Volunteers to be gunless cops for $1 wage

By DARLENE STINSON

The pay-$1 a year-isn't exactly good. But Police Chief Walter MacGregor believes he will be swamped with applications for 30 volunteer police office positions created by the Canton board Tuesday night

The volunteers will have no power of arrest or carry guns. But MacGregor says they are needed in his department for a variety of duties such as answering the phones, performing clerical work and directing traffic at public events.

MacGREGOR TOLD the board Tuesday night that the volunteers are needed "to take up the slack" when paid police officers are sick and during special events.

The volunteers will be expected to work at least 16 hours a month. The department includes 19 full-time officers, six certified part-time patrol officers and three uncertified reserves. MacGregor said two of the part-time officers and one of the reserves are currently on leaves of absence.

"There is no ability to take up the slack right now," MacGregor told the board. "But despite illness and problems beyond the control of officers. you still have to service the public."

The township board approved Mac-Gregor's request to create an auxiliary to his department by a 4-2 vote.

Trustee Lynne Goldsmith, who preferred paying the new auxiliary officers, voted no as did Treasurer Anne Bradley. Trustee Robert Myers was MacGregor, who worked with an auxiliary while serving as police chief in the City of Wayne, said the main advantage of using volunteers over paid uncertified reserves is the cost.

Uncertified reserves currently working for the department are paid $2.65 an hour. They are graduates of a reserve training course and are allowed to carry guns. Part-time officers who have earned police certification through the Criminal Justice Institute are paid $3.82 an hour.

The part-time officers and the reserves will continue to earn a wage.

The volunteers will be paid $1 a year under stipulations of the township's police insurance contract. The contract requires that police officers be paid in order to receive comprehensive liability coverage.

The 30 volunteers will end up costing the township about $30,000 by next August despite their $1-a-year salary. The cost of uniforms is estimated at $300 to $400 each. Finance director Mike Gorman says the cost of insurance coverage for each volunteer will run about $600.

The township will not have to purchase additional police insurance coverage until the current contract expires next August. Gorman said the current contract will cover the volunteers until then.

ACCORDING TO MacGregor, the volunteers will work under the supervision of certified police officers Training will be limited to on-the-job.

Under state law, MacGregor will be unable to schedule the volunteers for work. They will be allowed to pick their own hours contingent on the approval of the police officer in

"I've seen some auxiliaries you've had to run out of the building." MacGregor said of his past experience with volunteers. "They want to work all the time. We've had to discourage some of the eager beavers from coming in six nights a week

Applicants for the 30 volunteer positions will be required to take physical and oral examinations. The oral tests will be administered by two police MacGregor is hoping that some cer tified police officers who have left police work will apply for the volunteer positions. If certified officers are hired, they may be allowed to carry guns, the chief said.

"I expect a lot of people will appl. for these positions," MacGregor says There are a tremendous amount of people who are dedicated to commu-

2 candidates' water bills draw charges

In the latest batch of charges against candidates for public office in Canton, two contenders for political seats have been accused of inability to handle personal finances.

Patricia McGuire, a Canton resident and a staunch supporter of Supervisor Harold Stein, says she discovered treasurer candidate Jim Donahue uses a credit counseling service and that supervisor candidate Noel Culbert had been delinquent in making water bill payments.

Ms. McGuire said she discovered the material leading to the two charges when she was researching her own

"Since July 1, 1976, Credit Counseling Centers, Inc., has been sending the checks in to the Canton Water Department paying Jim Donahue's water bills.

"The check voucher states that their programs are intended to slow down the bankruptcy rate and rehabilitate debter-clients," Ms. McGuire said.

The Canton resident said Donahue is costing Canton money "by not paying the penalty charge normally due on late water bill payments," because Canton removes the penalty charge even after a water bill due date for people using such services.

She also accused Culbert of not paying his water bills for an entire year, and added, "Culbert paid $180 to the water department on Aug. 23. What the extra money was for is a mystery to the water department.

Culbert and Donahue, when contacted by the Observer, admitted part of the statements were true, but that other statements were false Sure I use the credit counseling service." Donahue said.

"But it's not because I have financial problems, and as far as I know, none of my water bills were paid late.'

According to Donahue, he had changed jobs within his company, a move which at first meant less pay. He said he decided to use the credit service to save time and because it was "much cheaper than having a private accountant.

He said he has a good credit record. "It seems to me I demonstrated a great deal of initiative to avoid financial problems," Donahue said.

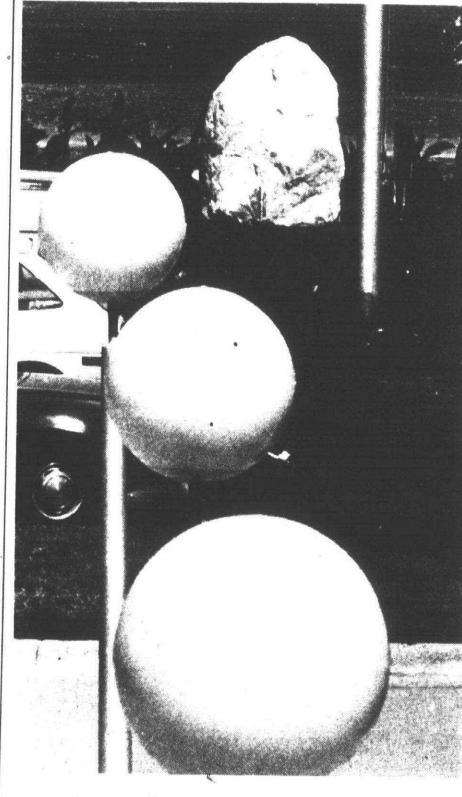

Culbert flatly denied being delinquent on his water bill for an entier year. He says he was "maybe two quarters" late paying the bill because he and his family had been busy preparing for the primary in

"I became aware of it when I got a letter and we took care of the bill," he

He said the $180 that Ms. McGuire called a "mystery to the water department" was an advance payment for the next quarter

"I wanted to show them good faith."

Ms. McGuire said she obtained the information because she go tired of "people slinging mud at Harold

CETA shakeup could cost jobs

By LYNN ORR

Nearly 40 government and school employees in the Plymouth-Canton area may see their jobs jeopardized next year under proposed new guidelines for federal job training.

But city, township and school officials aren't staying up nights worrying about Congressional debate of the

The shakeup in the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) program may cut off millions of dollars to municipalities which have relied on federal funding to beef up local staffs. In Detroit alone, nearly 25 per cent of the police department is paid through the federal program.

But Plymouth-Canton officials maintain that adherence to the training intent of the six-year old program has helped keep them out of the "CETA junkie" category.

The original intent of the program, which took off during the 1973 recession, was to provide job training for unemployed workers through public employment. Private industry was expected to siphon off the workers who had acquired new skills.

But the training aspect of the program was lost in many areas, where CETA employees retained their jobs with local governments and school districts-providing a perpetual drain on the federal sources

CONCERN THAT the program had turned into another revenue-sharing pool prompted Congress to take a close look at the guidelines for the program when it came up for renewal this

Current proposals limit CETA employment to 18 months with a $12,000 ceiling on salaries. Hiring bodies are limited to adding only a 10 per cent adjustment to that figure. The former CETA regulations placed no limited on employment or curb on salary adjustment, which allowed many cities to pay union wages to police and firefighters by supplementing the federal salary with city dollars. Plymouth-Canton officials, however. have not "taken advantage" of the federal program, they explain. Clerical, part-time and-or temporary positions in parks and recreation and public works department consume the majority of CETA-paid positions in the area. Most of the CETA funding for an individual has been short-term, they say. In Plymouth Township, for example, CETA employees have been absorbed into the township payroll over the years, explains Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert. None of the employees have lasted beyond the 18month limit unless they've moved into township-funded positions, he says.

Plymouth Township will receive about $60,000 from the Wayne County Office of Manpower, which administers the federal program. Of 52 township employees, nine are CETA-paid.

Three of those employees are dispatchers supplied by the township to the Wayne County Sheriff's department and the Michigan State Police.

The township has had difficulty in hiring qualified CETA applicants. he adds. Restrictions of residency, length of unemployment and low income criteria have kept the township from fill ing all 16 CETA slots allocated under the program, he says.

December dinner set for library

The Roman Forum Restaurant and the Canton Rotary Club will be cosponsoring a continuous dinner Dec. 4 in order to raise money for a local library

John Schwartz of Rotary said the dinner project was planned after Mario Bossio, part-owner of Roman Forum, came to the Rotary asking what "he could do for the community.'

A millage proposal on the August primary ballot to establish a library on the third floor of the new Canton Township Hall failed by almost a twoto-one vote.

The two sponsors of the dinner said they hope to make the dinner a yearly event, as well as to come up with other fundraising projects to make the library a reality.

According to Bossio, the restaurant will open for the lunch crowd as well as dinner patrons on Dec. 4. A choice of either spagetti or chicken will be offered to ticket holders, as well as a salad, non-alcoholic beverage and

All profits for the day of the dinner will be doanated to the library fund.

The meals will cost $3.75 per adult and $2.50 per child.

Alcoholic drinks will also be available at the normal price. The Roman Forum is on Ford Road just west of I-275. Tickets can be obtained at the Canton Chamber of Commerce, the Ford Road and Haggarty branch of Wayne Bank, and at Roman Forum.

School bosses say 'no conflict' in their dual education roles

By LYNN ORR

A recent state attorney general's ruling on conflict of interest throws a harsh light on the dual roles of many public officials in the state. But Plymouth-Canton School Board President Thomas Yack and Trustee Richard Arlen believe their public official roles are not jeopardized by their employment as educators. In a ruling released two weeks ago,

Attorney General Frank Kelley announced that the public role as a university regent was incompatible with employment as a school district superintendent.

The ruling may bring a resignation from the Eastern Michigan Board of

But Yack, who is employed as an

"Under those circumstances, I would have to resign," Arlen said.

But under present circumstances, when the PCEA and the Schoolcraft faculty are only related through the parent state organization, conflict is not a problem, according to Arlen.

"I'm not concerned about whether someone is pro or con (about) the MEA, but that the school district functions in a sound manner.

"If you're concerned about getting everything the union wants, that's another ballgame. Many times, it's unreasonable, and at the state and national level, I say so," Arlen added.

"Occasional conflict of interest situations can arise for anyone," he said. Because Yack has announced he won't be seeking re-election next year, he isn't worried about the situation.

KELLEY'S recent involvement with the conflict of interest issue was sparked earlier by the roles of Vincent Petipren, chairman of the 15th District Congressional Democratic Organization, which includes Canton Township.

A height and setback variance that the ZBA granted last year expired in o September.

When The Center was first proposed last year, residents of residents living near the site of the proposed complex vehemently objected to the project, contending that it would generate too much traffic.

The proposed project will include 72 bowling lanes, seven termis courts, 21 racquetball courts, health club facilities, four movie theaters, a restaurant, bar and child care facilities. Architect Ned Apigian told the board Tuesday night that construction has not started "due to circumstances beyond our control "

Apigian declined to elaborate, but he did show proof that the developers have already spent $450,000 on preparatory work for the project.

"The purpose for a time limit on site plan approval is to prevent developers from securing site plan approval and holding it indefinitely for speculative purposes. We are not doing that," Apigian stressed.

The board approved extending site plan approval for The Center by a 4-2 vote. Trustees Lynne Goldsmith and Brian Schwall voted. Trustee Robert Myers was absent.

Pupil jump ups school budget

The schools have gained about $207,000 in revenue since the official operating budget was adopted last June.

That report was given to trustees Monday night by Raymond Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The reason for the unexpected revenues is a higher student enrollment on the fourth friday in September than had been anticipated last June. State aid payments is based on the official Fourth Friday count and goes up as enrollment climbs because the aid formula is on a per pupil basis.

Last June. Hoedel explained, the budget was based on student enrollment of 16,000. When the millage rate was established last month was based on an anticipated official count of 16,100. Sin Since then, though, the district has received word from the state that its official enrollment count for purposes of computing state aid is 16,140.

That results in an increase of $292,000 in state aid payments. But since June the district has had an increase of about $37,000 in project expenses, for a net income gain of about $207,000

The current budget. Hoedel pointed out, uses for operating expenses some $1.2 million in fund equity which had been collected. The impact of the increased state aid is to reduce the current "operating deficit" down from $1.2 million to about $862,000

IN OTHER ACTION the board voted to delay taking action on a grievance filed by the teachers union for two weeks.

During those two weeks, negotiators for the school board and for the teachers' union will meet to see if the grievance can be settled, after a further investigation of facts.

The grievance involves a home economics teacher. Carol Robinson, from Plymouth Canton High who had been employed part-time, claims she was laid off and not given an opportunity to bid for a fulltime opening as required by contract.

The Plymouth-Canton Education Association presented the school board with a letter of layoff signed by Kent Bukema, principal of Canton High.

Norman Kee, director of personnel, claimed that Mrs. Robinson was never laid off and that Buikema's letter was not a notice of layoff. Layoff notices only can be issued by the central personnel office. Kee added, and principals do not have authority to hire or fire.

Because Kee had not seen the Buikema letter until Monday night's meeting, the board voted to delay acting or the grievance hearing until the impact of the letter could be investigated.

If the grievance is not settled at meetings between Kee and the PCEA the complaint will return to the school board in two weeks for a decision.

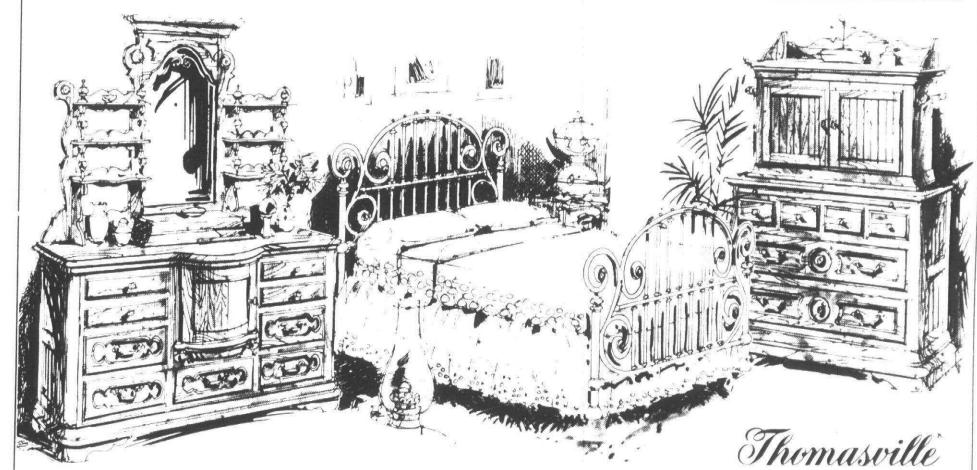

THE SCHOOL BOARD also voted to allow the Plymouth Jaycees use of facilities at the Centennial Educational Park on Nov. 18. The local chapter is hosting a state convention of the Michigan Jaycees at the Plymouth Hilton and is planning to hold seminars at the CEP.

The board also received the 1978 fiscal year-end audit from Post. Smythe. Lutz and Ziel, CPA.

About 50 persons attended a public forum session held before the regular meeting, and asked questions and made comments for about 90 minutes on a variety of topics ranging from ballot tax proposals, busing problems, and student book fees to programs for the academically gifted and threatened state reduction in aid for learning disabled students.

unusual position, says finance director Mike Gorman.

Unlike other municipalities, Canton is hiring employees and currently has 10 fulltime CETA employees with an $109,000 federal allocation. Three of Canton's firefighters are paid with CETA funds.

But like Plymouth Township, Canton has either absorbed CETA personnel after 18 months or they've moved to private industry.

Of 90 fulltime Plymouth City employees, 14 are paid CETA, says Mark Wollenberg, assistant city manager. One or two of those employees might exceed the $12,000 cap, he says; but he isn't worrying about the guidelines change.

"I'm not going to spend time reviewing the rules and regulations until they are in final form," he said last week. The majority of CETA-paid positions have been short-term, he adds.

THE PLYMOUTH-CANTON School District employs five persons under CETA, with a few additional part-time employees, says Diane Williams, executive secretary for research and federal projects.

The school district has participated in the program only for the last two years and has few problems with the proposed guidelines, she says. Training for district-paid positions has been the intent, she adds.

By NANCY WALLS SMITH

Oh, dear. I see another birthday on the horizon.

Unfortunately, it's mine.

Somehow, birthdays seem to have lost all of their charm once you've passed 30. In fact, 32 years old is a very boring thing to be. There are no intriguing traumas or heavy Freudian phases at this age. You never hear anyone ask, "How does it feel to be 32?" Who cares.

Well, I'll tell you anyway. For one thing, lately I am becoming aware of a very disturbing phenomena. Everyone seems to be younger than me.

People like doctors, lawyers, real estate agents, even newspaper editors. They're all starting to look as if they're too young to remember when Elvis first appeared on the Ed Sullivan

I'm finding it hard to relate to people who don't know what Frankie Avalon's first hit was or why the Lone Ranger used silver bullets.

I know that ability to recall ancient trivia is a pretty weak trait to judge a person's character by, but how can I maintain the respect due "authority figures" when 10 years ago I would have had to babysit for them.

When my dentist starts lecturing me about neglecting my dental floss, instead of coming back with, "Yes, sir. Right away, sir," I just sit there thinking about what an adorable little guy he is (age 26)

How can one listen respectfully to a doctor who looks like he should be attending his prom rather than discussing my anatomical ailments?

ANOTHER PROBLEM that seems to come with the age is that I am having a great deal of difficulty deciding what to call myself and my friends of the female gender. Are we "girls"? Goodness, that sounds so young and foolish, when we all know how mature and sophisticated we've come to be. But the word "woman" sounds so impersonal. Do I say, "this woman I know" when describing a friend with whom I've shared some of the more zany trials and tribulations of my life? Sounds like I'm talking about someone I just met over the hosiery counter (do they still have hosiery counters?-I don't get out much)

The third descriptive word that comes to mind is "ladies." Now, I know we're all ladies in the literal sense, but when I have to say, "I think I'll run up to Kmarts with the lady next door," it sounds much too formal when I'm just talking about my good ol' friend, Mari.

Maybe I'll just start calling everyone "my buddy," but for some reason that conjures up images of teenage boys in black leather jackets. Oh, my.

But aside from these few problems, I have noticed that it takes much less to make me happy of late. My life goals have modified somewhat drastically over the years. I've managed to come from one who was fanatical about helping to bring about would peace to a person who can find contentment in a freshly sharpened eyebrow pencil.

I can even get a thrill out of reading the new "TV Guide."

I don't know if these changes are a natural maturational phenomena (I'm probably the only human left who hasn't read Gail Sheeny's book, "Passages") or if it is a side effect to motherhood. Or perhaps I've just lost a few of my marbles. The intelligent

Ten years ago I was living in Haight-Ashbury wondering where my next pair of beads were coming from. Today I'm just a very uncontroversial soon-to-be 32-year-old wife, mother and housefrau who can't figure out if she's a lady, a girl, or a woman. Oh, yawn.

Stein hopes to keep office with write-in

It's been an uphill battle for Harold Stein ever since he first decided to run for Canton supervisor in the spring of Stein narrowly beat former Supervisor Robert Greenstein in the 1976 Demoratic primary, then went on to narrowly defeat Greenstein again in the 1976 general election after Greenstein mounted a write-in effort.

After less than a year in office, Stein struggled to retain his administrative position in a recall election.

Now. Stein continues his struggle for the supervisor's chair through a writein campaign despite his defeat in the 1978 Democratic primary and verbal attacks from his political opponents.

