"The best benefit of that program is that each year you have to look at your whole priorities and see if they are still there," said Kearney. He said he would offer incentives such as free utility installation and access to transportation such as rail lines and paved roads. He also favors longterm leases on township-owned, industrial parcels.

Kearney said that would give the township fixed, reliable income from the property.

He favors farmland preservation and says farmers "need help."

Kearney believes farmers are caught in a crunch between high taxes and low profit on their produce. They also are located in a permanent agricultural zoning classification.

Culbert said the water was offered primarily to residents who use electric pumps to obtain their drinking water.

'Reagan administration would benefit suburbs'

By LEONARD POGER

How will the suburbs be affected by a Ronald Reagan administration?

There will be more help through new jobs and improved business and income

Senior citizens, accounting for a larger share of the suburban population, will also know that their fixed income dollars will be protected from inflation and potential income tax rates.

That was the opinion of a congressman who helped organized two years

EACH SUPERVISORS candidate was asked three questions and given a miximum of 150 words to answer.

1. In the next four years, what are your priorities for Canton Township?

BARNETTE: My main goal is to your priorities for Canton Township? oring strong leadership to Canton. In the last two years I have seen this township continuously going down hill.

'CULBERT: The most important priority is increasing the industrial tax base. My second priority is to address the overwhelming recreational needs of township residents. In all cases, government should be alert for ways of being more economical and more effi-

GREENSTEIN: Provide strong leadership in cutting government spending, government control and interference in private lives of citizens and business, finalize farmland and open space preservation, stop rising property taxes in Canton, guarantee the financial integrity of the township and provide for proper growth controls.

POOLE: Economy, people, image, ecology. Change treasurer structure costing taxpayers $210,000 yearly. Reduce outlandish legal costs. Review excess profits by township. Change embarrassment to pride for being Cantonite. Change image of hick town run by village idiots. Respect for one another's opinions. Change building code to alleviate flooding. Free department heads from political pressure. Standard, consistent application of ordinances. Consider public service section for police, fire and building depart-

STEIN: In my past term of office as Canton Township supervisor, I initiated the studies for land use, growth control, sign and berm use and industrial, commercial enterprise. These studies along with my experience would be used efficiently and economically to manage Canton Township. Proper and logical management is my goal and objective.

2. What methods would you pursue to broaden Canton Township's tax base?

Barnette: As a business man in Canton, I foresee the need for more industry and small businesses. The present leadership has permitted mismanagement of funds, such as all department heads receiving raises anywhere from 2,000 - 11,500 within two years.

CULBERT: I would follow through on the existing industrial development programs - Haggerty Road and Dye Brothers areas. At some time, we should hire an industrial coordinator, whose job is to aggressively seek industry. This shouldn't be done until Haggerty road is paved (next year). I'd also continue to use the Economic Development Corp. and commercial/industrial study committee; and would give tax abatements with certain industries.

GREENSTEIN: Develop large farm market with wholesale, retail, warehousing and specialty businesses, properly market our vast industrial area and develop other nonhomeowner methods of tax income. Streamline ordinances to allow fast, efficient review of industrial site plans and place substantial effort to acquire industrial tax

POOLE: Conducive atmosphere for business - (Lost $50,000 in new businesses.) Receive what we expect stringent but reasonable. Stop national corporations and speculators from making money at taxpayer expense. One $300,000 corporation was hot in tax book. Another was valued at $24,000, a third was taxed $924.31 -

The League of Women Voters of problem, loses approximately $400,000 yearly. Industrial corridor utilizing I-(LWV) recently posed three questions 275; stop 40 percent pay raises for elected officials.

STEIN: I would immediately begin to develop township owned industrial property and encourage industry to locate in Canton. I would offer financing through the Economic Development Corporation as an incentive.

3. What resources would you utilize to shape Canton Township's identity?

BARNETTE: Every city has its shopping malls, but what if Canton Township could be know for having its own recreation mall with every sort of recreation under one roof, such as theater, dancing, bowling, tennis, racket ball, swimming, etc. I feel it would be a special place for young and old and also would bring in more revenue.

CULBERT: The most important way to shape Canton's identity is to create a downtown area. This entails relying on the planning department and planning commission to gather citizen input and make recommendations. The active promotion of industry would also aid indentity. GREENSTEIN: Canton's identity can only be established by preserving the only real farmland left in Wayne County; by a large and successful farmer's market complex, cleaner and larger than in Detroit, and by a "towncenter" which must be developed around the Ford Road and Canton Center Road areas. Significant identity can also be achieved by the township backing and facilitating township annual POOLE: No more politicians' relatives appointed to vacancies. Consider architectural control committee. Count all employees Review all personnel and administrative policies. Establish permanent farmers market.

STEIN: My experience as former Canton Township supervisor and past chairman of the Economic Development Corporation can be utilized along with community leaders and interested Canton citizens to promote the full potential of Canton's identity. I have lived here for many years and for good reason. Canton is beautiful.

THE FOLLOWING are treasurer candidate responses to LWV question-

1. In the next four years, what are

BROWN: Develop and implement a sound basic financial plan to insure, with continuity, that the basic needs are not vulnerable to fluctuations in revenue levels. Develop an extensive list of ranked priorities (based on some form of citizen imput - not what Jerry wants) and proceed to accomplish that list on a funds available basis. A personal priority to develop up-to-the-minute financial position information, available to all, so that there are no financial surprises.

FALKIEWICZ: Develop a governmental framework which is organized, responsive to constituent needs and run in a more professional manner. Cut spending by not acting hastily on financial matters, improving our cash management program, follow proper bidding procedures and newly established purchasing procedures, recognize our needs, establish prorities, and use "common sense." Expand our recreation facilities and program. Final resolution of the farmland preservation program. Improve Canton's political image. Establish long-term goals to provide direction for Canton's future. Develop a comprehensive emergency prepardness program. Road and water/sewer improvements.

KNASIAK: Restore the community confidence in elected officials by providing them with a qualified professional who is willing to place a personal moratorium on his own professional career to serve his community. Adhere to community needs for better recreational facilities, equalized tax growth, generate business and industrial gowth, restrain unnecessary spending. Formulate controls, policies and procedures to be followed in township offices and departments which is an absolute necessity to maintain and lower administrative costs.

2. What methods would you pursue to broaden Canton Township's tax base?

BROWN: Canton's geographic position, with good access to I-275, should lend itself to future industrial growth. This would lessen the financial burden on the homeowner-taxpayer. I believe we should further develop an industrial commission, funded sufficiently to be effective. We must create an atmosphere that the industrial developers feel that Canton is a good place to locate and that they be assured of a feeling of mutual respect, in that, if they unhold their responsibilities to the community, the community will unhold its responsibilities to them. FALKIEWICZ: Encourage development of a strong commercial industrial base. Many resources are available but there must be good coordination between all committees. (E.D.C.) commerical and industrial committe, Dept. of Commerce, etc.) and the town-

KNASIAK: A graduated property tax program to enhance new business and industry growth. Allow tax credits for existing business and industry expansions which would interject employment and growth in the community.

3. What resources would you utilize to shape Canton Township's identity?

BROWN: There is no way I can visualize, to create an overnight "identity" for Canton. I do believe that if sound planning is used to insure that Canton is a good place to live, work, shop, play, and raise children, that a very favorable identity will follow. Recently a "Ford Road downtown" was proposed. Properly implemented, a move in this direction may also aid in our "identi-

FALKIEWICZ: People are Canton's best resources. Increased civic pride in our community can be achieved by greater involvement, commitments

KNASIAK: Demonstrate expertise in efficient spending habits and effective decision making, suppress property tax expansion, enforce completion and satisfaction of development agreements, insure that development does not detract from the community and/or surrounding areas of the residents in the community, and promote citizen involvement in the community.

TRUSTEE candidate responses to LWV questionnaire.

1. In the next four years, what are your priorities for Canton Township?

BENNETT: The top priorities are fire and police protection. Funding should assure adequate protection. Following priorities are DPW areas and development of recreational facilities. The recreation department should be allowed to recycle the funds it generates back to recreation. Farming, as a substantial industry, should be given full help and cooperation.

