Emergencies prompt medical certification

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Fire Chief Mel Paulun's goal for 1982 is to have more Canton Township firefighters certified as Emergency Medical Technicians.

There currently are 29 Canton firefighters, 12 of whom are state-certified EMTs. A couple others in the department are waiting to be licensed, said Paulun.

"We would like to have 10 firefighters pick it up this year," said Paulun. "We're hoping for an instructor to come to the station to teach."

EMT training encompasses certain medical, rescue and first-aid subjects. State guidelines call for about 160 hours of instruction. Students are tested at the classroom level and then must take written and practical tests from state examiners before earning certification.

YEAR-END FIGURES for 1981 indicated the Canton Fire Department responded to 1,720 runs.

'We would like to have 10 firefighters pick it (EMT certification) up this year.'

— Mel Paulun
Canton fire chief

About 67 percent (1,148 calls) were for rescue service — traffic accidents, assisting sick or injured persons, etc.

Totals declined 9.6 percent from 1980. Paulun said figures were higher for the earlier year because of a devastating wind storm in July 1980 which collapsed barns and fences and caused various emergencies.

"1981 was a good year," said the chief. There were no fatal fires. "That's one thing we are proud of, I hope '82 will be the same."

"Hopefully, people will cooperate and look out for personal safety in their homes this year," said Paulun.

OTHER PLANS for the department depend on economics and the outcome of projects which still are in the talking stages.

For example, a consultant to the township is doing a study to see if it is practical or economical to combine some police and firefighting duties.

"It's worth looking into," said Paulun. "There may be some phases that are feasible. It depends on the economy, too."

In addition, future development of an industrial park in the vicinity of Michigan and Sheldon could prompt construction of a fire station in that area, said Paulun.

"We do have $10,000 in the budget to purchase land for station No. 3," said Paulun.

The township now is served by stations at Cherry Hill and Canton Center roads, and at Warren Road near Haggerty.

Group reviews applications for business recruiter's job

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

Township officials are moving industrial development to the top of their priority lists.

A five-member committee will begin reviewing applications for the job of industrial coordinator for Canton.

About 20 persons have applied for the position, newly-created for the 1982 budget.

The township several weeks ago placed advertisements in trade publications several weeks ago. The coordinator would set up an aggressive program to attract business and industry to Canton.

Salary for the job is pegged at $30,000 a year.

"WE NEED to create a program for industrial development," said Trustee Robert Padgett, who has been pushing for a coordinator.

"We don't have any central leadership — any dynamics to make it happen," said Padgett.

Register for soccer

Registration for both the Canton Soccer Club and the Western Suburban Soccer League began this week. Boys and girls in the Plymouth-Canton school district are eligible to compete in either league. The Canton Soccer Club will hold its registration 3-5 p.m. this week in the recreation offices of Canton Township Hall, on Canton Center south of Cherry Hill. For more information, call 397-0073 or 981-6327. The Western Suburban Soccer League will have registration between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. until Jan. 22 at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer in Plymouth. For more information, call 455-8620.

Frozen pipes — and cable lines — dampen spirits

Frozen water pipes, power and video cable failures and cars which wouldn't start, caused problems for Canton residents last weekend.

Although no weather records were broken in the area, the low temperatures and high winds forced the closing of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Monday and caused many persons to stay inside.

Saturday's low temperature was 1 degree, with a 33 below zero wind chill factor, according to the National Weather Service's Detroit office.

Sunday's low was 8 below zero, with a wind chill factor of 60 below.

1979. The wind chill factor Monday was 50 below zero.

THE CANTON Fire Department and Canton DPW received a dozen calls for frozen water pipes. No water lines broke, but meters froze or broke in several areas, says DPW director Jake Dingeldey.

Residents of Plymouth Landing Apartments were without water from 11 p.m. Monday until Tuesday morning. There also were water problems at Tamarack Green Apartments, Calvary Baptist Church, and several homes on Joy.

In older homes without basements, pipes in crawl spaces under the house community relations director

become exposed to wind. Frozen water in pipes expands causing pipes or meters to crack or burst, he adds.

Persons can reduce chances of pipes freezing by leaving a faucet dripping, which keeps the water moving through the pipes.

There also were reports of frozen pipes at West Middle School, Allen Elementary School, Starkweather Elementary School and in a building at the Centennial Educational Park.

ALTHOUGH SEVERAL schools had broken pipes, it was the cold weather which kept the students from going to school Monday, says Dick Egli, a school spokesperson.

"That wind chill factor was just too much to have the kids out in it," says Egli.

The weather did cause a record usage of natural gas in some parts of Michigan. Consumers Power Company, which supplies natural gas to some 70,000 residents in Plymouth, Wayne, Westland and Livonia, reported a new 24-hour record this week.

From 1 p.m. Sunday to 1 p.m. Monday the company sent out 2.55 billion cubic feet of natural gas to its 1.1 million customers across the state. The old 24-hour record was 2.53 billion cubic feet.

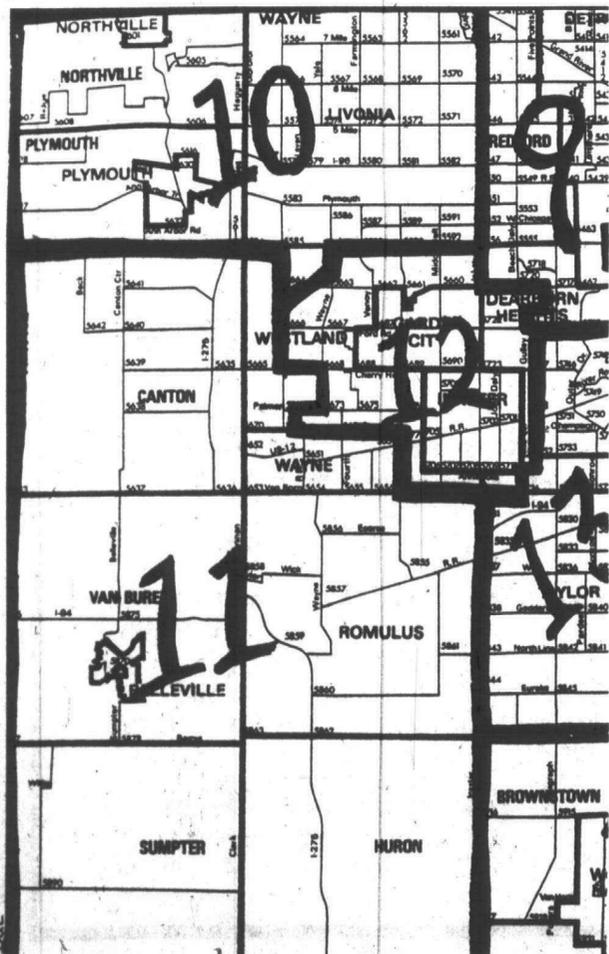

The few gas service interruptions experienced in Plymouth were caused by freezing of individual home regulators which were outside homes.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED Gas Co., which supplies natural gas to 750,000 customers in southeastern Michigan, including Canton, sent out 1.7 billion cubic feet of gas from noon Sunday to noon Monday. And from noon Monday to noon Tuesday it sent out 1.5 billion cubic feet.

Consolidated reported 1,000 calls for service between 6:30-11 a.m. Monday. The main complaint was lack of heat, says Susan Soltis, a corporate spokesperson.

County board redistricting leaves Joyner with options

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Wayne County Commissioner R. William Joyner has some career political decisions to make, now that he has been apportioned out of his political bailiwick.

"I want to continue in public service," Joyner said flatly. "We'll announce by the first week of February."

A new county board districting plan puts the Joyner, a Democrat from Plymouth Township, in a district with Republican Mary Dumas of Livonia. Both believe the new district has a normal Republican majority.

The new apportionment plan chops the Plymouth community from Joyner's current western-townships district and lumps it with Livonia and Northville, an area Mrs. Dumas has represented for 10 years.

The plan also creates a new 11th District with no incumbent commissioner. The 11th takes the cities of Belleville and Wayne and the townships of Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter from Joyner's current district and adds to it the city of Romulus, the township of Huron and a western slice of Westland.

JOYNER'S OPTIONS:

- Rent out his Plymouth Township home, move to Canton and run in the new 11th District. "I'm not sure how realistic that is," he said. A possible Republican opponent is Bart Berg, Canton nurseryman who represented the area on the County Charter Commission.

- Run against Mrs. Dumas in the new 10th county board district. Raised in Livonia, Joyner once served as an aide to Mayor Edward McNamara and once ran for the legislature from a Livonia district. He admits the Republican Party is "pretty well organized" but does not rule out an uphill challenge. He said he is not afraid to run against Dumas.

- Run for the State House of Representatives. Roy Smith, R-Saline, is retiring as 52nd District representative. "Both Republican and Democratic reapportionment plans put Plymouth, part of Canton and part of Northville in one district," said Joyner.

HE REGRETTED that reapportionment pits him against Mrs. Dumas for quite another reason:

"We were the only two commissioners who both endorsed and worked for county reorganization (the charter). The other 25 either gave it no support or were opposed."

Joyner confessed to wanting to stay in county government for at least one two-year term to help the new county executive reorganize. The executive, under the charter, will be elected in November, the same time county commissioners and legislators are chosen.

"The work's not done down there," said Joyner. "We still have to do something about the Road Commission, the Drain Commission and the Register of Deeds office."

THE APPORTIONMENT Commission approved new districts Tuesday morning in a meeting that lasted only about five minutes.

The group approved the so-called "Holley plan," named for Hubert Holley, Democratic Party representative to the five-member group. There was no discussion. The vote was 5-0.

Joyner preferred a plan drafted by the staff of County Clerk James Killeen, who chairs the Apportionment Commission. The so-called "staff plan" would have added Northville, Romulus and Huron Township to Joyner's old district, giving him a good chance for re-election.

Killeen supported the staff plan until the meeting. He said he "got a head count" minutes before the meeting which indicated the staff plan could not get approval of the majority.

The head count, board sources said, showed only Killeen and Treasurer Raymond Wojtowicz supported the staff plan. Prosecutor William Cahalan, Holley and Republican member Michael Legg of Livonia all supported the Holley plan.

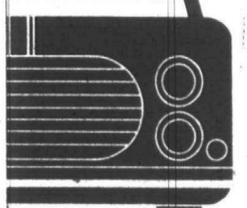

Outnumbered, Killeen and Wojtowicz made it 5-0 for the Holley plan in a show of unanimity.

Weather delays decision on proposed sign changes

Harsh weather earlier this week has forced a one-week delay in the Canton Planning Commission's vote on proposed changes in the township's sign ordinance.

Last Monday's commission meeting was cancelled because of lack of quorum, said Doris Kelley of the Township Clerk's office.

The commission was to have voted on changes to relax some of the current, strict guidelines on signs. Several commissioners were unable to get to the meeting because of the extreme cold, wind and snow.

Another meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Jan. 18 in Township Hall.

Any changes in the current ordinance must also win the approval of the Wayne County Planning Commission and the Township Board before they can take effect.

Diabetes control discussed

A discussion on home blood glucose monitoring for diabetics takes place at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Oakwood Hospital Canton Center at Canton Center and Warren roads.

Dr. Thomas Palmer, Jean Hruska, R.N., and Molly Erickson, B.S.N., will discuss the techniques in controlling diabetes and demonstrate the various meters and sticks available.

The session is open to the public free of charge. For more information and reservations call 459-7030.

Chamber sets annual meeting

Canton's chamber of commerce will install its officers during a Monday dinner meeting at the Roman Forum Restaurant on Ford.

Scriptologist Al Woods will entertain with a handwriting analysis. The following officers are scheduled to be installed:

John Schwartz, president; Jack Koers, first vice president; Bill Tesen, second vice president; Russ Johnson, treasurer; and Catherine Foege, secretary.

The program will begin with cocktails at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 7. The price is $12.50 per person.

For information or reservations, call 453-4040.

Meadow Brook: Helping dreams come true

The sun room offers a bright, relaxing setting in which to sit back and reflect about how it must have been for the Wilsons to live amid such luxury.

By Sharon Hahn
staff writer

It's called a cultural adventure — but it's a fantasy come true.

The 110-room English Tudor manor home of Meadow Brook Hall in Avon Township provides a chance to actually live amid wealth and splendor in gracious surroundings of an earlier era.

The 80,000 square-foot home, built by Alfred and Matilda Wilson in the late 1920s at a cost of $4 million, was donated along with the surrounding 1,400 acres of rolling countryside to Michigan State University in 1957 for another campus. That campus is now Oakland University.

Mrs. Wilson was the widow of auto pioneer John Dodge prior to her marriage to Wilson, a Wisconsin lumber broker.

The hall was opened to the public in 1971 as a cultural and conference center for continuing education, and tours are given to the public each Sunday afternoon from 1-5 p.m.

But for those who prefer a more leisurely look at the architecture, art objects, exquisitely carved paneling and antiques of the Wilson estate, becoming a house guest at Meadow Brook Hall may be the answer.

"This wasn't built as a museum," said Marilyn Brooks, a special project director at Meadow Brook Hall. "It was built as a home. In an hour-and-a-half tour, you can't get that feeling. But (you can) after you have slept here for a few nights."

THE EXPERIENCE is called "Exploring Meadow Brook Hall Heritage" and includes two days and nights of gracious living in a home decorated with furnishings "that Mrs. Wilson liked to live with," said Mrs. Brooks.

There are antiques as well as imitations, and house guests are taught to tell the difference, she said.

Touching a 1680 stool is permitted and even encouraged in order to examine the wood smoothed by years of polishing and hand rubbing.

House guests are welcomed at Meadow Brook midweek in January, February, March and September, arriving Monday at 2 p.m. and departing after breakfast on Wednesday.

Cost is $150 per person for room with private bath and $140 for room with shared bath. All meals, cocktails and wine with dinners are included.

Groups as large as 38 can be accommodated for each session, Mrs. Brooks said.

While most sessions are reserved for groups, Jan. 18-20, 25-27, and Feb. 8-10 are set aside for singles and couples, she said. Only a few openings are available for these dates.

The main stairway features wide, easy-to-climb steps, but it could leave the faint-of-heart short of breath.

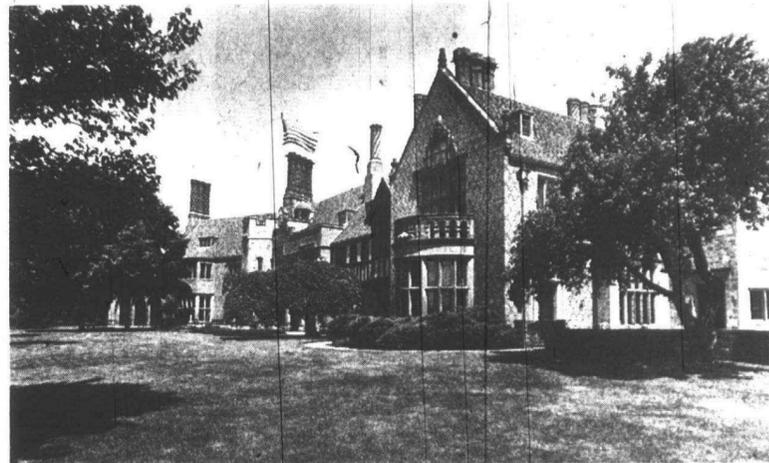

"It's a great time for single people," said Mrs. Brooks. "Most people come not knowing anybody else. After the first dinner, they all seem to know each other."

Meals are served in various dining rooms throughout the mansion with a candlelight dinner held the second evening at a long banquet table in the ballroom.

HOUSE GUESTS are free to move about the home and grounds at their leisure and tours, teas, and lectures are scheduled throughout the two days in keeping with the cultural theme.

In past sessions, speakers have lectured on stonework, antiques and china. All of which are available to examine in the mansion.

It's a sound game plan for guests

By Gary M. Cates

Super Bowl XVI still is less than two weeks away, but Plymouth hotels are preparing for the influx of football fans and partiers expected the weekend of Jan. 24.

Businesspersons are anticipating Super Bowl visitors to fill Plymouth-Canton's shops and streets as the area takes part in Michigan's hosting of the National Football League's yearly extravaganza.

The NFL has named the Plymouth Hilton, on Northville Mile, as a Super Hotel and the Mayflower, on Main Street, as a Super Restaurant.

As officially recognized businesses, the Hilton and Mayflower will be attracting some of the 65,000 visitors expected for the Super Bowl.

THE HILTON, which will have the Houston Oilers among its guests, is completely booked for that weekend, said Mike Haggerty, Plymouth Hilton manager.

Likewise, the Mayflower is booked for the that weekend and reports some prominent persons will be among its guests, said Scott Lorenz, hotel manager.

The Red Roof Inn, on Ann Arbor

Road, has booked 50 of its rooms to the convention bureau that is handling many of the arrangements for the Super Bowl.

A NFL souvenir shop, in the lobby of the Hilton, will be open to the public. The shop will sell many of the Super Bowl commemorations including the official Super Bowl XVI programs.

THERE ALSO will be a Super Bowl information booth in the Hilton lobby.

Although the Mayflower and Hilton will be hosting private parties and functions for their house guests, the Super Bowl host committee has planned some functions for Detroit-area residents.

Some of those activities include:

- "Michigan's Salute to Super Bowl XVI" shows. These will feature varsity style entertainment, historic football uniforms, fashions and a drawing for two Super Bowl tickets after each show. The admission is free. The shows will be at the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi, 1 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 17; and the Fairlane Town Center in Dearborn, 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 23.

- Super Crawl from 6:30 p.m. to midnight Thursday, Jan. 21. This is a regionwide pub crawl tour sponsored by Pepsi Cola. Persons can choose from loops in Detroit, Dearborn, Pontiac, Troy/Rochester/Birmingham or Lansing. The Super coaches will stop at one, two or all 15 pubs on the loop. There will be live entertainment in each pub, host committee cheerleaders and a chance to visit Michigan's favorite pubs and restaurants.

- Super Ball from 4:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday, Jan. 22. The free Super Bowl party and pep rally will be at the Detroit Westin Hotel's Renaissance ballroom. The Super Ball will feature Johnny Trudell's Orchestra and the Teen Angels, celebrities, mimes and magicians.

- Winterfest from 9 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 23. The Winterfest is a full day of winter activities sponsored by WJR radio. Ski events, dog sled races, skating exhibitions and the NFL Alumni Winterfest-Run will be the sports highlights. There are many other events also planned for the free Winterfest at Pine Knob Resort in Clarkston.

BOTH THE Mayflower's and Hilton's restaurants will be open to the public for regular business Super Bowl weekend.

"Don't think you can't get in because of the other people staying here. People thought that would be the case during the Republican Convention.

"That wasn't the case. We were actually rather empty because of the people staying away," said Lorenz.

The hotels will be beefing up security during the Super Bowl weekend. The Hilton will be requiring room keys to gain entrance onto its guest floors.

Cast your nominations for youth awards

Nominations are open for the annual Congressional Medal of Merit Awards program, sponsored by U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor).

Initiated in 1976 for the bicentennial celebration, the awards program was so well received that the citizens committee, consisting of volunteers from Garden City, Westland, Canton Township and 18 other communities recommended that it be continued as an annual event, Ford said.

"I believe this is an excellent way to honor some of our truly outstanding young people whose activities and accomplishments too often have gone unnoticed and unrewarded," Ford said.

Two awards will be available in each of the 21 communities in the 15th district. One will be for boys and girls age 14-18 and still in school. The other is for high school graduates age 18-22. The medals will be presented by Ford in May.

Nomination forms are available from Ford's district office in the Wayne post office building, calling the office at 722-1411, or by contacting city or township clerks' offices in the district. Deadline for nominations is March 18.

Committee members include Elva Ryall of Garden City, Anita Cobb of Westland and Douglas Ritter of Canton Township.

THE COMMITTEE had decided to keep the same rules for the judging criteria it has followed in past years.

The accomplishments of these young people should be outstanding and meaningful and represent a broad range of interests and activities, Ford said. Accomplishments for which a nominee has been paid do not qualify.

Consideration will be given to nominees who have contributed time and effort toward meaningful projects, such as volunteer practices, heroic acts and humanitarian efforts.

Immediate plan proposed

Officials boost industrial potential

Trustee Steve Larson said the township has a "moral obligation" to start digging into the applications on file. "You don't get business by hoping business will come to you," said Larson. Communities that succeed in attracting industry "spend some dollars, take some gambles and go out and sell (themselves)," he added.

THE APPLICATIONS will be reviewed by personnel director Dan Durack; finance director Mike Gorman; Larson and Padgett; and a member of the township's part-time Economic Development Corp. (EDC).

The EDC helps companies obtain private financing for industrial development. There is no full-time, paid staff person recruiting industry on a regular basis.

At Tuesday's board meeting, Padgett called the present township approach to industry "disorganized." He and other members of the board have expressed a desire to increase Canton's tax base through industry.

Industrial projects in various stages of development include a paving plan for Haggerty Road between Joy and

'We need to create a program for industrial development. We don't have any central leadership — any dynamics to make it happen.'

— Robert Padgett
Canton trustee

Ford, and development of an industrial subdivision Michigan Avenue and Sheldon.

Planner Dave Nicholson is working with the Wayne County Road Commission on projected paving costs for Haggerty Road, and Gorman is researching financing with municipal bond consultants.

SUPERVISOR James Poole and Treasurer Maria Falkiewicz voted against the motion to set up the review committee.

Mrs. Falkiewicz would prefer to improve Canton's tax base by hiring an assessor for the township. Currently, assessments are done by Wayne County. Poole said he isn't convinced Canton needs to hire an industrial coordinator, and doing so would be "premature" because current industrial projects aren't settled.

The defeat of the farmland preservation millage last November means some land in western Canton probably will be re-zoned for industrial use, noted Trustee Loren Bennett. ON A RELATED industrial issue, the Township Board voted to advertise Canton's industrial offerings in the Detroit News on Jan. 24 — Super Bowl Sunday.

"Decision-makers who can make things happen" will be arriving from all over the country for the football game, Bennett said. The ad will cost about $800.

Weather plagues all

Furnaces most commonly go out when wind blows down a chimney, extinguishing the furnace's pilot light or when moisture forms in underground gas pipes, she says.

DETROIT EDISON, with some 235,000 customers in western Wayne County, had problems reported from 750 customers on Sunday, and only a handful coming from Plymouth and Canton.

The largest problem causing electrical failures was the downing of individual power lines to houses, brought on mainly by the high winds.

"Considering the unusual activity (of the weather) we were reasonably well 'off Saturday,'" says Peter Georges, an Edison spokesperson.

MORE THAN 5,600 homes in Plymouth and Canton townships went without their video cable for differing amounts of time due to the extreme temperatures, according to Peter Newell, Omnicom president. The outages were caused by contractions in the cable which are called pull outs. Omnicom had installed contraction loops in the system but this cold weather was more than some parts of the cable were designed to handle.

"It will be less of a problem as the system ages. Once we've fixed the problem in an area it won't have problems again," says Newell.

St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia reported one case of frostbitten fingers over the weekend, while Oakwood Hospital's outpatient clinic in Canton reported no cases of frostbite.

Dr. Tet Miko of St. Mary's says in such extreme weather like the skin has a greatly limited time of exposure.

HUMANS AREN'T alone in being subject to frostbite, says Mary Beth Leininger, of the Plymouth Veterinarian Hospital. Many cats with frostbitten tails and ears were brought in, says Leininger. Cats, even if they are used to being outside, shouldn't have been left out this past weekend, she says.

Lectures are given on books found in the library, many of which include architecture of English homes from which ideas were used in the building of Meadow Brook.

Each night at 10, snacks are served in the Game Room, where guests can partake in a game of cards or perhaps shoot some pool.

It's the life of a millionaire, said Mrs. Brooks.

"We like to explore what it would have been like to be a guest of the Wilsons at Meadow Brook Hall," she said.

But after breakfast on the third day, the fantasy comes to an end and guests depart — taking with them a unique experience to remember.

"There's no other place where you can come as an individual and live like this," said Mrs. Brooks.

For the week of Jan. 18 through Super Bowl Sunday, Jan. 24, only, Meadow Brook Hall will have special hours and dining available. For more information, call 377-3140.

Rotary donates bus

The Canton Rotary Club has donated a school bus to the Canton Recreation Department.

The gift was made during the club's regular meeting Monday.

The bus, a 1970 General Motors 66-passenger model, was purchased for $1,750 from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Its mileage ranges somewhere between 87,000 and 120,000 miles, according to school officials.

It is scheduled to be used by Canton's three senior citizens clubs and for other activities offered by the recreation department.

Canton's Recreation

Supervisor Mike Gouin said the bus will help enhance many programs. Gouin said in the past, some residents missed field-trip activities because of limited transportation.

