SUPERVISOR JAMES Poole also was not at last week's meeting, but his absence was understandable. Poole's 14-year-old daughter, Lynette, suffered a seizure at a family reunion in Nashville, Tenn. two weekends ago. Poole stayed with his daughter most of last week. She was taken to Children's Hospital on the Vanderbilt University campus in Tennessee, according to Township Clerk John Flodin.

Board intends to eliminate safety busing

cation declared its intent last week to ultimately eliminate all safety busing in the school district.

Safety busing will be continued during the coming school year (1982-83) as decided earlier in July, but the board voted 6-1 to eliminate safety busing eventually. The board did not set a specific date for discontinuing the safety

Treasurer Glenn Schroeder said the action was needed to put the public on notice so parents will have enough time to take whatever action is needed to see their children get to school safely.

"If we continue to bus, parents won't do anything," Schroeder said. "We must make people aware that we will discontinue safety busing - that getting to school safely is the parents' responsibility. We are not responsible under state law.

"Parents must do what's needed to make it safe by whatever means they choose," Schroeder continued.

Trustee E.J. McClendon stressed the statement adopted by the board was a philosophical position which provides the basis for future decisions. "It is just not our business to provide for safety on the streets and sidewalks. We are announcing out intent that it's up to the citizens to decide how to provide for safety - it's up to the citizens to exercise their responsibility.

Board President Tom Yack said the

The Plymouth-Canton Board of Edu- district now is spending about $50,000 a year for safety busing.

Trustee Roland Thomas suggested the board might want to delay adoption of the statement and meet with local units of government to discuss the need for sidewalks. "It is up to the citizens to go to the governments, not ours," argued Schroeder. "The citizens must find the means to assure children get to school safely. That might include sidewalks, car pooling, or cooperation amongst neighbors.'

McClendon said that what the district does by providing safety busing is equivalent of the school board hiring a police officer for a community which is not providing for the public safety.

Flossie Tonda rhetorically asked how many parents will support millage requests if all safety busing is eliminated. "People think they are entitled to busing because they are paying property taxes to the schools," Tonda said. Suppose the parents don't take the responsibility? The board's not going to take responsibility for the safety of the child. Who will?"

Superintendent John M. Hoben said the actual timetable on eliminating safety busing will be set when the administration comes to the board with proposed bus routes, starting for the fall of 1983.

Resale shops grow despite poor economy

By Scott Adler staff writer

For most businesses, a slow economy translates into reduced sales, but for a growing number of shops in the Plymouth-Canton area, it means more store traffic and increased profits.

Resale shops, selling used goods, are growing in popularity. Store owners say these types of shops are the things of the future and not just a passing fad.

"Resale shops have been around for years and people are becoming more and more conscious that their goods can be reused by someone else," said Maureen Osiecki, co-owner of Plymouth's OK Village Store, which specializes in lmost new sporting goods.

"I think that most people, whether the economy is good or bad, look for bargains. We've always been known as a throw-away society, and I think that's enanging. I think that this (resale shops) is something of the future, not just a fad."

Area resale shops specialize for profit

By Scott Adler staff writer

If resale shops are a trend in business, then specialization is a trend for resale shops. All resale shops in the Plymouth-Canton community specialize in either one item or another. And this area is the perfect place to specialize, according to Donna Gilpatrick, owner of La-Donna's a women's used clothing store in Old Village

"We have to have specialty shops,"Gilpatrick said. "People are tired of going to the mall. It is unique shopping in places like Old Village. That's why people come here in the first place.

Kathy Rase, co-owner of Kid's Stuff in Canton with Susan Mann, said specializing is a must in keeping up a good quality image for the store.

"For the people who have a resale shop, you're limited to a certain amount of space," Rase said. "When you try to carry everything, you get that garage sale look."

OK Village Store, an "almost-new" sporting goods store in Plymouth, is enjoying a busy first year in business because, according to co-owner Maureen Osiecki, used sporting goods is an unusual concept.

Some stores have switched their marketing strategy, but continue to stay specialized.

"We started with clothing and gradually turned to furniture," said Betty Nelson, owner of Hidden Treasures in Plymouth. "No one in Plymouth was doing household goods, and we didn't have room for both.'

Arlene Stewart, co-owner of the Rainbow Connection, which specializes in children's goods, is thinking of expanding but she intends on staying within the children's market.

"We wanted to get the feel for what the market was," said Stewart on the store's initial specialization. "We will stay strictly a children's shop because children will always outgrow their

Plymouth bank robbed

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Three armed robbers escaped with $7,300 Thursday morning from the Detroit Bank and Trust branch in Plymouth Township.

No one was hurt during the robbery, which happened shortly after the bank opened at 9:30 a.m. Plymouth police and the FBI are investigating the robbery. As of Friday afternoon, they had made no arrests. A reward of $1,000 is offered for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the suspects. Persons with information can call the Plymouth police, 453-8600, or the FBI, 965-2323. LEAVING ONE MAN outside, the other two robbers entered the bank at 42345 Ann Arbor Road west of Lilley. One was armed with a revolver, believed to be a .38 caliber snubnose.

"They came in with nylon over their heads, but not over their faces. They told everyone to get down on the floor,' Police Chief Carl Berry said.

"One bank employee triggered the alarm during the robbery."

The alarm company notified police and officers were at the scene within a minute, said Berry. However the robbers had left by the time police ar-

Retired building chief dead at 69

By Dennis O'Connor staff writer

Plymouth and Canton officials are mourning the unexpected death of a retired fellow worker and friend.

Charles H. Thompson, former chief building inspector in both Canton Township and the city of Plymouth, died in his sleep Tuesday afternoon at this retirement home on Stylus League in Hale. Mr. Thompson, 69, had suffered from angina and emphysema, although his death was sudden.

Funeral services took place Saturday at Riverside Cemetery, Plymouth. The Rev. John N. Grenfell officiated. Arrangements were by Lambert Funeral Home, Plymouth.

Thompson, who retired about three years ago from the top spot in the Canton building department, always had a knack for fixing things, according to Canton Clerk John Flodin. In fact, even after retirement, Thompson always returned to Canton's Township Hall around election time to help Flodin fix any broken voting machines.

"Even after he quit, we had him around for a few elections after that,' Flodin said. "We always paid him, of course, but I'm sure he would have done it for free. He always liked to come in and talk to us.

"He was really a nice, easy-going kind of gentleman."

THOMPSON came to Canton in 1972 as the township's only building inspector, before the growth period in the mid-1970's. The department grew to 10 building inspectors and six clerical employees under his tenure. He retired in early 1979.

Thompson, known as "Chuck" to his friends and co-workers, also was a member of the city of Plymouth building department, before coming to Canton. He served as the chief building inspector for five years, following a oneyear term as Plymouth's deputy clerk and assessor, in the late 1960's and early 1970's. He also served as a Plyomuth police officer from 1945 to 1951

Thompson, who was born in Plymouth Township, is survived by his Ann; sons David of Plymouth and Allan of Chelsea; brother John of Mayfield Village. Ohio; and two grandchildren.

Chuck Thompson, retired building official in Canton and Plymouth, died Tuesday at the age of 69.

Senate candidates respond to League questions

Noel Culbert (D)

Noel Culbert, a Democrat, is a candidate for the state Senate from the 6th District. The district includes the cities of Livonia, Northville and Plymouth and the townships of Plymouth, Redford, Canton and Northville.

Culbert, 35, is a former supervisor of Canton Township. A graduate of Bentley High School, he earned a bachelor's degree at Michigan Technological University and a law degree from the University of Detroit School of Law.

Culbert has served as director of Canton's Economic Development Corporation and co-chair of township's Farmland Preservation Committee. He also has been a delegate to SEM-COG (Southeast Michigan Council of Governments) and a Nankin Transit commissioner.

1. Describe two of the major problems facing the state and your proposals for solutions.

The first immediate problem is that of properly balancing the budget. This entails further cutbacks in expenses until the budget is, in fact, balanced. The long-term economic development with an accent on giving additional business incentives.

2. List any incentives you feel state government should offer to private industry to encourage location in Michigan.

• Reform the property tax sys-

 Reform the single business tax. • Give additional tax credits for new industries from other states. 3. What changes, if any, would you propose in Michgian's taxation system? Why?

I would reform the property tax system since it is inequitable to the homeowner and to the suburban school systems.

4. What are the greatest threats to the natural resources of Michigan and how would you deal with them?

The greatest threat is industry and uncontrolled development of environmentally fragile areas. DNR must be more diligent in finding offenders and the State must be willing to prosecute violators.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next legislative session?

My main priority is to hold public hearings and development of legislation which will help the business climate of Michgian as well as attract new industry to the state.

R. Robert Geake (R)

State Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, is a candidate for re-election in the new 6th senatorial district. The district includes the cities of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville and the townships of Plymouth, Canton, Redford and Northville. Geake, a 10year veteran of the Michigan Legislature, was elected to the House in 1972 and served there for five years.

1. Describe two of the major problems facing the state and your proposals for solutions.

Improving the state's economy and reducing unemployment through promoting new industries such as high technology and robotics while continuing to encourage Michigan's automobile, agriculture, and tourism industires. Secondly, providing needed state services in a time of limited revenues through elimination of waste and reordering spending priori-

2. List any incentives you feel government should offer to private industry to encourage location in Mighi-

We must reform workers compensation and unemployment compensation laws to eliminate abuses and bring us into line with competion states. The Single Business Tax must be reformed to tax profits rather than the gross. Property tax incentive abatements should also be promoted.

3. What changes, if any, would you propose in Michigan's taxation system? Why?

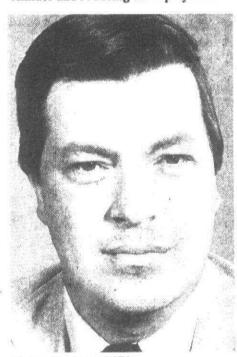

I would reduce property taxes and shift the burden to the state sales or income taxes. Senior Citizens should be exempted from paying school taxes. The Single Business Tax should be abolished or at least reformed as suggested above.

4. What are the greatest threats to the natural resources of Michgian and how would you deal with them? Air and water pollution are the greatest threats. I would strengthen safeguards in the areas of toxic waste disposal, industrial effluents, and the mining and drilling of minerals and fossil fuels. Development of solar and wind energy must be encouraged.

Public education (including special education and classes for the gifted), mental health, public health (including control of industiral poisons), crime control, increased court facilities, libraries, public transportation, energy conservation, veterans benefits, and programs to help senior citizens. Improving Michigan's business climate and reducing unemployment.

