The . Canton Connection

IT'S FOOTBALL time again and the local prep gridders from Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools kicked off their respective seasons last weekend. For results on both opening football games, turn to today's Canton Observer sports section.

CLARIFICATION. There is more to last week's story in "The Canton Connection" about the Canton Township Board's discussion on Christmas decorations.

After Trustee Robert Padget said he didn't want to see Township Hall decorated with little elves, Supervisor James Poole responded by looking out in the audience to township accountant John Sobleskie and Finance Director Mike Gorman - Canton's answer to a Mutt-and-Jeff combination.

"Well," said Poole, "that does away with the idea of posing Sobleskie and Gorman as Father Time and Baby New Year."

CANTON OBSERVER editor "Doc" O'Connor was the guest speaker at last week's regular meeting of the Canton Jaycees.

MORE THAN 100 preschool children participated in a neighborhood "Funfair" last week in the McIntyre Gardens subdivision. Six children organized the fair to help raise money for Muscular Dystrophy. They had games for one cent and drinks, popcorn and cookies for two cents each. They raised $9.58 The children who organized the activity were Teresa and Holly Mudri, Kelly and Brian Patrzebowski, Kelly Rowe and JoAnn Schlittler.

Schools' slide rule shifts

By Dennis O'Connor staff writer

Plymouth-Canton Community Schools now have redefined its method for measuring distance from home to school for students attending Rield and Eriksson elementary schools.

The result is 50 more students, kindergarten through second grade, receiving safety busing to these two buildings.

This change somewhat eases parent pressure the schools have experienced after the Board of Education's recent decisions to eliminate some safety bus routes at Field and Eriksson.

Dale Goby, director of transportation and chairman of the school's safety committee, stressed that this redefinition of measurement was not a "change in school policy" for safety busing. He said it was "an administrative move (that) redefines what a school site was."

Remeasurements at the two sites took place Labor Day, Goby said. The 50 students received busing Friday.

THERE STILL IS confusion over what is the correct method of measuring distances. The schools' remeasurements included measuring parts of long paths leading to Field and Eriksson. The paths were not included in the original measurements, although Goby has said that including the paths is a compromise to the issue.

The new measurements include 2,100 of the 2,200-foot path at Field and about 700 of the 821-foot path at Eriksson, Goby said.

Goby added that this move strictly was "an internal" move made by the schools and has nothing to do with state recommendations.

BY STATE LAW, students do not have to be bused if they live within 1.5 miles of school.

Plymouth-Canton policy says its schools will bus students, K-2, who live one mile or more from their assigned school. Plymouth-Canton may measure distance for its policy any way it wishes.

Parents still are concerned with the 1.5mile method of measurement, however, which falls under state policy. Goby said he will not remeasure those distances until he gets "written clarification" from the state Board of Education on the exact measuring method to use. Goby said he requested that information in May.

Dr. Philip O'Leary, acting director of school support services for the state board in Lansing, told the Observer Friday that the measuring issue for busing won't come before the state board for interpretation until Tuesday, Oct. 6, at the next regular meeting.

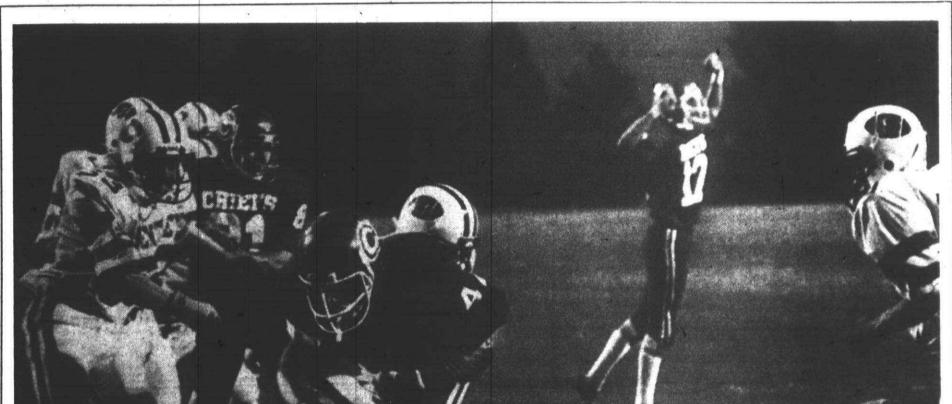

1981 Suburban Communication Corporation. All Rights R

The state board usually meets twice a month, except in September, when it meets once a month, O'Leary said.

Paul Zimmer, the assistant attorney general, said there has been "misunderstanding and confusion" on the interpretation of the law by state board personnel.

Zimmer has said measurements should "account for the first public street of general access in calculation, even if it crosses school district property.

Zimmer's explanation of the method is different than the method used by Plymouth-Canton. Plymouth-Canton's method doesn't include as much mileage in the distance taken.

Festival board pulls plug on Omnicom

By Teri Banas staff writer

Plans for live cable-television coverage of the Fall Festival were dropped last week when the Plymouth Fall Festival Board pulled the plug on one cable outfit.

The day before the start of the festival, an electrician with Omnicom of Plymouth was told to leave Kellogg Park, where he was setting up broadcasting equipment because the festival board had not granted the company permission to be there.

"I'm just starting to calm down right now," said Omnicom's programming director Hugh Jencks Thursday. "They seemed to feel they were doing me a favor by allowing us to cover it live."

The stir appeared to have been caused by an initial mix-up in communication, said festival planners and Jencks

"It's not like we didn't have an inch of available space," said festival manager Carl Glass of Canton, who conducted the eviction. "It was strictly because of the way it was done. We didn't know if they were going to have one trailer there, two vans, or what."

Jencks said he made plans Sept. 3 for live festival coverage with another cable outfit, Eagle-Vision Inc. of Wayne. Eagle-Vision leases channel 9 from Omnicom but Omnicom planned to run the festival coverage on its channel 8.

Both companies were expected to work together on the filming, which planned to appear live on both cable channels.

JENCKS SAID Eagle-Vision general manager W. Edward Wendover, also publisher of the Community Crier, was suppose to arrange clearance for the operation with the festival board.

Wendover was not available for comment as he had left town on vacation at the start of the festival, said one of his staffers.

Festival Board chairman Fred Eisenlord said the board would have granted permission gladly to Omnicom if one of its representatives had asked for it. He said he was unaware of the Omnicom-Eagle-Vision pact.

Last June, the board granted permission to Eagle-Vision to set up broadcasting equipment on the festival* grounds.

According to Jencks, however, Eagle-Vision was relying on Omnicom to provide that needed equipment for live coverage.

According to the pact as described by Jencks, Eagle-Vision's role in the partnership was to secure the necessary community clearance and to provide a "copy file" on the broadcast, while Omnicom would provide the filming equipment. Jencks said Eagle-Vision also would have provided a portable camera for taping scenes.

JENCKS SAID he didn't know what went wrong

"Ed Wendover stood to lose as much as we did," said Jencks of the eviction. "He told me he had gotten clearance last week.'

Festival board members voted against allowing Omnicom equipment on the filming site at a festival board meeting last Wednesday.

Chairman Eisenlord said there were no representatives from either cable outfit there to petition the case.

"It was just common courtesy for someone to show up to explain it," he said. "We had to make a decision and based on the lack of information we had no alternative but to say no.

"The reason we have a board of directors is to tie up the lose ends," he added. "It's pretty hard to set up for festival when someone just shows up for whom we haven't made any provisions.

Nancy_Hayes, the festival board's appointed publicity chairman, who's also employed by the Community Crier, said she didn't know about the cable pact "until it was too late.

The Crier had announced the live airing of the joint program in a story that appeared in its festival advertising supplement last Wednesday.

Jencks said Thursday that he still planned to cover the event three-day event, but with a portable hand-held camera, instead. This taped coverage would air at least two weeks after the festival on Omnicom Channel 8.

Murder trial date set

Ronald John Hartwig faces an Oct. 13 trial date before Wayne Circuit Court Judge Michael J. Connor in the late-August slaying of Stacey Ann Hurrelbrink.

The date was set Thursday following a pre-trial hearing in Detroit earlier that morning.

Hartwig has been charged with firstdegree murder in the slaying. But during the pre-trial hearing, Wayne County Assistant Prosecutor Murray Slomovitz offered a reduced plea of seconddegree murder to Hartwig.

Hartwig's court-appointed attorney Patrick Devine said Thursday he had not as yet discussed the offer with his client.

He said there was no decision then to accept or reject it.

Hartwig was arrested at the Old Village Inn Aug. 23, about six hours after the estimated time of death of Ms. Hurrelbrink.

Courthouse move!

By W.W. Edgar staff writer

The 35th District Court will open sessions today in the new Dunbar Davis Hall of Justice on Plymouth Road, west of Haggerty, with Judges Dunbar Davis and James Garber presiding.

Out of a welter of confusion, stacked boxes, crates and bundles of paper and other equipment the judges have cleared the way to "baptize" the new building with as little formality as possible.

