Adult care home provokes neighborhood

Opposition dominated the initial neighborhood reaction to a proposed foster care home for mentally retarded adults in Canton Township.

Negative reaction was fueled by Trustee Robert Greenstein's lecture on local zoning rights after his last-minute entrance to the meeting.

About 125 residents of the Canton Country Estates subdivision crowded into the township's recreation hall Tuesday night to voice their concerns and fears about an adult foster care home proposed in their neighborhood.

Most of the families at the meeting appeared to oppose the new home. But several residents voiced support for the project.

The meeting was called by subdivision residents for purposes of discussing the proposed home for mentally retarded adults and to establish a homeowners' association in their new neighborhood.

Some mothers expressed fear for the safety of their children, and many voiced concern of the home's effect on property values.

ANOTHER HOMEOWNER saw the issue as a state invasion of their rights. "Does the state have a lot more of these goodies in store for us?" one man asked.

"Maybe next time, we'll have drug addicts or criminals because they don't like institutions. Maybe some of these girls in Detroit are tired of the street. Maybe they want to come out and live with us."

However one's man support of the project received a round of applause.

"There are people in support of this home here," he said. "I hear everyone voicing concern for the safety of their children — the same people I see driving down the street at 50 or 60 miles an hour after they've had too much to drink."

"I happen to be a Christian, and these people are human beings," he said. "We have to give them hope. But we're trying to take it away from them, because we're afraid."

THOSE OPPOSED to the project got a boost when Trustee Robert Greenstein burst into the recreation hall and attacked state officials for interfering in local zoning questions. Greenstein was accompanied by planning commissioner Thom Carman.

Although state law specifies that such homes are permissible in areas zoned for single-family homes, Greenstein told residents that the constitutionality of the law is being challenged in court. A lawsuit was prompted by residents opposed to a similar home in West Bloomfield Township.

According to Greenstein, the Canton Township board has referred to Canton attorney Bert Burgoyne proposals for the Canton Country Estates home and two facilities for mentally retarded youths.

"No one should ever talk pro or con about mentally handicapped people. They are not the issue," Greenstein maintained. "This is simply a matter of law — whether businesses should be allowed in our neighborhoods."

"I'm not real crazy about living in a subdivision and having a McDonald's next door," he added. "I don't see any difference between McDonald's and this business."

GREENSTEIN said he would favor locating homes for mentally retarded in commercially-zoned districts. "These people should be handled humanely," he said.

Invited to the meeting were representatives of Alternative Services and Northville Residential Training Center (NRTC), the two agencies which would operate the home, and Tom Kennedy of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

After the meeting, Denise Horvath, NRTC education coordinator, disagreed with Greenstein's comments. The retarded "would be run over by cars" if such homes were located on major thoroughfares.

Greenstein's remarks appeared to solidify the opposition of many residents to the home. Until his arrival, homeowners expressed anger over their inability to influence the upcoming licensing decision of the Michigan Department of Social Services.

BUT CITIZENS appeared willing to make an effort to increase their understanding of the mentally retarded's needs and a state drive to de-institutionalize those citizens.

Homeowner Susan Kopinski called for creation of a Canton Country Estates advisory committee to visit similar homes for the mentally retarded and study the issue in general.

Nine residents gave their names and telephone numbers to Ms. Horvath in a 10-minute period following the meeting as evidence of their support for the proposed home.

Six mentally retarded adults who now live at the Northville Residential Training Center on Seven Mile Road would be selected to reside in the proposed home on Roundtable.

Speakers at the meeting included Laima Starwas, community placement director for the NRTC; Arthur Mack, executive director of Alternative Services; Ray Nichols of Alternative Services; Rich Bennett, an Alternative area administrator who would supervise the proposed Canton home; and Kennedy, a consultant with the Michigan Department of Social Services.

Trustee backs legal recourse

Canton Trustee Robert Greenstein urged township officials to legally fight the proposal to set up three homes for mentally retarded persons in the township.

At both a Board of Trustees meeting and a meeting of homeowners concerned about the proposed facilities, Greenstein Tuesday night said the issue was one of zoning rights, not moral responsibility for the retarded.

The board decided to refer to the township attorney a form sent by the State Department of Social Services as well as other information about homes for the retarded.

Greenstein classified the non-profit corporations which had filed applications to set up the homes as "big businesses which have engineered a way to break zoning laws."

He said Canton should follow the lead of West Bloomfield Township, which is currently fighting the establishments of homes for the retarded in that community, by opposing the proposals in court.

Greenstein, an attorney, said he believed that the covenants and restrictions in homeowners' deeds barring commercial operations in a neighborhood could be used to fight the proposed homes.

The trustee termed the corporations proposing the homes "a bunch of sleazy investors running around the states buying up homes and hiring cheap labor."

He said the concept of placing retarded adults and children in the homes served to re-institutionalize them — rather than take them out of institutions as claimed.

"I would rather see a state program similar to the foster care homes for children," Greenstein said.

Greenstein said children who are wards of the court are typically placed in single-family private homes, rather than group homes.

To prioritize elective job

Joyner leaves editor post

By CAROLINE PRICE

Wayne County Commissioner William Joyner has apparently decided that politics and newspapers don't mix.

Only a week after being named managing editor for Associated Newspapers, Joyner decided to quit the position Wednesday rather than attempt to perform the duties of both journalist and elected official.

Joyner represents Canton and Plymouth Townships, Plymouth and part of Westland.

He said he decided against taking the job for the newspaper chain (which publishes such weekly papers as the Canton, Westland and Wayne Eagles and the Belleville Enterprise) because he felt it would detract from his job as commissioner.

"If there's even the slightest hint of impropriety, I don't want to do it," Joyner said. He said he had also decided to run for re-election as commissioner when his term expires.

Joyner was publicly introduced as "the new managing editor of Associated Newspapers and Wayne County commissioner" by office manager Joyce Wheeler at a Monday meeting of the Westland Chamber of Commerce. Nine people attended the meeting.

Joyner, whose background is in public relations, said he had been contacted by Associated Newspaper publisher David Willett and offered the job about a week ago.

Willett said Wednesday that "Joyner had the skills that I needed. I did not feel there is a conflict of interest."

"I had touched base with the Michigan Press Association which said precedent had been set for this kind of thing.

"I did not go out looking for him (Joyner). Dennis (Fassett) had had the opportunity to go to another job. I let it be known I was looking for a new managing editor."

"I didn't look at him as a county commissioner. I looked at him as Bill Joyner."

"About the only thing a newspaper's got is its credibility. I wouldn't want to be caught in a conflict," Willett said.

Joyner said: "My condition of accepting the job was that I would turn 50 percent of my salary as commissioner back to the county and that I would not run for re-election when my term expires this December."

The commissioner said he was tempted by the offer because "I had always wanted to work for a newspaper." Willett said he had discussed the position with Joyner, and told him

Falkiewicz resigns deputy job

Maria Falkiewicz resigned from her job as Canton deputy treasurer because she was discouraged with inadequate staffing levels and other internal problems.

"I haven't been happy with the situation at the township at all," confessed Mrs. Falkiewicz after submitting her letter of resignation on Tuesday. "If it takes my leaving to get the township where it should be, then I'll go."

Mrs. Falkiewicz, whose resignation will take effect on Friday, said she and other township administrators have spoken repeatedly to members of the Canton board about the need for additional staff members in the treasury department.

"There's just too much work there," she said. "But it's impossible to get people (the township board) to understand that."

Mrs. Falkiewicz admitted that other concerns contributed to her decision to resign. But she declined to elaborate.

"There's just an awfully lot more — morale, communications and lack of strong leadership," she said.

TREASURER JIM DONAHUE blamed himself, in part, for Mrs. Falkiewicz's decision and said he will attempt to change her mind about leaving.

He attributed part of her reason for resigning to an interview he held with the Canton Observer last week about township investments. Donahue failed to credit Mrs. Falkiewicz for netting almost $1 million in interest in the story which appeared in last Thursday's edition of the Canton Observer.

Donahue said Mrs. Falkiewicz was incensed at his comments "which made me look like a knight in shining armor."

"I think it was the straw that broke the camel's back," Donahue said of his published remarks. "But I didn't mean it that way. She's an industrious lady, and I want to keep her. I hope I can change her mind."

Mrs. Falkiewicz indicated that she will stick to her decision to resign, however. She insisted that Donahue's remarks had no bearing on her decision.

Mrs. Falkiewicz was appointed deputy treasurer by Donahue in November 1978. The appointment surprised most political observers, because Mrs. Falkiewicz opposed Donahue for the part-time treasurer post in the 1978 election.

Although state law requires township clerks and treasurers to appoint deputies, Mrs. Falkiewicz was the first "working" deputy in Canton's history.

ON SEVERAL occasions, she sat on the township board in Donahue's absence with full voting power.

She held responsibility for the investment of township tax money and the day-to-day administration of the treasury department.

Although she was hired to work on a 20-hour-per-week basis, Mrs. Falkiewicz said she usually logged 40 or 50 hours a week. Her salary was $7,000 a year.

Mrs. Falkiewicz insists, however, that wages had no bearing on her decision. "I knew the pay when I accepted the job," she said.

Mrs. Falkiewicz maintains that the treasurer's department should employ either a full-time accountant or a full-time treasurer and full-time assistant to the treasurer. The elected treasurer's job currently is a 20-hour week position.

At the current time, the department employs six full-time clerk-typists and six part-time clerical employees.

"People just don't understand the importance of that department," she said. "Hopefully, my leaving will force some things to happen and take the politics out."

Donahue said he agrees with his deputy that "there's a weak link in the treasurer's office." He indicated that an administrative recommendation may be submitted shortly to the township board regarding the need for a full-time elected treasurer or a full-time treasurer assistant.

"Probably two treasurers working 10

Love story — we want yours

On Feb. 14 everyone from small schoolchildren to the most genuinely staid adults will be getting giddy and passing out paper valentines and flowers to the ones they love.

It's the one time during the year when most people express those warm feelings from the heart.

And to help make the day a little more special, the Observer will be printing some of the most interesting love stories to be found in the Plymouth-Canton community.

But to do this, we need your help now in our search for some of the most poignant love stories which we know are out there.

Maybe it's just how you met your spouse or maybe it's how a love, now so long past, changed your life.

Maybe it's just a humorous account of a brief encounter.

In any event, we'd like to hear about it.

So tell us your love stories.

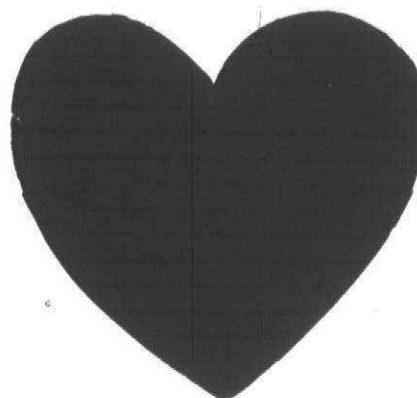

We'll be taking the written accounts at the Observer Office at 461 S. Main Street in the heart of Plymouth during regular business hours. During off hours, you can drop them off in our drop box at the office entrance.

Then, on Feb. 14 we'll be capsulating them in our editions.

Remember — even Eric Segal had a love story that captured the hearts of millions.

We're waiting for yours.

Zoning decision awaits industrial land survey

A decision on a controversial apartment rezoning request is expected in two weeks from the Plymouth City Commission.

The commission tabled the request for more study after holding a lengthy public hearing Monday night.

Developer Kal Jabara is requesting a rezoning from heavy industrial to multiple for some five acres near Ann Arbor Trail and General Drive.

Most of the homeowners in the immediate area spoke in favor of the apartment project Monday night, but stiff opposition was expressed from local industry.

Earlier, the city planning commission had recommended denial of the rezoning by a 4-3 vote. The planning consultant hasn't taken a firm position either way, according to Ken West, city engineer.

LEADING THE opposition from various industrial firms was Joseph Dillon, attorney representing Crown Zellerbach whose site is located adjacent to Jabara's property.

Dillon argued that industrial and residential were not compatible uses and should not be mixed. There is a long history of residents opposing noise from nearby factories, Dillon said, so it would be a big mistake to allow apartments in an industrial area.

Erick Carne, architect for the developer, noted that the land has been vacant for 62 years, including some 22 years when Crown Zellerbach owned the land but never used it for industrial purposes.

Carne also argued that multiples would be a good buffer zone to separate the present industrial sites from homes now in the area.

The plans call for 11 apartment buildings with each being 2½ stories high and containing 11 units, except for two near the Ann Arbor Trail entrance which will have eight units and be two stories high set at grade.

Dillon argued that a natural industrial corridor followed the C&O Railroad and so the five acres should remain industrial. "You just can't have a buffer between a bedroom and a diesel locomotive."

The attorney then read into the record letters from Dunn Steel, Packaging Corporation of America and the C&O Railroad expressing opposition to the rezoning.

Jabara objected that if the railroad had its way, all land a mile each side of the tracks would be zoned industrial as they make their money transporting materials for industry. "That should be recognized as a very prejudicial position."

Jabara added that the project would put some 115 additional residents into the city who will be shopping here and spending money in Plymouth.

He added there is plenty of industrial land available now in the Plymouth area which isn't being used while, at the same time, there is a lack of available housing to meet local needs.

William Robinson, an industrialist, also claimed there was plenty of industrial space available elsewhere in the community.

Carne added that the apartment project would result in about a $3 million investment being added to the city's tax rolls.

In making a motion to table, Commissioner Bud Martin asked the administration to make an inventory of available industrial land and the feasibility of it being developed and to analyze the tax benefit to the city of the apartments vs. a hypothetical industrial project on the same land.

ROSEMARY McGETTIGAN

Resident selected outstanding by JA

Rosemary McGettigan of Plymouth has been selected to represent Junior Achievement as the outstanding businesswoman for Southeastern Michigan.

Rose, 17, is involved in her third year as a Junior Achiever at the JA Center on Ann Arbor Trail in the city of Plymouth.

This year she is president of her company, "M&M Enterprises" which is sponsored by Burroughs Corp. of Plymouth.

A senior at Ladywood High School in Livonia, she also is treasurer of her senior class and an active member of the school's Spanish Club. She is the daughter of James and Dorothy McGettigan of Plymouth. Her father is district manager for Western Electric in Plymouth.

WHEN ASKED how she felt the moment her name was announced for outstanding businesswoman, she declared repeatedly "Excited!"

Upon graduating from Ladywood, Miss McGettigan hopes to be accepted at Notre Dame where she will major in engineering.

Announcement of the top Junior Achievers was made Jan. 26 at a JA awards banquet at Mercy College in Detroit. Gregory Larsen of the Utica Center was selected as outstanding businessman for the region.

Rose and Greg will receive a fully paid travelship to a national JA competitive contest held in August at Indiana University, Bloomington, a $100 bond, and a seat on the board of directors.

At the awards banquets honors also were announced for the product of the year for the Southeastern Michigan JA region.

High schools put squeeze on student vandalism

By TERI BANAS

School officials, faced with ever-increasing cases of vandalism, particularly at Plymouth Canton High School, are trying to stay on top of the problem.

But according to some students, the solution may be coming up at the wrong end.

Since the start of the school year, nearly half the washrooms at Canton High have been shut down for repairs. To date, casualties include one toilet and three sinks.

Reports cite not only knocked down bathroom fixtures, but also fires damaging walls and ceilings. Some have been set like a bon fire by placing rolls of toilet paper and other paper products in the center of the room and then torching them.

The entire situation has not only upset school principal Kent Buikema, but students as well. Some complain that not only do they have to walk a little further to reach an available washroom but sometimes they just put it off.

"It's called holding it in until you have to go home," says one female Canton student.

Despite accounts from maintenance personnel, who say washrooms remain closed only overnight, she says some are closed much longer.

"I'd say it's a bad year. Last year they'd only be closed a week or two."

JUST AFTER streaks of vandalism, toilet paper itself is hard to find.

One Plymouth Township resident got a peak at the problem last week while in the school building during evening class hours. After a search for toilet paper came up empty, he questioned a maintenance worker about it. He was told the paper was removed because of vandalsim.

Norman McKindler, a plant engineer at Canton High, says cleaning up after washroom vandalism is a constant "day-round thing."

He says with 16 bathrooms to "re-build, clean up and keep stocked," chances are some may be closed overnight but usually not longer.

"As soon as we get to one they may be getting their kicks out at another one (at the other end of the building)," he says.

Other targets include drinking fountains, tissue dispensers, walls and ceilings. Graffiti, he says, is now burned into ceilings and walls with cigarette lighters.

"We're constantly repainting." Buikema agrees vandalism is "up a little bit" at Canton High.

He attributes the increase to the enlarged student population this year.

"I THINK it's proportionate to the school population. We've got 2,300 in Canton this year. Three years ago it was 1,500.

"Psychologists will tell you the more people you have in the same space you will have an increase in irritability and humanism and there will be an increase of pranks and vandalism of this nature.

"Their acting is not necessarily against the school but maybe society or home life or their peer groups. So they take it out on the building."

He also says the overcrowding is aggravated by the school building design itself which was designed for modular scheduling use.

Bill Brown, Plymouth Salem High School principal, said there is no noticeable difference in this year's amount of vandalism there. There have been no bathroom fires in Salem this year.

"There's been some glass breakage but nothing out of line."

However, he does sympathize with Buikema's situation next door to Salem.

"We're a public institution open to the public. When buildings are open to 10 (o'clock) four, five times a week you're always susceptible."

One Canton student theorized that some of their problems occur because there's little check on the girls' washrooms unlike at Salem, where there is one female on the security staff.

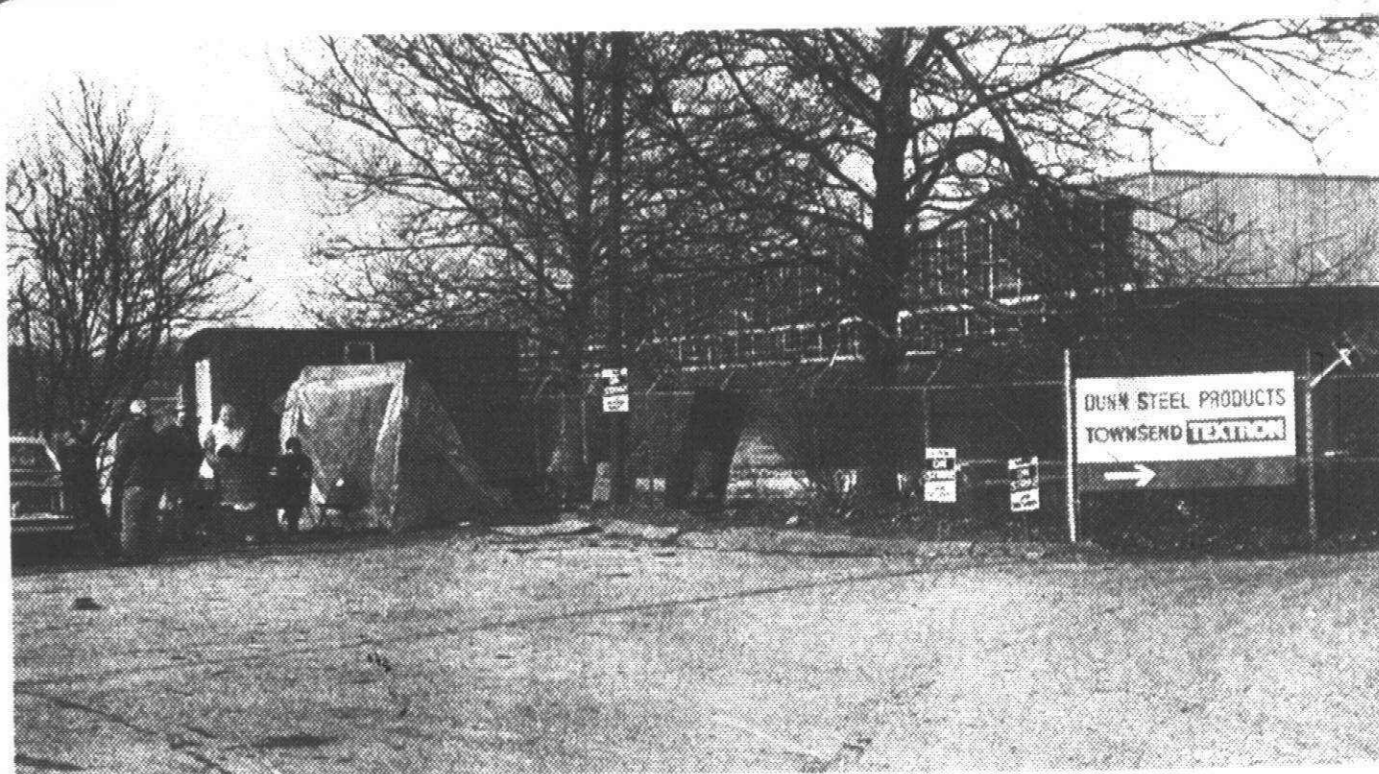

BUIKEMA SAID the only answer to that is cooperation from the female teaching staff at Canton. He added it doesn't surprise him if they don't help out in this area, however.

"I think many feel I'm paid to teach, not to patrol the washrooms. How would you feel if you were asked to walk into a crowded smoke-filled room filled with teenagers?"

One male Canton student said this year's vandalism is symptomatic of a continuing restrictive environment.

"The more restrictions they're going to put on the students the more they're going to fight back. It kind of upset me when we lost modular scheduling. With modular scheduling it was more individualized and we had smaller classrooms.

"Now it seems like it's getting worse. They're more conservative. They keep closing in and closing in until the students explode."

Picket lines have been maintained at Dunn Steel Products for about four weeks now. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Dunn strikers still walking but not talking about it

Some 110 employees of Dunn Steel Products in Plymouth are into the fourth week of a strike that started Jan. 11. The employees are represented by Local 985 of the UAW.

According to Mat Case, the company's general manager, the strike has shut down all plant operations at the corner of Dunn and Cherry streets.

The company makes parts for auto suspensions and steering systems and has been at its present location since the 1950s.

Strikers say most of the employees live in the Plymouth-Canton community.

Neither side would say why the employees walked out or what some of their points of contention are.

Strikers, themselves, maintained a staunch closed lip approach to any questions on the strike situation.

Case says the "entire working force" walked out after bargaining ceased over a three-year contract Jan. 11, the former contract's expiration date.

He says the company since has not filled any orders to a series of auto manufacturers it supplies with auto parts.

He says most of the bargaining members work as machine operators, toolroom workers and maintenance employees.

Negotiations for a new three-year contract began last November, were called off during the Christmas-New Year's holidays, and started up again on Jan. 11. Bargainers met until midnight then and have not met again.

The employees at Dunn Steel have been organized since 1967 and this strike is only the second since that time. The first lasted only a week in 1969.

Meanwhile, employees are continuing to maintain around-the-clock picket lines at the company's gate at Cherry and Dunn.

Some 110 workers have temporarily traded picket signs for jobs.

Gasohol

They tried it and liked it

By BILL CASPER

During these difficult days of world war tension, focusing on the all important energy-yielding oil fields of the Persian Gulf, Americans are in the early stage of a dramatic change in lifestyle.

