The Canton Connection

CANTON GOODFELLOWS will hold their annual newspaper sale on Saturday, Dec. 5. Anyone wishing to volunteer their time to help distribute newspapers may call John Burdzik at 459-1313. The funds provide holiday gifts for needy children in the community.

FRANKLIN PALMER Homeowners Association will hold its general meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 12, at Field Elementary School on Haggerty.

Verra Sullivan will be a guest speaker at the meeting. She will discuss lawn disease. There also will be information on paving of roads. Refreshments will be served.

BOY SCOUT Troop 1738 from Hulsing Elementary School recently went on a seven-mile hike at the D-Bar-S Scout ranch. They also will have a court-of-honor and Christmas dinner on Dec. 9.

WARRIOR, a student band from Plymouth Salem High School, recently took first place in the annual "Battle of the Bands."

Warrior finished first, Titan placed second, and Feedback grabbed third in the final judging before more than 700 students at Salem's auditorium. These three bands were finalists in the band competition.

Members of Warrior include Julius DeChavecz, Rudolph DeChavecz, Kevin LeGault, Eric Suppi, Dan Janos and Brian Callahan.

GARY SAVAGE, a 1977 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School and a Canton resident, recently was elected to Alpha Pi Mu, the General Motors Institute chapter of the industrial engineering honor society. Savage, who lives on Napier, now is in his fifth year of the cooperative program at General Motors Institute (GMI). He achieved dean's list status the last quarter and was selected to the society because of his high scholastic standard.

PETER REKSHAN of Canton and Jeffrey Montgomery of Detroit, two officials from the St. Andrew's Society, formally will turn over the archives of the oldest benevolent society in Michigan to Wayne State University today at St. Andrew's Hall. The ceremony honors St. Andrew, the patron saint of Scotland.

POOR TRUSTEE Steve Larson — his nose was a red as Rudolph's at last Tuesday's township meeting.

"Contrary to the rumors you've been hearing, I'm not dying," Larson said, as he bundled up to leave the meeting.

Larson lasted through 17 of the 29 agenda items — but his bout with the flu ended there.

CLARIFICATION — Although Canton Township is indeed the largest tax provider for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, it should be noted that Canton pays less per student than Plymouth or Plymouth Township.

DR. TIMOTHY J. DYER, the superintendent of Wayne-Westland Community Schools, recently had the new Timothy J. Dyer Educational Social Service Center at 36745 Marquette in Westland named in his honor.

CANTON TOWNSHIP'S Board of Trustees will hold its regular meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow night at Township Hall. Last week, the board voted to cancel the Dec. 22 meeting because of the holiday season. The board regularly meeting on the first, second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The public is invited to attend both meetings.

Cops close theft cases

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Canton police have arrested men from Westland and Taylor in connection with a string a house break-ins in Canton and nearby communities.

Edward Joseph Barry II, 30, of Oregon Street in Westland, and Joseph Messina, 56, of Rushmore in Taylor, were charged with breaking and entering a Canton house Nov. 24.

Officers have confiscated more than $10,000 in jewelry and appliances and almost $8,000 worth of marijuana from the homes of the suspects.

"This closes out probably a dozen of our B&Es," said Canton Police Lt. Larry Stewart. "We know of several (cases) downriver and at least one in Plymouth Township."

Barry and Messina were arraigned Friday before 35th District Court Judge James Garber on one charge each of breaking and entering a house and carrying a concealed weapon in a motor vehicle.

THE COURT entered innocent pleas in their behalf. Bond for Barry was set at $15,000. Messina was sent to Wayne County Jail in lieu of $200,000 bond. His bond was higher because of previous convictions, police said.

Preliminary examination in district court will be Dec. 7. Breaking and entering a house carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison. Penalty for carrying a concealed weapon is five years.

DETAILS of the case began unfolding about 7:15 p.m. Nov. 24. Officers Davey LeBlanc and John MacDiarmid spotted a van which resembled a vehicle seen by a recent break-in victim.

In several of the cases, thieves gained entry through doorwalls while the home's occupants were sleeping.

'This closes out probably a dozen of our B&Es.'
— Lt. Larry Stewart, Canton Police

More recent incidents took place during early-evening hours, according to police reports. Stewart said the pattern indicated persons would ring a doorbell and, if there was no answer, break the doorknob with a tool.

LeBlanc and MacDiarmid, investigators for the break-in cases, saw a pale-green van parked on Winfield, in the vicinity of Cherry Hill and Lotz roads. Soon, two men came out carrying a TV set.

THE MEN put the television into the van and drove away, said Stewart. Police arrested Messina and Barry as the van parked in the driveway of another house a couple miles away.

One of the suspects took officers to homes they had broken into, said LeBlanc. He told police they selected Canton because "the homes usually have good stuff and there are no street lights."

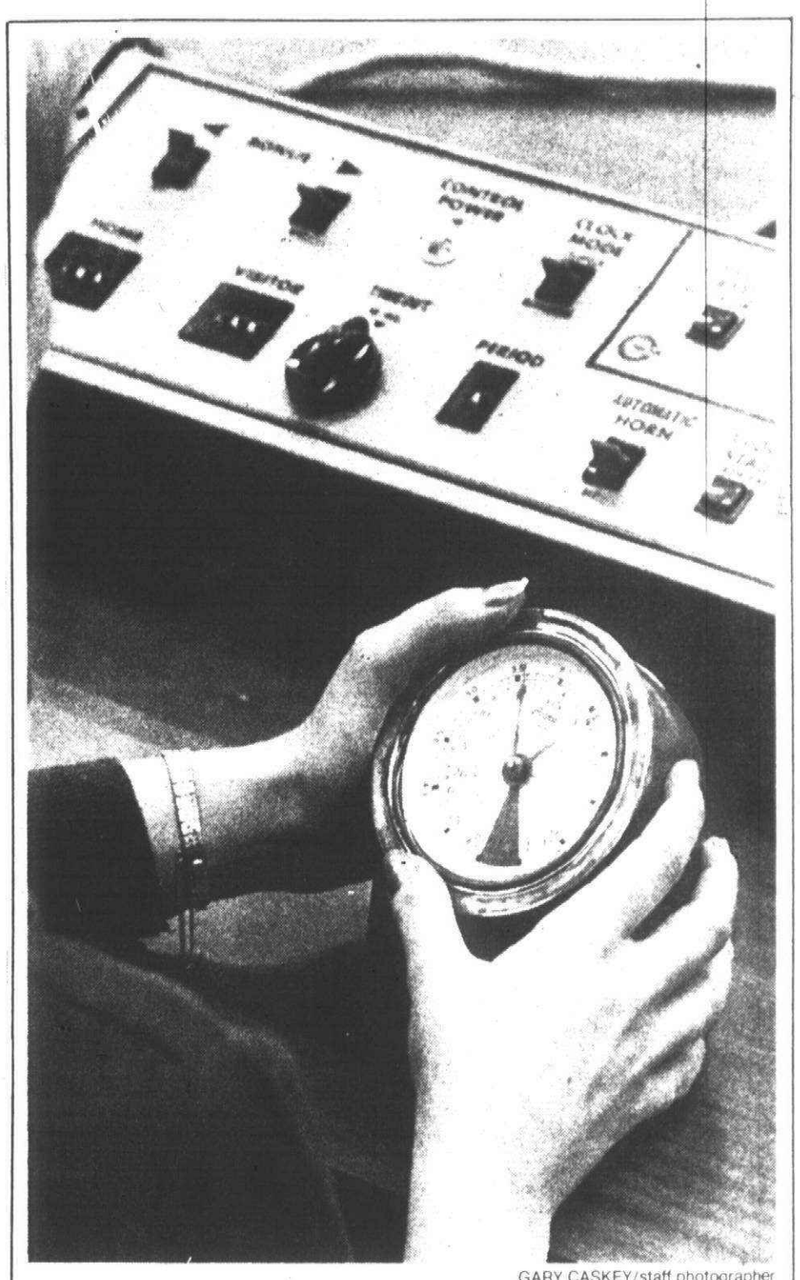

Police, who obtained search warrants, found a calculator, color TV and a pistol in the van. There also were lock picks, bolt-cutters, drills and ski masks, said Stewart.

The Taylor address yielded two television sets, stereo equipment, jewelry, suspected cocaine in jars and bags, and a suitcase with eight pounds of marijuana packed in plastic bags, according to the report.

Five television sets, a video recorder, microwave oven, rifles and other assorted items were confiscated from the Westland house.

Stewart had high praise for LeBlanc and MacDiarmid.

"The guys did one super job," said Stewart. "We still have more work to do."

'Tis the season to pay taxes

Ready or not, here they come.

The township treasurer Nov. 30 is mailing property tax statements. Residents should expect their bills within the next few days.

Taxes may be paid without penalty through Feb. 14, 1982, said Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz.

"WE ARE sending property-owners an informational copy of their tax statements for their review," said Mrs. Falkiewicz.

"It is important that they compare this with their mortgage statement," she said. "If they don't agree, please contact your mortgage company."

Included with the bill will be a brochure explaining the breakdown of tax computation, how to appeal to the board of review for relief and other information.

Residents who don't receive a mailing from the township by Dec. 7 should call the treasurer's department at 397-1000, said Mrs. Falkiewicz.

In some cases, the township hasn't been notified of change of ownership, said Mrs. Falkiewicz. Mailing addresses are changed upon request of owner, and not automatically.

Family needs aid for toddler

By Dennis O'Connor
staff writer

Tony desperately needs your help.

Little Tony Coscia, the 17-month-old son of Charles and Slicia Cosia of Plymouth, is a victim of severe cerebral palsy.

He also is a victim of scant financial and volunteer support.

And it's this lack of support which may prevent Tony from getting a decent chance to battle his handicap.

Marie Breach, a volunteer who regularly helps Tony, asked for community support at the citizen's forum portion of last week's Canton Township meeting.

Ms. Breach made it clear the Coscias are in an alarming need of any kind of support.

"This family is desperate," said Ms. Breach, who was asked by Canton Supervisor James Poole to come to the township meeting. "They are having the Salvation Army bring them Christmas dinner. It's so sad — it really is.

"They have no television, no record player — nothing. Absolutely everything has been sold."

THE BIG FINANCIAL burden for the Coscias comes from paying for trips to Philadelphia so Tony can get regular care at the Institute for the Achievement for Human Potential.

Ms. Breach told the Observer the Coscias have run into stumbling blocks from state institutions and service organizations — both financially and with therapy.

"Some of them (Michigan institutions) feel he's crippled. Some feel he's retarded," said Ms. Breach. "They say Tony can only be one or the other to get help."

The Philadelphia institute is the last hope for the Coscias, according to Ms. Breach. They must make four trips to Philadelphia in the first year of therapy and two trips per year the following year.

Charles Coscia earns $24,000 annually working for IBM. The Coscias have five children. The cost of the first four trips totals $3,400.

They have taken Tony to Philadelphia once in October. That trip cost the family any hope of a plentiful holiday season.

VOLUNTEER HELP consists of persons who are willing to donate various ½-hour time slots to aid Tony's therapy. The daily program includes 15 different ½-hour "pattern" sessions to help Tony exercise. Three of four persons are needed each session.

Persons willing to volunteer their time and/or money may call the Coscias at 459-9794.

Alicia Cosia, who has already contacted hundreds of service organizations to no avail, is not about to give up her personal fight to help Tony's condtion improve.

And Tony's improvement has been an emotional lift for family and friends.

The Coscias were told that Tony probably would never sit, walk or talk when he was born 2½ months premature.

Doctors said Tony was mentally retarded, but he later was diagnosed with severe cerebral palsy — which impairs muscular power and coordination from brain damage.

That's where Tony's therapy becomes so critical for his improvement — to help his mental and physical coordination.

"When I first saw Tony, he was in a car seat leaning over limp," said Ms. Breach. "He couldn't move.

"I've now been with him for about two months, and you wouldn't believe the kind of progress Tony has made. He now moves (crawls) 209 inches in 15 minutes."

Canton man debuts on radio talk show

By Craig Piechura
staff writer

Two speech pathologists employed by Farmington Public Schools decided that if parents couldn't make it to school once a year to discuss their child's progress and problems, another means of reaching parents would have to be found.

Tom Cali of Canton and Myrna Henderson of Novi will be coming into parent's homes as hosts of a weekly talk show called "Family Forum" which debuts tomorrow at 8 a.m. on WCAR 1090 AM.

"Parents of children who need the most help often have no car, no babysitter or are uncomfortable meeting with others," explained Mrs. Henderson, a speech pathologist.

"Our first idea was to reach them through television but that was really beyond us financially. We started exploring alternatives and figured — why not radio?"

THE TWO SPEECH pathologists approached the management of WCAR with their idea and found station executives enthusiastic. There will be no commercials on the hour-long program which will run for at least 13 weeks from 8-9 a.m. every Tuesday.

The $2,600 cost of the series — $200 for every hour of air time — has been picked up by donations from the Michigan Education Association, the Farmington Education Association, Farmington Youth Assistance, Farmington Kiwanis Club, the Greater Farmington Association for Retarded Citizens, parents' groups at Cloverdale School and other PTA organizations.

No money for the program comes out of the school district's budget, but both Mrs. Henderson and Cali are granted relief time from their regular classroom duties to do the program.

Neither has any experience in broadcasting but both hope that whatever the program lacks in professional polish will be more than offset by the expertise and information disseminated by experts in child rearing.

"There's a whole lot of untapped expertise out there," says Mrs. Henderson.

FUTURE PROGRAMS will feature a Dec. 8 discussion of pre-school speech and language development by Thelma Albritton of Eastern Michigan University; a Dec. 15 talk on "School Readiness" by Carol Swift of Oakland University; a Dec. 22 program on "Early Intervention and the Handicapped Child" with Sheryl Flynn of the Oakland Intermediate School District and Libby Lockwood of Wayne-Intermediate Schools; and a Dec. 29 discussion of "Holiday Depression in Families" by James Kottler of the Huron Valley Guidance Clinic.

Robberies reported by local businesses

Plymouth police are investigating two separate armed robberies which occurred last week.

The Speedway Gas Station, 15255 Sheldon, was robbed of $700 at about 5:20 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day.

The Speedway attendant told police he was tied and held at gun point as two men took the cash from the station.

