The Canton Connection

HOLIDAY HOURS at the Canton Library are as follows: the library will be closed Dec. 24-27; it will be open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Dec. 28-30; it will be closed Dec. 31 and Jan. 1; it will be open Saturday, Jan. 2, and closed, again, Sunday, Jan. 3 before resuming regular hours. The Canton Library is on the third floor of Township Hall, or Canton Center Road, south of Cherry Hill.

IT WAS "catch-up week" for the Canton police department, according to Lt. Larry Stewart. Stewart was pleased to report there were no "violent crimes" in the township last week. He added this was "strange" because normally police see increased violence during the holiday season — especially in these hard times.

ASIDE FROM the usual bumps and bruises, things ran smoothly at Skatin' Station's Grand Opening Party last week. The ticket sales, however, were not as successful. Mike Gouin reported only 25 tickets sold for the party to celebrate the opening of the new roller rink, on Joy between Lilley and Haggerty.

A STOVE fire damaged a house on the corner of Candlewood and Morton Taylor, south of Joy, according to Fire Marshal Art Winkel.

No one was injured, but the kitchen and the living room of the quad-level home were badly charred.

DO CANTON OBSERVER Classifieds work? You bet they do. Take this example: You've heard of a partridge in a pear tree, right? Well, how about this — a partridge in a Canton Township garage?

That's what the Sankey family of Woodmont found in its garage last week.

He (the partridge) ran into the garage (from a field) like he was a little dog," said Wonda Sankey. "It was so cute."

Mrs. Sankey then called the Observer classified lost-and-found section and the owner of the lost partridge responded. In fact, he had lost five partridges, but the Sankeys had but one.

CANTON'S REGULAR Township Board meeting tomorrow night has been cancelled because of the holiday season. The township board will meet at its next regular meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 5.

DON'T FORGET the annual Centennial Education Park holiday boys' basketball tournament. This year's event takes place at the Plymouth Salem High School, at the corner of Joy and Canton Center. The four-team tourney begins at 7 p.m. tonight when Livonia Stevenson battles Livonia Churchill in the first game. The nightcap pits both local teams — Plymouth Canton against Plymouth Salem — beginning at 8:45 p.m.

The losers of the first-round games meet in the consolation game at 7 p.m. tomorrow, while the two winners face each other for the tourney championship at 8:45 p.m.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS from all of us at the Canton Observer — Arlene Funke, news reporter; Gary Caskey, photographer; Bridget Lucas, receptionist; Ellie Graham, Suburban Life Editor; Brad Emons and C.J. Risak, sports editors; and Dennis "Doc" O'Connor, editor.

Canton offered Ypsi sewer . . .

By Marie Chestney
staff writer

Population losses and excess sewage capacity have prompted Ypsilanti Township to ask Canton Township to tie into its new $70 million sewage treatment plant.

According to Ypsilanti Township supervisor Ron Allen, Canton Township officials have in their hands right now "one hell of an alternative" to the decade-old super sewer plan which would cut through much of western Wayne County. That plan's current estimated cost is $212 million.

"This is an alternative that can't be beat," Allen said. "Service could be extended from our new plant into Canton Township for a minute decimal fraction of the total cost of super sewer and less than the estimated $16 million local share (of the super sewer costs)."

DAVID NICHOLSON, Canton Township assistant planner, said the offer to tie into the Ypsilanti Community Utility Authority (YCUA) system will be compared to the super sewer plan "to see which one ends up being a good deal."

"There are a lot of questions that have to be dealt with before we do anything," Nicholson said. "It's too early to say anything. We have to ask: 'How much available capacity will there really be if other communities tie into it, also.'"

This latest alternative to the project, which has been highly controversial since its inception, comes about largely due to declining Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) population projections for Ypsilanti Township, Allen said.

YCUA's new plant, with a capacity of 30 million gallons per day, was built to service 72,700 residents, Allen said. But when it opens "any day now," it will be running at half its capacity due to a population projection of 54,110.

This "excess capacity," Nicholson said, is forcing YCUA to ask other nearby communities to help share the operating costs.

ALLEN ESTIMATED Canton Township's share of a YCUA tie-in would be approximately $2.4 million. He based that figure on a total cost of $12 million for 12 miles of YCUA sewer through Canton Township, with the community picking up 20 percent of the tab. The federal government, he said, would kick in 75 percent and the state 5 percent of the $12-million cost.

Allen said the estimated $2.4 million cost was a long way from the township's estimated $11 to $16 million bill under the super sewer.

Westland has been asked to allow construction of a major sewer line along its western boundary and into part of Canton.

Robert Matzo, Westland's director of public works, said construction of the sewer — to serve more than 15 communities west and south of Westland but not Westland — could cut into the city's tax base.

Engineers from the engineering consulting firms of Wade Trim and Associates and Hubble, Roth and Clark and an engineer from the Wayne County department of public works asked for the council authorization at a recent study meeting held by Westland's City Council.

JAMES HAMILTON, engineer for the county department of public works, said after the meeting that he anticipated the council will approve the plan. The line through Westland would be known as the Hannan Road interceptor.

It would carry sanitary sewage from several Oakland county communities and several communities west of Westland south past Westland and Canton, past Romulus and Van Buren townships and join the Huron River interceptor which carries sewage from throughout Wayne County to a wastewater treatment plant on Lake Erie.

Hamilton said sewage could be pumped from the Rouge Valley interceptor to the Hannan Road interceptor — which would be nearby.

Matzo said the sewer line, which at one time was called the "super sewer," could mean that less space would be available for construction of industrial

Township plans to appeal landfill decision

By Dennis O'Connor
editor

The landfill battles go on — to no one's surprise.

Less than one week after Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Charles Farmer ruled Michigan Waste Systems could begin construction of a solid-waste landfill expansion in southeast Canton, township officials say they will appeal the decision.

Township Planner James Kosteva said Farmer "copped out as I would perceive it" when he granted an injunction against the township interfering with the expansion of Woodland Meadows South landfill.

In effect, Kosteva said, the judge decided that local landfill ordinances meant nothing in relation to county or state law.

Last month, the township board unanimously denied Michigan Waste Systems' request to expand on its existing site, Woodland Meadows North, because of many violations to the local ordinance dealing with height and setbacks of the landfill.

The state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) earlier had accepted Michigan Waste Systems' solid-waste management application, prompting the Woodland Meadows operator to file suit against the township.

MEANWHILE, Kosteva also said Canton Township issued a "stop work" order to Michigan Waste Systems Thursday morning when Canton officials spotted one earth mover (bulldozer) breaking ground on the expanded site.

Kosteva said the order was issued because Michigan Waste Systems had not been issued soil erosion or drainage permits — two more elements required for construction.

Bob Ratz, Public Health Engineer for the Wayne County Health Department, told the Observer Michigan Waste Systems must have these permits before beginning construction, although they are easy permits to acquire.

James Kosteva
township planner

The soil erosion permit comes from Canton, while the drainage permit comes from Wayne County Drainage Commissioners, Ratz explained.

KOSTEVA speculated that Michigan Waste Systems was "testing the water" with the earth mover to see what reaction it would get from the township.

Kosteva maintained, however, that a good working relationship still exists with Michigan Waste Systems, despite the court battles.

"I still think there is a sincere working relationship," Kosteva said. "I don't think the landfill operators have been dishonest or underhanded with their intentions or dealings with the township."

Ray Kellas, district manager for Michigan Waste Systems and general manager of the Woodland Meadows site, was unavailable for comment. He will not be in his office until Dec. 30, according to a Michigan Waste Systems' spokesperson.

The landfill operator's attorneys have advised Michigan Waste Systems that they can begin construction under the injunction, despite the winter conditions that often hinder construction work.

CURRENTLY, Michigan Waste Systems operates the existing 97-acre landfill, which contains 5 percent hazardous material.

The expanded site covers 105 acres, bounded by Hannan, Lotz, and Van Buren roads and the Conrail right-of-way — adjacent to the existing site — in the far southeast corner of the township.

The proposed expansion has brought protests from residents and officials in Canton, Wayne, Romulus and Van Buren Township, whose boundaries all lie close to the landfill site.

Residents have complained about noise, dust, debris and smell from the existing site.

Some Canton officials are concerned because they feel this land is valuable industrial area near the railroad — and that it, therefore, should not be used for a landfill area.

Check your furnace

Fumes nearly kill residents

The near death of three Canton residents because of a faulty type of furnace has prompted Canton firefighters to warn Canton residents of the defect.

The three, who live in the College Park trailer park in southwest Canton, were treated and released after suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning last week.

According to Canton Fire Marshal Art Winkel, the carbon monoxide fumes seeped through a faulty flue pipe extension and vent system of a furnace manufactured by Lear Siegler — a common furnace in mobile homes in all six trailer park sites in the township.

WINKEL SAID this wasn't the first time these furnaces have caused problems.

"There have been 19 deaths around the country since 1969 because of these furnaces," Winkel said. "The furnaces have been recalled and they (the manufacturer) try to repair them at no cost to the resident."

Canton firefighters were passing out literature last week to trailer home residents urging them to check their furnaces.

A similar effort was made by the firefighters last May, according to Winkel.

THE FURNACES IN question carry a "Miller Brand" label, and have model number MMG, according to Winkel.

Anyone with this furnace should call 1-616-394-4326 to inquire about possible replacement or repair.

Area slips as top producer of sweet corn

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

Once recognized as one of the best sweet corn areas in the country, Plymouth-Canton and environs is fast losing its place in the agricultural world.

"With the way things are going," remarked Wilford Bunyea, one of the leaders of the farmers' group, "we farmers can't afford to raise corn any more."

It sounded like a bold statement until he explained that the cost of seed, fertilizer, and keeping the farm equipment in repair just didn't make it worthwhile any more.

He bowed his head and said, "It is a sad state of affairs because this once was one of the great sweet corn areas."

SEVERAL YEARS AGO, when the sweet corn started moving off the scene, one by one, the corn growers just west of the city of Plymouth spent less and less time with the yellow-kerneled cobs.

One of the first signs that sweet corn was losing its hold in the area came when the growers no longer bid for the corn which is featured at the annual Plymouth Rotary chicken barbecue. It might be surprising to know that this year's Rotary crop was grown near Im-lay City.

With the passage of the huge sweet corn fields, except for those at the Hauk farm on Cherry Hill in Canton and the Glen Rowe farm south of Belleville, most of the growers now are raising field corn.

This is the type of corn used as feed for farm animals and for most of the cereals on the market today.

Among those, aside from Bunyea, are Milan and George Wilkin in Salem, the Schultz farm on Lilley Road, and the Gill brothers on Ridge in Canton.

RAISING CORN became a problem

some years ago when the cost of help increased dramatically. This was relieved a bit with the coming of the automatic corn picker. With the machine picking the corn, raisers still could show a profit.

Now things have changed. With the cost of help, the need to keep the machinery in working order, and the escalating price of fertilizer, farmers in the surrounding area are fearful that the once-proud claim of being the "sweet corn capital" could be just a memory.

Speaking for himself, Bunyea said his crop of field corn is in the silo and he's waiting to see what happens after the first of the year. "And if things don't get any better, we corn growers won't know what to do."

Emperor Jones will be aired

The Eugene O'Neill play, "The Emperor Jones," starring James Earl Jones, will be broadcast tonight by WSDP (88.1 FM), the student-operated radio station at Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

The broadcast will begin at 6 p.m.

The drama is part of a 52-week series of radio dramatizations funded for distribution by TRW Inc., a Cleveland-based, high-technology company and with funds provided by the Mobil Foundation and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Jones stars as Brutus Jones, a swash-buckling Pullman porter and fugitive who establishes himself as emperor of a small island in the West Indies.

Jones rules the island with an iron hand until the natives prepare to revolt. He flees into the jungle, loses his way, and suffers delusions which mark his descent into an abyss of fear — nameless creatures, a vision of a man he killed, a slave ship, and finally a primal rite in which he is the sacrifice.

Holidays glisten with tree traditions

Gloria Stramy of International Avenue of Interiors gets snow in the face while brushing off the white stuff from a Christmas tree at Heide's Square West in Plymouth's Old Village.

Marcia Barker and son Chip, 7, of Canton load a Douglas fir into a truck for the ride home.

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Who decorated the first Christmas tree? There is no existing account of the first yule tree in history, although the custom supposedly started in Germany in the 16th century. The Germans dressed those first trees in 1516 with roses, and each tree was limited in size not to exceed eight "shoe lengths." Nowadays, of course, there is almost no limit to the types of decorations used on Christmas trees, and trees come in all sizes and shapes.

This year the trees now on sale in the usual locations will be larger than in previous years. They will be as high as 10 feet, and in some cases will be six and eight feet in diameter.

MOST OF THE trees have been imported from points near Cadillac and from the northwestern part of the state.

Along with them there will be manmade indoor trees as tall as a person wants, and they can be acquired at places like the Cornwell House of Christmas on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth.

"This is only our second year at this location," said Karen Visel, wife of the owner, "but already we see that the artificial tree is becoming more popular."

Most of the artificial trees are imported from such places as Germany, Taiwan and the Philippines but the best of the manmade variety — the Mountain King — is made in America. According to Mrs. Visel, the artificial tree's increase in popularity has taken place despite prices which run as high as $330 for a 10-foot tree.

Richard Smith, the veteran among the real Christmas tree dealers in Canton, who runs the Roadside on Joy east of Main, is looking forward to a good year despite the raise in prices from $2 to $4.

"I had 2,000 trees last year and was sold out by the week before Christmas," he said. "In spite of the economic condition, I hope to do the same this year."

One of the reasons for his optimism is that he has been developing a clientele for the Douglas Fir and has a large number available this year.

AT THE OTHER stations — Sparrs at Lilley and Joy, Dale Long at Haggerty and Ann Arbor Road, and at Heide's in Old Village, the optimism is running high.

Although this is only his second year selling Christmas trees, Dennis Sparr is enthusiastic.

"I went up north, close to the Mackinac Bridge on the western side of the state, and made my own selection," he said. "I chose that section because the trees get more moisture and should be a better tree. I selected 1,000, the same number I had last year when I sold out early. I expect to repeat."

Most dealers are displaying five varieties of trees — Scotch pine, white and blue spruce, balsam and Douglas fir — but Long, who is making the trip from Traverse City for the fourth time, is selling only Douglas fir, white spruce and Scotch pine. They range in size up to nine feet.

