase. Without the help of qualified coaches, however, participation may be limited to only 105 gridders. The program has equipment for 210 players.

For further information on how to get involved in the program, attend the Parent's Night meeting or call 455-2138.

Big modified battle Tuesday

Morrell's Builder's, the top softball team in the Plymouth Men's Modified Tuesday-Thursday League, will battle second-place contender Good Time Bar at the Central Middle School diamond at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Morrell's, 12-0 this season, can wrap up the division title with a victory over Good Time. The second-place squad currently holds a 10-1 record with its only setback to Morrell's.

Good Times is the perennial champion of the Plymouth Men's Modified League.

Central Middle School is located on Main Street, three blocks north of Ann Arbor Trail in downtown Plymouth.

In The Pocket.

By W.W. EDGAR

One of the most interesting rivalries that has developed on the Detroit bowling front in years is now taking place in the spring mixed invitational classic.

It is a struggle between Mary Mohacsi, the reigning bowling queen and Penny Behn, a member of her court. It also is a struggle between a veteran of the lanes and one of the younger stars. This is the kind of a set-up that always makes things interesting.

According to the latest figures Mrs. Moacsi is out in front with an average of 197 for 15 games, while her younger rival is listed at 195 in 18 games.

The invitational runs through the summer, traveling to a different establishment each week. Under the present conditions the average battle may go down to the last date.

A SPECIAL PROGRAM is being planned for the John Gavie Sweepstakes that always opens the bowling season during the last week in August.

Aside from the regular competition among the 16 bowling teams, the attention will be focused on the Goebel charity event that made possible the purchase of four leader dogs for the blind.

The money will be turned over with suitable ceremonies before the pins fall. And, in contrast to other years when the Gavie event was held in Allen Park it will be held at Sunnybrook Lanes.

These suburban lanes are located at Seventeen Mile Road and Van Dyke and every effort is being made to have the recipients of the dogs on hand for the festivities.

ROCKY GRAZIANI, long rated one of the top bowlers in the area, lived up to his reputation last week when he paced the field in the Strow Bonanza Open at North Hill Lanes.

To win the top place he averaged 233 and won 10 of his 12 matches. He built up a lead of more than 200 pins and coasted to victory in the final matches. The victory was his second in the Michigan Majors championships.

PETE OVERIETIS is finding the Westland Bowl Lanes to his liking. Several weeks ago he fashioned a 745 in the men's Tuesday league and came back last week with a splurge that netted games of 209, 267 and 249 for a 725.

Interest in youth bowling also is being centered on the Westland lanes these days, all because of the performances of two young lads.

Don Wolfe, a boy of 11, scattered the pins for a 210 in a 571 series. Right him came Mark Footit, 12 years old, who strung games of 180, 190 and 174 for 544.

IN THE MEN'S TUESDAY loop at Garden Lanes, Richard Hall took over the spotlight with a 644 series. This was good enough to give him a 28-pin lead over Vic Kelly,. Don Hood finished in third place with a 579 during the morning competition.

The latest to join the list of most improved bowlers is Sue Lackey. With a 109 average, she came through with a 417 series.

Lindley, Watt win; women deadlock

Bill Lindley and Bruce Watt both shot good rounds to sweep five points from Art Lawrence and Jim Thomas to win the first halfof the Canton Men's Golf League. Lindley shot his best round of the year with a 45 and Watt added a 46—his second best score this season.

Merph Eminger and Charlie Sheets took only three points from John Seewald and Dennis Stuebben to finish in second place.

Tony Valenti posted the best round of the night with a 37. SubstituteMike Roemer came in with a 39 for the second-best round of the week.

IN WOMEN'S ACTION, the first-half ended in a tie for first place between Lou Skotze and Silvia Dickinson with 36 points each. Mary Kay Frey came in with the best round of the week when she posted a 51.

Betty Williams placed third with 34 points. Bev Green was fourth at 32, and Frey placed fifth with 31 points.

JUDY BOND and Ralph Dietz lead the Canton Senior's Gold League after the fourth week of play with 39 points. Floyd Vickery and Bill Begg both took five points combined for five points last week but still hold second place, two points behind the leaders.

Emma and Gary Aleman are in third place with 35 points.

California-type tubs offer year-round fun

By MARIE CHESTNEY
Special Writer

Warm summer days end with a relaxing swim, the laughter of friends, or kids splashing in the pool and a tall glass of something cool.

Two of this area's entrepreneurs don't see why these simple pleasures of summer should end when temperatures plunge and snow blankets the backyard.

In fact, Lon Ainsley of Belleville and Jason Rohn of Ypsilanti, whose business partnership is headquartered in Livonia, are selling a new way of putting bathing suits and gaiety into the frigid backyards of Michigaan.

They have spirited away from California a mushrooming West Coast craze—hot tubs—to become the first Michigan manufacturer and dealer for this new recreational phenomenon.

Their firm, Future Enterprises, is at 16372 Middlebelt in the Terrace Corners Center.

IT IS ONLY a matter of time, these two young businessmen believe, before heated, massage-giving redwood tubs catch the fancy of winter-weary, fun-loving Michiganders and begin appearing in backyards across the state.

When and if hot tubs do click, Michiganders will have succumbed to a cult and lifestyle that has inched eastward over the past five years from a humble California birth.

Hot tubs in their infant days were simply old wine or irrigation barrels that Californians filled with hot water to relax in.

These lowly soaking vats soon spawned a thriving cottage industry. Old wine barrels gave way to circular redwood or cedar tubs up to eight-feet wide by four-feet high, capable of crowding in 25 people. Using the principles of cooperage (barrel making), the tubs were made leakproof.

Hot tub makers borrowed liberally from swimming pool gadgets, adding filters, pumps and special heaters to the tubs.

THEN, WITH THE addition of hydromassage jets, the tub makers created an offspring all their own—an above ground, watery, year-round backyard massage parlor.

Water heated to 110 degrees gushes, swirls and swooshes around all the tired bodies that plop into it, either to float or sit on benches.

Pores are cleansed and tensions eased as bodies respond to the whirling water. And those bodies can plop into the hot outdoor tub as easily in January as in June.

"Hot tubs were meant for icy Michigan days more than they were ever meant for California weather," Ainsley said. "Some people here dread winter. Now, in your hot tub, you can enjoy an evening in the snow, under the stars.

"It's a ball sitting in your tub and watching a blizzard blow all around you. It puts fun into winter."

The redwood frame serves as a natural insulator against freezing temperatures and the heater does the rest.

To the two young owners of Future Enterprises, hot tubbing in snow-glistening backyards is January's version of July's poolside bash.

"IT'S A GREAT ice breaker for parties," said Ainsley. "Of course, the tub generally is somewhere near the back door. But people get a kick out of watching others go out in the snow to swim."

Ainsley and Rohn give parties at their Livonia showroom to demonstrate the tubs they manufacture in Plymouth. At a recent party, Ainsley recalled, a prim, dignified woman stood apart for a while, then wound up "giggling like a girl" once she got caught up in the fun of watching others play in the water.

Besides adding excitement to summer or winter get-togethers, hot tubbing is "relaxation, relaxation, relaxation," Ainsley said.

"It perks you up in the morning and it massages you mentally and physically at night."

A hot tub, he contends, is also practical. It can be easily dismantled if the owner moves. It can be set up indoors, although Rohn said, "You then miss much of the excitement of it." It also requires little maintenance and is small enough to cover easily.

ROHN AND AINSLEY say such a tub is tax deductible if therapeutic massage is doctor-prescribed. It is inexpensive compared to buying and installing a swimming pool, but can be a perfect companion to a pool if one already exists.

The best salesman for Future Enterprises is Ainsley's father, who refused for a month to get into the one set up in his son's backyard. Finally he agreed to try it, but only for five minutes.

"The five minutes turned into 45," said Ainsley, "and he's been in it every day since."

Redwood tubs, filled with hot swirling water and large enough to accomodate several people at a time, may become a backyard home feature in Michigan as they are in California. Laura Komos (left) and Mari Wilkins show they can be decorative as well as relaxing. (Staff photo by Steve Fecht)

Lon Ainsley (left) and Jason Rohn are the two young entrepreneurs who have opened Future Enterprises in Livonia, hoping that year-round, backyard hot-tubbing becomes the same craze in Michigan that it is in California. "It's a ball sitting in your tub and watching a blizzard blow all around you," claims Ainsley. (Staff photo)

Livonian will help county on ordinance commitment

Livonia attorney Robert R. Thompson has been appointed to the county's Small and Minority Business Committee, comprised of nine private citizens.

The committee was formed to advise the county in administering a new county ordinance setting aside 25 per cent of all county contracts for small and minority businesses.

"I think the county is very fortunate to enjoy the expertise that Mr. Thompson offers," said Wayne County Commissioner Mary E. Dumas. "He will surely make great contributions to our program."

Thompson is a senior partner in the law firm of Krandle, Thompson & Mier, P.C. and is a director of Manufacturers Bank of Livonia.

Throughout the past 10 years Thompson has been adviser, consultant and counselor to numerous businesses, including small business minority enterprises. He specializes in problems of business start-up, survival and expansion.

He is a past director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce and has lectured extensively on small business-related topics.

Two seminars founded by Thompson, "How to Start Your Own Business—And Make Money" and "Women and Small Business" are taught at Wayne, Henry Ford and Schoolcraft community colleges.

He also is author of a book titled "How to Start Your Own Business—And Make Money."

RCA expands service

The western Wayne County branch of the RCA Service Co. is one of the company's 165 national units participating in distribution of battery-operated photoelectric home smoke alarms.

Paul Kugler, manager of the RCA branch at 11805 Mayfield, Livonia, said the device is now being carried routinely by technicians on home service calls.

"Since he is already in the home," Kugler said, "our technician can recommend best placement for one or more units and make the installation in a matter of minutes."

