Rates hiked for cable TV viewers

By Gary M. Cates and Dennis O'Connor staff writer

Many Omnicom viewers in Plymouth and Plymouth Township are paying more for cable television services because of an Aug. 1 rate increase.

Rates were raised in August from represented a discount rate that has ex- plained

Practice makes perfect seems to be the advice that (from left) Marty Toles, 14, of Northville, Kevin Murray, 15, of Northville, and Skip Schultz, 14, of Canton, are following as Cheryl Toles holds the music.

It's time out for the Plymouth Fife & Drum Corp Corps as the musicians wait for a performance.

Another busy season for fife & drummers

By Carol A. Anderson special writer

"It's a lot of fun"

"I like always taking first place."
"It's work, but it's worth it."

These are typical comments from members of the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps — a group of 47 girls and boys 12 to 18 years old who play the fifes and drums in parades, festivals, and musters throughout Michigan and the eastern states.

This year's members come from Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Northville, Westland and Sterling Hts.

The groups 18th-century uniforms (an authentic replica of George Washington's Life Guard) excellent music and precision marching can sometimes produce a deceiving picture — there's a great deal of hard work and dedication involved in presenting such a polished performance.

Marie Colling, 17, of Northville, for example, encourages people to join the Corps — if they will dedicate themselves. Practices are every Monday evening with special practices scheduled throughout the season. Performances will total almost 60 this year.

Colling joined the corps last year as a fife player and is the only female bass drummer this season.

As a first year fifer, Kevin Murray, 15, of Northville, intends to stay in the corps until he's 18 years old and then, perhaps, pursue a musical career.

"It's real exciting and really fun," he says. "You meet a lot of new people."

Murray was introduced to the organization when Leonard Goren, corps director, came to his school to recruit.

Leading the way in any parade is the Plymouth Corps color guard. Gayle Davenport, a color guard member, is one of the musket carriers. Davenport lives in Plymouth and, at 12 years old, is one of the youngest members.

PARENTS ARE a vital element in the organization. Cheryl Toles of Canton, whose daugher, Mary, 14, is a fifer, describes parents as the backbone of the organization. Fundraising activities, transportation, financial support, and encouragement are only a few of the many contributions mothers and fathers make.

With an 8-year-old and a 4-year-old already excited about the corps, Toles says she could be in the corps for a long time.

Northville resident Colin Martin, president of the corps' board of directors and wife Lynn describe the role of parents as "hectic, but fun." Their sons Scott, 16, and Kevin, 13, are a drummer, and a color guard, respectively.

The efforts of both the Corps members and their parents have produced impressive results. This year the corps participated in three of the largest parades in Michigan: Barvaian Festival in Frankenmuth, Independence Day in Wyandotte, and the Blue Water Festival in Port Huron. Goren estimates the corps will perform for more than two million people this year.

During the recent tour to the Deep River, Conn., the musicians won the highest award (competing against 68 untis) — a sterling silver Victor D. Malcarne Perpetual Challenge Bowl for best crowd response.

At the fireman's parade in Unionville, Conn., they won best overall musical unit competing against 100 different groups.

In fife and drum competition at Cromwell, Conn, the group won firstplace out-of-state awards for best music, color guard, and appearance.

This year, the corps has received the following first place awards: best musical unit, Trenton Memorial Day Parade; best marching unit, Farmington Memorial Day parade; best musical unit, the Sugar Festival, Sebewaing; best marching band, Northville 4th of July parade; best major, Wyandotte Independence Day parade.

The group also was the highest scoring musical unit overall at the Blue Water Festival in Port Huron.

Locally, the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps appears in the County Festival in Canton and will appear at the Plymouth Fall Festival Sept. 12. The season runs into October.

the CEP, and computer instructor Ron Carlson both recommend expansion of the lab at Canton High, for the following reasons:

 Security and span of control would be greater with one lab.

• A single lab would facilitate team teaching.

Brown and Buikema point out that the CEP concept doesn't necessarily support the arguments made for a lab at each high school.

"There are many programs located only in one building, such as radio, TV production, physics, photography, automotive classes, and construction technology. In all, about 40 classes are offered in just one building."

The Apple II computers are relatively portable, the principals added, and can be easily relocated as needed in the future.

Board weighs employee layoffs

By Doug Funke staff writer

Layoffs loom for members of three unions in the Wayne-Westland School District after they refused to accept contract concessions sought by the school board.

The employee groups have rejected a proposal calling for five days off without pay, said William Taylor, assistant superintendent of employee relations in the district.

The unions that rejected the proposal were para-professionals (teachers aids); cafeteria workers, bus drivers and custodians; and skilled maintenance workers.

Those unions have a combined membership of 507.

The school board in a closed meeting Monday authorized administrators to begin preparing layoff lists, Taylor said, but he wouldn't speculate on when the lists would be ready or how many employees will be affected.

"As soon as we can get recommendations back from various divisions, we'll review them with the superintendent, and call them (union leaders) back in to review the scope and specific posi-

"We'll listen to what they have to say," he added. Different contracts stipulate different notice for laying off employees. The contracts also differ on seniority and bumping rights.

The administration said earlier that the concessions or layoffs are needed to save $1.2 million in the current operating budget.

TWO EMPLOYEE groups - principals and assistant principals (46 members) and central office administrators (34) — have agreed to the five days off without pay, Taylor said.

A response was expected from leadership of the 149-member secretaries union sometime yesterday, Taylor said, but wasn't available at press time.

Taylor will present the proposal to the 10 executive secretaries employed by the district Monday, he said.

The teachers union has agreed to forego a 2-percent pay increase scheduled to take effect Sept. 1 until no later than Oct. 22, Taylor said. The teachers union is the largest bargaining group in the district, with 1,000 members,

All information on state aid and revenues generated by local taxes will be available by Oct. 22, Taylor said.

"If (teachers) concessions do not come in October, it's very clear we will treat all employee groups the same, and layoffs will come as soon as possible," he said.

Class periods could be cut from 55 to 45 minutes at the secondary level and about 70 teachers let go when the second semester begins in early February, Taylor said.

THERE'S NO certainty layoffs can be avoided even with concessions, Tay-

"What we've said is if you don't agree to concessions, we guarantee you there will be layoffs," Taylor said.