The energy crisis has Americans dialing down, insulating from top to bottom, forming car pools or turning to mass transit systems, buying cars with small, gasoline efficient engines, pumping their own gas and seeking alternative energy sources.

And this is just the very beginning of the energy conservation movement which will drastically change life the way we knew it.

Enter gasohol.

YOU'VE HEARD or read about this new fuel product, composed partially of an alcohol produced from agricultural crops.

Now it's available locally in several Detroit area service stations, including one in Redford Township.

Thursday morning, the Redford Observer visited the By-Rite station on Seven Mile Road at Poinciana Street, where there are two gasohol pumps along with those for unleaded and regular gasoline.

If the new high octane fuel sells as well normally as it did during the half hour the Observer spent at the station, American motorists can expect to see a lot more gasohol pumps around in the future.

At least half a dozen motorists fueled their vehicles with gasohol during our short visit, and during that period, the gasohol consumers outnumbered those who pumped unleaded or regular gas.

"Almost without exception, the gasohol consumers interviewed by the Observer said they were using the fuel product because there cars and trucks are getting better gas mileage and operating better after switching to it.

"With regular gasoline, I noticed a spark knock in my car's engine due to the low octane," said one gasohol customer, Vaughn Covert of Redford Township.

"But since I've switched to gasohol, my car runs excellent," he said. "There are no knocks and I get better gas mileage. I don't mind paying more for gasohol because the difference is easily made up in greater mileage. The difference between gasoline and gasohol is like night and day. And it's made in America."

MORE ACCURATELY, the gasohol in the area By-Rite tanks, including those at the station in Redford Township, is produced in Indiana, according to James Mullen who manages the township By-Rite station. He said the fuel is trucked to Mt. Clemens and distributed to area By-Rite stations.

Mullen said he started selling gasohol Jan. 14 at $1.17 per gallon, but a recent across-the-board price increase hiked the cost to 1.18 a gallon.

That's four cents more than the unleaded and 10 cents more than the regular gasoline he sells.

Gasohol is composed of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent alcohol, Mullen explained.

He said the alcohol in gasohol is called Ethanol, produced by fermenting and distilling agricultural crops such as corn, wheat, timber and sugar cane.

Gasohol proponents claim the fuel has an increased octane level, provides more power, burns cooler and cleaner, improves the engine life, lessens friction, cuts harmful carbon deposits, increases mileage and eliminates engine knock and ping to name a few.

And because American farmers grow new crops each year, gasohol proponents also point out that it is this country's only renewable motor fuel.

"I'm trying it for the first time," said Mack Wilson of Livonia. "If it works, I'll use it regularly even if it cost a little more because it lessens our dependence on foreign oil."

"I'm trying gasohol for the first time today in my car and I also will try it in my pick-up truck," said Pete Michelini of Redford Township.

"The manufacturer recommends my truck to burn a 90 octane fuel. I've been burning regular gasoline with an octane level of 87, but my truck is not running right.

"Only gasohol and premium gasoline have the 90 octane level, but the gasohol is cheaper so I'll try it," he added.

"My husband told me to buy gasohol because we get better gas mileage," said Rose Bertovick of Redford Township. "This is our third tank with gasohol."

Sometimes, however, gasohol is used without any energy-oriented motivation.

"The unleaded (gasoline) pumps are being used and I can't use regular gasoline so I figured I'd try gasohol," said Tony Elias of Redford Township.

WHATEVER REASONS people have for buying gasohol, early indications reveal those who try it like it.

"We haven't been the recipient of much advertising, but gasohol is selling pretty good here," Mullen said. "When the station first received gasohol, about 80 to 100 gallons were being pumped each day. Soon afterward the number of gasohol gallons pumped daily rose to between 200 and 300 and now the number is up to about 1,000 gallons a day.

"The gasohol customers seem to be well satisfied," Mullen continued. "The higher level of octane in gasohol results in improved engine performance and dry gasoline is not needed."

Mullen said most of the gasohol advertising has gone to the By-Rite station at Warren and Telegraph roads in Dearborn Heights.

And one sure sign of gasohol's success is the construction of another By-Rite station which also will have gasohol pumps at Plymouth and Inkster roads in Redford Township.

Mullen said the only adjustment he recommends for those motorists switching over to gasohol is a change in the vehicle's gasoline filter after two or three tankfuls.

Joyner quits job

there was a possibility he would have to resign as county commissioner.

Willet said he was not aware that Joyner had made a campaign promise not to hold another job during his tenure as county commissioner.

Joyner acknowledged that during his election campaign he had promised not to work in any job besides that of county commissioner, even though the office is officially a part-time one.

If he had continued with the plan to join Associated Newspapers, Joyner would have replaced Dennis Fassett.

Fassett resigned in order to accept a job as general manager of western Wayne County operations for Omnicon, a cable television firm expanding into this area.

According to Fassett, Joyner's duties would have been the same as his own, which means he would plan coverage, write editorials and serve as manager of the news department.

Joyner said he had at first considered holding both positions not to be a conflict of interest. "I spoke to some people I know who are on newspapers and got advice of my legal position if I took the job. No one saw any problems," he said.

Willet said "I had no repercussions from the staff" concerning Joyner's temporary acceptance of the job.

That feeling, however, was apparently not shared by employees in the news department at Associated Newspapers. According to one reporter, the newsroom had received about 25 calls from angry politicians and officials who had learned of Joyner's appointment.

According to the reporter, employees were also disturbed by the announcement of Joyner's hiring. "This makes me sick to my stomach," the reporter said.

Falkiewicz resigns

hours a day couldn't do all the work," Donahue said. "Dolly (Mrs. Falkiewicz) breaks her back everyday."

Any decision to make the treasurer's job a full-time position would not take effect until after next November's election.

DONAHUE SAID he will have to look for another deputy if Mrs. Falkiewicz sticks to her decision to resign. He said he would empower his next deputy to vote on the township board in his absence as allowed by state law.

"I wouldn't want to appoint a deputy I couldn't trust to do that," he said.

Mrs. Falkiewicz said she will devote more of her energy to her home book-keeping business, Mar-La-Jon Products, after her resignation takes effect.

She indicated that she may run for elected township office next fall.

"I'll feel I have to run for township treasurer if they don't get a candidate I feel could do the job well," she said.

Zoning hearing set

A public hearing on Canton's proposed zoning ordinance has been scheduled for today (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School.

The zoning ordinance and map carry out the intent of the township's master land use plan to reserve some 5,000 acres west of Canton Center for agricultural purposes. The documents indicate the zonings of specific parcels in accordance with the overall intent of the master plan.

The township's zoning commissioners, who will sponsor the hearing, have been working on the proposed documents since 1976.

They are hoping to make a recommendation on the documents at their Feb. 11 meeting, said planner Jim Kosteva. The recommendation will go before the township board, which is expected to make a final decision on the ordinance and map by March 4.

Kosteva said that would allow the tax board of review to allow the property assessments of Canton's farmland when it meets in mid-March.

The proposed zoning documents decrease the density of single-family residential areas and eliminate strip commercial zoning along Ford Road in addition to preserving agricultural land.

Visually handicapped can listen

The visually handicapped can now listen to book, magazines and newspapers.

Public radio station WDET-FM has inaugurated a non-profit reading service staffed by more than 100 volunteers, who will read the two Detroit daily newspapers and other publications to people with seeing difficulties.

The station provides those who make a request with a special receiver on which they can listen to the readings. People who cannot afford it will get the receiver free. Others will pay $20. They can keep the instrument as long as they need it.

The reading program is a community service of the station. So far its staff has been able to locate about 500 people who need the service, but feels there should be about 160,000 residents of the tri-county area whose visual or physical handicap precludes their use of normal size print.

Volunteers spend from 7-9 a.m. each morning reading the Detroit Free Press, and from 5-7 p.m. reading the Detroit News.

Those interested in participating in the WDET-FM program can call the station at 577-4204.

Good for PR but ...

How much revenue will cable bring governments?

By TIM RICHARD

To local politicians, cable television means a chance for image building and "good PR."

To the bulk of customers, it means bringing in "R" rated movies — cheap.

But one thing cable TV is unlikely to mean — lots of revenue for local government. In fact, it could even be costly.

Those views were voiced by two experts who spoke Friday before several dozen public officials in a meeting sponsored by state Rep. Richard Fessler, R-West Bloomfield. Virtually every suburb in Wayne and Oakland counties is pondering a cable TV franchise.

CITIES AND townships granting franchises to cable TV companies expect to get 3 percent or so of the gross. "It really doesn't amount to that much," said Dr. Charles Ruffing, retired supervisor of technology for the Michigan Department of Education.

For Meridian Township, the Lansing suburb with which he's familiar, cable TV earned the township $14,000 annually on the basis of 4,000 subscribing households, he said.

The revenue is turned over to a cable TV commission to buy equipment for local broadcasting and doesn't do much to supplement governmental services, he said. "But it's a helluva tremendous public relations tool," Ruffing said. "It cleans up their (governmental meetings) act. And it helps with millage elections."

THE BIG REASON for the explosion of interest in cable TV in suburbia, said Dr. Tom Baldwin, is "uncut movies."

Baldwin, professor of telecommunications at Michigan State University, said customers for movies "are not those who go to movie theaters," adding there is "a pretty good appetite for R movies. That's an issue in many communities."

Baldwin said about 40 percent of the films shown on cable TV are R rated (usually some nudity and rough language), a slightly lesser proportion are PG (usually some rough language), and 16 percent are G (all right for young children). Only a small handful are rated X (explicit sex).

For $1 many parents can and do buy a lockout device so that children can't turn on objectionable movies.

CABLE TV is operated by private companies which set up receiving facilities in a community and pipe offerings to houses and institutions by cables strung on utility poles in public rights-of-way.

Because public rights-of-way are used, local government must grant a franchise.

There are several "tiers" of service — conventional channels; public service channels, with local news and governmental meetings that aren't carried by metropolitan commercial TV; a variety of national channels with movies, sports, ethnic, religious and children's programs; movies and text services such as weather, financial and shopping guides.

There are even two-way systems. For example, said Baldwin, a home security system could use a channel to transmit burglar alarm or fire signals from a home to the public safety desk of the city.

Utility meters could be read the same way. Even political polling can be done, though it wouldn't be a good cross-section of the public statistically.

Two-way television, however, is expensive to wire and expensive to install, he said.

TO EDUCATORS and politicians looking forward to reaching constituents at home, Ruffing had a warning:

"It costs a helluva lot to put on a TV program. For every one person on camera, there's six behind the cameras, and they have to be paid."

That was why, he said, Meridian Township plows back all its franchise fee revenues into the local system.

JCs seeking top young man

An outstanding young man deserving of community recognition is being sought by the Plymouth Jaycees.

Randy Shoemaker, president of the Plymouth Jaycees, announces that the group now is accepting nominees for the outstanding young man of the year award.

To be eligible the nominees must be between the ages of 21 and 35 and must "have made Plymouth a better place to live, by their own personal effort, in 1979," explained Shoemaker.

Persons deserving of the honor may be nominated by local service and fraternal organizations, by clubs, or by individual residents.

Nomination forms are available at the First National Bank of Plymouth, 535 S. Main.

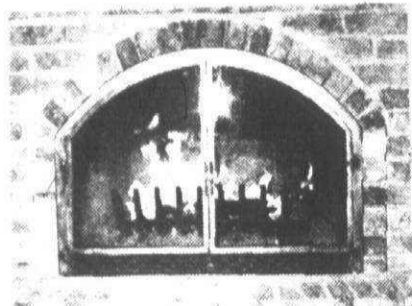

The forms must be completed and mailed to Randy Shoemaker, Post Office Box 279, Plymouth 48170. The nominations must be received by midnight Saturday.

The person selected as outstanding young man will be honored by the Jaycees at its annual Distinguished Service Award Banquet to be held Feb. 14 in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Trustees back public openness

By TERI BANAS

Plymouth Township trustees, after a week of thought on the subject, unanimously agreed to uphold an open-meeting format for discussing combined services between the city of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

By supporting a resolution proposed by Township Trustee Lee Fidge, the township has committed itself to not only following the state's Open Meetings Act but "enhancing the legislative intent and spirit" of it.

The resolution, supported by Trustee Barbara Lynch, calls for public disclosure of any study group, special committee, and commissions that may be studying the unifying of such services as police, storm water management, library and rescue.

The issue passed quickly Tuesday night without discussion.

It had come only after some stormy outbursts from Fidge who came out against a recommendation by Township Supervisor Thomas Notebaert.

Two weeks ago, Notebaert issued a confidential letter to all trustees outlining the procedure for those negotiations. It called for a "small study group" that did not necessarily need to follow the open meetings act because of a lack of quorum.

UPON RECEIVING this directive, Fidge sent letters of reprimand to not only the board but explanations of her position to local newspapers.

She said the procedure would "publicly expose it and fight against the implementation of it."

By supporting her resolution, Fidge says the board and public now should be informed about any meetings for such unification talks.

"And I will hold them to what they've passed."

"If there's a quorum it better be announced. But regardless of the numbers there they (meetings) should be announced and open. That was the whole key in the resolution so that there's public scrutiny or whatever you want to call it."

However, she had no problem with Notebaert and Henry Draper, Plymouth city manager, meeting between themselves since the board and city commission directed this type of procedure previously.

The resolution had appeared at last week's board meeting but failed to get on the agenda by a 4-3 vote. Voting against its hearing then were Notebaert, Lynch, Township Treasurer Joe West and Township Clerk Esther Hulsing.

When asked why she supported the resolution this week but was against its discussion last week, Lynch said the decision rested on timing.

"There's nothing wrong with the resolution. It's only natural that we would support it and not oppose it."

"We just felt that this type of thing on the agenda last week was brought to us at the last minute. And Lee herself doesn't like to discuss things that have been brought up at the last minute. This gave her a chance to write the resolution and present it to us in an orderly fashion."

Gifts of love from the heart

St. Valentine's Day is one week from today. Romance, love, hearts and flowers all go hand in hand. Advertisers and greeting card companies take full advantage of the emotion which so powerfully moves people.

Advertising by candy companies, florists, and department stores subtly prod people into buying gifts for those they love. Everyone happily complies with their suggestions, and may even feel guilty if the response isn't in the traditional manner.

Hearts are the romantic symbol of the day, and, after all, as Doris Day sang so many times, "Everybody loves a lover." But let's take a not-so-traditional look at the heart.

The heart may symbolically pump love into the world but it also pumps life through your body. Perhaps on St. Valentine's Day this year you might consider a gift for the heart, one that is lasting, healthful and useful in extending your life.

This year's valentine may not even cost any money. Or those determined to go the route of the material gift can combine it with an intangible one that improves the quality of life for the ones they love.

Here are some suggestions:

- Flowers: While the blooms will eventually fade, the memory will linger. They give a lift to an otherwise ordinary day, and they have no calories.

- Encouragement in better eating habits: This gift could be combined with a cookbook, designed for the health of the heart. The book published by the American Heart Association is one of the best on the market, and is available at all bookstores.

- Interest in an exercise program: This could be encouragement toward beginning or continuing some moderate

exercise that benefits health. But a more romantic gift would be an offer to go walking hand in hand every day.

- Positive stroking: The term, usually used in psychiatric jargon, means helping someone feel good about him/herself. Dieters need a lot of stroking.

- Gift certificate: This might be to a beauty salon or one of several spas in the area.

a dinner at a place that specializes in low-calorie menus would be in order here.

- Do something different: Maybe this is a good day to visit a museum, go to the Belle Isle Conservatory, the zoo in the winter time, Greenfield Village, the Detroit Science Center, go ice skating, swimming at the local Y or open swim at your high school pool. A little imagination can go a long way here.

- Or just relax. Sometimes the tensions of the day can be so high, that maybe a good day of relaxation is the best present for St. Valentine's Day or any other special occasion. It is the time for soft music, a good book, a loving family or whatever it takes to keep the heart healthy and romance alive.

Entertainers donate talent

Local entertainers will donate their musical talent at a benefit show at 7 p.m. Feb. 17 at Madonna College, Schoolcraft and Levan in Livonia.

Proceeds from the event, which is open to the public, will go to the Lupus Foundation.

Larry Arbour, a regular performer at Mr. Mike's in Westland, and One Potato Two of Dearborn Heights will kick off the show. Arbour is a member of the Lupus Foundation.

Other performers include Dale Hicks of Stag and Hound in Dearborn Heights, Rick Reuther of the Raven Gallery in Southfield; Gordie Stewart and Ken and Berry from Mr. Mike's; and Madonna senior Evett Kowalski.

Tickets may be purchased at the door or in advance from Nancy Dionne, 591-9792. Ms. Dionne is president of student government, which is sponsoring the concert. Ticket prices are $2.50 for adults and $2 for students with a college identification.

IN WEST DEARBORN.....ACROSS FROM JACOBSON'S

Iranian had worked for the Shah

By SAM HUDSON

(Sam Hudson of Plymouth, local historian and author of "Plymouth Past & Present," is wintering in southern France. This column is another in a series of how senior citizens, or others, can travel throughout Europe on a limited budget.

I am taking a class in French, three hours a day five days a week, at College International in Cannes. It is located about a half-hour's walk from our apartment, on the grounds of an estate once owned by the Rothschild family. The old Rothschild mansion on the property is now the main library of Cannes.

Most of the 13 students in my class (I managed to get into the second level) are young, of college age. Three of us, however, including a woman from Denmark, and a man from Iran, will never see 40 again.

It is the man from Iran who is the subject of this column. He is one of several Iranians I have met here who left Iran or did not return to their country when the shah was deposed. A Nice newspaper recently reported that 95 of the 105 foreign students studying French at the University of Nice are Iranians.

The man to whom I refer held a top government post under the former ruler. He holds a B.A. and a master's degree in administration. He appears to be a man of substance. He and his family live in the same section of Cannes as we do, but beyond us, and since he has a car, and passes my corner on Rue Carnot, he gives me a ride home from class every day.

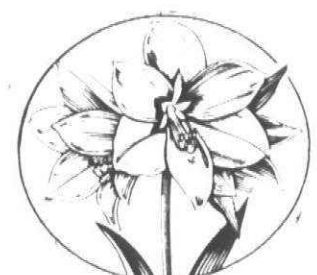

A few days ago, a lecturer on international affairs came to the college and spoke to the advanced ("superior") students. We, at the second level, were invited to attend in the hope that we would understand at least part of what was said.

The speaker, a young man from Birmingham, England, who apparently speaks French fluently, was introduced by the French professor, a tall man with handle-bar mustache who instructs the top-level students. He prompted laughter by brandishing a big hammer and exclaiming, "This is a course in diplomacy."

The lecture and discussion lasted three hours. It was in French, but I understood much of what was said, particularly since it was about the hostages in Iran, the Russian invasion of Afghanistan and of the longtime Russian policy of attempting to obtain a warm water port.

At one point, during the discussion of the situation in Iran, a woman in the group referred to Ayatollah Khomeini as a fanatic, "just like Hitler."

A young Turkish girl, a Moslem, took exception to the comparison, and said she does not think Khomeini is a fanatic.

At that point, the man from Iran, who had been silent until then, spoke. "I am from Iran," he said, "and I say Khomeini is a fanatic."

At noon, as we rode home over the Voie Rapide and things Iranian, from the man from Iran. He speaks a little French, and a little English. Using bits of both languages we manage to communicate.

Most Iranians, he said, are Aryans, not Arabic, "just like the Germans and the English." Originally from Europe, they settled in Persia (now called Iran) about 6,000 years ago.

"As you have Catholics and Protestants in your country, we have two kinds of Moslems. One of them, the Shi-ites, are in the majority. I am a Shi-ite and so is Khomeini. But I am a modern Moslem and he wants to return everything to the old ways."

"Khomeini believes people should not use knives and forks to eat with. They should eat with their fingers. Students should study only the Moslem language, not English or French. He has forbidden movies, dancing and singing."

"Women are not permitted to work outside the home, and each man is to have four wives."

Khomeini's chief support, he told me, comes from agricultural areas. "There are many farmers in Iran and they like the old ways. That is not true of most city people."

He said that communists in Iran are a small minority. Many Palestinians, well organized and bearing guns, have moved in. They are among those who support Khomeini.

One of the students asked the man how long Khomeini would remain in power.

His answer: "Until Jimmy Carter kicks him out."

Students sign up soon for drivers' training

Now that we're into the throes of winter, most people find it difficult to look into the near future to see anything but cold weather and ice covered windshields.

But there is a small population out there who are already counting the days for spring to come.

They are the new prospects for drivers' education classes at the high schools — those students who could almost feel their new laminated drivers' licenses in the palms of their hands.

Sign-up for spring drivers' education classes is being planned at the Plymouth Canton and Salem high schools.

Students should come after school to office 3,000 on the third floor of Salem High School to be scheduled.

The sign-up schedule, based on birth-day, is as follows:

Students who are 16 or will be 16 through February can sign up on Feb. 11; students who will be 16 through March can sign up Feb. 12; students who will be 16 through April sign up Feb. 13; students with birthdays through May can sign up Feb. 14; students with birthdays through June can sign up on Feb. 19; and students with birthdays through July can sign up Feb. 20.

Questions can be directed to Fred Meier, area coordinator, at 453-3100 ext. 205.

Logic wrong on abortion

Editor:

I am responding to the letter by L. Ross published in your paper of Jan. 31. The letter states that the Supreme Court is not wrong in allowing abortions because "eight to 10 million abortions have taken place, which means eight to 10 million women agreed."