At the rate of $3 a foot his trees range in price from $15 to $27.

"I started with 800 trees last year and sold out real early," he said. "I did the same thing this year and hope to beat my time. We may be in a sort of depression, but when it comes to Christmas people get into the spirit of the time, and it is more than likely history will repeat, and I'll sell out early."

So while history doesn't reveal the place and time of the first trimmed Christmas tree, there will be plenty this year in Plymouth-Canton.

Christmas trees can cause fires

Unless treated with fire-retardant material, fresh-cut Christmas trees can dry out rapidly and pose a serious fire hazard.

The Michigan Association of Insurance Companies (MAIC) is urging special safety precautions for the coming holiday season.

MAIC president Terry Buckles urges homeowners to keep all decorations well away from fireplaces, wood stoves and heat registers. He also suggests sawing at least one inch off the trunk bottom to speed water absorption before setting up the tree.

In the 1979 holiday season, state police fire marshals officers reported 18 Christmas tree fires and 21 related incidents with a total property loss of nearly $315,000, Buckles said.

Last year, he said those figures dropped to 14 such incidents and property losses of less than $50,000. Buckles also suggested the following fire-preventative measures:

- Use only appropriately marked indoor and outdoor light sets bearing an approval label of a reliable testing laboratory. Inspect the lights prior to installation and replace any that are damaged.

- Use only flame-retardant or non-combustible decorations. Untreated cotton batting, tissue paper and some foamed plastics can invite fires.

- Put gift wrappings in a closed container as the gifts are opened instead of in fireplaces. A fireplace "bonfire" can cause a dangerous burst of flame and heat.

- Use extreme care in decorating with live candles. They can start a fire in seconds.

- For holiday gifts, Buckles suggested fire alarms and extinguishers.

MAIC is a non-profit public affairs organization representing 46 property-casualty insurers.

Canton asked to join in Ypsi sewage plan

"This is definitely the cheapest way," Allen said. "And with all the delays, construction costs and the inflation rate are always going up." Super sewer is the nickname given the Wayne County plan for a single sewage treatment plant at the mouth of the Huron River on Lake Erie. It would be served by a large sewer inceptor in roughly the Haggerty Road corridor of Western Wayne and Oakland Counties.

buildings in the city's industrial park areas.

This would have the effect of decreasing Westland's potential base, he indicated. Matzo told the council that the engineers wanted to build the sewer in Westland rather than in Canton — which will be served by the interceptor — to save costs.

MANY OF THE areas in Canton where the sewer would logically be constructed are built up with houses and businesses, while the areas in Westland are vacant.

Presumably it would cost much more to acquire property in Canton than in Westland. The sewer line goes in and out of Westland and in and out of Canton. From Glenwood to Joy Road it is almost entirely in Westland.

The planned sewer also would serve the townships of Northville, Plymouth, Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron and several downriver cities in Wayne County.

Robert St. Claire, an engineer from Wade Trim and Associates, said the sewer would be contained in a 66-inch (diameter) pipe which will be constructed some 30 feet below ground level.

The line would be built by tunneling through the ground — underneath roadways and existing utilities — from Van Born Road to Palmer Road. Hamilton said that while it is not certain, construction should start in the fall of 1982. He said that there have been numerous setbacks in the 20-year project, but it now appears that the money is certain for the sewer line's construction.

"Detroit is No. 1 in line to receive money for such projects, and this project is No. 2," he said.

The federal government will pay 75 percent of the cost, the state will pay 5 percent, and the municipalities which are served will pay 20 percent, Hamilton said.

The engineers indicated that wherever possible, construction would be from the ground level excavating down, but when necessary the construction would be by tunneling. The sewer would be tunneled under roads, Tonquish Creek and Willow Creek, Hamilton said.

Community college idea studied

By Sandra Armbruster
staff writer

Board members have hired a consultant to study the feasibility of adding a community college to the Wayne-Westland school district.

Frank Blackford, 61, a Livonia resident who retired recently as president of Macomb County Community College, was approved Monday by the board to explore the possibility of going to a program offering kindergarten through "14th grade." Approval was unanimous.

Blackford's fee is $250 a day with a maximum of $10,000.

"I hope Blackford comes in with an open mind," said Fred Warmbier, board trustee. "I hope he'll not only look at the positive but also inform us of the negative side so we'll have a good, clear picture."

"Our first and primary responsibility is kindergarten through 12th grade," Warmbier added. "It sounds like a utopian idea. It makes me ask 'Where have we been and why have we waited so long?'"

"I say show me," Board Vice President Kenneth Marshall described the proposal as a "lifesaver for the district."

Trustee Thomas Barrett said he agreed with the idea of a local community college as something needed.

Warmbier stressed that "no positive action would be taken until the community was convinced" that the idea was workable in the district, which includes part of Canton Township.

APPROVAL FROM the state board of education is required before the district could add two years onto its current educational program.

That application to the state wouldn't occur until March, at the earliest. First, the tentative timetable calls for a study session, open to the public, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Jan. 16.

If the board is satisfied with answers it receives, it will be asked to approve a resolution of intent to form a community college during its Jan. 25 board meeting. During that meeting, the board also would schedule four public hearings on the proposal, one to be held at each junior high school in the district.

A citizens planning advisory council with 15 members also would be appointed. Members would include residents, staff members and representatives of business and labor. The committee would assist in preparation of the application to the state.

Discussions with the Michigan Department of Education would continue through late spring and early summer of 1982. If approved by the state, the community college would open in January 1983.

Superintendent Timothy Dyer said that community college concept is a "logical extension of the district's commitment to life-long learning."

He added that the proposal is prompted by an expected loss of state aid for adult and community education programs, by the need for job training programs and by Wayne County Community College's move toward centralizing its program offerings.

"THE ISSUE we face is monumental and catastrophic," said Dyer. "We predict the transfer (of adult and community education programs) to community colleges. That would be disastrous (for the district) financially, particularly in this community which has spent 20 years building an exemplary program."

Dyer said that there are currently 4,500 students in the adult education program, plus an additional 10,000-12,000 taking avocational courses. Some of those students come from other districts which Wayne-Westland has a contract to service.

Dyer also said that a decision by Wayne County Community College to relocate its programs from local high schools to centralized buildings has resulted in declining numbers of students from Wayne-Westland enrolling in its programs. He said that in 1965, 1,000 students were enrolled, but that figure dropped to 266 this year.

The college opened a new campus this year in Van Buren Township on Haggerty Road south of Ecorse. Dyer said that location made it difficult for students to get to without private transportation.

He noted that there are 400 students from Wayne-Westland enrolled at Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn and about 700 enrolled at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. Those students are required to pay non-resident tuition.

In addition, 404 students ages 18 and 19 returned to the district this year to take classes at the new vocational education center, according to Dyer.

He cited those statistics as evidence that a community college is needed in the district. He added that a local community college would make advanced training in academic, health, technical and business fields more accessible to women and to handicapped people.

Dyer said the concept also would provide skilled workers for local businesses and allow advanced placements for students in the district's gifted and talented program.

THE PROPOSAL would make use of existing buildings in the district. Dyer said that high school juniors and seniors would still be allowed first-enrollment rights in the vocational education program. But he said that a fifth, early morning shift could be added to the scheduled at the voc-ed center.

Kenneth A. Fox, D.D.S., P.C.

TEETHING

When your baby was born, he most likely smiled a gummy, all pink smile. But under those gums was a mouthful of developing primary teeth (20 to be exact) ready to erupt through the gums.

Teething usually begins somewhere between the sixth and eighth month starting with the two lower central teeth followed by the two upper central ones. These are sometimes called "milk teeth". Your baby will be teething on and off for the next two years by which time all twenty of his primary teeth should be showing.

A baby may be irritable when teething. His gums are sore and swollen because the tooth is trying to push its way through. He may drool a lot because it hurts when he closes his jaws. And he will probably want to chew on hard things. Give him a teething ring, a hard biscuit, or one of those plastic affairs that you freeze so that it's hard and cold to baby's gums. The action of biting is good, too, for his jaw development. Teething is natural. It does not cause any illness. If baby is extra uncomfortable, your dentist or physician can prescribe a medicine that numbs the gums.

Red Cross asks cash for Poles

The Southeastern Michigan Chapter of American Red Cross announced it will accept public financial donations to help low-income, elderly persons and young children survive the coming bitter winter in Poland.

All checks should be made payable to The American Red Cross, earmarked for "Polish Emergency Relief" and mailed to Executive Office, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Red Cross, Box 351 Detroit 48232.

The Southeastern Michigan chapter, the fourth-largest chapter in the nation, represents Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties and is a United Foundation agency.

The action was taken after a call by the League of Red Cross Societies, based in Geneva, Switzerland, to its worldwide membership to assist the Polish Red Cross with the relief effort, now hampered by the political turmoil in that country.

The League of Red Cross Societies is seeking more than $6 million to assist the Polish Red Cross in its mission.

According to area Chairman Leo Brennan, the Polish Red Cross has responsibility for 50,000 low-income, aged and handicapped persons and for 20,000 children from families with social problems and handicaps.

"Because of the high cost of transporting goods overseas," said Brennan, "the most effective way of meeting the needs of these people is through financial assistance. Funds donated through the Southeastern Michigan chapter will be transferred to the League of Red Cross Societies through the American Red Cross."

"The league will then purchase food, clothing, blankets and other items in Europe for shipment to seven specially designated Red Cross warehouses in Poland for distribution to individuals or institutions."

School program is a great help

To the editor:

I would like to say a few words with regard to your article on Tony Coscia. I have a 4½-year-old grandson with cerebral palsy. No trips were made to Philadelphia for treatment as there was none to spend.

He has been helped through the greatest program I have ever known called Infant Preschool Special Education Program (IPSEP). This program is financed by the taxpayers, so I would like to say "thank you" for their help.

At 6 months, my grandson couldn't do anything but sleep and he ate very little. The doctor at University of Michigan suggested IPSEP. It was so cold that winter and he was so tiny that nurse Marilyn Thams and physical therapist Phoebe Vance came to the house to start therapy.

Then he started therapy at school twice a week till he reached 3 years, at which time he started classroom therapy. Now he attends four days and one day of Head Start PLUS.

Because of the help of these women — teachers Marilyn, Phoebe, Mary Kay Herr and Mary Beth Newman, and occupational therapist Lori Franzen — he is able to do many things. He can put on his coat, is toilet-trained, takes his braces off, zips a zipper, walks with a walker, and much more.

In March, he is scheduled for surgery to help him walk without help of a walker or braces. (He now goes on his knees when, in his words, he runs or goes with his walker or rides in a stroller).

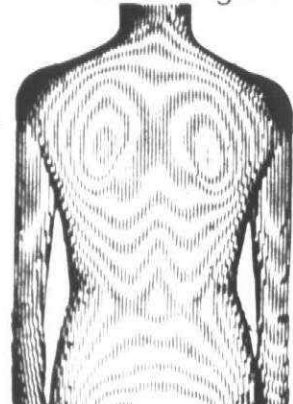

His wish for Christmas is a little piano to help tiny fingers to be able to function better. Do you have one you would like to give?

Thank you again taxpayers, Goodfellow, Salvation Army, and especially IPSEP. It is a program that works.

The Observer also got struck with a mild case of playoff fever in its story last week on local Lion Mania.

Russ Babut, 35 of Plymouth Township, actually didn't predict the score of yesterday's game against Tampa Bay would be 8-0 but that the outcome would leave the Lions Silverdome record at eight victories and no defeats.

He attributed the Lion's habit of losing away games not only to playing on regular grass but also to the team being over-confident and sitting on their leads. Babut did attend college but never thought about playing football in college, retiring after playing at the high school level.

House Democrats salvage points in compromise bills

By Suzie Rollins Singer and Tim Richard
staff writers

In a good political settlement, there are no losers.

That appears to be what happened in Lansing last week when both houses of the Michigan Legislature agreed to a package of workers compensation reform bills.

Gov. William G. Milliken, Republican senators and business won important House Democratic concessions on their key wishes — coordination of benefits, reinvestigation of eligibility and an end to lump-sum settlements of claims.

House Democrats won two key principles — a legislatively mandated 20-percent reduction in workers comp premiums and a more palatable definition of what kind of job a recovered worker would be required to accept.

MILLIKEN IS expected to sign the 12-bill package by the end of this year.

It was hailed by two area members of the House, which had the final crack at the package. Rep. Joe Forbes, D-Oak Park, was majority floor leader, and Rep. James Defebaugh, R-Birmingham, was a key figure in the Republican caucus.

Workers comp was originally designed to make up the income a worker loses from job-related injury or illness. Key changes are these:

- "Coordination" — A worker will not be able to collect more in Social Security, pension and workers comp benefits than he earned on the job. The reform was bitterly fought by the UAW, whose retirees it sought to protect, and House Democrats.
- "Redemption" — It will eliminate lump-sum settlements between employers and injured workers who agree to settle cases out of court. Proponents argued the reforms will reduce the numbers of "nuisance claims" filed in order to obtain out-of-court settlements. Instead, all claims must be heard by the Workers' Compensation Appeal Board hearing referee.
- Rate cut — Private insurers who write workers' compensation insurance for Michigan businesses would be required to reduce their rates by 20 percent over the next two years. House Democrats were successful in tacking this pet provision into the Senate package they finally approved. Sponsors say the rate cut will save business $200 million a year and particularly aid small businesses.

ONCE SIGNED, the law will become effective April 1.

In addition, the reforms would force injured workers to forfeit benefits if they refuse "good reasonable" work. Democrats had insisted on this provision.

"The courts will have to decide what that means," said Rep. Forbes, whose district includes part of Southfield.

The work issue deals with people who are placed on disability from a job-related injury, Forbes explained.

After 150 weeks on disability, their cases are to be reviewed. A person found capable of returning to work would have to accept a job that is good and reasonable compared to what they held previously.

Currently, disabled persons may refuse jobs that aren't exactly like the ones they were at before they were injured, he added.

"But only time will tell if this will work," Forbes added.

TO DEFebaUGH, the two key points of the package are the tighter definition of disability and the coordination of benefits provision.

"It will be tougher for a worker to claim job-related disability under the new provisions than it is now. And if an injured worker is receiving other benefits, like Social Security or insurance payments, all the benefits would be lumped together to determine how much the disability payment should be," Defebaugh said.