STEIN HADN'T planned to stage a write-in campaign after he lost to Democratic supervisor candidate Noel Culbert 1,663 to 1,077 in the Aug. 8 primary

The supervisor claims that his supporters talked him into the write-in

Stein says he now wants to be reelected in order to complete projects he began in his first term of office.

The supervisor has been working to change the classification of Haggerty from a county to an interstate secondary road. Stein believes the change in classification would lead to the paving of Haggerty from Joy to Michigan with federal funds.

Public is invited to grand opening

Grand opening ceremonies for Canton Township's new administration building will be held Saturday.

The program will begin with refreshments at 10 a.m. followed by the opening ceremony at 11 a.m. at the building, 1150 South Canton Center Road.

There will be tours throughout the new, three-story structure until 3 p.m.

Stein believes a paved Haggerty would spur industrial development on township-owned land near Haggerty and Warren and serve as a feeder road

"I feel the federal people were derelict in their duties when they put I-275 in without a service drive," Stein

The attraction of industry to Canton has been one of Stein's top priorities in office. He established the township's Economic Development Corp. which Stein says has drawn more than $10 million of commercial and industrial developments to Canton.

Stein would like to continue his efforts to attract industry during the 1978-1980 supervisor's term. Additional industry would lead to a decrease in the tax burden of residents. Stein says.

STEIN SEES the expansion of township recreation programs, the enactment of a homeowners protection ordinance, and the establishment of a diala-ride system as some of his major accomplishments in office.

His efforts to found a Canton library and establish a helicopter surveillance program for the Canton Police Department have failed.

Stein says, however, that he will continue to work on both projects if his write-in effort is successful in the Nov 7 election.

He would like to establish an areawide police helicopter program that would include Canton and several surrounding communities.

Stein believes he would have accomplished more in office if he hadn't been forced to fight a recall drive in the summer of 1977.

But recall has not been the only political threat Stein has endured during the last two years.

Homeowners, complaining of builders' lax warranty policies, have verbally attacked the supervisor for failing to take a stronger stance with

They have criticized the supervisor for pushing the township purchase of Fellows Creek Golf Course and the purchase of industrial land near Haggerty and Warren. Criticisms from Canton's "other" political camps have greeted almost every action Stein has

"I'VE BEEN STRIPPED nude while living in a glass house," Stein said of the political accusations that have punctuated his supervisor's career. "It would upset anyone. You just have to develop a thick skin.

Political accusations have placed the 47-year-old supervisor on the defensive more than once.

Stein has admitted that he suffers from a public relations problem that has not helped him soothe the anger of his opponents.

The belief that Stein is opposed to the preservation of Canton's farmland and a full-time police department have followed the supervisor through his political career.

Stein insists that those accusations are ill-founded. The supervisor pushed for the placement of a farmland preservation proposal on the November

"As far as I was concerned, the original plan was confiscatory," Stein said of former Supervisor Greenstein's proposal to preserve Canton's agricultural land by lowering farmers' tax rate.

Greenstein's original plan did not compensate farmers for losing the right to develop their land. If the proposal on the November ballot is approved, four mills ($4 per $1,000 assessed valuation) will be levied to purchase farmers' development

Stein maintains that a campaign contribution from a union of Wayne County sheriff deputies in 1976 led residents to believe that he favors a contract with the sheriff's department over establishment of a local police

"But that's not true," Stein insists. The supervisor said he opposed establishment of the Canton Police Department by Greenstein in 1976 because I thought it was going to end up costing a lot more money than

THE LIFE-LONG Canton resident is the owner of a Westland car wash and the former owner of an underground contracting business.

He firmly believes that his political career is not over.

"I have the interests of the community at heart." Stein said. "And I think I have an excellent chance of being reelected if people forget petty politics.

Visitor offers view of Colombia

By W.W. EDGAR

Some women shy away from insects. They squirm at the sight of an ant. They may run and scream when a mosquito comes close and some just about faint at the sight of a bee.

But you won't find Mrs. Mary Jane (West) Eberhard among them. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl West, the retired auto dealer, she has devoted most of her life to the study of insects and has traveled to many parts of the world to lecture and do research on the natural sciences.

Here in Plymouth with her family to visit her parents, she recalled some of the pleasures she has derived from her studies and life in Columbia, South America, where she and her family have lived for the past 10 years.

While she was here, her dad proudly revealed that she got her start at the University of Michigan by pinning grasshoppers on a frame. From there she went on to earn three degrees—an AB in '63, an MS in '64 and a PhD in

It was while attending Harvard University as a post graduate fellow that she met her husband. Bill, who also is

Though there are three children in the family, Mrs. Eberhard still has time to do a great deal of field work. She is an honorary faculty member at the University of Columbia

SPEAKING OF her life in South America, she confided that her research in natural sciences attracts her because it enables her to lead a varied life. She spends time out of doors, some in libraries and some with people while teaching and giving lectures and helping to train graduate students.

This is only her second visit to Plymouth with her family, but she and her husband have come to the United States frequently to speak or attend meetings. They have been to Philadelphia and Washington. Last year they visited Germany. Holland, and England w where they lectured at behavior.

Oxford and Sussex Universities. Next year they are planning a trip to India where they will lecture on social > Although she has lived in South America for the past decade, she finds it difficutl beign a foreigner. She said it is hard to raise children with values that are diffferent from the local customs. And she said doesn't feel free to criticize local ways of doing things.

"You may become outraged and want to initiate change." she said. "but people view it as none of your business' and you end up losing your sense of community spirit.

The people in Columbia, she said, admire them for their work and the fact that they are educated. Aside from that, they have a healthy curiosity

DURING THE times she and her family do return to the States. Mrs. Eberhard said, they always are struck with the efficiency of things like tele phone service, news coverage and with the friendliness of the people. She also smiled when she confided that they are fascinated by the number of fat people. She also is fascinated by the intense competition among young people trying to make careers

While she and her husaband have not established a date, she revealed that she would like to return to the States for a much of the year so her children could be admitted to American schools.

Much of this desire has come about because in recent months their country home in Coli was surrounded by an invasion of squatters huts with no water and an utter lack of sewers

Salem 'spirit' soars

School spirit has taken wing at Plymouth Salem High, so to speak.

Always in the pursuit of new ideas, this year's Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high school yearbook staffs joined forces this week with the newly-formed Salem Pep Club.

The combined effort resulted in an aerial photograph showing "Salem spirit" in action-as it was throughout the week for all the homecoming activities at the school.

Salem's homecoming game takes place tomorrow night, followed by the homecoming dance Saturday night.

The aerial photograph also represents the type of different photographs the annual staff is trying to gather. (There still is time for students to submit their photos of themselves, family and friends to the yearbook staff for printing in this year's book.

Combatting a hazard

The City of Plymouth is attempting to correct a safety hazard on Harvey Street near Linden with this large sign warning of a dangerous intersection ahead. Residents have asked for a traffic signal at the intersection, but police report the traffic volume and accident rate do not warrant a full signal or a four-way stop. The sign is being used, temporarily, to see if it alleviates the problem of fast cars approaching a blind intersection. Installing the sign are DPW employees Don Hahn (left) and Eric Schultz. #### Dog-bite victim seeks stray

A painful series of rabies shots may be in store for a Plymouth Township woman unless a stray dog can be

Lisa Gannon, 17, of 47130 Stonecrest, and her mother Patricia are asking neighbors' help in finding a stray dog that bit Ms. Gannon on the hand last

The dog may be in the vicinity of Beck and Ann Arbor Roads, near the Gannon home where the dog bit Ms. Gannon. The dog is described as about 24 inches high, mostly black with white coloring on the tip of the tail and paws, and a white patch on the throat. The dog is believed to be a male and looks like a young Labrador with floppy Beagle ears, according to Mrs. Gannon. The dog was without an identifying collar.

After notifying the Wayne County Board of Health, Mrs. Gannon is attempting to find the dog so it can be isolated until a determination about possible rabies infection is made

Mrs. Gannon does not know if her daughter will have to have the rabies shots if the dog cannot be found.

Geake & Kadish vie for Senate

State Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville) is running for a four year term in the Nov. 7 election and is opposed by Democrat Paul Kadish of Livonia.

Geake was elected to a vacancy in the senate in a special March 23, 1977

The 14th state senate district includes Livonia, Redford Township, the city and townships of Plymouth and Northville, and the northeast corner of Westland

The candidates were asked to supply information about themselves and answers to state policy questions in a survey co-sponsored by the Livonia League of Women Voters and the Observer Newspapers.

Following are their biographies and

Paul Kadish obtained a bachelor's degree in business administration and another in personnel management and industrial relations from Wayne State University Advanced studies were continued at the Detroit College of Law

Mr. Kadish has been president of Associated Group Underwriters, Inc., a local independent insurance agency. since 1961.

He is currently chairman of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees. a post he has held for three and onehalf years. Other posts held by Kadish include Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees treasurer-vice chairman four years); member negotiating council, Schoolcraft College 1976 and 1978, and member of Board of Directors, Michigan Community College Association, for two years.

Robert Geake received a bachelor's in special education from the University of Michigan in 1958, a master's in guidance and counseling from the University of Michigan in 1959 and his PhD in education and psychology from the University of Michigan in 1962.

In addition Geake has been chairman of the mental health subcommittee. Governor's Task Force on Health and Mental Health, 1969; member of the state board of education ad hoc committee on equality of access to higher education, 1970; vice-chairman of the national advisory committee and illness of elderly, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 1976-77; member of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees 1969-72. elected as board chairman 1971-71.

Geake was elected to the state house in 1972 and was re-elected in 1974 and 1976. He is a member of Michigan Senate Committees on education, energy. health and social services.

Which of the three main tax proposals do you endorse, and why?

GEAKE: As one of the founding members of Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation, I strongly support the Headlee Amendment limiting state taxes. I oppose the voucher system which would undermine public education. I oppose the Fisch amendment which would reduce property taxes but increase total taxes for senior citizens and others.

KADISH: I favor the concept of tax limitation represented by the Headlee amendment. I caution, however, that it may not be the total answer. We must pass "sunset" legislation in order to cut wasteful spending and to limit bureacratic control of our government.

What are your top priorities for the state budget?

GEAKE: Top state budget priorities should include public education (including special education and classes for the gifted.) mental health, public health (including control of industrial poisons), crime control, increased court facilities, conservation, pollution control, higher education, prison facilities, libraries. public transportation, energy conservation, veterans benefits, and programs to help senior citizens.

KADISH: Education at all levels. It is necessary to rethink our existing formulas for providing aid to education. The formula, however, will not succeed in solving the needs of education unless total appropriations are adequate.

Do you support the transportation ballot issue? Why or why not?

GEAKE: I voted against the gasoline tax increase and the raising of license plate fees, but I support Proposal M. This proposal would not increase taxes, but simply allocate gas and license plate revenues and part of the sales tax on cars, guaranteeing at least 90 per cent for roads.

KADISH: I support the issue because it will provide guaranteed funding for road programs as well as transportation programs. It also recognizes that transportation goes beyond just highways by creation of the state transportation department.

Do you favor holding a constitutional convention? Why or why not?

GEAKE: The present constitution is serving us well and contains safeguard against government extravagence by prohibiting a graduated income tax and deficit spending. A constitutional convention would cost taxpayers over $9 million and is not needed. Any needed amendments can be placed on the ballot now by the legislature or by citizens' petitions.

KADISH: Yes! I think periodic review of the state constitution by elected representatives of the people is healthy. Perhaps by convention, a more rational approach to tax reform and financing of education may be worked.

Do you favor raising the drinking age to 21 years of age? Why or why in Michigan

If there were an eighth day in the week, how would you spend it?

GEAKE: Serving in the legislature is really two jobs. One is legislative and is accomplished mainly in Lansing. The second is constituent service and is accomplished mainly in the district you represent. Both could 'easily be full-time jobs alone. If I had an extra day each week I would spend it as I now spend the other seven-serving my constituents and working on

GEAKE: I strongly favor Proposal D which would return the legal drinking age to 21. The reduced drinking age appears to have contributed to an alarming rise in the number of alcohol-related traffic accidents among teenagers and has aggravated the very serious problem of teenage alcoholism

KADISH: I favor raising the drink ing age to 21. I have personally experienced and seen too many young people injure and kill themselves and others while driving and drinking. The number has vastly increased since the 18 year old has been allowed to drink.

KADISH: I would spend it in the north woods, hiking and sitting among the tall pines and reading a good book.

PROPOSAL H

The issue: Should the Michigan Constitution be amended to prohibit the use of property taxes for school operating purposes, and to establish a voucher system for financing education of students at public and nonpublic

The local property tax currently provides a major source of revenue to operate public schools in Michigan. It is collected by local governments and is supplemented by state school aid according to law.

The state constitution prohibits the allocation of state funds to nonpublic elementary and secondary schools although it does allow the legislature to provide for transportation of students to and from any school.

Proponents wish to make public funds available to finance nonpublic schools while some opponents are opposed to funding nonpublic schools. The property tax is considered inequitable by many, but no agreement has vet been reached on a different method of funding schools. Many fear the loss of local control over schools, and the fact that there are no provisions for busing students to the schools of their choices.

The tuition voucher proposal would make major changes in financing education in Michigan. It would prohibit the use of property taxes for school operating expenses, including intermediate school districts, and vocational and special education.

It would also require the legislature to establish a program of general state taxation for support of schools, and to provide for the issuance of an educational voucher to be applied toward financing a students's education at a public or nonpublic school of his parent's or guardian's choice.

It does not require students to attend a school in the district or community in which they live.

Property taxes which have already been voted for the payment of principal and interest on bonded indebtedness will remain in effect. Voters could approve additional property taxes for school construction, but not for school operating costs.

The proposal does not prohibit the use of property taxes for the support of community colleges and school libraries

PROPOSAL J (TISCH)

The issue: Should the constitutional limit on cash value for assessing property be reduced? Should there be constitutional limits on annual property valuation increases and on the state's income tax rate?

The constitution currently allows property tax assessments to be based on 50 per cent of true cash value and puts no limit on the amount of yearly increases in valuation for assessment purposes. There is also no constitutional limit on the rate of the state income tax, which is set by the legislature and is currently 4.6 per cent.

Many persons concerned with the rise in taxes to cover the rising costs of government services are trying to limit taxes and cut the cost of government. The Coalition for Property Tax Reform in Michigan filed petitions to place this proposal on the ballot. It resembles California's Proposition 13 in that it rolls back assessment levels.

The Tisch amendment would reduce real and personal property tax assessments to 25 per cent of true cash value of property, effective Dec. 31, 1978. The does not mean a 50 per cent reduction in property taxes for everyone, because not all properties are currently assessed at their true cash

Under Proposal J, there is no provision for a property tax credit for senior citizens and farmers.

The proposal also limits state valuation increases to 2.5 per cent for any year. A limit of 5.6 per cent (an increase of one per cent) would be placed on the state income tax rate.

Since local school districts rely on property taxes for operating income. and this amendment would result in a reduction in revenue to the schools, the proposal also allows the legislature to authorize a school district income tax of up to one per cent with local school district voter approval.

The state would be required to make up the bulk of the lost revenues to the school districts.

The proposal would also prohibit the legislature from requiring new or expanded local programs unless they are fully funded by the state. If the Tisch amendment is passed, the legislature would implement it by

However, in this department, too, Senator Griffin stands well above the average. Whether you compare worst years, or best years-or overall career averages-Senator Griffin's voting attendance record is better than most Senators whom Mr. Levin would hold up as models of vigor and effectiveness

Pursell & Greene split on national issues

Two candidates for the 2d congressional district seat are not happy with the recently approved energy bill, but they disagree for different reasons.

The candidates' commented during a program held last week by the Livonia Observer Newspapers and the Livonia chapter of the League of Women Voters.

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), running for a second twowear term in the House, said the energy bill should have contained more funds for alternative energy sources

His opponent, Democrat Earl Greene, an Ann Arbor city counilman, said the deregulation of natural gas prices which Pursell supported is "a $75 billion ripoff of the public." since there is no guarantee there will be new gas production.

He said Pursell supported the dereguluation, or lifting of federal price controls, which could lead to the doubling of gas costs to consumers.

But Pursell said he is glad the bill contains some provisions for energy conservation, and prefers to have a free enterprise energy plan rather than a program under government

He added that the bill isn't really an energy bill because there are no provisions for alternate sources of energy.

GREENE, WHO is also a Willow Run High School music teacher, criticized Purseil for his position on abortion reform and urged more cost controls in the federal government

He accused Pursell of having different positions on abortion, which the congressman disputed.

Pursell, a former county commissioner and state senator, said he opposes abortions except in cases of rape, incest or to preserve the mother's life.

Greene said he would not prefer an abortion for someone in his family but that he basically feels it's a matter of moral choice.

On the federal Equal Rights Amendment to the constitution. Pursell said he supported it in the U.S. House and before that in the state Senate. He now opposes state legislatures having the right to rescind earlier approval of the ERA.

Greene said he also backs ERA, but that Pursell has a 50 per cent rating with the National Organization of Women on women's issues.

PURSELL SAID he is opposed to a national health insurance program which would cost $100 billion a year.

He added that he has introduced legislation to promote preventative medicine.

The congressman said there are better alternatives than the proposed national health insurance program being discussed in Congress.

But he said the government should look at doing something about a plan for catostraphic illnesses

Greene questioned whether the country could afford health insurance, and said there must first be some sort of consensus.

The candidate didn't see any congressional approval of any health plan in the upcoming session, which starts in early January.

In other areas, Greene said the nation's most crucial issue is the economy, adding that fiscal responsibility is needed by Congress.

editorial opinion

'Great Wall' begs for art

One joy many people get is strolling through the Rivera Court in the Detroit Institute of Arts and studying the frescos of the industrial workers.

The art work depicts the anonymity of the mass production process, and on a personal level one can see a grandfather at an earlier age operating a stamping machine or assembling a Ford during the 1920s.

But not all art has to be in a museum or institute. It also can be where people can enjoy an improved environment while working, driving to work or while doing business.

Newer malls are getting wise and doing something about it. Developers and architects are requiring more than just four bare walls. They are installing sculptures, paintings, free-form mobiles hanging from ceilings, among others.

All that adds to break up the monotony of what would otherwise be a continuous row of walls of what has been described as "Detroit school room

Without the art works, the environment is depressing and without life.

BUT THERE IS a new opportunity for local artists or muralists to brighten up our lives, of which a large percentage is spent driving on freeways.

The opportunity is no further away than the I-275 expressway running through Canton and Plymouth townships. The Detroit school room gray was designed into the new sound barrier walls erected along the freeway through the community

Rather than just have a wall separating the freeway from nearby apartments and subdivisions, why not have a business or large industrial firm which has some excess paint let artists do their thing and paint designs on thewalls. Then freeway drivers would have something else to watch other than signs ticking off the roads—Ford, Warren, Joy, Ann Arbor Road, etc.

It has already been done at Detroit's Eastern

The muralists could depict various transportation themes on the freeway walls-starting from the first wagon and moving on to the rickshaws. horses, chariots, stage coaches, Ford's first horseless carriage, and then the early cars, ending with the modern autos and buses

The artists can even throw in an occasional boat, jetliner, truck or marathon runner-all forms of modern transportation and symbols of how people get from one place to another.

Artists also could show other slices of suburban

There could be a mural of a high school marching band doing its thing on a Friday night, a football player throwing up his hands to signal a touchdown, or specific landmarks of the community-a Canton Township farm or a Plymouth Township model home.

Such art would be as pleasing to the eye as the murals on the Penn Theatre, Wine & Cheese Barn, Growth Works building.

BUT THERE'S one small problem.

The freeway is owned by the federal government.

