CANTON'S LIBRARY will be closed both Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 7 and 8 because library staffers will participate in Canton Country Festival activities. Staffers will enter two floats in the Saturday parade.

Residents are reminded that fines will not be charged for the two days the library will be closed. The drive-in book drop will be open, however. Library officials ask that residents do not return audio-visual materials, especially phonograph records, in the book drop. For more information, call the library at 397-0999.

DOC O'CONNOR, Canton Observer editor, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Canton Kiwanis at 8:30 tonight at Denny's Restaurant, on Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth.

FRANKLIN-PALMER homeowners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Field Elementary School, on Haggerty south of Cherry Hill. The subdivision is invited to attend. This is the third general meeting to discuss road maintenance, paving and snow removal.

THE AUG. 10 meeting of the Canton Township Board has been cancelled, due to the primary election on the same date.

THEY'RE OFF and running. A five-mile run during the Canton Country Festival will begin at 9 a.m. Aug. 7. Runners will begin at Canton Township Hall and finish at Griffin Park. Prizes and gifts will be given. Anyone 10 or older is eligible to sign up. For information about registration times and fees, call the recreation office 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

WHAT A KISS was enjoyed by Cynthia Betley (above) of Canton. Betley received a "whale of a kiss" from Shamu, the killer whale, during a recent visit to Sea World marine park near Cleveland. Is it love?

PULL! A tug of war competition will be held at 2 p.m. Aug. 7 during the Canton Country Festival.

Two opposing teams, each limited to a total of 1,000 pounds, will pull and tug until the "losers" fall into a pit. Last year's winner was the People's Church.

Entry applications may be picked up at Canton's recreation department at Township Hall, on Canton Center Road near Proctor.

THE TOWNSHIP Board regularly meets on the first, second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Meetings begin at 7 p.m. at Township Hall, on Canton Center south of Cherry Hill. The board of education regularly meets on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth. The public is invited to attend all government meetings.

Anyone interested in submitting information about Canton Township for "The Canton Connection" may send items to Canton editor Dennis O'Connor, 461 S. Main, Plymouth 48170. We ask that you type or print the information and include your name and phone number in case we have any questions. The column runs every Monday.

Principal seriously injured

An elementary school principal was seriously injured Thursday morning after being hit by a car while jogging on Joy Road west of McClumpha.

Edgar Kleinsmith, 46, of Stonecrest, Plymouth Township, was listed in serious condition Friday afternoon at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, suffering from head injuries and a fractured leg. Kleinsmith, the Fiegel Elementary School principal, hadn't regained consciousness as of Friday afternoon, according to Rita Passage, his sister-in-law.

He was heavily sedated and had multiple head and leg fractures, she said. Kleinsmith was hit by a car being driven by Sherry M. Snyder, 17, of Plymouth Township, police said.

Snyder called police shortly after 6 a.m. to report the accident.

Jogging Kleinsmith hit by automobile

No violations have been issued, according to Police Chief Carl Berry.

Police officers and Plymouth Township fire fighters found Kleinsmith lying on the north side of the road and the car parked on the opposite side, Berry says.

The car was taken to the Michigan State Police Crime Lab Thursday morning, after 35th District Court Judge James Garber granted a search warrant for the vehicle.

Police wanted samples of blood, hair and clothing from the car, officer Robert Henry told the judge.

"In cases where there is extensive injury, it is standard practice to take the car to the crime lab," says Berry.

Police refused further comment about the circumstances of the accident, which is under investigation.

"There are still some questions which haven't been answered," says Berry.

KLEINSMITH JOGS every morning along Joy Road, Passage explained.

Before working in the Plymouth-Canton Community School District, Kleinsmith was a teacher in the U.S. Army. He started work as a West Middle School teacher in 1963.

In 1967, he became assistant principal at West. He transferred to Pioneer Middle School in 1970 as an assistant principal. Since 1976, he has been working as Fiegel principal.

The accident is the first Plymouth area pedestrian/car accident resulting in serious injuries thus far this year, Berry says.

Clothing Bank seeks to help patrons in need

By Louise Okrutsky
staff writer

Flossie Tonda stood in the center of the clothing bank she organized in 1976 and straightened out stacks of jeans and sweaters put in disarray by eager customers.

She wasn't bothered a bit by all the extra work. Evidence of happy customers is exactly what Tonda wants to see in the portable classroom packed with summer clothes behind Central Middle School, Plymouth.

She is determined to empty the racks and shelves of summer clothes to make room for warmer wear.

To receive the free clothes, patrons must produce evidence they live in the Plymouth-Canton area and receive some form of general assistance such as welfare, medicare or Medicaid.

Slowly, Tonda, secretary of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, is seeing her wish fulfilled. On a recent morning, she and her aide, Helen Decker, helped a woman and her two daughters pick out summer dresses. Every so often they would point out a dress or shirt to someone in the trailer in an attempt to "sell" an article they found appealing.

But their dedication goes beyond salesmanship. Tonda and Decker have been known to cart clothes home to wash and mend before putting the articles on the clothing bank's racks.

"I used to do more of it," confessed Tonda. "I don't have that much time anymore."

In addition to her commitment to the school board and the clothing bank, she is president of the Canton Country Festival board.

But between 9 a.m.-noon, Tuesdays and Thursdays, she paces the trailer, near Main and Church, waiting to point out her favorite pieces of clothing to new arrivals.

Like Tonda, Decker likes to watch the patrons find a piece of clothing that seems suited for them alone. They recently exchanged knowing smiles as a young girl latched on to a white sweater cape and insisted on wearing it in the trailer as she searched for a dress.

DESPITE PERIODS of dishevelment, the cozy little trailer is far from a haphazard operation. Money to run the bank is obtained through donations from the various Parent Teacher Organizations (PTO) and local businesses.

Where should 9th graders compete?

By Dennis O'Connor
staff writer

Should ninth-grade athletes, interested in competing on high school interscholastic teams, receive the opportunity to participate at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP)?

Or should these students, housed at the district's five middle schools, stay there and compete in an intermural program, featuring after-school sports action within the district?

Plymouth-Canton's Board of Education may decide this delicate issue at tonight's board meeting, beginning at 7:30 at the Plymouth Salem High School library, on the corner of Joy and Canton Center, Canton.

High school coaches want ninth-graders in their programs. The Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSA) granted Plymouth-Canton the option of allowing these ninth graders the opportunity to compete at the high-school level, on a one-year trial basis.

Middle school principals balk at the suggestion of ninth-graders at the high schools because it will dilute their intermural program and hurt an opportunity to develop school loyalty.

SUPERINTENDENT JOHN Hoben apparently has mixed feelings about the controversial issue.

He suggests a compromise where ninth-graders are allowed to compete at the high schools — but only in those sports which are not offered in the middle school's program. This recommendation suggests it's OK for a football player to compete at the high schools, but not a swimmer.

Clearly, Hoben finds himself caught in the middle of the issue. He knows, from his experience as a coach in this school system, that it's important to begin developing athletic potential at the ninth-grade level.

A number of students have left Plymouth-Canton schools because of the opportunity to learn about computer science will be working with a handicap in the near future.

He also knows this proposal is supported by high school administration, the athletic department, parents' booster clubs and coaches.

However, Hoben realizes middle school principals are vehemently against this plan because it will hurt, if not eliminate, their programs.

John Telford, executive director for secondary education, also has supported stronger middle school athletic programs in the past.

The realization that other special interest groups will ask for the same extra-curricular privileges for ninth-graders also has surfaced.

WHEN BOARD MEMBERS consider this request, they may look at all sides of the issue and not be afraid of offending a particular group of administrators.

One element which will be considered, of course, is the financial consequences to the district.

Ninth-graders participating on high school sports teams means no additional cost to the school system, coaches say. Students will be required to furnish transportation to the activity. No additional sports teams will be created.

However, there is the possibility that Plymouth-Canton schools will continue to lose students to private schools with a better athletic opportunity for ninth-graders.

The board may be responsive to this kind of request, if no additional funds are needed.

Computer plan proposed

A proposal to begin a pilot program in computer technology instruction will be presented tonight to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Because the computer study committee would like to demonstrate for the board existing computer equipment, the board meeting will be held in the library of Plymouth Salem High School beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Salem High is located at 46181 Joy just west of Canton Center Road.

In other actions, the board may act on ninth grade participation in athletics at the high schools, adopting a statement of board philosophy on busing, recall pink-slipped employees, adopt a 1982-83 school calendar for year-round and nine-month buildings, and approve middle school texts.

THE PILOT PROGRAM for the middle schools recommended by the Instructional Computer Technology Study Committee recommends the purchase of from 15 to 30 computer stations to be placed at selected schools.

The goal of the committee is to use microcomputers as teaching tools and to help students become familiar with computers.

Depending upon the proposal level chosen, the costs would range from about $16,760 to $146,000. The committee has investigated the possibility of federal funds, grants from foundations, and other sources of private funding.

Eight different foundations have expressed interest in providing funding: Carnegie Corporation, Apple Education Foundation, Danforth Foundation, W.K. Kellogg, Exxon Education, Hearst Foundation, Markle Foundation, and the Spencer Foundation.

In its report, the committee writes: "With the 'computer boom' already in progress, students who are denied the opportunity to learn about computer science will be working with a handicap in the near future.

"Every career will be some day linked to a computer. A computer will touch everyone's life. A lack of knowledge in computer literacy or operation will severely handicap an individual."

Only two weeks remain for readers to submit their entries for the Observer Newspapers' second annual Hot Air Balloon Festival Photo Contest. Entries of color slides taken during the balloon festival sponsored by the Mayflower Hotel July 9-11 must be submitted to the Observer no later than 5 p.m. Friday, Aug. 6, at the news offices at 461 S. Main, Plymouth. Slides only will be accepted; (please, no color prints). The slides must be mounted and must contain the name and phone number of the photographer printed legibly on the slide frame.

All entries become the property of Observer Newspapers and will not be returned. Anyone wanting a personal copy should arrange to have an extra copy made before submitting their entry.

Winners will be selected by the Observer news staff and announced in August, when the first-place winner will have his/her entry printed in full color on Page 1A of the Canton and Plymouth Observers. The first-place winner will also receive $50. The second-place winner will receive $25 plus Sunday dinner for two at the Mayflower Hotel. The third-place winner will receive free passes four persons to attend the Sunday Brunch at the Mayflower Meeting House. Honorable mention prizes will be given out according to the quality of the entries. The contest is open only to amateur photographers. Anyone working for Observer & Eccentric Newspapers or any division of Suburban Communications Corporation is ineligible. There is no theme for the competition. Judges will give priority to content of the slide but also will take into consideration the degree of difficulty in taking the picture, technical qualities, and whether or not the slide can be reproduced for publication.

League polls Wayne County executive candidates

FOR THE first time in Michigan history, Wayne County voters Aug. 10 will nominate candidates for a county executive under a county home-rule charter.

The field is crowded. Ten Democrats and six Republicans filed to be on the ballot.

Not all are serious, however, as evidenced by the fact that only five Democrats and five Republicans replied to a questionnaire by the League of Women Voters. The Observer attempted to contact all respondents for photographs but found several had unlisted numbers.

The LWV asked candidates:

1. As Wayne County executive, what are the three most important changes you would make? How would you carry them out?
2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioner and the Department of Public Works?
3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

Answers are in the candidates own words and have not been edited except for length.

The League of Women Voters is a national, nonpartisan organization established in 1920 to encourage citizen participation in government. It never supports or opposes any political party or candidate.

