Township clips tax rate for '81 fiscal year

Establishment of 1981 millage rates Tuesday night squashed the hopes of some Canton board trustees to pump more money into the police department

next year The township's Board of Trustees approved township administration-proposed millage rates for police, fire and the general fund which, in effect, rolls back the total township rate by .61 mill (61 cents per $1,000 assessed property

Despite the rollback, property owners actually will pay higher tax bills this December because of a 23 percent hike in property assessments. According to Finance Director Mike Gorman, the owner of a home assessed at $25,000 will pay $281 more.

Assessments, the basis of property tax computations, must approximate 50 percent of market value according to law. The county and state annually take steps to adjust assessments.

THE RATES approved Tuesday night include 3.25 mills for police, 3.25 mills for fire protection and a net 2.39 mills for the general fund.

The general operating levy reflects an effort to juggle funds and improve accounting procedures as well as the .61-mill rollback

Last year, property owners paid 3.25 mills for police, 1.25 mill for fire protection and five mills for the general fund. However, the equivalent of two

Storm pay-back hopes rise with label of disaster

By ARLENE FUNKE

A federal disaster designation means Canton could recover up to 75 percent of the cleanup costs set off by a fierce July windstorm.

We can pretty well rest assured that the municipalities will get back 75 percent," said Rick Sitz, a legislative aide to U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Tay-

Sitz's comments came earlier this week, after he arrived in the area to assist local communities on filing for federal disaster relief because of that storm. "Congresman Ford made it very clear that storm debris - toppled trees, smashed fences and other damage, was creating a potential hazard from fire or rats," said Sitz.

Missionary work called Canton teen to India

By ARLENE FUNKE

Last year, Maurice Stebila's school buddies thought he was crazy to give up a summer of tennis to go to Africa to put roofs on church buildings.

This past week, those same friends were full of questions about Maurice's recent trip to India to help erect a college dormitory.

The Canton Township youth, an 11th grade student at Plymouth Salem High, has just returned from his second summer on a work crew with a non-denominational missionary group based in Merritt Island. Fla.

Each year, Teen Missions International attracts some 2,000 youths for missionary trips to about 30 countries. The workers, who range from 14 to their early 20's, have adult supervisors toll on neighborhood relationships.

Drainage complaints spur revival of township efforts to mediate spats

One homeowner points an accusing finger at the resident next door and attributes his own drainage problems to the neighbor's build-up of topsoil. The neighbor levels the same accusation at someone down the street or blames the township for approving an incorrect lot grade. Employees of Canton's planning and building departments have heard dozens of complaints like those.

In August 1979, the township made an effort to help by instituting a policy to mediate the neighborhood quarrels.

But planner Jim Kosteva admits that the policy never really had a chance to become effective. Winter came. Then a a crunch in building department revenues forced the lay-off of the township's only grade inspector.

The policy centered on a township inspection of the complainant's property in an effort to determine a solution to Kosteva said the lots of only two homeowners were inspected last fall. His assistant, Dave Nicholson, said many of the problems were resolved during the preliminary stages of the in-

Marijuana blooms Police crack down on illegal growers

It's harvest time in Canton.

For most people, harvest means tomatoes and sweet corn. For others, September days may signal a peak ripening time for the marijuana plant.

'We're getting two or three complaints a week," said Police Lt. Larry Stewart. "Somebody calls and says John Doe is growing marijuana alongside his house or on a window sill or next to his mobile home.

"That (complaint rate) compares to about one a week in June," added Stewart. "After the first frost, there's none.'

A township ordinance forbids growing marijuana, as does a state law. The misdemeanor infraction carries a maximum penalty of $500 or 90 days in jail, or both. Stewart said some 25-30 persons have been issued tickets under the ordinance during the past year. "We would be much more interested in the guy that has gone down 15 times before rather than somebody who's growing a plant on a lark," said

"I'M RELATIVELY sure there are some small plots around," he added. "I would like to find an acre or two. That would make my day."

Stewart said marijuana is an annual plant which belongs to species Canabis Sativa L. The plant, which is asexual, has a male and female

The flowering top of the female is blended into a tobacco-like mixture to produce euphoria or a "high," added Stewart, who attended a state police training program on marijuana detection.

"Until it starts growing its flowers, the female (plant) isn't a very good high," said Stewart. "The male isn't very strong at all.'

According to Stewart, the Michigan variety usually grows to a height of about six feet, though some grow taller. Hashish - a more powerful substance - comes from a resinous compound in the plant, he

"(MARIJUANA) is commonly mistaken for a weed called cinqufoil," said Stewart. "It's a pretty green - a rich color.'

Processing of the cases includes observation of the plant's growth, as well as a chemical and organic test which takes place at the police sta-

Clippings of the plant are taken to the station where they may be cultivated and harvested.

"We have had a number of small (plants) harvested ourselves," said Stewart. "It has an odd number of leaflets (with) long, narrow, serrated edges. Hair growth is substantially different.

"Marijuana has three types of hairs on the leaf," he added. What happens to the marijuana after the case goes to trial?

You won't find the marijuana "evidence" sold off at any police auction. Instead, the marijuana is taken to an incinerator plant in Inkster. Stewart recalls a case a few years ago when he was with the Garden City Police Department. Almost 400 pounds of marijuana was taken to that same incinerator.

"They (the plant workers) couldn't believe we would burn up so much marijuana," said Stewart.

CEP Band appears in its new uniforms

When the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) Marching Band appeared at the Plymouth Fall Festival this past Sunday many spectators stopped to take a second look.

Gone were the traditional black suits, the white overlay with "Plymouth" printed bodly in Salem blue, the white spats and gloves.

Gone were the white hats with the red, white and blue plumes.

Standing before the Sunday afternoon crowd packed around the bandshell was a maze of yellow shirts with black diagonal stripes and on each head was a black "Aussie" style hat.

For the band parents this was a familiar sight but for the Friday night football crowd and alumni, it probably came as a surprise.

Area volunteers declare war on disease

By ARLENE FUNKE

Carol Smith of Canton soon will be hearing bells. So will Sharon Belobraidich of Plymouth and many more folks from the Plymouth-Canton community.

Doorbells, that is Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Belobraidich are just two of the volunteers who have signed on for a door-to-door awareness and fund-raising campaign for the American Diabetes Association. During the first two weeks of November, they will be distributing educational leaflets and asking for donations.

'We need volunteers," says Annette Lippmann, public relations director for the Michigan affiliate of the American Diabetes Association. "We're starting early enough.

Between Nov. 16-22, free diabetes testing will be conducted at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia, Wayne County General Hospital in Westland and Plymouth General Hospital in Detroit.

The association is awaiting approval from other area hospitals, including Garden City Osteopathic, St. Joseph Mercy in Ann Arbor, and Veterans' Administration hospitals in Allen Park and Ann Arbor.

"WE'RE HOPING for a cure for diabetes," says Mrs. Smith of Ranier Boulevard in Canton. She has volunteered to help because her 13-year-old daughter is a diabetic.

"We're concerned about the longrange complications (of the disease)," she adds. "The future is in the re-

Diabetes is a disease in which the body is either unable to produce sufficient insulin, or is unable to use the insulin that is produced, according to the American Diabetes Association. Insulin is needed to convert starches and sugars into energy.

STATISTICS SHOW that about 6 percent of the population has diabetes, and 40 percent of those are undiagnosed. There currently is no cure, and the disease is controlled by diet, medication and weight control.

Long-range complications include blindness, kidney disease, gangrene, heart diseases and stroke.

The combined fund-raising and educational program is a pilot project and may later be expanded throughout the state, adds Ms. Lippmann. The Plymouth-Canton community was selected largely because of previously successful efforts spearheaded by Mrs. Belobraidich and her husband Frank, a diabetic, says Ms. Lippmann

"THOSE COMMUNITIES seem well-organized," she adds. "We teach diabetes survival."

For Mrs. Smith, "survival" means preparing prescribed portions of meals well-balanced for her daughter, 13, who was diagnosed a diabetic three

It also means keeping the girl in a positive frame of mind and making sure she takes her daily injection of insulin and exercises regularly.

Mrs. Smith says her daughter "accepts" being a diabetic, but prefers to avoid calling attention to it.

The girl declined to be interviewed. There are two other daughters in the family, aged 17 and 18.

"Those shots (of insulin) are hard to take every day (but) people have to understand it isn't the end of your life," notes Mrs. Smith. "I think that comes from how the family accepts it."

for children to accept restrictions of diabetes, commenting that her daughter has befriended a classmate who also has the disease.

"I really think being with other kids who have the same problem helps," adds Mrs. Smith.

The Michigan chapter of the American Diabetes Association operates Camp Midicha, which gives diabetic children a chance to develop friendships while promoting good health.

In the past several years, Frank and Sharon Belobraidich have planned bike and skating marathons which have raised thousands of dollars for the diabetes association. They have planned periodic educational programs for area diabetics and their families.

THE COUPLE, who live on Ann in Plymouth, are on the board of directors for the Michigan affiliate of the American Diabetes Association.

Treasurer Jim Donahue, who also dissented in the millage vote, favored a slight cut in the fire and general fund tax proposal and a slight increase in the police tax.