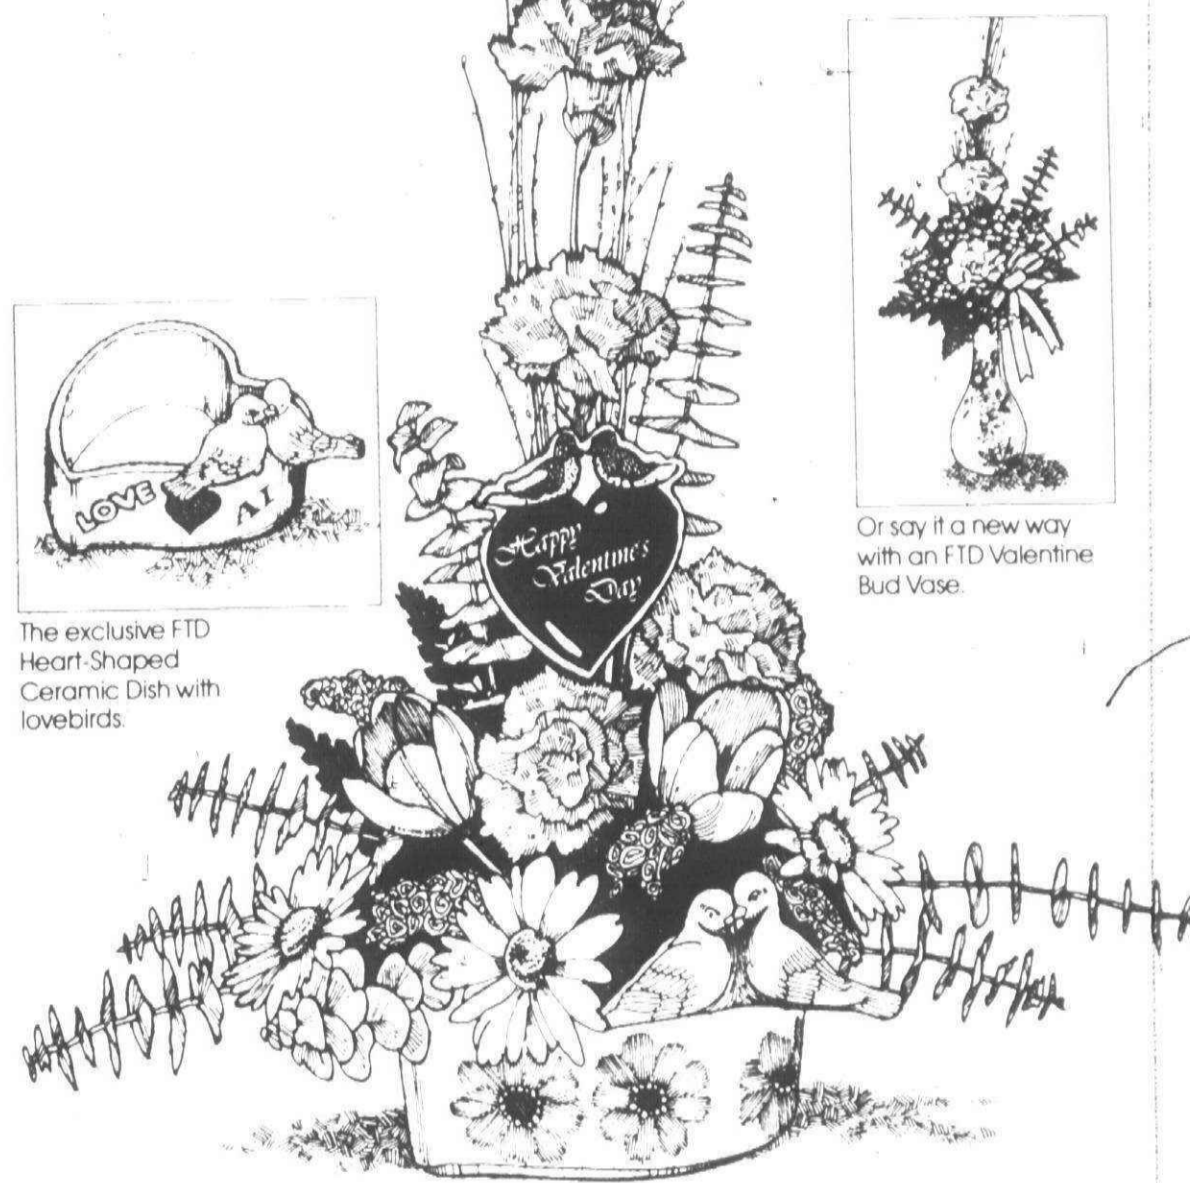

This sort of logic would similarly condone the millions of crimes and injustices which are perpetrated in sufficient number and agreed upon by those perpetrators. The fact of innumerable occurrences has never given legal license or support to any action for those who legislate with morality. If this is the sort of logic used by those who oppose the sacredness of every life, then there is more to fear than can be imagined.

Although I am sympathetic to the media's obligation to air opposing views, I object to the publishing of material chosen with a lack of consideration to clarity of thought.

editorial opinion

Tough to control vandalism at crowded CEP

School vandalism is a tough problem.

And dealing with vandalism is even rougher at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park with two high schools on one site.

School officials note that only a minority of students engage in destructive behavior, and that's probably true. The problem at the CEP is that the "minority" still involves a large number of students.

If vandalism was performed by only 1 percent of the student body, there would only be about 15 vandals in a high school with a 1,500 enrollment. But place two high schools and 4,500 students on one site, and that 1 percent generates 45 vandals.

WE RECOGNIZE that CEP administrators have their hands full trying to prevent vandalism from occurring.

Vandals perform when adults aren't around and will always have an opportunity — unless, of course, we institute a police state with adult security guards swarming around every corner, hallway, restroom, and commons area.

And so the CEP administration is on a tightrope, trying to detect and identify those who are being destructive, and attempting to curb loss through vandalism, but without unduly taking away the rights of all students.

We have observed, however, that sometimes the administration has become over-zealous in reacting against vandalism.

THE LATEST reaction made known to us is the removal of toilet paper from student restrooms because some were lighting the rolls into torches.

Students in need had to try and find a maintenance person, who then would dole out a few pieces of tissue to each individual.

That action was successful in stopping the torching of toilet paper rolls. But it was an unwise step. It discouraged many students from using the restrooms when they should have, posing a health problem, or led to sanitation problems of some who may have used restrooms without tracking down a maintenance person dispensing paper.

Obviously there are potential health and sanitation problems and this is sufficient reason to keep toilet paper in restrooms at all times. Removal is not proper corrective action.

There was another time when some students were setting off fire alarms, turning on the sprinkling system, and playing with fire extinguishers. The CEP administration reacted by turning off the sprinkler, shutting off alarms, and removing extinguishers to locked offices.

That reaction stopped vandalism of fire safety equipment. But it also created a serious potential safety problem. It was improper corrective action.

ANOTHER FORM of vandalism at the CEP has been the theft of library books, causing a loss in volumes averaging $19,900 a year since the '75-'76 school year.

The reaction was to purchase and install a security system aimed at stopping book thieves without interfering with the majority of students who legitimately check out books for use.

That is the kind of approach which should be taken. We admit we offer no specific or easy solutions. We know it's a big challenge. But we all learned a long time ago that it doesn't pay to have the entire class stand in the corner because of the spitwad thrown by one unknown culprit.

Discipline always should be a reasoned response. Vandalism, likewise, requires reasoned and reasonable responses.

Eccentricities

by HENRY M. HOGAN JR.

His thoughts are true today

There was a man who failed in business in '31.
He ran and was defeated for the state legislature in '32.
He failed again in business in '33.
He was finally elected to the legislature in '34.
His sweetheart died in '35.
He had a nervous breakdown in '36.
He was defeated for speaker of the state house in '38.

He was defeated for presidential elector in '40.
He was defeated in his bid for Congress in '43.
He was finally elected to Congress in '46.
He ran and was defeated in his bid for the U.S. Senate in '55.

He was defeated in the race for the vice-presidential nomination in '56.
And he was elected 16th president of the United States in 1860.

THIS REPEATED failure was Abraham Lincoln, who was born 170 years ago next Tuesday.

He was born in a log cabin on a farm in Hardin County, Ky.

His accomplishments in the long run, after a humble beginning and a rugged course of frustrations, should give hope and inspiration to all people.

Lincoln in his time was not considered a great man. He was accused of splitting the Republic with his meddling in what we now call "civil rights."

But he is probably the most quoted president, and many things he said then are equally appropriate now.

In 1826 he said, "I go for all sharing the privileges of the government who assist in its burdens."

Our country today is buffeted by those who feel the world owes them a living and they must give little in return to reap its rewards.

IT ALMOST SEEMED as if Lincoln had Watergate in mind when he said:

"If you once forfeit the confidence of your fellow citizens, you can never gain their respect and esteem. It is true that you may fool all of the people some of the time; you can even fool some of the people all of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

As to the civil rights movement, Lincoln succinctly said:

"I have always thought all men should be free; but if any should be slaves, it should first be those who desire it for themselves, and secondly those who desire it for others. Whenever I hear anyone arguing for slavery, I feel a strong impulse to see it tried on him personally."

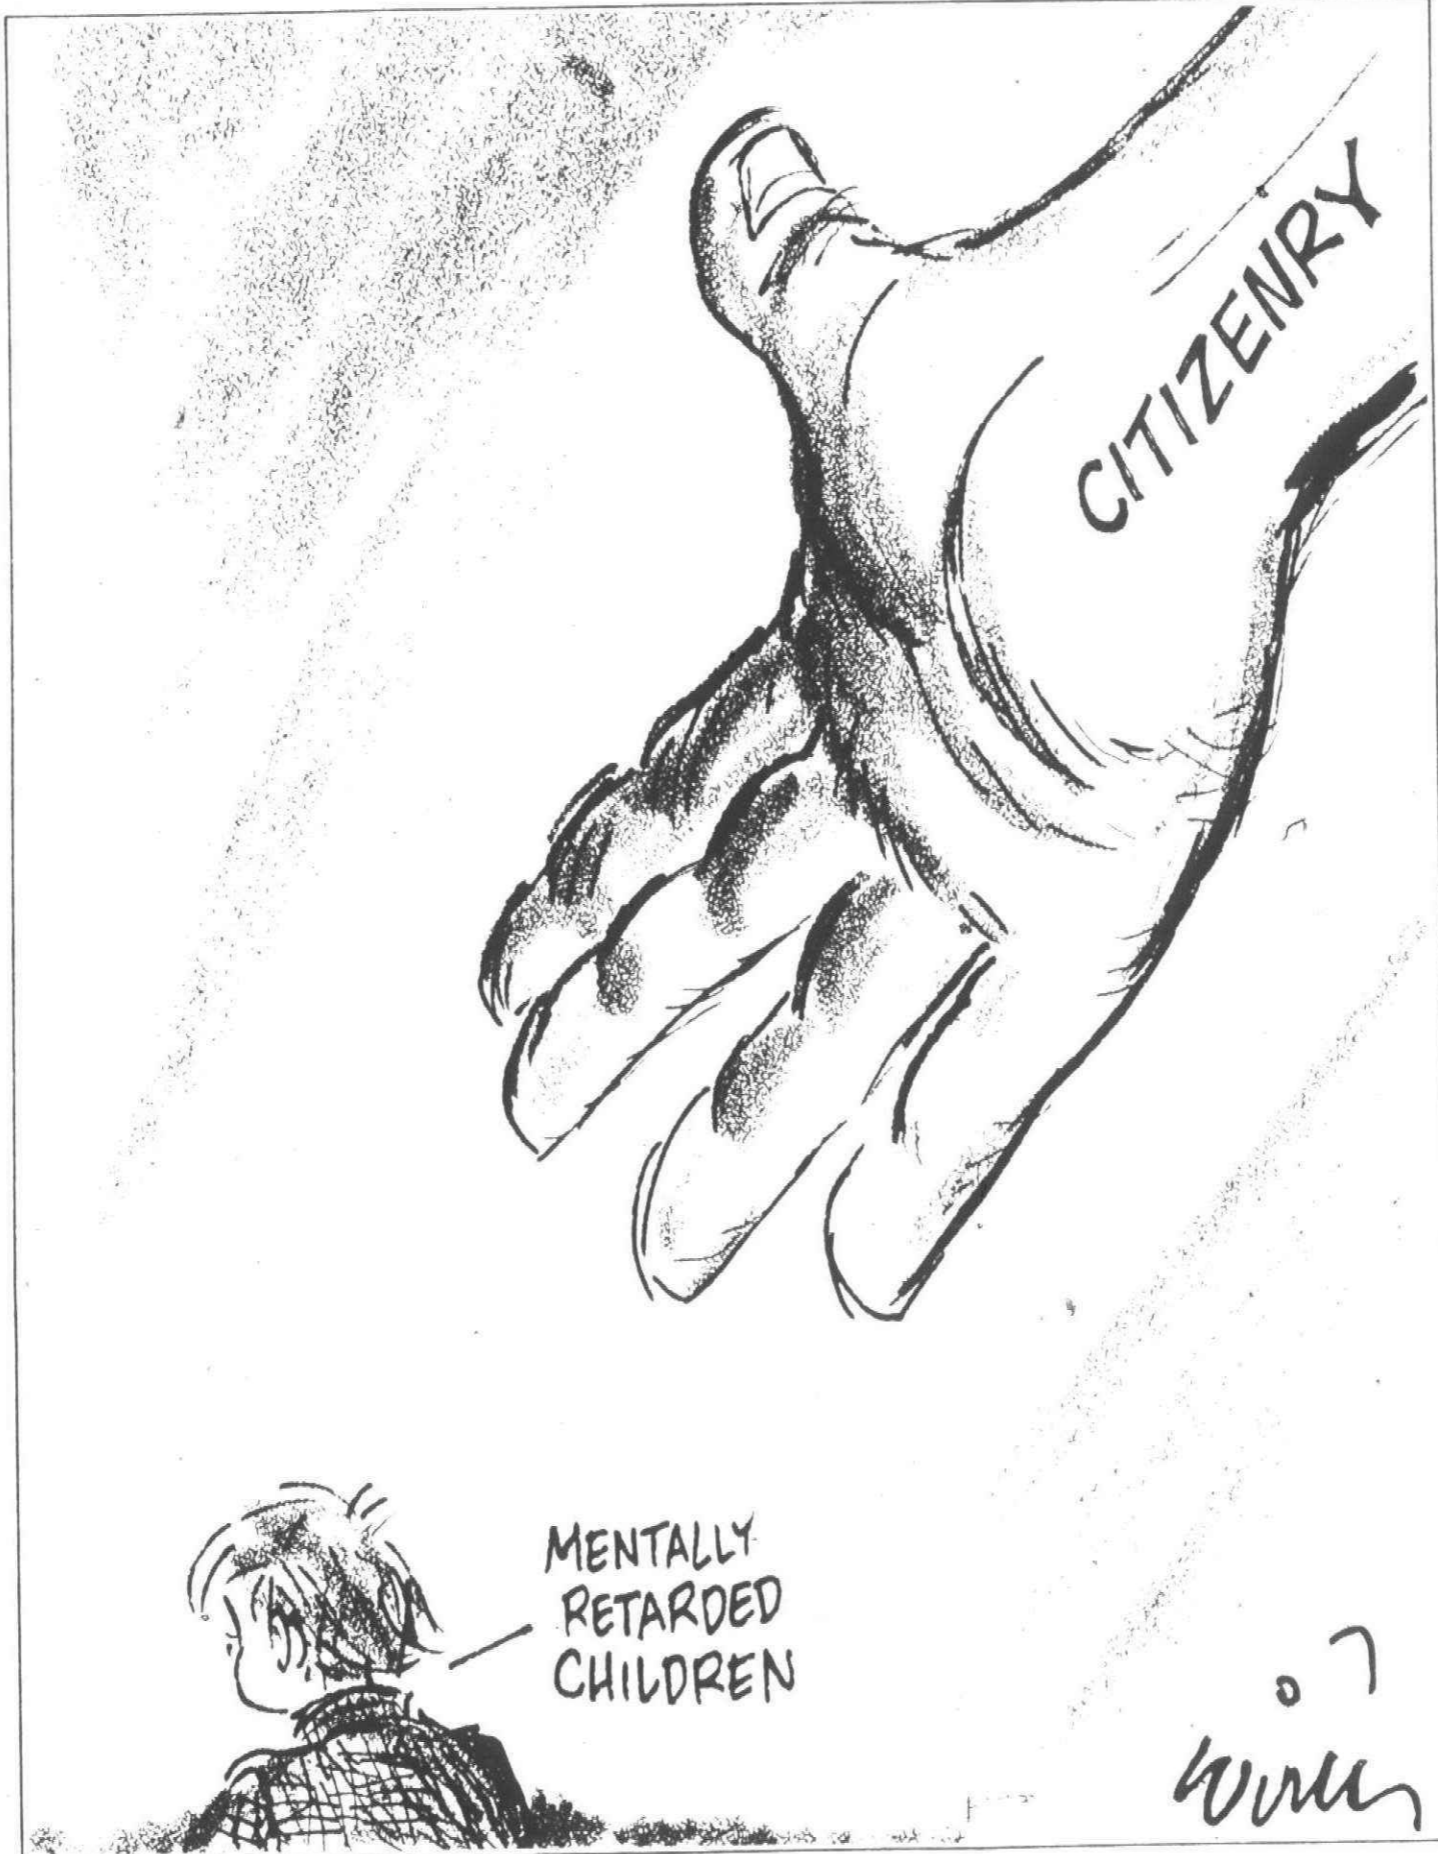

As to the rights of people Lincoln said, "It has long been a grave question whether any government, not too strong for the liberties of its people, can be strong enough to maintain its existence in great emergencies."

LINCOLN'S MOST famous address occurred 116 years ago at the dedication of a military cemetery at Gettysburg, Pa. The speech lasted just two minutes, yet set forth the great goal of our nation.

It enumerated that "our fathers brought forth a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

It ended with the following words:

"It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. . . that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain — that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom — and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Old Detroit is long gone

To celebrate the 56th anniversary of his arrival in Detroit as a young man — to begin his career as a metropolitan journalist, The Stroller decided to take a trip downtown to see the Detroit he came to on that cold, dreary afternoon of Feb. 3, 1924.

Would you believe he couldn't find it?

Sure, the Michigan Central Station was there. But it was a far cry from the bustling terminal it was when he first saw it. This time it was a dismal, stone building that looked like one of the old castles you see from a distance in European countries.

The ride downtown along Michigan Avenue was different, too. The lone sight he recalled was the baseball stadium and even that was far from the low concrete wall Navin Field see saw that first day.

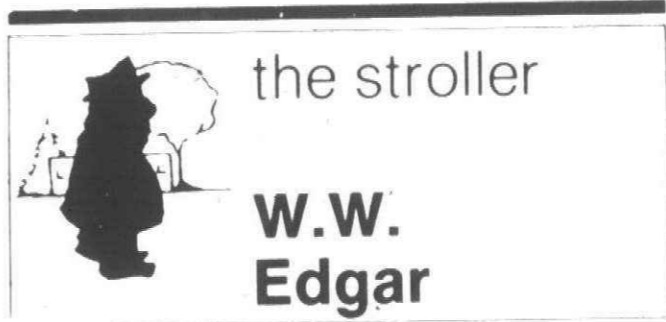

Grand Circus park appeared almost a shambles compared to the grand place it was the day he first saw it.

Gone, too, was the beauty of Washington Boulevard. It is now a mass of steel structure that looks almost like the aftermath of a tornado. And The Stroller just couldn't recognize Woodward Avenue.

As The Stroller moved around downtown, he went looking for the Majestic Building at the corner of Woodward and Griswold that once was rated the tallest building in the Midwest.

In its place was a new, higher building, and when he turned to get a glimpse of the old granite City Hall where friendly Johnny Smith held forth as mayor, that, too, was gone.

So were the old familiar places like Bowles and Brennan, Fitzgerald and Sink's familiar eating places. Bowles was noted for its one-armed chairs and chicken pie.

As he moved along, The Stroller again had a desire for a trip to the foot of Woodward Avenue for a glass of Vernor's ginger ale, especially with a taste of chocolate added. But, lo and behold, he didn't see it. Instead, there was a series of huge concrete buildings and the the Hart Plaza. But no Vernor's.

Disappointing as all this was, The Stroller was certain he could find some of the Detroit he saw that afternoon of long ago. So he headed out Jefferson Avenue to see the big wooden stove that was a trademark of the city. It was nowhere to be seen. It was just a fond memory. It was the same with the amusement park that was on the east side of the Belle Isle bridge entrance.

HEADING BACK downtown, he stood again at the entrance of the Transportation Building on Lafayette. That was the site of the Free Press in those days. It was there that Edgar Guest, the poet, greeted him and introduced him to the sports staff of the Free Press.

The Stroller looked around. There was really something missing — the old Recreation Building with 88 bowling alleys.

On that dreary day of long ago there were two large holes further along Lafayette. "That's where the new Free Press building will be built and the other is for our new post office," Edgar Guest had told him. Now both are obsolete.

There was one last hope. There had been seven old theaters. Melvin Douglas was the leading man in the stock company at the Bonstelle Playhouse. The Stroller wanted another look at the old log cabin at Seven Mile and Woodward. But it was no where to be seen.

There was nothing left to do, but return home. The Detroit he came to is gone.

Buy now - if you have cash

Now is the time to buy a house — if you have $80,000 or so in cold cash rattling around in your wallet.

"We were having our greatest year until the Federal Reserve Board raised interest rates several notches," said developer Frank J. Winton of Southfield recently. He was talking about 1979 and the Fed's abrupt raising of interest rates to cool borrowing and inflation.

"Companies here went from selling 50 or 60 homes a month and dropped to five or 10. Some who were moving two or three a week fell to one or two a month," Winton said.

The next one to four months is the time to buy either new or existing housing if you can pay cash from selling your present house or if you can plunk down a 20 or 25 percent down payment and handle the interest charges. Builders are shaving their prices. Owners of existing houses must shave their prices, too, if they are serious about selling.

THE HOOKER, of course, is the rate of interest you'll be paying if you need a mortgage loan.

Earlier this year it hit 14 percent and lately has dipped a trifle to the 12 percent ball park.

If you buy an $80,000 house with $20,000 down and a loan of $60,000, your annual interest payment at 14 percent will be something like $8,400; at 12 percent your interest cost will be $7,500.

That's not even considering principal or landscaping. Or repairs. Or insurance. Or property taxes. Or rising heating costs.

Some deal.

"In 1978 we built more than 63,000 housing units in Michigan and employed 100,000 workers," said Andris Ronis, president of the Michigan Association of Home Builders. "If the Federal Reserve Board sticks to a policy of tight money and high interest rates, we expect housing production to fall by 50 percent in 1980, with nearly 50,000 jobs lost."

NATIONALLY, the median price of an existing single-family home fell about $700 in November to $55,600, according to the National Association of Realtors.

These gyrations in the economy are particularly bad news for southeast Michigan, said builder Herman Frankel of Orchard Lake. Skilled construction tradesmen depart for other states.

This general tragedy occurs just as a new generation of couples in the 30-40 age bracket — the kids born in the prosperous, peaceful, progressive 1950s — are moving into the market.

Will they be able to buy new or nearly-new houses in suburbia, as the rest of us did not so long ago? It's doubtful.

WE HAVE COME to the end of an era.

The federal government's General Accounting Office has done a study called "Rental Housing: A National Problem That Needs Immediate Attention." The National Association of Realtors, of all groups, suspects GAO may be correct and is doing its own study.

The lending institutions are playing around with variable rates and progressive payment schedules, but those will hardly put a dent in the problem.

I expect we'll see more manufactured housing — the new and more accurate term for mobile homes.

"Manufacturers expect to sell 300,000 mobile homes in 1980, most of them to young couples, retirees and others with limited incomes," said USN&WR recently.

Price is the big reason — $15,925 in 1978 compared to $62,500 for a conventional house. Another reason is that home mortgages, cheaper than retail loans, are becoming increasingly available for manufactured housing.

Feverish blush of youth strikes a matron

I couldn't believe it. I left the doctor's office liltily humming "Here's To You, Mrs. Robinson" under my breath. Snowflakes fluttered but appeared more like magnolia blossoms.

It seemed inconceivable that less than two hours earlier I'd dragged my pain-wracked body through the very same doors, never expecting to hear such a diagnosis. Never did I suspect I was about to make medical history.

One thing should have told me not to put too much faith in this medical genius, especially in my first visit. I have to admit, when you're past 40, you're willing to grasp straws in the wind to keep from drowning.