"If you agree, it's entirely possible there won't be layoffs, but we cannot give you that absolute guarantee because we don't have dollar figures in front of us.'

There's still time for the unions that rejected the concessions to reconsider and perhaps avoid layoffs, Taylor be-

"I would look upon it very favorably," he said, adding he's sure the board would, too.

A spokesman for the custodians, cafeteria workers and bus drivers cited two reasons the union's membership rejected the concessions.

"We would just as soon go to the table and talk concessions rather than have them dictate to us," she said. "Our senior people just didn't want to give it up. They just don't want to lose the

How the community college got its name

(Part XIV)

Edward V. McNally, English instructor and counselor at Delta College, joined Schoolcraft College as assistant dean of students on Sept. 1, 1963.

Two years later, McNally, who had his master's degree from the University of Minnesota, became dean of student affairs at Schoolcraft when Lois Waterman retired.

McNally was named vice president of student affairs in 1968. When the college's second president (Dr. C. Nelson Grote) left for Spokane in mid-1981, McNally served as interim president of Schoolcraft for about six months.

It was then (late last summer) that the college's third president, (Dr. Richard W. McDowell) arrived.

McNally, who officially retired Dec. 31, 1981, says one of the first jobs Waterman gave him when he joined her at the old Newburgh School was to select the college colors.

He went from store to store, picking up color samples, and feeling a little bit foolish "in a task I was not cut out for." The college colors became blue and gold.

AMONG HIS OTHER duties, McNally consulted with Veterans' Administration authorities to make sure the college programs were acceptable for veterans' benefits.

past and present

He also remembers setting up a Student Senate Workshop in June 1964, several months before the college opened (an example of the foresight characterizing much of the work done by the small cadre of administrators before the first student body arrived).

Made up of 12 high school students who intended to enter the college, this provisional student senate laid plans for a constitution which they submitted to the student body in October.

The students who participated in the workshop were selected on the basis of citizenship, character and leadership in their respective high schools.

They included Barbara Bender and Thomas Blunk from Plymouth High School; James Driscoll and Sally Kandal from Livonia Bentley; Pamela Beers and Michael Steffes from Clarenceville High; David Linderman and Nancy Rochette from Livonia Franklin: Fred Bailey and Bonnie Boatman from Garden City High; and Ann Moase and William Wilson from Northville High.

"NORTHWEST WAYNE County Community College," the jaw-breaker with which the board first saddled the institution, soon began to lose its charm. The trustees decided to change

In November 1962, they announced a 'name-the-college" contest, offering as the prize a two-year, full-tuition scholarship to be used by any person the winner designated.

When the contest ended on Dec. 15, 'Eleanor Roosevelt College" was among the many names submitted. Others made use of the names of John F. Kennedy, Robert Frost, Kismet, Excelsior, Norwayne, Greenglade, Skyline, Rouge Valley, John Pierce (Michigan's first superintendent of public instruction), and Father Gabriel Richard (who actively promoted education in Michigan in the early 1800s).

None of these appealed to the board. Rejecting them all, the board proceeded to name the college after Henry Rowe Schoolcraft.

The motion to adopt the name was made by board member Jane Moehle. Moehle and Waterman had spent some time at the Burton historical section of the main Detroit Library looking up possible names for the college.

The librarian at Burton had called their attention to Schoolcraft and his achievements in Michigan.

AS A SCHOLAR, author, Indian agent and explorer, Henry Rowe Schoolcraft was influential in the early development of the state.

In 1822, he was Indian agent at Sault Ste. Marie for the tribes of Lake Supe-

Historical Society of Michigan. From 1837 to 1841, he was a member of the first Board of Regents of the University of Michigan.

Among other writers, James Russell Lowell and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow were inspired by the books about Indians written by Schoolcraft. Longfellow gained his material for the poem "Hiawatha' from Schoolcraft.

The contest to name the college prompted Pat Butler, director of the college's library, to write a tongue-incheck gem about the process.

Entitled "How to Name a College Sort Of," it appeared in the Junior College Journal in February 1968. One reason the older name was not popular, rior. In 1828, he helped organize the wrote Butler, was that "the girl at the switchboard found it difficult to repeat 'Northwest Wayne County Community College' brightly at three minute intervals without losing her cool by coffee break time.'

The name also was cumbersome when used in newspaper headlines. Butler posited an abbreviation like "No.We.Wa.Co.Co.Co." but predicted that it would flop because "when read aloud, it tended to remind readers of the sound track of an old Tarzan film."

The final blow to the old name, said Butler, came when a sports-minded trustee spent a whole week, without success, trying to work up'a shoutable cheer around "Northwest Wayne County Community College."

Among the names submitted in the contest, Butler said he could not work much enthusiasm for "Plyvonia College," although he concluded that it was better that "Livmouth College. He also conceded that his own favorite, "Taxpayer's Tech," never had a

At one point, Butler wrote, the trustees were going to call it "Henry Rowe Schoolcraft Community College." But one trustee balked.

"Hell's bells," he exclaimed, "that name is longer than the first one. Thirty-seven letters in it, only thirty-six in the one we got now." Remarked Butler: "He was not an unkind trustee, but he had a mathematical mind." (To be continued)

Political plans go astray

MANY YEARS ago, a sage remarked that the best-laid plans of mice and men often go astray.

There is no time of the year when the truth of this old statement is borne out more than at election time. And no one knows this better than The Stroller.

It was the reason he cast aside thoughts of a political career and stuck to journalism, with a bit of charity work on the side.

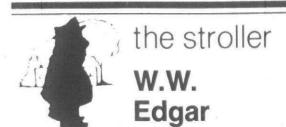

It started when the Holland Dutch in the Michigan Legislature gathered enough strength to force horse racing off state-owned property. Looking for a place to carry on, the followers of the horses left the State Fair Grounds in Detroit and took options on two farms in Livonia.

This was a big move for the folks who had been cultivating the 17 farms in Livonia Township. When The Stroller pointed out there was $500,000 at stake from betting and suggested the township be incorporated into a home-rule city, he was asked to serve on a committee.

THAT WAS the start. After the folks voted for incorporation, The Stroller was named to the charter commission and later to the vice presidency of the City Council.

After six years at the council table, he thought the time had come to move up to the top — the mayor's chair.

