The Canton Connection

AN INFORMATION booklet about the township now is available to Canton residents. The booklet, free of charge at Township Hall, is a handy reference for everyone. It contains names and phone numbers of different governmental departments, service groups and organizations. It also includes emergency medical information and announcements about current issues and events in the township.

Township officials hope to periodically publish a small newsletter called "Canton Confidential" for residents soon.

IT'S TIME to check your water meters - that's the message fron Canton Supervisor James Apparently, many of the water meters in the township are not working properly. The meter reading you may see on your outdoor meter may not be the same reading as the one in your basement. For your own financial protection, it would be wise to call the water department to get a correct reading.

How did Poole convey this advice to the public? Known for his sometimes eccentric sense of humor, Poole decided to use the public-forum portion of Tuesday's township board meeting to voice his complaint.

when Poole called for the public forum, no one at the meeting had anything to say, so Poole strolled out to the audience to the microphone. "I'd like to know who the jerk is who read my meter and then sent my wife a bill for $159 on July 16 which is two weeks before they read it," Poole said to the board members, who couldn't stop laughing. "I'd like to give him a piece of my mind."

Poole then walked back to his seat on the board and began responding to his own complaints, saying that the board was well aware of the problem.

CONGRATULATIONS to Mary Ann Zak - winner of the "Name the Column" contest. Ms. Zak, of the Cavalier West Subdivision in Canton, thought of the winning name for this column -The Canton Connection.

BOBBI HUGHES and other residents are in a stew because someone is pilfering cabbages, onions and other vegetables from their garden plots at Warren and Lilley. Apparently, the ripoffs are occurring during the night, according to Ms. Hughes. She said police are aware of the problem and have promised to patrol the area.

GUESS WHO has a keen eye for cow chips? It's John Mardirosian of Wayne. He's the winner of the first annual "Guess the weight of the cow chip" contest, part of last weekend's Canton Country Festival

If you thought Fire Marshal Art Winkel had anything to do with this contest, you're right. Winkel, the township's official expert on cow chips and originator of Saturday's cow-chip fling contest, constructed a giant cow chip from leftover dry wall from the newly built fire department last February.

"I saw a clump of leftover dry wall on the ground and I said, 'Hey, that looks like a cow chip," Winkel said. "So I let it dry and painted it and started the contest."

The big cow chip circulated through township offices and businesses the past few month, while persons tried to guess its weight. Mardirosian's guess was within five ounces, Winkel said. The official weight of the giant cow chip was not released, however, because Winkel wants to conduct the same contest during next year's festival

An Oakwood Hospital out-patient facility in Canton will be ready for operation by early October.

Work crews are putting the finishing touches on the interior of the building at Warren and Canton Center roads, said Oakwood administrator David Ippel.

The facility will be equipped to handle emergency cases which don't require hospitalization. There will be no operating room and no beds for overnight stay, he said.

CANTON FIRE CHIEF Mel Paulun estimates the new Oakwood facility will be able to provide immediate care to 85 percent of the persons who now are transported by fire department rescue vehicles to nearby hospitals.

According to Paulun, the department. made 545 rescue runs during the first six months of this year. There currently are no hospitals in Canton. Most rescue patients are taken to Wayne County General in Westland or to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Upon request of the patient, the department also will transport to such hospitals in Annapolis in Wayne, St. Joseph or Beyer in Ypsilanti and others.

It takes about an hour for a rescue rig to transport a patient to a hospital and to return to the station, according to Paulun.

Students from the SCORE program start unpilling woodchips before laying them on the cross country course. Plymouth-Salem High School is in the background.

A distance runner's delight!

By Dennis O'Connor staff writer

Dave Gapczynski, 15, one of the SCORE workers, wipes sweat off his brow during a deserved rest. Students in the SCORE program have been busy this past month constructing a cross country course at the CEP.

Distance runners take note: The Centennial Educational Park may have its own five-mile cross country course next summer.

But there's a catch.

Partial construction can't be completed unless someone donates woodchips, which are used as base for the running surface.

The cross country track is one of many jobs handled by students in Project SCORE (Student Career Opportunities through Relevant Experiences).

The local SCORE program, coordinated and d directed by Plymouth Salem High School teacher Byron Richardson; performs chores at the park — everything from painting doors and locker rooms to building a natural trail

Two summers ago, Richardson's group took on the project of constructing a trail in the wooded area in the southwest corner of the park complex at Joy and Canton Center.

This summer, Richardson's group is tackling construction of a cross country facility that both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton teams can use for practice and meets. It may also be open to the public.

"Our idea was to have a place for kids and people in the community to run," Richardson said. "You're always endangering people when they are running on the road.

"It will give them a place to run, and it's beautiful — with the trees and the woods."

PART OF the proposed course will include an overlap of about one-quarter mile with the natural trail, Richardson said. The first two miles of construction, which may be finished by the end of the week, is along a field behind the school farm, west of Salem High School. The rest of the course will wind around the athletic area, south of Salem and west of Canton.

"The plan is to eventually make this five miles long and then hook up workout stations with chin-up bars, dip bars and a place to do situps," Richardson said.

Currently, both Salem and Canton cross country teams practice and hold meets at Cass Benton Park in Northville.

The problem, however, is finding people to donate woodchips for the course. Livonia's Department of Public Works (DPW), Lathrup Village and Wayne Country Road Commission all have donated chips, but more are needed.

Richardson said that if his group gets enough woodchips they would finish two miles of the course by this weekend.

"Woodchips are very good to run on," he said,
"They're soft, and you won't get shinsplits from running on them. They're one of the best running surfaces."

RICHARDSON HAS 18 SCORE program students working on the course. And they love it.

"The kids have a lot of fun doing this — they do a good job," Richardson said.

This is the ninth year Richardson has been involved in SCORE, a federal program funded through the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA). SCORE offers employment for disadvantaged youth, giving on-the-job training and teaching good working habits and attitudes. For the first time in nine years, the SCORE program won't be operated after school this fall because of cuts in CETA funding. Richardson said

The World Series came to the Plymouth-Canton community last weekend.

No, it wasn't the Detroit Tigers—but it was strong competition among six of the finest 13- to 14-year-old amateur baseball teams in the country.

The National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) Sophomore World Series (Sandy Koufax-level competition) took place last weekend at Plymouth Canton High School's diamond.

Six teams, including tournament host Canton Craiger Precision Products, competed in the double-elimination event for four days.

For details on Thursday's and Friday's tourney action, turn to today's Observer sports section on Page 1C. Semifinal and championship play took place Saturday and Sunday. The Observer will have details on that action, and a complete tournament wrapup, in Thursday's edition.

Brooklyn, N.Y., the defending World Series champions, highlighted the sixteam field. Other squads coming to the Plymouth-Canton community included North Atlanta, Riverview, Cincinnati, Baltimore and host Craiger.

Baltimore and Craiger began tournament play Thursday morning with Plymouth Mayor Mary Childs throwing out the ceremonial first pitch.

IVOR JAMES, a Plymouth resident and president of the Northwest Suburban Amateur Baseball Federation (the local affiliate of the NABF), brought the World Series to this community.

Fred Crissey, the head baseball coach at Plymouth Canton High School, and Dr. Gerald Ebmeyer, coach of the Craiger squad, are other members of the suburban federation board who helped direct the tournament.

In fact, Crissey had to step in as an umpire for the initial game on Thursday when one umpire failed to show up at game time.

Craiger entered the event with an 18-4 overall record in summer-league action. Most of the players on this squad are future junior varsity and varsity baseball players for Canton.

Poll reveals inflation concerns

Local residents made it clear in a congressional survey they want the government to do something about inflation and job protection.

In a survey of 14,000 families in Garden City, Westland, and Canton Township, and the southeast corner of Livonia, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford, D-Taylor, reported that inflation was a runaway "favorite" in the list of important issues cited by residents.

Half of the 14,000 families answering the survey said inflation is the nation's most serious problem. Unemployment was next with 24 percent, followed by taxes with 22 percent.

Residents in Ford's 15th congressional district also favored mandatory wage and price controls if the economy doesn't improve. Another 33 percent opposed controls.

On a series of questions on foreign trade and imported cars, 38 percent of those answering Ford's annual poll said they supported "legal limits on imports (including cars and other products) to protect American jobs."

Another 33 percent preferred the U.S. negotiating a voluntary trade agreement with other nations with America increasing its productivity through tax and regulatory policies.

RESIDENTS ALSO indicated they opposed basic cuts in the Social Security retirement system while favoring cuts in some of the fringe areas of the program.

Nearly half, or 49 percent, favored maintaining the minimum benefits of $122 per month.

But those answering the survey also favored by large margins other Social Security program benefits.

Some 57 percent said the government should cut the $255 death benefit if there is no surviving spouse or chil-

Another 54 percent felt that the Social Security payments made to adult students between 12 and 22 who are offspring of retired, disabled or deceased workers be cut.

In a continuing mood to cut some of the fringes out of the retirement program, 53 percent favored a tightening of eligibility requirements for disability payments.

