

Hopes for flicked-on cable hinge on late freeze

If you want to be one of Canton's first cable TV customers, keep your fingers crossed for a mild winter.

A spokesman for Omnicom of Michigan — the firm that will supply the cable for Canton Township — said cables can be installed until cold weather hardens the ground.

Plans call for some Canton homes to be hooked into the system by January, said Omnicom operations manager Dennis Fassett.

"THE WIRING is almost exclusively underground," added Fassett. "If we don't have frost, we'll keep on working."

Tentative plans call for the first trunk lines to be installed along Sheldon and Morton-Taylor roads, but "it isn't precise and there could be a change," said Fassett.

Feeder lines to subdivisions would be tapped into the main trunk. Off the feeders will be the "drops" to individual houses, said Fassett.

A few homes in Plymouth were hooked into Omnicom's cable system last month, Omnicom, which has obtained franchise agreements in Northville, Canton and Westland, plans to extend the system to those communities as construction continues.

The cable TV plan offers up to 40 channels of sports, news, entertainment, business reports and local programming (school plays and government meetings) for a monthly fee of $6.95, according to Fassett.

First-run movies will be available for an additional $6.95. And installation is free during the construction period, which could last several months.

OVER-THE-AIR pay television, such as ON-TV, uses broadcast facilities of Channel 20. The transmissions are scrambled to prevent non-subscribers from using the service. Decoders unscramble the signals for subscribers who pay a monthly fee of $22.50. They also pay a $50 installation fee and a refundable $50 security deposit.

Available later will be a home security system which will cost $250-$400, depending on options. Residents would be connected to Omnicom computers, which would monitor for break-ins, fires and emergencies.

Varsity soccer?

Prospect brightens for high school buffs

By TERI BANAS

The future appears to be getting rosier for the prospect of a high school varsity soccer program at the Centennial Educational Park.

The school district's athletic director, John Sandmann, is recommending that two varsity soccer teams be formed and ready to play in the 1981-82 fall season.

His recommendation has the support of the School Superintendent John Hoben.

Calling it a "distinct possibility," Sandmann said his decision was reached following summer negotiations with two parents who represent the Great Lakes Soccer League and the Western Suburban Soccer League. Sandmann's proposal is expected to be heard by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education tonight. The school board has ultimate say on whether or not the athletic director's operating budget should be increased to accommodate another competitive sport.

Last July the school board directed Sandmann to meet with parents Dave Monk and Dan Lee, both outspoken supporters of high school soccer. The meeting was held Sept. 2 at which time it was decided the potential was there for the 1981-82 season.

Previous requests to institute varsity soccer were denied by the board for various reasons, most recently finances. In past years there has been a freeze on the addition of other team sports to the athletic department while Title IX requirements were being met. (Title IX is the federal mandate that insures girls are given the same sports opportunities as boys in schools.)

SO FAR, it's been proposed that teams be established for boys and girls at both Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools.

To coincide with the guidelines of the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the boys' teams will begin competitive play in the fall and the girls' teams will follow in the spring.

At this time the proposal does not include junior varsity teams.

"Lee and Monk didn't feel it was needed and I didn't either," said Sandmann about the junior varsity soccer teams. "We're in a budget situation that's tough enough right now. The idea is to just get it started."

He said he still hasn't worked out the cost of the program, although he did estimate last July that a four-team program would cost about $10,000.

ABOUT POSSIBLE play fields, Sandmann said "when the budgets approved then we'll worry about that."

He did say, however, that decisions would have to be made soon because organized teams in other school districts already have their schedules for next season.

Meanwhile, Dan Lee was ecstatic with the news of varsity soccer in this school district.

"It makes me feel glad that Plymouth feels the same way I do about soccer," he said. "I think what changed their minds was the number of parents and kids who are interested in soccer here."

Lee added that there's a movement on in Michigan to begin state championships in high school league play for this sport.

Push for industrial tax base needs added oomph, claims head of EDC

The chairman of a committee charged with attracting industrial development is threatening to resign from the post "unless we get off our duffs soon."

The industrial and commercial committee must take a more aggressive stance in the promotion of Canton to industry, says chairman Robert Schaetzl.

"If we don't do something soon, our tax rate is going to be so high that no one will want to come in," he maintains.

Schaetzl, who also heads the township's Economic Development Corp. (EDC), pushed for a more aggressive industrial drive in two unsuccessful campaigns as a Canton trustee hopeful. He was ousted from both the 1978 and 1980 races in the August primaries.

SCHAETZL NOW expresses discouragement with the work performed by the industrial and commercial committee. He has called a joint Oct. 21 meeting between the group and the EDC in an effort to pump life into both programs.

"If it's my fault in not having better ideas, maybe I should step down," he said.

"Right now, we're waiting for people to come to us. We are strictly re-active rather than pro-active. We're not progressing fast enough, and our tax rate is going out of sight."

Schaetzl has served on the EDC since its inception in 1977. He has served on the industrial and commercial committee for the last 2½ years.

State law authorizes municipalities to establish EDCs for purposes of at-

'If we don't do something soon, our tax rate is going to be so high that no (industry) will want to come in.'

— Robert Schaetzl, chairman, EDC, industrial committee

tracting industry through low-interest loans. The agency applies for low-interest bank loans on behalf of an industry, then lends the money to the new company. Typically, the interest rate is several percentage points lower than the going commercial rate.

Schaetzl says the EDC should consider hiking its handling fee — now $750 per client.

"Our fee isn't high compared to other communities. Some charge $2,000," he said. "We should develop plans on how we'd spend the money if we had it."

According to Schaetzl, state law allows EDCs to buy land, construct buildings and lease the property to industrial clients. He suggests consideration of that idea.

He maintains that the industrial and commercial committee should take a more aggressive role. The committee, comprised of non-paid volunteers, published a brochure on Canton's value as an industrial location about two years ago.

The committee now plans to update the brochure with an $800 grant from the Township Board and take an inventory of industrially-zoned parcels.

BUT SCHAETZL says much more should be done. The group's subcommittee have been charged with investigating ways to take a more active role in the solicitation of industry.

"Unfortunately, the road to hell is paved with good intentions," he said.

"Somewhere between these two organizations and the Township Board, we've got to get the message out that there is property available to industry and this township is receptive."

Police obtain warrants charging 2 with rape

Police have obtained arrest warrants for two men on charges that they raped an 18-year-old Canton woman last week.

Named in the warrant are James Acuff, 19, of Toledo, and Jerry Johnson, 17, of Inkster. The warrant specifies a charge of criminal sexual conduct in the first degree, which carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Police Lt. Larry Stewart said the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office approved the warrant request on Friday, and arrangements were being made to arrest the pair.

ACCORDING TO the police report, the woman was assaulted and raped in her Princess Street home about 12:45 p.m. She told officers the men, who were acquaintances, had stopped by to visit.

When they found out she was alone, they assaulted her. The report said she had sustained bruises on her head and neck from being hit and choked.

To tighten control

Police reorganize department

By ARLENE FUNKE

A reorganization of the Canton police department slated to go into effect Oct. 1 aims to tighten controls and improve service.

Five Canton patrol officers will be promoted to the rank of corporal. As such, they will become "command officers" in certain situations which require a quick decision.

In addition, Sgt. Dennis Joker will be promoted to lieutenant and be responsible for the uniformed division, including equipment and staffing.

Joker, 36, has been with the Canton department for two years. Previously, he served with the Westland, Detroit and Garden City departments.

Canton's police department already has one lieutenant, Larry Stewart, who will continue to be responsible for records, detective bureau, laboratory and polygraph (lie detector) testing.

ALL THE divisions previously were under the supervision of Stewart, who is deputy chief. Stewart said a sergeant's position may be filled either by promotion or hiring.

There currently are two sergeant vacancies, he said.

"We will have a more realistic span of control," added Police Chief Jerry Cox. "I reduced the number of people that I deal with directly from six to two. It tightens up to reduce the number of people involved in responsibility and accountability."

Stewart said oral examinations will be given this week to 11 patrol officers who are vying for the five new corporal positions. Those officers, who previously passed a written test, will be judged on knowledge of police work, decision-making ability and common sense. Their salaries will increase from $20,550 to $21,577, said Stewart.

"The corporal will function as a patrolman except in the absence of a sergeant," added Stewart. "At that point he will be the officer in charge."

"It won't be a seniority promotion," continued Stewart. "That isn't appropriate in this department."

In recent years, the department has evolved from its beginning as a reserve (volunteer) force in 1976 to a full-time one in 1978. Currently, there are 33 full-time officers, including cadets, and 22 reserves.

Many certified officers were hired at the same time and have virtually the same amount of experience.

"THEY HAVE functioned as independents," explained Stewart. "Normally — in other departments — new officers are placed with somebody more experienced for a year. The newcomer was under somebody's guidance until gradually would be weaned into being a fully-experienced officer."

That would create mixed results.

"For some, this has been a good experience," said Stewart. "Virtually all know more than comparable officers on another department."

The lack of a seniority officer might also mean that no one officer would be responsible for a situation. Improperly-handled situations then would come to light only when residents complained, added Stewart.

Some officers also "felt uncomfortable" either giving or receiving instructions from another officer who had the same rank and seniority, he said.

TAX PROPOSALS

John M. Hoben, superintendent of the Plymouth-Canton Schools, is urging the board to adopt a resolution advising residents to vote against three tax proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot. The board of education will consider his recommendation at a meeting tonight. For a brief run-down on the proposals and the implication of each for the Plymouth-Canton Schools, turn to Page 3A.

Merit finalists are announced

Six residents are among some 15,000 semifinalists in competition for merit scholarships to be offered in 1981 by the National-Merit Scholarship Corporation of Evanston, Ill.

The semifinalists named in every state represent the top-half-of-one-percent of the state's high school senior class.

The local semifinalists included two seniors from Plymouth Canton High School and four from Plymouth Salem High School.

The Canton High students are Miriam B. Rozian and Chris J. Thompson

Union donates to burn center

Canton firefighters have donated $1,025 to the University of Michigan Burn Center.

The members of Local 2289 of the International Association of Firefighters raised the money by sponsoring a spaghetti dinner Aug. 9 in conjunction with the Canton Country Festival.

Jim Davison, vice president of the union, said the dinner was the organization's first formal fundraiser.

"We've stood on the corner and collected for muscular dystrophy, but we've never done anything like this before. With this kind of success, I guess we'll do it every year."

Proceeds from next year's spaghetti dinner may be earmarked for muscular dystrophy, Davison said.

and the Salem High semifinalists are Mark K. Culotta, Alan R. Kurczynski, Kevin T. Santer and Gary J. Tsiang.

More than one million students enrolled in about 18,000 secondary schools nationwide entered the 1981 merit program by taking examinations in 1979 when most participants were juniors.

The semifinalists represent the highest test scorers from each state. In addition to being announced publicly, semifinalists also are identified to colleges and universities in the hope of increasing their educational opportunities.

More than 90 percent of these semifinalists are expected to advance to finalist standing by meeting further requirements. The group of 14,000 finalists will be notified next February that they are competing for about 4,500 merit scholarships to be awarded and announced next spring.

At least 1,000 of the awards in 1981 will be nonrenewable national merit $1,000 scholarships for which every finalist will be considered.

There also are corporate and business sponsors who underwrite four-year scholarships for finalists who meet each grantor's preferential criteria.

About 3,500 scholarships, most of which are worth between $1,000 and $8,000 over four years of undergraduate study, will be awarded in 1981.

Of these, some 1,550 will be financed by more than 400 corporations, company foundations, and business organizations.

Taste of the Orient

Bringing food of 'home' to Canton

By ARLENE FUNKE

Step into the Viet-Hoa shop in King's Row center at Warren and Lilley and you're instantly whisked to the Orient.

The fragrance of ginger and dried plums compete with the aroma of rice flour, bean sprouts and fish sauces. The immaculately-kept store features rows of noodles, refrigerated sardines and carbonated coconut soda.

There also are Oriental cookbooks, chopsticks and tea servers.

THIS GROCERY and gift shop fulfills the longing of Hoa Felts to enjoy the cuisine of her native Vietnam and to be her own boss.

"I get homesick," said Mrs. Felts, 32, who lives in Canton with her husband Robert, an engineer, and five children ranging from four to 12 years. "I have had to go a long way to get Oriental food."

"I love to open my store — it's my dream," said Mrs. Felts. "I want to save money for the children."

Business has been a little slow since the store's April opening, but it's picking up, said Mrs. Felts. The store is open from 9:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Customers range from local residents who need ingredients for classes in Oriental cooking to transplanted natives of Korea, China, India, Thailand, Vietnam and the Philippines.

MRS. FELTS drums up business by phoning prospective customers and by advertising in Oriental newspapers.

"There are a lot of Oriental people," said Mrs. Felts. "I saw some in the shopping center before I opened. I look in the phone book and call people."

She bases her merchandise orders on advice from wholesalers and customers' request.

Besides food, customers may purchase decorative, ceramic bowls which bear the artistic stamp of Mrs. Felts. She creates scenes from her homeland in shades of blue and green.

For example, one has a painted picture of a young boy caring for a water buffalo near a rice paddy.

"AT FIVE or six years old, they work in the field to help the family," explained Mrs. Felts. "This picture I draw in my mind."

The store is the latest in a series of challenges for Mrs. Felts.

For example, she used to be a draftswoman in her native Saigon. That is where she met and married her American husband Robert, who had been doing construction work in Vietnam for several years, said Mrs. Felts.

In 1972, Felts returned to the United States with his wife and children, and they settled for a time in Garden City. They moved to Canton two years ago.

Mrs. Felts had planned to return to Vietnam for a visit, but the Communist takeover of the country in the mid-1970s dashed those hopes.

Hoa Felts of Canton opened the ethnic grocery shop after noticing a number of persons of Oriental descent on the streets and in stores around her home. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Customers can take their pick from a wide selection of Oriental foods.

Schools ponder urge of 'no' on taxation issues

Residents of Canton and Plymouth may be urged by the school board to vote against all three tax proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot.

