Schools end ESY era

The use of year-round scheduling is over for Plymouth-Canton Community

Monday night the school board voted 7-0 to end Extended School Year (ESY) scheduling in the school district and place all buildings on the traditional nine-month school calendar

The action took Eriksson and Field elementaries off ESY and placed them on a nine-month calendar for the 1983-84 school year.

Both schools, among the three newest in the district, opened their doors on a year-round schedule and have never known any other system except ESY.

The shift is being made to save monand because declining enrollment district-wide allows these two buildings to go on a nine-month schedule without exceeding capacity. (ESY allows a building to hold one-third more students than if it were on a nine-month

The change will result, though, in an initial shift of students from one attendance area to another. An attempt Monday night to guarantee placement for three years failed

SUPERINTENDENT Dr. John M. Hoben said that the change will result in the displacement of a large number of students from Cavaher South and signed to Isbister Elementrary School. In response to a question from the board, Shirley Spaniel, director of ele-mentary education, said students from these subdivisions have not been moved before except for a few who were moved when families first began moving into the area.

Tom Yack, board president, said Cavalier parents at public hearings on ending ESY expressed concerns about being moved constantly and asked if a guarantee could be made that the placement at Isbister could last for three years.

Hoben said it was the administration's intent to keep students permanently at one school whenever possible but a guarantee could not be made for the Cavalier pupils. The administration now is looking at a plan, to be discussed with the board Monday, in which portable buildings would be used to absorb additional students if growth comes in two or three years.

Trustee Flossie Tonda said she was against a three-year guarantee because it might be possible in two years to return the students to their home school of Eriksson

Trustee E.J. McClendon said. "I think it would be very unwise to make children as little as possible and as few as possible but we need the flexibility to make decisions that are required.

TRUSTEE Glen Schroeder agreed. We don't want to move anyone but to make such a commitment does not make good business sense." He said it would not make sense to spend $40,000 for a portable so the students could attend Eriksson if Isbister had 200 empty spaces available.

A motion was made by Roland Thomas, supported by Yack, who stepped down as chairman to argue for proposal, to guarantee placement for the Cavalier students for three

Some 107 students live in the two subdivisions which are located north of Cherry Hill between Sheldon and Morton Taylor extended. The subdivisions are in the southwest corner of the Eriksson attendance area and abut the Isbister attendance area.

Thomas argued that if portable buildings are going to be used in the future to absorb any student growth which might occur than the board should be able to guarantee a three year placement

UNDER THE procedure, eighth graders are randomly assigned to attend either Plymouth Canton High or Plymouth Salem High when they begin high school in the tenth grade

The only exception allowed is the socalled sibling rule which allows the eighth grader to attend the school randomly drawn or to attend the one his older brother or sister attends, if the older sibling will be in school at the time the student will enter.

An eighth grader, for example, may exercise the option if he has a brother or sister who this year is in the 10th grade. In two years, one sibling would be a senior and the other a sophomore. On the other hand, an eighth grader with a sibling in the 11th grade this year would not be eligible for the ex-

Tales from the Tonquish

Old Shaman's last ride

Alone on his tired, little Indian pony, limping along Pontiac's ancient trail, the last Shaman (medcine man) of the Tonquish Potowatomi pondered his plight. Yesterday a paleface governor of this territory had tried to buy the Shaman's influence; tried to force him to direct his people's thoughts toward a new land in the far west. The paleface had threatened much and promised little, and the old Shaman was greatly worn by the pressure of his own conflicting thoughts. Near the intersection of the Grand River trail and the path to Silver Lake, an area known today as New Hudson, he turned his pony eastward toward the white settlements. He wanted to see what had happened to his old stamping ground along the Mid-

The Shaman had heard of many changes there. Other duties had kept him away from Tonguish Plain for almost six months. Now, in December 1819, he was responding to the call of Toga's people to install their new chief Because he was one of the most celebrated medicine men among both the Ojibwa and the Potowatomi, the Shaman recognized his commitment, his obligation, to his Tonquish cousins. He promised himself that he would not fail them. But the path was long and rough, and both he and the pony were exceedingly weary.

After almost an hour's slow riding he turned southeast toward Plymouth Mound. At a crosspath known today as Baseline (Eight Mile) and Novi Roads, he was startled to hear the clanging noise of chains being dragged along the ground.

Alighting quickly, he crept behind a thicket close to the laboring surveyors. He saw them signaling each other. How strange! he thought. What are they doing? They are peering through that box at some imaginary bird or tree. Perhaps that's the way they measure. And they are pounding stakes into good Mother Earth. Bonga! Bonga! Bonga! Damin it all. WITH THE TREATY of Detroit in 1807, and subsequent agreements including the Treaty of 1815, the Indians in the Plymouth-Canton and surrounding area had ceded much of their Michigan land to the Americans. The white man's new boundary ran due north from North Defiance. Ohio, to a line designated as the principal Michigan meridian, a few miles east of what now is Lansing. This is Lansing's Meridian The base line was run east about eight miles north of Fort Detroit. Base Line Road is derived from this, and it also is known as Eight Mile Road.

From these two lines (Meridian and Base Line)

surveyors established all the townships in Michigan including those in the Upper Peninsula. The box which mystified the Shaman was a handheld compass housed in a wooden frame. The surveyors could get a straight line by aligning the protruding sights in the box with their old-fashioned mercury compass. The noisy chain which had startled the Indian was a standard Gunther chain of 100 links of eight inches each. It was supposed to be, and usually was, exactly 66 feet long. Bonga! Bonga! The old Shaman looked at the sun and knew he must hurry if he was to reach Plymouth Mound before noon.

was startled to see two new mills grinding the white man's corn. And there were several cabins along the familiar stream which had not been there before. He wondered what had happened to his people's weirs and traps. They must be stolen by now, he concluded. Urging the little pony on toward Plymouth

Mound, the Shaman continued to brood about his confrontation with the white governor. In his heart he questioned the white man's promises. "Oh, Great Spirit, what do I do now?" he cried aloud. Suddenly, in his anguish, he was transfixed with the foreboding that he would never ride this way again. This thought came to him as in a dream. But it was a true thought and he recognized its truth. Those among the Shaman's followers who really knew him sensed that his perceptions were unique; his prescience was remarkable and not unlike that of a few other survivors of the Oiibwa of ancient lineage. He lived alone and somewhat apart from the usual rhythm of time and place. His people never doubted him and their confidence was the mainstay of his extensive and successful medical practice. He was the most successful healer in this part of Michigan and consulted by Indians and whites AFTER AWHILE HIS INTIMATE confrontation with his private world evoked a prayer.

