EVACUATION OF residents from 60 mobile homes in West Point Manor because of Tuesday night's natural gas leak strictly was a precautionary measure, according to Mike Neiswonger, communications specialist for Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. Some mobile home residents questioned the necessity for evacuation. Neiswonger explained there wasn't a danger of ignition or explosion unless a spark of fire was placed directly near the leak, which he believed was a "very, very remote" possibility. But he supported the evacuation for safety reasons.

DO YOU SUFFER from a sports injury? Treatment and prevention of these injuries will be explored at a program from 7-10 p.m. Oct. 4 at Oakwood Hospital Canton Center. Physicians on the emergency department staffs at Oakwood's Canton Center and Dearborn facilities will present the free program. It is geared for athletic and little league coaches and other interested residents. Registration is necessary. Call 459-7030 for more details.

Schools to name new radio station manager

By Dennis O'Connor staff writer

Can a local graduate convince the Board of Education to give the school district's radio station a long-term operating commitment?

Andy Melin certainly hopes so.

Melin, 22, a 1978 graduate of Plymouth Salem High School, is expected to be officially hired as WSDP-FM's new station manager at tonight's regular board meeting.

Melin, who started work last Monday at the station, replaces former WSDP coordinator Jeff Cardinal, who resigned in August for a promotions position at an East Lansing television station.

Melin's position calls for a one-year contract at $17,000. He is not part of the administrative structure, although Cardinal was.

WSDP-FM, 88.1 on the dial, is a 10-year-old, student-operated radio station, based at Plymouth Salem High School on the Centennial Educational Park campus.

The station has operated on a year-to-year basis, as have many school services, because of financial constraints.

Melin understands the district's poor financial status, but he hopes to convince the board not to pull the plug on WSDP.

"My philosophy is to make them (board members) feel they want to give the commitment," Melin explained. "This year, I will work as hard as I can to earn that commitment."

WSDP'S ANNUAL BUDGET is about $30,000. Melin's goals focus on changing the station's format, offer local programming to residents and attract financial support from fine." community businesses and charitable organizations.

"My whole goal is to get out in the community and be visible with businesses and hopefully (find a way to) underwrite some of our programs," said Melin, who was the sports director at WSDP while a high school student.

"With the people I've talked to, they've been very cooperative, and they are going to do anything they can do to help me

One major format change, which should come in early October, is a "unified" music approach - offering a combination of easy listening and top-40s sound, Melin said.

Weekly and monthly hour-long specials will feature different types of music.

Melin also plans to emphasize local news and features, highlighted by a one-half hour weekly news magazine program which debuts at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6.

"The reason we (WSDP) are here is to offer an alternative with local news and community features," Melin said. "It's my job to motivate the kids out there to do it. "It's something we have to do."

SCHOOL OFFICIALS originally contacted and offered the station manager position to Paul Sincock, assistant director of parks and recreation for the city of Plymouth.

Sincock turned down the offer, however, because of the one-year contract.

"The schools were only able to offer an 111/2-month contract with no renewal clause," Sincock explained. "In these economic times, job security is an important factor in any job.

"The schools were unable to put together a complete package for me. Financially, and benefit-wise, the offer was sparked a controversy over who should pay for a chewed-up car seat.

Nitro, one of Canton's ace police tracking dogs, several months ago chewed the car seat of his handler, Officer William Keppen.

Keppen submitted a bill to the township for the damage. But personnel director Dan Durack contends the bill should be paid from Keppen's $250 annual allowance for the animal's care, as specified in the current agreement.

Now the police officers' union wants the township to pay for "all expenses incurred" for the dogs. The issue is part of current negotiations.

Jones is married and the father of five children.

THE TOWNSHIP BOARD Tuesday will set next year's tax rate for police services. Township officials are considering increasing the police tax slightly over last year's rate.

The rates for fire protection and the township's general fund will be lowered slightly next year.

THE TOWNSHIP Board regularly meets on the first, second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Meetings begin at 7 p.m. at Township Hall, on Canton Center south of Cherry Hill. The board of education regularly meets on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. at 454 S. Harvey, Plymouth. The public is invited to attend all government meetings.

What began as a simple collection of a few bucks around an office has quickly turned into a year-long fundraising campaign for little Tony Coscia, 2, of Plymouth Township.

And the result is thousands of dollars for this child, who is severely-stricken with cerebral palsy.

Lynn Black, of Canton, a service representative for Michigan Bell Phone Centers, read the original plea for Tony's aid in last November's Observer and casually began collecting $10 from fellow employees at the now-defunct Canton office.

She told a friend about Tony's plight in an Oak Park phone office, and another collection surfaced. Within one month, all 31 phone offices, statewide, began contributing money for Tony, and later a committee was formed to spearhead other fundraising projects this year.

"People are picking it up," Black said. "It just seems like more and more people are getting involved, and it's really taken off from there.

"It really does your heart good to work with people that are so generous about causes."

Ma Bell staff aids Tony's plight

TONY, WHO TURNED 2 last June, has had problems receiving state aid for his handicap, according to his mother, Alicia Coscia. She believes Tony needs special treatment at the Institute for the Achievement for Human Potential, in Philadelphia, but those trips are expensive.

At one point late last year, the Coscia family sacrificed furniture and holiday presents to save money for Tony's aid.

Many local merchants and service clubs responded to Tony's need at that time. Thanks to those funds, and Michigan Bell's continued interest, the family currently is financially stable, and Tony continues to improve each day of treatment.

In fact, Tony now can stand up, hanging onto something, for about 12 minutes, according to Alicia. Last December, it was an accomplishment for Tony to crawl 200 inches in 15 minutes.

DOUG QUINN, of Farmington Hills, district manager for all Michigan Bell phone centers in the state, personally got involved in the fund-raising campaign, which has included four separate planned activities this year.

It became a year-long after Quinn visited Tony last Christmas with the initial $1,000 raised by Michigan Bell employees.

Michigan Bell employees already have raised additional funds from a marathon run and picnic in Hines Park and a golf outing at the Bay Valley Golf Club.

A road rally is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 3 at the Melvin Bailey Recreation Center, Westland. Cost is $30 per car with all proceeds going to Tony. The road rally is open to the public. Call Black at 523-9918, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, for more information.

A season-ending dance in Tony's honor takes place on Nov. 6 at the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth. Call Black for more information on this event.

Money raised from these four events will be presented to Tony and his family at this dance.

Little Tony Coscia shows his mother, Alicia, how he recognizes the state of California on this diagram, in a picture taken last year. Tony suffers from severe cerebral palsy.

Board expected to hike

Canton's Township Board is expected to set the 1983 tax rate for police services during Tuesday's meeting.

The board is proposing to raise the police tax by 0.482 mills over last year's level to provide additional revenues for capital expenditures, including new police cars and radio batteries.

If that proposal is approved, the new tax rate would be 3.65 mills ($3.65 for every $1,000 of assessed property valuation, based on half the market value of the property).

The higher rate for police services, however, will be offset by lower rates for fire protection and general fund expenses next year. The township board recently trimmed the fire and general fund millage rates from last year's figures.

For example, a resident whose home carries a market value of $60,000 would pay $12 more for police services if the proposed tax increase passes.

But, in this example, the final tax bill

Escapee faces break-in charges

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

A 32-year-old Jackson State Prison escapee arrested in connection with 50 to 75 home burglaries has been bound over to Wayne County Circuit Court for trial.

John M. Hainer, who confessed to at least 50 breakins in a three-county area, waived his right to a preliminary examination in 35th District Court Thursday morning.

Plymouth police have charged Hainer with breaking and entering with the intent to commit larceny. And Canton police have charged him with breaking and entering.

He stood mute to both charges earlier this month. The charges each carry a maximum sentence of 15 years in prison.

Hainer will stay in police custody, in lieu of $20,000 bond, pending his Oct. 7 pre-trial examination in circuit court.

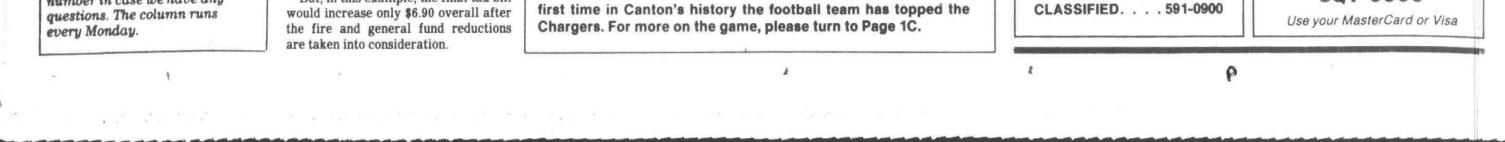

ON SEPT. 17, Canton police, along with officers from Livonia and the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, arrested a man believed to be Hainer's partner in the breakins.