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education is expected to vote tonight on an administrative recommendation to urge defeat of the three ballot proposals.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in board offices at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth.

SUPERINTENDENT John M. Hoben is urging the board to take an official position against the three proposals and to form a speaker's bureau to go out into the community and campaign against the tax issues.

The opposition seems to be based on a decision made by the school district's lobbying group, the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation (MAISL), which has gone on record as opposing all three of the issues.

The three tax proposals are: the reduction in property taxes proposed by Robert Tisch; the Smith-Bullard proposal; and the so-called consensus proposal backed by Gov. Milliken.

On the ballot, Smith-Bullard is Proposal A, the consensus proposal is Proposal C, and Tisch is Proposal D.

The co-sponsor of Smith-Bullard is State Rep. Roy Smith, R-Ypsilanti, who's 52nd House District includes the city of Plymouth and part of Plymouth Township.

The better-known Tisch proposal would reduce property tax assessments from 50 percent of true market value to 25 percent and to limit assessment growth to two percent annually for residential and farm property.

Smith-Bullard would reduce the current maximum property tax levy for all purposes from 50 mills to 24.5 mills, allow a state 30.5 mill school property tax on non-homesteads, eliminate property taxes on $25,000 of home assessments of retirees 65 and older, require general state taxation for equal per-pupil school financing at highest state support level, limit local school tax to seven mills or one percent income tax by vote of electors, and exclude additional school financing from other revenue and spending limits of the state constitution and require millage reduction by class.

The legislative-gubernatorial consensus proposal would eliminate property taxes on the first $7,100 of home assessment for school and government operations, eliminate the sales tax on home use of electricity, gas and other heating fuels, increase the sales tax by 1.5 cents per dollar to reimburse state and local government and schools for lost tax revenues including new tax relief for renters, mandate use of net state lottery revenues for schools, mandate state rainy day fund, and modify existing constitutional requirements concerning state aid to local government and provide greater millage reductions.

THE ADMINISTRATION has analyzed the three proposals to determine the financial impact of each on Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The impact ranged from a loss of $157,000 next year if the consensus proposal passed to a loss of $11 to $15 million if Tisch is approved.

If Smith-Bullard passes, the administration believes Plymouth-Canton would receive a net gain in revenue the first year of $586,000.

Each year thereafter the district's revenue would increase by 5.5 to 6.8 percent while projected expenditures would increase by at least 10 percent based on past experience and continued inflation.

Defeat of Smith-Bullard is being urged because the projected revenues over the next five years would not keep pace with expenditures.

Because there are 21,000 homes in the school district, the reduction of $7,100 tax assessment from every homestead proposed by the consensus proposal would result in a tax base loss of $149 million and a loss of revenue of $5.2 million.

The consensus proposal suggests increasing the sales tax from 4 to 5.5 percent and reimburse local units for the taxbase reduction. The school administration estimates, though, that the state will not have enough income to fully reimburse the school district.

The superintendent believes there will be a 97 percent reimbursement from the state, amounting to $5.1 million, so that the district's net loss for 1981-82 would be $157,000.

The shortfall created by this tax shift would grow each year and be affected by variations in sales tax revenue which is dependent on the economy, added Hoben.

If Tisch is approved by voters, the district estimates it would lose $15.2 million in 1982-83.

To make up that loss in revenue an additional 26.3 mills would have to be levied. The district, however, can levy only 7.14 mills before it reaches the constitutional limit of 50 mills.

If voters approved a millage levy of 7.14 mills an additional $4.1 million in income would be generated, leaving a net loss of revenue of $11.1 million.

Closed officially

Library starts up for kids

The new Canton Public Library will not open officially until Oct. 20.

"But we're extending an invitation to any school group of any age to come in," said children's librarian Clara Bohrer.

Preschool and elementary classes began coming to the library last month for purposes of story hour. Ms. Bohrer uses puppets and flannel characters on a flannel board to pump life into the stories she tells. Sometimes, everyone sings songs.

"I shy away from just reading the stories," she says.

Teachers who would like to bring their students to the library on the third floor of Canton Township Hall are asked to call Ms. Bohrer at 397-0999.

On Oct. 13, parents may register 3- to 5-year-olds for a preschool story hour. The 40-minute sessions will be held twice a day for six consecutive Wednesdays, beginning Oct. 22. Sessions begin at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Parents should either call the library or register their children in person.

Varsity soccer proposed

"We have 36 varsity sports now and if soccer is added we'll have 40," said Sandmann. "I've been here for 33 years and in that time I've seen the athletic program start out very small and grow to its present size with a lot of sports as well as a women's program on par with anyone in the state."

Sandmann added that, despite the exclusion of a junior varsity soccer, he doesn't think it will hurt the calibre of the varsity teams.

"It won't be difficult to start a team," he said. "It will probably be easier to get them going than in any district around because the soccer program in this area has been going on for four or five years. So, we will have experienced players."

In the Detroit area the Western Division League is comprised of Livonia Franklin, Livonia Churchill, Ann Arbor Huron, Livonia Stevenson, Ann Arbor Greenhills, Livonia Bentley, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Farmington, Redford Catholic Central, Northville, Dearborn Fordson and Farmington Harrison.

In the Eastern Division, league high schools are Birmingham Country Day, Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook, Birmingham Seaholm, Ferndale, Birmingham Groves, West Bloomfield High, Bloomfield Hills Andover, Bloomfield Hills Lahser, Southfield and North Farmington.

To pave Haggerty

Board eyes funding means

Canton Township officials hope to pave Haggerty between Joy and Warren through special assessment financing now that state and federal highway funding has been cut back.

Owners of property on the one-mile strip of road would finance the paving costs through a front-foot assessment.

Canton Township owns 128 industrial-zoned acres on Haggerty north and south of Warren. About 2,950 feet of the township's property fronts on Haggerty within the proposed assessment district.

Clerk John Flodin declined to estimate the township's share of the proposed project or the cost to the approximate 20 landowners in the area. One mile of paving typically costs about $1 million.

Flodin plans to forward a request for the special assessment district to the Wayne County Road Commission (WCRC). The Township Board recently instructed the clerk to take that action.

According to Flodin, the WCRC would hold public hearings on the proposal. The idea will be scrapped if 51 percent of landowners in the area object.

Supervisor Noel Culbert has informed landowners in the vicinity of the idea, Flodin said. Culbert was unavailable for comment.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS believe that paving Haggerty will spur industrial development in the area, and increase the market value of the undeveloped land, including the parcel Canton owns.

In August 1979, the Township Board earmarked $125,000 for the paving of Haggerty. Under that plan, the township and the WCRC would have shared 25 percent of the paving cost. The Federal Aid Urban Systems Fund was expected to fund the remaining 75 percent.

The tentative agreement for township participation in a paving project was the first in Canton's history.

Flodin said township and county officials scrapped the proposal following the cut-off of state and federal funding for road construction.

Assistant planner Nicholson admits that paving Haggerty through special assessment financing will be costly for the property owners involved.

"But you have to offset the cost by what the added value of the land would be."

Flodin said an engineering study must be made of the area before an exact cost of the proposed paving can be determined.

Township needs industry

Proposals of the committee would require Township Board approval.

Schaetzl suggests "buying a very attractive display (sign) and putting it up at Metro Airport." Committee members have suggests signs along I-275. The dispalys would advertise Canton's interest in industry.

Schaetzl would like Canton to achieve a 50-50 ratio between the State Equalized Value(SEV) of residential property and commercial and industrial property. Property taxes are computed on the basis of millage levied against SEV.

Canton officials often point to Livonia as an example of a community with a good residential-industrial ratio.

Schaetzl predicted in 1978 that housing would represent 75 percent of Canton's SEV by 1982, unless a more aggressive role was taken in attracting industry. He says residential property now represents 72½ percent of the township's SEV.

Since its establishment in 1977, the EDC has brought an estimated $14 million in industrial SEV to Canton.

SCHAETZL ADMITS that it's difficult for a volunteer committee to take an active role in the solicitation of industry.

Free Contour Analysis Helps Determine If You Really Have To!

In a recent research program, Contour Analysis screening tests disclosed 94% of the scoliosis cases found to be positive by x-ray examination.

Contour Analysis involves taking a "three dimensional" picture (Called Moire photography) of the surface of the back to help detect postural distortions. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. Such composite examinations may indicate such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion and scoliosis.

A free Contour Analysis screening test is also being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic office listed below. People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neuralgia, nerve pain, neck pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc. are also invited to receive this free examination.

These tests, including consultation with the doctor, are being offered to the public at no charge, or obligation, for the next 30 days. Anyone wishing to receive this free examination may telephone the participating office directly for information or an appointment. If treatment, or additional examination, is indicated, almost all health insurance policies cover chiropractic care. All fees thoroughly explained prior to any additional service being rendered.

Motorists can give an extra cheer for their favorite Michigan colleges with bumper stickers available free from the Auto Club of Michigan office at Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon in Plymouth. The stickers boost the state's own "Big Ten" schools — those with more than 8,000 students. Featured schools are Central Michigan, Eastern Michigan, Ferris State, MSU, Northern Michigan, Oakland, Wayne State, U-M, U-D and Western Michigan universities. Showing off the stickers is Dearborn High student Andrea Pfeiffer.

Neighborhood help available

Neighborhood organizations and local businesses interested in forming partnerships to develop neighborhood-improvement projects or services can get financial help from the state under a new program.

Details about the program were announced recently by State Rep. Robert Geake, R-Northville, whose 14th District includes the Livonia, Northville, Plymouth and Redford area.

"I would urge potentially eligible neighborhood organizations to make themselves known to the Michigan Department of Labor at once," said Geake.

The program, identified as the Neighborhood Assistance and Participation Program (NAPP), provides for rebates to be paid to businesses which make contributions to approved neighborhood improvement or self-help projects.

The projects can range from physical improvements, recreation or job-training programs to crime prevention or energy-conservation projects.

In NAPP, organized neighborhood groups and business firms enter into a local neighborhood improvement or self-help project as partners.

The state rebates 50 percent of the business firm's contribution to an approved project and becomes the third member of the partnership.

The business contribution may be in the form of cash, property, material goods, or personnel services.

Geake pointed out that an eligible neighborhood organization is a non-governmental unit serving a definable geographic area.

The neighborhood organization must have elected officers and adopted by-laws indicating its purpose. It must have a minimum membership of 50 households, or 10 percent of the households within its boundaries, and membership must be available to any person residing within the boundaries.

"The Michigan Department of Labor is compiling a list of interested neighborhood organizations and businesses to mail applications as soon as they are available," said Geake.

The contact person for the program is Janet Price, NAPP analyst/technical assistant, Bureau of Community Services, 7150 Harris Drive, Box 30015, MI 48909 (phone 517-322-1726).

will be part of a home visit program especially designed for beginning 3-year-old learning skills.

Parenting skills will be emphasized. Medical-dental services and group activities also will be included.

A child is eligible for Head Start if he/she lives in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district; will be 3 or 4 years of age by Dec. 1, 1980; can verify income status (receiving public assistance or having an annual income of no more than $7,450 for a family of four); is a foster child; or can qualify in a handicapped category.

Persons who are interested or want more information are asked to call 453-8889.

Local archeologist plans dig to prove hunch

By W.W. EDGAR

Paul Rogissart, a young archeologist now living in Plymouth, is playing a hunch these days and if he is successful he will have a display of artifacts available for the historical museum.

Born and raised in Massachusetts, where he studied the history of the Pilgrims and became interested in what he calls wild hobbies, he is planning a digging party on a lot on Plymouth Road across from Hillside Inn in the hope that it will be a successful venture.

He claims he got the idea from reading a line in an old history of Plymouth telling of a small schoolhouse, supposedly one of the first in the area, that was in use in 1830 and burned to the ground six years later.

"I have no idea what I will find," he said while taking a respite from mowing his lawn at 180 Hamilton Street, "but with my partner, Victor Boutin, we may come across some old-time books, pencils, slates, even some logs and other things that can tell us how the folks lived in those days."

At the moment the digging party is a side issue as he is employed in the

Women dance to get in shape

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring a dance exercise class for women.

The program is designed to improve muscle tone and help keep the heart and lungs in good condition. Participants will be screened for blood pressure, cholesterol levels and body fat.

The screening is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 29. The 10-week dance program begins at 9:30 a.m. Oct. 1. Classes last one hour.

Persons should register at the recreation office in Township Hall at Canton Center and Proctor.

KMart Warehouse and part-time in a medical laboratory.

Under his present plan the digging will start some time during the coming week when approval of the property owners is given. Most of the plot belongs to the Stremich family and is located next to what was the old Shattuck Farm early in the 19th century.

"I am hoping to get an army of volunteers and it may be that we will not find a thing. But I have a hunch we will do all right."

Asked about his so-called wild hobbies he said that while attending school in New England he became very much interested in history.

"I studied the activities of the Pilgrims and one of their traits was to embellish the gravestones of the departed," he said. "These fascinated me and I became involved in what is called gravestone rubbing."

"By diligent work you can restore on paper many of the engravings they had on the stones. The Indians also had fine ways of marking graves, so I became real interested in all of them."

He became attached to the Whaling Museum at New Bedford, Mass., and there worked on what are called scrimshaws. He quickly displayed some of his pieces that were brightened up bits of whale bone, supposedly an expensive item.

According to the man with these wild hobbies this got him interested and he entered the membership rolls of the Massachusetts Archeology Society and later made a study of the Pilgrims' customs.

"One of their customs," he said, "was to have crypts built over the graves and have all sorts of designs cut on them. They made fine objects for my gravestone rubbing."

Asked if he had found any suitable gravestones during his seven years of residency in Plymouth he explained that he found nothing suitable "because the gravestones out here are too plain and show too little imagination."

As he looks forward to the digging on Plymouth Road he is seeking volunteers, many of them, with strong arms and patience for as he out it, "that's what it takes."

There has been a question raised as to whether there ever was a schoolhouse on the site selected. None of the old-timers in Plymouth recall it.

But that isn't fazing the young archeologist a bit.