Membership is open to all citizens of voting age. For information, contact your local League in Allen Park, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Detroit, Downriver, Grosse Pointe, Livonia or Northville-Plymouth-Canton-Novi, or call 962-0580.

Publication of these statements and opinions of candidates is solely in the interest of public service and in no way is to be construed as an endorsement by the League of Women Voters. The League takes no responsibility for any of the views or facts stated by the candidates.

HELEN T. GOTOWKA, 60, of 8234 Grayfield, Dearborn Heights. Education: Graduate, Wayne State University. Attended Detroit Institute of Technology, Detroit College of Applied Science/Meinzinger Art School. Occupation: Early retiree, Ford Motor Co. Experience: 43 years in business world.

1. As Wayne County executive what are the three most important changes you would make?

How would you carry them out? a) Clean streets. All cities paying county taxes must be fully serviced. We need totally clean, open cities throughout the county the entire area. County lottery to keep money in county. Effective abuse centers and enforcement of affirmative action for women. b) Necessary action.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioners and the Department of Public Works?

In accordance with the law as mandated by the voters.

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

a) Items which do not concern safety or health. Well-being of citizens must be defended. Retarded citizens must be given opportunities for improvement. b) Imperative that county files by kept by county and accessible to public. No sequestering of public files by attorneys. Consider six-hour days to recall employees.

Anthony Jaworski

ANTHONY JAWORSKI, 36, of 11719 Abington, Detroit. Education: Six years anthropology, five years medicine, two years electronics, five years drafting, four years nat pro athlete. Occupation: Engineer by trade, investor in everything. Experience: pain, humility, overcoming some 90 felonies while living or seeking office in Wayne County.

1. As Wayne County executive what are the three most important changes you would make? How would you carry them out?

See that any public official that fails to act on a felony complaint would go to prison. As it is, a legislator is immune from civil prosecution. A judge is immune, a prosecutor, a wealthy person, big gangster, a friend of the prosecutor, etc. — legislature. Wayne County could produce its own electricity from its own trash and wood and coal. We would make hundreds of millions at even $5/month per house plus save millions for exp. Nowhere to put the trash and wood.

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

a) Elimination of all house taxes for a home $50,000 or less. b) The high weight limit for trucks in Michigan destroys more roads than do all of the cars in the entire United States. A few trucks in Wayne cause 100 percent of Wayne county Road damage.

William Lucas (D)

WILLIAM LUCAS, 53, of 525 Clinton, Detroit. Education, occupation, experience: As a teacher, a policeman, a lawyer and as Wayne County sheriff, I have been trained to deal with tough problems while at the same time being sensitive to the personal needs of the public.

1. As Wayne County executive what are the three most important changes you would make? How would you carry them out?

a) A complete financial audit by professionals from CPA firms to totally audit and reconstruct the accounting system. b) A complete management and procedures audit by outside professionals to better use our resources. c) Work with lawyers, personnel experts and community leaders to ensure the elimination of conflicts of interest and nepotism.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioner, and the Department of Public Works?

Eliminating duplication of services where possible while providing the maximum service to the citizens will be a major goal of my County Reorganization Committee. Each department of county government will be closely studied to improve cost effectiveness. I am confident that we can obtain both financial savings and better service.

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

My County Reorganization Committee will look at each part of the budget for better efficiencies and savings. There are no areas which will not be closely scrutinized. We must eliminate phony budget numbers — let the people know where we stand — stop phony cost estimates and inflated revenue projections.

tion: Mayor, city of Livonia. Experience: Mayor, city of Livonia, 12 years; council, city of Livonia, eight years; school board, Dearborn Township, five years (president).

1. As Wayne County executive what are the three most important changes you would make? How would you carry them out?

Move toward living within the county's income by immediately initiating an audit — the first in decades; institute a zero-based budget system in order to justify every county expenditure; select competent staff who will be held accountable for the performance of their employees.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioner, and the Department of Public Works?

The three departments, as present structured, are inefficient and duplicative. After careful analysis of functions, consolidation should be undertaken to save county dollars for use in road repairs and direct services to the public.

3. To bring County expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

Depends on review of all operations, zero-based budgeting and analysis of each line item. Road Commission personnel will come under immediate scrutiny, especially at supervisory levels. Health and welfare services would be protected. Jail costs would be reduced by substituting qualified personnel for high-salaried deputies.

1. As Wayne County executive what are the three most important changes you would make? How would you carry them out?

a) Reorganize to bring Road Commission and sheriff's office into policy compliance with rest of county. b) Appoint only competent, unimpeachable persons to commissions, committees, boards. c) Both actions above are within the powers of the executive and, if done wisely, will produce the third and most important change: an improved county image.

Determine the true county budget, reorganize top end of county through appointment of budget-finance and personnel directors, plug small leaks in general fund: ($15-20 million) malpractice insurance, legal counsel for county hospital, synchronize county-state audit system to eliminate revenue sharing deferrals, state overcharges for juveniles offenders.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioner and the Department of Public Works?

Fiscal policies: Establish effective accounting and auditing procedures, possibly use private sector, reduce expenditures to projected revenue levels. b) Bring back credibility to government: Provide leadership with equal representation for all Wayne County. c) Improve departmental communications: Establish lines of communication throughout county and establish common goals.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioner, and the Department of Public Works?

Define roles of each, eliminate duplication of efforts.

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

No deficit budget funding, concentrate on budgeting that works, cut everything not essential (use zero-based budget method).

SHED BREAK-IN: A Canton Center homeowner reported a break-in of his shed July 7. A water pump, a compressor and some concrete were taken, according to a police report. The items are valued at $475.

HOME BREAK-IN: Someone broke into a Haggerty Road home July 9, stealing watches, jewelry and cash, according to a police report. A screen was forced open, allowing entry. The stolen items were valued at $1,000.

MISSING CONES: It must have been a wild party near Terrell Court and Redfern.

A resident borrowed five orange traffic cones from the Canton police department to control congestion for the weekend party. Two of the cones were stolen, said the resident, who filed a police report July 19.

EGG-ZACTLY: Someone threw eggs on the front of a house on Patrick July 17, according to a police report.

BURNED CAR: A 1977 Ford Thunderbird was discovered burning on Warren Road east of Lilley July 18.

A half-filled gallon can of gasoline with the top off was found on the floor of the car, which was gutted by the blaze. There was indication of fresh collision damage on the grill and fender, said the report.

BIG PANTS: A 32-year-old Ypsilanti man was arrested for larceny at Meijer's Thrifty Acres July 17. According to a police report, a guard saw the man stuff socks, shoe laces, film and a ladies' jump suit into the front of his pants. Value of the items was $42.

BIKE THEFT: A 15-year-old youth's bicycle was stolen from a rack in front of Canton Wizard arcade July 16. The bicycle wasn't locked, according to a report.

HOME BREAK-IN A purse containing $400 was stolen from the bedroom of a house on Alton July 18. A police report indicates someone came through an unlocked door while the resident was sleeping. The empty purse was found in a yard on Holly, the next street from Alton.

THEFT FROM GARAGE: Maybe the thief wanted to throw a loud party. A stereo amplifier and two cases of beer were reported stolen from a garage on Montfort July 17.

STOLEN HUBCAPS: Separate incidents of hubcap thefts were reported July 19. A set of wire-rimmed hubcaps were taken from a home on Indian Creek. Two hubcaps were taken from a Willow Creek homeowner. The two streets are three-quarters of a mile apart.

If a Latin or German teacher came to the board to request a no-cost, after-school club for ninth graders, the board likely would welcome the suggestion with open arms.

BOARD MEMBERS also must remember that a one-year effort at middle school intermurals was a flop. It's one reason ninth-graders want to compete at the high schools. The dilution of such a program only is in the eyes of middle school principals.

Interscholastic athletics is a proven product for ninth-graders at CEP. Better training, coaching and opportunity exist at the high schools.

Finally, board members will remember that coaches would not have requested ninth-grade athletic participation if a viable program existed at the middle schools.

Middle school principals may realize they lost any chance of developing school loyalty through athletics when their interscholastic sports programs were eliminated years ago.

Intermurals simply has not generated the interest, enthusiasm, or loyalty of students with the limited funds allocated to the activity.

That's clear from last year's effort. Plymouth-Canton schools have an opportunity to give something back to ninth graders after the shift from the CEP to the middle schools two years ago.

Clothes for the needy

Shoes, underwear and other items which aren't donated, frequently are purchased to keep the bank's store of clothing up to the needs of its patrons.

Still, it's hard for Tonda to stock up on enough jeans for women and children, shoes, underwear winter coats, infants clothing and jogging outfits to keep up with the seasonal demand.

"The children just love jogging outfits. They get angry when they find the top and they can't find the matching pants. They ask, 'Maybe it's in the back. Can you look again?'" Tonda said.

Blue jeans, another popular item, are limited to two pairs per child.

Shoes are a more important item. They are limited to one pair a year per person. If the man, woman or child can't find a pair which fits, they are given a token allowing them to pick a pair worth up to $25 from Plymouth's Kinney Shoe Store. The store allows the clothing bank a 10 percent discount but the remainder of the cost is supplied through donations to the bank.

"Sometimes we get mothers who come here wearing sandals in the winter. Instead of buying for themselves, they give things to the children. We make sure she gets a pair of shoes — something new for herself," Tonda says.

Every donation of clothing is accepted. After sorting through the clothes, Tonda and Decker give the items the clothing bank can't use to the Salvation Army.

Items such as formal dresses and men's suits aren't needed by the bank. In fact, the women's formals the bank receives are forwarded to the Plymouth and Livonia-Redford theatre guilds.

For more information on donations, call the clothing bank at 455-5760.

Board to mull safety busing statement

The committee defines computer literacy as knowledge of the historical perspective of computing, computer anatomy, how computers work, algorithms, problem solving, systems capabilities, uses of the computer, social implications and futuristic uses of electronic technology.

The committee stresses that a full discussion of computer technology instruction needs to be held. "The issues are complex, and we should not expect yes/no answers."

"It helps to consider many of the issues as continuums, with a range of values between such extremes as play vs. learning, obstructing personal growth vs. liberating human development, and tool vs. master.

"One should not consider decisions as final; they will always be refined through experience and discussion with others."

ON SAFETY BUSING, the board will consider adopting a statement of philosophy to inform residents of the board's intent to ultimately eliminate all safety busing.

The board's proposed philosophy statement comments that, because of the continuing probability of decreasing funding, the district's goal is to "ultimately eliminate all temporary busing, that is, busing that is less distant from the school than the limits mandated by the state."

The statement then quotes from the School Code of 1976 which provides that "A school district shall not be required to transport or pay for transportation of a resident pupil living within 1.5 miles, by the nearest traveled route, to the public or state approved nonpublic school in which the pupil is enrolled."

The statement explains the board is making known its position now to "promote parental responsibility for transportation, and to provide ample time for sidewalks to be planned and constructed where appropriate."

What the statement refers to as "temporary" busing has commonly been known as "safety busing" in recent

OVERDENTURES

There is a new way to make dentures which vastly improves the retention of dental plates and has become a boon to denture-wearers. Hopeless teeth are no longer extracted. Instead, root canal treatment is performed, then the teeth are cut down to the level of the gumline. The roots of the teeth remain imbedded in the jawbone and the presence of these roots prevents the bone under the gums from shrinking. This preserves the ridges and gives good retention and support for the dentures.