Clamping down on redemption settlements will surely help ease the high workers' comp insurance premiums, thus making way for the 20-percent rate reduction over the next two years, he said.

"In the past, employers would settle small cases for $2,000 rather than pursue them. Now, redemptions will be eliminated, and it will reduce the number of nuisance claims," he said.

BOTH MEN said the package should help Michigan's ailing economy by easing the high cost of workers' compensation payments.

"It will help business in Michigan, at least from a psychological standpoint," Defebaugh added.

"It will probably keep some industrialists who were thinking of moving out of state in Michigan, and maybe more will consider expanding their operations here."

"It's sending a message to businesses that Michigan is trying to help them. The next issue that needs to be addressed is unemployment compensation benefits, and we're going to try and take that up in January."

RICHARD HEADLEE, president of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, said the workers comp incident shows "a growing number of Democratic and Republican legislators are turning their backs on union leadership and are more interested in being known as legislators who are working to provide jobs for the people of Michigan."

The president of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of Farmington Hills added:

"During the past three weeks, labor leaders have attempted to intimidate politicians who would dare disagree with them."

"This has included newspaper advertising, threats of reprisal for not cooperating with the unions, and it culminated in the labor rally in Lansing."

New Madonna courses explore career changes and modern business

Madonna College is offering two new courses beginning in January through its continuing education program.

One eight-week course, called "Adults in Transition," designed to help make career changes easier, begins Jan. 13.

The course aims at helping adults understand and accept new lifestyles, personal and career values. Rev. Jeffrey Anifer will be teach it 1-3 p.m. Wednesdays in Room 103 of the Administration Building. The cost is $30 if no college credit is desired and $58 for one college credit. Students should register by Jan. 11.

To register, call the college at 591-5049. Madonna is at Schoolcraft and Levan, Livonia.

Surveying the contemporary business scene through a television show is the focus of another 15-week course beginning Jan. 11.

"It's Everybody's Business" will be a study of a Channel 56 television show that features interviews with federal administrators, editors, corporation executives, union leaders and advertising specialists. The course will examine the way today's business community provides goods and services within the legal, ethical and economic framework of the U.S.

The course will air 4:30-5 p.m. on Channel 56 on Mondays and Wednesdays. Students can view the show at home or on tapes at the college at alternative times. There will also be class sessions.

It's time for the party before Christmas

*'Twas some time before Christmas and all through the kitchen,
All the children were busy,
cookies a-mixin'.
The cookies were decorated and put out to eat,
In hopes that the children
would find them a treat.
The Santa cups brimmed
to their tops with the punch,
Enough for a party,
invite the whole bunch.*

Christmas—'tis the season to bake and decorate cookies, enjoy punch from special cups, wrap presents and trim the tree. 'Tis the season when children's joy and anticipation are part of the Christmas spirit. 'Tis the season to give a Christmas party for your children. Invite neighborhood friends, school chums or young relatives.

For the youngsters' holiday entertaining, just fill a punch bowl with cheery Cranberry Sparkler and serve Santa-sized cookies. The bright red punch is made with Kool-Aid brand soft drink mix, cranberry juice cocktail and lemon-lime carbonated beverage.

The Santa-sized cookies will delight the kids. Giant sugar cookies can be made by cutting shapes freehand or by using a cardboard stencil. Delicious jumbo chocolate chip cookies have the surprise ingredient of cereal for extra nutrition. Mothers will like these cookies, too, because they can be made ahead of time, wrapped and frozen, then decorated when needed.

Make an occasion of the decorating. It can be done a day ahead or as part of the party fun. Cookies can be covered with sugar glaze, then decorated with a butter frosting made colorful with unsweetened soft drink mix for large areas of color. Use convenient tube frosting for outlines and other details. These merry Christmas cookies can be decorated with a tree, red-nosed reindeer, a wreath or a brightly wrapped package.

While children are drinking their punch and enjoying their cookies, let them be creative by making their own Christmas decoration. Provide styrofoam balls for each child to make tree ornaments. Put out pins, scissors, glue and a selection of sequins, beads, rickrack, stars, Christmas stickers, yarn, ribbons and scraps of fabric. Children can make their own tree-trimmers with relatively little supervision. Let them decide to keep their creations, give them away, hang them on a special tree or swap with each other.

For practical party favors, give away Christmas canisters that the children decorate themselves. Start with empty soft drink canisters. Cover each with construction or wrapping paper. Then let the children paste on appliques made from paper, felt, ribbons, pictures clipped from magazines or old greeting cards or other decorative bits. Each canister can be labeled with the child's name, a pet's name or just "cookies" or "candy." This special Christmas canister is just right for a child's treasures, whether they are candy or his own Christmas cards.

There are games to be played at Christmas parties, too. Using more empty soft drink canisters, decorated for the occasion, and plain white styrofoam balls, play Snowball Toss. Start with ten canisters arranged in a triangle, with sides touching, as for bowling. Each child stands behind a line and tosses three balls, trying to get them into the canisters. If a child gets all three balls into the canisters, let him throw another ball. Each ball in a canister counts 1 point. Children take turns tossing the balls, and the one with the highest number of points wins. After a predetermined number of rounds, award prizes such as a Christmas card address book, a calendar, a red pen or a pocket-sized game. Everyone should be a winner!

Don't forget to send them home with some extra cookies, their Christmas canisters and lots of smiles.

*And you'll hear them exclaim as they leave for the night,
"Merry Christmas to you,
thank you, good night!"*

Children make the ornaments. A cheery red cranberry punch and Santa-sized cookies make the party.

*Or use 2 envelopes strawberry, cherry, raspberry or orange flavor unsweetened soft drink mix and add 1 cup sugar.

*Or use 2 cups semi-sweet chocolate flavored baking chips.

Mix flour with baking soda and salt. Cream butter; gradually beat in sugars. Add eggs and vanilla; blend well. Add flour mixture. Stir in cereal and chocolate. Using 1/4 cup dough for each cookie, drop 3 inches apart onto greased baking sheets and press with fork into 3-inch rounds. Bake at 375° for 13 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool 1 minute before removing from baking sheets. Makes about 16.

Note: Cookies may be wrapped and frozen.

GIANT SUGAR COOKIES

- 1-1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1 tablespoon milk

Mix flour with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening. Gradually beat in sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Stir in vanilla. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, mixing well after each addition. Chill 3 or 4 hours or overnight. Roll dough 1/8-inch thick on lightly floured board. Cut 6-inch cardboard patterns (angel, tree, star, bell); place on rolled dough and cut with sharp knife. Transfer with wide spatula to ungreased baking sheets. Bake at 350° for 10 to 12 minutes. Makes 15.

Colorful Butter Frosting. Sift 1 teaspoon unsweetened soft drink mix, any flavor, with 4-1/2 cups unsifted confectioners sugar. Cream 1/2-cup butter or margarine. Add sugar mixture, alternately with 6 tablespoons (about) hot water; blend until smooth. Makes 2-1/2 cups. (Recipe may be halved; prepare twice with 2 different soft drink mix flavors, if desired.)

Roast beef for holiday dinner

It's the moment everyone has been looking forward to for weeks. The planning, shopping and hurrying about are all behind. Excitement has been building as the tree is decorated, the family gathers and the presents are exchanged. And now, finally, the Christmas feast can begin.

All will agree it is a meal well worth waiting for when a beef tip roast is placed at the head of the table. While holiday diners enjoy the roast's juicy tenderness and marvelous flavor, the cook will appreciate its easy preparation. The roast practically prepares itself, for once it is placed in a slow oven, no basting is necessary.

For roast beef done just the way you like it, let a meat thermometer be your guide. It should be centered in the thickest part of the roast. Because the roast continues to cook after it is removed from the oven, it should be removed when the thermometer registers about 5 degrees below the doneness desired.

Stuffed avocados are an accompaniment for the beef that is worthy of this special day. Buttery avocado halves are filled with an intriguing stuffing made with bread cubes, chopped tomatoes, shredded zucchini, cucumber and green pepper and onion.

Since the stuffed avocados just need to be heated through, they are placed in the oven with the roast shortly before it is removed and continue cooking while the roast is waiting to be carved.

BEEF TIP ROAST

3½-8 pound beef tip roast
Place roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees) to desired degree of doneness; 140 degrees for rare; 160 degrees for medium. For a 3½-5 pound roast, allow 35-40 minutes per pound, depending on desired doneness.

For a 6- to 8-pound roast, allow 30-35 minutes per pound. For easier carving, allow roast to set in a warm place 15-20 minutes after removal from oven. Since roast usually continues to cook after removal from oven, it is best to remove it about 5 degrees below the temperature desired.

Microwave directions: Place 4- to 5-pound beef tip roast, fat side down, on rack in microwave-safe dish. Do not add water. Cover with wax paper. Cook at 30 percent power (approximately 200 watts). Allow 18-20 minutes per pound for rare to medium.

Cook roast half the cooking time, rotating dish a half turn during this period. Turn roast fat side up, rotate dish a half turn and continue cooking, covered with wax paper, for remainder of time or until meat thermometer registers 5 degrees below doneness desired.

Cover roast with foil tent and allow to set at room temperature 15-20 minutes after removal from oven. Since roasts continue to cook during this time, they usually rise approximately 5 degrees in internal temperature. They should reach 140 degrees for rare; 160 degrees for medium.

STUFFED AVOCADOS

3 ripe medium avocados
salt
1 cup toasted bread cubes
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
3 small tomatoes, peeled and chopped
1 medium zucchini, shredded
½ cup cucumber, shredded
¼ cup green pepper, finely chopped
1 small onion, finely chopped
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. cayenne pepper

Cut avocados in half lengthwise, remove seeds and season with salt. Combine bread cubes, melted butter or margarine, tomatoes, zucchini, cucumber, green pepper, onion, salt and cayenne pepper.

Fill each avocado half with ½ cup stuffing and place and baking pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 25-30 minutes or until avocados are heated through. Makes 6 servings.

Pudding squares in record time

2 pkg. (4-serving size) pistachio-flavored instant pudding and pie filling
3 cups cold milk
1 container (8 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
Sweetened sliced peaches

Combine pudding mix and milk in bowl and beat slowly with rotary beater until blended, about 2 minutes. Blend in whipped topping. Pour into 8-inch square pan. Freeze until firm, about 4 hours or overnight. Cut into squares or rectangles. Serve with peaches. Makes 6 cups.

Cheese up yule log this year

Celebrate the season with this festive spread. Hard-cooked eggs provide protein for nutritious nibbling.

CHEESY YULE LOG

2 pkg. (3 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
¼ cup chopped green onions with tops
¼ cup bottled chutney
½-1 tsp. curry powder
¼ tsp. ground red pepper
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese
½ cup chopped pecans
snipped parsley, optional

Beat together cream cheese, onions, chutney and seasonings until blended. Stir in eggs, cheese and pecans. Cover and chill to blend flavors. Form into a log or ball. Roll in parsley, if desired. Serve with fresh fruit slices or crackers. Makes 3 cups.

To hard-cook eggs: Put them in single layer in saucepan. Add enough tap water to come at least 1 inch above the eggs. Cover and quickly bring just to boiling. Turn off heat. If necessary, remove pan from burner to prevent further boiling. Let eggs stand, covered, in the hot water 15-17 minutes for large eggs. (Adjust time up or down by about 3 minutes for each size large or smaller.)

Immediately run cold water over eggs or put them in ice water until completely cooled. To remove shell, crack it by tapping gently all over. Roll egg between hands to loosen shell, then peel, starting at large end. Hold egg under running water or dip in bowl of water to help ease off shell.

Vodka punches up a party

Holiday celebrations deserve the very best, and that's how you should plan your parties, says a lady who should know.

Her name is Letitia Baldrige, and she was social adviser to the White House during the Kennedy years.

To put that special punch in your holiday parties, she suggests this drink:

WINTER PUNCH

4 qt. cranapple juice
4 cinnamon sticks

1 tsp. whole cloves
1 qt. ginger ale
2½ cups vodka

Place cinnamon and cloves in cheesecloth and heat with cranapple juice in large saucepan. Simmer for five minutes.

Remove from heat and let cool. Remove spice bag. Pour into punch bowl and add vodka and ginger ale. Float block of ice. Surround punch bowl with holly and serve to 24.

Ah, the joys of warming up in winter

Winter can be frustrating. The thought of shoveling snow and driving on icy highways is not a pleasant one. Many of us get that closed-in feeling in the winter, unable to leave the house for any length of time without paying the price of frozen ears and noses.

Despite all of the negative aspects, winter is so many good things to me.

It's the fun of putting the finishing touches on a snowman, the excitement of building a snow fort and doing battle with my brother, the thrill of sled-riding down Mrs. Cleland's hill (bet you can't get over that second bump standing up on your Flexible Flyer!), the painstaking care of picking myself up from the ground without spoiling the angel-wings I just made by flapping my arms up and down in the new-fallen snow, and of course the job of being pulled on our big sled by dad down the street to grandma's house for some popcorn and cider.

Even now, I find it hard to rival that feeling of peaceful solitude I get while taking a stroll with Kathe around the neighborhood at night when it's snowing those big flakes that are easy to catch on your tongue. The air takes on a silence that is never equaled at any other time of the year. You can actually hear the snow as it falls to the earth, creating a glistering white blanket that seems to cover everything in a paternal sort of way.

After that walk, it's comforting to come back in the house and sit in front of a warm blazing fire and sip a hot spiced drink or two. Even sleeping in the winter is more fun. I just love to turn the thermostat down low at night and pile on the blankets to keep snug and warm.

Bill Ross

THE LONG cold winter weather has other special meanings to kids that relate to food. While growing up, we kids would look forward to winter knowing that two of our very favorite meals were only prepared during the cold part of the year.

The picture I have of my grandmother's kitchen, patiently standing in the large black kettle of polenta with a long wooden polenta stick (also used as a discipline stick) is as clear as crystal.

Basically, polenta is nothing more than corn meal mush. Although it may not sound very appetizing, when you pour on the tomato and chicken (or tomato and veal) sauce that grandma makes and top it with grated parmesan or romano cheese, it becomes a unique meal that warms these cold winter Sunday afternoons.

The real art to making polenta is the ability to be patient. The mixture of corn meal and water must be constantly stirred from start to finish. This is a very easy job at first but it becomes increasingly difficult as the mush thickens.