Kugler cited statistics that show that residential fires kill more than 6,000 Americans and injure nearly 200,000 each year

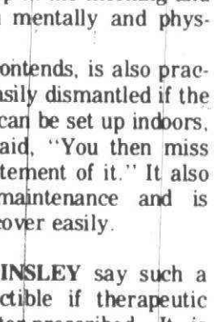

"Most fatalities occur between midnight and 6 a.m. when the family is sleeping, with 75 per cent of the victims succumbing to lethal smoke or superheated air," he said, in stressing the value of smoke warning devices.

The RCA detector features a test button to check alarm functions and sensitivity. It also has a warning alarm that beeps every 30 seconds for a minimum of seven days to signal the need for battery replacement.

Diversification aids tobacco firms

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

Are you old enough to remember the golden days of radio when Johnny stepped out of thousands of store windows all over America to make his famous "call for Philip Morris?"

Or, when Lucky Strike green went to war (and never returned)? How about the slogan "I'd walk a mile for a Camel," or "you're a LEMAC now?"

Remember Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians and their captivating mood song "While a Chesterfield Burns?" And don't forget that "treasure chest of Old Golds."

The surgeon general changed all of that when it was determined that cigarette smoking may be harmful to your health. All cigarette advertising was banned from radio and television.

This created an upheaval in the tobacco industry. Of the four largest companies, only one has maintained its original identity—Philip Morris.

AMERICAN TOBACCO (Lucky Strike) is now known as American Brands. Lorillard (Old Golds) is a subsidiary of Loews, Inc. Reynolds Tobacco (Camels) is now Reynolds Industries, and Liggett & Meyers (Chesterfields) has been changed to Liggett Group.

The overall sale of cigarettes has continued to increase, but this is due only to the increased population. The per capita use of cigarettes has declined.

Increased emphasis on the dangers of smoking through education of the young virtually guarantees that the future for the cigarette makers is not the brightest.

Aware of this, the tobacco companies have diversified into other areas.

For example, while tobacco products account for about 45 per cent of Liggett's operating revenues, Liggett derives added income from the distribution of alcoholic beverages and the production of pet foods.

The Liggett Group imports J&B Scotch, Bombay gin, Grand Marnier, Campari and Metaxa liqueurs and Wild Turkey bourbon and liqueur. Pet foods are produced and sold under the brand names of Alpo, Vets, Liva-A-Snaps and Alamo.

TOBACCO ACCOUNTS FOR approximately 61 per cent of the income to Philip Morris. However, Philip Morris also accounts for more than 15 per cent of national beer sales through ownership of the second-largest brewer in the country—Miller Brewing.

The company makes Miller High Life, Miller Lite, Meister Brau, Milwaukee Best and domestically produced Lowenbrau. The company is also involved in community development and homebuilding.

While roughly 73 per cent of Reynolds income comes from tobacco products, Reynolds also owns Sea-Land Service, the world's largest containerized shipping company. It includes a fleet of 58 ships that serve 136 ports in 50 countries around the world.

Reynolds also has oil and gas interests overseas

Blattert was one of 14 such winners across the nation. He has been a GM employee for 30 years and lives in Farmington Hills. He was recognized for his leadership with the Boy Scouts, service with the Big Brother program and efforts on behalf of FISH, an activity assisting needy persons.

Janis Lynne Pierce, a Livonian who was graduated with honors from Michigan State University in 1969, has been named public relations specialist of the Salt Lake Valley Convention and Visitors Bureau in Utah. She was selected for the position from among 75 applicants. For the past four years she has been ansociated with S&H Motivation & Travel, Inc., at Chicago as a marketing and promotion specialist and travel director.

David M. Wollschlager of Redford Township has joined Bendix's automotive aftermarket as territory manager. He will be responsible for sales and service to automotive warehouse distributors and jobbers in Michigan and the Toledo area. BAA is headquartered at Jackson, Tenn. As a division of the Bendix Corp. BAA markets a full line of brake products for automobiles and light trucks. Wollschlager formerly was with Kirk's Automotive Inc. in Detroit.

Eller heads national solid waste program

Virgil L. Eller, superintendent of the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority, recently was elected chairman of the National Conference of the Solid Waste Processing Division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

He previously had served as chairman of the midwest section and had been on the executive board of the national body since 1973.

The Wayne County unit which he heads serves Garden City, Westland, Dearborn Heights, Inkster and Wayne.

The Solid Waste Processing Division is involved in the various technologies in the handling, processing and resource recovery in the field of solid waste.

Aluminum pennies?

Jerry Lewis reacts in glee at the announcement from Reynolds Metals Co. that his Labor Day telethon for the Muscular Dystrophy Avsociation will benefit from aluminum recycling. Reynolds will donate one cent for every pound of aluminum it collects at its more than 800 recycling points from Aug. 1 through Labor Day. The penny is in addition to the normal 17 cents per pound paid recyclers. Reynolds collection points in this area are at the Westland, Northland, Eastland and Southland shopping centers.

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

Heavenly flick devilishly funny

"Heaven Can Wait" (PG) is the most thoroughly enjoyable film to brighten a movie screen this summer, in fact, this year. It's a delightful mod remake of the 1941 fantasy-comedy, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan."

Warren Beatty, producer and star of the film, shared the directing stint with Buck Henry and co-authored a witty script with Elaine May. Some of the deadpan repartee is reminiscent of the classic Nichols and May routines.

As Joe Pendleton, a naive and earnest quarterback who is sacked before his time, Beatty is the central figure among a well-meshed team of supporting players.

Dyan Cannon and Charles Grodin particularly add spice and sparkle as a nasty and paranoid pair of conniving lovers. They scheme to kill her husband so they can marry and inherit his wealth. Their plots, however, seem to misfire. She goes into screaming hysterics while he tries to calmly explain her agitation to everyone by claiming she saw a mouse. In one involuted pun, Cannon says she should be "canonized" for her efforts.

PENDLETON'S INVOLVEMENT with the pair stems from a celestial error. Joe was on his way to football practice when he was killed prematurely in an auto crash, but his overeager Escort (Buck Henry) made a ghastly error. He wasn't scheduled upstairs for another 50 years.

Mr. Jordan (James Mason), the chief dispatcher, and the Escort must quickly return Joe to earth in a suitable body; Joe's has been cremated and is no longer available.

From bodies offered him, Joe selects that of Leo Farnsworth, the millionaire head ofa giant conglomerate. Joe's choice was influenced by the presence of Betty Logan (Julie Christie). She has come from England to plead with Farnsworth to stop development of a power plant that would uproot the people in her village and pollute the environment.

As Leo, Joe ignores his wife and her lover (Cannon and Grodin) and concentrates on Betty. Being a health food freak (a whipped liver and whey shake is his favorite beverage) and being in love with an environmentalist, Pendleton/Farnsworth is ready to revamp corporate policy He will make his company a people conscious, ecology conscious organization. The meeting with his board of directors is the highlight of the movie. He addresses them as if he were talking to his teammates on the Rams. It's an hilarious and charming mixture of idealism and comedy.

Beatty and May have excelled in skillfully updating the issues. HIs ardent soliloquy to the board refelcts contemporary concerns about the environment, football and multi-national corporations.

THE INDIVIDUAL reactions of board members and the incredible explanations by Grodin of his employer's behavior are all minor masterpieces.

The reactions of the servants to their master's startling change of behaviorprovide another continuing source of comedy. Joseph Maher stands out as the butler Sisk who can arouse laughter with a subtle change of expression.

Such excellent performances integrated into a delightful and even heart-tugging plot make "Heaven Can Wait" outstanding entertainment.

Glimpses

NEW RELEASES

BAD NEWS BEARS GO TO JAPAN (PG). Scrappy action with the Bears, their scheming agent Tony Curtis and a Japanese wrestler not to mention the ball game.

CAPRICORN ONE (PG). Hoax about a space shot isthe gimmick in this flick with lots of action and lots of loopholes.

THE CHEAP DETECTIVE (PG). Peter Falk and terrific cast click in Neil Simon's comical take off on the Bogart movies of the '40s.

COMING HOME (R). Powerful story ofVietnam era with Jane Fonda as officer's wife who falls in love with disabled vet (Jon Voight).

CONVOY (PG). Kris Kirstofferson leads convoy of angry truckers in movie expanded from hit record.

DAMIEN: Omen II (R). The nasty kid from "The Omen" is now 13 and he's back to kill more people as the world heads for Armageddon.

THE END (R). Black comedy about misadventures of an about-to-die guy. Burt Reynolds and Dom De Luise star.

F.I.S.T.(PG). Sylvester Stallone as union organizer in film that spans decades from early struggle and idealism to national strength and corruption.

GREASE (PG). Broadway musical about the funky '50s is translated to film with John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John.

HARPER VALLEY PTA (PG). You heard the song (in the '60s), now see the movie as Barbara Eden and Nanette Fabray thomp the hypocrites.

HEAVEN CAN WAIT (PG). Warren Beatty's successful and distinctive remake of humorous fantasy, "Here Comes Mr. Jordan." Football player goes to heaven and returns to earth as business tycoon. Fine performances.

JAWS 2 (PG). Unimaginative recap of original "Jaws" as another shark with a case of overbite and a taste for teens terrorizes beach resort.

MADAME ROSA (PG). Tender story of old Jewish woman (Simone Signoret) who raises Arab boy. Won Academy Award for Best Foreign Language Film. English subtitles.

THE MAN WHO LOVED WOMEN (R). Francois Truffaut's amusing and charming story of a womanizer.

MATILDA (G). Kargaroo becomes professional boxer and pockets the cash.

Area little leagues hold tourneys

Several season-ending baseball tournaments and playoffs will be contested during the next couple of weeks throughout the Observer area.