"We have been like five families," says Judge Garber, "many of whom have not seen each ohter until they met here, trying to set up house-keeping.

"It has been utter confusion. But we will be out of it, I hope, by the time the sessions are called at 8 a.m. today."

SO GREAT WAS the confusion getting ready for the first official sessions that a prisoner was locked in one of the cells Thursday morning and no one had the key to open the door and let him out.

"We had to look up the builder," said Judge Garber, "to get a key and let the guy out. That's how confusing things have been. But it will all be straightened out when the first case is called.'

In the confusion Garber explained little attention was paid to a dress code so the women, or most of them, were working among the boxes in jeans. But the dress code will take effect this morning.

Both Davis and Garber are delighted with their new quarters and both are firm in their belief that work will proceed in a much more orderly fashion and there will be little or no delays in the administration of justice.

"This has become a $1 million operation with the courts and now that the old offices in Canton, Plymouth and Northville are being replaced with this edifice it will be even better.

Staff photos by Gary Caskey

"Last year, for instance," Garber said, "$800,000 was turned back to the various communities. And now with the saving of time and money, this sum should be even greater."

THERE IS ONLY one thing which has disturbed Garber so far - the absence of a sign designating the official entrance.

Garber has the only office facing Plymouth Road and all visitors come to his door and interrupt his day's work. But a sign has been ordered and it should remedy the problem in due time.

The judges are looking forward to working more efficiently in the new building. In the past there was time-consuming delays because of the communication lag. In the new building both judges will be on duty each day from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The new building is well laid-out and the 26 employees, including both judges, have ample space work and for conferences or private study.

The office space is divided for the criminal division and the civil division. And there is a conference room and relaxing room for lawyers.

The building is supposed to have cost $1.2 million, but from first appearances and the time-saving devices which have been installed the cost is worth it, the judges claim.

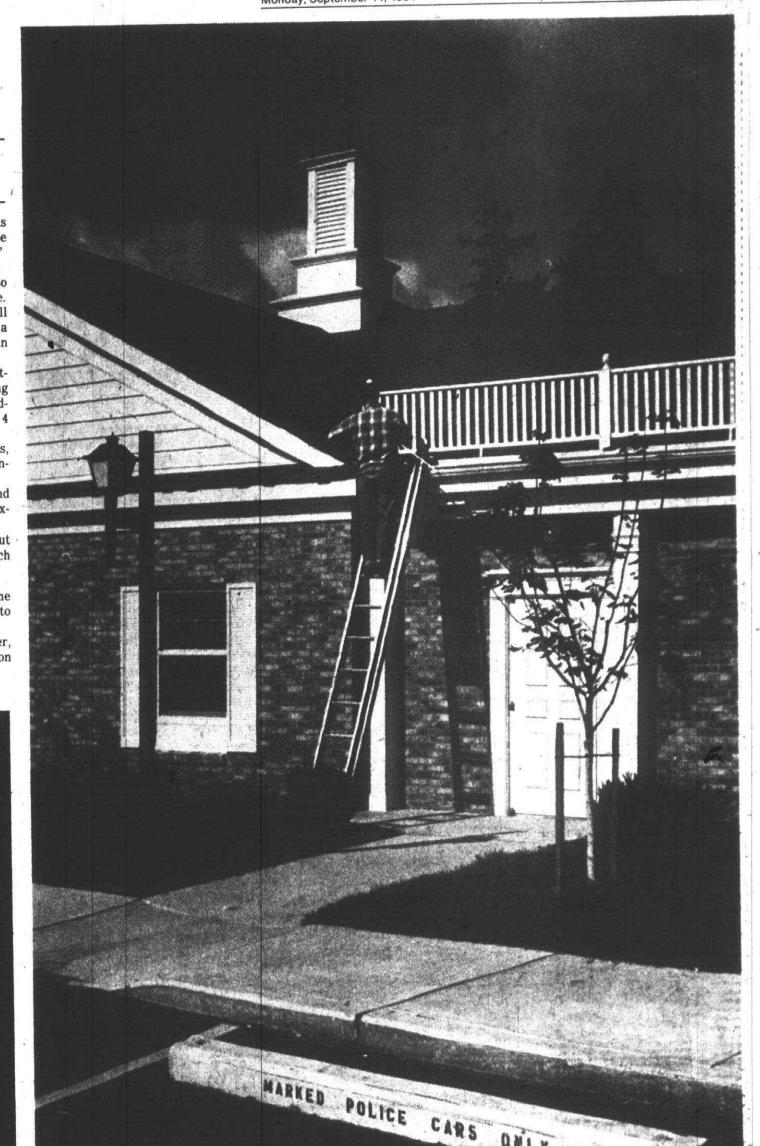

The only matter which still is confusing to some is why the new building was built sideways on the lot of ground next to Riverside Cemetery entrance.

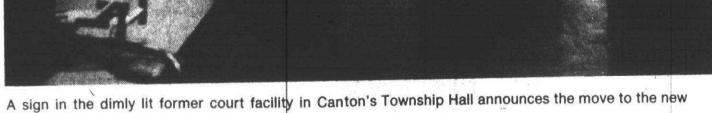

As one of the humorists, helping to provide an answer, suggested: "Maybe they didn't want to turn their backs on the cemetery."

Parents form group to aid school safety

A new parent's group concerned about school children's safety is being organized.

4A(C)

Parents After Safety for Students (PASS) quickly is forming in response to recent decisions by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education to eliminate safety busing routes.

The core of the group is parents from Field and Eriksson elementary schools - parents who have been vocal against board decisions on safety.

"Right now, our concern is safety, because it's obvious that the school board doesn't know what safety is," said Jack Klosterman, spokesman. for Eriksson school parents. "We want to work with the school board. not fight with them.

"Right now we're concentrating on just Field and Eriksson, because these are the two areas that the school board has put blinders on, and we're trying to board."

Klosterman said the group is a coordinated effort to obtain safety information, in hopes of convincing the board to reconsider and overturn its resolution that eliminated safety busing at these two areas.

CURRENTLY, PASS is keeping close contact with the Canton Police and the Michigan State Police, hoping to get safety-study results which say it's unsafe for students to walk to school at crosswalks and the wooded paths at Lilley.

PASS also will contact the Wayne County Health Department, the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Canton Fire Department rescue squad for other safety reports, Klosterman said.

If the effort at Field and Eriksson is successful, Klosterman said he was willing to take the plan to other schools.

"The plan is not to stop after this (issue)," Klosterman said. "We don't want to stop here. Ultimately, we want to expand to other schools."

For more information about PASS, Eriksson parents may call Klosterman at 981-3421. Field parents may call Dennis Farkas at 397-0215.

CEP adult classes to begin on Sept.21

Full preparatory classes and testing services are being offered to persons seeking their G.E.D. (high school equivilancy) certificate.

The classes and testing is being offered by the Community Education Department of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for the fall of 1981

A full list of services through the department is listed in the bulletin, which recently has been mailed to the homes of school district residents.

Registration now is being taken for the fall semester daytime and evening courses which will begin the week of Sept. 21.

Testing dates are scheduled periodically throughout the year.

DAVID DURSUM, assistant director of community education, urges those planning to take the GED test to first complete the preparation class.

"It is important that the student not only pass the test, but scores high enough to impress potential employers and schools of higher learning."

The test covers writing skills, math, literature, science, and social studies.

The preparation class is designed to familiarize students with the expectation of all the areas of the test and to prepare them psychologically for the test itself.

"Our success rate is tremendous," says Sharon Strean, instructor. "More than 90 percent of the students who complete the course pass the test. Because success builds self-confidence, many students continue on to take other classes here or at Schoolcraft College.'

The 15-week preparation class is free to all students. The course also counts toward a high school diploma.

Lab facilities are provided at the GED center for those needing additional help and instruction. (Students asking to take the test must be at least 18 years old and their senior class must have graduated.)

THE BULLETING for the fall program also includes a listing of all upcoming courses, programs and activities offered by the community education department.

Residents will be offered a wide variety of programs in leisure time and recreational activities, high school completion courses, and special programs for senior citizens and children of all ages

A complete description of all classes is provided in the bulletin.

As partof the academic enrichment program, says Dursum, residnets may take a number of vocational courses this year, with job placement assistance a possibility.

Courses offered include machine shop, heating and air conditioning, dental assistants, medical assistants, secretarial science, and computer science.

All vocational and academic classes are free to those persons working toward a high school diploma and not attending a day school program.

Unmastered skill gives stigma

Oh, the stigma of being the mother of the only child in the entire neighborhood who can't ride a 2-wheeled bicycle

At the ripe "old" age of 5, my dear son still hasn't mastered this simple feat of balancing that his clever peers have conquered as early as 3 and 4.

Oh, where have I failed as a mother? Again.

ANYONE WHO HAS ever had the thrill of running up and down the sidewalk supporting a tottering child on a leaning, swerving, and tipping bike knows my dilemma.