Of course, I have no idea of exactly what he said, but I have read hundreds of Indian prayers and I am sure that his petition was not unlike this typical Hey-a-a- Hey-a-a- Hey-a-a-I am a poor old Shaman, Oh, Great Spirit The last of my people. Hear me.

I cry for my people. They have given their land away. Неу-а-а. Неу-а-а. Help us now, oh, Great Spirit. Help us to find our way into the West. I have been to hg to believe the white man's promises I have been seeking them.

on Motown

THE MOTOWN SOUND has in spired most musicians, and its style still is alive and rising to the top o the charts today. Not only is the Motown sound alive in its original artists, but also in today's bands which are doing remakes of the originals. Artists such as The Rolling Stones Rod Stewart, Phil Collins, Kim Carnes, Linda Ronstadt and many others have recorded some of Motown's classic songs.

"Super sewer" moved a half-step closer to $76 million in federal funding as a regional agency gave it conditional approval. sentative on the AWQB for the first time. He was

The seven-county Areawide Water Qaulity Board recommended state and federal funding for a sewage treatment plant in Brownstown Township at Lake Erie, two sewer interceptors going north to Trenton and Huron townships and a major relief sewer through Novi, Northville and Plymouth

But the AWQB also recommended local officials "diligently pursue the issue of whether the North Service Area (the area north of Plymouth) flow could be treated at the Detroit plant . . . or the Brownstown plant.'

And a city of Detroit representative underscored the Detroit vs. suburbs nature of the issue by vowing to remain "steadfastly opposed. We can't accept this," said John McGrail, a Detroit representative on the AWQB sitting in for Charles Beckham the indicted director of the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department.

SUPER SEWER is the nickname of a plan to build a single large sewage treatment plant at Brownstown and to serve a 40-mile string of communities in the Haggerty Road corridor with a ma or sewer interceptor

The project is the work of the Wayne County De partment of Public Works and the pet of DPW director Duane Egeland. The 54-year-old engineer rom Livonia has been steadfastly pushing the project for more than 10 years.

"It was what we expected to get," Egeland said of the AWQB's decision at the end of a nearly fournour meeting last week. "The board rarely rejects staff recommendations. Many members were voting on instructions," he said, referring to McGrail's stiff opposition to a suburban sewage treatment

In dispute is whether the north part of the project area should feed wastewater into the Wayne County plant at Brownstown or instead tie into the northwest Detroit interceptor and be treated in the Detroit plant. There was no question, however, over whether the North Service Area sewer interceptor was needed, no matter which plant it ultimately feeds

THE QUESTION - at least in engineering terms is whether the Detroit sewage treatment plant has capacity to serve the northern suburbs.

Detroit officials insist their plant has the capacity and that it would be a waste of federal and state funds to build too large a Wayne County plant at Egeland, however, came down hard on this point:

"We don't have the figures for Detroit. But we have them for our system. And we think ours are lower. "There's no chance in the world we can get (fed eral) funding for the Detroit plant," Egeland went on. He added that extending Detroit sewers to pick up wastewater from the northern suburbs "will dis-

Agee isn't a classical kind of hero

WILLIAM AGEE doesn't fit the mold of either the classic hero or the classic villain Unlike Hamlet and Oedipus, he didn't fail at noble work because of a character flaw. Unlike the isurper Richard III, he didn't fall in battle. Agee, who last week announced he will depart from the merged Allied-Bendix company, was a hero until his last battle. He had to walk the plank out was equipped with a "golden parachute" $825,000 annually for five years and nearly a mil lion bucks in stock options. Many of us could live on So what was the net effect of Agee's nearly 10 years in the Southfield headquarters of Bendix

HE DID MUCH good by two measures. First, in a world of conglomerate mergers, Agee

Consider some of the other weird mixtures of enterprises corporations acquire: a finance company owning a movie company, a soft-drink company into entertainment, a tobacco company owning distilleries, U.S. Steel owning Marathon Oil, duPont rescuing Conoco . . . it's as if someone threw a bunch of stock certificates in the air and people scooped up whatever they found. Agee's acquisitions at Bendix had a purpose: pointing the aerospace and automotive company, firmly in the direction of high technology. That was what he was doing last fall when he made a tender offer for Martin-Marietta, the Maryland aerospace Agee is a financier who trades in companies not an inventor or a retailer. He did his work well. SECOND, IN a world where mergers soak up vast amounts of borrowed capital, Agee worked

If you want to get a group of builders riled up, mention "merger" to them. They turn red in the face, complaining of the big shots using vast lines of credit to wheel and deal in existing companies rather than using that money to build houses. They see young folks unable to buy houses because interest rates are kept high due to heavy federal government and merger borrowing.