The government is very good about spending $2 billion for a new aircraft carrier or several new planes, but chintzy about putting aside a few thou-

built mostly with federal funds with some dollars coming from the state highway department (which constructed the Great Wall).

Aside from the friendly mailman, there is no regular reminder of any benefits we receive from the federal government.

But with freeway murals, that situation would be immensely improved.

Artists already have brightened up the landscape with numerous murals in business areas. It would be nice if they had the chance to do the same for our freeway.

Another tough one

If you distrust the television weather forecasters, with their satellites and radar screens backed up by National Weather Service gadgetry, then ask the wooly bear.

The brown and black caterpillar indicates we are in for a long, frigid winter. Another one. After 1976-77 and 1977-78 yet.

When the wooly bear is black as ink, as they tend to be this year, old-timers say a frigid winter is ahead. Their bristles may be as light as a blond mink or as dark as a deep sable. The practice of predicting the weather from observances of wooly bears comes from the Pennsylvania Dutch, our Farmers' Almanac tells us. The darker the bug, the more severe the winter will be.

Check your dog or cat for confirmation. When the winter is going to be mean, our pets' inner mechanisms tell them to grow more fur.

Tax plans create more problems

A tax revolt is underway across the nation.

New Jersey, Tennessee and California voters have all sought to fight back against government's tapping their pocketbooks.

It doesn't take much thinking to understand why it occurred. Our pay increases—which hardly keep pace with inflation-put us into higher federal income tax brackets. Our social security rates have been increased sharply. A soaring market in real estate kicks up our home assessments and our gross property tax bills. And we all get angry

Fighting taxes is the "in" issue of 1978. Congress reacted by passing a comprehensive federal income tax cut bill whose impact is yet to be felt. Politicians are scurrying to endorse tax proposals, perhaps figuring that being in office with a tax cut is better than being out of office.

For better or worse, the revolt is now aimed at Michigan's state and local government.

Three groups—elected by no one, drafting their plans quietly and without benefit of public hearings-have offered schemes to alter the patterns of public finance. They are on the Nov. 7 ballot as Proposals E (Headlee), J (Tisch) and H (voucher).

All are seriously flawed. They should be rejected by voters. Our editorial board—taxpayers all scrutinized them closely and found they either have fishhooks the authors aren't talking about or will have harmful side-effects that aren't widely recognized.

Let's consider them in detail

Headlee

PROPOSAL FOR TAX LIMITATION. The proposed amendment would: 1. Limit all state taxes and revenues, excepting federal aid, to its current proportion of total state personal income and to provide for exception for a declared emergency.

2. Prohibit local government from adding new or increasing existing taxes without voter approval

3. Prohibit the state from adopting new or expanding present local programs without full state funding.

4. Prohibit the state from reducing existing level of aid to local governments, taken as a group. Should this amendment be adopted?

At first glance, Proposal E seems like an answer. It would limit state taxes to their current proportion of our personal incomes. It would also require voter approval of all new taxes and bond issues at the local level.

But let's look closer, and we'll find Michigan's tax picture is nowhere near as grim as Headlee people paint it. They talk, for example, about an increase in the personal income tax-and conveniently forget how in 1974 we voted to drop all sales taxes on food and prescription drugs.

The only major tax rate hikes Michiganians have seen in the 1970s have been on fuel and motor vehicles. But when you figure we're buying smaller vehicles that burn less gasoline, we're not being gouged at all.

TAX LIMITATION does nothing about some of the big things that have pushed up government

Proposal E won't stop federal courts from telling us our sewage treatment plant needs hundreds of millions of dollars worth of correction, and that our sewage rates must be tripled, even with a big dose of federal aid.

Proposal E won't stop federal courts from ordering us to do more for the retarded in state institutions, persons in jails, persons who are physically handicapped.

Proposal E can't do anything about state and local governments' insurance costs, utility rates and social security taxes—all of which are rising faster than the general rate of inflation and productivity.

Where will government cut spending to pay for those costs? It will cut programs that benefit the middle class. Colleges will have to tighten their belts. Programs to lure new industry will be hampered. Public transportation, which is barely becoming visible in the suburbs, will be stymied because new money will be cut off after 1981.

TAX LIMITATION limits only taxes. And that will put pressure on governments' non-tax Proposal E can't limit college tuitions. It can't limit college application fees, registration fees, lab fees-those aren't taxes.

Proposal E can't limit water rates, sewage treatment rates, trash collection fees. Since California passed Proposition 13, communities have invented something called "fire service fees," and libraries are jacking up rental fees. Proposal E backers don't talk about that.

Proposal E can't limit zoo admissions, art institute admissions, ice rink admissions, public swimming pool admissions, park entrance fees, boat launch fees, building permit fees.

While Ohio and the Sun Belt act swiftly to lure industry, Michigan communities will have their hands tied by Proposal E. In Michigan we will have to wait until the next election so we can approve industrial improvement bonds and even routine neighborhood improvements. Industrial investors won't be impressed by such uncertainty.

TAX LIMITATION will apply only to state and local taxes—not to federal taxes. The pressure will be on Washington for federal aid-with or without strings.

The teachers unions, on their way to becoming the biggest union bloc in the country, have promised to use all their muscle to get massive federal aid if anti-tax proposals are passed in states. Proposal E can't stop them. We can kiss local control

At this point, Proposal E supporters will argue their plan will prohibit the state from cutting aid to local governments. But there's a catch: Aid can't be reduced to local units "taken as a group. That leaves plenty of room for juggling funds within the group. When that happens, will our suburbs be on the winning end or the losing end?

IF YOU SUPPORT Proposal E, be prepared for serious consequences the Headlee people can't see or haven't talked about-more money for courtordered expenditures, less for the suburbs and middle class, higher tuitions, higher fees.

We can save ourselves a lot of grief by voting NO on Proposal E.

Tisch

PROPOSAL TO REDUCE property tax assessments; to establish a maximum of 5.6 per cent on the rate of the state income tax; to prohibit legislature from requiring new or expanded local programs without state funding; and to allow school income tax with voter approval.

The proposed amendment would:

1. Reduce real and personal property tax assessments to 25 per cent of true cash value of property.

2. Limit state equalization increase to 2.5 per cent for

3. Establish a maximum of 5.6 per cent on the rate of the state income tax

4. Allow legislature to authorize school districts to levy up to one per cent income tax with local school district

5. Prohibit legislature from requiring new or expanded local programs unless fully funded by state Should this amendment be approved?

"Damn this. The hell with that. Kick em inna

Robert Tisch is amusing in a rustic, earthy way

as he tears into unnamed bureaucrats and politicians, spending and taxing. If you're sore at the world, if you feel persecuted and gouged, if you want to lash out and get even — then join Tisch, start kicking and quit reading.

But if you're seriously interested in public affairs, then let's analyze to its logical conclusion what will likely happen if Proposal J passes.

Michigan is no California, where the tax revolt started with Proposition 13. Michigan has no $7 billion budget surplus. And while property values and assessments have risen here, it's nothing like the doubling, tripling, quadrupling Californians saw in just two or three years. Michigan colleges are charging tuition while California colleges weren't.

HERE'S WHAT is likely to happen if Michigan voters stampede like cattle into the Tisch amendment camp:

- Assessments will be cut 50 per cent. That will slash local government revenue from this source by half. Local government will become more dependent than ever on Washington and Lansing.
- · The state income tax will almost certainly be raised from 4.6 per cent to a cap of 5.6 per cent. That's not enough to replace the lost property tax revenue, and Tisch says so.

· School districts can-and almost certainly will-ask local voters for a one per cent income tax. Some will be passed, some won't, and we will see a statewide hodge-podge. Although the income tax rate will be limited to 5.6 per cent, there's nothing in Proposal J to prevent 40 other taxes from being increased by the legislature.

· As with the Headlee amendment, the Tisch amendment doesn't prevent a myriad of fees from being "adjusted" upward, and it will accelerate the raid on the U.S. Treasury

· If assessment increases are limited to 25 per cent a year, school funding will fall behind the inflationary rate of the national economy. Remember the 1950s and early '60s? Property taxes were rigid, teachers were making $3,500 a year, and there was a tidal wave of millage increases being asked to make up the difference. The 1964 constitution corrected the frozen assessments mess. and the Tisch amendment would put us right back into the quagmire we started from.

 Renters—a growing group in suburbia—know that a portion of what they pay the landlord goes for property taxes. But there's nothing in the Proposal J amendment to assure the renter he will share in the landlord's tax cut.

Michigan doesn't need the savage solution of the Tisch amendment

Voucher

PROPOSAL TO PROHIBIT the use of property taxes for school operating expenses and to establish a voucher system for financing education of students at public and nonpublic schools. The proposed amendment would: 1. Prohibit the use of property taxes for school operating expenses. 2. Require the legislature to establish a program of general state taxation for support of schools.

3. Require the legislature to provide for the issuance of an educational voucher to be applied toward financing a student's education at a public or nonpublic school of the student's, parent's, or guardian's choice Should this amendment be adopted?

First the good news:

If the voucher plan passes, property taxes will be eliminated as a source of school funds. This would reduce all our property tax bills by about two-thirds.

The Michigan Legislature would then have to fund all schools. Proponents of the voucher plan figure the personal income tax would have to be raised by half-from the current 4.6 per cent to 6.9 per cent. (Opponents say the new rate would be 7.1 to 10 per cent.)

Certainly the income tax is a better gauge of ability to pay than the property tax.

NOW THE BAD news:

School finances could be thrown into utter chaos if both the voucher plan and the Tisch tax cut are passed Reason: The Tisch plan would limit the income tax rate to 5.6 per cent when 6.9 per cent or more is required.

The voucher plan has a certain superficial charm. Theoretically, it would make public schools competitive with private schools by paying state aid vouchers to kids' parents and guardians. not to the schools. The parents would turn over the voucher to whichever school their child was enrolled in. Then reality sets in.

At present, 210,000 Michigan students attend nonpublic schools. Suddenly they become eligible for state-paid vouchers.

The non-public schools range from churchrelated schools with low-paid religious teachers to posh academies. If they are funded at the same level as public schools-$1,200 per child is a fair figure—the additional cost of the voucher plan would be $250 million a year.

PRIVATE SCHOOLS would have an unfair advantage over public schools when they are supported by vouchers. Public schools would be unable to charge tuition, but private schools could charge tuition on top of vouchers. Private schools would have more money than public schools. Suddenly the "competition" argument falls apart.

The big backers of vouchers are church-related schools. So no matter what you call it, the voucher plan turns out to be parochiaid in disguise

Private schools tend to be academically oriented, maintaining admissions standards and attracting the book-oriented student. Rarely do they get into home economics, shop courses, business courses. The result of the voucher plan would be that private schools would try to cream off the scholars they want and dump the others back onto the public schools.

With more than $1 billion in state vouchers floating around, we could expect fly-by-night operators to start private academies and share in the largesse. Ordinarily, we would expect the State Department of Education to license them and inspect them. Unfortunately, the architects of the voucher plan tell us the state's "supervisory and administrative budget would be drastically limited.' In other words, just as the need for state stand ards and inspection becomes most acute, the state's ability to protect consumers-the kids-is to be "drastically reduced."

We say NO to Proposal H.

Not all favor housing—parishioner

Editor:

As a member of St. John Episcopal Church for well over 10 years and a resident of Plymouth Township for a like period. I wish to state that I most definitely am opposed to the senior citizen housing on St. John's property.

I am not alone. There is a large group of parishoners at St. John's who also object to this project. We definitely do not object to senior citizen housing (some of us are close to that need now), but we do object to the poor choice of squeezing this building on to St. John's property and to the rezoning of that parcel of land. Let me state first and foremost that the people of St. John's have never been polled, verbally or in writing, as to whether we wanted this building on our property or whether we wanted to devote tremendous amounts of energy.

Tannian, Patterson speak tonight

Public forums on Michigan ballot issues continue at Schoolcraft College tonight 7:30 with discussions of the denial of bail and more restrictive parole proposals.

The denial of bail plan will sppear as proposal K on the ballot. Philip Tannian, attorney and former Detroit chief of police, will speak in behalf of the plan. Ann Arbor attorney Jean King will speak against it.

Parole restriction will appear as Froposal B. L. Brooks Paterson, Oakland County prosecutor, will speak in favor of the measure, while Howard Simon, executive director American Civil Liberties Union of Michigan, will speak against it.

The forum will be moderated by Beverly McAninch, city commissioner and former mayor of Plymouth.

The forum will be held in Rooms 200-210 of the Liberal Arts Building at the south end of the campus at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

church personnel and therefore church monies, to this project.

Father Shank took this project upon himself with seeking our a?pproval. Our vestry is supposed to constitutionally represent the parishioners and be a restraining hand on the senior clergyman. Unfortunately, the vestry at St. John's has always been a gentle group who have always gone along with whatever projects have been presented, although at times individually they have strongly objected to friends and family privately. Our church suffered some dissension some years ago and many parishioners left and others gradually ceased to attend and we bore scars for a long time. We, the silent majority, are not anxious to see this happen again so we have hesitated to make our objections known and thus divide the church into factions once more. The delicacy of our relationships with all the clergy, staff and those supporting this project. should make it obvious why it is best our group remains anonymous.

We do ask that this piece of property for the senior citizen housing not be rezoned for that purpose for the following reasons

1. Our neighbors (the surrounding homes and properties) became our neighbors in good faith that the church property would remain as it is: church property, not public housing. We have a responsibility to these people and their good faith. Certainly a rezoning of this type is going to lower their home values. We need senior housing. certainly, and we do not object to that as such, but at whose expense is it to

2. The piece of land is entirely too small for 42 units both aesthetically and practically. Senior citizens have a right for good access, safe clearances and just plain breathing room-not a feeling of wedged-in restrictiveness.

3. Sport zoning of this type is very dangerous in a township such as Plymouth with so much open land, as it establishes a Precedent that puts every homeowner in jeopardy as to what can be put next door at any time when the right pressure group gets moving under a sensitive cause.

4. The parking at St. John's is already a problem in that we are even

from our readers

now parking on our drives and out on Sheldon Road. During snow months with piles everywhere and during special holy seasons, it is impossible. Where will all these senior citizens and their guests park?

5. This brings to mind a safety hazard that bothers a lot of us. How will large adequate areas and drives be kept open at all times (snow and holy days especially) for fire trucks and ambulances? With parking on the entrance and exit drives now, how will the large aerial ladder truck ever get in to rescue the elderly?

6. If anything should happen to Fr. Shank within the next two years, who will complete this project? Will the township pay the salary of the person who replaces him?

7. We in the parish are not aware of any pledges or guarantees that Fr. Shank or his workers have made to the federal government or to the Township of Plymouth. If any have been made without our knowledge or consent. then they stand in jeopardy of failing when put to the test.

Fr. Shank and the enthusiastic workers around him mean the very best with this project and this letter is not meant to censure their sense of Christian responsibility, but it is meant to ask for a more practical and sensible site, one safe and acceptable to all, and one that especially does not penalize anyone's resources or rights

Shopper is upset by parking ticket

I wish to share a cute little story with you and your readers. Only the names have been omitted to protect

It seems that this "looney"-but wait, I promise to let you draw your own conclusions-this man who owns the "7-Eleven" party store on Main Street in Plymouth delights in making citizens complaints.

I know because my wife, a visitor in Plymouth, was a victim. She made the mistake of driving into the "7-Eleven" parking lot the other day and buying a food item from the store. Prior to her arrival, the owner had called the police to have the "city's finest" issue tickets to some cars parked in his lot whose owners presumably were ordering goodies from the neighboring

By the time my wife and pre-school daughter had returned to the car and opened the food item, a Plymouth police officer was there to slap an "improper parking" violation into her hand. My wife protested that she had just bought something from the owner of the party store. "Write the woman up, too," the owner called to the police officer, addressing him by his first name. 'She only bought a 25 cent item." The owner, buoyed by a sense of power, was relishing his role in meting out justice

"But officer," my wife protested a second time. "I just bought.

The court date has been set for late

Once again, lest you forget, the hero in this little drama is the owner of the "7-Eleven" party store on Main Street, next to the "Taco Bell.

As I said, you draw your own conclusions.

GORDON J. COCHRANE, Dearborn Hgts.

Presbyterian Market Town: A bazaar with a new look

The women of First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth have set the date for their Market Town—the first bazaar-type event planned by the group in several years.

Market Town will be from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.. Nov. 3 in the church. 701 W. Church Street. Plymouth. It will feature a number of shops, each specializing in gifts for giving, not particularly slanted to Christmas, but items of general appeal.

The shopkeepers have been working for months, stocking their wares for the mart. Judy Trexler's Craft Shop will have a wide variety of decorative and useful items created by the women and reflecting hours of work.

Pat Rood is shopkeeper of the Sweet Shop. It will feature all kinds of baked goods and confections. There will be breads, cakes, pies and cookies as well candies and popcorn balls—all homemade.

Jane Clarke, shopkeeper of the grocery store, has collected a wealth of home canned and preserved jams, jellies, pickles, relishes and chutneys. These have been made from special family recipes and will add a gourmet touch to holiday dining. They also are the perfect "little gift."

THE GALLERY is referred to as the "super shop." Items contributed to this shop will be of gallery-type quality Silver, crystal, linens antiques and paintings from private collections will be donated to the gallery. Harriette Ward and Joan Wehmeyer are the shopkeepers. Mrs. Ward's whimsical Mouse Houses will be on sale in the gallery.

Willian Loesch and his son. Donald, will run the Photo Shop. Market Town patrons will be able to have their pictures taken on the spot for Christmas giving or for use on Christmas cards. The photographers also will take-tintypes.

Shopkeeper Doris Richard is assembling many fine pieces for the Needlework Shop. An expert at all types embroidery. Mrs. collection will please the most discriminating shopper.

The Stationery Shop, with its notepaper, cards and other items, will be under the supervision of shopkeeper Marjorie Croll.

THE THAI JEWELRY Shop has been a major attraction at Presby terian bazaars in the past

Through the efforts of the Rev Norman Roardamel, a missionary, hand-crafted items from Thailand. India and other far east countries have been imported for Market Town.

This year there will be more than jewlery. There will be hand carved wooden animals. That scarves and handerchiefs, jade, bead and seed jew-lery. The proceeds from the sales will be returned to the country of origin for the continuation of work in the missions. Shopkeepers. Jane. Raaflaub. Betty Hees and Gladys Stokes will sell the exotic eastern imports.

Betty Paquin and Nancy Pride will run the Children's Boutique. This will be for children only—their own shop to do their Christmas shopping. Prices will be geared to their pocket books. And, their purchases can be gift wrapped in the booth.

DOROTHY MAGEE and Jane Hoerner, proprietors of the Food Bar. will provide refreshments for weary shoppers throughout the day

In the Christmas Shop, shopkeepers Helen Shontz and Mary Simmons will offer a host of holiday items and inspiration for the Christmas season

General chairpersons of the event are Mrs. William Loesch and Mrs. David Bauman They received word of a recent surprise donation to the Market Town. Four bushels of freshly picked quinces were added to the sale

These aromatic fruit are much sought after for holiday fruit arrangements. They add a new dimension of color and scent to centerpieces and should last until Christmas, with

Barb Leffler earns state honor

Barbara Leffler was one of four women to be honored statewide for local chapter service at the recent state convention of the Michigan Association for Children With Learning Disabilities (MACLD)

Mrs. Leffler was presented with a plaque for service to the Plymouth-Northville-Canton chapter of the MACLD during a recognition banquet Oct. 20 in the Detroit Plaza Hotel. At the same time, she also was presented with a proclamation of recognition from Plymouth Mayor Thomas Turner

Jackie Sipple, president of the MACLD, said Mrs. Leffler was selected because of her "extraordinary service" to the local chapter and to learning disabled children. Mrs. Leffler's "service of quiet support, steady conviction and tenatious dedication should be known to the world." added Ms. Sipple.