HOW DO WESTERN Wayne County residents feels about federal spending by category?

In the largest numbers, 49 percent want more spend on crime control; 42 percent back more spending on aid to the elderly; while 41 percent prefer more dollars allocated to energy research.

In announcing the results in a newsletter to residents, Ford, in the House of Representatives for 18 years,

"The congressional decisions we are now making will affect the lives of Americans for years to come. "In many cases, we are asked to make painful choices between dollar savings and human needs. Certainly we must fight inflation and find ways to make our economy more productive.

"But if we reduce our investment in education, job training, health programs and decent housing, we will guarantee ourselves a second-rate fu-

"At a time when there is a need for increased productivity, and where there are fewer jobs requiring less skills and more demanding a higher degree of technological training, we can't afford to deprive our children of the education and vocational training that will allow them to compete in the job market and become more efficient producers."

FORD ALSO opposed any major cuts in Social Security benefits.

Being a parent calls for sharing as well as caring

There's a woman out in California threatening to start a parent's liberation movement.

Elinor Lenz says society's erected too many barriers between the generations. "Now we need to make new connections," she insists.

Her idea is that parents have to develop new attitudes as their children mature into independent people.

"After all, does a 40-year-old man really need someone asking if he used his dental floss that day?" she asks. And must a grown woman be reminded that it's her grandmother's birthday?

Mrs. Lenz's thesis is that the parent-child relationship is based on unequal power. "The parent instructs and controls, and the offspring is expected to react to that," she contends.

"But a friend is not one with superior power. Friendship is based on mutual respect."

Mrs. Lenz told me all this in a recent interview. It must have been a comedown for her, because she had just been interviewed by Jane Pauley for the "Today

She said she'd been told that appearing on that show is like "entering the gates of heaven." She also said Jane Pauley is beautiful and young-looking, face to face.

OUR CHAT was more like two experienced parents comparing notes. No heavenly gates, little glamour. Only she's got a thesis, and I do my parenting by the seat of my pants.

She's said if I don't make a transition soon to being an ex-parent, I'll be clinging to a dead relationship that's a stereotype. She'd like to see me develop a new loving connection with Tzviah, Elaine and Bruce and become an ex-parent.

Becoming an ex-parent would put me on the road to being a friend to my kids. Strange, but I always thought we were friends. At least lately.

We weren't always friends. I can remember wielding that power relationship stuff, all right. When the three rascals were finicky about eating, I'd always say: "I didn't tell you to like it, I told you to eat it," and I'd say it with a snarl.

One of the kids once told that tale for show and tell, so I stopped doing it. But bedtime was always when Jack and I said it was.

Getting back to Mrs. Lenz, she has two daughters, whom she said are her best friends. "But it took time and struggle to get there," (Somehow, I understood what she meant by that.)

"YOU DON'T become a parent by having a child. There's more to it than biology. And the new role of being a friend to adult children is very important."

What you do is to disconnect yourself from your children. She said you have to listen to yourself and your child objectively.

"It's like divorced people who free each other for new relationships. Parents have to to the same," she said.

"You have to think of your child as someone who is an extension of yourself but who has a right to develop as a separate and unique individual — like a friend."

Mrs. Lenz has done a pile of research on the subject, including some with parents whose children have problems with drugs and cults.

'You have to think of your child as someone who is an extension of yourself but who has a right to develop as a separate and unique individual — like a friend.'

"If parents can establish the friend relationship at the proper time, a lot of this wouldn't happen," she said.

"Those who join cults often are looking for companionship, for a family."

A longtime writer, who only lately has made a career of it, Mrs. Lenz has put her ideas and the results of research into a book called "Once my Child, Now my Friend" published by Warner Books. It's her third book, and she said it took years to form in her and one year to

One of the maxims of the parent's liberation movement that she may start and I may join, will be: "We have to learn to live with our children, not through them."

Take my advice

How to run a campaign

This is the season for political activity in the suburbs. Voters will soon be hearing a plethora of campaign statements, promises and praises. But the most interesting conversations won't be at the candidates night rallies in school auditoriums.

They will have taken place in the strategy meetings in the present-day versions of the smoke-filled back

We listened in recently as council candidate Bill Knight got some advice from Joe Swartz, the political pro who has been involved in more campaigns than Harold Stassen and Zolton Ferency combined.

Swartz to Knight: "Why do you want to be elected?" Knight: Well, I'm very qualified. I've been involved in many civic programs in the last few years and I like working with city officials to contribute something positive to the community. I like helping people."

SWARTZ: "Plus you also like the idea of being a local big-shot, right?"

'We'll have you a fund-raiser. The ideal fund-raiser

everybody kicks

is one where shows up --

down.'

Knight: "Right." Swartz: "Who are the other candidates?" Knight: "Well, there's 10 candidates for four seats nine men and one woman," Swartz: "The first thing you got to do is get two more women candidates to split in and nobody up the womens' vote - it doesn't matter who they are, just get a couple of women keeps expenses to file. You better get a Polish candidate in there, too, to draw the Polish votes off, cause I don't think you're going to get them, you being a Protestant. Also make sure there are enough Catholics to go around."

Knight: "The way, I see it, I will run on a platform of honesty, integrity, efficiency, wise expenditure of citizen dollars and my background of civic accomplishment and business expertise."

SWARTZ: "Wrong. That's what everybody says. What are the issues?"

Knight: "Issues? I'm not sure.",

Swartz: "What you'll do is talk about cutting down on crime in the suburbs before it gets out of hand - even though you won't be able to do anything about it - and you'll be for group homes as long as they are built down by the railroad tracks. It's too early to tell whether you will start attacking the present administration for wasteful, wanton extravagance."

Knight: "But I support the administration. I have the backing of the Mayor.'

Swartz: "Don't tell anyone. It's not good to be cozy with the present administration until we are sure that they won't do something stupid between now and November. What you do is claim to be an independent thinker and doer who is skeptical of they way city funds are being spent. You'll want to talk about cutting out the fat -, conventions and travel expenses, for example.

Knight: "But my supporters on the council won't want me to start talking about cutting out such things until I become accustomed to the budget."

overheard

over coffee

- A woman political candidate was complaining that her intense campaign was running her ragged. Her companion answered: "Well, Harry Truman said, 'If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen." The candidate replied: "Heck, that's why I'm running for office. I'm trying to get out of the kitchen."
- "I see where Senator Kennedy (Edward Kennedy, D-Mass.) claims the $11.8 billion tax cut for the oil industry is a giveaway to the oil companies. But Sen. Dole (Robert Dole, R-Kan.) claimed the cut would help poor and elderly landowners who rely on their meager royalty checks to live. I believe Dole, I mean Big Oil never lied to us before. But, I worry about all those elderly people having to sponsor all those television programs."

Swartz: "Don't worry," you're not going to cut out their travel, just the travel of department heads, employees and like that. You'll still be able to travel."

Knight: "What else should I talk about?"

SWARTZ: "Nothing. We'll send out a lot of mail and brochures with a lot of photos of you taken in front of the White House and we'll say only enough to make sure they look at the photos.

Now about money. My fee is high. How are you fixed?"

Knight: "I need money."

Swartz: "We'll have you a fund-raiser. The ideal fundraiser is one where everybody kicks in and nobody shows up — keeps expenses down. We'll have a Tuesday morning breakfast at $100 an egg and figure that nobody will want to come to the place I pick out.

"The way to do this, you see, is invite all the businessmen in town. You got to make them think that you'll do something for them after you're elected without ever really doing anything. At the same time you got to make them think you will probably win so they can't take the chance of crossing you now and paying for it

Knight: "That way I keep my integrity, right?" Swartz: "Right."

To whom does it go?

Watch the taxpayer dollar

One of the wonders of our age, or any age for that matter, is the number of people willing to believe what you tell them instead of what you show them. Especially when it comes to money.

Take President Reagan's tax cut. Congress last week OK'd the biggest tax cuts in U.S. history, something like $750 billion over three years.

Reagan will now move ahead with a plan to cut federal spending by something like $35 billion.

The cuts are staged - more of them will occur toward the end of the three years than will occur this year - but near as I can figure, this year Reagan will reduce federal income by something like $200 billion or more while cutting federal spending by about $35 billion.

MOST OF THE tax cuts will benefit individuals. I heard Reagan on the radio last week railing against the plans' detractors, calling them "demagogues" because they believed too much of the cuts are aimed at high-income people and not enough of the cuts are aimed at average-income people.

How can this be, Reagan asked, since half of the benefits go to people who make more than $50,000 and half of the benefits to those who make less? He didn't say it, but it sounded a lot like: What could be

But I don't like talking about economics. I like talking about baseball.

THE STRIKE is over and I don't much care whether the owners or the players caused it - although I have an opinion on the subject, considering that the strike was miraculously settled only days before the owner's insurance policy ran-out.

What I'm curious about is places like New York, Detroit, Milwaukee and Cleveland, where the stadia are publicly-owned.

