Cheering is Spartan pleasure

By MINDY SAUNDERS

For many, particularly students and alumni, nothing can match the excitement of a Big Ten football game.

But perhaps the most excited participants, short of the football players, are the cheerleaders, and there are a handful of local Michigan State University chanters who wouldn't give up their Spartan cheering chance for the world.

The five—Bob Lockwood of Farmington Hills, Pete Butrus of Birmingham, Mike Stern of Southfield, Vikki Wiegand of Troy, and Lori Agnew of Plymouth—all say they love what they're doing. Each has had athletic experience, but say they chose cheerleading because it's so much fun.

Butrus, a senior majoring in accounting, says he finds cheerleading more fun than sports, "especially because you get to play with the girls."

A GRADUATE of Birmingham Brother Rice High School, Butrus was the former hockey captain there. Last year, he joined the other seven men on the 16-member Spartan cheerleading squad. Other Rice grads on the squad got him interested.

He, like Lockwood, a senior finance major from Farmington Harrison High School and Stern, a senior marketing major and former swimmer at Southfield-Lathrup High School, learned most of his cheerleading in tryouts. The practice and tryouts are six weeks long and Butrus, Lockwood and Stern found the stunts easy to learn.

Strength is needed in picking up the girls during routines and for athletes, that is not a problem.

The girls, on the other hand, have more reason to worry, as they are lifted and tossed about in front of thousands every autumn Saturday afternoon.

But Lori Agnew, an elementary education major and former cheerleader at Plymouth Salem High School, doesn't seem to mind.

"A girl has to do a lot of scary things. But it's so exciting you don't even think about it—you just do it.

Cheerful Spartans

District students boycott lunches

By LYNN ORR

Shades of the 1960s?

Mushy vegetables, greasy pizza, and sugared desserts are the targets of a week-long cafeteria boycott beginning today in Plymouth Canton High School.

Led by students Tammy Chope, Ellen Thomas, Sally Hawkins, and Phil Hallman, the boycott is aimed at getting a full-time food service director accountable to a student advisory board.

"If we do want some changes made, then we can go to someone who has the authority to make those changes," says Ms. Chope, who was radicalized by cafeteria workers' refusal to "do anything about" some questionable pudding.

The students are calling on everyone, including teachers, to "brown bag it," the response they claim to receive when they complain about lunch food.

SCHOOL DISTRICT officials, however, maintain they recognize the problems and are trying to do something about them. But things won't be solved in a week, warns Dan White, executive director of finance.

Currently, a committee is considering the alternatives of hiring a full-time food service director or contracting with a food service company which would provide a director.

For consideration of the latter proposal, White has received presentations from services such as Canteen, ARA, Inter-state, Szabo, and Servonation.

The company would have the advantage of bulk food purchasing on a national basis and may be able to provide a good product at a cheaper price

Family Y gets a good deed from judge

By LYNN ORR

A home built before 1900 in the City of Plymouth will be the new headquarters of the Canton-Northville-Plymouth Family YMCA.

Janet Luce, "Y" director, accepted the deed to 185 S. Harvey from its owner Judge Dunbar Davis of the 35th District Court in Plymouth. Judge Davis, owner of the property for 20 years, is donating the house and land to the YMCA.

"It's the first time we ever owned anything," Mrs. Luce explains. The Y board will determine whether the house will be renovated or demolished for a new building, she added.

"This will give you a start," Judge Davis told Mrs. Luce. He decided to donate the property to the Y after the board indicated a desire to lease it.

"I wanted to see them own it," he said, explaining that his dream is to see a Plymouth-area Y like one in Livonia.

For the past four years, Davis has leased the house for $1 annually to Growth Works, which maintained the house as a counseling and crisis center.

The center will move to the Growth Works Youth Center on Main Street this January, as renovations on that building near completion, says Sheila Shives, director of the crisis center.

THE NEW Y property has a long history, dating to 1825 when William Starkweather acquired title to the land under the federal Homestead Act.

With a stone foundation and cistern in the basement, the house dates back to before 1900. Davis believes it may have been built in 1846 when a $750 mortgage appears on the abstract of the property.

"It's over 100 years old," he maintains.

The property, located on the northeast corner of Harvey at Fralick, is zoned commercial and is assessed at $15,048, approximately half of its market value.

Davis indicated he would use that assessment for income tax deductions purposes, as his gift to the Y, a non-profit organization, is tax deductible.

The annual $987 in property tax, however, will be lost in future years to taxing authorities. Under Michigan law, a YMCA is exempt from property tax.

The property is about 100 feet deep with 45 feet of frontage on Harvey. It may be small, but it's a first for the Y, Ms. Luce says.

Whether it becomes a stepping stone for future endeavors remains to be seen, she adds.

"We need a Y in this area," she maintains.

Mock election nixes tax proposals

If the students at Plymouth-Canton High School had their way, tax reformers will have to try again and booze will continue to flow for under-21 drinkers.

At a mock election staged by the school's government classes, 987 students cast ballots on the many state proposals that their parents will decide during the Nov. 7 general election.

The students re-elected Republican Robert Giffin to U.S. Senate with 419 votes, but Democratic candidate Carl Levin came close to victory with 402 votes.

Audrey Etienne, a government teacher who helped coordinate the mock election, said it came as no surprise to her that students gave a thumbs down response to a proposal to raise the drinking age back to 21. "The seniors were really out lobbying on that one," she said. Nevertheless, 190 students did vote to raise the drinking age, but they were overwhlemed by the 645 votes against the proposal.

Proposal E, the so-called Headlee tax limitation amendment, resulted in a tie with 447 votes against and the same number for.

If it had been a real election, Headlee would have failed because it did not have a majority.

The Tisch tax-cut proposal fared less well, with 538 votes against it compared to 311 in favor of it.

Students reflected concern about crime by passing the mandatory sentencing proposal (B). The final tally was 645 in favor of eliminating early parole; and 254 opposed.

The proposal that would permit denying bail for certain crimes also passed by a wide margin: 520 students voted for the amendment, with 348 against.

The school voucher proposal (H) was turned down by students, with 571 against and 297 in favor.

Proposal C, which would allow the deposit of state funds in savings and loan associations and credit unions as well as banks, was approved.

Students also were in favor of G, which gives state police troopers the right to collective bargaining.

Proposal R, which would have authorized creation of a railroad redevelopment authority, failed at the high school polls.

They passed proposal M, which would establish a transportation commission.

Ms. Etienne said she believes, with a few exceptions, the results of the mock election won't be that different from the results of the real thing. However, less than half of the some 2,000 students in the school voted, and a larger percentage of registered voters is expected to show up at the polls Nov. 7.

The election was conducted by government students in classes taught by Bob Thams as well as the classes taught by Ms. Etienne.

How to get vote results

The Observer will again be offering its election hotline service for residents interested in learning about early vote returns tomorrow night.

Residents of Plymouth-Canton may call our hotline service from 10:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Tuesday and from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Because final results aren't expected in Canton until after midnight Tuesday, probably only trends can be reported on Canton races. Because Canton also is part of the 35th District it is expected only trends can be reported in the local judicial race.

Because all results will be unofficial until certified later in the week, only the names of winners or candidates who are leading will be reported. Vote totals will not be given out over the phone.

The number to call Tuesday night or Wednesday morning is 459-2700.

A number of readers use our election hotline service so if you hear a busy signal, try again. To allow all readers a chance to avail themselves of the service, please be prepared to ask for the results of specific contests so answers can be given promptly.

Wednesday meeting set by board

A special meeting of the Canton Board of Trustees has been scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 8, at the township administration building.

The meeting, which will begin at 7 p.m., replaces the township board meeting normally held on the first Tuesday of the month. The township board cancelled the Tuesday meeting because of election day.

At Wednesday's meeting, the township board will consider several agenda items, including a liquor license request from the Big Boy restaurant on Ford Road and the purchase of Sheldon School from the Wayne-Westland School District.

Big Boy's request for a liquor license follows board approval of liquor licenses for the Canton House and Palace restaurants. The township has "five or six" liquor licenses left, according to township Clerk John Flodin.

Wednesday's meeting marks one of two remaining meetings of the current township board. Five of seven township board seats will be up for grabs in Tuesday's election. The new township board will take over on Nov. 20.

BALLOT DEBATES

The last in a series of ballot proposal debates has been held at Schoolcraft College sponsored by the League of Women Voters. A report on the pros and cons of the proposal to raise the drinking age to 21 may be found on Page 5A and a debate on the proposal to grant collective bargaining to state police may be found on Page 8A. More election news is reported in today's edition so you will want to browse through each page.

County's budget woes doom a suburban helicopter unit

A suburban helicopter unit of the Wayne County sheriff's department appears to be doomed about Nov. 13, its members say.

The reason: the county's continuing budget problems.

Ofc. William Messinger, one of the unit's six members, said he and two others are being transferred out of the unit to the City of Romulus, which buys police services from the sheriff instead of having its own department.

Messinger, an observer, and pilot Mike Geldmacher and observer Charles Baker will be making the shift, they say.

The unit will then consist of three officers—pilots Robert Michalak and John Wasilenski and observer Frank Zoltowski.

AT THE COUNTY level, there is confusion over the future of the suburban helicopter squad.

One county official said the board of commissioners was preparing to approve a new budget which would allocate $225,000 to the unit. That, he said, would be enough to maintain the six-man unit.

Even if the appropriation is approved, Messinger said, the unit's lifespan will be short.

The unit's one helicopter, he said, has an engine life of 1,000 hours. The helicopter, as of Nov. 2, had more than nine hours of use. It is used about 10 hours a day.

THAT WOULD mean the engine could be operated for another 10 days or so, Messinger said. Thus the calculation that the helicopter unit would be out business about Nov. 13.

The officers would probably be transferred to road patrols.

"We were started under a federal grant five years ago," Messinger said. "The county took over funding three years ago. Our total budget cost is about $220,000."

At first the unit had two ships. Last spring, the engine in one ship reached the 1,000 hour mark and now stands idle.

A new engine has been requested for the remaining ship, Messinger said, but county officials reportedly turned down the request.

Even if the commissioners were to approve it, it would take three months to order and install a new engine, he said.

The earliest the helicopter unit could be back in the air would be in mid-February 1979.

"We have the ship in the air, 10 hours a day. We get one 2½-hour flight per tank of gas," Messinger said.

"We fly patrol, assist at holdups, join searches for lost children and searches for escapees from Dehoco. We can do the work of three of four patrol cars.

"In a holdup, we can be on the scene faster than a patrol car and follow the suspect vehicle."

State approves Ford widening

Reconstruction of 3.8 miles of M-153 (Ford Road) east from the I-275 freeway in western Wayne County has been approved by the State Highway Commission.

The project, scheduled to begin in late 1980, will complete the widening and upgrading of the highway between I-275 and its eastern terminus at I-94 at the Dearborn-Detroit border.

The commission approved widening Ford Road to five lanes from Venoy Road at the Garden City-Westland border west to its juncture with I-275 in Canton Township. The project also will include an additional right-turn lane at all major intersections and six-foot wide combination pedestrian-bicyclist facilities on both sides of the highway.

Other work will include an overpass to eliminate the existing crossing of the Chessie Railroad, and service roads at the overpass to provide access to commercial establishments at that location.

Curb and gutter and an enclosed storm water system will be constructed on both sides of the highway.

The estimated cost is $9.1 million.

Planners for the Department of State Highways and Transportation considered but rejected an alternate proposal for widening the highway to a seven-lane boulevard. It would cause unnecessary disruption of businesses and other commercial establishments in the area and cost about $1.8 million more, the department said.

Traffic volumes through the area range from 49,000 vehicles on an average day at Venoy Rd. to 19,500 at the I-275 interchange. Projected traffic on those locations ranges from 52,700 to 68,800.

Two public hearings were held last April on the proposed project.

The commission still must obtain approval of an environmental impact statement recently submitted to the Federal Highway Administration.

"City Looks for the Pre-Holiday Season" Fashion Show at Westland
Wednesday, November 8, 11:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.
East Court

Here come the holidays! It's time to forget about summer. And time to look at the fashions for the pre-holiday season.

It's the layered sweater look or a bulky coat sweater . . . for watching the big game or walking through the drifted leaves.

And for the working woman staying in town for the evening, accessories are the key. Today's fashions are made to go from day to evening by softening them with the right accessories . . . the new velvety bows, bright scarves, belts and boots.

The little black dress is coming in strong for evening and it gets its razzle dazzle from the strong play of costume jewelry on the arms and at the neck.

This season, express your own style. . . you'll find it at this very special fashion show.

Home decoration wins dollars

By SUSAN ROGERS

It's a comfortable-looking living room decorated in warm earthy colors. The marriage of colonial colors and the straight lines of modern furnishings is responsible for its appeal.

The room won its owner and decorator — Kathy McCormick of Canton — $9,000 and a trip to New York City last month.

Mrs. McCormick was the grand prize winner in a nationwide wallpaper contest called "Decorate Your Walls with Dollars" sponsored by Josephson's Wallpaper of New Jersey.

She was encouraged to enter the contest last March by Diane Persh, who, along with husband John, owns Walls, Windows and Whatnots — a decorating store on Ford and Lilley in Canton.

MRS. McCORMICK didn't think she would even meet the deadline, let alone win the grand prize.

"Diane called at the end of September and told me I won," she said, "and then Mr. Josephson called and confirmed it. I asked if it was for real — I just couldn't believe it. I didn't think I had a chance, but figured I didn't have anything to lose."

Mrs. McCormick said the decorating effort was the first project she ever began and stuck with until the end.

Her efforts paid off. The three-day trip to New York that she took in October was completely paid for. On top of that, she won $9,000 — $1,000 for each roll of wallpaper she used.

The trip was for two, but Mrs. McCormick went by herself.

"The trip was just great," said the amateur decorator. "I was wined and dined — I think I only had two hours to myself. I'd never been there before, and I can't wait to go back."

Contest winners were chosen by a judging firm and several professional interior decorators. Judging was based on three photographs that each contestant was required to send.

THE PHOTOGRAPHS that Mrs. McCormick sent show a living room in earthy shades of browns and tans. The wallpaper is a deep brown with highlights of silver to brighten the room. The carpet is a light chocolate brown, and the furniture is a mixture of dark wood and wicker.

Large natural wood shelving covers the back wall with green hanging plants suspended from the top shelf. Landscape and animal prints framed in chrome and natural materials decorate the walls. Brown venetian blinds hang at the front window, and a simple glass coffee table sets in front of the cozy-looking brown-print couch.

"They said I won because of a balance of color and creativity," said the room's designer.

The room began taking shape last March when Mrs. McCormick first heard of the contest. She wanted to use the couch she had purchased two years ago as the basis for the color scheme.

She credits friends, family and an eye for a bargain for the success of the venture.

"My brother-in-law built the shelves for me and many friends and friends of friends helped with other projects."

She macramed wallhangings, repainted a table and hung the wallpaper. The plants and other whatnots that give the room character were the product of a careful search.

"I wanted to make the room light and airy," Mrs. McCormick said. "So anytime I found something that was light and reasonably priced, I bought it."

MRS. McCORMICK, who has no professional interior design background, did the entire room for about $2,000 including the couch. None of the winning money was used to cover the costs.

The rest of the home is colonial. Mrs. McCormick said she likes the warm colors of colonial decor.

"But I also like the straight lines and brightness of modern design. So I combined the two for the look I wanted."

She has plans to wallpaper two bedrooms and bathroom next and has already ordered the wallpaper. She isn't sure about entering any more contests though.

She said the project became discouraging in the end with the deadline just around the corner.

"I wanted to quit near the end. I just got tired of it and was afraid I wasn't going to make it. I received great help and encouragement from Diane of Walls, Windows and Whatnots — she told me to keep going."

Mrs. Persh, by the way, won $1,000 for selling the wallpaper. What of the $9,000 Mrs. McCormick won?

"It's in the bank," she said. "I looked at new cars and decided that wasn't it. So I decided to take my family to Florida this winter, and I'm going to San Francisco by myself. It's a place I've always wanted to visit."

All in all, it's been quite an experience for Kathy McCormick.

"All kinds of people are now asking me for decorating advice," she laughed. "And I learned a lot. I learned I could do something without spending an arm and a leg. I learned I can make it — I can really do it."

Cathy McCormick sits in the living room that snared her a prize in a nationwide competition. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Queen for a homecoming

Students call school lunches losers

while avoiding cost increases to the students, White says.

If the school board opts for that alternative, cafeteria workers would retain their jobs, he emphasizes, and a student advisory board would be allowed input.

Students organizing the boycott, however, are unaware of the district's considerations. The students believe the relationship between cafeteria workers and students is at an all-time low.

English instructor Barbara Masters, with the district for 12 years, echoes those sentiments. Problems with food service are aggravated to a near-war atmosphere, she says.

"They (the cafeteria workers) get so much flack, they're on the defensive all the time," Ms. Masters explains. Two years ago Ms. Masters' students involved themselves in a food study and presented the district with a list of complaints and suggestions.

Last year, a part-time food service director was hired, who did manage to effect some changes, but she resigned last month, Ms. Masters adds.

Ms. Masters brings her lunch this year and avoids the cafeteria, which she and the students claim is dirty and unappetizing.

Fresh fruit, frozen yogurt, whole grain breads, variety in vegetables and soups, and "not fish every Friday" are some of the students' suggestions.

But most importantly, they want a director to whom complaints and suggestions can be channeled.

"If we get bad milk or a raw hamburger, we want someone to go to," Ms. Chope says.

CURRENTLY the food is prepared at Plymouth Salem High School and transported to Canton High next door, although some items such as hamburgers are prepared at Canton.

The approximately 4,750 students at the two high schools have a 30-minute lunch hour and cannot leave the premises.

Bringing a sack lunch from home is their only alternative to cafeteria food, Ms. Chope says. And the school lacks a facility for refrigeration for lunches brought from home.

The "Type A" lunch, which satisfies minimal federal requirements, is priced at 75 cents, and includes a main course, vegetable, dessert, and milk.

On Thursday last week, when the students were interviewed, the Type A lunch consisted of a sandwich, small container of soup, and canned fruit. Other options are the fast food line, where hamburgers, French fries, and pizza are purchased; and the sandwich and soup line. A salad bar is provided, but the students say the salads are small, not fresh, and overpriced.

Waiting in lunch lines consumes more than half the 30-minute lunch hour, they insist, and cafeteria workers insist a student return to the end of the line if they've forgotten an item such as a napkin or spoon, Ms. Chope charges.

The students are hoping to be backed by most of the student body this week as the boycott gets under way.

editorial opinion

Our selections

During the past few weeks, the Observer has taken editorial positions on all 11 ballot proposals and has endorsed candidates for elected positions on Tuesday's ballot.

For our readers' benefit, we offer today a brief summary of our editorial positions.

The Observer urges YES votes on: Proposal C, allowing deposit of state funds in credit unions and savings and loans; Proposal M, establishing a transportation commission; and Proposal R, establishing a Railroad Redevelopment Authority.

The Observer urges NO votes on these proposals: A, a call for a constitutional convention; B, parole denial; D, raising the drinking age to 21; E, Headlee tax limitation; G, collective bargaining for state police; H, the voucher plan; J, Tisch tax cut; and K, bail denial.

Candidates endorsed by the Observer for Congress, State Senate, State House, Wayne County Commission and 35th District Court are:

For Congress—Carl Pursell in the 2d District (which includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township); William D. Ford in the 15th District (which includes Canton).

For State Senate—William Faust in the 13th District (which includes Canton) and Paul Kadish in the 14th District (which includes Plymouth and Plymouth Township).

For State House of Representatives—Thomas Brown, whose 37th District includes Canton and part of Plymouth Township, and Roy Smith, whose 52d District includes Plymouth and the remainder of Plymouth Township.

For Wayne County commissioner—William Joyner, whose 27th District includes Canton and all of Plymouth.

For judge in the 35th District Court (which includes all of Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township)—James Garber.

In Canton, the Observer endorses Noel Culbert for supervisor, Robert Greenstein and and Carol Bodenmiller for trustee, and James Donahue for treasurer.

We also encourage voters to approve the developmental rights millage proposal that would save some 5,000 acres of township farmland.

We urge all residents to vote Tuesday and to know how they plan to vote on all proposals and candidates before entering the voting booths.

Farmland millage proposal explained

Editor:

In recent weeks, several people have commented that they would definitely support the Farmland Preservation Proposal if it were for two mills. They seem hesitant about four mills.

This is similar to the person who wanted to buy a Cadillac or Lincoln but would only pay $3,000 for it. Later when he decided to pay a regular price, the car had already been sold. He was angered he had missed his opportunity. The farmland question is the same: It's a four mill issue and we have to decide whether we want it or not. If we come back later, it may be gone.

Each voter must decide his or her position on the merits of the issue, consider carefully the pros and the cons. The millage level is not an option.

Let's assume that $16 million in bonds are issued over the first six to eight years, a legitimate objective in terms of completing the development rights purchases. The payments needed to pay off the bonds, after full issuance, would be about 1.7 or 1.8 million dollars annually. The annual revenues from four mills seven or eight years from now, taking into account the growth in assessed township valuation, would only be about 1.3 or 1.4 million. This would mean a shortage in revenues of about $400,000 annually. As assessed values grow, however, the annual shortage will be reduced. In the 10th to 12th year, annual income will approximately equal the annual payments required. After 12 years, revenues will exceed payments and the millage level would be gradually reduced to zero by the end of 20 years.

In the early years, before all bonds are actually issued, the revenues would exceed bond payments substantially. However, the full millage is required to create a cash reserve to cover the period of four or five years when annual payments will be greater than annual incomes. Also, the levy must be adequate to cover administrative costs, legal fees, and appraisal costs during the early years.

