Mike Buggy, 18, of Garden City, rides his motocross style off-road bike on Warren east of I-275 in Canton Township. It's one of several makeshift courses where motorcycling enthusiasts can enjoy their sport and means of transportation.

Area motorcyclists discover

Stingy with gas and heavy on fun

By SHERRY KAHAN

"It's the freedom of riding outside the vehicle," says Len Gaylor in an effort to explain the appeal of cruising on his motorcycle. Co-owner of Village Cycle in Redford Township, he adds: "Your senses are keener than they are when in a car. You can tell if the woman in the car ahead is wearing perfume. You know it when you pass a bakery."

Gaylor is one of thousands of motorcyclists who are straddling their bikes after a long, cold winter. While sales are not up in all area cycle shops, business is better for him this spring than last. He attributes it to the cost of gas and the fact that "more and more people are deciding it's fun to ride."

Gary Hooper, owner of Competition Motors Unlimited in Canton Township, finds his sales are up seven percent over this time last year. Like all those interviewed about a sales surge, he also regards the cost of fuel as the reason.

Both sales and service are up at Crest Motorcycle Sales and Salvage in Livonia. "More people seem to be digging out their cycles from the garage after not using them for a while, and wanting us to get them ready," reported owner Randie Rickert.

HE OFFERS THE wind-in-the-face mystique as one of the reasons he cycles. But with state laws that require both a helmet and a shield or safety glasses, it would seem the wind would pass him by.

"Believe me, you really feel it," he maintained. He also believes there is something nice about showing off a good machine.

Rickert estimates that a gallon of gas pumped into a motorcycle could take it 35-50 miles, depending on the size of the bike and how it is driven.

The range of prices is broad. Competition Motors sells its Jawas and CZs for from $475 to about $2,000. The big numbers at Jake's Harley-Davidson Sales in Garden City go for from $3,575 to $6,195 if new. If second hand they cost from $1,500 to $4,000.

As in most sports, hobbies, or modes of transport, whichever way you think of motorcycling, a special lingo surrounds it. Riders can be just slowly cruising along Hines Drive. But if they chose to really get it on and let the gravel fly, it's called throwing up a roostertail. If your bag is starting from a dead stop to a fast clip by revving up the motor and dumping the clutch, your bag is called the hole shot.

BUT IN THE excitement of blowing along with the wind, don't neglect safety precautions. Gaylor warns drivers of the slippery qualities of wet leaves, gravel and anti-freeze which sometimes leaks from cars near stop lights. An American Automobile Association pamphlet urges new drivers not to go too fast into a turn. It can result in their going off the road or into another lane of traffic.

According to Sgt. Frank Brandemihl of the Livonia police there are more fatalities in motorcycles accidents than in car accidents because of the lack of protection for the driver.

"You have to be totally aware," cautions Rickert. "If you look away for a second, you've had it."

He thinks 80 percent of motorcycle accidents are caused by drivers of cars, usually because they fail to see the motorcycle.

Farmland trip judged a hit

James Jefford's introduction of HR 2551, the Agricultural Land Protection Act.

Greenstein gave Canton's support to the bill, but also presented members of the subcommittee with a package of information about the township's own efforts to begin a farmland preservation program.

Canton's proposal involves the purchase of agricultural land development rights in order to prevent development other types of interests from destroying the use of the land for farming.

Representatives of other communities and organizations throughout the country with a commitment to preserving farmland also testified and sent support for Jefford's bill.

Those groups included the National Conference of State Legislators, the National Farmers Union, Clark County, Howard County, Suffolk County, New Jersey Department of Agriculture, The National Association of Conservation Districts, The Farm Bureau and the Northeast Midwest Coalition of Congressmen.

"It became clear to me that nobody of the thousands of people interested in farmland preservation had done any homework on the local level," Greenstein said.

2nd complex found to be low-income

By DARLENE STINSON

An apartment complex under construction near Joy and Sheldon has been earmarked by HUD to become rental units for low- and moderate-income families.

Township grant coordinator Terry Carroll said he learned last week that HUD-approved rent subsidies and a federal mortgage guarantee to the developer — Amurcon Corp. — in September 1977.

However, Carroll added that the Southfield-based corporation apparently failed to mention the low-income nature of the development when the former township board approved site plans for the project in June 1978.

Carroll said that developers are not legally required to supply that type of information.

According to Carroll, township officials were unaware of the project's low-income status until the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) requested a status report on construction.

Carroll said township files on the Amurcon apartments contain no mention of low-income approval. Kim Wilkins, vice president of Amurcon, was unavailable for comment.

CANTON PLANNER Jim Kosteva called HUD approval of the low-income project near the Forest Trails Subdivision "a duplication of the story in Pickwick."

Township officials learned some weeks ago that HUD has approved rent subsidies and a mortgage guarantee to another low-income project proposed by Amurcon in the Pickwick Planned Unit Development, east of Lilley and south of Warren.

Site plans for that project have not been approved, however.

Canton board members allege that HUD approval of the proposed Pickwick project was a "mistake." They claim that an administrative error was made when Amurcon's application for rental subsidies was reviewed by the township in 1977.

Officials believe that former planning consultant George Peek submitted a recommendation on the Pickwick project without the knowledge of the township board. Carroll believes that HUD approved Amurcon's application for the Forest Trails project at the same time the Pickwick project was approved.

Township board members have requested a legal opinion on the possibility of filing a lawsuit against Amurcon to stop the Pickwick project.

The lawsuit may be based on the allegation that low-income rental units are not compatible with Pickwick's $80,000 homes.

The township board maintains that Canton already holds 12 times the number of low-income units that exist in surrounding communities.

CARROLL CALLED Canton's chances to change Forest Trails' low-income status "very doubtful," however, since the apartment complex is already under construction.

Supervisor Noel Culbert would not comment on the possibility of including the Forest Trails project in a lawsuit against Amurcon, saying "we don't have any documentation yet."

Forest Trails residents learned of the low-income nature of the apartments near their subdivision after talking with Canton planners earlier this week.

Cathy Krumpalisch, a resident of Forest Trails, said residents were scheduled to meet with an attorney on Wednesday to discuss the low-income project.

Homeowner Judy Cieslak said residents of Forest Trails are "very upset." She said residents were not informed that the apartment complex would contain low-income rental units when they purchased their homes.

"We will do everything we can to stop this," she said. "Everybody who bothered to check into that project was lied to."

None hurt in crash

Four persons escaped injury when they were involved in a three-vehicle accident Thursday afternoon.

A van, driven by Harry Metcalf of Canton, collided with a 1977 Chevy Monte Carlo driven by Denise Ann Pulju, 27, of Plymouth, according to Canton Ptl. David LeBlanc.

Pulju said she had stopped when an unidentified vehicle suddenly braked in front of her car on southbound Canton Center Road, 200 feet south of Ford Road, said LeBlanc.

The van was struck by a 1975 Ford driven by Gwendolyn Jean Ellsworth, 51, of Westland.

The van's gas tank was punctured, LeBlanc said, but there was no fire and Canton firefighters were alerted to wash the area of gasoline.

Metcalf and his passenger, Norman Webb of Canton, were taken to Wayne County Hospital for examination but were released, LeBlanc said.

No tickets were issued.

WERE YOU a little confused when you read the headline on our lead story last Thursday, only to discover it didn't match the story beneath it? That's because the two didn't belong together. The proper story appears in today's edition with our heartfelt apologies. Not that there was anything wrong with the story in Thursday's paper, mind you. Please re-read and ignore the headline.

AFTER JUNE 19 Bob Plotter, 32, of Canton, won't have to miss television because of homework or cram for a test. Plotter will be graduated with a B.A. in engineering technology from Wayne State University after going to night school for eight years. He started college after high school in 1964 but then dropped out.

He returned to college in 1971, first at Schoolcraft College, then at Wayne State. His wife, Nancy, says it's the end of a "real long haul," and the couple's four daughters, Patricia, Pamela, Angela and Cynthia have really missed him in the evenings. During some semesters, Bob had to go right to school after work at the Ford Transmission plant in Livonia and had to miss dinner or eat at night after school.

REGISTRATION for use of Canton Township garden plots will be accepted beginning Wednesday, May 23. About 300 plots, which measure 25 by 50 feet, will be available for citizens' use at Warren and Lilley roads once again this year, according to recreation Superintendent Mike Gouin. A water hook-up will be installed near the sites, which have already been disked by the DPW. Residents should register for a plot at the recreation department in Township Hall on Canton Center near Proctor. The registration fee is $1.

PICKWICK subdivision objections to a low income housing complex slated to be built near the sub will top the agenda of the regular Canton Township Board of Trustees meeting slated for 7 p.m. Tuesday at Township Hall. Other items on the agenda include appointment of a library board, consideration of adopting a new sign ordinance and other assorted township business.

Clarification

The Observer incorrectly reported in the May 17 edition that Plymouth Township lost interest of about $623,000 in February and $488,000 in March.

The article should have read that the township lost interest that would have been collected on those amounts. Based on one month's interest at five percent annually, the township would have earned $2,590 in February, and $2,030 in March on those funds.

Previously the funds had been earning interest in a five percent savings account. The township transferred those funds to a non-interest bearing checking account, where they failed to collect interest in February and March.

Salem grad gets award

Stuart F. Popp, a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, has been awarded a $250 Hardee's Employee Scholarship.

Scholarship requirements specify that the $250 be used to further the education of the recipient.

The annual scholarship program was established by Hardee's to distinguish high school seniors or college students who are employees of the restaurant chain.

Hardee's scholarship awards this year totaled about $15,000.

Chosen personnel director hesitates about taking job

Although Canton Township trustees have agreed who to appoint as the township's first personnel director, the trustees haven't yet agreed on the job's duties. Their indecisiveness has made the man who was offered the job, Charles Deno Syrios, reluctant about accepting it.

Syrios, now assistant personnel director for Redford Township, last week sent a letter to members of the township board expressing his concerns about the Canton appointment.

In his letter, Syrios outlined his perception of the job's duties. He said he feared the board and the township's merit commission viewed the job primarily as one of fulfilling clerical functions such as reviewing job applications and filling out forms.

Syrios stated that he still is interested in the job but doesn't want to be hamstrung by too many restrictions.

The problem apparently developed long before Syrios applied for the job.

WHEN MEMBERS of the merit commission, headed by Larry Bowerman, first went to the board to request a full-time personnel director, they said neither the board nor the township's administrators should have complete jurisdiction over the personnel director.

Bowerman said he didn't want the position structured so that the personnel director might become involved in the political actions of elected officials.

Trustee Robert Greenstein scoffed at the notion a personnel director would become "politically tainted" by taking direction from the township administration when not performing duties for the merit commission.

Trustee Lynn Goldsmith, however, backed Bowerman's insistence that the director should be far removed from the political side of township government.

In spite of opposition from Mrs. Goldsmith, Clerk John Flodin and Trustee Eugene Daley, a majority of the board voted to allow the merit commission to hire a part-time director rather than a full-time director.

GREENSTEIN, WHO feels the merit commission should be dissolved because all township employees are unionized, said that the position was only worth part-time status with the restrictions imposed by the commission. Several meetings later, the merit commission came back before the board and persuaded trustees to reverse their earlier action and approve the full-time position.

But definition of the job's duties never have been fully thrashed out.

Syrios stated that he believed the director should entail "areas such as labor relations and collective bargaining, recruitment, job specification development and wage and salary administration."

Syrios stated that he believed a personnel director could deal with both employees and administration without compromising either side.

Supervisor Noel Culbert says neither trustees nor merit commission members have much knowledge of the functions of personnel directors.

"What happened is that we had someone come in and say, 'look, this is what the guy does,'" Culbert said.

"CANTON USED to be a little tiny township. It's hard to admit we've expanded so rapidly. We've got about 150 people working full time and part time for the township," he said.

"That's a far cry from when there were only a few people working together in one room."

Roberts lawsuit postponed again

Attorney Peter Bundarin is asking that the 35th District Court hearing on a lawsuit filed by Gary Robert's Canton Vac and Sew Co. be held as soon as possible.

The hearing was postponed for the second time May 11, and has been tentatively scheduled (pending Bundarin's availability) for June 1.

The case centers around the township's current sign ordinance. During the past few weeks, Roberts received three tickets for alleged violations of the sign ordinance.

