County maps local flood control work

By Gary M. Cates and Arlene Funke staff writers

Everyone agrees flooding is bad in Plymouth, Canton and Northville, but local officials aren't sure they can afford the remedy.

The Wayne County Drain Board is proposing a $7.3 million project to improve drainage of the Tonquish Creek, periodically overflows and floods Plymouth, Canton and North-

If the project is approved, most of the costs would be split among the city of Plymouth, and the townships of Canton, Plymouth and Northville. Plymouth and Plymouth Township would carry the lion's share.

The drain board will hold an apportionment hearing at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in Plymouth City Hall on Main Street. Reaction among local officials ranges from support from the city of Plymouth, to strong objections to the cost by Plymouth Township.

construction project to improve drainage of the Tonquish Creek, a tributary of the Middle Rouge waterway. The creek causes flooding in Plymouth, Canton and Northville.

The greatest share of costs for the project would be split among the city of Plymouth, and the townships of Canton and Plymouth. Northville Township, Wayne County and the state government will pay small portions.

ACCORDING TO engineering studies, the Tonquish Creek channel will be cleaned. Retention ponds will be built north of Ann Arbor Road.

South of Ann Arbor Road, there will be enlargement of the creek channel, along with construction of larger culverts. Some bridges will be rebuilt to allow storm water to flow more freely.

If the drain board approves the project, work would begin in early 1983. It would take nine months to a year to complete, say engineers.

TENTATIVE APPORTIONMENT of costs for engineering reports is based on the percentage of land in the drain basin for each community, say

Construction costs would be based on benefits derived from the project, considering land in the basin, amount of construction in the community, expected amount of storm flow and past flooding.

In both categories, Plymouth Township carries the largest share - 53 percent of costs for reports and studies, and 43.2 percent of construction ex-

The city of Plymouth's share is projected at 12.3 percent for studies and 35.8 percent for construction.

Canton's share will be 22.7 percent of the cost for studies and 12.10 percent of the construction expenses. Northville Township's share is less than 3 percent in each category. Wayne County and the state make up the remaining por-

If the plan is approved, each community would determine its own method of funding the project - through bond issues, millage or special assessments.

"Obviously, there is a serious (flooding) problem," said Glenn Roberts, an engineer with Wade, Trim and Associates, a consulting firm to Canton. "Everyone recognizes that."

THE PROJECT dates back to the late 1960s, when these communities requested help from the county to ease flooding. Several studies were made, and the drain board determined in 1972 that the work was necessary. But construction never began.

According to Roberts, the project would ease flooding in residential areas of Plymouth Township, business areas in the city of Plymouth and commercial strips along Lilley Road in Canton.

Questions among local officials focus on costs, the method of funding (each community would finance its own portion), and how binding the commitment is. Could a municipality legally withdraw from the project?

Since the late 1970s, the Headlee tax limitation amendment to the state constitution has hampered the ability of local governments to raise taxes for public works projects.

"It makes a lot of sense to do it together (as a joint project)," said Canton Supervisor James Poole. "On the other hand, it makes sense to know if you want to spend the money.'

The project is needed, says Ken West, engineer for the city of Plymouth. "In the five years that I have been here, our citizens have suffered a quarter-million dollars in damages from two floods," he said.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP cannot afford the project, says Supervisor Maurice Breen. Officials also don't like the county's control over the project.

The Plymouth Township Board recently voted to oppose the construction plan, as set forth in the latest reports. Officials also are considering withdrawing from the project - a move which is disputed by the attorney for the drain board.

"The plan is way beyond the township's capability to finance at this point," said Breen. "They (drain board) waited 10 years to get going on the project, and they gave us 10 days to make decisions. We need time to go back and review all the material.'

Although the drain board "isn't interested in ramming (the project) down anybody's throats," individual communities don't have the power to withdraw from the project, said Jeff Suprowit, attorney for the drain board. Communities which benefit from the project must pay their share, he said. "As a matter of law, it's the board's authority," Suprowit added. "As a matter of practicality, we would exercise discretion in the matter. As a legal technicality, the township doesn't have the power to opt out."

Schools to buy new computers

lated equipment will be purchased for use in Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools at a cost of $37,000.

Four of the new computers will be located alongside two existing terminals in the Learning Resource Center in Salem with the other 16 new computers going to Canton High.

The purchase of 20 terminals will help accomodate the increasing number of seniors signing up for computer math instruction at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

This coming semester, for instance, the computer math class sizes will be 37, 36, 36, 35, 42 and 38. The added machines will give students more time on the terminals, Principal Bill Brown said during a recent apearance before the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education to answer questions. In the second semester of the coming

The computer classes still will be offered at Canton High under Ron Carlson with assistance from Tom Cotner.

While discussing the purchase of terminals at the CEP, a longer range view of the use of computers for learning was given by Dr. Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction.

Homes said that in early summer, a K-9 committee on computer curriculum was organized and that the group will be working with the board's computer technology committee with the idea of coming up with a K-12 computer curriculum which might be ready for implementation by the fall of 1983.

After the purchase of the 20 units, the CEP will then have 33 computer terminals. Brown noted that all terminals were purchased with the high schools' block grant monies and did not require any additional funds in the

But thanks to some hard selling by Madeline Carpenter, coordinator for the Canton site, the center is now averaging about 25 lunches per day and will not be closed in October.

But should the attendance level fall, however, the program again would be in danger of closing.

"We picked up a little bit, but it will be an on-going push to keep the center open," Carpenter said. "We're just keeping our heads above water."

THE BIG ADVERTISING push came last spring when Carpenter put up posters, sent out newsletters and talked to senior citizen groups in the area.

THE FOOD at the center is cooked at the J Building on Wayne County property and brought to the site, where it is kept warm in steam trays.

dent and winner of the Canton Senior Citizen of the Year award, has retired to a life of helping others. And she keeps very busy doing it. She retired in 1972 at the age of 65 and has steadily gotten more involved in volunteering as the years go on. "I don't have too much spare time," she said. Roettger volunteers for over 10 organizations. The Senior Citizen of the Year contest was judged by the Canton Country Festival Committee. Two nominations were taken from each of the three senior citizen groups in the area, totaling six final nominations. THE NOMINEES were judged on the amount of volunteer service they did in the community. Roettger was nominated by and is vice president of the Pioneers, a senior

Proposed auto legislation will raise new car prices

Domestic content requirements for automobiles sold in the U.S., as proposed in current legislation, would add a surcharge of $3,200 for every American consumer buying a Japanese automobile and raise domestic small car prices as well.

That conclusion was made last week by Tom Bohlander, owner-operator of Sunshine Honda on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth.

In making the statement, Bohlander referred to a just-completed study by the Boston-based research firm of Harbridge House.

The study, commissioned by the American International Automobile Dealers Association, found that the quotas put in place by the Japanese government in April 1981 already have added $1,900 to the cost of Japanese cars in the U.S. and that the domestic content law would bring that surcharge

Voluntary restrictions by the Japanese government the past two years have proven that quotas just don't work, says Bohlander, because domestic sales have slipped even lower during this period.