Jay M. Coleman, 28, of Detroit, was arrested for breaking and entering. Officers from the three departments had Coleman under surveillance, following his visit with Hainer at the Canton Police Department.

THE CABBAGE PATCH: A 55-year-old Canton man was ticketed for larceny in the theft of cabbages and carrots from a community farm lot at Warren Road and Lilley Sept. 18.

Witnesses told police they saw a man removing the vegetables from the lot and put them into a truck. Residents who pay a fee to the township are allowed to grow vegetables in a specified parcel.

MORE VEGETABLES STOLEN: Someone broke into the Bordine produce stand at Ford and Ridge Sept. 17. According to a police report, the thief stole several bushels of watermelons, apples, beans, peaches, peanuts and onions. Several melons were slashed with a knife, according to the report.

DOWN THE TOILET: A landlord reported someone broke into his rental unit on Lotz Sept. 18. He complained that the burglar broke a window and damaged a toilet which had been placed in the hallway during a remodeling project.

Coleman and a woman identified as Cheryl Robinson, 25, of Detroit, visited Hainer at Canton. Robinson was arrested on a Detroit prostitution warrant, while Coleman left and was placed under surveillance.

Officers from Canton, Livonia and Washtenaw arrested Coleman after following him to a Washtenaw County home where he apparently committed a breakin, according to Canton detective John McDiarmid.

The Washtenaw Sheriff's Department is expected to bring charges against Coleman, while Canton, Plymouth and Livonia aren't certain if they will prosecute, police say.

Police believe Hainer and Coleman stole a total of $200,000 of goods. The items included cash, guns, jewelry, silverware and television sets, according to Livonia Sgt. Robert Hoover.

The men were only charged with some of the confessed breakins, which occurred in Wayne, Washtenaw and Livingston counties. Police in Livonia and Redford Township have attributed several home burglaries to the two, but don't expect to press charges.

THE DAYTIME breakins all occurred since Hainer walked away from a Jackson trusty farm July 20, according to police. He was serving a five-to-20 year sentence for armed robbery at the time of the escape.

Jackson officials are expected to charge Hainer with escape, which carries a maximum sentence of two-thirds his original sentence.

Law enforcement officials in Washtenaw and Livingston counties also have charges pending against Hainer, according to Elliot Margolis, Hainer's court-appointed attorney.

Any prison time Hainer would be sentenced to would be served consecutively, says Margolis.

English teacher wins excursion to Netherlands

Plymouth Canton High School English teacher Brian Schwall of Canton literally wrote his own ticket to the Netherlands this fall.

Schwall was a winner in the Netherlands-United States of America 200 Foundation's essay contest. He won a one-week, all expensepaid trip for two to the Netherlands.

"This year is our 15th wedding anniversary and we wanted to go to Europe, but the money wasn't there," says Schwall. "Winning the trip was great — we were thrilled."

The essay contest is part of the Netherlands' celebration of being the first country to officially recognize the United States.

"You were suppose to write 50 words or less on why you wanted to go to the Netherlands," he says.

"It was hard to know who you were writing for, since they were having an independent company judge the essays.

"The key was 50 words or less. Most people sit down and the first 50 words don't say anything," he says.

Schwall submitted six different essays, and isn't certain which one won.

"I attempted to approach it six different ways. One was funny — I'm sure that didn't win. My wife didn't want me to send it in," says Schwall.

This will be Schwall's third trip to the Netherlands.

"It's a great small country where you can see Europe in a nutshell. It's beautiful and serene."

Schwall and his wife will be flying from Chicago to Amsterdam. Once in Amsterdam they will spend one day in a province.

"The day spent in the province is to show us the cultural, social and business life," he says.

The balance of the week will be spent in Amsterdam and will include a trip to the Floriade Show an outdoor flower show staged every 10 years.

To close out the week there will be an official reception for the essay winners. Some of the Netherlands' royalty is expected at the reception. Does Schwall plan to enter essay contests in the future?

"I really do!"

Wishing to relive sports memories

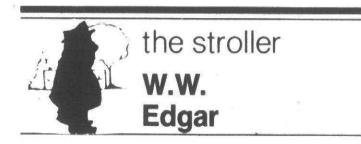

There are times as a fellow walks along life's trail that he gets a trifle upset by the modern trends and longs for a return to what we now call "the good old days."

This yearning has gripped The Stroller in recent weeks with all the fuss over the colleges and universities, especially in the Big Ten. And it reached its peak when Michigan invaded the Notre Dame stadium and played football under artificial lights.

Interested to the point where he sat up until after midnight watching the Wolverines go down to defeat, The Stroller just couldn't feel right about the colleges playing until after midnight, and on a Saturday at that.

At the risk of being called old-fashioned, The Stroller yearns for the times when the high schools played on Friday afternoon and evening, the colleges and universities on Saturday and the pros on Sunday.

This was a sports ritual that seemed to satisfy everybody. Then along came televion and caused a hunger for a share of the flood of the big TV money and things changed — and not for the better.

The Stroller has traveled the sports trail for a good many years. He has become accustomed to the style and manner of the various organizations. And you'd be surprised at the changes that have taken place.

The first big twist came in baseball, especially on holidays. There was a time when there was a daytime doubleheader on each special day. They played one game at 10 in the morning, dismissed the crowd, and played the

But along came golf and all the public courses and things started to change. Now, often they play only one game in the majors and that's at night. It is a far cry from the old days.

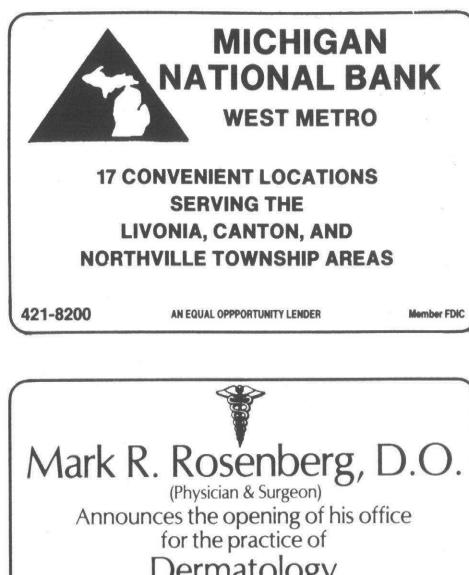

About 1939 Larry McPhail, one of the major league general managers, introduced night baseball. It seemed odd at the time. But, somehow it caught on, and now most of the games are at night. The Stroller liked the old days when a game was played in an hour and a half. In fact, when he was writing baseball, if a game lasted longer than that he had to explain the reason for it in his story for the paper.

While baseball and football were played during the day, such sports as boxing, basketball, handball and squash were played at night.

Some of the great fights in the past were held in the heat of the afternoon — The famous Dempsey-Carpentier fight, for one. But boxing is best suited for under the lights at night.

It is the same with basketball. It seems out of place in the afternoon. At night, it becomes an interesting and fascinating sport.

By the same token, it would seem strange to watch a marathon race in the dark after the evening meal.

Suggestions never implemented

County efficiency report had good ideas for Sheriff

"I DON'T AGREE with that," said Sheriff William Lucas to the charge that he's "part of the problem" with Wayne County government.

Well, judge for yourself. For partisan reasons alone, Lucas stands an excellent chance of becoming Wayne's first elected county executive, the man who would be in charge of the budget and all departments not headed by an elected official next Jan. 1.

In his joint appearance with opponent Robert FitzPatrick recently, Lucas cited a 1980 report by the Wayne County Efficiency Task Force which, he said, indicated the panel approved of his idea of using lower-priced correctional guards instead of high-paid deputies as jail guards. He blamed the county Board of Commissioners for letting the proposal gather dust.

Take a look at that report, however, and you might get a different impression of how the Sheriff's Department is run. The chapter on the Sheriff's Department is by Col. John Plants, former State Police director; John Nichols, former Detroit police commissioner, former undersheriff of Oakland County and current police chief of Farmington Hills; and William L. Kime, deputy director of the Michigan Department of Corrections.

Pretty prestigious names, eh? Now here is a good portion of what they had to say:

"THE COUNTY could cut personnel costs by using something less than fully certified police officers for jail operations. . . The sheriff should consider using sworn police officers in only the supervision of the jail, although further investigation might show that even these functions could be under civilian control.'

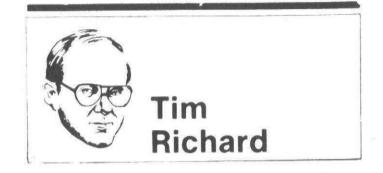

The italics are added. The words give the distinct impression the sheriff could have implemented the change.