"We are going to find out," he said, "and it would be interesting if we found the artifacts prove the line I read in the city's history was proven correct." 20-

Eatery to replace state jobless office

A Plymouth businessman has proposed a restaurant in place of the offices of the Michigan Employment and Securities Commission at 8825 General Drive.

Ed Kenyon, operator of the Data Supplies Co. in Plymouth, has leased the building, owned by a Southfield realtor, with plans to remodel the site for use as a fast-food restaurant "to serve the industrial park area."

Meanwhile, the MESC office is considering a vacated car dealership building on Ann Arbor Road for its next office site. The MESC's five-year lease at the General Drive address expired last May.

"The main reason we're relocating is because this office is too small and inadequate for our claim load," said the MESC's office manager Ed Dowling.

To demonstrate his point, Dowling said the office employed 15 employees when it opened its doors five years ago. Today, almost 50 people work there.

There are two other MESC offices in the Plymouth community.

Presently, the General Drive site is zoned for industrial use, which, according to township attorney Donald Morgan, would need to be rezoned for use as a restaurant.

At last week's Township Planning Commission meeting, an Oct. 15 public hearing was scheduled for this issue. Kenyon had asked the commission for a conditional use permit for the site under its industrial zoning.

He added if the variance is not granted then "the next step would be to request a rezoning."

"Nothing is firm yet," he said of his plans. "We still have a long way to go."

Kenyon's partner in the possible restaurant business is Don Vargo, who operates Vargo's restaurant in Livonia.

Dehiring those word manufacturers

When I use a word, it means just what I choose it to mean — neither more nor less.

— Humpty Dumpty,
Alice Through the Looking-Glass

A news story came my way the other day which declared that a Plymouth business firm had established new "outplacement services."

The story explained: "Outplacement is the dehiring process of a single employee or hundreds of employees," according to the vice president of the firm.

"Outplacement" and "dehiring" being two words I could not find in my dictionary, I outplaced them from the story and frivolously suggested that the newspaper dehire employees who allow such nonsense to creep into their news stories.

The same day, coincidentally, I read about two suicides. The newspaper articles about the deaths noted that the men involved had been despondent about the loss of their jobs. I wondered if they realized that they, after all, had only been dehired.

While the idea of providing counseling and job-seeking tips to employees who are temporarily or permanently laid off is excellent, the creation of such words as "outplacement" and "dehiring" is deplorable.

For many, the trauma of losing a job of long-standing is profoundly disturbing, enervating and demeaning. To refer to the act of separating a person from that which he might see as his, or her, means of survival and indication of self-worth in terms of "outplacement" and "dehiring" is dehumanizing and, perhaps, worse.

Realized or not, it is an attempt to absolve the company or person doing the firing or laying off from any sense of guilt, personal responsibility or involvement. It may also be an attempt to obviate uneasiness caused by treating employees as parts of a process or a system, as objects which have worth only as they relate to the end product. This a self-defeating course of action which has plagued businesses generally and recently seems particularly troublesome recently to the American automobile industry.

There is a tendency in certain fields to manufacture words, not to increase communication or understanding, but to fit the desires and the purposes of the manufacturer.

"Outplacement" and "dehiring" are merely the result of ingenious searching for words that supposedly will make "fired," or the less harsh "terminated," or "laid off" sound less meaningful, therefore less of a problem to the former employees who are burdened with the problem.

The manufacturers of words can be found in all areas of activity but they abound in bureaucracies, especially those of big government. The conjurers usually insist that they want to make things perfectly clear. But they know deep down in the blackness of their mistrust for the public that the thing they are trying desperately to avoid is clarity of thinking or perception about what they are doing or not doing.

What they want is to confuse the listener with misleading sounds and symbols, "buzz words" and clap-trap so that they sound as if they are important or capable or at least competent. The words are used to try make questionable or asinine ideas, projects and actions appear to be worthy of accolades. What we end up with is hocus-pocus words like "pacification" to mean wholesale killing and maiming of people and "defoliate" to disguise the arson of a country. We get governmental leaders who use such phrases as "stonewalling" to glorify the hoodwinking of a nation of people and "at that point in time," a nonsensical collection of syllables, to try to add some sense of dramatic importance or dignity to evasive and self-serving actions.

The result can be a whole government of manipulators who think that they can use manufactured words to allow or excuse the most outrageous of chicaneries. A favorite example is that of Ron Ziegler, the press secretary to Nixon, who excused a year's worth of lies about Watergate with one condescending sentence: "All previous statements are inoperative."

I suppose he is even today running around some Disneyland of an enterprise proclaiming that Richard Nixon and the 40 or so power plunderers who were dumped with him were merely "victims of a downturn in efficacy government which effectuated an outplacement of several key personnel."

Their criminal convictions and jail sentences, I suppose, could be considered part of the dehiring process.

There is a general tendency to manufacture words, not to increase communication or understanding, but to fit the desires and the purposes of the manufacturer.

On being a wandering Jew

Many gives their lives to God, Marya gives her life to the synagogue.

Her particular synagogue is on the Greek Island of Rhodes. A 300-year-old edifice with stately columns and magnificent crystal chandeliers, it's membership today is just seven families and the chandelier's prisms are undusted and dim.

Marya is prominent among them. From April to October she lives on Rhodes, the place of her birth, caring for the synagogue and welcoming the tourists who are its life's blood.

On a recent cruise of Turkish and Greek Isles, husband Jack and I came to Rhodes on a Friday, the day to welcome the Jewish Sabbath.

It was then we met Marya.

We had walked down the winding side road where the synagogue stands, directed by the local people. We wanted to see it for ourselves, a place where three centuries of Jews had worshipped.

It was the Friday between Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur, another reason it seemed compelling to investigate.

The New Year holiday we had spent aboard the cruise ship where we attended a moving service along with nearly 40 others celebrants from Germany, Brazil, Mexico, South Africa, France and other far flung lands where Jews live.

WITH JUST a few holy books, a bottle of sanctified wine, a loaf of bread and the will to identify, we had brought Rosh Hashanah to the Stella Stolaris.

That service was held in the ship's reading room. Now we were prepared to see what a real Greek synagogue would be like.

Marya showed us all there was to see. Communicating was difficult because we speak no Greek and she had command of only a few words in English.

'You got the number in Dachau,' Jack asked, indicating the tattoo on her arm.

Somehow, without many words, she told us that once 2,000 Jews lived in that island city and worshipped in the synagogue.

When the Nazis overran Europe, they came to Rhodes and deported every single Jew they could find, dispersing them to the Dachaus, Auschwitzes and Buchenwalds for elimination.

Almost none survived and few returned after the war, but Marya was one.

Scientific phenomenon

Why do kids talk when phone rings?

Someone should do a study on it. It's a scientific phenomena as certain as electrical currents or magnetic waves. In fact, magnetic waves may have a great deal to do with it.

This sure-fire event that I'm referring to is what takes place each and every time an adult-type person attempts to make a telephone call when there are one or more children-type persons in the general vicinity.

All mothers know what I'm talking about, and most fathers have a general idea. You can be all alone next to a telephone. The quiet is lovely and the timing seems right. You pick up the phone and suddenly the noise level seems to increase. Five minutes into the conversation, you're having great difficulty hearing the person on the other end. Kids are screaming. Dogs are barking. Cats meowing. Mostly, kids are screaming.

I'm sure there are a great many heavy psychological explanations as to why my sons will wait until I'm into a serious financial discussion with a credit union representative to tell me a long story about a snail they found three days ago. Unfortunately, I have no patience for figuring out juvenile motivations while simultaneously attempting to carry on my version of an intelligent conversation.

I've never cared for fanatics. It doesn't matter what their particular brand of obsession is.

It could be a teen turned Jesus freak, who pins passerby's backs to the wall to preach on the ways to heaven. Or a LaLeche mother, who wants everyone to breastfeed their kids to about age 10.

I don't mind vegetarians — until they frown and moan when they catch someone with a hamburger.

BUT AS I flicked on the tube last weekend and the knot in my stomach tightened another notch, I realized that there is another kind of fanatic.

This type doesn't preach or lecture in a know-it-all tone of voice.

This one sits hours on end in front of a TV, oblivious to everyone around him. The only reality is a

Nancy Walls Smith

I know that they know that there are voices coming out of that thing I'm holding up to my ear. They use it themselves to talk to grandma & Bobby & Jamie & Karen & Gina. They also know that I'm quite inept at carrying on more than one conversation at a time. So why is it that when I try to talk to my friends, they're standing there asking me questions with no answers, telling stories with no endings and generally beating each other to death while I turn purple from frustration. Even if I politely say, "Excuse me for a moment," to the poor soul on the other end, then shout, "Stop that or you'll stay in your rooms for the rest of your lives!" it does no good. They instinctively know that as long as I'm seemingly connected to that phone wire, I'm helpless to carry out any threats. I also tend to feel rather foolish screaming like a banshee into the innocent ear of whatever friend, relative, or business associate I'm attempting to talk to. It's not a side of

Fanaticism—it's not all fun and games

Gridiron fans come in all shapes and sizes. The shades of autumn spell football fever for millions of fans.

Darlene Stinson

bunch of burly players with an odd-shaped ball.

As My Team stalked onto the field last weekend, I suddenly realized I had become one. Taking a cue from Alcoholics Anonymous, I publicly admit that I've somehow evolved into a full-fledged football nut.

It's a startling metamorphosis — akin to the sudden transformation of a Franz Kafka character me that I care to expose to the outside world. It's bad enough that my family gets to hear me screech and bellow with little or no finesse. I feel it's best to spare my friends this particular thrill.

I can think of only two other things which can work my offspring and their cohorts into a frenzy comparable to their telephone routines. One is when I attempt to sneak a quick afternoon nap on the living room couch. Occasionally the quiet will lull me into a false sense of security. I figure no one will notice if I sleep for 15 or 20 minutes. They're all playing football five houses down. Just as I begin to slip into a lovely state of oblivion, the door slams five times, six kids are standing next to me saying seven different things, and the dog jumps on my stomach. Never fails.

The other infallible way to attract an overzealous crowd is to attempt to write a column. If my journalistic efforts seem to lack coherency, it's only because it's tough to be literate when the little people feel it's their duty to thwart my attempts at concentration.

"Hey, guys, Mom looks like she's thinking! Let's turn up the T.V., ask her 1,000 questions, and all sit on her lap!"

Which they do. Sigh.

into a giant bug.

I've always been lousy at anything athletic. I've never given a hoot about watching anyone with more athletic talents than I.

But for some unknown reason, I discovered the world-wide impact of field goals and TDs three seasons ago.

MY AUTUMNS now are now full of football. There's little time left to paint the house or socialize with friends or even talk on the phone.

Most people check for social conflicts when friends call up to invite them over. I check the TV Guide and my season tickets.

Saturday afternoons are the best. My emotions rise and fall, as college players bash their way across a white-striped field toward a metal crossbar. I've somehow acquired the ability for simultaneous concentration on TV and radio games.

On Sunday and Monday nights, it's televised professional games. And in really good weeks, there's special broadcasts of Thursday night football.

I can't help but feel that I'm viewed somewhat as an oddity.

Years of male domination (from the playing aspect, at least) has spawned more male football nuts than female.

Many of my female friends stare disinterestedly and quickly change the subject when I bring up Green Bay's winning touchdown or the zany plays of the Seattle Seahawks.

Some men seem to resent my intrusion into their weekend game. They quiz me on the finer details of the sport and smile condescendingly when I can't name the Irish quarterback of 1955.

I'VE LEARNED that being a fanatic isn't all fun and games either.

During the early stages of my obsession, a loss by My Team meant a weekend of dismal skies and depression.

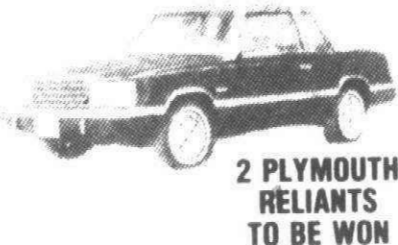

I've learned to handle the agony of defeat by now. I have three teams — one college and two pro. When one loses, I simply dive into the next game.

But there's still only a single Team Enemy No. 1. I find myself muttering nasty slogans against those loathsome creatures as I stop at a red light or pay for my groceries in a store.

I've learned some degree of sympathy for those fanatics who stop me on the street. Their preaching seems to signify the personal importance of their obsessions.

It's kind of like me and that odd-shaped ball.

Put Some CHEESE in Your Life

Cheese soufflés are one of the classics in the world of cooking. And they're great for a main dish because of the protein that comes not only from the one or two kinds of cheese, but also from milk and eggs.

Contrary to popular opinion, the soufflé is not difficult to prepare. It's made with a thick white sauce to which you add egg yolks, cheese and/or vegetables, fish, or meat. Egg whites, stabilized with cream of tartar and beaten to the soft peak shape, are folded in to give the soufflé light and fluffy texture.

Here are some other do's and don'ts for successful soufflés. The classic dish is deep with straight sides for the soufflé to rise spectacularly. Butter the sides and/or coat with Parmesan cheese to make removal easier.

Mix a small amount of sauce into egg yolks before combining all of it. That allows egg yolks to blend smoothly with the white sauce. When turning the soufflé into a baking dish, be gentle so airiness is not lost.

Sauces may be served with the soufflé to add yet another dimension to the dining experience. They're designed to complement the main dish in flavor, color and texture. They'll certainly add to the feeling of satisfaction because of their satiety value.

It's an old axiom but a wise one: your guests can wait, but not a soufflé. Have them seated at the table when you take it out of the oven.

CHEESE SOUFFLÉ

6 servings

- | | |
|----------------------------|--|
| Grated Parmesan Cheese | 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese |
| 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter | 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese |
| 1/4 cup all-purpose flour | 5 egg yolks, slightly beaten |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt | 5 egg whites |
| Dash cayenne pepper | 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar |
| 1 cup milk | |

Preheat oven to 350°F. Butter a 2-quart soufflé dish or casserole. Sprinkle enough Parmesan cheese in soufflé dish to coat bottom and sides evenly; remove any excess. Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour, salt and cayenne pepper. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir in cheeses until melted. If necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheeses. (Do not boil.) Blend a little of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to saucepan and blend thoroughly; set aside. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold cheese sauce into egg whites. Turn into soufflé dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes.