He said a black van pulled into the station and the two men entered the building, ordering him into the back room.

One man was described as being 6-foot-2 wearing an ape mask, army jacket and blue jeans. The other person was described as being a 5-foot-9 white man with blond to dark blond hair, wearing a plaid (green, red and tan) coat.

IN ANOTHER INCIDENT, a desk clerk from the Red Roof Inn on Ann Arbor Road, reported being robbed last Tuesday at 10 p.m. Police aren't certain how much money was taken.

"It appears there might have been two men working together. One man approached the reception window and asked to use a phone in the office," said Lt. Henry Berghoff.

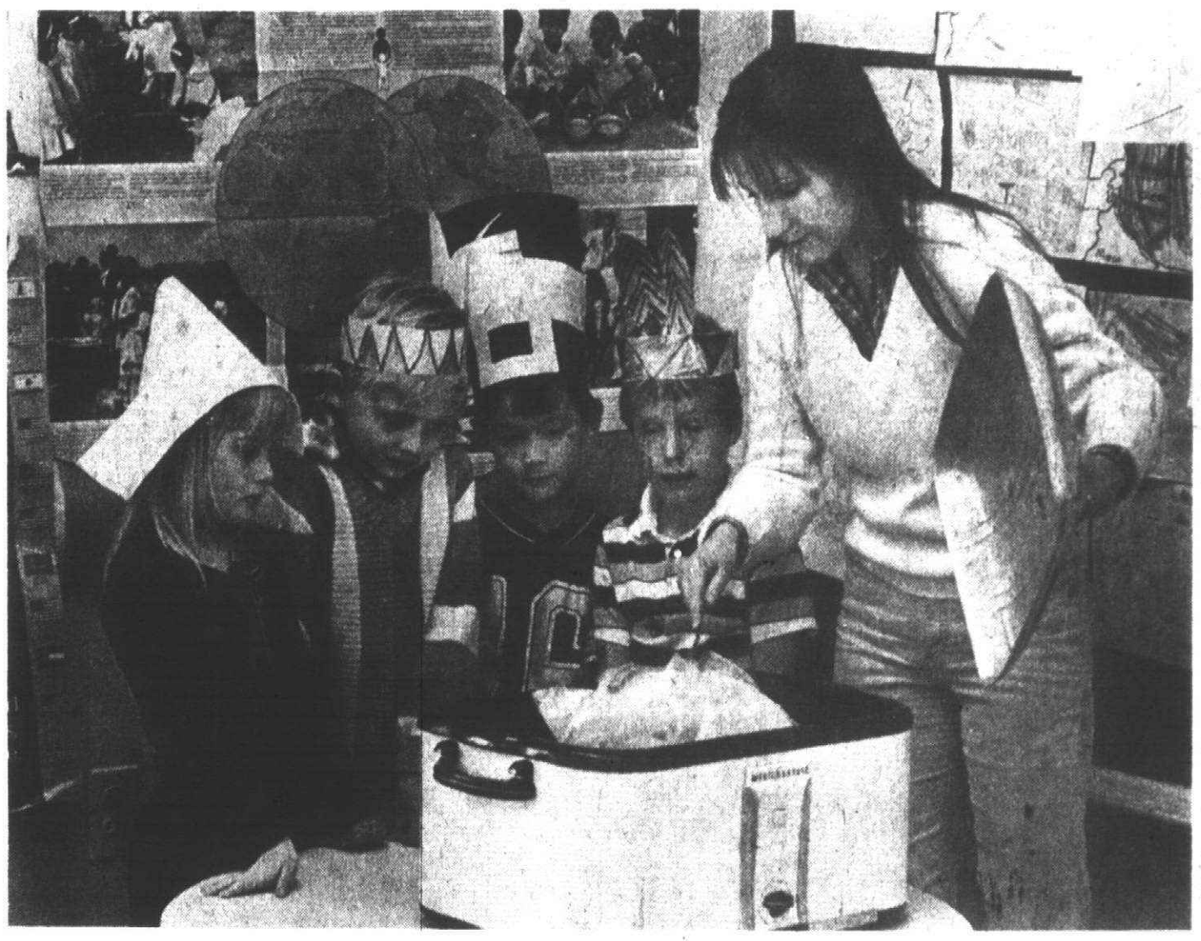

"At that point, the phone rang and the woman pressed the buzzer for the man to come in. A masked man then jumped into the office armed with a switchblade knife," Berghoff said.

The man who originally asked to use the phone disappeared as soon as the door was opened. Berghoff said the man who entered the office wasn't the same man who asked to use the phone.

The woman described the robber to police as a white male, 5- foot-9 to 5-foot-11, wearing a black leather jacket, blue jeans, gloves and a nylon mask.

The person who asked to use the phone was described as a white male in his early twenties, 5-foot-9 to 5-foot-11 tall, blond hair, skinny and without glasses.

Berghoff says it's not unusual to have an increase in armed robberies during the holiday season.

Accidental gas line break forces Sheldon to close

Traffic on Sheldon Road was blocked off for more than a hour Friday afternoon, following the accidental rupturing of a gas line at the west side of Sheldon at John Alden.

There was no need for evacuation, since the strong winds kept the gas from collecting, said Chuck VanVleck of the Plymouth Township Fire Department.

A private contractor digging holes while planting trees broke the 4-inch Consumer Power supply line, which sent Plymouth city and township fire departments and the Plymouth police to the scene.

"Had this been a hot summer day without any wind, we would have had to evacuate the area," VanVleck said.

"I didn't feel there was a real danger with the good breeze we had."

The firefighters monitored the situation as the gas company turned off the line.

Rock cagers prepared for regional opener

Jacque Merrifield listens intently to Coach Blohm's chalkboard talk during halftime of last week's victory over Ann Arbor Huron. She ended the game with eight points but those eight included an important four from the free throw line.

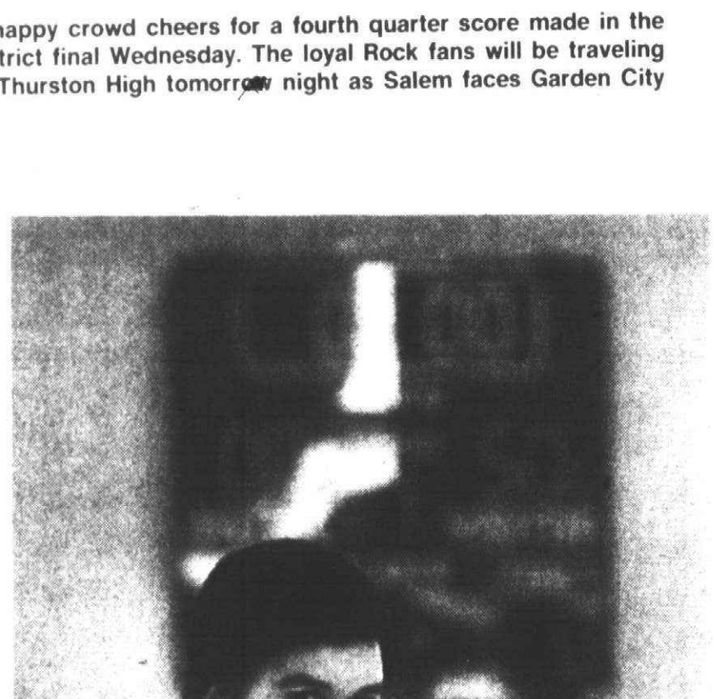

A happy crowd cheers for a fourth quarter score made in the district final Wednesday. The loyal Rock fans will be traveling to Thurston High tomorrow night as Salem faces Garden City East in the second game of regional openers. In the first game, starting 7 p.m. tomorrow, Livonia Bentley takes on Detroit Cooley.

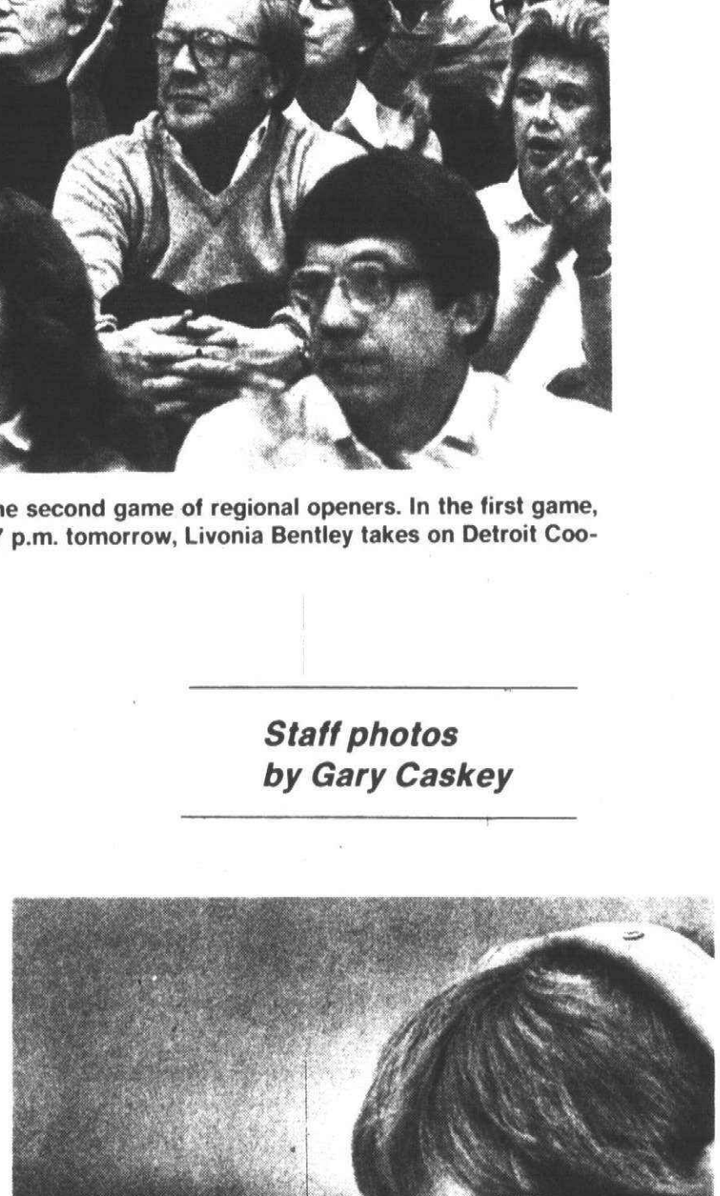

John Sandmann, athletic director, checks out electrical outlets trying to correct some problems with the scoreboard.

One of the referees for the district finals was David Dean, an Ann Arbor High graduate who was a all-state quarterback in his high school days.

Handling the play-by-play of the district finals was Glenn Bar, program director of WSDP, the student-operated radio station at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Don't need vigilantes, say patrol volunteers

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

The president of Plymouth's citizen patrol group says there is no need for additional patrol in Plymouth by the Detroit Alliance of Guardian Angels and Ex-Offenders.

"There isn't a need for more than one patrol. You will end up with duplication of efforts," said Chuck VanVleck, leader of the 40-member Plymouth Area Citizen's Teams (PACT).

PACT is composed of volunteers, 16 and older, who patrol weekend nights in CB-equipped cars.

"The thing that bothers me, as well as other members of the community, is the Detroit group's implied intentions to come in here with dogs and guns," said VanVleck.

PACT MEMBERS don't carry weapons and are encouraged to stay in their cars.

Last week, Guardian Angels leader Keith Harvey said his group was coming to Plymouth to patrol the streets and investigate allegations of corruption in the city government and police department.

Harvey said he was invited by a Plymouth attorney and government official. The attorney, whose name Harvey asked remain unpublished, denied having extended the invitation to the group.

VanVleck says, based on what he has read, the members of the group sound like they border on being vigilantes.

"That might be needed in the big city, but not here. If by some stretch of the imagination the police department wasn't doing their job, vigilantes aren't the answer," said VanVleck.

"HELL, I'VE LIVED in Plymouth most of my life and never heard complaints about the police not doing their job before."

VanVleck's group wasn't formed out of a reaction to the performance of the Plymouth police, he said. Instead, the idea of PACT was to help the police.

"There's definitely a need for additional eyes and ears. You could have four times the police department you have now and still need more eyes and ears."

VanVleck said his members don't want to take the place of the police department in any way.

"If you want to pin down the difference between PACT and this angels group, we try to assist the police department in every way we can. They appear to want to replace or augment the police department."

Clinic helps kick habit

A five-session clinic will begin Monday at Plymouth Canton High School to help smokers "kick the habit."

The meetings will begin at 7:30 p.m. and run on consecutive evenings through Dec. 4. There will be a series of lectures, films and group interaction.

The seminar will be led by John Swanson of Canton, a health education specialist and program coordinator for the non-profit Better Living Seminars, and Dr. Arthur Weaver, a cancer surgeon and associate professor of surgery at Wayne State University.

There is no advance registration. A donation will be taken the last session to cover expenses.

For information, call 459-2028.

Hartwig trial comes soon

Ronald J. Hartwig is expected to stand trial as scheduled on Dec. 15 before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Henry J. Szymanski, according to a Wayne County Prosecutor's office spokesperson.

Hartwig was arrested by Plymouth police in connection with the August slaying of Stacey Ann Hurrelbrink.

"We assume that we will start as scheduled, and the charge remains first-degree murder," said the spokesperson, who wished to be unidentified.

The prosecutor's office hasn't received the results of Hartwig's forensic exam, which might change the status of the trial. The exam is to determine Hartwig's ability to stand trial.

Lions talk for Easter Seals

Three Detroit Lions will join a WDIV TV-4 sports personality at 8:30 p.m. Monday nights in the Center Stage, 39940 Canton Center Road, Canton, to discuss and analyze the televised NFL games.

There will be a question and answer period with the audience at half time.

Tickets are $5 and proceeds will be donated to the Easter Seal Society of Wayne County. Tickets are available at the door or at any Easter Seal Society office.

There will be a cash bar and persons under 18 must be accompanied by an adult. There also will be a drawing Dec. 21 for two tickets to the Super Bowl.

The TV sportscasters who will take part are Al Ackerman, Jim Brandstatter, Don Shane and Eli Zaret. Stan White, the NFL players representative of the Lions is coordinating the event.

