Schools petition state for property tax relief

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education has asked the Michigan Legislature to make property-tax relief its first priority.

The board officially made that request Monday night.

The school board, in a resolution, urged state lawmakers representing the school district's area to begin a study aimed at coming up with meaningful tax reform.

One of the lawmakers to whom the appeal is being made is Rep. Roy Smith, R-Saline, who co-authored with Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, the Proposal A or Smith-Bullard plan.

Carol Davis, school board president, expressed her appreciation that Plymouth-Canton residents had voted against all three statewide tax proposals on the Nov. 4 ballot. (The school board had officially recommended a "no" vote on all three.)

Mrs. Davis said board members realize that residents weren't voting against property tax relief when they voted "no" on the three proposals.

She added that most residents want their property tax decreased but also want to maintain sound educational programs.

Trustee $teve Harper said he felt most residents really want a reduction in the total level of spending by all governmental units in Michigan.

Proposals A and C were tax shifts, Harper said, and did not affect total governmental spending. "What people want is a decrease in total governmental spending and that's what we should urge our lawmakers to work on," he

Trustee Sylvia Stetz, though, said the school board should remain "the protector of our children and make sure that the same amount of money continues to come into education."

JOHN HOBEN, superintendent of schools, said that the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation (MAISL) has undertaken a major effort to come up with a new state aid act to finance schools in a better manbelieve the state is spending too much

"With three proposals on the ballot it was mathematically certain all three would fail," he said. "If most people voted 'yes' on one proposal and 'no' on the other two, then all three were bound to fail. If there were only two proposals on the ballot, though, I feel Tisch would have passed for sure."

The board resolution expresses the district's "deep concern over the fi-

In fighting to eliminate an ever-increasing county deficit, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners' Ways and Means Committee Monday night dropped a potential bombshell.

Proposed is the cutting off from outcounty communities services from the county's sheriff's department.

The recommendation, reached at budget sessions ending Monday, calls for eliminating road patrols of secondary highways and parks, closing the sheriff's detective bureau, eliminating the sheriff's marine division, and cutting communication functions.

The proposed cutoff would most affect communities like Plymouth Township which contract with the road patrol for police protection. The commissioners' action would mean the almost However, Cox would not guess on the amount of law enforcement work handled locally by the road patrol. The Sheriff's Department does not classify complaints according to community.

Cox says the Michigan State Police periodically sends reports on the activity of various law enforcement agencies in each community. He last received such a report a year ago. Cox recalls that the road patrol's activity in Canton was minimal.

"BUT UNDOUBTEDLY, it will increase our workload to some degree, he said of the possible elimination of the road patrol. "It will have a spinoff effect."

Traffic enforcement - one of the road patrol's primary functions in Canton — is one area which township police often overlook out of necessity, Cox says. The department, established in 1976, lacks the personnel for stringent traffic law enforcement.

State rules for 5 lanes—again

Supervisor-elect James Poole was scheduled to be in Lansing this week to lobby for the institution of a boulevard on Ford Road between Sheldon and

Poole says he hopes to change the minds of state officials who are recommending that Ford Road be widened to five lanes to ease traffic congestion. Township officials contend that a boulevard - though more costly would be safer and more efficient.

A state transportation review board Oct. 21 recommended the five-lane widening plan to the Transportation Commission, said Township Planner James Kosteva.

The commission is expected to decide which way the plan will be implemented "sometime in November," said

Cost estimates drawn up in 1979 call for a cost of $1.2 million to widen Ford Road to five lanes, said Kosteva. That compares to $2.3 million for a boule-

"A BOULEVARD would improve safety conditions (for) pedestrians and bike (traffic)," said Kosteva. "It would be safer than a five- or seven-lane (road)."

Kosteva also said there would be a lower level of carbon monoxide fumes and fewer "turning conflicts" with a

"A boulevard wouldn't reach its traffic-volume capacity until (the year) 2000," added Kosteva. "A five-lane would be at capacity immediately after the ribbon was cut.'

Current Supervisor Noel Culbert, whose term of office expires Nov. 20, views the project pessimistically.

"I don't think we really expect them to recommend the boulevard," said Culbert. "The state financial crunch has delayed everything. I think '81 is pie in the sky. "I won't be in office," added Culbert. "The township may wish to battle the ultimate decision.

IN FACT, the township has opposed a five-lane widening ever since the Ford Road improvement was proposed during the administration of then-Supervisor Harold Stein.

A boulevard plan is favored by the planning department, planning commission and township board.

Public hearings have been held on the subject. And in August 1979, the township board drafted a resolution to be sent to the state highway department, Kosteva said.

New officials face swearing-in

The public is invited to a swearing-in ceremony and open house at Township Hall at 7 p.m. Nov. 20.

Also being sworn in will be newly tions called for bids to be let in 1981 elected township trustees Robert

Library trustees will be Katherine Baldrica, Mary Feltz, James Gillig,

ALL terms are four years. Swearing in the new officials will be 35th District Court Judges Dunbar Davis and James Garber. Performing the invocation will be the Rev. Kenneth F. Gruebel of Geneva United Presbyterian Church in Canton.

Voters anchor split tickets with GOP weight

By DARLENE STINSON

The outcome of last week's election leaves little doubt that many Cantonites are disillusioned with Democrats.

They elected a predominately Republican Township Board for the first time in at least 15 years. They gave Ronald Reagan a 2-1 voter edge over President Jimmy Carter as well as victory in all 17 precincts. Only three Democrats won election to the seven-person Township Board, including Clerk John Flodin who sought re-election unopposed. As the election results came in on Nov. 4, several observers theorized that the poor showing of local Democrats was due to an unusually high number of straight Republican

Incumbent Supervisor Noel Culbert, a Democrat who lost his job to a Republican, attributed part of the reason for his defeat to strong anti-Carter sentiment. Democrats have

analysis

held' the supervisor's office since

But despite a heavy outpouring of votes for Republicans, Cantonites seemed to opt for split tickets on

In precinct three, for example, Reagan collected 355 votes compared to Carter's 250. But six Democratic Township Board candidates including Flodin — also carried that precinct which covers Holiday Park subdivision. They were Culbert with 322 votes; victorious treasurer candidate Maria Falkiewicz with 310 victorious trustee candidate Carol Bodenmiller with 303; losing trusee candidate Mary Dingeldey with 299; and losing trustee candidate Gary Roberts with 268.

CLERK FLODIN, who has supervised local elections since 1956, points to the 15th District Congressional race as the one shred of evidence that some Cantonites may have voted straight Republican.

Incumbent Rep. William Ford, a Democrat, carried Canton in his successful bid for a return to Washington.

But Gerald Carlson, Ford's Republican opponent, mustered what Flodin called an "unbelievable" number of Canton votes — 6,101 to Ford's 9,100. Carlson is an admitted racist who ran on a platform of white supremacy.

In general, however, Flodin believes Cantonites resisted straight party voting Nov. 4. He believes residents always have voted independently, despite a traditional weight of Democrats on the Township Board. Flodin said some boards which served during the late '50s and early '60s featured a Republican majority. Lou Stein 'no relation to former Democratic Supervisor Harold Stein) was Canton's last Republican supervisor. He left office in 1965.

The Republican Stein was followed in office by four Democratic supervisors — Phil Dingeldey, Robert Greenstein, Harold Stein and Culbert. Each of the latter three failed to win re-election after one term in office.

According to Flodin, Democrats predominated on the board during the administrations of the last four supervisors.

"But until recent years, there wasn't a lot of stress on political parties," said Flodin. "The law required (Township Board candidates) to commit themselves as a Democrat or Republican. But for the most part, the township was so small that everyone knew each other on a firstname basis.'

Years ago, many Democrat and Republican Township Board candidates crossed party lines to seek election as a slate, said Flodin.

ON NOV. 20, another Republican supervisor + James Poole - will step into Canton's top elective office. Three other Republicans -Robert Padget, Loren Bennett and Stephen Larson — will join Poole as trustees on the Township Board.

The only Democrats will be second-term Trustee Carol Bodenmiller, Flodin and treasurer-elect Maria Falkiewicz.

Poole won the top office Nov. 4 by collecting 50.7 percent of the vote. However, he failed to carry a majority of township precincts. Culbert won a vote majority in 10 precincts. Poole carried only seven.

Ms. Falkiewicz beat Republican James Kearney in the treasurer's race by winning 51 percent of the vote and carrying 12 of the township's 17 precincts.

Padget, the top vote-getter in the race for four trustee seats, gathered wide support from township voters. He carried all precincts except number 15 in the southeastern corner of Canton. Padget, current planning commission chairman, won the most trustee votes in 14 of the 17

Last Friday, the township board of canvassers certified the raw vote totals which were tallied late Nov. 4 and early Nov. 5. Trustee candidate Larry Bowerman, who placed seventh in the race, lost 10 votes as a result of the certification process. Flodin gained 21. All other vote totals remained the same, according to the clerk's Currently, Canton police rely on the back-up support of the Sheriff's Road Patrol and the Michigan State Police for traffic enforcement. The department has submitted an application for a $2.5 million state grant to establish its own traffic bureau.

Since taking over the police chief's job 11/2 years ago, Cox has requested additional funding of his department on several occasions. He has told the Township Board that his department is severely understaffed. Most of his requests for a beefed-up budget have been denied.

Grayson is charged with two counts of unauthorized driving away of an automobile (car theft), larceny in a building and breaking and entering.

Police believe Grayson is linked to the theft of two Oldsmobile cars and the purse of a Plymouth Salem school employee, and the break-in of four apartments in Canton. Plymouth Salem Principal Bill Brown said Grayson had been a student at the school until last Friday, when he voluntarily withdrew.

OFFICER JOHN MacDiarmid said Grayson first came to the attention of police after midnight on Nov. 4, when officers found a 1980 Oldsmobile Toronado on Haggerty south of Joy. The car was empty and had its emergency flashers operating.

McDiarmid said officers questioned Grayson, who was walking nearby. Later investigation showed that the car had been stolen two days earlier from a car-glazing firm in Washtenaw County. While that investigation continued, Grayson also was linked to two other incidents which occurred Nov. 4.

A Plymouth Salem school employee reported to police that her purse had been taken from a school office. The purse had contained keys to a 1973 Oldsmobile, which she also reported

THE SAME DAY, residents of Canterbury Mews apartment complex reported a suspicious vehicle. Investigating officers arrested Grayson nearby on Canterbury. He had been sleeping in the missing 1973 Oldsmobile.

Subsequent investigation showed that four apartments in Canterbury Mews had been burglarized. Taken were a small amount of money and a tape recorder, said MacDiarmid.

Car theft and breaking and entering are felony charges, punishable by five years in prison upon conviction. Larceny in a building is a 4-year felony.

admendments that could change the impact of the sheriff's cutbacks.

WHAT WOULD remain in the sheriff's department is the continued operation of both county jails, in Detroit and Westland, as well as courtroom duties.

The elimination of the road patrol and investigative work would involve 155 officers and civilian personnel. A staff of 350 would remain.

"The Supreme Court has ruled that the board of commissioners under the sheriff's union contract cannot lay off any personnel. So the only thing we can do is cut out the whole road patrol.

"There's only three townships in the county that don't have their own force now and if they want it then all the taxpayers in the county should not have to pay for this service.

"We've tried to solve this problem on previous court decisions as well as with the union in the past but we've

"I anticipate there's going to be some lawsuits on this at which time the court will have to decide.'

MEANWHILE, sheriff's spokesman Jim Akhtar said Sheriff William Lucas "would not stand for" the commissioners' decision.