Clem Bommarito of Plymouth Township and Mrs. Leffler were the organizers of the Plymouth-Northville-Canton chapter. In addition, Mrs. Leffler also serves currently as corresponding secretary for the state organization.

SHARON YOUNG, president of the local chapter, notes:

"No one in our area has contributed more to MACLD, learning disabled youngsters, and, in fact, to all handicapped kids and their parents than Barbara Leffler.

"She was the person who contacted

Canton

MACLD in 1973 and helped form our chapter. She also served as president for the first three years of its existence. Barb had to serve this length of time at considerable personal sacrifice because no one could be found who would contribute the time and effort that the president's job required.

"But rather than see the fledgeling chapter fold, Barbara, almost singlehandedly, kept it going year after year, and managed to field a remarkable number of worthwhile programs and activities.

IN ADDITION TO her duties as chapter president, Mrs. Leffler also: · Participated in and organized presentations before the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education on behalf of expanded special education programs.

· Attended the parent advisor courses sponsored by the MACLD state organization and has acted as a parent advisor for several years.

 Acted as counselor to numberous parents of learning disabled children and has also attended Educational Program Planning Committees with the school personnel at the request of parents.

· In an effort to educate the community about learning disabilities, she has made presentations to many civic organizations such as Kiwanis, homeowner's organizations, and women's clubs.

Mrs. Leffler also has attended numerous MACLD state board meetings, annual state conferences, public hearings on state special education legislation, and state board of education meetings.

She was a member of a committee which organized an inservice training program for secondary level regular classroom teachers of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, held on Oct. 5.

By SHARON STARON Spook time in Canton again

It's spooks and goblin time again. What better way to get a little fright then visiting the Canton Jaycees haunted house

The Jaycees are real experts on Halloween spooks and fun. Their haunted house opened last Friday and will be in full swing until Monday, Oct. 30. Hours are from 7:30 to 11 p.m.

This year the haunted house features nine different spook rooms. Dracula, mad monks, and a phantom of the opera are just a few who will make their appearance on the tour.

The house is located on Ford Road between Haggerty and Lilley Roads. It is the only house on the south side of the road. Admission is $1 with proceeds going toward the Canton Jaycee Scholarship Fund.

Again this year a special friendly monster day will be held for children under eight. Saturday, Oct. 28 from 1 to 3 p.m. The children accompanied by a parent can tour the house with the lights on to get acquainted with the fun of Halloween and pretend cetures.

The haunted house is an annual Jaycee project with the Jaycettes working right along with them. Everything these groups do is for benefit of Canton. If you've never been to their haunted house you won't want to miss this one. Guaranteed to give you a thrili and a chill.

THE FOOTBALL SEASON is well upon us and some people really know how to enjoy being spectators for this sport. Fourteen couples rented two motor homes and were on their way to the Silverdome for the Lions and Washington Redskins game on Oct. 8. Riding in style is the only way to go. The food they brought along was catered from the Country Deli and was plentiful and delicious. A mini bike was a part of the group and everyone enjoyed taking turns riding it in the parking lot.

Couples from Canton on the journey included Mike and Helen Wesner, Judy and Dominic Cerino, Jim and Shannon Monro, Lilly and Tim Gyorke, Sue and Max Miller, Sam and Rex Nichols, Nola and Ben Dondrenie, Charlie and Kathy Freece and, C C and Leo Carter.

The Lions mascot is Canton's own Dan Baker of Paul Revere Drive. This year his son Danny has the honor of being the cub lion to his dad's grown up lion costume. Danny is a student at Miller Elementary.

Hellen Wesner offered to help Dan with the players' uniforms after the game. She was rewarded for her help by getting to meet the team down in the alcove. It made her day.

After the game, the group returned to the Wesners for a hot bowl of chili and good conversation. The group refers to this game as its second annual outing. Sounds like they are ready to do it again next year. And why not, they had a ball.

THE AUTUMN CHILL of October didn't deter the Canton Newcomers golfers who turned out for the best ball scramble at Rolling Meadows Golf Course on Sunday, Oct. 1. Sixteen persons teed off and played 9 holes for which special prizes were awarded

Brownie Bee Day

Members of Brownie Troop 533, which meets in Hulsing Elementary School in Canton, show the friendship tags each Brownie should bring with them to the Brownie Bee Day from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, in

What friendship means to Brownies

A friendship stick has special meaning for Brownie Troop members in Plymouth and Canton.

Brownies will be taking the friendship sticks with them for the Brownie Bee Day Saturday from 10:30-12:30 at Pioneer Middle School.

The wood of the friendship stick is curved to fit the earth-symbolizing the friendships which can grow as do the trees of the forest.

The green circle at the bottom is for faith in God and faith in one another. Four circles, representing the races of the world, stand close together indicating that all people are equal.

Above the four circles is the green of hope—the hope of the future—which symbolizes the hope that people everywhere will try to overcome any differences in opinion and human failings.

The smiling face on the stick is the result of friendship based on faith and unity. The face is crowned by the unit colors, indicating loyalty to camp and especially to the unit in which friendships are developed.

On the back of the friendship stick a green cross is carefully placed opposite the four races to show peace and charity can exist among all people

FRIENDSHIP STICKS will be swapped by individual Brownies attending Saturday's activity.

Bee activities also include a sing-along, flag ceremony, learning a dance and song, and games.

"Bee a Pet Pal" is a session being planned for the girls by the Parkway Veterinary Clinic. Bee a Brownie Blabber" is a session on being a school reporter for individual troops Members of the Plymouth Theatre Guild will lead an activity labelled "Bee a Show Biz Brownie.

"DETROIT AUDIENCES ARE THE GREATEST ROCK AND ROLL AUDIENCES IN THE WORLD"

... Bob Seger

There are good reasons why Detroit has the best rock and roll audiences in the world. And there are good reasons why WRIF gives you the rock and roll you deserve.

Let's face it — the reason you come to FM in the first place (remember when?) was to avoid all the games, iingles, hype, contests and interruptions that plagued you on your old radio station. You came to FM for the Beatles, for instance: for rock and roll. Back then FM was the only place you could hear it - and the only place you could hear it without the hassle. FM was an experiment for a new breed of music, a new breed of listener, and history proved you right.

But the times, even on FM, have changed. Today in Detroit, there are FM stations that even run contests. (Whether they call them that or not.) Contests that make you listen to win, listen to call in, listen to register to win - everything that can come between you and the music - but shouldn't.

© 1978 American Broadcasting Companies, Inc.

At WRIF, we still play rock and roll. Period. We play up to six cuts in a music set, and we stop for commercials fewer times per hour on the average than any other rock station in Detroit. That means more uninterrupted Detroit rock than: anywhere else in town. And we never ever do contests. WE TAKE YOUR MUSIC

SERIOUSLY. We're particular about our rock. Record companies put out literally thousands of albums per year. You'll hear nothing but the best rock and roll on WRIF. And only the rock Detroit loves best. Because that's what we are. Detroit's Best Rock ... . And no static at all.

Child support dodgers netted

Every resident of Wayne County will save $8 this year through the efforts of the Family Support Division of the Wayne County Friend of the Court.

This division of Circuit Court, with the help of its computerized parent locator system, has recovered some $70 million for the taxpayers in the last five years by recouping money which was paid out by the Michigan Department of Social Services in welfare

"Because of our success, our program is serving as the model for others elsewhere in the nation," declared Judge Richard D. Dunn.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has sent representatives to Detroit to study the operation for application in Philadelphia, the nation's fourth largest city, whose population is close to that of Wayne County.

HEW SECRETARY Joseph Califano believes the parent locator service will be recovering $2 billion nationally by mid-1979, a HEW official reported while here to study the Wayne County operation. He said the national program has recouped nearly $1 billion so far since its start in 1975.

"Since Wayne County's program is the best, we're here to look at the best," declared Joseph Coleman, deputy director of HEW's eastern regional "Secretary Califano is personally tracking the success of this program. He is extremely interested in the results you've gotten here."

Last year, the Wayne County program recovered more than $22 million-primarily from divorced fathers who have neglected to pay their child support. This year $24 million is expected in reimbursements. All money collected from ADC (Aid to Dependent Children) cases is returned to the Michigan Department of Social

The program is entirely funded by the State of Michigan, which receives 75 per cent of its grant from the federal government.

In 1975 the federal government added incentive to the program by offering a 25 per cent bonus to the county for support collections made by the Friend of the Court on welfarerelated cases. Last year, Wayne County received $4 million back.

ACCORDING TO Friend of the Court Edwin R. MacRae and Al Thomas, director of the Family Support Service, the success of the program is largely due to modern computer techniques. These are used in the enforcement of divorce and family support cases, as well as paternity cases, and in the program to locate the parent locating service functions in cooperation with the state and federal locating service. Searches include postal address changes, driver and vehicle registration and records from Internal Revenue Service, Social Security, state income tax, courts, collection agencies, unemployment offices police, and jail and prison agencies.

Computers also automatically issue delinquency notices on any of the 80,000 support cases on file.

Mutual enforcement agreements with other jurisdictions nationally and in Canada ensure that the parent faces up to his responsibility.

There is a continuing effort in the program to permit ADC recipients to get off welfare by allowing the father to directly support the family, reducing future costs of ADC.

PYRAMIDAL PUMPKINS

Garden Center Open Sunday 10 to 5 p.m. (this week only)

Pumpkin produce preponderous

By SHERRY KAHAN

It might have shocked those ancient Druids right out of their caves to learn that 55 tons of pumpkins were delivered this month to Tony's Farm Market in Garden City. How could they have known the fall harvest festival they originated would come to this?

Not even the American Indians who popularized the pumpkin for autumn festivities could have imagined the impact—another 50 tons of pumpkins went on sale at Ken's Country Produce in Westland.

The harvest celebration that took its name around 600 A.D. from a Hallowed Eve event in England before All Saints Day is also known for tricks, treats, costumes and a faint threat of ghosts, witches and goblins somewhere out there where the light seaps

But pumpkins are a big deal, and area produce dealers are ready with a huge supply of the fat fellows.

Renaissance Quintet highlights cafe concert

The Plymouth-based Renaissance Wind Quintet will perform at the Plymouth Hilton Inn this Sunday.

The quintet highlights the second Cafe Concert in a new series of Sunday afternoon music and art programs.

The quintet will perform at noon and 1:30 p.m. Reserved seats for each performance are $5.50 and include a light French meal. Call 420-2940 for reservations.

Unreserved tickets may be purchased at the door for $3.75 each. which includes a glass of wine. Per-

While some are talking about higher prices and scarcity, Mrs. Nancy Schmidt of the Roadside fruit stand, 43125 Joy, Canton Township, believes that their prices will be similar to last year's. She also observed that the pumpkin pile in front of their building is as big as last year's.

"The pumpkins are not quite as large because of the dry weather," she said. "But they have an excellent

PAUL VITALE of Paul's Fruit Ranch, 25010 Six Mile, Redford Township, agreed with Mrs. Schmidt that pumpkin colors were going to be beautiful this year.

His experience as a salesman of this fall feature tells him parent pumpkin purchasers are easier to deal with than their children.

"Kids know exactly what they want and they look and look till they find it," he said.

Among the 40 tons that are sold at Cochrum's Farm Produce, 35841 Plymouth, Livonia, the 15-25-pounder is the most popular size. Owner Delmar Cochrum has the arranged the orange fruit in five different groups. according to size. The smallest sells for 49 cents and the price of the biggest ranges up to $3.50.

The Cochrum pumpkins are grown on property owned by Cochrum about five miles west of Plymouth. They are planted with a corn planter with a specially made seed plate release with only four holes. They are sprayed by farm equipment for bugs and disease and by airplane when the vines become too big for the movement of land, anticipates that prices will be higher this year.

We paid $45 a ton last year, and two weeks ago they were talking about $60-$90 a ton," he said.

Last October he sold 42 tons of the future jack-o-lanterns. Feeling bullish. this year he ordered 50 tons. Leftovers are picked up and used for animal feed or garden mulch.

Even so, he thinks there is a pumpkin shortage, but he lays it more to farmers leaving the business than dry

"My grower quit raising pumpkins last year," he observed. "He put his land into other things. Shortages are due to the difficulty of finding labor to pick the produce.

For six years Tony Perna has been selling pumpkins and other produce at Tony's Farm Market, 27419 Warren,

"They won't be as big as last year because of dry weather," he reported. "Rain means everything. Even irrigation doesn't compensate for loss or rain. It gives them their size. But they are of good quality, and are healthy pumpkins.

He has noticed that "some people like the ugliest ones because they feel they have character," while others search for the pretty face.

He added: The majority like a handle at the top.

Jack-o-lantern pumpkins, Perna said, differ from pie pumpkins in that the latter are bred specially to have harder shells.

Interested in a pumpkin treat? Drop in at Tony's and see his 142-pound pumpkin, made human by his wife Sondy with gourds for eyes and nose and painted eyes and eyebrows. He looks smashing in hat, tie and coat with a cigar in his mouth.

Speaks in Plymouth

People need confidants—Brothers

By SHERRY KAHAN

Dr. Joyce Brothers is the kind of individual people like to talk to. Not long ago, while she watched and listened to a film on a plane, her earphones were suddenly yanked from her ears. A young woman leaned over to talk about a problem with her boyfriend

Most of us would have bared our fangs, and told the intruder to buzz off. But Dr. Brothers responded in her quiet way, then went back to her

Low of key, short, blond and unthreatening. Dr. Brothers listens to everyone's troubles as she travels about the country. It helps her understand what people are thinking.

In Livonia and Plymouth recently as Livonia Town Hall lecturer, she received questions from her audience which she will file away to draw upon later in her work as psychologist, columnist for 350 newspapers and Good Housekeeping magazine, and TV personality

If you work out of New York City and think you know what the country is thinking, you're way off base," she

She believes it healthy to talk about problems. "Americans are totally frank and open if they trust you." she said. "Otherwise, no way will they talk openly to you. It is a terribly good thing to have someone to turn to.

A recent survey, she pointed out. indicated that people with a confidant are happier than those without one.

The confidant of Dr. Brothers is her husband, internist Dr. Milton Brothers. "He is my best friend," she QUESTIONS ASKED the speaker indicated that area women are wondering about the effect children have on a marriage. They also inquire about the Elvis Presley craze, teenagers, daydreaming, adultery, marriage, and the experience of Dr. Brothers on the TV show. The $64,000 Question.

which was enormously popular 23

Later there was a scandal about participants being secretly fed answers by the producers.

The response of Dr. Brothers indicated that she had no part in this aspect of the show

She chose to try to be on the program because the Brothers family needed the money. Her husband was a resident in a hospital earning $50 a week. She felt it important to stay home with her small daughter, so she gave up teaching at Hunter College and Columbia University.

Analyzing the format of the show. she and her husband determined that producers were looking for people with expertise in unusual categories. If the Brothers could pick the right category. they might be accepted on the program and be able to win the losing prize, a Cadillac, and sell it.

Because it is possible to know almost everything about boxing, as opposed to art or music, she explained, she boned up on the lore of pugilism. Then she was accepted as a contestant for $64,000.

"The show looked easy," she recalled. "They were looking for someone to answer the questions and work up toward the prize. But he would be knocked off at the upper

"The first questions were very easy. Then they began asking me impossible questions about referees, so I studied up on them. They became more desperate to knock me off.

"The last question was actually about 16 different questions. It was the only time in TV history when they allowed a program to go overtime because the question was so long.

When I answered the $64,000 question. I destroyed the budget and Charles Revson, the sponsor, turned to the producer and said something unprintable.

maleness or femaleness. "Some are not meant to nurture. When they have children, it could destroy the marriage.

The post-death craze about Elvis Presley is catharsis for mothers and daughters, who are both carrying on about a mythical person, said the psychologist.

When he first came on the scene. "his songs, dancing and beat were foreign to older people." To be a Presley fan meant a revolt against parents and society. Later on, he became more acceptable to the parents, and both mothers and daughters tended to "romanticize him overlooking his obesity and gross behavior.

The shyness of young people often stands between them and making friends or dating, noted the psychologist.

"Some are very goal oriented and have no time for friendship," she said. "The ones who are shy often do well on a one-to-one relationship. Suggest they bring home a friend. Encourage them to join a group directed by an older person who will make sure everyone is pulled into the group.

About a son who is reluctant to date. she said that meeting people is one way to relate to the world.

"The way to learn to love deeply is to learn to respond to many people. she remarked. "It takes a lot of friends to find the right mate. There is no perfect mate. You learn what you can accept in a mate by dating

She also suggested caution about nagging. "The more mom and dad push on dating, the more resistant the child will become. He could even pick the wrong mate if you push too hard."

IN RESPONSE to a question about a child daydreaming his school life away. Dr. Brothers presented the reminder that "one of the most wonderful things to have is day dreams."

She added: "The solutions to our greatest problems have occurred during daydreams. It is a time when a person pulls together all the raw material of his thinking into creative thought. We all need time just to lie on the grass and look at the sky.

Why kids get the way they do

Parents and teachers who have trouble communicating with children will gain insights into behavioral problems at a two-day workshop on Friday and Saturday. Oct. 27 and 28, at Madonna College in Livonia.

Ron Jones, school psychologist for the Plymouth Community Schools and an instructor at Madonna, will direct this first in a series of eight workshops dealing with techniques for reaching the problem child, whether in the home, school or the community.

"In this first session, we will differentiate between common growth problems and behavioral problems," said Dr. Jones dependent and aggressive-and the establishment of communication lines to them.

We will uncover the mechanism by which the child protects his self-concept, and at the creation of that selfconcept. We will look at three different types of children-oppositional.

The first workshop, "Introduction to Intervention Techniques," is designed to deal with aiding children in the adjustment to classroom learning situations, and suggesting ways of establishing teacher-student and parentchild communication to help the child become a learning member of the group, classroom and society.

Five of the eight workshops are to be conducted by Jones, a resident of Westland, who has a background in personality and child development

He was a behavior modification consultant in the federally funded innercity delinquency project in Highland Park and school psychologist in the Shiawassee County Intermediate School District. Jones received his bachelor and master's degrees from the University of Virginia, and has a doctorate from Michigan State University.

JUNE SLOBODIAN, former chairwoman of the Madonna education department and currently a school psychologist with the South Lyon schools, will conduct the second of the series, "Playing Away and Learning,"

The sessions will deal with the techniques of using games to help children feel a part of the group as they learn.

Dealing with ways of making games. of adapting commercially prepared games and of reconstructing games, Dr. Slobodian will also suggest various personalized games for holiday giving. Other workshops in the series include four to be taught by Jones:

"Behavior Modification," Dec. 8-9: "Humanism in Teaching," Feb. 23-24; "Interpreting Children's Behavior," April 27-28; and "Using a Total Support System in the Classroom." May

Dr. Arthur Meek, director of the center for personalized instruction at Madonna, will direct a March 30-31 workshop in "Making Maximum Use of Multicultural Backgrounds in the Classroom," and a member of the Interpretation and Total Communication Department at Modonna will direct the session on Total Communication in the Classroom, Jan. 26-27.

THE WORKSHOPS are open for credit or non-credit. Parents and educators taking the workshops for non-credit will be assessed a fee of $50 per workshop. Those students taking the series for credit will be charged $42 per credit, at one credit per weekend. For every nine hours of workshop experience, students gaining credit will be required to complete six hours of related hands-on work.

Interested persons can contact the Education Department. Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150, 591-1200, ext. 41 or 51. Registration will be accepted daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. through the Friday of each session, and one session may be taken independently of the rest.

