$21.9 million bond issue OK'd

By EMORY DANIELS

On March 27, Plymouth-Canton voters will be asked to approve a one-half mill operating increase and 2.6 mills in debt retirement millage to allow the school district to borrow $21.9 million for construction and renovations.

Three proposals will be on the March 27 ballot - one for $14,623,000 for districtwide renovations and energy management projects; and a second at $7.277.000 to construct a 40-classroom building at the Centennial Educational Park and to convert Central Middle $chool into use as a high school.

A third request for one-half mill operating levy is earmarked for maintenance. The half-mill (50 cents per

If voters approve both halves of the $21.9 million bond issue, about 2.6 mills (2.60 per $1,000 SEV) would be needed the first year to make payments on the $21.9 million loan. (Millage rates would drop in succeeding years as current debt is paid off.)

gardless of grade alignment or educational programs. The $7.2 million includes $5,177,000 to build a 40-classroom industrial-type building at the CE and $2 million to convert Central into a magnet or intermediate type high school. (As a magnet high school, Central could be used as an alternative school, as a prep school for college-bound students, or some type of career center.)

THE ONE-HALF mill earmarked for maintenance is sought so that "catch-up" repairs of existing buildings won't have to be financed in the future with bond issues, Yack said.

About $10 million of the proposed $21.9 million bond issue is earmarked for renovations and repairs which should have been done over the past 10 years but weren't because operating funds were unavailable, officials said.

Included in the $14.6 million issue are purchases to handle student growth at the elementary and middle-school

About $570,000 will be spent on air conditioning and other equipment that would be needed if five elementary buildings were placed on the Extended School Year (ESY) schedule. (ESY or year-round school increases a building's student-holding capacity by about one-third.)

About $500,000 would be spent to purchase portable buildings to add classroom space as needed at middle school and elementary sites.

The $14.6 million proposal also includes funds to equip Lowell Junior High, being rented from Livonia, for use as a middle school.

Some $6 million, or almost half of the $14.6 million, will be used to renovate and repair Central Middle School. The $6 million will be used to bring Central up to code, to meet barrierfree and safety requirements, to make the building energy-efficient, and to National Subscription Television uses broadcast facilities of Channel 20 in Southfield after 8 p.m., according to Kerich. The transmissions are scrambled to prevent non-subscribers from using the service.

Decoders unscramble the signals for subscribers who pay a monthly fee of $22.50. The company charges an installation fee of $50 in addition to a refundable $50 security deposit.

The charges are appreciably higher than Omnicom's, the firm which has won cable television franchises in Canton Township, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Omnicom will charge subscribers $15 a month for a complete cable package which includes 35 channels plus Home Box Office, a first-run movie service. There is no security deposit, and Omnicom will waive the normal installation fee of $25 for those who sign subscriptions during the construc-

National Subscription Television has signed contracts with the University of Michigan for the broadcast rights to numerous home football, basketball and hockey games. Kerich said Michigan State University and the University of Detroit have also signed contracts for the airing of some athletic events.

Contracts with professional teams call for pay TV broadcasts of several Detroit Tiger, Red Wing, Detroit Express and Detroit Lightning games.

Kent Buikema, Plymouth Canton principal, and Bill Brown, Plymouth Salem principal, both say the publication's annual listing of thousands of proported scholars is questionable. But more than that, they say, the for-profit publication is motivated by rather nonacademic reasons.

Neither principal will submit a list of outstanding students to that type of publication. The school district does not allow the use of students' names for non-school purposes, said Buikema.

"They're trying to sell a book more than anything else," Buikema said. "I think it's hokey. I don't think there's much value in it."

"I concur with Mr. Buikema," Brown said. "What it is is a method by which addresses of students become available to various vendors. Obviously I'd like students to be recognized. But this is an exploitation of families to buy pins and publications."

IN A RECENT Centennial Educational Park in-house newsletter, Buikema warns that the publication will soon be seeking the names of students for its

School fund equity dropping

A mid-year budget review of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools shows expenses exceeding revenue by some $434,500

The loss in the current operating fund thus far will result in projected fund balance being reduced to about $1.56 million by June 30, instead of $1.6 million as earlier projected.

Dan White, director of finance, said some weak spots in the budget include the fact that the prices of gasoline and costs of utilities are unknown for the balance of the year.

White told the school board Monday night that other soft spots were labor contracts yet to be negotiated and the apparent high use to date of substitute teachers.

The school district is getting a good return on its investment of idle cash, White noted, with one reason being that the district has had to borrow twice - instead of once, which is normal - this year because of the Headlee Tax Limitation Amendment and has had more money on hand to invest.

Thus far the district has invested $3.9 million in certificates of deposit for an average of 30 days at an average yield of 9.87 percent, or $32,062. Some $1.2 million has been invested in commercial paper for an average of 41.2 days with a yield of 12.7 percent producing $18,210.

White also reported that tax collections are coming in faster, primarily because of a new system of transfers established by Canton Township.

Canton now is making its transfers by wire from its account with NBD to the school's account with the same bank. White said he planned to ask the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township to follow the same procedure.

As of Jan. 18, Canton had turned over to the schools $6.5 million or 55 percent of the $11.7 million Canton residents will be paying in school taxes. Last year, at this point, Canton had turned over 36 percent of its tax collections.

The city of Plymouth has turned over almost $1.9 million or 47 percent of the almost $4 million due. At this point last year the city also had turned over

Plymouth Township to date has turned over $3 million in school taxes, which is 31 percent of the almost $9.5 million due. Last year at this point the township had turned over 36 percent.

Of the $26.2 million due, almost $11.9 million has been turned to date by the city of Plymouth, Plymouth and Canton townships, Northville, Salem and Superior townships.

The school district had borrowed $9.6 million in tax anticipation notes which had to be repaid as tax collections come in Based on current collections, than, the district has about $2.2 million it can spend for operation, according to Superintendent John M Hoben.

To make ends meet until the $9.6 million was turned in for local tax payments, the district a couple of months ago borrowed a second time with state aid payments as collateral.

Of the total $26.2 million to be collected, about $23.7 million will be spent for operating and about $2.5 million for debt retirement.

THE BOARD also was told that another bright spot was savings realized by energy conservation measures taken by the individual schools.

For electrical useage, the schools used a total of 464,377 fewer killowats during the first six months of this year than for the same period in 1978-79.

Jobless lines keeps MESC busy

The lines of residents seeking jobs or filing unemployment claims keeps getting longer at the local office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) on Joy Road near General Drive in Plymouth Township. The increased business reflects layoffs at local plants as well as residents who have been laid off at out of town auto plants.

According to S. Martin Taylor, state director of the MESC, the state's unemployment rate rose to 8.5 percent in December from 7.9 percent in November, with the number of unemployed increasing by 24,000 to 369,000.

Taylor reported the total drop in employment resulted from substantial indefinite and temporary layoffs in the auto industry. A year ago December the jobless rate in the state was 6.7 percent with 289,000 unemployed.

Taylor said that business at local MESC claims offices, such as the Joy Road branch, has increased by 123 percent from December 1978 to last month. The initial claims of 89,000 for the week of Dec. 11, 1979 was the highest ever recorded in a single week in Michigan. Unemployment benefit payments by MESC are averaging $4.4 million a day.

Ed Dowling, manager of the Plymouth MESC branch, said his office recently paid out the highest check to one individual when a check for $5,000 was presented to a laid-off Chrysler employee. The check was a federal government payment under the Trade Re-adjustment Allowance which is paid to Chrysler workers unemployed because of imports. This particular worker was laid-off in 1978 from the Chrysler Huber Foundry in Detroit. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Here's where trustees stand on bond issue

Over the next two months, terms like there is not a 1-1 relationship between grade re-alignment, middle school, and overcrowding will bedome familiar to Plymouth-Canton voters.

Those phrases cropped up continually during about three hours of discussion on the $21.9 million bond issue to be placed before voters Thursday, March 27 as board members debated the merits of future alternatives, particularly for secondary students.

During those three hours every member of the board had the chance to clarify their personal positions on the bond issue. In fact, four of the seven members came with prepared statements to read.

Tom Yack, board president, decided against making a statement of personal opinion but did present a synopsis of the decision-making process that culminated in seeking a millage once

THE BOND ISSUE decision process began three years ago when voters rejected a $29 million bond issue with a clear "no" vote of about 70 percent,

In response to that vote, he said, the school board began to use the Extended School Year (ESY) to house additional students in lieu of new construction.

'The board continued to rely on ESY as an option to construction but that has placed a burden on our operational budgets and we now have reached a point where operational funds do not allow us to extend ESY any further." Tackling another bond issue was compelled by two reasons, Yack said: 1. The general fund no longer can sustain continued ESY expansion; and, 2. The high schools now are at the breaking point with enrollment having climbed to some 700 students beyond

Another consideration, said Yack, is that repairs have been ignored for 10 years and a bond issue is needed to finance a number of renovations at existing buildings. That led the board to call for a bond proposal from the administration, Yack explained, and then later to form a citizens committee for the same pur-

"The citizens committee basically looked at the economics of housing students while the administration also considered the programatic implications. The board then formed another committee of administrators, staff and citizens to look at the programatic implications and bring them into line with what the community can afford."

Yack stressed that: "Our objective has been to blend the programatic considerations with the community's economic resources - not to form the ideal school district with an ideal bond is-

ABOUT TWO months ago the process of considering bond proposal options narrowed the choices down to two, Yack added. Those two choices were to re-align the grades to K-6, 7-9, and 10-12 or to keep the status quo of grade configuration at K-5, 6-8, 9-12.

"It may be that some trustees have changed their minds on this issue. But I would hope that no one on this board would be so narrow in their thinking that early on in the discussion of an issue they would close their minds. I would hope they'd be large enough to change position in light of new infor-

Speaking historically, Yack said: "A long time ago growth was handled by simply building a building. Today, we have gone far beyond that with the advent of ESY and the availability of vacant school buildings in nearby districts. "Today the variables for handling o student growth are staggering. And the variables - the relationship is geometric.'

Yack cautioned that none of the plans before the board were ideal and long-lasting. "We'd like to think we have a long-range plan but no one really knows what's ahead. We are working on the best information available. We are attempting to do the best we can."

CAROL DAVIS agreed the $21.9 million may not be a final solution and the the future with another bond issue.

Mrs. Davis said she didn't believe grade configuration mattered when it came to quality education. What does matter, she added, is the material used for teaching, the sequence followed in using that material, and the individual teachers and their philosophy towards education and students.

Davis said her philosophy of education was to provide options and alternatives to students to try and match individual learning styles.

"At the CEP we removed a lot of options when modular scheduling was dropped because of over-crowding and when we limited course offerings to ninth-graders. The more students we put out in the Park, the options available to them will be fewer.

"Right now a student at the CEP isnut an individual but is one of 4,700 kids. Students will adopt an 'I don't care' attitude because they aren't treated as an individual but as one member of a very large class. I am opposed to putting any more students out at the Park.' Mrs. Davis said that ESY also eliminated options at the middle-school level and, for that reason, should be avoided. ESY can be eliminated at the middle-school level, she added, by grade re-alignment. "Re-alignment would relieve the CEP load and allow all middle schools to go on a traditional school year. I'd rather opt for a solution that involves re-alignment to give us some breathing room, and then see what happens. "I can't support a proposal to build at the CEP because we'd end up with 6,000 students out there. It's too large

FLOSSIE TONDA argued that the $21.9 million proposal with status quo on grade configuration would result in ESY being used at the middle-school

"I'm against that," she said. Mrs. Tonda pointed to earlier reports of poor student attitudes and high absentéeism at Pioneer Middle because of ESY. Higher administrative costs have resulted to try and patch up the program at Pioneer, she added.

"If we add East and West to ESY we only will be increasing our problems.

"I'm also against putting a building out at the CEP. There are 4,700 students out there now and it's not in anyone's best interest to add another 1,200 at the same site.

"The building at the Park wouldn't be needed if we moved the ninth grade back to the middle-school level. And, remember, that in October this board agreed that our greatest problem with rising enrollment is at the high school

"The administration recommended grade re-alignment to solve the growth problem at the high schools. We took a community survey with 766 people participating. Of those 766 people 71.3 percent supported moving the ninth grade and 73.1 percent supported moving the sixth grade.

"We are in a recession now. A lot of people in our community have lost jobs and are really struggling. We must consider the financial support our community can afford to give, and we must remember that 70 percent of our budget comes from local funds."

STEVE HARPER said he felt the middle school 6-7-8 alignment did a better job accomodating to the child's development stage than a junior high 7-

"We should offer that option to the community and let voters decide if a middle school is the best educational alternative.

Harper argued that the 40 new classboard might have to return to voters in rooms at the CEP would allow the administration to provide more options to students and that an intermediate high school at Central could result in a unique program advantage for stu-

He further argued that more space cide.

would be needed at the high school level with or without re-alignment. "I'd rather build now for less money than it will cost to build later.

Harper added that he felt the CEP could adequately handle 6,000 students.

DICK ARLEN said he felt the issue of grade configuration should be placed before voters to decide.

"I am not convinced re-alignment would damage a lot of people but I would like the citizens in the district to make that decision."

Although 700 people participated in the community opinion poll, Arlen said, a lot more than that will be going to the polls and the larger number should dethe $21.9 million proposal in its entire-

Antique larceny

Plymouth police are investigating a larceny that netted some $500 in stolen jewelry and antique pieces at the Liberty Antique Shop, 181 W. Liberty Street, last Tuesday afternoon.

According to police reports, the shopkeeper, Louise Morris, discovered about $524 in rings and pins as well as various antique pieces missing between 1-1:30 p.m. that day.

They have no leads or suspects at this time. All of the items were on display that afternoon and none were individually valued at more than $40. According to Ms. Morris, the shop was open for business at that time and there was a steady flow of customers.

The most valuable item, a 14-karat gold ring, was valued at $40. Among the other items listed as taken were: 20 shoe button hooks, valued at $20 each; a $20 silver sterling ring; 10 goldfilled stick pins valued at $7 each; three $8 silver plated spoons; and a $20 gold-filled watch chain

Gorman, a member of the would-be department head association, said supervisors are happy with the pay increases they have received.

But he admitted that unionization is "one alternative" of police commanders if their concerns for pay and fringe benefits are not satisfied.

Lt. Larry Stewart of the police department downplayed that possibility, however.

"I don't think we're looking for that—at least not at this point," Stewart said of the department's five sergeants and himself. "We consider ourselves part of management. We don't want a union concept.

That's a labor versus management situation." The Merit Commission recommends pay for nonunion employees. But, according to Stewart, police commanders understood that the township board's directive for talks on pay and fringe benefits exempted them from that process.

Stewart said the Merit Commission does not understand the needs of the police.

The commission recommended identical fringe benefits for department heads and police commanders, even though police officers work a longer week and sometimes encounter life-threatening situations, he said. Stewart hopes the misunderstanding on pay and fringes can be resolved satisfactorily.

"I'm almost embarrassed that it's gone to the point it has," he said.

THE MERIT Commission based its recommendations for department head salaries on the job responsibilities for each supervisor, according to Gor-

In the highest pay classification are the police and fire chiefs who will receive salaries of approximately $28,000 this year.