Their views supported a request by Police Chief Jerry Cox to hike funding of the police department in 1981. Three weeks ago, Cox asked the board to set the police rate at four mills, an amount that would allow for the hiring of 10 patrol officers. Cox said repeating last year's tax rate of 3.25 mills would keep police services at its current level, at Greenstein and Larson favored setting the police tax at 3.5 to 3.75 mills. They favored cutting the general fund levy by at least a quarter mill as a way to compensate taxpayers for rising assessments and dismal economic conditions.

Their proposal would necessitate a minimum $109,000 cut in the general fund budget proposal submitted by Supervisor Noel Culbert, according to

"If the citizens can cut back, so can we," said Greenstein. "I'm suggesting it's better to commit more millage to police and fire where it can't be frittered away. The more money we have to fool with (in the general fund), the more we perpetually Greenstein maintained that the board has "shortchanged" the police department during the past few years. Supervisor Noel Culbert, who participated in the drafting of the tax proposals, defended the rates which were later approved.

"I think Canton is in a very fortunate position in not having to lay off police officers," he said. "I also think we are showing responsibility to the taxpayers. We could choose not to lower taxes at all."

Under the township charter, board members must approve budgets based on the millage rates by Oct. 31. The fiscal year begins Jan. 1.

"I think its growth potential is exciting. I represent several small businesses and I appreciate their problems.

He believes an LDC would offer some of the help small businesses need. He got the idea, he said, after talking to an employee of the Small Business Adneed for a loan.

ACTING AS A MIDDLEMAN, the LDC, said Howard, would enable businesses to obtain low-interest loans from the federal SBA - lately at 81/2 percent interest - for purposes of expansion or relocation to the area.

A businessperson would submit an application to the LDC for a low-interest loan. After reviewing the application, the LDC would forward the loan request to the SBA. According to Howard, approval is based on the number of jobs the expansion project would pro-

Howard said the LDC would charge a small handling fee to the business for obtaining the loan in its own name.

"The purpose, essentially, is to help develop the community, expand the tax base and to provide jobs," said Howard, a newly appointed member of Canton's Economic Development Corp. (EDC). "It cuts red tape — I'd say in half."

The township's EDC primarily works with larger industrial concerns, helping them to obtain low-interest loans.

THE CANTON TOWNSHIP Board of Trustees recently gave Howard its support in the form of a resolution endorsing establishment of the corporation.

Maurice said the teens may opt to be members of "evangelistic," or spiritually-oriented teams, or work groups. He prefers the work crews.

Last year's trip to Nigeria, where he helped put roofs on three churches and built septic tanks, whetted Maurice's appetite for more. He signed up again. A girl who attends Good Shepherd went with an evangelistic group to Scotland. An adult member served as a group leader in France, said Maurice.

The trip to India cost $2,000. To help pay for the trip, Maurice found 32 people who were willing to put up $60 each to sponsor him. He attended work training sessions and a form of boot camp which "really built you up physically, mentally and spiritually."

AFTER A 24-hour plane ride, India was a "culture shock," said Maurice. He saw many more animals in India than he had the previous year in Africa, including cobras, elephants, water buffaloes, monkeys and oxen.

Now that he's back at home, with parents Frank and Irene, and sisters Nicole and Monique, the trip to India "seems like a dream," said Maurice.

Helping keep the memory alive are artifacts which include a hand-carved table, delicate objects inlaid with ivory and silver, and pictures.

"It was really weird coming back," said Maurice. "Those loving, wonderful teens - I would never be with them again in the same way.'

And we're doing even more to

We're doing it. We're driving less, planning trips more wisely, keeping our cars in tunewe're taking the simple but necessary steps to save gasoline... and money. Why money? Because wasted gas is wasted make the most of our gas and our gas dollars. Things like

■ Driving at a moderate speed and a steady pace. 35 to 45 miles per hour is the most efficient driving speed (no more than 55 on the highway). Select routes that include long smooth stretches of road so you can drive at a steady pace.

■ Not idling the motor for more than 30 seconds. Anytime you park and wait for more than 30 seconds, turn off the ignition. Restarting takes less gas than idling.

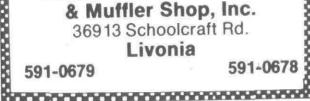

Leaving the car: home once in a while. When you can, share a ride or use public transportation. Or try walking, biking... or even skating! And many errands can be handled effectively by mail money. that sounds this simple can't save you very much, but following steps like these can really help reduce your gasoline bills. So keep up the good work!

You may think that anything.

ANDREW J. LEWIS

Airman 1.C. Andrew Lewis, son of Theodore J. Lewis, 624 S. Sheldon, Plymouth, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, Lewis studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations. Airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

He now will receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field.

DANIEL R. TORGUSON

Daniel R. Torguson, 19, son of Leslie C. Torguson, 42307 Addison, Canton, has entered the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP). Basic training will begin Nov. 12.

The Delayed Enlistment Program allows the Air Force to schedule an opening and be assigned to a job or skill area. It also allows Torguson, a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, to wrap up personal affairs before leaving home.

MICHAEL J. CASSIDY

Michael J. Cassidy, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cassidy, 45575 Leighwood Court, Plymouth, is undergoing basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Cassidy, a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, has been guaranteed training as a security specialist. Upon completion of training, he will be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

CRAIG A. FINLEY

Craig A. Finley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foy S. Finley, 50000 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, recently completed cadet basic training at the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y.

Formerly called "New Cadet Barracks," or "Beast Barracks," it is an intensive, eight-week program combining physical fitness, military courtesy and personal appearance. Finley is a 1980 graduate of Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

KEVIN J. SOBCZYK

Kevin J. Sobczyk, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Sobczyk, 42737 Five Mile, Plymouth, has begun six weeks' basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Following completion of basic, Subczyk has been guaranteed training as a Ground Radio Equipment Specialist. He is a 1980 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School.

JOY L. PERLONGO

Cadet Joy L. Perlongo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Perlongo, 1348 Sheridan, Plymouth, recently received practical work in military leadership at the Army ROTC advanced camp at Ft. Riley, Kan.

The five-week ROTC advanced camp provided an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment

Ms. Perlongo is a student at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green,

Book reprinted

"Election Directions" is a booklet explaining the election process and balloting procedures to young children and was especially designed for use in the elementary schools of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools by the League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi. The book originally was distributed to the classrooms when Meijer Thrifty Acres agreed to underwrite the expense of printing. Those books have all been distributed and requests for more have been made, and so Meijer's has agreed to sponsor a re-printing of about 1,000 copies. Shown with the booklet are: (from left) Vickie Strimel, project director; Michael Gross of Meijer's; Nancy White, League president; and Lois Hoffmeister, co-chairperson of the Novi unit. (Staff

Housing law confusion ends

A new state law has been passed which will allow apartment buildings or condominium complexes to be occupied only by senior citizens.

The legislation had been introduced by State Sen Robert Geake, R-Northville, and recently was signed into law by Gov. Milliken.

At the bill-signing ceremony, Geake praised Milliken's action and commended Rep. Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti, for his efforts in getting the measure pushed through the House of Repre-

Also attending the ceremony were Ray Bourlier, Reginald Williams, Wilfred Shultz and William Neff, all members of the Crestwood Park Condominium board of directors in Plym-

"It was their organization which brought the confusion to my attention," said Geake, "when residents in that complex were faced with the problem of one owner in the project attempting to sell his unit to a family with chil-

The law clarifies conflicting language in the Elliott-Larsen Civil Rights

As the act was written, one section prohibited age discrimination in the sale or rental of real property but allowed an exemption for senior citizen

A later section, however, repeated the prohibition regarding age discrimination but made no reference to the preceding exemption for senior citizens. The new law clarifies the intent of the Legislature by including the senior exemption in the later section, said Geake

Classes begin at Schoolcraft as mediators examine issues

By TOM LONERGAN

Schoolcraft College students are back to the books, and a state mediator has one month to propose a settlement between 350 back-to-work instructors and the community college.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Michael L. Stacey Tuesday signed an order which returned striking teachers to their jobs and which also sent a primary salary dispute to a so-called "fact-

But Stacey did not issue an injunction as requested by the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees.

Both sides have five days to agree on a mediator, who will act as the factfinder. If there's no agreement, the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC) will appoint one

"WE'RE PLEASED with the concept of the back-to-work order," said Delavan W. Sipes, president of the Faculty Forum, the teachers' union. "It gets us back to work, and and we still have a mechanism for getting a settlement." A two-week strike in 1978 also was ended when a judge ordered the dispute to fact-finding.

Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote said Tuesday, "I'm very confident that a settlement will be reached. What the judge has done is in everybody's best interest."

Monday, Judge Stacey ordered both sides to bargain rather than proceeding with a hearing on the college's request for an injunction to force 160 full-time and some 189 part-time instructors back to work.

According to one faculty negotiator, there was no progress at Monday's bargaining session, which was held in the downtown MERC offices. Grote said the two sides were "very close to reaching a contract" Monday but would not elaborate.

"The board hasn't budged one bit," said Richard Arlen, chief faculty nego-

But, Arlen added, because an injunction wasn't ordered, "the faculty is feeling pretty decent. Since it's not a binding fact-finder, the board can say no and we can say no."