Another method is to cement metal studs on top of the embedded roots. The studs protrude about 1/4 inch. Corresponding snaps are fastened to the denture. All the individual needs to do is to snap the denture onto the studs and there are no more worries about slipping dentures.

An overdenture can give you a more natural feel than a conventional denture because your own natural root tips transfer tactile sensations directly into your bone. That makes the overdenture feel more "real!"

Judge pondering road union debate

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Macomb Circuit Judge Kenneth Sanborn will take about three weeks to ponder a request to nullify a controversial contract between Wayne County Road Commission and a union of 73 top managers.

The Wayne County Charter Commission last week asked Sanborn for an "accelerated judgment," contending the contract is aimed at frustrating charter reform.

Attorneys for the Road Commission and the 73-member association of managers also argued for an accelerated judgment — dismissing the Charter Commission's suit.

The battle, already six months old, was waged last week in Sanborn's Mt. Clemens courtroom. It was the first time the lawyers had got to the substance of the case. Earlier courtroom arguments had revolved only around who — if anyone — had legal "standing" to challenge the contract.

MILTON MACK JR., attorney for the Charter Commission, likened the Road Commission's six-year contract with its managing director and top department heads to this situation:

"Suppose President Carter, after his 1980 defeat, had given his cabinet and ambassadors a five-year contract and said, 'Carry on because I might be re-elected in four years.' That's exactly what these defendants are attempting to do."

Mack said the Road Commission's six-year contract would prevent the new Wayne County executive, who will be nominated Aug. 10 and elected Nov. 2, from any reorganization of that agency.

Mack cited "three areas of the contract which diminish, impair or repeal the charter" which voters approved in 1981:

• When the charter takes effect next year, the 73 Road Commission managers would serve at the pleasure of the chief executive. Under the contract, they can't be removed or reorganized by the chief executive.

• The charter empowers the chief executive to supervise all county facilities. The Road Commission's contract, however, makes decisions on work to be done a matter of negotiation.

• The charter establishes a civil service commission. The Road Commission contract takes it out from civil service jurisdiction.

Mack said he was attacking not the contract but the Road Commission's right to make such a contract with a chief executive due to take office next year.

"If the chief executive wants to sign that kind of a sweetheart deal, that's up to him," he said.

JOSEPH A. SULLIVAN, special counsel for the Road Commission, said the 73 managerial people "saw the Charter Commission stripping away their protection" and therefore formed a union.

"The personnel which make up the supervisors' union are professional people... some with doctoral degrees... and an average of 19 years' experience."

"Mr. Mack says the chief executive can throw all 73 of these people out on the street. That used to be known as the 'spoils system.' Mr. Mack advocates a return to the spoils system," said Sullivan.

Sullivan said the Charter Commission lacked a right to challenge the contract. "The Charter Commission purports to see a mandate to police that charter once it was adopted," he said.

Sullivan accused Mack of "poisoning the well" by making an oral suggestion of a grand jury investigation of the Road Commission's activities.

Mack, however, shot back that it was the Road Commission's written brief that raised the specter of a grand jury investigation.

ERWIN ELLMAN, attorney for the managers union, argued the Charter Commission should not be awarded an accelerated judgment because there are disputed issues of fact.

Commission, the Drain Commissioner, and the Department of Public Works?

The charter establishes the drain commissioner as an elective position, requires the Road Commission to perform only road construction and maintenance and leaves the Public Works Department unchanged. Therefore, I would need to know the drain commissioner's plans and their impact on county needs and the budget.

1. As Wayne County executive what are the three most important changes you would make? How would you carry them out?

Structurally, no changes other than those stipulated by the charter are planned initially. Financially and financially, all expenditures over a certain dollar amount would receive prior approval. All functions within county government would be impacted/altered by this procedure.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

No particular budget item need be singled out. All departments would submit a budget reflecting a 5 percent improvement factor. Prior executive approval over expenditures would then force spending in line with the budget and eliminate the deficit. Other cuts to eliminate waste would create a "rainy day" fund.

2. How would you coordinate the work of the Wayne County Road Commission, the Drain Commissioners, and the Department of Public Works?

The Road Commission and the Department of Public Works are controlled by the county executive who can recommend their reorganization and budget and appoint the commissioners. The drain commissioner is separately elected, but must submit his budget to and through the executive.

The budget is the control.
3. To bring the county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

This question can only be answered generally now, until one examines actual departmental operations to ascertain which services are overstuffed and where efficiencies can be installed. Excess salaries should be reduced and unnecessary jobs eliminated, but specific recommendations must await a careful performance audit.

fort because of non-uniform classification of jobs. Attempt to put all similar functions in Department of Public Works.

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

Eliminate cost of living allowance of $7,000 for elected officials; create correctional guard for jail which will release police officers for out-county road patrol service, reducing costs by 40 percent. Enact legislation reimbursing local government for lost revenue of $8 million for industrial tax abatement.

would know, in advance, amount of available funding for service delivery.

3. To bring county expenditures into line with revenues, which budget items would you cut? Which items would you protect?

Safety, health and welfare must be budgeted first, tightening budgetary leaks as aforementioned, reducing entry-class salaries, balance staffing to avoid overtime, provide self-funding malpractice insurance and legal counsel at county hospital can avoid cutting back all present services and most non-mandated departments.

The TI Computer Advantage Club: 4 days and $65 buys your kids the future.

Young people who master the computer today will master the future tomorrow. That's why the Texas Instruments Computer Advantage Club is offering a concentrated Computer Awareness Program to young people ages 8 to 15. Give your children the advantage. Participants will receive individual and group instruction on the TI Home Computer. They'll learn how to "talk" to computers, creating programs in both TI LOGO and TI BASIC computer languages. They'll experience the fun and excitement computers offer.

- 10-hour "hands-on" computer experience
- TI Home Computer Activity Book
- Quarterly Newsletter
- Club T-Shirt
- Special 24-hour Open House for parents

Participants will automatically receive a one-year membership in the TI Computer Advantage Club. And if all costs only $65 ($50 for each additional family member). It's a small price to pay for the future.

On a hot, humid day, what satisfies thirst best?

On a hot, humid day, a person can get very thirsty pulling weeds, cutting and trimming grass and doing similar outside work.

In past years, I experimented with a variety of drinks to cool my thirst and finally settled on iced tea (unsweetened). Gatorade just never did it for me.

Last summer, and this year, I've dropped the tea and used a few ice cubes in a glass of water. In fact, I've been drinking a lot of ice water — mostly to keep the old system flushed out, (something young people seldom think about and older people too often do).

My choice has been vindicated. The mail the other day included some information on thirst-quenchers from the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University, (a college located in south central Michigan near the state's capitol).

The MSU people once concerned themselves only with milk, but in recent years have expanded their

daniels' den

research efforts to take in soft drinks and other beverages.

As might be expected (without benefit of research), sweet drinks aren't very effective in satisfying thirst. Soft drinks, consumed by many when thirsty, are nothing more than sweetened, flavored water — with a bit of carbon dioxide added.

Although common sense suggests soft drinks won't satisfy thirst, the sale of pop last year, according to the beverage industry, was 39.5 gallons per capita, at a cost of almost $180 per person. (Ad-mitedly some people drink pop to get fat or to get pimples, not to quench thirst).

Regular pop (non-diet variety) contains 12 percent sugar and 88 percent water, about the same as lemonade.

Generally, the drinks with the highest water content (conversely, they would have the lowest sugar content) are most efficient in satisfying thirst.

A common belief is that a cold beer is best for thirst on a hot day.

Beer does contain more water than milk, lemonade and non-diet sodas, according to the Cooperative Extension Service, but has less water than iced tea, coffee and diet drinks.

In spite of beer's relative high water level, though, it is ineffective as a thirst quencher because it contains alcohol, which has a dehydrating effect. (Picture the stereotypical beer guzzler with a potbelly covered with sweat.)

Some people back away from iced tea and coffee because they both contain caffeine, considered unhealthy by many.

Others wouldn't think of coffee to satisfy thirst because it's usually served hot.

Another myth we share is that thirst-quenchers need to be cool and the more ice added the better.

Actually, according to our mid-state researchers, temperature has nothing to do with satisfying thirst. We drink beverages ice cold only because it's part of our culture, or out of habit. But a warm glass of tea or water will do just as good as iced tea or ice water.

The conclusion drawn was that the best and the cheapest thirst-quencher is water.

The second best is club soda (carbonated but sugarless water) provided you drink it on the rocks (a reference to the lack of alcohol, not location).

So, I accidentally have discovered water is the best beverage to satisfy thirst.

Now, to be energy efficient, I will have to learn to enjoy it without ice.

Why the board located Schoolcraft in Livonia

By Sam Hudson
staff writer

(Part XII)

Harold Fischer, the first board chairman at Schoolcraft, says the college came to be located in Livonia because Mayor Harvey W. Moelke and other city officials went all out to get it.

"None of the sites considered in Livonia or Plymouth had sewer or water," Fischer recalls.

"So, when Livonia agreed to extend those facilities to the college site, that made the big difference. Plymouth Township made no such effort."

Jane Moelhle, the first woman elected to the Schoolcraft board, says the college site is the Livonia "because Mayor Moelke and his predecessor, Mayor William Brashear, knocked themselves out to get it there."

"The Livonia city officials spent time, they got sellers to reduce their prices, they told them it was for the good of the community."

Ken Lindner, who has been in charge of business affairs for Schoolcraft since the college began, remembers that Plymouth Township would not guarantee road improvements to its proposed sites, while Livonia did for those within its borders.

Lindner says college officials and board members visited one potential site per week. "The newspapers were tracking us pretty well. Everything we did appeared in print."

Lindner credits Mayor Moelke with convincing the Schoolcraft board to locate the college where it did, on the farmland then owned by Mrs. Nellie Esch.

It was on Haggerty Road, just south of Seven Mile. Lindner says Moelke appeared at a college board meeting and declared that he wanted the college in Livonia.

"What will it take," he asked. "How much are you willing to pay per acre? Will you take the Esch property if I can get it for you at a reasonable price?"

The board told him that it could spend no more than $250,000 for purchase of a site, and that it needed at least 100 acres.

Moelke then met with Mrs. Esch. He suggested a course of action which proved attractive to her. She was to sell the bulk of her acreage to the college at a price it could afford. But she was to keep her house and ten of the acres on which it was located.

past & present
Sam Hudson

Moelke pointed out that if the college was built on the Esch property, the city would bring water and sewage to the spot, thus appreciating the value of her remaining acres. And the city would rezone her property to be commercial.

Eventually, he pointed out, when she decided to sell the ten acres she would probably incur any loss she might incur in giving the balance to the college at a reduced price.

Mrs. Esch agreed.

As a result, in August 1962, the college was able to buy 137 acres of the Esch property at $1,732 an acre, or $237,284. (That is the figure reported by the Plymouth Mail on Aug. 15, but college statistics show that the total cost for site procurement was $251,408. An additional $324,507 was spent for site development, and $1,941,580 went for construction costs up to June of 1965).

This transaction gave the college board more than the minimum of 100 acres it had hoped for. And, as Fischer told a Plymouth Mail reporter on Aug. 15, "All 137 acres are usable and the property is high. It provides a beautiful view. Some days you can see all the way to Detroit. Most of the sites we looked at have streams running through, but this one doesn't. Every bit is usable."

On Aug. 31, 1962, the board presented a check of $1,000 to Mrs. Esch to seal a 120-day option. The district took possession of the property when the sale was completed in January, 1963.

THE TRANSACTION turned out to be a good one for all parties.