BODENMILLER: An equitable farmland preservation progarm, a successful farmer's market, develop a community identity, encourage industrial growth and a homeowner's association council and more interaction between businesses and the township.

BORDINE: My priorities in the next four years for Canton Township would be; lower tax on farmland for fulltime farmers, no school tax for senior citizens who have lived here over 10 years, more housing for senor citizens, acquire a township manager, encourage industrial and commercial development, realign the ordinance department and hire a larger police force to carry out ordinance violations. Then, the question of carrying guns would be eliminated.

We should also have ball diamonds and ice rinks, but nothing elaborate, and activities for teens and pre-teens.

BOWERMAN: As bad as things seem it is our first priority to keep our heads up and our community moving forbroaden the tax base and provide jobs, provide a desirable commercial setting, provide leisure time recreational activities for all residents, increase professionalism and responsibility at township board meetings, provide funding to the farmland preservation program to preserve its integrity, and cut township legal expenses.

BRIDENTHAL: Lower taxes, improve tax base, recreation programs, work with police and fire departments, and harmony in the township.

DALEY: Diversified industrial and commercial development is needed to equalize tax base. Encourage private recreational facilities. Improve public recreational facilities. Acquire park sites for future before none are left. Revise ordinances proven cost - exorbitant or impractical. Plan for the future elderly housing. Improve transportation services. Develop a practical growth management program. Resolve the farmland issue permanently. Develop a reputation that Canton is a good place to locate.

DINGELDEY: Taxes: To untilize prime industrial land, to obtain a diversified tax base. Recreation: To maintain and introduce new programs. Roads: To continually apply strenuous pressure to Wayne County to maintain county roads in Canton. To be totally open and accountable to the citizens via township hall. Above all, to be an independent vote on the board, stressing professionalism.

HAMANN: Expand Canton's tax base, have residents resolve whether they're willing to fund farmland preservation, hire a township manager, disarm the ordinace officers (would not take actions which needlessly expose Canton to tremendous liability) provide adequate public services, have a township board willing and able to work to-

LARSON: During the next four years the structure of the government itself must be looked at. Canton has grown rapidly and with it, the departments that provide services to the public. The objectives is not to grow larger but to become more productive and more efficient. Individual programs that are important are farmland preservation, recreation (when the economy improves), and developing a better tax

NEIHENGEN: Implement farmland preservation with various equity options. Selectively recruit environmentally safe industry. Redirect revenue sharing funds into recreation and farmland preservation. Investigate cost of forming Canton road commission. Establish regional Canton farm market. Strengthen present and future Canton businesses with adequate market research. Nurture plans for a downtown Canton; provide pedestrian accessibili-

PADGET: Development of recreational lands, farmland preservation, and industrial development should be joint priorities. Industrial and commercial tax base provides dollars to develop strong programs in areas such as recreation. Other concerns are: full exploration of a manager form of government: the creation of a responsive government which treats all citizens and interests with respect and dignity; and ton's desire to attract quality industrial preservation of buildings representing our historical heritage.

QUICK: Broaden Canton's tax base. Have a complete farm land preservation program in the works. Complete recreation program so residents of Canton would not have to ge elsewhere for their recreational activities. A township board that works together in a constructive manner to get the job done, rather than spend countless hours wisecracking and arguing with the people who make presentations to them.

ROBERTS: Property tax relief. Clean industry. Water and sewage rates. Road improvements. Improve recreation facilities. Police-Fire Dept. betterment. Senior citizens betterment. Mobile home park betterment.

SCHAETZL: There are several critical issues facing Canton in the next several years. Foremost is the lack of industrial development. Additional issues include reduced commercial development; more recreational areas to support a population approaching 60,000; construct essential roads; lessen traffic congestion; improve fiscal responsibility; and restrain iordinate residential growth.

2. What methods would you pursue to broaden Canton Township's tax base?

BENNETT: The township must reverse the negative business climate and attitude before a successful tax base can be built. My solution includes greeting potential residential and industrial developers with respect and dignity. Ordinances should be purposeful and fair. Others should be eliminated. Developers must build in compliance to Canton's ordinances.

BODENMILLER: Industry should be of vital concern to the residents of Canton. If done properly, there would be a lessening of the tax burden for the homeowner. It is of the utmost importance that the township officials and the commerical-industrial committee meet with leading industrialists in the area to map out a strategy which would be benificial to the township and BORDINE: Give incentitives to industrial and commercial establishments by relaxing some of the strict ordinances (sign, berm) and have an industrial complex formed.

BOWERMAN: Agressive public relations. Advertising in brochures, trade and business journals. And adopting a positive community and township ward. We must develop industry to board attitude toward new industrial and commercial ventures BRIDENTHAL: Canton should welcome big business and industry rather than give them a hard time and make some concessions where necessary to bring business into Canton DALEY: Participate in extension of utilities in industrial areas as was done several years ago on Ronda Drive. In order to reap benefits, you have to invest. Improve roads in industrial areas. Corrdinator needed to promote com-

DINGELDEY: Innitiate a concentrated effort of the entire board to pursue, promote, and encourage industrial and commercial development.

HAMANN: Use Canton's geographic location close to the expressway to attract and promote industrial and commercial development do not allow down-zoning for heavy industrial land (heavy industrial iand is most profitable to township), heavily publicize Can-and commercial developments.

LARSON: If Canton is really interested in bringing in more business, both commercial and industrial, it means sacrifices. Someone will have a plant or store next to them instead of another subdivision. If we are to attract new business (and I believe we should), the next administration must hire a professional full time to sell Canton to prospective businessmen.

NEIGENGEN: Develop concrete economic development strategy in conjunction with local universities, rather than with costly consultants. Coordinate industrial recruitment with longrange township goals. Prod Wayne County to finalize assessment district designations for Haggerty Road paving. Hire industrial coordinator.

PADGET: Create a positive industrial growth atmosphere to replace current negative attitudes. Without a better industrial and commercial tax base, Canton faces economic disaster in the future. Facilities, services, and lands are available. EDC fees, plus additional funding, should be made available for advertising compaigns, brochures, and other selling efforts to attract industrial developers

QUICK: Invite business and industry to Canton and work with the representatives of the businesses, to show them that Canton has what they want, show them how the ordinances can be made to work for them (primarily the sign ordinance) and the help and cooperation they can get from the township of-

ROBERTS: Improve business and industry image in Canton Township. Improve our industrial parks and promote our location, rail and freeways. Encourage clean industry.

SCHAETZL: The method to broaden Cantons tax base is to solicit choice industry to locate in suitable areas. Canton has a wealth of properties isolated from residential areas near railroads, etc. The Economic Development Corporation and the commercial/industrial committees should be used

3. What resources would you utilize to shape Canton Township's identity?

BENNETT: The most important resource in Canton is the people. I would like the opportunity to work with those people in Canton. I, at all times, conduct myself professionally. Together we could work toward creating pride in our government, to become known as a community with direction and purpose.

BODENMILLER: People are our greatest resource. I would call on the people in our own community who have expertise in many areas to come forward and share their knowledge with us. An example of this type of involvement has been the farmer's market project. The participation of the farming community has been immeasurable. The communities' identity should be formulated primarily by the people's input.

BORDINE: Good common sense and good judgment would be a helpfull resource with the lack of the above respect is lost for Canton Township government from other communities. We must run a business type atmosphere at the township hall.

BOWERMAN: I have always supported the development of a central business district intended primarily for pedestrian traffic with an aesthetically pleasing design. Without such a focal point, we will have no identity.

BRIDENTHAL: I would like to utilize my resources to have harmony with the busines people and industry and the people living in the private sector of Canton.

DALEY: Post office on site of Township Hall. Rail station at Haggerty and railroad south of Michigan Avenue. Encourage quality development at expressway interchanges. Develop some type of yearly event to promote the community. Encourage residents, civic, fraternal and commercial groups to participate in promoting Canton.

DINGELDEY: I would use the resources of established departments, planning, recreation, fire and police. Also endorse strict open door policies within the township to encourage residential participation. To study and review the possibility and reasability of a "Townshp Manager" form of government. To continue searching for ways to preserve farmland, without any additional tax burdens to Canton resi-

HAMANN: True identity for a community cannot be derived from marble monuments etc. It comes from people who feel good about where they live and share that feeling with others. In practical terms it means providing adequate public services on a cost-effective basis and promoting quality landuse patterns.

