Group primes farms for produce market

By DARLENE STINSON

Don't expect mangos or pomegranates. The township is limiting produce at its first farmers' market to less exotic foods like sweet corn, melons and squash. "If it's grown in Canton, it will be there," promised planning commissioner Dianne Neihengen of the soon-to-be weekly event. "We have to start small. Maybe next year, we can include farmers outside of Canton."

Long-range plans of the farmland preservation committee include establishment of a regional operation, similar to Eastern Market in Detroit.

The first market is scheduled tentatively for Saturday, July 19, in the parking lot of the New Towne Plaza at Sheldon and Ford.

The market will continue each Saturday while crops last.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD approved the concept of the market this spring to help local farmers sell their crops and further the goal of saving agricultural

Last week, assistant planner Dave Nicholson changed the status of the concept to fact. He completed negotiations with RAMCO-Gershensen owner of the New Towne Plaza - for use of a normally vacant portion of the Grant launches hunt for history

Tucked among sleek, new subdivisions and rich farmlands are pieces of early Canton Township history.

The township planning department will receive a $2,500 grant to do a survey of historical or "architecturally significant" buildings. The grant will come from the Michigan Department of State, History Division.

Planning Director James Kosteva said he hopes to line up by July 7 three or four volunteers to help do field work and prepare reports. He said most probably would come from the township historical society and historical commission. An architect will assist in

COMPLETION OF the survey will allow the township to seek historical designation from the state for buildings and to apply for federal funds to preserve them.

Eligible for the survey are buildings erected prior to 1930, said Kosteva. The list might include homes, churches or businesses.

Persons whose homes would be included should call the planning department at 397-1000 by Sept. 1. "We will take a picture (of the building) and put it on a map," said Kosteva.

"It will be done from the public right of way, and we won't go onto the property," he added.

The agreement places liability for the event on Canton Township. According to Nicholson, the market will increase Canton's insurance by a "nominal" fee - about $250.

The recently-formed farmland preservation committee has been working with local farmers to lift the idea off the ground.

Ms. Neihengen, a member of the committee, said the group has received confirmation from 10 farmers regarding their participation in the event.

More farmers expressed interest in the market, according to Ms. Neihengen. Some already had made commitments for booths in other markets. Others failed to plant crops in anticipation of the event.

This year's market will take place in an open area between the Kmart sign and the Pearl Vision Center - a good site in terms of visibility, said Ms. Neihengen. No plans have been made for a tent or other type of shelter.

"But the farmers don't want it to look shabby," she said. (Continued on Page 3A)

Fires set blaze to regional arson squad talk

By ARLENE FUNKE

An arsonist - someone who deliberately sets fires - may find excitement by throwing lighted matches into a dumpster and watching the debris burst into flames.

Once that loses its zest, he may move on to setting fires in empty or partially-constructed homes or businesses. There seldom are witnesses, and evidence often is destroyed by the blaze.

THESE KINDS of concerns are prompting area police departments to consider joining a task force which would investigate arsons on a regional basis. The plan, still in the talking stage, is being explored by the city of Plymouth, Canton Township, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township.

the five-community proposal because the state fire marshal's office, which is divided into districts of six counties, often is delayed in its investigations.

Stewart believes funding for the task force is available through federal and state grants, and from private sources such as insurance companies or investigative groups.

"Those (insurance) companies stand to lose billions of dollars (in claims),' said Stewart. "It may be worth their while to spend millions to save it."

Currently, the state fire marshal's office in the Michigan State Police post at Northville is investigating the Plymouth mall tire. Handling the case is a special group within the department.

"Come to a three-ring circus — the greatest show on Earth," the "tickets" read. "This ticket is valid for all Township Board meetings." Several candidates for Township Board seats recently found those "tickets" in their mailboxes. The literature was unsigned - a fact which has incensed several candidates. The mailing states the time and place of all regularly-scheduled board meetings. "These performances have been paid for by your tax dollars," it says. Supervisor Noel Culbert, who is seeking re-election, was left out of the anonymous author's mailing list. "No one has shown me the courtesy to send me a ticket," he said.

The first prize of a $200 savings bond went to John Shannon, a recently graduated senior from Plymouth Salem High School. Copies of his ink print will be framed and sold as part of a museum fund-raiser. Doris Graff, a junior at Plymouth Canton High School, won a $10 certificate for her second-place drawing. Ken Horn, a sophomore at Plymouth Salem, won a $5 certificate as the third-place winner. The second- and third-place drawings will be reproduced on stationery and other items.

Zoning book sales

Canton's zoning ordinance hasn't hit the best-sellers list yet. But Clerk John Flodin is preparing for an eventual surge of sales by contacting a variety of printing companies about a second edition of the book. Township residents and developers have already purchased half of the 50 to 100 books published by planning consultants Wade, Trim & Associates. The thick books sell for $10 each. Adopted last March, the ordinance contains a wide variety of zoning restrictions and designations. "We anticipate that (the current supply) will be gone," said Flodin. "Because of its newness, I expect a surge of interest."

County scrambles for cash to meet summer bills

By TOM LONERGAN

With a little more than five months left in Wayne County's budget year, the Board of Commissioners has been asked to declare "a state of financial emergency."

The three-member Board of Auditors predicts the county will be $2.5 million short of cash during August, raising the possibility of payless paydays for some county employees. Last fall, the county was as much as a week late in meeting several payrolls.

With the auditors projecting a budget deficit of $19-$23 million by Nov. 30, the end of the county's budget year, 10 county commissioners last week proposed the board give Chairman Samuel Turner, D-Detroit, broad powers to transfer money between department

THE PROPOSAL, co-sponsored by. Commissioners Richard Manning, D-Redford, Thomas Presnell, D-Garden City/Westland, Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, and Kay Beard, D-Inkster, was referred to the county board's financial crisis committee.

The proposal would allow the board chairman to by-pass the county board committee structure and order budget cuts or modifications.

However, his "executive orders" could be rescinded by a majority vote (14) of the 27-member board.

Turner could veto any board action regarding the budget, according to the proposal. His veto would need a twothirds vote (18) to be overridden by the county board.

If granted by the full board, the additional powers for the chairman would expire Nov. 30.

MANNING ALSO proposed that the county withold two scheduled quarterly contributions of $6.7 million each to its pension fund and an estimated $8 million to the new jail construction fund. He proposes the money be used primarily to meet payrolls and to pay ven-

But that drew questions from a skeptical Constantine Stathos, the county's budget director.

"What makes you think that money will be there Nov. 30 to meet that obligation?" Stathos asked. "And if it isn't there, it isn't there. Then we have a double problem."

Manning's proposal was also referred to the financial crisis committee with a "directive" that the Board of Auditors temporarily withold the next quarterly payment to the pension fund.

BUT WHETHER THE auditors will follow the commissioners' wishes remains to be seen

"We'll investigate it," said Board of Auditors Chairman Richard T. Kelly. "We'll find out what the pension board will do with it."

non-existent, and we will not be able to borrow."

Alfred D. Bricker, executive secretary of the county employees retirement system, said Friday the county would lose interest earnings by suspending the quarterly pension fund contributions.

"Each time we don't get the quarterly appropriation from the county, we do not have money to invest," said Bricker. He said suspension of the quarterly payments could lead to higher pension contributions next year.

Within the past year, Bricker said the county has received a 17 percent interest rate on its pension investments, but the rate has now declined to "9 or 10 percent."

The county's chief lawyer, George Cross, who is also a member of the pension board, has been asked to give his opinion on the witholding actions.

A contingent of county officials, including Manning, will likely attend a four-day National Association of County Officials (NACO) convention in Las Vegas beginning June 29.

Asked if the county would change its plans about attending the convention, board chairman Turner said, "I don't contemplate making any drastic changes."

The county pays $24,000 a year to belong to NACO. The organization is paying Manning's travel expenses to Las Vegas because he's chairman of its urban environment subcommittee.

A number of other grants will cover two other county officials travel. But the county may spend $1,900-$2,640 to send three or four additional representation petitions after they are filed, and so the decision to accept or reject will be made by the state agency.

The city's request to stop action on the petitions, however, is expected to sway the state to drop the items.

Some time ago the city of Plymouth filed three annexation petitions with the boundary commission. One request was to annex a portion of land which came to be called the Burroughs Parking Lot; a second request was to annex all of the township; and a third was to annex the Hillside Inn.

The Michigan Court of Appeals earlier this year ruled the Burroughs Parking Lot annexation invalid after the Boundary Commission had given final approval. The court ruled the commission had created an improper enclave as the annexation would surround the parcel on three sides by township land.

The Plymouth City Commission earlier had went on record as no longer supporting the remaining two annexa-said Graper, "but that is not the case. tion requests.

The change of position was taken at the time the city was preparing a bid to provide police services to the township. After examining the city's bid the township decided to contract instead tains exclusive jurisdiction over annex- with the Wayne County Sheriff who had submitted a lower bid.

But the commission decided to stick with its earlier decision not to annex the township.

City Manager Henry Graper has put that promise into writing in a letter sent to the Boundary Commission and to Donald Morgan, township attorney. The petition to all of the township will be acted upon by the Boundary Commission at 11:20 a.m. July 9 and the Hillside annexation request will be acted on at 11:30 a.m. that day. A decision to annex all of the township, however, would result in the state delaying a decision on the Hillside Graper said he preferred to rely on redevelopment of existing businesses to improve the city's tax base than to improve it through annexation. "I would support annexation if the township couldn't provide water and sewer services to a large tract of land,"

"My approach is to develop the property that is already here to realize its highest and best use. By revitalizing what we have, we can improve the tax base without changing our physical boundaries.'

Crossing guard dispute heads for Circuit Court

A trial date has been set for August to decide whether crossing guards salaries will be paid for by the school district or by the local municipal govern-

The trial will be held in Wayne County Circuit Court beginning Aug. 27.

