The collision occurred at about 7:45 p.m., snarling traffic for sever-

Police and fire officials closed south-bound I-275 traffic at the Ford Road exit because they feared the truck might explode, Fire Chief Mel Paulun said. Lettering on the vehicle indicated it might be carrying flammable materials, Paulun said.

"It (truck) was licensed to carry waste (and) hazardous material, Paulun said. "Not knowing what was in there, it was best that we close off the expressway."

Contents of the truck were a mixture of oil and water, Cripe said. Witnesses told police Wozny was driving erratically. Wozny, traveling in the right-hand lane, cut into the center lane when another car began merging onto the freeway from west-bound Ford Road, according to Wozny's vehicle hit the truck, which was in the center lane. Both vehicles swerved into the far left lane, hitting the concrete abutment. Wozny's car slid 325 feet, according to skid marks.

The estimated speed at the time of impact was 55-58 miles per hour, Cripe said. The impact caused Wozny's car to ignite, police said.

No liquid spilled from the truck Fire department rescuers used the Jaws of Life tool to remove Wozny's body from the demolished vehicle, Contrary to popular belief the failure rate of marriages lasting 20 years or more has increased. "Once upon a time a rule of thumb was if you made the first 10 years, you were out of danger,' said the Rev. Len Koeninger of St. Peter Evangelical Church in Plymouth.

ACCORDING TO Koeninger, children leaving the nest, unrest, feelings by the couples that time is running out. and options for new careers are all reasons for long-time marriages failing.

However, based on personal experience Koeninger believes that traditional weddings are more popular today. "I think we are over the hump. Attitudes and values have changed and couples are more serious about marriage. I think we're back to old-fashioned things, very formal weddings."

CHURCHES ARE looking for ways to solve marital problems before they begin. First Methodist Church of Plymouth requires six sessions of counseling prior to the wedding service.

Grenfel takes couples through their history asking them what began their relationship and reminding the couple that they can only maintain a growing marriage by knowing their roots.

The Rev. Philip Rodgers Macgee of First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth goes through several hours of counseling with the couples prior to the marriage. "We have open rap sessions or discussions", Macgee said. A book is given to couples entitled "Letters to Karen," written by Charlie MARRIAGE ENCOUNTER, a lay movement designed for couples to enhance relationships and teach techniques of building relationships through marriage, is very helpful, Yarnell said.

Norma Tims worries about her two grade-school children crossing Sheldon Road from Gallimore Elementary School to a proposed party store.

Nancy Zelleck, a member of the Gallimore parent-teacher organization and secretary for the Forest Trails Home-owners' Association, is vehemently opposed to construction of a party store near the school. Businessman George Odish wants to build a shop on Sheldon south of Joy, near the school.

Tims and Zelleck have taken their cause to the top, petitioning the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to deny Odish's request for an SDD (Specially Designated Distributor) license to sell package liquor at the proposed

The Liquor Control Commission is expected to rule on the Odish application this week.

"It's basically the proximity to the Gallimore School," said Zelleck of the neighbors' opposition. "We have a lot of walkers and the traffic on Sheldon Road is very heavy now at all times of

A Class C liquor license enables a restaurateur to sell liquor for consumption on the premises. According to records, new applicants are lining up in Canton for the highly prized licenses.

After Canton's leap in population during the 1970s, the total number of Class C liquor licenses available to the township rose to 32. The new figure was based on a population of 48,616 tabulated in the 1980 federal census.

The licenses are allotted to restaurants and bars on a quota of one license per 1,500 residents in the 10-year cen-

A question explored by those at the conference

"The accomplishment of the last decade has changes in society.

That was the message of one of the major speakers at the Urban and Minority Education Journalism Fellowship held recently in Washington, D.C. under the sponsorshp of the Institute for Educational Leadership, Inc.

The three-day seminar explored public education in the 1980s and beyond.

Among those attending were 16 journalists and educational experts invited by the institute which is a private, non-profit organization funded in large part by the Ford Foundation. Among those attending was Rick Smith of Plymouth, a freelance photographer and director of the Native American Indian Heritage Center conducted y Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Smith said the theme explored at the conference was "public education at a critical crossroad."

The American public schools are fundamentally out of step with what is going on in this country, said Mike Annison, director of the Rocky Mountain Frend Report, an educational research project which studies current tendencies ineducation. "We are experiencing a major revolution in this country similar in scope to the industrial revolution," Annison told those attending the seminar "and our schools are lagging way behind." To cope with what he called the information/service revolution, Annison called for a "total restrucuring" of the public school system.

TO KEEP UP with the high technology revolu tion consuming the country many educators are calling for beefed-up math and science curriculum. 'The future depends upon equal education in the sciences," said Harold Hodgkinson, former director of the National Institute of Education and current senior fellow with the Institute for Educational

A Gallup Poll released in September 1983 revealed that the American public places education at the top of the list of national priorities ahead of a strong industrial system (which ranked second) and a strong military (which ranked third).

Because of this, said Mary Berry, U.S. Commis sioner on Civil Rights, education is going to be a major issue in the 1984 presidential campaign.
With that in mind, Hodgkinson thinks educators have to get used to dealing with the media. "I used o blame the press for a lack of publicity. I now blame educators for not understanding the media.' Civil rights and minority educational issues are fading as a national educational priority, said Alhert Shanker president of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT). "Civil rights are not on the

Marriage tax penalty lowered child exemption

growing trend among American families. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, more than half of all families are comprised of working married couples

And even though the economic advantages of having two incomes are apparent, many working couples, especially those with relatively equal incomes, find themselves owing additional taxes

What happens is that two-earner married couples generally pa higher taxes than they would pay if they were single. This is called the marriage tax penalty. Compounding the situation, many working couples may not have had enough tax withheld and do not realize it until they file their returns. The result in many cases may be a whopping tax bill. AS A result of the Economic Recovery Tax Act of 1981, twoearner married couples will be allowed to deduct 5 percent of the first $30,000 earned by the lower-income spouse in 1982 and 10 percent of the first $30,000 in 1983. They will not have to itemize eductions on Schedule A of Form 1040 to claim this deduction. Here's how it will work. If you and your spouse file a joint return . for 1982, you will show your total combined gross income just as you always have. But you may deduct from your gross income either 5 percent of the qualified earned income of the spouse with the lower qualified earned income, or $1,500, whichever is less. In 1983 and thereafter, the deduction increases to 10 percent, but no

Let's say your qualified earned income is $20,000, and your spouse's is $8,000. In 1982, you will be able to subtract 5 percent of he lower salary ($8,000), and you will be taxed on $27,600. For 1983 and subsequent years, you will be able to subtract 10 percent of $8,000 and be taxed on $27,200.