Besides senior citizens, Gouin said the summer playground and 45-15 (Extended School Year) recreation programs would benefit from the additional transportation.

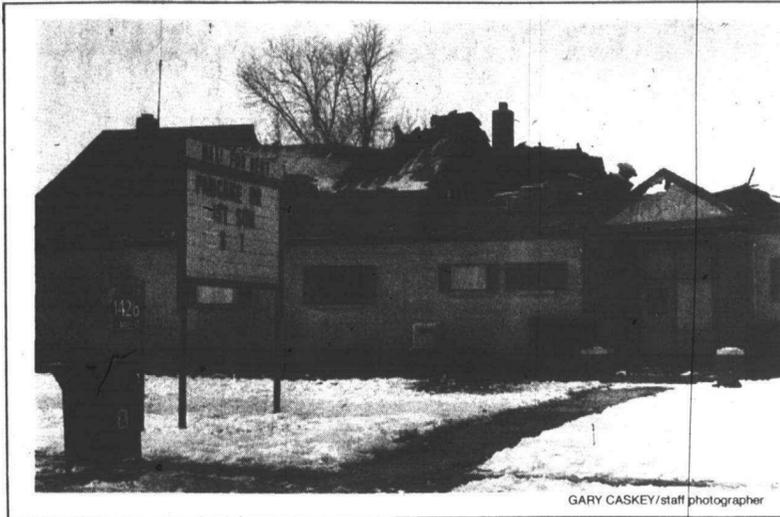

DR. CHARLES BARES, Rotary president, turned over ownership of the bus. Bares stressed that Rotary was extremely pleased to donate the bus.

"This year, we chose the Parks and Recreation Department to be the recipient of our fund-raising efforts because of the need for this bus," Bares said.

"We look forward to the service it will provide for not only our senior citizen clubs, but for others who will make use of it through the parks and recreation department."

The Rotarians pride themselves as one of the most active clubs in the area. They have provided past funding for the Canton library fund, the Canton Historical Society and the Salvation Army building fund.

VFW hall burns

A fire destroyed the roof and damaged the first floor of the Mayflower VFW hall on Mill, north of Ann Arbor Road, last week. No one was injured in the hour-long blaze, although people were inside the VFW lounge when the fire started. City of Plymouth's acting fire chief Tom Lenaghan said the fire still is under investigation, but he suspects faulty wiring may have caused the early morning blaze on Jan. 4. Lenaghan says there were unconfirmed reports of people smelling smoke in the building the day before the fire. He says it appears the fire had been smoldering for some time before the flames broke out.

Road board union 'subverts' county charter reform

By Suzie Rollins Singer
staff writer

It will probably be mid-week before Wayne County commissioners know whether they can dissolve the newly-created union of top brass in the County Road Commission.

To the surprise and dismay of many county commissioners, county executive candidates and the Charter Commission chairman, 73 top Road Commission employees quietly formed a union and last week negotiated a six-year contract guaranteeing their jobs and benefits.

"I'm very upset. It's a deliberate attempt by the administrative employees to subvert the intent of the new charter," said Commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia.

"It's almost exclusively a management union and will most definitely reduce the power of the new county executive. It may not be illegal, but it certainly is unethical," Mrs. Dumas said.

LAST NOVEMBER, Wayne County voters approved Michigan's first county home-rule charter with an elected county executive to oversee governmental operations.

The executive, when elected later in 1982, will have power to appoint and remove at will the road commission's three-person governing board, thus having effective control of the previously autonomous road board and its policies.

Under the new contract, approved in 15 minutes last Thursday by the road commission's three-member governing board, the county executive may have little room for reform.

Advocates of Wayne County commissioners have looked forward to the time when an elected executive could bring road commission policies and personnel practices in line with other county operations. In recent years, the road commission has been charged repeatedly with nepotism, cronyism and high salaries.

GEORGE WARD, chairman of the Charter Commission, called unionizing of road commission management "really an attempt to evade what the people of the county achieved through approving a charter."

"A Michigan statute says that the county board of commissioners shall not take any action would diminish the mandate of the executive."

"While it only applies to the county commissioners, the court may say if the county can't do it, then the road commission couldn't either," Ward added.

Commissioner George Killeen, D-Detroit, joined with state Sen. John Hertel, D-Harper Woods, in a news conference last week to blast the new union. Hertel is an unannounced candidate for county executive.

Killeen and Hertel said they were asking the county's corporation counsel to draft a letter to the state attorney to determine if the unionization violated the charter provisions.

They also asked that the county seek an injunction to halt the contract from going into effect.

GEORGE CROSS, county corporation counsel, said Friday, "I'm really not able to discuss what we're going to do because I am not able to get a copy of the contract."

"It hasn't been ratified by the membership. I have to wait until it's ratified until I can see it, and that will probably be next week sometime. Then I can proceed," said Cross.

The new bargaining unit, called the Association of County Road Commission Administrators, is not affiliated with any other union, said Louis Sugo, road commission director of public relations.

"I assume it will be affiliated. We're looking for affiliation and we're being romanced right now," he said.

Sugo said the top brass approached the road commission's three-member board in November with petitions to unionize.

"After we got the OK, we set up a bargaining committee and got to work. The contract just puts in writing what we already had. A group of negotiators wrote the job descriptions down."

"The only difference from what we used to have is that this is a six-year contract," Sugo said.

He expects the contract will become effective immediately.

BUT KILLEEN and Hertel hope the contract can be blocked. They said they aren't against organized labor, but Killeen called the unionizing effort "not one for job security but for political security."

Added Hertel, "If this (union) is allowed to stand, then any other branch of government could put together a contract, and when the new county executive comes on, he'll be powerless."

Hertel added that if elected county executive, he would ask for the resignations of road commission board members Michael Berry and Grace Hampton, who approved the contract. Board member Claude Dukes refused to meet in closed session with his two colleagues to discuss the contract and voted against it in open session.

LIVONIA MAYOR Edward H. McNamara, also a probable candidate for county executive, called the union organization a "blattant misuse of public power."

"The whole idea of county reform is so on Jan. 1, 1983, if the road commission or any other department needs correcting, the chief executive officer can do so. This move (by the road commission) is an attempt to frustrate reform," he said.

Robert FitzPatrick, another county executive contender, called the union move a "rather unique way to circumvent the ultimate administrative and executive powers under the charter."

"I don't think contractual agreements can be made for six years," he added.

Jobless rate at 14.4 percent

Michigan's December jobless rate rose to a high of 14.4 percent, up from the November rate of 11.8 percent, according to estimates by the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

MESC Director S. Martin Taylor said the number of unemployed workers across the state rose by 106,000 during December, to 627,000.

Taylor attributed the rise in unemployment to increased auto industry layoffs and low construction and retail employment. While retail sales were up during the holiday season, employment in the retail sector did not meet expected levels.

Total employment during the month dropped by 159,000 to 3.7 million, and the state's labor force fell by 53,000 to 4.3 million.

The last time unemployment reached the current high was in July 1980, when the jobless rate was also 14.4 percent, Taylor said.

A $10 Cash Gift And A Tax-Sheltered IRA At Security Bank

Under a new tax law, every working person can have an IRA account, beginning January, 1982, even though he/she participates in a qualified pension plan. And, by opening an IRA account at Security Bank you'll get a $10 cash gift with a $200 opening balance deposit.

This new IRA eligibility means every wage earner can make annual tax-deductible contributions of $2,000 ($2,250 spousal) or 100% of income, whichever is less, to an IRA. Interest earned is tax-deferred until retirement when you should be in a lower tax bracket. And, at that time you pay taxes only on the funds as you withdraw them. What's more, your IRA deposits are insured to $100,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. This coverage is above and beyond the FDIC insurance on your other Security Bank deposits.

A High Rate on New 18-Month Certificate of Deposit

For funds deposited in Security Bank's new 18-Month Certificate you receive a high interest rate that's set periodically by the bank. Add-on contributions do not extend the 18-month maturity. The minimum deposit is $25; however, there's a $200 opening balance requirement to receive the gift.

Contributions can also be made to a 30-Month Money Market Certificate or a 26-Week Money Market Certificate.* For details on rates and maturities, ask at any Security Bank office. Federal regulations provide certain limits on any annual IRA contributions, and also require substantial interest penalties and I.R.S. penalties for early withdrawal. Check the table to see how your contributions can add up... then come get an IRA and $10 from Security Bank.

Rates are subject to change periodically without notice.

IRA Contributions If you contributed $2,000 per year, you would have

Rate	after 5 years	after 10 years	after 20 years	after 30 years
10%	$13,529	$35,566	$129,933	$380,318

Schools to hold public forum on education

Schools to hold public forum on education

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Education will hold a public forum for interested residents at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Lowell Middle School, on Hix south of Joy in Westland.

The forum takes the place of a regularly scheduled board workshop. The purpose of the forum is to gain insight from citizens on the future of educational activities in the school district.

"These forums are much like a town meeting," said Board President Carol Davis. "They are a means by which the board can gain a feeling for the concerns and ideas which people have about the school district."

"We are not looking for any specific area to be covered at this forum," Ms. Davis added, "but we do recognize that the budget — about which we will have some difficult decisions to make in the near future — impacts on most every area of the school district."

"We welcome all constructive and thoughtful comments at the forum."

The forum will be at the Lowell gym.

The housing boom of the 1980s won't be like the post-World War II housing boom that created suburbia.

"There's a fantastic demographic change going on," said Paul Robertson of Robertson Brothers and secretary of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan (BASM). "And there will be dramatic decreases in the sizes of houses."

In an annual news conference Monday, three builders talked of downsizing houses the same way autos have been downsized since the inflation of oil prices. It was a marked change in tune for the builders, whose new offerings each year have been steadily increasing in size.

"THERE ARE single-family 'starter' houses now for under $60,000," said Herbert Lawson of Abbey-Lawson Investment Co., West Bloomfield.

Lawson cited single-family houses in Chesterfield Township, Macomb County, and condominiums in Clarkston, northern Oakland County.

"There's downsizing in every market," added Jack Saylor of Saylor Building Co. "The buyer of a 3,000-square-foot house is now buying 2,400 square feet... the buyer of a 1,600-square-foot house is buying 1,200 square feet."

Builders generally agree there's a pent-up demand for housing because of southeastern Michigan's continuing recession for the past two years. And they also foresee a boom in the '80s as the post-war "baby boom" kids born in the '50s come into the market.

ROBERTSON outlined some of the "fantastic demographic changes."

It used to be that 43 percent of homeowners were traditional families with a working father and a mother who took care of the children. That traditional family is slipping to the 17 percent level.

In many households, both husband and wife will be working. Lenders are taking into account the working wife's income in judging the family's capacity to pay for housing.

There is even, Robertson quipped, a "mingles market" — unrelated single persons buying a house.

The number of bedrooms will decline, he said, because during the 1970s the number of persons-per-household dropped from 3.3 to 2.75.

cline, he said, because during the 1970s the number of persons-per-household dropped from 3.3 to 2.75.

SUBURBAN governments, often criticized in the past for large-lot zoning which forced construction of expensive houses, are becoming "more cooperative," said Robertson.

Another builder complaint of the past was absent — the lengthening of construction time due to local government inspection and regulation.

White local regulation hasn't become less onerous, Herman Frankel, BASM president, said it's no longer increasing at the same rate.

Roeser said there's even less regulation.

But Lawson didn't foresee any reduction of construction time once the boom gets going. "There will be shortages of materials," he said.

THE LABOR situation got some attention.

Some builders reported the two-year recession has meant many building tradesmen have left the region for sun-belt jobs. They could not, however, say how many, nor could the builders predict whether the departures were permanent.

Irvin Yackness, BASM general counsel, said the organization has been meeting "for months" with trades unions "to seek ways and means of reducing labor costs."

"In the field, there has been a substantial reduction of costs. The cost of building is as low today as two years ago" despite general inflation, he said.

Contracts with the building trades expire early in summer, Yackness went on. "We anticipate the trades will ask for increases. But we are hopeful we can ask them to take the same approach as the auto unions to hold down costs."

Help wanted: wizard to change employment outlook

Employers nationwide predict a sharp drop in hiring plans for the first quarter of 1982. Results are the worst recorded for any quarter in the six-year history of the Manpower survey, even though hiring expectations historically decline following the holiday period.

While Southern area employers report the most optimistic survey results of any region for the first quarter of 1982, their figures are substantially below those reported for all other quarters of the past six years. Only slightly more employers plan to increase staff as expect to reduce staff.

Employers in the Detroit area report a sluggish employment outlook for the next three months, according to a quarterly survey conducted by Manpower Inc., a temporary service firm.

The survey is a quarterly measurement of employment intentions for changes in the permanent work force. It is based upon telephone interviews with more than 10,000 public and private employers in more than 300 cities throughout the United States.

Jerry Heller, owner of Manpower's Detroit office, said, "Overall, 8 percent of the area employers polled plan to hire additional workers during the first quarter (January, February and March), down from the 10 percent with similar intentions one year ago."

"Another 12 percent expect staff reductions, 75 percent plan no change in staff levels, and 5 percent are unsure of their hiring plans."

In a similar survey conducted a year ago at this time, 18 percent expected staff reductions, 67 percent predicted no change in staff levels, and 5 percent were unsure of their hiring plans.

Local increased job opportunities are predicted by non-durable goods manufacturers and service industry employers, though these are projected to be slight. Reductions are expected by construction employers and durable goods manufacturers. The outlook is stable in other sectors of employment.

Detroit area results are slightly less optimistic than those reported nationally but more optimistic than those reported regionally.

A SHARP deterioration in hiring plans for the first quarter of 1982 is predicted. Overall, 15 percent of employers polled plan to increase staff size in the next three months while 18 percent expect staff reductions.

Another 63 percent plan no changes and 4 percent were unsure of their hiring plans.

One year ago, 18 percent planned staff additions, 14 percent expected reductions, 64 percent planned no change, and 5 percent were unsure of their hiring plans.

Regionally, the South reports the strongest hiring expectations with Northeast, West and Midwest survey results at a much slower pace.

Manufacturers of both durable and non-durable goods report a softening in their hiring plans for the coming three months. In fact, figures are the lowest recorded for a first quarter since the beginning of the survey (third quarter, 1976).

Slightly more employers expect staff reduction than plan staff additions in both sectors with the non-durable goods sector being the stronger of the two.

In the durable goods manufacturing sector, 15 percent of employers polled plan to increase the number of workers while 22 percent expect to decrease staff. Another 59 percent plan no changes in hiring levels and 4 percent are unsure of their plans.

In a similar survey conducted one year ago, 26 percent of employers polled planned to add staff, 12 percent expected reductions, 58 percent planned no changes, and 4 percent were unsure.

Job opportunities in this sector are strongest in the West, but figures are slightly less optimistic than those reported one year ago. In the South and Northeast, nearly the same number of firms plan to increase staff as expect to decrease staff, and the Midwest region reports that more than twice as many firms plan to reduce staff as expect to increase staff.

Figures reported by non-durable goods manufacturers were slightly better, with 14 percent planning to hire additional workers, 16 percent expecting reductions, 67 percent planning no changes and 3 percent unsure.

One year ago, 20 percent of employers polled planned to hire additional workers, 8 percent expected reductions, 69 percent planned no changes, and 3 percent were unsure of their hiring plans.

Southern employers report the most optimistic results in this sector with the Northeast and Western reporting a greater slowdown in hiring expectations. Midwestern employers in the non-durable goods sector report the least optimistic survey results.

WHILE SERVICE sector employers report hiring expectations to be similar to last year at this time, the number of employers planning to increase staff size during the first quarter of 1982 is the lowest number recorded since the survey began six years ago.

Nineteen percent of employers polled plan to hire additional workers during the coming three months while 10 percent expect to reduce staff. Another 67 percent plan no changes in hiring levels, and 4 percent are unsure of their hiring plans.

In a similar survey conducted last year at this time, 20 percent planned to increase staff size, 9 percent expected reductions, 67 percent planned no changes, and 4 percent were unsure of their hiring plans.

While employment opportunities in the service sector are expected to soften, the sector continues to lead all other sectors, with the exception of mining, in hiring strength. Southern employers in this sector report the most optimistic hiring plans, but these figures are not as optimistic as those recorded one year ago. The West and Northeast regions lag slightly behind the South, and the Midwest reports the greatest softening in hiring plans in this sector.

CONSTRUCTION employers report the least optimistic survey results of any sector for the first quarter with nearly three times as many employers expecting to reduce staff as plan to hire additional workers.

Thirteen percent of employers polled plan to increase the number of workers while 35 percent expect to decrease the number of workers on their staff. Another 48 percent plan no changes in their employment levels, and 4 percent are unsure of their hiring plans.

Last year's figures reported 19 percent of employers polled planned to increase staff size, 29 percent expected reductions, 49 percent planned no changes, and 3 percent were unsure of their plans.

The most optimistic survey results in this sector are reported by Southern employers, but more employers there expect to reduce staff than increase staff. Hiring expectations by Midwestern employers are the least optimistic with more than five times the number of employers expecting to reduce staff as planning to increase staff size.

WHILE THE number of employers planning to hire additional workers during the first quarter of 1982 exceeds the number expecting to reduce staff, transportation and public utilities survey results are the least optimistic for any quarter since the survey began six years ago.

Nineteen percent of employers polled plan to increase staff size while 14 percent expect reductions. Another 65 percent plan no changes in staff levels, and 2 percent are unsure of their hiring plans.

Last year, 21 percent of employers polled planned to hire additional staff, 10 percent expected reductions, 67 percent planned no changes and 2 percent were unsure of their hiring plans.

Southern area employers are the most optimistic in their hiring plans for this sector with more than twice as many firms reporting plans to add staff as expecting to reduce staff. But figures for the region are slightly lower than last year at this time.

The Northeast is also optimistic with slightly more firms planning to add staff as expect to reduce staff. Western employers are part a dramatic decline in employment opportunities in this sector with slightly more firms expecting reductions as planning to add staff.

Midwestern employers report the greatest caution in this area with slightly more firms expecting reductions than planning additions. However, a similar situation was reported one year ago by Midwestern employers.

WHOLESALE AND retail merchants report an anticipated seasonal drop in hiring expectations for the first quarter of 1982 as employment levels return to pre-holiday status. However, the number of employers planning to increase staff size is lower than recorded for any other quarter. This sector appears to be in a holding pattern with employers anticipating the current recession to last at least through the first quarter of 1982.

Twelve percent of employers polled plan to hire additional workers during the coming three months while 25 percent expect reductions. Another 59 percent plan no changes in hiring levels, and 4 percent are unsure of their plans.

One year ago, 14 percent planned an increase in staff size, 23 percent expected reductions, 59 percent planned no changes, and 4 percent were unsure of their plans.

Regionally, the South is most optimistic with slightly more employers expecting to reduce staff as planning to increase staff. The West reports figures which are similar to those reported one year ago.

The Northeast and Midwest report the most depressed first quarter since the survey began six years ago.

Survey results for the first quarter reported by educators are generally stable with figures similar to those recorded one year ago. Nearly the same number of employers plan to add as expect to reduce staff with slightly more planning to increase staff.

Ten percent of employers polled plan to hire additional workers during the first quarter of 1982 while 10 percent expect reductions. Another 77 percent plan no change in staff levels, and 3 percent are unsure of their hiring plans.

Southern educators report the most optimistic figures with nearly three times the number planning to increase staff size as expecting to reduce staff. This is an improvement over a year ago.

A nearly equal number of employers in the Northeast plan to add staff as expect to reduce staff with slightly more increasing staff size. These figures too are an improvement over those reported last year and are similar to 1980 first-quarter figures.

The Midwest expects nearly twice as many employers to reduce staff as planning to increase staff size. For the region, survey results are the worst reported for first quarters since the survey began.

Western employers are the least optimistic with more than three times as many educators expecting reductions as planning increases. This is the smallest number of employers planning staff increases in the past six years.

PUBLIC administrators predict a sharp drop in employment opportunities during the first quarter of 1982 with twice as many employers expecting to reduce staff levels as planning to increase staff. This quarter's figures are the lowest of any previous quarter in six years.

The current Reagan Administration budget cuts may be the reason for this drop in hiring expectations.

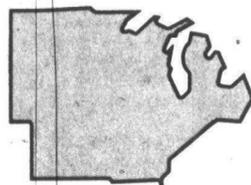

Twelve percent of employers polled plan to hire additional workers while 22 percent expect to reduce staff. Another 63 percent plan no change in staff levels and 3 percent are unsure of their hiring plans.

Last year, 14 percent planned to increase staff size, 12 percent expected reductions, 71 percent planned no changes, and 3 percent were unsure of their hiring plans. Regionally, the Midwest is expected to be hardest hit with nearly seven times the number of employers expecting staff reductions as planning staff additions.

Southern employers also predicted low hiring levels, but are slightly more optimistic than other regions. The Northeast and Western regions are similar in their employment outlook with more employers expecting reductions than are planning additions.

FLU SHOTS

The Wayne County Health Department immunization clinic at Wayne County General Hospital will give free flu shots to persons 65 and older. Supplies of the vaccine are limited.

The hours are 8:30-11:30 a.m., and 1-3:30 p.m. Wednesday hours are extended to 7 p.m.

Persons under 65 may obtain the shots if they provide a doctor's note authorizing need.

The hospital is on Merriman near Michigan Avenue in Westland. For information, call 729-2211.

IN-HOME SERVICES

Federally funded in-home services are now available to citizens age 60 and over residing in Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton, Northville and Northville Township. Services offered include lawn mowing, snow removal and light housekeeping. There is no charge for the program. Donations, however, are encouraged. For information, call Traci Johnson at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 455-6620.

PRESCHOOL SPECIAL ED

Preprimary special-education services for children from birth to age 6 are available through the Plymouth-Canton school district.

Eligible children must be speech- and language-impaired, physically handicapped, mentally or emotionally impaired. For information, call the Infant and Preschool Special Education Program (IPSEP) at Farrand Elementary School at 420-0363.

KARATE CLASSES

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department sponsors instructions in karate for people 8 and older. No previous karate experience is necessary. Beginners are welcome.

Classes last 10 weeks, meeting twice a week. Instructions are given by Sam Santilli, a third-degree black belt. Cost is $30.

Classes meet at 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays and Thursdays. For more information, call the Canton recreation department at 397-1000.

PLUS PRESCHOOL

The PLUS preschool program is looking for children aged 4, and their parents, from the attendance areas of Field, Eriksson and Starkweather schools. PLUS is a free program co-sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton school district and the federal government.

The program features learning skills, various home projects and field trips. Classes are held at Central Middle School, 650 Church, Plymouth.

For information, call PLUS at 453-8889.

SENIOR CITIZENS

The Senior Network will answer questions and help solve problems for people aged 60 and older.

The program, provided by the Out-Wayne County Area on Aging, has information about programs and services for seniors. Call 422-1052 between 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday-Friday.

SKATING HOURS

New opening skating hours at the Plymouth Community Cultural Center Ice Arena have been announced.

The hours are: 1-2:50 p.m. and 7-8 p.m. Mondays; 1-2:50 p.m. and 3:50-5:20 p.m. Tuesdays; 1-3:20 p.m. Wednesdays; 9:40-11:40 a.m., 12:50-2:50 p.m. and 4-5:20 p.m. Thursdays; 1-3 p.m. Fridays; and 2-3:30 p.m. and 3:30-5 p.m. Sundays.

Skate rental is 50 cents per person per session. Admission per session is $1 for children (under 18 years old) and $1.25 for adults. The 7-8 p.m. Monday session is 75 cents for children and $1 for adults.

The Cultural Center is at 525 Farmer in Plymouth.

Passive solar will be shown

A new solar home will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The home, owned by Reynold Hendrickson, is located on Pontiac Trail (M-59) just west of Dixboro Road.

Hendrickson, president of Star Pak Solar Systems in Novi, invited Plymouth residents and businessmen to the open house when he gave a talk on solar energy recently to the Rotary Club of Plymouth.

"Many people who think solar heating can't work in Michigan just aren't aware of how simple solar systems really can be," says Jan BenDor of Star Pak, who will be at the open house. "Solar heating is any south-facing window you have in your home."

She said the newly constructed Hendrickson home uses simple ideas like south-facing windows accompanied by movable night insulation to save money.

The design of the home demonstrates that a solar-heated house can look quite conventional. Ms. BenDor adds, and cost no more to build than a conventional home.

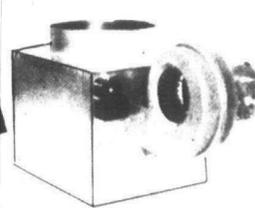

The public is welcome to visit and view other solar features of the house, including its domestic water heating solar collectors, a spa heating system and a solar electric cell array.