While the county will be contacting local communities that have private contracts with the sheriff's department, such as Romulus and Plymouth Township, with a 60-day notice of their contracts' termination, the sheriff will be sending a different message to those communities.

"Sheriff Lucas has instructed me to ers may not eliminate his right to do so advise the townships that the sheriff does not intend to relinquish his responsibilities in providing police protection under the law," said Akhtar.

By Wednesday morning the sheriff and his top staff were meeting to determine "a course of action" in response to the commissioners' decision.

Judging from Akhtar's response, there appears to be a fight in the

"The sheriff's position is that he is required under the law and the constitution to provide law enforcement to the townships and the county," said Akhtar. "And the board of commissionby eliminating his funding. He is a constitutional officer, they are not."

Mrs. Dumas said that one of the hang-ups involved in continuing the service is the union's staffing clause, * which she says restricts the county ty at about $1.5-$2 million. from cutbacks.

"If we could change or eliminate the manning clause then we could continue part of the road patrol," she said. "However, the court has ruled that we can't go below certain safety manning levels.

Akhtar, who called the commissioners' action "union busting," believes the measure is not a major cost saver.

"The savings will be minimal to the county," he said. "The private contracts, themselves, bring in $350,000 and the state funds the secondary road patrol at $1.2 million annually." He estimates the savings to the coun-

Presently, the sheriff's department has private contracts with Plymouth Township, Romulus and Brownstown. In addition to those communities, it patrols the townships of Huron, Canton, Northville, Sumpter, Van Buren, as well as the the Hines Parkway, which extends from Dearborn to Northville.

The department's marine division also patrols Lake St. Claire, Lake Erie, Belleville Lake and the Detroit River.

Bus merger awaits talks with mayor

By TOM LONERGAN

The required merger of the city of Detroit's bus system with the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) is hung up at the desk of Mayor Coleman Young.

If an agreement isn't reached by Saturday, collection of the three-county mass transportation tax which provides SEMTA with $13.4 million of operating revenue will be suspended. The tax is an extra $2.50 on license plate registrations for Wayne, Oakland and Macomb County residents and an extra $6 on title transfers in the three counties. A Friday meeting of the SEMTA Board of Directors will be crucial because the Michigan Legislature has imposed a Nov. 15 deadline for a more specific merger agreement between the two parties. The previous deadline was April 15. The state created SEMTA in 1967 with the intention of having a single, unified public transportation in the region.

Pending a meeting with Young, the SEMTA board Tuesday delayed any further action on the merger until 1:30 p.m. Friday.

Tuesday's three-hour SEMTA board discussion of the merger, which included two hours closed to the public, ended in a stalemate.

"WE CAN'T negotiate an agreement between the city and SEMTA here," said William Cilluffo, Mayor Young's administrative aide and a Detroit representative to the SEMTA board.

"We're not empowered to reach an agreement binding the city," Cilluffo said. "That has to be done between the board and the mayor."

Key to the merger of SEMTA and the Detroit Department of Transportation (D-DOT) is state assumption of D-DOT's unfunded $81 million pension liability and guaranteed bus service for Detroit res-

THERE HAS apparently been little discussion of merger details between Young and SEMTA officials since November 1979. At that time, Young, Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, then-SEMTA board chairman, and Gov. William Milliken signed a memorandum of agreement that the two systems

Tuesday, SEMTA board members considered two merger proposals - one "for the purpose of making progress toward merger," the other "for the purpose of accomplishing merger."

The latter proposal, which was drafted Oct. 22, included such crucial items as reapportionment of the 15-member SEMTA board, fare structure and guarantees of service levels.

The less-specific proposal included a proviso that the details would be worked out by Jan. 20. But a number of SEMTA board members said the proposal was too weak to meet the state's mandate.

THE SEMTA board voted 8-5 to delay any merger action until Friday.

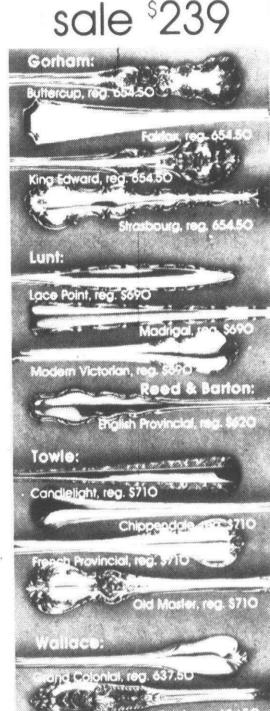

Opponents of that move included Oakland County Commissioner Paul Kasper, one of his county's three SEMTA representatives.

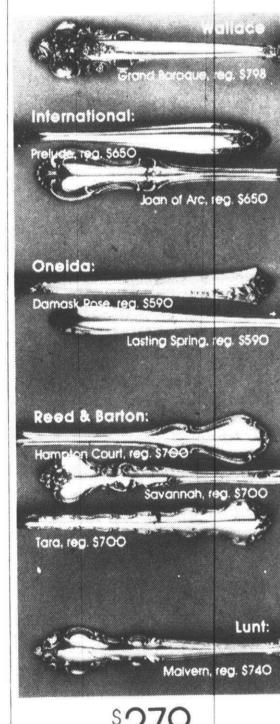

"I don't think there has been good faith shown on the part of the mayor," Kasper said.

Ladywood goes Williamsburg for craft fair

Ladywood High School in Livonia will be transformed into a miniature Williamsburg for the school's first fund-raiser craft sale 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

The show and sale, titled Peddlers' Square, will feature the wares of 102 artists and crafts people, a soup kitchen, a sweet shop and an early American atmosphere throughout the school on Newburgh between Five Mile and Schoolcraft.

The Williamsburg theme for the first craft event at Ladywood came with Betty Scharpf of Redford Township, former Virginia resident and current president of the sponsoring Mothers' Club. She is in charge of the show.

"I lived in Newport News for four years and just loved the atmosphere at Williamsburg," she said. "There's something very warm about its looking back feeling."

When plans for the art and craft show began to take shape, Mrs. Scharpf said, it was noted that a lot of the dealers coming in specialized in early American crafts. So came the decision to make that the theme.

FROM TINY BOWS festooning the trees that line the school's walkway to students appropriately dressed in colonial style garb, the place will have the aura of an earlier time.

The dresses that will be worn are fortuitously available, left over from a production of the musical "Oklahoma" put on by Ladywood's Thesbians Club a couple of years ago.

"The girls will wear white aprons and caps while they assist in the shops," said Mrs. Scharpf.

Among the craft booths will be exhibitors with quilting, basket weaving, painting on glass, porcelain painting, tinware, silk flower arrangments, crocheting, candlemaking and calico decorating, the president said.

The soup kitchen, offering chili and chicken soup with brown bread and butter, will be open 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Open throughout the show will be the sweet shop with doughnuts and coffee cake and beverages available.

"I just ordered 100 dozen doughnuts," she said. "That's a number hard for me

NO ADMISSION charge will be made of the 1,000 or more visitors expected, said Mrs. Schafpf.

"We want people to feel welcome and enjoy the event and spend their money on some of the beautiful wares we will have," she noted.

Besides the many items for sale, there will be a Williamsburg doll house on display and offered as a prize.

"It is being built by one of our fathers, Don Belanger," she said. "He's making it from a kit with 15,000 little pieces. He's a graphic arts director, and he is working four hours an evening to get it finished."

Working with Mrs. Scharpf as cochairman of Peddlar's Square is Aidan Broderick of Plymouth.

The committee also includes Rose Bagdady of Livonia, in charge of area.

Crime report highlights hike in property damage

The destruction of property in Plymouth Township increased by almost 80 percent in October over the previous month's figures. That is the highest incidence of this crime since Wayne County Sheriff's deputies began recording crime patterns here.

In October there were 49 reported cases of property destruction, up by 22 since September, when the then record high was 27 reports.

Sheriff William Lucas said "the dramatic increase" can be attributed, in part, to cases of vehicles being driven across residential lawns. Young adults and juveniles are involved in most of these incidents, he says.

"In those cases where arrests or positive indentification has been made they usually live in the immediate area where the incident occured," Lucas

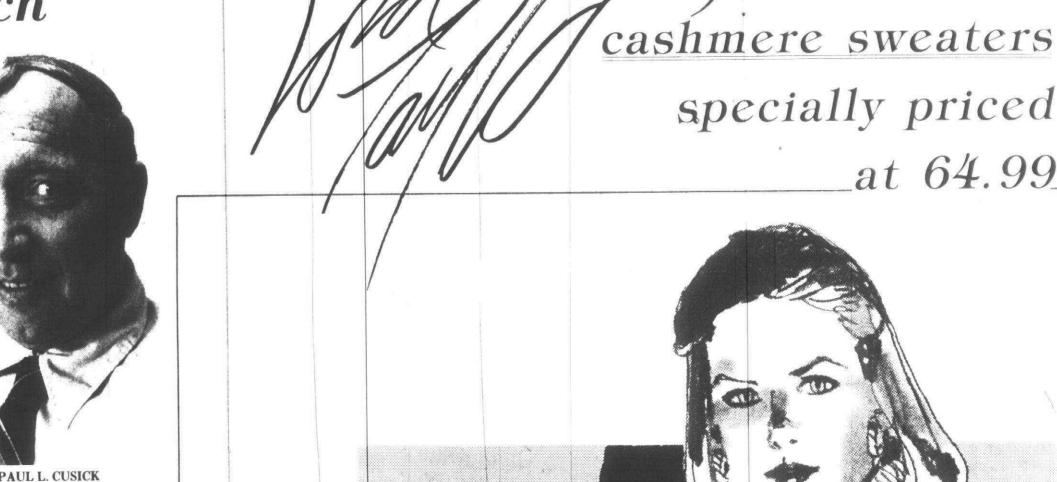

Since May, some 147 recorded cases of property destruction have been reported in the township.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS also were on the rise in October, up by almost 40 percent since September.

The 53 accidents reported in October led to one death and 10 injuries. Since May, 234 traffic accidents have been reported in Plymouth Township, 43 of which involved injury to motorists and passengers.

Other noted increases were found in larcenies from businesses, seven in October as compared to two in September, and 13 larcenies from homes in October as compared to seven in September. Larcenies from vehicles reached 26 reported cases last month, as compared to 16 in September. Since May there were 181 reported larcenies from vehicles, homes and businesses.

There were 2,541 total complaints logged since May, 584 of which were reported in October.

By W.W. EDGAR Jerry Holden settled in a chair in his office on West Pearl Street, his face wreathed with smiles as he related how an idea he had 16 years to improve his tional business. "I was born up in Caro, which is good pheasant hunting country and have had a gun in my hands since I was five years old. I have been hunting since I was 12, but I was never satsifsied with the sights on my rifle.

hunting rifle had grown in to a interna-

"I had an idea of what I needed, but I couldn't find it. I searched all over the country. But what I wanted wasn't to be found anywhere.

Then he chuckled and asked, 'So, what do you think I did?"

Without waiting for an answer he said, "I made my own."

And that's how the J. B. Holden Co. came about and has been a boon to hunters ever since.

What Holden developed is what he calls the original ironsighter used mainly for close targets. The seethrough scope that has been used for years is fine for long range targets but not so good when the target is up close. So he developed the ironsighter.

Holden picked up his favorite gun and demonstrated how the ironsighter is an aid to the scope and makes hunting game all the more enjoyable.

Oftimes the targets at close range become blurred. The ironsighter brings out a plain view by a simple turn of the head. More than that, especially in the late Fall, the ironsighter is helpful in rain and snow."

While Holden has lived with hunting rifle most of his life he did take time out for three years (from 1960 to 1963) to serve as a ticket agent for American Air Lines. And he also went to Michigan Tech in Houghton.