All of the games feature the best in community talent and all are open to the public without charge.

WESTLAND

A Babe Ruth League district tournament began last weekend and continues at least through today and possibly tomorrow at Jaycee Park, Wildwood at Hunter.

Five teams comprised of boys 13-15 years of age are involved in the district—Lincoln Park, West Seven A (Detroit), West Seven B (Detroit), Westland AAA and Westland AA.

Game time today is 6 p.m. and if necessary tomorrow at 6 p.m. in the double-elimination tourney.

Westland will also host the state senior Babe Ruth championships July 21-24 at Jaycee Park. Boys 16-18 years of age will battle in that tournament.

The six-team field includes Alpena, Niles-area, Lansing, Westland, St. Clair Shores-Macomb County and Belleville-Lincoln Park winner.

Games are scheduled at 6 and 8:30 p.m. July 21; 1, 3:30, 6 and 8:30 p.m. July 22-23; and 6 and 8:30 p.m. July 24.

PLYMOUTH—CANTON

The best two division teams in each of three leagues in the Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League will contend for city laurels today through Thursday.

Eight teams will compete in the A League, boys 11-12 years of age, baseball; eight will slug it out in the B League, boys 9-10 years of age, baseball; and four will vie in the G Junior League, girls 9-12 years of age, softball.

The A League games will be played at Plymouth Township Hall, Ann Arbor Trail west of Sheldon. The B and G Junior playoffs will be contested at Centennial Park, Joy at Canton Center Road.

All tournaments are one-game knockouts.

The rest of the leagues will begin their playoffs at a later date.

REDFORD

Capitol Park, Capitol at Hemmingway, north of Plymouth Road and west of Beech Daly, will be the site of the District 2 Colt Tournament Thursday through Saturday and possibly Monday, July 24.

Boys 15-16 years of age will compete.

The double-elimination playoffs feature teams from Garden City, Redford, South Farmington and Walled Lake. Redford will meet Walled Lake at 4:30 p.m. and South Farmington will battle Garden City at 8 p.m. Thursday in first-round games.

If the tournament extends to the maximum number of games, the final will be played 6 p.m. July 24.

GARDEN CITY

Garden City will host the Michigan South Bronco Tournament July 27-30 at Garden City Park, Cherry Hill at Merriman. Boys 11-12 years of age will match skills.

All games are scheduled for 7:45 p.m. at Diamond 1. Redford plays Garden City National in the kick-off game July 27.

Garden City will also host a state Pony League sectional the same dates and times on Diamond 2. Teams will represent South Farmington, Hamtramck, Franklin and Garden City.

The pony League is for boys 13-14 years of age.

The winner of the Michigan South Section Bronco Tournament will return to Garden City Park Aug. 10-13 for the Divisional Tournament.

That field will also consist of Garden City American, runner-up last year in the Bronco World Series, the Indiana-Kentucky winner and the South Farmington north section champion.

Darlene Quinlan gets travel funds

Darlene Quinlan, the wheelchair athlete who hopes to compete in an international competition this November in Brazil, will do so thanks to the Complete Auto Transit Co. The company raised the needed $1,500 to cover Quinlan's expenses for the trip.

"The contributions came from the employees. I think it came right out of the truck drivers' pockets," Quinlan said.

The company contacted Quinlan early last week and told her that they would like to raise the money on her behalf. Within four days, the employees at the Ypsilanti company had raised 95 per cent of the money and assured Quinlan that they would get the rest in just a few days.

Oasis Golf Center in Livonia was also thinking of helping Quinlan to obtain the money by giving her the proceeds from one business day, a Saturday. That was before the auto transit company contacted her. Once she had the money coming in Oasis' offer was no longer needed.

"I was surprised at the response. I thought your paper came out in the afternoon but early in the morning on (last) Monday I got a call from the people in Ypsilanti saying that they wanted to sponsor me," said Quinlan.

Now its off to Brazil for the Livonia wheel chair athlete.

From strawberries to blackberries

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

The wild strawberry season is about gone, but watch for blackberries to hit their peaks any day.

Overall, says the friendly Department of Natural Resources, this year is producing bumper crops of wild berries. It happened despite the severe winter and late spring.

One of my favorite hauls occurred last year on a hike through a remote upper peninsula woods. We couldn't see the wild raspberries from the path, but we caught a fragrant whiff in the hot summer breeze.

A few yards upwind from the path, there they were! They're much tinier than the kind you get in the grocery store, but the flavor and natural sweetness far exceed anything you can find commercially.

We mixed some with the instant biscuit mix, baked the goo in a heap of charcoals and next morning had the tastiest coffee cake anyone ever concocted.

IF YOUR stamping grounds or weekends is the Irish Hills out Jackson way, you'll be interested to know the Walker Tavern has been dedicated as a state historic site.

Built in the late 1830s, Walker Tavern is at Cambridge Junction in Lenawee County. Its first use was as a stagecoach stop on the Detroit-Chicago Road, now US-12.

Purchased by the DNR in 1965, the tavern and its accompanying barn have been restored to the appearance of the 1840s.

Our forefathers, when they wanted to hold political or civic meetings or party caucuses, didn't have school gyms and community halls. They met in taverns, which had the only rooms large enough to hold any kind of group.

You wonder, as you go through a place like that, what kind of heated rhetoric once shook the beersteins on the topics of railroad rates, banking laws, slavery and tariffs a century or more ago.

"MEDICINAL PLANTS" is the topic of a family nature walk at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 16, at the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock.

Naturalist Glenn Dent will point out the many familiar plants and tell how Indians and pioneers made use of cherry, willow, boneset and witch hazel.

The walk is free. Admission to the metropark is $1 a car per day or $5 for the season.

ANOTHER SPOT has been added to the ever-growing list of places where DNR is clamping down because of drinking, vandalism and littering.

Pointe Mouillee State Game Area, on the Wayne-Monroe counties border, will be closed from 11 p.m. to 4 p.m. each day. Alcoholic beverages and ground fires will be prohibited at all times.

"Gangs of young people come from miles around to break windows, burn items that are burnable, scatter litter, upset litter barrels, burn holes in the paving, enter buildings, misuse the the toiletand commit every imaginable act of vandalism," said Dave Jenkins, wildlife division chief.

He called the closure "the last resort. . .We have no other course to follow at this time." The order is in effect until June 30, 1982.

Oasis falls

Oasis Golf Center took its lumps from Daly-Drive-In, the best softball team in Livonia's Friday Night Women's Fast-Pitch League, losing 8-3 last week.

Daly, currently 4-1 and holding first place in the league, scored four runs in the first inning and four more in the second to close out Oasis.

"We played them evenly for the last five innings," said Oasis coach Linda DeWitt, who saw her club drop to an even 2-2 record.

Oasis scored twice in the first inning when Vickie Cavallaro singled and scored on a two-run homer by Cindy Cindrich. Cindrich's blast was over the leftfielder's head. Oasis scored its final run in the sixth inning on a RBI single by Terry Chretien.

Cavallaro and Sue McDowell paced Oasis eight-hit attack with two hits each.

Kids special in swim class

youngsters are well-adjusted to the instructor and the water."

THE SWIMMING instruction program is also beneficial to the newly formed Plymouth-Canton Junior Swim League and the middle school and high school programs, since the exceptionalswimmers get more of an opportunity to be in the water as they progress through the intermediate classes to the junior life saving program.

Cummings stresses, however, that his swim program is not intended as a "feeder" system to these other programs, but rather gives children more time in the pool to perfect swimming skills.

Cummings also uses the swimming program to create jobs for high school students who serve as locker room attendants, and some college students who are qualified as instructors.

"It takes a special kind of young person who can swim," Cummings said. "It's a repetitive workout and there's no one to talk to—just you and the bubbles."

It's this kind of special feeling which Cummings not only shows to all the swimmers, but a feeling which also reflects how special this program really is to all the kids in this community.

Swim hours announced

Open swimming for all children and adults in the Plymouth-Canton area is being offered through the Continuing Education offices.

Afternoon swimming at Central Middle School takes place noon to 4 p.m. Mondays-Fridays. Fee is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children for every hour in the pool.

Evening swimming also is offered at Central from 7:30-9 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays at the same prices.

The Plymouth Canton High School pool is open for night swimming from 7:30-9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at the same rates.

A special family swim hour takes place from 3-4 p.m. Sundays at Canton, where the whole family can swim for $1.50. The pool is then available for open swimming from 4-5 p.m. at the above individual rates.

These open swim hours will last through mid-August.

RUSTPROOFING.
EITHER YOU HAVE IT OR YOU DON'T
Car makers don't build the rustproof car and no car dealer can deliver the real rustproofing you get with the exclusive Ziebart process.
Don't be misled by some sweeping references to "anti-corrision methods" used in building some 1977 cars. Real rustproofing must be done after the car is built. And it must cover every critical area inside and under the car. That's the proven Ziebart methods. There are no shortcuts. That's why your Ziebart Dealer uses nine different patented spray tools to reach rust-prone areas. That's why he uses a rustproofing sealant that actually penetrates welded seams where rust can start. Your Ziebart Dealer can deliver a rustproofed 1978 car because that's his business—and he knows it. Call him.

Big 10 star now climbing towering maples

By JACK W. HOFFMAN

It's a long way from the Big 10 limelight to his precarious perch atop the 54-year-old maple tree.

But Jerry Imsland, the former football star who quit college just 18 credit hours from graduation at the University of Michigan, likes what he sees and does.

He's a tree-trimming foreman with Green Ridge tree service in Northville Township, and today he's tied to the swaying neck of the 50-foot dead giant and sawing off its limbs.

It's a tree-removal job, second of this Thursday morning, and Imsland and his crew of two—Bill Epps of Northville and Matt Norris of Plymouth—are methodically slicing up the three in the front yard of a Penniman Avenue house in Plymouth.