Norman Kinzel (R)

Norman Kinzel, 35, is a candidate for the Republican nomination from the 6th Senate District. The district includes the cities of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville and the townships of Plymouth, Northville, Canton and Redford. A self-employed business consultant, Kinzel lives in Northville Township. He studied accounting at Ferris State College and Eastern Michigan University.

1. Describe two of the major problems facing the state and your proposals for solutions.

• To bring new business into the state of Michigan. We can accomplish this by revising our tax structure.

 Cutting the size of government. 2. List any incentives you feel state government should offer to private industry to encourage location in Michigan. I do not feel we need to give major incentives if our tax structure for business is competitive and fair, 3. What chages, if any, would you propose in Michigan's taxation system? Why? I would restructure the single business tax, base it on profit and not sales. I would pull education out of the property tax except where the people want to have additional funding. I would freeze assessed valuations on homes until the property is

4. What are the greatest threats to the natural resources of Mighigan and how would you deal with them?

The diverting of water from the Great Lakes to the southwest. The state and our neighbors should look into the possibilty of forming a public corporation to handle our water resources in the same general manner that the Canadians handle their oil through Petro-Can.

5. What are your personal priorities in the next legislative session?

Three Republicans and one Democrat will be on the ballot Aug. 10 in the 36th Michigan House district, which includes Canton and Plymouth.

In that race a voters' guide was prepared by the League of Women Voters of Plymouth, Norville, Canton. Novi in cooperation with the Observer Newspapers of Canton and Plymouth.

Questionnaires were sent to all candidates, and each could respond with up to 40 words of biographical information and up to 50 words per question with five questions being asked.

The League is a nonpartisan organization dedicated to informing voters and to encouraging residents to participate in the electoral process. Although the League at times does support ballot issues it does not support or oppose candidates.

The candidates for the 36th District include: R. William Joyner, 32, 45941 Amesbury, Plymouth, Democrat; Gerald H. Law, 38, 45209 Woodleigh Way, Plymouth, Republican; Roanld L. Fisher, 39, 15651 Maxwell, Plymouth, Republican; and, Dr. Gary L. Wolfram, 31, 6809 Willow Creek Dr., Canton, Republican.

Joyner The economy and business climate, 1. spending and taxes: 2. So close also has to be decline in educational quality. Solutions: financial audit management audit; bringing together leaders to design a long-range plan. Unemployment comp changes, Single Business Tax reform and tax credits for research evelopment that creates jobs.

Law The single most important need of Michigan today is economic development. We must make Michigan more attractive for existing and new businesses to encourage diversification, expansion and jobs. Secondly, legislation is needed to control government spending. State programs should die when they are no longer needed.

Fisher High unemployment is Michigan's major problem, for it drives up welfare costs while reducing tax revenues. That remedy is to create incentives for private industry to locate in Michigan. Our second problem is government growth and its insatiable appetite for new revenues. Solution? Cut taxes, the means of government growth.

Wolfram Unemployment and the breakdown of the state's infrastructure. The state must take immediate measures to encourage small business, as outline in No. 2. Eighty percent of all jobs are created by small business. The Moter Vehicle Tax must be tied to miles traveled rather than miles per gallon.

tion in Michigan. Law Reduce and simplify government laws and regulations which inhibit economic development; enact changes in unemployment insurance system; provide Single Business Tax relief and promote Single Business Tax credits for research and development; establish an economic development fund to assist business expansion and attract new industry; continue reform in workers' compensation costs.

Wolfram Single Business Tax rates must be cut in half, the base broadened and made more closely related to profitability. The state's unemployment compensation benefits must be reduced for new beneficiaries and workers' compensation eligibility tightened. Small business and non-cyclical industry should pay unemployment taxes according to labor

Joyner Further improvements in workers' compensation. Changing our Single Business Tax, looking at unemployment compensation, and adopting a different regulatory attitude. Also pushing for creation at enterprise zones. By offering quality education you also encourage business to move here.

Fisher Repeal the Single Business Tax, provide meaningful reform or workers' compensation, and reduce property taxes. Anything short of this is no incentive at all.

3. What changes, if any, would you propose in Michigan's taxation system? Why?

Joyner Our current system relies too heavily on property taxes to fund K-12 education. We need to shift away from the property tax into a system that does not include housing. I support a proposal that earmarks a guaranteed percentage of revenues for education and would move away from property

Fisher A constitutional amendment requiring a two-thirds vote of the Legislature, rather than a simple majority, to raise or create new taxes is the only effective way to break the growing tax burden. Michigan lawmakers have refused to apply self restraint, leaving the constitutional mandate our only remedy.

Wolfram Lower the Single Business Tax rate and broaden the base. Workers' compensation and unemployment compensation reform will encourage small business and non-cyclical industry. Motor Vehicle Tax must be raised 4 to 5 cents per gallon, 2percent increase in the weight tax is necessary to maintain the state's infrastructure.

Law Property tax reform is needed. The continuing inflationary rise in property values and assesments have resulted in spiraling tax bills. Sources other than property taxes for funding public education must be found. Changes in the single business tax are needed to encourage business growth and job creation.

4. What are the greatest threats to the natural resources of Michigan and how would you deal with

Fisher Our greatest threat is the ever-present danger of a nuclear accident. Construction of nuclear power plannts and transportation of their wastes must be closely monitored, and aggressively regulate. The next greatest threat is pollution to Michigan's waterways, and, again, tough laws and aggressive enforcement are the safeguards.

Law During economic recession, there is a tendency to misuse or deplete natural resources to meet the demands of today. We must conserve resources for tomorrow's generations. Initiatives should be undertaken to protect the Great Lakes. We need regulations insuring protection of land resources while enabling coal-mining operations to proceed.

Wolfram The greatest threat is pollution of the state's greatest natural resource - fresh water. Fines covering the cost of purifying the water must be placed on all polluters, whether on or off-site. Hazardous waste producers must be held responsible for damage caused by disposal and should contribute to a state "super fund."

Joyner The state's lack of clear-cut planning for the disposal of toxic waste, and the threat to our Great Lakes both in terms of transporting elsewhere and contamination.

5. What are your personal priorites in the next legislative session?

Wolfram My priority will be to drastically improve the climate for small business in Michgian. This will reduce unemployment, and thus reduce the need for transfer payments, and increase the tax base. My other priority is to protect the state's natural resources.

Joyner Providing an improvement in the business climate and the expansion of jobs. Providing stable adequate financing for education. A complete management and financial audit of Michigan programs. Continue to be visible and easily reached just as I have after Plymouth, Canton and Northville elected me before.

Law Restore respect and credibility to state government; improve the state's financial condition and its Wall Street bond rating; find ways to diversify and expand Michigan's economy; promote high technology, economic development and jobs; improve method of funding Michigan's education system, while maintaining quality.

Fisher My first priority would be the restoration of Michigan's economical base, followed by comprehensive tax reform for homeowners, business, and wage earners alike. On social issues, I have targeted the cut-off of abortion funds and the reform of Michigan's child custody laws as my per-characteristic for her.

"This isn't something that I would ordinarily do," said Huebler, who was chosen over four other applicants. "I'm the quiet, reserved type."

Huebler's motive for entering the contest was simple - she thought it. was time to have some fun, especially after raising four children and tending to the livestock and other farm chores all the while.

"I thought it would be more funbeing in the parade and riding on a manure spreader than being at home and pitching cow chips,"Huebler smiled.

Born and raised in Kentucky before coming to Michigan, Huebler always has been a farmer.

She remembers milking her grandmother's cows before she started school. After meeting her husband, she helped raise dairy cows, hogs and quarter-horses on the family's farm, on Haggerty Road, between Cherry Hill and Palmer. In fact, Huebler helped rescue one of the family's horses in a recent fire when their old barn accidentally burned down.

"I'm sure that if it was a beauty contest, there were others who would have won, but it's a country festival and you can't get more country than this," the new celebrity said.

CAPT. ART Winkel, of the Canton Fire Department, intitiated the cow chip queen contest last year, as part of the festival activities. Huebler, a grandmother of three, succeeds Ruth Thompson, who was present at the coronation.

Queen Huebler will ride on a manure spreader with her court as part of the two-mile Canton festival parade, beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday along Ford, Saltz, Canton Center and Sheldon roads. She also will officiate the second annual Cow Chip Fling competition at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Griffin Park, on Canton Center north of Cherry Hill.

Huebler's cow chip court includes Betsy Gwidz, Linda Edge, Mary Mac-Leod and Shirley Slezak.

McClendon said that because safety busing will be provided this coming school year the board has a year's lead time to decide the next step toward the ultimate elimination of safety busing. Tonda was the lone vote against the statement of intent. She said the board was talking only about safety busing and not policy busing (busing of K-2 pupils living within 1.5 miles of school) and that many K-2 students ride the bus even though a safe route to school

The statement noted that because of the probability of continuing loss of funding the board intended to "ultimately eliminate all temporary busing, that is, busing that is less distant from the school than the limits mandated by the state.'

"More people are shopping resale stores than ever before," Nelson said. "More people are interested in finding good used things."

Owners of the various resale shops agree that many people, despite the tough economy, are not easily convinced to buy used goods. That is, until shoppers have seen the resale shops.

"There are still a lot of ladies who don't want to wear used clothes," said Donna Gilpatrick, owner of LaDonna's, a women's clothing resale shop that has been open for five years. "Once they see the high quality stuff we sell, many will change their mind."

Tomorrow's arrival expected ahead of schedule

1984 is only two years away.

The vibrations of Future Shock already can be

The technology revolution has started and before we know it will be over.

The suddenness of change, and the need to adapt our institutions to change at a faster pace, was underlying the discussion last week between the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education and its study committee on instructional computer technology.

While the presentation was very interesting, I was more intrigued by the committee's report.

The outstanding thing about the report was that it actually was readable — a tip right away that this committee had citizen-members on it as opposed to educators who cannot write readable reports.

I also was fascinated by the contents of the report because I was unaware of some of the current information about the impact computers have on young people and their future. That impact is greater and more current than we might think.

FOR EXAMPLE, within three years threefourths of all jobs in the U.S. will involve computers

daniels' den

Emory Daniels

in some way and by 1990 upwards of 95 percent of all jobs will involve computers.

We all have read about how wide open the computer field is for job-seekers. The door is wider open than I realized. Business Week, for example, reports that demand for skilled persons to write computer software is 40 percent greater than the

The advent of computers into the work arena has drastically changed the types of jobs available. File clerks are now unemployed. Typists no longer need to type accurately as word processors quickly and easily correct mistakes. Different jobs and different skills are evolving.

