Officials attempt to extinguish the fire

Sterlini won't supervise, while staff needs are studied

By Dennis O'Connor and Arlene Funke staff writer

Township officials are moving to extinguish the explosive conflict between Treasurer Maria Sterlini and her staff.

In a "compromise" solution, the Township Board Tuesday approved a resolution which will physically separate Sterlini from her clerical workers while personnel needs are being studied. Also, Sterlini will have an assistant as "buffer" between herself and the staff. Employees have described Sterlini as demanding, "paranoid" and impossible to work for.

"In essence, what we are saying is that Maria (Sterlini) is a bad manager, and that's nothing to be ashamed of," said trustee Robert Padget, who made the motion for the resolution.

"Everyone has different talents in different areas," Padget added.

THE BOARD adopted the resolution about 3:15 a.m. Tuesday, following more than eight hours of comments from employees, union officials and lengthy "rebuttals" from Sterlini about grievances and discord within her department.

Padget said he views his motion, approved unanimously, as a "compromise" with Sterlini, who has long felt her department's operation has been hampered by insufficient staffing.

At issue is Sterlini's relationship with three of her staff members. Employees have filed grievances charging that Sterlini causes anxiety by constantly changing work rules and administering the department in an inconsistent manner.

The three, who have been on medication for anxiety, took their case to the Township Board in late August. The matter has been discussed in several lengthy meetings, most of which have been closed.

TUESDAY'S MEETING, which attracted more than 100 observers, finally resulted in a resolution aimed at settling this issue, which included four closed meetings and two open sessions during the past three weeks.

The state Open Meetings Act allows closed meetings when discussing personnel issues and charges against a public officer. Sterlini, who previously requested closed meetings, decided to make her re-

Her testimony focused on issues which previously were brought up by employees during closed sessions. Staff members said Sterlini pitted workers against each other by encouraging them to report infractions and mistakes. In addition, said the employees, Sterlini had told them to refuse to release certain information to other employees or officials without first consulting Sterlini.

Other employees told the board Sterlini ran her department like the "gestapo," checking wastebaskets and looking for electronic "bugs."

STERLINI MAINTAINED she instituted badlyneeded changes, and checks and balances in her department. Clerk John Flodin agreed that Sterlini did straighten out long-standing financial problems.

"The complaints I heard from day one, when I first walked in, no one wanted to work in the treasurer's department," Sterlini said. "Everything was negative, negative, negative."

Sterlini said she had been trying to resolve differences with employees, and that they shouldn't have gone to the board.

"I have spoken to Maria on many occasions about problems in her department," said Personnel Director Dan Durack. "While I believe she tried to make a sincere effort, obviously the things she did or did not do didn't solve the problems - because she didn't realize or recognize there was a problem with her style of management."

Plan prompts mixed reactions

By Arlene Funke and Dennis O'Connor staff writers

Canton Treasurer Maria Sterlini and her three full-time employees expressed mixed feelings about Tuesday night's proposal to help remedy personality and staffing concerns in the treasurer's

However, both parties seemed pleased that these woes finally will be addressed.

All three employees contend there has been an on-going problem with Sterlini's management style. Sterlini believes the problems stem from inadequate resources to perform her department's

"I feel - finally - relieved for the first time," Sterlini said. "I was pleased with the board's reaction. This has been hovering over my department for the past four years."

The board unanimously decided to temporarily shift Sterlini's direct supervisory duties to Finance Director Mike Gorman, while staffing needs in the treasurer's department are examined through Sterlini also will be physically separated from her staff.

The board now recognizes her staffing problem and is willing to work on it, Sterlini said

"We have to find ways to work together," she said. "I think from everything that's happened. . . there is a better understanding of the problems that exist." LORENE HAACK, one of Sterlini's employees, isn't happy with the solution, however. She doesn't think it will work because Sterlini fails to recognize the management problem. "She had an answer for everthing (allegations)," Haack said.

"She has the capability to turn things around. It's strange that she is so right and seven people are so wrong.

Leaves Isbister

Principal to lead training

By Dennis O'Connor

Dr. Beverly Marshall, 14-year principal at Isbister Elementary School, was hired as the "trainer of all trainers" for the schools' Instructional Skills Program (ISP) at Monday night's board meeting.

Marshall, who opened Isbister in 1968, takes a newly-created, one-year position as a "coach" and "trainer" of Plymouth-Canton administrators. She will help area principals improve their evaluative skills using ISP concepts.

"She has as much experience and knowledge about this program than anyone in the district," said Dr. Mike Homes, assistant superintendent of in-

ISP is a new instructional method which is designed to increase learning in the classroom. Teachers, principals and administrators received six full days of in-service training in the program last year. Marshall's objective is to lead and direct evaluation workshops and then observe principals' evaluative skills in the classroom.

"WE EXPECT our a administrators to shore up their evaluative skills and to be on top of the program (ISP)," Marshall explained.

Mickey Edell, president of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association (PCEA), the teachers' union, sent a formal letter of complaint to the administration about the Marshall appointment. The union will not take formal action on the ISP issue, but teachers have expressed concern about using instructional funds to continue this program and create this position, Edell

2 women assaulted

A 34-year-old Canton woman was sexually assaulted Tuesday evening as she jogged along Saltz Road.

The victim was grabbed about 8:45 p.m. near Longfellow, between Sheldon and Canton Center, said police Lt. Dennis Joker.

She broke away, but the assailant caught her and put a rope around her neck, said Joker. He forced the woman into a field and forced her to perform a sexual act upon him, according to police reports.

The man escaped when a car approached, said Joker.

Canton's police tracking dog followed a scent to a location where the assailant's car apparently had been parked, said Joker. There was no description of the vehicle. The man is described as about 26 years old. He is 5-feet-10, and weighs about 160 pounds

Kevin Powell, of Canton, smiles at his 4-year-old son, Robbie, whose medical condition for a malignant brain tumor seems to be improving.

Family takes 'miracle' trip

By Arlene Funke staff writer

Faith and friendship sent the Kevin Powell family to Disney World in Florida.

Powell, 26, of Canton, recently took his son Robbie, 4, and daughter Rachel, 6 to the Disney park - a vacation from hospitals and worry. Robbie has been undergoing treatment at Children's Hospital in Detroit for a malignant brain tumor. Powell's co-workers at PSI Hydraulics in Livonia raised $1,700 to help pay the costs of the Florida trip. The family are expected to return early this week vis.

AS FAR AS Powell is concerned, it is nothing short of a miracle that Robbie was feeling strong enough to take the week-long trip. Robbie's medical condition was poor in February and March, after the tumor was diagnosed, said Powell. The

But in March, a faith healer visited Robbie. The boy began to feel better. Recent medical treatment also has helped, and the tumor currently isn't visible on brain X-

"It has been pretty fantastic," said Powell. "They (doctors) aren't calling it remission (absence of symptoms). There are people who argue, but I'm calling it a miracle." legs.

THE LAST FEW months have been filled with stress, turmoil, faith and hope. In July, Powell and his wife were divorced, with Powell retaining custody of the two children. In August, he was laid off from his job as a valve technician.

But uppermost in Powell's mind are Robbie's improvement, and the warmth and support of people who have offered encouragement and prayers.

The ordeal began in February, when tests indicated Robbie had a tumor in the brain area which controls the heart and respiratory system. Doctors considered surgery too dangerous, said Powell. Robbie was treated with radiation and drugs.

The boy became very ill. He had difficulty breathing. The swelling tumor impaired Robbie's ability to use his hands and legs, said Powell. "It was looking critical," said Powell. "The radiation would prolong his life - buy a little time."

WORD SPREAD about Robbie's illness. In March, a man described as a born-again Christian came to the Powell home and asked permission to lay his hands on Robbie. Some people believe faith can impart a healing power through laying on of hands.

Robbie soon began showing signs of improvement, said Powell. The boy began having greater use of his arms and Rusnock and colleagues Mildred Batterson and Kenneth Marshall discussed the election and its impact shortly Tuesday night shortly after the precinct returns made it clear that they would be recalled.

THE FOURTH board member, Mary Arbour, declined to be interviewed Tuesday. She was red-eyed from crying and was frequently drying her tears while watching the election returns being posted.

Statistically, it was a large turnout

Voters supported the recall by a 58-42 margin with the votes of the four board officers being within 40 of each

In the 30 precincts, the board members trailed in all by two. They led in the absentee ballots.

While the four were unhappy with the results. Marshall, Batterson and Rusnock said they were not surprised at the outcome, only by the large margin of defeat.

ON THE other side of the campaign. the Taxpayers United Together, the group which initiated the recall and worked to oust the four board officers, held a victory party in the Wayne Oddfellows Hall, Glenwood near Venoy, to celebrate their efforts.

Wine bottles were popped open, an appreciation plaque was presented to Rose Mary Miller, TUT's leader, and about 150 persons were happy. At the party were remaining board members Fred Warmbier, David Moranty, and Dewey Combs and former board member Vincent Petitpren who resigned several years to become the Taylor schools' superintendent, a post he left in an ongoing legal dispute on how the board fired his predecessor.

Miller said at her victory party that the recall was a "victory for everyone - it's a win for TUT."

LATER SHE told the Observer that the election "wasn't just a campaign it was the public against four board members.

She added that the removal from the four from office "is a cleansing" and that the public should get a "school district we can afford.'

In the closing days of the campaign, the four board members and their support committee printed a flyer with statements opposing the recall from U.S. Rep. William Ford, state Sen. William Faust, Mayor Patrick Norton of Wayne, and several Westland City Council members.

They said recalls should be used only for extreme purposes and not just over disagreement on one issue.

DURING THE campaign, TUT workers stressed they were upset only with the board's approval of an extended teachers' union contract last fall and salary raises.

Miller said she wasn't surprised by the election's outcome or the margin. "Since 9 a.m. (election day) I was

CAR FIRE: A patrolling Canton police officer discovered a smoldering 1979 Mercury automobile on Beck south of Proctor Sept. 2.

The vehicle, which had been reported stolen from Ypsilanti, was completely destroyed.

BEER BUST: Managers of the Ming Garden restaurant on Sheldon reported the theft of 20 cases of beer Sept. 5.

A police report indicates someone pried open the rear door and stole the beer, which was stored nearby. The value of the beer is $300.

GREEN THUMB: Good's Nursery on Napier was broken into Sept. 6.

According to reports, two sets of footprints were found on the premises. The items reported stolen include garden gloves, flowers and pots and a $75 adding machine.

DRUNK AND DISOR-DERLY: Police officers arrested a man on a disorderly person misdemeanor charge Sept. 2 at the Knight's Inn.

Witnesses told police the man stood in the parking lot, throwing liquor bottles and cursing children. He spoke abusively to officers, and to other prisoners at the police station, according to reports.

PURSES, WALLETS: There has been a rash of purse and wallet thefts from Canton homes.

In most cases, a thief enters through an unlocked doorwall, or pries open a doorwall or window. According to police reports, wallets or purses left lying on a counter or dresser are stolen.

Incidents of that type were reported on Pocatello, Robyn, Redfern, Applewood and Canton Center Road Sept. 1-7.

CHURCH BREAK-IN: The Grace Baptist Church on Michigan Avenue was broken into Aug. 28, according to police.

Someone broke out a window and ransacked the church, said police. Stolen were $40 in cash and a calculator worth $25.

AWAY IT GOES: A Marlowe resident reported the theft of a jet ski (motorized surfboard) from a trailer near his house, say police. The jet ski is valued at $2,500.

RANSACKED HOUSE: A group home for mentally impaired adults on Haggerty was ransacked Aug. 26, according to police.

Sterlini contends the problems go beyond personality clashes. She believes her department needs more staff to perform township duties.

"It wasn't a question of not recogn1zing the problem," Sterlini explained. "But the problem was more serious and deeper than just a question of mismanagement.'

Sterlini is satisfied with the resolution.

"I will make every effort to work with (employees) and try to resolve past problems and find working solutions for all of this, so we can go forward and put whatever has happened somewhat behind us," Sterlini

Under the plan, Sterlini will work with Supervisor James Poole, Flodin and Durack to find a suitable location for Sterlini separate from her workers - either by building a partition or by her moving to a new off-Sterlini has suggested a partition. Poole commended the board for its action, and said he believes the issue can be resolved.

"No magic wand was waved last night (Tuesday)," Poole said. "I think it's going to take a lot of work. but I think we can reach a solution."

Finance Director Mike Gorman will supervise the employees in the treasurer's department, funneling Sterlini's directives. He has been performing that duty for about a week.

Sterlini will maintain all her responsibilities as treasurer, as defined by law. She is in the second year of a four-year term.

In addition, an "unbiased" report will be made of the staffing needs in the treasurer's department.

The solution won't cost the township any additional funds, said Padget. Trustee Steve Larson said it is important that Sterlini eventually "blend" her duties with those of her staff members.

THE ON-GOING PROBLEMS in the Concerns formally surfaced during the last three weeks. All three employees filed a grievance against Sterlini, and the matter reached the board level.

Sterlini and other officials voiced concerns about the board setting a precedent by hearing this grievance, rather than following the standard arbitration process.

Other board members believed this was a special case because the issue affected duties of the treasurer's department and other operations in Township

Adistra Corp. of Plymouth has acguired FLEXPAK Corp. of Phoenix. Adistra, headquartered at 101 Union Street, is a major element in marketing, computer services, and distribution and deals with a large number of international companies including Ford Motor, General Motors, and Chrysler.

John F. Daliere, president of Adistra, said the FLEXPAK acquisition is a significant diversification which substantially strengthens Adistra's capability in the southwest United States.

FLEXPAK markets its products nationwide, added Daliere, but principally is active in Arizona, Texas and California.

FLEXPAK's product line includes molded plastic display materials, vacuum-formed containers as well as blister packaging. FLEXPAK will be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Adistra Corp. SPEAKS TO C-C

Adistra acquires FLEXPAK Omnicom may extend cable

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

After putting Plymouth's cable television concerns to rest, Omnicom officials are turning their attention to Plymouth Township.

Township officials believe Omnicom isn't living up to promises made when the cable franchise was awarded.

Omnicom Vice-President and General Manager Betsy Seeley met with Township Supervisor Maurice Breen Monday afternoon to address some of the concerns.

Seeley discussed the five-point understanding reached with Plymouth, answered some of Breen's questions and agreed to meet with the township board later this month.

"At the meeting we will adress any issues we feel are current and things we are doing in other communities that would be of interest to Plymouth Township," Seeley said.

A specific date for the meeting hasn't been set.

meeting was the possibility of providing cable service in areas which fall below the 70 homes per cable mile requirement in the township cable con-Omnicom is required to provide cable service to all township areas which have potential of 70 home hookups for every mile of cable installed.

The company has agreed to investigate areas which fall below the 70home quota. However, they haven't promised those areas will receive cable.

"It's not abolishing the 70-home-permile requirement. We only agreed that we would evaluate these areas on a project-by- project basis," says Seeley. Cable television service will be provided to the lower home density areas only if there is sufficent subscriber interest.

Omnicom mush must have "upfront commitments" from potential low density subscribers before the cable is installed, Seeley said. If there isn't sufficient interest to insure a return on the company's investment, the cable service won't be offered, she said. Seeley wasn't certain how many subscribers would be required before the service is offered in a low density area.

"We haven't worked out the logistics yet. I couldn't comment on that at this

What it boils down to is how many people would commit to taking cable in that area." she said.

Who has new ideas for county executive position?

staff writer

William Lucas says that if he is elected Wayne County executive, the $17 million deficit will be eliminated with "innovative ideas presented at the proper time.'

Robert FitzPatrick, says his rival, says he left county government in 1974 with a surplus and already has been producing innovations to make county government more efficient.

Lucas and FitzPatrick last week had their first face-to-face confrontation in a meeting of the Suburban Bar Association in Canton.

The soft-voiced Lucas, sheriff since around 800."