The city of Detroit, which got the idea from the city of New York, bought Tiger Stadium for a dollar a few years back The price makes Tiger owner John Fetzer sound like a real sweetheart. Steve Kemp knows better.

In exchange for buying the stadium, the city promised to pump millions of dollars into renovation and maintenance. Funds for this came from a public bond sale. The money to pay off the bonds comes from a surcharge on every ticket sold.

That's tickets to baseball games, folks. But for about 50 days this summer, nobody played any baseball games in Tiger Stadium, which means nobody bought any tickets, which means nobody paid any surcharges, which means Detroit didn't have any money coming in to pay off its bonds.

I think they call that breach of contract, as in law-

a robot in your future?

Did you know that scientists have created a whole new generation of robots?

They will one day manage your household, cut your grass, tutor you in French, make a fourth in bridge and even psychoanalyze you.

By the end of the 20th century, scientists maintain, robot intelligence will surpass that of humans. The household robot need not be a clanking metal Jeeves with a whole body. He may be broken up and spread around the house.

Close your eyes and imagine you gave your flesh-andblood cleaning woman her walking papers and rented an automoton who not only drives to work but manufactures cars.

Think about building a closet in which to store the robot's mini-computer brain. The brain operates on a network of mechanical arms that cook, wash dishes, make beds and give you a massage.

You'll have to decide what to call it. It'll be hard to decide if it's a Ms. or a his. You might settle on Sidney, which can go either way.

'The boss liked me because I didn't take coffee breaks, never called in sick or asked for a raise. I didn't have to join a union, and I never mixed with the humans.'

Just imagine mechanical arms shooting out and whipping up a crazy tin souffle that Sidney serves with a can opener. After dinner, various parts of Sidney do the dishes, sweep the floor and mix cocktails.

You ask the robot to pull himself together and tell you the story of his life. In a voice created by intercommunication units, Sidney rasps, "I once worked on an assembly line making large cars for General Motors. "The boss liked me because I didn't take coffee breaks, never called in sick or asked for a raise. I didn't have to join a union, and I never mixed with the humans. I guess I was unclassified.

"But when the company converted to smaller cars, I lost a hand in the stamping press. Then I had a breakdown, went berserk and dented my arm against a post.

"The human workers sent me flowers and get-well cards. They felt superior to me. They liked having a robot to kick around, so they could afford to be patron-

After that, Sidney continued, he decided to get an easier job. He became a computer for Bell Telephone Co. His mechanical vocal cords told everyone who dialed information, "The number is listed in your telephone directory.'

THAT JOB GOT boring. So Sidney clanked around and found out that doctors were too busy to handle minor illnesses and make house calls and were hiring robots to do the trivial stuff.

"I was hired by a physician and my first patient was a kid who was itching and scratching and breaking out in spots. I told his parents it wasn't measles.

"I diagnosed the problem as a case of parental rejection and advanced stages of frozen psyche and neurotic manifestations. The kid's parents threw me out of the house and nearly smashed me to death.

"I had to check into a bump shop for repairs and wait three weeks. They still didn't get all the kinks out humans are lousy mechanics."

Sidney thought of becoming a robot astronaut. He wanted to be sent to Mars to pick up rocks, smash them in half and hold them up to the TV camera back on earth. He figured that would be cheaper than sending a man into space.

"BUT I guess the government had a surplus of money. I offered to work for less than the minimum wage with no fringes. Maybe I didn't get the job because the astronaut's union kept me out.

"I didn't qualify for unemployment compensation, so I just rattled around for a while. I took a few babysitting jobs, but the kids got so violent watching TV they kept bashing my head in."

When Sidney found out a movie studio was casting for "Star Wars," he figured that was his big chance. But when he filled out an application, he got stuck on the question, "Are you male or female?"

That was when Anita Bryant was getting all uptight about homosexuality. So Sidney didn't get the part. To this day, he refuses to serve orange juice.

Things got tougher for Sidney when Ronald Reagan was elected. He couldn't get on ADR (aid to dependent robots.) He was refused welfare, food stamps and social

Not being among the moral majority, he couldn't even get a defense job. He was turned down by Airborne Warning and Control Systems.

He thought of volunteering to distribute anti-abortion literature but was afraid robots would be considered a subtle form of birth control.

"I'm on my last legs," he sighed. "I guess I'm stuck with doing housework. I'm sick and tired of being abused and discriminated against. I'm forced to be resigned to assuming a submissive, subservient role in

Schoolcraft presidency race narrows after trustee ballot

Grilling not over for candidates

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees culled its field of five semi-finalists for the college presidency to two Thursday in a one-ballot selection.

Chosen were Lyle Robertson, academic vice president at Macomb County Community College, and Richard McDowell, vice president for planning at the Community College of Allegheny County in suburban Pittsburgh.

The board agreed to create two, three-member subcommittees of trustees augmented by two members of a citizen advisory board. Newly elected Laura Toy will be vacationing and is not expected to take part in the rest of the selection pro-

The five-person groups will make personal visits to the campuses of Macomb and Allegheny this week, where they intend to interview various officials about the respective candidates.

Both Robertson and McDowell will also make their second visits to the Schoolcraft campus, accompanied by their wives.

Trustees had good things to say about all of the five semi-finalists. But not surprisingly, they had better things to say regarding McDowell and Robertson — especially McDowell, who seemed to have infatuated the board. Three different trustees took pains to comment on his readiness for a college presidensaid, "has gone the entire range of education," pointing out that he's been a teacher at both high school and college levels as well as a college administrator.

Robertson, who was quiet-spoken in his interview with trustees, possesses "a leadership," Mrs. Raymond said, "but I don't think derestimate him.

"I guess some people don't come through an interview so well, but he speaks to public groups so I guess he relates well," said Mrs. Raymond.

ON McDOWELL, Michael Burley said "his experience is excellent.

"Dr. McDowell seems to have all the experience and in addition to that comes across as a very dynamic person . . . I think he'd be a strong leader for any community college," added Burley.

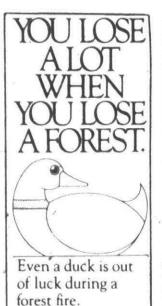

Mrs. Raymond called McDowell "very self-confident," and added later that he has "respect and regard for all individuals . . . I think that's very important for an administrator."

EMU summer enrollment off

Summer term enrollment at Eastern Michigan University totaled 5,612 students, a decrease of 5 percent, or 296 students, from the 1980 summer term enrollment figure of 5,908 students.

The summer term headcount included 573 freshmen and sophomores, 2,180 juniors and seniors, and 643 special students. In addition, 2,216 graduate students are registered for the summer term.

In-person registration and program adjustment for the fall term at EMU currently is in progress at the University Registration Office in Briggs Hall. The Registration Office is open from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m on Monday. Tuesday through Friday, the office is open from 8 a.m to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m.

Schoolcraft candidate eyes top post

Richard McDowell soon will be a community college president - if not at Schoolcraft, then at another quality institution

"My career goal is to be a community college president. I'm committed to the community college. I'm holding out for a good one.

"You are a good one. You seem too good to be true." McDowell told the Schoolcraft board of trustees Wednesday as they interviewed him for the presidency.

A day later it turned out that McDowell, 44, has a 50-50 chance. He was one of two finalists gleaned from a field of five that Schoolcraft trustees had interviewed during the last two weeks.

And Schoolcraft trustees afterwards said no doubt McDowell will become a president, either of the northwest Wayne County two-year college or somewhere else.

In coming weeks, Schoolcraft will send a small delegation to visit McDowell's current place of work, the Community College of Allegheny County, Pa., where he is vice president for planning.

"I'LL TELL you who I am. If that's what you're looking for, then we have a match," he said.

"I'm a good administrator. I'm a people person. I'm good at one-on-one, in small groups and in people outreach. "I'm good at planning, assigning

"Our role is to train the labor force for business and industry," McDowell said. "Most companies have educational benefits. Most want you do do something for them.

"But they're never gonna ask you. It's a matter of getting out in the street and asking them. You don't know that unless you get out and knock on doors."

McDowell said he has set up a program for training supervisors at U.S. Steel; a lunchtime course one day a week at Westinghouse; a plant program for another firm; and an end-of-the-

Great Lakes exhibit will make you beam

By Lem Meseee staff writer

Lighthouse buffs may want to check out the Dossin Great Lakes Museum's exhibit honoring the 100th anniversary of U.S. Coast Guard activities on Belle Isle.

"Guardians of the Great Lakes" includes documents, models of Coast Guard vessels and relics from the early years.

The state Department of Natural Resources has contributed a display on Michigan's land and water facilities and a limited number of 18-by-21-inch full color brochures giving the history and locations of some 50 lighthouses around the state. Brochures will be distributed free while supplies last. It should be exactly the guide you need if you intend to make a slide collection or do water color paintings of Michigan lighthouses.