Both he and Sipes are full-time instructors at the two-year college.

STACEY GAVE the fact-finder 30 days to propose a settlement.

The teachers are seeking a two-year contract with raises of between 9 and 10 percent each year for full-time instructors. According to the faculty, the college is sticking with its offer made before the strike began Sept. 2 - 8 percent the first year and 7.25 percent the

An estimated 90 percent of Schoolcraft's full-time instructors make the maximum allowed under the expired contract - at least $24,300 a year.

The majority of the faculty, however, are part-time instructors paid on a "contact hour" basis. They are now paid about $14 an hour, which Grote has said is "extremely low."

The college said in a statement last week that it has offered part-timers a 14 percent raise effective the upcoming winter semester and 13 percent the following winter semester.

The college has said it cannot provide a larger than 7.25 percent secondyear increase for full-time faculty without taking the money from the proposed part-time faculty raises. Faculty negotiators have refused to agree with the proposal.

Smith still plays a numbers game

By W.W. EDGAR

From the time he was a student in the Wayne high school until he reached his present position as president of the Ann Arbor Mortgage Company, now located on Main Street, George Smith's life has been dealing with numbers.

First, he was quarterback on his high school football team and later held down down the same position with the Spartans of Michigan State when the late "Biggie" Munn was the coach. At those positions his status as a regular depended for the most part in calling the right numbers in the code of sig-

And now, as the head of the mortgage company, he has dealt with numbers in real estate that have left him in the position where his company is dealing with $80 million in mortgages.

Sitting at his desk the other afternoon revealing his life of numbers he made no effort to hide his pride in dealing with those mortgages. He pointed with pride to a new machine in the corner of his office across from City Hall that keeps him in touch with the New York money market every minute of the business day

BUT THE number that haunts him, just as it did Biggie Munn, is 55 and there is good reason for it.

Able to laugh about it now, after all these years, he shakes his head and says, "That was my first game as the Michigan State quarterback and we got beat 55 to 0.

"What an afternoon that was. It was a shocker and fine way for a fellow to start his college football career.

As the memories came back he recalled that his succeeding years as the State quarterback were never so embarrassing.

The next time we met our team lost, 14 to 7, but it was the next year in 1949 - that I had one of my worst disappointments.

" I kicked a field goal, " he smiled, " and it looked as though my successful kick would bring us a 3 to 0 victory. But fate stepped in.

"A fellow named Putich was sent into the game and he scored a touchdown that beat us, 7 to 3.

"IMAGINE THAT," Smith chuckled,

R. E. RUBY, D.D.S.

GEORGE SMITH

"the only play a fellow makes in a college football game not only beats us, but ruins my day. I could have gloried in the fact that I once won a big college football game with a field goal. Few fellows, these days, can boast of anything like that.

Aside from playing quarterback on the State football team Smith also participated in track and field as a shot

His best effort was 51 feet. This was a good heave in those days. But the thing that made him chuckle again as he recalled his college days was the fact that he tried out for the boxing team and made it. "And I was a team mate of Chuck Davey, the former boxing commissioner.

When he graduated from Michigan State in 1950, Smith turned to real estate, possibly with the thought that ground sometimes is valuable, as he learned on the football field.

A success from the start, he turned to mortgages in 1965 and now is riding the crest with $80 million in mortgages. But he still is haunted by the numbers 55 and that 7 to 3, defeat that deprived him of being a gridiron hero.

Of duck hunter tourneys and little squirrel tails

By LEM MESEE Outdoors writer

A duck hunters tournament is coming up Sept. 21 at Pointe Mouillee State Game Area, where the Huron River empties into Lake Erie.

The skills of waterfowling, marsh hunting, duck calling, sneak shooting and layout boat hunting will be tested in contests sponsored by the Pointe Mouillee Waterfowlers, the Michigan Waterfowl Decoy and the Gibraltar Duck Hunters associations.

Entrants must register before 10 a.m. for water events, according to publicist George Kadar.

For the state duck calling championship contest at 2 p.m., entrants must register before 1:30 p.m. The winner will be eligible to enter the world contest in Arkansas.

Once again there will be a trading post with table setups. This year a $5 fee will be charged exhibitors to help

"PADDLE IN" two-hour canoe trip along the lower Huron River will begin at 1 p.m. Sept. 21.

A naturalist will lead paddlers from the Big Bend picnic area of Willow Metropark to the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark, where a shuttle will convey them to the starting point.

Bring your own canoe or arrange to rent one by contacting the Huron River Canoe Rental Service in Flat Rock at

The event itself is free once you have paid vehicle entry admission. This canoe nature trail is the first of its kind in this part of the country.

KENSINGTON Metropark near Milford has two programs coming up Sept

A morning nature cruise aboard the "Island Queen" excursion boat on Kent Lake begins at 9 a.m. Naturalist Gordon Lonie will point out geese, heron and perhaps even deer. Register in advance by calling the nature center at 685-1561, and meet at the boat dock on the west side of the lake

A traditional craft day will be held at the Kensington Farm Center at the north end of the park from noon to 3 p.m. There will be demonstrations of the techniques of making soap, candles and cornhusk dolls, spinning and dyeing wool, according to farm manager Dave Moilanen.

There's a park admission of $2 per vehicle or $7 for a season pass.

Artist miffed after ousting from Fall Festival

By TERI BANAS

A local artist is threatening legal action against the city of Plymouth, the Fall Festival Board, or both, because of an incident at the community's 25th annual Fall Festival last weekend

Thomas LeGault of Westland, son of Karen LeGault, owner of a flower-gift shop at 884 Penniman Ave., claims he was harassed by local police and that his business reputation was marred when his one-man art show was closed by police Sunday.

"I was so embarrassed," he said of the police action. "There were people gathered all around with purchases in their hands and I had to deny them a LeGault said he's not sure who he will sue and on what charge but he's shopping around for an attorney to work out those details.

"I have no idea why I was singled out but I just want to find out who has the Gestapo power to close a legal busi-

On the first three days of the festival, LeGault had his show of acrylic paintings set up on the lawn of the Jack Wilcox home at 676 Penniman Ave., which faces Kellogg Park

However, after his first run-in with police officers Saturday, he moved the display to the area neighboring his mother's gift shop. LeGault said he's held his show on the lawn of Wilcox's home for seven years with no prob-

Berghoff couldn't explain why, after seven festivals, action was now being brought against LeGault.

"We don't allow any commercialism during the Fall Festival," said Glass. "This is the time we set aside for amateurs to get some exposure.

"Amateurs must submit an application to the festival board explaining their project and how they will use their proceeds. There's an entry fee. And LeGault didn't do any of that.

"He just wanted to capitalize on the situation and be there for the crowds the Fall Festival draws and we had upwards of 15,000 a day this year."

Wilcox, meanwhile, said he had always allowed LeGault to display his work on his lawn contingent on authorization from the festival board, which he assumed LeGault had.

"He was just getting started, seemed like a nice young man with some talent, and I wanted to help him out.'

"THE CITY officials have always come down here in the past and admired his work," Wilcox added. "But there was criticism of the commercialism of the Fall Festival last year and I think that's the background for this dis-

If he does take legal action, LeGault said he'll be seeking the restitution of his family name, which he feels was damaged by the public incident.

"I lost a whole lot of business. That's the time I sign up students for the fall

"This was no casual incident. There's more people in Plymouth this weekend than any other time. We had radio spots and other advertising put out, stating that we'd be open then.

David Dursum, assistant director for community education, urges those planning to take the G.E.D. test to first complete a preparation class.

"More than 90 percent of the students who complete the class will pass the stringent test," he said.

He added that the G.E.D. is not an end for many who pass the test because this success tends to build self-confidence, prompting students to continue taking classes at Plymouth-Canton and Schoolcraft College.

THE 15-WEEK preparation class is free to all students. Courses are offered in the morning, afternoon and evening. High School credit is earned for those interested in working toward a high school diploma.

Lab facilities are provided at the G.E.D. center for those needing additional help and instruction.

Persons interested in registering for the preparation class, or any other activity offered by the district's community education department, can sign up at the Community Education Office at Plymouth-Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road, Room 130.

Registration is ongoing from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, and from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

Nov. 4: It's voting day—not political auction

It appears that Republican supervisor capdidate . James Poole is trying to buy some votes Nov. 4.

His promise to slash the supervisor's salary by $7,000 next Dec. 1 adds a new twist to Canton's traditionally turbulent political scene.

Poole, a former trustee who ran unopposed in last August's GOP primary, says Canton's supervisor is paid too much money. Under action taken by the township board last winter, the supervisor's salary will jump from $29,000 to $32,000 Dec. 1

He has asked the Township Board to lower the salary of the incoming supervisor. But state law prohibits governmental bodies from taking salary action during the 60-day period preceding an election, according to a spokesperson for the Michigan Townships Association.

Poole promises to return $7,000 in the form of a charitable donation if the Township Board refuses to accept his "recommendation." An advocate of a ballot advisory question on the superintendent (manager) form of government, Poole endorses an additional $10,000 cute in the supervisor's salary when a manager-type position is filled.

His entire proposal would lower the supervisor's pay from $32,000 to $15,000 annually.