1969 and the Democratic nominee, assured the group of 40 he would implement "general reorganization" and "ef-tor of economic development, said he had been championing innovations and reforms for more than a decade, later charging Lucas had not. FitzPatrick, a Democrat who ran as a Republican in order to "get into the finals, continued

The four-time chairman of the County Board of Commissioners said the new jail, when completed, will require new staffing. "We can save 30 to 40 percent of the cost by using correctional guards rather than deputy sheriffs," FitzPatrick said.

FitzPatrick said that when he became chairman in 1971, the county had a $1.8 million deficit; when he left county government in 1974, it had a $12.4 million surplus ("Its last surplus"), and today it's $17 million in the

LUCAS DIDN't discuss the new jail or respond to FitzPatrick's charges until asked about the proposal to use correctional guards rather than deputies.

Lucas said that six years ago he submitted a proposal to the Wayne County Efficiency Task Force that "a separate classification of deputy," at a "significantly lower" salary scale, be implemented.

The sheriff said the plan is "in limbo" and "gathering dust" before the Board of Commissioners.

After the session, FitzPatrick said Lucas didn't advocate the plan to the

LUCAS SAID he ran for the newly created county executive post because "I'm in an admirable position to lend my credentials (to) a job that needs doing."

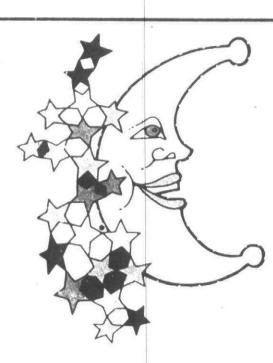

To the published charge that he is part of Wayne County's problem rather than a solution, Lucas said, "I don't agree with that.'

FitzPatrick said he had better credentials because he served four onevear terms as chairman of the county board, had been on the board of the National Association of Counties, had gan Association of Counties, had been chairperson of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, had made 300 to 400 speeches in the early 1970s in favor of county reorganization, had helped produce 13,000 new jobs in his 3 31/2 years as exeuctive director of the Economic Development Corporation and had testified before legislative committees on the bill which created the county executive post.

"My background has been one of reform, and new and innovative changes," he said.

Bill lets voters wipe out road board in '83

By Tim Richard staff writer

Wayne County voters may find themselves voting on a charter amendment next spring to abolish the three-member Road Commission.

"I'm partially pleased," said Sheriff William Lucas, Democratic nominee for county executive who helped push for the legislative change. "I would have liked the entire bundle, but I'm confident that when I present it to the people, they will adopt it."

By the "entire bundle," Lucas meant a state law mandating the abolition of road commission in home rule counties with more than 1.5 million population. The measure would have applied only to Wayne County and left the other 82 counties intact. State Rep. Jeffrey Padden, D-Wyandotte, presented a two-bill package Tuesday which would have done

BUT REP. Tom Brown, D-Westland, chairman of the House Towns and Counties Committee, put his foot down at the state's ordering such a change. He charged that a state law automatically abolishing the Wayne County Road Commission would amount to "amending the charter on the people."

So Brown had the bill amended to allow voters to decide whether they want 1) the present appointive Road Commission, 2) an elective Road Commission or 3) no Road Commission at all, with the county executive being handed those powers and duties.

That plan passed the Towns and Counties Committee on a 9-0 vote and goes to the House floor, where it could run into a fight.

After the committee hearing, Lucas said that, if elected, his first reorganization plan submitted to the Board of Commissioners would ask them to put on the ballot his proposal to abolish the Road Commission and hand its duties and powers to the exec-

AS THINGS STAND, Wayne County's home-rule charter, first in the state, retained the Road Commission, as required by existing law.

But it gave the executive power to appoint and remove the three-member governing board of the Road Commission. The charter also requires that body to submit its work plans to the executive twice yearly so they can be coordinated with the work plans of the Drain Commission and Public Works Department.

Neither Padden nor Lucas is satisfied with that. Said Padden: "The power to hire and fire the Road commission did not change the structure." Eliminating the Road Commission's autonomy, he said, will "make sure more money is spent fixing those damn potholes and less on administration, payroll and accounting." Lucas added that he would like to reorganize county government "without any false barriers."

THE BROWN changes in Padden's bills assure at least a few months more life to a controversial 73member management union which signed a sixyear contract with the Road Commission protect-

"If the Road Commission did not exist, there would be no contract. It's Lucas' position as well: If there's no Road Commission, no contract."

Lucas agreed. The front-runner in the county-executive race said he declined to participate in a lawsuit challenging the validity of the pact because it would take many months with no assurance that the foes of the Road Commission union would win.

Lucas' opponent, Robert FitzPatrick, had agreed to join a suit by the Midwestern Legal Foundation seeking to invalidate the contract. The foundation, however, wouldn't file the suit unless both Lucas and FitzPatrick, the Democratic and Republican nominees, respectively, would be co-plaintiffs. So there will be no suit.

Bomb squad extracts grenade

The Michigan State Police bomb squad removed a practice grenade from a Plymouth Township home Monday night.

The unarmed grenade was thrown through a window of a house on Ann Arbor Trail, and lodged in a living room wall, according to police reports.

Plymouth police officers Rick Webster and Mel Meck responded to the call about 11:30 p.m. Monday. The officers found the grenade imbedded in the* Additional Plymouth and Livonia police units were called in and the area was sealed off. Surrounding homes were evacuated and the State Police bomb squad was called in.

The bomb squad officers pulled the grenade from the wall and found it to be an unarmed practice type.

"There is no apparent motive for anyone to throw the grenade into the house," said Police Chief Carl Berry.

Police are continuing to investigate the incident and the owner of the home declined comment.

Bill lets voters wipe out road commission in 1983

DESPITE THE EASY victory in the Towns and Counties Committee, however, Padden and Lucas acknowledged they would have a tougher time on the floor of the Legislature.

John Grubba, managing director of the Oakland County Road Commission, had two objections to the bills, even after Brown's amendments were adopted:

1) "Wayne County will not receive gasoline and weight taxes" because the PA 51 of 1950, which splits those revenues, specifies they go to road commissions. But the act could be easily be amended, Grubba said in an interview outside the committee room door.

2) "If all powers and duties go to the chief executive, those include the power to budget, set priorities for roads without input from the County Board of Commissioners," said Grubba. "That's far too much power without checks and balances. This (bill) doesn't bring the county commissioners into the process at all.

"Their (Wayne County's) problems are people problems. You can't solve people problems with legislation."

OTHERS MAY also fight.

Earl Rogers, representing the County Road Association, objected to Padden's bills, fearing "the integrity of the gasoline and weight tax money" would be jeopardized if the funds were spent at the discretion of the county executive.

Dave Machtel, legislative director of the Michigan Townships Association, objected that there was no guarantee, if voters should opt for continuing a road commission, that townships be represented on the road board.

School officials should strive to communicate

CHOOL ADMINISTRATORS and the Board of Education face two important workshops in the next nine days. These meetings will lay the foundation and direction in the next few years for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

No immediate "hot" issues face the board at these workshops. No angry residents plan to vent frustrations about high taxes and low services in the district. Talks will be philosophical in nature.

Because of this, public participation probably will be minimal.

And it is unfortunate because these sessions are critical. The workshops truly will be an exercise in communication. The ultimate goal is clear lines of communication between the board, administration and the taxpayers so everyone understands the philosophy and direction our elected officials will choose on future school issues.

It hasn't always been that way.

THE FIRST WORKSHOP takes place at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the board office, 454 Harvey, Plymouth. At that time, the board will discuss its goals and objectives for the upcoming school year. Results from an attitudinal survey, recently conducted by school officials, also will be interpreted and reviewed.

Hopefully, officials will take the time to compare their results to the Observer's readership survey prepared last February.

Our survey attracted more than 1,600 responses. It expressed the service priorities of the community during these difficult economic times.

Our results should be an important element of future decisions in the next budget-cutting process.

THE SECOND MEETING is a two-day, weekend workshop 3-10 p.m. Friday, Sept. 24 and 7-11 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 25 in the board office.

Some of the topics to be discussed include: 1982-83 budget update and projected revenues and expenditures for 1983-84; safety busing philosophy; staffing, class size and length of school day at all education levels; enrollment projections; guidelines and criteria for closing schools; high school curriculum - computer expansion, require more mandated courses for graduation; development of highlevel, districtwide mathematics program; improved teacher evaluations and high school counseling program; possible reduction of class size with the elimination of art, music and physical education at the elementary level; and operation of the athletic concept with alternative funding.

It is suggested that the following topics also be discussed at this workshop:

- Increasing resource materials in school libraries and media centers.
- Philosophy of student-operated radio station.
- Restructuring of administrative duties and staffing at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP).
- Future direction of the Talented and Gifted program.
- Short-term instructional goals while implementing the long-range Instructional Skills Pro-

 Better use of community relations department to help educate and communicate with the public and to get residents involved with the district.

BOARD PRESIDENT Tom Yack said one of his top priorities is to help increase communication between the board and administration.

It is no secret that Yack, and other board members, were unhappy when they learned the administration proceeded to print the recently revised attendance policy at the CEP in the students' handbook before the board gave final approval to the new rules.

These things happen when communication lines break down between the board, administration and the community.

Now is Yack's chance to bridge that communication gap when these meetings begin.

It is imperative the board take control of these issues, develop common directions and philosophies. and make sure administration implements these concepts throughout the district.

Headlee's big problem: GOP women

ICK HEADLEE has a problem with the women's vote. I have detected it myself in listening to comments women volunteer about the Republican candidate for governor. They are really scared of the Mormon father of nine who opposes the federal Equal Rights Amend-

The Headlee campaign also perceives it has a problem, and last week state Sen. John Engler of Mt. Pleasant put together a meeting with Headlee and Republican women in state government.

State Reps. Ruth McNamee of Birmingham, Sylvia Skrel of Livonia and Shirley Johnson of Royal

"HE DOESN'T allude to women in the work force (in speeches)," said McNamee afterwards.

"There are women who work because they have to — heads of single-parent households, trying to put youngsters through school or college.

"Forget ERA and abortion. He has to understand there are a large group of women in the work force, recognize and have empathy with them.' Skrel used the meeting to push an idea for a bill. It would allow working parents a partial deduction of day-care expenses from taxable income under the state income tax. Day care, she contends, should be a legitimate expense in the earning of a living, just like mileage. ONE OF HEADLEE'S problems, they found, is that he is reluctant to talk about his own record as president of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. They were impressed by his company's: • Female executives. Eleven women are at the assistant vice president, manager and director level, including Loretta Abrams, assistant vice president for credit administration, and Lee Zohrob, assistant vice president and associate general coun-

• Allowing "flextime," whereby women employees may modify their own schedules to accommodate their families as long as they put in their required hours.

They were also impressed by the day-care center for Headlee campaign workers and the fact that the organizational brain in his headquarters is campaign manager Mari Egbert.

Said Johnson: "He took it for granted that it was good business to do those things. Added Skrel: "Why, oh why, didn't you let us

HEADLEE MADE a point of saying his party has a strong record of placing women in high positions in government: the only two women senators, the first woman Supreme Court justice, the only woman on the Michigan Supreme Court, the only major party woman candidate for the state high court in Intresting, but it doesn't reflect on Dick Headlee, one way or the other.

Skrel pounded home the message that Headlee must talk about more than jobs; he must talk about 'jobs for men and women.'

For some women, the sun rises and sets on the issues of ERA and abortion. Others, however, are concerned about issues of civil service, moving up into management, day care, flextime and what Skrel calls "comparable worth."

The last refers to "the effort to raise wages for female-dominated jobs," said Skrel. "Unlike 'equal pay for equal work,' it reaches wage inequities associated with occupational segregation and allows us to compare different jobs which share comparable skills, efforts and responsibilities.'

High-level secretaries and registered nurses should be rubbing their hands at that one.

NOW WE COME to the bottom line. Are these Republican women convinced that Headlee is sensitive to the problems of working women? McNamee summed it up: "He convinced me in some areas. In others, I'll have to follow up."

Caving in to Sims

Ford has a poorer idea

OR THE PAST several years, the daily prints, magazines and airwaves across the nation have been filled with the message: "Ford has a better idea."

Now The Stroller has reason to wonder if it is true.

When William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions and a bigwig in the Ford Motor Co., bowed to the Lions' star running back, Billy Sims, and gave him a personal interview to get him back in the fold, he could have set a dangerous precedent.

By agreeing to Sims' demands, Ford bypassed his general manager and all the others who have a voice in the conduct of the football business. In fact, they also bypassed the players' association. And this could have some telling effects around the entire National Football League.

WOULD FORD have bowed to a workman on the assembly line if he were dissatisfied with his wages or working conditions? You can bet the demand would have been sent through channels. The union, the personnel office and the plant manager would have stepped into the picture.

And if it had been any other player, chances are he also would not have been given a personal interview by the owner.

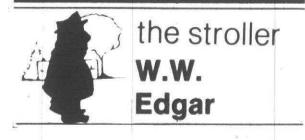

But when Ford catered to his running back, who was complaining over what was termed a handshake in good faith, he opened the door for all sorts of trouble.

He made a hero out of Sims, and it would only be natural if the running back would take on a haughty air and feel a bit above the other players. In that case, the players could revolt in a manner that would be detrimental to all concerned. The linemen could refuse to clear the path for Sims and let him attempt to pick up yardage alone. It has been done many times previously — the men who do the blocking sort of lay down on the job.

And Sims, left alone to gain ground around the ends or off the tackles, would have a most difficult time picking up yardage.

Then what? The team would falter. Sims would be reduced to just another back, and even the franchise would suffer.

MORE THAN THAT, Ford's action could cause the players union to step in and handle the problems of its members, and Ford would have a real battle on his hands.

It all seems rather strange that he would yield to a player who already was receiving a salary estimated at $450,000 annually. He could have forced Sims' hand and asked him to go back to Texas, like many of the other owners would have done. But Ford yielded and made a hero out of a disgruntled It will be most interesting to see what will happen when the real struggles begin down on the playing field, for Ford has set a dangerous precedent. Already two players have left the squad.

LEARNING OF Ford's capitulation, The Stroller turned back the pages to the time some years ago when one of the Tigers came into the office to talk contract with Frank Navin, owner of the baseball

As they began to talk, the player introduced his companion, informing Navin he would serve as the player's agent.

Navin sat silent. Then, as a strong-willed owner would do, he ordered them both out of the office. He warned the player that if he wanted to continue as a member of the team, he would have to come back alone to discuss his contract.

That ended what had looked like a battle of

But there was none of Navin's attitude in William Clay Ford. He capitulated to the wishes of a player. Do you think Ford had a better idea?

Bendix's fate doesn't faze Main Street

IDNIGHT OIL is burning in the headquarters of Bendix Corp. on Civic Center Drive in Southfield. Tension is in the air. A few blocks away, kites are flying in a city park. Antique enthusiasts attend a show in the city's Civic Center. Theater patrons rush to a movie at the Prudential Town Center. Bendix is battling for its corporate survival. An aggressive acquisition program has backfired. Bendix wanted to purchase the stock of the Martin Marietta. Now Martin Marietta has turned around and claims it will purchase enough shares to control Corporate giant United Technologies has entered the fray and is also trying to purchase Bendix stock. As The Wall Street Journal says of Bendix, "the predator has become the prey." Yet life in Southfield continues undisturbed. People are more interested in a healing the wounds after ending a teacher strike that delayed the start of

The fate of Bendix has no effect on the daily lives of those living in Southfield.

THIS POINTS out the curious relationship which exists between suburban communities and major corporations housed in those communities. Besides Bendix, Southfield is also the headquarters of Federal Mogul, American Motors and Eaton. Other suburban communities also house major corporations including Kmart and Rockwell International in Troy, Burroughs in Plymouth and Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance in Farmington Hills.

In addition, top executives for automobile companies and their suppliers live throughout the suburban area.