Agee's source of cash, as I get the picture, was the proceeds of unneeded firms Bendix had sold off Thus. Agee is generally innocent of the two biggest sins of big business - building silly conglomerates that no one can run and squandering good

AGEE CAN, in fairness, be faulted in some areas. The kind of raid he attempted in buying up Martin-Marietta stock isn't too popular. Business managers often act as if they own the companies they're hired to run, and the bosses at Martin-Marietta didn't like the notion of Agee buying control of their company, even if his plan was socially useful and highly intelligent. So they attempted to buy out Bendix, and the affair turned into a game of corporate cannibalism

To stave off being eaten up, Agee agreed to a merger with Allied Corp., a firm that's in chemicals, plastics, oil and gas. Just what socially useful rpose Allied will perform by owning a high-tech firm like Bendix is unclear. It is certainly a violation of Agee's own principles

Finally, Agee turned out to be a poor spokesman for corporate enterprise. During our interview with him after his Detroit Economic Club speech, he responded to merger questions with nebulous abstractions. He talked like a spineless bureaucrat when he had a dandy case to make

Yet despite his warts, Agee is more of a credit to free enterprise than many of the creeps who criti-

Adventures of a suburban pioneer

ALMOST 45 years have gone by since that day in 1938 when the Edgars, on the advice of former neighbors, purchased two acres of the wooded area of an abandoned farm out in the country

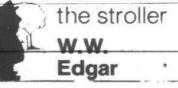

At the time, The Stroller had in his hand a check for $750 he had earned as the official scorer for the Detroit Red Wings. It was the most money he ever had had at one time What to do with it'

"Why not buy those two acres in the country?" the lady of the house said. "Some day they might be valuable.' So the land was purchased for $725 (lots now would sell for $12,000), and the fun began.

THE ACREAGE was right off the corner of Six Mile and Merriman. The roads (they weren't even called streets) were gravel and fetlock deep in mud in the spring. "Pay no attention to them," the real estate agent told us. "They will be paved in spring." They were paved 25 years later. The acreage, we learned, was in Livonia Township which had within its confines 17 farms. There was an 18-hole golf course at the corner of Five Mile and Middlebelt and another at the crossing of Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail.

There were several broken-down gas stations in the center of the township. But there were plenty of trees, and the weeds were a yard high - they hadn't

So we built a home in the woods. A road had to be built so we could move in. But there were no water and sewer lines

WE ENGAGED a well digger. One morning we passed him on the new road into the woods. He was

"How's the water?" we asked. "There ain't none," he replied, "and I don't want to take any more of your money."

"What will we do? "The next time you build a house," he said, "drill the well first. God puts the water where HE wants it - not where you want it."

So we dug a cistern, but the water we found didn't ast beyond Labor Day, and the first winter we used a road commission water wagon to tap a hydrant a half-mile away.

THEN CAME the first spring - and the mud We couldn't make it through the goo. So we parked the car at Six Mile Road and walked in through the mud for an entire spring.

Finally, the township prospered a bit. We then got a sewer, for which we had to pay cash. It was the same with the water. But being young, we had fun.

We had been among the first to leave Detroit in the rush to the suburbs. As years went by, more and more followed until General Motors built a big plant on Plymouth Road, and the Sheldon Land Co. opened a new subdivision (city-like), giving a Ford car to anyone who purchased a home. There was no

Tax panel looks at options

By Warren M. Hoyt

Several options to Gov. James Blanchard's income tax proposal - from increas ing the sales tax to 6 percent to installing state-owned slot machines - have been presented to the House Taxation Committee since the governor presented his proposal in late January. Committee Chairman H. Lynn Jondahl. D-East Lansing, said the proposals indicated a "consensus" from legislators that taxes will have to be raised to balance the state deficit. They hoped cost figures on what each proposal would raise could be developed by mid-February.

Meanwhile, house speaker Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, called for House cooperation in npleting action on a tax proposal by the end of the month. He urged House members to present all tax- and budget-cutting proposals to the taxation and appropriations ommittees as early as possible.

The options were in response to Bla hard's proposal for a 1.5 percentage point permanent increase in the personal income tax rate, with an additional 0.25 percentage point included to cover an estimated $800 million deficit due to deviations from generally accepted accounting principles.

AMONG OPTIONS presented to the committee was one by Rep. Thomas Scott, D-Flint, to tax advertising sold by newspapers, radio and television stations, magazines and other media.

Scott did not suggest the proposal replace the Blanchard plan, but asked committee nembers to analyze it to see how much revenue could be raised if the tax were imposed April 1

Scott also proposed an amusement tax similar to that uged by former Gov. William Milliken in 1982 - with a tax on theater and sporting event tickets and cablevision, but not on video games. Freshman Rep. Jerry Bartnick, Temperance, called for an increase in the sales tax to 6 percent which would be dedicated to higher education as well as K-12 once the state's deficits are eliminated.

Under the state constitution of 1963, any proposal to increase the sales tax must be approved by the voters. A proposal put on the ballot now could not teke effect until mid-May, because of time requirments for the election and to implement the tax. Jondahl said an increase in the sales tax might be employed as a replacement to the income tax increase in future years. REP. MICHAEL Bennane, D-Detroit, asked for revenue figures if the state installed and operated slot machines - on much the same premise as the daily lottery games - in such places as bars.

Meanwhile, Blanchard, bolstered by a poll showing substantial public support for a tax hike, began a seven-city tour to gain backing for his proposal for solving the state's budget problems.

The poll showed 66 percent of those surveyed would support a tax increase in Michigan if it was necessary to straighten out the state's financial affairs. Some 27.8 percent of the respondents expressed opposition to the new tax while 6.2 percent were indecided.

The random telephone poll of 500 persons conducted by Nordhaus Research also showed that 71.2 percent expect Blanchard to raise taxes while 22.2 percent disagreed with that statement agreed that Michigan will be unable to com pete with other states if citizens are not willing to pay for services such as education

The survey also showed that 65.2 percent of the respondents believed the governor and Legislature could solve the financial problems "if they had the courage to make some tough decision about taxes and spend-

Commission, Lucas seek auditor compromise

By Tim Richard

Wayne County commissioners are at work repairing an ordinance setting up a legislative auditor general that will pass County Executive William Lucas's scrutiny.