The college board found a good site, and had to pay less than it anticipated (land prices in Livonia at the time were ranging from $4,000 to $5,000 an acre). Mrs. Esch was able to keep her homestead and the ten acres at the corner of Seven Mile and Haggerty.

When she sold them some years later she is said to have received more for the ten acres than she did for the 137 acres she sold to the college.

And Mayor Moelke, the catalyst who brought the board and Mrs. Esch together, got the college for Livonia.

Why were sites in Garden City and Clarenceville not considered?

Because, one newspaper reported, Livonia and Plymouth were the only communities of the four where the required 100 or more acres were available.

About two weeks after the board placed an option on the Esch property, the trustees were saddened when A. Ward McCain of Livonia lost his lingering battle with cancer.

An auditor for the Great Lakes Steel Corporation for 31 years, McCain had served on the Livonia school board for 13 years, many of them as its president.

He had fought to get the college locate on property the Livonia board owned on Farmington Road, but joined the others in voting to buy the Esch property when he realized the site he preferred stood no chance.

Paul Chandler wrote a tribute to McCain in the Sept. 26, 1962, issues of the Livonian.

"Fourteen years ago, when Livonia was open countryside, and the growth explosion barely started," wrote Chandler, "McCain was a central figure on a small school board. As the giant system unfolded, McCain remained on, a tireless, constant public servant, working the late, unpaid hours year after year.

"Among his close friends, there are those who believe he clung to a fragile thread of vitality in recent weeks mainly to continue an effort to see that the community college would be located in Livonia, his home town, and nowhere else. He died not long after that decision was made."

Teen idol of the past is now a forgotten man

I think it's time that someone got around to writing a tribute to Bobby Rydell. Unfortunately, since I'm the only one in the whole world who seems so inclined, I guess the job is up to me.

Of course, I realize that anyone under 30 years of age probably doesn't even know who Bobby Rydell is, much less why he deserves praise. This makes the task of paying homage a little more difficult without, first, a little background to enlighten the uninformed.

Bobby Rydell was a teen-age idol back in the days when being a teen-age idol meant something — to me at least. That was probably because I was a teen-ager at the time. In those ancient days, all of the young male singers who set our little hearts aflutter were so wholesome they were homogenized. This was good.

Bobby Rydell didn't swear. He didn't smoke (not even cigarettes). And, of course, his intentions were always more than honorable. This was as it should be — in fact, I suspect it was probably written in the bylaws of teen-age idolhood.

Even Elvis, of the swiveling hips, said, "Yes, sir," and "No, ma'am." The boys had manners.

BOBBY RYDELL didn't have swiveling hips. In fact, I don't think he had any hips at all. But I didn't care. I still plastered bedroom walls with photos of his effervescent smile and spent every cent of my allowance on his records — back in those wonderful days when a brand-new album could be had for just under $3. Remember?

In fact, I'm not ashamed to say (though I probably should be) that I was the president of the Highland Park Chapter of the Bobby Rydell Fan Club. It was the least I could do for someone who was doing so much to help me survive the pangs of puberty.

RICKY NELSON, Dion and the Belmonts, Gene Pitney — there were so many attractive young singers who were doing their bit to make adolescence a little less agonizing.

It was fun to do inane things like see the movie "Bye Bye Birdie" 13 times just because Bobby Rydell was in it. To this day, I can still recite the dialogue right along with the movie — a skill that, not surprisingly, hasn't come in handy even once over the years.

I think I spent the first half of the '60s swooning over my BR scrapbooks, listening to his records and treasuring the autographs that I had practically risked my life to acquire.

Ah, those certainly were the days. But I've grown up now, and so has Bobby Rydell, no doubt. I have neither the time nor the inclination for such fantasies and frivolities.

I have matured from a silly teen-aged girl with adolescent obsessions into a mature, responsible woman. It's the serious things in life that hold my attention now.

Oops, gotta run — "Magnum, P.I." is coming on in two minutes.

Outfielders' one-hand catches continues to amaze

Without much fanfare or bluster the grand old game of baseball that was invented by Abner Doubleday in the last century has undergone another great change.

Sitting at home the other evening and watching the Tigers drop another game in 12 innings, The Stroller just couldn't believe the great change that has taken place since he was a denizen of the nation's press boxes a few decades ago.

For almost three hours he sat and watched. In all that time he didn't see one outfielder use two hands to gather in a well-hit ball. Instead, they just stuck up their gloved hand and pulled in the sphere.

In the "old" days an outfielder who continued to try the use of one hand would not have remained in the line-up very long.

As he kept watching, The Stroller realized that the big change has come with the equipment, including gloves that are two and three times the size

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

of those used when the Tigers were winning pennants.

TODAY'S GLOVES were brought into the game to improve the defense and give outfielders a chance to counteract the long ball hitters. But it sure looks peculiar to see an outfielder just hold up his glove and let the ball, no matter how hard hit, nestle into it.

The change seemed peculiar to The Stroller as he well remembers when Hank Greenberg, the Tiger first baseman in the '30s, attempted to use a larger-than-ordinary glove. It was quickly outlawed. Now, even the pitchers, wear the big mitt.

This is the second great change in the game that The Stroller has seen. He has no trouble recalling the days when the baseball, itself, was changed to carry further. And with this came the home run age to supplant the old-time pitcher battles when a hurler needed only a few runs to register a victory.

When he was 'covering' the Tigers he was sitting in a hotel lobby in the south during spring training as a member of a discussion group. Across the way sat Hans Lobert, the former third baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies.

He was a member of the "old school" and when asked what the difference was between the game he played and the game that was played in the '30s,

"SIX INCHES on the handle of the bat," he answered, and then pointed out that in his day the hitters tried to place hits. They left the bat stick out about six inches from the grip.

"Make that a rule now," he said, "and you would see a different game. Now the batters take a long hold and swing from their hips.

Another thing The Stroller noticed is that the players bring their gloves back to the dugout at the end of each inning. That wasn't true when he covered the game. The outfielders dropped their gloves in the outfield and picked them up on the way back to the positions each inning.

But the change that surprised The Stroller the most was the use of these modern leather baskets by the outfielders. As he looked on in amazement he couldn't help feeling that the modern baseball game is just another version of basketball — only this time when the ball goes into the basket you lose.

Now that turkey is a year 'round choice, you can buy an economical turkey breast and cut it into chunks, perfect for threading on a skewer. Or you can slice everyone's favorite — white meat — into turkey steaks, also great on the grill!

There follows the prettiest, most refreshing dessert of the season — Creamy Summer Cheesecake, perched atop a crisp crust made with nutritious quick or old fashioned oats. And, for afternoon snacking, have on hand plenty of Choco-Raisin Chewies, oatmeal cookies that taste just like chocolate-covered raisins.

Completing the patio partnership is a big pitcher of thirst-quenching iced tea. Even on a scorching day, you can drink as much as you like without adding unwanted calories. Did you know that this sensible summer drink, this old favorite, can be made in three ways — easy, even easier and easiest of all? Try one that's refreshingly new to you!

TRIED 'N TRUE TURKEY KABOBS

2 pounds turkey breast, cut in 1-1/2-inch pieces	Cherry tomatoes
1/2 cup soy sauce	Fresh pineapple, cut in 1-inch wedges
1/2 cup cooking oil	Zucchini, cut in 1/2-inch slices or green pepper cut in 1-inch pieces
1 cup white wine or lemon-lime soda

Place turkey cubes in shallow dish. Combine soy sauce, oil and wine; pour over turkey, mixing to coat cubes. Cover and marinate in refrigerator for about 2 hours.

When ready to prepare kabobs, remove turkey from marinade and thread on 6 skewers alternately with cherry tomatoes, and pieces of pineapple and zucchini (or green pepper). Place skewers on grill with meat 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil for 12 to 15 minutes, or until cooked to desired doneness, turning occasionally and brushing with marinade. Makes 6 servings

CREAMY SUMMER CHEESECAKE

Crust:	Filling:
1-1/2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked	Two 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar	1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans	1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/3 cup butter or margarine, melted	1/2 cup sugar
	One 8-oz. container frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
	Fresh nectarine or peach slices

For crust: Heat oven to 350°F. In large bowl, combine all ingredients; mix well. Firmly press onto bottom and 1-1/2 inches high onto sides of 9-inch springform pan. Bake about 15 minutes or until golden brown; cool.

For filling: In large bowl, beat together cream cheese, sour cream and lemon juice until smooth and well blended. Gradually beat in sugar, blending well. Add whipped topping; continue beating until smooth. Pour into prepared crust. Chill at least 8 hours or overnight.

To serve, remove rim of pan from cheesecake. Top with fresh fruit slices and garnish with mint leaves, if desired. Makes one 9-inch cheesecake (12 to 16 servings).

THREE WAYS TO MAKE ICED TEA

AN EASY WAY . . . Bring 1 quart of cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 15 teabags or 1/3 cup loose tea. Cover and let stand five minutes. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding another quart of cold water. When ready to serve pour into ice filled glasses. Makes 2 quarts, 10 servings.

EVEN EASIER . . . Fill a quart jar or container with freshly drawn cold water. Add 8 to 10 teabags removing the tags. Cover and let stand at room temperature or in the refrigerator at least six hours or overnight. Remove bags, squeezing against side of container. Makes one quart; recipe may be doubled.

EASIEST OF ALL . . . Use instant tea powder or flavored iced tea mix, following directions on jar or envelope. In general, use 2 rounded tablespoons to each quart of water. If using the flavored iced tea mix, allow 1/2 cup (or 2 small envelopes) to a quart of cold water.

TURKEY STEAKS (Not Shown)

Turkey steaks, sometimes called turkey breast slices, fillets or cutlets, can be purchased at the supermarket or you may prefer to cut your own. Cut across the grain of the turkey breast, perpendicular to the breast keel bone — 1/2 to 3/4-inch for turkey steak, or 1/4 to 3/8-inch for turkey cutlets. Broil, bake, grill, fry or barbecue this delicate cut of meat. Just remember not to overcook and toughen it.

New or Old Favorite — BBQ Turkey Steaks

2 pounds turkey steaks
1 cup white wine or lemon-lime soda
1/2 cup soy sauce
1/2 cup cooking oil
(May add to suit taste: Worcestershire sauce, garlic or garlic powder, grated ginger root or ground ginger)

Place turkey steaks in shallow dish. Combine wine (or soda), soy sauce and oil. Pour over turkey steaks, mixing to coat all surfaces. Cover and marinate in refrigerator for at least 2 hours. Prepare coals for barbecue. Place turkey steaks on grill 4 to 5 inches from heat. Broil for 10 to 15 minutes, or until cooked to desired doneness, turning and brushing with marinade. Makes 8 servings.

CHOCO-RAISIN CHEWIES (Not Shown)

1 cup raisins
1/3 cup water
One 6-oz. pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
2 cups quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1-1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
3/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 cup granulated sugar
3/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped pecans (optional)

Heat oven to 350°F. In small saucepan, combine raisins and water. Bring to boil; remove from heat. Cover; let stand 5 minutes. Place in blender, food processor or food grinder; blend 10 seconds. Add chocolate pieces; chop with on/off motion 10 seconds. Set aside. In medium bowl, combine oats, flour, salt and soda. In large bowl, beat together butter and sugars until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Gradually add dry ingredients. Stir in raisin mixture and pecans; mix well. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire cooling rack. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

Barbecued lamb is tasty summer treat

Carefree, beat-the-heat meals need not be less flavorful or attractive because the preparation is simple. As a matter of fact, they can be unique — even impressive.

