Officials fence in new law

Citizens' reaction to a new township fence requirement probably will depend on the location of their home on the block.

After 18 months of study, the Township Board finally has approved an amendment to a controversial 1972 fence ordinance.

For some corner-lot owners, the new stipulations will diminish the size of their backyards if and when they decide to fence.

For their next-door neighbors and other homeowners on the street, the ordinance may bring a welcomed ban on fences which are visible from their front yards.

The new restrictions apply only to corner lots with backyards abutting the frontyards of homes next door.

For those situations, the amended ordinance prohibits the erection of fences in the sideyard of the corner lot. The old ordinance allowed fences in those areas with the permission of the homeowner next door.

ORDINANCE DIRECTOR Bruce Phillips said the 1974 fence law evoked vehement protests from all lot owners concerned.

Owners of corner lots protested their obligation to seek permission from another landowner in order to fence their property. They noted premium prices paid for their corner lot and maintained a right to fence the sideyard.

Owners of adjacent property protested with equal vehemence. They claimed sideyard fences detracted from the appearance of the street and blocked the view of the homeowner next door.

Phillips said many reluctantly gave permission for fences adjacent to their frontyards in the name of good neighborly relations. But many protested their role in the matter, Phillips added.

In some cases, the fence law provoked neighborhood feuds.

Deeds and restrictions of some subdivisions with Planned Unit Development agreements (PUD) place the same ban on sideyard fences as the recently approved fence ordinance.

Most subdivisions in the township contain the type of corner covered by the ordinance, Phillips said.

Monitoring stress

No, 15-year-old Michelle Splatt isn't sick. It's just that she has a recurring problem with headaches. A Canton resident last week visited her

Youth found dead in field

Canton Township police are investigating the death of a 17-year-old Plymouth Salem student in a wooded area off Lilley.

The incident occurred shortly after 3:30 p.m. Thursday. Police believe the youth broke into a house on Lilley near Palmer, stole a handgun and then went to a nearby wooded area and shot himself.

THE UNIDENTIFIED youth, who was a Canton resident, was dead at the scene with a bullet wound to the head, said Officer James Hanna.

A spokeswoman for the Wayne County Medical Examiner's Office said the death has been ruled a suicide.

Hanna described the events as follows:

Police received a call on a breaking-and-entering of a house on Lilley south of Palmer at 3:38 p.m. Thursday. Reporting the incident was a 65-year-old Canton resident.

The witness told police he saw a youth leaving a neighbor's house through a door wall, triggering a loud alarm in the house. He said the youth walked a moped into a nearby wooded area.

MOMENTS LATER, the witness said he heard shots. When police arrived, he led them to where the body was lying. Nearby was a semi-automatic handgun.

Later investigation showed that a dining room window had been broken at the Lilley house and that the handgun had been taken from that location.

Deputy cries 'politics' over slice in duties

By DARLENE STINSON

A job responsibility has been yanked from deputy treasurer Maria Falkiewicz in a move which she claims smacks of politics.

In an emotion-charged meeting last week the Township Board transferred responsibility for processing liquor licenses from Ms. Falkiewicz to Clerk John Flodin.

Trustee Robert Greenstein, who placed the item on the agenda, says that he supports Republican James Kearney for the treasurer's position. Ms. Falkiewicz, who has served as deputy treasurer for almost two years, is seeking the elective post as a Democrat.

In August 1979, the Township Board directed Ms. Falkiewicz to handle all liquor-license applications. The resolution was passed after the deputy treasurer developed criteria for handling the requests.

Last week, Greenstein blasted Ms. Falkiewicz for "sitting" on an application filed with the township Sept. 30. He charged the deputy treasurer with inverting legal action against the township.

Greenstein said he would fire Ms. Falkiewicz from the deputy position if he were treasurer. But he insisted that his statements on liquor licenses last week had nothing to do with politics or the upcoming election.

"I haven't done one thing political since the primary," said Greenstein, who lost his bid for the Democratic supervisor nomination.

"What has happened is because of Maria's (Falkiewicz) incompetence," he said. "I don't want to leave office with a lawsuit on my back."

MS. FALKIEWICZ claims that the Township Board gave verbal approval for the policy she has used to process liquor licenses.

She maintains that Greenstein's position is inconsistent with his past stance on liquor licenses.

"The timing was perfect for the election," she said late last week. "As far as I'm concerned, (some people) have to do something to discredit someone else before an election. But township government shouldn't be used for those purposes."

"Technically, (responsibility for liquor licenses) should not be in the treasurer's department," she said. "But you just don't do these types of things three weeks before an election."

The controversy arose as a result of a liquor license application by developer Howard Binko.

Binko — formerly of Republican Development Corp. — plans to build a western-style saloon on a Ford Road site between Lilley and Sheldon.

According to Ms. Falkiewicz, he has not submitted site plans for the project.

Under the policy formulated by the deputy treasurer, liquor-license applicants must apply to the Michigan Liquor Control Commission (LCC) before coming to the township. Ms. Falkiewicz forwards internal-report forms to various township department heads, who make recommendations on the applications. A separate form sent by the LCC goes to the police department for an investigation of the applicant.

Trustees delay public hearings

Three public hearings advertised for last Tuesday's Township Board meeting will be held on Oct. 28 instead.

The hearings will address the township's proposed $3.9-million operating budget for 1981, a proposed $1.3-million fire budget and a proposed $1.3-million police budget.

The hearings appeared on last week's Township Board agenda as items eight through 10.

But because of lengthy discussions on previous agenda items — such as a grand-opening banner and liquor-license application, the board could not open the hearings until 11:30 p.m.

By that time, the only persons who remained in the audience were members of the press and township employees.

Board members voted to table all three hearings until their next regular meeting on Oct. 28. Clerk John Flodin said the hearings must be readvertised in local newspapers.

Herbert Norton, director of township services for the Michigan Township Association (MTA), said tabling hearings which already have been advertised is perfectly legal.

"That's a little more respectable than holding hearings with just departments there," he said. "It would be the same as recessing a meeting."

Cold weather ends Canton farm market

Saturday will be your last chance this year to fetch a squash or a pumpkin at the Canton Farmers' Market.

The final day of the 1980 season will be Saturday. The township-sponsored market will be open from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. in the parking lot of the New Towne Plaza shopping center at Ford and Sheldon.

ON SALE will be pumpkins, firewood, special-order decorative cornstalk bundles and some fall vegetables.

The farmers' market — which features only Canton-grown produce — was inaugurated during the summer and was expected to continue through October.

"It was not open the last two Saturdays, however, because of early frosts and chilly, rainy weather."

"The crops were in and stopped growing," said Dianne Neihengen, a member of Canton Township's farmland preservation committee. "Crowds were dwindling."

Mrs. Neihengen said the market will be held again next year.

Wedding vows

Local clergy support 6-month wait

By ARLENE FUNKE

The engaged couple sitting before Fr. Edward Baldwin were giving off all kinds of warning signals.

The woman was 17. Her fiancée was 19 and in the armed forces. He appeared tense, even hostile.

During the interview, it became clear that these two young people came from very different backgrounds. Could they build a marriage with such strikes against them?

Fr. Baldwin, of St. John Neumann Catholic Church in Canton, uses this couple to illustrate the kinds of people who might benefit from guidelines announced recently by the Roman Catholic Church in Michigan.

THOSE guidelines call for a general six-month waiting period before couples may be married. During that time, they will undergo counseling and preparation for the marriage.

Church officials say they are aware some persons may view the guidelines as "punitive laws." But they believe the rules necessary because so many marriages are failing.

Moreover, Fr. Baldwin said area Catholic churches — including Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth and others — have had programs for engaged couples for several years. Agreeing that there is a need is Fr.

Ernest Porcari, pastor of St. Thomas A'Becket Church in Canton.

Fr. Baldwin explained that there have been certain policies around for several years, but they weren't standardized. He added that the new guidelines took about five years to develop.

The St. John Neumann pastor said he participated "remotely" in the preparation of the rules this year as a member.

Poll shows affiliations

A "non-partisan" polling of residents by three churches indicates some 60 percent of Canton residents are Roman Catholics.

Taking part in the sampling were St. Michael Lutheran, People's Church and Faith Community Church.

A TOTAL of 612 people answered the survey, according to a letter from the Rev. Darryl Bell, pastor of Faith Community.

Of those surveyed, 71 said they attend church, with frequency ranging from one or two times a year to every day. Twenty-nine percent said they don't attend any church.

Here's some safety tips

The Plymouth Police remind youngsters that Halloween is more than fun and games. It's also a time to observe a few rules of safety. Here are a few tips to keep in mind.

MOTORISTS — Drive carefully in residential areas to avoid excited children who may not be paying attention to street traffic.

PARENTS — Accompany your young children. Insure they're dressed in bright costumes that are hemmed short enough to avoid tripping. It is advised that costumes be treated with fire-resistant material and have a few strips of reflectorized material attached to insure visibility at night.

Stress that children not take treats from strangers on the street. Examine all treats brought home and report any that are altered or tainted.

Don't allow your children to leave home without identification.

CHILDREN — Don't wear masks because they could interfere with your vision. Face make-up is recommended instead. Police also advise that flashlights be used instead of candles which can cause fires. Go only to houses that are lit with porch lights. Jaywalking at night is also dangerous so just cross streets at the corners, police suggest.

TREATERS — Plan "sensible" treats. And leave your porch light on.

Police also advise that trick or treating should be restricted to 6-8 p.m., hours of reasonable visibility, on Friday, Oct. 31. Children also should remain in local neighborhoods, they add.

Cops to test candy

If you find yourself uncertain about the condition of the treats brought home by your youngsters on Halloween night, here's a suggestion that may ease your nerves and insure that treats are safe.

The Wayne County Sheriff's Department will operate a metal detector at its Hines Park Mini Station, at Newburg and Hines Drive, Halloween night until 11 p.m.

Det. Richard Fenton says area residents are invited to bring their children's suspicious and even non-suspicious treats to the station for inspection.

Horrors will abound now through Oct. 31 at a variety of "haunted" houses throughout the areas.

Laura Nicolato, a technician at the Michigan Headache and Neurological Institute, explains that headaches often stem from stress in other areas of the body.

That spells relief!

Biofeedback eases class headache

By ARLENE FUNKE

Michelle Splatt, 15, walks into her 1 p.m. psychology class at Plymouth Canton High School where she is a 10th-grader.

Michelle has had a headache that has been bothering her on and off for two days.

She has pain above her right eye. She talks about her weekly (horse) riding lesson, which always seems to bring on a headache.

BUT HELP has arrived in the form of Laura Nicolato, a technician at the Michigan Headache and Neurological Institute. The institute is a private clinic in Ann Arbor which specializes in treating persons with chronic headaches.

Ms. Nicolato, a Canton resident, is visiting the class at the request of team teachers Michael McCauley and James Martin.

Her assignment is to demonstrate a process called "biofeedback," in which persons develop voluntary control over biological processes involved in pain, discomfort and disease.

Under this process, the person is connected to a machine which records the body's response to stress. The person then is taught ways to relax to reduce the stress or pain.

MICHELLE has volunteered to be the headache "patient" for Ms. Nicolato's demonstration. Through biofeedback, Michelle will become an active participant in treating her own headache.

"We want to make this (class) very real instead of abstract," explained teacher McCauley. Eventually, the teachers hope to obtain $5,000-$10,000 from the school district or from private sources to develop a psychology lab at the school.

"We want to give the students hands-on experience," added McCauley. "Biofeedback is an alternative to Valium and other drugs."

MS. NICOLATO explained that headaches can be caused by stress, loud noises, odors and many other things.

Being chewed out by your boss or coping with sick children can bring on a headache. So can staying up too late and trying to juggle several important tasks.

An institute pamphlet explains that changes take place in the body — usually without the person's awareness. Teeth clench or grind. Frown lines appear on the forehead.

Muscles in the head or neck may tighten. Blood vessels in the head expand, and pulses of the heart send waves of pressure or pain.

"About 95 percent of all people have headaches at one time or another," said Ms. Nicolato. "They are triggered by many things — they are really tricky to diagnose."

"WE TRY to individualize our treatment," she added.

Treatment at the Ann Arbor institute is covered by most insurance plans, said Ms. Nicolato. On staff are a physician, psychologists, nurses and technicians.

Staff members explain how headaches are caused. Patients have about five biofeedback sessions and also may be referred to a psychologist to learn ways of managing stress and coping with pain.

"The goal of biofeedback is to leave your body out of stress and anxiety," explained Ms. Nicolato. "Biofeedback and medication can be — and is — used to treat people."

"It's very effective," she added. "People are amazed to know there is a place totally devoted to headache (treatment)."

During Ms. Nicolato's biofeedback demonstration, Michelle is seated in a comfortable, tilt-back chair. Ms. Nicolato places suction cups on Michelle's forehead and attaches electrodes which are hooked to the biofeedback machine.

Electrodes attached to her fingers will record changes in body temperature. The machine emits a flat sound which intensifies to a bong-bong or siren-like pitch when Michelle frowns or raises her eyebrows.

Those sounds are "feeding back" or giving Michelle a message how her body is responding. Later, by using relaxation techniques, Michelle is able to bring these responses under voluntary control.

A TAPE is played. A hypnotic, fatherly voice suggests that the patient (Michelle) is becoming relaxed, very relaxed and finally, totally relaxed. Arms and legs are becoming heavy, urges the tape.

Michelle's eyes are closed. She seems to be dozing. Ms. Nicolato reports that a gauge on the machine indicates Michelle is quite relaxed.

Ms. Nicolato tells Michelle to think of a happy experience and to focus on details. For Michelle, it's a vacation trip to the mountains.

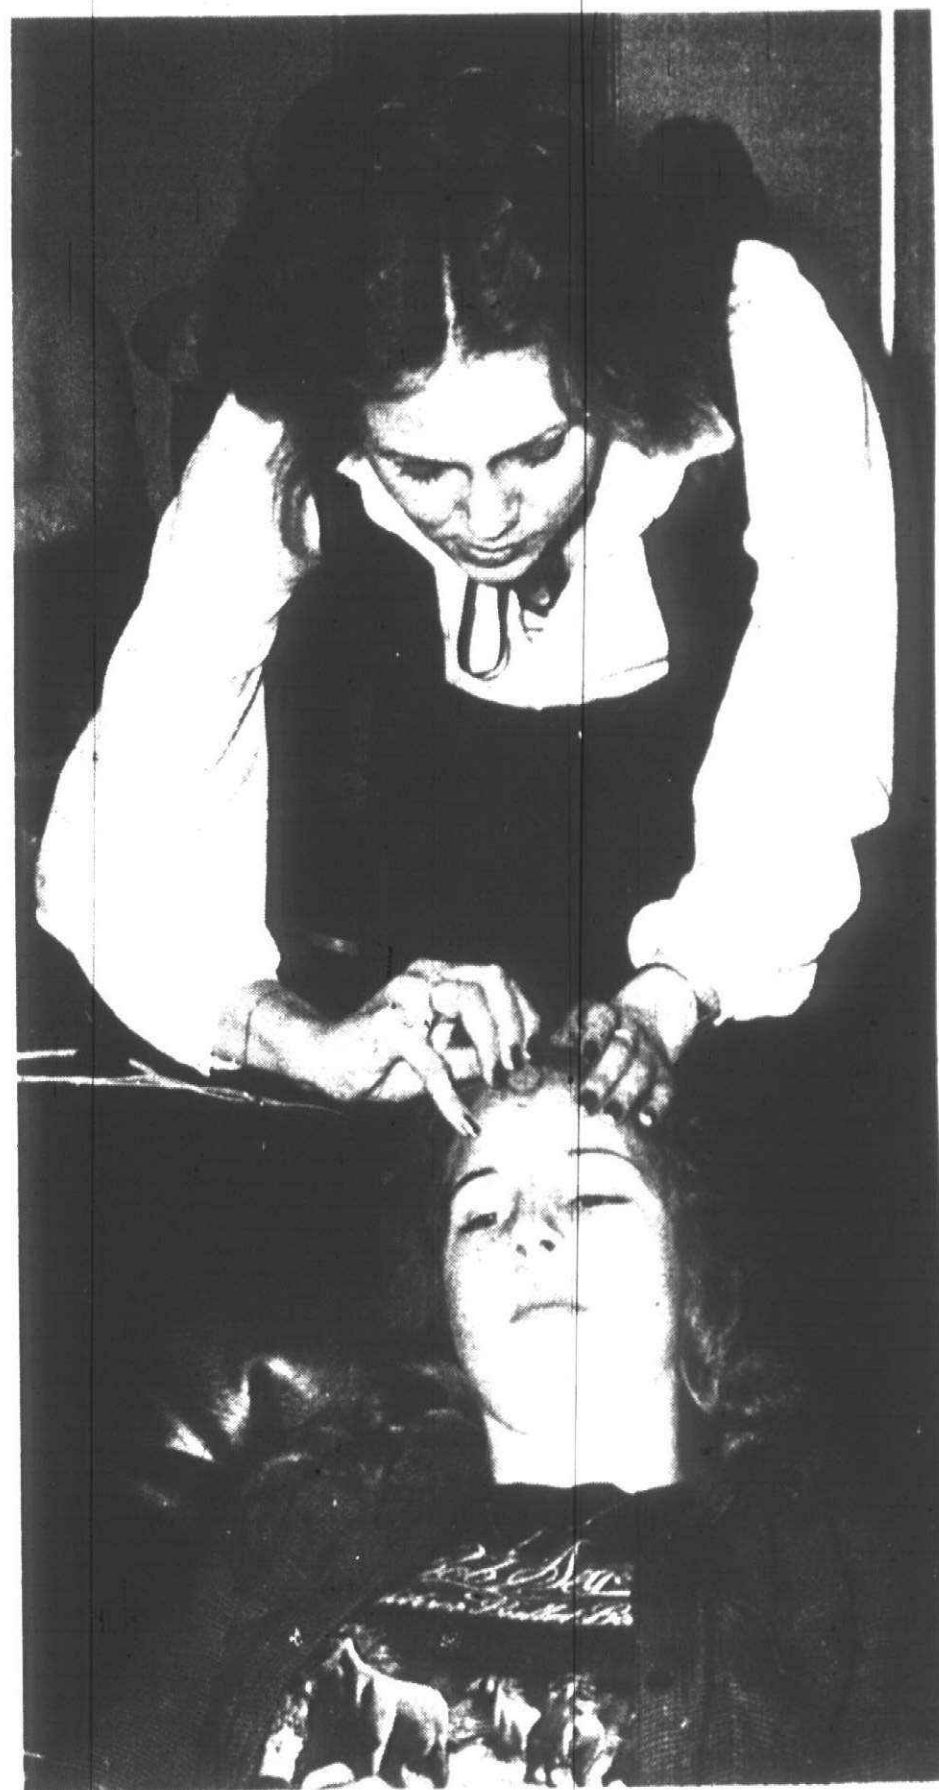

She recalls chipmunks playing, fresh the clean smell of fresh air and good times with family members.