Lucas last week vetoed a commissioner-prepared ordinance which would have created the office.

Commission leaders think that most of Lucas' objections to the plan lack merit. And they gave Lucas bad marks for waiting too long to raise his objections.

"His basic concern was that the auditor general would perform the functions of the chief financial officer," said David Plawecki, the former state senator who is Lucas's lobbyist on board matters.

The chief financial officer is an administrator who will report to the county executive. The auditor general will report to the County Commission in much the same way the General Accounting Office (GAO) reports to the U.S. Congress

U.S. Congress.

THE REJECTED ordinance, along with a reply from commission research chief George Cross, was referred by Chairman William Suzore of Allen Park to a six-member committee.

The committee will be chaired by Edward Plawecki of Dearborn Heights and include three other suburban commissioners — Kay Beard of Inkster, John Hertel of Haper Woods and Milton Mack of Wayne. Two Detroiters are members — Samuel Turner and Jackie Currie.

Cross, an attorney and former corporation counsel for the county before being replaced by Lucas, told the commission most of Lucas' objections were minor and even erroneous.

Lucas, in a corridor interview, told the Observer he "hated to veto it" and indicated his mood was one of reaching a compromise.

Before referring the matter to committee, the commission heard 22 speeches and raised 33 "points of information," according to a tally kept by Commissioner Richard Manning of Redford, who chaired the 90-minute session

HERE ARE a summary of Lucas's objections in his veto message and excerpts of Cross' replies:

I. The ordinance, as passed by the commission, requires the auditor to make an annual "report of the financial position of the county."

Lucas objected that such a duty belong to the chief financial officer. Cross said Lucas "fails to recognize that the GAO operates as a 'watchdog' over government expenditures, and the GAO's sphere of authority includes all federal branches, including the executive and judicial branches."

 The ordinance proposed that the chief financial officer be required to review recommendations of the auditor and advise the auditor of action being taken on the recommendations.

Lucas complained the ordinance "implies that all audit findings shall be implemented and any variance shall be monitored by the chief financial officer." He said this appeared to put the auditor over the chief financial officer, contrary to Wayne's county home rule charter.

Cross, citing the analogy to the General Accounting Office again, said,
The practical theory is, since the Congress appropriates, Congress can monitor to see if monies are being spent for the purposes

"This does not in any way invade or diminish the separation of powers. As an example, you may recall that just-last week the GAO uncovered gross overruns in the cost of aircraft construction for the military. The military is part of the executive branch."

THIRD, THE ordinance required the auditor to make available to the chief financial officer "all information useful in the preparation of "budgets.

Lucas objected it "grants the legislative auditor a significant role in preparing the executive budget. Proparation of that budget is clearly an executive function."

"Obviously misinterpreted," sniffed Cross. "If the chief financial officer makes no request for helpful information, no information is supplied (by the auditor). It does not go beyond making useful information available."

In oral comments to the commission, Cross said, "If the CEO doesn't want it, he doesn't have to ask for it. It's a cooperative effort."

FINALLY, the ordinance empowered the auditor to give County Commission concurrence to settlement of disputed claims against the county up to $10,000. Lucas objected: "Settlement of claims within budget appropriations is Clearly an executive function."

Cross replied that nothing in the charter or law gave the executive authority to settle disputed financial claims. And he cited a law governing county boards giving them power to "adjust claims against the county."

Cross added that with one exception, the County Commissioners ordinancecreating an auditor general was identical to the city of Detroit's ordinance.

Wesley Rathburn, one of the first Scouts in the troop, has accepted an invitation to the potluck dinner and Court of Honor The dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 21, in First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth. Party planners still are trying to track down former members of the troop that started out in the Methodist Church on Church Street, then moved across the street to the Presbyterian Church when the Methodists built their new church out on North Territorial.

Ken Wheeler, Ed Henrie and Gene Buchan would appreciate any help they can get in finding addresses for former scoutmasters Marvin Terry, 1947; Wallace J. Osgood, 1939; Leroy Rafferty, 1946-48; and Maurice A. Woodworth, who was active in the troop from 1940 to 1945 They also need help in locating Dennis Fuelling, first Eagle Scout; assistant scoutmasters Howard E. Culver, 1934-35, and W. George Hodson, 1936-39; and scouts Lloyd

Green and Walter Smith. Please call Ken Wheeler at 453-7275 with information.

The Plymouth Community Chorus hosted the Johnny Mann Great American Choral Festival and also took second-place honors in the community chorus category. The Holland Community Chorus came in first, and the Wyoming chorus was third. Dolores Murray and Morrand Zimmer, members of the local chorus, were responsible for the decorations. They made the eye-catching eagle that hovered above the 32 competing choruses.

Great choral festival lives up to its name

Mike Gross, director of the Plymouth Chorus, responded to the audience's standing ova-

Johnny Mann said there were no losers at last weekend's Great American Choral Festival at Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium.

I have never before heard so many good choral groups in one competi-tion," said Mann, who flew in from California for the state festival.

The auditorium was filled to capacity for the two-day event with spectators standing in the aisles. A seven-foot television screen was set up in the high school cafeteria. There more than 200 people, part of the overflow crowd, watched the on-stage activities. Four grand prizes of $1,000 each were awarded to the Wayne State University Men's Glee Club, the Interlochen Arts Academy group, the Mercyaires from Mercy High School in Farmington Hills, and the Meadow Brook Estate from Oakland University, Rochester.

Medals were awarded to other choruses in eight categories.

City of Plymouth Mayor Elton Martin gave Mann a key to the city and Mike Gross, director of the Plymouth Community Chorus, a plaque

The Farmington Hills Sweet Adelines came in first in their category. The Battle Creek Boys Choir earned a first Interlochen, Grand Blanc a cappella choir, and Livonia Franklin Bel Canto Choir came in one-two-three in the high school non-choreographed di-

Winners in the choreographed high school competition were the Mer-cyaires, the Top 20 from Canton, Ohio, and the Milford High Vocal Ensemble. Mann praised the planning that went into the the festival and the clockwork precision as the 32 singing groups performed at 15-minute intervals.