HIGH ABOVE THE ground, often out on a limb, Imsland is using ropes and saws. As he slices off each limb, Epps and Norris direct traffic, tug telephone wires from the path of the falling branches and clean up the litter.

He uses a hand saw on the smaller branches, a chain saw on the larger ones.

And those larger ones are tied to the trunk and then carefully lowered to the ground.

It's tough, dirty and dangerous work.

This tree, for example, stands right next to wires running along the street perhaps 10 feet away. More wires run past it to the house 15 feet away, and its brittle branches are directly above a brand new picket fence.

A wrong move and the still-unpainted fence is kindling, a section of Plymouth is without power or phone service, or worse, Jerry Imsland is falling.

But the job's going well.

Almost as quickly as Imsland does another limb, Epps and Norris have cut it up and stuffed it into the roaring chipper parked behind the truck at the curb.

After cutting off all of the branches, leaving a naked 25-foot-high stub, the ex-gridder unties his safety ropes, lowers his chain saw, digs his spurs into the bark and comes down 90 minutes after going up.

NOW COMES perhaps the most difficult part of the job. with eight full years with Green Ridge, Imsland's experience helps. He measures off the distance to where the tree will fall, then retraces his steps to make sure. He checks and rechecks the wires and the fence, makes sure the tug line is secure, then orders his helpers to place thick limbs across the sidewalk to keep one end of the tree trunk off the ground when it's down.

If his calculations are correct, the tree will fall just short of a "no parking" sign, missing the wires and the fence by inches. If he's wrong, somebody's going to be upset.

This is a job for the bigger of two chain saws the trio is using. It bites into the side of the tree facing the direction of the fall. Two cuts, and Imsland lifts out a heavy, triangular wedge.

He backs off and checks again. Not satisfied, he changes the shape of the cut with another pass with the saw.

Now he's ready. While Epps tugs the wires as far away from the path as possible and Norris pulls hard on the tug-line attached to near the top of the tree, Imsland makes a cut parallel to the ground on the opposite side of the wedge.

The tree quivers, and he drops his saw and runs to join Epps on the tug-line. There's the unmistakeable crack of a falling tree—but no shouts of "timber."

It falls precisely along the predetermined path.

NOW IT'S MOP-UP time (slicing the trunk into smaller pieces more easily lifted into the truck), but the three first break for lunch.

"It's good work—I like it," said Imsland, who has no serious regrets about leaving college gefore getting his physical education degree.

"Oh, I'll probably go back someday to finsh up, but right now, this job suits me."

Besides, at Green Ridge employees get a piece of the action. Eventually they'll become owners, he said.

He worked two summers with Green Ridge while attending the university, then began fulltime employment after dropping out of school just after football season in his senior year.

His first jobs were in the Green Ridge nursery division.

Then, one day, "Somebody didn't want to climb a tree. They asked me if I'd do it—for 25 cents-an-hour more." He's been at it ever since.

The former all-stater at Northville High School—where he was a three letter man, Imsland spent his first year at Kentucky before transferring to U-M. A starting offensive end in his junior year—(nine of 10 games), he was on the sidelines much of the time the next year.

Now married and the father of twin boys, the still-trim Jerry Imsland, who is sporting a sawdust-covered mustache, figures his future is as bright now as it was when the scouts were beating on his door.

"I'm happy," he said, and that's what counts.

Renewal bucks limitation mood

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Wayne County's taxpayers may be screaming "tax limitation," but its political leaders are crying for a tax renewal.

Earlier this week, a collection of its political "heavyweights," including Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, business and community leaders announced the formation of a new "grass roots" movement to support the drive for a one-mill tax renewal in Wayne County.

Even though supporters of various tax reform proposals have collected more than 500,000 signatures from around the state to put their plans on the November ballot, Citizens for County Proposition A" will be trying to convince voters not to cut $14 million from the county's budget on Aug. 8.

"The loss of $14 million in annual revenue would be a disaster," said Leonard D. Proctor, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Auditors.

He and other county officials said that unless the one-mill levy were approved most of the county's non-mandated programs would be discontined.

SINCE LAW enforcement and the courts account for more than half of the county's total expenditures of general-purpose revenue, they would be the hardest hit areas in voters turn down the renewal, said County Sheriff William Lucas and Chief Assistant Prosecutor Dominick Carnovale.

"If we can hold our own we can continue to do the job," Carnovale said, noting that wayne County's crime rate dropped 17 per cent last year.

Among the programs to be axed, according to Carnovale and Commissioner Richard Manning (D-Redford), vice-chairman of the board of commissioners, are the Organized Crime Task Force, the Witness Assistance Program and the Career Criminal Unit.

"The Career Criminal Unit has to be considered a frill because it is not mandated," Carnovale said. "But, it's something that does a very effective job." More than 1,000 "career criminals" have been successfully prosecuted by the unit, he said.

"Career criminals," Manning added, "are the most difficultt to apprehend and the most difficult to prosecute.

"If we lose the one-mill renewal we'll be back doing just plain, everyday work. And that just doesn't get to the heart of the difficulties we're facing," the commissioner said.

MANNING AND Carnovale set the tone for the county's drive to win approval of the renewal, which, according to the county's bureau of taxation, costs the average homeowner $12 annually.

Influential county officials and the Citizens for County Proposition A will be trying to show the voters the "devastating" potential effects of cutting $14 million from the county's $90 million tax revenues.

They say the ramifications will go far beyond losing just the $14 million. According to Commissioner Jarette Simmons (D-Detroit), chairman of the board, each dollar is capable of brin!ing to Wayne County another $9 in state and federal funds.

While the county's budget totals $369 million, only $90 million is generated through the property taxes, according to a budget analysis.

WHILE WAYNE'S political leaders called the kickoff of the Citizens for County Proposition A drive the beginning of a "grass roots" movement, there was little evidence of a popularly-supported effort.

"This is not a populist movement," conceded Manning. "You're not going to find the same kinds of people supporting this movement as those who got behind the Tisch petition."

Shiawasee County Drain Commissioner Robert Tisch collected broad support from middle-income and senior citizens taxpayers in trying to put his tax cutting constitutional amendment on the November ballot.

Manning added that the effort to get the one-mill renewal has, however, gained the backing of various small business groups around the county. The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, the Downriver Community Conference and the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce jumped on the bandwagon early, he said.

"It's already got the support of the small business people. They're more reluctant to support taxes than any other group," Manning said.

Charles Kato places a diamond-studded tie tack symbolizing 45 years service with GM on the tie of O.F. (Bob) Perkins.

Resident honored for 45 GM years

O.F. (Bob) Perkins of Plymouth has been honored for completion of 45 years of service with General Motors.

Perkins presently is manager of the GM Assembly Division plant in Ypsilanti.

More than 35 staff members and department heads of the plant and executives from the division's central office attended a dinner July 13 in the Plymouth Hilton Inn to honor Perkins.

THE GUESTS included Charles Katko, a GM vice-president and general manager of the division, who lauded Perkins for his loyal service to General Motors over the past 45 years.

The general manager noted Perkins' "outstanding leadership abilities and his desire for not being satisfied with anything but the best in everything he undertakes."

Perkins was presented several mementos, including a gold watch, diamond ring and a diamond-studded tie rack.

Perkins joined GM in 1933 as an hourly rated employee of Fisher Boyd Division at Flint. He became a patrolman at Fisher Body's plant in Grand Blanc in 1942 and the following year was made a junior process engineer.

He was named a foreman in 1945 at Fisher Body's assembly plant at St. Louis, Mo., and two years later assumed a similar position at the Wilmington, Del., plant of Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac Assembly Division—predecessor to GM Assembly Division. Subsequent promotions there made him general foreman, superintendent and shift superintendent.

IN 1963, PERKINS was named general superintendent of B-O-P's plant at Fremont, Calif.

He then was elevated to production manager of the GM Assembly Division plant at South Gate, Calif., in 1965, and assumed the similar position at the GMAD plant at Arlington, Tex., the following year.

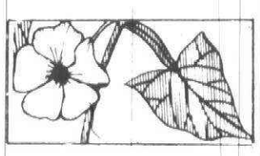

Perkins was promoted to manager of the GMAD plant at Framingham, Mass., in 1968, and the next year moved to the Fisher Body assembly plant at Lordstown, Ohio, to become plant manager—a position he held until becoming manager of the Willow Run plant in October 1971.

It was at that time that responsibility for assembly operations formerly under Chevrolet and Fisher Body Divisions at Willow Run was placed with GM Assembly Division.

Master of ceremonies at the dinner honoring Perkins was Clyde K. Oran, production manager at the Willow Run facility.

Closer look is being taken at single fire force

Citizen's Committee for United Services is beginning to discuss more specific ideas on creating a single fire department for Plymouth Township and City of Plymouth.

Arch Vallier, chairman of a subcommittee studying joint fire service, believes that money could be saved if ambulance services were more efficient.

After talking with Plymouth Chief George Schoenneman, Vallier reported back that ambulance costs—in both dollars and time—exceed those of fire protection.

VALLIER HAS SUGGESTED that close attention be given to the advantages of establishing a public safety authority.

The subcommittee on fire protection also plans to investigate insurance rates for both communities to determine whether resident would receive lower premium charges with a combined department.

Tom Turner asked at the last meeting whether the fire station in city hall would be an absolute necessity for a combined force. Vallier answered that the city hall was the best location for serving Plymouth, and very likely would have to be used as the central station.

Vallier added that he saw no way without building a new station somewhere in the township—that the city hall station could be closed.

The subcommittee is operating under the assumption that two stations—one in the city and one in the township—are needed.

E. J. McClendon feels that the area to the west of town is ideal for a new, third station in the long-range future.

THE INITIAL REACTION of the subcommittee on equipment is that there would be a pumper, ladders, squad and ambulance assigned to each station with the auxiliaries at the township hall and city fire station number two.