Safety tips offered for children at home

You can't be too careful when the safety of infants and toddlers in your home is concerned—whether they are a permanent part of the household or just visiting for a short time.

Here are some safety hints for youngsters in your home:

· Keep all poisonous substances and medicine out of the reach of children. If you must store harmful substances at lower levels, be sure to place these items in cabinets that can be locked Most cleaning agents, medicines and even cosmetics can be harmful.

 Dispose of old or unused medicine by flushing it down drains rather than tossing it in the wastebasket. Also, be sure that empty containers of other harmful substances aren't left within reach of curious tots. Even residual quantities of these materials can be dangerous.

Of course, children should be taught that electrical outlets and appliance cords are not toys. But, to prevent a precocious youngster from imitating you by plugging in a favorite toy, install inexpensive covers on outlets not in regular use.

Avoid letting appliance cords dangle below kitchen-counter level to prevent having the appliances pulled down. Make sure pot handles are never left facing outward on the stove where they could be easily bumped, resulting in hot foods or other items falling on youngsters. Install gates at the top and bottom of stairways to prevent falls. Be sure stairs are free from clutter to avoid tripping by any member of the family.

·Be sure matches, cigarette lighters and other such items are kept out of reach of children. Also, check that the fireplace screen, which is an essential feature for safe operation of the fireplace, cannot be pulled over by a

All Saints dedicates organ

DAVID SCHNEIDMILLER

All Saints Lutheran Church, 8850 Newburgh, will offer a community service of worship in hymns and prayers as it dedicates its pipe organ at 7 p.m.

David Schneidmiller, minister of music at Faith Lutheran Church of Livonia, will play the Adams-Fouser organ for the occasion.

The congregation also will consecrate its Lutheran Book of Worship, a common worship book for all Lutherans newly published this year.

The guest organist will offer organ selections introducing hymns from the worship book and then they will be sung by the congregation

The All Saints Senior Choir also will sing, and there will be psalms accompanied by handbells. Schneidmiller is a graduate of Valparaiso Uni-

Institute goes modern

Composer Crumb in concert...

By GRETCHEN McHUGH

In Detroit, the arrival of composer George Crumb for Friday's (Oct. 27) Pro Musica concert signals yet another renaissance.

This time it is a renewal of the Pro Musica Society's original goal and motivation-which is to be sure Detroit keeps up with what's going on in the mainstream of contemporary music

Or, in the words of Pro Musica's current president. Alexander Suczek, a Harvard-educated musician whose business is publishing, the lull of recent years is about to

The list of prominent musicians whose first Detroit exposure was sponsored by this 425-member society seems endless-composers Maurice Ravel, Darius Milhaud, and Serge Prokofiev, and performers Gary Graffman, the Guarneri Quartet and clarinetist Richard Stoltzman for starters.

CRUMB IS A PULITZER PRIZE winning composer who teaches composition at the University of Pennsylvania. He is popular with the young because of his unique style. Interested in unusual instruments and original in his instrumental combinations. Crumb explores the worlds of both ancient and modern ideas for source material. He wrote the three works on tomorrow's program especially for the performers, who are the Aeloian Fascinated by the origins of things, he said of "Ancient Voices of Children," a 1970 composition which was performed in Detroit last year: "It is sometimes of interest to a composer to recall the original impulsethe 'creative germ' of a composition," and then proceeds to describe it.

His feelings about music have to do with a link to the source as well. "Music," he said, "is the cell from which sprang science and language." Suczek said, "Since we've announced George Crumb's appearance, we've had a heartening response from people of stature. National Public Radio is going to record Friday's concert for nationwide broadcasts. The New York Times wants to make a press release of record whenever it gets itself going again. And Oliver Messiaen, with whom I spoke last week when he was here about Crumb's coming, was tremendously excited. He said Crumb is a superb composer, certainly as exciting as anyone we've

And that, considering Pro Musica's record, and Messiaen's reputation, is no small compliment.

SUCZEK, WHO IS STEPPING IN to fill the shoes of the beloved Dorothy Coolidge, who was Pro Musica's president for 28 years and who died last year at 80, is enthusiastic about the society's future.

"We're finding that the old format, of a stable membership-which had the advantages of a family enterprise-as well as the events paid for in advance, is no longer satisfactory.

"Therefore, we're opening up individual concert tickets for students, $7, and regular public, $9. This is a pivotal year. We want to revitalize our membership with younger people, as well as to appeal to more of the pub-

Speaking of the resistance even on the part of music lovers to contemporary music's unfamiliar sounds and shapes, he said, "The format of this concert, with the composer present to familiarize us with his personality and compositional intentions, creates an opportunity not to be turned down.

Tomorrow's concert begins in the lecture hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts at 8:30 p.m. For ticket information call 881-8750. Membership in Pro Musica Society is

... while new artists continue

Innovative artists in the Detroit area who are exploring performance art and video works are showing their avant-garde work at the Detroit Institute of Arts through Saturday, Nov. 5.

Video tapes by seven artists will be shown daily at noon and 2 p.m. in the North Court. The artists are Marvin Anderson, Lynn Farnsworth, William Graham, Jean Heilbrunn, Kurt Novak, Diane Spodarek and Jay Yager. Three sessions of performance pieces, each lasting about two hours, will be presented in the North Court; a public reception will follow each.

The first performance, Thursday at 6 p.m., will feature artists Tom Bloomer, Edward Weiss and Thomas Frank, Rosa Patino, Diane Spodarek, Susan Swan and Louise Garfield and Christine Tamblyn. Artists Keith Aoki, Patrick Halley, Ray Johnson and Doni Silver will perform Sunday, at 2 p.m.

A third performance, Thursday, Nov. 2 at 8 p.m., will include artists Keith Aoki, Robert Caskey, Jim Hart, Rick McKenzie and the Motor City Free Arts Group, Tom Newsom, Alan Schmidt, Jay Yager

Klaus Rinke, one of West Germany's leading conceptual artists, will discuss his own efforts in performance, video and body art in the museum Lecture Hall Wednesday, Nov. 1

Contemporary art historian Ellen Johnson will duscuss performance and video art in the context of "The Object of Jeopardy" relating the diverse approaches of today's artists to the history of 20th century art on Wednesday.

Both lectures take place at 8 p.m. in the Lecture Recital Hall with admission at the door $3; students and

'Camelot' needs more work

By BETTY MASSON Special writer

The Marquis Theatre in Northville is not far from home, and our admiration and gratitude to J.J. and Inga-Zaytı for restoring it to its 1920s state are profound. We look forward to spending many a happy evening there in a setting of red plush, stained glass windows and white Unfortunately, last Friday was not such an evening.

There was some reflection of the work and artistry that had gone into the restoration of the theater in the presentation of "Camelot" by Performing Arts Unlimited, a new nonprofessional company

THE RESEMBLANCE was most evident in the sets and the costumes. The use of lighting to create mood was outstanding—the bright blue sky of the May day, the cold steely gray of the Enchanted Forest. The props and scenes were simple and Scenery and lighting were designed y Andrew Henderson, who is co-producer of "Camelot," with Bill Premin. Georgia McDaniel was in charge of the gorgeous array of costumes, which came from Toronto.

In spite of this, it was a long threeplus hours. The theater is near Northville Downs and, in analyzing the production, a horse-oriented analogy springs to mind. I have read that when you are learning to jump a horse over a fence, you are told to "Throw your heart over, and the rest of you will follow.

The problem with "Camelot" seems to be that Arthur, played by Dean Unick, never seems to get his heart over the fence of characterization. The rest of the troupe gets jammed up behind him, and the whole production never leaves the ground. I am sure the problem is not

An acting director or directing actor may lack the distance which would have shown him that some of his fellow actors were having difficulty in interpreting their roles. In Arthur's court, there were too many resemblances to Stephen Leacock's knight who "flung himself on hus borse and rode off in all directions

Salem pounds Dearborn

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Plymouth Salem held Dearborn to only one field goal and six points in the second quarter enroute to a 55-42 Suburban Eight League girls basketball victory Tuesday night at the Rocks'

The victory was the 12th straight for the unbeaten Rocks. They remain the only undefeated team in the Observerland. But more importantly, the tnumph was Salem's sixth straight in Sub-8 action. The Rocks have now completed first-round play in first place, one game ahead of Livonia Decrborn went into the game with an 8-1 overall record and 4-1 mark in the league. It had a chance to tie the Rocks with a victory, but Salem's tough defense eliminated any chance tor a Proneer upset.

I was pleased with the victory because I thought this game would be a challenge and it was," said Salem coach Bob Blohm Initially, we played good defense but didn't hit the boards well.

Salem held a 16-11 lead after the first quarter and a 30-17 advantage at halftime. The Rocks maintained that 17-point margin the rest of the second half but never really blew the scrappy Proneers off the court.

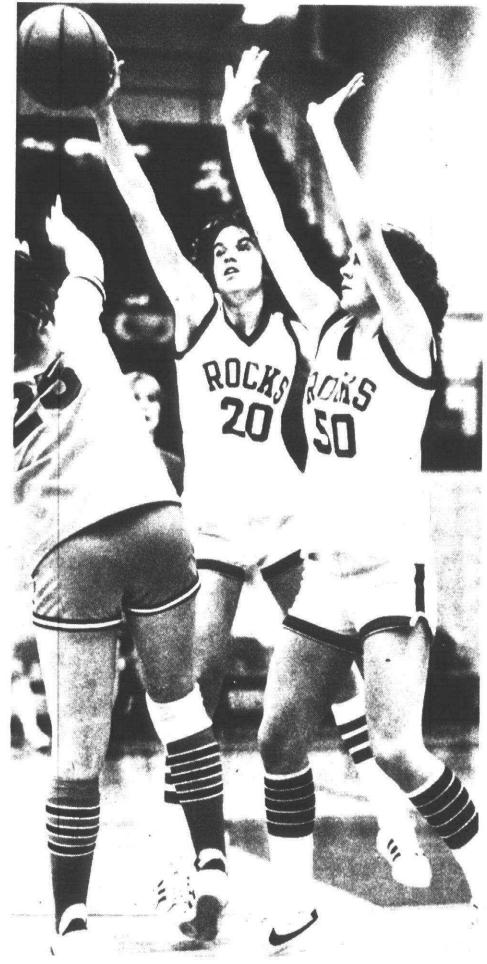

Although Salem held Dearborn to only 11 field goals, foul trouble plagued the Rocks most of the game.

Dearborn converted on 20 of 31 free throws to keep within striking range. although Salem never was in danger of losing the lead.

The Rocks scored 26 field goals and relied on a balanced attack. Senior Doris Hoelscher, replacing Diane Goodrich in the lineup, led all Salem scorers with 11 points. Peggy Somers and Patty Weidman added 10 points each. Weidman, a junior, dominated the boards with 13 rebounds.

Erin Moore and Cheryl Sobkow followed with eight points each, and Nan Horwood chipped in with six.

Goodrich, who injured her left knee two weeks ago against Bentley, is out of the line up indefinitely.

Canton bothered by press in 20-point loss to Bentley

It was billed as one of the top nonleague games of the season. But in the end. Livonia Bentley made a joke of it. defeating Plymouth Canton by 20 points in girls basketball action Tuesday night

The 50-30 decision was the worst defeat suffered by the Chiefs in three years. Coach Mike McCauley's squad. 9-2 on the year, must now regroup for Western Six League action tonight against Harrison. Canton is still undefeated in league play

The Bulldogs from Bentley played their best defensive game of the season on their home court, as a tenacious full-court zone press shut down Canton's attack the entire game.

Bentley played the zone press in the first half, mounting a 12-4 advantage after the first quarter and a 30-10 halftime lead.

The Bulldogs then settled into a 3-2 zone defense in the second half, proteeting that 20-point advantage the rest of the way.

Bentley's guards played exceptional ball against the Chiefs. Carla Hally led all scorers with 17 points. Beth Burgess and Debbie Brooks also helped on defense. Shiela DeGrazia followed Hally in the scoring column with 11 points. Krista Pray added 10 points and 17 rebounds.

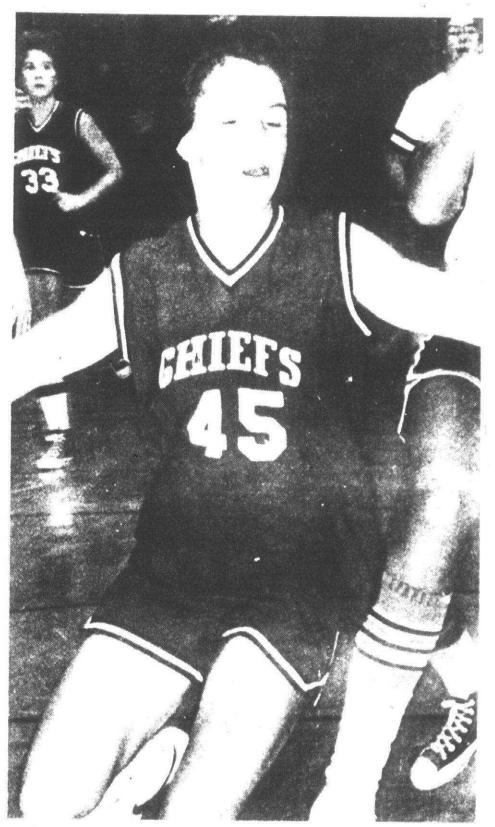

Canton's lone bright spot on offense was senior Kathie Peck who scored 10 points—one third of the Chiefs' output.

Radio action

One girls basketball game and one football contest will be featured live this week by WSDP-FM. Plymouth-Canton's student-operated radio

Canton's Vickie Cavallaro was her usual hustling self, but it did no good against a fired-up Livonia Bentley squad which handed the Chiefs their second loss of the season. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Tankers improve but fall

Despite an improvement in swim times. Plymouth Canton girls fell to a powerful Farmington Harrison squad, 99-73, Tuesday night at the Chiefs' last home meet of the season.

In the first round of Western Six League action, the Chiefs lost to Harrison, 108-64, at the Hawks pool. Canton's overall record now stands at 3-3-1. Canton won the opening event, the 200-yard medley relay, thanks to Bronwyn Fitsgerald, Julie Straton, Cindy Shelanskey and Kathy Dickinson. Kim Massey followed the opening relay by breaking her own school record in the 200-yard freestyle. Her time of 2:06.6 was only second best to Harrison's Julie Burland, who swam 2:05.9. Massey won the 500-yard freestyle event, however, swimming the distance race in 5:43.2.

Freshman Lisa Forsythe took first, second and third place finishes at the meet. She won the 50yard freestyle sprint in :27.7, was second in the 100-yard butterfly at 107.7, and placed third in the 100-yard freestyle in 1:04.7.

Jamie Zuverink, a junior, broke a Canton school record in the diving competition with 183 points. It was only good enough for second place, however, as Harrison's Sue Humphries registered 210 points to win the event.

Senior captain Cindy Shelanskey won the 100yard backstroke with a time of 1:10.2. Mary Reardon also had an improved time in the 200-yard individual medley, placing third in 2:45.3

Harrison's Cathy Rudell wasa double winner in both the 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard butterfly events.

Canton closed the meet with a victory in the 400yard freestyle relay when Forsythe, Missy McMurray, Reardon and Massey combined for a first-place time of 4:13.1.

At the end of the meet, both the Canton swimmers and their parents were honored as part of the annual Parents' Night ceremonies.

Jamie Zuverink broke a Canton diving record Tuesday night, placing second in the competition with 183 points. The Chiefs fell to

Soccer teams excel

Two Plymouth junior soccer teams from the Western Suburban Soccer League won league titles last weekend in the eight-and-under and 12and-under boys divisions.

The Cosmos and the Red Devils, both coached by Gordon Rama, won their championship games Sunday.

The Cosmos, 12-and-under, had no trouble defeating the Livonia Orange Crush, 9-0. The Red Devils, winners of Division 1 of the Plymouth eight-and-under league, won their title with a 2-0 triumph.

"We had some outstanding talent on both teams," said Rama at the conclusion of the two successul junior soccer seasons.

The young Red Devils finished the fall season with a 6-0-1 overall record. Rama felt his squad's bustle and determination were the keys to this winning season.

Plymouth Salem gridders finally get a breather this week when they host winless Livonia Bentley for the Rocks' homecoming game Friday night at 8

Plymouth Canton, on the other hand, travels to Garden City East for a non-league game which it hopes to win after its unexpected setback to Walled Lake Western last week. This, too, is a Friday night battle starting at

The Salem-Bentley game finishes the Suburban Eight League schedule for both teams, while Canton shows its Western Six League strength against the Panthers from the Northwest Suburban League.

THE ROCKS just finished their toughest three games of the schedule, winning two of three contests to post a 6-1 record. A victory over the 0-7 Bull-

SCHOOLCRAFT CROSS COUNTRY

The Schoolcraft College cross country team upped its season record to 3-1 last weekend by defeating Highland Park Community College, 15-42.

Phil Reed paced the Ocelots and smashed the Cass Benton course record by 24 seconds. Reed clocked a time of 28:04.5 for the five mile course.

Other Schoolcraft runners were Doug Vorbeck second, 29:12; Mark McKenney third, 30:07; Pul York fourth, 30:51; Brian Hanna fifth, 32:26; and Jennifer DeVenny ninth, 36:08.

The Ocelots will compete in the regional and state meet at Lorain, Ohio this weekend.

dogs would assure Salem of sole possession of second place behind undefeated Trenton in the Sub 8.

Salem coach Tom Moshimer has had exceptional success against the Bulldogs during his 11-year reign as Plymouth coach. And this year should be no different. In all, Moshimer has won all but one Plymouth-Bentley game since 1967.

Bentley no doubt is headed for last place in the Sub-8 standings after losing a hard-fought 6-0 game to seventhplace Belleville last week.

The Bulldogs have been shut out six of seven games this season, scoring only eight points while allowing their opponents 173 points.

And to make matters worse, it's a good possibility that Bentley's top linebacker, co-captain Tim Schuele, will not play because of an injury. Schuele, the son of Plymouth Canton head coach Dave Schuele, tore ligaments in his knee on the final series of downs against Belleville last week.

If one compared scores, Salem would seem to have no reason to even begin the game with its starters. The Rocks defeated Belleville 66-0 earlier this season—the same Belleville team that beat Bentley.

Moshimer doesn't want to look at the game that way, however, as he tries to prepare his squad for its last league

Salem is very badly hurt in the backfield by bumps and bruises from the Redford Union, Trenton and Edsel Ford games of the past weeks. Moshimer said his starters will be ready,

"I don't want to come into the game with the attitude that we're just going to try to play a lot of kids," Moshimer said. "But if we score early that's what we'll do.

"What can you say," he said. 'We're 6-1 and they're (Bentley), 0-7. Obviously, we should beat them.

But you never know if the breaks go their way. They played with a lot of enthusiasm last week and suffered a tough loss.

In an effort to generate some points, Bentley has changed its normal power-I offense to the wishbone, as preparation for next year. But Moshimer said the Bulldogs run very few options

Likewise, Salem is finally meeting a team which is smaller than it iswhich should also help the homecoming crowd enjoy even more Rock points on the scoreboard.

A DISCOURAGED Canton coach Schuele must regroup his troops to face a 1-6 Garden City East team that has only beaten Redford Thurston all season. Last week, while the Chiefs were getting beat by Western, East was getting pounded by unbeaten North Farmington, 53-6.

"If you want to play the points game, East beat Thurston, 21-20, Schuele explained. "Thurston beat Northville, 6-0, and Northville handled us. So this should be a fair ball game. We're looking forward to it."