Canton teen to be Junior Miss

Lynne Taylor is the kind of woman every mother and father would want for a daughter and every brother should want for a sister.

Ms. Taylor, a Canton resident who is a senior at Westland John Glenn High School, placed first last week in the Wayne/Westland Junior Miss Pageant.

She will now represent Wayne/Westland in the State Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 22-23 in Marshall.

The national pageant will be conducted this spring in Mobile, Ala.

An aspiring dancer, Ms. Taylor presented an acro-jazz dance routine as her creative and performing arts requirement.

The 15 contestants, all high school seniors, were evaluated in five categories:

- Scholastic achievement, 15 percent.
- Judges interview, 35 percent.

ANTI-BRACE FOOD
Kids have a way of destroying the indestructable. Johnnie had a beautiful set of braces. Should have stayed in place until the day of reckoning. But Johnnie was a kid. It was a hot day and he was trying to break an ice cube with his teeth. Pop went the ice cube — Pop went the braces!
Of course, with the evidence gone (melted) and the braces in Johnnie's hand, it's easy to lay blame on the orthodontist for placing the braces on improperly. True, orthodontist are only human and this can happen — but most of the time, braces that come loose in treatment are not due to this factor, but rather to the type of food the patient eats (or tried to pulverize).
Hard foods, like candies, French bread crusts, hard vegetables, ice cubes, etc. can all fracture the cement that holds the brace to the tooth thereby causing a loose brace. Sticky foods, like chewy candies can do the same thing. Special attention has to be paid to the kind of food eaten in order to preserve the braces and the teeth that the braces are hooked onto.

Michigan's GOP has always had 2 parties

Tim Richard

Between now and next August, folks who plan to vote in the Republican primary will hear a lot about who's a genuine, mainstream, true-blue Republican and who isn't.

"Moderates" and "conservatives" the groups are called.

The fact of Michigan history is that there have been two Republican parties for the better part of a century. Politics in 1882 or 1982 makes no sense unless you grasp that central fact.

The lines were a little muddy from the Civil War to the turn of the century, when Republicans routinely won state offices by waving the bloody shirt of the Grand Army of the Republic.

But the lines have been pretty clear since 1912, when the party split between Republican President William Howard Taft and progressive ex-President Teddy Roosevelt.

THE STATE convention in Bay City that year was marked by a secret meeting of the Taftites, a calling out of the National Guard and fist-fights.

The Grand Old Party sent a pro-Teddy delegation to the national convention in Chicago, but it was unseated, so the progressives became Progressives and nominated their own slate. In 1912 and 1914, the Progressive candidate for governor gathered more votes than the Republican, but Democrat Woodbridge Ferris became governor because he won a plurality of the vote.

In 1926, with the party united on the ballot, conservative Republicans, led by Grand Rapids Herald editor Arthur Vandenberg, dumped three-term progressive Republican Gov. Alex Groesbeck in the primary and replaced him with Ionia Mayor Fred Green.

In recent decades, moderates have pretty much dominated the primaries, with the likes of Don Leonard defeating Hale Brake, Paul Bagwell over Carlton Morris, Bill Milliken over persons so obscure they are already forgotten, and so on.

IN THE POST-CIVIL War years, moderates and conservatives split over such issues as Negro suffrage, women's suffrage and whether the parties should provide ballots or the state should print them and conduct secret elections.

The 1926 Groesbeck-Green primary was enlightening. Vandenberg cussed out Groesbeck for favoring Wayne County in political matters. Groesbeck, it seems, wanted the Michigan Legislature reapportioned on the basis of population.

Groesbeck also wanted state highways paved with concrete and state ferryboats to carry cars across the Straits of Mackinac.

Other issues have been the initiative and referendum procedures, conservation, regulation of railroads, supervision of insurance companies, child labor laws, female labor laws, workers' compensation, a state income tax, public transit funding, a boundary commission, city home rule, county home rule and the equal rights amendment.

In the 1962 Constitutional Convention, there were three camps: the farmers' Republican caucus, the moderate Republicans and the Democrats.

One member of the farmers' caucus was Lee Boothby of Niles. He proposed that the state senate be apportioned on the basis of one senator for every three counties. I talked to him myself and assure he was sober. One senator for three counties. That's conservative.

IN THE PRESENT-DAY Republican party in Michigan, we have an array of candidates.

Conservative Bob Huber, a candidate for the U.S. Senate nomination, attended a meeting last week at which he called U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell's Gypsy Moths in Congress a band of "squishies."

In fact, the Gypsy Moths — a group of Republican congressmen from the Northeastern and Midwestern industrial states — have supported the President Ronald Reagan line on total federal spending but are trying to channel some of that limited cash to their industrial states, which are being bled of tax money.

They see their Republican president cutting deals with the "Boll Weevil" southern Democrats, and they are saying, "Hey, Mr. President, deal with our needs first."

We also have U.S. Senate contendenders as moderates Philip Ruppe and Bill Ballenger making a pitch for conservatives and trying to present a broad-front picture to the voters. Well, that's their strategy and their privilege.

But the fact of political life in Michigan — last century, last election, this election and next election — is that there are two Republican parties.

As the twig is bent, so grows the ...

The TV commercial showing weather forecaster Mal Sillars' mother trying to coax her son into leaving his raincoat home and the smug, rain-coated kid walking obstinately out of the house just as the thunder sounds overhead is intriguing.

How many of our better-known personalities were blessed at an early age with that kind of foresight? We found that many celebrities had similar vision; others were as nearsighted as kids as they now are as adults.

Channel 4 newscaster Ben Frazier once lost the job of cutting the lawn at his home. Frazier, then only slightly older than Sillars when Sillars was defying his mother, had the job at 75 cents per cutting.

Young Ben figured that as the only boy in the family he could demand more than 75 cents. He promptly told his mom he was too sick to cut — unless he got $1.25.

Mom, no dummy, hired the youngster down the street, Jeffrey Harlan, Carman's brother, who did a much better job.

Ben's friends organized a boycott and refused to play in the Fraziers' yard until Harlan was fired and Ben got the lawn-cutting job back. Mom and Pop Frazier figured it was worth more than 75 cents a week to have peace and quiet around the house and raised young Harlan's pay to $1.25 cents per cutting. Ben's been making shrewd business deals ever since.

HOWARD COSELL'S dad always urged young Howie to go outside and play sports rather than constantly read dictionaries and play Scrabble. "How are you every going to be able to discuss sports intelligently if you don't know anything about playing them?" the elder Cosell asked.

Young Howie replied: "Persistence and pertinacity in the pursuit of a proficient and powerful vocablulary is infinitely more estimable than a mere penchant for being pulverized by opposing players.

"Additionally, knowledge of the game is not necessarily essential to exclaiming expertise nor in expanding on the vicissitudes of competitive endeavors.

"I envision myself as the ultimate authority in any such area, not because of an empirical knowledge of a particular sport, but, to the contrary, because a paucity of knowledge is invariably superceded by unparalleled eloquence which makes mere knowledge superfluous."

Howie's stupified father said it probably was a good thing that Howie was staying away from sports and going into law.

ROY HALSTON, the designer (known to the world as simply Halston), had parents who worried constantly about his predilection for dressing himself up and decorating his room with bolts of cloth. "How are you ever going to amount to anything in the business world, Roy, unless you give up this silly day-dreaming with clothes?" his dad asked.

Roy ignored the question, stalking off in his black velvet jacket, white silk shirt, mauve slacks and patent-leather shoes. The Halstons were certain that Roy would never be able to get a job.

Coleman Young was continually chastised as a boy for using inappropriate language. At one point, he was discovered playing marbles with neighorhood friends. "I want all the blankety-blank, blank-blanking marbles," young Coleman kept yelling.

"How are you every going to amount to anything unless you learn to talk like a gentleman?" his dad cautioned.

Despite the admonishments, Coleman continued to yell, say blankety-blank, blank-blanking and win all the marbles.

A scene to remember

Taking the Nixon tour

Shirlee Iden

Writing in my journal on the last day in China, I sit at a large desk in a suite at the Angler's Rest House in Beijing (Peking).

Mixed feelings, you bet! In 1972 then President Richard Nixon, in a precedent-setting visit, came to China. He and Mrs. Nixon stayed in the same master suite that Jack and I now occupy. Unquestionably, he sat at this same desk.

Large and richly furnished, the suite is unheated, lacks decorative touches, and the carpet in the sitting room cries for cleaning. But Angler's is like heaven with large beds, comfortable pillows, semi-Western food and luxury not seen before on our China travels.

We wonder which bed did the president use and which the first lady. We'll never know, but we enjoy a farewell cocktail party with fellow tour members in the suite.

Nineteen days in China seem hardly enough, and there is much to look back upon.

Jack arrives in Beijing feverish and ill, and though he has fought it before, now he agrees to see a doctor.

Escorted by one of the young guides, we go by cab to the Capitol Hospital, where foreigners are usually treated. Jack is questioned, examined and probed thoroughly by a competent female doctor aided by a female nurse.

DIAGNOSIS, as we had guessed, was an upper respiratory infection. Jack is injected with antibiotic and sent home with more antibiotic, nose drops, cough drops and Chinese herbal medicine. He takes some gentle ribbing from the tour members about the "ground rhinoceros horn" that finally cured him.

All our lives we have heard the pros and cons of socialized medicine debated. Now we get the reality and a surpise. There is no charge for the services of the doctor. The medications and injection cost under $3 — less than the taxicab ride that took us to the hospital.

Cheap and effective health care is one of the positive things about the People's Republic of China. Here men as well as women take birth control pills (though sterilization is increasingly used), and venereal disease has been eradicated. Last year there were 14 cases of VD in Beijing, each of them brought in by a foreign technician.

Dr. Ma Haide (George Hatem), the revered doctor most responsible for blotting out VD in China, told us in his lovely Beijing home that his final life's goal is to erase leprosy (Hansen's Disease) from the country. He's well on his way.

MA HAIDE, American by birth, came to China in the 1930s, was Mao's friend, companion on the "long march" and his private doctor, and has left his own humanitarian mark on contemporary Chinese history.

Communal life is another part of today's China.

Feng Huo is the name of the commune we visit. Once a poor village of a few peasant families, today hundreds of families live and enjoy security there.

Mr. Kong, the commune leader, tells us how good their life is today, what they have accomplished, and how they have harnessed nature and technology to their advantage.

Invited to the member's homes, we see their multiroom apartments and their television sets, and are told that every family has at least one bicycle and a sewing machine.

Prominent is the huge billboard in English, that tells us this is a model commune, one especially chosen for tourists to see.

In a nursery school, we see costumed children in a nursery who sing and dance for us, and in a milltown clinic, we witness acupuncture performed on a young woman with severe back pains.

Soldiers and horses of Terra Cotta guard the tomb of an ancient Tang Emperor at Xian, line after line. Each distinctive, and surely one of the world's wonders, these sentinels are a monument, frozen in time, that rivals the grandeur of the Great Pyramids.

Writing about our glimpse of China, so very inadequate after all, is like choosing items from a Chinese menu, one from column A, and so on.

We wanted to see it before it changed too much. But we saw evidence of commercialization and change already. In Beijing you can see the huge Coca Cola billboards; in Xian, little children beg for ballpoint pens; and at the Forbidden City, you can choose from half a dozen gift shops.

THOUGH it came nearly at the end of our trip, our visit to the Great Wall of China is no anticlimax.

At the wall, we choose to go left though it is the more difficult climb. This put the sun at our backs for taking photographs.

We climb ramps and stairs, mostly of stone. At times it is so steep, people appear to be standing parallel to the ground. Before us and behind stretches the huge winding wall built by emperors to keep barbarians and enemies out.

Now on a bright, breezy day in October 1981 we have climbed it. Afterward, the idea of having done so keeps returning like a flashback of some impossible dream.

Dutch aunts always right

"What you need," she said bluntly, "is a Dutch aunt to give you a good, swift kick in the pants."

The speaker was a college counselor who, wincing at my transcript, decided that I was rewriting the definition for "underachiever."

I had heard it before. From an aunt, actually, although she was Scottish and not Dutch. She had been a school teacher for 50 years and, although she would never say a disparaging word about a nephew, she made it clear that the only way to do school work was to do it right.

As a small child at Christmas, I waited eagerly for all the toys and games that promised instant gratification. Every year my aunt gave me a 12-month subscription to a book club. Long after I grew bored with the toys and games, I was eagerly awaiting the delivery of the next book that promised excitement, humor, adventure and, not least of all, a package addressed to me. A crafty lady, my Aunt Mary.

It was an article about the best and the brightest at Harvard that got me thinking in this vein. It seems many of the elite of the academic world have the same problem I did. After chafing about the evils of authority, they discovered that not every 18-, 19- and 20-year-old has sufficient self-discipline to go it alone.

Many classes in Harvard were less than rigid about deadlines for term papers and regularly granted extensions to students who weren't prepared to take tests. This was Harvard, after all, where the future leaders pass time between adolescence and posterity. It would be trite to give someone an E because he was a day late for a paper, or a week late or a month.

But because it was Harvard, the students put added pressure on themselves to do well. And because they were still young, they fell to the temptations that lead to proscrastination. The result, if this story is to be believed, is a large number of anxiety-ridden, underachieving overachievers forever weighted down by the paper due last week that hasn't been started yet.

As a somewhat radical experiment, a controlled group of students at Harvard were schooled with an innovative approach: They would attend classes; they would do their homework; they would hand in their papers on time, or not at all; and they would take their tests on the assigned dates.

The students, according to this unscientific study, did well under this system. And they were happier. The conclusion was that an imposed self-discipline is an unseen, but valuable, part of the curriculum.

This would not have surprised my aunts, whether of real Scottish or imaginary Dutch descent.

The squabble pitting Sheriff William Lucas and his road patrol deputies against the Wayne County board of commissioners has apparently ended with an agreement that the road patrol can continue to exist by selling its services to communities needing police protection.

Only problem is that all the communities formerly utilizing the deputies made other arrangements during the county's fiscal battles. The road patrol at one time provided protection to four townships. The townships now feel they can do nicely without the road patrol.

Plymouth Township, for example, has contracted with the city of Plymouth for police services and is quite happy with the arrangement.