You get the definite feeling — as your breathing becomes labored and your back gets down to some serious aching - that this child has absolutely no sense of balance whatsoever.

In fact, the longer you continue this exercise in futility, you may think it's a miracle that this short person can even walk without bobbing and waving from side to side.

I hate it when Jimmy starts humming to himself as I'm huffing and puffing, running alongside of him. He acts as if he were out for a Sunday drive, gawking at the neighbors, taking in the scenery, completely oblivious to the task at hand and my waning patience.

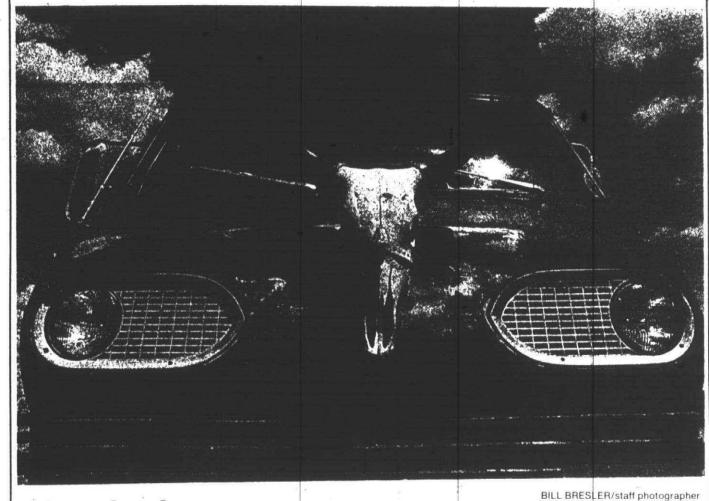

"Think balance, Jimmy, think balance," I shout, trying to remind him of our exact purpose for this stunt every day: I'm not out here to amuse the neighbors.

"Don't yell at me, mom," he replies. Right

I don't want to give the child a complex. I don't want him to become so traumatized by his failure at biking that he grows up with a twisted and tortured psyche.

I can just see him on the psychiatrist's coach years from now explaining that the root of all his problems stem from when his insensitive mother forced him to learn to ride a bike when he was 5-years-old.

"Life was just never the same after that, Doc."

Health - who really needs it?

A couple of friends of ours stopped by over the holiday weekend and brought with them one of my newlyminted nightmares for the '80s.

I'm talking about health.

The wife-half of this couple is so pregnant she carries a stopwatch in her purse, just in case.

Anyway, we had this very chi-chi assortment of appetizers on the coffee table. You know the stuff - raw cauliflower, carrot strips, celery stalks carved in the shape of the Eiffel Tower. The pregnant lady dug in with gusto. So did the rest of us, and for a couple minutes after our friends arrived, the crunching sounded

I SPENT the greater part of the holiday weekend lying flat on my back, so wiped out by some invasion of small bugs that I lay helplessly five feet from a television Friday afternoon and watched "Days of Our Lives" for nearly an hour. I lacked the energy to cross the room and switch channels. In my younger and more vulnerable years — as the saying goes + I ran cross-country, once reaching a personal high of 13 miles in a single afternoon and utterly destroying what was, at least in the old days, a pretty tight Detroit bus schedule. The driver and half a busload of impatient passengers had to watch me try to lift my starched-stiff thighs up onto the first step. then reach over with my creaky spine and pick up my bookbag. The whole process had to take three or four, minutes Now, given the two immobilized states, I'd take the invasion of small bugs anytime. There's less guilt nobody ever thinks he brought it on himself when he catches the flu — and you don't get off work for letting your muscles tighten up after half a marathon. And, of course, I'd still rather watch "Days of Our Lives" than run 13 miles. I figure if God had meant man to jog. He wouldn't have invented Henry Ford. And if He didn't want us to eat meat, then cattle would be made of texturedized soy protein. The Rev. Falwell may have a point - you just shouldn't argue with the natural order of things.

Crowning our sweethearts

Americans are eyeballing two new sweethearts this week and both will get searching scrutiny.

First is the lissome beauty with talent, grace and poise who was tapped by a cadre of judges to become the new Miss America.

She was part of the annual ritual which was televised Saturday, stepping out in a modest one piece. bathing suit, demonstrating her talent with a song, dance, oral interpretation or whatever. Naturally she revealed herself in conversation to be natural, wholesome and bright.

If the statistics held true, she's a blond. Not becausethey have more fun necessarily, but because those with golden locks outnumber others in most pageants.

She probably dreamed of being a Miss America since her childhood, or impulsively launched herself into the pageant fray lately, hoping to win scholarship funds for further education.

Nowadays, one needs a scorecard to just keep track of all the beauty contests. They've become big business and have proliferated.

BUT THE Miss America contest is the shining star of all the pageants. It's Miss America that little golden haired girls practice to be.

A long time ago, a former Miss America, Marilyn Venderbur came to Southfield to talk about what it was like being that uncrowned American princess.

The Denver homemaker and mother said she'd doit again, mostly because she was truly asked to grow.

She met people from all walks of life, many of them: celebrities and found that "outstanding people share one quality, they know where they are going and havea goal and a plan.

Which brings me to the other sweetheart we find. ourselves looking over. She's Sandra Day O'Connor." the president's nominee for the Supreme Court.

An Arizona judge with a distinguished record, Judge O'Connor isn't quite everyone's sweetheart. The so-

AT LEAST that's the way it all seemed yesterday.

This afternoon, he took his problem to a "higher' source and asked his father, "Dad, what did you do to help you learn to ride a bike when you were a kid?'

His dad explained that he just got on his bike and told himself he didn't care if he fell down or not — he was going to ride that bike.

So, whether it's due to his father's clever psychology, his mother's weary muscles, or Jimmy's own persistence and great skill:

> It gives me great pride to formally announce that on Sept. 12, 1981 JAMES KEITH SMITH (alias "Jimbo") rode his 2-wheeled bike all the way down the block and back without training wheels.

There is great joy (and relief) in the Smith house tonight

Nancy Walls Smith, a Canton resident, writes a column twice a month for the Plymouth and Canton Observer. Her column appears on Mondays.

like a road improvement project.

Then my wife told me to go in the kitchen and uncork the wine. I twisted off the cap and brought back four glasses of it, thoughtfully leaving the bottle and the label — in the kitchen. Our pregnant friend declined the wine. She turned down other refreshments, as well, and then looked at me - or more precisely, failed to look at me - in a chilling way after I lit up a smoke.

But I sense a dangerous trend in all this.

Lately I've noticed that if I eat lunch in the company cafeteria, I see a lot of younger people eating what look to be tunafish salad sandwiches that have been lying on top of the refrigerator since Bastille Day.

But no, I'm told, all that furry stuff sticking out between oddly brown bread is actually an alfalfa sprout and organic white cheese sandwich.

One such tasty episode takes the edge off my desire to eat lunch in the cafeteria. The next day, I drive to a bar with two fellow employees who tell me when we get there that they can't drink because they're in training.

For what, sharpening pencils? I ask.

They're running — more accurately, jogging — it turns out.

What's news? I'll tell you

The longer I am around, the more I realize that most folks don't understand what news is.

I sympathize and emphathize because it is diffieult to determine what is news and what isn't. Many persons who are paid to determine what news is argue about what it is every day, and they hold daily and weekly meetings to try to reach a consensus.

The other day, Aunt Mary, who is 78, asked me to drive her to the bank. She was afraid her checking account was overdrawn (It wasn't). "I was worried my name would be in the paper for writing bad checks to the church building fund and to some stores," she said.

"Where did you get that idea?" I asked. "Well, you never know, what with all things they put in the paper about that fellow from the car family," she said. I explained to her that newspapers aren't interested in stories about little old ladies who overdraw their bank accounts. That isn't news.

'Well, what is news? Half the things I see aren't news," she said.

There is the problem. Deciding what makes news. A feeble attempt at explanation:

NEWS IS any information which is current, informative, important, and/or contributory to one's sense of reality, purpose, destiny or fulfillment. News is someting which imparts to the person receiving it some modicum of information which will make life and its challenges and onslaughts at least a degree more precise, definable, understandable, enjoyable or endurable.

Any questions? I see that there are.

Q. What about Tom Estes? Is it news that he owed his cleaners of 10 years ago $49?

A. No; that's not news. This is an item among many others we could have done without, but the Estes case is news because what is shows us all about our most respected financial institutions. The news was not that a person of his lineage and social stratum had a history of personal misfortune, bad judgement or overeager aspirations and spending habits, although these factors contributed to the Wisler were the amounts and techniques involved in separating the banks from their cash, the apparent duping of big-time investors and financial experts, the fact that a person of the upper stratum can arrange unsecured loans with an ease that is alien to those of lesser strata.

From this comes improvements in the practices of banking and financial institutions, better understanding of the perils of life for rich and poor alike and perhaps less anxiety on the part of the persons of lower strata for being excluded from the upper stratum.

Q. WHY DO newspapers print so many negative things - crime, crooked government doings, people cheating and hurting each other? Why not print more good news?