Schuele is looking forward to anything but last week's Western loss, which not only dropped Canton to 3-4 overall but also resulted in a fifthplace finish in the league for the 1-4

"They (Western) were just super, fantastically prepared for us." Schuele said with no excuses. "They played flawless ball. They made no mistakes and they jumped on our mistakes.

"If anything happened, we were just outcoached," the Canton mentor said. "I think we are better than them but not that Friday night. People said we played bad, but they did things to us to make us look bad. It's just one of those types of games that you just hope won't come along.

Schuele thinks his squad can rebound against the Panthers.

"We have quite a bit of character on our ball club." he said. "We're just hoping we can put things back together.

Chief loss dims bright season

Guess what happens when one finally gives a few compliments to a football team which hasn't really deserved any for the past five years. They lose.

I'm not really sure what to think right now. Here was a Plymouth Canton football squad which I truly thought had the potential to finish above .500 for the first time ever in the school's history

But now, after a disasterous 25-6 setback to lowly Walled Lake Western last Friday night. I'm not sure if the Chiefs will even win that mystical fourth game of the season-a victory which would break the school record for wins in a year

I understand that I have been called many names by Canton fans in recent years. Everything, in fact, from "Canton's biggest football critic," to other goodies which definitely are not printable.

But I thought I finally cleaned up my act this fall. Here, I was observing a Canton football squad unlike any past group.

It wasn't so much the obvious improvement of the win-loss record that made this team different. It was shades of some positive attitudes demonstrated by the players to both the coaches and the program that made this team different.

It was a team which, after two victories at the start of the season, played exceptionally tough against Livonia Churchill and Farmington Harrison in defeat. These were the two top squads in the Western Six League this fall.

The Chiefs played only one poor game after the first six weeks of the season-a 20-point setback to Northville. Even so, it was evident that improvement was being made in the program.

And then came that unfortunate seventh week. I don't know if it's just the thought of playing a Walled Lake Western, or the fact that Canton was so heavily favored.

And yet, last Friday's ,19-point laugher marked the fourth straight year Canton football has succumbed to the Warriors.

Canton players have no right to be overconfident against any Walled Lake Western squad. They have no right to be overconfident against any football team it plays. Their record proves this.

Yes, despite what anyone may think, it's evident that I gave Canton football more credit than it deserved this year. Indeed, improvements have been made in the program, and it looks like it may be on the road to success in the future.

But that unfortunate loss to Walled Lake Western has more than likely cost the Chiefs an above .500 record. a clearly realistic goal for this team.

Now, with only two games left. Canton has fallen below that breakeven point with a 3-4 overall record. I hope the Chiefs will rebound to defeat Garden City East-a 53-6 loser to North Farmington last week.

It's a non-league game at Garden City Friday night starting at 8 p.m. Canton has a better ball club than the Panthers—barring any repeat of the Walled Lake misfortune. Canton by

This will make Canton's record 4-4 but, beware, Dearborn Edsel Ford is last on the schedule. Now do you see why it's next to impossible to achieve that 5-4 record which was once a strong possibility before the unlucky seventh week?

THERE'S REALLY not much to say about Friday night's Plymouth Salem homecoming game against Livonia Bentley except that it starts

The Rocks, although physically sore, have survived the toughest three weeks of their season with the only blemish being a five-point setback to Trenton

Salem currently stands 6-1 overall and should breeze to an 8-1 record after Bentley and the season-finale against Farmington Harrison.

Poor Bentley is smaller than the Rocks. The Bulldogs have been shut out six of seven games this season. and have scored only one touchdown this fall. It's been a tough season for coach Pat O'Donnell's squad which never rebounded from it's unbelievable rash of injuries at the start of the year

The Bulldogs' lone chance for victory came last week when it lost to Belleville in a close battle of winless squads, 6-0. That's the same Belleville squad which Salem beat 66-0 earlier in the season.

If my figuring is correct, doesn't this mean Salem should be favored by 72 points over the Bulldogs'

Well, maybe not that much. But the homecoming fans are sure to see a lot of the 1979 Rocks in action, as next year's players will gain a lot of experience while the regulars get a deserved rest. Salem by 42.

Northville stuns Chief harriers

The Plymouth Canton Chiefs cross country team has been riding on cloud nine all year after winning three straight meets, a school record.

But the Northville Mustangs put the Chief harriers in their place last Tuesdayat Canton's home course Cass Benton with a Canton's top finisher Mike Talaga took eighth place overall at 17:30. Next in line was Dave Spitz at 17:50 and Rich Flies-After taking the first seven places, the Mustangs gave The Chiefs places 8-9-10, then took 11-12 and let the Chiefs finish the race undisturbed. Coming in succession for Canton were Dan Inloes, 17:59; Randy Hennells, 18:03; and Dan McGlinn, 18:17.

Other Chief runners included: Scott Hand, Maurice Breen, Scott Kiefer, Dave Talaga, Eric Carrier, Geri Shufelt and Kevin Krumback.

Coach Jim Hayes closes out his rookie year in the Western Six this week. Hayes led his team to a school record four wins against six defeats.

North Farmington still unbeaten

By TOM BAER

North Farmington's football team is probably best described in the words of an opposing coach.

"I'm serious when I say that I can't find a weak spot on that football team, said Farmington Harrison coach John Herrington. They have so much going for them

Hernington's Harrison club will find out more about North's football prowess on Saturday (Oct. 28) when the two rivals clash at 2 p.m. on Harri-

North Farmington, undefeated through seven games and state ranked (No. 2 behind Birmingham Brother Rice in most polls), needs a victory to stay in contention for the post-season state Class A playoffs.

Harrison, 5-2 overall with both losses coming against state-ranked teams. would like to pull the upset of the year.

We're real excited about this game." Herrington said. "You don't have to do anything special to fire up our kids for the North Farmington game. It's always the hardest-hitting game of the year, and I'm sure it'll be that way on Saturday

"I'm real proud of our kids," Herrington said. "They're playing up to their potential right now, and that's all ary coach can ask

North has rolled over every opponent but one by big scores. Last Saturday, the powerful Raiders smothered hapless Garden City East, 53-6, to nail down the school's first Northwest Suburban League football championship

STILL, NORTH COACH Ron Holland isn't taking Harrison lightly.

"I haven't seen Harrison play that much, but that's a good football team with a lot of fine players and an excellent coaching staff," Holland said. "They have some fine running backs, and their quarterback (Drew Norton) can throw the ball.

Harrison beat Northville, 7-6, last Friday night, using the same running play 13-straight times on its touchdown drive. But Harrison will probably have to find other ways to move the ball against North.

"We're going to open things up," Herrington said. "We know we can't play conservatively. It'll be very difficult to drive the ball on North, which pursues very well.

Against Garden City East, North tailback Jeff Cohen, a big (190 pounds), fast (:04.5 in the 40-yard dash) senior, went on a touchdown binge early in the game, scoring on runs of one, 25, 54, and 20 yards. He scored four touchdowns and gained 105 yards in his five carries.

Jim Minhinnett, a senior safety, provided two more touchdowns on a 12yard pass interception and a 10-yard run. Dan Cohen ran 40 yards with a psss interception for another TD. and Ron Nutter grabbed a 16-yard scoring pass from Ron Fredericks.

Mike Miller, another speedy North tailback, gained 79 yards in 12 carries. North rushed for 269 yards, while holding East to just two.

"I thought we were going to win by about four touchdowns, but we had those two interceptions for touch downs, and we got good field position on some fumbles we recovered." Holland said.

North will end its regular season on Nov. 4 with its traditional non-league game at home against Farmington High. Harrison will finish up at home on the same afternoon with Plymouth Salem providing the opposition

Churchill tops Pats

After outscoring Livonia Franklin 18-6 during the third quarter. Livonia Churchill breezed to a 60-47 victory Tuesday in a non-conference girls basketball game

The Chargers had led 12-4 after the first period and 26-23 at the intermission.

Linda Mix scored 17 points for Churchill, Cindy Bussart 12 and Kim Hewitt seven. Daun Muller and Jenni McNulty produced 14 and eight points. respectively, for Franklin

"Mix did a good job shooting from the outside, which she hasn't been doing much this year." said Churchill coach Don Albertson. Hewitt played a very strong game at point guard. She passed off quite a few times and was running the offense.

We've been talking about getting our spirit up and we really worked on that against Franklin. Albertson

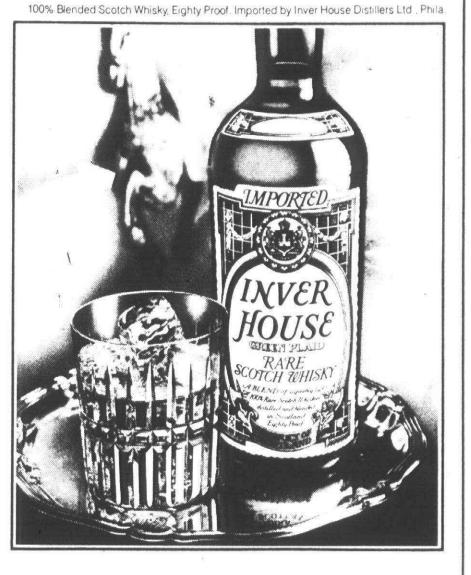

Albertson said that his team may have slacked off a bit during the second quarter and taken the Patriots too

"I guess they took it for granted that we would blow them out and they relaxed a little. I reminded them at halftime that we came back from three points behind at the half in our first game against them," said Albertson.

The Chargers responded to the intermission talk and blitzed the Patriots during the third period.

"Personally, I think Franklin is a lot better than their record (1-12) indicates." said Albertson.

Churchill hiked its season record to 85 with the win.

SC spikers triumph | Churchill tops gridders; Salem girls No.1

Schoolcraft College last weekend won its second women's volleyball invitational of the season by besting seven challengers at the Michigan State University Volleyball Tournament

The Ocelots defeated the MSU JV for the title in a best-of-three series. 11-15, 15-2 and 15-5. Schoolcraft routed Alma College in the semifinals, 15-4 and 15-3.

During pool play, the Ocelots won five of six games. They whitewashed Oakland Community College twice, 15-0 and 15-0, defeated Lansing Community College twice, 15-9 and 16-14, and split with the MSU JV, 15-9 and 13-15.

"Alma and MSU JV were good teams, but they lacked the consistency we have," said Schoolcraft coach Tom Teeters. "They could not sustain what they had. We just played steady and made very few errors.

CC edges Borgess

BORGESS-CC

Redford Bishop Borgess held on until the fourth quarter last weekend before the onslaught of Detroit Catholic Central proved to be overpowering. 21-11, in a Catholic League football

The Shamrocks opened the scoring early in the first quarter after Borgess had fumbled on its own 22-yard line. From that point, CC drove into the endzone in four plays.

A 16-yard pass from quarterback Mike Lewis to Mark Makela produced the touchdown. Chuck Maiorana booted the point-after.

The score stayed 7-0 until early in the third quarter when the Spartans put together a socring combination of its own. CC fumbled deep in its own territory and Borgess drove to the 12 yard line only to be stopped.

Dean Wiley came through for the Spartans, though, when he kicked a 28yard field goal.

Borgess had a chance to go out in front late in the third quarter when John Stack intercepted a CC pass and ran it back 68 yards to the Shamrocks' 11-yard line. CC tightened up, however, and held the Spartans on downs.

In the fourth quarter, Randy Larsen capped an 80-yard eight play march down the field with a six-yard offtackle touchdown run. The extra point kick by Maiorana was good and CC was in front, 143.

Joe Rudzinski scored the final Shamrocks' touchdown in the fourth period when he went into the endzone on a four-yard dive play. The score capped a four play drive that started after a poor Borgess punt

With time just about gone, Borgess quarterback Jeff DeBerry scored the Spartans' only touchdown on a onevard quarterback sneak. The play capped a six-play, 63-yard drive. Wiley slammed his way home on the following two-point conversion attempt to make the final score 21-11.

Borgess picked up 125 total yards with only five of those on the ground. DeBerry completed six of 18 passes for the other 120 yards.

The Shamrocks tallied 226 yards with 141 on the ground and 85 through the air. Larsen collected 89 yards to led the CC ground attack. Lewis completed five of 12 passes.

U-D Titans head 'West'

The University of Detroit basketball squad will be at Garden City West High tonight on the first stop of a five city tour to play an intrasquad scrimmage.

The "Titan Caravan" will start the scrimmage in the West gym at 7 p.m. There is no admission charge to the game which will run

"The primary reason for the tour is to expose the team to the surrounding areas and give people a chance to see us who might not be able to during the season," said Ken Hoffman, U-D sports information director.

Wolverines eye Gopher revenge

By W.W. EDGAR

While it is true that all trains look fast going passed poles, Michigan's one-sided victory over Wisconsin last Saturday proved that the shock of the tragic showing against Michigan State has worn off. And the Wolverines are ready to seek revenge against Minnesota this week.

It isn't often that the Wolverines are in a vengeful mood, but, somehow, they never forget what happened to them in Minneapolis a year ago.

The Gophers not only knocked them out of the unbeaten ranks, but there are many who still believe the playing field was soaked with water the night before with the idea of slowing down Michigan's fleet backs.

No mention of this "trick" ever has been made by the players or the coaches. But they still recall the humiliation of the defeat and vow that it won't happen

This thought of gaining revenge puts a little more interest in the battle with the Gophers who had a rather easy time of it against Northwestern, winning 38-14

last week. But the fact wits in what was the big that Northwestern scored twice indicates that the Wolverines should not have too much trouble. Because each team is Michigan records in rundeadlocked at 2-1 in the conference, the game takes on much of the luster that once marked the game of the season.

Both Harlan Huckleby and quarterback Rich Leach will be after new ning and passing in this homecoming battle for the Little Brown Jug This could be the game that will give a hint of the Wolverines' ability to go all the way to the Big Ten title again.

In The Pocket.

The nationwide campaign to raise funds for the building of the national Hall of Fame and Museum passed the $2 million mark during the past week when the American Bowling Congress made a donation of $100,000 to match the amount recently contributed by the Brunswick Division of AMF

The site for the museum has not yet been chosen but Detroit is still one of eight cities that will be considered when the museum board meets in February

THE RANKS of those who have broken the 700 barrier during the early weeks of the season were swelled again when two more of the coveted series were rolled in unexpected

The first of these came at Farmington Lanes were Clarence Lee rolled a 713 in the Farmington Meadows Mixed League and the second was the work of Ed Bonk, who posted a 709 in the Wednesday Keglers league at Country Lanes.

To get his big count, Lee had a 277 game while Bonk rolled counts of 234, 259 and 216.

CLOSE FINISHES again were the order of the day at Westland Bowl where the top three places in the Little were not decided until the last ball.

Roger Lee finally won the pacenfaking role with games of 256, 201 and 206 for 673. Only five pins back came John Wodarski with games of 212, 226 and 230 for a 668 to tie with Mike Lee for the runner-up spot

Lee profited by posting a 258 second game between counts of 221 and 189.

alak, who finished with a 556. In another fine performance at Westland, Jim Jesson lead the parade made possible with a 246 middle game.

JEAN STARK showed the way in the Livonia Ladies Classic even though she had to wait until the last game to do it. She won that one with a 206-37-243. That was enough to give her the series with a 541-111-652.

In the other games, Dorothy Goryca took the opener with a 217-12-229 and Joan Lewis won the second with 206-28-

DICK BEATTIE walked away with his seventh title in the Bonanza Michigan Majors Association tournament series when he easily paced the field at the Bowling Bar in Saginaw

With this performance he not only won the $1,000 first prize but gained the honor of winning the most events in the 12-year history of the Majors.

THERE WAS another dramatic finish in the invitational doubles at Merri-Bowl when only four pins separated the top three bowlers.

Marlene Hanna finished in front with a 596, while Kay Knox landed the runner-up position with 594 and Cheryl Mertz was third with a 592.

ANOTHER CONTEST that wasn't decided until the final ball marked competition in the ladies league at Garden Lanes.

Mary Koss beat Louise Sirsch by a single pin with a 635. Meanwhile, Elmer Squire paced the senior citizens with a 614 and Mike Risch showed the way in the St. Linus league with a 626.

FORECAST.

Competition tougher for Giants since starting season winning three of four ... Saints having one of most difficult schedules in NFC, battling contenders in 6 of first 8 games.

NEW ENGLAND ... 24 NEW YORK JETS ... 20

Now Jets will really find out just how good they are—or aren't Patriots first of final eight tough opponents each won one in AFC East head-to-headers last season

OAKLAND ... 27 SAN DIEGO ... 23

Raiders have one advantage in facing a very upset AFC West Charger challenge they play at home in last meeting, in San Diego, Oakland lucky to win in controversy, 21-20.

PHILADELPHIA ... 21 ST. LOUIS ... 13

Resumption of NFC East rivalry ... Eagles lost two to Cards in 77 by almost identical scores, 21-17, 21-16 ... Eagles, at home, will be poor hosts to troubled Cards ... by 8.

NEW ORLEANS ..... 26 NEW YORK GIANTS 24°

WASHINGTON ..... 20 SAN FRANCISCO ... 13

Another game that has possible lop-sided tendency (now watch for an upset!) 49ers won only one of first seven games ... Skins lost only one of seven ... Washington at home.

'Y' benefits from Fund

From its pre-schoolers "Kreatives" class to its In-Home Support Program for the elderly, the Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA services Plymouth residents of all ages.

The phrase "Young Men's Christian Association" no longer describes the wide range of family-oriented activities now operating from the Y's second-story offices at 292 S. Main Street. Plymouth. "Our classes continue to be our mainstay," says program director Janet E. Luce. Besides the customary exercise and sports skills classes, there are personal enrichment classes, like plant care, guitar and practical courses like home finances.

IMPROVED HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS also are the goal of the 'Y' Indian Maidens program for mothers and daughters and Indian Guides for "fathers and sons.

Gra-Y continues to draw hundreds of third, fourth and fifth graders to its after school activities, while Hi-Y gives teenagers an opportunity to earn their way to Youth in Legislature events.

One of the Y's most ambitious service projects has been the In-Home Support Program for the Elderly said Luce. Again this year, under a Title III federal grant, the 'Y' provides daily transportation to area retired persons for doctors appointments, shopping and other activities.

A measure of the program's success says Luce has been its growth from an original 30 clients to more than 420

Area seniors are also involved in the Y's Crediteers, a social organization co-sponsored by the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union. The group meets weekly for fellowship, craft and service activities, lectures, parties and other events.

Isabelle Maurer, president of the Senior Citizens Club, points out that although the members pay for the popular trips sponsored by these groups; they are only possible through the coordinating efforts provided by the Community Fund.

Recent outings have included the Traverse City Cherry Festival, a tour through the Pennsylvania Dutch Country and a Tiffin, Ohio glass factory as well as an upcoming trip to Bermuda.

ACITIVITIES AND SERVICES for older people are provided by many other Community Fund agencies, such as the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army, the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the Visiting Nurse Association.

Older people, in return, are among the most active volunteers in such activities as the Salvation Army's League of Mercy, the Red Cross Blood Drives and the sewing groups which prepare free medical dressings for area cancer patients.

By TIM RICHARD

Not only did they disagree on whether Michigan needs a new constitutional convention-they couldn't agree on whether it was a partisan

The issue was Proposal A-whether, after 14 years experience with the current constitution, Michigan voters should call a new "con con" on the Nov. 7 ballot.

The debaters were State Rep. Jack E. Kirsey (R-Livonia), who said no, and Dennis Stabenow, executive director of Citizens for a Constitutional Convention, who said yes.

"I STARTED the group myself with one other person in Lansing," Stabenow told a Schoolcraft College audience last week in a series sponsored by the college and the League of Women Voters.

