Second complex discovered as low-income

By DARLENE STINSON

"How long will we have to wait to sell our land? Until we're dead?"

That question is a growing concern of farmer Janet Magraw who moved from western Canton to "real farming country" near Marlette, Mich. seven years ago.

Her land and a 28-acre parcel owned by Edward and Ioma Bassett have been listed with Plymouth realtor Harold Fischer for the last four or five

But because of the uncertainty of Canton's farmland preservation proposal and zoning stipulations that prevent division of the land into large homesites, Fischer says that no one has been able to buy his clients' acreage.

AFTER TURNING away numerous potential buyers because of a host of land use problems, Fischer has proposed a plan that he says would enable his clients and other landowners in western Canton to unload the acreage too small for farming. He says the. lack of roads in the northwestern quadrant of Canton is a major obstacle to developing the one- to five-acre homesites for which much of the land is zoned.

The idea of summer tax collections for schools has again been raised for

And again the discussion was prompted by the need of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools to borrow and pay interest on millions of dollars annually to meet operating expenses while school property tax income is collected, starting in December.

This spring, the school district must borrow $9.6 million and in December will have to borrow another $3 million to get through the year.

The $9.6 million will be borrowed from a bank against the property taxes to be collected in December - a loan known as a tax anticipation note. The $3 million, a second loan required by the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment, will be borrowed in December against future state aid pay-

Township board members applaud Fischer's vision of an "elite" residential area of $150,000 homes.

And Canton planner Jim Kosteva requirement prohibits the subdividing says the proposal could mesh with the township's 1976 master land use plan that zones most of the land west of Canton Center for farms and one- to five cre homesites.

> BUT DESPITE their enthusiasm. board members told Fischer last week that his clients may have to wait longer for the revised ordinances that will allow them to sell their land.

Canton planning commission members have been working on a zoning ordinance that would implement the 1976 master land use plan for the past four

Township board members say they will do nothing to jeopardize passage of the zoning ordinance which could possibly win approval this summer. They have advised Fischer to return with his proposal after the new zoning ordinance is passed and request an amendment to the ordinance. Fischer said he has not worked with any developer to formulate his proposal for the development of large homesites in northwest- it," she said. "When you're zoned R-1, ern Canton.

He insists that he is attempting to correct a social injustice placed on landowners by the uncertain status of a farmland preservation proposal and a tangled web of zoning requirements.

His clients testify that Canton's zonunjustly.

"I JUST WANT to get the hell out of there," said Mrs. Magraw, who has been trying to sell two parcels she inherited from her father on Warren and Ridge roads.

The daughter of former Canton Supervisor Robert Waldecker, Mrs. Magraw says she and her family "were forced out" of Canton Township after the land was rezoned from farming to single-family residential.

Taxes went up as a result of the rezoning, and the family tried to sell.

"But there was no way we could sell you can't sell it for farmland. You can't even put up improved farm buildings."

Seven years ago, the Magraws placed a mortgage on their Canton land and used the down payment for a 425acre farm in the thumb area.

They receive rent payments of ing ordinances have treated them $1,175 a year from farmers who use their land in Canton. But they pay property taxes of $1,646.

"Not only do we have to pay more on our mortgage up here (in Marlette), but we have to pay off our mortgage down there (in Canton) as well. Oh, man, has it ever (created financial hardship.)" Mrs. Magraw said.

The Bassetts have tried to sell their 28 acres they inherited on Ridge Road for the past five years.

"I'm crowding 60 years old," Bassett said. "If I could sell that damn piece of land, I could retire right now. But this is land I can't sell. I can't do anything

Sludge site's OK is tabled

Representatives of Bi-Product Systems Inc. encountered solid residential opposition Monday as they tried to convince the planning commission to recommend site plan approval for a sludge composting operation on Michigan Avenue.

After a discussion and question-andanswer period that lasted about two hours, planning commissioners voted 4-3 to table the firm's request for site plan approval and a special use permit. Although the parcel on Michigan east of Morton Taylor is zoned for industrial purposes, sludge composting requires special use approval.

The planning commission will consider Bi-Product's request again at its next regular site plan review session on June 11. Commissioners Robert Padget, Robert Shefferly and Bart Berg voted against the tabling action that will give township engineer Robert Wade an opportunity to review the firm's environmental impact state-

The planning commission's eventual recommendation will go before the township board where the ultimate decision on the proposal will be made.

Under Bi-Product's proposal, 600 tons of treated sludge would be shipped daily to the Michigan Avenue site, where it would be allowed to compost in an open field for 51 days. After that period, the sludge will take the form of an odorless soil additive that will be sold as a fertilizer in non-food produc-

The proposal would help the City of Detroit meet a court order to decrease the amount of waste that is being dumped into the Detroit River.

BI-PRODUCT SYSTEMS has submitted two site plans for the project.

One would limit the firm's operation to a 100-acre parcel that the corporation plans to buy. The other provides for the leasing of an adjoining 40-acre parcel that is owned by Canton Town-

If the leasing proposal is approved, Bi-Product Systems will construct sanitary sewer lines and Class A roads on the township-owned parcel that is earmarked for an industrial park.

Representatives of the firm, which holds a three-year contract with Detroit for the disposal of sludge, said the composting operation is an interim measure that will be shut down in three

But the approximate 100 residents who jammed the meeting hall indicated that they distrust everything that Bi-Product representatives say.

Although the meeting was not scheduled as a public hearing, residents were given the opportunity to express their views. No resident who spoke supported the proposal.

"They dumped it in the river at one time and it was killing the fish," one resident said of the sludge. "Now they want to dump it in Canton Township. And we don't want it."

A MAJOR CONCERN of residents and planning commissioners alike are the heavy metals contained in the

Some of the metals, such as cadmium and PCB, are considered dangerous to human health. Opponents of the project fear that the metals will contaminate the water table and that the resulting fertilizer will be used in food production. By-Product President Arthur Cassling insists that there is no danger of water table contamination. He says that all storm water from the site will enter sanitary sewer lines and be carried back to the Detroit treatment

Other opponents of the plan fear the affect it will have on property values and the impact of hauling sludge on Michigan Avenue. They are worried too about the smell it is likely to omit. Residents of the area believe also that trucks will litter human waste on the Township planner Jim Kosteva recommended that the project be dumped.

"The Detroit region has a price to pay," Kosteva said of the waste disposal problem. "Canton, as a part of that region, must share the burden. But we shouldn't have to bear all the social

RESIDENTS ECHOED Kosteva's

"I'm concerned with the smell. I'm concerned with the noise from the vehicles. And I'm especially concerned with property values," said one man who lives near the proposed composting

"I don't mean to be selfish, but I don't think Canton Township should have to do it."

Treasurer Jim Donahue, who will have a voice in the township's ultimate decision on the Bi-Product plan, told company representatives that he will do everything possible "to stop what you're trying to do to this township and the people who live here.'

'You've placed guilt on everyone in this room by saying this is not just Detroit's problem," he said. "But these people have paid millions of dollars to treat this waste and find a solution to the problem."

Board passes toxic waste law

An emergency ordinance that prohibits the dumping of toxic wastes was unanimously approved by the township board at a special meeting on Monday following last week's revelation that tons of sludge are being dumped in a Canton landfill. Approval of the ordinance, which will take immediate effect upon publication Thursday (today), came one hour before the planning commission considered site plans for a proposed sludgecomposting operation on Michigan Avenue near Morton Taylor.

Bi-Product Systems of Michigan has proposed the composting project to meet terms of a three-year contract with the City of Detroit for disposal of sludge from the wastewater treatment plant.

Township Supervisor Noel Culbert learned last week that the firm has been dumping 300 to 400 tons of sludge a day at Woodland Meadows Sanitary um, lead and mercury as elements con-

Township officials fear the metals will contaminate the water table and pose a possible threat to human health.

The ordinance approved by the board on Monday penalizes any firm or landfill that dumps or allows the dumping of proven dangerous wastes with a $500 fine. Persons responsible for the dumping could be jailed for 90 days.

Township board members blasted By-Product Systems for dumping sludge in the landfill while preparing a proposal for a sludge composting site.

Culbert said the firm's representatives never informed township officials of the two-month-old dumping practice. He said he accidently learned of the dumping through the owner of another township landfill.

"I really resent it," the supervisor told a Bi-Product representative. "For three months, your company has been negotiating with this township. Not once did they mention it. To me, it just shows a lack of good faith.'

Bi-Product President Arthur Cassling said the Canton landfill waste was among three Michigan facilities selected for sludge dumping by the state's Department of Natural Resources

He said the Wayne County Health Department is obligated to inform municipalities of such selections, but added that the county did not.

TOWNSHIP ATTORNEY Charles McKelvie said the ordinance's prohibition against the dumping of toxic wastes will have to be applied "on a case-to-case basis." Culbert said application of the ordihance will hinge to a large degree on the practices of the landfill where

Congress hears farmland proposal

Canton Township is going all the way to Capitol Hill in an effort to gain federal support for it's proposed farmland preservation program.

After spending most of the week in Washington speaking to officials and politicians, Robert Greenstein, Canton's farmland preservation director, was scheduled today to culminate his pitch with testimony given before the U.S. House of Representative's Agricultural Committee subcommittee on family, farms, rural development and special studies.

Greenstein, a Canton Township Board trustee, hopes to convince backers of a congressional bill to protect agricultural land that Canton would be ideal as a pilot project.

The bill, HR 2551, is still in the committee stage. The prime sponsor for the bill is U. S. Rep. James Jefford of Ver-

Members of the family farms subcommittee will receive, in addition to Greenstein's testimony, a copy of his speech and a package of background information and statements of support from state, school and township offi-

The farmland preservation proposal, which was first developed during Greenstein's term as Canton supervisor, involves the purchase of development rights to agricultural land

The scheme has drawn overwhelming support from Canton residents first in an election asking if voters wanted to preserve farmland and secondly in a recent chamber of commerce survey.

A question asking voters to approve 4 mills over 20 years to begin farmland preservation failed by a narrow margin during the November general elec-

Canton officials plan to bring the question, perhaps in somewhat different form, before the voters once again.

There have been several pieces of legislation introduced on state and federal levels that seek to give governmental backing to the goal of preserving agricultural land.

According to Greenstein, saving far beyond aestetics.

In his speech, the farmland preservation director cites a study conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. The study, called "Michigan Agricultural Land Requirements - A Projection to 2000 A.D.," says famine in Michigan by 2000 "is a possiblility, and we view the situation with utmost

'That report, along with many other projections from state and federal levels, soon turned our efforts from open space and anti-development to a complete focus on agricultural land protection for the purposes of human survival," Green stein's speech says.

Greenstein urges that Canton be used farmland in such areas as Canton goes as a pilot program for farmland preservation because the township has already laid the groundwork to begin such a program.

Question divides candidates

Differences of opinions exist among school board candidates about the desirability of standardization of educational programs in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

That became apparent in answers to a question on standardization asked all candidates by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, and Novi.

The question and answers were omitted from the League's voters guide, published May 14 by the Observer.

Candidates responding to the League questionnaire were: James Sinclair of Plymouth; Earl D. Swartzwelter of Plymouth; Douglass Koch of Canton; Tom Yack of Canton; Stephen B. Foley, Canton; Allen Neil Smith, Plymouth; Gary Roberts, Canton; Kenneth Vogras, Plymouth; Jeanette Wines, Canton; and Sylvia Stetz, Plymouth.

The question asked each candidate by the LWV was: Discuss your views on the standardization of the educational programs district-wide. Evaluate our school district's current practices in this area. Answers of the candidates follows:

SINCLAIR: Each grade level should be working out of the same text books throughout the district. Standardization of report cards, between the schools: elementary, middle, and high school.

SWARTZWELTER: Uniform application of administration policy, funding, basic and special programs is extremely important. Several areas not standardized presently are special programs, disci pline of students, safety programs, and first-aid capability. This is wrong.

KOCH: Standards can serve as reference points for grade level subjects. Goal-based curriculum addresses those standards. There must be room for teachers, schools to develop programs to fit individual children, parents. Our first standard is progress in learning for each child.

YACK: Standardization is necessary to improve instructio nal program. It will lead to continuity and consistency. I support district standardization in learning objectives by grade level, reporting to parents, testing program, utilization of test data, and communications to parents.

FOLEY: As much as possible, the district's educational program must be standardized to maintain a degree of stability and continuity for students and their families. The ESY program has shown positive results in the increased learning capacity and retention of students. Although having a summer vacation means a lot to families and students, ESY would be in the best interests of the students from a purely educational approach.

SMITH: Educational programs are set by each school. TAG is an example. Students transfering for boundary changes must adjust to new programs. To achieve quality education we need to set district-wide basic-education goals for our students.

ROBERTS: I believe that all students should get equal education. Special classes for extreme handicapped students. It is the teachers' job to determine the needs of their students. There is a need for special discipline classes for the students who can't be controlled in class (and this is becoming a serious problem), or a class for teachers in discipline with parent involvement.

VOGRAS: District-wide standardization of educational programs will not necessarily be effective for some children who cannot adapt to a certain program where they may in another. The current practices in this area have proven to be an asset to our school district.

WINES: Schools — elementary, middle, high — should offer same basic programs. Students should be able to transfer within district without major disruption in program. Teachers should have option to supplement programs for children above and below grade level. Individual personalization on the approach to the program is important. School district is working on establishing a goal-based curriculum. A portion of this curriculum will be implemented this fall.

STETZ: I feel this is one of the areas which needs improvement within our schools. Our school district has no standardization of programs. Goal-based curriculum eventually should bring this about

Sign demonstration backfires on businesses

The size of freestanding signs ale even further by the Township Board of lowed in a proposed revision, of the Canton sign ordinance may be reduced Trustees.

Officials refused to be convinced that 50-square-foot signs are acceptable after watching a demonstration last Monday by businessman Leo Vergote. As business people and officials stood outside the Roman Forum restaurant looking at plywood cut to sizes from 18-square-feet to 50-square-feet, board members said that even the 25square-foot maximum sign they had considered allowing was just "too damn big."