Members of the Star Pak staff also will demonstrate the Sun-temp Airwall heating system designed for solar retrofit of existing homes in southeast Michigan, and demonstrate money-saving energy conservation devices.

Ms. BenDor said that with available tax credits, solar improvements to an existing house can pay for itself within three years and then result in free heat from the sun thereafter.

Builder rips 'Fed' for housing yo-yo

Thursday, January 14, 1982

(P.C)11A

The Federal Reserve Board bears much of the blame for the yo-yo of fluctuating interest rates and instability in the housing industry, according to Herman Frankel, president of the 1,000-member Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

In an annual news conference, Frankel said the Fed's policies "bear too heavily on credit-sensitive industries such as housing." The builder said the Fed — the regulatory board which controls the national money supply and sets national credit policies — should be more selective in controlling credit. He advocated:

- "Requiring corporate funds to be financed with equity funds, not borrowed funds. He charged credit-financed mergers with bleeding the housing market of funds.

- "Placing restrictions on the use of credit for speculative purposes, including the complete elimination of margin allowances in all stock and commodities market purchases."

- Restricting money market funds to domestic investments.

"The Federal Reserve Board must be made to realize that the cyclical 'blood bath' in our industry brought about by the wild fluctuations in interest rates results in a much higher rate of inflation in housing," said Frankel.

FRANKEL ALSO said the industry has been affected by ups and downs in the supply of labor and materials.

"There could be great economies of production" if the industry stabilized, he said.

"The process of rebuilding an organization is very inefficient," he said, referring to the loss of skilled tradesmen now that regional housing starts have plummeted from 20,000 a year of the late '70s to 3,000 currently.

The BSAM also called for even stronger action by the Reagan Administration and Congress to balance the budget as a means of ending inflation and high interest rates.

Spending cuts, postponement or reduction of personal income tax cuts scheduled for 1983-84, and new or increased excise taxes were advocated.

Frankel called for repair of a loophole in the 1981 tax law affecting "all savers certificates." Instead of going into new mortgage loans and stimulating construction, he said, they are being invested in "Fannie Mae" (Federal National Mortgage Administration) securities backing "old" mortgages.

"The result of these flaws is that the supply of funds that will be targeted for new housing will be too small to have much impact on the level of mortgage interest rates," the builders group president said.

He praised the state of Michigan for putting pension funds into housing mortgages and for reforming workers compensation in 1981.

2 participate in conference

Two township government officials will be participating next month in a conference on solid and hazardous waste management.

The local participants are James A. Kosteva, director of planning for Canton Township, and Lee Fidge, a Plymouth Township Trustee and chairman of the Rouge River Watershed Council.

The conference is sponsored by the Rouge River Watershed Council in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR), the Oakland County executive's office, and the Wayne County Planning Commission. The session will begin with welcoming remarks and an introduction by Fidge at 8:50 a.m. Feb. 5 at Schoolcraft College.

In an afternoon session, Kosteva will join two other officials to discuss the role of local officials and residents in planning and site selection for hazardous waste facilities.

The conference will be held in the Liberal Arts Building on the Schoolcraft campus, on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia. The fee of $12 includes a luncheon.

Purpose of the conference is to discuss government's role in assuring safe, responsible treatment, storage, and disposal of waste materials.

Canton Rotary buys bus from schools

The Canton Rotary Club has donated a school bus to the Canton Recreation Department.

The gift was made during the club's regular meeting Monday. The bus, a 1970 General Motors 66-passenger model, was purchased for $1,750 from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Its mileage ranged somewhere between 87,000 and 120,000 miles, according to school officials.

It is scheduled to be used by Canton's three senior citizens clubs and for other activities offered by the recreation department.

Canton's Recreation Supervisor Mike Gouin said the bus will help enhance many programs. Gouin said in the past, some residents missed field-trip activities because of limited transportation.

Besides senior citizens, Gouin said the summer playground and 45-15 (Extended School Year) recreation programs would benefit from the additional transportation.

DR. CHARLES BARES, Rotary president, turned over ownership of the bus. Bares stressed that Rotary was extremely pleased to donate the bus.

"This year, we chose the Parks and Recreation Department to be the recipient of our fund-raising efforts because of the need for this bus," Bares said.

"We look forward to the service it will provide for not only our senior citizens clubs, but for others who will make use of it through the parks and recreation department."

The Rotarians pride themselves as one of the most active clubs in the area. They have provided past funding for the Canton library fund, the Canton Historical Society and the Salvation Army building fund.

RETIRE YOUR MONEY FROM TAXES NOW SO YOU CAN RETIRE MORE COMFORTABLY LATER.

The new 1982 tax law now makes it possible for a low-income person to tax-shelter up to $2,000 per year in an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at First Federal Savings of Detroit.

To make it easier for you, the regulations permit you to deduct your IRA deposits from your gross income before you figure your income tax. So you don't pay tax on your IRA deposit or on the interest it earns until you retire and start to withdraw your money. * At that time, you'll probably be in a lower tax bracket than in your working years.

To make saving for your retirement more convenient, First Federal offers many attractive retirement plans including two new 18-month accounts and our popular 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account. Our savings counselors will be happy to provide all the details.

Minimum deposit for this type of account is $100.00. Additions can be made at any time for any amount without extending the maturity date of your certificate.

18-MONTH FIXED RATE ACCOUNT

Annual Rate compounded quarterly.
Effective Annual Yield 13.098%
Rate is effective Jan. 8, 1982, until further notice.

The interest rates for the 18-Month Fixed Rate Account, and the 30-Month Money Market Certificate Account, are established at the time you open your account and remain in effect during the entire term. The minimum deposit for these accounts is $100.00 and additional accounts may be opened any time at the then current rate.

30-MONTH MONEY MARKET CERTIFICATE ACCOUNT

Annual Rate compounded quarterly.
Effective Annual Yield 13.648%
Rate is effective Jan. 8, 1982, until further notice.

And remember, your IRA account is insured separately to $100,000, by the FSUC, regardless of any other funds you may have with us.

EXTRA BONUS

As an extra bonus, you will qualify for an interest-earning checking account—free of monthly service charges—when you open a new IRA account of $1,000 or more. No minimum balance required, no monthly service charges. You get 50 free personalized checks and a First Federal Prestige* Card for 24-hour Night Owl Window service.

Get all the details at any First Federal office and open the IRA that best fits your financial situation. It will be a great feeling to know that when retirement day comes your First Federal IRA will start paying it all back plus much, much more.

Livonia solar firm is proving all the experts wrong

At Sunway Solar Systems Inc. on Eight Mile Road in Livonia, they don't have time to sit around and worry about the recession.

The staff is too busy selling a passive solar system some experts said wouldn't work.

In the past year that Sunway has been in the area, sales have boomed and the future looks just a bright.

"As of the middle of October," said Lynn Schroll, Sunway sales manager, "we passed the $1-million sales mark with over 2,000 installations in the state of Michigan and over 400 in the metropolitan Detroit area. We're averaging about 50 a month."

SUNWAY SYSTEMS is the brainchild of a former aerospace engineer, John Whitmore and pioneered in the Petoskey area, where winters are uncommonly cold and snowbound is a household word.

So many of the systems have been sold in the winter resort area that they're referred to as the "black plague" with house after house in and out of the city limits equipped with the system.

The "black" reference stems from the visual effect created by panels of glass covering two layers of black screen that are applied directly to the house and held in place by wooden or aluminum grid work.

"The system is so simple that it's hard to believe," Schroll said. But it's also this simplicity of design that makes it one of the most economical alternatives on the market today, he added.

Economy and the threat of higher home heating prices are what got Whitmore into solar system design in the first place 10 years ago.

HIS MORE THAN 20-year engineering background convinced him that there was a better way to utilize the sun than by installing bulky, expensive liquid home heating systems that froze in the winter and dripped in the summer.

His idea was to fasten a box on the wall and let the sun shine on the wall and the heat flow in.

But experts in the field said it wouldn't work. Air won't transport enough heat energy, he was told.

An undaunted Whitmore went ahead and used his own house as a guinea pig. He found that his air transport system did indeed work. By 1977 there were two Whitmore-designed solar collectors in northern Michigan. Eighty "experiments" later, he and two friends formed Energy Marketing Group Inc., and began to manufacture and market Whitmore's Sunway Solar Systems.

Newer homes built with solar in mind can save 75 to 80 percent over conventional fuel consumption. With older homes, 25 to 30 percent is the norm. In the summer, the angle of the sun, the presence of shade trees and the lack of snow bounce are nature's controls that effectively regulate the heat output.

IN THE WINTER, Whitmore explains, the black surface converts light energy into heat energy and a reduction of heat loss because the outer walls are warmed. Since the collectors are vertical rather than slanted, they are self-regulating. The high summer sun provides little heat while the lower winter sun path puts 91 percent of its energy through the panels.

The system is not presented as a substitute for other heating systems, but as a supplement.

One of the features of the systems is that they are custom engineered to meet the heating needs of the home based on the number of square feet, its exposure and other factors.

The average collector is 134 square feet on a 1,200 square foot house, ranging in cost from $2,000 to $2,500. For larger homes and hybrid-passive systems, the cost usually ranges between $2,500 and $3,500.

"But more than half of the full amount can be recovered from tax credits and rebates," Schroll said.

RECENTLY WHITMORE bucked the experts on still another front when he charged several big utilities with giving out misinformation to homeowners as part of home energy audit program.

Whitmore has asked that the utilities, Detroit Edison and Michigan Consolidated Gas, discontinue the audits until a computer programming error can be corrected.

Indian Pow Wow to be held at OCC

Students at Oakland Community College are hoping to acquaint others with traditions of American Indians during an upcoming weekend Pow Wow.

Traditional Indian dancing and singing will be featured from noon to 4 p.m. Jan. 16 and 7-10 p.m. Jan. 17 in the H Building gymnasium on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College. The campus is on Orchard Lake Road south of I-696 in Farmington Hills.

Matthew Hanna, an OCC student and coordinator of the event, said he sent flyers to Indian centers in the area asking for singers and dancers.

"It's a chance to familiarize students in the area with American Indian cultures," he said.

Members of various Michigan Indian tribes will be on hand.

Benny Bearskin Jr., a participant in the Indian community, will act as master of ceremonies. The Blue Lake Singers, led by Jose Marcus, will perform.

The public is invited. Donations are $1 for singers, $2 for dancers.

Indian crafts, jewelry and food will be available.

How does a municipality get its credit rating?

By Suzie Rollins Singer
staff writer

Like all borrowers, cities and townships depend on their credit ratings to get the lowest possible interest rate.

Credit ratings are necessary when municipalities want to sell bonds to build libraries, parking structures, city halls and sewers. Financial institutions eye the ratings to determine the municipalities' ability to pay back bonds and what interest rate to charge.

Rating agencies, such as Standard & Poor's and Moody's Investment Service, determine credit ratings for most local governments.

"Municipal credit ratings are done at the time bonds are issued," said Bob C. Bendzinski Sr., of Bendzinski and Co.

Municipal Finance Advisors.

"They (rating agencies) judge the municipality's accountability, how frequently it reviews reports, its labor problems, how quickly it settles contracts, if it has professional administrators and outstanding debts," Bendzinski said.

Growth potential is also considered.

BENDZINSKI'S firm assists several cities, including Farmington Hills and Westland, by drafting their reports to be presented to underwriters.

"We don't sell bonds to the public, and we don't sell to underwriters. We're independent financial advisors who assist in marketing the city's bonds," he explained.

Most often municipalities seek general obligation bonds, which are voted for by the community residents. Once voters approve a bond sale for a library or other building, the bonds are placed on the competitive bid market. At that time, financial institutions, such as securities firms or banks, bid on the issue.

"The bid is awarded to the underwriter who provides the least amount of interest cost over the life of the bond," Bendzinski said.

STANDARD & Poor's rates viable candidates in three categories: AAA, which means the city's capacity to repay is strong and the possibility of default nil; AA, a very strong rating with the possibility of default extremely unlikely; A, strong credit rating, but subject to change due to economic changes, with slim possibility of default.

B ratings are considered a higher risk and more likely to default. Therefore, it's doubtful purchasing institutions would be interested in buying bonds from B-rated cities, Bendzinski explained.

Municipalities without outstanding debts are not rated.

HERE ARE credit ratings of cities and townships in the Observer & Eccentric area as listed in Standard & Poor's directory. Standard & Poor's ratings are usually used by bankers and investors whereas Moody's ratings are most often consulted by underwriters.

Although the ratings of the two Wall Street firms have different code letters (Moody's uses A-1 instead of A), their designations are comparable.

- Birmingham: AA. Last March, Birmingham sold $2.2 million of bonds for a library addition at 9.7 percent interest rate.

- Canton Township: not rated for general obligation bonds.

- Farmington: A-1 rating by Moody's. Not rated by Standard & Poor's.

- Farmington Hills: A.

- Garden City: not rated; no outstanding debts.

- Livonia: A.

- Plymouth: A-1 from Moody's. Not rated by Standard & Poor's.

- Redford: not rated; no outstanding debts.

- Rochester: not rated; no outstanding debts.
- Southfield: AA.
- Troy: A.

- West Bloomfield Township: no rating; no outstanding debt.
- Westland: A.

'No comment' on Spreen arrest

By Suzie Rollins Singer
staff writer

A Michigan assistant attorney general refuses to discuss a request for an arrest warrant charging Oakland County Sheriff Johannes F. Spreen with assault.

On Dec. 21, Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson asked Assistant Attorney General John Wilson to investigate the warrant request.

"I have nothing to say about the case at all. I can't tell you anything," Wilson said when asked if the request were being investigated.

A spokesperson in Patterson's office said she hasn't received any reports from Wilson's office.

THE ARREST warrant inquiry stems from a complaint filed against the sheriff by Sgt. Keith Overby, who works for the county safety division under the county executive.

Overby charged Spreen detained him against his will in the lobby of the county jail at 4:30 p.m. Dec. 20.

Overby was assigned to the front desk at the jail, signing visitors in and out. In a report, Overby said he wanted Spreen arrested for "simple assault" because he "unlawfully grabbed me by the arm and detained me without reason."

SPREEN MAILED his own three-page report to the media, which states that the sheriff was angry because the security desk was unmanned.

Spreen's report, actually authored by Deputy Marc Cooper, said Spreen asked Overby his name, then requested his special deputy card and his permit to carry a concealed weapon. Cooper said Overby was sarcastic and "exhibited a high level of emotion" when asked for the identification.

Overby contended that Spreen had no right to detain him in the jailhouse lobby.

State grant assists travel to Silverdome

Thanks to a state grant, SEMTA trains will transport football fans to and from the Pontiac Silverdome on Super Bowl Sunday.

"The rail tracks near the stadium are normally used for freight operations and will be used to bring fans to the Silverdome for the first time by SEMTA trains on Jan. 24," said Gary Krause, acting general manager of SEMTA.

"This was made possible by a special $42,700 grant from the State of Michigan which allowed us to build a temporary platform at the stadium for passengers to disembark a few hundred feet away from the Silverdome's west gate," he added.

As the official transportation coordinating agency, SEMTA will be responsible for getting everyone to the game from players, to the concession stand workers, to the owners of private jets who fly into local airports just for the day.

A few thousand fans will ride the SEMTA Super Bowl Express from Detroit's Renaissance Center. The train will leave downtown Detroit at 1 p.m. and depart from Pontiac 1½ hours after the game. Round trip tickets are available to the public for $25 per person. Advance reservations are necessary and may be made by calling 256-8657.

In addition, more than 50,000 people will travel to the dome in 1,200 chartered buses.

Planning for Super Bowl transportation has been under way for more than a year.

Livonia rehab center will close

The Detroit Southern Office of Michigan Rehabilitation Services at 27347 W. Six Mile in Livonia will be closed beginning Friday.

Because of federal and state budget cuts, the office was forced to close its doors, a state announcement said.

Handicapped persons who had been receiving employment-related services from the Livonia office now will be served by the seven remaining rehabilitation offices in Wayne County.

Canton sign restrictions must be scrapped

WHEN CANTON'S CHAMBER of Commerce meets for its annual dinner Monday in the Roman Forum Restaurant, don't be surprised if you see a lot of sad, sad faces.

It's no surprise to anyone that 1981 was not the best of years for the local retail businesses.

And things don't look like much better for 1982. So, when the Canton Board of Trustees meets next month to discuss possible revisions of an extremely strict sign ordinance, it is most important to realize major changes are necessary to give Canton businesses a badly-needed shot in the arm.

Proposed changes include the use of free-standing signs, an increase in the number of farm-produce signs, the use of signs double the size now allowed and tower signs along the I-275 freeway.

THIS AVID FAST-FOOD junky was shocked to travel up and down Ford Road and not be able to find a quick-bite shop — when they were there all along, but extremely hard to notice.

One can pity the consumer who may forget his or her driving glasses when traveling in Canton. It must be murder to find that favorite shop.

The signs in Canton are so small that it's a wonder any consumer can find anything in the township. Because big-name franchises are hurting in Canton, due to sign restrictions, just think how difficult it is for the small business person who operates a business in the township.

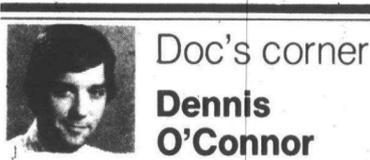

One of the main arguments against bigger signs for businesses involves aesthetic considerations. Many persons fear a Las Vegas-like clutter from big signs.

Many persons also believe bigger signs are not the answer to the economic woes of our businesses.

Others feel the business problems are directly related to the Canton people not shopping in Canton because they have no money.

TRUE, BIG SIGNS CAN be extremely ugly. One look on Ford Road in the neighboring communities of Westland and Garden City proves it.

Canton businesses are properly spaced, however.

so it's hard to see bigger signs giving the township a "junk" effect.

Besides, it's better that the township looks junky and prospers than be beautiful and being doing little or no business.

Maybe bigger signs won't help Canton businesses, but who really knows that's true?

Local business persons may want to reevaluate seriously what Canton has to offer the consumer. Maybe that's the problem.

But bigger signs won't hurt businesses or the township. Bigger signs are sure to help people find what they want to purchase. It's a solid step in the right direction.

And if Canton residents don't have the money to shop, that's one thing. But when, and if, the economy gets better, it's the obligation of Canton businesses and Canton residents to work together to support each other.

Most businesses rely on both local and areawide consumers — all the more reason for revising the sign ordinance.

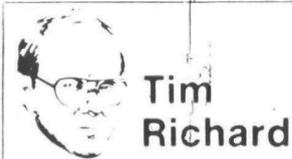

DO YOU REALIZE that Canton is practically the last main stop for any traveller going south on I-275 until Monroe or Toledo?

Canton officials should jump at the opportunity for free-standing signs and tower signs along the expressway at both the Ford and Michigan exits.

What better way is there to expose the community to outstate consumers?

Canton business persons continue to suffer each day because of a poor economy, and the future doesn't look any brighter.

But there may be a ray of hope, no matter how slight, if they are given a chance to draw consumers to their businesses by revising the harsh sign ordinance.

Young needs to meet with his neighbors

To his credit, Coleman Young has grown in breadth of vision in his eight years as mayor of Detroit.

Like many politicians, he started out looking after his own turf, then his own city. The tactic is to show your constituents you're at war with the rest of the world and looking out for No. 1.

Dan Murphy used to be like that as Oakland County executive. He saw the light in about 1977 and developed a regional view. He still looks out for Oakland County, by golly, but the antagonistic attitude toward Detroit is gone.

Ed McNamara used to be like that as mayor of Livonia. He shook it quite a while ago and rose to leadership of the regional transit authority and a host of other positions. One reason McNamara is a top contender for Wayne County executive in 1982 is that he can talk with Young.

IN HIS INAUGURAL for a third term, Mayor Young stuck it to "President Pruneface" harder than ever, but he was polite to his southeastern Michigan neighbors.

He promised to "stretch out our hand to our suburban neighbors (and) to the rest of the state" in new alliances.

He asked for "a relationship between equals, not a relationship between a man and a boy, or a master and a slave."

Except for the racial remark, that sentence could have come out of Dan Murphy's 1977 speech.

Young then told newsmen he would seek out meetings later this month with mayors from southern Oakland and western Wayne counties to discuss common problems — budgets, services, diminishing aid from Washington and Lansing.

HERE I MUST correct the man. There is no need to call a special meeting for such negotiations.

The mechanism is already in place. It is the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, now chaired by Dan Murphy.

Detroit has been a member of SEMCOG since it was formed a dozen years ago. Young has been an official delegate to SEMCOG since he was elected mayor eight years ago.

Young has been an official delegate, but not an actual one. To my knowledge, he has never attended a SEMCOG General Assembly or Executive Committee meeting. He has always sent one of his appointees.

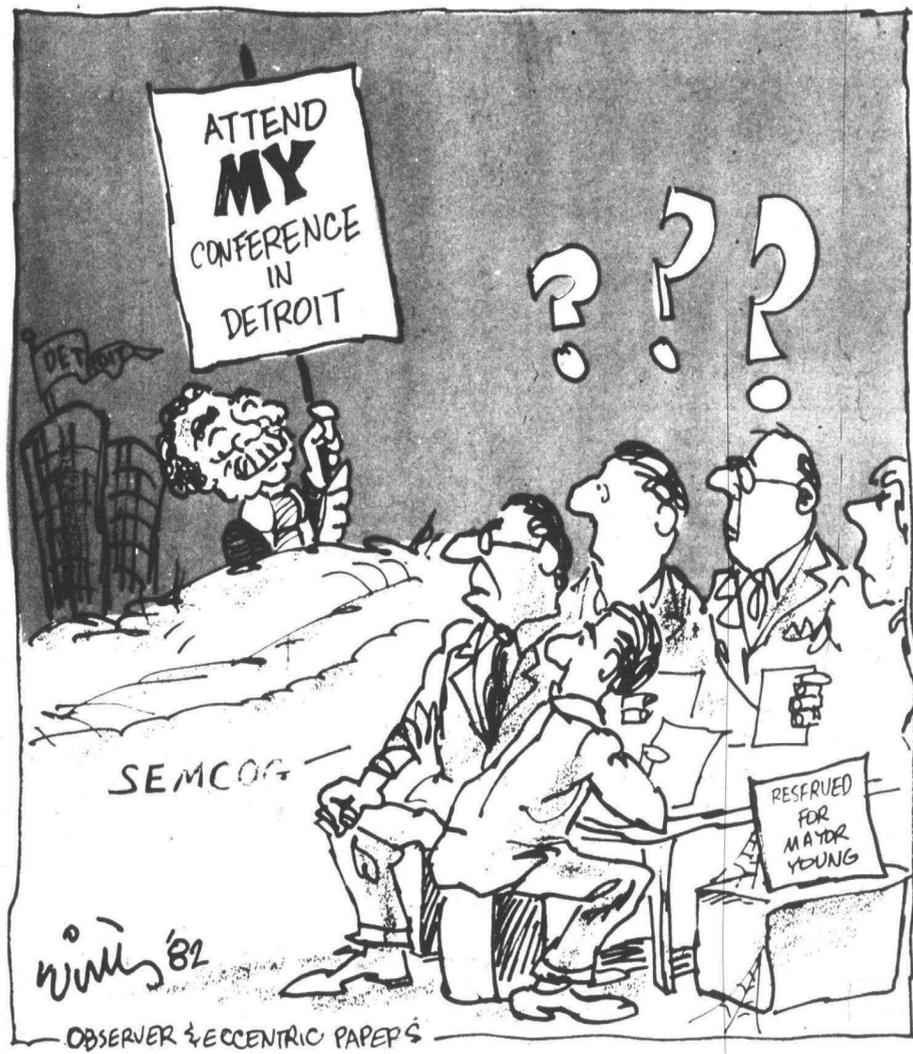

SEMCOG, interestingly, held a forum late in 1981 on how to manage local government in times of tax loss. It's a problem of interest to Young. I covered part of the forum myself. I sent a reporter to cover another part of it. Neither of us saw Young.

THERE IS no need for Young to try to reinvent the wheel while the rest of us are aboard the SEMCOG van, miles down the road, looking at Young's empty seat.

There are two excellent reasons Young should attend SEMCOG meetings in person. One is that SEMCOG is subject to Michigan's Open Meetings Act. No smoke-filled room stuff.

The other is that the tone of SEMCOG meetings is always civil. Delegates have their differences and argue their home-town interests, but they respect the other town's point of view and look for the good of the whole.

To his credit, Young has abandoned the attitude that Detroit is the center of the empire and that suburbs are political and economic colonies. He is broadening his point of view. Let's hear a little applause.

Sportswriter ethics

Reporter or cheerleader?

Jimmy Campbell, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, reopened an old question recently when he denied a Grand Rapids sportswriter the privilege of riding on the team's chartered planes during the coming season and the favor of reserving his hotel rooms on road trips. The reason was that the writer printed what was supposed to be classified team information. The question:

When a writer is given these privileges, is he obligated to write only favorable comment on the team's activities?