Of the two manned stations, one would initially respond to a fire alarm with the second alarm calling for a response from the second station.

The committee feels there is a need to review reserve equipment and manpower to service a population of 45,000.

The committee feels further development is needed in the area of the township's volunteers, and cross-training for both volunteers and fulltime firefighters should take place.

THE COMMITTEE as a whole has been discussing how best to obtain input from residents.

Methods being considered for citizen input include an advisory ballot question, surveys, public meetings, newspaper straw ballots, or group meetings conducted by a public opinion research group.

Organization and service clubs represented at the June 22 meeting of CUS included: Jerry Loiselle, Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce; Janet Luce, Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA; Brian Kidston, Kiwanis Club; Judy Morgan, American Association of University Women; and, Don Morgan, Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Members of the Citizens' Committee for United Services are Nobert Battermann, chairman. William Hartman, E.J. McClendon, William B. Silvis, Thomas Turner, Carol Levitte, Arch Vallier, W. Edward Wendover, Joe West and M. J. Willette.

Down and Dirty

After several years of on-again-off-again plans, the Wayne County Road Commission had two houses on the northeast corner of Joy and Sheldon Roads in Plymouth Township demolished last week. Next year, the county is scheduled to turn Sheldon into a five-lane road from Joy to Ann Arbor Trail. The houses had to go to make room for the extra pavement.

Roll Call Report

HUD's sales trimmed

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes immediately preceding the Fourth of July recess.

HOUSE

CONGRESSIONAL VETO Adopted, 244 for and 140 against, an amendment giving either house of Congress power to veto certain Department of HUD regulations. It was attached to HR 12433, a HUD bill awaiting final passage after the July 4 recess.

The regulation in question, authored by HUD Secretary Patricia Harris, directs that a certain portion of a city's annual community development block grant be spent on projects for low- and middle-income persons. Many congressmen object to that directive.

The constitutional issue spotlighted by this vote is what Congress can do to countermand executive branch regulations it dislikes. The executive branch writes thousands of regulations each year in implementing the general language of laws enacted by Congress.

Rep. Garry Brown, R-Mich., the sponsor, said: "The executive branch has used its regualtion-writing authority not to flesh out the law but to undermine the law. It has used its authority to thwart the will of Cogress."

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., an opponent, said: "Congress is not a pitiful, helpless giant in its dealings with the bureaucracy. We have ample means and powers to see that the legislation we enact is implemented the way we want it to be."

Members voting "yea" favored the amendment. Reps. William Ford, D-15, James Blanchard, D-18, William Broomfield, R-19, and Curl Pursell, R-2, voted "yea."

Reps. David Bonior, D-12 and William Brodhead, D-17, voted "nay."

BUYING A HOME Rejected, 93 for and 285 against, an amendment that sought to require person buying a home for the first time to receive special government counseling as a condition of receiving an FHA mortgage loan. Such counseling would explain the costliness of home-ownership, in hopes, its advocates said, of cutting the FHA foreclosure rate that costs the government millions annually. The amendment was proposed to HR 12433, a Department of HUD bill awaiting final passage.

Rep. Marty Russo, D-Ill., a sponsor, said: "Let us mandate pre-purchasing counseling for first-time home buyers so they know what responsibilities go along with home-ownership and are not led to believe the only cost is the monthly mortgage payment."

Rep. Thomas Ashley, D-Ohio, an opponent, said the Mortgage Bankers Association told him "this amendment...would provide major disincentives for lenders and sellers to deal with first-time homebuyers" and that the amendment "could have devastating effects on the ability of young...families to purchase a home."

Members voting "nay" opposed the amendment. Brodhead voted "yea." Bonior, Ford, Blanchard, Broomfield and Pursell voted "nay."

SENATE

NEW YORK AID Passed, 53 for and 27 against, a bill (HR 12426) providing up to $1.5 billion worth of federal loan guarantees necessary to avert New York City's bankruptcy. The bill, sent to conference with House, follows up the 1975 federal loan legislation that expired June 30, 1978.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., a supporter, said the bill would "preserve our national city...the capital of the nation in the very real terms of economics and finance, with an enormous concentration of the business, the culture, the medicine, the education, the lines of communication and the agencies of credit which represent the strength of the U.S. to the world."

Senators voting "yea" favored the federal assistance.

Sen. Donald Riegle, (Dem) voted "yea."

Sen. Robert Griffin, (Rep) did not vote.

3 charged in tire theft

Three Detroit men were caught in the act of stealing wire rim tires from Jack Selle Buick last week, according to Plymouth police.

Charles Johnson, Michael Williams and Alan Wilkerson—all 28 and all from Detroit—were arraigned Thursday afternoon in 35th District Court on a charge of larceny from an auto.

Chief Tim Ford said that Selle's had been hit by thieves a number of times in recent months and was under police surveillance the night the men were arrested.

The men are scheduled for preliminary examinations July 20 in the 35th District Court.

My doctor pronounced me cured of cancer.

My boss didn't.

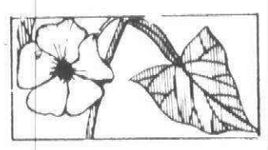

My boss didn't understand that I was healthy again.

So I was let go.

A lot of people are like my boss. They think that everyone dies of cancer. I thought so, too. Until the American Cancer Society, through one of its service and rehabilitation programs, helped me return to a normal life.

The ACS also has local Units that help Americans who've never had cancer understand it better.

Today, more and more, cancer is a curable disease. Ignorance about cancer is curable, too.

FUNERALS FOR THE MILITARY AND FRATERNAL

When a veteran's military funeral and burial is required, there are specific ceremonies, equipment and procedures that must be adhered to — and exactly! We have the proper ceremonial equipment and are well-versed in military protocol so that we can provide services "by the book" in honoring the veteran in his final hour.

Fraternal orders, such as the Masons, also have specific funeral requirements. We have conducted many, many funerals for members of fraternal and religious orders, so we are used to handling those rituals so important to the brotherhoods.

If you would like to have advance information regarding military requirements and veteran's funeral and burial expense allowances, or about the many fraternal order funerals we have conducted, just call or drop by. We invite you to counsel with our funeral specialists, be he Masonic, military, K of C, Elks or any of the other fine groups in the area.

Migration to cities reversing

Migration from rural America toward the cities, a well-established pattern for most of our history, has shown a reversal in the past decade. Many nonmetropolitan areas are now growing faster than urban areas.

The relative peace and quiet, the wide-open spaces, and proximity to uncluttered recreational areas are among the more obvious attractions keeping rural and small town residents at home and enticing urbanites to get away from it all.

But the natural attractiveness of such areas is being threatened by hasty development and by the rapid influx of people who want to ive there permanently or have a vacation retreat.

Scientists of The University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research (ISR) have completed an interdisciplinary study of growth and development in Emmet and Cheboygan Counties, at the tip of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

Bordering on Lakes Michigan and Huron, these popular recreational areas are noted for their inland lakes and rivers, resources which are particularly susceptible to damage from excessive or improper use.

Between 1960 and 1070, population in Cheboygan County increased by 13 per cent and that in Emmet County by more than 15 per cent, more than double their increase for the 1950-60 period, the researchers found. But during the brief 1970-74 period, both counties experienced a population surge of 15.5 and 12.9 per cent, respectively.

"These figures are impressive," Marans and Wellman say, "because the population increase for the entire state of Michigan during the same five-year period was only 2.5 per cent."

The population of the two northern Michigan counties increases nearly 50per cent during the summer months. The counties attract a large number of people for "off-season" trips in winter, spring, and especially autumn.

Robert W. Marans, program director with ISR's Survey Research Center, and John D. Wellman, former SRC colleague now at Virginia Polytechnic Institute, report their findings in "The Quality of Nonmetropolitan Living: Evaluations, Behaviors and Expectations of Northern Michigan Residents" (ISR, $12 paperbound, $17 hardcover).

They believe these findings will aid in the planning necessary to protect regional natural attractions. Incorporating the thoughts, expectations, and activities of permanent and seasonal residents gathered in 1974 and 1975 surveys in Emmet and Cheboygan Counties, their book illustrates the choices and trade-offs that residents are willing to make between environmental quality and new development.

For example, economic development and creation of new jobs were favored by the vast majority (93 per cent) of year-round and seasonal homeowners in the area. But when faced with a choice, Marans and Wellman report, the number of people willing to accept new economic opportunities at the expense of good water quality was reduced by one-half. Similarly, one-quarter of those opting for more jobs were willing to forego them if more jobs meant developing farmland or higher tax bills.

Young people gave the most negative evaluations of the efforts of local government to control growth. Half of all waterfront residents said they believed the region would benefit if local governments would exert a great deal more effort to deal with future growth.

There is certain to be continued growth and development in this already popular recreation area, Marans and Wellman conclude. In addition, the study has demonstrated that people's views on the environment are often in conflict and are likely to remain so in the years ahead.

The researchers found in the attitudes of area residents a "new mood" concerned with limiting growth and planning more carefully for it. There is already some evidence that these attitudes are beginning to be converted into policies that can help preserve the natural values so many people are seeking. The challenge for the people of the region, they say, will be to articulate their disparate views and, in doing so, to better understand the qualitative aspects of nonmetropolitan living in northern Michigan and to work more effectively toward its preservation and enhancement.

Natural scientists from the U-M Biological Station and School of Natural Resources were involved in the study in assessing present and potential water quality in the two-county area.

Donald C. Pelz, director of the ISR Center for Research on Utilization of Scientific Knowledge, will seek to place knowledge gained from the study into the hands of people whose actions and decisions will affect the scientist with the U-M Biological Station in northern Michigan.

Marans and Wellman report in "The Quality of Nonmetropolitan Living" that year-round residents of the two counties were slightly more likely than seasonal residents to favor extensive growth and development because of the economic advantages they would bring to the region.