Vergote, who owns the racquetball center under construction next to the Roman Forum, had volunteered to show the various sizes and heights of the proposed signs during last Thursday's special board meeting.

The Township Board has held several meetings to discuss and revise the ordinance recommended by the Canton Planning Commission.

The current ordinance does not allow freestanding signs larger than those which existed when the local law was passed in 1976.

Business people, including Canton Chamber of Commerce President Frank McMurray (also a planning commissioner), objected strongly last week when the board decided to slash the size of commercial freestanding signs from 50 feet to 25 feet with a 40 percent increase if the signs are made out of natural materials.

In addition, the board instructed ordinance officer Bruce Phillips to revise the proposed ordinance so that signs in all zoning districts were sized to achieve equity with the commercial

Only two board members at the demonstration seemed reluctant to crop the sign sizes. Trustee Eugene Daley said he thought 18-square-foot signs were too small. "I think between 25 and 32square-feet — some intermediate zone would be fine," he said.

Disco earns mom big day

By ROBERT CAPUDEAN

Some area moms might prefer the sound of quiet and an easy chair to the discoing the night away in the name of Mother's Day.

But for Judy Sabuda of Pickney, the exhausting steps of a disco dance earned her a chauffeur-driven Rolls Royce and four tickets to "A Chorus Line" at the Fisher Theatre for Mother's Day.

Mrs. Sabuda and son Bob were the winners of the Kids Deserve A Chance (KDAC) Mother's Day disco contest at Honeytree Apartments in Canton last Friday night.

The disco contest was the non-profit KDAC's first fundraiser, according to Yvonne Thomas, the group's secretery.

"But it was more than just a fundraiser, we hoped it helped to develop family relations and close down a small portion of the generation gap," she said.

Mrs. Thomas and her husband, Clifford, began KDAC as a way to give high school kids who are oriented toward trade and technical or vocational training a way to develop marketable skills and attitudes.

Clifford Thomas is the director of youth employment and job opportunity for Wayne County.

The youths, who are recommended to KDAC by local educators and advisors, are good students who either do not qualify for college scholarships because their family income is too high or are not interested in college and want to enter the work force directly after high school.

The disco contest's funds are earmarked for the group's first major program - a bottle campaign.

The youths will collect bottles and ret Taddonio and her son Christopher cans from local parks and turn them in of Canton, while third place went to for the deposit.

Half of the money would go directly to the youths and the other half to KDAC to cover operating costs and other expenses

"Now that the program has been approved from a legal standpoint, we place to really get this thing going," Mrs. Thomas said.

"Area response from business has been good and this dance contest is the beginning.'

Summer tax collection considered borrow the $9.6 million Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent for business, noted that during the past eight years the school district has spent some $1 million in interest expense alone on the

"Maybe we should try again to get summer tax collections," Hoedel suggested, noting that 1976 was the last time the school board by resolution made a form request to the city, Plymouth and Canton townships.

In 1976, the city was willing to consider summer tax collect ions, said against the proposal.

Tom Yack, board president, said that three months ago, Hoben and he had met with Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert to discuss matters of mutual concern and Culbert said he was willing to review information about summer tax collections.

THE LOANS ARE necessary because the school district's fiscal year begins on July 1 and local property taxes - which comprise about 70 percent of the total budget - don't start coming in until late December.

A twist this year, because of Hoedel, but both townships were Headlee, is that the tax collections which come in during December must be placed in a separate tax retirement fund until enough is collected to pay off the $9.6 million loan plus interest.

Because the first $10 million must go into the reserve fund, Hoedel explained, the operating funds will be short and the district must then borrow about $3 million on anticipated state aid to meet the payroll and pay bills during January, February and March

The $9.6 million plus interest must be paid for by April 1980.

Last year the district borrowed $7.6 million in a tax anticipation note and paid an interest rate of 4.73 percent for a total interest cost of $269,599.

Some of that interest expense is offset by interest earned from investing the money borrowed until it actually must be spent, which is possible because the district in July gets the lump sum needed to meet expenses through the following December.

During the current year, while the district was paying 4.73 percent on the $7.6 million, it was earning 9 to 11 percent on a large portion of those funds.

Hoedel would like summer tax col-

Parents can swap school schedules

School pairings have been selected for the coming school year for parents who don't want their children enrolled in year-round school. The selection of "opt-out" schools

The transfer requests usually are made at the elementary level by parents who have older children in middle or high school on a nine-month schedule. Such parents seek transfer out of the ESY elementary school to avoid disruption in family life caused by having students on both the 12-month and nine-month schedules.

Under the school pairings set for school year 1979-80, students "opting out" of Pioneer Middle School will attend East Middle.

Superintendent John M. Hoben noted that the opt-out program may not be available too far into the future because rising enrollment may result in enough elementary buildings reaching capacity that movement from one to another may not be possible.

The option was first offered to placate distressed parents when ESY was introduced on an experimental basis at Miller Elementary.

After the two-year pilot ended at Miller, and ESY was expanded to four other elementaries and to Pioneer, the option plan was continued.

Basics in learning given top priority by residents

Basics still rank number one in the in the basics matches school district comment on the program and/or mileducational priorities of the residents of Plymouth-Canton Community -Schools.

At least that is the major conclusion drawn by administrators and board members from an opinion poll taken here by mail during the last two weeks in April.

The high priority given to instruction poll results from last fall and in 1977.

IN THE LATEST POLL, a random sample of 140 was selected from voters who had voted in one of the last three school elections.

The 140 voters, about 10 from each precinct, received post card questionnaires about April 17. They were asked to rank 12 areas in importance and

Some 83 surveys - almost 60 percent - were returned before the deadline, with nearly half of those coming from parents with children in elemen-

Reading/writing/math/social studies were ranked number one by almost all respondents, giving it a median rat-

Next in importance were four ratings from 4.4 to 5.1, about mid-range among all respondents. They were: class size; art/mus ic/physical education; special education (handicapped); and curriculum improvement.

A larger group of items were in the low range of 7.1 to 8.8. They ranked in order as follows: counseling; transportation; building maintenance; libraries; talented and gifted program; and extended school year (ESY).

AT THE BOTTOM of the list came after-school activities.

In the space provided for "other," two people listed standarized tests and three wrote discipline.

Respondents were asked to add a comment on program and/or millage. The 40 comments could be divided about equally as relatively positive or negative regarding additional millage, according to Florence Beier, administrative assistant for community rela-

Many comments, she added, were concerned with emphasizing instruction in basic skills

In a survey last fall sent to parents as part of an assessment of local school district goals, the following priorities were indicated: (1) basic skills; (2) creative thinking, (3) self-wo rth; (4) career preparation; (5) morality; (6) physical and mental well-being; (7) occupational skills; (8) science, arts/humanities; (9) citizenship and social responsibility; and (10) special educa-

Beier told the board Monday night that the poll taken last month was a pilot survey to get the feeling of the community on the upcoming millage election, and to learn of the priorities of voters on issues which have a bearing on the budget.

Tom Yack, board president, commented that he personally was suprised that art, music and physical education ranked so high and after-school activities so low in the priorities of residents.

Commissioners argue

State bill endangers local service

By LYNN ORR

A pending state conflict of interest bill could make local officials as scarce as a winning Detroit team while creating a new set of umpires to referee the new law

That's the fear of the Michigan Municipal League as well as the majority of Plymouth City Commissioners who last week voted their opposition to House Bill 4325

The bill, currently in house committee, would require nearly every state and local elected and appointed official to submit annual financial disclosures, while creating a commission to monitor and investigate conflict of interest situations.

That first provision would make it nearly impossible to find residents willing to serve on the low-paying boards, such as the planning commission and zoning board of appeals, argued Mayor Tom Turner.

Commissioner Beverly McAninch disagreed.

"I feel perfectly willing to make any disclosures to serve my community," she said, as the sole commissioner voting against the resolution to oppose the bill.

THE MUNICIPAL League shares hearing on the bill May 31 before mak- file a complete financial statement, Turner's fears, according to executive director Bill Davis.

"One city estimates that six elected officials have to file under the campaign finance law now, and about 200 would have to file under this law," he

In addition, the paperwork required would create an additional bureaucracy at the state level, much like the campaign finance law did, he says. When that law went into effect in 1976, the state elections commission comprised about 15 employees. This year they employ 66.

"With the constraint on local spending, we question whether the breadth of the bill would warrant it," he adds.

State Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who sponsored two hearings on the bill, shares many of the league's reservations.

"I would not vote for it in its present form," he says. "The chief weakness is that it's very hard on local officials and volunteers, particularly school boards and community colleges."

CURRENTLY opinion appears to be equally divided, Geake adds. The house policy committee will hold one more ing a decision to submit it to the house for a vote.

State Rep. Joseph Forbes, D-Oak Park, is one of the 23 sponsors of the bill and chairman of the policy committee, making it likely the bill will get to a vote soon.

The bill is the latest version of a conflict of interest legislation which has kicked around Lansing for the bast few

Both opponents and proponents agree on the bill's principles, Geake says. The bill would prohibit bribes and the use of public office for personal gain. It would require that all contracts exceeding $1,500 in value between a governmental body and a public official, employee, or their families or businesses be awarded through an open bidding process.

"The main objection centers on the encroachment to the privacy of local officials or low-paid appointments," Geake says.

"I don't think it's reasonable to expect volunteers to file these forms."

EVERY MEMBER of the city's boards and commissions in addition to the city manager, would be required to outlining their sources of income over $1,000, personal debts, business associations, and those of their families.

All Michigan property valued at more than $1,000 would be subject to disclosure as well. Debts would not be subject to public disclosure.

The bill also would cover state legislators, judges, appointed members of governing boards and chief executive officers of state institutions of higher learning, and members of the political ethics commission.

The six-member commission would be prohibited from engaging in political activities other than voting during their four-year term and would be required to monitor the financial disclosure statements, as well as enforce compliance.

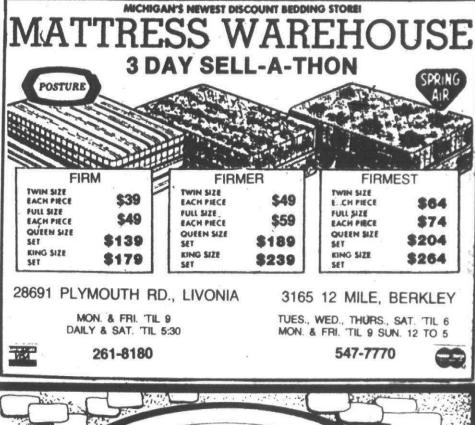

The municipal league believes the extensive requirements of the commission would create a whole new batch of bureaucracy at the county clerk and state level.

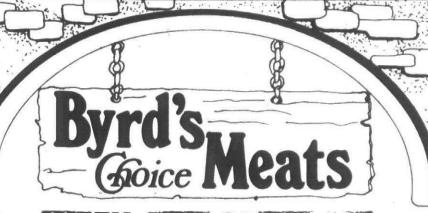

Compliance with the law could be covered on an ad-hoc basis when a conflict of interest situation is pending, Davis maintains.

At Canton auction

High bidders win dusty treasures

By ROBERT CAPUDEAN

A stuffed banana went for a buck. A slightly dented, previously owned mail box - including post and cement went for $5.

Those were just two of the more than 200 items that were auctioned off last Saturday at the Canton Township police auction.

About 275 people showed up at the Canton Police Department on Geddes Road to inspect, bid and hopefully ride, drive or cart away a dusty treasure at a bargain price.

Most of the potential prizes were items that had been confiscated or recovered by police but never claimed by the owner.

Bicycles comprised the majority of the items and a number of birthday presents, for both young and old, lit up the eyes of some bidders.

When auctioneer Lloyd Young called for bids on some of the bikes, gentle shirt sleeve tugs combined with an occasional friendly rivalry to provide some determined, competitive bidding.

The auction, put together by the Canton treasurer's office, was the first of what could become a semi-annual affair, according to deputy treasurer and auction organizer Maria Falk-

She said the auction netted about $3,200 that will be divided between the police department, township and soonto-come library, with the township and library getting the revenue from the items they donated.

All the people who worked on the aution were there on a volunteer basis, including police reservists Steve Ross and Leon Schemanske, who moved the merchandise from the inspeciton area to the auction block.

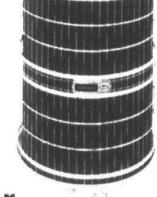

Ross even did some bidding, ending up with a tricycle. When asked if he thought he could get on the sleek little number, Ross replied that he probably could, but there was no way you could get him to prove it.

Milliken berates current form of county government

By TIM RICHARD

"I can play hardball," a tight-lipped Gov. William G. Milliken warned legislators who oppose streamlining of Wayne County government.

Milliken is proposing the state rewrite the county home rule act to allow elimination of such elected department heads as clerk, sheriff and drain commissioner, to be replaced by a single county executive.

"The state should be willing to pay the cost of a charter commission," he added, referring to Wayne County's $14 million budget deficit forecast.

Streamlining of the county home rule act is Milliken's price for state help in eliminating the county deficit, which so far has resulted in dozens of job eliminations and lawsuits over the level of services.

MILLIKEN, SPORTING a deep, Caribbean tan after a recent vacation, ranged over a multiplicity of governmental and political subjects in a recent interview with suburban newspersons in his Lansing office.

The chief executive called county government "a very inefficient and costly system. Wayne County's salary levels are unbelievable compared to state, Oakland County or even federal salaries," he said.

"Basic, fundamental reforms need to

"I'm not interested in the least in a three-headed monster thing," Milliken said, referring to proposals of Detroit legislators that a three-person panel be state pick up the tab for a special electhe county's chief administrators.

Home rule for cities came in the 18 state constitution, but county home rule didn't arrive until the 1963 constitution. But when the Michigan Legislature wrote a law to implement county home rule, it provided for retention of a half-dozen elected department heads. the autonomous road commission and even the board of auditors.