A program was well planned. One feature was to give detailed speeches outlining the future of this farmland. To help with the spoken word, he had an easel showing each section of the area and what he planned to make of it.

Veteran politicians — including Detroit's late Mayor Albert Cobo, for whom the convention hall in Detroit is named — claimed it was the best planned program for the evolution of a new city.

Everywhere the speech was delivered with the easel, it was applauded. There were all sorts of plans for the future, and The Stroller was looked upon as the man to lead the transformation — at least it looked that way. From all appearances, he was the favorite come election day.

THE DAY broke in splendor. The weather was fine, and it was ideal for a huge turnout. From polling place to polling place he went and was greeted royally at each stop.

Several union officials told him he was a cinch to win, and that he should go home to rest for the real celebration. The world looked rosy Then they asked for a meeting.

But when the votes were counted, The Stroller, with his election plans and great plans for the evolution of the city, finished absolutely last in a fourman field. There was no reason to ask for a recount

The best laid plans had gone astray, and The Stroller left the political scene for all time.

The gas tank on Ninni's car, a 1974 Chrysler, ruptured on impact and both cars burst into flames, Haigh said.

Navarro, meanwhile, continued eastbound on Joy, Haigh said, veered over the shoulder and struck a telephone pole, shearing it in half.

ON HIDING PARTIAL CLASPS The basic design of the removable partial is a framework of metal with metal clasps that grip the supporting teeth and hold the appliance in the mouth. There is generally acrylic over the ridge areas (the area of missing teeth) to support the replace-

Most of the esthetic problems with a removable partial have to do with the clasps or hooks that hold it in place. Patients feel that the illusion of naturalness is defeated by the hooks that immediately indicate "removable denture."

The simplest way of overcoming this is to alter the design of the partial. Retention and stability may still be obtained with smaller, thinner clasps. Clasps can be further hidden by placing them as far back on the tooth as possible. This is a very delicate procedure, however, because if the clasp is reduced too much, it loses its function. A partial that doesn't stay in the mouth is valueless, no matter how esthetic it is. However, dentistry has come a long way in combining function with pleasing appearance in the area of den-

Court of Appeals, 2 circuit judgeships open

Although Democratic and Republican primaries are getting most of the attention, voters Tuesday also will decide two nonpartisan judicial races in Wayne County.

Five candidates are seeking a seat on the state Court of Appeals from the first district, which consists of Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties.

You may vote for one. The two top vote-getters will face off on Nov. 2, with the winner replacingthe retiring Nathan J. Kaufman for a six-year

Shhh! There's millage on ballot

Hardly anyone is discussing it, but there is a one-mill property tax increase on Tuesday's primary ballot.

Proposal A, if passed, would bring about $18 million into Wayne County's coffers, enough to cover the projected 1982 deficit.

Even those members of the Board of Commissioners who voted to put it on the ballot aren't campaigning for it.

Instead they hope to prove to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission they have exhausted every possible method of raising revenue and seek permission to borrow to meet payrolls.

The tax would last one year. One mill equals $1 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. It would cost the owner of a house with a market value of $60,000 about $30 per year, minus a possible state income tax rebate.

IF THE TAX hike is rejected, Wayne County will be unable to meet its payroll in a few weeks. In June, the Board of Commissioners voted 14-7 to cancel layoffs of 670 employees and see the tax hike instead. Prior to recinding the layoffs, the board in May had approved the layoffs, hoping the action would encourage $11 million in wage concessions from county employees. County unions rejected the concessions.

All leading candidates for Wayne County executive in the primary are opposing the millage.

The county faces an estimated $16.7 million deficit. The deficit is a result of present year revenue shortfalls of $5.6 and discuss specifics for future negotimillion and over-expenditures of $11.1

Commissioner Mary E. Dumas, R-Livonia, said she is concerned the millage will fail and that county offices will be forced to shut their doors.

"I don't think it's a realistic expectation to think the millage will pass. People are up in arms over taxes," she

TO DETERMINE where cuts should be made, the board's Ways and Means Committee appointed a three-member panel consisting of a representative of the labor board, the county fiscal adviser and a civil service representative to review the union's reports, draft a list of people proposed to be laid off ations. The panel recommended the following layoffs: • 228 Wayne County General Hospital employees.

 County clerk personnel. Employees in the corporation counsel department.

• Employees of the county probate

· Attorneys in the prosecuting attorney's office.

But Prosecutor Wailliam Cahalan received a court injunction barring layoffs in his department. Sheriff William Lucas also reported he would go to court seeking a departmental layoff

DINNIER FROM THE DELT

Delicatessens have been flourishing for two hundred years. They originated in Germany where hundreds of smoked meat items were produced. The shops became known for their fine array of ready-to-eat foods, and soon cheeses, robust salads, specialty breads and a variety of mustards were added to please customer tastes.

During the 1900's emigrant butchers and shopkeepers brought their special recipes to America and started the first delicatessens here, mostly in larger cities. Deli pastrami sandwiches, corned beef on rye sandwiches, dill pickles and macaroni salad have long been popular in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago. Travelers often sought out these items when visiting the cities.

It wasn't until the mid 1970's that deli departments started cropping up in supermarkets. Shoppers told their grocers they wanted a place where they could buy quality cheese and meats and other specialty foods. Shoppers added that they were also looking for personal attention, good service and the opportunity to order just the quantity of food they wanted.

To answer that need, the supermarket deli was born. In 1977 only 34% of newly opened stores had delis. By 1980 the service deli was included in most new supermarkets and many older stores were installing them. Today virtually all large supermarkets, stores with sales of $1,000,000 or more a year, are equipped with deli counters. It's easy to understand why they're so popular.

The deli stocks a mouth-watering array of products not always found on the store's grocery shelves. The quality is consistently high. And the person behind the counter provides plenty of oldfashioned service-such as letting you sample a cheese before you buy, or giving advice on how to serve a product that's new to you.

Quality and service, however, aren't the only benefits. Add convenience and getting just the amount you want, and you can see how neatly the supermarket deli fits today's lifestyles.

For example, the growing number of one-member and two-member households often find it hard to buy small portions. Not so at the grocery deli. You can buy single servings of salads and pastas or just a few slices of meat or cheese.