These corporations and their executives have little effect on suburban communities. Most local leadership is provided by professionals and the proprieters of small businesses.

CARL STODDARD, editor of the Southfield Eccentric, says people in Southfield would be interested in the fate of Bendix if there were fear the company would leave, taking jobs and tax dollars. That fear is not present; thus, there is not much interest in Bendix.

"Two communities (business and residential) coexist in Southfield, but they do not co-mingle," Stoddard says. To a certain extent, that same relationship exists in most suburban communities. I remember a few years ago when William Agee, chairman of Bendix, and his wife were "honorary" co-chairpersons of the annual fund-raising drive at The Community House in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Agee politely met all of the locals who attended a fund-raising event. They looked like a happily married couple as they greeted the guests. After they put in their obligatory hour, they depart-

A few weeks later it was revealed that Mr. and Mrs. William Agee were not so happily married. He was in the process of a divorce, and his relationship with Bendix vice president Mary Cunningham was disclosed.

That appearance was the extent of Agee's participation the Birmingham fund drive.

WHY DO major corporations play so small a role in local affairs?

Perhaps corporate life takes up so many working hours that there's not much time left for the com-

Corporations also frequently transfer executives. Psychologically, it's difficult for corporate families to put roots into a community only to be moved again. Thus, executives keep their distance from their communities.

Corporations no longer expect executives to be active in community activities, as they did a few years ago. That was a "frill" eliminated by the re-

Whatever the reason, a peculiar relationship exists between suburbs and major companies residing in the suburbs. What's important on Wall Street is not important on Main Street.

Resident disputes editorial piece

To the editor:

After reading your editorial of Sept. 13, I think you need to be informed of

First, the treasurer is the only department head that is without a deputy or head clerk, or supervisor. The building department has a head clerk, the recreation department has a director, supervisor and superintendent. The planning department has a planner and an assistant.

The police and fire department have chains of command. Even Clerk John Flodin has the finance department to handle some of his work. The finance department has a deputy and a head clerk, but the treasurer has no one.

The treasurer has a deputy who gets no pay and doesn't work. The treasurer budgeted in her budget for a full-time deputy or manager. When she took her choice to the board, the board turned her down. Now they want to restructure her department, and give her a manager. Why didn't they listen to her before?

Secondly, how do you know "Sterlini is a poor manager." Where do you get your information from? Do you have a 'deep throat" at Township Hall? That sounds libelous, unless you can prove it.

You have made a judgment, and you haven't heard her side of it vet.

As a taxpayer in Canton, I think our elected officials, "the management team," should stick together to iron out management/employee problems.

I agree with Deana Salhaney's letter (on Sept. 13). If the board and supervisor can't handle the job without trying to make one of the "team" a scapegoat, maybe we need some new people in their jobs.

Thirdly, the employees state that the problem has been going on for months. Why didn't they take action before this? What was their union, and our personnel director, doing about the problem — sitting on their hands?

No. 4, If the emotional problems of two of the women were so bad for so long, why didn't they go to their own doctors before now?

No. 5, who sent these employees to the emergency Oakwood Hospital and not let them go home to their own doc-

No. 6, why was the third employee given the same time off with pay when there was nothing wrong with her?

No. 7, Supervisor James Poole was questioned on Sept. 7 if the doctor at Oakwood Hospital had sent the employees back with a disability. He said,

Whose authority was used to pay these people for sick time? There was no medical restriction. The problems seem to be solvable in-house and not brought before the public. The board can put our money to better use.

No. 8, the supervisor is the tax assessor for the township. He has delegated this authority to Wayne County, and the treasurer has the day-to-day work for any questions. But he hasn't given her any personnel to handle the extra work. The treasurer is the tax collector, not

No. 9, if conditions are as bad as the employees say they are in the treasurer's office, why did a former employee ask for her job back and now is back to

I hope that the "management team" will give the treasurer, Maria Sterlini, the proper manpower and support that she deserves, or maybe we need a new

Livonia politico defends Sterlini

There has been some recent controversy in Canton between the new city administration and the treasurer.

I personally know Marie Sterlini from the Wayne County treasurers' meetings, and I find her to be a competent dedicated and honest individual, whom I have a lot of respect for.

It seems ironic how all women treasurers of larger cities that control millions of dollars must fight to keep control of those funds. Myself, and Lillian Dannis of Warren, have both gone to court to stop interference in our offic-

Control of funds belongs in the treasurer's office and the state law is on Marie's side.

It's time Supervisor (James) Poole stopped the "political garbage" and let Marie do her job and run her own office as she has for three years even before he was there.

> Elaine Tuttle Treasurer Livonia

Editor's note: Canton is a township, not a city. Sterlini's first name is Maria, not Marie. She was in office two years, not three, before Poole was elected supervisor. And for those two years she was an appointed deputy treasurer, not an elected treasurer.

Board should not interfere

To the editor:

On Sunday, Aug. 29, I made individual phone calls to all of the members of Canton's Board of Trustees, with the exception of Loren Bennett, protesting the improper treatment of our treasurer, Maria Sterlini.

I expressed my very deep concerns about airing the township's interdepartment problems in public. I also stated that this kind of personnel issue should be handled by our professional staff within the township and should follow the grievance procedure as provided in the union contract.

From what I have heard and read in the newspapers, I only can say that our Township Board has demonstrated a breakdown in our management structure which makes it almost impossible to have a smooth-functioning organization in the township.

I feel when department issues occur. it should be the function of the management team to form a trinity to main-

As a taxpayer and voter of Canton Township, I will not tolerate any interference from the board that would lessen our treasurer's abilities to function, and I would protest strongly any removal of her responsibilities or duties. Please remember that Maria Sterlini was elected by us and is only responsible to the voters and taxpayers - not to the board or anyone the board hires. Geri Marciniak

Many helped for Festival

To the editor:

The Plymouth Fall Festival Board greatly appreciated the dedication, good spirit, fellowship and hard work which everyone extends to put on the festival.

A special thanks goes to all the service clubs, city employees, civic groups, entertainers, judges, participants and newspapers for all their hard work. The time of celebration is over too quickly compared to the hours of preparation.

A special thanks to all who visited the community who helped the service groups to raise funds for local projects. The board hopes every one had an enjoyable time at the Fall Festival. Thanks again to every one for making Fall Festival a success.

"The Misfits" (1961), 1 p.m. Sunday on Ch. 50. Originally 124 minutes.

Read between the lines on Marilyn Monroe's face while watching this John Huston film, and you won't wonder for too long why the fabled sex symbol took her own life in 1962. Allegations of Monroe's connections with the Kennedy brothers and CIA involvement in her death take a back seat to the worn exterior of this alcohol- and drug-addicted 35-year-old star. Read also into the face of co-star Montgomery Clift, who died at age 35 in 1966, and you'll see the same sort of desperation. Clift and Monroe - and Clark Gable, to a lesser degree - essentially played themselves in "The Misfits," which is part of what makes it such a fine film. Huston's no-nonsense directorial style, wherein he allows his stars to carry the burden and create the essence of the film, accounts for the rest of the film's flair and ultimate success. Thelma Ritter and Eli Wallach also star.

"Shaft" (1971), 12:15 Sunday night on Ch. 7. Originally 100 minutes.

Films diversified in the late-1960s and early-1970s in hopes of reaching every potential moviegoer. There was nothing altruistic about the movement. Filmmakers simply realized that previously untapped market groups could be enticed to come and pay their $2 or $3 for a movie. It probably began with the appeal to youth of "The Graduate" in 1967 and intensified with the counter-culture-draw of "Easy Rider" two years later. At any rate, by the '70s, most films were aimed at some distinct target audience. There were more youth and counter-culture films, films for and about unmarried women, senior-citizen films, gay films and, of course, black films. One of the first black films, and perhaps the best of a long line, was "Shaft." Richard Roundtree plays the slick private eye, and he brings to the role a believability missing from all the "Shaft" spinoffs and sequels. Isaac Hayes wrote the music. Rating: $2.85.

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" (1966), 8 p.m. Wednesday on Ch. 50. Originally 99

"Everybody ought to have a maid," seems to be the rallying cry of film fanatics who number this movie among their favorites. To be sure, that song from the film, as well as many others. recommend this Richard Lester picture with the Stephen Sondheim score. But both director and composer have difficulty maintaining that charm for the duration of the film. "Funny Thing" has as many low points as highs; still, it's a film worth seeing at least once. Zero Mostel, Phil Silvers and Jack Gilford star.

Rating: $2.75.

Bonstelle opening with drama 'Eden'

The Bonstelle Theatre at Wayne State University in Detroit opens its season Oct. 1 with "Eden," an award-winning drama by Horace E. (Steve) Carter, Jr. Performances are at 8 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays through Oct. 10.

Set in a mid-Manhattan apartment building in the 1920s, "Eden" explores the intra-racial conflicts between the blacks of America and those transplanted from the West Indian islands.

Dwelling across the hall from one - mother, father, two sons and two family.

daughters - and a middle-aged widow and her nephew. When a romance develops between the nephew and the younger of the West Indian daughters, her father, an ardent follower of Marcus Garvey (the first influential Black Nationalist), refuses to condone their relationship.

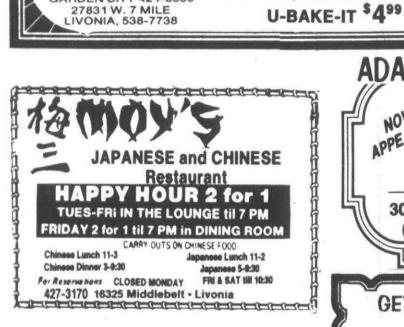

Although he does not appear as a character in "Eden," Garvey figures significantly in the action of the play. His philosophy is represented by the character of Joseph Barton, the autoanother are a West Indian family of six cratic patriarch of the West Indian

Dems rescue 'prevailing wage'

By Tim Richard staff writer

Democrats in the Michigan Senate last week beat down a Republican attempt to wipe the "prevailing-wage" requirement out of construction contracts financed with local-government

"The prevailing wage is really putting a damper on economic development," argued Sen. Robert Vander-Laan, R-Kentwood, author of the

"To eliminate the notion of prevailing wage," answered Sen. Doug Ross, R-Southfield, "all of us will find ourselves buying from companies which pay the lowest wages."

IN AN 18-13 vote — two shy of the needed 20 - the Senate rejected VanderLaan's amendment to a bill aimed at giving the state Labor Department authority to enforce the prevailingwage requirement. Seven senators were absent.

The main bill requires that the prevailing wage be paid by all contractors and sub-contractors working on projects financed by local economic development corporation (EDC) bonds. No vote was taken on the main bill. HB 4719, sponsored by Rep. Joe Conroy, D-

Supporting the VanderLaan amendment were Republicans Donald Bishop of Rochester and R. Robert Geake of Northville.

Opposed was Ross. Missing for the vote were Democrats Jack Faxon of Southfield. William Faust of Westland and Dana Wilson of Ferndale.

VANDERLAAN said the Michigan definition of "prevailing wage" is about 20 percent higher than the federal defi-

The Senate GOP leader contended the state prevailing wage is "adding 15 to 25 percent to the cost of construction, especially outstate." He said five projects were halted in Midland and Saginaw because companies balked at the state prevailing wage, which is largely a union-contract wage rather than an average wage.

"The prevailing wage has negated the effect of the Economic Development Act," said VanderLaan, arguing that the money saved by using lowerinterest EDC bonds is eaten up by labor

"To give people high wage rates rather than jobs is wrong," he said.

SEN. JOHN KELLY, D-Detroit, was first to reply.

"Labor costs are only 16 percent of total construction costs in the country," Kelly said. On that basis, Michigan's prevailing wage may be 20 percent higher than other states, but as a percentage of total construction costs, the wage differential is only 3-4 percent.

"The entire EDC act hasn't served its purpose," he said, citing national reports of EDC bonds being used to help fast-food restaurants at freeway interchanges.

Kelly said EDC bonds, which are exempt from federal income taxation, and tax breaks for new businesses shift the burden of taxation from corporations to people.

VanderLaan shot back: "To create a dichotomy . . . to conjure up antibusiness feeling . . . is out of date. To dredge up class warfare is to beat a dead horse."

ROSS APPROACHED the issue from the beginning.

"In private contracts, wages are determined by people buying and selling labor," he said, with government's role limited to determining a minimum

But government acquired an interest when it became a major purchaser. Ross said the federal government developed its concept of prevailing wage because it wanted to pay neither the very highest nor the very lowest wages.

The VanderLaan amendment, Ross went on, "puts the state in a position of bias of buying from the lowest-wage employers."

But Ross contended that the EDC wasn't the appropriate place to address the prevailing-wage question. The bill was designed to give enforcement authority to the Department of Labor. The prevailing wage and how to define it should be the subject of a separate debate, said Ross.

Ross was firm that EDC projects are the equivalent of a government grant and that state government has an interest in what wages are paid. "Putting government (bonding) authority behind bonds isn't different from a grant just a separate way of doing it," he

KITTY CARLISLE, first of the Town Hall celebrity lecturers, will be here early next month. The Broadway star, songstress and television actress will talk about "My Life on the Wicked Stage."

The Plymouth Y Town Hall Series is a first for the community.
Lectures will be in the Penn
Theatre, and celebrity luncheons will follow in the Mayflower Meeting House. The glamorous
Kitty will respond to questions from her audience at the luncheon. She chairs the New York State Council on the Arts but still finds time to work the Town Hall circuit.

The local series opens at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6. Season tickets for the series of four lectures are $25 for regular, $30 for sustaining, and $35 for patron. Patrons will have reserved seats and names listed in the program series. Persons can call the Y office, 453-2904, for information. Or they may purchase tickets Thursday and Friday, Sept. 16 and 17 at the Peddlers Corner in the Four Seasons eatery on Forest Avenue.

Tickets also may be obtained for individual lectures.

Town Hall planners Carol Lewis, Jan McKelvey, Gae McCord and Janet Luce selected four winners for the 1982-82 series. They have Irene Kampen, a best-selling author with a delightful sense of humor; Bill Schustik, historic balladeer; and Jack Reynolds, NBC bureau chief.

Each of the lecturers rates star billing on established Town Hall programs, and the fact that they were signed for a new series is something of a masterstroke.

THE GRANGE did it again.
They added their own touch to the Fall Festival with their homemade pies, cookies, doughnuts, and other good food. Helen Eckles, the lovely lady who makes the apple and pumpkin pies, proved she has not lost her touch.

How they put in those long days at the Grange Hall, no one knows. When Helen left at 11 p.m. Saturday, she took home half a peck of apples to peel before she returned the next morning.

Record pie sale during a festival is 375 pies. This year, they sold about 150.

THE PLYMOUTH Theatre Guild's first venture of serving a meal at the festival wasn't successful — although the ham dinner was of excellent quality.

As usual the guild's cotton candy wagon did a rip-roaring business.

FESTIVAL Manager Carl Glass has taken some joshing over his first bus-driving effort. Carl ducked, but the city of Plymouth's double-decker bus didn't for the marquee at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

PARTY BRIDGE games at the Plymouth Cultural Center were canceled last Thursday because of the Symphony League Antique Mart. Winners on the preceding Thursday were Maxine Huey and Charles Swithers. Frances Peters and Joan Savage had high scores the last week in August.

THE BLU Chapter (Plymouth Salem High School) of the Athletic Boosters Club is getting an early start on its 50-50 fund-raiser this season. First winner will be announced at the Rocks' home game with Livonia Churchill Friday, Oct. 1 at the CEP stadium.

The first $100 will be given away at the football game. It costs $20 to enter, and the fund-raiser goes on for 20 weeks with proceeds going to the high school athletic teams. Call Cindy Merrifield, 453-6511, or Barb McBride, 455-1274, or ask the Salem coaches about participation. We'll continue to announce the winners.

SENIOR citizens of Plymouth Township agreed to admit seniors who live in the city of Plymouth to their Friendship Station activities. The township seniors voted last Friday to extend social memberships to city residents. Membership fee is $1 per month.