Roberts' attorney then filed a motion charging that the sign ordinance is illegal because the township board made changes on the ordinance and did not refer it back to the planning commission prior to passage in 1976.

According to Bundarin, the law requires the planning commission to examine and offer recommendations on the ordinance if any changes are made after it is referred to the Township Board.

Bundarin said he was upset that he had not been notified that the hearing was going to be cancelled May 11.

The attorney said lawyers for the township had asked that the case be postponed because they had not been served with a copy of Bundarin's motion.

Bundarin said Supervisor Noel Culbert had a copy of the motion because he had gone down to the court and picked up a copy soon after it was filed.

That, said Bundarin, is as good as serving the motion on attorneys, because Culbert is the administrative head of the township. Bundarin obtained a signed affidavit from a court clerk testifying that Culbert had seen the motion.

But 35th District Court Judge James Garber said the May 11 hearing was cancelled because of the judge's own personal emergency and had nothing to do with the serving, or failure to serve, of the motion.

"I was called away on an emergency — no one was consulted," Garber said of the cancellation.

Garber refused to comment on whether Bundarin had followed actual court rules by considering Culbert's receipt of the motion as actual service.

Judd Heming, attorney for Canton Township, said it was not. "Proper court rules say the attorney of record has to be served," Heming said.

"I have not yet received a copy of the motion."

Roberts was ticketed for violating the sign ordinance when he put a sign on his van and parked it in front of his Ford Road business. The three tickets he received were consolidated for the purposes of a court hearing.

Bundarin asked that the first scheduled hearing be cancelled because he had to go to circuit court in Detroit that day.

Canton building spiral hikes taxbase

The total tax base for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has increased by almost $100 million since last year.

The school district's latest information is that total tax base for the 1979-80 fiscal year will be almost $674 million compared to some $579 million for fiscal year 1978-79.

The figure, pretty much final now, is about $35 million higher than the first tax base estimate used by the school administration in early budget preparation for the coming year.

More than half of the $100 million increase in tax base has been generated by Canton Township which contributes about 45 percent of the school district's total operating income from local property taxes.

Canton's total tax base has reached the $300 million mark, an increase of almost $53 million from 1978 for a 21.4 percent increase from 1978-79.

The next largest property tax contributor to the school district, Plymouth Township, was its 1978 tax base increase by 13.7 percent or $29 million to a new high of almost $243 million. Plymouth Township contributes 36 percent of the total local property tax dollars collected for the schools.

The city of Plymouth, which pays almost 16 percent of the district's total property taxes, also enjoyed a healthy 13.7 percent increase in its tax base from about $93 million to some $102 million.

Salem and Superior townships and part of Northville Township, which are in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, accounted for the balance of the school district's increase in tax base. Tax base increases for these areas ranged from 9.5 to 17.9 percent with dollar increases ranging from $23,000 to $1.5 million.

For the district as a whole, the tax base increased by 16.3 percent or $94 million, from $579,452,177 in 1978 to $673,824,246 in 1979.

These increases reflect added value to the tax base caused by new construction plus an inflationary increase caused by increase in assessments of existing property because market value is rising.

Graves leaving education to join Chrysler

JOHN GRAVES

John Graves will soon leave a regional work education council to assume a new position with a Chrysler Corp. personnel management organization.

The former Plymouth-Canton School Board trustee and Livonia School District administrator headed the Work Education Council of Southeastern Council.

Graves, 42, of Canton Township, will be leaving the post which he helped create more than three years ago. It has been honored as the best of 33 in the country.

The council, financed with federal Labor Department funds, was one of 21 organized in the country in the spring of 1976. It started out in Pierson Community Center in Livonia, moved last year to Jefferson Community Center in Livonia and several months ago expanded into a vacant home at 164 Main, Plymouth.

The council's goal was to "bridge the gap" between the educational institutions and the world of work.

To reach that goal, the council started numerous programs and activities to provide more information to school career education officials on what students could expect when they apply for jobs and start to work.

Graves said many times that most employers hire someone after only posting a "help wanted" in their windows.

Graves offered his resignation to the 24-member council board of directors, but will continue part-time while moving into his new job with Chrysler Learning Institute, Inc., a division of Chrysler Corp.

The institute contracts with the federal government and private companies on various training programs, from entry-level jobs to management levels.

Graves is currently phasing out his education council job while easing into the Chrysler position.

He described the group he is leaving as a "dynamic and fast growing organization that has impact."

The departing executive director said he has mixed feelings about the departure from the council. He said the organization "has been one of the best things to happen to me and the community."

Since getting off the ground in 1976, the council did a number of things to help ease students into the world of work.

One was a computer-linked information bank at numerous public buildings in the area to provide important details about jobs, skills needed and what the labor market is for a specific field.

The council also cooperated with other public and private organizations in the area of work problems.

One was to start an automotive apprenticeship program with suburban dealers.

Students were paid less than full-time wages while attending Schoolcraft

College full time and studying auto technology. After getting an associate degree from the college, the students were hired at a full-time rate and assured a job. The dealers liked the program because they were getting better trained mechanics.

The council also got involved in helping the Livonia School District and its career intern program and career guidance workshops for teachers looking for new fields to enter.

WHILE IN LIVONIA schools, Graves was active and visible as an educator and community leader.

He was student activities director at Franklin High School for 12 years with two years of that period at Churchill High School as assistant principal.

He left the Churchill position three years ago to join the work-education council.

While at Franklin, Graves won the United Nations Day human rights award by the Bahia World Faith Organization, Benjamin Franklin key award for outstanding service, Livonia Jaycees distinguished service award, named one of the state's five outstanding young men, and nominated for one of the top 10 young men in the country in 1970.

He was picked by Rotary District 640, which represents most of western Wayne County Rotary clubs, to represent it on an eight-week cultural exchange program. He spent two months in Japan studying educational systems.

In other educational posts over the years, Graves was part-time coordinator of psychology at six centers for Wayne County Community College; psychology instructor at Detroit House of Correction; staff instructor at Northville State Hospital, Schoolcraft College, and Michigan State University, all on a part-time basis.

The work-education council has organized a committee to find a successor for Graves by mid-June. Some interviews of candidates are scheduled for this week, a committee representative said.

One million depends on school tax increase

A "Yes" vote on the June 11 school millage question means a lot to Plymouth-Canton School District officials — nearly $1 million for next year's operating budget.

Officials estimate the 1.5 mill increase on the ballot will generate about $955,000 in additional funds for the district. Hoping voters will approve the tax request, the administration prepared a list of answers to possible questions about the millage increase.

Why are 1.5 additional mills for operating necessary?

To meet the cost of inflation, growing student enrollment, restoration of the full elementary school day, and expansion of the Extended School Year (ESY) program.

Inflation: Sample cost increases over the last year include notebook paper, 64 percent; chalk, 47 percent; pencils, 28 percent; books, 30 percent; buses, 23 percent; gasoline, 30 percent; and utilities (in spite of a decrease in energy use), 10 percent.

In the past 10 years, enrollment went up by 7,750 students. In the next five years, there is a projected increase of 600 to 800 students per year. Class size can be kept the same only by hiring more teachers. Space is provided through the ESY.

Restoration of the full elementary day could be accomplished. Passage of 1.5 mills will pay for replacing the 45 minutes per week cut last year. This will eliminate the one-day-a-week late start for elementary schools.

When was the last millage increase for the Plymouth-Canton Schools?

September, 1976. Millage renewals were passed in June 1978 and January 1979. These replaced expiring levies. The present authorized millage rate is 33.76 for operations. Debt retirement levy (to pay bonds) is anticipated to decrease from 5.17 mills in 1978-79 to about 3.78 mills in 1979-80.

How much does it cost per year to educate one student?

In the 1978-79 school year, it will cost $1,850 per year to educate each student. In 1979-80, it will cost about $2,020 per student. This represents an approximately eight to nine percent increase.

Can these funds be used for building more schools?

No. The 1.5 mills is specifically restricted for operating purposes by Michigan General School Laws. New school buildings must be financed through a bond issue passed by the voters of the Plymouth-Canton community school district.

How much will 1.5 mills cost the taxpayers?

About $5 per month for the average family here. If your total local property taxes take more than 3.5 percent of your income, the state pays 60 percent of the excess up to $1,200 through a rebate on your income tax. The refund is greater for senior citizens.

This "circuit breaker" property tax rebate prevents a district from losing revenue and keeps people from being overly taxed on their property. Worksheets to help you figure your property tax rebate are available at every school.

How can voters find out where to vote?

School voting precincts are different from city and township precincts. For information, see maps at any school or government office, or call 453-0200, ext. 422. Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Where can absentee ballots be obtained?

At the Board of Education office, 454 S. Harvey Street in Plymouth from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, or by calling 453-0200, ext. 422. Special absentee voting hours will be from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, June 9 at the Board of Education office.

A teen in league with coordinated knits: that's the summer game plan.

Color-bright interlocks play it cool, comfy, and always win in the soft stretch of cotton and polyester. Carefree in teen's S, M, L sizes. V-neck sleeveless tank with tri-tone trim, band border. Red or green, $9. Matching two-tone stripe track short in hues of red, green or white, $7.

From our readers Up the Creek?

Editor:
(We are writing) in regards to your front page article in the Thursday, May 3 edition of the Canton Observer, "Mayfair Residents Claim Bridges Caused Troubled Waters," by Darlene Stinson.

That article caused such an uproar at our dinner table that I just have to write even though we are neither residents of the Mayfair or Windsor Park subdivisions.

When we signed to have our home built in Hampton Court subdivision two years ago, we had to pay an additional $1,500 for our property for the privilege of having the beautiful little (four-foot wide) Willow Creek flow through our backyard.

We are, as of this date, looking at approximately a 20-foot swamp. I can't even get them (the builder) to come back to do the work on the one year warranty. We have been calling the township supervisor for three weeks. When he is not on another line, he just stepped out.

We have a temporary bridge which looked like a beached whale when the water tore through it on Good Friday. Can we build a permanent one? No. With every rain we watch as the "muddy leach-filled Mississippi" turns green, yes green, because all we can see is all our hard earned money slipping away.

Then to read about someone like Sandra Dowbarn. I just love her kind of people when something comes up that is not to their liking; it's run and holler, scream and shout, take 'em to court, sue, sue, sue.

Who do the people living in Hampton Court subdivision get to sue? Maybe the township of Canton. How about Wayne County? They supposedly own it. Where do we turn for help, how do we get out property back? Who do we take to court when we watch our heavily staked landscape timbers get uprooted?

Our garden cost us about $400. How about the family who sodded its backyard? The flow of the creek seemed pretty good then. We ended up with about 80 yards of their sod. Who do they sue?

How about this registered civil engineer slowing down a minute and backing up to consider the real reason for the flooding? For instance, how about the money-hungry builders, how about the money-hungry officials?

Everyone should be able to come and see the eighth wonder of the world. It is a superbly constructed giant cement monstrosity with a gigantic hole in it. Think of the joy it brings the people every time they look out their window.

Just think of the joy they must experience when they watch all the water pouring out of it since it acts as a drain for the Hampton Court Subdivision West, which is being built behind them.

Then to add insult to injury, Mr. Chuck Thompson, Canton's building inspector states that you must have a permit to put up a fence. Why? Did Canton ask our permission to construct that monstrosity so that more water can flow into a creek that can't handle what was already pouring into it?

Why must we have permission to put up a fence? All we are trying to do is save what property we have from people that think it is just fine to drive their dog from heaven knows where to run all over peoples' property.

Is Mr. Thompson the same building inspector who passed final inspection

Memo questioned
Editor:
I have no political affiliations with either the Republicans or Democrats. I am writing this to question the wisdom of treasurer Jim Donahue's "memo" to the township department heads as well as to the supervisor.

It would seem to me that someone interested in the township and who has leadership qualities would have verbally discussed and resolved the issue of providing direction and answers to department heads.

Good management seems to be lacking from others on the board in my view. It might be well to try helping each other — oh, sorry, that would be bad politics — wouldn't it?

B. DAVIS,

on our home and now Ma Bell says no way for an enclosed patio? Yeah, you can put in a wood deck but build it so we can work on the wires, if we have to.