LARSON: The resources are here, they are our farmlands, our subdivisions, our people, our schools, and the pride we hold in our community. These resources are Canton.

NEIHENGEN: Charge existing groups and departments with concrete goals and budget limitations. Resources are here; listen to them. Ask service clubs to help develop Canton Community Fund to provide social services here. Planning Department should develop downtown Canton plans. Farm community and preservation committee should begin regional farm market, food co-ops. Re-establish homeowners association council. Expand recreation services.

PADGET: Farmland preservation success will provide a unique identity. Effort has received state and national attention. We must obtain a post office and consider developing a central area of community activity.

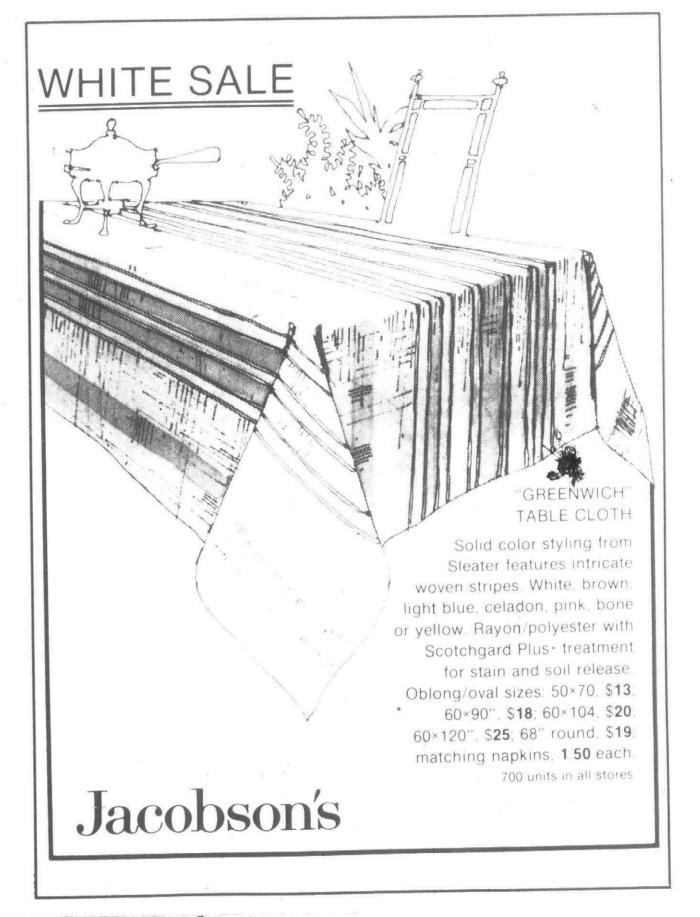

QUICK: There is only one resource necessary and that is the people, the residents of Canton, make them happy to live in Canton, and we will have the identity we need.

ROBERTS: Promote our country atmosphere and try to get developers who have that open country taste. Support the farmers who want to farm their lands and back the ones who would rather develop them. Hope to convince the investors and speculators in the western half to develop one-half acre or one acre home sites

SCHAETZL: An essential ingredient to shape Canton's identity is to establish a recognition and value for the assets of Canton. We must publicize our community as a place to live through the improvement of our park and recreational activities; low tax rate, employment opportunities for adults and teenagers alike; reduce political turmoil; passable vehicular arteries.

'Hercules' in the heavens during this month

Hercules and its great globular star of night-flying insects gathered around cluster are found nearly directly overhead, says University of Michigan astronomy Prof. Richard G. Teske.

"The constellation is easily picked out between the bright blue star Vega east of it and the reddish Arcturus on its west," he says.

From earlist times, this star pattern has been identified with national heroes or gods in the tales of many cultures. In Greek legend, Hercules was the courageous, exceedingly strong son of Zeus whose rowdy exploits included battling the Nemean Lion and establishing the Olympic Games.'

Teske describes the giant hero as seen kneeling upside down, his head to the south and his right foot upon the head of Draco, the dragon which coils halfway around the Pole Star.'

Located on the western edge of the constellation, almost halfway from Vega to Arcturus, is the globular star cluster of Hercules - the finest object of its kind in northern skies," he says.

On a clear, dark night the cluster may sometimes be noticed with the naked eye as a hazy 'star' at the limit of visibility. But with binoculars or a small telescope, it is as easily seen as a year apart, and there is little danger of rounding, cloudy patch a third the size of the full moon

"Photographs of the cluster show a remarkable spectacle, for here is an incredible number of stars grouped together in a spherical ball 70 light-years across. "When looking at snapshots of

On July evenings, the constellation of it, one gets an impression of thousands a street lamp.

This object in the Hercules constellation is an altogether different kind of star cluster from the familiar Pleiades and Hyades groupings of late winter skies, says the U-M astronomer. "It is much larger than they are and contains perhaps a half-million stars - many times more than they do.

"Astronomers call such, large populous assemblages 'globular clusters,' and have located over 100 of them that are a part of the galaxy in which our sun resides.

"Studies of these huge stellar congregations have shown that they are the oldest objects in nearby space," Says Teske. "Five billion years before our own sun and its planets were born, the stars that make up the Hercules cluster began to shine. This cluster and the others like it in the galaxy have witnessed the birth and death of many generations of stars since their own creation."

When the Hercules grouping is viewed through a telescope or in photographs, the stars seem to appear tightly packed together. Teske says this is an illusion. "Even near the cluster's very core, the stars are about a lightcollisions."

What would our night sky be like if we lived on a planet circling a star inside of the Hercules cluster?

'The appearance of the heavens would be a pageant of countless glittering stars, ranging in brilliance from the quarter moon to the brightest stars we see in our own sky today," Teske says. "The bright stars would throw multiple shadows on the ground, and there

"Canton is on the right track," he added. "I believe within Canton's tax base, the township has the ability to stabilize the tax base within the next four years."

According to Kearney, the "only thing" that will cause taxes to rise in the next few years is development rights.

Development rights is a plan, devised in the mid-1970's, to pay the difference in the market value in farm land between farm use and residential development. Voters narrowly defeated a millage request in 1978 to pay for development rights, and officials are exploring other ways of helping farmers.

KEARNEY ALSO said he would push for more police officers, and more sophisticated training for firefighters. Kearney favors a paramedic plan, in which the firefighters would work closely with hospitals and be able to give more specialized care on rescue runs.

Recreation also is on Kearney's priority list He believes facilities should be developed in or near subdivisions.

In addition, Kearney believes that closer supervision of the Fellows Creek golf course would yield greater revenues for the township.

The 18-hole course, purchased by the township a couple of years ago, is administered by a golf committee that reports to the township board.

On the committee are several officials, including the course manager, the finance director and the recreation director.

A glad farewell to the GOP

The Republicans have packed their trunks and left town - which means the truth can finally be

I didn't say anything at the time, because I hate to see grown men from Dubuque cry, but the 1980 Republican Convention was even more boring than 24 hours of "Days of Our Lives."

It had all the pomp and circumstance of "Queen For A Day." I kept hoping Jack Bailey would come out and swing a natural fox stole over Nancy Reagan's shoulders.

The convention cried out for a change of pace maybe Wayne Newton and Richard Nixon could have been persuaded to do a Busby Berkeley-style Watergate production number.

But they didn't, so the convention had everything but a surprise.

And not only was it boring, but the out-of-town visitors screwed up all my favorite downtown bars, put the waitresses in a bad mood, made it tough to find a parking place and clamped Cobo Hall and Joe Louis Arena with just about the kind of security curtain you'd expect for a presidential nomination.

There were more media people than delegates, and more cops than both those groups combined. At night, helicopters with spotlights bright enough to vaporize retinas circled the arena area.