HOWEVER, WHEN you combine this deduction with an Indidual Retirement Account, you don't save as much as you might

When you calculate the marriage tax deduction, you must first subtract the amount put in an IRA (up to $2,000). Let's say the ower-earning spouse puts $2,000 in an IRA (a wise move for all but the youngest families). For this year, you get a deduction of 5 eent of $6,000 instead of 5 percent of $8,000. ($8,000 income less $2,000 in an IRA is $6,000.) Next year, you would get a deduction of percent of $6,000 instead of 10 percent of $8,000

The loss of deduction gets steadily larger as the earnings of the ower income spouse approaches $30,000 - the deduction is figured up to a maximum lower salary of $30,000.

However, if the lower-earning spouse makes $35,000 a year, subracting $2,000 for an IRA still leaves the lower income above the $30,000 maximum for figuring the marriage penalty deduction and you don't "lose" any of either the marriage penalty deduction or

IF YOU earn $20,000 and your spouse earns $8,000 and each of you puts $2,000 in an IRA, your total income will be $28,000, but taxable income before figuring the marriage penalty deduction will be $24,000 ($28,000 total income less $4,000 split between two IRAs). Since the marriage penalty deduction would be 5 percent of $6,000 (the $8,000 lower income minus the $2,000 put in an IRA), the deduction would be $300, rather than $400 (if no IRA contribution had been made). Subtracting the $300 from $24,000 adjusted income, you would start figuring your taxes based on

There is another provision that you should be aware of if you have children and pay for their care while you work.

The maximum credit you can take for child and dependent care expenses has increased. If you have one qualifying individual, the maximum credit ranges from $480, if your income is more than $28,000, to $720 if it's $10,000 or less. For two or more qualifying ndividuals, the maximum credit will range from $960 to $1,440.

HERE IS how the credit works: The credit increases to 30 per cent of employment-related expenses if your adjusted gross income is $10,000 or less. For each $2,000 (or fraction of $2,000) you make above the $10,000, the credit is reduced by one percentage point. If your adjusted gross income is more than $28,000, the credit will remain at the existing 20-percent level.

With retirement savings plans, working couples stand to benefit from another change in the tax law. Workers who already are covered by employer pension plans have the opportunity to make their own tax-deductible contributions to an Individual Retirement Account, or to the company plan itself, provided that the plan provides for voluntary employee contributions and the employer agrees to treat such contributions as deductible. The maximum tribution, whether or not the workers are covered by the employer's pension plans, is 100 percent of their compensation inclufible in gross income up to a maximum of $2,000. You can make payments to your IRA at any time during the tax

How to determine

If you are are a divorced or separated parent, the Internal Revenue Service has guidelines to help you decide whether you or your former spouse can claim the $1,000 exemption for your child.

Although there are some exceptions, the parent who has custody of the child for most of the year is usually permitted to use the exemption. In this case, it does not matter if the parent with custody has been the one providing more than half the child's support

If you are the non-custodial parent, you may claim the exemption for your child if: · Your divorce, separate maintenance or other written agree ment states that you have the right to take the exemption and you provide at leat $600 of support for your child, or • You provided at least $1,200 per child and your former spouse does not provide more, whether or not your decree gives

WHETHER YOU are the custodial or non-custodial parent, you should know the types of expenses to include in determining support. Medical and dental care, food, lodging, clothing, education, ecreation and transportation are among the items of support. Many single parents think that the value of lodging they provide for their children is only the rent or mortgage payment. The true value (and the value the IRS uses) includes a reasonable allowance for the use of the furniture and appliances, heat and other utilities. You should use the fair rental value of the home in which your child lives, divided by the number of people who live in the home, as the value of the lodging when you deterrmine the amount of support you have provided. Fair rental value is the amount you uld reasonably expect to receive from a stranger, the IRS said.

For example, Mary Smith lives with her two children in an unfurnished home. SHe pays $300 for monthly mortgage payments. A similar house in her neighborhood rents for $500 a month unfurnished. She adds $100 a month for the value of furnishings and $150 support for lodging per month for each child: $500 plus $100 plus

CERTAIN OTHER items are easily missed when you are adding up the amount your've paid for support. The child's contribution o churches or charities, a reasonable amount of your car expenses for transporting the child to school and other activities, and the child's portion of vacation expenses are items of support you might

It is important to keep accurate records of support expenses throughout the year. Maintaining a diary for each child wil help you keep track of all the little expenses such as haircuts, school unches and trips to the movies. These records will be important in determining the amount of support you have provided.

If you have reason to believe that your former spouse intends to claim an exemption for a child for whom you claim an exemption, the IRS suggests that your request an itemized statement of support be provided by the other parent. Information for divorced or separated parents can be found in IRS Publication 504, "Tax Information for Divorced or Separated Individuals." It can be ordered by using the order blank in your tax package.

Job-related study is tax deductible

Expenses for education relevant to your current employment may be deductible, the IRS says.