However, when Michelle raises her eyebrows or thinks about something unpleasant — perhaps a quarrel — the biofeedback machine emits a bong-bong sound.

Later, Michelle said she felt relaxed, as though she "weighed a thousand tons" during the demonstration.

"I get headaches when I take my riding lesson," said Michelle. "I bite down on my jaw and I frown." Biofeedback is a tool, not a cure, said Ms. Nicolato.

"It isn't a miracle," she added. "It's tuning people in (to their bodies) and helping them become an active participant in their treatment."

Electrodes are attached to Michelle Splatt's head to monitor stress.

Local clergy support waiting

ber of the priest senate for the Archdiocese of Detroit.

THERE ARE several priest senates throughout Michigan. Their members are elected by peers and represent the priest's point of view, said Fr. Baldwin.

A newly-published pamphlet explains that during the six-month waiting period, priests will work closely with couples to assess their strengths and weaknesses.

The period also may include counseling, discussions with priests or lay persons and in-depth preparation for the wedding ceremony and the marriage.

According to the pamphlet, minors will be discouraged from getting married "until they are properly prepared and motivated."

Pregnancy won't be considered a determining factor. If the decision to marry hadn't been made prior to pregnancy, efforts will be made to discourage the marriage (in the church) before the birth of the child.

FR. BALDWIN said the priest has some discretion in administering the guidelines.

"So many marriages have been going awry," said Fr. Baldwin. "People have been entering into marriage without preparation, and people have been screaming: 'You have to do something about it.'"

For example, older people who are mature, established in their jobs and who have known each other for a period of time might be exempt from the waiting period.

"We are going through an anti-authority mood," added Fr. Baldwin. "People feel a new (church) law is being dumped on them."

"There is nothing magic about six months. This (marriage) is a sacrament. There should be a time of preparation."

Fr. Baldwin said four engaged couples have called off or postponed their weddings this year, "for different reasons."

"They answer the questions themselves by postponing or cancelling," he added.

IN CONTRAST, Fr. Porcari said he has performed very few marriages because St. Thomas A'Becket Church has a young congregation.

The church broke ground recently for a building to be located at Lilley and Cherry Hill. Currently, parishioners meet at Field Elementary School.

Because his volume of weddings is light, Fr. Porcari has the opportunity to work very closely with the engaged couples.

His program includes several meetings with both the engaged couples and their parents. They discuss their backgrounds to determine compatibility.

In addition, the couple are asked to attend a weekend "encounter" session for engaged couples. With the guidance of married leaders and priests, the couples explore ways of strengthening their bonds.

"I try to prepare (the couples) for a more profound relationship," said Fr. Porcari. "You just can't walk into marriage."

"It takes time to do something worthwhile. Marriage is very intense business (and) is only for the mature."

"It (the wait) shouldn't be seen as a punitive time, but for preparation," he continued. "It doesn't guarantee happiness, but to give them a chance."

2 hearings postponed

Clerk Flodin, who prepares meeting agendas, said he had thought Tuesday's meeting would be a simple one.

"I saw myself getting home in time to watch some of the (World Series) game," said Flodin. "I didn't think all of those other issues would take that long."

Among the agenda items which were addressed was a public hearing on the proposed use of 1981 general revenue-sharing money. No one spoke at that hearing.

The board allocated the entire $362,000, which is expected to go a wide range of areas, such as general government, public safety and industrial and commercial development.

Churches take poll

Residents name religions

Of those who do attend, 60 percent identified themselves as Roman Catholic. That is followed by 8 percent Lutheran; 7 percent Baptist; 5 percent Presbyterian; 4 percent Methodist; and 16 percent split among other Christian groups.

Some 1 percent identified themselves with a non-Christian affiliation such as Muslim or Hindu, said the Rev. Harvey Heneveld, pastor of People's Church.

PASTOR Heneveld said that the survey isn't necessarily scientifically reliable, but it is helpful.

He added that two of the three churches which took part in the sampling currently are developing buildings.

For example, People's Church, affiliated with the Reformed Church of America, meets in the Plymouth Canton High School cafeteria. The church is in the process of buying property at Ford and Canton Center.

Faith Community Church meets at Pioneer Middle School. A building under construction on Warren Road west of Canton Center is expected to be finished in December.

"WE WANTED to find out what the church and religious makeup is in the Canton community — the worshipping pattern," said the Rev. Heneveld.

"This would give us some information on how to better relate to the people's needs," he added. "It was cooperative. We didn't want anything partisan, as an expression of our unity across denominational lines."

Pastor Heneveld said both clergy and lay persons took part in the survey, which was taken on two Saturdays in September. Teams of both clergy and lay persons talked with a total of 612 persons.

He added that residents were "almost without exception" friendly and cooperative.

"Especially when they realized this was a cooperative effort," added Pastor Heneveld. "It was non-threatening."

Law bans sideyard fences

Homeowner associations have filed litigation against some corner lot owners, who erected sideyard fences in ignorance or disregard of neighborhood restrictions, Phillips said.

THE AMENDED fence ordinance contains a few other major changes.

Among these are a 4-foot height limit on fences adjacent to major roads. Objections of some residents and officials to the appearance of fences along Sheldon Road prompted that limitation, Phillips said.

The old ordinance banned the use of barbed wire on all fences throughout the township.

The amended ordinance allows barbed-wire fences in all agriculture zoning districts. It also allows barbed wire on top of 8-foot fences in industrial districts.

Although the changes were approved by a narrow 4-3 vote of the Township Board last week, the amended ordinance probably won't take effect for another month. The law must be published and given final approval by the Township Board.

Clerk John Flodin, Trustee Robert Greenstein and Trustee Eugene Daley last week voted against the amended ordinance.

Residents did not attend last week's meeting to speak on the fence ordinance, despite steps taken by Phillips to notify some homeowners who had complained about fence requirements.

"Most of our complaints come in the spring and summer, when people are putting up fences," he said.

New fence restrictions apply to lots like these. The solid lines show where fences may be erected under the recently amended ordinance. The shaded area shows where owners of corner lots could erect fences before.

Board pares deputy duties

Ms. Falkiewicz writes her own recommendation to the Township Board on the basis of the department heads' remarks.

In Binko's case, the township did not receive a form from the LCC until last week, Ms. Falkiewicz said. Binko asked to bring his case before the Township Board last Tuesday night, despite the absence of a police recommendation on his application.

AFTER A LENGTHY, heated discussion, board members tabled Binko's application pending the completion of a police investigation.

Greenstein asked the board to add a discussion of Ms. Falkiewicz' duties to the end of the agenda.

In past cases, the Township Board has required site-plan approval — or even completion of a building — before recommending approval of a liquor-license application to the LCC.

Ms. Falkiewicz said she referred Binko to the planning department for site-plan review because of past practice.

But Greenstein maintains that Binko's application differs from some others received in the past because of his plans for a bar — a project which absolutely requires a liquor license.

The late-night discussion of Ms. Falkiewicz' duties ended with a 6-1 vote of the Township Board to transfer liquor-license responsibilities to Clerk Flodin.

Trustee Eugene Daley, who made the motion, said his vote was based on an indication from Treasurer Jim Donahue that Ms. Falkiewicz would be relieved of liquor responsibilities regardless of the board's action.

As current treasurer, Donahue serves as Ms. Falkiewicz' boss. Although he appointed Falkiewicz as his deputy, Donahue said he supports Kearney in the upcoming election. Donahue is not seeking a second term in office.

The lame-duck treasurer says he doesn't "feel that liquor licenses should be an on-going part of the treasurer department's job."

"I COULD SEE the handwriting on the wall," said Daley. "I'd much rather see it go to John (Flodin) than someone else (Donahue) might name."

"Sure, it was political," Daley said. "Mr. Greenstein — his drothers for treasurer is Mr. Kearney."

Supervisor Noel Culbert — the lone dissenter in the liquor-license vote — maintains that the board's treatment of Ms. Falkiewicz is unjustified.

"It seems to me a little inconsistent — and that's an understatement," said Culbert. "The board gave (Ms. Falkiewicz) very broad authority. The board has acquiesced to her procedures for the past year."

Democrats establish local group

"Two years ago, I don't think we could have done anything like this," said township Supervisor Noel Culbert of the new Canton Democrat Committee.

"It's interesting that people who have fought for years are now burying the axe."

According to Culbert, many Democrats running for office are joining together for the first time to promote the election of Democrats.

The organization, which was formed this month, includes all Democratic candidates for the Township Board and county races, according to Culbert, who is acting as spokesperson for the new group.

The organization also includes Canton's representatives to the Michigan

Legislature and Congress — State Rep. Tom Brown, State Sen. William Faust and Congressman William Ford.

Culbert said the group intends to mail political flyers in support of Democrats' election campaigns to homes in Canton. The organization also plans a massive phone campaign prior to the Nov. 4 election.

In past election years, Democrats running for township offices have fought vehemently on the campaign trail.

Democratic organizations have existed in the past. But Culbert maintains that those were "closed" organizations which supported only one of Canton's political factions.

Jim Bridenthal — a member of the new group and an officer of Canton's United Democratic Club — was unavailable for comment.

Meet local candidates at LWV forum

Voters confused about their choices on the November ballot may meet a variety of candidates for township, county, state and national offices at a forum Thursday night.

The League of Women Voters of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Novi (LWV) and the Canton Jaycees are co-sponsoring the forum. The session will begin at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Canton Township Hall, Canton Center Road at Proctor.

Invited are all 13 candidates for seven seats on the Township Board.

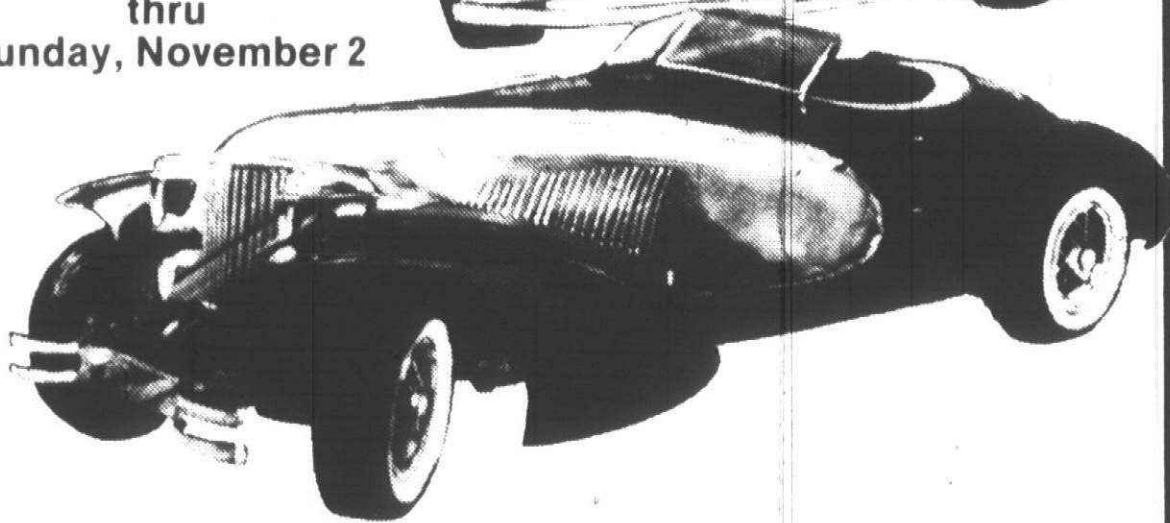

Also invited are candidates in the 27th District race for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and Wayne County Charter Commission. Candidates in the 15th District Congressional race are expected to attend along with state Rep. Tom Brown (D-Westland), who is seeking re-election in the 37th District unopposed.

Through the years

Banking methods change

By W.W. EDGAR

Business institutions have undergone many changes in the past several decades.

The old grocery store has given way to the super market. Small stores have combined to bring about our present malls, and fast food restaurants have cut a deep hole into the larger eating places.

But no where in the business world has the change been as great as that now being felt in the nation's banks.

"Things aren't like they used to be," said Bob Barbour, vice president and general manager of the National Bank of Detroit, the other afternoon in his office on Sheldon Road.

"The government regulations pertaining to the consumer have changed the entire banking picture. In fact, I think it is the greatest change that has been made in the banking business."

To further explain the change, he pointed out that the government now dictates lending policy. It tells you to whom and when banks can make loans.

The second major change he has seen in his long service with NBD is the consumer debt — a major factor in today's banks.

"IT USED to be that if you wanted to buy a new car, you paid cash. No more. Now you take out a loan, and often over long periods.

"It is the same in buying a house. In most every case, you borrow the money or take out mortgages of all descriptions.

To demonstrate what he meant, Barbour, who started in banking as a clerk in 1937, opened the drawer of his desk and pulled out a single sheet of paper, a small one.

"In the old days, this is what we used when a customer wanted a loan. We filled this out, had him sign it, then we'd give the customer a carbon copy and the money.

"Now look what we must do. Here is a much larger form to fill out. It asks many more questions than we ever did and it also asks your financial status.

"This must be filled out on both sides, and we must keep the form for 25 months even if we don't make the loan."

Taking time out to smile at the great changes that have taken place, Barbour sighed and said, "Many times in the old days, banks made loans on a simple hand shake."

Despite regulations and increased paper work, which he quickly pointed out were government's requirements, not the bank's, Barbour sees a bright future for the banking business.

Consumer debt, he said, will keep the banks going.

Some advice for traveling veterans

Veterans planning to live or work in a foreign country should check before leaving the U.S. with the Veterans Administration to find out what benefits are available outside of the country.

Gordon Clowney, director of the VA regional office in Detroit, said veterans with service-connected disabilities should obtain a statement of their disabilities from the office maintaining their medical records, even for a vacation.

The statement will enable the veteran to obtain emergency treatment or hospitalization at VA expense. Proper application for medical benefits and statement must be presented to the U.S. Embassy or consular office in a foreign country. The application should be made within 72 hours of need.

Clowney said the Veterans Memorial hospital in Manila is the only overseas hospital where VA aid care is available to veterans with non-service-connected disabilities. Admission is on a space available basis and only if the veteran cannot afford other hospitalization.

The VA director reminded veterans that only those who are retired from the military are eligible for treatment at overseas military hospitals and clinics.

Certain VA educational benefits are available overseas, and VA will mail compensation and pension checks to most foreign countries. GI home loan guarantees are not available overseas.

Clowney said full-information is available at the regional office, McNamara Federal Building in Detroit, or by the VA's toll free telephones.

CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL MAKING A REAL DIFFERENCE

LEADERSHIP

SOME PEOPLE LEAD BY TALKING. OTHERS LEAD BY DOING.
CONGRESSMAN CARL PURSELL IS A LEADER WHO GETS THINGS DONE.

After only two years as our Congressman, Carl's legislative skill and bipartisan problem-solving approach resulted in his appointment to the House Appropriations Committee—one of the most influential positions in Congress.

Congressman Pursell also won a seat on the key Appropriations Subcommittee which sets budgets for Education, Health and Human Services, and Labor Department programs—a vital position of influence for the people of the 2nd District.

Carl continues to demonstrate leadership as an Executive Board member of the Congressional Environmental Study Conference, an Executive Board member and founder of the Suburban Caucus, and a charter member of the Steel Caucus.

Congressman Pursell recently assumed a leadership position in the Northeast-Midwest Congressional Coalition, as bipartisan Co-Chair of the Budget Task Force.

Carl has already led the NE-MW Coalition to two major victories in the House:

—A larger share of emergency fuel assistance funds for northern states ($4 million more for Mich.), critical for fixed-income senior citizens.

—Directing more existing government contracts to high unemployment areas, such as Michigan, a battle for new jobs others had tried and lost for 27 years.

Carl has been a leader for developing alternative energy sources, controlling inflation, balancing the budget, new jobs, and responsible tax reduction.

Railroad crossings are a problem when drivers ignore the barricades and drive through when no train is in sight. Usually drivers get away with the illegal move, but in this case, the motorist was caught by a police officer. (Staff photo by Art Emanuele)

How can we avoid no-train waits, illegal crossings?

By SHERRY KAHAN

There you are in your car, foot on the pedal, trying to get to work on time. Suddenly up ahead red lights begin flashing at the railroad crossing, bells start ringing and gates drop down. You wait. And you wait. Nothing happens. No train rattles by.

Pretty soon drivers start weaving their way past the barricades to cross the tracks. It's illegal, but you do it too. What can you do? Work awaits you, and there is, after all, no train?

I was part of this scene once again recently, and began to think about it seriously. For one thing I wondered what became of the school bus which had to sit there while the rest of us illegals crossed the border.

What is going on, I wondered. Why is the safety system activated when there is no train in sight? To get answers I called the Chessie System (Chesapeake & Ohio) which owns the tracks that run through Redford Township, Livonia and Plymouth. I was referred to two Livonians, Sam Allison, superintendent of the Detroit district, and Don Guy, regional engineer of signals and communication.

Sherry Kahan

They explained that there is an electrical intercept circuit on the tracks. The arrival of a train interrupts the circuits. This activates lights, bells and barricades. The point at which the train interrupts the circuit can vary according to a standard set by the railroad company. I learned later that the circuit interruptus point could be down the tracks out of sight.