When we were young, my brother Tom and I would get to stir only in the first few minutes of the preparation. After that, dad would have to take over, for it took some real elbow grease to keep the polenta from sticking to the sides of the kettle and burning.

As we got older, we were able to do more of the heavy stirring. I can remember my arms being so tired by dinner time that I thought I would be unable to lift my fork to eat. But somehow I always found the strength to eat more than my share.

One of the great side effects of making polenta was the leftovers. The next few days after a polenta dinner were started off with breakfast of fried polenta. The mush when sliced thin and fried to a golden brown and smothered with maple syrup was a great way to start those cold winter mornings.

THE OTHER of my favorite winter-time meals is risotto. A literal translation of risotto from Italian is rice.

I'm sure there are many different variations on Italian rice dishes, depending on which Italian family you talk to. They are probably all called risotto, most likely shortened out of convenience from a specific rice dish prepared in Italy by our particular ancestors.

In my case, I refer to ours as Risotto Alla Michele, after my maternal grandmother's family name. It, like polenta, is a rib-sticking dish that can help make the coldest of winter days feel a bit warmer. Served with some chilled chianti wine, this is a truly outstanding eating experience.

Next time you're trapped at home by a winter snow storm, try one of these meals. I feel certain you will enjoy the taste and the warming after-effects of these northern Italian specialties.

POLENTA

5 cups water
12 oz. yellow corn meal
¾ tsp. salt

In a five-quart saucepan over medium heat, stir all ingredients with a large wooden spoon until boiling. Continue to stir while lowering heat to low. Stir constantly for about one hour until corn meal is very, very thick.

Place a clean cloth on a wooden cutting board. Invert pan of polenta onto cutting board. Polenta will come out of pan and remain firm. Cut into slabs with a long string. Serve immediately, topping with tomato sauce and grated parmesan or romano cheese.

SAUCE FOR POLENTA

1 chicken, cut up, or 1 lb. of veal stew
1 qt. tomato juice
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. parsley flakes
1 small onion, cut up
4 Tbsp. butter

Lightly brown meat of your choice in butter and onion. Add other ingredients and cook slowly for 2½ hours. Thicken slightly with corn starch before serving over polenta.

ROSOTTO ALLA MICHELETTI

1½ cups uncooked white rice
1 qt. condensed chicken broth, undiluted
¼ lb. butter
½ cup fresh mushrooms—cup up
1 small onion, chopped
½ cup dry red wine
½ cup grated parmesan cheese

In a five-quart saucepan, saute onion and mushrooms in butter for 2-3 minutes. Add rice, and cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until rice is lightly toasted, about two minutes. Stir one cup chicken broth into rice; cover, bring to a boil.

Reduce heat and cook over medium heat 10 minutes or until broth is almost absorbed. Repeat this step twice more, adding half of the remaining broth each time. Stir frequently to keep rice from sticking. When almost all broth has been cooked away and rice is tender, stir in wine.

Cover pan; bring to a boil; reduce heat and cook covered five more minutes. Just before serving, stir in parmesan cheese.

Banana meet almonds for lively coffecake

Holiday entertaining doesn't necessarily end with the Christmas holidays; it can last well into the first few weeks of the new year. Be prepared for those unexpected friends who drop in by having Banana Almond Coffecake on hand. Or make one just for the family to enjoy.

Deliciously moist, the cake has added plus to please your taste buds... the subtle flavoring of Amaretto in both the batter and frosting.

BANANA ALMOND COFFEECAKE

1 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
½ tsp. vanilla
¾ cup sour cream
1 cup mashed ripe banana (3 medium)
¼ cup Amaretto or Amaretto and cognac
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
Cream Cheese Frosting

metal pan, 13-by-9-by-2 inches. Beat sugar, shortening, eggs and vanilla in large bowl on medium speed, scraping bowl occasionally, 2 minutes. Mix sour cream, banana and Amaretto. Beat in flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt, alternating with sour cream mixture, on low speed. Spread batter in pan.

Bake cake until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, about 30-35 minutes. Frost with Cream Cheese Frosting, when cooled. Refrigerate any remaining cake.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 Tbsp. butter or margarine, softened
¼ tsp. vanilla
1½ cups powdered sugar
1 Tbsp. Amaretto or Amaretto and cognac
1-2 Tbsp. milk

Beat cream cheese, butter and vanilla until smooth. Beat in remaining ingredients until frosting is smooth and of spreading consistency.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease

Trifles? Why not?

The spirit of old England comes alive again in this elegant holiday recipe, Easy English Trifle "trifles" with the imagination. It recalls the days of Dickens' characters and transports you to a frame of cheer that makes you want to say with Tiny Tim: "God bless you each and everyone."

You'll have a merry old time making it, knowing that you'll have time to enjoy Christmas with family and friends.

Instead of the traditional leftover sponge or pound cake, frozen original or butter-milk waffles are used. The waffles, spread with raspberry preserves, form a lovely, lacy pattern when a see-through glass bowl is your choice.

Frozen waffles and other convenience products — vanilla pudding and pie mix (fancied up with sherry) and non-dairy whipped topping — make it a simple recipe to prepare. Use whipped cream for special occasions. Yes, Easy English Trifle is more than a trifle elegant, especially when served with a spot of tea.

EASY ENGLISH TRIFLE

¾ cup raspberry preserves
¼ cup plus 2 tbsps. sherry (optional)
10 oz. pkg. frozen waffles
2 3½-oz. pkg. vanilla pudding and pie

filling mix
4 cups milk
2 cups sweetened whipped cream or prepared non-dairy whipped topping

In small bowl, combine preserves and 2 tbsps. sherry; mix well. Spread on frozen waffles. Cut each waffle into triangles; arrange in 2 qt. glass bowl or casserole.

Prepare pudding mix and milk according to package directions. Remove from heat; stir in remaining ¼ cup sherry. Pour over waffles. Cover; chill at least 4 hours or until set, or overnight, as desired. Spread or pipe whipped cream over pudding mixture just before serving. Makes 8-10 servings.

Crime may pay, but where are the fringe benefits?

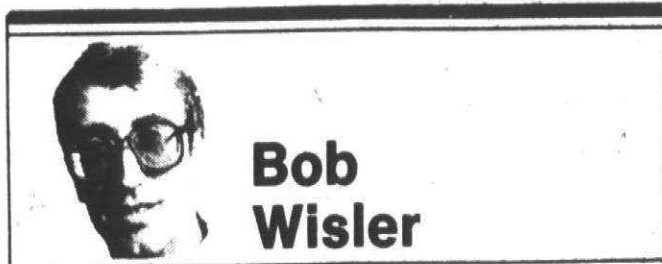

When I read about supposed organized crime figures, I am reminded of The Shadow's constant admonition at the beginning of his radio program: "The weed of crime bears bitter fruit."

Stories about the recent trial of an alleged Mafia kingpin and two lesser lights centered on the testimony of a character who supposedly was the victim of extortion. Only problem was the witness had such a sorry record himself that you got to wondering if the right culprit was on trial.

The case points out one of the chief drawbacks of choosing crime for a career: When you're friends and associates may be involved in the practice of deceit, fraud, stealing and like that, who can you trust?

A guy I'll call Eddie was one of those I knew who tried to make a living out of crime. We grew up a block apart. He said that his friend's dad, a lifelong practitioner of the various illegal arts involved in separating people from their money, used to tell his son and his son's friends when they were teenagers: "Don't get into this kind of life, it's not worth it." Their reply: "Are you kidding, look at the money, the friends, the women, the easy life."

EDDIE AND friends lived high for a lot of years. One time they were stopped driving through Texas and the cops found a bunch of cash, a stash of marijuana and about $20,000 in guns. The cops couldn't believe it but the money was their spending money. After paying many thousand dollars for proper adjudication, they made it back to Detroit.

Eddie sometimes entertained me telling what it was like to run a numbers route. The object in collecting was not to hurt anyone but to make an apparent welcher think his body configuration would be drastically altered if he did not come up with the necessary wad of cash. That's why when they went on collections Eddie's friend Charley wore golf shoes and Eddie wore his "Al Capone coat," a big blue wraparound which made him look bigger than the 6-foot-three and 220 pounds that he already was.

One time they took a guy's false teeth until he brought in the money he owed. They used to stick revolvers into the mouths of recalcitrants and threaten them with great harm less than murder for a few hundred dollars. It wasn't the money, Eddie said, it was the principle. "You can't allow someone to think they can get away with anything."

IT WAS A losing proposition, though, he said. You couldn't trust anyone. The customers eventually welched, the runners and collectors eventually split with the money, the big money men eventually tried to stiff you. Everyone sooner or later tried to pull a fast one and if you stayed up all day and all night every day you couldn't keep up with the double-crosses.

I guess maybe he was right. One day two guys who looked like properous wrestlers came into his bar and tossed a manila envelope on the bar. "You've just been bought out," they told him in reference to the numbers route he shared with Charley. In the envelope was $2,000, a paltry sum considering he was making $1,000 a week with only a few hours a day of labor involved. The "offer" was accompanied by a long story about how this was being done to aid an out-of-work older organization man in need of an income.

"What are you going to do?" I asked. "Nothing," he said. "If I tried to fight it, I would end up having to kill someone, or get killed myself. It's not worth it."

He didn't have the instinct or the heart for the business. It was one of many times that he learned, as his friend's dad had assured him years before, that it wasn't a good career after all.

HE FOUND OUT later that the buy-out was engineered by Charley. He remained friends with the guy nevertheless. But he never did invite the Charley over to his house. He didn't want him to find out that he had stolen his refrigerator. Why do it? His reply: "What are friends for?"

Assuredly it was better than carrying a disagreement too far. Another who entertained was a friendly break-in and safe artist called Long John, in deference to his height. One time we were having a few in a downtown hangout when he ran out of money. I offered a loan. He said never mind and put on his coat. He was back in 20 minutes with a sackful of change. He turned it in for bills and we continued to drink. I read in the paper the next day that the Circle X bar, located around the corner, had been burglarized and an undetermined amount of change taken from a cigarette machine and pool table.

John was 6-foot-5 and considered tougher than an average-size gorilla. Consequently threats didn't bother him, although maybe they should have. I didn't see him for a while, then one day I read that his body had been found in a car which had been resting for a week in the pound of the Highland Park police department. He had been shot in the back of the head and was dead before he was 40.

I ran into a guy I knew as one of John's best friends at the airport a few days later. "Tough what happened to John," I said. "Well, what can you expect?" the friend said. "That's the way he lived."

Michael Regulski

Bah humbug? No, but almost

"Over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house we go."

Well, the horse may know the way but this sleigh is headed in the direction of those who don't have a grandmother living in such serene digs. We're talking here of the folks who have left their folks for different pursuits, for the folks who have no folks to leave, and the folks who would rather not be bothered by it all.

I like to say I belong to the latter. Ah, a Scrooge, I hear you say. Wrong again. I like the holidays. People are friendlier. Newspapers, magazines and television are certainly more sugary, what with all those pictures of Santa and those darlin' little urchins clustering about him. I like twinkling lights; the smell of pine and especially holiday cheer in liquid measure.

But I don't understand the fantasy that wraps it all up neatly. I suppose it stems from the Ford Rotunda, the ninth wonder of this Detroit child's world, burned down and the quarter I sent in to help in its resurrection never paid off.

I think more it comes from being a part of a large family which is steeped a little too much in tradition but pliable enough to accept the realities of a contemporary world.

IN THOSE formative years of my youth when everyone gathered at Christmas Eve at Granpa's house (later at an aunt's) it was a friendly mob scene. There were first-cousins, second-cousins, friends of cousins twice removed. At one accounting about 125 people squeezed into a space normally reserved for 30. People hugged and kissed, and talked about each other behind each other's backs. Some hadn't spoken to each other for years, and there they were still not talking. Others who shouldn't have been talking were babbling on about this, that and the other thing. Every family has 'em.

Some did not want to be there but the pressure was on from respective family heads who said the family was all going to be together for one night. It was tradition. How nuclear.

That was a long time ago. As happens when the years go by, a third generation is now growing into its own. The relatives still kiss and hug and yak but the numbers all around have lessened. The father who founded the tribe in this country died almost two decades ago at the ripe old age of 76, shattering his doctor's disbelief in the preservative qualities of alcohol. A few favorite uncles have since followed suit. One dropped from sight completely. But the remaining members of the first generation hold the fort while the second and third generations spread their wings and either move out of state, go off to celebrate with new in-laws, or, for various convictions, are no-shows.