VARIATION: BROCCOLI SOUFFLÉ. After folding in egg whites, fold in one 10-ounce package of frozen chopped broccoli which has been cooked and drained.

CREOLE SAUCE

Yield: 2 cups

- | | |
|---|----------------------------|
| 1/2 cup chopped green pepper | 1/4 cup milk |
| 1/4 cup chopped onion | 1 teaspoon chopped parsley |
| 1/4 cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives | 1/4 teaspoon pepper |
| 1 clove garlic, crushed | 1/2 bay leaf, crushed |
| 2 tablespoons butter | Pinch thyme |
| 1 can (10 3/4 oz.) condensed tomato soup | |

Sauté green pepper, onion, olives and garlic in butter 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Cover and simmer 15 minutes. Serve with Cheese Soufflé.

SHRIMP CURRY SAUCE

Yield: 2 cups

- | | |
|-------------------------|---|
| 2 tablespoons butter | Dash paprika |
| 2 tablespoons flour | 1 1/4 cups milk |
| 1 teaspoon curry powder | 1 1/2 cups (approx. 12 oz.) cooked chopped shrimp |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | |

Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Add shrimp. Heat over low heat 10 minutes. Serve with Broccoli Soufflé.

DOUBLE CHEESE SOUFFLÉ

6 servings

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 cup cottage cheese | 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder |
| 1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened | 1 cup milk |
| 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter | 5 egg yolks, slightly beaten |
| 1/3 cup sliced green onion | 5 egg whites |
| 1/4 cup all-purpose flour | 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 4 slices bacon, cooked, drained and crumbled |
| 1/8 teaspoon pepper | |

Preheat oven to 350°F. Beat cottage cheese and cream cheese in small mixing bowl until almost smooth, about 5 minutes; set aside. Melt butter in saucepan; sauté onion until tender, about 3 minutes. Blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Blend a little of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to saucepan and blend thoroughly; set aside. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold egg yolk mixture and bacon into egg whites. Turn into 2-quart buttered soufflé dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes.

SALMON SOUFFLÉ

6 servings

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|---|
| 3/4 cup water | 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt | 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder |
| 1/4 cup long grain rice, uncooked | Dash cayenne pepper |
| 1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter | 1 cup milk |
| 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper | 5 egg yolks, slightly beaten |
| 1/4 cup finely chopped green onion | 5 egg whites |
| 1/4 cup all-purpose flour | 1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar |
| 1 teaspoon dill weed | 1 can (7 3/4 oz.) salmon, drained, boned and flaked |
| 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard | |

Combine water and 1/4 teaspoon salt in a small saucepan; bring to boiling. Stir in rice. Cover and simmer 20 minutes or until all water is absorbed; set aside. Preheat oven to 350°F. Melt butter in saucepan; sauté green pepper and green onion until tender, about 3 minutes. Blend in flour and seasonings. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat. Blend a little of hot mixture into egg yolks; return all to saucepan and blend thoroughly; set aside. Beat egg whites until frothy. Add cream of tartar and beat until soft peaks form. Fold egg yolk mixture, rice and salmon into egg whites. Turn into 2-quart buttered soufflé dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes.

SWISS CHEESE SAUCE

Yield: 2 cups

- | |
|-------------------------------------|
| 2 tablespoons butter |
| 2 tablespoons flour |
| 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce |
| 1/4 teaspoon salt |
| Dash pepper |
| 1 1/2 cups milk |
| 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese |
| 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento |

Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Remove from heat; stir in milk. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat; stir in cheese until melted. If necessary, return to low heat to finish melting cheese. (Do not boil.) Stir in pimiento; keep warm. Serve with Salmon Soufflé.

For Dessert

Cheese and fruit are a perfectly elegant answer to a no-fuss, no-cook, practically instant dessert. All it takes is for you to set two or three cheeses with several fruits on a platter and serve them.

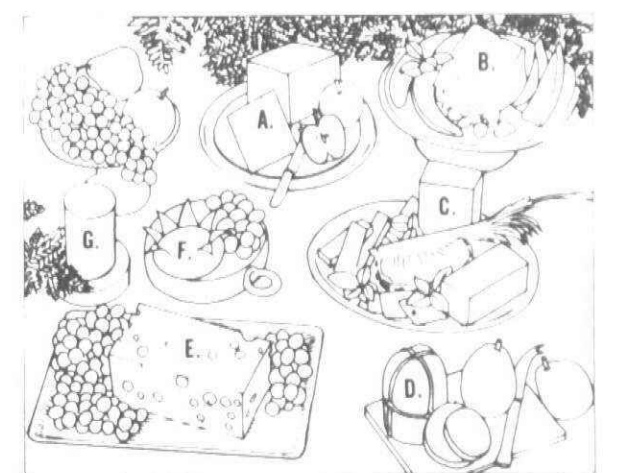

Not only is this an easy wholesome dessert, but it's also a pretty palette of color that goes with a light or heavy meal. Instead of a regular dessert portion, you can content yourself with a few tidbits of cheese and fruit if dinner's been substantial, or fill up on more if the meal's been light.

Generally, the rule for fruit and cheese is this: the more mild flavored the cheese, the more pronounced can be the fruit flavor. That's why pineapple, for example, is harmonious with Brick cheese. Blue cheese has a distinctive flavor so it goes well with rather mild honeydew melon.

Nut-like Swiss is somewhat dry so it's an excellent choice with juicy, fragrant green grapes. Cheddar cheese and apples have a traditional flavor harmony, but you might like Colby with apples, too.

Those are only suggestions to get you started. This is one place where you can choose your own combos!

- Cheddar cheese, apple
- Blue cheese, honeydew melon
- Brick cheese, pineapple
- Provolone cheese, pears
- Swiss cheese, green grapes
- Edam cheese, Tokay grapes
- Colby cylinder

Byrd's Kitchen

by Vivian Byrd

Fresh fruits are deliciously versatile

Fruits are so abundant in the markets now that the colorful mounds seem to be jostling each other for space in the display cooler. Attractive and appealing (low calorie, too!), the fall harvest of berries, plums, our own state's famous apples, and many others, stir appetites to visions of sweet, juicy salads, main dishes and desserts. The possibilities are endless.

An all fresh-fruit salad might include pale-green grapes, blueberries, strawberries (THE favorite berry in this country), apples, orange sections, pineapple chunks, and whatever else you fancy.

An unusually attractive combination is kiwi and pomegranate. Carefully peel the kiwi and slice the fruit crosswise. It has an attractive black design in the center and slicing shows this off. Make a pleasing arrangement of the slices on a plate. Remove the (pomegranate) seeds and sprinkle a few on top of the kiwi slices. Top with a brief squeezing of lime juice. Anyone with a fondness for tart fruit flavors will enjoy this.

Peaches are deliciously versatile. They can be used to add a different texture to the first fresh-fruit salad above, or can be baked and served alongside roast or broiled beef, lamb or pork.

Peach pie and cobbler are delightful desserts which have been savored by Americans since the colonists arrived here. The Baked Fresh Peaches below have slightly different ingredients but will delight just the same.

A main dish of Sausage and Coconut Fritters can be added to your collection of Oriental recipes. These tasty meatballs should be served with rice and soy sauce. Add an easy stir-fry of fresh vegetables and the result will be an inexpensive change of menu.

Pineapple Cream is a dessert that will please any fruit and whipped cream lover. A variation that might appeal to you is sprinkling the cubed pineapple with your favorite liqueur, letting it set, then draining the cubes and proceeding as the recipe indicates. The original is also especially inviting.

BAKED FRESH PEACHES

Serves 6
6 large ripe, firm peaches
¾ cup almond macaroon crumbs

½ cup finely chopped mixed glace fruit
12 whole blanched almonds
¼ cup white wine

Plunge the peaches into boiling water for a minute or so and peel them. Halve the fruit and discard the pits. Enlarge the hollows in the peach halves with a teaspoon. Arrange the halves in a buttered baking dish. Set aside. Combine the macaroon crumbs and gilded fruit. Fill the hollows of the peaches with the mixture. Arrange one almond on top of each. Sprinkle the top of each half with a few drops of the wine. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until they are tender but still hold their shape. Serve hot or cold.

SAUSAGE AND COCONUT FRITTERS

½ lb. pork sausage meat
1 cup grated fresh coconut, or
1 cup dried coconut, steeped in
1 cup hot water and drained
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 garlic clove, crushed
1 egg
½ tsp. brown sugar
½ tsp. ground coriander
¼ tsp. lemon juice
¼ tsp. ground caraway seed or cumin seed
Salt to taste
vegetable oil

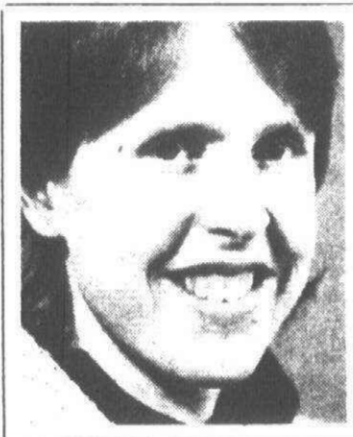

Mix the ingredients well and shape them into small balls. Sauté the meat-balls in enough vegetable oil to cover the bottom of a skillet until they are brown and the sausage meat is cooked through. Serve with rice.

PINEAPPLE CREAM

Peel, slice, and cube enough fresh pineapple to make 1 cup. Drain the cubes well and fold them into 1 cup heavy cream, whipped until it holds a shape and sweetened with 1 tablespoon sugar, or to taste. Top with a light sprinkling of toasted almonds or grated coconut. Serve in a pretty, clear glass wine goblet.

A Question of Taste

By Hilary Keating Callaghan

Chutney and cheese—very good and very British

Chutney. The very word conjures up visions of an exotic, mysterious India. Men wear turbans. Women dress in flowing saris, faces covered with veils. Strange-sounding words like Punjabi and Untouchables are recalled from a seventh grade geography class.

It is a world created by Grade-B movies. Crisp British officers in cork helmets sip tea out of the noon-day sun while swarthy-looking native servants plan the soldiers' demise in a plot to overthrow England. It is the setting for countless romantic novels from "A Passage to India" to "The Far Pavilions."

Even its food is exotic, never having become Americanized as have so many other national cuisines. The closest we usually come to Indian food is a dash of canned curry powder in an occasional chicken dish.

The complexity and subtlety of Indian cooking remains largely unexplored in this country. Perhaps this is because so many of the spices are, to our palates, overwhelmingly hot. The few times I have experimented with Indian curries, the accompanying chutneys have provided a welcome contrast to these hot spices.

This sweet contrast is exactly what the chutney is intended to provide. For many years this was my only contact with chutney as an accompaniment to an occasional curry dish. I operated on two assumptions during this time: that this was the only use for chutney and that it was only available from Major Grey.

EVENTUALLY I discovered two recipes which used chutney in an entirely different guise. The first was a grilled sandwich filled with sharp cheddar cheese and chutney—delicious!

The second was a similar combination—this time appearing in an omelet rather than a sandwich—equally delicious! The combination is actually a classic one—fruit and cheese. In this case, however, an unusual twist is given by the spices which characterize the chutney.

I enjoyed these dishes for several years and thought of them as novel if not extremely peculiar—until I described them to Yvonne Gill. She proceeded to inform me that this provocative combination of cheddar cheese and chutney is not at all unusual. It is, in fact, very British.

I should have known. It must go back to the era when the sun never set on the British Empire. The British must have emerged from all those years of colonial rule with something to show for it.

Yvonne further recommended chutneys as condiments for meat and poultry, even suggesting serving chutney as an alternative to the traditional cranberry relish for Thanksgiving dinner. It would be fun to experiment with an unusual side-dish like that in the midst of all the comfortable, familiar foods that make up holiday meals.

HAVING DISCOVERED that chutneys have a great diversity of uses in addition to serving as a foil for hot curries, I also found that my second assumption was incorrect. Chutney does not just come out of a Major Grey jar. It can easily be made at home using fruits which most people find themselves possessed of in super-abundance at certain times. An excess of summer tomatoes can make up a tomato chutney. A windfall crop of apples could be the basis for an apple chutney.

Once you have a few jars put aside, you will be ready for almost any occasion or mood. Try inviting a group of adventurous friends over some evening for an authentic Indian dinner. Everyone could contribute one dish, providing a variety of foods for a real feast.

Some chilly fall evening you might rather be alone at home. Simply grill a cheddar-chutney sandwich, pour a mug of stout or porter and curl up with a good English novel, preferably in a paneled library.

Experiment. Enjoy.

APPLE CHUTNEY

1½ lbs. cooking apples (or combinations of peaches and pears.)
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 tbsp. chopped ginger root
½ cup orange juice
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. salt
1 cup honey (more to taste)
1 cup cider vinegar
Cayenne to taste

Coarsely chop the apples. (You needn't peel them.) Combine everything in a heavy saucepan. Bring to a boil, then lower to a simmer. Simmer, uncovered, stirring occasionally, 45 minutes to 1 hour. Cool before storing in a jar. Allow a minimum of several hours to ripen. Makes about 1 quart.

GREEN TOMATO CHUTNEY

2 lbs. green tomatoes
2 tbsp. freshly chopped ginger
2 cloves minced garlic
½ tsp. mustard seeds
1 tsp. ground cumin
1 tsp. ground coriander
2 tsp. salt
1 cup honey
1 cup cider vinegar
Cayenne to taste

Chop the tomatoes. Combine everything. Bring to a boil, then simmer one hour, stirring now and then. Cool before packing. Allow a minimum of several hours to ripen. Makes about 1 quart. (Both chutney recipes are from "Moosewood Cookbook" by Mollie Katzen).

GRILLED CHUTNEY CHEESE SANDWICH

Thinly sliced Swedish lympa bread, firm white bread cut ¼ inch thick, or firm-textured French sour-dough bread cut ¼-inch thick.

