Police want 2-mill tax hike for operations

Canton Police Chief Jerry Cox says special assessment funding of his department will have to be increased from two to four mills in order to "handle the workload.'

Cox also maintains that it will take at least three mills just to maintain the status quo. In fact, the police department operated on two mills this year, with nearly an additional mill of revenues coming out of Canton Township's general fund.

Canton can raise the police millage without holding an election under laws governing special assessment millage.

Although officials say public hearings would be held prior to any action, approval of the Canton board is the sole requirement.

The special assessment millage to establish a full-time police department was approved by voters last year. The original budget for the department was $428,000. If the police department gets four mills, its budget will be close to $1

Cox's explaination of why his department needs more money came at a seminar devoted to assorted issues of concern to Canton residents.

The meeting was called last week by Supervisor Noel Culbert to get public reaction to subjects that are expected to come before the township board in the future. Many of the residents who attended the meeting indicated that they did not have got to have an increase. Our abiliobject to increased police millage if the additional costs could be justified.

ACCORDING to Cox, the Canton police department, even after recent additions to the staff, has a much lower ratio of officers per population than other communities.

Communities in the surrounding area have an average of 2.7 officers per 1,000 residents. Canton's average is .55 officers per 1,000 residents, Cox said.

The police chief said one of the additional mills would cover the money now coming from the general fund and merely keep the department at its present staffing level, To keep up with the township's growth, he wants six more officers and the establishment of a cadet program. The two additions would cost about one mill.

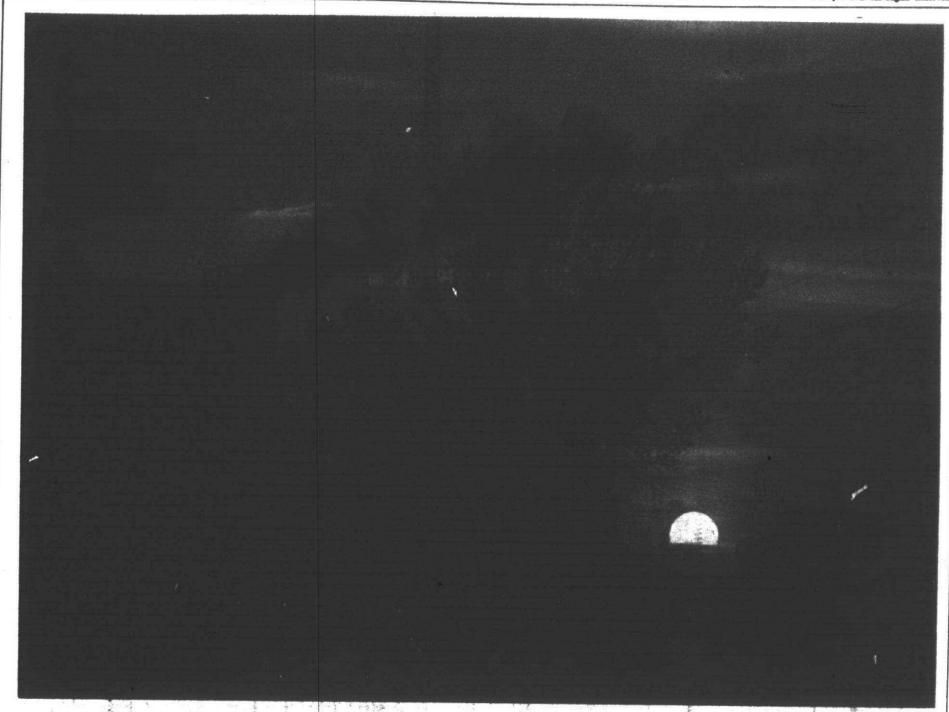

Based on Canton's SEV (State Equalized Valuation), one mill for special assessment purposes will generate about $318,000 in 1979.

According to Culbert, that sum is not Canton's actual SEV. "The actual SEV is more like $340,000, but, by law, we cannot levy on personal property for special assessments.

Cox said he realized residents did not want increased taxes.

"But the last thing I want to happen is, because I didn't have the guts to stand up and ask for more money, someone died waiting for a police car,"

"It's gotten to the point where we ty to handle the workload is not what it

The Observer Newspaper's second annual photo contest is here again and this time it's going to be child's

This year's theme is "The Year of the Child." The idea is to show what is special about growing up in the suburbs.

All you need to enter is a camera, some color slide film and a child or children engaged in some activity you think best typifies our theme.

You might find the right scene at one of the festivals being held throughout the Observer communities, at the beach or even in your own backyard.

If you already have the perfect slide, and it was taken between Sept. 17, 1978, and Sept. 17, 1979 (the deadline for entries), you can submit it.

Each contestant, who must be a resident of Canton Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Livonia, Westland, Garden City or Redford Township, may enter two slides.

The contest is open to only amateur photographers.

All entries become the property of Observer Newspapers and cannot be returned, so send us the original and have a duplicate made for yourself.

Following the Sept. 17 deadline, a panel of Observer reporters, photographers and editors will judge the entries and select the winners. The e winning photos will be published in color.

There will be a first place prize of $100, second place of $75, third place of $40 and three $10 honorable mentions awarded. All prizes will be in the form of gift certificates from World Camera, redeemable at outlets in Livonia, Birmingham, or Avon Township.

Entries should be submitted to: Photo Contest, Observer Newspapers, 461 S. Main, Plymouth, Mich. 48170. Please mark each slide with your name, address and phone number.

Rottenest sneakers wanted

So you think you have the grubbiest, grungiest sneakers in all of Canton? Would you challenge anyone to match the sheer scuzziness of your foot gear?

If the answers to the above questions are "yes," then you can put your tennies to test at Canton Township's first Rotten Sneaker Contest.

The contest, sponsored by the township parks and recreation department, will hold the judging beginning 4 p.m.

July 27 on the third floor of the township administration building.

The contest is open to all ages, with contestants asked to model their sneakers in front of a panel of judges. The rules are few: You must wear your sneakers (one pair to a contestant) and they must fit your foot. The shoes are supposed to be in their current nasty state through years of hard living, and not because of a quick beat them up campaign.

The winner will carry the title of "Rotten Sneakers of the Year" and will receive a new pair of shoes compliments of Canton Sprots and Racquets Unlimited. The winner will also be given a trophy symbolic of a rotten sneaker. Awards will also be given to the second and third place winners.

There is no fee to enter the contest.

For further information, call the recreation department at 397-1000.

Paulun says the fire department asked for a reinspection a few years back and finally got the results. The first fund-raiser, called a Jamboree by coordinator Gary Roberts. will be held from 6 p.m. to 2 a.m., Aug. 15 at Center Stage. Some 15 bands are scheduled to play, with admission set at $3. The second concert is set for noon until 2 a.m. at the UAW hall, with most of the same bands featured. Once again, the admission is $3, with children under 5 admitted free . Roberts said he and Jim Bridenthol of Bridenthol Construction are sponsoring the fund-raisers.

The Canton Township Board of Trustees Thursday night approved the spending of some $1.5 million from the water fund to pay for installation of several water mains, regulators and a meter pit. Pollution levels low out-county; standards met How's the air in western Wayne County?

"Generally pretty good," says Howard Murray, of the Wayne County Air Pollution Control Division. "You're in a better, much better condition of air quality than the downriver area, obviously.

The air in the western suburbs is "meeting all of the federal air quality standards," said Murray, the pollution control division's public information officer.

Pollution control, part of the county health department, measures air quality daily through 14 automatic monitoring stations, Murray explained. There are also 22 county air pollution inspectors.

THERE'S A station near Schoolcraft and Levan in Livonia and one along Cherry Hill Road in Westland. Seven of the stations are in Detroit.

Pollution control's downtown office gets readings from the various unmanned stations "every 15 minutes," Murray said. The monitoring network is tested twice every day at 8 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The stations keep track of "suspended particles" (dust and dirt), carbon monoxide, sulfur dioxide, nitrogen dioxide and ozone, Murray said. Their origins are automobile emissions, industrial and utility power plants.

The best example Murray could give of the western suburbs' good air quality was consistently low readings of dust and dirt. The federal quality standard for dust and dirt particles is 75 micrograms per cubic meter of air. Murray said readings for the out-county suburbs are "at or below 60 micrograms."

AIR POLLUTION is related to the concentration of people, vehicles and industry. "The denser these concentrations become, the greater the problem," Murray said.