To qualify, the expenses must meet at least one of two specific guidelines. Taking the course of study must be mandatory for continuance in your current employment status - for example, a teacher required to take a course to retain a teaching position. If not, the course must be helpful in maintaining or improving skills which are required in your present employment - for instance a television repairman taking a course to keep up with the lates

But the cost of certain educational experiences are not deductible. Expenses for education that prepares your for a new trade or business — such as a journalist studying law — may not be deducted even if the education is required or beneficial in your present employment. Similarly, the expense for study to help you meet the not an allowable duduction - for example, a full-time engineering student who has a prt-time job in a minor engineering capacity.

Educational expenses include amounts spent on tuition, books supplies, laboratory fees and similar items, and certain travel and transportation costs. Except for reimbursed expenses included in income, travel and transportation, educational expenses are an itemized deduction and should be listed on Schedule A (Form 1940) as a miscellaneous deduction. Travel, transportation, reimbursed expenses and all outside salesperson's educational expensed are educted as an adjustment to income using Form 2106.

Death of spouse may figure in taxes

A taxpayer whose spouse died in 1980 or 1981 may be entitled to a special tax benefit for 1982 The benefit allows the taxpayer to use the joint return tax table or tax rate schedule with tax rates significantly lower than those in the single category

To qualify for the benefit, the taxpayer · Must have been entitled to file a joint return with the deeased spouse for the year of the death, even if one was not acutal

 Must not have remarried before the close of 1983: · Must have a child, stepchild or foster child who qualified as a

• Must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining the taxpayer's home, which was the principal residence for that dendent child for the entire year Taxpayers who take advantage of this benefit must file Form

1040, check Block 5 under filing statutes and figure the tax using the joint return tax table or tax rate schedule. The last year a taxpayer may file jointly with, or claim an exemption for, a deceased spouse is the year of the death

Income averaging may lower taxes

Taxpayers whose income increased substantially in 1982 may be eligible for a tax break by using the income averaging method of tax computation when filing their federal income tax return In income averaging, a part of an unusually large amount of taxable income can be taxed in lower brackets.

Generally, the taxpayer uses the four years prior to 1982 to compute the tax in averaging income. The first step is finding if the averageable income was more than $3,000. Generally, averageable income is the amount by which the taxpayer's adjusted income for 1982 is more than 30 percent of the total taxable in come for the four years preceding 1982.

For detailed information on how to compute income averaging, see Publication 506, "Income Averaging," available by using the order from in the tax packet.

Job-related move may be deductible

Many expenses incurred in a job-related move may be deductible on 1982 income tax returns. Moving expenses which can be deducted include the cost of travel to the new location, moving of houshold goods and personal effects, premove househunting trips, temporary living costs at the new location, and certain expenses relaed to the disposition of an old residence and acquisition of a new one. But the maximum deduction of the last three items is limited

In adddition, the distance between a taxpayer's new job and old home must be at least 35 miles farther than the former home was from the former job. A taxpayer who is an employee must work at least 39 weeks during the 12 months after the move.

Eligible taxpayers can claim the moving-expense deduction whether they itemize deductions or not. Expenses are reported on Form 3903 which should be filed with Form 1040. Publication 521. "Moving expenses" is available by using the order blank in the tax hetoric taking place in Lansing, taxes probaoly will be going up in Michigan.

There is much evidence that a tax increase is needed. Whether it needs to be permanent and its size however are debatable. What kind of tax income, sales or a combination of the two - also is a question being bandied about in Lansing.

Last week the state House of Representatives easily approved a two-bill tax package which would boost the personal income tax rate from the current 4.6 percent to 6.35 percent, retroactive to Jan. 1

The tax rate would remain at that level until the state's unemployment rate — averaged over six months - dropped to at least 12.25 percent. For each 0.75 percent dip in the jobless rate, the income tax would decline by 0.1 percent.

When the unemployment rate falls to 9 percent or less, the tax increase would expire, and the rate would revert to the current 4.6 percent.

THE PACKAGE now goes to the Senate, where Democrats hold a bare 20-18 majority.

Although we believe that some type of tax increase is inevitable, it will require the cooperation at least a few Republican senators. Any tax package approved would need the unanimous support of the Democrats - support that doesn't ap-

The need for Wayne County General has been well documented; but a lot of those users have been left wondering where they're going to go if the hospital closes or is sold, as County Executive William Lucas has threatened

While committee members ponder what may well be a life-and-death matter, the uncertainty that has been created is unconscionable

The indigent and the paying customers in western Wayne County who use the hospital's facilities must be reassured that there will always be access to medical care for them. It is unlikely the state will take over that responsibility. That leaves it up to the county to reaffirm its commitment

THE ROARD of commissioners the committee members appointed by Lucas, and Lucas himself would do well to consider the following points:

• Those 100,000-plus hospital users weren't the ones who negotiated above-scale, across-the-board wages with employees at the hospital. That fiasco fell to the Board of Commissioners that signed the Hospital users weren't the ones who sat on their duffs, ignoring deficits caused by decay surrounding the hospital. There is no one, simple solution to the problems faced by the hospital and those it serves. The solution is likely to include wage concessions, consolidation, and administrative changes.

But every time commissioners or committee members get a cough, sneeze, see an accident or hear an ambulance siren, they had better remember that some day they could be the ones needing a Wayne County General.

House, prudent GOP legislators admit some type of tax increase will be approved. Those GOP votes will be precious to Gov. James Blanchard's team and needn't be delivered without some promise of support in another area. One such area is regional control of the Detroit Water and Sewerage System

We suggest that Sen. Robert Geake, a Republican whose district includes Canton, Livonia, Northville. Plymouth and Redford, take a leadership role in what certainly will be a battle to reform the Detroit-controlled regional water system.

Blanchard will face an uphill struggle with the 18 Republican senators who have vowed to fight the two-bill package approved by the state House.