POOLE PROBABLY will hoodwink at least some voters with his proposal. After all, he appears willing to perform a job on the basis of dedication not because of promise of financial return.

But in reality, Poole's idea is a dangerous campaign tactic. It could turn election day into an auctioneer's search for the lowest-bidding candidate.

Elections should not be won or lost on the basis of a candidate's financial need. Only the rich would win positions of political power if voters based their decisions on the type of proposal offered by Poole.

That's not to imply that Poole is a wealthy man.

· He works part-time as a real estate agent to supplement his $15,000 annual pension as a retired Air Force major.

That pension will continue if Poole wins the supervisor's position. Additionally, most of the pension is tax-exempt because of an injury sustained in Guam following the Korean War, according to

Most township board candidates lack that type of financial cushion. Candidates for full-time administrative jobs typically arrange for leaves of absence from their regular places of employment

UNLIKE POOLE, they must rely on the salaries of Canton's elective positions to buy food, pay the rent and maintain their lifestyles.

Township board members set the supervisor's salary at the current level for a reason. They wanted to attract qualified candidates for the job. Few persons with well-paying jobs in the private sector could accept a full-time elective office if it meant a substantial pay cut.

Citizens who feel the supervisor's salary is too high should petition the township board to refrain from approving pay hikes in the coming years. Residents who favor the superintendent (manager) form of government should lobby for an in-depth study of the issue.

But the supervisor's pay should not be bandied about as an election issue.

Voters have two more months to size up Poole against his opponent - incumbent Supervisor Noel Culbert, who, as expected, opposes Poole's payslashing idea.

Voters should base their decision on the issues not on the "cheapest" bid.

Middle class feels state's service cut

It was a perfect day to pick out a campsite

The sun glistened on the sparkling lake. The blue sky was devoid of clouds. A mild breeze cooled the

But something was amiss in northern Michigan. A long line of cars clogged the usually serene entrance of the state park campground. Campers mumbled, first among themselves and then to the harried attendant at the desk

He smiled grimly, trying to maintain his compo-

Labor Day campers, used to congestion, were irate. One of the two camping areas around the lake had been closed.

THERE WASN'T any explanation, just a sign: Closed Use park on south side of lake.

They wanted to know why, on the busiest weekend of the summer, one campground was closed.

Nonchalantly, the park employee told them: Twelve people were just laid off. We don't have enough people to maintain both parks.

Very quickly, Michigan taxpayers are facing the realities of the much-lauded tax rebellion.

Gov William Milliken has taken to the trend, slashing the budget left and right - $900 million worth in the last two years. Natural Resources, the parent agency overseeing the parks system, is being cut by 27.4 percent.

OTHER STATE AGENCIES are finding their budgets being cut with equal vigor as the recession reduces revenues. Labor will be cut by 36.8 percent; Transportation 25.3, and Commerce, 24.3. The litany continues in descending order.

And although Milliken is, for the most part, using his best judgment in making cuts, state taxpayers should finally be able to see the folly of storming the tax camparts when supporting more drastic tax cut proposals as put forth by Shiawassee County Drain Commissioner Robert Tisch.

We should all breathe a sigh of relief and pray hard that higher courts will back up the recent court decision to ban Tisch from the ballot.

For however long implemented, the Tisch proposal would cripple state government beyond belief by draining its resources to help local governments. Among those who would be the most hard hit would be the persons who pay the most taxes in this state the middle and working class.

Ironically, that is where Tisch receives the majority of his support.

If Tisch, or any like amendment in the future, is foisted on state taxpayers, much more than the closing of a state park would be at stake. Look at it this way: If the state is forced to make Tisch-type cuts, it won't be the prisons that will be closed down. But your kid's college tuition, already too high, could go right through the roof.

IN MANY CASES, poor students will make their way through on scholarships. Mom and dad, of course, still will be able to foot the bill for the rich kid on the block.

But the middle class kid is going to be left out in the tax cut rain. There just won't be the money to go

Hopefully, the modest Milliken cuts have awak ened the public to the reality that state government, competently managed, is needed and that incomwpetent measures as proposed by Tisch should be oflushed down the drain — forever.

Toast to a home town stream — the blue St. Clair

Sitting on the banks of the St. Clair River one afternoon enjoying the start of a summer vacation, The Stroller kept humming the words of an old

"Mid pleasures and palaces, wherever you

Be it ever so humble, there is no place like

It wasn't because the St. Clair River is a humble stream. But of all the rivers he has encountered during his stroll along life's trail, he never has cast his eyes on one that was so different and so dear to

As he sat there at Marine City, looking a mile into Canada, visions of other rivers came to The Stroller's mind.

· DURING HIS TENURE as a sports writer, he was called upon to visit all sections of the country and cross many rivers.

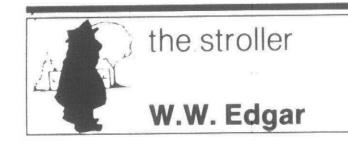

Traveling with his little portable typewriter, he viewed the Hudson River from the plains of West Point, N.Y. And he was on the banks of the Hudson at Poughkeepsie for the big college rowing regatta.

Yet none could equal the sight he saw that afternoon as he looked across the blue water that is part of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The Stroller has crossed the muddiest of America's streams - the Mississippi, the Ohio and the Missouri. There is nothing beautiful about any of them, though they hold a high place in America's commerce.

On his trail of the college rowing regattas, The Stroller has had the good fortune to watch the Harvard crew on the Charles River in Boston, the Housatonic at New Haven, Conn., where the Yale crew gained its reputation, and at Syracuse, where the Cornell oarsmen held forth.

Few are so beautiful. Few provide a place where you can look into another country. Few carry so much commerce. Few give you a close-up of giant lakes freighters carrying their cargo from Duluth to the manufacturing plants of the Midwest and ocean freighters, too.

None of those rivers can equal the blue St. Clair for all-around glamour.

IN THE SPACE of two hours, The Stroller caught sight of freighters from seven nations. They proudly flew their flags from the stern, and it became a game as to how many ocean-going freighters could be seen in the space of a few hours.

These things make the St. Clair different from all other rivers he has seen. This includes even the world-famous Thames, flowing through London, where The Stroller viewed the stream from the entrance to Westminster Abbey. It also includes the Rhine in Germany and the dirty Seine in Paris.

Sure, some of them had glamour. But not one had all the things that make of the St. Clair the one river that stands out above the rest.

True, too, there are no castles high on the banks of the St. Clair like one sees along the Rhine. But none of these famed rivers produces anything to equal the St. Clair River pickerel.

Properly prepared, the pickerel is a dish to set before a king, and no other river on the face of the globe can boast so appetizing a dish.

So, here's to the St. Clair River - may its blue waters never change.

State history needs touch of the comic

History books aren't bunk, but they do launder the truth quite a bit for the tender-minded. The history of Indians, the last half of Tom Jefferson's love life, the question of what disease really killed Bee thoven all illustrate that tendency

I ruminated on the sanitizing of History as we drift-fished last week at Drummond Island, off the eastern tip of the Upper Peninsula.

Our hostess, Karen Kemppainen, had given us a short printed history of the northern Lake Huron island I mention her because folks abound here knew her as Karen White. Southfield High class of '65 and later a resident of Farmington Hills

AFTER THE WAR of 1812, the British had to move out of their Mackinac Island fort, now such a tourist attraction, and sought another location

The Southwest Fur Company wanted the new location to be what is now Drummond Island because it was on the fur trading route to the upper lakes. So there the British located a fort.

The final treaty, however, placed Drummond inside the United States, the pamphlet said "From 1815-1828. His Majesty's redcoats paraded on the natural limestone parade grounds, and the British Union Jack flew over Drummond Island even though it was part of the United States and since 1826 a part of the newly formed Chippewa County Finally they were obliged to leave.

Those are the basic, sterile facts, according to the local pamphlet. Finally they were obliged to

But you wonder:

What did the red-faced redcoats say to the fur company management after they were forced to give up a fort?

How did the Americans ever manipulate the international boundary line east of Drummond when the deep-water shipping channel is west of Drum-

What kind of language was used when an American traveler tried to land on this American island with a British fort?

Whom did the British Colonial Office sack when it found another fort was lost?

Such colorful details are absent in the history

IT WOULD TAKE a comedian like Bob Newhart. in one of his telephone monologues, to do the situation justice:

"Hi, Col. Collyer? Gov. Lew Cass in Michigan Territory calling ... Belle's fine, thanks The fur trade is great? And you're thinksay fort is impregnable? ... ing of mining the limestone? ... Well, ah, Colonel, that's what I wanted to talk to you about Afraid I have a little bad news. Bad news for My reverie ended when my companion's fishing pole quivered and then bowed as he hooked a fat vellow perch. We would have plenty of perch and beer for our bellies that night.

But our curiosity about the human details of history would be unsatisfied.

Did you know that Michigan scientists are among those studying the possibility of towing fresh water icebergs from the Antarctic to far-away arid areas of the world? Saudi Arabia, Australia, South America and California are possibilities. University of Michigan professors of naval architecture and marine engineering say the scheme still remains "overwhelmingly complicated" but not necessarily impossible in the future.

able and you won't forget what you've just learned.