Thus, western Wayne, with a mix of auto plants, lighter industry and scores of subdivisions, fares better than the industry glutted downriver area and downtown Detroit. Murray said he didn't think the 11/2-year-old Jeffries freeway through the western suburbs has adversely affected the air.

The air pollution reports heard on radio and televison come from Murray's office and are based on one reading downtown and whatever station is reporting the highest Air pollution is measured on a scale of 0-300, Murray said, with "100 or below the benchmark for air quality.

The county's been monitoring the air, based on federal standards, since the early 1970s.

According to Dorn, the rates have already been established. Fees are $5.95 a month for the economy package with 12 channels and $7.95 a month for the basic package that includes all services except a movie option.

The economy movie package will run an additional $5.95 a month and will feature four to five new movies rated "G" or "PG." The movies will be repeated several times. The full movie package, priced at $7.95 a month, will feature 18 to 20 new movies rated at "G," "PG" or "R."

Subscribers who want more than one cable TV outlet will be charged additional fees of a few dollars a month.

OTHER CONCESSIONS made by Omnicon include an agreement to establish a citizens committee that will review the type of programming that is

The committee will be formed with representatives of township government, the school systems, sports organizations and other groups once 35 percent of eligible Canton residents sign subscriptions.

A business office will be located in Canton to enable residents to file complaints or make suggestions about the cable system.

Omnicon's original proposal called for local origination channels that would air governmental meetings from the Canton, Plymouth and Northville communities.

But Dorn said that his firm has agreed to Canton's demand for "discreet" local channels. Under the agreement between Omnicon and the township, three channels will be made available for the airing of Canton governmental meetings. The programs will not be broadcast beyond Canton's borders without the express consent of the township board.

The base fare covers travel through two zones.

A SEMTA spokeswoman said the increased fares will raise $500,000 more operating revenue and allow the transportation authority to "maintain its current ratios of revenue to cost."

The new fares will put a one-way commuter rail trip from Birmingham to Detroit at $1.15. The trip on bus will

Music fills summer evenings in the park

The summer concert series at Kellogg Park attracts residents from the entire Plymouth-Canton community. It only takes close friends or family, a blanket or lawn chair to make the evening complete. Pictured directing the Plymouth Community Band is Carl Battishill.

All roads lead to Kellogg Park on a Thursday evening during the band concert series.

The audience provides its own seating accommodations, hauling hundreds of lawn chairs and blankets to the park. Babes in arms, toddlers to teenagers to senior citizens gather to hear the Plymouth Community Band.

It's an evening for consuming ice cream cones, meeting neighbors and old friends, relaxing and listening to the good music emanating from the open air band stand.

The community band is under the direction of Carl' Battishill, associate band director at Plymouth-Canton High School.

The musicians are research scientists, teachers, computer programmers, engineers, students, retirees, farmers, sales persons and accountants. There is a chiropractor, a delivery man, an auto body repairman and a glass blower.

Drawn together by their love of music, they can play anything — jazz, show tunes, Dixieland, the classics and stirring marches.

LAST WEEK'S concert opened with Bowles' "Marching the Blues" followed by "A Tribute to Glenn Miller," "Take Five," "Dusty Trombone," "Artistry in Boogie" and tunes from Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story."

After intermission, a Dixieland group, members of the band, played "South" and "Dardenella."

The full band returned to stage for "12th Street Rag," "Lullaby of Birdland" and "An Ellington Portrait."

They'll be back at 8 p.m. Thursday, July 26 for another concert in the park.

The Flip Side by craig piechura

Cute trick wearing thin

Almost everybody had to chuckle when insurance salesman Barry Bremen slipped undetected into the pre-game warm-up drill of the National Basketball Association all-star game in the Silverdome last February.

The attention was understandable. With one easy layup, the Southfield businessman fulfilled a pipe dream of many backyard basketball players. Frustrated jocks from coast to coast got a vicarious thrill from those few short moments Bremen was able to pass himself off as a pro in practice.

The imposter joke was still funny when we found the latter-day Walter Mitty playing golf in the U.S. Open last month in Toledo.

We cheered when we heard he parred the first two holes before falling to pieces with a triple bogey

But I wasn't overjoyed upon hearing that the great imposter had surfaced again in Seattle last week during the 50th Major League Baseball All-Star

His appearance was no surprise to this newsroom. The week before we got a call at the paper from the Seattle Mariners press office asking if we'd sent a guy named Barry Bremen out west to cover the contest for the "Southfield Observer." Nice try, wrong name, Barry. But he managed to fool somebody with phony "International News Service (INS)" credentials.

Enough's enough, Bremen. I don't want to have to do another feature story a year from now on the local imposter who crashes the curling matches in Saskatoon. I mean this guy is running out of professional sports stars to impersonate.

After hearing from Bremen on the crashing the game, I groaned when I heard he was successful again. I knew full well I'd have to write another account of Bremen's "Walter Mitty-like" impersonation of a major league all-

It's "a natural feature story," but why encourage such antics in print? However, I must be in the minority. The Bremen saga is largely a mediaengineered event. And media attention shows no signs of abating. Channel 7 sports editor Al Ackerman carried the latest imposter stunt as the lead item on last Tuesday night's sports report.

NBC sportscaster and author Dick Schaap never fails to air Bremen's escapades on television shows such as the Today Show, the Tonight Show and NBC Sportsworld. In fact, it was the TV production crews who helped Bremen gain access to the field and wired him for sound once he got there by putting microphones in his specially-made uniform.

Last Thursday I got a call from a chap named Leon Freilich, reporter for a tabloid called "The Star," sold in supermarkets throughout this country of ours. Freilich wanted to know if the Southfield Eccentric knew of "this true eccentric" Barry Bremen.

Like most reporters on the staff of sensationalistic publications, Mr. Freilich was veddy English. He also knew nothing about baseball, wondering who the Yankees were playing in this allstar game. I gave him Bremen's work number, figuring that anybody who seeks publicity as much as Bremen wouldn't mind being hounded by the tabloid tattlers.

Only local sportscaster Dave Diles gave Bremen a shot for overdoing it. Bremen didn't dig the dig.

"IT'S FUN for the players too." Bremen says in defense of his imposter phone and wishing him good luck in antics. "I wouldn't do it when a guy's about to make a crucial putt or try it in the final game of the World Series. This was just a game and I didn't interfere with the play. So it doesn't matter to me what some of the news guys like Dave Diles say. I got 99 percent good vibrations from the thing. There are always people who'll say something or are always sarcastic about everything.'

Talk is cheap but Bremen's stunts aren't. In the latest adventure, he had a Yankee uniform specially tailored to fit him, flew to Seattle and helped pay a freelance camera crew to record his

The $50 fine slapped on Bremen by the Seattle judge for criminal trespassing must have been small change to this West Bloomfield sports zealot. Bremen said he wouldn't have even have showed up for the arraignment if he didn't want his uniform back, which police had confiscated.

One of the reasons he wanted the uniform back is that it was worn during the game by New York Yankee rightfielder and candy bar namesake Reggie Jackson. Jackson forgot to bring his uniform with him for the all-star game and Bremen's uniform was pressed into service after Bremen was arrested on the dugout steps.

It was all worth it, to hear Bremen.

"The players were all absolutely fantastic toward me," he said. "I'm with the all stars of the game and here they are excited about seeing me, the imposter. I was of interest to them. They put me in a sauna to hide me from the Secret Service when Gerald Ford visited the American League squad. Every 15 minutes they'd come back to check on me. There was like a camaraderie with me and the players."

I know how it must feel to hobnob with the sports elite. I met Detroit Tiger third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez a couple weeks ago when I went to the game with his optometrist. I'll never forget the words he left us with.

"Hey, Doc, don't forget my wife's sunglasses. Remember, Saturday, the sunglasses. Hokay, Doc?'

Being that close to greatness leaves one understandably in awe.

Daniel's Den

By Emory Daniels

What's for taxpayers?

Plymouth Township has a nice problem a lot of municipalities would like

It has a surplus of about $300,000 give or take $20,000. And the board cannot agree on what to do with the Earlier there were a lot of ideas about budgeting the surplus for capitol improvements, such as the new township hall facilities in the Teledyne Building, improvements at the recreation site or at the golf course.

Those ideas were merely tossed about for awhile because the board wasn't sure of the exact amount of the surplus. Now that it knows, another option has cropped up to make the decision more difficult.

And that option is to spend the money on an operating expense during the coming budget year only - mainly, to pay for the expanded police services to be provided by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

THE MAJORITY of the board, at its last meeting, decided to re-allocate the current surplus into the upcoming fiscal year operating budget to pay the bill for expanded police protection.