How wonderful. Maybe we should build a portable deck and a portable bridge, then we can just pick up the deck for Ma Bell and whenever Sonny Elliott predicts a shower, we can pick up the bridge so that Mr. Hanson can't come out and condemn it.

You know, I wish everyone could experience the joy's of living in an up-and-coming subdivision.

LOW COST CONTOUR ANALYSIS
EXAMINATION FOR VICTIMS OF CHRONIC OR ACUTE PAIN

A low cost Contour Analysis examination is being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic offices listed below. People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neuralgia, nerve pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc., are invited to receive this low cost examination.
Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moire photography) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion, and scoliosis.
This analysis, including consultation with the doctor is being offered to the public at a low cost for the next 30 days. Anyone wishing to receive this low cost examination may telephone the participating doctors directly for information or an appointment.

Trustees OK offer to buy land for golf course

By LYNN ORR

Plymouth Township nudged a little closer to making that 18-hole municipal golf course a reality last week.

One of the major owners of the 33.26 acre estate adjacent to the township's nine-hole Hilltop course accepted a $307,340 purchase price from the township.

If other members of the Amrhein family accept the price and terms, the township hopes to transform the land into an additional nine holes for the course over the next few years.

After a closed session Wednesday night, board members voted 5-1 to confirm the offer. Clerk Esther Hulsing is on vacation, and Trustee Lee Fidge voted against the proposal.

The high price of the land, more than $1,000 per acre above the highest appraisal, and the vote at a special meeting prompted her opposition, she says.

An avid proponent of open space in the township, Mrs. Fidge is convinced a little harder negotiating might have whittled the price. At $9,240 per acre, the purchase will be one of the highest prices paid for a large piece of land in the township, she explains.

"And I felt if it was going to go that way, I would have preferred to vote on it at the Tuesday regular board meeting."

LAST YEAR township voters approved the purchase of the property on the condition that taxes would not be increased to pay for the purchase.

Last fall, two appraisers valued the 33.26 acres at about $6,000 and $8,000 per acre.

The property lies directly north of the golf course at Powell and Beck Roads in the western end of the township. The land is zoned low-density residential, which means a developer would have to allow one-half acre lots for each home built on the property.

Currently, the property does not have sanitary sewer access, and it also is very low, which would require a retention pond for drainage, Mrs. Fidge maintains.

"I don't think a developer could afford to pay $9,000 an acre for the property," she says.

But she admits that the township was in a poor bargaining position because the land is the only logical place to expand the golf course.

AREA GOLFERS probably will have to wait until 1981 to drive off the 10th tee.

Trustee Maurice Breen is studying a capital improvement bond proposal to raise the $200,000 required to construct the extra nine holes.

If that plan is approved by voters next year, about one year is needed to build a course, suggested golf course manager John Jawor.

Jawor believes the township will recoup the funds spent for the property over the next 10 years through increased greens fees and increased use of the course.

Music tour includes 3 from area

Three Plymouth-Canton area students will be among 250 talented young musicians and singers touring Europe this summer to observe the 10th anniversary of Blue Lake's International Exchange program.

Cynthia Dance and Andrea Macunovich of Plymouth and Sharon Smith of Canton Township, will leave June 19 for Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Germany for a two-month tour. Four Blue Lake music groups — orchestra, band, choir, and jazz band — will entertain European audiences.

In return, about a dozen European groups are expected to visit Michigan this summer.

The tours began in 1970, when a 90-voice choir from Blue Lake toured England, Belgium and Germany. Since then, 1,500 American musicians, mostly from Michigan, have visited 120 communities in 12 European countries.

Nearly 3,000 members of 40 European and Japanese bands, orchestras, choirs and dance groups have come to Michigan to perform throughout the state.

Directors of this year's group touring Europe will include Dr. Leonard Falcone, past director of Michigan State University's marching band for 40 years; Bruce Fowler of Buffalo Grove, Ill., one of the top high school symphony orchestra conductors in the mid-west; John Luther Wheeler, director of the North Muskegon High choir; and Fred Bunch of East Lansing, a well-known saxophone player and instructor.

Falcone will direct the band, Fowler the orchestra, Wheeler the choir, and Bunch the jazz band.

Student writer wins humor award

When Plymouth Canton High student Mike Henshaw took an in-print jab at former Observer sports editor Dennis O'Connor, somebody noticed.

Henshaw's column, "MD's Corner," was awarded a first place in the feature writing humor category of Schoolcraft College's high school journalism contest.

"Nothing is more enjoyable in humor than a touch of bitter satire. Mike Henshaw delivers a complete package," wrote judge Steve Barnaby, editor of the Farmington Observer.

"His shot at former Plymouth-Canton sports editor Doc O'Connor surely was the most enjoyable of those entered in this new category."

Henshaw's award for his column in New Media, Canton's student newspaper, was the highest received by a Plymouth-Canton student in the fifth year of the competition.

Patty Radzik, writing in Plymouth Salem High's Centicore, won a second place from judge Wylie Gerdes in the sports column category.

"This writer had the cleverest lines in the competition, both in this entry and another column she submitted. True, they were buried under an avalanche of words. Brevity, brevity," wrote Gerdes, a copy editor for the Detroit Free Press.

Stevenson High School's Spotlight, followed closely by the Southfield Jay, took top awards once again.

"Baseball has the Yankees, boxing has Muhammed Ali, and high school journalism has the Stevenson Spotlight," wrote Tim Richard, editorial page director of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers and judge of the best newspaper category.

Neither New Media or Centicore inched into the top awards, but the judges had a few words for the two papers.

"I admire the anti-administration attitude of the staff, but the writers lack the basics of journalistic technique to exploit it properly," was written about New Media.

"Physically attractive: clean appearance, good margins, good body type, some good photos. But then you start reading it..." was the comment on Centicore.

"I sense there are a lot of problems at Plymouth Salem High School. I sense there is an unhappy newspaper staff. I think the situation deserves a student newspaper," was the final cryptic note on Centicore.

GOOD GRAPHICS did win a honorable mention for Centicore in the Page One typography contest, judged by Ed Wendover, publisher of the Community Crier.

"Too gray" was New Media's critique.

Sports' categories produced two honorable mentions for Centicore's Paul Woodward and New Media's George Hamblin. Woodward's "Rocks roll to two straight" placed in the sports story category, and Hamblin's profile of

"Pete Bundarin: A Guy with a Dream" caught the notice of Detroit Free Press columnist Bob Talbert, who judged the personality sketches category.

IN ADDITION to Henshaw's first place, Laurie Golden's "Canton Teacher Barbara Masters succumbs to a Twinkie Crave" in New Media, and John Holdsworth's "Riff Raff" in Centicore impressed Barnaby in the humorous writing category. Both students won honorable mentions.

The Southfield Jay and Stevenson's Spotlight switched places in the advertising category. Judge Arthur Pepin of Ross Roy Advertising, Inc., declined to award honorable mentions because "that would be giving them false hope. Aside from the winners, all other entries could use a great deal of improvement."

Model UN seeks pupil involvement

Learning how the United Nations operates is the intent of the Model UN, scheduled for May 23 at Centennial Educational Park.

Students in CEP's International Relations class are hoping other students from Salem and Canton will join to make the event a success.

The purpose of the class, according to student Gregory Carl, is to give students an opportunity to learn how the UN operates, a glimpse at the world of international relations, and some insight into the politics and ideologies of individual countries.

To prepare for the Model UN, the class has been working on resolutions dealing with the topics under discussion, food distribution and energy. The resolutions will be introduced to participating students at block meetings scheduled for sixth hour, May 21 and 22.

Block meetings consist of debate of groups of countries with the same political view, such as the communist block, or world areas, such as the African block, Carl explains.

EACH BLOCK will meet to discuss the resolutions that will be introduced and decide whether or not to accept the resolutions within the policies of the block or add amendments.

The public also is invited to attend the Model UN proceedings during school hours on May 23. A catered lunch prepared by the food service classes will have a $1 charge.

Interested students are asked to sign up for one of the 151 member nations in Room 257 at Canton High.

selor at Plymouth Canton High; Janet Gharrity, health occupations at Canton High; Nancy Halmhuber, school psychologist; and Nancy Worsnop, second grade teacher at Isbister Elementary.

The board approved the above resignations and retirements Monday night and also approved leaves of absences for the following: Cynthia Burnstein, English instructor at Plymouth Salem High; Cathie Kerr, first grade teacher at Allen; and Claudia Tull, music instructor at Miller Elementary.

Ms. Tull will be on a short-term study leave of absence from June 25 through July 27. Miller is on a year-round school calendar.

Longtime teachers retiring

Four teachers with almost a century of combined service to Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will be retiring at the end of the current school year next month.

They are: Betty Walker, a learning specialist at Bird Elementary; Doris Beerbower, a first grade teacher at Smith Elementary; Lucile Finkbeiner, fourth grade teacher at Allen Elementary; and Margaret Kelly, French and English instructor at Plymouth Salem High.

Mrs. Beerbower has been a teacher in Plymouth-Canton for 27 years plus another two years for Canton District No. 1 before the community school district was organized in the early 1950s.

Mrs. Finkbeiner is retiring after 38 years with the school district. She has been at Allen Elementary since it opened and has been teaching for a total of 43 years.

Mrs. Kelly is retiring after 17 years teaching in the district and Mrs. Walker is taking a medical retirement after 12 years service with the district.

Helen Messmore is resigning as supervisor of accounting in the business office after working there for a number of years, and Carolyn Sellman is resigning her position as secretary of the meetings.

Teachers with less experience in the district who are resigning for various reasons include: Carla Garbin, coun-

Jazz band takes 1st in festival

By BETTY DeLANO

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Jazz Band came home last Sunday afternoon from the Central Ohio Jazz Festival in Columbus, Ohio, carrying the title of best high school band in the festival.

Sponsored by the Ohio State University Jazz Ensemble, the high school division of the festival included 10 competing bands that were judged in three categories — ensemble, rhythm and solos, and improvisation.

Subdivisions of the three categories were overall tone texture, authority and precision, and time and interpretation in the ensemble category; balance, fills and back-up, and time and rhythmic feel in the rhythm category. The solos and improvisation category was divided into woodwinds, brass and rhythm.

Judges of the high school bands were Bruce Early, from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids; Dave Melle, from Bowling Green State University in Bowling Green, Ohio; and Frank Brown, from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Performing under the direction of Carl Battishill, the CEP Jazz Band played "Spain" by Chic Corea with Mark Thrasher on alto saxophone, John Upton on trombone and Jeff Korsnes on electric guitar. "Doin' Time," by Hank Levy, featured Ted Hennig on tenor saxophone and "Moose the Mouche" with solos by Jeff Stopa on trap set, Thrasher and the entire trombone section.

Comments made by the judges were that the band played with a very mature sound, had a good rhythm section, a tight brass section and had an exciting sound. The band was also complimented on musical selection.

In becoming eligible for the festival, Battishill had to fill out an application months in advance and include a sample of the band by means of a tape. Twenty applicants were received and 10 bands selected for the final competition.

Ten college bands were also judged in the festival. They were judged by the Phil Woods quartet. Winning bands in the high school and college divisions were then a part of a concert Saturday night that featured the Ohio State University Jazz Ensemble and the Woods Quartet.

According to Battishill, about 1000 people attended the concert Saturday night, which was the largest audience the CEP band had ever played for.

Being in Buckeye Country and the only Michigan band in the festival, Thrasher threw in a few bars of the University of Michigan fight song during one of his solos, making the bands home location well known.

Battishill said the band was very well received and responded favorably to Thrasher's solo.

The band left from Phase Three on Friday afternoon and returned Sunday afternoon. The cost of the trip was paid for by the band members. The group was accompanied by four parents and Battishill.

Members of the band include Thrasher and Kathleen Griffing on alto saxophone, Hennig and Roger Anason on tenor saxophone and Joe LeBeau on baritone saxophone. The trombone section includes Upton, Chris Koepke, Karen Lattin and Greg Hausman.

Bruce Ruttenberg, Jeff Stankowitz, Bob Sherman and Laurie Golden make up the trumpet section and Korsnes on electric guitar. Eric Flavin on bass, Jeff Stopa and Jerry Hotchkin on trap set, Ted Johnson on vibes and Mike McGonagly on piano make up the rhythm section.