The Friday evening concert which involved the Plymouth Symphony, the Plymouth chorus, and Judge Dunbar Davis, as narrator, was rounded off with performances by four area choirs. It marked the first standing ovation of the festival. There were more to come

Johnny Mann's reaction could be described as ecstatic. He said. "This community has something no other community has." He wants to come back

Garden clubs host state winter council

Five area branches of the Woman's National Farm & Garden Association will host the Michigan winter council meeting. Representatives of 90 branches will attend the Thursday, Feb. 24 gathering at the Sheraton-Oaks Motel in Novi.

The hostesses will be Lake Pointe Village, Tonquish Creek and Trailwood branches of Plymouth, Apple Run of Canton Township, and the Livonia branch. Lenore Howe of the Lake Pointe Village branch will act as meeting general chairman.

Registration and coffee will be at 9

Nuclear weapons freeze supporters plan meetings

The Western Wayne County Nuclear Weapons Freeze Committee will have two meetings next week. Anyone interested may attend either meeting in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Livonia. The first will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday and the second will be at 9:30 a.m.

There will be reports from people who attended the area-wide Freeze Conference scheduled for 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday in the General Lectures Building of Wayne State University. Those who attend the meetings in Livonia will hear the decisions reached at Saturday's information and action Plans also will be made concerning the collection of proxies to be taken to Washington, D.C. in March. Proxy 2149.

forms will be available at the meetings for distribution to churches and interested groups

The Citizens Lobby is planned for March 7 in Washington. Johanna Fechter, regional coordinator, and Gloria Pappas, both of Plymouth, plan to make the trip to Washington.

Fechter said, "It is incredible that we continue to build nuclear warheads and new delivery systems when we already have far more than the amount termed necessary for deterrence." She said that it is necessary to make it clear to Congress that the 60 percent of the voters who voted for a bilateral freeze don't want to be ignored.

He's still bowling at 90

They celebrated Austin Whipple's 90th birthday at the Plymouth Bowl. Lee Jackson, secretary of the Plymouth Seniors Bowling League provided the birthday cake and the signs.

She said, "Austin is one of the oldest bowlers in the country. I know he's the oldest in Plymouth.'

The surprise party at the bowling alley was responsible for Whipple's 105 score in his first game. But he came back with a 139 in the second and rolled a 159 in the third. He maintains Whipple retired in 1960 as owner and manager of Huston Hardware on Penniman, Plymouth. He maintains an active pace - walks two miles every day and does all his own yard work. Neighbors say he even gets up on his roof to make repairs.

GAIN marks anniversary

February is the first anniversary of the Plymouth Community Family Y program GAIN (Goals-Answers-Ideas-Now), previously called Network-

Leslie Frederick and Les Marrus are co-directors under the director of Janet Luce. In many com munities, this program was originated to guide the omemaker to a career transition once she decided to work outside the home. It was intended to give incentive, to develop a positive self-image, and en-courage individual self-confidence for all women in this situation.

Frederick and Marrus have taken this theory and developed it for men, women and the business community in the Plymouth-Canton area. The questions you may be asked at one of the meetings you attend are: How can we help you? Where are you coming from, where do you want to go? In what line of work are your presently employed? If you are not employed, we can try to help you if you will allow

They are not an employment service. They are together to develop career growth and further advance interests and goals you set for yourself or MONTHLY MEETINGS on the second Thursday of every month are in the loft at Station 885 in Old Village, Plymouth. The program speaker is usually a prominent figure in the Plymouth comm providing information to the 30 to 50 people attending the meeting.

It is a process of using your contacts for information, advice and moral support as you pursue your career. It also is an interesting social outlet avail-

There is a personal self-satisfaction in helping someone you never met or helping an old business acquaintance build new bridges within your community. If you want to promote yourself or your business in the community call 453-2904 or plan to come out to the next monthly meeting.

Happy anniversary GAIN. Keep up the good

THE CANTON Newcomers Club has a successful fashion show each year for women interested in stretching their wardrobe. There is a new twist to the program this year. Leavinworth Stretch and Sew will be on hand with a spring preview and a slide presentation. Many of us have a sewing machine collecting dust somewhere in our homes, maybe it is time to find a few extra minutes each day to make something simple and economical for ourselves.

Debbie Barnes heads this year's board of hard- gee and Thomas H. Cook officiated. working ladies for the Canton Newcomers. Elaine Savola, Terrri Kressaty, Maggle Thomas, Marion Domke, Carol Bollman, Sharon Ballios, Nancy Anderson, Carleen Vanderbok, Louise Robison have brought renewed interest along with Debbie to many Canton women.

A revival in new home building in the last few months after a standstill will have board members working even harder to encourage additional growth between now and the middle of June. The arts and crafts classes are overflowing with one morning session and one evening session each month. Dining out with your husband or boyfriend, luncheon-in as well as luncheon-out are still the traditional favorites for most members.

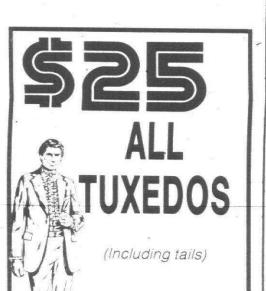

Marge Mogelnicki creates exciting monthly ideas for the Mom and Tots field trips, while the babysitting co-op is used extensively by mothers needing to attend functions with the little tykes.

The ever-popular couples functions remain heavily attended with future activities including a winetasting party in March, a millionaire party in April and the always zany road rally planned for June. There always will be room for new ladies inter ested in the variety of card clubs offered through he Newcomers. The resident restrictions have been lifted from the club's constitution. Former members are encouraged to rejoin and enjoy the new friendships waiting for them within this club.