In the next highest classification are the finance director and DPW supervisor who will receive approximately $27,000. Annual salaries for the parks and recreation superintendent, the personnel director, the ordinance director, and the chief building official will be nearly $26,000.

The plan examiner, DPW foreman and deputy building official will receive about $22,500, and the recreation supervisor will earn about $18,000.

According to Gorman, the department heads received their last pay increase about a year ago.

Planner Jim Kosteva and grant coordinator Terry Carroll work for the township on a contractual basis and did not receive a salary increase as a result of last week's board action.

A combined program of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, the American Red Cross and the Ann Arbor News makes it possible to learn, FREE, how to save the life of a victim of cardiac arrest, choking and other respiratory attacks.

CPR, or Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation, is a citizen method of emergency treatment combining the use of artificial respiration and artificial circulation, and is effective as a lifesaving skill when started immediately following cardiac arrest.

CPR training classes will be offered, free of charge, at three separate clinics. The first clinic will be conducted by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, a unit of the Catherine McAuley Health Center. Funded by Ann Arbor's Ervin Foundation, the training will be conducted by 40 hospital staff members. It is necessary to register in advance by calling 572-4035.

School board approves $21.9 million bond issue fix-up damaged walls, floors, and replace the roof.

Other elements of the $14.6 million include $500,000 for bus purchases and about $670,000 for a bus garage.

THE BOARD WAS unanimous in approving the bond proposals except for the $7.3 million. That proposal drew a 4-3 vote because of differences of opinion about grade alignment.

Voting against the $7.3 million package because they favored re-aligning grades were Yack, Carol Davis and Flossie Tonda.

Voting in favor of the $7.3 million package because they wanted to retain the current middle-school grade alignment were Steve Harper, Elaine Kirchgatter and Sylvia Stetz.

Richard Arlen said he voted for the $7.3 million package so voters would, have a chance to decide the issue.

If the $7.3 million is approved and grade structure remains unchanged, Pioneer Middle will remain on ESY and East Middle and West Middle schools eventually would go on the ESY schedule

If the $7.3 million is defeated, Cen-and Pioneer would change to the traditional school year with ESY being used only at the elementary level.

Yack, Davis, and Tonda argued that the best way to relieve over-crowdedness at the CEP is to move ninthgraders back to the middle-school level, with sixth-graders being moved back to elementary.

These three believe re-aligning grades would make it unnecessary to build the 40 classrooms at the CEP and would nullify the need to spend $2 million on Central Middle School.

The majority of Harper, Arlen, Kirchgatter and Stetz believe the cost of re-alignment is only $2 million because the 40 classrooms at the CEP would have to be built by 1984 when high school enrollment will exceed the combined capacities of Central High and the Park.

The majority view on the board.

based on the meeting's discussion, would argue for a "yes" vote on the $7.3 million to retain the 6-7-8 grade alignment. The majority would further argue that the 40 classrooms will be needed for high schoolers in the near future and rising construction costs tral would be used as a middle school will hike the price tag to at least $7 million anyhow.

> THE MINORITY view on the board is that voters could save $7 million on the bond issue now by voting "no" with the knowledge that vote would result in a 7-8-9 middle school alignment.

> The minority view is willing to gamble the 40 classrooms won't be needed in the tuture and, even if it is, the higher price will be paid during a time when the economy likely will be more healthy.

Current projections suggest that high school enrollment will peak at 8,100 students in 1987-88 or 3,000 over the current CEP capacity. If the high school contained grades 10-11-12, than enrollment would peak at 6,200 in '87-88 or about 1,500 over present capaci-Middle-school enrollment is expected to peak at 5,300 in 1983-84 or about

Elementary enrollment is expected to peak next year ('80-81) at about 8,200 students. If elementary configuration were changed to K-6, enrollment would peak at 9,600 a year later.

DURING ITS deliberation Monday night the board had considered delaying a decision until a more detailed cost breakdown could be obtained on Central Middle renovations.

The board decided against delay, though, because they said a bond issue would be delayed until the annual school election in June

Detailed cost analysis, estimated to high school. cost between $50-$75,000, was another factor in the decision.

Earlier the board had given tentative approval to an $8 million renovation of Central believing that money would pay only for repairs needed despite how the building was used.

This past week trustees discovered the $8 million figure did include some of the costs of converting Central to a

Monday night the board estimated that $2 million was for program costs . at Central and $6 million for essential

After arriving at that estimation, the board segregated the $2 million and placed it in the same proposal as the $5.3 million for the CEP classrooms to give voters a clear choice on the gradealignment issue.

Equipment purchased to curb book thefts

A purchase of almost $23,000 has been authorized to try to stop the theft of library books from Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools.

Monday night the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education approved the purchased of library book anti-theft equipment as recommended by Bea Green, director of libraries, and Thomas Rose, purchasing agent.

The 3M Company equipment will cost $17,080 and an additional $5,815 to implement the system.

Ms. Green and Rose both expect the system will pay for itself in less than two years by reducing the loss of stolen

During the 1978-79 school year more than $17,000 in books were stolen from the two high school libraries. The average losses since 1975-76 has been $19,900 per year.

The real problem, said Ms. Green, is that the libraries' book allocation budgets are being spent almost 100 percent to replace stolen books rather than purchasing additional books.

"Our ratio of total library books to total students has been maintained recently only because of generous private donations from the community," she said. "Our $300,000 investment in library books warrants the best protection we can give it."

If the security system results in an 80 percent reduction in stolen books, Ms. Green added, it should pay for itself within 20 months.

The system involves "targets" being placed in each of the 30,000 library books at the high schools. The targets are sensitized and will set off an alarm if a student attempts to leave the library with a book containing one.

The targets will be removed when the books are checked out.

Cost of the anti-theft equipment will be charged to the 1980 bond issue if approved by voters on March 27. If the bond issue fails, the purchased will be charged to the 1979-80 operating budg-

The cost of the equipment is significantly lower now than it was when the board considered buying it two and four years ago, according to Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent of business. Superintendent John M. Hoben added that the item has been in the budget for the past two years.

"Grade re-alignment will bring more disruption to families and to the community than boundary changes or greater use of ESY. I don't believe taxpayers want to give up stability

"Re-alignment would not make an appreciable difference to the bond issue because eventually we will have to build high school class space. Even with a 10-12 high school by 1984 we would be above capacity at the CEP.

By using industrialized construction for the 40 classrooms, she added, the district would have a 55,000-square-foot building which could be sold later for office space when not needed for educational use.

The community could benefit from an innovative program for high schoolers at Central, she added. "I believe the $21.9 million offers the best educational package given today's economic climate. Programs won't suffer and we'll have some stability."

Death bell rings for county executive Suburban polls say reform package is weak

By TIM RICHARD

A petition drive to set up a Wayne County executive has collapsed on the eve of legislative passage of a new law that contains too little county reform, in the view of suburban political lead-

County Commissioner R. William Joyner, D-Plymouth, pronounced the death of a drive to collect 75,000 signatures on petitions asking for a popular vote to create a county executive, much like a strong mayor or governor.

"It was very difficult to collect 75,000 signatures," Joyner told a chamber of commerce audience in Livonia Monday. "We reached the 50 percent mark and couldn't go any further."

The reason: It was too tough to get people excited about repairing county government despite years of publicity about deficits and widely held suburban views that an executive is needed.

COMMISSIONER Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, was in bipartisan agreement with Joyner that a proposed reform, Senate Bill 652, "is very weak, and we'd be as well off with a county executive."

The petition drive supported by Joyner and Mrs. Dumas sought to use a 1974 law sponsored by then state Sen. (now U.S. Rep.) Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, that would allow voters to create the office of county executive or county manager — analogous to a mayor or a manager in a city, respectively.

An executive would head all departments outside of those which are headed by such elected administrators as the sheriff and treasurer. These so-called "headless" departments report to the 27-member board of commissioners. Advocates of an executive say department heads manipulate enough favorable commissioners to get their

COMMISSIONER Mary Dumas, R-way, and that no one is really in charge.

Joyner said using the 1974 county executive act would bypass the use of a charter commission, contemplated in the new SB 652. What makes SB 652 objectionable, he said, is that it would use 1970 census figures — unfavorable to growing suburbs — to apportion charter commission seats.

"The bill says, 'Let's use the 1970 census to draw up a charter for the 1980s and 1990s,' "he declared.

SB 652, due to be voted on in Lansing this week, has these provisions:

Voters would elect a charter commission, which would have 180 days to propose changes in county government. The charter group could propose either an executive or a manager elected by voters or a manager appointed by the board of commissioners.

· Voters would choose between two different versions of the charter — or could reject both.

SB 652 found Mrs. Dumas and Joyner on different sides of the fence from state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R. Northville, who was on the six-member conference committee which drafted the final compromise version.

Mrs. Dumas, a county board member for eight years, said SB 652 exempts the county road commission and other boards from being abolished. She said the road commission operates almost as an autonomous branch of government, thumbing its nose at regular civil service procedures, dispensing generous amounts of political patronage and setting a high, wage pattern in collective bargaining that county general government can't afford.

GEAKE CALLED SB 652 "an honorable compromise."

In answer to a question, the seven-year veteran of the legislature said, "The road commission will continue to exist, but it will be appointed by the county executive with the advice and consent of the board of commissioners. The executive would be able to remove a member of the road commission at

"I would have preferred to elect charter commissioners on the basis of any time.'

the 1980 census, but something had to give," he said.

Geake added, however, that the disadvantage of using the 1970 census was exaggerated. The charter commission would have to report out both an executive and manager plans, and it wouldn't be able to load the manager plan with advantages the executive might lack.

Detroit politicians, especially blacks, prefer a manager or no change at all, fearing an executive would have political clout rivaling Mayor Coleman A. Young's MEANWHILE, Samuel A. Turner, a Detroit black who deposed Richard Manning, a white from Redford Township, earlier this month as board chairman, met with Acting Gov. James Brickley for an hour last week to discuss county affairs.

Brickley and the administration of Gov. William G. Milliken are insisting on reform of the county structure before releasing any state aid. Twice Milliken has withheld funds for probation services which Brickley said will be released the minute the Wayne County Board of Commissioners puts a charter commission proposal on the ballot.

Once SB 652 is passed, said Brickley, "Probation funding ought to be the first order of business."

County officials insist the state should fund probation services because state law mandated such services.

Just off the cloisters, not far from the dining room, was a stairway with a sign that read "hotellerie." In conversation with an English girl quartered there for a week, we learned that it is a retreat for anyone who wants a respite from the pressures of modern life, not the least of which is the alarming increase in noise pollution. The girl had heard of the retreat from religious friends in London.

The monks of the Abbey of Lerins operate a small shop near the monastery in which they sell postcards, art objects, and a liqueur they make on the island. The monastery also has a small mu- mine. seum containing stone fragments of the Roman and Christian eras in the island's history.

We walked completely around the island's rocky coast. I was surprised to learn that the monastery on this tiny island was once one of the most famous and profitable in all of Christendom. Pilgrims walked around the island barefoot, and it was usually crowded because a visit resulted in the same indulgences as a visit to the Holy Land.

The day was cool, the sun bright. The air coming down from the Alps and across the water was invigorating. The sight and sound of the whitecaps dashing against the impressive rock formations reminded me of a day spent at Bar Harbor, Maine, many years ago.

At the western end of the island, we came across an old stone structure that appeared to be some form of oven. I thought it was an incinerator. Jessie, with an artist's eye, said it looked like an abandoned potter's kiln. My guide book says it is one of two ovens Napoleon ordered built on Saint Honorat in 1794. They were used to make cannon balls red hot.

It occurred to me, as I read that passage, that the temperature of a cannon ball would make little difference to a

It was after 4 p.m. when we got back to the larger island, Sainte Marguerite. The wind was getting colder. We settled for a quick visit to the fort, intending to spend more time on that island on a future visit.

First, however, we ducked into a restaurant on the way to the fort. A small cup of hot chocolate cost us $1.25 each, half as much as we paid for our onehalf-hour round-trip boat ride. Food and beverages are expensive in France, especially on the Cote D'Azur.

Sainte Marguerite Island was named after Saint Honorat's sister. She headed a community of nuns here in the 5th century. The island is twice as big as the one that has the monastery.

Sainte Marguerite's chief claim to fame is the fortress dominating its north coast, which faces the mainland. A state prison, it is where the "man in the iron mask" was kept prisoner for 11 years by Louis IV. Actually, says the Guide Michelin, he wore only a simple velvet mask. His identity has been the subject of much speculation but has never been firmly established.

Three years ago we visited a similar prison on an island off the port of Marseilles. Called Chateau d'If, it was used

It is only open to residents, but Robert qualified because, as renters of an apartment, the Bryan's are considered to be taxpayers. Their permanent residence is in Victoria on Vancouver Island in British Columbia.

From the balcony of their apartment, which faces the Mediterranean, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan can see the dock from which their son sails, and the fort on Sainte Marguerite where he sometimes puts up for the weekend.

Confidentiality lid is clamped on talks

By TERI BANAS

Future plans to study joint police services in the Plymouth area, as outlined in a confidential letter to township trustees, is an attempt to circumvent the Open Meetings Act, according to a Township Trustee.

Lee Fidge this week ignored Supervisor Thomas Notebaert's order to keep a lid on those negotiations by sending a press release to local newspapers outlining her objections to planned closeddoor meetings between the two municipalities.

However she lost her bid for public discussion on the subject in a 4-3 vote Tuesday night when the majority of township board members rejected her request to place the item on the agen-

Officials of both municipalities seem to disagree as to how negotiations of joint services would take place.

WHEN OFFICIALS from both sides met publicly last week, they announced they were directing the township supervisor and city manager to begin discussions for combined service. However a confidential letter to trustees written by Notebaert refers to a small "study group" and agreement to release all information through attor-

Plymouth Mayor Mary Childs said all discussions would occur at a public study session.

In the letter to trustees, Notebaert said the guidelines for the study of joint services were made on the recommendation of Township Attorney Donald

"This would be a small group situation and not subject to the Open Meetings Act anyway," Notebaert wrote.

Fidge responded to the letter with a written explanation of her opinion to the board.

"AS LONG AS a quorum of either the township board and the city commission is not present, the meeting does not violate the Open Meetings Act but what of the spirit of the act?" she

"Your concerns of a public reaction that could result from a premature release of information before discussed publicly and directions are given from both involved governmental bodies are understandable but that does not give a valid reason to condone a secretive pact between elected officials

"I have no problem with what we adopted in a resolution in which the board has given the supervisor direction to negotiate," she said. "But I am very uncomfortable with Notebaert's procedure as (stated) in the letter."

She contends that if a study group will be meeting and reaching tentative agreements, she would like prior notice of it so she as well as the public may attend and give opinions."

"And by golly, the public will be paying for any of these unified services."

NOTEBAERT'S LETTER indicated that any announcement of agreements would be released only by either Morgan or Plymouth City Attorney Chuck

"Be assured there would be full and open debate available before any final action was taken," Notebaert wrote.