Working wives and mothers also find delis an invaluable source for quick, delicious meals. And, since the kitchen is no longer solely a woman's domain men and teenagers also shop and cook the deli offers an ideal way for any busy cook to put together a meal or party in a hurry.

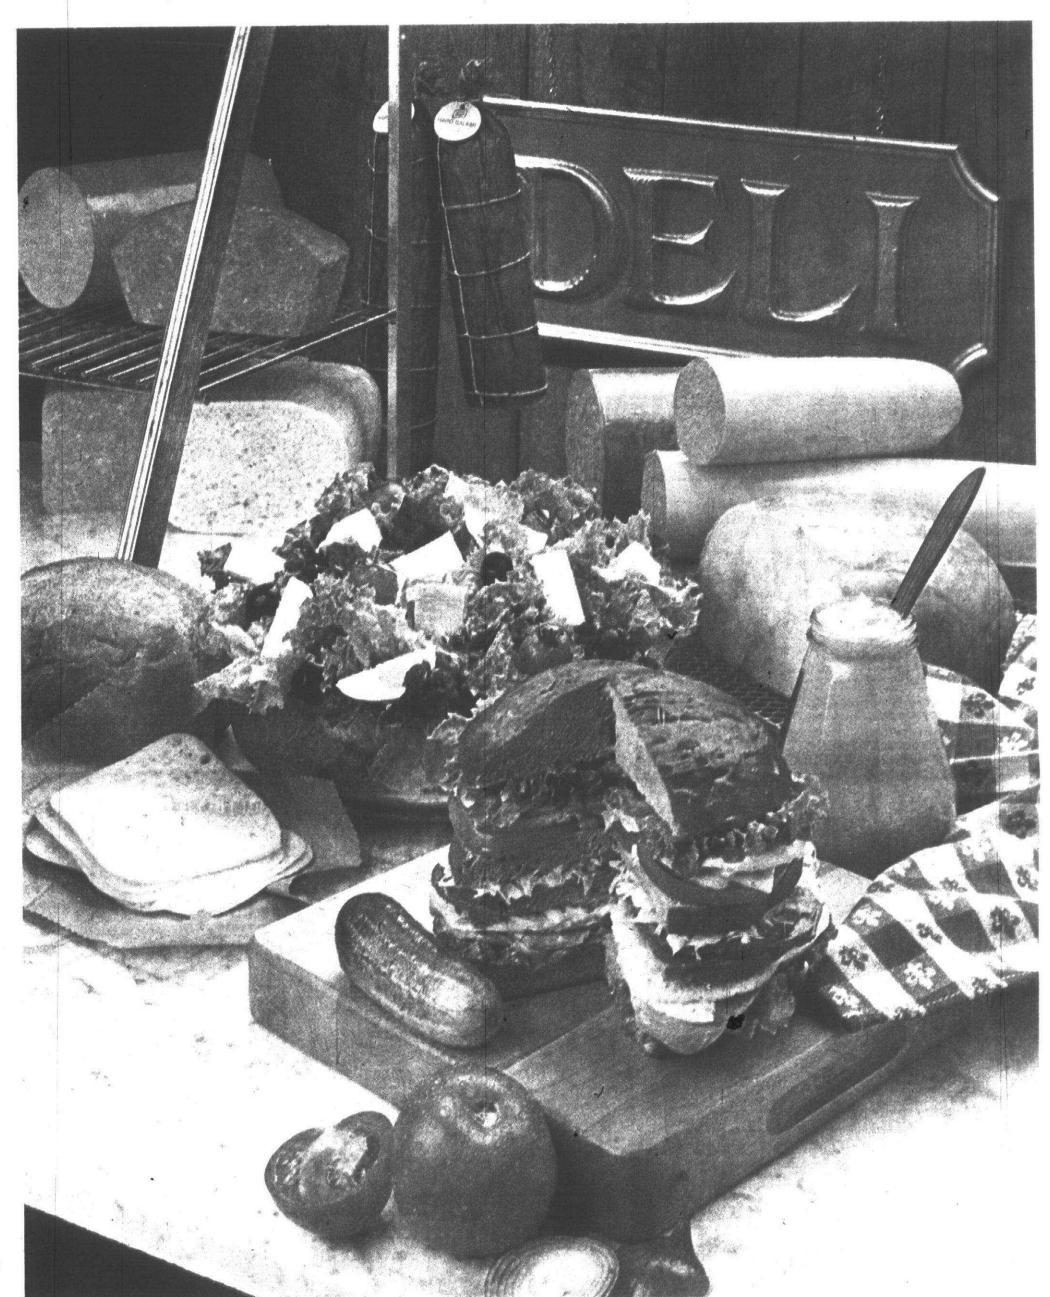

Remember the deli at party time, too. There are special platters with a variety of meats and cheeses, breads and crackers. Or you can buy the foods and arrange them yourself. Deli foods and sandwiches travel well on picnics, camping or hiking outings and on boat trips.

Deli food also meets the needs of today's nutrition-conscious consumer. The breads, from spicy rye to dark pumpernickle, are high in B-vitamins. The salads provide roughage and a wide variety of vitamins; meats and cheese are excellent sources of protein. The condiments that go with deli foods such as mustard and pickles are low in calories. And, if you have a special dietary concern, the deli department has many options.

The next time you stop at the grocery to pick up something for dinner, head straight for the deli department. Get a loaf of crusty bread, cheese, ham, turkey breast and salad for a side dish. Then, since spicy mustard is a "must" for sandwiches and cold cuts, pick up Gulden's brown mustard. When you get home you can build a sensational sandwich, or put together an appetizing cold plate in a matter of minutes.

Dinner from the deli is not only fast,

it's delicious!

Slice a large round loaf (1-1/2 lbs.) of cracked wheat, light or dark rye bread horizontally into four layers. Spread each layer with brown mustard and assemble:

Bottom layer: Leaf lettuce, 1/2 lb. thin sliced ham and 1/2 lb. sliced Lorraine cheese.

Middle layer: 1/4 lb. thin sliced hard salami and 1/2 lb. (1 cup) coleslaw.

Top layer: Leaf lettuce, 1/2 lb. sliced turkey, tomato slices and sliced onion.