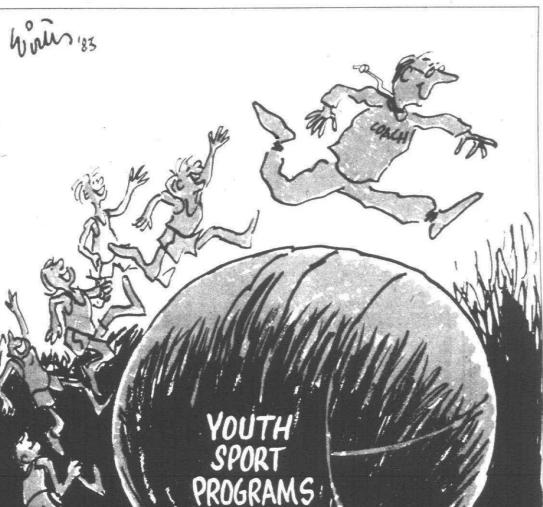

GEAKE, TOO, will face a battle if he is serious about mustering enough votes to approve his recently introduced bill in the Senate that would give suburban water customers a proportional voice in governing what is a metropolitan water system.

This is the day The Stroller takes his annual trip lown Memory Lane to visit Old Corktown and help the Irish celebrate in honor of the man who suppos-

Through the years, this Irish holiday has taken its place along with Christmas, the Fourth of July and norial Day. But for celebrations, nothing compares with the St. Patrick's Days of long ago, when ven the old-fashioned clay pipes were the vogue. This is the day, too, when The Stroller relives the times when he joined the group downtown and paraded over to Corktown to attend Mass at Holy Trinity Church and visit Rt. Rev. Clement Kern.

This kindly old monsignor is still living and now is a guest at St. John Seminary in Plymouth. But he manages to get around and visit again with many of the survivors of the St. Patrick's Day celebrations when the Irish held sway in all the meeting places

AS THIS DAY dawns each year, The Stroller is reminded of the St. Patrick's Day when he had his office downtown and was "captured" by the Irish group to march with them to church

The clans used to gather at Tommy Long's saloon n West Fort between Cass and First Avenue. On one particular St. Patrick's Day, Tommy was leading the parade when he spotted The Stroller and yelled, "Come on, you Dutchman, you've got to be an Irishman for the day."

With that he grabbed an arm, and when we got to Holy Trinity, he walked this Dutchman down the main aisle and sat him with the sisters. Even Msgr Kern had to smile when he took his place at the altar and saw the Dutchman in the front row.

Once the church services were ended, it was customary to visit the monsignor in the rectory and spend a few happy hours, even to smoking a clay

Residents eventually will pay for the income tax increase, but, remember, those monthly water bills can be expensive, too.

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes March 3-9.

SOCIAL SECURITY - The House passed, 282 for and 148 against, and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 1900) designed to keep the Social Security System solvent at least until the mid-21st

The least controversial section of the bill would raise at least $135 billion for the Social Security trust funds over the next several years in order to eliminate the short-term deficit.
In part, the short-term solution accelerate already-scheduled tax hikes, curb and delay beneficiaries' cost-of-living increases, and make Social Security mandatory for members of Congress, federal judges and new federal civil servants.

The most disputed section of the bailout addresses the staggering post-2000 deficit expected because lengthening life spans combined with declining birth rates will make Social Security top-heavy with beneficiaries.

The bill seeks to solve the "demographic problem" chiefly by gradually raising the retirement age from 65 to 67, beginning in 2000. Supporter Richard Gephardt, D-Mo.

called the bill of compromise that evenly distributed the pain that is the price we must pay for reform.

Opponent Michael Barnes, D-Md., objected to including new federal workers in Social Security, saying this means "federal retirement would become the single greatest disincentive to joining federal service.

Memers voting yes favored the Social Security rescue plan.

AGE — By a vote of 228 for and 202 against, the House adopted a Social Security amendment (to HR 1900) that in the next century will raise the retirement age for full benefits above the present 65 years.

Between 2000 and 2017, the age will rise gradually to 67 years. Early retirements still will be permitted, but at the expense of sharper benefit reductions than now apply.

The amendment, originated in committee by Republicans but backed on the floor by many Democrats, posed the key philosophical and political di-lemma faced by the House — whether to save Social Security by emphasizing a) the old approach of higher payroll deductions that upset taxpayers or b) a new approach of structural change that antagonizes beneficiaries.

Supporter William Thomas, R-Calif. said "the basic problem . . is that American people's demographic pattern has changed."

Opponent Bill Richardson, D-N.M. said "the cold hard fact is, this amendment calls for a cut in benefits for future retirees.

TAX - The House rejected, 132 for and 296 against, an amendment (to HR 1900) to eliminate the 21st century Social Security deficit by raising the payroll tax in 2010.

Employees and employers each were to absorb a 0.53 percent tax hike on top of the 6.2 percent each will be paying at that time.

Supporter Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass. said "each generation always has paid in America for the generation that has gone before them. Should we change the tradition? I say no.

Opponent Bill Archer, D-Tex., called the payroll tax hike "just another Band-aid.

Members voting yes wanted to eliminate the long-term Social Security deficit with higher payroll taxes paid by employers and employes.
Voting yes: Hertel, Ford and Levin, all Democrats. Voting no: Pursell and Broomfield, both Republicans.

JOBS - The House passed, 324 for and 95 against, and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 1718) appropriating $4.9 billion to create an estimated 1 million temporary jobs in the public sector.

The bill also provides humanitarian relief for victims of the recession who are destitute, special funding of health services, and outlays for mass transit.

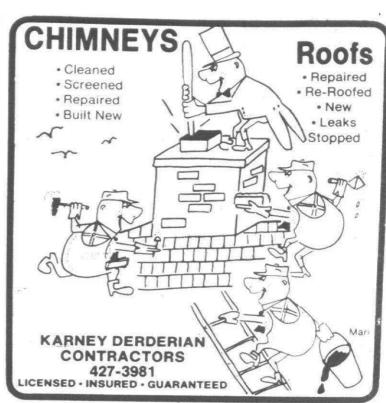

ing and other programs.