The meetings are the first Wednesday of every month in Faith Community Church on Warres load just west of Canton Center. When you come, you will be rebuilding additional interests in our fine community

Both of them live in Atlanta, and were in the process of giving me an informal tour up Peachtree Street - strictly top-of-the-head stuff, the kind of information a traveler doesn't find in a brochure.

Peachtree starts at Five Points, near the spot where Atlanta began as a railway terminus. The 'center of town' shifted in recent years to the Peachtree Center, a complex of shops, offices and restaurants that dominates the city. I've seen the downtown, so we were heading north towards the far suburb of Buckhead and the new shopping cen ters around Lenox Square.

Luncheon diners in Lenox Square, a large shopping center in Atlanta, enjoy their meal in casual comfort. The menu includes cold sliced duck or fried chick-

Local writers brave Big Apple's big storm

Two Birmingham writers were caught in the recent winter storm when ice and snow closed down New York City Mary Augusta Rogers and Julie Candler of Birmingham were stranded in the Big Apple last week and only managed to get home via ast-minute reservations on Amtrak.

Even that wasn't easy, because it was impossible to get through to Amtrak reservations on New York telephones. Julie finally telephoned her daughter and son-in-law, Carolyn and Joe Solaka, who run a travel agency called Gulliver's Travels in Detroit.

Carolyn called Amtrak in Chicago and finally got a reservation for two on the train leaving New York at 6:30 p.m. Saturday. It was due in Toledo at 9:30 Sunday morning, not a moment too soon, since Julie flew to Denver for her son's wedding that af-

'Suddenly Last Summer' is a more complex oneact. Mrs. Venable, a wealthy, powerful woman, is determined to clear her son's tragic death by proving that her niece, Catherine, murdered him.

2 one-acts performed with style

CATHERINE'S MOTHER, Mrs. Holly, and her brother, George, try to persuade her to admit to the murder. They would then remain recipients of a onsiderable sum in Venable's will.

The only admirable character in both plays is Dr. Cukrowicz who strives for the truth despite a threat that Mrs. Venable might cut off funds for his research foundation Acting in "Two by Tennessee" is strong enough to breathe life into Williams' characters. Mattie Wolf, who portrays both Mme. Duvenet and Mrs. Holly, turns in a superb performance She is completely believable through her detailed movements and voice quality in each role that she

Tom Hinks, also playing two characters, is convincing. As George Holly, he is a wimpish young man, still attached to his mother's apron strings. His gestures, facial expressions and movement add much to his fine interpretation. As Eloi, Hinks takes on a difficult challenge of serk. Although his performance is very good, he could use more variety in a more gradual, yet bigger build of hysteria.

PAT DORRIAN Sandbothe, as Mrs. Venable, approrpriately creates the uprighteous old woman. She skillfully transforms from a controlled, pleasurable lady of great wealth and esteem to a screaming, uncontrollable witch filled with vengence. Sandbothe's only void is a lack of variety on some of her difficult, lengthy speeches.

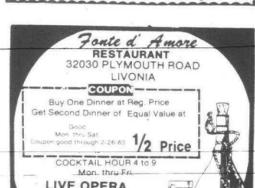

Joseph Guest plays Dr. Cukrowicz in "Suddenly Last Summer." In contrast to the others, Guest's character appears compassionate and concerned The movements utilized by Guest seem rather stiff

The character of Catherine is most delicately portrayed by Lisa Jerrell. Her understanding of his young lady is apparent through her performance. She does an excellent job of conveying her painful experience of witnessing the death of Ven

The scenery for this production is artistically pleasing, as well as clever.

Salem's Blohm ends coaching tenure

OB BLOHM SAT on steps behind the Livonia Bentley scorer's table Tuesday, in a gym where he had performed some of his greatest feats as Plymouth Salem's girls' basketball coach, and explained why he was resigning.

"We sat down one day and figured it out," Blohm said, meaning boys coach Fred Thomann and himself. "We work eight months a year putting this program together. It's been pretty intense - we run it like a year-

"I just didn't feel I could put that kind of time into it anymore. And I'm not the kind of person that would do this with less than 100 percent

AS HE SPOKE, Blohm watched the Salem's boys' junior varsity team hold off Bentley to win. Bentley has been Blohm's archrival in his five seasons of coaching.

It is a true mark of Blohm's ability that his Rocks came out on top in the majority of those meetings

It wasn't that Salem had the better players. Kim Archer, the Bulldogs' truly exceptional power forward who has been acknowledged by many as the state's premier player, plagued Salem for four of Blohm's five

But superior talent wasn't enough to beat the Rocks. In the last two years, Salem and Bentley met six times. The Rocks won four

"I want to realistically look at the things I'm doing .

Look at what he has accomplished. Blohm compiled a 102-20 record in just five seasons. For the statistically-minded, that's better than a 20-4

BLOHM'S FORMULA for success? He'd say defense and sound funda mentals - playing smart basketball.

But that's where Blohm is wrong. Because ask any coach and he'll preach the same things, the same code for success.

Maybe that's what sets Blohm apart. Instead of preaching, he taught his players - and they listened. They learned and believed in him.

That is truly a gift few coaches possess. I've seen hundreds of games. and countless times when a coach calls for a timeout, the players gather in a circle around him and suck on water bottles, half-listening to his

Not so with Blohm. His players were attentive. The result - they won

"The kids we've had haven't been physically awesome, but they had basketball skill and knew how to win.

IT WAS A lesson Blohm taught well. Perhaps the best example was last season. Salem's tallest starter was 5-foot-8. Its best rebounder was 5-4. It was a methodical team that relied on a patient, perimeter-shooting offense and a tough, person-to-person defense to win

The Rocks' record: 20-3, on a team with two senior starters, a team that was outsized by every opponent.

