Sludge is now being dumped in local landfill

Bi-Product Systems of Michigan has been dumping tons of sludge at a Canton landfill for the past two months while preparing a proposal for a sludge composting site on Michigan Avenue.

General manager Tom Reed said his firm has dumped about 300 to 400 tons of sludge each day at Woodland Meadows Sanitary Landfill on Hannan south of Michigan.

He said the dumping has been approved by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the Wayne County Environmental Health Department.

Bruce Phillips, director of Canton's ordinance department, investigated the dumping procedure last Wednesday. He

Cop car chosen as sniper target

A sniper fired four gunshots at a Canton police officer Wednesday night as he was conducting a routine patrol of a new subdivision near Canton Center and Palmer.

Patrol officer William Britcher was not injured in the 9:30 p.m. incident, but the patrol car he was driving was hit by bullets in three places.

Sgt. Larry Stewart said Britcher was unable to apprehend his assailant who was apparently hiding near a creek which runs behind Greenbrook Subdivision.

Stewart said there was no apparent motive for the gunfire. There were no reports of robbery or vandalism in the area. Police are not even sure if the sniper knew that he was firing at a patrol car.

A helicopter of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department hovered over the area with lights for approximately an hour after the incident occurred, Stewart said. Three Canton patrol cars and numerous sheriff deputies rushed to the site to offer their assistance.

Sgt. Dennis Joker points out a bullet hole that was made by the police department to compare it to the four shots ripped into the car by an unknown sniper. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Trout lilies come to life

A patch of hepaticas serve as a natural background for the yellow trout lilies, which began to bloom in mid-April and now provide a carpeting of leaves for Miller Woods on Powell Road near Ridge. Miller is a beech-maple climax forest which contains the culmination — over a two year period — of successive stages of plant growth. Such a forest, with a large variety of spring plants, now is a rarity. Among the wild flowers which may be found in the 10-acre forest, once owned by the Miller family of Plymouth Township, are Spring Beauty, Harbinger of Spring, hepatica, Squirrel Corn, and Blood Root. The woods is now property of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Neighbors join against vandals

Jim Kronberg admits that sitting in his car for hours is not particularly fun.

But Kronberg and the other 20 volunteers from Westbrooke Subdivision feel it is the only way to discourage vandals who have wreaked night-time havoc in their neighborhood since last November.

Kronberg says that smashed mailboxes and lawns ruined by tire marks have become common occurrences in the subdivision south of Warren and west of Lilley. CB radios have been stolen, three break-ins have been attempted and a few windows have been shattered by pellet guns.

In one incident, a vandal hopped the fence of a backyard and poked a sharp instrument into the side of an above-ground swimming pool. Kronberg said the pool sprung a slow leak and was damaged beyond repair.

Kronberg began to trade notes with neighbors after he was forced to replace two destroyed mailboxes in nine days. On May 3, 51 Westbrooke residents gathered in Kronberg's home to discuss his neighborhood watch idea.

That evening, the system went into operation.

"THE CANTON POLICE have been very cooperative, and I think they're doing everything they can," Kronberg said. "But they're short-staffed, and they can't patrol our neighborhood all the time."

Kronberg says the purpose of the neighborhood watch is "high visibility" and a deterrent to crime. Volunteers patrol the streets and park their cars in locations where most of the small, 72-home subdivision can be seen.

But he stresses, "We're not a vigilante group. It's not our intention to apprehend anyone. We call the police."

Since the neighborhood watch began, Canton police have requested a warrant for the arrest of one individual who was spotted driving across a lawn by a Westbrooke volunteer.

According to Kronberg, no other cases of vandalism have been reported since the system began.

Kronberg hopes to continue the watch on a nightly basis until mid-summer. In July or August, the patrols will be conducted on a sporadic basis.

Westbrooke residents believe the

Board adds three officers to police department staff

Canton Police Department will get a new sergeant and two more patrol officers despite the protest of two Canton Township Board trustees.

Approval of the additional staff came at a Thursday special board meeting after the request was added to the agenda at the last minute.

New Police Chief, Jerry Cox, had originally asked the board to create a fifth sergeant's position and approve the hiring refilling of two vacant sergeant's posts.

Cox got the additional sergeant as well as a permission to hire two more patrol officers.

The board, with the exception of trustees Eugene Daley and Lynn Goldsmith, were especially receptive to the request for more staff in the wake of one Canton police officer's Wednesday night brush with a sniper (see related story).

The cost of the new officers will have to be covered by funds beyond the money generated by a one mill police tax levied for the police department.

According to Treasurer James Donahue, the cost of the police department last year, including the price of renovating the old township administration building to house police, was closer to 2.75 mills than one mill.

Although most board members conceded that the Township police are understaffed, Daley and Mrs. Goldsmith objected to the way the new officers' jobs were created.

"I can't believe how easily we contradict ourselves," Mrs. Goldsmith said.

"We bring other department heads in who are begging for help and tear them apart, but when the police come in with an item added on an agenda I didn't get

Short takes

DON'T MAKE any plans to travel Haggerty between Ford and Cherry Hill, at least until after May 25. According to the Wayne County Road Commission, that stretch of road will be closed on a 24-hour basis until reconstruction of the Smith Drain culvert crossing Haggerty is completed. You can now rest easy that summer has arrived. Road closings are an even more reliable indicator than the first robin.

THE LIBRARY millage wasn't the only one passed last Wednesday. Voters in the Wayne-Westland School District, which includes a small portion of Canton, also approved a three-mill increase in taxes for two years.

Unlike the library special election, which drew less than 1,400 voters out of an estimated 22,000 registered voters, the W-W millage drew 10,260 total votes. That's the largest voter turnout in the 15 years that the district has been recording election statistics. The unofficial vote count was 6,312 in favor of 3,948 against.

NOW'S THE TIME to get out those kites. The Canton recreation department is sponsoring a kite flying contest beginning 10 a.m. May 19 at Griffin Park. The contest will be divided into two age groups — nine and under and 10 to 13. There will be trophies and other goodies for winners. Remember to bring your own kite.

YOU CAN'T always believe what you hear: Canton is going to cough up another $8,000 to $9,000 for the courtroom that was thought to be finally completed. "Everyone said we didn't need air conditioning in the courtroom because it was in the basement," said Supervisor Noel Culbert at last week's special board meeting.

He added, "But now it's 100 degrees down there." The money will go toward the cost of installing air conditioning.

There was a brief moment of hope at the meeting when someone suggested an air conditioning unit slated for sale at the Township auction be reclaimed. Only one problem to that idea — it was a window unit, and there are no windows in a basement. Just overheated judges.

Pay for remodeling work adds to contractor dispute

The Canton Township Police Department is not satisfied with the quality of renovation work at its new quarters in what was once the administration building.

And the department's list of complaints has further snarled Canton Township's relationship with the contractor who won the bid for the work.

Although the board of trustees voted last Thursday to award Tony Rea of Area Construction Inc. $11,000 more toward the cost of the police department renovation, there is still dispute over how much more Canton owes the contractor.

The problem began shortly after Rea's bid on remodeling both the police station and courtroom was accepted by the board last August 22.

At that time, officials had planned to turn the meeting hall at the Canton Fire Department (Canton Center and Cherry Hill roads) into a 35th District Court branch. Rea's bid for the court and the police station was $206,600.

A few months later, they were advised by planning officials not to put a courtroom next to a fire station. Instead, they decided to build a courtroom in the new administration building on Canton Center Road. The old administration building, now the police station, is on Geddes, just west of Michigan Ave.

Rea never did work on a courtroom as he had been contracted to do, according to officials. His company did begin work on remodeling the old administration building to house the police.

Rea said that Canton should pay him $12,000 because it reneged on the courtroom contract. The township has thus far been unwilling pay Rea. No agreement has been reached on that dispute.

Rea also said he should be paid $15,600 immediately for work done on the police department. Township officials did not want to pay because they said the work on the police department was inadequate.

Both sides then agreed to meet at the police station to tour the building and decide what work had not been done properly and what work still remained to be done.

Last Thursday, Supervisor Noel Culbert, Treasurer Jim Donahue, Deputy Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz, Trustees Carol Bodenmiller, and Robert Greenstein, project architect Desmond Hamill, Rea and several of his subcontractors met in Police Chief Jerry Cox's office to discuss the work.

Rea said the township still owed him $36,000, not including the $12,000 he wants for the courtroom contract. "I've offered to negotiate with all my subcontractors and come back with a new figure. I can't pay my subcontractors if you don't pay me."

"In this business, with labor and material costs, it's always better to get more volume out of a job. If I go back to the subcontractors and say we're not going to do the courthouse, their price to me is not going to be the same," Rea said.

He was answered by Greenstein, who began to list all the things he said were wrong with the remodeling job.

Greenstein cited cell door walls that were put on backwards so that new openings for the lock had to be torched on the other side; the door to the armory, which had to be broken because the lock didn't work; electrical outlets crusted with paint; door walls that weren't straight; cell flooring that could be pulled up; door closures that didn't match; gaps between ceilings and walls; and inadequate paint work.

At one time, the toilets in the prisoner's cells wouldn't flush, but that has since been corrected, according to Donahue.

After making the tour, the two sides agreed that $11,000 should be paid immediately, with an additional $25,000 to be paid when the police station has been completed to the township's satisfaction.

A low cost Contour Analysis examination is being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic offices listed below. People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neuralgia, nerve pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc., are invited to receive this low cost examination.

Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moire photography) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion, and scoliosis.

This analysis, including consultation with the doctor is being offered to the public at a low cost for the next 30 days. Anyone wishing to receive this low cost examination may telephone the participating doctors directly for information or an appointment.

BACK TO BASICS

Question: National attention has recently been drawn to a "back to basics" approach to education. Do you feel the Plymouth-Canton Community School District is meeting the needs of its students in regard to these basics? What changes, if any, would you propose?

SMITH: Plymouth-Canton School District has not performed well on state exams. Livonia, Berkley and Beaver Island teach basics and have higher scores. Ann Arbor is returning to basics to improve quality education. The school district should set standardized goals for basic skills and environmental knowledge.

SINCLAIR: Back to basics "referring to reading, Writing, arithmetic" is fine, but just as much emphasis should be placed on other educational curriculum, distributive and vocational education (business, co-op)?, also liberal arts pursuits in music, drama, and home economics. Overall liberal background is desirable for all students; but an education to face the realities of life after school is of great importance also. The "back to basics" builds the foundation; the application of these ideas form the mind.

SWARTZWELTER: Different children have different basic needs. My definition of basics: prepare children for life after school. No district system exists for testing "basics" before graduation. Each parent must judge — have "basics" been provided. Some parents believe improvements in "basics" are required, and I agree. Some "basics" classes are too large; some special programs too minimum. Need minimum requirements for graduation; added emphasis on "basics" for special children — both bottom and top of range. More vocational program emphasis; more top-range emphasis.

KOCH: We've always paid attention to basics. Look at statewide tests, college bound. We must continue, improve. Middle schoolers could receive additional reading programs elp as in elementary. Sharpen elective offerings all upper levels, reinforce basics by providing scholastic extras.

YACK: Students are learning. Over 80 percent go on to post high school learning, students are scoring well on state assessment and college entrance examinations, and students are excelling in academic activities (debate, etc.). But more needs to be done. Establish student learning objectives by grade level, raise expectations, more consistency between schools, more continuity between grade levels. Allocate more time to language arts in secondary.

ROBERTS: Sixty percent of the Plymouth-Canton School students enter college (higher than national average). College is the reward of learning. I would like to help increase that percentage, guide them in the direction that they will be able to use their education.

STETZ: With qualified, creative teachers the basics are never lost. Our children are getting a good education. The basics are really a part of all learning and teachers simply use different methods, techniques and approaches when educating. Parents should be informed about new approach or technique.

FOLEY: Results of achievement tests administered to the students of the Plymouth-Canton School District show the quality of education to be excellent. "Basics" are being taught.

VOGRAS: Since the elimination of modular scheduling, yes. However, I feel more emphasis should be put forth towards "back to basics," particularly in our children's adolescent years. According to the Michigan Assessment Test, our schools scored above average; therefore no changes.

WINES: Generally yes — expanded and improved of course. Specific standards grade level objectives, Proper emphasis on language arts, history, civics, sciences. Better evaluation homework assignments. Improved report cards. Responsibility and accountability (students, parents, teachers, administrators). Rules enforced. Proper discipline. Respect for authority. Better communication between parents, schools, administration.

RIISING ENROLLMENT

Question: In light of increasing enrollments, what do you consider the most viable alternatives to housing the increasing school population? Do you feel that the stability of attendance areas should be a factor?

FOLEY: Growth projections through 1984 show an estimated enrollment of almost 20,000 students. To maintain the high quality of education, adequate facilities to house students must exist. The use of portables, necessary expansion of the ESY program, new construction and the possibility of renting bordering school facilities must be considered. Attendance must be stabilized.

STETZ: One workable program within our immediate reach is the Extended School Year. Realistic, moderate building will house the students at middle and high school. Stability of attendance areas, feelings of the community, and availability of funds are important factors to be considered.

WINES: Expand ESY since no new building construction was proposed by bond committee. Increase use of portable classrooms preferably not placed at schools already overcrowded. Most definitely attendance areas should be stabilized. Parents want this very much.

SMITH: We have experimented with the Extended School Year long enough. Adopt ESY in every school in the district K-12. Build elementary schools for stable community. Reassign school grade quantities to utilize existing facilities. Use temporary buildings in areas of high demand. Change attendance boundaries only as a last resort.

VOGRAS: The proposed millage increase would provide an extended school year (ESY) thus utilizing the present school housing. Yes, stability of attendance areas should be a factor; in fact, number one priority.

ROBERTS: I support portable classrooms. There should be quarterly reports to the board of education from local government on how many homes were sold with children, their ages, and when the home will be occupied. Results would be good planning and budgeting.

YACK: Stability of attendance areas is first priority. Alternatives selected should not be disruptive. Student housing for the future will include a combination of alternatives: ESY, portables, rental of schools and new construction. Selections must be made by community on the basis of impact on instructional program, disruption, and cost.

KOCH: ESY has proven viable at elementary, middle — sacrifices are necessary by administrators, parents, teachers — children have benefited. High school growth requires space. Quality programs might be maintained through "school within school"; boundary stability is important — some changes may still occur. Final boundary plans several years ahead so that we know where we're going; additional sensitivity, local input early, as was done bond advisory, will minimize charges of crisis management.