Close sandwich with top crust. Insert 8 long skewers through top crust to bottom of sandwich. Garnish each skewer with cherry tomatoes, olives, pickles or cocktail onions. Cut sandwich into 8 wedges between skewers. Eat like a watermelon. Makes 8 servings.

Pork strips make salad a main dish

Surely one of the most fun food categories for the creative cook is maindish salads. The mix-and-match combinations of meats, vegetables, fruits and dressings are almost endless.

Just when you think you've tried all the salad possibilities, along comes another - like Layered Pork Salad. It's a unique creation that's sure to spark appetites at any luncheon or supper.

Thin strips of cooked pork are the star ingredient in this salad that layers fresh spinach leaves, blanched cauliflowerettes and alfalfa aprouts. Apricot halves offer a bright, colorful note while chopped pecans add a crunch. Since this salad brings together so many flavors, a simple red wine vinegar and oil dressing serves well to blend them.

While the salad is pleasing palates, it can also help stretch the food dollar when made with leftover pork. All will agree that leftovers never tasted better. You'll want to plan ahead for this salad when preparing a pork roast such as a blade, center rib or loin, sirloin or top loin. When deciding the size roast you'll need, you can count on 2-21/2 servings per pound for bone-in cuts and 3-31/2 servings per pound for boneless

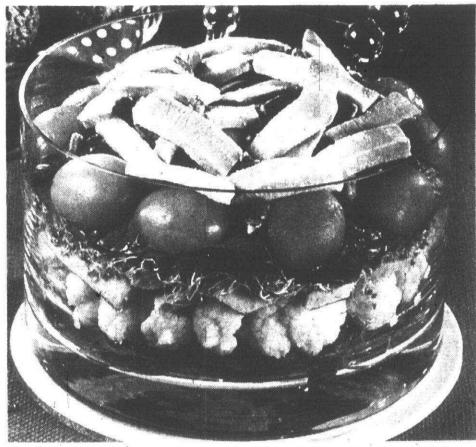

For leftover pork with optimum flavor and eating quality, it is important that the pork roast be properly prepared. It should be placed on a rack in an open roasting pan and cooked in a slow oven. For the most juicy, tender results, the roast should be cooked only to an internal temperature of 170 degrees as indicated on a roast meat ther-

The leftover pork should be left in large pieces and promptly wrapped and placed in the refrigerator. Cooked pork can be safely stored in the refrigerator for four to five days or in the freezer for two to three months.

One of the joys of a main dish salad is the ease with which the accompanying menu can be completed. Simply serve Layered Pork Salad with warm raisin-bran muffins and a dessert of fresh strawberry sundaes.

LAYERED PORK SALAD 3/4-1 lb. cooked pork, cut into thin strips 3/4 tsp. salt

⅓ tsp. pepper 1 lb. spinach

2 cups cauliflowerettes, blanched 1 cup alfalfa sprouts, rinsed and drained 1 can (8% oz.) apricot halves, drained 4 cup coarsely chopped pecans 1/3 cup red wine vinegar ⅓ cup oil

Sprinkle salt and pepper over pork. Tear spinach into bit size pieces; place half in bottom of a 6-cup glass bowl. Place cauliflowerettes over spinach, then add half of the pork strips and the alfalfa sprouts. Place remaining spinach on top of alfalfa sprouts. Arrange apricot halves on top of spinach; top with remaining pork strips. Garnish with chopped nuts, if desired. Combine red wine, vinegar and oil; poor over salad. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours. Makes 4 servings.

FINE FELINES from across the country and Canada are being groomed for the big championship cat show this Saturday and Sunday at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

Cat Fanciers Inc., sponsor of the show, expects half a million dollars worth of prize long and short hair cats in the show

A select jury will evaluate 26 exotic pedigreed breeds as they compete for national and international awards.

They also will judge the plain old household pets. One of the highlights of the show will be the presentation of the "finicky Morris award" for the winning household pet.

More than 10,000 spectators attended last year's show. Admission is $3 adults; senior citizens, $1; and youths, $1. All proceeds go to support humane feline research at Michigan State University small animal clinic, neuter-spay programs in southeastern Michigan, juvenile departments in public libraries and the Michigan Humane Society..

JOHN KREIGER of

Burroughs Street, Plymouth will have his paintings at the invitational exhibit at Meadow Brook Hall the weekend of Aug. 21 and 22. "Art at Meadow Brook," is the sixth annual exhibit and sale of fine arts and crafts in the courtyard of the majestic mansion on the campus of Oakland University. Show hours will be 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day; admission is free.

Booths and works of 100 artists will line the circle drive and courtyard of the 100-room tudor mansion in Rochester. artists from Michigan, Ohio and Canada will exhibit their works in fiber art, painting, pottery, leather art, soft and hard sculpture, graphics, glass, jewelry, iron work, marionettes and miniatures.

Refreshments will be available and Meadow Brook Hall's summer tea room will be open to those attending the show. The hall will also be open for touring as usual.

Creative Council, sponsor of the show, had its origins in the Continuum Center of Oakland University. The group was founded there in 1968 to encourage and inform women in art. Meadow Brook Hall is the former home of Matilda Dodge Wilson, widow of auto pioneer John F.

Dodge. Built in 1926-29 at a cost of $4 million, the hall is now operated as a cultural and conference center of Oakland University. Both the cat show and the art show are inexpensive family outings within a short drive from here. And unless you have your own private mansion, Meadow Brook Hall and the Hyatt Regency do take you out of your mundane world.

THE CANTON Historical Society is accepting items of interest for its museum on Canton Center Road. The renovated school house is ready and waiting.

THE JULY/AUGUST issue of Michigan History magazine has an article about Michigan's female folk artists.

Among the 19th century artists, it mentions Celeste Young of Plymouth. In 1856, she "looked out her window and painted a scene that records the lumbering industry of 19th century Michigan. The inscription on the back of 'Adam's Mill' reads, 'This old saw mill once stood at the corner of Ford and Lotz roads, about four miles southeast of Plymouth, painted by Celeste Young, a school girl who used to live across the road from the mill."

Wonder if any more of her paintings are in existence and if the Canton Historical Museum has one?