Cheddar cheese
Softened butter or margarine
Hot mango chutney or Major Grey's chutney or chutney of your choice
Curry powder

Spread chutney on half of bread slices. Spread slices of cheese on the other half of the bread slices. Sprinkle curry powder over the cheese. Put sandwiches together. Butter the outsides. Sauté until golden.

CHEESE AND CHUTNEY OMELET

¼ lb. fresh white farmer cheese
4 tbsp. preserved chutney
4 to 5 eggs

Fresh-ground black pepper to taste
Butter
Salt to taste

Crumble the cheese coarsely. Spoon out the chutney (you can use a little more or less, depending on how spicy it is), and if it has particularly large pieces of fruit in it, cut them into smaller bits.

Make a plain omelet using remaining ingredients. When the eggs are nearly set, but still moist on top, sprinkle the crumbled cheese over one side of the omelet, and spoon the chutney on top of the cheese.

Fold the other side of the omelet over the filling and leave it in the pan over low heat for another minute as the cheese and chutney warm up. Serve immediately on warmed plates. Serves 2. (From The Vegetarian Epicure Book Two by Anna Thomas)

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

MOVIE STARS, millionaire philanthropists, movies being filmed in Kellogg Park.

Who says life in a small town is dullsville?

It's not an uncommon occurrence to have out-of-towners request a couple of tearsheets when an article about them appears in this community newspaper. Reporter Teri Banas was not surprised when, during a telephone conversation with Percy Ross, the multimillionaire asked for extra copies of the story Teri was writing. He said he'd like to send copies to some of his friends. Teri was working on the story about the local teen-ager who had written to Ross for money to pay for a speeding ticket.

Teri inquired, quite casually, "How many papers would you like?"

She was flabbergasted when he replied, "Two hundred would do. I have friends all around the world." He added, "I'd be happy to pay for them. Just send the bill to my secretary." He added a name and an address.

Arrangements were made with the circulation department for an extra press run of 200 tearsheets.

Gala reception after symphony

There's always something new.

The champagne and hors d'oeuvre reception which will follow the opening concert of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's 35th season will lend sparkle to the opening of the local fall social season.

The Plymouth Historical Museum is the setting for the event that will offer the community an opportunity to meet the new conductor of the symphony, Johan van der Merwe, and his wife, Barbara. Guests will preview the special exhibit of musical instruments on loan for the occasion.

Dr. Robert Eliason, curator of musical instruments at Henry Ford Museum, is lending his private collection of very old instruments for the exhibit. The Leroy Bennett family of Plymouth, the Louis Stout family and Ron Semak are adding their collections to the display which will depict the history, development and design of musical instruments throughout the world.

MEMBERS OF the Plymouth Symphony League who are planning the reception use the term "spectacular" when describing the refreshments.

The Williamsburg and Victorian refreshment tables will be on the main floor of the museum. An ensemble will provide classical background music in keeping with the more formal theme. On the lower level, jazz piano will provide a more casual atmosphere for the Patriotic and Roaring '20s refreshment areas.

Refreshments and decorations will reflect the theme of each table. Hors d'oeuvres will range from escargot to a five-foot long poor boy sandwich, all catered by Larry Janes of Gourmet Productions, Inc.

The event will be from 6-9 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 12. Included in the $10 per person ticket price will be a complimentary ticket to concert preceding the reception.

The concert at 4 p.m. in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School will feature guest soloist Armando Ghitalla, former first trumpet with the Boston Pops and Boston Symphony Orchestra. Guests at the reception will have an opportunity to meet the soloist and the symphony's new concertmaster, Kathryn Stepulla.

Persons wishing ticket information can call 459-6134 or 455-0343 by Oct. 1.

Music played an important part in the lives of American families years ago. The tableau in the Plymouth Historical Museum is in preparation for the gala Oct. 12 reception in the museum, following the opening concert of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Mother's book helps beat allergies at mealtime

By NANCY AUSTIN

Nurturing a newborn is usually a pleasant, but not-so-easy time for parents. They spend a lot of time guessing the meaning of each whimper and cry. But for parents who have a baby with severe allergies, each piercing cry makes the task more frustrating. Sometimes it may seem hopeless.

Linda Thomas of Plymouth had to take care of a baby who couldn't digest formula and had a long list of allergies. By the time she learned to feed him, she had a lot of material for a book. So she wrote one.

"Caring and Cooking for the Allergic Child" was written with assistance from Katherine Crossman, a registered dietician; Dr. Max Garber, a pediatrician; and Dr. Alan Sosin, pediatric allergist.

Into the book went results of several years of research and experimentation, and a lot of "sheer determination," as Mrs. Thomas put it.

THE STORY began shortly after David's birth. Moments after she fed him his formula, he would begin cries that indicated pain and distress. The crying was continuous.

"Within nine days of his birth," said Mrs. Thomas, "severe allergic symptoms appeared. He was 18 months old before he stopped screaming in pain."

Diagnostic tests made about that time showed that David had an immature digestive tract. His system could not break down and absorb foods. He developed diarrhea, vomiting and hives.

To help her baby, Mrs. Thomas started working with the health department of Oakland County, where she then lived. She started learning different ways to feed him. Talking to the doctors, she learned more about David's allergies.

It turned out that the formula wasn't the only thing David couldn't eat. He also was allergic to corn products, gluten (wheat) products, mold products, dairy products and citrus foods.

About all he could digest was a soy formula, well watered down. Soy is a legume, and David also was allergic to legumes, but he managed a solution that was four parts water, one part formula.

There were days when David could have only water. But his mother, trained as a nurse's aide, kept him drinking it.

"I knew how important it was to keep liquids in him," she said. "I knew I couldn't let him get dehydrated."

DAVID GREW and so did his mother's knowledge of how to feed him.

"I went to the library and read everything I could," she said. "I found out what could substitute for what. I learned more about label reading than ever before."

By the end of her son's first year, he could eat rice, apple juice, soybean formula, beef, lamb and applesauce.

She tried finger food recipes, such as meat cookies, when her son was a toddler. "They worked beautifully and he got nourishment," she remembers.

Linda Thomas (left) and Catherine Crossman collaborated on a book after working together to beat the allergy problems of young David Thomas. (Staff photo by Art Emanuele)

All this time she was working with Mrs. Crossman and the two doctors, getting nutritional information, trying recipes and making substitutions to remove offending foods when necessary.

Mrs. Crossman developed a basic four food group for the allergic child, and that proved invaluable.

Together, the mother and the dietician learned more about how foods are related and why they affect allergic children as they do.

One lesson came when they tried to substitute carob for the chocolate David could not have.

"He blew up like a balloon," Mrs. Crossman said. Then came realization that carob is a legume, one of the no-no foods for David.

THE DECISION to turn accumulated knowledge into a book seemed to come naturally.

Dr. Sosin and Dr. Garber recommended it. Mrs. Thomas had had some experience sharing knowledge with others because she had worked with other parents on the recommendation of the Oakland County Health Department when she was first feeling her way through David's food problems.

It took about two years to complete the book. Mrs. Thomas says it was a team effort involving Mrs. Crossman and the doctors as well as herself.

"I enjoyed working with Linda," the dietician said. "She's creative. She isn't afraid of a challenge. Her positive attitude helped influence David's acceptance."

As she created recipes, Mrs. Crossman probed technical literature for information and botanical relationships of food, and constructed comparison charts and menus. In her research of botanical relationships, pertinent information was discovered.

ONE CHAPTER in the new book contains lists these relationships. Along with the lists are charts of the foods in each family.

Others have suggestions on how to cope with allergy problems and helps for understanding the nature of the allergic child.

More than 100 recipes, listing nutritional contents of ingredients, are included. Then there is the all important food substitute list, which explains how to alter any recipe using foods an allergic child can have.

Dr. Sosin wrote the forward, explaining in non-medical terms how the body builds up defenses against foods the immature digestive tract can not digest.

TODAY, DAVID is a normal, healthy sixth-grader who says his favorite food is coconut cream pie. But he says he "can't stand tomatoes." His mother says he still shows a severe reaction to them. He breaks out in hives when he gets near a tomato plant.

"Sometimes I even have to hold my breath in the lunch room because of the smell of tomatoes," said David. But he manages this problem, and even has learned to accept the teasing he gets from other youngsters because of his problems.

He confessed to wondering why he has so many allergies. But he seems to have the answer.

"So my Mom could write a book," he said.

Paula Joyner honored

Plymouth Township resident Paula Joyner has received the highest honor awarded by the U.S. Jayceettes. The lifetime membership in the U.S. Jayceette Congress, referred to as a Congresswoman Award, was presented at a recent meeting of the Region IV States. The area includes the states of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky.

Jan Zook, president of the U.S. Jayceettes, was on hand for the presentation.

Congresswoman awards are made to women who have served their local chapters, state organizations, and U.S. Jayceettes for a period of at least five years. They must have provided outstanding leadership, service and innovation to the organization.

Mrs. Joyner was nominated by the Region IV states for her service and leadership as their Region IV vice president from June 1979 to June 1980. Her local chapters of Livonia and Plymouth also supported the nomination. She was one of the 15 executive committee members in the country and served as U.S. Jayceette Project Concern program manager, sponsorship and grants program manager, Michigan Jayceette external executive vice president, and state chairmanships of membership, governmental involvement and communication dynamics.

Since joining in 1973, she has held numerous local chapter offices as well. Last year, Mrs. Joyner traveled more than 25,000 miles for the U.S. Jayceettes.

She has been choral director at Novi High School since 1978 and a Plymouth resident since 1977.

CITY COMMISSIONER Dave Pugh was having lunch Friday with his wife, Sharon, when a woman appeared at his elbow with several menus tucked under her arm.

Dave assumed she was a Mayflower waitress, but when she made no waitress-like moves, he looked again. It turned out that she was summoning up courage to ask Dave for his autograph.

"You are Alex Karras. Aren't you?" she stated.

Sharon thought it was pretty funny and so did Dave's friends. Dave was a little doubtful.

THE PLYMOUTH ELKS are looking forward to a special evening Wednesday when Edmund J. Kowacic, president of the Michigan Elks Association, pays them a visit. Accompanying him will be Earl E. Seal, chairman of the board of trustees of the Michigan Elks Association. Both are members of the Calumet Elks Lodge 404.

The Plymouth Lodge will have a host of other state and grand lodge officers as guests that evening.

Among the 22 candidates initiated into the lodge the same evening will be Ray Herbert, former pitcher for the Detroit Tigers.

IVAN (SMILEY) WESTOVER of Hamilton Street was in Pennsylvania last week at the Cookport County Fair. While he was there, Smiley won the Pennsylvania state horseshoe-pitching championship.

He says he's slipping. He pitched just 78 percent rings instead of his usual 84 percent.

JUST WHEN everyone is getting set for and looking forward to Thanksgiving dinner, the Pilgrim Shrine comes along with its annual preview. Not only do the ladies serve roast turkey and all the trimmings, they add baked ham and kielbasa and sauerkraut. The smorgasbord also includes mashed potatoes, vegetables, tossed salads, molded salads and all those varieties of homemade pies.

It will be Saturday, Oct. 4 in the Masonic Temple, Penniman Avenue at Union Street. There will be two sittings, one at 5 p.m. and another at 6. Admission will be $4.50 for adults and $2 for children. They would appreciate reservations by Oct. 2. Persons can call 421-5934, 453-1928, 453-4909, 422-4387 or 453-0490.

They are such a busy group of women, they decided to put in five telephone numbers so at least one of them would be home.

"COME ON TO NEW Zealand" is the title of a two-hour program which will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Oct. 6 in the Fairlane Club on Hubbard Drive, Dearborn.

For all those who dream of traveling to New Zealand, or have been there, this promises to be a interesting evening. It has been arranged by the New Zealand Government Tourist Office, Air New Zealand, Pan Am and the Mount Cook Line. There will be a travel film, a travel update by Richard D. Ballard, and a performance by "Rotorua Tu Tangata Maori Group," directed from New Zealand. They will be dressed in colorful traditional costumes as they present songs and dances of the Maori people of New Zealand. There will be no charge.

For reservations call Plymouth Travel Consultants, 455-660.

Guests to tour Indian Village

The Indian Village branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association will host the Michigan Division's 27th annual International Scholarship Tea Thursday.

The tea will be in Christ Lutheran Church, 2411 Iroquois at Vernor from 1-3:30 p.m. The more than 600 WNF&GA members and guests expected for the event also will have an opportunity to tour five Indian Village homes and gardens. The Village is a historic district which was developed in the early 1900s as a "prestigious community of elegant homes." Internationally known architects designed many of the houses in Indian Village for some of the most prominent figures in turn-of-the-century society. The houses have been kept in excellent repair and many of the carriage houses have been converted to fashionable dwellings.

Ruth Gray, national president of WNF&GA, will attend the tea along with Mrs. Paul Machuga, Michigan Division president.

Mrs. John Parks of Detroit and Mrs. Clarence Maguire of Grosse Pointe are co-chairing the tea. Proceeds from the event will go to the International Farm Youth Exchange, a Michigan 4-H Foundation project supported by the WNF&GA since 1848.

Meadow Brook: Fireworks brighten season

By KATHY PARRISH

It doesn't hurt to shoot off some fireworks when you play Meadow Brook Music Festival.

"We did real well with things that had fireworks," said Stuart Hyke, whose outdoor festival packed them in for light shows this summer.

Biggest draws of the 1980 season were folk-singers Mary Travers and the Kingston Trio (with fireworks), country artist Loretta Lynn, and the hometown Detroit Symphony Pops with a laser-light show. All three played to full houses.

While not pulling in the 7,500 capacity, flutist James Galway attracted 6,000 listeners — the biggest crowd in 15 years for a Meadow Brook symphony concert. The visiting Chicago Symphony was heard by 5,000 festival goers.

"Artistically, I think we did great things," said Hyke, admittedly disappointed not to reach his 170,000 attendance goal but pleased the turnout was up from last season. After an all-time high of 185,000 in 1978, attendance dipped to 145,000 in 1979.

"In all honesty, I would have been happy to have more people this year. But I don't feel badly," added Hyke.