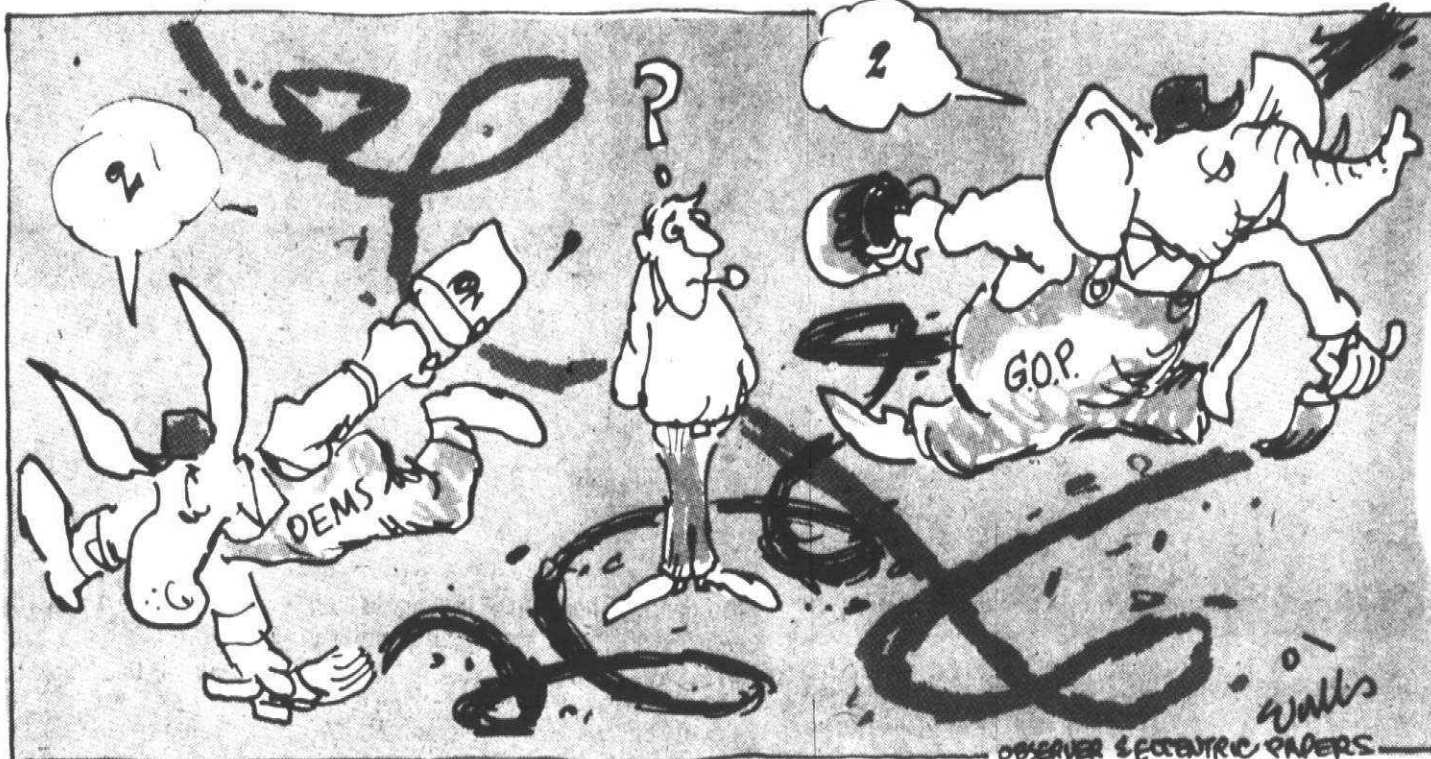

Independence-loving stock rooted in the old country and transplanted in the new can do that. It was one of the reasons for coming to this country in the first place. Follow the winds that blow, make your own life, you'll always have a home. It's a gypsy's theory that after 300 hundred plus years is still working.

WE DON'T GET along all at the same time in the same room. The Brady Bunch we're not. Nor do we follow in the path of the Nelsons, the Cleavers or the Cunninghams. I would put it closer to the Addams Family with all its eccentricities.

If you find yourself wondering why your situation is not like those pictured on the tube or in the glossies or in the dailies, don't worry about it. You're not alone. There are a lot of people who have made and are making new roles for themselves, who have set up new living arrangements in which they are comfortable and adabbing nicely.

Some are young and single, some are old and middle aged and singled by divorce or death. Many are living together in lifestyles altered from what came before. Family still means the same but the word has taken on broader dimensions to include friends and neighbors and co-workers. It's not a novel idea. Somebody about 2,000 years said it supercedes all laws. It goes something like love your neighbor as yourself.

Reapportionment: Who's fooling whom?

Thanks for the happy holiday

On my recent vacation, my dear daughter gave to me two crazy cats, one tiny bathroom, one turkey to roast, eight mouths to feed, a mattress on the floor, one kitchen floor to scrub, no turtle doves and no partridge in a pear tree.

I'm talking about my visit to daughter Lisa who lives in a small rented house in Arlington, Va., where she works as a cable television maven.

Who else but my darling, creative, 23-year-old movie buff would have a pair of scratching, chewing, leaping, pouncing, meowing cats named Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall?

Taking my life and my sanity into my own trembling hands, I agreed to wing my way to old Virginny to spend Thanksgiving with Lisa and a menage a huit (eight), including Bogart and Bacall.

Talk about family togetherness. If the Pilgrims had it like this, they would have abandoned the Mayflower and deflated all life rafts instead of surviving and giving thanks.

The eve of turkey day was a circus. About an hour after I arrived in Arlington toting my luggage and a 10-pound box of goodies — like home-baked cakes and pumpkin pie — daughter, Tina, her husband, Yale and my grandson, Dylan, 9, showed up for the reunion.

THEY WERE tired and cranky after driving 14 hours, including two for getting lost and two for Dylan's john stops. All of us, plus Lisa's housemate, Cindy, tried to dress for dinner, crowding into one diminutive bathroom.

In the meantime, poor Yale was buzzing through the house shaving in his underwear and still grumbling about getting lost on Lisa's directions. My girls had a great excuse for wearing my clothes, claiming they couldn't find their own in all the confusion.

Finally ready, we trooped off to the most expensive French restaurant in Washington and probably the entire world. It was tucked away in a darkened office building. We had to gain entry by talking through a peephole like in the speakeasies of yesterday.

Guess who picked up the tab and nearly had a coronary?

When we arrived home, I discovered my bed was to be the folding couch in the living room with the stuffing oozing out of the arm chewed and scratched by Bogart and Bacall. The mutilated sofa opens up to provide a mattress on the floor.

For this I left my comfortable king-sized bed and my own adjoining bathroom? Mothers are the craziest people I decided as Dylan sleeping with me spread eagle kicked me in the shins and the two frantic felines pounced on my stomach, awakening me every minute.

IN A WAY, it's a good thing I couldn't sleep. Lisa, who definitely isn't a cooking maven, neglected to defrost the 15-pound turkey that I had planned to marinate overnight.

The next morning, the bird I had taken out at 1 a.m. was sufficiently thawed to be seasoned. After making breakfast for the kiddies and kitties (ugh), I fixed my brood's favorite potato cheese pudding for the Thanksgiving feast.

Lisa made a big thing about preparing the stuffing from a mix and adding her own water, butter and onions. Then she burned the broccoli because she forgot to add her own water.

The meal, nevertheless, was a success. Bacall and Bogart licked the plates and for dessert chewed my eyeglass case I had stupidly left lying on the floor. I think the crazy cats also ate Cindy's gold bracelet, which she still hasn't found.

After doing the dishes — over feeble protests from the gang — scrubbing the kitchen floor — which is off limits in my home — and sewing the arm of the battered couch, I collapsed on my mattress.

The only saving grace was Lisa's cable TV, which I watched until the wee hours with Dylan, Bogart and Bacall for company.

THE DAY I left, the heat went out in the house and Dylan somehow managed to lock the bathroom door so nobody could get in. Then I discovered one or both of the cats had chewed the handle off my luggage.

But thinking back, I don't need turtle doves or a partridge in a pear tree. Being with my kids is reason enough to give thanks.

But I sure can't say the same about Bogey and Bacall.

Singer gives gifts that last

A frequent focus in this holiday season is gifts. We dream about the ones we may receive and ponder the ones we should give.

Intangible gifts that come to us unasked may really be the best of all. For Euni Rose, that is the gift of music. And what makes it the best is the pleasure she receives from sharing it.

Songs sung by her mother, to her and her twin sister, Eudi, in early childhood ignited a love for music and their innate talent fanned the spark. Ever since, it's been a love and a living.

For the director of Southfield's Children's Chorus, it's also a barrel of fun.

"If it's not fun for me, it can't be fun for the kids," she said.

The "kids" are members of the chorus. "LAST WEEK, they sang at Tweeny's and had the time of their life," she said. "The customers were just enchanted with them, too."

Although the chorus is a bona fide performing group that sings regularly for the greater community, it's rather an open opportunity for young people to enjoy music.

"Anybody 9 years and up is welcome. All that's necessary is that they must love to sing."

Diminutive Euni Rose started the chorus more than two years ago under auspices of the Southfield Department of Parks and Recreation.

RECENTLY the youngsters have performed at the Southfield Public Library and at Northland Center, in addition to Tweeny's.

Each week, they meet for rehearsal for one hour at the Parks and Recreation Building. "We really whip through a lot of material in an hour, but I'm a relaxed person, so we have fun doing it."

"We do show tunes, folk tunes, pop tunes, all sorts of selections definitely geared to performing. And they're learning to move as they sing, an extra they won't get in school."

The extras stem from Euni Rose's many years as a trouper. As the Tracey Twins, she and her sister were on the road, crossing the country time and again.

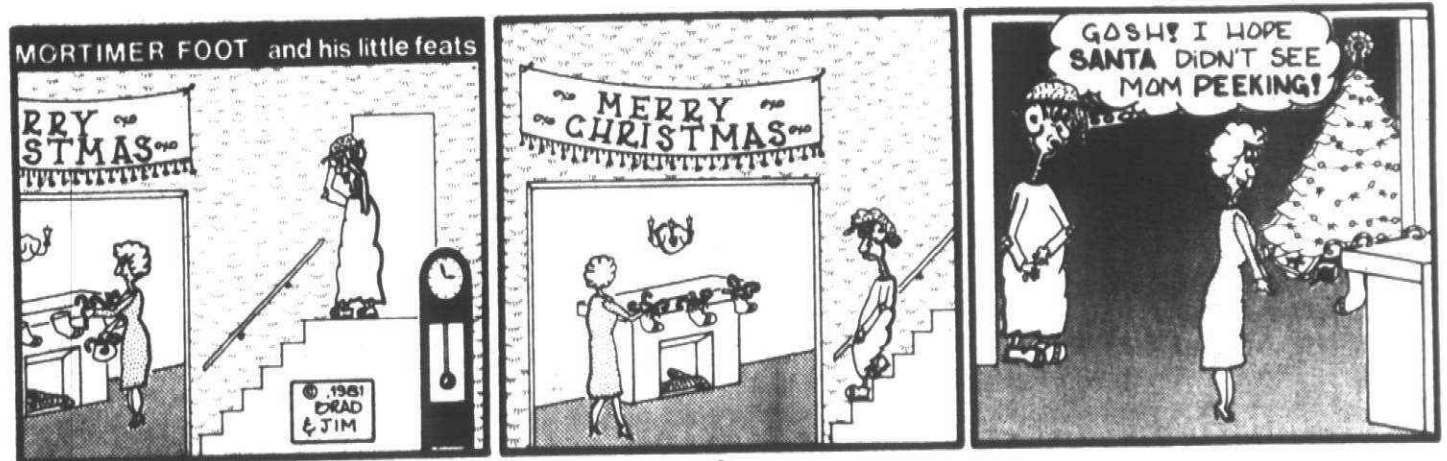

Mrs. Rose came off the road, met her future husband, Cantor Norman Rose, and settled down more than 20 years ago.

Friends "fixed them up" but Mrs. Rose recalled "He wasn't going to marry a show biz broad, and I wasn't going to marry a cantor." But they did.

SINCE MARRIAGE and becoming the mother of Heidi, now grown, Mrs. Rose has always used music to carve a niche for herself in the communities in which they've lived. "My husband always told me to sing and to teach, so I did."

Right now, one of the gifts she'd like is some new voices to blend with the others in her chorus. And if they are boys voices, well, that would be a bonus.

Anyone with a child 9 years old or more who likes to sing can wrap up a lifetime gift by calling the Southfield Parks and Recreation department for information.

Leukemia group receives state charter

The Western Wayne County Chapter of the Michigan Children's Leukemia Foundation received its charter Thursday evening. Prime movers in forming the chapter were Jake and Mary Dingeldey of Canton Township.

"Our biggest goal is to raise funds for research," said Mary Dingeldey. "Five years ago, they didn't have the know-how to perform the bone-marrow transplant that I had. We had so much help from the Michigan Foundation that we want to put some back in."

Chester Flam, president of the state organization, presented the charter to Frank Chakrebarty, president of the new chapter. Working with Chakrebarty are Joyce Chumbly, treasurer; Margie Barnett, secretary; and Fran Hopkins, membership chairwoman.

The chapter covers an area from Northville, on the north, to Flat Rock, on the south.

Thirty-one charter members attended the dinner meeting in the Roman Forum Restaurant in Canton. There also were eight prospective members in attendance. Persons interested in joining the group can call 495-0509.

The Leukemia Foundation covers all kinds of blood diseases — aplastic anemia, Hodgson's Disease, and all types of Hodgson's.

The Western Wayne County chapter will serve as a center to dispense help for families and persons with blood diseases. It will give direction to those requiring financial aid, supplies and counseling by calling 459-0509.

Jake and Mary Dingeldey were so grateful for the help they received during Mary's successful battle with leukemia, they helped organize a new chapter of the Children's Leukemia Foundation.

SIGN OF the season:

Yellow school buses packed with teen-agers leaving the Plymouth Cultural Center parking lot on a Friday evening.

The skiing season is here, and the kids are off to Mt. Brighton. They are members of the ski club sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Continuing Education Department. Bill Heath, who teaches at East Middle School, is their leader. Ten regular chaperones also are in attendance.

The 245 junior- and senior-high-school students who made the 30-mile trip Dec. 11 reported excellent skiing conditions. Their 202 pairs of skis were transported to Mt. Brighton in a van. Conditions were "almost excellent" for the 180 students who went the next day.

The ski club, now in its 15th year, is an excellent opportunity for youngsters who live in a flatish area of southern Michigan. Thanks to below-freezing temperatures and snow-making machines, skiing is available within a reasonable distance.

Membership in the ski club costs $47. For this amount students get 20 trips each season, lift tickets for three trips, and a skiing lesson on each trip. Once the three free lift tickets are used, lift tickets are $7.50 per trip.

CELIA STUART, 4-H Club member from Plymouth, was among 600 delegates attending the recent Michigan Conference on Children and Youth. Participants from all over the state met at Cobo Hall for day of discussing and recommending priorities for legislative action.

Some of the topics were child welfare, child development, education, juvenile justice, youth employment and health. The conference was organized by the Department of Social Service.

IT TAKES SOME pretty fancy footwork to out-stepdance the native Irish on their own turf. Tim O'Hare of Canton Township has competed six times in dance competitions in Dublin. He won first prize for two years in a row.

At 20, Tim is a student at Eastern Michigan University, where he is majoring in journalism. He is a member of the EMU track team in the high hurdles. He teaches Irish dancing at a studio in Toledo and also at a Plymouth studio.

Tim started taking dance lessons when he was 5. He opened his own studio 2½ years ago. He had to wait until he was 20 and had been teaching for two years before his students were eligible to try out for the Irish competition.

Tryouts this year were Thanksgiving weekend in Cleveland. Tim entered 16 of his students in a dance-drama presentation. All qualified for the Dublin competition. Twelve of his 14 solo dancers qualified.

The Dublin dance competition is an annual event during Easter week. Schools of Irish dance arrange benefits and fund-raisers to pay for the trip to Dublin. Each school has a distinctive costume. Tim designed the "uniform" for his students.