Each summer since 1955, the Michigan Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association has conducted a camp program for youngsters with diabetes. The goal is to provide the fun of camping while teaching them that they can participate in all youthful activities as long as those activities are dove-tailed with sound nutritional and medical

Camp for young diabetics is place to talk it over

By Loraine McClish staff writer

The rap sessions scheduled at Camp Midicha have become one of the most meaningful activities counselors provide for the 100 or so young diabetics they meet each week throughout the

"Our job is to get them to open up, get them to talk about how they feel about themselves and their problem," said Jill Cole, speaking for the coun-

"Our job is to ask the right questions to start the discussion rolling, and I know them all," the Birmingham resident said.

Cole, who finished her degree in social work at Wayne State University this spring, has been a diabetic for 19 years. She's spent many of her childhood summers in Camp Midicha, and like many of her counterparts, returned as an adult to help youngsters - as she was helped.

"We didn't have the rap sessions when I was this age," she said speaking of her 8- to-12-year-old charges this summer. "But I had the same secret feelings that I'm now able to help these campers voice.

"So many have no one at home their own age to talk to about how they feel."

IF CAMP Midicha, which takes its name from the words Michigan Diabetes Children's Association, had a motto, it would undoubtedly be 'Accent the Positive.

"Returning campers are the happiest thing that can happen to us," said Mary Lutzo, who is now resource person for the counselors.

"When we see them coming back, we know we've done something right. We've helped them cope and they're doing it without bitterness. You can't ask more out of a week at camp."

The Southfield resident, who is earning an education degree at Michigan State University, has been a diabetic for 16 years. Her summer job is evaluating how the counselors "are helping the kids grow," she said.

Both counselors and staff, the large majority of whom are diabetics, are hired because their own lifestyle acts as a model for the campers.

Orientation for the staff is given late in June with the across-the-board phi-

"I can do anything I want as long as I take care of myself," Lutzo said.

"Every activity is very carefully planned. Everything you see going on is timed to instill the daily discipline that is required to balance insulin injections with diet and exercise," she said.

WHAT THE visitor sees going on is much the same as in any summer camp for youngsters: swimming, canoeing, campfires, groups involved in making crafts or studying nature.

But a group spotted making cookies for a late-night snack was also being given a running commentary on the food content of that recipe Another group had swimming time called to a halt because it was time for a glass of juice down on the beach. And all camp activities are called to a halt four times a day so the campers can have their urine checked. Camp Midicha is in its 28th season with a six-week schedule in the lower peninsula near Columbiaville and a 10week schedule in the upper peninsula

'Zany 'Night Shift' propels a nebbish into fast-paced life

"Night Shift" (R) is a sleeper, and I don't mean dull. It's unexpectedly lively and funny.

It slipped into town with no hoopla or fanfare, none of the multimillion-dollar hype that has become almost ordinary. On the surface, it wouldn't seem to merit much hoopla.

It stars Henry Winkler whose previous movies haven't been blockbusters and who is getting a bit mature to still be playing "the Fonz" on "Happy Days." It was directed by Ron Howard, also of the "Happy Days" gang. What? Howard, a director? And it was written by Lowell Ganz and Babaloo Mandel. Don't ask me who

So this is a movie you go to without any terrific expectations. That, of course, added to the pleasure of discovering this nifty, little, unprepossessing movie. Not the greatest thing since sprockets were punched into film, but not bad.

WINKLER DEVELOPS a character totally opposite from his television role. Charles Lumley is a spineless, neurotic, sweet nebbish. He can't handle any stressful situation. He is easily intimidated. He is always on the receiving end of every insult life has to

He can't walk to his apartment without a vicious dog chasing him. A blind musician harasses him. The neighborhood restaurant never gets his order right. His girlfriend (Gina Hecht) is more interested in losing weight than making love, and the only thing that interests her more than losing weight is eating a Nestle Crunch.

Chuck works the night shift at the city morgue. It's a nice quiet job, or it would be except for Billy Blaze (Michael Keaton), the new man hired to work with Chuck.

Billy is the opposite of Chuck. He's a brash, fast-talking human dynamo. He also is "an idea man," and one of his ideas proves to be wildly successful. He convinces Chuck of the advantages of running a call-girl operation from the morgue.

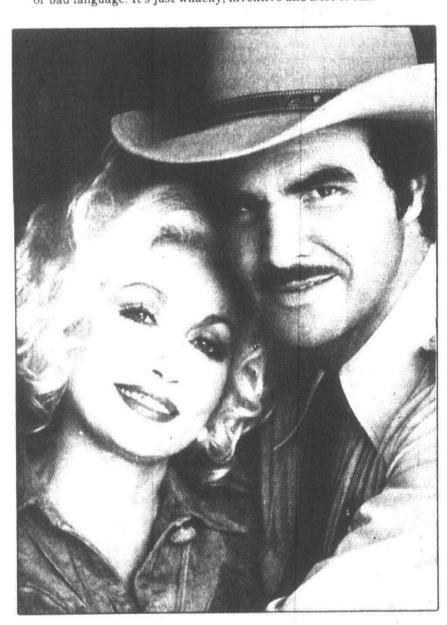

Chuck handles the incoming calls and manages the money. Billy chauffeurs the women to their destinations.

THERE ARE complications, however. Chuck falls for one of the girls, Belinda (Shelley Long), and suffers guilt pangs because he is still engaged. He worries about the morality of being a "love broker." And last but not least, some muscle-men are after Chuck and Billy for not cutting in the local rackets boss on their operation.

The comedy does lose some of its sparkle in the last half, but it is still a little gem. The humor is bright and clever, with more than a hint of Woody Allen in the neurotic character of Chuck.

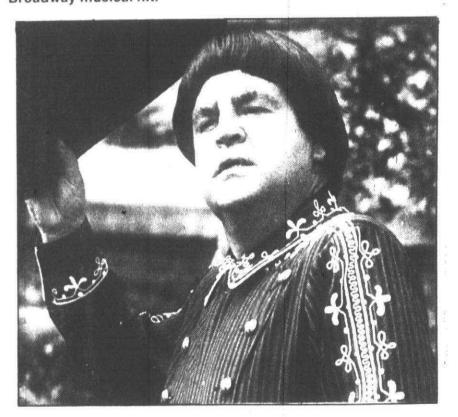

Keaton as the crazy extrovert Billy is a perfect foil for Winkler's Chuck, and Shelley Long is both sexy and sweet as the prostitute and Chuck's lover.