The implications for the job markets are so obvious that it's clear students need to become familiar with computer terminals if they are to stand a chance of getting a job in the future. As the report notes, "Every career will be some day linked up to a computer. A computer will touch everyone's life. A lack of knowledge in computer literacy or operation will severely handicap an individual.

We have known that for some time but have not really reacted yet to changes in technology to make sure our educational program includes a sound training in technology. This kind of educational lag always has existed, though, from the introduction of the first printing press and telephone to the first electric typewriter.

I continue to be amazed that some elementary teachers still put great emphasis on a child learning handwriting (cursive) when the child's future survival depends on his ability to handle a keyboard. I also am surprised that we have not started instruction in typing at the elementary level. But there always will be a gap between technology and our institutions, and our schools are no different.

Two years ago, for instance, the school district spent some $100,000 on IBM electric typewriters for the high schools. At that time the direction technology was taking was quite clear and $100 grand would have purchased a good number of word processors. But the business department, board and administration still were thinking about typewriters, not processors and terminals.

Plymouth-Canton Schools do have computer terminals at many elementary schools where they are used for instructional purposes, and a good computer program has been implemented at the high

But we are not yet at the point where we understand, let along make use of, how computers will become part of our daily lives in the very near fu-

Last Monday night the school board spent some $80,000 for textbooks for the middle schools. I may be wrong, but my guess is that by the time those texts wear out textbooks no longer will be used in the schools but learning information will be retrieved from large data banks with individual terminals located at student "desks."

The future is sooner then we think. 1984 is two years away.

Cash flow an early problem for Schoolcraft

(Part XIII)

In the fall of 1962, the board of trustees at Schoolcraft College had a problem.

District tax revenues were not due to come in until January 1963. Meantime, the board of trustees had to find a way to cover operating costs for 1962.

For the preceding four years, the college movement had existed on grants given from time to time by the school districts within its boundaries.

Now, in addition to meeting existing operating costs, the board had to hire additional staff members if the target date for the opening of the college was to be met (September 1964). But there was no money until the tax income arrived.

To cover its expenses for the first six months of 1962, the board had asked the school districts for a returnable grant totalling $33,447. Based on their percentage of the total assesed valuation of property in the college district, Livonia was aked to supply $21,660; Plymouth $6,996; Garden City $4,085; and larenceville $1,706.

Late in September, the board got some relief from its financial problems when the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission gave the trustees permission to sell $125,000 in tax-anticipation notes to be used for operations.

ON SEPT. 26, 1962, Dr. Eric Bradner, the college president, was able to announce that the board had approved two more administrative appointments.

James Dotseth of Lansing, who had been serving as consultant fo trade and industrial education for the state Department of Public Instruction, was named director of technical education. Edmund Snyder of Oak Park, who had been librarian for Cranbrook Library, was named assistant librarian

The sale of $2,435,000 building and site bonds for the community college was approved by the Michigan Finance Commission in mid-October 1962. The college board lost no time in giving Eberle M. Smith Associates the green light on architectural plans for the first four buildings in the college's master plan.

The general contractor for the first four buildings was Schurrer Construction Co. of Pontiac. A student service building (later called Administration Building) was to house administration offices, counseling service and the business area. The library, then planned as a two-story structure, was to seat 350 and have space for 40,000 volumes.

A third building, to contain academic and technical classrooms, was to be known as the Forum (because the architect planned to put an auditorium in the center of it). The last was a service building to house the electrical service panel, receiving facilities, and shop areas for maintenance and custodial

AN ADMISSIONS policy was established in No-

Non-residents of the college district were to be considered on the same basis as residents if openings were still left after residents enrolled. Transfer students were to have at least a C average.

During the same month, the board received petitions to join the college district from residents of Northville, Novi and South Redford. South Redford had turned down the opportunity in 1961, but educators and others in the district were making another attempt to convince the residents of the advantages of being part of Schoolcraft.

All of the petitions were forwarded by the college trustees to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction for approval before the matter could be put to local vote. Novi and South Redford never did become part of the college, but Northville voted to become a member in June 1963.

It also was in November 1962 that Dotseth, the college's new director of technical education, began a series of meetings with area industrial and business leaders to discuss types of technical programs that would best prepare students fo employment.

In January 1963, Paul Chandler, in the Livonia Observer, reported on his efforts to get the Army to locate a proposed training armory near the com-

Chandler, who apparently originated the idea, said, "It would be a good placing of a facility which will contain rooms for public meetings and dances, and it could even be adaptable to use by the college students for their physical training. At present," Chandler said, "the college does not have funds to build a gymnasium."

At the first meeting of the Schoolcraft Board of Trustees on Nov. 11, 1961, were: (seated from left) Ward McCain, Jane Moehle and Harold Fisher of

A meeting took place between Bradner and Lt. Col. Floyd Plowman at which the matter was discussed, but nothing came of Chandler's suggestion.

On Feb. 6, 1963, the Guardian-Review of Garden City reported that Norman E. Dunn would join the college as registrar on July 1. Dunn, who was then director of pupil personnel service for the school system of Bay City, received his master's degree from Michigan State University and was principal Plymouth, Charles Kirkpatrick; (standing, third from left) Paul Mutnick, James O'Neil and Clarke of Okemos High School before moving to Bay City

At the same board meeting, the trustees set tuition rates for students. Those who lived in the college district were to be charged $105 per semester. and $8 per credit hour was set for those who enrolled with fewer than 13 hours. Rates for non-resident students were not yet determined.

Lucas a 'no-show' again; questions are unanswered

HIS IS AN opinion page piece because it tells only one side of the story. That's not my fault. It's William Lucas' fault.

The League of Women Voters held a candidates night last week for Wayne County executive hopefuls. As usual, Lucas didn't show. He never shows up where his views can be compared to another candidate's views. That seems to be his

A Lucas spokesman said the sheriff didn't receive the League's letter, which was sent to his home. "You should have sent it to the campaign office," the League was told.

A bad excuse on its face. When Lucas filed to run in the primary, he didn't list his campaign office as his address. He listed 749 Pallister, Detroit. Makes you wonder if he's living there.

IN A LWV questionnaire, Lucas gave his address as 525 Clinton, Detroit, which is the address of the Wayne County jail.

How, actually, was the League supposed to know his campaign address? Moreover, Lucas has not one campaign office but two - on W. Congress in Detroit and a "suburban" one on Schoolcraft Road in

By the time the League could hand-deliver an invitation, Lucas already had a "prior commitment." Sure, sure.

THERE WERE some $60,000 questions waiting for Lucas had he shown up — $60,038 to be exact.

Someone on the Board of Auditors has let out fiscal information about Lucas that looks pretty factual. Livonia Mayor Ed McNamara and his people have been studying it. So has Bob FitzPatrick, the county economic development director. They are the kinds of candidates who do bother to attend

The data shows that Lucas 1) has use of a countyowned, chauffeur-driven vehicle for all his office calls and 2) collects mileage for a personal car. Other information indicates he also has an officeholder expense account which leases a car and pays

"No other elected county officials receive flat rate mileage reimbursement and have the use of a county-owned or county-leased car," says the auditor report.

THE NUMBERS look like this:

 Lucas collects mileage from the county at the rate of $2,724 a year to use his personal car.

• The county provides a car and pays 23 cents a mile for Lucas to use. At 20,000 miles a year, the cost is $4,600.

Richard

 Lucas' officeholder expense account shows him leasing a car for $8,063 a year and paying chauffeur costs the county $42,523 in salary and

The sergeant who supposedly acts as Lucas

$2,128 for fuel to operate it. That adds up to $60,038 for Lucas' transportation

In addition, there are some nice questions about whether Lucas uses the county car on campaign

NOW, THAT'S only one side of it. I can think of logical explanations which might show the $60,038 figure to be exaggerated, but that would be only guesswork. And maybe Lucas has some numbers of his own that he'd like to sling at other candidates.

The point is that Wayne County has been in a fiscal mess for years, the county staff has shrunk considerably faster than the population, the Sheriff's Department has lost a lot of deputies, and Lucas has some funny things in his fiscal record.

How, then, can this kind of record qualify William Lucas for the even bigger job of county executive?

It's the kind of an issue that needs the cross-fire of discussion. There are certain to be replies, and replies to replies. One speech won't settle the mat-

McNAMARA IS prepared to discuss it. So is Fitz. But Lucas won't show.

We need to hear from the candidates in a public forum. Not a Lucas PR statement. Not a deputies union president replying. Not a phone call to one of our offices from a sergeant.

Not letters to the editor from deputies' wives. Not a reply from a supervisor of a township which was reluctant to start its own police department because it would like the rest of us to pay the sheriff's road patrol to provide for the township with police

And if you don't like getting only one side of the story, don't blame the auditors, or Ed McNamara or me. Blame William Lucas.

Ist car purchase: a thrill that will last forever

By mere happenstance, The Stroller was seated in one of the latest model automobiles in his dealer friend's showroom looking over all the latest

There was a digital clock, all sorts of air-conditioning knobs, a radio and a cassette playing the latest music, along with the usual gasoline gauge, and the mileage recorder and the speedometer.

These were just a few. There also were electically controlled windows, a windshield wiper, for the front of the car and a red-lined installation in the rear window to keep it clean and clear on a rainy or wintry day. There were head rests for the folks in the front seat and centralized controls on the steering wheel for direction signals, gear shifting. Even the steering wheel itself was adjustable to give the driver more comfort. "Wouldn't it be a thrill to own and drive one of these?" the dealer-friend asked, without revealing that the price of the modern marvel was well above $13,000 for what was supposedly an intermediate size car.

It sure would," The Stroller agreed — with some reservations, however. It never would top the thrill he got when he was financially able to buy his first

The invitation was accepted and the The Stroller's life was changed there-

After establishing himself on the sports staff, The Stroller was assigned to cover the Red Wing hockey games. That got him acquainted with the legendary Jack Adams. This was a real friendship for Adams taught him the plays and the description of them. Finally, he invited The Stroller to be the official scorer with the promise of paying $125 per game.

"Do you want the money after each game or at the close of the season?" Adams asked.

"At the end of the season," The Stroller replied

When he was paid for the regular season and two playoff games, he was

He did and in a few days, The Stroller was the proud possessor of one of Ford's Model A's. It was a sedan with a green exterior and black leather It was a dream car. It didn't have

Campaign in 6th District

Senate hopefuls meet at forum

Republican and Democratic contenders in the 6th senatorial district agreed on one thing at last week's election forum sponsored by the Livonia League of Women Voters - they oppose state funding for abortions.

The candidate also tackled questions on taxes, roads, prisons and an equal rights amendment. They also offered their ideas on rejuvenating Michigan's depressed economy.