"Our success was due to our kids, who were willing to play as a team, and their ability to execute the fundamentals. We always had players willing to fill roles."

Bob Blohm will no longer teach the game of basketball for Plymouth Salem's girls.

Players like Patty Weidman, now one of Central Michigan University's top players. Or Cheryl Sobkow, a star at Schoolcraft College. Or Eileen Moore, or Nan Horwood, or Jan MacKenzie, or Carol Ross, or Jacque Merrifield.

Each one filled a role as a Salem basketball player. Some, like Moore, MacKenzie, Ross and Merrifield, filled more than one as their roles changed year to year

It comes back to teaching. And that's what Blohm did best.

"THE TEACHING of the game is what's most fun. That's what basketball is. I don't think there's a better place for a kid to go to learn than out

What Blohm taught was how to win and what goals to set. The object wasn't victories - it was to improve as the season progressed. Improvement would build winners

We always wanted to play well in the districts. That was always our

The teaching of winning basketball - as Blohm, now 40, learned it in his prep schooldays in Indiana and in his playing years at Western Michigan University — will, for the time being, be put aside. Blohm will seek to fulfill other educational aims.

"There's some administrative opportunities, and I'm working on my certification in elementary education," the teacher at Central Middle School said. "And I'm into Eastern Michigan's educational leadership

WHICH MEANS Blohm is expanding his educational horizons. As far as his coaching ambitions, he did speak with Brad Kinsman, the University of Detroit athletic director, about the women's basketball position now vacant. But that is a post he has decided against actively seeking. "It's time for me to relax and see where I'm at. It's a hard decision giving up the girls. They've been a great group to work with. And we've had tremendous support — from that standpoint it's been really gratify-

"It's just that sometimes, you get too close to a situation. You don't see things clearly.

So Blohm will step back and take a look, examine what he has done and what he wants to do.

Will he return to coaching? Ask a fortune teller with an accurate eye. for the future.

BLOHM STARED at the court as the Rocks' JV wrapped up its win over Bentley. There was that twinkle, that gleam in his eye that sparkled often in his days as Salem's girls' coach — after every victory

He was remembering: the players, the games, and the Bentley series "All the Bentley games were tremendous experiences for us. In 1980, the game in the regionals, Bentley had a six or seven point lead at the half and we beat them in overtime He will be missed.

Rocks squeeze past Western for mat title

The best proved it where it counts -

Plymouth Salem, the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) dual meet champion, confirmed that it was the best team in the 10-team league by edging Walled Lake Western for the championship Saturday at Western.

Western lost just one WLAA dual during the season - to Salem when heavyweight Kevin Van Otten pinned his Western foe in the final event to lift the Rocks to a six-point victory in the January meet. The WLAA tournament was close. It took "a total combined effort of 13 boys who wanted to win the league meet," according to Salem coach Ron Kreuger, for the Rocks to prevail by a scant eight points.

Salem finished with 2121/2 points. Western totaled 2041/2. Plymouth Canton took third (140½), followed by Livonia Bentley (123½), Walled Lake Central (115), Livonia Churchill (721/2), Northville (71), Livonia Stevenson (58½) and Farmington and Farmington Harrison (both with 56).

"WE FIGURED it would be close," Kreuger confessed. "We didn't know if we'd win it or not. We knew they were balanced and would place 12 kids (in

"There wasn't enough balance through the league to stop two teams from running through it - we placed 13 (in top six).

The top three teams filled 18 of the 26 spots in the finals: Salem had seven (including five champions). Western had six (three champs) and Canton hadfive (two titlists). Central also won a pair of weight divisions and Bentley had one champ.

There was a real disparity in the league," agreed Canton coach Dan Chrenko, "We bumped off Western for (Salem) in a lot of cases."

DESPITE WINNING five of 13 weight classes, the Rocks needed the help. John Beaudoin dropped down to 132, the division he won a state title in year ago, and kept his match record perfect by routing Western's Bob Rich in the finals, 13-0. Beaudoin, a senior, is now 38-0 for the season, including 24 past Bentley's Salem Yaffai, 7-4, for another Salem title. John Woochuk (155) blanked Canton's Marty Heaton, 6-0, in the finals for Salem's third

Tom Walkley (198) was awarded the championship when Canton's Paul Fletcher defaulted in the final. Fletcher's younger brother, Brad, died earlier

Let's get it straight right off the bat, though. Cassell is not going to wave a pendulum before your eyes to teach you the basic fundamentals of a particular sport. He's here to show you that sports is simply a state of mind over matter.

Cassell is becoming more and more involved with sports hypnosis and self-hypnosis. He's specializing in sports for basically two reasons - he's familiar with most athletic problems and there's a big business pond out there to fish in.

THE FORMER FARMINGTON High School (1960 graduate) all-state wrestler operates on the premise that all athletes have the fundamental knowledge and an x-amount of ability in their par-swim team last Thursday.

The Rocks claimed all 11 first-place finishes in dispatching Northville, 82-44, at Northville. The clean sweep of firsts also kept Salem's Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) record unblemished in five dual meets. The Rocks are 9-2

Erik Kleinsmith and Mark Roehrig each won two individual events and swarn on the victorious 400yard freestyle relay (3:31.7) with Scott Anderson and Bob Bowling.