The Belle Isle lighthouse acted as a nautical guide on the Detroit River and Lake St. Clair from 1881 to the early 1940s. In 1942 the lighthouse was replaced by a modern lifeboat station for the Coast Guard's broader duties of law enforcement, logistics support, pollution control and checking lake lev-

SENSATIONAL SUMMER CENTS-SAVERS

Economical eggs + fresh produce in season = sensational, yet centsible, summer dining. Clockwise from top: Zucchini Tomato Quiche, Sweet Corn Omelets, Green Bean Scramble, Eggplant Parmesan Frittata and Creamy Cucumber Custards.

ummertime ... and the eating is easy, economical and delicious! Fresh produce is popping up all over in supermarkets and home gardens. And, easy-to-prepare eggs are as readily available, and when compared to other protein sources, as inexpensive as ever. When Large eggs are $1.00 a dozen, they're only 67¢ a pound! Put the two together and the result is sensational, but centsible, summer dining.

From asparagus to zucchini, the variety of vegetables, available is more than sufficient to satisfy 'most anyone's taste buds. And, the variety of ways eggs can be prepared is almost unlimited. The recipes here include an elegant quiche, easy-to-make omelets, a speedy skillet supper scramble, a fast and flavorful frittata, and refreshingly light custards. But, you needn't stop there. Finely chop or shred your favorite vegetable and fold it into a souffle. Roll up asparagus spears or broccoli stalks in crepes and ladle on a cheese sauce. Chop your veggies and toss them together with chopped hard-cooked eggs and either "mayo," sour cream or yogurt for a salad, sandwich spread or dip. For any meal of the day, there's an easy and economical way to get needed protein, vitamins and minerals on the table when you combine eggs with seasonal produce.

To keep you and your kitchen cool this summer, three of these recipes are top-of-range skillet suppers. The quiche can be baked either conventionally or in a microwave and you don't have to turn on the oven for the custards - they can be made in an electric skillet!

Try any or all of these recipes. Or, substitute other vegetables for those suggested. Either way, meal preparation will take so little time, you'll be able to get out and enjoy the summer sunshine.

ZUCCHINI TOMATO QUICHE

6 servings

Pretty as a picture and as tasty as it looks! Serve this impressive entree for a family breakfast, lunch or dinner or a stylish brunch for guests. Be sure to drain the tomato well as summer tomatoes are apt to be quite fuicy.

- 1 (9-inch) baked pie shell° 2 cups sliced zucchini (about 1
- medium) 1/2 cup chopped onion tablespoon butter
- · 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Swiss
  - cheese tablespoon flour
- 1 medium tomato, seeded, chopped and drained (about 3/4 cup)
- 1 cup half and half or milk
- 1/2 teaspoon oregano or basil leaves, crushed
- 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon pepper In large skillet over medium heat, cook zucchini and onion in butter until
- lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle zucchini mixture, cheese,/flour and tomato into pie shell. Beat together remaining ingredients until well blended. Pour over vegetables and

Bake in preheated 375°F. oven until knife inserted near center comes out clean, 30 to 35 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.

*TO BAKE PIE SHELL

Line unbaked pie shell with 12-inch square of aluminum foil. Fill with rice or dried beans or peas. Cover rim of shell with edges of foil. Bake in preheated 450°F. oven until lightly browned at edges, 10 to 15 minutes. Lift out foil and rice. Cool on wire rack.

Microwave: Prick bottom and sides of pie shell with fork. Cook on High 4 to 4-1/2 minutes, rotating 1/4 turn after 1 minute and 3 minutes. Set aside. In shallow casserole combine zucchini, onion and butter. Cover and cook on High until soft, about 4 minutes. Fill pie shell as above.

Cook on High 5 minutes, rotating 1/2 turn after 2-1/2 minutes. Reduce power to 50% or 30% and cook 11 to 15 minutes, rotating 1/4 turn two or three times to assure even cooking. Quiche is done when knife inserted halfway between center and outer edge comes out clean. Center will appear set but still slightly shaky. Let stand, uncovered, 10 minutes.

SWEET CORN OMELETS

4 servings If you have only a couple of ears of corn and want to feed the whole family, or if you've got corn "coming out of your ears," try omelets. They're great any time of the day.

1-1/2 cups fresh corn kernels (cut from 2 to 3

- medium ears)
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup water
- 3/4 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1/2 cup water
- 8 eggs
- 1/2 to 1 teaspoon dry mustard 1/8 teaspoon pepper 4 tablespoons butter,
  - divided
  - 1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese,
  - divided
  - Cherry tomatoes, optional Parsley sprigs, optional

In medium saucepan, combine corn, green pepper, onion, water and 1/4 teaspoon of the salt. Bring to hoiling. Cover, reduce heat and simmer until corn is tender, about 5 minutes. Keep warm while preparing omelets. Drain before filling omelets.

Mix eggs, water, remaining salt, mustard and pepper until blended. For each omelet, in 7-10-inch omelet pan or skillet, over medium-high heat, heat 1 tablespoon of the butter until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in 1/2 cup of the egg mixture. (Mixture should immediately set at edges.) With an inverted pancake turner, carefully push cooked portions at edges toward center so uncooked portions can reach hot pan surface, tilting pan and moving cooked portions as necessary. While top is still moist and creamy-looking, place about 1/2 cup of the corn mixture on half of the omelet. Sprinkle 1/4 cup of the cheese over corn mixture. With pancake turner, fold omelet in half and invert onto plate with a quick flip of the wrist or slide from pan onto plate. Keep warm while preparing remaining omelets. Garnish with tomatoes and parsley, if desired."

*It is better to fill omelet when it is slightly underdone. Heat retained in eggs completes the cooking.

GREEN BEAN SCRAMBLE

4 servings If you've never made a skillet scramble, the summer season is a wonderful time to try one. This recipe uses fresh green beans and Swiss cheese. Use another vegetable or a combination of several in place of the beans the next time you make one.

- 8 ounces fresh green beans, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1/2 cup water
- 8 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk
- tablespoon instant minced onion
- or savory leaves, crushed, optional 1/8 teaspoon pepper

1/2 teaspoon tarragon, rosemary

- 2 tablespoons butter 1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded Swiss
- 1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt

In medium saucepan, combine beans and water. Bring to boiling. Cover, reduce heat and simmer until beans are crisp-tender, 10 to 15 minutes. Drain and set aside. Mix eggs, milk and seasonings until blended. In 10-inch omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, heat butter until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. Stir in reserved green beans and cheese. As mixture begins to set, gently draw an inverted pancake turner completely across the bottom and sides of pan, forming large soft curds. Continue until eggs are thickened but still moist. Do not stir constantly.

*It is better to remove scrambled eggs from pan when they are slightly underdone. Heat retained in eggs completes the cooking.

EGGPLANT PARMESAN FRITTATA

Eggplant lovers will rave. For eggplant haters, just change the name, keep that ingredient a secret, and they'll rave, too. The flavor is mild but rich. Also good cold.

- 1 tablespoon water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt 2 cups diced pared eggplant
- (about 8 oz.) 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs 1/4 cup butter or oil
- 8 eggs
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese 1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed 6 drops hot pepper sauce Parsley sprigs, optional

1/2 cup dairy sour cream

1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Watercress leaves, optional

1/2 teaspoon dried dill weed

2 tablespoons flour

1/8 teaspoon pepper

1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded mozzarella

1/2 cup milk or tomato juice

In medium bowl beat together egg, water and salt. Add eggplant and toss gently until eggplant is completely coated with egg mixture. Let stand 10 minutes. Drain. Return eggplant to bowl, sprinkle with crumbs and toss until completely coated with crumbs. In 10-inch omelet pan or skillet with ovenproof handle over medium heat, cook eggplant in butter, stirring frequently, until lightly browned on all sides, about 5 minutes. Beat together remaining ingredients except parsley. Pour over eggplant.

Cook over low to medium heat until eggs are almost set, 12 to 15 minutes. Cover pan, remove from heat and let stand 8 to 10 minutes. OR, broil about 6 inches from heat until eggs are completely set, 4 to 5 minutes longer. Cut into wedges and serve from pan, or either slide from pan or invert onto serving platter. Garnish with parsley, if desired.

"To make handle ovenproof, wrap completely with aluminum foil

CREAMY CUCUMBER CUSTARDS 6 servings

Cucumber in custards? Yes! Served warm or chilled, they make a refreshing meal starter, side dish or snack. Though light, they're luscious with cream cheese and sour cream adding richness.

- 1 medium-cucumber (10 to
- 1 tablespoon vinegar 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 cup chopped onion tablespoon butter
- cup milk package (3 oz.) cream cheese,
- Cut 6 thin cucumber slices. Set aside. Pare, seed and shred remaining cucumber. Stir in vinegar and salt. Let stand 15 minutes. Drain well, pressing out excess liquid. Set aside. In small saucepan over medium heat, cook onion in butter until tender but not brown, 3 to 4 minutes. Stir in milk. Heat until very hot. Stir in cheese until melted. Remove from heat.