The Aug. 10 primary, pits incumbent State Sen. Robert Geake against challenger Norman Kinzel, a Northville Township businessman. Democrat Noel Culbert, a former Canton Township supervisor, is unopposed in the primary.

On the topic of an equal rights amendment both Culbert and Kinzel said they would support a state amendment. Geake said he would oppose such an amendment.

ON THE THREE most important measures the Michigan Legislature could enact to to diversify the state economy, Geake recommended amending the unemployment compensation law to reinstate the one-week waiting period and to make people work 18 instead of 20 weeks in order to qualify for benefits.

"The state could save millions," said Geake, who also suggested the state use more money to promote tourism.

Geake reminded the audience that he opposed the temporary income tax

"I favored cutting the budget $300 million. I favored reducing grants to welfare recipients," said Geake, who is an educational psychologist and former administrator at the Plymouth Center for Human Development.

Geake said he advocates spending "less on welfare and more on educa-

Tax credits are high on Culbert's list to help diversify the state's economy. He suggested offering tax credits for non-automotive related industries, tax credits for businesses which offer retraining programs for unemployed workers and tax credits in enterprise

WHEN QUESTIONED whether taxes were the only thing that was discouraging business from locating in Michigan, Culbert replied, "It's about 10 of 15 other things including health insurance which is aboout 20 percent higher in Michigan, the single business tax and worker's compensation."

Kinzel, a self-employed business consultant, said his priorities for diversifying the state's economy would be "totally reforming the tax structure", retraining workers and reforming unemployment insurance.

Kinzel charged that members of the Legislature have had plenty of time to make reforms.

"I don't see any political courage or ladership in Lnasing. for this state to survive we need leadership," said Kin-

Geake told the audience that there "is a good chance the Republicans will take control of the senate this election and Mr. Kinzel will see the leadership he talks about."

When asked how they would deal with overcrowding in state prisons, Culbert and Kinzel said they favor more prison and more mandatory sen-oners are being let out early to commit more crimes. It's not going to be easy but we must set our prioirties. We must build more prisons," said Kinzel.

"BECAUSE OF overcrowding, pris-

Culbert, an attorney, said he advocates "setting aside more funds to build new prisons.

"Everyone wants more prisons but nobody wants them in their community," said Geake.

"We need to look at alternatives more community rehabilitation programs such as early intervention programs for dealing with delinquent youths," added Geake.

When asked if they would support an increase in the state gasoline tax, Geake and Culbert, voiced their opposi-

"I'm against any tax increase. The (gas tax) doesn't do townships any good because it goes to Wayne County and the road commission spends about 60 percent of its budget for administrative costs," said Culbert, who promised to be "a hard fighter" for the 6th District.

Geake doesn't support increasing the gas tax. He said the money should come from general fund revenues.

"Earmarked monies have a tendency to dry up general fund revenues," said

Kinzel would support a "slight increse in the gas tax - one or two cents / - if I could be sure it would be used

Commission foes square off

Mary Dumas, a 10-year county com- said Geraldine Joyner, program missioner representing Livonia and the Northville and Plymouth areas, says she wants to be a part of reforming Wayne County government next year when the new county charter, which she stumped for, takes effect.

Barry Sherman, her challenger, says his dissatisfaction with county government propelled him into seeking an active role to make sure that county reform actually takes place.

Dumas, 60, and Sherman, 30, - Republican contenders in the race for the county commission seat in the new 10th district — met and discussed the issues last week at the Livonia League of Women Voters election forum in Civic

The questions centered on the county's fiscal condition, the creation of a new labor union for road commission supervisors, civil service exam cheating and the future of the D.J. Healy is looking into whether the abuses were off. Ryan was absent because of illness, moderator.

WHILE DEMOCRATIC candidate Walter H. Roesler, 54, also participated, the absence of his primary challenger, William R. Ryan, 51, left the night open to a Dumas-Sherman face-

Of the four questions taken from the audience, all were directed at Dumas. Sherman also responded. Roesler chose not to comment on any of the questions. He offered only opening and closing statements.

Both candidates said they opposed the formation of the controversial supervisors' union. The union has been challenged in court by several Wayne County Charter Commissioners. Dumas said "if it was possible" she would vote to overturn the contract. Sherman said he was "disappointed" that all county commissioners did not join in the court suit filed against the union.

As a member of an investigative team looking into the alleged abuses of the civil service testing procedures, Dumas was asked what work the group had done, to date. She said it currently of a "criminal" nature. She added that the committee will "take it to court" if it is determined there were violations of the law.

SHERMAN CHALLENGED Dumas by saying the committee "had done nothing in taking testimony."

Dumas also said her action on cutting funding to the D.J. Healy youth home was a "painful decision and one I don't like to make. Unfortunately, the budget must be balanced." She also cited her past work in supporting juvenile programs. She also dispelled rumors that the center would close.

Sherman said: "As one (a police officer) who has taken children there (the youth home), there's no way I'd vote to

Asked about the county's more than $7-million deficit, and the commissioners' vote to place a one-mill tax increase on the August ballot, Dumas said she voted against placing the issue on the ballot because "people are taxed up to their ears."

Dumas also disputed Sherman's figures for county commissioners' salaries. Sherman said commissioners were paid a salary of $26,000 a year. Dumas pointed out that that salary was paid to the board chairman, not to its members. She said commissioners earn $22,000 annually. However, on top of that salary, is a $100 monthly allowance for travel expenses, plus $65 per month for downtown parking fees, she explained.

The 10th District includes the cities of Livonia, Plymouth and Northville and the townships of Plymouth and Northville.

Apples

Why wait till fall when you can eat'em today?

By Dennis Rosenblum staff writer

No, it is not fall.

No, the cider is not yet flowing.

But the day is long gone when apples were a seasonal fruit; if you like them - and who doesn't? - why wait?

Plenty of fruit - both foreign and domestic, is available in stores this time of year. The domestic apples are put in "controlled atmosphere" storage in the fall. The foreigners are shipped over, and often are available on store shelves just three weeks after being picked

Aficionados may complain that some apples from storage lose their fresh "crunch" but, according to Mark Arney, director of the Michigan Apple Committee, "If the conditions are correct, an apple should be just about as good as when it went

Arney is predicting a great year for Michigan apples, with a fall harvest of 21 million bushels — up considerably from last year's 16 million bushels. "There should be some gems in the store because of almost ideal spring conditions," he says.

"I think you'll see one of the best crops."

One of the changes in the apple market, both here and abroad, has been an increase in the production of certain apples varieties that never turn red. And the folks who import Granny smith apples, the green ones available now in stores, have been doing their best to combat what they call "green apple syndrome," a deep-seated belief that green apples are those sour things you got sick on as Granny Smith apples are always green. And they're not sour. But most of us think of apples as being red when they're ripe. Even the domestic apples growers have faced the problem, with such varieties as golden delicious. "An apple doesn't have to be all red to be good," says Arney Of such concern was this to the Granny Smith folks that a couple years back they hired a psychologist to figure out what type of person would be most likely to eat a glossy green Granny. They ended up with a personality profile of people who like

Grape lovers, it seems, are often lazy, showy, a bit insecure, and like to strut around in designer clothes and be the center of Banana eaters are just the opposite — they don't like parties and they eat junk food. Besides being sex symbols, bananas are a throwback to soft, mushy baby food.

Oranges, which are messy and hard to peel, are for the meticulous and patient and people who like to work with their hands. Engineers and accountants often enjoy oranges.

And apples, as you might expect, turn out to be full of all sorts of good connotations, with traditionalists sticking to the reds and more flexible, open-minded types willing to eat

This all comes up because this is the season for imported Granny Smith apples, what they say are the only "fresh" apples - meaning those not placed in storage - now available. They're shipped from the southern hemisphere, mainly Africa, where the growing season is in our winter.

The apples make it from tree to store in close to three weeks and are sold until September, when the domestic apple harvest is in full swing. About a million cases are expected to be imported this year.

> "The beauty about them is that they're the only fresh apple you can eat in the summer," says Barbara Burman, a traveling publicist for Granny Smiths.

> Granny Smiths are now being grown in Washington and California, but these still won't make it off the trees until fall with

The Granny Smith name comes from an English woman who emigrated to Australia in 1838. To help support the family, she operated a small orchard and sold the fruit in Sydney

One day, a seller gave Mrs. Smith six Tasmanian French crab apples to cook. She tossed the seeds out her kitchen window, as the story goes and one of the trees that grew from the seeds produced a large, green-skinned apple.

Cuttings from the original tree produced others and today the Granny Smith Memorial Park stands near her former

The nice thing about having fresh fruit in the summer, Burman notes, is that it's the time of year for informality, for snacking, for being outdoors.

"When we're eating fruit, we have no table manners. There's no right way to eat fruit."

Here are a variety of recipes we've run across, all using fresh apples.

CRAN-APPLE CRUNCH

1 cup cranberry juice 1 cup apple juice 1 large apple

Wash, core and cut apple into small pieces. Put into blender with remaining ingredients. Blend until apple pieces are small but still crunchy. Makes two servings.

YAM AND APPLE BAKE

2 16-oz. cans yams in syrup 2 apples, cored, peeled and sliced ½ cup chopped walnuts, divided 4 Tbsp. light brown sugar 2 Tbsp. butter or margarine

3 Tbsp. cornstarch 1 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

yuams, reserving 3/3 cup of syrup. Slice yams and arrange half in a greased 2quart casserole. Place apples over yams. Sprinkle with ¼ cup of the walnuts and 2 tablespoons of the sugar. Top with remaining yams.

Sprinkle with remaining 1/4 cup walnutys and 2 tablespoons sugar. Dot with butter. Combine reserved syrup, cornstarch and Worcestershire sauce. Pourt evenly over all. Bake, covered, until apples are tender, about 45 minutes. Makes six portions.

APPLE WINECREAM

1 1/2 cups diced, pared apples 2 Tbsp. sugar 3 Tbsp. water ½ cup sugar 5 Tbsp. corn starch 11/2 cups white wine ½ cup water 2 eggs, separated

Stir together apples, 2 tablespoons sugar and water in medium saucepan. 2 large tart apples, peeled and cored

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Drain Cover and simmer 2 minutres or until apples are tender. Drain. Mix together ½ cup sugar and corn starch in medium saucepan. Gradually add wine and water, stirring until smooth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and boils 1 minute. Beat egg yolks. Blend a little hot mixture into egg yolks, then stir all into remaining hot mixture in saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring contantly, for 1 minute. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised. Fold apples and hot mixture into beaten egg whites. Pour into serving dishes. Chill. Makes seven 1/2cup servings.