"On the other hand, premature release of information or release of information by just the city or just the township (or members of either legislative body) could jeopardize what appears to be the advent of an era of good feeling between the city and the township.

"In other words, a time for developing mutual understanding and trust must be allowed before the windows are thrown open to constructive as well as disruptive public comment," Notebaert concluded.

When questioned this week about the arrangement, Morgan refused comment on anything associated with those negotiations.

Notebaert said there was no plans for a "full-fledged" study committee.

He said that a previously formed study group, comprised of Trustee Maurice Breen, Clerk Esther Hulsing and himself, would provide the background of information for informal discussions between himself and Henry Graper, city manager. The trio had previously worked on information to present to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department with which the township is presently negotiating a contract for police protection.

"At this time, that arrangment is in limbo before the county board of auditors," Notebaert said.

Notebaert added that he sent his confidential letter to board members this week so as not to "offend them" or city commissioners while negotiations pro-

Groth ends firefighting Friday after 3 decades

By W.W. EDGAR

Acting Fire Chief Charles Groth, who'is retiring Friday from the Plymouth Department, will take a lot of fond memories with him when he takes up residence in Daytona Beach, Fla.

"I bought the home down there 15 years ago, "he said as he was checking out his desk for the last time, "and now Carol (his wife) and I will find out whether we like the warmer climate. If we don't, there'll be no hesitation in coming back up here."

The retiring chief has served with the department since 1950 and, as he leaned forward in his chair to check a few papers, he confided that he will have many memories of his long career as a firefighter.

"It's a funny thing, but one of the things I will think about a lot is the fact that there were so few fires in Plymouth all the while I was here.

"Looking at the record, there were only two major fires in the past year. But when it comes to memories of fires, I never will forget the GM Transmission plant fire in Livonia. That was back in 1953 and it was the worst fire I ever have seen or even heard about."

What made it such a bad fire?

The acting chief rubbed his chin a moment and then explained it was bad because the firemen couldn't get at it.

Reluctantly he recalled that there was a flaw in the total construction and when the roof started to go, the firemen couldn't get into the building. Because of that the plant was burned out and the firemen were almost helpless execept for pouring water on the fallen pieces.

Another unforgettable blaze was during the 1967 riots in Detroit.

He recalled how helpless the firemen were. Only this time it was for lack of equipment.

"All we could do there, too, was to pour water on the fallen pieces and when the out-of-town departments were called in to help, it was just a matter of exercise. Nothing had a real chance of being saved.

The chief missed the P&A Theater fire on Penniman Avenue some years ago but only because he was confined to a hospital for surgery

The two major fires in the past year were at the body shop next to the Packaging Corp. just off Sheldon Road and at the Wilde home on Sheldon Road. The body shop damage was rated at $60,000 and smoke damage at the Wilce home at $47,000.

As he sat at his desk recalling the highlights of a long career, he couldn't help picturing in his mind how he started at South Lyon in 1938.

"In those days the townships didn't have fire departments and we covered distances as far away as

There were only three men in the Plymouth Department when he left South Lyon to come here as a volunteer. Later he was given a full-time job. He has been active ever since.

Books & TV to be linked

"Books and TV: Partners for the Family" is a new project being undertaken by Plymouth-Canton Community

The goal of the project is to link and promote critical television viewing and more reading.

A joint committee of parents, librarians, and school district staff has for lowed up on the suggestion by Tom Yack, school board president.

The project aims at promoting reading for enjoyment and using television as a springboard for widening the scope of reading, according to Bee Green, director of libraries for the school district.

Because children spend far more time in front of the television than they do in school, the committee hopes to limit and direct viewing time.

Plans are being made for distributing information on recommended TV programs and on books which will relate to the viewing.

dents will find themselves 'turned on' to books as often as they turn on the TV," said Ms. Green.

Among the projects under consideration are monthly TV suggestions to parents, informing teachers about library books and related TV programs, planning for TV programs on the cable when it is installed in Plymouth-Canton, presentations for PTO meetings and publishing information in local newspapers.

"We hope that eventually more stu-

Accept homes for retarded with an open mind

Perhaps this time it will be different.

Maybe Canton residents, when made aware of plans to build three homes for mentally retarded youths and adults in the township, will react differently than their neighbors in other suburban communities.

In such communities as Troy and Redford Township, citizens have gone to court to stop homes for retarded adults or shot through the windows in protest under the cowardly cloak of night.

Fear does it: Fear that these homes will lower property values; fear of those who are "different." Now it's Canton's turn. Will those same people who watched appalled at the television reports of vandalism of a Troy home for retarded adults suddenly rise up against a home in their own neighbor-

Will they cite fear of falling property values, concern that the homes won't "fit in the neighborhood" - every argument that has ever been used against special homes?

Will we hear, ad infinitum, "I have nothing against retarded people, but Let's be optimistic. Canton is a community comprising a large share of people of childbearing age. Some residents have already started families; some plan to do so in the near future.

At last check, life wasn't handing out any guarantees that every child born is this world will be mentally, physically and emotionally perfect.

Some people are born with a handicap; inevitably, their parents suffer some measure of guilt about that fact, although it is usually unwarranted guilt.

Handicaps, however, won't go away no matter how much they are ignored, refuted or vilified. Handicapped people can't go away just because luckier people choose to pretend they do not exist. They can only be put out of sight and out of mind.

Perhaps the mentally retarded are at times unpleasant or depressing to deal with. But mental retardation does not mean its victim is incapable of

We all know this, deep down. We know that our children blessed with healthy minds and bodies are merely lucky, not entitled to these gifts.

And we know, although we do not like to face it. that our own families are no more immune to tragedy than anyone elses.

There is no cure for mental retardation. The affliction can be minimized with training and understanding and a decent environment. Providing these things is the goal of such homes as the three proposed for Canton Township.

Big tax cut brought jobs

In June 1978, California voters approved Proposition 13, which reduced their property taxes by a stunning 13 percent.

We were told at the time that this would lead to the demise of the state because it would drastically reduce public services and force new kinds of taxes on business to replace lost revenue.

We were told it would slow economic growth because business would have less money to invest in plant and equipment, which in turn would create

More than a year has passed, and the first signs are coming in loud and clear.

SINCE THE ADOPTION of Proposition 13, some 100.000 workers have left local government employment, reducing the rolls by 8 percent. Actually, only 17,000 were laid off. The rest quit or retired and were never replaced.

Yet school systems, police departments and other public agencies are still functioning, although on moderately tighter budgets.

On the other hand, California has added 552,000 new jobs in the private sector — enough to absorb laid-off government workers plus an immigration of jdb seekers from other states — and still reduce unemployment faster than the national average.

-California's unemployment rate has historically been running two points higher than the national average, but today it is running a half-point lower han the national average.

The $6.4 billion tax cut from Proposition 13, followed by a $1 billion cut in the state income tax which was pushed through the legislature, added a healthy stimulus to California's economy.

DURING THE FIRST year after Proposition 13 was passed, personal incomes rose 14 percent. Few states did better. The U.S. Commerce Department attributes a full 2 percent to the effects of the tax

The property tax helped break a downward trend in housing, and the increased personal income helped to increase consumer spending.

The state's inhabitants have unquestionably been inconvenienced by a variety of modest cutbacks in local services. But their increased income has also increased revenue from the state income tax, which has been used to lessen the blow on municipalities.

The state treasury surplus today is higher than it was at the time Proposition 13 was passed.

SHORTLY AFTER California passed this controversial amendment, Michigan passed the Headlee tax limitation amendment. It didn't reduce taxes but put a lid on increased taxes in the future.

Shock from Tigers' boss

It's too bad that the so-called dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans didn't hear Sparky Anderson when he spoke to the baseball writers at their annual meeting.

When the prematurely white-haired manager of the Tigers took to the podium, he broke every rule and precedent of the association of managers when he dropped this bomb:

"I am an egotist. And I want to see my name in the paper.

Then, with a broad smile on his tanned face, he told the writers that his door was always open, that they were welcome to drop in any time.

There was nothing new in this remark, as all managers tell you that at the beginning of their term on a new job. But Sparky stunned even the oldtimers when he added:

"I don't want you fellows criticizing my players. Instead blame me, for whatever they do on the playing field I have told them to do. It's my fault when things go wrong. So don't hesitate to blame me.

WELL, THE STROLLER has been around for quite a while. He has listened to managers from the days of Ty Cobb, and they all have their own way of doing things. But never before had he heard a manager ask for criticism.

It usually is the other way around. The manager damns the players for their mistakes.

While most writers were recovering from Sparky's remarks, he regaled them with an interesting story about himself.

"When I was a young lad growing up on the farm," he said, "I spent a lot of time reading the newspapers. I'd read all about things in the sports world and often wished that, someday, my name would appear on the sports pages.

"I thought what a great treat it would be for a fellow like me, growing up far away from the bigtime scene, to see my name in print. Finally I was lucky enough to see it happen. And you can imagine how I felt the first time I saw it."

Then, casting his eye around the room, he contin-

IN ALL THE YEARS The Stroller covered the major league baseball scene, he never encountered a manager who begged to have his name in print. Most have evaded answering critical questions, and they didn't hesitate to tell you off when you leveled a bit of criticism their way.

Questions about Super Sewer

What legal right did the Canton Township Board of Trustees have to vote ("gamble" - Treasurer Jim Donahue's word) $307,000 of our money on building Super Sewer?

The Headlee Amendment requires a vote of the people on sewers before bonds can be sold to construct sewers, so I don't see how the Board can commit $307,000 to be spent on design since that is part of construction costs. The township already has existing a $7.3 million water and sewer debt

How much will Super Sewer cost residents and taxpayers? The total cost is at least $71 million. A federal grant (taxes) will pay $54 million; state grants (taxes) will pay 5 percent ($3.5 million).

That leaves a $13.5 million local tax share. It is actually all our money — only out of a different pocket. What about maintenance costs?

Why is the Township Board giving total control of operation and water and sewer rate setting to the Wayne County Board of Commissioners?

It has been front-page news for years that Wayne County is operating in the red and asking the state for financial assistance (our money) due to mismanagement.

Over a hundred Canton residents recently appealed to the Board the fact that they cannot afford their water bills increasing at astronomical rates. An 80 percent increase was scheduled for this January. Sewer rates have increased more than 1,000 percent since 1969 and 430 percent since 1975 and

WHY ARE THE township and county still forging ahead with Super Sewer plans when state law set up SEMCOG as the regional planning authority for Wayne County and "urging" officials to slow down sewer construction because existing sewers are more than adequate?

Why did the Township Board suddenly feel intimidated when Wayne County said the "system will not include any communities not signing the agreement by Tuesday" Canton has been getting these ultimatums regularly since about 1973. Super Sewer was first proposed 14 years ago. If medium-sized sewage plants are more efficient and cost effective, as stated by Wayne County representative (Duane) Egeland in the Detroit News (Jan. 1), why is he pressuring Canton to build Super Sewer?

The gigantic Macomb sewer collapse of 1977 cost people $15 million on water bills just for repair. Determination of negligence and who should pay (designer or contractor) is still in court.

These residents must have suffered immensely from 8 million gallons of raw sewage dumped daily for two weeks into the Clinton River and Lake St.

Why couldn't Canton do what some other communities such as Ann Arbor have done and pull out of Super Sewer because of exorbitant costs, environmental fears and loss of local control? They got a federal grant and now operate their own treatment plant. Why did the board vote for Super Sewer in order "to grow industrially and any other way"? CITIZEN'S ADVISORY groups have repeatedly begged for growth control in order to stabilize taxes, schools, services and environment. Lack of sewer capacity has been Canton's only legal defense for growth control. For years developers have consistently been getting plat approvals for subdivisions with the stipulation that building is dependant on sewer capacity.

How can Canton's plans for voter-approved concept of farmland preservation proceed? Citizens' study groups and surveys have shown that it is desired and necessary. Agricultural products have become an international tool for world peace. Agricultural land tends to be usurped as soon as sewers become available.

Are broken promises all Canton voters can expect from board officials they elected?

'Dreams for sale' at a Lake Huron house

How do you sell a dream? Impossible.

I guess when you get to the point of putting a dream on the auction block, it's all over. Reality has

It was the summer of my 14th birthday when my family took a Sunday drive to Port Sanilac and discovered a house on Lake Huron, far away from the road and beach, to make a safe playground for my younger brother and sister. It was bordered by a creek with jumping fish and an occasional vocal bullfrog. A massive weeping willow draped its branches to the ground, a perfect place for stolen kisses and summer romances.

Daddy, true to his Irish heritage, named the lake home, "Inisfree," after a magical place in Ireland where leprechauns supposedly danced after finding the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

NOT ONLY SUMMER romances existed there. Mom and Dad were part of a vanishing breed who didn't believe in divorce or at least never showed evidence of ever wanting to be anything other than lovers.

Whenever the moon was full, admiring its own reflection on the quiet water, they would sneak out the back door. I still see their dark images, so close they appeared as one silhouette, walking toward the

The Children's Hour" had existed from morning until nightfall, days filled with the family collecting sea shells and driftwood, "beach bumming" as Mom called it. Later, there were suppertime barbeques on the patio or roasting marshmallows in the fieldstone fireplace

Jocelyn Krieger

Moonlit nights belonged to Mom and Dad.

I remember when they built the fireplace downstairs. A local man built it from huge stones gathered in the area. I always puzzled how he found so many rocks because the beach was nothing but sand and miniature pebbles.

The glittering rocks must have come from surrounding fields which edged the woods. A blazing fire would warm the entire houe on chilly evenings, permeating the air with a special aroma.

THE AROMA WAS unforgettable. My son Doug returned last year from New York with a sweater which reminded him of "Grandpa's house." He said he couldn't resist it, especially since it was on sale.

"What kind of sale?" I questioned, knowing the answer in advance from one whiff of the sweater.

"A fire sale," Doug replied. My kids shared so many memories of "Inisfree," fishing with Grandpa in the creek and watching Grandpa play tricks on serious fishermen who would stop and ask to sink their lines.

Daddy never took his fishing seriously, so he couldn't understand a man who would go to the bother of selecting the perfect bait from a wide collection in a tackle box.

One day, Daddy took a jar of kosher dills and fastened a huge pickle to the hook. A pro fisherman watched in disbelief as Daddy cast his pickle-baited line into the water.

"What do you intend to catch with a pickle?" the man asked incredulously.

"Haven't you ever heard of pickled herring?" came Daddy's flippant reply.

WHEN DADDY RETIRED, they sold their home in Bad Axe and moved to Inisfree. Mom rebuilt the entire house with loving touches only a wife and grandmother could plan.

The stairway had to have a Dutch door, allowing the top half to remain open if communication were desired between those upstairs and anyone using the apartments below. The bottom half of the door would keep little ones safe near the stairs.

They replaced the walls facing the lake with one expanse of picture windows: I guess the beach had become too far away on moonlit nights. Now they could sit snugly, side by side, and watch the passing

Even the winter with the icy lakeshore was beautiful in their eyes. Perhaps, when you've reached the autumn of lfe, even winter holds enchantment.

NOW IT'S REALITY. Daddy is gone.