Oh, yes, the report notes that of the sheriff's 850 employees (at that time), 448 - more than half - worked at the jail and 321 of them were sworn and certified officers.

"The current high cost of food services is not reflected in the quality of the product. There is reason to believe that $500,000 annually could be saved by using a private contractor to provide the food requirements of the jail."

"The proposed staffing of the new jail is of considerable financial consequences to the county and should be carefully reviewed." I noted last week that Lucas, though in charge of the jail, doesn't mention this problem we face in 1983. Only FitzPatrick discusses it.

"IT IS DOUBTFUL that sworn deputies are required for security-type functions. We are suggesting that something less than full deputies be used at the airport and court security functions.

The sheriff deployed 45 persons, including 43 sworn officers, in airport patrol duty and 84 persons, including 75 sworn officers, in court operations, the task force reported.

"We realize that saving money at the airport does not have direct impact on Sheriff's Department budget (the Road Commission runs the airport and contracts for the sheriff's services), but these funds also belong to the public, and their use should be carefully evaluated.

"The State Capitol security force consists of civilian guards operating under the supervision of State Police officers. A similar force under sworn deputy supervision should be considered for courts and airports."

THE TASK force noted that the Sheriff's Department's functions overlap those of other organizations.

"An example of overlapping could be the crime laboratory functions and the helicopter operations, both of which are very expensive, if properly performed.

"The Michigan State Police operate a crime laboratory at Northville. This may be sufficient for the Sheriff's operation.

"The aviation unit should be evaluated to determine its utilization. For necessary flights, it may be cheaper to lease commercially or share the cost with the Detroit Police Department."

(This was a 1980 report, and since that time some of Lucas's operations have been cut back. It's a nice question, however, why the department headed by Lucas for nearly 14 years got into these functions in the first place.)

NOW WE COME to the heavy stuff. The task force credits Lucas and staff with a reorganization plan with the potential to increase efficiency and lower costs. But it closes with these blistering comments:

"A large share of the department problems, both fiscal and organizational, are the result of an extremely restrictive union contract with Local 502 of the National Union of Police Officers.

"This contract not only creates problems but is a positive hindrance to their solution. If the people of Wayne County are to regain control of the Sheriff's Department, something will have to be done to obviate the restrictions imposed by the contract."

Re-read those words in italics. They tell us that Sheriff Bill Lucas, now the leading county executive candidate, doesn't control his own department.

To put it another way: If Lucas himself isn't "the problem," then the unions which control his department are "the problem."

But read on and make up your own mind:

"THE PRINCIPAL reason for the excessive use of overtime in the department is directly related to the union contract. This contract provides a clear potential for abuse of overtime pay, shift differential and other premium pay. It is obvious that binding arbitration has not worked to the benefit of the people of Wayne County, although it has served the union well.

"Another hindrance to the operation of the department is the current court order governing the jail operation. It may be necessary to ask for temporary or permanent relief from some courtimposed restrictions. This is particularly true in the proposals for staffing the new jail.

"The current proposals provide for a very high ratio of jail personnel to inmates. This 'staff-intensive' program will be very costly for the county and should be carefully evaluated."

End of task force report.

Again, if Lucas has sought modifications of that court order, he doesn't talk about it on the stump. He promises only vague efficiencies at an indefinite time in the future.

But, what the hell. Why should Lycas worry about what three top cops'and correctional officers say in the Wayne County Efficiency Task Force? He's the front runner, and the unions are supporting him.

Faculty taught how to bargain (at college expense)

(Part XXI)

While Schoolcraft trustees were preoccupied with the I-275 expressway controversy during the first half of 1966, the college continued its rapid growth.

A cooperative training program was begun in January of that year. The schedules of 35 students were arranged to permit them to work a minimum of 15 hours per week for businessmen in the college district as part of their college program. In March, Dr. Eric Bradner announced that work had begun on the formation of a Schoolcraft College Foundation. Attorney Edward Draugelis was drawing up a draft of the organization for submission to the Board of Trustees. Bradner indicated that a gift of $12,500 was pending for the foundation, providing that matching funds could be found. In October Clifton D. Hill, a Northville lawyer, became the first president of the non-profit foundation, organized by friends of the college to raise endowment funds and accept private donations Also in March, Bradner and vice president John Brinn travelled to Chicago to present Schoolcraft's case for candidate-for-membership status before the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Bradner was jubilant on March 31 when the request was granted

"We feel proud that Schoolcraft could make such tremendous strides towards accreditation in the short period of three years," he told a reporter. "That is the minimum time allowed by the NCA, and the commission approval attests to the progress of the college." Bradner said the college now needed only a self-study appraisal and additional campus visits by NCA groups to become eligible for accreditation. John Brinn had already set up a committee to work on the self-study. One of its members was retired dean Lois Waterman SCHOOLCRAFT'S FIRST two-year class graduated in May 1966.

At commencement exercises, the 60 students in the class heard Dr. William D. Stirton, vice president of the University of Michigan, speak on "Hire Education or High Education." The high spot of the first commencement came when Bradner presented the institution's first degree to Albert Abbey.

During the same month, Dr. L. Dell Reed, dean of academic instruction and director of the evening college, left to become vice president at Cuyahoga County Community College in Cleveland. Frederick Stefanski, the principal of the Northville High School, was named to succeed Reed as director of the evening college, and Robert A. Stenger, an English instructor at the college since its opening, was named acting dean of academic instruction.

As a result of a $3 million bond issue approved by district voters on June 13, the trustees at their August meeting authorized construction of a 32-room classroom building at the south end of the campus, the remodelling of the Forum Building, the equipping of the new Vocational-Technical building, the new Waterman Campus Center and site improvements including hard surfacing of parking lots.

Some $89,000 was authorized as a planning fund for a proposed physical education plant. The cost of these projects was estimated at $2,283,078. Of this, the college's share was $1,527,911, with the balance from state and federal funds

Also in August, Bradner announced an appointment that was further evidence of the growth of the institution. Howard Kahn, city editor of the Daytona Beach Morning Journal, was joining the college in the newly-created position of assistant to the president. Kahn's duties included institutional research, college publications, public relations, and the following of state and federal legislation.

In the same month Sheldon G. Hayes, a Northville industrialist, gave the col-

IN AN UNPRECEDENTED move, the Board of Trustees approved the sending of both administrative and faculty representatives to school to learn what happens when both sides meet across the bargaining table.

Eastern Michigan had announced a workshop on collective negotiations in public education for August 3-19, and Schoolcraft trustees agreed to pay tuition not only for two members of the administrative negotiating team but for a member of the faculty negotiating team as well.

As a result of the board's decision, college business manager W. Kenneth Lindner, vice president for instruction John W. Brinn, and Anthony V. Rizzo, geography instructor and a member of the faculty since the college opened, attended the workshop. Rizzo was designated by the Faculty Forum, the recognized bargaining body for the faculty. Lindner said there were plenty of

Response given to entertainer

To the editor:

As a long-time member of the Plymouth Community Fall Festival Board, I would like to respond to the letter in the Sept. 20 paper from Richard Bassett, the street entertainer who complained because we wouldn't allow him to proceed with his fire act during this past festival. My letter might also put his complaint in proper perspective.

Bassett is a gifted and skilled entertainer, and both of the managers and myself watched and enjoyed his acts of juggling and balancing until he brought out his can of starter fluid and the batons with oil-soaked rags on each end.

There was a circle of about 100 people with many small children around him, and at this point our manager walked up to him and asked that he dispense with this part of his act because of the number of children present.

Bassett stated in his letter "that concern for the children of Plymouth was unnecessary since most of us learn at a very early age a healthy respect for fire and other hazardous objects."

Unfortunately the front pages of any newspaper will prove the fallacy of this statement as they document on a daily basis the stories of lives lost because of small children playing with matches or other flammable materials

He further stated that "we were preventing the people of Plymouth from seeing entertainment as old as civilization itself, and that only the parents should decide what their children watch."

In the confines of the home or where they have the choice, I agree Bassett is correct. However, where activities of the Fall Festival are concerned, it is the responsibility of the festival board and its managers to decide what can and cannot be safely presented.

I think I can speak for them all when I say that we don't want a child from Plymouth or any other community injured because of sething that was seen or picked up from the Plymouth festival.

Bassett was allowed to perform unannounced and uninvited because his audience obviously enjoyed him. Rather than complain because he wasn't allowed to stretch our safety rules to suit his own needs, he should be willing to work within these rules as everyone else does so that the residents of our community, including the little ones, can continue to enjoy themselves safely and without incident as they have been doing for 27

Schools gain grant for saving energy

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools district is one of 72 recipients of U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) grants for energy conservation projects.

The district will receive $7,300 towards energy conservation projects at Isbister Elementary School on Canton Center Road in Plymouth. The schools will have to match the grant, bringing the project cost to a $14,600 total.