CARROT AND APPLE SALAD

2 Tbsp. lemon juice Salt Fresh ground black pepper 2 Tbsp. oil 2 large carro's, washed and peeled thinly

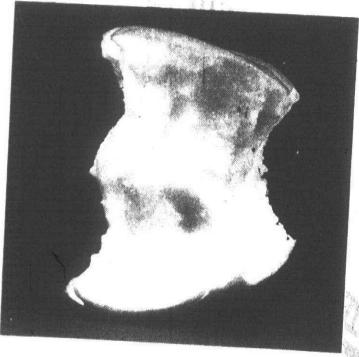

In a salad bowl, mix the lemon juice with salt and pepper to taste, using a small whisk. Add the oil and mix well again. Shred the carrots and apples, using the shredding disk of a food processor, and put them into a salad bowl. Toss immediately with dressing so the apples do not discolor. Season with more salt and pepper if necessary.

BOURBON APPLES

Serves six.

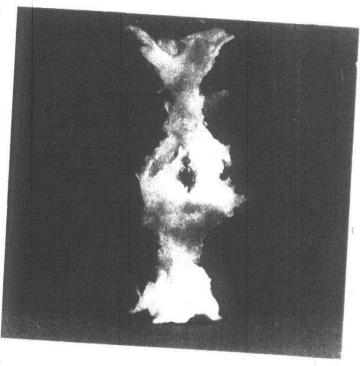

4 large, crisp apples 6 Tbsp. light brown sugar Juice of ½ lemon, about 1½ Tbsp. 1/2 cup bourbon 4 scoops vanilla ice cream

Peel, core and cut apples into bitesize chunks; place in a 10-inch skillet. Add brown sugar, lemon juice ands bourbon. Cover and simmer until apples are tender, stirring occasionally and basting with liquid. Serve warm over scoops of vanilla ice cream. Makes four servings.

Be creative on the grill for relaxing summer meals

It's hardly likely that, in the height of summer's swelter, you'll feel much like sitting down to a heavy meal of roast beef and Yorkshire pudding. In fact, it's hardly likely that you'll feel like turning on the oven at all.

But eat we must and, while a healthy individual's appetite normally diminishes during the warm weather months, his me her interest in food and its preparation does not necessarily diminish. It simply changes seasons.

Summer's bounty of fruits and vegetables opens endless menu possiblities for breakfast, lunch or dinner - nutritious possibilities that are as easy to digest as they are to prepare.

Typical winter breakfasts of hot cereal and griddle cakes evolve into light and fruity affairs during the summer.

Sweet and refreshing breakfasts take little time to prepare, cantaloupe halves filled with fresh strawberries and a splash of heavy cream; dry cereal topped with peach slices; blender shakes of mail, yogurt and tangy blue-

Easy summer salads can be given a nutritional boost with the addition of tuna, eggs, leftover meat strips or shreds of cheese

Lunch, too, takes on a seasonal appearance. Figure-conscious individuals lunch on cottage cheese mixed with any number of summer's offerings: fresh-off-the-vine cucumbers in a light viniagrette dressing; plump homegrown tomatoes with oregano; fresh salad greens with chunks of cheese and fresh scallions. Between-meal snacks must, on a broiling August afternoon, be both cool-

Sweet 'n hot sauce is good for any meats

There are dedicated barbecue lovers who'll travel miles to find the best ribs around — sometimes even into another

For the delicious barbecue sauce below, however, you won't have to go any farther than your nearest supermarket. In fact, you probably have most of the ingredients on your pantry shelves right now. Its secret is the flavor of Worcestershire sauce.

Sweet 'n Hot Barbecue Sauce is superb over spareribs, naturally, but can also be used with chicken, hamburgers or pork chops (outdoors or in) with equally tempting results.

ing and thirst-quenching.

A peeled and frozen ripe banana, when mixed in a blender with a splash of skim milk, plain yogurt and a dash of honey or sugar, becomes a frothy, icy fruit drink.

At dinnertime, beating the heat of summer means patio picnies and barbecues, or one-step meals in a wok.

With a long loaf of bread and a cooling pitcher of iced tea or lemonade, they're perfect for light eating on a hot summer evening.

Char-broiled steaks and burgers are 1/2 tsp. onion salt

1/4 cup chili sauce

an American favorite, but the outdoor grill also lends a delicious, smokey flavor to everything from chicken to leg of lamb and salmon steaks. And it keeps you out of the heat of the kitchen.

BEEFY BARBECUE SAUCE 3 cups tomato juice

1/4 cup red wine vinegar 1 clove garlic, crushed 2 tsp. dry mustard

1/2 tsp. savory

1/4 tsp. coarse pepper 1 beef bouillon cube 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce 1 tsp. sugar

Combine the ingredients in a saucepan and simmer until the mixture is reduced by half. Use on lean beef-steaks and hamburgers.

Makes about 11/2 cups.

CHILI BARBECUE SAUCE

1/4 cup. chopped celery

1 tsp. chili powder 1 can (101/2 oz.) condensed onion soup

1 Tbsp. cornstarch 1/2 cup catsup

1/4 cup water

1 Tbsp. vinegar 1 tsp. prepared mustard

Combine the ingredients in a saucepan and cook the mixture over a low heat, stirring occasionally, for 10 minutes. Use as a basting sauce when barbecuing chicken pieces.

Makes about 2 cups.

GREEK MARINADE 1/2 cup plain low-fat yogurt 1/2 cup lemon juice

1 Tbsp. dried mint leaves 1 tsp. oregano

1/2 tsp. nutmeg 1/4 tsp. cinnamon Salt and pepper to taste

In a bowl, combine the ingredients well and spread the marinade over meat, poultry or fish. Refrigerate the mixture, covered, for several hours.

Makes enough for four servings.

Parfait is an elegant dessert

Looking for a dessert that takes company in its stride, and very little effort from you? Search no

The answer is our Ambrosia Parfait, a fabulous, fancy, fluffy concoction of fresh fruit, yogurt and chocolate sandwich cookies. Fixed in a jiffy but looking like hours of painstaking preparation, it is truly a dessert to dazzle.

AMBROSIA PARFAITS 20 chocolate sandwich cookies, finely rolled

(about 2 cups crumbs) 2 (8-oz.) cartons low-fat, vanilla-flavored yogurt 21/4 cups fresh pineapple chunks (about half medium-size fresh)

31/2-oz. flaked coconut (about 11/3 cups)

3 medium oranges

Sprinkle 1 Tbsp. Oreo chocolate sandwich cookie crumbs evenly in bottom of six (10-oz.) standardsize wine glasses or dessert glasses.

In medium bowl, combine yogurt, pineapple chunks and coconut; stir until well blended. Spread about 1/3 cup evenly over crumbs in each glass to form a layer.

Sprinkle 2 Tbsp. cookie crumbs over each yogurt layer to cover. Peel and section 3 oranges; arrange segments evenly in each glass on top of cookie crumb layer.

Reserving 3 tsp. cookie crumbs for garnish, top orange layers with remaining crumbs; cover with remaining yogurt mixture, using approximately 1/4 cup per glass. Sprinkle top of each lightly with 1/2 tsp. cookie crumbs. Chill at least 30 minutes before serving. Garnish with orange peel curl. Serve immediately. Makes six servings.

Try pita bread and prepared fillings for a picnic on the go

Wherever and however you picnic - lakeside, dockside, on the beach or in the park — you want a fun and delicious meal that's easy to prepare and easy to carry. Here's one just right - an appetizing, out-of-the-ordinary meal that goes along in only four containers.

The key is pita, the popular unleavened pocket bread. Pita is perfect for picnicking: you add the filling right before serving, so the bread is enjoyably crisp and crunchy, not soggy as made-ahead sandwiches can be. Using pita bread, your whole picnic is easy as one-two-three-four:

One, slice the pita bread in half and store in a compact plastic container.

 Two, use a second container to hold the pita filling. Recipes for two delightfully appealing fillings are given below. Chicken Pita Combo features chicken combined with apples, raisins and walnuts. Tuna Pita Mombo wakes up tuna with the taste suprise of Swiss cheese and alfalfa sprouts. Either of these easy-to-make fillings can be whipped up fresh the morning of the picnic or prepared the day before and refrigerated.

• Three, in a third container mix Vegetable Medley. This is a lightly seasoned vegetable dish that's also easy to prepare, using fresh or frozen vegetable or even leftovers. Since this is a marinated dish, it's best refrigerated overnight to allow mingling of the flavors.

• Four, use a fourth container to carry along Razz-a-ma-jazz, a cool dessert designed to tempt anyone. With the tingly fruit flavors of raspberry gelatin and applesauce, it's a cooling, refreshing outdoor treat.

CHICKEN PITA COMBO 1 small unpeeled red apple, cored and diced

1 Tbsp. lemon juice

2 cups cooked chicken, diced

1/2 cup celery, sliced

1/4 cup raisins 1/4 cup chopped walnuts, if desired

Salt and pepper to taste 3-4 Tbsp. French dressing

Mix diced apple and lemon juice. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Chill before serving. To serve, spoon mixture into pita bread. Makes 4-5 servings.

TUNA PITA MOMBO

6 % oz. tuna, drained and flaked 1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese 1/2 cup alfalfa sprouts 1 green onion, chopped 1 tsp. parsley flakes

Creamy Italian dressing to taste

Black pepper to taste

Combine all ingredients except salad dressing. Toss lightly. Add the dressing and mix well. Makes 4-5 servings.

VEGETABLE MEDLEY

10 oz. mixed vegetables Salad dressing to taste

9 oz. cut green beans

Cook vegetables until crisp-tender. Season with favorite sweet-sour Italian dressing. Mix thoroughly. Marinate several hours before serving. Serves 4-

RAZZ-A-MA-JAZZ

3-oz. pkg. raspberry gelatin

1 cup boiling water

1/4 cup cold water 1 cup applesauce

1/2 tsp. ground cinnamon 1 cup non-dairy whipped topping

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. In small bowl, mix applesauce and cinnamon, add 1 cup gelatin; blend well. Pour into desired container and chill. Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened; fold in whipped topping. Spoon onto applesauce mixture. Chill thoroughly. Makes about four servings

Most every cook has a repertoire of 3 whole chicken breasts, split, skinned chicken recipes to suit the most casual or formal occasion. No wonder. Most people like chicken.

When combined with vegetables, herbs and other ingredients, ordinary chicken becomes extraordinary. The gravy, which is already seasoned, acts as another flavor ingredient and gives a rich taste to such chicken dishes.

Here, boned chicken breasts are rolled around an unusual filling of carrots, raisin bread cubes, pecans, lemon juice and canned chicken gravy. Fried to a golden brown, the crispy chicken breasts are served with a cream style gravy that owes its ease of preparation and smooth consistency to canned chicken gravy.