WHAT MILLIKEN is proposing is that 1) the legislature rewrite the law to allow a Wayne County charter commission the same flexibility in organizing its structure under a single executive that cities have and 2) that the

tion and operation of the charter commission

Asked if he himself wasn't violating the home rule principle by insisting on such specific changes, Milliken answered, "No. I want to give them (Wayne county politicians and voters) the opportunity to make a decision.'

Meanwhile, some suburban Wayne County commissioners are circulating petitions asking for a county executive ballot proposal.

Coms. R. William Joyner, D-Plymouth, and Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, contend a county executive needs to be put in place before other reforms can be attempted. They also argue there is no guarantee a charter commission will write the kind of charter Milliken and other reformers want, and no further guarantee voters would adopt such a charter if it were written.

Many Detroit politicians see a county executive as a threat to the black majority in Detroit and as a rival to the mayor of Detroit.

ON OTHER subjects, Milliken said: · He hadn't reached a final judgment on whether Northville State Hospital should be fenced. The cry arose after a patient walked off and allegedly killed an 82-year-old Northville woman. "A state hospital deals with the emotionally ill and is not a prison," Milliken said.

Summer jobs for 150 youths

Some 150 jobs are available immediately for economically disadvantaged students who qualify for a Wayne County summer employment program.

The Summer Student Assistant program (SSA) pays $3.25 an hour for a maximum of six weeks beginning June 11 to Aug. 31, according to Richard Manning, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The jobs are mostly for office assistants and a few paraprofessionals. Manning urges interested students to call the Manpower Central Intake unit at 326-6130 immediately.

TO QUALIFY, an applicant must be:

· Economically disadvantaged.

· A resident of Wayne County excluding Detroit, Livonia and Dearborn.

age 25 planning to attend college this fall; a currently enrolled college student with identification validated by the college; or a recently discharged military veteran.

"Economically disadvantaged" is measured by family income in $1,100 increments - beginning with $3,400

· Either a high school graduate under for one person, $4,500 for two, $4,500 for three and so on.

Detroit, Livonia and Dearborn are excluded because they qualify to administer their own programs under federal guidelines.

THE SSA PROGRAM is separate from other projects in which the county provides annual work for many more youth in summer.

Altogether, said Manning, Wayne County expects to hire more than 4,000 youngsters before school resumes in September. Other jobs are being advertised among students in the school

The majority of Wayne County's total summer jobs will result from a program called SCORE — Student Career Opportunities through Relevant Experiences. It begins June 1. The job programs come from federal funds. "Although we are practically helpless in hiring from our own general fund, we continue to take every advantage offered when federal dollars can help our situation," the chairman said.

City unions square off

The Police Officers Association of Michigan (POAM) will battle Teamsters Local No. 214 next week for the new membership of 16 clerical employees at Plymouth City Hall.

In what may be a hotly contested election, clerical workers will vote May 25 to join either POAM, the Teamsters or to retain non-union status.

Last Monday city police officers voted 11-1 to join POAM, ending a fouryear relationship with the Teamsters. The Teamsters did not contest the election. Two police officers did not vote in that election - making 14 the number of police to join POAM.

But the Teamsters are expected to fight to represent the 16 clerical workers, which include engineering aides, maintenance workers and a building inspector.

The Teamsters already reprsesent non-supervisory employees in the city's Department of Public Works

NEXT WEEK'S election not only pits the two unions against each other but against the city administration, which hopes for a non-union win.

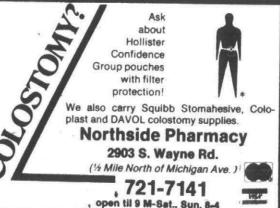

POAM, during its pre-1975 affiliation with the Teamsters, represented the police officers. When a rift between the two groups developed in 1975, Plymouth police split with PAOM, opting for Teamster representation.

Things remained unchanged until Monday's election.

editorial opinion

Adding police was right move at wrong time

A near-tragedy occurred last Wednesday. A Canton police officer driving through a subdivision near Canton Center and Palmer was shot at by an unknown sniper.

Patrolman William Britcher was unharmed, but the grisly sight of bulletholes in the side of his car shows how close he came to serious harm.

Britcher was alone in the car because the Canton Police Department is understaffed. Had he been hit by a bullet, there would have been no one to call for help.

Walter MacGregor, Canton's police chief until two weeks ago, said over and over again that the department should be doubled to adequately cover the township. He never did get the people he wanted, which is one of the reasons he quit.

Canton's new police chief, Jerry Cox, has been a little luckier. Last week, the township board of trustees voted to give him one more sergeant and two new patrol officers for the force. The additional sergeant was mentioned on the meeting agenda, the patrol officers were not.

The vote followed the sniper incident. It's good to see the police department get some of the help it needs so desperately. Unfortunately, the discussion to add the positions was one of those last-minute agenda items.

Those three officers are going to cost the township at least 60,000 a year — all in funds beyond the one-mill police tax.

That's too much money to approve without adequate public notice.

The board voted to hire the officers because the sniper incident brought home the reality of inadequate police protection. But trustees were given the facts on police staffing months ago and would offer only interim solutions.

There was never any exploration of how much the Wayne County Sheriff's Department or Michigan State Police could do to patrol the township, as was pointed out by Trustee Eugene Daley.

There were attempts to hire part-time officers, which helped some, but not enough.

What should have been done was to tell residents of Canton that we really need more police and it's going to take more than the one mill to do it. A police millage increase could have been requested at the same time as the library mill election.

Instead, the subject went around and around the barn until the horse finally got out.

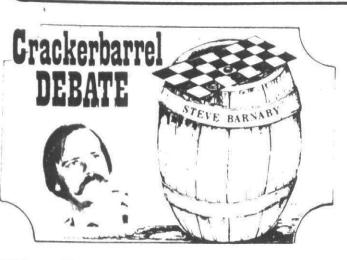

And that's when trustees voted to close the door.
This is a case of the board doing the right thing at the wrong time.

Local legislation should reflect careful consideration, not reaction to dramatic events. Had the police department been dealt with months ago, when it was first discussed, Britcher might not have been in that car all alone.

And the public wouldn't have to learn about important board actions after the fact.

Political clues from the North

Political aficionados look to the north on May 22 to get a hint of what could happen in next year's presidential sweepstakes.

At stake is the Canadian prime minister's seat held by the Liberal Party's Pierre Trudeau for the last 11 years. The main contender is one Joe Clark, leader of the Progressive-Conservative Party.

With the election just four days off, political pollsters are calling it a dead heat. Canadians are fed up with inflation, big government and high taxes (sound familiar?).

As in this country, a lot of soul-searching is going on among Canadians on what direction they want their country to take — a liberal or conservative road.

Basically. Trudeau is a big government man, believing in hoarding power in that nation's capital, Ottawa. Clark, on the other hand, believes in sharing power with provincial premiers. His party holds most of the provincial capitals which could have something to do with that belief. There are no Liberal premiers.

It's a classic case of two divergent political philosophies clashing head on, as if John Kennedy and Barry Goldwater had run against each other in 1964.

THE WESTERN world's attitudes have changed immensely in the last 15 years. Conservative candidates are winning more and more elections.

Conservative presidential hopefuls such as Robert Dole and non-candidate Ronald Reagan should take heart in the recent victory of British Tory leader Margaret Thatcher, who recently became that country's first female prime minister.

Even more telling will be Canadian voter attitudes on May 22. Their vote could confirm a worldwide conservative trend.

But voters are in a quandary. They like the suave Trudeau far more than the ill-at-ease Clark.

Clark could be Richard Nixon's clone. His eyes dart back and forth, his jowls flap in the air, he hides behind a podium and he never seems to know just what to do with his hands.

NOW ENTERS moderate New Democratic Party (NDP) leader Ed Broadbent. He doesn't have a chance of becoming prime minister, but he does have strong leverage in determining the next government's fate.

If the election is a dead heat, Broadbent will be in the enviable position of bargaining with the two major parties for his support.

In parliamentary government, power is held by the party with the most seats in the lower house. If the election is close, Broadbent will determine whether it's Trudeau or Clark who will be prime minister for the next five years. In short, his party will join up with one or the other major parties.

But added to the equation is Rene Levesque, premier of Quebec and leader of the Parti Quebecois.

He would like to see his province dump the maple leaf and go its own way as a French-speaking country.

Originally, Trudeau called the election to dram. tize this issue. Quebecois will be voting later this year on something called sovereignty association — a mild way of asking them if they wish to secede from the confederation.

But most Canadian voters seem rather unconcerned about Levesque and Quebec, opting rather to concentrate on economics.

Practical patriotism

The pursuit of capital

My liberal and conservative friends alike have been having conniptions of late whenever one mentions General Motors and Livonia in the same breath.

The City of Livonia recently granted a property tax break to GM to induce it to place a Cadillac operation in the city's golden mile. The operation had been in Detroit. The alternative, if Livonia failed to grant the tax break, was that the Cadillac activity would go to another state, with all its jobs and tax revenues.

To my liberal friends, it means big corporations are blackmailing local government, playing one city and state against another. To the conservatives, it's government mucking up business decisions at public expense.

Actually, government inducements to investors are as old as the Republic itself. Treasury Secretary Alexander Hamilton, in his Report on the Manufactures (1791), advocated both bounties and tax breaks to lure European capital to our shores. And he advocated a high wage policy to lure skilled labor.

THE UGLY TRUTH is that the United States has something of a capital shortage. No longer can the nation, states and cities take business for granted, kicking it around with regulations, taxes and general disrespect.

A lot of bewildering things are happening all at once to the American economy.

Women and ethnic minorities (bless them all) are no longer content with second class citizenship and want good jobs, which require more investment. Foreign manufacturers, in new factories, compete with our manufacturers.

The federal government, with its $30 billion deficits, eats up capital to fund those debts. The federal government competes against business and homebuying borrowers for that capital. Those government deficits cause inflation, which mean lenders want higher interest rates.

ANDREW BRIMMER, a member of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve Bank, lecturing at the University of Michigan, showed another way inflation disrupts business.

Tim Richard

Suppose a printer buys a $100,000 piece of typesetting equipment. Figuring it will last 10 years, the printer charges off $10,000 depreciation a year as a cost of doing business, the aim being to recover his invested capital. Under federal tax law, he can recover only a total of $100,000 — the historic cost.

At the end of a decade, the printer has his $100,000 recovered and needs to buy a new piece of typesetting equipment. Because of inflation, the replacement machine costs $175,000 or $200,000. So our printer has to hustle another $75,000 or $100,000 in the capital market just to stay even.

More competition for capital.

WILLIAM S. BROOMFIELD, the veteran Republican congressman from Oakland County, put his finger on another capital problem in the American economy. Folks just aren't saving money the way they used to.

"The rate of personal savings has decreased from 7 percent of disposable income, which was the prevailing rate from 1966 to 1975, to 4.8 percent in the last quarter of 1978," he said in a recent newsletter.

"While savings have been decreasing, consumer installment debt for such things as cars and other credit purchases has been increasing from the 12.8 percent average of 1976 to nearly 15 percent."

There are other figures floating around the business magazines about the shrinking percentage of our national income that we're plowing back into new investment compared to Germany and Japan. If folks won't save, then capital is scarce.

And local government, along with state government, must hustle to offer tax breaks to business to get it to invest its capital here and not there. We have a capital shortage in the 1970s of the kind Hamilton dealt with in the 1790s, and the same kinds of inducements are called for, distasteful as they may be politically.

short-term solutions to address the problem.

The long-term solution is to say no to conding

The long-term solution is to say no to spending programs and balance the bloody budget.

One short-term solution Broomfield offers is to exclude from income taxation the first $100 of interest from savings. I think $100 is too little, but clearly Broomfield is doing the patriotic thing by offering an inducement to capital.

Bowling gave birth to COLA

When you throw a stone into the water, there is no telling just how far the ripples will go.

Well, every time The Stroller comes across the term cost of living factor in the public prints he is reminded of the day he tossed a stone in the pond of labor relations. The ripples are still going.

It happened one afternoon during his short sojourn from journalism when he took over the task of handling the affairs of the bowling proprietors of the state and had his office in the now defunct Fort Shelby Hotel.

Along with secretarial duties The Stroller also had to handle all labor relations. This involved negotiating contracts for the alley mechanics, as they were known in those days, and the pinsetters.

The employees in these categories were members, of the Service Employees Union and were represented in all negotiations by a rugged individual named Ray Carroll, a long-time resident of North-ville.

RAY WAS the type of union negotiator who liked nothing better than putting on a show for his members. He always left them with the impression that he was going all out for them.

So, when The Stroller took over the work for the proprietors the first thing they told him was, "Now you can deal with Ray Carfoll.

This was fine — until it came time to negotiate a new contract.

To prepare himself for what he was told would be an ordeal The Stroller sought advice from older men in the labor field and was told to act just as tough as Carroll.

"When Carroll comes in to start negotiations, just tell him you are too busy and that he should come back later. That will take some steam out of him," an old-timer advised.

The Stroller never will forget the look on Carroll's face when he was turned away. But he paid the penalty for it. In all future meetings Carroll appeared in the hotel with his committee, which consisted of about a half dozen black persons.

In those days the black people used to cause a furor in the hotel. And while the hotel management never complained it was easily seen that the visitors were not welcome.

This went on for 16 weeks as Carroll put on a real show before he agreed to a contract.

THEN ONE afternoon The Stroller tried a new tactic.

He invited Carroll to the office and made a suggestion which called for an end to these meetings with his "committee" in the hotel.

The Stroller suggested that Carroll agree to what could be called par for a living wage. Then if the cost of living went up, his men would get a raise. If it fell their wages would be reduced.

"You must be crazy". Carroll countered, until The Stroller suggested that we use the labor figures as par.

The next day Carroll called and asked, "Are you serious about that cost of living thing?"

Assured that he was and that it would be a means of keeping labor negotiations on a sane basis, Carroll came over and the new contract was signed.

NOT TOO much was thought of it at the time. Then one evening when The Stroller was a guest speaker at the Country Club of Detroit, one of the General Motors lawyers who was in attendance remarked during the afterglow:

"That was a great contract you fellows made with the Service Employees Union. We never heard of a cost of living factor before, and now we have your contract on our negotiating table.