Without competition, he added, the tomobiles, the domestic content legislation (HB 5133 and SB 2300) would reduce imports by as much as 40 percent, the study found.

Using the existing "voluntary" quota as a yardstick, researchers then arrived at the $3,200 surcharge.

DOMESTIC CAR PRICES also can go up, according to the study, because

American manufacturers concede they lose money on U.S.-made subcompact

If prices of imports increase sharply, researchers claimed, domestic manufacturers have shown in the past that they are ready to follow suit.

Harbridge House based its conclusion on "the demonstrated readiness of domestic manufacturers to raise their own prices sharply under the umbrella of price increases by their Japanese competitors, seeking to improve the profitability of these vehicles rather than attempting to capture a larger market share by underpricing their competitors."

Harbridge House researchers calculated that the $1,900 surcharge on Japanese cars as a consequence of the present quota was based on a combination of scarcity-based pricing and the absence of any need to pass along to the American consumer the benefits of a strengthened dollar.

The researchers also found that the Japanese response to the quotas was to

to the U.S., increasing the numbers of higher-priced cars and reducing the volume of low-priced economy cars available to the consumer.

This latter tactic, says the firm, was responsible for $734 of the $1,900 consumer penalty.

Domestic content legislation is under consideration in both the U.S. House and Senate. Supported by the United Auto Workers (UAW), the legislation would require any firm selling more upgrade the model mix of cars shipped the U.S. to include certain percentages of U.S.-made content. Requirements would range from 25 to 90 percent domestic content by 1985.

> Critics charge that no foreign manufacturer can meet the requirements of the bill, pointing out that Volkswagen has been manufacturing in the U.S. for four years but has yet to achieve a fleet average domestic content as high as 50 percent.

The bill, critics argue, would act as a simple quota - reducing imports by than 100,000 automobiles annually in more than one million units a year.

Riding a bike takes on a different as-ner of the township. The races are part of the American Bicycle Association BMX circuit. The Canton track is one of two BMX tracks in Michigan's first BMX district.

"A lot of the kids don't know there's a track so close to them in the district," says Sue Wrenbeck of Easy Rider Bike Shop in Canton, which co-sponsors the races with the township parks and recreation department.

Wrenbeck's husband, Gordon, is the director of racing at the track.

Each competitor races in three races, called "motos," hoping to go on to the main elimination races.

The motos consist of a race down the 900-foot track, which lasts less than one minute. The track was designed by Easy Rider.

"They start on a 30-foot hill and attack the track," says Wrenbeck. There also are extra events like the wheely riding competition. A rider must be a member of the no limit on age and both males and females are welcome to compete.

On July 25 the track sponsored a race which brought participants from as far as Arizona and Washington, and as close as Canton, Plymouth, Westland and Romulus.

On an average day at the track there are about 165 riders, with about 350 people watching.

The races go on rain or shine, says Wrenbeck.

There are a few accidents, but the Canton track has one of the safest records for a BMX track, she says.

The track caters to beginners, and interested people can call Easy Rider at 455-5730. Entry fee is $6 per rider and registration time is 9-11 a.m.

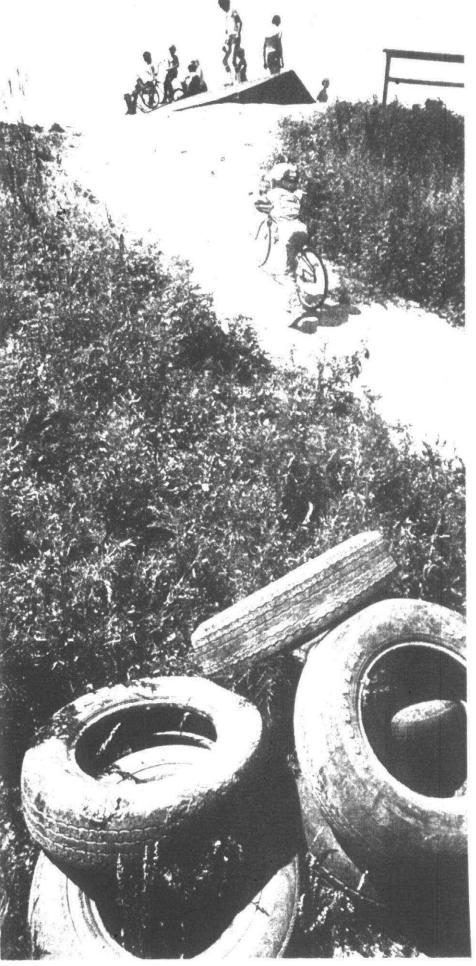

The next races at the track will be on Sunday, Sept. 5. BMX racing started in the early 1970s and has continued to grow into a popular sport. The BMX races look much like motorcycle crosscountry races with the knobby tires, padded handlebars and helmetequipped riders.

Recall election still set to go

Wayne-Westland School District

The district serves southeast Canton

By Leonard Poger staff writer

The Sept. 14 Wayne-Westland school board recall election will go on as scheduled following action by a Wayne County circuit judge.

Judge John Kirwan Thursday afternoon ruled against four board members, targets of the recall campaign, who sued to stop the election.

The four, Mary Arbour, Mildred Batterson, Kenneth Marshall and Donald Rusnock, filed a civil suit several weeks ago.

Judge Kirwan's ruling was issued after about 40 minutes of discussion by attorneys for the four board members and Taxpayers United Together (TUT), which initiated the recall election with the May 6 filing of petitions with just over 5,300 signatures for each of the four officials.

The four had sued the clerks from Wayne County and the cities of Westland and Wayne and the county election in an effort to block the election.

TUT formally joined the case Wednesday as a co-defendant.

The hearing Thursday followed one on Monday at which Kirwan ruled against the board members on a claim they were denied due process because the clerks refused to allow them to review petitions and check signatures.

The judge's ruling Thursday was hailed by TUT leader Rosemary Miller in a court hallway interview immediately after the hearing ended.

"IT'S ANOTHER victory for TUT and for the people," she said. "In so many things people lose."

On the other side of the conflict, Arbour said she wasn't surprised while Marshall commented he was disappointed.

But through their attorney, E. Peter Drolet, they will continue the suit although it probably won't be resolved before the election.

The judge said at the close of the hearing the board members can still move ahead to obtain evidence from at least 400 people who would say they were misled by petition circulators last spring before signing the petitions.

The four board members said in their suit that recall workers gave "false and deceptive" information about teachers' salaries to residents to gain signatures.

Kirwan said that if the board members could get 400 people (which represents the number of petition signers over the 4,900 signatures required) to say they were misled he would continue the case.

If that happens, it would result in fewer than the minimum number of required signatures and possibly force the cancellation of the election

WHY REPLACE MISSING TEETH?

Why is it so essential that missing teeth be replaced, even if they are in a part of the mouth that doesn't show?