Jawor answers Hilltop column

To the editor:

On behalf of the management of Hilltop Golf Course, I would like to respond to the column by Dennis O'Connor in the Monday, Nov. 23, issue of the Plymouth and Canton Observers.

It is unfortunate that such a reply is necessary. However, the irresponsible journalism exhibited in O'Connor's column requires a response — especially in view of the fact that O'Connor's column was written without knowledge of the true facts and without any attempt to determine the true facts and what has transpired since I assumed management of the golf course in 1979.

O'Connor has alleged that the contract agreement over the last three years between myself and Plymouth Township was "ridiculous." However, he fails to mention the fact that the golf course, through no fault of mine or the township of Plymouth, was never in a condition to be operated for a full season under normal playing conditions.

In 1979, the clubhouse was destroyed by fire prior to the time I assumed responsibility for operating the course. The new clubhouse was not opened until June 20, 1979, and during that period the course was operated out of the equipment barn.

Additionally, Wayne County started construction of the Byron Sanitary Sewer System, which cut through the middle of the entire course in Sept. 1979 and did not complete the construction until June 1980.

As a result, the golfers who dared play the course were forced to play over and around bulldozers, tractors, and all of the other equipment, as well as mountains of dirt.

In July 1980, the township of Plymouth started construction of the 18-hole expansion. As a result, the golfing public was confronted with playing around and over the heavy construction equipment, mounds of dirt, and temporary greens once again.

Additionally, the course had to close on Sept. 1, 1980, in order to complete construction and seeding before winter.

In 1981, due to the expansion project, the first temporary nine holes of play did not open until May 20, and even then, the course was open and utilized in a "playable under repair" condition. Thus, the first year that the course will be open for a full season under my contract will be 1982.

O'Connor has branded the settlement agreement as "ridiculous" and "rubber stamped." Once again, O'Connor has failed to investigate the true facts. The settlement agreement was the result of countless hours of discussion, between myself and the board, to determine how the expansion project could be implemented and completed in the shortest possible time.

And the fact that nine new holes were constructed and six holes were renovated and opened for at least limited use in approximately 12 months, is ringing testimony that the decisions made during those meetings and discussions were correct.

The favorable comments and acceptance by the golfing public is further evidence of the fruitfulness of the decisions made during this time.

I am sorry that O'Connor refused to take the time to view the course and what has been accomplished through the joint efforts of the board and myself.

O'Connor made reference to, and scoffed at, certain revenue figures over the last three years. However, he fails to mention that during the four years prior to the time I assummed responsibility for Hilltop, the average annual revenue was about $6,000 per year.

Of course this is not surprising, in that he has failed to bring out the fact that Plymouth Township's investment in Hilltop dates back to 1970. Nor is it surprising that, in view of the fact that when he makes a comparison to Fellows Creek (a course in Canton Township), he fails to mention that Canton Township purchases and maintains all of the maintenance equipment. I purchase and maintain all the equipment myself.

Additionally, he has failed to mention that I have constructed a 1,200-square-foot addition to the clubhouse at my own expense, which will eventually benefit the township.

O'Connor has warned the board to "be ready for some heavy discussion." Well, the board has been ready and has been aware throughout. And, as a result of the combined efforts of everyone involved, Hilltop Golf Course will be one of the best, if not the best, golfing facility in the metropolitan area.

Hopefully, O'Connor will take the time to see the completed project and review all the facts before he makes any more unfounded allegations.

Objects to view on service cuts

To the editor:

The editorial, "Unhappy clients will shop elsewhere for service," is bereft of a cogent premise and totally lacking in a logical thesis; it omits any specific supporting evidence and chooses to ignore any historical perspective.

When times were good and the money was flowing from Washington and Lansing (circe 1960s), education was called upon to provide a cornucopia of services heretofore never considered to be within the scope or purpose of the educational establishment.

Thus, we expanded special education (this sector of educational services now comprises well over twice the number of professionals which existed on the entire high school staff when I became a teacher 21 years ago). We expanded by a factor of at least 10 the vocational education program. When I was a student in Plymouth, the high school had one counselor. We now provide one counselor for about 400 students. There was no such thing as a talented and gifted program. We now have one which is growing in scope and quality daily. I could elaborate at length regarding the services now provided which were either non-existent or thought to be non-essential only a few years ago.

ONE OF the few services we don't provide is chapel; that could well be next. Therein lies one of the main problems. It certainly is no secret that numerous people and groups have come to question the need for all of these services. Going back to basic education, whatever that may be, has been a primary theme for several years. However, once a "need" for a service is identified, and a commitment is made to provide the service, the perception is established that the need will always be there and will be filled on an effective and continuous basis for all of time.

When the crunch comes, and the money stops flowing, the only true way that a school district can cope is to reduce services, which are provided by people, who receive salaries. To somehow indicate that this will not restore confidence in parents, and that they will thus not support our millage requests, and that they will then go elsewhere is a fallow and convoluted argument.

Realistically speaking, people basically still get what they pay for. Once they accept the unhappy fact that schools are subject to the same kinds of inflationary pressures and expenses which society at large is faced with, they can make a rational judgement as to whether or not they want to have the services which have been provided. The same process by which people decide to buy a more efficient, less expensive car is in effect in the willingness to support educational services.

THERE IS no question that we have lost some services in this district. We no longer have a career counselor, a job placement office, sixth-grade camp, and other worthwhile programs. However, the editor would have done a greater service to this community had he demanded a specific evaluation of lost services versus those which are retained. But to incoherently question the inevitability of cuts, given the almost monthly reduction in revenues, is to only add to the confusion and frustration. Our local newspapers could provide the necessary impetus and pressure to deal more justifiably with a distressing situation. But it requires more than a cursory and irrational effort.

Column had a negative tone

To the editor:

I am very displeased with Dennis O'Connor's column on Nov. 23, regarding the Hilltop Golf Course.

I realize that this is the opinion of one man but I am suprised that the Observer would condone this type of writing. The column suggests a very negative tone towards the golf course, the golf course manager, and the Plymouth Township Board.

It is my feeling that the Plymouth Township Board has shown extreme insight in developing a run down, "nothing" nine-hole golf course into a challenging 18-hole course, which the people of Plymouth and Plymouth Township can be proud to claim.

In the previous years, before the Plymouth Township Board and the present manager took over, the golf course was an embarrassment. In three years, the course has grown into a very competitive and desirable layout which is earning an excellent reputation throughout the entire Detroit area.

This positive change has come about as a result of a lot of time and effort put in by the Plymouth Township Board members and the Hilltop manager, John Jawor.

O'Connor doesn't seem to realize that a change of this magnitude requires an extreme amount of time, effort and money at the offset. I'm sure the Plymouth Township Board members are intelligent enough to realize that revenues at the start of a business venture will be much less than they will be in later years.

Most people can understand that a situation of this nature must require a long-term viewing rather than being short sighted.

There is no question in my mind that the Plymouth Township Board members and the Hilltop manager are doing a super job with the golf course. The people of Plymouth and Plymouth Township will be the winner in the long run.

Thanks given to local bank

To the editor:

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce Business/Retail Committee and the Chamber's entire membership wish to commend the First National Bank of Plymouth for the Christmas Shop Plymouth program.

The business/retail community appreciates all that the bank has done to help bring business to our community.

It really is a heartening experience to be involved with this type of dedicated community-minded bank.

All of Plymouth's merchants thank you. Ken Currie, Paul Perrot and Chris Ratio had spent countless hours putting together the wonderful Christmas Shop Plymouth program. A round of applause also should go to the entire staff which has worked so hard to make this the great community that it is to live and work.

Hit-and-run cyclist victim improves

A 25-year-old victim of a hit-and-run accident was in guarded condition but unconscious in Botsford Hospital late last week after spending an estimated 18 hours unconscious in a six-foot ditch along Seven Mile Road in Northville Township.

According to police accounts, Robert Toms of 18903 Comstock was apparently struck by a car as he was bicycling on Seven Mile near Haggerty Monday evening.

A Northville Township resident, John Angell, called police at 10:30 p.m. Monday night and reported finding a mangled bicycle on Seven Mile.

Police officers checked the scene that night but couldn't find anyone, according to Sgt. Raymond Olsen of the Northville Township state police post.

Angell returned to the scene Tuesday afternoon and found Toms in the ditch. Angell called police and officers transported the unconscious Toms to Botsford Hospital.

Olson said Toms was wearing a corduroy jacket, several layers of clothing, boots and gloves.

Toms, the son of Bruce and ann Toms of Livonia, was under observation Friday. He reportedly had suffered a broken left leg and a head concussion.

Toms' parents learned about the accident about 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when they reported their son missing at the state police post, Olson said. They told police their son had left their house to go bike riding about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Olson said police believe the accident happened "about 10:30 p.m. last Monday or shortly before that."

Police have found no evidence at the scene or witnesses who could identify the vehicle that struck Toms.

The institute recently collaborated with universities and industries in Michigan to help form a new chapter of Robotics International, called Michigan Robotics Research Circle, to advance automated manufacturing. The board of trustees of ERIM consists of persons from education, government, and industry — three of whom are state officials designated by the governor.

MEALS TO BE REMEMBERED

There is a festival of foods each fall that signals the start of the months that traditionally include a succession of happy celebrations featuring special meals. Initiating this welcome season in homes across the country is "Porkfest," a salute to the autumn harvest that pairs exciting pork entrees with an array of interesting and appetizing food combinations.

For that important dinner, an excellent choice is juicy and tender "Pork Loin Roast," served with a unique whipped "Bean 'n' Vegetable Medley." Top off this gala meal with picture-pretty "Pineapple Daiquiri Parfaits," and your guests are sure to compliment you on your culinary creativity.

Many special fall and winter occasions call for an informal home-style menu. For this kind of get-together, prepare a flavorful and colorful meal including "Glazed Smoked Pork with Pineapple Slices," accompanied by delicious "Red Beans and Rice." This meal will become a cool-weather favorite—kind to the cook and kind to the budget.

PORK LOIN ROAST

Savory flavor and tender goodness make a pork loin roast a diner's delight. It supplies important nutrients along with appetite appeal, and the cook also will appreciate its economy and ease of preparation.

4 to 6-pound pork loin roast

Place roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so the bulb is centered in the thickest part. Make certain bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water; do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) to well done (170°F.)*. Allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound for a center loin roast; 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a half loin; 40 to 45 minutes per pound for a smaller blade or sirloin roast.

*In determining when to take the roast from the oven, keep in mind that roasts usually rise about 5°F. in internal temperature while standing the recommended 15 to 20 minutes before carving.

Note: Have the meat retailer loosen the chine (back) bone by sawing across the rib bones. When roasting is finished, the back bone can be removed easily by running the carving knife along the edge of the roast before the meat is placed on the platter to be carved.

BEAN 'N' VEGETABLE MEDLEY

This unusual side dish is guaranteed to capture everyone's attention. The nourishing combination of whipped beans and other vegetables is laced deliciously with wine and herbs.

- 1 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup thinly sliced carrots
- 1/4 cup sliced celery
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon basil, crushed
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 bay leaf
- 3 cups prepared, hot, drained great northern, navy or small white beans
- Snipped parsley

Combine wine, carrots, celery, onion, salt, basil, garlic and bay leaf in saucepan; simmer 30 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Remove bay leaf. Drain; reserve 1/4 cup liquid. Puree vegetables in food processor or food mill until smooth. Puree hot cooked beans and combine with vegetables; blend in reserved liquid. Garnish with parsley. Serve hot. 6 servings.

To prepare beans: Wash 1 pound beans; soak overnight in 6 cups water. Or, for quick soak method, bring beans and water to boil and boil 3 minutes; cover and let stand 1 hour. Drain and rinse beans; add 6 cups hot water, 1 to 2 tablespoons shortening and 2 teaspoons salt. Boil gently with lid tilted until tender. Drain.

Note: Cooked beans may be packed in freezer-proof containers and frozen for later use.

PINEAPPLE DAIQUIRI PARFAITS

Pineapple Daiquiri Parfaits, an elegant finale for any luncheon or dinner, are definitely in the easy-to-do category. Refreshing canned pineapple chunks, marinated in rum, are served in a pretty pink "snow" made from a frozen combination of pineapple and lime juices, rum and a touch of grenadine for color. This light and lively dessert is one you'll want to serve again and again.

- 1 can (20 ounces) pineapple chunks
- 1 can (6 ounces) unsweetened pineapple juice
- 1/3 cup amber rum
- 1/4 cup fresh lime juice
- 2 tablespoons grenadine syrup
- 2 tablespoons amber rum for pineapple
- Mint sprigs

Drain 3/4 cup syrup from pineapple. Combine with pineapple juice, 1/3 cup rum, lime juice and grenadine syrup. Turn into loaf pan (8-1/2 x 4-1/2 inches) and freeze firm. Meanwhile, combine drained pineapple with remaining 2 tablespoons rum and chill well. At serving time, divide pineapple chunks between 4 (7-ounce) parfait glasses, reserving 8 chunks for decoration, if desired. Scrape frozen mixture with side of spoon, to make a light fluffy consistency, and pile into the dishes over pineapple. Top each serving with 2 pineapple chunks and a mint sprig. Serve at once. 4 servings.

Note: For 8 servings double recipe and freeze in larger pan.

GLAZED SMOKED PORK WITH PINEAPPLE SLICES

Boneless Smoked Pork Shoulder, always a homey cool-weather favorite, takes on added appeal when brushed with part of the spicy pineapple glaze that bathes the golden slices.

- 2 to 3-pound smoked pork shoulder roll
- 1 can (20 ounces) pineapple slices in heavy syrup
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice

Place pork shoulder on rack in open roasting pan. Insert roast meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the meat. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325°F.) until meat thermometer registers 170°F. Allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound. Drain pineapple slices, reserving syrup. Combine brown sugar, cornstarch, cloves and nutmeg in saucepan. Stir in reserved syrup and lemon juice. Bring to a boil, reduce heat and cook slowly 5 minutes. Add pineapple slices and continue cooking slowly 2 to 3 minutes. Brush meat with glaze during last 15 minutes roasting time. Serve Pineapple Slices with shoulder roll.

RED BEANS AND RICE

Prepared with cooked or canned small red, pink or kidney beans, Red Beans and Rice is a great partner for many autumn pork entrees.

- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 1-2/3 cups drained, cooked or canned small red, pink or red kidney beans
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon sherry
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon toasted sesame seeds, if desired

Cook rice according to package directions.* Add beans, onion, sherry and soy sauce; mix gently. Simmer, covered, 5 minutes or until all moisture is absorbed. Sprinkle with sesame seeds, if desired. 6 servings.

*If using cold cooked rice, reheat, covered, in a moderate oven (350°F.) 20 minutes.

SPEEDY SKILLET SUPPER

If you're lucky enough to have leftover smoked pork shoulder, you can use it to prepare a delicious follow-up meal — Speedy Skillet Supper. While some like it hot, others prefer it chilled with a simple vinaigrette dressing for a hearty main-course salad.

- 3/4 to 1 pound cooked smoked pork shoulder
- 1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple in heavy syrup
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1/8 teaspoon crushed red pepper
- 1 can (15 ounces) pinto beans or kidney beans, drained
- 1/2 cup green pepper strips

Cut cooked smoked pork shoulder into 1-inch cubes. Place pineapple with juice and onion in large frying pan and cook slowly 2 to 3 minutes. Add brown sugar, mustard, cumin and red pepper, stirring to combine. Stir in smoked pork cubes and beans. Cover tightly and cook slowly 8 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in green pepper and continue cooking slowly 5 minutes. 4 servings.

*Smoked ham cubes may be substituted.

A good use of turkey leftovers:

Turkey tetrazzini

Modern times, smaller families and less time for food preparation call for meals that are quick, easy and tasty. Here's a recipe using turkey leftovers.

There's a new cook in the kitchen — a cook who's preparing food for fewer people (often only himself or herself), has less time to spend over the stove and who can select from a multitude of food opitons other than "home-cooked" to get dinner on the table. This new cook is a reflection of the changing structure of the American household.

Since the beginning of the century, the average household size has declined from 4.76 to 2.81 and is expected to drop to 2.6 by 1985. While the female member of the family is still likely to do most of the cooking, she now has less time to spend in the kitchen. Today 60 percent of women, aged 20-64, work outside the home. And 53 percent of these women also have children.

Today's consumer has the option of selecting from an increasing variety of convenience foods. In 1900, all bread was homemade. Frozen food made an entrance in 1929. And the first cake mix was introduced only 30 years ago.

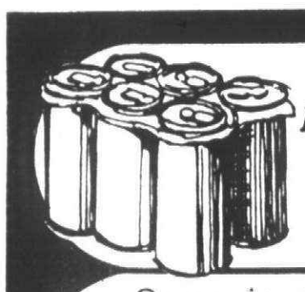

While home cooking hasn't ceased, recipes must be quick and easy. Here's one that makes good use of leftover turkey or chicken.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

1 pkg. (7 oz.) thin spaghetti
2 cups turkey or chicken broth (cool)
2 cups half-and-half or milk
½ cup flour
¼ cup margarine or butter
1¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 cups cut-up cooked turkey or chicken
½ cup sliced slivered almonds
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese (about 4 oz.)

Cook spaghetti as directed on package; rinse under running cold water and drain. Heat oven to 350 degrees. Mix broth, half-and-half, flour, margarine, salt and pepper in 3-quart saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Stir in spaghetti, turkey, olives and almonds. Spread in ungreased rectangular baking dish, 12 by 7½ by 2 inches. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake uncovered until hot and bubbly, 25-30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Chicken broth can be made by dissovling 2 chicken bouillon cubes in 2 cups boiling water. Or use canned broth or broth from cooked chicken breast meat.

Tips for eating out wisely

With today's busy lifestyles, restaurants and fast foods seem to be taking over a good time of our mealtimes. Many restaurants serve large portions (more than we'd eat at home) and offer high calorie selections loaded with saturated fats, sodium and sugar.

But according to Susan Rapoport, author of "Cooking Your Way To Better Nutrition and Weight Control," you can still control what you eat as well as influence your family in the right direction by making wise food choices from the menu.

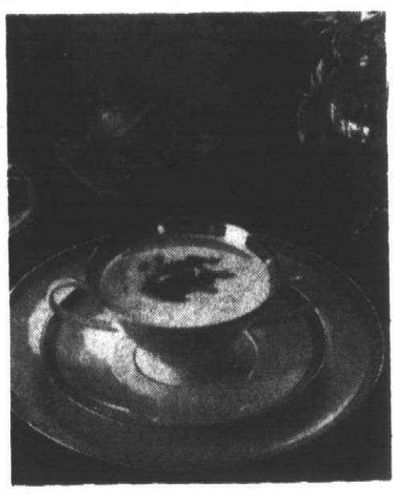

Mrs. Rapoport, a registered dietician, is nutritionist for the Executive Health Section of the Department of Health at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation in Ohio.

She believes that how wisely we eat and drink can greatly affect the quality of our health.

HERE ARE SOME of her common suggestions to obtain the most nutrition as well as avoid extra calories when dinning out:

- If you plan to eat out, make a special effort to eat wisely the rest of the day.
- Don't select a restaurant that conflicts with your commitment to healthy eating. "All-you-can-eat" spots almost always guarantee that you will eat more than you should.
- Select plain foods from the menu without sauces and gravies.
- Watch portion sizes. If a serving is more than you wish, ask for a doggie bag to take it home.
- Choose broiled, baked, roasted, poached or steamed foods — anything but fried.
- Ask for salad dressings "on the side" so you can control the quanity used.
- Avoid the salt shaker.
- Choose lean meats, poultry or fish.
- Avoid rich dinner rolls, pancakes or waffles with syrup on a regular basis.
- Request fresh fruit for dessert. If a rich dessert is a "must," share a serving.
- Choose your beverage wisely.

"Fast foods can provide a part of your daily nutritional needs if you choose carefully," says Mrs. Rapoport. "Just be certain to include dairy products, fruits and vegetables at other meals."

Caviar, soup for elegant entertaining

This season casual parties give way to elegant candlelight dinners. It is the time of year to experiment with new recipes. The caviar-topped soup suggested here is an excellent choice. Cool, refreshing and elegant, it sparkles with the spirit of the season. Served as a first course, it brings a speical luster to your table. Caviar gives this soup a sophisticated flourish that flatters guests for less than 16 cents a serving.

CREAM OF POTATO SOUP WITH CAVIAR

Makes six ½-cup servings
2 Tbsp. butter
1 cup onions, chopped
2 cups potatoes, peeled and sliced
1 small stalk celery, chopped
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
4 packets chicken broth
3 cups water
1 cup heavy cream or milk
1 cup potatoes, cooked and cut into small cubes (optional)
6 tsp. whitefish caviar

Melt butter in a large saucepan, add onions and cook slowly until tender; do not brown. Add potatoes, celery, salt, pepper, chicken broth and water. Cover and cook until potatoes are tender.

Drain vegetables and return broth to saucepan. Puree vegetables in a food processor, blender or food mill. Add puree to liquid in saucepan, stir in milk or cream and mix until well blended. Chill until ready to serve.

Before serving, divide the cup of cubed potatoes among bowls, ladle in chilled soup, and top each bowl with 1 teaspoon of caviar.

What's your beef?

For a taste treat, try Indonesian

All-American beefsteak can be transformed into an exciting entree with the exotic appeal of Indonesian cuisine.

Taking a beefsteak from the boundaries of this country to a far away land can be a quick trip as illustrated with this recipe for Indonesian Beef Strips, a version of the speedy stirfry. Because the strips are cut from a naturally tender steak, they need only be browned and briefly cooked.

The boneless steak is first partially frozen for easier cutting, then cut into thin strips. The strips are combined with plumped raisins and onion wedges in a sauce that's boldly flavored with nutmeg, chopped red pepper, hot pepper sauce and a hint of peanut butter.

Thrifty cooks not familiar with beef chuck top blade steaks will be glad to make their acquaintance in this recipe. They are an economical cut featuring the most tender muscles of the chuck. The steaks are oval in shape, with minimal fat covering. Because they are boneless with little or no waste, they offer a good return on the meat dollar. If chuck top blade steaks are not available, sirlon steak is an excellent alternative.

INDONESIAN BEEF STRIPS

1 pound boneless beef chuck top blade steak or sirloin steak
¾ cup hot water
⅓ cup raisins
1 medium onion, cut lengthwise into thin wedges
1 tbsp. cooking fat
¾ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
⅛ tsp. nutmeg
2 tbsps. chopped red pepper
1 tbsp. peanut butter
2 tsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. hot pepper sauce
Hot cooked rice

Partially freeze meat and slice across grain into thin strips. Pour hot water over raisins in a small bowl; set aside to plump. Brown meat and onion in cooking fat in large frying pan. Pour off drippings. Sprinkle salt, pepper and nutmeg over meat. Add red pepper. Combine peanut butter, cornstarch and hot pepper sauce. Drain water from raisins; stir water into peanut butter mixture and add to meat. Add raisins; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened and meat and vegetables are heated through.

The highly seasoned beef is served on a bed of hot, fluffy rice. Round out the menu with a green vegetable and mixed green salad. Then pick up on the spirit of the moment and end the meal in style with a variety of exotic fresh fruit.

A handy rice dish

RICE O'BRIEN

½ cup sliced onion
½ cup diced green pepper
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine
3 cups hot cooked rice (cooked in chicken broth, if desired)
3 Tbsp. diced pimientos
¼ cup sliced pitted ripe olives, optional
1 tsp. salt

Cook onion and pepper in butter until tender crisp. Add remaining ingredients. Heat, tossing lightly with fork to keep rice light and fluffy.

Makes six servings.

Sunny treat: Pork Chops California

If you are looking for a dish somewhat different than the traditional Thanksgiving turkey or ham, try an entree which reminds one of warm breezes and sunny days — Pork Chops California.

Dates add a subtle richness to the combination of pineapple, celery and onions, seasoned with soy sauce for an exotic flavor.

The bland flavored pork chops take to this combination like a surfer takes to the sea — each ingredient lending its own special quality to form a perfect union.

PORK CHOPS CALIFORNIA

6 pork chops about ½-inch thick
1 small onion, chopped
1 cup pineapple cubes and juice
2 Tbsp. soy sauce
Dash of marjoram
1 cup sliced celery
1 cup sliced dates

Brown chops on both sides in a small bit of fat in a heavy skillet. Add onion, pineapple and juice, marjoram and soy sauce. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes until pork chops are tender. Don't overcook the celery. Serve on platter with fruit and juice spooned over the chops. Serves six.

Holiday thoughts turn to fixing leftovers

ANOTHER THANKSGIVING day has come and gone, but the leftovers linger on and on. The days after were spent nibbling on the feast's remaining morsels — cranberry-molded jello salad, warmed stuffing, candied carrots and yams and, of course, turkey.

I've been spoiled from years of Mom's cooking and expect certain dishes — I relish her delicious spiced pumpkin pie. I'm afraid my Thanksgiving would be as incomplete without it as the piece of pie would be without a huge mound of whipped cream on top.

The scrumptious tidbits on the table made me thankful for all the good things in life, but I really became grateful, and reminisced, when I sat down with a cold, thinly sliced white meat turkey sandwich.

My husband and I have had the privilege and hassle of fixing the holiday meal only once — the first year that we moved into our new place. I never realized the extent of preparations, readying the house, table, food, and ourselves to welcome our guests, all fourteen of them.

IN RETROSPECT, it was perhaps a blessing that Bill's mother, sister, and grandmother were here from Pennsylvania to pitch in whenever I needed assistance. And did I need a lot! In fact, as I recall, Mom stuffed the bird. Gracious and clever of me to let her feel right at home and in my kitchen, don't you think?

Seating was no problem and it was wonderful that we could all sit together instead of dividing into several rooms. Fortunately, or unfortunately, depending on how you look at it, Bill and I had no furniture to clutter our living or dining rooms. So we grouped three card tables together with our transported kitchen table and formed one long banquet table.

Bill and I have experienced two unforgettable Thanksgivings since then. In 1974, we had one of our most memorabale meals of leftovers.

We had spent our first married holiday at my parents. It started to flurry early on Sunday, so Bill and I started our journey back to Dayton, Ohio where we were living.

THE SNOW flakes grew larger with each passing minute.When we approached the outskirts of Toledo, emergency measures had been initiated. The blizzard had obliterated road signs. The expressway consisted of two rutted tracks made by a few cars in the mass of white snow.

Many exit ramps were impassable and almost impossible to distinguish from the fields bordering the road. A couple of ramps were plowed minutes before, but nature's fury quickly hid the evidence of their work.

We progressed slowly and by the time we passed through the city, we heard on the radio that roads had been closed. The Red Cross had set up emergency stations in churches and schools for thousands of stranded motorists.

'The scrumptious tidbits on the table made me thankful for all the good things in life, but I really became grateful, and reminisced, when I sat down with a cold, thinly sliced white meat turkey sandwich.'

At this point, Bill and I sat in the unmoving car for an hour eating our packed lunches of leftovers. We succeeded in returning to our apartment that night, but it took us more than twice as long as it usually did.

We didn't learn our lesson, though. The following holiday we traveled to Beaver Falls. It was different than any other Thanksgiving because Bill and I supplied the freshly-dressed turkey. Luckily weeks before in our dental office, I met a turkey farmer and I invited myself out to his farm. It was truly an experience. Never had I seen so many turkeys.

The farmer's wife walked my husband and I into the fields that were brimming with the white birds.

With a shrill whistle, she commanded them to gobble.

Bill learned a lot that day too as she showed us through the hatcheries and fields. He added to his list of talents the most realistic gobble, accompanied by Turkey mannerisms, that has ever been uttered. What a repertoire!

Well, we find ourselves in the midst of the holiday season again. The hustle and bustle at the malls has become hectic. Many catalog sales are already unfillable due to all the early shoppers. To my dismay, one toy store posted its hours until midnight. Amazing! Already the lines are long and waiting, I saw several cash registers ring up holiday toys for over $100.

The Christmas decorations are starting to appear everywhere. It is evident that the breakable ornaments will have to be hung high out the grasp of our son who has discovered many a sparkling bobble in the stores. We now wonder about the seriousness of friend's questions, asking us if we intend to 'fence' in our tree or place it on a card table.