GUY SAID a rail broken by a sudden temperature change might also kick on the safety system.

"Occasionally vandals damage the signal apparatus. We think if something is wrong with the system it is safer to have the gates down and the lights on than risk an accident."

Allison brought up about the possibility that the train might be out of sight around the bend. He said that the trains using the track usually are making local deliveries along the industrial belt. They go forward and back up a lot. This could activate and reactivate the system.

"As soon as we know there is a mechanical problem," he said, "we get right on it. The police call us all the time about it." Motorist also ring them up.

The Redford police often get calls from irate drivers about the gates down at the Inkster crossing for no apparent reason. Occasionally the police ticket someone trying to slip by. Office Joseph Przybyz of Redford's traffic division said about five or six tickets are written a year for this.

BUT WHAT HAPPENED to the school bus sitting at the crossing? Drivers communicate with the school board office by radio, explained Mike Wagner, transportation supervisor for the Livonia school district. "Then we contact the railroad company," he said.

He believed there is often about a half hour wait. Guy said the wait for the system to be fixed depends on where the maintenance man is when contacted.

Meanwhile parents are beginning to call the school board office to see where their children are. School buses are not allowed to back up unless there is an adult aboard who can watch for cars. If the bus is not boxed in, its driver is permitted to make a U turn and continue its trip on a street with an underpass.

"The situation happens more often than I like," commented Wagner, "once or twice a week."

Nobody seemed to have a solution for the waiting motorists nor the safety system that sometimes kicks on when unneeded. "We may have to make some adjustment on our circuitry to overcome the excessive operation of the safety system."

It would be worth it to keep motorists from habitually disobeying the safety warning and the law. Who knows, the habit might some day prove to be fatal.

New alibi: 'The devil FBI brew made me do it'

On behalf of all alcoholics, I protest. Things are getting so bad that Congressmen are starting to give alcoholism a bad name.

Alcoholics have enough problems without Congressmen running around claiming that the reason they lie, take bribes, misrepresent their office or try to entice 16-year-olds into questionable activities is because they are alcoholics.

Most of the alcoholics I have known were far too busy drinking, joking and looking for new bars to have much time or opportunity for taking bribes and misrepresenting their office.

And, anyway, when did alcoholism become a justifiable reason for a Congressman to take part in $50,000 bribes, get convicted of taking bribes, and then get irked about being caught. Alcoholism is an excuse for missing work, spending all your money and not going home on time, nothing else.

It doesn't surprise that some Congressmen take kickbacks and bribes and that their sexual urges get them into trouble. What is amazing to me is their explanations that their "problems" can be laid to alcohol, that they are being persecuted, that they shouldn't be thrown out of office after being convicted of crimes, that they will run for re-election anyway and that they will sue in federal court if the irresponsible courts and fellow Congressmen thwart the will of the public by removing them from office.

Bob Wisler

WHEN I FIRST began reading about alcoholism as a defense for crimes by Congressmen I couldn't believe it. Charlie Diggs should have thought of that one. Just a few years ago, Wilbur Mills, one of the most powerful Congressmen ever, had to leave office because he was an alcoholic. And he didn't even take bribes.

Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., was convicted of taking a bribe a few days ago. During his trial he used the defense that he was an "incurable alcoholic."

His lawyer even got a definition of alcoholics worked into the testimony. According to the medical head of the alcoholism unit at Bethesda Naval Hospital, alcoholics "tend to exercise poor judgment and talk about things that a wise and prudent man would keep his mouth shut about."

That isn't a definition of an alcoholic. It comes closer to being a good definition of a Congressman. Heck, it's a definition that could fit most people sometimes, politicians more of the time, and some politicians all of the time.

Jenrette testified that he was so drunk when he was being offered the bribe that he didn't know he was being offered a bribe. Anybody who doesn't know a bribe when one is being offered, drunk, or sober, shouldn't be in government.

Despite all this, Jenrette said he will run for office again. He isn't even going to give taxpayers a break for the next term, during which he could dry his brain long enough so that in the future he would know when a bribe is being offered.

ALSO PROMISING to make an all-out effort for re-election are Rep. Robert Bauman, R-Md., and former Rep. Mike Myers, D-Pa.

Bauman, who admits to homosexual tendencies, has been charged with soliciting sex from a 16-year-old boy. He also professes alcoholism. I suppose his defense will be that when you're drunk you can't tell anyone's age and when you're in the dark all cats are gray.

Myers, convicted of soliciting and taking a $50,000 bribe and expelled by a vote of his fellow Congressmen following his conviction, also promises to do his best to have voters return him to the office of public trust.

Myers also blamed drinking for some of his problem, although he averred the outright alcoholism defense. He explained his action in taking a $50,000 bribe from a supposed Arab sheik by saying that what he was doing was not criminal, merely unethical.

It was left to his friend, Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Calif., to explain to the House of Representatives that Myers was "inebriated" when he took the bribe. Wilson himself was censured by the House less than four months ago for converting nearly $25,000 in campaign funds to his own use and accepting $10,500 from a man who had direct interest in legislation.

Wilson asked the House to retain Myers on the public payroll on the theory that Myers was drunk, not dishonest. Myers supposedly told Wilson: "I was drinking FBI bourbon, if you know what that is."

I don't know what FBI bourbon is, but it must contain great doses of gall. Myers, not at all repentant, accused his colleagues of being a "lynch mob" and promises that he will reclaim his seat in forthcoming elections.

I not only wonder what FBI bourbon is, I am beginning to wonder about Congressmen. I don't think that a few bad Congressmen should reflect on the majority. I don't think the majority lie, take bribes, pad payrolls, or get so drunk that they don't know when they are being offered a bribe.

But how many of them are drinking FBI bourbon? And when are they going to stop giving alcoholics a bad name?

Life's no fun when you're perpetually dieting

I've finally accepted the dreaded fact that I shall have to diet for the rest of my life. There's just no "happily ever after" to dieting.

Once you reach your goal weight, I've discovered, like you should be foolish enough to resume eating like a "normal" person (three full meals a day), it's Blimp City all over again. I can live with that.

What I'm having trouble accepting is the fact that I seem to be living with an accordion for a body. For the past four months I've been dieting like a fiend. I've lost about 35 pounds — and gained around 30. It's just a knack I seem to have. I keep losing and gaining the same five pounds.

But am I discouraged? Of course I am!

For several weeks before our vacation this summer, I passed over all those goodies the rest of the family was enjoying and lived on a deprivation menu of salads and teeny portions. When our departure date finally arrived, I was satisfied. I was trim enough to wear my two-piece bathing suit without scaring anyone off the beach. One week later, when we returned home, I was just as fat — if not fatter — than I had been before all that rigorous dieting.

MY HUSBAND couldn't believe it. "That's impossible," he exclaimed. "You can't gain weight any faster than it takes you to get it off!" Shows you how much he knows.

I'm the same lady who left Detroit for three days in Ohio last Thanksgiving wearing a pair of size 14 slacks. Three days of feasting on Grandma Smith's good cooking and I came back in a pair of borrowed size 18s. 'Tis a sad story.

This year, come Thanksgiving and Ohio, I plan not to eat. Though I'll no doubt gain a few pounds just watching everyone else stuffing themselves.

Is it my fault that I was born with fat genes? It just doesn't seem fair. I used to blame myself until I started noticing the weight differences in my two young sons. Jason, 6, can definitely be called "skinny." Jimmy, 4, on the other hand, is a potential chubbie just like his mom. And yet they eat the exact same things in practically the same portions. Poor Jim.

Of course, a little "baby fat" is kinda cute on a 4-year-old. On a 33-year-old (me), it's the pits.

I KNOW that dieting is the national pastime, and I will admit to be as obsessed with it as much, if not more, than the average ample person. But there are days when I suspect I'm wasting a lot of energy on a lost cause. Saturday was one of those days. My friend Shirley stopped by during the afternoon for a brief visit. During our conversation she remarked, "Nancy, where is your posture?"

I very sweetly replied that she was looking at all of the posture that I possessed. "In that case," she said, "your stomach is much bigger than it was the last time I saw you."

As you may have guessed, such remarks do not contribute a great deal to cheering up a borderline fatso. I went into a fat funk.

Later that evening, my friend Clare was visiting with her husband, Kirby. During the course of the evening, Clare was heard to remark, "Nancy, you've lost a lot of weight since we've seen you last."

It's enough to make a person schizophrenic! Obviously, my friends aren't paying as close attention as I am to the shape I'm in.

Thank goodness!

We should drop tax on all real estate

Editor:

During the past eight months, the Big Three automobile manufacturers, due to reduced sales and resulting huge losses, have reduced the number of their employees by over 200,000.

Correspondingly, we have not yet seen any similar reductions in the number of government employees, as only now is the state "mulling over" reduction in staff dictated by loss of revenues.

It appears our politicians will preserve the status quo overlong, while the funds needed to pay the unneeded employees are declining before their very eyes, month after month.

IF THE various governments were run by astute businessmen, cutbacks would have been made on a month-to-month basis.

Deficit financing is used to preserve the honeymoon era as long as possible. Of course, employees needed to carry out depression era programs such as unemployment compensation and those needed to determine citizen eligibility for welfare may even have to be increased in some number.

If a careful examination were made, as a businessman does when profits decline, unneeded employees could have been reduced in number months ago. Only long after the government's tax paying support is reduced, does the government take belt-tightening steps.

Yes, the Tisch amendment is sending the above message to the politicians. Times are bad. Let's get the fat out of the state budgets. (Cities should also cut back on unneeded "position fillers.")

A further message in the Tisch plan is that a bad tax like the real estate property tax should be removed over the next five to 10 years and replaced with a proper income and/or plus sales tax increases.

Now one must pay the real estate tax even though a taxpayer might not have had income during a real estate tax year.

THE REAL ESTATE tax is a 1½ to 2½ percent annual "tribute" comparable to that exacted by the Romans from their conquered countries. The real estate tax should be eliminated as soon as possible.

A further reason real estate taxes should be eliminated is the role they play in monthly payments on mortgages. A large part of even the lower mortgage payments must be set aside each month to cover 1½th of the annual real estate tax.

If any industry needs help in making it possible for more buyers to qualify, it is the home building and re-sale real estate industry.

In the new home area, the more buyers who can qualify for a home, creates a market for the purchase of those things needed for the home, such as carpet and furniture.

Today the federal government with its inflationary budget procedures does very little to restore home building as a source of jobs.

In the past 30 years, I have noted more recessions were "worked" out by help from the government in establishing reasonable mortgage interest programs.

Removing the real estate tax alone should help the home building industry to get going again and provide jobs.

GOLDWYN J. ROBINSON,

As an educator and as a mother of a mentally and physically handicapped son, I feel it is my responsibility to educate those people who fear the mentally handicapped due to a lack of understanding. The history of the mentally retarded goes way beyond what most people know.

To summarize, the mentally retarded have been killed, brutalized, abandoned, chained and even thought to be possessed by the devil!

Early institutions which were run by concerned professionals tended to be small with the emphasis on rehabilitation and education. Later, by the end of the 19th century, a considerable number of institution directors changed their programs from rehabilitation and education to custodial care due to the increase in the size of the institutions. Institutionalization came to be a common solution for the mentally retarded.

At the present time, institutionalization for all mentally retarded persons is not thought to be the best environment for the handicapped individual. The focus is to integrate and assimilate the mentally retarded into the community.

Some of these mentally retarded individuals have been in institutions most of their lives. They need to be understood, not feared. Their behavior is much different than a mentally retarded individual who has lived in a home environment.

Take a little time and visit schools and other facilities for the mentally retarded. They are human beings like you and me with less ability to intellectualize and verbalize, but in many respects, more capable and willing to love you as you are.

Thanks for helping out stray dog

Editor:

The only crime he committed was trying to survive, which he did! Thanks to the Observer for taking the time and interest in Hobo... to Ellie Graham for listening, for Arlene Funke's stories and for the photos taken by Gary Caskey.

Regardless of the people who loved him or disliked his methods of survival, they all contributed to the solution of this heartbreaking dilemma. Hobo has found a home!

But, first I must thank Glenn Drummonds and little Danielle for offering their home and hearts to Hobo. I guess the farmlands were just too foreign to our "subdivision dog."

Thanks to Jan Petzold, he now has a permanent loving residence which makes him an obvious exception to the rule - he was most certainly adoptable.

Just ask Jan, who deserves the greatest applause for opening her door to Hobo and for her gift of love and understanding in the caring of him. In such a short time, she has taught him so much. He is no longer a bucking bronco - but proudly walks on the leash of his new owner - head held high, not cowering.

So, for all of you who were involved with Hobo in these last three months, whether to embrace him or to just wish him off the streets, thank you for your participation... it did bring results. Not death, but with a little fortitude and much emotion, an extremely healthy, vigorous 9-month old Welsh Corgi/Shepard is living the "Life of Riley." With one ear up and one ear down (and a slight hint of a smile, I'm sure) our "subdivision dog" now struts a license carrying the name "Toby Hobo."

Signs don't cause poor business

Editor:

Hooray for the Canton Township Board! Congratulations for not saying "OK" to another one of Gary Roberts self-centered ideas. Mr. Roberts got a relaxed sign code; he was instrumental last June in having a special event weekend to fly his banners, etc. We have special events when the sign ordinance is relaxed even further, and Roberts still isn't happy. He insists on blaming his poor business on our sign ordinance. Before the ordinance was relaxed, Roberts blatantly ignored it.

I have news for Mr. Roberts. Maybe his poor business is due to the general appearance of his establishment and his attitude toward the rest of us, rather than township laws. Of all the new signs erected since the change in the sign code, his is the least attractive. His landscaping is lovely - vacuum cleaners instead of bushes - and his parking lot is very unappealing in wet or snowy weather.

Mr. Roberts insists upon blaming others for his own lack of pride in his community. Sign ordinances do not keep business away. A beautiful town is one where people will come from near and far to shop - regardless of sign advertising. Check it out, Roberts. Look into Birmingham, Farmington Hills, Franklin, Grosse Pointe, etc., etc., etc.

Voters beware! Mr. Roberts sees our community as a place to make a buck at our expense. The senselessness of it is, that if Mr. Roberts would cooperate with us, it would benefit us all.

Vietnam vets do cope, he writes

Editor:

The article (column) gives the impression that all Vietnam veterans are tainted with some insidious disease, i.e., Vietnam Syndrome. To suggest we are walking time bombs, ready to explode at any moment, is irresponsible journalism.

True, we vets have our share of problems, but are as capable dealing with them as well as anyone. Sure, we play the game, but then again, doesn't everyone? The nation's mental hospitals and prisons are overflowing, indicative of ills in society, not Vietnam.

For myself, a disabled combat veteran, the challenge of life is not gone but begins anew each day. As a husband, father of two, and teacher of physically handicapped youngsters, life is anything but an emotionless abyss.

Yes, many of us have to live forever with unpleasant memories. Articles like yours don't make it any easier. Rather than capitalize on the minority who haven't made it, how about an article on the majority who have coped?

GRINDING IN THE NIGHT

An estimated one in 20 adults and three in 20 children unconsciously grind their teeth at night. It is the sound of bruxism. While the noise may disturb spouses or children, it has a far more distressing effect on the sleeper.

Nocturnal grinding can exert thousands of pounds of pressure per square inch on the surfaces of teeth. It can be rough not only on teeth but on the supporting bone, the gums and jaw joint.

For many years, bruxism was attributed to the release of tension from emotional stress. However, many dental authorities today believe that the cause exists in the patient's mouth. Night grinding may be an unconscious effort to correct irregularities of the chewing surfaces of the teeth. Dentists term this a malocclusion. They grind away to eliminate a spot that is too high or to find a comfortable place to fit the upper and lower teeth together.

If you have this nightly grind problem, your first stop should be your dentist's office...before you do any serious damage to your teeth.

FEASIBLE FESTIVE FARE FOR A FALL BUFFET

The Fall season brings with it many entertaining opportunities. Election parties will abound... followed by seasonal sports parties and Saturday night get-togethers for conversation or card playing and Sunday morning brunches. These are just a few of the how's and why's of the Fall entertaining trend.

Whether planning for family or guests, there is no need to worry about serving elaborate food; as economy and practicality are the order of the day. Food costs seem destined to rise, providing us with more reasons for selective food shopping.

What's more, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Science and Education Administration continues to tell us of the importance of selecting the kinds and amounts of food for making up a nutritious diet. The new five food groups are not so different from the old basic four food groups, though it is interesting to note that in the milk and cheese group, the words skim, low-fat and nonfat are prominent, while a group titled Fats, Sweets and Alcohol is labeled CAUTION.

The route to a better diet is a sensible assortment of foods from the four food groups... viz: Vegetables and Fruits mainly for their Vitamins A and C and fibre. Bread and Cereal Group mainly for whole-grain and enriched breads and cereals, which are important sources of B vitamins, iron and protein plus magnesium, folacin and fibre. The Milk and Cheese Group contributes riboflavin, protein and Vitamins A, B<sub>6</sub> and B<sub>12</sub>, and some Vitamin D. The Meat, Poultry, Fish and Beans Group is valuable for protein, phosphorus, iron, zinc, Vitamin B<sub>12</sub>, other vitamins and minerals.

While adhering to these government guidelines and standards, food can be festive, yet practical and easy-to-prepare. Here is a fine example of a feasible, festive, fall buffet with the recipes for creating it. The basics have been built-in... especially with the cheese product... processed with lower fat and cholesterol to meet the demands of modern consumers who are aware of the ways of better health.

✦ The fabled Jack Spratt who ate no fat and his buxom wife who ate no lean might go hungry with this meal. We'll wager the average American will be thoroughly satisfied and happy with the hot sherried bouillon, Po'Boy sandwich sliced into pieces for eight, a nifty spinach salad and a tasty zucchini, cheese and carrot combination. Fresh fruit for dessert balances the menu.