From a financial standpoint, however, the real question is not two or four mills but what would the program cost in dollars and cents. The average homeowner would pay out a total of about $200 to $400 in extra taxes spread over the first six to eight years. After that, a taxpayer would be paying less taxes each year than he would if development of the area is permitted to continue. He would save a total of about $1,500 to $1,700 during the ensuing 12 to 14 years. The result is a net tax savings of about $1,300 for the average homeowner in just the first 20 years.

I hope this will eliminate some of the confusion.

Editor:

The obstacles to progressive change are overwhelming. Fortunately for us, there are those special few who find public service exciting and challenging, and who find the positive results incurred more rewarding than any other profession or endeavor sought after today. Upon these persons' efforts rest Canton's economic and social growth and stability.

Harold Stein, our current supervisor, and Anne Bradley, our current treasurer, are two public officials who have demonstrated their dedication and wisdom, and their ability to make Canton a better place in which to live.

Our home and property values have been protected and we have done quite well by living in Canton. We have seen Harold Stein and Anne Bradley bring to Canton many innovative programs through which our surplus fund has doubled and our taxes have been lowered. They have revitalized our township governmental process by their example of hard work and enthusiasm.

They are not a product of dramatic and flashy political opportunism, rather they have remained steadfast by working in the background to truly benefit the public.

Nevertheless, it is not the intent of this letter to enumerate their accomplishments as their records of achievement have been presented to you and will stand the test of time with any administration. Nor is it the intent of this letter to expose the tricks used by the opposing candidates to create character assassinations by innuendo.

It is the intent of this letter to ask the Canton residents to use the potential of our election process to put into office that leadership which has proven ability in the past, that leadership which will continue to solve our problems and create a better life for us. I'm asking you to re-elect Anne Bradley for Canton Treasurer and write-in Harold Stein for Canton Supervisor.

MSU cheerleaders like the Spartan life

FOR TROY Athens High School graduate Vikki Wiegand, cheerleading has almost become a way of life. The sophomore, majoring in clinical dietetics, has been cheering "ever since fifth grade.

"It was for a little league team," she said.

Both she and Ms. Agnew were gymnasts in high school, which, they say, has helped a great deal with stunts and partner work.

With all this experience and activity, it's not hard for the five to muster spirit and enthusiasm—especially when MSU keeps winning.

Stern says the crowd is becoming more responsive—especially the vocal student section in the south end zone at Spartan Stadium.

And they have reason to be spirited.

My doctor pronounced me cured of cancer.

My boss didn't.

My boss didn't understand that I was healthy again.

So I was let go.

A lot of people are like my boss. They think that everyone dies of cancer. I thought so, too. Until the American Cancer Society, through one of its service and rehabilitation programs, helped me return to a normal life.

The ACS also has local Units that help Americans who've never had cancer understand it better.

The pros and cons

Should drinking age be raised?

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

To drink or not to drink? That is the issue.

Proposal D, a constitutional amendment to raise the legal drinking age to 21, has become the rallying cry for 19- and 20-year olds across the state. Tomorrow is their day of reckoning.

They turned out in full force last week at Schoolcraft College where proponents and opponents were debating the merits of the changes. Even a few parents came down to listen to the debate.

Speaking in favor of raising the drinking age was Richard Douglass, assistant research scientist for the University of Michigan's Highway Safety Research Institute. Arguing against adoption of the constitutional amendment was Eddy Shepherd of the Michigan Licensed Beverage Association.

DOUGLASS OPENED the debate with a flurry of statistics, which, he said, showed that traffic deaths among 18-, 19- and 20-year-olds increased dramatically after the drinking age was lowered in 1971.

From 1971 to 1975, he said, alchohol-related accidents in the 18-to-20 age group increased more than 16 per cent. More importantly, he said, were statisitics that showed fatalities in alchohol-related accidents in that same age group increased nearly 27 per cent.

"We made a terrible mistake," Douglass said. "We made the most costly mistake in the history of Michigan."

SHEPHERD TURNED to his own set of statistics that showed that the rate of involvement for 18- and 19-year-olds in all accidents and fatal accidents had not increased dramatically.

"The rate per thousand of involvement in all accidents has decreased from a high of 23 per thousand accidents in 1966 to a low of 17 per thousand in 1975," he said.

"The rate of involvement in fatal accidents," he continued, "has decreased from 1.4 drivers per thousand accidents to .8 of a driver per thousand in 1975." That rate increased to one per thousand in 1977.

He also pointed out that in 1974 a new system of reporting accidents was introduced. The form, he said, allowed officers only to say if the persons involved had been drinking before the accident. It, he said, did not allow for how much a person had been drinking.

That, he said, provided for a lot of "junk statistics" which could be "twisted."

IT WAS THEN that the debate took on a new air.

Douglass, standing dapper in a three-piece grey suit, chided the teens in the audience. "It's about time you think for yourself," he said. "I don't care what (Secretary of State Richard) Austin says. I don't care what (Governor William) Milliken says or what (gubernatorial candidate) William) Fitzgerald thinks," he said. "You have to think for yourself."

Earlier in the debate, Shepherd referred to a number of officials and candidates who are opposing the amendment.

IT WAS ALSO when Douglass began using scare tactics.

Labeling Shepherd's statisitics lies and simplistic, he said, "There's nothing simple about drunks in school. There's nothing simple about kids who drop out because they can't keep up with the work. There's nothing simple about nursing homes filled with quadrapelic teenagers

"I've seen enough accidents on scene. I've been to enough emergency rooms and seen enough parents who have experienced the loss of a child.

"I've had my fill of it," he said.

Douglass told the predominantly young audience they could vote to reduce a leading cause of death.

THE YOUNG in the audience bought very little of Douglass' arguments.

They asked instead what else could they do for entertainment if the bars and discos were closed to them.

"There's a lot to do," he said matter-of-factly. He said, "You can still go dancing, but you don't have to drink."

The teenagers continue to question the two debaters long after the official program had ended. It continued in the halls and a classroom for nearly an hour.

Douglass apparently was not too convincing.

"He really aggrivates me," one Schoolcraft College student said. Another chimned in, "He never really listened to us."

A CLEAN SWEEP FROM TOP TO BOTTOM

Barbara and I have been chimney sweeps for slightly over a year and a half, but we've been seeing Dr. Grassam for almost two years now. It all began when I was injured in a fall from a firetruck. I suffered terribly from low back pain, radiating into my legs and knees. After my success with Dr. Grassam, Barbara decided to find out if he could help her. She had severe neck pain, eventually causing an inability to move her head from side to side.

You see, in our trade we are constantly bending, stretching, stooping and twisting. That's a lot of wear and tear on the back, but all this is necessary to successfully complete the task of cleaning the flammable creosote from the chimney flue.

Dr. Grassam keeps our spines free of nerve pressure, thus making us more comfortable during our work day. But you dont need to be a sweep to benefit from chiropractic. The strains and twists from everyday living can be enough to cause a spinal misalignment which puts pressure on the spinal nerves that are responsible for controlling all bodyfunctions.

Most people are not aware that there are German, Scandinavian and English traditions linking chimney sweeps with good luck. We, as sweeps, believe that "good luck will rub off when we shake hands with you."

However, Barbara and I don't rely on luck to keep us healthy. Don't you either. Join us in the natural approach to good health. See you at Dr. Grassam's!

Sweeps Luck and Good Health!

"Hey Doc, What About My Family?"

That's a question that we have heard for years and we have now devised a plan to enable your whole family to enjoy the many benefits of good health.

Many times in the past, after being restored to good health through chiropractic care, our patients have asked about care for their entire family. "I just can't afford to have the entire family treated at the regular office fee," they say Even though our $10 office call is the very lowest in the area, we realize that it can be a burden to large families.

So, to serve the needs of patients who do not have full family health care insurance, we are proud to announce the Family Health Care Plan which will make good health a family affair.

Under our new plan, which is in effect whenever two or more family members who do not have full family insurance visit us on the same day, the first member pays only $8. The second family member would pay only $3 and the third is only $1. All members after three, no additional charge. In other words the maximum cost for the family would be $12.

We have designed this plan to extend good health to everyone. There is a genuine concern that families should stay healthy together. Good health is, indeed, a family affair and it is an affair to be remembered.

Take advantage of our new plan today. Call now — 422-7800 and ask about our Family plan.

Canton

The Candidate	1. Do you favor the farmland preservation proposal that appears on this week's ballot? If voters turn down the request for four mills, will you continue to push for the preservation of Canton's agricultural land?	2. What is your stand on the proposed Tisch and Headlee amendments? If the Tisch proposal is approved, how would you cut Canton's budget?	3. Do you feel the township board should take action on the warranty and occupancy-date problems that some homeowners are having with their builders?	4. Do you think steps should be taken to curb Canton's residential growth?
NOEL CULBERT (Supervisor) Democrat	"I support this (four-mill) request, because it will be beneficial to the township and its residents in the long run. If it fails, I would seek federal and state funds for implementation of the program."	"I am skeptical about Tisch. Yet I feel it may be necessary and will cause governments to determine where waste and inefficiency exist. I have no objection to Headlee." If the Tisch amendment passes, the township board could recoup the lost revenue by increasing sewer tap-in fees and by licensing vending machines and mechanical games.	"Yes. The township has the duty to protect its residents and future residents under the 'health, safety and general welfare' powers of governments. I think Canton should enact an ordinance which penalizes builders who have not completed construction or repairs on new homes by not issuing them new building permits."	"Yes. The first step would be to ration building permits so we don't exceed our sewer capacity. We should then develop a two-year program of growth control while we finalize plans for an ultimate master plan."
JOHN LONGRIDGE (Supervisor) Republican	Yes. "This is a major step in the direction of managing growth in Canton." If it fails, would limit building permits and institute tighter controls on building restrictions and codes. If the proposal passes, he would call for the new township board to only levy two mills, establish boundaries and begin making inquiries of the affected landowners.	"E and J (Tisch and Headlee) aren't really bringing about tax reform, as each claims it is. Both proposals will create more problems for the suburbs and middle class by crying out for more millage proposals." If Tisch passes, would cut back on services to bring the budget in line with revenue brought in after tax cut. Each increase in services would be voted on. If Headlee passes, it would work on complete restructuring of the budget to reflect the tax cut. Have to send township representative to the state house doors at once to get in line for funding.	Yes. "The builders in community must be brought to task if they intend on continuing to do business in Canton." An ordinance enactment stipulating the needs of new homeowners will be proposed if elected. Would set a time goal for the building department to work to. Each complaint shall be acted on within a two-week period.	Yes. Would manage growth by: Limiting building permits, holding tighter control over zoning and by letting voters decide at the polls the changes in growth they want.
HAROLD STEIN (Supervisor write-in) Democrat	This is a form of growth control. "I have already explored the possiblity of federal funds. I expect to testify before the house sub committee on agriculture." If the proposal fails, will develop a growth management program designed for Canton, as well as exploring the possibility of federal demonstration project funds for the aquisition of development rights.	Tisch is a tax shift and revenue will have to be raised by other means at the state level. Canton will be forced to rely more on Lansing and Washington for funds. It will probably result in a tax shift from property to a combination of 38 other allowable forms of taxation. Headlee will cause a cut in programs which benefit the middle class. The passage of both proposals would seriously hamper Canton's ability to attract industry or even make neighborhood improvements.	Yes.	Yes. Believes in "positive, fair, growth management program."
JOHN FLODIN (Clerk, unopposed) Democrat	Supports the issue, because "it is an opportunity for Canton to become a unique community, which would provide many lifestyles: residential, industrial and agricultural, all of which are basic to the American way of life." If proposal fails, would look for alternatives such as federal and state funding. "It may well be that Canton residents are not willing to pay the price required to implement the program."	The Tisch proposal probably would result in a substantial decrease in township services without additional or new sources of revenue. The Headlee proposal is not as drastic (as Tisch). Believes the township could live with the Headlee plan.	The township is involved with consumer complaints within the constraints of its ordinances. Probably more stringent ordinances could be enacted, but much more manpower would be required to enforce them, as well as causing substantial legal costs.	Yes. The constitutional problems involved in growth control are the greatest. Canton is very nearly out of sewer capacity. Until the new sewer system is constructed, there will be growth control for this reason. The use of that sewer (the super sewer) is at best five-seven years away. That should be sufficient time to work out the details of growth.
ANNE BRADLEY (Treasurer write-in) Democrat	Does not know how she will vote on the issue or if she would push for farmland preservation if the ballot proposition fails. "I just don't know how the farmers who will be directly effected feel about it."	Opposes Tisch, but favors Headlee. Favors cuts in the recreation budget and other non-essential areas if the Tisch amendment passes. Opposes cuts in the police and fire department budgets.	"I think township board members should help any taxpayer to the best of their ability. But I don't see how anyone on that board can interfere with private enterprise."	"When our sewer capacity runs out, I think we'll be forced into it. I firmly believe that when our sewer capacity is full, the state will step in and say 'No more building permits.'"
JAMES DONAHUE (Treasurer) Republican	Strongly endorses farmland preservation, but opposes the ballot proposition because "the funding being requested is excessive over the needs of the program." If the ballot proposition fails, "I will research every alternative for funding based on the necessity of such a program."	Opposes Tisch, but favors Headlee. If the Tisch amendment passes, opposes any cuts in the police or fire department budgets. Recommends budget cuts in such areas as capital improvements, the recreation department, the community development department and the treasurer's staff.	"We should make an effort to control building problems through ordinances." Favors enactment of ordinances which would require builders to place promised completion dates in writing and require homebuilders to post a "substantial" bond. "If homeowner complaints are not properly remedied, the bond monies would be used to hire separate contractors to affect the necessary repairs."	Yes. "Residential growth must be curbed." The township could restrict the number of building permits that are issued. "But again, I stress, we must have an overall plan."
MARIA FALKIEWICZ (Treasurer) Democrat	Supports issue, but "I do have reservations because of the many unanswered questions. I'm concerned about our farmers' views. I hope township board members will take the initiative to discontinue the program. . .if we are (not) proceeding in the right direction." If the ballot proposition fails, "this would be the time to meet with the planner to re-evaluate this program."	"It is great to see people shaking up the government, but not at the local level. It would be a disaster for us." If the Tisch amendment passes, the budgets of all departments should be cut. "I would meet with department heads to discuss the situation and tell them what percentage would have to be cut from their budgets."	Yes. Favors enactment of a two-fold policy that would toughen inspection procedures and halt construction when poor workmanship is noted.	Yes. "We must study zoning and the legalities of limiting building permits. We are almost at full sewer capacity now."
CAROL BODENMILLER (Trustee) Democrat	Yes, with certain stipulations. New board members should pledge to levy not more than 2 mills for the first year. If the proposal fails, the board should hire the best growth control expert available to seek out different approaches to the issue. Possible considerations—combination of many techniques, such as agricultural zoning, taxation of capital gains, plus many tax concessions such as deferential, preferential assessment and deferred taxation.	"It was a mistake to put these two proposals on the ballot." Should have taken a wait-and-see attitude to see what the results will be in California (of the Tisch-like amendment). If Tisch passes, should have a complete overview of budget. "Cannot cut out police or protection agencies. Sell the golf course and recreation hall and place these activities in the new administration building."	Definitely yes. The township has the moral responsibility to make the developers and builders adhere to certain standards and practices. Township could enact "exaction from builders and developers to pressure them to perform and meet definite requirements and standards.	Yes. The township needs a comprehensive land use plan and companion zoning ordinances for growth management strategy. When this is accomplished, we can control the rate of growth and appropriate locations for various land uses. Also, tie future residential growth to availability of vital community facilities such as drainage, schools, fire protection, etc.
ROBERT GREENSTEIN (Trustee) Democrat	Yes. Will vote for four mills because he favors saving rural areas of Canton. "The expense of such a millage is justified based on an almost guaranteed future tax savings to the Canton taxpayer, in the fundamental environmental gains guaranteed by such a plan as well as the guarantee of future superior marketability of Canton Township homes." Thinks board should investigate the need for entire four mills before levying. Would seek federal legislation and state help to fund, or partially fund, if proposal fails.	Dubious about both proposals. "The Tisch amendment would cost Canton in excess of $800,000 in revenues. If Tisch passes, Canton will be close to bankruptcy because of the huge debt payment obligation for land and buildings purchased by the present administration. Would sell off some of this property and cut departments and services if Tisch passes. Headlee won't have appreciable effect on Canton at first, but may have to cut programs in the long haul.	Yes. The township used to be involved in building and consumer complaints in Canton before the election of the Stein Administration. There are ways to stop builder abuses if the township administration "isn't owned and operated by builders and developers."	Yes. If more sewer capacity is not obtained residential growth will be curbed absolutely. The farmland preservation program will certainly, if adopted, stop building in the west of Canton. Developable lands on the east side can be controlled by larger lot zoning, limitation on building permits on a yearly basis and through good planning.
GARY ROBERTS (Trustee) Republican	Will vote against the proposal because the program will end up "costing more than four mills." Suggests buying some farmland for parks as a way to preserve open space.	Opposes both tax reform proposals. If the Tisch amendment is approved, "I would cut recreation and other luxury things. We might have to sell some township-owned real estate." Vehemently opposes cuts in the budgets of the police or fire departments.	Yes. The township board should put pressure on builders by filing the complaints of every homeowner with the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulations. The board should consider passing an ordinance that would require builders to put promised occupancy dates in writing.	Yes. Favors a moratorium on new subdivision plat approvals until a study on Canton's sewer capacity can be conducted.

Editor's note: Some answers to these questions have been edited for space purposes. However, most statements are the exact reply of each candidate. We hope this chart will aid voters in selecting the candidates of their choice in this election.

5. How do you prioritize the need for additional industrial development?	6. Do you favor the sign ordinance proposed by the Canton Planning Commission?	7. What is the biggest problem in Canton?	8. Are you satisfied with steps taken by the current township board to expand the Canton Police Department?
"It's a top priority, but not necessarily the top one. We should have enough industry to help the tax, base, but industry should be located in planned industrial parks."	No. The present sign ordinance should be relaxed, but the proposed ordinance leans too far toward business interests.	"The poor workmanship of new homes and the lack of builder response to this problem."	"No. I think they've dragged their feet. I would like to hire a consultant to study the police department and see where the problem areas are and how the department can be more efficiently run."	NOEL CULBERT (Supervisor) Democrat
"We must show industry that Canton has and can meet their needs." Our present administration has not accomplished this and in fact has given the industrial concerns throughout our nation a hands-off attitude through lack of leadership and incentives to move to Canton. More industry and less talk will surely bring industry to our community and decrease the homeowners' burden of taxes.	"Businesses should have signs." But the sign ordinace as written needs to be changed in relation to political signs, sizes of signs, and where the businesses are that have such signs.	Lack of leadership. "Canton's government has been one of minority interests. Canton is people and the boards are put there to speak the will of the people. Citizens of Canton aren't concerned with who is or isn't suing whom. They want results: Clean, safe streets, parks and programs their children can benefit from, business's that provide services they need in everyday life and a government that is protecting the homefront while they are away 8 to 10 hours a day." Intends to impliment management of government through planned objectives.	No. The township board's hiring practices and policies "almost lost us some very qualified and capable people. Their steadfast stand on hiring the county sheriff would have cost our taxpayers $650,000 for one patrol car. If it had not been for the dedicated officers of the Canton Police Department and their stand on providing 24-hour police protection to our township, we would still be waiting to walk our streets at night."	JOHN LONGRIDGE (Supervisor) Republican
"As chairman of the EDC (Economic Development Corporation), I recognize the need for industrial development to alleviate the tax burden which is placed on the homeowner. Efforts are currently underway to make Canton a more appealing location for industry."	Businesspeople need recognition and a fair sign ordinance.	Growth, sewers and opposite factions. Need a fair, compromise program.	Yes.	HAROLD STEIN (Supervisor write-in) Democrat
Canton needs an industrial tax base badly. An aggressive program should be implemented to induce industrial and commerical ventures to locate here. This would also provide job opportunities for our young people.	Believes Canton needs a sign ordinace with some equity for all sides. "But the proposed ordinance has some things I'd like to change."	"I don't think there is a single biggest problem in Canton. Growth, zoning, sewer capacity, and the need for a non-residential tax base are some of the problems. I believe reasonable people can work out reasonable compromises to achieve equity for all."	Yes. The present police department has been expanded within the limits of the money available for the police department. Any further expansion can only happen with additional financial appropriations. The department is functioning very well with its limited manpower and budget.	JOHN FLODIN (Clerk, unopposed) Democrat
Additional industrial development should be one of the township board's top priorities. "A good tax base helps everyone."	Yes. "I don't want to see signs like Las Vegas. But I really feel that anyone who invests thousands of dollars in a business should be identified."	The poor condition of township roads. "Other than roads, I really don't see any major problems in Canton. I think people are creating their own problems."	Yes, although unpaid police volunteers should receive some professional training.	ANNE BRADLEY (Treasurer write-in) Democrat
Additional industry is needed, but "I will not put this above the need of local residents for an aesthetically pleasing community. I believe that balance can be obtained by buffering the needed industrial areas from residents" through open space, berms and sign restrictions.	"As a package, it's no good. I feel it's a sell-out to the business community." The proposed ordinance allows signs that are too large and does not require signs of "natural" materials.	"The biggest problem is the lack of an overall, comprehensive plan to meet the community's present and future needs."	No. "The township board has done many things to hinder its operation. They bickered and argued for nine months after voter approval before expanding department activities to 24 hours. The department has routinely been denied basic supplies by the administration. The police department is the only department in the township that must make capital expenditures (i.e. cars, building renovations, etc.) from its own budget."	JAMES DONAHUE (Treasurer) Republican
"There is a definite need for industrial development as long as it isn't a long-term tax loss for Canton. I want to make sure industry meets the health and safety acts."	"No—unless you want another Westland. Although I can appreciate the concerns of our businesses, I feel that the (study) committees have come up with the best solutions." Not all the study committee's recommendations were incorporated into the proposed ordinance. "I am completely against billboard signs on I-275."	"The local government. We have many problems, such as growth and sewer capacity, but all of these are governed by our Canton officials. We have to eliminate political favoritism. Canton needs a fair and open government."	No. "Not when you consider that voters approved a millage for a full-time police force that was supposed to begin by January 1978. It was political pressure that finally forced officials to act in June 1978."	MARIA FALKIEWICZ (Treasurer) Democrat
Industrial development, although necessary, should come second to a comprehensive land use plan and growth control procedures.	No. I feel a proposed sign ordinance needs further study. Since a new board takes office Nov. 20, these members will be the ones to implement a sign ordinance and therefore should be allowed a study period before passing judgment. However, an implementation of a sign ordinance would be first objective.	Overcrowding of our schools and increased taxes are the biggest problems. We can take steps to solve these problems with proper and legal growth management. This would stop "leapfrogging" of subdivisions isolated from one end of the township to the other.	Yes, but we should be doing even more in the area of men and equipment. Volunteers are commendable, but cannot take the place of a certified police officer. Equipment is needed, such as armored vests, police batons, handcuffs, tear gas, breathalizer and a 15 KW emergency generator for auxiliary power during electrical blackouts.	CAROL BODENMILLER (Trustee) Democrat
Canton has thousands of acres zoned for industrial use and very few businesses have expressed a desire to build here. However, should the tax base for schools stay the same, then industrial growth is important and vital to our economy. But if the property tax base is changed, Canton is by far better off without industrial growth.	No. There are no provisions for berms in the proposed sign ordinace. It promises a free-standing sign for everyone.	"The biggest problem in Canton today—aside from the lack of a master plan; no sewer capacity; the purchase of millions of dollars of worthless land; poor planning and tunnel vision; business control of the present township board, planning commission and Z.B.A.; bad and overcrowded roads; bad builders and bad consumer protection; liquor licenses to the Palace Restaurant and the beautiful White Castle erected on the entryway to Canton—is probably whether the end of daylight savings time will cheat the farmers of an extra hour of sunshine next season.	No. The present township administration has had to be pushed, shoved, dragged, pulled and yanked and then finally sued in Circuit Court before they finally, almost a year after passage of the police millage, established a full-time police department.	ROBERT GREENSTEIN (Trustee) Democrat
Considers the need for additional industry a top priority. "I wouldn't give up trees and green grass just to get it though."	"Yes, I think it's a compromise."	Mushrooming residential growth and the problems homeowners are having with builders.	Not really. Police Chief Walter MacGregor should be given more power over the department. Feel police officers need "more experience."	GARY ROBERTS (Trustee) Republican

Trooper bargaining merits debates

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Should Michigan State Police troopers be allowed to bargain collectively?