Because of the plot, it's important to point out that "Night Shift is not a sleazy movie. It is not sexy, and it is not filled with nudity or bad language. It's just whacky, inventive and a lot of fun.

Livonia hangs on to claim Adray playoff title

By C.J. Risak staff writer

If something comes easy, it's never as appreciated as a goal accomplished after a hard-fought, difficult struggle.

Livonia Adray team members may agree with that now, but no doubt they would have opted for the easier route Friday night instead of the tumultuous trek to the winners' circle they were forced to follow.

The Livonia team blew leads of six and five runs before finally forcing a pesky Westland-Redford Adray squad to succumb, 10-9 at Ford Field in a game that decided who would represent the circuit at the AAABA national tournament in Johnstown, Pa., starting Aug. 16.

MIKE SCHNEIDER, who had struck out twice in four previous trips to the plate and was hitless on the evening, blooped a soft single to center field with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth to drive in the winning run.

Schneider's hit saddled Westland-Redford reliever Ralph Scharf with the loss. Scharf started the inning taking over for Brad George, who had hurled 61/3 effective innings in relief of starter Dave Czarnota.

Scharf had control problems, however, walking the bases full before Schneider delivered his game-winning Martin Vucinaj, the third Livonia pitcher, went the final 11/3 innings to earn the win.

"Nothing seems to come easy for us." s said a happy Ron Hellier, the Livonia Adray coach. "But you have to give them (Westland-Redford) credit. They played 18 long innings out there."

The Westland-Redford squad, coming out of the loser's bracket, beat Michigan National Bank, 6-3, earlier Friday to qualify to play Livonia. Had the Westland-Redford team beat Livonia, it would have had to play Livonia again Saturday, something the team's coach, Rodger George, said would have been difficult.

"WE THREW everybody we had at them tonight," George admitted, adding, "But we never gave in. These guys came back and went out in style."

That they did. Livonia struck quickly, scoring six runs (five unearned) in the first two innings.

Larry Mulka hit Czarnota's first pitch over the left field fence and, with two out and a man on, Nino Devitis sent another of Czarnota's deliveries into the trees beyond left field 3-0 lead after one inning.

An error, a wild pitch and a Mulka single got Livonia its first run of the second. Bill Kopanakis doubled Mulka home and Ken Lowery's base hit got Kopanakis across for a 6-0 Livonia

But Westland-Redford stormed back with four runs in the fifth, thanks in part to a pair of Livonia errors. Joe Humphries, a Plymouth Salem grad, singled in one run and Al Rasky brought in two others with a single.

LIVONIA ADDED a run in the sixth on Mulka's third hit, a triple, and pushed in two more in the seventh on a single by Devitis and a bounce out by Dave Slavin, another Salem alumnus.

But Westland-Redford rallied again in the eighth. Livonia starter Mike Tetreault surrendered a one-out single to George and John Recker was summoned from the bullpen.

Westland-Redford hammered Recker. John Hetkowski doubled and scored on Kevin Stanicz's single, then Recker walked a pair to load the bases. That brought Vucinaj in from the pen.

Tony DeMare greeted Vucinaj with a triple to right, bringing in three more runs and tying the score at 9-all. De-Mare tried to score the go-ahead run moments later on Steve Gray's bouncer to short, but Mulka threw him out at the plate.

Mulka and Devitis each drove in three runs with three hits for Livonia. The winners finished with 10 hits in the game, five for extra bases.

DeMare had three hits and three RBI for Westland-Redford. Humphries and George collected two hits apiece, as Westland-Redford totalled 11 hits in LIVONIA ADRAY qualified for Friday's final on the strength of its 2-0 shutout of Michigan National Bank in the second-round of the league playoffs Wednesday.

Larry Walker threw one-hit baseball against MNB to pick up the victory. Walker pitched 8% innings, striking out seven and walking three. Recker came in and pitched to one batter and finished off Michigan National in the ninth inning to pick up the

Steve Peters pitched seven innings for the losing team, with Bob Warren relieving Peters in the eighth. Peters had fanned seven in his stint and Warren struck out three and walked two. Livonia started the game out by scoring a run in its half of the first in-

MULKA AND Ken Surcina each reached base by way of bases on balls and Mulka scored on an RBI single off the bat of DeVitis.

That was the only score until the sixth inning, when Livonia drew blood again.

Surcina ripped a lead-off single and wound up on second base following a ground out. A single by Slavin drove Surcina home with the final tally of the Livonia Adray had two runs on six hits and committed two errors while Michigan National Bank had no runs, one hit and committed one error.

DEARBORN VACUUM lost its second consecutive Adray League tournament extra inning game as Westland-Redford came from behind to defeat Dearborn, 6-5, in 11 innings

Dearborn started the game by picking up two runs in the first inning, adding one in the second and two more in the fourth and cruised into the bottom of the ninth inning with a 5-0 lead.

But Dearborn starter Charles Johnson, who had a one-hitter going into the bottom half of the ninth inning, could not get out a batter and was pulled from the game after Westland-Redford scored three runs.

Rick Giese came in to relieve Johnson and was tagged with the loss.

Giese threw three innings and gave up two runs on three hits, walked three and did not strike out a batter.

George, in relief of starter Dan Funkhowser, got credit for the victory.

GEORGE DID NOT allow a run in three innings of work and he allowed only one hit and one walk while striking out five.