But when the idea came to him back in 1964 he spent most of his time in manufacturing the ironsighter.

"I started in the basement and by calling on many of the sporting goods stores I covered as a salesman for Morley Bros. company in Saginaw, I managed to build up a customer list.

He came to Plymouth in 1966 and rented office space and a little side room to work in and the DSI division of Adistra packaged them for delivery.

Finally, in 1975 Holden and his company moved to the site on West Pearl

Street and expanded to the point where the firm is now known virtually world " At the moment we have customers in such such places as Australia, England. Spain, Ireland the Army posts in

And it all came about because he was able to build for himself what he couldn't find on the market.

Travel series focuses on King Arthur's Britain

"King Arthur's Britain" is the topic of Wednesday's travelogue presentation, the second program of the Travel and Adventure Series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

Jim McDonald will present the travelogue, which begins at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 19, in the auditorum of Plymouth Salem High on Joy Road just west of Canton Center Road.

McDonald has attended the School of Cinematography at the University of Southern California and San Francisco State College and earned a bachelor's degree in journalism from San Francis-

An experienced mountain climber and sailor, McDonald has participated in many climbing expeditions - notably to the Karakoram Himalayas. He has sailed his own boat through the rivers and canals of France and on the Sea of Cortez. He also has served in the Danish Merchant Marine.

For his film "King Arthur's Britain," McDonald visited England for the fifth time. Traveling 2,000 miles, he attempted to capture on film the land as it looked to King Arthur - the real Camelot and the real Avalon.

The film allows viewers to have a quiet Dorset Tea at Cerne Abbas before searching for the "monster," to participate in a 900-year-old fair at Marazion, which is the oldest town in England, to explore Merlin's cave at Tintagel (Arthur's legendary birthplace) and to experience the greatness of Roman Brit-

Regarding the Chuck Childs letter in your Oct. 30 edition and the editorial opinion on Nov. 6 concerning the marching band and the lack of courage to sign a name is more than the public should take.

Reader objects to KKK costume

Editor:

The day after Halloween, a neighbor boy brought a hat he had found in his driveway over to our house.

It was a cone-shaped hat covered with white cloth. On the front it had "KKK" lettered out in red.

While it may be somewhat understandable for a child reading about the Klan in Detroit, Livonia and elsewhere around the country to think that it would be a good Halloween costume, what where the parents of this child thinking of? Why would these parents deliberately want their child to insult blacks, Jews, Irish, Italians, etc., who have been the target of the Klan terror for more than 100 years?

Have we become so callous a society that we think that this scum of our country is cute and worthy of emulation by our young?

Recently, the UAW Local 600, through rank and file pressure, were able to have two foremen removed from the Ford Rouge complex, who also thought that these KKK hats were cute and wore them at the Dearborn Assembly Plant.

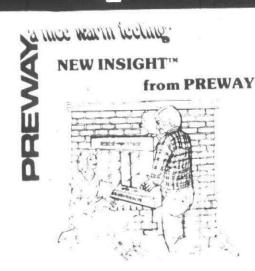

It is no wonder that the Klan/Nazi scum think they can march in Detroit, Livonia and elsewhere around the country.

We must make it clear that not only aren't these terrorist groups cute, they must also be outcast from our society.

Ignorant few bring mark of shame to area

Ignorance once again has reared its ugly head.

Weeks before five mentally retarded adults were scheduled to move into a $100,000 home near 14 Mile and Farmington roads, a very sick human being, taking great care to make sure every room was filled with a trail of gasoline, set the house on Neighborhood paranoia over an 'uncontrollable unit' moving in erupted in smoke along with the dreams of the five adults who would have lived there with supervision from the state.

The fate of those five persons is uncertain. They probably will continue to live in institutions because there is no other place for them

Earlier this fall, gunshots were fired on two separate occasions into another vacant home slated for the retarded. That home was in Canton Township. A similar incident occured in Troy last year.

The actions of a few sick individuals reflect on the whole community.

A college student phoned the Observer recently to talk about the incident in Farmington Hills.

"I don't even want to admit I'm from Farmington Hills any more," she said.

It's hard to comprehend that a prosperous community of supposedly enlightened, educated residents also could be the scene of such barbaric ac-

THE ACTION of the arsonist is uglier than racial prejudice. Blacks can fight a cross burning with reason and intelligence. Mentally retarded persons aren't equipped with the same devices of self defense. They are totally dependent on society for compassion and understanding.

Mental retardation often becomes jumbled in some minds with mental illness. Residents conjure images of psychopathic maniacs rampaging through their neighborhoods. This image couldn't be further from the truth.

Living in a neighborhood that includes a group home for six retarded adults, a neighborhood vibrant with healthy young children, I have watched

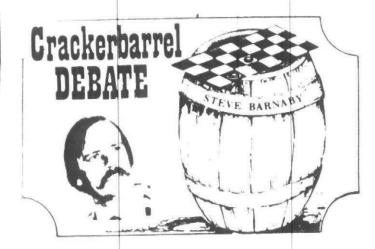

Some of those retarded residents are the friendliest strangers I have ever met, greeting neighbors with outstretched hands and warm smiles. The children aren't stifled or threatened by their presence.

Ignorance is the only stifling factor. People must learn to overcome an age-old fear of being frightened of what they don't understand.

In the current popular movie 'Elephant Man,' John Merrick (the elephant man) suffers from a physical disease, but the analogy still applies. Beneath his grotesque exterior is a sensitive, intelligent human being. Based on a true story, Merrick spent most of his life in a carnival freak show before he was liberated by a London physician in turn-of-the-century England

Tragically, that attitude hasn't changed much in 100 years. Human dignity still proves to be a rarely acquired privilege for those who are different. That was proved this week in Farmington Hills.

Milliken vs. Headlee-'82 brawl

Ding ding ding ding. Ladies and gentlemen. In this corner we have conservative Republican Richard Headlee, hero of Michigan tax haters and those who believe in that Mother Goose fairy tale, the American dream.

In the opposing corner is Republican moderate Gov. William Milliken, master of bipartisan coalition politics. His boyish face has made him the public's darling. His bare-knuckles political fighting style has made him governor for 12 years.

And so it will go. No sooner has one political campaign ended than the next one begins. Last week Milliken launched the 1982 political season with a verbal left jab directed at Headlee.

"One of the mistakes I think I made was in appointing Mr. Headlee to the Oakland University board," said Milliken, who is upset with Headlee for supporting the recently defeated Tisch tax proposal.

HEADLEE, WHO has his eye on the governor's chair, countered with a jab of his own.

"You either belong to his Republican fan club or you're out. Well, I don't fit into his club," said the Farmington Hills insurance executive.

No kidding.

In truth, Headlee is the member of only one fan club - his own. He is founder, chief executive officer and public relations spokesman.

His club's first major promotion was to create some two-bit tax proposal. It was incorporated into Michigan's Constitution back in 1978 after a confusing and deceptive public relations campaign which promised the world to property owners but delivered very little.

 To reassure voters his heart was in the right spot, Headlee endorsed the irresponsible Tisch proposal this year. No sense is keeping your name out of the political limelight, especially when you have your eye on Lansing's top political job.

Headlee, of course, denies such base desires. After all, his scenario through the years has been to make elected officials look like the bad guys.

MILLIKEN KNOWS better and wants to nip Headlee's political ambitions in the bud. Thus the campaign to discredit him.

Headlee has countered with some baloney about infringement of his first amendment rights because of his recent vote as an Oakland University trustee.

The board majority voted to disavow Tisch. Headlee disavowed the disavowal, claiming an anti-Tisch stand would politicize the OU board.

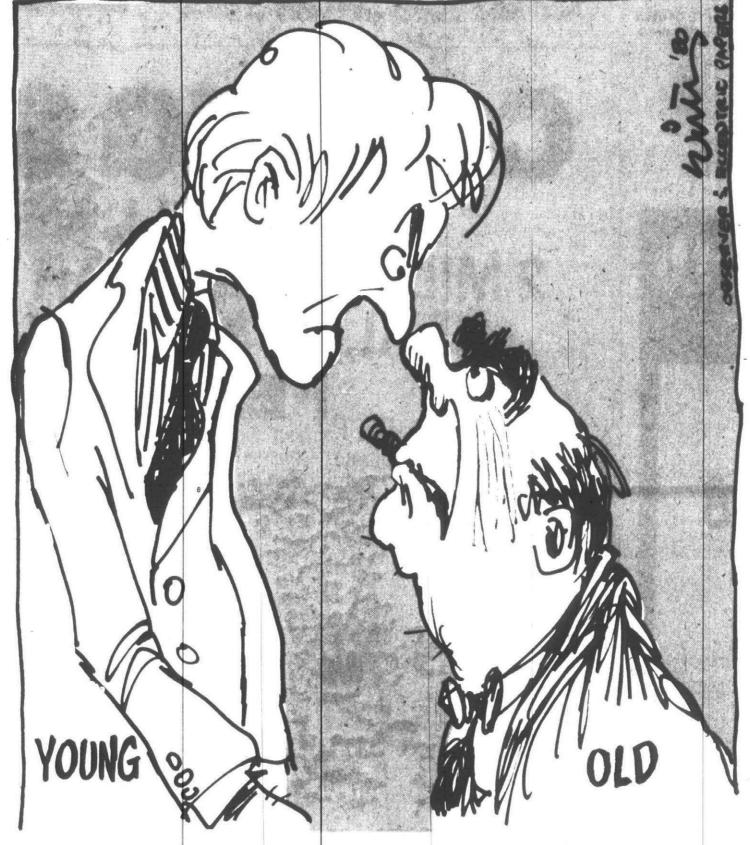

Now don't get me wrong. Headlee's a personable guy. He's even a pretty good businessman, having resurrected the Alexander Hamilton Insurance Co. from economic ruin.

But when it comes to politics, Headlee's words haven't jibed with his actions. Undoubtedly, he will run either for governor or the U.S. Senate in

First, of course, he will have to find an excuse to remove his cloak of populist piety. I can hear him

"The career politicians in this state have acted irresponsibly. Your tax dollar is the milk of the professional politician. I, as a citizen-politician, will save you from these money grubbers."

The words may not be exact, but betcha I'm odarned close Right, Citizen Headlee?

When football was small-time

Each Sunday during the Fall when as many as 80,000 sport fans gather in the Silverdome to watch the Lions do battle, The $troller can't help recalling the days of Jimmy Conzelman who wrote one of the most unusual chapters in the history of pro football

You may not recall his name. In fact, The Stroller hasn't heard of him for years and doesn't know if he is still among the living. If he is, Jimmy must be laughing as he recalls his career as owner of a team he called the Detroit Panthers. The club played at Navin Field (now Tiger Stadium) before a mere handful of folks on those cold Sunday afternoons.

Conzelman would be smiling because he once sold what is now one of the richest franchises in the National Football League for a mere $50 and thought he made a good deal.

He would be smiling by comparing his experience with that of William Clay Ford, the owner of the Lions who paid $6 million for the team several years ago. And when Jimmy looked at the figures and saw crowds of 80,000 with approximately $340,000 taken in each week at the concession stands, he'd break out in a laugh.

TO THOSE WHO don't recall the name Conzelman, he was the star quarterback at St. Louis University a bit more than half a century ago and was rated All-America caliber.

Upon graduation, he turned to pro football, organized a team he called the Panthers, took up residence in Detroit and placed the team in the pro league.

Jimmy was an ambitious fellow. He not only owned the team but played quarterback while serving as coach, general manager and director of pub-

In these roles he often ventured into the sports room at the Free Press where The Stroller then spent his working hours. A delightful fellow, well met, Jimmy was a good story teller and we always looked forward to his visits. He was always good for a laugh until Sundays. Then he would look over the meager gathering and frown. The few who were there walked along the sidelines and didn't even go near the seats.