They will meet at noon Friday at the station on Schoolcraft Road at Bradner. Take along a brown bag lunch and join the fun — cards, crafts, and so on.

League preserves art of story telling

Linda Aldrich uses special aprons for some of her stories.

The old art of storytelling is alive and well.

This reassuring statement comes from Linda Aldrich of Plymouth, president of the Detroit Story League. She describes the league as a service organization.

Members offer their services to children of all ages in hospitals, in public and church schools, in camps, and in libraries.

Aldrich's storytelling skills are come into effective use in her first-grade classroom in the Clarenceville School District. She has attentive listeners among the fifth-graders in the Novi schools when they spend a week at camp. And when she returned to her hometown of Vermontville, Mich., she discovered that a senior citizens group was enthralled by a good story.

Through stories the teller challenges others to laugh, to be happy, to be brave, to be comforted, to travel in faraway places, to know interesting and great people of every race and creed.

THE DETROIT Story League was founded 70 years ago by Mary Conover of the Detroit Children's Library. It is a branch of the central division of the National Story League.

"The central division stretches from Michigan to Texas," said Aldrich. "There also are eastern and western divisions"

The national organization began in the summer of 1903 in Knoxville, Tenn.

More than 2,000 teachers from all sections of the country had gathered for a conference. Each evening a few teachers congregated on the lawn of the university and told stories. The meetings grew from attendance of several dozen to several hundred.

At their last meeting they organized into a Story Tellers' League which afterwards became the National Story League.

Its one fundamental purpose was to discover in the world's literature, history and life, the best stories. They would tell them to the young people with love and sympathy.

ALDRICH said members of the league collect stories.

Some use poetry. Some use gestures. Some sit quietly and use a conversational tone of voice. She utilizes many-pocketed aprons for some of her stories. She has a grandma's apron, poetry apron.

The storytellers share stories. She has about 20 in her collection.

"I memorize my stories; a good story is worth memorizing. I have seen a storyteller take a three-paragraph story and elaborate on it," she said.

They always are looking for new stories, buying out-of-print books and adding to their libraries. She said some very old stories have been revived. With artwork they have become become best sellers among the new books for children.

Conventions present opportunities for sharing stories from all over the world. She says some wonderful tales have come from Africa.

One of their members collects southern ghost stories.

LGUE members have taped stories for the blind and for radio programs.

Aldrich said television and picture

Aldrich said television and picture books have not taken away children's interest in a good story. "They love the opportunity to use their imagination."

The national group chooses a central theme for each year. This year it is "Memories." In keeping with this, the Detroit Story League will have "Golden Rule Days" for its September theme.

The public is invited to attend the first meeting of the new season at noon

Saturday, Sept. 18 in the Farmington Community Center. The center is at 24705 Farmington Road, north of 10 Mile Hostess Dinghy Sharp will be assisted by Lorraine Davis and Barbara Smith. Those attending are asked to provide their own sandwich.

Serving with Aldrich as league officers are Donna Teichman of Redford Township as vice president, Ruth Breault of Westland as treasurer, and Katie Allam of Redford Township as Persons interested in membership can call Roberta Bullough, 464-7084; Ruth Kroepel, 477-5622; or Aldrich, 420-2588.

Aldrich said the professional storytellers have their own organization. It is the National Association for the Preservation and Perpetuation of Story

Charles Laughton, great professional story teller, said, "I like stories better than anything else that is made by Members of the story league agree with this quote from Laughton's book, "Tell Me a Story."

Carol Figore stamped a hand as more than 10,000 persons flocked to the artists and craftsmen show in Central Middle School.

Exhibitors Sue Watt and Mark Chatterly talked to a prospective buyer at the show.

Record crowd at artshow

The two-day artists and craftsmen show in Central Middle School attracted between 10,000 and 11,000 visitors. This was the estimate when Sherry Lewis, who chaired the show, and other members of the Plymouth Community Arts Council finally had time to draw deep breaths and talk things over.

"We didn't use the counters this year, because we did not think they were accurate," said the chairman. "But we figure we had a few more than last year from our receipt tally."

She added that the people were buying — even the more expensive items were selling. "This was a pleasant surprise in view of the economy," she said.

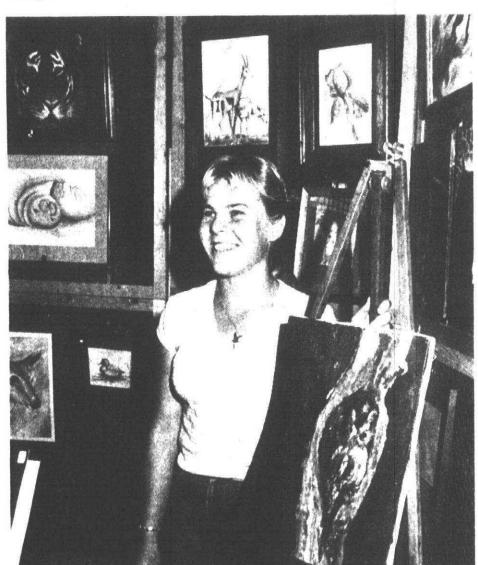

Youngsters who attended the show donned paint shirts and added their artistic touch to the long murals in the school hallway. Cathy Graves was in charge of the popular project which gave parents an opportunity to browse through the show.

This was the 11th annual arts and crafts show arranged by the PCAC in conjunction with the Plymouth Fall Festival. From early estimates, the show will maintain its standing as the second most lucrative festival project.

Lewis said the arts council and the Central Middle School PTO will meet to discuss a more efficient cooling and ventilation system in the school gym-

Cambry Ann Linville, 2, had her hands cleaned after her painting stint on the mural provided for the children.

Heidi Reichenbach, an arts council scholarship winner, had a booth at the show.

Therese Gall made a fesh batch of iced tea in the rest area provided for the exhibitors.

HE LAST TIME Pearl Mahl had a family reunion, she had just moved to Canton with her family - about seven years ago.

Pearl works for the Observer Newspapers, and she persuaded "Ann the Clown," also from the Observer, to attend the party and give the grandchildren and great-grandchildren an afternoon surprise.

They came from Warren, Monroe, New Boston, Allen Park, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and West Virginia for the long-awaited gathering. Many happy memories were shared by the 60 people who attended. With four generations present, most of them bringing a dish to pass, there was enough food for everyone to enjoy and still feed all of Sunflower Subdivision.

MANY OF us who have come to this area without relatives close by relish the good times we all have enjoyed in years past.

Larry Schaffer of Canton is on his way to Paris, France because of a recent promotion with American Motors. A resident of Sunflower subdivision for several years, he received a sincere bon voyage from many of his neighbors and friends in Canton.

A FEW CANTON residents have relocated in the past six months to Co. Friends and neighbors gave Charlie Freece a proper Mexican send-off. Guests came from Lima and Youngstown to wish the former Ohio resident Norm and Chris Dancy, Lynn and Ted Porter, Cheryl and Mike Deitel Betty and Joe Hellmers, Tom and Luelleman, Tom and Karen Braun, are a few of the Cantonites on hand for their personal good wishes.

A resident of Canton for six years, Charlie was involved in the Indian Guides program, holding the position of tribe leader for a short term.

Pleasant journey to Larry and Charlie and best wishes to both of them in their new positions with their employ-

MARY JANE and Vernon Peck were instrumental in forming the neighborhood watch program in Carriage Hills IV subdivision.

As in many areas, the interest is there, but it takes residents with initiative to bring an important program into being. Mary Jane and Vernon are seven-year residents of Canton and continue to take a deep interest in the community surrounding them. DONICA KEOGH will be working frantically for the next few weeks for the children with her same medical handicap. The Juvenile Diabetes Foundation is holding a Tri-Athlon in com-

Chihuahua, Mexico, with Ford Motor ing weeks. If you enjoy riding a bike, jogging or walking, pick up a pledge card at any Farmer Jack store in our

> Some of the exciting prizes awarded for the highest total amount of pledges are 10-speed bicycles, videotapes, Adidas and Nike running shoes, jogging suits, computer games and radios. There will be free T-shirts and refreshments for everyone participating at the two locations - the General Motors Tech. Center in Warren or the Ford Motor Design and Engineering Center

For more information, call 569-6171 and they will answer your questions on how a Tri-Athlon works for all of us.

BELIEVE IT or not Eileen and Bob Dunn are back. I bet some of you didn't even know they left. Along with their two daughters Erin and Megan they moved to eastern Ohio about eight months ago.

Eileen was on the board of directors of the Canton Newcomers a few years ago. She was a troop leader for the Girl Scouts in her school district and an avid supporter of our great library.

Their home in the Miller School area was never sold, so they just moved right back in, and their neighbors and friends in Canton think we are very lucky to have them back.

Soucy-Paganone

Ardyth Lynn Paganone and Gary David Soucy exchanged marriage vows July 31 at First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. The Rev. Thomas H. Cook officiated and Robert W. Jones was organist at the early evening service. The bride is the daughter of James E. and Shirley Paganone of Plymouth. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Jane Soucy of Northville.

The bride wore a white chiffon over taffeta gown with seed pearls and lace daisies on the contour-band collar, fitted bodice and train. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis with white roses and a single red rose in the center. The bride's sister, Barbara Paganone of Ann Arbor was maid of honor. Lorelei Henry of Plymouth was bridesmaid. They wore old-fashioned floorlength dresses with overblouses of embroidered lace in shades of orchid. Their bouquets of mini carnations tinted with orchid and stephanotis matched the flowers in their hair.

James Soucy of Toledo, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Honor attendant was Brian Lockhardt of Plymouth. Ushers were Steve Prusic of Mt. Clemens and Burton Hill of Tucson, Ariz

Manhart-Muzzy

Mr. and Mrs. Boyden E. Muzzy of Myrtle Beach, S.C., announce the marriage of their daughter, Nanette, to James R. Manhart. The Rev. Lon Knight performed the ceremony Aug. 28 at the home of the bride's aunt in Johnston, N.C.

The bride is a graduate of Plymouth High School and Eastern Michigan University. The bridegroom graduated from Kansas State University. Both are doctoral candidates at the University of Georgia in Athens.

Mrs. Jeffrey B. Muzzy of Chester, Va., attended her sister-in-law, and John Stutts of Athens was the best man. Jeffrey Muzzy served as usher, assisted by his sons, Jason and Matthew.

McMichael-DeLano

Debra Suzanne McMichael and Robert Carl DeLano have planned a Sept. 25 wedding in an unusual setting. The ceremony will be performed at sunset aboard a charted excursion vessel which plies the waters of Lake Superior off the northern Wisconsin shore.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pollock of Minneapolis, Minn. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred DeLano of Plymouth. She graduated from the Brown Institute of Broadcasting and the John Robert Powers Modeling School, both of the Twin Cities. She formerly was on the staff of radio stations WDLB and WLJY in Marshfield, Wis.

Her fiance is a 1975 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School. He is a graduate of the U.S. Army School of Music and the Defense Information School. He was formerly with the Armed Forces Korean Network in Seoul. He is currently program manager and operations director of radio station WBWA-FM in Washburn, Wis.

Jones-Messner

Bernadette Teresa Messner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stacy of Livonia, and Donald Roy Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jones of Northville, exchanged marriage vows Aug. 14 in a ceremony in Plymouth's Kellogg Park with Plymouth Mayor Eldon Martin officiating.

A reception followed in the lounge of Novi Bowl, where the bride has been employed for five years. The bridegroom works for Spartan and Atlantic Warehouse in Plymouth.

For the ceremony and reception, the bride wore an off-white dress with a deep ruffle at the necklne. Her flowers were blue and white. Christine Davis was her maid of honor, and the best man was John Stevens.

The couple went to California, Mexico and Las Vegas for their honeymoon and will live in Garden City

A gardener in Snowshill, England, tends her flowers among cottages built of the Cotswold stone on which they stand.

Forge links English town, Detroit

NOWSHILL WAS JUST another picturesque English village when I first drove into it, with my friend Vera Schad at the wheel beside me. I had no way of knowing then that another old friend came from here.

For 300 years, Snowshill was the home of the blacksmith shop that I have visited so often at Greenfield Village in Dearborn. It stood on that empty lot at the curve of the street, where flower gardens now bloom.

A tiny sign on the adjacent building reads "The Old Forge.

I came to Snowshill in Gloucestershire to visit Hans and Vera Schad, who once managed the wellknown Shakespeare Hotel half-an-hour's drive north in Stratford-Upon-Avon, and now manage the Snowshill Arms. A few minutes in the peaceful atmosphere of Snowshill, and you would understand why they left the beam-and-plaster elegance of the Shakespeare for the noise and hard work of a village pub.

From the pub you can walk left around the village church or right around the village church; either way you end up on the single street of Snowshill, the road winding up hill and disappearing into countryside again.

The Cotswolds are full of hamlets like this, each built of the Cotswold stone on which they stand, straight-sided, two-story buildings of large, squarecut stone, with steep stone roofs and dry stone fences. The English have a wonderful way with flowers, so roses often climb the stone houses and their stone-terraced gardens.

PUBS LIKE THE Snowshill Arms have always been the center of English village life and they still draw standing-room-only crowds almost every afternoon and evening. There are no hotel accommodations at the Arms, but locals come from 15 miles around to play darts and skittles under the beamed ceiling of the pub.

Hans serves pints of beer as fast as he can pull the pump. Vera and her daughter cook "pub meals" in the adjacent kitchen: cottage pie, steak and chips, lasagna, roast beef sandwiches.

Hans always reserves a center booth for local people, who come in after dinner for a drink. Mr. Williams, with his shock of white hair, has been a familiar sight in town for years. His photograph is on the front of a AAA brochure there on the wall; the picture made Snowshill briefly famous.

Sheila Wilkes, a young woman who sometimes helps out at the Arms, was born in Springhill Cottage, and her grandmother was born there before her. The young man leaning against the bar goes back many generations in Rose Cottage; Charles Keyte invented a sewing machine there, now displayed in the British Science Museum in Kensing-

JUST ANOTH A delightful English village I would have sp', with no connection to my life, until I heard about the old blacksmith shop. I was standing behind the pub, where a skittles (bowling) alley recently was opened, telling young Angie Schad about Greenfield Village.

"I've seen buildings like these before," I said. "There is a cottage and a blacksmith shop in a restored village in Dearborn."

Meeting to teach youngsters dangers of drugs

When Debbie Kelbert discovered that a pre-teen boy of her acquaintance had been offered a chance to try marijuana, she decided something should be

The Farmington Hills resident reasoned that youngsters 10 and up should be taught something about drugs to be able to protect themselves from this plague of modern society.

She got to work. The result will be a meeting on drugs for youngsters in fourth grade and above and their parents to be held at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in Kenwood Church of Christ, 20200 Merriman, just south of Eight Mile, Livo-

Special guests will be two Detroit police officers, Sgt. Edward Gulowski and patrolman Charles Albright. To be shown will be two films, "Fat Albert" and "Dead is Dead."

The officers will answer questions and display common drugs and drug paraphernalia.

"I have three youngsters who are not aware of what marijuana looks like or what it does," continued Kelbert. "I wouldn't want them get mixed up with drugs due to ignorance.'

Susann Dibble of Livonia, a substitute teacher in the Livonia schools, explained that she is hoping to get a good look at some drugs, so she'll know if drugs are being used in school.

"My kids see things like syringes left in the park when we go there," she noted, adding, "We're losing a lot of teens through drug deaths."

Both acknowledged that parents often have little information about substances being abuses. For this reason not only are youngsters encouraged to bring their friends to the free drug seminar, parents are invited to accompany their children.

The event will be held during the meeting time of the Jet Cadets, a group of fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade boys and girls. Its sponsors are Mrs. Kelbert and her husband Dan, and Al and Jan Johnston of Farmington Hills. Their children are cadets along with the Dibble's son Steven.