A few days later General Motors settled on a new contract and Charlie Wilson, who then was the GM president, was hailed across the country for having added something new in labor negotiations.

The cost of living factor still is a major part of labor negotiations today.

The ripples from the stone The Stroller cast on the labor relations pond years ago sure have gone a long way.

Place: Tiny, packed waiting room of an ophthalmologist's office along Schoolcraft Road in Livonia.

Time: Friday, 9:15 a.m.

Husband, about 60, in gruff voice heard throughout room: Well, why isn't he taking you? Your appointment was for 9. That's the problem with this racket — they stack you in and make you wait.

Wife, also in 60s, tries to act casual, shrugs. Husband: What's the book you brought with you?

Wife whispers title, but so softly she cannot be overheard.

Husband, still full volume: What kind of stuff is in the book? Wife again whispers.

Husband: Why do you read that kind of junk? With that the doctor calls the woman's name. Husband, loud, grumpy: Gimme the book.

Place: Kroger store on Halstead Road in Farmington.

Time: Saturday, 10 a.m.

Man to supervisor, who is working in glassedin office: Do you have any Mother's Day cards?

Supervisor: Huh? (Looks confused. Long pause.) There's a rack of cards over there (pointing south).

Man smiles: Thanks.

A few minutes later he is seen entering express checkout lane. As he does, the man, waving two Mom's Day cards over his head, calls to supervisor: Hey, you've got some fine ones. (Another smile. She smiles back.) I thought you might like to know in case anyone else asked.

Man, reading name on her badge: Linda, here it is 10 o'clock and you're all smiles. Linda looks up, grins.

Supervisor, calling over top of office cubicle: Sir, if there were more customers like you, our jobs certainly would be a lot more pleasant.

Place: Springdale golf course in Birmingham Time: Saturday 1:30 p.m.

Four golfers sip soft drinks (nothing else available) after rousing nine holes.

Golfer No. 1: Say, what kind of golfer is Doug?

Golfer No. 2: Oh, he's quite good. He plays every Wednesday.

Golfer No. 3: Yeah, and every year he spends a week in Myrtle Beach, S.C., just playing golf. Golfer No. 4: He did. (Pause.) Arlene will be deciding things like that from now on.

Note: It turns out that Doug and Arlene had just become engaged.

Place: Jamestown Apartments on Grand River in Farmington

Time: Sunday, 9:30 a.m.

Grandmother and grandfather Riordan (my

What to do after a full-mouth extraction

Q. I am about to have a full mouth extraction. What could I expect afterwards?

A. Following the extraction of teeth, the wound in the jaw usually heals within a few days without complications. Your cooperation in following the instructions given by the dentist will help you avoid

Slow down your activity for several hours following an extraction. The purpose is to slow bood circulation, thereby reducing bleeding and helping a firm blood clot to form in the sockets.

Often some swelling develops in the face following extractions. This reaction is nothing to worry about, and it can be minimized or prevented by application of cold.

As soon as possible after an extraction, apply an ice bag or moist cloth wrung out with cold water to the affected area. Keep it in place for 15 minutes of each hour for several hours.

DON'T RINSE your mouth after the extraction until the following day. This is in order to let the blood clot remain undisturbed while it is solidifying.

After the first day, the mouth can be gently rinsed with warm salt water.

The salt solution is made by dissolving one-half teaspoon of salt in a glass of warm water.

Routine but careful brushing of the remaining teeth should be continued the day following the extraction in order to keep the mouth clean and lessen the possibility of infections.

Actual bleeding should stop shortly after tooth removal. Some oozing or actual bleeding may continue for several hours or even persist into the next day. If much bleeding does occur, you may control it in the following way:

USE A CLEAN piece of gauze to wipe away gently the blood that may have collected in the area of

Then fold a clean piece of gauze into a pad of sufficient size so that when it is placed over the wound, the teeth can be tightly closed and firm pressure made by pressing the gauze with the teeth against the bleeding area.

The pressure should be maintained for a halfhour and can be repeated, if necessary. When bleeding persists or occurs in considerable amount, however, consult the dentist.

Eating should continue without interruption. Make an effort not to miss a meal. Such nutritious foods as soft-boiled eggs, soups, custards and ground meat are recommended.

Most extractions are without complications. But if there are complications, consult your dentist

Women begin to organize

By Sam Hudson

PART IV

"Mother, I think something like this would be welcome in Plymouth."

"I agree, Louise. I'll bet Bernice would be interested in joining. Let's find out how you organize a local

That was the beginning of the Plymouth Branch of the Michigan Division of the Women's National Farm and Garden Associa tion, better known as "The Garden Club.

Louise Tritten and her mother, Mrs. Alma Spicer, got the idea of organizing the garden club in the spring of 1936 when they were visiting a garden show in Detroit.

Their friend, Mrs. Bernice Wiedman, wife of the local Ford dealer, joined them in calling together a dozen women for the first meeting. It was held in the Wiedman home on Blunk Street. Mrs. Wiedman was the club's first president.

After the Plymouth Garden Club was organized, Mrs. Tritten and her mother were instrumental in the formation of chapters in Northville and Rosedale Gardens.

The club, which now has about 85 members, meets once a month. Its programs feature the growing of indoor and outdoor plants, flower arranging, and other subjects of interest to gardeners. The current president is Mrs. Beverly Booker.?

ANOTHER WOMEN'S organization, the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's (BPW) Club, preceded the garden club by eight years.

Founded Sept. 25, 1928, it had 17 charter members. Of these, Mrs. Norma Cassady is the only charter member still active in the club.

Among the BPW's well-known members of the past are Mrs. Phoebe Patterson, who became Michigan's first woman Justice of the Peace in the 1920s, and Mrs. Ruth Huston Whipple, who was Plymouth's first woman mayor in the 1940s

WOMEN & THE SYMPHONY

From its beginning, women have played an active part in the Plymouth Symphony and the organizations formed to support it.

The symphony began as an informal get-together of local musicians who met for the first time in 1945 in Groschke's Feed Store on Main Street where the Anderson Music Snow now is located

Among the women in the group were Daisy Barnes, who played the viola; Ardis Long, violin; Virginia Fischer, horn; and - Evelyn Woods (Mrs. Groschke), the piano.

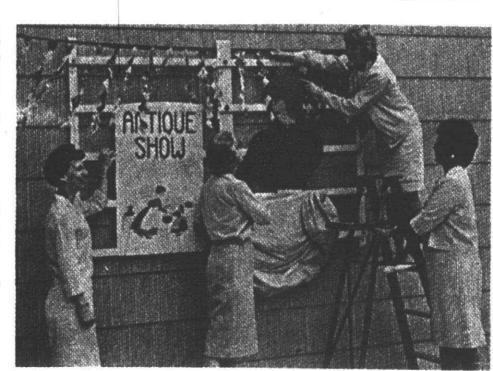

The first formal concert of the orchestra was held on April 20, 1947. It soon became evident that if the orchestra was to survive it had to have other sources of income than the voluntary contributions made by those who attended the performances.

The Plymouth Symphony Society was formed to meet this need. Among the members of the society's first board of directors were several women: Mrs. Norma Cassady, Hanna Strasen, Evelyn Nelson, Celeste Brake, Mrs. Howard Raaflaub and Mrs. Harry Fischer. Mrs. Fischer became the first president.

Among the first civic groups to support the society in its fund-raising efforts were the Plymouth BPW Club and the Women's Club of Plymouth.

In 1954 the society was instrumental in forming the Symphony League — a women's organization whose purpose is to assist the society in raising funds for the support of the orchestra.

Rock thinclads dominate Mangan Memorial event

Plymouth Salem came up the winner in the third annual Mangan Memorial Track meet Monday night at the Centennial Educational Park.

The Salem boys' and girls' teams defeated rival Canton by a combined score of 1641/2-781/2. The Salem boys won 11 of 16 events and the girls captured 11 of 15.

Rich Hanschu turned in the best performance of the evening.

The Salem senior won the long jump with a school record leap of 22-51/2, besting Mike Bodak's old standard of Hanschu also won the 120-yard high hurdles (15.0), 220-yard dash (23.7) and was a member of the winning 440-vard relay team (45.4). Other members of that unit were Craig Stack, Greg Stevens and Greg Lipka.

"Our people ran really well," said Salem coach Gary Balconi.

"We mixed things up and I'm pleased with the times," he said.

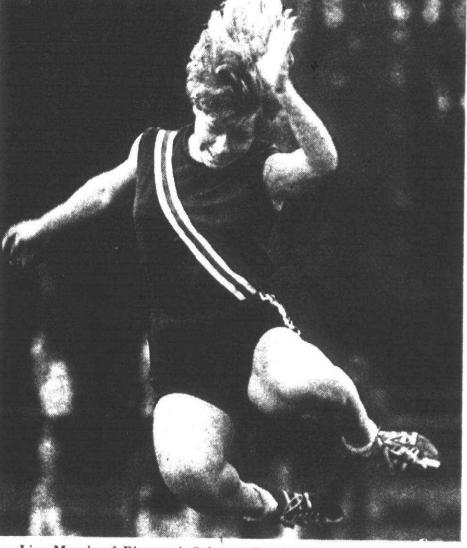

'We had some nice surprises," he said. >

Salem's Howard Monk, a senior who has been suffering with a severely strained ankle, came through for a Salem with a first place in the high jump, clearing the bar at 5-10. Canton's Dave Talaga was second.

Other Salem boys' winners included Silvio Vano, shot put, 44-334; Bob Pittaway, discus, 132-0; Kevin Waara, 880yard run, 2:04.5; Paul Hess, mile run, 4:43.2; Lee Lankabel, 440-yard dash, 53.4; and Dennis Ogden, pole vault, 14-

Gaining second places for the Rocks were John Froozan (discus), Jack Wellman (pole vault), Stevens (100-yard dash), Rob Neu (long jump), Anderson (120-yard high hurdles), Dave Rubadue (mile run) and Chris Kappler (440-yard

Chiefs pass 1st district bat test

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Canton passed its first test in the Class A district tourney at home Tuesday with a convincing 4-0 victory over Farmington.

Canton's Scott Dawson went all the way as he tossed a five hitter. The Canton righthander struck out eight and walked one.

The win lifted Canton's overall mark to 11-5. Canton now advances to the second round of the district. The Chiefs will face Walled Lake Western, most likely May 26 at a site yet to be determined.

"We played like we're capable," said Canton coach Fred Crissey.

"We played good defense and bunted the ball," he said.

Canton faced a tough pitcher in Farmington's Greg Kuhnlein. He had 17 strikeouts in his last outing.

With two outs, Canton tallied its first run in the third inning. Steve Gray reached base on a walk

Sophomore Keith Stone, the designated hitter, followed with a perfectly executed hit-and-run single past the short-

"We were planning the hit and run and Stone put it right there," said Cris-Dawson drove Gray home with a single and Canton took the lead, 1-0.

In the fourth inning, Farmington lead-off batter Bob Collins was ejected from the game.

HOME PLATE umpire Ken Casey said he ejected Collins "for throwing a handful of dirt at me."

Collins claimed he was picking up dirt to "get the pine tar out of my hands.

"I thought it was deliberate," said

Collins' replacement struck out and the next man up doubled. Catcher Rustv Mandle then tossed out the Farmington runner who was trying to steal

Canton added three runs in the fifth inning.

Third baseman Don Dreher led off with a double. Pinch hitter Mark Rockov then laid down a perfect bunt single. Gray followed with a walk and Dawson walked, bringing home Dreher.

With runners at second and third base, Mandle drew a walk and Dave Weise followed with a single to score Gray and Dawson.

"Rockov's bunt was the turning point," Crissey said. "He went up there with one idea in mind. That made a Dawson held Farmington scoreless the final two innings facing the minimum six batters. In the seventh, Canton turned a double play.

"We've done some soul searching the last week," said the Canton coach. "When you're on top, you forget the price you have to pay.'

"We're still in the state. Only seven more games," he said.

The Chiefs collected eight hits in the game and did not committ an error. On Friday, Canton travels north to play in the Midland Tournament.

Canton netters lose, 6-1

By BETTY DeLANO

"Even though we lost, the team keeps on improving with each match," said Plymouth Canton varsity tennis coach Jim Hayes after the Chiefs were defeated by Farmington Harrison Mon-

"There was a lot of improvement made since the first time we played Harrison this season" said Hayes. "Who knows how good we'll be by the end of the season.'

Canton lost to the Hawks by a 6-1 margin the first time the two Western Six League contenders met also. The Chiefs now hold a season record of 5-6 overall and are 4-2 in the Western-6.

First singles player Bob Young was

Third singles man Dan Schmidt of Canton lost to Harrison's Dave Hawthorne 6-2, 6-3, and fourth singles player Mike Tegge lost to Rick Kovan with scores of 6-4, 6-3

The only winners on the Canton squad were the first doubles team of Thad Louviere and Jamie Trenter. The duo defeated Mark Diekman and Al LeForet, 6-1, 6-4.

Peter Lee and Bob Adams held the second doubles position for the Chiefs and lost to Andre Berk and Narendra Blagat, 6-2, 6-4. Third doubles tandem Steve Jones and Kreg Kennel lost to Mark Miller and John Iaconelli, 6-4, 6-

The Canton squad will participate in the regional tournament on Saturday defeated by Harrison's Barry Leshman along with Plymouth Salem. The tornain three sets, 6-2, 5-7, 7-5, and second ment will be held on the Centennial Edsingles player Dave Keen was defeated ucational Park courts and will be hosted by Salem.

Youngsters hit 2nd round level

An appearance at Tiger Stadium could be in store for four area youngsters who won in the district level of the local Pitch, Hit and Run Competition at Massey Field in Plymouth.

The local winners were: Todd Knickerbocker, 12, of Canton; Walter Bartels, 11, of Plymouth; Steve Johnson, 10, of Plymouth; Kirk Goleniak, nine, of Canton

The four youngsters now advance to the district competition to be held in Ann Arbor, June 9. The winners will advance to further competition at Tiger Stadium.