Kleinsmith's wins came in the distant free events, the 200 (1:54.8) and 500 (5:14.1). Roehrig captured the 200 individual medley (2:12.2) and 100 butterfly (1:00 1)

The Rocks had three sweeps of the top two places n the meet. Anderson won the 100 free (52.2) and Tom Shaw was second (54.9); Tim Harwood (59.4) and brother Mike (1.02.8) were 1-2 in the 100 back; and Ashley Long finished first in the 100 breaststroke (1:06.8) with Dave Workman second Bowling triumphed in the 50 free (23.8) and Todd

Riedel took the diving (203.9 points). Mike Harwood, Long, Tim Harwood and Bowling combined to win the 200 medley relay (1:48.6)

SATURDAY, SALEM placed second to host team Inkster Cherry Hill in the four-team Western Wayne Invitational. The Rocks scored 308 points to 337 for Cherry

Belleville was third (260) and Dearborn

Heights Crestwood was fourth (120). Salem was first in five events, with Kleinsmith leading the way with wins in the 200 (1:55.0) and 500 (5:13.7) freestyles. Mike Harwood won the 100 back (1:01.7) and Riedel captured the diving (355.6 points). Mike Harwood, Long, Roehrig and Shaw mmed in winning the 200 medley relay (1:48.8). Tim Harwood and Long each had a pair of seconds for the Rocks. Harwood's came in the 50 free (23.5) and 100 fly (58.6), while Long was second in the 200 IM (2:13.1) and 100 breast (1:06.2). Kleinsmith, Anderson, Tim Harwood and Bowling swam to a second in the 400 free relay (3:25.5). Salem swims at 7 p.m. tonight at Livonia Steven-son in a key WLAA dual meet.

Hypnotist can coax a better game

This is done through a series of lectures and/or cassette hypnosis tapes for sports conditioning "to increase the athlete's ability for practicing skills through intense concentration; positive self-control; self-expectancy, self-motivation and self-discipline; and relaxation before competition."

Concentration and relaxation are the key words Cassell "programs" the athlete to use his or her self-generated power of concentration and relaxation as a means of improving athletic accomplish-

SELF-HYPNOSIS is learning stress release and positive self-control through concentration and relaxation

Cassell's not picky - he'll hypnotize a group (like he did with the Detroit Express and the Central Michigan University track team) for a nominal fee ranging from $25 to $30 or an individual (like he did to some high school wrestlers and what he wanted to do to Detroit boxer Thomas Hearns before his loss to "Sugar Ray" Leonard) for $35 per hour.

"It's simple to hypnotize a person for bowling." said Cassell, an accomplished black belt who once took second place in an international judo cham-

"For example, you're with your friends and you're bowling a good game, and someone says to you, 'don't throw a gutter ball.' Then you say (to yourself). 'I can't throw a gutter ball.' But, it's now

anted in your mind.
"If you don't have self-control, self-expectancy, I'll bet you 50 percent or more of the time it's going o go right in the damn gutter and that's not normal or you. What happened is that you accepted (their thoughts) and you made it part of your expectancy.

"Can't is a negative word. You program yourself negatively by thinking 'can't'. All you should do is take a deep breath in, roll out slow like your body's hollow, then go through the procedure (bowling approach) in your mind

"You see yourself like you're out of your body or you're actually inside your body and walking through the entire procedure. First, you focus on your mark if you're a spot bowler, you pick your spot, exhale and relax, then you step, step, step, hen lift your arm back and throw the ball. "(At that point) all other external sounds don't matter. That's what we call concentration. If you are programmed through hypnosis and self-hypnosis that all sounds relax you - and your power of concentration is beyond your belief system - all you can see is that spot. All you feel is reaching out and your arm is rubber - it's elastic - and people can yell and scream and drop a ball and you still block that out because you're programmed to re-

Salem is 11-1 in league play and 14-2 overall. The Rocks will end their league schedule tonight against Walled Lake Central at home. Livonia Stevenson finished its league campaign Tuesday with a 12-1 record. Bentley blew its chances to win the game after Hartnett's basket. After calling a timeout with eight seconds to go, Salem's Dave Houle committed his fifth foul and was charged with a technical. But Bentley failed to convert two free throws, and the Bulldogs followed by throwing the inbound pass at mid-Salem junior then passed to teammate Matt Broderick, who was fouled with one second left. The Salem guard made his first free throw and then missed the second shot as the game ended.

"IT WAS a flat out incredible game," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. Bentley's intensity level was very high because they have to get into the playoffs (Western Lakes tournament). "This was a great victory for us coming down the stretch. We had to win to maintain our tie with Stevenson."

Plymouth Canton is on a roll. The Chiefs, still minus high-scoring guard Mark Bennett, sidelined with a ourt into the hands of Hartnett. The stress fracture in his foot, battled back in the second half to overtake Farmington Harrison and win for the sixth time in their last eight outings.

Ron Rienas turned in a superb allaround game, scoring 21 points, grabbing 12 rebounds, dishing out four assists, blocking three shots and limiting Harrison's Wes Jones to one secondhalf basket. Canton, which trailed by seven (15-8)

after one quarter and by as many as 15 in the first half, sliced it to three at the intermission and took the lead by four (44-40) after three quarters. Harrison John Cohen, a senior forward, came had a chance to win it in the final secoff the bench to lead Salem with 14 onds but missed a buzzer shot and Pat

"Oklahoma" (1955), 8 p.m. Friday on Ch. 50. Originally 145 minutes. Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma" opened on Broadway in 1943 but didn't make it to the silver screen until 2 years later. That figures, because Hollywood wasn't doing big-budget musicals during or right after the war, it "Oklahoma" fits in perfectly with those '50s blockbusters - usually shot in Cinerama or VistaVision - that were intended to draw viewers away from TV and back to the theaters. Gordon McCrae and Shirley Jones star in Roddy McDowall and Preston Foster star in this multi-leveled story of a boy believes his son should own — and resemble — a thoroughbred, while the youth, 14-year-old McDowall, is more attracted to — and more resembles — a cross-breed. The father's argument that mixed-bloods are inferior takes on Arian proportions; meanwhile, the son's love for the spirited Flicka and his defiance of his father make for an engaging story. One question remains Why does this American lad have an English accent? Jeff Corey also stars.

"Tarzan and the Leopard Woman" had already replaced Maureen O'Sulli 50. Originally 72 minutes. It was the beginning of the end for Johnny Weissmuller, then 42, who Boy, also stars.