Legislators concerned about DeHoCo plans

Three local representatives have written a letter of concern to Gov. William G. Milliken about state plans to construct a maximum security prison on the Detroit House of Correction grounds in Northville Township.

In the letter, state Representatives Jack Kirksey, R-Livonia, Northville, Robert Law, R-Livonia, Westland, and Roy Smith, R-Ann Arbor, said they would appreciate any available information on the proposal.

Smith's district includes the city of Plymouth and part of Plymouth Township.

"We have some grave concerns about the location of a maximum security prison in this area and would like to have information regarding the exact plans and future developments of the DeHoCo site by the State of Michigan," the letter stated.

"It was our previous understanding that should the state purchase the site, it would be used for the housing of parole violators and people who have committed lesser crimes."

The state has agreed to pay $1.6 million for the women's portion of DeHoCo near Plymouth as the site for a new state prison, according to the representatives.

The legislators said that the agreement is the first step toward construction of a new 550-bed prison that will house both minimum and maximum security prisoners in the same facility.

During the projected 3-5 year construction period, prisoners convicted of minor infractions will be housed in the women's facility, which has been empty since August 1977.

"While we realize the problem involved in finding locations for prison sites, and concur with the urgent need to go forward with these types of projects, we do feel there are some problems in converting a minimum security facility into a maximum security prison," they said.

In addition, according to the three lawmakers, there are more state institutions within the 12 mile area of the proposed prison site than anywhere else in the state.

"Therefore, we would appreciate any further information you may have on this proposal," they said.

Canton, Salem finish 1-2 in regionals

By BETTY DeLANO

The only fair way for a regional tournament to end if both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton are participating is for both teams to win.

This was the case on Friday when the girls' golf teams played in the regional tournament at Burroughs' Farms in Brighton. Canton walked away with first place with a four player 18-hole score of 405, and Salem placed second at 426.

What the two teams won was a chance to play in the state finals on June 4, a chance that Salem also had last year after placing third in the regional action.

Leading Cantons' effort was senior captain Cathy Andersen with a 93. Andersen also earned a piece of a medalist title that she shared with Lisa Leclerc of Pinckney.

Andersen finished the front nine with a seven over par 44 and followed up on the back nine with a 49. Par on the back side was 36 for a total 73.

Andersen was joined by teammate Peggy Visser, who shot a 97, coming in with a 53 on the front and improving on the back to take a 44. The back nine score was a personal best for Visser during an interscholastic match.

Janis McGlone added a 97 to the Chiefs' winning total broken up 48-51 and Karen Mullen scored a 62 on the front nine and a 55 on the back for a final score of 117.

Plymouth Salem leader Meg McGee took a 47 on the 2,925 yard front nine and a 51 on the shorter 2,768 yard back for a total 98.

Sophomore Nancy Stevens added a 106 to the Rock score with a 52 on the front and a 54 on the back. Beth Maggio shot a 54 and a 55 for a total of 109 and freshman Carol Ross scored a 54 on the front nine and a 59 on the back nine for a final score of 113.

McGee and Maggio are the only two players for Salem that have played in regional action and Mullen is the only player on the Canton squad lacking regional experience.

"I'm extremely pleased and proud with the way the girls played today," said Salem coach Bob Waters. Salem has lost to Saline twice this season and was pleased to have beaten them when it really counted.

"The girls really come through when it means the most," said Waters. "It's great that the top three teams were all from the same league."

Third place was taken by Pinckney with a score of 444, to edge Saline out by one stroke. Saline came in with 445 to take fourth place ahead of Grosse Ile, which shot 456.

Sixth place was taken by Dearborn High School at 460 and seventh place went to Brighton at 467. Brighton is also a member of Canton and Salem's league.

Detroit Henry Ford High school placed eighth with an 18-hole score of 520, Dearborn Edsel Ford was ninth at 549 and Dearborn Fordson placed tenth at 561.

SALEM AND CANTON also competed in regular season dual-matches this week. Canton improved its' record to 11-0 with a win over Willow Run, 212-258 and Salem lost to Saline, and 212-193 for an overall season record of 6-4. Both matches were Wednesday.

Andersen was low scorer with a 43 to lead the Chiefs against Willow Run. Playing at Glenn Oaks Golf Course in Ypsilanti, Andersen was followed by McGlone at 53, Visser at 54 and Mullen at 62.

Willow Run posted scores of 55, 56, 71 and 76 on the par-36, 2900 yard layout.

"The course was real dry and we had pretty good scores from everyone," said Canton coach Ann Buie. "Cathy is really playing well as shown in the regionals and everyone else is becoming more consistent and dependable."

Salem took its loss on Brookside Golf Course in Saline. Counting a trio of 51's from Maggio, McGee and Ross and a 59 from Stevens, the Salem squad added another loss to its' record to secure a third place finish in the Central Six.

Canton has two more league matches before the state finals June 4.

Salem bounces back

Its been a season of streaks for the Plymouth Salem netters. And Rock tennis coach Jim Stevens hopes the latest one continues for a while longer.

Salem started out the season with five straight meet wins, and everything was looking good. But the Rocks were ambushed their next time on the courts by Trenton, losing 5-2.

Their downfall continued in their next meet, as Dearborn Edsel Ford also posted a 5-2 win.

But the Rocks have turned things around once again, as they claimed their third and fourth straight wins last week, crushing Allen Park and Livonia Franklin by identical 6-1 scores. The win over Franklin was the third in a row by a 6-1 score.

The Salem netters lost only five sets in the two meets, but it left them with one streak they wanted to end. No. 3 singles Dick Cook was the only Salem loser in both meets, dropping a 6-4, 6-3 decision to Allen Park's Paul Bisaro, and losing to Andy Thomas of Franklin in a third set tiebreaker, 6-2, 3-6, 7-6 (5-2 in the tiebreaker).

But the good far outweighed the bad for the Rocks, as they improved their league record to 6-2 and their season mark to 9-2.

Winners for Salem in the Allen Park meet in singles play, held last Tuesday, were Bob Braun in No. 1 singles, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3 over Jeff Wagner; Ed Thomas in No. 2 singles defeated John Digasbarro, 6-0, 6-0; and Scott Crespo, a 6-1, 6-2 winner over Keith Cole in No. 4 singles.

Rocks beaten

Defending Suburban Eight league champion Dearborn Edsel Ford proved to be more than Plymouth Salem could handle, as the Rocks fell 90-42 in a boys' track meet last Wednesday.

The loss dropped Salem to 2-3 in the league and 3-4 overall. Edsel Ford remains one of the track powers in the conference, according to Salem Coach Gary Balconi.

"Edsel Ford has some very strong individuals, especially in the track events," Balconi said. "It could be a very close league meet."

Balconi figures both the Dearborn schools, along with Belleville, have a shot at the conference crown when the league meet is held on May 30.

"I think Dearborn may be the toughest, but Edsel Ford is the defending champion," Balconi said.

Salem managed only five firsts against Edsel Ford, with four coming in the field events. Leigh Langkabel was the team's lone winner in the track events, as he captured the 440-yard dash (53.1).

Rob Neu grabbed first place in the high jump (5-10) while Bob Pittaway won the discus (135-10). Rick Hanshu finished first in the long jump (20-8½) and Jack Wellman took the pole vault (12 feet).

Plymouth Canton had no more luck than Salem, as the Chiefs dropped their fifth straight dual meet, losing to Waterford Mott 89-39 last Wednesday.

Dan McGlenn accounted for two of Canton's five firsts, as he won the 330-yard low hurdles in a new school record (40.3), and tied with teammate Dave Talaga for first in the high jump (5-8).

Ted Toll won the discus for the Chiefs (120-8½), Al Olszewski took the shotput (44-1), and Rick Fleischer was first in the 220-yard dash (23.5).

Canton remains winless for the season with an 0-5 overall record and an 0-3 mark in Western Six league.

Salem hosts Allen Park Tuesday, while Canton travels to Northville for its last dual meet Thursday.

Chiefs explode in 14-4 victory

By SCOTT ADLER

The Plymouth Canton Chiefs exploded for eight runs in the first inning and coasted to a 14-4 victory over Western Six rival Walled Lake Western last Wednesday on Canton's home field.

The Chiefs upped their record to 12-5 overall and 6-2 in the league. It was their fourth straight triumph.

The Warriors played a sloppy game in the field, committing eight errors, including three in the Chiefs' eight run first inning.

Dan Funkhouser went six innings for Canton, giving up four runs and seven hits while striking out seven.

"Danny did a good job today except he had a few control problems," said Canton coach Fred Crissey of Funkhousers' four walks. "He had thrown 90 pitches and we figured we would give him a rest." Guy Kananen finished off the one-sided victory.

It was junior shortstop Al Lipinski that led the Chiefs' offensive attack with three hits, two RBIs' and scoring three runs.

"I thought we had a good day," Crissey said. "We needed a game like this after playing five games in five days. Needless to say I'm pleased."

Russ Mandle had trouble with the sun in right field as two balls, including this hit, dropped in front of him.

Salem softbailers fall to Belleville

The Plymouth Salem softbailers win streak didn't last very long.

The Rocks broke a five-game losing skien with a win over Allen Park last Tuesday, and they started out pretty well against Belleville on Thursday. But they couldn't hold an early lead, as they fell 6-3.

The loss dropped the Rocks to 6-9 on the season and 3-5 in the Suburban Eight league. They have now lost six of their last seven contests.

Against Belleville, Salem took a 2-0 lead after the first inning. Nan Horwood started it off with a walk, stole second, and went to third on a passed ball.

Sue McDowell also walked and stole second before Cheryl Sobkow sliced a single scoring both runners.

But Belleville came back with three runs in the third and three more in the fourth to clinch the victory.

Salem's last run came when McDowell was safe on an error, went to second on Sobkow's groundout, advanced to third on a passed ball, and scored on Doris Hoebischer's base hit.

Jill Goodrich started for Salem and went four innings, allowing three runs on three hits and two walks. She struck out one.

Cathy Gardner took over in the fifth and was the losing pitcher, as she surrendered three runs on one hit and three walks, while fanning one.

Jan Boyd pitched the final two frames and didn't allow any runs, hits or walks. She struck out three.

The Rocks are idle until Thursday, when they travel to Trenton for a 4 p.m. contest.

Rocks outpower Tigers

By C.J. RISAK

It really shouldn't surprise Plymouth Salem baseball fans that Dave "Bubba" Wilcox provided the heroics in last Thursday's 8-5 win over Belleville.

After all, Wilcox has been producing all season, and after being held to one measly single in his first three at-bats, it only seemed likely that he would come through when the team really needed him.

And come through he did, belting a two-out, three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth inning to break up a tie game and give Salem its winning three-run margin.

With a slight breeze blowing toward leftfield at Salem's park, the contest became a game of long ball, as three Rocks slammed home runs and a Belleville player hit another.

Matt Etienne got things going early for Salem. After Belleville scored once in the opening inning, the Rocks punished Belleville starter Tim Wallis by scoring five times in their half of the opening frame.

Wallis got the Rocks' leadoff man, Paul Woodard, and, after Paul Dillon singled, Wallis got Jim Anderson to hit into a force play. But the Rocks then rallied, as Wilcox singled and Sam Merrill walked, loading the bases.

Etienne then smacked a grand slam homer over the rightfield fence. Before the dust settled, Mike Woodard followed Etienne's blast with a solo job of his own and Salem led, 5-1.

Tom Montgomery replaced Wallis on the mound for Belleville and retired Woodard to end any further Rock threat.

BELLEVILLE BEGAN to peck away at the Salem lead, scoring twice in the second on a two-run shot by third baseman Larry Seacox, and added another in the third on a double, single and a sacrifice fly.

Meanwhile, Montgomery had silenced the Rocks' hitting attack, allowing just one single through four innings. In the top of the sixth, Belleville knotted the score on a leadoff double and bunt single.

But that just set things up for Wilcox' dramatic homer, which came after a leadoff walk to Chris Hannon, a bunt single by Paul Woodard, Barry Owen, pitching in relief of Rock starter Dave Runge, then popped out to the pitcher and Anderson struck out. But Wilcox' hit ended the affair with a flourish.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

There is a bit of unrest among bowlers in the area and it has nothing to do with the rules and regulations just passed by the American Bowling Congress.