For starters, the teeth on either side of the space may drift into the space and close it. This is unhealthy, since the roots of our teeth are designed to absorb stress in a vertical direction. When a tooth tilts, it is no longer taking the stress the way intended. The result may be periodontal pockets (separation between gum and teeth) causing food traps, gum disease and decay. This will require further dental treatment and, possibly, premature loss of these additional teeth

Also there is the problem of the tooth directly above or below the space. Without the bite pressure on it, it may move upward or downward into the open space, causing a problem of tripping the teeth as you move the jaw from side to side. This will tend to loosen the adjoining teeth and lead to further lost teeth. In a nutshell, if you have missing teeth, they should be replaced as soon as possible to prevent the "Domino Effect" of further tooth

Part XVI

Clara Rousseau was among the first hired by Dr. Eric Bradner in 1962, the year Pat Butler, Ken Lindner, Lois Waterman, James Dotseth and Edmund Snyder joined Schoolcraft College

Rousseau, Bradner's secretary during the early years, later became administrative assistant to the president, and associate secretary to the board of trustees.

By the time she retired, after taking board minutes for two-score years, she probably knew as much about the college, and the various trustees who had served on its board, as anyone else on the

Hired in 1963, the year Norman Dunn, Ed McNally and Harriett Sattig came aboard, were Robert Stover and Ken Burton. Stover, who became the college custodian at the old Newburgh School in March 1963, is now Schoolcraft's supervisor of plant was supervisor of buildings and maintenance at the college until he retired in April 1972.

SCHOOLCRAFT RECEIVED good news in February 1964. It came from the University of Michigan, Michigan State, Wayne State and Eastern Michigan. All wrote to assure the college that its students would find their credits transferrable to the four-year institutions.

'Cowboy' gave lessons on how best to eat peas

The longer you travel along life's highway, the more you become convinced that many of the important things you learned along the way were not taught to you in school

This thought came to The Stroller the other day when he watched one of his fellow diners at the luncheon table trying to enjoy a helping of peas without spilling them all over the table.

First, he tried a fork. That didn't work. The peas kept slipping off to the table. Next he used a spoon. That was some improvement, but not much. The peas kept wigging away as they usually do.

As he sat there watching silence, The Stroller was carried back to a dinner one Sunday afternoon when Mother had prepared a fine meal that included mashed potatoes and stewed peas.

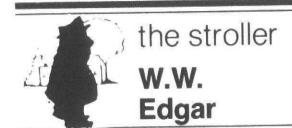

As usually was the case with Sunday dinner she had invited a guest. She was sure we would enjoy the company of the young fellow from the farm just outside of town. It was quite a surprise when "Cowboy" Heckman walked in. He was a buddy of The Stroller when were learning the machinist trade.

AFTER WE sat at the table and grace was said the potatoes were passed to the guest. He quickly helped himself, but instead of having them as a lump on his plate he flattened them out. We wondered why.

Then came the peas. Instead of heaping them alongside his potatoes, "Cowboy" spread them over his flattened out potatoes. It was a sight we never had seen. But he didn't lose a pea. In fact, just to show us, he once used a knife to get a helping.

It was a real lesson in eating peas. The Stroller never forgot it. To this day when peas are served along with the mashed potatoes, he follows Cowboy's advice and spreads them on top.

It soon became a custom that when a dish corn, peas, even sauerkraut - is served with mashed potatoes. The Stroller spreads it over his potatoes. The days of losing a portion in an attempt to eat peas or kernels of corn are long gone.

It was a lesson that wasn't taught in school. YEARS LATER; when The Stroller's father opened a small lunch room, we used to get the major league baseball scores about 7 o'clock each evening. There was no radio or television in those days. So, folks used to take a walk downtown in the evening to get the baseball scores and enjoy a piece of pie or a cup of coffee.

One evening when The Stroller finished writing the scores on on a large card he placed it outside where all passersby could see it.

When his father noticed this, he came racing around the counter, grabbed the card and brought it back inside.

"It cost us money to get those scores," he said, "and folks won't buy coffee pie if they don't come

The Stroller learned the lesson — a first step in a business course. The baseball fans never again were offered a free look outside at the baseball scores.

It was another lesson The Stroller wasn't taught

Sattig, approved the practical nursing program at Schoolcraft. This approval guaranteed that students graduating from the program would be eligible to write the state board examinations for license as practical nurse.

On May 21, the Northville Record reported an extraordinary lapse on the part of the Salem Township treasurer. He had forgotten to levy the one mill college tax on the 1963 bills of Salem Township residents who lived in the Northville part of the college

The college was due $1,007, but the state auditor general's office ruled that the tax could not be double-levied the following year. One the recommendation of business manager Ken Lindner, the college trustees voted to recover the money from the bonding company.

It also was in May that Bradner informed the board that, until the college got a physical education building, arrangements had been made to hold the men's physical education program at facilities of the Northville State Hospital, and the women's at Ladywood High School.

By mid-1964, three months before the college was scheduled to open, it was clear to the board and administration that the institution would need more facilities than had been expected. The four buildings then under construction had been designed for 900 students, but Schoolcraft already had 1,303 qualified applicants.

"Enrollment demands are more than two years ahead of schedule," Bradner told a Detroit News reporter on June 7, "and we expect 4,500 students by 1966 or '67, instead of 1971."

TO MEET THE influx, the board asked voters to approve a $1,250,000 bond issue to provide for additional buildings

This issue would not require a tax increase, and, matched with $1,550,000 available from state and federal governments, would give the college a fund of $2.8 million with which to construct four more buildings — a student center, a technical educational facility, a classroom building and a physical education plant.

The vote was held June 8. The bond issue carried in all districts by a total of 5,597 to 1,527. The board announced that it was commissioning Eberle M. Smith Associates of Detroit to design the campus center and the physical education building. The Livonia firm of Ralls-Hamill-Becker was commissioned to design the classroom building and the technical center.

Several appointments to the college staff were made during the first half of 1964. In March, G. Ann Moore, now director of purchasing at schoolcraft,

At about the same time, Wayne Duhlap, wellknown director of music in the Plymouth-Canton school system, was appointed to head the college's music department. A graduate of Texas Christian University, and holder of a master's degree from the Eastman School of Music, Dunlap then was conductor of the Plymouth Symphony orchestra, and had served as conductor of the Grosse Pointe Symphony, the West Shore Symphony and the South Oakland Symphony orchestras.

It also was in March that John H. Brinn came down from Delta College, where had has been dean of the community service school. Brinn became Schoolcraft's second dean of instruction, replacing Jerry B. Mitchell, who held the position for a short time before Brinn arrived. A dedicated educator, Brinn served at Schoolcraft for four years. He left to go back to teach mathematics because he did not like administrative work.

In July, L. Dell Reed, Fernon Feenstra and Barbara A. Geil were added to the staff. Reed, dean of Chanute, Kan., Junior College, came here to direct Schoolcraft's evening division. Feenstra, who was hired to teach electricity-electronics, is now assistant dean of technology at the college. Geil is director of admissions.

Marvin Gans, now assistant dean of health, physical education and recreation, and director of athletics, and Louise Huston, now director of accounting and payroll, were hired late in August.

IN JUNE, a delegation of college board members and administrators traveled to California to look at community colleges in that state.