ELEANOR'S PO'BOY (Makes 8 servings)

- 1-1/2 pounds lean ground beef
- 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
- 8 slices Pasteurized Process Cheese Product
- 1/4 cup chopped green onion
- 2 teaspoons Beef-Flavor Instant Bouillon OR 2 Beef-Flavor Bouillon Cubes
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 (1-pound) loaf French bread
- 1 medium tomato, sliced
- 1 medium green pepper, cut into rings

Preheat oven to 400°. In large skillet, brown meat; pour off fat. Stir in tomato sauce, 3 slices cheese product (cut into pieces), onion, bouillon and garlic powder; cover. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes or until bouillon dissolves, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, slice off top of French bread and scoop out center section (use for making bread crumbs or croutons); place on large sheet of aluminum foil for wrapping. Spoon meat mixture into bread loaf. Cut remaining cheese product slices in half diagonally; layer alternately with tomato slices and green pepper on meat; replace top of bread. Tightly wrap in aluminum foil. Bake 20 minutes or until hot. Slice into 8 servings. Refrigerate leftovers.

NOTE: Prepared as directed, and using ground beef with 10% fat, provides approximately 12 grams of fat, and 320 calories. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

ANDY'S HARVEST VEGETABLE MEDLEY (Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 1-1/2 pounds zucchini, sliced
- 1 pound carrots, pared and sliced
- 1 small onion, sliced
- 1 tablespoon chicken-flavor instant bouillon OR 3 chicken-flavor bouillon cubes
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons diet margarine
- 8 slices Pasteurized Process Cheese Product, cut into small pieces

Preheat oven to 350°. In large covered skillet, over low heat, cook zucchini, carrots, onion, bouillon and pepper in margarine, stirring occasionally, 10 to 15 minutes or until carrots are tender. Reserving about 1/4 of the cheese product, stir remainder into vegetables. Turn into lightly oiled 1-1/2-quart shallow baking dish (10x6-inch); top with reserved cheese product. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until hot. Refrigerate leftovers.

NOTE: Prepared as directed, provides approximately 5.4 grams of fat, and 100 calories. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

SUSAN'S SPINACH SALAD (Makes 8 servings)

- 4 cups torn lettuce or other salad greens
- 4 cups torn fresh spinach
- 1 (11-ounce) can Mandarin orange sections, drained
- 1 (8-ounce) can water chestnuts, drained and sliced
- 6 slices Pasteurized Process Cheese Product, cut into strips
- 4 ounces (about 1 cup) fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 1 small red onion, sliced and separated into rings
- Bottled low-calorie Italian or other salad dressing

In large bowl, combine all ingredients except dressing; chill until serving time. Toss with dressing. Refrigerate leftovers.

NOTE: Prepared as directed and without dressing, provides 2.7 grams of fat, and 90 calories per serving. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

DAVID'S SHERRY BOUILLON (Makes about 1-1/2 quarts)

- 6 cups water
- 3 tablespoons beef-flavor instant bouillon OR 9 beef-flavor bouillon cubes
- 1/3 cup dry or cocktail sherry
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Lemon slices, optional

In large saucepan, bring water to boiling; add bouillon, stirring until dissolved. Remove from heat; stir in sherry and lemon juice. Serve hot garnished with lemon slices if desired.

NOTE: Prepared as directed, provides approximately 26 calories. Values by product analyses and recipe calculation.

A Question of Taste

By Hilary Keating Callaghan

Folklore rates onions as medical cure-all

When the Biblical writer wanted to graphically display the ingratitude of the Jews who had been led out of captivity in Egypt, he related that they cried out against God and longed for the onions in Egypt.

An odd culinary recommendation, the reference to onions is a tribute to their universal appeal.

It is significant that the food the wanderers longed for was one with little nutritional value to recommend it. The longing was simply for a sensual indulgence.

I wish I could highly recommend onions for the vitamins and minerals they contain, but this would belie the results of nutritional analysis.

Mature onions contain only small amounts of iron and vitamins A and C. The best we can do is to ignore the dismal scientific findings and turn instead to the rich field of folk lore and folk medicines, which often contain a great deal of truth, unexplainable in scientific terms.

Historically, onions have been credited with the ability to absorb germs (at least in effect — even before the germ theory was accepted).

In some European countries, sliced onions were placed throughout the house if any sort of an epidemic was feared. The onions were replaced twice a day and the contaminated slices burned.

SLICED ONIONS were frequently bound to the chest of anyone suffering from a respiratory infection. This poultice was thought to draw the infection out of the body.

A common practice among Italians was to line the bottoms of a pair of wool socks with onions. Victims of fevers wore these socks to bed and, again, the onions acted to draw the fever out of the body. It was theorized that the heat of the fever would cook the onions rather than the patient.

Onions have also traditionally been taken internally to relieve various symptoms. They often were simmered with other vegetables or herbs to create potent elixirs.

One cold remedy, for example, was an infusion of cayenne pepper and onion. The question of whether the treatment or the disease is worse apparently did not originate with modern medical techniques.

Onions have been used, at one time or another, to treat virtually all common ailments — from bee stings to burns and baldness. Eating an onion a day has even been claimed as one of the secrets of a group of Bulgarian villagers, many of whom lead active lives past 100 years of age.

IF YOU NEED any inspiration for a variety of presentations for your daily onion, the following recipes should provide it.

If you prefer your onion for breakfast, try the Hot Onion Omelet with Vinegar. The vinegar adds an unusual, piquant taste which seems to bring out the sweet flavor of the golden onions.

At lunch or dinner, Greek Salad makes a delicious addition to almost any menu. The combination of onions with vitamin C-rich sweet peppers and tomatoes should ward off any winter infections.

The final recipe, Spaghetti e cipolle, is simply an onion-lover's delight. The harshness of red onions is mellowed with slow cooking and then blends perfectly with ripe tomatoes, red wine and the traditional spaghetti herbs — certainly a culinary advance over cooking the onions in wool socks.

HOT ONION OMELET WITH VINEGAR

3 large sweet onions (about 12 oz.), halved and finely sliced
 1/4 cup butter
 3 eggs
 Salt, pepper
 1 tbsp. wine vinegar

Choose a relatively small, heavy pan in which to cook the onions so as to have a thick layer of onions scattered loosely over a large surface. Even with the tiniest of flames, they color too rapidly, their moisture being immediately evaporated. Cook them for at least 1/2 hour in 2 tbsp. butter over a very low flame, stirring occasionally. The onions should be yellowed and very soft but not browned.

Beat the eggs lightly with the seasonings, stir in the onions and prepare the omelet (heat pan, pour in the mixture when the butter stops foaming, stir a couple of times, lift the edges to let the liquid run beneath, toss, and, a couple of seconds later, slip it onto a warm plate. It should be just done.). Add a tbsp. of butter to the pan, return to the heat, and, when the butter has stopped foaming and starts to turn brown, pour it over the omelet. Add the vinegar to the pan, swirl it around, and drizzle it over the omelet.

GREEK SALAD

6 small fresh sweet green peppers
 4 small fresh sweet red peppers
 6 medium-size firm ripe tomatoes
 4 medium-size Bermuda onions
 1/2 cup pure olive oil
 2 tbsp. tarragon vinegar
 2 tsp. granulated sugar
 1 tsp. dry mustard
 Salt
 Freshly cracked white pepper

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees. Chill a salad bowl in the refrigerator. Wrap the green and red peppers individually in aluminum foil, and bake until just soft. Remove the foil, cut them into eighths, and remove all the seeds. Core and skin tomatoes and cut them into slices 1/2 inch thick. Cut the Bermuda onions into thin rings and separate them. Warm the olive oil in a saute pan over low heat. Add the peppers, tomatoes and onions, and simmer gently 5 to 6 minutes. In a small bowl, mix the vinegar, lemon juice, sugar, dry mustard and a little salt and pepper, and stir the mixture into the salad. Chill the salad thoroughly. Serve it in the chilled salad bowl. Makes 4 servings.

SPAGHETTI E CIPOLLE (Spaghetti and Onions)

2 1/2 lbs. red onions
 1/2 cup butter
 2 large bay leaves
 3 cloves garlic, minced
 1 tsp. paprika
 1/2 tsp. salt, and more to taste
 1 cup good dry red wine
 1/4 tsp. thyme
 1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
 1/4 tsp. dried basil, crushed
 1/4 tsp. dried oregano, crushed
 1 tsp. chopped fresh sage, or 1/2 tsp. dried
 2 cups peeled, chopped tomatoes (with liquid)
 1/4 cup brandy
 1 tsp. lemon juice
 2 tsp. leowhite wine vinegar
 fresh-ground black pepper to taste
 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 lbs. thin spaghetti

Peel the onions, halve them, and slice them rather thickly. Melt the butter in a large pot and add the bay leaves and the garlic and cook them, stirring constantly, for about 1 minute. Add the sliced onions and saute them over fairly high heat, stirring almost constantly, for at least 30 minutes. The onions should be evenly light brown in color. Add the paprika and the salt and stir for another few minutes. Add the wine, herbs, tomatoes, brandy, lemon juice, vinegar and pepper. Lower the heat and simmer the sauce, stirring occasionally, for 45 minutes to 1 hour. It should be thick but not pasty.

Taste the sauce and correct the seasoning if necessary.

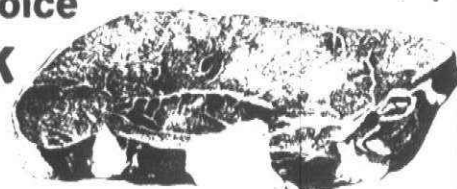

Boil the spaghetti in 6 or 7 quarts of salted water until it is just al dente, and drain it immediately. Pour the hot sauce over the spaghetti, toss them together quickly, and serve. Serves 6 to 8.

They picnicked lavishly on living room floor

The departure of a friend, whether to a new job, different neighborhood or a move out of state, is an event frequently marked by the sharing of a goodby lunch or dinner.

A recent send-off, with a minimum of planning, turned into a banquet.

One woman, part of a group that had worked together for some time, was moving on to a new involvement with her family in a business she and her husband had started.

To mark the event, everyone arrived at an early-evening get-together carrying food. There were four kinds of cheese, artichokes filled with an herb mayonnaise, crab quiche tarts, salmon savori (a piquant mixture of salmon, sour cream and dill) a platter of fresh fruit including pineapple, pomegranate, kiwi fruit, pears and apples, accompanied by a curried cheese dip, homemade peanut brittle, boxes of toffee-candy, fresh cider and doughnuts, and fresh, homemade chocolate eclairs.

Someone even remembered to bring a red and white checked table cloth, which we promptly decided to spread on the carpet and proceeded to picnic lavishly on the living room floor.

As I mentioned before, it was a banquet.

For any of you who might have a banquet in the future, here are two of the recipes — the Curried Cheese dip and the Crab Quiche Tarts.

CURRIED CHEESE DIP
1 to 1½ ounces fresh coconut cut in one-inch pieces or, ½ cup flaked coconut
1 pkg. (8 ounces) cream cheese, cubed
3 tbsp. raisins or currants
2 tbsp. salted peanuts
2 tbsp. milk (more, if needed)
¼ to ½ tsp. curry powder
Fresh fruit

Shred the coconut with the shredding blade of the food processor, then toast by spreading on a baking sheet and baking in a 375-degree oven until just golden. Set aside.

Put the cream cheese, raisins, peanuts, milk and curry powder in food processor or blender container. Turn the motor on and off quickly, just until the raisins and nuts are chopped and mixture is combined. Stir in the reserved coconut. Cover the dip and chill to blend the flavors. If necessary, before serving, stir in additional milk, one tablespoonful at a time, until it is of dipping consistency. Serve with apple or pear wedges, banana chunks or other fresh fruits. Makes about 1½ cups.

CRAB QUICHE TARTS
Shells:
1 pkg. (11 ounces) pie crust mix
3 tbsp. water
1 egg
Filling:
4 ounces Swiss cheese, chilled
1 pkg. (6 ounces) frozen crabmeat thawed, drained and coarsely flaked
6 eggs

Byrd's Kitchen

by Vivian Byrd

1 cup mayonnaise
¾ cup light cream or half and half

2 green onions, cut into short lengths
¼ tsp. mustard
Dash of pepper

Place the pie crust mix, water and egg in the food processor or mixer. Turn the processor on and off quickly or beat with the mixer until the dough forms a ball on the mixers. (Or, mix by hand.) Using two rounded teaspoons of pastry for each tart, press onto the bottom and sides of 24 muffin cups that are 2½ inches in diameter (or use three teaspoons for each of 16 muffin cups 2¾ inches in diameter). Shred the cheese and sprinkle two teaspoons into each tart shell (three into larger size).

crab, in blender and blend until the onion is chopped. Divide crab meat equally in shells. Spoon about 2 tablespoons of mixture into each tart shell over the cheese and crab (3 tablespoons for the larger size). Bake the tarts in a pre-heated 400 degree oven for 25 to 30 minutes. For the larger size, bake 30 to 35 minutes or until puffed and brown.

A knife inserted near the center will come out clean. Cool the tarts on a wire rack for 5 minutes before serving. Leftovers can be refrigerated and reheated.

Souper bowl entertaining

Fall means football and gridiron get-togethers with the gang. Whether you and your friends attend the game in person or watch it on television, take the chill off the cold weather sport by serving a partied bowl of hearty soup.

A rich dinner soup for 10 to 12 people is easy to make using the Beef Noodle variety of Homemade Soup Starter, several pounds of thrifty beef for stew and a little dry red wine. The fixin's for homemade soup streamline the preparation by eliminating all the paring, peeling and chopping previously necessary to make a chunky homemade soup.

The Burgundy Beef Noodle Soup can simmer for 90 minutes in the kitchen while you cheer your team on in the living room, or you can make the soup ahead and reheat it when you arrive home from the game.

For the rest of the menu, serve hot French bread or corn sticks with a relish tray. For a little post-game drama, serve flaming dessert crepes.

Burgundy Beef Noodle Soup

Yield: 10 to 12 servings

2 packages fixin's for homemade soup, beef noodle variety
2 to 3 pounds beef cubes for stew
14 cups water
1 cup dry red wine

Brown beef in large Dutch oven. Add water; stir in contents of fixin's for homemade soup. Bring to a boil. Lower heat and cover. Simmer for 1 hour. Add red wine and continue to simmer for another 30 minutes. Serve hot.

"SOME COMPANIES LIMIT THE MEAT IN THEIR SAUSAGE. WE LIMIT THE FAT."

There's a good reason why Bob Evans Farms Sausage won't cook away in your frying pan like some other sausage does. You see, at Bob Evans Farms, we limit the amount of fat in every ounce of sausage we make. So there's just enough to bring out the farm fresh taste.

That's why Bob Evans Sausage always cooks up so tender and delicious. Not greasy. And why it won't shrink to nothing in your frying pan.

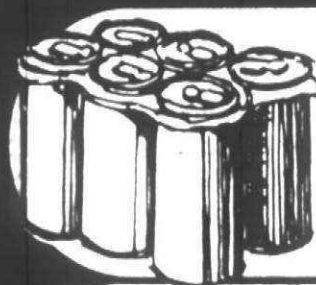

And while some companies don't put the best cuts of pork in their sausage, we include all the choice fresh hams and tenderloins. Not just the trimmings.

So try Bob Evans Sausage. Because while we always limit the fat in our sausage, there's no limit on the taste.

Stolen moments for passing plays

KAUAI, Hawaii — This is the island that makes you feel that you are really in Hawaii. Mountains rising green as Bali-Hai out of the blue sea. A helicopter ride into a crater in the wettest mountain on earth. A do-your-own-thing tour in which the guide climbs under a fence to steal fruit for the passengers.

Kauai is the oldest of the Hawaiian Islands, but it is only now being discovered by tourists from the mainland. There are 30,000 people on the island, 6,000 of them in the city of Lihue, which is composed of several long streets and a sugar mill, with flame trees lighting the side streets like lamps.

The helicopter tours, run by Kenai Air out of Lihue, take you high over the Waimea Canyon, land on the deserted sand beaches of the Na Pali Coast, and then fly into Waialeale Crater.

WAIKALEALE IS called the rain mountain. A cloud is always

The Lys is one of the many reconverted barges now allowing tourists another view of the shores along England's and Europe's waterways.

Barging in

Editor's note: Ken Lawrence, world traveler now associated with the "World Adventure Series" at the Detroit Institute of Arts, has recently journeyed aboard river barges in Europe and England. He has filed this report on a mode of travel which is gaining in popularity.

By KEN LAWRENCE

To call them barges would be accurate — but then again maybe not. Rapidly catching on is a trip by river barge in various parts of Europe and England. Former cargo barges have been stripped down and refitted into luxurious hotel barges, generally catering to just six to 12 passengers at a time. I've taken four such trips and found them to be a delight. Food, sidetrips, and attention to detail are top-flight throughout.

Stanley and Jarret Kroll of New York, themselves avid canal barge buffs, and authors of "European Waterways by Barge," turned their avocation into a thriving business known as Floating Through Europe, based in NYC, pleasing overseas travelers with these river and canal-borne treats. The MV (for Motor Vessel) Actief plies the River Thames between Windsor Castle and Oxford in England.

The K-boats, the Beverly K and the Jean K, operate in tandem — one the power and dining-room barge, pulling the stateroom barge — between Wooster and Stratford-Upon-Avon on the Severn and Avon rivers in England. The Lynquenda travels the Seine and Yonne Rivers in France between Nemour (near Fontainebleau) and Auxerre. The Bon Jour, formerly on the Thames, is being transferred to Midi, France.

BUT THE STAR of all is the Lys, traversing a number of rivers and canals beginning and ending in Amsterdam. The Lys is a comfortable old shoe-box of a Dutch barge its hull was built in 1903 and refitted only in recent years.

Captain and Mrs. Edwin Miller and the crew of three make your life a dream for seven days and six nights, traveling through little-known parts of Holland, seeing this otherwise flat and featureless country side from an entirely different and amazing perspective. One night, for instance, is spent moored at the dock of an ancient windmill, and the Dutch family who lives there comes aboard to chat and share an evening libation. Such delightful, charming, friendly, good looking people.