A boned, rolled and tied shoulder of lamb, one of the finest meat cuts to be barbecued on a spit, is sometimes overlooked as a leading choice for cooking on an outdoor grill.

Making the piquant barbecue sauce for the lamb is no trouble and threading the leg onto the spit is easy. Just make certain it's balanced for even turning.

A meat thermometer is a tremendous help and, as always, is most accurate when inserted into the thickest part of the lamb.

Many may not have discovered lamb's delicate goodness and welcome moisture when cooked medium-rare. A good guide is to cook for 30-35 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer registers 145-150 degrees. Many will prefer rare lamb, registering 140 degrees on the thermometer.

Catch the good lamb juices and marinade in a drip pan fashioned from heavy aluminum foil; then brush the lamb with them during cooking.

Potatoes and corn roasted in foil over the same fire along with a tossed green salad and cookies with sherbet make a meal fit for family, friends or a special party. The leftover lamb makes marvelous sandwiches.

GRILLED, HONEY-TOUCHED SHOULDER OF LAMB

makes 6 servings

- 1 shoulder of lamb, boned, rolled and tied
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
- 1/2 cup finely chopped fresh mint or 1 Tbsp. dried mint
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1/4 tsp. ground pepper

Place lamb in glass dish. In 1-qt. bowl, combine honey, wine, onion, mint, salt and pepper. Pour over lamb. Cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Place lamb on spit over gray hot coals. Grill lamb 1-1 1/2 hours, or until meat thermometer registers about 140 degrees for rare, 160 degrees for medium or 170 degrees for well-done, brushing occasionally with marinade. Any leftover marinade may be heated and served over sliced lamb.

Try lamb on a rotisserie for a change of pace from grilled burgers.

Marinated pork roast goes Oriental-style

The next time you want to serve a pork roast for dinner, do it with an Oriental flair. It's easy to do by combining soy sauce in a marinade of ingredients that makes an appetizing variation of a Chinese-style flavor. The beauty of Chinese Pork Roast is that you can cook it in the oven any time of year or outside on the rotisserie in the summer to keep the kitchen cool.

CHINESE PORK ROAST

- 4-pound pork loin roast
- 1/2 cup honey
- 3/4 cup soy sauce
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1/2 cup dry sherry
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger

Pierce meaty sides of roast with fork; place in large plastic bag. Combine remaining ingredients, pour over roast. Press air out; tie top securely. Refrigerate 8 hours or overnight; turn roast in shallow pan. Roast at 325 degrees F 1 hour. Brush several times with marinade. Remove roast; let stand 15 minutes. Combine pan drippings with remaining marinade in small saucepan. Bring to boil and cook 1 minute; serve with roast.

Or insert rotisserie rod through center of roast, using prongs to hold meat in place. Place on rotisserie and cook at low to moderate temperature 2 1/2 hours or until meat thermometer inserted into center registers 165 degrees. Remove roast; let stand 15 minutes before carving into serving portions. Makes about 6 servings.

LEE HOSEY still gets goose bumps when she talks about her two weeks in Germany. The goose bumps are Lee's reaction to recalling the fabulous visit to the Schade family in Wiesbaden.

The Schade children, teen-agers Nicki and Katerina, had been the Hoseys' houseguests last summer in Plymouth. Lee, her husband, Andy, and children Drew and Pamela went to Wiesbaden early this summer.

The only hitch was at the beginning of their trip. Instead of a direct flight, they had to side track to Heathrow Airport in England and were seven hours later than scheduled.

The Schades live on the outskirts of Wiesbaden in a home built next to Phillip Schade's heating and air conditioning plant. Lee said his firm does installations all over the world.

The family has a Mercedes, and they rented another for their travels around Germany.

LEE WAS the only member of her family with no background in the German language. In preparation for the trip, she took a course in German at Schoolcraft College. She said none of them had communication difficulties.

"We would drive along the Autobahn at 120 miles an hour, and we never saw an accident all the time we were there," said Lee.

They spent four days in Munich, where their sightseeing included the Olympic Stadium and the zoo. They loved the Rhine River and its castles; were amazed at the waitresses who carried four large one-liter steins of beer in one hand.

Lee said Bavaria was beautiful with its houses trimmed with gingerbread and paintings. "And the flowers — their windowboxes overflowed with flowers — geraniums and petunias."

They marveled at the Limes, the 400-mile wall built in Roman times to divide Prussia and the Roman-occupied portion of what is now Germany. Only parts of the wall still stand.

"WE'RE LOOKING for a few good men."

The Plymouth Community Chorus is borrowing the Marines' recruiting phrase in its search for more male voices. Auditions are not necessary for the men. Women must audition, and there is a waiting list of women who would like to join the chorus.

Men who enjoy singing are asked to call 464-1372 for information about the chorus, which gives two major concerts each year.

Chorale Expression, a choral group within the chorus, will sing at the Canton Country Festival Aug. 8. They have been rehearsing Tuesday nights during the summer.

Individuals or business firms may become patrons of the chorus by donating $20. Patrons will be listed in concert programs and will receive a PCC decal. Checks payable to the Plymouth Community Chorus can be mailed to P.O. Box 217, Plymouth 48170.

Members of the chorus are from Canton, Plymouth and surrounding communities. They rehearse in East Middle School. Director Mike Gross lives in Westland and works in Canton Township.

The chorus will host the Michigan Johnny Mann Choral Festival this fall at the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium. The festival draws choral groups from throughout the state in a weekend of song and competition.

MARY AND GEORGE Eggenberger were in Oregon for their son Jamie's graduation from the National College of Naturopathic Medicine. George's mother, Laurena Eggenberger, and Jamie's sister Tracy Eggenberger also went along for the ceremonies in Portland.

The setting was on Mt. Hood with skiers still going down nearby slopes.

Jamie is a 1971 graduate of Plymouth High School. He did his undergraduate studies at the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University.

FRANCES PETERS and Sally Holmes had high scores at Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street.

Margaret Swartz, director of the group, says new members are always welcome. Play begins at 1 p.m. and Margaret says it's best to be there by 12:45 p.m.

She wants to spare others her ordeal

By Michele McElmurry
staff writer

For most of her almost 38 years of marriage, Gloria Lane has been a model wife, mother and homemaker. An elder in the Presbyterian church, she also is a former Girl Scout leader, a voluntary probation officer and a saleswoman at the Marquis Boutique.

However, on February 20, 1981, life changed for the 55-year-old Northville resident.

It's been 17 months since Gloria Lane was accused of stealing a $2.75 package of eye shadow from Crowley's in Livonia Mall.

However, the aftermath of what she refers to as "the most degrading experience of my life" has left the Northville homemaker angry, bitter and resentful.

Too upset to discuss the case a year ago, Gloria Lane now is prepared to disclose the trauma she endured as a result of her experience.

According to Lane, "if just one woman is spared the ordeal I went through, it will be worthwhile."

Sitting in the living room of her Spring Drive home, Lane looks at ease in her purple and pink long sleeved blouse with a high ruffled collar tied with a bow.

"I CALL IT my $1,400 blouse," she explains, touching her sleeve.

It is the blouse she was carrying in her Marquis shopping bag Feb. 20, 1981 — the day she was arrested for shoplifting.

On that fateful day, she had gone into the women's sportswear department at Crowley's to try to find a skirt to match her new blouse, which still had the Marquis price tags attached.

Carrying the blouse in a Marquis shopping bag, she took several items from the racks, tried them on and subsequently purchased two sweaters.

Her sales receipt indicate the items were purchased at 2:40 p.m. and were paid for in cash.

The shopping bag also contained a photograph which she had had taken at the store's portrait studio.

After purchasing her items, Lane left the store. On her way out, she stopped to look at necklaces on the jewelry counter but did not make a purchase.

ONCE OUTSIDE the store, she was approached by two security guards — one male and one female — who accused her of stealing merchandise from the store.

"I was stunned," she explains. However, believing she had nothing to hide, Lane agreed to go to the security office to have her packages checked.

"I was probably very naive for someone my age," she reflects. "I never should have gone into that room alone."

Inside the security office, the security guard took her license, purse and shopping bags and proceeded to dump the contents on the table.

In the process, however, the guard knocked the photograph on the floor.

"That's when it happened," Lane remembers. "I bent down to pick up the picture and I stood up, he was waving a package of eye makeup over my head and said, 'Here it is. Here's what she stole.'"

"I never have worn eye makeup," Lane contends. She also pointed out to the security officers that the time she was accused of stealing the makeup was 2:45 p.m. She told them she could never have made it to the makeup counter five minutes after purchasing the sweaters.

LANE CLAIMS the 20-year-old security guard planted the merchandise in her shopping bag after he realized he had made a false arrest.

The shoplifting accusation was only the beginning of the trauma Gloria Lane would have to endure. Unable to convince security of her innocence, they phoned the Livonia police.

Lane later learned from the female security guard who assisted in stopping her, that she was a suspect from the moment she entered the store.

Crowley's apparently had circulated a flyer among its stores which listed a description of a suspected shoplifter. Though the description was not accompanied by a photograph, the security guards at the Livonia store believed Lane fit the description.

"It was ridiculous," Lane recall. "I mean, how many gray-haired ladies do you know?"

After the police arrived, Mrs. Lane was taken by squad car to the Livonia police station. She then was booked, fingerprinted and locked in a cell.

"I couldn't believe it was happening to me," she says.

"I've only had two traffic tickets in my whole life."

HER FIRST request to make a phone call was denied. After 45 minutes, she once again asked to call home and was granted permission. She was released after her husband arrived at the station to pick her up.

Lane was scheduled for arraignment in Livonia's 16th district Court April 22. Never having needed a lawyer, she took the recommendation of a friend and hired a Farmington attorney.

She claims she understood the attorney to say she would stand mute to the charges — pleading neither guilty nor innocent.

However, she wanted a jury trial. On April 27, a jury was selected and on May 26, Mrs. Lane appeared for trial bringing 12 character witnesses including Marquis owner Inge Zayti and the Rev. Lloyd Brasure.

Gloria Lane's arrest for shoplifting was the most degrading experience of her life.

LATE THAT afternoon, Mrs. Lane's attorney and Robert E. Brzezinski, Livonia's assistant city attorney, left the courtroom to try to work out a settlement to avoid the time and expense of a jury trial.

Mrs. Lane says her attorney told her a jury trial could jeopardize her case and told her she would be put on probation. In actuality, her attorney had worked out a deferred prosecution agreement.

Mrs. Lane says she volunteered to take a lie detector test but was turned down for unknown reasons.

"I was upset about the decision and kept asking myself why I was going on probation. I was innocent," she recalls.

Two days later, Lane called her attorney and told him she had changed her mind about the probation.

On June 11, she was back in court. On that day, her attorney requested dismissal from the case because of "material differences" between himself and his client — but billed her $1,200 for legal fees.

STANDING in her own defense, Lane says she was "tired of fighting the system" and accepted the terms. She claims the presiding judge told her she would never do any better.

Her last day in court was Nov. 12. At that time her case was dismissed and she was given back her fingerprints and records.

Mrs. Lane describes her case as "a travesty of justice." What has made it even more unbelievable are the circumstances which have developed since Mrs. Lane's ordeal began.

Six months following her arrest, the Crowley's security guard who arrested her was himself arrested and confessed to planting evidence on another shopper. Now that shopper is suing Crowley's for $1 million for false arrest.

However, though the guard committed a felony, he "plea-bargained" the charge to a misdemeanor and received 18 months' probation, paid a $100 fine and $5 in court costs.