A. Newspäpers are loaded with stories about good news — business, government and personal success stories; tales of man's humanity to man, charity fund drives, people helping each other over obstacles, illnesses, handicaps and tragedies; job promotions, degree awardings, honors attained; efficiency, economy and new ideas in government and industry.

The only thing is that these stories also share space with stories about business, government and personal failings; crime, victimizations, conflagration, tensions, aggression, malice and all the other frailities that humans are susceptible to.

Why print this kind of news? To give the reader guidelines to better understand the terrain and the world about him. In effect, to warn him/her of the called moral majority is noticeably nervous about herstand on abortion.

ACTUALLY, THE far righters are aiming toward legislation, even Constitutional changes, which would limit options for presidents nominating judges to the*federal judiciary.

Conservatives want some sort of guarantee before a judge dons the federal robes that he or she has precise values and opinions.

Yet, the Supreme Court, in all our history, has been, a place in public life where a jurist, like Miss America," if you will, can grow

The appointment is for life and barring severemisconduct or misfeasance, a judge on the high bench." can really be his or her best self.

It's significant that the Congress is looking over a female nominee for the Supreme Court, simply because it is a first and she is part of a real majority -: women - who must have representation in every part_ of government

What's more important is - as that former Miss-America said of other outstanding people - that Judge O'Connor knows where she's going, has a goal. and plan and continues to grow.

Bottom line: The kids win

I usually put "the bottom line" in the same pedantic, modern-day gibberish category as "viable alternative," "impact on the quality of life," "conceptualize" and "within the parameters of ... "

"The bottom line" generally means the cold cash total at the end of a long list of revenues and expenses on a boring financial statement. It used to be called "the end result.'

In any event, I've decided "The bottom line" has a particular meaning in some instances and really says it best, trite though it may be

What started me thinking about it was the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystropy Telethon on Labor Day. Lewis appeared to be defensive about knocking himself out for 211/2 hours for "his kids.

Lewis's motives have long been under attack by skeptics. And this year, some MD victims complained that the funny man exploits them as helpless tragedies instead of human beings with hope.

HERE'S WHERE "The bottom line" comes in. The telethon raised $31.5 million for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. That's the warm, daring cash total.

Lewis's annual marathon supports research programs, finances more than 750 individual research projects worldwide and supports more than 230 MD outpatient clinics.

The money buys braces and wheelchairs and medication and trips to camp for Jerry's kids and adults. "The bottom line" gives MD patients hope for more productive, active lives.

Lewis admitted his motives are "selfish." Giving makes him feel good. It makes him feel needed. These are very human emotions. But even if he works his head off for his own ego trip, again it's "the bottom line" that counts.

It doesn't matter how or why you get there. It's getting there that's important. This applies to Lewis and others who are accused of being do-gooders with an ulterior motive.

or financial advancement, he may be called a sinner instead of a saint. But saints are sinners who keep trying.

His motives may not be the purest. But if a guy adds his bit to "the bottom line," and doesn't step on anyone along the way, what's important is that he's helpedt someone. Even self-servers can serve others.

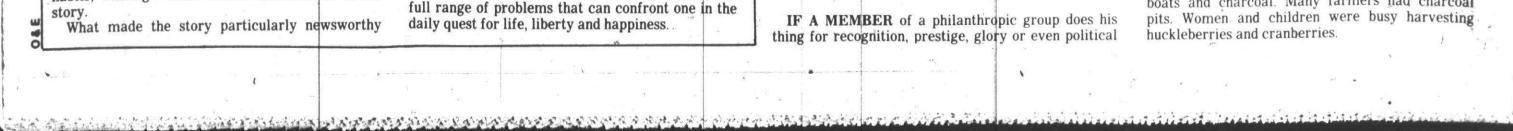

Lewis has been producing telethons for 16 years; This is a tough year because of the shaky economy, But viewers dug deeper into their pockets and helped set a record for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

For the first time, Lewis didn't cry when he closed the marathon singing "You'll Never Walk Alone." Maybe he was reacting to criticism by doubters.

But in spite of it, he and his kids made "the bottom line." And in a way, so did all of us - even the nonbelievers.

Did you know that Michigan had a variety of industry before the automobile made its appearance? Oakland County, along the Woodward corridor, was famous for its cowbells and sheepbells, for fishing boats and charcoal. Many farmers had charcoal

From deep in the heart of "Pumpkin Country" comes a selection of prize-winning pumpkin recipes to please tradition-lovers and trend-setters alike. They're gathered from the Pumpkin Cookery Contest, one of the highlights of a fall festival celebrating the pumpkin harvest in America's Midwest.

Each year as the contest judges taste, jot notes and deliberate over the mouth-watering array of pumpkin recipe entries, one unanimous agreement is reached—there's practically no end to the taste-tempting dishes that can be made with canned solid-pack pumpkin. This deliciously versatile vegetable, so rich in Vitamin A, also provides significant amounts of other vitamins and minerals like niacin and iron.

For fall-through-winter enjoyment, traditionalists will favor the FAMOUS PUMPKIN PIE, easily varied with a delectable new topping, ZESTY ORANGE GLAZE. Or savor Amy Moulton's PUMPKIN TEA BREAD, studded with nuts and kept nicely moist with fresh grated zucchini. This special bread makes a fine "totable" gift as well, sliced and spread with a creamy cheese filling — all ready for holiday snacks. Linda Grimm shares her prize-winning recipe, PUMPKIN WAFER DESSERT, which pairs a fluffy pumpkin chiffon filling with crisp chocolate wafers; unusual sounding, but unusually good! Another trend-setter is PUMPKIN QUICHE, Ruth Kaisner's prize-winning entree for brunch or lunch. The delicate flavor of pumpkin is a subtle accent in the flavorful cheese-custard filling, with bits of crisp bacon and onion for zest.

Why not share in the pleasures of these delightful food ideas from "Pumpkin Country"? Although prizes may not come your way, praises surely will!

Monday, September 14, 1981 Fruit and pudding combined in cake

PUDDING FILL-AND-FROST CAKE 1 pkg. (2-layer size) yellow cake mix or pudding-included cake mix 11/2 cups sliced fresh peaches or nectarines

1 tbsp. lemon juice

2 tbsp. peach jam or apple jelly 1 pkg. (4-serving size) chocolate flavor instant pudding and pie filling ^{1/3} cup confectioners sugar

2 cups cold milk 1 container (4 oz.) non-dairy whipped topping, thawed

Prepare cake mix as directed on package, baking in 10-inch tube pan. Cool 15 minutes in pan. Remove from pan and finish cooling on rack. Then poke holes down through cake to the bottom, using the round handle of a wooden spoon. (Or, poke holes with a plastic drinking staw, using a turning motion to make large holes.) Holes should be at 1-inch intervals.

Combine fruit, lemon juice and jam; set aside. Combine pudding mix with sugar in bowl. Gradually stir in milk. Beat at low speed of electric mixer for not more than one minute. (Do not overbeat.) Quickly, before pudding thickens, pour about half of the thin pudding evenly over cake and into the holes to make the stripes. Allow remaining pudding to thicken slightly, then spread over top of cake. Arrange overlapping fruit slices on top of cake; spread whipped topping on sides. Chill at least one hour. Store any leftover cake in refrigerator.

Shortcut recipes are for busy days

Despite the claims of some zealots, good cooking with fresh foods is more time-consuming than cooking with convenience foods.

The best method of cooking fresh foods is usually the quickest but preparation exhausts the minutes - scrubbing or peeling vegetables, filleting a fish, seeding and dicing fresh fruit, baking yeast breads, rolling pie doughs.

The work may be therapeutic and the time spent may be amply rewarded in terms of flavor and nutrition but the extra work and time involved are not always available.

There are times when the most avid cook, the most discriminating eater do not have the luxury of this kind of time or energy. A day spent shopping or working late at the office might mean a choice between a compromise dinner or a 10 p.m. dinner.

Even a hectic day at home can leave you at 6 p.m. lacking interest or energy to prepare a meal from scratch. An unpredicted snowstorm arriving when home supplies of fresh foods are low (do they come any other time?) would tempt even the most devoted natural foods advocates to reach for a can or a mix tucked away in a deep recess of some cupboard, a relic of their pre-enlightenment days.

THESE SAME circumstances that incline you to take short-cuts frequently find you at a psychologically low ebb. What you need is an enjoyable, relaxed meal to sooth your spirits. A frozen pot pie or TV dinner just won't do. On the other hand, convenience foods prepared with just a little extra work and imagination should provide both salad and a glass of wine makes a lovely, classic meal. A quiche, however, requires the extra work of rolling and baking a pie crust.

When time is too short to allow even for this, why not substitue a quiche-like Zucchini Frittata, which bakes its own crust from a biscuit mix. The result is neither a traditional quiche nor frittata but is, nonetheless, a delicious, healthy entree with the mild zucchini flavor being picked up by the sharp, cheesy crust in which it is baked.

For snowstorms or other calamities which find you without the means or desire to shop for fresh produce; another type of menu is required.