Food aboard all the barges is intended to represent the cuisine of the country, but with a bit of a difference. It is prepared and served in a fashion of quality, and in plenty. Succulent stuffed roast of veal, as one example, is accompanied with fresh-cooked vegetables, all purchased and prepared that very day. Souffles, quiche, flan, mousse, you name it. Wines of your choice are complimentary for both lunch and dinner.

Little details catch your attention like fresh flowers always on the table, which are kept fresh or replaced. There are mid-day treats and a little dish of chocolates awaits you in your room at night. Hot tea or coffee is brought to your door in the morning. Fresh fruit is always available.

One dinner and one luncheon is planned ashore, and Miller goes out of his way to find the best yet most native and interesting places to take you so you'd get the true taste and flavor of Holland.

The captains and their chef-wives of these barges bend themselves out of joint to give you a taste of their country.

Detroit Institute of Arts "World Adventure Series" season passholders will have a chance to win an all-expense paid trip for two aboard the Actief next summer, courtesy of Floating Through Europe and in cooperation with British Airways.

To be eligible, you must be a pass holder of record by Nov. 2. The trip will also be offered to season ticket holders as a package deal. Call 832-2730, for further details.

hooked on its top and drops 400 to 600 inches of rain a year. The view through the helicopter window is one you will never forget. A dozen waterfalls drip down the sides of the steep, green mountain into the crater.

The rain mountain is visible from any point on the island. On the Ima Loa tour, which literally means, do-your-own-thing, a small van takes you through Lihue, down the Hanalei Valley, and along the marvelous sand beach coastline to a wildlife refuge.

From Lihue, Highway 56 goes downhill through sugarcane fields, past the golf course where Bing Crosby used to play, and across the Wailui River, the only really navigable river in the islands.

Our tour guide decides that we must sample all the fruits and nuts that grow here in her homeland. She has brought a plastic bag for each of us, and she stops beside the road whenever she sees mangos or passion fruit growing. It was a long time since anybody stole fruit for me, and I liked it.

We pass the ancient Heiau, where human sacrifices were once made, across the road from what is now the Coco Palms Hotel, and stop briefly at Opaakee Falls. Here we can look down to where white birds fly across the Wailui River Valley, with rough-ridged mountains outlined against the distant sky.

At the first unofficial fruit stop, a dog barks as our guide picks up passion fruit that has fallen from a tree in somebody's backyard. At the next stop, she climbs a barbed-wire fence for mangos.

"See those clusters of small yellow fruit? That's guava." This time a passenger gets out to help pick the fruit hanging over the fence. We even stop at a fruit farm, where a friend allows us to pick bananas off the abundant trees.

Munching fruit, we go downhill past the gorgeous surf and sand of Kealia Beach. Kealia means salt pan. Here we are near the hole in the mountain which legend says was caused by a great chief who threw a spear.

WE SAW DEEP DRY caves and deep wet caves. We waded at surf-stroked sand beaches. We watched people swim in pools designed for Adam and Eve. And we looked down from high cliffs to waves breaking high against rock-cliff shorelines.

But it was the mood of the day that spelled the magic of Kauai, and the mood was created by the people. When you have tasted guava, mango, and passion fruit stolen especially for you, you have tasted Hawaii.

The VIEW from CANTON CENTER

THE CIVITANS have come up with a winning combination in their annual Continental Club get-together. The 1980 Continental Club will be Thursday night in the Mayflower Meeting House.

The evening begins at 7 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres. The always superb dinner is served at 8 p.m. After dinner, the excitement begins as the cash prizes are given out. Grand winner, by a process of elimination, has the choice of $8,000 in cash or the same amount toward the dealer's cost of a new car.

All profits from the Continental Club are donated to various charities by the Plymouth Community Civitan Club. Last year, profits went to Michigan Special Olympics for the retarded, the horseback-riding program for the handicapped, a program to send local delegates to the 1980 Civitan Youth Seminar at Albion, the Plymouth Community Senior Citizens Summer dinner-dance, seniors snow-blowing project, Clergy Week and other community services.

Only 150 Continental Club tickets are sold at $150 each. Each ticket allows one person to attend the dinner and no member of the Civitan Club can be a winner.

LISA GRIMM is appearing in "She Loves Me" at Wayne State University's Studio Theatre. Lisa was active in high school dramatics at the Centennial Educational Park. She is now a senior at WSU.

"She Loves Me" opened Oct. 15 and will run through Oct. 25 with 8:30 p.m. performances Wednesday and Saturday. The lighthearted musical was written by Joe Masteroff, Jerry Bock and Sheldon Harnick, authors of "Fiddler on the Roof." The story revolves around Maracek's Parfumerie at the turn of the century and the clerks who work there. Lisa has the role of Miss Ritter, a Maracek's employee who has an unsatisfactory relationship going with another clerk.

The young actress has appeared on the Studio Theatre stage in "Starting Here, Starting Now," and on Wayne State's Bonstelle Theatre stage in "Pippin," "Detective Story," and "A Christmas Carol." Persons can call 577-2972 for ticket information.

JULIA SENA of Canton Township has been working on the United Foundation Torch Drive. She has been enrolling and training volunteers for the drive. Julia, graphic designer at Burroughs Corporation, was UF's 1979 Miss Torch and is a member of the Burroughs Girls Club.

THE PLYMOUTH HIGH School class of 1971 Reunion Committee decided earlier this year that before making any grandiose plans for a 10th reunion, there should be some working capital on hand. During the summer months, classmates organized several fund raisers.

The last was completed this month and Harold J. Brisbois of Canton was the winner of $472.50. The reunion committee received the same amount and achieved its fund-raising goal.

Now all systems are "GO" for the party. The date will be June 20, 1981 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. The committee wishes to thank all the people in the community for supporting the fund raisers.

Classmates who wish more information about the reunion can contact Kathy Latham, 459-5954, or Peg Haarz, 459-5666. Or, they can write to 1971-PHS Reunion Committee, 725 Pacific, Plymouth.

This was the first class to graduate from the brand-new Plymouth High School which is now Plymouth Salem.

MEMBERS OF the Plymouth Newcomers Club took their husbands out to dinner. And what a dinner it was. The first couples' event of the club's new season was a New England clam bake at the Mayflower Meeting House.

One-hundred-and-thirty diners turned out for the feast. It started with hors d'oeuvres — stacks of crunchy fresh vegetables with an assortment of dips, wheels of cheeses with crackers, stacks of shrimp and oysters on the half shell in beds of ice.

The Newcomers and guests were escorted to the dinner tables by members of the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps.

Lorna Nitz described what followed: "After being served delicious shrimp soup and green salads, we served ourselves from enormous seafood and roast beef buffet tables. The tables were uniquely decorated with colorful mums, fishnets, shells and other ocean decor."

Dear Abby: 'He doesn't understand me'

By SHERRY KAHAN

Like Polonius in Shakespeare's "Hamlet," Abigail Van Buren gives advice. But while Polonius spoke only to Laertes, Dear Abby speaks to an estimated 55 million readers in her daily syndicated column.

And, she told the Livonia Town Hall, it is a work that never ceases to be rewarding.

The majority of her advice-receivers, she said in a talk at the Mai Kai Theater last week, are either teens wondering how to approach the boy or girl of their dreams, or married folks with a mate who "doesn't understand me."

But her favorites are the ones that are a bit different and give her a chance for a creative response. A woman of 21 told her she went out to dinner with her boyfriend. They had three martinis before dinner, split a bottle of champagne during the meal and had four brandies afterward. "Did I do wrong?" she asked.

"Probably," responded Abby. Or the one from the woman who had been going out with a man every night for six years, but never heard a word about marriage. "Is he just going out for what he can get?" she queried.

Wrote Dear Abby: "I don't know. What is he getting?"

MS. VAN BUREN, who is 62, also enjoys what she calls the Freudian slips.

"I've got a man who cheats so much, I'm not sure the baby I'm carrying is his," wrote one woman.

"Is it proper for the bride's mother to give her a shower?" asked another. "She could sure use one."

"I think I'm pregnant," read a third letter. "I don't know who the daddy is because my mother never let me go steady."

"Please send me the name of an illegitimate doctor," begged a writer, and another beseeched her to "send me information on the rhythm method because I'm learning to dance."

That might be a phony, she noted. In years of advice-giving, she learns to be wary of those. But she was inclined to take at face value the advice-seeker who wrote that "my husband burns the hair of his nose with a match, and he says I'm crazy because I voted for Goldwater."

The latter could be one of those letters the advice-giver labeled a phony, something about which she knows she must be wary.

SHE IS OFTEN asked what kind of people write for advice.

"They are people smart enough to know they have a problem," she explained. "Many go through life with heartaches and backaches, not admitting they have a problem. But everyone has problems. It is good therapy to know someone is listening without moralizing or sitting in judgement."

In her audience, women agreed Abby's was an important service.

Florence Orloff, a resident of Presbyterian Village in Redford Township, didn't think she'd write for advice now, "but I might if I were younger."

Mrs. Orloff has passed out her share of suggestions as a teacher and counselor at Cass High School and thinks Dear Abby's answers are "down to earth."

"If you read her column long enough, any question you may have will be answered," commented Laura Baumhart of Livonia.

IN HER SPEECH at the theater, Ms. Van Buren touched on a few personal aspects of her life, particularly her relationship with her twin sister, Ann Landers, who also writes a nationally syndicated advice column. She once more denied the persistent rumor that she and her sister were feuding.

"We're good friends," she said. "We write to each other almost every day. She's got to be the funniest lady in the world. When we visit, we always sleep together and talk until dawn."

But the women at the Livonia Town

Hall lecture clearly thought this personal tidbit was not enough. At the informal question period following the celebrity luncheon at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth, it was clear they wanted more.

"Did you ever have a facelift?" was one question.

"No," was the answer.

How had Dear Abby picked her outfit — a violet untrussed dress with matching wool poncho and purse? Violet is a color she believes is flattering and makes her look thin, she said. She was obviously pleased when several at the luncheon came to the speaker's table to tell her how well she looked.

"I'm quite vain," she confessed during the question-and-answer time. "I feel I want to keep up the equipment."

One questioner asked about a cooker from a company headed by Dear Abby's husband, Morton Phillips. The handles had come off.

"Send it back to the manufacturer," said the dispenser of consumer advice.

IN AN INTERVIEW, she spoke of swimming in her pool in Beverly Hills, Calif., from about 6-7 a.m. every day.

"It is great exercise," she said. "I like to swim before the sun comes up. The sun is damaging to one's skin. The reason I look as young as I do is that I stayed out of the sun."

Ms. Van Buren is convinced the reason she and her sister are successful advice columnists is because of their stable family life.

"We were an upper middle class Jewish family with roots deep in Judaism," she said. "Before I was married, I took a course in Catholic instruction and learned a great deal about Catholicism. I attended a Methodist school."

Dear Abby's real name is Pauline Esther Friedman. Her nickname was Popo. Her twin sister's name was Esther Pauline Friedman — Effie.

"A sad thing in our lives is that our mother died at 57 and didn't live to see our success," she said. "I left Sioux City as a bride of 21. I wrote a letter to my mother and father every day of their lives as long as they lived."

"If you have parents, keep the letters coming. It means so much."

THE FUTURE FAMOUS writer of letters also wrote letters for people in hospitals when she worked as a Red Cross Grey Lady. She also volunteered for the March of Dimes, the Mental Health Association and the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Her husband, she reported, is her "lover, best friend and severest critic."

"I show him everything I write," she added. "He looks like a European nobleman, with grey hair and a moustache. I'm getting lonesome thinking about him."

"It is not easy for him to be married to a celebrity. But he is very secure."

She said she became a columnist after moving to San Francisco and deciding the Chronicle needed one. The interviewer, she added, was "visibly underwhelmed" by her journalistic experience, but liked the way she answered advice letters.

She chose the name Abigail from a biblical incident in which the future

King David told a woman named Abigail he was "blessed by thy advice."

Her second name is borrowed from the eighth president of the United States.

SHE WORKS at home, preferring the quiet there to the noise and fun at her office. She employs three male senior citizens who open the mail and six secretaries, who respond to letters asking "should I shave my legs?"

"But I answer the heavy mail," she said. Many of her answers are never published, and are just between her and the writer.

Because advice seekers ask specific questions about where to go for help, files are kept of social services available in many of the cities where Dear

Trick or treat for UNICEF

Youngsters can get double duty out of their Halloween costumes. As well as making the neighborhood rounds tricking or treating for themselves, they can trick or treat for UNICEF and benefit underprivileged children all over the world.

The Plymouth Branch of American Association of University Women again is coordinating the UNICEF campaign in the city of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township. Individuals and groups are needed to collect door-to-door in area neighborhoods.

Interested persons can call Lorna Nitz, 455-4276, who will supply collection canisters and routes. UNICEF educational materials and information also can be obtained from Mrs. Nitz.

The emphasis for this year's UNICEF campaign is on world hunger. UNICEF participates in programs intended to improve the lives of children in more than 100 countries. The programs are designed to teach people how to help themselves. Some of the ways in which UNICEF contributes to the battle against world hunger are teaching nutritional information and safe methods of food preparation; distributing high-protein foods; and teaching practical farming methods.

Designated collection dates in the Plymouth-Canton area are Oct. 29, 30 and 31.

Mrs. Nitz emphasizes that one hour of volunteer help can be the difference between life and death for a starving child somewhere in the world.

Distinguished woman

The Plymouth branch of the Business and Professional Women named Pat Hann their Distinguished Woman of the Year for 1980. Club president, Janet Richwine, made the presentation Thursday evening at a dinner meeting of District IX BPW members at Botsford Inn. Pat Hann has been actively working on bringing about the rebirth of the Old Village Section of Plymouth for the past nine years. She also was cited for her willingness to cooperate with all the area women's clubs, lending a hand at their fund-raiser fashion shows. She or members of her staff at House of Glamour have styled models' hair fashions for many a show. A resident of Plymouth since she was 5, Pat and Bill Hann recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. They have two sons and a daughter. Mrs. Hann now has three beauty salons in the Plymouth and Livonia communities. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Doughnut ladies

The Doughnut Ladies have delivered more than half a million doughnuts in the past five years. In fact, they have delivered 336,960 doughnuts working six days a week for a total of 1,560 days. They take turns stopping at Terry's Bakery just before closing to pick them up then make deliveries to Villa-Marie, Senior Citizens Housing, Tonquish Creek Manor, West Trail Nursing Home, Opportunity House, Our Lady of Providence School, Camelot Nursing Home, Whispering Willow Nursing Home, Village Green Apartments senior residences, Nightengale Nursing Home and the Plymouth Firefighters and Police. They met for lunch last week and then sort of gravitated toward the familiar bakery on Ann Arbor Trail. From left are Marilyn Sinclair, Peggy Jennings, Barb Carpenter, Howard Wendell (owner of Terry's) Joan Funkhouser, Sue Smith, Ruth Rienas, Katy Mandle, Marge Baker, Jan Crissey and Cindy Merrifield. Doughnut ladies who did not attend the luncheon are Jan Ruggiero, Rose Ashlee and Marj Riedel. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

Rented pictures add fresh decorator touch

Visitors to Medar Inc. on General Court in Plymouth Township usually take appreciative note of the paintings hung in the lobby and the main office.

The regulars, the salesmen who drop in every month or so, always mention a change in pictures.

Their "You've got some new ones!" pleases Mimi Settles, who is responsible for the changes.

Mrs. Settles makes good use of the Plymouth Community Arts Council's art rental gallery. The art decor at Medar is never boring because it is ever-changing. One month it may be an Andrew Wyeth reproduction and a new original oil painting. The next it may be a reproduction of one of the old masters and an early American primitive.

Rental fee for one month is $3 for an original and $2 for a reproduction. Individuals may rent as many as three at a time and renew for one month.

There are 62 originals and 55 reproductions from which to choose.

THE PCAC RENTAL gallery was established in March 1976. Prime movers in its founding were Joyce Foust, Bess Decker and Charlene Tobin.

With the cooperation of the Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street, the gallery was set up on the second floor of the library. It is open during library hours each Wednesday.

In forming the gallery, the arts council's goal was to make good art available inexpensively. The gallery has art suitable for offices, homes and children's rooms with the entire art spectrum represented — oils, watercolors, lithographs — both contemporary and traditional.

The gallery has a consignment section. These pieces are owned by the artists and selected for the gallery at a $5 monthly rental fee. These works are for sale and up to four months rental fees can be applied toward the purchase price.

Many of the paintings in the consignment section represent the works of local artists and members of the Three Cities Art Club.

Each March, the gallery has a birthday sale. Some originals and reproductions are sold, with proceeds used to buy new works of art.

MANY RENTERS have bought them at the birthday sale, making them permanent acquisitions.

They have discovered the trial rental period of living with a painting leaves no doubt whether this is something they will cherish for a long time.

Some people have become so attached to a particular picture they can't bear to part with it. They'll do anything to keep it beyond the last renewal date, said Judy Lewis, co-chairwoman of the gallery. When they return it to the gallery, they will have a friend or neighbor immediately sign it out for them.