IN SHORT, workshops take you to where pictures are made. There is nothing quite as invigorating as receiving a new piece of information from a workshop instructor and then immediately putting it into practice.

This educational process strongly reinforces what you just learned. You won't forget it. There is also tremendous camaraderie among workshop participants. Never will you be in a learning situation where the love of photography is as contagious. The interactions between workshop students -- informal discussions, seeing how others do it, sensing how others feel, sharing photographic ideas -- are truly a learning stimulant

I myself studied with Ansel Adams in a workshop in Yosemite National Park. Between the setting and the instruction, it was the closest thing to being in Workshop instructors take personal interest in their students, and many one-on-one sessions are available. Setting up a shot with the help of fellow students and instructors offers the best opportunity to optimize in such areas as composition and depth of field. Your photographic perception will be stimulated, your vision enhanced.

WORKSHOPS OFFER the chance to travel and learn -- to see new and exciting places quite often at only a slightly higher expenditure than if you traveled there on your own.

The typical late-night bull sessions can be rewarding, too.

Learning to photograph well is like learning tennis well. For example, you can talk to pros for hours on end and read every tennis book in print. But only when youpick up your racket and get out on the court will you really start learning the game.

Similarly in photography, you must pick up your camera and get onto the "court." You must begin to shoot pictures in order to feel and learn what photography is all about.

workshops offer an excellent opportunity to do just this. Combining learning with shooting is the fastest and most positive way to enrich your knowledge and 1980, Monte Nagler. business briefs

A management consulting firm located in Plymouth, George Odiorne Associates, Inc., has announced it will provide advisory services for companies which find they have to fire or lay off employees. Fred DeRoche, vice-president and senior associate, said an organized, systematic approach to dealing with the problems caused employees allows companies and former employeesto. avoid many problems.

With the increase of permanent layoffs, companies are using management methods of responsibility to deal with these employment needs and concerns," DeRoche said

A well-planned assistance program, DeRoche added, will benefit both the corporation and the employees by:

· Strengthening the company's public and community image. · Conveying a sense of company responsibility to its employees and a sense of security to the retained em-

· Providing a coordinated plan for layoff or plant shutdown.

 Reducing potential legal actions. · Maintaining reputations within the industry · Reducing costly unemployment

· Minimizing damage and property loss due to theft and sabotage.

· Providing a corporate tax deduc-

He said counseling and training services for employees benefit the former 'employee by:

· Aiding in researching new job markets, geographic relocation and possible career changes.

Providing positive self-esteem and an understanding of personal skills, values and interests necessary to develop a successful job campaign. · Identifying personal career objec-

· Assisting in resume preparation.

· Offering counseling opportunities to dissipate anger, fear, frustration and hostility

· Providing an understanding of retirement options.

"While we provide individual executive services, this program is designed for the company faced with terminating many employees at one time where the cost of an individual program would be prohibitive," DeRoche said. After an initial assessment and consultation with the company management team to determine the needs, demands and expected program results, explained DeRoche, the placement assistance program uses four major activities to assist the employee: Individual counseling, group support counseling, training sessions in job hunting skills, and marketing of employees for placement with other employers.

THEY COULD HAVE danced all night On second thought, maybe they wouldn't have lasted that long. But the dance Saturday night of the Plymouth Fall Festival was a success. The music was exceptional and everyone 8 to 80 joined in, either dancing or sitting on sidelines tapping their toes. All expressed the same wish, "Let's do it again. Soloist Jan Gattoni deserves a special round of applause for singing in spite of a very sore throat and laryngitis She was ready to back out but was persuaded to carry on in true showbiz tradition. Nadine Heid strewed pounds of corn meal on Penniman Avenue in front of the bandstand to improve the dancing surface.

Among the dancers were Claire and Dave McCubbrey, Lorraine and Bob Barbour, Elise and Jack Murphy, Nan and Bob Cooper, Isobel and Bob Gerlach, Eleanor and Jim Warren, Lorraine and Tim Ford and Peg and Bill Leonard.

When the arts council artists and craftsmen show closed up shop, Mary Elizabeth and George Smith stopped by Prudy and John Quinn came over from Northville to dance under the stars. Others were Norma and Sam Russell, Donna and Bruce Harwood Patty and Pete Stacy, Nadine and Ralph Heid and Jane and Dick Horner.

CARL BATTISHILL assembled last season's CEP Jazz Band to provide the music for the street dance. Some of them are still in high school and some graduated in June

In the saxophone section were Mark Thrasher, University of Michigan freshman, Tom Pletzke, high school junior, Ted Hennig, U-M freshman, Ken Jennison, high school sophomore, and Joe LaBeau, high school senior

In the trumpet section were graduates Bruce Ruttenburg and Jeff Stankiewicz. Laurie Golden, high school senior and Brian Azelborn, high school junfor Trombonists were John Upton, U-M freshman, Karen Lattin, Central Michigan University freshman; Kurt Schubert, high school senior, Glen Adsit, high school junior; and David Gerke, high school senior.

Mike McGonigle, a freshman at CMU, played piano. The rest of the rhythm section was made up of high school seniors: Jeff Korsnes on guitar, Eric Flavin on bass, Jerry Hotckin and Jeff Stopa on drums.

Their sign-off number was Charlie Parker's "Moose the Mooch." During the evening their performances of "In the Mood," "Blue Moon," "Autumn Leaves" and the other classics of the 1940s had that memorable big band sound.

ANDY HOSEY is an inveterate fisherman. According to his wife, Lee, "Andy fishes and fishes, but he doesn't catch many.

The Hoseys were at their cottage on Crooked Lake in Indiana over Labor Day weekend. And it was there Andy's reputation as a fisherman was firmly established. In fact, folks from all around the lake gathered to admire his catch, the like of which had never been seen in those waters.

His trophy fish was a 31-inch northern pike. For those who are interested in bait and lures, Andy has no secret information to confide. He didn't have a fishing rod along when he caught the fish

He and daughter Pam, 13, were out on the lake in a rowboat when Pam spotted the fish. As it surfaced, Andy whacked it on the head with an oar and hauled it aboard.

It was the catch of the summer at Crooked Lake and made for mighty fine eating, said Lee.

THE CANTON Township Kiwanis Club turned out again this year to help set up the booths for the Plymouth Fall Festival. The Plymouth Kiwanians ar preciate the assistance as do all the festival participants.

They were back Sunday evening to help dismantle the booths.

Symphony's 35th season opens Oct. 12 will open its 35th season with a new conductor of international repute, a new concertmaster and a guest soloist with 28 years' experience as first trumpet in the Boston Symphony and Boston Pops orchestra.

To top if off, there will be a gala reception following the Sunday, Oct. 12

The musicians are looking forward to the season with enthusiasm engendered by the programming and the selection of guest soloists for all six concerts. The Symphony Society Board of Directors is smiling over the response to its first mailing of membership bro-

After a season of guest conductors,

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra the orchestra has a full time maestro. Conductor Johan van der Merwe was born in South Africa. He studied in South Africa, England, Germany and Italy and has conducted in Europe, South Africa and United States. His teaching career led him to the the University of Michigan School of Music where he is director of opera. He also is director of the University Orchestra at Interlochen National Music Camp.

> MEMBERSHIPS in the Plymouth Symphony Society include tickets to the six subscription concerts.

> The regular season will open at 4 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 12 in the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Guest soloist will be Armando A. Ghitalla, professor of trumpet at U-M. He has given recitals in Town Hall and Carnegie Recital Hall in New York City and has made several recordings.

Ghitalla was born in Knoxville, Ill. After graduating from Knoxville High School, he attended Illinois Wesleyan University, New York University and Juilliard School of Music, where he earned his bachelor of science degree in 1950.

He played first trumpet for the New York City Opera and Ballet Company and the RCA Victor Recording Orchestra, was soloist with the Band of America conducted by Paul La Valle, and was first trumpet with the Houston

Symphony Orchestra. He was solo trumpet with the Boston Pops Orchestra conducted by Arthur Fiedler, associate first trumpet in the Boston Symphony Orchestra where he became first trumpet in 1964

His solo number at the opening concert will be Hummel's "Concertp for Trumpet." The program will include Beethoven's "Leonore Overture No. 3" and Brahms' Symphony No. 2 in D.

ALL STUDENTS kindergarten through 12th grade are admitted to the concerts without charge. Admission for individual concerts is $4 for adults and $2 for senior citizens and full-time college students. Family memberships are being cochaired this season by Joyce Kelly, 453-3888, and Nola Lutey, 455-4023. Persons wishing more information can call either of them. Membership categories are sponsor, $500 or more donation, with 12 season tickets; pillar, $250, 6 season tickets; patron. $100, 4 season tickets; sustaining, $55, 3 season tickets; supporting, $35, 2 season tickets; active, $20, one season ticket; senior citizen, $10, one season ticket, and college student, $10, one season ticket.

Season ticket holders receive a newsletter before each concert. Babysitting service during concerts is provided in a room near the auditorium by a senior Girl Scout troop

Transportation for senior citizens to and from the concerts is provided from Tonquish Creek Manor

MEMBERS OF THE Symphony Society board of directors are Fran Lang, president; Carolyn Jacobs, first vice president; Ralph Atchley, second vice president, Harry Roebuck, secretary, and Keith Postell, treasurer

Others are Nola Lutey, Joyce Kelly, Stephanie Miller, Charles Wells, Ruth Whitmyer, Arthur Larson, Julius Wurm and Ollie Wagner. Jean Braun is orchestra liaison person and Janet Repp. president of the Plymouth Symphony League, represents the league

tion for the 1980-81 season.