Sign ordinance decision may be made May 22

By CAROLINE PRICE

A considerably more stringent sign ordinance than was first proposed is scheduled to be voted on by the Canton Board of Trustees at the May 21 regular meeting.

But first, officials and interested persons can get an idea how signs in the proposed sizes will actually look during a demonstration scheduled for 5 p.m. Monday (today) at a site owned by a local businessman.

Leo Vergote volunteered at a special board meeting last Thursday to have plywood cut to the various sizes allowed by the ordinance under consideration. The businessmen will hold the demonstration at the site of his racketball center, under construction at 41677 Ford Rd.

The four sign sizes Vergote has promised to demonstrate were slashed almost in half from the sizes first recommended by the Township planning commission. Canton's planning commission worked with committees to formulate the ordinance for almost two years.

Ordinance recommended by the planning commission would allow 50-square foot freestanding signs for businesses zoned C-2. The present ordinance bars all freestanding signs except those "grandfathered in." However, board members indicated Thursday that the sign footage would have to be reduced even more.

The board's version of the ordinance would allow C-2 businesses signs up to 25 square feet, with another 40 percent increase (making a total of 35 feet) if the signs are made of natural materials.

Ordinance officer Bruce Phillips has been instructed to rewrite other portions of the ordinance being considered so that industrial, and builder's signs would be cut back from what was originally proposed. Board members told Phillips they wanted the signs to be of equitable size for all zoning districts.

Phillips said sign height and set back requirements are also being changed on the final ordinance draft.

The board's decision to have sign sizes made smaller before it will vote on the ordinance drew protests from businesspersons attending the Thursday meeting.

Frank McMurray, president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, submitted a letter stating the Chamber's stand on the issue.

"We, members of the business community totally disagree with your proposed changes. We therefore would appreciate a totally concentrated effort and concern to reverse your recent actions," the letter said.

The letter asked the board to "reconsider these changes and unanimously support the work, research and efforts of the Canton Planning Commission, League of Women Voters and the many residents who were instrumental in the preparation of the proposed sign ordinance."

Trustee Lynn Goldsmith disputed part of the letter. "This is the second time you've lumped the League of Women Voters in a statement," she told McMurray.

Mrs. Goldsmith said the league had never addressed the size of signs or endorsed the proposed ordinance.

Gary Roberts, a Canton resident now running for the school board, produced a petition he said had been signed by 238 residents. The petition asked whether those who signed it accept the condition of 50 square-foot free standing signs.

Roberts pointed to a recent Chamber of Commerce poll in which 69 percent of those surveyed said they would favor freestanding signs if they were strictly regulated.

Treasurer James Donahue said the same survey had 63 percent of those surveyed saying they wanted no change in the present sign law.

Roberts called for the sign issue to be put on the ballot for voters to decide, a sentiment echoed by several other members in the audience.

Businessman Phillip Haddad, owner of the Canton House restaurant, told the board he didn't think all signs were ugly. "The beauty of Broadway in New York is because of the signs. Also the beauty of Las Vegas is because of the signs. People come from all over just to see the signs."

Haddad was asked if he would mind if Plymouth, the community he lives in, looked like Broadway or Las Vegas. He said no.

Others, such as UAW Local 735 financial secretary Lee Huffstutter said he would like a freestanding sign for the union hall in Canton so members could find it.

But along with support for bigger signs came support for small signs or no signs at all.

"I can't understand how you people can say you lose business by not having big signs," one resident said.

She added, "Let's have something pretty for a change instead of something ugly and grotesque."

Jim Kronberg, another resident, said, "Industrial businesses in any city, or state, are wooed, but retail businesses are service-oriented. If these businessmen asking for signs in Canton weren't here, someone else would be."

Kronberg continued, "The residents don't really owe anything to the businesses, but the businesses owe something to the residents."

Resident Martha Miller said, "If a businessman is good, a businessman doesn't need big signs."

But businessmen responded that they were "the backbone of the community and pay most of the taxes."

Vergote volunteered to prepare the sample signs after the board suggested the Chamber make a similar presentation. At the board's request, Vergote has promised to get plywood in 18, 25, 35 and 50 square foot sizes — all maximums in the ordinance as changed by the trustees.

Rotary's auction needs donations

A flood of unusual and valuable items has been pouring in for the Canton Rotary Club's annual rummage sale, scheduled for May 19 and 20.

Orren Hall, a member of the rummage sale committee, says they have pool tables, furniture, antiques, collectibles, hardware, power mowers and clothing. There also is a large refrigerator in good working order.

The club would welcome more donations. They can handle large appliances and most usable items. Proceeds from the sale will go to the club's local Canton projects.

Rain or shine, the rummage will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days at 8240 Lilley Road (adjacent to Mettetal Airport) at Bill Brown's Auto Clinic. If it rains, the stock will be placed inside Brown's hangar. If the weather is good, the items will be on the runway.

Carl Schultz is chairing the event with the assistance of Hall and Hank Salla. Persons wishing to donate items can call Hall, 455-3590, for more information.

The Canton Rotary Club is beginning its third year. The 30 members recently celebrated the club's second anniversary.

Vacated hazard spot is condemned

By LYNN ORR

Spring rains apparently escalated a troublespot into a hazard for small children in a Plymouth Township neighborhood.

The troublespot has become a thorn in the side of Don Massey, Cadillac dealership owner who also owns the vacant house that has caught the wrath of residents in Mayflower subdivision.

A magnet for small children during the day and teenagers at night, the house at 44881 Ann Arbor Road east of Baywood has been vacant for more than a year. Two weeks ago, township firefighters extinguished a fire in the barn-garage at the rear of the property.

But the flooded basement, which is exposed through the deteriorating back porch, caused neighbors to file complaints with the township's building department.

After viewing the basement flooded with more than five feet of standing water, inspector Joseph Attard condemned the house April 17.

He asked Massey to construct barriers around the porch to prevent small children from falling into the water. Attard also called Detroit Edison to turn off the electricity to the house.

Massey constructed wood barriers around the porch and placed a metal grate between the wood and porch. However, Attard feared that small children could squeeze through the spaces remaining open.

LAST THURSDAY, about five hours after the Observer photographed the home, workers employed by Massey pumped out the water in the basement, after another request by Attard.

Workers assured neighbors that Massey planned to demolish the house this week.

However, a spokesperson for Massey said he has no plans to demolish the building in the near future, and is currently negotiating to sell the property to a church group, which wants to use the land to build a senior citizen housing complex.

Earlier reports pegged a $250,000 asking price for the 4.7 acre parcel. The property is zoned for multiple use as a buffer between the single-family subdivision and apartments to the east.

NEIGHBORS SAY the house has been a "nagging problem" for the past year.

They are concerned about the possible health hazards of dead animals that were floating in the water and the possibility of the basement flooding again during heavy rains.

"If we can get this straightened out before the kids get out of school, it will be all right," said one woman.

The barn-garage, with three lean-tos, is littered with newspapers, charred cardboard cartons, rusty screws and bolts, a rusty oil drum and several partially-filled cans.

One can of diesel starting fuel and another of acrylic spray paint were marked "flammable." Another can contained Graylawn Farm "Louse-chase."

A window with "Helter-skelter" scrawled on it marks the open barn-garage as the target of vandals.

The house itself appears in adequate condition, Attard said.

"I wouldn't have condemned it except for the water in the basement," he said.

Students earn science honors

Two students from Plymouth are among those who have won awards at the 1979 Science and Engineering Fair of Metropolitan Detroit held recently in Cobo Hall.

John P. Guenther won a third place for his exhibition entitled "Dams — the Supermen of Water." John is a seventh grader at Our Lady of Good Counsel School in Plymouth and his teacher is Phyllis Leonhardt.

Christopher J. Read won a third place for his exhibit entitled "The Development of a Chicken Embryo." He is a seventh grader at St. Paul Lutheran School and his teacher is Wayne A. Loontjers.

More than 2,000 seventh through twelfth graders exhibited their projects.

Held annually since 1958, the science fair is sponsored by the Engineering Society of Detroit, the Detroit News, public and parochial schools, University of Michigan, Wayne State University, Lawrence Institute of Technology, Detroit Institute of Technology, the Detroit Science Center, and scores of businesses, foundations and individuals.

Bi-Products uses Canton landfill

said the process does not violate any Canton ordinances, since townships hold no authority over landfill operations.

THE SLUDGE comes from the Detroit Wastewater Treatment Plant. Bi-Product Systems holds a three-year contract with Detroit for the disposal of 600 tons of sludge each day.

The city is under a court order to decrease the amount of waste that is being dumped into the Detroit River.

Bi-Product Systems has proposed a plan for the composting of sludge into fertilizer on a 140-acre site on Michigan near Sheldon. The Canton Planning Commission is expected to review the firm's site plans at 8 p.m. Monday (today).

Reed said his firm is dumping Detroit waste at three Michigan landfills — Woodland Meadows in Canton, Granger Evan in Lansing and People's Garbage in Saginaw.

He said the DNR has approved only two landfills in the Detroit area for sludge dumping. One is Woodland Meadows and the other is Wayne Disposal in Van Buren Township.

Phillips expressed the concern that chemicals contained in the sludge will seep through the earth at the Canton landfill and contaminate the water table.

By-Product plans to construct sanitary sewer lines at the proposed composting site that will bring any contaminated storm water back to the treatment plant.

But Reed insists that water contamination at the landfill is "no problem at all."

"These landfills are like self-contained capsules," he said. "Only those in excellent condition will get approved for sludge."

"The DNR is doing a heck of a lot in enforcement. One of the toughest health departments in the state is Wayne County."

RICHARD LESZCZ, assistant manager of Woodland Meadows, said officials from the Wayne County Health Department visits his facility frequently — "sometimes twice a week."

He said the sludge is mixed with refuse immediately after its delivery at the site. By law, the refuse must be buried at the end of each working day.

"When it rains, I don't let them come in," Leszcz said of the trucks that deliver the sludge. "I don't take any chances with this stuff, because I have to bury daily."

Phillips said he visited the landfill to inspect the sludge dumping process as a "learning experience." He obtained a sample of the sludge to show township officials.

Although the firm has pledged to wash the trucks that will deliver sludge to the proposed composting site, Phillips said the trucks that left the landfill on Wednesday had not been washed.

Reed says a washing facility will be constructed at the proposed composting site.

"The sludge from the wheels and so forth was flying off on Hannon Road," Phillips said of the trucks that left the landfill.

Police force aided

until tonight, we're actually doing it." Supervisor Noel Culbert pointed out to Mrs. Goldsmith that a police officer driving alone had been shot at and had had no backup.

Trustee Robert Greenstein said the police department had given the board a "compendium on needs compared with other departments" several months ago.

"When the head of a department comes to us about softball leagues and manning a telephone, it can't be compared with the community's protection. We don't pay our cops enough money to go out and risk their lives because they're not properly backed up," he said.

Daley, who also voted against the hiring, said he didn't deny that the department needed more staff, but felt the other police agencies operating in Canton hadn't been given enough attention.

"The sheriff's patrol has been extended out here, the state police have been extended out here — our tax dollars pay for them as well," Daley said. "We ought to explore utilizing them more."

The trustee said he had been prepared to vote for the additional sergeant's job, but "can't buy the extra people added."

Neighbors prevent vandals

vandals may be children or teenagers who live in their neighborhood.

"I think most of the kids are now aware that there is a patrol in the subdivision," Kronberg said. "But if we ever stop (the patrol) completely, I think we'll wind up back in the soup."

POLICE CHIEF Jerry Cox called the Westbrooke patrol a "terrific" concept.

"The real key to crime prevention is visibility and community participation," he said.

"In a subdivision like Westbrooke, people are coming and going all the time. Many of them see things that are unusual or suspicious, but they think it's none of their business. It takes something to generate their interest."

Cox confirmed Kronberg's account of vandalism in Westbrooke, but added that neighborhoods throughout Canton have encountered those types of problems.

Cox and Kronberg both expressed the concern that Westbrooke's neighborhood watch may push vandals into other subdivisions.

"But I certainly don't want to wish things on someone else," Kronberg said.

Cox said he hopes to establish a Crime Prevention Bureau in Canton Township that would help residents learn ways to prevent vandalism and other types of crimes. The chief said LEAA (Law Enforcement Assistance Administration) funds may be available for that purpose in 1980.

Salem splits with Bentley

Rocks blast past Dearborn

By BRAD EMONS

Temperatures reached the boiling point Wednesday when Plymouth Salem met Dearborn in a baseball doubleheader.

Despite some heated words with the Dearborn fans and a sixth inning brawl in the second game, the Rocks left "Ford Town" with two victories. Salem won the first game easily, 12-0, and came from behind to win the nightcap, 4-3, in eight innings.

Things couldn't be any better for Salem. The Rocks have been hitting like nobody else and the pitching seems to be in the groove.

Salem is 5-1 in the Suburban Eight League and 11-3 overall.

"This is a good start. One of the best," said Salem coach Brian Gilles. "We're really happy."

In the second game, Salem scored one run in the second inning when junior third baseman Mike Woodard singled home Jim Anderson. Dearborn tied the score with a run in the fourth and Salem came back to score a run in the bottom of the fifth, gaining a 2-1 edge.

The Rocks scored when Paul Woodard singled and eventually came home on a passed ball.

In the Dearborn half of the sixth inning the fireworks began.

With two outs and runners at first and third base, a soft fly ball was lifted in the direction of Salem centerfielder Paul Woodard.

THE SALEM outfielder dove for the ball and apparently made the catch, ending the Dearborn threat. The base umpire signaled the hitter out, but when Woodard rolled over the ball was loose.

The base umpire signaled that the runner was safe. Two Dearborn runners raced home and a rhabarb between Gilles and the umpires immediately developed.

"I was congratulating my pitcher and then they ruled he (the Dearborn batter) was safe," said Gilles. "When the call was reversed, our kids really got down."

The Rocks were not down for long.

On the ensuing play, Salem pitcher Barry Owens came off the mound to field a short tap. As he threw the runner out, words were exchanged between the two teams and the free-for-all started.

"We were jawing at each other pretty good," said Gilles. "I didn't see how it started but both benches emptied in a hurry."