Inconvenient at best, especially since my eyes were already glazed from the gleam off 8,000 pairs of white patent leather shoes. That's a risk you take when the town's full of Republicans. I just hope they

Scanlon didn't contaminate the whole city with polyester poisoning. WORST OF ALL, there was one night when I couldn't even find a radio broadcast of the Tigers game - the airwaves were clogged with conservatives. I had fun, though. I told one Florida delegate that despite the strike, he needn't worry about public transi* in Detroit - all he had to do was find Six Mile and Woodward and start hitchhiking. Some friendly guy would stop and pick him up in a minute or two. He was relieved to hear it.

And speaking of strikes, I can't right off hand think of a more fitting cap to the irony of Republicans convening in Detroit than the rash of strikes that hit the city just as they started arriving. Walter Reuther is probably wearing a stupid grin from sheer joy.

By now, the only Republicans left in Detroit are the half-dozen or so who live there, and the temptation is to say it's all over. Not so fast - it's just beginning.

We've got months yet to kick around What's-His-Name, that guy who's running against Carter.

Kennedy roots for Ronnie

By now the only Republican convention delegates still in town live here and I shouldn't have to explain who Bill Kennedy is.

But for the sake of any Bush delegate who just woke up in the Michigan Inn after a three-day bender, let me explain that Bill Kennedy has been host of the afternoon movie show in Detroit since the late 1950s. Currently he works for Field Communications at Channel 50 studios in

Kennedy's fond of saying he's no actor and has been in more than 70 movies to prove it. He follows that statement with his trademark laugh: "hee heh heh."

While Kennedy doesn't mind a laugh at his own expense, he takes great umbrage at articles in the press that assert Ronald Reagan was a lousy actor. He also thinks some columnists treat Reagan's acting background unfairly "Sure 'Bedtime for Bonzo,' that was ridiculous," Kennedy says. "I understand he did it just for the money. But Ronald Reagan was a good actor.

Kennedy never made a movie with Ronald Reagan but he did do a radio show in Los Angeles with the former California governor.

"It was in conjunction with the war effort," Kennedy explains. "A propaganda thing."

BOTH MEN were under contract to Warner Brothers, which was a "like a big factory, the Rouge plant of films." Kennedy said he'd say "Hello Ronnie" to Reagan on the set and Reagan would answer back "just like you would with somebody you know from work.

"He was a very popular guy," Kennedy says. "He never was one for the Hollywood scene. You wouldn't see him at Ciro's or the Coconut Grove, never in that scene.

"He was not a big shot on the lot," Kennedy adds. "Not until he became president of the Screen Actors Guild. that's what started him, it's what propelled him on the road to politics. He was affable, a nice guy, a good actor.

As an ex-actor turned TV host, Kennedy thinks the press hits too hard on Reagan's acting background. Political pundits say that with Reagan's acting experience it's impossible to tell if he's speaking sincerely on an issue or just looking and sounding slick by relying on image tricks honed in Hollywood.

"Because he's been an actor does that mean he's not aware?" Kennedy responds. "An actor, per se, only mouths words somebody else wrote. But when he's on his own facing newscasters, facing the press, Ronald Reagan's got to be his own man. No acting ability will help him when he's on the spot. Besides, politicians are a great bunch of fakers. The best actors never made a movie - hee heh heh."

KENNEDY CREDITS Reagan with cleansing communists from the entertainment industry in the 1950s, a period in which actors such as Zero Mostel were blacklisted for "pinko" tendencies.

In contrast, Rube Weiss, vice-president of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) with local offices in Southfield, calls the era a time "when many good people were hurt.

"When he got involved in SAG, there was a great deal of communist influence, backbiting and union busting, Kennedy claims. "People paid attention to him. He handled things brilliantly.

If it sounds like Bill Kennedy's big on Reagan, that's because he is.

"Definitely I'm going to vote for him." Kennedy said

He'd also like to show Reagan's films on TV, but has been prevented from doing so in the past year by Channel 50's legal department because of the equal time provision of the FCC for candidates.

"I've got 'em all. I've got 'King's Row' booked the two days after he's elected. That's how sure I am.

After 46 years, vindication

In the fall of 1934 when the University of Michigan ended one of its worst football seasons, The Stroller, then the sports editor of the Detroit Free Press, wrote a column in which he stated that the members of that U-M team were better fitted to go out in to the business world than any team in the past.

He pointed out that the team had met with adversity. It had been bumped around and made to look very bad, but with that experience the members would not be licked when it came to taking the bumps and wounded spirits that of times are encountered in the everyday world.

No sooner had the paper appeared on the street than the critics started furning. The Stroller was flooded with letters and phone calls, some of which were downright

He was accused of being anti-Michigan, which still is custom of the those who are wrapped in the theme "Go Blue." Some of the critics went so far as to charge him with being opposed to winning. They claimed that he welcomed a losing season - just to make Michigan look bad in the Big Ten Conference.

For weeks this flow of criticism was aimed at The Stroller and it even was thrown up to him when he attended the various social events to which sports editors are

LIKE A GOOD soldier, The Stroller took the barbs and the insults, feeling that the day would come when he would be vindicated - a day when some member of the team that won only one game would rise up in the world and be a credit to his school.

One of this biggest victories came at the Republican Convention. Speaking with all the fervor that he could muster, the captain of that oft-defeated 1934 U-M team held his audience 20,000 people spellbound. As he finished his speech, David Brinkley, the veteran TV commentator. came on the air to proclaim that Ford's speech was the best he has ever heard at any convention.

It was high praise for Ford. But more than that, it was vindication for The Stroller, who years ago, claimed that the members of the 1934 Michigan football team were better prepared to face the world than many of their

Her church, husband were lost in battle for ERA

By SHIRLEE IDEN

When the phone rang at home last Friday night, I didn't expect it to be anyone from Women in Communications. They had already called.

Earlier in the week I had offered a room for any out-of-towner coming to the ERA rally that Women in Communications (WICI) and other groups were spearheading.

"Thanks, but no peed," they said earlier. But then the ring.

We spoke too soon. Could you put up a lady who'll be traveling a long way all night?" Lynda Lyalls asked. "Sure, what's her name?"

Ms. Lyalls said she didn't know the name, but the woman had been excommunicated from the Mormon Church six months ago. "That's Sonia Johnson, I know the name," I said, sitting bolt upright.

It took several phone calls to set it all up, but there I was, ready and willing to meet the woman whose courageous stand on the Equal Right Amendment had catapulted her into headlines all over the world six months ago.

Sonia Johnson, a fifth generation Mormon, homemaker and mother of four, is the organizer of Mormons for ERA. For her activities for equal rights for women, she was made to appear before a Mormon court and was ex-communicated.

SHORTLY before the Dec. 5 ex-communication, Mrs. Johnson told Newsweek Magazine that she's "Mormon to her toes.

Ask how she feels now and she'll say,

This slender, 5-foot, 4-inch woman with bright brown eyes and short curly hair, embraced by those who would fight for rights everywhere, has suffered not only the rejection of her church, but that of her husband.

"You have to do what your integrity demands," she said.

For Sonia Johnson that means a relentless schedule of travels and speaking wherever she can for the ERA.

Her nightlong flight from Seattle to Chicago to Detroit was a detour on her passage to Copenhagen to take part in an international women's conference.

As this is written, she is far in away in Scandinavia, speaking out on religother women.

"Women are life bearers, nurturers, and men should listen to us," she told me. "They need to learn to deal with hunger and human suffering.'

For Sonia Johnson, her cause came late in life. Living outside of the U.S. in Africa for a number of years she was hardly aware of what the ERA was.

But she said she must have been gathering data subconsciously all her life. When her church began to attack ERA and still dare to call Mormon women "exalted," it all came together

She begged church officials to be open about their anti-ERA campaign, to tell about it, or she would. They didn't and she did.

Recognized on sight, she was greeted by admirers and enveloped by the national media. But she still took time to give a 20-minute interview to the "Children's Express" a group of very young journalists.

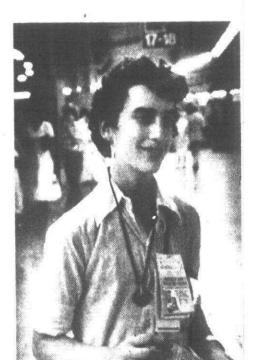

All her life Sonia Johnson has been giving. She gave to her husband, her children and her church. And she continues being one of those nurturers she mentions.