It is common knowledge that the professional teams — Tigers, Lions, Pistons and others — consider the writers members of the traveling squad and make all arrangements for travel.

These privileges are not a gratuity. Their newspapers are billed for them — and most papers demand to be billed — as a means of preventing the writer from becoming "a homer."

CAMPBELL BECAME irked when this supposedly classified information on ratings of the players was printed in the Grand Rapids Press. He immediately demanded to know where the writer obtained the "secret papers."

When this was refused, Campbell took the action that has caused all sorts of comment on the sports horizon.

It is well known that the pro teams have been doing this for years, but this is one of the few times the argument ever has come out in the open.

As he read of Campbell's action, The Stroller recalled two occasions in his sportswriting career when he was subjected to criticism because he wrote stories that didn't suit the management of the teams.

SOME YEARS ago, on a southern training trip with the Tigers, he drew manager Mickey Cochrane's wrath with a story about releasing some of the players at squad-cutting time.

Mickey didn't deny him any privileges but

wouldn't speak to him for several weeks. That was supposed to be punishment.

On another occasion, he was traveling with the University of Detroit football team and was in Pittsburgh for a Friday night game with Duquesne University. The game was played on a dimly-lit field, and the Detroit team met defeat.

Because it was a night game, The Stroller had to write his story in the press box to meet a late deadline. When he returned to the team's hotel, there was all sorts of discussion of the treatment the team got, and these came close to being alibis.

The lads on the afternoon papers the next day wrote of the team's feelings. They drew the praise of players and coaches.

WHEN THE Stroller walked into the coach's office on the following Monday, the late Gus Dorais looked at him with a jaundiced eye and asked, "What was wrong with you Friday night, that you would write like you did?"

The Stroller listened, then answered, "Gus, I am not an alumnus of the school. Neither do I work for you. I was sent to the game by the newspaper to report what I saw, and that's what I did."

Gus rose from his chair, stuck out his hand, and we became the best of friends for the rest of his life.

Jimmy Campbell would have done just as well if he had taken the writer's work as a "scoop" and went looking for the person who had "leaked" the information.

Giving blood: necessary but scary

I'm afraid to give blood. I know there's no good reason for someone to be afraid of donating blood, but I still have the feeling that there's only so much of this good red stuff flowing inside of me. If I let some of it out, there will be that much less for me.

During blood drives at work, I always manage to be "out of the office." I find numerous creative excuses to avoid blood drives at the local school.

I know my feelings are not well-reasoned. But I still have them. My conscience was bothered when I read last week that the American Red Cross Bloodmobile was taking donations at the Farmington Hills Holiday Inn. The article said that some brave souls gave blood every eight weeks.

I HAD TO put in a call to Noreen Petersen of the American Red Cross. I wanted her to soothe my conscience.

She laughed when I told her about my problem. "I know what you are talking about," she said. "I have three sons who pride themselves on being macho. Yet two of them won't give blood."

Ms. Petersen addressed my fear. She said the body has between 11 and 12 pints of blood. While donating blood, less than a pint is given up.

The plasma (fluid) part of that pint is returned in a day, and the red cells are replaced in six weeks according to Ms. Petersen.

In addition, everyone who donates blood is given a physical examination to make sure they will not endanger their health.

I ALSO LEARNED much more about giving blood. This is National Blood Donor's Month. Bloodmobiles are now traveling throughout this area accepting donations.

For instance, on Monday in addition to the Bloodmobile in Farmington Hills, others could be found at an insurance company in Southfield and at Rochester High School.

The best way to find a convenient time to give blood is to call a regional Red Cross office. Nearby offices are in Livonia, Bloomfield Hills and Oak Park.

Blood giving has changed in the past few years. A few years ago, an individual gave so many pints of blood and they were put into a "bank." If that person or someone in his family needed the blood, then the pints could be taken out of that "bank."

But blood is available today to anyone who needs it. No fees are paid for replacement blood (although a small administrative fee is required).

The blood supply is adequate in this area this week. However, projections are that by the middle of next week, the supply may be low. Because of the temporary shutdown of many auto plants, industrial blood drives were cancelled.

The greatest need is for O-positive blood. This is the most common type of blood, so it is required by the most persons.

SO MUCH FOR some of the facts about local blood donations. As I put it bluntly to Noreen Petersen of the American Red Cross, what's in it for me?

"Mostly people tell me they feel better about themselves after giving," she said. "You know that you will be helping someone to live who may have had a serious accident and may need it during an operation."

She compared blood donating to pioneer days when people could only survive by helping each other. "Everyone pitched in if that meant saving a life or building a well."

For me, that's a strong argument.

For those less idealistic, there are free orange juice and cookies. Also, as already mentioned, donors receive a free physical exam.

Now I am convinced I will give up a pint of the good red stuff next time I have a chance. I tell Ms. Petersen she's a good salesperson.

'Frame' your pictures through the viewfinder

Everyone will agree that a properly selected and assembled frame will add tremendously to the overall presentation of a piece of artwork, including a photograph.

Did you know there's another kind of frame you can apply in your photography, one that can add a great deal of impact to your pictures?

I'm referring to "framing" in your viewfinder as you compose your shot. As a compositional technique, framing can turn an other wise plain scene into a beautiful, harmonious one and can add important impact to your photograph.

FAMILIAR techniques of framing include looking through, under, around and over a foreground object that totally or partially frames a more important object behind.

For example, hanging branches will make a sky more interesting and give emphasis to the landscape or seascape behind. An overhanging roof adds accent to a street scene.

Monte Nagler

An archway directs attention to the subject inside, and a looming rock formation will give foundation to an overall scene. Even a portrait can be made more striking when a window is used as an impromptu frame.

Often times, framing effects are so natural that a viewer of a photograph isn't aware of their presence in a picture. Yet if framing were absent from the composition, it would be missed and the picture would lose impact.

It is up to you, the photographer, to use framing when appropriate in a way that will complement your photograph.

THE SHAPE of your frame can be important.

Rectangular frames such as windows and doorways will visually reinforce the main scene.

Circular or curved frames are more dynamic and will draw more attention to themselves as they encompass the subject of the scene.

Foreground objects such as rocks will add substance and act as a base to your shot. Look for unusual frames, too, such as a car door, an outstretched arm or a fence. Keep in mind that frames which contrast with the area they surround, either in color or tonal values are most exciting.

BECAUSE many "frames" you'll use will be close to your camera position, you'll need to pay particular attention to depth-of-field.

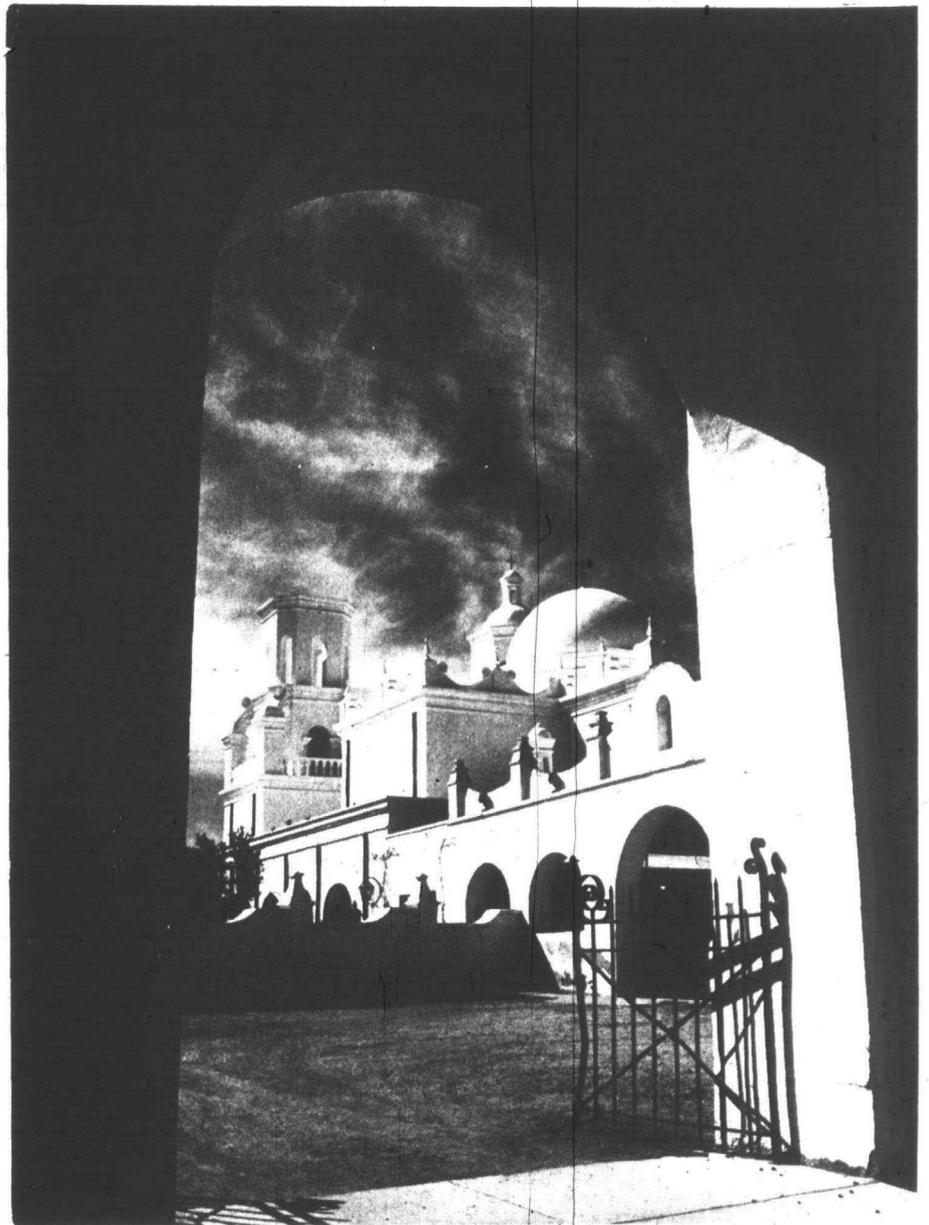

Many times, a small aperture (f/16 or f/22) will be needed to maximize depth-of-field so that foreground objects will be sharp in the final picture. Be sure to use your camera's depth-of-field preview button and read the depth-of-field scale on your lens in order to get the zone of sharpness your picture requires.

Switching to a wide-angle lens will increase depth-of-field even further and will help you to get foreground objects in the scene.

There may be times, however, when you want intentionally to blur the foreground to obtain a misty, romantic effect. Just adjust the depth-of-field accordingly.

Experiment with different camera angles, too, and you'll be surprised with the many objects that are available to use as frames. Really look through the viewfinder and compose carefully, giving thought to your final image. Your pictures will get framed and you'll get the payoff.

©1982, Monte Nagler

MONTE NAGLER

An archway at the San Xavier Mission in Tucson serves as a natural frame for the spires inside.

Note how the foreground boulders add foundation to this picture and act as a "frame" for the rock monuments in the background. Monte Nagler used a wide angle lens and small aperture to maximize depth-of-field.

roll call report

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the closing days of the First Session of the 97th Congress.

HQUSE

FARM BILL: By a vote of 205-203, the House approved and sent to the president a new farm program expected to cost $11 billion over its four-year life.

Among its most disputed provisions, the bill provides sugar price supports disliked by consumers and food companies; continues peanut production controls but on a stricter basis than in the past; contains raises in price supports for grain and other basic crops that were called too modest by farm organizations; trims federal price supports for dairy farmers, and extends the food stamp program for one year.

Supporter Paul Findley, R-Ill., said the bill "will have farmers producing for the market rather than the government (and) will help bring federal spending and inflation under control."

Opponent Peter Peyser, D-N.Y., said "every major consumer group, the major farm groups, are all opposing this bill, and for good reason."

Members voting "yea" favored the farm bill. Reps. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, David Bonior, D-Mt. Clemens, and William Brodhead, D-Detroit, voted "yea."

Reps. William Ford, D-Taylor, James Blanchard, D-Pleasant Ridge, and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham, did not vote.

OIL TAKEOVERS: The House passed, 223-107, and sent to the Senate a bill to prohibit until June 30 any of the nine largest oil companies from acquiring any of the top 40 oil companies. Retroactive to Dec. 1, the bill's chief aim was to thwart the attempt by Mobil Corp. to gain control of Marathon Oil Co.

Supporter Silvio Conte, R-Mass., said that smaller companies such as Getty, Sun, Union, Citgo, Pennzoil and Kerr-McGee "could be gone in the bat of an eyelash and the industry changed forever into a conglomeration of super-giants."

Opponent Phil Gramm, D-Texas, said "we are talking about a last-minute bill that infringes on the basic right of Americans to buy and sell property."

Members voting "yea" wanted to temporary moratorium on the giants of the oil industry buying other oil companies.

Pursell, Brodhead and Blanchard voted "yea."

Bonior, Ford and Broomfield did not vote.

SOCIAL SECURITY: By a vote of 412-10 the House approved and sent to the president legislation that restores the $122-a-month minimum benefit for persons now receiving Social Security. But the minimum payment will be eliminated for persons starting to receive Social Security in 1982. The bill also provides temporary funding for the near-bankrupt Old Age and Survivor's trust fund by allowing it to borrow from other Social Security trust funds until the end of 1982.

Supporter J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, pledged that despite the temporary nature of this bill Congress will make "meaningful reforms" in Social Security by early 1983.

Opponent Bill Archer, R-Texas, said the bill fails to address basic reforms and that it is "designed solely to get us through the next election."

Members voting "yea" favored restoring the minimum benefit and other provisions of the Social Security bill.

Pursell, Bonior, Ford, Brodhead, Blanchard and Broomfield voted "yea."

MEMBERS' TAXES: The Senate adopted, 56-36, an amendment whose chief effect is to give married congressmen the same tax break on Washington housing expenses that single members receive. Under the amendment, members can claim a business deduction on Washington housing even if their families live with them. This eliminated an IRS rule based on the assumption that a second home used to house a family was not a legitimate away-from-home expense. All eligible taxpayers will benefit from the amendment.

Sponsor Robert Dole, R-Kan., said "we simply clarified the law across the board. It applies to everyone, not just

Opponent Carl Levin, D-Mich., said "this does yield and confer a financial benefit for most of us, those of us that are married."

Senators voting "yea" favored changing the tax laws to benefit married congressmen and certain other taxpayers.

Michigan's Democratic senators Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted "nay."

LIBYA: By a vote of 57-34 the Senate killed a non-binding resolution aimed at Libya. The sense-of-the-Senate resolution that was tabled by this vote advocated cutting off U.S. purchases of Libyan oil. The administration opposed the resolution.

Burroughs loans PR exec to unit

The Detroit Economic Growth Corp. (DEGC) has appointed Dan P. Lutzeier (DEGC) director of public affairs. He will be responsible for communications, research, and resource development.

Lutzeier will be an executive on loan from Burroughs Corp., where he has served as director of civic and community relations.

DEGC President Robert W. Spencer said Lutzeier has had a variety of key assignments. Lutzeier has worked in civic, government and press relations; employee publications; issues management, and corporate contributions.

He has served as board member of the National Public Affairs Council, the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, the New Center Area Council, and Civic Searchlight, Inc.

A graduate of Princeton University, the Detroit resident holds a master's in business administration from Michigan State University. He will join DEGC in mid-January.

ALL CONTEST winners are not smiling faces in faraway places. It can happen close to home.

Ledah Schrader, daughter of Kenneth and Sally Schrader of Lake Pointe Village in Plymouth Township, has won a Caribbean cruise valued at more than $2,000.

Ledah, a junior at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant, is leaving Saturday. She and her friend, Kelli Oohm, will fly from Grand Rapids to Miami. There they will board the cruise ship Carnival for a week's cruise of the Caribbean. They will be traveling first class in an outside cabin with stops at Samana, St. Juan, and St. Thomas before returning to Miami.

The contest was sponsored by Radio Station WZZR in Grand Rapids. The girls' entry blank was filled out in a Grand Haven store.

Ledah is majoring in physical education at CMU. She was a 1979 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School where she was captain of the gymnastics team her senior year. She also was a cheerleader.

During her freshman and sophomore years at high school, Ledah was an Observer carrier.

THE PLYMOUTH

Newcomers insist that it was sheer coincidence that their guest speakers, Mary Childs and Jack Wilcox, were also prize winners at their January luncheon meeting.

Evidently there was no hanky-panky involved — it was a fair draw.

There are so many talented handicrafters in the club that each month two of them donate handmade articles as prizes. (Jack graciously returned his counted cross-stitch owl to the club.)

Membership in the Plymouth and Canton Township Newcomers clubs reflects the slowdown in building and real estate sales. Memberships have gone down from about 250 to, in the case of the Plymouth club, 100. The number of women who have gone to work and the number who haven't the extra cash for babysitters and luncheons may be another factor.

The Canton club has dropped the "newcomers" label and become the Canton Women's Club.

The Plymouth Newcomers have been trying to find out when their club was founded by Vivian Champion. Some records give the impression that the club is in its 24th year but some people believe it is 25 years old.

If there are any charter members around who remember the exact year, please give us a call. The club may be due for a silver anniversary celebration.

TELEVISION

viewers may recognize some familiar faces in commercials for WXYZ radio. Ann Arendsen, Phyllis Counts and Chuck Miller appeared in shots filmed at the Detroit Soup Kitchen, a Coney Island Restaurant and on Belle Isle.

MICHIGAN'S First Lady,

Helen Milliken was in town yesterday for the taping of a program for Ann Arendsen's AM/PM talk show. Livonia resident Laura Callow, Michigan ERAmerica co-chair, interviewed Mrs. Milliken. She and Sharon Percy Rockefeller are national co-chairs of ERAmerica. The topic? You guessed it — the Equal Rights Amendment.

The interview will be aired the week of Jan. 18 at 11 a.m. and 9 p.m. on Cablevision Channel 13. Note the new time for Ann's show. There have been some schedule changes to fit in Jackie Gordon's one-hour show "Gordon's Journal." The widow of Lou Gordon does her own program at 9 a.m. with a re-run at 7 p.m.

A local gourmet group arranged a special luncheon in honor of Mrs. Milliken's and Mrs. Percy's visit. Sharon Flower planned the menu for the luncheon which was hosted by Jean Hubbard of Northville.

Among the guests were Jan Crook, Sue Decker, Peg Jennings, Carol Richardson, Joyce Stohberg, Prudy Vannier, Laura Callow Kristin Reid and Ann Arendsen.

GLASSBLOWER

Don Schneider will be featured craftsman Sunday at the Mayflower Hotel. He will be making the glass beads which also can be seen at the glass museum in Toledo.

Dorothy Wallet (left) and Dr. Ruth Needham enjoyed the reminiscing of former mayor Mary Childs.

Newcomers served a taste of history

Members of the Plymouth Newcomers Club were dined and entertained last week at their first meeting of the new year.

More than 60 women met for lunch at the Mayflower Meeting House. As they dined, they were entertained by nine members of the We-Way-Co chapter of Sweet Adelines Inc. The barber-shop singers harmonized on a medley of old favorites including "Sentimental Journey" and "In the Mood."

Two guest speakers were slated for the program. The result, according to Carol Brandt, club president, was pure enjoyment.

Mary Childs' fast-moving 10-minute talk could have been billed as "A Funny Thing Happened During My Term As Mayor."

As the former mayor of Plymouth reminisced, she shared the experience of being boosted into the gondola of a hot-air balloon and other incidents.

She told of acquiring the title Maryin' Mary because of the many weddings she performed. Among the more unusual was a Korean couple. He gave her a ring and she gave him a watch, for as a married man, "he would have to watch out."

JACK WILCOX gave a slide and talk presentation about the history of his house, a white frame house on Penniman Avenue at Union Street which is a Plymouth landmark.

Wilcox told of the stir of talk about the house when it was built at the turn-of-the-century for a local industrialist's mistress. It was not until the Wilcox family bought the house that the good matrons of the village had an opportunity to appease their curiosity about the notorious dwelling.

"It was a marvelous talk and everyone loved it," said Mrs. Brandt.

Members of the Plymouth Newcomers Club had a glimpse of the past at their January luncheon meeting.

Jack Wilcox told the history of his house which was the talk of the town when it was built at the turn of the century.

Professor tells LWV

Health care for all in England and Sweden

By Sherry Kahan
staff writer

Equitable health care is regarded as a right of citizenship in England and Sweden, Dr. Marilyn Rosenthal recently told members of the Livonia League of Women Voters.

Speaking at the Hill House Museum at Greenmead, the medical sociologist added that this is not the case in the U.S. "where we leave it to individuals, with special groups being assisted by government in a relatively unsuccessful fashion."

In these other countries it is regarded as a nationwide responsibility, and the entire society shares the tax burden to support it, she added.

An assistant professor at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Dr. Rosenthal was invited to speak to local league members because the organization is currently researching national health care. After a two-year study by a committee, recommendations will be made to membership, and a consensus will be formulated.

OPINIONS OF the Livonia league as well as other leagues throughout the country will be forwarded to the national league which will then announce a health care position and take action on it.

A Livonia resident, Dr. Rosenthal earned her Ph.D. at the University of Michigan. She has led classes of students to England and Sweden three times to compare health care systems. A fourth class will leave July 3.

She has also taken a group of students to the Peoples Republic of China on two occasions to view its health care.

"IT IS GENERALLY agreed that the U.S. offers the best quality health care in the world today," she said. "But we have the most costly system in the world. In 1980 we spent $182 billion on health care. We spend the highest percentage of our gross national product on health, but we don't have the best statistics.

"The British are able to keep their costs down with heavy reliance on general practitioners who practice a less costly style of medicine, and through controlling the amount of money that goes into health service.

She explained that one way to estimate a nation's health care is to examine statistics on infant mortality and life expectancy which are published by the World Health Organization.

"THE U.S. does not do as well on either (statistic) as England and Sweden, although we spend very large amounts of money on our system. England spends about half of what we spend (percentage), with comparable or better statistics than ours. We have to be shocked that a wealthy and powerful country with the most advanced technology doesn't have the best statistics."

Sweden has the lowest infant mortality rate in the world, the speaker observed, attributing this to its program of maternal and infant care. The U.S. ranks behind both countries in life expectancy.

DR. ROSENTHAL described the American system as fragmented in the sense that it is financed by the government, private insurance companies and patients. The other systems are financed by taxes.

"Eighty percent of American physicians are specialists who have had a rigorous education," she observed. "The emphasis is on research and advanced technology. It is a very hospital- and technology-oriented system."

The U.S. lacks a central planning authority, although in 1974 an attempt was made to introduce an element of planning on a regional basis, she pointed out. Locally it is called the Comprehensive Health Planning Council of Southeastern Michigan, which is currently trying to lower hospital costs.

"THIS WAS our first attempt at central planning," said the speaker. "Now it is being eroded by legislation. Its budget was cut in half."

In the opinion of Dr. Rosenthal there is no perfect health care system.

"I don't think one country can adopt another one," she noted. "But we can be alerted to possibilities in other systems. Both the British and Swedish systems are socialized but they are very different in their approach to health delivery."

SINCE 1948 the British had a centrally financed, planned and coordinated health care system, she began. "Parliament decides on a budget and it is dispensed throughout the system. There is a small and viable private sector. Almost all the hospitals are government owned.

In Sweden the financing is shared, with 70 percent of the funds coming from the county (similar to our states) councils. The government underwrites the rest.

"But the Swedish system is more locally controlled," she said. "Patients have to pay a small fee each time they use the service and a small daily stipend for hospital care," she said. "This is a far cry from the costs in an American hospital."

THE SWEDISH system is much more hospital oriented than the British, with 90 percent of the doctors hospital specialists. About 48 percent of the English doctors are general practitioners. They are called the "gatekeepers," into the health care system. They sign a contract with the National Health Service for primary care.

Each person chooses a general practitioner, who gets to know him and his family. When he is in need of care he visits his GP free of charge. If there is need for hospitalization, he is then passed into the hospital system, where all the physicians are on salary.

"They get salaries commensurate or more with other professionals in their own economy," said Dr. Rosenthal.

ALL SWEDISH doctors are salaried employees of the county, she added, "and they are among the highest paid professionals in Sweden." Most patients go to outpatient clinics at hospitals or district medical centers.

In both systems there are various drawbacks.

If there is an emergency, surgery can be done quickly in both nations, pointed out Dr. Rosenthal. But there is a waiting list for elective surgery. In England the wait can be as long as six months to two years.