With any luck, you will at least have some cheese on hand. By combining this with the contents of a few cans from the cupboard; you can have a hearty cheese and potato soup. This makes a perfect winter's supper. It is rich enough to supply the extra energy our bodies demand in order to keep warm in winter. The canned hot chilies in the soup provide an even more immediate source of heat. You should, if nothing else, be guaranteed a hot mouth for the rest of the evening.

If you want to modify this effect somewhat, a frosty mug of beer might accompany your meal.

ANOTHER SIMPLE, made-fromthe-cupboard entree is Lentil and Barley Bake. Unlike most dried beans, lentils do not require an over-night soaking before being cooked. You can arrive home after five and still have dinner on the table by 6:30. A fast-food

1/2 tsp. garlic salt version of home-cooked baked beans, this dish is a hearty, convenient cold-¹/₄ tsp pepper 13-oz. can evaporated milk weather meal

Assuming you keep well-stocked with emergency staples, quick meals need not by synonymous with junk food.

With the addition of a pan of cornbread and some vegetable relishes, any of the above entrees can provide a satisfying meal - perfect for those times when, for any reason, you need a reprieve from the kitchen chores.

AS ISABE Dohany of Elmhurst Avenue in Plymouth describés it: "About 52 years ago, there were four of us who kept together during our grade school years at St. Henry's in Lincoln Park and during our teen years and after we were all married.

"We met at one another's homes occasionally but rarely. We kept in touch through writing lettere, telephoning one another, or sending Christmas cards.

The foursome had another bond that strengthened their friendship. All were born on the same day, Sept. 5, 1916. They got together Friday, Sept. 4 to celebrate the big one their 65th birthdays

Mildred (Midge) Corney married Millard Cook and is now widowed and lives in Wayne. Rita Tobin Selensky and her husband, Frank, live in Gladwin. Adele Montie married Frank Woch. She, too, is now a widow and lives in Lincoln Park. Isabel's maiden name was Voden. She and her husband, John Dohany, live in Plymouth.

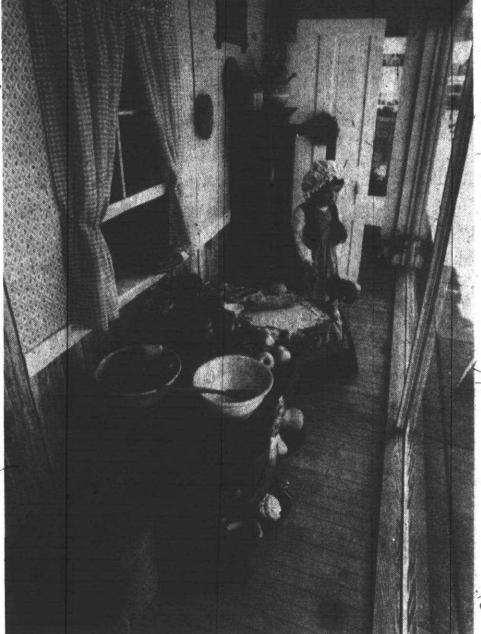

"During the years that we did meet at our homes, it was suggested by Mrs. Blanch Corney, Midge's mom, that sometime we should all meet in a nice restaurant for dinner. She passed away but her suggesstion of years ago finally was consummated," said Isabel.

They met at Adele's for a drink then had dinner at a restaurant.

"After dinner, we all returned to Adele's to have dessert. Her sister, Bea, baked two pineapple upside down cakes for us all.

Isabel said reminiscing about the 'olden days'' was the best part of the birthday party. They had a lot to talk about.

"Midge has 13 children, Rita and Frank have six, Adele has none, and we have three. The Selenskys have a daughter who is blind and is presently waiting for a kidney transplant. We lost a young daughter in a house fire in Plymouth in '72.

Emma's window was first-place winner in the individual category.

New Morning School came in first for a group for their decorating Wiltse Pharmacy windows.

"There are many happy memoriés, too, among us four women.

Midge and Isabel have been sending back and forth the same valentine for 52 years.

"I gave it to her as a child in 1929. It is quite tattered but nevertheless we still mail it faithfully (up to the year 1981) to one another.

Isabel said that perhaps longtime friendships like theirs' are commonplace. To me, they are very special ladies.

The Wine and Cheese Barn window decorated by the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women received honorable mention. Other entrants were the Plymouth Community Arts Council in Plymouth

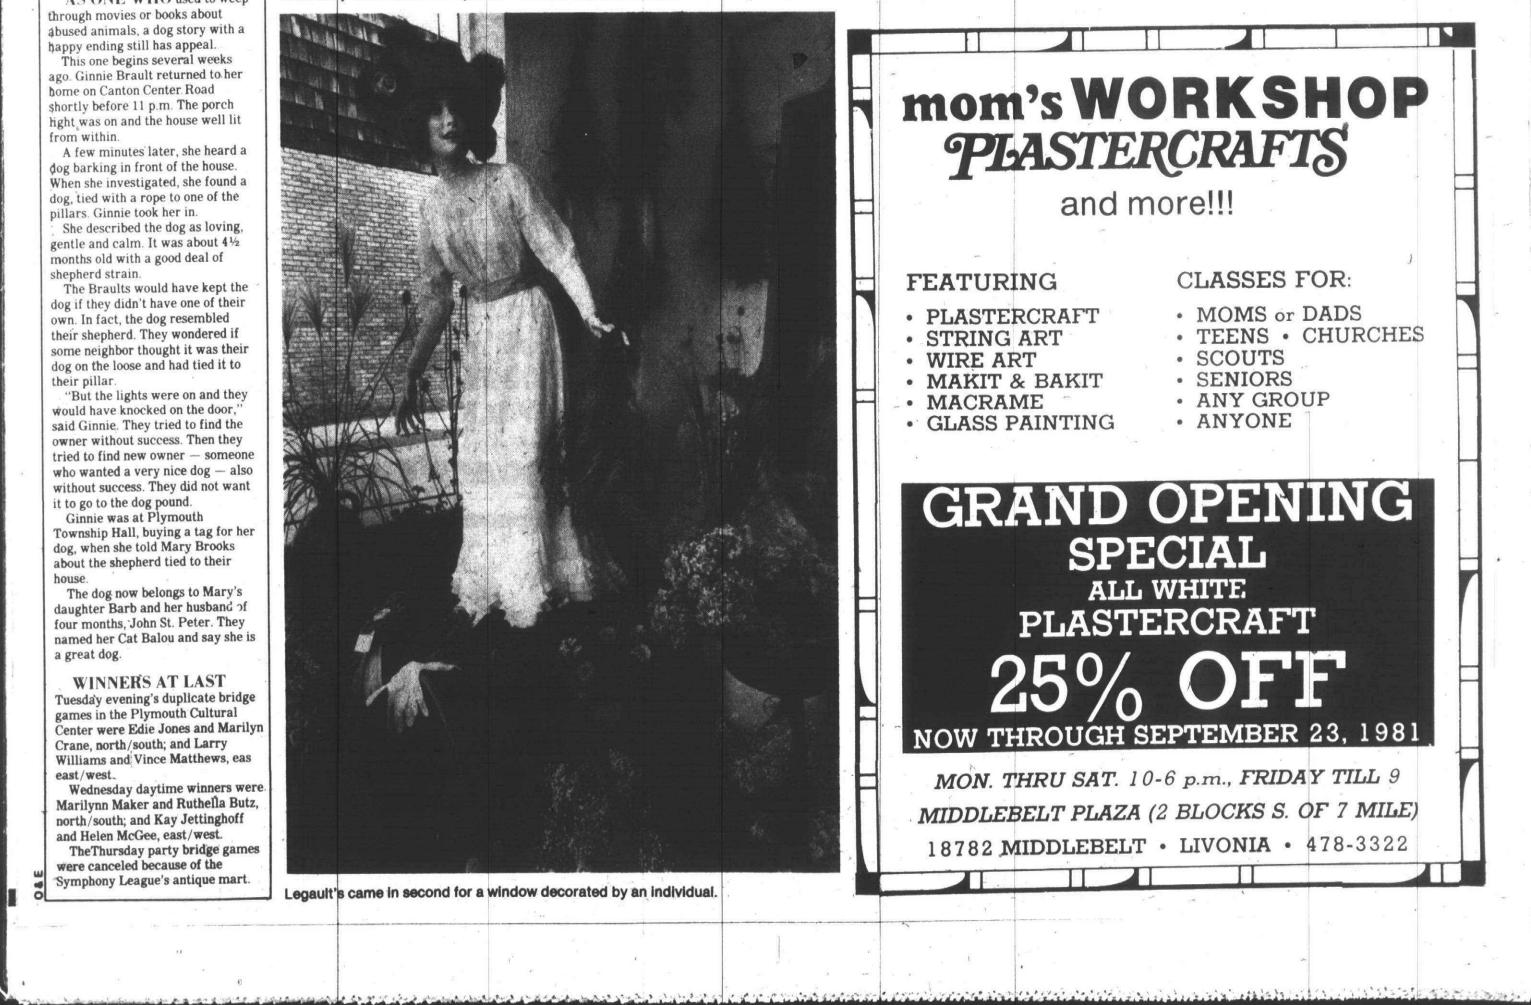

Jones. LEGAULT'S on Ann Arbor Trail won second place honors in the individual division. Fox Photo and Nawrot Pendleton Shop were tied for third place. Honorable mention ribbons went to the Statice Shop on Penniman Avenue, the Health Food Shoppe on Ann Arbor Trail, Saxton's, on Ann Arbor Trail and Wayside, all on Ann Arbor Trail. Other entrants in the category were the Willow Tree, Natural You, Sophisticats, Put-Upon Shop, Plymouth Book. World, The Art Gallery, Pease Paint and the Early American Shop.