ONE NIGHT as Jimmy was talking of the small attendance at the games, he offered this cure: "I am going to get a good local player and build around him. I think that will help boost the crowds." It was the year that Tom Edwards, a good tackle, graduated from the University of Michigan. Jimmy sought him and signed him. His hopes now brightened both for himself and the team.

When the next season opened and Edwards was given a place on the front line as a tackle, Jimmy had high hopes. To be sure, the team was stronger and played much better football.

But things didn't work out as expected at the

"Our attendance improved," Jimmy always chuckled when relating the story. "We had one more spectator - Tom Edwards' father - and he got in on a pass."

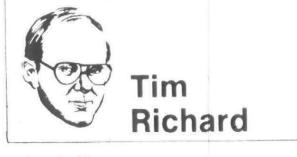

FINALLY, JIMMY could stand it no longer. He offered the team and franchise back to the league for $50 and was delighted when the offer was accepted.

What is so unusual about the great change that has taken place?

William Clay Ford paid $6 million for the team that now draws crowds of close to 80,000 at $10 per person. Of this amount he pays $1.50 of each admission to the Silverdome and he gets 78 percent of all concessions. He also gets more than $1 million for television rights.

And just think — that's the franchise that Jimmy

Conzelman sold for $50.

Old vs. young: political war in many fields

The best column I have seen on the 1980 elections in Michigan appeared on our op-ed page Nov. 6. It was by the Rev. Lloyd Buss of Rochester, and you should look it up and re-read it.

He observed that the majority of those over age 62 favored tax plans that would exempt themselves from school taxes. In effect, they wanted to opt out

And in a series of what-if questions, he asked: "If people over 62 did not want to support schools, would people under 62 want to be excluded from supporting Social Security?"

Buss touched on something that has been bothering me a long time. The conflict in our politics is not so much between Republicans and Democrats, or between developers and environmentalists, as it is between young and old.

THE TISCH proposal, which would have exempted persons over 62 from school property taxes, was just one manifestation of that generational

Twice in two elections, the voting majority has denied persons under 21 the legal right to drink. In part this may have been due to some honest voters falling for the strange statistics on drinking and driving conjured up by the antis. A more important reason, I suspect, is a desire by older folks to slap

I suspect the 1976 vote to ban throwaway beer and pop containers was as much an anti-young vote as it was a pro-environment vote. Not all older persons are environmentally clean, and not all young ones are litterbugs, of course, but there was an undeniable relationship between young folks' parties and the incidence of litter the morning afterwards.

THE HINES PARK controversy of the past two years is without question an old vs. young battle.

The efforts of community groups, political leaders and law enforcement officers have been aimed, almost indiscriminately, at hassling the daylights out of the under-25 crowd, whether they were guilty of anything or not. That, at least, was the impression of our Wayne County news staff after interviewing all sides and cutting through the statistical

A few years ago, we ran a series on crime in which Oakland University sociologist Jesse Pitts observed that it was largely the work of the young. What reformed men who had run afoul of the law was not so much the penal system or preaching but simply adding on a few years and wanting to keep the love of a good woman.

Thus, as I interpret it, the "war on crime" may be another chapter in the battle of old vs. young.

CONGRESSMAN Carl Pursell, re-elected in the 2nd District last week, made an astute observation which I hope he won't mind my quoting in this con-

The two parties in Congress, he said, are not the Republican and Democratic but the older members and the younger members. The older members get locked into their committee work and develop blinders toward large-scale phenomena. Republican Pursell seems himself and a young Democrat like Bill Brodhead as having more in common with each other than with older members of their re-

Finally, I must return to the phenomenon of suburban big-lot zoning, strident opposition to apartments, nearly total lack of mobile home parks and success at pricing young couples out of the housing

Buss sees the reason for this antipathy as the failure of young and old to play games together, hence the failure to communicate and to share dreams. If he is right, then it will take us a full generation to end this battle, even if we reformed the toy catalogs tomorrow.

"Lift small loads more often. Use a short shovel with a small scoop," advises Dr. Franklin, to lessen the danger of a winter killer.

Why snow shoveling is a killer

Question: Why is snow shoveling considered particularly dangerous for persons with a history of, or a high risk for, heart disease? Can the potential dangers be reduced?

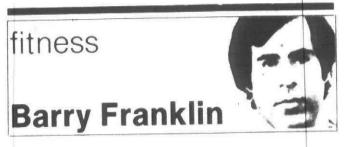

Aside from the simple hazards of frostbite and low back strains, snow shoveling can be deadly. During winter, news stories like this are common:

"Nine men from Cuyahoga County collapsed and died yesterday while clearing snow near their homes. The deaths brought to 13 the number of weather-related fatalities since frigid air and heavy snow slashed into northern Ohio Tuesday." (Cleveland Plain Dealer, December 1977)

The association between snow shoveling and heart attack or sudden death is no coincidence. Snow shoveling is an extremely strenuous activity, requiring seven to nine times the resting energy requirement for loads of 12 to 14 pounds.

For the person who is not physically fit and accustomed to strenuous activity, such an expenditure of energy may require maximal or supreme efforts.

THE STRAIN of snow shoveling is further aggravated by other factors. These include the reduced mechanical efficiency associated with upper extremity efforts, superimposed isometric (static) exercise, breath holding, inhalation of cold air and exposure to cold air.

These factors, singly and together, create a disproportionate heart rate and blood pressure response to effort. They drastically increase the demands of the heart for blood and oxygen.

In contrast to isotonic (rhythmic) exercise, isometric (non-rhythmic) straining — often in combination with breath holding - increases resistance to blood flow and restricts the amount of blood returned to the heart.

Finally, breathing cold air may may set off a reflex spasm or temporary narrowing of the heart's own blood vessels (coronary arteries). When coronary circulation is already narrowed, these manifestations may lead to ischemia (lack of oxygen to the heart muscle), perhaps with chest pain and/or irregular and possibly dangerous heart rhythm disturbances.

HERE ARE SEVERAL general and specific recommendations:

1. Elderly persons, those with a history of heart disease and those with a high risk of heart disease simply should not shovel snow. Get someone to do it

2. The older you are — particularly over age 40 - the more you need to pace yourself. Adopt an interval or work-rest approach.

3. Sudden strenuous exertion may result in excessive strain on the heart. Warm up by beginning to exercise gradually. It may be desirable to warm up indoors in some instances.

4. Lift small loads more often, rather than large

5. Use a short shovel with a small scoop.

6. Wear a mask for cold weather or scarf to avoid inhaling cold air and to protect the face and neck

7. Avoid large meals, coffee, tea, colas and other xanthine-containing beverages both before and af-

8. Abstain from alcohol and tobacco prior to shoveling and after shoveling.

9. Cut out and attach this label to your snow shovel: WARNING: Use of this instrument for snow removal may be hazardous to your health.

Rabbi Irwin Groner

Belief in 'fate' can rob us of will to try

What is the role of destiny in human affairs? Do the tides of fate carry along without consulting us and without asking our leave?

I meet people all the time who say, "Rabbi, I'm a born fatalist. I believe that what will be will be, and that when my number is up, I'll go.'

I have come to believe that there are more fatalists in America than there are Republicans and Democrats. When challenged, these people cite incident after incident to support their belief.

I ONCE READ a story called "Why the Choir Was Late." One evening, in the town of Beatrice, Neb., a minister went to his church to get things ready for choir practice. He lit the furnace to take the chill off the church and went home to dinner.

The choir always arrived around 7:15, but at 7:10, when it was time for the minister to go back to the church with his wife and daughter, it turned out that his daughther's dress was soiled. They waited while his wife ironed another.

It also happened that all the members of the choir, for reasons trivial as "that of a soiled dress," a catnap, an unfinished letter, a geometry problem, a stalled car, were all late for their choir practice, something which had never happened before.

At 7:25, the church blew up. The furnace had exploded. Was this an act of God? Does this prove human destiny?

ALTHOUGH THIS feeling can be comforting and strengthening, it has a darker and more enervating

One of the most salient psychological facts of our time is that almost universal feeling that we have lost control of our lives, our future, our destiny. Despite our breathtaking triumphs in space technology and incredible feats in the transplantation of human organs, we have been beset by a pervading sense of impotence. We feel that while we have conquered other worlds, our world has eluded us, and

When this sense of futility is taken to an extreme, when it crowds out every feeling of human possibility, it becomes noxious and dangerous. When a man conceives that he has lost control over his life, he has abdicated morally and spiritually.

From a psychological point of view and from a religious point of view, timidity is a worse sin than boldness. The assumption of one's utter inferiority is worse than that of obnoxious superiority.

THE MAN WHO acknowledges his helplessness has made himself helpless. It is a self-fulfilling and self-justifying diagnosis.

The coward who hides behind a slogan of "it is fated" has written his own prescription for failure.

The student who begins with the attitude that he

A man and a woman who take a detached view of their marriage, uncertain as to whether they will be joyful or miserable, who make no effort to control their future, are slated for unhappiness.

The businessman who forfeits all initiative because things are not under his control, has already declared his bankruptcy

SOME TIME AGO, a young man beginning his career in the Coast Guard was suddenly called to take part in a desparate assignment — a terrible storm and a ship in distress. As the men began to move the big boat to go to the rescue, the young a man, frightened by the assignment, cried out to th captain, "We will never get back.

Above the storm the captain cried out, "We don't have to come back, but we do have to go out.

We will never know, in the complex resuce operation we call living, whether or not we shall "come back.

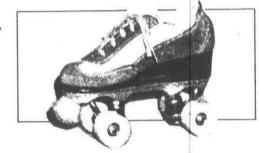

We have no way of knowing in advance exactly what will and what will not yield to our will and our effort. That is in the hands of a Power greater than

But it is up to us whether we shall go out, and that is all that is really important. There is nothing shameful about the man who tries and fails. It is disgraceful to fail to try

Gearns, Pierangelino make grid squad

By DOUG FUNKE and BRAD EMONS

As far as league championships and qualifying for the state playoffs go, 1980 was a lean season for area football teams.

Livonia Stevenson, with an 8-1 record, was the only squad to win a conference title. The Spartans finished atop the Inter-Lakes League standings.

More talented opponents, injuries and bad breaks took their toll on other teams

Lack of team success, however, does not necessarily mean that there were no talented athletes toiling on the gridiron this autumn. Area coaches recognized that when said RU coach Harvey Heitman.

they met recently to select the all-Observer teams.

Two-way players were limited to one position on the all-area team in order to honor as many athletes as possible.

FIRST TEAM OFFENSE

Pat Bridge, Redford Union, interior lineman. A two-way tackle, the 6-6, 220 pound senior was named the Most Outstanding Lineman this season in the Northwest Suburban League.

Bridge was graded 92 percent in blocking efficiency on offense, the best ever in RU history. He also averaged 11 tackles per game on defense.

"Pat is a major college prospect,"

Bruce Melton, Clarenceville, interior lineman. Melton, a three-year letterwinner, earned all-Metro West Conference honors both offensively and defensively this season.

When the Trojans were in a keyvardage situation, they usually ran the ball over the hole manned by the 5-11, 223 pound senior.

"Bruce is an outstanding trap blocker." said Clarenceville coach Ralph Weddle. "Rarely did we need to double team with Bruce. He was an excellent lead blocker on sweeps."

Mike Shaw, Detroit Catholic Central, interior lineman. Another outstanding two-way performer, Shaw earned all-Catholic League accolades for his efforts this season.