In large bowl, beat together remaining ingredients except watercress until well blended. Gradually stir in reserved cucumber and milk mixture. Place six (6 oz. each) custard cups in large baking pan. Pour egg mixture into custard cups. Place pan on rack in preheated 350°F, oven. Pour very hot water into pan to within 1/2 inch of top of custards. Bake until knife inserted near center comes out clean, about 20 to 25 minutes. Remove immediately from hot water. Serve warm or chilled. Garnish with reserved cucumber slices and watercress leaves, if desired. To cook in electric skillet: Prepare egg mixture as above. Place filled custard cups in skillet. Fill skillet with very hot water to level of about 1 inch. Cover. Heat at 350°F. until water boils, about 4 to 5 minutes. Reduce heat and simmer until knife inserted near center comes out clean, about 10 to 15 minutes. Remove immediately from hot water. Serve as above.

I'm sure that everyone has heard at some time that European peasant bread is quite different than breads produced in this country - either commercially or at home.

Part of the reason for this is that the basic ingredients used are different. The flour is ground from wheat which has been grown in different soils, yielding subtly different flavors. (Even the flour sold in this country varies from one region to another.) The strains of yeast are also different, resulting in varying degrees of sourness. Thus, even when identical techniques are used, the resultant loaves of bread will be distinct

Another factor which affects the finished product is the oven used. Many Europeans do not bake their own bread since excellent commercially made loaves are readily available. These

There must be a few of those ovens in this country but they are not readily available. Few of us have access to either European-quality bread or to a genuine brick baker's oven.

WHILE I HAVE no suggestions for remedying the former situation, short of making frequent jaunts to the Continent, there is a method of improvising a facsimile of the latter. # You can bake authentic pizzas and pita bread paring the pizza are not trapped as they are by a pan. Tile-baked pizza thus has a baked rather than a fried taste and texture.

IT REQUIRES very little imagination to foresee the difficulty involved in placing a pizza directly onto a surface in a hot oven.

Anyone who has ever tried to slip an unbaked pizza onto a baking sheet (actually to slip the baking sheet under the pizza - quite a different trick altogether) would shudder to think of trying to transfer an entire unbaked pizza from a counter top to the rack of a 450-degree oven (you can't slip those pre-heated tiles under the pizza). This is where a sliding board becomes indispensible. This is a large, flat wooden paddle with a surface big enough to fit under a pizza and a handle large enough to keep your hands a safe distance from the blistering-hot oven interior. It, too, can be purchased in kitchen-supply shops or can be improvised from plywood.

The sliding board can be used to shovel not only pizza but other breads as well into the oven quickly and safely remove them with equal speed and safety.

PITA BREADS, for examply, depend on a very high temperature to achieve their characteristic puffiness. The preheated tiles provide the instant, intense heat necessary for proper results. Pita rounds should be quickly loaded into the oven (before too much heat is lost) and must be just as quickly removed.

If allowed to bake too long, they become brittle rather than emerging as soft, malleable pockets - perfect for stuffing. Ideally, they should deflate as they cool although retaining two distinct layers. At this point, they can be gently flattened and stored in plastic bags and may even be frozen.

For those who have invested in either quarry tiles or an oven stone and are anxious to experiment with their new, improvised brick ovens, the following recipes should provide a tantalizing starting point. The first is a marvelous pita bread, hearty with whole wheat flour and sesame seeds. The second is Marcella Hazan's recipe for a traditional Neopolitan pizza. Made without mozzarella, this would make a delicious aceompaniment to a meal or could be served as a hearty snack of hors d'ouevre.

WHOLE WHEAT-SESAME PITA BREAD

2 tbsp. (2 envelopes) active dry yeast

1/4 tsp. mild honey 2 cups lukewarm water 1/4 cup olive oil Scant 1 tbsp. salt 1/2 cup sesame seeds 21/2 cups whole-wheat flour 3 cups unbleached white flour Cornmeal

Dissolve the yeast and honey in 1/2 cup of the lukewarm water in a mixing bowl and let sit for 10 minutes to proof (bubble up). Add the remaining water and mix well, then whisk in the oil, salt, and sesame seeds. Stir in the wholewheat flour, a cup at a time; fold in 2 cups of the unbleached white flour, a cup at a time. Place the remaining cup of unbleached white flour on your board and turn out the dough.

Knead vigorously for 10 to 15 minutes, until the dough is smooth and elastic, then shape into a ball and place in an oiled or buttered bowl, upside down first to coat the dough, then right side up. Cover and let rise in a warm place for 11/2 to 2 hours, until doubled Punch the dough down and turn it out onto your board. Knead three or four times and allow to rest for 10 minutes, then divide into eight or 10 equal pieces. (depending on how large you want the pitas to be) and shape each piece into a ball. Place the balls on a floured surface, cover with a towel, and let rise for 30 minutes.

Using a well-floured rolling pin, flatten each ball and roll it out into a circle approximately 1/2 inch thick and 8 inches in diameter. Dust two unoiled baking sheets with cornmeal and place two circles on each sheet. Leave the remaining ones on your lightly floured board. Cover and let rise again for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, preheat your oven to 500 degrees, with quarry tiles or baking stone in place on a center rack.

Transfer unbaked pita rounds to the tiles and bake for 5 minutes without opening the oven door. Check your loaves and, if they are beginning to brown, remove from the oven. If they still smell yeasty and not like baking bread, leave for another 2 to 5 minutes.

Bake all the rounds this way, cool on racks, and wrap well. Keep at room temperature if you're eating them soon, or refrigerate or freeze. Makes eight to 10 round loaves.

(Adapted from "The Vegetarian Feast" by Martha Rose Shulman)

We can't afford to waste it.

PIZZA ALLA MARINARA

Topping: 11/2 lbs. fresh plum tomatoes or 2 cups canned Italian plum tomatoes, cut up, seeded, and thoroughly drained 5 tbsp. olive oil

4 medium garlic cloves, peeled and sliced very thin 2 tsp. oregano

Dough: 11/2 cups semolina (hard-wheat-durumflour)

1 tsp. salt 1/2 oz. fresh cake yeast or 1/2 pkg. dry yeast (11/2 tsp.), dissolved in 1/2 cup lukewarm water 1 tbsp. olive oil

Dough: Pour the flour onto a work surface, shape it into a mound, and make a shallow hollow in the center.

Put the salt, dissolved yeast, and olive oil in the hollow, and draw the sides of the mound together, combining the flour with all the other ingredients. Work with your hands until all the ingredients are amalgamated and form a ball of dough. Then knead for about 8 minutes.

Pizza dough goes through a single, fairly rapid rising; it doubles in volume in about 3 hours. The dough has a firm, yet elastic consistency, and faintly yeasty taste.

Put the kneaded dough in a lightly floured bowl. Wring out a wet kitchen towel until it is just damp, fold it in two, and cover the bowl with it. Place the bowl in a warm, protected place, such as an unlit oven with a gas pilot.

It is ready to use when it has doubled in volume, in 3 hours or so. However, if you are not prepared then to bake the pizza, no harm will be done if you leave the dough in the bowl an extra hour or

Topping: Put the cup tomatoes in a medium saute pan, with 3 tbsp. of the olive oil and salt. Cover and turn on the heat to medium. After 2 or 3 minutes, when the tomatoes have softened a bit, uncover the pan, and cook for 6 to 7 minutes more, stirring frequently.

Place the tomatoes in a food mill, but do not strain them just yet. Set the food mill over a bowl, and let any liquid from the tomatoes drip into the bowl for 5 minutes. Then discard the liquid, and strain the tomatoes into the bowl. Set aside to cool. Preheat the baking stone or tiles in a 450 degree oven for at least 30 minutes.

Roll out the pizza dough into a disk about 10 to 11 inches in diameter, which should work out to a thickness of around 1/4 inch. Turn the dough over from time to time as you roll it out. This will keep it from shrinking back. Try not to roll past the edges. As you reach the desired diameter, use your fingertips to push some of the dough from the center of the disk toward the edge, making the edges at least twice as thick as the rest of the disk. Place the dough on a wooden paddle or sheet of cardboard. Top with the tomatoes, a sprinkling of salt, the garlic and oregano, and 2 tablespoons olive oil, spread evenly in a thin stream.

Slide the pizza onto the hot stone or tiles and bake for 15 to 20 minutes in the preheated oven, until the rim of the pizza forms a deep golden crust. Yield: one 10-to-11-inch pizza.

SHARON FOWLER is the winner of the Wedgewood Pickwick

Charter members of the Pickwick Reading Club were eligible to win the limited edition plate which Hazel Gibson brought back from England. Sharon is a member of the new club which allows members to rent new books at special rates and provides purchase privileges and a monthly newsletter

The plate, valued at $50, has a portrait of Charles Dickens in the center with Mr. Pickwick and nine other Dickens characters around the border.

Persons interested in joining the club can call 455-8787 or stop in at Plymouth Book World in Forest Place Mall.