Among the runners-up included Mike McKenney, 12; Greg Penfield and Frank Wright, 11; Phil Komar, 10; David Gwarda, nine.

The winners and runners-up were awarded a plaque. Over 100 boys and girls entered the local competition, co-sponsored by the City of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department and local Burger King restaurants.

Salem girls improve at relay meet

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Canton track coach Mike Spitz has implemented a summer track schedule open to anyone in the community.

Spitz has organized the newly formed Great Lakes Track Club aimed at the men's and women's track teams at Plymouth Canton High School.

"This is basically a continuation of our high school program," said Spitz, "but I'd like to emphasize that it's open to anybody in the community regardless of age.'

'We're hoping to draw people from all over the community," he said.

The Great Lakes Track Club will hold two meets

Every Thursday, beginning June 28, the track events will be held at the Centennial Educational Park track. All the Thursday meets will start at 6:30 p.m.

Among the events on the schedule include the 50. 100 and 330-yard dashes. There will also be a three mile run, 660-yard run, mile relay and joggers

Other dates will include the 220, 440 and 880yard along with the joggers two mile and two mile

After two years of study, the_ American Bowling Congress finally has selected St. Louis, Mo., as the site for the National Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum.

The announcement was made last weekend and the much heralded museum will be only a short distance from famed Arch on the banks of the Mississippi River, where it is expected to attract more than four million visitors each year.

The final choice was made because of the support of the City of St. Louis, which will donate the land and the officials of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Co., who have pledged $100,000 toward the cost of construction of the building.

St. Louis was chosen over Akron and Toledo, Ohio, the final three in the original list of 35 cities. Detroit was one of the original bidders for the Hall of Fame and Museum, but was counted out when city officials showed little interest when the site selection committee visited to look over possible Motor City sites.

IN FAR OFF Arizona the members of the Detroit Women's all star leagues made their presence felt when Jerry Beattie and Mary Ann Petula, of the Luxury Lanes team, took over the doubles lead in the Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament.

This combination turned in a 1,314 series which was only one pin under the record established in 1969 when Judy Soutar and Gloria Simon posted a 1,315 series.

Meanwhile, Ann Setlock, the day manager at Garden Lanes, helped guide the Miss Lapeer team in to seventh place with a 2,880 count.

Scoring was unusually low in the team event Ann reported on her return and it is possible that the 2,880 count could wind up in the top 10.

ANOTHER BEATTIE helped to furnish the excitement on the lanes over the weekend.

Dick Beattie, the stylish lefthander from Dearborn Heights, won the fourth annual Bonanza Michigan Majors Match Game Championship at Orchard Lanes in Pontiac.

He conquered Ed Worth, of Sterling Heights, in the final and averaged 234 in the 13 games he bowled in the qualifying round. It was the second title he won in 1979 and his ninth in the four year history of the Plymouth Canton pitching standout Brian James will sign a baseball letterof-intent later this week with Michigan State University.

James, 21-3 during his career, will receive a full-ride scholarship to MSU. The Canton pitcher also seriously

Summer program formed

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Canton track coach Mike Spitz has implemented a summer track schedule open to anyone in the commu-

Spitz has organized the newly formed Great Lakes Track Club aimed at the men's and women's track teams at Plymouth Canton High School.

"This is basically a continuation of our high school program," said Spitz, "but I'd like to emphasize that it's open to anybody in the community regardless of age.

"We're hoping to draw people from all over the community," he said.

The Great Lakes Track Club will hold two meets per week.

Every Thursday, beginning June 28, the track events will be held at the Centennial Educational Park track. All the Thursday meets will start at 6:30 p.m. Among the events on the schedule include the 50, 100 and 330-yard dashes. There will also be a three mile run, 660-yard run, mile relay and joggers

Other dates will include the 220, 440 and 880-yard along with the joggers two mile and two mile runs.

On Saturdays, starting at 9:30 a.m., the Great Lakes club will host the road racing season.

The first meet is June 30. Among the races planned are the joggers' two mile and the distance races, four to six

"IF WE'RE GOING to have a competitive program, we have to have a summer program like this," Spitz said.

"We'd like to see kids come out from the elementary and junior highs," he said. "In baseball and basketball you have summer programs and it helps a great deal."

Spitz said medals will be awarded each meet and all runners will timed.

Splits will also be provided. Batons will be provided for all relay teams.

"They have a similar program in Ann Arbor which runs every other week. It's been pretty successful and draws 400-500 runners."

Spitz said he is hoping that 20 to 50 persons show up the first meet.

"Hopefully by the end of the season, we'll be drawing 100 to 200," he said. "This is something we hope to do every year," said the Canton coach

"I'm not making this mandatory for the members of my team. This is an opportunity for them to be competitive

Allen Park grabs Sub-8 loop lead

Allen Park gained sole possession of first place in the Suburban Eight League with a 3-1 victory over Plymouth Salem in a prep baseball game

Allen Park sits atop the league with a 5-2 record.

Salem slipped second place with a 6-3 league mark, and the Rocks now stand at 13-5 for the season.

Pitcher Dave Lennie held the Rocks in check during his seven inning stint. He gave up five hits, struck out eight and did not walk a batter. Matt Etienne started and suffered the loss for Salem. He pitched 23/3 innings, gave up one hit, struck out two and walked five.

David Runge relieved him and gave up one run and two hits. Runge struck out four in 31/3 innings work.

Allen Park scored two unearned runs in the third inning. The Jaguars were aided by two walks, a wild pitch and an errant pickoff play.

Salem cut the lead to 2-1 when Runge singled leading off the fourth inning and eventually scored on an error. Allen Park added a run in the sixth

Errors hurt Chiefs' bid for Western-Six lead

By BRAD EMONS

Helped by errors and walks, Farmington Harrison won its showdown game in the Western Six League softball race, beating Plymouth Canton, 12-8, Monday afternoon.

Harrison is now 7-0 in the league.

Canton slipped to 4-2.

'We blew it," repeated Canton coach Max Sommerville. "We beat ourselves.

Canton did indeed contribute to its own loss. Canton pitchers gave up 10 walks. The fielding wasn't much better as the Chiefs committed five errors.

The loss virtually put Canton out of the race with Harrison having to play only three more league games. "We have to pull the troops back together," said Sommerville. "Somebody has to do us a favor. I can't see Harrison losing three games." "This was a big game. One we had to

"Now we have to win the rest and get ready for the state tourney,' he Canton pitcher Lucy Howe held Harrison scoreless in the first inning but developed a sore shoulder in the second inning and had to be removed.

"She was hurting before the game started," said Sommerville.

Howe was replaced by Marianne Pink, who endured a rough second inning.

CANTON TOOK A brief 2-0 lead in the first as Jean Krashovetz led off with a double. Catcher Pam Schipani then walked and first baseman Cindy Stevens followed with an RBI single, bringing home Krashovetz.

Pink then walked and Vicki Cavallaro drove Schipani home with a perfect suicide squeeze bunt.

With the aid of six walks along with two singles, Harrison took the lead in the second inning, scoring four runs.

The Hawks added three more runs in the third inning to take a 7-2 lead. Two infield errors helped the Hawks along with two walks.

Canton gains split in Windsor tourney

By SCOTT ADLER

Plymouth Canton rebounded from a doubleheader loss to Livonia Churchill last week to subdue Western Six league rival Farmington Harrison Monday, 4-2.

Canton has a 5-2 league record and is 10-5 for the season.

The Chiefs scored a run in their first turn at bat and battered Harrison pitcher Dale Tetreania for nine hits. Dave Weise started things off in the first inning with a single and eventually scored on a single by catcher Rusty Mandle.

Plymouth added two runs without the benefit of a hit in the second inning, scoring on two walks, a sacrifice bunt, a wild pitch and a groun-

Don Dreher singled in an insurance run in the fourth inning.

Brian James pitched a complete game for the Chiefs, allowing four hits, striking out 10 batters and walking two.

WINDSOR TOURNEY

The Chiefs split a doubleheader Saturday in the Windsor Invitational Tournament, losing to Birmingham Brother Rice in the opener, 3-0, and winning the second game, 2-0, over Assumption High.

The Chiefs were stumped in the first game by Rice's ace pitcher Ed Lynch, who tossed a two-hitter.

Eddie pitched magnificently,"said Canton coach Fred Crissey.

"He's a great athelete and a great competitor.'

Although the Chiefs were held to two hits, they did have a scoring oppourtunity in the third inning. Don Dreher walked and stole second. A Lynch wild pitch moved Dreher to third. But he was thrown out trying to score after Steve Gray's fly ball to left field.

The game was scoreless after four innings, but Birminham bats began to boom in the fifth.

Scott Dawson, pitching in relief of starter James, was roughed up by Rice for three singles. He also hit a batter and walked one, allowing the Warriors' three runs.

"BJ (Brian James) threw four outstanding innings(two hits, five strikeouts)," Crissey said. "I had to give them (the pitchers) their innings because we have six games this week. Normally, we would have pitched one each the entire game."

Dan Funkhouser started the second game for the Chiefs, hurling four scoreless innings

"Dan had four good innings. We would have let him finish but we need him for Wednesday," Crissey

Sophomore Dave Carter relieved Funkhouser and pitched until two Assumption runners reached base in the sixth. Dawson came on to put out the fire, nailing down the shut-

The Chiefs scored in the fourth and the seventh innings on RBI singles by Al Lipinski and Keith Stone.

" I thought we had a good day today," Crissey said.

Chiefs golfers rip Rocks

Plymouth Canton junior Janis McGlone shot a personal low score of 45 at Hilltop Golf Course Monday to share medalist honors with senior captain Cathy Andersen en route to defeat rival Plymouth Salem, 205-229.

The victory over Salem locked up the Central Six League title for the Chiefs who now hold a 10-0 record overall and a 7-0 mark in the league.

McGlone's 45 was three strokes lower than her previous personal best of 48 which she scored during match play last season.

The Canton duo were joined by Peggy Visser at 55 and Karen Mullen at 60 to come up with the 205 total. Other Canton scores which didn't count were Kim Massey at 62 and Cindy Sochacki at 63. It was Sochacki's first varsity

A score of 51 by junior Meg McGee was the lowest score Salem could muster against the low scoring Chiefs.

McGee was followed by freshman Carol Ross who sank a six foot putt on the ninth green to save a 54, senior Beth Maggio finished at 57 and freshman Yvette Totzke at 67

"Now that we've got the league title locked up, we can put most of our attention on getting ready for the regionals on Friday," said Canton coach Ann Buie. "The win over Salem was much easier this time than the first. Last time the match was only one stroke apart (210-211), this time Salem had a bad day."

Salem coach Bob Waters made this comment: "We just had a bad day. We'll surprise them at regionals."

Salem is 6-3 overall and 3-3 in the league. The Rocks played Saline on Wednesday but the results were unavailable by press time. Waters went into the match against Saline confident that his team would come out ahead.

Both Canton and Salem play in the regional tournament tomorrow at Burroughs Farms in Brighton against eight other teams. The top three teams advance to the state tournament on June 4. Salem placed tenth at the state tourney last year and Canton placed fifth in the regionals.

Both teams play Tuesday, next week, in league action. Canton plays Saline at Hilltop and Salem travels to Lakeland Country Club to compete against Pinckney. Both matches start at 3 p.m.

Banks are businesses, and bankers are business people

They are in the business of lending money to make money.

If you are in business, you must realize that the commodity of exchange is money and that you must have money to do business. That's why you should consider your banker an important business contact. BANKERS DO NOT want to be thought of as unapproachable. They want to be thought of in more human terms, as the manager of any other business. But, although banks exist to deal in money they grant loans only to qualified people and

Strolling into—and back out of—a diet

Even venerable institutions such as views there as well as it being a place our Observer's Stroller cannot escape conversations about diet unscathed. Diet talk seems to take place somewhat regularly during coffee break time, or in the newsroom.

One day recently, the Stroller shuffled over to my desk and said, "Nancy, I have to tell you about the diet my doctor put me on some time ago. "In fact," he said, "he even wrote a book on the subject called "Eat, Drink, and Get

At this point, my eyes came to rest on Eddie's somewhat prominent spare

He continued, "I'll bring you a copy if you'd like to see it."

"Of course, Eddie" I mused. (After all, the Stroller still has a paunchever look at an accurate depiction of his silhouette in his logo?

I wondered just how successful this diet was and invited the Stroller into the cafeteria for some conversation. We commonly hold meetings and interto eat.

"I was always a roly-poly fellow." Eddie began. "In high school I was 5 feet 8 inches and weighed 170 pounds." He continued, "I played football as a youngster and I was always put in the center of the line. The instructions were to pass the ball and fall downbecause I was fat."

"My nickname at home was "Fats" and that's what all the kids regularly called me. But I was raised a Presbyterian and as such was a fatalist. If you are born to be hanged, you'll never Apparently, Eddie's doctor wasn't a fatalist. He expressed concern to the Stroller about his patient's weight.

Having just written his book, Dr. Ernest Reinsh encouraged Eddie to follow a low carbohydrate diet, then presented him with an autographed copy of his

"I'll give you a diet where you can eat all you want and lose a pound a week," he told the Stroller.

And then he used the greatest psychology on me I have ever heard," said. "If you sat down with a poison vial, would you bite into it to see if its poison?"

"Of course not," Eddie told the doc-

"OK, then no potatoes" This is just one of the many forbidden foods that Dr. Reinsh lists in his book. The doctor's diet is based on experiences with treating diabetic patients, and overweight (and otherwise healthy) patients. The doctor basically asks his patients to stay on a high protein, high fat, low carbohydrate diet. He does, however, emphatically state that no diet will work unless it is one you can stay on the rest of your life.

The diet contains such instructions as limiting liquid intake to no more than six glasses of liquid per day. In a really obese person, this should be increased to eight glasses per day. This is an attempt, he says to rid the body of waterlogged starch.