Mom couldn't live at Inisfree without her Irishman because she would only wake up every morning expecting him to be there. My brother's invitation to live near him in Virginia was far enough away to leave a dream behind.

A half-ton loser tells a bedtime story

I've lost 1,000 pounds.

I lost 10 pounds 100 times, and then I gained it

Our use of the words "lost" and "gain" indicates our attitude in this area. "Lost" is a negative word. "Gain," in contrast, has positive connotations.

As an expert in losing and gaining weight, I have some insight into the terminology. Dieting has always been a negative part of my life, and gaining it back has always been a positive experience.

IT'S NOT THAT I was happy watching my stomach grow or my thighs increase in flabbiness - but I relished every spoonful of those hot fudge sundaes with strawberries and every forkful of that whole apple pie.

Hot fudge sundaes with strawberries are my nutritional fantasy come true. The pleasure I observe on those televison commercials, where one character holding peanut butter collides with another carrying chocolate, is minor compared to my actual ecstasy when I taste the combination of hot fudge and strawberries.

And how could anything as all-American as apple pie be detrimental? In a hungry, and even perhaps unconsciously patriotic mood, I once ate a whole

I remember the simple decision that led to this feast. I looked on the pie box and noted that the contents weighed 1 lb. 4 oz. and decided that amount was the most I could gain from eating the whole thing.

WHEN SUNDAES and pies are unavailable, I choose the attainable delicacy of bread and butter. There is an art to making this simple fare extra special. My method is to take a piece of bread and put all the butter and jelly on it that will stay without rolling off. You know there is enough on it when you need two hands to hold it and when the top shakes like Jello.

I prefer to eat in private. When my husband notices a miniscule serving on my plate, he often asks me if that amount is sufficient for a meal. What he doesn't realize is that, while preparing the dinner, I completed a superb stint as a taster. And if there is anything left over, I can innocently put the food into my mouth instead of the refrigerator.

THIS MAN WHOM I've known for more than half of my life has seen me consume sundaes and pies, but the bread, butter and jelly episodes are personal experiences.

I never realized the extreme I would go to in order to keep it that way until one particular evening I was folding my mate's white undershirts that night when the children called down that they were ready for a bedtime story.

I loathe folding laundry almost as much as I dislike dieting. As soon as my husband went upstairs to read to the girls, I ran into the kitchen. It probably was the only time that day that I exerted myself.

I took that soft, sweet-smelling bread and laded down a slice with butter and jelly and carried it to the couch watching it wriggle. I sat next to the pile of folded laundry and took one large lingering bite.

Suddenly I heard footsteps on the stairs and I realized I had miscalculated my private time. "Didn't you read them a story?" I gurgled through the mouthful that suddenly seemed to be poison.

"They only wanted a short one," came the answer from the nearby hall.

Like a criminal caught in the act, I knew immediate action was necessary. I took my beautiful treat and hid it — in the stack of white underwear.

Win 7th straight at Monroe

Rock grapplers set torrid pace

The Plymouth Salem wrestling team continues to cause tremors around the state of Michigan.

The latest earthquake came last Saturday at Monroe when the Rocks captured their seventh straight tournament, outpointing seven other teams.

Ranked No. 4 in Class A, Salem took the team title with 181 points. Saline was second with 149 followed by Suburban Eight League rival Belleville with 1391/2. Other teams which competed included Adrian, fourth, 90; Monroe, fifth, 89; Monroe Catholic Central, 451/2; Tecumseh, 441/2; and Dearborn, eighth, 27.

"It was a goodtourney and the competition was strong - teams like Belleville and Saline," said Salem coach Ron Krueger, whose team is also 8-0 in dual

"It was well run and we enjoyed it," he said.

The Rocks had four individual champions and three runners-up.

At 107 pounds, Salem's Jim Schultz raised his record to 33-2 overall and won the Hustler Award by defeating Rob Yates of Monroe in the finals, 14-3.

Teammate Jeff Brown (121) also came through with a first place finish. He raised his personal record to 27-7 with 13-0 decision over Belleville's Fred Vera in the finals.

MARK ROSS, a senior, also took an individual title when he decisioned Saline's Kevin McCollough in the finals at 128 pounds, 5-0. Ross is now 33-4-1 overall.

Salem's fourth crown came when Jerry Valchine (0) defeated Saline's Steve Hatfield in the finals, 16-9. The Rock grappler upped his record to 36-2. Second place finishers for the Rocks included Jeff Powers (187), Jeff Dunson (114) and junior Steve Szilagyi

Powers lost a close match to Saline's Jerry Hanson in the finals, 8-5, while Szilagyi was upended by tourney MVP John Shafer, also of Saline, on a pin at Dunson reached the finals, but was unable to compete because an injury to his mouth which required seven stitches after he beat Belleville's Dave Cook in the semifinals, 4-1.

Third place finishers for Salem included Scott Piper (157), Stan Snider (200) and Greg Gattoni (heavyweight).

Piper took the consolation final ?by decisioning Tecumseh's Chris Silberhorn, 15-0. It was the second straight decision for Piper over Sil-

Snider took care of Bill Klumpp of Monroe in the consolation finals, 15-2, while Gattoni downed Ralph Mahlak for the second time, 2-1. Gattoni won the first time on a pin.

Freshman Jeff Vojcek also added to the victory for Salem with a fourth place finish at 100 pounds. He lost to Walter Young of Belleville in the consolation finals, 14-6.

SALEM WILL host Livonia Bentley Thursday at 6:30 p.m. and then travels to Walled Lake Western Friday at 5:15 p.m. to meet the host team, North Farmington and Howell Salem's biggest test will come a week from Thursday at No. 5 rated Trenton. The match will determine the leader in the regular season standings of the Suburban Eight League.

Salem cagers rally at Belleville

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Salem rallied in the final quarter and withstood a Belleville onslaught in the final minute to post a 49-46 Suburban Eight League cage victory Tuesday night.

It was a close struggle all the way Salem capitalized on free throws down the stretch to thwart the Belleville up-

The game was dominated by fouls and turnovers (37 total). Salem built a 20-11 lead midway through the second quarter but found itself down by three at halftime, 26-23.

The Tigers managed to hold that lead until 6:02 left in the game when Salem center Howard Monk, who led all scorers with 17 points, hit a layup. He gave Salem the lead for good with 2:53 left on a rebound basket off a missed free throw by teammate Jim Anderson.

With 59 seconds remaining, Belleville guard Glenn Johnson scored to cut the Rocks' advantage to 47-46.

The Tigers then fouled Anderson with 46 seconds left. He missed the front end of a one-and-one situation. Guard Charles Blackmon then followed suit 16 seconds later, missing a free throw in another one-and-one attempt. Rob Neu then stepped up to the line for Salem with just 22 seconds left and failed to convert the first of bonus pen-

HE THEN fouled Belleville's Mike Sampson on the ensuing play two seconds later. And you guessed it, Sampson failed to hit his single attempt as the ball banged off a Rock player under the Tiger basket.

Belleville then inbounded the ball and threw up two medium range jumpers in the final 10 seconds. Scott Bublin, who scored 10 points and grabbed nine rebounds, iced it when he snared an important rebound with only three sec-

He was fouled on the play and converted both free throws to give Salem three-point win.

"It was a free throw game with the clock stopping a lot," sighed Salem Coach Fred Thomann, whose team upped its overall mark to 11-1 and 6-0 in the league.

"It's our turn to go on the road and we have to deal with it," he said. "Tonight we had a rough time on the line."

Salem hit 17 of 30 foul shots for 56 percent. Belleville, with numerous chances to win it, hit only 10 of 22 for 45 percent.

We could have won it," said a disappointed Belleville Coach Tom Niemi. "We had the last four shots. I'm proud of our effort, but we always seem to come up short. We're a little shy at the critical times. The Tigers, despite a 2-10 mark, gave the No. 9 ranked Rocks all they

"We played a ranked team and they knew they were in the game," reminded Niemi. "We have great respect for Plyouth Salem and I think they feel the same about us. We've been down to the wire before.'

Salem started the game out with a surprise zone defense to contain the quick Belleville quintet.

The Rocks, normally a man-to-man team, reverted to its standard defense in the final quarter, holding Belleville to 10 points.

"We got a little spurt from our zone and it gave us a change of pace," explained Thomann. "I stayed with it though a little too long.

"We got to a point where we stopped playing ball and dealt with the surroundings. We got dynamite games, I thought, from (Mike) McBride and (Leigh) Langkabel off the bench.

The game was dominated by fouls as both teams were whistled for a total of 52 infractions. Three Belleville players fouled out. Neu, who had seven assists, exited with his fifth with 20 seconds

Monk, who grabbed 12 rebounds, scored eight of his 17 points in the final

Belleville had three players in double figures — Blackmon (13), Johnson (10) and reserve forward Charles Belleville had visions of upset on its home court, gaining a 33-25 lead with 6:08 left in the third quarter. But shortly after. Thomann's squad began its rally.

Salem gymnasts tumble

Belleville downed Plymouth, Salem in a girls' gymnastics meet Monday night, 87.35-47.00.

The loss dropped Salem to 1-2 overall. The Rocks' were given credit for a victory over Walled Lake Western earlier in the month after Coach Carol Michaels discovered that two male gymnasts were not listed on the eligibility roster.

Despite losing to Western, 73.25-46.65, Salem was awarded its first win in two years. Salem's top gymnast, Darla Doumanian, did not compete against Belleville because of a knee injury she suffered in the warmup.

"Darla was half on, half off the vault and landed wrong," explained Michaels. "I'm not sure how serious the injury is. "It definitely hurt our score without her in Cheryl Neupert led Belleville by winning the vault (8.55) and floor excise (8.15). Sharon Alger won the uneven parallel bars (7.2) with Tiger teammate Holly Finch taking the balance beam (7.45)

Salem's top scores came in the vault - LeAnne Albright (4.8), Donna Ankofski (4.5) and Kris Fenske

Salem's high scorers in the uneven bars were April Richardson (3.35), Sue Nitz (3.0) and Dana Nitz ledthe Rocks in the floor exercise with a score 4.75. She was followed by teammates Julie Hulak (4.35) and Fenske (4.15). Salem scores in the balance beam included Nitz

(4.35), Cindy McSurley (3.3) and Fenske (3.05). "The girls performed up to par," Michaels said. "We went with a lot of JV kids. Some were in events they hadn't planned on."

Livonia Stevenson handed Plymouth Salem a 92-80 boys' swim loss Tuesday

The defeat dropped Salem's overall dual meet mark to 4-4.

"Every event we lost a point or so," said Salem Coach Chuck Olson. "We just didn't swim well tonight."

The Rocks managed only first place finishes from Tim Harwood in the 200yard individual medley (2:12.8) and brother Bruce in the 100-yard backstroke (1:02.6).

Larry Hein, one of the top swimmers in the state, paced Stevenson by placing first in the 50-yard freestyle (:23.0) and 100-yard butterfly (:55.3).

Gaining second place finishes for Salem were Russ Shaffer, 200-yard freestyle, 1:55.0, and 500-yard freestyle, 5:10.7; Kirk Albert, 50-yard freestyle, 23.7, and 100-yard butterfly, 0:57.2; Doug Kleinsmith, 100-yard freestyle, 0.53.0: Jeff Stella, 100-yard breaststroke, 1:07.5.

The Plymouth Canton wrestling team tied for eighth in the largest oneday wrestling tourney in Michigan, the Rochester Adams Invitational, Saturday. They scored 86 points among 25

Host team Rochester Adams finished in first place with 1801/2 points followed by Montrose (1681/2), Oscoda (1291/2), Grand Rapids Creston (121), Howell (991/2), Clio (89), Northville (871/2), Bloomfield Hills Lasher (871/2) and Warren Fitzgerald (86).

The Chiefs wrestled well, according to coach Dan Chrenko, who was displeased with the way the tournament

"We had three wrestlers win three matches and still not get medals because of the seeding," said Chrenko. The state rule says that only four matches can be wrestled by any individual in one day.

"The way it was set up was to protect the best wrestlers and since our kids aren't known out in Oakland County very much, we weren't seeded very high, if at all," explained Chrenko. "So when our kids come in and beat the seeded kids, it ended up they can't wrestle any more because they have already wrestled four matches. In fact, in one weight class, there wasn't even a championship match wrestled because both the kids in the finals had already wrestled four times that day."

The Chiefs fared well with eight wrestlers winning three of their four

'We scored in every weight class but two," said Chrenko. "I'm very pleased with the way the kids wrestled. They did a good job."

Dave Vaughn (169) won three matches on the day, increasing his record to 24-7 and placed fifth. Paul Mooney (187) also placed fifth and raised his win total to 21.

Tom Harreld (114), another fifthplace finisher, became the winningest wrestler on the team with 25 victories.

Sophomore Steve Hamblin (147) rounded out the fifth place finishers for Canton. Hamblin has tied the school record for most wins by a sophomore with 22.

Bob Mullen placed sixth at 157 pounds

"Steve (Hamblin) has been wrestling very well," said Chrenko. "(Kevin) Santilli (128) had a great day in beating a state qualifier, and Bob (Mullen) also had a great day for us."

Tim Racer (134) joined the 20-win club for the Chiefs, capturing three matches and losing only one despite not placing in the top six. Tom Holloway (107) also won three for Canton.

Freshman Todd Bartlett continues to rack up the victories for the Chiefs as he raised his win total to 19 with three

"We had a long hard week," said Chrenko. "We're looking forward to a

Salem spikers lose in 3 sets

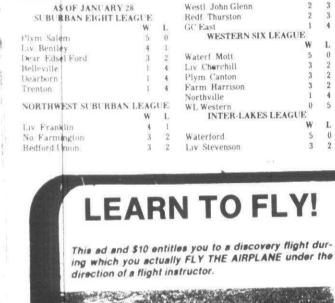

The Plymouth Salem varsity volleyball team proved that without consistant serves it is impossible to win games losing to Trenton Monday night in a best two-out-of-three contest 15-13,

The loss gave the Rocks a 1-2 record in the Suburban Eight League and a 3-2 overall record.

"There's no excuse for why we lost except for the lack of mental concentration," said Salem Coach Cathy Himes. "We were equal with Trenton in every other aspect of the game, but lost the ball by serving it in to the net all the time.

Trenton coach Jim Monroe commented that he was sorry that one of the two teams had to lose because the match was so close.

Plymouth Canton, sparked by guard Scott Adler's 24 points, romped to an easy 87-55 victory Tuesday night at home over Redford Thurston.

Adler, a senior, was instrumental in giving Canton a commanding 52-20 halftime bulge. He scored 18 points in the first two quarters and hit nine of 10 shots from the floor for a 90 percent accuracy mark. It was his career high.

Canton Coach Craig Bell couldn't have been more pleaseed with his team's lopsided 32-point victory. "I'm very happy to see us go out so strong in the beginning like we did and still be able to maintain our intensity the entire game," he said.

"We talked about having the killer instinct at

From the opening tip-off the game was never in doubt as the Chiefs built up a 14-point lead at the end of one quarter, 25-11.