The lawsuit was filed in 1976 by Plymouth attorney James McCarthy when Plymouth-Canton Board of Education decided not to provide crossing guards because the municipal governments wouldn't agree to share the costs

At that time a "temporary" restraining order was issued telling the school board to provide the guards and the issue of who would pay for them would be decided later by the court.

The issue of who'll pay still remains undecided but the school district has continued to provide the crossing

Before the lawsuit was filed the city of Plymouth and Canton Township were paying half the cost according to an agreement with the school district to share the expense. Plymouth Township, however, always had refused to pay half the expense.

The Plymouth City Commisson then took the position that it would pay half only if Plymouth Township paid its share. The city placed its share in escrow and refused to give it to the district until the township paid.

At this point the school board decided to quit providing crossing guards and so announced its intent.

McCarthy, who has law offices on Main Street in the city, then filed a lawsuit on behalf of his family asking the district to continue providing the crossing guards.

Plymouth Township was named a party to the suit, and then later the city of Plymouth, Canton, the Wayne County Sheriff and the Wayne County Road Commission were joined as parties.

Canton, the city, county Sheriff, and road commission were added as parties

The school district is asking for a settlement which would involve retroactive payments on the assumption of the costs being shared 50-50. For Plymouth Township that could amount to more than $35,000 based on an annual cost exceeding $7,000 a year since 1976. After the lawsuit was founded an Oakland County Circuit Court has ordered the city of Pontiac and Pontiac Township to pay 100 percent of the cost of crossing guards in those municipali-

The Pontiac ruling provided that the responsibility of providing crossing guards rested with the police agencies which patrolled those particular streets and not with the school district.

Last week Plymouth Township Board instructed its attorney, Donald Morgan, to proceed representing the township in the lawsuit.

Specifically, the board told Morgan it was not interested in seeking a settlement or negotiating an agreement but wanted a judicial ruling on the issue.

The vote to approve those instructions was 6-1 with Clerk Esther Hulsing

To help farms

Plans readied for market

They have plans to build uniform wooden stalls. Farmers will assume liability for the produce they sell. The names and addresses of individual farmers will be posted on their booths.

"They're very proud of the fact that they'll have the freshest produce you can get," said.

DESPITE THE MODEST stature of this year's market, the farmland preservation committee has more grandiose ideas in mind.

According to Ms. Neihengen, grant coordinator Terry Carroll is investigating the idea of establishing a food cooperative for low-income families.

The cooperative would make Canton eligible for a federal grant for the construction of a permanent market building. According to Ms. Neihengen, the market could feature foods from regional farms in addition to produce from out-of-state.

"That's the long-range goal," she said. "Canton is a good area for that sort of thing. It's close to Willow Run Airport and railroads. There's a lot of farming in western Wayne County.

"But to keep things manageable, we've got to start small. The whole idea is to provide an outlet for farmers and a service for residents.

Ms. Neihengen said market operations could begin later than July 19, depending on the status of crops. The heavy rains this spring and early summer has set back some crops.

The market is only one idea which the farmland committee is exploring to promote the preservation of agricultural lands.

"MY FEELING is that development rights aren't the only part of farmland preservation," said Ms. Neihengen. "It's kind of a rethinking process. Farming services in Canton stopped a

Fireworks to pop on 4th

Plymouth will have fireworks after all on the Fourth of July

In past years, the Plymouth Jaycees had sponsored fireworks each year, along with the parade and a marathon run, as part of the July 4th celebration for the Plymouth-Canton community.

But this year the Jaycees were not very hopeful that fireworks could be offered because of the mounting costs.

"Offering fireworks would almost double our costs," explained Michael Stankov, fund-raising chairman for the Fourth of July festivities

"With the economy being slow, we know it's going to be harder for some merchants to make donations this year to help pay for the parade, let alone pay for the fireworks.

'We decided, going into the fund drive, to ask for donations for both the parade and for fireworks but to let everyone know the money might be spent only for the parade.

"I was not at all optimistic about the chances we could offer fireworks."

WHAT HAPPENED recently was an agreement from Don Massey Cadillac to underwrite the expense of the fire-"I asked Don Massey if he'd be interested in sponsoring the fireworks for the community. He was, of course, interested and after some discussion agreed to pick up the tab.

"I just was not sure at all that the Jaycees could offer fireworks to the community until learning that Massey Cadillac would be willing to sponsor the fireworks.'

With the decision made to offer fireworks, the Plymouth Jaycees are turning their attention back to making plans for the parade.

Application blanks for parade entries may be obtained at the First National Bank of Plymouth or from the office of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce. Trophies will be awarded to the first-and second-place finishers in the band and float categories, and certificates will be awarded for third place. The Plymouth Jaycettes also will be judging a bicycle decorating contest for youths 15 and younger. Certificates will will be awarded for first, second and third places. THE THEME for this year's parade is "Stand Up For America."

The parade will begin at 1 p.m. at the corner of Theodore and Main Streets by the C&O tracks. The parade route will be down Main Street to Hartsough, and then east to East Middle School

The Plymouth Jaycees are planning on more than 30,000 spectators.

Water rates spur protest

By TOM LONERGAN

A state law that may lead to water rate increases of more than 100 percent for some suburban communities "will have to be tested," according to a suburban representative on the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners.

"I think someone will challenge the law," said John Lamerato, general manager of the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority, which distributes water to a dozen cities, including Birmingham, Southfield and Lathrup

The water board this week distributed a report on planned water rate increases to its 96 suburban customers.

SYSTEMWIDE, the median wholesale increase, to be effective Dec. 1, is 43 percent, according to the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department (DWSD)

That means half the increases are more than 43 percent and half less. They range from "slight increases" for some suburban customers to "those of more than 100 percent."

The Detroit City Council must approve the rates, which DWSD says will lead to residential water bill hikes of 25 percent quarterly, based on an average household water consumption of 4,000 cubic feet.

A 1917 state law - which apparently hasn't been a factor in past DWSD water rates - permits the city-owned utility to charge suburban wholesale customers within 10 miles of its borders at least the same wholesale rate Detroit pays but no more than double that rate.

DETROIT'S proposed wholesale rate is $2.75 per 1,000 cubic feet (mcf), a 15 percent increase from the current rate of $2.39.

Those suburban customers more than 10 miles away can be charged more than double, according to the law. Lamerato said it will lead to "inequi-

For example, Avon Township's wholesale water rate will increase 119 percent from $3.11 per 1,000 cubic feet (mcf) to $6.83.

That is an "actual cost of service" rate determined by DWSD's rate consultant, Camp Dresser & McKee of Detroit, which conducted a year-long study of water rates.

WEST BLOOMFIELD Township's actual cost of service rate is $11.55 mcf, but the proposed rate is $5.50 because the township is within 10 miles of Detroit and can only be charged double Detroit's $2.75 rate.

Kosteva said there probably are 200-300 Canton structures which were built before 1930. An estimated 20-30 more, dating from 1840-1850, would have "real architectural significance," he added.

by next next April, said Kosteva. We would like to use the findings as an establishment of a cornerstone of Canton identity - so that people realize (the township) has a very profound history," he added.

A marker would be placed on buildings which have historical designation. The owners would have to agree to that designation, said Kosteva.

Carman believes development pressures for large-acre homesites will surface in western Canton when the economy improves.

Miss McCarthy, hospitalized at the Northville Regional Psychiatric Hospital for a mental disorder about three months ago, had asked to be re-admitted several weeks ago, say Wayne County deputy.

Her parents, James and Jane, said they preferred to care for her at home.

Mrs. McCarthy, described as a homebody with an exceptional flower garden, was found dead in her home by Plymouth Township rescue workers about 7:30 a.m. Friday. Wayne County examiners confirmed she died of a single stab wound in the back.

Police say Miss McCarthy had consulted with a local psychiatrist "a couple of times" and was prescribed some type of medication. Unemployed, she lived at home with her parents and sister, Margaret, 22. A brother, James Jr., was vacationing last week and lives elsewhere.

"SHE WANTED to go back to the hospital," says Det. Larry Patterson. "But her parents, very loving people, wanted to help her over this.'

Following a family outing to the Belle Isle Zoo on Thursday, Patterson says Miss McCarthy spent a restless night, constantly plagued by "voices" that said "they" were "coming" to harm her mother.

James McCarthy told police his eldest daughter had become nervous, hyperactive and had trouble sleeping.

According to neighbors, the family had moved to Plymouth Township from Mount Clemens about three years ago. McCarthy is employed with the Detroit Board of Education as a researcher in federally sponsored school programs.

Fireworks blast off in national archives

Among the ironies of history is this: Less than a decade after the Nixon presidency ended in disgrace, his notorious tapes are the prime attraction at the National Archives in Washington. Yet it took 101 years for the revered Declaration of Independ-

From 1776 to 1877, the original parchment manuscript of the Declaration of Independence was kept in 10 different cities.

Twice the historic document narrowly escaped destruction by fire. In the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812, Jefferson's manifesto was nearly

In 1894, already faded from exposure to light and its signatures damaged by frequent rolling of the parchment, the Declaration was locked into a safe in the State Department.

From 1921 to 1952, it was kept in the Library of Congress and only since 1952, 176 years after its initial celebration, was it permantly exhibited in the National Archives.

But the fireworks in the archives these days are lit not by historical interest in the great document, but by the curious who want to hear expletives undeleted by an ex-president and others.

LINES FORM early at the archives these days. But each day, 150 of the curious get tickets to hear the infamous Nixon tapes. They wait their turn to use the 32 sets of earphones that bring history to Another irony is that while the Declaration was a public enunciation of political philosophy proudly proclaimed to the world, the tapes were meant to be private, unheard. They were to be used as sources for Nixon's post-presidential memoirs.