Stay away from apples, apple juice, cereals, highly salty foods (such as anchovies), most fruits (even grapefruit!), potatoes and everything

The "Yes" list was unusual, containing such foods and admonitions as ale (in allowable amounts), butter (all you want), caviar, lard, corned beef (Great!), cream (soak it up),easy on parsnips and luncheon meats (all kinds). And much to the Stroller's delight, he was allowed Pennsylvania Dutch scrapple.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating (or in this case, what he didn't eat.) Our venerable Stroller lost 76 pounds in 18 months

"I didn't feel any different then, than when I was fat," he told me. "But one day a friend said to me, 'Eddie, you look terrible. You're not half the man you used to be.""

Eddie thought, "The hell with this." That was the end of his diet.

The school clothing bank is in need of summer things, light-weight clothing for ages infant through adult.

Flossie Tonda, originator of the clothing store with no sales slips and no cash registers, says the warm winter things have been packed away and the shelves are bare.

Any one with outgrown summer clothing can drop it off at the school district warehouse on Adams Street, just north of Church Street and beside Central Middle School. The warehouse is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on school days.

The clothing bank is in one of the portable classrooms in the parking lot of Central. Clothing is clean, pressed and in good repair - ready to put right on and wear. It has been sorted according to sex and size by Flossie and her co-workers.

PARENTS OF students in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are eligible to shop at the clothing bank if they can show proof of need.

First step is to talk to the principal of the child's school who will direct the family to the bank. It will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 a.m. to noon while school is in session. During the summer months, it will be open just one day a week, on Thursday.

Persons with no school-age children also are eligible to use the bank. Again, need must be proved. In case of an emergency, Mrs. Tonda will come down and open the clothing bank during off hours. She can be reached at home by calling 453-2534.

The number of the clothing bank is 455-5760

"We need children's spring and summer things — dresses for both school and church. Since last September, we have handled more than 174 individual children. Some of these have been here more than once and many of their parents and younger brothers and sisters have been taken care of too.'

MRS. TONDA is especially grateful to the Altar Society of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church. Once more, they have contributed $150 to take care of the clothing bank's telephone costs.

"They have done this every year since the bank was opened," said Flosalso appreciates the gifts of clothing from the community and the schools. There are the classes, like those at Farrand Elementary School. Instead of having a gift exchange at Christmas, the students spend their money on a mitten tree, or a socks tree. The socks and mittens are then bunup and donated to the clothing

"It is so rewarding," says Flossie. "Just to see a family leave the bank with the new clothes they have picked out is worth all the time spent.'

Families and neighbors pass on outgrown clothing. It's good to see a whole school section doing the same thing sharing and caring.

VIRGINIA TAWSLEY of Creative Cakes has decided to have a cake decorating contest June 21. Because her shop at Sheldon and Warren roads in North Canton Plaza is new, she thought she would wait a year or so before sponsoring a competition.

The number of cake decorators in the Plymouth-Canton area brought about an updating of the contest. She also has turned out a group of talented decorators from her classes. The contest will be open to all ages - 3 to 90 - both amateurs and those who have taken courses in cake decorating. Participants will be divided into children's (3-15) and adults' (16 and up) categories. There will be divisions for beginners, intermediate and advanced as well as children. The two classes will be wedding or tier cakes, and birthday and special occasion cakes. Virginia is going to limit the medium to butter cream frosting.

So, all you artists, think ahead. There will be more about this later.

LAST THURSDAY winners at the party bridge games in the Plymouth Cultural Center were Dorothy Shaeffer and Lydia Lear.

The group meets from 1-5 p.m. in the center at 325 Farmer Street, Plymouth. For information call Margaret Swartz, 522-1885.

Isbister Collection

Art works by students in the Plymouth-Canton schools were selected to become part of the Isbister Collection. Works are chosen annually by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. After being on a touring exhibit in the schools for one year, they will become part of the permanent collection in the Board of Education offices. Displaying their works are (from left) Tim Kehoe, 9, of Bird; Kelly Cooper, 12, of Pioneer; Jennifer McGrath, 6 of Miller; Annette Bryce, 12, of Central; George Denison, 11, of Gallimore; and Vanessa Starke, 18, of Plymouth Salem high. Fitness is for everyone

By SHERRY KAHAN

If you try Preventicare, you may need less Medicare. That was the message brought to Schoolcraft College recently by Lawrence Frankel and Betty Richards, who believe that by exercising, the elderly can avoid many of the physical problems of aging. They call their excercise program Preventicare. Their seminar theme was "Fitness is Ageless," meaning that fitness is possible and beneficial for those in wheelchairs, on crutches or in nursing home beds. They don't care where one is as long as the muscles start moving and the blood starts circulating.

Frankel told the senior citizens, exercise teachers and others in his audience about a woman who had had amputations on both legs but still moved around the floor to exercise.

The two visitors claimed their program perks people up psychogically, while at the same time helps hold arthritis at bay and maintain coordinatigo. In some cases, it can reduce the amount of drugs needed, they said.

Founder of the West Virginia-based Lawrence Frankel Foundation, which has initiated a statewide program of exercise for the elderly, Frankel reminded his audience of the time in Biblical history when a young woman was brought to King David as a comfort in his old age.

"She became the king's nurse and ministered to him, but he knew her not," said Frankel, quoting the Bible.

Then he laughed. "It's too bad King David didn't know about Preventicare," he said, implying that the royal love life might have been improved.

FRANKEL STRESSED that too often in our society old people are treated as "No return, no deposit bottles." Over 70 himself, he rejects this idea. Instead, he is spending his senior years working to interest the elderly in recycling themselves from sedentary lives spent complaining about their ills to lives of greater action and sociability. The first time he tried to interest senior citizens in moving their muscles was in the lobby of a high-rise apartment for the elderly. "They were sitting with their chins on their chests, listening to their arteries harden." he recalled. "There was not a smile in the whole crowd.

"I picked out the best looking man among them, and told them that through exercises, he could be restored to true virility. That brought the first smile. We began the exercises. The ladies joined the man in throwing a medicine ball." During subsequent sessions, the exercisers began tell Frankel they were eating and sleeping better. From that simple beginning the program grew in West Virginia to include more than 2,200 people in 200 sessions all over the state. Now groups around the country and several foreign ones have been contacting Frankel for advice about Preventicare.

Canton - getting stronger, growing better every day.

Looking back over the last eight years, one can see some obvious and some not so obvious changes in our

The little green signs on the expressway which read Canton Township may not seem like much. But there was a time, not so very long ago, that it felt like no one wanted to recognize our existence.

We haven't reached the "big time" yet where Canton is on the exit ramp signs, but we have reached a plateau. Since cities only are designated on these exit signs, Canton Township alone should not feel slighted. We would have to become a city before we receive recognition in some areas of life.

WE ARE RECOGNIZED more than we ever were before. People know where Canton is. Our business district is growing larger and larger.

We even have a Secretary of State office within our borders. We really are becoming established. For many residents, these things may seem small. Others, who moved out here at the beginning of the new influx eight years ago, know the value of these changes. We can remember that when asked where we lived, the reply "Canton" brought strange looks. We then had to further explain our whereabouts by saying "Plymouth."

We also can remember when there wasn't a grocery store in the township. Now we not only have grocery stores, but every other kind of store as well. Most of us can walk a few blocks to pick up a loaf of bread or a carton of milk. We used to have to drive a mile.

At first there were just two elementary schools - Gallimore and the old two-room Truesdell. Miller opened in 1972 and three more opened two years

Our church services, except for the Old Cherry Hill Methodist and the Baptist Church on Joy, were held in various schools. We have many churches now, with more being built.

How things have changed. Some residents feel that all this growth and expansion is not really good. But, good or bad, it has made a difference in Canton.

I know many people who moved here eight years ago who are buying larger homes. Where do you think they're moving? Somewhere in Canton. Doesn't that say a lot for our township?

I was trying to decide where I would go if I wanted to move and decided I'd stay right here. I can't think of a better place to live.

We are not without our problems, but we are definitely growing stronger and getting better every day.

Interlochen group at local schools

A group of touring drama students stopped in Plymouth Friday to give performances at two elementary

Students from Interlochen Arts Academy's theatre division presented children's plays at Our Lady of Good Counsel and Smith Elementary Schools. The plays were sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

The 27 cast members are touring Michigan as part of the "Interlochen Outreach" program, supported by the Michigan Council for the Arts. This year, academy students have taken music, art, dance, drama and poetry to towns throughout the state. The high school-age drama students come from all over the country to study at the academy, part of Interlochen Center for the Arts. Located near Traverse City, the center also includes the National Music Camp. The academy is a college-preparatory boarding high school with equal emphasis on academics and the performing, visual and literary arts.

The three plays on tour are "The Mysterious Story of a Frog That Gets Turned into a Prince and the Happenings thereafter," written by Mark Nadler, a junior at the academy from Waterloo, Ia.; "The Mermaid's Tale" and "The Insulting Princess of the Great Wullaberry National Maroon and How it all Began" both by Sandra Asher of Springfield, Mo.

The students at Smith saw "The Mermaid's Tale." The play was presented in the round with many opportunities for the children to respond to the actors and situations.

This is the fifth year of the Michigan Council for the Arts "Interlochen Outreach" project. Jan Quick, PCAC representive for cultural activities in the schools, said she was pleased to have the local schools included in this year's tour of the drama group.

Exercise keeps them in shape

fying the aging process, claimed the speaker. Too many of them shrug their shoulders, saying that aging is predestined, and nothing can be done about it.

"This is an unfortunate philosophy," Frankel said. "There are from 110-115 medical schools in the country and only one of them has a chair in gerontology. It was created by Cornell Medical School in New York City within the last six months.'

With exercise training, he indicated that it is possible to show physicians the stroke volume of the heart can be improved. One of the purposes of the exercises is to lower the pulse rate but strengthen the stroke.

Among some 125 persons who had come to listen to Frankel and learn exercises from Ms. Richard was Delphine Merrill of Redford Township. She will put the information and activities to use in teaching people in the program for which she works, the Tri-County Deaf Senior Citizens.

"I try to encourage them to exercise by explaining the good it does to the heart," she said.

Nora Nader of Westland gets the seniors she teaches to move in a more rhythmic way. She has them maneuvering disco style in dancing classes in two Detroit locations and in the Bailey Recreation Building in Westland, conducted through the city's Friendship Center.

"They really like it," she said. "I get ·lots of smiles.'

Hortense Walton, who works in the adult day care program at the Wayne County Office on Aging, has tried a few exercises with seniors who spend the day in J Building at the Wayne County General Hospital.

"When they first come in, they complain about pains in their legs and back," she said. "But after 20 minutes of exercising they want to do more."

A LIMBER-UP PERIOD was a integral part of the day's activities in the physical education building at Schoolcraft. Participants were led through a series of muscle movers by Ms. Richard. She drew on material presented in the book, "Be Alive As Long As You Live," which she wrote with Frankel.

The exercises were tailored for the elderly. Many of them could be done by those who were not ambulatory. Others are designed to be performed beside a bed or chair. No muscle seemed to be too small to be ignored as fingers moved a pencil-like stick up and down, wrists took the hand in a circle, necks twisted to one side and then another and backs were bent, all in tune to lively music.

The session ended with a vigorous response to the tune, "Alley Cat," which has become almost the national anthem of elderly exercisers.

CONCLUDING THE DAY'S activities, Frankel urged the elderly to avoid frequent use of over-the-counter drugs. which he claimed have little value. Because of their limited incomes, older people cannot afford to be "seduced by purveyors" into using them, he said.

"Unfortunately the Federal Trade Commission has tired blood, so it allows them to persist in advertising these and other drugs," he added

But his main thrust continued to be to involve the elderly in exercising.

"Older people feel they shouldn't move," he said, "so the loss of motor action causes their muscles to degenerate. This is a contributing factor to premature institutionalization.

"It is these people we want to reach. I ask you to help us to reach them. I plead with you to become missionaries in this cause.'

Stamp club views bourse with pride

Members of the Western Suburban Stamp Club had an opportunity to assess their 10th annual stamp show and bourse at their last meeting When all the reports were in, they verified what everyone had known all along. It was the biggest and best ever, living up to its reputation of being the No. 1 show in the state.

More than 5,000 persons attended the two-day bourse in Central Middle School. The dealers sold hundreds of dollars worth of stamps and were so busy, they couldn't handle all their cus-

Psychologist talks with support group

Mastectomates to view fashions

F. Paul Pearsall, chief of the problems of Daily Living Clinic at Sinai Hospital, will deal with the topic "What to do while you wait for the psychiatrist to come" when he speaks at the Monday, May 21, meeting of the Parent Support Organization of the MSU Wayne County Cooperative Extension

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Presbyterian Church of Dearborn, 600 North Brady. The program is open to the public.

Dr. Pearsall, a certified consulting psychologist, has established a national reputation as speaker and authority in the field of diagnosis and treatment of sexual, marital and family dysfunction. He serves on the teaching staff at Wayne University Medical School, Mercy College and Henry Ford College.

Parent Support is a countywide group organized through the MSU Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, under the leadership of Family Living agent Kathleen Bufton.

It is an organization for continuing education, growth and support in implementing the skills and techniques of effective parenting. While membership is open to anyone who has an interest in better family or personal communications, members are encouraged to enroll in a regular eight-week effective parenting class.

Classes are taught by Family Living Education staff or volunteers for a nominal fee. For more information on the program or upcoming parenting classes, call the Extension office, 721-

Women who have had breast surgery will find they can dress attractively despite their operation at Mastectomee Update '79 to be held from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, May 23 in Roma Hall of Livonia.

The event is sponsored by the Wayne County Unit of Reach to Recovery of the American Cancer Society. The program is in three parts, including the display of special products needed by women who have had mastectomees. They will be presented by a number of Wayne County businesses.

Following lunch will be a fashion show titled "Lifestyles." Its models will be Reach to Recovery volunteers, who are mastectomates themselves.

This organization aims to help women who have had a breast removed cope with the situation.

The purpose of the show and the display of clothing is to reassure mastectomates that they can dress attractively, resume their former life, and even take on new activities.