They are concerned about the energy crisis and the fact that there may be a gasoline shortage by fall. If the shortage develops, as some of the purveyors of doom and gloom insist, it may cause a complete re-shuffling of the all-star leagues.

The two leagues most affected would be the Tuesday and Thursday Bonanza all-star classics. The Tuesday event is bowled at Orchard Lanes in Pontiac and the Thursday competition between many of the same bowlers is held at the Thunderbowl in Allen Park.

These two houses are miles apart and it would require a lot of driving for the 80 members to go from place to place.

In the women's all-star leagues the driving distance is not as great. The Bowlerettes bowl at Luxury Lanes on Nine Mile Road and the Ladies Major will hold forth at Ark Lanes West, which is at the intersection of Telegraph Road and Northwestern Highway.

Many of the other leagues will be affected, too. It may be that there will be a general shuffling before another season rolls around.

THIS IS the week that summer league bowling gets under way and one of the interesting features this year is the prominent place the senior citizen leagues are taking.

According to an early survey the seniors will be out in force all summer and furnish the background of all league schedules.

It is interesting to note that league bowling among the seniors got its start a quarter of a century ago at Livonia Lanes, then owned and operated by Clarence Hoffman.

It started on a Christmas morning when Hoffman got to wondering what the seniors were doing and whether they would come down and watch the bowlers.

The invitation was accepted and that afternoon the seniors voiced their desire to try their luck at knocking down the pins.

Within two weeks a league was formed and it wasn't long until it became a traveling circuit. Bowling Day became a holiday for the seniors and they now are an integral part of the bowling game.

18-6 softball win

Canton crushes Western

The Plymouth Canton varsity softball team added another win to its Western Six League record by beating Walled Lake Western 18-6 Wednesday.

The Chiefs hold a Western-6 record of 5-2, giving them second place behind Farmington Harrison and 6-6 overall.

A single to right center field by MariAnn Pink in the first inning and a single down the third base line by Vickie Cavallero gave the Chiefs an early three run lead over the Warriors.

Canton's Stephanie Hancock scored in the fourth inning on an error at home plate and the Chiefs rallied for five more runs in the fifth inning.

A triple by Pink brought in three of the five runs and a single up the middle by Cheryl Pijanowski brought in the other two.

Canton scored seven of its last nine runs in the sixth inning and finished out the game with two runs in the seventh.

"We had 22 hits against Walled Lake mainly because their pitcher was so slow," said Canton coach Max

Sommerville. "This was the best game we have played all year. We had 19 singles, two doubles and one triple. We were hitting very well."

Pink was complimented by Somerville for the fine job she has been doing starting for the team. Senior pitcher Lucy Howe is out of the line-up for two weeks due to a sore shoulder.

In non-league action, Canton lost to Livonia Bentley 6-4 on Friday.

Bentley got eight hits off of Pink, six of which were in the fifth inning. Canton had nine hits.

Canton will play a double header against Waterford Mott today to make up a game missed earlier in the season because of rain. On Wednesday the Chiefs take on Northville at Northville. Both games start at 4 p.m.

In Michigan, these are some of the signs to investigate before you excavate.
They're all signs of an underground pipeline. If any of these signs are near where you're planning to dig, probe or blast, please call the statewide "Miss Dig" number 48 hours in advance.
800-482-7171
A trained operator will obtain information on location and type of work. "Miss Dig" will then notify any utility with facilities in the area. Participating utilities, including Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, will send representatives to identify any underground installations. "Miss Dig" can help you avoid a dangerous situation. Pipeline markers locate the buried pipeline only in the immediate vicinity of the marker. Any type of ditching, boring, drilling, blasting, deep plowing, excavating, earth moving, mining or seismic work in the vicinity of a pipeline is potentially dangerous. That is why it is important to seek help 48 hours before you undertake any of these activities near a pipeline.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

Vickie Cotton's lucky day was Friday, May 18. She won $2,364 on WXYZ radio's Cash Call Jackpot program. "I couldn't believe it," said Vickie. "I always listen to WXYZ. I sent in my cards, but I never expected to be called. Out of all those thousands of people in the telephone book."

Vickie turns on WXYZ first thing in the morning. She made a note at 9 a.m. that the jackpot was $2,364.

"They had that psychic on and at 10 a.m. I wrote down the jackpot figure — $2,364. I'm going to frame that paper. Tom Dean came on — I love him — and I was worried about the figure $2,364. I knew I must have made a mistake because they make one call an hour and add to the jackpot. It could not be the same amount at 9 and 10."

AT THAT point, a few words of explanation are necessary to provide by

ELLIE GRAHAM

background for Vickie's reaction when the telephone did ring.

Her husband, Ford, has joshed her about being an "easy mark" for telephone surveys and interviews. She graciously answers all the questions with no thought to the time consumed. Next time, she always told herself, I will not be so accommodating.

When Jack Springer, producer of the radio show, called Friday morning, he did not mention that he was from WXYZ.

He said, "I called you before and your telephone was busy. I usually don't call back. You are Vickie Cotton? You live in Canton?"

"I thought, 'Well, here I go again. This is either an interview or an obscene phone call,'" said Vickie. He asked her to hold until Tom Dean came on.

Then there was the big predicament about the correct size of the jackpot. She was certain she had the wrong number.

VICKIE WAS anything but calm when she talked to Dean. But the number was right and she was proclaimed a winner.

The Cottons moved into their home on Lancelot in Canton Township last Christmas. She and her husband Ford (who works for Cadillac) have twin sons, Bruce and Mark, 10, and their youngest, Ford, is 6. The boys attend Miller Elementary School.

Vickie says they will spend the money on their new house.

LOCAL CB'ERS who are members of REACT (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens Team) are going to do everything in their power to make the Memorial Day weekend safe for drivers.

They are setting up their safety coffee break station at noon Saturday, May 26 and will keep it open until 6 p.m. Sunday, May 27.

The REACT people will work in four-hour shifts at the rest area on I-275, between Palmer and Cherry Hill roads in Canton Township. They will have their trailer, a long table and a nylon dining canopy where they will serve coffee and doughnuts to motorists and truckers. They also will have Kool-aid for the children.

Operation CARE is being chaired by Paul Cook, field operations director who lives on Sunset in Plymouth. He will be assisted by Carlotta and Larry Thompson of Plymouth Township.

THEY WILL broadcast from the trailer over channel 19, informing motorists about the safety coffee break station. They will invite drivers to stop, stretch their legs, and have some refreshments. There will be no charge for the service.

Working on the set-up and helping man the safety stop will be Commander Chuck Van Vleck and his wife, Maria. Chuck is executive officer of REACT. Dave Gaylord of Canton Township, assistant executive officer, will also be there.

Michele Dean, senior watch captain, Steve Mettetal and other CBers in the team will be on hand for the round the clock safety breaks.

THE DUPLICATE bridge games Tuesday evening in the Plymouth Cultural Center were a fundraiser for the United States Olympiad team.

The International Fund Game was sponsored by the American Contract Bridge League. The boards (or hands) played in the center were duplicated across the nation as other bridge groups played the same hands at the same time.

Local match winners were, first, Chris Hough and Vic Rizotti of Ann Arbor; second, Stan Hench and Eddie Jones of Livonia; and third, George Baggeris and Robert Marks of Livonia.

WINNERS AT the Wednesday duplicate games at the Cultural Center on Farmer Street were Ruth Trembath and Marge Kovart.

There were five tables as the Wednesday daytime games grow in popularity. Play begins at 10 a.m.

THE THREE BROWNIE and two Junior Girl Scout troops at Fiegel Elementary School will have round-up and fly-up ceremonies 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 23 at Fiegel School.

Stairway to second floor has everything from modern prints to old family portraits.

Larry Book created the mood he desired.

Collector redecorates condo as background for his hobby

Larry Book is a collector — antiques, plates, Elizabeth Dagenhart glass, leaded glass and family memorabilia. One year after moving into his condominium on Howard Lane in Canton Township, he has finished what he set out to do:

"I tried to create a mood where anyone can come in and feel comfortable." His bachelor quarters reflect his love of old things in a museum-like setting.

Book says there are about 750 square feet of living space in the two-story condominium. He used mirrors extensively to create a feeling of space. He Painted the ceilings and drops with aluminum paint.

"The ceilings were white and they weren't right," he said. "The aluminum makes them disappear at night."

HE INSTALLED slate tiles in the vestibule floor and the upstairs bath. Wall coverings are silk screened fabrics. He used wood — new wood, old wood and even pieces of lathe and orange crates — on the walls and for shelving.

The colors are in the earth tones but the living room sofa is a creamy off-white. Lamps have stark white pleated shades and a profusion of candles in clear glass or crystal candlesticks are all white.

He did it all himself, even making the curtains. "I did have some help sewing the curtains," Book admits.

He covered all the kitchen cabinets and the refrigerator with cedar veneer. The utility room was converted to a wash room off the kitchen. A small closet was opened at the other end of the kitchen and it was there he placed a stacked washer and dryer.

When he moved in, there was a bar between the kitchen and the living room. He removed the bar and inserted a pair of leaded glass windows over the kitchen sink. Colorful stained glass windows replaced plastic panels in the kitchen's suspended ceiling.

THE PRESSED back dining chairs and old dining room table were brought from Canada many years ago by his grandparents. He had the table and its three leaves stripped and refinished.

He stresses the fact that the yard goods used for wall coverings was Scotch Guarded. It made it easier to handle when he glued it to the walls with regular wallpaper paste.

Old dining room table and pressed wood chairs are reflected in the panels of mirrors.

Master bedroom carries out earth tones prevalent throughout the condominium.

Old cherry desk in living room is a family heirloom. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Soroptimist Club honors 4 seniors

Four high school seniors — two from Plymouth Salem and two from Plymouth Canton — were awarded scholarships by the Soroptimist Club of Plymouth. Roberta Orr, president of the club, presented checks to Kristi Bistersky, Lisa Holk, Jonna Schmidt and Karen Haut.

The recipients and their parents were guests at the annual scholarship dinner meeting in the Waterman Center of Schoolcraft College. The food was prepared by the culinary arts department under the direction of Mike McConnell, assistant director of the department.

The winners were asked to tell the club members about their plans for the future.

Kristi Bistersky will take the two-year dental hygiene course at the University of Michigan. She is considering going on to dentistry school.

Lisa Holk will enter the Eastern School of Music in Rochester N.Y. She was named outstanding teen earlier this year in the Plymouth Jayettes distinguished Service awards program.

Jonna Schmidt plans to enter Marian College, Ind. in the fall. She will major in pre-med and pre-nursing and is looking forward to either a degree in medicine or a master's in nursing.

Karen Haut will major in communications at Michigan State University.

Guest speaker was Merle Richard, an environmentalist and instructor at Schoolcraft College. Her topic was "Energy Concerns."

She spoke to the scholarship winners, asking them, as they choose their professions, not to lose sight of the environment.

She said, "Ecology should be taught all through school. It's a matter of survival. What hope we have for the future depends on ecology. It is not a matter of just surviving the energy crunch. It's survival on this planet."

Roberta Orr presented a centerpiece to Donna Stevens, a counselor at the Centennial Educational Park, for her help in the scholarship program. (Staff photos)

Lisa Holk and Jonna Schmidt were seated at the head table.

Karen Haut and Kristi Bistersky were scholarship winners.

HEALTH FAIR

The health education class at Plymouth Canton High School will have a free Health Fair from 7-9:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 29 in the school cafeteria. The 150 freshman in the required class will prepare posters, charts and displays dealing with cardiovascular, cancer and other diseases.

PLYMOUTH GARDEN CLUB

Members of the Plymouth branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will meet at noon Monday, June 11 for a picnic at the home of Mrs. Edwin Schrader. Members are asked to provide their own table service and a plant for the auction.

PILGRIM GARDEN CLUB

The Pilgrim Garden Club of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan will meet at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, May 24 in Hulsing Elementary School.

The program will be a demonstration of canning and freezing techniques given by a representative of the Wayne County Extension Service. Guests and prospective members may attend.

TRAILWOOD GARDEN CLUB

The annual business meeting of the Trailwood branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday, May 21 in the home of Ann Adams, 11799 Wildwing, Plymouth Township. New officers will be installed. There will be a plant exchange with a card of instructional care with each plant.