That will be one of 11 proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on tomorrow.

Last week, at a debate sponsored by Schoolcraft College, each side presented their stories.

Mark Edens, speaking for the Michigan State Police Troopers Association, told of how the troopers had consistently fallen behind—not only inflation but the state's other police units.

"Our pay dropped from among the top 10 to 73rd among police units around the state," Edens said. "Everybody gives us pats on the back and calls us the best police unit in the state.

"It's not fair for me to do the work I do and get nothing but pats on the back. You can't buy a house with pats," he said.

NEAL VANDERVEEN, a Michigan State Police employee relations officer, said the state was not afraid of collective bargain, but opposed the proposed constitutional amendment because of the way it was worded.

"It's not as though the troopers would be going from the dark ages of the sweatshop to the enlightened age of collective bargaining," he said.

He said the troopers are currently represented before the pay-setting Michigan Civil Service Commission by the troopers association.

Getting into the body of the relatively short amendment, Vanderveen wondered just who the legal employer would be, who would conduct the initial elections to determine what union would represent the troopers in bargaining and who would hear arguments regarding unfair labor practices.

The ballot proposal, he said, did not answer any of his questions.

Edens said, however, that if the amendment was approved, the troopers would go to court to gain answers to those questions. "We believe those matters should be decided in the courts," he said.

VANDERVEEN ALSO balked at the provision that would mandate binding arbitration.

According to other published reports, binding arbitration has resulted in sometimes unreasonably high cash awards to police and firefighters.

In Wayne County, an arbitration award to the sheriff's deputies nearly caused the layoff of more the 900 county employes. Layoff notices were not sent because the courts ruled that the county did not have to pay the sheriffs the increased wages and back pay until all legal appeals were resolved.

He said the state would be more amenable to advisory arbitration than compulsory arbitration. Advisory arbitrastion, he said was a case of "thou should" whereas binding arbitration is case of "thou shall."

IN A TIME when government-employed workers such as police, firemen and teachers have increasingly resorted to the blue flue and strikes to gain pay and benefit improvements, Edens was quick to say the amendment would not give the troopers the right to strike.

Other public employes do not have the right to strike, but do. "You'll just have to trust the troopers," Edens said. "We've been kicked around and mistreated for 60 years and we haven't gone on strike. I don't think they'll call in sick now that they're finally being treated fairly."

Marching seniors perform finale

Last Friday night's Plymouth Canton football game was more than the last game of the regular season.

For 26 members of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park marching band it was the last half-time show of a four year involvement.

Under the direction of James R. Griffith and Carl Battishill, these 26 seniors were the feature of the traditional "senior-show" performed during Canton's half-time against Dearborn Edsel Ford.

The performance of the senior-show, as always, included music entirely picked out by the seniors in the band. Somewhat of a trip down memory lane, the show gave graduating seniors the chance to play their favorite selections from the last four years one more time.

Friday night's musical selections included "Hawiian War Chant" from the high-stepping era, "Mickey Mouse" and "Dudley Doright" from the popular cartoon show, the "T-Berry Shuffle" from the dance line days, "Stardust" from homecomings past, "Pinball Wizard" from last year's competition show, and "Auld Lang Syne", a farwell to the class of 1979.

Accomplishments of this year's graduating musicians have included award winning trophies in major competitions including three at the Western Michigan University "Cavalcade of Bands" in which the percussion section was named the best percussion at the WMU competition this past October.

Three appearences at the University of Michigan Band Day festivities including one post game performance and two performances at the Pontiac Silverdome have also been a part of the class of 1979's musical schedule.

Those seniors that ended their high school half-time careers in Friday's game included field commanders Ann Donoghue (also equipment manager) and Barb Stout, rifles Debbie Weil (captain), Sally Hawkins and Cindy Kohler, flags Cheris Thom and Colleen Osborne (captains), Sharen Maxwell, Karen Maxwell, Cindy Dance, Karen Curreri, Tonya Brandon and Judy Skotzke, Piccolo Theresa Savage, clarinets Dori McVittie, Sue Gerish and Sharon Guthrie and tenor saxophone Roger Anason are graduating from the woodwind section.

Brass including head librarian Lisa Holk on trumpet, trombones Sharon Radionoff (equipment manager), and Greg Hausman, baritone Chris Kopepke and tuba Marty Schendel are also leaving. Taking Chris Koepke and tuba Marty Schendel also made Friday night thier last game. The drum line lost Debbie Feole and Don Dahl.

Rocks clobber Harrison for 8-1 season

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Plymouth Salem finished a highly successful 8-1 football season with a sound 35-7 thrashing of Farmington Harrison Saturday afternoon at the Hawks' gridiron.

The Rocks, coached by Tom Moshimer, scored on their first two possessions of the game and dominated in every statistic enroute to the 28-point victory.

For Harrison, runners-up in the Western Six League, it was its fourth defeat of the season. The Hawks' 5-4 record included three defeats from playoff-bound teams and another to the once-beaten Rocks, however.

Salem's 8-1 record was marred only by a five-point setback to playoff-bound Trenton. The Rocks finished in second place in the Suburban Eight League.

After the Rocks opened up a quick 14-0 lead, Harrison recovered a Salem fumble to start the second quarter. The Hawks capitalized on the Rock mistake with its only impressive drive of the afternoon, scoring a touchdown to cut the margin to 14-7.

Salem dominated the rest of the way, though, scoring in the last minute of the first half to make it 20-7. The Rocks scored two more times in the second half but if it wasn't for three more turnovers, the margin of victory may have been greater.

"I don't like all those turnovers," said Moshimer. "We don't like to make mistakes.

"But we tried to have fun. We thought we could win before the ball game but they're (Harrison) a decent team. Going into the game they lost to three undefeated teams. They came after us."

Hawk mentor John Herrington was pleased with his team's second quarter performance but was disappointed in the Hawks's overall play.

"We tackled poorly," Herrington said. "If you don't tackle against Salem's wishbone...

"The only time we played inspired ball was in the second quarter. I was disappointed we didn't hit well.

"You're never pleased with only five victories but considering the talent we had and our schedule it wasn't bad. The kids tried and that's what counts."

Salem's Jeff Bruner recovered a Harrison fumble on the fourth play of the game to give Salem possession on the Hawk 29-yard line. Three plays later All-State quarterback Rich Hewlett snuck over from the one-yard line for the score. It was the first of three Hewlett TD's in the game, as he rushed for 96 yards in 14 carries.

Rich Hanschu's extra-point kick made it 7-0 after only 2:14 had expired on the clock.

Harrison was forced to punt after the ensuing kickoff, and Salem drove down for another score after a nine-play, 79-yard drive. Hewlett hit Hanschu with an eight-yard pass to make it 14-0.

After Hawk defensive tackle Bob McFadden recovered a Salem fumble, Harrison put together a 16-play, 68 yard drive capped by Dave Turnquist's two-yard plunge. Peter Lundberg's kick made it 14-7.

With only 27 seconds left in the half, Salem fullback Kris Kappler burst through the line for a 41-yard touchdown to make it 20-7. Kappler finished the day with 91 yards in nine carries.

Salem's Craig Stack returned the second half kickoff 52 yards down to the Harrison 28-yard line. Five plays later Hewlett raised the lead to 27-7 with a three-yard run around right end.

Edsel Ford rips Canton

By DENNIS O'CONNOR

Dearborn Edsel Ford made the most of its first-ever football meeting against Plymouth Canton closing the season with a sound 22-0 triumph over the Chiefs Friday night at the Centennial Park.

And the spread may have been worse if it wasn't for the sloppy play and numerous mistakes by the overpowering Thunderbirds.

Canton head coach Dave Schuele had nothing but praise for the Edsel Ford squad which handed his Chiefs their fifth defeat of the nine-game schedule.

"They're (Edsel Ford) just a big, strong, mobile outfit," the Canton mentor said. "They did a great job. We never had the ball.

"I thought our kids went out and hit them but we gave them one touchdown."

The statistics reflected Edsel Ford's dominance more than the final outcome. In all, the Chiefs finished with 46 yards total offense on 32 plays from scrimmage. They recorded only three first downs, two of which came from Edsel Ford penalties. Canton totaled only 12 yards rushing through the first three quarters.

Individually, the story repeated itself. Rusty Mandle, the Canton quarterback-halfback who went into the final game with 1,061 total yards rushing, was held to a negative five yards on the ground on only five rushes against the stubbord Thunderbird defense.

Edsel Ford, on the other hand, controlled the ball most of the game, totalling 274 rushing and another 52 in the air. Had it not been for its 120 yards in penalties and three pass interceptions, Edsel Ford might have made a laugher of things.

With this victory, the Thunderbirds, fourth-place finishers in the Suburban Eight League, finish with a 6-3 overall record. Canton's 4-5 closing mark, the best ever in the school's short history, was coupled with a fifth-place finish in the Western Six League.

Chief cagers chip Churchill

By SCOTT ADLER

The Plymouth Canton girls' basketball team remained undefeated in the Western Six League play last Thursday with a sloppy but overwhelming victory over Livonia Churchill, 49-23 at Churchill.

The Chiefs have a history of playing very poorly at the Chargers home gym, yet, ironically, Canton has bested Churchill the past five straight years.

Canton Coach Mike McCauley instead of taking the buses to this away game, as has always been the case, McCauley brought his team over in cars for a change of pace. "It was the difference in the game," quipped McCauley whose Chiefs are on top of the Western Six race with a flawless 7-0 record and a 13-2 overall.

The Chiefs led midway into the first quarter, 7-3, when they went into their patented four-corner offense, which did paid off as it has in the past. After one period of play the Chiefs found themselves up 13-3.

The Chiefs' overall quickness on defense was evident and after the first half of play Canton was on top 23-9.

The Chiefs' lead could have been nearly twice what it was if it were not for their sloppy passing and ballhandling.

McCauley said his team was in a totally different state of mind. The coach did not specify if it was because of taking the cars to the game or if it was one of his pre-game speeches.

In the third quarter the Chargers looked more like a passing football team than a basketball team with their fullcourt length passes that led to three fast break baskets. Churchill closed in on the Chiefs heading into the final stanza 31-15.

Finally in the final quarter the Chiefs were awakened by some unknown power that led to nine fourth quarter baskets and a total of 18 points to Churchill's mere eight.

Sophomore Jeanne Timlin period tossing in all 10 of her points. Tinlin followed Vicki Cavalaro in the scoring colmun for the Chiefs. Cavalaro, the quick little guard from Canton, tossed in a game-high 12 points.

As for the rebounding, senior co-captain Kelly Heaton was chairman of the boards with 12 total rebounds along with eight points.

Despite having well over 25 turnovers, the Chiefs accumulated 25 steals to almost even out the Chief-Charger turnover ratio.

McCauley's reason for going to the four-corner so soon was, "they (Churchill) i n't like to play man to man and with our quickness we wanted them to."

McCauley also was happy with his team's performance compared to the previous years at the Charger gym.

Don Albertson, the Churchill mentor was not pleased with his team's offensive showing. "We just didn't play very well at the offensive end of the floor."

In Thursday's junior varsity competetion, Pearlie Cunningham sister of the coach, Pat Cunningham, led her team to a 42-18 victory tossing in 11 points. Cindy Sochaki added seven points for the Chief's JVs. Their record now stands at 10-3

Salem tankers dunk Trenton

By M. DAVID CAMPBELL

The Plymouth Salem girls' swim team rebounded from the longest losing streak ever to drown the Trenton Trojans, 111-61. Since it was Salem's last home meet, the Rocks swam with much emotion.

Salem dominated the entire meet. The Rocks took first place in the 200-yard medley relay, as it set the pace for the remainder of the evening. The relay team consisted of senior Jill McAnn, junior Sharon Ross, and sophomores Karen Kohler and Sarah Stanwood.

Ross added two other firsts to her list—the 200-yard freestyle, in 2:10.2 and the 100-yard freestyle, in 1:03.3.

Behind Ross in the 200-yard freestyle was senior Kim Coates placind second, and Julie Cabados taking fourth. Their times were 2:15.6 and 2:32.5, respectively.

As usual, Stanwood swept the 200-IM in 2:29.9. Co-Captain Laura Perpich placed third, 2:39.9. To finish her last home meet, McCann placed first in all of her events. She clocked :27.3 in the 50-yard freestyle and 1:06.8 in the 100-yard backstroke.

Natilie McClumpha dove for 195.2, good enough for second place. Teammate Patty Larson placed third with 170.55. Salem flew through the 100-yard butterfly, taking first, second and fourth. Stanwood took first with a 1:05.4. Sue Evans took second, 1:14.3, and Linda Wochna placed fourth, clocking 1:21.8.

Seniors Coates,and Co-captain Sue Sparling took first and second in the 50-yard freestyle—Coates with a 6:09.1, and Sparling with a 6:34.5.

To close the meet, head coach Chuck Olson compiled a relay team of seniors. They were Sparling, Coates, Perpich and Linda Frazee. They placed first with a 4:24.0. But the thing that surprised Olson as well as the rest of the team, was the last relay team, which placed third with 4:48.5. The team consisting of Kari Oswell, Tery Eudy, Dawn Cummings and Sandy Belanger pulled the surprise.

" We swam much better than we have been," Olson said. "Trenton didn't swim bad, but we put it to them, like the other teams have been putting it to us."

Jill McCann was a double-winner Thursday night against Trenton, as the Rocks dunked the Trojans in their last home meet of the season. (Staff photo)

Jan's Jocks triumph

Jan's Jocks, the girls' 14-years-and-under Plymouth representative from the Western Suburban Soccer League, recently won the league championship with a solid 4-2 victory over Farmington.

Plymouth, coached by Jan Ruggiero, blew an early 2-0 lead in the first half of the championship game. Farmington tied the score at 2-2 before Plymouth came back with two second-half goals to close out the victory.

Beth Delbelke scored what turned out to be the winning goal of the finale Reggie Ruggiero, the Jocks' leading scorer this season, helped the winning cause with two goals. She scored 16 for the season. Diana Giummi, the squad's second-best scorer, also netted a goal in the championship game.

For the season, the Jocks finished with an impressive 6-1 overall record. They scored 26 goals in all while their opponents tallied only six.

Snowmobile classes offered

All youngsters, ages 12 to 16, from the Livonia, Plymouth, Canton areas, will have an opportunity to participate in a Snowmobile Safety Training Class on Nov. 6, 8, 13, and 14.

This class, co-sponsored by the Livonia and Plymouth-Canton Community Education Departments, will meet from 7-9 p.m. in the cafeteria at Livonia Churchill High School, 8985 Newburgh Rd. (between Ann Arbor Trail and Joy Rd.) You may register at the first meeting tonight. Fee is $3 per person.

According to officer Gerald Boyne, the instructor from the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, the State of Michigan requires that all youngsters aged 12 to 16, operating a snowmobile possess a snowmobile safety training certificate. This certificate can only be acquired after successfully completing the State prescribed snowmobile safety class. Each student must attend all four class sessions.

For further information call the Plymouth-Canton Community Education office at 459-1180 or in Livonia at 422-1200.

Symonds disagrees with Doc

Sports Editor:

Our neither "good" nor "humble" Doctor of "Doc's Corner" offered, on Oct. 23 in his column titled "Suggestions from the sports Editor" (subtitled "Humble Suggestions"), his solutions to several of our local sports problems.

He suggests we move our winter sports starting times to accommodate the Detroit area press.

This may be well for them, but it represents a genuine problem for the parents and followers of these young athletes who must travel from jobs throughout the metro area, to home for nourishment, to sport.

Neither football nor basketball schedule starting times to improve their image with the worthy few in the Detroit area press.

On our second subject, scheduling between the Plymouth schools, if our fair Doctor had availed himself of common knowledge, he would understand that high school varsity sports are scheduled years in advance. Suggesting that changes be made this year, or next, is uninformed and naive.

On his third subject, if the "poor people" who work the press box can't bring a thermos full of coffee, like the genuine "poo' foke" do, shame on ya!

Baseball meets

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night starting at 7:30 p.m. in Room 128 of Plymouth Canton High School.

This organization is now under a new administration after the election of Jim Schols as president. However, even though a few new faces are participating, the junior baseball league is in need of more helpers and volunteers to help prepare for the upcoming summer season.

This meeting will include preparation for March registration, scheduling of baseball dimonds for games and practices, and other important baseball business.

Any parent or adult volunteer interested in participating in this meeting and helping the league continue to function should come and get involved in Wednesday's activities.

Open facilities on Sunday

There is Sunday afternoon fun for everyone at Plymouth Canton High School where open pool and open gymnasium programs have begun.

The gymnasium is open 1-3 p.m. for all high school students and adults. Families, middle school students and other youngsters can use the facility 3-4:30 p.m.

The pool is open to all persons 3-4 p.m., while family swimming hours are 4-5 p.m.

The fee for both activities are 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for students and $1.50 for an entire family.

Plymouth Canton High School is located on Canton Center Road south of Joy Road. Both facilities are located in the Phase III portion of the school.

NOVEMBER, 1978 LIVONIA-REDFORD-PLYMOUTH-NORTHVILLE

Milliken Endorses Senator Geake

Leadership, Experience Are Key Issues

Governor William G. Milliken has endorsed R. Robert Geake for re-election to the state senate in Michigan's 14th district. The district includes Livonia, Redford, Plymouth, Northville, and four precincts in Westland.

"Senator Geake has served the people of his district with dedication and integrity. He is the kind of man that Michigan needs in the State Senate," Milliken said in his endorsement of Geake.

"I look forward to continuing to work with Bob in the State Senate. He has the foresight and leadership that we need in state government," Milliken added.

Geake's lesiglative experience and leadership ability have won endorsements from a number of individuals and community organizations. As noted in a recent letter to Geake from Governor Milliken, Geake is also held in high esteem by his fellow senators.

When Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis stepped down late in August in order to devote more time to his congressional campaign, State Senator Robert VanderLaan (R-Kentwood), the Republican leader with the most seniority, was elected as the new Senate Minority Leader.

Then, in a move which surprised many observers, Geake's colleagues elected him to serve as Assistant Minority Leader. The choice of Geake was especially noteworthy because Geake is the newest and the youngest member of the caucus.

Geake is a relatively low key legislator who seldom goes out of his way to attract attention to himself. He is known as a hard worker and persistent negotiator whose leadership, up to that point, had largely been exerted behind the scenes.

"I have served as a mediator between the more conservative and the more moderate members of the Senate Republican Caucus," Geake stated. "This was primarily one of the reasons why I was elected to this important leadership position."

Governor William Milliken, in a letter to Geake said, "I was pleased to learn of your election as assistant Republican leader in the Senate.

"I believe this is an indication of the high esteem in which you are held by your fellow Senators. Based on my experience in working with you over the past seven years and observing your performance as an accomplished and respected lawmaker, I feel the caucus made a wise choice.

"You have been a responsible voice in the Legislature and I look forward to working with you in the future.

"Warm personal regards.