FARMERS' Markets in Plymouth and Canton Township are hitting the peak of the produce

One of the most popular features of the Plymouth market is the animal adoption center. Puppies and kittens are being adopted by families that didn't realize they wanted a new pet. There is no charge to persons who offer the pets for adoption. They are asked to stay around and see what happens to the animals they take to the adoption

Janet Campbell's homemade jams and jellies are popular. Homegrown herbs are spices and locally produced honey are available. There also are the great Greek and Jewish breads as well as freshly made

It's been a great year for sweet corn and Canton sweet corn is the best. There also are house plants and delicious homemade cookies.

Pickle makers will find plenty of cucumbers, peppers, onions and dill. (I have great empathy for the local lady who called with a very sad tale. She had canned 16 pints of bread and butter pickles the day before. A neighbor who sampled her pickles mentioned that they were very bland. It was then the pickler realized that she had used cider instead of vinegar to make her pickles.)

Farm market hours are 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays in Plymouth and 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Canton Township. The Plymouth market is on Penniman Avenue between the Penn Theater and the Masonic Temple. The Canton market is in the parking lot of the Kmart shopping center at Ford and Sheldon roads.

ONE OF THE nicest ways to become acquainted in the Plymouth Canton community is to join the Plymouth Symphony League's round robin bridge. It is open to all bridge players - good and not so

One of the advantages of the round robin is that the players are not tied down to a commitment of the same time, the same night of every month. The games are arranged at the players' convenience by the players.

There are daytime and evening groups; singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. You can play with your husband or with a friend or as a single. Games are played in participants' homes, and the hostess arranges the date and time. Those involved usually host a game once or twice during the season which begins in September and ends before June 1. All scores must be in by

The donation of $12 per player goes to the support of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra - after expenses. Winners get their money back when the scores are tallied in Jean Sigmon and Fran Lang are coordinating the round robin for the coming season. They will cheerfully answer all questions and accept registrations. Jean can be reached by calling 453-4458 and Fran by calling 453-5064. If they don't answer, don't give up. They play a lot of bridge.

NEW MORNING finally had its ground breaking ceremony for its new building on Haggerty Road.

The first ground breaking was rained out. The second was halted by a stop-work order issued by Plymouth Township. (It was rescinded later in the day.) The third attempt went on as planned - although it was raining. The ground has been broken officially and the kids and teachers and parents are eagerly awaiting the arrival of the school building

Itsuro Sakaguchi led his fellow students as they sang "When the Saints Come Marching In" to the Colonial Kiwanis Club.

Kiwanians play host to Japanese teenagers

Club of Plymouth invited 15 Japanese students and their chaperones to lunch Thursday for the club's regular luncheon meeting in the Mayflower Hotel. The teenagers didn't exactly sing for their luncheon, but they did serenade the Kiwanians.

They sang, "When the Saints Come Marching In" in four-part harmony in English. Then they sang a song in Japanese. They said the title could be translated as "Young Generation" and that it is very popular at home. It is available on tapes, casettes and records and is often sung at sports days.

The meeting was an opportunity for the club members to meet the students whose Plymouth visit they had sponsored. A spokesman for the chaperones thanked the club for taking the students into their homes and sharing in the people-to-people exchange program.

Each of the japanese students received a City of Plymouth T-shirt and a souvenir handbell. Later in the day, the students and their host families gathered at the home of Lois and Fred Andres in Canton Township for a picnic. It was the last social event in the area for them before they left for Shenandoah, Iowa, Friday morning.

HOSTING THE touring Japanese students has become an annual summer project for the Colonial Kiwani-

The MBC High School Students Exchange Program was initiated 17 years ago by Suetaka Hatanaka, chairman of the board of the Minaminihon Broadcasting Company. Hatanaka said the idea of the program was derived from "the historical fact the Satsuma clan, inspired by the far advanced Western civilization at the time of the brief battle between the British Navy and the Satsuma clan in 1863, sent 15 bright young students to Europe and the United States for personal exposure to modern civilization. Upon their return to Japan, they served as the driving force behind the Meiji Restoration."

The students are from the Kagoshi-

Members of the Colonial Kiwanis ma Prefecture in Japan. Candidates for the program are nominated by their high school principals. Difficult written examinations and oral questioning narrow the number down to the chosen 15.

> The group left Japan July 22 and arrived in Los Angeles the same day The next morning they flew to Atlanta, Ga. and traveled from there to Athens for a five-day stay. Their flight to Georgia was the last plane trip for the students until they take off from San Francisco for home Aug. 18.

Hatanaka wants them to really see the country so they travel by bus. The students' families are from various economic levels. For those who cannot afford luggage and spending money, Hatanaka provides. MBC serves an area in which the number of radio and television sets is estimated at 3,181,000.

FROM ATHENS, the group went to Washington, D.C., New York City and Detroit before coming to Plymouth for their second home stay. They will have two more visits in American homes in Shenandoah and in Santa Rosa Calif.

Lois and Fred Andres had four stu-

Magumi Kanzaki, 17, is the daughter of a farmer and one of three children. Her hobbies are music appreciation and guitar. Itsuro Sakaguchi, 17, is the son of a high school teacher and one of three children. She likes to play tennis and also plays guitar. Shosaku Shigemaro, 16, son of a local government official and one of three children, said "Kendo" Japanese fencing is his favorite sport. Syusaka Hikari, 16, one of two children of a local government official also listed Kendo as his favorite Lois Andres said the students helped with the haying, pulled weeds and raked the yard in preparation for the picnic. Side trips took them to the Renaissance Center in Detroit, across the river to Windsor, Ontario, and to Ann Arbor, where they received University of Michigan T-shirts.

"They loved those T-shirts," said Mrs. Andres.

Kentaro Yonemaru (right) of the MBC Travel Service translated Hiromi Tateyama's thank you speech to the Kiwanians. Tateyama is assistant vice president for news and production and manager of the production section of the Japanese broadcasting company.

YASUKO Shimokawa, 16, stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Holmquist of Plymouth. The 16-year-old is the daughter of a hotel manager and one of three children. She plays the piano and enjoys table tennis.

Naomi Hashi, 16, is the daughter of a company employee and one of three children. She listed her hobbies as reading and music appreciation. She loves ballet. Her hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Vollrath of Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harrington of Plymouth hosted Shoko Kondo, 18, one of two children and the daughter of a Japan National Railways employee. Her hobby is speaking English.

Naomi Higo, 16, stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Davis of Canton. Her father is on the staff of the Japanese self-defense force. She is one of two children. Her favorite sport is basketball and her hobby is "shodo" (calligraphy).

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Northampton in Plymouth Township had Mivuki Sasaki, 17, as their guest. She is the daughter of a chief engineer seaman and one of two children. She likes to write poetry

Keiko Ueno stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Rotarius of Canton Township. Keiko, 16, is one of three children of a local government official. She likes to cook and sew and tennis is her favorite Mitsuhiro Sekiyama and Takeshi Imada were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Macintyre of Plymouth. Mitsuhiro, 16, son of a dental technician, said his hobbies are reading and music appreciation. Rugby is his favorite sport. Takeshi, 16, son a company executive, said Japanese fencing is his favorite sport.

The students planned to demonstrate Japanese fencing for the Kiwanians but decided the ceiling in the Miles Standish Room in the hotel was too low.

SATORO Šakamoto, 18, a 12th grader at Kanoya Agricultural High School is the son of a farmer. He likes both volleyball and baseball. He stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Tony Farell who live on Thornwood in Canton.

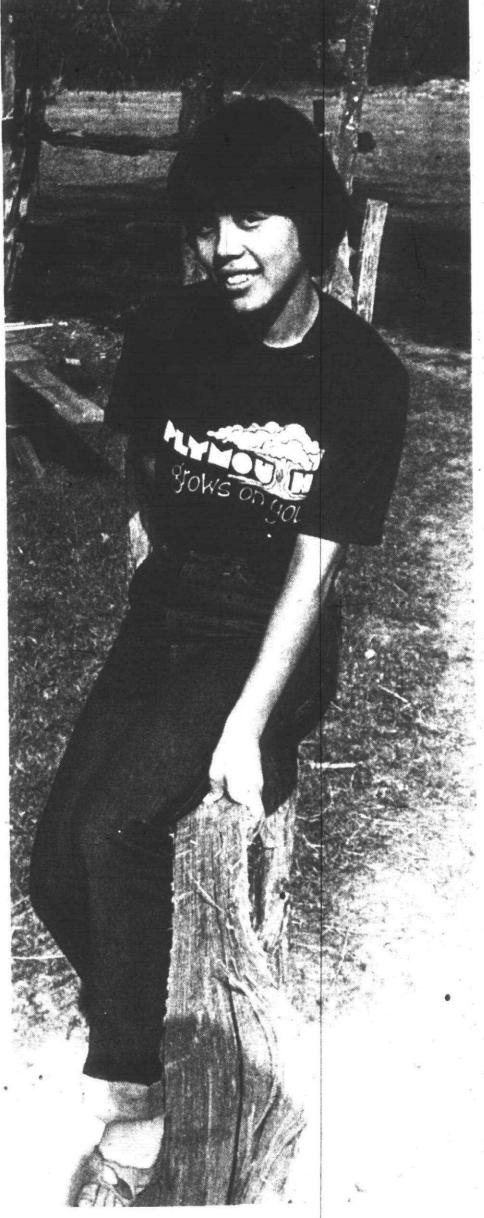

Mr. and Mrs. Margin Hogan hosted Junichi Tsuruda, 16, whose father works for the Japanese national railways. He is one of two children and his hobby is photography. Badminton is his favorite sport.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson of Supérior Township had Kenirichiro Hamada as their guest. The 18-year-old is a 12thgrader at Kagoshima Professional School of Technology. He is the son of a fisherman, one of three children. He is an amateur photographer.