The Shamrocks averaged five yards per run over the senior's hole. Defensively, Shaw figured in 59 tackles and nine quarterback sacks.

The 6-3, 210 pounder carries a 3.9 average in the classroom.

"Whenever we needed yards, we ran over him," said CC coach Tom Mach. "He was also an excellent trapper."

Dale Boone, Westland John Glenn, interior lineman. Boone, a 6-3, 210 pounder, twice this season won Glenn's hit-of-the-week award.

Another two-way starter, he was voted to the all-Northwest Suburban League team by conference coaches. Boone is the strongest player on the two-year starter, Wiater this season squad, bench pressing 310 pounds.

He is also senior class president. "Dale is a very smart football player and just an extremely hard worker," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon.

Paul Curnutte, Westland John Glenn, interior lineman. Another big senior, 6 feet, 210 pounds, Curnutte was the hardest hitter on the team.

The two-way performer claimed Glenn's hit-of-the-week award five times during the course of the season.

"Paul is an excellent blocker, quick off the ball and very strong," Gordon said. "He's very physical on defense."

Larry Wiater, Redford Union, end. A caught 42 passes for 715 yards and five touchdowns.

The 5-10, 170-pound senior was voted to the all-Northwest Suburban League

"Larry was a fine downfield blocker and a good defensive back," said RU coach Harvey Heitman.

Bob Smedley, Redford Bishop Borgess, end. Smedley, a 6-2, 195-pound junior, earned all-Catholic League and all-Central Division laurels for his play this season.

He snared 32 passes for 439 yards and seven touchdowns. He set single (Continued on Page 2B)

"This just feels great. My kids never quit. When the ball is on the floor, they go after it." Bentley, which clinched the league crown with an 11-0 mark, can now rest easy for its final game of the season Thursday against Dearborn. The loss dropped Salem to 9-2 in the league. This game was no different when Bentley rallied for a 41-40 triumph over the Rocks earlier this year. It was tight all the way. The Bulldogs, now 16-2 overall, came out with a pressure zone defense which startled Salem. "I knew they'd play a zone," said Salem coach

Bob Blohm. "Their pressure was a big factor. This the first time we've been bothered by pressure." Senior guard Carla Campbell and 5-foot-11 sophomore forward Kim Archer created most of the Archer, who always seems to have a nose for the ball, led all scorers with 12 points and 13 rebounds. Campbell, who spearheaded the fast break, came up with several big steals in the late going. She tallied 10.

"We just didn't coordinate our movement," said Blohm, whose team fell to 15-3 overall. "We never could get things going offensively. Our passing througout the game was not good. "We played hard enough to win, but give Bentley credit. They deserve to be league champs."

SALEM JUMPED out to a 19-13 advantage at intermission behind the play of junior forward Eileen Moore and reserve Jeanine Papa.

Bentley, however, began to turn things around in the third quarter as Tina Ostach tallied five points. A free throw by Archer with four seconds left in the period gave Bentley the lead for keeps, 24-23. In the fourth quarter, Salem ran into foul trouble.

Moore, who was outstanding all night long, exited with 4:04 left. She kept the Rocks close with her solid ball handling. She ended the night with 11 points, eight rebounds and six assists. Senior center Cheryl Sobkow then fouled out two minutes later. A third Salem starter, Carol Ross, also collected five personals. Salem maintained its composure and had several chances to get back in it.

Lang's troops, though, refused to fold and held on during the final three minutes. "We've been working a lot in practice on our trap," Lang said. "I'm pleased with the way it worked out. "Plymouth Salem is one heck of a team. They can play with anybody. Nobody is going to blow them

An all-Suburban Eight League choice this autumn and a two-way starter the last two seasons, the 6-2, 185-pound Schneider captained the team this year.

Schneider, a senior, blocked three passes, recovered two fumbles and sacked opposing quarterbacks twice during the campaign.

"Mike is a hard hitter and a gamesmart defensive end," said Bentley coach Steve Naumcheff. "He has provided excellent leadership.'

Rich Rudd, Redford Thurston, end. Rudd, 6-3, 220 pounds, has played many positions for the Eagles during his three-year varsity career.

This season, he figured in 90 tackles in eight games. Offensively, he averaged nearly five yards per carry. He accounted for half of Thurston's total points this season with four touchdowns, a field goal and a two-point conversion. Rudd also punted and kicked off.

"Defensively, Richard was a standout, forcing our opponents to run away from him," said Mark LaPointe, coach of the Eagles. "He's the most outstanding young man I have ever coached."

Ron Lohman, Livonia Franklin, linebacker. Lohman, team captain this season, repeated as an all-Northwest Suburban League pick.

The 6-0, 180-pound senior, led the Patriots in solo tackles, 18, and assists, 98. He also intercepted four passes.

Twice the 5-9, 171-pound senior was named Canton's defensive back of the week. Pierangelino was voted to the all-

Western Six League squad. "Ed is aggressive, has good range and is a hard hitter," said Richard Barr, coach of the Chiefs.

Steve Quinlan, Livonia Stevenson, back. A two-way starter at strong safety and split end, Quinlan intercepted three passes while helping lead the Spartans to an 8-1 record.

An all-Inter-Lakes League choice, Quinlan, 5-11, 165 pounds, was Stevenson's most valuable defensive player.

"He played the opponent's best back most of the season," said Jack Gabel, an assistant coach at Stevenson. "Steve is an outstanding hitter."

Steve Tracy, Livonia Churchill, back. Tracy, although not very big at 5-7, 150 pounds, set a single-season Churchill record by intercepting nine passes. He had 31 first hits and 10 assists.

A versatile performer, Tracy caught seven passes on offense for 272 yards and two touchdowns. He also returned

3rd quarter a charm for Chiefs

The Plymouth Canton girls' basketball team is becoming quite potent in the third quarter.

Coach Mike McCauley's Chiefs, leading by just two points at halftime, exploded at the outset of the second half and went on to bury Waterford Mott, 64-47, Monday night.

The game was originally scheduled for Thursday, but was moved up to Monday because of parent-teacher con-

It was Canton's 43rd straight Western Six League win and 16th this year. The Chiefs finished their league schedule with a 10-0 record.

Canton outscored the Corsairs 24-9 in the third period to take control.

McCauley praised the second half performances of reserves Michelle Wright, Joni Sommerville, Sue Gerke and Robyn Hudgins.

"It was a good team effort," said the Canton coach. "I'm really happy with the way our bench played.

"It was a well-played game." Canton was whistled for just seven fouls, a season low. Mott committed 11. Mott opened the game in a tight zone defense. The Corsairs outscored Canton 11-8 in the second period to pull to within two at intermission. Bolstered by its bench, Canton implemented a full court press in the second half to destroy the visitors.

Supersub Pearly Cunningham, a junior forward, paced Canton in scoring with 15 points. Reggie Ruggiero pumped in 11 and Colleen Crissey added 10.

Mott's Bridget Brennan led all scorers with 16 points. The Chiefs, now 17-2, will conclude their regular season Tuesday at home against Farmington. Game time is 7:45

"They are really huge," said McCauley of Farmington. "We'll know what kind of team we have after we play

Farmington has an aircraft carrier in 6-foot-3 Stacy Green. She is the team's leading rebounder and second highest scorer.

The junior center is joined up front by 5-11 Chris Looser, the team's top offensive threat.

Farmington's 8-9 overall record is deceiving. The Falcons own wins over Livonia Bentley and Stevenson. Those victories were accomplished with the presence of 5-9 forward Lisa Borchanian in the lineup. She's been out since with a knee injury, but may be available for duty Tuesday against Canton.

DETROITBANK CORPORATION INTRODUCES ULTRA-CHECK NOW: THE CHECKING ACCOUNT THAT PAYS YOU INTEREST.*

Now there is a brand-new way to manage your money better at DETROITBANK Corporation Banks. It's called ULTRA-CHECK NOW, and it means that beginning December 31 the money in this new account will earn interest every day.

It works like a checking account, earns interest like a savings account.

With a new ULTRA-CHECK NOW account, your checking account balance will earn an annual interest rate of 5.25% compounded continuously and paid monthly. The effective annual yield is 5.467%, and that's the highest rate available from any bank or savings and loan association on checking accounts that pay interest.

Here's how you can enjoy a no-charge ULTRA-CHECK NOW account.

There are three different ways you can avoid paying service charges on your ULTRA-CHECK NOW account. As long as you maintain a $1,500 minimum OR a $3,000 average balance in your ULTRA-CHECK NOW account, OR a $2,000 minimum balance in any savings account (including certificates) at your DETROITBANK Corporation

In any month that your ULTRA-CHECK NOW or savings balance falls below these minimums, your service fee will be $3.00, plus 25¢ for each check or debit to your account that month.

You will receive your cancelled checks and a new type of detailed monthly statement that lists your checks in numerical order. This statement will also list your deposits, service fees (if any) and, best of all, the interest earned for the month. Sign up today for ULTRA-CHECK NOW.

Your ULTRA-CHECK NOW account automatically earns interest beginning December 31, but you can open your new account today and use it immediately.

Get ULTRA-CHECK NOW—the checking account that pays you interest.

If you want to manage your money better, you ought to know a DETROIT BANK-er.

Schoolcraft College, which is angling for a berth in the National Junior Collegiate Athletic Association Volleyball Championships, will have a home court advantage this weekend for regional competition.

The Ocelots, with a 35-8 record and ranked sixth nationally, will host 12 teams including Kellogg Community College (Battle Creek), defending national champion and currently rated number one.

The regional winner qualifies for the national finals Dec. 3-5 at Miami (Fla.) Dade Community College.

There is no admission charge for preliminary matches Friday, which get underway at 9 a.m.

Admission to Saturday's matches, which begin at 10 a.m., is $1 for students, $2 for everyone else.

Schoolcraft concluded its regular season by defeating Windsor and Toledo and losing to Winnipeg.

SOCCER

Schoolcraft will meet Bethany (Minn.) Community College in the first round of the NJCAA Midwest Regional this weekend in Chicago, Ill.

Two victories will be required in the regional for the Ocelots to earn a berth in the national finals during Thanksgiving weekend in Trenton, N.J.

Coach Larry Christoff's squad finished its regular season with a record

The Ocelots routed Spring Arbor, 5-2, last week in an exhibition match. Nick O'Shea, a Livonia Franklin graduate. and Fred Seyedjafari, a Northville alum, each scored two goals. Bob D'Inocola, from Stevenson, also scored.

CROSS COUNTRY

Dee Cook, a graduate of Detroit Country Day, finished 61st in a field of 128 runners last weekend in the NJCAA Women's Cross Country Championship in Core D'Alene, Idaho.

Cook completed the 5,000-meter run with a time of 20:59.2.

She traveled with the Macomb County Community College squad, which placed third in team competition.

League tank meets scheduled

The Western Six and Suburban Eight schools will hold its annual girls'

Center gets new logo

By MARGARET MILLER

Thursday, November 13, 1980

A beginning art student entering her first competition is winner of the Schoolcraft College Women's Resource Center logo contest.

Sally Kemppainen, Redford Township resident, 1980 graduate of Thurston High School and an art student at Schoolcraft, soon will be seeing her design — stylized letters in a circle — on the brochures and stationery that go out from the center, a college division that seeks to help women students both on and off campus.

She also wins a $50 prize, and maybe later she'll spot her work on bumper stickers, T-shirts, mugs or tote bags.

Ms. Kemppainen's logo was chosen from among 36 entries in a fall contest to find a new and graphic way to symbolize the resource center.

Lincoln Lao, a member of the Schoolcraft art faculty; Glenna Merillat, head of creative services for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and Laura Toy, Livonia floral shop co-owner and member of the Schoolcraft Women's Advisory Committee were the judges.