To the majority, that must have seemed like a wise thing to do from a politcal standpoint because it avoided the need - for this year at least - to ask voters to approve millage to pay

While negotiations with the sheriff were going on, the assumption had been to seek voter approval for added millage in a special Sept. 11 election.

Instead, the majority of trustees voted to cancel the plans to ask voters for millage approval and instead spend the $300,000 surplus for police protec-

More recently, however, the supervisor discovered that this strategy may not work. While working on the upcoming township budget, he discovered a shortfall in operating funds which will edly, he plans to ask the board to go ahead with its earlier plans to seek voter approval for the police millage.

If voters approve the police millage, the supervisor reasons, then the upcoming budget can balance and whatever is left of the surplus can be spent on capitol improvements - such as the township hall, recreation site, or golf

The original issue, then, will return to the full board to be aired again.

IN CONSIDERING the issue, a lot of weight should be given to what is fair for taxpayers. After all, it's their money and their best interests should be paramount.

If the $300,000 was paid into township coffers by taxpayers in one year, than it would be fair and just to let the money pour out of the coffers during the coming year. That way all those who paid would have a reasonable chance of receiving a benefit.

After all, that's the basic justification behind any government's authority to tax its residents — that a benefit will be received from the taxes paid. If no benefit is received, than the justification to tax is questionable.

The problem with the $300,000 sur- relevant to how it should be spent). plus is that it was generated over a period of years - three, four, five years funds, when they reach a point where or more. Thus some of the taxes which generated the surplus were paid by er contingencies, ought to be spent for taxpayers living in the township three, capitol improvements. > Is it not fairer to use the $300,000 collected from past and present taxpayers to pay for facilities which will benefit present and future taxpayers? If the money is spent on the park, for instance, all present and future taxpayers will receive a benefit

But money spent on police protection will, be consumed in one year in such things as salaries, benefits, gasoline, etc., and will not be available for use the following year. That is the basic difference between operating and capitol expenses - are they consumed in one year alone or will the consumption extend over a period of years?

Those expenditures which buy benefits which can be consumed over a period of years are called capital expenditures, or capital improvements. It's that simple - there's really no mystery about capital budgeting and the justification for capital spending.

I don't now much about the supervisor's latest run through the budget and the conclusions he reached. I don't know the know the specific details about how the surplus was generated (although how it came to be isn't that

Last week, a sort of traveling black plague swept five Michigan cities. It was a fact-finding group out to test the waters of public opinion on two varying methods of gas rationing. Something has to be done about gas lines and fossil fuel panics, and since I don't think my personal plan stands much chance of running the gauntlet of oil lobbyists, maybe rationing is a realistic answer. pump no longer runs dry.

Two things, it seems to me, are at work here. First, Americans waste incredible amounts of energy. Second, a gasoline shortage in America is stupid, and will remain so for at least 10 more years.

This country is the world's primary consumer of crude oil, but it is also the second largest producer of crude oil. Something screwy is going on when, as was the case earlier this year, oil imports are up while gasoline supplies are down and oil company PR flaks mumble something about Iran. I also don't understand the logic of restricting oil imports - if oil really is in short supply, whose oil do you want to use up first? Ours, or theirs?

As a practicing member of the dental profession, I am chagrined at the question-and-answer column by the retired Dr. Joseph DeFrancesco which appeared Monday, July 2, in the Canton Observer. The explanations he gives there are basically inexplicit and ambiguous, and the one specific statement he makes is false.

Calcium deficiency does not cause dental caries in the aged any more than it does in pregnant women. The cause of dental decay is a bacterial plaque on

Bowes feel tuition crunch — 5 times

The Bowe family of Plymouth Township experienced its first "milestone" of sorts almost 10 years ago.

It was in the early '70s that Joan and Donald Bowe packed up the family car and dropped off their eldest child at Eastern Michigan University.

Like most parents in that situation, they felt the tender pangs of watching a child grow up and go away.

For the Bowes that experience hasn't passed, although it may have mel-

Now, almost a decade since their daughter Ann enrolled in college, the Bowes' have four college bound children - at the same time.

Ann, 25, is a third year law student at Marquette University in Wisconsin. Gail, 21, is a recent recreation graduate from Northern Michigan University with plans for graduate study.

Jane, 18, will be a freshman at Western Michigan University in the fall. She is considering the studying dietetics.

Peter, 23, has re-enrolled at Wayne State University. He'll be a junior in fine arts in the fall.

John, 20, will be a freshman at Eastern Michigan and may study business.

YOU MIGHT SAY there's been a lot of coming and going in the Bowe house-

And how do the parents take it?

"Generally, we try to touch bases with the kids while they're away at school - about once a week by phone," Mrs. Bowe says. "It's important for us to talk to the kids."

All five students are graduates of Plymouth Salem High School. Youngest daughter, Sara, will be a junior at the high school this fall.

Mrs. Bowe adds that attending college has become a way of life. By the time her first daughter enrolled in school, Mom completed her own college training. Mrs. Bowe works at a physical therapist and as a part time instructor in special education at Eastern Michigan University. Her husband

IN ADDITION TO those frequent long-distance phone calls, Joan and Donald Bowe also have sent their share of Easter baskets over the years.

But the best "care package" for a college student is "always money," Mrs. Bowe admits.

Since the first daughter enrolled in school, Mrs. Bowe has noticed a change in the college campus atmosphere.

"When I think of what it was like having a daughter start college in 1971 after the protests, it kind of shook you up a bit," she recalls. "Students are more low-keyed now. I think there is less anger.'

And for daughter Jane, Mrs. Bowe is sure adjustment will come more easily

Merit Changes Smoking.

Enriched Flavor'cigarette sparks whole new taste era in low tar smoking.

Not too long ago, smokers believed that if a cigarette had less tar, it had less taste too. Low tar cigarettes simply didn't taste very good.

Then along came MERIT and a whole new taste idea called 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. And in three short years, smoking changed:

- 1. No other new cigarette in the last 20 years has attracted so many smokers as quickly as MERIT!
- 2. MERIT has swept past over 50 other brands in record time.
- 3. MERIT is continuing to attract high tar smokers—the most taste-conscious smokers of all!

It's clear: MERIT taste is changing attitudes toward low tar smoking.

Uniformity needed for Adray baseball

What is the state of the Livonia

Adray Baseball League? The opinion in this area seems to

The league is down to five teams

- Griffin Sports Shop, Livonia Adray, Westland, Redford and Wendy's of Livonia.

On one occasion, Redford had trouble fielding enough players. It has occurred more than once with the Westland team.

The league has produced some good teams over the years but never a champion at the prestigious All-American Baseball Association (AABA) tournament in Johnston, Pa.

The Detroit Adray League has produced numerous champions, mainly because of its unlimited boundaries. The Detroit teams can recruit players anywhere in the country. A pitcher from the Big Eight League is not uncommon.

The Livonia Adray League requires residency. Last year it allowed four non-resident players. This season it allows seven. Teams such as Griffin and Livonia Adray must have at least eight residents from Livonia on their respective Garden City once had a team but forfeited itself out last season. A team from Farmington participated many years ago and Redford Adray, currently in fourth place, dominated the league for many years when coached by Bob Atkins, now Redford Union athletic director.

A team from the Plymouth-Canton community may come a reality next year. It's a growing community with a number of qualified players.

"WE INCREASED the number of outsiders on each roster this year to improve ourselves in the national tourney," said Stu Rose, Livonia Parks and Recreation athletic supervisor.

"It takes a strong manager who is willing to go out and recruit. We've tried to get teams from Garden City and Plymouth but it didn't work out this year.

"We want to have six strong teams. Birmingham Lynch has inquired about joining the league next year and maybe a team will come out of Plymouth. "I'm pretty confident all five teams will be back."

Roger Frayer, now athletic director at Livonia Stevenson and coach of second place Griffin, is disillusioned with the league.

"This could be my last year," he said. "I didn't like the entire philosophy change.

"I've been to Johnstown and I think we're at a disadvantage. I have a good sponsor and our uniforms and equipment are second to

"But I'm not in favor of more outsiders and I don't think Livonia can support three quality teams. The talent is diluted somewhat.

"I don't enjoy calling kids and get involved in a recruiting skirmish. I don't like calling a kid in February and telling him he can play first Frayer said the sponsors and coaches were never consulted about increasing the number of outsiders from four to seven. He said it doesn't make that much difference when you are playing at Johnstown.

"This year is not as strong," Frayer said. "This is the least emotional ball club I've had."