The appearance of several of Schoolcraft's buildings is a direct result of that and earlier visits to the Golden State, where community colleges had proli-

A reporter from the Detroit Free Press termed the design of Schoolcraft's first buildings, "West Coast Oriental," declaring that they appeared to be suspended from their wing-shaped roofs.

The county board of commissioners defeated a plan of the county auditors calling for a layoff of 462 employees. 22 percent of the workforce.

School safety drive is launched

Preventing "dart-outs," the major factor in more than half of all schoolrelated traffic deaths in 1981, is the aim of this year's "School's Open -Drive Carefully" campaign by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Announcement of the theme was made this week by Heinz Topol, manager of the Plymouth office of the Automobile Club.

Some 15 students, aged 5-17, died in accidents before or after school last year in Michigan.

The Auto Club's studies show that 8 of the 15 victims were "dart-outs" who crossed the street from between parked cars or at mid-block.

"With Plymouth-Canton school opening Aug. 30, this is the time to begin reminding parents and motorists of their shared responsibility for children's safety," said Topol.

"Children must be reminded to cross at intersections while motorists must be prepared to stop for forgetful youngsters who cross at unexpected places.'

Some 862,500 youngsters will cross streets or wait for buses as they attend

State Police recovered the white Dodge van the bandits used an hour later at Six Mile and I-275 Freeway.

Bank officials were conducting an audit to determine how much money was taken, said FBI special agent John

One of the suspects stood in the lobby, while the other jumped over the tellers' counter and collected money, witnesses said. The men did not go into the bank vault, Anthony said.

elementary school statewide this year. More than 116,000 pupils will be going to school for the first time.

The Auto Club's study of the 1981 school-related accidents shows 60 percent of the victims were aged 9-13, and nine of the fatal accidents occurred before school began.

Throughout the school year, the Auto Club will remind parents, teachers and children of traffic safety rules through the "School's Open" and Safety Patrol programs.

The Auto Club now is distributing 10,200 ponchos, 6,000 badges and 11,000 belts for patrollers, and 65,000 training booklets and other traffic safety supplies to 4,200 Michigan schools.

"School's Open - Drive Carefully" bumper stickers and placemats are available free to the public at the Auto Club's 56 offices statewide.

The Auto Club recommends these pedestrian safety habits for children:

· Look in all directions before walking across intersections and watch for turning cars even on a green light.

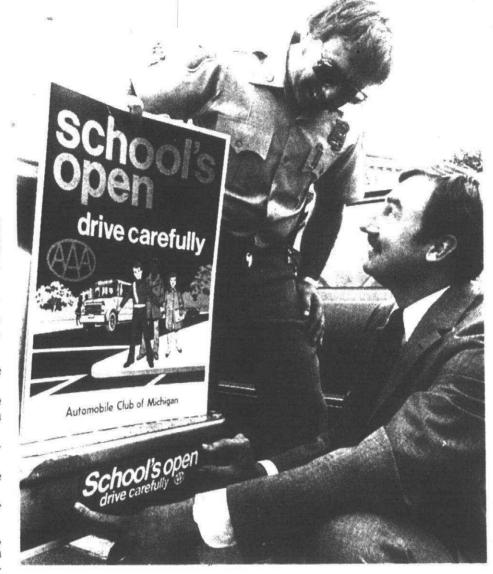

· Obey safety patrollers and crossing guards.

 Always use the sidewalk. If there isn't one, walk facing traffic.

• Dress in light-colored clothing for maximum visibility. Follow the safest route to school, which should be planned on streets with low traffic volume and controlled intersections.

Motorists also are reminded that state law requires them to stop at least 10 feet behind a school bus when it is loading or unloading, and stay stopped until the red lights stop flashing.

Let the fresh taste of Alaska seafood add a cool touch to menus during the warm summer months. From the icy cold waters of our northernmost state, comes a bounty of succulent, primequality seafoods — majestic salmon, exquisite crab and shrimp and snowy halibut featured here in a variety of enticing dishes.

Alaska seafood is an excellent source of highquality protein, containing all the essential amino acids. It also contains essential vitamins and minerals. The species are moderate in calories and fats.

Thanks to advances in freezing and transportation, choice Alaska seafood is plentiful yearround. Aside from offering great flavor and nutrition, Alaska seafood takes little or no time to prepare, leaving plenty of time for summertime fun.

Happily for the consumer, Alaska fresh/frozen salmon is now more plentiful than ever before. Here, chilled poached salmon steaks, surrounded with tender broccoli and tomatoes, are topped off with a tasty Mimosa Dressing for an elegant warm weather entree.

Always a favorite and readily available, Alaska canned salmon lends itself to an endless variety of menu suggestions. In a delicious main dish salad, Salmon Sea Shell Salad, marinated shell macaroni combines with convenient canned salmon, colorful peas, crisp celery and grated Parmesan cheese Clusters of Alaska Snow crab and a tasty dip fits right into the carefree mood of summertime living. For a delightful crab feast, serve a crisp green salad and crusty bread. And, be sure to supply plenty of napkins and small forks or picks for extracting every last delicious bite of succulent crab meat from the shell.

Expect compliments galore when you serve Gourmet Pickled Halibut, an appetizer of chunks of snowy white Alaska halibut poached in a pickling mixture.

Another cool performer for sizzling days is Marinated Shrimp. Alaska Pink shrimp are marinated briefly in a zesty oil and lemon dressing, then complemented with an assortment of juicy fresh fruit.

Succulent Alaska King crab is featured in a tasty version of the famous "Louis Salad." While this recipe is designed for just two, it can easily be increased to serve more. Michigan's peachy

State's crop soars while national production drops

A good peach crop is being harvested in Michigan. The state crop is estimated at 45 million pounds, up 29 percent from that of a year ago. Elsewhere in the country, peaches didn't fare so well

Production in the nine southern peach states is forecast at 360 million pounds - 50 percent of last year's crop. North Carolina was especially hard hit by cold weather this spring the peach crop there is a mere 2 million pounds, compared with 40 million pounds in 1981. Nationally, the fresh peach crops forecast at 2.20 billion pounds - 21 percent below last year's California's peach production is significantly lower in both freestone and clingstone peaches. The clingstone crop, which goes primarily into cans, is off 10 percent. California is the major producer of clingstone peaches, so this very likely will mean higher prices for canned peaches.

As a result of the good peach crop in Michigan and a short crop elsewhere, buyers from other states are looking to Michigan for fresh peaches. Consumers, therefore, can expect to pay top prices for fresh peaches.

No doubt the most economical time to purchase peaches will be during the third week in August. That's when the Red Haven variety - No. 1 in volume and a favorite of Michigan shoppers will be in peak supply.