While the Isbister grant was approved, the district was turned down on its request for nine other projects, according to Ray Hoedel, assistant superintendent of business.

"We put in a request for 10 different buildings and only got one. Our total request was for $273,552 and we only got $7,300. We are quite disappointed to say the least," said Hoedel.

"I understand one of the criteria was if the district was in deficit, there was a better chance of getting the grants. I'm checking to see if that's true, and if it is, I plan to write to Washington to voice our objections. It should be the other way around.'

The objective of the grant program is to improve energy efficiency in schools, hospitals and other eligible institutional buildings by providing funds for technical assistance and the implementation of conservation measures.

The grants are part of the multivear program authorized by the National Energy Conservation Policy Act of 1978.

The Isbister funds will be used for replacing motors that operate fans, repairing thermostats and working on the control aspects of the building's heating system, says Hoedel.

The improvements were targeted in an energy audit conducted by the Berns Energy Consulting Company of Northville. Bems helped in the writing of the schools' grant request and will write the specifications for the Isbister project.

The company's services are expected to cost some $4,000, of which $2,000 will be paid from the DOE funds.

Had the schools received its total grant request, an energy conservation savings of some $137,000 was expected each year, says Hoedel.

"The projects were all of the shortterm payback nature," he says.

State hope: supply oil, gas industries

The 5,000 products utilized in oil and gas exploration and production may produce many Michigan jobs if local manufacturers can become industry suppliers.

The Michigan Office of Economic Development delivered that message in a seminar on "How to Market to the Energy Equipment Industry." The session, attended by more than 60 persons, was held in conjunction with the U.S. Oil and Gas Technology Conference in Cobo Hall, Detroit.

"WE ARE MAKING many efforts to bring more jobs to the state," said John Hanieski, chief economist of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

"We are attending meetings abroad in an effort to identify potential markets for our manufacturers. We are assisting in joint production ventures which can bring additional business to Michigan. We held this seminar so manufacturers in this state would know where to go for help."

Michigan can capitalize on its metalworking expertise, according to seminar organizer Edwin Harris, director of professional development programs for Wayne State's School of Business Administration.

"Efforts to acquire new business and manufacture energy-related products must be seriously undertaken by the state's manufacturers," he said.

Highlights of the program were discussions of the future of the oil and gas industry; the various products used by the industry; methods of becoming a supplier.

sions or family desserts. It's easy-toprepare, but guests will be impressed by its elegant appearance and delicious flavor. The secret is in blending some convenient foods from your pantry shelf --- fruity sweet California prunes, crunchy California almonds and moist and delicious yellow cake mix.

The cake portion of the recipe mixes up in minutes, and because it has pudding built right into the batter, you'll be assured of delicious taste and a wonderfully moist texture every time. Chopped almonds, stirred into the cake batter and baked into the top layer, will add even more good flavor and a delightfully crunchy texture to this special dessert.

The luscious "pruney-smooth" filling is just as easy to prepare; simply combine pitted prunes with amaretto or orange juice in a blender; stir in whipped cream and spread between cake layers. The naturally-sweet flavor and wonderful consistency of the prune filling is a perfect complement to the cake. Delicately-flavored whipped cream and garnishes of prunes topped with almonds complete your dessert and make for an elegant presentation.

Whether you serve your California Sunshine Cake for bridal showers, Mother's Day, Sunday brunches or family dessert, its special flavor and extra appetite appeal will be a sure crowd-pleaser.

Best of all, because almonds and prunes are both rich in important vitamins and minerals, family and friends will enjoy an extra serving of good nutrition with every bite of California Sunshine Cake.

You also can count on these same versatile products - pudding-included yellow cake mix, California almonds and California prunes ---in a whole variety of other dessert treats. French Prune Ice Cream, for example, combines naturally-sweet prunes with the tangy taste of orange to create an unusual and delicious dessert presentation.

Strawberry Tart Cake, which calls for pudding-included yellow cake mix, is an easy way to serve an elegant dessert to special guests on short notice.

Finally, a good supply of crunchy Chocolate Almond Oaties on the pantry shelf is perfect for special-occasion or more spur-of-the-moment entertaining. Whichever recipe you choose, these desserts are guaranteed

CA	LIFO	RN	IA SUNSHINE CAKE
	Cake	1 1 1/3 1	cups finely chopped almonds pkg. Yellow Cake Mix cup water cup oil teaspoon almond extract, if desired
	Filling	12 07	eggs pkg. (about 2 cups) pitted prunes
	ruung		cup amaretto or orange juice
	Frosting	3	cups whipping cream tablespoons sugar teaspoons amaretto or vanilla extract
	Garnish		Whole pitted prunes and whole blanched almonds, toasted or Amaretto Almonds (recipes follow)

Heat oven to 350° F. Grease and flour two 8 or 9-inch round cake pans. To prepare top layer of cake, sprinkle 1/2 cup chopped almonds in bottom of one prepared pan.

In large bowl, blend all cake ingredients except almonds at low speed; beat 2 minutes at highest speed. Stir in remaining 1 cup almonds. Pour batter into prepared pans. Bake at 350° F. for 30 to 40 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool cake in pans 15 minutes then invert layers on cooling racks. Cool completely.

In electric blender container, combine about half of each of the filling ingredients. Blend until almost smooth, turning blender on and off and scraping sides of container as needed. Repeat with remaining ingredients; set aside.

In small bowl, whip cream until foamy. Gradually add sugar and 2 teaspoons amaretto; continue whipping until stiff peaks form. Stir 1/2 cup whipped cream into prune filling.

Spread prepared prune filling between cake layers, keeping almond side on top. Frost sides of cake with remaining whipped cream; garnish with prunes and almonds. Store cake loosely covered in refrigerator. Makes 12 servings.

Toasted Almonds --- Spread almonds in an ungreased baking pan or skillet. Place in a 350° F. oven or over medium-low heat on a range top for about 10 minutes, until almonds are a light golden brown; stir once or twice to assure even browning, Note that almonds will continue to brown slightly after being removed from the heat. Amaretto Almonds — Heat oven to 300° F. Oil one cookie sheet. In small bowl, combine 1/2 cup blanched whole almonds and 4 teaspoons amaretto; arrange in single layer on prepared pan. Bake at 300° F. for 20 to 25 minutes, tossing often, until glazed and lightly browned; cool.

HIGH ALTITUDE — About 3500 feet: Add 3 tablespoons flour to dry cake mix. Bake at 375° F. for 25 to 35 minutes.

1/2 cup currant jelly, melted 1 to 1-1/2 pints fresh strawberries 1 cup whipping cream, whipped Mint sprigs, if desired

3 tablespoons orange or cherry liqueur

Heat oven to 350° F. Grease and flour 10-inch springform pan or 10-inch angel food tube pan. In large bowl, combine cake mix, water, oil and eggs at low speed until moistened; beat 2 minutes at highest speed. Pour into prepared pan.

Bake at 350° F. for 40 to 50 minutes or until cake springs back when touched lightly in center. Cool cake in pan on cooling rack 15 minutes; remove rim. Pierce top of cake with long-tined fork; sprinkle with liqueur. Reserve 3 tablespoons jelly; brush top of cake lightly with remaining jelly. Arrange strawberries pointed ends-up, in center of cake; brush strawberries with reserved jelly. Spoon dollops of whipped cream around strawberries. Spread remaining whipped cream on side of cake. Garnish with mint. Store in refrigerator. Makes 16 servings.

FRENCH PRUNE ICE CREAM

- 2 cups whipping cream
- 1-1/2 cups half and half
- 1/4 cup orange-flavored liqueur
 - 3 tablespoons packed brown sugar
 - 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - Orange Prune Butter (recipe follows)

In large bowl whisk together cream, half and half, liqueur, sugar, egg, cinnamon and salt. Mix in Orange Prune Butter; blend thoroughly. Pour into container of ice cream maker; freeze according to manufacturer's instructions. To still freeze ice cream: Pour cream mixture into shallow bowl. Freeze until mixture is frozen about 1-inch around edge. Beat with electric mixer until evenly mixed. Place in freezer to ripen at least 2 hours before serving. Makes about 1-1/2 quarts.