But we bravely do not have these intentions. We have the feeling though that the job of 'tree guard' will be added to our parental duties and that very soon, the words 'No, No' will be heard about our hosue almost constantly.

The decorating of homes and purchasing of gifts will lead up to the family gathering once more around the festive table.

We will share another meal and create more memories that are dear and unforgettable to us. We will be celebrating with our loved ones the first Christmas eve at our home.

And one of the compensating factors to all the preparations ahead of us is that it is our refrigerator that will be stuffed with the leftovers. Then I can concoct some new twists to our favorite 'leftover' casseroles and nibble til our hearts are content.

GRANDMA'S CREAMED HAM AND CABBAGE

1 small head of cabbage
4 tbsp. margarine
4 tbsp. all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. paprika
2 cups milk
2 cups diced cooked ham
½ cup crushed corn flakes

While cabbage is cooking, in medium saucepan over low heat, melt margarine; stir in flour, salt, pepper, and paprika until smooth. Gradually stir in milk; cook, stirring constantly until thickened and smooth.

Drain cabbage and mix together with ham and sauce. Pour into casserole; cover with corn falkes, and dot with margarine.

Bake in moderate oven at 375 degrees about 20 minutes, or warm thoroughly in the microwave. Serves 4.

8 slices of bacon
1 cup chopped onion

Boil rice to yield 3 cups after it is cooked. Cook spinach according to directions on package; drain. Combine bacon, onion, rice, spinach, celery, and pimento in a large bowl.

Mix soup and sour cream together. Stir half of this sauce into rice mixture. Put this combined mixture into a 13 x 9 casserole dish.

Arrange turkey slices on top. Spoon the remaining half of the soup sauce over turkey. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake in 350 degree oven for 40 minutes. Serves 4-6.

1 tbsp. capers
⅓ cup stuffed olives
⅛ tsp. pepper

Place red snapper in a shallow buttered 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and brush with melted butter. Bake snapper in moderate oven (350° F) until fish flakes easily with fork, about 30-40 minutes.

Saute onion in oil in saucepan until tender. Add tomatoe paste, tomatoes, green chilies, capers, olives, salt and pepper. Simmer 20 minutes. Place baked snapper on serving platter and pour tomato sauce over it. Garnish with additional stuffed olives. Serves six immediately.

The VIEW

ANOTHER BUSY pre-holiday weekend is coming up. Among the joyous events is the Plymouth Community Chorus annual Christmas concert Saturday and Sunday evenings.

"Twas the Night Before Christmas" will be presented at 7 p.m. each night in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, Joy Road west of Canton Center Road. Tickets are available at the door — $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for senior citizens. Advance sale tickets may be purchased at the Book Break in Canton Township and Me and Mr Jones in Plymouth.

This will be the first time the chorus has scheduled its Christmas concert for a two-night stand. Last year's concert was a sell-out with many persons disappointed because they were turned away.

Those who attended the Dunbar Davis Hall of Justice dedication ceremony will understand why the chorus plays to SRO audiences. After they sang at the dedication ceremony, State Supreme Court Justice G. Mennen Williams asked, "Did you see this young man conducting? He almost had me singing — and that would have been a disaster."

He was referring to Mike Gross, director of the chorus. Mike and Carol Chen, assistant director and accompanist, are the dynamic duo that put it all together.

As well as inspiring Christmas favorites and sentimental songs of the season that bring tears to the eyes, there will be a novelty number. This year it is "Fruit Cake" in which the tenors just shout "pecans," "peanuts" and the names of other varieties of nuts.

Also note the Fred Waring Pennsylvanians' influence on the chorus which is the result of the seminar here and Mike and Carol's summer seminar in Pennsylvania.

Persons wishing more information may call Leatha Stonestreet, 981-4861.

THE SYMPHONY League also expanded facilities for the annual Christmas Ball Saturday evening. The dance has been moved to the ballroom of the Plymouth Hilton to accommodate a larger crowd.

Dinner-dance arrangements were chaired by K.C. Mueller and Dorothy Hennis of the Nightingale league group. Working with them in planning the gala event were Janice Harris, tickets; Lynn Vanerian, poster design; Lura Hanschu, poster distribution; Muriel Curtis, tree trimmer costumes; Martha Morrison and Carole Daniels Hackett, hospitality; Janet Crook, table decorations; and Jan Paulsen, Nightingale group chairman.

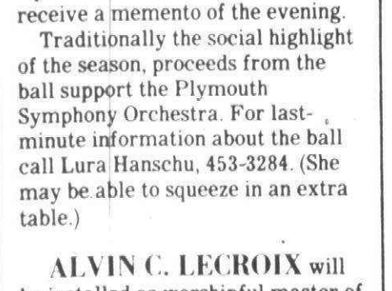

Divertissement will provide dinner music. Cynthia Ferris on flute and Ruth Myers on harp will play classical music, show tunes and popular songs. The Little Big Band will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Each couple will receive a memento of the evening.

Traditionally the social highlight of the season, proceeds from the ball support the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. For last-minute information about the ball call Lura Hanschu, 453-3284. (She may be able to squeeze in an extra table.)

ALVIN C. LECROIX will be installed as worshipful master of Northville Masonic Lodge 186 on Dec. 19 in the Northville Masonic Temple. James Penn, another Plymouth resident, will be installed as senior deacon of the lodge.

JOHN ROBERTS, former member of the Plymouth Theatre Guild, will appear in the Monday, Dec. 7 episode of "Little House on the Prairie."

John is a retired General Motors executive who became involved in community theater as a retirement hobby. He went from roles in amateur productions to professional theater and TV commercials on the west coast.

A would-be star turned columnist

By Charlene Balosky
staff writer

She wanted to be a star, but not an actress because "I didn't want to work."

So Shirley Eder became confidante and chronicler of the stars, and she admitted to her Livonia Town Hall audience last week she enjoys her work so much she sometimes thinks she would be willing to do it for free.

"I am very privileged to have my job," the syndicated columnist said. "It's hard work, but it's an exciting life."

Ms. Eder's nationally syndicated column appears in 116 newspapers, and she is a Tuesday night regular on TV 2 News in Detroit, in addition to making frequent talk show appearances for such hosts as Mike Douglas and Merv Griffin.

And her career has brought her in touch with a galaxy of stars. "I've met everyone I ever wanted to," she noted in her talk at the Mai Kai Theater.

Some of the big names she mentioned are Frank Sinatra, with whom she and her husband traveled to Egypt and South Africa, Bob Hope, who took them along when his troupe performed in Vietnam, Beverly Sills and the late William Holden and Joan Crawford.

Later at the celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meetinghouse in Plymouth, she tossed off answers to questions about many others, including Tyrone Power, Elizabeth Taylor, Robert Redford and Brooke Shields.

DRESSED ELEGANTLY in a black crepe suit and ruffled blouse, Ms. Eder told about her close-to-the-stars career in accents that hinted of her New York City beginnings.

Growing up in New York, she always was starstruck, she admitted frankly. When she graduated from high school, she informed her father, a judge who later became a New York Supreme Court justice, that she did not want to attend college but instead wanted to go into the theatre.

"My father thought this was awful," she said "No one he knew went into the theater."

But he agreed she could have her wish if she could find a job by the end of summer. She landed a job the last possible week, but recalls that her first performance was far from memorable.

"I had 10 lines in the play," she said. "I worked hard and memorized my lines, but by the time the play opened, the producer had a new girlfriend and she took eight of my lines away.

"On opening night, my father nudged my mother and asked when I would be on. My mother answered that I had already been on."

THAT ENDED a brief theatrical career, and Ms. Eder then followed her father's wishes by attending New York University.

During the waning days of World War II, she landed a job at a local radio station doing a women's program. "I didn't know what I was doing," she admitted. "We were doing features like how to make coffee without using coffee.

"I decided to see if I could get stars to come in." Her first guest was Arlene Francis.

"I began to get big name stars and traveled all over the country for NBC Monitor," she said. "Then I started doing television and newspaper columns."

Around that time, Ms. Eder married Edward Slotkin, whom she describes as being "6 feet 2 inches tall and very handsome." Slotkin's father was the founder of Hygrade Food Products, and eight years after they were married, he decided to move to Detroit to "straighten out the local plants."

THE SPEAKER described herself as not exactly being enamored with the idea of moving to Detroit."

"I thought I was going over a precipice into nowhere," she recalled. "Instead,a whole new world opened up to me."

Counting many celebrities among her personal friends, she thinks she has been able to develop these friendships because she tries to be fair and objective when writing her column.

One riendship she said she values highly is that of Sinatra, who is legendary for his dislike of the press. She told about his inviting her and her husband backstage following one of his Lake Tahoe concerts and thanking her for fair coverage.

He also singled her out during a Pine Knob concert, she said, and told the audience the people of Detroit were lucky to have her writing. When the spotlight was turned on her then, she said, "my husband said I stood up and took a bow but I don't recall it — tears were rolling down my cheeks because I was so touched."

"Frank is one of the most charming, generous men I know," said Ms. Eder.

She also related in detail the occasion when she and her husband accompanied the singer for a concert he performed in Egypt, and she met the late Anwar Sadat.

"Frank sang his best, and everyone looked glorious," she said. "The entire entire desert for two miles was covered with Persian carpets. We sat out by the pyramids that night, the moon looked like a prop, and the Sphinx actually smiled."

ANOTHER PERSON Ms. Eder considers a special friend is singer Beverly Sills.

"She is one of the most wonderful people I have met," Mrs. Eder said. "She always has a smile on her face, even though she has gone through a lot. She has an autistic child and a deaf daughter who now works for a publisher. She only talks about these things to help other people."

Talking about the recent death of actor William Holden, she described him as "a very sweet, very charming man."

"Even when he was drinking," she added, "he was never unkind."

Ms. Eder criticized those who write scathing books about celebrities following their deaths, mentioning particularly Christina Crawford, whose book, "Mommie Dearest," is sharply critical of her adopted mother, Joan Crawford.

"There is no proof from anyone else that Joan Crawford was deliberately mean," she said. "She had her problems. She expected perfection from her kids because she never had it when she was a child, and she was a stern taskmaster. But no one corraborates Christina's story."

She said she admired Joan Crawford because she was "on all the time" and "a star in every sense of the word." Then she added her opinion that the current crop of stars lack the sense of drama possessed by the luminaries of the past.

Rotary seeks families for exchange student

Bill Tesen, internal youth chairman of the Canton Rotary Club, is looking for host families for the club's 1982 exchange student, Stephanie Young, 17, of Opotiki, New Zealand.

Stephanie, who will spend one year in the Plymouth-Canton community, will attend high school and live with each host family for three months. Tesen says dividing the exchange student's year among several families broadens their American experience.

Tesen said he has sent a packet of pamphlets about Canton and Michigan to Stephanie.

She wrote, "I am getting really excited about coming over to stay. Michigan looks like a beautiful state.

"My home town of Opotiki has a population of only 6,500 people, which seems a drop in the ocean compared to Canton's population."

Just a shade under 6 feet in height, the green-eyed blond wrote that her favorite hobbies are horseback riding and hunting during the winter season. "We hunt hares which are a cousin to the rabbit. Also, I enjoy water and snow skiing which I hope there will be opportunities to participate in while I am with you."

SHE DESCRIBED OPOTIKI as mainly dairy farming and orchards.

"It is bounded by two rivers on three sides with a beautiful coastal front. The township is 772 acres and the county extends from Kutarere to Cape Runaway.

"The climate is equal, or we think the best in New Zealand and we are part of the 'Sunshine Triangle.' It is a sportsman's paradise with deepsea fishing, boating, surf casting, surfing, swimming, hunting for deer, wild pigs, goats and opossums."

Stephanie has two older sisters and a younger brother. Her father is farmer. "We run about 1,000 sheep and 90 breeding cows as well as 150 yearling and 20 pigs and 4 horses."

Her mother is a supervisor at the local clothing factory which is the second largest employer in Opotiki. "They manufacture Tracker Sportswear consisting of bikinis, shorts, sweatshirts, jackets, track suits, etc."

PERSONS INTERESTED in hosting the New Zealand exchange student for a three-month period may call Tessen at 981-5900. He will answer all questions about expenses, required room arrangements and responsibilities of the host families.

The Rotary Youth Exchange Program has prepared an outline of points to be considered by host families.

The need for warmth, breadth of interest, flexibility and humor in the host family is stressed. The family must be secure and confident enough to adapt rules to make room for individuals. Also recommended are a curiosity about things outside the home, an easy affection within the family as well as a respect for all members by all members.

DAR sets deadline for essay contest

Young writers have until Jan. 1 to submit their entries in the annual American history essay contest sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The subject for this year's contest is "A Famous American Born in February." Although 1982 will mark the 250th anniversary of George Washington's birth, many other famous Americans share February as the month of their birth. Abraham Lincoln, William Henry Harrison, Thomas Edison, Susan B. Anthony, Horace Greeley, Aaron Burr, Winslow Homer, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow are but a few. Essayists may choose any one famous American born before 1900 in the month of February.

It is suggested that the writer explain how this person influenced American history and why they chose this particular individual.

THE LENGTH OF the essay has been limited to 300 to 600 words for fifth- and sixth-graders; 600 to 1,000 words for seventh- and eighth-graders.

Writers are cautioned to count and note the total number of words in their essays. Each word will be counted, except dates (such as Feb. 1, 1981), which will be counted as one word only. The word limit is is strictly observed by the judges.

A bibliography of books, pamphlets, letters or other research material used in writing the essay must be included. If personal family items are used, the name of the owner must be given.

The title of the essay, contestant's name and full home address with zip code, name of school, grade and name of sponsoring DAR chapter, must be plainly written on the essays. Lack of these items of information will be cause for disqualification.

The locally sponsoring chapter is Sarah Ann Cochrane. Essays should be mailed to: Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Mrs. H. Scott, 43785 Darisa Court, Northville Mich. 48167.

The 1981 edition of the All-Observer cross country team is a mixture of old and new, blending performers from seven different schools.

But the common ingredient in this recipe is talent, a component shared by all 11 of those chosen to this year's team by a vote of local coaches.

The old are those who have competed in their final prep cross country race — Mike White and Chris Zimmer of Livonia Franklin, Pete Stephens and Randy Frank of Westland John Glenn and John Thrash of Redford Union.