The Eagles cut that margin to 13, but could come no closer. The Chiefs responded by connecting for two 10-point flurries sandwiched around a Thurston basket as Canton went into the dressing room at halftime, leading by 22.

Canton continued its offensive assault in the second half, even though Bell cleared his bench early. The Chiefs increased their lead to 75-40 at the end of three quarters.

BELL MAINTAINED that his squad must keep up the momentum going into Friday's Western Six League game at Northville. "We have to play with consistency," he said.

"We've won big like this before and then come out flat for the next game. "We can't afford to do that against Northville

They're a good team and we have a lot of respect for them. If we lose one more league game we're out of the race. Every game from now on is very Waterford Mott leads the league with a 5-0 mark followed by Canton and Livonia Churchill at 3-2.

Three other Canton players hit for double figures against Thurston - Brad Westin (17), Sean Houle (12) and Dave Malek (10). Mark Maddock and Andy Amos each had nine for the Eagles.

Canton went also without leading scorer Dave Visser, who was home in bed with the flu. It is unknown if he'll be ready for Northville.

THE CANTON freshmen team got 14 points from Don Dombey and 12 from Mike Von Behren and went on to defeat Farmington Power Tuesday afternoon, 68-48.

The Chiefs, who led at halftime, 27-20, also got eight each from Mike Scarpello and Jim Freeman.

Canton is now 3-2 overall and will meet Walled Lake Western Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. in a home game

There promises to be a wild

Seeded as the defending champion, Strampe was able to post a mere 1568 while bowling with the field Sunday. Meanwhile John Ruggerio, former captain of the Stroh team, paced the qualifiers with a 1733 series. Behind came Dick Beattie with a 1716, and third place went to Ed Peart of the current Stroh team.

Few champions have been able to repeat, and Strampe will attempt to break the jinx in what is looked upon as one of the strongest fields in years.

JOHN HURLEY'S hopes of being credited with a national record for his 43 consecutive 600 series in the Wednesday doubles league at Westland Bowl were dashed this week.

Checking with the American Bowling Congress, it was learned that John Sabo, former owner of the Grand Central Recreation, had 47 series above 600 and is credited with the record. The lone difference is that Sabo bowled in seven leagues to get his big total while Hurley got his in the one league. So, there might be hope.

FIVE NEW members were admitted to the western suburbs 700 club during the past week.

Frank Conklin qualified for membership by rolling a 717 in the Wednesday Trio loop at Woodland Joining him at Woodland was Tim Henry with a 715 in the senior house league. Helen Martin barely missed when she fired a 699 in the Keglerettes circuit.

Two members wre admitted at Farmington Lanes where Terry Fry posted a 726 that included a 247 middle game. and Tim Smith had a 267 middle game for a 712. Meanwhile, Mary Jane Hunt had a 218 in 604 in the Tuesday ladies league.

The fifth new member was Ken Lang, who continued the high scoring at Westland Bowl with a 712 in the Classic.

MARK WOLOSICWICZ moved to center stage at Westland when he joined the select circle of those who have bowled perfect games. He connected for the perfect count in the I.O.O.F. league. It was the fifth perfect game rolled in the house this season.

In other good performances at Westland, Toni Smith paced the doubles with a 260 in 634, and Bill Fite missed joining Ken Lang in the classic 700 club by a mere four pins. In the ladies division, Judy Zimmerman showed the way with a 630 and Kim Jones was right behind with JOAN LEWIS took top honors in the Livonia Ladies Classic when she won the third game with 214-28-242 and the series with 548-84-632. In the other games, Dolores Dowhan won the first with 199-41-240, and Marion Heath took the second with 190-30-220.

CLOSE FINISHES again were the order of the day at Garden Lanes. John Beaty paced the St. Linus loop with 617, and Charles Kulberg and Dick Bazner deadlocked for second place with 605.

In the Wayne County loop, Chuck Sennt showed the way with 643 that gave him an eight-pin edge on Ken

In the suburban traveling league, Fran Lizsey was out in front 632.

THE PINS WERE flying at Plaza Lanes, and Dave Kauppi played a leading role in the firing. He paced the Pinbusters with a 246 in 647 then dld the same thing in the business and industrial league when he found the range for a 635. His closest rival was Glenn Bruneel, who opened with a 246 for 635 to take second place in the Pinbusters loop. Second place in the business and industrial loop went to Gary Zalewski with 614.

Continuing the pace, Roman Saipron rolled a finishing game of 267 for 628 in the castaways circuit, and Kevin Wonder had a 615 to pace the Plymouth men's league.

Rock reserve cagers triumph

By THOMAS ZAIBEK

The Plymouth Salem junior varsity basketball team continued its winning ways Friday by trouncing Livonia Bentley, 55-42.

Geoff Baker, John Gannon, Jeff Hubert, John McDowell, Dave Houle and

Norm Haygood spearheaded a fine defensive effort by the Rocks.

Bentley was held to only three points in the first quarter and managed only 15 by haltime.

Baker led Salem with 11 points and Haygood, a center, added 10.

Anderson discusses 'Bird'

By W.W. EDGAR

To all followers of the Detroit Tigers, here's a hot tip. And it comes straight from manager Sparky Anderson:

Don't count too much on Mark "The Bird" Fidrych this coming season.

In an exclusive interview with the Tiger pilot, he stressed this point: "Don't forget The Bird hasn't pitched in two years," and added, "If you were away from your job for that length of time, you couldn't get right back in to the swing of things."

Sparky didn't hesitate to say that he was hoping for the best and that The Bird could become a great asset to the team again. But he is keeping his fingers crossed.

"The Bird looks in the best of health," he said, "and he says he has no pain in his shoulder, that it's all gone.

"That's fine. But now we have to wait and see what happens when we get down to real training.

"When he was down in Florida with the instruction group, he seemed to be doing all right. But he had lost his real motion.

"He was throwing high — about at the waist or letters — and that is not like him. The Bird is a low-ball pitcher. That's how he gained his early fame. He'll have to get back to the low ball or the hitters in this league could make a lot of trouble for him."

According to Anderson, the doctors have told him that The Bird can get his old motion back and throw low balls again. But it will take time.

"I'm going to watch him very carefully in spring training. We'll start him slowly and give him every chance to get his old form back. It will be a case of watchful waiting."

Thus far, Anderson confided, The Bird is very serious about his chances of coming back. He doesn't fool around on the mound anymore or do any of the things he did two years ago when he was at his peak.

Asked what would happen if the old injury turns up again at spring training camp, Sparky said The Bird would be through.

"I hope no such thing happens, "he said, "as I'm counting on him to take a regular turn on the mound along with Jack Morris, Milt Wilcox and Dave Rozema.

"But don't forget, he hasn't pitched in two years."

What kind of father lets his kid work for nickels & dimes?

A father who realizes that a newspaper carrier route can reward a youngster with much more than spending money.

It can teach the sweet satisfaction of self-reliance and paying your own way. It can teach a lot about people, about getting along with fellow workers, about bosses, and about what you owe customers and what they owe you.

It can teach pride, responsibility and hanging in there doing what has to be done and doing it right.

If you'd like this for your youngster, suggest that he—or she—call our circulation department and ask about a newspaper route.

Oh, and about the money. In this job the nickels and dimes very quickly add up to real dollars.

THERE HAS BEEN a lot of partying going on at Central Middle School but the parties have been tinged with sad-

Nola Lutey, who taught English, social studies and music to sixth graders for the past 71/2 years is retiring. Her husband, Richard, is taking an early retirement fron Ford Motor Co. and Nola is going to spend her time with him.

Each of her sixth grades planned a party with food, flowers and moist farewells. The staff party was Monday in the Jacob Room of Hillside Inn. There was no school because it was a records day so the teachers had a luncheon get-together in Nola's honor.

Longtime teachers at Central could not recall another occasion when every member of the staff showed up for a party. The cooks and the teachers' aides came too.

Ten teachers wore tophats as they sang "Goodbye, Nola" to the tune of "Hello, Dolly." Among the gifts were a charcoal portrait of Nola by Fred Bersche, a teacher, and a tote bag with the names of composers on it.

"SHE HAS DONE more in the way of exposing the children to culture than any member of the staff," stated one of the teachers.

Music has been an important part of Nola Lutey's life.

Her father was a professional clarinetist and saxophonist in the big band era. He played with the Tommy Dorsey, Paul Whiteman and Casa Loma orchestras. In fact, he earned his tuition for dental college by playing with the big bands.

When she was 6, Nola and her brother were a song and dance team. She studied voice in California and New York. When the Metropolitan Opera came to Detroit and auditioned local talent, Nola was chosen to sing with the stars.

She was very active in the Grosse Pointe Theatre group and had lead roles in their musicals. She sang with the Ford Continentals.

When her youngest child was 4, she went back to school and earned her teaching degree at the University of Michigan. Teachers and students at Central would pause in the hallway as they passed her classroom. Nola, at the piano, would be singing a show tune from "Annie" or another familiar song.

The Luteys will maintain their Plymouth residence as a home base but hope to do some traveling during their retirement.

JIM AND JEAN Jabara were in Malibu, Calif. for son Michael's graduation.

He has been working at Rolm Telecommunications in Santa Clara while going to school and still is employed at Rolm. Mike graduated from Plymouth High School in 1970, one of the last classes to graduate from the old high school which now is Central Middle School.

Marty, the Jabaras' other son, was on hand for the graduation too.

THE SEARCH is on for area residents whose German ancestors may have lived in Russia. Henry Felker of Deer Run Road in Canton Township is president of the local chapter of the newly organized ethnic historical group, American Historical Society of (Germans from Russia (AHSGR).

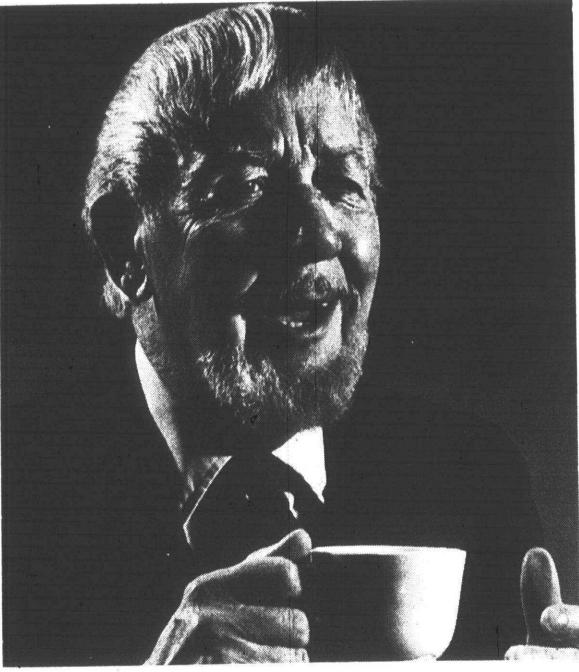

"We feel certain that German from Russia families live in this area and may be unaware that this southeast Michigan chapter exists and can help them in compiling their family histories," said Henry.

Germans from Russia trace their ancestry to the 1700s when the German princess, Catherine the Great, invited Germans, especially farmers, to settle in the Volga River area of Russia. With the Communist revolution of 1917, the German population was cut in half by famine and persecution. Eventually, they were forced from their homes and sent to remote sections of Russia, including Siberia. Thousands fled to North America, especially United States, Canada and Mexico.

Persons wishing to learn more about the organization can attend the next meeting March 20 at Lawrence Institute of Technology, Ten Mile Road at the Lodge Freeway. Or they can call Felker at 459-6675.

Old manse readied for 'boat people'

Suburban Life

Getting a five-bedroom house ready for a family that has nothing, possible not even shoes, is a big job in anyone's language.

Yet that's exactly the job that members of First United Presbyterian Church in Plymouth have taken on.

Fortunately, they already have the house. For the rest, they're going to need help from their friends.

A specially formed Boat People Committee of the church has sent in an application to sponsor a 10-member Vietnamese family.

THE NEWCOMERS will be housed in the Presbyterian manse beside the church on Church Street. The manse has not been used as such for seven years, and recently an effort was made to find a buyer who would move the building so the land could be turned into a parking lot.

There were no takers, and so the empty building was a good starting point when members of the church and the society committee began to investigate the possibilities of sponsoring a family. These committee members are

And don't forget to introduce the children to him again. They've probably grown and changed since the preseason game last August.

Thankfully, I enjoy football as much as my husband, and apparently, a lot of Canton folks take delight in seeing those 22 men fight over that funny shaped ball for an hour.

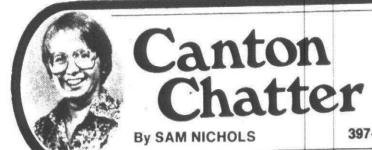

Sue and Art Lawrence were hosts for the second annual Super Bowl party in their Carriage Hills neighborhood. The "tailgate" cocktail party began at 5 p.m. and Sue served a delectable halftime buffet.

Like many a hostess, Sue decided to try out a new recipe, then worried about it all week. Her worries proved ungrounded as the Italian Bombers (sausages which had been simmering all day then served on hobo buns) were eagerly devoured.

Cole slaw, baked beans, deviled eggs, and a gelatin mold completed the buffet. A sheet cake, decorated like a football field in Steelers and Ram colors, served as an appropriate dessert for the occasion.

FRIENDS AND neighbors who enjoyed the Lawrence's hospitality included Helen and Mike Wesner, Jan and Darrell Brawn, Judy and Dominic Cirino, Mary Ellen and Bud Mogaldi, Shannon and Jim Monro, Sue and Dan Baker, and Mary and Sherm Moore.

While it was impossible for everyone's choice to win the football game. the afternoon of fun was definitely a winning event.

JET AND RUDY Baas also hosted a Super Bowl party. Hors d'oeuvres and snacks were the bill of fare during the contest, and pizza provided the nourishment for the after-game play-by-play of what might-have-been.

Sports fans and friends at this gathering included Linda and Al Minsterman, Barbara and John Clemons, Linda and Rick Nadeau, Bev and George Halloran, and Pat Lewis and E.J. Lund.

YET ANOTHER Super Bowl gathering was hosted by Ginny and Mike Koon. This party was kicked off (forgive me, I couldn't resist) by a 5 p.m. buffet. Lasagna, pizza and tossed salad pleased everyone and sustained them till halftime when more pizza and dessert were served Ginny said it was a neighborhood gathering including Kathy and Fred both true blue (and maize) fans present, and those favoring other colors.

AARP installs new board

A group of volunteers is going to be featured the election of new officers 12. There also will be tax sessions in busy for the next two months getting money for senior citizens.

The money will come in the form of tax rebates, "to which senior citizens are usually entitled," according to tax committee chairman Warren Bain.

The program of giving income tax assistance to senior citizens is sponsored by the Plymouth-Northville Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

Announcement of the schedule of tax sessions was made at the chapter's meeting last week. The meeting also for the chapter. William R. Brown of Plymouth is the new president, succeeding Fred Bradley of Northville.