Ron Hellier, who coached Griffin before Frayer and who is the coach of Livonia Adray, said "things will look better in the future.

"I like the seven outsiders instead of four," said Hellier, an athletic director at Belleville and former Livonia Franklin coach

"I know of two pretty good teams who inquired about playing this year. It was just the case of entering a little too late.

"This year it's been all right because more kids (in Livonia) got to play. I guess the talent on some teams is not what it was but I think it's better for the national tourna-

"I don't mind going out and recruiting players. There are enough athletes our there." Hellier said the league "doesn't look better overall but next year it should be stronger.' "To start a team you need a good sponsor and a growing community. Garden City is losing kids but Plymouth will continue to grow."

Atkins, who coached varsity football and baseball at Redford Union. now directs the defending national champions out of the Detroit Adray League - Adray Appliance.

"I HAD SOME TREMENDOUS teams while coaching Redford." said Atkins. "I had some excellent young men and while I was coaching. Redford Union and Thurston were at the top at the time."

"I really enjoy the competitiveness of the Detroit Adray League. I still have the little boy in me. A sponsor is a big thing. We play 40 games including exhibitions.

"I like the Detroit League because it is a challenge. It's produced eight national champs in the last 15 years. There is no finer tournament around. "I think a strong league begins with good administration," said (Continued on page 3B) By BRAD EMONS

The Plymouth Elks won a must game Thursday evening and sent the Redford Adray Connie Mack Baseball League into a quandary.

Plymouth used the mercy rule to beat Canton Little Caesars in five innings, 11-0.

Going into weekend action, Caesars leads the league with a 13-5-1 mark. Plymouth is 10-5. On position day Saturday, Plymouth was to have played Southfield in a double header while Canton tangled with Farmington.

The Elks have games to make up and was declared the third place team for position day behind Farmington based on total points.

Thursday's game was the last meeting between Canton and Plymouth. The Elks won the series, 3-2.

"I wish we could have played the Elks because I believe we're the two best teams in the league," said Canton coach John Gravlin. A win would have put Canton in the driver's seat but the Elks seem to be alive and kicking after the surprisingly

"We were more in the game tonight," said Elks coach Brian Gilles. 'We're mentally into some games more than others. "Tonight the ball had eyes."

TWO CANTON infield errors to start the game led to two unearned runs.

Paul Woodard and Paul Dillon reached base on the consecutive errors. Sam Merrill, Plymouth's leftfielder, drove home the first run and first baseman Jim Anderson slapped home the second off Canton starter Brian James. We gave them opportunities right off the bat," Gravlin said. "We just didn't come ready to play. In the second inning, Plymouth collected three more runs off James to take a 5-0 lead. Chris Hannan reached base on a bunt single and Dillon walked. Merrill then greeted James with a line-shot homer

James left the game in third inning and was replaced by Pat McNamara who held Plymouth scoreless in the fourth inning but was plagued by the error bugaboo in the fifth. With the help of two infield errors and five singles, Plymouth tallied five runs to take a commanding 11-0 lead.

Meanwhile, Elks pitcher Doug Holloway, throwing an effective curve ball, held Canton in check on just two singles in his five inning stint.

"Doug wasn't ready to pitch at the beginning of the season but he threw a real fine game tonight," said Gilles.

Holloway, a student at Michigan State, did not play baseball in the spring, joining the Salem players in early June for the summer Mack sea-

He struck out eight and did not walk a batter to gain the victory.

Youngsters advance to state meet

90 participate in Canton event

Canton Commons playground captured the first Junior Olympics title Thursday night at Centennial Education Park sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Over 90 participants from 12 playgrounds took part in various track and field events.

The winners are now eligible to compete in the State Junior Olympic Championships on Thursday, July 29 at Metro Beach Metropark, Mt. Clemens. Over 3000 athletes from around the state will be represented.

"The performances of the young athletes were very good and we hope to have a fine group representing the township in the state meet," said program coordinator Bob Dates.

The final park standings were as follows: Canton Commons, 48; Windsor, 44; Canterbury Mews, 43; Willows, 36; Fiegal, 27; Griffin Park, 15; Carriage Hills, 15; Wagon Wheel, 9; Pickwick, 6.

One of the meet's outstanding performances was put on by Scott Bublin in Class A (14-15 years old).

To recall "The Good Old Days," the members of the association will offer bowling for 25 cents a line, compared to the 85 cent charge for summer bowling, and they'll offer hot dogs (with mustard) for 25 cents, compared to the 80 cents now charged in most places.

It is expected that about 20 tons of hot dogs will be consumed during the promotion, as many of the bowlers are now planning to bring their families for lunch on the Friday and Sunday.

Because there are about 100 establishments in the metro area, it is figured that the 20-ton goal is not too much to expect. The teaming of hot dogs and bowling is unusual, but on this occasion, it appears to be an ideal combination.

ALTHOUGH SHE CARRIES only a 105 average at Woodland Lanes, Denise Ewidk was one of the happiest bowlers in the area when she finished her stint in the ladies' league.

She had put together games of 128, 123 and 118 for a 364, which is 49 pins above her average.

Others in her group that did well were Chris Hoard, a 106 bowler, who fired a 151 and 142 in a 401 series and Carol Gilles, with a 119 average, who

In the men's league, Doug Bush, with a 140 average, put together games of 179, 158 and 126 for a 463.

SALLY WOLFE wrote her name boldly into the records of the Wednesday league at Garden Lanes. As the season ended, she had high game with a 234 and high series with a 559.

THE BOWLERS in the Monday Morning Men's League at Westland put on a great show in their last outing.

When the final pin fell, Jerry Segal was out in front with 617 that included games of 222 and 208.

The real battle came for second place where Jerry Maisano beat Jim Mijal by one pin.

He had games of 200 and 222 in his 580 and Mijal barely bettered double century figures with counts of 201 and 204 in 579. Tony Morales landed fourth with a 202 in 566.

MONTE ONCZA, one of the most enthusiastic bowlers and promoters in the area, has reason to smile these days.

From all appearances, his Little Caesar League at Westland Bowl will have its full quota of teams when the season opens. But Monte, who organized the league, is stlll hopeful that he can attract two more women's teams to bowl with the men.

He started with two women's teams last season and would like to better that number this season for the simple reason that having a mixed league stirs

Atkins. "With strong leadership at the top it can be a sound league (Livonia). Give Stu Rose a chance."

The problem with the Livonia league and its lack of interest this season may not be with the administration.

It appears that the Detroit Adray League and other powerhouses from Baltimore (Md.), New Orleans and Washington D.C. have dictated the state of affairs in the Livonia league.

Teams from the Detroit Adray League have unlimited boundaries and require no residency. Players are given jobs if needed when coming from outstate.

More outsiders create less rivalries. The Redford-Griffin games always drew more fans out to Ford Field. A few strong teams from outside Livonia would improve the quality and draw more interest.

A team from the Plymouth-Canton community, with the right players, could create a great rivalry with a team from Livonia.

George Yakel, coach for 10 years in Westland, pulled out this season because he didn't have enough players. Several good Westland players opted for the Detroit Adray League.

A concentrated effort must be made by the Livonia Parks and Recreation Department to not lose players out of places like Redford, Garden City and Westland.

I'd like to see the AABA have the same rules for all the teams who play at Johnstown, whether it be unlimited boundaries or some type of residency requirement.

A team that draws players from all over the nation has a distinct advantage come tourney time.

The whole process in the Detroit and Livonia leagues should be scrutinized carefully.

Latest Eastwood movie protrays drab prison life

Since movies about prison life always seem to be around ("The Longest Yard," "Short Eyes," "On the Yard," etc.), there must be an audience for them — people who find these movies enormously entertaining. I am not one of them.

Prison films, as a category, are low on my list of preferences. Even so, I find "Escape from Alcatraz" (PG) a film I can admire if not entirely enjoy.

It is expertly crafted. Everything fits together as precisely, as the parts of a Jaguar engine. Don Siegle's taut direction is a marvel of economy that welds the stark location (Alcatraz), low-key lighting, purdent photography and terse dialogue into a lean effective melodrama. The impact results from this singular matchup of form (the elements of production) and content (the story).

BASED ON A true event, the film features Clint Eastwood as Frank Morris who, with two accomplices, became the only prisoners ever to escape from Alcatraz, the former maximum security Federal penitentiary.