The young include four juniors on the team: Tom Gibson of Glenn, Paul Buchanan of Detroit Catholic Central, Ken Showich of Redford Thurston and Craig Sickmiller of RU.

Then there are the very young — a pair of sophomores, Ken Dubois of Livonia Stevenson and Don Miller of Livonia Churchill.

Who's the best of the bunch? Hard to tell, since each had their ups and downs over the course of the season. Injuries hampered several of the runners at the worst possible time — during the state championships.

Here's a look at each athlete and their season.

MIKE WHITE, Franklin — White saved his best performances for last. The senior finished first in the Section II state regional at Cass Benton with a time of 16:39. At the state finals, White completed the course in 16:06, good for ninth overall.

Earlier in the season, the team co-captain finished fourth in both the Schoolcraft and Western Wayne Invitationals, won the Livonia city meet and was second in the Northwest Suburban League (NSL) championships.

According to coach Bob Holmes, the "level he competed at last year was nowhere near this year's. It was a big jump."

KEN DUBOIS, Stevenson — Dubois exploded on the cross country circuit this year, having a season few runners could match — and he's only a sophomore.

His performance compelled Spartan coach Paul Holmberg to say "he should become the best runner Stevenson has ever had."

Dubois was unbeaten in dual meets this season and established a new three-mile school record at Cass Benton with a 15:34 clocking. He finished first in the Inter-Lakes League meet and at the Lakeland Invitational and was second to Northville's Clark Couyoumjian in both the Schoolcraft and Redford Union Invitationals.

His bubble burst at the worst time — just before state meet. An illness hampered him during both, as he finished 14th in the Cass Benton Section II regional and 21st at state.

JOHN THRASH, Redford Union — A team co-captain, Thrash's senior season had few dim spots. He was unbeaten in all dual meets and won the NSL championship meet, ahead of White, Showich, Stephens, Gibson, Frank, Sickmiller and Zimmer — all compatriots on this year's All-Observer team.

His best time was 15:32 for a three-mile race and 16:20 for 5,000 meters. He finished third at the Cass Benton Section II regional.

KEN SHOWICH, Redford Thurston — Showich, a junior, placed in the top three in every dual meet he competed in during the season.

"Kenny always came to run," his coach, Glenn Davis, said, adding that Showich "was very dependable."

Showich also was struck by injury before the regional competition, pulling a groin muscle. He still managed a sixth at the Cass Benton Section II race but the injury kept him from running well at state.

PETE STEPHENS, Westland John Glenn — Stephens, a senior, was in the midst of an impressive season until he, too, was hit by injury. Glenn's captain and Most Valuable Runner won the Early Bird and Alpena Optimist Invitationals, was third in the NSL meet and the Wayne Invitational, fourth at the Redford Union Invite and sixth at Schoolcraft.

But he failed to qualify for the state meet because of an eye injury suffered the night before the regional competition. He had to run with a patch over his right eye, which hurt his performance.

PAUL BUCHANAN, Detroit Catholic Central — Buchanan was yet another runner bothered by injuries during the season. He still managed a fifth in the Catholic League meet, an eighth at the West Bloomfield Invitational and a seventh at the Cass Benton Section II regional.

At the state meet, Buchanan raced to a 54th overall finish.

CHRIS ZIMMER, Livonia Franklin — Zimmer combined with White to give Franklin one of the best one-two punches in the area. A senior co-captain, Zimmer was "a solid performer for three years," according to coach Bob Holmes.

Zimmer finished seventh in the NSL meet and was eighth at both the Schoolcraft Invitational and Cass Benton Section II regional. He raced to a 34th place finish at the state meet.

TOM GIBSON, Westland John Glenn — Franklin may have had a strong one-two punch with Zimmer and White, but Glenn countered with Stephens, Gibson and Randy Frank, all quality runners.

Gibson is the only junior of the trio, but he finished the season the strongest by placing ninth in the Cass Benton Section I regional and 16th at the state meet.

Gibson's other credentials include a fifth at both the NSL meet and Schoolcraft Invite and a sixth at the Wayne Invitational.

DON MILLER, Livonia Churchill — Only a sophomore, Miller had races that made him look like an experienced senior. He improved steadily through the year, finishing 21st at the Schoolcraft and Redford Union Invitationals, third in the Livonia city meet and seventh at the Western Six League finals.

Miller really blossomed at the Cass Benton Section II regional, in which he placed 10th, and at state, where he finished 29th overall.

CRAIG SICKMILLER, Redford Union — Sickmiller's season was somewhat overshadowed by Thrash, but he had a fine year himself. He was the No. 2 man on a team that finished second in the Cass Benton Section II regional to qualify for the state meet.

His best time over a three-mile course was 16:02. He was 16th at the Redford Union Invitational and 20th at Schoolcraft.

Girls get their due, too

It hardly seems fair. Here we have an All-Area Cross Country team for boys honoring those very deserving males.

But what about the girls, who ran and practiced just as hard? Were their performances not noteworthy?

Hardly.

In fact, the female runners fared better than their male counterparts in state competition. Indeed, one girls' team finished third in the state and several girls finished high in state championship meets, including one individual state title.

So, as Redford Union's boys' cross country coach Bob Ouellette so eloquently phrased it at our recent meeting to select the All-Area boys' team:

"How come we don't have a girls' team?"

Good question. But until this year, there was no demand for a girls' team. Several schools in the Observer's coverage area don't have a girls' squad. Westland John Glenn, for example, had a girls' team last year but none this year because of a lack of participants. There has been a state meet for girls for only four years, so the sport is relatively young.

Ouellette's complaint was understandable — his school's girls' team, coached by Jim Gibbons and Tobin Jones, finished third in the state.

BUT WHAT about Jennifer Rioux, the Livonia Ladywood junior who captured the state individual title in Class B?

And Julie Recla from Livonia Churchill, who was picked to the Class A All State squad?

Recognition is certainly due these athletes. They deserve it.

But unfortunately, All-Area teams take planning and time. Otherwise, the stories about them cannot be displayed properly, or they end up running in the paper sometime in the middle of winter, when the cross country season is just a memory and all thoughts are on boys' basketball or wrestling.

Next year there will be an All-Area team for girls' cross country. It is one of many changes being planned since the restructuring of the O&E sports department.

Hopefully this column, in some small way, will serve as recognition for the girls who rightfully deserve it for their accomplishments this past cross country season.

AND WHAT better way to begin an All-Area team than with Redford Union? The Panthers season exemplified the team concept.

The five top RU runners — Angie Mogielski, Cathy Koski, Kami Laird, Nancy Adams and Leanne McCarthy — often ran together and finished together, usually in front. The fivesome easily dominated the Cass Benton Section II regional, taking five of the first six places. Mogielski's 19:58 was best in the regional. She was followed by Koski (20:15), Laird (20:28) and Adams (20:30).

Churchill's Recla prevented a clean sweep by placing fifth (20:41), ahead of RU's McCarthy (20:54).

At state, Mogielski was 14th overall (19:26), Laird 19th (19:45), Koski 26th (20:02), Adams 31st (20:10) and McCarthy 39th (20:17). All five ran personal bests.

The performance prompted RU's Gibbons to remark, "This is the best athletic finish for an RU team since the boys' track team won (the state) in 1969."

THEN THERE was Recla. The sophomore sparkled at state, pushing ahead of her local opponents to claim 11th overall (19:11). Recla also won the Livonia city meet and the Western Six League meet and was sixth at the Schoolcraft Invitational.

There were problems for Rioux before the state meet. She sprained an ankle less than a month before the state finals and wasn't at her best. But she was still the class of the field, winning the individual title with a time of 19:00.

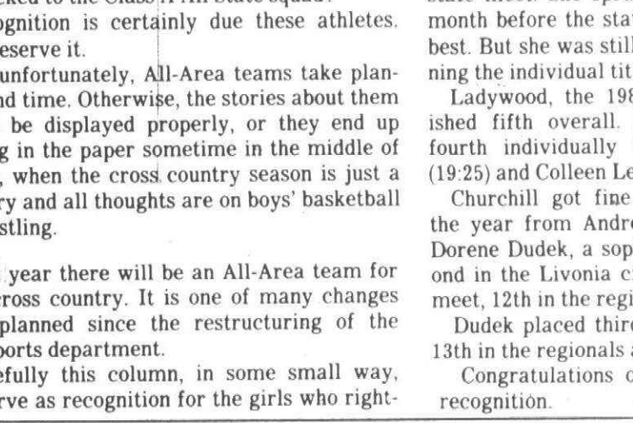

Ladywood, the 1980 Class B champion, finished fifth overall. Kelly Champagne placed fourth individually for the Blazers at state (19:25) and Colleen Lee was 34th (20:41).

Churchill got fine performances throughout the year from Andrea Bowman, a junior, and Dorene Dudek, a sophomore. Bowman was second in the Livonia city meet, ninth in the WSL meet, 12th in the regionals and 42nd at state.

Dudek placed third in the Livonia city meet, 13th in the regionals and 45th at state.

Congratulations on a fine season worthy of recognition.

RU wins district

By Jay Keenan
special writer

When the girls' basketball season boiled down to the state tournament, Redford Union came to life.

Host team RU came from behind in the fourth quarter Wednesday night to whip Garden City East, 39-29 in the Class A district final.

While it hasn't been a banner year for RU, the squad managed to compile three straight wins in postseason play to raise its overall record to 7-15.

East finished with a 12-9 mark.

RU will now move on to the Redford Thurston regional, playing Plymouth Salem (19-3) in the first round at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

"IT FEELS good to win the districts, especially after the record we had during the regular season," said RU coach Terri Ann Anthony. "We're a young and inexperienced team but I think things are starting to jell."

East led 25-21 after three quarters but couldn't hold the advantage for the final eight minutes. RU's Cathi Hengy, playing with a torn leg muscle, hit an off-balance jumper from the top of the key to tie the contest at 25-all with 7:12 to play.

Brenda Peer, a sophomore brought up to the varsity just prior to the start of the state tournament, put RU ahead 27-25 with a baseline jumper at the 6:12 mark.

East tied it 40 seconds later on a basket by Linda Webb. But Kathy Storvis drilled in a jumper to put RU ahead to stay with 4:40 remaining.

ANTHONY THOUGHT the turning point in the game came when her team switched from a zone to a person-to-person defense late in the third quarter.

"I think it caught them off guard," the RU coach said. "I don't think they expected that."

East coach Jan Moore, however, had a different assessment.

"I think we just lost our composure," Moore said. "And our shooting and rebounding were not up to par."

East was hurt by the loss of forward Tammy Narramore, one of the team's top scorers and rebounders, to fouls midway through the final quarter.

But RU had to overcome problems of their own. Besides Hengy's leg injury, Storvis was battling an illness. Hengy was also still recovering from a bout with the flu. She played Friday's district opener against Detroit Redford with a 102 degree temperature and scored 29 points.

"I THINK Cathi's leg was hurting her quite a bit at the start of the game and her jump shot seemed to be off," Anthony said.

Whew! 700s galore at Wonderland

The annual battle for turkeys during the Thanksgiving holiday brought about some of the best scoring of the year, and as usual, the Wonderland Classic showed the way.

When the last pin fell last Tuesday night, there were six scores that broke the 700 barrier and lofted Wonderland into the role of the highest scoring house in the western suburbs.

Fred Ringrose paced the sharpshooters with an opening 278 in 735. Behind him came Bob Wilcox with 728, Mark Hammond with 716, Hugh O'Neil with 710, John Wodarski with 707 and Jeff Anderson with 702.

The heavy firing was not a record for the house, however. Several weeks ago the classic produced eight series above 700.

In the ladies' classic, Marion Saunders had a 243 in 678.

KEN KOSSICKY of Livonia had a profitable holiday season as he won the championship of the Bonanza Michigan Majors Association at Roseville and pocketed the $2,000 first prize, along with an extra $100 for pacing the qualifiers.

BOB SHONCEK was the lone bowler to earn a membership in the 700 club at Westland Bowl during the week with a 701 series.

There was a close race in the Tri-City's men's league when Ron Bogdone rolled a 658 series to gain a four-point edge over Don Cockerell and gain the pace-making role. To make it all the more interesting, Joe Gomez was third with 653.

In the ladies' classic, Bertie Clinansmith had a consistent series of 202, 206 and 197 for 605.

TIM HENRY won a place on the honor roll at Woodland Lanes when he converted the 7-10 split in the Catholic Central League. Meanwhile, Dave Gibson, bowling as a partner with his father, put together games of 232, 212 and 195 for 634.

Meanwhile, Henry Settles took some of the spotlight with a 153 triplicate in the senior citizens loop.

JIM GENDJARK, a 16 year old bowling with his father in the father-and-son league at Merri-Bowl, set the pace with a 684 made possible with a 288 opening game. In the mens junior house league, Kevin Barksdale was high with 686 on games of 210, 218 and 246.

IN OTHER GOOD PERFORMANCES, Jan Wright paced the doubles at Merri-Bowl with 620, Jerry Donaldson edged out Don McHugh for top place in the Moose loop with 649, Garden Lanes' Marion Saunders showed the way in the ladies classic with a 252 in 630, and Ken Bennett pace the Plymouth Elks at Super Bowl with a 684 that was the result of a 288 opening game. The other highlight was a 632 posted by Cricket Bishop to lead the parade in the Super Stars at Super Bowl.

7-0 Sparks zap Pitt

The Westland Sparks wheelchair basketball team raised its record to 7-0 with a sweep of the Pittsburgh Steelwheelers last weekend.

In the first game Saturday night, the Sparks rode the Steelwheelers out of the gym in an 80-32 victory. The Sparks, formerly known as the Detroit Sparks, were led by Darryl (Tree) Wallers, who pumped in 18 points, and Mo (Shake and Bake) Phillips, who dished out 13 assists.

It was more of the same Sunday afternoon, with Waller and Denver Brarnum combining for 35 points and Phillips passing off for 12 assists. Phillips was voted player of the week.

The Sparks' next home games will be December 12 and 13 against their archrivals, the Toledo Silverstreaks, who last year handed the Sparks their only conference loss.

Saturday's game gets underway at 8 p.m., while Sunday's is at 1 p.m. All games are played at the Melvin G. Bailey Recreation Center, 36651 Ford Road in Westland.