Parents who find it necessary to bring along their younger children may place them during the meeting in a church activity group for children of their own age. These could be the Space Cubs for 4- and 5-year-olds or the Whirlybirds for those in first, second and third grades.

A nursery is also available.

In their weekly Sunday night meetings the Jet Cadets do crafts, sing, play games, take trips, have Bible lessons and parties. They have also fasted to understand hunger, and passed out brochures for the drug meeting. They are a service squad of church church, cleaning pews and doing other tasks.

St. Bernadine to celebrate

A mass of thanksgiving to be celebrated at noon Sunday is one of many monthly events that will observe the 25th anniversary of St. Bernardine of Siena Church, 31463 Ann Arbor Trail, Back in 1957, mass was first celebrated in the Hawthorne Valley dining room by the Rev. Joseph Kress, the founding pastor of the parish. By Dec. 7, 1958, mass was celebrated in the new church building.

Musician David Meece, whose latest school opened Dec. 8, 1959, with three Bernadine Sisters teaching 113 students in grades four through eight. The school was forced to close in June 1971 because of the costs of operation.

In June 1962 Fr. Kress celebrated his silver jubilee in the priesthood.

The Rev. John Tallon offered his first mass on Dec. 10, 1967. He continued to give priestly ministry for 15 years to the people of the parish until his death in an auto accident in January 1982.

Fr. Kress retired in June 1978 to accept senior priest status. Fr. Garry became pastor the following July, serving until the present time.

Salem's Kelly Bemiss (white jersey) watches Jeannette Marchand los Marchand of RU go sailing by in Tuesday's contest. game, 50-39.

Canton cagers win first

Salem defense stops RU

Cooly and calmly, Plymouth Salem's female cagers took control of Tuesday's game with Redford Union in the second and third quarters to collect their third straight victory, 50-39 at Salem.

It wasn't a great game for the Rocks, but coach Bob Blohm felt it was a "pretty solid game. We had a great third quarter. Our second and third quarters have been goody

"And our defense was pretty nice tonight."

The middle quarters were indeed the the difference, as Salem got its game in gear and blasted the Panthers, 14-7 in the second and 17-2 in the third

"We outscored them 31-9 (in those two quarters)," Blohm said. "That's pretty good."

AND THAT'S an understatement. RU, which has started the season with a schedule designed by Satan, led 11-10 after one

By the start of the fourth, the score was 41-20, Salem.

Jacque Merrifield topped the Rocks with 13 points. Pam McBride added a dozen, and Ann Glomski netted 10.

Center Kathy Storvis led all scorers, pouring in 15 for RU. The Panthers played Redford St. Agatha (a Class C state title favorite) and powerhouse Livonia Bentley last week and go against Redford Bishop Borgess, Plymouth Canton, North Farmington, Trenton and Garden City in their next five games.

Few teams can survive a schedule like that, and RU hasn't. The Panthers are 0-3. Salem is 3-0 and counting. The Rocks entertain a tall Walled Lake Western team at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

> CANTON 59 NORTHVILLE 20

It finally came.

After two difficult losses, the Canton cagers broke loose Tuesday night in a romp over Northville at Northville.

It was the Chiefs first win of the season and the first of coach Phyllis Cunningham's career as the Canton coach. Cunningham became head coach this season after Mike McCauley resigned.

feels real nice. The girls played a super game - excellent defense. They held (Northville) to eight points in the first half and none in the third quarter."

"I'm overdue," Cunningham said. "It

It was a welcome win for Canton, after a 17-point loss to city rival Plymouth Salem in the season opener and a two-point defeat to Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) foe Walled Lake Central.

The victory evened Canton's league record at 1-1.

"They're not a strong ball club," Cunningham said of Northville. "They only have two or three girls back with any experience."

BUT THE CHIEFS are in the same shape, with only one returning starter and two players with extensive experience. Guard Sue Gerke, the lone starter back from last year's team, nearly outscored the Mustangs single-handedly, notching 19 points. Guard Lou Ann Hamblin contributed 12.

But it was defense that did the job, as Canton raced to an 11-4 lead after one quarter, extending it to 29-8 at the half. By the end of three quarters it was a blowout, as the Chiefs outpointed Northville, 16-0, for a 45-8 advantage.

Rebounding also played a key role for Canton, with Missy Aiken grabbing 12 to go with her nine points. Four of Aiken's rebounds came at the offensive end of the court, as the Chiefs pulled down 14 offensive boards.

"I REALLY didn't know what to compare us to, after the first two games," Cunningham said. "Were we playing really excellent teams, or were we just not playing up to our potential?"

After walloping a weak Northville team, Cunningham still isn't sure how good her team is. She'll find out, though, in the weeks to come.

Canton travels to Farmington Thursday for a 7:30 p.m. WLAA contest. Farmington lost to Northville in the season's first What's in the news elsewhere ...

First of all, I won't lie to you. It is not good to be back.

Neither will I bore you with endless details of my recent vacation - 19 lovely days away from the Observer & Eccentric, some precious time off before you-knowwhat cranks up again in all its furry. I hate people who do that.

Suffice to say that my wife and I motored east through New York State and into New England, and everywhere there were newspapers (with sports sections, of course), reminding me of who I was and what was waiting for me back in Michigan.

And I, being an inveterate reader of newspaper sports sections, missed not a line of agate type on any statistics page. So, instead of illegible post cards or out-of-focus slides, I offer you bits and pieces and odds and ends of sports news from faraway pa-

What happened? Who knows. I was hundreds of miles away by the time the next Hearld-Journal hit the streets.

Also in the Syracuse paper, I read the disappointing news that the town's Triple A minor league baseball team, the Chiefs, drew only 1,521 fans at home in an 8-5 victory over Richmond the previous night.

FARTHER ALONG the throughway, in the little town of Monhonasen, the problem was not enough football players to field a team at the local high school. It was announced in the Schenectady Gazette that poor little MHS was dropping the activity for the third time in the last 10 years.

"John Los (former Monhonasen coach) aged 15 years in the seven he was head coach, but he couldn't make the program work," wrote Larry Serrell in the back pages of the Gazatte.

"'We simply didn't get enough players,'" Los said in the column. ". . . . It was always Barton, who wasn't shying away from the a matter of small turnouts. I don't like to

'The Game' is here

Coach Tom Moshimer ambled across the field, glancing back over his shoulder every minute or so at the team in red. "They may try something different," the Plymouth Salem football coach said. "But, hopefully, it won't be anything we can't handle." Again he looked back at the team in red. "There," he said with a sly grin. "They're working against the wishbone now.'

Which could be expected. Because the team in red - Plymouth Canton - was preparing for the biggest game in its history. On Friday, the Chiefs are to hammer helmuts against the school it shares a practice field with.

Moshimer's Rocks.

IT WAS AN odd sight Monday afternoon. Thoughts of Bo Schembechler closing practices before Michigan's big game with Ohio State seemed ridiculous. Here were two teams preparing to play each other on the same field, less than 50 yards apart.

"They moved down on the west end, and we moved up on the east end of the field a little more," said Canton coach Richard Barr. "It's funny, because we can kind of see what they're doing, and he can kind of see what we're doing."

There were adjustments. As Barr lined up his defensive unit to practice against a wishbone offense (which is what Salem runs), he lined up the players not taking part in the session between his team and the Salem squad, to act as a screen.

"That's so he couldn't see what defenses we were running," Barr said smiling.

SECRECY IS not a vital concern to either coach. They know each other pretty well: Barr served as a Salem assistant under Moshimer for eight years before taking over at Canton two years ago.

"I don't think we're the same type of coach," Barr said. "Our philosophy on the field is different. I might tend to do the crazier thing, but then I'm not as experienced as he is."

But Canton has not shared Salem's football success. Barr has recorded 1-8 and 2-7 seasons in his tenure as the Chiefs' coach. Salem has had just one losing season in the last six.

That record, combined with what looks like a deep and talent-laden '82 squad, makes Moshimer's Rocks Friday's favorites. But other factors could weigh heavily on the game's outcome.

"THE EMOTIONAL edge is on their side," Moshimer said. "I think everyone is probably going to pick us to win, and that's going to benefit them. "That's the great equalizer — emotion. And it will benefit Canton more."

Emotions can carry a team to great heights, it's true. But often an emotional high can burn a team out as well. It can use up a team's energy too fast, so that by the fourth quarter the players are spent.

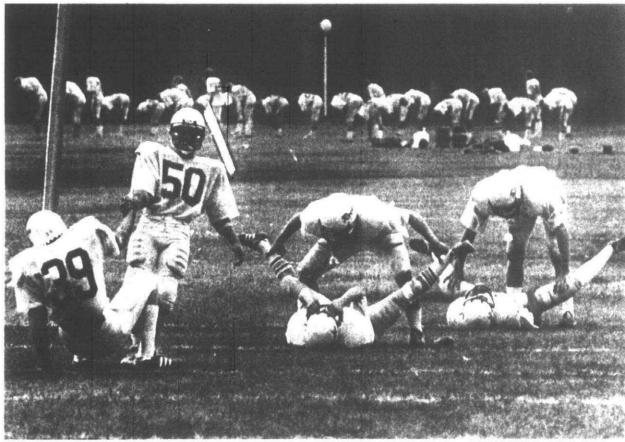

Moshimer knows this. "It's been kind of quiet," he said of the practice sessions. "But that's the way I like it. We're taking a low-key approach to the

That's a strategy he can afford to take. He needn't whip his team into a frenzy. The Rocks are deep enough to wear down the not-as-deep Chiefs.

Barr also learned something in his first game last week, a 14-12 victory over Livonia Bentley. A number of his players went both ways and were worn out by the last quarter. Barr vows that won't happen against Salem, promising "more substitutions.

Please turn to Page 3C

Salem's workouts (foreground) are easy to scout for Canton (practicing in rear), should the Chiefs choose to do so, and vice versa. The two teams prepared Tuesday on the same field for Friday's game, as they have done for years. Only this Friday, Salem and Canton play each other.

Kick is good, name's wrong

Plymouth Canton's football team did indeed make some fine plays in Friday's 14-12 win over Livonia Bentley, including several coming in key situations.

Two of those were on extra-point kicks, which proved to be the difference in the game. However, it was incorrectly reported to the Observer sports staff that Ron Rienas booted the points after touchdown.

Matt Santilli, one of the Chiefs' tri-captains, kicked the PATs. Rienas caught the first of two touchdown passes from quarterback Pat Murphy. Bob Wasczenski caught the

Wright right on target in Canton 3-2 victory

Tom Wright rallied Plymouth Canton from a 2-1 halftime deficit with two second-half goals, netting the game-winner with two minutes left on a breakaway to lift the Chiefs to a 3-2 victory over Northville Monday at Northville.

Wright, who tallied all three Canton goals, gave the Chiefs a 1-0 lead in the first half on a penalty kick. But Fabian Nelson notched a pair for Northville to give the Mustangs a 2-1 advantage at the half.

Wright tied the game at 13:47 of the record unblemished at 2-0.

MOSHIMER PLANS to continue his rotating quarterback strategy. In last week's 12-0 win over North Farmington, Dave Haut started and went 3-for-3 in the first quarter, throwing for 49 yards and a touchdown.

But despite Haut's performance, Moshimer summoned Pete Steyaert in the second quarter. Steyaert was also impressive, completing three of six tosses for 60 yards in the game, including a 45-yard bomb to Bob DeBenedet that set up Salem's second TD.

The Rocks' ability to throw the ball is just one more worry for Barr and the Chiefs. But both teams will have to be more consistent offensively to be successful. Each won their openers on big ENOUGH ALREADY with the small towns, I said, as I bought a copy of the New York Post, drawn no doubt by the four-decker headline, "NAME TENNIS ACE IN DRUG DEAL," wrapped as it was around a photograph showing a side-frontal view of Dolly Parton.

"(Vitas) Gerulaitis tried to buy 20G coke, claims federal witness, Page Three," explained a smaller headline. The story itself said "The international tennis ace never scored, according to evidence at the trial."

Dolly, by the way, was scheduled to have surgery for a "major gynecological disorder" in a New York hospital that day.

Another Post spread caught my eye. "GOLF GIRL IN LOVE TANGLE" screamed the headline in inch-and-ahalf-high letters. "Star player Jan (Stephenson) sobs as she tells of boyfriends and bust-ups," proclaimed an-

A large photograph showed a horizontal Jan, perhaps reflecting on one of those "bust-ups," curled up with a book.

Also reading the Post, I learned why certain writers are trying to keep Enos Slaughter, former Cardinal and Yankee great, out of the Baseball Hall of Fame. Interesting.

BOSTON HAS the Red Sox, street cars and an excellent newspaper called the Boston Globe.

In a special college football section, the banner headline - "Clemson: The paws that refreshes" - rested over a graphic in which big black paw prints were placed over pennants from Oklahoma, Alabama, Notre Dame and USC, meaning that the Tigers stepped over those powerhouses en route to the top

There was also a long story about football at Northwestern University. "Northwestern: It's the greatest team of all time," the headline said.

"You like football? Don't come to Evanston. Not now," said the writer, commenting on the team. "Want to buy a drink in Evanston? Take a flying leap into Lake Michigan, buddy!" was not beyond the powers of his rhetoric when describing the town.

The paper's top-10 college football teams: Pitt, Nebraska, Alabama, Washington, Arkansas, North Carolina. Georgia, USC, Miami and Michigan.

"The offensive line needs shoring up, and running backs to replace Butch Woolfolk and Stanley Edwards must be found," the Globe's pundits said of the

IN PORTLAND, ME., the Press Herald carried an interesting column concerning "physical aptitude" tests for high school soccer officials to make sure they can keep up with the action. In Maine, officials have to take — but not pass — the tests.

"The requirements vary according to the referee's age, but the test generally consists a 12-minute run in which the participants must cover between 2,000 and 2,600 meters, a 50- or 100-meter run and a 30-minute shuttle run," the columinist, Tom Welch, explained. "Referees under 30 must run the 100-meter in under 16 seconds."

Sounds like a good idea for prep sports officials in Michigan, and not just the soccer refs, either. The action is fast-paced in high school sports. If the refs aren't on top of it, they're just

WELL, ENOUGH of what I did - or read - on my vacation. It was a fun trip and lots of pleasant memories have been stockpiled.

I'm going to need them. It's going to be a long time - some 76 O&E deadlines, by my reckoning - before I'll be reading the out-of-town agate again.

Week 2: Area grid rivals collide

By Brad Emons and C.J. Risak staff writers

In football, the first week is always the toughest.

At least for us, the prognosticators. We try and pick the winners without any solid information to base it on. We combine what coaches tell us, the team's record from the previous year and how many lettermen return, together with a gut feeling, before selecting who we think will win.

That formula worked in nine of 11 games for Risak last week. Emons was wrong three times. Both missed the Livonia Clarenceville/Carleton Airport and Redford Bishop Borgess/Riverview games. Emons selected Livonia Bentley to tip Plymouth Canton. Risak disagreed, choosing the Chiefs. The Chiefs won.

POINT SPREADS by both predictors were surprisingly close, considering it was the first game of the season. Risak nailed two games right on the nose, selecting Plymouth Salem by 12 over North Farmington (Salem won, 12-0), and Canton over Bentley by two (final:

Emons also hit the point spread on the Salem-North contest. Emons and Risak tied on the Livonia Stevenson/ Redford Union game — Risak said Stevenson by six, Emons picked the Spartans by eight. Final: Stevenson 14, RU

Whether we can keep up that torrid pace (Risak, 84.8 percent correct; Emons, 72.8 percent) remains to be seen. There are some big games this week, and here's how we pick 'em.

PLYMOUTH SALEM vs. PLYM-OUTH CANTON, 7:30 p.m. Friday at CEP Field - Well, there's a first time for everything, and this is one of them. Friday will mark the first time Salem and Canton will meet on the gridiron. An interesting confrontation, packed with emotion.