CHICKEN BREASTS CRECY

1 cup shredded carrots 6 Tbsp. butter or margarine 1 can (10 1/2 oz.) chicken gravy 1 cup raisin bread cubes

1/4 cup chopped pecans 2 Tbsp. lemon juice

Meanwhile, in saucepan, cook onion in 2 Tbsp. butter until tender. Stir in remaining gravy and lemon juice; add cream. Heat; stir occasionally. Serve with chicken. Garnish with parsley if desired. Makes six servings.

Macadamia nuts liven up veggies in stir-fry 1 cup carrots, sliced diagonally

Stir-fry dishes made with beautifully colored vegetables cooked only until the texture is crisp-tender are both wonderful to look at and taste. A carrot and broccoli mixture with a tang of orange gets its special crunch and exquisite flavor from the addition of coarsely chopped macadamia nuts. The ingredients are assembled ahead of time, then stir-fried a few minutes before serving.

MACADAMIA-BROCCOLI STIR-FRY

1 bunch fresh broccoli (1 lb.) 1 Tbsp. vegetable oil

1/2 cup orange juice 1/2 cup water, divided

l tsp. sugar

¹∕₂ tsp. ground ginger 1/2 tsp. salt

2 tsp. cornstarch

1/2 cup chopped macadamia nuts

Cut broccoli tops into florets and stems into 2-inch strips ¼-inch wide. In a large skillet, heat oil until hot. Add broccoli florets and stems; stir-fry until lightly cooked, about 1 minute. Combine orange juice, 1/4 cup of the water, sugar, ginger and salt. Add to skillet. Cook and stir until broccoli is almost tender, about 1 minute. Add carrots; cook and stir until tender, about 1 min-

Mix cornstarch and remaining 1/4 cup water. Stir into skillet. Cook and stir until sauce thinkens, about 30 sec onds. Stir in macadamia nuts. Yields about 51/2 cups.

BEN AND LOVEDAY Cliff of Plymouth returned to Kehelland, Cornwall for a Sunday School at the Village Chapel.

Ben and his brother had a hand in the festivities. They marched with the local band through the village to the chapel grounds. Ben passed out saffron buns to the children. There was a tea and a dedication of the new carpet in the chapel.

The choir sang and Loveday said that for just a dozen voices, the volume was quite amazing.

Ben officially opened the garden fete where homegrown vegetables,

'And in the farmer's field across the road, there were games for the children - running in a bag and other contests," said Loveday.

THE CLIFFS have lived in this country since 1926 and they say Plymouth is really home. But every other year they go "home" to Cornwall to visit their families. They have seen many changes over the past 56 years. Kehelland in Camborne is about 30 miles from Land's End which is the southwestern tip of England.

There is new housing for the retirees who have flocked to this warmest corner of England. The Cliffs say the new homes do not compare to the old ones.

They spent some time with Loveday's sister in her 400-year-old home. "It has 10 rooms and you don't need air conditioning. We had three blankets," said Loveday. This was in July. The house where she was born had walls two feet thick.

She said the country is hilly and the roads are narrow. There are cuts in the hedges to pull over when two cars meet. Large herds of dairy and beef cattle are raised in the surrounding area and there also are truck gardens.

"It's a beautiful area," she said. "But the post office is gone, all they have now is mail box."

The Cliffs spent six weeks in England visiting their relatives and old friends, and touring by automobile from Cornwall to the north of Scotland.

PLYMOUTH FAMILY

Service will have a booth at the Plymouth Fall Festival this year for the first time. Staffers and board members of Family Service had a preview of the food to be served at the festival.

Jim Jabara, a member of the board, and his wife, Jean, treated them to a Lebanese dinner complete with kifta, tabbouleh and kibbeh squares at the Jabara home. Kifta and pita bread will be served at the agency booth. The dinner at the Jabaras was a trial run to help determine response and planning.

They decided if their favorable reaction to the food was any indication, the booth will be a

Countdown

August is here, and members of the Community Arts Council are beginning the countdown for their major fund-raiser, the annual artist and craftsman show on the Saturday and Sunday of the Plymouth Fall Festival. Some of the committee heads look over the site of the show, Central Middle School, where display booths fill the gymnasium and lawns. From left are Elizabeth Gribble, posters and programs; Pat Centofanti, co-chair selection committee; Doris Chatterly, market master; Toni King, publicity; Kay Pigtain, hostesses; Christine Szary, hospitality; Jan Gattoni, facilities; Sherrie Lewis, chairwoman of show; and Carol Vos. who is assisting with posters and programs.

Speakers advise the unemployed

By Judy Celmer staff writer

in a job is only one person's opinion of you," said employment counselor Joan Greenfield to a crowd of 600 at Schoolcraft College's free career opportunities fair.

Greenfield joined author Jackie Lichty, Co-Operative Extension representative Judy Lazzaro, psychologists Dr. Allene Doctoroff and Dr. Roger Wittrup, Schoolcraft College counselors and scores of other professionals in discussing unemployment, dealing with mid-life career changes, and how and where to seek help.

"We are each exquisite, complex individuals." Greenfield declared in a session called "Repackaging Yourself."

Greenfield said flexibility is the key to opening doors for jobs. Another speaker, Dr. Sonya Friedman, on whose TV show Greenfield has appeared, also spoke in favor of being flexible.

"I like the idea of having many baskets, with eggs in each one," Greenfield "A job interview that doesn't result said. "If you set up two interviews every day for a week and if one falls through, you still have others to fall back on.

"As a psychologist, I've found out that we have an inborn impression that what we do, and do well, anyone can do. Wrong! We each have our own unique talents.

"YOU ARE all valuable people," continued Greefield who is the Detroit News employment columnist and mother of three children under age 12. "It is very important to realize who you are. In terms of repackaging yourself, we do not have to be overcome with distress to make a change."

Above all, stressed Greenfield, a sense of humor is important, even for those faced with unemployment.

Jackie Lichty, author of "The Edu-

vorce forced her into the working world nine years ago. She quickly added that was "the best thing that could have happened to me.' Lichty explained how the success formula ("knowing what you want") and the contact network ("the process of using a name to get to meet the person you want to meet") work to produce a job.

"GETTING TO Meet The People I Need To Know To Get The Job I Want," was the name of her workshop, and the game was clearly one anyone could learn to play.

"If you announce to the universe your goal, you will be surprised at how many people are willing to help you,"

she said. She led the class into role playing to demonstrate the effectiveness of meeting people. She told the class members to think of a person they wanted to cator's Job Change Manual," said a dimeet. The group then created what the speaker called "a huge cocktail party."

The class was told to mingle, and try to develop contacts to meet the specific person each had selected. Success! When the mingling was over, two people had met others in the person they wanted to meet. "Getting to know the people you need to know is not easy," Lichty said. "It's something you can learn. It's a tech-

class who provided a direct link to the

She called it the confidence factor. "It's fear that keeps us from doing the things we need to do to meet the people we need to know," Lichty said. "MOST OF us feel about 12 years old about 30 percent of the time." But in the world of sales, or interviews, or any situation where courage is needed, "the only way to get over it is just to do it." Dr. Doctoroff and Dr. Wittrup, Oakland County psychologist, dealt with the problem of stress, which can be rampant in periods of unemployment.

Doctoroff focused on the physical responses of stress: shallow breathing. tense muscles, slowed or stopped diges tion, faster heart rate. Wittrup focused on developing habits to combat stress.

"Try to develop at least four hobbies, two outdoor, two indoor," he advised "With sleep habits, try to get a regular pattern, seven days a week, if you can,"

Common sense advice such as regular exercise at least four times a week and a diet void of foods high in carbohydrates, sugar and fats was recommended. Setting priorities, Wittrup said, should be arranged so you can feel accomplished at the end of the day.

"In terms of accomplishing something, think of your energy in terms of a laser: if you disperse the light, it won't do anything, but if you focus it, it can burn through metal."

Town Hall series shares its profits

Woman's Club of Plymouth and the Symphony Society will receive financial support from the Northville Town Hall series. The two organizations were among the 12 groups selected by the Town Hall Board of Awards to share the profits of the 1981-81 lecture series.

Our Lady's League of Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church in Northville has sponsored the Town Hall for 21 years. Over the vears it has shared its profits with service groups from the communities which support it - Northville, Novi, Livonia, Farmington, Westland and Plymouth.

This year the members of the board of awards designated portions of $3,200 to:

 Our Lady Of Providence School — to send two girls to camp. • Plymouth Woman's Club — to help in their support of Girls Town and Special Olympics.

• Community Commission on Drug Abuse in Livonia — assist substance abuse program. • Oakland County New Horizons - support program for disabled adults. • Farmington Community Center - support for operation of

• Plymouth Symphony Society - support of symphony pro-

• International Order of Alhambra Manresa - assistance for retarded children in Northville area.

• International Order of Kings Daughters and Sons - aid for needy in local area.

 Novi Friends of the Library — filmstrip and view collection for juvenile section.

• First Step, Western Wayne County - support to meet counseling and advocacy for children of spouse abuse.

• Northville-Novi FISH — support for continued operation (telephone bill).

 Silent Citizens — support for film program for deaf families in metropolitan Detroit area.

MEMBERS OF the board of awards committee are Frances Mattison, chairwoman; Anne Brueck, secretary; Herman Moehlman and Norma Vernon, Northville representatives; Jean Proctor and Frances Hensley, Farmington representatives; and Betty Childs, Plymouth representative.

Tickets for the 1982-83 season may be reserved by calling Mrs. Richard Lyon, 349-2152, or Mrs. Robert Hudson, 349-7888.

Cost for the series of four lectures is $20. Celeste Holm will open the season Oct. 14 at the Plymouth Hilton Inn. Other celebrity speakers are Stan Cloud, Nov. 11; Irwin Weil, March 10; and Polly Bergen, April 14.

3-of-a-kind for 3 festivals

ART EMANUELE/staff photographer

Triplets Carol (left), Cynthia and Cheryl Walczak of Livonia will participate in Polish dances for ethnic festivals in Canton, Detroit and Livonia during August.

Three-of-a-kind Polish dancers will be with a troupe of teen-agers and young adults ready to celebrate their heritage in three August festivals.

Carol, Cynthia and Cheryl Walczak, 16-year-old Livonia triplets, will join the Centennial Dancers of Plymouth, performing for the Canton Festival Sunday, Aug. 8, the Polish Ethnic Festival in Detroit's Hart Plaza Saturday, Aug. 14 and the Livonia International Festival Friday, Aug. 20.