There were seven girls and eight boys in the exchange group. Chaperones included three men who are MBC employees, a government official, and one woman, Etsuko Maeda, who works in sales promotion for the Minaminihon Broadcasting Company.

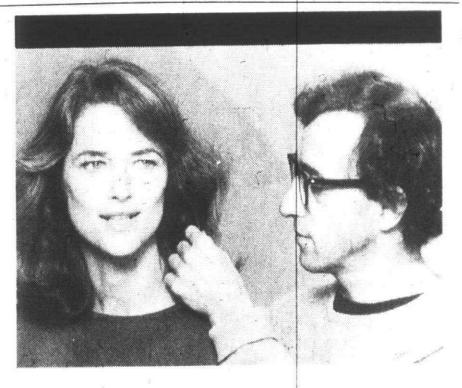

When they left Friday morning, there were tears of parting from both the boys and the parting from both the students and their hosts.

Next summer 15 different young Japanese ambassadors will arrive. Families who would like to host one of the students can call Lois Endres, 455-6273, and ask to have their name added to her list.

Keiko Ueno of Kagoshima, Japan, wore a Plymouth T-shirt to a Canton Township picnic.

The little dress was fashioned with care back in 1907 by Adolphina Miastkowski, who came to this country from Poland and settled for a short time in Connecticutt before she and her husband moved on to the Detroit area.

She made it for the christening of her firstborn son, Alexander. He was baptized in a Catholic church in New Brit-

And on July 26, the day that Alexander would have turned 74 if he were still living, Adolphina's great-greatgrandson became the seventh baby to wear the christening gown.

Now 93 and still living with a daughter in the old family home on 32nd Street in Detroit, she wasn't able to attend the christening of Glenn Clark Obert, but she took a lively interest in the proceedings in St. Cyril Catholic Church of Taylor and remembered that "my Alexander would have been 74 today.

Glenn was born May 19. His mother, the former Rita Miastkowski, grew up in Westland and attended Franklin High School. She also was baptized in the heirloom dress.

ROSE CRUMM of Livonia, Rita's mother and Glenn's grandmother, told about the dress.

"It's made of crepe de chine and embroidered batista silk lace," she said, and Grandma made a little crepe de chine coat and hat to go with it.

"She had three children and they all wore it. Her son Edward is 72 now and lives in Canton, and her daughter Helen is 68 and lives with her mother in Detroit."

After Helen's christening, the dress was packed away for the next generation, Richard Miastkowski, Alexander's first son and Rita Obert's father, wore it in 1932 for his christening in St. Benedict Catholic Church of Detroit.

"My son Richard didn't get to wear it," Mrs. Crumm went on. "He was too big when he was christened. But Rita wore it in 1958. That was in the Hungarian Reform Church in Detroit."

JASON MIASTKOWSKI of Westland, Richard's son and Mrs. Crumm's grandson, led off his generation's use of the old gown when he was christened in April 1976 in St. Theodore Catholic Church of Westland. And baby Glenn brought the count to seven this month.

Hilltop grows; back 9 opened

Hilltop Golf Course was open for play Friday morning as an 18-hole facility and will remain open for the balance of the year.

Previously the golf course owned by Plymouth Township had been a nine-hole course and was expanded this past year to turn it into a money-making recreation facility.

The operators at Hilltop expect to add many more leagues next season as well as collecting the additional income from the higher fees which reflect the cost of playing the additional nine holes.

The fees are: $4.50 for nine holes and $6 for 18 on weekdays; $5 and $8.50 on weekends; $2.50 for nine and $3.50 for 18 for students; and $3 and $4 for senior citizens. Electric carts will not be used for fear the new grass will be damaged, but pull carts will be available.

The renovated club house will include a pro shop, and bar with liquor, drinks and sandwiches offered.

Although exact figures aren't available yet, township officials estimate the total cost of the improvements will come close to $1 million.

Originally the township purchased the nine-hole course for some $383,000, and spent some $250,000 for the raw land alone for the back Two years ago the township spent roughly $220,000 in improvements and this year has invested about $550,000.

Most of the money comes from income collected from year to year in the fund balance, with sizeable portions coming from state and federal revenue sharing monies. The investment of large capital funds to expand Hilltop to an 18hole course become a political issue, as some questioned the expenditure of such large sums of money for a facility which benefited only those persons who played golf. A majority of the township board. however, has backed the expansion on the basis that the investment will make Hilltop a money-maker and will, in future years, return profits to the township coffers which can be used for other types of recreation.

As a nine-hole course, the township's income from Hilltop was an annual lease payment of $6,000 from the manager. John Jawor is the current manager of Hilltop.

Craiger makes waves in NABF tournament

By Scott Adler staff writer

Two giant steps were taken by Canton Craiger last week during the Northwest Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) Sophomore World Series at Canton High School.

Craiger came from behind to defeat Putty Hill Optimist (Baltimore, Md.), 7-6, on Thursday and continued its hot hitting to eliminate North Atlanta, Ga., 10-4, on Friday.

The double-elimination NABF finals were scheduled for completion yesterday unless extended due to poor weather.

Canton started fast against Atlanta. Gerald Ebmeyer's team sent 10 men to the plate in the first inning and took a six-run lead before Atlanta had a chance to bat. Craiger centerfielder Tom Moore started things off with a lead-off triple. Mike McKenney walked and Moore scored on a wild pitch.

Tim Michalik, the winning pitcher against Putty Hill for Canton, ripped a double which was followed by a two-rup single off the bat of Matt Morrison.

Steve Sobditch reached base on an error and after Mark Bennett singled, Dominic De Bello laid down a successful sacrifice bunt which scored Sobditch Dave Briski drove in the final run of the inning with a single to left field. Craiger didn't let up in the second inning. Hits by McKenney, Morrison and Mark Harbaugh were good for two more runs. Bennett knocked in Harbaugh to give Canton an insurmountable 9-0 lead.

"I was a little surprized at how well we hit the ball," said Ebmeyer. "With the quality pitching that is present in a tournament like this, I didn't think that we would score as many runs as that."

The offense wasn't the only thing going right for the host team, as Briski pitched an excellent game, faltering only once in his seven innings.

Briski looked shaky in the third inning when after a single, he loaded the bases with walks. Shortstop Chad Boling promptly emptied the bases with a long triple to close the gap to 9-3.

-ATLANTA BEGAN to hit the ball hard after the third inning, but a good defensive play by Craiger catcher Morrison took the wind out of the south's

Atlanta had stationed men at second and third base with no outs. Briski fanned second baseman Ken Penland and Morrison immediately fired the ball to third base and caught Ed Gattorno leaning for a double play. Atlanta remained hitless for the last 31/3 innings

"Briski did a nice job," said Ebmeyer of his winning pitcher. "And Morrison has made a big difference. He has really helped us out in this tournament. I just hope that our pitching holds out like it

In the tournament opener, Bennett was knocked from the mound by the strong hitting of Putty Hill Optimist.

Bennett lasted only 13 innings as Baltimore scored a run in the first inning and three more in the second before Michalik was called to the mound.

Michalik finished the game, which lasted nine innings, in grand style. He allowed two runs on only two hits and struck out four, but it was the Craiger bats that put the finishing touches on its opponent.

seventh, Briski led off with a single. Moore, who finished the game with four hits, ripped another single. Both runners advanced a base on a throwing error. A solid single by Sobditch scored the tying Neither team was able to mount a scoring threat in the eighth, but in the ninth inning, De Bello led off with a walk and Moore dropped a picture perfect bunt single to put a runner in scoring position.

An intentional walk loaded the bases, and with both the outfield and infield moved in for a play at the plate, Sobditch, who had tied the game in the seventh, won it in the ninth with a long single that flew over the leftfielder's head to score De Bello from third.

"We've had a good attitude and our defense has been good and that's why you win games," said Eb-

Sept. 14.

The Plymouth Canton Mickey Mantle team fell victim last week to what coach John Gravlin calls "the night and day syndrome."

Canton was defeated, 4-1, Friday in the second round of the Northwest Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) Mickey Mantle Regional by the host team Brighton.

Canton defeated this same Brighton team in the first game of the year, 18-0.