Theme for the 1981 Fall Festival was an oldtime harvest. Designers of the window decorations were imaginative in their planning and judges admitted decisions were difficult.

Plymouth Garden Club was a second-place winner for John Smith's window.

GENIE

Dear K.A.:

descriptive words to delineate your personality. You like to be involved and on the go. Physical activity is meaningful. You do not like to be confined to small areas and are happiest when you have freedom to move about.

You are a social person and find the company of others enjoyable. It appears that sometimes you act even more ingratiating than you may feel.

Self confidence seems evident in your handwriting. You are ambitious for recognition and notice. However, a paradox seems present in the fact that you are not challenging yourself enough at this particular time in your life.

Dignity, the need to behave in such a way as to win the approval of those people you care about and socialize with, is very important to you. You are ever cogizant of the mores of your peers. There is some particular area of your appearance of conduct that causes you considerable sensitivity. Also there is a little resentment in your nature (formation of the t's and d's and some inflexible lead in strokes).

Your mind is very logical and you do not rely on intuition for your answers.

A good sense of humor is noted in the flourishy lead in strokes on many of your m's and n's. Bet you are a delightful conversationalist. You tend to be optimistic in your thinking. You are usually flexible, but must guard against a slight tendency to argue at times.

If you have a question about your handwriting write to Lorene Green, a certified graphologist, in care of this newspaper. Please use a full sheet of white unlined paper and write in the first person singular using either black or blue ink. Please sign your letter and state age and the hand, used to write with.

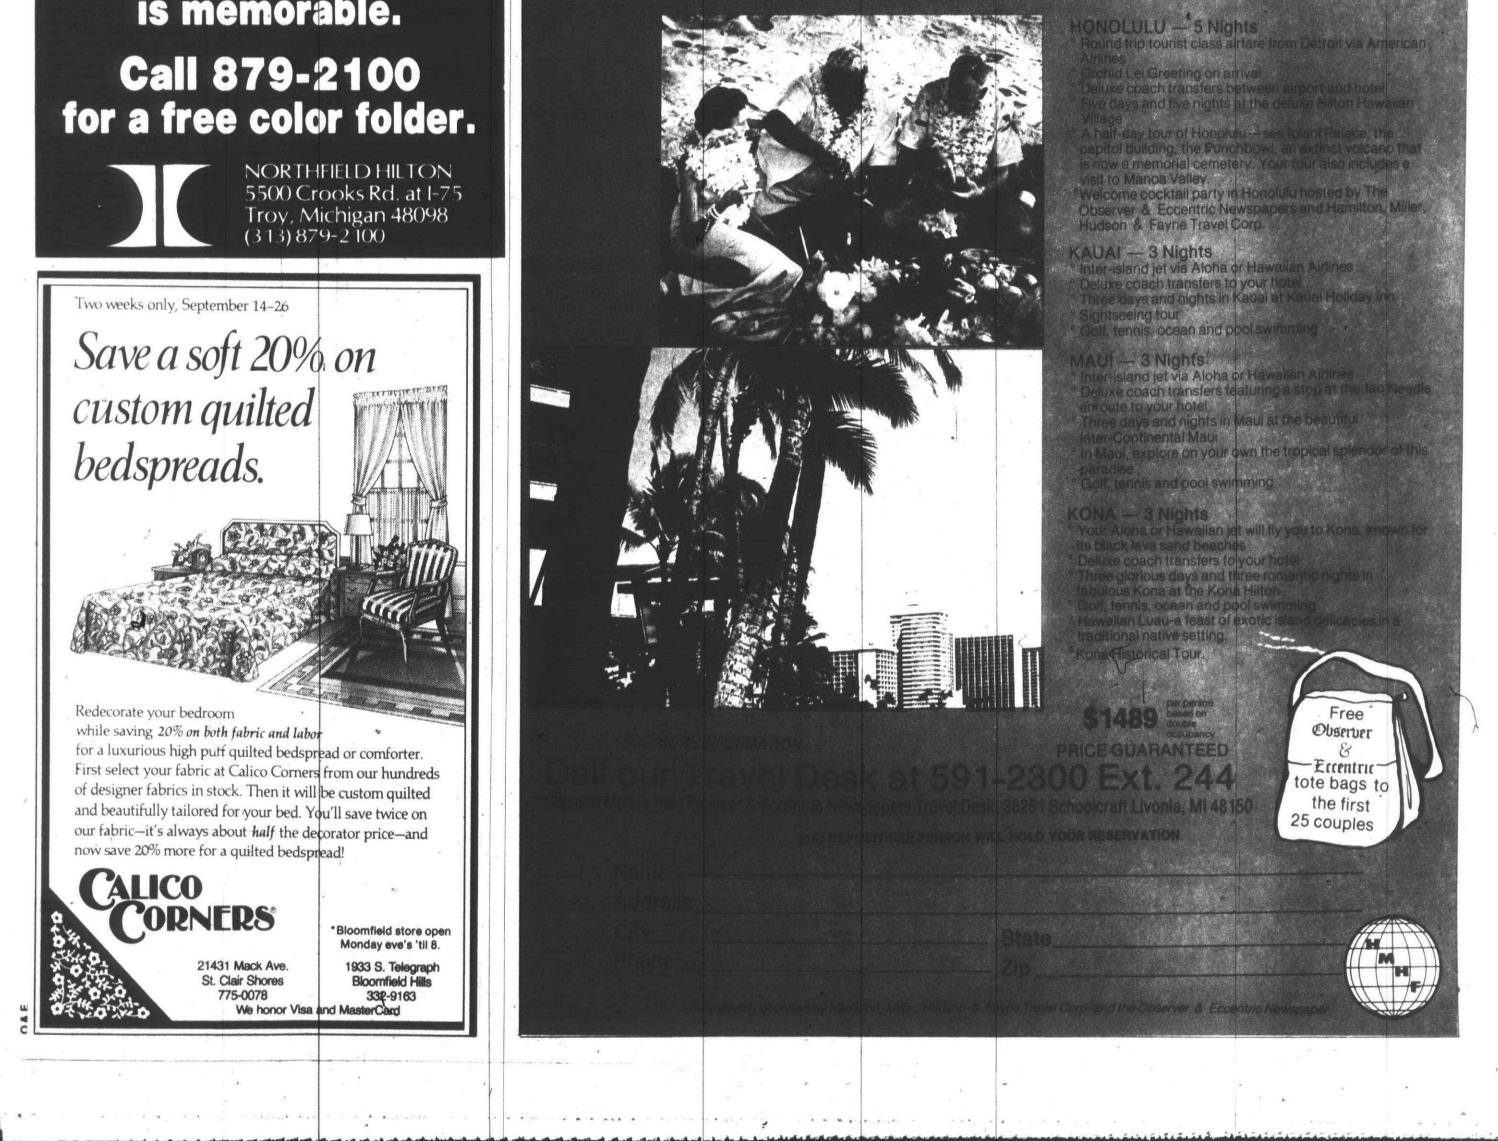

Dear Mrs. Green: I find your column very interesting. I only get to read it when I visit my parents who live in Livonia. I would really appreciate it if you would analyze my handwriting. K.A., Clarkston Busy and active would be fitting Mickey Madsen, a 145-pound junior halfback, scored two of the Rocks' three touchdowns on runs of 15 and 71 yards in Saturday's 21-3 victory over Livonia Franklin.

Salem's passing attack surprises Franklin, 21-3

By Dennis O'Connor staff writer

Poor Tom Moshimer.

Every season the Plymouth Salem head football coach rants and raves about his passing game, but no one believes he will ever use it - and no one ever sees it.

Until this year.

While it wasn't the most artistic aerial attack, no one could argue that it was the pass — not the option run — that keyed the Rocks' 21-3 opening-season victory over Livonia Franklin Saturday afternoon at Livonia's Claude Snarey Field.

The Rocks hit five of only 10 passes from quarterback Jeff Hubert for 65 yards, but the plays came at critical times in the second quarter for two Salem touchdowns and a 14-3 halftime lead.

"We said we were going to throw the football, and we looked good doing it," Moshimer said of his fourth victory in five years over Franklin. "This is supposed to be a good football team (Franklin) that we beat. We big-played them, but that's our offense."