The O'Hares are a dancing family. His sister Colleen Anderson teaches Irish dancing on the east side of Detroit. Younger brother Sean has qualified for the Dublin competition.

Although Tim has some 4-year-olds in his classes, he considers 5 the ideal age to begin instruction. Students at his local studio are from the surrounding areas — Canton, Plymouth, Farmington Hills, Milford. Classes are on Sunday with extra rehearsals when they are preparing for a show or competition.

Tim maintains a very busy, busy schedule and consequently is a very elusive young man to track down. Parents can call his home, 455-8965, for information.

MIKE PRCHLI, a junior at Hillsdale College, has been elected president of the Sigma Chi Fraternity at Hillsdale.

Mike is a graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Prehlik of Murray Hill Drive in Canton Township.

RUTH JACOBS reminds holiday shoppers that the Plymouth Historical Museum gift shop has lovely gifts and stocking stuffers, many of them made by hand. Museum is open from 1 to 4 p.m. Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. The pineapple wall sconces are new.

Group helps women cope with breast surgery

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

To Dr. Michael Lodish, the safest treatment for breast cancer is a modified radical mastectomy. That means removal of the breast and the lymph nodes.

The surgeon visited recently with members of Encore, a post-mastectomy rehabilitation group sponsored by the YWCA of Western Wayne County, to talk about alternatives in treating the disease.

Despite recent surveys indicating that less drastic measures might sometimes be in order, Dr. Lodish said he favors the surgical approach because breast cancer is a "multi-centric" disease.

"It might be in many places in the breast," he explained.

However, he noted that if a small tumor is found, the woman might not have to undergo breast surgery.

"The alternative may be to treat her with external radiation and a partial resectioning of the breast," he said. He added that long-term studies are being done now on the survival rate of the two methods. Early reports indicate equal results when tumors under two centimeters in size are involved.

"But until they prove for certain that radiation and resectioning work, I'll favor modified radical mastectomy," he said.

THE ENCORE, who practices at Detroit, GARDEN City and Botsford osteopathic hospitals, is one of a number of breast cancer authorities who have addressed weekly meetings of Encore. The organization has a morning and evening group.

The morning members collect for exercise and talk 9-11:30 a.m. at Forum Health Spa, 34250 Ford Road in Westland. The evening group meets 7-9 p.m. Thursdays at Schoolcraft College. Its members have the opportunity to exercise in the Schoolcraft pool. Floor exercises are also included.

The fee is $2 per session. A doctor's permission is needed to participate. For more information about the organization, call Leslie Frederick at the YWCA, 561-4110.

One of the ideas behind Encore is to get muscles back in shape by gentle exercise in and out of water. They are designed to strengthen the affected arm as a part of total body fitness.

THE ENCORE rehabilitation program was developed in 1972 by a registered nurse, Helen Glines Kohut, a swimming and ballet instructor who is also a mastectomee.

But exercise is only part of the thrust of this supportive organization.

"It is nice to talk to someone who had the same thing," said Della Neuman of Livonia at a meeting in the physical education building at Schoolcraft College prior to the Lodish speech.

"You also learn things from our speakers. I've had a recurrence of cancer in my hip bone, so I can't do the exercises. So I come for the support and the friends I've made."

Sharon Morris of Westland was so impressed with the exercises that got her arm moving again after surgery that she paid her way to Pittsburgh to learn to be an Encore exercise trainer.

"When you go through an experience like breast surgery you feel mutilated, not as much of a woman as you were," she said. "But as you talk about it, you feel better about yourself. The women are very supportive."

She explained that moving the arm is difficult after surgery because "they disturb the pectoral muscles, the lymph nodes and the muscles under the arm. The arm is stiff and it hurts to move it. It is easier to move it in water."

Addie Strong of Detroit pointed out that "after the trauma of the mastectomy, you need all the support you can get. Encore helped me to get myself back together."

DR. LODISH, who studied for three years at the Sloan Kettering Memorial Cancer Institute in New York City, indicated to his audience that 37,000 women die each year from breast cancer.

The group recently demonstrated community spirit when they donated $1,000 to the schools' clothing bank for the purchase of shoes for needy families; $2,000 to the Plymouth Goodfellows; $1,000 to the Michigan Association of Nursing Home Councils; and $1,000 toward a roof over the lot next to the temple.

Music reviewers acclaim Jabara's solo performance

The Pasadena (Calif.) Chamber Orchestra opened its fifth season with Martin Jabara, percussionist, receiving glowing reviews from music critics. Martin is the son of Jean and James Jabara of Plymouth.

Robert Kenneth Duerr, founder and conductor of PCO, usually programs a contemporary work by a local "composer on the rise." For the season opener, he offered Boris Pillin's Concerto for Percussion and Strings — a premier performance. It was this selection which captured the reviewers' attention.

Richard Stiles, music critic for the Pasadena Star News, wrote that the concerto was "the big hit of Tuesday's concert."

He noted, "The mobility and concentration displayed by Jabara during his frenetic tour de force solo gave Pellin's concerto an added visual impact. The audience was buzzing with delight and amazement between movements and into the intermission."

Terry McQuilip of the Los Angeles Times wrote: "Percussionist Martin Jabara negotiated the instrumental acrobatics with athletic vim and virtuosic flair."

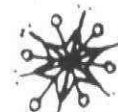

Jabara is a graduate of Plymouth High School and the University of Southern California School of Music. He is timpanist with the PCO and has played with the Pasadena Symphony. He is also an accomplished jazz pianist.

Salem grapplers trip Trenton in showdown

Plymouth Salem's wrestling team served notice that it plans to regain its Suburban Eight League title after whipping defending champion Trenton Thursday night, 47-13.

The Rocks put it all together against the host Trojans, looking more like the 1979-80 league championship outfit.

"We went at Trenton as tough as we could go," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "We went with the best our (wrestling) room could put out there."

Krueger expected a much closer outcome, but his talented Rocks proved they're now the team to beat in the league.

"A full team makes a difference," he said. "Some of our guys went down (in weight) for the big meet. When we wrestled at Glenn (invitational), we had only 10 healthy kids."

Beaudoins lead way

Although the meet was out of reach when he wrestled, Salem heavyweight Marty Piper remained unbeaten with a pin of Brian McCall in 2:38.

The Rocks won the final nine matches, four by pins.

Salem's John Beaudoin (138) "won the match of the night," according to Krueger, when he decisioned Jeff Owens, who placed in last year's state meet, 7-5.

OTHER SALEM wrestling scoring victories were Bill Hall (105 pounds), who pinned Don Perez in just 57 seconds; Rob McDonald (126) decisioned Mike Polander, 6-2; Dave Leist (132) won by default over Jeff Gibbons (broken finger); Randy Beaudoin decisioned Pat Kerley, 7-0; Jay Roberts (167) pinned Eric Anderson, 5:47; Scott Wickens (185) decisioned Eugene Gilliam, 11-4; and Tom Walkley (198) pinned Mike Petrimoult, 3:59.

In a close match, Trenton's Mike Budziak (112) downed Mike Doumainian, 8-6.

Belleville now appears to be Salem's other challenger for Suburban Eight honors. Trenton, however, seems to be out of the way.

Belleville falls in Sub 8 clash

Rock offense perks up, 66-51

By Jay Keenan
special writer

Plymouth Salem's size and strength paid off Thursday night as the Rocks pierced Belleville, 66-51, in a Suburban Eight League basketball game.

Salem, which doesn't have an incredible amount of quickness, used its height advantage to help deal with the relatively fleet Belleville quintet.

"We're not that quick but we have size and we are strong," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, who stands 6-foot-8 himself. "They (Belleville) have some quick players, but we were able to contain them."

The Rocks, who average over six feet (all players on the roster), appeared to show signs of light on offense. Thomann's crew seemed to capitalize on its scoring opportunities.

"The kids hit the open player and they took the shots when they were there," said the Salem coach. "We scored more because we looked to score more. We didn't do that in our first two games."

"Before, we looked to pass. It usually takes awhile for a team to get things going at the start of the season. The kids played well tonight against Belleville and they have a good team. Our perimeter shooting was good."

ONCE AGAIN, the Rocks also showed that they have a superior amount of depth. The reserves did a yeoman's job of coming off the bench.

Senior tri-captain Mike McBride, using his deadly long-range shooting, led all scorers with 18 points. John Cohen, who did not start, followed with 16 and another reserve, Rick Berberet, a 6-5 sophomore, pipped in nine. Dave Houle added eight.

Reggie Grantham tallied 16 to lead Belleville. Sam Villa chipped in with 10.

Salem jumped out to a 10-0 lead midway through the opening period behind some stellar shooting, but the Tigers came storming back, narrowing the gap to 10-9 with 2:21 left.

The Rocks, however, stymied Belleville for the remainder of the quarter, increasing their lead to 16-11 as McBride had eight points.

The Tigers, who had a hard time driving inside against Salem's tall front line, tried to make another run at the Rocks in the second quarter. They pulled within one point, 16-15 with 7:21 showing on the clock.

THANKS to some aggressive rebounding and hard-nosed man-to-man defense, Salem was able to enjoy a 10-point halftime advantage, 35-25, as Cohen, a 6-3 junior forward, drilled in 10 second-quarter points.

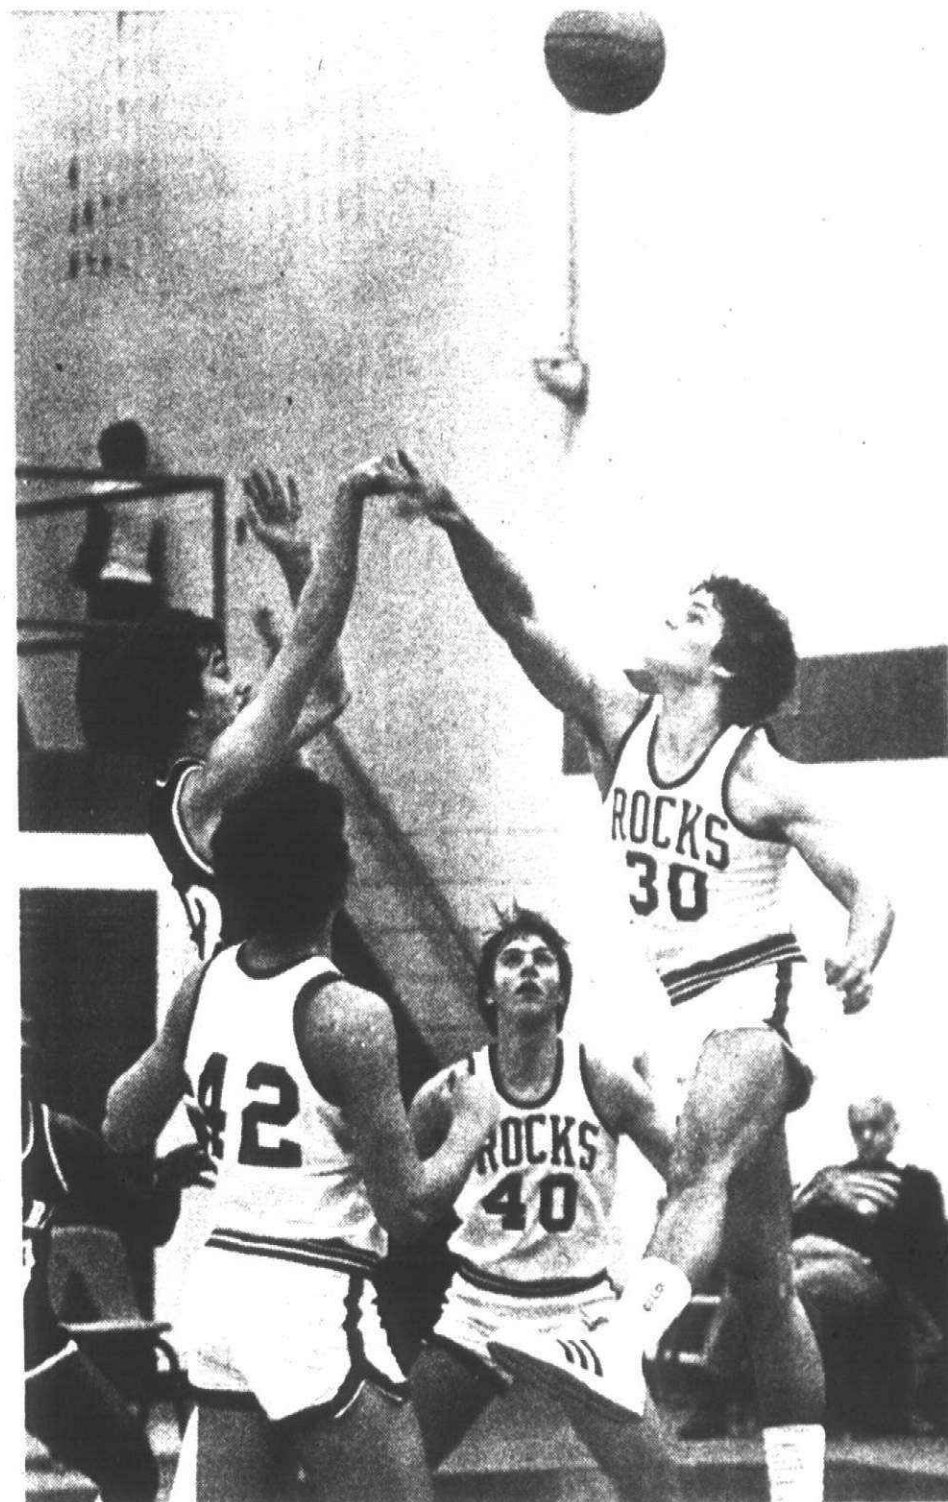

"What we wanted to do was keep them out on the perimeter and not let them get the offensive rebound," said Thomann. "We figured if we allowed Belleville just one shot per opportunity, we'd be in good shape."

The Rocks continued their assault in the third quarter and held onto their lead, 50-40. Belleville was unable to cut the lead in the final quarter as Salem outscored the visitors, 16-11.

Canton wrestlers win close call

The television cameras were nowhere to be found, but there was plenty of instant replay.

Defending champ Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western returned to the mats for another Western Six League wrestling showdown last Wednesday.

And for the second straight year Canton won the game by one point, 34-33.

"They're as fine a team we'll face in the Western Six," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "Last year we won 31-30."