Co-hostesses will be Nadine Alford and Jan Elston. Wilma Majors will chair the meeting.

PLYMOUTH OPTIMISTS

The Plymouth Optimists Club will meet at 7 p.m. Monday, May 21, in the Mayflower Hotel. It will be a general membership dinner meeting with discussion of future plans for the club.

ICE CREAM SOCIAL

There will be an ice cream social 6-8 p.m. Friday, June 1, at the Salvation Army, 290 Fairground, Plymouth. Tickets at 75 cents include a slice of homemade pie or cake, ice cream and beverage. There will be games for the children.

Monday's Commentary

Editor's note: The following article on farmland preservation is an excerpt from testimony given in Washington by Robert Greenstein, Canton's farmland preservation

"Since 1973, I along with others in my community have been intensely active in an attempt to save agricultural lands and to slow down development. It must be admitted at this juncture, however, that originally the activity was mainly directed as a negative reaction to development as a whole and to preserving open space for ecological and mental health reasons.

Only after substantial research had been accomplished did we discover a study accomplished by the Michigan Department of Agriculture in 1973 entitled "Michigan-Agricultural Land Requirements — A Projection to the Year 2000 A.D." That report, along with other projections from state and federal levels, soon turned our efforts from open space and anti-development to a complete focus on agricultural land protection for the purposes of human survival.

Only three years ago, as supervisor of the Charter Township of Canton, I proposed, through our Representative, Bill Ford, that Congress give serious consideration to legislation such as that now before this subcommittee. The concerns which prompted us to propose federal action remain with us today, and I would submit, have become even more critical during that time.

As you are all aware, the United States Department of Agriculture has estimated that between 1953 and 1973, over 117 million acres of prime agricultural land — an amount equal to every square of farmland within the states of New York, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan — fall under the developer's bulldozer. That trend continues unabated, with between 1.5 and 3 million of the best farmland in the world being gobbled up by urban and suburbanization each year.

In Michigan, the story has been the same: at the end of World War II, Michigan had about 18.5 million acres of land in active agricultural production; by 1969 that total had fallen to around 6.6 million acres — a devastating loss by any standard of measurement.

ONLY A FEW years ago, Canton Township was considered to be the sweet corn capital of southern Michigan and almost its entire 36 square miles was actively engaged in farmland and agricultural production. The balance of the township has been or is proposed to be developed.

Immediately to the west of our township lies many, many thousands of good agricultural acres which will be almost inanimately destroyed unless Canton Township is able to preserve its remaining agriculture acres and prevent sewer water and highway from reaching its borders.

The Michigan Department of Agriculture conservatively estimates that in the year 2000 we will need approximately eight million acres for agricultural production — some 1.4 million more acres than were available in 1969. And, of course, given the trends of the 20 year period between 1950 and 1970, it is likely that only about 4.7 million acres of land will be available in agricultural production at the turn of the century — a shortfall of 3.3 million acres or about 41 percent.

These figures are critical because Michigan is already too overly dependent on outside sources for basic foodstuffs. We produce only about 37.4 percent of the wheat needed in Michigan, 28 percent of the soybeans and hogs, 65.3 percent of the corn, 70.4 percent of the potatoes, 21 percent of the cattle and 46.7 percent of the eggs we consume. Now, while I am not going to argue that every state and locality needs to be essentially self-sufficient in terms of its basic food requirements, I think that it is clear that some modicum of basic self-sufficiency is dictated by this era of rising fuel and transportation costs, which as you well know, play an ever-increasing role in the cost of food to the consumer. And it is clear that these costs are going to substantially increase over the next 20 years.

Moreover, I think the available evidence is such that we cannot expect technological advances to accommodate these shortfalls by enabling us to produce more food on less and less land. Certainly improvements will continue to be made, but there are finite limits to what can be accomplished, and re-director. We are running this testimony verbatim, as it contains a wealth of information about the Township's approach to saving farmland.

cent trends indicate that we may very well be approaching those limits today. And indeed, these "improvements" do not come without a price. We are all aware of the extremely negative long-term consequences which stem from an over-reliance on the chemical fix: depletion of the soil, the disruption of the natural ecological balance, and, as we have begun to see in California and other areas heavily dependent on irrigation, an increase in salinity levels so severe as to make commercial farming a marginal proposition, if not altogether impossible.

"HAVING OUTLINED the nature and scope of the problem — and the likelihood that it will increase in severity in the future unless we take concerted action now to reverse and arrest this process — let me turn briefly to our analysis of the forces which have brought us to this sad state of affairs.

The fundamental reason underlying this massive depletion of our greatest natural resource is the simple fact that most areas of the country — Canton included — farmland is assessed not in terms of its true agricultural value, but in terms of its speculative value as residential, commercial, or industrial property. These artificially high assessments lead to higher taxes — not just property taxes, which are often so high as to force the selling-off property taxes which pose a continuing burden, but inheritance taxes, which are often so high as to force the selling-off of the family farm so as to be able to pay those taxes — at totally inequitable and socially-destructive outcome no matter how you slice it. And make no mistake about it, once agricultural land has been converted, it is practically impossible to ever reclaim it for farming purposes. Moreover, once a family sells out, they rarely, if ever, are in a position to repurchase their farms.

Having said that, what options are open to us which will effectively halt and hopefully reverse, this most-damaging form of "erosion" of our Nation's farmlands?

In Canton, our Land Use Study Committee rejected a number of proposals as unworkable, and I think it would be useful were I to share our thinking with you as regards these rejected options.

Initially, several people suggested that we use the zoning process to establish an exclusive agricultural zone in the western portion of the township. And although the strict enforcement of exclusive agricultural zoning might be used to maintain some farmland, we considered this method unworkable since it clearly deprives the affected owners of their legitimate property rights, and thus be likely to be successfully challenged in the courts as unconstitutional under the due process guarantees of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Now, I am aware that several recent precedents, most notably, Construction Industry Association of Sonoma County v. City of Petaluma, may have opened the possibility that such an action would be supported. But, legalisms aside, the Study Committee felt that equitably, and politically, such an approach still has very serious flaws and hence, we rejected it.

ANOTHER APPROACH involves the use of differential assessments. Such a program is available in Michigan under the authority of Public Act 116 of 1974. Yet, in Michigan, our experience is that tax benefits alone seem to provide insufficient incentive for the preservation of agricultural lands in suburban areas under substantial development pressure.

For example, if an acre of farmland, as farmland, is worth something on the order of $2,000 per acre, and developers are willing to pay $20,000 or even $30,000 per acre — as has been the case recently in Orange County, Calif. — property tax differentials can be clearly seen to simply lack the economic clout to make this approach to farmland preservation economically viable.

Some jurisdictions, like New York State, have gone the route of seeking to create voluntarily established agricultural districts in which farmers enjoy some special tax benefits and in turn in which urban developers are severely limited. Unfortunately, although this type of program appears to work well in rural areas not threatened by urbanization, the incentives offered again do not appear sufficient to protect farmland in areas like Canton which are experiencing those pressures.

"A fourth approach which we considered involves the transfer of development rights by requiring the reallocation of development potential from one part of the affected community to another. Thus, the overall amount of development within the community does not change, only its location. This approach has been apparently used with some success in New York and Pennsylvania to aid in the preservation of both farmland and buildings of historic significance. Yet, in Canton, we found it to be unworkable since existing development in the township provides too few areas to which the excess development rights could actually be transferred.

FIFTH, and finally, we looked at the possibility of a purchase and lease-back arrangement wherein the township itself would purchase the farm-rights should be severely limited to those those lands which meet the above qualifications.

All other agricultural lands not yet impacted by development should be saved immediately though zoning of a permanent nature and taxation of the land at a level indicating its agricultural use and not, as it is today, taxed as future developmental property. It is our further belief that the congress could make the sale of development rights by the farmer to the local municipality far more attractive by working into the income tax laws of this country provisions similar to that given oil companies and industry by way of tax credits or other favorable treatment to encourage sale of development rights in impacted areas.

Now let me turn to what we regard as some of the major benefits accruing from this proposal. First, in terms of the benefits to the farmers involved, we believe that lowering the value of this land through the purchase of the development rights will lower their tax burdens and make farming more eco-

'It is absolutely vital to understand that it is not Canton's position that the United States Congress should fund the purchase of development rights for every acre of agricultural land in the U.S. Aside from being literally impossible to accomplish financially, such a scheme is in no way necessary or even desirable.'

land in question, then lease it back to the former owners.

"However, we rejected this approach as also unworkable since the cost would be, from our point of view, astronomical, perhaps on the order of $200 million, and unacceptable to the farmers since it would totally deprive them of the benefits of land ownership.

"Thus, it was concluded that the only viable, equitable and cost-effective approach to the resolution of this problem would be for the township to purchase the development rights to these parcels, which aggregate to approximately 6,500 acres, and to otherwise leave the ownership of the land in the hands of the present owners. In addition, the township proposed a new zoning ordinance which would foster the goals of this development rights acquisition program by limiting dwelling unit densities to 1 per 40 acres and by limiting acceptable economic activities within the zone to general and specialized agricultural purposes. The cost of acquiring the development rights for the parcels involved was estimated in 1970 to be about $24 million.

IT IS ABSOLUTELY vital to understand that it is not Canton's position that the United States Congress should fund the purchase of development rights for every acre of agricultural land in the United States. Aside from being literally impossible to accomplish financially, such a scheme is in no way necessary or even desirable. It is our belief from many years of documentation and study, that the only development rights which need be purchased are located in the substantially impacted areas which have experienced development of a concentrated nature and which border upon undeveloped lands which would ultimately come under substantial developer pressure but for the preservation of the bordering agricultural lands. Therefore, the need to purchase development nomically viable and practical. Second, because of payment for their development rights, our farmers would have a large new source of capital with which to further upgrade the quality and efficiency of their operations, thus helping to assure their competitiveness and viability in the long run. Third by reducing the value of the land, estate taxes could only be collected on the actual agricultural value of the land, thus reducing this tax obligation as well.

Moreover, a farmland owner who distributed portion of his estate during his lifetime could further reduce the tax obligation on his estate. Obviously, this benefit has a social value as well, since it would be likely to assure the continuation of family farming as a viable enterprise.

Turning to the benefits to the township as a whole, this proposal would assure the continuation of our economy and to the general desirability of the community, since open space and agricultural lands improve the quality of life for all residents of the community. And certainly, the availability of home-grown fruits and vegetables, and the ability to travel just a few blocks to purchase farm-fresh products is a value which is not inconsequential in these days of over-processed, 'factory-fresh' synthetics which some have chosen to call 'food'.

Perhaps the most amazing, politically significant outcome of all the studies, technical assistance, research and preparation accomplished by the Charter Township of Canton will be the implementation of this plan (aside from satisfaction of all critical social needs) and, perhaps for the first time in governmental history, effect an actual and significant tax savings on a local level by prohibiting full development and saving the farmland, instead of allowing total development.

It must be noted, at this point, that the impact on local governmental operating budgets are directly and immediately effected by farmland preservation, far greater than can ever be realized on a county or state level. Since local government operating expenses increase on a per capita basis as the population increases, and cost of all mandated services are borne by local municipalities, a direct tax savings to local residents is extremely significant.

Given Canton's status as the fastest growing area in the Detroit Metroplex area, a significant tax saving to its citizens through the preservation of farmland would be even more notable than in other areas. To summarize our findings concerning tax advantages to the people of Canton Township and the citizens of other local municipalities by supporting farmland preservation, we calculate that the average single family of Canton Township by ballot. The response was again overwhelming to the question of whether or not the people wish to retain agricultural lands within the township. The results: Yes 3,054 — No 878.

In 1979, the Canton Chamber of Commerce conducted a poll of the citizens of Canton Township and determined that in excess of 80 percent of the residents of Canton Township wished to retain agricultural lands within the township. I believe that we are able to submit to you clear proof that an activity which began in 1973 has in no way lost support, but contrarily has continued to gain support and commitment as our population continues to grow. The approximate population of the Charter Township of Canton in 1979 is 40,000 people.

AS IT CAN BE fairly implied that the citizens of our community have become extremely supportive of the proposition of saving farmland, I believe it is proper to look at the official positions as indicated on a state, federal and local level. Many of the federal departments have recently indicated active support for the proposition of preservation of agricultural lands, not the least of which is the Environmental Protection Agency whose director, in a recent communication, has dedicated his entire department to aiding and assisting in that activity. Many other Federal departments have with the last year also indicated the same position.