"I THINK YOU'RE not telling me the truth about your age, Mrs. Krieger," the middle-aged doctor began. It seemed to be — at least I wanted it to be — sincere comment.

"I would never think of you as being in your 40's," he continued. "In fact, not even in your 30's."

This was too much. Demurely, I pulled the sheet around me. Losing 20 pounds must certainly make a difference, I thought.

"Your tonsils look exactly like a 10-year-old's," he finished.

When he made his final diagnosis, I was willing to forgive him as soon as I looked at the lab request he'd written. He explained he thought his diagnosis highly unlikely because it was unheard of in women over 40. Just to be sure, he'd run a test.

THE LAB TECHNICIAN gave me a knowing grin as she jabbed my arm. Never have I parted so willingly with my blood.

"How do you think this happened?" she boldly inquired.

That's when I thought of Mrs. Robinson. Not that I subscribe to Mrs. Robinson's educational tactics as displayed in "The Graduate." But I could see my husband would probably ask the same question as the lab technician.

Driving home, I began to recollect other times when my medical history hadn't coincided with my peer group.

At 16, I idiotically treated my nine-year-old brother's "acne," smothering each "pimple" with blemish cream.

We both came down with chicken pox.

At 30, when they say a woman supposedly reaches her sexual peak, I didn't get sexier. I got mumps.

Do you know how much sympathy a 30-year-old married woman, the mother of three children, evokes with the mumps? Zilch.

HOW WAS I GOING to explain this obvious sign of left over youth? Would my husband respond to an aging "Lolita"?

The teen-agers! I blamed all the symptoms of my progressive old-age on teen-agers. Instead of sensitivity, they'd given me this exotic disease of youth.

The appropriate background music for my homecoming wasn't "Here's To You, Mrs. Robinson." The final theme from the third act of "La Traviata" would have been splendid since I sounded more like a consumptive Violetta, coughing my way into the house. My teen-age wit, Franklyn, greeted me.

"HEY, MOM! You don't have the 'kissing disease,'" he smirked. "The doc just called and said your test for mononucleosis was negative. Probably just a 48-hour virus."

I sank my disease-laden body into the nearest chair. The blush of youth was only fever, easily curable with aspirins. The accompanying chill was definitely winter.

I should have known better than to believe in a doctor who looks into the eyes of a sophisticated, mature, worldly woman and compliments her on her tonsils.

Sleeping dry on a cold winter's night

There were four houses at the end of that street in West Rutland, Vt. My father told me that, while he was growing up, 48 children poured in and out of those doors. My grandmother had six of her own and "took in" two more. That meant 40 children lived in the other three houses.

My aunts and uncles, along with my father, were paid up to share double beds. Most rooms had two double beds. The extra beds were for company.

During the long cold winters, the children's bodies kept each other warm at night. My father slept with a brother who was a bed wetter. The child with the problem was not punished or ridiculed.

Of course, his mother asked him to try and not wet the bed, and he certainly knew that she didn't need extra linens to wash by hand. So a system was devised whereby my father, who was very much involved in the situation (he wanted to sleep in a dry bed), would wake up his brother several times during the night and remind him to go to the bathroom.

Sheila Rosen Seitzman

SIXTY YEARS AGO in West Rutland, the bathroom was an outhouse in the back yard. A tin basin was kept under the bed for middle of the night "emergencies."

My father, without any obvious resentment, programmed himself to wake up his brother for the nightly rituals which hopefully would guarantee a dry bed for them.

One night as my father was performing his service as sentry of the dry sheets, he witnessed an event that was to go down in family history. It was in the middle of the winter and the other bed in their room was occupied by a visiting aunt and uncle.

The boys had been told not to fool around at night because their aunt, tired from the long trip, was a light sleeper.

My father woke up his brother, who pulled the tin basin from under the bed. The latent scientific figuring in the brain of this young boy, who would later exhibit mechanical abilities, made him realize that the noise he would make while using the pan might wake up the guests and put him in an embarrassing situation.

He walked over to the window but the frosty glass dissuaded him from venturing outside. Without further deliberation, my uncle put his foot in the basin in order to deflect the noise.

What my uncle didn't know was that either the scraping of the pan as he pulled it out from under the bed or his footsteps to the window had already alerted his aunt to the situation at hand.

BEFITTING THE AWKWARD occasion, she closed her eyes and pretended to be asleep. But the noise she heard was so strangely muffled that she squinted in the dark to see what was happening.

She saw her nephew with his foot in the tin basin and was unable to guess a rational reason for it to be there.

That was the night the aunt decided that this boy must be peculiar. And even though my uncle grew up to become a very successful adult, there was always one aunt who shook her head in dismay every time she saw him.

'Dungeons, Dragons' a game of fantasy

If you are a lover of fairy tales, King Arthur with his magic sword Excalibur, Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings," or "Beowulf" and Grendel's mother, then "Dungeons and Dragons" is the game for you.

Although this game has been around for about five years, our family has only recently discovered it.

Dungeons and Dragons is a fantasy game for adults or very smart children. It is a role-playing game, and you may find yourself cast as a knight in armor, a magician, a fat little dwarf, a human or a halfling.

The game requires three or more players, the more the merrier.

ONE PLAYER is the dungeon master, who maps out the dungeon plans. The object is to enter all the rooms in the dungeon, capture the hidden treasures, and escape alive.

This is not easy to do because the treasures are guarded by such creatures as blink dogs, bugbeas, carrion crawlers, cockatrice, gargoyles, giants, ghouls, sea hags, giant ants, giant centipedes, giant rats, gnolls, gnomes, goblins and hobgoblins, griffons, Hell hounds, knobolds, lizardmen, ogres, purple worms and (of course) dragons, among others.

You may also encounter ochre jelly, green slime, grey ooze, djinni, fire beetles, trolls and unicorns along the way.

TO GET STARTED as a player, you need a basic book of instructions, the special set of dice that comes with it, pencils and paper for keeping records and making maps, and a table where the maps may be spread out.

It is also fun to use little figures to represent the characters. Such figures, along with many, many, additional books for advanced players, may be purchased in most hobby stores.

But beware of becoming addicted to this game, for it can cost you quite a bit of money if you buy all the accessories available. And the games can last practically forever.

But if you have lots of imagination, some time to kill and a couple of willing friends to join you, I guarantee you will enjoy your trip into the dungeons.

A typical Michigan household can save up to $180 on its annual home heating bills by lowering the thermostat when residents are asleep or out of the house.

These savings — from lowering thermostats from 70 to 60 degrees for two eight-hour periods during sleeping hours and times when no one is home — will range from $68-180 a year, according to a study by Honeywell's Energy Management Information Center.

The report is the first to apply winter 1980 Michigan fuel consumption and price data to the figures used by the U.S. Department of Energy to estimate how much money families can save by setting back thermostats.

The findings are based on data from the U.S. Department of Energy, the Federal Power Commission, the National Bureau of Standards, the Bureau of Census, the Energy Clearinghouse of the Michigan Commerce Department and Michigan utilities and fuel oil dealers.

How much a particular household can save depends on how far thermostats are lowered, insulation, the efficiency of heating systems, utility rates, climate and similar factors, the study said.

THE STUDY — one of 10 reports on fuel savings in the northeast and midwest — also provides a range of potential savings for families in four major Michigan cities. This savings range is generally representative of potential statewide savings, the study said.

The Honeywell Information Center is conducting these studies to focus attention on practical ways to save money by reducing energy use in homes, businesses and industrial facilities.

The potential savings are based on annual cost estimates for heating a typical-size house in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Sault Ste. Marie. These cities were studied because they provide a reasonable range of costs, allowing for differences in geography, temperature, utility rates and consumption patterns, the study said.

The costs are estimated for No. 2 heating oil and natural gas, the two principal fuels used for heating in Michigan.

The study found:

- A 10-degree dual reduction of temperature, for both sleeping hours and periods when no one is home, produces savings ranging from $68 for a gas-heated house in Lansing to $180 for oil-heated houses in Sault Ste. Marie.

- A five-degree dual setback, from 70 to 65, produces savings of $42 for a gas-heated house in Sault Ste. Marie to $117 for an oil-heated house in Detroit.

- A 10-degree night only setback produces savings of $40 for a gas-heated house in Lansing to $107 for an oil-heated house in Detroit.

- A five-degree night only setback produces savings from $21 for a gas-heated house in Sault Ste. Marie to $68 for an oil-heated house in Detroit.

The information center study cautioned the savings would best be assured if automatic-setback thermostats are used to make daily temperature adjustments. The Honeywell study pointed out that households with manual thermostats can achieve these setback savings, but often forfeit them by neglecting to turn down the temperature for periods when high heating levels are unnecessary.

The study also noted U.S. Department of Energy recommendations to use automatic-setback thermostats to make fuel conservation certain. The department has reported an investment in an automatic thermostat involves "some initial investment, but this outlay is more than repaid in dependability and energy savings over a period of time."

The typical cost of an automatic thermostat can be recovered in as little as one year, the study said. The Internal Revenue Service extends an "energy credit" of 15 percent of the cost.

Canton cagers hold on to upset Stevenson

By BRAD EMONS

Pressure free throw shooting and tough defense carried Plymouth Canton to a 55-52 upset basketball victory Tuesday night over Livonia Stevenson.

The Chiefs, now 8-6 overall, got sterling performances Scott Adler, Dave Visser and Sean Houle. The loss at home dropped Stevenson to 10-3 overall.

"We played very hard tonight and defense was the key," said an elated Canton coach Craig Bell. "Our defense dictated the win and at the end of the game we held our poise.

"We're on the upswing right now. This was a good win for us. We're playing with more intensity and getting better position defensively."

Adler and Visser, both seniors, combined to make four free throws in the final minute to preserve the Canton victory.

Visser, a 6-foot-6 swing man, spearheaded the defense with blanket coverage all evening against Stevenson's Dave Hall, the area's top scorer with a 23 points-per-game average.

Visser cut off Hall's patented moves to the basket all night long and limited the Spartans ace to just 13 points.

Houle and Adler keyed the offense by scoring 18 and 16 points, respectively. Visser added 10.

Adler, a 6-foot senior guard, picked Stevenson's Tom Van Wagoner clean and drove in for a layup, giving the Chiefs a 49-48 edge in a see-saw battle with 3:26 left in the game.

STEVENSON'S Evan Lyall then responded with a rebound basket with 2:37 to put the Spartans up 50-49, their last lead of the night.

Canton forward Brad Westin then scored inside with 1:17 to go to lift the Chiefs to a 51-50 advantage. From that point on Canton never relinquished the lead.

Tom Finn, who led Stevenson with 22 points, made a key turnover with 1:52 left when he was called for an offensive foul. With Canton leading, 53-52, after a bucket by Hall, Finn went to the free throw line with 20 seconds left and missed the front end of a one-and-one situation. Visser grabbed the rebound and was promptly fouled.

He made both shots to ice it for the Chiefs.

"We didn't play with much intensity," said Stevenson coach George Van Wagoner. "They (Canton) played well. We didn't get enough hands up in their faces."

The Spartans gained a brief lead late in the third quarter when Hall was benched after collecting his fourth foul.

Finn's basket with 7:50 remaining in the final quarter gave Stevenson its biggest lead of the night, 44-39.

The Chiefs, however, stormed back and Stevenson traded baskets most of the first and second quarters. Canton enjoyed a 29-28 halftime edge.

Finn was hot most of the third quarter, scoring 10 points, but he got little help elsewhere.

"STEVENSON'S offense flows into Hall," said Bell, "and I thought Dave (Visser) did a real nice job matching up with him. He did a super job.

Canton will entertain Western Six League leader Waterford Mott Friday, at 8 p.m. The Chiefs trail by two games, and with a victory can tighten up the race considerably.

Westland John Glenn stuns Salem cagers, 68-64

Westland John Glenn, mired in fifth place in the Northwest Suburban League, pulled off a major cage upset Tuesday night by beating state-ranked Plymouth Salem, 68-64.

The loss dropped Salem to 12-2 overall and will probably drop the Rocks out of the top 10 (Class A) in both the Detroit News and Free Press rankings.

The Rockets outscored Salem 27-20 in the final quarter to post the surprise win. Glenn canned 16 of 20 foul shots in that quarter to beat Coach Fred Thomann's squad.

"This has to be our most rewarding win of the season," proclaimed Glenn Coach Dan Henry.

"We beat a state-ranked team and the kids really played their guts out," said Henry. "What can I say?"

The win ended a bizarre day for Henry. Earlier in the afternoon he was named the new football coach at Redford Thurston and was told he could retain his cage job at Glenn by school administrators.

Wayne Woodward and Ken Liedel paced a balanced Glenn attack with 19 and 13 points respectively. Rob Sisson added 10 for the winners, now 7-8 overall.

Salem center Howard Monk, a 6-foot-6 senior, led all scorers with 34, his third game this season over 30 points.

Rob Neu, who fouled out, added 11 for Salem.

"They gave us a problem with their man-to-man defense," said Thomann.

"IT WAS a hard-fought game and they were really fired up," he said. "They (Glenn) dictated the tempo. As a team we didn't deal with the game as a whole. Late in the game we had to foul."

Salem jumped out to a 20-15 first quarter lead, but led by only two at halftime, 32-30.

The Rocks went into the final quarter with a 44-41 advantage.

The game was dominated by free throws. Glenn hit 24 of 37 from the line for 70 percent. Meanwhile, Salem connected on 26 of 34 for 76 percent.

Salem, which does not play Friday, returns to action Tuesday night at home against Northwest Suburban League leader Livonia Franklin (8-5) at 8 p.m.

Salem grapplers look for support

Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger would like to see a big turnout tonight for his team's match with Trenton.

He knows a victory in the downriver city will give his squad a boost for the Suburban Eight League Meet there Saturday and the upcoming state tournament.

It's going to be Salem's biggest test of the season thus far. The Rocks, 12-0 in dual meets and champion of seven straight invitational tournaments this year, face a Trenton team which is 12-2 overall and unbeaten in league duals.

Salem is ranked No. 4 in Class A by the Michigan High School Wrestling Coaches Association (MHSWCA). Trenton, coached by Jim Stallings, is rated No. 5.

"This is the best team we've ever had here," reminded Krueger, who has been sidelined at home for the past four days with the flu.

"I'd like to see our people get down there and support us. If we work this week we can bring home a league title," he said.

Krueger has been pleased with attendance by fans at weekend tournaments, but has been "kind of down on the attendance at dual meets."

"This match is very important," said

Brad Emons writes

Stallings. "Whoever wins will have the upper hand. Salem has to be the favorite. They've beaten us twice so far in tournaments."

THE TRENTON COACH said his team is in "good shape" for the league showdown and "we should be ready."

He is impressed with Salem's overall balance and experience.

"We wrestle a freshman, five sophomores, four juniors and three seniors," he explained. "We should be a lot better next season."

Salem, however, is a senior dominated team which has peaked this season.

"A lot of our kids had brothers before them who wrestled for us," said Krueger. "Even a few years ago these kids were outstanding and now they've come together as seniors.

Jeff Brown, who wrestles now at 121 pounds holds the career record for wins and set the sophomore mark two years ago.

"They are trying to beat each others' records all the time."

Jim Schultz, the 107-pounder with 37 wins this year, set a record last year for wins as a junior. Mark Ross, the Rocks' 128-pounder, had the distinction of holding the freshman mark.

Those three seniors - Brown, Schultz and Ross have formed the nucleus of an outstanding team.

Heavyweight Greg Gattoni and 119-pounder Jeff Dunson, both seniors, share the fastest pins record (nine seconds) in the school's history.

Rocks celebrate 1st gym victory

Coach Carol Michaels and her Plymouth Salem gymnastics team had reason to do a little celebrating Monday night.

The Rocks won their first meet in three years by edging Dearborn Edsel Ford, 57.15-56.35.

"Everybody is really happy," proclaimed Michaels, now in her second season. "This is our best score ever. This is a big day for us."

tory by forfeit earlier in the season over Walled Lake Western, which used two ineligible performers.

Sue Nitz, who placed second in all-around with a total of 18.85 points, led Salem to the victory with a second place in the balance beam (5.4). She also scored 5.15 in the vault, 3.1 in the uneven parallel bars and 5.2 in floor exercise.

Darla Doumanian, coming back from a knee injury which sidelined her last week, gave Salem a big lift when she won the uneven bars (4.55) and balance beam (6.0). She also captured second in the floor exercise (6.25).

"I was really pleased with Darla's performance," said Michaels. "We kept her off vault where she hurt herself before and I'm glad she's back."

In the vault, Leslie Nieto of Edsel Ford won the competition with a score of 6.0. Salem's Cindy McSurely took third (5.3), with teammate Donna Ankofski scoring a 4.7.

Salem swept the uneven bars with McSurely gaining second (3.2) and LeAnne Albright taking third (3.15).

The Rocks' Dana Flower took third place in the balance beam (4.15), but she injured her knee while dismounting.

Salem's Kathy Rice scored a 4.1 in the floor exercise to round out the evening. Edsel's Maureen O'Leary won the event (6.7).

Nieto was first in all-around with a score of 20.05, but her performance was not enough to stop the Rocks from securing their first victory.

Salem will travel to Westland John Glenn at 7 p.m. Thursday.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL Flashback

On Friday night March 6, 1970, Plymouth High School's basketball season came to an end in the State District Finals at North Farmington. On that evening Plymouth, playing without Captain and leading scorer Pat Cunningham, fell to Farmington High 74-64. (Cunningham had put his name in the record book earlier in the '69-70 season by scoring the most total points in a season—surpassing the mark of Mike Ruck set in 1958). Plymouth had captured a share of the Suburban Six League championship (with Livonia Senior) and had advanced through the first 2 rounds of District play by defeating North Farmington and Walled Lake Central. Charley Wells had 26 points and Scott Taylor added 17 for Plymouth in the loss to Farmington.

Canton fencer inducted into WSU Hall of Fame

Bruce Davis of Canton Township will be inducted into Wayne State University's Athletic Hall of Fame during ceremonies Saturday at the McGregor Memorial Conference Center at 11:30 a.m.

Davis was a three-year fencing letterman at Wayne State from 1957-59. He was the NCAA individual foil champion in both 1957 and 1958. In 1959 he placed third in that same event. He earned All-American honors all three years.

He captained the 1959 team while becoming the Presidents Athletic Conference (PAC) foil champion. Davis was also nominated to the United States Olympic squad that year, but was not selected.

Along with his collegiate competition at WSU, Davis also competed for the Amateur Fencing League of America (AFLA) in Michigan. He was second in the midwest in epee weapon in 1955.

From 1955-67, He placed second, third and fourth in both epee and foil each year in Michigan. Davis also fenced while in the armed forces from 1953-54 for the Texas Border Division.

Born in Detroit, Davis attended Cass Technical High School where he majored in aeronautics. He received his B.S. in Civil Engineering from WSU in 1959. He later earned a master's degree in public health from the University of Michigan in 1963.

Davis currently works as a public health engineer for the Wayne County Health Department.

In his spare time he coaches the Cavaliers, a small fencing club in the Livonia-Canton area.

Petersen lifts Canton tankers

Plymouth Canton won its sixth dual swim meet in seven starts by dunking Redford Thurston Tuesday at home, 94-78.

Paul Petersen, a winner at the prestigious Detroit News Invitational Saturday, showed the way against Thurston with a victory in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:02.4) along with being a member of the first place 200-yard medley relay team which posted a time of 1:45.89, a school record.

The Canton All-Stater won the 100-yard breaststroke at the News' event at Schoolcraft College with a clocking of 1:01.5. He also took third in the 200-yard individual medley with a time of 2:02.5, behind Mike McCloskey of Monroe, who set a meet record (1:59.3).

Petersen's teammates Jeff Seippel, Ron Hurley and Mike Sherwood finished 11th at Schoolcraft in the 200-medley relay. The same foursome also swam against Thurston.

Petersen was beaten in the 200-IM Tuesday by Thurston's Dave Miller, who posted a time of 2:03.33. Petersen's time was 2:03.55.

Miller placed fifth at Schoolcraft in the 200-IM with a time of 2:04.3.

Sherwood took the 50-yard freestyle for Canton against Thurston with a time of :23.7. Pete Stern placed second (:23.9).

Stern then captured the 100-yard freestyle (:52.9) with Sherwood gaining second (:53.2).

GAINING SECOND place finishes for the Chiefs were Bob Simrak, 200-yard freestyle, 1:59.9; Troy Haarala, 500-yard freestyle, 5:20.6; Seippel, 100-yard backstroke, 1:04.11.

Third place finishers for Canton included Keith Greenleaf, 200-yard freestyle, 2:00.0; Mark Bennett, diving, 134.00; John Simone, 100-yard butterfly, 1:07.9; Simrak, 500-yard freestyle, 5:29.7; Hurley, 100-yard breaststroke, 1:10.2.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team comprised of Dave Smith, Simrak, Haarala and Stern took second place (3:40.6). Teammates Ryan Smith, Joe Gibbons, Simone and Seippel captured third.

In the 200-yard medley relay, Gibbons teamed up with Greg Schnurstein, Ryan Smith and Jeff Rice to claim third place with a clocking of 1:56.9.

Canton will travel to Northville in a Western Six League dual meet Thursday at 7 p.m.

Youth baseball registration set

The Plymouth-Canton Junior Baseball League (PCJBL) has announced its spring registration dates for the 1980 season.

The program is open to boys and girls ages seven (on or before July 31) through 16.

On Saturday, March 1 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Canton High School cafeteria, veteran players slated to play in the same league as last year are eligible to sign up.

Open registration then will held on March 8 and 15 at the same location and time on a first-come, first served basis.

The registration fee is $14 per child for C League, girls 7-9, (T-Ball) and $18 for all remaining leagues — B League, 9-10-year-old boys; A League, 11-12-year-old boys; G Junior League, 9-12-year-old girls; G Senior League, 13-16-year-old girls; E-F League, 13-16-year-old boys.

A $10 late registration fee will be charged to each child regardless of league. The PCJBL also has a family plan of $50 regardless of the number of children who sign up.

Birth certificates are required upon registration.

The PCJBL also announced it has purchased five new backstops to be placed on community diamonds. New uniforms were also purchased for B League and G Senior League.

The league is looking for volunteer help at registration. For more information call Arena Schultz at 453-0634.

TEEN SKI TRIP

A teen ski trip is planned by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department Friday, Feb. 15 at Alpine Valley.

Youngster will leave the Township Administration parking lot at 5 p.m. with the return slated for midnight.

The trip will be limited to 20 persons. Persons with their own equipment will be charged $8, which includes all transportation. The cost is $14 for person without equipment. All fees must be paid upon registration at the Recreation Department, 1150 South Canton Center Road.

Each participant must have a parent sign a waiver form upon registration. For more information call 397-1000.

45-15 BOWLING TOURNAMENT

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring its third annual 45-15 Singles Bowling tournament Feb. 20 and March 5 at SuperBowl.

Competition will be divided into three age categories — Pee Wee (eight and under), Bantam (9-11) and Juniors (12-14). The cost is $2.50 for Pee Wee and $3 for Bantam and Junior.