THE ROCKS' first score came after Hubert completed a crucial fourth-down pass to Tom Schmidt for 13 yards.

On the very next play, junior halfback Mickey Madsen, standing five feet, eight inches and weighting 145 pounds, darted threw the Patriots' line and scored on a 15-yard counter play for Salem's first score of 1981.

Mark Blaesser followed with the first of three successful extra-point kicks from Madsen's hold to give the Rocks a 7-3 advantage with 6:06 left in the first half.

Salem's next possession resulted in another touchdown. The Rocks' drove 87 yards in nine plays, capped by a 16-yard touchdown pass from Hubert to 6-4 junior end David Houle with only 27 seconds left in the half.

Salem moved the ball 52 of the 87 yards in the air.

Four plays before the Houle touchdown, Hubert hit Madsen on a 49-yard scoring pass that was called back when teammate Bob DeBenedet was called for a down-field clip on the play.

MOSHIMER WAS impressed with the way his team rebounded to score the second touchdown after being penalized.

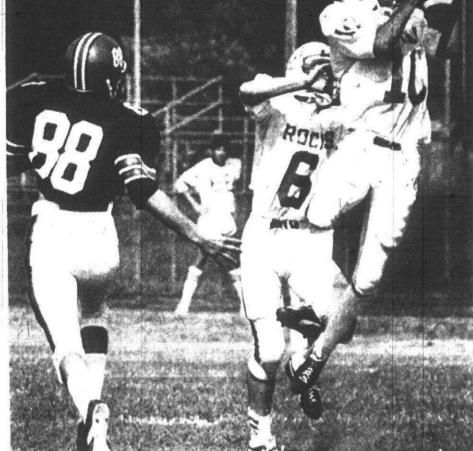

"The last half of the second quarter we just sucked it up," Moshimer said of his yound Rocks. "And it took a lot of poise to get that one (touchdown) called back and then turn right around and stick it in anyway.

"I'm very proud of that."

Salem's final score came with only 8:08 left in the game when Madsen ran 71 yards on a patented option run for six points. Madsen finished the day with five carries for 90 yards. The Rocks totalled 202 yards on the ground on 36 carries.

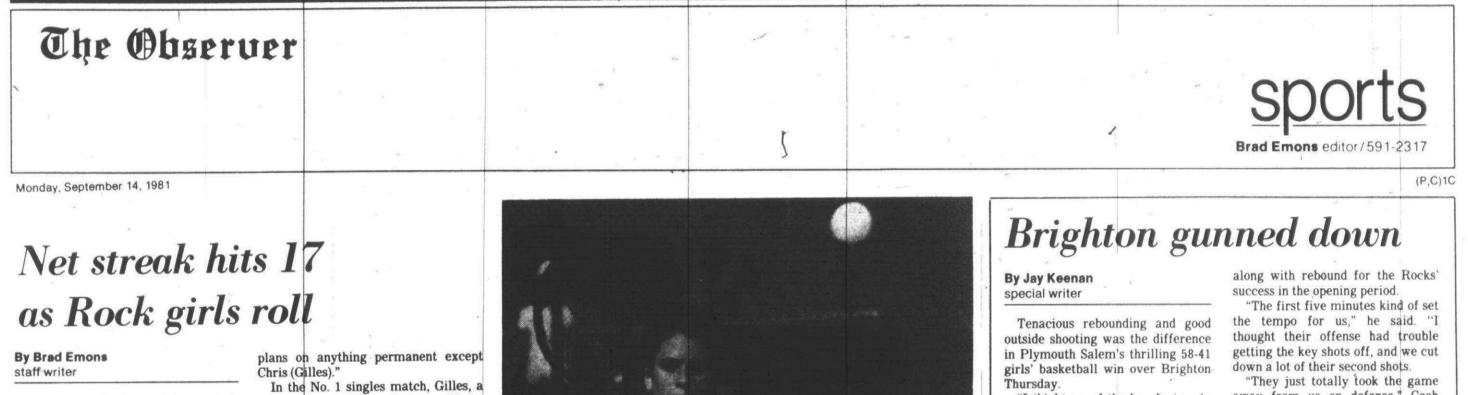

ACTUALLY, FRANKLIN was a much bigger squad than Salem and dominated play for the first 11/2 quarters.

The Patriots, coached by Armand Vigna, drew first blood thanks to a 33-yard field goal from the right hash mark by Rich Wood early in the second quarter. The score capped a seven-play, 29-yard drive.

"I think one of the key factors in tonight's victory was that our defense didn't allow Brighton to take away from us on defense," Cook said. "Their guards really put the pressure on us. The Rock girls won their 17th straight dual match dating back to 1979 with a 6-1 triumph over Livonia Stevenson, the last team to beat the Rocks.

And coach Judy Braun's netters won the match without two of the team's better players, Carol Hathaway and Michelle Howell, both out with injuries.

"Salem is a fine team," said Stevenson's George Croll, the losing coach. "It gives you an indication they're still strong without two of their top people." The injuries have caused Braun to do some juggling with her lineup. "I won't feel good until I can get something set," she said. "I have no

Stevenson scored its only point of the match when junior Angie Martin defeated Cathy Grahm 6-2, 7-6 in a twohour match.

"WE'RE USUALLY a senior team," said Croll, "but we're very young.

"I think we'll be competitive with the other teams the rest of the year."

Carol Gillespie of Salem won her match easily at No. 2 singles as the Rocks also won their 17th straight dual match.

"Kristy was on the reserve team last year and has worked hard all year. She's really improved."

At No. 2 doubles, Beth Miller and Jane Ploughman held on to beat Gild Kleer and Margaret Teimer, 6-3, 4-6, 6-

Kathy Pursell and Julie Taylor, the Rocks' No. 3 duo, beat freshman Silvia Kleer and Terri Ramsey, 6-4, 6-3.

that many second shots," said Salem coach Bob Blohm.

"Our rebounding was just great," he continued. "One of the big questions for us this year has been: Can we rebound against bigger teams? That Brighton team was big and we played well against them."

Salem, now 2-0 in the young season, jumped out to a 14-2 lead and finished the first quarter ahead, 16-

The Rocks' strong perimeter shooting virtually shredded the Bulldogs' zone defense.

"Salem shot well from the outside," agreed Brighton coach Carroll Cook. "When a team keeps hitting from the perimeter against a zone defense, you just can't stop them. They look like one of the top teams. in the area."

Blohm wasn't arguing with Cook's assessment.

"A lot of people on this team can really shoot the ball," he said.

Senior forward Jan MacKenzie hit four of five shots near the top of the key in the first period. She finished the game with 14 games.

BLOHM ALSO credited his team's man-to-man defense to go

MacKenzie's basket, however, cushioned the Rocks' margin (28-19) at intermission.

Salem widened its lead in the third quarter to 47-31, iced by Ross' jumper at the buzzer.

"I don't think the scores are indicative of how good Brighton is," said Blohm. "They are a good team.

MOORE, a senior tri-captain, tossed in 12 points while Jacque Merrified, a guard, chipped in with 10. Ann Glomski and Pam McBride combined for 15 points off the bench.

"We got good support from all of our players," said the Salem coach. "Our scoring was real balanced between our players, which is encouraging.

"This team made a few mistakes, but we played over them. And when a team does that, it helps make a good all-around basketball team."

Livonia Franklin's huge front line took Plymouth Canton to school Thursday night as the Patriots completely dominated the boards at both ends of the court in a 68-35 romp at home.

Mary Kay McNall did it all for Franklin as she poured in 26 points and hauled down 17 rebounds. The 6-foot-3 pair of hard-nosed forwards, combined for 25 rebounds and 20 points.

"It was definitely a learning experience," said Canton coach Mike McCauley of his team's shellacking. "We were physically abused.

Johnson tutors on soccer points

Plymouth Salem kicks off its initial soccer season Tuesday at Farmington.

No one really knows what to expect from the young Rocks, who will play this year as an independent.

Coach Ken Johnson, a former semi-pro British soccer player, has been guiding the Rocks through a rigorous preseason training schedule.

"I was impressed by the interest and enthusiasm shown by all the participants," said Johnson, "and by the high level of skill demonstrated.

"Cutting the last two or three players to reduce the squad to the roster limit of 20 was one of the hardest jobs I had to perform.

"I thank every one of the players for their time and effort."

Johnson is pretty well set on his starting lineup.

The team captain and center midfielder is senior Paul Neschich, also a varsity swimmer and member of the Canton Soccer Club's 19-and-under squad.

Several sophomores have also earned starting berths, including Arsenal of the Bonanza-Express Soccer League.

Junior starters include Ashley Long (defenseman) and Peter Evensen (forward).

Keith Reynolds (right winger), John Molyneux (forward) and Mark Kavisto (left winger), all seniors, will also start.

Junior Todd Chapman is the team's goalie.

"Todd has good hands and impressed me in practice with his keeness to improve," said Johnson.