Siegel and Eastwood have worked together five times, and the director is credited with those films recognized as Eastwood's best, including "Coogan's Bluff" and "Dirty Harry." The current film is no exception to their successful record and is a decided improvement over Eastwood's last effort ("Every Which Way But Loose") in which he was outacted by an orangutan.

In "Escape from Alcatraz," Siegel uses the Eastwood mannerisms to maximum advantage. The steely stare, the squint, the calculated moves, the existential loneness — all work toward reinforcing the sense of strength and inner resolve of the character.

The dialogue is sparingly but precisely parcelled out. Like the photography, it only reveals what is necessary to move things along, without being either skimpy or superfluous.

FROM MORRIS' first encounter with the tough, egotistical warden (Patrick McGoohan), who takes a peacock pride in running an escape-proof prison, the film inexorably proceeds through the stages of formulation, planning, preparation and escape. The climax and denouement actually constitute the weakest part of the film, but fortunately they only account for the last 10 minutes.

During this progression, Siegel touches on every convention of the prison film: The spoon stolen from the cafeteria, the homosexual bully, the dehumanization, the "old" prisoner with a hobby, the prisoner with a pet, the racial tension.

It is all quite familiar, but neither boring nor grim. The capable cast, crisp direction and finely honed script make a high-class entertainment package.

"Escape from Alcatraz" wasn't intended as meaningful social drama. Nevertheless, it effectively conveys the drabness and monotomy of prison life and the effort it takes to remain human.

Climpses

Peter Falk (left), and Alan Arkin star as mismatched future relatives in "The In-Laws."

NEW RELEASES

ALIEN (R). Hair-raising, sci-fi horror film about alien life form that terrorizes the crew of a space ship.

BLOODLINE (R). Relatives trying to bump off pharmaceuticl heiress constitute a bitter pill in placebo version of Sydney Sheldon's best seller.

BUTCH AND SUNDANCE: THE EARLY DAYS (PG). "Pre-quel" to the successful hit. Tom Berger and William Katt are paired off as the rascally robbers in their salad days.

THE DEER HUNTER (R). An emotionally gripping and violent film about the lives of three friends from a small steel town as they are affected by the Vietnam war.

ESCAPE FROM ALCATRAZ (PG). Clint Eastwod and director Don Siegel team up again to create a tense, taut drama from the conventions of the prison-escape film.

THE FIFTH MUSKETEER (PG). Your average swashbuckling tale with heroes, villains and court intrigue. Beau Bridges deftly handles dual role as nasty king and his noble twin.

HAIR (G). The counter culture musical of the '60s directed by Milos HAIR (G). The counter culture musical of the '60s, directed by Milos Forman, comes to the screen with amazing vitality and musical energy — if a decade late.

THE IN-LAWS (PG). Hilarious comedy with Peter Falk and Alan Arkin as near-relatives who not only plan a wedding but ripoff the U. S. Mint.

THE LAST EMBRACE (R). Bizarre, tension-filled mystery is stylishly filmed, but burdened with hopelessly complicated plot.

THE LAST WAVE (PG). Offbeat mystery from Australia when lawyer (Richard Chamberlain) encounters the occult as he delves into aborigine culture.

LOST AND FOUND (PG). George Segal and Glenda Jackson are paired again in romantic comedy about a "fractured" couple who meet in the Swiss Alps and decide to yodel on through life together. LOVE AT FIRST BITE (PG). Dracula goes disco dancing in funny, contemporary version with George Hamilton.

THE MAIN EVENT (PG). Barbra Steisand is a perfume manufacturer who manages a retied boxer, Ryan O'Neal, in comedy about the fight MANHATTAN (R). The inhabitants are somewhat frayed, but the Big Apple looks glorious in Woody Alllen's witty peek at the pairings and partings among New York literati.

Disco queen sparks Pine Knob

By JOANNE DIMATTEO

Donna Summer, the queen of disco, sparkled at Pine Knob Wednesday night, turning a glittery stage into a fairyland atmosphere.

Looking like a princess in a bouffant gown, Miss Summer made her entrance on stage from a high flight of stairs surrounded by sparkling colored lights

Miss Summer opened at Pine Knob with "Once Upon a Time," from her LP of the same name. She was accompanied by three female singers and a whole orchestra, bringing a pure disco sound to the audience, while the audience heard many of their favorite tunes, old and new.

Costume changes punctuated the show. She wore a long, black, sequined dress to sing more of her favorites, including a touching rendition of "The Way We Were." Miss Summer left the stage again while the orchestra played the beginning of "Love to Love You Baby," as the audience anticipated her return. She appeared for the song in a red glittery dress with clouds of smoke coming up around her.

Miss Summer's strong voice seemed unreal at times, as it carried out into the crowd. But her talent was evident. Her versatile act, ranging from disco to soft music, demonstrated how wide her talents range. Review

Miss Summer often talks to her audience, bringing them into her act, making her performance as casual as it is spectacular. She told the large crowd "and if you want to dance around, I don't care," which drew many cheers from the packed house at the Pine Knob amphitheater.

While Miss Summer sang "Last Dance" from the movie "Thank God It's Friday," the audience joined in singing and dancing. The song won an Academy Award and also won a Grammy Award for Miss Summer's version of Paul Jabara's song.

Miss Summer ended the show with her own version of "MacArthur Park," a popular song recorded by Richard Harris about 10 years ago.

Ever since Miss Summer hit the charts with "Love to Love You Baby" in 1975, she has had an incredible influence on what is now called disco music. Each album following that success single has demonstrated just how talented this lady can Sharing the bill was Brooklyn Dreams, a New York trio that has been working with Miss Summer. The group was accompanied by six musicians and entertained with disco-type songs.

Miss Summer, along with Brooklyn Dreams portraying male roles, sang her most recent hit, "Hot Stuff," in a gold tiger print dress.

Donna Summer was born Donna Gaines in Boston, Mass. In 1968 she went to Germany to play in the German production of "Hair." She worked on the German stage for eight years. Miss Summer married Austrian actor Helmut Sommer, but the marriage ended after her success with "Love to Love You Baby." She then moved to California with her daughter Mimi, and changed the spelling of her name

Her subsequent albums include, "A Trilogy of Love," followed by "Four Seasons of Love," "I Remember Yesterday," "Once Upon a Time," "Live and More" and her most recent, "Bad Girls."

Sculpture to enjoy from the car is the brainchild of Mildred Friedman who has been innovating through art most of her life. These are colorful and easily seen from either side of Telegraph.

Sculptor lines up her troops

When the new west side section of Telegraph, south of 13 Mile opens, drivers will be treated to some unusual

On her property that borders the new road, Mildred Friedman has constructed 37 wood sculptures that she likes to call "my troops." Brightly painted, each one in the row stands as an individual achievement, different from the others, but still part of the attractive

Rather than found sculpture, Mrs. Friedman's troops are more scrap sculpture or challenge sculpture.

For many years, the artist, painter, sculptor and fiber worker, has been buying from one lumber yard. She asked if she could collect and carry away the scraps at the end of the week. That's what the 37 sculptures are made of, the odds and ends of the lumber vard. But, they work very well, because Mrs. Friedman is a trained artist and art teacher who can put the pieces together with a flair and a balance that is

IN ONE, SHE EVEN USED a small discarded window frame and even added a hint of a roof over it.

She walked down the 100 foot row of the works, which she started about February, and said, "I feel mopey because it's all over.'

The project began when she was looking for new challenge. Mrs. Friedman is the type of artist who likes to move on once she has pursued one idea or one medium in depth. Consequenty, she's an inveterate experimenter — a person who enjoys departing from the traditional.

She built the outdoor sculptures, one by one, in her studio at 16909 Livernois in Detroit. When the idea to glue them together didn't work, she switched to nails. Each was transported to the back yard of the Franklin home in the back of a station wagon. Each also was given a coat of paint in the vard - red. blue, yellow, black or white. Just to add to the fun, there's one dark green one in the middle of the row and a blue-purple

Mr. Friedman helped his artist-wife by taking over the responsibility of anchoring them securely to two by fours under ground.

"THEY'RE MY PEOPLE," Mrs. Friedman said. "The people working on the road come over and ask me what these things are that look like people."

She thought for a moment and then added, "I still believe that while they are fun, they are good forms and good design. I'm a compulsive worker and I do a lot of work quickly.'

Not only is she a compulsive and prolific worker, Mrs. Friedman is ver-

When Jim Hale of the Artists Group represented her (he has since moved to Florida to start a new business), he had many requests for landscapes. Mrs. Friedman accommodated with many landscapes, which sold fast.