"Given economic conditions and comparing our attendance with other festivals around the country, we did all right," he said.

"When times are hard, people cut back on discretionary spending. And what could be more discretionary?"

MEADOW BROOK drew its largest crowds for the Friday night variety series, which included Mary Travers, Al Hirt, Loretta Lynn, Doc Severinsen and Bill Cosby.

There was also a good response for the visiting Chicago Symphony and Minnesota Orchestra.

Hyke's biggest disappointments of the season were the attractions designed to bring younger audiences to the Avon Township festival. Both the contemporary artists and children's concerts failed to attract large crowds.

"Contemporary attractions designed to bring in younger audiences just didn't," said Hyke.

"But we haven't done them before. It takes a while for the word to get around."

Although next year's schedule is not complete, Hyke intends to try the "contemporary concept" again. But the children's concerts, which brought in from 850 to 1,300 festival goers each, may be cut back from four shows to two or three next year.

"WE MET THE cost of doing them, which was all we were really concerned about," said Hyke, who considers the children's programs an investment in the future. "But we may not do as many next year."

When the final figures on the 1980 season are in this November, next year's schedule will be decided upon. Hyke hopes to "maximize what we did right and minimize what we did wrong. Evaluating is a constant thing."

But he believes the final figures will not won't show a dent in the festival's $100,000 deficit, about $50,000 incurred during the 1979 season, which was plagued by rain.

Two carnies, played by Gary Busey (left) and Robbie Robertson (right), find their friendship is tested when they meet Donna, played by Jodie Foster. It's a movie you want to miss.

the movies

Louise Snider

Like the real thing, 'Carny' is sleazy, but that's about all

There is a sleaziness about carnivals, a garishness about midways, that periodically seems to attract the interest of moviemakers. Somehow, capturing the atmosphere is supposed to be enough to make up for an inadequate theme. It never is.

"Carny" (rated R) is the proof of the pudding, if proof is needed.

Jodie Foster plays a sweet, almost innocent young thing who leaves home to join the low-life set. She also leaves her job as a waitress and her jock boyfriend who likes to settle arguments with his knuckles. Maybe that's why she leaves; the reason is never clear.

She moves in with the clown (Gary Busey) and his partner (Robbie Robertson). If you think this is a setup for the eternal triangle, you're right.

WHAT'S IN store for Jodie but a tawdry life? She begins her new career as a dancer in a girlie show, but this side of show biz proves more than she bargained for. She then gets job retraining and learns how to pull strings for a midway game.

Since no one seems to have an inkling of where the plot is going or what to do next, the filmmakers try to stimulate interest by throwing in some real carnies and freaks to add to the local color. They provide a briefly engaging view of the inside of carnival life — the slang, the customs, the details. However, like the rides, they don't hold one's attention for long.

Intrigue, violence, freaks, sex — in shotgun fashion, the script goes after them all. Unfortunately, nothing hits the target.

It looks as if some talented actors and a fine cinematographer put some time into "Carny" and got hustled.

what's at the movies

AIRPLANE (PG). A picture that takes off. This spoof of all those "Airport" movies is one of the zaniest films around.

THE BLUE LAGOON (R). Lush photography but silly story of two shipwrecked youngsters who grow up uninhibited on tropic isle.

THE BLUES BROTHERS (R). A film that's as unoriginal and dreary as it is expensive (very) with one meatball scene after another and enough car crashes to make AAA go belly up.

BRUBAKER (R). Serious drama with Robert Redford as reform warden fighting corruption on state prison farm.

CADDYSHACK (R). Chevy Chase and other comics in misadventures of caddies at a stuffy country club.

CLOSE ENCOUNTERS OF THE THIRD KIND (PG). Added footage and some judicious editing improve an already good product, Spielberg's sci-fi adventure of aliens contacting Earth.

DRESSED TO KILL (R). Horny murder mystery with more than a passing resemblance to Hitchcock's "Psycho."

THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (PG). "Star Wars" sequel unites original cast in continuation of battle against the evil empire.

FAME (R). Lots of young talent in vibrant musical about students at New York's School of Performing Arts.

THE FIENDISH PLOT OF DR. FU MANCHU (PG). Not very funny or very fiendish, but Peter Sellers' last film does include an occasional flash of comic genius that reminds us of what a gifted actor he was.

THE FINAL COUNTDOWN (PG). Kirk Douglas in action drama of a warship that goes through a time warp to the hour before Pearl Harbor.

HERBIE GOES BANANAS (G). Herbie, the Volkswagen bug, returns to the screen in a new adventure.

HONEYMOON ROSE (PG). Willie Nelson is the center of attention in story about a country-western star who forgets he's married whenever he's on tour, which is most of the time.

THE HUNTER (PG). Steve McQueen returns to the screen again as a modern-day bounty hunter in pursuit of fugitives.

MOUNTAIN MEN (R). Charlton Heston and Brian Keith in violent story of hunters in the Rockies in the early 1800s.

RAISE THE TITANIC (PG). Adventure as American special operations team tries to recover vital mineral from the ship while interested Russians have their own plan.

SMOKEY AND THE BANDIT II (PG). Most of original cast plus Dom DeLuise appear in sequel that is chockful of crude jokes and action as the Bandit transports a pregnant elephant from Florida to Texas.

XANADU (PG). Inspired characters inhabit trivial musical about muse who descends to earth to help open up a disco, or something like that.

Village people find leisure life best in the Keys

There's sun, there's sand, there's water on both sides. For one reason or another, however, tourists are bypassing the Keys for less controversial playgrounds. (Bill Schemmel photo)

By WILLIAM SCHEMME

You can rather accurately gauge how well Key West is doing by the size of the crowds which come out to applaud the sunset. When times are bull- ish, a huge fishing dock and parking lot called Mallory Square will be swarming with tourists, Conchs (as Key West residents are known), jugglers, dancers and assorted characters.

They come out with live iguanas on a leash. They come out with drinks in hand. They come out even when skies are black with tropical storm clouds and there's not a chance on this earth that the sun will make its nightly splash into the sea.

Lately, the sun's big show hasn't had much of an audience. The Conchs and the characters still turn out, but the tourists have been depressingly absent — not only from Mallory Square at sunset, but from hotels, shops, Hemingway's house and the open air bars on Duval Street.

At prime time on a Saturday night, you can march into Sloppy Joe's — Hemingways' favored hangout — and take a seat right at the bar. There's no longer any wait to have your picture taken under the sign that reads "Southernmost Point in the USA."

Refugeephobia, or fear of Cubans, has decimated the crowds which used to flock to this tight little island (four miles long, less than a mile wide) 154 miles south of Miami. Blanket media coverage of last spring's Freedom Flotilla apparently stirred visions of hordes of ravenous refugees rampaging through Key West's downtown shopping streets and tourist areas, illegally occupying the deluxe suites at the Pier House, stripping grocery shelves and leaving barely a conch fritter for outnumbered visitors and Conchs to survive on. Most Conchs swear they never beheld a single refugee.

"I saw some," a local writer admits. "They were airlifted out of the navy base right after they docked. Key West really took a bum rap on this one."

So bum, in fact, that this hotel owner claims he lost more than $50,000 during the height of the April-June boatlift. Many nightspots on Duval and Front streets began closing early; some died quietly in their sleep.

THE IMAGE problem created by the boatlift came along just as Key West was recovering from unfavorable publicity over conflicts between old residents and new waves of American immigrants, many of them gay, who took a liking to the leisurely lifestyle and began moving in in substantial numbers a few years ago. Conchs contend those animosities were as exaggerated as the refugee situation.

"Everybody here's a non-conformist in some way or another," a barkeep muses. "Mind your own business, and don't make love in public, and nobody much cares what you do."

You may fly into Key West — and Air Florida, which has a lock on service into the uninternational International Airport, adheres reasonably close to schedules. But to really appreciate being here, you've got to make the 100-mile drive over the Florida Keys and come to that sudden, screeching halt at the top point where U.S. 1 dead-ends at the ocean. The next stop is Havana, Cuba, 90 miles away.

WHAT WILL IMPRESS you initially about Key West is its end-of-the-rainbow isolation. Sure, on the outskirts there are fast food restaurants such as Wendy's and McDonald's, but in its heart Key West is imbued with its own tailor-made mystique, blended from 160 years' association with seamen, pirates, artists and all manner of square pegs who found their round hole here.

Substantial Victorian houses, once the domain of the 19th century sea captains, stand four-square, trimmed with gingerbread, behind banks of bouganvillea and flame trees.

Ernest Hemingway lived in the Spanish colonial at 907 Whitehead St. Between safaris to Uganda and taunting the bulls at Pamplona, Hemingway stayed home long enough to write some of his most colossal works, including "For Whom the Bell Tolls," "A Farewell to Arms" and "Snows of Kilimanjaro."

Tough old Papa was a sucker for a mewling kitten, and several score descendants of his original brood still lounge around the grounds of the house, which is now a registered national landmark open to the public.

When the words just wouldn't flow anymore, Papa would stomp out for a few drinks with the sea captains and ne'er-do-wells who made a second home of Sloppy Joe's on Duval Street. These days, somebody would have to steer Papa in the right direction, for the Sloppy Joe's which he knew is now occupied by another bar, and the original, interior and all, moved to a larger location down the street.

JOHN JAMES AUDUBON preceded Hemingway to Key West by almost a century, and many of the tropical birds he painted here in the early 1830s are displayed in a restored home a few blocks down Whitehead Street from Papa's place.

Harry Truman also enjoyed depressing in Key West. Grateful natives have named a major avenue for him, and a laundromat for his musical daughter, Margaret.

Although scarcely any of the recent boat people have rooted permanently in Key West, Cuban influence here is strong and long-standing. It can be savored in the Key West Cigar Factory and Museum, where aromatic smokes are still made by hand. It can be tasted in cafes, where the fare is black beans and rice, arroz con pollo, and coffee so strong it could walk to the table under its own power.

Key West is a walkabout town, but most visitors enjoy the 90-minute respite offered by the narrated Conch Tour Trains. Bikes and mopeds are other favored means of getting about the city of 35,000.

THERE ARE BEACHES, but the surf is kept to a lake-like calm by a chain of reefs. These same reefs make the city a major destination for snorkelers and scuba divers, who can take an afternoon excursion with any of several expedition companies for about $20 per person, including equipment.

They'll get you back in time for a quick shower, a cool drink and a leisurely stroll over to Mallory Square for the twilight performance. Like any great star, the Key West sun rarely fails to break a leg for its audience.

For further information write to Division of Tourism, Florida Department of Commerce, 107 W. Gaines St., Tallahassee, Fla. 32304.

Ernest Hemingway's house at 907 Whitehead St. is a popular tourist attraction and also a haven for the descendants of the kittens he befriended.

travel log

Iris Sanderson Jones

contributing travel editor

A fishing story about one they gave away

KONA, Hawaii — From the back of the charter fishing boat, with four lines strung out behind, passengers stare past the wake to the bait that makes short, white slash marks on the sea. We are on a day tour organized by our cruise ship, the Oceanic Independence.

The bottom half of the big island of Hawaii is green, but the top half is under low clouds that break occasionally to make blue-white light on our wake and our lines.

Bob, bearded and permanently sunburned under his straw hat and glasses, has given us the scenario that will unfold if a fish strikes.

Each of us has been assigned a pole. If the pole hits the water with the high whine of unwinding wheel, our job is to scramble into the chair and hook the kidney harness around our waist to tie us firmly to the brass wheel. Bob's job is to bring in the other three reels. "And everybody else should please God get out of the way!"

"If a fish strikes, get in the chair and keep your pole as low as possible," he says. "The fish will go crazy running towards the boat, away from the boat, in any direction, or all of the above. You must let him run — if you try to wind when he's running, you'll break the line."

"When the line slackens, wheel it in fast. When the fish gets close, you'll pump him. Hold your pole up, but when the line slackens, drop the pole and wind like hell, then put it up again."

WE ARE ALL EAGER to follow his advice, but the hours go on and the fish don't strike. All afternoon, we hear about the good signs:

"The dolphin are jumping. That's a good sign."

"And the sun is coming out. That's a good sign."

Two hours later, the sun is shining out of a blue and white sky, and the dolphins have been performing for us on all sides.

They come leaping, friendly, out of the sea beside the boat, appearing first on the starboard side, then on the port side, then a hundred yards behind us.

The beer is getting low. There's a $5 bet on who gets the first strike.

WE'D ALL GIVEN up when it happened. Some of us were in the cabin. Tim had gone to the john. Suddenly there was a high whine. The pole hit the ocean and everybody started shouting. "Tim, Tim, where's Tim?" "Well, dammit, somebody get into Tim's chair."

Tim came out of the head, running, leaped into the chair and began to wheel the marlin in. You could see his back muscles straining as he leaned forward, with Bob behind him, supervising and turning the chair.

The fish came out of the sea like a scene out of a Hemingway novel.

"Look at the size of him!"

"Wind, man, wind!"

"Don't wind when he's running away. I told you that already."

"When the line slackens, drop the pole and wind at the same time."

TIM DIDN'T say anything. He just gnashed his teeth and wound the best he could. Finally, despite our advice, he got the 150-pound marlin to the boat.

The captain leaped off the sundeck to gaff him; Bob pulled him in to the platform at the back of the boat, and everybody collapsed cheering. He was, after all, our fish.

We took the required picture on the dock. First Tim with his marlin and then all of us with our marlin. Nobody knew what to do with his marlin, so we gave it to the crew, who probably sold it.

Then we went back to the cruise ship and bragged about our fish. It was an exhausting day.

Harrison gridders slip past stubborn Chiefs

By BRAD EMONS

Farmington Harrison's unbeaten football status remained intact Friday night, but not without a struggle from gritty Plymouth Canton.

The Hawks, now 3-0 overall, will stay in the Class B rankings this week after a narrow 23-16 triumph over Canton.

Harrison scored the winning touchdown midway through the final quarter and withstood final drive by the Chiefs as time ran out.

"We had a great win over Groves (13-12) last week and this brought us back down to earth," said a relieved Harrison coach John Herrington. "We learned we have to play all four quarters."