Several factors have endeared Red Haven peaches to shoppers. Besides having an extremely good flavor, Red Havens (and all other Haven varieties except Hale Haven) are resistant to browning. This makes them ideal for freezing as well as canning. Red Havens are freestone (the flesh comes off the pit easily) when the fruit is fully

Red Haven peaches will likely be available through the second week in September. Other varieties have a season 10 to 14 days long. Red Havens are around so much longer because they have been planted in the northern as well as the southern regions of the

During the Red Haven season, the following varieties come to market in this order: Glohaven, Canadian Harmony, Cresthaven and Kalhaven. Redskins follow to end of the Red Havens. Other varieties that are not produced in sufficient quantities to be commercially important across the state are available in various local areas. Always inquire if peaches are freestone if you are purchasing a quantity for canning or freez-

Michigan peaches have yellow skins and flesh and should be firm, mature, well formed and free from decay. Look for a creamy yellow to gold skin under the outer red blush. Red blush alone is not a sign of ripeness - the amount of red blush varies with the variety. Do

Peaches picked at the firm ripe stage will become fully ripe and ready to eat in three or four days at room temperature. Ripen out of the sun or to speed up ripening - place the peaches in a brown paper bag. Keep fully ripe peaches refrigerated and use within two or three days.

For a break from peaches, consumers can enjoy Paulareds, a late summer apple with the flavor and texture characteristics of a fall apple. This all-purpose apple comes to market at the same time as peaches with the qualities shoppers want.

Michigan growers now have a significant number of Paulared trees bearing fruit. Size is good, and quality is reported good to excellent this year.

WHO SAYS Friday the 13th is unlucky? Jerry Walsh, that's who. Jerry got his first hole-in-one Friday, Aug. 13, on the 13th hole at hours," he added He was playing in a three-day tournament at the course near Kalamazoo. He used an eight iron on the 144-yard hole.

"It was an elevated green and it took two bounces and plunk - right into the cup. The pro was standing there watching it go in."

Jerry has been playing golf for 40 years, but this was his first hole-inone. He plays a lot of golf out at Hilltop in Plymouth Township and has played courses all over the state.

DISCOVERED my bathtub theory isn't all that far-out.

For years, I have suggested that the safest place to be during a tornado warning is in the bathtub. And for years my family has been pooh-poohing the idea.

Ever notice pictures of buildings after a tornado? In many cases, the bathtub remains when everything else is gone.

Lenora Dunlap was in town for a few days last week and the conversation got around to Texas weather - the heat there being the prime reason she is spending a month or so in Michigan. Lenora was born and raised in Texas and that is where she and her husband, Wayne, have chosen to live since his retirement. She always enjoys a visit to Plymouth, where they lived for many years.

Lenora was talking about their tornado season and she said, "Families who do not have root cellars often get in a bathtub and put a mattress over it to protect them from broken glass and splinters.

The mattress is a nice addition which I shall immediately adopt and adapt to my theory.

GINA YOUNG attended the third summer session at Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in the Manistee National Forest. Gina's parents are R.M. and Gayle Young of Denise Court, Plymouth.

Gina plays the flute and studied band while in camp. She was the winner of a Plymouth Youth Symphony scholarship and this is her second summer at Blue Lake

DOWN IN PALM Beach, Fla., the news soon spread. Glady Prescott had received a call from the White House. President Reagan had appointed her to represent Florida on the newly formed committee of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington

Glady is the former Gladys Schrader of Plymouth. When she graduated from Plymouth High School, she attended the University of Michigan. There she continued her music studies and earned a teaching degree. She came back to Plymouth, taught at the high school and organized the school's first orchestra. In 1931, she married Lyle (Bud) Prescott, whom she had met at U-M. They went to live in his hometown, Dixon, Ill. One of the first people she met there was Bud's best friend since childhood, Dutch Dutch soon left town for his first big broadcasting job in Des Moines. The Prescotts stayed in Dixon where Bud ran the family oil company and served in the Illinois Legislature. Dutch went on to Hollywood and later became involved in politics. But they always maintained their friendship.

Glady and Bud retired to Palm Beach 18 years ago, Both worked on Dutch's unsuccessful 1976 presidential campaign. Bud died before the 1980 campaign and Glady took the the job of GOP chairman for Palm Beach County. She said the busy schedule was good therapy.

Before her presidential appointment, her friends were interviewed by the FBI. One of them was asked if she was good at making decisions Glady went to Washington the last week in July. There was a formal dinner the first night, a performance at the Kennedy Center the second night with meetings during the day.

One of the postcards she sent off was to her nephew and niece, Win and Susan Schrader in Plymouth. She is thrilled about her appointment and is looking forward to the next meeting of the committee in Washington.

Bob Schneider of the Plymouth Elks called the numbers.

B-i-n-g-o is the game

The Plymouth-Canton Civitan Club puts on two parties each summer for local senior citizens one for Canton seniors and another for Plymouth

Gene Sund and Lou Mair co-chaired the parties this year in the Plymouth Elks Club, entertaining 200 guests at each event. The evening started out with an Elk's chuckwagon dinner - roast beef, mashed potatoes, green beans and salad bar.

Once the tables were cleared, the cards were passed out and the Bingo games started. Prizes for the games had been donated by merchants of Canton and Plymouth.

Dancing to the music of the Jerry Hoelsher Band followed the Bingo games.

The Civitans' many service projects include other programs for seniors.

The club removed snow from walks and drivesways, provided captioned television for deaf people, painted shutters at Tonquish Creek Manor, and treated them to a night of live theater to see the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Fanta-

Pick your field and you're off in independent studies

Schoolcraft College's independant human studies -- an adults' educational option unparalleled in this area — is signing up lovers of learning for its eight year this week. The course offers the opportunity to study just about anything, for anywhere from six to 12 credit hours, using just about any plan and resources deemed appropriate. The only requirement is to be on hand eight Saturdays during the seminars and workshops with the other participants and Suzanne Kaplan, the teacher who helped originate the course back in 1975 and continues to lead it today In fact, if there are prospective students who can't make it on Saturdays, Kaplan is quite willing to set up an evening section for independent studies.

"I can handle a class of up to 15, and there are about six or eight places left in the Saturday class," she said. "No one yet has asked for an evening class, but if seven or eight students are interested, we will start one."

LOVE IN western civilization, Jesus of Nazareth as myth or messiah, Mesopotamian art, Michigan's single business tax, blue collar job satisfaction, no-fault divorce, repair of stringed instruments and auras of the human body are just a few of the topics that have been studied in the program during recent years.

"The interest may start with a career interest," said Kaplan, "and sometimes employers pay the tuition for a project that is a job-upgrading. Or some do the studies in order to start a

"Sometimes it's a burning desire to study something, develop a hobby, pursue a dream."

Occasionally a student is interested in the idea of the program but has nothing specific in mind. "I have them come to see me, and we throw a few ideas around," said Kaplan.

A few students earn degrees in the independent studies programs, said Kaplan, but more often the study is combined with regular classroom work.

"Some who start this way go on to higher degrees," she added. "Our students have won awards and scholarships. And I have drawers and drawers full of excellent informational work."

FOR EACH student, the class begins with an interview with Kaplan to determine the subject matter for the study, the way it will be pursued and the number of credit hours.

"The tuition is the same as for any Schoolcraft class," she said. "Often it turns out the study will be in more depth, so credit hours are added.

"The idea is to finish a study in one term, but 16 weeks can be an unbelieveably short time, so there are frequent time extensions."

All students join in the 9 a.m. to noon and 12:45-3 p.m. Saturday sessions.