SENIOR CITIZENS will get tax assistance at the following places and dates: the Plymouth Grange, 273 Union, Feb. 7, Feb. 21 and March 6; the Plymouth Library, 223 S. Main, Feb. 14 and March 13; the Northville Library, 215 W. Main, Feb. 14 and March 21: Allen Terrace, 401 High, Northville, Feb. 28; and Tonquish Creek Manor, 1160 Sheridan, Plymouth, March 5 and

Hours will be from 1 to 4 p.m. on each of these dates. In addition, tax help will be given at the AARP chapter meetings on Feb. 27 and March 26. The Plymouth-Northville volunteers, most of whom aare members of the

the Highland Lakes Clubhouse, Silver

Spring Drive, Northville, Feb. 11 and

AARP, met with others from the Detroit area to take a course in income tax preparation conducted by the IRS in the Plymouth Cultural Center on Jan. 9, 10 and 11. In addition, a state representative gave advice on how to fill out state income tax forms at a meeting Jan. 15.

The tax assistance program has been sponsored by the AARP for the past five years.

THE NEW SLATE of officers is as follows: First vice president, Erwin Kirsten, second vice president, Margaret Path; recording secretary, Inez O'Connor; corresponding secretary, Lena Hammond; treasurer, Marian Coon; and assistant treasurer, Fanny Bear.

Robert Bennett, John Lynch and Frank Ryan were chosen directors for a two-year terms. William Hartmann, Chilton Sparks and Grace Sparks were elected directors for similar terms last

The officers were installed by Ryan, who has been a state chapter member.

The local chapter was founded in 1973 by Bradley, who was its first pres-usually arrive about 10 a.m. to work on knitting and crocheting lap robes for veterans' convalescent homes. The work session is followed by a sack lunch at noon. Coffee and tea are provided. Bradley leads a 20-minute singalong before the business meeting begins at 1. A program follows.

Besides providing lap robes, members of the group have also assisted in packing and collecting medical supplies to be sent overseas by World Medical Relief in Detroit. They have helped out at Red Cross Blood Bank Collec-

Nationally, the AARP is interested in helping senior citizens save money, too. Although it is non-political, it does take an interest in legislation affecting senior citizens, such as laws concerning the containment of hospital proposals to tax social security benefits, and senior citizen housing.

The motto of the AARP is: "To serve and not to be served.

Benefit card party Feb. 11

A Queen of Hearts card party is planned for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 11 in Washington Elementary School, Hix Road at Ann Arbor Road.

The party is sponsored by the Xi Delta Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, a national sorority.

Bridge, pinochle, rummy, hearts, euchre - whatever card game the guests prefer - will be played at the party. Cards will be provided as well as refreshments which will be available throughout the evening. The club is furnishing numerous prizes.

Persons can reserve a foursome or a single, as many as they wish. Tickets at $3 per person will be sold at the door or in advance by calling 453-3334 or 453-3175. Karen Cramer of Plymouth is chairing the event.

The chapter has 15 members from Plymouth, Canton and Livonia. The card party is a ways and means project to provide funding for service projects. The group is planning to work locally with the National Asthma Foundation which has been one of its annual philanthropies. The chapter also contributes to the sorority's International Endowment Fund which in turn contributes to the Cystic Fibrosis Association and cancer reasearch.

Beta Sigma Phi is a service, ways and means, and social organization.

Plays depict Mormon history

Events in Mormon history will be the theme of six, one-act plays at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 2, in the Westland Stake Center, 7575 N. Hix, Westland.

The event will be held in honor of the sesquicentennial of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, which was founded on April 6, 1830, in Fayette, N.Y., by Joseph Smith.

Heart of Gold luncheon stars Ms. editor

Patricia Carbine, publisher and editor in chief of Ms. Magazine, will headline the 13th annual United Foundation Heart of Gold Award luncheon at 11:45 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 5 in Cobo Hall.

She will address more than 2,000 persons on hand for the luncheon which honors outstanding area volunteers for service to the community. Nearly 100 tri-county area volunteers have been nominated for the awards. Winners will be announced during the event.

The luncheon is sponsored by the Women for the United Foundation and the Heart of Gold Award Council. Chairwoman of the occasion is Mrs. John Griffin of Grosse Pointe Farms, vice chairwoman is Mrs. Paul Mirabito of Birmingham. Two of the judges are Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Alan Schwartz of Bloomfield Hills.

Tickets for the award luncheon are now available through the United Foundation. For more information call the foundation at 965-7100.

Called the "Road Show," the annual event will feature a competition between six wards of the church to see which can present the best musical comedy. Performers are members of the church youth groups.

They are helped by grownups who have written the scripts, music and lyrics, and who provide backstage assist-

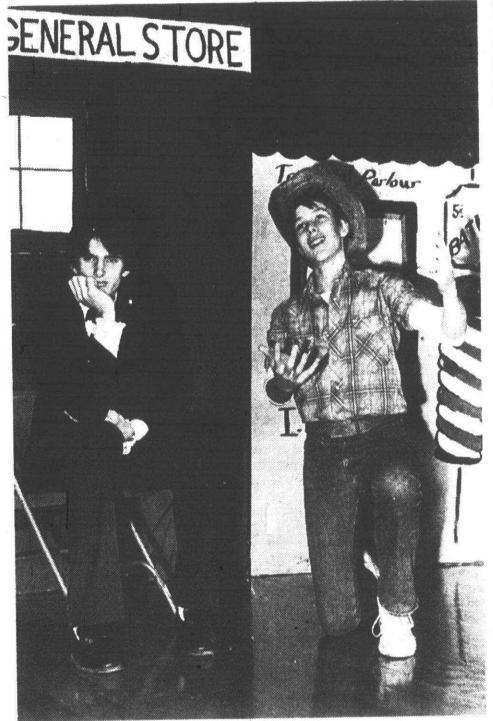

Judy and John Spreitzer built their script for the Livonia Ward around events in the life of an 18th century Mormon pioneer. So interested was he in charitable acts that he had no time to court a wife.

One of the more amusing parts in this comic musical occurs when the Mormon settler receives advice on how to win a bride. Kurt Thorderson, a member of the Bentley High School basketball team, plays the arrogant pioneer, while his brother Jim hams it up giving him courting advice.

Lyrics for this play were written by Sue Tapinsky, who also helped with the script and the scenery. Donna Abbott composed the music. Stage manager is Tom Rogers of Redford, while costumes were prepared by Marie Chamberlain.

Cathy Carstairs has the female lead and Judy Spreitzer directs. Coordinating the program is Mike Taylor. Kris Christensen is chairing the activities committee which oversees the "Road Show." Master of ceremonies for the evening will be Mark Tripp, a professional magician, who will make the intermission pass rapidly as he entertains with his tricks.

The event is free and the public is welcome.

Jim Thorderson of Livonia throws himself into his theatrical role as he explains to a man portrayed by his brother, Kurt, how to win a bride. The two are rehearsing a play to be staged Saturday, Feb. 2, by members of the Mormon Church at 7575 N. Hix, Westland. (Staff photo by Art Emanuele)

FIRST UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF PLYMOUTH, 701 Church, will install the Rev. Thomas H. Cook as assistant minister during 11 a.m. worship Sunday, Feb. 2.

A commission from the Presbytery of Detroit, consisting of the Rev. Douglas McPherson, the Rev. Walter White and the Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee, senior minister of the local church, will conduct the installation. Douglas Becker, Marian West and Judith Phelps will participate as members of the Plymouth church.

Following the the service there will be a congregational reception for Cook.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, will present its sixth Faith Promise Mission Wednesday through Sunday, Feb. 6-10. Services will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday at 7 p.m. Saturday and at 10 and 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sun-

Heading the conference will be the Rev. Art Sims, and his wife, Betty, missionaries to the Philippines for 16 years. Also participating will be Wilbert and Linda Unger, missionaries to Mexico, John and Pat Glenn, directors of Marantha Home Missions and Bill and Betty Kelly, directors of New Life Rescue Mission Bethel Temple, led by the Rev. H.L. Petty, helps support 28 mission families and projects.

GRACE MORAVIAN CHURCH, Merriman south of Cherry Hill and Westland, will show a one-hour dramatic film, "John Hus," at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 3. Joining in sponsoring the presentation will be Faith Community Church, currently meeting in the Pioneer Middle School of Plymouth and planning to break ground for a church home on Warren West of Canton Center Road in Canton.

The story of Hus, a pioneer of the Protestant faith, is described by the Rev. Allen Bergmann, pastor of the host church, as a "gripping presentation of a unique historical figure who planted the seeds of the Protestant Reformation 100 years before Martin Luther." The movie will filmed in West Germany, Czechoslovakia and Califor-

Mother Waddles to visit Madonna

Mother Charlsetta Waddles and Roy Williams, executive director of the Detroit Urban League, will address Madonna College students as well as the general public at 4 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 7, in room 287 of the Madonna administrtion building. Invited by students in a social welfare class for a Black Awareness Month visit, they will discuss the urban poor and the social welfare system. A student panel will lead the questionand-answer period following their dis-

There's nothing like a secret message

There is nothing a child likes better than telling secrets. Usually nothing earthshaking is revealed in these exchanges. Yet the magic of talking in hushed tones seems to give the teller a special feeling.

The telling of secrets imparts an identity, a certain separateness, a role elevated over others. There is power in deciding who should know, who should hear, who should share the secret.

Somehow whispering gives greater meaning and a larger importance to what is being whispered. The whisperer also invariably garners the undivided attention to the listener.

Perhaps even more fun is the secret relayed without even a whisper.

To make this time in their lives have real excitement, send youngsters concealed secrets and teach them the art of message cryptography

On a plain sheet of paper write a message. Use a thin brush as the writing instrument. For invisible ink, dissolve one teaspoon sugar or salt or baking soda in two teaspoons water or vinegar or lemon juice.

Allow the paper to dry.

To read, hold the paper near a source of heat such as a light bulb. (Light bulbs can be very hot, so caution your child and supervise the reading).

When the paper is warm, the writing will turn brown and the secret will have been passed on soundlessly.

Youth's for an hour beauty's a flower, But love is the jewel that ORIN J. MAZZONI, Jr. wins the world. - Moira O'Neill, "Beauty's a Flower' ondest preoccupations of artists in all fields of creative expression. It plays such an important part in our lives that we set aside a special day It seems that February 14 was the day selected to commemorate a martyr named Valentinus who lived during the reign of the Roman mperor Claudius. Somehow this became associated with the Lovers' stivals of the early centuries A.D. and has been handed down to us as a day in celebration of love

When looking for a gift for your Valentine, select something that will not only be as important as your love, but something that will endure and be a constant reminder of it. A gift of gold jewelry is lastingly appropriate. This precious metal radiates warmth just as love does. Gold jewelry set with diamonds makes a further statement. It says that your love will never end, since a diamond is forever." If you prefer red garnets, rubies or tourmaline or your gift, you're expressing feelings of fiery passion. The jewelry artisan is just as susceptible to the theme of love as other artists. A wide selection of heart-shaped lewelry is available: in fact, diamonds and other gems are often cut into a heart shape. We at Orin jewelers have been supplying loving gifts for many

Performing at Madonna College of Livonia on Sunday, Feb. 3 will be three Plymouth residents who are members of the Galicja Song and Dance

Polish dance troupe plans Madonna show

The Galicja Song and Dance Ensemble will offer a program of polish folk songs and dances at Madonna College, Livonia, at 3 p.m. on Sunday as part of a "Dance Showcase" offered by the college during the winter term. The Galicja Ensemble is known throughout the country for its professional rendering of Polish folk dances, and has performed extensively in the metropolitan Detroit area. Members of the troupe, many second and third generation descendents of Polish immigrants, learn of their folk heritage through the expression of the dance. The "Dance Showcase" project is partially funded by the Michigan Council for the Arts as a means of heightening community awareness of the performing arts, and is implemented with matching funds from Madonna College.

In conjunction with the performance, members of the Galicja Ensemble have taught Polish folk dances to students in a Madonna activity therapy in gerontology class, who in turn take their talents into the community, sharing them with residents of an extended care facility.

Later in the term, hearing-impaired students at Madonna College and members of the Detroit Sign Company will learn body movement from the Livonia Regional Ballet as the second phase of the Dance Showcase project. The Detroit Sign Company will then offer a performance in March.

Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students and senior citizens. Tickets may be purchased in advance at the Madonna College switchboard, or at the door the day of the event. For group ticket sales and information, contact the Publicity Office, Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia 48150, (313)

My daughter came home from school with a project that looked a lot like a commercial for a cereal company. Do schools have the right to push name brand products?

Mrs. K.L. Detroit

Most public schools do not intentionally endorse commercial products. However schools do accept material from business that is supposed to be of an "educational nature." Much of this free information does double as advertising, according to Sheila Harty of Ralph Nader's Center for Study of Responsive Law. Ms. Harty said that studies show schools spend only 1 percent of their budgets on instructional materials and cannot afford to keep pace with ever-changing curriculum.

His tail may wag, but breath's a drag

Question: I have a 7-year-old poodle with a social problem. He is a great dog, but whenever he pants in your face, you nearly pass out.

Is there anything to help for bad breath in dogs?

T.M., Livonia

Answer: The most cause of halitosis (bad breath) in dogs and cats is periodontal disease.

In the early stages, the soft plaque can be removed by feeding your dog hard biscuits and by brushing his teeth daily. A 50-50 mixture of salt and baking soda mixed with water to form a paste may be used.

Commercial dog toothpastes are also available from a veterinarian. Human toothpastes tend to cause stomach upset in dogs.

In later stages, the harder calculus is removed by a veterinarian with an ultrasonic dental scaler. This is usually done under anesthesia. If the gums are infected, antibiotics will be given.

In a healthy dog tooth, note the channel between the gum and tooth.

In diseased tooth, if unattended, plaque and calculus formations grow, pus builds up, and the gum is separated from the tooth. (Source: Nabisco, makers of Milk-Bone brand dog biscuits.)

International woes fire up the market

Stock market activity over the past few weeks has been spectacular, to say the least.

The market, has gained approximately 6 percent since the beginning of the year, while many individual stocks have far surpassed that amount.

The volume of trading has leaped to daily average of more than 50 million shares, straining the mechanical facilities of the securities industry almost to its maximum.

The jolt of world events, particularly in Iran and Afghanistan, has caused investors to reevaluate the entire investment arena.

For many years investors have been primarily interested in attaining the higher income that has been available through corporate and municipal bonds and high dividend paying stocks, as opposed to other types of invest-

The logic follows the line of thinking that all the ground — will increase in price commensurate to the increases in the prices of gold and silver.

As a result, the prices of the shares of practically all mining companies have increased appreciably.

The oils, which were already strong because of the increases in the price of oil, have added even more to their prices based upon the value of the oil reserves still in the ground.

ANOTHER AREA of the market that has benefited from recent events is the defense in-

The Russian invasion of Afghanistan will almost certainly guarantee that the U.S. defense budget will be increased sub stantially.

The most obvious beneficiary to any increased defense expenditures would be the aerospace industry. Companies such as Boeing, Lockheed, General Dynamics, McDonnell Douglas, Martin Marietta, and Rockwell have already experienced sharp upward moves in tangible assets - particularly those still in that stand to benefit from the situation, such as electronics, steel, and aluminum.

> THE AILING auto industry also stands to gain from the increased tension between the U.S. and Russia provoked by their thrust into its neighbor's territory.