However, most people (69 per cent) in the area said they favor policies for limited development. One quarter of those surveyed—including permanent residents, second-home owners, and vacationers—opposed any growth whatsoever.

Some conclusions drawn:

- People living in areas already heavily built-up differed little from those in sparsely-populated neighborhood in attitudes toward growth and development; among waterfront residents, however, perceptions of lake or river conditions were strongly related to attitudes about regional growth, awareness of environmental problems on waterways was likely to be associated with anti-growth sentiments.
- When offered the choice between a new state park and a privately developed ski resort, three out of four respondents who chose one of the alternatives selected the park.

Bowles backs Phil Ogilvie

Former judge George Bowles of Plymouth has endorsed Philip R. Ogilvie for 35th District Court judge.

Bowles, a Wayne Circuit judge for 19 years and former chairman of the State Labor Mediation Board, is in private law practice in Plymouth.

"In my opinion, Ogilvie possesses the qualities that are most important to properly handle the authority given a judge. He is, first of all, experienced. He knows peoples' problems and he knows the people themselves. Perhaps, most important, he is fair.

"A judge must be impartial, patient and possess high integrity. In addition he must be able to handle the authority he is given.

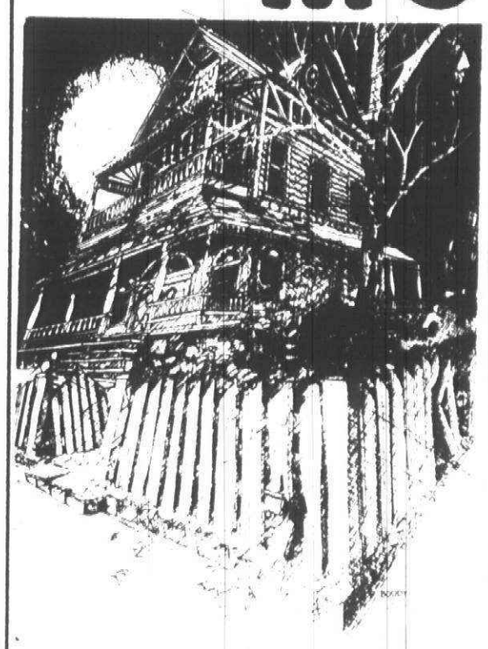

"Ogilvie's experience as both a practicing attorney in civil matters, as a city attorney, and as a municipal judge makes him, I believe, the most qualified candidate for this important community position."

He noted that the Northville attorney has a sense of the needs and problems of young people and that his role in establishing a probation department for the 35th District Court area was evidence of this concern.

In private practice, Bowles specializes in fact finding, arbitration and mediation, in municipal, school and private sectors as well as serving as an impartial mediator in family disputes.

Ogilvie is one of seven candidates for a four-year term for the newly established second judgeship in the district court serving the communities of Plymouth, Canton and Northville. He has served as Northville's city attorney for nearly 20 years and was the city's municipal judge prior to the establishment of the district court.

SC must cut $275,000

College budget still in trouble

By TIM RICHARD

Back at the drawing boards, Schoolcraft College officials are worrying not only about cutting $275,000 from the budget but whether the governor will veto their state aid bill.

The good side of the coin is that Schoolcraft's state aid is up 10.5 per cent from the last fiscal year, President C. Nelson Grote told the July 12 board meeting.

The bad side is that the two-year college was expecting 13 to 14 per cent boost in legislative bills by the fiscal year that began July 1.

"IN DRAWING up the budget, we took an average of the house and senate bills," said Grote.

The house bill allocated $4.98 million for Schoolcraft; the senate, $5.01 they cut both the senate and house bills," Grote went on.

At the moment, the legislative bill as passed awards Schoolcraft $4.7 million. But even that amount is in danger.

Gov. William G. Milliken is reportedly considering a veto because a number of items in the package are more than he had requested. "If it is vetoed," said Grote, "I'm not certain the (political) climate in September will be as favorable as now."

The board of trustees unanimously passed a resolution asking Milliken to sign the bill as it stands.

GROTE SAID he will reconvene the administrative budget committee, headed by Kenneth Lindner, vice-president for administrative affairs. Its chief work will be to recommend cuts of $275,000, to make up for the state appropriation loss, and report back to the board of trustees July 26.

Another significant gain for community colleges is that they are now budgeted by a line item appropriation, the same as four-year colleges and universities.

In previous years, the legislature had funded community colleges by an enrollment formula, the same as K-12 school districts.

The advantage is that with a line item appropriation, the college knows, as soon as the bill becomes law, exactly what dollars it will receive from the state for the fiscal year. K-12 districts don't know until their fall enrollment figures become final, what they will get from the state.

Schoolcraft's total operating budget, passed by the board last month, is $11.2 million in the general fund plus another $1 million for capital equipment and special maintenance.

he property tax levy, for both operations and debt retirement, will be 2.09 mills, down 0.01 from the prior year.

TRUSTEES asked for improvements in the preparation of so-called "ancillary" budgets—for cultural and public affairs, student activities, institutes and the Women's Resource Center.

Trustees Nancie Blatt and Rosina Raymond were unhappy that the Women's Resource Center budget appeared to be only $226. Grote explained that that was only a restricted grants and gifts account, and that the operations of the Women's Resource Center were in the general fund budget at upwards of $30,000.

Treasurer Harry Greenleaf raised the possibility of showing program budgets separately, and allocating administrative costs to programs rather than showing administrative costs in one lump.

To attend arts camp

Five students from Plymouth are among those attending the third summer session of Blue Lakes Fine Arts Camp in Twin Lake, Mich.

Students attending the camp from July 25 to Aug. 6 include: Cynthia L. Dance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Dance of Joan, band; Jennifer J. Weiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Weiser of Priscilla Lane, dance; Christine Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Bennett of Northville Road, and Andrea Macunovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Macunovich of Redbud, both in the orchestra; and, Lynn Hasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hasley of Drury Lane, piano.

Blue Lake, which each summer hosts more than 3,100 elementary and high school students, offers instruction in a wide variety of fine arts fields.

Located 15 miles north of Muskegon in the Manistee National Forest, the 13-year-old summer school of the arts has grown to be one of the largest facilities of its type in the U.S.

JCs praise the press

Editor:

Newspaper reporters frequently are criticized for their efforts in reporting the news to the public.

Someone is always criticizing somebody or something, and I seldom hear a word of praise for a job well done or a pat on the back for an honest effort put forth.

Your cooperation and efforts throughout the Fourth of July preparations were excellent. Our commitment to provide our community with these events on this very special day could not have been realized without your excellent talents and services.

I would like to endorse that pat on the back along with a cheer of praise to everyone at the Observer for all you have extended to us.

Candidate clears name

Editor:

To avoid any confusion in the coming August primary election, I think I should tell everyone who I am not! I am not the husband or relative of Mary Childs, mayor pro-tem of Plymouth. Mary is a very talented and capable person and her husband, Eric, is a great guy, but as far as I know we are not related in any way.

Another person I am not is Chas Child of the Community Crier. Chas is much younger and better looking than I am, and obviously a good writer. Please note that he spells his name "Child" and my name is spelled "Childs."

If I should be lucky enough to win in this primary election, I would like to do it on my own and not because of a mix up of names.

New National Smoker Study:

Tar/Taste Gap Bridged.

Smokers rate taste of low tar MERIT equal to–or better than–leading high tar brands.

Low tar MERIT, with 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco, has shattered the myth of "low tar, low taste."

In a new national smoker study conducted with high tar smokers, MERIT was proven to deliver the flavor of leading high tar brands.

Results Endorse MERIT Breakthrough

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers rate MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading high tar cigarettes tested! Cigarettes having up to twice the tar.

Confirmed: Majority of high tar smokers confirm taste satisfaction of low tar MERIT.

Detailed interviews were also conducted with current MERIT smokers.

Confirmed: 85% of MERIT smokers say it was an "easy switch" from high tar brands.

Confirmed: Overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers say their former high tar brands weren't missed!

Confirmed: 9 out of 10 MERIT smokers not considering other brands.

First Major Alternative To High Tar Smoking

MERIT has proven conclusively that it not only delivers the flavor of high tar brands—but continues to satisfy!

This ability to satisfy over long periods of time could be the most important evidence to date that MERIT is what it claims to be: The first major alternative to high tar smoking.

THE PAPER FISH will be flying this week in Ann Arbor, the symbol of the annual Street Fair.

John Groot, master pewterer who lives on Pacific in Plymouth, and Michael Mandzuik, painter and print maker from Brookfield in Canton Township, are among the 300 artists and craftsmen in the fair.

This will be the 19th annual street fair and the artists are handpicked. More than 600 applicants apply for space in the show. The number is narrowed down by a jurying process.

Street Fair dates are July 19-22. Hours are 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

SHANE ANDREW Byerly, son of Cher and Andrew Byerly, was born June 19. He is their first child.

by ELLIE GRAHAM

Cher is the owner of Cher's Closet, Wing Street at Forest, Plymouth.

Congratulations! Everyone says he's a lovely baby.

SKIP WHITTAKER came very close to winning the bike, first prize in the recent fundraising bike-athon for diabetes.

Skip's sponsors paid off a total of $330.10.

LINDA CLINARD, reading specialist at Eriksson Elementary School, is conducting two reading seminars for parents.

Evening session will be from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday. Morning session will be 9-11 a.m., July 25. Seminars will be in Eriksson's multi-purpose room.

Preschool reading readiness, skill development and home activities in reading will be discussed. There also will be a display of materials and ideas.

The seminar is aimed at parents of Eriksson students but is open to the public.

SENIOR CITIZENS in the Plymouth-Canton area should get their reservations in early for the summer party planned by the Civitan Club.