The triplets and their older sister, Theresa, all are members of the Centennial group, sponsored by the Polish National Alliance. Theresa was one of the original dancers when the group was organized two years ago and her three sisters, now juniors at Stevenson High School, joined last September.

Taught by Susan Machowicz and Chris Siepierski, both of Detroit, and costumed in national attire, the dancers perform at assorted community functions.

The Walczak sisters belong to the two older units of the Centennial dancers. There are five age levels in all and about 100 dancers ranging from 5 to 25

The Centennials' Aug. 14 performance at Hart Plaza is scheduled at 2:15 p.m., and at the Livonia event, to be held at the Wilson Barn at Middlebelt and W. Chicago, they will be on stage at 7 p.m., right after the opening ceremonies Aug. 20.

In both of those performances, they will be accompanied by a duo of Polish instrumentalists known as Chris, Jack and Music.

The Centennial Dancers will resume weekly rehearsals in the fall. "More members are always welcome," said Cecelia Walczak, the Livonia dancers' mother, "especially male dancers so more couple dances can be used."

Those interested in joining any of the age level groups can call Joanne Yagel, director, 464-1266.

Barczuk-Keller

Laurie Jo Keller, daughter of Georgette and the late Calvin Keller, and Craig T. Barczuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Barczuk of Canton, were married April 2 at Christus Victor Lutheran Church in Dearborn Heights.

Dr. Michael Rothaar officiated. The bride graduated from Wayne Memorial High School in 1974 and attended Michigan State and Eastern Michigan universities. She is employed by United Air Lines.

The bridegroom is a 1973 graduate of Wayne Memorial High School and is employed by Kmart in management.

The bride's off-shoulder style dress was ivory silk and lace, and she wore a matching hat trimmed with silk roses and carried pink roses and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Anne Keller, maid of honor was Barbie Barczuk, sister of the bridegroom. Robin Ellingsworth, Andrea Ellingworth, Carol Empson, Cindy McShane and Lise Charbonneau were bridesmaids. They wore ballerina-length, off-the-shoulder dresses of pink with ivory lace and pink lace shoes.

Lisa Keller was flower girl and the ring bearer was Neil Keller.

The bridegroom's attendants were Gary Frizzel as best man and Bill Browalski, Jim Barry, Steve Sytek, John McKeever and Pat Faber.

A reception at St. Clement Hall in Dearborn followed the ceremony.

The couple want to Honolulu for a two-week honeymoon.

She'll aid survey studying why people get cancer

across the country, 40,000 of them in Michigan and 19,000 in the Detroit area. The ACS is looking for general trends in the population in this epidemiological study, explained Susan Lewis-Phillips, director of public information. The society hopes it will bring in data that will suggest future scientific research projects.

IN THE SURVEY questionnaire will be queries about family history in relation to cancer and the cancer history of the individual surveyed.

Also to be considered are physical condition, smoking habits, diet, and vitamins and medications taken. Current and past occupations will be examined along with whether these jobs led to exposure to such materials as asbestos, formaldehyde, pesticides and herbicides, and radioactive materials or X-

Participants will also be asked such miscellaneous questions and how long they have lived in the same neighborhood and whether they were in service.

"My job is to find group chairpersons, who will then find the researchers," said Keenan, who has made her

A million people will be surveyed home in Westland for 21 years, "The researchers will take the questions to at least 10 families. The questions cover lifestyle and environmental factors that might relate to cancer. The socety hopes to find things that cause cancer and things to do to prevent it. We hope to reach 3,000 people in western Wayne County."

She added that questionnaires can be sealed in an envelope so the answers remain confidential. Volunteers must know the families they survey. Settled families are preferred so they can be located for follow-ups. After the initial survey, a researcher's only follow-up job is to inform the Cancer Society if there is a death in the family or it moves. In that case, the researcher is asked to find the new address.

"YOU DO HAVE to answer all the questions," Keenan warned. "Volunteers have to explain this before a person agrees to be part of the survey. All questionnaires collected will be put in the ACS computer in Washington, D.C."

This volunteer grew up in Centralia, Ill. She and her husband, Fritz Keenan, lived in Chicago and then moved to Westland. There are two daughters, Ly-

She thinks that volunteers who involve themselves in a project like the upcoming survey are "people who like to be helpful."

IN A PAMPHLET about Cancer Prevention Study II, the ACS points out that knowledge gained from this sur-

The first Cancer Prevention Study from 1959-79 produced half a billion vital facts, according to the American Cancer Society and surveyed 1,078,894 Americans. In the six years that followed the survey, those questioned were followed up year by year.

Only 25,000 blacks were enrolled in the first study. In order to broaden its information base, CPS-II aims at enrolling a minimum of 100,000 black men and women.

Thorn Apple Valley, which finished second in the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Modified League, posted a record of 6-0.

Lomonoco was the tournament's most valuable player, collecting 11 hits in 19 at bats to go along with 10 RBI.

He blasted a bases-loaded triple to key an eight-run, first-inning outburst as Thorn Apple went on to win the championship game over Reese Lawn Sprinklers of Bay City, 13-7.

Thorn Apple's Steve Karas clubbed a solo homer, and teammate Al Lipinski followed with a two-run blast, both coming in the second inning, to keep up the assault.

In the semifinals, Thorn Apple jumped out to a 10-2 advantage and then held on for a 11-10 win over Short Hardware of Midland.

Short tallied eight runs in the top of the seventh to knot the count.

Thorn Apple recovered in the bottom half of the inning. Brent Boegler singled, went to second on a sacrifice bunt and raced home on Lomonoco's RBI

MARK CRAWFORD and Lomonoco each had three hits for the winners. Lomonoco drove in three runs.

Thorn Apple won three straight in pool play to advance to the final eight. Steve Robb went 3-for-3 and Ken Casey was the winning pitcher as Thorn Crawford and Karas added homers in the rout.

Tom Willette had three hits and brother Rob added two safeties and three RBI to lift Thron Apple past Reese, 12-4.

Mark Falvo, Lomonoco and Crawford added two hits each. Al White was the winning pitcher.

In a five-inning mercy rule game, Thorn Apple blasted Office Supply of Midland, 12-0.

Casey allowed only one hit and four

Crawford went 2-for-2, including a homer and three RBI.

VanDenberg's Furniture of Kalamazoo provided Thorn Apple its stiffest test of the tournament.

White tossed a six-hitter as Thorn Apple prevailed, 4-1.

THORN APPLE scored two runs in the second on a sacrifice fly by Rob Willette and an RBI single by Robb.

The six wins raise Thornapple's record to 25-6 overall. Rounding out the team are Fritz Dixon, Larry Casey and manager Randy Shoemaker.

Best in state in four events

Canton gymnast keeps cool under pressure

By Jay Keenan special writer

Gymnastics is a test of physical prowess, to be sure. But a certain psychological ability is also necessary if the gymnast is to be successful.

The sport is one of precision. One erroneous move can cost the competitor a bundle of points.

Realizing this made Canton's Todd Olson a trifle uneasy as he prepared for the U.S. Gymnastics Federation (USGF) Boy's State Championships. But the 14-year-old knew how to handle

"I just pretended it (the state meet) was just like practice, and I went out there and did it," deadpanned Olson, who trains four days a week at Go-Fer Gymnastics in Canton under the coaching of Ron and Cindy Westerman.

OLSON'S FORMULA paid off. He won the all-around competition, taking first in the rings, pommel horse and parallel bars, second in the high bar and floor exercise and a third in the vault. Olson placed in all seven events in the 13-15 boys' age group.

"It felt great to do well," Olson said. "I was surprised."

Olson's performance was not as big a surprise to Westerman. "We're maybe a touch surprised," Westerman said.

"But we look back at it and say, 'He put a lot of work into it. He hit on his to have that natural ability."

routines here (in practice), so why can't he do it in the meets?""

Olson's composure and ability to overcome nervousness in a meet of this stature earned Westerman's praise.

"WE'RE EXTREMELY pleased that he overcame his fears," the coach said. "Once you're physically able to do gymnastics, the only thing that can hold you back is your mental capabili-

Olson, who will be a ninth grader at Pioneer Middle School this fall, got his start in gymnastics when he was 11.

His family lived in Novi at the time and Olson played baseball and hockey. But his parents, Doug and Evelyn Olson, noticed that their son enjoyed gymnastics. He often did handstandsaround the house, his mother said.

Encouraged by his parents, Todd joined a beginner's class at Novi Middle School, a program run through the school system.

"I heard about the practices at the school," Todd explained. "So I went there and I liked it."

HE ABANDONED his other sports interests in favor of gymnastics.

"We noticed that he liked it," his mother remarked. "So we figured, 'Why not have him put all of his energy in the same sport?' Obviously he liked it more than the others. And he seemed

Westerman

But after three months in the class, the Olsons moved to Canton and Todd was forced to give up his sport for 11/2 years. His parents debated whether he should commute back to his old class in Novi or search for something closer to home when they discovered Go-Fer Gymnastics, which opened in March,

The aspiring young gymnast tried out for the Go-Fer team last June and made it.:

THE GO—FER Gymnastics club, in its first year of USGF competition, has nine male and more than 70 female members. The boys' team is divided into three age groups, ranging from six & to 15 years. The girls' divisions are separated by skill instead of age.

in the state meet, but there were not enough boys to be a factor in the team standings.

"But as individuals, we came out very good," Westerman said. "We did super as a team (with what we had)."

Despite its first-year status, the Go-Fer club left its mark at the state meet. Olson's firsts were a big lift for

The Go-Fer girls competed as a team the boys' team, and Dawn Cooper won the uneven parallel bars with a 9.15 point score in an earlier competition for the girls' squad. Cooper finished seventh in the all-around.

So, as Olson and Cooper develop their talent, the Go-Fer team should also improve. That makes the outlook for Olson, Cooper, the Westermans and the Go-Fer teams a bright one indeed.

Todd Olson swung his game into shape, first physically and then mentally, and managed to place in all seven 13-15 boys' events.

Kids flock to his basketball camp to learn game from their heroes

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Hot and enticing, Thursday was a perfect day - the type Michigan has far too few of. The kind of weather, with clear blue skies and bright sunshine, that lures those trapped inside by their work to rebel and make a dash for the door.

So why in the heck were more than 100 kids crammed into Madonna College's gym shooting baskets?

It takes a major attraction to get kids inside on a day like this. Take into account that most of these kids paid for the privilege, and the attraction escalates to the major league, four-

The feature lived up to its billing. After all, how could pro basketball stars the caliber of Isiah Thomas, Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Mark Aguirre disappoint anyone?

THERE WERE lots of other players that showed up for the Isiah Thomas Basketball Camp, which started last Tuesday and ran through Friday. Among the local celebrities was Livonia's Greg Wendt, former Detroit Catholic Central star now playing college ball at Duke, and Lofton Greene, the River Rouge coach.