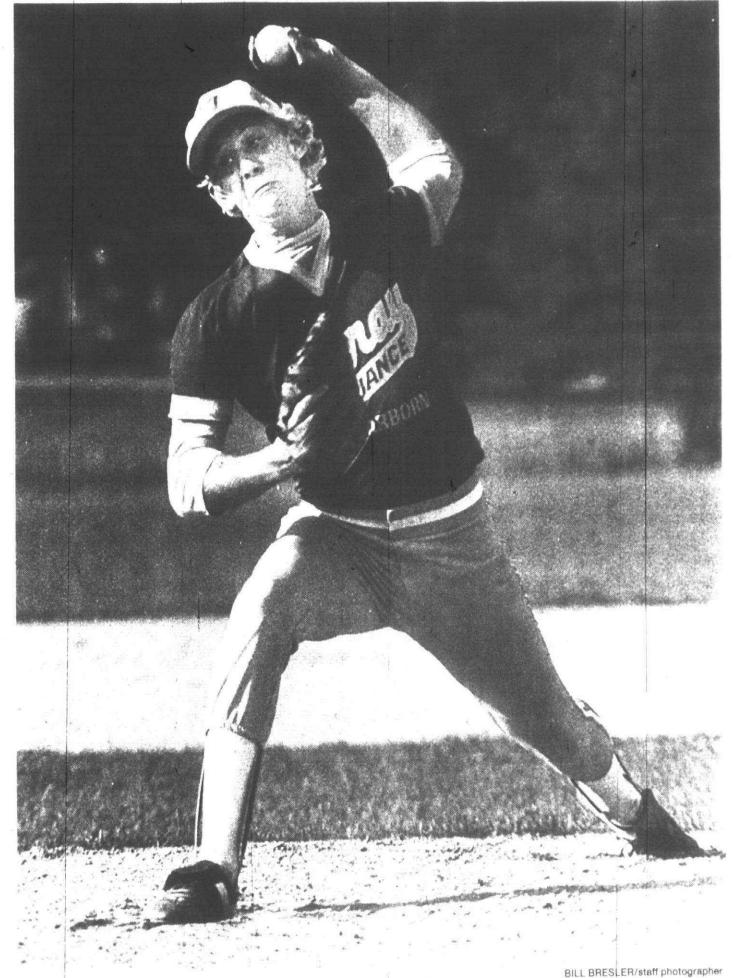

Funkhowser gave up five runs on nine hits, walked five and struck out four, during his eight innings of work.

Westland scored its winning run in the bottom of the ninth on an error on the Dearborn third baseman.

Westland's Gray led off the inning with a double and was sacrificed to third by DeMare. After a pop out, Humphries was intentionally walked to set up a force play at second. Rasky hit the ball to third and the throw was off its mark, scoring Gray with the winning

Smith eyes Twin future

By Roger Hart staff writer

The game of professional baseball has offered many young men exciting lives filled with plenty of travel, celebrity status and very high salaries.

Doug Smith, a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School, is hoping to get a taste of that life. He began his career in professional baseball with the Minnesota Twins farm team in Elizabethton, Tenn., of the rookie league this summer.

Smith, 22, had 18 career victories at Plymouth Canton. Then he continued his baseball career at Liberty Baptist College in Lynchberg, Va., where he was 22-12 over four years with an earned run average right around 3.00. His younger brother Dan was the pitching ace on a Canton team that made it to the Class A state finals this June.

For his efforts at Liberty Baptist, Smith was named the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics player of the year in 1982.

Smith graduated from Liberty Baptist May 10 and was was drafted by the Twins June 14 in the 29th round. Following the draft, he reported to Florida for two weeks of training before reporting for the June 22 start of the Elizabethton club's sea-

CURRENTLY, Smith is working as a short-reliever for the team and has an 0-4 record with three saves and an excellent 1.88 ERA.

Despite his poor won-loss record, Smith is happy about his performance among the pros.

"I've really done well here so far," Smith said, "But my record surely doesn't indicate it.

"We really have some good ballplayers on this team, and when I've come in for short relief work, it has been in bad circumstances, and that is why I have the poor win record, but I have been real happy with my ERA," Smith said. Smith is very positive when reflecting on his two months in pro baseball.

"I love it! I think it's great," he said.

Currently, the Minnesota Twins are mired in last place in the American League Western Division, 221/2 games out of first place.

EARLIER THIS season, the Twins management made a housecleaning, ridding the ball club of many veterans and their high salaries in favor of ballplayers with less experience - and lower sala-

The sister combination of Denise and Susie McLeod from Livonia walked, actually roller skated, away with six medals in speed roller skating competition from the 1982 National Sports Festival at Indianapolis.

Denise, 20, took fourth in the 1000 meters, second in both the 1500 meters and the 3000 meters and skated a leg on the champion Four Lady Relay

Susie, 18, took two third places on relay teams. She skated legs on the Four Lady and the Four Mixed relay teams.

Both women are in Fort Worth, Texas, this week participating in the National Indoor and Outdoor Rolling skating championships. Denise is the defending outdoor national champion, and she finished third in the indoor championships last year

Shootout win helps Survivors to 3rd

The Survivors from the Canton Soccer Club took third place in the Adidas Youth Soccer Tournament for boys under the age of 14 July 31 and Aug.1 at Fuhrmann Junior High School in Sterling Heights.

The Survivors, coached by Bob and Cam Hoffman, scored a 3-1 first-round victory over the Bonanza Livonia Cardinals with goals by Duke Dameron, Danny Jakubowski and Robert Hutton. Kevin Freeman, Dameron and Mark Fisher notched respective assists on the goals.

The highlight of the tournament for the Canton team came in the second round. A 3-0 Survivor loss to Sport Club 24, coupled with the Cardinals' 4-1 defeat of Sport Club 24 and the Survivors 3-0 shutout of the Cardinals, tied Sport Club and the Survivors in both the standings and goals differential.

The deadlock forced a penalty kick but yielded the one goal.

soccer

shoot-out to decide which team would

THE SURVIVORS won the five-shot penalty kick, 1-0, on a score by goalie David Hawkins. Hawkins' solid goalkeeping turned back all five shots from the Sport Club to enable The Survivors to capture third-place honors.

In the third round, The Survivors were shut out, 1-0, by the high-powered Bonanza Villa Team, the eventual tournament champion.

A Survivor standout in the third game was goalkeeper Philip Komar, who withstood countless Villa attacks

Oasis rules loop

The Oasis Golf Center women's fastpitch softball team captured the Livonia League championship with a 7-0 victory over Daly Restaurant at Ford

Oasis jumped in front by scoring three runs in the first inning off Daly pitcher Lisa Gomez.

Sandy Taylor started things off by drilling a home run to right center, and then Allison Cole, Jody Humphries and Julie Stafford followed with consecutive singles to account for the other two runs.

Oasis added four more runs in the third inning.

Pitcher Jan Boyd aided her own cause with a three-run homer to left field to cap the Oasis scoring.

Meanwhile, Boyd limited the opponents to just three hits to pick up her 17th victory of the season.

Daly second baseman Linda Jiminez had two of the hits, while Cole and Humphries picked up two hits apiece