Second place was awarded to Judith Joyce of Livonia, a free-lance artist who graduated this year from the University of Michigan. Her prize will be used by the center.

This is Sally's winning entry, which will be

Lyle Briggs of Livonia, who heads printing and graphics for Crowley's, won third place and $14. Honorable mention went to Wendy Niedfeldt of Northville, also a Schoolcraft art student.

THE WINNING design was picked because of the feeling of movement it suggested, said Jean Christensen, assistant dean and head of the Women's Resource Center.

A requirement of the competition was that the letters WRC be incorporated and that the spirit of the work of the center be depicted.

"What we try to do here is move people," said Ms. Christensen. "It was that feeling which we felt Sally's design showed."

Ms. Joyce won the runner-up spot and Ms. Niedfeld the honorable mention with block letter arrangements. Briggs' entry depicted the Schoolcraft tower, the well-known symbol for woman and a key.

"It was the kind of design in which you cold see a lot as you kept looking," said Ms. Christensen, "but not the instant recognition that the winning design had." The judges, she added, had a "tough decision."

MS. KEMPPAINEN said she had long been interested in art but did not begin serious study until a year ago, when she was a senior at Thurston.

"My teacher, Dick Lambert, helped me when I was starting to take art seriously," she said. "He listened to me and let me know I had the rest of my life to learn, that I should work hard to improve but that I shouldn't worry about it."

At Schoolcraft, she has studied under Lao.
"I've learned a lot from him," the neophyte artist said, "and I know I have a long way to go."

She entered, she said, "after Wendy entered and I figured I might as well try."

figured I might as well try."

"I spent a lot of time trying out different designs;
I have a whole sketchbook full of them," she added.

Ms. Joyce said she read about the contest in the Observer and decided to enter because she had taken her first art classes at the Livonia school.

Briggs was interested because, as a 25-year resident of the area, he considers Schoolcraft "our school."

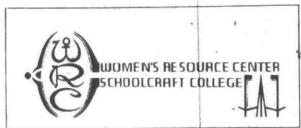

THE NEW LOGO will be used in the near future on stationery at the resource center, Ms. Christensen said, and will be incorporated into a new brochure she will be preparing early next year.

"Maybe later on tote bags, mugs, T-shirts, who knows," she added. "We hope it will help make the resource center better known."

Theater goers will have a chance to see the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of the musical, "You're a Good Man Charlie Brown," at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday in Central Middle School. Nancy Sievert plays Lucy in the Guild's first presentation of the 1980-81 season. Tickets at the door are $4 for adults and $3 for students under 18 and $3 for synior citizens. (Staff photo by Gary Caskey)

The Canton Rotary Club is looking for families that would like to host its new exchange student for a few

Bill Tesen, youth-exchange program chairman, will welcome 17-year-old Roger Hall in mid-January. The Tesens will be Roger's host family for the first few months of his year-long stay in the area. Because the Rotary Club Exchange Student program has found that it is more beneficial to the student to live with several families, Tesen is screening applicants. He needs three more host families.

Roger Hall lives in New Zealand. He is being sponsored by the Rotura West Rotary Club. His father is a farmer and the family lives eight miles from Ngongotaha where Roger attends high school. He intends to make a career of farming but plans to become an accountant before returning to the farm.

Roger's application form included the information that he has three sisters and that he ejoys playing golf and badminton.

THE YOUTH-exchange program has outlined some points to be considered by a prospective host family. The host family will be responsible for providing room and board for their student. The Rotary Club provides spending money.

Suggested prerequisites of a host family are: A heart, large enough to share with a child from another land; a mind open to the different life and culture the student will bring with him, accepting him for his differences and not just his similarities.

And a share of laughter and gaiety against the problems which may come up and to strengthen communication.

The successful host family needs warmth — an easy affection within the family and respect for all members by all members. It needs a breadth of interest, a real curiosity about things outside the home. The family needn't be busy or intellectual, for many students fit into a quietier and simpler atmos-

The host family should have some flexibility. It must be secure and confident enough to be able to adapt their rules to make room for individuals. And humor is another plus because a laugh often brings perspective to a problem assuming undue proportions.

TESEN SUGGESTS that a host family should be realistic about its motivation in wanting an exchange student.

Such an exchange is not a solution to domestic problems. All members of the family must want the student. One uncooperative child could make for an unsuccessful experience.

If some member of the family has a health problem, a serious emotional or physical problem, the extra drain of adjusting to a student could make for a difficult situation.

Family income is an important consideration. There are expenses involved and the family must have no qualms about these.

The student must have a bed of his own and if he shares a room, it should be with someone his own age who would have similar hours.

The student may not drive, so the family must be willing to see that he gets to his various activities.

Difference in religion is rarely a problem, but the family must be prepared to respect beliefs of others and not require participation in their religious life.

Roger is Episcopalian.

SEVERAL PROBLEM areas are listed in the Rotary Youth Exchange Program brochure:

• The rigid family — Success is less likely if the family has fixed ideas about household routine, recreation, cleanliness, or the habits of others.

The busy mother — It is vital that the mother have time to spend with the new family member. Some of the busiest mothers have the most time, but a mother who takes on this responsibility must not become nervous or tense when she is very busy.

 Young couples — It is difficult for young parents to provide the "secure authority" so important to the young

 Childless families — A couple without children often finds it difficult to adjust to a teen-ager unless the couple has had much contact with young people through outside activities or work.

Busy or traveling family — Evening shifts or much traveling could provide a problem.
Insecure teen-ager — The exchange student could be too much competition and certainly doesn't provide a solution to the problem.

• The "Closed Corporation" — A very close-knit family which does everything together makes it difficult for an outsider to fit in.

TESEN SAID that all members of the club pitch in to help entertain the exchange student. "And we include the host family in these activities," he said. "Four of our members fly and they have arranged flights for our student."

The host families must be residents.

The host families must be residents of the Plymouth Canton Community Schools District. The student will attend either Plymouth Canton or Plymouth outh Salem High School. The host family need not be a Canton Township resident or a member of the Rotary Club.

Lifetime friendships have been formed through the exchange-student program and Tesen says he is hoping this will be the case with Roger Hall. The club's present visiting student, Miguel Zaidan, will return to Brazil in late December after a successful year in the community.

Persons interested in hosting an exchange student can call Tesen at 455-5900.

The exchange student, Roger Hall of New Zealand, will arrive in mid-January.

Guests helped at theme parties

When you decide to have a theme party, develop a guest list, and plan a tempting menu, you hope that your guests will put forth the same effort. People attending three great local parties did not disappoint their hosts. They were clever, innovative, and put plenty of time into some zany costumes.

First, we will turn to the exciting crowd that turned up at the home of Sue and Bob Pacer, an ornery devil and Superman. Nancy and Greg Keller came as the Statue of Liberty and a Bloody Mummy. Nancy painted herself silver and arrived with a lighted torch. They received the first place prize.

A Greek god and goddess appeared portrayed by Ron Wiseman and Diane Sobczak. Booby prize went to Nicky the "Under Dog," dressed with mask, cape and underpants. Chris and Frank Nolte are the proud owners of the brave ani-

A giant size Hershey Candy Kiss was really Marilyn Wiseman. I bet there are a few markets that had to restock their foil inventory. Roch and Debbie Tolinski recreated a magician and Minnie Mouse. No wonder Roch won the limbo contest, he had a few tricks up his sleeve.

Team games were played, and Betty Hellmers led the congo lines around the house dressed in her Mexican attire. Just like any other party no one wanted to go home, so it went on until early Sunday morning.

TOM BYRNE opened the door portrayed as a bunch of grapes. Although grapes are not in season, he managed to obtain enough of the luscious fruit to Canton Chatter be well covered. Kathy and Greg Braun slowly entered as a Nun and a Monsignor. They had the most detailed garb of all who attended.

To project a little secrecy into the group Linda Baird and Pete Campbell came sneaking in as Richard Nixon and a Plumber. Hansel and Gretel were there too, as life-like as possible. Underneath were Chris and Mike Wulski.

Everyone had a supper time enjoying one anothers' originality and Tom's hospitality.

MARY JANE AND MIKE Travis welcomed all of the 50 people who rang their doorbell to come into their hutch. You see, they were bouncing bunnies. They literally hopped around all night. I would have to say the most outstanding display of fortitude was by Rich Hale. He was "Johnny on the Spot." Yes, a toilet with an attached seat, room deoderizer, decorator paper and decorative flowers in his hair. When he tried to sit down, people would lift his lid. There wasn't a moment's peace for

Mary and Ron Cundiff were certainly in season coming as a pumpkin and Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater. Helen Wesner began the evening as Darth Vader, and ended up as Ribbon Lady. NO ONE knows how or when she changed. Her husband Mike was dressed as Superman, maybe he took her to a phone booth somewhere.

Have you ever seen a half-suited man? Ed Randolph took a two-piece outfit, along with a shirt, and tore it in half. Somehow he attched the front to his body. He looked like a businessman from the front and a flahser from the back. Jerry Fortman was celebrating his birthiday and he ended up wearing cake on his face. A truly unique gathering, everyone enjoying themselves.

ADULTS ARE NOT the only ones in Canton who like to dress up. Two local childrens' parties were held. The Parks and Recreation entertained 200 children with movies, magician John Falkewicz, and then served cider and doughnuts. There were awards for best costumes, and plenty of door prizes.

CLARA BOHRER treated 95 children to scary stories of ghosts and goolies at the Canton Library party. A local farmer donated 20 pumpkins of various sizes, so several of those attending would go home with something special. The library gives group tours to any organization. For more information please call 397-0999.

THE FIRST Punt, Pass and Kick contest sponsored by Canton Parks and Recreation was very successful. More than 50 contestants entered and there were great distances achieved.

In the 8-9 class Craig Borowski took first place followed by Greg Darby. The 10 to 11-year-olds had a very close competition. Chad Curtis surpassed the group with taking first place, and just a few feet behind was Tony Boucher.

A talented young lady won first place honors in the 12-13 class. Laura Darby did not do well in kicking but did everything else better than the boys. Steve Jenyk was a close second place in this age group. The determining factor of all awards were based on distance and accuracy. Thanks to Bob Dates and his staff for a day well

FOR THRIFTY working women there will be an evening coupon group. It meets every third monday in Pioneer Middle School at 7:30 p.m. Please call Mary Lou Wilson at 397-8330 for more information.

CEP production opening tonight

The Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP) will present its fall production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" tonight, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem

Tickets at $2.50 each are available from the cast, crew or at the door.

The story is about two little old ladies, Abby and Martha Brewster, who do merciful deeds by killing lonely old gentlemen to put them out of their mis-

The ladies live in Brooklyn with one of their nephews, Teddy, who believes he is Teddy Roosevelt. Another nephew, Mortimer, is a drama critic who soon realizes what is happening.

Next into the play is Jonathan, another nephew, and his companion Dr. Einstein. At first neither Abby nor Martha recognize Jonathan as Dr. Einstein has used his "skill" as a criminal plastic surgeon to change Jonathan into Boris Karloff.

The rest of the play is filled with tension, excitement and comedy

The cast includes Laura Bird as Abby Brewster, Chris Janovsky as the Rev. Dr. Harper, Mike Davis as Teddy Brewster, Mike Mitchell as Officer Brophy, Mike Chevillot as Officer Klein, Erika Odom as Martha Brewster, Karen Cady as Elaine Harper and Dale Kinsey as Mortimer Brewster.