> Chrysler, expecially, has already received a multimillion dollar contract to build tanks. While this order was already on the books and would have probably come anyway without the Bolshevik aggression, it is probable that the order is more secure under present circumstancwes and there could be further orders forthcoming.

This could prove to be a very important crutch to the company during this difficult transition to the "new" Chrysler.

While the rattling of the swords is disturbing, it is reassuring to know that the government and American industry is ready to meet the challenge.

Who's the spirit?

Dear Gundella: I just read a story about a woman who would sit at her typewriter and type pages and pages of stuff dictated to her by a ghost. She says she goes into a trance, and types automatically.

Can this really be true?

Carol, Rochester

Dear Carol: Automatic writing — whether it is done with a pen, pencil, or typewriter - is the same as the messages people get from planchettes and Ouija boards.

Perhaps, in some instances, they may be messages from some other

But even if this is true, the message comes from your own subconscious mind. Perhaps it is influenced by your clairvoyancy, or by communication with spirits. Or perhaps like your dreams, they are strictly the products of your own imagination.

Nevertheless, it is you doing the actual writing.

Dear Gundella: What are the birthday flowers for the months of February and August?

Laura T., Farmington Dear Laura: These differ according to your source, but the most common list is as follows:

January - carnation, snowdrop. February - primrose, violets. March - jonquil, daffodil. April - daisy.

May — lily of the valley.

June - rose.

July - larkspur, lily. August - gladiolus, poppy. September - aster. October - cosmos, dahlia. November - chrysanthemum. December - holly, narcissus.

More will want houses in the '80s-Realtors

The housing market will face increased pressure in the 1980s to keep pace with a continuing high rate of new household formations, according to the Western Wayne Oakland Board of Realtors (WWOCBR).

"The Census Bureau reports that during the last decade the average household size dropped from 3.14 to 2.78 persons," said John J. Halser, WWOCBR president. "A major factor has been the growth in non-family households which consists of one resident or two or more unrelated persons."

The average annual increase in new households during the 1970s was 1.5 million, he said. Of the 77.3 million U.S. households last year, 19.8 million, or about one in four, were maintained as non-family units. A comparable figure in 1970 was one in five.

"WE EXPECT to see this same pattern continuing," Halser said, "with a growing number of singles, divorced people, widows and widowers maintaining their own residences. This will bring further changes not only in demand, but in the type of housing starts and an expected population growth of more than two million a year, it will become increasingly difficult to meet housing needs.'

The WWOCBR president said that between two million and 2.4 million new residential units will be required each year to meet increased demand and replace units razed or otherwise destroyed.

"The threat of a housing shortage coupled with rising construction and land costs will continue to increase the value of most existing homes kept in good repair," he said. "Many have more than doubled in value during the past 10 years. They may well sell for more than twice today's prices in 1990 dollars.'

Halser said this would be expecially true of single-family detached homes, but noted that, based on current trends, the value of townhouses and condominiums will follow the same path.

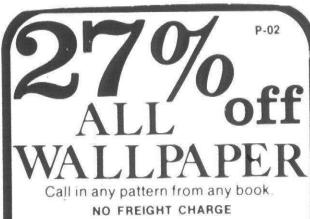

"WHILE THE 1970s saw the average new home increase in size and include more amenities, we believe there will be some reversal of this trend in the next few years," he said.

"Greater emphasis will be placed on supplying smaller, more efficient homes that make better use of space and use less energy.

"A growing shortage of land available for development and rising costs of improvement should mean more new homes being built on smaller lots and more cluster housing to hold down prices.'

Halser noted that half of all wives are now working outside the home. By 1990, it is predicted that up to 70 percent of women in the 25 to 44 age group will hold such jobs.

"Dual incomes will continue to be an increasingly import ant factor in home purchases," he said. "But, with two or more members of the household holding jobs, there will be an added push for homes requiring less maintenance both inside and outside."

Through the dust

The folks at the Detroit Institute of Arts are calling it a "wonderful mess." To the rest of us, it's just a mess.

Nevertheless, the museum remains open while construction projects continue - minus the aborted controversial plans for a stairway through the Rivera Court. The main entrance of Woodward is closed; to get in, use the Farnsworth entrance.

The Kresge Court Cafe is closed for remodeling and expansion until early summer but food service is available 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the South Court of the Ford Wing. The Brunch with Bach series on Sundays, normally held in Kresge Court, continues in the Crystal Gallery of the museum auditorium.

SCHOOLCRAFT College's Cinema Series resumes Friday with 'Start the Revolution Without Me,' with Donald Sutherland and Gene Wilder. Admission is free at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater on campus, Haggerty north of Six Mile

ERVIN Monroe, first flutist with the Detroit Symphony, performs in concert with pianist Fontaine Laing at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Marquis Theater in Northville. Tickets are $3. For more info, call 349-8110.

ANN Arbor Brass Quintet continues the winter concert series at the University of Michigan-Dearborn at 8 p.m. Monday, performing works by 17th, 18th and 20th century composers. Admission is free in the Fair Lane Conference Center on the campus, Evergreen south of Ford Road.

THE RED Wings host the St. Louis Blues at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in a friendly game of hockey at the Joe Louis Arena on the riverfront in Detroit. For ticket info, call 962-1800. But watch your step.

WORLD Adventure Series heads for Israel this weekend with film of Jerusalem, Beersheba and Jerico. It's at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium. There will also be a wine and cheese party. For tickets, call 832-2730

ALFRED Hitchcock's 1940 film "Foreign Correspondent" runs at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the Henry Ford Museum Theater in Dearborn. Admission is free after museum admission, $4.25 for adults ORGANIST Gary Reseigh is at the console of the Barton organ with a group called the Singing Dolls at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Redford Theater, Lahser just north of Grand River. Tickets are $4-6, available at the theater box office.

DETROIT Film Theater starts its 13th season this weekend with "The Tree of Wooden Clogs," a 1978 Italian work about sharecroppers at the end of the 1800s. It runs 175 minutes, starting at 7:30 p.m. only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $2, available at the door or in advance at the Institute ticket

THE FOUR Tops are on stage through Saturday at db's Club in the Hyatt Regency Dearborn. Shows are at 8 and 10:30 tonight, 9 and 11:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

PEWABIC in Detroit Architecture is the subject of a guided tour sponsored by the Detroit Historical Society starting at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17. Examples of the iridescent Pewabic tiles produced by Mary Chase Stratton at various spots through the city will be seen. Tickets are $5 and must be purchased in advance from the society, 5401 Woodward, Detroit CASS City Cinema continues this weekend with "THX-1138," a 1971 film about someone in the 25th century who becomes a criminal by refusing his mandatory daily drugs, and "La Jetee," a 1962 French film about romance in science fiction. Showings are at 7:30 and 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday in the First Unitarian Church, Cass and Forest in Detroit. Admission is $2 through the red door on Forest.

FRANK Isola's Gang plays jazz 4-8 p.m. Sundays at Cafe Detroit, 87 W. Palmer on the Wayne State University campus.

EXHIBITS:

 Photographs of music and dance by Barbara Weinberg are on display through Feb. 29 in the third floor exhibit hall of the Main Library on Woodward in Detroit.

 An exhibit of photos by students in the fine arts program at the Rhode Island School of Design opens with a reception 2-5 p.m. Sunday at the Artworlds Center for Creative Arts, 2131/2 S. Main in Ann Arbor. It will remain through the month. For more info, call 994-8400.

 Photos by Professor Takeji Iwamiya of Osaka University of Arts in Japan are on display through Feb. 20 in the main floor gallery of the Center for Creative Studies, 245 E. Kirby in Detroit. His work traces the movement of Buddhism.

DENNIS VERNIER

One-man band: People wonder where all the sound is coming from

By JIM WINDELL

Everyone knows what a one-man band is, right'

It's a fellow who plays several instruments at once and has cymbals strapped between his knees. A novelty; Can he really play all those instruments at one time?

If that's your impression of a oneman band, take a look at Dennis Vernier at the Spanish Colonial Room in Howard Johnson's on Ten Mile Road in Southfield.

Through 20th century technological advances Vernier has taken the old idea of a one-man band and considerably updated it. "It's different and I like that part," the 28-year-old musician said. "There are thousands of musicians, but very few who would attempt what I'm trying to do.'

"I WAS IN A FEW groups playing the guitar and musicians were always leaving. I was in a trio and the drummer left and the bass player and I worked together as a duo. When he left, I figured I could play the bass part with my foot pedal. So, I just sort of went on my own.'

That was six years ago and during those years while playing a succession of clubs and private parties in the Detorit area, he has gradually added sophistication to his music.

He connected a phase shifter, a device that adds an organ sound, to his basic guitars. The six and twelve-string guitars are his main instruments.

"People wonder where all the sound is coming from," Vernier commented. "I've played to rooms that seat a couple of hundred people and they all react the same. They dance and applaud Just as if I were a group playing for guitrarist, Glen Campbell.

approval because he was worried about play the guitar really well."

how people would accept him as a oneman band. There was also the problem of being hired by club owners.

"Sometimes they hire on the basis of the number of people in a band rather than the quality of the music," Vernier

While his style is admittedly unique, his focus is always on the quality of the music. "I like to do a variety of things," he says, "and I'll play and sing songs that other musicians wouldn't try unless they have a band with them for

"I'll try anything. From 'Top 40' to disco, country, folk and light rock.'

He proves this during one of his onehour sets when he plays from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tuesday-Friday, at the Spanish Colonial Room.

With his guitar strapped around his neck and his equipment plugged in, Vernier is as low key on stage as he is

HIS MUSIC ranges anywhere from Chuck Berry rock 'n' roll numbers alternated with Johnny Cash, to the Beatles and his own folk-like composition.

"I try to write tunes people can relate to," Vernier says. "I've always been impressed by writers who could write on any topic they desired."

Vernier's first instrument was a clarinet he had at age 11. That quickly gave way to an accordian and the accordian to a guitar.

Since he first played at the Steering Wheel in downtown Detroit eight years ago, Vernier has been composing more

His guitar is central to his music, but his expertise at that instrument might be overlooked because of his restrained approach. In that regard, he resembles the man he has tried to emulate as a

"I was always fascinated by Campbell's creativity," Vernier said. "People VERNIER IS pleased with audience seem to underestimate his ability to

Comic books galore Sunday show

From Peter Parker to Clark Kent, they'll all be there this weekend.

There, in this case, isn't Metropolis or even Smallville. No, this time it's Nostalgicon, a comic book show this Sunday in Farmington Hills.

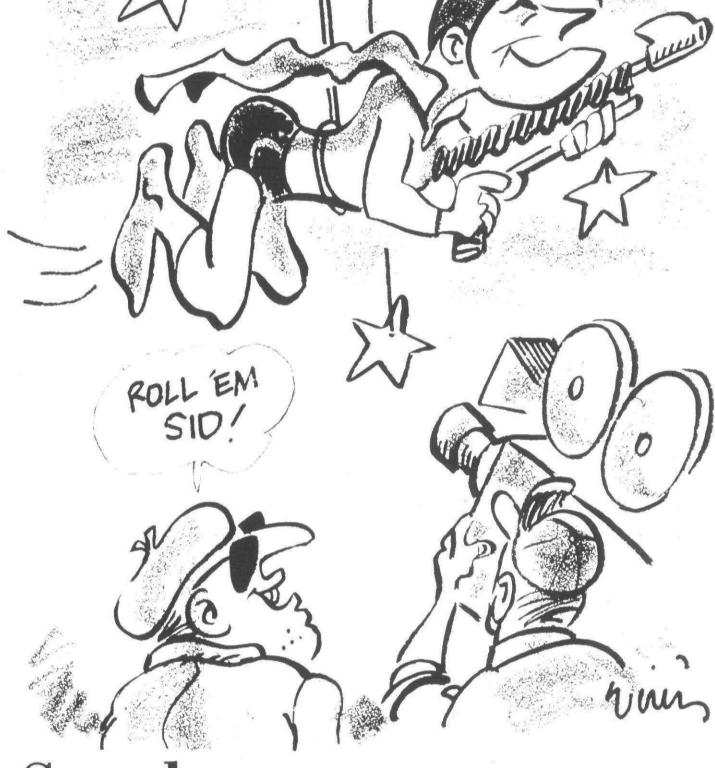

The big drawing card of the day will be Al Milgrom. Al may mean nothing to you, but to throngs of subadolescents he is one big deal. He's an editor and artist for Marvel Comics, those folks who brought you Spiderman and The Hulk, Captain America and the Fabuw lous Four.

He'll answer questions about his work.

The main event will be thousands of comics, magazines and related items for sale by dealers from throughout the Admission is $1. The hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The place is the Knights of Columbus hall at 21900 Middlebelt, south of Nine Mile.

And who is Peter Parker? Just ask any 12-year-old.

Star bores

Will we get blasted by film gimmicks?

In an effort to avoid a financial crash, film makers likely will run outer space and special effects "right into the ground" during the early 1980s, predicts Frank Beaver, professor of communication at the University of

"Hollywood is going to drive a good thing right into the ground by continuing to make films about space," says Beaver. "It may, in fact, already have begun to do so."

Space movies are one of the best mediums for special effects, which Beaver says film makers are using for their own sensation alistic appeal - much as cinemascope, cinerama, three-dimension and sensurround were capitalized on during the 1950s and later - rather than to enhance the story

But special effects have not confined themselves to the galaxies, Beaver points out.

The movie "1941" could have been "an interesting little comedy," he says, if the producers - who spent $24 million on the film - had not been so sidetracked with special effects. "that's all it was - a special effects extrava-

THE INDUSTRY, he explains, seems destined to repeat itself, as it did during the 1930s when films about 18th-century heroes were in vogue.

The market became so saturated with that genre of film, he recalls, that one movie exhibitor finally proclaimed, "Don't send me any more movies where the hero writes with a feather." Now, Beaver imagines a moviehouse manager making a parallel statement of "Don't send me any more movies where the hero flies through

With or without benefit of spaceship, sequels and comic book-like films, such as "Superman," also will flood the theaters, Beaver thinks.

"We're going to see the continuation of highly escapist films, the comic book approach to film. Producers are making a number off films based on comic books, films that look like comic books, as well as take their inspira-

In general, Beaver concludes, moviegoers themselves can divine what films will be made during the 1980s by simply looking to the past. The films currently on the market can be traced back to about five strains of movies made during the 1970s. Beaver adds that more films will be made from readily available sources, such as novels about popular characters and already existing subjects. Making films dependent on the novelty of special effects or the familiarity of topics that have already proved their mass appeal reflects a strong bent toward conservatism among film makers, according to Beaver.

DURING THE 1970s, a practice called "blind booking" evolved wherein exhibitors compete to obtain a movie without ever having screened it, he notes.