"In the mornings, the students serve as an audience for the development of each other's projects. Afternoons are devoted to workshops on research skills all need. I try to vary the workshops, because students keep repeating the

The program offers a "non-threatening, informal atmosphere," said Kaplan. "It's the kind of thing where once you get hooked you just keep going," she added. "Interest does't end with the final exam."

Laura Sett and Carl Andrews of Royal Holiday Park Seniors Club enjoyed the Civitans party.

For that matter, she noted, there is no final other than a completed study

KAPLAN SAID she and another faculty member, Gordon Wilson, began the independent studies program in 1975 after two years's study.

It was geared to younger students at first, she said.

"But after several years we realized our student body had changed considerably and the interest in this kind of study was changing too," she said.

Using a grant from the National Endownment for the Humanities and the American Association of Colleges, leaders of the program attended a seminar in Kansas City and eventually made use of services of an expert consultant

"We decided it was a program for adults, and at that point started having the seminars and workshops on Satur-

Open registration day at New Morning School

New Morning School has scheduled an open registration day, 1-7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 26 at the school, 14501 Haggerty, Plymouth Township. Parents will have an opportunity to look around the school, meet the teachers, ask questions and get acquainted with the school's program.

New Morning is a private, non-profit school - preschool through eighth grade - offering individualized programs for its students. Originally established in Plymouth in 1973, it has been located in rented schools until last fall, when it moved into its permanent location on Haggerty just north of Schoolcraft.

The school has limited openings in its preschool, elementary and middle school programs. Children may be registered on the open registration day for classes are 9-11:30 a.m., five days a week. Kindergarten is 12:30-3 p.m. and elementary and middle school hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Basic skills are stressed, but personal growth is an important part of development at New Morning. Each child's program is planned individually by the teacher and student. Basic skills are related to each child's interests.

Parent involvement is important to the school's operation - working as teacher aides, fundraisers, secretaries, members of the board, on building maintenance and in other roles.

Class sizes are small, allowing a great deal of individualization. Preschool and kindergarten are limited to 12 children; elementary limit is 18 children; and the middle school's limit is 10. Each class has a parent aide in addition to the teacher or teachers.

For more information about the preschool call 981-2537. For elementary or DAY CARE is offered from 7 a.m. to middle school information call 348-

Counseling for problems gains acceptance

Americans today are much more likely to seek professional help for their personal problems than they were a generation ago, according to a University of Michigan survey.

"The stigma has decreased. Even people who do not personally expect to consult a mental health professional themselves see that as a reasonable alternative for persons facing an unmanageable crisis," said Joseph Veroff, Richard A. Kulka and Elizabeth Douvan of the U-M Institute for Social Re-

"They are more likely to select a specialized resource such as a psychologist, psychiatrist or marriage counselor than a general help source like a doctor or clergyman. But they turned to all resources much more often than persons surveyed 20 years earlier.

"Only 3 percent relied exclusively on professionals," the U-M researchers add. "Most turned also to family and friends for advice and suport."

THE TRENDS are examined in "Mental Health in American: Patterns of Help-Seeking from 1957 to 1976,' just published by Basic Books.

Veroff, Kulka and Douvan compared the findings of a 1976 ISR national survey of some 2,400 adults to a similar 1957 survey, "Americans View Their Mental Health." By addressing the same questions to two carefully matched populations, 20 years apart, they were able to identify important changes in the ways Americans cope with personal problems.

"In 1976, people were much more likey to mention spontaneously a professional help source as a way to cope with a hypothetical personal problem. More important, in 1957 some 14 percent of the population said they had sought professional help at some point in their lives. By 1976, that proportion had nearly doubled to 26 percent," the "Professional help is broadly defined in our studies. It includes any help source having expertise rather than a personal relationship to the help-seeker for example, medical doctors, lawyers and clergy as well as social workers, counselors and psychiatrists.

DECIDING TO seek help from an outside expert requires a certain psychological readiness, a willingness to admit vulnerability in the self, the authors explain. You must admit that a problem might arise that outstrips your own capacity for managing and resolving distress.

Adray eliminates Lansing, remains in title hunt

So far, so good.

At least through Thursday's competition for the All-American Amateur Baseball Association title, things were going well for Livonia Adray. The local squad knocked out Lansing Narc with a rain-delayed 15-11 triumph Wednesday, then topped Buffalo, 9-6, later in Six home runs sent Cleveland packing Thursday in a 12-8 Adray victory.

The wins pushed Adray, 3-1 after Thursday's game in the double-elimination national tournament, into the final

The win over Lansing was suspended because of rain Tuesday night with Adray ahead, 14-11 in the ninth inning. Adray added one more run on Dave Slavin's run-scoring single. Mike Tetreault, a Farmington Harrison graduate, picked up the pitching win.

baseball

DUANE STOTHERS, an Adray addition from the Walter's Appliance squad, and Bob Warren, plucked from the Michigan National Bank roster, split the mound duties in the win Wednesday over Buffalo. Stothers hurled the first five innings and got the win, with Warren earning the save.

Larry Mulka clubbed a two-run homer in the second inning, and Slavin added a solo blast in the ninth to lead the 12-hit Adray assault. Mulka, Slavin, Ken Surcina, Kevin Lowery and Dean Fracassi each had two hits.

Against Cleveland, Adray built up a 9-2 advantage, then withstood a six-run late-inning rally to qualify for the final homers, a two-run job in the fourth and a solo shot in the eighth, added a single and drove in four runs for Adray. Surcina had three hits, including a three-run home run in the second, and Fracassi, Lowery and Slavin each belted solo Lowery and Fracassi had two hits apiece and Slavin drove in two runs. Martin Vucinaj, an Orchard Lake St. Mary's alumnus, went 63/3 innings.

Vodika Collins broke from a seven-horse pack down the stretch to capture the victory.

Vodika Collins reigns in 34th Michigan Mile

By C.J. Risak staff writer

The Shoe couldn't beat the Smile in

That sums up what happened Saturday in the 34th running of the Michigan Mile at Detroit Race Course in Livonia. A crowd of 14,859, the largest since the 1977 Michigan Mile, gathered not just to witness the state's biggest thoroughbred race of the year but to see the best jockey to ever mount a horse -

Bill Shoemaker. Those that jammed into the park in hopes of seeing "the Shoe" add to his career victory total (which stood at 8,173 before Saturday) weren't disappointed. The Shoe did win. But his victory didn't come in the feature event.

INSTEAD LOCAL jockey Joe Judice drove Vodika Collins inside of Shoemaker's mount, Recusant, down the stretch to win the $166,400 race.

The triumph was the biggest in the 21-year-old's racing career, and he showed it. The wide smile never left his face, from the time he jockeyed Vodika Collins into the winner's circle until the party in the clubhouse an hour later.

"It's just a great feeling," Judice said, still beaming. His account of the race: "I saw the one horse (Bay Diplomat) in trouble on the inside, so I went to the outside. (Down the stretch) I saw an opening and went for it."