A FEW WEEKS later he was hired as a security guard at another major department store.

Mrs. Lane says she also has learned that she was never normally arraigned and that a plea was never entered on her behalf — therefore she could not be on probation.

A longtime Crowley's shopper, Mrs. Lane says she and her husband, Walter, went to see the firm's president Robert Winkel, to discuss the case.

"I didn't believe Crowley's management was aware of what was going on at the Livonia store," she explains.

She says Winkel agreed to investigate the case and asked what the store could do for Mrs. Lane. "I told him all we wanted was the $1,200 in legal fees," she says.

THE LANES have never heard from Winkel or anyone in Crowley's management. Robert Winkel said last week that he "thought the case was closed." However, he acknowledged that he knew depositions had been taken from Crowley's employees.

"Obviously, there is no way I can discuss this case if it is still in litigation," he said.

Lane says she is not sure what her next move will be. She did not rule out filing a lawsuit but says she preferred not to comment any further on her future plans.

Lane explains her ordeal has made her "much wiser."

"Women are so unknowledgeable about their rights and the law," she explains. "I'll never be that innocent or that trusting again."

"Knowing what I know now," she continues, "if the same thing happened to me again, I would stand there and demand they tell me what I took, and would request a witness and a police officer be present."

"I never would go into a room alone," she says.

LANE SAYS her faith in the judicial system has deteriorated considerably since her ordeal.

"The burden of proof is on the victim, she explains, "the belief that you are innocent until proven guilty is a farce."

She explains that her minister "hit the nail on the head."

"He said they took away my dignity — and he's right," she says, "I've always prided myself on my dignity."

"All summer long I kept saying how can they do this to me. I'm a law-abiding citizen."

Lane says she hopes her story will alert women to what possibly could happen to them. That's why she appeared this morning on the "Sonya" show to tell her story. The show was aired at 9 a.m. on WDFW Channel 4.

While the trauma has left her exhausted, Mrs. Lane says she's now pulling herself together and is looking forward to celebrating her 38th wedding anniversary this December.

Ironically, her wedding ring was purchased 38 years ago — from Crowley's.

At museum

Small private collections have been loaned to the Plymouth Historical Museum for the summer months. Among them is an assortment of paper dolls collected by a little girl at the turn of the century. The museum at Main and Church streets is open to the public from 1 to 4 p.m. Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Old way had advantages

Among planners, there's a story that is almost a classic.

In a Swiss town it was decided to build a beautiful housing project up on a hill, overlooking a valley. The town authorities had decided that what the old people really needed was peace and quiet and a beautiful view.

But the people who lived in the apartment project didn't stay on their balconies to look at the gorgeous view. As long as they were able to climb up and down that hill, they went to the railroad station, which was noisy, dirty — but lively.

The idea of segregating old people into retirement towns, huge subdivisions for "golden agers" and even on special cruise ships ("with medical supervision" the ads say) is a relatively new one.

In the old days, grandma continued to live on the farm, and when she could no longer do the work, her daughters or her son's wife took over.

She could sit in the rocking chair and tell stories to the grandchild. Grandpa might no longer be able to do the plowing, but he still could repair furniture, whittle toys, and give advice on next year's crop.

EVEN IN A CITY neighborhood, the old people usually remained in their apartments. The young people might just move a few houses down the street.

Three-generation families were not considered rare. If everybody didn't live together (and in an urban society they usually didn't), they at least got together regularly in large reunions.

Family counselors know that the old system had many advantages, both for the old people and for the young. Everybody needs the stimulation of new and fresh ideas, and new and fresh faces. Differences in outlook, in ways of living and in interest add spice to life.

Many of the older people who come to Plymouth Family Service feel isolated from life. Another word would be that they feel segregated. Because they seem to have lost contact with the world of the young, they feel as if they had been imprisoned in the world of the old, a world that is full of the past and that has no future.

Family counselors also know that old people do need to make certain living arrangements that are different from those of young people.

Usually, they can no longer keep up large houses or apartments. Long flights of stairs become a problem, as do yards that require a lot of mowing and other upkeep.

But just because these people have a lot of requirements and problems in common, it does not mean that they are all alike and that they need all the same things.

Many an old person has complained to a counselor: "My children treat me as if I were the child, as if I didn't know what was best for me any more."

THERE MAY BE some older people who really want to live in a "retirement village," who find children and young people too noisy and disturbing. But there are others who crave the company and stimulation of the young.

This is a decision the old person has to be able to make, sometimes perhaps with the help of a counselor.

And, if the old person would like to have the opportunity to live in a multi-generation society, it should be possible for him or her to do so. To deprive the young of the experience, sense of humor and wisdom of the old would be as unfortunate as to deprive the old of the excitement, liveliness and adventure of the young.

If that railroad station had not been in the middle of that little town, all those old people might have just stayed up on their hill, exchanging symptoms.

Or they might have decided to move to a town that had a railroad station.

A Plymouth resident who needs help with problems of everyday living may phone Plymouth Family Service, 453-0890 for information or an appointment.

Hornback-Akers

Sally Lynn Akers and Daniel Edward Hornback were married in St. Patrick's Catholic Church with the Rev. Joseph Immel officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Skaggs of Gold Arbor, Plymouth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hornback of E. Joy Road, Ann Arbor.

The bride's gown was lace over satin with a caped bodice and sleeves. She carried a bouquet of roses. Her attendants, Tracy Dickey III of Versailles, Ky., Mitzie Loving of Livonia and Heather Wyllie of Plymouth wore misty rose gowns with lace bodices and sleeves, and they carried roses.

Bruce Judkins of Ann Arbor was best man, and ushers were Mark Yenkel and Brad Skaggs. The couple traveled through the southern states following a wedding reception in the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall in South Lyon. They will live in Ann Arbor.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Faithway Baptist High School in Ypsilanti. Her husband graduated from Ann Arbor Huron High School in 1979. He is self-employed.

Koch-Cunningham

Gary and Susan Koch are making their home in Plymouth following their June 5 wedding in the Royal Wedding Chapel of RMS Queen Mary, Long Beach, Calif. The bride is the former Susan Cunningham, daughter of Alene Masterson of Bradford Lane, Westland. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Koch of Flint.

The bride's sister, Mallory Newton of Loma Linda, Calif., was matron of honor. The bridegroom's brother, Jeffrey Koch of Seal Beach, Calif., was best man.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School. She is employed as executive secretary for Howmet Turbine Components Corp. of Plymouth. Her fiancé is a 1973 graduate of Grand Blanc High School and a 1978 graduate of Western Michigan University. He is working on his master's degree at Eastern Michigan University and is employed as a mechanical engineer at Howmet.

The couple honeymooned in southern California and Las Vegas, Nev. Their wedding reception was at Elks Club 22½ in Grand Blanc July 17.

Stevenson-Said

Robert and Darlene Stevenson of Clemons Drive, Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Lee, to Stewart Joseph Said, son of Rosemary and Eli Kosovac of Glenhaven Circle, Northville.

The bride-elect is a 1978 graduate of Livonia Franklin High School. She is employed at Manufacturers Bank in Livonia.

Her fiancé is a 1977 graduate of Franklin High. He will receive a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering in August from Michigan Technological University.

They plan a September wedding in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, Livonia.

Candidates night to be Thursday

A candidates night will be sponsored by the Plymouth Jaycees Thursday night in the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The forum will begin at 8 p.m. in the center, Theodore and Farmer.

Primary candidates for the Michigan House of Representatives in the 36th District will be featured.

The district includes the city of Plymouth, Canton and Plymouth townships.

Participants will be given five to eight minutes each for an opening statement, followed by questions from the floor. Each candidate then will be given time for a three-minute closing.

"All concerned citizens are encouraged to attend," says Nicholas Smith, project chairman. "It is everyone's responsibility to elect the person who can best meet the needs of our community."

The 36th is a new district, created by reapportionment and so there is no incumbent.

The candidates include one Democrat — R. William Joyner of Plymouth — and three Republicans — Gerald Law of Plymouth Township, Gary Wolfram of Canton, and Ron Fisher of Plymouth.

Final play aired Aug. 2

The last National Radio Theatre (NRT) play to be broadcast on student radio station WSDP (88.1 FM) during the summer months will be aired Aug. 2.

"Mathry Beacon," a tragic comedy, will be presented from 4-5 p.m. Monday, Aug. 2.

Created by British radio writer Giles Cooper, "Mathry Beacon" is the story of a British Army squadron that patrols an isolated Welsh outpost for 10 years before being told that the war already had ended.

The squadron members build a little Eden for themselves at the outpost but their human failings ruin it.

The NRT series will continue to be aired on WSDP when it resumes broadcasting in the fall. "The Adding Machine" will be the first NRT play of the fall season in early September.

Students should compete at CEP

To the Editor:

Kudos to assistant athletic director Paul Cummings, coach Gary Balconi, and others who did such a fine job in presenting the case for a one year, no-cost trial test of ninth grade participation on Centennial Educational Park (CEP) junior varsity teams.

As indicated in a recent newspaper article, ninth-grade participation is supported by CEP's administration and coaching staffs, all athletic booster clubs, the Middle School Liaison Committee, as well as the general public at large.

This level of support, coupled with duly obtained state approval from the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA), would hopefully indicate a positive response from school board members in tune with the wishes of the constituency they have pledged to represent.

Reasonable men and women easily can distinguish the difference between a one year, no-cost trial program and the "sky might be falling... if" warning of certain well-meaning, but ill-advised adversaries. To quote a time-honored truism, "You can't fix something that isn't broken."

Last year, we were treated to the complete elimination of middle school interscholastic athletics.

All residents of the community with children at or below the ninth-grade level will suffer the consequences of this change for years to come. The school board and administration didn't seem to mind the immediate and predictable backlash and negative response to this decision.

Why all the concern now about converted, imaginary problems?

Because it provides an otherwise unavailable opportunity, because it is cost free, because the community wants it, and because it is the right thing to do, the proposal is worthy of board approval.

If, and when, problems arise because of its implementation, the board always can review its decision.

Student against teacher switch

To the editor:

I am writing to protest the decision to transfer teacher Stephen Williams from Plymouth Canton High School to a middle school.

I am a former student of Plymouth Salem High, graduating in 1977. I had the opportunity of participating in several of Williams' classes during my junior and senior years. The quality of the material covered in Williams' classes was outstanding. The knowledge I gained in that short time to this day creates in me a great appreciation and respect for the learning process.

Williams is an energetic, caring teacher. I can sincerely say that he was one of the most qualified and dynamic teachers I had throughout my formal education. Williams has a unique ability of relating to high-school students quality information that changes one's attitude toward education from drudgery to a rewarding, lifelong goal.

He convinces many students that the learning process does not end with high-school graduation, which, in turn, motivates them to continue on to college and become more in control of their lives and the world in which they live.

I strongly believe that the future students of Plymouth Canton High School will suffer a great loss if denied the opportunity to have Williams as a teacher. Transferring Williams to a traditional middle school in the district would be a poor decision because Williams would be extremely limited in his role as a teacher if forced to do so.

I cannot express how much I appreciate the knowledge I gained from Williams except to hope that this letter helps to enable other students to benefit from Williams' philosophy of life and education as much as I and many others have in the past.

CEILING INSULATION LOANS.

NO INTEREST. NO FOOLIN'!

When you take a loan from Consumers Power to insulate your ceiling, you can forget about the interest, all of it, if you qualify for an interest-free loan.