Sincerely,
Bill Milliken
Governor

William McLaughlin, Chairman of the Michigan Republican State Committee, commented:

"I was pleased to learn of the election of Senator Bob Geake as Assistant Republican Leader. Bob has been an extremely effective legislator. He will be an outstanding voice for the Republican Party in this new leadership role."

With the forthcoming retirement of Senators Joseph Snyder and John Otterbacher, Geake is viewed as the Senate's leading authority on mental health-related programs and issues in the new Senate which will convene in January.

Among my priorities for the fall session are dealing with the problems of public transportation, improving the job climate in Michigan and providing more adequate financing of mental health programs and public education," Geake reported. "In addition, I have always been a strong supporter of welfare reform, environmental protection, and reform of the no-fault insurance law."

"I intend to continue to serve in a positive and unifying role in an effort to make the Senate Republican Caucus a more viable and effective force in state government," Geake emphasized.

Geake, 41, served in the Michigan House of Representatives from 1973 to March, 1977, when he was elected by special election to the State Senate. He currently serves as a member of the Committees on Health, Social Services, and Retirement, Education, Energy and Senate Business.

Milliken and Geake together exchanging views. The Governor and Senator Geake agree that, in each of their campaigns, "the issue is leadership".

Headlee Proposal Supported

Back in 1974 State Senator Bob Geake was one of the founding members of Taxpayers United, a group of citizens from throughout the state determined to work together to bring the state's mushrooming beauracracy under control by limiting the spending and the taxes which feed it. In 1977 Senator Geake became one of the charter members of the organization's Legislator's Advisory Committee to support the Tax Limitation petition drive. The drive made history this summer by collecting enough signatures to place Michigan's first comprehensive tax limitation proposal on the ballot. The sudden popularity of tax limitation among the citizens has caused many politicians and government officials to join this cause for which Senator Geake has provided leadership from the very beginning.

Crackdown on Crime Demanded

Recognizing that crime has become one of our state's most crucial problems, State Senator Bob Geake has called upon fellow legislators to enact stiff crime control measures.

"In conversations with citizens throughout the communities in my district, crime was repeatedly brought up as a severe problem which demands the prompt attention of the Legislature," Geake noted.

Geake is a six year veteran of the State Legislature and a resident of Northville.

"The people of our state, the people who live in suburban and rural areas as well as the inner-cities, have been forced to cope with crime on nearly a daily basis," Geake pointed out. "It has come to where those who willingly obey the law must adjust their lifestyles to avoid contact with those who just as willingly disregard the law."

Geake said he favors stricter sentencing procedures designed to assure would-be criminals that their illegal actions will not go unpunished.

"We need to enact laws which let criminals know that if they break the law, they are going to spend time behind bars where they belong and not be allowed to prey upon our law-abiding citizens any longer," Geake said. "The chances are simply too great now that criminals can get by with just a reprimand and they know it."

"The mandatory sentencing laws we passed last year which guarantee a two-year prison term for any felony involving the use of a gun was a step in the right direction," he said. "It was just one of the many steps, however, that need to be taken."

"The citizens of our state have a right to safety and a right to expect their elected representatives to take the needed steps to assure their safety," Geake added.

KADISH SAYS YES TO GAS TAX HIKE

Paul Kadish, Democratic candidate for state senator, announced that he favors the 2 cent increase in the state gasoline tax and would have voted "Yes" had he been in the senate last month. Speaking at a candidate's debate before the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, Kadish cited the need for improved mass transit programs in the area.

The remark came in response to a question from the audience aimed at Kadish and his Republican opponent, Senator Robert Geake. Geake voted against the gas tax increase, as well as the thirty-three percent increase in license plate fees. Despite Senator Geake's "No" vote, however, the bills managed to clear the State Senate by a narrow margin.

"It is incomprehensible to me that, in light of the tax limitation movement in our state and nation, my opponent could be in favor of increasing fuel taxes and license plate fees at this time," Senator Geake asserted. "This just indicates to me that some candidates for public office are simply not in tune with what the people of Michigan really want."

Senator Geake has been a leading advocate of tax limitation since 1974 when he helped found Taxpayers United for Tax Limitation, the organization which circulated the petitions placing the Headlee Tax Limitation Proposal on the November ballot in Michigan. He presently serves on the organization's legislative advisory committee.

Senator Geake acknowledged that road improvements are needed on Michigan roads, but said that he could not, in good conscience, vote for new taxes to fund these improvements when his constituents clearly want tax decreases, not increases.

"My people come first," Senator Geake declared. "And, what they have been telling me all along is that they do not want any more taxes."

The bills which Senator Geake opposed and Mr. Kadish favored raise from 9 to 11 cents per gallon the state's gasoline tax and from 7 to 9 cents per gallon the diesel fuel tax, effective January 1st, and increase vehicle weight taxes by 30 to 35 percent, effective with purchase of 1979 License plates.

Eleven Proposals Face Voters Tuesday

When voters go to the polls November 7th, they will be asked not only to select those candidates they want to represent them, but also to decide the fate of 11 ballot proposals.

Since these proposals are of important consequence to public policy in our state, it is crucial that the voters decision to vote "yes" or "no" on each of them be based upon a thorough knowledge of their content and purpose. The eleven proposals are as follows:

A: CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

At Issue: Whether a constitutional convention should be called to draft a new State Constitution.

Explanation: Article XII, Section 3, of our current State Constitution, which was adopted by the electorate in 1963, requires this issue to be put to a vote of the people on the 1978 general election ballot and every 16 years thereafter. Thus, Proposal A was automatically guaranteed a spot on this November's ballot.

Impact: If Proposal A is approved by the voters, a special election must be held within six months to choose 148 delegates. The convention would begin in Lansing no later than October, 1979. When completed, the new Constitution would be submitted to the voters at least 90 days following adjournment of the convention.

B: RESTRICTED PAROLE

At Issue: Whether felons convicted of violent crimes should be forced to serve minimum sentences by the courts.

Explanation: Proposal B would amend state law to require felons convicted of crimes of violence in Michigan to serve at least their minimum sentences before they could become eligible for parole. Crimes of violence would include murder, armed robbery, rape, kidnapping, or any other serious felony where a citizen is injured or the potential for injury existed.

Under current state law, persons convicted of violent criminal activity are given both a minimum and maximum sentence. Minimum sentences may be reduced at the discretion of the parole board, however, based on a formula which allows "time off for good behavior."

Impact: Voter approval of Proposal B would result in the elimination of early parole for those convicted of violent criminal activities. An affirmative vote on this parole proposition would also likely result in the need for additional prison space to house those felons convicted of serious crimes. This law would take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote.

C: INVESTMENT OF PUBLIC FUNDS

At Issue: Whether the state should be allowed to invest and deposit public funds in any type of state or federally chartered financial institution.

Explanation: Proposal C would amend the State Constitution to permit the investment and deposit of public funds, other than retirement or endowment monies, in state or federally chartered banks, savings and loan institutions, or credit unions. The Constitution currently limits such investments and deposits solely to banks.

Impact: If approved, Proposal C would allow, but not mandate, the Service Major Issue in Campaign

State Senator Bob Geake views serving those he represents as the major focus of his job and intends to continue working diligently at fulfilling that role when re-elected to the State Senate.

Geake is a six year veteran of the State Legislature and candidate for re-election to the 14th Senatorial District.

"Since first elected to the Legislature in 1973, I have responded promptly to requests from my constitutents for assistance in cutting bureaucratic red tape," he said. "I see this as one of my primary functions and hope to be able to expand my services even further in the coming term."

Among the services Geake has provided are assistance in filling out complicated tax forms and obtaining tax rebates, particularly for senior citizens, and intervening with state departments on behalf of constituents.

"State government is viewed by most people, and rightly so, as a maze of departments, bureaus and divisions," he noted. "Quite often, our citizens just don't know where to turn for help. That is where I believe I should come in and clear the way to a solution."

Geake has also helped constituents straighten out problems involving undeserved points appearing on their driving records and resolved disputes with insurance companies through the State Insurance Bureau.

"It is often much simpler for me to make a phone call to the appropriate department, which I am always willing to do, than it is for the citizen to attempt to find the right person to talk to," he pointed out.

"I have also responded promptly to request for copies of bills under consideration by the legislature and notified constituents of important meetings where I know their input would be valuable," he said.

"The door to my office always has been open and I intend to continue my efforts to help those I serve cope with state governmental problems," he said.

Geake Supports Senior Citizens

State Senator Bob Geake today called upon the Michigan Legislature to take an active role in assuring senior citizen's independence, dignity and the opportunity for continued useful participation in society.

"I believe state government has a responsibility to ease the adjustment of retirement and encourage maintenance of a productive life for senior citizens in Michigan," Geake said.

"Specifically, I favor measures which would provide greater property tax relief and improved health and recreation facilities for senior citizens," he said.

"I also believe we should put an end to age discrimination in employment and to compulsory retirement based on age," he said. "People over 65 still have a great deal to contribute to society and should not be prohibited from this opportunity."

Geake also noted the need for more adequate state contributions to the cost of nursing home care to ensure that the level of care provided is of the highest quality.

"The Legislature must take steps to guarantee senior citizens who live in nursing homes, and those who live at home, adequate health care services and safe living conditions," he said.

"I also support legislation to reduce the impact of increasing utility rates on senior citizens, most of whom must live on very limited and fixed incomes," Geake stated. "We are dangerously close to the point where many senior citizens will be unable to afford the basic services of heat, light, and telephones."

"Senior citizens comprise more than 12 percent of our state's population," he noted. "Their needs and problems are unique and demand prompt legislative attention."

Chamber Endorses 3 Incumbents

The Livonia Chamber Political Action Committee has endorsed three incumbents running for the state senate and House of Representatives seats in the Nov. 7 election.

Getting the endorsements are State Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville), State Rep. Robert Law (R-Livonia) and State Rep. Jack Kirksey (R-Livonia).

The PAC interviewed Paul Kadish, Livonia Democrat opposing Geake, and Joseph Horvath Jr., Livonia Democrat running against Kirksey. Absent from the interviews was Roger Gwizdala, Law's Democratic foe.

The committee said it endorsed Geake, seeking his first full four-year term, because it felt he had a better understanding of the problems facing businesses and his voting record reflecting that position.

The PAC also said it expects Geake to be "a more effective leader" in his second term, if re-elected.

The committee said Kadish is a "sound candidate and has good credentials but it was felt that Geake's voting record on behalf of the community, especially the business community, was favorable."

On the house races, the committee said Kirksey, seeking his first full two-year term, has experience to make him a more effective representative of his district and that he "has a better feel for the tax problems and related economic problems of businessmen and women."

Law was endorsed by the chamber group and said he has had "an outstanding" first term.

investment and deposit of public funds in any type of state or federally chartered financial institution, effective 45 days after the election.

D: THE LEGAL DRINKING AGE

At Issue: Whether the minimum legal age to consume alcoholic beverages in Michigan should be raised from 18 to 21.

Explanation: Proposal D would amend the State Constitution to prohibit anyone below the age of 21 from purchasing, possessing, or consuming alcoholic beverages. It would further make it illegal for anyone to sell or give alcoholic beverages to any person who has not yet turned 21.

Michigan's legal drinking age has been 18 since 1972, the year the Legislature approved the comprehensive Age of Majority Law which granted 18-year-olds the full rights and responsibilities of adults. The legal drinking age is scheduled to go up to 19, however, effective December 3rd, as a result of legislative passage of a two-bill package earlier this year.

Impact: One way or the other, Michigan's legal drinking will go up by the end of this year. If Proposal D is approved, the move to 21 would supercede the law raising the drinking age to 19. Thus, effective 45 days after the election, no one under the age of 21 would be able to buy, possess or consume alcoholic beverages in Michigan.

E: THE HEADLEE PROPOSAL

At Issue: Whether state revenues and expenditures should be limited.

Explanation: Proposal E would limit state taxes (and thus, spending), excluding federal aid, to the current ratio of total state personal income (approximately 9.4 percent). It would further limit the taxing powers of local units of government by requiring that all new requests for taxes be submitted to the voters for approval. In addition, it would require the state to back up with financial support any state-mandated programs.

Currently, our State Constitution prohibits deficit spending, thus limiting expenditures to the total amount of revenue generated by various state taxes. It contains no link, however, between the personal income of Michigan residents and the state's capability for generating revenue.

Pros and Cons: Those advocating passage of Proposal E believe it represents a sound and logical approach to halting the rapid growth in state expenditures which has far outpaced national income. It is further pointed out that the proposal would allow the overall state budget to grow in line with available revenues, safeguard the right of local communities to determine their own spending priorities, and give the voters control over new taxes.

Foes of Proposal E, on the other hand, argue that its passage would restrict the state from providing adequate levels of service and hinder the state's ability to deal with crises. Moreover, some feel the proposal could handicap downtown business development and restrict the ability of local governments to undertake capital construction projects.

Impact: If approved by the voters, this fall, Proposal E would establish a constitutional ratio between personal income and taxes in Michigan. The Legislature would be required to allocate expenditures within a limited income and, therefore, determine priority needs and fund them accordingly. The proposal would take effect in the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1979.

G:STATE POLICE COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

At Issue: Whether State Police troopers should be granted the right to bargain collectively.

Explanation: This proposal would amend the State Constitution by giving troopers and sergeants collective bargaining rights on compensation, hours, working conditions, retirement, pension, and all other aspects of employment, except promotions and performance. It would further require compulsory arbitration of any disputes not resolved within 30 days after collective bargaining begins. The State Constitution currently prohibits collective bargaining for all state employees and gives the State Civil Service Commission the authority to set conditions of employment.

Impact: Passage of Proposal G would result in troopers and sergeants being allowed to bargain collectively and resort to compulsory arbitration, if necessary.

H: THE VOUCHER PLAN

At Issue: Whether public education funds should go directly to parents for the purpose of enrolling their children in the public, private or parochial school of their choice.

Explanation: Proposal H, known as the Voucher Plan, would dramatically change the present system of funding education in Michigan via an amendment to our State Constitution. This plan would give parents a voucher which could be used to pay for their children's enrollment at either a public, private or parochial school anywhere in the state. Property taxes as a means of financing schools would be eliminated. It is not specified in the Proposal exactly how this lost revenue would be replaced, but it is likely that the Legislature would act to raise the state personal income tax, perhaps by about 2.5 percent, and increase the Single Business Tax as well.

Pros and Cons: Backer of Proposal H view the voucher plans as a preferable means of funding education because they believe it would create competition among schools. They also advocate shifting away from the property tax to support schools.

Those in opposition to this proposal, on the other hand, argue that it poses a serious threat to the structure of public education as we know it in our state today. They believe it would undermine both public and nonpublic education. Local control over education would be eliminated with the advent of total state funding of schools, it is alleged, and the traditional independence of nonpublic education would be lost.

Impact: Implementation of the voucher plan would guarantee parents a minimum amount of educational funding in the form of vouchers which could be "cashed in" at the public or nonpublic school of their choice. In addition, the Legislature would likely be required to increase both the personal state income tax and business taxes to compensate for the loss of revenue resulting from elimination of the school-funding portion of property taxes.

J: THE TISCH PROPOSAL

At Issue: Whether the ceiling on the state equalized value of property, which is the base of the property tax, should be reduced from 50 to 25 percent.

Explanation: The Tisch Proposal would amend the State Constitution by reducing the present constitutional ceiling on property tax assessments from 50 to 25 percent of true cash value. It would further limit annual property tax increases to 2.5 percent, impose a 5.6 percent ceiling on the state income tax rate, and permit the Legislature to authorize school districts to impose up to a one percent income tax with approval of the voters. It would also require the state to back up with financial support all state-mandated new or expanded activities or expenditures.

Carol Geake Has Her Own Career

Carol Geake, wife of State Senator Bob Geake, always wanted to be a veterinarian. Finally, after three years of marriage, the couple decided the time was right. Carol then began the arduous course at Michigan State University, commuting daily up the I-96 expressway through all kinds of weather and road conditions for nearly three years.

A native of Grand Rapids, Carol had previously earned Bachelor's and Master's degrees at the University of Michigan where the couple met.

Completing her Doctorate in Veterinary Medicine in 1969, she began practice with the respected Plymouth veterinarian Dr. Marion Weberlein. When Dr. Weberlein retired in 1971, Carol began her own practice. Known primarily for her work as a 4-H leader and her interest in veterinary medicine of horses, her practice included much small animal work from the beginning.

As her reputation grew so did her practice and she found herself with more patients than she could serve. Reluctantly, she gave up the treatment of horses and now specializes in small animals.

Although busy in her own career, Dr. Carol Geake finds time to help actively in Bob's campaign for re-election to the State Senate and to be a homemaker and mother to their children Roger, Tammy and Billy.

T-Birds dominate Canton

to open the game, Edsel Ford scored on its second possession with an eight play, 78-yard drive—all on the ground.

Jamie Bedenis, Ford's senior tri-captain quarterback, rolled around right end on an option play for the score. The eight-yard run was capped by Jim Borkowski's extra-point kick, giving the T-Birds a 7-0 lead with 1:36 left in the initial quarter.

Canton was stopped in three plays on its next possession. The Chiefs then faked a punt but kicker Steve Eddy's pass to Mandle was incomplete giving Edsel the ball on Canton's 35-yard line.

Eight plays later, the Thunderbirds reached the goal line, this time on a six-yard pass from Bedenis to Mark Bruce. The Thunderbirds made it 15-0 with a fake extra-point pass from Bedenis to Ron Rossevelt in the right flat.

Edsel Ford moved within the Canton 22-yard line on its next possession, but defensive halfback Steve Gray's interception—his first of two on the night—stopped the threat and kept the score 15-0 at halftime.

The Thunderbirds continued to put the pressure on Canton in the second half, advancing within the Chiefs' 35-yard line on four different occasions. They failed to score on every attempt, however, as two interceptions, one by Mike Pathe and the other by Gray, plus an outstanding Chiefs goal line stand stymied all the offensive threats.

Edsel Ford scored its final touchdown thanks to an interception late in the fourth quarter. With Canton's Scott Dawson quarterbacking, the Chiefs tried the famous trans-continental play where Dawson handed off to halfback Mandle who rolled to the right and turned back to throw a pass back to Dawson. Edsel Ford's Bruce Nabozny was in perfect position to pick off the pass, however, and raced 35-yards down the sidelines and into the end zone for the final score of the night.

Canton was originally scheduled to play Dearborn High in this final game. Because of Dearborn Public School's late millage approval, however, scheduling changes were made to give all the Dearborn schools a nine-game schedule, bringing Edsel Ford to the Centennial Park.

3 Chiefs get Western-6 nod

Western Six League football champion Livonia Churchill landed six players on offense and three more on defense to dominate the all-league selections recently chosen by the coaches.

All 23 members of the all-star squad were seniors.

Churchill won the title with a 5-0 record, followed by Farmington Harrison in second at 4-1. Northville finished third with a 3-2 mark, Walled Lake Western fourth at 2-3, Plymouth Canton fifth at 1-4, and Waterford Mott last at 0-5.

Harrison landed only one player on offense but three more on defense. Northville placed two representatives on both the offensive and defensive squads. Western got one player on defense and two on offense, while Canton placed two on defense and one on offense.

Mott did not get a player on either the offensive or defensive teams.

The left side of Churchill's interior line received high praise from the coaches, as offensive guard Mark Przybylski and tackle Paul Neville were selected. The Chargers' center Glen Cohoon also got a first-team nod.

Churchill quarterback Rich Coppola, end Steve Zaborowski and star running back Doran Mason were other Charger offensive selections.

Defensive end Jon Buerk, linebacker Tory English and defensive back Dave Krick were the three Churchill picks for the defensive team.

Harrison's flanker back Jon Brancheau was the lone Hawk offensive selection. End Rick Tobin and tackles Ted Timmis and Mark Heppard were the defensive choices for Harrison.

Canton's all-time leading rusher Rusty Mandle was the Chiefs' only pick on offense, while linebacker Dave Tanner and defensive back Jay McKinley were selected on the defensive squad.

Honorable mention all-league players included:

Churchill—Austin Ryan, Don Schwarz, Jeff McCarthy, Bill Olive, Bill Rindle, Mark Leidholdt, Larry LaCarter, Brad Foreman and Ken Katschor.

Harrison—Kurt Stearns, Dave Turnquist, Craig Purcell, Mike Twigg, Jim Miller, Drew Norton and Mike Miller.

Churchill heads for playoffs

By DOUG FUNKE

On to the Class A state football playoffs!

Livonia Churchill, a small-sized, senior-dominated aggregation, pulverized Livonia Stevenson, 32-0, Friday to earn its ninth consecutive victory of the season and one of eight berths in the playoffs.

The Chargers will play a quarterfinal game either Friday or Saturday at Berkley High School.

Churchill ground out long touchdown drives during its first three possessions to demonstrate to the highly-partisan home crowd in the packed stands that it was not to be denied.

Rick Coppola, a senior quarterback, engineered successive drives of 74, 85 and 91 yards and carried the ball a good chunk of that yardage himself.

Stevenson, which also had an outside chance for a playoff berth if it could have produced a victory, keyed its defense on Doran Mason, the Chargers' hard-running tailback.

With Mason well-covered, Coppola kept the ball around the ends and sometimes inside for gains up to 22, 23, 25 and 15 yards. He finished with 111 yards on 15 rushes.

Churchill took the opening kickoff and drove 74 yards in nine plays. Coppola capped the series with a three-yard touchdown burst around right end. He then kicked the extra point.

After a Stevenson punt, the Chargers took over at their 15 yard line and proceeded to cover 85 yards in 10 plays.

Mason took a pitch from Coppola and scampered nine yards around left end for the score. The try for two points, with just under two minutes remaining in the first quarter, failed.

Churchill used a fake field goal to score its third touchdown with a 91-yard march in the second quarter.