"There was a lot of wrestling and pushing," he said. "I saw a few guys on the ground."

Nobody was ejected after the fracas. The incident, however, seemed to spark the Rocks.

In the bottom of the sixth, Salem knotted the score, 3-3, when Mike Cimino doubled home Sam Merrill, who reached base when he was hit by a pitch.

Salem collected the winning run as Anderson reached base with a walk. Merrill singled Anderson to second.

BOTH MOVED up a base on a successful double steal.

With Mike Cimino at bat, the Dearborn catcher dropped a third strike pitch and threw to first. On the play, Anderson scored the winning run.

Owens went the distance for Salem. He allowed four hits, struck out three and walked five. He is 3-1 overall.

Merrill had a big day at the plate rapping two hits. He also stole three bases.

David Runge turned in another complete game for the Rocks in the opener. In the 12-0 rout, Runge gave up five hits, walked one and struck out four. His personal record is 3-0.

Salem collected seven hits and did not commit an error. Dearborn was guilty of three errors.

Salem scored two runs in the first inning as Anderson collected one RBI.

The Rocks tallied four more runs in the second inning as Paul Dillon, Anderson and Merrill drove in the runs.

Salem struck for six runs with two outs in the sixth inning. Mike Cimino drove home two runs with a single and Mike Woodard delivered a single for the 12th run.

Woodard had two hits in four trips to lead Salem.

Runge was sharp as he threw just 72 pitches.

GILLES WAS pleased with the way his team played defensively during the two games.

"We been playing good defense for a high school team," he said.

"We're only half-way through the season and we've already turned 10 double plays."

"Our pitching is in good shape and we have some guys who can come in at any time."

SALEM-BENTLEY

Despite a doubleheader split, Plymouth Salem continued its torrid hitting pace against Livonia Bentley Friday.

The Rocks blasted three homers in a 8-1 first game victory. Salem hitters jacked two more out of the park in the second game, but Bentley came away with a 12-6 win.

Salem is 12-4 overall and 6-2 in Suburban Eight League play.

In the doubleheader, the Rocks kept a local chicken eatery busy with the five home runs. Every time a Salem player hits one out, he's rewarded with a free chicken dinner.

In the first game, Salem jumped on top in the first inning.

Paul Woodard led off with a single. He stole second base and came home on Paul Dillon's double.

Pitcher Matt Etienne followed with a high drive over the right field fence, giving the Rocks a 3-0 lead.

The next batter, catcher Bubba Wilcox, sent a line drive shot over the left field fence, putting the Rocks ahead, 4-0.

Salem added another run in the third inning as Wilcox scored after singling.

In the fourth inning, Salem increased its lead to 8-0 when Jim Anderson drove home two runs with a blast over the left field fence.

Etienne cruised along to the sixth inning with a no-hitter.

Lead-off man Shawn Boyea ruined Etienne's bid with a single in the sixth. Bentley scored its lone run in the seventh as the result of three hits.

"Matt threw 98 pitches and had an outstanding game for him," said Salem coach Brian Gilles.

Etienne struck out nine and walked just two Bentley batters, which pleased his coach.

In the second game, Salem's pitching faltered as starter John Holdsworth and reliever Jeff Primeau were rocked.

Bentley scored four runs in the second inning and six more in the third.

Brian Justus earned the win for Bentley and went three for four, including a grand slam homer.

Salem collected 10 hits as Anderson and Sam Merrill connected for homers in the seventh inning.

Wilcox was Salem's leading hitter in the doubleheader going six for seven.

He now has 31 hits in 56 at bats and is hitting a blistering .554.

Livonia Churchill pounds Canton

Livonia Churchill catcher Steve Raymond proved to be a one-man wrecking crew Wednesday.

Sparked by Raymond's three homers, one a grand slam, Churchill downed Plymouth Canton, 12-4, and came back to win the nightcap, 4-1.

Churchill, coached by Randy Lee, sits atop the Western Six League baseball standings with a 5-0 mark. Canton, 7-4 overall, slipped to 4-2 in the league.

"You have to give Churchill credit," said Canton coach Fred Crissey. "They hit the ball well and played good defense."

The Chiefs' Brian James suffered the first-game loss, his first defeat of the season.

Churchill tallied four runs in the fourth inning, all coming on the grand slam by Raymond.

James was replaced in the fifth by Guy Kananen.

Churchill struck for seven more runs in the seventh inning to win going away.

Raymond hit homers in the third and seventh.

Canton scored two runs in the fourth. The Chiefs collected a run in the sixth inning when Scott Dawson hit a solo round tripper. Canton scored its final run in the seventh.

In the second game, junior Dan Funkhouser started and lasted three innings. Canton held on to a slim, 1-0, lead until the top of the fourth.

FUNKHOUSER walked the first two Churchill batters in the fourth and was replaced by Dawson, who walked Raymond intentionally to load the bases.

Churchill took the lead with two runs on an infield error and scored its third run on a single.

Churchill and Canton each collected six hits. Each team was guilty of one error.

In the first game, Churchill smacked out 13 hits. Canton collected six and committed two errors.

"We hit the ball well but hit it right at somebody," said Crissey.

"Rusty Mandle hit a couple of balls to the warning track," he said.

The Canton coach said he will pitch James Monday in a game at Farmington Harrison.

Dawson is expected to pitch on Tuesday in a district qualifying game against Farmington.

Canton golfers remain unbeaten

A score of 46 from Plymouth Canton senior Cathy Andersen was the main force behind the Chief's 32-stroke girls golf victory over Pinckney Thursday, 207-239.

In addition to Andersen's 46, the undefeated squad counted scores of 51 from Peggy Visser, 52 from Janis McGlone and 58 from Karen Mullen.

Pinckney counted a 52 from Lisa LeClere, a 60 from Chris Wines, 61 from Cindy Wines and a 66 from Kim Kremer for its nine-hole total.

"Karen Mullen and Kim Massey (Canton's number five and six players) are turning in better scores all the time," said Canton coach Ann Buie. "I can count on either one of them to come through with a good score when it's needed."

Coming off the number nine green, Canton tallied scores to bury Pinckney by nine strokes, which was a bigger margin than the last time the two teams met. Canton won that match at Lakeland Country Club, 193-216.

The win over Pinckney gave the Chiefs a 6-0 record in the Central Six League.

CANTON ALSO WON in non-league action against Dearborn Edsel Ford at Warren Valley on Wednesday, 224-281.

Andersen was low scorer again, this time with a 50 on the Valley's East Course. Visser came in off the back nine with a 56, McGlone a 58 and Mullen a 60.

Edsel Ford scores included Linda Logan's 65, Sue Boettger's 68, Karen Grant's 72 and Peggy Campbell's 76.

"Nobody played well against Edsel Ford," said Buie. "I think that because Edsel played so much slower than we did, it might have thrown some of our players off. We'd hit a drive off the tee and have to wait two or three shots until they caught up."

"Edsel Ford is a new team and their slow play should speed up next year. They have a lot of potential."

Canton's overall record is now 9-0. The squad will play Plymouth Salem today and Willow Run on Wednesday at Green Oaks Golf Course in Ypsilanti. Canton beat Salem 210-211 and Willow Run 222-284 earlier in the season.

Chief softballers vie for loop lead

By BETTY DeLANO

The Plymouth Canton varsity softball team Western Six League record after defeating Livonia Churchill Wednesday, 5-3.

Held scoreless until the fifth inning, Churchill enjoyed a three run lead over the Chiefs but watched it disappear after a double sophomore Joni Sommerville knocked in two runs.

Co-captain Cathy Peck led off for the Canton squad but popped out to the Charger's shortstop. Vickie Cavallero singled to center field and Cath Campbell first an error by the short stop.

Valerie Harbin, the Chiefs other co-captain, got a base hit down the third base line that drove Cavallero. Sommerville then doubled to left in Campbell and Harbin.

Still tied in the seventh inning, Canton managed to get on base after two outs a triple to left field by Sommerville. Pam Schipani hit a fly ball over the left fielders' head for a triple brought in Sommerville Cindy Stevens nailed one right up the middle for a single scor Schipani.

Winning pitcher Lucy Howe gave up two walks and struck five Churchill batters. The win was Howe's fourth league win against one loss.

IN NON-LEAGUE ACTION Canton was defeated by Redford Thurston on Thursday, 5-2.

Playing with mostly the second string, Sommerville said, "the loss wasn't as important as giving a chance to play since it was a non-league game."

Moving his infield around a bit, Sommerville played Marlene McKinley at first base in place of Cindy Stevens, put Cathy Peck at third base from short stop and moved Joni Sommerville in to short stop from left field.

Canton was scoreless until the seventh. Canton runs a walk to MariAnn Pink, a single by Stevens who pinch hit to drive Pink, a walk Sommerville and Schipani and a single to right field by Cavallero t Stevens.

The Canton squad is 6-4 overall and will play Farmington Harrison today. If the Chiefs win, they will be tied with Harrison for first place in the Western. Canton lost to Harrison the first time the two teams played, 9-5. Game time is 4 p.m. on the Canton diamond.

Plymouth Salem's boys' track team turned in their best performance of the season in the 15-team Stevenson Relays in Livonia Friday night.

Salem finished fourth overall with 19½ points.

"We were really pleased and excited with the performances of some of our boys," said Salem track coach Gary Balconi.

Ann Arbor Pioneer won the meet. Rival Huron was second and Stevenson, winner of the Observer Relays last week, was third.

Salem's Dennis Ogden set a school record in the pole vault by clearing 14-10½ for a first place finish. Ogden has recorded the second best vault of the year. Teammate Jack Wellman recorded his personal best by gaining second place with a vault of 13-0.

Other outstanding performances for the Rocks included the second place finishes of Rich Hanschu in the long jump (21-9½) and junior Rob Neu in the high jump (6-2). Both leaps were season bests.

In the two-mile relay, the team of Kevin Waara, Chris Kappler, Dave Truesdel and Jeff Haertel gained fifth place.

The other Salem team who scored was the 440-yard relay squad of Greg Lipka, Craig Stack, Craig Stevens and Hanschu.

DEARBORN-SALEM

Dearborn established itself as the team to beat in the Suburban Eight League track race.

The Pioneers defeated Plymouth Salem, 91½-35½, in a dual meet Wednesday.

"Dearborn is strong in the field events and their distance people are good," said Salem coach Gary Balconi.

"I wasn't surprised with the score," he said. "I know their strengths."

Balconi was happy with Salem's performance in the field events.

Rich Hanschu won the long jump with a leap of 20-feet, 10-inches. He completed a triple victory day by placing first in the 120-yard high hurdles (15.5) and 220-yard dash (23.3).

Rob Neu, a junior, won the high jump with a leap of 6-0. Teammate Scott Fuller was second at 5-8. Neu placed second in the long jump (19-11½).

Sophomore Dave Skone won the pole vault by clearing 12-6. Salem's Dennis Ogden, who has vaulted 14-6, did not compete because he is injured.

"We scored our usual good output in the field events, although our throwers were not at their best," said Balconi.

John Froozan of Salem managed a third in the discus (117-0).

Kevin Waara placed second after his season best in the 880-yard run (2:04.5). Miler Jeff Haertel gained third place with a personal best, too (4:38.2). Salem's Paul Hess finished second in the two-mile with a personal best of 10:14.4. Teammate Greg Stevens posted a third place in the 100-yard dash (10.8).

Although Salem's quartet placed second in the 440-yard relay, the 45.9 clocking was its best of the season.

"Dearborn deserves a lot of credit," said Balconi. "They have a lot of good people."

Rock netters whip 2 league opponents

Plymouth Salem netted a pair of Suburban Eight League tennis victories last week.

Salem edged Dearborn, 4-3, Wednesday, and came back Thursday with a 6-1 rout of Livonia Bentley.

"We were lucky to beat Dearborn," said Salem coach Jim Stevens. "They have an improved team and have worked hard since the last time we beat them."

Salem beat Dearborn in the teams' first meeting, 6-1.

"Our team may have been a little overconfident," he said.

The Rocks shifted their lineup somewhat from past matches. Scott Crespo moved up to the number three singles spot, switching with Dick Cook, who dropped to the number four spot.

Both players won. Crespo beat Steve Panagos, 6-3, 6-3, and Cook defeated Andy Alley, 7-6, 6-3.

Salem won the first and second doubles matches.

Craig Stevens and Mark Thomas teamed to down Mark Putzig and Neil Bristol, 6-4, 6-3, in the number one spot.

Salem's Craig Baker and Bob Jarvis edged Jamie Todd and Eric Reickel, 6-4, 7-6.

Salem's number one and two players, Bob Braun and Ed Thomas lost their singles matches. Doug Baker and Blake Lundberg of Salem lost at number three doubles.

Against Bentley, Salem won every match except the number one singles match where the Bulldog's Pete Fayroian dropped Braun, 6-2, 6-3.

Ed Thomas (No.2) had little trouble with Bill Evasic, 6-1, 6-3, and Crespo disposed of Charles Croci, 6-2, 6-4. Cook won his match over Bruce Klimek, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1.

Stevens and Thomas won without much trouble, 6-3, 6-2, over Charles Hayes and John Beaghan. Baker and Jarvis defeated Tim Bowden and Paul Roth, 6-2, 6-2. Doug Baker and Lundberg romped against Todd Ingram and Charles Henry, 6-3, 6-0.

Salem is 5-2 in the Suburban Eight and 7-2 overall.

Bentley slipped to 4-6 overall and 1-6 in the league.

Salem travels to Allen Park Tuesday.

Lack of offensive punch causes Rock losing skid

It's been a bad week for the Plymouth Salem girls' softball team.

The Rocks have suffered five straight losses, four coming in the Suburban Eight League.

On Wednesday, Dearborn swept a doubleheader away from Salem 14-8 and 10-0.

The results were the same Friday as Livonia Bentley defeated the Rocks 4-0 and 7-5.

The Rocks definitely miss the presence of starting pitcher Jan Boyd, who has been out the last five games because of a hand injury.

With Boyd in the lineup, Salem had a 5-3 overall mark. The Rocks are now 5-8 and 2-4 in the Suburban Eight.

"It's been a frustrating week," said Salem coach Livi Way. "We miss having Jan. She gives confidence to our fielders."

Boyd will not be able to throw until at least Wednesday. When she'll return to the lineup at full strength is unknown.