It's simple. Borrow up to $1,000 for adding ceiling insulation to your home. Then take five years to pay it back — and never pay a penny of interest.

So now while the temperature's up and heating bills are down, think winter, insulate. Call your local Consumers Power office for details of the ceiling insulation loan that lets you keep the interest.

'Young Doctors' is example of movie malpractice

"Young Doctors in Love" (R) is cut from the same cloth as "Airplane," but the resemblance stops there. Both films were conceived as spoofs of particular genres. For "Airplane," the initial inspiration was the "Airport" series of movies, as well as the countless others in which passenger planes figured prominently.

For "Young Doctors," the inspiration probably came from the box office success of "Airplane." After that it was just a matter of picking a theme. The decision went to the doctor-nurse-hospital stories, popular in movies and a mainstay of television soap operas from "Ben Casey" to "General Hospital."

Gary Marshall, responsible for such TV shows as "The Odd Couple," "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley," is the director and executive producer of "Young Doctors in Love." It's not surprising, therefore, that "Young Doctors" appears as a sitcom humor, made coarser and more risqué. Perhaps Marshall's background also explains the fractured nature of the movie. It doesn't have the strong focal point or line of continuity you expect in a movie. Instead, it's disjointed as if to provide plenty of breaks for commercials.

The movie covers a one-year span in the lives of a group of doctors who are interning at City Hospital. The brightest and stuffiest of them is Dr. Simon August (Michael McKean), who aspires to be a surgeon with an office in Beverly Hills. He falls in love with Dr. Stephanie Brody (Sean Young), who wants to go back to her small hometown in Vermont where she is "needed."

These two provide the principal romantic interest, but there are other couples. Among them are Nurse Sprockett (Pamela Reed), a straight-laced nurse with the keys to the drug supply cabinet, and Dr. Burns (Taylor Negron) an intern who requires a steady flow of uppers and downers. The strangest romance, however, is the one between Dr. Rist (Patrick Collins) and Angela Bonafetti (Hector Elizondo).

Angela is really Angelo in drag. He is in disguise to avoid being spotted by a rival mob while visiting his father in the hospital. His father is suffering from fear-induced paralysis.

Others in the cast are Dabney Coleman who plays the chief surgeon, Dr. Prang, and Harry Dean Stanton (usually seen as a criminal), who steals all the laughs with his gloomy portrayal of Dr. Oliver Ludwig, head of pathology.

"Young Doctors in Love" is a chaotic mishmash of puns and visual jokes. It even contains humorous references to other movies, as when the paging system announces "E.T., call home."

It is derivative, yet makes the mistake of not copying one of the key elements in its predecessor, "Airplane."

"Airplane's" cast included actors like Leslie Nielsen, Lloyd Bridges, and others who intensified the humor by parodying themselves.

"Young Doctors" includes some cameo appearances by television stars, but they don't make the movie fly. It is still a bedpan comedy.

Harry Dean Stanton, as the alcoholic head of the pathology lab (Dr. Ludwig), holds his audience of young doctors spellbound by revealing his unique procedures for specimen analysis.

Music flows at festival

James Galway, Doc Severinsen and Preservation Hall Jazz band are the featured guests at the Meadow Brook Music Festival this week.

Myung-Whun Chung conducts the Detroit Symphony Orchestra on Thursday and Sunday. On Thursday night Nadja Salerno-Sonnenberg, winner of the Naumburg Violin Competition, will perform Tchaikovsky's Concerto in D.

James Galway, "the man with the golden flute," makes an appearance with the orchestra on Sunday.

One of the prototype jazz outfits, New Orleans Preservation Hall Band, will be marching with the saints during its Friday evening show.

Doc Severinsen, trumpet-playing director of the "Tonight Show," will be on hand Saturday performing with the Detroit Symphony Pops under the direction of Newton Wayland.

Evening concerts begin at 8 p.m. All concerts are held in the Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus in Rochester with entrances on Walton Boulevard and Adams. The grounds are open two hours before evening concerts for picnicking or dining at Trumbull Terrace.

For tickets, dinner reservations or program information, call the festival box office, 377-2010. Tickets are also available at Hudson's and other Convenient Ticket Co. (CTC) locations, Sears and Discount Records.

Due to a conflict in scheduling, the Peter Allen concert scheduled for Tuesday has been postponed. Refunds are available at the place of purchase.

Dance classes open

Registration for the third session of dance classes at the Midwest Dance Center is now in progress. Classes in ballet, modern dance, jazz and Pilates body conditioning will begin Aug. 2. Daytime and evening sessions are available for beginning, intermediate and advanced dancers.

The Center is located at 8556 Nine Mile in Oak Park. Please call 545-8055 for information and registration.

Far East culture awaits Detroiters on Riverfront

Visitors to the Detroit Riverfront this weekend will get a taste of the Far East at the ethnic festival.

According to the Detroit Recreation Department, last year's weekend festivals drew more than seven million people to the downtown area. Since 1970 when there were just five festivals, the summer series has grown to more than 18 weekends where a different nationality each week displays its cultural heritage through exhibits, displays, activities, craft demonstrations, singing, dancing and music.

Calling all novice netters

Attention, tennis players of the future.

If that's where your tennis game is at present — somewhere in the future — then we've got something for you.

It's the Observer Novice Tennis Tournament, and it's scheduled for this weekend.

So you should realize one thing first: There isn't much time left to register. In fact, deadline is tomorrow, so pick up your application form at the Plymouth Observer office or at the Plymouth Parks and Recreation building, 525 Farmer.

Cost is only $1 and three USLTA-approved tennis balls.

ALL MATCHES will be played at Central Middle School in Plymouth. Play will be in both male and female divisions, in three age groups: 16 and over, 15 and under, and 12 and under. Cutoff dates for age classifications is Oct. 1.

Matches start July 30 in the two youngest divisions, with the 16-and-over group beginning play July 31. The finals are slated for Aug. 1.

Trophies will be awarded for all first-place finishers.

The only qualifications you need consist of non-accomplishments: if you've won a tennis tournament in the past, if you've made the quarterfinals in a tournament of 16 or semifinals in a tournament of eight, if you've won a letter for tennis in either high school or college, then you don't qualify for this novice tournament.

If you haven't done any of those things listed above, get your application in now. This tournament, conducted by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation department, is open to all. For more information, call the Plymouth P&R at 455-6620.

Hope to see you on the courts.

Hotshots aim for scoring fame

By C.J. Risak
staff writer

There's an extensive list of essential ingredients in the makeup of a complete basketball player: dribbling, passing, speed, quickness, size, floor sense.

But the most important element is the ability to shoot. Because, as they say in the pros, you've got to be able to put points on the board.

In other words, you've got to put the ball in the hoop to score points, and you have to score points if you're going to win.

That talent — shooting — is what attracted 47 Canton youngsters to test their skills in the Pepsi-Cola/NBA Hotshot program.

THE OBJECT is simple: put the ball through the hoop. The more often you do it, the more points you score. The person with the most points wins.

The game differs from basketball, however. The only defense the contestant must battle is the clock. Each participant has one minute to score as many baskets as possible.

Shots are taken from one of five spots on the court. Point awards vary with the distance of the shot. Also, if the player attempts a shot from all five spots during the minute, he or she is awarded bonus points. If the player attempts two shots from all five spots, more bonus points are awarded.

There were two age categories for the Canton competition: 9-12 and 13-15, for both boys and girls. Preliminary rounds were held at Eriksson, Field, Hulsing and Miller elementary schools.

Winners from the preliminary rounds advanced to the finals last Wednesday at Miller.

THREE CHAMPIONS were crowned. Brian Dugas was most impressive, dethroning defending champion Scott Munro with a record 86 points in the 13-15 boys' final. Munro won the division last year with a record point total.

In the 9-12 competition, Joanna Wiklund pumped in 41 points in a 60-second span to win the girls' division. It was Wiklund's second-straight championship.

Bob Files poured in 76 points in the 9-12 boys' bracket to win that title.

There was more at stake than "The Best Scorer in Canton" label. The three winners all advanced to the state Hotshot contest at Wayne State University in October. The top four in each age group at that competition move on to the regionals, which will be contested during halftime of a Detroit Pistons game.

Winners from other states will be on hand to vie for the title. According to Bob Dates of Canton's Parks and Recreation department, sponsors of the local competition, Canton has had at least one "hotshot" get at least to the third round.

Canton raises record to 13-3

Battaglia hit boosts Elks

Mike Battaglia followed a different path to the hero's role for the Plymouth Canton Elks Thursday.

Usually it's Battaglia's pitching prowess that saves Canton. But Thursday he used his bat to get the job done.

The lanky left-hander drilled a bases-loaded single in the bottom of the seventh inning to lift the Elks to a 3-2 victory over Wayne on a cool summer evening at Canton High School.

BATTAGLIA, WHO was a mound mainstay for the 25-5 Canton varsity last spring, hasn't had a lot of experience at the plate. But he's getting more of a chance to hit this summer.

Battaglia was a late-inning replacement at first base Thursday and responded with his game-winning hit.

The Elks got a strong pitching performance from starter Bucky Blake, who yielded two runs in 6½ innings, striking out nine. Blake did not get the win, however. He was pulled in the top of the seventh after Wayne put runners on first and second with two out.

Bob Waszanski relieved Blake and promptly loaded the bases by walking the first batter he faced. But Waszanski then whiffed the next batter to preserve a 2-2 tie.

THE ELKS put together their offensive attack in the bottom half of the inning, loading the bases without the benefit of a hit. Jeff Olsen led off with a walk. Jim Dillon bunted and reached base when Olsen beat the Wayne attempt to get the lead runner at second base.

Scott Cowan laid down a sacrifice bunt, moving the runners up a base. The Wayne strategy with men on second and third with one out was to walk Mark Landini and pitch to Battaglia.

Battaglia foiled the plan by rifling his winning hit to left field, just out of the Wayne third baseman's reach.

"IT WAS A struggle," said Canton coach Dave Racer. "It often seems like, in the later innings, our boys have been able to come through."

"He (Blake) did a very good job." Cowan and Landini had two hits apiece to lead the Canton attack. Don Vojtkofsky collected three hits to pace Wayne. Waszanski picked up the win for the Elks. David Day went the distance and absorbed the loss for Wayne.

The Elks jumped to a 2-0 lead in the second. Landini tallied Canton's first run on a wild pitch. Mark Bennett, who reached base when the Wayne catcher mishandled a third strike, came home with the Elks' second run on an RBI single by Blake.

WAYNE SLICED Canton's advantage to 2-1 in the top of the third on a wild throw to first which allowed a run to score.

In the fourth, Wayne tied it to 2-2 on a double by Mike Delozier, two walks and a hard-bouncing single by Doug Mac.

The win lifted the Elks to 13-3, on top of the South Division of the Little Caesar's Mickey Mantle League (15-16-year-olds).

Canton will host the National Amateur Baseball Federation (NABF) junior division World Series Aug. 12-14. Prior to the six-team double-elimination NABF series, the Elks will participate in the Riverview Invitational, a 16-team single-elimination tourney Aug. 6-8 in Riverview.

Elk pitcher Bucky Blake was impressive during his 6½-inning stint, allowing just two runs.

No-shows don't deter rowers

By Jim Hughes
staff writer

They came from as far away as Mexico City to compete in the United States Rowing Association's 106th Men's National Championships at Stony Creek Metropark north of Rochester.

Approximately 500 oarsmen from 59 clubs and colleges were on hand to watch and participate as 34 national champions were crowned during the championship heats on Saturday and Sunday.