JUDICE'S OPENING came with just winner's circle after the race.

over one-eighth of a mile to go. Seven race, Shoemaker finished out of the of the 13 horses were lined across the track, including Recusant. But as the hole opened on the outside, Judice beat Shoemaker to it, forcing the Shoe out even further. Vodika Collins crossed the line in 1:50.2, a length ahead of Recusant. Lord Gallant was third and Withholding fourth.

"I thought I could catch him," Shoemaker, who turned 51 Thursday, said afterward. "I just didn't have enough money aboard Amanda Boranda, and in the ninth his horse, Tinsley's Hope, was edged by Dave's Friend.

The career leader in wins was gracious in defeat, greeting Judice in the clubhouse. "Here's the winning jockey congratulations," Shoemaker said.

Judice was also gracious, sharing the laurels that were being heaped upon

"You know, I don't care what anybody says," the young jockey said. "The horse does all the work. He makes us all look good - the jockey, the trainer and the owner."

Judice, of course, grinned broadly as he said it.

ficials refuse to estimate, saying only that trades could cause some shake-

The rest of Robbins' stats include 21 runs scored, two game-winning hits, a .380 slugging percentage, 31 strikeouts and four stolen bases. He has appeared in 39 of the team's 122 games.

Ken Scarpace, Waterbury Reds -Scarpace got off to a slow start and seems destined for a second year at AA in the CincinnatiReds organization.

The Livonia Franklin grad has overcome his sluggish early season to bring his batting average up to .258. He has just one homer, but has clubbed 15 doubles and five triples, driving in 37 runs.

"Kenny needs another year at double A," said Waterbury general manager Mike Divito. "Early in the year he was playing only one of every three games, and I think that hurt him. Since he's been a starter, he's been playing a lot

"But he needs to develop consistency. He wants to come back and prove himself at this level."

Scarpace's other stats: 368 at bats in 110 games, 95 hits, 37 runs scored, four stolen bases and four errors. The team is in the cellar of the Eastern League's South Division.

Jim Ross, Lakeland Tigers - Who says the Detroit Tigers don't develop local talent? Ross is one of four players from the Observer coverage area in the Tigers' farm system.

A right-handed short-relief pitcher, the Bentley grad has had a mediocre season at the Class A level, but, according to Dave Miller, the Tiger's administrator of player development, Ross has "probably been their most reliable re-

Ross has a 4-3 record in 73% innings pitched, with eight saves and a 3.55 ERA. Lakeland is 28-26 in the Florida State League's Northern Division for the season's second half, two games out

"This is only his second year (of pro ball)," Miller said. "He still has a bright future.

The Tiger's current bullpen problems may improve Ross' chance for a shot in the majors. Miller admitted there is "lots of opportunity," but added that next year Ross "will be in double-A more likely"

The rest of Ross' stats: 41 games, 73 hits, 33 runs (26 earned), 31 walks and 40 strikeouts.

Chris Baker, Macon Tigers — It's been a struggle for Baker, a Livonia Franklin alum, since he was drafted and signed by the Tigers

"Chris has been battling injuries for so long, ever since we signed him," Miller said. Among his problems was a broken ankle suffered in his first season which hampered his progress considerably.

Baker has been a regular at Macon, a Class A team in the South Division of the South Atlantic League. But even though the team is battling for first place (11/2 games out of first), it has not been a good year for Baker.

He has increased his power, slugging seven homers in 90 games this season and driving in 37 runs. But he is batting just .228.

There are other problems facing him. As any Detroit fan knows, outfielders are far from rare throughout the Tiger system. That could cost Baker in terms of advancement.

The combination of an off-year at the plate (Baker batted .293 last season at Macon) and an abundance of outfielders may keep Baker at Macon another year.

His stats: 285 at bats, 65 hits, 39 runs scored, 12 doubles, five game-winning RBI, 39 walks and 42 strikeouts. He has committed just one error.

Doug Smith, Elizabethton Twins -Smith is one of those pitchers whose stats can be deceiving. Very deceiving.

His won-lost record is as bad as can be - winless in six decisions. But it should be noted that he is a short reliever, a position that lends itself to quick defeat. One hit or one error can tag a short reliever with the loss.

What should be taken into account is the Plymouth Canton grad's 1.88 ERA and three saves. That has a lot of people in the Minnesota Twins' organization taking notice. "Doug's having a tough go," said Jim

Rantz, assistant director of the Twins' farm system. "Although he's pitched well, his record doesn't reflect it."

What the Twins like about Smith, according to Rantz, is that "he throws strikes." And in the current baseball world, a short reliever who throws strikes can be a very valuable commodity.

Elizabethton, a member of the Appalachian League's Southern Division in the Rookies' League, is currently in second place. Smith, whose brother Dan was an All-State hurler at Canton this past season, is likely to move up to Class A, probably at Wisconsin Rapids, next year.

Smith's stats: 28 innings pitched, 27 hits, 14 walks, 19 strikeouts.

Jim Irwin, Bristol Tigers — Irwin is also playing in the South Division of the Rookies' Appalachian League. It hasn't been easy, but, according to the Tigers' Miller, it appears Irwin is starting to come around.

After going without a home run for the first 25 games of the season, Irwin. a Westland John Glenn grad, hit two in four days, one a grand slam. That helped improve his batting average to .253 and upped his RBI count to 15.

While Irwin is shaking off his poor start, Bristol continues to struggle with a 19-28 record, in sixth place. His next assignment will probably be at Lakeland or Macon, in Class A.

Irwin's stats: 27 games, 87 at bats, 22 hits, 12 runs scored and two doubles.

this season. The 1981 team finished the season with four straight wins to boost its overall record to 14-4-1, but could not secure a playoff spot. The 1982 cast includes the nucleus from last year's team, plus a promising list of highschool recruits and junior-college transfers. Tuesday, the Pioneers will tune up for their 1982 season when they host the Detroit Express in an exhibition game at 6:30 p.m. All donations gathered from spectators will aid the soccer scholarship fund at Oakland University.

The entire Express team is scheduled to be on hand. The game will take place on the Pioneers' field.

The Pioneers open the regular season Sept. 8 against Cleveland State University in a home game at 3 p.m.

Oakland University's 1982 roster will be led by five seniors - Dave Daiek, Kevin Kelly, Dave Morgan and co-captains Dandy Oskey and Lou Vulovich.

VULOVICH IS a 6-foot-3, 185-pounder from Farmington Harrison. He missed the first half of the 1981 season due to a knee injury but came back in the second half as the starting sweeper. Vulovich will be counted on again this year to lead the defense from his sweeper position.

Daiek, a 5-10, 160-pounder from Bloomfield Hills Lahser, played the entire 1981 season as the starting center midfielder. He scored two goals and added six assists last year, which put him fifth on the Pioneers' scoring list with 10 points.

Other key returnees include Lindsay Hamilton and Mehdi Eskandari. Hamilton is a 5-8, 145-pound junior from Rochester. Hamilton saw action in 13 games as a sophomore and had one goal and one assist. He has shown much improvement during the off season and Eskandari, a 5-9 140-pound sophomore forward/midfielder from Bloomfield Hills Roeper, played two games as a freshman. He has potential and has the ball-handling skills to become a factor on the Pioneers' team.