She stood in her back yard looking at the work going along on Telegraph and her sculptures which will be seen, or at least partially seen, by the motorists and wondered where she would find her next challenge.

And then, there was just a hint that there might be a much taller, more elaborate companion piece — a sort of leader for the troops

Mildred Friedman relaxes in her backyard and wonders what she can do for an encore to fill the void created when she finished her roadside project.

Schoolcraft musicians play on Tuesday

The final program in the Schoolcraft College Summer Music Festival's Tuesday evening chamber music series will take place Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Liberal Arts Building on the campus.

Contrasts in instrumentation as well as in historic style will be among the high points of the evening.

The first part of the program will consist of three pieces which all involve the use of a harpsichord. Oboeist David Mariotti and bassoonist Paul Ganson will each play a sonata from the baroque era and both will be accompanied by Schoolcraft faculty members Robert Jones on harpsichord, and Ann Harter Jones on viola da gamba.

Mariotti will perform a sonata by George Frederick Handel. Ganson will play one of the earliest sonatas ever written for the bassoon, by the relatively unknown Italia composer Giovanni Bertoli. To complete the first part of the program, Jones will play his own variations for harpsichord based on the old English hymn "Morning Has Broken."

After intermission, Schoolcraft faculty member Alexander Hanway will be joined by summer music school faculty members Derek Francis, violin; Meyer Shapiro, viola; and Debra Fayroian in a performance of Johannes Brahms' Piano Quartet No. 3 in C Minor, Op. 60. This stunning and complex work provides a test for the virtuosity of all four artists.

There is a general admission charge of $2 and student and senior citizen admission for $1.

On Wednesday, July 25, chamber music ensembles will perform in a variety of duos, trios, quartets and quintets. This concert is free at 8 p.m. in Waterman Campus Center.

Schoolcraft College is at 18600 Haggerty, north of Six Mile

Art and music in DIA shows

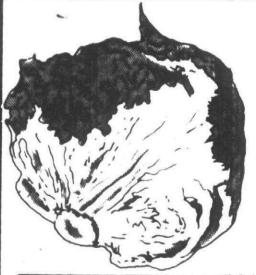

The first two special programs being presented in connection with the Detroit Institute of Arts exhibiton "Image, and Object in Contemporary Sculpture" will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 24 and 25.

At 8 p.m. Tuesday in the lecture hall, artist Terry Allen, who is included in the show, will perform, singing and playing on the piano his original Country and Western songs. Allen has cut two records of his songs, and has performed at the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York, as well as many other museums.

On Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. in Gallery 250, artist Scott Burton will present an informal talk on his sculpture, which is represented in the exhibiton. This talk is part of the Institute's Masterwork of the Week program. It is free.

Admission to the Tuesday program is $3. Tickets w are available at the door.

The use of marijuana, under certain circumstances, could soon be legal in Michigan

The Michigan Senate recently passed a bill to allow the medical use of marijuana for cancer patients throughout the state.

The final roll call showed 29 Senators voting for legalizing marijuana for medical purposes, with only five voting

Included in the 29 affirmative votes were Senators Robert Geake, R-Northville, whose district includes Plymouth and Livonia; Ed Pierce, D-Ann Arbor; and Doug Ross, D-Oak Park, whose district includes Farmington and South-

Senate Bill 185 was introduced by Sen. Steve Monsma, D-Grand Rapids.

THE MEDICAL marijuana bill follows on the heels of a bill passed by the senate in May which would decriminalize the use of small amounts of marijuana fless than 30-grams) in the privacy of one's home.

That bill passed the Senate by a 20-14 vote with Geake voting against it, Pierce and Ross in favor.

Both bills must now go before the Michigan House where it is generally conceded that both will pass because of an influx of new representatives who have shown a favorable attitude toward medical use and decriminaliza-

In a telehone interview shortly after the medical marijuana bill's passage, Roger Winthrop, the Michigan coordinator for the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML), declared a victory for those who have worked to pass pro-marijua-

"Monsma's bill should go a long way in helping those who suffer from the terrible side effects of chemotherapy and the pain of glaucoma to get relief," Winthrop said.

Dick Klaver, an administrative assistant to Monsma, said the bill's passage by the senate and the eventual passage by the house should help to standardize current medical use of marijuana throughout the state.

"There are several clinics in Michigan and elsewhere in the nation which have been fighting for the right to administer marijuana to their patients.

"WHAT THIS bill will establish is a program with the Food and Drug Administration which will allow the legal use of marijuana by glaucoma and cancer patients who have received a prescription for the substance from their doctor," Klaver said.

Klaver explained that marijuana reduces the severe vomiting and stomach sickness, side effects of chemotherapy treatments administered to cancer patients. With glaucoma, Klaver added, the substance helps reduce the pressure on the afflicted person's eye.

"Seven other states already have passed similar medical marijuana bills, including New Mexico, which after months of paperwork has finally begun to receive a supply of marijuana from the federal government."

Klaver and Winthrop both agreed that the bill should pass the house without much trouble, but added that it could take months to get the clinical program worked out with the FDA which would start the flow of federallygrown marijuana to Michigan.

UNDER MONSMA'S bill, only licensed doctors would be allowed to prescribe marijuana to cancer and glaucoma patients.

The doctors also would be required to take delivery of the marijuana, because pharmacists would be prohibited from distributing the substance to the physicians' patients.

Klaver said he doubted there would be any problem with unauthorized persons getting marijuana from a physician's office without a prescription, or persons who do not suffer from cancer or glaucoma obtaining the substance

The decriminalization bill passed by the Senate (SB 65) was sponsored by Sen. Jerome Hart, D-Saginaw. The bill, if signed into law, will mandate a civil, rather than a criminal, penalty for those who use 30 grams of pot or less in their own homes.

Hart said he proposed the legislation to the senate "because there is a demonstrable need in the state to create a uniform method of dealing with those persons who wish to use small amounts of marijuana in their homes."

Current marijuana laws in Michigan are too "strict and enforced unfairly," he said. He believes the present systemallows police officers too much discretion in enforcement.

"You might have a situation where a police officer pulls over a teenager for speeding and, when he does, notices a marijuana cigarette in the car.

"If the teenager is in any way belligerent to the cop, he'll get busted. If the kid is respectful to the cop, chances are the officer will ignore the marijuana and let him go. That type of enforcement I feel is very unfair.'

HART SAID the bill was necessary from another standpoint.

"There are 36 million Americans who have smoked marijuana at one time or another, 15 million of which smoke it regularly. With these kind of statistics, it's stupid to keep busting people for marijuana and giving them criminal records."

Hart said he was opposed to the state legalization of marijuana because he felt the federal government should han-

"This type of thing needs to be uniform throughout the country. When you decide to legalize marijuana, you have to decide upon a way of marketing it. The only practical way would be for the federal government to commission farmers throughout the country to grow it, then package it and rate the stuff according to its potency, and sell and tax it through state approved facil-

Although Hart said the Monsma bill would easily pass through the house after the summer recess, he said he expected "one hell of a fight" to get his bill through the same body.

"Similar bills like mine went down in he house by three votes a couple of years ago, and by one vote this year. Even with the new reps this year it still could be a hell of a battle to get it passed."

Winthrop said this year's decriminalization was the 20th such bill introduced in the Michigan Legislature in the past 11 years.

"Few people know there have been 20 attempts to get this through the house and senate. In fact we conducted a poll a while back which showed few senators knew that 20 decrim bills have been introduced in Michigan.

"The first 16 died in committee, the 17th lost by five votes, the 18th by three, and the 19th by one. So you can see, we're getting closer to passage every year.

Winthrop also expects a tough fight to get the decriminalization bill passed by the house.

"This is a very emotional issue in Michigan and always has been. There are a lot of reps in the house who feel very strongly on the issue, whether they are for or against it.

"I do think the discussion on the bill will be conducted in a better tone than shouldn't have anybody hitting anyone else over the head with ashtrays like we had a couple of years ago."

Even if the bill fails to pass the House for the 20th time, Winthrop said NORML will work to initiate another marijuana decriminalization bill after the summer recess is over.

"If this one bites the dust, we'll introduce another, and another, and another. We're going to keep fighting until this thing gets passed. We've worked too hard and too long to give up now.'