RANDY FRANK, Westland John Glenn — Frank's season was also marred by injury, which kept him from turning in any good performances in the early going.

However, the senior showed his true ability by taking a ninth in the NSL meet, 17th at the Cass Benton Section I regional and 25th at state meet.

McCatty makes his pitch: I wuz robbed

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

Things will be a little different around the McCatty household this winter. And it's a change Oakland A's pitcher Steve McCatty has been looking forward to for some time.

McCatty, a former Troy High School baseball player, has just completed his best season, albeit the shortest, in the major league. Although the major league baseball player's strike left the statistics for the 1981 season marked with asterisks, McCatty's stats attest to his ability as a top pitcher in the American League. He finished second to Milwaukee Brewers' pitcher Rollie Fingers in the American League Cy Young voting, which indicates he's still a year away from making underwear commercials.

He and his wife Audrey are settled in their cozy Rochester condominium. So settled, he now can enjoy the finer things in life this winter — like playing floor hockey in his basement.

HIS BASEMENT resembles a sporting goods showroom. A punching bag hangs in one corner, where he displays his unpolished pugilistic ability. Two boxes crammed with a variety of sporting goods rests on the floor. On either end of the basement are hand-made hockey nets.

McCatty easily demonstrates his love of sports, whistling plastic pucks into an open net, and afterwards giggles like a devious school boy pulling on a girl's pony tail. That's Steve McCatty, a kid at heart, who plays games for recreation, and plays the game for an occupation.

However, there's no fooling around when he takes the mound for Billy Martin's West Division champion Athletics.

And there's no fooling around when he converses about baseball. He talks like he pitches. Straight, hard, fast. No junk.

He comes right at you.

He is extremely candid when he talks. His frankness is obvious when he speaks about the 1981 Cy Young Award, and how the abbreviated season hindered his chances at winning the prestigious accolade.

It's been said about perennial Cy Young Award winner Jim Palmer, it's either Cy or cry. With McCatty, it's Cy or why?

"I REALLY think if we'd have played the full season, I'd have won 20 games. I had a real good shot at it," he said. "A lot of people talk about the Cy Young and they say, 'OK, McCatty won the ERA (earned run average title),' but they don't think I tied for the league lead in wins, they didn't think that I was tied for the lead in shutouts. I was fourth in innings (pitched), seventh in strikeouts.

"But they didn't think about that. It was like, 'We're not going think about any awards for any players. We're not going to go into that much.' Rollie Fingers was, he did real well, but I think it was more or less a sympathy vote for what he did in the past, although he did have a great year.

"But, if we'd have played the the whole year, sure, he (Fingers) may have got 10 more saves and broke the record, but, when you have a guy with 38 saves and you still have a 20-game winner, you always look at the 20-game winner. My statistics were there," he continued, "it's just that the numbers for the wins weren't. And I think if we'd have played the whole season, I'd have had the numbers for the wins.

"I just think they didn't want to accept, for one thing, that I was leading the league in that thing, anyways. It's a strange thing with the Cy Young. It really upset me that I didn't win it, because, I think it's a starter's award. But, what are you going to do?

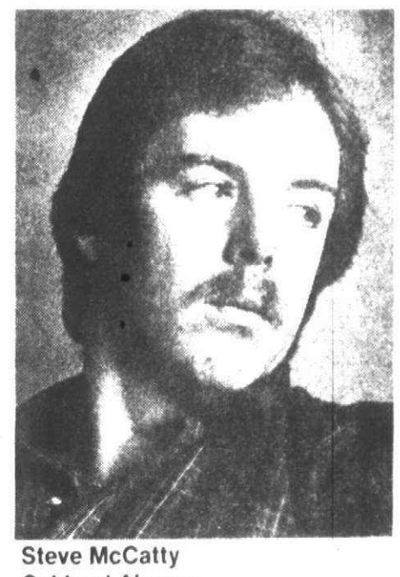

"It's a popularity contest with all the writer's back east. It's hard to win it, and it's doubly hard to win it when you're on the west coast."

McCatty's stats include 14 wins (tied for tops in league), four shutouts (tied for first), 16 complete games (second), 186 innings pitched (fourth) and he led the league for starters with his 2.32 earned run average. Fingers, meanwhile, had 28 saves with a 6-3 record an a 1.04 ERA.

ALTHOUGH HE thought he deserved the award, McCatty said he wasn't surprised when he finished second. Rather, he was expecting the outcome.

"No, I wasn't shocked, I was expecting it. It was almost like they went out of their way to give it to the people that didn't deserve it," McCatty said. "I had a feeling they were going to do that. Not to say he (Fingers) didn't deserve it, but I just think they went into it half-heartedly."

Since the season was one marked with asterisks — the players' strike, Bowie Kuhn's split season, and intra-division playoffs — there was an unwritten rule whereby players were to give back any awards they received. McCatty scoffs at such a notion.

Another dull film offered to audience by Disney Studios

I don't know what the watcher in the woods is thinking, but the watcher in the theater audience is thinking, "How sad." How sad that Disney Studios hasn't produced a noteworthy, non-animated, feature film since "Freaky Friday" five years ago. (I exclude "Dragonslayer" which was done in association with another studio.)

"Watcher in the Woods" (PG), Disney's latest effort, is beset with handicaps. Not the least of these is the script — dull, trite and fuzzy.

Dull and trite because it relies on a sorry collection of stock situations. These include sudden gusts of wind, breaking glass, strange flashes of light, and ghostly images and voices.

It's fuzzy (the story, not the focus) because of choppy editing, with odd lapses of time and an incoherent theme. To make matters worse, John Hough's directing shows no flair or punch.

ADAPTED FROM a novel, "Watcher in the Woods" tells of the bizarre experiences of an American family in England. They have rented an isolated mansion surrounded by dark woods. Their new home becomes the setting for their involvement in a strange series of experiences.

The owner of the mansion is an eccentric recluse whose daughter, Karen, disappeared under peculiar curcumstances 30 years ago.

When the Americans move into the house, their older daughter, who bears a resemblance to the missing girl, immediately becomes aware of strange phenomena. She sees visions of a blindfolded girl calling out to her for help.

She sets out to solve the mystery of Karen's disappearance. She hopes, thereby, to put an end to the supernatural sounds and sights that are haunting her.

As the story progresses, it simply gets more muddled. Emphasis shifts from one character to another. After establishing the older sister as specially "sensitive" and receptive to communicating with spirits and such, it then switches to the younger sister as the one tuned in to the psychic wavelengths.

USUALLY, AS a mystery develops, the plot thickens. In this movie, it thins. It leads to an incredible ending that asks too much of any audience — not just suspension of disbelief, but of all sense.

It is asking too much of any cast to overcome or compensate for such deficiencies. Nevertheless, everyone gives it a try.

Lynn-Holly Johnson is winsome as the concerned older sister. Kyle Richards brings a lot of robust vitality to her role as the younger sister. David McCallum and Carroll Baker are adequate as the parents, and Betty Davis gives her usual workmanlike performance as the lonely eccentric who rents them the mansion.

Newspaper story

Sally Field plays a zealous newspaper reporter determined to get her story in "Absence of Malice," with screenplay by Kurt Luedtke of Birmingham and former editor of the Detroit Free Press. Co-starring in the film is Paul Newman as a man who finds he is the subject of page one headlines in the Miami Standard. "Absence of Malice" opens Dec. 18 at metropolitan Detroit theaters.

● WHEN NOT TO LEAVE A SHOT

Carol B. of Southfield writes:

In a recent game, I was white in this position with a 5-4 roll to play. I decided to leave black's 7 point with both checkers by moving to the black 11 and 12 point, leaving black a 2 or 1 direct shot (20 out of 36 chances to hit).

My opponent hit me with a 2-3 roll and proceeded to win the game by picking up the second checker after I failed to re-enter. This cost me a gammon.

Black argues that I should have run to safety with one checker from the 7 point, thus leaving a 6-1 direct shot for a 24 out of 36 chance to be hit, with the theory that if I'm going to be hit I would do best to leave one checker open.

I insist that my play was technically correct since I was leaving the least odds to be hit. What is your opinion?

I agree with you. If you are going to leave a shot, you should at least minimize your opponent's chances by leaving the shot with the lowest odds. Ninety-nine percent of the time, this is technically correct.

However, in this position, why leave a shot at all? White is in absolutely no danger of losing this game — yet. In fact, if you were to count "pips" (the number of spaces one color is ahead of the other), you would find that white is ahead three pips without the 5-4 roll, which makes him the leader (although not by much) in this game.

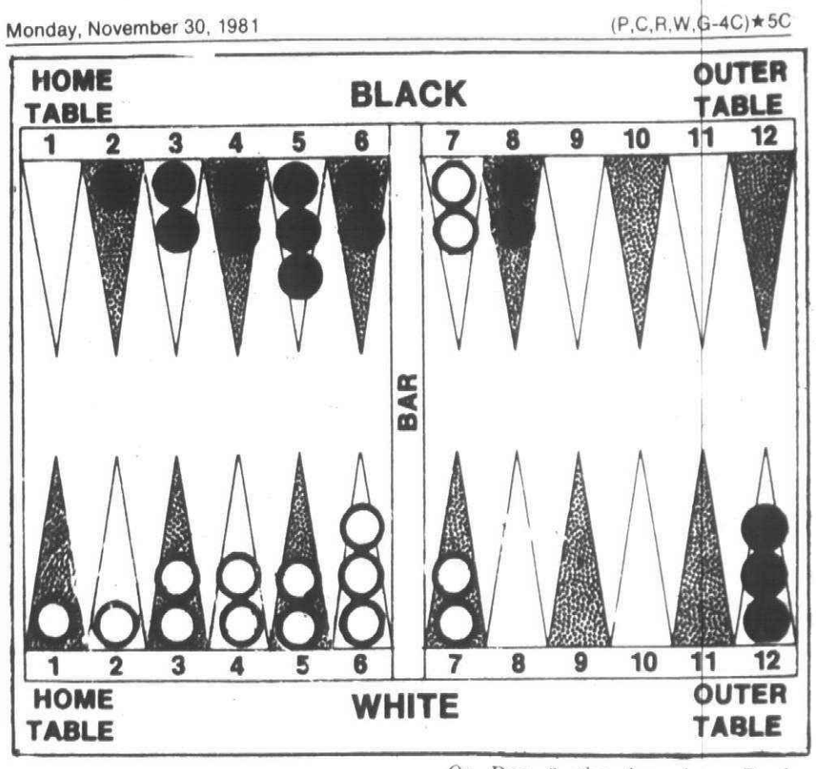

If I may assume, white probably wasn't concerned about being hit since black has a 2 point checker open, thinking white may hit back. This, however, is a mirage. Why would white want to hit black on the 2 point while white has two checkers exposed in his home board?

Selecting the proper move in each situation during a game is not that easy. By thinking through the problem and by way of process of elimination, one can readily select the correct move best suited to that given situation.

For example, in this position, since it is a close game, white would do best to preserve his holding position for now by moving two checkers from the 6 point to the 1 and 2 points. This move allows white to play at least two sixes or several fives before finally being forced to split from the black 7 point. Now, in the next two or three rolls, white may roll doubles for a safe escape.

Even more important is the "timing" element. Within two or three rolls, black may be forced to leave white a direct shot which white then may hit.

Another consideration is that depending on who leaves a shot first and whether that player's home board has some strength, the opposing player may elect to offer the doubling cube and end the game.

On Dec. 2, the American Backgammon Club will host a tournament at the Box Bar in Plymouth. For more information, call the club at 455-7798.

Subcompacts buck trend to higher operating costs

Average costs for individual motorists to own and run typical new compact-sized U.S. cars rose a record 6.8 cents a mile to 44.6 cents in 1981, 18.1 percent above last year, according to the Hertz Corp.'s latest annual auto expense estimate.

Bigger models showed slightly smaller percentage rises and stripped-down new mini-sized subcompacts actually dropped, but outlays for full-sized makes topped 51 cents a mile, the yearly survey shows.

Zooming interest rates coupled with purchase prices led the record 1980-81 advance, but expenses also rose in all other car cost categories.

FOLLOWING ARE cost estimates for 1981 autos bought new and driven 10,000 miles a year four years, now near-typical mileage and use periods:

Full-size cars, 51.1 cents a mile, up 11.8 percent or 5.4 cents from 1980;

Intermediate-size cars, 49 cents a mile, 17.4 percent or 7.3 cents higher;

Mid-range models, 47.1 cents, ahead 17.7 percent or 7.1 cents a mile;

Compacts, the most typical models, 44.6 cents, an 18.1-percent or 6.8-cent rise;

Subcompacts, 34.3 cents, down 5.3 percent, or 1.9 cents below 1980 costs.

"The statistics show motorists are buying smaller cars with fewer options, keeping them longer and driving them less in an effort to offset these continuing increases in automotive ownership and operating expenses," the company said.

This third successive year of double-digit auto expense increases puts per-mile driving outlays 158 percent above 1972, the last full year before the initial oil embargo. By contrast, the nation's overall inflation rate was 133 percent for this same nine-year span, the study notes.

THE EXPENSE estimates include gasoline, oil and other service station charges; parts, maintenance and repairs; licenses, fees, insurance and taxes; car-loan interest; and depreciation, the difference between a car's purchase price and its anticipated resale value.

Excluded are garage costs and tolls, which can vary widely from place to place and driver to driver; but such charges could add 5 cents to 25 cents a mile for some motorists in larger cities.

Car purchase price is the key element in overall ownership and operating expenses, influencing depreciation, taxes, insurance, interest and in some places licensing and fees. Fuel efficiency is a relatively minor factor, the figures in the Hertz study indicate.

The report shows the following costs by category for a typical 1981 U.S. compact bought new and driven 10,000 miles-per-year for the normal four-year use period: purchase price $7,621, up $1,167 or 18.1 percent from 1980; depreciation, 15.2 cents per mile, up 15.2 percent; interest, 8.8 cents, up 49 percent; insurance, licenses and fees, 9.1 percent, up 11.6 percent; gasoline and other service station charges 8.8 cents, up 9.1 percent; maintenance and repairs, 2.7 cents, up 10 percent.