Jav Blumenfeld, of Scarsdale, N.Y., spent one week covering the Republican Presidential Convention for the Children's Express. He was among 25 reporters and editors from the New York and Detroit area. (Staff photo by Louise Okrutsky)

By Thursday of convention week, reporters covering the selection of Ronald Reagan's running mate were beginning to look frazzled, tired and — bored.

So, it wasn't too surprising to see them turn to each other for copy and story ideas. After all, anyone who was anyone in the national media was there from Walter Cronkite to cartoonist Gary Trudeau.

As "stretching" as some of those pieces may seem, in this case, the following story is perfectly justified, honestly. Especially, when you consider these reporters are 9-, 10- and 11-year-olds.

On the final night of convention week 25 reporters and editors from the Children's Express, "The News Service Written by Children" for children, were scrambling around Joe Louis Arena to get their final interviews together by

It had been a long week.

Many came from New York on busses donated to their organization, just so they could report back to their peers on what a presidential convention is all

They took on such heavyweights as Detroit Mayor Coleman Young, VP nominee George Bush and broadcaster Dan Rather. They also explored some of the platform issues, including ERA.

"MAYBE THE reason everybody's talking about the ERA is that they don't know enough about Iran and energy to talk about them. Anybody can talk about ERA," stated one of the paper's lead articles in a "special" on the convention last week.

Wearing extensive press credentials, these youngsters in their matching yellow T-shirts and slacks, eased in and out of the massive crowds Thursday night with a sense of purpose, distributing their four-page tabloid.

Their presence by then was as accepted as that of the most recognizable newtwork reporter or daily columnist. "These kids are tough," said one arena security guard. "Ever seen 'em. in-"They picked Kemp as Reagan's running mate, based on an interview with his kids.'

"We're looking for all sorts of stories," said Heather Shippey, 11. "The convention has been very interesting. We've interviewed Eleanor Anderson, Kemp, Coleman Young." "I think Kemp was the most interesting," added fellow reporter Reggie Beasley, 12. "He gave us full answers where Dole backed down.' A real no-nonsense reporter, Reggie, who attends Miami School in Detroit, had this observation of the convention

"IT'S KIND of wierd when you see people running around in elephant hats. To me, that doesn't give a very good impression."

But he would not comment on the Regan-Bush ticket.

"I can't give out opinions. Reporters don't do that," Reggie said.

Jay Blumenfeld, 14, an assistant editor from New York, explained their paper is an advocate of "children's rights" and concentrates heavily on stories that interest children.

"This week's convention has really been insane for me. I've met Dan Rather and Reagan and it's great 'cause they treat us like real reporters.

"We asked Reagan a couple of questions at a reception and I don't think he was on guard for us. On the Iran question, he answered it but really didn't give us an answer. That happens a lot. They just give you a lot of junk.'

Jay said that the minimum age for a reporter is 9 years. When one becomes 14, he or she can become an assistant editor. Once you've gained that status, you're not allowed to ask questions.

"Because when you're nine, a kid, you know how to ask direct questions sometimes questions people are afraid to touch. And it leaves politicans off-guard."

The officals also decided to take a wait-and-see attitude on two other tax proposals on the same ballot.

Local school officials didn't waste its sponsors in the House of Representatives, Roy Smith and Perry Bullard. That plan calls for property tax cuts and an increase in the state personal income tax rate.

The Tisch plan, which would reduce local property taxes by half, is the same one that was rejected by Michigan voters nearly two years ago when the Headlee tax limitation amendments were on the ballot.

HOTDOG! IT'S HOTDOG!

Americans put on the dog with regularity, and it's no wonder. Hot dogs are nutritious, satisfying and economical.

They boast the same amount of protein as an egg, but have 90% less cholesterol. Whether they're made with beef, pork, turkey, chicken, or a combination, they're an excellent source of complete animal protein and all eight essential amino acids. They contain protein, carbohydrates, fat, iron, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, phosphorus, zinc, vitamins B-6 and B-12. All of which are good for one's body, and nobody can argue with that.

It's no surprise that hot dogs are top dogs when it comes to meal planning, but some of the toppings tossed on can be unexpected. (Also unsurpassed!)

North, south, east and west, all over the land, the preserving kettles are bubbling, the jelly bags are are dripping, and gleaming glass jars are being filled with another summer's harvest.

And some are carefully inspected with a practiced eye. The clearest glass of jelly or marmalade, the perfect jar of raspberry jam is labeled and set aside.

These chosen few will be entered in the local county fair or even the great state fair.

Although the deep freeze gets its share of fruit and vegetables, the visual pleasure and sense of accomplishment of seeing those rows of jars upon the shelves is as great as it was in great-grand-

The advent of the dishwasher has done away with one of grandmother's chores - the sterilization of the containers. One round in the dishwasher leaves them ready for canning.

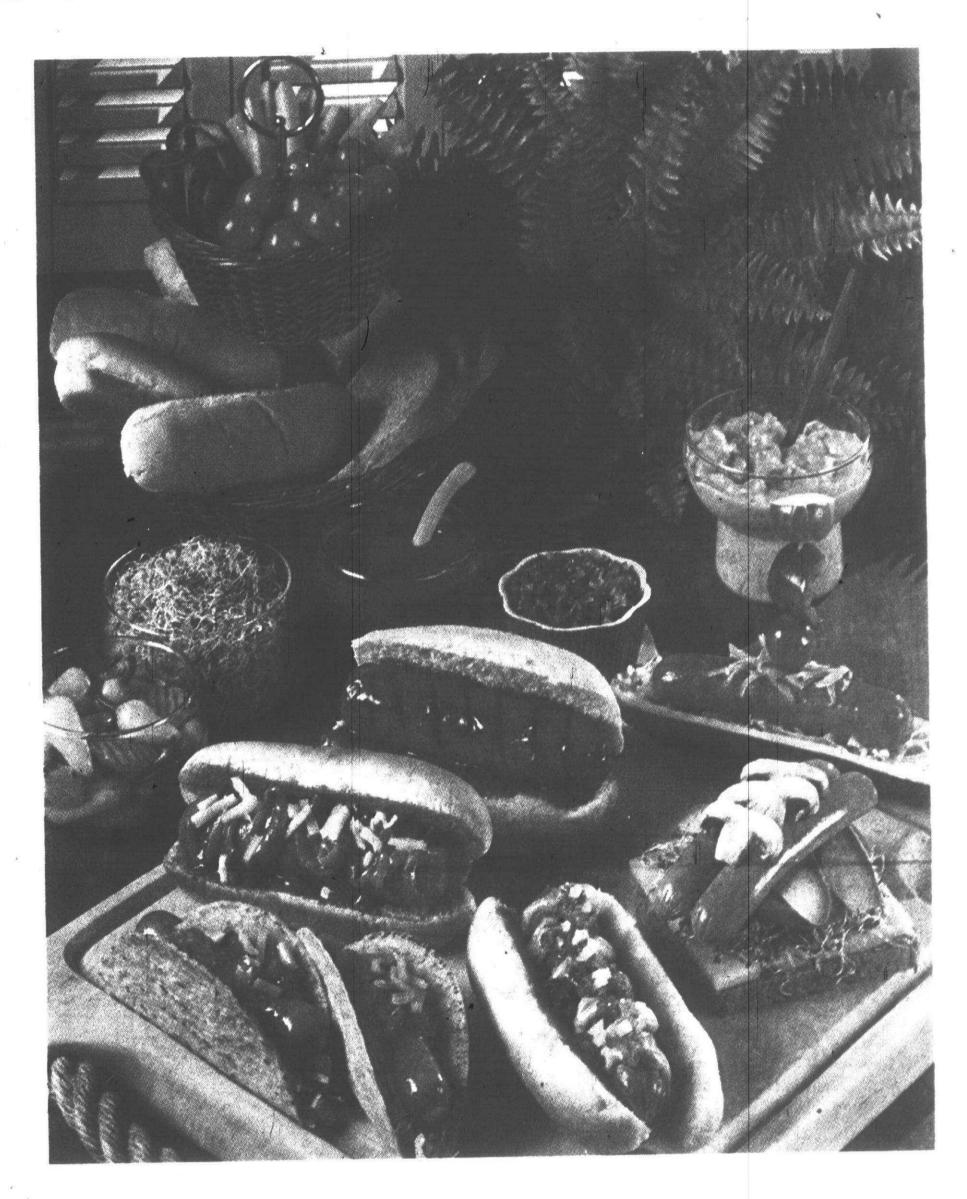

The local sweet corn is coming on and there's no better recipe for corn relish than Gram Hart's. Here it is.