A handicap system will be used to equalize competition.

The Track D tournament will be held Feb. 20 followed by Track A on March 5.

Winners will bowl off in a championship playoff against other Tracks in March.

Wayne secures volleyball crown

By BETTY DeLANO

Both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton proved to be gracious hosts Saturday at the 5th annual Plymouth-Canton Invitational Volleyball Tournament bowing out early and making room for the visitors in the finals.

Wayne Memorial captured the tourney.

Canton missed its chance for a spot in the quarter finals by one game and Salem found trouble in its pool all day long.

Of the 21 teams entered in the event, the top three teams qualified in the two pools at Salem and the top two of three pools at Canton earned spots in the quarter finals. The top two teams in the fifth pool also advanced to the quarters.

Salem's surge for a tournament victory got off to a fast start by defeating Waterford Mott 15-10, 15-7. Games were started with each team already having four points.

After the Rocks' opening victory, things got tougher instead of easier for the young team which dropped games to Livonia Churchill 15-10, 15-5; Berkley 15-9, 16-14; and Walled Lake Central 15-12, 15-7. Salem split with Brighton 10-15, 15-11.

"Our starters were playing very slow," commented Salem coach Cathy Himes on her team's performance. "The kids that came off the bench played great but it wasn't enough to make up for any damage already done."

Himes complimented freshman Jacques Merrifield and junior Dawn Hinman for adding spark to the Rocks' play after coming off the bench.

"Against Walled Lake Central we had good bumps so Dana (Harter) was able to set the ball real well," continued Himes. "Because of the bumps and the sets, Cheryl Sobkow was able to get some dynamite kills, but not enough to secure the game."

Salem finished the day with a 3-7 win loss record.

FOR CANTON the day wasn't so unfortunate.

After losing its first match to Livonia Stevenson 15-10, 15-8, the Chiefs came back to split with Ypsilanti, 14-16, 15-8, and then earned two more victories by defeating Fenton 15-9, 15-7, to tie for third place in Canton's pool with two matches yet to play.

Canton's downfall came against Farmington Harrison, losing 15-11, 15-

9. Still with a chance at the quarter finals, Canton then lost the first game to Redford Union, 15-12, and won the second, 15-11.

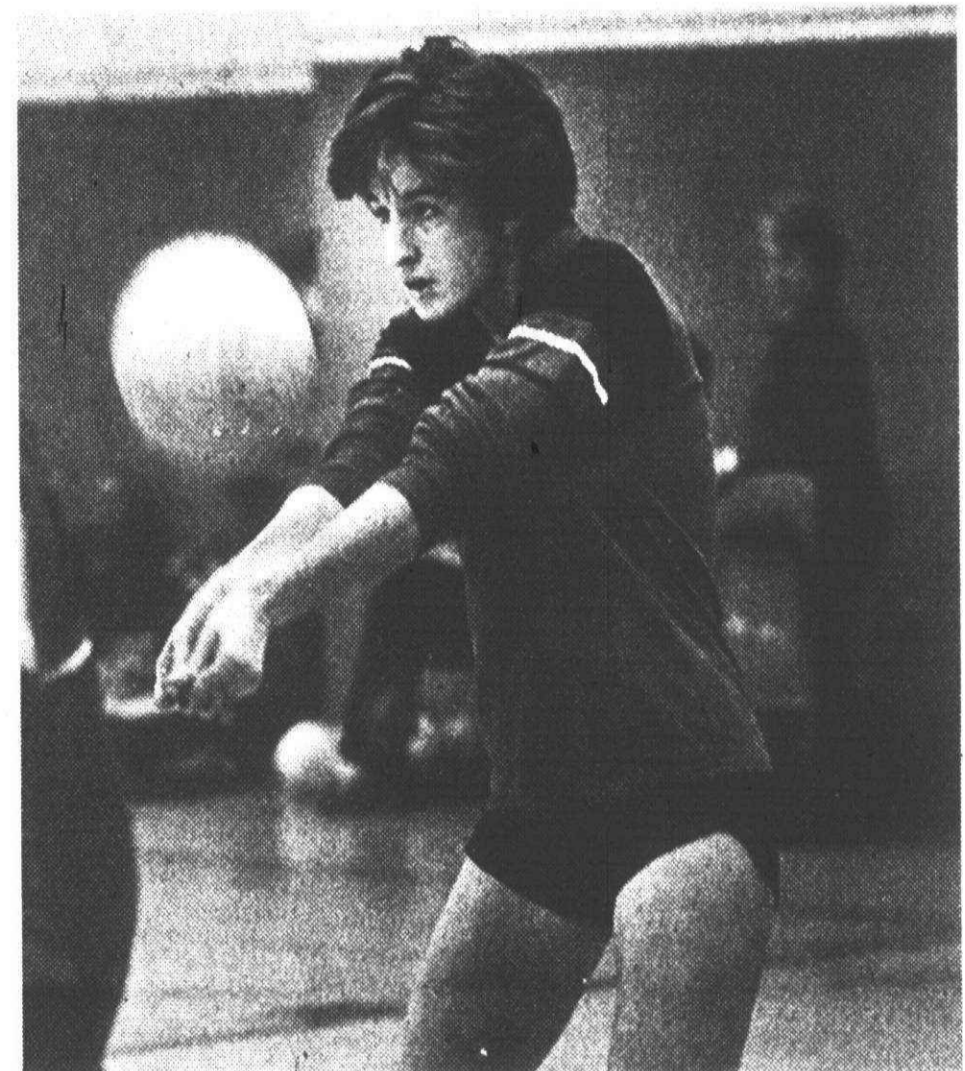

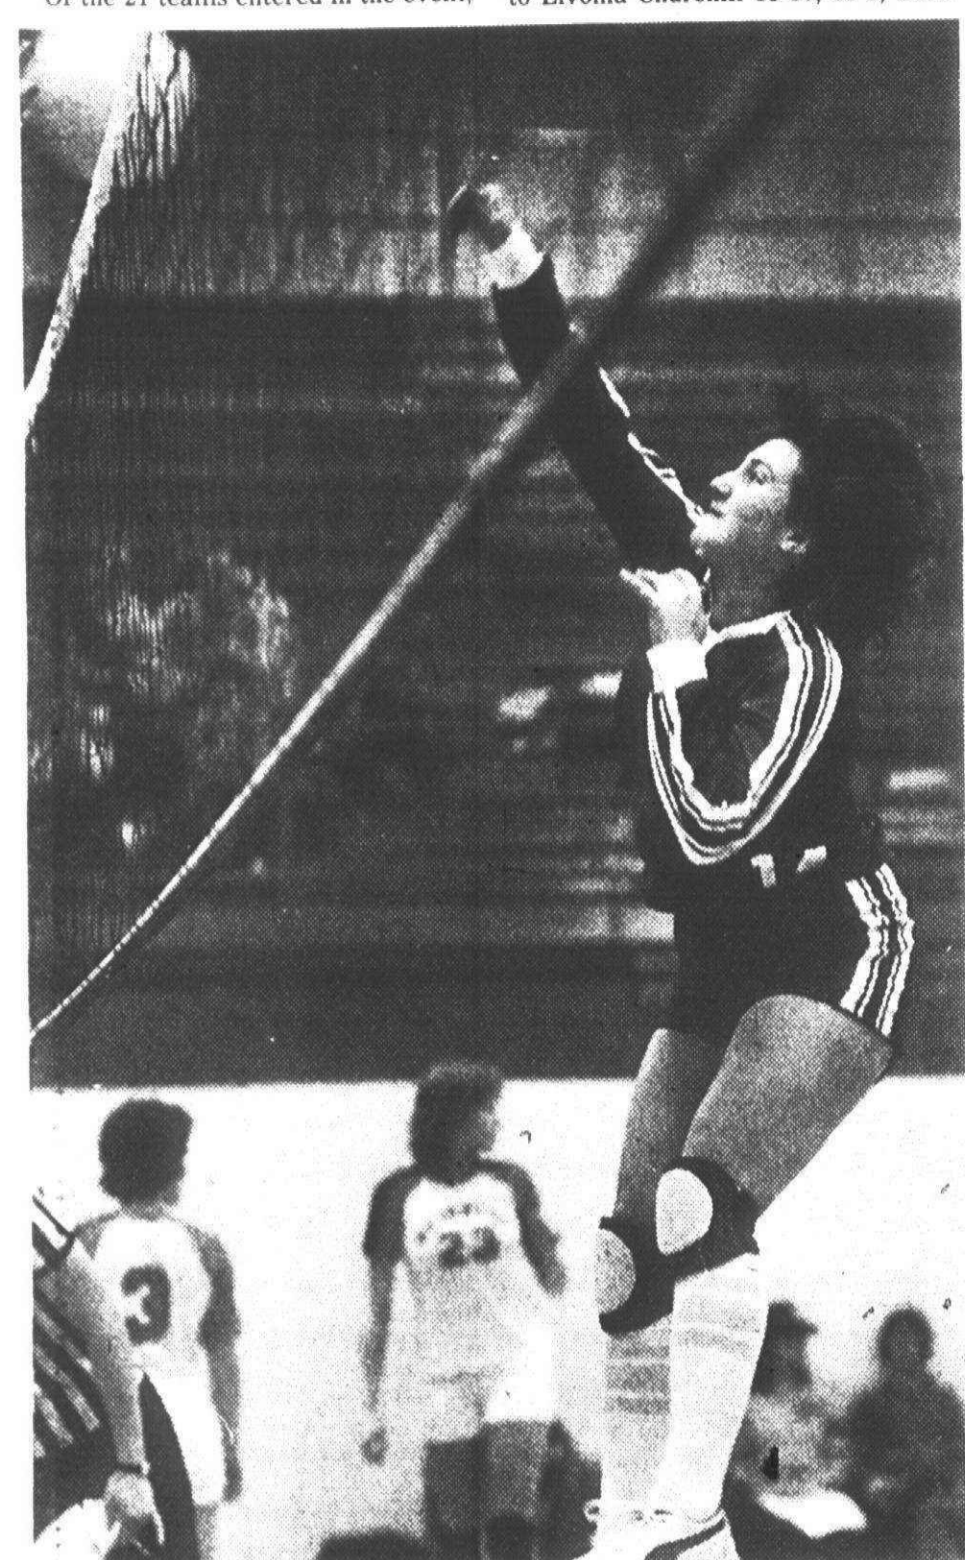

"We had a shot at the quarter finals if we had beaten Harrison and Redford Union," said Canton Coach Cyndi Burnstein. "We had beaten Harrison earlier in the season so we were entirely in reach of a playoff position. We just let up on them and let it slide through our fingers."

Burnstein praised the play of Mariann Pink who did a great job setting for the Canton squad along with Sue Beaune.

"We learned that we could really play good volleyball against the better teams," said Burnstein. "We just have to develop the killer instinct that will enable us to put away the weaker teams."

Semifinal action consisted of Wayne Memorial against Westland John Glenn and Livonia Bentley against Flint Kearsley. Wayne beat the Rockets 15-5, 15-2 for a spot in the finals. Bentley defeated Kearsley 15-9, 14-16, 15-8 for its chance at the title.

Wayne again proved to the Bulldogs that they were the better team by claiming the championship title 17-15, 15-6. Bentley lost to Wayne at the Schoolcraft tournament in the championship match.

Canton gymnasts qualify for regional

The Plymouth Canton girls' gymnastics team rebounded from a loss to Lantoni Clareville to whip Ypsilanti Monday, 86.45-73.60, thus qualifying for regional competition. The Chiefs evened their record at 3-3.

It was Canton's fourth regional qualifying score (anything above 84).

Laura Michalik won the all-around competition with a 29.9, as well as the vaulting and the uneven parallel bars (7.05).

Laurie Beale, back after missing the last meet because of an illness, took first in the floor exercises with a score of 8.0. Beale also captured seconds in vaulting (7.65), uneven parallel bars (6.4) and all-around (29.05).

Kati Heaton took first on the balance beam (7.3) and third in vaulting (7.1), floor exercise (7.05), all-around (27.5) and a fourth n the uneven parallel bars (6.05).

"It was a very good meet for us," said Canton coach John Cunningham. "It was our second best meet of the year next to the North Farmington meet."

Michalik took second-place honors in the floor exercise (7.75) and the balance beam (7.15).

Beale placed third on the balance beam (7.0) while Heather Hawkins placed fifth in the same event.

Sixth place finishers for the Chiefs were Kelly Harvey (6.4) on the balance beam and Sheryl Korsnes in vaulting (6.2) and uneven parallel bars (5.15).

Rock matmen whip 3 opponents

Plymouth Salem's wrestlers allowed just 24 points Friday while beating North Farmington, Howell and host Walled Lake Western in three separate dual meets.

The Rocks, now 12-0 overall, blasted Western Six League co-leader Walled Lake, 50-6, then trimmed North Farmington, 46-12, and rounded out the long evening by whipping Howell, 63-6.

Jim Schultz, Salem's 107-pounder, raised his personal record to 37-2 with two pins in the meet, tying teammate Jeff Powers' school record of 22 in one season.

Powers, also a senior wrestling at 187 pounds, kept pace with Schultz by recording three pins, raising his season total to 21.

Senior Mark Ross (128) is now 36-4-1 overall after gaining shutouts against Jim Atwell of Western and Dan Orr of North Farmington. Reserve Rob McDonald gave Salem a perfect night in that weight class with a 4-1 decision against Howell.

At 140 pounds Randy Beaudoin, a sophomore, came through with a 3-0 mark for the night. Jerry Valchine, who normally wrestles at 140, but was moved up to 147 because of teammate Rob Price was out ill, won all three matches — beating Aldo Buttazoni of Western and Jim Sculley of North on a pin in 5:00.

Heavyweight Greg Gattoni of Salem went 2-1 on the day, losing only to North's outstanding grappler George Houttekier, when he got caught in a roll in the third period.

Jeff Brown, Jeff Dunson and Bill Ward, all from Salem, controlled the 114 and 121-pound weight classes, winning all six matches. Brown, a senior is now 30-7 overall.

JV cagers romp

By THOMAS ZAIBEK

Trailing 12-6 at the end of one quarter, the Plymouth Salem junior varsity cagers rallied and went on to defeat Dearborn Edsel Ford Friday night, 64-44.

The Rocks now stand 10-2 overall. Salem outscored Edsel Ford 19-10 in the second quarter to take control.

Geoff Baker led a balance scoring attack with 12 points for the winners.

Rob Heidt chipped in with 11. Dave Barnhart and Dave Houle each had eight.

RUMBERGER LEADS CHIEFS

Swing man Fred Rumberger scored 14 points to lead the Plymouth Canton junior varsity to a 64-39 cage victory over Northville.

Matt Thomas added 12 for the winners while teammate Al Blascak had 10.

Chief spikers shake up Northville

Having only one day to recuperate from tournament action on Saturday, the Plymouth Canton varsity volleyball team defeated Northville 15-12, 18-16 Monday night.

The Western Six League victory improved the Chiefs' season record to 5-1. All six contests have been in the league.

A lack of communication on the court proved to be the Chiefs' main problem against the Mustangs which resulted in inadequate court coverage.

"We found ourselves getting panicky and playing in other people's positions," said Canton Coach Cyndi Burnstein.

"By not calling for the ball we were confused about who was going to hit the ball," she said. "We seemed to wind up in the wrong places."

Burnstein said her team was tired from Saturday's grueling tournament which contributed to her team's sloppy play.

"We were still tired and disappointed from missing the quarterfinals on Saturday by so few points," said the Canton Coach.

"Northville has never been so strong that we've had a real hard time against them. We went into the game thinking it would be an easy match."

Holding onto a four point lead at 13-9 in the second game Burnstein decided to use her bench. Northville then had the chance to catch the Chiefs and make a go at the win.

"They (Northville) were able to catch up because the players that came in haven't had that much playing experience and they Northville took advantage of it," Burnstein said. "I probably should have put the starters back in but I had confidence in my bench and they proved that they could win."

Burnstein complimented the play of freshman Denise Wright and sophomore Lori Erdelyi for their controlled spikes and all around good play.

The Canton squad's next match will be Tuesday night at Livonia Churchill starting at 7 p.m. The Chiefs will be out for revenge against the Chargers who defeated the Canton team earlier this season.

Cruisers dunk Ypsi swimmers

Led by the team of Scott Swartzwelter, Cris Elliott, Jimmy Gallagher and Robbie Shimmel, the Plymouth-Canton Swim Club recently defeated Ypsilanti, 289-220.

That foursome won both the eight and under boys' 100-yard medley relay (1:22.8) and 100-yard freestyle relay (1:13.8) events.

Shimmel and Elliott also finished one-two in the 25-yard backstroke with times of :20.6 and :20.7 respectively.

In the eight and under girls' 100-yard medley relay, the quartet of Jennifer Anderson, Erin Olson, Katie Vesnaugh and Julie Shimmel took first place with a time of 1:33.3.

The team of Debbie Kelley, Michelle Stackpole, Susan Bonnett and Tracy Meszaros captured first place in the girls 9-10 200-yard medley relay with a clocking of 1:13.2.

Tim Collins, Steve Swartzinski, Shawn Shankie and Bob Bowling won the 200-yard medley relay for boys 13-14 with a time of 2:17.4. That same foursome also took the 200-yard freestyle relay with a clocking of 2:00.8.

Dan Harwood, Steve Schwinn, Jim Riemschneider and Frank

Wisniewski combined to win the 200-yard freestyle relay for boys 9-10 (2:17.0) while the girls did likewise (2:30.4) as Debbie Kelley, Minao Gupta, Meszaros and Stackpole claimed first spot.

Plymouth-Canton's Kathy Kennedy, Julie Zantop, Vesnaugh and Cindy Elliott combined to win the 200-yard freestyle relay for girls 11-12 with a time of 2:07.0.

B & D Graphics sees own shadow

B&D Graphics was the only team able to see its shadow Saturday in the first ever Groundhog Day Slow-pitch Softball Classic held at Griffin Park.

The event, sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department, drew a field of eight teams in a single elimination tourney.

And on a cold, sunny day B&D made it a long winter for the seven other squads.

In the championship finals played under the lights, B&D took home the team trophy with a thrilling 8-7 victory over McMurray Insurance in extra innings.

Jack Ther had given B&D a comfortable lead in the fifth inning when he slammed a homer with three runners on base.

McMurray's, however, refused to fold by scoring five runs in the sixth inning featuring a homer by Tom Battistone and a double by Frank McMurray, Jr. McMurray's then tied the game in the seventh.

Bruce Webb became the hero when a belted a solo homer in the eighth to give B&D Graphics the title.

In a fast-paced semifinal game, B&D whipped Gerry & Mike's Social Club, 7-2, as Gene Gorczon and Dale Alcoser slammed the door with back-to-back homers.

In the other semifinal, Dennis Sullivan hit a grand slam homer and made a spectacular catch in the outfield to lead McMurray's to a 17-2 victory over Beginners Inn.

B&D opened the tournament at 9:45 a.m. under a wind chill factor of minus-15 degrees by downing Hygrades, 15-9.

The winners were paced by Jim Storiti, who had four hits with Webb adding a homer.

Gerry & Mike's proved too much for Hi-Mart Real Estate with a 19-6 first-round triumph. Dan Jayko and Joe Ghedotte each drove in five runs for the winners.

Beginners Inn pulled off the first upset of the tourney by surprising Canton's Finest, a team made up of Township employees including Supervisor Noel Culbert and Recreation Director Mike Gouin, a member of the Detroit Caesars pro softball team.

Stan Luke and Dale Bogart powered

Beginners Inn to the 18-3 upset win by rapping out three hits apiece. Beginners Inn also displayed some fine defensive skills on the snow covered field.

McMurray Insurance coasted in its first-round opener, 17-2, over the Thunder Boys.

"The spirit and sportsmanship showed by all the teams and spectators made it a memorable event," said Canton tourney director Bob Dates. "We hope to continue this in the future. Everybody had a good time."

Each game was limited to one hour with summer rules enforced.

B&D, with the distinction now of being the first Groundhog Day champ, competes in Canton's summer league.

Dick Beattie, who has been rolling his way to bowling's throne room for several years, staked out a claim to being the best southpaw ever developed in the metropolitan Detroit area Sunday when he won the Master's championship.

With an average of 211 for the championship match at Bowlero Lanes, he defeated Doug Evans 885-796 and thus became only the second bowler ever to win the Masters twice since its inception 17 years ago.

Several weeks ago Beattie won the Michigan Majors Match Game championship and now there is no question that he is the best pin speller who operates from the "wrong" side of the lanes.

In Sunday's title match, he rolled games of 220, 227, 195 and 243 for his 885 while Evans countered with counts of 182, 218, 215 and 181. Incidentally, Evans also is a southpaw and it was the first time that the finalists were left-handers.

HERE'S A NEW ONE. Through the years the bowlers have had all sorts of excuses for poor showings but it remained for Bob Strampe, dethroned champion in the masters tournament, to add a new one.

Eliminated in the early rounds, he was asked what happened.

"These are left-hand alleys," he said, "and I just couldn't bowl under those conditions."

DENNIS SEEMAN turned in the most outstanding performance of the week in the western suburbs when he posted 786 at Plaza Lanes.

To get this big count he put together games of 232, 277 and 277 and registered 29 out of a possible 36 strikes. At one stage he had 16 strikes in a row, but they came at the close of one game and the start of another.

Five other 700 series were rolled during the week and four of them came at Westland Bowl.

Dave Pickett paced the Little Caesar Classic with a 731 and Bob Goike Sr. rolled a 704 that included a 280 closing game. The other two came in the Monday morning men's league when John Langley had games of 258 and 276 in 705 and Wally Wadyz had a 255 in 730. The other sharpshooter who broke the 700 barrier was Bob Sievert, who had a closing 269 in 703 at Woodland Lanes.

RUBY WILLIAMSON who posted a 708 series in the Bowlerettes last week, narrowly missed repeating Monday night. With a 234 high game, she needed a double in the 10th frame but missed and had to settle for a 678.

LINDA HAMLIN and Keith Guertin, both of Farmington Lanes, took top honors in the Area No. 2 junior event at Drakeshire Lanes the past weekend. Linda had an actual 1,107 and Keith a 1,290.

In the handicap division, Windy Jeter of Mont Carlo was high for the girls with 1,109 and James Molen of Fort Park topped the boys with 1,224.

THRESA DERUS walked off with top honors in the Livonia ladies classic when she won the first game with 233-28-261 and then took the series with 542-84-626.

In the other games, Pat Reid took the second with 201-30-231 and Ted Elzember won the third with 195-31-226.

MIKE SHARP set a new high mark for the Thursday mixed league at Farmington Lanes when he inserted a 245 game in a 663 series.

THERE WAS another close finish at Garden Lanes when Al Bajiock paced the St. Linus league with 634 and Bob Barran was only two pins back. Meanwhile, Rick Fuller paced the T.G.I.F. league with a 646 and Jim Kroft was high in the Vinco loop with a 609.