A totally different category of communication than quill and parchment, the tapes were meant for certain ears only. They were the property of a man who thought himself to be above the law.

Despite Nixon's best-laid plans, John Q. Public today can listen to the familiar voices, the laughs and the cuss words, and be privy to things once kept from the grand jury, Federal Judge John Sirica and even Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Listeners can close their eyes and pretend they're an unseen visitor in the Oval Office.

But close your eyes again and you're back in the historical days when the Continental Congress with its 13 colonial members debated the future.

TWELVE colonies voted for the Declaration of Independence on July 2, 1776 with New York abstaining. The New Yorkers awaited orders on how to procede and readily approved the document when the word came.

No rash act, the promulgation of the Declaration came 14 months after fighting broke out between the colonists and the resident British armies.

A Royal Proclamation had announced the colonies to be in rebellion on Aug. 23, 1775, and Washington had long been in the field.

Thomas Jefferson was the principal writer of the Declaration. He wrote the first draft at the request of his fellow committee members. They expanded on his list of grievances against the crown and deleted his denunciation of the slave trade.

No expletives there. Language and logic are both admirable and who doesn't shiver a little when they

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

POLITICAL analysts are wont to criticize most documents, and the Declaration has not escaped such slings and arrows. Lately, the document's wording has come under for attack by some strident feminists for not stating that "all women" are cre-

Still, it inspired the overthrow of the Spanish empire in South America and was quoted frequently by the Marquis de Mirabeau during the French Revo-

The very first time Americans celebrated the Declaration was on July 8, 1776, and the next day (July 9) it was read to Washington's army.

Put on parchment by Timothy Matlack of Philadelphia, the Declaration was formally signed on Aug. 2, 1776.

Not all who voted on it signed it and men not in the Congress on July 4 did affix their signitures. John Hancock, president of the Continental Congress, signed his name top center and larger than the 55 others who autographed it. It might be nice to hear the unfamiliar voices of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson as they wrangled in committee drawing up the Declaration.

But standing in line to hear cuss words by Haldeman, Erlichman and Nixon? To each his own.

Why do I always get in wrong line?

By MAURIE WALKER

Does it ever happen to you?

I mean, no matter how many lines there are at a bank, supermarket or ticket window, you are in the

I vowed when I got out of the Navy following World War II that I'd never stand in line for any-

That "hurry up and wait" routine of the services was just too much for me. Prior to World War II, I had stood in many a line at the old Michigan or Fox Theaters in Detroit to see a picture. I had stood in line to see a hockey, baseball or football game. There were always those brazen souls who would try to sneak in ahead of the line, but in those days, I didn't mind — too much. While in the service, I'd often wonder how in the world we would ever win a war with what seemed like half of our armed forces waiting in line for

MAYBE IT WAS at the USO, the chow line, the medical line, or just to get a shower. No matter what, there was a line. This is why I vowed never to get in a line for anything again, especially when I had to stand in an endless line to get discharged from the Navy.

Now I find there is no escaping the lines. There are lines at the teller's window at the bank. The supermarket checkout is always crowded, at least when I'm there. When I buy gasoline for my car, there's a line. I even get in the wrong line trying to get out of the parking lot of my church after the service. I can't figure out what evil force puts me in the

At a bank, I think I've solved the problem by getting there early. There are maybe three teller's windows open with one customer at each window. I get behind one person figuring this has got to be the fastest way to get my check cashed and get out.

Not so. I get a new teller who wants to know the history of my life, has to see if my paycheck is valid, and then has to answer a telephone call in between.

THE SUPERMARKET has to be my real downfall. No matter what checkout line I choose, it's like playing Russian Roulette. I'm bound to lose. Even the so-called "express" lines trap me.

I always seem to get into the line where a customer has failed to either get the produce weighed in advance and we have to wait for someone to weigh it before the clerk can ring it up, or has over-

Then there is the person who has to write a check, has forgotten their identification, which means everyone else in line has to wait for the manager to either approve the check or reject it.

I often get behind a person who suddenly remembers an item he "just has to have" and "would I mind holding their spot in line" while he tried to

AT THE GASOLINE station, I pull up to the selfserve pumps. I've learned the "full service" pumps mean the attendant will remove the gasoline cap, put in whatever amount of the gold liquid you want, and then take your money.

Somehow, I'm always guided by some mysterious force to the pump where there is either a sign that says "out of service" or get behind a motorist who fills his tank along with a gallon can for his lawn mower, goes in to pay for the gasoline and then initiates a long conversation with the attendant.

The cafeteria is where I really shine. With two lines to choose from, I'll get behind someone who can't decide what to buy.

The person will pick something and then change his mind. During the second round of decision-making, the person usually starts a conversation with a nearby customer, delaying me again.

STANDING IN line at an outdoor ice cream shop

After taking an order from the family, each person wanting a different flavor, you find that the persons in front of you have the same problem. Only they usually change their minds a half-dozen times before completing their order.

In the line I didn't get in, four persons who arrived after me have their ice cream half-consumed before I get to the window only to find the person in front of me has purchased the last of the flavor I

Parking lots at outdoor events are traps for me too. I can find what I think is an ideal line for getting in and out when I want to, only to come back and find there is a car blocking my exit — the only spot blocked in the area.

I'VE COME to the conclusion it's all my fault for getting in never-ending lines.

I just don't have that sixth sense to choose the right place at the right time.

Like the reception when I stood in a line for more than 10 minutes thinking it was the lineup for the bar, only to learn it was a lineup for the men's gong for performance

Local critics seldom knock community theater. After all, amateur players who opt for a taste of show biz, minus the big bucks, deserve rave notices for just being gutsy. Brickbats are reserved for big name stars when they bomb. Look out. Here come the brickbats.

There's plenty of good community theater in the area and the price is right. So it's disappointing to shell out $11 for a "professional" show with a top star who'd get the gong after performing two minutes on amateur night.

I'm talking about Peggy Lee in "Side By Side By Sondheim" at the Birmingham Theatre. It opened June 20 and I saw it June 22. As I'm writing this column on June 25, I still haven't seen a single review of the show in any metropolitan daily. So I went to the show uninformed and I blew 11 bucks. Peggy Lee generates as much excitement as someone tap dancing in stocking feet to the sound of one hand clapping. Besides that, she's more than a bit on the fleshy side and even her bejeweled and befurred tunics and gowns in peach and gray couldn't hide her ample middle. Neither could she hide the fact that her voice is fading along with her talent.

OK, SO she looks as though she had a few face lifts and her eyes are slits which slant upward. But what really bothers me is her complete lack of enthusiasm and memory. She slouched back in a comfy chair, read a script about Stephen Sondheim and his music, kept losing her place and often forgot to stand up and sing on cue.

In the first act, she grabbed a boa and lifted herself from her chair to sing "Ah, Paree," from "Follies" with a French accent. Pianists Eileen La Grange and Paul Horner looked horrified. Ms. Lee soon realized she wasn't on cue. So, she slouched back in her chair and stuck the boa between her teeth for comic relief.

Speaking of relief, the only thing that saved the show from complete disaster was a cast of lively young singers who did most the work. One male singer's voice cracked and he screwed up a line of a song. But the cast got more applause than Ms. Lee, who sat there looking bored, clapping with one hand.

All I could think of was this bigtime star singing, "Is that all there is?" Peggy Lee was being Peggy Lee and that, my friends, is definitely all there is. It's a case of someone famous for being famous.

Ms. Lee's biggest goof came at the end of the show. After the finale, when members of the cast took their bows during one curtain call, the audience began to leave. Suddenly, the star reappeared on the stage. She sang the best number of the show which she had apparenly forgotten to do - "Send in the Clowns." They were already there.

IT'S HARD to believe this is the same singer who recorded nearly 600 songs, some of them gold records, through the eras of jazz, blues, swing, Latin music and rock. She's supposed to have a string of awards unequalled by any pop singer alive.

Critics have dubbed her "a living legend" and "an American tradition." She should have quit while she was still living and a legend. I used to love Peggy Lee's deadpan style in songs like "Manana," "Lover," "Fever" and "Why Don't You Do Right?" But, Peggy, you sure didn't do right with your sloppy, disorganized performance in the sloppy, disorganized production of "Side By Side By

Ms. Lee is considering doing the show on Broadway. Unless she and the comedy of errors shape up, Peggy Lee may be laughed right off the stage, sideby-side with Sondheim.

Why pave streets in Green Meadows?

We have lived in Green Meadow sub for 12 years.

This sub is mostly retired or about to retire citizens. We are senior citizens.

Now we read in the paper they intend to pave the streets in Green Meadows sub. Why now? When things are so bad!

Our taxes are so high now it is hard to pay them. We have no sidewalks, no street lights, no paved roads and yet they keep going up almost every year. They are too high now for anyone with a fixed income or even the younger people who have no job and with the road paving they will go up again. They did with the new water line that came down Elmhurst.

Sure I'd like the road paved, who wouldn't? A line has to be drawn some place when it comes to spending. Even five years ago would have been better then

After the road is paved and taxes are raised and we complain, all they will say is "that's progress."

Senior citizens, we can't win. ELAINE STIEHR Plymouth

Graduation was terrible

It is extremely unfortunate that the school decision makers (the administration) did not properly administer Salem's graduation ceremonies.

The graduation, as everyone that was there is aware, was held at the football stadium in 50-degree temperatures and winds greater than 20 miles

Much earlier in the evening logic should have led to a decision to hold the ceremonies indoors but, apparently, it was felt better to accommodate a crowd of freezing parents, grandparents and friends (plus students) rather than turn a few away had it been held indoors.

It was a terrible graduation for all concerned and I am extremely distraught with the misdirected decision of what should have been a relatively easy decision to make. Hold the ceremonies indoors. One only had to look at

I hope more complex decisions in the future do not follow the same pattern. I am very disgusted!