Supporter William Ratchford, D-Conn., called the bill "a signal to 12 million unemployed Americans, Americans on the edge of despair, that finally in Washington there will be the beginning of a movement that will put Americans back to work.'

Opponent Norman Shumway, R-Calif., said "public works are a wholly inadequate way of fighting the problem This legislation of unemployment . will not have a direct impact on unemployment for a minimum of 18 months "

GENERATIONS of former Woman's Club members would have approved the celebration of the club's 90th anniversary.

The scholarship ball in the Mayflower Meeting House had the touch of decorum and elegance deemed proper by the ladies who founded the club in 1893. The dinner from the chateaubriand to the cherries jubilee - was perfect.

The cost of the dinner, $25, may have set those Victorian-era ladies a-swooning. In going over the club history, Linda Pawling, president, noted that 110 people had attended the Woman's Club 35th-anniversary luncheon in the Mayflower Hotel. No description of the menu was mentioned in the minutes, but the price was 85 cents per person. By coincidence, 110 people attended the scholarship ball Friday evening.

AT SOME TIME, over the the years, the members chose a club flower, the white carnation, and club colors, green and white Sparr's Flowers and Greenhouse stuck to tradition in providing green baskets of white carnations and white mums for the banquet tables. Each of the candidates received a long-stemmed white carnation tied with long, green ribbons. They also were given certificates, framed by Frameworks. The bandboxes, donated by Pease Paint and decorated by members of the club as mementos of the event, were at their place settings. Inside were laminated newspaper clippings of their picture and writeup from the Observer Newspaper. The Mayflower Hotel and the Observer sponsored the ball.

BUT MOST OF all, those early members of the club would have approved the 17 candidates for the scholarships. These young women are living in an age they had dreamed about when they were supporting the suffragette movement.

Here were high school seniors whose shining hair, glowing complexions and bright eyes reflected a healthy exuberance. The brief biographical descriptions read by K.C. Mueller, chairwoman of the ball, were a source of amazement even to the enlightened guests of

They had part-time jobs working as waitresses, stockgirls, clerks, news carriers, tutors, music teachers, gymnastic instructors, switchboard operators, stockgirls, cooks and cashiers.

without boundaries. The candidates have their sights set on careers in bio-medical engineering, the computer sciences, politics, child development, business certified public accountant and later politics), theater, medicine, occupational therapy, law and communications

The panel of judges worked on a grid system with each candidate having a number; they didn't know the name. With so many deserving applicants, the Woman's Club gave not one but three $500 scholarships. The money will be credited to the colleges of their choice. The fourth runner-up will receive a grant if one of the top three has a change of

THE SCHOLARSHIP benefit ball in the Mayflower Meeting House was chaired by Mrs. Laurence H. Mueller with Mrs. Roger Centofanti, Mrs. John Cooper, Mrs. Vern A. Hackett, Mrs. Robert Kenyon, Mrs. Conrad Krankel, Mrs. Charles F. Lang, Mrs. Robert Pawling and Mrs. Fred Sigmon serving on the committee.

Festivities began at 7 p.m. with a social hour. Dinner was served at 8 and dancing began at 9. The candidates were introduced at 10 and scholarship presentations were made. Dancing resumed after the presentations.

The candidates were, Amy Lynn Armbruster, Catherine Kelly Baldrica, Kathleen Laura Bomback, Cheryl Alesia Boyer, Lori Janine Carpenter,

Gamache, Susan Gerke, June Kirchgatter, Leslie Elaine Muenchow, Linda Marie Persico, Anne-Marie Roberts, Kelly Salyer, Freda Christine Smith,

'Them what eats can also cook'

By Shirlee Rose Iden staff writer

If work at home were recognized, the gross national product (GNP) in this country would rise by 26 percent.

That's just one example of why Gloria Steinem, battler for social justice. editor of Ms. Magazine, would redefine

"They say that women in the home don't work, yet all productive human labor must be seen as work. Until it is, we in this room will have two jobs and men only one," Steinern told the largest crowd of all at last weekend's Strate-- the Second Conference for Women

There were ordinary, extroardinary and celebrity participants in the conference, which mounted 100 workshops on careers and business. Yet, in a real way, Steinem was the star. Trademarks like the long straight.

streaked hair, parted in the middle, the rimless glasses, her slender frame clad in plain dark brown pants and a sweater cast her as an understated star.

But when she mounted the speaker's platform, there was a crash of applause, sustained for minutes, before she said anything.

Then, characteristically, she smiled and applauded back: "Friends, sisters." She spoke again of women and work One-third of the labor force are women, but we do two thirds of the work."

"WE'RE LIVING in a sex and race caste system. This is the second wave of the feminist movement

The first time around, the battle was fought to achieving a legal identification as a human being, and we got divided when black men got the vote

Now our fight is for legal equality. and we've attained majority support for every issue of the women's movement, that is equal pay, credit rights and reproductive freedom. It's an incredible achievement."

Women now must make institutional changes, such as making everyone realze that children have two parents, Steinem said.

We want parental leave, not just maternal leave, a shorter work week for parents of young children, job sharing and flex time.

Steinem smiles a great deal, like a person who likes herself. The effect is to make her audience likes themselves

Of the ultra conservatives, Steinem said, "The moral majority is a symbol of all the Ayatollahs in this country, They re like the people our forefathers left Europe and other place to escape."

THE MOST DANGEROUS place for women is in their own homes, she said. Abuse is rampant in the home. "And women) are also apt to get replaced by a younger worker.

"And we've got to democratize families. Them what eats can also cook.