JULIE ZIMMERMAN had one of her best days when she found the range at Westland Bowl for a 258 in 687 and Leandra Stawke had a 237 in 621. In the senior citizens loop, Bell Flohr, who carries a 151 average, had a 277 in 611.

"Check your business policies — you could be paying twice for the same kind of coverage."

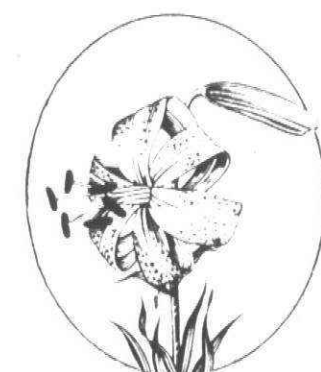

"You may find you've got two policies that provide the same kind of business protection — and that's one policy too many."

"Worse than that, you're paying twice." "As insurance professionals, it's our job to help you eliminate duplication of protection. We'd probably recommend an Auto-Owners Multi-Peril Business Insurance Policy that puts most coverages into one neat package. And one low premium."

"Why not give us a call. We'll be glad to discuss it with you."

Auto-Owners Insurance is for business owners, too.

Kolman, Tatum top sales team

The Plymouth/Northville office of Chamberlain Realtors had two million dollar producers honored at a company awards banquet held recently in the Michigan Inn.

Among the top in sales was Tony Kolman with $2 million. Kolman also was honored as the top lister in the entire Chamberlain company. Also recognized for her achievements was Joanne Tatum, who produced sales in excess of $1 million.

Announcement of those achievements was made this week by Dick Randazzo, manager of the Plymouth/Northville office. Randazzo also noted that Chamberlain's 300 sales associates capped the 1970s with more than $1 billion in residential sales in 1979.

For his achievement, Kolman and wife Gail will soon be traveling to Las Vegas for an all-expense paid vacation.

JOANNE TATUM

TONY KOLMAN

In 1976 he was named top producer in his office as well as for the company. The next year Kolman exceeded $1.5 million in sales to become top office producer. In 1978 he became top lister as well as top sales producer and in '79 surpassed all prior records by hitting $2 million sales and being tops in all of Chamberlain for listings.

Kolman is a group leader of Dale Carnegie courses, winning many awards of achievement.

Ms. Tatum has been associated with Chamberlain since 1976 and has reached the $1 million mark in sales for three consecutive years.

Before entering the Real Estate field, Ms. Tatum was active as a den mother and secretary-treasurer in Boy Scouts, helped in the March of Dimes and Michigan Heart Association along with helping to teach slow learners.

Explaining how she got into the business, Ms. Tatum said: "I received a questionnaire card in the mail and thought I would check into it. Well, here I am and very happy in such a rewarding and exciting career."

Randazzo added: "Although Tony and Joanne are very successful in their own careers, they always are willing to help the new sales associates and the overall growth of the office."

Some 70 Chamberlain salespersons in the Southeastern Michigan region achieved the $1 million or higher mark in sales during 1979.

25-YEAR CLUB DINNER

Three Plymouth residents were among some 1,232 employees of the J.L. Hudson Co. honored recently for 25 years or more service with the company.

The 25-Year Club banquet was held in the Plaza Hotel's Renaissance Ballroom. Entertainment included impressionist Paul Lennon and the Four Lads.

Residents honored for 25 or more years employment were: Barbara Curfman, who works in corporate offices; Maureen Garvey and Lois Rankin, both who work at the Northland Center in Southfield.

RECORD SALES REACHED

Mortell Co., which operates a business in Plymouth, announces record sales and earnings for 1979.

Sales of nearly $40 million broke previous records, announces Don E. Mortell, president.

The firm has a product development laboratory in Plymouth which offers support to the product lines produced in the Kankakee, Ill. facility.

Career steps towards studio

By W.W. EDGAR

It's a long jump from taking pictures for a high school yearbook to the role of a teacher in the portrait classes of a community college.

But Bob Woodring, former Observer photographer, who now owns the House of Photography on Harvey Street, has made it.

It was back in 1960 when, as a student in Fremont High School, Woodring was asked if he would like to take the pictures of the seniors for the yearbook. Inasmuch as he had been fooling around with photography he jumped at the assignment.

But he never believed that afternoon that he was headed toward ownership of a studio in Plymouth or that he would be called upon to teach a class at Washtenaw Community College in Ypsilanti.

"While my first love was newspaper photography," he said while looking around his newly furnished quarters, "I am delighted to have my own studio and only hope now that I can realize my dream of having a chain of them."

Enroute to his Plymouth studio Woodring has travelled an unusual path that has taken him to many of the smaller newspapers in the western part of the state.

Woodring says when he was assigned to the yearbook job he became fascinated with the idea that he could take and sell the pictures. As a result he was kept busy in his hometown.

EAGER TO LEARN more of the business, he took a job in the mailing room of the Muskegon Chronicle just to be near the news photographers. And he admits he learned a lot.

His next stop was at the Three Rivers Commercial where he was the photographer. After a while, and with lofty ambitions, he did studio work in Muskegon.

At this stage he got a new idea. Woodring decided he would like to be a newspaper reporter and take the pictures to illustrate his stories. He got his chance on the Greenville Daily News.

By now, the bigger cities beckoned. It wasn't long until he became a photographer on the Southfield News that later was purchased by the Observer Newspapers.

Then came the opportunity to take over the Bob Gray Studio in Plymouth. For years Gray was a respected photographer and Woodring felt fortunate that he was able to take over when Gray retired.

The entire studio has been revamped and the walls are filled with his latest works.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE Guild's "The Sunshine Boys" opened Friday night to what the cast termed "a good audience." Not only was it a good house in numbers, but the audience was right there with the cast, responding to the one-liners and thoroughly enjoying the play.

Saturday night's audience was equally satisfying. "The Sunshine Boys" is Neil Simon at his hilarious best and Director Thomas Hinks and his cast have done a marvelous job.

Curtain time for this weekend's performances is 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Central Middle School auditorium. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $2.50 for students under 18 and senior citizens. They will be available at the door or by calling 455-2133 or 261-2875.

FACES FAMILIAR to Plymouth Theatre Guild audiences are in rehearsal for "A Day in the Death of Joe Egg," Theatre Guild of Livonia Redford's upcoming production.

ELLIE GRAHAM

Dale Feldpausch has the role of the father, Brian. Albert Finney had the role when the comedy opened on Broadway in 1968. Carole McNulty appears as the wife of an old college acquaintance.

Mary O'Connell of Plymouth is producing the play. She is a registered nurse, the mother of five daughters, and has worked on approximately 40 shows.

The play dates are Feb. 15, 16, 22, 23, 24 and 29 and March 1 at 15138 Beech Daly Road. Call 255-2547 for information.

THE PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY Council on Aging was the recipient of a nice gift recently. It was in the form of a check for $100 from the Plymouth Rotary Anns Club.

Judy Morgan and Sally Petersen of the club's good works committee made the presentation. The council will use the money in its special programs.

EACH MONTH, a member of the Three Cities Art Club is selected as artist-of-the-month with examples of his or her works on display in the Plymouth Community Credit Union.

Artist for February is Martha Barnes of Westmeath Street in Northville. Nine acrylic paintings were hung Saturday and will be there until March 1.

Martha moved from Grand Rapids and many of her landscapes are scenes from that area including the White River. She also has some still lifes in the exhibit.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS will be selling candy bars Feb. 22-March 3. The annual candy sale is the single largest fund-raising effort for the area council and provides 38 percent of its yearly operating budget. It also helps maintain Camp Wathana, a 380-acre resident facility near Holly.

PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL Class of 1940 is planning a 40th class reunion Aug. 16 at the Plymouth Elks'.

Roger McClain, Eddie Holsworth, Ed Mulry, Ruth Ash Urton and Paul Keller are members of the committee organizing the party. They are seeking addresses of class members. Anyone with news of classmates is asked to call Roger, 459-1013, or write to him at 14118 Wilson, Plymouth Mich. 4810.

With 114 members, the class of '40 was the largest ever to graduate from Plymouth high, at that time. It was the only high school around and students came from Rosedale Gardens in Livonia, Stark Road and that whole area.

The last class get-together was at Roma Hall, 13 years ago. The majority of the men in the class served in the Armed Forces during World War II. Statistics of those who died during the war have been lost and the committee is endeavoring to update the history of the class.

VALENTINE'S DAY will be observed with hearts and flowers at Central Middle School. It all started a week ago when students, under the direction of teacher Diane Sproull, began taking orders for carnations during lunch hours.

The carnations will be delivered Feb. 14 to friends, secret pals, and teachers. Some will have the name of the giver, some won't. Cost of each flower is 75 cents and the excitement is tremendous.

Central has had this St. Valentine's Day flower sale for several years.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH finally adopted a Personnel and Merit Plan at Monday night's commission meeting.

There were some around City Hall who doubted it ever would pass. In fact, City Hall employees had picked dates for the passage of the plan. There were just three still in the running after 1½ years of waiting.

They were Ken West, city engineer; Annie Brown, dispatcher; and Ken Vongras, DPW head. Ken West, the least pessimistic of the three was the winner.

'Jack and the Beanstalk' is coming

Canton Observer
Suburban Life

Thursday, February 7, 1980

Turning a normal-sized woman into a giant and actually having a beanstalk grow on stage are among the feats the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women will accomplish when they present this year's children's play.

But they have had a lot of experience in overcoming difficulties such as these. This will be the 20th play the group has staged.

This year's presentation will be "Jack and the Beanstalk." Performances are set for 7 p.m., Friday, Feb. 22; 10 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 23; and 1 and 3 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 24.

Tickets are $1 and will be available in all Plymouth-Canton elementary schools on Feb. 13 and 14 and at Del's Shoes, 322 S. Main, Plymouth, starting Feb. 16.

All performances will be in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School.

JAN MCCLURE has the role of Jack, and Sharon Belobraidich is the woman who will have to grow into a giant.

In the past the group has overcome such problems as disguising a pregnant princess, creating a magic window to open and close from offstage and making a four-foot tall, walking, talking papier mache Jiminy Cricket.

The group's first play, 20 years ago, was "Snow White and Rose Red." It evolved as a three-year study of contemporary drama. With a $25 loan, imagination and hard work, the AAUW players presented a successful play.

They succeeded in their goal of bringing live drama to the children of the area.

Clara Scharmen, a charter member of the branch, and a member of the original cast, recalls the whole concept was extremely simple in the beginning. Members of the cast not only made their own costumes and scenery, but they also wrote their own scripts.

Since then, the annual children's play has grown into an elaborate production with fine acting, beautiful costumes, dancing and music.

AMONG THE more interesting moments over the years are the recollections of Peggy Fisher. She and Marilyn Dwyer Barrick, were cast as pirates in a production of "Peter Pan." They had to ad lib on the stage for what seemed like hours while they waited for a tardy Captain Hook.

In another production, Snow White had a costume change behind the throne on stage. It wasn't realized until after the show that the boys in the light box had a bird's eye view of the costume change.

Sue Silletti has worked on sets many times, and during the planning of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," she had nightmares on how to construct seven little beds.

Cast members were not above making things livelier either. Mary Uhl was playing the part of Dopey, and had to take a bath in a barrel on stage. Unknown to her, snow had been placed in the barrel.

For many years, scenery was stored in Ruth Clemens' barn, and it was necessary to climb up to the loft for many items.

Cast members have taken the show on the road with performances in Ann Arbor, Birmingham, Livonia, Hastings and Northville.

Deserving of special mention are the beautiful costumes which are still designed and constructed by branch members. Beautiful gowns, a cat costume made from an old fur coat and huge black boots to depict a giant are but a few. Many costumes are re-designed more than once to fit the occasion.

DONNA RENNOLDS is directing this year's production.

Other cast members include Esther Nelson, as Milky White; Elizabeth O'Mara, as Jack's Mother; Cathy Fife, as the Old Man and Father; Amy Raffel, as the fairy; Sherry Brown, as the Giant's Wife; Bev Brooks, as Henrietta Hen; Linda Anderson, as Eleanora Harp; Edna Fleming, as Thomas; Holly Hanert as the Fruit Vendor and Market Lady; Jan Carson as the Flower Girl and Constable; Sylvia Rozian as the Wood Seller and Butcher; and Judy Smith as the Baker.

These kids are wild about backgammon

By ELINOR GRAHAM

Their backgammon men are circles of paper, cardboard, screw-on pop bottle caps, sawed up broom handles and (best of all) the tops from plastic gallon milk jugs. Their boards are handmade and their dice are from Kmart.

But for a number of eighth-graders at Cleveland Middle School in Detroit, backgammon is the hottest game in town.

It all started last November when Eileen Roths of Plymouth, their remedial math teacher, took her first backgammon lesson at the American Backgammon Club. Evening and afternoon classes in backgammon are sweeping the country as the ancient game of boards, dice and men is the "in thing" with everyone from jet setters to the gang at the local pub.

Mrs. Roths' primary interest in the game was to use it as an aid in teaching remedial math. As it turned out, the project spilled over into the science classes, too.

"WE MADE OUR boards, they must have made a 100 of them. They wanted one for school and another to play at home with their families. Just one of them had played backgammon before," she said.

The boards were made on legal size file folders.

"Even using a ruler is a tough thing for most of these kids and they had never used, or even seen a compass before. They were very satisfied with the results."

Everything is metric now and their first task was to draw a line 18 centimeters long. This line would be the base for six triangles, so they calculated each base would be three centimeters long. After marking off the bases they used the compass to find the point of each triangle, making their arcs 10 centimeters in length. Four of these sets of six triangles were required for each board.

They made boxes for shaking the dice out of sections of paper towel rollers and masking tape.

"Some of them made wooden boards at home. One boy worked for nine hours on his. He must have used part of a plywood door because it was hollow and he made a special opening to store the men," said Mrs. Roth.

"They want to play all the time. I was going to show a film in science class the other day and they wanted to know if it was about backgammon."

AMONG HER STUDENTS is 13-year-old Pauline, who is vision-impaired.

The regular backgammon boards were of no use to her and she wanted to join the fun.

At first, Mrs. Roths and Pauline experimented with a Styrofoam container for test tubes. The container was hinged and both bottom and lid were molded to hold 12 test tubes. They used rubber stoppers and corks for the "men" but it wasn't satisfactory.

Pauline's sensitive finger tips could read the spots on the dice very easily. But once the dice were spilled out of cup, they were difficult to find and the whole thing was unsatisfactory.

Then someone discovered a backgammon board made especially for the blind. Made of molded blue plastic, it has raised and grooved sections. Feeling for a piece on the raised section, Pauline would inadvertently knock it into one of the grooved sections.

The cadets are coming

The West Point Cadet Glee Club will perform in concert at Pease Auditorium on the campus of Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 15.

Plymouth and Canton Township alumni and parents will host cadets during their stay. They also have been handling local ticket sales. Tickets at $3 per person are on sale at the Accent Bin in Old Village, First National Bank of Plymouth on Main Street, the Pendleton Shop in Forest Place Mall, Plymouth Book World in Forest Place Mall, Volume II in Emma's on Pennin Avenue, and Century 21 on Joy Road. They also will be available at the door before the concert.

The world famous glee club's repertoire will include numbers depicting the history of the Armed Forces, current song hits, American musical numbers and contemporary ballads.

They trek to Ohio for bridge game

Should moving to Ohio be any reason to break up a couple's bridge group? Not necessarily so, says one group of five Canton couples, and one couple now of Sylvania, O.

Sue and Art Lawrence, Jan and Darrell Brawn, Kathy and Bob Spencer, Carol and Bob Shaw, Sandy and Hank Naasko, and Carol and Bob Koesel had played bridge together once a month for quite some time. So, when Carol and Bob Koesel were transferred to Sylvania, a suburb of Toledo, it seemed natural to just continue the monthly games.

The Koesels were hosts in January. The Canton contingency of this interstate event met locally and made the trek to Sylvania in one van. The trip was cozy, but with the days of 60 cents a gallon gas long past, cozy was the unanimous choice.

Of course, everyone wanted to see the Koesels' new home, so a house tour was first on the evening's agenda. Dinner followed, with Carol serving French onion soup and beef bourguignon. Each of the Canton couples had brought a dish to pass to complete the meal.

Sue said this most enjoyable evening did include bridge, and this group of good friends is looking forward to its February gathering.

BETTY HELLMERS was delighted when her husband, Joe, suggested they go to the Mayflower Meeting House for brunch, Sunday, Jan. 27.

After all, it was her birthday, and a quiet brunch with her husband would certainly be a good way to begin the day. Some things are just not to be thought, and a quiet, inconspicuous brunch was not on the menu for Betty that day.

When the Hellmerses walked into the dining room, friends and neighbors seated across the room stood up and sang a chorus of "Happy Birthday." While the singers aren't quite ready for prime time entertainment, they both surprised and delighted Betty.

Patti and Mike Cappucitti, Carol and Mike Dugan, Carol and Tom Luellemann, Loretta and Joe Sobditch, and Kathy and Charlie Freece were those on hand to help Betty celebrate the start of a new decade in her life. They all enjoyed the excellent brunch buffet, and found out they were one of four groups celebrating birthdays at the Mayflower Meeting House that day.

When no one could possibly consume another tasty morsel, the party moved to the home of Carol and Tom Luellemann. The Luellemans provided champagne, and everyone enjoyed watching Betty open her gifts.

specially decorated Wonder Woman birthday cake. It was indeed a happy birthday for Betty Hellmers this year.

BARBARA AND JOHN Clemons were hosts at a recent open house. Barbara said house cleaning services both before and after the open house were provided by "Katie's Kleaning." Katie is Barbara's daughter who earns her livelihood cleaning, but even more than that, thoroughly enjoys it. I'm sure I'm one in many who would like to learn the secret of how to enjoy cleaning an oven, or scrubbing a floor.

Catering of all the delectable delicacies was provided by the "B's," Barbara herself, and a neighbor, Beverly Halloran. While Barbara and Beverly really don't have a catering service, party-goers certainly thought they were very capable.

Those enjoying the open house included Pat and Al Pelton, Helen and Jim Carter, Marlene and Dick Weston, Beverly and George Halloran, Linda and Allen Minsterman, and Linda's mother Betty Shade who was visiting from Philadelphia.

Barbara and Robert Olsen, Noreen and Byron Royer, Sam and Rex Nichols, Bea and John Schibley, Alicia and Mark Abraham, Mary and John Knierham, Bobbi and Jim Kalley, Bruce Alatalo, Lou and Ted Demaire, Jet and Rudy Baas, Tamra Eden, and Jenine and Bill Paetow also spent a pleasant evening at the Clemons.

The new year has thus far been busy for the Clemons who returned recently from a trip to Florida. On the trip South they stopped in Mentane, Ala. to see John's sister. Then it was on to Stuart, Fla. to visit Barbara's daughter and son-in-law, Wendy and Mel Goode.

BARBARA REPORTS that Florida was sunny and warm, and that her children Mary and Robert were able to go in the ocean for the first time. John enjoyed the peace and calm of lying on the beach counting the waves, ocean waves, he assured Barbara. Relaxing and beachcombing, adding to her shell collection, occupied Barbara. The return trip included a stop in Nashville, Tenn. and a visit with John's 94-year-old mother.

Barbara said now that they have had some time in the sun, they are ready to face the remainder of winter and an active year. John is starting a new insurance agency for Woodmen of the World, so while their life may be hectic, it will certainly not be dull.

If anyone would like me to write about their winter trip to Florida, please let me know in advance so I can go with you. I certainly want to be able to record every detail accurately!

Stone-May

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Stone of Linden Street, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Ann, to Howard William May, son of Mrs. David Schoenneman of Burroughs Street, Plymouth.

The bride-elect is a student at the University of Michigan. Her fiancé is employed at Auto Plas, Inc.

They plan a June wedding in First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

Peer counseling registration open

The Women's Resource Center of Schoolcraft College is offering a peer counseling training course for seven weeks beginning Feb. 18. Registrations are open through Feb. 13. Interested women should telephone the center at 591-6400, ext. 432, before that date.

Although no previous training is necessary, potential trainees will be interviewed prior to registering for the course, which will meet from 9 a.m. to noon on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Those participating will be trained in listening skills and problem-solving techniques designed to help women discover their full potential. Women completing the course are requested to serve as volunteer peer counselors at the center three hours a week for a minimum of four months.

The cost of the two-credit course is $34 in-district and $55 out-of-district. The Women's Resource Center is in the second house south of the Schoolcraft campus on Haggerty Road in Livonia.

PHS grad heads MDs

A former resident of Plymouth, Dr. JoAnn Levitt, has been chosen first woman president of the Chaves, N.M., Medical Society.

Dr. Levitt, who is the former JoAnn Gorton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Gorton, was the first woman with a small child admitted to the University of Michigan Medical School.

Today this child, Robert, has a daughter, Rebecca, making Dr. Levitt the first grandmother elected to the medical society leadership.

She is the second woman to be elected president of a medical society in New Mexico. The first was in 1915.

Dr. Levitt graduated from Plymouth High School in 1942. She received an R.N. degree from Edward W. Sparrow School of Nursing, and graduated with a bachelor of science degree from Michigan State University in 1952.

She is a 1956 graduate of the U-M Medical School. She interned at Sparrow Hospital and received her residency in anesthesiology from Charity Hospital, New Orleans, La.

Dr. Levitt is an anesthesiologist in Roswell, N.M., and New Mexico Society's physician advisor to the American Association of Medical Assistants, Inc.

She is married to a retired Army colonel, Robert Levitt. They have four children, Robert, Trisha, William and Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jacobs of Ardsley Street, Canton, vacationed in the Caribbean aboard the SS Doric. During the cruise they visited ports of call in the West Indies and South America.

Fasching party is festive event

The Plymouth German American Club's annual fasching party Saturday night was a sell-out as usual. Guests of every ethnic background joined in and raised their glasses, sang rousing, German drinking songs or danced and hummed to the sentimental strains of "Lili Marlene."

There was a good supply of German beer, wine and food. Fasching is to the Bavarians as Mardi Gras is to the French, and the celebration is high spirited.

Many of the club members and guests came in costume. Roger Feller, club president, was a clown and his wife, Reimute, was a black cat. L. John Miller was a basketball player and his wife, Kari, was a referee.

Bob Fitzner was a Keystone Kop with a curling mustache. Connie Fitzner, in a silvery dress, crown sandals and many beads, recalled the flapper era.

One group of four were characters from "The Wizard of Oz." Dorothy, the scarecrow, the lion and the tin woodsman marched together for the costume judging. Bill Slatin of Saline, the tin woodsman, was awarded a prize for the best individual costume.

THE MOST ORIGINAL costume was a camel. Inside the camel's humps were Kathy Schneider of Ann Arbor and her brother, Robert Schneider, of Northville. Kathy had made the costume out of brown suede cloth. The camels winsome face was a real crowd-pleaser throughout the evening.

Mary Davio of Canton Township and Ken Radtke of Novi, dressed as an Arab couple, were named the best overall for a couple.

The judges said it was a difficult decision to choose among the werewolf couple, the Spaniards, the cowboy and the dancehall girl and all the other imaginative costumes.