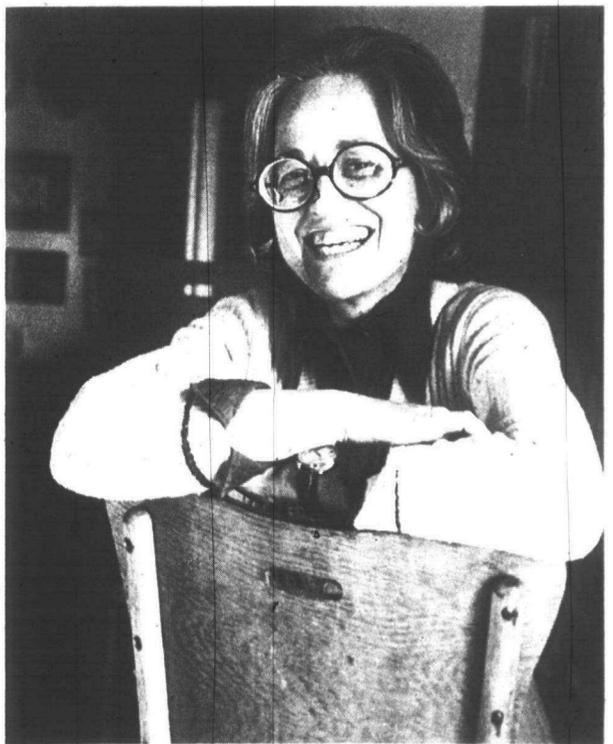

Both countries as well as the U.S. have a problem with physician mal-distribution. In Sweden patients often have a lack of continuity in care.

"Medical education is essentially free in England and Sweden," she said.

IN RESPONSE to a question from her audience she said that there is no more emphasis on preventive health in Sweden than in the U.S.

"I think we have been successful with our blood pressure screening program," she told her listeners. "It has reduced the incidence of stroke.

"I think the Swedes are doing well on an anti-smoking program. They have no indigenous tobacco industry, and are not worried about tax loss or tobacco lobbies."

Dr. Marilyn Rosenthal

SHE THEN added a parenthesis based on her visits to China. Even though China has more control over its citizens than either the U.S., Sweden or Britain, it has not been able to control smoking.

"One of its main products is tobacco, and I doubt the government is willing to give up its revenues," remarked Dr. Rosenthal.

Responding to a question about quality of health care, the Livonian said she thought there is more research and public talk about quality care in the U.S. than in the other countries. But in this country the chief way to achieve quality care is through law suits.

"Malpractice suits are almost unheard of in England," she explained. "A complaint procedure is available. There is an ombudsman in the House of Lords responsible for the interests of patients in the National Health Service."

She reminded her audience that for a patient to be compensated for injury during treatment in this country, the courts have to find the doctor at fault. Then the patient is compensated.

"I THINK Sweden has a very intelligent approach, one that is significantly better than ours," she indicated. "They handle the question of the doctor's fault or lack of knowledge separately, and within the medical profession itself. They have a special insurance fund from which patients injured in the course of treatment are compensated. Doctors are supposed to regulate themselves, remarked Dr. Rosenthal. "But none of the systems in either country seems to have a foolproof method," she said.

"It is one of the most challenging issues in health care in all countries."

Rosner-Siewert

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rosner of Largo, Fla., announce the engagement of their daughter Karen Louise to Thomas Waldemar Siewert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldemar Siewert of Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. The bride-elect attended Plymouth Salem High School and earned her bachelor of science degree in special education at Western Michigan University. She is employed as a life-skills consultant at family and Children's Services in Kalamazoo. Her fiancé is a graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. He is assistant manager of Krum's Photographic in Kalamazoo and is a photographer for Powell Studios.

They plan a June wedding in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Arlene Caron heads this year's board of the new Canton Women's Club. This organization used to be under the name of Canton Newcomers. Women attending the January meeting earlier this month voted to amend the constitution of the organization.

Prospective members no longer have a timed residence requirement in order to join. The population growth has subsided drastically over the last two years and the amendments were necessary to draw new members from our large community. There no longer will be an alumnae membership and all former members are invited to rejoin this great fellowship group.

As in years past, there are couples activities during the year, the most popular being the Millionaires Party. In order to keep the costs to the partygoers down, the party will be in Sunflower Subdivision Club House on March 3.

THE CLUB newsletter has a classified addition this year for the benefit of members and non-members. Last month's edition had a request for interested people willing to dogsit for a few weeks. It is great to have this open means of communication for all to share every month.

Among the charities the club will be voting on to support is First Step, a domestic assault refuge. Our community will be fortunate enough to have this service in our immediate area very soon. A clothes dryer and other appliances have been donated to this organization, but much more is needed to furnish a dwelling that will accommodate up to five families at one time. Please call Debbie Benjamin at 425-8000 or Ellen Chang at 453-8211 for further information about this service.

The ladies still are in their busy monthly interest groups such as luncheon out, couples gourmet, and dining out just to name a few which usually are well attended.

Great things happen when the women in Canton get together, so try to join in the fun at the next meeting, the first Wednesday in February, at Pioneer Middle School.

LAST WEEKEND while the Arctic winds came storming across Canton, I tried to think spring and the Apple Run Garden Club helped quite a bit.

Susan Fidososny, Teddie Underwood, Regina Adams, Donna Bone, Lucille Grassmyer, Margo Whiting and Charlie McDonald are the busy officers of the club this year.

Their recent fashion and craft show in connection with Minnesota Fabrics gave members and their guests new ideas on how to stretch our budget. New patterns, new craft kits and beautiful new fabrics are out there waiting for us to take the time to start sewing again.

Procedures for the club's functions are always put back into the community. All of the greenery inside township hall is kept healthy by this membership.

When spring finally does come our way, these women and their counterparts will be out on their counters in front of township hall planting marigolds and petunias, rain or shine. The township supplies the materials and the club does its special kind of magic with the flowers. Fire Station No. 2 on Warren Road also benefits from their talents.

MEMBERS OPEN their homes to the group the second Tuesday of every month for a meeting. They share new crafts with one another as well as prospective fund-raising activities coming up the remainder of the year.

Apple Runners actively support the Michigan Humane Society. This is their way in caring for the helpless animals that end up at the local shelter. Their paper drive has enabled them to purchase much needed food and toys for the animals until they are claimed or adopted.

You don't have to know the difference between an annual and a perennial or have a summer vegetable garden to join this active group.

The club motto is quite interesting: "The apple blossom belongs to the rose family, but it enhances far more than fragrances and beauty. We strive for these exceptional characteristics which do not set limits on the fruits of our labors." This was composed by charter member Sharon Palise.

I had a few questions about early inside plantings and one phone call was all it took to get the proper information. Please call Susan Fidososny at 981-0688 for an early jump on springtime.

Super ideas

Bevy of fashion fantasies get us into proper spirit

Barbara Debicki toys with the idea of wearing a fanciful set of football antennae when she goes to the game Jan. 24.

By Rustle Shand
special writer

Super Bowl XVI is about to kick off a program of events that are creating a lot of excitement in the local fashion community.

The game and its complement of activities are happenings calling for particular attention to festive clothing and hairstyles.

If you thought January was going to be a month to have the blahs, a time to stick to a boring diet, or even a time to brood over income taxes, you're in for a surprise. Not this year.

For a look at what football fans might be wearing to the Pontiac Silverdome on Super Sunday and to the many parties and events connected with all the hoopla, the Eccentric visited the Bevy in Franklin then tripped over to Grace Scalia's Headline Salon in West Bloomfield.

THE BEVY was chosen because its owner, Bev Seger, has designed football motif clothing in honor of the occasion. Headline Salon seemed appropriate because Grace Scalia is designing hairstyles to help celebrate the Super Bowl festivities.

When we arrived at the Bevy, we found three models all decked out in what at first glance appeared to be merely fashionable apparel. A second look revealed the leather, wool embroidered jacket worn by Sue TePaske of Birmingham was really made of pigskin, which struck us as particularly appropriate for the occasion.

Then there was a cerise tunic-length sweat shirt with black sequin sport stripes and the number 16 embroidered on the sleeves, with "Super" spelled out in black applique letters across the back. The outfit was modeled for us by a lovely model, Melanie Alshab of Franklin, who is Franklin's Junior Miss and a semi-finalist in the Miss Pontiac Silverdome Contest.

Barbara Debicki of Southfield wore a loden green cocoon-shaped jacket with a leather football applique on the back. "I don't know how I got them, but I did," said Ms. Debicki of the four tickets she has to the Jan. 24 game.

ALL SUBTLE but sizzling reminders that January in our town will be a month of parties and parades in celebration of the big football game.

At the Headline Salon, we found Grace Scalia putting the finishing touches on a "helmet" hairstyle for Daria Minui. Ms. Minui, of Bloomfield Hills, is also a semi-finalist in the Miss Pontiac Silverdome contest, which will be held Jan. 22.

Another beauty, Ms. Minui's long, dark blond hair was braided in the back to allow one braid to come forward across the chin, creating the effect of a helmet chin strap.

That certainly proves something is possible when it comes to hair. But, in the event a chin strap braid is not in your football forecast, it will neatly tuck into the back of the head, Ms. Scalia pointed out.

LASTLY, MS. Scalia added an interesting hair ornament, supplied by the Bevy. Two sparkling footballs rise on steel springs from a plastic headband, which she nestled into the crown of Ms. Debicki's hair. The headpiece is modestly priced $6, not a bad way to get into the spirit of the game.

Ms. Scalia also suggested weaving hair ribbons in the colors of a favorite team through the hair.

Even if one is not a football fan, it is going to be difficult not to get caught up in the hoopla of the extravaganza.

"It puts us on the map in a very positive way," said an enthusiastic Ms. Scalia.

"I think the whole Super Bowl thing will take the doldrums out of January and the post holiday

Canton BPW sets careerist deadline

The Canton Business and Professional Women Club is looking for candidates for its Young Career Woman program. The club has set a deadline of Jan. 16 for submission of resumes of eligible young careerists.

The program focuses on prominent accomplishments of young career women. It was inaugurated by the national club in 1963 and is one of the many projects sponsored by the Michigan Federation and individual clubs to elevate the status of women. The Canton winner will go on to state competition, and the Michigan careerist of the year will go on to the national finals.

CANDIDATES do not have to be residents of Canton Township to qualify. A candidate must:

- Be or have been employed in a business or profession with at least one year of full-time work experience in her career area.
- Outstanding in scholastic work, community service and/or church work.
- Live, work, train or continue her education in Michigan.

The Young Career Woman program includes a briefing session for all participants concerning the state federation, the national careerist program, and the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and its objectives.

"This is the first young careerist project for our year-old Canton club, and we're excited about the project," Pat Gresock, club member, said.

"Doris Johnson and Nancy Morrin of the program committee have done a good job in selecting the panel to evaluate candidates. Included are Samantha Florek, Schoolcraft College counselor; Francis Gambena, a Garden City teacher; and Cathy Cole, a representative of Dale Carnegie."

They will evaluate candidates on a point system in four areas—personal accomplishments, speech presentation, group presentation and personal interview.

Persons wishing more information should call Doris Johnson, 455-1204, or Nancy White, 522-8622.

SC choir rehearses Jones composition

The Schoolcraft College Community Choir is preparing for the premiere performance of a specially commissioned work, "A Plymouth Symphony."

The work, to be introduced to the public April 25, was composed by Robert W. Jones for orchestra and choir. It will be dedicated to the late Oliver Wagner of Plymouth.

The Schoolcraft Choir will perform the composition along with the Plymouth Symphony, conducted by Johan van der Merwe. The program will also include "Beethoven's Mass in C Major, Opus 86," under the direction of Dr. Marilyn Jones, director of the choir.

There are openings in the choir for bass, tenor and alto voices. Additional sopranos will be admitted when balance permits.

Dr. Jones suggests auditioners should meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 310 of the Forum Building at Schoolcraft College and sing with the choir during regular rehearsal. Interested singers should call Shari Clason, 349-8175.

Auditions will be held Monday, Feb.

8, for those interested in the solo quartet of the "Beethoven Mass." Auditions will be in First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, North Territorial Road west of Sheldon Road. Interested quartet soloists are asked to call 455-6420 before Feb. 3 for a specific audition time.

An accompanist will be provided.

Even home ec majors disdain housework

Words from Syracuse University say that even home economics graduates don't intend to spend much time cooking or keeping house.

The university surveyed its 1980 graduating class in the College for Human Development and not one of the respondents claimed to be a full-time homemaker. The group included women already married and a few who are already mothers.

IRA accounts at Standard Federal Savings help you save more for your retirement.

IRA

The new tax law provides that every working person under age 70½ can contribute to an Individual Retirement Account even if you are covered by another retirement plan. Your contributions to an IRA Account are tax deductible. This allows you to accumulate more money with an IRA Account than with a taxable investment.

Regular IRA

Allows a working person to contribute up to a maximum of $2,000 per year. A husband and wife who are both working may each contribute up to a maximum amount of $2,000 from their annual income.

Spousal IRA

A working person with a non-working spouse may contribute up to $2,250 per year.

IMPORTANT: at Standard Federal Savings...

- YOU CAN transfer ("roll-over") the funds you receive as a lump sum distribution from a qualified retirement fund and defer taxation on the transferred funds until your retirement years.
- YOU CAN transfer funds from an IRA Account established elsewhere.
- YOUR EMPLOYER CAN also contribute funds to employee IRA Accounts by establishing a Simplified Employee Pension Plan (SEP).

IRA Accounts are insured to $100,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Special Retirement Savings Programs Available for IRA Accounts

Fixed Rate Accounts:

Current rate
12.50%
per year

Effective annual yield

Standard Federal Savings now offers 1½ year fixed rate certificate accounts with quarterly compounding and a minimum balance of $100. The interest rate established at the time an account is opened is the rate in effect for the full 1½ year term of the account.

Ask about our payroll deduction plans for IRA accounts.

2401 W. Big Beaver, Troy, MI 48064, (313) 643-9600

Variable Rate Accounts:

Call 643-9583 for the current rate

You can also choose a 1½ year variable rate certificate account with quarterly compounding and a minimum deposit of $10. Interest is paid at a rate equal to the average auction rate on a discount basis for 13-week U.S. Treasury Bills. Each Tuesday during the 1½ year term, the rate will change on your account based on this Treasury Bill rate.

Additions in amounts of $10 or more can be made to your variable rate account at any time without extending the account term. If your employer has a payroll deduction plan with Standard Federal Savings, your IRA contribution can be made automatically each pay period and deposited to this account.

Also Available for IRA Accounts:

- 26-Week Money Market Certificates
- 2½ Year Money Market Certificates
- Savings Certificates of $100,000 or More at Market Rates
- Regular Passbook Savings Accounts

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal from certificate accounts, and withdrawals from your IRA Account prior to age 59½ may result in tax penalties. When you withdraw the money in your IRA Account at retirement after age 59½, your withdrawals will be tax. J as ordinary income at a time when your tax rate is likely to be lower.

For further information on the retirement plans available at Standard Federal Savings, please call or visit any of our convenient offices.

St. Matthew's garden is a peaceful place to rest

Photographed on a pleasanter day than today, this landscaped area for the burial of ashes is the result of hard work on the part of church members.

By Carol Carpenter
staff writer

The recently completed memorial garden at St. Matthew's United Methodist Church in Livonia will offer an alternative to cemetery burial.

The oval rock garden will "provide a simple place of interment for ashes," according to David Strong, minister of the church at 30900 Six Mile Road.

For a small fee, people in the church and community may choose to have their ashes buried in the memorial garden once the ground thaws this spring, said church member Jackie Stamper of Livonia.

"Some people feel that funeral costs have become exorbitant," said Mrs. Stamper, who is 56. "And burial in the memorial garden offers an alternative."

"It (death) is part of the natural process. The beautiful thing is that the ashes are worked into the ground and start to become part of the growing process."

The ashes will be buried below the ground, Mrs. Stamper said, and no markers will be used.

Records will be kept but "no one is to know where a loved one's ashes are," she said. "If they knew a loved one was buried under a particular shrub, they may start to worship the bush. And what if the bush dies or has to be moved?"

THE GARDEN was patterned after one at Grosse Pointe Methodist Church, which was designed by the Rev. David Kidder, minister at the Central United Methodist Church in Detroit, she said. Members at St. Matthew's called on Kidder to help them design their sunken garden located behind the church office and library.

"The idea was to create a place of beauty, a living memorial to those who have died," Strong said.

The idea for the garden was discussed in the summer of 1980, and the "Rev. Strong's enthusiasm seemed to spill over to everyone else," Mrs. Stamper said.

Actual work on the garden, which is 35 feet by 70 feet, was completed during two weekends in the fall of 1981, Mrs. Stamper said. She and her husband Kenneth, 64, were part of the 150 church members involved in some phase of the project.

Church members moved over 20 tons of rocks, truckloads of wood chips, peat and soil, Strong said. More than 1,000 early-blooming bulbs like tulips and hyacinths were planted along with shrubs and chrysanthemums.

"Even now in the miserable winter weather, I look out and it's a thing of beauty," said Mrs. Stamper.

"My husband's the gardener in our house, and he was most interested in it at first," she said. "The continuity of garden shows the memory of living, growing things."

STERLING RORABACHER, 64, who worked on the garden with his wife, Betty, 61, said, "It gives people a chance to return to nature. It's God's way of showing renewal with each season."

Rorabacher, memorial committee member, said the garden would be an ideal place to hold weddings and would "give members a place to go and relax, a place of quiet."

But he's not so sure he wants the garden to be used for burial.

"I have mixed feelings about that," he said.

Attitudes toward death are changing, Strong said.

"Many no longer wish to perpetuate rows and rows of cemetery stones or the morbid focus upon preserving the body," he said. "Instead, many seek a living way to mark and celebrate the life and death of a loved one."

Since church members will be caring for the garden, Mrs. Stamper said, there will be more caring, a more loving atmosphere than in a cemetery.

Margaret Trembath points out to the Rev. David Kidd a likely spot to start digging.

Catholics ask return of prayer of rosary

Detroit-area Catholics will be among the delegates from 50 states participating in a national all-night vigil in the national Shrine of the Immaculate Conception in Washington, D.C., Thursday, Jan. 21. They will be part of a movement to "restore the prayer of the rosary to Catholic life."

In petition form, 50,000 signatures from every state will be presented during the vigil. Among those signing were Mother Teresa of India and local prelates such as Bishop Thomas Gumbleton, Bishop Walter Schoenherr and Monsignor Edward Hickey.

The vigil will begin at 6:30 p.m. and continue through the night, culminating in a solemn high Mass and the March for Life scheduled the following day. Anti-abortion groups are being urged to join the Detroit prayer movement and its national rosary at 9 p.m.

In a "Living Rosary," delegates from 50 states will light a candle for the intention: "that the dignity of womanhood, motherhood, marriage and family life be restored in God, and for a spiritual healing for our land."

Grosse Pointe play-producer Sally Reynolds is the founder of this national rosary movement called Mothers of Mary (MOM). Ann Gnaster is co-director, and the Rev. Thomas McGowan of St. Augustine Church is the spiritual director.

Arrangements for the four-day bus pilgrimage to Washington from Detroit are being made by Grace Cusumano (881-1196) and Bertha Putt (349-7824).

Those wishing their names on the rosary petitions should call Sally Reynolds (885-6219) or Ann Gnaster (527-4968).

ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN

Ron Jamison, anthropology instructor at Schoolcraft College, will discuss evolution as a meeting of the Forum at 11 a.m. Sunday in St. Paul Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia.

ST. MATTHEW UNITED METHODIST

The Women's Circle at St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30900 Six Mile, Livonia, has scheduled an aerobic dance class at 9:30 a.m. Monday, Jan. 18. A nursery is provided. For details contact Lynne Wilkerson at 522-5482.

The United Methodist Women will be busy at the Guardian Angel Doll Workshop which meets from 12:30-3 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 19, making dolls for Methodist Children's Village.

NATIVITY UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST

Elvira Vogel, who has served on the United Church of Christ's national Board of World Ministries, will deliver a sermon Sunday in Nativity United Church of Christ, 9435 Henry Ruff, Livonia. The speaker has also served on the Board of Home-Land Ministries as well as the National Office of Communication. She has also been moderator of the Michigan Conference and a member of many of its divisions.

Currently a member of the executive board of the National Church Women United, she is president of the Ecumenical Campus Center at the University of Michigan. It is a ministry to 2,100 foreign students.

The Women of Nativity will meet to work on cancer pads at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 21. These meetings are open to all women of Nativity church.

MEMORIAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Sherwood Evans, editor of the Restoration Herald and director of the Christian Restoration Association, will fly in from Cincinnati to begin the 1982 Faith Promise Rally which starts Sunday, Jan. 24, at Memorial Church of Christ, 35475 Five Mile, Livonia. The rally also takes place on Wednesday, Jan. 27, and Sunday, Jan. 31.

Bob Palmer, a representative of the Great Lakes Christian Homes project, will speak Wednesday at the international dinner in fellowship hall. The climax of the rally will be a talk by Dr. David Grubbs, former medical missionary to Africa.

Sometimes paradise can turn into hell

I recently came across a remarkably whimsical anecdote based on the fantasy of a contemporary religious leader. He dreamed that, as a consequence of its raging fires and unquenchable flames, hell burned down and was utterly consumed.

The Celestial Council met in urgent session to decide on a course of action. There was, of course, the logical suggestion that another hell be built to replace the destroyed one.

But one of the angels disagreed. He argued: "As long as there was an eternal inferno, it has to be. Now that it is no more, it is not right to build a new one."

"But," said Satan, "we must have a hell for those who deserve it. We will undermine the principles of justice if we do not provide punishment for the wicked."

BOTH PROTAGONISTS found some support within the council, the arguments on both sides were protracted and intense. Neither side would yield, and an impasse was reached in the deliberations.

Finally, one of the wisest in the group proposed a compromise solution. Its cogency was immediately recognized.

He pointed out another related problem. Paradise is decrepit and in bad need of repair. During the millenia, the maintenance department had not adequately tended its work.

A committee had already begun plans for a modernized facility. Therefore, in the interim, let the old paradise become the new hell.

THIS SUGGESTIONS immediately was accepted by a unanimous vote, since no one objected to the building of a new paradise. Heaven had found the answer to its own vexing problem.

This fable graphically teaches an important and far-reaching truth. There are movements and causes men considered as a veritable paradise, and for which they labored and sacrificed.

But, as time passed, their heaven began to deteriorate and disintegrate until it was assigned to the degraded status of hell.

Events of recent decades have demonstrated beyond doubt that many a "paradise," which was to be achieved with the fulfillment of the program of an ideological group or movement, turned to Dante's Inferno.

MEN WERE promised a world of justice, security and peace once the victories had been won, the power transferred, and the gains consolidated. But the promises turned to ashes, and the anticipated heaven became a place of torment.

Some 60 years ago, Communism emerged from the theoretical design of Marx and Lenin to the arena of power, assuming control over one of the largest countries in the world.

It kindled among millions of the downtrodden everywhere a hope that paradise on earth had been found. Once the greed for wealth that led to the suppression of human rights and the denial of human aspiration had been vanquished, man would usher in a new era of justice and equality.

WITH THE demise of capitalism, the state itself would wither away and men would live with each other in amity and brotherhood without the necessity of external force and governmental control.

As the years passed, an incalculable record of subjugation, suffering and death revealed the bitter reality of Communism.

The imposition of martial law in Poland, the war of the Polish government against its people, a suppression of human rights aided and encouraged by the Soviet Union is the most recent, although by no means the most brutal, of Communism's tyrannical policies.

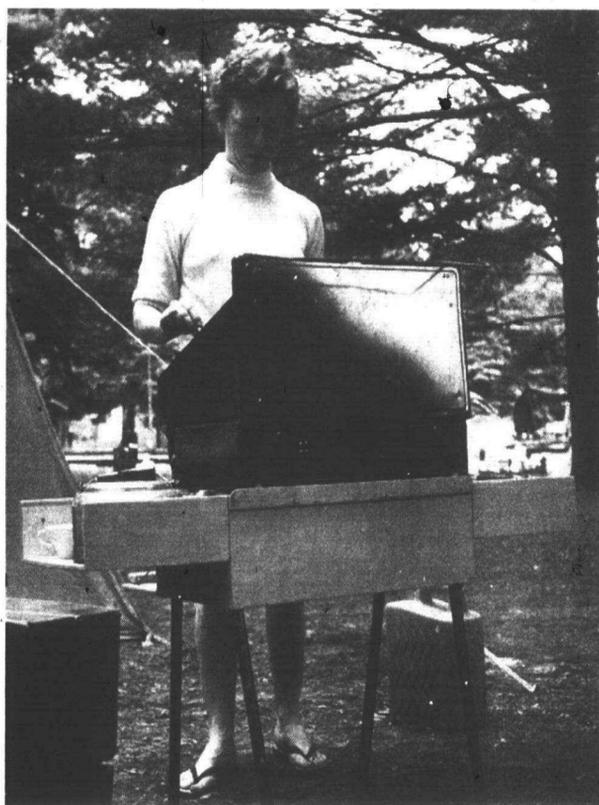

It finally has become apparent, even to some of socialism's most staunch followers, that the paradise of yesterday is the Hades of today.