The Secretary of Agriculture has issued a position paper sometime ago stating that the Farmers Home Administration, on state levels, would no longer approve developments that remove agricultural lands from production. The Farmers Home Administration for the State of Michigan has recently announced its full commitment to following the Secretary's policy.

Recently, the Charter Township of Canton had submitted its fully developed farmland preservation program to the Michigan Department of Agriculture and on May 9, 1979, received a written response from Mr. Dean Pridgen, Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. That response is extremely favorable.

'It is exciting to become a part of legislation which has direct benefit to the urban dweller, the suburbanite and the farmer without further increasing unduly the complexity of government.'

'Originally the activity was mainly directed as a negative reaction to development as a whole and to preserving open space for ecological and mental health reasons. Only after substantial research had been accomplished did we discover a study accomplished by the Michigan Department of Agriculture in 1973 entitled Michigan Agricultural Land Requirements — A Projection to the Year 2000 A.D. That report, along with many other projections from state and federal levels, soon turned our efforts from open space and anti-development to a complete focus on agricultural land protection for the purposes of human survival.'

TRAVEL LOG of Iris Jones

Tipping can be easy — if you employ system

A woman who travels alone has asked me to talk about the rules of tipping in airports and hotels when you travel. Like many women, I learned this skill later in life than most men do because men still tend to be the tippers when families travel.

One thing I have learned is that every traveler, man or woman, is a little nervous about tipping. We are never quite sure whether we are doing it right. Most of us decide on a system, knowing that we'll do it wrong sometimes.

I personally use the One Dollar Bill System, especially to get me through airports and hotels. I carry eight-10 $1 bills in a handy jacket pocket when I head for the plane at home or abroad. Dollar bills are recognized worldwide so you can use them if you don't have local currency.

In the United States, I assume I will need $2 to get my bags on the plane; up to $2, probably less, to get them off; and up to $4 to get my bags from the airport into my hotel room.

I travel with a medium bag and a small bag, so I don't hesitate to carry them in airports myself if it is practical or a porter is not handy.

The rule of thumb, if such exists, is a minimum of 50 cents a bag, but that is only for short distances.

I avoid parking at airports, if possible, because I hate paying high parking fees, finding my car alone at night or dragging suitcases to a shuttlebus for a faraway lot. If I do park in a distant lot, and the shuttle is free, the driver gets my first dollar bill when he unloads my bags onto the curb.

If I have my ticket in hand, I check in at the curb. Here, I tip $2 on the assumption that the porter must get my bags to wherever they board the plane. A little extra tip will get them there faster if I'm late (as I often am) and perhaps some small needed service, like a piece of tape over an unreliable suitcase lock.

If I don't check my bags at the curb, I give $1 to the porter who carries my bags to the airline counter or I carry them myself.

That gets me aboard. You never tip airline employees on a plane or at counters. When I get off the plane, I use a trolley at airports where they are available. Otherwise, I tip $1 to get my bags to the curb, or $2 to get them either to the parking lot or into a taxi.

If I am staying at a motel, the rest is all do-it-yourself. At city hotels, or any first-class hotel with service personnel, the first hotel tip is given at the curb.

If I pay commercial rates on an airport limousine, I usually don't tip the driver. If it is a free shuttle, I do so when the driver takes my bag out. Otherwise, it's a $1 tip to the porter who carries them to the check-in counter and $2 to the bell boy who takes them to the room.

Can you do it all yourself? Yes. If it is practical or a porter is not handy. I don't hesitate except in the lobby of a good hotel, where the entire bellboy system comes unglued if you carry your own bags.

This tipping system is entirely personal. I would like to hear your system. Write and share it with me.

Resort once only for the rich, Montebello hosts a retreat for all

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES

Le Chateau Montebello may be the biggest log cabin in the world.

The lobby is a great hexagonal room, 100 feet across, of peeled and polished logs, with a 66-foot hexagonal field-stone fireplace rising from the red carpet past two levels of surrounding balconies to the cedar-log crossbars that support the roof.

Sometimes the great room is busy, with swimmers or cross-country skiers moving in and out of the islands of stuffed chairs and up the balcony stairs to the outreaching hallways of rooms.

Sometimes there are only a few off-season visitors, making lonely, moving shapes among the balcony lamps, leaving the building to dominate the night.

The Seigneurie Club built the chateau as a private retreat for the wealthy. It still dominates the now-public hotel, leaving ghosts in the high-backed chairs around the great fireplace and the newcomers to walk among the lighted chess tables of the balcony seeking visible signs of the legend of Montebello.

Guests have been startled in the dining room, where the young maitre d' has just the right touch of snobbery for those who come to dinner without a reservation. Diners are left in silence at the foot of the stairs when they come early for the 8:30 p.m. sitting.

THIS PIECE OF land, 80 miles from Ottawa, Canada's capital city, and 40 miles from Montreal first came into the history books as a seigneurie.

A seigneurie was a plot of land, and a trust, given by the king of France to a citizen of the new world, who used the king's authority to develop and colonize the area.

The seigneurie of La Petite Nation, named after the Algonkin tribe which lived there, was given to Bishop Lavall of Quebec and later sold to the Papineau family. It was the home of the famous Canadian rebel Louis Joseph Papineau, who once championed the French Canadian cause.

During the 1920s, the land and manor house were bought from the Papineau family by a promoter who planned a gigantic, exclusive private club built of logs. He had 10,000 western red cedar logs hauled by railway from western Le Chateau Montebello shows a facade conducive to contemplative feats like horseback riding or roaming on foot its 100-square-mile property.

Canada, before he was bankrupted by the Wall Street crash.

The Canadian Pacific Railway accepted the property in payment for the freight bill and completed the three huge buildings, four million cubic feet, in a record four months.

The legend is that first-night guests saw a sea of mud around them when they went to bed and woke the next morning to acres of landscaped grass.

The club remained one of the world's most exclusive hideaways, catering to politicians and businessmen from Canada and northwestern United States, until the Canadian Pacific converted the buildings to a public hotel in 1971.

Before then, you could not get past the gateman without a special pass. Nowadays you need advance reservations to take advantage of the special weekend packages which attract both couples and families from Ottawa and Montreal.

Sports there include golf, skeet and trap shooting, riding, swimming, tennis, archery, boating, curling, hunting and fishing in remote cabins on the 100-square-mile property, and cross-country skiing.

When the Canadian Pacific Hotels opened the chateau to the public they discovered a nice surprise among the cobwebs and the empty rooms. A famous skier called Jack Rabbit Johannsen, almost 100 years-old and still skiing, had created cross-country ski trails on the property years before. The trails were overgrown, but they found them easily with a plane and an infra-scanner that detects clearings in the bush.

Cross-country skiing is one of the world's oldest means of transportation, and one of the sport rages of North America.

Some people call it an old folks' sport, because you can go slowly and as short a distance as you wish. This hardly describes the 2,000 cross-country skiers who take part in the annual cross-country ski marathon held late every February along the 100-mile route between Ottawa and Montreal. The half-way point for the two-day marathon is the Chateau Montebello.

During the marathon, roads and trails to the log chateau are crowded with people, but most of the year you could drive past the gate without knowing it was there. It is on the road running north of the Ottawa River; most traffic drives on the south side.

The Canadian Pacific Railway takes you by a single, commuter-type rail car from either Montreal or Ottawa to the log station at the nearby town of Montebello, where most of the chateau's employees live.

Passers-by can stop for lunch or dinner in what is a true gourmet dining room. The nighttime dinner menu, which has no prices because it is included in your room price, offers several courses of international and French-Canadian cuisine, from pate and quiche through rack of lamb and coq au vin to petit fours and sugar pie Canadienne.

The true atmosphere of the place is only really found by loitering a while, climbing the hill to the manor house, visiting the old Papineau chapel, having tea or drinks by the lake, exploring trails, or going to a far corner of the property where the fish don't see many men.

Always, like a line pulling you back, you return to the room with the great fireplace where nighttime finds restless souls looking for the action.

There are guests who roam, stare at the flames, walk in pairs down the stairs to loud music and dancing. A few play cards or laugh together, but all come back again and again to face the great chimney, until eventually they are stilled by the true allure of Montebello — privacy and rest.

Find your own place around the great fire, or on a private balcony above, put your head back on a high-backed chair, and . . . relax.

Carnival time in St. Maarten

Carnival time soon returns to St. Maarten June 18 through July 2.

In a specially constructed Carnival Village, there will be hot, spicy West Indian food, steel orchestra competitions and a beauty contest.

Jouvert jump-up, meaning break of day, describes the spontaneous participation of all assembled in whatever is going on in the Carnival village or on Front Street in the tiny capital of Philipsburg. Jouvert jump-up takes place around 4 a.m. the last morning of Carnival.

The idea is literally to jump-up from whatever and take part in a renewed early morning round of merriment.

This final parade moves up Front Street with everyone taking part. Aside from the brightly colored floats, there are rolling stages on wheels for the many steel bands.

The culmination of Carnival is an event known as the burning of the Momo. Accompanied by a steel band, a dummy King of Carnival is carried on a flat-bed truck through the streets of Philipsburg to Carnival Village. There, amid pomp and ceremony, the Momo is burned to signify Carnival's end.

THE REST OF THE year's activities may not be as spectacular but there's still a lot to do.

Nightlife centers on the major hotels. Great Bay, Little Bay, Mullet Bay and the Concord all have casinos that feature roulette, blackjack or crap tables. For the less adventurous, there are slot machines.

The Concord's Club Royale has calypso, reggae and limbo dancers. Great Bay and Little Bay hotels feature local bands for the maybe-I'll-dance-just-a-bit folk.

There's piano music at the octagonal bar at the Caravanserai on Maho Bay, and for jazz enthusiasts, there's the Windmill Cafe in Philipsburg. Sweet tooth at the Mullet Bay Beach Hotel provides ice cream and piano music nightly.

Gus' Grotto carries on until the sun rises, as does the Last Tango Disco, an underground hangout below L'Escargot on Front Street. Further up Front Street, there's dancing at the Seaview Hotel.

Some St. Maarten hotels offer entertainment the same night as a barbeque or buffet, with steel bands, calypso groups, limbo dancers and fire-eaters.

From the mailbag...

THE TRAVERSE CITY area still should be a concentration of color with the blossoming of the sweet cherry and the red tart cherry trees, giving residents and tourists ample reason to celebrate the rites of spring. The cherry capital of the world produces more than 100 million pounds of the fruit annually.

Also, morel mushroom hunters are reporting outstanding finds in the area's backwoods, with the peak still about a few weeks away.

FORT MICHILIMACKINAC at Mackinac City and Fort Mackinac on Mackinac Island both opened their gates, recently. Their seasons run through mid-October. Some of the highlights at the forts include the completely restored French Guardhouse, French Trader's House, and Maritime Park, where reconstruction of the sloop Welcome is being completed. There is an aquarium in the park stocked with lake trout, bass, perch, brown and rainbow trout and lamprey eels, all found in Michigan waters. For information, write to Mackinac Island State Park Commission, Mackinac Island 49757.

CHARLEVOIX CENTENNIAL Celebration will run May 26-28, with a parade, re-enactment of the Battle of Pine River, horseshoe pitching contest, tug-of-war, water hose fight, raft race, and jail for men who fail to grow beards or mustaches for the festivity. For information, write Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, Charlevoix 49720, or call 1-616-547-2101.

MATRIX:MIDLAND returns to the land of Dow this summer and with it two special events — June 1, a UFO summit at 8:15 p.m. in the Midland Center for the Arts Auditorium, $7 or $10; and Aug. 16, music and merriment with the Northwood Symphonette with William Bolcom and Joan Morris, and Don Th. Jaeger conducting; $5. For the concert, lawns open at 5 p.m., concert at 7 p.m. on the Midland Center for the Arts garden terrace. 'Manhattan' looks at contemporary life with a sharp eye Woody Allen's film "Manhattan" seems to synthesize the intensity and seriousness of "Interiors" with the trendy and bittersweet humor of "Annie Hall." What has been omitted are the broader forms of comedy, the gaffes, the slapstick and the visual jokes.