Stepulla's appointment was a first in the 35-year history of the orchestra. The Canton Township resident is the first from this area to serve as concert master. It has been the custom to "import" the first chair violinists. Stepulla will succeed one of her former teachers, Emily Austin.

"I played with the Plymouth Symphony once a long time ago when I was a student of Mrs. Austin," she said. "Wayne Dunlap was then the conduc-

SHE EXPRESSED pleasure over the appointment. She said van der Merwe had called her in the spring and she had auditioned in August.

'When I played for him, I did not know he was considering me for concert master."

Once she ascertained the work with the Plymouth orchestra did not conflict with her schedule with the Toledo Symphony, she accepted. She has been a member of the Toledo Symphony for six years where she has done solo work and last year was assistant concert

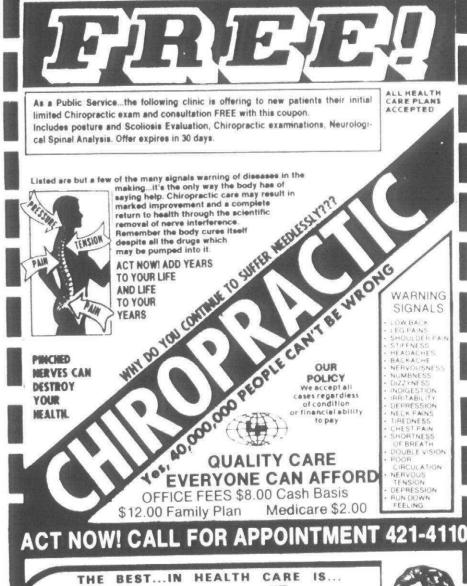

She was quite frank in stating that her salary with the Toledo orchestra made it possible for her to play with the Plymouth orchestra.

Born in Pennsylvania and raised in Michigan, Stepulla began playing the violin when she was in elementary school. She studies with Jacob Krachmalnick who is on the faculty of the University of Michigan. Before that, her teacher was Paul Makanowotsky of the U-M. For several summers, while in her teens, she spent eight weeks at Meadowmount in upper New York, studying under teachers from Juilliard. She also studied at Tanglewood.

Last season, she was concert master for the Michigan Opera Company.

Kathryn Stepulla and her husband, George, who also is a violinist, have been Canton residents for two years.

She will make her debut with the community orchestra at the Oct. 12 concert in Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium.

Interesting season ahead for Canton Newcomers

Canton Newcomers began their club year Sept. 3 with a meeting at Pioneer Middle School Well over 100 women attended the meeting. Club president Penny Luddecke welcomed everyone, and gave a brief description of the club's activities and objectives.

It sounds like a very busy year is planned for the group. Future meetings will include a talk by a lawyer in October aimed for things women should know about taxes, wills, etc. The November meeting will be the popular members' craft auction, followed by a fashion show in December.

And if you would like to learn how to bridge playing, dried flowers arranging or ballroom dancing, Newcomers have classes lined up for these activities. They also have bridge groups, bowling leagues, gourmet groups and luncheons in members' homes or in restaurants.

Several couple functions already are planned. Members and husbands will gather Saturday at the Canton Recreation Center for a potluck dinner. The cost is $4 per couple plus a dish to pass. For more information or reservations, contact Charlotte Towne, 981-1409.

AND SATURDAY, Oct. 11 is the date for a fall road rally. That's right, it's time once again for a tour of those little out of the way spots of southeastern Michigan. With the price of gas being what it is, rally planners say the complete rally will be under 50 miles assuming of course that you don't zig where you should zag! The complete rally is priced right at $15 per couple, which includes a meal. For more details or reservations, again contact Charlotte Towne, 981-1409.

In addition to president Penny Luddecke, the Newcomer's Planning Board includes vice president Carol Bollman, secretary Arlene Caron and treasurer Shirley Gruetzmacher. Reservations are handled by Debbie Barnes, and hospitality is headed by Linda Leszcz. Couples chairwoman is Charlotte Towne, interest groups is chaired by Lynn Spielman, and membership is chaired by Kathy Spencer.

The board is completed with Lin Pankratz as newsletter chairwoman, Claudette Gonsiorowski chairing the welcoming committee, Molly Pemberton heading publicity, and Judi Carr as community relations chairwoman.

WESTBROOKE Subdivision held its 1980 block party recently. It was a busy day. As in past years, the party was held within the barricades on Addison street, with traffic blocked off. To quote the planning committee, the street was barricaded to "accommodate the day's activities and delay police when they come to break up the evening activities.'

They also reserved a softball diamond at Griffin Park for several hours for the willing participants. The day's activities began with a decorated bicycle parade, with prizes awarded for design originality.

Games included sack races for all ages, as well as three-legged races. marshmallow races and potato-on-theshoe races. There was also a chewed gum relay race (I didn't ask any details on that one!), a scavenger hunt for the 8 and older set, a bean bag toss, clothes pin drop, an egg toss and a water bal-

Plymouth High School graduates of the Class of 1935 met the Saturday evening of the Plymouth Fall Festival for its 45th reunion. Eileen Archer Williams received a special commendation for preparing a class history and assembling the data on the members of the class. They met at the Plymouth Elks Club for cocktails, dinner and dancing and much reminiscing. Those who served on the planning committee were Marian Kehrl, Barb and Bob Soth, Jack Wilcox, Lola May Scheuder, Jean Champ, Darold and Peggy Cline, Eileen Williams, Dorothy Bassett and Ernestine noted the class of '35 assembled for its freshman year "155 strong." During the year, Beulah Starkweather won the school declamation contest; Ray Trimble earned a varsity letter in football; and 18 members of the class were guests at the Honor Banquet.

"Only 135 of us returned in our sophomore year." The class won second place on Stunt Night for its imitation of broadcasting station. As juniors (there were 122 of them), they had their first class play, "Peg O' My Heart." Their barn dance number on stunt night earned them first place. Katherine Schultz won first place in the school oratorical contest and their J-Hop drew a record-breaking crowd.

There were 86 class members for their senior year. Darold Cline was class president for the fourth year and

Jack Wilcox was Student Council representative for the fourth year. Thirty of the classmates had started to kindergarten together and remained together in the same school until high school graduation. In the early '30s, what is now Central Middle School, was elementary through high school

Marian Kehrl and Jack Wilcox served on the reunion planning committee.

Theme for their senior prom was Hawaii and senior play was "It Pays to Advertise.'

Mrs. Williams completed her summary with a thank you to their class advisors, "We feel ourselves greatly indebted for our various successes to our advisors, Miss Wells, chairman; Miss Cary and Mr. Latture who have helped us through every crisis for the four years of our high school careers."

When you save every payday, you never know where it will take you.

Manage your money better and you'll stay way ahead of the game.

We all want to get to that day when we don't have to worry about money problems. Planning your savings goals and making regular savings deposits will help you get there faster. A dream vacation can become a reality through smart money management at a DETROLIBANK Corporation Bank. You can make each dollar count, and we can help make each dollar do the most for you.

Consistent savings is the key to successful money management.

The way to make your savings grow quickly is through regular deposits. That's why an automatic savings plan is a good idea. Each month your DETROTT BANK or will transfer a certain amount from your checking account to your savings account. An automatic savings plan lets you pay yourself first each month before you have to pay any of your bills.

But when you have big bills to pay such as taxes or insurance—divide them by twelve and set that amount aside each month. But it in a Statement Savings daily interest account where it will earn interest that is continuously compounded every day. When your bills come due, you'll not only have the money to pay the bills, you'll also have extra money from the daily interest.

More than 113 locations of DETROITBANK Corporation Banks bring money management close to home.

Come in and talk with a DETROFF BANK er today. Just look for the Indianhead sign near wherever you live or work. That's where you'll get the assistance you need to improve your financial picture. Your nearby DETROFFBANK Corporation Bank brings money management close to home.

St. Paul is the second oldest church in the Livonia area. For many years, it was a rural church at Five Mile and Farmington. Later, the proporty was sold to the city of Livonia, and the site is now occupied by the Senior Citizens Activity Center. At that time, the church moved to its 10-acre location on and finds himself "coming home" to a West Chicago neighborhood will be installed Sunday as senior pastor of Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church of Livonia.

The Rev. Gerald Cobleigh comes from the First United Presbyterian Church of Wyandotte to lead a church that has had interim pastors for several months since the departure of the Rev. Robert Taylor.

A Detroit native, Cobleigh grew up a block from West Chicago and was in one of the earlier Cody High School graduating classes.

"And I guess you see signs after making decisions, but having a home and church on that street gives me a feeling of coming home," he said. "Besides that, I felt most at home with the people of Rosedale Gardens the first Sunday my wife and daughters and I were there. We are all most pleased to be coming to this church."

THE INSTALLATION will be held at 7 p.m., with the Dr. Richard Dunkelberger, longtime pastor of Rosedale Gardens and a director of Presbyterian Village in Redford Township, serving as guest preacher.