CORN RELISH

20 large ears sweet corn

- 6 green peppers, seeded and chopped 6 red peppers, seeded and chopped
- 4 large yellow onions, sliced 1 large head cabbage, chopped
- 4 cups sugar
- 2 tbsp. dry mustard
- 2 tbsp. celery seed
- 2 tbsp. salt
- 1 tbsp. ground tumeric 5 cups cider vinegar
- 1 cup water

Cut corn off cobs. Combine with other ingredients. Cook for 20 minutes. Place in hot sterilized jars and seal at once. Makes 10

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF DOG:

A Party with Panache

Shredded lettuce, slaw, alfalfa sprouts, bean sprouts. Olives, ripe and green. Peppers, hot and sweet.

Chunks of tomato, avocado, cucumber, pineapple. Zucchini, mushrooms, avocado.

Chili, baked beans, corn relish, kraut, black-eyed peas. Grated cheese, good old American, plus. Try feta, Monterey Jack, tilsit or caraway. (A small electric tabletop oven would be handy for those who prefer their cheese melted.)

Bacon bits, onion salt, dill.

Celery salt, garlic salt, onion salt, dill

Bring forth a basket of wheat buns and rye, onion rolls, poppy seed rolls, caraway rolls. Try pita bread and taco shells, French bread as well as the basic bun.

Whatever you put on the dog, you'll have a doggone good party, or a great family meal. And that's the meat of the matter!

plain about it being "too hot to cook."

I like to cook and to eat too well to allow a warm spell to deter me from enjoying both. There are times, however, when it does get so beastly hot and humid that even I am laid low and have an aversion to even the thought of warming an oven.

The logical starting point for a great sandwich is the bread. The only thing I would advise against here is grocery store-style bread, which is totally lacking in character and which would doom your sandwich adventure before it gets off the ground. Personally, I am suspicious of any bread that is even cut uniformly, but this is probably evidence of a paranoia. If you have a homemade loaf tucked away in your freezer, you

Sue and Ray Michnay were home on vacation, visiting friends in their old Christian Hills neighborhood near Rochester. Ray is with General Motors overseas division in Melbourne, Australia. Sue is a member of The American Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Children's Hospital in Melbourne.

The auxiliary compiled a cookbook, "Our American Cookbook," as a fundraiser for the hospital and Sue gave one of these "culinary collections" to Catherine Landis, who shared it with us.

But since this is the time of year when choice seeds are pulled out of storage for planting in the specially prepared fields in central Florida, it's a good time to learn a little something

The name "pimienta" is Spanish for pepper and traces its history from Columbus, who brought seed to Spain on his return from America. In 1911, a Georgia farmer imported some pimiento seed from Spain, and the pimiento had come back home. Pimientos are hardy yet fussy to

JANE STUART'S role in the Republican National Convention was strictly behind-the-scenes. Jane worked with the Detroit Mounted Police Division, mucking out stalls and grooming and exercising the horses

Jane is a 1976 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. She was an active member of the 4-H Club and her specialty and love has been horses. Jane was Paul Revere in Plymouth's lantern passing event during the Bicentennial Fourth of July celebration. She always rode one of her horses in the parade.

She graduated in June from Lake Erie College in Painseville, Ohio, where her majors were equestrian studies and business administration.

Two years ago, she was involved in a summer-long work study program with the Detroit Mounted Police. She studied procedures, shared knowledge and cared for the horses.

The department has about 50 horses. "They are used in crowd control," she said. "A mounted policeman can cope with 30 persons in a crowd while an officer on foot can handle about two. Visibility is one of the advantages."

The main stable for Police Department horses is in downtown Detroit on John R at Bethune. They have a training facility in Rouge Park, summer stables on Belle Isle and a small stable in Palmer Park.

All the police were on 12-hour shifts during the convention. Jane said this meant 12 hours for the men and 10 hours for the horses. Normal shifts are eight hours for the men and six for the horses. Each officer takes care of his

The horses are 15 and 16 hands or a little larger. Jane has the statistics for she measured each and every one of them two summers ago. There is one pinto, three palominos, dark brown and chestnut horses. Jane says many of the horses are donated and they are screened before they are accepted to see if they will work out. Inspector Patrick H. Muscat is in charge of the mounted division and he often does some horse-trading to upgrade his stable.

SEVERAL OF the Massachusetts writers who stayed at the Plymouth Hilton with their state delegates had hoped to get over to Ann Arbor to see the University of Michigan campus and the football stadium. They had two problems lack of time and lack of transportation. One said he wanted to pick up a souvenir for one of their reporters who was a U-M graduate. Another said he was considering a postgraduate course there.

When asked if they would be covering the Democratic National Convention in New York, he replied, "No. The managing editor is going to cover that one." He went on to explain. # It's a very funny play this weekend, a pleasant diversion from the summer heat and television re-runs. It will be a theatrical first for the community when the curtain rises Friday and Saturday at Plymouth Salem High School auditorium for the musical comedy, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" by Stephen Sondheim.

The summer theater production under the direction of Gloria Logan has brought together a talented group of performers and technicians, Mrs. Logan has been theatre director at the Centennial Educational Park for 10 years and the production company's members cover that entire span of time

"All of my students have made me proud of them - they're wonderful peo- mately a show per week for several ple, " said Mrs. Logan. "An incredible number of them have gone on to theatrical success too, which is astounding when you consider the extreme competitiveness of the field."

THE COMPANY ranges in age from 15 to 50 years and the experience level

A very funny thing is happening here ranges from no experience to the professional acting experience of Jefferson Citation winner, Dennis Cockrum.

"It's a rare privilege to be able to work with these people while they're in high school and a dream come true to repeat that privilege," said Logan. "This summer show is a chance to see cooperation in action.

The other members of the company are also seasoned theater veterans. Bruce Graden, vocal director, has been instructing and creating vocal groups for more than 20 years. Carl Battishill, pit conductor, has played in and conducted numerous musicals and instrumental groups. And James Kaiser, producer of electronics master, has been in the business of auditorium management at the high school doing approxi-

Among the high school drama deartment graduates is Bob Sigmon, construction master. Bob has the challenge of turning the set designs from drawings into the reality of lumber.

Mary Ann Prchlik and Mary Cleveland, with some special help from Norm Logan, are painting the set, creating the fantasy of an ancient Roman suburb.

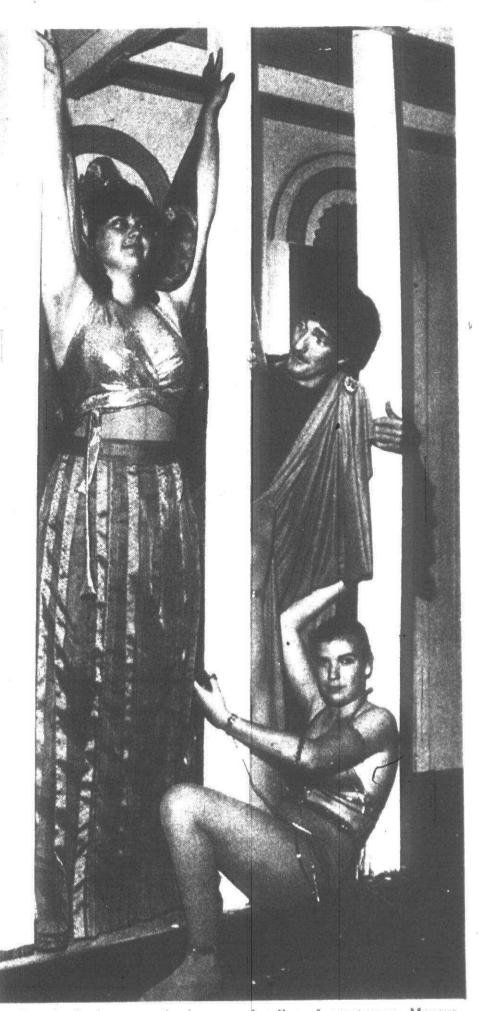

April Lewis, Lisa Brye and Amy Armbruster are costuming the group of any characters in beautiful chiffons, gauzes and jerseys.