"Manhattan" is much more cerebral. The comic core of the film rests entirely on the dialogue, probably the wittiest and sharpest of any Allen film.

Once again Woody, who directed the movie and co-authored the script with Marshall Brickman, is cast in a role that is a continuation of the Alvey Singer persona. He's a Jewish intellectual umbilically attached to The Big Apple.

As Isaac "Ike" Davis, he is an unemployed TV comedy writer who quit his lucrative job in a "self-destructive" moment. He is both romantic and realistic, neurotic and clear-headed.

IKE CIRCULATES within an over-sophisticated, over-analyzed group of friends among whom there is a constantly changing pattern of pairings and partings.

Ike is having an affair with Tracy (Mariel Hemingway), a 17-year-old girl "who does homework," he tells his friends. His ex-wife (Meryl Streep) has left him for another woman with whom she lives in a lesbian relationship.

Ike's best friend Yale (Michael Murphy), who has an "ideal" marriage with Emily (Anne Byrne), is having an extra-marital affair with Mary (Diane Keaton), a brittle, keyed-up writer who comes from Philadelphia and writes serious pieces about rock groups.

When the relationship between Yale and Mary deteriorates, Ike steps in and leaves Tracy for Mary, one in a series of regroupings and alignments which are always in flux.

As director, Woody again has demonstrated his ability to inspire and effectively utilize an excellent cast. Further, working with Gordon Willis' handsome black-and-white cinematography, he's put together a striking collage of New York City, measurably enhanced by a lush George Gershwin score played by the New York Philharmonic. The music is less a nostalgic touchstone than a pulsating wave capturing the rhythms of the city.

THE BLACK AND WHITE photography and the Gershwin melodies add a great deal of texture and zest to the didactic sparrings of the educated young professionals who are the regular customers of Woody's cultural cafeteria.

While the numerous and frank discussions about sexual hang-ups and prodigiousness will be clear to anyone, how many movie-goers will grasp references to Diane Arbus or even August Strindberg?

Perhaps the wide net Woody casts accounts for his great popularity and charm. He can explore universal themes of love and friendship and, at the same time, be devastatingly funny about esoteric and specialized subjects.

He seems to be developing a harsher, less compromising kind of comedy, which is still life-affirming and brilliantly funny. It includes metaphysical humor — man as the butt of a cosmic joke — and demonstrates Woody's uncanny ability to laugh at his own collection of cultural props (i.e., Ingmar Bergman, psychoanalysis).

"Manhattan" is a beautiful cinematic package where the wrappings and the contents complement each other. The places are as important as the people in what comprises a romantic comedy and a homage to the city.

Glimpses

NEW RELEASES

BOULEVARD NIGHTS (R). Authentic-looking drama about life in the barrio. Set in East Los Angeles.

CALIFORNIA DREAMING (R). More of that laid-back living in story about kids who make the California beach scene. Glynnis O'Connor and Seymour Cassel star.

THE CHAMP (PG). Good cast in remake of old tearjerker about a down-and-out boxer and his adoring son. Jon Voight and young Ricky Schroder are the touching twosome.

THE CHINA SYNDROME (PG). A gripping melodrama about an accident at a nuclear power plant and the potential danger. Jane Fonda is a television newscaster; Jack Lemmon's the plant engineer.

DAWN OF THE DEAD (Unrated). George Romero's zombies are the ultimate consumers in this gory, satirical sequel to his cult classic "Night of the Living Dead."

THE DEER HUNTER (R). An emotionally gripping and violent film about the lives of three friends from a small steel town as they are affected by the Vietnam war.

THE DREAMER (PG). Bowling version of the "Rocky" story. About as exciting as watching bowling on TV.

THE FIFTH MUSKETEER (PG). Your average swashbuckling tale with heroes, villains and court intrigue. Beau Bridges deftly handles dual role as nasty king and his noble twin.

HAIR (G). The counter culture musical of the '60s, directed by Milos Forman, comes to the screen with amazing vitality and musical energy — if a decade late.

THE HURRICANE (PG). Windy film about stormy love affair and lovely storm on Pago Pago. Mia Farrow and Dayton K'Ne are the drenched lovers.

THE INNOCENT (R). Luchino Visconti's last film. Stylish, sensual tale of tensions in upper-class Italian society at end of 19th century. Giancarlo Giannini, Jennifer O'Neill and Laura Antonelli are the principals.

A LITTLE ROMANCE (PG). Two talented young actors, Diane Land and Thelouis Bernard, in fresh, lighthearted love story set in Paris, Verona and Venice.

LOVE AT FIRST BITE (PG). Dracula goes disco dancing in funny, contemporary version with George Hamilton.

NORMA RAE (PG). Sally Field is outstanding in contemporary story of union organizing activities in southern textile mills.

PHANTASM (R). Orgy of scares in horror film about mortician who terrorizes two brothers.

THE SILENT PARTNER (R). Thriller about money and murder with Elliot Gould, Susannah York and Christopher Plummer. Steel yourself for shock ending.

WIFEMISTRESS (R). Erotic film with Marcello Mastroianni as a husband in hiding who watches his wife's sexual awakening.

Cultural Center opens for Wednesday night

The fifth annual May Odyssey in Detroit's Cultural Center is set for 6-9 p.m. Wednesday, May 23.

Over 16 cultural institutions will open their doors to join in the indoor/outdoor event. Woodward will be closed to traffic from 6:30 to 9 p.m. so visitors can enjoy a parade, antique fire engine runs, mime, dance, street theater performances, refreshments and live music.

Performances and exhibitions will include the annual showing of student work at the Center for Creative Studies, and gospel music by RH Positive, a student group, at the Main Library.

Children can watch magic and puppet shows and paint at the Children's Museum. The Detroit Science Center will be open with showings of its space film "Genesis." Other events include films and slide shows about Detroit and Michigan at the library.

Hepburn show rerun

A rerun of Dick Cavett's 1973 interview with Katharine Hepburn will be featured on "The Dick Cavett Show" over five consecutive evenings starting Monday, May 21.

The candid informal appearance will be broadcast in half-hour installments Monday through Friday at 11 p.m.

During her conversation with Cavett, Katharine Hepburn talks about her youth in New England, John Barrymore and other Hollywood stars of the '30s, the theater, her life, her career, her friendship with Spencer Tracy, Humphrey Bogart and other illustrious colleagues and friends.

In recalling his original encounter with Hepburn, Dick Cavett says, "Just because she is appealing in so many ways as a performer, I didn't see any reason to expect her to show all her charm, gusto and playfulness when she appeared on my show. But she did."

Much to L. J. Loophole's displeasure, Chef Jean Cosperec refuses to serve subpoenas at lunch or dinner.

He does, however, serve the most tantalizing dishes you can imagine. Or rather, he can imagine. Because each of his specials is his own creation. So you'll never taste it anywhere but here. Which is just how L. J. wants it.

As for culinary credentials, Chef Jean was voted 1977 Chef of the Year by the Chef's Club in Detroit. Strong evidence. But it's really your testimony we want.

Ask for a taste of Chef Jean's imagination. You won't be served a subpoena in return.

SUPERVISOR•DRAFTING DESIGN ENGINEERS ELECTRONICS DRAFTSPERSONS

They said it couldn't be done... but Numa•Logic did it. The reliability, power and design of our new line of programmable controllers and industrial control systems have placed our division on an exciting and aggressive growth curve. We invite you to become a part of our future.

DESIGN ENGINEERS-ELECTRONICS-Openings exist at several levels for Engineers to do digital design in hardware/software environment. A BS/MS EE and 2-5 years design experience is required. Should be familiar with current LSI and microprocessor technology as applied to real-time industrial control and I/O systems. Microprogramming experience desirable. The successful candidates will follow their design from prototype through the production phase while maintaining cost and schedule control.

SUPERVISOR-ELECTRONICS DRAFTING DEPARTMENT-The successful candidate will supervise ten electronics draftspersons in the layout and design of solid-state digital circuitry. Will be responsible for work scheduling, development of standards, and quality control of released documents. Will work closely with marketing, manufacturing and electronic laboratory people in maintaining effective product communications.

ELECTRONICS DRAFTSPERSONS-Openings exist at several levels for individuals experienced in drafting electronic schematics, parts layouts, wiring diagrams and sheet metal drawings. Requires a minimum of two years relevant experience.

A comprehensive range of personal benefit programs, competitive salaries commensurate with experience, and an opportunity for challenging professional and technical growth are a part of your Westinghouse Numa•Logic career.

Please send resume in confidence to:

SALESMEN OF THE MONTH

DARYL (FRENCHIE) DUBUC

DAN BROCKO

Meet FRENCHIE DUBUC (left) new car salesman and DAN BROCKO (right) used car salesman at BOB SAKS OLDSMOBILE. FRENCHIE and DAN were Salesmen of the Month for April in their respective sales units. FRENCHIE lives in Farmington with his wife Linda, and 2 children. Mr. DuBuc has distinguished himself as a sales leader in his one and 1/2 years with BOB SAKS OLDS. DAN, a relative newcomer to the Saks team, with an eight month tenure, is single and resides in Farmington Hills. DAN has 6 years experience selling and servicing customers. Bob Saks would like you to meet these two outstanding members of his professional sales team, so for the rest of May, he's offering a special discount to anyone asking for FRENCHIE or DAN.

Mercedes racer is loaned to Indianapolis museum

By TIM CARRICK

There will be a supercharged V8-powered Mercedes-Benz racing car in Indianapolis in time for the 500-mile classic May 27, but there's no way it will be in the 33-car field.

The 40-year-old machine, designated the W165, is on loan to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway museum from the Benz museum in Stuttgart, West Germany.

Only two W165s were built and they competed in just one race. The sister cars swept the first two places and created an interesting chapter of automotive history.

The event was the 1939 Grand Prix of Tripoli. The Italian race organizers changed the engine size limitation just eight months before the May race. Mercedes-Benz cars, with V-12 engines, had dominated competition for years, but the proven German powerplants weren't allowed under the new rules.

Italian manufacturers had smaller engines, and the organizers tailored the rules for them. The Mercedes-Benz engineers had to develop a completely new engine and a car for it within months. Engine development from concept to road usually takes years.

The V-8 they decided on was the first ever built by the German company. It had four overhead camshafts and two superchargers. The powerplant produced 256 horsepower from just 91.5 cubic inches of displacement.

The timetable for the race was tight: The main engineering drawings were finished in February, the first test runs were made in April and the cars loaded on a ship for North Africa in time to qualify 1-2 for the race in May.

Mercedes team drivers Hermann Lang and Rudolf Caracciola finished the race in the same order, running away from the pack.

World War II soon ended Grand Prix racing and the Tripoli race was never resumed. The only other time the two machines ran was in a race was an exhibition at the Nuernburg ring (racetrack).

But the outset of the fighting didn't let the sleek single-seater stop making history. The Germans, wanting to save the race cars, actually cemented them in a bunker in Stuttgart.

Caracciola, a avowed Nationalist, sat out the war in Switzerland. But the people at Benz promised the national hero a car to make the war years go by more quickly — and they decided to give him the walled-in Tripoli cars, one to drive, the second to use for parts.

The Benz mechanics had to transport the racers to the Swiss border, where Caracciola was supposed to pick them up, by night to avoid Allied bombs. They made the journey successfully, but Swiss authorities seized the cars at the border before the famed driver could take delivery.

Benz reacquired the cars several years after the war and saved them for the Stuttgart museum.

The second Tripoli car, the one in working condition, remains in Stuttgart.

It is the link with Caracciola, one of the greatest racing drivers in history, that has brought the W165 to Indianapolis. Dozens of trophies garnered by "Caratsch" in the '20s and '30s fill two floor-to-ceiling display cases near the entrance of the Speedway museum. It is here that the Tripoli car has come from Germany.

Caracciola never raced in an Indy 500, although he did try to qualify for the 1946 classic. He crashed in the time trials and never made the field.

The W165 at Indianapolis was insured for $125,000 for shipping purposes, but the car is actually irreplaceable.

Replacing an earlier Mercedes Grand Prix car from the Caracciola era, a 1937 W125 which had been on loan for two years, the W165 is scheduled to remain at Indy until the fall of 1980.

Mercedes-Benz has loaned this W165 racing car to the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Museum. The car is one of only two in existence.