FEASTING ON THE FOURTH

Picnics are as much a part of America's Independence Day celebration as local parades and firewoks. The Fourth of July is a day when friends, familes and neighbors gather 'round the outdoor grill to enjoy the weather and share summer's bounty while awaiting dusk and dazzling fireworks displays.

For a change of cookout menu, try a roast of pork with a rice accompaniment. Pork supplies are high this year and this abundance means that pork cuts suitable for outdoor cookery are especially kind to your food budget. Roasts, ribs, hams, steaks, chops and cubes for kabobs are in good supply. Rice is another food-dollar stretch-

Count the compliments along with your blessings when you serve an elegant Peach Glazed Pork Loin Roast, cooked to perfection on your barbecue grill.

The sweet-sour glaze complements the pork flavor. Summer Garden Rice Salad adds color and crunch with an unusual combination of vegetables. The rice is cooked ahead, then chilled, so at serving time a quick toss with vegetables and nuts is all that's required.

A menu sure to please those gathered round the picnic table includes Summertime Pork Kabobs with Celebration Rice. Economical cubes of pork, cut from the boneless shoulder, are marinated overnight in a flavorful pineapple juice mixture. These share the skewers with nectarines and red peppers. These tender, juicy broiled kabobs are the perfect partner for the onion, tomato and olive-flecked rice.

Peach Glazed Pork Loin Roast

- 4 to 6 pound pork loin roast*
- 1/2 cup peach preserves
- 1/2 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup catsup
- 1 tablespoon instant minced
- 1 teaspoon prepared
- mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger

When coals are ready, set drip pan in place between them on the lower grill directly under where the roast will be placed. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Center roast, fat side up, on outdoor grill over drip pan after coals are ash covered. Partially close bottom dampers, if necessary to control heat. Cover kettle (leaving top damper open) and cook roast until meat thermometer registers 165°F., allowing 17 to 19 minutes per pound. Combine peach preserves, orange juice, catsup, instant minced onion, mustard and ginger in saucepan. Cook slowly 20 minutes, stirring occasionally, until glaze is reduced to approximately 1 cup. Brush glaze on roast during the last 20 minutes of cooking time. Allow to "set" in a warm place 15 to 20 minutes after removal from kettle. Roasts continue to cook during this time, rising approximately 5°F, to reach the recommended internal temperature of 170°F

For a special meal serve Pork Loin Roast, prepared in the versatile Barbecue Kettle, with Summer Garden Rice Salad.

I cup Rice

It's Easy To Cook In A Covered Kettle

- · Equal amounts of charcoal are held at the sides of the lower grill by a set of charcoal rails.
- · All vents should be open. · Ignite coals.
- · Cover should be left off until coals are ash gray (about 30

When coals are ready, center a drip pan (slightly larger than the roast) between the charcoal rails. Place cooking grill in kettle and position roast in the center directly above the drip pan. Cover kettle and consult recipe for recommended

With the cover on, heat from the coals is reflected by the inside surfaces of the kettle cooking the meat on all sides. It's so easy, foods don't need to be turned

Place roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water; do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until the thermometer registers 165°E.; allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound. Brush glaze on roast during the last 20 minutes of cooking time.

Conventional Directions

I cup sliced radishes 3/4 cup sliced celery

Summer Garden Rice Salad

- 1/2 cup Italian dressing
- I tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 2 cups firmly packed fresh spinach leaves, cut in thin strips
- 1 medium zucchini, cut in thin strips
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts

Cook rice according to package directions. Transfer to bowl. Combine dressing, soy sauce and sugar; stir into hot cooked rice. Cover and chill thoroughly. Before serving, add vegetables and nuts; toss lightly. Serve on salad greens. 8 to 10 servings.

Summertime Pork Kabobs

- 2 pounds boneless pork shoulder, cut in 1 to I-1/4-inch cubes
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 1/3 cup oil
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar 6 whole allspice, crushed
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3/4 teaspoon salt 3 nectarines, each cut in
- 2 medium red peppers, each
- cut in 12 pieces

Combine pineapple juice, oil, brown sugar, allspice, garlic and salt in small saucepan; cook slowly 10 minutes. Cool. Place pork cubes in utility dish or plastic bag; add marinade, turning cubes to coat. Cover dish or tie bag securely and marinate in refrigerator 4 to 6 hours (or overnight), turning at least once. Pour off and reserve marinade. Thread pork on six 12-inch skewers, leaving space between cubes. Arrange ash-covered coals in a sparse layer, allowing space between them. Place kabobs on the grill, cover and cook 25 to 35 minutes or until done, turning and brushing with reserved marinade occasionally. Push cubes together; thread nectarines cooking time. 6 servings.

- 2/3 cup chopped onion
 - 1 cup Rice 2 cups water
- 1/2 cup dry white wine >
- 1-1/2 teaspoons garlic salt 1 teaspoon basil
 - 1 medium tomato,
- chopped 1/2 cup sliced ripe olives

Melt butter in large saucepan; add onion and cook until tender, but not brown. Add rice, water, wine and seasonings; stir. Bring to a boil. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Stir in tomato and olives. Remove from heat. Let stand, covered, until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. 6 servings.

Crowd Pleasin' Pork Fried Rice

3 cups Rice 6 pork blade steaks, cut 3/4 inch thick

1-inch pieces

- (4 to 4-1/2 pounds) 1/2 pound bacon, cut in
- 2 cloves garlic, minced 1/2 cup soy sauce 1 package (10 ounces)
- frozen peas, defrosted 8 green onions, cut in 2-inch diagonal pieces

Cook rice according to package directions; chill. Remove bones from pork steaks and cut meat into strips 1/8 to 1/4 inch wide and 2 inches long. Cook bacon in Wok over high heat; remove and drain on absorbent paper. Remove all but approximately 1/3 cup bacon drippings. Stir-fry pork strips and garlic in Wok (1/3 at a time) until well done, pushing cooked meat to one side; stir in soy sauce. Add rice, peas and green onions and stir-fry 5 minutes or until heated through. Add bacon, tossing lightly to combine. Serve immediately. 10 to 12 servings.

Spark Fourth of July appetites with colorful Celebration Rice and Summertime Pork Kabobs from the outdoor grill.

Juestion of Taste

By Hilary Keating Callaghan

Vegetarians get equal time at a cookout

A vegetarian might, at first glance, seem to be very much out of place at a cookout. The tantalizing smell of roasting meat fills the air. A great deal of concern and attention is directed toward cooking the meat to an exact degree of doneness.

If vegetables appear on the menu at all, they are in a predictable and definitely minor role, showing up as potato salad, baked beans, or carrot sticks.

It is time vegetarians strike back and demand equal time at the barbecue. On as well as off the grill, vegetables offer a tremendous spectrum of colors, flavors, textures and varieties and barbecuing seems to bring out the best of all this spectrum.

Onions turn out crunchy and sweet. Eggplant is creamy and mild. Zucchini retains its crisp character while green pepper becomes soft and mellow. Mushrooms remain firm and freshtasting while tomatoes soften and almost burst with flavor.

ADD TO THIS wealth of vegetables a platter of deviled eggs, a crusty loaf of bread, warmed on the side of the grill, some fresh fruit and cheese for dessert and a vegetarian feast is the result.

This delightful spread can even share the grill with meat, providing a peerless accompaniment to steaks, sausages, hamburgers, or whatever meat is being featured. Just be sure to allow 25 to 40 percent more coals than you would use for the meat alone.

The vegetables can be cooked while the fire gets going and should be coming off the fire just about the time the coals are ready for the meat.

The method for cooking the Charcoal-Broiled Vegetables is Marcella Hazan's. I have adapted it from her book, "The Classic Italian Cook, Book," which I would highly recommend to anyone interested in the cuisine of Ita-

The techniques, ingredients and wcipes in the book combine to preserve the freshness and individual character of the finest ingredients rather than masking them. Delightfully written, "The Classic Italian Cook Book" is both highly authentic and eminently usable, characteristics which often seem to be mutually exclusive in books on foreign

CHARCOAL-BROILED VEGETA-BLES

1 large flat Spanish onion

2 sweet green or red peppers

2 large, firm, ripe tomatoes, halved 1 medium eggplant, halved lengthwise

2 medium fresh, young, firm glossy 1/4 lb. very fresh and crisp mushrooms

Salt

Olive oil Crushed peppercorns

1 tsp. chopped parsley (optional) 1/8 tsp. chopped garlic (optional)

1/2 tsp. fine, dry, unflavored bread move the peppers from the grill and crumbs (optional)

Divide the onion in half horizontally. Do not cut off the point or the root. Without piercing the skin of the eggplant, make shallow cross-hatched cuts, spaced about 1 inch apart, in the flesh. Sprinkle liberally with salt and let stand at least 15 minutes. Rinse and pat dry. Cut the zucchini into lengthwise slices about % inch thick. Wipe the mushrooms clean with a damp cloth. Unless they and very small, detach the caps from the stems.

Light the fire. When the highest flames have died down, place the onion, cut side down, and the peppers on the grill. Turn the peppers as the skin chars (about 4 or 5 minutes per side) until all the skin in charred. Re-peel them while they are still hot. Cut them into 2-inch strips, place in a bowl and toss with 3 tablespoons of olive oil plus large pinches of salt and cracked peppercorns. When the cut side of the onion is charred, turn it over with a spatula, taking care not to separate the rings. Season each half with 1 tablespoon of olive and 1/2 teaspoon of salt. Move to the edge of the grill, making sure there is some burning charcoal un-

After about 20 minutes, the onion halves should be well charred on both sides. Scrape away part of the blackened surface and cut each half into 4

Add it to the bowl of peppers, tossing it with another pinch of salt and cracked pepper (The onion will be quite crunchy, which makes a nice contrast with the peppers, but it will also be very sweet, with no trace of sharpness.)