On a fourth-down play at the Spartans' seven, Coppola, lined up as the placekicker, took a direct center snap, rolled right, then threw a pass to Austin Ryan, who made a diving catch in the endzone.

The extra-point kick was low.

The Chargers advanced the ball 52 yards in 10 plays to score their fourth touchdown of the night at 11:43 of the third quarter.

Mason dove over right guard from one yard out for the TD. Coppola's extra-point kick went wide.

Churchill scored the final points of the contest at 5:21 of the fourth quarter on a 35-yard pass from Coppola to Mark Leidholdt.

The score came on a fourth-and-five situation. Coppola's PAT kick sealed the victory.

Stevenson's only scoring threat came during its final drive, but it lost the ball on downs with seven seconds remaining.

"This is a very balanced football team," said Churchill coach Ken Kaestner. "In the finest sense of the word, this is a team. I'm prejudiced as hell, but they're neat.

"I can't say enough about these seniors. There may be better teams in the state but not better people. These are super, super young guys."

Stevenson coach Jack Reardon confirmed that it was his strategy to key on Mason. "I thought we would rather have him (Coppola) handle the ball," he said, apparently second-guessing that decision.

"I thought we were ready," he added. "We just couldn't generate anything."

Mason ran for 124 yards in 19 carries and Jeff McCarthy collected 54 yards on 12 rushes.

Churchill had an overwhelming statistical advantage. The Chargers totalled 383 yards—306 on the ground and 77 through the air. Unofficially, Stevenson netted just over 100 yards.

The shutout was the Chargers' third in a row. The victory margin was the largest in the series between the two rivals.

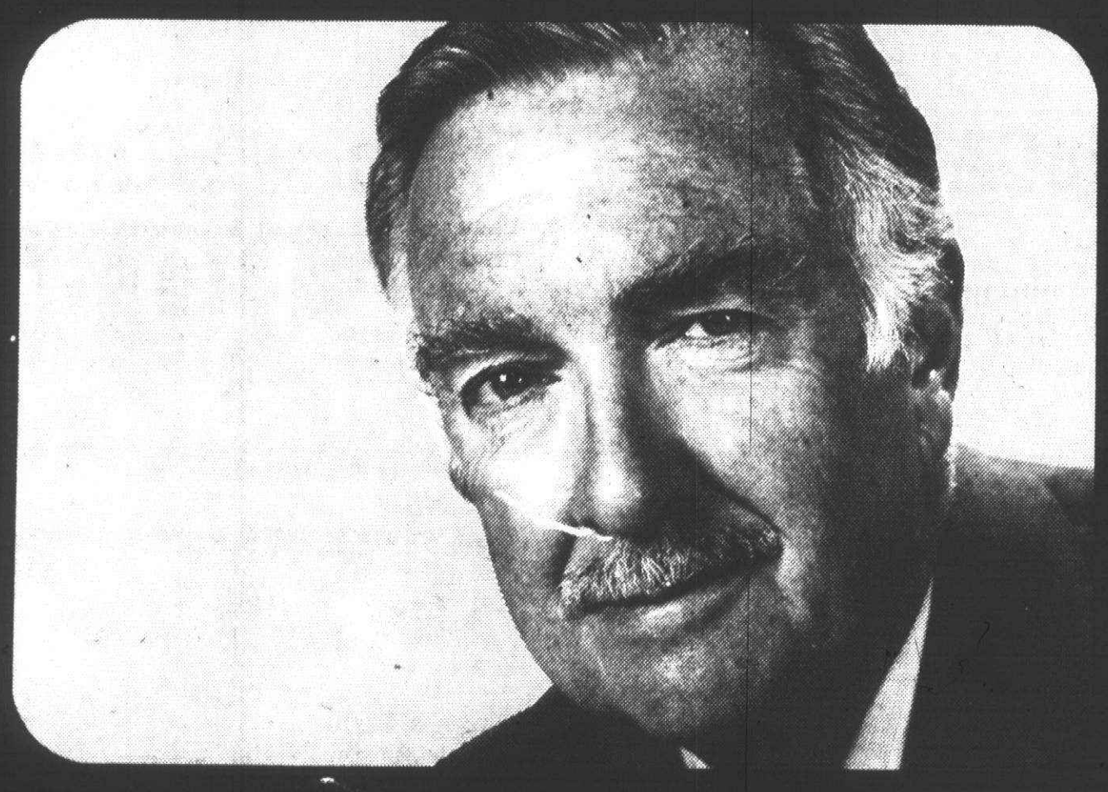
ELECTION '78

Cronkite, Glover, Payne, and Greene together with TV2's Award-Winning Eyewitness News Team.



Elections are more than numbers. Elections are people. During Election '78, TV2 with CBS will reflect all of the people involved at all levels of the election directly to you. Wherever they are and whatever they're thinking. Award-winning eyewitness reporters will cover key candidates and controversial propositions. An expert will make early predictions. This election experience is the same award-winning eyewitness coverage that you've come to expect from TV2 in the last 30 years . . .

1948

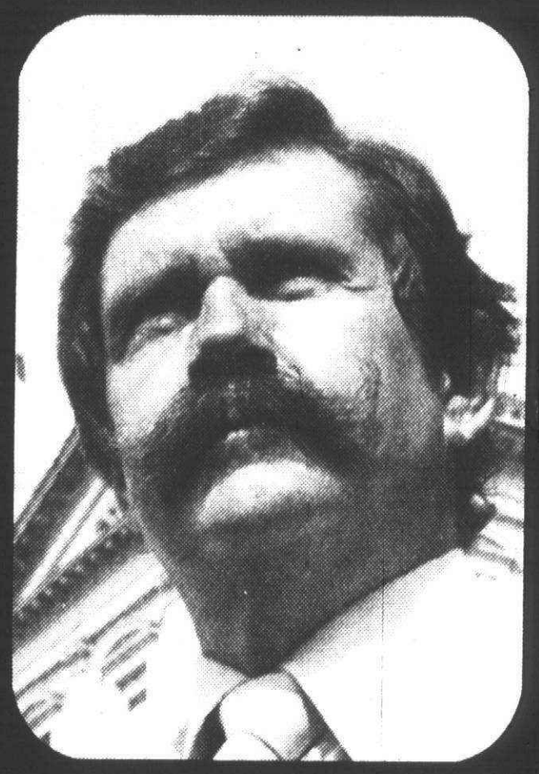
On Labor Day Harry Truman had kicked off his campaign for re-election in front of 500,000 Detroiters.

Now, November 2, 1948, WJBK-TV2 broadcasts "Election Night House Party" from the editorial rooms of the Detroit Times.

Brought to you by the Hudson Motor Car Company, top-notch modern technology includes film chains and slide projectors. So few people own televisions, that there is little advance advertising about the big event. The one other Detroit television station does not cover the election.

Candidates, campaign strategists, and Times political reporters comment on the election returns. An election truly becomes people, not just numbers, for the first time.

It was the first of many TV2 eyewitness election coverage "firsts" to follow. A lot has changed since the first TV2 test patterns flickered onto the air that same year Harry Truman was giving 'em hell. No one then could have predicted what we've seen together since . . .



Begins 7PM Tonight.

The Stroller

Watch the spenders

By W.W. EDGAR

For the first time in his life, The Stroller has developed an urge to launch a crusade.

Born and raised a "Blue Stocking" Presbyterian who was taught that if you live to drown you'll never be hanged, he always has taken things as they come—one day at a time—and has never raised a fuss.

But events of the last few days have caused him to weaken a bit and it all came about because of the outlandishly lengthy ballots that will confront the voters on election day.

For one reason or another the Stroller and his helpmate are granted the courtesy of using "absentee" ballots. They save us a trip to the polls and the possibility of standing for long stretches in the line waiting to get a chance to go behind the curtain and pull the levers for our choices.

Election after election came and we used to sit at the kitchen table and smile at the ease with which we performed our duties as good citizens.

This year, however, when the ballots reached our home, there was a great change. Instead of a single sheet containing the ballot three sheets fell from the envelope for each of us. It seemed that the kitchen table was filled with them.

Then, for the greater part of an hour, we studied the proposals . We not only studied them, but we discussed them, and then voted.

"This is an outrage," we said to each other."Three ballots for each of us and the better part of an hour in study before we can vote."

For a time we laughed it off, thinking that maybe we were getting a bit touchy as the years rolled on. But The Stroller soon found out that we were not alone in our thinking.

An elderly gent in the adjoining booth at lunch the next day let the other diners know that he was mad about the same thing—the lengthy ballot.

"Worked at it for almost an hour" he said. "So how do they expect the voters who go behind the curtains to read all those amendments in three minutes? They just won't be able to do it. Then what happens? They'll either be told to hurry up or the lines will be voting for hours after the polls close."

After taking a breath he continued, "Don't forget, the law says that anybody in line at closing time must be given the right to vote. If the voters take the time to study behind the curtain the polls may not close for hours. There should be a limit to those amendments."

To quiet the old gent, The Stroller pointed out that these amendments are giving the voters the right to select which laws they want, to which the complaining senior citizen broke in, "What are those fellows in Lansing getting paid for? They're supposed to make the laws."

It didn't help when The Stroller pointed out it was Abraham Lincoln who, in his Gettysburg address, said, "This nation, of the people, by the people and for the people shall long endure."

"Okay," the old gent said, "But let them cut down on the amendments and those long ballots. Better yet, why not have all the elections with absentee ballots. Then we could study them and take time to vote. And think of all the money that would be saved. We wouldn't have to have those costly voting machines and all that help. Mailing us the ballots wouldn't cost near as much."

PACTS's recruiting

Residents are being recruited to serve on an advisory panel of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The advisory group is PACTS—parents, administrators, citizens, teachers and students from each school's attendance area.

The individual PACTS groups meets once a month at the building level to identify and discuss major issues of concern to them and the school district.

The views are heard at the district level through a representative sent to the district PACTS committee meetings.

The next PACTS meeting will be from 7:30-9:30 p.m. in the cafetorium of Pioneer Middle School.

The agenda includes: a brief preview of PACTS 1977-78; introduction of a critical issues survey; a small group discussion to generate questions about the critical issues facing Plymouth-Canton Schools; a board member or central administrator answering questions; and a prioritizing of the issues.

Anyone interested in becoming a citizen representative on PACTS may call Susan Wisniewski at 495-0392.

Plan careers, say advisors

All juniors and seniors at Centennial Educational Park will have an opportunity to plan their careers at 8:30 a.m. Dec. 9 in the Plymouth-Canton High cafeteria.

The A.C.T. Career Planning program is designed to help young adults make better decisions about their educational and career plans, counselors agree.

National studies reflect that 11th grade students rank "help with career planning" as their most important need, said Diane Pomish, Salem High counselor. Yet, in many school settings, this need is not being addressed.

It is in response to the need that the career counselors at the high schools instituted this opportunity to participate in the program.

Students will utilize the program's "assessment instrument" which measures the students' career-related interests, experiences, abilities and plans. The information is developed into a report for each student to help them relate the data about themselves to career options and the world of work.

The Career Planning program is a first step, or foundation, for the start of each student's career journey, Ms. Pomish said.

Most importantly, it will give students a good foundation for talking over career plans with parents, teachers and counselors.

Registration is with Ms. Pomish at Plymouth-Salem, and with counselor Don Chumbley at Canton High. Cost is $4, payable by check or money order and made out to the appropriate school.

KNOCKS AND PINGS

Two horribly annoying reasons to introduce Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline.

A car should be seen and not heard.

That's why we're introducing new Mobil Super Unleaded Gasoline with a higher octane level.

Not only does it help knock the knocks and pings out of your engine, it could also give your car more power than most other gasolines. (In fact, millions of cars on the road today are being cheated of peak engine performance.)

And what's more, if your car is properly tuned, and still shakes, sputters and backfires after you turn the key off, using Mobil Super Unleaded may help eliminate all that. And that's whether your car is new or old.

And even if you've been using leaded premium gasoline you'll be glad to know that Mobil Super Unleaded's high octane level is high enough to meet anti-knock requirements of most cars today.

Mobil Super Unleaded. Because when you're driving, one of the nicest sounds in the world is the sound of absolutely nothing.

One dark evening as you're driving along at a "fast rate of speed" you see the flashing colored lights of a police car and decide to pull over. The car seems to have come out of the blue.

An officer approaches your window and says, "Good evening, I understand you're driving a 'hot car' and you're wanted for murder in 15 states." He then begins to state your past criminal record, down to every citation.

You marvel at how he got all that information so quickly.

A police officer has always been able to dig up such information, but it usually takes time. In some cases, a suspect, stopped for a minor traffic violation, is not discovered for a more serious offense until he is pulled into the station.

His identification is run through what is called a LEIN (Law Enforcement Information Network) machine based at the police station. His violation, come through on the machine's screen.

Today, there's a new advancement in computerized field communication that more and more police departments are eyeing. Technically, it's called a mobile data terminal and someday in the future every patrol car will have one.

Basically, it's a time saving device that would allow patrol officers to get information without having it channeled through a dispatch officer at the main police station.

PROPONENTS OF the device, slugged MODAT, say it will increase an officer's safety on the job, as well as the officer's effectiveness on the road. Before he (she) approaches a stopped car, he (she) will be aware of the suspect's criminal background.

Additionally, the officer will be able to get fast compiled information about a particular area, thereby increasing his (her) "apprehension rate."

At this time, Livonia is courting the federal government for a grant to purchase these devices. Included in the request are MODAT systems for patrol cars in Redford, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth, Northville Township, Farmington and Farmington Hills.

Redford Police Chief Edwin Gleza says MODAT and its central computer could be used for analyzing criminal information as well as giving police officers added protection.

He says the main computer can store information fed into patrol terminals by officers. Questions can be asked the computer, based on stored statewide information.

"It will be able to store and retrieve the number and types of runs completed by an officer in a day," he adds.

For example, he says, one can query the computer on the number of burglaries that were committed by breaking in through a side window. This information can be used in catching a criminal with this type of method of operation.

"IT'S GOT AN analytical advantage for us," he says. "The big problem today in law enforcement is getting information. Now, it takes hand search."

Another added feature to MODAt, Gleza finds, is that the computer will be able to coordinate emergency work through a 911 call number.

Emergency calls, tied into the main computer, will immediately be dispatched to the appropriate patrol car.

"It's got all kinds of capabilities," he says.

Gleza adds this "regional concept" to law enforcement is a big advantage to nearby communities.

Ptl. John Beale, of the Livonia Police Department, is working on processing the grant for Livonia.

After a four-year effort, Beale says, the grant application is at a standstill.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL
HE'S MAKING A REAL DIFFERENCE IN NATIONAL POLICY...

On Taxes

Long before tax revolts were in the headlines, Congressman Pursell was leading his own quiet revolution.

He voted for both tax cuts and spending restrictions, and co-sponsored tax rate cut legislation to stop taxation by inflation. Carl wrote a bill to reduce the federal bureaucracy 10% by phasing out some of the jobs which become vacant each year, which would save hundreds of millions of tax dollars.

He introduced legislation drafted by Michigan women to help end tax discrimination against women throughout the nation.

Before entering Congress, Carl was a leading budget watchdog in the State Senate, and sponsored a program to reduce the Michigan property tax.

On Energy

Carl is a national leader in the drive to develop the alternative energy sources so crucial for our economy, our security, our entire future.

A member of the Science and Technology Committee, he was instrumental in securing the first committee approval for directly funding civil laser fusion energy research. In both of his first two years in Congress, he successfully sponsored amendments to intensify fusion energy research, including assistance for private sector and university energy research in our 2nd District.

A new Pursell bill proposes a major plan to accelerate development of new energy sources, including fusion, solar, geothermal, biomass and innovative uses of conventional fuels.

On Education

Throughout his career, Carl has demonstrated a commitment to quality education at all levels. As a parent, he knows the value of quality education. As a taxpayer and former business owner, he knows the value of a dollar. As a legislator and experienced education budget expert, he knows how to achieve both.

A member of the Education and Labor Committee, he wrote amendments to improve the nation's program for gifted and talented students.

He sponsored the most far-reaching plan to split education functions from the H.E.W. conglomerate, and the only such plan to give top priority to local control, academic freedom, and Carl's "no-strings" revenue sharing plan to cut the property tax burden.

On Jobs

Carl believes creating secure new jobs in a diversified economy is the key to improving the quality of life in America. He has personally aided plant location and industrial park programs to create new jobs. One vivid example was his recent emergency flight to Chicago to save a federal industrial park grant to allow several new businesses and hundreds of jobs to locate in our district.

A member of the Employment Opportunities Subcommittee, Carl wrote amendments to make our job training programs more efficient and more meaningful to those they help. Subcommittee Chairman "Gus" Hawkins of California called Carl, "... one of the outstanding new members of that subcommittee".

New county budget alleged to be $9.5 million short

By MICHAEL MATUSZEWSKI

Wayne County Board of Commissioners voted Friday to accept a 1979 budget totalling more than $348 million.

The new budget, approved 17-9, is nearly $28 million less than its 1978 counterpart.

Observer-area commissioners voting for the budget were Kay Beard (D-Inkster) and Thomas Presnell (D-Westland).

Area commissioners voting against the budget were Vice Chairman Richard Mannning (D-Redford), Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) and William Joyner (D-Plymouth).

While the new budget as approved is balanced, it does not take into account probable raises for a host of county employees.

AND ON THAT point some commissioners were critical of the new budget.

"The 1.8 million we authorized put out of us balance again," Dumas said.

The Livonia commissioner was referring to a proposed three per cent wage increase offered to negotiating county employees.

Previously, the board had refused any new pay increases. It last offered a six-cent-an-hour increase. The American Federation of State, Municipal and County Employees (AFSCME), which is representing the county workers, reportedly refused to consider the most recent offer.

The new county offer amounts to a 24-cent-an-hour increase.

Manning was harsher, calling the budget "a disaster." He estimated it called for a deficit of about $9.5 million. He based his total on an anticipated shortfall from the federal government of $4.5 million. In addition, he said the county was obligating itself to about $5 million in continued or expanded programs in Wayne County General Hospital and its medical health division not properly accounted for in the approved budget.

"It should have been sent back to committee," he said.

At least one commissioner, Rose Marie Robinson, wanted to bring the budget up for reconsideration in the near future.

Because she cast a yes vote, she could legally move to reconsider the budget.

WHILE NEXT year's budget is smaller than the current budget, it also calls for cuts in services to make up for a $15 million deficit accumulated over the past two years.

According to county reports, the cuts will be made across the board.

One commissioner said about 500 jobs will be eliiminated in 1979. He estimated there may be as many as 200 persons laid off. The remaining cuts, he said, would be made through attrition.

Board members believe they have gone as far as possible in cutting county services.

Commissioner chairperson Jarette Simmons (D-Detroit) left Friday's special board meeting to meet with Gov. William Milliken in hopes of gaining additional county revenue.

While in Lansing, Mrs. Simmons will be trying to obtain state funding for:

- The full cost of hospitalization for medically indigent adults now cared for by the county.
- The full cost of Wayne County Circuit Court and Recorder's Court probation departments.
- The full cost of court-appointed attorneys for indigents and indigent appeals.

If Mrs. Simmons is successful, the state could be pumping an estimated additional $7 million into the county's coffers.

THE COUNTY is anticipating revenues of more than $105 million from general property taxes; $1.5 million in back taxes; $14 million in federal revenue sharing funds; $21 million in state funds from the Michigan income tax; $4.5 million in federal anti-recession funds and $202 million from a variety of grants, service charges, fees, and credits.

Of the funds set aside in contingency accounts, at least $2.8 million is allocated for the July 1, 1978 arbitration award granted sheriff's deputies.

Resident says thanks for kids

Editor:

People say that there is not enough love in the world, or that people don't care what happens to other people. But there are 160 Tanger School students residing in the Honeytree community in the Plymouth-Canton area who can truly say there are many people who love and care about children and their problems.

Many of these people do not even reside in the Plymouth-Canton area, but they did their best to make the world of children a better place.

These include: Cmdr. Jim Martin, Office of Search and Rescue, U.S. Coast Guard; Cmdr. Litts, U.S. Coast Guard; Darreal Seering, Michigan State Police, Northville; Willie Pistore and Larry Waetjen, Wayne County Sheriff's department; Chief M.O. Paulen, Canton Fire department; Lt. L. Gertley, Ferndale Police department; Joe Valenti and Merna Allan of Padover, Valenti and Lieberman advertising; Gary Fraser, regional manager of Frito Lay Co.; Daniel Ventura, regional director of Children's Television Workshop ("Sesame Street" and the "Electric Company"); Ann Kearns, Children's Television Workshop; Marjorie Kokal, Hershey's Food Corp.; Henry Felker, district manager of Sales and service, Eastern Airlines (Plymouth resident); Clem Childs, district manager of sales, Eastern Airlines; Del Fruit, sales representative, Eastern Airlines; Bob Cullen and Laurie Bonser, assistant managers of AAA Safety and Traffic, Dearborn; Julie Gastaway, Linwood Auto Parks, Plymouth; Mr. McDonald, manager, Kmart, Ann Arbor Road; and Al Starks, Livonia Bowling and Trophy Sales Inc.

THE ONLY sad part of this story is that we had to go so far from the Honeytree community to get this cooperation.

Even though the people whom we asked to assist us or should have willingly assisted us did not, we did learn that there are a lot of people who do care about children and their problems.

And for those who didn't assist us and should have—God still loves you.

We've never had a Congressman like

CARL PURSELL

His suburban caucus proves Carl hasn't lost touch with his home area.

As our Congressman, and before that as our State Senator, Carl has given the people of Western Wayne County outstanding legislative ability and unmatched local service.

He is CO-FOUNDER OF THE CONGRESSIONAL SUBURBAN CAUCUS, which is seeking to give suburban communities like ours a proper voice in national policy for the first time. A native of this area, Carl is the only Mich. Congressman who lives with his family in the district he represents. He returns home every week to work directly with constituents. The extra effort Carl puts into congressional service is setting a new standard for others to try to match. He works as hard for us here in Western Wayne County as he does in Washington.