The talent edge certainly goes to Salem, which is deep at all positions, including quarterback with Dave Haut and Pete Steyaert. Both threw long passes in Salem's win over North, an unusual way for the run-oriented Rocks to win. Watch Salem's No. 80, tight end Dave Houle. He may be the difference.

Canton emerged as a big-play team in its win over Bentley. The Bulldogs outgained the Chiefs, but couldn't outscore them. Pat Murphy is an able passer for Canton, as he showed with two TD passes last week.

Everyone expects Salem, but the emotion edge goes to Canton, the underdog. And emotions can play a major role in this type of game.

Not enough of a role, both Risak and Emons agree. Emons says Salem by 13; Risak figures it will be closer (six points), but Salem still the winner.

LIVONIA STEVENSON at LIVONIA FRANKLIN, 2 p.m. Saturday - This is a big matchup, the best of the week, between two teams figured to be contenders in their respective leagues.

Stevenson opened with a tough win over Redford Union, while Franklin blasted Livonia Churchill. A 14-point third quarter, both touchdowns scored by Karl Hill, sparked Stevenson. Hill and running mate Tom Hamill combined for 166 yards on the ground (Hill 114 and Hamill 52). Spartan quarterback Pete Rose is experienced and able.

Franklin's defense forced six turnovers, and quarterback Rich Popp threw for one touchdown and ran for another in the win over Churchill.

This is a tight game all the way. Risak thinks Franklin's got the experience and the horses to pull out a sevenpoint victory. Emons also likes Franklin, but thinks it will be decided in overtime by a field goal.

BISHOP BORGESS at REDFORD UNION, 7:30 p.m. Friday - Both teams lost tough openers last week by seven points. Borgess' loss was a heartbreaker, since the Spartans had their chances and, omitting any one of four plays, would have won.

Riverview scored on a 92-yard kickoff return in the first quarter, a 6yard pass following an interception late in the second and on a 19-yard drive after a fumbled punt in the third.

Still, Borgess only trailed by one, 21-20, at that point. Chuck Gregory raced 46 yards for a TD and Steve Staron fired a pair of scoring passes, 53 yards to Jim McDonald and 26 yards to Kendall Cobb, to keep the Trojans in the

The turning point came in the fourth quarter. Staron connected with Larry Corona on a 50 yard bomb, but before reaching the end zone Corona fumbled. The ball bounced through the end zone, giving Riverview possession.

The Pirates then drove 80 yards for the clinching touchdown.

RU had a 95-yard scoring drive against Stevenson in the second quarter, with Keith Manus scoring from a yard out. But an interception return for one touchdown and a 63-yard run for another beat the Panthers.

Both teams are young: RU has 14 juniors and a sophomore on the team, and Staron is just a sophomore for Borgess. It should be a wide-open game.

Emons goes with RU by six. Risak figures the Panthers will make fewer mistakes and chooses them by nine.

CATHOLIC CENTRAL vs. YPSI-LANTI, 7 p.m. Saturday at Livonia Bentley - Once again, Ypsilanti is ranked in many statewide polls. So is Detroit Catholic Central for that mat-

But the Shamrocks, winners over Traverse City last Saturday in the Pontiac Silverdome, are the favorites here. A diversified offense and solid defense are the reasons. Ypsilanti raced to a 36-20 victory over Lincoln Park in the season's first week.

Emons swears that CC has Ypsilanti's number and picks the Shamrocks by 11. Risak also chooses CC, but by nine.

REDFORD ST. AGATHA at ALLEN PARK CABRINI, 7:30 p.m. Saturday -The Aggies were big favorites over Dearborn St. Alphonsus last week, but went to overtime before winning, 6-3. Cabrini manhandled Richmond, 32-3, in its opener.

Risak thinks Cabrini, a Catholic C-D League qualifier a year ago, will top St. Agatha by nine. Emons picks the Aggies by seven in overtime.

WARREN TOWER at LIVONIA BENTLEY, 7:30 p.m. Friday — Bentley outdid Canton in nearly all statistics except the score. It's a tough way to lose the season's opener. Warren Tower started off with a 28-6 lambasting of Roseville.

Bentley is on its home turf, but lost there last week, and Emons thinks the Bulldogs will lose there again, by seven. Risak goes with the home team: Bentley by seven.

NORTHVILLE at WESTLAND JOHN GLENN, 7:30 p.m. Friday -Northville routed Redford Thurston last week, 28-0. Glenn pounded Waterford in the Silverdome, 24-6. Todd Jennings was the difference for the Rockets: His 171 yards rushing, two touchdowns, three extra points and a field goal buried Waterford.

But Northville has its own one-man attack in Andy Dimitroff. Injured a year ago, Dimitroff returned with a vengence, rushing for 171 yards against Thurston.

Risak likes Glenn at home by 13. Emons backs the Rockets by the same

GARDEN CITY at ROMULUS, 7:30 p.m. Friday - The new team in town, the Garden City Cougars, grounded Melvindale, 21-13, last week while Romulus toppled Willow Run, 22-8. Garden City can pass or run and is a dark horse in the Northwest Suburban League race.

Emons likes Garden City by 14. Risak takes the Cougars by nine.

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE at DH ROBICHAUD, 3:30 p.m. Friday -Graduation losses were expected to make this season a rebuilding one for Clarenceville. That may not be so, as the Trojans beat Carleton Airport, 13-0,

But Clarenceville did make mistakes which cost it at least two touchdowns. Robichaud didn't make many errors in a 34-6 triumph over Oak Park. Emons and Risak agree - Robichaud by sev-

LIVONIA CHURCHILL at ANN AR-BOR HURON, 7:30 p.m. Friday - This could be a tough season for the Chargers, blanked in their opener by Franklin. They're a young team that will have to gain experience in a hurry.

They haven't got it yet, says Risak: Huron by 14. Emons thinks Huron will be the winner as well, by 10.

REDFORD THURSTON at WALLED LAKE WESTERN, 7:30 p.m. Friday - Thurston, 2-7 a year ago, hasn't many weapons this season. Western played Brighton to a scoreless tie last week, but with Paul Imms the Warriors should handle Thurston.

Astonishing

Mentalist offers encounter

The Astonishing Neal will perform his third encore at Schoolcraft College at 8 p.m. Friday in the Waterman Campus Center in Livo-

During his last three performances at Schoolcraft College, more than 1,000 people have seen Neal's show. He has demonstrated ESP, mental telepathy, psychokinesis, paraoptic vision and hypnosis.

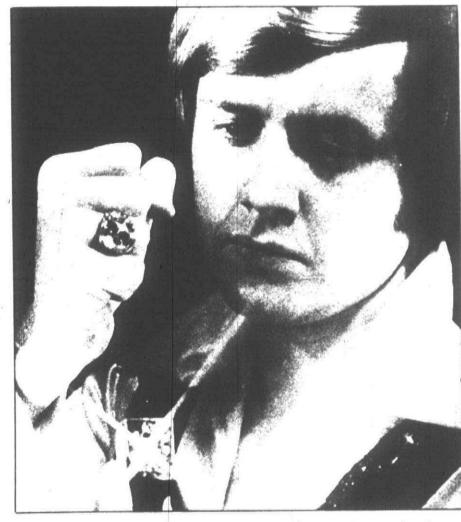

His performance will last approximately two hours. The first part of the show includes demonstrations of Neal's ESP and paraoptic vision. During the second half of the show, Neal will hypnotize volunteers from the audience and turn them into Tickets for the Astonishing Neal's performance are $4 and are available at the college's Student Activities Office. For further information phone 591-6400, ext. 380.

NEAL BEGAN performing professionally in 1971. "I'm a rare person, but I'm no freak," he said. "I've just developed some of the powers that are in all of us beyond the degree that people normally develop them."

The Astonishing Neal first discovered his psychic powers at the age of 9 when he startled his brother by telling him the exact amount of change in his pocket. Later he unnerved his mother by telling her who was calling before she answered the phone or the doorbell. Friends and relatives began to take Neal's unique gift seriously when, at age 10, he accurately predicted that a neighbor would lose his job the very next day.

In high school Neal amused friends by describing what was awaiting them around corners and behind walls. Eventually he was able to receive thoughts not only in English but in foreign languages, as

The Astonishing Neal will present his ESP and hypnosis show at Schoolcraft College.

Some of Neal's paranormal feats include riding a bicycle blindfolded for two miles in downtown Kansas City, Mo., during rush hour; emitting enough mental electrical energy to explode flashcubes, as he did on the Mike Douglas show, and driving a car 100 mph while completely blindfolded at the Pocono-Indy 500. Making predictions is also one of Neal's talents. He is said to have made hundreds of accurate ones, including Super Bowl winners, the capture of Patty Hearst, the disappearance of Jimmy Hoffa and the 1977 Johnstown, Pa., flood.

THE ASTONISHING Neal demonstrates his abilities in ESP, telepathy, clairvoyance and paraoptic vision by performing "A Close Encounter with the Mind" more than 100 times each year before live audiences.

Neal has appeared on NBC's "Real People," the "Mike Douglas Show," "To Tell the Truth," "P.M. Magazine" and "A.M. Detroit."

Keely sings

Keely Smith, the torchy, stoned-faced entertainer who became a star in the 1950s, performs nowadays at the Top-o-the-Dunes in Las Vegas. She will sing in the Detroit-area at the 23rd annual Inspiration Ball on Sept. 25 at the Hillcrest Country Club in Mt. Clemens. The event will benefit St. Jude Children's Hospital. In keeping with the nostalgic "'40s Revisited" theme, Smith and the 22-piece Austin Moro Orchestra will perform songs that made her famous, such as "I Wish You Love" and "O!" Black Magic." Tickets are on sale for $10 per plate and can be purchased by calling the Detroit-area St. Jude/ASLAC office at 843-5880.

Jazz Scholarship Fund honoring Dave Wilborn

A nonprofit corporation has been formed to administer a jazz scholarship fund in the name of Dave Wilborn, vocalist for the New McKinney Cotton Pickers Orchestra.

Wilborn formerly was vocalist and banjo player with the Original McKinney Cotton Pickers from 1927-35. He died recently at the end of a performance for Leader Dogs of Rochester. He was the last surviving member of the McKinney Cotton Pickers Orchestra, which made Detroit's Graystone Ballroom a name synonymous with hot jazz the world over.

Purpose of the fund will be to assist a deserving music student to continue his or her music education, which would not be possible without the financial support.

The recipient will be selected from the tri-county area, which is where Wilborn did most of his work. Selection of the winner will be made by a board of local musicians at a competition of students chosen by their respective schools

Officers for the Dave Wilborn Jazz Scholarship Fund include Jim Taylor of the Detroit Hot Jazz Society as presi-

Contributions may be made out to the Dave Wilborn Jazz Scholarship Fund and sent to Isola Graham Wilborn, 19373 Sunderland, Detroit 48219. An accknowledgement will be sent to each contributor.

Ann Arbor folk festival offers day of song, dance

auditions

The Birmingham Theatre will hold auditions for the musical hit "Oliver" on Oct. 1, from 3-6 p.m. for children and 7-10 p.m. for adults.

The theater is looking for boys 8-12 to fill the roles of 12 workhouse boys and pickpockets and for character actors of all ages for all other roles except Nancy and Fagin.

No boys younger than age 8 or under five feet tall will be seen for the boys and pickpocket roles. Actors must look undernourished. Piping soprano voices are needed and some altos, but they must project a legitimate theatrical

For character roles, both Equity and non-Equity actors will be auditioned. Actors must be older than 30 and "Dickens-like" in appearance. The theater is not looking for attractive, glamorous types, a spokesman said.

For further information, call the Birmingham Theatre, 211 S. Woodward, Birmingham, at 644-3533

Livonia politico defends Sterlini

To the editor:

There has been some recent controversy in Canton between the new city administration and the treasurer.

I personally know Marie Sterlini from the Wayne County treasurers' meetings, and I find her to be a competent dedicated and honest individual, whom I have a lot of respect for.

It seems ironic how all women treasurers of larger cities that control millions of dollars must fight to keep control of those funds. Myself, and Lillian Dannis of Warren, have both gone to court to stop interference in our offic-

Control of funds belongs in the treasurer's office and the state law is on Marie's side

It's time Supervisor (James) Poole stopped the "political garbage" and let Marie do her job and run her own office as she has for three years even before he was there.

> Elaine Tuttle Treasurer Livonia

Editor's note: Canton is a township, not a city. Sterlini's first name is Maria, not Marie. She was in office two years, not three, before Poole was elected supervisor. And for those two years she was an appointed deputy treasurer, not an elected treasurer.

Board should not interfere

On Sunday, Aug. 29, I made individual phone calls to all of the members of Canton's Board of Trustees, with the exception of Loren Bennett, protesting the improper treatment of our treasurer, Maria Sterlini.

I expressed my very deep concerns about airing the township's interdepartment problems in public. I also stated that this kind of personnel issue should be handled by our professional staff within the township and should follow the grievance procedure as provided in the union contract.

From what I have heard and read in the newspapers, I only can say that our Township Board has demonstrated a breakdown in our management structure which makes it almost impossible to have a smooth-functioning organization in the township.

I feel when department issues occur, it should be the function of the management team to form a trinity to maintain total control of the department in

As a taxpayer and voter of Canton Township, I will not tolerate any interference from the board that would lessen our treasurer's abilities to function, and I would protest strongly any removal of her responsibilities or duties. Please remember that Maria Sterlini was elected by us and is only responsible to the voters and taxpayers - not to the board or anyone the board hires. Geri Marciniak

Resident disputes editorial piece

To the editor:

After reading your editorial of Sept. 13, I think you need to be informed of

First, the treasurer is the only department head that is without a deputy or head clerk, or supervisor. The building department has a head clerk, the recreation department has a director, supervisor and superintendent. The planning department has a planner and an assistant.

The police and fire department have chains of command. Even Clerk John Flodin has the finance department to handle some of his work. The finance department has a deputy and a head clerk, but the treasurer has no one.

The treasurer has a deputy who gets no pay and doesn't work. The treasurer budgeted in her budget for a full-time deputy or manager. When she took her choice to the board, the board turned her down. Now they want to restructure her department, and give her a manager. Why didn't they listen to her before?

Secondly, how do you know "Sterlini is a poor manager." Where do you get your information from? Do you have a "deep throat" at Township Hall? That sounds libelous, unless you can prove it.

You have made a judgment, and you haven't heard her side of it yet.

As a taxpayer in Canton, I think our elected officials, "the management team," should stick together to iron out management/employee problems.

I agree with Deana Salhaney's letter (on Sept. 13). If the board and supervisor can't handle the job without trying to make one of the "team" a scapegoat, maybe we need some new people in their jobs.

Thirdly, the employees state that the problem has been going on for months. Why didn't they take action before this? What was their union, and our personnel director, doing about the problem - sitting on their hands?

No. 4. If the emotional problems of two of the women were so bad for so long, why didn't they go to their own doctors before now?

No. 5, who sent these employees to the emergency Oakwood Hospital and not let them go home to their own doc-

No. 6, why was the third employee given the same time off with pay when there was nothing wrong with her? No. 7, Supervisor James Poole was questioned on Sept. 7 if the doctor at Oakwood Hospital had sent the employees back with a disability. He said,

Whose authority was used to pay these people for sick time? There was no medical restriction. The problems seem to be solvable in-house and not brought before the public. The board can put our money to better use.

No. 8, the supervisor is the tax assessor for the township. He has delegated this authority to Wayne County, and the treasurer has the day-to-day work for any questions. But he hasn't given her any personnel to handle the extra work. The treasurer is the tax collector, not

No. 9, if conditions are as bad as the employees say they are in the treasurer's office, why did a former employee ask for her job back and now is back to

I hope that the "management team" will give the treasurer, Maria Sterlini, the proper manpower and support that she deserves, or maybe we need a new

"Shaft" (1971), 12:15 Sunday night

Films diversified in the late-1960s and early-1970s in hopes of reaching every potential moviegoer. There was nothing altruistic about the movement.