Boyd has been replaced by junior Jill Goodrich, who, Way said, "is doing a good job."

"Jill is inexperienced. It takes time," said Way. "She's doing fine out there."

In the first game against Dearborn, Salem trailed 10-8 going into the sixth inning.

Dearborn struck for four runs to put the game away.

"They bunted on us a lot and we made some mental errors," said Way. "The defense just wasn't there."

Sue McDowell led the 11-hit Salem attack with a three for four effort. Catcher Nan Horwood added two hits.

In the second game, Salem's bats drew silent and Dearborn took advantage of more Rock errors to win easily, 10-0.

Goodrich allowed just two hits and two walks in the 4-0 loss against Livonia Bentley but Salem mustered only three hits.

"We lacked offensive punch," she said. "We started to hit the ball in the late innings but it was right at somebody."

"Jill had excellent control and pitched a strong game," said the Salem coach.

It looked like the Rocks were going to break their losing skid in the second game as they built a 2-0 lead going into the fourth.

Bentley however struck for six runs in the fourth to take a 6-2 lead. The Bulldogs then added an insurance run in the sixth.

"Our pitching was good but we committed four errors," said Way.

In the seventh, Salem tallied three runs but it was a little too late.

"We came back, but the errors cost us," she said.

"We've had no offense in the early innings and that makes us play more defensive."

"We're a better hitting team and the lack of it is the reason for our problems," Way added.

Way said: "We're getting a good education."

Canton netters rip chargers, Patriots

Plymouth Canton evened its dual tennis mark at 5-5 with two wins last week.

The Chiefs triumphed over Livonia Churchill, 7-0, in a Western Six League match Wednesday.

Canton whipped Livonia Franklin, 6-1, on Thursday.

Coach Jim Hayes' squad rolled through its four singles matches against Churchill in just 45 minutes.

Canton's top singles player, Bob Young, beat Mike Loftus, 6-0, 6-3. Dave Keen of Canton won easily, 6-3, 6-3, over Craig Bramble, and Canton's Dan Schmidt beat Jim Kamierski, 6-0, 6-2.

Mike Tegge captured 12 straight games in defeating Chris Flaherty.

The doubles matches took a little longer. In fact, all three lasted three sets.

Canton's Thad Louviere and Jamie Trenter disposed of Dan Baebok and Tom Vettese, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2. Teammates Pete Lee and Bob Adams won at second doubles, 5-7, 6-1, 6-3, over John Giacomini and John Panzo.

Mark Roberts and Curt Crocker of Canton won at the number three spot, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1, over Tony Catner and Pete Diamond.

"We beat Churchill before and our kids are coming along," said Hayes. "We've lost a lot of three-set matches this year and I'm glad we won those three against Churchill," he said.

Against Franklin, the Chiefs won six of seven matches.

Hayes switched his doubles lineup and lost only the number three doubles match where Chuck Collins and Bob Carpenter of Franklin beat Drew Hosey and Tom Pasley.

In the longest match of the day, Young rallied past Jim Thompson, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2. Keen defeated Russ Semon, 6-3, 6-3, while Schmidt downed Andy Thomas, 7-5, 6-0.

Tegge whipped Paul Parzuchowski, 6-0, 6-0.

Times go down, Salem still loses

Livonia Bentley handed Plymouth Salem its third straight girls' dual track meet loss of the season, 73-50, Thursday evening.

"It was a little closer than the score showed," said Salem coach Scott Kurtz. "We didn't get the performances we needed," he said, "but you can't take anything away from Bentley."

Salem is 0-3 in the Suburban Eight League and 1-3 overall.

The big winner of the day for Salem was junior Karen Ford. She won the discus, her first time in the event, with a toss of 83-9½. She also won the shot put with a toss of 33-9.

The other double winner for the Rocks was Anne Meixner who won the 110-yard hurdles (:16.1) and 220-yard low hurdles (:31.7).

Meixner set a school record in the 220-yard hurdles and recorded her personal best in the 110-yard event.

Rene Slavin was second behind Meixner in the 220-yard event (:36.5) and Erin Lucas was second in the 110-yard hurdles (:16.4).

Salem golfers win easily

By BETTY DeLANO

Scoring an average of 52 strokes per player, the Plymouth Salem girls' golf team shot a season low of 208 Wednesday at Hilltop Golf Course in defeating Brighton (230) by 22 strokes.

Salem junior Meg McGee led the field of 12 players with a 45 on the par-35 spread to earn medalist honors for the second time this season.

Following McGee's 45 was senior Beth Maggio at 53, freshman Carol Ross at 54 and sophomore Nancy Stevens at 56.

Low score for Brighton was a 54 by Kathy Regan. Other Brighton scores included a 55 from Jeanine Poe, a 60 from Kathy Wesokowski and Jill Smith shot a 61.

"The weather has finally gotten good," said Salem coach Bob Waters. "With the weather being more consistent, our scores have come down in the lower 200's."

In Thursday's edition of the Observer, the story pertaining to Salem's win over Dearborn Edsel Ford said that Carol Ross' 46 was the first time a Salem golfer had broke the 50-stroke mark in either a match or practice round.

The story should have said that Ross was the first freshman golfer to break 50. The current nine hole record for Salem is held by June Delaney at 43 and was set last year.

By W.W. EDGAR

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association has opened a campaign to remedy the slow bowling that has been hampering leagues in all parts of the area during the past few seasons.

The latest campaign came about because of the complaining of the second shift leagues.

Instead of getting on the lanes at 9 or 10 p.m., many of them didn't start until after that with the result that they finished long after midnight.

Now they are starting to threaten the proprietors with leaving their houses unless the faulty problem is corrected.

Tom Mc Kay, executive secretary of the association and an all star bowler himself, has figured out that the five men on a team average about 16 throws per game and 48 throws in a three game series.

"If each man delayed just five seconds," he says, "this would mean 1,200 seconds or 20 minutes of wasted time."

As a result, the association is now asking the membership to waste not a second and show some appreciation for the fellows on the later leagues.

THERE STILL is a problem concerning breakdowns of the pin-setting machines. Minor stoppages don't bother the bowlers. But when the machines are idled into the next shift this question arises:

Does the first shift have the right to take over the time allotted to the second shift or should the match be resumed at a later date and at the point of interruption?

It may be quite awhile until this one is settled to the satisfaction of all concerned.

FRANK ESSA'S TEAM compiled an unusual record at Westland Bowl in the season just closed. It won the title in the Little Caesar Classic on Friday nights and finished second in both the Junior House league and the regular house loop.

The junior house league title went to the K&S team which beat out Ace Bowling Supply.

The new champion won the first two games of the title battle and lost the final by a single-pin margin.

Charlie Parver set the pace in the Wednesday men's loop with games of 214 and 227 in a 633 series. The only other double century series was turned in by Gary Bucher who had a 604 on games of 212, 116 and 196.

THE AMERICAN Bowling Congress made a wise move to cut down expenses at its recent annual meeting and it concerned the awards program.

Hereafter, when a bowler rolls more than one award-winning total, such as a perfect game, a 299 or 298, he will get the big award only for the first time and certificates for the others.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH

ORDINANCE 47.22

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND ORDINANCE NO. 47 KNOWN AS THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, BY AMENDING THE PURPOSE SECTION OF ARTICLE XIII, M-R, MID-RISE DISTRICT

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. That the Zoning Ordinance No. 47 of the Township of Plymouth is hereby amended by amending the Purpose Section of Article XIII, M-R Mid-Rise District to read as follows:

PURPOSE:

A primary planning goal of Plymouth Township is to provide for a balance and variety of land uses which are compatible with the community as a whole. It is further intended that uses of high intensity shall be located in areas which will not adversely impact the orderly development of existing or future residential areas. Commercial, office, research and testing and residential uses in structures beyond two (2) and two and one-half (2½) stories in height are more urban in nature and therefore could be in conflict with the general character of the Township of Plymouth if not properly regulated in regards to location, relationship to adjacent land uses and development requirements. The MR Mid-Rise District is designed to provide for locations for these higher intensity uses, separately or in combination, in areas which will not impact the existing or future land uses of adjacent properties and the community as a whole. It is intended that the MR Mid-Rise Zoning District shall be located in association with limited access highway interchanges which provide public access to and from the limited access highway and the community. As a condition of approval of locating an MR Mid-Rise District and in addition to other pertinent criteria, the Planning Commission and the Board of Trustees shall find the proposed location for the MR Mid-Rise District and its relationship to adjacent land uses, both existing and proposed, meets all of the following criteria:

1. The subject property shall be a minimum of five (5) acres exclusive of all rights-of-way, existing or proposed.
2. The subject property shall be located within a half mile (2,640 feet) from a limited access highway interchange which provides access to and from the limited access highway and the community. The distance shall be measured along a Major Thoroughfare Road only and shall be the distance from the nearest on/off ramp and the nearest boundary of the proposed MR District.
3. The proposed location shall be compatible with the orderly development of adjacent properties. In no case shall a MR District directly abut properties zoned for Single Family use unless the Future Land Use Plan designates the area for a higher intensity use which could be considered compatible with the proposed MR District.
4. The proposed location and relationship to adjacent properties is such that traffic to and from the site will not be hazardous or adversely impact abutting properties or conflict with the normal traffic flow of the general area. In reviewing this particular aspect the Commission and the Board shall consider the following:
  - A. Conflicts with convenient routes for pedestrian traffic, particularly of children.
  - B. The relationship of the site to major thoroughfares and street intersections.
5. The intensity of uses associated with this District and such noises, vibrations, odors, glare, reflection of light, heat or other external effects which would normally be a product of this District shall be compatible with the existing land uses of the abutting properties and shall be compatible with the future orderly development of same.

PART II. Conflicting Provisions Repealed. Any Ordinances in conflict herewith, are hereby repealed.

PART III. Effective Date. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to take effect on June 14, 1979.

PART IV. Adoption. This Ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth by authority of Act 184, of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1949, at a meeting duly called and held on the 8th day of May, 1979 and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Canton runners walloped by Western 6 foe

Walled Lake Western captured 12 of 16 events in pounding Plymouth Canton 89-34 in a Western Six League girls' track meet Thursday.

The Chiefs, with just 14 members on the squad, managed to win four events.

Freshman Lori Shufeldt was the highlight for Canton as she posted a first-place time of 1:05.2 in the 440-yard dash.

Sister Geri also won an event. She captured the two-mile run with a clocking of 13:54. In the mile, Geri placed third with a time of 6:45.

Canton's other individual winners were Brenda Bigelow in the high jump, 4-10, and Kathy Brophy in the 880-yard run, 2:36.1.

Gaining second place finishes for the Chiefs were Jill Pederson, 110-yard hurdles, :18.9; Michelle Perrot, mile run, 6:07; Sue Coll, 220-yard dash, :29.0.

Canton competitors who grabbed third place finishes included Liz Gorecki, discus, 88-9¼; Pederson, long jump, 14-6¾; Judy Purpura, 100-yard dash, :12.9; Pederson, 220-yard low hurdles, :34.9.

"Walled Lake Western is a fairly strong team," said Canton coach John Dunn. "We ran some of our fastest times. We were still walloped," he added.

CEP chess teams to square off

In their first year of tournament play, chess players from Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high school placed a respectable seventh in a field of 10 suburban high schools with a 14½-20½ won-lost record.

To close the season, the two high schools will contest each other in a match at Salem on Wednesday, May 16. Advisors will be instructors Jim Kaiser of Canton and Dwight Anderson of Salem.

Playing each other won't be anything new for the 10 team members — they've been doing that each week to compete for the five slots for each match against high schools like Northville, Redford Union, and Southfield-Lathrup, the top team in the chess league.

Active players for the two Plymouth area high schools include Dave Armin, Dave Corliss, Grant Crago, Joan Didion, Brian Flynn, Kurt Kremer, Larry Nagy, Tom Noakes, Mark Sampson, and Douglas Wochna.

Although this is the first year the team competed on a league basis, the club has operated for the last few years. The Optimist Club donated boards and pieces to the club and have entertained members with a dinner and matches against some of the best players in Michigan in yearly events at the Mayflower Hotel.

This year Diane Lanni, Michigan Women's champion, played the whole team at the same time, "walloping them," according to advisor Anderson.

He hopes to continue league play next year, as interest in the club continues to develop, prompted by a little promotion, he says.

Pink dragon on the road

The Plymouth Canton High School Acting II class will be presenting "The Pale Pink Dragon," by Phyllis MacCallen, to eight Plymouth-Canton area elementary schools.

Starting last week, the performances will end Thursday and will be presented at Fiegel, Miller, Bird, Farrand, Starkweather, Tanger, Allen and Gallimore.

Lane Sabourin, teacher of the class, is the director. Robin Holley is the assistant director and Mike Barnes is the music director.

Other students participating in the play are: Karen Bennett as Princess Pinkie, George Hamblin as Prince Hal, Bill Latka as King Clement, Gina Mancini as Queen Contemptua, Phyllis Thomas as Princess Pea-Green, Kim Casper as the Witch Ken Vankirk as Edward Thrush, Bob Mullen as Pout-chiekin and Bonnie Knaus as Hannibal the cat.

The townspeople are: Matt Lusk played by Marty Wilkins, Maude Lusk played by Maylene Julian, Margaret Mosby played by Leis Dauzet, Minnie Mosby played by Denise Stuebben, Mary Hedgepeth played by Melissa Burchard and Winifred Hedgepeth is played by Sharon Sherwood.

The Ladies-in-waiting are played by Carmen Carpenter, Justine Maldonado, Dana Wasiak, Tracy Cowan and Robin Holley who also plays the butterfly.

The play is the heartbreaking story of the love between Prince Hal and Princess Pinkie that is spoiled by the jealousy of Queen Contemptua and Princess Pea-Green who have Pinkie turned into a dragon.

The exciting resolution of the horrible situation will entertain people of all ages.

The Stroller

Defensive gardening

By W.W. EDGAR

It may seem strange for a fellow to adopt football tactics in the hope of making a success of his vegetable garden, but The Stroller was driven to an experiment during the past few days.

For years he has attempted to raise a variety of vegetables — for two reasons. First, they seem to taste better when taken from one's own garden and second, it is a way to fight the spiraling inflation.

And for just as many years his garden was far from a success. It wasn't that he didn't take care of it. He tried but his efforts went for naught when the raccoons, rabbits and squirrels used the garden as a dining area. It seemed as though they kept watch and soon as something green raised its head above the ground they went for it. And the rabbits even ate the tops of gladiolas.