Also Cletus Karamon as Mr. Gibbs, Chris Basar as Jonathan Brewster, Jeff Hammonds as Dr. Einstein, Randy Lamb as Officer O'Hara, Marc Holland as Lt. Rooney and Pat Chevillot as Mr. Witherspoon.

Director Gloria Logan is assisted by master electrician James Kaiser and master carpenter Bob Sigmon. Assistant directors and stage managers are Pam Grimm and Julie MacIsaac.

Other crew members include Mark Funk and Greg Shankie, construction masters; Charlotte Cotter and Mary Ellen Wessels, painting masters; Cathy Handyside and Ann Marie Roberts, costume masters; Jim Angell and Mary Cleveland, property masters; Chris Janovsky and Mike Mitchell, publicity/ program; Katie Griffith and Kelly Miller, makeup; Rob McDonald and Mary Ellen Wessels, house managers

Felician Sisters give thanks on their 125th anniversary

The Felicians Sisters, a Catholic order of nuns which sprang into existence in Poland in 1855 when insurrections were taking place against Russia and other oppressors will celebrate their 125th anniversary Sunday.

More than 400 Felician Sisters of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Province will gather in provincial headquarters in Livonia to watch

John Cardinal Dearden celebrate a mass of thanksgiving.

Concelebrants will be Bishops Walter J. Schoenherr, Arthur H. Krawczak and Kenneth J. Povish of Lansing, and William E. McManus of the Fort Wayne-South Bend Diocese. Pastors of the parishes where the sisters are involved as apostolates will also partici-

Sister Mary Claraentine (left), Felician superior, watches as the Rev. Vincent Oberc, chaplain for the order here, and Sister Mary Leontine prepare for the liturgical celebrations.

A dinner will be served after mass in council decided to move to Detroit, the activities center of Madonna College, which was founded by the sisters

This year also marks the 100th anniversary of the admission of the Felician Sisters into the Archdiocese of Detroit. In 1880 Bishop Caspar Borgess gave Mother Mary Monica Sybilska permission to transfer the Felician motherhouse to the Detroit Diocese. They started serving here two years earlier.

FELICIAN ROOTS reach back to Warsaw, Poland, where in 1855 a young women, Sophia Truszkowska, and her sister Clothilde Ciechanowska, reached out to help the poor, abandoned children of the street. Soon other companions joined them in the charitable activities, first as lay members of the St. Vincent DePaul Society and later as secular Franciscans.

They rented a two-room attic apartment for the children and some homeless aged women. The people seeing these pious women praying at the statue of St. Felix began calling them Felician Sisters. The women accepted this name and placed their institute under the protection of St. Felix. Later they received permission to live together as a religious sisterhood.

Within five years of their founding they were conducting an orphanage and a residence for aged women. They established a 40-bed hospital, a school for girls and classes of religious instruction.

During the 1863 insurrection against Russia, the Felicians Sisters' hospitals were used as provisional hospitals by friend and foe. The number of orphans and poor needing care increased at this time. But the uprising failed and the Felicians were ordered by the Russians to disband.

The Emperor of Austria came to their rescue, giving them permission to establish a motherhouse in the Austrian-occupied sector of Poland. A new province of Cracow was formed. Again a school, orphanage and center for youths and adults were founded. Eventually they established two other provinces in Lvov in 1910 and Warsaw in where a motherhouse was constructed at St. Aubin and Canfield. In the next 50 years, five additional provinces were formed. Eventually provinces were located in Buffalo, N.Y., Chicago, Ill.; Coraopolis, Pa.; Enfield, Conn; Rio Rancho, N.M.

IN 1874 Mother Mary Monica Sybilska led a band of five sisters to Polonia, Wisc. Their help had been asked by Father Joseph Dabrowski, a pioneer missionary among immigrant Poles in that area. The sisters began a school for immigrant children and an orphanage.

Vice-provinces were established in Canada and Brazil.

The Livonia motherhouse was constructed on a 320-acre site in 1936. In 1937 Mother Mary DeSales organized Presentation Junior College, which eventually grew into Madonna College. Today a four-year institution, the college has an enrollment of more that 3,213 students, 807 of them men.

Madonna instituted a career-oriented program with evening as well as weekend classes in addition to its daytime scheduling. Among more than 50 career subjects offered are allied health. computer science, gerontology, interpretation for the deaf and special education for learning disabled and emotionally impaired.

TO MEET LOCAL educational needs, the sisters founded Ladywood High School for girls in 1950. A summer camp for girls was opened the same year in Holly, Mich.

In the late 1950s officials and citizens of Livonia Plymouth, Redford Township, Farmington and Northville approached Mother Mary Annuncia Kramp asking that a hospital be established on the Livonia property. In 1959 St. Mary Hospital opened its doors.

In addition to its treatment programs, it offered a variety of other services including physical therapy, mental health units, hemodialysis, alcohol treatment and al-anon family groups, programs for the handicapped, adopted parent, diabetic and cardiac patients.

The Felician Sisters in Livonia number 458. In the Archdiocese the sisters administer and staff 22 schools, five high schools, a Montessori center, Maria Nursery School, a college and a hospital. They also teach in all the dioceses of Michigan, in Toledo and Fort Wayne-South Bend.

In addition, the sisters spend part of their time in work of mercy such as being sacristans, working in pastoral ministry and with the mentally handcapped. They are involved in lay retreats, as extraordinary ministers of the Eucharist, liturgy preparation programs, prayer groups and parish-vicariate diocese concerns.

They contribute time to citizens groups, speech therapy, vocation encounter weekends, and work with migrants, Indians, Hispanics and ethnic language and cultural programs.

The Felicians Sisters now number 3,639 professed sisters, 62 novices, and 37 postulants in seven countries.

Woody keeps on punchin'

Woody Hayes has been in one war or another all of his life.

The former Ohio State football coach was sacked after the 1978 college campaign for punching an opposition player - one of many such battles he engaged in on the sidelines over the

But Woody laid down the sword and, for about 50 minutes last week, addressed a Plymouth audience on a variety of topics such as history, war, politics, parenting, character, success building — and football.

In particular, he discussed the Vietnam War and where America went wrong. He also took the opportunity to attack the media in its handling of the Reagan-Carter presidential race.

Hayes was the guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce in the Mayflower Meeting House.

THE TITLE of his talk was "What a 67-year-old can learn," and Hayes said he's learning plenty in retirement while trying to write a book, working on a movie on his life, and giving an average of nine speeches a week.

He began by talking of economic growth being experienced in Gaines-part because it is near a major university. "Never forget 'town and gown." You always want to get along well with the university."

Haves stressed that young people today should learn a foreign language to

Hayes said he traveled to Vietnam four times and one of the biggest mistakes the U.S. made in that country was not learning the language.

Speaking of corporate life, Hayes declared: "There's always room at the top and there's always room for good competition. Without competition, the Ohio State-Michigan games would not be any fun at all."

On the subject of football, Hayes quipped: "When I get to winning, that's when I start to worry and when I get mean. I'm not very mean when I'm losing. When you win and somebody congratulates you, kick 'em in the shins. Congratulations take the edge off you."

On friendship, Hayes declared: "Every great friend I've ever had I have fought with. That's how you find out how good a friend they are.'

On success: "The only thing you can give a man that's worth a dime is an opportunity. And high school athletes should seek the opportunity of a good ville, Ga., which he said is occuring in education. The chances of a high school athlete making the pros is about 1-in-

On football finances: "In my 28 years at Ohio State, football earned a $50 million profit. That was enough to support some 28 sports, including some sports for women. At Michigan last year alone Bo's football team made a $7 million profit." On parenting: "When you make it easy for a kid, you destroy him.".

On Ronald Reagan's landslide victory, Hayes accused the media of deliberately trying to mislead the public by suggesting the presidential race would be close. "If a coach missed it by that far, he'd be fired.

Hayes suggested the media would be out to destroy Reagan, just as it destroyed Nixon with stories about Watergate.

He concluded by suggesting that football offers the following lessons which also are useful in life:

- · "When you get knocked down, get
- up and go at it again."
- · "Work together." · "If you want to score, you must suprise the opposition.'

· "Nothing's worth a dime that comes easy. I never saw a man tackle someone with a smile on his face.

Superstitions persist regarding pregnancy

I am 21 yearas old, and I am pregnant with my first baby. In order to save money, my husband and I are temporarily living

One night last week his mother and I had a big fight, and I still think I was right. I was watching a program on television in which there was a crippled man, horribly deformed from an automobile

My mother-in-law came into the room and saw what was on the TV. She rushed across the room and turned it off right in the middle of the program. She said that if I watched it, my child would be deformed. I said she was crazy and turned the set back on. She turned it off again, saying it was her grandchild, and she wouldn't let me destroy it.

I said some things that were not nice, and now nobody in the house will speak to me. Please help me.

Dear Rita.

Your mother-in-law is a superstitious person who remembers the things her mother and grandmother told her

Years ago, before medical science was developed to the point that it is today, childbirth was a great mystery.

Whenever people do not understand thea causes of things that happen, they create supersitions to explain them.

A pregnant woman or nursing mother was always believed to be the prey of all sorts of evil spirits. If a child was born deformed, it was blamed on something that frightened its mother during her

Today we know that viruses, drugs or defective genes are the real causes of these misfortunes.

A walk through any old cemetery will reveal tombstone after tombstone testifying to the death of young women during childbirth. Today we seldom hear of a woman dying from this cause.

One hundred years ago, less than half of all children born lived to be a year old. Today more than 98 percent of all live births make it through their first year. Years ago, the high infant mortality rate was blamed on the supernatural.

Remember that nothing is really supernatural. "Supernatural" means beyond the realm of natural possibility, and most things that we call supernatural are really only things that are beyond the realm of our understanding.

Apologize, and remember that it is her house you are living in. So give in on a few things, and be grateful, until you can afford to live in your own home.

FOR $1.50 A DAY, YOU COULD BUY A MODEST LUNCH OR DRIVE YOUR CAR A SHORT DISTANCE.

OR HEAT THIS ENTIRE HOME.

You know the cost of natural gas has gone up in recent years because you've been paying for it. Nevertheless, the cost of heating your home with natural gas is still reasonable.

This is a fairly typical threebedroom house in Michigan: 1,200 square feet of comfortable living space. Yet the cost of heating this entire home averages out to only about $1.50 per winter day. For that same amount of money, you can hardly drive your car to and from work each day or buy a meal at a fast-food restaurant.

Yes, the cost of natural gas has increased in recent years. But, heating homes, cooking meals and warming water with natural gas uses less of the average family's spendable income now than it did 20 years ago.

Consumers Power Company is trying to keep it that way by using natural gas resources wisely. You can help, too, by being wise about the way you use natural gas in your home.

No energy is cheap today. But, when you think about how much work natural gas does for you, you'll know you're getting vour money's worth.

Young people these days are considerably taller than their forebears but alarmingly, an increasing number are growing in width as well.

Being overweight is a condition that affects young people's personal lives, their job potential, their all-around health and well being," said Florine Mark, area director of Weight Watch-

"It is generally acknowledged that overweight people are not viewed as being as disciplined in their educational endeavors as their slim contemporaries," observed Mrs. Mark.

"This often has a drastic effect on the adolescent, as he or she will, in many cases, be graded lower than his or her thin schoolmate; thus, it can also be an obstacle in the path of success when it comes to gaining admission to first-rate colleges and universities."

Mrs. Mark commented that Weight Watchers has long been aware of the problem of overweight youth, and in many areas conducts weekly classes solely for adolescents who often are reluctant to discuss weight problems in the prescence of adults.

MINDFUL OF the concern among parents of overweight children, Weight Watchers has parpared a se. f special "back-to-school" lunchbox recipes that will help young people trim their waistline as they strive to expand their academic horizons.