Filmmakers simply realized that previously untapped market groups could be enticed to come and pay their $2 or $3 for a movie. It probably began with the appeal to youth of "The Graduate" in 1967 and intensified with the counter-culture-draw of "Easy Rider" two years later. At any rate, by the '70s, most films were aimed at some distinct target audience. There were more

Read between the lines on Marilyn Monroe's face while watching this John Huston film, and you won't wonder for too long why the fabled sex symbol took her own life in 1962. Allegations of Monroe's connections with the Kennedy brothers and CIA involvement in her death take a back seat to the worn exterior of this alcohol- and drug-addict-. ed 35-year-old star. Read also into the face of co-star Montgomery Clift, who died at age 35 in 1966, and you'll see the same sort of desperation. Clift and Monroe — and Clark Gable, to a lesser degree - essentially played themselves in "The Misfits," which is part of what makes it such a fine film. Huston's no-nonsense directorial style. wherein he allows his stars to carry the burden and create the essence of the film, accounts for the rest of the film's flair and ultimate success. Thelma Ritter and Eli Wallach also star.

"Everybody ought to have a maid," seems to be the rallying cry of film fanatics who number this movie among their favorites. To be sure, that song from the film, as well as many others, recommend this Richard Lester picture with the Stephen Sondheim score. But both director and composer have difficulty maintaining that charm for the duration of the film. "Funny Thing" has as many low points as highs; still, it's a film worth seeing at least once. Zero Mostel, Phil Silvers and Jack Gilford star. Rating: $2.75.

Bonstelle opening with drama 'Eden'

University in Detroit opens its season Oct. 1 with "Eden," an award-winning drama by Horace E. (Steve) Carter, Jr. Performances are at 8 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays through Oct. 10.

Set in a mid-Manhattan apartment building in the 1920s, "Eden" explores the intra-racial conflicts between the blacks of America and those transplanted from the West Indian islands.

Dwelling across the hall from one another are a West Indian family of six - mother, father, two sons and two

When a romance develops between the nephew and the younger of the West Indian daughters, her father, an ardent follower of Marcus Garvey (the first influential Black Nationalist), refuses to condone their relationship.

Although he does not appear as a character in "Eden," Garvey figures significantly in the action of the play. His philosophy is represented by the character of Joseph Barton, the autocratic patriarch of the West Indian family.

Beat the high cost of winter fuel bills by adding a General Electric energy-saving Weathertron® heat pump to your forced-air furnace. Do it now and take your choice of three spectacular GE Jamboree bonus offers.

Add any GE Weathertron heat pump to your existing gas, oil, propane or electric forced-air furnace and take your pick of a GE 19-inch TV (PC 3704W), a GE microwave oven (JET 88), or a $300 factory rebate. With a GE Weathertron heat pump you not only save on heating bills, you also get economical central air conditioning. Your house stays comfortable all year.

TORS HISOSET

Add a GE "Thinking" Thermostat to your new GE Weathertron heat pump and get an additional $100 factory rebate. This heat pump system can cut your fuel bills from 20 percent to 54 percent (depending on locality and energy use, based on a single 8-hour, 10-degree set back).

YEAR ROULD. A GE Weathertron heat pump cuts your heating bills because it moves natural radiant heat inside to heat your home. Your forced-air furnace doesn't have to go to work until the outdoor temperature is about 32° F or below. In summer, the Weathertron heat pump moves heat out of your home for energy-efficient central air conditioning.

Hurry! To qualify for Bonus Offers, furnace installation must be in a customer's residence by October 16, 1982 (Bonus #1). Heat pump installation by October 31, 1982 (Bonus #2, #3).

We bring good things to life.

You're buying America's No. 1 selling heat pump with GE's famous Climatuff" compressor.

The house is no longer just a place to raise a family or live out your idea of the good life. It has also become the stuff of which good investments are made. What returns you will enjoy, be they of the present or the future, depends more and more on what you put into the dwelling.

You should ask yourself some questions. Should you buy a new house or a previously owned one or simply add on or refurbish your present house? Do you need a lot of room or are you content with just the basics? Does the neighborhood fit your lifestyle or will you be happier someplace else?

How long are you going to live there? Should you put a lot of effort into the residence or are you happy just doing the routine maintenance? Will eliminating a wall between a bedroom and the dining room or living room be a liability?

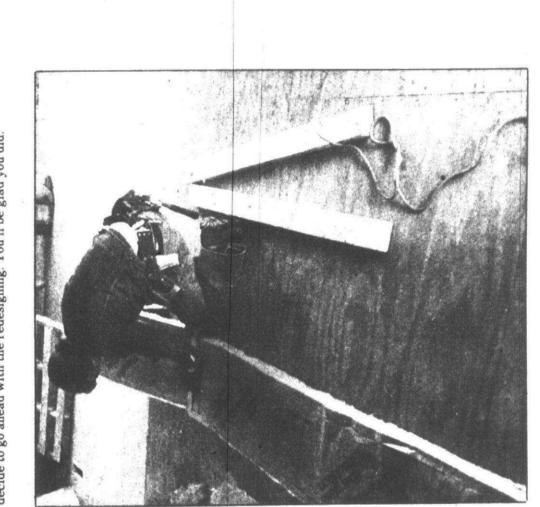

(K)

Do you need another bathroom before you need a sunporch? Do you spend more time on your front porch than in the backyard? What about a new roof? Can you install it yourself or should you call in a roofer? What are your priorities?

Can you afford the responsibility?

Many seasons will come and go and they will take their toll inside and out. Whether you decide to paint, fix or sell, go for quality in both material and design and detail. Shop around.

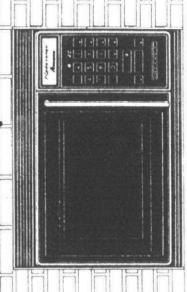

This home improvement issue is designed to give you some hints to keep in mind as you prepare for the winter months. Take your time and take advantage of the experts that conduct classes in area school extension courses or at community colleges. Get several estimates before you decide to go ahead with the redesigning. You'll be glad you did.

reroofing house when tools se the right

Reroofing your house an impossible task? Not at all.

With planning, patience, the right tools, and some easy-to-follow safety precautions, reroofing your house can be a less expensive, satisfying project for the do-it-yourselfer.

First, make a visual inspection from the ground. Walk around the house, checking for damaged shingles or those that have aged or have lost their original luster.

Also check for corroded or obstructed gutters and valleys, loose or rusted flashing, damage or wear along ends and ridges and signs of water seepage under the eaves. It may help to use binoculars to see those very high or difficult-to-see spots.

YOUR NEXT STEP should be to pull or pound down any loose shingles. Replace any missing or broken shingles and damaged gutters and drip caps at the eaves.

If you've determined you house needs a new roof, first sweep the area clean of any debris or loose mineral granules. If there are more than two layers of roofing on the roof or if the old roof is in very bad repair, tear off the old shinges to the wood deck adding new felt, then the shingles.

You may be able to put a third layer of new shingles on your roof. Check with your local government to be sure the housing code allows a third layer.

If you are removing existing shingles, you'll need waterproof tarps or large pieces of plastic should rain come up before you have put on the new shingles.

Estimating the amount of new roofing shingles you'll need is simple. Asphalt shingles are sold in squares (the amount of material necessary to cover 100 square feet.) Squares are judged by weight, so 240-pound roofing means the amount of roofing that covers one square weights 240

A simple roof with unbroken planes, such as a ranch-style house, can be measured along each eave and rake. Then mulitply the length times the width to get the number of square feet. Add the various areas and allow an extra 10 percent for waste. Divide the total by 100 to find the total number of squares you'll need.

IF YOUR ROOF planes are broken up by dormers, extensions or other architectural features, ask your local building supply dealer for assistance.

The tools you'll need to reroof your house are those found in most do-it-yourself workshops: Broom, carpenter's apron, caulking gun, chalkline, chisel and saw, flat shovel, hammer or roofer's hatchet, ladder and scaffolding, putty knife, painting trowel or brush, safety goggles, tape ruler and a utility knife.

ar rubbersoled shoes and always on a completely dry roof. Always on the opposite side of the roof.

Be sure to keep extra tools and shingles well out of the work area when not in use.

Warn others to stay away from the grounds around the eaves because shingels or tools could slide off the roof and injure wear a safety rope or harness that has been well secured to an immovable object

It's important to follow the manufacturer's application instructions, found on the shingle wrappers, which differ from one type of roofing to another.

It's long, hot, hard work, but reroofing your house yourself can save you money.

USE AN EXTENSION ladder at least two feet longer than the height of the eaves, and make sure it has safety feet that grab and hold hirmly. Never use a Lifestyles influence decisions You get a very lonely feeling sometimes, sitting and talking with a banker.

But if you are one of the millions of persons thinking of borrowing some money for remodeling your home this year, one thing is for sure: You are not alone.

You and your neighbors across the country will spend a total of $34 billion on remodeling by year's end, according to Census estimates. But some economists place the figure at closer to $50 billion.

We have become accustomed to upgrading our lives, and since World War II this has meant moving into larger homes, into bottom accidence of the contraction of the contr ladder near power lines, and don't forget to tie it off at the eaves and with stake and line at the ground.

Now you're ready to start the hard work: Applying the shingles, nailing them down, adding the flashing, shingling the valleys, hips and ridges and around the chimney.

that is used for occasional entertaining. It sems like wasted space, yet we do want room for entertaining. What could we do with this space to make it a formal dining room

We considered suspended ceilings, but they didn't seem appropriate for formal living areas.

A. Don't give up on suspended ceilings. There are now styles on the market made to resemble regular ceilings. The color matched grid is part of the ceiling pattern.

Q. My kitchen desk is continually clutered and disorganized. I don't have room for a file cabnit.

A. We've seen printer's type cases put to use separating bills, menus and meeting dates.

A. Consider using two smaller pedestal-base tavern tables pushed together for use as a full size dining table. Pulled apart one may be used as a game table and the other can serve as the breakfast table.

Q. Our older home needs work to cover cracked and damaged ceilings.

THE UPGRADING isn't only a matter of making it more luxurious. It is more a matter of changing to fit our changing lifestyles. And just about everyone's lifestyle changes in 15 years.

to give existing plants some tender loving care before the onslaught of winter weather. Begin with any new plantings you had been considering this summer as you spent more time outside. This is the time to add a tree to shade your patio, a low hedge to camouflage your neighbor's garbage cans, perhaps even a screen of bushes to provide privacy or a windbreak. Fall group from Fall Home Improvem

Revering plants get their growing good looks next spring from the gardener's careful attentions this autumn. More than at any other season, your garden-scape deserves the attention of its annual fall sprucing-up to preserve it throughout the unpredictable ravages of the winter ahead, as well as preparing it for the first growth and bloom of spring.

Now is the time to mulch, feed, water and rake. If the crisp cool air and crunch of leaves are insufficient to lure you to the autumnal outdoors. Consider the prospective pleasures of a cleaner and healthier garden than ever, green and blooming with the first crocus and daffodils next Spring.

Start your fall gardening plan with the basics underfoot. Now is the ideal time to seed and feed your lawn to thicken-up sparse areas, fill in bald spots and generally do your best to get the green carpet in shape.

Begin by thoroughly raking your lawn to clean up leaves, clippings and thatch. If the grass seems especially matted, and or messy, consider renting a power rake from your garden center to help you do a thorough job. After raking, level off any low spots that may collect water or prove hazardous underfoot. Simply cut and rool back and sod, add soil to make the ground level, then replace the sod.

Today, there are ready-made tubs that are extra large, whirlpool-fitted, heartshaped and more, but according to the Tile Council of America, an organization that has monitored bathroom design trends for almost four decades, the real primadonnas are the custom tubs.

house reroofing mhentools se the right

Reroofing your house an impossible task? Not at all.

With planning, patience, the right tools, and some easy-to-follow safety precautions, reroofing your house can be a less expensive, satisfying project for the do-it-yourselfer.

First, make a visual inspection from the ground. Walk around the house, checking for damaged shingles or those that have aged or have lost their original luster.

Also check for corroded or obstructed gutters and valleys, loose or rusted flashing, damage or wear along ends and ridges and signs of water seepage under the eaves. It may help to use binoculars to see those very high or difficult-to-see spots.

YOUR NEXT STEP should be to pull or pound down any loose shingles. Replace any missing or broken shingles and damaged gutters and drip caps at the eaves.

If you've determined you house needs a new roof, first sweep the area clean of any debris or loose mineral granules. If there are more than two layers of roofing on the roof or if the old roof is in very bad repair, tear off the old shinges to the wood deck adding new felt, then the shingles.

You may be able to put a third layer of new shingles on your roof. Check with your local government to be sure the housing code allows a third layer.

If you are removing existing shingles, you'll need waterproof tarps or large pieces of plastic should rain come up before you have put on the new shingles.

Estimating the amount of new roofing shingles you'll need is simple. Asphalt sfingles are sold in squares (the amount of material necessary to cover 100 square feet.) Squares are judged by weight, so 240-pound roofing means the amount of roofing that covers one square weights 240

someone

A simple roof with unbroken planes, such as a ranch-style house, can be measured along each eave and rake. Then mulitply the length times the width to get the number of square feet. Add the various areas and allow an extra 10 percent for waste. Divide the total by 100 to find the total number of squares you'll need.

IF YOUR ROOF planes are broken up by dormers, extensions or other architectural features, ask your local building supply dealer for assistance.

The tools you'll need to reroof your

The tools you'll need to reroof your house are those found in most do-it-yourself workshops: Broom, carpenter's apron, caulking gun, chalkline, chisel and saw, flat shovel, hammer or roofer's hatchet, ladder and scaffolding, putty knife, painting trowel or brush, safety goggles, tape ruler and a utility knife.

Wear rubbersoled shoes and always work on a completely dry roof. Always wear a safety rope or harness that has been well secured to an immovable object on the opposite side of the roof.

Be sure to keep extra tools and shingles well out of the work area when not in use. Warn others to stay away from the grounds around the eaves because shingels or tools could slide off the roof and injure

USE AN EXTENSION ladder at least two feet longer than the height of the eaves, and make sure it has safety feet that grab and hold hirmly. Never use a

You get a very lonely feeling sometimes, sitting and talking with a banker.

But if you are one of the millions of persons thinking of borrowing some money for remodeling your home this year, one thing is for sure: You are not alone.

You and your neighbors across the country will spend a total of $34 billion on remodeling by year's end, according to Census estimates. But some economists place the figure at closer to $50 billion.

We have become accustomed to upgrading our lives, and since World War II this has meant moving into larger homes, into better neighborhoods.

But high land prices, high interest rates and inflation have made new housing unaffordable to many. For example, high land prices and inflation have pushed the average price of a new home up to the $70,000 range.

And, a $60,000 mortgage at the common interest rate of 9 percent only a dozen years ago, meant monthly payments of only $483. An income of about $33,000 per year. ladder near power lines, and don't forget to tie it off at the eaves and with stake and line at the ground.

Now you're ready to start the hard work: Applying the shingles, nailing them down, adding the flashing, shingling the valleys, hips and ridges and around the chimney. It's important to follow the manufacturer's application instructions, found on the shingle wrappers, which differ from one type of roofing to another.

It's long, hot, hard work, but reroofing your house yourself can save you money.

We considered suspended ceilings, but they didn't seem appropriate for for-mal living areas.

So the thrid bedroom that once was needed can now become an exercise room in conjunction with a spa-type bathroom. The kitchen can be changed to include a barbecue area and possibly a bar.