The party in the Mayflower Meeting House will begin at 6 p.m., Aug. 25. There will be Bingo with prizes, a summer buffet supper, and dancing to a live band.

Advance tickets at $1.75 per person can be purchased at the Plymouth Community Credit Union, the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce or the Canton-Northville-Plymouth YMCA. For more information, call 453-2904.

An elevator has been installed so there will be no problem of climbing stairs.

Michael Caffery of the Civitans is chairing the party and he is looking forward to a capacity crowd. The music will be provided by members of the club.

HOW WOULD you like to go up in a snorkle? Up in the air so high?

Mark Woolenweber, assistant to the city manager, Fire Chief George Schoenneman and Mary Childs went over to Grand Rapids last week to look over some equipment for the Plymouth Fire Department.

When offered a demonstration of the aerial platform, Mary accepted along with Mark and George. And up they went—85 feet in the air. (The platform was equipped with a railing.)

WELCOME WAGON International, the national greeting service that has welcomed millions of Americans to new homes, will be 50 years old this week.

The organization will celebrate its half-century mark with a gala birthday party this week in Memphis, Tenn., the city where it was founded.

Locally, representatives greet new residents to Plymouth, and Canton and Plymouth townships.

THERE WILL BE a clothes closet clearance Wednesday and Thursday at the Monastery of the Blessed Sacrament, 29575 Middlebelt Road. Hours both days will be 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. with proceeds going to the cloistered Dominican nuns.

The monastery is across from Glen Oaks Golf Club.

ELIZABETH ERIKSSON of Eskilstuna, Sweden, is a summer house guest of the James Garbers. She will be here until mid-August.

This is her second visit to the Plymouth community.

COLLEEN TRIPP'S cake decorating made such a hit with the people from the Sheldon Road Ford Plant that they refused to eat the frosting. Instead, they took it back to the plant to show it off.

The cake was made for the 75th Ford birthday party when the company entertained local government officials and business people.

The top of the cake was a reproduction of the cover of the 75th anniversary edition of Ford Times. Colleen spent 14 hours on the frosting job. She divided the picture of Henry Ford in his first automobile into small squares and proceeded to duplicate it on a large sheet cake.

"I worked on rice wafer paper and it was just like using water colors," said Colleen, an artist with an unusual medium.

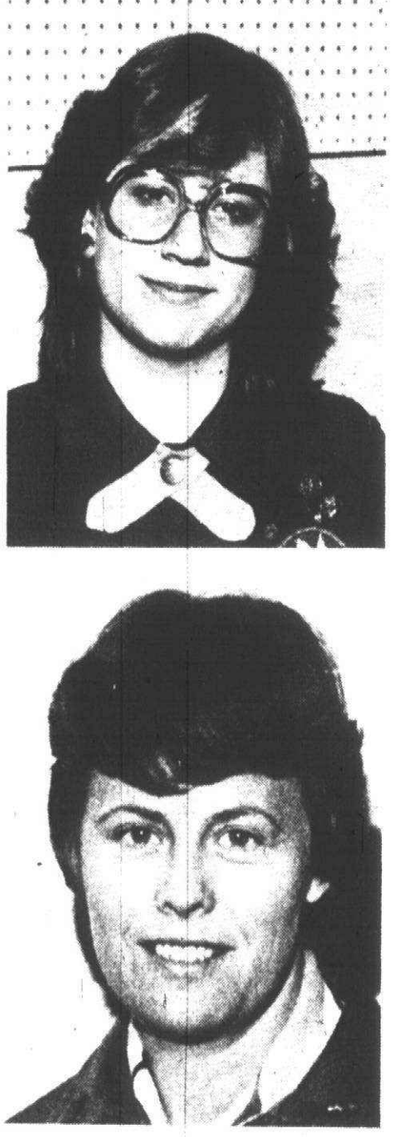

Brownies to seniors

Girl Scouts are the in crowd

What's yellow and green, has 60 legs and goes "Yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum, yum?"

The answer: A troop of 30 Girl Scouts sampling their new shipment of Girl Scout cookies.

The jokes go on and on. But scouting is more than selling cookies. It is an experience in living—social behavior, community responsibility, and caring for others.

It is working together, planning and executing projects. And it is learning to appreciate nature and live close to it in the great outdoors.

PAT MOSTI of Sturbridge Lane in Canton Township and her assistant, Tracy Harbison, started Cadette Troop 346 last October with six members. They ended the season with 22—seven eighth graders and and 15 seventh graders. Two cadettes are from West Middle School and the rest are from Pioneer Middle School.

Cadettes include seventh, eighth and ninth graders, an age group that sometimes becomes bored with scouting.

Mrs. Mosti kept a diary of the troop's activities. It reveals why the troop's membership increased and why none could complain of boredom.

Oct. 26: Went to Parmenter's Cider Mill for cider and doughnuts, then to Canton Jaycee's haunted house.

Nov. 12: Went to Eastern Michigan University for football game.

Nov. 19: Went to Copp's Riding Stable in Northville. Built a campfire, had hot cocoa and roasted marshmallows.

November craft: Mouse cheese candles and pine-cone turkeys.

Investiture and rededication: Parents invited to ceremony complete with candle lighting and refreshments.

November-December: Sold 300 Girl Scout calendars and awarded prizes to three top sellers in troop.

DEC. 7: Roller skating at Skateland, took refreshments with us.

Dec. 14: Longer meeting for Christmas crafts. Three choices voted on earlier in month were worked on at separate tables. Cadettes could complete as many as they had time for. 1)Decorate giant pine cone Christmas trees and spray snow on base. 2) Gingerbread-Lifesaver stained glass window look ornaments. 3) Milkweed pod Christmas ornaments painted silver and trimmed with sequins, glitter, etc.

Dec. 18: Troop Christmas party and gift exchange. Different committees in charge of games, decorations and food. All helped clean up. Total cost paid for by troop treasury from calendar sale fund (girls' gift to themselves).

Dec. 21: Made Lifesaver and yarn dolls to send to Plymouth Center for Human Development children.

Jan. 18: Senior Girl Scout troop came and talked about challenges and attaining First Class.

Jan. 21: Sledding and tobogganing at Cass Benton Park. Took along hot chocolate, doughnut holes and cookies.

Jan. 25: Roller skating at Skateland, this time for two sessions.

January craft: Mouse bookmarks. This is the second safe-for-small-children toy. Whole troop is working on child care badge.

February cookie sale: Troop sold 2,124 boxes of cookies, an average of 101 each. Four top sellers awarded prizes. Two girls sold more than 200.

Feb. 25: International dinner, games and dance party. Each patrol brought two dishes—Hawiian, Italian, Mexican, German, French and Cuban. Leaders provided punch, and dessert was sample Girl Scout cookies.

MARCH COOKIE cupboards: Two at Great Scott and one at Krogers.

March 8: Made matching name tags and bags for upcoming service project.

March 15: Bowling at Superbowl after school.

March 17: Social Dependability Challenge Group met for its final preps meeting.

March 22: Easter crafts—felt bunnies, chicks and mice.

March 24: Bake sale for food costs for those going to Spring Fling.

March 25: Easter egg hunt and party for group of 4-7-year-olds at Canton Recreation Center. Games, songs, puppet show, plastic eggs filled with candy and larger items in plastic bags. Refreshments of Kool-aid and cookies. Girls helped little ones and participated themselves.

April 4: Challenge group attended Junior Troop 333 meeting and taught them three dances—social, square, folk—as part of challege preps.

April 13: Leader and four girls attended camping training so girls could teach others before Junior Encampment and Spring Fling.

April 16: Lock-in at YMCA in Ann Arbor, Swimming, racquet ball, free play, movie, popcorn, dinner. Each troop shared refreshments. Juice and doughnuts for quick breakfast. Out by 8 a.m.

April 19: Made swishy bags and mess kits while camping. Demonstartion and instructions for all important campout skills.

APRIL 21: Challenge group met at leader's home to accept their challenge and plan how to carry it out.

April 22: Campout simulation for practice. To Camp Crawford Campsite 2. Set up three types of tents, made personal wash area, set up dishwashing area, made three types of fire, cooked lunch on two fires and boiled water on third. After eating, took everything down, filled in fireholes, drainpit, etc. and replaced sod, leaving area better than found it.

April 28: Second bake sale for Spring Fling costs.

May 3: Formed challenge of out-of-doors group. Will meet to form preps later this spring.

May 3: Troop voted to work for Fun-in-the-sun patch. Started Mom's Day gifts. Two choices—spice board or wishing well planter.

May 10: Completed Mother's Day gifts.

May 13: Social Dependability Group's Challenge did not take place as scheduled for various reasons—two out of five had flu, bad choice of dates, lack of interest by troop members. Will be rescheduled in June.

May 19: Spring Fling weekend attended by two small patrols. Weather not terrific, but enjoyed by those attending. The weather did not help to improve everyone's plans.

MAY 24: Completed summer trip decisions so form can be sent to TSD. Began planning June campout, did menu, patrols for camping only, sleeping arrangements.

May 31: Continue campout plans with caper charts, equipment needed, drivers and activity schedule.

June 3: Horseback riding at Willowbrook Stables. Costs more than Copp's but girls like horses better and girls have improved ability since they started working on Horsewoman badge. Took cooler of cold drinks.

June 7: Final campout planning and tied up loose ends. Collected all permission slips. June 9-11: To Camp Linden after school. Returned Sunday around dinner time.

June 14: Evaluate campout. Made final plans for summer trip to northern lower Michigan—Mackinac Island, Charlevoix, Boyne Falls, Traverse City, Sleeping Bear Dunes. Staying in condominium in Charlevoix as central point. Will be gone 3½ days. Troop is planning two money-making projects before we go as troop treasury can pay for about half.