ORANGE PRUNE BUTTER

- 12 ounces (about 2 cups) pitted prunes
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup water
- 2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons grated orange peel

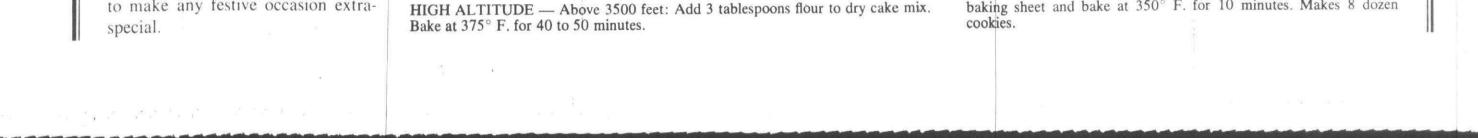

In 2-quart saucepan combine all ingredients except orange peel. Bring to boil over medium heat; reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into container of electric blender; blend until smooth. Return to saucepan; mix in orange peel. Cook and stir over medium heat 5 to 10 minutes, until mixture is the consistency of thick jam; cool. (Orange Prune Butter may be prepared in advance, covered and refrigerated up to 2 weeks before making ice cream.) Makes about 2 cups.

CHOCOLATE ALMOND OATIES

- 3/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup whole wheat flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup butter, softened
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- 3 cups quick-cooking oats
- 1-1/2 cups chopped or sliced almonds, toasted 1 package (6 ounces) regular semi-sweet

chocolate pieces

Mix flours, salt and baking soda. In a large bowl, cream butter with sugars, eggs, vanilla and almond extract until fluffy. Blend in flour mixture. Stir in oats, toasted almonds and chocolate pieces. Divide dough in half. Turn each half onto a piece of waxed paper or plastic wrap. Shape into two 12 x 2-inch logs, using wax paper to help shape if necessary. Wrap; chill until firm. Slice thin. What better way to kick off a day of football festivities than with a tailgate party? Fans are sure to cheer Tailgate Sausage Broil featuring a winning team of gourmet sausages.

With bratwurst, Polish sausage and knackwurst in the starting lineup, you can be confident that no one will be on the sidelines when the feasting begins. While these high-quality sausages are delicious simply broiled, you'll score extra points by protein, B-vitamins, iron and zinc. Check the label to answer any questions about what is in sausage; all ingredients much be listed in order of their predominance of weight.

TAILGATE SAUSAGE BROIL 4 fully-cooked bratwurst 4 fully-cooked Polish sausage 4 fully-cooked knackwurst 2 medium onions, thinly sliced

Medium eggs are the best value

Egg prices are down, even though production is below that of a year ago. Lower exports and the slow economy are two factors contributing to this bonanza for consumers. Prices are expected to rally this fall, but even then price increases will be modest.

Eggs are a good value anytime but are especially attractive now, with meat prices strengthening. Two large eggs are considered equal to a serving of meat. At today's egg prices, that makes the cost a mere 10-12 cents per serving.

Egg prices are determined by grade

(measure of quality) and size (weight per dozen) in addition to supply and demand and other market behavior. The most common egg sizes sold in Michigan are extra large, large and medium.

The medium size is the best value. The total cost is less and the medium size is adequate for all recipes and mixes.

The other factor one considers when egg shopping is the grade. If you have a choice between higher priced grade AA eggs and lower priced grade A eggs, choose the grade A. Store sampling shows little difference between the two grades.

Some people who really like eggs would eat more of them if it weren't for something called cholesterol. No general recommendation on dietary cholesterol has been made for the population as a whole. Most experts agree, however, that everyone should avoid obviously high amounts of cholesterol.

For most people, an egg a day is not considered excessive. One must take into account ... course, that eggs are in many _____ iemon pie, noodles, etc. Eggs from these sources must also be counted.

Woman of the Year BPW picks Barb Carpenter

ARBARA CARPENTER, parking enforcement officer for the city of Plymouth, has been named Woman of The Year by the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club. The announcement was made last Monday night to club members.

Carpenter's personality and devotion to her community were expressed in the statement for nomination, presented to the BPW:

"Barbara Carpenter has proven her innerself in the many ways. She has extended outreach to the Plymouth community. Her motivation comes not from a desire to be noticed or applauded, but from an expression of her own convictions that selfless service to others brings her own happiness. This is expressed in her warm, gentle, yet strong manner in working with others.'

The 1982 Woman of the Year has been an active volunteer in many phases of community life.

SHE WAS A volunteer with the elementary and junior high schools sports programs, serving as manager of a girls' softball team. An active member of the March of Dimes for 14 years, she was chairwoman, lieutenant and captain of the drives.

Her activities reflect diverse interests: • Active in Girl Scouts and troup organizer.

 Member of the PTSO and chairwoman of public relations for the senior class.

• Board member of her church and director of the music committee; member of the choir.

• The original "Doughnut Lady," she collected leftover baked goods from the local bakeries and distributed them to senior citizens and nursing homes.

 Volunteer probation officer, credited as being one of the most successful volunteers in the rehabilitation of several court-sentenced persons.

 Member of the Plymouth Community Arts Council for two years.

• Member of the Plymouth Community

Chorus for three years.

• Started project related to unwanted flowers, rearranging and distributing them to shut-ins. As the project grew, her small group of volunteers handed it over to a garden club.

• Charter member of the Has Beens.

DURING THE FALL Festival, Carpenter donned a Plymouth Firefighter's uniform to particpate in a water ball tournament on the Has Beens' team.

The new Woman of the Year has a sense of humor which has been evident in many situations and been a source of strength. Her compassion and strength, combined with her gentleness and humor reflect what women can do to build a community.

Despite her concern for others, Barb's husband, Jack, and her children have top priority in her life.

As Plymouth's Woman of the Year, she will go on to district competition, with the possibility of being named state Woman of the Year.

Barb Carpenter, Plymouth's parking enforcement officer, is Plymouth BPW's Woman of the Year.

Depression glass sparkles in museum exhibit

By Elinor Graham staff writer

They call it Depression glass, but there's nothing depressed about its value. It just keeps going up and up.

This fall, visitors to the Plymouth Historical Museum can admire a veritable fortune in Depression and Depression-era glass.

The special exhibit which opened recently will be in the museum on Main Street at Church until early in November. The displays are on loan from the private collections of members of the Michigan Depression Glass Society.

Just one of the glass-based lamps has its original glass shade. "They were top-heavy," said Truscott. "There aren't many around with shades."

The Truscotts use their Depression glass throughout their home. Norma Godwin, first vice president of the society, says she has hers on display shelves.

"And in boxes," she added. "When you collect you run out of shelf space."

Six colors are shown — black, pink, cobalt blue, light blue, amber and green.

The dining room table in the Victorian section of the museum is set with the pink lace pattern.

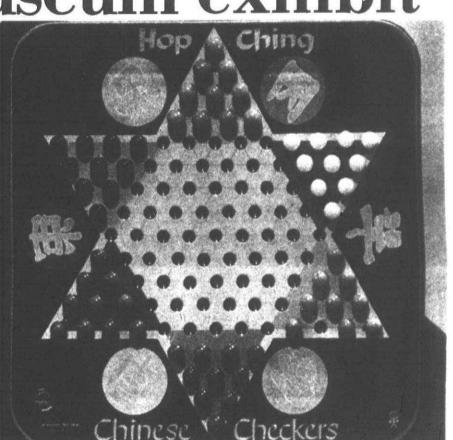

THE UNINITIATED may be surprised by the number of patterns, color and shapes of Depression glassware

Twenty-eight patterns are represent-the first green and pink lustre glassware.

The collectors said they acquire new pieces at antique shops and shows. They subscribe to The Daze, a glass collectors' publication which has advertisements for selling and trading glass. They also trade and sell within the club.

Present membership in the society numbers 185. Meetings are once a month in the Livonia Senior Citizens

As members of the society unpacked and arranged their glassware, they talked about their hobby.

Marge and Stan Truscott of Farmington Hills have been collecting for four or five years. Among Truscott's collection are several lamps, a Chinese Checkers game, complete with the original marbles, and a bag of marbles.

When the Germans started manufacturing marbles by machine, they put the glassmakers out of business with their handmade ones. So they started making lamps," explained Truscott.

KATHLEEN FOX, president of the Depression Glass Society, is a resident of Redford Township. Many of her fine pieces are on loan to the museum.

Pam Anderson and her exhibits committee are enthusiastic about the glass exhibit.

"This is the first time we've had a use for our clothing from the '30s," she said. Three manikins in the main-floor lobby arrangement are having tea and cookies, served on ruby glass cups and saucers and plates.

Anderson said the Decagon pattern displayed in two glass cases was "Depression-era glass - the type that would be given as wedding or birthday gifts."

ed in luncheon sets at the museum. Among them are Newport Hairpin, Miss America Crystal, Maude, Manhattan, Newport, Avocado and Pear, Cameo Diamond, Moderntone, Pink Dogwood and Patrician (spoke).

Showcases on the lower level have specialty items and children's sets.

The Akro-Agate Company of Clarksburg, W.Va. manufactured glass from 1914-51. Its product was an opaque or marbelized glass used for powder boxes and other utilitarian items.