When you first turn the peppers, add the tomatoes, cut side down, to the grill. Turn when the flesh is partly charred. Season each half with 1/2 teaspoon of olive oil, a small pinch of salt, and the optional parsley, garlic, and bread crumbs and cook until they have shrunk by half and the skin is black-

Add the eggplant to the grill at the same time as the tomatoes. The cut side of each eggplant half should first be brushed with 1 tablespoon of olive oil. This cut side should face the fire and cook until it turns deep brown. It will become bitter if allowed to char.

Turn the eggplant over and season each half with another tablespoon of olive oil. From time to time, pour 1/2 teaspoon of oil in between the cuts. The eggplant is done when it is creamy-tender. If cooked longer, it will become

When the eggplant is nearly done, put the zucchini on the grill. Brown on one side; turn over and cook until done, 5 to 8 minutes. Remove to a shallow bowl and season with a large pinch of salt, pepper, and about 1/2 Tablespoon

When you turn the zucchini over, put the mushrooms on the grill. These take only about 1 minute to a side. Add them to the bowl of zucchini and season the same way. Makes 4 servings.

For a hearty meat and potatoes salad, try the Russian Beef Salad. Because it is made with leftover beef, it can represent a savings on the food bill.

RUSSIAN BEEF SALAD 3 cups julienne strips cooked beef (about 11/4 pounds) 3 medium potatoes

1 small onion, sliced in rings 34 cup mayonnaise

½ cup dairy sour cream 11/2 tsp. salt 1/4 tsp. pepper

Cook, chill and pare potatoes; cut in pieces. Drain beets thoroughly, pat dry with absorbent paper and cut in quarters. Separate onion slices into rings. Combine mayonnaise, sour cream, salt and pepper in a large bowl. Stir in beets. Lightly fold in beef strips, potatoes and onion rings. Chill. Makes six

Pork chops, pears make a tasty pair

Next time pork chops are planned for dinner, rely on fruit to make them special. Here's a suggestion for pairing

GOLDEN PEARS AND PORK CHOPS 1 can (29 oz.) pear halves

1/4 tsp. white pepper

1/2 cup white wine

2 tbsp. cider vinegar

Drain pear halves, reserving 3/4 cup syrup. Brown pork chops slowly on both sides in hot skillet, using a little fat trimmed with chops. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add pear syrup, wine, vinegar, brown sugar and apricots.

Cover and simmer 45 minutes. Arrange pear halves in skillet. Spoon glaze over pork chops and pear halves. Cover and simmer an additional 15 minutes or until chops are tender and pears are heated through, spooning glaze over pears and pork chops from time to time. Makes six servings.

Secret of super barbecued ribs is the sauce

The Fourth of July should, it seems, be celebrated with food that is all American, hot dogs, hamburgers and, of course, spare ribs. Except for the Chinese who do delicious things with them, the Americans are the only cooks who have done much with spareribs. And they have been favorites of ours for generations.

The Detroit area is fortunate that when southerners began migrating here to work in the auto factories, they brought the secrets of pit-cooking ribs and special sauces. Now there are a number of good rib places around including one, Tunnel Bar-B-Q, which has its only "southern connection" in the fact that it is south of Detroit in Windsor. Those ribs, however, are split cooked rather than pit cooked.

A few years ago on a visit to Durham, N.C., our host and hostess insisted we go to a barbecue house house which, they said, had the best barbecue anywhere. They didn't exaggerate.

The restaurant was on the outskirts of town and was busiest on fall Saturdays after football games. The cashier was set up just inside the front door and patrons paid for the fixed price dinner before being seated.

THE ROOM WAS quite large with picnic-style tables and benches. The tables were covered with red and white checkered tablecloths and food was brought in large bowls by a waiter who reminded me somehow of a porter on a

After about a half-hour of cooking time, start basting with whatever sauce is being used unless there is a high sugar content to the sauce. Then, wait until closer to the end of the cooking time as sugar burns easily.

Below are some sauce recipes you might like to try for spareribs this Fourth of July. Add coleslaw and a potato dish to round out the menu with your favorite rib go-withs and have a happy holiday.

LINDA DWYER Gianetti, who received her drama training as one of Gloria Logan's prodigies as a high school student at the Centennial Educational Park, is spending the summer in Saugatuck.

The Red Barn Theatre is back in business and Ken Stevens is producing three musicals starring Linda, her husband, Randy Gianetti. The season opens July 22 with "The Great American Backstage Musical," which will run through Aug. 3. The London Times called it "a little jewel" and the San Fransciso Chronicle referred to it as 'simply a delight.'

"Tuscaloosa's Calling Me, But I'm not Going" opens Aug. 4 and runs through Aug. 17. Linda did this one as a student at Eastern Michigan University and it was super. Whether you call it "The City," the "Big Apple," or "Gotham," there's something special about New York and this fabulous musical captures it all.

"Whispers in the Wind," which will run Aug. 19 through Aug. 31, is the third production in Music Carnival 1980. Tickets run from $4 and $5 for the Thursday matinees to $5.50 and

$6.50 for the Saturday evening perfor-

She expressed her thoughts in a let-

"The past 23 years have been more than just a job to me, it has been a way of life. I feel I have had something money could never buy.

"I am richer for the children that have touched my life, the parents who have shared their most precious possessions, the staff members who have been more than just co-workers but very good friends who have shown how much they care, and the administrators who have not just been 'the boss,' but good friends who have always been there when needed.

"They have shared the good times and the bad. "To these people, I want to say thank you for making my days with the Plymouth-Canton School District something to hold deep in my heart with love love and affection. I am most appreciative.

DEADLINE FOR registration for the Plymouth Symphony League round robin bridge is July 14. Play begins in the fall and persons can play as a single, in the doubles with a regular partner, or in the mixed doubles. Sessions are arranged for either daytime or evening play. Some women play with the women in a daytime group and with their husbands in the evening mixed doubles. After the prize money is taken out, all proceeds go to the support of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

The symphony bridge is a wonderful way for both newcomers and longtime residents to widen their acquaintances in the community and have a lot of fun in the process.

For more information or to sign up call Barbara Sprague, 455-5692 or, after 5 p.m., Mable Partain, 455-3663.

Solemnity of the occasion is reflected by Jennifer Smith of Canton, 4, a graduate of the Headstart program.

They combine birthday, graduation celebration

A 15th birthday party was part of the pils Learning Useful Skills) preschool end-of-the-year celebration for the Plymouth-Canton Head Start program. A morning of activities at Central Middle School culminated with a graduation ceremony for 4-year-olds, complete with certificates and mortarboards made by their mothers.

The 3-year-old Head Starters also visited school for Monday's party. They will graduate into the school program next year.

The mothers gathered to learn the results of a recruitment contest to register eligible children for next year's program. Mary Fritz, local Head Start director, presented the awards to the winning team captained by Pat Plaszewski. Special recognition also was given to mothers with the best attendance and the most volunteer hours.

Evelyn Courson won in both categories while Linda Brown, a two-year veteran, achieved the best attendance in two years. The mothers presented gifts of appreciation to teachers and staff.

A buffet, complete with birthday cake, concluded the festivities.

HEAD START mothers and 4-yearolds have been part of the PLUS (Pu-

Mothers and children come to school together. While the children are involved in their activities, mothers attend parent education classes where they learn how to carry over early learning skills at home.

The 3-year-olds are visited weekly by a home visitor who works with them on very early learning skills.

Head Start began 15 years ago as a project of President Lyndon Johnson's administration, funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity. Started as a summer program, Head Start has grown into nine-month programs serving seven million children.

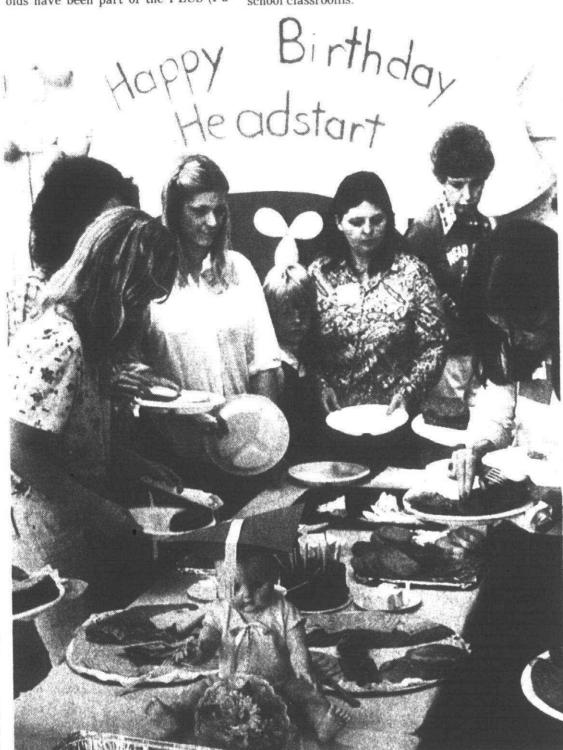

One of the strong components of the program is parent involvement and participation. Experts cite parent involvement as a key to gains made by both parents and children who have been in the progarm. Gains have been documented for later academic achievement and attendance in regular school classrooms.

Garrett Thompson, (from left) Christie Kenote, both of Canton Township, and Glen Melow of Plymouth were among the 4-year-olds who graduated. (Staff photos by Gary

Descendants of Germans call convention

A nationwide organization called the American Historial Society of Germans from Russia will hold its convention July 7-13 in the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn. Members of the group are descendants of Germans who settled uninhabited parts of Russia in the 18th and 19th centuries.