HOW TO FIGHT them. That became a good question. Then The Stroller decided to follow the teachings of Glenn "Bo" Schembechler, Michigan's football coach.

For many seasons Bo has been teaching that a good defense is the best offense. He argues that if you can prevent the other team from scoring, you can't lose. And he has built up a great record over the past decade.

So The Stroller decided that if that plan worked on the football field it should work in a vegetable garden, too. This week he has started to build up a defense against the invasion of the visitors of past years.

The first thing he did was to remove the trunk of an old tree in the rear of his plot. That was the doorway to the raccoons' hideaway. If the door was taken away, The Stroller figured, the little animals would find a new and more secluded home.

Next, he decided that if he could keep the tomatoes and berries above the ground the rabbits couldn't get at them.

You have undoubtedly heard of climbing strawberries. Well, The Stroller now has built a lattice wall on which they can climb and they'll make a nice sight for the rabbits just to look at in envy.

NEXT CAME a modern move to save the tomatoes. One of his friends ventured the opinion that the rabbits and the birds could have some trouble getting at them if he placed the tomato plants in cages.

Sounded a bit funny. But his friend, the nursery man, told him a new supply had just arrived and that the cages would be just the thing.

Now, in The Stroller's vegetable garden, you will find several towering wire cages. They are paper out from the ground and provide plenty of room for the plants to grow and bear luscious tomatoes.

But that is only the start. The defense plan is going much further than that and the little visitors who have been holding feasts in the vegetable garden are due for a real surprise.

UP TO NOW the defense has been an effort to save only two or three vegetables. What about the others — onions, lettuce, carrots, beets and cucumbers?

"We've got the answer for that," the friendly nursery man said. "It is something new on the market. It is what they call 'animal chaser.' You spread it all along the edge of the garden and the rabbits and raccoons won't come near it."

Then a neighbor who has had success with her garden gave The Stroller another tip.

"Use garlic along the edges of the garden and even in among the plants and you will have no trouble."

What a fortress The Stroller is building! Towering wire cages for tomatoes, trellises for climbing strawberries, a new animal chaser on the edge and then a bit of garlic.

If, as Bo Schembechler says, a good defense is the best offense The Stroller should have a great garden this year. (A report will be made at the end of the summer).

Love (sigh) dies in films

All the world doesn't love a lover. At least Hollywood seems to think so. They've done their best to ruin a whole genre of films — the love story.

I'm not talking about the film that told America "Love means never having to say you're sorry." I'm talking about films which portrayed love as a dignified emotion instead of a terminal rotting of the brain cells.

And I blame the latter on Eleanor of Aquitaine.

That's going to take some explaining since Eleanor died in 1204 at about the age of 72. Eleanor, who started out in life with the nickname Damsel of Britanny, is usually credited by historians with being responsible for inventing courtly love.

This is not to be confused with the emotion one has in mind when one says, "I love my mother, my father, my friend," or even "I love my husband," albeit there is a difference in how you love these persons.

Eleanor's brand schlepped its way through history to manifest itself in the old-fashioned, three-hankie weeper film and the nonsense about Mr. Right that used to be fed to adolescent girls.

In the 10th century, the conventions of courtly love were part of the civilizing veneer used by the upper class to keep itself within the bare confines of organized society.

COURTLY LOVE was invented in part to keep the lords from beating the daylight out of their ladies. By putting upper class women on a pedestal, Eleanor managed to keep upper class men from treating them like hunting dogs.

Unfortunately, this custom didn't filter downward to the peasants. In Chaucer's England, there was a law which made it illegal for a man to beat his wife — if he continued to do so after she passed into a coma.

But Eleanor knew whereof she spoke. In 1137, when she became duchess of Aquitaine, she was married off to Louis VII of France. She was about 15 years old at the time. Tiring of Louis, she divorced him in 1152. That same year, she married Henry of Anjou, who became Henry II of England. He in turn, cheated on her in later life. But then, courtly love was based on cheating, too. You had wives you married for convenience and ignored and lovers you revered but never really shared any real relationship.

So from what a medieval poet once called "love's sweet exchange and barter," we come to love's inane wimpering in modern film.

Part of the reason for that is filmmakers are dealing with an out-of-date concept, courtly love. Another reason, suspect, is that romantic movies aren't boffo at the box office.

IF THEY WERE MORE profitable, filmdom's powers that be would spend more money on them.

But romantic movies just aren't that attractive to general audiences. Of the top 50 movies as of 1978, only seven of them were romances and that includes "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" by Walt Disney.

"Gone with the Wind," "Love Story," "Dr. Zhivago," "My Fair Lady," "Funny Girl" and "The Way We Were" were among the top 50 money makers.

They just aren't making movies like those with Tracy and Hepburn. "Casablanca," of course, is a romantic mixture of wartime propaganda and a man meets woman.

Instead of good romances, we end up with something like "The Promise" which looked promising but failed miserably. The story revolves around the old plot of boy meets girl, boy loses girl, boy gets girl. Tradition is such a reassuring thing.

But unlike Rick and Ilsa in Casablanca or any of the characters Katherine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy played, the lovers in "The Promise" can be easily despised — he was a nerd and she was wishy-washy. The mating of persons with the character traits of a wet dish rag is horribly uninteresting.

NO WONDER romance is out of fashion with Detroit area movie-goers. The closest movies have come to a realistic view of two persons getting to know each other is in "An Unmarried Woman," and that turned into a modern Cinderella story. Six weeks after the woman's divorced, she meets a man who not only is sensitive, intelligent and almost non-chauvinistic but also good-looking. She even has a fairy godmother in the person of her psychiatrist.

People who help advertise the movies to Detroit audiences say that romance, even the fairy-tale variety, isn't what Motor City audiences want.

"Up in Smoke," "Animal House" and "Love at First Bite" are doing well at the box offices in the area, according to one advertising agency.

They're doing well because the movie-going crowd of 14-18-year-olds likes to see movies between two-10 times — each.

Most of the movies are pitched to the 18-24-year-olds in the audience, according to Mark Bladd, publicist for the Southfield office of United Artists-MGM.

THEY WANT TO SEE action, comedy and drama. Romance is fine if its incidental. Women, it seems, are best when accessories to the chic man's wardrobe, a la James Bond.

"Slow Dancing in the Big City," a story of the romance between a big city newspaper columnist and a ballerina did well in New York and Los Angeles. It did a slow dance in the box offices of Detroit, according to one publicist.

"Dawn of the Dead," a science fiction horror thriller is doing very well in Detroit.

Marauding corpses are evidently more interesting than the pursuit of love and happiness.

"Your basic movie-goer between 18 and 24 years old isn't geared to that type of film," said Bladd.

"They don't do well unless the movie is exceptionally well done," another publicist said.

"It really has to be pretty good and not too schlocky."

The next romantic epic to hit the silver screen will be "Voices," the story of a deaf dancer and the fledgling rock star who loves her.

Hollywood and the people who brought you "Hair," 10 years too late, will never learn.

Bitterness at graveside

Within a couple of weeks we will be enjoying a long weekend in observance of Memorial Day.

In Plymouth the observance actually will begin this Saturday, May 19, starting at 10:30 a.m. with the placing of American flags on the graves of servicemen at Riverside Cemetery.

And of course on Memorial Day, services will be held at the Rock in Kellogg Park to honor those killed in past battles.

THE LAYING OF flags at Riverside, and the playing of taps and placement of a wreath on the Rock in Kellogg, are a very significant way to observe Memorial Day as it relates to how the holiday was started.

Memorial Day began as a spontaneous outburst of activity by citizens, not as a government holiday. In fact, a number of Memorial Days had been observed before it became a national holiday.

The beginning of the observance can be traced back to the years immediately following the Civil War. Graveyard services were held, and orations given by former officers of the Blue and Gray, in a symbolic call for national unity. It was a spontaneous call for unity by the people, because political leaders were still squabbling about whether and how reconciliation should be accomplished.

The sectional strife which was a major cause of the conflict had continued after the Civil War ended. Many Northerners bitterly called out for revenge — to punish the rebel traitors and make certain the South had learned a permanent lesson.

The South, in turn, quite readily accepted military defeat but was not ready to accept the terms of the peace put forward by the Republican Radicals. While Northerners bitterly sought revenge, Southerners just as bitterly resisted Reconstruction attempts at social revolution.

The feelings ran so high immediately after the war ended in 1865 that Union soldiers stood guard at Arlington Cemetery to make sure no one placed flowers on the graves of Confederate soldiers.

FOR A DECADE after the Civil War very intense emotions raged.

A lot of Republicans had felt President Johnson had been too loose in handing out amnesty to individual citizens. Johnson's Reconstruction plan got off to a fast start, but was scrapped as soon as Congress reconvened.

Then came the years of Radical Reconstruction under the leadership of Thad Stevens, Charles Sumner and other "bloody shirts" in Congress.

While much had been accomplished by the Radical Reconstruction governments to restore normalcy in the South, the presence of military governments and loss of home rule was a bitter pill for the proud South to swallow.

Particularly upsetting was the fact that black citizens of the South were allowed to vote while thousands of white natives were still disenfranchised by the 14th Amendment and refusal of the northern Radicals to grant approve a bill of general amnesty.

BUT EVENTUALLY citizens North and South began to tire of the bickering and strife between the sections. Hatred was too heavy a burden to carry for that long a time.

The first sign of movement was in the Compromise of 1877 which allowed Rutherford B. Hayes to occupy the White House instead of Samuel Tilden in that disputed presidential election of 1876.

One of the major results of that compromise was the restoration of home rule in the South. The federal troops were withdrawn, although by 1877 only a nominal force had remained in Dixie. More importantly, the process of "redemption" began, with native white Democrats ousting the carpetbag governments and taking control of the Southern states again.

At this time a grass roots yearning for "peace" — an end to sectional division — began to spread throughout the population.

One of the first indications was the popularity in the North of Southern writers such as Joel Chandler Harris and his "Uncle Remus" stories.

And then Southern leaders began to make stump speeches in the North, among them crusty ole Wade Hampton, the redeemed governor of South Carolina who as a Confederate general had commanded a massacre of Union troops.

A new sentiment sweeping the country, about 1878, was that the fallen heroes of both sides in the war ought to be honored. A memorial graveside service was planned at a cemetery by the southern Ohio border and Ohio officials sent a special invitation to a nearby Kentucky town to send representatives to pay tribute also to the fallen Confederate soldiers.

All of a sudden, it became quite popular to hold services in cemeteries and invite former Confederate military officers to participate. Flowers were liberally strewn on the graves of the Blue and Gray alike, and politicians from the South were invited North to make speeches.

About 1878 or 1879 the state of New York made Memorial Day a state holiday, and this move was soon copied by other states in the east and midwest.

The observance grew quickly because it was an opportunity for people at the grass roots to symbolically demonstrate their desire for peace, unity, and an end to bitterness between North and South.

In those early years, the Grand Army of the Republic veteran organizations were the organizers of the Memorial Day observances and were responsible for the growing popularity of the special day throughout the North.

The observance also spread to the South, first to the border states, and soon became a national holiday. Some years later a holiday started by the people themselves was legitimized as a national holiday by the federal government — only as a formality.

Now national unity no longer is a key to observing Memorial Day, but a desire for peace and a tribute to those killed in military service are still the reasons why we observe this holiday. And placing flags at the grave sites of veterans, and placing a wreath in Kellogg Park with the playing of the taps, continue the original purpose for that first observance more than 100 years ago.

Woman vice president will get the Reds out

Across the big lake in Milwaukee, Wis., in the historical heartland of American socialism, there is a 58-year old bachelor named Peter Djurovic who has been preaching for some time.

He has written and paid to have published three books. They are "Let A Woman Run America," "Why Not Trust in Women?" and the more decisively titled, "Trust in Women." On the best-seller list they may not be, but Djurovic says 15,000 copies of the three are around somewhere.

And now he's practicing what he preaches. He heads an organization to nominate a woman for vice president in 1980.

The first office opened recently in, unsurprisingly, Milwaukee, Wis., with the official announcement coming at an affair last Saturday in Bruno's Crystal Palace on the south side of Milwaukee. Sixteen people were on hand for the moment.

Djurovic doesn't much care what party the woman is nominated from. In fact, the Yugoslavian immigrant has only one stipulation in mind.

"I'm not supporting radical women. We have enough problems. I want patriotic women."

"It's time to be changed. Nobody can clean house like a woman," he explains.

Djurovic's plan of action represents a somewhat significant departure from past American political practice. He wants to get his vice presidential candidate, then decide who the presidential running mate ought to be.

"Which man is best qualified? I prefer much better to go for a qualified woman," he explained.

A WOMAN'S big edge in the American political scene, as far as Djurovic is concerned, is that "she can step on communists infiltrating this country. This is our biggest problem. The greatest enemy today for communism is women. We must protect our country."

If we lose what we have now, we'll have nothing." Now, nobody can argue with that.

So why not go ahead and nominate a woman presidential candidate?

"For a beginning, (vice president) is better. After we go see how much good she's done for the country," Djurovic figures the woman as a shoo-in for The Big One in — you guessed it — 1984.

After all, you start off as "a private, then sergeant. From a sergeant, you go up."

"A lot of people say newspaper people are terrible. Well, we're terrible, too. We don't give people a chance."

The idea of a woman vice president first came to Djurovic as he watched television in "1967, 1968. I see women hit men over the head for burning their draft cards."

"Women are more patriotic than men. I hate to say it. Men are interested in making more money and having a better time."

PATRIOTISM in America has been on a steady decline since the days of World War II. "In Korea it was different. And then in Vietnam we lost prestige all around the world. The greatest country in the world, the best country in the world, can't occupy stupid North Vietnam."

A woman in charge of the troops would also have a big edge, says Djurovic.

"She's not going to send her husband or son or grandson for nothing. Win or get out," he figures she will say.

Djurovic's anti-communism is easily traceable. He is a Serb, from Montenegro, where Marshal Tito has been making the trains run on time for the past 30 years. He's done more than that, to hear Djurovic talk.

"Communists killed my father, my brother, two uncles. I can't go back to Yugoslavia. Even now, 30 years, they'll hang me."

Djurovic says communists "from my country are opening communist TV in Detroit, a communist restaurant."