Also participating will be the Rev. James Cannon, moderator of the Detroit Presbytery.

"Dr. Dunkleberger is a dear friend of mine - I was a year ahead of his son in seminary - and beloved by this congregation, and Jim Cannon is a person really important to the peace in this denomination, so I'm delighted both will be with us," said the new Livonian.

Cobleigh, his wife, Kay, and their daughters Heather and Katy moved into the Rosedale parsonage late in August after the call had been extend-

"We were anxious to get things fixed up, although the church people had been willing to help," he said, "and "I was ready to begin work Sept. 1.

"This congregation has been very open about its needs and I want to get to work starting to meet them." A valued possession that came with the family's belongings was a still unfinished organ the clergyman is builld-

"I bought the plans for $9," he said, "and I figure when it's done it may cost about $2,500. But that includes buying tools I needed for it and a lot of stain that I also am using on furniture for the children's rooms.

COBLEIGH attended Wayne State for a term after finishing high school and then enlisted in the U.S. Air Force, serving with the Strategic Air Command at Bangor, Maine.

"Then I decided I had followed my own way long enough and somebody else had a better way, and he's been my boss ever since," he said of his decision to go into the ministry.

Back in his home church, Grandale Presbyterian in Detroit, he was advised to complete work at WSU, where he earned a degree in psychology in the next three years.

"Kay and I met in psychology class," he said. "We teamed up to pass and have been teamed up ever since."

They were married after graduation the summer of 1965, and then headed for Kentucky where Cobleigh earned a master of divinity degree from Louis-

His first call was as assistant pastor at the Wyandotte church.

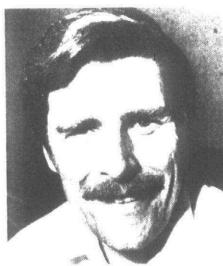

"About 18 months later, the senior pastor accepted another call," he said, and later I was asked to take over."

That church, he said, was "hard to leave. It's quite a community - a very warm group," he added. "But I had a personal need for more challenge and stimulation, and I have learned that when I have strong feelings of this sort I should listen to them.'

Of his new 1,333-member congregation, he said:

"Whatever their problems, they have the people to overcome them.

"In spite of the recent months of interim leadership, they have built a real continuity. I am looking forward to serving with them."

PRIME TIME

A basic objective in backgammon is to stop your opponent's forward progress by trapping his back men. This is done by closing (two or more checkers on any given point) four or five points in a row, preferably beginning with the 4 and 5 point through the 8 point

The more points you "own," the more difficult it is for your opponent to bypass you. With six consecutive points closed, it is impossible for your opponent to run by. This is called a full prime.

In the position shown, white, on roll, has a 6-1 to play. How would you move?

Your first inkling might be to close the 3 point by moving a checker from the 9 and 4 points. This is fine since it fits in with the prime. However, moving to the 3 point will not stop your opponent from running with 6s.

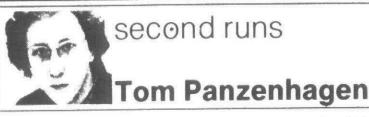

I would close my 7 point with the 6-1 and leave a double indirect shot. The 7 point fits the prime just right, since you want to stop your opponent from escaping. You can begin working at closing the 3 point next. Although there is a "safe" play, leaving the open blots on the 8 and 9 is not as dangerous as it may seem. You now have the makings for a "full" prime and should, no doubt, win the game.

The American Backgammon Club can be contacted at Box 599, Plymouth 48170, or by calling 459-5776.

"Pork Chop Hill" (1959), I p.m. Friday on Ch. 50. Originally 97 minutes.

They called it "'50s realism" - stark, unglamorous dramas of life and death. "Pork Chop Hill," a prime example of that realism, is an uncompromising film about the futility of war. Director Lewis Milestone's treatment of the Korean War is sobering and frightening, as Gregory Peck leads his troops - George Peppard, Woody Strode, Rip Torn, Harry Guardino - up yet another hill.

"Women in Love" (1970), 7:30 and 10 p.m. Friday at Cass City Cinema in the First Unitarian Church, 4605 Cass at Forest, phone 832-6309, $2 $1 for seniors. Running time 132 minutes.

Ken Russell is a stylish director — too stylish at times. Individual sequences of his films often overwhelm and consume the rest of the picture. 'Women' demonstrates his flare for the dynamic, but the film as a whole is uneven. There are too many good scenes and too many lulls. Still "Women in 'Love," with Glenda Jackson, Alan Bates and Oliver Reed, is a very good film, as is "Savage Messiah," a '72 Russell work that runs Saturday at Cass City, also at 7:30 and 10 p.m.

"Reefer Madness" (1939), about 5 a.m. Saturday on Ch. 62. Originally 65 minutes

Here's a movie that did for marijuana what John Wayne did for the Japs. Imagine the worst fears of all the anti-pot forces and Art Linkletter combined, and you have "Reefer Madness." Sure, the Catholics had Dante but parents have "Reefer Madness." Truly an incredible film and one worth staying "up" for all night long. Or stay straight and concentrate, but remember: Reality is for people who can't handle drugs.

"Charlie Chan at the Olympics" (1937), 11 a.m. Saturday on Ch. 20. Originally 71 minutes.

It should be noted — and never before has in this every Saturday morning. The Chan pictures, which starred Warner Oland from 1931 to 1937 and Sidney Toler from 1937 to 1947, are seldom bad and often very good films. "At the Olympics," Oland's last film, falls into the former category. Actual footage from the Berlin Olympics is used. Keye Luke ap-

He was relieved after his team came from behind Tuesday night at home in a tight 51-48 win over Walled Lake Western in the girls basketball season

"It's going to be a dogfight for 20 games," predicted Blohm. "Give Walled Lake Western credit. Their coach has done a tremendous job. He's turned it around." Blohm earned his pay. This was not just another easy traditional opener against Western. Two years ago Salem won by 32 points. Last season the spread was 22. "I'm pleased," said Blohm, "because Western really made us work hard." Salem, which posted a 17-7 record in 1979, trailed until the final quarter.

It was veteran center Cheryl Sobkow who lit Salem's fire.

She finished the game with 27 points and 21 rebounds. The 5-9 workhorse sparked the comeback with eight straight points.

"We tried to key on her," said Western coach Tom Szocinski. "Sobkow put the ball in with three and four people hanging all over her. I'm very, very impressed. She's All-State material. A team player.

"If it wasn't for her, we would have

"They made some awfully good shots," said Blohm of Western's accuracy from the floor. "We had a tremendous third quarter and (Bonnie) Southerland made some key passes into Cheryl. We have to continue to develop our depth.

Southerland, a junior guard, came off the bench late in the third quarter to spark the Rocks along with Sobkow.

The scrappy Western cagers led at halftime, 29-24, behind the sharpshooting of Janet Wilson and Kris Mellema. Salem followed in the third quarter by picking up the tempo. Sobkow's re-

In the fourth period, Sobkow grabbed a rebound and drove the length of the floor to give the Rocks a 44-42 advantage with seven minutes left. Salem Canton has won the Western Six never relinquished the lead, stalling for did we miss?

A basket by Wilson with 49 seconds remaining gave the Rocks some anxious moments, 49-48. Salem's Jacque Merrifield was then fouled in the backcourt with 42 seconds left and missed the front end of a one-and-one free throw attempt.

Sobkow, however, grabbed the miss and scored to put the game away.

Wilson paced Western with 17 points. Mellema, who received several fast break passes from teammate Cindy Hart, added 15.

Eileen Moore and Jan MacKenzie had nine points apiece for Salem. The Rocks hit five of 11 from the free bound basket with 12 seconds left in the — throw line while Western connected on six of 13.

Cross country idea gets a boost

It's difficult trying to be a spectator at a cross country meet Most courses are three miles long and weave through hill and dale But I saw something unique the other night during the halftime of the Livonia Bentley-Plymouth Canton football game which caught my eye. The concept was so simple and seemed like a shot in the arm for the sport Runners from the Canton and Bentlev cross country teams got together Friday night in an exhibition dual with the finish line being the track inside the

Bulldog Athletic Field Bentley coach Ron Fedraw came up with the idea and called Canton coach Jim Haves with the invitation

Everything worked out for the best as the football fans got turned on by the close finish at the wire between Bentlev's Craig Allen and Canton's Scott Hand Allen crossed first with a time of 15.57 Hand's time was 15.58.

Seven runners from each school started the race just outside the stadium, three minutes to go before the half. Allen and Hand entered the track in olympic-like form just as the Bulldog band had left the field.

"He (Ron) came up with a nice idea," said Hayes. "I was real pleased by the response. When he called me it sounded like a fantastic idea.

Although the course was mapped out by Fedraw over a flat terrain and through parts of a nearby subdivision, Hayes said his team "got pumped up about the whole idea.

"The kids thought it was kind of fun," he said. "It gives the student population a chance to see how hard they work.

"I think the interest is there and I'd like to do it on a regular basis. A lot of people liked it. At the end of the season I need to lay out out a course for our

The whole scene Friday night reminded me of the Olympic marathon.

After the race, Canton's victorious team took a lap around the track in unison to the roaring applause from their Fedraw's idea is a good one. Other schools should investigate the concept to fuel interest among area teams.