Rounding out the squad are Dave Barnhart, Dan Fisher, Charlie Ploughman, Jim Britton, Chris Porter, Scott Schwartz, Dan Lingg, Tom Skrobecki and Tim Greenhalge. Dan Argonis is the team's manager.

They did everything but win. Plymouth Canton outrushed (147 yards to 126) and outpassed (76-11) Livonia Bentley Friday night, but when it came down to scoring points the Chiefs ended up on the short end, losing their home opener to the Bulldogs 14-7.

Bentley capitalized on Canton's many offensive errors en route to the victory.

"Canton is a much-improved club," said Bentley coach Steve Naumcheff, whose team fell victim to the Chiefs in last year's opener at home, 7-6. "But we feel that we are a much-improved club, too.

"I think our offense and defense did a great job. For second-year coach Rich Barr, the defeat brought back memories of some of last year's losses.

"We beat ourselves tonight," said Barr, whose Chiefs have not won a game since they defeated the Bulldogs a year ago. "We did the same thing last year. We just made some crucial mistakes tonight."

QUARTERBACK Chris Susock made a crucial mistakes with 5:21 left in the first period when he underthrew his receiver, enabling junior Jim Lasota to pick off the pass and ramble 36 yards for the score.

Bentley held its 7-0 lead until 7:07 of the second quarter, when Chuck Davis ran in from two yards out to cap a twominute, 36-yard drive by the Chiefs.

Canton had another chance in the same quarter, getting down to the Bulldogs' three, only to have Bentley make a fine goal-line stand and hold off the Chiefs until intermission.

Bentley was fortunate to go into the dressing room at intermission tied. The Bulldogs could muster up only three yards passing, while losing eight yards on the ground. Canton, meanwhile, piled up 161 yards of total offense but couldn't get on the scoreboard.

"In the first half, they really kept us at our end of the field," Naumcheff said. "They put together some good drives, but we held them. Our defense did a good job.'

The second half belonged to Bentley as they recovered a Canton fumble on the wildest play of the game.

THE CHIEFS had just held Bentley on a third-and-one situation, forcing the Bulldogs to punt from their own 30yard line at the 4:13 mark of the third period.

Bentley finally got the punt off after a bad snap and a scramble. The ball was fumbled by Canton's Dave Simms and recovered by Steve Gregor. Bentley then marched in for the gamewinner on a 30-yard jaunt off-tackle by Lasota, a junior tailback who finished the game with 71 yards on 10 carries.

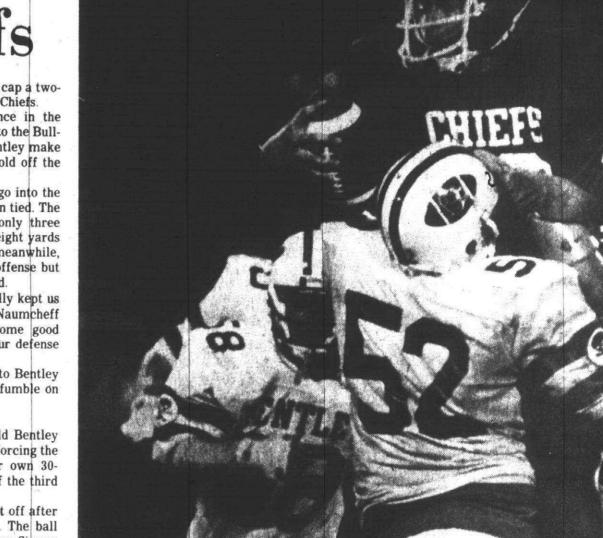

Simms was the leading rusher for Canton (57 yards on 11 carries).

"In the end we just had a little. more," Naumcheff said. "When they had to have it, the interior line got the job done

An improved Livonia Bentley girls' tennis team continued to impress Thursday with a 6-1 triumph over Plymouth Canton. Bentley is now 2-0 in dual meets while the Chiefs slipped to 0-2.

"I expected Bentley to be tough," said Canton first-year coach Carol Michaels. "We were in the doubles, but not in the singles."

The Bulldogs swept all four singles matches - Jennifer Reault (No. 1) defeated Julie Swain, 6-0, 6-0; Sue Scrutton (No. 2) downed Lori $mith, 6-2, 6-2; Audrey Devon (No. 3) beat Lisa Schlotz, 6-0, 6-0; and Catia Monforton (No. 4) drilled Kris Harrison, 6-2, 6-0.

Canton's only point was scored at No. 1 doubles when Shervl Smith and Julie Lloyd edged Lisa Day and Robin Klinect, 6-4, 7-5. At No. 2 doubles, Bentley Amy Eichorn and Patty Dwyer outlasted Kristin Smith and Amy Norton, 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Bentley's Lisa Goodwin and Ann Anasnoton won their match at No. 3 doubles with a 6-4, 6-1 win over Jean Fryover and Nancy Warkentin, 6-4, 6-1.

In a reserve doubles confrontation, Lisa Egan and Pam Kang beat Michelle Larabell and Kelly Wallace, 7-5, 5-7, 8-6.

In his movie debut, Gary Coleman plays a spirited orphan who lives in a public locker.

Coleman's showing is well engineered 'On the Right Track'

Do precocious kids make you smile, or do you feel more inclined to barf? If they make you smile, you'll probably enjoy "On the Right Track" (PG). If they don't, well, the movie does have some mitigating factors.

One of them is Gary Coleman (of "Diff'rent Strokes"). He not only is a very huggable little guy, but fortunately he packs enough acting wallop- per- pound to neutralize the strong dose of cuteness he delivers.

Coleman plays Lester, a 10-year-old orphan who lives in a couple of rental lockers in a large urban train station (actually, Union Station in Chicago).

what's at the movies

- AMERICAN WEREWOLF IN LONDON (R). Strange happenings in London and on the moors in this macabre spoof of horror flicks.

- COMIN' AT YA (R). A Western with a new-old twist 3-D. Put on the specs and have flaming arrows, bats and rats comin' at ya.

They are roomates

Marsha Mason plays a mother to Kristy McNichol in Neil Simon's new film "Only When I Laugh." The two play two persons that have lived together for 16 years, yet are still strangers.

This underground world is his territory. He knows all its people and shops. He gets along by shining shoes for spending money. His independent operation, however, cuts into the patronage of an established shoeshine service whose owner doesn't welcome the small-fry competition.

He reports Lester's unusual life style to the authorities who assign a juvenile services' officer (Michael Lembeck) to pick up Lester and place him in a foster home. The city figures that's a more suitable life than an independent existance in the railroad terminal

LESTER IS SAVED from such a fate and allowed to remain in his preferred shelter when he strikes a deal with the mayor. The deal involves Lester's uncanny ability to pick triple winners in horse races all over the country. He offers to win $1 million for the debt-ridden city -- thinking the money will be used to make it a better place to live - if the mayor will let him set up a residence and office in a railroad car at the station.

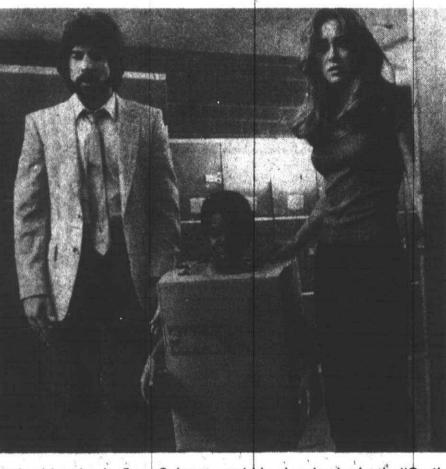

Lester has other things going for him besides the horses. He is a budding entreperneur who organizes a crew of younsters to work as porters in return for a share of their tips.

Norman Fell is the mayor and, like most of the characters in this movie, he adds interest to the story by his characterization. The mayor makes promises easily and breaks them easily. He's deliberately deceitful, just an opportunist. He says and does whatever he thinks will win him votes. It doesn't seem to matter to him whether he fulfills his promises or makes contradictory ones. He's not evil, just political.

Maureen Stapleton make the most of a small, but colorful, part as Mary, the bag lady. She is one among an assortment of Damon Runyon-type characters. These include basketball star Bill Russell as a sympathetic locker room attendant. Herb Edelman as a pizza place owner, and Lisa Eilbacher as an aspiring singer who works as a coin changer in the station arcade.

As the officer from juvenile services, Michael Lembeck proves to be as much of an opportunist as the mayor. He's also more disarming because of his "admissions" about himself.

Unfortunately for the resolution of "On the Right Track," by the end, we still don't quite trust Lembeck. Since he and Eilbacher form a romantic duo who want to adopt Lester (social issues concerning a white couple adopting a non-white child are never even hinted at), this is a strange and ambiguous development. Instead of ending on a positive note, as intended, the movie leaves a niggling doubt about the integrity of an important character.

Michael Lembeck, Gary Coleman and Lisa Lembeck play in "On the Right Track," a comedy about an orphan who lives in a railroad station.