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. both evenings and admission is $4.

Another first is the super bargain offer from the Roman Forum Restaurant on Ford Road east of Haggerty. A theater ticket enables guests to enjoy dinmer at the Roman Forum for only $5.95 including such entrees as crab legs, New York strip steak, and veal parmigiana served with baked potato, salad, sherbet and bread basket.

Theatergoers may dine before or after the musical.

Tickets may be purchased at the box office at Plymouth-Salem before the performances or in advance at Arm-Bruster Bootery, 290 S. Main Street, Plymouth: The Roman Forum, Ford Road: or the office of Plymouth Salem High School, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road.

The party's over but the memory lingers on

The community turned out Friday morning to say farewell to the Massachusetts delegates at the Plymouth Hilton. There had been a series of parties beginning with a welcoming reception Sunday afternoon at the Mayflower Meeting House and a concert in Kellogg Park. The Plymouth and Canton Observers had a media reception Wednesday afternoon and Virginia Towsley of Create-A-Cake in Canton Township baked a cake for the occasion. It was too good to eat so it was tucked away in a freezer for the farewell party (lower left). Mrs. Towsley said it took 10 hours to make and icing and all, it weighed 200 pounds. The delegates presented a Paul Revere engraved bowl to Plymouth Mayor Mary Childs (above left) and City Manager Henry Draper, a thank you gift to the community. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey) taminated by harmful bacteria are cheons, interest groups and couples' soespecialy common during hot summer cial events will be explained during the months when perishable foods are carried on picnics and cookouts without proper refrigeration, says Oakland home economist Lois Thieleke. Food poisoning ranks second only to the common cold as the most frequent cause of illness, according to the U.S. government authorities.

Poor food handling practices in the home often cause illness in the family, even though foods were safe to eat when purchased or first prepared. Lack of sanitation, insufficient cooking, and improper storage can allow bacteria in food to increase to dangerous levels. she adds.

Make sure perishable foods carried on a picnic are kept cold until later. Foods which tend to spoil easily without refrigeration should not be exposed to warmer temperatures for more than 1/2 hour before eating. Life begins at 40 degrees for most bacteria.

'Airplane' spoofs disaster flicks with good humor

Cannibalism is not something one generally endorses, but in the case of "Airplane" (PG), there's good cause. The film is constructed of parts taken from a range of popular movies and at least one

Mostly, however, it borrows from all those oh-so-serious disaster films about airliners. And if ever there were movies begging to be ridiculed, the doom and drama-in-the-sky flicks are the ones.

Thus, "Airplane" is right on course, a howl from take-off to landing. The writers haven't missed a venerated cliche, and they may have created a few new ones.

There are sight gags, running gags, plays on words. When the doctor tells the stewardess that they must get a sick passenger to a hospital, she asks, "What is it?" "A big building with patients," he

WHEN TWO BLACK passengers converse in ethnic jargon, subtitles appear on the screen translating jive to "white" talk.

Robert Hays and Julie Hagerty shoulder most of the load as the troubled young lovers. She's a stewardess who closely resembles a mechanical doll. He's a washed up military pilot with a fear of flying. When the cockpit crew and half of the plane's passengers get food poisoning from tainted fish, it's up to these two to "bring her down safely.

They have ample support from a dozen celebs who appear in character parts. These include such stalwarts as Peter Graves, Robert Stack and Leslie Neilsen - each wonderfully stoic and deadpan. Lloyd Bridges is the airport manager barking orders and trying to calm himself with cigarettes, pills, booze and glue sniffing — all of which he had just given up.

Add cameo appearances by Ethel Merman, Kareem Addul-Jabbar and Howard Jarvis (yes, Howard Jarvis the tax cutter), and you have some notion of just how zany "Airplane" is.

While so much hilarity is bound to lapse every now and then with an occasional gross moment or a verbal dud, on the whole, "Airplane" is responsible for a 90-minute comic boom.

'Wholly Moses' plays for laughs

Another nonsensical comedy making the rounds this summer is "Wholly Moses" (PG), a Biblical-era spoof prompted, it would seem, by Monty Python's "Life of Brian."

"Wholly Moses" does not have the wit or novelty of its predecessor, but it does have Dudley Moore who can wring a goodly number of laughs from any material.

As a passenger with a Holy Land tour group, he finds an ancient scroll which chronicles the story of Herschel (also played by Moore), the brother-in-law of Moses. The film then proceeds with the life of Herschel.

Lorraine Newman, Richard Pryor and, especially, James Coco help take up the slack, of which there is plenty. There is the occasional inspired moment, however.

The best of these is an encounter between Dom DeLuise and Moore. The two men bump into each other smack in the middle of a desert and do a wonderful send-up of the contemporary "good to see you again, let's get together for lunch sometime" routine.

what's at the movies

NEW RELEASES

AIRPLANE (PG). A picture that takes off. This spoof of all those "Airport" movies is one of the zaniest films around.

THE BLUES BROTHERS (R). A film that's as unoriginal and dreary as it is expensive (very) with one meatball scene after another and enough car crashes to make AAA go belly up.

BRONCO BILLY (PG). Clint Eastwood stars as rowdy, brawling owner of Wild West show.

BRUBAKER (R). Serious drama with Robert Redford as reform warden fighting corruption on state prison farm

CAN'T STOP THE MUSIC (PG). But it wouldn't be a bad idea to try. THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (PG). "Star Wars" sequel unites original cast in continuation of battle against the evil empire.

FAME (R). Lots of young talent in vibrant musical about students at

New York's School of Performing Arts.

THE ISLAND (R). Butchery galore as Michael Caine investigates ship disappearances and finds modern-day piracy in Caribbean.

Stage mystery Richard Bradshaw and Barbara Acker star in "Murder at the Vicarage," adapted from the Agatha Christie novel, which opens at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday for a two-weekend run at the Hilberry Theater in Detroit. For ticket information, call the box office at 577-2972.

Ann Arbor's & Bargain Come enjoy a day at Ann

Arbor's State Street Area Art Fair and Bargain Days.

Exhibits range from paintings, drawings, fiber arts, photography, glass work, jewelry, hand made musical instruments, and basket weaving to various types of sculpture. Some artists will have demostrations of their craft. The Fair runs from

Business up, prices down

The travel business is picking up, despite the energy crisis and the economy, but it is still slow enough to prompt the offering of travel bargains.

United Airlines offers a new family plan, good through Dec. 15, in which one adult pays full fare, the spouse pays 50 percent, and children younger than 18 pay 40 percent. If only one parent flies, the first child pays 50 percent and additional children pay 60 percent.

You must reserve ahead and buy tickets at least 24 hours before flight time.

Eastern Airlines is flying children free to and from Florida on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Any young person between 2 and 17 flies free with an adult traveling on a Super Saver.

The adult Super Saver fare is 35 percent below regular coach flight by day and 45 percent by night. Friday through Monday the young people can fly for $79 round-trip.

Tickets must be bought seven days in advance of flights. Minimum stay is until the first Saturday after departure and the maximum stay is 60 days.

Eastern also offers packages to Disneyworld, including hotel discounts. Outdoor enthusiasts might also consider camping at Fort Wilderness, where they can bike, hike or ride horses.

THE DISCOUNT FEVER also applies overseas. The Council on International Educational Exchange has introduced round-trip charter fares of $399 New York to Amsterdam until Sept. 14; $489 thereafater. One-way standby is $199. Contact CIEE, 205 East 42nd St., New York 10017.