Or, we are upgrading to take advantage of our inflated equity by selling. That, of course, calls for upgrading of a different kind, largely cosmetic. It might mean new siding ($3,500) or adding insulation ($1,000). Adding a fireplace is a good way to add sales appeal to a home ($2,500) with hearth and mantle).

room for $1,000 can add sales appeal, but full-scale remodeling of a bathroom ($4,000) or adding a full bath ($5,000) would be hard to recover when selling. COSMETIC REMODELING of a bath

Similarly, complete remodeling o kitchen now will run at least $8,000, $60,000 mortgage will demand monthly payments of $856, and it takes an income of more than $51,000 a year to pay that.

comfort year-round means efficiency nergy

Would you like to significantly increase your house's energy efficiency and comfort this winter? You can, by taking a few simple steps.

Energy experts agree that one of the best ways to reduce energy usage is to make sure your house is properly insulated.

Your attic is one of the first places you should check to see if you have enough insulation. If you attic is unfinished and unfloored, but has some beams to walk on, you can easily find the R-value of the existing insulation. It will be printed on the top or bottom of the batts.

If you existing attic insulation is loose fill, you will need to measure the depth of the insulation between the framing members. If the insulation is fiber glass, you can use the following guidelines to determine the approximate R-value. Other types of insulation may yield different R-values.

Depth of loose fill Minimum Inulation R-value.

insulation three inches six inches nine inches ONCE YOU KNOW how much insulation you have, you can determine how much more you need. Just subtract the Rvalue of the existing insulation from the recommended R-value for Michigan.

The first few inches of insulation save you the most money, but since utilities are offering zero-interest loans on ceiling insulation, the more insulation the better.

A practical limit is in the 40s, but if you want to insulate to the 60s, that will save you money. Most of us, however, will have to settle for R-30. That's a foot of fiberglass insulation. If you can put in more, you will save more. However, the heating and cooling bill savings between R-30 and R-60 is not enough to pay for the extra insulation in a

If your unfinished attic has a floor, use a ruler to poke through the cracks and around the edges to see how much insulation, if any, is there. If there is less than four inches, add more.

The next place to check is your exterior walls. You can determine whether they are insulated by removing the cover from a light switch on an outside wall. Turn off the power first.

Shine a flashlight into the space be-tween the switchbox and the wall and see if you can see insulation. If not, you may want to put some inside that wall.

Your decision will be guided by the size of your energy bills, the amount of room inside the wall for insulation and how easy it is to get into your walls. If you are adding on a room, you have access to the walls and and put in a lot of insulation.

If you live in a brick house with wet plaster walls, the cost of insulating may be much higher than the savings from insulating. A professional contractor can give you a free cost estimate and help you determine if additional wall insulation is feasiNext, check for adequate insulation under floors, in crawl spaces and next to foundation walls. Consider insulating in these areas. However, if you keep your basement at room temperature, there is little point in insulating your floor or heating ducts.

IN ADDITION to insulating your house, you can also gain energy efficiency with a few simple improvements.

Heated and cooled air can escape from your house through cracks around doors and windows. You can stop drafts along these areas with caulking and weatherstripping.

Several additional steps require only a slight change in the way you do things at

For example, set the thermostat at 65 degrees in winter, five degrees lower when sleeping or away, and 78 degrees in degrees

If you are elderly or have blood circulation problems, you may need to keep your thermostat set above 65 degree in the win-

Lower the water heater thermostat to 120 degrees. Make sure clothes dryers and dish washers are fully loaded before using them. It is counter productive to overstuff your clothes dryers, but it's difficult to overfill a dish washers.

Turn on lights only when and where you need them. If you have an inside light that's on long hours, such as in a kitchen or workroom, consider installing a flourescent light. The initial cost will be higher, but you'll save energy. Flourescent lights "pay for themselves" in lower energy useage.

Q..The children have taken over our family room. We would like an adults only hideway for relaxation without going to the bedroom.?

A. You can find a solution for yur problem designed for your budget. The low-cost approach is to arrange a quiet corner of the family room or living room for reading and conversation. The old back porch may be converted to this prized adults-only nook.

tered and protected from drying winds and sun. Mulching the bases of new bushes also helps to protect delicate root systems and retain water.

Trees also offer a wide variety of size and shape, flowers and fruit, even the density of their shade and resistance to weather and disease. Some like redbud and flowering crab make handsome accents in front of your home. Others like dogwood or birch are ideal to plant in clumps and create your own personal grove. Or, you may prefer an old, shady favorite like maple. Whatever your preference, get the advice of your local nursery to ensure success.

But by all means, use trees in your local part by all means, use trees in your landscaping plan. They are, in fact, the center around which your other shrubs and plantings must fit and therefore basic to any good garden plan. Like bushes, you can safety plant trees in autumn but they must be staked, mulched and deeply watered to assure a healthy start.

Use the same protection pointers for established shrubs and trees. Mulch the bases with leaves or straw. Stake deciduous trees with cord — never wire — to protect them from wind and wrap tender trunks to prevent bark damage from sun or insects. Water all shrubs and trees deeply and often until the ground freezes. This allows them to store up moisture for the months ahead. Where weather is extreme or plants are especially tender, sew up a canvas screen for added protection. You can do this easiy by stapling fabric to stakes around your plant. Never wrap the shrub itself since that inhibits air circulations and one of the protection of the states around your plant. tion and can smother your plant.

abead for nex spring's first blooms. Nothing is as exiting for even the occasional gardener as the first crocus or jonquil, followed triumphantly by hyacinths, tulips and lilies. Since these hardy bulbs must be planted in the fall, you must take time now to clear a planting area and plan for that fist show of color. For best effect, plant bulbs in clusters of at least six to eight plants or more and stick to one vari-

Bone meal mixed into the area at planting time is a healthy bonus for sturdy Spring blooms. Cover bulb beds with a protective straw mulch but remember to remove it in early spring above ground. Most bulbs insist on well-drained soil.

Once you have completed your fall planting and taken care of watering and protecting new and existing plants, you can complete your garden clean-up. Perhaps the largest chore any gardener faces is raking up the seemingly endless sea of leaves that annually engulf most years. Of

Many bulbs will multiply on their own and you can look forward to more and more flowers each course, you may have already used many of the leaves as a mulch for your shrubs and garden beds. Rake up the remainder to layer into your compost pile or better yet, use a mulcher or shredder first. If leaves are a major problem in your yard and garden you may want to buy or rent a power vacuum or use the apropriate attachment on your garden tractor.

Just be sure that you don't leave a bed of leaves on the grass. Winter snow and rain can mat them down and leave you with browned out areas next spring.

A little attention and preventive medicine now means they'll be ready to work again with the first warmth of spring. Besides the end-of-the-year cleaning and tuning you give your large tools like lawn and garden tractor, smaller tools also deserve your attention.

In the summer, energy costs will be lower if you have leafy trees on the south, east and west sides of the house. They're the world's best air conditioners — with no fuel required. And almost every family relaxing evening spent

Today's energy conscious homeowner should be aware of a new type of paint designed to help keep heat and moisture inside where it's needed and to protect interior and exterior paint as well. This latex vapor barrier goes on like paint to help insulation become more effective.

With the last spring thaw many of us saw wet siding with blistering and peeling paint. Some of us may have even suffered stained or sagging ceilings. This moisture looks like an exterior defect in siding or roofing, but is usually caused by moisture from inside trapped and frozen within exterior walls. Every home has moisture from bathrooms, laundry, dishwashing and cooking, which in the proper proportion contributes to your family's health. In winter's drastic temperatures the right balance becomes upset and can result in damage. An effective latex vapor barrier guards against exterior paint failure and related damage.

Valuable heat loss occurs when insulation becomes wet. Just as wet winter clothing draws out body heat, wet insulation loses its heat retaining effectiveness. A latex vapor barrier applied to the warm side of exterior walls helps keep insulation dry. One product tested showed a 20 percent less heat loss through coated walls compared to uncoated.

The fast-drying vapor barrier may be used over previously painted surfaces or as a primer for wallboard or plaster. One contractor primed all interior walls of his Brush, roll or spray it just like a latex wall paint. Top coat with alkyd or latext interior paint or enamel.

Paint is the most practical and econom-how they perform. Most professional painters choose a brand for easy application and satisfactory results. Price is a secondary factor. Let that be your guide, too. If time and money are at a premium, begin warming your home with paint one When buying insulating latex vapor barrier, as with any paint or stain, check the label guarantee. Use a dealer who works with professional painters. He'll have the latest product developments and know how they perform. Most professional t product room at a time rich pigments designed to hide the previous color and grain in only one coat. Newer acrylic latex stains provide the same easy water clean up and durability associated with latex products. Some colors of acrylic latex stains appear better on woods that don't "bleed" like redwood and cedar. Your dealer can assist you in selecting the appropriate color and stain. Versatile stains can be used on rough and smooth siding, shakes, shingles, fascia and

For the beauty of natural wood semitransparent stain is the very best finish. The wood's natural beauty is enhanced by colorful accents along the grain and texture. Protect and beautify the new wood, rough or smooth siding, decks, fences and outdoor furniture with semi-transparent stain. Bring stain indoors to give a rustic touch to unfinished interior paneling, beams and wood ceiling.

There are interior coverings for almost any surface. A variety of paints cover in-terior surfaces ranging from wall board to are dreary and difficult to work in is poor lighting. That's because most kitchens were built with a single, centrally located light fixture on the ceiling. This fixture may be sufficient to light the entire kitchen. However, standing between the light and a counter can create a shadow.

To eliminate shadows on work surfaces and generally brighten your kitchen, the installation of track lighting can be a productive home improvement. Track lighting's obvious advantage over a single, centrally located ceiling fixture is that the lights can be moved so that the beams shine directly on your counters and tables. Installing track lights is a relatively simple task for the homeowner who is equipped with a complete set of instructions and the right tools.

Before beginning any work, turn off the dispersive that the light tools.

If you're turning your home improvement energies to the kitchen, there's one job you can undertake that will make a big difference in the way your kitchen looks.

Before screwing the canopy cover into place, connect its wires to the ceiling fixtures wires. This is done by capping the similar colored wires — white to white, black to black and so forth.

After the canopy cover is securely in place, slide the track into the box opening and mark the ceiling with a pencil where the holes should be drilled for toggle bolts to anchor the track. Drill the holes for the toggle bolts, replace the track and screw the toggles into the ceiling.

With the track attached to the ceiling, you're ready to snap the light units into place. Insert them into the channel and Installing your own vinyl flooring is a good way to save money, but some of the most skilled do-it-yourselfers have botched this job because they did not take these few simple precautions.

These simple rules will help save you the time and moeny spent on a job gone wrong.

If you are unfamiliar with vinyl flooring, buy from a store where the sale-people are familiar with vinyl flooring. Tell them that you plan to do your own installing.

No-wax vinyl tiles, which come in patterns for every room and simulate just about everything from mosaic to wood inlay, are the easiest to handle. If you are going to attempt to lay sheet vinyl, there are special tools and do-it-yourself kits for this challenge.

Select a dry, and if possible, warm day for this job. The room temperature should be 70 degrees for 24 hours prior to the installation, and remain at that temperature for 48 hours after the job is done.
If you are laying the vinyl directly over cement, make sure it is alkaline free, sanded smooth, bone dry and if need be, sealed. And, before you buy your flooring, make sure it can be laid over cement. Some cannot under any conditions.
Before you begin, make sure that the surface of the floor beneath your new vinnyl is free of dirt, grease and wax.

Fortunately, there are a number of ways to give a house a new look without going to the expense and trouble of buying new furniture or knocking down walls.

Home fashion experts, for example, recommend rearranging the existing furnishings or changeing the assessories in a room.

Another simple way to freshen a room's appearance is to provide a new back-

Applying paint or stain is actually the easiest part of your home decorating project. The surface preparation is the burden of your labor and it pays off in the quality of results. Another important aspect is color selection. The dozens of paint and stain color choices can be overwhelming. Consult decorating magazines and books for a variety of creative ideas that allow you to really express yourself.

Since most plants are quite sensitive to the seasons and enter a dormant time in the winter months, you should begin to ease up on fertilizing. Remember also that the sun sinks lower in the sky and its light is more direct on windows.

Perhaps the greatest hazard to indoor gardening is dry air, even more of a problem when furnaces and fireplaces are used once again. A humidifier is ideal. You can also set plants in saucers with pebbles and water added as necessary.

Misting with a spray bottle is also helpful. Other plants like Swedish ivy, philodendron, dracaena and many palms aren't nearly as fussy as long as they are properly watered. Scheffleras are terrific inside, if you plan ahead. Besides sparing you a last minute trip in the dark in robe and slippers, you will be much less likely to forget any plants and can also reserve some space for them inside. Defective guttering discovered during a seasonal inspection may be covered by warranty.

One brand of white enameled aluminum guttering will be replaced the first year if the finish blisters, peels, chips or cracks. And for the following 14 years, this product and its professional installation are in warranty at a pro-rated basis. The warranty may be passed along to the next resident of the house.

Fall check-up includes cleaning out debris, sealing aluminum joints or soldering steel and checking nails for rust. Paint, priming galvanized units in need. Hangers, located every 24 inches, should be adjusted for proper fit and slope.

Do not use aluminum gutter guards with steel gutters; there is a vinyl product available which work better.

Improper roof drainage may be caused by too few downspouts. Formula to determine the proper number is 1 square inch of downspout cross-sectional area per 1 sq ft. of roof surface. In areas with severe weather, note that the design of corrugated-style pipe allows expansion with less

To see if gutters are properly positioned, place a yardstick down the roof slope to make sure that the out-side edge of the gutter is below the yardstick.

Rain runoff simply falls into the gutter, but shading show becomes wedged across a too-high gutter. The resulting "ice dam" makes moisture back up under shingles and through the roof.

Serving a similar purpose on established roofs is a heating cable in 25-foot sections. Five units plug together and connect to a 6-foot power supply cord. The cable is mounted by special clips in zigzag fashion allowing three feet of cable per foot of roof edge. Prestest the cable prior to installation.

The heatbreak and expense of fire could result from a chimney coated with creosote, the condensed wood smoke which adheres to chimney walls. The highly flue up on rest adheres to chimney walls. The highly flammable material creates dangerous burning debris and sparks which shoot out of a chimney and may set a house ablaze.

Creosote accumulation is often caused by burning large loads of wood in an enclosed space. Smaller fires with plenty of air slow down the rate of accumulation.

Although you have to add wood more often to smaller fires, the total amount of wood burned and the heat produced will be about the same.

To inspect for creosote accumulation, look for a sticky black build-up on the walls by peering down the chimney from the rooftop and up the chimney from inside suring daylight hours.

If creosote has a hard tar glaze, a deposit only one-quarter inch thick can fuel a substantial chimney fire. If you see what you believe to be a creosote deposit, call a

Do most consumers know relatively little about the pillows they sleep on? Keep their pillows far too long? Lack the information needed to shop intelligently for new pillows?

If you answered yes, you agree with the conclusions of a recent survey of consumer attitudes toward pillows. To help consumer make smart pillow-buying decisions, the following will answer the mostasked pillow questions.

Q. How can I tell when it is time to replace a pillow?

A. When the pillow becomes permanently flat, lumpy or matted and no longer fluffable, it should be replaced for both comfort and health/hygiene reasons.

Q. What types of bed pillows are there?

A. Three types are available: those filled with down or feathers and down, those filled with polyester fiberfill. Several grades of quality within each group affect the price.

Q. How does each filling perform?

A. Down pillows are soft and warm, fluffy and resilient, and last a long time. They may mildew, however, or develop an odor in a warm and humid environment, unpleasant odor.

Q. How should I select a new pillow?

A. Take the touch test — touch a pillow, hug it, scrunch it. The pillow should be comfortable, buoyant, resilient. Then read the label for information on filling, performance and care.

Q. How should I care for a pillow?

A. Refluff your down or fiberfill pillow every morning because sleeping comfort comes from the air trapped in the pillow filling. Down pillows should be washed occasionally, but they take a long time to chine-washed and machine-dried quickly for lasting freshness. Be guided by the information on the label.

Q. How much should a pillow cost and how long should it last?