And, although the participants accelerated across the 2,000-meter course, the fans came out at a snail's pace.

It wasn't because the competition lacked quality. Nor did the production. Both were top-shelf.

The simple fact is, rowing regattas won't bring out the crowds in the Midwest like a high-school football game in Cincinnati, or a Friday-night basketball game in Anderson, Ind.

But, according to Dick Bell, coach of the Detroit Boat Club's rowing team, the number of spectators is not a great concern to the athletes.

"THE CROWD (at Stony Creek) was small," Bell, a Lathrup Village resident said. "In Philadelphia, they'd be lined from one end of the course to the other. People in the Midwest just don't know about rowing. On the East Coast, there's an entirely different group of people."

"At any major university on the East Coast, most all have rowing, and it's a big thing to be on the varsity rowing team. It's a lot more important than some sports we think are important in the Midwest.

"We knew we would not get a big crowd," Bell continued. "It's not that the people who run the regatta are not concerned with it (fan appeal), it's just that the athletes really don't care if spectators are there. They realize it (rowing) is a personal thing. Sure, they love the publicity, but they realize it's not essential."

Bell, who has been a coach at the Detroit Boat Club for 11 years and graduated from Wayne State University, said rowers, unlike athletes who perform before a packed stadium, do not envision performing in similar conditions.

"I don't know if too many rowers will tell you that's why they row, they're not doing it for that reason," Bell explained. "But when it comes along, it's great. You always love to read your name in the paper."

Although the current situation shows a lack of interest in these parts, Bell insists the promoters of rowing should not be content with the status quo.

"I THINK IT'S the biggest shortcoming in any modern sport when you don't get spectators out," he said. "I think we must continue to try to sell the idea of rowing. We do need spectators, and we do need paying spectators. Right now, we're feeding off ourselves."

According to Bell, it cost $14,000 to stage the amateur championships, and, with no admission charge to view or participate in the races, the onus to foot the bill was entirely on the host club — the Detroit Boat Club.

"A lot of hard work went into this," Bell said. "We've been working to raise money the last two years. This wasn't something that happened overnight."

The Detroit Boat Club raised money to host the event through direct solicitation, advertisements in the championship program, and proceeds from a millionaire's party. However, most of the funds were raised via direct donations, according to Bell.

Overall, Bell said he was pleased with the results of the men's championships, which took place in the Detroit area for the first time since 1959 and the first time ever at Stony Creek. The women's championships took place at Stony Creek in 1979.

"There were a lot of good races, a lot of close races," Bell said. "There was only one that was really lopsided. It was very competitive. I thought everything came off well. There were no major calamities."

Bell, who served as a liaison between the regatta committee and the park committee, said the biggest problem he concerned himself with was getting Stony Creek Lake closed during competition.

"That was my biggest concern," Bell said. "I'm really grateful to Huron-Clinton Metro Parks and the DNR (Department of Natural Resources) for letting us close the lake to outside traffic. That was the key to the success of the championships. We had to cross some hard bridges, but the Huron-Clinton people were really good about it."

Errors costly for Walter's

A leaky Walter's Appliance defense allowed Wendy's to push across four runs with two out in the fourth inning, leading to a 6-2 Wendy's triumph Wednesday in a Livonia Adray baseball contest.

Nine batters went to the plate for Wendy's in the decisive rally. The first two were retired, but an infield error put a runner on first. The next batter walked, and then a pop fly fell between two fielders for a single to load the bases. Two more singles and a walk got four runs in for Wendy's.

Jim Stoitsiadis was saddled with the loss for Walter's, which dipped to 10-14-1. Walter's two runs scored in the fifth inning. Dan Kelly tripled home

John Topolian with the first run, then Kelly scored the second on Matt McAuliffe's sacrifice fly.

Winning pitcher for Wendy's was John Stanton, who surrendered just four hits and four walks while striking out seven. Wendy's is now 9-15-1 for the season.

Jr. Olympic results

The following results from the Plymouth-Canton Junior Olympics were omitted from the story in our July 22 edition because of production problems.

Lisa Rogers wound up a double-winner in the Class C girls' competition, taking the triple jump (14-9) and 50-yard dash (7.3). Jennifer Tellier was first in the chinning (12), Susan Ferko won the softball throw (95-0), and Katie Raven captured the running long jump (6-6).

For the Class C boys, Kevin Loviska was tops in the chinning (9), Ryan Johnson set his record in the softball throw (160-4), Eric Reeves leapt 11-8 in the running long jump, and Brian Wukie sprinted to first in the 50-yard dash (7.0).

Ken Sayre, Greg Majewski, Ginger Papay and Pam Austin teamed to win the Class B shuttle relay. The victory qualified them, with all other winners from the three classes, for the state Youth Olympic Fitness Meet at Kensington Metropark July 29.

Express offer ticket deal

When the Detroit Express meet the Carolina Lightnin' Aug. 7, there will be more than an American Soccer League game at stake.

The Express, currently battling for first place, have designated the game as Easter Seal Family night. Special family tickets will be sold for $5, allowing admittance for up to two adults and three children. Tickets can be obtained at any Elias Big Boy restaurant.

All proceeds will go to benefit the local Easter Seals Society.

SOFTBALL FOR MD

The time is upon us. Teams can sign up now for the fifth annual Canton Muscular Dystrophy Softball Tournament, scheduled for Aug. 5-8 at Griffin Park during the Canton Country Festival.

The two-game elimination tourney is open to 18 Class B or C men's teams with 500 or less records, and to 12 women's teams, regardless of record or class. Play will be in two divisions and trophies will be awarded to the top two teams in each. Cost is $85 per team, plus a $6 umpire's fee for each game.

The featured event will come on the last day of the tournament. A men's tournament all-star team will battle a team of current and former Red Wings including Dale McCourt, Jim Rutherford, Paul Woods, Willie Huber, Mark Kirton, Brad Smith and Billy Dea. All tournament proceeds go to the MD foundation. For further information, call 981-5456.

COMMUNITY TENNIS

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation department is sponsoring the Plymouth Tennis Tournament, open to all Plymouth-Canton Community School district residents, Aug. 6-8 at the Canton High School tennis courts.

Play will be in seven divisions for both men and women. There will also be a mixed doubles bracket.

Entry fee is $3 and three new USLTA tennis balls per competitor. Application deadline is 5 p.m. Aug. 3. Entry forms are available at the Plymouth Parks and Recreation department, 525 Farmer. For more information, call 455-6620.

CANTON GOLF

The Canton Festival Golf Tournament is slated for 11 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 8 at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

The tourney is a three-person scramble team format. All Canton golfers are invited to participate. Cost is $33 per team. Deadline for registration is Friday, Aug. 6.

For further information, contact the Canton Parks and Recreation department at 397-1000.

YOUTH HOCKEY

Any youths between 6 and 17 years of age interested in playing hockey this year, take note: registration for the Youth Hockey League is 6-9 p.m. Monday, Aug. 9 at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Registration fee is $40. You must bring birth certificates with you. Beginning skaters are welcome. For more information, call Carolyn Kocis at 459-6394.

HAGEN GOLF

Okay, you young golfers. This is your last chance to enter the Junior Walter Hagen Golf Tournament, scheduled for Tuesday at Idyl Wyld Golf Course in Livonia.

The tourney is open to males and females 13-18 years of age. Play will be in two divisions: Masters, for 13-15 year olds, and Golden Masters, for those 16-18.

Tee off times start at 8 a.m. tomorrow. Players can register before the tournament begins. Cost for the 18-hole event is $20.

All proceeds go to the American Cancer Society. For more information, call Idyl Wyld Golf Club at 464-6325.

CANTON RUN

The time has come. Put on the jogging shoes and shorts and start training, because the fourth annual Canton Country Festival 5 mile run is less than a month away.

The date is Aug. 7. The day is Saturday. The time is 9 a.m. The race starts at the Township Administration building (1150 Canton Center) and ends at Griffin Park. Competition is divided into six age groups in both men's and women's divisions.

Cost is $5 before Aug. 5 and $6 after. Register at the parks and recreation office in the administration building. For further information, call 397-1000 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Totals climb - in bowling balls

Monday, July 26, 1982 O&B

(P.13)

There was a time in bowling when a bowler knew he had reached a peak when he purchased his own ball.

Most often back then a majority of bowlers used "house" ball event during league play.

But those days are gone — and the variety of lane finishes means bowlers now come to play with at least a dozen of the latest model balls. When they arrive, it looks as though an office furniture firm is delivering a file cabinet.

A bowler needs a soft-shell ball on one night and a hard-shell ball on the other — not to mention a number in between.

Fred McLain and Dick Beattie are the leaders in this new practice of carrying more than one ball. Beattie used in the pocket

by W.W. Edgar

six in the recent Masters. What is considered a record came in the women's ranks when Donna Adamek, one of the all-time stars from California, brought a case of 13 balls to the recent WIBC tournament in St. Louis.

The new fad is keeping the pro shops busy as the new season is fast approaching.

BOB JAWOR had one of the oddest experiences of his career at Westland Bowl last week.

Competing in the trio league, Jawor opened with a 227 and followed with a 279. Then, for some unexplained reason, he lost his touch and dropped to a 140 for a 655. He just couldn't figure out what had happened.

During his 279 game, Jawor was challenged by Chuck Heppner, who had a long string of strikes before he missed the pocket, settling for a 274 count.

CONTRARY TO RUMORS, the rich Bonanza tournament planned for the coming season at Plaza Lanes has not been called off. The entries are now coming in to form the league, which opens right after Labor Day.

IN OTHER GOOD performances, Dave Clotzer fashioned an 855 in the trio league at Woodland Lanes. He had games of 213, 220, 185 and 247. Roy Kreuter had games of 258 and 224 while Ray Kreuter posted a 247. At the Super Bowl in Canton Township, Susan Lewke had a 233 to pace the ladies during the week.

Boyea collects a no-hitter to lift Crowe past Craiger

Zero is a nice number for Curt Boyea.

That's because Boyea is a pitcher, and it's always nice to see zeros on the scoreboard next to your opponents' name when you're pitching.

Boyea saw lots of zeros while pitching Thursday for Crowe in a Connie Mack League game. The Livonia Bentley grad handcuffed Craiger Churchill, allowing nary a run or a hit in a 4-0 Crowe victory.

While hurling his no-hitter, Boyea walked just one and struck out six.

His record for the summer is an impressive 4-1, with two saves, 32 strikeouts, 11 walks and a 1.84 earned run average in 34 1/3 innings.

Pat Randall had the misfortune of pitching against Boyea, absorbing the loss for Craiger.

Jim LaSota tripled in two runs for Crowe in the first inning, and Dan Rathwell and Dale Holod added run-scoring hits. Holod and Rich Dill each had two hits for Crowe, which is now 10-4.

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN...

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

A NEW WAY TO SELL YOUR CAR

National Autofinders

NATIONAL AUTOFINDERS BRINGS BUYER AND SELLER TOGETHER WITH A BETTER DEAL FOR BOTH!

We work like a real estate company. We help you sell your automobile the same way a real estate company helps you sell your home. We'll do the following things for you:

1. All advertising.
2. Take all phone calls
3. Qualify buyers.
4. Financing.
5. Warranties.
6. Professional salesmen to show and sell on your car.
7. Take a trade-in on your car.
8. Normal flow of buyers.
9. Handle all paperwork
10. Use our display lot (or continue to drive while we sell it)

PLUS: No strangers at your home, you just relax and pick up a check.

a $25 fee lists your car with us for 30 days.