"It was an emotional match and a big win for the kids. We made a lot of mistakes but got enough to get by.

"The strange thing was that so many of the same kids had wrestled each other before."

During last season's battle, Canton dominated the lower to middle-weight divisions and then held on."

Such was the case this year for the Chiefs.

Canton won the match when Don Page avoided being pinned by Craig McCallum at 185 pounds.

McCALLUM won the match decisively, 11-1, but needed the points given for a pin (six) to keep Western alive.

"That put it away," said Chrenko. "Don just did a great job. We did the same thing last year."

Western won the next two matches by pins, but fell painfully short by the one point.

Canton victories were scored when Chris Cifaldi (98 pounds) pinned Ron Swett in 42 seconds; Todd Bartlett (105) decisioned Rolf Hendrickson, 4-0; Todd Gattoni (112) pinned Jon Desjardin, 5:04; Brian Lee (132) decisioned Rob Wescott, 14-3; Brett Haarala (138) decisioned Tim Schuh, 8-5; Steve Hamblin (145) pinned Steve Burnham, 1:27; and Marty Heaton (155) pinned Todd Maher, 3:28.

Western's Dave Millitello (126), defending Western Six League champ, was impressive with a pin in 3:24 of Kevin Decker. The Warriors' Neil Fenzel (119) was also tough, decisioning Tim Collins, 15-3.

"This is the one we had to have," Chrenko added. "It's a great win for us because it gives us better seedings for the league meet."

Could it be another case of deja vu?

Chiefs falter in league opener

Farmington Harrison, defending Western Six League champions, capitalized from the free throw line to score a 62-54 basketball win Friday over Plymouth Canton.

The Hawks, now 5-1 overall, connected on 18 of 30 free throws, including 11 in the fourth quarter.

Canton, winless in four starts, hit 23 field goals to Harrison's 22 but the Chiefs collected 21 fouls to Harrison's 11.

"Free throws were the difference," said Canton's first-year coach Dave Van Wagoner. "I thought we defended their inside game real well, but their guards stepped up and hit the shots."

The Chiefs, who trailed 25-19 at the half, got as close as five points with just under five minutes to go. Harrison, however, was able to withstand the threat and posted the win in the league opener for both teams.

Steve Hollatz, a 6-foot-5 senior center, led Harrison with 15 points. Mike Turnquist added 10 points, 12 rebounds, five steals and five assists. Gus Kehagias also had 10.

basketball

TIM McFARLAND, getting his first start, paced Canton and all scorers with 16. Matt Thomas and Ron Rienas each added 10. Senior center Steve Tuttle had six points and 10 rebounds.

Thomas, a 6-2 senior forward, fouled out for the third straight game.

Despite the loss and a brutal schedule which includes rival Plymouth Salem tonight, Van Wagoner remains optimistic.

"We saw a lot of improvement," he said. "I think we have the lineup now we've been searching for. It's a step forward and I feel we can still be successful."

"We have to play better defense without fouling."

Van Wagoner was especially pleased with the performances of McFarland and Rienas, a pair of juniors.

"Tim plays the off-guard and is a good shooter," said the Canton coach. "Ron did an excellent job for us tonight."

Several high-touted women's tennis pros have finally responded and opened the door to the Detroit ring of "Avon calling."

The Junior League of Birmingham Inc., which annually brings the Avon women's pro tennis tour to Detroit, recently announced that U.S. Open champ Tracy Austin will make her first appearance at Cobo Arena.

The tournament, to be held Feb. 1-7, will feature 32 of the world's top players including defending champ Leslie Allen, Andrea Jaeger and Hana Mandlikova.

Austin is the youngest athlete — male or female — to earn $1 million, reaching that mark in career earnings last year at the age of 17. She is currently the world's No. 2 ranked women's player.

She opened the 1981 season by winning Colgate Series Championships title in January, but missed the next five months because of a back injury and hamstring pull. Austin rebounded by winning the Eastbourne (England), Canadian, U.S. and Wells Fargo opens.

Allen won her first major tournament last year in Detroit and qualified for the Avon Championships of New York in March where she placed fifth.

On the summer tour she reached the round of 16 at the French Open and third round at Wimbledon, climbing all the way to No. 17 on the international computer by August.

The 24-year-old Allen is a Magna Cum Laude graduate from Southern Cal.

Jaeger was a finalist last year in the Avon Championship finals.

The 5-foot-2 teenager also won this year's U.S. Clay Courts and was a French Open semifinalist. She holds 13 national titles and is an honor student at Stevenson High School in Lincolnshire, Ill.

Mandlikova, another teenager, won the French

Open and Volvo Cup. She also reached the final at Wimbledon before losing to Chris Evert-Lloyd. The native of Czechoslovakia banked over $250,000 by August as part of her 1981 earnings.

Tickets for the Avon Championships of Detroit may be ordered by mail from TENNIS, 123 W. Brown, Birmingham 48011. Tickets for Monday through Thursday are priced at $5. Weekend prices range from $4 to $12.

Neighborhood swim duel won by Plymouth Salem

Divers are specialists who usually go unrecognized during prep swim duels. They usually don't win or lose meets.

But Thursday's pool match-up between neighbors Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton took a special twist.

"Our divers," said victorious Salem coach Chuck Olson. "They were probably the biggest single difference because we outscored them 12-4 in that event."

Salem won its third straight since the series began with a narrow 91-80 triumph over the Chiefs before a large and enthusiastic gathering at Salem.

The Rocks clinched the win with a first and third place finish in the final event — the 400-yard freestyle relay.

The team of Tim Harwood, Mark Roehrig, John Thompson and Shaffer won the event in 3:32.92.

"That race was a big one," said Olson, "it was an exciting way to end the meet."

But Olson buzzed about his diver's performance, especially senior Joe Rudelic, who set a school and Salem pool record with 287.2 points.

"We've had some pretty good divers around here," said the Salem coach. "287 points for six dives is pretty darn good."

"We took first, second (Todd Riedel) and fourth (John Henry). That was really what we needed."

CANTON, which suffered its first dual meet loss of the year, had a pair of double winners.

The Chiefs' Pete Stern won the 50 and 100 freestyles with times of 23.35 and 51.17, respectively. Teammate John Simone was victorious in the 200 and 500 yard freestyles with times of 1:53.06 and 5:12.11, respectively.

Salem's double victor was senior standout Russ Shaffer, who captured the 200 individual medley (2:09.85) and 100 backstroke (1:01.16).

Canton's foursome of Bob Simrak, Ron Hurley, Stern and Ron Hurley won the 200 medley relay in 1:46.56. Luce also won the 100 breaststroke in 1:06.74.

Jeff Kleinsmith was Salem's other individual winner. He hit the wall first in the 100 butterfly with a time of 57.20.

"There were no surprises on either side. It was the best meet for Canton in a long time," said Olson. "It's too bad someone had to lose because they swam well."

Salem's Russ Shaffer swims the breaststroke leg of the 200 yard individual medley, an event he won. He also won the 100 backstroke as the Rocks edged rival Plymouth Canton, 91-80, in a dual meet Thursday night.

Seniors celebrate 40th birthday

Come Christmas morning, the senior bowlers will be celebrating the 40th anniversary of league competition. And it all started at Livonia Lanes.

On that Christmas morning 40 years ago, the late Clarence Hoffman, then a partner in the bowling establishment, was watching the bowlers enjoying themselves, and he got to thinking, "I wonder if they (the senior citizens) would like to watch the bowlers having fun."

He called the seniors' club room not too far away, and they gladly accepted the invitation. They came. They saw. They were conquered. Some of them tried the trick of knocking over the pins. It was real fun. So much so that in two weeks they had organized several teams. It was not long until they had a league — and before the season was over they were traveling to other bowling houses that had followed the lead of Livonia Lanes.

Now, the senior citizens leagues are an integral part of bowling.

CHERYL JAHODAK bowled one of the oddest series of the season and one she will remember for a long time. Taking her turn in the Happy Hookers League at Super Bowl, the opened with 163, then followed with another 163. Then, faced with the chance to post a triplicate, she hit the pocket for 278 and a 604 series.

"What a way to spoil a triplicate," was her only comment.

An amazing feat was turned in by the Meade brothers, Duane and Frank. Bowling in the Saturday-morning league at the Super Bowl in Canton, Duane, 14, hit nine strikes in a row and finished with a 261.

Frank, 17, knocked off eight strikes in a row and fashioned a fine 691 series. Frank carries a 186 average.

TODD HOWES had his name posted with the winners on the Parks and Recreation honor roll at Merri-Bowl Lanes. Only 16 years old, he turned in a 234 game and followed with a 187 for 421 to gain the honor.

Thurston cagers take league lead after Glenn win

Tim Fredericks, silent for the first half, exploded for 19 second-half points, including 13 in the final quarter, to lead Redford Thurston to its fifth-straight triumph, 54-44, over Westland John Glenn Friday at Glenn.

Glenn, which saw its record dip to 1-3, battled Thurston for three quarters before succumbing in the fourth. Fouls plagued the Rockets, as Rick Wilson, who limited Fredericks to just two first-half points, drew his fourth personal in the third quarter and fouled out midway in the fourth.

Thurston trailed by six at the half but rallied in the third quarter to take a 36-33 lead. Fredericks' fourth quarter iced it for the Eagles.

The 6-foot-3 pivotman finished with 21 points and 16 rebounds. Rich Biskner added 14 points and eight rebounds, and Jim Sibel had six points and 14 rebounds.

Blevins takes charge for Ocelot '5'

Schoolcraft College jumped out to a nine-point halftime advantage Wednesday as the Ocelots corralled Mott Community College of Flint 83-74.

Phil Blevins, a 6-foot-7 forward, paced Schoolcraft with 22 points and 13 rebounds. Pete Kennedy added 18 points and eight rebounds and Mike Frazier had 10 points and five boards.

The winners jumped out to a 41-32 halftime advantage and maintained that lead the rest of the way.

Schoolcraft, coached by Rocky Watkins, is now 4-1 in MCCA Eastern Conference play (not including Saturday's game with Alpena). The Ocelots are 6-2 overall. Mott dropped to 3-2 in league play and 9-6 overall.

A four-team Christmas tournament will get underway tonight at 6 p.m. at the Schoolcraft College gymnasium. Washtenaw will meet Orchard Lake St. Mary's in the opener followed by the Schoolcraft-St. Clair CC match-up at 8.

The consolation and championship games will be played at 6 and 8 p.m. tomorrow.

SCHOOLCRAFT 66
DELTA CC 58 (OT)

Blevins, a second-year player from Detroit Central, led all scorers with 26 points, including 18 straight in the second half, to give the Ocelots a hard-fought 66-58 triumph over Delta in a league game played Dec. 12 at Schoolcraft.

Delta's James Odneal hit a 40-foot shot at the buzzer to send the game into overtime.

The score was tied 26 times with Delta leading at intermission, 36-35.

Kennedy took over in the overtime for the Ocelots, grabbing six rebounds as Schoolcraft outscored the visitors 10-2. He finished the night with 16 points and 15 rebounds.

Paul Crane led Delta with 12 points. Ronald Reed and Odneal each had 11.

Blevins, second in scoring in a MCCA Eastern Conference with a 24.9 average, hit 10 of 10 from the free throw line and grabbed eight rebounds.

IN A GAME played Dec. 9, Oakland Community College became only the third team in two seasons to win in the Ocelots' gym. OCC edged Schoolcraft 75-72.

The Ocelots led the Raiders 43-39 at the half, but couldn't hold on for the victory in a game that was tied 17 times.

West Bloomfield grad Tom D'Agostino and Allan Simpson dropped in 16 and 15, respectively, for the winners.

Blevins had 23 for Schoolcraft. Livonia Churchill grad Scott Conrad chipped in with 12.

O Tannenbaum! Your story has a checkered past

IF ESCALATING prices are causing you to bah humbug everything you need to purchase for holiday decorating, you might be surprised to find there is something in America that costs less than it did 150 years ago.

In 1830, an advertisement in the York Republican, a Pennsylvania newspaper, read:

Tickets will be sold for 6 1/4 cents, which will admit the bearers to the 'Christmas Tree' during the time it remains for exhibition.

Today, as every mother's child knows, it doesn't even cost a cent to see decorated Christmas trees during the holiday season everywhere in the land. But as late as 1840, the Christmas tree was still such a curiosity in America that people were willing to pay for the privilege of seeing one.

A FAMILIAR sight today, the Christmas tree grew slowly in America. In Massachusetts, the Puritans outlawed the celebration of Christmas for much of the 17th century. Banned in Boston, the Christmas tree first took root in Pennsylvania, transplanted by German immigrants to "Penn's Woodland" in the 18th century. The Pennsylvania "Dutch" (anglicized for "Deutsch," meaning German) tree was a small juniper lighted with tiny tapered candles and decorated with apples, nuts, strings of popcorn, cranberries and, most important of all, cookies.

These were no ordinary cookies. They were works of art. In fact, a few of these elaborately decorated cookie ornaments actually survived hungry children and can be seen today in American museums. Pennsylvania Dutch women cherished their cookie cutters and tried to save at least one design that was theirs alone, resulting in the creation of a dazzling variety of styles and shapes. When that new American character, Uncle Sam, came along in the 19th century, he too became a cookie.

WITH HIS arrival in Pennsylvania Dutch country, it was evident that the rest of America had reached these isolated farm people. In turn, their Christmas customs began to spread beyond the countryside to Philadelphia and on to the rest of America. In 1825, Philadelphia's Saturday Evening Post reported seeing "trees visible through the windows, where green boughs are laden with fruit richer than the golden apples of the Hesperides, or the sparkling diamonds that clustered on the branches in the wonderful cave of Aladdin." A best-selling children's book, "Kris Kringle's Christmas Tree," published in Philadelphia in 1845, introduced a Santa Claus figure and his Christmas tree to tots across the land.

German immigrants and influence carried the Christmas tree to all parts of the country, even Boston. In a widely read penny pamphlet, anti-slavery champion Harriet Martineau described the tree that Charles Follen, a Harvard professor of German, had decorated for his son in 1832. She concluded with a prediction that might have shocked the Puritans: "I have little doubt the Christmas tree will become one of the most flourishing exotics of New England."

To the south in Vicksburg, Miss., a niece of Jefferson Davis, Mahala Eggleston Roach, in 1851 created a tree for her children from her imagination.