The children's dishes are in two sizes and in many patterns and colors. Anderson pointed out a rare Oxblood and Lemonade glassware and examples of Center, Farmington and Five Mile roads.

They celebrated the 10th anniversary of the founding of the society in September.

'Most of our members come from southeastern Michigan. Some have moved to Florida and are associate members," said Kathleen Fox.

The society will have its 10th annual Drepression-Era Glass Show and Sale Oct. 16 and 17 at Schoolcraft College. Hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and admission is $1.50.

The Plymouth Historical Museum is open from 1-4 p.m. Thursday, Saturday and Sunday.

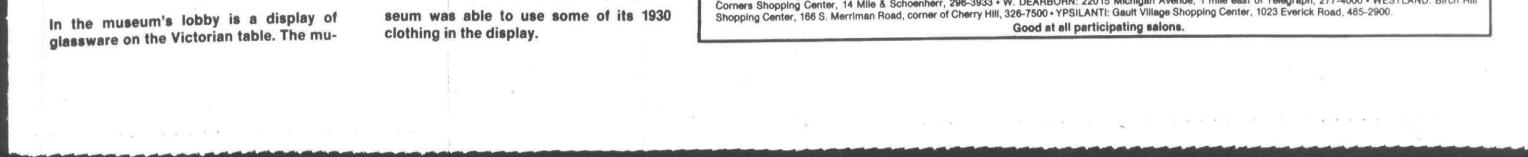

A Chinese checkers set is one of the items on display. When the Germans started manufacturing marbles by machine, they put the glassmakers out of business.

Workshop looks at men's anger

The Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College is sponsoring a day-long workshop designed for men. The aim is for participants to learn and use effective techniques to express feelings of anger.

The workshop will look at the what and why of anger as well as how society sees anger. The workshop will attempt to show that sometimes the coping mechanisms developed in childhood no longer suit adult feelings or needs. Men often are encouraged to express anger in some areas, yet are punished for its expression in other areas of life.

Recognition of reasons for anger and practice of techniques for expressing it constructively will be included in the workshop.

The workshop will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Oct. 16. It is sugessted that participants wear casual clothing and bring a bag lunch.

For information call the center, 591-6400, ext. 430.

Plymouth Center resident sues actor Yul Brynner

By Margaret Miller staff writer

Actor Yul Brynner is named in a suit asking $55,000 damages and costs on behalf of a handicapped young woman who charges he wrongfully had her removed from Masonic Temple in Detroit during a performance of "The King and I."

The suit was filed Friday in Wayne County Circuit Court on behalf of Jane Abler, 21-year-old resident of the Plymouth Center for Human Development. Attorney Ronna J. Stevens of the Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service for Developmentally-Disabled Citizens, Inc. filed the suit.

In a press conference at the Plymouth facility, Stevens described Abler as "not retarded" but victim of a condition like cerebral palsy, characterized by poor motor control and lack of intelligible speech.

"The suit was filed under the Michigan Handicappers Civil Rights Act," she said.

The act provides a person "shall not deny an individual the full and equal enjoyment of the . . . advantages and accommodations of a place of public accommodations or public services because of a handicap that is unrelated to the individual's ability to utilize and benefit" from such services.

"We contend Jane acted appropriately," said Stevens.

ALSO NAMED were the Kingly Co., Masonic Temple Association of Detroit and Nedmas, Inc., a corporation that manages the temple's theater operation.

The suit charges that on Nov. 12 the production company manager ordered Abler taken out of the theater because Brynner complained she was making "inappropriate noises."

Schoolcraft to explore aging

Is aging really a problem?

Schoolcraft College will offer four community forums during October to explore the question for persons with concerns about an older person in their lives.

"If you are experiencing problems with your adult child or elderly parent," said program coordinator Jane Gaitskill, "you'll want to attend these programs."

The free programs begin at 7 p.m. each Thursday in the Newman House, on Haggerty Road between the Schoolcraft campus and Six Mile Road in Livonia. The schedule:

• "Warning: Prescriptions and Over-the-Counter Drugs May Be Dangerous to Your Health," film and discussion. Speakers will be June Johnson, doctor of pharmacy, and Maud Piggot of the college staff.

• "Generation to Generation: Ties that Don't Bind." Bea Scalie, CSW, will offer insights into problems and pleasures between the generations.

• "Sexual Maturity: Dealing with Your Own Sexuality and That of Your Children or Parents," discussion by Jody Beresford, Wayne State University department of psycholo-

• Women in a Changing World: New Social Expectations Affect You and Your Family." Janet Goode, president of the Farmington chapter of the Older Women's League, will discuss the impact of the feminist movement on the older woman and the family

The manager, the suit continues, "indicated that if the plaintiff was not removed Yul Brynner would not perform and 'somebody would be embarrassed.'

The comment, it adds, "was made in the plaintiff's presence without any concern for her feelings."

The action was said to have caused her "embarrassment, humiliation, loss of self-respect and mental distress."

PARTICIPATING with the attorney in the appearance at the Plymouth Center were Abler, her parents, William and Mary Abler of Brownstown Township, Elizabeth W. Bauer, a member of the center staff and executive director of Michigan Protection and Advocacy Service, George Ebling, administrative assist, and and Margaret Bachman, staff psychologist.

"It's difficult for a parent to allow one of his children to be put in a position like this," William Abler said, "but Jane is a strong-minded girl, and she is adamant that she wants this action.

"She knows she has legal rights in spite of her handicap. We are not going to be here all of her life, so we are supporting her."

Jane Abler also made a statement, using with her father's help a device containing symbols for words. She shows what she wants to say by raising her eyes when the correct word is indicated.

Her statement was: "The man (Brynner) makes me pain, and I want to help handicapped people go to the movies and theater and not feel humiliated."

Jane Abler's handicap was listed in the suit as quadriplegic rotary athetoid due to anoxia at birth."

THE THEATER incident was discussed by participants at the press conference as well as in the legal document.

Ebling pointed out that visits into the community are common for the residents still in the center. "These made them better able to enter community life later and enhance their life while they are here," he noted

Bauer noted Abler is a discussion group member, and it was she who suggested taking in "The King and I."

Tickets for center residents and staff were purchased in advance and the theater was informed some users would be in wheelchairs, said attorney Stevens. The developmentally-disabled theatergoers paid for their orchestra section tickets, she added.

The group arrived well before curtain time and was seated. Abler cannot court order to close by June after plac-located "toward the back of the front section" where it would not obstruct anyone's vision, Stevens said.

According to the suit, staff member Rose Granger was asked just before intermission to take Abler out because Brynner had complained. She asked that the usher inform the actor Abler was physically impaired and ask for his compassion.

The response was the action by the production company manager.

The suit said the incident caused Abler to become ill, and she was treated by a Plymouth center physician. She still gets angry when she reads anything about the actor or the show, the suit added

THE ADVOCACY service, said Bauer, is one mandated by both state and federal laws and funded with money from both levels. Independent of Michigan's Mental Health Department, it represents the handicapped in matters both legal and non-legal.

"Last year we intervened on behalf on the handicapped in more than 3,300 cases, only 30 of which required legal action," she said.

Ebling said that Abler is one of 121 residents still at Plymouth Center for Human Development, which is under leave her wheelchair, so her chair was ing its residents in community homes.

Canton clubs Churchill

There's a first time for everything. And Plymouth Canton's football team is proving how true that adage is. In the Chiefs' first game ever in the new Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA), they emerged with a 14-6 victory in front of a homecoming crowd at CEP field.

Needless to say, it was the first time ever - in 10 years - that Canton has beaten the Chargers.

The Chiefs did it in dominating fashion. Senior fullback Mike Perrot blasted in from 2 yards out with 2:06 left in the first quarter, and Canton had a 6-0

They increased that margin to 12-0 when quarterback Pat Murphy fired a 16-yard scoring strike to tight end Bob Wasczenski with 5:19 left in the half.

DAN SCHACHT, a Chief co-captain, capped Canton's scoring by blocking Steve O'Hara's punt midway through the third guarter. The ball rolled into the end zone, where O'Hara fell on it, and Schacht fell on O'Hara.

Churchill's only score came with 5:47 to play in the game on a 2-yard run by Defense keyed the Canton win. O'Hara passed for 123 yards for the Chargers, completing 11 of 21. But Churchill's running attack was stuffed by the Chiefs, gaining only 12 yards in Canton's ground game got on track for the first time this season, rolling for 181 yards in 42 tries. Chuck Davis topped the rushers with 95 yards in 17 football carries. Murphy hit on two of 10 passes, good for 33 yards. The victory gave Canton a 2-1 overall record and a 1-0 mark in the WLAA's Western Division. Churchill is 0-3 and 0-1 in the WLAA

Steady Rock defense shuts out Stevenson

By Brad Emons staff writer

A big first half propelled Plymouth Salem to a 12-0 Western Lakes football victory Friday at Livonia Stevenson. Salem's offense rolled in the opening two quarters. The defense, meanwhile, was steady the entire 48 minutes.