Eventually the Germans were forced from their homes by the Russians and sent to sections like Siberia, explains Max Muth of Livonia, a AHSGR member. Thousands, however, fled to America, many settling in the Midwest.

Kostishak-Lutey

Gail Kathleen Lutey and Peter George Kostishak were married June 28 in the garden of the Ann Arbor Women's City Club. Judge Karl V. Fink officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lutey of Leicester Street, Plymouth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Kostishak of Ann Arbor.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown. The softly shirred full skirt was worn over a hoop. Her fingertip veil was edged in chantilly lace and she carried a bouquet of ivory roses, pale peach lilies and forget-me-nots.

Carole Jean Lutey, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a fitted coral gown with a draped collar.

Bridesmaids were Kristyn Lutey and Nola Marie Lutey, sisters of the bride, and Mary Kostishak, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical peach gowns and carried peach and coral colored bouquets of tiger lilies, azaleas and fuschias. David Lady was best man. Groomsmen were all three brothers of the bridegroom, Paul, John and Tom Kostishak. Following the wedding reception in the Ann Arbor Women's City Club, the couple left for a Bermuda

Professor predicts

Big influx of immigrants

In the next 20 years, about half the increase in the U.S. population will be immigrants, says a Michigan State University professor.

William Lazer, an MSU marketing professor, predicts one of the biggest influxes of immigrants in the past 75 years. He was one of five professors who recently completed a project looking at what the country would be like in the year 2000.

Lazer estimates that about 13 million to 14 million immigrants will relocate in the U.S. by the year 2000, including about six million who will cross the border unauthorized. About five million "illegal immigrants" are now living in this country, he said.

The forecasters predict the official U.S. population, not including the 11 million illegal immigrants, will be 245 million by the year 2000, up from 220 million this year.

Hispanics, including the 114,000 Cubans who entered this country this year, will account for a major part of the immigration, say the forecasters, and Hispanics will become the largest minority in the country by 1990.

The immigrants will relocate mainly in the southwest and a few of the larger cities, says Lazer.

"It is quite possible that around the year 2000 Los Angeles could become the nation's largest city, and the sunbelt cities could account for seven of the top U.S. cities.

The face of America will change in at least one other significant way the population will be older will decline by 25 percent in the next 20 years, one of the sharpest and most sustained declines in our history, according to Lazer. The number of people 75 and older will increase by 50 percent. But the big boom will come in those 35 to 54 years old, whose numbers will also increase by 50 percent.

"In marketing terms, the middleagers represent years of the highest earning capacity for most adults," Lazer said. "These are the years when parents feel freer to indulge themselves."

And they will have money to spend, he added.

'Whereas the early 1970s began with good income increases and then fizzled, the 1980s are starting out weak and are expected to gain in strength over the decade and continue well into the 1990s.'

The forecasters predict that per capita real income will grow at an annual rate of about 2 percent.

About 50 percent of all wives in families now work, Lazer said. By 2000, 60 percent of the wives will work.

About 52 percent of all families will have incomes, in 1977 dollars, of more than $25,000, up from about 30 percent in 1980. About 10 percent of those families will have incomes of $50,000 and over, up from 3.6 percent this year. And, says Lazer, these families will include a substantial number of skilled blue colar workers.

"Despite this growth, the lower mid-

The number of 20 to 35-year-olds dle income groups, those in the $15,000 to $20,000 category, may feel more financially strapped than ever," Lazer said."Some other groups of society may not fare as well relatively as they did in the '50s, '60s, and '70s when certian unions won unprecendented gains for their members."

> While husband-wife working teams will see the greatest increase in earnings the percentage of husband-wife families will decline, the study pre-

Jack Nicholson overacts outrageously as man driven mad in Stanley Kubrick's horror film "The Shining."

Jack Nicholson hams up screen in 'The Shining'

Sometimes the specters walk at noon — in bright light, in spacious rooms. That's how Stanley Kubrick has shaped "The Shining"

He's taken Stephen King's novel of suspense and the supernatural and given it a powerful visual form.

Kubrick, who masterminded (2001" and "Clockwork Orange, as well as the epic but less successful "Barry Lyndon," is an innovator, not an imitator. His closest concession to the typical Gothic mode is a snow-shrouded hotel with one luminous yellow light slicing through the blue-gray night.

Otherwise, the film is amazingly original in its use of space, light and settings.

THE MOST STRIKING of these sets is the Overlook, conceived as a hotel of vast proportions on an isolated site in the Colorado

Jack Torrance (Jack Nicholson) has come to the hotel as winter caretaker and brought his wife Wendy (Shelley Duvall) and 7-yearold son Danny (Danny Lloyd) with him. Torrance smiles when the manager tells him that a previous caretaker went berserk and chopped up his wife and children, then killed himself.

No danger of that happening to him, Torrance affirms. After all, he's looking forward to the isolation so he can concentrate on his

Initially, the threesome seem quite normal as they settle in to their winter retreat. But the Overlook is a place where strange things happen, and people change. Every color, every piece of furniture, every lighting effect has been meticulously selected to contribute toward an atmosphere that becomes more and more omi-

"It's just the story of one man's family quietly going insane together," Kubrick told an interviewer. And that's just how Kubrick develops the story and builds suspense.

UNHURRIEDLY, piece by piece, a course of action is set into motion that seems inevitable. Torrance becomes short tempered, starts to drink, sees visions. Then a walloping blizzard takes hold and knocks down phone lines

Finally, Torrance completely isolates his family by cutting off all communications with the outside world. He disables the CB radio and the snowmobile, and the stage is set for the chilling

People who have read King's novel say they couldn't put it down; it was so engrossing. Kubrick's film has the same quality, yet it is not entirely satisfying.

For one thing, there are logical inconsistencies whichere puzzling, even in a film that deals with the supernatural. Torrance's escape from the hotel's bolted meat locker is one of these puzzles. Are we to assuem that a spirit released him, since the only people there, his wife and child, didn't?

The most disturbing quality about the film, however, is Jack Nicholson's performance. The exaggerated facial expressions resemble the overacting of silent screen stars.

AS THE MALEVOLENT psychotic, he's marvelous - a comic, demonic Lucifer. But as Jack Torrance before and during his disintegration, all that mugging and leering add up to an outrageously hammy performance that, at times, makes a serious film seem like camp.

For these reasons, "The Shining" is not "the ultimate horror film" as touted, but it's certainly a darn good one.

Recitals resume at Schoolcraft

The 13th season for Schoolcraft College summer music school faculty recitals starts Tuesday with an 8 p.m. performance in the Liberal Arts Theater on campus.

This first of three chamber music recitals for the summer will present music of the classic and modern periods with works by Mozart, Prokofiev, Ibert

Lillian and Leroy Fenstermacher, a husband and wife team playing violin and viola, will join faculty members in Mozart's G Minor String Quintet and Prokofiev's witty Overture on Hebrew Themes.

Guest pianist Fontaine Lang will join faculty members David Mariotti and Paul Ganson for Poulenc's Trio for Piano, Oboe and Bassoon. The faculty wind quintet will round out the evening with Ibert's Three Short Pieces.

Faculty performers in the chamber recital series are members of the college's music department, members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and respected jazz musicians from the metropolitan area.

The second recital, on July 8, will be devoted to the chamber music of Schoolcraft's resident composer, Robert W. Jones.

General admission to the recitals is $2 ($1 for senior citizens). The college is on Haggerty north of Six Mile Road.

How safe is it to travel in Northern Ireland? Six travel writers, whose judgment I trust, recently gave me an excited and enthusiastic endorsement of it as an upcoming travel destination. Their advice is: avoid Belfast, but enjoy a few days in the rest of Northern Ireland. Belfast has the reputation of being a grimy working man's city with little to attract the tourist. Most of the working class combatants in the Irish army live in Belfast.

If it wasn't such a northern thing to do, I would burst into the music of 'Yankee Doodle Dandy" when I take this turn onto Highway 20 at Charlottesville, Va.

It doesn't fit the mood of the place at all, but this road could be paved with stars and stripes and lit by Fourth of July firecrackers because it's so historically American.

Once you have passed the West Virginia Bicentennial Center, near the intersection, you see the signs to the Michie Tavern, Monticello and Ashlawn.

The Michie Tavern was built by Patrick Henry's father in the 18th century and moved the few miles to its present location in 1928.

Monticello, literally "little mountain," is the grand house designed and lived in by Thomas Jefferson. Ashlawn, on the next hill, was the home of James There's more, of course, downhill in historic Charlottesville. But this little corner of Augusta country seems quite appropriate effough for a traveler trying to celebrate Independence Day.

MICHIE TAVERN looms in whitewashed logs and white clapboard (Virginians pronounce it clabb'd) at the top of a hill overlooking the city. It is at a bend of the road that leads to Monticel-

The old tavern itself is a museum, and the higher of the two buildings. Here you can see what the life of a rural tavern must have been like 200

Social occasions were held in the upstairs room. The waltz is said to have been danced here for the first time in the united Stsates, shocking Virginians.

Downstairs, on either side of the hall, are the men's sleeping room and the women's sleeping room. Guests used these rooms to freshen up before a major social event. Overnight guests slept here - men on one side, women on the other - and nobody counted how many slept together in one bed, or how many bodies were on the floor

Downhill, past the gift shop, a steady stream of lunchtime customers frequent the buffet in the log house that was once a slave house. The standard fare of chicken, ham and other southern favorites is carried to tables under the low hand-cut beams, or, in good weather, out on the terraces and porches that overlook the downhill cemetery and the town. Only lunch is served at Michie Tavern.

DOWN THE HIGHWAY at Monticello, Thomas Jefferson's plantation home sits on a high hill overlooking the city. I was disappointed by the approach: Park your car and take a bus uphill to the front door, which is not nearly as imposing as the photographs we have all seen of this historic building.