The Pursell family joins Carl in thanking the people of the Second District for the opportunity to represent them in Congress for the past two years, and for the many expressions of support and friendship during Carl's first term and during this re-election campaign.

Eagles top RU

By KEN VOYLES

For the first time in three years, Redford Thurston has produced a winning football season. The Eagles did it by pounding Redford Union Friday, 29-7, in a non-league gridiron game.

Thurston finished the year with a 5-4 record, while RU slipped to a 2-7 mark. It was also the first time that the Eagles have won the intra-city contest since 1975.

Thurston exploded offensively throughout the game, ripping the RU defense to little pieces. Between the running of Craig Schauder, Rich Rudd, and Jeff Wandyg, the Eagles were just plain unstoppable.

Midway in the first quarter, the Eagles opened the scoring. RU took a punt from Thurston and drove to its 45-yard line. Two plays later, however, Joe Lyskawa stepped in front of a Jim Sopha pass and ran the ball to the 15-yard line.

Schauder than moved the ball to the 10-yard line and two plays later slammed his way into the endzone for the touchdown. The extra point attempt by John Klopcic missed.

Early in the second period Jim Boyer recovered an RU fumble on the Eagles' 36-yard line. Mike Fitzsimmons than threw a 20-yard pass to Shawn Salisbury. From the 46-yard line, the Eagles drove toward the RU endzone.

At the nine-yard line, Rich Rudd took a pitch out and scampered into the endzone untouched. Klopcic's point-after effort was successful and Thurston was in front, 13-0.

The Panthers got on the scoreboard with 4:10 left in the second quarter. Thurston took the ball, following an RU punt and drove to the Panthers' 35 yard line. One play later, Bob Utych recovered a Thurston fumble and ran 65 yards into the endzone.

The extra point kick was good.

On the ensuing kickoff, Thurston took over at its own 11-yard marker. On the first play from that point, Fitzsimmons tossed a pass to Salisbury who caught the ball at the 25 and outran the defense into the endzone. The point-after was no good.

Still in the second period, Thurston was forced into a punting situation. The ball sailed deep into RU territory and on the bounce hit an RU player with Rudd picking up the ball for the Eagles.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

For years, it has been claimed that the women's all-star leagues in metropolitan Detroit were the strongest in the entire country.

In national competition, they have never failed to make a great showing. For example, last year Cora Fiebig was barely nosed out for the title in the prestigious Queen's title sponsored by the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Jerry Ritter made the national honor roll with the first perfect game ever bowled in the women's state tournament.

To prove that these were not fluke honors, Jerry returned to the limelight last Wednesday night at Crown Lanes when she posted a 734 series in the Ladies Major League. It is one of the highest totals rolled this year in the women's ranks and will assure her of a place on the national honor roll. To get the big count, she linked games of 255, 241 and 232.

She had a lot of company in the scoring battle. Jean Eastman rolled a 688 and Joyce Pursell had a 673 and was the victim of a frown from Lady Luck when the No. 2 pin stood on the final frame and left her with a 299.

BOWLING WAS BACK on schedule at Wonderland Lanes when Ed Austreng came through with a 706 series after the sharpshooters missed the 700 barrier a week ago. He opened with a 233, added a 258 and closed with a 215.

Not to be outdone by the men, Kathy Bienkowski put on quite a show in the women's senior house league.

In her first game, she opened with a strike, then spared and ran a string of strikes to the last frame when a No. 10 pin failed to fall and held her to a 279. Following that, she added a 196 and then slumped to a 147 for a 622 series.

THE GIRLS also had a great time at Westland, where 200 games are becoming common.

This happened again when Mary Lee Snyder paced the Ladies Classic with games of 212 and 200 in 596. To gain the honor, she beat out Cindi Edwards, who fired a 236 in 592, and Dicki Tank, who fashioned a 591 with the aid of a 222 game.

In the Wednesday ladies league, Norma Johnson posted a 243 in 554, Kathy Minch had a 246 in 584 and Bobbie Knox had a 587.

On the men's side, Charlie Riffke showed the way in the junior house league with a 275.

ANOTHER OLD TIMER returned to the pin wars last Tuesday and did himself proud in the Wonderland Classic. He was Jack Born, who hadn't been heard from in while. He came through with a 690 that included a 259 game.

LEN ELANDT took top honors in the Vinco League at Garden Lanes with a 659. Behind him came Ted Bonkowski with 636, Leo Vihonsky with 616, Jerry Ohl with 609 and Brad Lackey with 602.

In the ladies senior house league, honors went to Jean Thomas, who linked games of 241, 220 and 209 for 670.

THERE WAS a close finish at Mayflower before Tina Gorosta won the pace-making role with a 567. Five pins behind came Mary Donohue with a 562 and Nancy Jolly placed third at 552. Sally Fields was next in line with a 532.

Bob Battle paced the men's loop with a 618, but high game honors for the week went to Wayne Raybean, a youth bowler, who rolled a 236 in 545.

CULBERT ON THE ISSUES

☆Homeowner Protection

NOEL D. CULBERT believes the homeowners in the area are being victimized by unscrupulous builders. CULBERT has proposed an ordinance which penalizes builders for bad workmanship and the creation of an escrow funn guaranteeing satisfactory completion of homes.

☆Growth Control

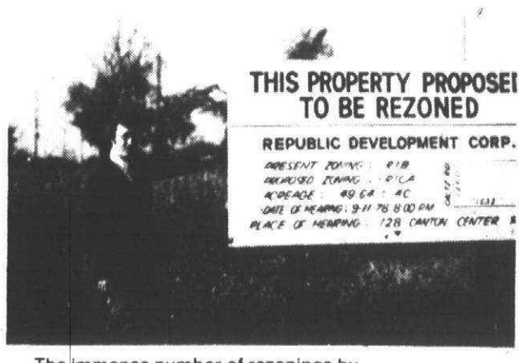
In a time of rampant growth and development, the township is suffering growing pains. The present administration has proposed nothing to ease this pain. CULBERT is for controlled growth so that our Township services and your dollars will not be overtaxed.

☆Cut Taxes & Spending

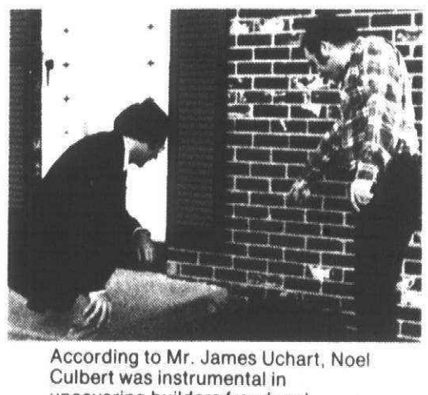
The Township budget has doubled within the past two years. CULBERT pledges to cut wasteful spending and eliminate imprudent purchases such as the golf course and helicopters. CULBERT believes that by eliminating waste he will be able to cut taxes without affecting township services.

☆Citizen Security

CULBERT believes that Canton Township citizens deserve the peace of mind that results from an expanded police force. CULBERT is willing to work hard to insure the safety of all the citizens of Canton Township.



The immense number of rezonings by developers in recent years has dramatically demonstrated the need for Growth Control.



According to Mr. James Uchart, Noel Culbert was instrumental in uncovering builders fraud and resolving construction defects in their new home.

The intersection at Ford and Lilley is a prime example of the problems produced by the uncontrolled growth of the Township.

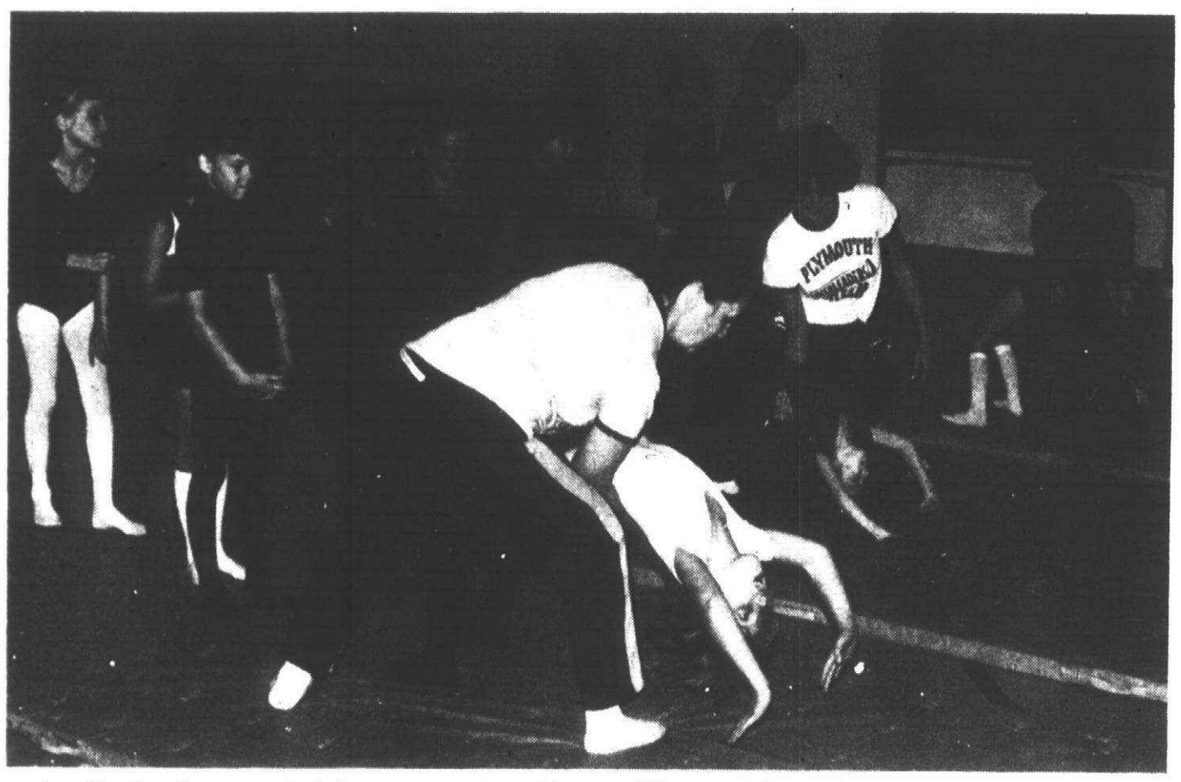
Tumbling classes are under way



Ann Fowler (foreground) helps a youngster with a tumbling exercise while another child is helped by Maureen Gibbons. (Ken Holmes photos)

A tumbling program for youngsters in school grades K-2 is being offered by the Canton, Northville, Plymouth Family YMCA.

Tumbling is being offered at Eriksson Elementary from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Mondays, at Farrand Elementary from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m. Tuesdays.

Tumbling will begin tomorrow at Field Elementary from 5:15 to 6:15 p.m. on Tuesdays, and will begin Nov. 16 on Thursdays from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. and from 4:30-5:30 at Hulsing Elementary.

Yvonne Kierman is the instructor for the classes which are held in the gyms at each of the schools. Fees are $8 for YMCA members and $10 for non-members.

At Starkweather Elementary, tumbling for ages 3-12 is offered through Dec. 16 on Saturdays for six weeks with Maureen Gibbons as instructor. The times are 9 to 9:30 a.m. for ages 3-6, 9:30 to 10 for ages 3-6, 10-11 and 11-noon for ages 7-12. Fees for ages 3-6 are $6 for members and $8 for non-members, and for ages 7-12 fees are $8 or $10.

Persons interested in signing up for tumbling classes may call the YMCA at 453-2904.

Preschool program expands

Another school year has begun for children and their parents participating in the PLUS preschool program.

PLUS, starting its fifth year of operation, is a preschool program for families in the attendance areas of Erikson, Field and Starkweather schools.

Expanded services are available this year in PLUS, with the incorporation of Head Start into the program. PLUS is a joint project of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and the federal government (Title 1 ESEA and Head Start.)

THIS YEAR, families with 3- and 4-year-olds are eligible for the program if they can meet Head Start income requirements.

Four special orientation programs were held by PLUS during September, allowing children and their parents to come to PLUS headquarters at Central Middle School to see what the program is all about.

Testing of the students was conducted at the orientation to determine to what level they would be assigned. A health check was also conducted to insure the children had their shots and a general examination.

Classes actually began in the middle of October for the students and their parents. In the school grouping of PLUS, children and moms (or dads, grandma or babysitter) come to school once a week. Children are engaged in school-type activities while the accompanyimg adult learns different activities that can be done at home with the child.

Other parent-child combinations are part of the home-school part to the program and come to school twice a month. They also attend preschool in a neighborhood home.

THE NEW program this year is a Home Visit Program for Head Start 3-year-olds.

A home visitor visits each home once a week, and together with the mother, works with the children on early learning skills. The mother works with the child during the rest of the week, using individualized materials.

Four eighth graders from Central Middle School have been acting as teacher assistants. They are Kim Peterson, Freda Smith, Sheila Stephenson and Sheryl Korsnes. Also assistaing is Lori Medlyn, a student teacher from Central Michigan University.

The PLUS staff consists of Mary Fritz, project director; Mary Lou Boyd, teacher; Cynthia Gresens, teacher; Mary Ebmeyer, home coordinator and kindergarten consultant; Marilyn Anason, project secretary; Betty Swanson, project aide; Janet Bury, home visitor; and Wilma Arnold, Head Start program aide.

Working in schools are Phil Radant, Starkweather counselor; Brian Foust, Erikson helping teacher; and Linda Duvall, field helping teacher. Sam Ulsaker is in charge of federal programs for the district.

PLUS is anxious to recruit 3- and 4-year-olds from anywhere in Plymouth and Canton who meet Head Start income requirements. For more information on the programs or requirements, call PLUS at 453-8889.

Suicide rises dramatically among youth

By MARGARET MILLER

Suicide among young people 15-19 years of age has shown a 200 per cent increase in the last 10 years.

Suicides have been documented among young children—as young as 4 years old.

Suicides are increasing among blue collar workers.

These were just a few of the facts that Dr. Bruce Danto, probably this area's most knowledgable person in the field of intentional death, cited at a seminar on medical ethics at Madonna College.

And out of his statistics and descriptions came the realization that suicide and all the devastation it causes can best be prevented by more understanding of its causes.

Danto, a psychiatrist who is founder and director of the Suicide Prevention Center of Detroit, pointed out that many traditional ideas of who is potentially suicidal are just not holding up any more.

"Who is the typical suicide?" he asked the seminar participants. "In 1965 we had data compiled to show he was a white male, over 50, a professional or white collar person, one who lived in an apartment, had recently lost a wife or suffered some other severe jolt and drank heavily or suffered from a long, chronic illness."

But now, he added, this picture just isn't complete.

"We know now that the American Indian has the highest rate of suicide of any ethnic group, and suicide is high among blacks and up among women and Jews," Dr. Danto said.

"Suicide is high among physicians, and social workers, nurses and attorneys account for 30 per cent of all suicides in California."

DISCUSSING the higher incidence of suicide among blue collar workers, he suggested injury on the assembly line may play a big part.

"Lower back injuries especially can in time put a man out of a job," the speaker said.

"To many such people, the physical aspect of their lives is terribly important. Now they are home full-time, can't work, can't even engage in recreation that has always been such a big part of their lives.

"The result is the increase in blue-collar suicide."

Police form another group in which suicide is increasing, Dr. Danto said.

"The violence they see, the always-present possibility of killing someone, makes their occupation very stressful.

"Then there are the kids who find it terribly hard to follow successful parents—the many suicides of children of Hollywood stars are evidence of the pressures in that group. You also see more suicide among the elderly—growing old is a difficult thing and some find it too much."

THE DEVASTATION that comes when suicide breaks the parent-child relationship received considerable attention from the seminar speaker.

"Suicide is always viewed by the survivor as evidence that he is not lovable enough; otherwise the suicide victim would have decided to stick around," Dr. Danto said.

"But when that survivor is a parent, he sees himself as a dropout from the role of parent. He feels he did not protect his child, which is what parents are supposed to do."

In reality, however, that parent may have been "marvelous," the psychiatrist pointed out.

"Kids do run into problems, or the drug scene, or peer pressure that is not the fault of parents," he added.

For a child whose parent commits suicide, the trauma can be even greater, said Dr. Danto.

"He reasons that if he hadn't argued with his sister—or gone out—or wet his pants, then his father or mother would not have committed suicide," the speaker explained.

"Or he just feels that if he were truly lovable, the parent could not tolerate leaving."

PREVENTION OF suicide has to involve fostering appreciation of life, Dr. Danto believes.

"The one thing that all parents—whatever their faults—can do for their children is be there and put before them a model for survival.

"Kids need to have their parents around to tell them that survival and love is possible. When a parent signs out, the message is the opposite, and the despair makes the cycle go on."

Dr. Bruce Danto addressed a recent Madonna College seminar on medical ethics.

A late bloomer

You may think this bee was sucking up pollen last spring when trees were blossoming, but this photograph was taken last week in downtown Plymouth. Despite the season, this flowering crab tree, thought to be dying in August, was in bloom in the parking lot near The Green Thumb shop in Forest Place Mall. Maybe the particular location explains the blossoms in November. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Bazaar to raise funds for new Mormon chapel

With Christmas not too far off, thoughtful gift-giving ideas seem always to be appreciated. The community will have an opportunity to purchase gifts and other items at an old-fashioned bazaar held by the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (the Mormons.)

The bazaar is scheduled for 10 a.m.-2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 11 at the Mormon chapel on the corner of Six Mile and Merriman in Livonia.

The bazaar's proceeds will go toward a new chapel in the Westland area.

The public is invited to come and browse for items, most of which are handmade. There will be embroidery, quilts, knits, hooked rugs, crocheting and some woodcraft items.

Christmas decorator items such as ornaments, wreaths and candles, and childrens items such as toys, clothes, puzzles and puppets will also be available.

Baked goods such as cakes, cookies, candies, breads and pies will be there for those with a sweet tooth. Snacks will also be available at a nominal charge and will include authentic homemade tacos, hot dogs, chili, popcorn, pie by the slice and homemade rootbeer.

Children will be able to play some games, and there will be free movies and cartoons while parents shop. There will also be an area where children can shop for items with their parents or older sisters and brothers. All items in this area will be $1 or less.

The public is invited to come and share in the fun. For further information, call 981-1062.

'Something to do'

Scouting & sports keep kids going

"There's nothin' to do."

Every parent knows these words, spoken with a shuffle of feet and a whine of despair.

But children have a chance to do something in Plymouth—thanks to such organizations as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Campfire Girls and the Plymouth-Canton Junior Athletic Association (PCJAA).

THOUSANDS OF area boys and girls are actively involved in these programs, due to the efforts of many adult volunteers and the support of the Plymouth Community Fund.

According to Detroit area district executive, Mike Thiry, Plymouth Boy Scouts set an outstanding troop camping record as well as earning numerous awards during the past year, with Lawrence Krieg of Troop 1536 earning the coveted Eagle rank.

Adventure, friendship and self-discovery are all goals of the scouting movement in Plymouth. The 39 Brownie, junior, cadette and senior Girl Scout troops enrolled 1,076 girls in 1977 along with an adult membership of 132.

Like the Boy Scouts and Campfire Girls, area Brownies and Girl Scouts perform a wide variety of community services, take trips and experiment with new skills and crafts. By the time they are senior scouts, the girls take an active role in council decision-making and attend national and international events.

WHILE SPORTS AND games represent a relatively small part of Plymouth's Campfire and Scouting Program, they form the basis of a project called the Plymouth Canton Junior Athletic Association.

PCJAA has introduced hundreds of area boys and girls to baseball, basketball, football and hockey. Baseball drew the largest participation this summer, with 1,217 boys and 354 girls on 102 local teams. Basketball enrolled 635 boys and 190 girls; hockey 306 boys and four girls and football, 194 boys and 45 girls. More than 500 adult volunteers participated as coaches.

"These are not just 'something to do' programs," says Jim Sinclair of the PCJAA. "Thy are highly organized, well-coordinated team sports with competent adult supervision open to all youth between the ages of 6 and 20. The purpose isn't just to increase skills and physical fitness, but to promote a spirit of healthy competition and fair play."

A day to be remembered by 500-plus local Brownies

It was a day to be remembered by 537 Brownies from the Plymouth, Canton, Northville Area Association of the Girl Scouts.

The second annual Brownie Bee Day, held recently at Pioneer Middle School, Plymouth, was filled with "enthusiasm and participation," according to spokesman Mary Lou Johnson.

The purpose of the day was to expose Brownies to the other areas of scouting and to give the youngsters a major activity like the Junior and Senior scouts have, said Mrs. Johnson.

The Bownies attended five different sessions during the two hour activity, in which they learned a variety of things. All the girls attended "Bee a Disco Doll," a dance class headed by Ann Fowler and Judy Williams.

They also all attended "Bee the Sound of Music," headed by Mrs. Taylor, where they learned a song, and "Bee a Punchinello," headed by Judy Parker and Penny Shaw, which was a game activity.

The girls were then allowed to choose two of the following activities to attend. "Bee a Pet Pal," headed by Rose Robinson and JoAnn Hazel, with the assistance of veterinarian Dr. Carol Geake and veterinarian student Ann Cavender. Here the Brownies learned how to properly care for pets.

"Bee a Brownie Blabber," an activity in which the girls learned to be a school reporter, was headed by Sally Burkholder and Janet Caughran. Or they could choose to "Bee a Super Scout," headed by Senior scout Troop 501, Martha Bently, advisor, and senior scout Elizabeth Griffin, leading a discussion about scout trips.