This remarkable parable is thus the story of modern man. Let him beware of yesterday's paradise, for it may become tomorrow's Inferno.

Let him, instead, endeavor to build a new Heaven whose glory will abide for all time.

Looking forward to summer in Michigan's outdoors? Now's the time to build a portable camp kitchen.

'The minute you begin to brag about the weather in Florida, something like this happens.'

Airline left out in cold

If you're one of the throngs of northerners who swear this will be your last Michigan winter, you can take some brief solace in the freezing weather which hit Florida this week.

Weather notwithstanding, however, the travel hype for the ever-sunny south continued unabated.

As Florida citrus growers were predicting doom for the orange juice business a few days ago, Delta Air Lines was holding firm that things were peachy. In a press release sent Monday, Delta was noting what it called "stark weather contrast in the U.S. this winter."

"IN MOST AREAS of the nation north of the Florida state line," Delta's Jim Ewing wrote, "the cold fact is more and more cold."

Delta issued what it called, "a timely reminder to anyone caught in a snowdrift: winter is only starting." In contrast, however, the airline pointed to the "whole state of Florida," which, it said, "is enjoying its warmest, most beautiful blue-skies weather in a whole decade."

At the time, the National Weather Bureau was forecasting an overnight low for Tuesday-Wednesday of 24 in Tampa, 35 in Miami, 20 in Orlando and 19 in Jacksonville. The Wednesday highs forecast for those cities ranged from 45 to 63.

Ewing's release added: "People are running their air conditioners in Ft. Myers, where, last week, the temperatures averaged in the high 80s. Beach swimming, fishing, sailing, surfing and all other warm weather activities have never been more enjoyable in the sunshine state than right now."

A call to Ewing on Wednesday at his Atlanta office found him "out for the week," according to another Delta PR man, Bill Berry.

Berry tentatively chuckled and suggested that the weather caught them by surprise. "The minute you begin to brag about the weather in Florida, something like this happens."

"This cold front may cause people to adjust their travel plans," Berry said, but, ever the PR man, he quickly added, "The vacationing traveler quickly forgives. We don't anticipate any long-term problems."

EWING'S RELEASE did suggest to "check with your meteorologist — then call Delta or your travel agent." And Berry said that's what Ewing did before he penned the overly optimistic release. According to Berry "The jet stream moved out of its normal track."

Berry offered a solution to his own problems of getting around the Atlanta area. Noting that it took him more than an hour to travel less than a mile on Tuesday because of icy roads, Berry said he just gave up and sat it out in a bar.

CAMPING WAS CHAOS in our family until I let an engineer into the kitchen.

Micky, my photographer-engineer-husband, noted the spaghetti oozing from the camp stove, the utensils littering the landscape and the soap flakes mixed with the cornflakes.

He decided to engineer camping equipment that even I could control.

The result was the compact portable kitchen shown here. It carries staple foods, cutlery, dishes and stove. The lid opens to form a countertop.

Our supply of pots, pans and cooking utensils is housed in two individually painted beer boxes, and we have a tablecloth that won't blow away.

IF YOU ARE a camper who spends long winter nights dreaming about warm summer campgrounds, this is a good cold-weather project. Travel is more than flying off to exotic destinations. It is also using your ingenuity to make the travel experience better.

We are still dusty and tired when we pull into our campsite after a long day on the road, but two minutes later my kitchen in the woods is ready for use. First, we unload two ordinary beer boxes. They were bought for pennies at our local supermarket and painted with leftover enamel paint.

On the darkest night I know that my frying pan, coffeepot and utensils are in the red box, and that my other cooking utensils are in the black box.

The second part of the set-up operation is to unfold a cotton-backed plastic tablecloth. It has ordinary elastic sewing tape sewn across the corners to hold it firmly onto a standard wooden picnic table.

While my husband lifts out the turquoise-colored wooden box that is our camp kitchen, I grab four sawed-off broom handles and insert them into the unit as legs. With a flick of the wrist, the unit is opened, the stove and storage compartments exposed, and three small countertops ready for use.

OUR CAMP kitchen was made entirely from scrap materials. The box is 1/4-inch, 3/8-inch and 1/2-inch plywood, which reduces weight but still maintains strength. The woodworking joints were reinforced with waterproof glue and nails. The front section and two top sections are hinged. When closed, they automatically lock the unit for travel.

Four holes were drilled near the four bottom corners of the kitchen. Four pieces of one inch thin-walled tubing — sawed-off section of an old shower curtain rod — were inserted into the holes and secured by heavy bolts and by old electrical conduit brackets.

Two pieces of ordinary picture chain were attached to support the front section of the unit when opened. Finally the brass corners were added to prevent damage.

The sawed-off broom handles are carried separately in the trailer. When the unit is ready for use, they are simply inserted into the sockets.

They fall free of their own accord when the kitchen is lifted off the ground when breaking camp. These legs are not only inexpensive, they also provide firm support on any kind of terrain.

THE FINISHING touches on this kitchen are for appearance and easy cleaning. The entire unit, including legs, was painted with enamel, and the hinged countertop and floor of the storage compartment were covered with decorative self-adhesive vinyl. This makes the work surfaces as easily cleaned as a countertop at home.

These simple camping aids have made the difference between camping and chaos. Wherever we go, we have the kitchen set up before the trailer. While other campers are still searching through the clutter for the coffee pot, we have dinner on the table.

When campers wander over to ask me where I bought "that ingenious cooking unit," I wave toward Micky. I'm sure he'll have many a woman's vote for the honorary degree of "Camping Engineer, First Class."

For a copy of these plans, send a stamped, self-addressed 9x12-inch envelope to Ms. Jones at the Observer & Eccentric, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150.

Salem grapplers find home mats friendly

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Expect Plymouth Salem to move up a few notches in the state Class A wrestling rankings.

The Rocks, rated No. 8 by the Michigan High School Wrestling Coaches Association last week, rolled up their own mats Saturday by winning a 16-team invitational against a tough field.

"The bigger the tournament is, the better chance we have," said the victorious coach, Ron Krueger. "This is only the second time we've had our whole team on the mat.

"You have to give the kids credit. They worked hard to win it."

The Rocks racked up 172½ points. Montrose, rated No. 1 in Class C by the coaches, was second with 145½, followed closely behind by Westland John Glenn, rated No. 3 in Class A, with 145.

Plymouth Canton took eighth spot with 64. North Farmington was 12th.

Salem had three individual champions — John Beaudoin (140 pounds), Bruce Bachman (147) and John Beaudoin (157).

John, a junior, handed Clarkston's

Jeff Miracle his first loss of the season in the championship final. The two wrestlers battled to a 2-2 draw, but Beaudoin prevailed on a referee's decision based on standard criteria.

BACHMAN, one of Salem's senior captains, avenged his only loss of the season when he decisively defeated Canton's Steve Hamblin, 7-3. Bachman is now 22-1 on the season and 2-1 against his Canton opponent.

Randy Beaudoin, a senior, was impressive in the 157-pound division. He reached the finals by pinning Glenn's highly regarded Don Forchione (3:46). Beaudoin then eliminated Eric Hayes, a state Class C runner-up last year, 7-0 in the final.

"If you're going to give credit to the Beaudoins, don't forget to include Bachman," reminded Krueger. "He wrestled all summer at a camp in Iowa."

"He got the ball rolling because we works every day against them. We have first-class competition in our own room."

The Rocks also placed in several other weight classes — Marty Piper, heavyweight, third; Mike Doumanian, 114, sixth; Dave Leist, 128, sixth; Rob McDonald, 134, fifth; John Wochuk, 169, fourth; Scott Wickens, 187, third, and Harry Walkley, 200, fourth.

GLENN'S ONLY individual champ was Todd Parsons (114), who defeated Mike Conway of Clarkston in the final, 3-0.

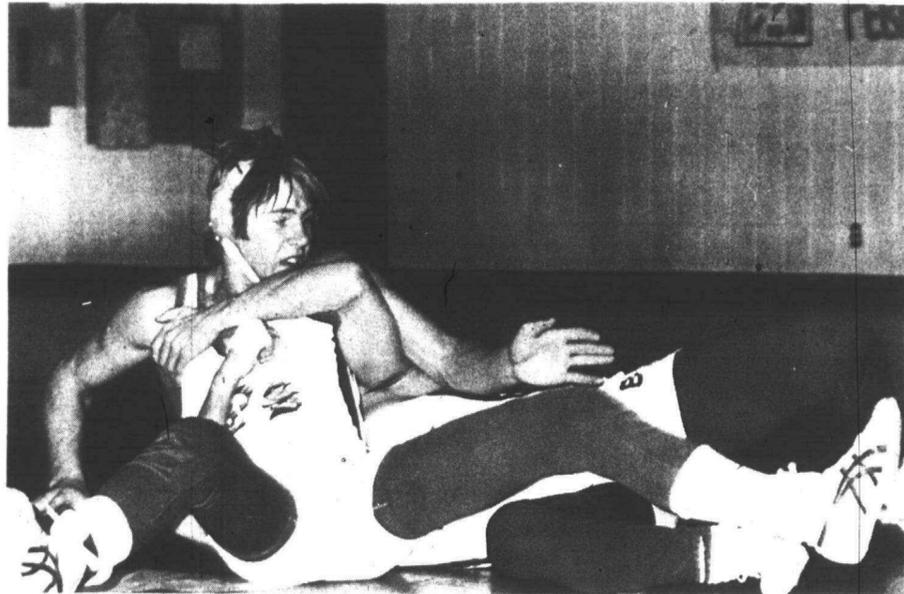

Other Glenn wrestlers gaining places included Frank Figueroa, 100 pounds, fourth; Tom Gibson, 107, second; George Asher, 128, fifth; Darrell Reynolds, 134, fourth; Rob Paciocco, 140, third; Dean Garza, 147, fifth; and Ted Badami, 169, second.

Todd Gattoni was Canton's other finalist. He was beaten by Mark Rosenkratz in the final (2-2 on referee's criteria). Teammate Todd Bartlett (107) finished third. The Chiefs' Brett Haarala (140) was fifth and Marty Heaton (157) was sixth.

North Farmington's top finisher was Paul Cotter at 147. He took third place.

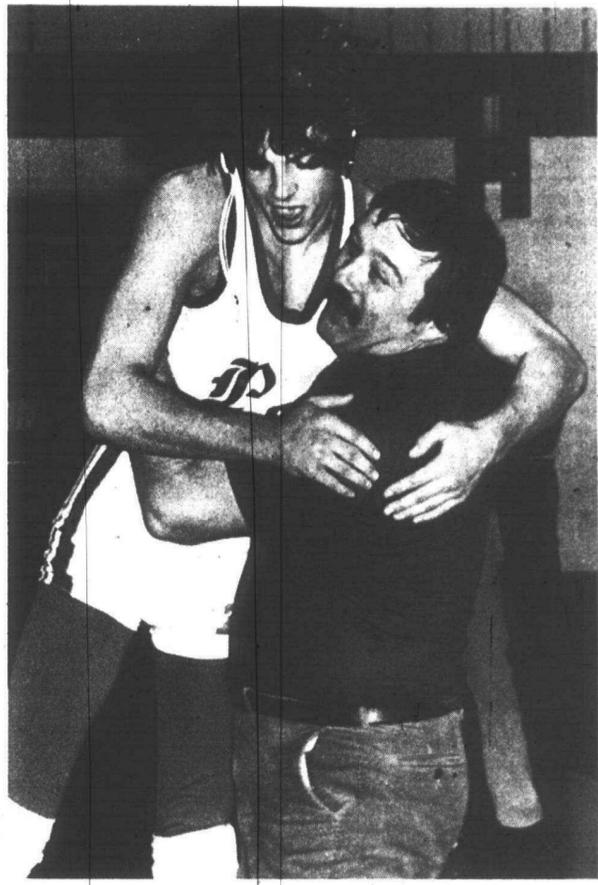

Krueger was estatic over his team's performance and is looking ahead to a Jan. 26 match-up at home against No. 1 ranked Temperance-Bedford, No. 5 Hazel Park and John Glenn.

"We want to peak for some meets over some of the others," he said. "The Trenton dual (47-12 victory) was big and so is your own invitational."

Bruce Bachman tries to sit up and escape during his match with Canton's Steve Hamblin. Bachman won the battle, 7-3, and the 147-pound crown at the Salem Invitational last weekend.

Midget skaters capture holiday classic

Chuck Norton scored what proved to be the game-winner as Ed Sport's Iced Redford, 2-1, to claim first place recently in the 10th annual Adray Christmas Classic.

The Midget AA hockey team, comprised of players from the Plymouth-Canton community, won four games en route to the title.

Norton's goal came during the opening seconds of the third period to break a one-all deadlock. Aaron Pieti-la and Dan Carlson drew assists on the goal.

Redford pressed the Plymouth-Canton skaters throughout the final period, but was hampered by five penalties.

Kyle Nagy of Ed's Sports opened the scoring with Joe Carlson and Tom Bryans assisting.

Brian McDonald countered with a goal late in the period to draw Redford even.

In the second period, Redford collected four penalties, but Plymouth-Canton failed to convert.

Plymouth-Canton advanced to the final with a hard-fought, 2-1 win over Dearborn as Bryans scored the game-winner in the second period on passes from Scott Stahl and Joe Carlson.

Todd Bayer gave Dearborn a 1-0 advantage in the first period, but Joe Carlson answered with a goal of his own in the second.

IN THE OPENING round of tourney play, Plymouth-Canton drilled Southfield, 4-1, as Joe Carlson, Steve Geelhood, Paul Norton and Rich Hawley scored.

Plymouth-Canton's next opponent, Woodhaven, never got going as Ed's posted an easy 7-0 triumph behind the scoring of Joe Carlson and Pietila, who knocked in two apiece, and single tallies by Paul Norton, Hawley and Brian Healey.

Avon qualifying field set

An array of southeastern Michigan's top women's tennis players are set to battle this weekend in the Avon Qualifier at Dearborn's Fairlane Tennis Club.

The winner of the 32-player draw will earn a spot in a preliminary round match at the $150,000 Avon Championships of Detroit to be held Feb. 1-7 at Cobo Arena.

First-round action begins at 3 p.m. Friday and runs through Sunday.

Lisa Bonder of Saline, rated among the top 10 nationally in the Girls 18's by the USTA, will be back to defend her crown as the tournament's No. 1 seed Colleen Yowell of Oxford, also nationally ranked and a member of the Yale University team, is seeded No. 2.

Bloomfield Hills' Erin Ashare, the prep Class A No. 1 singles champion, is the eighth seed.

Other area players invited to the elite field are Chris and Wendy Gilles of Plymouth; Kelly Davidson and Colleen McCabe of Farmington Hills; Janice Longhurst and Jennifer Reault of Livonia.

Curling: Pleasantries are aplenty

The waitress — Mary on the name-tag — took the stranger's order. A diet pop, please, any kind that's cold.

"Would you like me to put a twist of lime in it?" she asked.

Uh, no thanks.

"But it's so much much better that way, with a bit of lime in it," she persisted in the friendliest sort of way.

OK then, lime's fine.

The above scene took place last week in the crowded barroom of the Detroit Curling Club, just about the busiest and friendliest place in all of West Bloomfield.

Curling had its beginnings on the frozen lochs of Scotland — perhaps when Roman invaders tossed the skulls of the conquered across the ice for sport.

But you can forget that bit of ghoulish history or any other unpleasant thoughts when you step inside the Detroit Curling Club. Practicing curlers, whether occupying a place on the ice or a bar stool, stress courtesy, friendship and camaraderie.

It's a wonder they can get worked up for the competition what with all the handshaking that goes on before and after a match.

CURLING WAS on display last weekend as the club hosted the 96th-annual Men's International Bonspiel on its indoor ice rink on Drake Road. The bonspiel, curler terminology for tournament, drew 36 teams, most of them Canadian.

The structure of the game is simple enough. Two four-man teams, called "rinks," stand at opposite ends of a 46-foot ice lane, or "sheet." Using small brooms, the players attempt to slide polished 42-pound "stones" along the rough ice surface to selected spots on a target, or "house," at the opposite end of the lane.

The stones move because the rapid sweeping action of the brooms breaks down the rough ice surface and creates a thin film of water on which the heavy objects slide.

The sweeping, the only violent part of the sport, can also determine the direction the stone takes.

The game is divided into 10 "ends," which are like baseball innings.

Dress is usually informal, and gloves are a matter of choice. Rubber-soled shoes or boots are usually worn, and a more easily sliding sole is sometimes worn on one foot.

No referees or officials are in evidence. If a player touches a stone with his broom, he's "burned his rock," and it's up to him to take it out of play.

ALLEN PARK, winless in eight starts, countered the Salem attack with

"IT'S JUST A lot of fun," said David Sgriccia between mouthfuls of a steak dinner he was devouring at a table beside the big window which separates the ice from the barroom.

Sgriccia, who lives in Commerce Township, is a member of the Detroit Ford Rink, which was to take the ice in competition later that night.

"It's great exercise," he said. "It's not a real active game like racquetball, but at least you're always standing up. You're never sitting around like in bowling."

"When you first start curling, you develop a very tender inner thigh muscle. Beginning curlers suffer from what we call curler's crotch."

"But it's kind of addictive," he added. "It kind of sneaks up on you. The more you do it, the more you want to do it."

And, long and always, there's that courtesy thing.

"You give your opponent every opportunity to make the best shot he can," said club president Don Richard, a Birmingham resident, "and then you try to make a better one."

SALEM 54 — ALLEN PARK 40

At first glance, the curlers look like a sturdy, middle-class lot, some of them headed past middle age. But, according to curling etiquette, that personal stuff isn't supposed to matter.

"What you do for a living is never discussed," Sgriccia said. "A curling club isn't a status thing like some golf and country clubs."

THE DETROIT Curling Club, for years a fixture in a crumbling Detroit neighborhood behind Wayne State, moved to its present location on Drake just south of Walnut Lake Road three years ago.

The building has a checkered past. It was an ice arena — failed and deserted — when the curling club moved in and found the walls "covered with slime" in the words of one member. Before that it was an arena where show horses were ridden.

The club, which has around 250 members, also sponsors curling competition for women. In fact, the 25th-annual Women's Bonspiel is scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday.

"You should come and see that bonspiel," said Nina Sgriccia, David's wife. "You'll see better-looking curlers, that's for sure."

That comment got a laugh.

"You might see a few bigger ends," quipped another woman curler, Isabelle MacKellar of Troy.

Still more laughter.

There seems to be a lot of that commodity at the Detroit Curling Club.

Rocks triumph with 2nd-half rally

Plymouth Salem bounced back in the second half to beat Allen Park in a Suburban Eight League basketball game Tuesday night, 54-40.

The Rocks, who lead the league with a 4-0 record, trailed by one point at halftime.

Mike McBride, a senior guard, led the winners with 11 points. Allen Park's Dave Dionigian paced all scorers with 12. Teammate Don Goubis added 11.

In the second half, Salem was able to take control. The Rocks outscored the host team 14-8 in the third quarter and then put it away with a 19-10 outburst in the final period.

"We didn't play a real good first half," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "We were able to put together a couple of little spurts together and get some steals. Our concentration was better in the second half."

ALLEN PARK, winless in eight starts, countered the Salem attack with a ball control offense.

"They (Allen Park) had a nice game plan and played hard," added Thomann. "We had to play a lot of defense. There weren't many shots in the game."

Salem went to the free throw line only six times. Allen Park stayed in the game by hitting 14 of 17.

Salem will go after its fifth straight league victory Friday at home against Dearborn.

Dick Scott's Plymouth High School "players of the week" feature continues this week. Each week one Salem and one Canton player will be saluted for their efforts the previous week, with their names engraved on a trophy for display at the high schools. Players will be selected by the coaching staffs of the respective schools. Look for this ad every Thursday. For that "Winning Deal" on a new or used car, see Dick Scott Buick.

PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK
On Saturday, May 10, 1975, Fred Crissey's Canton Chief baseball squad pounded out a 9-5 victory over the Catholic Central Shamrocks. The non-league victory gave the Chiefs a 13-2 won-lost record. Paul Major led the chief hitting assault with 3 hits and 3 runs batted in. John Young's key hit in the 3rd inning which produced 2 runs was the beginning of the end for C.C. Mike Verduce and Dave Pink contributed run scoring singles to ice the triumph. Mark Perkins started on the mound and Bill Parson recorded the save for the state's #1 ranked baseball club.

Dayton junior team invades Center

in the pocket/W.W. Edgar Charity campaign begins

Area bowlers have come to the part of the season known as the charity campaign. From now until the end of the season, they will be doing their bit for various associations that care for the poor, disabled and sick.

The first of these events is co-sponsored by the Bowling Proprietors and the Detroit Free Press. It will start next week and is expected to yield close to $100,000 for charity.

Next will be the Tournament with a Heart, hosted by Timber Lanes on the east side of Detroit. The Old Timers Tournament will follow, bowled at the Van Dyke Recreation Center with proceeds going to the Capuchin Fathers, who operate the soup kitchen on Mt. Elliott in Detroit.

These are major events, and every week in nearly all parts of the Detroit area bowlers will be striking for charity.

JIM DARMOFAL turned in the top performance of the week when he rolled a perfect 300 game in his 780 series during the 850 League at Westland Bowl.

Darmofal followed a 236 opening game with his 300 and closed with a 244. It was his fifth perfect game at Westland Bowl this season.

There were three other 700 series performed last week at Westland Bowl. Bob Pniowski recorded a 288 game in his 739 series in the Mixed Classic League.

Jim Mijal's 266 middle game helped him toward a 713 series and Bob Shonface rolled a 266 high game enroute to a 702 series.

Leandra Michalak had the top pin count among the women with a 619 series.

PAUL BETTNER started with a pair of 247 games and finished with a 221 at Bel-Aire Lanes to notch a 715 series. In ladies play, Jan Vanderweil had a 285 high game and a 619 series. Bettner was also shooting in the Junior House League at Merri-Bowl. When the smoke cleared, Dan Logan's 702 series was tops. The high game went to Mark Mohacsi with a 290 in his 646 series.

Other good showings: Bill Presnell and Bob Hannenberg with 681 series at Merri-Bowl; Joe Cassel, a 676, and June Buck, a 629, at Garden Lanes; and Mary Bodner, Jo Guevo and Denise Chapman, all tied for high game at Super Bowl's Monday Morning League with a 224.

There won't be any signs proclaiming "Save fuel, burn Woody" or "I brake for all animals except Wolverines."

The rivalry will be a little more friendly this weekend when hockey teams from Michigan and Ohio collide in a two-game exhibition series at the Plymouth Cultural Center (525 Farmer Street).

Ace Sport Shop, a Junior C team comprised of players from the Plymouth-Canton area, will take on the Dayton Junior Gems. The first game begins at 7:30 p.m. Saturday with the final game beginning at noon Sunday.

"We made the trip to Dayton in November and split," said the team's manager, Doug Waack. "We had a good time down there and now they're coming back to play us."

The Aces, a group of 17 and 18-year-olds, have "come together as a team" this year, according to Waack.

IN THE ADRAY Community League, Plymouth-Canton is in second place behind Livonia. Plymouth-Canton's overall record is 20-11-1. Garden City beat the Aces Tuesday night 4-2.

"This a good team," Waack added. "They've worked hard. There's not much individualism. They have the desire and enthusiasm."

"They want to win this year." With the addition of 14 newcomers from the Midget ranks (15-16 year olds) along with five veterans, coach Mike Donnelly and assistant Sy Smith have built a formidable club.

"We didn't win too many last year," said Waack. "In fact, we went to Dayton and got blown out."

Mike Fifer, an assistant captain, has been the offensive Ace so far. He leads the team in scoring with 24 goals and 14 assists. Not far behind are winger Larry Figurski (17 goals-20 assists) and center Brian Miller (11-22).

SPEARHEADING A fierce checking corps are defenseman Ken Guinn and center-captain Leo Fenn.

The shot-blockers get plenty of help from defensemen Tom Collins, Rob Erps, John Chick, Craig Lohaus and Kevin Campbell.

Scott Smith, a speedster on the Salem High School track team last spring, helps anchor the center spot with Mark Hollowood, Bob Fletcher, Brian Hodge, Brian Cheesman and Dave Gellhood at the wings.

Joe Humphries, who also plays wing, is out indefinitely with a separated shoulder and will miss the series.