All the members of the club collaborated on planning the party in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

A jolly Green Giant was just one of the dancers at the fasching party.

Eileen Roths built a better backgammon board for a blind student out of egg cartons. Even though the metal washers were easily distinguished from the pennies, the playing pieces kept sliding off the raised molding on the board.

Using Kmart dice and their handmade boards, backgammon is the most popular game going for the remedial math class. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Mrs. Roths decided there had to be a better way. An egg carton had 12 depressions and two egg cartons, side-by-side, would have two 12s in a row. It might work.

Using metal washers and pennies for the men, Pauline said this was the best yet.

"And the kids suggested she shake the dice into the lids of the cartons so she wouldn't lose them. Also, they can be closed when not in use and the men left in the cartons," added Mrs. Roths.

USING PENNIES FOR playing pieces can present a problem at Cleveland. You don't leave money lying around and expect it to be there the next day.

Mrs. Roths was direct in her approach. "Are you going to steal the blind kids' pennies?" She said they didn't "but they pitch them every time I turn my back."

Scotty Flora, charter member of the American Backgammon Club and long-time backgammon player, went to the school one day to help teach the game.

She was fascinated by the cleanliness of the school and its grounds. And she was excited over the students' enthusiasm for backgammon.

She also issued an invitation. The top three players at Cleveland will be invited to participate in the first quarter ABC junior league tournament. All expenses will be paid in the tournament scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17, in the Plymouth Hilton Inn, Northville Road at Five Mile.

They will share in the pizza, pop and prizes that are part of the junior tournament.

"Everyone at the school is interested in the backgammon project. The guards, the teachers and policeman — we have a policeman and a policewoman in the school all the time — all want to learn to play," said Mrs. Roths.

"I have been asked to write it up so other schools can try it out. My next step will be getting into probabilities and factoring."

Those handmade backgammon boards with their triangles carefully colored in with black and red felt pens have opened a whole new vista to their owners.

Teachers awarded PCAC grants

Projects involving music, film-making and puppeteering will be taking place in Plymouth schools this semester. They are being given financial backing by the Plymouth Community Arts Council and the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

The two groups announced joint funding of 16 projects under the PCAC Teachers Assistance Grant Program, which was begun three years ago by the PCAC.

The aim of the program is to encourage teachers to devise creative arts activities, with special emphasis on projects which can be used in other schools. This year's winners are the following:

Dale Baer, director of bands at Pioneer Middle School. He plans to expand the chamber music program and will use his grant money to purchase music for the 7th and 8th grade bands.

BARBARA CHURCH, mathematics and science teacher at Pioneer Middle School. She wants her students to learn how to produce a variety of film and other media aids. They will be donated to the Pioneer library for future use.

Nancy Wise, librarian at Farrand Elementary School. She plans to develop language arts projects centered around a puppet stage, using the creative writing talents of students from kindergarten through the fifth grade.

Jan Elston, Cathy Bosman and Sarah Smith of Bird School. They have also requested funding for puppet stage materials, to develop creative skills in their students.

Pam Hoadley, art teacher at Isbister. She has plans for a workbench on wheels, which will be used for a variety of wood-working projects.

Dick Johnson, 5th grade teacher at Starkweather. His students will once again present their annual play for their schoolmates and parents, but this year it will be done with the help of some badly needed stage equipment and supplies.

Carolyn Kleinsmith, kindergarten teacher at Isbister. Her students will make a photographic record of special events during the school year. They will be preserved in a scrapbook.

MARY LUICK and Yentz, teachers at Pioneer Middle School. They will use their grant for special supplies for a project involving clowns for their radio and drama class.

Barbara Master of Canton High School English department. She will purchase some experimental videotapes for an class on 20th century art.

Klo Phillipi, learning specialist at Starkweather. She has planned a booklet containing a sketch and brief history of the Landmark Sites in Plymouth. Work will be done by 4th and 5th grade students.

Jennie Porter, librarian at Canton High School. She will use grant funds for special programs by local artisans and films from the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Dolores Prom, librarian at Smith. She will initiate a program called "Special Authors at Smith." Students will participate in the Michigan Council for the Arts Creative Writers' program. Robert Shurmer, is 4th grade teacher at Isbister School. He is interested in improving his students' map skills and has planned a series of graphic relief maps which they will construct, paint and mount for display in the school.

RUTH TONNER, who teaches humanities at the Plymouth-Canton high schools. She will help her students, who have designed miniature museum displays, select sculpture reproductions for display in the high school show-cases.

Connie Argonis, Sue Crooks, Janine Kateff and Judy Stone, team teachers in the Talented and Gifted program at Pioneer. Their goal is to supervise while their students, write, produce, direct and act in a movie.

Beverly Winklemann, 4th grade teacher at Isbister. She is planning a bi-annual magazine which will utilize writing skills of Isbister students for the first issue, and district-wide contributions for the second issue. It will be called "A Dragonstew: A Publication by Plymouth-Canton Students."

THROUGH THESE grants to the teachers, the Arts Council, which in turn receives support from the Michigan Council for the Arts, fulfills its commitment to provide financial aid for special projects which directly affect the quality of education in the arts in the local schools.

This year's winners submitted written proposals of their projects, with an estimated budget and a supportive letter from the principal or area coordinator. Applications were reviewed by a committee consisting of Janet Campbell, John Hoben and Julie Kath.

Methodist churches join in major mission event

Missionary guests in five pulpits, an all-night fast, a family potluck and a brown-bag lunch are among the events that will be part of a Feb. 9-14 Mission Saturation event for area churches in the Detroit West District of the United Methodist Church.

The program involves St. Matthew and Newburg UMC churches in Livonia, Aldersgate, Rice and Lola Valley churches in Redford Township, and the First United Methodist Church of Garden City.

The aim of the program, months in the planning, is to bring a large number of mission interpreters to assorted groups within the various churches. Individual congregations were encouraged to provide occasions for the visiting interpreters to address small groups as well as full sanctuaries.

Among the visitors scheduled as preachers will be the Rev. Ward Pierce of Buchanan, who has been associated with missions in Appalachia, and Rosalind Neilsen of Essexville, who has made trips to Haiti with a mission task force.

Shirley Cook of Oxford, and George Covintree, associated with the American Friends Service Committee on Hunger in Detroit, will address members of Lola Valley UMC. 16175 Delaware.

The Garden City church, at Merriman north of Ford, will welcome to its pulpit Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lightfoot of Williamston, who will report on a recent visit to their daughter, Nancy, at a mission post in Liberia.

THE YOUTH of St. Matthew church will have their fast Saturday night, and joining them for part of that time will be Joan and Bob Ramsey of Lapeer, who have served in an Appalachian mission.

St. Matthew's family potluck at 5:50 p.m. Sunday will feature the Rev. Hugh White of Monroe, who will tell of trips he has made to United Methodist stations in India and Africa.

Guest for a brown bag lunch at Newburg will be Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lightfoot.

The Lightfoots also will be guests for a meeting at Garden City UMC.

Newburg's program also will include a talk to its men's and women's associations by Randy Hanson, a missionary to Uruguay to whom the congregation gives support. His appearance will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

A special coffee hour featuring Peg Tyrell widely traveled interpreter from the UMC Board of Global Ministries, will be put on by the district United Methodist Women at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, in the First United Methodist Church of Dearborn. In the afternoon of the same day Mrs. Tyrell will visit the St. Matthew women's group.

The Mission Saturation event was described by a spokesman for the Detroit West District as "an event to involve all our churches in a communion of concern for global mission work."

Doughnuts for rice

Students in Madonna College's Home Economics and Family Life Club have been selling doughnuts and cannolis to buy food for the family of 8-year-old Varporn Ngamwong, of Thailand. The college sponsors the youngster through the "Save the Child-

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF PLYMOUTH, 45000 N. Territorial, will present a sacred concert at 11 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 10. Featured will be vocal recording artist Kent Bowden and chalk artist Sue Bowden. The Bowdens' concerts usually combine music and art with elements of drama and humor.

Bowden has a master's degree in linguistics from the University of Michigan. In addition to teaching drama at the high school level, he has directed a traveling drama troupe called The Ambassadors.

He has served as minister of music in the Dimondale Presbyterian Church. His wife, Sue, attended Detroit Bible College, and presents the gospel message through her skill as a chalk artist.

The Bowdens will lead a combined Sunday school session at 9:40 a.m. to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the Sunday school movement. Featured during the event will be a dramatized visit from Robert Raikes, founder of the first Sunday school.

ST. MATTHEW UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 30900 Six Mile, Livonia, will be the location of a blood drive open to all from 2-8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 14.

HOLY TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia, will also hold a blood drive. It will take place from 3-9 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11. Members of the community may also donate.

To be eligible to give blood, donors must be at least 17 years old and weigh at least 110 pounds. To get more information or make an appointment phone Phyllis Witrock, blood drive chairperson, at 591-3049.

ROSEDALE GARDENS UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Hubbard at W. Chicago, Livonia, will be the scene of the fifth annual Senior High Fellowship St. Valentine's Dance from 8 p.m. to midnight Saturday, Feb. 9. The band, Daybreak, will provide the music. Tickets at $12.50 per couple may be purchased at the church office.

For more details call the church at 422-0494 or Eileen Bernard at 421-0881.

LIVONIA WESLEYAN CHURCH, 14560 Merriman, will present a documentary film on the famine conditions in Cambodia at the 7 p.m. Sunday service, Feb. 10. The movie is called "The Second Holocaust."

A special offering for the World Vision relief efforts in Cambodia will take place at the evening service, as well as during the morning service Sunday, Feb. 17.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Farmington Road and Six Mile, Livonia, will present the Wheaton College men's glee club in 15-minute concerts before its 10 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. services begin on Sunday, Feb. 10.

The visiting musicians are from a Christian liberal arts college west of Chicago and have been touring Michigan and other states. Last summer they made their sixth European tour, including on their itinerary a private performance for Queen Juliana of Holland.

Hassidic happening brings Herschel Bernardi

"Hassidic Happening," a benefit show that Herschel Bernardi will bring to the Ford Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 10, will have a special opening scene in its Detroit presentation.

The first spotlight will show, instead of the Broadway film and television star, a wedding canopy of white macramé embellished with a beaded Star of David.

The canopy, or chupa, was created by Barbara Manko of West Bloomfield and Rhoda Benedaret of Southfield, and symbolizes Jewish family life. It is added to the show here to salute the 30th anniversary of Rabbi Manachem Mendel Schneerson and his Chabad-Lubavitch family education movement.

Bernardi's shows around the country, featuring humorous routines and songs from "Fiddler on the Roof" and "The Man of La Mancha," all are benefits for the rabbi, who directs from his New York home world campaigns to bring Jews closer to their heritage.

The special Detroit opening was requested by the Lubavitch organization which has centers in Farmington Hills, West Bloomfield, Troy-Royal Oak and Southfield among its 48 across the United States.

The canopy was created originally for the wedding of Mrs. Manko's son in 1977.

By the time she and Mrs. Benedaret had completed its intricate construction — they calculated 150 woman-hours went into the project — the friendship that evolved led them into a successful business venture, "Creative Macrame." They specialize in hand-crafted decorative objects and wedding accessories.

THE CELEBRATION of Rabbi Schneerson's Jan. 28 anniversary began on that date with a New York gathering of 10,000 Hassidic Jews, including business people and community leaders from Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Orchard Lake, Southfield, Farmington and Troy.

Leading a Michigan delegation were Rabbi Berel Shemtov, regional director of Chabad-Lubavitch in Oak Park; Rabbi Chaim Bergglein of Farmington Hills; Rabbi Yosef Yitzchok Keselman of Troy; and Rabbi Elimelech Silberberg of West Bloomfield.

From his home in Brooklyn where he has lived since coming to the U.S. in 1941, the Lubavitcher Rabbi directs his world campaigns.

On his 70th birthday in 1973, the city of Southfield honored him with a proclamation. A large collection of Judaica and Hassidic literature was donated to the Southfield Library by Charles Feinberg of Detroit.

THE REBBE, as he is affectionately known to his followers, is the seventh-generation leader of the movement which was founded in Lubavitch, Russia in 1814 with the purpose of educating all Jews in the principles of Judaism.

Tickets may be obtained at the Ford Auditorium box office or by calling 548-2666, Lubavitch headquarters.

DO SOMETHING DIFFERENT!

The price of gold too high for that Valentine locket? Candy's out because she's on a diet? You want to give Mom something neat? Or your teacher? Or the current guy in your life?

Tell them how you feel about them in three lines or more in the Classified section of your hometown newspaper. You won't be telling the whole world, but you'll be telling more than 500,000 people, because that's how many readers we have (which is a good thing to keep in mind when you have something to sell).

We want to publish your Valentine.
In fact, we'd LOVE to.

Gardeners take note

There are some new books of interest to gardeners at the Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street, Plymouth. The addition to the gardening library was a gift from the members of the Trailwood branch Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. Wilma Majors,

RESISTANCE...the Key to being Healthy!

How many times have you heard the statement "Don't get yourself rundown or you'll get sick?" Many times I'm sure. But just what does that mean? Rundown what? How does that have anything to do with being sick?

What they are saying is don't allow your body's resistance to be lowered, if you do, the body will then malfunction. If it malfunctions it can easily become diseased; or keep your resistance high and you'll stay healthy. Simply stated but not easily attained.

The key here is the word "resistance." What is it? How do we attain any resistance to begin with? How does it increase or decrease?

First of all resistance is simply the strength of the body parts, how well they are working and if all are working together. If all body parts are strong and working together resistance is high and you are healthy.

Second, the organ responsible for keeping all parts working correctly, thus keeping resistance high, is the brain. The brain also controls the immune system of the body—our ability to fight off bacterial invasion. The immune system will manufacture the exact antibiotic needed to fight off the invader. There are no harmful side effects from the body's own system.

Many Americans take drugs to raise their resistance. The fact is, drugs don't cause the body's resistance to increase. In fact, almost all drugs have harmful side effects which lower the body's ability to function correctly.

Third, resistance increases or decreases depending on the brain's ability to remain in control of all body functions. If the brain is in control of all body parts, they all work correctly and your resistance is high. You are healthy. Every part in the body has a corresponding part in the brain which runs it. How is resistance lowered? As we have stated before, the brain controls all bodily functions. It accomplishes this by sending signals over nerve fibers to the parts. These nerve fibers are soft and can be compressed easily, if compressed the signals going through them will be altered.

Body parts need almost continuous signals from the brain to remain strong. By far the greatest area of nerve compression is in the spine. This compression can exist without pain at the spine.

If the bones of the spine are knocked out of position they will compress the nerve fibers causing whatever those fibers go to, to function at a lowered resistance.

LOWERED RESISTANCE LEADS TO SICKNESS AND DISEASE.

How does Chiropractic fit into this picture? The chiropractor through a series of spinal adjustments, removes the pressure from the nerve fibers by aligning the segments of the spine which are out of position.

This allows that portion of the brain which until this point had been partially cut off to regain control of the body and thereby raise its resistance. With resistance raised, health returns. Millions of people go to chiropractors and receive health care that they had been trying to attain in other health fields.

Chiropractic is for good health not sore backs or stiff necks. Chiropractic is the largest drugless healing profession in the world. Why? Simple, it works. Someday every man, woman and child will be under chiropractic care and when they are, we will have a healthy world.

Every Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. we discuss in detail how people attain good health with the help of Chiropractic. If you would like us to help you have a healthier life, attend.

Dr. Mashike

"I could have avoided unnecessary suffering."
— Juanita White

Chiropractic Ended Trips to Hospital

I had just gotten out of the hospital when one of Dr. Mashike's tabloids came in the mail. Maybe it was an omen because I had just about given up. Things looked hopeless as I had tried everything else.

In the past year I have been in the hospital 7 times, two of these in intensive care. They said it was a heart condition, although they couldn't find anything specific. Besides the heart, I had an ulcer, terrible leg pains, constipation and arthritis. When I was at home all I could manage was to sit around in constant pain and take nitrol, nitrobid, endoral and cortisone shots and still no relief even though

I had taken them for almost a year.

Well my first visit to Dr. Mashike's lifted my spirits because for the first time I was told what was causing my problems. The doctor said he would not work on my symptoms but instead correct my spine. He said that my vertebrae was twisted pinching the nerve fibers that go to my heart. By taking these twistings out the pressure would be removed and the brain would be in better control over my heart. Nothing had ever been explained in this way before.

Once the adjustments started, it took about three and a half weeks for the chest pains to leave. I no longer have any of the problems which plagued me before. By the second week of adjustments I had cut down on my drugs and by the fifth week I was off all medicine and have been ever since.

I tell all of my friends and family about Chiropractic and they all can see the change in my condition. If I had only known about Chiropractic before I could have avoided so much unnecessary suffering.

I want to thank Dr. Mashike for the help he's given me. Some of my grandchildren I've never been able to pick up and give them a hug, but now I can. The joy can not be told.

SERVICES PROVIDED

- A. Complete spinal x-ray examination
- B. Nerve testing (Dermatherm)
- C. Scoliosis examination and test
- D. Spinal balance test
- E. Postural check-ups
- F. Heart and blood pressure test
- G. Electrocardiogram (EKG)
- H. Visual test
- I. Orthopedic test
- J. Neurological testing
- K. Extended Care Unit

These pinched nerve fibers don't give any pain, so you can't tell by feeling if they exist. Only a Chiropractic spinal examination will reveal them. When they are found, the Chiropractor then precisely adjusts the vertebrae into its original position thus taking pressure off the pinched nerve fiber. After the pressure is removed, impulses from the brain will start coarsing through the fibers again and the organ will start to be repaired. AND YOUR HEALTH WILL THEN RETURN.

Theater Guild produces some delightful vaudeville

By JOHN MacCOLL

"Open your mouth and say ah."
"Oopps!"
"What's the matter, doctor?"
"Very bad. I dropped the tongue depressor and you swallowed it."
"How terrible. Are you going to take it out?"
"No, you'll have to make another appointment."
"Another appointment? Why?"
"I only do woodwork on Thursdays."

A GROCHO JOKE? No, "The Sunshine Boys," Neil Simon's play of vaudeville and burlesque.

The Plymouth Theater Guild presents this hilarious tale of two old-timers reunited after 11 years of retirement.

It is said that Neil Simon comes of age as a playwright with this in-depth story of old age and the woes of retirement.

Willie Clark (played so well by John A. Roberts), half of the comedy team of Lewis and Clark, is forced to retire when Lewis (Rik Lynn Kureth) quits the act after 43 years as a team.

Willie, unable to accept his fate, struggles on, living in a coldwater flat in Manhattan.

but time has taken its toll. No longer able to remember lines, Willie can't live off his reputation doing commercials and occasional TV shows.

Willie's nephew Ben Silverman (played by Dan Murray) is a talent agent. Approached by CBS to help get the Sunshine Boys back together for one last time, Ben finds Willie unable to forgive the hurt his best friend and partner inflicted 11 years ago by forcing him into a retirement he did not want.

After much cajoling, a trial run is agreed upon and Lewis comes to town.

PUNCTUATED WITH one-line zingers and vaudevillian satire, the play eventually reunites these old friends. The result is an evening of delightful comedy.

John A. Roberts and Rick L. Kureth are both superb in their effort. Both gentlemen, not that far off in age from their role, are as believable and lifelike as one could want.

While not quite capturing the Yiddish accent suggested in the dialogue, they do deliver the depth of personality necessary to create a complete character.

They are sufficiently tender as to reach out and make us feel for the problem. Age comes onto all of us, with its limitations and worse, with the tag of uselessness that society seems to pin on anyone over sixty. And each of us carries it in our own way, so it is with these two characters.

Al, unlike Willie, was willing to retire when he felt his time had come. His desire for one last show is motivated not from money, but by a simple wish to have his grandchildren see him perform.

It is a matter of pride.

Both Willie and Al loved what they had accomplished and Roberts and Kureth are quite able to communicate this sense of worth, of value. They leave us with the unmistakable sense of love these two "old-timers" have for each other.

DUE CREDIT for this must go to director Thomas Hinks. He has taken full measure of his cast and proceeded to give us a show worth the price of admission.

Dan Murray, as Ben, however seems to have gotten lost. He does not capture the ulcer-ridden world of a talent agent and seems ill at ease with the pressurized Silverman.

He is better in those scenes when he must soften and take care of his old uncle, who he so dearly loves.

Two other notable performances should be mentioned. While small, they are very well done.

Effie Kusel as the registered nurse is every bit the tough old bag her role requires. She is excellent when called upon.

Chuck Miller as TV director also turns one of those character performances that lend authority and makes a play complete.

The "Sunshine Boys" presented by the Plymouth Theatre Guild continues Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Central Middle School Auditorium in downtown Plymouth.

Pat Bordman

In the late fall and early winter they start to form up. As though practicing for their long journey, they can be seen clustered in trees and swooping through the sky. It's as if they are planning together their routes and rest stops, deciding on layovers and watering holes. It's trip-tik of birddom.

But what of their cousins that are left behind? What of their friends and sky-mates that don't turn their feathers on us for a more moderate climate? Just as the ones that leave do so for reasons of survival, so, too, the birds that remain have survival problems. This mild winter of ours can be deceiving.

We need to teach our youngsters to stand by their friends and thank their friends for their beauty, their song, their presence. Caring for those in need, and helping a friend are qualities easily acquired with the right guidance and interest.

BUT CHILDREN learn best by doing not by lectures. Bird feeders provide the perfect opportunity to share a worthwhile giving experience.

Lynne Cohn's Brownie Troop No. 495 in Farmington Hills came up with a truly clever feeder. She said a little birdie told them about it.

An empty and carefully cleaned plastic jug is the seed receptacle. Lay the jug on its side. Using either a knife, scissors or blade, cut a three-sided opening in the jug. Children can cut this opening with scissors, but both knives and blades are recommended only for adults. Children will need a little help getting started.

Bend up the flap that is formed after cutting the three sides. This serves as a protector for both the seeds and the feeding birds. If it rains or snows (yes, this winter we are entitled to say "if") the flap keeps the seeds dry.

Next, right below the seed opening, insert a stick, pencil, piece of Tinkertoy, or other sturdy rod. Now the birds have a landing spot.

THE FEEDER CAN be hooked onto a tree with a wire coat hanger, as Lynne's troop did. By cutting the hanger, the two ends can be pushed into the sides of the jug. This is sturdy enough to hang onto a tree.

Another choice is to thread either yarn or string through holes punched in the side of the jug. Then, simply tie to the tree branch.

Remember, the birds know how to gather food. These feeders are meant to be supplements to their diet, not their sole source of support. However, the birds will begin to depend on the supply of seed. Fill the feeder on a regular schedule, then stick to it.

The birds in your neighborhood will have a lot to crow about with new feeders to use.

Pat Bordman has taught elementary school and has conducted workshop and lectures on education. She also has studied photography at Oakland University. She and her husband and two daughters live in Farmington Hills.

Apply now for summer jobs

Applications now are available for young people interested in working this summer on the U.S. Youth Conservation Corps.