One Brownie representative from each troop participated in the flag ceremony presented by Junior Girl Scout Troop 635. The leaders were Ellen Goucher and Barb Hodson.

Hostesses for the day were arranged by Ruth McMahan and included scouts from the following Cadette troops: 636, Sally Swope, leader; 367, Donna Drossart, leader; 172, Karen Makower, leader; 346, Pat Mosti, leader; 638, Dorothy Sanders, leader; and 626, Gerry Bing, leader.

The planning committee for the event included: Romaine Kling, chairman and Brownie consultant of the Plymouth, Canton, Northville association; Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Parker, Mrs. Morse and Mrs. Burkholder.

Also participating in the day were 126 Brownie leaders and adults accompanying troop, 20 volunteer Girl Scout adults, eight Senior scouts and 16 Junior scouts.

"The day was a great success and everyone learned so much," said Mrs. Johnson. "We owe a great deal to everyone involved and especially to Patricia Gibbons of Pioneer Middle School for letting us use the location."

Mrs. Johnson added that Brownie Bee Day will be held again next year.

Geneva series hosts Uptons

The second concert in the 1978-79 Geneva Musicale Series will feature sisters Carla and Laura Upton of Plymouth. The concert will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 12 at the Geneva United Presbyterian Church, Sheldon Road, just north of Ford Road in Canton.

Carla and Laura have performed together since early childhood, first in a singing trio along with their older sister Karen, and recently as a vocal-piano duo.

Laura has traveled extensively as an exchange student and soprano soloist with the Youth for Understanding Chorale. She studied voice at the University of Michigan with Elizabeth Mosher, and performs extensively locally as an entertainer and soloist at weddings.

Carla holds a Bachelor's degree in piano performance from the University of Michigan and is currently working on her Master's degree there. She teaches piano and guitar and does a great deal of accompanying work.

In January Carla will be featured as the guest soloist with the Plymouth Symphony. She has also served as the pianist at Geneva United Presbyterian Church for the past five years.

Light refreshments will be served following the concert. A $1 donation will be given to UNICEF for its work in hunger and nutrition.

SEEK OUT A PROFESSIONAL!

"It is a truism in the legal profession that the vast majority of widows lose a substantial part of an uncontrolled bequest within seven years." So states Ma Theresa Morse in her book, "Life is for the Living."

She points out that a team of experts (a lawyer, accountant, and investment counselor) can provide the professional advice that well-meaning friends and relatives simply cannot. All of us may need some or all of that "team." Ms. Morse counsels a widow, especially, to seek out a lawyer with whom she can communicate frankly and comfortably. He must be "right" for her, and he and the other counselors must earn her confidence and trust. Only through this trust can they help chart her short and long-range courses of action.

So, too, must we earn your trust. You should be comfortable discussing your funeral wishes with us. As with your lawyer, we conduct our affairs on a professional level. We want you to consider us as members of your "team," ready to help make pre-planned arrangements or provide information in advance of need.

The Movies

LOUISE SNIDER

Diana Ross as Dorothy and the once-enslaved Winkies celebrate in the movie musical "The Wiz."

Yellow brick road not worth traveling with adult Dorothy

Look for "The Wiz" (G) to fiz-zle out. Elaborate costumes, lavish sets and special effects dazzle the eyes. Yet, the most expensive musical ever made ($20-$30 million, according to different quotes from different folks) lurches along and hits every pothole in The Yellow Brick Road.

This is not a remake of MGM's 1939 classic "The Wizard of Oz," which starred Judy Garland as Dorothy, but a spin-off of the successful Broadway musical "The Wiz." Sidney Lumet, who doesn't have a way with song or dance, directed this updated, black urbanization of the L. Frank Baum novel.

Who plays the simple, young Dorothy? None other than Motown's own 34-year-old Diana Ross, a choice long in the tooth, but solid at the bank. In "The Wiz," Dorothy is not a naive child but a naive, 24-year-old Harlem schoolteacher who is afraid to venture off her turf. A snowstorm blows her and her dog Toto into the world she was afraid to confront, south of 125th street.

Ross is a glowing and vivid Dorothy, but she's stuck with some ho-hum ballads and a role that just doesn't give her a chance to let go. Playing a 24-year-old schoolteacher going through a childlike world of witches and wizards in order to learn about life isn't fantasy but absurdity.

ON THIS TRIP with Dorothy are Michael Jackson as the Scarecrow, hanging out in the shadow of a slum; Ted Ross as the cowardly Lion, lately of the New York Public Library facade; and Nipsey Russell as the Tin Man, rusting away at an abandoned amusement park.

Also on hand is Lena Horne who makes a brief but snazzy appearance as Glinda, the Good Witch of the South. Not all the stars in this galaxy shine. Richard Pryor is a tacky and often unintelligible Wiz.

"The Wiz" was shot in New York City and the striking use of this location footage is one of the highlights of the movie. The imposing New York skyline, the Brooklyn Bridge, the World Trade Center and other landmarks are integrated with the action.

There are some glorious visualizations in this film, but it doesn't take long for the overdeveloped song and dance numbers to begin to pall rather than appeal.

Sometimes a performer or a routine stand out—a duet here, a vital characterization there. These are isolated moments that relieve the tedium in a "Wiz" that is as S-L-O-W as its name is fast.

NEW RELEASES

THE BIG FIX (PG). Another fetching performance by Richard Dreyfuss who plays a former college activist turned private eye.

BLOODBROTHERS (R). Hard look at lives of two blue-collar brothers whose macho values affect their families

COMES A HORSEMAN (PG). Modern western with Jane Fonda and James Caan as ranchers struggling to hold onto their land.

CORVETTE SUMMER (PG). Boy chases stolen Corvette and catches car and girl. Mark Hamill and Annie Potts get in gear.

DEATH ON THE NILE (PG). A highly decorative and entertaining film of the Agatha Christie mystery with Peter Ustinov as Hercule Poirot and a large, splendid cast.

GIRL FRIENDS (PG). Melanie Mayron and Anita Skinner star in Claudia Weill's directorial debut that focuses on marriage versus career.

GOIN' SOUTH (PG). Fine character study by Jack Nicholson in adventure that proves there's still hope for the Western.

INTERIORS (PG). Woody Allen's serious film explores the tensions within a family where neuroses and artistic sensitivity dominate their lives.

MIDNIGHT EXPRESS (R). Riveting, gut-grabbing story of Billy Hayes' experiences in Turkish prison where he was selected for possessing hashish.

NATIONAL LAMPOON'S ANIMAL HOUSE (R). Outrageous and raunchy comedy about life at Delta Fraternity House, the bottom-of-the-barrel fraternity on a small college campus in the early '60s.

SEPTEMBER 30, 1955 (PG). Richard Thomas stars in wistful reminiscence of the '50s set at time of James Dean's death.

SOMEBODY KILLED HER HUSBAND (PG). Silly comedy-mystery as Farrah Fawcett-Majors and Jeff Bridges search for the somebody of the title.

A WEDDING (PG). All the action takes place in one day as director Robert Altman dissects "the last of our country's big rituals."

WHO IS KILLING THE GREAT CHEFS OF EUROPE? (PG). Witty comedy-mystery with George Segal as fast food franchiser and Jacqueline Bisset as master dessert chef.

Mime plays at the Hinge

Mime O. J. Anderson—a favorite at coffeehouses and campuses throughout the midwest—will perform at the University of Michigan-Dearborn's Hinge Coffeehouse on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the campus Recreation Organization Center.

A $1 admission charge is requested by the nonprofit coffeehouse for munchies.

Anderson mimics subjects such as discos, McDonald's, Evelyn Wood speed reading and pay toilets. A native of Detroit, he has studied mime in England and earned a BFA at the University of Detroit.

He has more than 200 stage credits and is currently a member of the Black Sheep Repertory Theatre Company in Manchester.

The campus is located on Evergreen south of Ford Road. For more information call 593-5390.

Artwork from prison at EMU

The paintings and sculpture of Rick Ward, an inmate at the Jackson state prison, will be on exhibit in Eastern Michigan University's Intermedia Gallery in McKenny Union Monday through Nov. 17.

Ward has served 14 years in prison for armed robbery. He has spent the last three years in the psychiatric ward after several suicide attempts. A psychotherapist introduced him to art to help him express his feelings.

The art work has led Ward to a better mental attitude.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Mondays-Fridays. Admission is free.

ALSO AT EMU, the second faculty recital concert will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Pease Auditorium.

The program will consist of the quintet for piano, oboe, clarinet, horn and bassoon by Mozart; the nachtwandler for soprano, piccolo, trumpet, snare drum and piano by Schoenberg; nocturnes for soprano, horn and piano by Arnold Cooke; and the septet for wind instruments by Hindemith.

The performance is free and open to the public.

Hungry? Eat the world

It's the Ethnic Eating Club, developed by Lorranie Jeffe of Bloomfield Township and Mary Quackenbush of Orchard Lake. The first meeting will be 6-8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 13, at the Little Hungaria restaurant in Berkley.

Charter memberships are available for $20, enabling each member to dine at nine ethnic restaurants.

When two meals are purchased, the member will receive either one free meal—the least expensive one—or a 40 per cent discount on the charge with the exception of one restaurant. These options will be available at each ethnic restaurant once during the calendar year.

THE WOMEN have selected the following restaurants:

Taj Mahal (Indian), Little Hungaria (Hungarian), Old Parthenon (Greek), Mexican Village (Mexican), The Little Cafe (German), Phoenicia (Lebanese), Paradiso (Italian), Yummy House Restaurant (Chinese) and O. K. Restaurant and Bar (Polish).

Ms. Jeffe and Ms. Quackenbush believe one of the assets of the Detroit area is its ethnic composition. They were convinced they should promote the wide variety of ethnic foods.

"We've been all over and met the most fantastic people—people who, by hard work, are trying to make the American dream come true by sharing their culinary skills," said Ms. Jeffe.

Information about memberships in the Ethnic Eating Club may be obtained by calling 338-6260 or writing Ethnic Eating Club, Box 5265, Orchard Lake 48033.

Harmonie starting play series

Cafe Harmonie, located in Harmonie Park on Centre in downtown Detroit, will present a series of dramatic stagings starting Tuesday.

The series will feature the Readers Repertory Company in a production of George Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell." It will be presented Nov. 7, 8, 14, 15, 21 and 22.

Dinner will be served as part of the cafe's regular schedule, and tickets may be bought at dinner or purchased at the door for the after-dinner theater show.

Admission is $4. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. For reservations, call 964-3348.

Orchestra Hall has concert

Orchestra Hall will present Michigan Artists' Gala Concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Five Michigan artists and ensembles will perform a program of both instrumental and vocal pieces.

The program, presented with assistance of the Michigan Council for the Arts, will include the Jongleurs, performers of medieval and renaissance music; the Verdehr Trio, with a clarinetist, pianist and violinist; pianist Tibor Szasz; soprano Betty Lane; and Antares, a five-piece jazz ensemble.

Tickets are on sale at Orchestra Hall and Husdon's at $4 for adults and $1 for senior citizens and students. For more information, call 833-3700.

Bluegrass

It's Tuesday in Ann Arbor

"The original Bluegrass Opera of Detroit," the musical saga of southern migration to the auto factories of the Motor City, will be presented at 7:30 and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Earle in Ann Arbor.

It tells the story of a group of folks from Taylor's Creek, Ky., who came to Detroit seeking a good job and a better way of life. Their songs are accompanied by fiddles, banjo and guitar.

The characters include an assembly line worker who scratches a mark on every Cadillac that passes by, another worker who rose to the top of the auto industry only to wind up with a society wife who can't stand bluegrass, a reformed alcoholic who found Jesus on the assmbly line and a guy who left his sweetheart back in Taylor's Creek with a promise to return but winds up "stuck in Detroit" while she found herself another hometown boy.

The opera was written and composed by Lowell McKirgan, a writer for U.S. News and World Report. Admission is $3.50 at the door; there will be no advance tickets.

The Earle is at 121 W. Washington in downtown Ann Arbor. For more information, call 994-0217.

Prize play opens at OU

New York director John Ulmer has returned to the Meadow Brook Theatre to stage Jason Miller's prize-winning play "That Championship Season," which will open a four-week run Thursday, Nov. 9, at 8:30 p.m. on the Oakland University campus near Rochester.

"That Championship Season" is the story of a boozy reunion of four middle-aged former teammates and their old basketball coach who pushed them to the glory of a state championship 20 years before.

Tickets for "That Championship Season" (through Dec. 3) may be purchased at Hudson's or by calling 377-3300.

Curacao—a Dutch treat that's flavored with the spices of life

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES

CURACAO, NETHERLANDS ANTILLES —New charter flights and reduced fare programs from the mid-western United States will open this tiny Caribbean island to travelers from Detroit starting Nov. 15.

Elliot Tours in Southfield will fly out of Metropolitan Airport Wednesday mornings through April 25, with seven-day package tours that include air fare and hotel accommodations for about $400.

A new fare filed by Delta and ALM Antilles Airlines will reduce regular air costs by 25 per cent from Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati and Indianapolis.

This fare requires a stay of three to 21 days and must be purchased with a ground package. Fares range from $299 to $350 depending on season and day of the week. They can be purchased from any travel agent.

The destination for all this is Willemstad, the capitol city of Netherland Antilles, which includes the islands of Aruba, Curacao, and Bonaire, 35 miles from the Venezuelan coast.

Curacao is an important part of the human history of both North and South America, and a good example of what human endurance can accomplish on a barren piece of rock with one of the finest natural harbors in the world.

Amerigo Vespucci, the Italian navigator who gave his name to America, named it The Island of The Giants when he landed in 1499 and met the resident Indians.

During 135 years of Spanish rule, the Indians were shipped off to the copper mines of Santa Domingo and eventually shipped back with sacks of orange seeds and a few cattle to scratch a colony in the barren earth.

Curacao didn't find its true place in history until the Dutch took over and turned it into an international trading post in the 17th century. That is the heritage, mixed with Spanish and African roots, that flavors the island today.

WHEN ENGLAND, France and Spain were fighting over their respective islands in the Carribean, Curacao became an international shopping center for goods from all nations. Sometimes warring nations bought goods from their enemies through this Carribean clearing house.

It was also a major clearing center for slaves being processed for shipping to Brasil and North America. The descendents of those slaves, and of the multinational early population, form today's Curacaon population.

This history gives Curacao a character that is exceptional among Caribbean islands.

Downtown Willemstad owns a Dutch skyline of yellow, pink and green stucco buildings between the deep blue sea and the bright blue Caribbean sky.

The high narrow buildings, which look like they might front a canal in Amsterdam, have peaked and gingerbread roof lines under red Spanish tiles.

Each window, door and eave is outlined neatly in white.

A tanker, a tugboat and a cruise ship cleave the canal past this ancient European waterfront district, and pass under a high bridge to the harbor.

Here, oil tankers and freighters full of shopping goods share space with the biggest drydock in the northern hemisphere.

Curacao is a prosperous, contemporary town. Local people joke about the tourists who expect to find them in peasant clothes and grass skirts. Instead, there is an abundance of blue jean and polyester, as well as first-class restaurants and rock bands that will blow your ears out with the best of them.

MORE LONG natural beaches can be found on the neighboring islands of Aruba, which is essentially a man-made tourist island, and of Bonaire, which is still a natural hideaway.

Here the sand beach curves in small private coves along the otherwise rocky shore. Contemporary hotels like the Curacao Hilton and the Arthur Frommer Hotel are built on such coves. Both are on Piscadera Bay, where the wall of an old fort and the remains of gun emplacements mark the shore above swimming and boating areas.

The Curacao Plaza Hotel is the only high-rise which climbs the sky above the old Dutch waterfront of the city. There are more than 1,000 rooms available in various parts of the 37-mile-long island. The Hilton, Plaza, Holiday Inn and Princess Isles hotels have casinos.

First-class restaurants are available in the hotels, as well as with independent chefs, but travelers will be disappointed if they expect either meals or shopping to be extraordinarily cheap.

A good meal will cost about $10 at rooftop dining rooms in the Hilton or the Plaza, or at lunch overlooking the beach at Playa Forti.

The menu at La Bistroelle sports $25 dishes but it might include caviar or smoked salmon, soup, a plate of rare beef with vegetables and either cherries jubilee or crepes suzette, and a decent wine.

Local specialities include shrimp, lobster, conch, and a variety of fish from the adjacent sea. Local diners will probably be found at midday, in a place called the Golden Star, an unpretentious bar-restaurant with a chalkboard menu and a good variety of Antillan foods, from goat or conch stew to a cornmeal dish called Funchi.

DAYTIME TOURIST activities on the islands are centered either at the beach, with its swimming, boating and diving, or in the downtown shopping area of Willemstad.

This is not a place to buy trinkets, because almost everything on the island is imported. It is however, an excellent place to buy luxury goods such as fine china, leather or crystal at reduced prices.

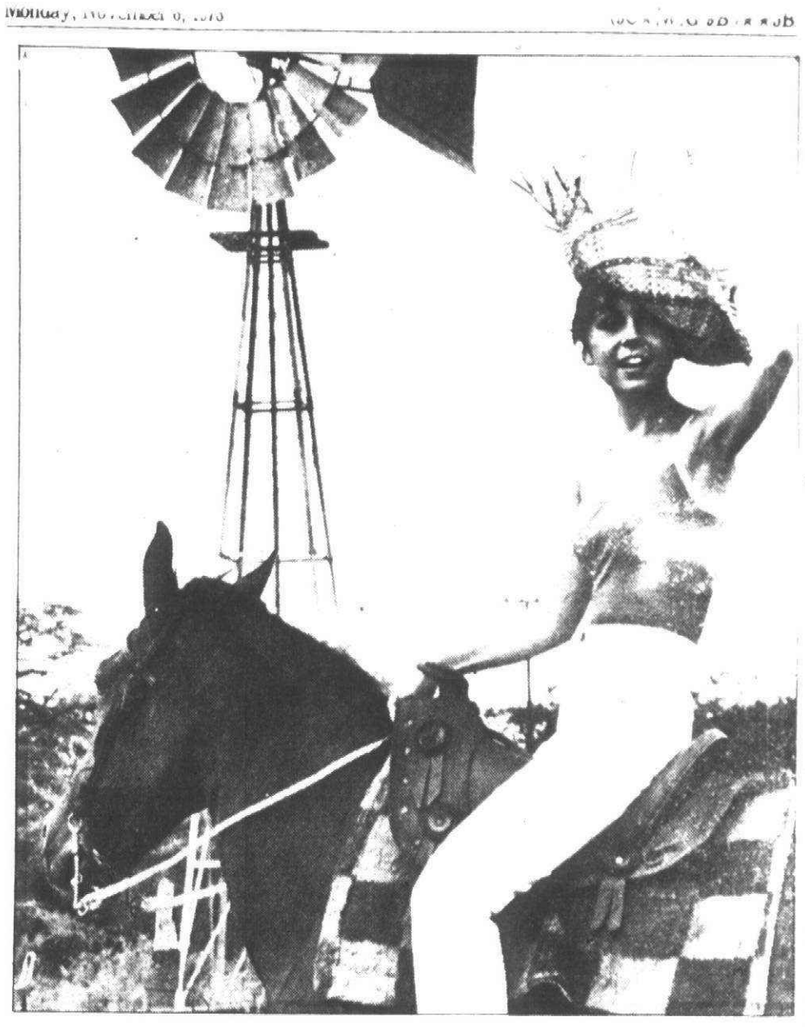
A walk around the town will certainly take you to the floating market and to the yellow-and-white federal government buildings of the Netherland Antilles Government.

Government buildings, and a centuries-old Protestant Church surround the compound of Fort Amsterdam near the entrance to the harbor.

At the other end of the shopping area, three blocks away along the canal, the floating market does business daily along a second canal.

Boats from Venezuela bring fruits, vegetables, flowers and fish regularly. Very little is grown on the island.

Two other downtown tourist attractions are Temple Emanuel, a former synagogue which now seats 235 people in regular showings of a Curacaon film, and Mikve Israel Synagogue, built in 1732. Mikve Israel is the oldest synagogue in continuous use in the Americas. It was founded in 1654 by Jewish refugees fleeing the Spanish Inquisition in Brazil.



Landhouse Groot St. Michiel allows for the opportunity to amble about free-spiritedly.

TRAVEL LOG of Iris Jones

Constant enlightenment

EN ROUTE TO CURACAO— Travel keeps giving me new insights into the world. Today I discovered an unexpected aspect of the discovery and settlement of the Americas.

Like every student, I once learned that "in 1492, Columbus sailed the ocean blue." Later I learned that Chris never set foot in North America, although he trampled around the West Indies and coastal Venezuela.

During my first visit to Seville, Spain, I saw tapestries showing two facets of 15th century Spanish history: The Columbus voyages to America, and the overthrow and eviction of Moors who had ruled Spain for centuries.

I also saw streets where Jews traditionally lived before being thrown out of Spain during the Inquisition.

These three bits of information came together for me today on American Airlines flight 679 from New York to Curacao, when I read that Spanish Jews played a significant role in the early colonization of these Carribean islands.

What's the connection?

The Jews, who had been persecuted in Spain for centuries, were glad to cooperate with the religiously tolerant Arab conquerors of Spain. When the Arabs lost Spain, the Catholic kings tried to force both Jews and Arabs to convert to christianity, but didn't really trust them when they did. They called them new Christians.

In 1492, the year of Columbus' first voyage, King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella signed an edict ordering the expulsion of all Jews who had not embraced Christianity.

Some Jews and New Christians sailed with Columbus. Thousands fled to Holland and were later resettled in Curacao and other islands of the Netherlands Antilles. Thousands more went to Brasil, and were later driven out by the invading Portuguese; they too fled to Curacao.

As a result, a major tourist attration in Curacao's capitol city of Willemstad is the Mikve Israel Synagogue, which is described as the oldest synagogue in continuous use in North America.