She was like a stand-up comic with a barrage of one-liners. Steinem, who said she grew up "as messed up an any American in Toledo," kept her audience smiling, chuckling and attentive, lest they miss something.

The ring around the collar commerical I'm waiting for is the one when the homemaker will come back with 'Why don't you wash your neck?" she said, smiling broadly

"Lee Grant, the actress, once told me. T've been married to a Marxist and a Fascist, but neither one ever took. out the garbage."

Affirmative action, she said, has raised the standards of emp "It's sons-in-law who've lowered them It's certainly men and not women who slept their way to wealth and power."

TODAY THE MEDIAN age of undergraduates is up to 27 because many women have gone back to school, Steinem said.

"That means the educational experience is richer now. Once art was what white men did and hung in galleries while crafts were what women and natives did. Now it's all out there.

Women are not the cause of unemployment, Steinem said, and they must fight to avoid being made scapegoats of

"Unemployment is largely attributable to spending on defense. We're losing one million jobs a year because of the switch from social services to defense

A woman's reproductive freedom is truly threatened, she said.

The human life amendment would let the government control your womb during the child-bearing years. Women should never vote for any politician who is not for reproductive freedom. for racial freedom, for sexual freedom

"Regardless of party, we must look at the issues, not the label

Steinern said she was the only white person in her work place and lived in caste-conscious India

For her, the most important trait of healthy society is social justice. That's the best investment we'll ever Before leave taking, she pleaded with audience members for a "promise to do one outrageous thing in the cause of social justice.

- Shirley Chisholm

Chisholm urges women to train

Discrimination against women begins when "baby girls are wrapped in pink blankets and boys in blue blankets," said Shir-e ley Chisholm, former U.S. Congresswoman, at the recent Strategies conference in Detroit.

She advised women not to be shrinking violets in the face of sex discrimination. In a talk punctuated seven times by applause and capped by a standing ovation, Chisholm stated that "entire system of employment and hiring is a stacked deck against women," adding hat "jobs should not have gender." "They call a man a chef and a woman a cook and the salaries "are different," she said.

What trained women lack most is self-confidence, she said. "Many women are holding jobs far below their training," con-"tinued Chisholm, who served 14 years in the U.S. House of Representative before retiring in 1980. "Why, in heaven's name, are we going to school so much . . . if we don't hope that at the end of the line we are going to be able to make our contribution?"

CHISHOLM BELIEVES most women do not work for pin money. They work when the economy demands it, in war or

"In World War II, women joined the labor force in large numbers, and they showed they could do the job. They were welcomed into the factories. But when the war was over and millions of soldiers returned, they were summarily pushed aside." They are also part of the work force because their husband's check doesn't meet all the bills or because they are the sole provider for their family, she indicated

"Today one in every seven children is being raised in a family with an absent father. When women have the single responsibli for children to support . . . the need for a good paying job is

TRAINING IS THE KEY for women, she said.

"It shocks me that I have met so many young women, who married early - 24, 25 or 26 - and have children and no husbands. Women (with children) are doomed for the rest of their lives if they have no training and the marriage doesn't Training is good for everyone, the speaker said. She started her career as a nursery school teacher and is now a professor at Mt. Holyoke College in Massachusetts.

"We have to start counseling little girls. Counsel them there is nothing wrong with working with computers, becoming an atomic scientist or going into the space program - prepare them to take care of themselves, build poise and confidence so they can stand tall and feel good about themselves."

IN AN interview before her talk, Chisholm said that she decided not to run for re-election in 1980 because when a person committed to a cause, "you don't have time for yourself. There is more to life that being obsessed by politics."

She left politics primarily because her husband almost died. She could not have worked for her Brooklyn constituents under the present administratation, she said.

"I intend to be involved in the 1984 campaign to change the person in the White House called 'time bomb' She's part of the most famous William and Mary eam since a famous college was formed more than 300 years ago," Crim said. But, he noted, she was a Harvard Business School graduate, formerly a vice esident at Bendix, presently vice president at the Jos. Seagram Co. of New York, and active in the National Organization for Women and the Women's Economic Club of Detroit.

> ONCE NAMED a "Rising Star in Detroit Business," Crim said, "she's found that criticism is what you get when you have everything else."

> Cunningham began by stating that hard and fast strategies are difficult to come by. "No computerlike accuracy will tell you how to plan your career," she cautioned. "Your career must be born of experience and soul searching."

"I've never served in the infantry, but I've picked up a few battle scars not far from here," she said, in her lone reference to the controversy over the relationship with Agee which led to her resignation

Calling the career world a battlefield for women n the 1980s, Cunningham said the situation is often hostile for women. "We've gotten on the corporate ladder. The challange is how to get up that ladder."

"Mighty Joe Young" (1949), 1 a.m. (Friday March 18) on Ch. 50. Originally 94 minutes. Joe Young is King Kong's cinematic offspring out it's hard to figure why filmmakers waited 16 years for the rebirth. Certainly the special effects are no better in the later film than they were in the original, yet "Mighty Joe Young" has a camp appeal about it that's infectious. Terry Moore and Ben Johnson star, and Robert Armstrong reappears in the role he created in "King Kong."

"The Wizard of Oz" (1939), 9 p.m. Friday, Easter can't be far away if they're carting out 'The Wizard of Oz." Judy Garland, of course, stars as Dorothy, who learns the hard way that there's no place like home. The technicolored spectacle is either garish or decorative - a lot like art deco of the 1930s - depending upon your point of view. And the storyline either sparks wonderment or nightmares depending, perhaps, upon your age. Score is by Harold Arlen and E.Y. Harburg. Ray Bolger, Jack Haley, Bert Lahr, Margaret Hamilton. Frank Morgan and Billie Burke also star.