Canton won its NABF regional opener, 14-1, over Detroit PAL Yankees Thursday. The proceedings were stopped after five innings due to the 10-run mercy rule. In that game, Gravlin's team looked like a million bucks.

"It was like night and day," said Gravlin. "We were ripping the ball all over the field and we come out today and we looked flat at every position. I mean we kicked the ball all over the field. It was terrible."

Canton made five errors and could manage only two hits all day. The only run came when Don Dom-bey walked, stole second base and scored on two straight passed balls.

"The first game we looked great," said Gravlin. "People were marveling at us. They thought Canton would walk away with it.

"But this has happened before. Inconsistency has been a problem all year long," he said.

Jamie Chilcoff suffered the loss, but the Canton hurler gave up only one earned run.

"Chilcoff, except for his first inning, pitched good enough to win," said Gravlin.

Mike Wall led the assault against the Yankees with three hits in three at bats. He also knocked in a run while Bryan Cappenhurst and Dombey each accounted for two RBIs. Dombey also had two hits, including a home run. Tom Wennerberg added two hits for the winners

Mike Battaglia tossed a fourhitter in the five innings that were played for the win. He struck out four and walked three.

Suspense charges German-spy tale 'Eye of the Needle'

If there are any movie-goers not glued to their seats and hanging on every development in "Eye of the Needle" (R), it's only because they already have read the book and know each turn of events.

Even so, there is fresh pleasure in store because the movie version of Ken Follett's best-selling novel is a solidly crafted, splendidly acted spy adventure.

Directed by Richard Marquand and adapted from Follett's novel by Stanley Mann, the movie simplifies and condenses the twists and subplots of the novel without losing any dramatic punch.

The one simplification that doesn't work well is the superficial treatment of the British operatives who are tracking the German spy. The are not defined as sharply as other characters.

THIS TENDS to lessen their involvement and, with it, the sense of relentless pursuit. However, judicious editing establishes a rapid progression of events that helps compensate for this deficiency.

Donald Sutherland is Henry Faber, the brutally efficient German spy planted in England. He is known as The Needle because of his method of killing with a stiletto.

The year is 1944, and rumors are rife about ap allied invasion of Europe. The German intelligence command, seeking positive information on the allied troop build-up and the likely location of the invasion, turns to The Needle.

When Faber obtains the sought-after information, he sets out in a small ship to rendezvous with a German U-boat off the British coast. Before he can reach the U-boat, he is caught in a terrible storm and shipwrecked on a small island whose only inhabitants are a young woman, her crippled husband, their small son and an old man who helps them tend their flock of sheep.

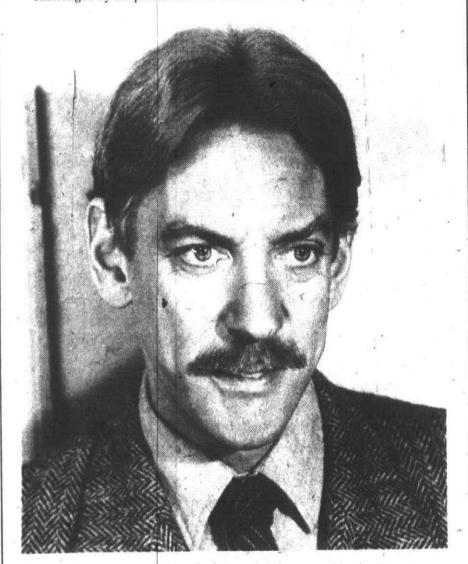

Once the action shifts to the island, the drama and suspense intensify through the interplay of human emotions. Faber is the mysterious stranger who enters the family's secluded world and triggers a violent chain of events.

SUTHERLAND IS masterful as Faber. He makes the spy a fascinating character by developing him with the same degree of thought and attention he might give to portraying a Shakespearean Christopher Cazenove is the husband. A former fighter pilot, he was crippled in an auto accident and hasn't been able to reconcile himself to his handicap. He keeps his wife at a distance by his continual bitterness and outbursts of anger.

Kate Nelligan is outstanding as the forcibly estranged wife. She is a beautiful woman who combines upper-class manners with a smoldering sensuality. She makes the sudden sexual relationship with Faber understandable and convincing.

This is essential to subsequent developments and leads to an exciting climax in which Faber's passionate devotion to duty is challenged by his passionate devotion to a lonely women.

Donald Sutherland is "The Needle," a cunning and ruth less German spy operating in Britain during World War II.

Golden Years' films announced

The Detroit Film Society has confirmed the schedule for its 1981-82 series of monthly movies from the "Golden Years" of Hollywood.

The series is highlighted by the personal appearance of a veteran animator, John Canemaker, commenting on a variety of cartoon shorts; tributes to Humphrey Bogart, Cary Grant, Rita Hayworth and Katharine Hepburn, and recreations of a night at the movies in 1933 and 1938.

The Detroit Film Society is an activity of the Friends of the Detroit Public Library Showings begin at 7 p.m. in Friends Auditorium at the Main Library, 5201 Woodward between Kirby and Putnam.

Society membership entitles a member to 10 programs, at which at least 16 feature films will be shown. Prices for the films are $20 to the general public and $17 to members of the Friends of the Library.

Membership application forms may be requested by phone from the Friends office, 833-4048.

HERE IS the 1981-82 schedule: Sept. 19 (one night only) - "A Tribute to Animation," featuring animator John Canemaker, whose work is seen on Broadway providing "between scenes" interludes in Lauren Bacall's hit "Woman of the Year."

Canemaker will trace the history of early Hollywood animation and will show a program of classic cartoons and animated short films of the '30s and

Oct. 9-10 — "A Tribute to Bogart." Humphrey Bogart's best film persona, the trench-coated private eye, is captured in "The Maltese Falcon" (Warner, 1941) and 'The Big Sleep' (Warner, 1946).

Nov. 13-14 - "A Tribute to Cary Grant." The star is seen oppoite Mae

West in "I'm No Angel" (Paramount, 1933) and Eva Marie Saint in the Hitchcock thriller "North by Northwest" (MGM, 1959).

Dec. 11-12 — "Toe Tappers." Ruby Keeler, with Warner Baxter's help, crashes Broadway in the original "42nd Street" (Warner, 1933), while Gene Kelly, Debbie Reynolds and Donald O'Connor break into early movies in "Singin' in the Rain" (MGM, 1952).

JAN. 8-9 - "That Wonderful Year 1938," recreating a night at the movies with newsreel, cartoon, short subject and the all-female-star comedy-drama "The Women" (MGM, 1939).

Feb. 12-13 — "Be Our Valentine." Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr are the romantic couple in "An Affair to Remember" (Fox, 1956), and Bette David and Paul Henreid break hearts in "Now, Voyager" (Warner, 1942).

March 12-13 - "A Tribute to Rita

Hayworth." The beautiful redhead vamps Glenn Ford in "Gilda" (Columbia, 1946) and incites Orson Welles' ire in "The Lady from Shanghai" (Columbia, 1940) with Rosalind Russell and Cary Grant.

April 9-10 - "The Fourth Estate." Movies look at the newspaper business in "Too Hot to Handle" (MGM, 1938) with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy and "His Girl Friday" (Columbia, 1940) with Rosalind Russell and Cary Grant.

May 14-15 - "A Tribute to Katharine Hepburn." Katy plays opposite Cary Grant in both "Holiday" (Columbia, 1938) and "The Philadelphia Story" (MGM, 1940) which also stars Jimmy Steweart.

June 11-12 — "That Wonderful Year 1933," recreating a night at the movies with newsreel, cartoon, short subject and Greta Garbo in "Queen Christina"

Sherman H. Kane, D.D.S.

DOES PREGNANCY CAUSE TOOTH DECAY?

Once and for all, let's put the myth to rest. Pregnancy does NOT cause tooth decay. It is easy to see where certain factors may lead to this erreneous conclusion. During pregnancy, women tend to be busier preparing for the upcoming birth. Once the baby arrives, she is even busier. Instead of six months, it may be a year or more between visits. Obviously, more dental work will be discovered in a period of one or two years than in a six-month changes during pregnancy. These changes may produce a temporary condition of puffiness or bleeding of the gums. This condition is called 'pregnancy gingivitis' and can be controlled by keeping the mouth "preventive clean" by the proper use of brushing and floss

Of course, women experience certain hormonal

Equally false is the notion that baby robs the mother's teeth of calcium. The composition of adult teeth cannot be changed once fully formed. Bables may be responsible for stretch marks - but not

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Proper use of garden hose will help car live longer

It's easier to take care of your car while enjoying the warm weather of summer. Take this opportunity to bring out the garden hose to lengthen the life of your car, says the Automotive Information Council.

You may have shined up the exterior of the car, but chances are you might have forgotten about the under-fender areas, where moisture-laden road salt and/or mud cling to develop a breeding ground for rust.

If left there, the debris can begin to eat away at the metal surfaces, despite the increased use of galvanized metals, zinc coatings, plastic inner liners and improved sealants.

That's where the garden hose comes in. Turn the nozzle on full force and saturate the under areas of the car.