"I think you'll see some good hockey this weekend," said Waack. "We usually play our games around 10 at night. This gives people a chance to see us at a different time."

And under more subdued circumstances.

WSDP-AIRS GAME

WSDP (88.1 FM), Plymouth Centennial Educational Park's student-operated radio station, will broadcast the Plymouth Salem-Dearborn basketball game beginning at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Todd Chatman will be at court-side to handle the play-by-play. Jim Heller will provide the color commentary.

For more information about Plymouth Salem and Canton sports, listen to "Sports Weekly" with sports director Joe Slezak at 4:40 p.m. each Friday.

ICE SKATING LESSONS

Registration for winter group ice skating lessons will be held Jan. 22-23 at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street.

Sign-up is from 3 to 7 p.m. Jan. 22 and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Jan. 23.

Classes are being offered to beginners, intermediate and advanced skaters (4 years and up).

The professional staff, under the direction of former Olympic medalist Jim Millns, will conduct the eight-week class (25 minutes per session).

The cost is $17 for residents of the Plymouth-Canton Community School district and $20 for non-residents.

For more information, call the Plymouth Recreation Office's 24-hour hotline at 455-6620.

YOUTH FLOOR HOCKEY

The Canton Parks and Recreation Department, in cooperation with the Canton Extension YMCA, is sponsoring a youth floor hockey league and clinic for youngsters in grades 1-5.

A four-week clinic will begin the week of Jan. 25 at the following sites: 3:50-4:45 and 4:45-5:40 p.m., Monday at Field Elementary; Tuesday at Eriksson, and Wednesday at Isbister.

League play will be held each Saturday beginning Feb. 20. The cost is $15 per child.

All participants will receive a free T-shirt.

Registration forms can be delivered in person or sent by mail beginning Monday to: Canton Parks and Recreation, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton 48188. The entry deadline is Jan. 21.

45-15 BOWLING

Registration is being held for the annual 45-15 (extended school year curriculum) bowling tournament at Canton Parks and Recreation Department, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

Competition will be held beginning at noon for Track B, Jan. 20; Track C, Feb. 3; Track D, Feb. 24, and Track A, March 17. The cost for Pee Wee division (8 and under) is $2.75 per person (two games) and $3.25 for bantams and juniors (three games). A handicap system will be implemented to equalize competition.

Track winners will meet in a championship roll-off in late March. For more information, call 397-1000.

Milford pulls upset; Chiefs romp

Coming off the heels of their best performance of the year, Plymouth Salem's wrestling team sank to a low ebb Tuesday at four-team meet at Walled Lake Western.

The Rocks, depleted by injury and sickness, managed to beat their first two opponents — Walled Lake Western, 47-18, and Southfield-Lathrup, 51-21 — but suffered their first dual meet loss of the year against Milford, 30-29.

"It was a depressing night," said Salem coach Ron Krueger. "We had four starters out.

"We had a great win in our own tourney (Plymouth Salem Invitational) and then lose to Milford. It's disappointing."

Salem, now 7-1 overall in dual meets, ruled a tough 16-team field Saturday. The Rocks finished ahead of No. 3 ranked Westland John Glenn (Class A) and No. 1 ranked Montrose (Class C).

John Beaudoin (140 pounds), Bruce Bachman (147), Randy Beaudoin (169) and Scott Wickens (198) each won three matches on the night. John's three victories were all pins.

Winning two matches each were John Jeannotte (121), Bill Hall (107), Jay Roberts (157) and John Woodchuk (187).

PLYMOUTH CANTON raised its overall dual mark to 7-2 with victory Tuesday at home over Garden City West (47-15) and Livonia Clarenceville (55-18).

Double winners for the Chiefs included Chris Cifaldi (100), Todd Gattoni (107), Todd Bartlett (114), Tim Collins (121), Tom Frigge (128), Brian Lee (134), Brett Haarala (140) and Steve Hamblin (147). Kyle Heaton (157) and Paul Fletcher (200) won against West, which managed to win three matches — Bill Richards (169), Howie Behr (187) and Kevin Richardson (heavyweight).

Page, who was beaten in the West match, 9-8, rebounded with a victory over Clarenceville and Haarala had the fastest pin of the night — 26 seconds.

Clarenceville grapplers Mike Gallagher (157), Dale Vaquera (169) and Dennis Respecki (200) all won by pins against the host Chiefs.

Practice serving to 'lift' your game

Joe Taylor

Joe Taylor is a teaching tennis professional at the Centaur Racquet Club in West Bloomfield and Livonia Athletic Club. He is a member of the United States Tennis Association (USTA) and will offer tips on the basic strokes and strategies of tennis.

People ask me what the most important shot is in tennis. I usually tell them they are all important. If I had to pick a shot that can make or break a player, it would be the serve.

Most errors on the serve go into the net. Think of the serve as being an upward and outward motion, rather than a downward motion as some players imagine. Keep your head up as you hit through the serve. Dropping the head will usually result with the ball going into the net.

Spin is necessary for control. Either topspin or slice is okay. But you must put some amount of spin on the serve to gain power with control.

Even the pros don't hit their serves perfectly flat.

Topsin is developed by brushing up the back side of the ball. Slice is developed by hitting behind and brushing around the side of the ball. Remember, hitting the serve perfectly flat is too hard to control.

DON'T SQUEEZE the racket too tight on the serve. It should be a free-flowing motion. Gripping the racket too hard tightens the muscles in the forearm, reducing the wrist snap.

A continental grip (halfway between the eastern forehand and backhand) should be used. Most players feel comfortable using a forehand grip. The problem with this grip is that it's difficult to hit the ball with power and control.

A serve is very similar to a pitcher's motion in baseball. Imagine you are throwing your racket out into your opponent's service square. Like a pitcher, you will get most of your power from the shoulder, elbow and wrist.

Start your serve with the back foot parallel with the baseline with the front foot off on a slight angle. Start with the feet slightly wider than your shoulders.

Both arms on the serve should carry up together like a bird opening its wings. As the ball-lift hand continues skyward — drop your racket behind the back in a "lasso-type" motion.

AS THE RACKET drops behind the back, accelerate the shoulder, elbow and wrist, extending the arm completely and making contact with the ball. Don't let the racket slow down once it drops behind the back. Many players lift the ball too high, forcing you to slow down or stop behind their back. Make sure you are not lifting the ball more than two feet in the air.

The ball-lift technique is the toughest part of the serve. Remember, it's a "ball lift," not a ball toss, which is defined as using the "wrist and elbow."

Ideal matchup: Stevenson vs. Thurston; no such game is currently scheduled. Area's best player: Tim Fredericks, Thurston.

win over Annapolis. Rich Biskner, a senior guard, and Mike Stephen, a senior forward, each netted 11 points. Stephen hauled down 12 rebounds.

Thurston raced to a 28-18 lead after one quarter and increased it to 15 points (47-32) at the half. Annapolis posed no serious threat after that.

Mike Kosko and Greg Gardner each scored a dozen for Annapolis. Friday Thurston hosts Redford Union at 7:30 p.m.

MELVINDALE 45 GARDEN CITY WEST 36

The Tigers fell victim to Melvindale's delay game in the fourth quarter, losing their fourth game in five starts by nine points Tuesday night.

Melvindale (8-2) outscored West, 13-7, in the fourth quarter to nail down this Tri-River League cage victory, the team's fifth without a loss.

Ron Pummill had an outstanding night for the Tigers in a losing cause, taking home game-scoring honors with 19 points.

Melvindale featured a balanced attack thanks to 10 points each by Tom Desantis, John Poczik and Nathan LaVoie.

Garden City West is idle until Friday, Jan. 22, when the Tigers play at Southgate.

THAT ROUGHLY sums up the season so far. There may be those who argue which team is best. But, based on individual performances, no one has done more for their team than Fredericks has done for Thurston.

The 6-foot-3 senior forward proved his value Tuesday, scoring 35 points and grabbing 18 rebounds to lead the Eagles to their eighth straight win, 72-57 over Dearborn Heights Annapolis at Thurston.

Fredericks has led Thurston in scoring and rebounding in all games but one. Still, the Eagles don't necessarily depend on him.

There is plenty of balance on the team, which also was proven in the

3rd quarter skid beats Christian hoop squad again

Taylor Baptist Park pulled away from a five-point halftime advantage, coasted 58-29 victory Tuesday over Plymouth Christian Academy in a Michigan Independent Athletic Association (MIAA) basketball game.

The smaller Eagles surrounded Baptist Park's 6-foot-5 center Jeff Seitkenko with a collapsing zone defense. The strategy worked as he was held to nine points on the night. Forwards Bill Walker and John Carney, however, took advantage of the overload, getting loose for 10 points each.

Taylor won it with an 18-5 surge in the third quarter.

"They got it inside and we just couldn't stop them all," said Plymouth coach Butch DeRenzo. "Our kids got intimidated by their size — a couple of blocked shots early in the third quarter and we just got out of our offense."

John Koss had six points in a losing cause as Christian fell to 4-6 overall.

S'FIELD CHRISTIAN 42 PLY. CHRISTIAN 36

The third quarter blues struck the Eagles once again as host Southfield Christian escaped with a 42-36 victory Saturday night.

The Eagles led by only two at intermission, 21-19, but could not stay in contact in the next quarter, tallying two points to Southfield's eight.

"It's been that way all 10 games," said DeRenzo. "If we could just out of that quarter, we would be all right."

"We're struggling on offense. We have to put four quarters together."

Bob Corcaut led the winners with 11. Christian's sophomore standout Brian Spicer held Southfield's leading scorer, 6-4 Tom Gervase, to eight.

Plymouth returns to action Friday at home against Troy Zion Lutheran.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH MICHIGAN

ORDINANCE NO. 81-7

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CODE OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH BY ADDING A NEW SECTION, WHICH NEW SECTION SHALL BE DESIGNATED AS SECTION 7.143 OF CHAPTER 77 OF TITLE VII, BUSINESS AND TRADES, OF SAID CODE, AS AMENDED BY AMENDMENT NO. 1 OF JANUARY 4, 1982

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 7.143 of Chapter 77, Business and Trades, of the Code of the City of Plymouth is hereby added to read as follows:

MECHANICAL OR ELECTRONIC AMUSEMENT DEVICES

Section 7.143 Mechanical or Electronic Amusement Devices

(1) Definition of Terms: As used in this ordinance, unless the context otherwise indicates:

(a) The term "mechanical or electronic amusement device" shall mean any machine or device which, upon the insertion of a coin, slug, token, plate or disc, may be operated by the public generally by manipulating special equipment whereby a score is established, the object of which is to secure a special number or numbers or a high total score, whether a prize is offered or not, when element of skill in grabbing articles predominates over chance or luck.

(b) The terms "person," "corporation," or "association," as used herein shall include the following: Any person, firm, corporation or association which owns any such machine, the person, firm, corporation, or association in whose place of business any such machine is placed for use by the public; and the person, firm, corporation or association having control over such machine — provided, however, that the payment of such fee by any person, firm, corporation or association enumerated herein shall be deemed in compliance with this section of the ordinance.

(c) The term "arcade" shall denote any place, premises, or establishment, or room set aside in a commercial establishment in which a substantial and significant portion of the business carried on involves the operation of coin-operated mechanical or electronic amusement devices, or in which six (6) or more coin-operated mechanical or electronic devices are located. A maximum of fifteen (15) machines will be allowed at each location. Supervision by an adult at least 21 years of age or older must be provided during operating hours of an arcade.

(2) Gambling Devices Not Permitted Nothing in this ordinance shall in any way be construed to authorize, license or permit any gambling devices whatsoever, or any mechanism that has been judicially determined to be a gambling device, or in any way contrary to law, or that may be contrary to any future laws of the State of Michigan.

(3) Licensing

(a) License Required Any person, firm, corporation or association displaying for public patronage or keeping for operation any mechanical or electronic amusement device as herein defined by Section (1) (a) shall be required to obtain a license from the City of Plymouth. Application shall be made to the City of Plymouth upon a form to be supplied by the City Clerk for that purpose.

(b) License Fees Every applicant, before being granted a license shall pay the following annual license fee for the privilege of operating or maintaining for operation each mechanical amusement device as defined in Section (1) (a) and (c) herein:

ELECTRONIC AND MECHANICAL AMUSEMENT DEVICES:
$100.00 fee per year for first device
$ 50.00 fee per year for each additional device.

ARCADE LICENSE:
$500.00 per year for the first year, renewable January 1 of each year $200.00 per year for each succeeding year.

TRANSFER FEE:
$25.00 for each device.

The license for the devices and arcades shall be issued to the operator, and shall expire on December 31 of each year. The operator must contact the Building Department when a machine is changed so that it can be properly inspected. Licenses shall be issued from January 1 to December 31, with no pro rating of fees.

(4) Application The application for such license shall contain the following information:

(a) Name and address of the applicant, age, date and place of birth.

(b) Prior convictions of applicant, if any.

(c) Place where machine or device is to be displayed or operated, and the business conducted at that place.

(d) Description of machine to be covered by the license, mechanical features, name of manufacturer, serial number.

(e) Name and address of the owner of the amusement device.

No license shall be issued to any applicant unless he shall be over legal age and a citizen of the United States. An applicant who has been convicted of a criminal offense involving gambling, narcotics, or criminal sexual conduct shall be disqualified as an applicant if such conviction occurred within a two-year period prior to application.

(5) Inspection Application for license shall be made out in duplicate, one copy being referred to the Chief of Police, and the other copy to the City Electrical Inspector.

(6) The Chief of Police shall investigate the location wherein it is proposed to operate such machine, ascertain if the applicant is a person of good moral character, and either approve or disapprove the application.

(7) The Electrical Inspector shall inspect all wiring and connections to the machine, determine if the same complies with the Electrical Code of the City of Plymouth, and shall either approve or disapprove the application.

(8) Display of License

(a) The license or licenses herein provided for shall be posted permanently and conspicuously at the location of the machine in the premises wherein the device is to be operated or maintained to be operated.

(b) Such license may be transferred from one machine or device to another similar machine upon application to the City Clerk to such effect and the giving of a description and the serial number of the new machine or device. Not more than one machine shall be operated under one license, and the applicant or licensee shall be required to secure a license for each and every machine displayed or operated by him.

(c) If the licensee shall move his place of business to another location within the City of Plymouth, the license may be transferred to such new location upon application to the City Clerk, giving the street and number of the new location. The new location shall be approved by the Chief of Police and the City Electrical Inspector in the same manner as provided in Section (5) of this ordinance.

(9) Prohibitions and Restrictions

(a) No person, firm, corporation, or association shall permit the playing of mechanical amusement devices within 300 feet of any public or parochial school building.

(b) Arcades shall have a minimum of 100 square feet per device.

(c) Arcade occupancy shall be restricted to four (4) persons per device, plus one (1) supervisor.

(d) Arcades shall furnish one (1) off-street parking place per device, plus two (2) off-street parking places for management personnel.

(e) Arcades shall furnish bike racks capable of handling three (3) bikes per device. Bike racks shall be on private property and shall be clear of building ingress or egress.

(10) Revocation of License

Every license issued under this ordinance is subject to the right, which is hereby expressly reserved, to revoke the same should the licensee, directly or indirectly permit the operation of any mechanical amusement device contrary to the provisions of this ordinance, the ordinances of the City of Plymouth, or the law of the State of Michigan.

Said license may be revoked by the City Commission after written notice to the licensee, which notice shall specify the ordinance or law violations with which the licensee is charged, if after a hearing the licensee is found to be guilty of such violations. Ten (10) days notice of the hearing shall be given the licensee. At such hearing the licensee and his attorney may present and submit evidence of witnesses in his defense.

(11) Seizure and Destruction of Machine If the Chief of Police shall have reason to believe any mechanical or electronic amusement device is a gambling device, such machine may be seized by the police and impounded, and if upon trial of the exhibitor, the machine is proven to be a gambling device, said exhibitor to be found guilty, such machine shall be destroyed by the police.

(12) Penalty Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, in addition to the revocation of his or its license, shall be liable to a penalty of 90 days and/or a fine of $500.00, or any part of that, or probation for each offense.

(13) Repeal of Conflicting Ordinances All existing ordinances of the City of Plymouth are hereby repealed insofar as they may be inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance.

(14) Separability of Provisions It is the intention of the City of Plymouth Commission that each separate provision of this ordinance shall be deemed independent of all other provisions herein, and it is further the intention of the City Commission that if any provision of this ordinance be declared invalid, all other provisions thereof shall remain valid and enforceable.

Section 2. Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan on the 17th day of August, 1981, to become operative and effective on the 8th day of September, 1981.

Amendment No. 1, amending, adding and deleting specified sections and subsections as herein incorporated, was adopted by resolution of the Plymouth City Commission on January 4, 1982, to become operative and effective on January 15, 1982.

LEAVING THE SHOT

Terry L. of Redford asks:
As black in this position, I'm stuck playing a 5-4, so I moved a man off the 12 point to the 8 and hit white on the 1 point from the 5. White rolled a one and I fought for several rolls to get off the bar with no success. White offered me the doubling cube and I declined.
I can't help think I may have had a better winning chance if I had refrained from hitting. Please express your opinion.

Your move has merit but it is not the only move I would have considered. I agree, though, that it is better to hit your opponent in positions like this than to leave him a free shot. For instance, if black moved from the 7 to the 3 point with a four roll, he would leave white a direct two shot, for 12 out of 36 ways to be hit.

By hitting white on the 1 point, black is only vulnerable to 11 out of 36 shots — not a terrific difference over the direct two shot. However, from the bar, white could roll a 5-6, 5-5 or 6-6 for a loss of four rolls, which otherwise would have been somewhat productive for white — plus white would lose his turn.

Another play of equal merit would be to move a 7- and 8-point checker to the 3 point. This allows black another closed point in his home board. More importantly, it allows white 11 out of 36 ways to hit the blot on the 8 point (Normally a direct four shot is 15 out of 36, although in this position 1-1, 2-2 and 3-1 is a no-hit roll), the same odds to be hit on the 1 point as with your play.

With this move, white has picked up six more ways to hit black with the checker on the 1 point. But more importantly, if white rolls a four, he will have to hit black with a checker from the 4 point, thus leaving his 4-point blot vulnerable to a 1-1 retaliation. Not much consolation, though it is better than having no chance at all for immediate revenge.

Both plays have merit. With either move, you are going to leave a shot, so take your pick.

Pianist enhances his life by playing Ping-Pong

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

Table tennis and classical piano don't seem closely related until you talk to Paul Burns. He puts them together in his life logically and naturally.

Burns, second ranked table tennis player in Michigan, is a busy concert pianist who frequently plays in and around the metropolitan area.

"I find a close relationship between them," said Burns. "There's a strong parallel in the eye-hand coordination. For me, music is an expressive, emotional type of art. Table tennis is art on a physical level."

Then adding that the performance of music is also physical, he said, "I like the challenge of a one-on-one opponent in table tennis, as opposed to joggling by myself or some other sport."

It is this challenge which provides the change of pace and the excitement which gives a needed dimension to his life.

A graduate of Wayne State University in piano performance who studied with Boris Maximovich, he is both piano teacher and performer. In addition to private students, he teaches at Detroit Community School.

AS A PERFORMER, Burns plays with a kind of on and off regularity at Tweeny's in Birmingham, the Gnome restaurant in Detroit and other clubs and was a featured performer in the Children's Concert Series at Meadow Brook, in the Kolega concerts at the Detroit Institute of Arts and in concerts at Somerset Mall, among many others.

"I always play classical — that's my cup of tea," he said. "Bach, Beethoven, Mozart, the whole shot."

He has performed widely in England and recalls with a smile that while on a vacation in St. Kitts, he was quickly booked for a concert, plus radio and television appearances when someone discovered he was a concert pianist. So, because of the structure of these interests, music is the vocation and table tennis the avocation.

After growing up in a family of table tennis players, Burns stopped competing for a number of years. His father, Chuck Burns, was one of the top 10 players in the country for almost four decades.

"He is still very competitive," said Burns, "and is one of the top five players in the country among players over 50."

His mother, Burns said, was one of the outstanding women table tennis players and still plays. His older brother, Doug, was one of best junior players in the country in the late 1960s.

But Burns said that in spite of his long association with the sport, when he came back to it in 1975, the whole game had changed.

"It was like relearning the game. It was all attack with intense top spin — Oriental style. The Brits had invented the loop drive with super intense top spin and revolutionized the whole game. The Chinese picked up on that quickly."

TO COUNTERACT THIS, changes were made in the rubber surfaces of the paddles. Many players use one kind of rubber on one side and a different kind on the other — spiny nap and slick surface that is tacky to the touch. The nap surface slows the pace of the ball and the slick surface accelerates it.

"I use a combination, but it's not a radical one," said Burns, explaining that the chemistry of rubber has become an important part of the game.

He recalled the player from England, John Hilton, who developed a "phony loop drive and it took him right to the top. He had a great dead loop. Eventually people caught on, but not before it had elevated him into another league."

DICK KELLEY/staff photographer

Paul Burns will play in a regional table tennis tournament at Cobo Hall this month and in the U.S. Open there next June when teams from all over the world will be competing.

Burns classified his style of play, "I'm a defensive player, they call me a pick hitter."

THE REFLEXES AND judgment of the table tennis player and the pianist must be equally quick and sure, said Burns.

In table tennis, Burns said, "The fast loops have less top spin and more velocity. Slower loops with more spin have less speed. The whole idea of a loop is to bring your ball up. You have to decide which ball is real and which do I compensate for."

He smiled a kind of slow smile and added, "I'm doing the exact same thing with underspin. They can't read my ball either. It becomes a battle of wits, you have to react instantly. When the ball comes at you at between 90 and 100 miles an hour and when you're nine feet away from your opponent, I can tell you, you have to react quickly."

If he isn't playing piano, Burns may be playing table tennis at the GAR Hall in Detroit (only three tables, so it's tough to break into this one), at Cobo Hall for the Monday night league play where lots of people go to play and practice or at the gym at the Birmingham Center for Community Education (Barnum Junior High) on Thursday evenings.

He lamented the fact that while table tennis will be included in the 1988 Olympics, there has never been the kind of sponsorship or prize money to encourage young players into entering the sport full time.

"If we had one-tenth of the money in golf, for instance, people would get in and stay in. But there's no incentive for young players and it keeps the level of play down, which isn't to say that the level of play hasn't been improved. Little by little the purses have gone up, but it's still in the hobby category."

MUSIC'S A SEDENTARY type of thing, Burns explained, adding that he needs a physical sport to offset this.

"For me, it's an ideal game. You can play all year around. It's great conditioning for building physical stamina."

His favorite non-physical hobby, chess, helps build intellectual stamina.

And while the lack of substantial support for table tennis troubles him somewhat, that's counteracted by the growth of interest in classical music.

"I wouldn't be working as much if there weren't some changes going on," he ventured. "Still, I'd like to see a more organized effort to promote and develop the quality of local musicians. I'd like to see someone outside the private sector doing that."

He spoke of the prevalence of regional arts associations in England and how

— Paul Burns

every tiny town has an energetic arts promoter.

"Lots of very talented people (here) bail out of the arts because there are not enough outlets. They either go here the action is (New York City or Los Angeles) or they drop out completely."

BUT BURNS SAID what thrills him the most is to play before an audience that "actually tears the house down." It has happened to him at the Gnome restaurant in Detroit. It happened in St. Kitts.

He said it means the audience is not only comfortable with what they are hearing, they are responding with the kind of enthusiasm usually associated with pop music and sports events. That, to Burns, not only improves his performance, it makes the long years of practice and study worthwhile.

Burns said that as a teen, he always dreamed of becoming a "Renaissance man." He's getting close.

Guy Mitchell to give area performances

Guy Mitchell, popular recording star of the 1950s, is on the comeback trail and will give two performances, at 7 and 10 p.m. Jan. 21, at Almost Heaven, 4443 Dixie Highway, Drayton Plains, north of Pontiac.

Admittance times will be 5:15 and 9:15 p.m. respectively. Tickets may be obtained at the door, or in advance. For details call 674-4131 or 698-9231.

A versatile performer who belts a song, Mitchell has chalked up a variety of hits and million sellers over the years. Among his hits have been "Singing the Blues," "My Heart Cries for You," "The Roving Kind," "Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania," "Heartaches by the Number," and "My Truly, Truly Fair."

Aside from his own TV program, Mitchell was also featured in a trio of movies, including "Red Garters" and "Those Redheads from Seattle." Next on the agenda was a costarring television role with Audie Murphy in "Whispering Smith."

MITCHELL'S PERSONAL appearance routine blends a mixture of older and recent tunes ("New York, New York" and "For the Good Times") and generally includes his version of James Cagney portraying Yankee Doodle Dandy.