The game was in sharp contrast to last year's 49-0 Harrison drubbing over the Chiefs. It didn't start out that way, however.

Harrison put 16 quick points on the board in the first quarter.

Canton rallied back with 16 points of its own just before intermission.

Matt Stifter, a junior linebacker, picked off a Canton pass with 8:39 left in the game to set up the decisive score. Harrison quarterback Jim Macielak then directed his team down the field to the four-yard line. Faced with a fourth and goal situation, Macielak handed off to senior halfback Ken Kop-ko, who crashed into the end zone with 4:54 left. Dave Blackmer's extra point made it 23-16.

Canton staged a final charge. The Chiefs moved deep out of their own territory when quarterback Billy Childs hit tight end Craig Gears with a 24-yard pass. An unnecessary roughness penalty against Harrison moved the ball to the Hawks' 40 yard line. Harrison's defense then dug in and fielded off Childs, despite being penalized 15 more yards on a pass interference call.

The Chiefs, standing on the Hawks' 25, were unable to move the ball in four plays as time ran out.

"THE LAST two weeks I've needed a pacemaker," said Herrington. "Plymouth Canton outplayed us in the second quarter. They're well disciplined and their coach did a super job in preparing for us."

"We're young and inexperienced," said Barr, "and that happens."

"I'm very pleased with my team. They never quit. A couple of mistakes hurt us."

Harrison's second TD came with 4:02 left in the first quarter when Macielak ran 12 yards. The score was set up on a fumble recovery by Steve Waldron in the Canton backfield.

The Hawks made it 16-0 late in the first period when an errant Canton snap from center sailed over the head of punter Mike Clayton and went out of the end zone.

At the start of the second quarter, Canton began to find holes in the Harrison defense with its triple option wishbone attack.

load, he directed an 80-yard drive consuming almost five minutes. The senior signal caller bolted over from 10 yards and ran in the two-point conversion attempt to cut the lead to 16-8 with 5:07 left.

On Canton's next possession, Childs again took the Chiefs 44 yards for a score. Junior Steve Hamblin hurdled into the end zone for the final two yards on third down. A keeper by Childs on the two-point tied the game at 16-all with only 22 seconds remaining.

"Their quarterback Childs did a super job," complimented Herrington. "That option has always given us trouble."

"We widened our linebacker at half-time, but I did more yelling. We just didn't play well on defense. But you can't take anything away from Canton."

Macielak scored Harrison's first TD early in the first quarter with a one-yard run. A pair of 21-yard runs by Kopko and Steve Sweeney accounted for two first downs in the 62-yard drive.

Kopko led all rushers with 90 yards in 20 carries. Childs led Canton with 54 yards in 26 attempts.

"We've got to be one of the best 1-and-2 teams around," said Barr disconsolately. "Our defense played well. We got to work on our lead block next week."

Gears, a 6-3, 225-pound tackle, played a stellar game as did defensive back Clayton.

linebacker, also performed admirably

Cunningham, Ruggiero shoot down Glenn cagers

By BRAD EMONS

Plymouth Canton staged its own version of "Shogun" Thursday night with a thrilling 65-58 non-league girls' basketball win over Westland John Glenn.

Trailing 15-3 midway through the first quarter, Canton turned a fight for survival into a stirring comeback in the final three quarters.

The Chiefs, now 2-2 overall, took a 33-30 advantage at halftime and continued its assault in the second half.

It was the first loss for Glenn in three starts.

"The girls are finally playing as a team," said Canton coach Mike McCauley. "Unity is the key."

The Chiefs appeared to be disorganized, however, as a unit in the first six minutes of the first quarter.

Glenn used a diamond full court press to jump out to the 12-point bulge. The Rockets converted four steals during the spurt into easy baskets.

"We told the girls what was coming before the game started," said McCauley. "We were not cool and calm."

The Chiefs began to settle down behind the rebounding of 5-foot-11 junior Cindy Sovine and the shooting of forwards Pearly Cunningham and Reggie Ruggiero in the second quarter.

Canton began to set the tempo late in the first quarter causing turnovers on the Glenn side. Cunningham's basket with one second left cut the Glenn lead to 18-15.

Canton girls win

In the second period, Canton swarmed the court with its aggressive man-to-man defense and began to hit consistently.

A 17-foot jumper by Susie Pierce with 2:00 remaining until halftime, gave the Chiefs the lead for good, 29-28.

"We relaxed and let down," said Glenn coach George Sommerman. "They came at us with their man defense which is always good."

"The girls were not mentally prepared to see that. We were forcing some bad shots and got a little tight when we got behind. I think we only shot 28 percent in the first half."

THE CHIEFS came out firing in the third quarter to increase their lead. Cunningham knifed in for a nifty inside move with 1:26 left in the third quarter to give Canton a 48-38 advantage.

Jean Timlin's basket with 4:55 to go in the final quarter gave the Chiefs their biggest lead of the night, 58-46. Canton was able to hold on the rest of the way despite the sharpshooting of Glenn center Geri Pizzuti, who tallied 12 of her game-high 21 points in the fourth period.

Cunningham, a junior, paced Canton with 20 points. Ruggiero, playing her best game of the season, added 12. Sovine, who started many of Canton's fast breaks, added eight points and 13 rebounds.

"Pearl Cunningham had one heck of a game," said McCauley. "She was putting the ball in the hoop like she can."

"I think John Glenn is the best team I've played in last six years. Cesarz and Pizzuti looked good. It boiled down to our 10 girls against their six at the end. They (Glenn) may just have been a little tired in the second half."

"We both like to run," said Sommerman. "I think we've got to change our pace, though. Our only excuse is that we played poorly, but we kept trying right down to the final buzzer."

Cesarz added 17 points for the Rockets, who travel to Adrian Tuesday. Canton tangles with unbeaten Livonia Stevenson Tuesday on the road.

Plymouth Salem tankers splash Ypsilanti, 94-78

Plymouth Salem raised its girls' swim record to 2-0 on the season with a 94-78 non-league win over Ypsilanti Thursday night.

Junior Terri Eudy won two races for the Rocks. She captured the 100- and 200-yard freestyle events with times of 57.9 and 2:07.9, respectively.

Nancy Lazarus and freshman Amy Dunn made it a clean sweep for the Rocks in the 100-yard freestyle with times of 1:03.5 and 1:04.8, respectively.

Eudy teamed up with Dunn, Lazarus and Kelly Brandt to win the 400-yard freestyle relay with a clocking of 4:10.0.

In diving, Salem sophomore Cindy McSurely was a surprising first with a total of 171.8 points. Teammate Patty Larson was third, 154.00.

Linda Wochna grabbed Salem's other first place finish with a time of 1:12.3 in the 100-yard backstroke. Teammate Debbie Darlington finished third, 1:13.3.

Other Salem third place finishers included Dunn in the 50-yard freestyle (28.4) and Kim Nelson in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:20.7).

Brandt grabbed two individual second place finishes in the 500-yard freestyle (6:22.7) and 200-yard freestyle (2:18.6). Teammate Corinne Cabadas, a sophomore, managed to finish second in both the 50-yard freestyle (27.9) and 100-yard breaststroke (1:18.7).

"Brandt's time in the 200 (freestyle) was a good time for her," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "Dunn and Bing did a nice job for freshmen and Nelson dropped her time in the breaststroke by 12 seconds."

"We actually should have had a 100 points, but we were disqualified in two races and had a little mixup in the final race."

A malfunction in the electronic touch boards penalized Salem's second 400-yard freestyle relay team. It resulted in the Rocks placing third instead of fourth place.

"We didn't swim bad at all," said Olson. "Ypsi only had 16 girls, but had some good individuals."

Nancy Kubiski, for instance, won both the 50-yard freestyle (27.1) and 100-yard butterfly (1:04.6). Teammate Elaine Wallenstad won the 200-yard IM and 200 freestyle.

Ypsilanti also captured the 200-yard medley relay. Salem placed second with a time of 2:09.5.

Rock cagers triumph

Junior forward Eileen Moore scored 12 points to lift Plymouth Salem to a 54-17 girls' basketball victory Thursday over Allen Park.

It was the first league win and the third for the Rocks in three tries.

Senior center Cheryl Sobkow had nine points and Jan MacKenzie added eight.

The Rocks travel to Dearborn Tuesday in another Suburban Eight League game.

Salem jumped out to a 21-11 half-time lead and were never seriously threatened thereafter.

"We were kind of sluggish at the start," said Salem coach Bob Blohm. "It took us till the third quarter to get rolling."

Salem held the Jaguars to seven second half points enroute to the win.

"I thought we played pretty good defense, but honestly I thought we gave up too many points in the first half," said the Salem coach. "We got better as the game went along. The third and fourth quarters were good for us."

Blohm was pleased that his team did not give up as many second shots as they had in Tuesday's win over Dearborn Fordson.

Salem must now prepare for Dearborn and new head coach Jim Vanderhull, who guided the Dearborn boys' team for almost 20 years.

"I expect to see a full court press," predicted Blohm. "Dearborn will try to beat us with the transition game."

"We are not going to get into a track meet with them."

Salem must try to stop Dearborn senior forward Beth Fink, the team's top player.

"Fink plays anywhere she can," said Blohm about the 5-foot-7 forward. "She's a good shooter, quick and strong."

Bulldogs gain spots

Thirteen swimmers from the Bulldog Aquatic Club in Livonia recently qualified to compete in the Long Course AAU State Championships.

Two Boys 10 relay teams gained a fifth and sixth place finish in the state meet. The fifth place team of Greg Cooksey (Plymouth), Steve and Jon Cohen (Novi), and Jim Kovach posted a time of 2:23.93 in the 200-meter medley relay. The sixth place time was 2:48.0.

In the Boys 11-12 age group, the Bulldogs came away with a pair of fourth place finishes.

John Kovach (Garden City), Greg Wolff (Plymouth), Jeff Cohen (Novi) and Dan Kozar (Westland) combined to gain fourth in the 200-meter freestyle relay (2:12.80) and 200-meter medley relay (2:35.56).

Other area tankers who qualified for the meet but did not place were Steven and Margaret Gilligan (Plymouth), Joe McBratnie (Plymouth), Tony Nader (Northville) and Nancy Szeromski (Garden City).

The Bulldog Aquatic Club holds practices five times a week at Schoolcraft College. The club provides competition on all age levels.

Spartan swimmers dunk Chiefs

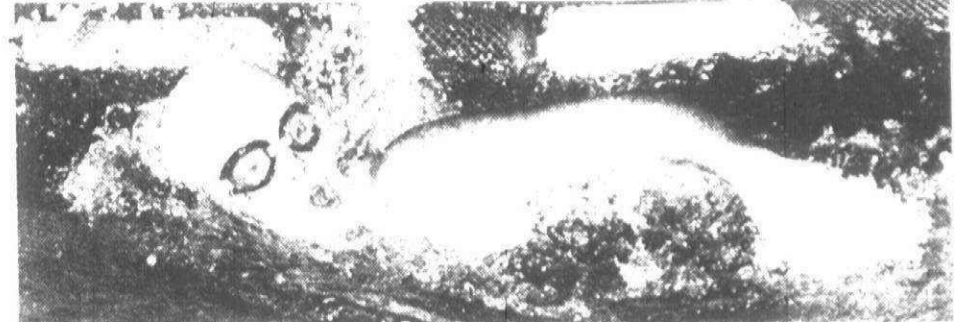

The Plymouth Canton girls' swim team got a taste of Livonia Stevenson "water power" Thursday night. Stevenson, a perennial state Class A force, dunked the Chiefs Thursday night in a non-league dual meet, 116-55.

Ellie Wagner recorded Canton's only first place finish. She won the diving event with a total of 165.75 points. Teammate Shaun Neville placed second with a total of 127.10.

Other Canton second place finishes were recorded by Kim Massey, 100-yard butterfly, 1:10.0, and Missy McMurray, 100-yard freestyle, 1:01.9. Canton's 400-yard freestyle relay squad also place second with a clocking of 4:15.2. That team consisted of Massey, McMurray, Mary Reardon and Debbie Dickinson.

"They're real tough," said Canton coach Mark Griffith, complimenting the Spartans' performance. "Our girls did fairly well this time. We're progressing well for this part of the season."

The 700 barrier, that only a few years ago was considered the peak goal of all bowlers, now seems to be almost becoming common place.

Where once it was a rarity hardly a week goes by that someone doesn't break it. And now the women bowlers are getting into the act.

This was evident during the past week when Aleta Rzepecki, one of the young women stars, fashioned a 706 in the Major League at Beech Lanes. With this big count, she helped the women to post one of their best weeks.

While Aleta was scoring well, Cora Feibig, one of the veterans, had a 278 in 690 to move up among the average leaders. This was the finishing touch to a week in which Bonnie McKay rolled a 279 in the Bowlerettes league and Cheryl Daniels, another of the young stars, posted a 278 for a 683 that paced the league.

Meanwhile, the Mr. F. team put up quite a battle to take single game honors from Penny Behn's Bonanza team 1008 to 1004.

ED LUBANSKI, once one of the area's top pin spillers, showed that he hasn't lost his ability last Tuesday night in the Classic at Wonderland Lanes. Opening with a 238, he followed with 256 and 215 for 709 to beat Larry Franz, his closest rival, by 25 pins.

On the ladies side, Judy Uniataowski showed the way with games of 209, 223 and 173 for 605.

Rock netters rip Jaguars

Plymouth Salem yielded just nine games Wednesday afternoon in beating Suburban Eight League girls' tennis foe Allen Park, 7-0.

The Rocks are now 4-0 in dual meets and 2-0 in the league.

Salem was particularly impressive in doubles. The Rocks allowed just two games.

At the No. 1 spot, Salem's Renee Braun and Betsy Moon upped their record to 8-0 on the season with a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Rita Bisaro and Kim Pink. Salem's No. 2 doubles team, Lisa Maggio and Vickie Sterling, topped Jill Mihatsch and Patty Varady, 6-1, 6-0.

At No. 3 doubles, Lynn Hathaway and Beth Baker blasted Allen Park's Jane French and Linda Rundoth, 6-0, 6-1.