The YCC is an earn-work-learn program administered by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The program offers youth summer employment performing outdoor conservation projects on public lands and water areas of the state, such as building trails, maintaining fences, planting trees, cleaning campgrounds, and improving wildlife habitat.

Young men and women, age 15-18, are eligible for employment regardless of social, economic, racial or ethnic background. Applicants must be residents of the U.S. and have no history of criminal or antisocial behavior.

Applications may be obtained from the Job Placement Office in Room 184 of Plymouth Canton High School. The deadline for applications is March 1.

Interested persons may contact Joyce Willis, job placement specialist, at the office or by calling 453-3100.

Johnny Paycheck on Saturday

Theater reborn with country

Take this job and shove it, I ain't working here no more. My woman gone and left and took all the reason I was working for. You better not try to stand in my way as I'm walking out the door. Take this job and shove it, I ain't working here no more. — from "Take This Job and Shove It," by David Allen Coe

Johnny Paycheck reopens the State Wayne Theater on Saturday night in the first of a series of country and western music concerts there.

A group called Michigan Opry has leased the 1,400-seat theater, which has been vacant since August when a previous promoter tried and failed to make a go of it.

The new operators say they have their act more together, however, and plan biweekly weekend concerts with top-name country performers.

Paycheck, best known for his 1977 working class hit "Take This Job and Shove It," will give shows at 7 and 9:30 p.m. General admission tickets are $10, available at the theater ticket office.

Appearing with Paycheck are Marsha Dee and Larry Lee Adkins, two local performers who will regularly open the State Wayne concerts. Deano Day of WCXI radio will be emcee.

Future dates include Tanya Tucker on Feb. 23 and Merle Haggard on March 8. Haggard's show will be his first in this area in about 10 years.

PAYCHECK, NOTED for his brand of musical protest, has had hit songs about the IRS (It's hard to keep my hands on my woman/with Uncle Sam's hands in my pants) and about getting kicked out of church for having long hair.

"If it needs to be said, I'll say it," he has said. "I think my songs are a tension reliever for the public."

"I'm not the rhinestone cowboy. I'm not the Grand Ole Opry. If I please the people, that's all I care about."

The State Wayne is at 35310 Michigan Ave. at Wayne Road. For info, call 721-2100.

Yamasaki: Creating pleasant places for people

By KATHLEEN MORAN

His buildings have changed the skylines of cities from New York to Los Angeles and in countries from Japan to Saudi Arabia.

But it isn't the resulting fame and recognition that drives architect Minoru Yamasaki. It's his all-consuming love of people and of architecture.

In everything he designs, whether an apartment building or the famed World Trade Center, his brilliance is seen in creating bright inviting places in which people can work and socialize.

"Buildings ought to be more human — more inviting and friendly," said the Bloomfield Hills resident. "They should be pleasant places which give you a feeling of comfort and happiness."

His philosophy is reflected in the pools and public gardens around buildings such as the McGregor Memorial Center built in 1958 at Wayne State University.

The challenge for Yamasaki is not just to design buildings that provide 2.8 million square feet of office space — as was his assignment with the Century Plaza Towers in Los Angeles. The challenge was to provide "pleasant" offices and reserve enough of the small site for gardens and outdoor gathering areas.

After months of wrestling with that assignment, Yamasaki literally dreamed up the solution. He awakened one night with an idea for two buildings, shaped like equilateral triangles and placed point-to-point on the site.

The triangular shapes avoided the problem of aesthetics which had bothered him. He didn't want buildings facing each other so that the offices would look into each other. And the design left room for the gardens and landscaping.

"PEOPLE ARE extroverts," he said. "That's one of the nice things about life. They like to meet other people and talk. It's unfortunate that cities haven't been planned better to give people more places to go to enjoy nature."

To Yamasaki, architecture is the ideal profession.

"An architect gets involved in the emotional side of life," he said. "The environment for me is home for everyone. Nature is the most beautiful thing we have. It must be incorporated into what we do."

In his recently published autobiography, Yamasaki notes how an architect's job is much more than designing a building for a client.

"A general assessment of what I have learned in my practice is that the purpose of architecture is to create usable, livable areas where man can lead his life both productively and happily."

"The architecture we design should give man an aesthetic, emotional fulfillment, so that when he goes from home to work or to other activities, he can anticipate with pleasure his arrival at his destination."

As if it's an obsession, Yamasaki talks about what the world could be like if people would take time to enjoy the simple pleasures in life. "So many people are driven by money and material things," he said. "It kind of makes me sick. There are so many beautiful things in nature to enjoy. These are the things that bring happiness."

HIS APPRECIATION of nature and the "simple pleasures" may have been heightened by his life's experiences. Born in Seattle in 1912, Yamasaki enjoyed the beauty of the forests and mountains, but also encountered the discrimination directed at the "nisei," Japanese-Americans.

His most poignant experiences with discrimination occurred while he was working his way through the University of Washington architectural school. The young Yamasaki spent summers working in the squalor of salmon cannery factories in Alaska, where the filth, hunger and exploitation of Japanese laborers left scars on his memory.

"I had never experienced anything like the drudgery, harshness and seeming dehumanization of the working conditions at the canneries," he states in his book.

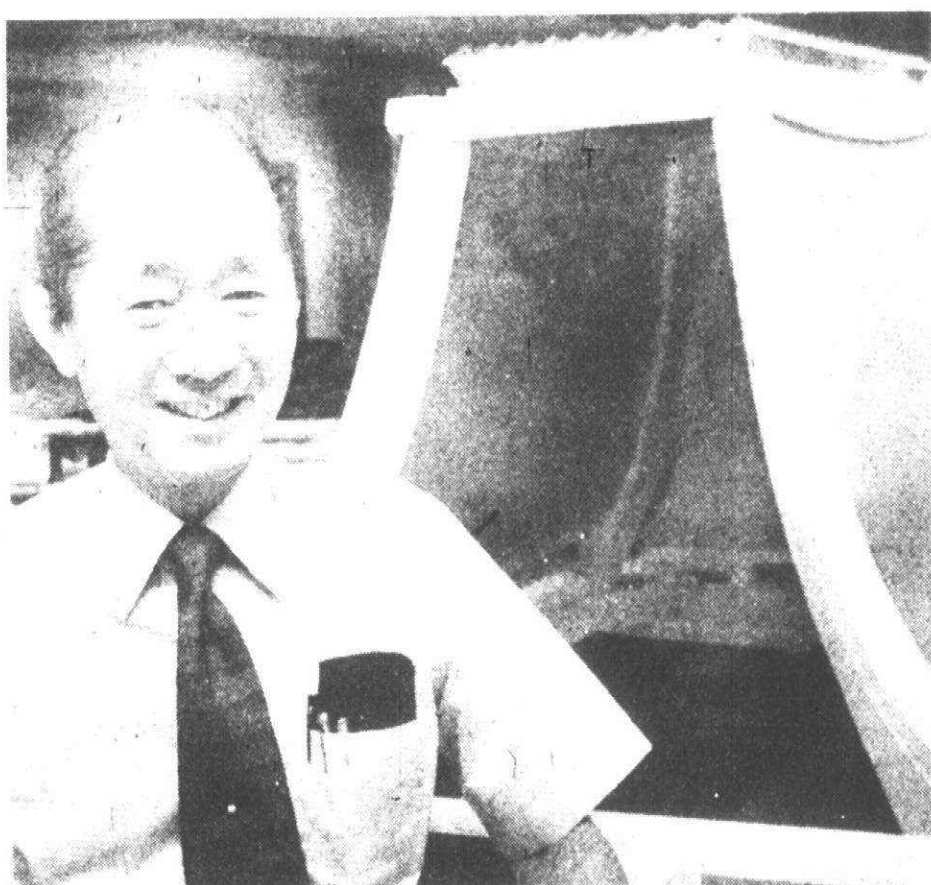

"But the lessons of those summers, plus the repugnance I felt for the way we employees were exploited, convinced me that, under such oppression, I could not live with any degree of personal pride, or inspire those whom I was associated with to perform and achieve to their capabilities. This has remained the touchstone by which I have guided my life, my career, and my own office."

YAMASAKI'S ARCHITECTURAL career began in New York City, but he moved to the Detroit area to work for Smith, Hinchman and Grylls. Once in this area, Yamasaki found the Japanese weren't welcome in Birmingham or Grosse Pointe. Instead, he moved his wife, Teruko, and three children to a farm in Troy, where they lived for 27 years.

Later he found Birmingham eager to accept the office of the then-prestigious architect — and he didn't experience discrimination in 1972 when he built a home in Bloomfield Hills.

His Troy office on Big Beaver was built in 1967, reflecting his attitudes about employees. The office is bright and cheerful with rooms looking out over trees and flowers. He has kept his staff at 80 — a manageable and personal size.

When his small firm was selected for the $280 million job of creating an office complex for the Port Authority of New York, he was honored. In his usual style, Yamasaki thought first of the importance of the work conducted in the port authority's offices — and then took a long look around the area which was designated for the new building.

Because of its role in world commerce, Yamasaki concluded the buildings "could symbolize the importance of world trade to this country . . . and become a physical expression of the universal effort of men to seek and achieve world peace."

He decided the 14 blocks which surrounded the site would be better consolidated into one 17-acre parcel in which small streets could be closed off and a wider perimeter road constructed to facilitate traffic flow.

The two 110-story buildings featured technological achievements of which Yamasaki is proud. The Vierendeel trusses which were used in construction of exterior of the building as well as shock-absorbing materials, mean that the buildings will sway only eight inches in a 100 mile an hour wind — almost an insignificant amount.

While the top floors of other New York high rise buildings have to be evacuated in strong winds, that hasn't been the case in the World Trade Center.

ALTHOUGH YAMASAKI is soft spoken and friendly, he also can be stubborn. His insistence that the foundation for the World Trade Center building be sunk 70 feet to granite, rather than 35 feet, caused a stand-off which lasted several months.

"They finally said, 'Yama's not going to change his mind, so we'll have to find a way,'" he laughed.

The result was the discovery of a method for dredging out the foundation without allowing the excavation to fill with water. It also resulted in adding three levels of badly-needed basement space to the structures.

The other innovation involved designing a three-section elevator shaft to service the building, which takes up considerably less space than the central elevator systems used previously in high rise buildings.

"I feel like a made a contribution there," he said. "They saved 17 percent of rentable space — about 1.5 million square feet. I figured that it will generate for them $25 million in rentals every year."

Although the World Trade Center was criticized for its impact on the New York skyline, Yamasaki is proud of it. "I think it makes the skyline more interesting," he said. "I think they like it now that they are accustomed to it."

The plaza area also draws people to the trade center for a break from the city of narrow streets and tall buildings, he said.

Although the architect looks back on the trade center with a feeling of pride, he can't name a "favorite building." Borrowing an expression from Frank Lloyd Wright, Yamasaki said "the next one" will be the favorite.

NEXT IN LINE, at the moment, is the Saudi Arabian Monetary Agency head office in Riyadh, Saudi Arabia, scheduled for completion in 1981. In that structure, Yamasaki sought relief from the intense sunlight and sweltering heat. Instead of directing attention outside at gardens and trees, Yamasaki has designed a structure in which the offices look out on an interior "oasis" of ponds, flowers and plants.

"It will be refreshing," he says.

His attention is riveted now on the evolving plans for the gigantic Founders Hall Shinji, Shumeikai in Japan. The center for worship will serve a congregation of 330,000 and provides seating for 45,000 and standing room for even more. The 150-foot structure will be located in the middle of a national forest in Japan.

"Someone from the congregation must have pull with the government," he said.

Because the building will be the only structure in the middle of the forest, Yamasaki decided to allow the copper roof to weather naturally into a pale green. "It will fit in with the green of the trees," he said.

Though he could retire now, Yamasaki said he can't imagine a life without architecture. "It has been my life," he said. He looks forward to whatever new challenges will come his way. And he hopes that this country will begin to incorporate more of nature into its cities.

In his book, entitled "A Life in Architecture," Yamasaki gives his reason for puzzlement about this country:

"We are one of the most affluent countries in the world and, supposedly, the most powerful as well, yet we have difficulty approaching a national dedication to aesthetics."

At last Ice fishing resumes

By LEM MESEE
Outdoors writer

Kent, Oxbow, Pontiac, Union and White lakes are the hot spots for pan-fishing through the ice.

Big bluegills seem to be hitting best early in the evenings on these Oakland County lakes.

The crowd out in the middle of the "old" part of Kent Lake indicates crappies are biting better there.

If the lunkers are your style, pike are hitting well on tip-ups on Big Seven, Buckhorn and Tipsico Lake. Kent, Pontiac and Union lakes have produced only a few pike.

Tipico yielded a couple of 36-inch tiger muskies. Heron and Pontiac lakes figure to be good for tiger muskies.

THERE'S A BOAT show on at Cobo Hall, but a more important event is a "Safe Boating" course for youngsters in the 12-16 age bracket.

The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary will offer the sessions in Lowell Junior High, 844 N. Hix, Westland, from 7-9 p.m. Feb. 12, 14, 19 and 21.

Classes and books are free, says Don Presley, information officer for the auxiliary's Gibraltar Flotilla.

Those who pass the exam will receive a state boat operator's certificate. You need that certificate to operate a boat of more than 6 hp if you're between ages 12 and 16.

If you have questions, call Presley at 675-1424.

THE MICHIGAN American Eskimo Dog Association is holding two licensed specialty shows Saturday and Sunday in Mitchell School, 3550 Pittsview Drive, Ann Arbor.

Registration both days will be 9-11 a.m. for conformation and 9-10 a.m. for obedience. Judging will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and Sunday for obedience at 12 noon for conformation.

There is no admission charge for spectators. For registration information, call Helen Rowland at 663-0427 in Ann Arbor.

TRUCKIN AMERICA, a custom truck and van show, opens at 5 p.m. Friday in Pontiac Silverdome. It closes Sunday.

More than 275 vans, pickups, custom cars, diesel rigs and antique trucks will be on display. Tickets are $4.50 for adults and $1.50 for children 6-12. Last year 50,000 persons attended, so you can figure it's a money-maker.

THE CAMPER and Travel Trailer Show opens at 6 p.m. Friday, Feb. 15 and runs to Feb. 24 in the W. Eight Mile Armory near Northland Center.

More than 800 recreational vehicles — travel trailers, camping trailers, motor homes, vans, pickups and covers will be on display.

Admission is $3 for adults ($2.50 if you buy in advance at Hudson's and Sears) and $1 for persons over age 62 and the 6-12 crowd. Parking is still $1 — half the price we paid at the State Fairgrounds for Outdoorama.

METROPARKS offerings for this weekend:

Sunfish and bluegills are some of the most popular species for ice fishing now that the ice is safe.

• "Night Ski" program at the nature center of Oakwoods near Flat Rock at 7 p.m. Friday, Feb. 8. Naturalist Glenn Dent will lead a cross country ski tour through starlit trails to call for owls.

• "Nature Cross Country Ski Tour" at Kensington near Milford at 9 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 10. Naturalist Dave Moilanen will lead a two-hour trek on the park's ski trails. Register in advance by calling 685-1561.

• "Art of the Decoy" at Oakwoods at 2 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 10. Phyllis Ellison of Southfield will display her collection of historic waterfowl decoys during her talk on this native American art form.

You'll need a vehicle entry permit to enter Huron-Clinton metroparks. It's $2 a car or $7 for a season sticker. Programs are free.

Gospel group performs Monday at Schoolcraft

They're planning to ring the rafters Monday at Schoolcraft College as the Ann Arbor Gospel Community Choir gives a performance in the Waterman Campus Center.

The concert is free, starting at 8 p.m.

The group makes regular visits to churches, campuses, parks and convalescent homes, and has visited numerous prisons. It was founded in 1970 with 15 voices and has since grown to include more than 50 singers and five accompanying musicians.

The campus is located on Haggerty north of Six Mile in Livonia.

Conductor begins 3-week engagement

Gary Bertini begins a three-week guest conducting engagement with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Saturday and 10:45 a.m. Friday at Ford Auditorium.

Cellist Yo-Yo Ma is the featured soloist for the concerts scheduled on Thursday and Saturday evenings. The Friday NBD Coffee Concert is preceded by a complimentary coffee hour at 9:30 a.m.

The program will include Roussel's "Bacchus et Ariane" Suite No. 2, Saint-Saens' Cello Concerto No. 1, and Berlioz' "Symphonie Fantastique."

Tickets for the Thursday and Saturday concert are available at $9, $8, $7 and $5. In addition, a limited number of tickets at $2 for students and senior citizens will be available one hour before the concerts. Tickets for the Friday morning concert are $9, $7.50 and $6.

BERTINI is principal guest conductor of the Scottish National Orchestra. Since 1975, he has been a professor at the University of Tel Aviv. This is his fourth appearance with the DSO.

Yo-Yo Ma was born in 1955 in Paris of Chinese parents. He began the Institute of Art and Archaeology at the University of Paris at the age of 6. Since 1962, Ma has studied with Janos Scholz and with Leonard Rose at Juilliard. He plays a rare Italian Goffriller cello made in 1722. This is his second appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Invest $10,000, that's a minimum, in a Michigan Money Market Certificate and earn $605.91 in just 182 days at this week's rates of 11.985% annual interest rate, that's an effective yield of 12.560%*. These rates are effective February 7, 1980 to February 13, 1980, and are subject to change upon renewal. Federal regulation requires substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Federal regulations prohibit the compounding of interest during the term of the Michigan Money Certificates.

The effective annual yield is subject to change at renewal and assumes that the interest rate remains unchanged and that both the interest and principal are re-invested.

TO HIT OR NOT TO HIT?

This situation came up in a tightly played game. White has rolled four-three and is contemplating hitting black on white's 12.

Examine all your alternatives before helping white with the move.

White could safely move both checkers from the 7 point to the 3 and 4. White would also like to cover the single checker on the 2 with the builder (third checker) on the 6 but has no favorable move for the three roll except to break the 4 point.

White is seriously concerned with the next roll. With the 7 point stripped, the only numbers to bring his checkers in safely would be six-four or six-six. White is sure to leave a hit — possibly two — after his next roll.

Black has a tight home board and beautiful timing. Should white not hit, black has two free checkers to move slowly before splitting from white's 5 point. Black should have a closed home board after another roll, which will surely intimidate white.

If white hits black on the 12 point, black has no return shots on the outer field blots (single checkers) but does have a direct shot on white's 2 blot.

IN THE GAME...

White hit the blot with the four roll and moved the 6-point builder to the 3 point. Black rolled and was forced to remain on the bar.

White doubled the cube. Black resigned.

The American Backgammon Club can be contacted by calling 459-5776.

In person

Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis, both actors, writers and directors, will speak about the black oral tradition as part of activities for Black History Month at the Detroit Main Library. The program, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 17, is free, but tickets must be obtained in advance from the library by calling 833-4044.

Investigate surfaces before planning a floor

The decade of the '70s witnessed a renaissance in hard surface floor coverings, with the market abounding in materials both old and new. Perhaps the most notable characteristic of today's materials is the merging of beauty and practicality.

When you shop today for floor covering, you will be overwhelmed by the variety of choices. If you know what you want for each area, you will definitely be further ahead when you begin the search.

There are new and improved methods of production and techniques and better ways of installation to enrich the material you choose.

Larger size ceramic tiles are increasingly popular, and quarry tile and marble as well as natural stone in aggregate form continue to answer demands for beauty, durability, and natural colorations.

HARD FLOOR materials no longer are confined to specific areas of the house. They may go anywhere. Many are so durable that they may flow from the inside entrance hall or family room out onto the porch or patio, thus expanding space, creating unity, providing a practical surface requiring little upkeep and adding beauty to any type of home.

There is a new emphasis on wood, and this versatile and timeless flooring continues to be in the fashion forefront for the '80s.

The development of vinyl for floor use is in large measure responsible for the new interest in hard floor coverings. There is almost no limit to what is being produced in vinyl. It can be clear or vividly colored, translucent or opaque, textured or satin-smooth. It comes in tiles, six-foot-wide sheets, or in a can. Vinyl can be informal or formal. Where previously resilient hard surface floors were used only for kitchens, utility rooms, and bathrooms, their present elegance has admitted them into any room of the house.

SMALL PATTERNS mask tracking and spillage. Pebble vinyls achieve a natural stone effect and embossed patterns are reminiscent of Old World designs such as Moorish tile. Vinyls may simulate handsome grained wood, cork, delite tile, travertine or marble, to mention only a few. A foam cushion backing makes it possible to have a practical vinyl surface with the luxurious feel of carpet.

Flagstone, an interesting flat stone that varies in size, thickness, quality and color is excellent for patios, foyers, and any heavy traffic area. Slate tends to be more formal than flagstone yet has quality similar to flagstone except for color which runs from gray to black. It may be polished or unpolished, more frequently waxed and highly polished. Terrazzo consists of cement mortar to which marble chips are mixed. The larger chips give a more formal appearance yet it is very durable and easy to clean.

CERAMIC TILE is one of the hardest and more durable floor and wall coverings. The common type using small squares is mosaic.

Glazed or unglazed, ceramic may be washed with soap and warm water and is available in many patterns, colors and textures. It is one of the most popular and priced right.

Marble, hardest of the non-resilient flooring materials, is now available in many varieties. It certainly gives a feeling of elegance no matter how much or how little is used in any area. It is more expensive than most but it is permanent.

Wood comes in a multitude of styles and grains. The quiet harmony of wood as a background for any style of furnishings is always admired. There is a new development in which real wood is impregnated with a liquid plastic that is hardened throughout the pore structure by irradiation. The result is a floor with the warmth of wood but with a remarkable durability, enough to withstand the heaviest foot traffic.

There are many options to choose from in flooring and it is wise to investigate all of them before making a selection.

Primate study shown in film at Cranbrook

Findings of renowned primatologist Jane Goodall will be explored in the film "Monkeys, Apes and Man" to be shown at 2:45 and 3:45 p.m., Saturday in the Cranbrook Institute of Science auditorium, Bloomfield Hills.

Goodall and others in her field believe unexpected insights into human behavior result from studies of primates. Their work is examined in the National Geographic film, which reveals learning techniques of monkeys and apes and relates these discoveries to humans.

The film is free with museum admission of $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

Also free with museum admission that day are planetarium demonstrations about black holes at 2, 3, 4 and 7:30 p.m. and observatory demonstrations from 8:30 to 10 p.m.

Saturday museum hours are 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. For more information, call 645-3210.

Cranbrook Institute of Science, 500 Lone Pine Road, is open daily except on major holidays.

On stage

Jim Kent and Vincenza Mueller star in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," at the Rosedale Community Players' Upstage Playhouse, 21728 Grand River. Shows are 8 p.m. Friday and Sunday and next Friday and Saturday, with a dinner theater show starting at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. For info, call 836-0827.

Buddy Holly on TV

The music and life of Buddy Holly, the 1950s rock singer, are the subject of "Buddy Holly: Remembering" at 8 p.m. Monday on Channel 56.

Holly is recalled with interviews and performances by the Crickets (Holly's band) and Waylon Jennings. Highlights of the Buddy Holly 20th Anniversary Memorial Concert in Iowa are also included.