A bad snap on a punt led to Rocks' first touchdown, which later proved to be all the points they would need.

The Rock defense sacked Spartan punter Tom Hamill at his own 40-yard line. Eight plays later, junior fullback Scott Jurek bulled in from three yards out, giving his team a 6-0 lead with 53 seconds to go in the first quarter.

Salem scored again with the clock winding down at the end of the first half Quarterback Dave Haut directed a 14-play, 75-yard drive capped by Jim Sinclair's two-yard run. The TD came with six seconds left.

Haut, who usually alternates with starter Pete Steyaert, played most of the game after Steyaert suffered a slight injury early in the first period.

Salem, now unbeaten in three starts, controlled the ball most of the game. Stevenson managed only 78 yards net offense compared with the Rocks' 214.

"Our defense has been good," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "They've been solid and haven't been on the field much in two weeks."

JUREK led all rushers with 61 yards in nine carries. Haut added 52 yards.

Plymouth Salem's swimmers "just couldn't get enough firsts" Thursday as the Rocks were edged by powerhouse Dearborn, 67-60, in a double-dual meet at Salem.

Cindy McSurely, who topped the divers (194.6 points), and Corinne Cabadas, who finished first in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:17.3), were the only winners for Salem.

But the Rocks kept the score close by taking 10 of the 11 seconds. B.J. Bing was second in both the 200 individual medley (2:34.5) and 100 butterfly (1:10.2) and Krystal Taylor took second in the 50 (27.1) and 100 (1:01.3) freestyles.

Kim Nelson gave Salem its only 1-2 sweep of the meet by placing second to Cadabas in the 100 breast (1:19.2). Other seconds were by Laura Wochna in the 200 free (2:17.5). Sally Weimer in the 500 free (6:17.8) and Carol Lindsay in the 100 back (1:16.9). Both the 200 medley and 400 free relays also were second.

The setback dropped Salem to 1-2 on the season. The Rocks swim at Brighton Tuesday and at Canton Thursday.

The Rocks' first swim win of the season was a washout as they captured 10 of 11 events Wednesday at RU.

Salem swept all four freestyle events, with Krystal Taylor in the 50 (27.5), Kris Graham in the 100 (1:08.8), Sally Weimer in the 200 (2:17.3) and B.J. Bing in the 500 (6:03.7).

The Rocks, now 3-1 for the season, got a goal from left wing Dan Lingg on a 5-yard shot with 27:21 of the first half expired. Jeff Neschick assist-

Putts drop for O&E champ By C.J. Risak

staff writer

Golf was not the sport of choice for Matt Wiley. "I played baseball in high school," said the 25-year-old graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. "After I got out of high school I couldn't play baseball anymore, so I took up golf."

There are a few golfers around that probably wish Wiley had stuck to baseball. To their remorse, it was golf he stuck with and mastered well enough to win the 1982 Observer & Eccentric/ Whispering Willows Men's Golf Tournament yesterday.

It was no easy conquest for Wiley, a 1980 graduate of Wayne State University currently working on his master's degree at University of Michigan. A 60foot putt on the last of 36 holes slithered its way into the cup for a birdie, enabling Wiley to finish with a 74-73, 147 total in the championship flight of the two-day tourney.

THAT PLACED HIM one stroke ahead of Rich Osler of Livonia, who finished 75-73, 148. William Himm, another Livonia resident, was third (74-75, 149), with five golfers - Larry Tomasino, Bob Urbats, John Van Vleck, Ben Zalupski and Nunzio Marino - the difference)," the new champion emphasized. "I made a lot of putts today." In fact, he didn't even use his putter that much - a good sign. He took only 28 putts during the final round.

The cloudy, rainy weather didn't bother Wiley, who admitted, "I love to play in the rain." His best previous finish in the O&E tournament was fifth in 1980

LAST YEAR WAS a good one for Wiley. He won five tournaments. But he got off to a bad start this year because of injuries he suffered in a car accident last January. The O&E was his first tournament victory of the sea-

"I'm 20 pounds lighter than I was last year," because of the accident, Wiley said. The mishap, a head-on collision at 50 mph, took place on Hines Drive.

"I don't even believe I won," said Wiley. "I thought Rich (Osler) was going to win.'

Osler might have, except for a 60foot putt.

Champions were crowned in three other divisions. Paul Worley's 76-81, 157 topped the first flight, one stroke ahead of Jerry Pankas' 78-80, 158. Both Worley and Pankas are from Livonia.

Hungry Chiefs crush Churchill

Plymouth Canton's girls' basketbal team was more than intense last Thursday. It was hungry. And smart.

2C(P,C)

That combination proved far too much for Livonia Churchill to handle as the Chiefs, in their most impressive performance of the season, pounded Churchill, 72-47, in a Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) game at Canton.

"It was a real intense ballgame," said Phyllis Cunningham, the Chiefs' coach, stating the obvious. Churchill coach Don Albertson had his team ready, hoping to be the first team from the old Western Six League to beat Canton in more than five years.

Instead, Albertson didn't even get a chance to watch much of the game. He picked up his second technical foul in the first quarter and was ejected.

THE CHIEFS had their reasons for being intense and hungry. A one-point loss to Redford Union Tuesday hurt. Especially since RU was 0-4 coming into the game.

That loss, together with two other defeats earlier in the season, had left Canton at 2-3. Two victories in five girls basketball games is not what the Chiefs are used to. So they were hungry

"They were down after the RU game," Cunningham said. "They just decided to get their game in gear.

"There were a lot of fouls. Whenever you get Canton and Churchill together, it's a real scrappy game."

Still, the Chiefs didn't force it. They played it smart. Cunningham had her players ready for what she knew was coming: a pressure defense.

"CHURCHILL TRIED to press us," the Canton coach said. "We knew they would and we prepared for it in practice, so we were ready for it, and the kids executed well against it."

Very well, in fact. Churchill jumped out to a 4-0 lead, but that was it. Canton rattled off 16 straight points, finished the first quarter ahead, 26-10, and never allowed the Chargers to get closer than 14 points the rest of the way.

Four Chiefs reached double figures in the scoring column. Sue Gerke was tops with 23, followed by Missy Aiken with 12 and Lou Ann Hamblin and Kathy Ross with 10 each. Aiken and Polly Roberts had nine boards apiece to lead the Chief rebounders.

Patty Schmidt netted 10 points to lead Churchill. Gail Mundie added eight.

victory evened the Chiefs' The record at 3-3 overall. They're 3-1 in the WLAA.

Next week will be a test for Canton, as it hosts a solid Livonia Stevenson team Tuesday, then travels to play Farmington Harrison Thursday. It could be an important few days in the Chiefs' bid for the WLAA Western Division title.

SALEM 37 FARMINGTON 23

Both Plymouth Salem and Farmington kept their records perfect Thursday. Farmington is winless in six games, while Salem is perfect at 6-0.

The lights went out early on the Falcons. Salem's defense clamped down, allowing just two first-quarter points and only eight by halftime.

The Rock offense wasn't idle, either. Score after one quarter: 16-2. At the half: 21-8. Good night, Farmington. Jacque Merrifield, a senior guard, led Salem with 10 points. Linda Barbrick had eight for Farmington. Falcon coach Bruce Brown put the game into proper perspective: "They're (Salem) nice team. They handle the ball better, they shoot better, and they run Tailbacks Jeff Arnold, Sinclair and Mickey Madsen combined to account for 71 more yards on the ground.

"We're getting better on the option.'

Salem's offensive line of Dave Slavin, Mike Moshimer, Keith Urban, Chris Hymes, Tom Walkley and Dave Houle were the major force behind the Rocks' ball control attack

In the second half, Stevenson played Salem to a standoff but couldn't get on the scoreboard.

"I and kids are disappointed we couldn't generate any offense," said Stevenson coach Jack Reardon, whose team is now 1-2. "It came down to when we got the football, we couldn't do anything with it.

"WE CAME down on them pretty tough (defensively) in the second half. We did not want the fullback to run the football. We had people on him. Sometimes three at a time.

"We went at him (Jurek) the best we could although he's 200 pounds and tough to bring down. But according to our defensive plan, everything went the way we wanted it.'

One of the more fascinating battles of the young bowling season was waged in the Wonderland Classic last week when two brothers - Joe and George Bogden - earned their way into the 700 club.

Bowling for the same team and on the same lanes, Joe outdueled brother George by rolling games of 203, 267 and 256 for a 726 pin count. George finished with games of 268, 208 and 237 for a 713 series.