'I do think the discussion on the bill will be conducted in a better tone than it has been in previous years. We shouldn't have anybody hitting anyone else over the head with ashtrays like we had a couple of years ago." - Roger Winthrop, NORML coordinator

Observer & Eccentric

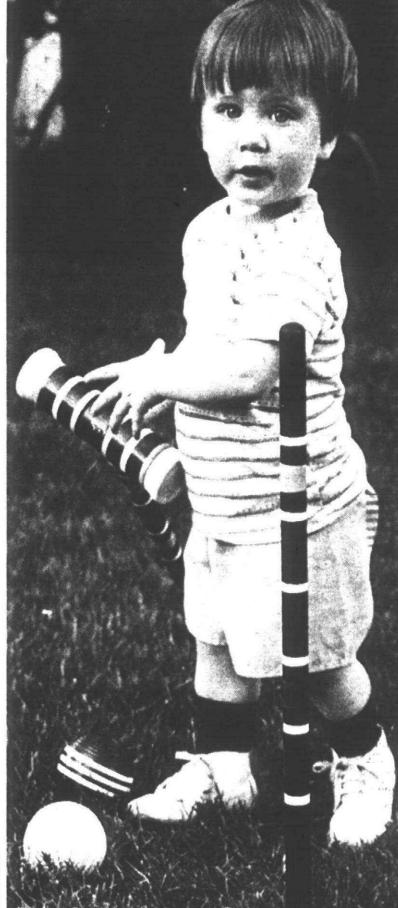

Second Annual

Theme:

"The Year of the Child"

We ask you, then, to think back to the days of childhood to discover those things that made growing up special to you. All you need to do is search the face of the nearest child, and you will find that those same special experiences haven't really changed.

Then, tell us--through the eyes of your camera--what's so special about growing up in the suburbs. All you need is some slide film, a camera and a child (or children) doing what comes naturally.

You'll find them at carnivals, shopping centers, playgrounds and quiet river banks.

Since there is no age limit to our contest, children who enter may have an added advantage, since they don't have to resort to memory to tell us what's special about growing up in the suburbs.

We will publish the winning entries--in color--right here on the pages of your hometown newspaper.

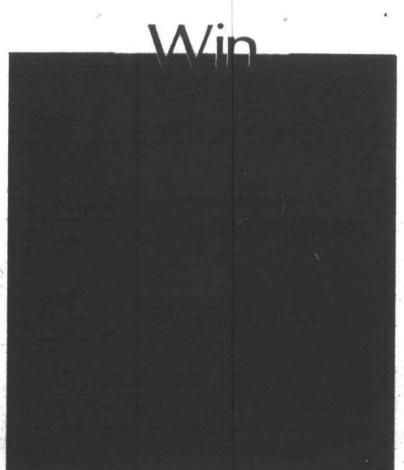

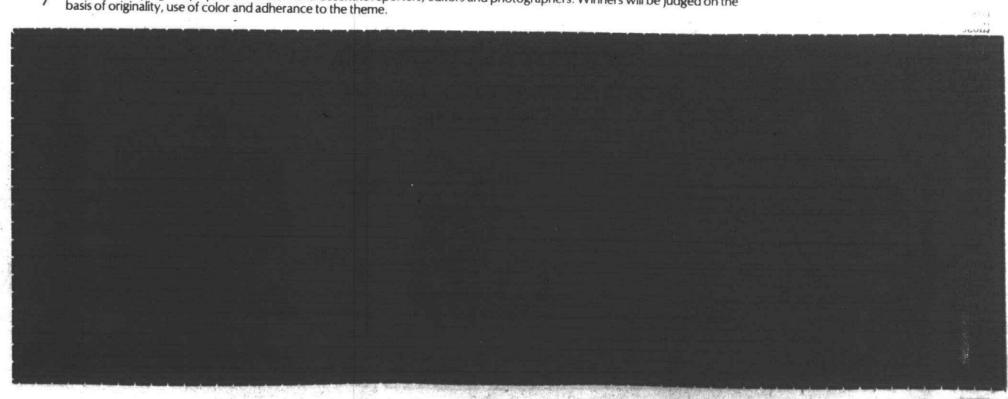

Contest Rules:

- There are no age limits, but the photographer must be a resident of one of the communities in which Observer & Eccentric Newspapers circulate.
- The contest is open to amature photograpers only. No employee or family member of an employee of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers is eligible to enter.
- The deadline for entries is Sept. 17, 1979. Each contestant may submit two color slides. Each slide should be marked with the name, address and phone number of the contestant. An entry blank should accompany the slides.

1979: INTERNATIONAL YEAR OF THE CHILD

PLYMOUTH HIGH School class of 1939 will have its 40th class reunion at the Elks Club Oct. 20. This will be the first time they have had a reunion since

The committee met for the first time in February to plan the event. Most recent meeting took the form of a pool party at Bill McAllister's with the spouses invited to share the fun. It was too cool for swimming but all agreed reunion plans are proceeding swimmingly.

Besides Bill, the committee includes Linnea Sallow, Bud Gould, June Hudson, Jennie Tallmadge, Ida Nairn and Bob Kenyon.

There were 139 grads in the class of '39. Nineteen are dead and they have no addresses for four classmates - Wilbur Chapman, Bonnie Jean Drake, Carol Nichol and Dorothy Smith. Anyone with any clues to their whereabouts should contact any of the committee members. Linnea is keeper of the records and Bob Kenyon is treasurer.

There was good response from the first letters mailed out with vows from the female members of the class that they planned to begin dieting immedi-

Class members are planning to come from Florida, California, Oregon, Arizona and Washington. For those who eannot attend, a class reunion book will be mailed to them if they send along -$1.

The committee's enthusiasm is boundless and the reunion promises to be a gala affair.

THE WEST Suburban Stamp Club met for the first time Friday night in is new home, the Plymouth Cultural Center on Farmer Street.

The club had outgrown the community room at the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union when members learned it would no longer be available. President Hal Williams says the Cultural Center "provides an ideal setting for the club's activities as well as plenty of room for expansion."

Tom Martin entertained the group with a philatelic quiz. Next meeting will be Aug. 3. Members of the club are from Canton, Plymouth and the surrounding area and new members are invited to join.

LEE HOSEY expects to have the Health Shoppe moved into its new quarters in time for the annual sidewalk sales, Aug. 3 and 4. Official moving date from the lower level of the Penniman Avenue Shops to the Gourmet Galleries on Ann Arbor Trail is July 30. Larry Janes' wares and Lee's health foods, cosmetics and vitamins should make a good combination. She is looking forward to expanding in the larger quarters.

Lee will have more refrigerator and freezer space, more herbs, vitamins and a color bar for her line of NatureAid cosmetics.

FAYE GWALTNEY and Paul Hensley, both of Plymouth, were married Monday, July 16 in Las Vegas, Nev.

The new Mrs. Hensley is owner of Faye's Flair Beauty Salon on the corner of Farmer and Davis streets in the Old Village section of Plymouth.

JOHN Q. GROOT, Plymouth's master pewterer will have a booth at the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair. Artists and craftsmen exhibiting at the fair and handpicked by a jurying process. Each year, about 75 percent of the exhibitors are invited to return, leaving 40 to 60 openings for new artists. More than 600 persons apply for those openings. The fair will be July 25 through 28 on South and East University Streets in Ann Arbor. Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., Saturday.

John Groot has been a regular at the Ann Arbor art fairs for 18 years. He has seen it grow from a small group of exhibitors, marked off by ropes tied to parking meters, to the large four-day show with craftsmen form all over United States and Canada.

Tent troupers real troopers

It was shades of the old Chautauqua shows Friday when the Tente Troupe from Silver Springs, Md. arrived at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth on North Territorial Road.

The troupe had performed in Jackson the day before. They rolled into Plymouth Township in three trucks shortly after 8 a.m. They had had about five hours sleep.

By 9:30 a.m. things were shaping up. They had erected one large show tent and two smaller ones. The teenage workers, who also double as actors in the traveling show, handled the ropes and canvas like experienced sailors.

Young men and women worked together pounding stakes, tying knots and carrying sets, chairs, stage equipment and the stage itself from the trucks.

Everything was ready for the children's matinee and the preview scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

While they are on the road, they prepare their own breakfast. The people at First Methodist planned a potluck dinner which they hosted in the church.

Instead of collapsing after the children's show, the troupe trouped up to Central Middle School's pool for a Pastor David Shaheen, leader of the Tent Troupe, said buying gasoline had not been a problem since they left their home church, Saint Luke Lutheran, in Silver Spring.

Their first performance of the summer season was June 25 in Sunbury, Pa. After two more stops in Pennsylvania, the tent show moved on to New York - Endwell, Painted Post, Portville, Chautaugua and Alden.