"The Quiet Man" is vintage John Wayne and John Ford, coming after "Rio Grande" but before "The Searchers." It is by far, however, the most sentimental of all Wayne-Ford films, more mistyyed even than "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon" (1949). Wayne, a boxer who has killed a ring opponent, re turns to his homeland in the Emerald Isle, and there finds breathtakingly beautiful countryside and stereotypically quaint Irish. The film paints a picture of the Irish that's about as accurate as the piction of Vietnamese in another Wayne film, The Green Berets." Still, somehow, the film endures and enchants. Maureen O'Hara, Victor McLaglen and Barry Fitzgerald also star.

"Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" (1967), 4:30 p.m. Sunday, March 20, on Ch. 50. Originally 108

Director Stanley Kramer and co-star Katharine Hepburn doubted that Spencer Tracy would live through the filming of this, his last picture. Tracy died a few weeks after its completion. The film - a sort of updating of Tracy's "Father of the Bride" (1950) but with a rather significant plot twist - is a one-joke film. The plot won't hold your attention, but Tracy and Hepburn will.

Rocks aim at regional title Tournament facts

By C.J. Risak staff writer

One reason for Plymouth Salem's success on the basketball court this season is its ability not to overlook any

Now is not the time to change good habits.

The Rocks have lost twice all season: to Ypsilanti by two points and to Livonia Stevenson by one in back-to-back games Jan. 4 and 7. They have reeled off 17 straight victories since, collecting league and district titles.

Salem faces Detroit Western at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Eastern Michigan Uniround of the state regional tournament.

The Rocks, now 21-2, have to avoid overlooking a very good Western squad to what could be a big rematch in the regional finals Saturday night.

If Salem makes the finals, it most likely will be facing the top-rated team in the state - Detroit Southwestern and Antoine Joubert. Southwestern battled Ypsilanti in the first regional contest yesterday at EMU.

LAST YEAR, SALEM was eliminated by Southwestern in the regional's first round. But the Rocks were in it all the way and did a pretty fair job of defensing the ultra-smooth Joubert.

This year's edition of Rock basketball may be better than last year's. Thomann won't admit it, however, and insists that Southwestern is not what he's thinking about at the moment. Western is.

"This will be a nice test for us," Thomann said. "They have a strong inside game and a flyer of a perimeter player. They'll be a real nice problem for

If Thomann's "nice" description sounds somewhat sadistic (who likes to take a beating?), remember he's a basketball coach who believes the only way for his team to improve is to challenge it against the best.

If the Rocks win this region, they'll be among the state's best.

WESTERN'S INSIDE game rests on the shoulders of 6-foot-6 Robert Johnson and 6-4 Eric Johnson. Robert Johnson has already committed to attend Western Michigan University in the

"They pound the glass really well and are great jumpers," Thomann said of the pair

But the player that worries Thomann is 6-3 guard Richard Hunter. "He's an excellent ballhandler, a good perimeter shooter, he handles the break for them he has a lot of basketball ability," was the Rock coach's description.

Clarence Brice is the other forward He stands 5-10 but "jumps really well," Thomann said. Richard Allen (6-1) and Tyrone Hurst (6-0) share the other guard position.

Glenn Medalle will handle the defensive chores of guarding Hunter. Salem will stick with its man-to-man alignment. Western likes 1-2-2 and 2-3 zones and will press.

THE COWBOYS finished the season at 15-6 in the Detroit PSL, including an impressive win over Detroit MacKenzie in the playoffs. They were eliminated from the PSL tourney in a one-point overtime loss to Southwestern.

Some facts and figures on tonight's regional battle:

- Opponents Plymouth Salem, 21-2, Western Lakes Activities Association champion, Salem district winner, vs. Detroit Western, 15-6, loser in Detroit PSL tournament in semifinals to Detroit Southwestern, winner of Dearborn district.
- When and Where Game starts at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Fieldhouse.
- Players to watch For Salem, 6-4 center Dave Houle (13 ppg, 10 reb.), 6-1 forward Glenn Medalle (11.5 ppg), and just about everyone else, including a strong bench. For Western, 6-3 guard Richard Hunter and a pair of bookend rebounders, 6-6 Robert Johnson and 6-4 Eric Johnson.
- Keys Salem defense and ability to rebound will determine the Rocks' success. Western's bench is not as strong or deep as Salem's, so if fouls become a factor, it should benefit the Rocks.
- Directions Take M-14 west to US-23. Go south on 23 toward Toledo, exit at Washtenaw. Go east on Washtenaw toward Ypsilanti, approximately four miles to stoplight at Oakwood, where EMU campus begins. Turn left on Oakwood and go to first stop sign. Turn right into parking structure. Bowen Fieldhouse is next to parking structure. Parking is 25

Cheers to Ireland's sport heroes You certainly need not be Irish to be an active sociated with today. St. Patrick's Day has a universal appeal. Just take a look at any Irish pub today. Wall-to-wall partiers at every establishment. Now, there aren't that many Irishmen in the state of Michigan, much less the suburbs of Detroit

But today is the day everybody can claim to be a wee bit Irish. And it's a day when you can prove how Irish you are by taking the inebriation test, which says an Irishman can never be declared legally drunk if he can hang onto a patch of grass with one hand and not fall off the face of the earth.

THIS COLUMN is for those who journey out to the local watering holes today to celebrate St. Paddy's Day. It must be read before the venture though, because as the day progresses, the words on this paper will tend to look blurry, and reading them will result in slurring sounds which uncontrollably are emitted from your mouth

The following is a sports salute to the Irish There should be enough categories here to please the vast majority. So, while you're hoisting up those shells of Guinness or Harp, or sipping on a jigger of Bailey's, here are some athletes and topics you can toast to

All in the Irish spirit of course

 Like the moniker from the University of Notre Dame suggests, the Irish were successful with their fists. The "Fighting Irish" ruled the boxing divisions in the early years, beginning with bare knuckles heavyweight champ John L. Sullivan. Since then, there have been many fine Irish pugilists, including some personal favorites: Gerry Cooney, Sean O'Grady, Bob Murphy and Robert Fitzsimmons.