Asked which ones, he says, "you're a reporter. You know."

He also objects to people from "my country, my hometown, making $20,000-$40,000 a year and they don't like this country."

He says they can't wait to start collecting Social Security with one hell of a forwarding address — back home in Yugoslavia.

"Show me one Yugoslavian or Bulgarian who has Social Security from Bulgaria and comes to this country," he says.

HE IS NOT a single-minded crusader, by the way. He has other things on his mind.

"The Constitution should be rewritten. When it was written there were five million people. Now there's 220 million. You don't treat one kid like you treat 10 kids."

If you're wondering what kind of changes he has in mind, think about the fact that "every bank today has two or three vice presidents. Why does government have one vice president?"

Maybe because at the rate they charge, we can only afford one.

Anyway, for more information about all this you can call Djurovic at 414-344-4200. They'll pick up the phone and say "344-4200."

You ask for Pete.

The scholarship student with David Cerone at Cleveland Institute of Music will perform the concerto, "Glazounow."

Kirk Toth will perform the Violin Concerto by Brahms. The first runner-up in the competition is a recipient of the School of Music Stanley Medal, and a member of the Richard, Va., Sinfonia and Rochester Philharmonic of New York.

Alan Ongtengco, second runner-up, holds a host of awards, most recently from the state Solo and Ensemble Festival, where he received the perfect score of 100 with a piano solo.

Ongtengco will perform Chopin's Piano Concerto.

Paul Wingert will play a cello concerto by Saint-Saens. He is the assistant principal cellist with the Toledo Symphony Orchestra.

SUE SYNNESTVEDT

THE ARTISTS are all under 25, a prerequisite for eligibility in the competition.

General admission to the concert is $5, or $2 for students and senior citizens.

KIRK TOTH

Advance tickets are available at Hudsons, Northland, Westland and Oakland Mall; at Royal Music in Royal Oak; Hammell Music, both Livonia and Birmingham stores; or Madonna College.

The competition was the first of its kind sponsored by Oakway Symphony, and is expected to be an annual spring-time event.

Stirring up some fun

Connie Wagenshutz (left) and Gail Lang, members of the Livonia Historical Society, are busy stirring up a batch of soap — one of the old-time crafts that will be presented at the society's annual country fair to be held Sunday, June 3, from noon to 5 p.m. at Greenmead, Livonia's historical site on Eight Mile Road, just west of Newburgh. Crafts are only part of the fun scheduled. There'll be a country store, antique auction, plant sale and flea market — to mention a few of the highlights. Proceeds will help the society with its restoration of the DUR waiting room now located in Greenmead's historical village.

Michael (Robert DeNiro) and Steven (John Savage) are prisoners of war for a time, in the Academy Award-winning film, "The Deer Hunter."

THE COMMUNITY Chorus is feeling a little like an orphan in its own hometown. The spring concert, "Another Evening, Another Show," will be in Westland John Glenn High School at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 20.

Because it is a local group which rehearses Tuesday evenings in East Middle School, members were hoping to have their concert in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. A request to the school generated no response — not even a line. They wrote to the Livonia and Westland schools and both responded with invitations to perform there.

The 40-voice chorus attracts singers from Westland, Livonia, Brighton, Detroit and Northville as well as Canton and Plymouth.

tunes include selections from "A Chorus Line," "Porgy and Bess," "Fiddler on the Roof" and "Mame."

They will do "Tomorrow" from "Annie," theme from "Summer of '42," "People," "Try to Remember" and "The Way We Were."

Their accompanist is Carol Chan, the former Carol Foust and daughter of Fred and Joyce Foust of Plymouth. Carol, on piano, and her husband Kelvin, on trumpet, will perform a duet. There will be solo numbers by members of the chorus.

A visit to East Middle School during a Tuesday evening rehearsal is a joyful experience. Director Mike Gross inspires his singers. They sound so good, and they obviously are enjoying themselves.

Tickets for the concert are a bargain — $2 for adults and $1 for students and senior citizens. They can be purchased in advance at the Powder Keg Gun Shop on Main Street at Church, Plymouth.

John Glenn is on Marquette, east of Newburgh Road.

VISITORS TO The Three Cities Art Club's juried show in First National Bank of Plymouth had an opportunity to vote for their favorite painting.

When the ballots were counted, David Lath's "Maine Woods," an oil, was the winner. Jurist Audrey Di Marco had given it an honorable mention. She gave his "Isleford Harbor" a first in the oils category and Lorene Vives' "Spray," a watercolor, best of show.

So the two Canton Township artists received top honors from the judge and the jury. Congratulations, David and Lorene.

JIM WARREN'S organ recital Sunday in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth has prompted a gathering of the clans — an old home weekend.

Former residents Dorothy and Bill Ruge, Beth and Gerry Fischer and Virginia and Tom Adams are returning for the recital.

WINNERS AT Wednesday's duplicate bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center were Jean Sigmon and Joyce Kelly.

Games start at 10:30 a.m. in the center on Farmer Street. For those who are a little hesitant about playing duplicate, this is the place to start. It is "very friendly game" and open to all bridge players.

Joan Funkhouser runs the game and she provides crackers and cheese for snacking. Some persons take along a their own sandwich for noon. Beverage is provided.

FORMER PLYMOUTH resident Caroline Palmer is going to take a walking trip through Sicily later this month.

Before she returns to her home in California, she plans to stop for a while in Boston to visit her daughter, Jane. Then she is heading for Michigan where she will spend some time with friends in Oak Park and Plymouth.

Jessie Hudson would like to assemble a group of her old friends for a tea. Caroline was an active member of the League of Women voters. A very interesting lady, she spent several years in China as a U.S. government employee. Her Plymouth home was filled with artifacts from her travels. And she always served such unusual foods when she hosted the Plymouth Symphony League round-robin bridge.

She introduced amazing dips and combinations for fresh fruit which we attributed to her globe-trotting background. Chutney sauce did wonders for something. We'll have to ask her what fruit it was when she returns. I recall being impressed, and that it was delicious, but can't remember what it was.

ANOTHER FORMER resident, Lois Jensen, will soon be back in Michigan for the summer months. She winters in Arizona and usually takes off for some far-away places during that time.

A year ago she headed for the south Pacific, Australia, New Zealand and the islands. This past winter, she stayed in Arizona.

'King of Instruments' to be dedicated Sunday

James Warren, a former member of the parish, will return from California for a dedicatory recital of the new pipe organ at First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The organist will perform in the chancel of the church, Church Street at Main, at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 20.

Warren will arrive in Plymouth Wednesday to begin rehearsal on the Moller organ that was dedicated on Palm Sunday of this year.

James is the son of Eleanor and James Warren of Plymouth Township. He was raised in Plymouth and was a communicant member of First Presbyterian.

He began piano study in Plymouth with Joyce Beglarian and continued study with Fred Nelson. Organ studies were accomplished with Allen Shafer and later with Robert Murphy at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Warren attended the University of Michigan and has a bachelor's degree in industrial and operations engineering, a bachelor's degree in music, and a master's degree in finance and information systems.

WARREN HAS lived in San Francisco since 1976 where he is employed by The Gap, Inc. as a financial analyst. He is organist at the Park Boulevard

Presbyterian Church in Oakland, Calif., and substitute organist at Calvary Presbyterian Church in San Francisco. He has performed in concert at the Thousand Oaks center for Music and Art in Berkeley as well as recitals at Park Boulevard.

During a visit to Salt Lake City, Utah in 1978, he had the opportunity to play the Mormon Tabernacle organ.

While he lived in Plymouth, Warren was the church school organist at First Presbyterian. He became director of music at Church of the Savior in Livonia and later was organist at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

WARREN HAS forwarded a copy of his program for Sunday with accompanying program notes.

He will open the recital with the rondeau from "Symphonie de Fanfares," by Jean-Joseph Mouret (1662-1738).

Mouret was appointed musician to King Louis XIV in 1720 and wrote "Symphony of Fanfares" in 1729 to be used at official functions of the royal family. Devotees of Masterpiece Theater will recognize this title theme.

Prelude and Fugue in G Major, BWV 541, by Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750).

BWV 541 was written in Leipzig, Germany in 1724. Few other Bach organ works can rival it for pure joy and excitement. The prelude has a fanfare introduction and develops a pedal theme into elaborate counterpoint in the manuals. The fugue subject weaves over many keys, climaxing in a restatement of all themes used.

Chorale and Partita—Variations on "Christ, der ist mein Leben," by Johann Pachelbel (1653-1706).

Pachelbel is one of the important predecessors of Bach and was very skillful in the craft of theme and variations. The chorale, "Christ, who is my Life," has only four short phrases and thus allows Pachelbel to create the total mood by using the full resources of a Baroque-era stylist. The chorale melody and cantus firmus is always present, whether obvious or disguised by embellishments.

Chorale-Prelude on "Nun freut euch, lieben Christen'g'mein," BWV 734, by Johann Sebastian Bach (1685-1750).

The cantus firmus to the chorale, "Rejoice now, ye Christian Souls," is in the pedal and contrasts to the scale-like counterpoint in the manuals. It is one of the best examples of the chorale-prelude technique.

"Hymn-Tune Improvisations on Welsh Hymn-Tunes," by Ralph Vaughan-Williams (1872-1958).

Vaughan-Williams is regarded as one of Britain's most distinguished composers, with melodic and harmonic style most apparent in his symphonic works. The Welsh hymn set was written in 1928. "Bryn-Calfaria," expands on the textural phrase, "Look ye Saints, the Sight is Glorious," in a fanfare introduction and closing, and also is the subject for the central fugue section. "Rhosymedre," ("Lovely") utilizes a tune in a simply stated melody with accompaniment. "Hyfrydol," contains four horizontal, independent musical lines with the melody in the top voice and a pedal line that "walks" over the entire pedalboard range. frThree settings of "Von Himmel hoch, da kam ich her," by Ernst Pepping (born 1901). frErnst Pepping, a contemporary German organist and composer, has set the Christmas chorale, "From Heaven Above to Earth He Came," in short and different concepts—a melody with accompaniment, a scherzo and a pastorella. fr"Grand Choeur Dialogue," by Eugene Gigout (1844-1925). frGigout studied with Saint-Augustin in 1863. The "Great Chorus

Organ is realization of a long-time dream

The installation of the new Moller pipe organ at First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth is the result of conversations which began as far back as 1967. An organ committee was established 10 years later.

Members of the committee are Larry Smith, chairman; and Dorothy Crawford, George Croll, Thomas Hinks, Fred Nelson, Judy Slade, Robert Webber, Earl Wise, and Philip Magee, ex officio.

Because a fund drive at the church was generously subscribed, the organ was ordered in January 1978 from the Moller Organ Co. of Hagerstown, Md. Installation and tuning took 10 weeks.

THE MOLLER has three manuals and 17 ranks. It has 1,113 pipes.

It is smaller than the organ at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth which has 34 ranks. First United Methodist Church of Plymouth has 27 ranks and St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road has 21 ranks.

The Moller replaces an earlier Wicks instrument installed in 1937 after a disastrous fire. It contained two manuals, nine ranks and 657 pipes. It was sold last summer to the congregation of the new St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton Township. After extensive renovation and rebuilding, it was dedicated in March.

The pipes of the new organ are visible across the chancel and back of the sanctuary. The pipes of the old organ were totally encased in the upper wall to the left of the chancel.

Jim Warren's dedicatory recital Sunday afternoon will have its moments of pride for Fred Nelson, organist at First Presbyterian. Warren is a former student of Nelson.

Child-centered school is one-of-a-kind

New Morning School, the area's only cooperative elementary and middle school will have early registration and an open house at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 15.

The school that was founded in 1964 had its first home in Epiphany Lutheran Church, Five Mile Road, Plymouth.

At first, its enrollment was kindergarten through sixth grade. When it expanded to include middle school-aged students, a larger facility was needed.

For one year, New Morning was in the old Truesdell School, on Haggerty Road in Canton Township. The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools outgrew the three new elementary school in Canton and required the classroom space at Truesdell.

THE SEARCH for new quarters extended to areas with diminishing school enrollments. Finally, its present location was discovered, a school in Dearborn Heights that had been closed because of lack of students.

The school at 8600 N. Silvery Lane is west of Telegraph and north of Ann Arbor Trail. Car pools were formed and a school bus was purchased. Students from Northville and Plymouth meet the bus at the Wilcox Lake shelter on Hines Park Drive.

The school attracts families from a wide geographic area including Dearborn, Westland, Plymouth, Northville, Detroit and Ann Arbor.

"AS A CHILD-CENTERED school, we believe a student learns best by being actively involved with materials," says Elaine Yagiela, teacher at the school. "Basic academic skills are an important focus on a child's total growth. Since all children develop at different rates, the low teacher-student ratio (1-9) facilitates individualized attention for each child.

"Self-discipline and respect for others is incorporated daily as children work individually and in small groups on learning tasks."

She added, "Parents wanting control and input into their children's education seek our New Morning School as the only K-8 cooperative non-public school in southeastern Michigan. As a family-centered school, parents are deeply committed and involved in the school's operation. The parents and teachers make administrative decisions and do the work involved. The time input required is balanced by the benefits gained by all school community members."

NEW MORNING was invited to make presentations at spring conferences of the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council in Hazel park and the Association for Michigan Cooperative Nurseries in Lansing.

Students Karen Sand and Mike Mahakian will present the slide show, "A Day at New Morning," during the open house. It is the same show that they gave at the conferences.

"Parents and teachers will be on hand for informal discussions of the school's academic and social philosophies. Refreshments will be served.

Parents wishing more information about the school or the open house can call 453-3267.

Author to speak to study group

Marilyn Ganskow of Lake Forest, Ill. will talk about "Love and Life — Have You Found Yours?" at 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 16 in First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

For a group of 25 women at the church, it will be an introduction to someone they consider an old friend. Mrs. Ganskow is the author of material they have been studying and discussing since last October.

The group met for the first time the last week in October and since that time has continued the meetings on a weekly basis. Their interest has been focused on lectures and discussion material, based on scriptural teachings which pertain to every aspect of a woman's life.

The course has been received with enthusiasm by the participants. The results have been especially gratifying to Isabel Gerlach and Jan Gerish, directors of the group.