Freshman Chris Gilles, Salem's No. 1 singles player, had little trouble beating Sue Burke, 6-0, 6-0. Gilles is now 7-1 on the season.

Carol Gillespie, playing No. 2 singles, also posted a 6-0, 6-0 win over Gloria Leibold.

Carol Hathaway, the Rocks' No. 3 singles player, downed Kristin Johnson, 6-2, 6-2, while teammate Sue Dobel beat Janet Kovacs at No. 4 singles, 6-3, 6-0.

Salem will meet Dearborn at 4 p.m. Monday on the road in a Suburban Eight League match.

CANTON-W.L. WESTERN

Plymouth Canton evened its record to 1-1 in the Western Six League with a 4-3 girls' tennis triumph over Walled Lake Western Wednesday afternoon.

"I'm happy we won," said Canton coach Cyndi Burnstein, "but I know we can play better."

The Chiefs scored two singles and two doubles victories.

At No. 3 singles, Marianne Pink beat Colleen Itchue of Western, 6-1, 6-0. Kris Harrison of Canton downed Cathy Fergin at No. 4 singles, 6-3, 6-1.

Canton's No. 1 doubles team of Julie Swain and Sheryl Smith posted a 6-4, 6-2 victory. Lisa Schlotz and Heather Hawkins of the Chiefs also won at No. 2 doubles, 6-3, 7-6.

Jane Neville, a transfer from Bloomfield Hills Kingswood, won her match easily against Canton's Eileen McGlinn, 6-0, 6-1, at No. 1 singles. Neville was a Class B state semifinalist at a year ago.

At No. 2 singles, Holly Spencer of Western topped Lori Smith, 6-1, 6-1.

Kristin Smith and Jane McKinstry, the Chiefs' No. 3 doubles squad, were defeated, 6-3, 6-4.

Canton suffered its first league loss of the season last Monday against defending champ Northville, 6-1.

North edges Glenn in triple overtime

By DOUG FUNKE

North Farmington football coach Ron Holland termed his Raiders' 28-21 victory Friday over Westland John Glenn one of the three most rewarding of his long career.

One reason for Holland's assessment, no doubt, is that the Northwest Suburban League duel went three overtimes.

"I've been coaching 22 years and it's never been that exciting," Holland said. "Neither team quit. It couldn't end any more exciting."

The Raiders scored touchdowns during each of their three overtime possessions.

Rick Roth, moreover, scored all four of North's touchdowns during the game.

He bulled into the endzone over right tackle from the two yard line during a fourth down play for what turned out to be the winning points.

During the second overtime, the 6-foot, 175-pound tailback carried the ball all 10 yards — all over right tackle — and eventually scored on a one-yard dive.

Roth also lugged the ball all 10 yards for North during the first overtime. He scored then on a two-yard run, again over right tackle.

If that weren't enough, Roth also carried the ball into Glenn's endzone for North's first touchdown.

His two-yard plunge capped a 90-yard drive which the Raiders started after receiving the second-half kickoff.

Steve Magyar kicked all four extra points for the victors.

GLENN WASN'T without heroes of its own.

Quarterback Rick Discher completed a pressure-packed pass of five yards to Doug Cort for a touchdown on a fourth-down play to tie the score in the first overtime.

Discher sneaked in from one yard out for a TD in the second overtime.

The senior quarterback also scored the Rockets' first touchdown with a two-yard sneak midway through the second quarter. Glenn marched 62 yards in 11 plays for its first points.

Jon Johnston booted all three of the Rockets' points-after-touchdown.

IT ALMOST seemed like two different games during the regulation 48 minutes of action.

Glenn totally dominated the first half, getting off 28 offensive plays to only 15 for the Raiders. The Rockets collected 124 yards in total offense to 27 for North and had six first downs to the Raiders' one.

Things were almost completely reversed during the second half.

North had 32 offensive plays to 14 for the Rockets, rolled up 108 yards to 37 for Glenn and accumulated eight first downs to the Rockets' two.

Roth, who carried the ball 35 times for 115 yards, was getting the ball nearly every running play during the second half and the overtimes.

"He's got to get the football," Holland said. "(At halftime,) the kids said they'd open holes and he asked for the ball."

GLENN COACH Chuck Gordon agreed that it almost seemed like two different games during regulation time.

"I'm really disappointed for our players," he said. "That was a big factor in the game, their first drive in the second half."

"I think we played well at times. We just didn't play well in overtime. Anytime they score 21 points, you're not doing the job down there."

"I thought things went pretty much as expected," Gordon said. "From a spectator standpoint, I'm sure it was exciting."

Greg O'Neil gained 45 yards rushing. O'Neil also caught a pass for an eight-yard gain on a fourth down play in the third overtime. Unfortunately for Glenn, he was stopped at the two yard line to end the game.

Wade Tipton ran for 39.

NORTH HAD a longshot chance to win in regulation time, but a 43-yard field goal attempt by Magyar was blocked by Amado Varona. That was the final play of regulation time.

There were some anxious moments for the Raiders and their partisans immediately after the game. Ralph Temby, an assistant coach, collapsed apparently from hyperventilation.

After a rest, he was able to walk off the field.

By the way — what were the other two big thrills in Holland's coaching career? "When we beat undefeated Denby in 1965 and Brother Rice in 1978," he said.

North will host Garden City East 2 p.m. Saturday. Glenn will visit Livonia Franklin 2 p.m. the same day.

Panthers use speed

Pete Stephens and Tom Gibson finished one-two to power Westland John Glenn to a 22-37 victory over Redford Thurston last week in a Northwest Suburban League cross-country dual.

Stephens clocked 16:48 and Gibson 17:00 over the three-mile course at Cass Benton Park.

Two Thurston runners — Ken Showich, 17:15, and Tim Jefferies, 17:25 — placed third and fourth, respectively.

Ray Macieka, from Glenn, finished fifth with a run of 17:28.

Thurston defeated Livonia Bentley earlier in a non-league meet 21-37. Robin Peters won the race with an effort of 18:26.

REDFORD UNION harriers finished third through ninth to overcome a one-two placing by Garden City East and gain a 25-36 win.

East's Mike Stapleton bested the field at Lola Valley Park with a time of 17:57. Teammate Rob Phillips was almost a minute behind at 18:56.

RU's first three finishers were Josef Jachim, 16:58; Craig Sickmiller, 16:59; and Tim Diggs, 17:02.

Stars prepare for European tilt

By MIKE GALLAGHER

They have played in the realm of the National Hockey League, on world championship teams to second-division clubs. They come from the hockey rinks of Michigan's colleges and universities hoping one day to break into the ranks of the professionals.

But for now there is only one goal for these past and future stars of hockey.

These men form the nucleus of the Redford Stars, an area team which has won the United States Amateur Championship in 1977 and 1979 and numerous Michigan titles. Several members of the Stars and a group of high caliber collegians are now preparing at the Beech Woods Arena in Southfield for the fifth annual Anglett International Ice Hockey Tournament in France from Sept. 24-28.

ey Tournament in France from Sept. 24-28.

THE FOUR-TEAM round-robin tournament, which includes Bulgaria, Russia and Yugoslavia, marks the first time a U.S. amateur team has competed in such an event. And it's the first time since the Lake Placid Olympics that a Russian and American team will square off.

The tournament will be played under international rules, with a larger rink and elimination of the center ice being the only difference from American play.

William Roskelly, president of Basney & Smith Inc. and sponsor of the Redford Stars, feels the tournament is well balanced except for the Russian team.

"Bulgaria and Yugoslavia are about our caliber," Roskelly said. "If the Russians send their Dynamo team they'll probably take the tournament. So right now we're shooting for second place."

ROS KELLY will travel with the team as club manager. He said he "wouldn't miss this trip for anything in the world."

West Bloomfield's Nelson Debenedet, former forward for the Detroit Red Wings, says many of the men on the team have played together before and now form a tight unit.

"We have about six or seven players who will be going to pro camps in a few weeks, but the rest have played together and the practices are running smoother," Debenedet said.

The team has been practicing mornings for several months at the Beech Woods Arena between 6:30-8:30 a.m.

"There's so much enthusiasm generated here it's unbelievable," Debenedet added. "We'll be running standard plays, and in workouts just getting into shape is the main concern."

Credit for assembling these players goes to another West Bloomfield resident, Bob Brinkworth. He is player/coach of the team and the mainstay behind the men — motivating, instructing and cajoling them so they may reach their full potential at tournament time.

"WE'VE ROUGHLY 12 ex-pros and six college men on the roster," Brinkworth said.

Mixed feelings on meal switch

Editor

As one who has been a vocal critic of Wayne County government for the three years I have served on the board of commissioners, I view the recent decision to switch the services being offered by Wayne County over to Livonia with mixed emotions.

Ideally, had my colleagues adopted my resolution of a year and a half ago to place on the ballot the question of electing a county executive, we could have had that person in office by now and the problems with the Wayne County Office on Aging could have been on the way towards being solved.

I am convinced that the move by a suburban community, in this case Livonia, to seek funding for the nutrition program is a good one. It will allow an out-county community with no ties to Wayne County government to service out-county senior citizens.

I am convinced, because of the excellent track record on dealing with services to senior citizens, that Livonia is in a position to expand and improve upon the program.

Among those being served, there will be a tendency to fear that a cutback or discontinuation of the program is possible. It is my understanding that current staff members are being asked to stay on in order that programming can continue. This is a very positive step that speaks well for the commitment by Livonia for quality and continuity.

In these times of government financial deficits and the push for curtailment of services, we must all keep our eyes open to insure that services for senior citizens which have been promised and which have been initiated, are continued. In this case, the out-county communities are bound to benefit — and as a result, so will the senior citizens in the out-county areas.

I look forward to hearing from any seniors in Wayne County who are affected by this change. I welcome your input and will see that your comments are passed along.

In the meantime, let's all hope that meaningful Wayne County reorganization will take place soon, in order that county department heads will have a responsible person to report to. Had there been a county executive six months ago, the "poor performance" and "mismanagement" alleged to describe the Wayne County Office on Aging could have been corrected.

R. WILLIAM JOYNER,
County Commissioner
District 27

How to sell used vehicles

The Plymouth Jaycees are planning their annual Used Vehicle Sale.

Persons having a used vehicle to sell are invited to do so from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 27.

The vehicles for sale may be brought to the parking lot east of 347 N. Main just west of Starkweather in the city of Plymouth.

The public is welcome to sell, buy or trade — for an entrance fee of $5. All transactions are private.

The used vehicle sale is a community service project of the Plymouth Jaycees.

Area runners still have time to enter the YMCA Fall Run

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA is sponsoring its first annual Fall Run beginning at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 11.

There will be a one-mile race starting at 8 a.m., followed by a three-mile run at 8:30 a.m. and a three-mile run to start at 9 a.m.

The event, held as a fundraiser for the YMCA, is being co-sponsored by the Plymouth Observer and Plymouth Trading Post.

The races will begin behind Central Middle School at 650 Church at the Adams Street entrance by the tennis courts.

The fee for those who register early is $5 per person, $1.50 for youth 16 and younger, and $3 per group, family or team registration. Persons registering after Sept. 29 will be charged an extra $1 for late registration.

T-shirts will be given to the first 200 entries and trophies will be awarded for the first three places in overall events and medals to the first place winners in each of the seven age divisions.

The entry blank below should be mailed to the Plymouth Family YMCA at 292 S. Main Street above Armbruster's Bootery in Plymouth.

TEMPORARY
LEGAL SECRETARIES
Dear Legal Secretaries:
You say the kids need new shoes for school, your husband is laid off, and the washing machine finally broke down?

If you're an experienced legal secretary with excellent skills, we can ease the burden by placing you on a temporary legal assignment in your area.

Register with us on an "on call" basis. In order to qualify, you must come from an intermediate, college, or graduate level and pass a test as you must do in any reputable agency. Explain your previous legal work history, and the specialities that you learned to perform comfortably. After that, you'll be on your way to peace of mind from financial sources that will cover your mental health, ease the family burdens, and bring you into contact once again with the wonderful legal world of business.

If you have an questions about attempting free lance work, call Joanne for a chat. You will have a frank and confidential discussion with her by phone prior to setting up an interview.

In the meantime, best wishes for your future. We look forward to meeting you.

Trivia, Thy name is auto

The automobile industry has a well-documented and important history, but many of the facts on the automobile are useful mainly for a trivia quiz.

Among the automotive firsts compiled by the Automotive Information Council are:

- The first known buyer of an American gasoline-engine car was George H. Merrill Jr. of Norwood, Mass. In 1896, he bought one of the first 13 Duryea motor wagons with the condition that he would agree to permit his new car to be entered in the first track race for motor carriages at Naragansett Park, R.I., in September of the same year.
- The first person to be arrested for speeding was Jacob German in 1899, in New York City. He was stopped for driving his electric car 12 miles per hour.
- The first auto parts store was opened in 1899 by A.L. Dyke in St. Louis, Mo.

• Franchised new-car dealerships came along in 1898 when H.O. Koller signed an agreement in Reading, Pa. He sold Winton autos.

• The first used-car dealership followed a few years later in 1902 in New York City.

• The first school for mechanics was established at the Detroit YMCA in 1904.

• Car theft may have started sooner, but the first car reported stolen was in 1905 in St. Louis.

• Free road maps came on the scene in 1913.

• The world's first three-color traffic-control lights were installed in Detroit in 1919.

• Cigarette lighters made their appearance in 1925 as an add-on accessory.

• The first drive-in theater was opened in Camden, N.J., in 1933.

Cadillac Eldorado

The front-end appearance of the two-door, front-wheel-drive Eldorado is highlighted by a new bright-finish grille. Dual rectangular headlights are positioned above parking lights and flank the grille. Rear fenders are capped with vertical tail lamps, and the wire wheel covers have been redesigned. The standard engine is a 6.0-liter V-8-6-4. The engine is controlled by a microprocessor that selects only the number of cylinders needed to satisfy driving requirements. Eight-, six- or four-cylinder selection is entirely automatic.