 Also characteristic of the fighting ways of the Irish are some professional hockey players, like "Terrible" Ted Lindsay and Bob "Battleship" Kelly. And you can't omit brawlers like Terry O'Reilly and Dan Maloney. · Like all nationalities, the Irish are victim of stereotyping. One truth, though, is the wit of the Irish, made famous by former President John Fitzgerald Kennedy. And in the world of sports, there have been some classic comments. Walter O'Malley, the late owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, once defended his ethnic background with this line: "Only half the lies they tell about the Irish are true."

Another one of my favorite lines of logic came from Edward Murphy, a former sports writer in New York. "Never underestimate the stupidity of the American public," he once commented in refer-

Something had to give

And it finally did in the final quarter Tuesday night as Redford Catholic Central broke open a tight duel and went on to oust Detroit Mackenzie. 69-58, from the Class-A regional basketball tournament before 2,400 fans at Livonia Franklin.

The Shamrocks, who advanced to Friday's final. scored nine unanswered points during a three-minute stretch to put the Stags away.

Mark Howard hit a pair of free throws with 7:27 remaining to give Mackenzie its final lead of the night, 52-51.

It was all CC after that as center Mike Maleske started the spurt when he took a charging foul and followed by hitting a free throw.

Point-guard Stan Heath then followed by making three straight free throws. He made a key play with 5:15 to go when he stole a pass.

Sixth man Bob Elwell then connected on a 12foot baseline shot to give CC a 58-52 advantage and followed with two more free throws.

MACKENZIE, meanwhile, went stone cold down the stretch. During one possession the Stags missed six shots, including three tips.

Jones lands U-D cage post

The women's basketball program at Oakland University suffered two setbacks in four days, including the resignation of third-year coach Dewayne Jones who's moving to the University of Detroit to coach the Lady Titans.

Jones, whose Lady Pioneers were bounced from the NCAA Division II playoffs at home Saturday in a 73-72 loss against Dayton, made the anpouncement at a press conference uesday at the University of Detroit.

The postition was vacated by Mary Roickle, who left midseason to pursue career goals outside of coaching. Jones, who came to OU after four years at Ferndale - his high school alma mater - compiled a 70-18 collegiate record. He led the Pioneers to post-season appearances, two Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic erence championships, and was named GLIAC coach of the year in back-to-back seasons.

"I'M LOOKING forward to the challenge of returning the basketball program back to where it was at U-D," Jones said. "And I'm happy with the committment U-D has made to made to women's basketball."

U-D athletic director Bud Kinsman is expecting Jones toncontinue his winning ways at Callahan Hall. Dewyane Jones has been a successful coach wherever he's been, and I'm confident he will be as successful here at U-D," Kinsman said. OU Athltic Director Lee Frederick, who also coaches the Pioneers' men's basketball team, admitted he'll be looking to fill some big shoes.

"We wish him the best of luck at the University of Detroit." Frederick said. "U-D has selected an outstanding coach and a great individual. It's going to be tough to find someone of Jones' caliber to fill our new position." The notice for OU's coaching vacan-

Oakland's Gwen Browner, who scored a season-high 20 points to pace the Pioneers, launched a 20-foot shot at the buzzer which missed its mark. Donna Burks was the key to Dayton's win, netting 28 points. "Burks is one of the finest post-up players I've seen in either men's or

Hotels hooking up to travel computers

Computers will move into some hotel rooms na onwide next year when a 24-hour electronic com nunications system called Travelhost is launched. The Travelhost Network is owned by the same

According to publisher James Buerger, the system will allow guests to acquire information about airlines and restaurants, to receive messages, play games and plug into the latest stock market quotes The computers will be compatible with existing in-room television sets. To use the computer, a guest would turn to a designated channel on the elevision set, push the computer ON button, and enter a credit card number.

Users will be charged according to the number of minutes the computer is used, and billed directly to the credit card rather than the hotel. Approximate costs will be $20 per hour before 5 p.m.

Along with growing emphasis on career and success dressing, there has been a boom in active wear.

People are doing so many different things, they need all these clothes—explained Bower, stressing that not every one can wear the same styles.

Women have allowed themselves to be dictated to for years. But now every magazine talks about personal style. And you have to have choices to do that

One change this season is the return of the dress — especially for the office. Area stores show lots of coat dresses, by themselves or over sweaters and skirts; slim 1950s chemises; ensembles of matching blouses and skirts or dresses with jackets.

"People are enjoying dresses more for an altogether look. You put it on and you're finished," explained Judy Ivey, Hudson's personal trade manager for the Twelve Oaks Mall.

MEN ARE DRESSING UP more than they have in years, with suits becoming much more important. Doublebreasted suits and blazers show up in all the major lines, reflecting the suave elegant style of the 1930s.

While styles vary widely, so do the season's colors. But black and white show up in almost every spring collection — usually with a touch of taxi yellow, turquoise, royal blue, red or hot pink.

Natural fibers continue to be popular, although care is always a concern for busy wearers.

We're getting in a lot of cotton and cotton blends, but we still feature quite a bit of polyester," said Sear's Levandovsky.

"Our customers like the ease of care polyester offers. We don't expect to get away from it ever."

Since black and white are so popular this season, the safest accessory is black patent leather. Spectators are also important shoes to have on hand.

But since there are few guidelines, fashionable wearers need to rely a little more than usual on their own judgement.

Schaffer suggests a "lot of trial and error" to see which of the many available choices work well for you.

"It requires patience, but people should just be patient and do it," she said firmly.

Modern day poise and sophistication...the only way to describe Raul Blanco's stunning new version of the coat-dress for Spring 1983. Narrower in line, double-breasted and widely belted for added shaping. It's the talk of the town in cream colored herringbone silk, sizes 4 to 14, 1180.