It was built in 1732 by a congregation that first gathered in 1654.

A later temple, Temple Emanuel, is a prominent public building on the main square; it is now used for special film showings and other activities for tourists.

An interesting sidelight to all this is the number of black Curacaons who now have Jewish names. Emancipated slaves took surnames from many sources, especially from their former owners. Dutch owners would only allow their surnames to be used if the names were altered significantly. Jewish owners gave their surnames freely to their former slaves.

All this is of interest to Jewish as well as non-Jewish travelers, because it gives a new view of the early colonization of America that is seldom mentioned during this Thanksgiving month.

It is a wonderful example of how travel broadens our horizons.

Council seeks fair listings

The Michigan Council for the Arts (MCA) is seeking information on state arts and crafts fairs scheduled to take place during 1979.

The information will be included in the 1979 Michigan Arts & Crafts & Fairs Festivals Directory.

By BOB WOODRING
O&E Photo Supervisor

Polaroid or Kodak instant picture users may have the same illusion as Pocket Instamatic owners when it comes to photo processing.

In either case, you may believe that film is simply put in contact with a specially treated paper and, almost magically, a picture appears.

Maybe that's why many get so upset when they are told at the corner drug store or photo shop that their pictures will take a week to be developed. Maybe that's also why some can't understand why film is lost. After all, they may reason, developing film is simple.

Contrary to suspicion, elves don't exist at processing laboratories, but some wonderfully magical computerized machines do.

There are no fewer than six photo finishing plants in western Wayne County. For amateur photographers, there are Guardian Photo, near Northville; Fox Photo in Plymouth and World Camera in Livonia.

Separating labs into such categories does not mean that they sell services only to such individuals. All of them do have special services, which are provided to each of the levels of competence.

All color labs are not the same. To give you insight into what happens to color film and how to improve your picture taking, we've compiled information and answers to your most frequently asked questions.

HOW DO THEY keep track of film? How does film get lost? What effect does airport X-ray have on film? Is black-and-white still an important factor? Do they print obscene pictures?

Well, how does film get lost?

Just about the time you have something important like a niece's wedding or a once-in-a-lifetime trip to Barbados, the lab scares you by announcing, "We can't find your film."

Bob Salisbury, World Camera plant manager, explains the system lost labs use in one form or another.

"Film is sorted by film type and size when it arrives in the plant. It's then twin-checked for matchup later on."

Twin-checked is dual numbering, which means that the order bag will have a number tag attached to it that will correspond to a number attached to the roll of film.

Later, when pictures are being printed, the first print made will be that same number.

In a plant worth $2.5 million, printer Anita Gallo and Fox Photo plant manager Bill Torbert operate the Kodak 2610 Printer, a computerized unit with a price tag of more than $100,000. (Staff photo)

After the film is identified with its appropriate number, it goes through an automatic processor. At World Camera, the machines are of the dip-and-dunk type.

The othet labs toured use a cine processor—a machine whereby film is attached to other film and transports via rollers through the chemicals much like movie film.

So how does film get lost?

"It usually happens by misfiling at the store or outlet where the film or outlet where the film originate," said Ed Lang, manager of a Fox Photo branch.

WHEN THERE ARE delays in deliveries, the main cause usually is that equipment has broken down.

Salisbury prides himself on providing a custom service to advanced amateurs as well as the vacation and holiday photographer. Among the services at World is "push-processing" Ektachrome 200 film so that it will take good pictures in poor light.

He added, "Of course we charge more for processing, but we think we provide the best."

Asked about those airport signs declaring that X-ray does not harm film, Salisbury said, "I don't believe it."

But then he qualified that by saying, "It's very possible it won't .

Lang at Fox Photo said, "We're getting a lot of film that shows fogging and color balance that appears slightly off."

Salisbury has noticed a type of fogging where 35mm sprocket holes appear as images on pictures.

The lab managers interviewed could not prove damage always was caused by airport X-ray. But they all seemed to agree that such surveillance machines could harm film that was repeatedly exposed to X-rays. This could happen on long trips involving many airports.

Lang recommends using Film Shield bags to protect film against such hazards.

WHAT ABOUT obscene pictures?

Salisbury said, "They're rather embarrasing.

"We will process film showing nudes, and it is against the law if we keep it. We don't always accept some negatives back for reprints, especially if they're really rough."

Lang said later, "I don't think a lot of people would be doing this if they realized how many people saw the film in the plant.

At least a dozen technicians handle the average film at Fox.

"The employees all look at every film, regardless of subject matter, that goes through here," Lang said.

Both managers agree that they would rather not handle this type of subject matter, and they don't encourage it.

ASKED WHAT could be recommended for improving pictures, Salisbury said, "Keep film refrigerated; in fact, frozen is better. But allow for thawing overnight before using, and at least two hours if refrigerated.

"When film is exposed, have it processed immediately. When on vacations, keep film as cool as possible by using something such as a food cooler and avoiding hot areas such as glove compartments, trunks and dashboards."

Know your equipment and the limitations of your flash units," Lang recommended. "Get closer to the subject and maintain the proper distance when using flash.

"Low light conditions give people the most problems. If customers had a chance to compare our prints in the summertime with those we receive in the winter, they would see a tremendous difference in print quality because of the outdoor lighting."

Salisbury said World Camera will install equipment to provide black-and-white processing.

"We cater to the advanced amateur, and this will be a step in providing a full-service lab to our customers," he said.

Lang said that on a national level for all of the Fox Photo labs "Only 2.6 per cent of all film processed is black-and-white.

"Color prints constitute 91 per cent of the business, with positive transparencies at 6.2 per cent.

Fox also offers a Pro-color service to advanced amateurs since purchasing a custom color lab in Indiana. The firm now offers enlargements uo to 20x24.

ANOTHER LAB providing professional services to the public is North American Photo at Inkster and Schoolcraft.

"We specialize in providing a professional color service for candid photography," said James Edleman, president of the corporation. This is mostly weddings and party-type, story telling sequences.

The lab handles 2,700 rolls of professional film annually.

"The majority of that film is 120 size and in the 2¼ square format," Mead said.

The treatment of film and the quality control standards at North American differ from the production system used by amateur plants. All film in the deluxe category is checked for filtration requirements on a television-like screen.

All the processors have several alarm systems cross-wired to warn of any danger of breakdowns.

"We can't afford to lose any film," said Mead.

Edelman added, "We're providing a service to professionals. They're making their bread and butter from the product we provide."

Where World Camera has a staff of 18 people on one shift, and Fox Photo a staff of 45 including drivers, North American staffs 53 people on two shifts.

THROUGHOUT THE LAB, as in other labs, white-gloved technicians were handling the film and sorting prints. The difference at this lab was that all bad pictures were reprinted as needed on each order.

Whether it's a processing error or photographer error, the best possible print is made.

With the deluxe processing provided at North American, many of the enlargements are hand printed compared to the computerized equipment elsewhere.

"Additional services such as print spotting and negative retouching are also provided," Mead said.

Of course, the price is higher and delivery can sometimes be slower at a professional lab of this type."

There is more to the photofinishing industry than parking lot islands, mall kiosks and drugstore counters.

With today's technology there is a choice of pocketable cameras recording images on super-small film, 35mm prism-viewing cameras, and 120 single-lens reflexes.

We can create our own pictures by buying an instant-processing camera like Polaroid. Or we can be pampered.

Toy soldiers go on parade in new shop

By BETTY MASSON

If you've ever thought it would be nice to have a whole army at your command, a good place to start would be with a visit to the Brigade Shop, 31509 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

This newly-opened store features a great array of toy soldiers and military minatures, plus a knowledgeable proprietor, Paul Cirocco.

Cirocco gets his knowledge from an early interest in model soldiers, and from a life-long interest in history, literature and art.

He studied all three at Schoolcraft College, and was once told by a college career counselor, "I can't think of a thing for you. Whatever you wind up doing will have some element of the ridiculous about it."

He may have reasoned that, in today's world, an interest in history may be a nice hobby, but it's a difficult thing to build a career on unless you are interested in teaching.

To some, collecting toy soldiers may seem a little strange, but it is certainly not ridiculous. It's a growing hobby, reports Cirocco.

It's one that has long been popular in England and on the Continent. Many U.S. servicemen became interested during tours of duty overseas in World War II and after. But until 10 years ago, Cirocco said, most collectors had to send overseas for their models.

TODAY, THERE ARE many importing companies in the business, as well as manufacturers in the U.S. and Canada.

Cirocco says that owning a hobby store of such a specialized nature is "scary." He worked for United Model Distributors in Livonia before deciding to open his own business.

"I saw stores come and go," he commented. "I tried to determine what mistakes they made, and I will try toavoid them."

There are always examples os success to give a young propietor heart. Cirocco pointed out the Squadron Shop in Hazel Park as one of these. From a Detroit location, in 10 years it has grown form one store to four, with a mail order department and its own warehouse.

Cirocco is planning to handle many imports plus a wide selection of toy soldiers, horses, equipment, and books describing uniforms and monthly magazines devoted to the hobby from the standpoint of the collector or the war games enthusiast.

THE COLLECTORS have a two-year-old club, the Michigan Society of Figure Collectors, which meets the last Sunday of each month at Fort Wayne.

For the collector, besides the normal soldiers, there are such things as figures of great stars of the 1930s and '40s depicted in their most famous roles (Clark Gable as Rhett Butler, for instance), Dickens figures, Camelot figures and a series on uniforms worn by the British Navy form the 1200s to the present day.

Games players can choose not only from such famous figures as participants in the Napoleonic and Revolutionary Wars, but can conduct battles using Saracens or Samarai warriors.

The Detroit Metropolitan Games Association, reports Cirocco, attracts about 2,000 persons twice yearly to Oakland University, where they set up their soldiers and play out war games. All of these are governed by elaborate rules, set forth in thick books.

A collector's model, depending on size, can cost anywhere from $4 to $100. Games players can get less expensive, though smaller, sets. As the price of metal goes up, the size of the minatures goes down. Many plastic figures are also available.

THOUGH LESS EXPENSIVE, these pose one difficulty. All the models come unpainted. With a metal soldier, if your hand slips, you can take the paint off and start over again. With a plastic soldier, use of paint remover can destroy the soldier.

Looks like a lot of work, but worth the effort. Cirocco has models from several collections, including his own, on display. He offers informal painting sessions in his store every Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

For those who prefer to make model airplanes and boats, Cirocco also stocks these, as well as a wide variety of board games. Quest, a game of the Knights of the Round Table, is to be found right beside Strange New Worlds, a glactic exploration.

Cirocco is planning to stock games and model kits not usually found in department stores but he does have what promises to be this year's favorites, "Battlestar Galactica" kits and Tolkien games, plus Tolkien-type figures. He even has a bright gold metal dragon among his soldiers.

Cutshaw joins Hygrade

John Cutshaw, formerly vice-president of the Peschke Packing Company of Detroit, has been appointed vice-president and general manager of Hygrade Food Products Livonia Division.

In this position, Cutshaw will have responsibility for the manufacture and sale of the company's Ball Park, West Virginia and Hygrade brand processed meat products in the five-state area covered by the Livonia Division.

He will report directly to D. Clyde Ruley, president of Hygrade Food Products Corp., and will be headquartered in Hygrade's plant on Plymouth Road in Livonia.

Cutshaw has spent his entire business career in the meat industry. Prior to his association with Peschke, where he was vice-president for nine years, he held a number of management positions with the Sugardale Company of Canton, Ohio.

He also has served on various committees of the American Meat Institute.

Market Watch

By JOHN E. VERNIER

On Oct. 29, 1929, the stock market experienced its infamous crash.

Forty-nine years later on Monday, Oct. 30, 1978, it appeared for a while that history was going to repeat itself.

At noon, after two hours of trading, the Dow-Jones industrial average was off almost 18 points. Trading activity was at a hectic pace. The ticker tape was 35 minutes late in reporting transactions. Losers overwhelmed gainers by as much as 24 to 1 at one point.

AFTER A PERIOD of steady prices, the market began to gradually improve until—almost unbelieveably—the market turned to the plus side and closed with a gain of almost six points.

Final volume totaled 59 million shares. It was the third highest trading day in history.

Blame for the morning selling avalanche can be directed to several factors. Inflation, the persistent weakness of the dollar, new record highs in the price of gold, and rising interest rates continue to be the principle negatives.

The 90-point decline during the previous 11 trading sessions had already weakened the underpinnings of the market. In addition to a serious effect on the confidence of the investing community, the decline had reached the point where margin accounts were being called for additional collatoral.

THE RULES are very severe with regard to the conditions under which a margin account may continue to exist.

Certain minimum equity levels must be maintained. When the market value declines to a point where the relationship between total value and the amount borrowed is below the requirement, the account is called for additional collatoral.

If the account is unable to make the deposit, the broker has no choice but to force the account to liquidate enough of the stock position to bring the equity back to required minimums.

This is called forced liquidation. It tends to feed on itself in that it causes prices to decline even further, and in turn, touch off further forced liquidation.

The dramatic decline in stock prices has attracted front page attention. Comments and opinions have come from all quarters with the primary concern—not the stock market itself—but, what does it all mean?

IS THEmarket predicting tough times ahead? Or, is it merely a condition within the market itself—a correction of speculative excesses—that has no real significance to the over-all economy?

The market has a pretty good record as a lead indicator. Certainly, it should not and cannot be ignored.

Possibly this massive decline will force our leaders to take more stringent measures to correct our economic woes.

The destruction of capital is never a pleasant sight.

Unpleasant as it is, however, the investors of America have sounded a message—loud and clear—that all is not well.

Let's hope that Washington understands the message!

Amici named plant manager

The Wyckoff Steel Division of Ampco-Pittsburgh Corp. has announced the appointment of William Amici as plant manager for the Wyckoff Pilgrim Works in Plymouth.

A Wyckoff employee for the past five years, Amici held the position of superintendent of the Plymouth plant immediately prior to this promotion.

He has been replaced in that post by Perry Boring who moves up from the role of foreman. Boring has been a Wyckoff Pilgrim employee 11 years.

Brown states goals

Money for schools and tax relief for elderly needed

Education funding and property tax relief for senior citizens are two major goals which Thomas Brown has set for himself as he seeks re-election to the State House for a fifth, two-year term.

Brown is a Westland resident whose 37th District also includes all of Canton Township and parts of Plymouth Township and Wayne.

His opponent is Republican Thomas Sullivan, also of Westland. Although unable to be reached for comment, Sullivan, in an earlier candidates night, said he supports raising the drinking age to 21 and the Headlee amendment (Proposal E) to limit taxes.

"We definitely need to solve the funding of education," said Brown. "We've made some headway, but those are mainly Band-Aid efforts. We need to come up with a formula for those districts who are losing students but still have buildings."

Relieving the property tax burden for senior citizens is a goal Brown said he has striven for for a "number of years, but I haven't got it yet.

"We need to have a system in which senior citizens can just sign a voucher exempting themselves from the total school tax with the difference made up by the state government," he added.

Looking over the last two of his eight years as a state rep, Brown sees new laws protecting charter townships and condominimum owners as major accomplishments.

"Charter townships are now protected from annexation by cities," Brown explained. "The law isn't totally what we wanted, but it does give townships breathing room.

"They now have a chance to develop in a way that they really have a right to," he added.

Brown believes that the new condominium law provides protection for unit owners as well as builders and investors.

"It spells out what's expected in that type of housing and from each party in the development," he said.

Development of Michigan's economic climate, which Brown thinks is good, will take tax limitation, he said.

"We have to continue efforts to attract new industrial and commercial enterprises to stay on par," said Brown. "Headlee (Proposal E on the Nov. 7 ballot) allows us that time to review what attractions we have, and it gives us time to devise a manner for fair and better taxation."

Brown noted that he is opposed to the Tisch (proposal J) and voucher (proposal H) plans on the ballot. The voucher amendment would cause "havoc" because it doesn't provide for "administrative control," according to Brown.

As a member of the roads and bridges and taxation committees in the state house, Brown said he took an active role in the recently approved transportation package.

That law "addresses the needs of the total state rather than just one area," Brown continued, allowing for the improvement of roads such as Ford, Plymouth and Ann Arbor Trail.

"Senior citizens and the handicapped do need public transportation, and this relegates money from the general fund for it," he said.

That transportation package provides for increases in gasoline taxes and license plate fees, and for reorganization of the highway department into a transportation department.

Directly related to the transportation package, Brown believes that ballot proposal M "must pass (on Nov. 7) to assure reasonable division of funds."

That amendment would divide transportation funding into two categories: Ninety per cent would go to roads, highways and streets, and the remaining 10 per cent would be used for all other forms of transportation.

Other proposals Brown considers highly important are K, which denies bail for repeat offenders, and B which mandates that criminals serve minimum sentences. Browns favors both amendments.

Brown also likes proposal G which covers state police bargaining rights.

"Some people believe this gives the state police strike powers, but it doesn't. It gives the state police the same rights as others to pick a unit to bargain for wages and working conditions," Brown said.

Other committees of which Brown is a member in the state house include mental health, agriculture and towns and counties, of which he is chairman.

Brown, 61, also is a member of the Westland Breakfast Lions Club, the Wayne-Ford Civic League, VFW Harris-Kehrer post and the Notre Dame Council of the Knights of Columbus.

If deficiencies known, why not corrected?

Editor:

Reference is made to your factual article regarding the consolidating of the fire department.

Trustee Maurice Breen stated that he has known of the deficiencies of the Plymouth Township Fire Department for a long time. My question is to him why didn't he do something about it? Is he going to wait until someone is hurt or killed or we have a tremendous property loss? Maybe if you check deeply you might find that some of these deficiencies existed or orginated when he was township supervisor.

After the township board meeting last Tuesday Mr. Breen, in front of people and the press, told me he didn't like citizen committees because they check too far into things and into things they should not be concerned with. That sounds like typical Breen lawyer logic and makes no sense to me. I learned a long time ago in my business and governmental career to get all the facts both for and against before you try to solve a problem. I think the deficiencies in the township fire department and the city fire department must be taken into consideration when you talk consolidation.

I wish to assure Mr. Breen that I will continue to dig as far and wide as I deem necessary to get the necessary facts to assure that the total Plymouth community is protected, and I could care less if he doesn't like it.

Drivers protest threats

Editor:

As bus drivers and concerned parents, we are addressing and sending this letter to you. We consider ourselves professionals and we are dedicated to the safety and well-being of all the children. The effectiveness of the entire transportation system depends on all of us and we must all work together.

We are paid for the responsibility that we partake, but we are not paid to have our lives and physical well-being threatened. Whenever any student feels he or she can threaten us with a minimal amount of punishment, then we are no longer in charge. That student then becomes an undesirable to us and the other students.

Beginning with the most recent incident that precipitates this decision, we, the bus drivers of Plymouth-Canton, will not allow any student to threaten us. We will not allow that student on our buses and he or she will have to find other means of transportation.

A threat to one of us (bus drivers) will be considered a threat to all of us. This type of student behavior will not be tolerated by any of the drivers of the Plymouth-Canton school system.

TRANSPORTATION EMPLOYEES ASSOCIATION

CEP Stage Band available for hire

Members of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) stage band are capable of playing for more engagements than just the routine concerts put on by the CEP music department.

The 20-member organization, under the direction of associate director of bands Carl Battishill, would like the Plymouth-Canton community to be aware of this.

Since the stage band has been formed, the Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools have gone to a traditional type of scheduling not leaving enough hours in the day to accomodate the stage band with rehearsal time. To make up for the scheduling loss, the band rehearses during the after-school hours to keep itself intact.

Performances by the stage band in the past have included commercial events, wedding receptions and various dances. The musical repertoire of the group ranges from Maynard Ferguson to Glenn Miller.

Instrumentation includes five saxophones, five trumpets, four trombones and a rhythm section of six.

This year's members are Mark Thrasher, Judy Schumacher, Ted Henning, Roger Anason, Joe LaBeau, Bruce Ruttenberg, Lisa Holk, Laurie Golden, Bob Sherman, Jeff Stankiewicz, John Upton, Karen Lattin, Chris Koepke, Greg Hausman, Jerry Hotchkin, Jeff Stopa, Eric Flavin, Jeff Kornes, Kurt Schubert and Mike McGonagly.

Anyone outside the realm of school functions interested in the stage band's services should contact Battishill at 453-3100, ext. 328. Profits from the band's services go towards the increase of its musical library and amplification system.

College Night set for students

Students of Plymouth, Canton, Novi and South Lyon should set aside Nov. 9 as Northville High School hosts "College Night" for the school districts.

Parents of Plymouth-Canton students, however, are encouraged to attend the high school parent conference night at Centennial Educational Park, also scheduled for Nov. 9.

Seniors and juniors who have not decided on a particular college to attend are encouraged to attend the college night presentation scheduled for 7:30-9:30 p.m. in NHS.

Representatives from 42 colleges and universities will be on hand to talk about their schools and answer questions on curriculum, tuition, and housing costs, admission standards, and other essentials.

Important information on financial aid will be available. Each session is scheduled for one-half hour, and ample time for questions and answers is included, according to district officials.

It takes a Good Judge to Know One. . .

CUTTING WASTE

For eight years as a local official, Carl Levin battled waste and bureaucratic bungling. Because he knows the costs, Carl Levin will fight against waste – full-time – as a U. S. Senator.

Environmental regulations which produce a lot of red tape, instead of clean air and water, do not serve anyone. Welfare programs which spend billions of dollars on administration and still can't weed out the cheaters are intolerable. The list is much too long. . .

Cutting out waste, making programs work right, takes a serious commitment – you have to do it full-time. The Congress must have the power to veto rules made by unelected bueaucrats. Making existing programs work isn't as glamorous as dreaming up new ones – but it's a big part of what we pay our Senators to do.