A quick trip to the other side of the house, the west garden, puts the house back in its place as a breathtaking experience. Jefferson pioneered architectural and other features in this house.

Outbuildings were traditionally scattered in ugly array around a great house in those days. Jefferson built them under a high brick walkway on either side of the main house.

Inside the front door, in the airy hall, a seven-day clock still keeps time, one segment dropping below the floor each day. There are many interesting features, but one of the most startling is the air tunnel hidden in the garden out-

Chamber pots were used in the house, attached to a conveyor rope and pulled outside through the air tunnel by a slave, who then dumped them. The slave houses that once stood just below the lip of the hill are now gone.

You can follow that hill down to the parking lot, past Jefferson's grave. The whole visit is an impressive experience for travelers.

ASHLAWN, WHICH James Monroe built with Jefferson's help, is simpler and only now being thoroughly restored to authentic form.

Monroe built outbuildings and two rooms here, all that he could afford when Jefferson convinced him to start a plantation on the hill adjacent to

Over a period of 20 years, he added extensively to the house, bringing in French furniture and building walkways and gardens. It is certainly worth a visit, but it does not compare to Monticello, either in structural or historical interest.

Monroe never lived here after he was president.

IF YOU NEED any additional reason for visiting this little patch of America on the weekend that celebrates Independence Day, think of this:

Both Thomas Jefferson and James monroe died on the Fourth of July. Jefferson in 1826 and Monroe in 1831.

Canton Little Caesars wins Mack doubleheader

Canton Little Caesars continues to roll in the Redford-Adray Connie Mack Baseball League

Coach Fred Crissey's squad made it seven in a row Thursday at home by sweeping a doubleheader from Bishop Borgess, 11-2 and 7-2.

Lanky lefthander Dan Funkhouser pitched Canton to the win in the opener with relief help from Jack Ford. Funkhouser hurled the first five innings. He allowed two runs on five hits and struck out three. Ford tossed two scoreless innings to earn the save.

The winners banged out 14 hits. Second baseman Steve Schumacher continued his hot hitting. He went 3for-3. Shortstop Al Lipinski and catcher Frank McMurray each added two hits.

Lipinski drove home two runs as did first baseman Dave Meador and outfielder Danny Smith.

inning and added two more in the second. Caesars blew it wide open in the third with five runs.

The second game was closer than the score indicated.

Down 2-1 in the top of the seventh, 'Funkhouser did a fine job.'

- Canton coach Fred Crissey

Canton exploded for six runs to put the game away. Meador started the inning by reaching base on an infield error. JEFF STEMBERGER walked and Don Dreher beat out an infield hit to load the bases. Smith then came through with a two-run single to make Canton scored three times in the first it 3-2. Billy Hanis' perfect suicide squeeze bunt brought home Dreher.

McMurray then blasted a three-run homer to complete the inning.

Smith, who had three RBIs, homered in the second inning to tie it up at 1-all. Funkhouser pitched the first four innings and was cruising along until the fifth when he had to be removed after a line drive bounced off his arm.

Dave Malek came on the next two innings in relief to pick up the win. Lipinski held Borgess scoreless in the final inning to gain the save.

"Both games were played in hot weather," said Crissey, whose team leads the league with a 7-0 mark. "Funkhouser did a fine job. He got hit on the arm and had to be taken out. He was throwing well. It's nothing serious.

Funkhouser is 3-0 for the summer.

Salem Elks romp

The Plymouth Salem Elks, behind the one-hit pitching of righthander John Penders, ripped Redford Union, 18-3, in a Redford-Adray Connie Mack Baseball League game Thursday night. "John did a super job," said Elks coach Ben Wilcox. "To date this was his best outing."

Penders allowed his only hit in the first inning when Tim Holme doubled. The Salem righthander struck out eight and walked four in five innings.

The was called by game umpires because of the league mercy rule. The Elks held more than a 10-run lead after five complete innings.

Salem benefitted from 13 walks. But the Elks also hit with authority, collecting 12 safeties.

Holme, who started for RU, suffered the loss.

Outfielder Greg Etienne had two singles which produced four runs. Catcher Dave Slavin had a double and two-run homer in the second in-Second baseman Mitch Wilcox walked three times, had two hits and scored four runs. Teammates Kevin Merrilland Brian Lewandowski also added two hits.

JEFF POWERS Ohio bound

Jeff Powers, a standout on the Plymouth Salem wrestling team last winter, has signed a letter-ofintent with Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio.

He is one of three wrestling recruits signed recently by head coach

Pete Riesen. Powers, who will also play football, won five letters during his high school career. During his senior year, he was captain of the football and wrestling squads.

A two-time All-Suburban Eight League selection in football, Powers captured league and regional mat titles last season in the 190-pound weight class.

He finished fourth overall in the Class A state championships held at Lansing Eastern and owned a record of 40-6 under coach Ron Powers hold the Salem season

The old guard continues to drift

Chris Babler, varsity boys' basketball coach at Garden City West for 13 seasons, resigned his coaching position

last week when he accepted a new job

Babler, previously a special education teacher at West, said his decision to go after an administrative job was sudden. "I thought it was time for a new challenge," Babler said. "It was a quick thing. Two weeks ago, I decided to go for it and it happened.'

Since coaching positions are part of the Garden City Education Association contract and Babler is now working with an administrative contract, he could no longer continue to coach when he accepted the new job.

Babler said that he probably would not have resigned his basketball job when accepting the assistant principalship if he did not have to.

Babler resigns basketball post

As an indication of how quickly events transpired, Babler had set up West's summer basketball program and a clinic up north later this summer fully expecting to take part.

"It (basketball) was not a situation I wanted to get out of," said Babler. "I had a good nucleus (of returning players) and I was kind of looking forward to it (1980-81 season).'

Babler had a most successful coaching career.

During his first nine years as varsity coach, 1967-1976, West won five Tri-River League championships and finished second the other four occasions. Babler's overall career record was 167-93, with 51 of the losses coming the past four years.

Two of his teams put together unblemished 14-0 conference records the 1969-70 squad which featured Rick Drewitz and the 1975-76 crew led by Dave Niles and Mike Susko.

Babler said that among his biggest thrills in coaching was forging a 10game winning streak during his first season after getting off to a slow start.

Defeating Benton Harbor in the quarterfinals of the Class A state tournament in 1970 and playing Pontiac Central at Jenison Fieldhouse in the state semifinals the same year are also fond memories.

"I enjoyed all the teams I ever had, even the bad ones," said Babler. The 1976-77 aggregation had a record of 1-19, the worst ever posted by a Bablercoached team at West.

The greatest rewards of coaching, Babler said, "is to know young men on a personal basis and see them in trying times, to see them tested and see what they're made of.

"Pulling together and getting the job done," were also important, he added. During his Garden City teaching career, Babler has also coached golf and assisted with the football and track

DROPP HAS enjoyed a great deal of coaching success at West in his own right, especially on the baseball field. Dropp has recorded 202 career victories as West's only baseball coach.

Dropp said he left his JV post in the mid '70s because he felt he was at the top of his game after compiling records of 16-4 and 17-3 and had nowhere to go. Babler, at the time, was enjoying success and gave no indication that he was going to step down in the near fu-

Dropp also said he was getting tired of the early evening practice hours the JV was scheduled because the varsity had prime afterschool time.

He said that he jumped at the chance to get into basketball again.

Dropp said that he will probably give up his baseball position due to the great amount of work that would be involved coaching basketball in winter, baseball in spring and directing a summer basketball program. However, he did not close the door entirely. "When you've been the only coach they've had (baseball), it's kind of hard to give it up."

Dropp currently teaches physical education at West.

Cage camp set

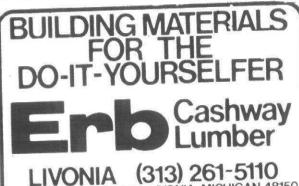

Jim Boyce and his staff is offering a basketball day camp for youngsters ages 9-17 at Eastern Michigan University in late July.

Each camp session (July 21-25 and July 28-Aug. 1) runs from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday at Bowen Fieldhouse.

The cost is $65 per person. A deposit of $25 is required upon application. Lunch each day will be provided in the EMU Dining Commons. Youngsters will be provided a camp T-shirt.

Camp participants must bring gym shoes, socks, athletic supporter, gym shorts and towel.

After 21 years of bowling under the pressure of high powered competition in Detroit's top all-star leagues, Tom McKay, executive secretary of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association, is retiring to the more placid atmosphere of the senior house leagues.

When the sponsors of the Goebel team which he captained for the past several years decided to withdraw from the all-star leagues, Tom figured it was time for him to leave,

"I guess I am about over the hill." he grinned at the annual awards dinner of the association, Thursday evening, "and now I can have fun bowling with my son in the house

Aside from bowling in the league, Tom also was the league secretary and he is getting out from under that pressure, too.

Tom admits that he enjoyed the all-star competition but now feels that it is time for him to step aside and give some of the younger fellows a chance.

One of the things he is most proud of as a member of the Goebel team is the fact that he and his mates raised more than $150,000 foe the Leader Dog program during the past three years. Because of such things as this, Tom will be sorely missed when the firing starts next month in the top flight loops at Thunderbowl in Allen Park and the Bonanza Classic at Orchard Lanes in Pontiac.

RICHARD WALTERS, one of the quieter tenpin officials was elevated to the presidency of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association at the annual ceremonies Thursday night.

HIs elevation to the presidency came after his years of service as a

DESPITE THE HOT WEATHER, youngsters are turning out in large numbers for the beginners classes for the those between the ages of three and six years at Merri-Bowl.

Inaugurated a month ago as an experiment, the classes are proving one of the most popular in years. For instance, last Thursday morning 94 of these toddlers joined their mothers on the lanes. This was an increase of almost 100 per cent from opening day.