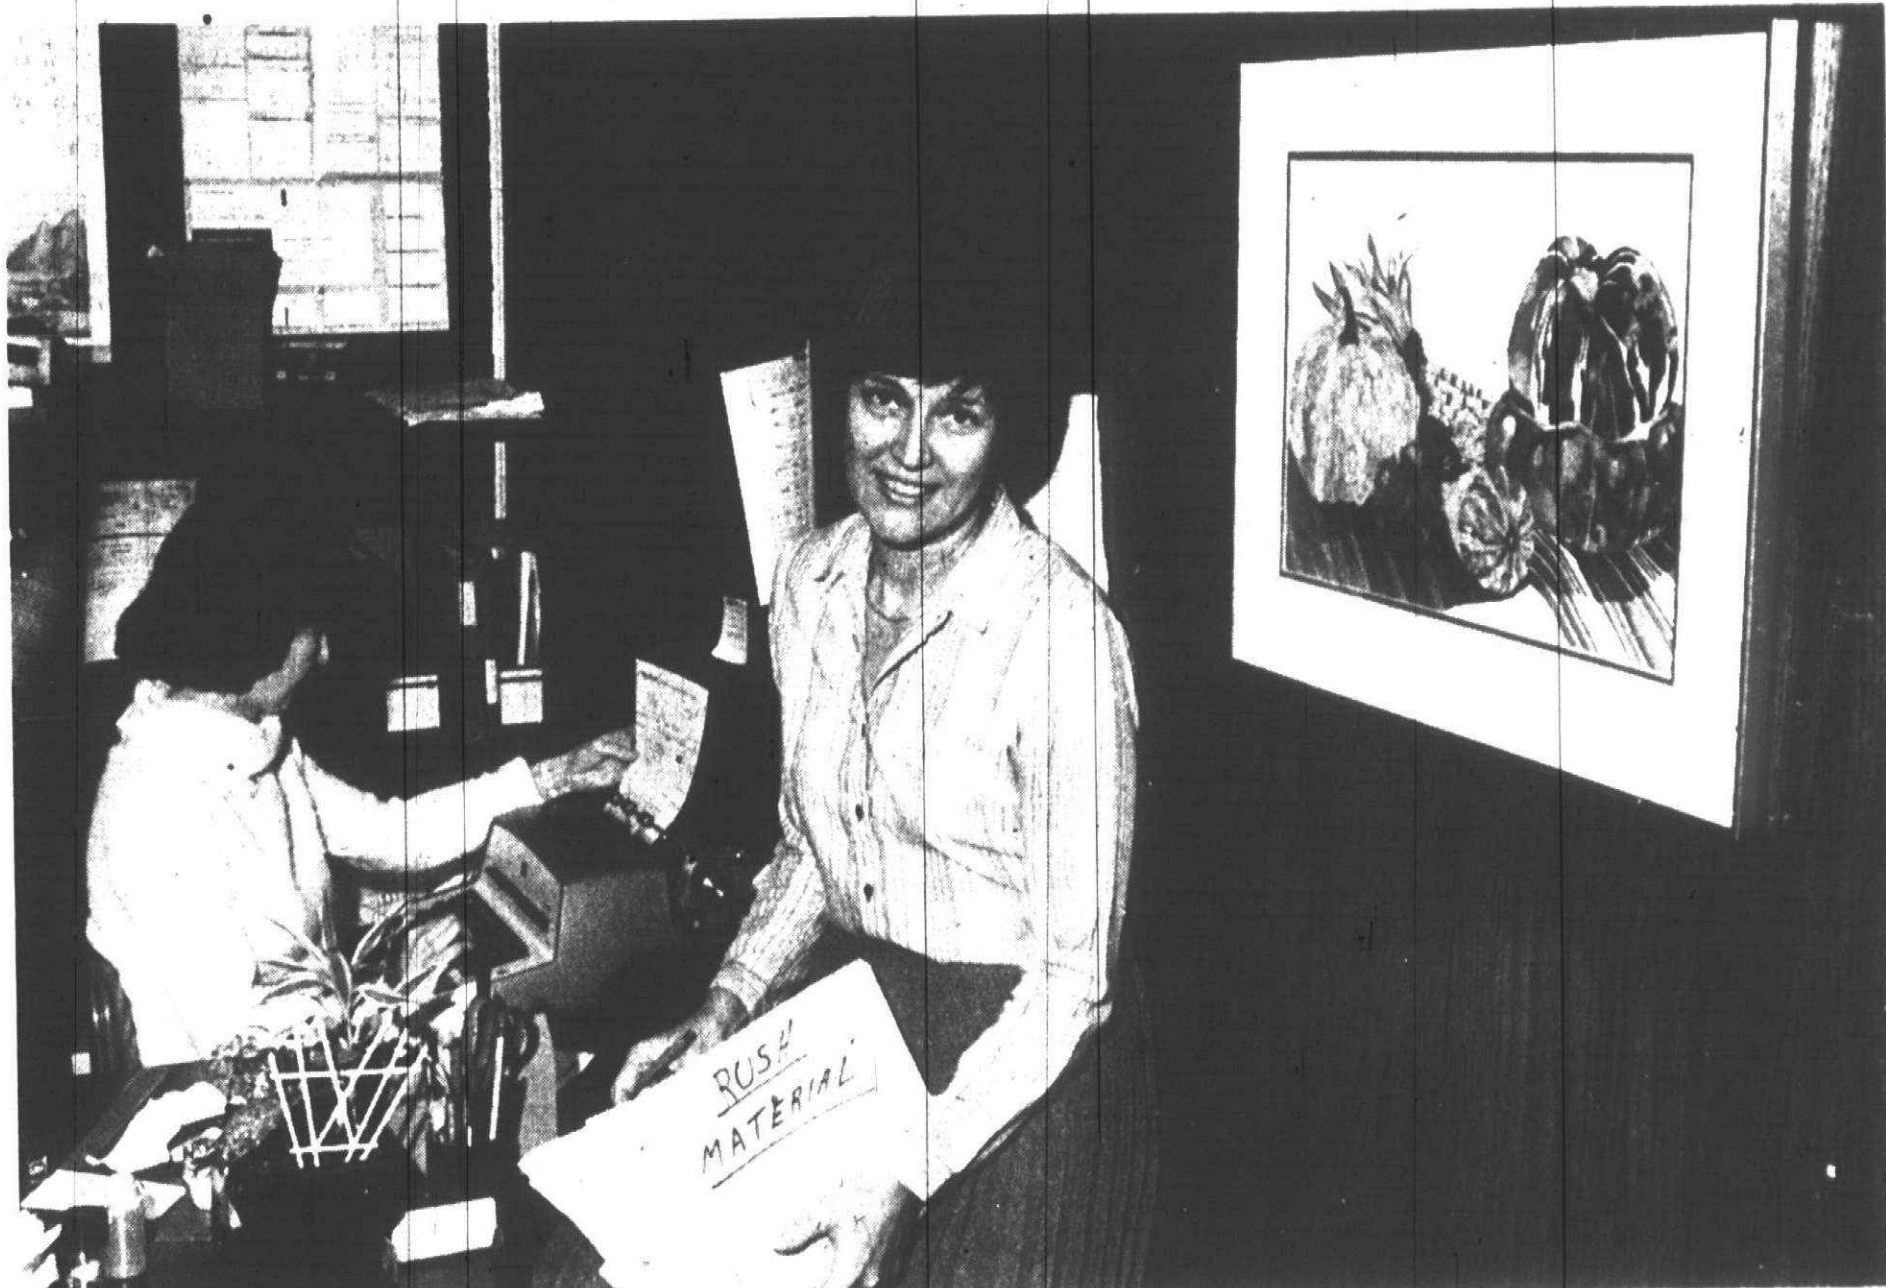

One woman was so at home with her rental gallery painting that she packed it up with the rest of the family belongings when they moved out of town, she said. She later returned the painting.

New rental gallery acquisitions are displayed for one month before they are eligible for rental. This gives everyone an equal opportunity to take it out.

The gallery has donated pictures to the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Channel 56 and high school radio station WSDP auctions. People do not have to resort to devious schemes to keep reproductions beyond the time limit. They can be ordered from New York Graphics.

The goal of the arts council is to have a combined facility for its offices and the rental gallery so it can be open more than one day a week. Until then, the hours will remain from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesdays in the library.

All PCAC projects are made possible with the support of the state of Michigan through a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Canton BPW has election of officers

The new Canton Township Business and Professional Women's Club now has a governing board. Officers were elected last week when more than 30 women had a dinner meeting at the Roman Forum Restaurant on Ford Road.

President is Teresa Solak, Bank of the Commonwealth branch manager; Kay Baldrice, vice president, teaches in the Wayne-Westland Schools and is a Canton resident; Deborah O'Connor, secretary, is head librarian at the soon-to-be-opened Canton Library; and Rosemary Kosovac, treasurer, works at Manufacturers Bank.

The next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 10 in the Roman Forum. Cocktails will be served at 6:30 and dinner at 7 p.m. The club still is open for charter members. All women who work part or full time are eligible for membership. They do not have to live or work in Canton Township.

Speaker at the November meeting will be Deborah O'Connor, who will explain the business and career resources available in the new library.

Check your chances of getting cancer.

LUNG CANCER

- ☐ Heavy smoker over age 50.
- ☐ Started smoking age 15 or before.
- ☐ Have a persistent cough.

BREAST CANCER

- ☐ Over 40 and have close relatives who had breast cancer.
- ☐ Had a breast operation.
- ☐ Have a lump or nipple discharge

ENDOMETRIAL CANCER

- ☐ Have abnormal bleeding during or after menopause.
- ☐ Have diabetes and high blood pressure and are overweight.
- ☐ Began menopause late (after 55).

CERVICAL CANCER

A SEVEN DAY SALUTE TO THE GREAT AMERICAN COWBOY!

BRING YOUR MOM! KIDS! FRIENDS! DAD! BRING THE WHOLE FAMILY!

You know, even though I was present in body and spirit during the taming of the Wild West, I was pretty much a prospector. But deep in my heart I always held a secret admiration for them that set high in the saddle, riding the range—the cowboy.

Luckily, they had the good sense to wear a pair of pants that would hold up under all that wear and tear—the sturdiest pants made then or now, jeans by Levi Strauss and Company.

And nowadays they not only make jeans, they make cords, shirts, jackets—almost everything a body could ask for.

Well, I've decided to have a special celebration during Levi's Week—callin' it a "Seven Day Salute to the Great American Cowboy." 'Cause they were my friends, and, in a manner of speakin', my heroes.

So, come join the fun—we're havin' a handin' of a sale. I can almost guarantee—you'll go home feelin' like you're back in the saddle again.

10th great-great-grandchild

Lily Van Bonn, who celebrated her 95th birthday Oct. 15, met her 10th great-great-grandchild, Kristin Smith, for the first time and it was occasion for a five-generation portrait. Standing (from left) are Kristin's father, Kenneth Smith of Stockbridge; her great-grandmother, Mabel Smith of Gregory; and her grandfather, Melvin Smith of Stockbridge. Mrs. Bonn celebrated her birthday at a family dinner party in the home of her daughter, Hazel Lyke of Canton Township. She is a resident of West Trail Nursing Home, Plymouth. Mrs. Bonn was born in Detroit in 1885. She and her husband, John, farmed in the Redford, Livonia and Salem areas. They had five children, four of whom still are living. They are Ethel Horsfall of Concord, Mrs. Lyke of Canton and Alvin Van Bonn of South Lyon. She has 23 grandchildren and 73 great-grandchildren.

AARP MEETING

The Plymouth/Northville chapter of the American Association for Retired Persons will begin at noon Wednesday.

Dear Abby at Town Hall

Abby appears. She also has a personal file of experts on psychiatry, gynecology, dermatology and other subjects about which she is queried.

"I can't begin to tell you the caliber of these people who are not paid, but who give me advice for my readers, simply because they want to be helpful," she said.

At the luncheon she had a few moments to offer a personal opinion or two. She told Irene Cameron, whose husband serves on the Livonia school board, that schools should teach sex education. It should concern more than the mechanics of contraception, she insisted.

"Students should learn about responsibility, loving and caring," she said.

Teaching sex does not condone it, in her opinion. "But every question deserves an answer, whatever it's about, and whatever the age of the questioner," she stated. "I think you'll find all children are interested in sex. But it may not mean that they're ready to practice it."

On another theme, she indicated that a woman might become more interesting if she went to work. But she cautioned against getting "all consumed" by work.

She concluded by advising her listeners: "The best idea a person can have is to feel she is never too old for improvement or to be a little better than yesterday."

CHIROPRACTIC GETS RESULTS

Grassam Chiropractic Life Center

Read What Your Neighbors Say About The Grassam Chiropractic Life Center

Chiropractic Has Worked For Me After Nothing Else Did!

Health problems forced me to take a lower paying job a couple of years ago. It was either that or let the company retire me.

For years I've suffered from a painful right hip and a stiff neck. High blood pressure and hypertension had me worried about a possible stroke.

I tried everything to ease the pain but nothing seemed to work. Then my wife recommended that I see a chiropractor.

After a couple of weeks of adjustments I am feeling much better. The pain in my hip seems to be gone for the first time in years.

Chiropractic has worked for me after nothing else did. That's why I would recommend chiropractic for everyone. There's no need to suffer when your problem could be fixed.

Thank you,

I Most Certainly Recommend Chiropractic For Better Health!

I most certainly recommend chiropractic treatments for all my friends. That's how I found out what chiropractic could do for the shooting pain down my right leg and the soreness in my lower back. Thanks to a friend's advice, I visited Dr. Grassam and noticed improvement the day after my first adjustment. The third day following treatment I was able to return to work. The recovery was remarkable since before I could hardly walk due to the pain.

After two visits to Dr. Grassam my problem with muscle spasms also vanished. And I did not have any kind of cold last winter.

Chiropractic has improved my health.

Thank you,

Waterford Mott charge stuns Canton gridders

By BRAD EMONS

It was another frustrating night of Plymouth Canton football.

The Chiefs, who suffered their sixth straight defeat, blew a 13-point half-time lead in losing to previously winless Waterford Mott, 14-13, Friday night at Centennial Educational Park.

This was a game Canton coach Richard Barr and his staff had figured to win. Mott's last victory had come near the end of last season against none other than Canton.

"They (Mott) played better football I guess," said a disconsolate Barr. "They're probably just a little better. We get ourselves into a hole and don't give up."

"I have nothing else to say. No comment."

The Mott players celebrated their rare victory like an early Christmas.

"We've hit hard all year," said Mott coach Dale Kutche. "It's been just a case of not getting the ball into the end zone."

"The kids played tough. In the second half they decided to play as a team."

Mott dominated the second half as Canton had in the first 24 minutes.

The winning touchdown came with just 4:56 to play. Aided by a face mask penalty, Mott quarterback Ken Grace pulled his team to within one, 13-12, with a 15-yard TD pass to Jim Summerlee. The two hooked up again on the two-point conversion to give Mott the lead for good.

The fired-up Corsairs then stopped Canton's final bid. On a fourth down and 17-yards-to-go situation, quarterback Billy Childs rolled out and hit full-back Scott Brookhouse for an apparent first down. Brookhouse, however, was unable to hold onto the ball as he was jarred by three Mott tacklers.

That thwarted any hope of a Canton victory as Mott ran out the remaining 1:47.

"THE KIDS made the breaks for themselves," said Kutche. "Turnovers have killed us this season. We just haven't been able to put together four good quarters. The kids had their backs to the wall, but we had plenty of time in the second half."

Canton opened the scoring early in the second quarter when Childs hit Craig Gears, a 6-foot-3, 225-pound tight end, with a 25-yard scoring pass.

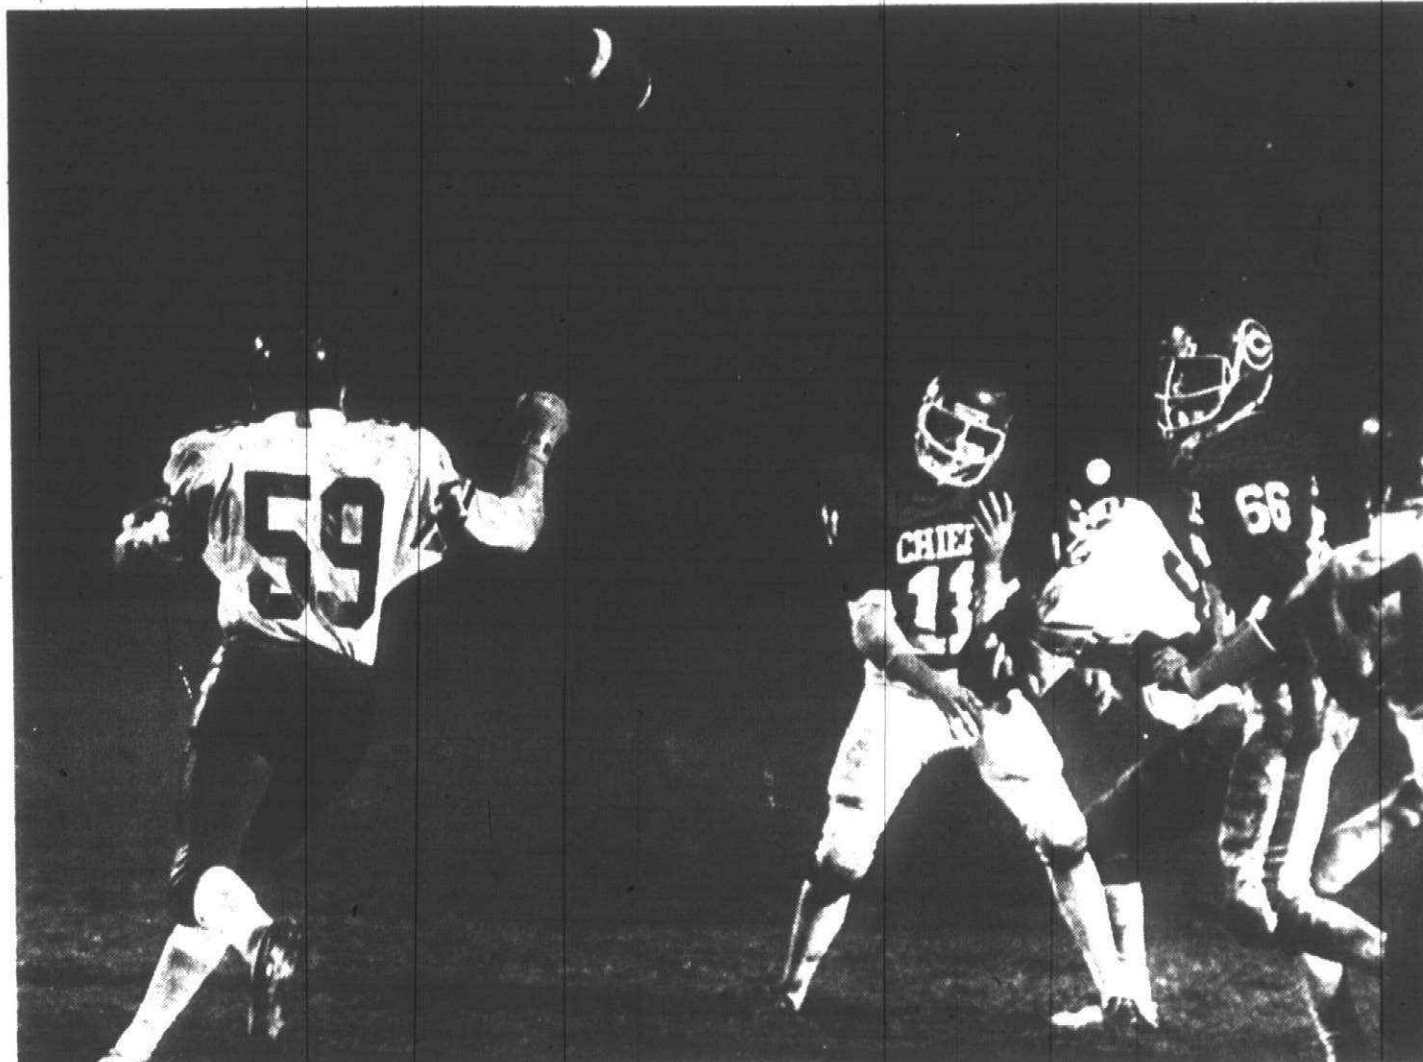

The Chiefs did not convert the extra point after a high snap from center.