One problem exists, however. Cross country teams can't run in the dark. As fall disappears, sunlight vanishes quickly. But the first few meets could be run in conjunction with early season football games.

By the way, Canton won the meet,

Rotary meet draws area tankers

Six girls' swim teams will converge Saturday on Plymouth Salem's pool to compete in the first annual Plymouth-Canton Rotary Invitational.

Salem and rival Plymouth Canton will host the meet. Among the teams invited to the swim opener are Northville, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin and Brighton

The diving event starts at 10 a.m. followed by the meet itself at 1:30 p.m. The public is invited free of charge.

Two heats will be held per event. The top six finishers in each event will be determined by times.

Most observers feel Western Six League power Northville is the team to beat in the meet. Westland John Glenn. which finished second to North Farmington in the Northwest Suburban League meet last season, could be a

The most serious threats, however, will be Salem and Canton.

In diving, Canton's Chris Wennerberg and Salem's Patty Larson are favored to battle for the title. Both ranked high in the Observerland area ratings last fall. Two of the area's top divers from a year ago graduated - Natalie McClumpha of Plymouth Salem and Janet Borgerding of Glenn.

Glenn will be led by first-year coach Deborah Sanders. Franklin hopes to improve under the leadership and youthful enthusiasm of Gary Rogers, who swam himself for the Patriot boys' team not long ago.

SALEM COACH Chuck Olson is hoping his team can rebound from a 7-6 dual mark and fourth place finish in the Suburban Eight League last season. The Rocks' top swimmer is junior Terri Eudy, an All-Observer first-team choice in 100-yard freestyle in 1979. Other Salem tankers to watch include Linda Wochna (backstroke) and Julie Cabadas (freestyle). Canton will rely on senior Kim Massey, an at-large All-Observer swimmer. She has posted fast times in the 100-yard backstroke, 200-yard freestyle and 200-yard individual medley.

Canton coach Mark Griffith enters his second season with his team virtually intact. Mary Reardon, a senior freestyler, and Missy McMurray, a junior sprint freestyler, are veteran tankers who helped the Chiefs to a third place finish in the Western Six.

Brighton and Livonia Franklin figure to be near the bottom of the team standings, although the two teams have some fine individuals returning from last year who could make things interesting.

Chief harriers open season impressively

Plymouth Canton's cross country team, expected to be one of the best in the area, opened the season Tuesday at Schoolcraft College with a triangular meet win over Livonia Stevenson and Plymouth Salem.

Coach Jim Haves' Chiefs totaled 24 points Stevenson, coached by Paul Holmberg, finished next with 33 followed by young Plymouth Salem at 70.

Stevenson senior Larry Gjernes won the three mile race handily with a time of 16.20. He was followed in the next four spots by Canton runners Brian Jones, second place, 1652, Scott Hand, third, 16.59, Dan Inloes, fourth, 17:10; Jack Pacente, fifth, 17-25

"Canton had a strong team last year and has everyone back," said Holmberg "The meet came out better for us than I anticipated Gjernes is our only experienced runner

"It's going to be a year of slow improvement

Salem coach Scott Dunson, who started four sophomores, was not surprised by Canton's showing

"They are real strong," he said "Canton is tough all over. They could finish in the top five at School-each other at 10 a.m. Sept. 20 in the Schoolcraft Invitational

"I can't say I wasn't happy," Dunson said. "Our four sophomores ran well. I think we're a little ahead of last year. I'm looking for improvement and for them to come along at

SALEM'S TOP finisher was Chris Kopach, who placed ninth overall with a time of 17:48

Jeff Haller of Stevenson gained sixth with a clocking of 17:36. Teammates Bob Clark and Keith Roznowski grabbed seventh and eighth with times of 17:39 and 17:41 respectively.

Other top finishes included Mike Talaga (PC), 10th, 18:01; Tim Granata (LS), 11th, 18:07; Barron Smith (PC), 12th, 18:13; Chris Whittaker (PS), 13th, 18:17; Dan Henry (PC), 14th, 18:22; Frank Brosnan (PS), Jones, who finished second, is only a freshman. Granata placed 11th after only two days of practice, according to Holmberg.

In the girls' race, Stevenson's Lori Bennett, an All-Observer track performer, led the Spartans to the team title by defeating Canton, 20-57. Plymouth Salem entered only one runner - Ruth Sample and she finished second with a time 20:26.

Fore! Men eye O&E golf glory

By DOUG FUNKE

A full field of 225 men will tee off beginning 7:30 a.m. Saturday in the first round of the 1980 Observer & Eccentric Golf Tournament.

The great majority will return to Whispering Willows Golf Course in Livonia the following day to complete the 36-hole tournament.

Three of four champions from last year's tourney will be back to attempt to defend their titles.

They include Jerry Thomas, a Livonia resident, Championship Flight; Richard Wheeler, Westland, Flight 1; and Tom Blazer, West Bloomfield,

The only titlist who did not register this year was Jack Quigley, a Westlander who won the championship in Flight 3.

The vast majority of golfers will participate in the more-competitive Championship Flight and Flight 1.

"We have 83 in the Championship Flight and that's unheard of," said Gary Whitener, professional at Whispering Willows and the tournament director.

Whitener said that between 50 and 60 golfers have battled for honors in the Championship Flight in years past. Six-

With only a small number of handicaps to be figured and flights to be assigned Monday, Whitener said that 72 golfers will compete in Flight 1, 40 in Flight 2 and 14 in Flight 3. The flights, in which golfers of similar abilities compete for low gross (actual score) and low net (score figured with handicap) honors break down in the following manner: • 'Championship Flight - 0 to eight

• Flight 1-9 to 14 handicap.

 Flight 2 — 15 to 21 handicap. • Flight 3 - 22 and up handicap.

"We have an awful lot of familiar names who have been playing for years," Whitener said.

John Van Vleck, a Farmington Hills resident and two-time winner in the Championship Flight, returns as does Bill Curtis, a Farmington resident who has also won a title in the Championship Flight.

Also back this year are Roger Springsteen, a Livonian, who was involved in a three-way playoff last year with Thomas and Curtis.

Kim Rzetelny, a Livonia resident who lost to Wheeler in a playoff last year, will also try his luck again this We're the best kept secret in Detroit!

Although there's nothing secretive about being the 4th largest pizza company in the country, (in terms of pizza sales) we've grown so fast, at a rate of over 40% each year, that many people still may not know

When they find out that by investing $9,500 cash (our total franchise fee) and by qualifying for financing of $40,000 to $50,000 they may be eligible for a Domino's Pizza franchise, they want to know more!

They are surprised to find that a franchise relationship with Domino's Pizza includes a professional training program, advertising expertise, site selection and store opening

We have over 300 stores located in 30 states and are now going international. We're a secret you don't have to keep to yourself!

Not to be outdone by the men who went on a scoring spree last week to open the season, the women bowlers opened their campaign to rewrite the record book Monday

Showing the way was Ruby Williarnson of the Lafayette Care team in the Bowlerettes league. She rolled a 780 series to gain second place in the all-time high scores for women

Opening with a 299 when she was denied a perfect game by a stubborn No. 4 pin that wouldn't fall, she came track with a 254 and closed with a 2 27.

Tension never was higher than in her closing game when most of the league stopped and started to yell for an 800 series that would put her at the top of the record list.

The tension became too much and a few No. 10 pins that wouldn't go down robbed her of the all-time

Her 780 series is only seven pins short of the 787 series rolled by Penny Behn last year. And it did push Ann Setlock, day manager at Garden Lanes, who held the record for years with a 776, down to third

While Ruby Williamson was rolling her big series, she was crossing lanes with Kathy Haislip, of the Jac-Ro team, who also broke the 700 barrier with a 710

Glenn cage coach ousted by principal

By DOUG FUNKE and SANDRA ARMBRUSTER

Dan Henry, who coached Westland John Glenn to a 10-12 record last winter during his first season in charge of the varsity boys' basketball team, was relieved of his coaching duties last week by Thomas Svitkovich, principal

Henry had renewed his one-year basketball coaching contract in June. Coaching contracts in the Wayne/Westland Community Schools are extra work contracts and are renewed every

The Wayne-Westland Education Association filed a greviance against the school administration on behalf of Henry, who coached the JV basketball team three years before taking over the varsity when Gordie Davis re-

Bob Kowalczyk, executive director of the WWEA, said that in addition to the grievance, the WWEA would file an unfair labor practice charge against the Wayne/Westland Board of Education with the Michigan Employment Relations Commission.

The grievance alleges that the firing violated the "just cause" provision of the contract between the WWEA and the school board, Kowalczyk said.

The unfair labor charge is based upon that fact that Henry did not have union representation when he was dismissed as coach in a meeting with Svit-

The unfair labor charge also alleges that Henry's working conditions have been changed in violation of the contract. Originally scheduled to teach one physical education class at Glenn and four at Stevenson Junior High, Henry now is assigned solely to Stewenson.

"We're seeking an injunction and restraining order (through Wayne County Circuit Court)," Kowalczyk said. "In other words, we're seeking to have him retained until this is adjudicated.

He added that the court action will be taken after the unfair labor practice charge is filed.