The final portion of the program will consist of a panel discussion of the latest methods of detection, diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer and related problems. Speaking will be an oncologist, surgeon and sociologist.

While the program is free there is a $6 charge for lunch. Reservations are

Vincini-Gibson

Arthur and Jean Vincini of Sheridan Avenue, Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Paul Randolph Gibson, son of Norman and Sue Gibson of S. Wagner Street, Ann Arbor. The bride-elect is a 1977 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. She earned an associate degree in applied science from Schoolcraft College and is employed as a secretary at World Headquarters, General Motors Corp. Her fiance graduated from Pioneer High School, Ann Arbor in 1970. He attended Eastern Michigan University and is employed at National Set Screw, Plymouth.

They plan to be married in December in Salem Christian Fellowship Church.

Bassett — Cragel James and Lilian Bassett of North

Harvey Street, Plymouth announce the engagment of their daughter, Andrea Edith, to Michael Donald Cragel, son of Michael G. and Marilyn Cragel of Myron Drive, Livonia.

The bride-elect garduated from Plymouth High School in 1971 and from Michigan State University in 1977. She is employed by the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union. Her fiance is a 1972 graduate of Stevenson High School and earned his degree from MSU in 1976. He is a student at Pennsylvania College of Podiatric Medicine in Philadelphia

They plan a July wedding in Our Lady of Victory Church, Northville.

Money The most overlooked

income source in business

"Lazy Money" is our name for temporarily idle business funds that just sit around in company checking accounts waiting to be used. The wait may be short, or as long as several months. But every day of waiting robs your business of income it could earn easily in our Business Savings and Telephone Transfer program

Our program dovetails comfortably with your normal business banking arrangements while providing insured safety and a higher return than would be possible through your bank alone.

Let our Business Savings and Telephone Transfer program put your "Lazy Money" to work as a profitable source of income. Remember, if you're not using it...you're losing it!

THERE'LL BE SOME CHANGES IN YOUR LIFE...

Young parents learn that in a hurry. And they learn that classified advertising can be a very good friend when it comes to finding good buys on many of the things baby will need. Bathinettes, baby beds and other furniture now ... then trikes and bikes in the years to come. And as baby outgrows these things, they can be sold again with mom and dad on the receiving end of the cash this time around.

First Step to grow with grant from state

The $53,000 state grant recently given First Step will be used by the organization to expand its counseling services for battered spouses. In addition, the Westland-based group will continue its efforts to obtain a shelter to house victims of domestic violence.

Debbie Benjamin, executive director of First Step, expects the funds from the Michigan Department of Social Services to arrive in from six to eight weeks. It was granted by the department's Domestic Violence Prevention and Treatment Board.

"We will hire more staff members so we can handle more calls and do more office counseling," said Ms. Benjamin.

its efforts to obtain as a shelter a building on the grounds of the Wayne County General Hospital in Westland.

"It is a good location," she indicated. "It's near the hospital, near the Sheriff's Road central to this part of the county, and not in a neighborhood."

First Step was turned down in its first request to use this building by the Wayne County Board of Auditors.

"The board thought that county funds would have to be invested to bring the building up to code requirements," said Ms. Benjamin. "When they asked us if we could do it, we didn't have the funds.

"We need to have it inspected. Then She added that First Step will resume depending on how much it cost to bring Ethel and George Mahlmeister went to their 50th wedding anniversary party in a 1929 Model A. Ford.

1929 Ford revives wedding day memories

More than 60 close friends and relatives attended a reception and dinner party Sunday, May 6 to celebrate the 50th wedding anniversary of Ethel and George Mahlmeister of Plymouth. The couple was married May 11, 1929 and lived in Detroit until 1973 when they moved to Plymouth.

He retired from the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. after 44 years of service. The Mahlmeisters were transportedfrom their home in Bradbury Park,

Plymouth Township to the Mayflower Hotel. They rode in a 1929 Model A Ford, which was specially arranged to recognize the year of their marriage and the Model A they owned at that Many out-of-town guests attended the party. There were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kaiser of California (former neighbors), Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bakewell of Ontario, Canada (sister of Mrs. Mahlmeister), and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Aitken of Ohio who also are former neighbors.

The traditional three-tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by a grandaughter, Cheryl Nizio of Detroit. One of the highlights of the celebration was recognition of the birthday of George Mahlmeister's mother. Edith Mahlmeister of St. Clare Shores was 89 May 6. She was presented with a small cake. She responded with a few comments to the anniversary couple.

They have four married children: George Jr. of Redford Township, Jim of Detroit, Roger of Highland, and Joan Ireton of Plymouth. They have 10 grandchildren and three great-grand-

The loss of a partner is bad enough without the loss of the business, too.

When two people become partners, they go through a lot of work to build a business. And if it's worth building, it's worth protecting.

Which is the whole point of Nationwide's business partnership insurance. It's a life in surance plan designed for a twopartner operation.

If one partner dies, Nationwide provides cash to the other. Cash to purchase the deceased partner's share. To keep the business in business.

Nothing can replace a partner. But with partnership insurance, you can look out for each other's interests. And that's one more way Nationwide is on your side.

From humble beginnings to a humble present.

That sums up the existence of the Livonia-Redford Theater Guild, which marks its 25th anniversary June 2.

"Growth," said Pat Secor, the theater guild's founder and executive director, "has been our biggest problem

"We just don't attract people to work backstage, and season ticket sales have not grown in years.

"We've tried everything, but many of the young people originally involved in the theater 25 years ago are still involved," Mrs. Secor added. Few of today's young people have joined the troupe.

However, what the guild lacks in backstage numbers and material assets, it makes up for in professionalism and a growing reputation for good theater on a small scale.

THE LIVONIA-REDFORD theater's recent production of "Equus" won $1,000 in cash awards after taking the best production prize at the Furay Theater Festival.

The competition, pitting Detroit area community theaters against one another, was held at Detroit's Music Hall Theater earlier this year. And, typically, as Mrs. Secor explains it, the competition from Grosse Pointe "had three people on stage and 15 people backstage — we had 15 on stage and two backstage."

"Equus" brought home the money, though, and half of it immediately went to fix a broken furnace at the Canton Observer

guild's Playhouse Theater on Beech

"We had already decided to enter the show in the competition," Mrs. Secor said. But after the furnace gave out, "we decided wholeheartedly to go after it (the cash award)."

The award marked the third time in four tries that the guild has won the festival's top prize.

THE GUILD HAS an open casting policy, explained Mrs. Secor, which allows the director of a play to bring in the best available talent. Kenneth Ward, the boy who starred in "Equus," is from Flint, the executive director said, and another actor who almost got the part is from Ypsilanti.

Ward received no pay for the job—the only guild participants who are paid are the directors.

"We pay the directors because we always look for someone with an M.A. or a Ph.D. (in theater)," Mrs. Secor

"We want to assure our audiences the best productions possible — our primary duty is to the audience," said Mrs. Secor, who has a master's degree of her own from the University of Michigan.

EACH YEAR the guild spends about $10,000 on its productions, Mrs. Secor said, "and we're entirely self-sufficient."

Currently the Livonia-Redford troupe presents its plays in a theater that was an auto shop not so long ago, and which seats only about 100 peo-

The guild has asked the city of Livonia to refurbish one of its soon-to-be-closed schools to fit the guild's needs, but the city has thus far balked

A proponent of the school-renovation plan is Livonia councilman Bob Bishop. Bishop says he has been attempting to win the support of the rest of the council and of Mayor Edward McNamara for establishment of a Livonia Cultural Center.

Bishop's plan is to take over a closed school and turn it into a place where plays could be presented and various classes — such as courses in dance, art or music — could be held.

(C)1D

"THE TIME TO ACT is now," Bishop said, "because the schools are becoming available now.

"I'm afraid that if we don't act now, the schools will be used for commercial ventures."

Bishop said he believes the Livonia-

Redford Theater Guild would gain a more widespread following if it had better facilities. "Some say we don't have enough

"Some say we don't have enough community interest," Bishop said, "but the theater hasn't grown because it's been limited in size (by its present facilities).

"Interest in cultural activities is on the rise, and the establishment of a Livonia Cultural Center would double or triple crowds," Bishop said of the potential for the guild in bigger and better surroundings.

Bishop said that many problems stand in the way of improving the theater guild's lot, however — not the least of which is money. It could take as much as $60,000 a year to maintain a school like Livonia's Rosedale Elementary just to utilize its auditorium for plays, he said.

REGARDLESS OF surroundings or financial status, the Livonia-Redford Theater Guild has turned out some fine productions and some wellknown personalities over the years.

Cathy Mann, now of Channel 4's "Midday" television show, appeared in a Noel Coward one-acter called "Ways and Means" back in 1965.

Beverly Penberthy, who may be seen currently as Pat in the daytime soap opera "Another World," appeared in the 1958 production of "The Tender Trap." And her co-star was a young University of Detroit student by the name of Bill Bonds.

Bonds, now the Channel 7 newsman, recalls that he played a jazz musician named Sol Schwartz in that play.

"I gave up a hell of a career in the theater to go into news," Bonds said of his decision to forego a future on the boards.

"And (theater critic) Dick Osgood gave us a great review, too," Bonds added.

THE BOTSFORD INN will be the site of the Livonia-Redford Theater's silver anniversary dinner on June 2.

Cocktails will be served at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 7:30. Admission is $12.50, and there will be a cash bar.

Reservations must be received by Friday by calling 459-1999.

● GRUNTS AND GROANS
Tired of watching films of street rioters in faraway lands on the evening news? Tired of watching the kids get into minor scuffles on the living room floor? Now you can see the real thing.

It's wrestling at Cobo Arena, 8:30 p.m. Saturday, with The Sheik, Pampero Firpo (the "Wild Bull of the Pampas") and The Mighty Igor competing in a handicap bout. Firpo, according to one public relations whiz, enters the ring with the warning to his opponents: "Be prepared to meet your doom." Igor, it says here, "is a man with love in his heart for all." The Sheik, who growls a lot and often throws furniture, always get a rise out of the audience when he starts biting and gouging an opponent's forehead.

Tickets are $7-$5 at Cobo and Hudson's. A word of warning: If you

The 13th annual Eastern Market flower day is this Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with more than 100 growers of flowering annuals and vegetable plants displaying their wares. Master gardeners will be on hand all day to provide free advice. Eastern Market, which has its big day each Saturday, is on Russell in Detroit, just east of I-75 and south of I-94: Parking and admission are free.

• ARCHITECTURAL TOUR

You can see an example of building renovation design on this week's Architects Sunday Open House Tour, 2-5 p.m. at Northwood School in Royal Oak. Architects from Eberle M. Smith Associates, who will serve as guides along with school staff members, renovated a building which had been constructed in three stages.

The tour is free and no reservations are needed. The school is at 926 W. 12 Mile Road between Woodward and Crooks. Visitors can enter from the parking lot at the north end.

• ARS GRATIA OOD-FAY

By day, mild-mannered tool and die workers; by night, Cass Corridor artists. An exhibit of sculpture by Dan Dickerhoff and paintings by Joseph Groppuso opens noon Sunday at the Song Shop Saloon, Cass at Forest near Wayne State University in Detroit, with a champagne brunch at noon. Neighborhood musicians and poets will entertain.

• MORE ART

Over at the Artworlds Center in Ann Arbor, a color photography exhibit titled "Pink Flamingos and Mental Hospitals" opens Sunday with a public reception from noon to 4 p.m. Photographer Nicholas Graetz says his works "explore tensions between superficial appearance, function, mystery and humor." The gallery is at 213 S. Main.

With fifers fifing, Plymouth's corps returns

The drums roll and from the fifes are heard the high-pitched notes of "Yankee Doodle."

Some 30 marchers are keeping perfect step, dressed in the colonial uniforms of the militia.

Hundreds of spectators are lined on both sides of the street, watching bands march to the crisp tunes of John Philip Sousa.

But heads will turn as the sounds of brass pass and the first sounds of the fife and drum crops reaches the ears of spectators. The Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps is about to march by in

This scene is repeated more than 20 times a year, from May to October, from Fremont to Farmington. In 1979 the scene will begin this Sunday with an appearance at Greenfield Village and end on Oct. 7 to march in the parade preceding the annual chicken flying races in Plymouth.

THE CORPS, founded in 1971, is a collection of young musicians from western Wayne County, almost all from seventh grade through high school.

They number about 35. Their uniform is a replica of George Washington's Life Guard (1776-83) with buff knee britches, red waistcoat, blue continental coat with buff trim, black hat and shoes, and white knee socks.

Their aim in getting together is to preserve the nation's early musical heritage as well as enrich their own musical experience.

Music performed by the corps spans the 18th through the 20th century, offering a combination of traditional tunes presented in contemporary settings.

Fife groups around the country each have an individual sound, according to corps business manager Fred Moore.

"We play a 10-hole fife, and we use modern drum heads," he says. Other groups try to maintain the authenticity and use replicas of instruments used in Revolutionary War days.

"It's very big out east," says Moore. "We're trying to bring it into the midwest. Hopefully, we'll develop more interest."

Beyond appearances in the metropolitan Detroit area and Michigan, the corps has travelled to Illinois, Indiana, New York, Wisconsin, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Washington and Canada.

The Fife and Drum Corps is not looking for a few good men, just one good music director.

"It takes a real dedicated person — someone who's dedicated to keeping the art of fife and drum music alive," says publicity director Brenda Norman.

The duties for the poid person —

The duties for the paid position include leading one practice session each week and going to all the parades. Anyone interested is asked to call corps president Neil Winters at 349-6144.

Among some of the highlights of their tours in the past have been performances at the Drum Corps International Finals in Philadelphia, at a Civil War Muster in Greenfield Village, Old Fort Henry in Ontario, and as Michigan's representative in the Bicentennial Cherry Blossom Festival Parade.

AFTER OPENING its 1979 season at Greenfield Village ("working out some of the kinks," says Moore), the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps will appear at the Alma Highland Festival on May 26 and return home the next day to march in the Livonia Memorial Day Parade.