KLM Royal Dutch Airlines announced a "Stay on the Way" program allowing free stopover in Amsterdam for passengers traveling between the U.S. and the Middle East. There are two options: accommodations for overnight, or a dayroom at the air-

Even the overseas cruise ships are feeling the pinch. Chandris cruise lines, which sails the Mediterranean, is booking passengers for their better cabins at their lower rates. Contact them at 333 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 60601, for discounts on both the curise and the fly-cruise package

Chicago is also the home of Forlow Tours, which now offers closer-to-home tour packages out of Michigan. You can take a long weekend minivacation to Nashville via Louisville for $225, including hotels, meals and attractions.

They also do getaway tours to Canada, Texas and the west as well as themed tours like the Chicago Sports weekend. Ask for their tour booklet from Furlow Tours, P.O. Box 1740, East Lansing 48823.

STILL TOO FAR away? Try this one. The new DOT-operated Three Center Minibus links the New Center area, University-Cultural Center and Detroit Medical Center for 15 cents in Detroit.

OTHER NEWS - Delta Airlines has applied to the Civil Aeronautic Board for non-stop service Detroit to Bermuda, and will offer $299 round-trip inaugural rates as soon as it is granted, probably this

St. Louis' arch-rival: the Magic House

By IRIS SANDERSON JONES

ST. LOUIS - From the front hall of the Magic House you can hear the children jumping to the buzzer upstairs, where they leave their shadows on the wall.

Down here, at the entrance, new arrivals are eager to struggle through the maze to the weird machines, on which you test your strength and outwit gravity.

The Magic House is a renovated, white clapboard house in Kirkwood, a gracious old suburb of St. Louis.

It was the brainstorm and design of Jody Newman and Barbie Freund, who opened it in October 1979 as "the only totally participatory, totally independent and totally self-supporting museum of its kind in the country."

The development of the project was a magic act of its own: two volunteers scouring the country at their own expense for the best ideas and waylaying private investors for money to fund those ideas. When the Magic House opened, they bowed out

There are 50 different exhibits on the three floors of the house, for kids from 5 to 105, and dozens of Did you know signs giving facts researched by St. Louis school

Did you know that a cockroach can live several weeks with its head cut off?

These signs are scattered throughout the building, from the maze and the gravity machine, through the sound room and the shadow room on the second floor to the room that makes your hair stand on end at the top of the building.

Newman and Freund visited science and educational museums, and a variety of places designed just for fun, before they chose their exhibits. They do not like to think of the Magic House as a museum. It is designed as an experiential attraction for individuals and groups, who learn things as a by-product of having fun

THE SOUND ROOM upstairs is quiet because everyone is listening intently to the machines that feed back their voices. But there is great hilarity in the shadow room, where a light-sensitive vinyl wall records the shadow of a child when the light flickers on.

"Stand close to the wall, children. Jump when the buzzer sounds.'

The kids jump and the lights flash. When they come down, they have left their jump shadows on the wall.

There is a great roar in the next room, where 16 older students gather around the machine that tests brake reaction-time for drivers under a sign that reads: Did you know that Mozart wrote two of his musical compositions before he was 5 years old?"

The long painting of the cow, designed to show how things differ with your point of view, changes as you follow it down the narrow hall.

Did you know that before 1885, baseball umpires used to sit in padded chairs and rock?

IN THE SEEING room, where colors and shapes spin, two boys try to tie a shoelace by putting their hands in an exhibit that throws everything upside down.

"Stand in line, children. Step up to the platform. Touch the metal sphere, and your hair flies.

The victim screams with surprise as her hair stands on end. The kids watching it through the glass window crack up with laughter as they watch their electrified friends. The rest of the Magic House empties as the children gather to watch. The maze is silent. The wheels spin in the spinning room. Nobody smells the chocolate in the Smell machine.

One lone boy is still checking his center of gravity and a grandmother has finally opened the unopenable safe

When the kids have stopped watching their hair stand on end, they will go one at a time down this blue winding slide that takes them back to the first floor. The last little bit of school-child information they will read as their heads disappar from sight is:

Did you know that in 1895, when there were only four gas-powered vehicles in the United States, two of them collided in St. Louis?

If you are between the ages of 5 and 105, and you would like to spend a crazy two hours at the Magic House, go to 516 Kirkwood Road, Kirkwood, Mo., from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesdays-Saturdays (open to 9 p.m., Fridays) or noon to 6 p.m. Sundays. Pay $2 if you are 105, $1.50 younger than 12, or make special arrangements for groups.

It'll make your hair stand on end.

Step to the platform and touch the metal sphere and your hair will stand on end.

'Pros' hit Grand Slam tennis

Pro tennis is back in Livonia.

After a one-year absence, the Grand Slam Invitational returns this week as this summer's only major prize money tournament.

Some of the top men's players from the midwest will compete for $750 at the Grand Slam Tennis Club of Livonia Racquets Unlimited of Livonia and Life Systems, Inc. of Southfield donated prize money for the event.

The tournament will begin at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday with the preliminary rounds. Thirty-two openings are available for eight qualifying spots in the main draw. Twenty-four players have been invited into the main draw which begins Friday and runs through Sunday afternoon.

The eight random spots will be determined at 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

Interested players can enter the tournament for a fee of $15. An admission fee of 50 cents will be tourney director Dean Synder that he will play.

The 1978 champ, Maurice Hunter, a native of Detroit and former Pepperdine University standout, may not be able to enter because of European tour committments.

Former University of Michigan standout Jeff Etterbeek of Holland, Mich. and past Grand Slam performer, is also playing aboard.

Mark Pinchoff of West Bloomfield, the No. 5 player at collegiate power Trinity University (Tex.), is expected to play, however, according to Synder.

The tournament director said the No. 1 seeded spot would probably go to Kalamazoo native Ian Harris, who has accumulated Association of Touring Professional (ATP) computer points. He is a pro at Southfield's Franklin Racquet Club along with former University of Miami (Ohio) standout Craig Wittus and Hal Jolley of Rochester. Wittus, who reached the round of 16 in the NCAA finals two years, will be given a high seeding. He is a native of Bloomfield Hills.

For one reason or another, Livonia Adray has been able to win the close baseball games this summer in the Livonia Adray League.

Maybe that's why Ron Hellier's crew is in first place.

Livonia slipped past Westland 6-5 last week. The victors scored their six runs on seven hits

In the first inning, Steve Popp singled and came all the way home on a double by Jim Ross.

Livonia added three runs during the third inning by taking advantage of a couple of Westland errors. Jeff Laverty picked up an RBI with a single, Tim O'Malley knocked in a run with a successful bunt and the third run was notched on an error.

Livonia scored its final two runs in the fourth inning. Again, alert baserun-

Popp then singled, scoring Laverty. Popp subsequently scored when Mike Migosky bunted into a fielder's choice.

Migosky, who had relieved Jeff Sergison on the mound in the third inning, claimed the pitching victory. Both of Livonia's errors figured in Westland's scoring.

Westland struck for its first run in the opening inning when Greg Stano was safe on an error, advanced to second base on a sacrifice and home on a single by Chuck Lux.

A three-run rally followed during the third inning. Jim Kuzara walked and singles by Steve Raymond and Lux loaded the bases. Steve Segedi put down a good bunt scoring Kuzara. Segedi reached first base safely on the fielder's choice.

A bases-loaded walk to John McLean forced home Raymond and Lux scored when Mark Ianni bounced into a fielder's choice.

Westland scored its final run in very strange fashion during the fifth inning.

Lux walked and steamed around all the bases when the ball on a throw from third base bounced away from the first baseman and then couldn't be found lying on the white first base foul

Rob Costa took the pitching loss. Tom Nolff relieved in the fourth inning. Westland's Herb McManaway, who has been leading the league in hitting with a .549 average, will likely be lost to the team the remainder of the season, said manager Roger George.

McManaway sustained a severley sprained ankle while sliding a week ago. He is now wearing a cast and hobbling on crutches.

The storm that raged through waterlogged and ruined southeastern Michigan last Wednesday made a shambles of Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park and the damage is expected to reach close to $2 million.

The entire arena section of the 94lane establishment was leveled, the roof ripped off the north end section of 20 lanes and the main section of 54 lanes was left water logged — and just about ruined

Thunderbowl, where most of the important matches and the all-star leagues have bowled for the past few years, was built in 1960 and the arena section was designed as theater to accomodate the Detroit team in the now defunct National Bowling League.