Also, a profit system was established that provided movie houses with an increasing percentage of a movie's proceeds from week to week so that exhibitors were forced to keep movies for longer periods of time than

As a repercussion of these extended runs, Beaver points out, movie houses have begun to show more than one film at a time, in hopes that the more successful movies will take up the financial slack caused by the less popular Another aspect of commercial pressure on film is that the cost of publicity for films has skyrocketed, Beaver says. That phenomenon also will probably affect the availability of foreign films, which are even more difficult to promote than domestic products. "Distributors just aren't picking them up," Beaver says, noting that the foreign films "Black and White" and

"Madame Rosa," both Oscar winners, have not yet been shown in a commercial theater in Ann Arbor. Beaver recently observed, after citing these new film marketing procedures, that "as the decade ends, we find the economics of an enormously expensive industry dictating the kind of...movies we're seeing with less artistic regard for discriminating filmgoers." The only refuge for artistic experimentation in the near future, Beaver speculates, is in films that are the property of stars who are sufficiently wealthy and established to indulge in "personal expression."

Recent examples are Richard Dreyfuss's "The Big Fix"; Robert Redford's production of "All the President's Men"; Jack Nicholson's "Going South"; and Clint Eastwood's film "The Gauntlet."

Otherwise, Beaver concludes, "until blind booking disappears and profit-making on a graduated scale is reconsidered, we will continue to see more films that look as if they've been put together by a committee."

Palmer Park Center for the Arts is sponsoring a two-day multimedia Arts Revue, featuring an array of Detroit entertainers from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 2 and continuing 1-10 p.m. Sunday, Arts Revue will be at Temple Israel, 17400 Manderson in Detroit.

The revue includes drama, dance, chamber concerts, opera, film, mime, folk and jazz performances and visual arts. Sunday afternoon highlights are children's theater, puppet shows and educational cultural programs for children and families.

The weekend will feature performances by Attig Theatre, the Harbinger Dance Company, Renaissance Concerts with Misha Rachlevsky, Brio Trio, the Detroit Children's Choir, the Grand Circus Exchange, Piccolo Opera Company, Phil Marcus Esser and Cass City Cinema films.

Tickets for the February Arts Revue will be available at the door and by reservation. Admission is priced for one day or both days. Admission for children under 16 and senior citizens is $1 per day. For further information call Sharon Zimmerman

The proper use of the doubling cube can be used to apply pressure - forcing your opponent to concede the game or to take the double and continue playing.

Ownership of the cube is also very important. Should your opponent accept the cube, he now has the exclusive right to redouble at his own will. Once he gains an advantage, he may apply the same pressure by redoubling. Therefore, use the cube as a weapon and not as a gift. Your opponent is sure to take a gifty double but might refuse a bad take.

In the board example, the cube is neutral (in the middle). Black is on roll and decides to double the cube to two. Should white accept?

Examine the duplication of moves involved. Black's only good rolls are two, four and 10. A two or a four will cover the blot (single checker) on the 3 point and hit white's blot on the 9. Black also needs the same roll of two to move up to white's 3 point for a sure escape. Black also is stuck behind a five-point broken prime and may not escape at all.

Black has a slim chance of hitting white on the 9. covering his blot on the 3 and freeing the lone back runner (on white's 1). White has a 55 percent chance of re-entering from the bar and hitting the blot on 3. Therefore, white should accept the premature double

In an actual game with this same position, white redoubled black after hitting the blot on 3 and went for a four-point victory with black narrowly escaping a gammon.

A winter walk in the woods

By LEM MESEE Outdoors writer

The sun was cheering as it peeped under the clouds at dawn on a recent weekend. There was no wind, so the air felt warmer than 30 degrees. I parked my car along a dirt road just a halfhour's drive from home and headed into the woods with my old dog. Silence. The ground was brown and frozen, and no sputtering rackets from snowmobiles filled the

Our approach scared up a cottontail rabbit, but the old dog was too deaf to hear it, so the bunny scampered off, unchased. Later there was a streak

In a little valley, frost decorated every branch like a million pieces of white lace. As the sun hit it, the lace turned to diamonds. In the frozen mud were deer tracks. On the same trail last year, there had been a snowmobile trail.

Along the bank of a stream, I picked up some dry oak branches snapped from the trees by an earlier wind. They ignited quickly, and soon we were warming ourselves at a fire.

Time for breakfast: Bacon, slices of onion, eggs; homemade raisin bread toasted directly over the corner of the fire; apple wrapped in aluminum foil and baked in the coals; a Thermos of hot coffee sweetened with cocoa mix; a pocketful of biscuits for my ravenous dog.

Down to the edge of the gurgling Huron River for cold water to douse the fire. A stroll through the wooded hills. The song of a chickadee to break the

The old dog eagerly snuffs at a riverbank where a muskrat has burrowed and around a stump where field mice or chipmunks have scampered.

A little rest to light up a pipe. More walking.

Hours later we would return home to the headlines in the Sunday paper. No snow. Winter resorts losing tens of millions. Michigan an economic disaster area. Ski lodges crying. Snowmobilers moaning. Money, money, money. Gasoline, gasoline, gasoline.

Are these guys crazy? I wondered. This has been an utterly magnificent winter to enjoy the outdoors.

STONY CREEK Metropark near Rochester will be the scene of a cross country ski-a-thon at 9 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 2.

It's sponsored by the Shelby Township Lions Club to aid the blind by raising funds for the Leader Dog school. Bring pledges from friends and relatives for the kilometers you plan to ski.

For sponsor forms, call 651-4088.

ICE IS STILL thin on many of the larger inland lakes. But the medium lakes and ponds have enough ice to hold fishermen.

Bluegills are hitting on most lakes. Pike are onagain, off-again, depending on which lake you hear about and when you go.

Early ice is the best time of the season for ice fishing. The fact that it's thin keeps the snowmobilers off, which makes for more peaceful conditions and better fishing.

Speaking of thin ice, the deaths last week of two snowmobilers at Houghton Lake should serve as a reminder of the sporting dangers from our so-far mild winter The annual Tip-Up Town festival there attracts thousands of fishermen and snowmoers to the frozen lake. Cars, people, snowmobiles and concessions all head out where only boats dare to tread in the summer. In a good year, the fishermen head through lanes of snowmos to find space to chop a Anglers - on foot - can at least watch ahead for signs of thin ice. The snowmobilers, however, can find themselves on the wet side of the ice before they ever see the danger.

We don't like to see people dying, of course, but maybe this incident will keep some snowmobilers away from the lake and return the festival to the ice fishermen it was intended for in the first place.

NATURE PROGRAMS at the Huron-Clinton Metroparks are still going strong. Here's the lineup for this weekend:

 Stony Creek, 9 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 3 — "Frigid Feathers," naturalist Roger Bajorek's slide show and short outdoor walk on winter birds and how to attract them. Register by calling the nature center at 781-4621.

The brisk winter air makes for an enjoyable walk through the woods for a look at na-

Outdoorama is back, now at the fairgrounds

a new spot this year, further away but still worth reaching.

It runs through the weekend at the coliseum in the Michigan State Fairgrounds, Woodward south of Eight Mile

The coliseum makes for a different kind of show. There are only a handful of recreational vehicle exhibits in contrast to the rows and rows of RVs that used to be at the West Eight Mile armory near Northland.

The new emphasis is on resorts, flyin fishing camps in Canada, hunting and fishing equipment and the MUCC's own clubs.

Upper Peninsula and Canadian re-

Outdoorama, the Michigan United sorts have been hurting with the soar-Conservation Clubs' annual show, is in ing price of gasoline, and they are competing hard for customers.

> Item: In recent years, I had noticed a distinct trend toward prohibiting pets or charging $10 a head for pets in order to discourage them. That trend seems to have reversed itself. (All the same, it's only polite to leash your pet in a resort or campground.)

> The only bad thing one can say about the fairgrounds is the parking price -

If your only interest is campers or RVs, wait for the Detroit Camper & Travel Trailer Show Feb. 15-24 at the armory.

could you survive?

tips from the Air Force Survival School

The temperature is near zero degrees Fahrenheit. There is approximately 8 inches of snow on the ground.

You have been hiking cross-country and are approximately two hours from your camp when you encounter a small stream. In your attempts to cross this barrier, you fall in and become totally immersed.

WOULD YOU . . .

A. Get out of the water and hurry on to your camp.

B. Get out of the water, squeeze the moisture out of the clothing and then continue on to camp.

C. Get out of the water. Roll in the snow and then brush it off. Gather firestarting materials and build a fire to warm yourself and dry out before continuing on to camp.

D. Get out of the water and immediately begin vigorous exercise to warm your body.

TO SURVIVE

'C offers the best emergency action. By rolling in the snow, it acts as a blotter and absorbs some moisture and is removed when the snow is brushed

Considering the distance to camp and the weather, building a fire to warm yourself and to dry out is the best avenue to take if you want to sur-

None of the remaining alternatives offer a satisfactory solution to insure your survival in the face of prevailing conditions. Incapacitating symptoms of hypothermia are almost certain to occur if any of these actions are selected.

Lesser known wines merit your attention

It wasn't so long ago that Mendocino County, a beautiful area of craggy mountains and luxurious redwoods, produced only blending and jug wines. The name wasn't esteemed. Napa meant magic. Sonoma, to the south, was better than respectable.

And as recently as 20 years ago there were few wineries. The area was known as isolated, beautiful and devoid of vinicultural excellence.

Then, in mid 1960s and early 1970s, a series of events occurred to change this. In 1964 the Parducci winery switched from being a roadside producer of bulk wines to a maker of fine varietals.

When, in 1968, the Bernard Fetzer family etablished a winery (north of Ukiah and began promoting the mendocino appellation, the trend had set in. Mendocino thereafter meant quality

OTHER WINERIES followed. Wiebel and Cresta Blanca (Giuld owned) came up from Livermore and in the early 1970s both the Husch and Edmeades Vineyards opened in the Anderson Valley near Philo to the west of Ukiah. Since then, in the mid '70s, both Dashch Vineyards and Navarro Vinevards have been producing from Anderson Valley grapes.

Fortunately, at least two of the wineries, and the best of the lot, are generously available in Michigan today. Parducci offers a large selection of reasonable priced wines and Fetzer is widely esteemed for its reds, especially Zinfandel.

Try particularly the Ricetti Vineyard release to use as a benchmark of what a big yet elegant Zinfandel should taste like. Allow breathing time on these. They are bit full of thought juices. Other Fetzer Zinfandels are worth trying but less distinguished.

Also in Michigan, but less interesting, are the occasionally available Wiebel and rarely found Cresta Blancea Labels. The former is best known for the wide range of moderately priced sparkling wines it produces.

AT THIS WRITING, rumors are strong that both older Philo winneries, Husch and Edmeades, are due in the state soon. When they become available both will be worth trying.

The former is especially esteemed for its Pinot Noir, the latter for its Cabernet Sauvignon and White Riesling. The Philo area, it should be noted, is considerably cooler than the rest of Mendocino and does especially well with the "cooler" grapes.

Weather Report in Ann Arbor

Organist Joe Zawinul and saxophonist Wayne Shorter, both former performers with Miles Davis, lead Weather Report, a rhythmic jazz group coming to the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8. It will be the group's only concert in the Detroit area. Tickets are $7.50, available at Hudson's and at the Michigan Union box office in Ann Arbor. The Michigan Theater is at 603 E. Liberty near State. For more info, call 763-2071.

Pianist debuts with symphony

Leonard Slatkin, music director and principal conductor of the St. Louis Symphony, will conduct the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday at Ford Auditorium.

These performances will also mark the Detroit Symphony debut of pianist Ivan Moravec. The program includes the overture to Weber's

"Euryanthe," Schumann's Piano Concerto, and

Rachmaninoff's Symphony No. 3. Tickets for tonight's performance are $11, $9, $7 and $5. A limited number of $2 tickets will be available one hour prior to the concert. Tickets for the Friday concert are $9, $7.50, and $6 with students admitted for half-price.

Tickets for both performances are available at the Ford Auditorium box office.

Cranbrook has black hole show

Increasing interest in celestial black holes has prompted Cranbrook Institute of Science to extend planetarium demonstrations called "Whirlpools of Darkness," about the bizarre phenomena, through

In addition, black hole gravitational demonstrations to complement the planetarium show will be given every Sunday from 2-4 p.m. in the institute of science physics hall.

The half-hour "Whirlpools of Darkness" includes a 17-minute segment that was produced by the Gates Planetarium in Denver and is narrated by Leonard Nimoy. It features a fast-paced series of slides and special effects that explains the strange

IN THE GRAVITATIONAL demonstrations physics intern Mel J. Drumm will simulate the effects of black holes, which are believed to be corpses of massive stars. By using the institute's five-foot funnel, he will show how the force inevitably absorbs all objects within its field of gravity. The complex phenomenon of Einsteinian gravitation is graphically displayed when an object captured in the funnel spirals toward the apex.

Both demonstrations are included in regular museum admission of $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

For more information, call 645-3210. Cranbrook Institute of Science is at 500 Lone Pine. Bloomfield Hills.

'Guys and Dolls' plays for dinner

"Guys and Dolls," praised as one of the most exhilarating musicals ever written for the American theater, opens Saturday at the Paradiso Cafe Dinner Theater, 17630 Woodward in Detroit.

It will be performed Saturday and Sunday evenings. Saturday dinner is at 7 p.m., with the show at 8:30; on Sunday, dinner is at 5:30 p.m. with the show at 7 p.m. Opening night is sold out.

Reservations may be made by calling 869-3988. This is a new production of the New York Drama Critics Award-winning musical.

Nancy Gurwin of Southfield, and Edgar A. Guest III of Birmingham pair up in two of the leading roles. Guest plays Nathan Detroit, operator of the "oldest established floating crap game in New York," and Nancy Gurwin is Miss Adelaide, his "doll," his fiancee of 14 years who has developed a permanent pyschosomatic cold out of anxiety about ever getting married.

"GUYS AND DOLLS" is based on the stories of Damon Runyon, the fabler of Broadway, who chronicled the strange, funny doings of show girls, tinhorn gamblers and petty racketeers.

Two of "Guys and Dolls" other major roled, Sky Masterson, gambler, and Sarah Brown, a Salvation Army miss, are played by Tom Steward and Leah Betts of Detroit.

The supporting cast includes Ralph Valatka and Raphael Benaim of Southfield; Alice Flis of Warren; Joe Lannen of Farmington; Peter Sonberg of Dearborn; Betsy Hughley, William Pelto, Bill Broyles and Diann Moody of Detroit; Jan Abramson of Rochester, Bill Hoffman of Redford; Michael Rose of Southgate; and Mac Wolf of Berkley.

"Guys and Dolls" is directed by Edgar A. Guest III; musical director is Barbara Gowans; choreographer, Alice Flis.

auditions

• The Plymouth Theater Guild will hold auditions for "Godspell" at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 5 and 7 in Central Middle School, Main and Church in Plymouth. The cast will consist of 12 male and female singers and dancers. Director is Don Clapp.

For more information, call producer Clemie Cybert at 453-4140 or PTG president Robin Galick at Fourteen salaried positions are open for the Greenfield Village Players production of "Rumpelstiltskin," opening March 29 for a 20-show daytime run. Open auditions will be held 7-10 p.m. Feb. 13 in the Henry Ford Museum Theater in Dearborn. No appointment is necessary. For more information, call 271-1620, ext. 524.