On July 4 they were in St. Catharines, Ontario and proceeded to their one-day stands in Kitchener, Stratford and Milverton before crossing the border for a show in Port Huron on Monday, July 9.

On Tuesday they were in Grand Blanc and had stopovers in Saginaw, Owosso, Mt. Pleasant, Greenville, Norton Shores, Allegan, Charlotte and Jackson before coming to Plymouth.

They set up their tents Saturday in Westland and today, Monday, the in Waynesboro, Pa. They estimate the cost of each show at between $600 and $800. There is no admission charge but the freewill offering at intermission hopefully, defrays expenses.

Harold Wright, who coordinated the troupe's visit to First Methodist, watched in amazement as the tents went up.

Eriksson honors its volunteers

The teachers at Eriksson Elementary School believe they have the greatest group of parent volunteers in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. To show their appreciation, they sent invitations to 243 of these hard-working volunteers to attend a tea in their honor.

"A school can't exist without volunteers," said Ann Neiswander, reading specialist at the school and one of the organizers of the tea. "All of them couldn't make it, and we owe all of them so much."

The party began at about 10 a.m. last

Mercy fall deadline nears

"Not everyone makes up his or her mind in June as to the choice of a college to attend in September.

Statistics show that August is a surprisinly heavy month for applications, says Rita M. McGuiggan, director of admissions at Mercy College of Detoit.

Because she anticipates a recurrence of that situation this year, Mrs. McGuigan urges prospective students to apply now to ensure a place in the program of their choice. Mercy's deadline for applications is August 15 with fall semester classes set to begin Sept. 4.

Three new programs which still have openings are health care administration and planning, respiratory care, and industrial and institutional securi-

Jobs down, Manpower study says

Employers in metropolitan Detroit have trimmed their employment expectations for the next three months from the levels recorded at this time one year ago, according to a survey conducted by Manpower, a temporary help firm.

Jerry Heller, owner of the Detroit Manpower office, said, "Overall, 12 percent of the employers surveyed plan to increase employment during the third quarter, (July, August, September), compared to the 32 percent with similar plans of one year ago.

"Another 5 percent expect reduced employment during the coming months while 78 percent plan to maintain current levels. The remainder, 5 percent, are unsure of their plans.

"One year ago, 5 percent expected reduced employment, 61 percent planned no changes, and 2 percent were unsure."

DURING COMING months, employment increases are expected by employers in the durable goods manufacturing, and services sectors of the local Reduced employment is expected in the builidng trades, with all other areas of the local economy expecting generally stable employment levels.

The latest outlook is also below that measured three months ago, when 22 percent expected increases, 10 percent forecast reductions and 66 percent planned no changes. Then, 2 percent were unsure of their plans.

NATIONALLY, strong evidence of an impending drop in employment growth, a slowdown in the hiring pace, is indicated.

Overall, 29 percent of the employers polled plan increased employment during the third quarter, down from the 34 percent with similar plans of one year

Another 7 percent plan decreased employment, up slightly from 6 percent of one year ago, while 61 percent expect no changes in current levels, up from 57 percent of last year.

Three percent of those questioned in each survey were unsure of their plans.

The slowdown in the hiring pace, coming traditionally at a time of clear gains in hiring, is indicated in all regions of the country and all sectors of the economy. The latest survey results report the first reductions in hiring expectations recorded in several years

The slowdown, however, was expected, it follows 13 consecutive quarters of dramatically increased employment. More than 6 million workers were added to U.S. payrolls in the last two years alone.

THE HIRING slowdown in this quarter's expectations is most evident in the Northeast and Midwest, with lesser declines expected in the West and South. The slowdown is indicated from reports of eight of the 10 economic sectors included in the survey. Only in the mining and public administration sectors are current hiring expectations above the levels of one year ago.

The slowdown is most severely indicated by employers in the wholesaleretail and construction trades.

Of the construction employers surveyed, 42 percent expected increases during the coming months, down from the 51 percent of one year ago. Another 7 percent anticipate declines, up from 5 percent in 1978, while 48 percent plan no changes, above the 41 percent of last year. Three percent of those polled in each survey were unsure of their plans.

A significant slowdown is also apparent in the fields of real estate-financeinsurance, least affected by seasonal factors. Substantially fewer work force additions are expected by this sector's employers during the coming months than during previous third quarters.

Currently, 30 percent of those polled expect to increase hiring, while 6 percent plan decreases, 61 percent no changes and 3 percent are uncertain; one year ago, 35 percent expected increases, 3 percent decreases, 60 percent no changes, and 2 percent were gallery must make it as available as possible to all Canadians.

To achieve this goal, the gallery has opted for a mail-order system that gives equal opportunity to prospective ticket buyers everywhere in the country.

ON WEDNESDAY, AUG. 1, order forms will be available at selected stores of Canada's four major department store chains: Eatons, Simpsons, The Bay, and Simpson-Sears.

Simpson's and Simpson's Sears will pass out the forms in Windsor Each person will be given a single order form that will allow the mail order purchase of four tickets.

There will probably be a lineup when the store opens, but the line should move quickly since no money is changing hands there. Judy Johns of the Art Gallery of Ontario expects the Windsor supply to last four or five days, although it could go faster.

"There are 480,000 tickets available to the public and 8,000 of them, or 2,000 ticket forms, have been allotted to Windsor." she said. "It's unfortuanté that we have to limit tickets in any way, and we certainly don't want to exclude our American friends in border cities. "Unfortunately, every city that has shown this exhibit has been forced to limit the number of viewers in some way."

The tickt system developed by trial and error as the show moved around the U.S. In Washington, Chicago, New Orleans, and Seattle, viewers stood in line on the day they wanted to get in, sometimes as long as eight hours.

Detroiters who traveled to Chicago remember that the tickets were passed out to the first people in line in the morning, and ticket holders came back several hours later as it was time for them to go in.

Los Angeles, New York and San Francisco tried the mail order system. I understand that prospective viewers had to travel to New York for their ticket and go back again for the show. Canada is trying the mail-order system, but with greater access. A small percentage of tickets, 12,000 or less that 2 percent will be sold in tour packages co-sponsored by the four department stores and the American Express Co. Miss Johns says that this was done as a service, and that it probably won't make any money for the tour operators.

These tours are available only in Canada, so again you must go to

How does the mail order system work?

"When you fill in the order form, you will be asked to make some choices, in order of preference," Miss Johns said. "Do you want to go in the morning, afternoon or evening? What day of the week? In November of December? If you can't get your choice, will you take whatever you

THE ORDER FORM will be sent, along with your money, to a post office box. Your tickets will arrive within about six weeks.

The tickets cost $3.50 each. There is a $1 additional charge for mailing and handling each order.

The Treasures of Tutankhamun include 55 objects from the tomb of this pharoah. I visited his tomb in the Valley of the Kings in Egypt this spring and saw many golden artifacts from the tomb at the Egyptian Museum in Cairo.

There is only one word for these treasures: splendid.

There is a spinoff from this exhibit which surprised everybody. You've heard often engough that ordinary people don't like art. Apparently they do. Tut outdrew all the baseball games combined when it was in Chicago.

If you want more information on the Toronto exhibit, call the Tut Hot Line in Toronto at 1-416-363-4900. And if you are inclined to grumble about going to Windsor for tickets in the summer, just remember that November and December would be the wrong months to stand outside in

ELECTRONIC TECHNICIANS TRAINING ENGINEERS TECHNICAL WRITERS

They said it couldn't be done . . . but Numa•Logic did it. The reliability, power and design of our new line of programmable controllers and industrial control systems have placed our division on an exciting and aggressive growth curve. We invite you to become a part of our future.

ELECTRONIC TECHNICIANS-Openings exist at several levels assisting our manufacturing staff in the testing of electronic and microprocessor components. Should be familiar with digital logic analysis and industrial controls. Technical schooling plus 2 years experience desirable.

TRAINING ENGINEERS-The successful candidates will be part of the marketing staff developing and conducting educational and training programs to support and expand use of Numa*Logic's growing family of products. Qualified individuals will possess a combination of electrical engineering knowledge with effective communications and instructor aptitudes.

TECHNICAL WRITERS-Several positions exist for individuals with technical degrees and proven writing capabilities. You will develop and write user manuals, advertising material, product specifications, proposals, training programs and other marketing communication materials. Electronic solid state systems familiarity is desirable. Should have a minimum of 2 years experience.

A comprehensive range of personal benefit programs, competitive salaries commensurate with experience, and an opportunity for challenging professional and technical growth are a part of your Westinghouse Numa*Logic career.