Oakland University coach Gary Parsons also is excited about the new crop of talent coming in this year, including Troy Athens graduate Marty Hagen, Bloomfield Hills Lahser graduate Paul Silvi, and Schoolcraft College transfer Nick O'Shea.

Hagen, who led Athens to the Michigan A-B state soccer title last fall, was chosen as the top high-school soccer player in 1981 by the Michigan Soccer Coaches Association. He also was named all-American by the National Soccer Coaches Association of Ameri-

> O'Shea, a 5-9 150-pounder from Livonia, is a former junior college all-American while playing at Schoolcraft College. He currently is playing in the Michigan Soccer League for the Detroit Sport Club and should provide the Pioneers with some immediate help at midfield.

> Other returning players include senior Dave Morgan from St. Louis; senior Kevin Kelly from St. Louis; juniors Dan Fitzgerald from Granite City, Ill.; Steve Mastrogianis from Toronto; Morris Lupenec from Ontario, and Barry Vince from East Lansing.

Lupenec was the Pioneers' leading scorer last year as he scored 43 points on 20 goals and three assists.

Returning sophomores are Chris Hauer from Fairfield, Ohio; Dave Marttila from Okemos; and John Mehl from Ontario.

Other transfers are junior Scott Kinley from Delta College and Mike Lupenec from Oakland Community College. Joe Allen (Oak Park), Donn Hilker (Pennsylvania) and Paul Larkin (Ontario) round out the list of freshman re-

Gavie tourney kicks off season

In keeping with a 46-year tradition, the 1982 bowling season will open with the Gavie Sweepstakes Monday night at Cherry Hill Lanes.

Fifty teams - 32 men's and 18 women's - will compete in an event that will officially get another heated campaign under way.

While the sweepstakes are more or less a warm-up for the league season, the competition will be keen and the old rivalries will be ready for the All-Star Classic beginning Tuesday at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park.

The new season will have some unusual features, among them the increase in trio leagues, because area unemployment has caused a drop in the number of bowlers to fill five-man teams.

Phoebe Cates (right) is Linda, who greets a new classmate, Stacy, played by Jennifer Jason Leigh, at actionpacked Ridgemont High.

the movies

Louise Snider

This high school is where students learn to spell s-e-x

Of course, "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" (R). Would anyone go to see "Slow Times"?

And when a movie has a title like this one does, could we expect anything but a trashy sex-ploitation film aimed at the teen market? We could hope for soemthing better, but we wouldn't expect it. In that sense, "Fast Times at Ridgemont High" is not a disappointment

It isn't going to win any awards for acting, originality or artistic merit. However, that's not going to bother anyone associated with this movie since such niceties aren't going to harm the box-office receipts. On the countrary, their absence probably contributes to the movie's high potential for financial success

The movie depends upon sex, sex, sex - in action, conversation and graffiti. When sex isn't the immediate subject of a scene, the movie relies on buzz words and stereotypes for laughs.

ALL SOMEONE HAS to do is talk about getting high or act as if he's high and, for some reason, the theater audience always responds with laughter.

Finding this movie offensive when so many people around me in the theater find it funny makes me wonder if I'm just getting to be an old curmudgeon. But curmudgeon or not, I have to use my values as a guideline.

I'm bothered by the "typical" teen-agers of this movie who don't possess a thimbleful of intelligence or self-respect. I'm more bothered by the way the movie sanctions casual sex among teen-agers, implies that anyone who hasn't engaged in oral sex is backward and makes light of a 15-year-old girl's abortion.

When it is over, it's as if nothing happened. There are no repercussions. She doesn't even miss a day of school.

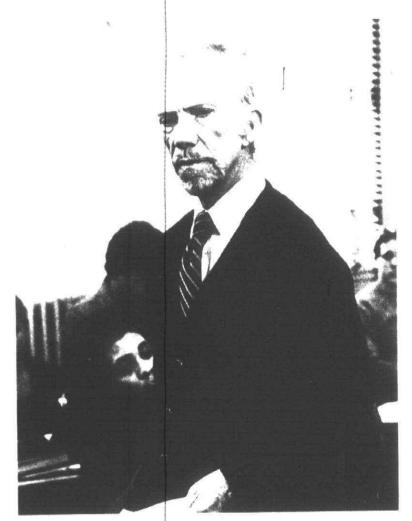

All of this is presented in a loose collection of anecdotal situations as attention shifts from one character to another. The central figure of this not-so-merry-go-round is Stacy (Jennifer Jason Leigh), who goes to Ridgemont High and works at a shoppingcenter pizza parlor.

STACY HAS ALL the reserve of a rabbit in heat. Her first move in meeting any male is to shed her clothes. As you might suspect, this habit gets her into trouble. Advising her in these matters is her best friend, Linda (Phoebe Cates). With a best friend like Linda,

Parents aren't of much help, and they're conspicuously absent from this movie. Teachers are represented by Ray Walston as a sarcastic disciplinarian and Vincent Schiavelli as a ghoulish biolo-

Among the glandularly active males are Robert Romanus as a ticket scalper and D.W. Brown as a stereo salesman. Sean Penn is Spicoli, a spaced-out surfer, and Brian Backr is unique as Ratner, the one young man in the whole school who is shy.

Another character who arouses interest is Stacy's brother, Brad (Judge Reinhold). Brad is shown working at a succession of fastfood places. The indignity of some of these jobs is the only origial observation "Fast Times" makes. It's not enough

Ray Walston is Mr. Hand, Ridgemont High's sarcastic history teacher.

Night driving can be stressful, but that condition can be eased with some care. The Automotive Information Councill (AIC) has compiled some tips pertaining to the car and to the

It suggests that a driver sit in the car for a minute or two before starting to permit the eves to adjust to darkness.

Don't look at the lights of on-coming cars, a practice that will change the focus of the eyes. Instead, look to the right of the lane marker or at the shoulder markings.

Don't wear colored glasses to avoid headlight glare. They reduce needed detail in night

ON A LONG trip, keep alert by moving the eves, arms and legs and take occasional rest stops to reduce eye and body fatigue.

Watch your speed. Don't "over-drive" the distance you can see.

Regarding the car, make sure the headlights and tail lights are clean. Under adverse weather conditions, stop frequently to clean dirt, ice or snow from the lights.

The inside surface of the windshield should be clean to avoid distortion from on-coming headlights. This is especially important in summer if you have a plastic dashboard. Deposits from smoke attract moisture and increase distortion and glare.

WINDSHIELD WIPERS should be able to clean the windshield without leaving streaks or smears, which can hamper vision. Have the blades replaced if the wipers don't clean the windshield.

Check the windshield washer fluid level weekly so you don't get caught with an empty reservoir.

Trolling?

What looks like twin fishing poles sticking from the rear deck of this car actually are antennas for a telephone system on display at the Worlds Fair in Knoxville, Tenn. The caller hears the other party through the car's normal speaker system and speaks through a microphone concealed in the sun visor. The telephone is dialed with push buttons within the electronic instrument panel.