Almost Heaven has, in recent months, hosted a variety of name entertainers.

upcoming things to do

ANTIQUE SHOW

Livonia Mall's Winter Antique Show will be held from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Jan. 23 and noon to 5 p.m. Jan. 24 at the mall on Seven Mile Road at Middlebelt. Among exhibitors will be Gloria Siegert of Livonia, who has a collection of old brass cast store letters from Philadelphia, and Gerry Sharp of Livonia who will bring an old cash drawer and, for the train collector, a boarding step used by passengers. Other dealers will display old silver, cut glass and furniture. Billie Rose of Detroit will show a selection of old Stanley tools.

JAZZ AUDITIONS

The Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble will hold auditions for the winter performance session at 7 p.m. Monday in Room 310 of the Forum Building on campus in Livonia. Persons skilled on trumpet, trombone, saxophone, piano, bass, guitar or drums are being invited to audition. All rehearsals and concerts are scheduled from 7-10 p.m. Mondays. The ensemble is offered through Continuing Education. Tuition is $22 for college district residents, $30 for non-residents. For more information call 591-6400, ext. 510.

FISHERS THEATRE

"Twigs" starring Cloris Leachman opens with previews Friday-Sunday at the Fisher Theatre in Detroit. Ms. Leachman has been performing for the last few months, in a new production of this play, with sold-out performances in St. Louis and Chicago. "Twigs" by George Furth is a tour de force for an actress. Ms. Leachman playing all the women's roles. A cast of seven men support her in the play. Performances continue through Feb. 20, with a special Super Bowl matinee at 1 p.m. Jan. 22. For ticket information and prices call 872-1000.

POW WOW

An Indian Pow Wow sponsored by Oakland Community College will be held Saturday-Sunday in H-Building on the Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills. Traditional Indian dancing and singing will be featured from noon to 4 p.m. and 7-10 p.m. Saturday and noon to 3 p.m. Sunday. Acting as master of ceremonies will be Benny Bearskin, Jr., known for active participation in the Indian community. The Blue Lake Singers led by Jose Marcus will perform. The event is open to the public. Admission is $1 to hear the singers, $2 to see the dancing.

AT MAXWELL'S

For information and ticket reservations call 963-7789.

NEW MASTERWORKS

"Cutter's Way" directed by Ivan Passer, starring Jeff Bridges, John Heard and Lisa Eichorn, will be screened at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 6 and 8:30 p.m. Sunday at the Detroit Institute of Arts. The film is part of the Detroit Film Festival's month-long Festival of New Masterworks at the DIA. For ticket information call the ticket office at 832-2730.

YOUTH SYMPHONY

Michigan Youth Symphony will perform the annual Ann Arbor Concert at 4 p.m. Saturday in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor. This free concert is traditionally a joint effort between the Ann Arbor School District and the University of Michigan School of Music. This year the orchestra has invited Michigan Youth Chorus and the newly formed Michigan Junior Orchestra to share the stage. The program will include "The Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra" by Britten and orchestral works by Rimsky-Korsakov and Rossini. The chorus will perform "Cantique de Jean Racine" by Faure and two Bach Cantatas, which will be accompanied by the youth symphony. Further information is available by calling 349-0036.

MILLER DRAMA

Arthur Miller's famous drama "A View from the Bridge" continues through Jan. 24 at Meadow Brook Theatre on the Oakland University campus near Rochester. The view is from the Brooklyn Bridge, in an Italian-American neighborhood where a family is wracked by violent emotional storms. Tickets are available by calling the box office at 377-3300.

"Blondie's Anniversary" (1942), 12:30 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 20. Originally 75 minutes.

Next to the Nelsons, perhaps no screen "family" spent as much time before the cameras as did the Bumsteads. From 1938 to 1951, Blondie (Penny Singleton), Dagwood (Arthur Lake), Cookie (Marjorie Kent), Baby Dumpling/Alexandar (Larry Simms), and Daisy the dog charmed millions of moviegoers.

In 28 films, the Bumsteads went to war, joined society, took a vacation, had servant trouble, changed Baby Dumpling's name, saw Daisy have pups, celebrated anniversaries and witnessed their own maturation. Unlike some film series, "Blondie" episodes were always predicated on previous adventures, which is why a generation of filmgoers really grew up with the Bumsteads.

The Blondie films are little more than early situation comedies — yet there's a certain allure about these films that results from their innocence and naivete.

One "Blondie" film's about as good as any other; Jerome Cowan and William Frawley co-star in "Anniversary." Rating: $2.75.

Second runs

Tom Panzenhagen

"Bound for Glory" (1976), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 146 minutes.

Here's the apotheosizing chronicle of social critic/song writer Woody Guthrie's career. But the film belongs as much to cinematographer Haskell Wexler as it does to David Carradine, who plays Guthrie. Wexler paints an almost too-pretty picture of the Depression Era, Dust Bowl America. His use of the innovative "steady camera" also brings an undesirable fluidity to scenes that are otherwise charged with conflict and struggle. Director Hal Ashby let this one get away from him. Rating: $2.60

"Warlock" (1959), noon Monday on Ch. 9. Originally 121 minutes. Henry Fonda and Richard Widmark star in this above-average western about two titans who change their stripes and clean up the town of Warlock. But it's interesting to note the moralizing tone this Edward Dmytryk film carries compared to the Clint Eastwood westerns of the '60s. While Eastwood's film at most, preach a sort of isolationism or self-reliance, "Warlock" would offer a lesson on how to cleanse society of its ills. Rating: $2.50.

"Madison Avenue" (1962), 1 p.m. Friday on Ch. 50. Originally 94 minutes.

Two people are pitted against a PR man whose ideas could endanger the entire nation. Eleanor Clarke, Dana Andrews, Eddie Albert. Rating: two martinis.

Solo competition hosted by Oakway Symphony

Oakway Symphony Orchestra will hold its 1981-82 Young Artists Solo Competition on Saturday-Sunday at Madonna College's Activities Building in Livonia.

To date, 38 young artists will perform beginning at 9:30 a.m. each day before three nationally known judges.

The judges are Arno Marriotti, on the faculty of the University of Michigan School of Music, former first oboeist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra; Felix Resnick, violinist, DSO, who is conductor of several suburban symphonies including West Bloomfield; and James Tambourini, area conductor, who teaches at the University of Windsor, former first trumpet with the DSO. The public may attend the competition without charge.

In all, $3,000 will be awarded for four scholarships with funding provided by the Michigan Foundation for the Arts. First prize will be $1,000, said Francesco Di Blasi, Oakway's conductor. Second and third prizes are $750 each, with the fourth prize totaling $500. In case of a tie for fourth prize, the money will be divided.

Competition scheduling deadline was Jan. 4 and scheduled to instrumentalists this year. Piano and voice competition will be held in 1982-83.

Performers, to be eligible, must be residents or students in the Southeastern Michigan counties of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw or Wayne.

AMONG FEATURED instruments this year will be the euphonium and harp. A percussion solo also is included.

Winners of the Young Artists Competition will be featured soloists at the 3 p.m. Feb. 14 concert of the Oakway Symphony at Madonna College.

Super Bowl Sunday at

Jacques Seafood MARVIN'S N.Y. DELI

Everyone will be guaranteed a "50 yard line seat" when you join the team at Jacques' Marvin's N.Y. Deli for Super Bowl Sunday, January 24!

The pre-game hoopla begins at 12 noon with all fans receiving a "super" raffle ticket making them eligible for some "super" prizes later in the day. From noon till 3:00 p.m. you can satisfy your quarterback size appetite at our champagne/buffet all you can eat, and bottomless glasses of bubbly!

And what's a football game without a marching band and pom-pom girls, you say?

Well, look — we'll have a marching band and pom-pom girls! We'll even give your favorite girl some "super" flowers to celebrate the occasion.

From kick-off time till the last whistle, you can sit back and enjoy the game on one of our many giant screen T.V.'s. In case you get the munchies, there's no need to leave your seat — we'll be offering "stadium vending deluxe" that dogs, popcorn, pizza, cassis, oysters, clams, shrimp, crab legs, ice cream and more!

What about those raffle tickets we mentioned earlier? Winners of "super" raffle will be whisked off to the Silver Dome (with 2 tickets, champagne and goodies) in our limousine in time to see the opening kickoff in person! Other fabulous food prizes will also be awarded. We'll even be holding an auction to give you the chance to bid on items donated by local professional sports celebrities (all donations go to the Capuchin Kitchen).

Sound great? Well, so will the price.

$32.50 per person

This will also include valet parking, coat check, taxes and tips, and reduced drink prices. Reservations are limited, so prompt replies are necessary. For more information call 642-2183.

Dear John & Marsha,

Greetings from your nutty neighbors vacationing a few miles away at the Michigan Inn! What a trip this is turning out to be! Harry says the best thing about it is the weekend package price... just $39.00 a night for our room and only $15.00 more each night for the kids' room (any Thursday through Sunday by the way)... but I say it's the meals we've had. I don't know what to rave about first - their fantastic Friday Fish Feast, our divine dinner last night at the Benchmark or their sumptuous Sunday Brunch! We may never leave!

The price of gold too high for that Valentine locket? Candy's out because she's on a diet? You want to give Mom something heat? Or your teacher? Or the current guy in your life?

Tell them how you feel about them in three lines or more in the Classified section of your hometown newspaper.

You won't be telling the whole world, but you'll be telling more than 150,000 people, because that's how many readers we have (which is a good thing to keep in mind when you have something to sell).

We want to publish your Valentine.

In fact, we'd LOVE to.

We'll publish your Valentine on

The price of gold too high for that Valentine locket?
Candy's out because she's on a diet? You want to give Mom something neat? Or your teacher? Or the current guy in your life?

Tell them how you feel about them in three lines or more in the Classified section of your hometown newspaper.

You won't be telling the whole world, but you'll be telling more than 150,000 people, because that's how many readers we have (which is a good thing to keep in mind when you have something to sell).

We want to publish your Valentine.

In fact, we'd LOVE to.

We'll publish your Valentine on THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11
please send your greeting by

An optional five-speed, manual transmission teamed with a six-cylinder engine is offered on the 1982 Jeep Cherokee models.

Jeep offers luxury

The Jeep CJ line of small utility vehicles manufactured by American Motors will offer a special luxury model — the Jeep CJ-7 Limited — for 1982. The Jeep, a fuel economy leader in domestic four-wheel-drive vehicles, will feature several innovations for the model year, including:

- A five-speed manual transmission as optional equipment.
- A wide-ratio automatic transmission and lock torque converter as option for six-cylinder engines.
- An optional 20-gallon fuel tank.

BOTH THE CJ-5 and the Limited will offer tilt and adjustable driver's seats, cruise control with manual transmission.

The Jeep Scrambler, introduced late in the '81 model year, continues with a five-foot cargo box and high fuel economy.

CHEVY MAKES HAPPEN GOOD THINGS FOR 1982. Chevrolet

CELEBRITY. Something new has taken shape. It's the new shape of front-wheel drive. The new shape of Electronic Fuel Injection in a 2.5 Liter engine. It's the shape of driving. It's Celebrity. And it's more than a brand-new car... it's the bright new shape of Chevrolet.

CAMARO Z28. Engineered with an unfettered spirit, an uncommon flair, and an unusual capacity for enhancing all but the most conservative life-style. Camaro Z28. Styled so new it'll have the competition chasing shadows.

CAVALIER. Robot welders applying over 400 spot welds per body. Laser beams auditing body fit. Gamma rays inspecting hidden parts. One of the most precision-built Chevrolets ever. Cavalier.

S-10 PICKUP A new-size American pickup truck. Longer than most import pickups, yet smaller than most full-size pickups. Chevy S-10. There's never been a truck like it before.

6.2 LITER DIESEL ENGINE Aside from the traditional advantages of diesel, this hardworking powerplant can handle heavy loads as well as heavy traffic. Combine it with the Diesel Chevy LUV, and Chevrolet offers you the widest range of light-duty diesel trucks in the world.

DIESEL CHEVETTE. America's favorite small car now has one dandy little diesel. A five-speed delight that'll dazzle you in dozens of different ways. Available Diesel Chevette. Darn good.

CITATION. Call it a mid-size. Call it a compact. A front-wheel-drive, a wagon, a hatch. Citation answers to so many needs, you'll just want to call it your own.

CORVETTE COLLECTOR EDITION. Truly this is a car that performs with style and distinction... designed with the most demanding enthusiast in mind. Corvette. You'll want to collect one.

Chevy to display Indy 500 pace car

Chevrolet's 1982 Camaro Z28, which will pace the Indianapolis 500-Mile Race on Memorial Day, will highlight Chevrolet's display of more than $500,000 worth of vehicles at the show.

The new Z28, making its debut with the other Camaro models, is the third Camaro in 15 years to be named the official Indy pace car. It features an unusual silver and blue paint and special car graphics.

Joining the Camaros in one of their first public showings is the Chevrolet Celebrity — a new family sedan with the comfort and style of the Malibu and the fuel economy of the Citation. Celebrity is almost five inches shorter and 500 pounds lighter than Malibu, with comparable interior space, performance and 20 percent more fuel efficiency.

Other new Chevrolets, including the front-wheel-drive Cavalier and the new S-10 pickup truck, make the Chevy display one of the largest.

Other Chevrolet products at the show include:

- The Cavalier concept car — a re-fashioned Cavalier, two-door, convertible coupe — a model choice not available at least currently.
- A cutaway version of Chevrolet's new S-10 pickup truck, which affords viewers an inside look at the truck.
- A Cavalier cutaway, Chevrolet's front-wheel-drive, four-model car line, which offers two, high-content standard equipment levels to compete with Japanese cars.

Chevrolet's car lines are:

Celebrity — introduced for 1982 — is Chevrolet's new mid-size family car, which is available as either a two- or four-door model. Automatic transmission is standard, as is the 2.5-liter gasoline engine. A 2.8-liter V6 diesel engine and a 4.3-liter V6 diesel engine are optional. EPA city estimates range from 28 miles per gallon for the diesel to 22 mpg with the gasoline V6. Highway mileages range from 41 to 29 mpg.

Camaro — in its various new forms for 1982 — is designed to appeal to drivers from the sports-minded to the more economy-oriented buyer. Three models comprise the lineup: A Sport Coupe, a luxury Berlina and a high-performance Z28. All Camaros have recessed dual rectangular headlamps and a fast-back silhouette that incorporates a compound S-shaped glass hatch.

Cavalier — introduced in May as the first of Chevrolet's 1982 models — offers two high-content, standard equipment levels. Available in four models — a coupe, a four-door sedan, a station wagon and a two-door hatchback — the Cavalier uses a four-speed overdrive manual transmission; however, a three-speed automatic is also available.

Monte Carlo — available for the first time with a 5.7 liter V-8 diesel powerplant — has a new, aerodynamic styling giving the car a subtle wedge-shaped silhouette. The diesel is expected to give an EPA-estimated 23 mpg in city driving...34 on the highway.

Malibu Classic — currently the best selling family car in America — also gets a diesel for the first time, plus a new grille.

Caprice-Impala — now offering a diesel engine in all models nationwide — features economy axle ratios matched with selected power trains. A Caprice diesel with optional 27-gallon fuel tank can give a driver 900 mile range on the highway between fillups.

Citation — still the best-selling four-wheel drive car in America — features enhanced ride-handling, performance and fuel economy. Fuel injection has been installed for the standard 2.5 liter, four-cylinder engines.

Corvette — showcases for the best in fiberglass paint and finish work — will feature a Collector's edition and a Sport Coupe.

Chevette — the top seller in America — features a wide selection of engine-transmission combinations.

1907 show in beer garden

First auto shows were a bit smaller

This year's Detroit Auto Show begins Jan. 16 in Cobo Hall.

But Detroit's first auto show was held in 1899 in the Light Guard Armory. It was organized by the Tri-State Sportsman's and Automobile Association.

Interspersed among a display of fishing reels, hunting rifles and camping gear were two steam-driven Motorcycles and two Waverly Electrics.

Detroit was the first city in the country to offer a retail establishment from which automobiles were sold, so Detroit was a natural for the first auto show in the United States.

A CO-FOUNDER of the Cadillac Motor Car Co., William E. Metzger, was the country's first auto dealer. He set up a dealership for steam-driven and electric automobiles on Woodward in 1898.

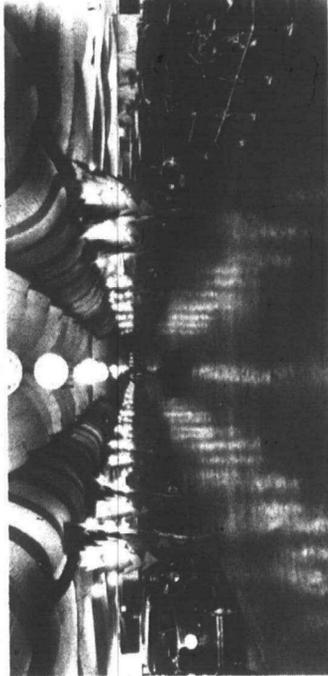

The first Detroit automobile customer was Newton Annis, a furrier. He bought a Waverly Electric from Metzger in 1899.

Interest in the automobile eclipsed the alliance between sporting goods and automobiles in Detroit. In 1907, the newly formed Detroit Auto Dealers Association (DADA) held its first

BUT MANY of the infant companies exhibiting their wares at the 1907 show — Ford, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac, for example — would go on to become leaders in the industry.

Several locations have been used in the 75 years since the first DADA auto show closed until 1954, when it moved to the State Fair grounds.

In 1957, when fairs and two-tone paint jobs were the rage, the show was held in the Detroit Artillery Armory. It was held there until it was moved to Cobo Hall in 1965.

The Detroit auto show was already a tradition when this picture was taken, about 1926. This show was held in Convention Hall.

Dodge is building new convertible

The 400 convertible is the first convertible built by Dodge since 1971, when the last of the old Dodge Challengers were built at the Hamtramck assembly plant.

"We think that the time has come for convertibles to reappear. The interest they generate is fantastic. People want them," said Tom Pappert, Chrysler Corp.'s vice president for U.S. automotive sales.

"So Dodge is going to build them one, at an affordable price."

The car will not be produced until March, so no price is available yet.

A two-door model will be built for conversion to a convertible and will be assembled with a bare metal roof and without windows.

THE CAR will be shipped from the St. Louis assembly plant to Cars and Concepts Inc., in Brighton. There, the roof will be removed, strengtheners added and a power convertible top and windows unique to the convertible installed.

While in assembly at St. Louis, structural reinforcements will have been added to the convertibles-to-be to insure they meet all federal impact and crash standards.

Most important of these additions is a "torque tube," a Y-shaped spine added to the floor pan of the cars to replace the strength previously provided by the fixed metal roof.

Computer analysis showed that the "torque tube" was more effective in maintaining rigidity and strength than the more traditional "boiler plate" addition to convertible chassis.

OTHER REINFORCEMENTS to the convertible platform include additions to the "A" pillar, doors and quarter panels.

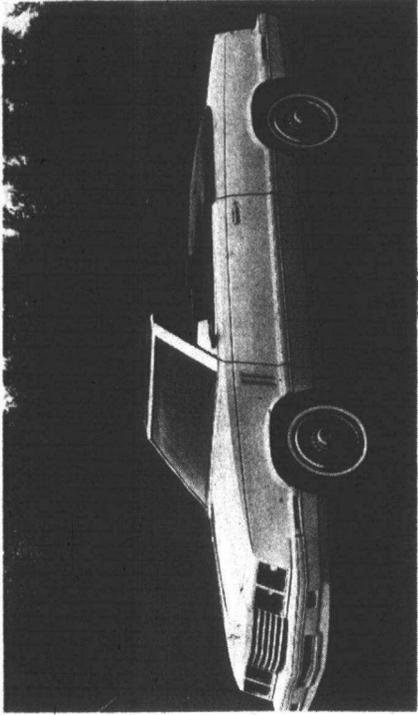

In addition, the windshield of the convertible is lower. The windshield pillars are finished with a full-width molding.

And because there is not fixed metal roof, the front seat belts loop over the bucket seat backs and are anchored in the quarter panel area.

Standard is Chrysler's four cylinder, 2.2-liter engine. The standard automatic transmission is a three-speed transaxle.

The tires are the same low-pressure, 14-inch steel belted wide white wall tires designed for the Dodge 400.

OTHER STANDARD equipment

The Dodge 400 contains a "torque tube," a Y-shaped metal spine added to the floor pan to replace the strength previously provided by a metal roof.

includes 60-amp alternator, power senger compartment, color-keyed brakes (disc in front and drum in rear), electronic ignition and voltage regulator, dual horns, and rack and pinion power steering.

The Dodge 400 convertible's standard equipment includes power convertible top with console control switch, tinted glass, carpeting in passenger compartment, color-keyed bumper rub strips, and bright-edged protective vinyl body moldings with side marker lights.

The driving mirrors are an inside day/night rear view mirror and body-color dual remote control outside mirrors.

Ford's fuel is propane

Ford Motor Co. will begin production next month of propane-fueled passenger cars for the U.S. market. Ford Granadas and Mercury Cougars will be the first cars to be available with propane tanks.

Although the first cars will be offered only to fleet customers, the option will become available to all customers this fall.

"The biggest advantage of propane is its price, which historically has been well below that of gasoline and diesel fuel," said Philip Benton of Ford.

PROANE CONTAINS less energy per gallon than does gasoline, so mileage will be less. But even with lower mileage, the overall savings can be substantial to those who drive a lot, Benton said.

The propane cars have a 25-gallon fuel tank underneath the car. Cars have a range of 500 miles, a 30-percent increase over gasoline-powered Granadas and Cougars.

Propane-powered cars have better acceleration, said Stuart Frey of Ford.

"In addition, propane use eliminates the need for a fuel pump and almost all emission control devices," he said.

A 1982 Ford Granada is refueled with propane at one of 5,000 propane outlets in the United States. LPG (liquefied petroleum gas) costs about 50 cents per gallon less than gasoline.

Preview evening helps 3 charities

The Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Detroit help young people develop character through cultural, educational and athletic extra-curricular activities.

The Northeast Guidance Center is a comprehensive mental health center helping persons of all ages cope with emotional and mental problems. Founded in 1964, the Northeast Guidance Center serves the east side of Detroit, the Grosse Pointes and Harper Woods.

THE EASTER Seal Society was founded 62 years ago and serves physically handicapped children and adults. Besides offering therapeutic services, the Easter Seal Society develops recreational programs and advocates legislation to improve housing, employment and transportation for handicapped persons.

"The charity preview offers an elegant, society-night soiree through the dazzling auto displays and will also provide some very tangible support to three deserving metro-area charitable groups," said Mrs. Bernard Fauber, preview night chairwoman for the Women's Association of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Detroit.

Three metropolitan Detroit charities will share proceeds from the 1982 Detroit Auto Show's Charity Preview Night.

The Boys and Girls Clubs of Metro Detroit, the Easter Seal Society for Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties, and the Assistance League for the Northeast Guidance Center will share the benefits from Charity Preview Night, to be held from 7-9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 15, at Cobo Hall.

About $40,000 was raised last year, said C.M. (Bud) Shelton, Auto Show chairman. As in previous years, the black-tie event will be attended by leaders from the Detroit area's automotive, financial, business and political communities.

SPONSORS FOR this year's Charity Preview Night are W. Paul Tippett Jr., president of American Motors Corp.; Harold K. Sperlich, president of North American Automotive Operations for Chrysler Corp.; Donald E. Petersen, president of Ford Motor Co.; F. James McDonald, president of General Motors Corp.; James W. McLernon, president of Volkswagen of America; and Detroit Mayor Coleman A. Young.

Some of the most exciting reasons to visit the auto show are called Buick.

The 1982 Buicks. See them at the auto show.

What makes Buicks exciting, and very worthwhile inspecting, is the way these 1982 models combine uncommonly good looks, solid engineering, and our ideas about luxury. To cite one example, the 1982 front-wheel-drive Buick Skylark rewards you with luxury and comfort.

Our Regal series offers the new Regal Sedan and Regal Limited Sedan. Two, six-passenger vehicles worthy of the title, "Little Limousine." They join the popular aerodynamically styled Regal Coupes. Our full-size LeSabre and Electra convey extra value with more standard equipment than before, while offering quiet, smooth six-passenger comfort. The front-wheel-drive Riviera continues to redefine the concept of a handsome, luxurious personal car.

If you're caught up in a new car mood, be sure to see the new Buicks. After all, wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Looking like a winning entry in a model car competition, the DeLorean combines Northern Ireland assemble with John Z. DeLorean's knowledge of the U.S. auto market.

And it talks, too

Datsun's 200-SX hatchback coupe even has a voice warning system to remind drivers the lights are on. The voice also warns drivers when the side dars are ajar, the fuel is low, the parking brake is on or the key has been left in the ignition.