It is the only basketball camp Thomas, the sparkling Detroit Piston point guard and former Indiana All-American, conducts, although he makes guest appearances at others.

According to Thomas, the emphasis of the camp is on "mostly fundamentals. A lot of these kids know how to play, they just don't know the right

Thomas evidently knew that it would be impossible for the youths, 7-18 years old, to absorb all the finer points of being a basketball player. Many were more interested in seeing and talking to their heroes than playing basketball.

"I WANT TO learn something" was Mike Meehan's reason for attending the camp. A sophomore-to-be at Livonia Churchill, Meehan plans on playing either varsity or junior varsity for the Chargers this winter. Whatever he can learn at the camp he figures will be to his benefit.

"Most of the instructors say, 'If you learn one thing well, the camp will have been worth it,' " said Meehan.

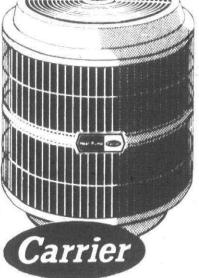

The camp did bring out the best in the participants. Most were eager to show off their stuff to their peers, and the competition was intense.

How much they learned may not be evident until the various cage seasons start. Thomas played his role to perfection: He instructed those looking for instruction, and he joked with the kids who just wanted to rub elbows with a

He certainly lived up to his billing.

The East, with eight Observer & Eccentric-area players on the roster, will meet the West Saturday, Aug. 7, in the second renewal of the Michigan High School All Star Football game. Kickoff time is 1:40 p.m. at Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium.

The game, an attempt to showcase Michigan's recently graduated highschool football talent, is sponsored by the Michigan High School Football Coaches Association. It benefits Ronald McDonald House, which provides housing close to hospitals so that parents may stay near their seriously ill children, and a college scholarship fund for Michigan students.

Five of the O&E-area players are from Oakland County communities.

Dave Yarema, a 6-foot-3, 187-pound quarterback, and Jim Cherocci, a 6-3, 210-pound defensive lineman, are 1982 graduates of Birmingham Brother Rice. Other Oakland County products are defensive back Walt Hulse (6-1, 180) from Birmingham Groves, defensive end Derek Woodmore (6-1, 190) from Auburn Heights Avondale and running back Carl Pellegata (5-9, 170) from Orchard Lake St. Mary's.

Area Wayne County players include tight end Tom Redilla (6-3, 205) from Redford Union, linebacker Darrell Bartkowiak (6-1, 215) from Plymouth Salem and defensive back John Bielis (6-1, 190) from Livonia Churchill.

Trenton's Jack Castignola will coach the East squad with help from Dearborn Fordson's Charles Jestice, Marysville's Walt Braun and Royal Oak Kim-troit Central's Steve Jones, who then flipped the ball back to Clouter. Last year's game, played on a rainy Saturday, drew 11,400 spectators.

"We didn't get that many paid," said Farmington Harrison coach John Herrington, an assistant coach for the East last year and now the public relations man for the coaches association.

"A lot of people just walked in. Security will have to be tightened this

Tickets, at $3 each, may be ordered in advance by sending a stamped, selfaddressed envelope to All-Star Tickets, Post Office Box 103, Okemos 48864. Tickets at the game will be $4 each.

Louise Snider

Thoughtful drama approaches theme of officers' training

Before getting into the specifics of "An Officer and a Gentleman" (R), I'd like to ask you to recall all those movies you have seen about a recruit going through the rigors of basic training. They generally follow a similar pattern.

First we see the men losing their civilian identity and their individuality. They're issued the same clothing and given the same haircuts. Then we observe them going through the punishing physical demands of training.

Of course, all along they are being bullied, abused and whipped into shape by a super-mean, super-tough, but doing-it-all-for-their-

Finally, there comes the time when the hero rebels or cracks or otherwise is in danger of failure. This leads to the resolution. The crisis is overcome and the hero, along with most of his peers, successfully completes the training.

THESE MOVIES VARY just in details, according to which branch of the service is being featured. Often, they are just pieces of pufery for one of the services. Sometimes they are comedies, as in "Private Benjamin" or "Stripes."

Occcasionally, they are even serious dramas. "An Offficer and a Gentleman" is a serious drama.

It follows the plot principles outlined above, but it also differs in some important ways from other movies of its kind. It shows much greater interest in developing believable characters - people who have values, aspirations and pasts that influence their actions. Also, it develops a credible love story that has a spontaneous and earthy quality to it.

Zack Mayo (Richard Gere) is the principal character. His experiences through 13 weeks of Naval Aviation Officer Candidate School provide the structural framework for the movie.

Debra Winger plays his girlfriend, Paula. It's another impressive performance for Winger, who previously was seen as the female lead in "Urban Cowboy" andd "Cannery Row."

DAVUD KEITH PLAYS Zack's friend Sid. Lisa Blount is Paula's friend, Lynette, and Louis Gossett Jr. is the tough sergeant, Foley.

There is a feeling of authenticity about "An Officer and a Gentleman" that undoubtedly stems from the writer's own experience in the military. Douglas Day Stewart, who wrote the script and served as associate producer, did graduate from Naval Officer

He gives us an insider's view of the training program that is interesting in itself. It is the attention to the human relationships, however, that makes this movie above average for its kind.

ZACK DOES not appear to be officer material. He is a streetfighter type and a loner. He does not give of himself or show concern for others. Thre is no doubt about his physical prowess, but his mental attitude and his leadership qualities are in doubt.

Similarly, his girlfriend, who works in a paper factory, does not outwardly seem to fit the role of an officer's wife. Nevertheless, it is Paula's genuine interest in Zack as a person, along with the friendship he develops with another candidate, Sid, that awaken new feelings in Zack that affect his career and his life.

The director, Taylor Hackford, gets excellent performances from the entire cast and develops the story in a way that gives the movie an absorbing, realistic quality.

what's at the movies

ANNIE (PG). The successful Broadway musical is expanded and brought to the screen by director John Huston, with talented Aileen Quinn as Annie and Albert Finney and Carol Burnett.

THE BEST LITTLE WHOREHOUSE IN TEXAS (R). Burt Reynolds and Dolly Parton co-star in the Broadway musical hit about the legendary Chicken Ranch whorehouse in Texas. Screen version has a romance between the sheriff (Reynolds) and Miss Mona (Parton).

BLADE RUNNER (R). Harrison Ford is a detective hunting four defective human replicants who have become killers. Set in Los Angeles in the year 2020.

DINER (R). Comedy drama set in 1959 about five friends and their difficult transition into manhood

E.T. THE EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL (PG). Steven Spielberg's best film yet, and probably the best film of the year, develops story of an alien being stranded on earth and befriended by a young boy.

FIREFOX (PG). Clint Eastwood is an American pilot of an espionage mission to steal the Soviets' most sophisticated warplane.

GREGORY'S GIRL (PG). Romantic comedy about an unlikely 16-yearold romeo whose recent infatuation with the opposite sex has caused hhim to relegate any other considerations unimportant or positively nonexistent

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S SEX COMEDY (PG). Woody Allen returns after a long hibernation with a light period comedy. Stars Woody Allen, Mia Farrow, Jose Ferrer, Julie Hagerty, Tony Roberts and Mary Steenburgen, written and directed by Woody Allen.

NIGHT SHIFT (R). A mixture of broad humor and human comedy centering on friendship of two average New Yorkers who come up with a one-in-a million scheme to strike it rich. Stars Henry Winkler, Michael Keaton and Shelly Long. Directed by Ron Howard.

Charles Lumley III (Henry Winkler) and Belinda Keaton (Shelley Long) encounter unconventional problems in "Night Shift," which opened Friday at Detroit-area the-

Meadow Brook begins 7th week

Kris Kristofferson and Andy Williams headline the seventh week of Meadow Brook Music Festival on the Oakland University campus near Ro-

Kristofferson and special guest star Billy Swan will bring their country sounds to Meadow Brook at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Sergiu Comissiona, music director of the Baltimore Symphony, will lead the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in two concerts, at 8 p.m. Thursday and Sunday. DSO principal violist Nathan Gordon will perform the Walton Concerto for Viola and Orchestra with the DSO on Thursday night, and young violinist Shlomo Mintz will perform Bruch's Concerto No. 1 in G on Sunday night.

Andy Williams fans may hear him sing "Moon River" and "Days of Wine and Roses" at his concert at 8 p.m. Fri-

OTHER THINGS and Company dance troupe will perform in the last of the children's concert series, at 11 a.m. Saturday morning. Carol Halstead, head of the Oakland University Dance Department, directs.

Tex Beneke will take the audience back to the big-band era of the '40s at 8 p.m. Saturday. He will be joined by Johnny Desmond, Helen Foreest and Paula Kelly with the Modernaires.

All concerts are held in the Baldwin Pavilion with entrances on Walton Boulevard and Adams Road. More than 7,000 people can be seated in the pavilion and on the lawn. The grounds are open two hours before evening concerts for picnicking or dining at Trumbull

For tickets, dinner reservations or program information, call the festival box office at 377-2010. Tickets also are available at Hudson's and other CTC locations, Sears and Discount Records.

2nd 'classics' concert offered

A second "Hooked on Classics" concert has been scheduled for Aug. 22 at the Meadow Brook Music Festival because of exceptionally high ticket sales for the Aug. 21 performance, according to a Meadow Brook spokesperson.

A laser light show, produced by Laser Media, is being added to both "Hooked on Classics" shows, which feature Louis Clark, conductor and arranger of the multi-million-selling record album.

The "Hooked on Classics II" album has just been released.

Tickets are available at the festival box office on the Oakland University campus near Rochester (call 377-2010 for charge card orders) and also at Hudson's and other CTC locations, Sears and Discount Records.

for a successful ad)

HOW TO

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're charging.

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

One more thing . . . get up early the day of your sale! When people read about a Garage Sale in Classified, they shop early.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

You're driving along and suddenly the red temperature-warning light goes on. This can happen on a long highway trip or while bogged down in a traf-

In either case, it's an inconvenitnt experience.

The Automotive Information Council offers suggestions on how to keep that warning light from coming on (other than by pulling out the light bulb).

TO PREVENT the failure, AIC urges motorists to check all hoses in the engine compartment at least twice a year. It's a simple matter.

Squeeze the hoses. If even one feels "mushy" or shows fine cracks, it's time to repalce all of them. When one shows signs of weakness, the rest won't be far behind if they all are the same age.

The AIC also advises that all belts be checked at the same time. Look for cracks and frayed edges, and be sure they are not loose. Belt replacements