Stabenow is a former member of the House Democratic staff in Lansing. In an interview, he said he was fired last May when his wife entered a Democratic primary against an incumbent Stabenow said, "It's obvious people do want change-tax reform, education reform, judicial reform. A 'con con' makes more sense than a crowded ballot." What reforms did his group have in mind? Stabenow declined to say because "I don't think it serves our that matches their philosophy," he said. Of 200 persons he had surveyed, the 35th District representative said, there was "a lackadaisical, unimpressed reaction" to the question of whether crats are anxious to get a constitution

Michigan needs a new constitution. If a convention is called, delegates would be elected within six months. "and all of the document becomes subject to change." Among the questions that could be raised, he said, are:

· Whether to allow a graduated rate income tax, voted down by the public as late as 1976.

· Whether to raise the sales tax, constitutionally pegged at four per ent on non-food and non-drug items.

Whether to allow state and local governments to have deficit budgets, now prohibited. · Whether to eliminate the procedure by which the public may petition for new law votes on new laws, referendums on laws enacted by the legislature and new constitutional amendments

"Our constitutition is extremely new-only 14 years old-and only nine other state constitutions are younger. Only seven amendments have been adopted out of the 18 offered since 1964. And only four states have fewer amendments to their constitutions." Kirksey said.

PROPOSAL A was mandated by the present constitution itself, not by the legislature or a petition drive.

Michigan constitutions have traditionally called for a vote on a new constitutional convention every 16 years. Voters approved constitutions in 1837. 1850, 1908 and 1963 and rejected one in

If a convention were called by voters, the governor would set special primary and general elections, and 148 delegates would be elected-one from each of the 110 state house districts and one from each of the 38 senate districts. Each delegate would have an equal vote.

Salary, budget and length of session would be set by the legislature.

Once the convention is completed, there would be a 90-day 'education process" to bring it before voters. Then voters would have a chance to approve or reject the final document.

The speakers agreed $8 million was a "ballpark" figure for the cost of a convention. But Kirksey said "this is a time to control state spending," while Stanbenow called it "only one-tenth of one per cent of the state budget

EXAMINE the credentials of the two candidates for Judge of District Court in Plymouth-Canton-Northville.

Ogilvie has dedicated his life to community and people problems ... right here in this District Court area! He has appeared in this District Court literally hundreds of times on a

He knows how the court works ... and he understands the apprehensions of people who appear before the court.

Ogilvie has been a local Judge serving in the city of Northville for 11/2 years prior to the establishment of the District Court.

DECIDE for yourself which one "knows the territory" and the people of the District.

He established a volunteer probation department for his Northville Court to help people who needed and wanted it.

That probation system was adopted by the District Court and still serves the needs of the people of the community.

Ogilvie cannot boast of experience with Bureaus and Commissions at the County, State and National level.

But he knows the District Court territory ... he's worked there all his

Here's some of the things Ogilvie has done that we think best qualify him for the position of DISTRICT JUDGE in the PLYMOUTH-CANTON-NORTHVILLE area:

· Graduated with honors, Detroit College of Law,

· Over 23 years as village and city attorney for

 As Municipal Judge in city of Northville established the volunteer probation department which now serves the entire 35th Judicial District

 Member of the Council of the Public Corporation section of the State Bar of Michigan.

 Active for over 30 years in Scouting — Holder of the "Silver Beaver" award.

Admit it. We've all been a party to telephone abuse at one time or another

Maybe you were 9 years old, your mother was drinking coffee at a neighbor's house, and you and a friend decided to call the local deli

The conversation went something

You: "Do you have pickled pig's feet (suppressed snicker)? Delicatessan owner: "Yes, we do."

on your end of the phone)." Click.

It's a variation of the old "Prince Albert in a can" joke that everyone's told at least once except a couple guys who grew up to be certified public accountants

The victim of another phone joke was the owner of a fruit market, any fruit market. We'd put the hanky over the mouthpiece and ask him he had any fresh "amatta" on sale.

Now, ideally, the guy's supposed to say "What's amatta" and the clever kid's supposed to say, "Nothing, what's amatta with you?" Trouble is, fruit market owners invariably say stuff like "I don't believe we have anything like that in stock. Maybe you should try A&P.

BEING 9, it seemed like a lot of fun at the time. But it looks like I'll be paying for past indiscretions with the phone company.

No, the phone company isn't going to prosecute me for pre-pubescent nuisance calls. The utility's trying to charge me 20 cents a call if I make more than 10 calls a month to Directory Assistance, a.k.a. Information. There are some days I make more than 10 calls to Information.

The

Village Stripper

Takes it ALL off!

140 E. LIBERTY

PLYMOUTH 455-3141 Tues.-Sat. 10 a.m. - 6 p.m

Let's be reasonable. Directory Assistance is right at your fingertips and God knows where the phone book is. It's probably downstairs, wedged underneath the short leg of the pool

Let's face it, Directory Assistance operators can find a phone number so much faster than I can. And they have all the current numbers. If you have friends like mine-who move twice a year, the day after the bi-annual phone book is delivered—the service is invaluable.

With the suburban sprawl that exists in metropolitan Detroit, your best friend might live in Melvindale when you live in Mount Clemens. How many people in Mount Clemens own a Detroit directory? (Of course, if your best friend is from Melvindale and you keep forgetting his phone number you have bigger problems than the phone

TO BE FAIR to the phone company (a phrase I never thought I'd utter) it should be pointed out that customers would not be charged for directory assistance calls placed to operators outside the local area code. So if you live in the Detroit area you'd pay if you needed a number in Flat Rock, Mich. but wouldn't pay if you needed an Escanaba number.

People dialing Directory Assistance from a pay phone would not be charged.

If you're calling information from home and you've already used up your 10 alloted calls that month, you'd pay if the number you're seeking is listed locally, unlisted locally, or even if the number is new and the operator doesn't have it on her computer yet.

Robert Hunter, customer relations representative for Michigan Bell, says the phone company will provide customers with any number of directories if they fill out the proper forms and send them to the customer relations office in their area.

It should also be noted that the company's rate request exempts blind persons and other handicapped persons who have trouble using the phone book from paying any Directory Assistance

I presume the handicapped caller would have to identify himself and make the call from his home phone. Otherwise everyone would tell the operator they were blind to avoid paying. (Don't tell Bell, maybe I'm on to

The official company position is that Market Opinion Research surveys show that one out of six Michigan residents would welcome such a system. After all, Directory Assistance isn't free now. The $28 million cost cited by Michigan Bell is reflected in your present phone bill, Hunter explains, and people who rarely dial Directory Assistance pay the same as Information abusers. That's fine with me.

THERE WILL BE a PSC hearing on the rate request Nov. 20 at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. in Detroit's City County Building, 2 Woodward Ave. at Jefferson.

Suburbanites, take the Lodge or Chrysler expressway all the way downtown to the building with the naked green giant in front.

Let Bell know where you stand on the issue. And tell 'em Lou Gordon

"Family affair" are key words to the 1978 campaign of the Plymouth Community Fund

Those words are expressed in the motto. The Plymouth Community Fund is a family affair." The words. however, also are evident in the agencies in the Plymouth community which are financed by the Plymouth Community Fund.

Among those agencies that serve families in Plymouth are Camp Fire Girls, Plymouth Dental Fund, Canton, Northville, Plymouth YMCA, Growth Works. Plymouth Salvation Army Corps, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Plymouth Canton Junior Athletic Association and Plymouth Family

Beyond the local agencies are 23 member services of the United Way of Michigan with whom the Plymouth Community Fund is affiliated.

Agencies serving families financed by United Way include Child and Family Services of Michigan, Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan. Epilepsy Center of Michigan, HemoAssociation for Retarded Citizens, Michigan Council on Crime and Delinquency, and United Cerebral Palsy Association of Michigan

THE PLYMOUTH Community Fund was established in 1944 to meet local needs with local financial support.

The fund is basically a serious effort of people to help each other." said Fr. Edwin McKinnon, chairman of the fund board of directors.

Human needs differ from time to time, but they always limit the stability and quality of human life. The fund seeks out and serves these needs through various agencies.

Grim hunter's tale: Small pheasant crop

By LEM MESEE Outdoors writer

Between the maze of regulations Michigan hunters are being zapped with and the grim stories of a small pheasant crop because of the last two severe winters, many outdoorsmen can well consider switching to bird watching.

That way, you can take the wife and kids along.

Ducks, geese and swans are migrating all across southeast Michigan. Even in built-up areas, you can see the rapid flutter of duck wings; in tiny ponds where you'd expect to see domestic ducks, there are blacknecked honkers-Canada geese. KENSINGTON Metropark, along I-96 in western Oakland County, remains a favorite stopping spot for migrating waterfowl as well as a nesting spot for the native population.

Naturalist Bob Hotaling tells us some 20 species of ducks can be spotted there-widegeons, mergansers, goldeneyes, scaup, ringnecks, bufflehead and ruddy ducks.

You can also spot loons, grebes and coots. In November, watch for whistling swans.

The park favorites are the 10-15 pound Canada geese. Often they fly in during the morning, s?pend the day eating and grazing (they love grass) and depart late in the afternoon. The "honkers," as they're affectionately known, will be the subject of a special program at the Kensington Nature Center at 9 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 28. A park naturalist will show slides and talk about the geese.

Bring food because the geese love handouts. Corn offers the most nutrition, but they like bread or crackers, Register in advance by calling the nature center at 685-1561 (Milford). It's free, though there is the usual park admission.

FRIDAY IS a big day for hunters in the southern lower peninsula. That's opening day for many species of small Cottontail rabbit and showshoe hare season opens then and runs until March 1. Daily bag limit is five, with 10 in possession and 50 for the season.

Pheasant season opens Friday and runs until Nov. 10. Daily limit is two males, four in possession and eight for Ruffed grouse (partridge) runs from Friday to Nov. 14, then from Dec. 1-31. Limits are five for the day, 10 in possession and 25 for the season

Woodcock season runs from Friday to Nov. 14. Limits are five a day and 10 in possession. Your gun must not be capable of holding more than three shelles while you're hunting woodcock.

The state Department of Natural Resources has leased many privately owned lands for public hunting. To get a list, stop at the district DNR office at 2455 N. Williams Lake Road, Pontiac.

AS SHOAL waters cool in the southem Great Lakes, watch for salmon and steelhead fishing to pick up-if you can take the stiff breezes over open water.

On Belle Isle, shore fishermen have taken cohos on lures. Some salmon are being taken in the St. Clair River's middle channel

Northern pike and walleyes can be voracious these days on Lake St. Clair. THE METROPARKS have some good family-type programs at the nature centers in the days ahead. A sampling: Owls, one of nature's finest hunting machines, will be discussed indoors and outdoors, with slides, mounted specimens and tapes, at 7 p.m. Friday in the nature center of Kensington Metropark. The program lasts 90

A nature cruise aboard the Island Queen excursion boat begins at Kensington at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 21. Park mammals, history and geology will be discussed in this hour-long trips. Tickets are $1 and the boat leaves from the boat rental building next to Maple Beach.

White-tail deer will be discussed in a 90-minute program at 9 a.m. Sunday.

Oct. 22 in Kensington's nature center. Halloween superstitions and how they started will be covered in a nature center program at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 25 in a program that is "not for the faint of heart or unescorted children.

All Kensington programs but the boat ride are free, but you should call the park office at 685-1561 for advance registration.

Over at Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester, wildflowers will be the theme of a morning walk beginning at 9 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 22. Park naturalists will cover such questions as how the oak prepares for winter and what plants do to ensure survival for themselves and animals which depend on them. Call the park office at 781-4621 for advance registration.

It is not unusual these days when the Stroller sits down to lunch with a group of service club brothers that he is asked questions that, of times, are out of the ordinary.

Perhaps it is because he has been strolling along the river of printer's ink for so many years that they make of him the target to start a friendly discussion.

So it wasn't surprising the other day when one of the service club brothers turned to him and said, "You must have met a lot of colorful figures in your strolls. Which of them was the most unusual

"You might be surprised," the Stroller answered, "if I told you that the most unusual character he ever encountered never wore a boxing glove, never hit or caught a baseball, kicked a football, sat in a speedboat or drove a car in an automobile race."

ALL HEADS turned to him, possibly thinking he was going to tell them of a politician down in the Pennsylvania Dutch country, inasmuch as the coming election is on almost everybody's mind these days. Instead they sat there somewhat shocked when The Stroller confided that the most colorful character he ever encountered was a gate crasher named "One-Eye" Connolly, last of a breed that is now extinct.

His name does not ring any bells with the modern generation of sports followers. But a half century ago, no big sports extravaganza was complete without recording the threats and feats of the little chap who warned all promoters and security guards that he would be on hand and would enter the portals of the arena without going through the formality of purchasing a ticket.

"One-Eye" was nothing to look at. He was just several notches above being a hobo-at least if judged by his manner of dress. He wore a black patch over one eye and a cap with the peak twisted around so it covered one of his ears. And he always needed a shave.

But he was a character made all the more famous when the late Damon Runyan, a great short story writer of another era, used him as one of his leading characters in a prize novel.

"ONE-EYE delighted in tantalizing the big time sports promoters by claiming they couldn't keep him outside the gates on the night or day of their promotions. And he never failed to work his way inside without the necessary ticket.

It was the late Tex Rickard, who came out of the west to build up the fight game, who first battled "One-Eye." He had the entire outside of the arena in Toledo, Ohio, guarded for the heavyweight championship fight on the hot afternoon when Jack Dempsey took the title from Jess Willard.

For days before the fight, "One-Eye" was on hand. He never missed a chance to brag about his ability as a gate crasher, claiming that he never had paid to get into a sports event and never would.

On the afternoon of the fight he made good his boast. Despite all the care taken to halt him, he was at ringside when the opening bell rang, and, according to historians of that day, he looked a "mess" but he was laughing.

HOW DID HE get there?

At other events he had posed as the ice man delivering ice, or as a messenger with an emergency telegram, or even as a newsboy

That day in Toledo, however, these avenues were heavily guarded. But that didn't stop "One-

When he was thwarted in several attempts to gain admission, he induced the manager of one of the concessions to allow him to get into a barrel of lemonade that wasn't quite full and then place the lid on it and take it into the arena. The maneuver worked. So when the opening bell rang he was at the ringside, in soaking wet clothes, sneering at Tex Rickard, the man who claimed it couldn't be

A colorful character? "One-Eye" Connolly, the king of the gate crashers. If he got to heaven, you can be sure it was without a ticket.

Kadish challenges Geake's credibility

Paul Kadish, Democratic nominee in the 14th Senatorial District, has charged that, "There are some serious questions of credibility in Sen. Robert Geake's six-year legislative record." The district includes Livonia, Plymouth, Redford and part of Westland.

Speaking at the home of Mrs. Beverly McAninch in Plymouth, Kadish reviewed the state senator's past record, including his administrative role at the troubled Plymouth Center of Human Development.

Sen. Geake, Kadish said, "had been a top administrator at the Plymouth Center for Human Development, formerly Plymouth State Home, for several years. Sen. Geake has been on the mental health committees in both the house and senate for close to six years. The Plymouth Center is in his home district.

"The people have a right to know more about his key role in the administration of that facility. The people also have the right to know what he, as a clinical psychologist, former administrator and member of the mental health committees of both the state house of representatives and senate. did to help solve the problems at the

"He should have known the disturbing facts," Kadish said. "Why did he not offer to help resolve them or at least open them to public exposure instead of allowing them to fester and

"While Geake professes to be a friend of small business and education. his support and vote helped to establish the Single Business Tax which has had serious financial implications both for small business and public education.

"During the period of Geake's tenure, local schools in our district have lost considerable funding, partly because of the state aid formula that discriminates against schools with either declining enrollment or rapidly increasing enrollment.

"Legislators with far less experience than Geake have tried to step in and provide the necessary leadership needed to help our local schools. Geake has done little to help alleviate this problem.

'While claiming to be a leader for lobbying reform, Geake voted against five strengthening amendments. Only after the bill was substantially weakened did he, as one of the Detroit daily newspapers but it 'change uniforms' and publicly support the bill.

"In the spring of 1977, Geake voted in favor of an amendment that would have doubled the level of PBB, the

reach our dinner tables. The failure to protect the public interest contradicts his campaign statements about serving the people.'

Kadish said that these are just a few of the issues he is discussing with the

"I am determined to present to the people the full record of Geake's disappointing performance. From his apparent failure to take corrective steps at the Plymouth State Home, to his disregard of the public interest regarding PBB, that record belies his professed concern for the people of our

"Hopefully, this campaign will bring out sharp contrasts between the attitudes and effectiveness of the two candidates," Kadish added

56 to air election specials

WTVS-TV, Channel 56, will be offering coverage of national and local issues and candidates prior to the Nov. 7 election.

At 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29, the first of nine "If I Am Elected" programs will be aired. The series, hosted by state capitol reporter Tim Skubick. will feature appearances by candidates for various Michigan offices, from trustees of local colleges to gubernatorial opponents William Milliken, the Republican incumbent, and Another seven-part series, focusing on national issues and candidates, is "Election '78." The series includes five half-hour shows at 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, Oct. 30-Nov. 3, and two one-hour shows at 8 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5, and 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov.

A trio of political specialists-Marilyn Berger (former NBC White House correspondent), Kevin Phillips (journalist and lawyer), and Ken Bode (Political Editor of The New Republic)-will analyze issues and election results on the national program. The "If I Am Elected" series will cover the races for the Wayne State. University of Michigan and Michigan hour shows starting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29. A fourth program, at 4:00 p.m. that day will look at the more controversial statewide issues.

Dear Doctor; Does a raccoon make a good pet? H.S., Farmington

No. Not only is it illegal to keep a wild raccoon, it's also unwise. While a baby racoon (less than three months of age) is a cute, playful, responsive creature, as it matures it rapidly becomes aggressive and difficult to handle. Raccoons can carry a number of diseases that are contagious to dogs and cats, including distemper and rabies. It's best to leave the care of

Dear D.F.:

It may be very serious. Certain upper respiratory viruses may cause a temporary "loss of voice" in the cat, but tumors and other enlargements of the vocal cords can also cause that condition. You should have your pet examined by a veterinarian to determine the cause of the problem. FOR KIDS:

Dear Doctor:

Can my six-week-old German Shepherd puppy get worms from milk? K.S., Oak Park

Milk does not give worms (intestinal parasites) to a puppy any more than it gives worms to people. It's still not a good idea, however, to give your puppy milk because it can cause digestive upsets - either nausea or diarrhea. Once a puppy has been weaned from its mother it needs a good, well-balanced puppy food and plenty of fresh water and that's all. No milk, no bones, no table scraps of any kind. FOR KIDS:

If your dog stays outside all the time, you must be sure he has someplace shady to rest. Also give him fresh, cold water two or three times every day. In the hot weather he will need a lot more to drink to keep him cool. Dear Doctor:

Action On Energy

"... The Greatest Challenge For America's Future . . . '

AN INTENSIVE EFFORT TO DEVELOP ALTERNATIVE ENERGY SOURCES IS CRUCIAL TO OUR ECONOMY...OUR SECURITY... OUR ENTIRE FUTURE.

Congressman Pursell is a leader in developing the new energy sources needed to meet this challenge. As a member of the House Science and Technology Committee, Carl was instrumental in securing the first committee approval for directly funding civilian laser fusion energy research.

In both of his first two years in Congress, Carl successfully sponsored amendments to intensify fusion energy research, bringing our country closer to a vast new form of energy, and particularly aiding important research at KMS Fusion of Ann Arbor and the University of Michigan.

A new Pursell bill proposes a comprehensive, long-range plan for rapidly developing new energy resources, including fusion, solar, geothermal, biomass and innovative uses of conventional fuels.