THERE WAS an unusual combination on the approaches at Woodland Lanes over the weekend.

Two soccer teams from Scotland, which were in Livonia to compete in the Wolverine Soccer program, had never seen the game. They were exposed to bowling as part of their relaxation from the soccer tourna-

SCORES CONTINUE in the higher brackets at Westland Bowl. In the Monday men's league, Bob Baker set the pace with a series that included a 232 game. High single honors went to Ray Tank who posted a 246 in 583.

In the ladies league, Darlene Minch was tops with a 220 in 592.

PAT NOVATNY put on quite a show in the teen league at Merri-Bowl that earned him a high place among the scoring leaders. He linked games of 236, 230 and 202 for a 668 series. His nearest rival was John Engelerdtson who had a 215 in 583. In other high singles games, Kevin Reetz fired a 213 and Dave Roberts had a 214.

Defensive slips hurt on diamond

Giving an opponent four outs during an inning through misplays and errors instead of the usual three frequently leads to big baseball trouble.

Both Westland and Wendy's found that out and lost games last week in the Livonia Adray League. Westland fell to Redford, 6-2.

In the first inning, after the first two Redford batters had been retired, Dave Weise struck out on a curve that broke into the dirt. But wait. Bob Fenech, Westland's catcher, could not handle the pitch and Weise safely reached first base. Jim Vincentini, Redford's next batter, sent Weise home with a double single. Redford added its other four runs during the third inning. Weise walked, Vincentini stroked another double, Don Dreher walked, Gary Lewandowski and Kirk Hunter followed with an RBI-doubled and Don Petersen singled.

Matt Etienne threw a one-hitter for Redford. He struck out seven and issued two walks.

Steve Raymond accounted for Westland's only hit - a lead-off single in the second inning.

Tom Nolff, who worked 21/3 innings on the mound for Westland, was tagged with the loss. Brad George pitched the rest of the way.

Vincentini and Petersen each collected a pair of hits for Redford, which totaled six hits.

WENDY'S LOST to Waterford Auto Workers Insurance (AWI) 7-1. The contest was actually much closer than the final score may have indicated.

AWI led 2-0 with two out and none on in the sixth inning. Steve Nowak, Wendy's third baseman, then muffed a ground ball that would have been the third out of the inning.

AWI went on from there and scored five runs that inning to break the game wide open.

Wendy's notched its lone run during the seventh inning. Gary DeYonker picked up the RBI when grounding into a fielder's choice.

Paul Assenmacher was the losing pitcher. Mark Daniel gained the win. Wendy's collected only four hits during the contest.

LIVONIA ADRAY blanked Griffin Griffin Sport Shop, 3-0.

Art Wendt was the winning pitcher. The righthander threw the ball hard but not always over the plate. He struck out 10, walked eight and gave up only one hit.

John Topalian, who pitched the first four innings for Griffin, took the loss. Mark Gribeck hurled three innings for Jim Wilson scored Livonia's first run in the opening inning on a wild pitch. Livonia added two more runs during the seventh inning, the first scoring on an error, the second on an RBI-single by Jeff Sergison.

The victors carved seven hits, including three singles by Jeff Sergison and a pair of singles by Jim Ross.

Roller skating marathon's staged for 'Jerry's kids'

A roller skating marathon for muscular dystrophy last week attracted quite a few Plymouth and Canton residents.

In all some 350 skaters from throughout the western suburbs skated a total of 16 hours to raise more than $12,000 for muscular dystrophy. The fund-raiser was held in Riverside Arena on Plymouth Road in Livonia. Jeannie Climie, who placed second in individual fund-raising efforts last year at the skate-athon, collected more than $2,000 this year from Plymouth businesses,

The $12,000 earned represents funds turned in on the day of the skate-a-thon, June 25. More money will be turned in later as participants collect contributions from persons making pledges.

The total amount raised will be turned in during Jerry Lewis's Labor Day television marathon fundraiser hosted in this area by Joe Glover.

NOTICE OF INTENTION OF ENTERING INTO TAX-SUPPORTED CONTRACT OF LEASE AND OF RIGHT TO PETITION FOR REFERENDUM THEREON

TO THE TAXPAYERS AND ELECTORS OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the City of Plymouth has approved and executed a Full Faith and Credit General Obligation Contract of Lease with the City of Plymouth Municipal Building Authority pursuant to Act No. 31, Public Acts of Michigan, 1948 (First Extra Session), as amended. Such Contract provides, among other things, that said Building Authority will construct a building to house court facilities for District Court No. 35 and WILL ISSUE ITS BONDS TO FINANCE THE ESTIMATED COST OF THE SAME FOR SAID CITY IN THE PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF $1,385,000. Said bonds will mature serially from 1982 to 2007, inclusive, or such other as the Authority may fix with approval of the City and will bear interest not exceeding 10% per annum on the outstanding principal balance or such higher rate of interest as may be permitted by law at the time of issuance. The Contract further provides that the City will lease the building and site from the Building Authority and WILL PAY AS RENTAL TO THE BUILDING AUTHORITY ALL SUMS NECESSARY TO RETIRE THE PRINCIPAL OF AND INTEREST ON THE BONDS, TOGETHER WITH ALL COSTS OF OPERATING AND MAINTAIN-ING THE BUILDINGS AND SITE AND ALL COSTS of said Building Authority in connection therewith, regardless of whether the improvements are completed or the buildings are tenantable. The principal amount to be borrowed by the Building Authority will be indebtedness of the City for purposes of City debt limitations, and said principal amount, together with the City's rental obligation for payment thereof, may be increased to cover increased costs of the facilities.

CITY'S CONTRACT OBLIGATION

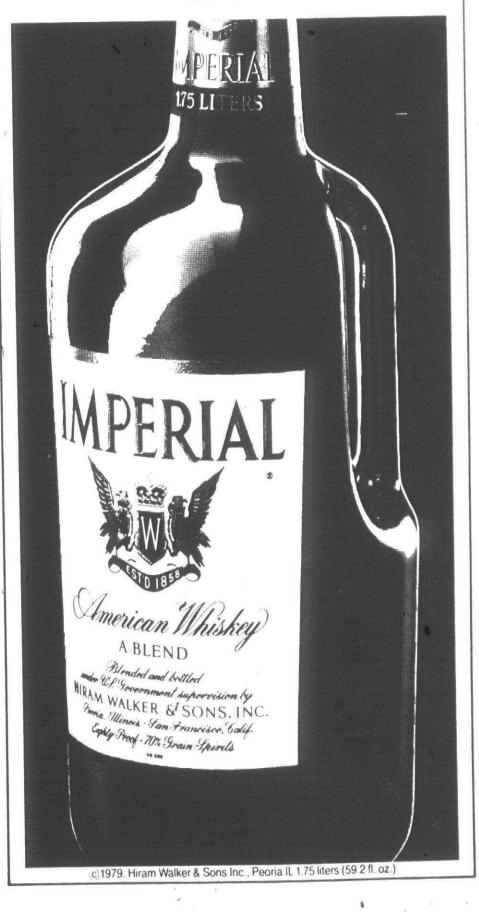

By virtue of said contract and act, all of the City's required payments to the building authority will be full faith and credit general obligations of the City payable from any available funds of the City, and the City will be required to levy ad valorem taxes on all taxable property within its boundaries to the extent necessary to make the payments required to retire the bonds and interest thereon, if such other funds for that purpose are not available. Such levy, however, must be within existing statutory and constitutional limitations unless a referendum petition is filed and the contract is approved by the electors, in which case the tax levies will not be subject to a limitation as to rate or amount.

The Contract shall become effective without vote of the electors of the City, as permitted by law, upon the expiration of 45 days following the date of publication of this notice, unless a petition requesting an election on the question of whether the contract should be effective, signed by not less than 10% of the registered electors of the City, is filed with the City Clerk within that period. If such petition is filed, the Contract shall not be effective without an approving vote by a majority of electors of the City voting on the question.

This Notice is given pursuant to the requirements of Section 8(b) of the aforesaid Act 31, as amended. Further information concerning the details of said Contract, the facilities being financed and the matters set out in this Notice may be secured from the City Clerk's office. A copy of said Contract is on file in the office of the City Clerk for public inspection.

If you're planning to tow a trailer on a vacation trip this summer, you won't be alone. Trailer towing has increased 400 percent in the past 10 years.

But you may be alone - all alone - if your car breaks down in the boondocks. The Consumer Automotive Advisory Council of Superior Mufflers suggests that you minimize this danger by properly servicing and equipping your car before hooking up that trailer.

Here are some of the things to be checked:

· Brakes. Is the lining thick enough for a season of driving? Are components completely leak-free? Is pedal pressure solid without sponginess, and is fluid up to the mark?

· Transmission. Is fluid level correct? Does the car shift at correct speeds without lag or crratic performance? Are U-joints quiet? · Tires. Are treads wearing evenly? Any cracks or cuts in the treads or sidewalls? Adequate size for load? More than 1/16th inch of tread left? · Cooling system. If it is approaching two years since the last cooling system service, it's a good idea to have the system flushed and replace the antifreeze coolant. A 50 percent solution is recommended. This will insure a margin of safety in terms of boil-over protection.

 Under-hood fittings. Are hoses and fittings leakfree? No sponginess? Are fanbelts tight and in good condition? Are thermostat and water pump working properly?

 Lights. All operative, including signal lights? Taillight lenses in good condition? Extra fuses in the glovebox?

· Shock absorbers and suspension. Any leakage from the shocks? Springs sagging from old age? · Wheel alignment. Had it checked lately? How about wheel balancing?

· Engine. Before an extended drive, the engine should be tuned. This is especially important under heavier load conditions when you need all the power you can get. Check the mileage since your last lube and oil and filter change, too.