Canton's defense, meanwhile, held Mott in check the entire first half as the Corsairs made just 10 net yards after two periods.

With 4:26 to go until intermission, Childs connected with Gears again, this time on a 20-yard TD pass. Dennis O'Flynn's extra point made it 13-0. The second score was set up when Canton partially blocked Grace's punt. The ball was downed on the Mott 33.

Canton had another chance to score late in the half. Reserve quarterback Chris Susock drove his team down to the Mott 20, but the drive was stalled by an offensive interference penalty.

In the third quarter, Mott had an apparent TD called back because of a

Billy Childs (No. 11) threw this pass under pressure to teammate Craig Gears for Canton's second touchdown. The Chiefs, however, ended up losing to Waterford Mott, 14-13. (Staff photos by Gary Caskey)

Craig Gears was the recipient of Childs' pass and he scored his second TD after a nifty move toward the end zone.

Chief cagers keep up Western 6 domination

Opponents of the Plymouth Canton girls' basketball team are developing a Rodney Dangerfield complex.

Another in a long list of Chief foes got "no respect" Thursday night. Canton pounded Livonia Churchill for its ninth straight win, 84-31.

Five Canton players scored in double figures.

Senior forward Jean Timlin netted 22 points for the Chiefs to lead all scorers. She ignited a second quarter surge with six steals. Juniors Colleen Crissey and Pearly Cunningham chipped in with 12 apiece. Reggie Ruggiero and Cindy Sovine added 10 each.

Carrie Scarr paced Churchill with 18.

"Our (fast) break took off," said Canton's Mike McCauley, whose coached the Chiefs to 37 straight Western Six League victories.

"Our girls are starting to play well," he said. "We shot over 50 percent."

Canton jumped out to an 18-10 first quarter advantage and then struck for 29 points in the second period to take a commanding 47-16 halftime lead.

The Chiefs kept up their scoring in the second half, tallying 37 points.

"We have to play more competition," said McCauley. "We haven't been tested in the last four or five games, but we haven't been playing sloppy."

"The girls are still playing sharp even though the competition hasn't been as strong."

To remedy Canton's lack of competition of late, McCauley has scheduled a scrimmage with state-ranked Harper Woods Regina in early November and wants to play unbeaten Bloomfield Hills Lahser.

Canton, now 10-2 overall, destroyed Churchill with a "diamond press."

"It worked well," said McCauley. "We made them turn the ball over quite a bit."

Canton will travel to Waterford Mott Tuesday in a Western Six League showdown. The Corsairs, who lost to Canton twice last season, are unbeaten in league play.

Canton runners victorious; Salem evens league mark

The regular season is over and now it's time for the Plymouth Canton boys' cross country team to think about the Western Six League meet.

Coach Jim Hayes' squad completed the most successful dual-meet season in the school's history Thursday, thumping Walled Lake Western, 16-45.

It was Canton's fourth league win in five tries as the Chiefs finished with a 10-1 overall mark.

"We're in pretty good shape," said Hayes, whose team's only loss this year is to league leader Northville (27-30).

The only uncertainty for Tuesday's meet is the status of freshman Brian Jones. He has been out for two weeks with a strained calf muscle. A 13th place finisher in the Schoolcraft Invitational earlier in the fall, a healthy Jones is key to Canton's hopes for a first league title.

"We'll have to wait and see," Hayes said. "Brian has been gradually working himself back."

Against Western, senior Steve West set a Walled Lake course record with a time of 17:38 for 5,000 meters. Teammates Scott Hand and Jack Pacente finished second and third, respectively, with times of 17:53 and 17:58.

Another Canton senior, Mike Talaga, who has picked up the slack for Jones, finished fourth with a clocking of 18:04.

Western's Dave Sherwood was fifth (18:10) followed by Canton's Dan Inloes in sixth spot (18:18).

Dan Henry, who placed eighth overall, did not score for Canton because he was listed as a junior varsity runner. His time was 18:42. Teammate Baron was ninth (18:48).

Canton lost the reserve race, 27-30. The top Chief reserve finishers were Mark Bennett, 19:35; George Kacic, 19:41; Mark Anderson, 19:55; and Bob Hogan, 20:47.

In the girls' race, Judy Yuhn finished first (19:40) to power Western to a 19-43 win. Kathy Brophy was Canton's top finisher in third. She was followed by teammates Charlotte Thomas (sixth), Patty Rising (ninth), Katrina Sieler (11th), Mary Bardelli (16th) and Barb Rising (17th).

The Western Six League meet will begin at 2 p.m. at Cass Benton Park.

SALEM-TRENTON

The Rocks got what they wanted Thursday at Trenton — a 3-3 Suburban Eight League dual mark with a 22-33 victory.

Pat Zannetti of Trenton won the race with a time of 16:23.

Salem grabbed the next three spots — Chris Kopach, second, 17:01; Chris Whittaker, third, 17:06; Frank Brosnan, fourth, 17:09.

"The times weren't as good, but I'm real happy we won the meet," said Salem coach Scott Dunson. "We wanted to go into the league meet even up and I'm happy about that."

Brosnan, a sophomore, was able to finish the three-mile race despite a pulled muscle behind his knee. His status for the league meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday at Cass Benton is questionable.

Salem's Skip Whittaker and Brad Haertel grabbed sixth and seventh, respectively, with times of 17:25 and 17:28.

Other Salem finishers included Ken LeGault in 11th place (18:09) and Marvin Zurek in 13th (18:19).

penalty. The Corsairs, however, were not to be denied, coming right back for their first score.

The 65-yard drive consumed almost 5:00 on the clock and took 12 plays. Brian Siebert ran three yards for the score with just 31 seconds left on the clock. The two-point conversion attempt was stopped.

Canton's wishbone attack was stalled most of the second half. The footing was treacherous for both teams in the first half because of a pre-game shower. The field, however, dried out somewhat in the second half because of a strong wind.

Canton will try to regroup Friday at Garden City East (1-6) in a non-league game.

Rock girls triumph

Plymouth Salem kept pace with Livonia Bentley in the Suburban Eight League girls' basketball race with a 37-24 victory Thursday at Trenton.

The Rocks, coached by Bob Blohm, upped their league record to 4-1. Bentley (5-0) stayed ahead one game with a victory over Dearborn.

The Rocks, who travel to Allen Park Tuesday, now sport a 10-1 overall mark. Trenton fell to 10-2.

SALEM FRESHMEN ROMP

The Plymouth Salem freshman

girls' basketball team scored a pair of lopsided wins last week.

Salem's frosh whipped Redford Union last Tuesday, 61-15, as Sarah Wallman and Michelle Dawson each scored 12 points.

The Rocks then trimmed Walled Lake Western Thursday afternoon, 51-26, as Colleen O'Connor tallied 10 points and grabbed 13 rebounds. She received support from Maureen Dazer (11 points) and Debbie Glomski (10).

Salem, now 5-0, will play at rival Plymouth Canton Tuesday, Oct. 28. Game time is 3:45 p.m.

PUNT, PASS AND KICK CONTEST SET

The Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department will hold its first annual Punt, Pass and Kick contest at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 1 at Griffin Park.

Boys and girls are eligible to compete. They will be tested in the football skills of punting for distance, passing for distance and accuracy, and kicking for distance.

Youngsters will be divided into age groups to equalize competition. Awards will be given out to the winners and runner-ups in each age category.

Registration will be held from 9 to 9:30 a.m. the day of the competition.

For more information, call 397-1000.

TEAMS NEEDED FOR VOLLEYBALL LEAGUES

Team openings are still available for three different volleyball leagues, sponsored by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

The women's league will start Wednesday Field Elementary School. The men's league will start Thursday at Miller Elementary. A coed league commences on Oct. 23 at Hulsing Elementary.

Game times for the three leagues have been slated for 7, 8 or 9 p.m.

The entry fee for each team is $50.

A minimum of eight players per team is required. Leagues are limited in size. Early registration is encouraged.

Registration information is available at the Canton Township Recreation Department, 1150 South Canton Center Road.

For more information, call 397-1000.

RACQUETBALL LESSONS

A racquetball league for beginners is being offered by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department.

The league will meet from 10 to 11 a.m. each Monday, beginning Nov. 3 at Rose Shores of Canton Racquetball Club.

A registration fee of $20 per person is required. That includes all court time and instruction fees.

The class will teach basic rules, strokes and court play.

Persons can register in person or by mail to: Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, Mi. 48188.

For more information, call 397-1000.

BLACKHAWKS TRIUMPH

The Blackhawks edged the Northstars last week in a Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association Mite Division game, 2-1.

Billie Monette opened the scoring for the Northstars at 2:22 of the first period on a sharp angle shot. Mike Kistemaker drew an assist.

Scott Wilson then countered for the Blackhawks with a backhanded goal at 1:32 of the second period on an assist from Ben Hendricks.

In the final period, Pat Leahy scored the game winner on an assist by Scott Johnson.

Joe Paulus, member of a legendary bowling family and the father of junior bowling in the Detroit area, will be honored Tuesday evening when he is inducted into the Michigan Amateur Sports Hall of Fame.

The son of the late John Paulus, owner and operator of Chene-Trombly Recreation, Joe has made a mark on his own in bowling.

He was the Detroit Bowling Proprietors Association's youngest president ever, and later served in the same capacity in the state and national organizations.

He also holds the top records in the Detroit Athletic Club bowling leagues and now is a senior vice president of the Bank of the Commonwealth.

The ceremonies will be held at Athena Hall at 10 1/4 Mile Road and Gratiot.

ANOTHER JUNIOR came to the fore during the past week when Rick Furtney rolled a 299 game at Sunnybrook. He was denied a perfect game when a stubborn No.9 pin refused to fall. Larry Franz and the veteran Eddie Lubanski staged an odd duel for top place in the Wonderland Classic.

Larry opened with a 165 and then added games of 280 and 264 for 709 while Lubanski opened strong with counts of 235 and 264 only to drop to 196 in his final game and settle for 695.

Meanwhile, Al Stark's Livonia Trophy team registered games of 1078, 1078 and 1006 for a pace-setting 3162.

Jean Essa showed the way to the women with a 245 middle game in 655.

GREG PROCTOR joined the ranks of those who have broken the 700 barrier when he posted a 703 in the Monday men's league at Westland Bowl.

A middle game of 257 between counts of 225 and 221 made his big series possible.

One of the other features in the league was produced when Dan Pintor rolled a "Dutch" 200.

In the women's activities, Sue Davis showed the way in the Bowlerettes circuit with a 245 in 507 and Shirley Klein topped the Lady Dusters loop with a 231 in 502.

Salem's Eudy captures 2 events

Bentley swimmers win duel

Livonia Bentley established itself as the team to beat in the Suburban Eight League girls' swim race, dropping Plymouth Salem Thursday night, 99-73.

The victory lifted Bentley's league record to 2-0. Salem is now 2-1 in Suburban Eight duels.

"We finished behind Salem 20 points at the RU relays," said Bentley coach Keith Wright. "Then we had some people not feeling well."

The Bulldogs, however, were fit to swim Thursday.

Freshman Jenny Fedor led the assault with first place finishes in the 200-yard individual medley (2:17.6) and 100-yard backstroke (1:05.3). She also was a member of Bentley's winning 400-yard freestyle relay (3:58.7) along with Laura Pomeroy, Ann MacIntyre and Alice Schlaepfer.

Salem junior Terri Eudy was equally impressive despite her team's loss. She won the 100- and 200-yard freestyle events with times of 56.6 and 2:04.0, respectively.

"Actually the meet went just about like I thought it would," said Salem coach Chuck Olson. "They (Bentley) won't lose too many. They've already passed all the competition."

In the 50-yard freestyle, Bentley's Dee Powell won with a time of 26.8. Salem's Corinne Cabadas was third (27.7). The Salem swimmer then came back to win the 100-yard breaststroke

(1:17.2) with teammate Kim Nelson taking third.

Bentley's Julia Westhaus, an All-Observer performer last season, won the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 1:04.9. Salem freshman B.J. Bing placed third (1:11.8). Westhaus then teamed up with Nancy Malesky, Powell and Julie Baird to win the 200-yard medley relay (2:03.1). Linda Wochna, Cabadas, Amy Dunn and Nancy Lazarus placed second for Salem with a time of 2:04.9.

In diving, Salem swept the first three spots as Patty Larson totaled 206.55 points. Cindy McSurely and Carol Lindsay finished second and third, respectively.

THE MacINTYRE sisters, Ann and Jean, finished 1-2 in the 500-yard freestyle. Ann's time was 5:45.31 and Jean was a close second, 5:45.36. Kelly Brandt of Salem was third (6:08.7).

Other Salem third place finishes were recorded by Wochna in the 100-backstroke (1:10.5) and the 200-yard medley relay squad (2:09.7). Salem's quintet consisted of Debbie Darlington, J. Cabadas, Bing and Nelson.

Eudy, Lazarus, Brandt and Sallie Weimer took second in the 400-yard freestyle relay with a clocking of 3:58.7.

The Rocks, 7-2 overall, travel to Dearborn at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Redford Thurston downs Franklin at wire

Donna DePerro sank a pair of free throws with only three seconds remaining to give Redford Thurston a 43-41 victory over Livonia Franklin last week in a thrilling Northwest Suburban League girls' basketball game.

Sandy Nissen had tied the score at 41 for the Eagles just 17 seconds earlier by also canning two free throws.

Nissen totalled 14 points and Wendy VandeSande 13 for Thurston, which hiked its conference record to 3-1 with the victory.

Franklin had three players in double figures. Mary Kay McNall netted 18 points, Julie Wilga and Anna Collins 10 apiece.

The Patriots slipped to 1-3 against league opponents.

"Those little girls really hustled," said George Heger, coach of the Eagles. "We used a press in the second half — our little guards against their giants — and it really rattled them and caused quite a few turnovers."

Thurston also won the JV game, 22-12.

REDFORD UNION kept pace with Thurston in the league standings (3-1) by subduing North Farmington, 71-49.

Cathi Hengy, a guard, scored 20 points for the Panthers. Lori Pastula added 11. Everyone played for RU and 10 scored.

RU build a 17-8 lead during the first quarter and extended its advantage to 43-20 at the half.

"We played pretty much a control of offensive game," said Ken Dersey, coach of the Panthers. "We moved the ball up the floor well and I was pleased."

"Hengi came to play basketball. She was our leader on the floor," Dersey added. "I was a little disappointed in the defense in the third quarter. When we had the big lead, I guess they relaxed."

North nipped RU in the JV game, 37-36.

LIVONIA BENTLEY rebounded from its loss to Redford Union to defeat Dearborn, 39-29, in a Suburban Eight League game.

The win was the sixth against no defeats against conference opponents.

Ann Roy and Tina Ostach scored nine and six points, respectively, for the Bulldogs.

"I played all 11 and they all scored. I guess you can conclude that Dearborn is a weak team," said Bentley coach Tom Lang.

The Bulldogs prevailed in the JV game, 34-23.

LIVONIA STEVENSON remained tied for first place in the Inter-Lakes League by outlasting Walled Lake Central 44-40 in a see-saw game.

The Spartans sport a 3-1 conference ledger.

Stevenson trailed 11-8 at the end of the first quarter and 19-16 at the half. The Spartans, however, out-pointed their guest 18-6 during the third period, then held-off a Central rally down the stretch.

"We had a great third quarter," said Stevenson coach Jim George. "We used a man-press and (Beth) Mueller and (Wendy) Jenkins really stole the ball."

Both guards finished with 10 points. Karen Kelley, Stevenson's center, scored 16.

Jenkins had to be rested during the fourth quarter when she encountered foul trouble. Things did not run as smoothly with her out of the lineup.

The Spartans won the JV game, 41-39.

REDFORD BISHOP BORGESS used a big third quarter to defeat Detroit Dominican, 48-42, in a Catholic League Central Division encounter.

The victory was the second for the Spartans over Dominican this season, the only team Borgess has defeated in six conference outings.

Borgess, which trailed 27-18 at the half, came out smoking during the third quarter and outscored its host, 24-8. That turned the tide.

Nancy Rzepka, a freshman forward, scored 12 points for the Spartans. Teammate Ann Biscup, a sophomore, scored eight.

Borgess' JV triumphed, 59-41.

CLARENCEVILLE gave a good effort, but still was nipped by Woodhaven, 52-51, in a Metro West Conference game.

A three-minute overtime was necessary.

"We played our hearts out, but it wasn't enough," said Laurie Stasiak, coach of the Trojans. "But we're not down. We're already looking forward to our next meeting with Woodhaven."