Suburban politicos tend to lean left

Who says politicians are all alike? Certainly not the American Conservative UNion.

ACU recently completed an interim rating of members of Congress. ACU's ratings were based on 20 "key votes" taken between January and June. ACU favors small, decentralized government backed by a strong national Michigan's representatives covered the spectrum from liberal to conservative. Observer & Eccentric-area representatives, however, were more liberal than the average.

On the ratings scale, according to ACU, the staunchest conservatives received ratings of 100. The most liberal, on the other hand, received ratings of zero.

County continues arbitration appeal

Fighting financial lawsuits from several directions and a massive deficit. the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is seeking to have state officials named as co-defendants in the lawsuits.

The question of who holds the purse strings in Wayne County must be clarified and enforced once and for all," said board vice-chairman Richard Manning (D-Redford), one of three main sponsors of the board's counter-

As co-defendants, state officials would be held "accountable" for the county's financial dilemma, Manning

The county's $12 million deficit was made even larger when a labor arbiter made a large contract award to 650 members of the sheriff's deputies union. To pay the $6.3 million award. the board decided to lay off several hundred employees in other county departments.

"WE ARE FACING a constitutional crisis in Wayne County," said

The prosecuting attorney, the drain commissioner, the county treasurer and the county clerk have refused to give layoff notices to their employees in direct violation of what this board has authorized

Other elected officials-including judges and the clerk-have threatened to go to court to stop layoffs in their departments.

A PROPOSAL by Manning and two other commissioners-Ervin Steiner

· Ask the Wayne County Circuit Court to disqualify itself from the case because it is an "interested party" to the suits and could not give the board of commissioners a fair hearing.

The proposal was approved 12-6 by the board's ways and means committee (which includes all 27 board members) but has not yet been adopted by the full board.

REASON FOR making the governor and state co-defendants, said Manning, is that the state "has thrown so many multi-million dollar programs at the county without saying how they can be Added Steiner: "The current prsecutor's lawsuit-and threats by the county clerk and the courts that they will take us to court to force us to fund their departments at the level they deem necessary-are mainly directed at state-mandated programs. Therefore, the state has an obligation to pay

"If people are suing us on the basis of mandated services, then the people (state officials) who mandated those services ought to be a party to the

YOUR Optometrist's CORNER

By DR. D.W. SCHIFF and DR. H.J. KUTINSKY

Does watching TV harm your eyes? Many people watch TV for as much as six or eight hours a day. In the early days of TV, complaints of eyestrain were found to be caused by the small screen and the tendency of the viewer to sit too close to Actually, there is no reason why TV viewing should injure the eyes if a few simple rules are followed. Wear your regular glasses for distance viewing. Sit at least 8 to 10 feet from the picture. Have the room lighted with a soft indirect light from lamps which do not reflect on the tube. Relax your sight frequently away, blink and change focus to rest your eyes. And, be sure your set is properly adjusted If your eyes give you discomfort, have them examined to determine and correct the

Making Your

Classified Ad Work Is As Easy As...

Include The Price...

Advertising price in an ad promises greater response. Research shows that 48% of the people will not respond to an ad unless the price is advertised. That's almost half of your prospective buyers eliminated. If your price is negotiable say so in your ad.

Don't Use Abbreviations...

Another way to kill results or turn off prospective buyers is to use abbreviations. WSW, PS, CBS, PB, AC, AT, WW may be clear to you, but maybe not to your buyers and most will not take the time to figure them out. One survey showed that 42% of readers didn't know what "WSW" tire meant.

Give Enough Information...

People today want all the information they can get before they buy. People want to know all the benefits of what they purchase. Not listing all you can in your ad will cause it to run longer with fewer results. Use brand names for extra pulling power.

Stay Near Your Phone...

If you're home all the time, including just a phone number in your ad is enough. If you work or can't be home, specify what hours you can be reached. Some people will never call back if they can't reach you the first time.

The night of horror is fast approaching

Halloween is but five days away and already the signs of the special day have been much in evidence.

Youngsters decked in costumes have paraded through the hallways and around buildings at almost every elementary school, or will have by the time Tuesday arrives.

And there's been a lot of costumed characters at spook houses throughout the area entertaining youngsters and adults alike, while raising money to support community activities throughout the

And by now, the pumpkin patches have been picked bare as October's favorite vegetable has found its way into thousands of homes and schools to be carved into jack-o-lanterns.

ONE OF THE BUSIEST centers of Halloween action these past few days is the haunted house at Wonderland Shopping Center, sponsored by the Livonia Jaycees.

Youngsters and adults can visit the spook house from 7-10 p.m. weekdays through Monday and from 3-10 p.m. this Saturday and Sunday.

Road side of Wonderland Center, just west of Middlebelt Road.

The Canton Jaycees also are sponsoring a haunted house on Ford Road, west of the I-275 Expressway, next to the Roman Forum Restaurant.

The Canton haunted house, also open through Oct. 30, is open 7:30 to 11 p.m. daily. Admission is $1 per person.

Another spook house in the area, sponsored by the Plymouth Knights of Columbus, is open Oct.

27-30 from 7-11 p.m. The K-C's haunted hall is at 150 Fair Street, Plymouth, across the tracks from Cashway Lumber on S. Mill between Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail. A donation of 50 cents will be

Halloween? This year it's on Tuesday, Oct. 31. With all the goings-on between now and then, hopefully the only activity left for Tuesday will be doorto-door collection of goodies and neighborhood

Marriage, motherhood not for all women

By SUZIE MARKS

Young women without professions should stay away from marriage, advises Rabbi Sherwin Wine

"I tell the young girls not to get married unless they can provide for themselves financially," he said. 'After all, their husband may not be able to keep them in the lifestyle they've been accustomed to."

He also tells women not to feel guilty if they don't want to get married or don't want to have children.

"More and more people are choosing to be single," he added. "A lot of women won't make good mothers either. There are certain women who should say. 'I don't want to be a Rabbi Wine expounded on what it means to have these liberated beliefs. and how to cope with them, to a group of men and women Tuesday in Somerset Mall. It was the the first in a fivesession lecture series entitled Beyond Future Shock. The first discussion was on The New Woman.

Some women have difficulties coping in today's society because they haven't adapted to independency, he

'Most people don't wish to give up old behavior; it's comfortable and you repeat it," he added. "The psychological word for it is neurosis.

WOMEN NEED new skills to deal with the current progressive society. the rabbi said. They need to be strong. businesslike, professional, independent and active.

"They aren't the servants any more. always waiting for their man," he said. "They are their own person.

Rationality, intellectualism and individuality are essential for survival in today's world, he said.

"If a woman builds her life around her husband and that he dies or they divorce, she traumatizes," he said. "More marriages last longer when there isn't constant togetherness.'

There's a new wave of motherhood going on, that divorce and single parenthood have perpetuated.

"Mothers today are more powerful than ever before because fathers aren't home as much," the Birmingham Temple leader said. "Lots of women may be raising their kids alone and have to learn to be mother and It's not hard to be both parents. Rabbi Wine contended.

'If a woman builds her life around her husband and then he dies or they divorce, she traumatizes. More marriages last longer when there isn't constant togetherness. - Rabbi Sherwin Wine

It takes a rational woman who can be firm and structured to act as both parents, he said.

CONTROL IS important in all situations, he reminded the audience, which ranged in age from late 20s to 60s.

"Anger is very important to control. It's also the most difficult, but you can't have emotional outbursts," he said. "When you get upset, be like men; keep your voice low and repeat your demands.

Creativity is probably one of the greatest skills a new woman can utilize. By thinking of other alternatives to the conventional patriachal marriage, a woman doesn't have to face the worry of possibly being alone. She can cope with aloneness and even enjoy it.

Affluence is the impetus for women's liberation and most women haven't even noticed it, the rabbi explains.

"Female liberation is not occurring in Bloomfield Hills. It's happening in Southgate, where women are going to work because they need the money. he said. "Blue collar women are more often able to sustain divorce because they know how to work

Female liberation is old hat, the rabbi said.

"IT'S VERY CHIC to talk about it but not as chic to act it out. In order to act it out, you have to encounter some kind of hostility," he said.

Breaking from the old way of thought is hard for some women, Rabbi Wine contended. However, he said with self-esteem and high expectations, it's not traumatic.

Women came from a world of survival and stability. Women died young and were possessions of their

Today, the family has fallen apart due to capitalism and mobility has separated children from parents.

The necessity for children has also vanished. We don't need them any more for labor," he said

Education is occurring outside of the home totally today. "There's been a change in the mother's role from teacher to chauffeur." he said.

Perhaps the greatest change in today's woman is her achievement of independence. She can earn her own living and follow her own desires. Through affluence, she can question her lifestyle and happiness and change it if it doesn't satisfy her.

Affluence has given women the right to ask without guilt. Is what I'm doing good for me" " he said. "And if she answers 'no.' she can change.

Professor to speak about photography

Professor Phillip Davis of the School of Art and Design at the University of Michigan will speak on "The History of Photography" on Oct. 31 at the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

His talk will be part of the LIT school of architecture's continuing design lecture series. The public may attend the noon presentation in the architecture auditorium, 21000 Ten Mile in Southfield.

Davis replaces LIT associate professor of architecture Joseph B. Olivieri previously scheduled to speak that day. Professor Olivieri will be delivering a paper to the Building Energy Mangement Conference at Iowa State University.

Because of the final exam schedule at LIT, only one speaker has been scheduled for the series in November. Kenneth S. Neumann, a partner in a Southfield architecture firm will deliver at 6 p.m. lecture on "Architecture: Evolution of Design," on Nov.

Four evening lectures are scheduled in the series to allow working professionals unavailable for noon lectures and evening college students areawide to attend.

Saving energy takes caution

Sending smoke up the chimney is one thing if you're choosing a pope, but it's something altogether different when you're paying the gas bill.

Safe nuclear plants, solar and wind powered everything and widespread energy conservation are probably all good things for the countrylower gas bills, however, would probably do more people more good sooner.

Devil-may-care types could opt for a "flue damper." Manufacturers claim dramatic fuel savings from the devices—23 to 25 per cent—from a simple device that closes the chimney off from the outside air when the furnace isn't actually

More accurately, manufacturers used to claim 23 per cent fuel savings. "We just got a cease and desist letter from Carrier," said Ken Moersch of Tru-Temp heating and cooling on Ford Road, a licensed dealer of Carrier heating and air conditioning equipment.

"The government told them to stop using the 23 per cent savings figure because it hadn't been proven," said Moersch.

While the dampers are sometimes available on sale, generally the cost to purchase and have one installed in about $250, Moersch said. Moersch-who doesn't have a damper in his own home-calls the devices "controversial. Furnaces do not burn continously. They turn on and off according to whatever temperature level you choose on the thermostat While the furnaces are off, flue dampers are supposed to close and lock the hot air in the furnace inside the house while the cold air fends for

When the furnace once again begins to burn, the flue opens-hopefully.

"It the flue doesn't open, and that's possible, it could happen, then the fumes can't get out and people in the house could be asphyxiated," said Moersch, who added that while he has no personal experience with flue damper failure, he has read accounts in trade magazines of such failures.

"We don't push them," said Moersch. "We do install them, but we don't push the idea.

Moersch said existing furnaces with American Gas Association (AGA) approval will lose that approval if flues they weren't designed to carry are installed.

New furnace systems sold by Carrier and Bryant manufacturers are made to carry the dampers. Moersch said, and heating contractors have fewer reservations about the use of those newer devices.

"I was just at a meeting (of heating contractors) and there was quite a lot of discussion on this," said Moersch. "Some people were wondering about who'd bear responsibility if one of these things failed.'

Despite that controversy, flue dampers appear to be gaining support. Redford Township recently recommended that every home in that city have one installed. Detroit recommended the same

Installation of the devices, incidentally, is work an amateur should think twice about before undertaking. Wiring is used to monitor escaping gas that could lead to electrical fires if it is not properly

Participating journalist'tells of Walter Mitty adventures

By NANCY DINGELDEY

The "acres of lovely women," as addressed by author George Plimpton who opened the Northville Town Hall's new season, loved every minute of his recounting Walter Mitty adventures.

"He had me in tears, I laughed so hard," one listener sighed as the famed writer finished the leadoff appearance in the series 18th season in the Plymouth Hilton.

Plimpton, the author, is entertaining because he's also Plimpton, the man on the flying trapeze, Plimpton, the quarterback sneak, Plimpton, the boxer, and Plimpton, the African

His exploits on the sports field, in college, in life, are transformed by the phenomenally witty man into colorful, remarkably funny sagas.

Plimpton, a treasury of anecdotes, says he plays out the daydreams of the average American male. And, he adds, he doesn't always succeed. "Sometimes," he mused, "I fall short of perfection, but then, people need me to fail—it reassures them.

PLIMPTON, the "great imposter," says he never intended one; it just happened. Trying to gain a berth on the "Harvard Lampoon," the notorious humor magazine of the eastem college, he was instructed to run in the Boston Marathon as a sort of hazing.

He joined the race less than two blocks from the finish line, was later branded an "imposter" by officials, won his spot on the magazine, and launched himself on a career of "doing those things everybody always wants to do, but never does."

said speaking for the

Northville Town Hall

looking acres of

lovely women."

After Harvard and Cambridge, Plimpton joined "Sports Illustrated." "I literally extended the gimmick of the Boston Marathon. What does it feel like to pitch in all the All Star game, to enter the boxing ring against Archie Moore, to play with the New York Philharmonic? How do you know what it feels like to be a champion, if you've never had the change to try?'

LATER, ANSWERING questions at the celebrity luncheon, Plimpton confessed that he had second thoughts about some of his adventures.

"Thinking about them was no problem, but I've always regretted them at the time of confrontation," he said. He claimed soccer as the only sports arena he has not entered, but quickly added he would probably join the New York Cosmos at some point.

He's played goalie with the Boston Bruins, quarterback with the Detroit Lions and Baltimore Colts, even though last string, and has golfed in tournaments with the greats. He admitted most of his time on the links "was spent lurking in the rough."

HIS MOST terrifying, most frightening participation, Plimpton recalls, was playing the triangle with the percussion section of the New York Philharmonic under Leonard Bernstein.

Claiming "skimpy" musical knowledge. Plimpton snuck his way into the concert scene during a Canadian tour. "If you can imagine Gustav Mahler's Fourth Symphony 'done in,' it was, completely by me. It sent Bernstein into a rage," he said.

Plimpton got a second chance with the orchestra the following day in Winnipeg. "I played the gong in that one." he grinned. "Bernstein demanded that my eyes never leave his face during the entire symphony and that he would give me a cue like I had never seen before. I got the cue and whacked the

"They have never heard since, the reverberating sound I unleashed in Winnepeg that night," he said proudly.

WITH A STRING of best sellers to his credit, including "Paper Lion." "Out of My League," "The Bogie Man," "Mad Ducks and Bears," and "Shadow Box," Plimpton says his key to success as a writer is his practice of writing three books at one time. And then, with a laugh, he told the lunch-

"You're duty-bound to buy my books to compensate for my life style."

Queried as to future endeavors he might delve into, Plimpton pointed to tennis and quests-a series of looking for things such as the great Blue Whale or some bird, somewhere in the

Why does the tall, greying, slender man with the British-tinged New York accent persist in pursuing the unlikely?

"Because," he says, "I am not content to be a mere spectator. I need to know the emotions, the mental and physical disciplines that the artist, the musician, the sports figure go through to achieve.

But when Plimpton participates, the outcome is rarely a serious event.

If you're contemplating buying a new home and can't decide whether to purchase a house or a condominium, you're not alone.

Hundreds of people toss that question around when trying to decide what to buy.

Condominiums are attractive to young working couples who don't have the time or want the hassle of exterior upkeep. The attached units are also pleasing to older couples who are tired of maintaining houses. Condominiums also attract couples with grown children and ones who don't want to throw their money away on rent.

Equity is important to all buyers and with a condominium owners can still have the luxuries of apartment living, while accumulating an investment.

$100,000 and up condominiums are not surprising finds. However, some realtors will argue that even though condominiums are selling like wild fire, ownership of a single family structure is still the most attractive to Americans. "The number one goal of the American citizen is to have his own home, not a condominium." says Richard O'Neill, of the Michigan Assoication of Realtors. "He wants a plot of ground that he can call his own."

Where there are new houses there are new condominiums. They are priced comparably with houses in many instances, and throughout the tri-county area,

IN ORDER to attain the goal of home ownership, some people are opting for condominiums for their first home, to get into neighborhoods they otherwise couldn't afford. For instance, some real estate brokers say, certain suburbs don't have many homes for under $70,000. But a person can move into that suburb by purchasing a condominium for $55-60,000. "The consumer attitude has changed considerably toward condominiums," explains Conrad Jakubowski, president of the Western wayne County Board of Realtors. "Condominiums are less expensive and it offers the investment benefits of a single-family residential home." Single women are choosing condominums as well, Jakubowski says. distinguishes condos Common ownership

Condonimiums have been around for years, but many persons still think the word refers to the design of the building.

Well, that's not so—condominium refers to the type of Condos are a multi-unit development in which an owner has free title to the part actually occupied with joint ownership of common areas used by all occupants.

If we follow the definition, we could include campgrounds, mobile homes, office buildings, industrial parks and almost any type of real estate property in our explanation.

The distinguishing feature about condos is that ownership of the common area is termed an "undivided" interest. For instance, if there were 50 feet of land extending in front of a five-unit development, it would not be correct to say that one owner owns the first ten feet, the second owner owns the second 10 and so on. Rather, they all own property together and it cannot be divided into single ownership Expenses are handled the same way. A condo owner is responsible for operation and upkeep of his living quarters. This includes decorating, utilities, interior repairs and maintenance, insurance, mortgage payments, real estate taxes and mortgage insurance, if required.

Backlog of pending cases isn't the only concern of the unit. As of the end of September, the division had recorded more than 2,050 complaints from new homeowners against builders. That's quite a workload considering the division only handled 1,600 during 1977.

To file a complaint or contact the unit, call 517-374-9625 or write Complaint Analysis Unit, 808 Southland Ave., Lansing, 48909.

When one considers all the new homes going up today, there are bound to be some problems or oversights. So what can a new homeowner do if a builder doesn't respond to your call for help as quickly as you think he should?

WHEN OUT LOOKING for a new home, one of the best ways to safeguard against potential construction complaints is to shop around for a recognized builder. Ms.

One route is to contact the complaint office of the Residential Builders Division in Lansing. The Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation set up that division to handle new housing complaints.

If a complaint is filed with the unit, the division usually sends out an inspector to examine your problem. His reportant your complaint are passed on to the builder if consid-

"USUALLY, THE builder will take care of the complaint right there," says Carl Campbell, administrative assistant for the complaint unit in Lansing.

"That's because the builder usually doesn't want to suffer the consequences of either having his license revoked or restricted," she adds.

But if the problem still persists, the complaint then goes to mediation where the builder and owner meet with a unit

The builder has four chances, to remedy the problem, Ms. Campbell continues. "If the owner still isn't satisfied, then formal licensing action can be started where the builder could lose his license." "It's a very long process, but builders usually take care of the problem before then since he doesn't want to jeopardize his license. Sometimes formal action can take upwards

To receive HOW's approval, a builder must pay $2 per $1,000 of the home's value. The cost is then passed on to the buyer and is included in the new home's price.

In return, the builder must meet standards and criteria established by HOW on various items built into the house ranging from electrical, plumbing and structural aspects of construction. A two-bedroom, 1½ bath, 1.188-square-foot model starts at $70.300. A three-bedroom, 2½ bath 1.452-square-foot model begins at $79,400. There's also a two-bedroom 1½ bath model in three styles.