"It was one of the most interesting events in my years in the game," said Wonderland owner George Bashara. "And what made it so fascinating was the fact that their counts were not high for the night."

That honor went to Marv Holly, who bowled games of 279, 277 and 194 for a 750 series. A fourth member of the Classic, Doug DeMarios, also vaulted into the 700 club with a 718 series, including a high game of 256

Jacqueline Bisset's character of Barbara Hallsworth is inconsistent, but one of her good deeds is rescuing five Korean orphans.

'Inchon' succeeds as military epic but not as history

Except for history buffs and those individuals who were directly involved, the Korean war probably amounts to some dimly remembered military action sandwiched between World War II and Vietnam. The significant events and decisive battles of that war are vague or unknown to many people.

For most of us, I think, the Korean war, or "police action," as it was called, is what we see on our television screens in weekly episodes of "Mash." The series succeeds marvelously at presenting a very personal, humanized perspective.

What it doesn't do (by design, not default) is give an overview of the war in terms of military strategy. This kind of treatment is best left to movies, but there have been very few movies about Korea, and none that has attempted to give "the big picture."

"Inchon" (PG) appears to be an attempt to remedy the situation. It aims at epic scale. It also aims at glorifying Gen. Douglas Mac-Arthur and linking the victory of the United Nations forces to Divine guidance.

AS AN EPIC THAT recounts the course of military events, it partly succeeds. It clarifies the strategic situation regarding the port of Inchon and focuses on the battle which turned the tide for the American-led U.N. forces in Korea under MacArthur's command. It doesn't enlighten us about other aspects of the war in terms of its military history.

Inchon was MacArthur's last great victory. He was the strategist and driving force behind that campaign. Sir Laurence Olivier plays MacArthur with great fidelity of appearance but without ever conveying the flesh-and-blood character.

His portrayal is so unbelievable it comes close to being parody. He isn't helped by the script, which makes no effort to present a balanced or probing view of the general but rather to idolize him.

Similarly, the appeal to God and affirmation of the "rightness" of the anti-communist cause is overworked. Was there ever a nation that went to war thinking God was on the side of the enemy?

The movie was produced with Sun Myung Moon as special advisor and with the alleged backing of the Moonies. Whatever Moon's knowledge of the war and his personal interest in making this movie, it was not sufficient to pull together this lifeless, disjointed epic.

NEITHER ARE THE talents of Ben Gazzara as a Marine major and Jacqueline Bisset as his estranged wife. The two fine actors are in roles which demand very little of them except, perhaps, a sense of humor. They must have needed that to see them through "Inchon."

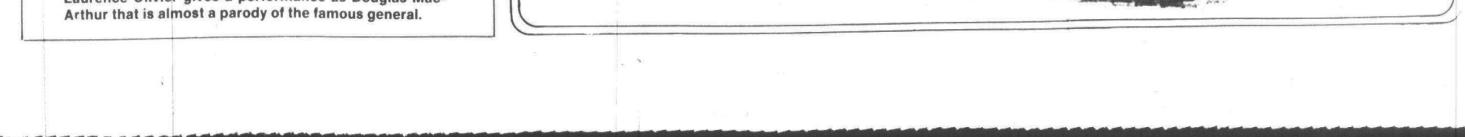

Bisset, especially, is stuck with an irrational character whose moods and actions don't make sense. One minute she is a callous, selfish individual, the next she is a compassionate and generous woman looking after five orphans.

The movie also features Richard Roundtree as Gazzara's driver and aide. He miraculously manages to turn up whenever Bissett needs help, no matter where she is in Korea. Toshiro Mifune is a peaceful Buddhist who leaves his home, travels to Seoul and is not seen or heard from again — until he appears out of nowhere with vital information at a critical time.

"Inchon" is long on shortcomings, but it does do one thing effectively. It does convey the victimization of the civilian population. In that sense, "Inchon" does make a contribution as a war film.

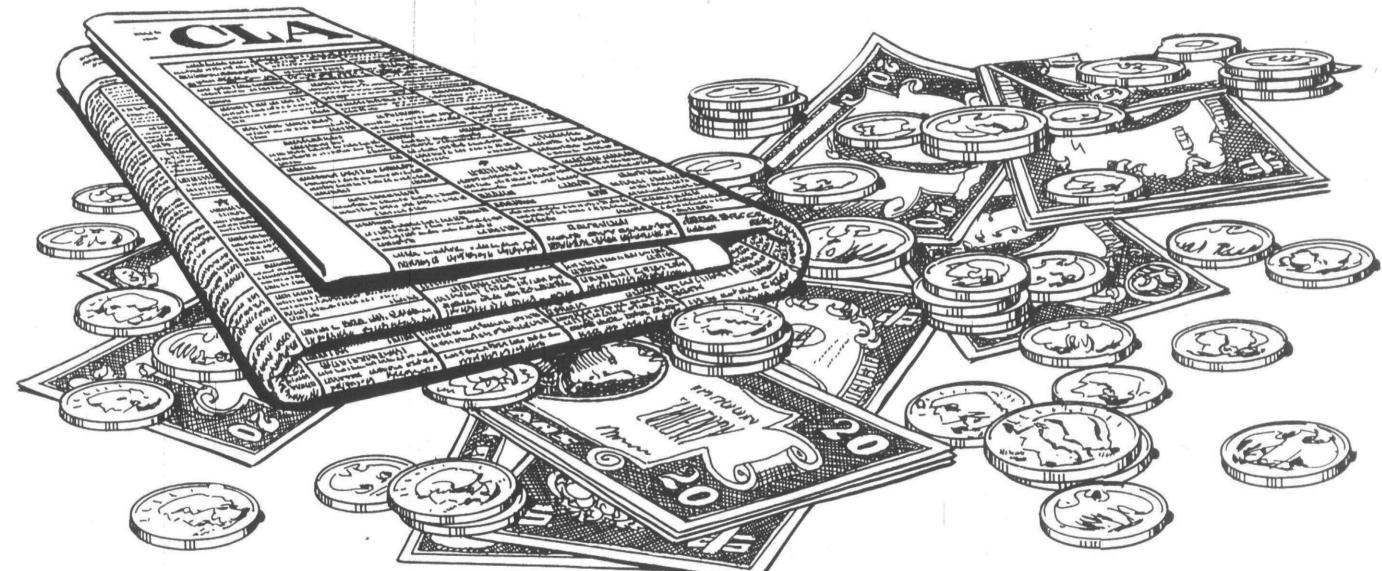

Laurence Olivier gives a performance as Douglas Mac-

Pontlac 6000

The 1983 Pontlac 6000 series is powered by a fuel-injected 2.5-liter four-cylinder engine with three-speed automatic transaxle as standard equipment. An all-new high-performance rally suspension package is available. It offers precise and responsive handling with a controlled firm ride and is designed for the driver who demands the optimum in roadability. A 2-8 liter V-6 two-barrel or a 4.3-liter diesel V-6 continue as the 6000's engine options.

Nation cracks down on drivers who drink

Grass-roots support is spurring all 50 states to rid their roads of drunk drivers, an official of the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association said today. "There is no doubt in my mind that the mood of the nation on the subject of alcohol and automobiles never has been angrier," said Charles L. Spilman, MVMA Director of State Relations. "More than half the states already have taken action this year to toughen the laws already on the books."

The federal government also has committed itself to the campaign with the formation of President Reagan's Commission on Drunk Driving. MVMA President V.J. Adduci is a member of the commission, signaling the motor vehicle manufacturers' commitment.

As an example of educational involvement, the trade association official cites major coverage in the news media and an emphasis by states of the dangers and recommended treatment of alcoholism. Some federal legislation has been proposed that would provide incentive grants to states for implementing major improvements in their alcohol safety programs.

"ENFORCEMENT on a selective basis is spreading," Spilman said. "Police patrols are expanding and are being assigned to spot check certain areas where alcohol-related accidents run high."

Judicial effort is reflected in stiffer penalties ranging from loss of driver licenses to jail terms. A two-day jail sentence for first-time offenders is the rule in eight states - California, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Tennessee and Virginia. In Idaho, it's five days.

Spilman credits the strong grass-roots effort as perhaps the most important reason why officials at all levels of government are taking stronger stand against drunk driving. He cites such organizations as Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD), Remove Intoxicated Drivers (RID), Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD), Dealers Against Drunk Driving (DADD) and Truckers Against Drunk Driving (TADD).

"The concern is obvious," he said. "The traffic death toll has exceeded 50,000 in each of the past four years, and half of those deaths were alcohol related. The ratio of deaths has been consistently running at 50 percent regardless of the total fatality count.

"Citizens participation exerts pressure on legislators because so many citizens are committed people - people who have experienced the tragedy of a traffic-related loss within own families or circle of close friends."