AN INVITATION has been extended to all women of the area to come and hear Mrs. Ganskow and remain for lunch afterwards as guests of the group. Baby-sitting will be provided (bring a sack lunch for the little ones). Reservations can be made by calling the church office, 453-5280.

Mrs. Ganskow has been in demand as a lecturer. Many groups in the Chicago area use her study material but the Plymouth group is the only one in Michigan.

The author and speaker is a recent widow. She is the mother of two teenagers. Her talks deal with the strengths of women. Ample time will be given during lunch for questions and answers.

"The message will be non-denominational and all women who come will receive a cordial welcome," said Mrs. Gerish. "We will have a get-acquainted time over doughnuts and coffee."

During fiesta time

San Antonio a sensual delight dancing to strummed guitars

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — The boatload of mariachis floats slowly down the San Antonio River to the sounds of strumming guitars. Lights hidden high in the cypress trees gleam on the water, the brass musical instruments and the crowds clapping on either side. This is fiesta time, but it is always playtime here where this narrow river gentles the city within what once were the walls of the Alamo.

The river ran through and around the Alamo when it was one of many missions built along this road by Franciscan monks. It provided water for the men who died and are honored by name there every year when Texans remember the Alamo.

It is the main current of the renovated downtown area now, as crowds stroll the Paseo del Rio and cross tiny arched bridges to umbrellaed restaurants on either side.

To visitors from other places, this is a sensual delight. A huge paper rose in a straw hat. A young dancer with ribbons in her hair, swaying on the riverbank.

An English tourist in a striped shirt dancing on the riverwalk. A hat that says 'Kiss Me' Hair scattered with confetti from the gaily colored egg shells which are filled with confetti and broken lovingly over the nearest head.

TO BE SENSIBLE about all this, you should plan your stay in San Antonio by day from the top of the Tower of the Americas, built for the 1968 HemisFair.

The tower revolves slowly 750 feet above downtown. The green patch below you is a clump of trees in Alamo Plaza, where the famous Alamo chapel is surrounded by buildings in the center of town.

A few blocks away are the historic streets of La Villita, the restored old city. Directly below your high window is the Institute of Texan Cultures, a remarkable display of diverse cultures shown in a modern domed museum.

There, to the left, is the Mexican Market, where gaily colored pinatas hang high on the walls. And the authentically restored Governor's Palace, a jewel of early Spanish architecture.

As the tower revolves it will inevitably show St. Josky's, officially called the San Fernando Cathedral, which was the geographical and social center of San Antonio until the early 1900s. Unofficially, it is called St. Josky's because now it is surrounded on three sides by Josky's Department Store.

Beyond the city center, on the edge of your horizon, is the Brackenridge Park with its zoo and sunken gardens, and the Lone Star Brewery Hall of Horns, Fins and Feathers.

There is also an unusual landscape experiment called Los Patios. Here, trees grow out of courtyards and hang over rooftops into a green splendor of wild gardens.

Los Patios began as a commercial landscape sales center, but it was so attractive that the owners were persuaded to add restaurants and boutiques. They did so without spoiling the environment.

While you are high above the city, search out the Mission Trail that will lead you back to the early days of mission life in America.

THE SPANISH MISSIONS followed the 17th century conquistadores into Texas, building five missions designed to bring Christianity to the Indians.

The most famous as a present-day tourist site is Mission San Jose, a state and national historic site that raises its old stone tower above the trees across the street from a gas station.

The restored compound includes Indian quarters, grist mill and craft shops built into the wall around the church.

About a mile away is Mission Concepcion, the oldest unrestored church in the United States. Only church structures remain at Mission San Juan Capistrano and Mission San Francisco de la Espada.

The fifth mission is Mission San Antonio de Valero, the site of San Antonio city and known now under a later name, the Alamo. The Alamo is the site of the only solemn moment during the annual spring Fiesta here.

During the pilgrimage to the Alamo, flowers are piled on the small patch of grass in front of the chapel while a narrator reads the name of every man who died there during the famous battle.

A multi-media presentation and other displays can be seen in nearby buildings but the essence is here in this small building with the distinctive roofline. Here Colonel Travis, who disobeyed orders to blow up the Alamo and retreat, drew a line in the sand and invited his troops to join him in a hopeless battle.

The narrator's voice reads: "Davy Crockett of Tennessee. . . Jim Bowie of Tennessee. . . John, a negro. . ." ending with the inevitable final words: "Remember the Alamo."

The Alamo is only a block from the river. Lift your head and listen. River sounds pick up. The dinner boats are floating down the network of waterways, candles flickering. They disappear to the sound of Mexican music around the natural bend of the river and the man-made canal that leads to HemisFair Plaza.

The four-night, Night in Old San Antonio festivity combines tradition, which dates back to the 1850s, with bowls of hot chile con carne and tortillas. Volunteer chile queens, members of the Conservation Society, serve up the spicy specialties.

It's not all fame and fortune and sun

Have you ever wondered what it's like to be a travel filmmaker, one who shows films to audiences nationwide? Ken Lawrence of Pontiac will tell you that it's great fun, as long as you don't have to eat too much.

Like most romantic-sounding jobs, it has a price.

Ken got into broadcasting during his Air Force years in Savannah, Ga., and has been a broadcaster for stations all over the country.

He spent 10 years as a television anchorman, and his voice was previously heard over the radio in Port Huron and Marine City and over the television airwaves in Lansing and Bay City.

"In Bay City, I invented a half-hour, two-man news program long before Huntley and Brinkley came along," he says. "The station manager took it off because he said nobody would watch a program like that."

It was during his first trip to Europe that Ken began to long for a traveling life. He was shooting pictures with an Instamatic at the time, but he decided to do better.

With a lot of self-tutoring and a little help from his technically proficient friends, he bought a 16mm Canon Scoopic movie camera and went to work.

He now has three full-length travel films that he shows to civic and social groups throughout the country. The films are about Michigan, Austria and Britain.

"My first booking was in La Fox, Illinois," Ken says. "I was hired by the Friends Bible College, which operates out of a cornfield there."

"I was very nervous and I got more nervous when I faced an audience of 300 high school students and realized that they were adherents of a fundamentalist religion and I would probably have to be careful about what I said."

He had one slightly risqué joke, which he toned down. The audience gave him a standing ovation and his career was launched.

That's the good news. For those of you who are now ready to rush out and join the traveling filmmaker's business, Ken wants to tell you the rest.

"There is no way I can make a living from this, much as I'd love to," he says. "I get 10 bookings a year, and I would need 30 to survive at a basic level."

"It's a very difficult business to break into at the ground level."

AS A TRAVEL WRITER, I have noticed that travel-related jobs bring out the envy in my friends. They all want to know how to get into the business.

TRAVEL LOG of Iris Jones

I have a very simple answer: do what Ken Lawrence did. Quit your job. Spend years learning your trade and building up clients. Then live off what you can earn.

The grass is always greener on the other side of the world.

FROM THE MAILBAG

MICHIGAN ARTRAIN has been in Livonia for a week and will be open today and tomorrow, May 14 and 15, at the railway siding on Industrial Drive and Levan, one block south of the Jeffries Freeway.

From there it moves to the campus of St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake Road south of Commerce Road, in Orchard Lake from May 19-27. If you have never seen this marvelous train, which brings an art museum and artists to the public throughout Michigan, see it now.

Travelers from around the United States have visited it during its many outstate and instate tours.

FOOTBALL FANS may be interested in an unusual travel package being offered by American Airlines. American will take 20 players from the New York Jets to Puerto Rico in June, and you are invited to join them.

The package includes round-trip transportation, hotel, and most meals for $475 (five days, four nights) or $699 (eight days, seven nights).

Participants can sign up for a one-day golf tournament. Otherwise they will meet and mingle with their gridiron favorites.

"SUMMER FEST '79," a booklet of summertime events in this area, is being offered now by the Southeast Michigan Travel and Tourist Association.

It lists festivals, sailing events, guided tours and daily scheduled events along with the phone numbers of sponsoring organizations.

The free brochure is available from the association at the American Center Building, Suite 350, Southfield 48034.

Master of the draw

The USS Constitution, known as Old Ironsides, is the Navy's oldest commissioned ship and Boston's number-one drawing card, with 80,000 people stopping by annually. The mainmast of the frigate is 220 feet tall. The ship is berthed near the spot where the British troops landed during the Battle of Bunker Hill on June 17, 1775. The ship earned its nickname because cannon balls bounced off her thick live oak planking.

Monumental attractions

Thousands of tourists yearly include a visit to the Arlington National Cemetery in their vacation plans. Yet such attractions as the John F. Kennedy gravesite or the Lincoln Memorial are not unique to the nation's capital.

Hundreds of equally interesting memorials to famous persons in history are located around the country.

To find them:
• Local libraries have books on historical sites in cities you will visit. Folders from travel agencies and regional travel guide books often include interesting monument sites.

• A monument retailer or cemetery manager usually know any interesting monuments in the cities or areas you will visit.

• Once a destination is decided upon, write or visit the tourist center in each state on your route.

Six quick checks to keep you going

How long has it been since you gave your car more than a quick once-over? If you have to pause to remember, you have put it off too long.

Following is a list of car checks that should be made periodically:

- 1) Fluids: Check engine oil, transmission oil, power steering fluid and coolant. Never remove the radiator pressure cap when the engine is hot.
- 2) Battery: Check for corrosion on terminals, a common cause of starting trouble. Also check the water level. If you have to add water, use distilled water. When working near a battery, be sure there is no open flame. Batteries emit explosive hydrogen gas.

- 3) Drive belts and hoses: While the hood is up, take a good look at them. Frayed or worn belts should be replaced, as should soft, brittle or bulging hoses.

- 4) Windshield wipers: Check them out. The rubber will become brittle with weathering and age and may be worn to a point where wipers smear or streak the glass. How's your supply of washer fluid?

Toothbrush is handy

After you've washed your car, use an old toothbrush to clean behind and next to the chrome. Salt builds up there and it usually won't come off without scrubbing.

While working on the car, take a look in the trunk. Take out any unnecessary winter tools, sand and chains. Recheck your emergency flares, blankets, jack, spare tire and first aid kit.

Towing a trailer can be hard on your car — particularly the transmission.

Trailing motorists should have their transmission fluid and filter changed before summer.

Routine transmission service costs less than $30 on most cars, a small fraction of the cost of an overhaul.

If the load you're pulling is anything greater than a lightweight boat or camper, consider installing a transmission cooler, an accessory that can pay for itself many times over.

Number one enemy of the automatic transmission is heat, much of which is developed inside the transmission's torque converter. There the engine's power is delivered to the rear wheels through oil.

If you're doing your summer vacationing by car, consider these tips.

Overloading your car or pulling a heavy trailer during hot weather months can overwork an engine. If your car overheats in stop-and-go traffic, put the transmission in neutral and rev the engine to a little.

If the temperature still won't go down, turn on your car's heater on high. Hot air will blow out at you but the engine temperature will drop long enough for you to phone or reach a service station.

If even this fails, pull over to the side of the road and turn off your engine and wait for help.

Art LeForge is performing the basic maintenance on an automatic transmission that is recommended before

Engines tuned for best pep, pollutants, mileage

Today's automobile engines are the cleanest ever made. But it takes work to keep them from fouling the atmosphere.

For the best fuel efficiency, fewest emissions and best performance, just get a thorough tuneup.

Most of the people who tamper with the engine or emission controls are attempting to get better performance.

They may get the performance boost, but they will pay the penalty of poorer mileage or causing more pollutants.

But there really is no need to tamper with the anti-pollution equipment. Today's pollution controls work, they do not hurt performance and they do not hurt fuel economy. In fact, the latest emission equipment has enabled automotive engineers to improve fuel economy.

The advent of the catalytic converter on most automobiles built since 1975 — a technological revolution — enabled automotive engineers to retune engines to achieve that good combination of fuel economy, performance and clean air.

The catalytic converter actually is a small chemical factory, taking hot exhaust gases, hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide, and passing them through and around platinum and palladium to change noxious gases into carbon dioxide and water.

Here are some of the things that can go wrong and foul up your car and the air at the same time:

- A clogged air cleaner not only reduces fuel economy because the engine can't get enough air to maintain a proper air-fuel ratio, but the output of carbon monoxide also is greatly increased.
- Misfiring caused by faulty spark plugs or distributor points hurts performance, can cause the catalytic converter to overheat, cuts into fuel economy and lets more unburned hydrocarbons foul the air.
- Faulty timing not only makes a car sluggish or hard starting, but increases pollutants in the exhaust.
- A delay in changing oil and oil filter past manufacturer's recommendations hurts the general efficiency of the engine. A well-running engine will last longer and operate at its best for a longer period.

Protect the finish A clean car keeps

From the moment you drive your car off the dealer's lot, it begins to depreciate. You can cut down the loss you'll take by keeping the vehicle in good condition — including the body.

Next to an engine that works right, bright looks are what brings the most resale dollars. Many factors — bad weather, sand, sun, salt deposits and various residues — wear away at the paint, causing dullness, mottling and rust.

Take care of that surface by:

- Don't delay washing and waxing your car when it's new. The modern acrylics and enamels used today need to be kept clean and protected from the very beginning.

- If you car is left outside in bad weather or if there's been salt buildup, it should be washed every week. If it's kept in a garage or is used in seasons or climates less conducive to corrosion, once every two weeks is enough.

- Don't wash a car in direct sunlight.
- All detergents are specially formulated to provide necessary lubrication as well as cleaning your car. Commercial hot sealer waxes that contain Car-nauba and silicones play an important part in helping to prevent rusting and keeping a good coat of protection on your car's finish.

- Polyethylene filament brushes are best for car cleaning. Stay away from hard brushes and don't use steel wool to clean chrome. Use chrome cleaner with a sponge or soft cloth.

- Carbon black (the gritty black residue caused by diesel smoke), bug residues, tree sap, and bird droppings are all damaging to a car's finish and should be removed as soon as possible.

- Tars and ceratin oils used on roads can be removed with a special chemical solvent. Follow the directions carefully, then wash your car immediately afterwards.

- Moisture causes rusting. Since dirt attracts and traps moisture, keeping your car clean is you best insurance against rusting.

- Change windshield-wiper blades every three months to prevent smearing in the rain.

Dirt traps moisture that can rust out your car. Murray Sanford applies the finishing touch of a thorough wash to Joe Przybylski's car. Regular washing and waxing will keep the paint finish shining. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Don't ignore the ignition system

Electronic ignition systems that are standard equipment on many new cars were designed to help keep emissions low. But they still require periodic maintenance.