The first half was a study in contrast. Host Woodhaven led 12-5 after the first quarter, Clarenceville 19-17 at the intermission.

The Trojans took a four-point lead into the fourth quarter, but couldn't quite hand on.

Clarenceville's Cheryl Ranta, a guard, tossed in 18 points; Chris Stellberger, a forward, 15.

REDFORD ST. AGATHA was nipped by Allen park Cabrini, 49-48.

Pizzuti sets Glenn scoring mark

By DOUG FUNKE

It wasn't that Westland John Glenn girls' basketball coach George Sommerman was trying to run up the score.

He just wanted to give Geri Pizzuti a chance to set a single-game scoring record.

Pizzuti did just that with an excellent shooting performance during the Rockets' 84-42 victory last week over Garden City East.

Pizzuti, a center, connected on 16-of-23 shots from the field to total 32 points, one more than the former single-game record at Glenn held by Nancy Jimenez. Most of Pizzuti's shots were from close range.

"Sometimes, you just have to let the kids go," Sommerman said, seemingly

basketball

embarrassed by the large margin of victory. "She (Pizzuti) has worked at it three years. It (the record) was one of her goals."

THE GAME was never in doubt. Teri Chapo gave the Rockets a 2-0 lead only three seconds after the opening tip-off with a driving layup. Glenn scored the first 18 points of the game and it wasn't until nearly 5 1/2 minutes had been played that East scored its first points.

To show what kind of night it was for the Panthers, Connie Riley, who scored their first basket, mistakenly shot the ball into her own hoop to give Glenn its easiest points of the evening.

Everyone had a chance to get in on the action for the Rockets. Ten of the 11 players scored. Pizzuti was complemented by Sandy Cockrum, who scored 14 points, Kim Cesarz 12 and Chapo eight.

"I know it sounds like I was trying to pour it on, but the second-team kids deserve to play with the first-team kids," Sommerman said. "It's good for morale."

East coach Leona Dost said she was all but resigned to the outcome before the game even began.

"I'm not happy we lost, but I didn't expect to win," Dost said. "They're quick and experienced. They (the Panthers) tried. I can't ask for anything more."

THE PANTHERS, almost hopelessly overmatched, never gave up, nor were there any recriminations as their deficit grew larger and larger. Dost kept shuffling players in and out of the lineup in an effort to find a combination that would click.

Tigers get splashed

Garden City West, which keeps plugging away with a very small team, took a 99-68 girls' swim defeat from Dearborn Heights Annapolis last week in a non-league dual.

Again, West won a majority of the events, but lost the meet due to a lack of depth.

That doesn't worry coach Barb Church much, though. "What we're stressing is bettering the times," the first-year coach said. "We'll take it from there."

The Tigers competed with only nine girls.

Debbie McClung and Kim Dorsey each won two individual events and swam a leg on West's victorious medley relay team.

McClung broke the field in the 200-yard freestyle, 2:25.1, and in the 100-yard backstroke, 1:13.8. Dorsey set the pace in the 50-yard freestyle, 26.6 — a school record — and in the 100-yard freestyle, 59.9.

West's Carol Pettit won the 200 IM, 2:45.6, and Stacy Hawkins won diving with 137.40 points.

Karen Johnston and Pettit combined with McClung and Dorsey to finish first in the medley relay with a time of 2:17.1. That also established a new school record.

Ocelot kickers remain in 1st

Nick O'Shea is to Schoolcraft College soccer what Giorgio Chinaglia is to the New York Cosmos.

Both score a lot of goals. O'Shea found the net nine times in two Schoolcraft victories last week, upping the Ocelots' overall record to 5-0-2. Coach Larry Christoff's squad currently leads the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Region 12 standings by a half-game (3-0-1).

O'Shea tallied five goals and Fred Seyedjafari added another in Schoolcraft's 6-0 triumph over Lakeland (Ohio) Community College. The Ocelots enjoyed a 5-0 halftime lead.

"Our goalie Russell Gans kept us in the game the first 15 minutes," said Christoff.

Schoolcraft then dumped Wayne State University, 9-0, as O'Shea scored four times. Pat McFarland added two markers and teammates Craig Martin, Matthew Barret and Barry Dethrage scored one each.

Learning through games

In today's electronic world, does a student require a computer to polish math skills?

Dr. Donald Buckeye, a math professor at Eastern Michigan University and owner of the Teacher's Shoppe in Ypsilanti, will present a workshop to parents and educators on the value of toys and games as learning tools.

The workshop will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday, Nov. 12, in the cafeteria of Pioneer Middle School. The workshop is being sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented (PCAAT).

Dr. Buckeye's program will include suggestions appropriate to a broad range of levels, interests, and ages of children.

His general guidelines for evaluating toys and games allow his listeners the luxury of choosing gifts which increase skill and deepens understandings while providing hours of leisure activity.

Buckeye will make specific recommendations for merchandise available in retail stores, particularly those items which incorporate math concepts.

Housewife sells 'glass plate' for $40; worth $1,800

NILES, Ill. — The story of a small fortune, lost because a housewife had no idea her glass plate was a collector's item, recently came to light.

In a letter to J. R. MacArthur, chairman of the Bradford Exchange, world's largest trading center in collector's plates, a Madison, Wis., woman wrote: "I had a Lalique 1965 plate... which I sold to a friend for $40. I had not heard of you at that time."

The plate she sold is actually valued at more than $1,800. Although MacArthur points out that this price is exceptionally high, he said, "I'm afraid others may be losing hundreds or thousands of dollars by not knowing what their plates are worth."

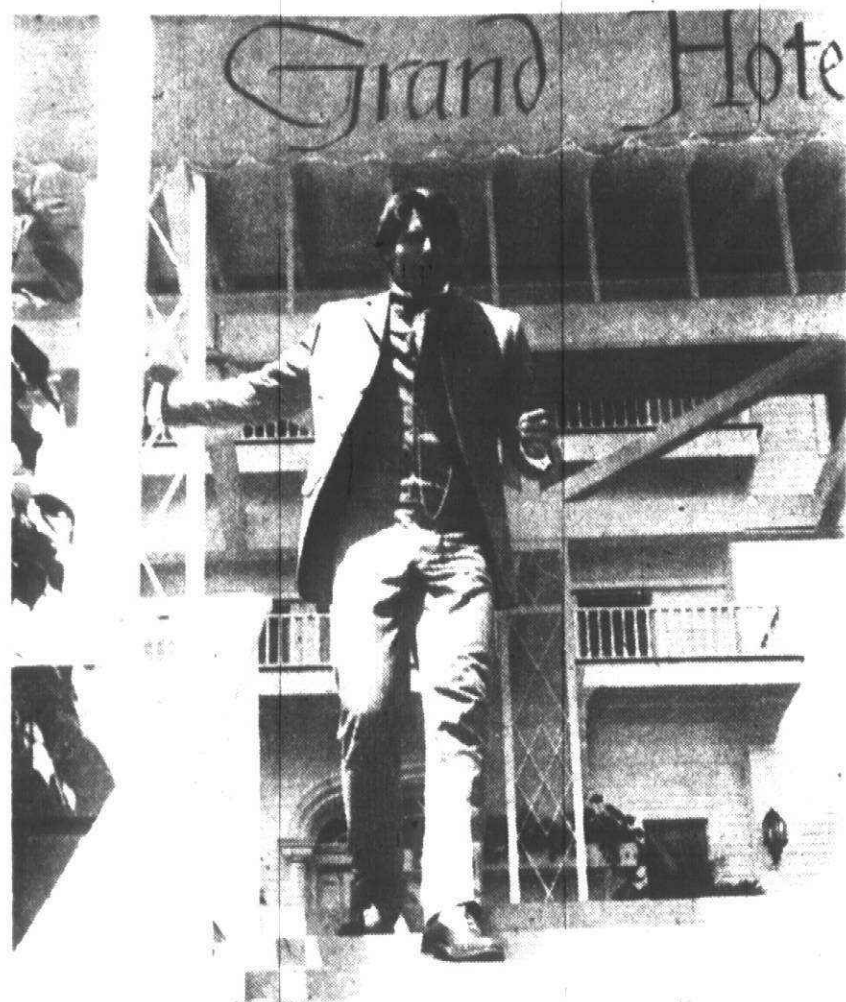

To aid in identifying valuable plates, the exchange issues a report that includes current prices on more than 900 plates, guidelines on what to look for and when to buy, and the plate evaluation checklist used by the exchange.

To obtain a copy without cost or obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code before Saturday of next week to: The Bradford Exchange, Dept. A39843, 9301 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles, IL 60648. A postcard will do.

Richard (Christopher Reeve) sees Elise, in a scene from "Somewhere in Time."

Mackinac Island provides setting for gimmickry

Somehow, someplace, someone must have had an idea. It was expanded, it was embellished, but since it wasn't much of an idea to begin with, it wasn't much of an idea dressed up as "Somewhere in Time" (PG).

What might have been an entertaining 30-minute "Twilight Zone" drama has been inflated into a full-length film. In fact, it takes more than 30 minutes just for the hero to go back in time, which is the gimmick that is the basis for the story.

Location shooting for "Somewhere in Time" was done on Mackinac Island, in and around the Grand Hotel, but the film hardly comes close to matching the grandeur of that old establishment.

The male lead, Christopher Reeve, impulsively takes off for an impromptu vacation, after a broken romance.

HE DRIVES (yes, drives) to Mackinac Island where he checks into the Grand. Strolling around the lobby, he looks into a room with historical memorabilia and falls in love with the portrait of an actress (Jane Seymour) famous in 1912.

After a bit of research on time travel, he buys a suit of period clothes, divests himself of objects belonging to the present and by sheer force of mind goes back through time almost 70 years.

Here the film is at its best with its restoration of the era. It captures the niceties and subtleties of the furnishings, costumes, manners and, of course, the beauty of the location, which hasn't changed that much through the years. The autos, thankfully, are replaced by horses and buggies.

The time travel, however, hasn't been as kind to Reeve. Looking silly in a derby and constricted in his suit, he gallumphs about searching for the woman in the portrait, with a clumsiness that is more doltish than charming.

Reeve is not the only problem. The dull script (by Richard Matheson, who wrote the novel) and the turgid direction by Jean-Yves Escoffier (he did "Jaws II") must share responsibility for the way this film strains for a light touch — which it never finds.

NOR DOES THIS film ever find anything for people to say to each other. Even Federal aid wouldn't help the impoverished dialogue. Here are some examples.

A producer asks Reeve, a playwright, when the play he is writing will be finished.

Reeve: "I don't know."

Producer: "My God! Don't you know people are waiting for this?"

Reeve is about to kiss Jane Seymour.

Seymour: "My God!"

Hotel manager and attendant find Reeve ill.

One of them cries: "My God!"

Maybe they're waiting for an appearance by George Burns. Who knows?

Through all this, Seymour gamely makes the most of her role. She has a classy, romantic aura about her that catches the spirit of the original story, even if the movie doesn't.

what's at the movies

AIRPLANE (PG). A picture that takes off. This spoof of all those "Airport" movies is one of the zaniest films around.

BRUBAKER (R). Serious drama with Robert Redford as reform warden fighting corruption on state prison farm.

DIVINE MADNESS (R). Energetic and electrifying Bette Midler in film version of the Broadway show.

DRESSED TO KILL (R). Horny murder mystery with more than a passing resemblance to Hitchcock's "Psycho."

THE EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (PG). "Star Wars" sequel unites original cast in continuation of battle against the evil empire.

THE GREAT SANTINI (PG.) Robert Duvall as Air Force pilot and dominating father in strong story of family conflict and love.

IN GOD WE TRUST (PG). Marty Feldman in slapstick fable about innocent monk's initiation into worldly ways.

HOPSCOTCH (R). Chemistry of Matthau/Jackson pairing works again, but we don't see them together often enough in this halfway humorous (first half) film.

OH, GOD! BOOK II (PG). Humorous low-key film about two teenage boys of different backgrounds who join forces to put down school bully.

ORDINARY PEOPLE (R). Robert Redford's directorial debut is a smash in this extraordinarily well-acted, moving film about a "perfect" family trying to cope with a son's mental illness.

PRIVATE BENJAMIN (R). Goldie Hawn joins the army to escape and find herself.

SOMEWHERE IN TIME (PG). Romance with Christopher Reeve and Jane Seymour.

Young man falls in love with portrait of a beautiful woman and goes back in time to find her.

STARDUST MEMORIES (PG). Funny, sad film about what it's like to be Woody Allen (Sandy Bates in this movie). Allen joins ranks of directors who've made movies about themselves making movies.

Jethro Tull returns with new players

By NICK CHARLES

The pied piper of rock, Ian Anderson, will lead the merry men of Jethro Tull at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Cobo Arena in Detroit. Anderson and his group will feature the music of their latest Chrysalis release, "A."

Anderson's group members have changed since his last album, "Stormwatch." Drummer Barriemore Barlow has been replaced by Los Angeles drummer Mark Craney, keyboardist John Evan has been replaced by keyboardist and electric violinist Eddie Jobson from the group U.K.

Martin Barre, who joined Anderson on Tull's second album, "Stand Up," still remains, and guitarist Dave Pegg, who joined the group last year, completes the new line-up.

Anderson is by far one of the most intelligent composers in the popular music scene today. Born in 1947 in Edinburgh, of Scottish descent, he has been the nucleus of Jethro Tull since its start in 1968.

JETHRO TULL will play most of "A" since the point of a tour is to promote the newest recording. Anderson assures that the group also will play the older songs, too.

The album deals with both politics and society's outlook on everything from "Uniforms" to toys and four-wheel-drive cars. Side one of the L.P. seems to be more commercial, easily understood and enjoyable than its second side.

First song on the first side is "Crossfire," which is fantastic both lyrically and musically. It sounds like Jethro Tull has always sounded but a little more up to date.

Anderson said its concept comes from the Iranian Embassy siege. This verse from the song explains its political quality: "Caught in the crossfire on Princess Gate Avenue/In go the windows and out go the lights/Call me a doctor. Fetch me a policeman/I'm down on the floor in one hell of a fight."

"Flyingdale Flyer" further convinces this listener that this is the best Jethro Tull album ever. The tight vocal harmonies blend with the music and lyrics like a hand in glove.

The song continues the concept of "A." In it the Americans think "the Russians had provoked an attack."

THE SONG "Working John, Working Joe" is probably one of the most commercial songs on the album. Since the song was written three years ago, it sounds more like old Tull than the others.

Its theme deals with white- and blue-collar workers. The intricate lyrics of "Black Sunday" tell a simple and common fear of leaving for work wondering if things will be the same when you come back as when you left.

The song "Protect and Survive" was taken from a "government pamphlet of the same name which describes what to do in the event of a nuclear attack," Anderson said in a recent interview.

The song, even though written ingeniously, is somewhat lacking in excitement compared to the others.

The fast-paced Japanese-like "Batteries Not Included," which also appears on the second side, tells the story of a boy who wakes up on Christmas morning to find his new toy has no batteries. By the time his parents wake up he has come to like the toy without the batteries. The song features Anderson's son Jamie in his recording debut.

THE ALBUM also contains an instrumental called "The Pine Martin's Jig," which sounds just like its name. It's a danceable flute, jug and fiddle song occasionally interrupted by a pleasant modern-day electric guitar.

Some of the best songs are those that mean a little something different to each listener. The heavenly "And Further On" is a perfect example of this. Even though the album was supposed to be a solo effort for Anderson, he says he thinks the new members have made it more a group effort than any other Jethro Tull album ever recorded.

Comedy opening Thursday

The Garden City Civic Theatre will present a political comedy, "The Girls in 509" next week.

Performances are at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

The play will be performed at O'Leary Auditorium, adjacent to East High School, 6500 Middlebelt. The show is directed by John Elliott.

Cast members are Renne Hayden, Jo Hubbard, Tashi Georgoff, Bill Belcher, Eileen Anderson, Glenn Blankenship, Lewis Sequin, Jeanne Horvath, Carol Nagy, John Ameser, and Tony Nichols.

Tickets will be available at the door. Persons interested in group sales may call 421-7420 after 5 p.m.

Dinner play next month at college

The Schoolcraft College Players will perform the Neil Simon comedy "Come Blow Your Horn" for their fall dinner theater production Nov. 14, 15, 21 and 22.

The comedy, Simon's first full-length play, involves Harry Baker, owner of a wax fruit plant, who has two sons — one a playboy and the other a youngster with an urge to get away from his parents. The father, hoping they will marry and settle down, calls them bums.

The buffet dinner includes baked chicken, mostaccioli with meat sauce and baked ham, potato, vegetable, cold meats and cheeses, salad, torte and coffee, tea or milk.

Dinner is served at 6:30 p.m., followed by an 8 p.m. performance in the Waterman Campus Center. Tickets are $10 and must be purchased in advance at the college bookstore.

For more information, call 591-6400, ext. 265. The college is on Haggerty north of Six Mile Road.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES can be fun!

So this year it's your turn to make sure your company's Christmas party is a joyeux Noel affair! If you haven't begun to think about it yet, let us think about it for you. Let us gift wrap your Christmas party.

We'll take care of all the details. Like Santa Claus and the Christmas tree for parties over 300. No group is too large or too small.

Just call Canice Leston at 879-2100 and we'll go right to work on the best Christmas party you ever had. And you can take all the credit.

TODAY'S BEAUTIFUL MUSIC

LATE NIGHT Dining

Sip and Sup Among the Stars

Top off the evening with your favorite from the Top's new late night menu. Nibble on select cheeses and fresh fruit, sample hot seafood hors d'oeuvres, savor sumptuous strawberry shortcake. Ice cream drinks and special coffees, too. What a tasty way to end the evening.

"My business was going great.

I even got to where I didn't have to advertise.

Then...I don't know what went wrong."

But we know what went wrong, don't we? A business can never outgrow the need to advertise. A successful businessman advertises differently than one who is just beginning, but it is necessary to keep the company name always before the buyers.

Even in a recession, the smart businessman keeps his customers by advertising aggressively and often he takes customers away from the timid competitor who cuts his advertising budget during bad times.