Area appearances include the Fourth of July parade in Northville and Plymouth, the Farmington Founders Festival parade July 21, the Plymouth Fall Festival on Sept. 9, and the chicken flying contest parade in Plymouth on Oct. 7.

In between, appearances include the National Asparagus Festival in Hart on June 9 and the Rose Festival in Jackson the next day, the second Musket Muster at Greenfield Village June 30 and July 1, Old Frenchtown Days in Monroe on July 29, Grand Haven Coast Guard Festival on Aug. 4, Greenville Danish Festival on Aug. 18 and the Melon Festival in Howell on Aug. 25.

During the fall season the corps will appear at the Historic Homes Tour in Marshall Sept. 8, Fun Day at Cedar Point Sept. 16, the East Warren Businessmen's Parade in Detroit Sept. 23, and the Midwest Antique Tool Collectors gathering in Southfield Oct. 6.

The corps still has open dates for performances or parade appearances. For scheduling, contact Moore at 453-8179.

Costumes by Rudi

The Bella Lewitzky Dance Company is at the Music Hall in Detroit, 8:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday, with 2 p.m. matinees Saturday-Sunday. Costumes by fashion designer Rudi Gernreich include the duotard (left), which are worn in the shows. The program includes balletic leaps and turns as well as modern dance. For tickets, call 963-7680.

Mill Pond has comedy

The Livingston Players production of Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam" is on stage at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the newly renovated Mill Pond Theater in Brighton. Lead performer John York is the center of attention. Tickets, at $3, can be reserved by calling 229-8055.

A tour of Traverse Bay wineries

The wine-lover turned summer traveler, headed into northern Michigan as so many traditionally do, need not necessarily carry his wine cellar with him. All he needs is a sense of adventure and an open mind.

Better yet, when summer travel plans call him to the Traverse City area, there are wineries to visit and wines to sample. And they are set in some of our state's loveliest tourist areas - a truly benevolent companionship.

And it isn't too early for each of us to begin to plan summer travel. Here's a chance to combine pleasurable events somewhat unexpectedly.

All three Traverse City area wineries can be easily visited in a single day, none being more than 30 minutes from the city limits.

South from the city on Highway 31-37, about 5 miles on the east side, is Leelanau Ltd. Winery. The grapes are not grown here. There is only a tasting room, but it is a most pleasant one. The grapes are grown up on Leelanau County in Omena, clearly in view of Grand Traverse Bay. But no visitors there.

Here the wines are from fruit (cherries, apples, etc.). French hybrid grapes (Chelois, De Chaunac, Baco Noir, Seyval and Vignoles) and there is a Chardonnay. The steward is friendly and helpful. How many times a week must he answer the question about grapes for wine being grown this far north?

THE LEAST KNOWN and smallest of the three is Boskydel up in Leelanau. Take M-22 north to 204, then west to the village of Lake Leelanau. From there the signs direct you south about three miles on a paved county road. In a setting (well marked) strongly reminiscent of the Finger Lakes region of New York there is a tasting room set among the vineyards.

Here there are only hybrids: Vignoles, De Chaunac an Seyval. Take home a few of these bottles and amaze your friends. This is a small winery (in California they would call it a boutique), 5,000 gallons a year, whose wines are meant to be drunk young and with gusto. They are chiefly available only at the winery.

The biggest operation of the area is Chateau Grand Traverse Winery (CGT). CGT is also a distributor for a number of European and California wines but they are now coming into greater public view via their own wines. The tasting room, again beautifully set, reflects a wide variety of wines but only those from CGT can be tasted there. The whole range in sight may be purchase, however.

Here you will find locally grown fruit wines, blends of grape wine "in the German tradition" and several vinifera wines made from California grapes. However, soon they will be releasing locally grown Chardonnay and Riesling.

TO GET THERE from Traverse City, take M-37 north out Old Mission penninsula. Atop a knoll about nine miles from the city the tasting room is clearly marked. Tasting is available in the afternoon only (this is also true at Boskydel). Morning tastings are available only at Leelanau.

Country Fair is this weekend

Yesteryear, this Thursday-Sunday, may come as a surprise to space age youngsters who are accustomed to seeing honey in jars, butter in the dairy case and wool in their heavy winter pajamas.

Children here can glimpse bee-keeping, butter-churning, wool-shearing and assorted other old-fashioned skills and crafts - all demonstrated and explained so that they are easily understood from start to finish. Here, as in the rural fairs of 19th century America, there is no doubt about where everyday goods come from.

Country Fair of Yesteryear recalls the times when rural folk raised their own livestock and produced the necessities of life by hand or with the help of relatively simple machies.

Youngsters see the transformation of beef fat and lye into soap, tin made into household utensils and clay into pototery. Wool is carded, spun into thread, and then woven into textiles on a loom.

Or they can see each step of the butter-making process — initial churning of the cream, separation of the butter from the buttermilk, and then the "washing" of the butter in cold water. Youngsters can even sample the product on a square of homemade bread.

Scores of farm animals, bred and raised by members of local 4-H clubs. are another kind of agricultural product at County Fair of Yesteryear. Horses, rabbits and goats nurture and care for their young. Quail eggs hatch before the eyes of visitors

Veteran 4-H-ers explain the purposes of raising animals - horses for riding

The dates for the 7th Annual festival are May 18 through May 19 and the place is the Redford Ice Arena, 12400 Beech Daly.

The Maifest is a celebration featuring numerous games, entertainment and ethnic food by the commission and several local clubs.

It's one of the township's largest civic gatherings.

The activities will begin Friday, May 18 at 6 p.m. and continue until Saturday, May 19 at midnight. The evenings will feature German, Bavarian and Austrian bands and dancers, to be complemented by continuous daily entertainment.

Among the local civic clubs in attendance will be the Redford Police Explorers Post, whose members will stage a car wreck. The Redford Union Dads Club will bring on knackwurst and hot dogs

Student club members form Redford Union High School also are involved in the festival. The school's pom pon squad will host a candy and bake sale. The RU Varsity Club will sell popcorn and the RU German Club will host a soccer-kick contest.

WSU play series starts July 3

Comedy, drama, a murder thriller and an audience participation play for children have been announced for the ninth annual Summer Theater Festival at Wayne State University's Hilberry Theater, July 3 through Aug. 11.

The season will feature five modern American and English playwrights -Arthur Miller, Emlyn Williams, Lorraine Hansberry, Alan Ayckbourn and David Mamet.

First play to open, on July 3, will be "Alladdin," a new version of the tale from "A Thousand and One Nights," incorporating active participation by children in the audience. Performances are Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at 10 and 11:30 a.m. through July 26, in the Studio Theater, downstairs at the Hilberry. No performances are scheduled for Wednesday, July 4.

First production to open upstairs on the Hilberry stage is Ayckbourn's comedy "Absurd Person Singular," one of the most successful British comedy imports to come to Broadway in recent years. It will play July 5-7 and 11-14 at 8:30 p.m..

Two openings on July 18 bring "The Price," which marked Arthur Miller's triumphant return to Broadway in 1968, to the Hilberry stage and "A Raisin in the Sun," Lorraine Hansberry's winner of the 1959 Drama Critics Circle Award for best play of the year, to the studio. Both plays run for two weeks, Wednesdays through Saturdays

Jazz film series runs 2 nights next weekend

Cass City Cinema and WDET-FM will present the premiere Michigan showing of two programs of the internationally recognized John Baker Jazz Film Collection at Rackham Auditorium, Farnsworth and Woodward, in the Detroit Cultural Cen-

Part I is slated for Friday, May 25, and Part II on Saturday, May 26, at 8 p.m. Each program is 120 minutes long and general admission tickets are available at the door or in advance at the Cass City Cinema in the Unitarian Church at Cass Ave. and Forest.

Part I, "Blues Roots," will feature a two-hour collection of some of the greatest blues singers in American musical history. Many of the film selections and shorts are the only existing prints.

Part II, "Evolution of Jazz," will document the growth of classic performers and their art from ragtime to swingtime in foot-tapping music and rare footage.

THESE PROGRAMS were booked for the May dates over 15 months ago and are in constant demand for showing in North America and Europe. The viewer is taken into history and allowed to hear and see the power of film in documenting the styles and energy of these performers and great for the showing. He has been collecting music-related films for 40 years and has amassed 300 hours of films that will soon be turned over to a national film archive for preservation and documentation.

This presentation was made possible by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

John Baker is the foremost collector of jazz film in the world. Frequently referred to as "the grandaddy of jazz film collectors," he has a library that is the world's largest and most diverse, surpassing all others in size, scope, completeness and condition.

Emmy winner staged

New York's Prince Street Players' Emmy Award-winning "Pinocchio" will wrap up the "live on stage" segment of Detroit Youtheater's 1978-79 season of "Something Every Saturday" on Saturday, May 19.

Two performances are scheduled, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium/theater. Tickets are priced for children and adults and may be purchased through the museum ticket office (832-2730) or at the door.

For 12 seasons, Prine Street Players has entertained Youtheater audiences with such productions as "Cinderella." "Snow White Goes West." "Sleeping Beauty," "The Wizard of Oz," "The Emperor's New Clothes,' "Jack and Beanstalk," and their famed "Mother Goose" shows

"Pinocchio" is especially designed for families with young people 5 years old and older. Children younger than 5 years of age will not be admitted.

THIS MUSICAL production also will be presented to area students as part of Youtheater's 'Field Trip To Broadway," with a total of 12 performances on May 18, 21-25, in the art institute auditorium. Advance reservations may be placed by teachers by calling 832-2730.

Following Youtheater's Saturday shows, the audience will be invited to a "Celebrity Party" to meet and speak with the New York actors in the museum's theater galler-

Bridging the gap between the closing of its current season and the opening of the 1979-80 "Something Every Saturday" series in October, Detroit Youtheater will present a month-long program of "Summer Puppet Shows."

Country special on TV

Country and western singers/songwriters Larry Gatlin and Dottie West headline an evening of award-winning music on "Cross Country" a 90minute celebration airing Saturday, May 19, at 6 p.m. on Channel 56.

The program was taped in January before a live audience at Knott's Berry Farm in California. "Cross Country" preempts "Austin City Limits." Channel 56's weekly country and western music series usually seen at that time.

Gatlin appears with his group, the Gatlin Brothers Band, and performs many of his long list of hits including the 1976 Grammy award-winning single "Broken Lady."

Dottie West, the "Country Sunshine" girl, made it to the top in country music with her hit "Here Comes My Baby," which won a Grammy in 1964. She has 32 albums currently on the market and is a regular performing member of the Grand Ole Opry.

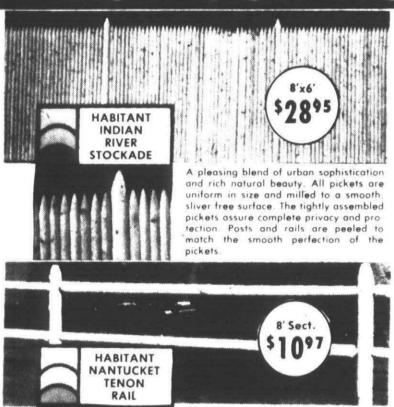

Also appearing in "Cross Country" is the vocal trio Dave and Sugar, consisting of Dave Rowland, Sue Powell and Melissa Dean.

Classic films shown

A mix of new and old film classics has been announced for the "Movies at the Redford" series, presented by the Motor City Theater Organ Society, Inc. The bi-weekly series at the Redford Theater, 17360 Lahser at Grand River in northwest Detroit, has become a regular entertainment event for many families. The last group of films was regularly attended by 1,000 patrons for each performance, and several programs saw sellout crowds of 1,500.

Films for the latest edition of the series will start at 8 p.m., and are "The Wizard of Oz," June 1 and 2: "Naughty Marietta," June 15 and 16; "National Velvet," June 29 and 30; "Auntie Mame," July 13 and 14; "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," July 27 and 28; "Topkapi," Aug. 10 and 11; "Thoroughly Modern Millie," Aug. 24 and 25; and "Mutiny on the Bounty," Sept. 7 and 8.

As a special feature at each performance, organ overtures and intermissions will be played by an area organist on the Redford Theater's vintage-1928 Barton Theater Pipe Organ. Organ overtures begin at 7:30 p.m.

TICKETS FOR the films are available at the Redford Theater box office, Masters Candies, 17340 Lahser, and by mail. A ticket order form may be obtained by writing to the Reford Theater, 17360 Lahser, Detroit 48219.

Some films in the series, including "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," will be presented in 70mm and six-channel stereo methods known for picture clarity and realistic sound. Few theaters are able to show these prints, however, as most movie houses lack the necessary equipment.

Favorite screened

"The Thief of Bagdad," a 1940 release directed by Michael Powell ("The Red Shoes"), will be shown by Detroit Film Theater on Friday, May 18, at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased in advance through the museum ticket office (832-2730), or at the door. Still a favorite film of noted directors Francis Coppola and Martin Scorsese, "Thief of Bagdad" is generally considered by film critics as legendary in the industry for its display of color, visual imagination and spectacular special effects. Conrad Veidt and Sabu star in this bestknown Arabian Nights tale, which will be shown in a new Technicolor print.

ON SATURDAY, May 19. Detroit Film Theater will feature the Marx Brothers in their comic classic "A Night at the Opera," with all their crowded stateroom antics and what critics consider the funniest opera ever recorded. There will be two showings, at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Sunday evenings' 14week retrospective of the films of Orson Welles will continue on May 20. at 7:30 p.m. only, with his 1966 "Falstaff," also

Miniature Big Top

The "Big Top in Miniature," Jimmie Holm's trained animal show from Glenside, Pa., came to Plymouth recently to entertain pupils at Isbister Elementary School. The group of 14 dogs, which Holm's says are endowed with unusual intelligence, are one of the top animal acts today and provided the youngsters at Isbister with all the thrills of a circus. The entertaining yet educational show was financed by the Isbister Parents-Teachers Group and arranged through the Plymouth Community Arts Council. The PCAC makes arrangements to bring shows like these to schools in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Students at Isbister thoroughly enjoy the "Big Top in Miniature."