June 16: Girl Scout Day at Bob-Lo. Limited number of girls going because of year-round school. July: One planning meeting and swim party.

THE TROOP will have a planning meeting and fun event in August to which bridging sixth graders will be invited. By mid-September they hope to be reorganized and ready to start regular monthly meetings.

Meetings are Wednesday nights in Mrs. Mosti's home. Court of Honor meetings are the first Monday of each month.

Each week a different girl provides the treat and beverage for the meeting. Parents take turns driving to events along with the leaders.

Membership dues for each cadette are $1 per month.

GS area association has a 'very good year'

JoAnne Morse, area chairman for the Plymouth-Northville-Canton area association, recalled the song "It's Been a Very Good Year" when she made her annual report.

The association is part of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Attendance at association meetings has almost tripled. Mrs. Morse attributes the larger turnout to the addition of programs and refreshments to the regular business meetings.

There was a spoof fashion show in October, a guest speaker from the Michigan State Police in January, and the film "Cadette Wagon Train Trip" and awards at the May meeting.

The Brownie playday Oct. 29 at Central Middle School attracted 600 girls and leaders, all in Halloween costumes. Marion West chaired the March 16 Sing-along at Pioneer Middle School. More than 700 persons attended and $160 was collected for the Juliette Low Fund.

There was a Junior Encampment and a Day Camp.

Twelve girls from Senior Troop 501 and their adviser, Martha Bentley, went to Mexico for 17 days in the spring. Cadette Troop 411 under the leadership of Carol Scruggs and Jo Ellen Odom, took the Fort Seward Wagon Train trip.

Junior Troop 482 baked cookies at the Canton Recreation Center then sold them at the Kroger store at Ford and Sheldon roads. Susan Craig, Rosemary Harrington and Linda Wilkins are troop leaders. Junior Troop 216 and leaders Mary Lou Johnson, Romaine Kling and Carol Thread continued their service project. This involves their support of the residents of Tonquish Creek Manor on a year 'round basis.

Brownie Troop 368 went to the Shrine Circus with leaders Jackie LaChapelle and Linda Van Conant. It was a family affair and 47 persons were in the party.

Newly formed Brownie Troop 222 received its troop flag from the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. Maureen Robinson is troop leader.

Joyce Brothers to lead off Livonia Town Hall

Dr. Joyce Brothers, known for the down-to-earth psychological advice she gives readers of her syndicated column, will headline the Livonia Town Hall lecture series of 1978-79.

Those buying tickets to the four-part series will also hear advice on party planning and health and beauty and laugh to a spoof on bureaucracy.

Dr. Brothers will open the verbal festivities with a talk at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18 in the Mai Kai Theater, Plymouth and Farmington, Livonia.

She will be followed on Nov. 15 by Clive David, a party creator, who will offer the basics of successful party giving. Emily Wilkens, author of "A New You: The Art of Good Grooming," will be at the podium Jan. 17 to tell how today's celebrities stay glamorous.

Booked for March 21 is James Boren, who earned his doctorate in history, philosophy and education from the University of Texas. However, his lecture will be on none of these subjects. He has held enough governmental positions to know the faults of the bureaucracy, and these he will lampoon.

The Livonia Town Hall lectures series is presented to raise funds for the international scholarship program of the American Field Service. Through it, Livonia high school students are set to study in foreign countries, and foreign students are brought to Livonia to attend high school. T

Tickets to the series cost $15 and may be secured by writing to Teresa Carosio, 18525 Loveland. Enclose a check made out to Livonia Town Hall.

Tickets to the celebrity luncheon that follows in the Mayflower Meetinghouse in Plymouth cost $20 for the series or $5 apiece. The highlight of the luncheons is the question and answer session with the visiting celebrity. To obtain tickets for the luncheons, send a check to Livonia Town Hall, Box 2143, Livonia.

"I ATTEMPT TO GIVE people information which will be of some service to them in everyday living," is the philosophy that guides Joyce Brothers. Named a half a dozen times in George Gallup's annual poll of Most Admired Women, Dr. Brothers dispenses advice through a variety of media.

She writes a newspaper column, appears on radio and TV and authors a column in Good Housekeep magazine. She also turns out features for the UPI wire service.

She is a consultant to a large range of organizations, including the Lighthouse for the Blind, the Federation of Jewish Charities and the fundraising committee for the Olympics.

Dr. Brothers is author of two books, "Ten Days to a Memory," a resource manual for remembering people's names and faces, and "Better Than Ever," a book written when she passed 40.

In that book, she expresses the belief that only when a woman passes 40 and her children are on their own can she be free to live her most exciting years.

CLIVE DAVID, known as a party coordinator, has masterminded important parties in this county and Europe for the past 15 years.

"There are basics in successful party-giving that apply to us all," he stresses, "be it in the White House or your house."

In his talk David will discuss the careful detail work that must be done for outstanding parties.

Among those in which he has been involved was the masked ball in a 17th century palace in Venice which was attended by such celebrities as Princess Grace and Prince Rainier, Aristotle Onassis, Elizabeth Taylor, Richard Burton and J. Paul Getty.

Although born and educated in England, David is now a U.S. citizen.

Fashion designer Emily Wilkens, the first to introduce such items as the petticoat for juniors and fake fur fashions, was consultant fabrics and color with the New York Fashion Insitute of Technology where she taught fashion design and lectured.

After being appointed to the board of trustees of the institute by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Miss Wilkens resigned her teaching post, though she still gives occasional lectures.

In 1966 she published a book on health and beauty called The New You," and shortly afterward began writing a syndicated column on the same subject.

She has also written "Secrets From the Super Spas," in which she stresses the importance of the link between health, beauty and exercise.

A person who won't let a new beauty technique or diet plan go uninvestigated, Miss Wilkens travels extensively to interview such beauties as Marisa Berenson and Margaux Hemingway.

DR. JAMES pokes fun at beaucrats in his book, "When in Doubt, Mumble," He recently got the better of the U.S. Post Office when he set out on horseback on a pony express ride with mail.

Test mail was sent from Philadelphia to Washington at the same time Boren galloped the distance with duplicate mail. His pony express beat all the U.S. Mail, some by as much as eight days.

Chairman of the board of NAVCO, a firm that designs and engineers training facilities at the FBI Academy, Boren does consulting work, primarily for governmental agencies. He believes much could be improved in the bureaucracy.

His way of fighting it is satire. He, therefore, founded an organization called INATAPROBU and devised its motto: "When in charge, ponder; when in trouble, delegate; when in doubt, mumble.

With Bill Olcheski, Boren founded a monthly newsletter called "Mumblepeg" to keep people "abreast of inside mumbling in the windy world of governmental, corporate and acadmic bureaucracy."

Carla Upton to solo in Geneva Musicale

Carla Upton of Plymouth, a summer graduate of the University of Michigan School of Music in piano performance, will be the soloist in the fourth concert in the Geneva Musicale.

The concert will be at 7 p.m. Sunday, July 23, in Geneva United Presbyterian, Sheldon Road just north of Ford Road in Canton Township. Free babysitting will be provided and a $1 donation to the Michigan Diabetes Association will be accepted at the door.

The musicale concert is a preview of Miss Upton's senior graduation recital which will be given at 8 p.m. Aug. 10 at the School of Music Recital Hall in Ann Arbor. It will feature works by Bach, Beethoven, Brahms and Ravel. After graduation she intends to pursue a masters degree in piano at U-M.

The pianist was born in Plymouth. She began her studies of the piano at 5 with Florence Crandell and is currently studying with Benning Dexter at U-M. In addition to her studies, she teaches piano and guitar privately, does extensive accompanying, and is pianist at Geneva United Presbyterian Church.

Miss Upton will be featured soloist with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra at the January 1979 Family Concert.

Dinner theater is for senior citizens

The Plymouth Theatre Guild and the Mayflower Meeting House are cooperating in a Monday evening dinner-theater presentation for senior citizens.

Beginning July 24, groups of 50 or more seniors can take advantage of a special $10-per-person rate for the dinner and theater combination. The cheese bar will open at 5:30 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6:30. The play will begin at 8:15.

The theater-in-the-round production of "The Owl and the Pussycat," a three-act comedy by Bill Manhoff, will be directed by Thomas Hinks.

Dale Feldpausch will be Fred Sherman. Marlene DeFoor has the role of Doris W.

Barbra Steisand and George Segal starred in the movie version of "The Owl and the Pussycat."

The Plymouth Theatre Guild is the first community theater group in southeastern Michigan to produce the play.

Performances will be in the Mayflower Meeting House, 455 S. Main, Plymouth, July 24 and 31, and Aug. 7, 14, and 21. Reservations can be made by calling 453-1620.

O&E

Installation of RCA's photoelectric, battery-operated home smoke alarm units can be accomplished in a matter of minutes, according to the company. This shows the nature of the device.

BUSINESS PEOPLE

WALTER MCLEAN of Bloomfield Hills resigned from Campbnell-Ewald Co. advertising to become president of his own company involving the marketing, distribution and sale of an expanding industrial product.

McLean had been senior vice-president and general manager of the advertising company.

Ken Kinzler of West Bloomfield has been elected a vice-president of Cook Paint and Varnish Co.

Kinzler will remain director of the company's Detroit division, where he began his career asa chemist in 1964.

JOHN FROHOCK of Troy has been named manager of finance and administration at Kolene Corp.

Frohock has been with Kolene for the past two years.

Thanks, Suburban

Richard Fischer, general manager of Suburban Olds in Troy, received a certificate of appreciation from Leo Rice, driver education coordinator for the Clawson School District.

The award was presented on behalf of the Clawson Board of Education to Fischer for cooperation in assisting the Clawson schools in obtaining cars for its driver education program.

Clawson School Supt. Eugene Spencer said, "Without the support of Rich Fischer and Suburban Olds, our students would not have had such a worthwhile driving experience."