Largely due to requirements stemming from emissions control, the car makers began using the electronic ignition systems to provide more voltage to fire a wider-gapped spark plug.

The new systems don't use breaker points and condensers. Used instead are magnetic components that trigger the system for secondary voltage. However, many of the components of the electronic system are the same as in conventional ignitions and maintenance requirements are not too dissimilar.

The condition of the coil, distributor cap and rotor must still be checked. Correct timing is critical to proper operation.

Spark plugs are still subject to fouling. And ignition wiring can still deteriorate or suffer damage, causing misfire.

Six simple steps that will help you get the next 50,000 miles out of your car.

1. Figure out a tune-up schedule that makes sense.

Then stick to it. Regardless of whether your car has a regular or electronic ignition, a periodic tune-up is the single most important thing you can do to keep it mechanically sound over the long pull. When an engine is out of tune, it not only performs badly and wastes gas, it also literally works against itself. Every ping, every tick, every click means that something is wearing out faster than it should. Figure on a spark plug change with a tune-up at least once a year. And, if you're a high mileage driver, make it somewhat sooner. You'll not only prolong the life of your engine, but you'll get added benefits of better mileage and better performance.

2. Change your oil at least as often as your manual recommends. Clean, fresh oil has always been one of the most important ingredients of a long-lasting car. If you want to change oil more often than recommended, go right ahead. The cleaner, the better.

3. When you change your oil, change your oil filter.

Your filter traps sludge and grit. So never put clean oil through a used filter. It's like washing clean clothes in dirty water.

4. Keep your chassis lubricated. A lube job not only helps reduce wear of suspension parts, it also provides for a check of your car's power steering, transmission and differential fluids.

5. Flush your radiator every year and install new coolant. Today's engines run very hot. This promotes rust. It can build up and clog your cooling system, resulting in more heat, more rust. Flushing will clean your system and will contribute to longer engine life.

6. Watch wheel alignment and balance closely. This promotes longer tire life and will reduce wear and tear on your car's suspension system, bearings and steering gear. Makes driving safer and more pleasurable.

None of these things will guarantee another 50,000 miles out of a car. But look at it this way. If you don't do these things, you can pretty well guarantee yourself that you won't get another 50,000 miles. Think about it.

You can't buy a better plug.

Simple upkeep will pay off

Save money by keeping car tuned

Proper care and maintenance of your car can mean significant reductions in fuel consumption.

Start out by having your car's engine thoroughly tuned. A tune-up can mean nine to 15 percent better mileage.

- Check spark plugs. Make sure yours are clean and all firing properly.
- Then check distributor points unless your car has an electronic ignition.
- Replace clogged and dirty air and oil filters.
- Check for proper functioning of the automatic choke — a sticking one will waste gas.

- Be sure the air-fuel mixture of the carburetor is adjusted.
- Change oil regularly. Use the correct weight oil as recommended in your car owner's manual. A heavier oil will force the engine to use more fuel to overcome the oil's resistance, while too thin an oil may not provide enough protection to prevent engine damage.

- While you're getting your car tuned, check to see that the tires are balanced and wheels aligned. If they're not, they can create drag, forcing the engine to use more power — more gasoline — while shortening tire life drastically. A bent frame could have the same effect.
- Check tire pressure on your car frequently. Underinflated tires increase rolling resistance and cut fuel economy, but don't overinflate by more than four pounds. This could cause rapid wear and cut tire contact with the road, causing a safety hazard. Follow the manufacturer's recommendations.
- An often overlooked item of car care is the radiator thermostat. A defective one can increase fuel consumption by increasing engine warm-up time in cold weather.
- Automatic brake adjusters also should be checked for improper operation which can create brake drag and increase fuel consumption.

- Once you've had your car tuned, don't forget about it. Keeping a car operating at peak performance and at peak fuel economy requires constant care. A car needs to be tuned at least twice a year, spring and fall, or as recommended in your car owner's manual.
- When you fill up with fuel, choose the correct octane for your particular car. Too low an octane could cause engine problems, spark plug fouling and reduced gasoline mileage. Avoid a higher octane fuel than required. You'll be wasting money.

Those dings can be fixed in your garage

Now's the time to fix the little nicks and scratches in your car's body — and it can be done in your own garage.

To repair minor nicks and scratches, you'll need sandpaper grades 240, 320, 400, 600, a sanding block, spot putty, masking tape, a clean cloth, pre-cleaner solvent, newspaper, pail, water and sponge.

But the most important thing is touch-up paint that matches the car's. Normally, these paints are available for cars up to three years old. It's a good idea to buy the touch-up paint when you buy your new car. That way the match should be perfect.

If you can't find a commercial match, an automotive paint store usually can custom mix the paint.

The most common types of automotive paints are lacquers, enamels, and acrylic lacquers and enamels. Touch up your car with the same type paint originally used.

If the scratch is not too deep and rust does not appear, you won't have to repair the surface.

First clean the surface with soap and water and let it dry. Then use a precleaning solvent to thoroughly remove any wax and grease.

Sanding isn't necessary if the area is small and the primer has not been chipped off. A temporary touch-up for protection and improved appearance is all that's necessary.

To touch up a scratch, use a bottle of paint and a small soft brush and let the paint flow into the scratched area. If you're painting a small chip, just touch the area with a brush; don't brush back and forth.

In either case, let the paint dry and apply several coats.

If the nick or scratch is deeper than the primer, sand and prime before painting. Wet-sand the area lightly using a 300 range sandpaper and taper the edge of the painted surface next to the scratch.

Place a wet sponge above the sanding surface and allow water to flow down while sanding.

Feather the area surrounding the bare metal, sanding less the farther away from the scratch. Remember the wider the featheredge around the repaired surface, the better the finished surface will appear. Don't be afraid to enlarge the scratched surface up to five times its original size.

You're now ready to mask, clean, apply primer, spot putty in small pin holes, finish sand with 600 paper and apply the finish coat.

When the surface has been prepared for painting, remove all traces of dust.

Practice spraying on a piece of cardboard. To use an aerosol can or spray gun hold the sprayer 6-10 inches from the surface and move it in a back and forth motion, overlapping each stroke just enough to ensure an even coat.

Never release paint from the container unless the sprayer is in motion, and remember to keep the sprayer moving when you stop spraying at the end of the stroke. This allows the paint to blend into the original painted surface.

The sprayer should be held parallel to the surface to eliminate a heavy and light concentration of paint on the surface.

Radiator needs care for troublefree duty

The warmer weather can put a strain on your car's cooling system if it's not working right.

A do-it-yourself check of your engine's cooling and air conditioning systems can help you avoid a costly breakdown or a spoiled vacation trip.

Check the following:

- Hoses — Squeeze radiator and heater hoses for soft or brittle spots and cracks. White or rust-colored stains near hose clamps can be an indication of a loose connection or leak.

- Belts — Inspect fan and other drive belts for wear and tension. Belts that are worn, frayed or damaged should be replaced. Belts should give less than 1/2-inch under pressure from your thumb.

- Radiator — Examine the surface of your car's radiator for dents or wet spots. Also, make certain the radiator pressure cap locks firmly in place. Replace the cap if its spring seems loose or weak. Remove the radiator cap only when the engine is cold.

- Thermostat — A sticking thermostat will cause the engine to run too hot or too cold. You will recognize this by the obvious signs of engine overheating or by little or no heat from the heater. In either case, a new thermostat is needed. When in doubt, have your mechanic check it for you.

- Coolant — The antifreeze and water solution in your radiator should come up to within two or three inches of the radiator's filler neck or to the cold fill mark on the side of the radiator. If coolant is dirty or rusty, the system should be flushed and refilled.

- Air conditioner — Air conditioning problems are more difficult to pinpoint. However, a noticeable drop in cooling efficiency is a common sign that professional service is needed.

Items that require attention include the compressor-belt drive, refrigerant level, and attaching bolts and brackets.

Check the system thoroughly for leaks.

In its first year of availability — more than a quarter of a century ago — fewer than 30,000 air conditioning units were sold.

Today, almost 90 percent of all new cars are equipped with air conditioning. While the option uses more gasoline, it increases comfort and offers relief to those suffering from dust and pollen allergies. Because it reduces driver fatigue, it is a safety factor.

Be sure you and your mechanic are speaking the same language

Talk is cheap, goes the old cliché. But when it comes to caring for your car, failure to talk can prove expensive indeed.

The nation is paying an exorbitant price in wasted fuel, poor air quality and avoidable accidents. One reason for this stems from a breakdown in customer-mechanic dialog.

As a case in point, the average car owner tends to neglect proper maintenance of his or her car.

In addition, a percentage of automobiles lack basic service to assure maximum safety of operation.

A major root cause of the situation can be rectified by getting the motorist and the mechanic on the same wave length.

According to a U.S. government-financed study, the key to service satisfaction is effective communication. It depends on an accurate as possible description by the motorist of what the problem is.

When the motorist and the mechanic understand one another, there is a high rate of customer satisfaction with the job done, the survey states.

The person who drives the automobile has the responsibility to describe what the problem is, how long it has been occurring and when it occurs. The service mechanic must understand this description and provide competent service in return.

It may be unreasonable to expect a mechanic to identify and correct a cooling system problem when you drove in complaining about the brakes. It is equally unreasonable of the mechanic to expect an engineer's explanation of a problem from average customers.

To establish such communication, it is most important that the motorist keep a record of all services performed on the car. By doing so, the motorist can avoid duplication of services such as a mechanic's installing a new set of spark plugs when plugs were installed only a few weeks previously.

And you, the motorist, have a right to expect these basics from your mechanic:

- Contact from the mechanic before work is begun, if any problem beyond the ones you complained of are discovered. The same goes for any cost estimates much beyond the original estimate.

- Return of any parts replaced. You may not want to keep a grease-coated set of old shocks, but you should at least be allowed to examine them.

- Respect from the mechanic who should never overestimate your knowledge or underestimate your intelligence.

Tires are always on the job

Your car tires need proper care because they're at work even when you're on vacation.

The most important part of tire care is air.

Too much air — overinflation — means the tire is not carrying its load properly. Either condition can cause uneven tire wear. Underinflation is likely to shorten the life of the tire.

Underinflated tires also waste fuel because they put needless drag on the engine.

Long trips increase the possibility of underinflation because of the added weight of luggage and people. This additional weight combined with sustained high-speed turnpike and interstate driving means more air should be put into the tires.

Before leaving on this type of trip, increase the air pressure four pounds, over the car manufacturer's recommended cold tire pressure, but not over the maximum inflation limit shown on the tire's sidewall.

Make your inflation checks before starting out because tires give higher inflation readings after they have been run a few miles. Never bleed air from hot tires because this increase in pressure is normal. Recommended "cold" inflation levels take this increase into account.

Wheel balance and alignment also should be checked before a long trip. Both affect tire wear. Finally, don't forget to check the air in the spare.

What's Inside a Tire Belted-Bias

Mileage can be improved with careful driving techniques and planning. Studies conducted by one AAA club showed gasoline efficiency could be increased by as much as 44 percent if driving habits were improved over a typical stop-and-go commuter route. Good planning is the best introduction to good driving techniques:

- If you own more than one car, use the more economical one for as much of your driving as possible, particularly for commuting to and from work, or local stop-and-go driving.
- Plan your driving routes to avoid local bottlenecks such as extra-long lights and congested streets. Use less-traveled roads and free flowing highways whenever possible, relying on traffic reports over your car radio for assistance.
- On long trips, start early in the morning to avoid heavy traffic and -- in hot weather -- minimize the need for use of your air conditioner. Time your driving to avoid rush hour traffic in urban areas, or plan your meal stops to coincide with these peak traffic periods.

- Unnecessary weight in your trunk will cut fuel economy. Keep baggage to a minimum when taking a trip. Packing baggage on a roof rack also creates fuel-robbing air resistance.
- Never carry spare cans of gasoline in your car trunk -- that's extra weight you can definitely do without.

AFTER GOOD driving planning comes good driving execution:

- Avoid unnecessary idling -- it can consume gas at the rate of half a gallon per hour.
- Don't rev up the engine and then quickly shut it off, thinking you've primed it to re-start. Actually, you've dumped raw gasoline into the cylinder walls where it may wash away the protective oil film and increase engine wear when you restart. It's also a waste of fuel.

- Even while you're driving you should still be planning. Look ahead to spot slowdowns and red lights. Pace yourself to reach them when they turn green. A car uses much fuel when accelerating quickly from a complete stop. Keep a good space in front of you so you can adjust your speed gradually without closing the gap on the car ahead. If stops are necessary, release the accelerator early and brake gradually.
- Smooth "footwork" is crucial to good gasoline mileage. You'll get the best fuel economy by smooth, steady accelerator pressure for cruising conditions. Gradual acceleration and braking are also helpful.

YOU'LL GET the best fuel economy by traveling at moderate speeds. High speeds require more gasoline to overcome greater air resistance.

Convert V-8 to V-4 with new kit

towing, mountain driving, or other high-performance requirements. The conversion takes about one hour.

While the converted car may not peel rubber, driving at the 55 m.p.h. limit presents no problems. The secret lies with the automatic transmission which compensates for lower torque.

How much more gas mileage can the driver expect? Lucia claims, considering all variables, the car may get an extra 100 miles per tank of gas -- an appreciable difference for a luxury car.

Lucia suggests the bigger the V-8, the better his system will work. The luxury car owner has the obvious advantage of increased mileage without having to sacrifice luxury or go into the debt of a new car. The safety, better ride and luxury appointments of big cars can be enjoyed along with 25 percent better mileage.

The conversion takes nothing away from the engine's life. Lucia says your V-8 engine should still get 100,000 to 150,000 miles with proper maintenance. Kits are available now for the larger

Old oil can be used in heater

How do you dispose of waste oil after smokeless, odorless, and burns pollution-free. You change your car engine oil, transmission fluid, gear lube, or even drain oil from farm or industrial machinery? A smaller heater -- for home garages -- is being developed. It will put out 40,000-50,000 BTUs.

You can burn it and save money. A company in Janesville, Wis. has developed a heater that will burn any waste oil product and produce 87,000 BTUs per hour. The Kutrieb waste oil heater is 427-8780.