"I never saw one," she wrote, "but learned from some of the German stories I had been reading."

BOTANIST WILLIAM Brewer reported from California in 1862 that in San Francisco, despite the lack of Christmas snow, "Christmas trees are the fashion." From its first planting in a Pennsylvania community fertile with tradition, the Christmas tree had spread its branches from coast to coast.

Two popular magazines, Harper's Weekly and Godey's Lady's Book, gave the Christmas tree a further boost. The December 1850 cover of The Lady's Book was an Americanized version of a picture from the Illustrated London News of Queen Victoria, Prince Albert and the royal family around their Christmas tree at Windsor Castle. The editor had removed both the queen's coronet and the prince's royal insignia and sash. Mysteriously, she had also removed his moustache. Nevertheless, the little Christmas tree's royal connection impressed fashion-conscious Victorians.

The Christmas tree of a well-to-do Victorian family, a symmetrical fir, was a miniature world of tiny houses, ships, animals, furniture, flowers, fruits, flags, dolls, drums and sugar plums. The introduction of America of store-bought ornaments made all of this splendor possible. Commercial importation to the United States of German-made ornaments began as early as 1869. In that year, Harper's Bazaar described the "globes, fruits and flowers of colored glass, bright tin reflectors, and innumerable grotesque figures suspended by a rubber string. Bismark leaping up Napoleon's shoulders."

IN 1871, a New York glassmaker, William De Muth, produced the first American-made silvered glass balls. The number and diversity of tin, wax, cardboard, candy and glass Christmas whimsies available by 1890 must have astonished even dedicated consumers like the Victorians. A four-inch silver ocean liner had several hundred portholes, all its lifeboats and tiny cotton puffs of smoke rising from four smokestacks. But despite the plenty of this Christmas contrivance, the average American family at the turn of the century still relied primarily on popcorn, cranberries, sweets and homemade ornaments to decorate its tree.

Universal acceptance of the Christmas tree, however, was not yet at hand. In 1883, a New York Times editor predicted that the Christmas tree, "a rootless and lifeless corpse," would soon disappear and that a return to the good old Christmas stocking of his childhood was imminent. Even the Times could be wrong. Not only did the Christmas tree grow in popularity, it grew in size. The floor-to-ceiling tree was an American innovation.

The Christmas tree grew in status as well. It has been reported that Franklin Pierce introduced the Christmas tree to the White House in 1856. Actually, Andrew Jackson had, for an 1835 White House Christmas party, a "small frosted pine tree with toy animals around it" — one of his French chef's famous ices.

During Theodore Roosevelt's occupancy of the White House, the Christmas tree came out of the closet. Teddy had put it there, fearing that the annual cutting of so many evergreens would deplete American forests. The ardent conservationist decreed there would be no White House Christmas tree. Like the New York Times, Theodore Roosevelt could be wrong. The day after Christmas 1902, he revealed in a letter:

Today we can't fathom Christmas without the time coming of age, thanks to disapproval of groups ranging from Puritans to conservationists.

"So their mother and I got up, shut the window, lit the fire, taking down the stockings, of course, put on our wrappers, and prepared to admit the children. But first there was a surprise for me, also for their good mother, for Archie had a little Christmas tree of his own, which he had rigged up with the help of one of the carpenters in a big closet; and we all had to look at the tree and each of us got a present off of it."

OFFICIALLY, THE White House continued to declare each year that there would be no presidential Christmas tree. Unofficially, the president allowed his son Archie to have a small tree in his own room, having been reassured by Gifford Pinchot, the foremost conservationist in the country, that proper cutting would not be harmful to forests.

Conservationists continued to point to the dangers of denuding the roadsides and rural landscape and urged Christmas tree cultivation. At Hyde Park in the 1930s, President Franklin D. Roosevelt became America's most famous Christmas-tree farmer.

The Christmas tree tradition has long since been re-established in the White House. This year, first lady Nancy Reagan requested an "old-fashioned American Christmas tree." So the tree will feature shiny glass balls, handmade paper animals and flowers, strings of popcorn and will stand in its familiar spot in the Blue Room.

The tree will also have something old, something new and something borrowed. The ornaments from the White House collection, including 100 balls with the names of individual states on them, will be dusted off and refurbished by volunteers and staff members. Santa's White House helpers also will make lace and ribbon-decorated foil paper cones and tiny reed baskets filled with herbs and potpourri. To insure that the tree will be properly old-fashioned, the Museum of American Folk Art in New York City is loaning the White House 200 ornaments from the 19th and 20th centuries.

The Smithsonian Institution's annual exhibit of 12 "Trees of Christmas" has been decorated with thousands of handmade ornaments by the Smithsonian's Office of Horticulture and 400 volunteers.

And while it may cost more to decorate trees today, at least at the Smithsonian, you can still view them free of charge.

What's new about celebrating the New Year? Nothing

QUAFFING A toast to the New Year, beating on a noisemaker and pondering resolutions have ancient roots.

Generations before us have made the same fuss over a new year.

Druids in old England gathered mistletoe from sacred trees to give as New Year's gifts.

The Scottish "first footed." After a midnight church service, Scottish homes were open to visitors, and it was said that a family's luck for the year would depend on who first crossed the threshold.

Dark-haired men were heartily welcomed. Women, redheads, beggars or persons with a squint portended bad luck. Homeowners even started paying dark-haired men to be there early.

A Russian custom had you beating the corners of your house with sticks to drive out Satan around the new year.

British farmers "wassailed" their apple trees by sprinkling them with cider and singing a song for a good crop in the coming year.

THE ANCIENT kings of Babylon were stripped of royal robes, were made to kneel and had their ears boxed and their noses tweaked by high priests as part of the official New Year's festival.

At New Year's Eve parties in Derbyshire, England, guests forested for a ring in a "posset" pot. To foretell who would marry during the following year, the hostess dropped her wedding ring into the pot of hot spiced milk and wine, and the singles tried to pick up with ring with each ladleful of the beverage. If the guest succeeded, it was an omen that he would wed that year.

Gift giving, visiting friends, driving out evil and foretelling events of the coming year are but a few New Year's customs that have been carried on through the ages. New Year's is one holiday that just about everyone around the world, westerners and easterners, celebrate in some fashion on some set date, says Shirley Cherkasky, who has researched holiday celebrations for the Smithsonian's Division of Performing Arts.

New Year's is as old as the hills. Recorded history shows that, for more than 5,000 years people have had some way of recognizing the beginning of a new year. In support of the time-honored concept of annual rebirth or renewal, rituals and celebrations have been the order of the day.

THE DAY, however, has not always been observed on the first of January by many of the world's nations. In fact, the new year has been launched on Christmas, Easter, the autumnal equinox, the winter solstice and March 25 (around the time of the vernal equinox). March 25 seems to have been one of the most often celebrated dates because it was the time for sowing crops, the first step in the annual agricultural cycle.

The Romans apparently were the first in 153 BC to mark Jan. 1 as the beginning of the year. That was just one part of their numerous calendar reforms aimed at making man's schedule agree with nature's cycles. But it wasn't until the Gregorian calendar, the same one we use today, was instituted by Pope Gregory in 1582 that Jan. 1 began to gain wide acceptance. The day's proximity to the winter solstice, when the days begin to lengthen, made it a logical beginning.

All the haggling over the time of celebration, however, didn't make the need or reason for New Year's events any less significant. The rites of New Year's have long helped people make it through the coming year in the best possible way — whether it was winning out over evil, producing a good crop or avoiding a death in the family.

SCHOLARS HAVE tried to pinpoint the common elements of early New Year's celebrations around the world, and they've determined that the things we do today to celebrate actually seem to have started in the past.

It has been suggested that the excessive drinking associated with some New Year's Eve parties is a relic of the deliberate disruption and chaos practiced by primitive peoples at the end of each year. If things weren't topsy-turvy, how could they make a fresh start at the beginning of a new year?

Today's New Year's Day football contests on the playing field could be a modern-day remnant of another ancient practice — that of cleansing or purifying through sacrifice, confession or ritual combat between good and evil.

Cleansing gave one a chance for a brand new start. Spring housecleaning appears to be a relic of purification, which used to take place before the beginning of the year.

The din and racket we now think we're making just for fun and celebration — the blowing of party horns, the tooting of car horns, the ringing of bells, the banging of pots and pans and, in some places, the firing of guns, was originally meant to scare away low and evil spirits.

Making a good start in the new year by resolving to change something or turn over a new leaf has been part of New Year's plans for ages. Watching today's New Year's resolutions fall by the wayside as the year progresses doesn't mean it was all for naught.

And to Babylonians, the public humiliation and subsequent reinstatement of the king meant a new beginning for him, even if it did reduce him to having his nose tweaked and his ears boxed.

The culmination of the festivities, it is thought, was the celebration of a new birth with feasts and the restoration of order. Even the ancient Greeks carried a baby around in a basket as a symbol of the new year long before we ever thought of parading a young one with the year printed on his diaper.

This New Year's Eve as the gray, decrepit man representing the old year staggers out your door and the bright-eyed baby, the new year, bounces in, take a moment to reflect. As you stare into the punch bowl and review the past 365 days, look to the future. In 1,000 years, others might be staring into a punch bowl, wondering how people celebrated a new year in the 1980s.

'Taps' looks good, but tune is off-key

"Taps" (PG) opens with a religious service and closes with a military dress parade. In each of these ceremonies, the movie excels in capturing the color, pageantry and ritual fundamental of the traditions of the military academy that is its central image.

No one could fault the director, cinematographer or art director for the visual appearance of the movie. That's its best feature. The props, costumes and settings (filming was at the Valley Forge Military Academy and Junior College in Pennsylvania) all convey the sense of a rich heritage, one worth fighting for.

That is just what the students do. They take over the academy in order to save it from land developers who would raze the buildings and put up condominiums.

However, there is little else to say in praise of "Taps." The movie is a muddled mess with loopholes big enough to drive a tank through them.

For one thing the tone of the movie and the position of the students are ambiguous. Initially, there are a few indications that this might be a comedy, or at least a light-hearted drama that has the audience cheering for students fighting off the big, bad land developers.

SUDDENLY, everything gets serious and, by the end of the film, the cadets begin to look like the kind of military leaders who stage coups and don't answer to any civilian authority.

All this develops while the cadets hold the National Guard at bay. The governor's forces are at the gates of the school and the boys, ages 12 to 18, are patrolling the perimeter and preparing for a siege.

Where is the faculty? The staff? There is no sign of anyone on the grounds except the students. How do they expect to get credit for attending the academy if there are no classes to attend and no teachers to teach them? What good is it to occupy the place?

There are just a few questions that leave one gasping at the absence of all logic, or just plain common sense, in the cadet's actions.

TIMOTHY HUTTON plays the cadet major, the ranking cadet who instigates and guides this revolt of the right. Hutton won an Oscar for his supporting role in "Ordinary People," but he isn't going to win anything for this performance.

He is miscast as the student leader. Hutton never gives the impression of an individual suited for that position. He looks sensitive, not strong or authoritative.

George C. Scott appears as the academy's commander, and he does, indeed, command our attention whenever he is on screen. However, it is not a role that challenges or stretches him. Essentially we get Scott playing "General Patton in Retirement."

"Taps" was based on a novel, "Father Sky," by Devery Freeman. Even to a person who has not read the book, it seems that a lot was lost in the transition from printed page to movie screen.

Timothy Hutton, at the radio, leads his fellow cadets in defense of their military academy. Other cadets include Billy Van Zandt, Sean Penn, Brendan Ward, Evan Handler and Giancarlo Esposito.

The organizing struggles of the International Workers of the World, the United States' entry into World War I, the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917 and the emergence of the Communist Party in the United States provide the matrix within which the turbulent love affair of John "Jack" Reed (Warren Beatty) and Louise Bryant (Diane Keaton) takes place.

ROLLOVER (R). In this thriller, Jane Fonda is a widow trying to run her husband's financial empire, and Kris Kristofferson is a troubleshooter who helps her tackle international opponents.

SHARKY'S MACHINE (R). Burt Reynolds is Tom Sharky, an undercover cop assigned to the vice squad, which he turns into his own "machine."

Go-Go's going with the Police

By Nick Charles
special writer

Every once in a while we all have to escape.

On Jan. 30 at Cobo Hall one of the newest and most energetic bands, the all-female Go-Go's, will help us do just that as they welcome us to the world of all-night beach parties.

The pop music of the Go-Go's, the opening act for the Police, reminds the listener of convertibles and soda shops. This band has captured a magical freedom in its notes.

In the past, all-girl bands were considered by some as nothing short of a joke.

BUT WE are now in the '80s, and female talent practically is taking over the rock scene.

This Los Angeles-based group consists of lead guitarist Charlotte Caffey, drummer Gina Schock, vocalist Belinda Carlisle, rhythm guitarist Jane Wiedlin and bassist Kathy Valentine.

The Go-Go's have just released their first album, with 11 squeaky-clean tunes that bounce out at the listener.

The band's innocence and unpretentious sound is reminiscent of the light music of the '60s. Songs like "Our Lips Are Sealed" and "We Got the Beat" bring back the carefree fun of the Monkees and even the old Beatles movies.

It's music by which to park your gum behind your ear, pull up your ankle socks and rock along.

After the Go-Go's get listeners' hearts beating, the audience will be ready for three British lads commonly known as the Police.

THE POLICE, whose most recent album is their fourth, exploded on the American music scene in 1979 with their reggae rock.

Their first album gave birth to two hits, the unending "Can't Stand Losing You" and the monster hit "Roxanne." The second album contained "Message in a Bottle," and the third LP brought us "Don't Stand So Close to Me" and "De Do Do Do, De Da Da Da."

All three Policemen are expert musicians.

But vocalist/bassist Sting carries the biggest billyclub. Sting, who also trained as an actor, appeared in The Who film "Quadrophenia" as the extremely cool Mod.

The rest of the Police squad is made up of guitarist Andy Summers and drummer Stewart Copeland.

Perhaps the band's rarest quality is its unending ability to create a better product. Since being recognized as a new force at Bookie's in March 1979, the band has made even better music while moving on to bigger halls.

The Go-Go's, (from left) Charlotte Caffey, Gina Schock, Belinda Carlisle, Jane Wiedlin and Kathy Valentine, will take squeaky-clean to new heights when they open for the Police.