Computer concert tickets eliminate confusion, lines

By CRAIG PIECHURA

Until a year ago, a familiar occurrence happened whenever ticket sales for a popular rock group were announced.

Thousands of fans raced downtown to wait in line overnight. Tempers often flared and in at least two instances windows were broken by the throng. Two things happened to help change that situation. One was a law passed by the Detroit City Council making it illegal to announce ticket sales until two hours before the box office opens. The other factor was the advent of Convenient Ticket Co. (CTC), a Southfield ticket-distribution agency with offices in seven on-site box offices and 25 stores. Plans call for another 10 outlets, three of them in out-state areas. Today ticket buyers are often willing to pay an additional service fee of 75 cents per ticket for the convenience of buying tickets without heading north to Pine Knob or downtown before the event. In all but a few cases, CTC outlets print and then sell persons actual tickets, not vouchers for tickets. The problem with vouchers is that, in the past, they weren't always honored if there was a sellout.

"It eliminates the long lines at Cobo, for (Bruce) Springsteen, say," says Lincoln Cavalieri Jr., 23, CTC advertising director. "Of course you get lines forming outside the 30 or so CTC outlets, but they're shorter lines and you don't have to camp out over night

PROMOTERS are happy with the new system because it makes it easier for persons to buy tickets and quicker to tell how many tickets have been sold prior to, and after, the concert or sporting event. It also makes it harder for persons working in the box office to reserve prime seats for tipping Department store personnel like the set-up because they no longer have the headache of storing "hard" tickets. The CTC computer prints tickets only if they are sold. Under the old system, some stores sold out their allotment of tickets while other stores had a surplus.

Customers at CTC outlets in the Music Hall, Joe Louis Arena, Cobo Arena, Silverdome, U-M Office of Major Events and Pine Knob use CTC's computer and ticket printer. But customers there aren't charged the additional 75 cent fee when they purchase tickets for events at those locations. The computer prints out different colored tickets to denote the difference in price

That same Tandem computer can tell a customer where he will be seated by displaying a computer graphic of the stadium, concert hall or arena's seating chart on a video screen. The computer is programmed with information from the hall's management that will identify the best seats remaining in the house. Or it can identify an area with eight seats in a row closest to the stage

Seats that are sold are marked with an 'X,' seats that are open are marked with a cross.

Ticket outlets are in stores as small as Dicken's Den in Southfield and the i Browse Bookstore in West Bloomfield. as well as all area Hudson's and Kay Baum's stores. Hudson's sells 70 percent of the tickets sold by CTC and the Northland store in Southfield does the highest volume overall, according to Cavalieri.

Homebase for the computer ticket company is an office building in the Northland Center parking lot. To avoid costly time-consuming breakdowns caused when a computer is "down," CTC has three central processing units that carry mirror images of each other. That way if one computer goes down, the other picks up the slack.

Currently, tickets for 40 different events are being sold by CTC — literally everything from A to Z; Alvin Ailey at the Music Hall, Frank Zappa at Masonic

The company operates a 24-hour phone line to give customers the latest ticket information. The number is 557

The company keeps track of ticket sale progress through its computers which make it virtually impossible to oversell

One popular ticket that isn't sold by CTC is Detroit Lions - but they're working on it. And CTC officials predict that they will have a bigger allotment of Detroit Tiger tickets come spring.

CTC employs 14 persons directly and company officials estimate that 100 other jobs are held by employees working

Concert to feature major opera stars

Metropolitan Opera stars Franco Corelli and Jerome Hines will give a concert at Ford Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Sunday

The concert will mark Corelli's return to performing after an absence of more than three years. The Italian tenor, rated by critics as one of the greatest voices of the century, has cited personal reasons for his temporary retirement from a career that saw him established as the preeminent male opera star in the world. He sang with every major company opposite such stars as Maria Callas, Leontyne Price and Renata Tebaldi.

Hines holds the distinction of being the first American basso to achieve international fame - particularly for "Boris Godonov" at the Metropolitan and at Moscow's Bolshoi. His repertoire at the Met, spanning three decades, included his role as Don Giovanni, King Filippo in "Don Carlo," Gurnemans in "Parsifal" and Swallow in

"Peter Grimes." The Sunday concert will mark their first joint appearance although the two men are personal friends and have often appeared in concert individually or with other artists.

Although the concert is in Ford Auditorium, tickets are being handled through the Music Hall box office, 350 Madison, Detroit. To order, call 963-

Dance group at Music Hall

Laura Dean Dancers and Musicians, directed by Laura Dean, a composer and choreographer whose works are known to either electrify or alienate audiences, opens Wednesday for five days at the Music Hall Center.

At many of Dean's peformances, audience members have walked out in mid-performance. On the other hand, she was recently selected by Vice President Walter Mondale to tour China in a dance study group as part of a cultural exchange program.

At the Music Hall, the group will perform "Dance," accompanied by electric autoharps, and Dean's new work "Tympani" accompanied by two grand pianos and tympani.

Performances are at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are available at CTC outlets or by calling 963-7680.

A free Dance Spinning Workshop will be offered at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 20 at the Music Hall. For reservations, call 963-7622.

• WHICH HIT?

During a recent tournament, I observed this rare position. Black, on the bar, has rolled a 4-3. With several options to play, how would you move?

At first glance, you would probably be inclined to hit white on the 7 point; putting a second white checker in the back is not a bad idea. But what would black accomplish? If white returns from the bar to the 5 point, he will have a fortified position in black's home board.

In order to arrive at a "correct" decision, you need to look at the position of black vs. white.

It appears that black is spread thin. Black would do best to return from the bar with the 4 roll and sit on white's 4 and 5 points. While holding these two points, black may now attack white. If black loses more checkers, he could easily reenter from the bar without the worry of being closed out. As long as black does not vacate the 4 and 5 points too early, white will have difficulty safely bringing home all of his checkers. With the 3 roll, black should slot-hit white on the 5 point. Although this move appears reckless, black has nothing to lose. If white misses black while reentering from the bar, black could form a strong blocking prime and turn the whole game around.

Doc Simon strikes out — almost

"The Front Page" (1930), 3:30, 7:30 nd 9:30 p.m. today in the lower autorium of DeRoy Hall on the 'ayne State University campus, none 259-5785, 831-8249 or 884-9121, 1. Running time 88 minutes.

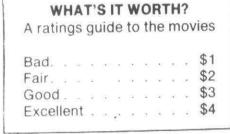

The Wayne State Chapter of Women Communications presents this Lewis lilestone film, from the Ben Hecht nd Charles MacArthur play, starring at O'Brien and Adolph Menjou as coniving, fast-talking newsmen.

Yellow journalism is the name of the ame and Chicago the stomping ground cutthroat reporters who cheat, lie nd steal under the guise of a free ress. These were the days of the bigity rags, when a half dozen papers ompeted for readers with headlines ke "Love Nest Raided" and "Mom lats Tot." Each paper put out as many ditions daily as there were fresh stiffs ncovered by the cops.

Cary Grant with Rosalind Russell, as rell as Walter Matthau and Jack Lemoon teamed in fine remakes of "Front 'age," but the Menjou-O'Brien combiation is as good as any. And this origial film is perhaps more bitter and vnical than any of the remakes. Ratng: $2.95.

"From Here to Eternity" (1953), 8 m. today and 7 and 9 p.m. Friday n the Liberal Arts Theater on the Schoolcraft College campus, phone 591-6400 ext. 380, $1. Running time 118 minutes.

Here's a fine film from the James Jones novel about life in Hawaii at the start of World War II. Fred Zinneman directed; starring Frank Sinatra, Montgomery Clift, Deborah Kerr, Donna Reed and Ernest Borgnine. Zinneman and Sinatra won well-deserved Oscars. Odd how Frankie gives splendid performances in good films ("Eternity," "The Manchurian Candidate," "The Naked Runner" to name a few) and bad performances in bad films ("The Pride and the Passion," "Ocean's Eleven," "Tony Rome," etc.). Rating: $3.30.

"King Solomon's Mines" (1950) and "The African Queen" (1951), 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward, phone 833-4049, $2.50. Running times 102 and 105 minutes.

"Solomon's Mines" is one of those location pictures that's as long on African scenery as it is short on plot and character development. Deborah Kerr and Stewart Granger star in the film based on an H. Rider Haggard novel.

"African Queen," of course, is the drawing card on this bill. Humphrey Bogart and Katharine Hepburn are wonderful together as an unlikely couple thrown together at the start of World War I. Bogey plays a sort of Fred C. Dobbs (his part in "Treasure of the Sierra Madre") who runs a riverboat in Africa. Hepburn is a prim missionery who is revolted by almost everything Bogart says or does. John Huston directed and Bogart picked up an Oscar in his first good part as an older actor. Ahead of him lay more elder statesmen roles in such movies as 'Sabrina" and "The Left Hand of God."Rating: $2.25 and $3.70.

"California Suite" (1978), 9 p.m. Friday on Ch. 7. Originally 111 min-

Playwright Neil Simon overextends himself in this film which takes on a "Love Boat" structure, with four separate episodes involving people staying at the same hotel. The sequence starring Maggie Smith and Michael Caine is brilliant, while the remaining episodes - with such stars as Richard Pryor and Bill Cosby, Jane Fonda and Alan Alda, and Walter Matthau and Elain May - pale in comparison. Brits Maggie and Michael are marvelous together, and their sequence is the best written of four. Rating: For M & M, $3.70. Overall, $2.25.

"High Noon, Part II" (1980), 9 p.m Saturday on Ch. 2.

A made-for-TV film such as this one wouldn't make it in this space were not the original "High Noon" being shown three days later. Lee Majors tackles the classic Gary Cooper role. Good luck, Lee. Unrated.

"High Noon" (1952), 11:45 p.m. Tuesday on Ch. 9. Originally 85 min-

Here's another '50s film couple: 24year-old Grace Kelly and 51-year-old Gary Cooper. C'mon, Hollywood, who were you trying to kid? Nonetheless, this Fred Zinneman picture is a classic of the sort that spawned the Clint Eastwood, spaghetti-western films. Coop defends a town that's afraid to defend itself, which is similar to the plot of "High Plains Drifter." Cooper, however, plays a sheriff willing to accept the shortcomings of his neighbors. The later Eastwood films would take a welcome and warranted twist. Rating:

"The Fighting 69th" (1940), 12:30 Wednesday night on Ch. 50. Originally 90 minutes.

One of James Cagney's more underrated films is this yarn about an Irish-American battalion in World War I. It starts out looking like a lot of other films that depict the thrill and adventure of war, but takes a swift turn when the smell of death overwhelms one of the men. Cagney's character resembles the protagonist in Stephen Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage." William Keighley directed and Pat O'Brien, George Brent, Alan Hale and Dennis Morgan co-star.

Jane Fonda can't save her segment of Neil Simon's "California Suite," but Michael Caine - appearing in the film with Maggie Smith - is excellent in his role as the husband of a celebrated actress.

Today, there's a warm, friendly new sound in Detroit radio. It's more than news and it's more than talk. We call it NewsTalk. It's the best of both and it's the first and original format of it's kind.

News when you need it most—all morning and at the top of every hour with updates throughout the day.
Talk when you feel like getting involved. Talk about the day's most pressing issues in the morning. Talk about you and your life in the afternoon. Talk about sports every evening. And more talk all pight long.

We want to hear what saying "Hello Detroit, friends we really are.

every evening. And more talk all night long.
Altogether it's a more personal, more intimate sound.
We want to hear what you have to say. That's why we're saying "Hello Detroit, talk to me." One-to-one. Like the friends we really are.
